

School Enrollment Anticipated Near 4,000 City Pupils

By AL PERRY Reflector Staff Writer Enrollment of "pretty close to 4000" is expected this year in the Greenville city schools, said Superintendent of Schools J.H. Rose in an interview here late Saturday. Last year's total of 3703 will easily be topped, as children enter classrooms for the first time this year early Wednesday morning. Greenville, despite the climbing enrollment, is in excellent shape for the coming year, said Superintendent Rose. Commenting on the nation-wide problem of school overcrowding, Rose said he understood a shift system for teaching classes was being used in many areas, and that cities as close as Kinston and Raleigh were having extreme difficulties in handling larger enrollments. All students entering Greenville High School for the first time will report to the high school auditorium this Wednesday at 8:46 a.m., announced Principal O. E. Dowd this morning. Former students will report to their last year's home rooms, said Dowd. Everything is in readiness for the Wednesday morning opening of the 1953-1954 school year at the high school, it was added. In an effort to ease anticipated crowded conditions in local schools, the Recreation Building at Brookgreen School has been converted into classroom space, and two rooms are being added to the Third Street School. The Brookgreen School will be ready for opening Wednesday. First grade pupils are slated to occupy those classrooms. New rooms at Third Street will be completed in the near future, meanwhile two second grades there will be taught in the school auditorium. Rose said that present enrollment figures indicate that some second, fourth, and fifth grade children in the eastern part of Greenville may have to be moved over to Brookgreen in order to secure ample space. Extremely heavy enrollment in these grades is expected. An important addition to the city school system was completed recently when one of the shop buildings at the Brookgreen School was converted into a field house for the city football teams. With a practice field nearby, the newly-converted field house is provided with complete shower facilities and dressing rooms for Greenville football squads. Other repairs and reconditioning completed during the summer included extensive work on school floors as well as cleaning and polishing in all buildings. The exterior and several classrooms of the High School Building have been painted, while a complete rewiring job was installed at Fleming Street School. All textbooks for the elementary grades have been received and distributed. According to Superintendent Rose, the Greenville schools will start out with five additional teachers this year, and tentative plans to add two or three more have been formulated. Rose also announced that the library at the West Greenville School would be used for an eighth grade classroom, and that two new classrooms at C.M. Eppes High School have been opened.

Peanut Assessment Easily Passed In Pitt

All Bank Loot Is Recovered

By ROY HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer WILLIAMSTON—All of the money taken from the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company here in a bold daylight robbery by two youthful bandits Friday was recovered Saturday. In fact, bank officials this morning stated that the sum returned when the hidden loot was found by officers actually is $140 more than was believed to have been stolen after a check of the bank was made. First reports from the robbery indicated that over $18,000 in cash and silver had been removed from the bank by the two robbers. However, a final check made later in the day pointed to the fact that $17,207.91 was missing. Bank President W. H. Woodard of Greenville this morning said that "when the final tabulation is made we may actually be short a little money, but then we may not actually know just how much was removed from the bank." A bag containing part of the loot, $386, was found by officers after the third brother in the robbery attempt had been captured as he attempted to steal an automobile in Williamston near the scene of the hold-up. The bag contained $200 in hundred dollar bills and $186 in silver, made up of quarters and halves. Adril Strickland, brother of the other two captured after the robbery, was taken into custody at 3:15 in Williamston by Lt. Tom Brown and Art Lee, FBI agent. Brown captured Quitman Strickland on the day of the robbery when the 21-year-old youth returned to the scene of the wrecked getaway automobile. Brown said that after his capture, Adril said that he would lead the officers back to the place where he hid the loot. Then the officers with the bank bandit and dogs from the Pitt County Prison Camp returned to the scene in search of the money. After some time the bag with the silver and the two one hundred dollar bills was recovered by Harvey Fillingame, who was in charge of the dogs, under the direction of Captain Paul Crawford. But, when asked where the other money was, the bandit would not say, Brown stated; and the dogs were placed on the man's trail in an effort to find it. Then Lt. Brown left the scene, leaving Sgt. J. B. Boyd in charge. Adril was then taken to Rocky Mount where he was given a hearing and given a chance to see his two younger brothers. It was after seeing his brothers that he decided to tell the officers where he had hidden the remainder of the loot, Boyd said. According to Lt. Brown, the man escaped from the dogged which the patrol had set up, by crawling out of the woods under a water culvert and walking a trail which was set at being 15 miles. After admitting the robbery, Brown said that the man told him he had intended to return to Williamston and "spring his brothers from jail" if he could and then steal an automobile and leave. The money was found near a railroad trestle which ran parallel with Highway 125 near Williamston and was contained in a blue Navy laundry bag. When captured, the youth had $36 in cash, a 32 pistol, extra bullets and a pocket knife on his person. Brown this morning said that he wanted to publicly express his appreciation to Captain Paul Crawford and his trusty of Greenville for their fine work in tracking down the robbers and aiding in recovering the stolen loot.

Italian Warships Lie Off Trieste In Readiness Step

ROME (UP)—Three Italian warships lay at anchor today in Venice harbor, across the Adriatic Sea from Trieste, and postal officials said letters recalling army reservists to the colors are awaiting dispatch in event of an emergency. Italian officials seemed convinced still that Yugoslavia may attempt to annex its occupation zone of Trieste free territory and they seemed ready to act if necessary. The government of Premier Giuseppe Pella was reported to be hoping that it might receive some gesture of support from the United States, Great Britain and France against any Yugoslav move.

Smuggling Charge Raised By East German Regime In Fighting Food Gifts

BERLIN (UP)—The Reds charged today that Soviet zone Germans are using the American free-food distribution program as a cover for smuggling scarce foodstuffs from the Russian-occupied zone to West Berlin. The smuggling charges were clearly propaganda—a fresh effort by the Soviets and Communist German administration to halt the food distribution program which has been shattering to Red prestige. Food is scarce in East Germany, but the official communist news service, ADN said, butter, eggs, bread, marmalade, fruit, vegetables and meat are being taken across the sector frontiers and sold in West Berlin black markets. East Berlin newspapers said a woman, identified as "Gertrud Schmidt" was arrested by Red police as she attempted to cross into West Berlin carrying 80 eggs she hoped to sell while picking up a

Brothers Impound Air Force Plane In Dispute

BURBANK, Calif. (UP)—The United States government was expected to go to court today to see about getting back a $1,000,000 C-97 Globemaster, attached by two determined brothers. Meanwhile, a shotgun-armed sheriff's deputy sat in the huge Military Air Transport Service plane to see that it doesn't leave the Lockheed air terminal. The flying Finn twins, Charles and George, 38, of Bakersfield, Calif., obtained a writ of attachment from Municipal Judge Charles B. MacCoy, and the plane was impounded Saturday, to the bewilderment of an Air Force crew preparing to take off. The brothers, who have been battling with the government for more than a year to "seize any government property in this judicial district"—from battleships to buildings. "We wanted to be fair about this," Charles said, "so we decided to take a plane. After all the government is holding ours in Nevada." The twins' legal hassle with the government began when the government challenged their title to a surplus C-46 they bought for $300 in 1951. The government seized the plane on grounds the Vineland school district had no right to sell it to them. The FBI arrested the two ex-Air Force pilots after they took the impounded C-46 to a remote airfield near Las Vegas last Jan. 18. Dyer Act charges accusing them of transporting stolen property across a state line were dismissed, and a federal judge found them innocent of contempt. But the Fins still face a government move to regain legal ownership of the plane.

Released Today

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—The Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland asked for "more cooperation" from South Korea today but got only a repetition of the ROK "unification or death" stand in return. The California Republican spent the morning conferring with President Syngman Rhee, Prime Minister Park Too Chin and the ROK cabinet. He was accompanied by U.S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs. They spent one hour and 40 minutes at the executive mansion where Rhee received the American lawmaker at a cabinet meeting. A South Korean spokesman said Knowland spoke briefly to the cabinet. He said the United States and South Korea must increase their mutual cooperation to meet the Communist menace effectively. Following a later 20-minute conference with the senator, Park told newsmen he repeated the South Korean stand that "it is my government's policy that unification is practical only by merging the northern half into the Republic of Korea."

Returnees Hint 'Bonus' Repatriation By Reds 51 Airmen Released

By LEROY HANSEN PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The Communists released a record number of American airmen today and officers returning to freedom said the Allies may receive up to 500 "bonus" prisoners. Fifty-one captured airmen went through Freedom Gate along with 99 other Americans, the largest number of fliers released in one day since "Operation Big Switch" began 27 days ago. Some of the officers said the Communists may return more than the 3,313 Americans they had listed for repatriation. The 150 Americans repatriated today brought the number of U. S. personnel freed by the Communists to 2,827, which would leave only 486 in the nearby Red camp of Kaesong. But the returnees said there were from 1,000 to 1,500 American, British and other non-Korean prisoners awaiting repatriation in Kaesong. They estimated the Reds would release at least 400 more Americans than originally promised. There was no way of knowing whether the "bonus" Americans had been captured in the late days of the fighting or were prisoners whom the Reds had not intended to release. The Communists, however, announced Saturday they would repatriate all prisoners, including those convicted of real or imaginary "crimes." There were other important developments on the prisoner scene: 1. The first Indian officers arrived from their homeland to supervise guarding of prisoners of both sides who are resisting re-

Mother 'Some Kind Of Glad' Son Returning Reds Free Ayden Sergeant

Another Pitt County soldier, prisoner of the Communists in Korea, was released to U.N. control at Freedom Village in Korea yesterday. The soldier was 33-year-old Johnnie C. Hill, son of Emma Hill of Ayden. The Negro sergeant has been in the army since he entered service during World War II, and was taken prisoner in Korea during the early months of fighting. It was about 10 o'clock this morning that Emma Hill received the telegram from the Defense Department telling her of her son's release from the Communist prison camp. She stopped grading tobacco long enough to read the good news, then crammed it into her pocket and went back to work. "I feel some kind of good about Johnnie's coming home," she said with a broad smile. "I'll be some kind of glad when he gets home. I haven't seen him in a long time." Sgt. Hill's mother said her son had been a prisoner of the Chinese Communists for nearly three years. She didn't remember the exact date of his capture, but told a reporter, "As nearly as I can guess, he has been a prisoner about three years. I don't remember exactly when he was captured." She said the first she knew of her son's capture was when she received a letter from him several months after he was taken prisoner. "He told me to send the letter to Washington so they would know where he was," she said, "and I did." For the last several months, the mother said, she has been hearing from her son fairly regularly. In his last letter about a month ago, the mother related, Sgt. Hill said he was getting along very well, and expected to be home before too long. In the letter, he wrote that he told his mother he was working as a cook in the prison camp kitchen. The first Pitt County soldier to be released by the Communists in Korea was Pvt. James E. Gatlin of Simpson who arrived home last week.

Several Pro-Eisenhower Southerners To Skip Rally Demo Rift Boils Over Again

CHICAGO (UP)—Emnities began more than a year ago at the Democratic National Convention boiled over again today as several pro-Eisenhower Southerners demonstrated they would not attend a party rally next month. One of the primary purposes of the Sept. 14-15 rally was to honor defeated presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson, and his followers hoped to see Stevenson's position as leader of the minority party consolidated during the two-day forum. The Southern boycott was not general, and a good number of prominent Dixie Democrats have already promised to attend or explained their absences. Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who split with Stevenson on the issue of tidelands oil, said he would not attend because of "prior commitments." "That's funny," a rally committee spokesman said here, "Shivers never got an invitation." But Shivers insisted he did not one and commented good-naturedly "that shows they don't know what they're doing up there—they sent out so many invitations they can't keep up with them." Shivers probably remembering the hot North-South battles of the 1952 Democratic convention here, said "I've got enough arguments in Texas without going to Chicago to get into one." Another absentee will be Sen. Spessard L. Holland of Florida. An aide in Washington said Holland wrote Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell two or three weeks ago that he had previous commitments. A spokesman for the rally committee tried to discount the reports of a Southern boycott. "We never expected people like Jimmy Byrnes to attend anyway," he said. James F. Byrnes, governor of South Carolina, led the fight against the so-called "loyalty oath," a pledge to support any Democratic nominee, at last summer's convention. He later endorsed Mr. Eisenhower.

Adamant Stand By South Korean

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—The Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland asked for "more cooperation" from South Korea today but got only a repetition of the ROK "unification or death" stand in return. The California Republican spent the morning conferring with President Syngman Rhee, Prime Minister Park Too Chin and the ROK cabinet. He was accompanied by U.S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs. Greenville Tobacco Market Sales Show Healthy Rise Over Last Year's Figures

Official figures released this morning comparing last week's sales in the 1953 Greenville tobacco market season with the corresponding week of the 1952 season show a marked superiority in this year's market. Average for last week's five-day market of gross sales is $52.80 per hundred; a $5 per hundred jump over last year's second week average of $47.80. Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee, commenting on the decided difference in the figures, pointed out that total money for the season to date amounts to almost twice as much as paid out in the comparative period in 1952. In 1952, gross sales amounted to $5,745,422 pounds going for $2,790,420.58 during the first seven days of the season. This year, in the same period, 9,255,556 pounds have been sold for $4,844,317.90, at an average of $52.34, over $3 better than last year's $48.57. Sales today are predicted very nearly full, with between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 pounds going on warehouse floors during the course of the day. Prices were holding steady at high levels set earlier in the season, although a few grades rose slightly. Offerings this morning consisted of approximately 80 percent tips and 20 percent lugs, with a scattering of smoking leaf and cutters.

Western Diplomats Scheduled To Start Meetings This Week

By JOHN W. FINNEY WASHINGTON (UP)—Western diplomats are expected to meet here early this week to lay plans for the forthcoming political conference on a Korean peace settlement. The meeting to be attended by representatives of all 16 nations which fought on the United Nations side in Korea, will reconvene where and when the conference should be held with the Communists. The truce agreement specifies that the conference must begin by Oct. 28, but there are indications the West will press for an earlier start—possibly in the middle of October. Officials said the United States has an "open mind" on the site of the conference. Many of the other U.N. countries, however, are reported to be advocating that it take place in Geneva, Switzerland. Another problem to be considered by the Western diplomats is the U.N. representation at the political conference. All 16 nations whose forces fought in Korea are entitled to sit at the peace table. State Department officials, however, expect that several of the smaller powers will decline to be represented. While the Western powers wrestled with preparations for the conference, diplomatic attention was focused on whether Communist China and North Korea will accept the recommendations of the U.N. General Assembly for a "two-sided" conference, with a clear distinction between the U.N. and Communist representatives. Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky warned the assembly the U.S. supported plan for a two-sided conference was "unacceptable" to the Communists, who had urged that the meeting be staged in the form of a round table discussion. Vishinsky's warning raised the possibility Red China and North Korea may reject the U.N. recommendations for composition of the conference, thus renewing the heated diplomatic battle when the General Assembly meets again Sept. 15. State Department officials, however, are increasingly hopeful the pressure of world opinion will force the Communists to accept the U.N. plan. They pointed out that if the Communists refuse to accept the plan, they will be placed in the position of "obstructing" peace in Korea, a role which, their propaganda indicates, they do not relish.

Grand Jurors Selected As Court Term Opens

By HOWARD LINDSAY Reflector Staff Writer The service a member of the grand jury can render to his county and state keyed Judge J. Paul Frizzelle's charge opening the August term of criminal court here today. His statements followed drawing from a hat the names of the following nine men to serve one-year grand jury terms staggered with nine others appointed six months ago. New members drawn were: C. F. Baucum, Charlie Lee Hardee, Vance W. Jackson, W. W. Lee, Vance A. Powell, Joseph L. Sawyer, Willie Taylor, R. F. Thompson, and K. F. Whitley. Members already having served six months include Roy Turnage Jr., C. W. Harvey Jr., W. L. Smith, Vance A. Powell, Jack J. Dall, C. W. Fleming, Cecil C. Worthington, J. A. Watson, J. B. Speight, and D. F. Johnson. C. W. Harvey Jr. was administered the oath as foreman, and the jurors were instructed to conduct an inspection of the county's schools and make a report on condition of the buildings as well as the buses, and such recommendations as they felt needed.

Weather Bureau Watching Squall

MIAMI (UP)—A Navy hurricane hunter plane found winds in gusts of 52 miles an hour 300 miles east of Melbourne, Fla., today but the weather bureau expressed doubt that a tropical storm would develop from the disturbance. "The circulation is not of a tropical nature," forecaster Leonard Pardue said. "Sometimes such an area of squalls develops into a hurricane but it is not likely." Pardue said the squalls were caused by a polar front moving down, creating a low pressure trough from Bermuda southwestward to Cuba. He said the weather bureau, however, planned a close watch until the squalls dissipated.

WARNING

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—The Miami weather bureau today ordered small craft warnings raised north of Jacksonville, Fla. to Charleston, S. C. Gasoline taxes were a close second at $2,017,000,000. Motorists also shelled out $1,012,000,000 for vehicle and drivers licenses, the third biggest revenue source. Property taxes, which once were a mainstay of state finances, accounted for only $385,000,000 of the 1953 revenue. More important to the states were individual income levies ($969,000,000) and corporation income taxes ($310,000,000). The federal government collects by far the largest portion of its revenue in the form of individual and corporation income taxes, although it has been getting increasingly large amounts in recent years from excise taxes on gasoline, tobacco, alcoholic beverages and other items also taxed by states. The Eisenhower administration now is considering a national sales tax as one of several alternative proposals for raising additional federal revenue if that becomes necessary. Such a tax would put the federal government directly in to the state's favorite revenue field and to that extent would conflict with President Eisenhower's long-range goal of eliminating "overlapping" of federal-state functions. The 1953 state collections were $685,000,000 higher than 1952's tax take. California collected the most in taxes, $1,130,000,000. Next came New York with $1,117,000,000, Pennsylvania with $595,000,000, Michigan with $682,000,000 and Illinois with $614,000,000.

State Govm'ts Collected Over $10 Billions In Taxes Last Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—State governments collected $10,542,000,000 in taxes during the 1953 fiscal year which ended last June 30, a Census Bureau report showed today. That comes to about $68.04 each for every man, woman and child in America. Federal tax collections during the same period totaled $65,200,000,000 or about $420 per person. The state figures do not include taxes collected by cities, counties, sanitation districts and other local governments. But the Census Bureau estimated that nationwide such taxes total nearly as much as state taxes. General sales taxes were the biggest producers of state revenues, amount for $2,433,000,000.

Party Is Courtesy For Miss Hilton

Miss Jean Hilton, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Stanley Messner of Union City, New Jersey, will be solemnized September 12, was graciously entertained Friday morning by Mrs. Dink James.

Mrs. James' home on East Ninth Street was beautifully decorated, with summer flowers being used throughout the living room and in the dining room the table was covered with an embroidered grass linen cloth. The centerpiece was of asters in pastel shades and pink candles in silver holders.

Greeting the guests at the door was Mrs. James who presented them to Miss Hilton and Mrs. C. O. Hilton, mother of the bride-elect. Upon the arrival of Miss Hilton she was presented a bridal corsage of white asters.

Assisting Mrs. James with the serving of iced drinks, open-faced sandwiches, nuts, cheese biscuits and sweets was her daughter, Miss Elizabeth James.

Miss Hilton was the recipient of a goblet in her selected crystal pattern by her hostess.

Approximately eighteen close friends of the honoree were present.

Books Selected By Club

ROBERSONVILLE—A call meeting of the Ex Libris Book Club was held Tuesday afternoon, August 25, on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. Hugh Roberson's spacious home on South Main Street.

After the books for the year were selected, Mrs. Roberson made moving pictures of the group. The movies will be shown at a later date. The hostess served potato chips, cheese crackers, brownies and Coca-Cola to the 12 members present.

The first meeting of 1953-54 will be with Mrs. John Tyler on Tuesday, September 15, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Alton Rodgers' subject for the evening will be "Gardens of South Carolina."

Members of W. M. U. Have Annual Supper

ROBERSONVILLE—The Woman's Missionary Union of the Robersonville Baptist Church had its annual supper Tuesday. At 7 o'clock the members and their husbands met on the beautiful, large lawn surrounding Mr. Glenn Norman's home on South Main Street, where 25 card tables were set for the barbecued chicken supper served by Griffin of Williamston. Each table was centered with a pretty vase of summer flowers.

A three piece orchestra from Greenville furnished the music during the evening. After the 95 diners finished the delicious meal, the chairs were arranged in a semi-circle and then the group of religious workers sang spirituals, rounds and many favorite old songs. Everyone enjoyed the food and the fellowship.

Joint Hostesses Fete Miss Hilton At Luncheon

Miss Jean Hilton was feted Saturday at a bridal luncheon at the Country Club, given by Mrs. John L. Howard and Mrs. W. S. Brown of Bethel. Upon her arrival, Miss Hilton was presented a lovely corsage of white mums.

The centerpiece of the luncheon table was a beautiful arrangement of late summer flowers, fern and ivy, with ivy trailing the length of the table. A delicious three course luncheon was served, followed by an iced sherbet and individual bridal cakes as dessert. At the conclusion of the luncheon, the hostesses presented Miss Hilton with a lovely gift of silver.

A very enjoyable social hour as well as the delicious luncheon was enjoyed.

City firemen answered four fire alarms over the past weekend but none was reported as being serious.

A call was received from the home of A. W. Clement, 1304 Glenn Arthur Ave., this morning at 8:50 when the house was believed to be on fire.

Firemen reported that "something" on a dresser caught fire, origin of which was unknown. No damage resulted.

Slight damage resulted yesterday when machinery at the Greenville Oil Fertilizer Company on 14th Street caught fire around 5:15.

An oil stove in the home of W. S. Shine, 1300 South Railroad Street, exploded and set fire to the kitchen of the house early Saturday morning, firemen said.

The alarm came in around 7:00 Saturday morning.

The fourth alarm was sounded Saturday night at 7:10 for an automobile accident at Dickinson and Line Avenues.

Steam from a broken radiator, which appeared as if the car was on fire, was the reason for the alarm being turned in.

Census Bureau Drops Service

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Census Bureau announced today that it has eliminated its full-scale 1953 census of business and manufacturers because Congress cut its appropriation.

It also is dropping plans for preparatory work for next year's census of agriculture for the same reason. The bureau had requested $11,600,000 for its projects. Instead it got $1,500,000.

Classes will be dismissed at 1:30 p.m. Principal C. B. Martin stated.

Teachers in the elementary: Minnie Cochran, Mrs. C. B. Martin, Mrs. Ella Dell Murrow, Mrs. Cora Guard, Mrs. John Tyler, Mrs. Rosalyn Walker, Mrs. Pitt Roberson, Millie Roebuck, Clara Woolard, Hilda Summerlin, Marvin Everett, Mrs. Evelyn Cherry, and Mrs. Dixie Roberson and Mr. Whitehurst will teach the eighth grade.

High School teachers: Betsy Tyson, English and French; Emma Colfee, commerce; Catherine Ingram, home economics; John Walker, social science; Nicholas Gardner, science; Robert Craft, band; John Roberson, math; R. Lee, physical education and athletics; Grace Whitehurst, English; John Dixon, agriculture; Miss Richardson, librarian; Mrs. Selma Meadow, music; Miss Jeanine Taylor, public school music.

U. S. May Press Stiff Charges Against Four

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Four Communists seized last week by FBI agents in a dramatic mountain raid appear before a U. S. commissioner today amid hints the government will press new and stiffer charges against them. They are Sidney Steinberg, 38, former assistant labor secretary of the party; Mrs. Shirley Keith Kremen, 21, who rented the mountain cabin where they were captured; Carl Edwin Rasi, 40, a Minnesota party leader; and Samuel I. Coleman, 42, New York Red leader.

They were captured Thursday, along with Robert G. Thompson, 38, who vanished two years ago when he was supposed to start serving a three-year sentence for Communist conspiracy charges. He has been taken to Alcatraz.

Richard Gladstein, attorney for Steinberg and the others, said he will ask U. S. Commissioner Joseph Karez to reduce the "outrageous" $35,000 bail set for Mrs. Kremen, Rasi and Coleman.

However he said he will not ask for a reduction in the $100,000 bail set for Steinberg, who has been hiding out since June, 1951, when he was indicted with 20 other second-string Communist organizers.

Gladstein said he will press for Steinberg's immediate removal to New York to face trial there. U. S. Attorney Lloyd H. Burke said reduction of bail is a matter of discretion with the commissioner. He added pointedly: "We are dealing with people who have shown they have no respect for the constitutional right for bail by harboring fugitives or fleeing prosecution."

Steinberg already is wanted in New York. The others are now accused of harboring a fugitive, Thompson. Also accused on this charge is Mrs. Patricia Blau, 42, alias Janet Coleman, of San Jose, Calif. She was arrested near Stockton, Calif., the same day and will be brought here. The FBI said her car "had been used" by the Communist leaders.

Unlighted Truck Rammed By Car

One person was seriously injured Saturday night when the automobile which he was driving collided with a parked, unlighted truck on a highway.

Investigating officers Cpl. C. E. Whitfield and S. M. Newman listed the injured man as being William Henry Edwards, 32, of the Dixie Construction Company of Farmville. The accident occurred four miles west of Greenville on the Old Stan-tonburg highway, Saturday night at 8:30.

Officers said the car driven by Edwards collided with a truck parked on the highway, without lights, belonging to William Henry Spell, 53-year-old Negro man of Box 241, Greenville.

A total of six stitches were required to close the wound in Edward's scalp at Pitt Memorial Hospital where he was treated. Damage to both the car and truck was estimated at $1,000.

Investigation of the accident is incomplete.

Edwards is hard to shoot because they run at about 35 miles an hour and their heavy, feathered hides often turn bullets. Gallup Independent, Gallup, N. M. Gallup.

Two Arrested By ABC Officers For Violations

Two persons were arrested by ABC officers over the weekend and charged with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Arrested were Annie Mae Baker, 406 Bonners Lane, and Ned Clark of Bethel. Annie Mae Baker was arrested Saturday, and in city court this morning was found guilty, paid $25 and placed on probation for a term of two years.

Clark was cited to County Court after his arrest by R. W. King, H. B. Lilley, Walter Gray of the Bethel Police Department and Elmer Had-dock of the Sheriff's Department.

Officers making the raid in Greenville were Jim Ward, King, Lilley and Caesar Corbett of the Greenville Police Department.

Overall Tactics Appear Unchanged

The communists in Korea appear to have backed down on what has appeared an attempt to hold from repatriation some prisoners whom they sentenced for prison camp "crimes."

Although the communists did not say specifically in their recent announcement that they would release those prisoners of war they have sentenced on trumped up charges, that is the interpretation being given the announcement.

The hammering upon this point by the United Nations apparently has paid off so far as the return of all prisoners is concerned. Before the communist announcement it was felt that some few American prisoners of war may be held back by the communists to be used as a bargaining point later in final Korean negotiations.

It is entirely possible that the change in the tactics of the Reds is being made for propaganda purposes, and as a maneuver to set up a later Red push for the return of prisoners held by the U. N. who do not wish to return to communism.

There will be only a few United Nations prisoners left in communist hands after the repatriation of "willing" prisoners is finished. Left in U. N. hands, however, will be several thousand Red prisoners of war who do not wish to return to communism. The communists, of course, will use every means in their power to force the return of these men, in spite of their agreement there will be no forced repatriation.

When the communists give in on a point such as this one on repatriating "criminal" prisoners, it can be expected that they hope to make the most of their concession at a later date. That is the way they have operated in the past, and we see no reason to expect a change in their overall tactics now.

While the exchange of prisoners in Korea is nearing its conclusion, there are many knotty Korean problems to be worked out before the final settlement of the Korean conflict.

Many more communist moves which will try the patience of the U. N. may be expected before the settlement is reached.

Time For Active School Support

It is time the people of Pitt County begin giving serious consideration to the coming referendum on $72 million bonds for schools and institutions.

The general apathy on the part of the people of the state toward this referendum, plus the active efforts in the state to defeat the bond issue does not appear encouraging. The Reflector believes the bond issue should be approved by voters of the state because school and institution facilities are sorely needed.

Statistics from the federal Office of Education has announced that public grade schools and high schools this year will be about 345,000 classrooms short of the number needed to take care of record enrollments in public schools. Some of these classrooms are needed in North Carolina schools.

If they are to be had as soon as possible—and they already are needed—it must be through the proposed bond issue by the state.

On September 2, Pitt County's registration books open for the special referendum which will be decided on October 3. All eligible citizens in the county who are not already registered on the general election books, will have an opportunity to register between September 5 and September 19. Those who are not properly registered will not be eligible to express their opinions through ballots when the important question of issuing bonds for schools and institutions is decided on October 3.

The Reflector urges the people of Pitt County to support the state bond issue for schools and institutions in the coming referendum. In so doing, they will be helping to afford more and better school facilities for the children of Pitt County and children throughout North Carolina.

New Dollar-Gouging Wrinkles

WASHINGTON—Foreign nations have thought up several new wrinkles in their unceasing efforts to obtain generous financial assistance from big-hearted Uncle Sam for an indefinite period. Now that Congress has begun to reduce appropriations for direct, outright grants of cash, overseas producers of strategic materials required for national defense demand artificially high prices for their goods.

Their spokesmen, now conferring with Government and private purchasers in New York and Washington, advance plausible arguments for this new and indirect tap on the Treasury. Unless the United States makes a high offer for these increasingly large, postwar surpluses, they plead that they must sell to Russia for a better price or even on a barter basis.

The principal bidders, it appears, are the two great protagonists in the cold war—Washington and Moscow. Neutrals and our Allies buy only in accord with their peacetime, civilian needs.

PRECLUSIVE BUYING—When this blunt threat fails to work, the foreign agents warn that the people in the low-standard, producing countries may fall under the spell and sway of communism because of economic distress resulting from depressed world prices and restricted markets. Most of the traveling salesmen come from what Truman called the "backward and undeveloped areas."

In short, they are playing and haggling on our fears of growing Russian might, and on the uncomfortable fact that Uncle Sam has been the Allies' moneyman during and since World War II.

During the global conflict, a State Department Committee headed by Dean Acheson set up a "preclusive" buying system. It paid outrageous prices for these raw materials so that they would not be sold to the Axis powers. It was a military rather than an economic policy.

U.S. GOUGED FOR PRODUCTS—In those days, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation furnished secret funds for these transactions, although military officers and representatives were authorized to close spot contracts in an emergency.

Thus, we were gouged heavily around the world for natural rubber, tin, tungsten, wolfram, manga-

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
RIGHT SIDE OF THE LINE

A minister had announced that he was going to preach on the topic, "Proclaiming the Word of God." There was a typographical error and when the order of service appeared it read, "Proclaiming the World of God."

The minister apologized for what he called a mistake. He seemed embarrassed by the whole thing. But he didn't need to be; for he might very well have preached on the topic, "Proclaiming the World of God."

There is a world of God and there is a world of the devil, and you and I live in both of them. The world of the devil is the world of selfishness and anger. It is the world of introspection and brooding. It is the world of jealous thoughts and hostilities. It is the world of unjust images and unclean thoughts. Drunkenness, revelry, wantonness of all kinds, dishonest planning and hateful words and actions are all characteristic of the world of the devil. And I repeat that you and I often live on the wrong side of that boundary line.

Now listen to what the Bible has to say about the realm on the other side of that boundary line. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, self-control; against such there is no law." Stay on the right side of the line.

ABOVE THE LAW? Suppose a railroad didn't like a certain law or a regulation laid down by a public service commission. And suppose, in protest, it refused to operate its trains and left them parked across highway intersections.

It would be impossible for any enterprise to do such a thing you say? Well, a few weeks ago the operators of some 800 log trucks left their huge machines standing on the public highways in protest against the action of the California Highway Patrol in enforcing that state's overweight law.

Governor Warren of California called this an open revolt against law enforcement. The California press agreed with him overwhelmingly.

Business Today Distribution Changes

By ELMER ROESSNER
Distribution, as has often been pointed out, has been in process of revolution in the last twenty-five years. There has been great expansion of chain-store merchandising, a huge rise in self-service and a significant growth of vending machine selling.

Changes in the next quarter century will be even greater, according to Daniel Bloomfield, director of the Boston Conference on Distribution, which will hold its 25th anniversary session October 19 and 20.

In a sort of "sneak preview" of statements by experts on distribution, Mr. Bloomfield said these developments would be forecast:

Larger branch stores with self-service methods and chain-store type management, buying and merchandising through central operations.

More adjustment of store hours to meet public convenience.

More "scrambled merchandise," such as lipsticks sold by filling stations, shoes and apparel stocked by supermarkets, and orchids and hardware featured by food stores.

Far more products sold through vending machines.

More food and other merchandise prepackaged more attractively. Still more push-button home labor-saving devices.

Annual new models of such standbys as kitchen toasters and utensils, radio and television sets, vacuum cleaners and vanity-table perfume sets.

Other changes, he said, will be in price tags. With manufacturer and retailers going in for greater study of consumer buying motives, more market research and wider use of engineering methods in handling goods, mechanical and electronic record keeping, distribution costs will be cut enough to pass substantial savings on to consumers—or at least hold the line better as other costs rise. "No other factor in American life is likely to change as much in the next twenty-five years as distribution," Mr. Bloomfield said, "and unless America's businessmen thoroughly research what is likely to develop and adjust their policies to the changes indicated, we are likely to find ourselves in a depression."

LARGE MINORITY LACK TRAINING PROGRAMS

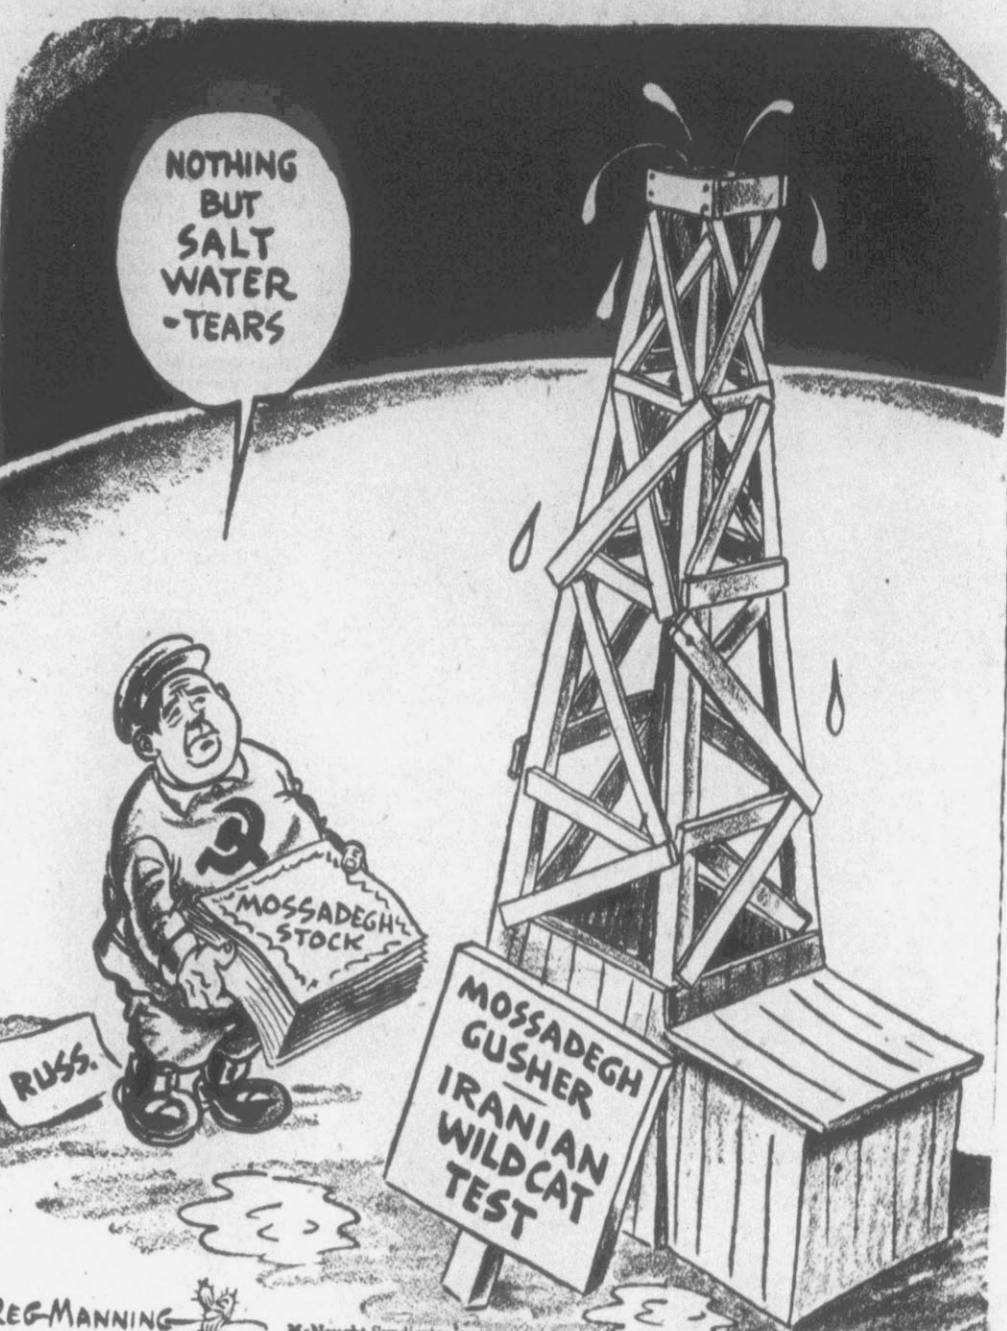

Of 310 industrial firms responding to a survey by Mill & Factory, 69 per cent reported that they offer training programs for supervisors such as foremen, group leaders and plant supervisors. Of those having such programs, 95 per cent reported that supervisor efficiency had improved and 96 per cent said labor-management relations had benefited.

The surprising thing about this survey is that so many—31 per cent—do not have such programs. In actuality, the proportion may be even higher. An unspecified number of firms, above the 310, did not respond to the questionnaire and it is probable that lack of a positive answer was one cause of nonresponse.

WHEN "FREE" ISN'T FREE PUT UP TO HIGH COURT

The learned judges of the United States Supreme Court will have to decide what the word "free" means in advertising.

The Federal Trade Commission decided in 1948 that the word could not be used when there was any consideration. "Buy one and get another free" was an unfair come-on, it decided. Among the victims of this rule was the Book-of-the-Month-Club, which has used the word "free" in advertising but always carefully explained that "free books were given only when other books were purchased. Now the club has asked the high court to review the FTC order.

Youngsters Deprived Of Some Valuable Job Experience

By ROGER BARSON
GLOUCESTER, Mass. — It's a shame that so many young people have been deprived this past summer of the privilege of vacation employment. About the only plentiful jobs this summer were in sales. Unfortunately, all young people do not have aptitudes for selling. Young people ask me how they can learn to swim if no one will even let them near the water. So what do they do after a while? They try to do the facts and present themselves as full-time job seekers. On that basis, they get jobs. Then there is hard feeling when they leave for school again after Labor Day.

There seem to have been several reasons why more students haven't worked this summer:

(1) not many companies have hired young people for summer work; (2) the tax structure penalizes father for letting son work; (3) union pools of unemployed have been given preference over summer job seekers; (4) the unreasonable labor laws of some states.

SUMMER JOBS—BUSINESS OBLIGATION

Many businessmen complain that our young people don't know how to work. Often it is these same businessmen who give the cold shoulder to young summer job seekers eager to learn how to work. Reports from employment agencies, from college and high school placement offices indicate that there were fewer summer jobs this year than last. Incidentally, business also failed to respond in the spring to a project to give summer work experience to college professors. I have been told that guards had instructions to bar summer job hunters from many plants.

I know that in recent years, I hunters from many plants. union contracts, many company work-schedules have been arranged to eliminated summer jobs. Perhaps the plant shuts down completely for the vacation period so that no full-timers are required. Or maybe the union contract compels management to fill vacancies from the pool of unemployed union workers before it can go outside to hire other workers. These are facts we have to face, but I feel that the company who doesn't hire a few carefully screened young people for summer work is both shirking a patriotic responsibility and short-changing itself. Any company intent upon fulfilling this obligation will find a way—summer work-schedules and unions notwithstanding.

CHANCE TO HIRE PROVEN WORKERS

Actually the summer employment of young people can work very much to the advantage of small businesses that seem most hesitant about summer hiring. Summer employment can give management the chance to size up the young person, to see the kind of character stuff he has, how well he works, and how he gets on with fellow workers. In these days when it is so difficult to hire, it is good to know what kind of worker you're hiring.

If a worker has what it takes, then the boss has a direct line to a tried and tested full-time employee when he graduates from school or college. And if he does not pan out during the summer it costs much less than hiring him as a full-time worker later on. These are the findings of companies that are using summer employment as a trial work period.

FATHER, SUMMER JOBS, AND TAXES

Another distressing problem of summer employment of minors is the tax situation which penalizes father for his children's job success. It happens more often than you'd suspect that father loses a tax exemption because son earns more than the allowed $600 during the year, or example. It would cost a father with a $10,000 net income, after exemptions $174 in taxes if his son earns over the $600 exemption limit and the son would then become taxpayer too.

It strikes me there is something morally and economically unsound about a system that discourages the industry of youth whether it be a policy of taxation, summer employment procedure, or clauses in a union contract. Part-time jobs, and especially summer jobs, today are important influences in the molding of the leaders of tomorrow. Perhaps, too, if we had busier "teen-agers" we might have fewer "teen-age" problems. Business men ought to begin now to make plans so that in future summers our young people will find valuable work experiences available for them.

Around Capitol Square

New Atmosphere In Raleigh As Well As In D.C.

CONTRAST — During the incumbency of Governor Kerr Scott, which coincided with that of President Harry Truman in his own right, it was frequently noted that the two men had many characteristics in common. Such as lack of respect for the convention, refreshing frankness sometimes approaching on-off-the-cuff comment, and almost uncanny knack for "riling" certain of the self-styled social and political elite. In these respects the present occupants of the White House and the Executive Mansion are vastly different from their immediate predecessors, although much alike in their own characteristics of gentle reserve and careful choice of language. But in their approach to the problems of their respective offices there is striking contrast. The new President delegates more authority; the new Governor assumes more responsibility for himself.

PRESIDENT—An article written for the July issue of Fortune Magazine by Charles J. V. Murphy notes the charged atmosphere around the White House. He says the galaxy of ribbon-bedecked two-star aides that flanked Roosevelt and Truman on official occasions have disappeared. Eisenhower's senior military aide is a lieutenant colonel. But in place of the generals has come a sort of information obtainable from members attending the sessions.

SPOKESMEN — The President has a much larger staff of assistants, several of whom are in position to speak with authority for him. The Governor insists upon speaking for himself, and only on rare occasions permits anyone else to commit him or his administration to any idea or policy. Governor Umstead has occasionally protested that indirect quotes attributed to him by associates or news reporters did not convey his meaning, but he has not had to deny or overrule statements of subordinate, as President Eisenhower has had to do, mainly because it is generally understood that comments made by anybody else, however close to the Governor, cannot be charged to him. This policy undoubtedly puts a heavy burden upon the Governor, but it also saves him a lot of embarrassment.

GOVERNOR—There is evidence of comparable intent and effort to restore State dignity rather than factional preference at Raleigh. There the similarity ends. Governor Umstead instead of delegating authority and putting responsibility upon associates, is giving more attention to details of administration than any recent chief executive. The constitution makes the attorney general the legal adviser of the executive-administrative department, but Governor Umstead wants to check the statutes himself. On routine matters such as deeds to property sold by the State and loans made from revolving funds, he insists upon personal investigation.

CABINETS—The President has a cabinet composed of his own appointees. Arthur Murphy quotes a cabinet member as saying that at formal meetings Eisenhower listens and occasionally comes up with a suggestion, but seldom with a decision. The Governor has a Council of State composed of officials elected by the same people and at the same time he was elected. But Governor Umstead more nearly "runs" Council of State meetings than Eisenhower runs cabinet meetings, according to best legislatures had pretty well bogged down. The record would seem to show, however, that in the clinch-up Governor Umstead has more influence upon his Legislature than President Eisenhower had upon the Congress.

PERSONALITIES — Somewhat paradoxical in view of the immediately preceding statement is the further fact that the personality of Dwight Eisenhower more nearly dominates the Washington scene than does the personality of William Umstead at Raleigh. Principal reason for that is the complete change in the National Administration, including the presidency, the cabinet and control of Congress, while in North Carolina all members of the Council of State were re-elected and control of the General Assembly continued in the same hands.

DIFFICULT — It is hard to put in words printed on paper anything approaching an understandable explanation of the contrasts and similarities. Intangibles which can be sensed but not quite explained account for the distinction. It seems to be true that President Eisenhower, who delegates authority and responsibility, more completely dominates the national scene, than Governor Umstead, who insists upon assuming personal responsibility for nearly everything relating to State government, dominates the situation at Raleigh.

Hopeful Start In Baby's Training

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—When you try to educate a child it is hard to say who learns most—you or the child.

"Little Jughead," a tiny miss who came to our house recently for what we hope is a permanent visit, is right at the formative stage-old to be kept in ignorance, but too young for college.

As a matter of fact she is only two months old. But, operating on the theory that a girl can't start learning too soon, I have begun her formal education already.

The first things I am teaching her are music and international affairs. I do this by playing the phonograph for her and reading her the newspaper.

"You are positively crazy, Rover," said my wife, Frances. She has the feminine idea that just because a baby can't walk or talk it can't appreciate the finer things of life-like culture, and all that stuff.

But I know better. Take music for example. Little Jughead and I are having a wonderful time exploring the world of music. She likes Beethoven, but he puts me to sleep. When I play a record by Hayden, we both fall asleep. But Mozart we both love. The other day Jughead started playing a strange crooning, and I yelled for my wife.

"Now what's wrong," she said. "Can't you hear what the baby is doing?" I asked excitedly. "Certainly," said Frances. "she is making happy noises."

"Happy noises nothing. Listen again. She is humming Mozart."

ly—and her own mother won't even admit it.

Reading the newspaper to little Jughead is something of a problem. He both like the sports page, but she gets restless when I try to read the comic. I like them, but they bore her to angry squalls—so I read them real fast.

On the other hand nothing contents her more than the editorial page, which I sometimes find heavy going. The heavier and duller the editorial the better she likes it. She lies there smiling, gnawing her hand with her gums, and nodding thoughtfully.

She is also keenly interested in foreign affairs, and really knows more about them than I do. For example, some time ago I read her a piece about The Shah of Iran flying to Rome.

"How do you like that, Kid?" I said. "I guess the Shah's had it. Old Mossadegh kicked him out to stay, eh?"

I looked over at little Jughead, and she shook her head violently in the negative. She didn't agree.

Sure enough, a few days later Old Mossadegh got bounced—and the Shah started back home. When I read that to little Jughead, she leered up triumphantly, smug as any woman whom time has proved right.

One thing worries me about our mutual cultural and enlightenment program. The last couple of days she hasn't been listening to the phonograph or my newspaper reading. Just lies there on the floor flexing her leg muscles and doing pushups.

Oh well, maybe it's time for me to buy her a glove and a bat. What if little Jughead doesn't want to become an intellectual. We could use a good lady softball pitcher in the family.

Freed POW Gets News; Wife Planning Keep 'New' Husband

By AL KAFF
United Press Staff Correspondent
INCHON, Korea (UP) — The sergeant took it like a soldier today when a new man told him he had lost his wife to another man.

Sgt. 1st Class James A. Cogburn sat in a steaming hot press tent and looked straight at United Press Correspondent Frank Jordan who had told him his wife thought he had died in a prison camp.

"Is that so?" Cogburn asked in a low voice.

Cogburn sat silently as Jordan told him his wife in Tennessee had declared she doesn't love him as much as her present husband.

"What can I do..." Cogburn asked. Then the tall, tanned sergeant from Huron, Tenn., showed the first sign of the horrible shock. He pulled a handkerchief from his hip pocket and wiped his eyes.

It was a heart-breaking move because there were no tears.

"Is that so," he repeated.

When Cogburn, then 32, went to Japan before the Korean war, he left behind in Lexington, Tenn., his wife, Ruth Ava Nell and their six-year-old son, Dan.

He was captured near Taejon July 30, 1950, while leading his squad.

The Army told Mrs. Cogburn he was missing in action. She said he later was reported killed.

In 1952 Mrs. Cogburn married a former Marine. They now have a two-month-old baby.

"I've had only one letter from her," Cogburn said. "That was in March of 1952."

Cogburn said the letter did not mention another marriage.

But Cogburn said he received 10 letters, some of them this year, from friends who knew both him

"They didn't mention the marriage," he said. "I guess they thought it best I didn't know."

None of the men in the tent could meet Cogburn's eyes as he digested the information.

Cogburn left the tent the way he had entered it, without emotion.

Meanwhile, in Lexington, Tenn., his wife made plans to greet the sergeant and then ask him for a divorce.

"I'm both surprised and happy to hear that he's alive but I don't love him," said Mrs. Ava Nell Cogburn-Hern, 34. "I love my present husband, my home and my children and I want to do what's right."

Sgt. James Alvin Cogburn, 32, among 110 American prisoners of war released by the Communists Saturday, had been presumed dead since he became missing in action in Korea on July 20, 1950.

Ava Nell, who had borne Cogburn a son in 1947, two years afterward married James M. Hern, former Marine who saw service on Guam. They have a one-month-old daughter, Marilyn Bonita Hern.

The mother said she plans to meet her first husband as soon as he returns to prepare for a divorce. After the divorce, she and Hern plan to remarry.

"I'll be glad to see him again because of our son and because we are still friends," she said, "but I don't love him. Not the way I love James, my present husband."

She and Cogburn had discussed a separation just before he re-enlisted in 1947, nine months after their marriage, she explained. She wanted to make their home at Sandy Springs, Tenn., but Cogburn wanted to remain in the Army.

Ava Nell's choice differed from those of at least two other Ameri-

Russia Finishes New University

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet government announced today it had completed construction of Moscow's new air-conditioned university which has a 32-story "temple of learning."

The university will be opened Tuesday.

Pravda, Communist party newspaper, said the new university will be one of the world's largest.

President Ivan Petrovsky said the floor space of the new school is greater than that of New York's Columbia University.

The elegant new educational institution was built in the Lenin Hills, overlooking the Moscow River on the historic site where Napoleon Bonaparte got his first view of the Kremlin in 1812.

The "temple of learning" is one of Moscow's eight post-war skyscrapers which the government began building in 1949.

The Council of Ministers of the Soviet Union said the university consists of 27 basic and 10 auxiliary buildings with a total volume of 2,611,000 cubic meters.

Dormitories contain 5,754 private air-conditioned rooms for students and 184 apartments for faculty members.

In addition, the university has 104 acres of botanical gardens, a library of more than 1,000,000 volumes and numerous laboratories, stadiums and swimming pools.

Hotel Manager Cites A Puzzle

NEW YORK (UP)—A hotel owner said today that many people in the United States refuse to stay in hotel rooms beyond the fourth floor.

"They are simply afraid of the higher stories," said Irwin H. Kramer, owner of the Hotel Edison here, who polled 10,000 guests from all over the nation on their preferences for hotel rooms.

"What's amazing," Kramer added, "is that many of these people fly to New York."

Legionnaires Open 35th Convention

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — Some 50,000 American Legionnaires opened their 35th national convention at the site of the Legion's birthplace today against a backdrop of uneasy truce, hydrogen bomb development and United Nations crises.

Members of the world's largest veterans' organization frolicked as usual and scheduled a mammoth, 10-hour parade, but bitter floor fights were expected over the Legion's stand on some national and international issues.

Prominent speakers scheduled to address the convention include Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Navy Secretary Robert E. Anderson and presidents George Meany of the AFL and Walter Reuther of the CIO.

More than 150,000 Legionnaires, armed services members and other marchers will take part in the big parade Tuesday. It will pass the site of the Legion's founding here in September, 1919.

Heat Wave Enters Its Second Week Over U.S.

By UNITED PRESS
The worst heat wave of the year entered its second week today with little relief in sight as flooding Texas streams forced thousands of persons out of their homes.

Weathermen forecast more 95 plus heat today and Tuesday for the Eastern two-thirds of the country and only mild relief Tuesday night, to be followed by 90 degree weather for several days.

No rain was in sight for the parched Midwest, and Iowa corn crops were in acute danger.

In Chicago, every rise in the temperature meant a new record was being set. Sunday was the seventh consecutive day of over 90 degree heat. The high for the day, a blistering 96.3, set a new mark. It was the sixth consecutive day of 95 plus weather—another record.

Sunday was also the 18th straight day without rain, 12 short of the record set in 1919. The record for consecutive days of over 90 is eight, set in 1934 and equalled twice since.

The East coast sweltered along with most of the rest of the country as millions of cliff dwellers jammed New York state beaches.

A high of 95.9 was reached in New York City, topping the previous Aug. 30 high of 92.1 set in 1945. As in Chicago, Sunday was the seventh straight 90-plus day. Pittsburgh reported a record snapped when the mercury soared to 97.3, shattering a mark set in 1881. Philadelphia counted seven more deaths from ailments induced by record heat, for a total of 43 since last Tuesday.

Boston, Mass., and other Eastern cities simmered under near 100 degree heat and no rain or cool weather was in sight for the Eastern section of the nation.

Meanwhile, at Robstown, Tex., some 2,000 persons prepared to move back into their flooded and silt-filled homes as soon as a virtual lake of dirty floodwater recedes.

The new flood was caused by a three-inch cloudburst Sunday night that followed another heavy storm Saturday and a total of about 20 inches of rain in South Texas in the last week.

The temperature reached 95 degrees in Indianapolis, equalling an Aug. 30 mark set in 1881 and equalled two years ago.

Some late corn and other crops faced drought damage while the prolonged dry weather lowered municipal water supplies in some areas and created a serious forest fire danger in state parks and woodlands.

It is estimated that if all U. S. forests were in one plot they would cover an area equal to all states east of the Mississippi plus Kansas and Louisiana.

Eddie Mathews Hits Three Homeruns As Braves Romp

Billy Pierce Blanks Yankees For 17th Win, Seventh Shutout Of Season; Cleveland Takes Two

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Fans who still think the Braves have a chance to win the pennant are harder to find than a Phi Beta Kappa key in a hock shop, but the Milwaukee Madcaps may come up with a consolation prize if Ed Mathews wins the home run championship.

Mathews, who would be a cinch to be baseball's "sophomore of the year" if there were such an award, might even win the most valuable player trophy if he keeps slugging the way he has been going lately.

Once again today he was only one homer behind Babe Ruth's record pace of 1924 and 1145 tri-umphs at Pittsburgh in which they banged records around like a demented disc jockey. Mathews hit three homers in the two games to give him a total of 43 for the season. That put him six ahead of his closest competitor in the majors, Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, who has 37. Jim Pendleton also hit three homers in the first game when Milwaukee collected eight homers to break a National League mark and tie a major league mark set by the 1939 Yankees. Eight National League clubs jointly had held the old mark of seven homers in a game.

When the Braves also came through with four more homers in the second game they cracked another National League mark of 10 homers in two consecutive games set by the Pirates of 1925. Mathews hit two of his homers in the opener and Pendleton with his three and Johnny Logan, Jack Dittmer, and Del Crandall accounted for the others. In the second game Mathews, Sid Gordon, Joe Adcock and Logan came through. Mathews now has played in 131 games. In 1927 Ruth had 43 homers in 127 games.

The Braves picked up a half game over the Dodgers and now trail them by 10 games even though Brooklyn poured across 12 runs in a hilarious seventh inning and went on to beat the Cardinals, 20-4, with 19 hits and eight walks.

Roy Campanella tied a league record for catchers when he drove in five runs with a homer and single, giving him a total of 122 for the season to equal that total held by Gabby Hartnett of the 1930 Cubs and Walker Cooper of the 1947 Giants. Carl Erskine breezed to a six-hit 17th victory, tops for his career. The Dodgers on May 24 against the Phils also had a 12-run inning.

The Yankees stayed eight games ahead of the White Sox, beating them 10-6 as Gil McDougald, Joe Collins, and Yogi Berra hit homers, but lost the second game 1-0 when Billy Pierce pitched a four-hitter for his 17th victory and his seventh shutout. Ferris Fain's triple and Connie Ryan's infield out produced the only run.

The Indians, who are coming on nicely now when it really doesn't matter any more, topped the Red Sox 6-5 and 8-4 as Wally Westlake collected five hits in the two games, singling in the winning run in the opener. Ted Williams hit a towering 400-foot Boston homer in the first game and Sammy White also got one in a losing cause. It was Cleveland's sixth in a row and 10 victories in the last 12 games.

Don Larsen shut out Washington with two hits to win 3-0 but the Senators came back to beat the Browns, 2-1. Jackie Jensen setting the pace by driving in three runs with a homer and single. Cleveland castoffs Steve Gromek and Al Aber each pitched seven hitters to give Detroit 10-1 and 9-1 victories over the Athletics. Bob Nieman hit a two run second game homer and Jim Delsing hit a two run homer in the opener.

Phil Cavarretta's three-run pinch double gave the Cubs a 6-2 second game victory over the Giants who the opener 10-1 on homers by Al Dark, Wes Westrum, Bobby Thomson and Daryl Spencer and steady pitching by Jim Hearn. Karl Drewe pitched six hit ball for the Phils to beat Cincinnati 4-2 and Smokey Burgess hit a ninth inning second game homer to make it a sweep 4-3 as Jim Konstanty gained his 14th victory in a relief job.

Phantom Backfield Rehearses

Pirate Practice Sessions Start Tomorrow Afternoon

Fifty-five players, including more than a score of lettermen, are expected to report for football practice at East Carolina College tomorrow, Head Football Coach Jack Boone announced today.

Boone was in the middle of "last-minute" preparations for the opening of the Pirate training period.

Outdoor work for the squad has been planned for morning and afternoon sessions, with a lot of night work cut out in study rooms with movies and blackboard drills.

Boone's assistants, Jim Mallory, former football member at Elon College, and Earl Smith, head coach and athletics director at Campbell College until this past spring, have been working on training plans, also.

Enlargement of the College Stadium by addition of 1,360 seats is underway under supervision of Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, East Carolina Director of Athletics. The work will be completed before the opening of the 1953 season here on September 19 when East Carolina will be host to the Wilson Teachers College team from Washington, D.C.

La Starza Says Rocky Marciano Will 'Wind Up Soft In The Head'

Toski Captures First Major Pro Golf Tournament

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UP)—Little Bobby Toski of Northampton, Mass., was bubbling with glee today because he scored his first major pro golf victory in the tournament he wanted to win more than any other — the Insurance City Open.

Toski, who said before the tournament began, "I'd rather win this one than the National Open," fired a sizzling four-under-par 67 over the final 18 holes Sunday for a 72-hole score of 269 — a grand total of 15 strokes under par.

The Northampton golfer, who weighs only 126 pounds, shot a one-under-par 34 going out and came home in three-under-par 33 to take the top prize which amounted to $2,400 of the total $15,000.

Jim Ferrer of San Francisco, finished second to Toski with a three-under-par 68 to wind up just one stroke short with a total 270.

N.J. Ed (Porky) Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., Max Evans of Briarcliff, N.Y., wound up in a four-way tie for third with 273's.

James Faircloth, Erwin; Quarterbacks: Dick Cherry, Washington, N.C.; Boyd Webb, Gastonia; Halfbacks: Thomas Allbrook, Scotland Neck; Eno Boado, Wilmington; Paul Gay, Wilson; Tippy Hayes, Durham; Jim Stanley, Washington, N.C.; Jack Britt, Fairmont; Teddy Barnes, Wilson; Harold O'Kelly, High Point; Fullbacks: Claude King, Wilmington; John Daughtry, Wilmington; Carlton Matthews, Roanoke Rapids.

By JACK CUDY
United Press Sports Writer
GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Roland La Starza exploded a bomb in camp here today when he predicted that heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano would "wind up soft in the head."

The ex-collegian, who will fight Rocky for the title on Sept. 24, made the statement at La Starza Cottage, here in the Ramapo Mountains, right on the eve of Marciano's 29th birthday.

"That's certainly one helluva birthday present for Roland to send out," said one of the amazed sports writers present.

It was amazing because the usually polite Roland had ventured with his prediction into the no-mans-land of punchiness that is never invaded by boxers or managers in discussing a member of the profession. To say that a fighter is punchy or will become punchy is the insult supreme.

Middleweights In Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Middleweights Garth Panter of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Walter Cartier of New York clash tonight in a 10-round return bout rated "even money" at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Panter upset Cartier in a 10-round bout at the Arena on July 27.

Unlike the previous bout, tonight's fight will not be televised. Panter upset Cartier in a 10-round bout at the Arena on July 27.

Brooklyn wins, 15 of its remaining 26 games, the pennant will be assured regardless of what second-place Milwaukee does. The Dodgers' season percentage so far .690 and they are winning at an .813 clip since the All-Star game.

"Marciano is going to get hurt," declared the brown-haired, broad-shouldered challenger in the gray shorts and blue flowers sportshirt.

"If I don't do it, someone else will." "He takes three or four punches to land one. He'll wind up soft in the head."

The champion may already have been hurt by the beating he took during the first 12 rounds of his Philadelphia fight with Jersey Joe Walcott last September, La Starza pointed out.

"You can throw out his one-round knockout over Walcott at Chicago in May," he continued.

"He wasn't in the ring long enough that night to tell anything. You can even throw that out as a fight and say he hasn't had a fight in a year. And we won't know for sure how the Philadelphia beating affected him until he gets into the ring with me at the Polo Grounds."

The subject of head-softness came up while 26-year old La Starza was describing his conception of "a great fight."

He explained: "To me a great fight is one in which you can give it to the other guy without getting it yourself. It's one in which you win every round without getting your hair matted." "I don't know how he believes he is a better fighter than the champion. One reason is 'I am convinced I beat him in our first fight three years ago, when the ring officials gave him a disputed split decision over me. I was just a kid then and he was a man.'" "I've matured since then. I'm a man now, and he's old."

Roland rested at this cottage today. He will resume sparring at the Long Pond Inn, where he already has boxed 60 rounds. He weighs about 190 pounds, his expected fighting weight.

Wright Waits 11 Years To Even Score Against Pep

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—A bitter little man with a battered face was looking into the past and future today.

Ancient Chaiky Wright has waited 11 years to even the score against Willie Pep. He thinks he has it "made" now that the shoe is on the other foot.

Chaiky's bitterness goes back to a cold November night in 1942. The wind howled outside but in the ring-lit darkness of Madison Square Garden the young man who was challenger Willie Pep used a jab and a bicycle to strip the featherweight championship of the world from the veteran Chaiky. "He wouldn't fight," Wright recalls. "He jabbed and ran — and I couldn't catch him."

It was two years before Chaiky could get Willie back in the ring. But everybody, even Chaiky, knew by then that he didn't have a chance.

The little man from Mexico had been around too long. Nobody knew, actually, how old he was. When he signed with pugny Eddie Walker in 1938, he said he was 31 years old. When he signed to defend the title against Pep in 1942, he still said he was 31. And even two years later, when he got that return bout with Willie the Wisp, Chaiky still admitted to no more than 31.

What made it even worse for Chaiky, a one-time chauffeur-bodyguard for Mae West, when he dropped the crown to Pep was that he had held the title only five months.

So through the years since he hung up the gloves, Chaiky has brooded over those defeats which he considered poorly won. And it always was his hope to come up with a youngster who would even the score against Pep for him.

Chaiky thinks it finally has come in a young fighter named Dave Gallardo whom he trains.

Gallardo has battled his way up to fifth spot among the world's featherweights and goes against Lulu Perez at Madison Square Garden on Friday night. But despite the young man's promise, Chaiky isn't dreaming of a title fight. What he wants is to put his boy in against Willie Pep.

The shoe is on the other foot now. Chaiky is dreaming of the time when, peering out of Gallardo's corner, he'll be looking across the ring at Willie again. Young Dave will have to throw the punches, but Chaiky will be calling the

Americans Make Stand In Tennis Tourney Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP)—Art Larsen, Billy Talbert and Sidley Schwartz make the first major stand against the invading Australians today in the second round of the U.S. Tennis Singles championship.

The top Aussie favorites — Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad — gained the third round with ease Sunday but three second-line stars from "Down Under" face rugged tests today.

Larsen, tantalizing a south paw from San Leandro, Calif., and the last American to win the U.S. crown in 1950, tackles young Clive Wilderspin; Talbert takes on erratic Rex Hartwig; and Schwartz, an underdog, shoots for an upset against southpaw Mervyn Rose.

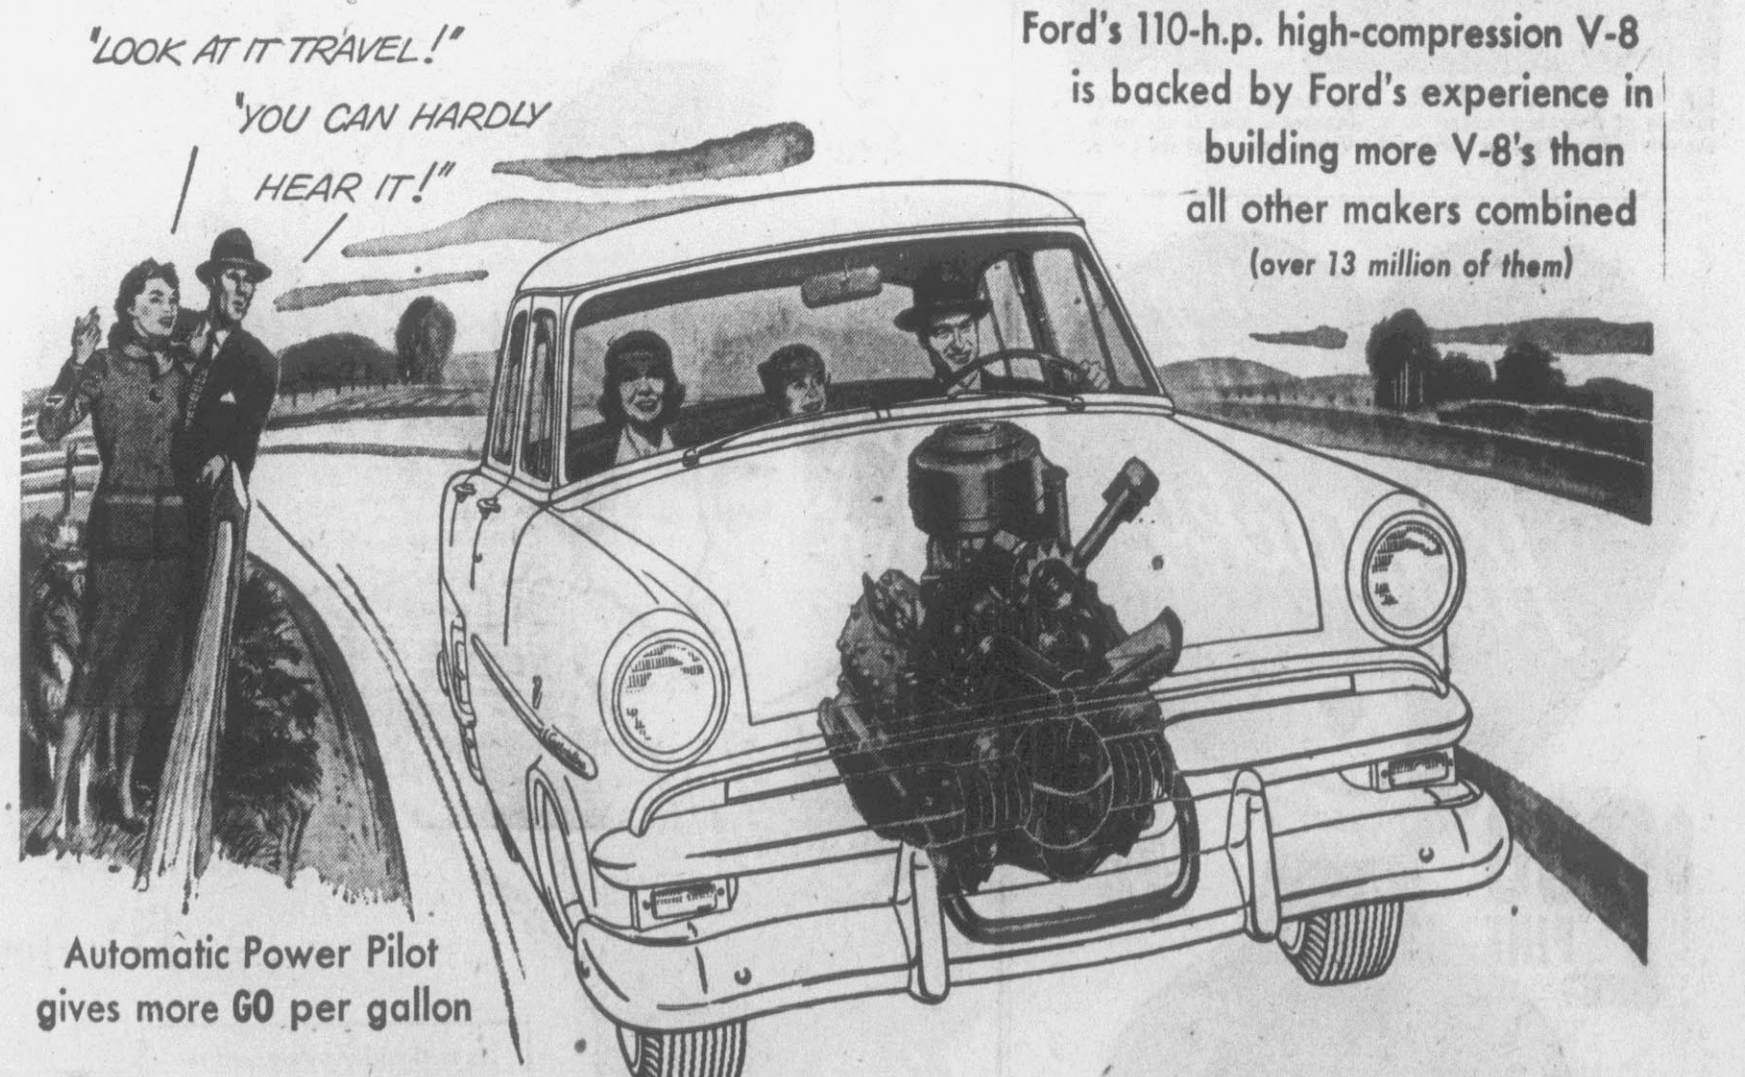

All seeded Americans, headed by Wimbledon champ Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, were still "alive" in the tournament but Larsen was the only one scheduled for action today.

In women's singles, little Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., opens her bid for a third straight crown with a delayed first-rounder against Mrs. Jean Falloot of New York. Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington Del., winner in 1948, 1949 and 1950, faces a rugged opener in her return to national competition against Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif.

TV Regarded As Better Than Stock For Training

By JACK GAYER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Television is even better than the old stock company days when it comes to the training of actors, according to Franklin Heller.

Heller, producer of the "Danger" series on CBS-TV, regards the new medium as an unsurpassed boon to players.

"Our greatest performers of the old days had their basic training in the stock companies — killed by the movies — but television does more for the actor of the present day," Heller said.

"The television actor has the opportunity to play a greater variety of parts in the course of a year than his theatrical ancestor had in a lifetime in the theater, even when the stock company was a national institution.

"The present day type-casting employed by the stage and screen has been harmful to the actor. In television, in some cases that is, players have been given chances to get out of their usual grooves and show their versatility.

"But on this one TV program, 'Danger,' for example, I've used people completely out of character. Art Carney, to mention one, is a comic — right and left hand of Jackie Gleason. If he were in a stock company of the old school, that's what he would have remained — a comic.

"And, speaking of Gleason, you may remember that he played a dramatic part on a 'Studio One' play not long ago. When in the theater or movies, would a knock-about star of his type ever get a chance to play such a role?

"Take a fellow like Jackie Miles. Strictly a night club floor show comic. Unlike Gleason and others, he's never even been in a broad show. He might have worked for many years more before he ever got a chance on the stage. But television took him off that night club floor, even if it was only for one evening. I used him as the star of a 'Danger' show called 'Cookie's Tour' recently.

Heller himself is a former actor, so he can appreciate the barrier of type-casting that confronts players today in the theater and the movies.

"I went through the mill," he said, "so I'm more than sympathetic to players who want a chance to show that they are versatile. It's not only good for the actors — you'd be surprised what a lift they get out of doing something that's off-beat — but it can't help but benefit not only television but all forms of show business in the long run."

Beat Governor For First Drink

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Four-year old Gina Gregory carefully held a bottle to collect the first drink of water from suburban River Oaks' new $2,000,000 water filtration plant for Gov. Allan Shivers, who couldn't be present at dedication ceremonies.

Then Gina, daughter of Paul D. Gregory, project consulting engineer, beat the governor to the punch Sunday.

She took the first sip, turned to some 100 spectators and announced:

"It tastes just like water."

Fond Memories Of Easier Times

WASHINGTON (UP)— Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who runs the biggest law office in the world — the Justice Department — occasionally looks back on his private law practice with envy.

"Sometimes at the end of a long, hard day it looks pretty good," he said.

Watchdogs Wag Tails, No Bark

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (UP) — Two watchdogs wagged their tails instead of barking a warning when federal agents raided a 130-gallon whiskey still at a farmhouse near here.

Agent Glen Wimbish said his men had befriended the two hounds while keeping the farmhouse under surveillance for several months before the raid.

Mothers Take On Janitor's Job

WALCOTT, Ia. (UP)— Mothers did the janitor's work today to get the Walcott Independent District School in shape for their children.

School board officials said the mothers will continue cleaning up until it can find a janitor. If a janitor can't be hired by winter, board officials said, fathers will have to roll up their sleeves and start stoking the furnace and shovelling snow off the sidewalks.

The female hornbill, an African bird, walls herself up with mud inside a hollow tree at nesting time, but leaves a small hole through which her mate feeds her and the young.

One Of Cheapest Sources of Water For Pasture

This water hole in W. R. Eagles 100-acre pasture in the Tar River second bottom above Falkland furnishes an ample supply of water for his 75 cattle. Water is one of the most important and cheapest requirements for livestock, and with this 12-foot deep, sloped water hole the cows in Eagles' pasture will never be without the necessity. The hole is 60 feet wide and 100 feet long and is sloped so that the cattle can walk to the edge no matter how low the supply of water is. Twelve of these holes have been dug by the Hoke dragnine in the past 30 days. (Reflector photo by Tommie Lupton).

Behind-Scenes View Of A President On An Outing

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
FRASER, Colo. (UP) — Backstairs at the mountain White House:

It is bitter cold in the woods at night around the Aksel Nielsen ranch where the President is staying. Consequently, Secret Service agents on duty through the night wear the same kind of heavy parkas used by American troops in Korea last winter.

Local residents are anxious to get a chance at St. Louis Creek when the President returns to Denver. This is the stream that goes through the Nielsen property. It was heavily stocked with rainbow trout, some reportedly weighing close to four pounds, shortly before the President's arrival here last Thursday.

White House reporters traveling with the President were warned in Denver to brace themselves for rugged country and cold weather at Fraser. Consequently, they outfitted themselves in what they took to be true Western style.

When they assembled in Fraser for their first news conference with Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, the reporters and cameramen resembled the cast of a grade D shoot-'em-up movie.

"Oh, no, no," screamed Hagerty when he got his first look at the denim pants and shirts and broad-brimmed Western hats.

"These Mr. Secretary," said Frank Holeman of the New York Daily News, "are the writers of the purple page."

Helpful kitchen hints according to the President:

His version of vegetable soup looks more like beef stew. He uses huge chunks of top-grade beef. He is more fastidious about fixing his soup than he is about frying rainbow trout. Takes hours to cook. He marinates his potatoes in vinegar before putting them into his potato salad. He always serves bacon with friend trout. The bacon is sort of a by-product because he cooks it before the trout to get fresh bacon drippings which he mixes with melted butter for the actual fish frying. It is a very tasty combination.

The President uses a self-rising pancake flour made in Denver for his flapjacks. At least, Nielsen went into the general store here the other day, bought a good supply of the pancake flour and said it was for the Chief Executive.

When the Suez Canal was first dug it was 72 feet wide, but it has been widened to 200 feet.

Hid Out While Growing A Beard

REDON, France (UP)—Francis Marchand, 50, a farmer, turned up hale and hearty Sunday at his home in nearby St. Jean La Poterie.

Police and distressed relatives had been looking for him for a month. He said he was in the barn loft at his home all the time. "I wanted to grow a beard in private," he explained.

Half Of Covered Bridge Is Ohio's

COLUMBUS Ohio AP)—Ohio has exactly 35 1/2 covered bridges. At the peak of the covered bridge craze there were only 96 1/2.

The half bridge is in Preble County, Ohio, in southwestern Ohio. It is on State Line Road near College Corner and spans the Ohio-Indiana line. One-half is in Indiana, so Ohio officials count only one-half of the bridge.

In Napoleon's time, engineers thought the Red Sea was 30 feet higher than the Mediterranean, but the cutting of the Suez Canal between the two bodies of water proved them wrong.

His Own Cooking Halted Cruise

BEMIDJI, Minn. AP)—A 71-year-old poet, Edward Gillfillan, Long Beach, Calif., started a canoe trip from the source to the mouth of the Mississippi River.

When he gave up, after five days, he wanted it clearly understood that it wasn't the paddling that made him change his mind. "It wasn't the river that beat me," he explained. "I just couldn't stand my own cooking."

Modern Jail Is Thing Of Beauty

EAST POINT, Ga. (AP)—The new $200,000 city jail in this Atlanta suburb is so inviting in appearance that tourists sometimes stop and seek accommodations, thinking it is a hotel. Police Chief William H. Taylor helped design the posh calaboose and is mighty proud of it but he wants to scotch one report that's gotten around. It's not air-conditioned. "I wish it was," adds Taylor, whose offices are in the jail.

Tornado Damage Repaired After 2-Day Building Bee

FLINT, Mich. (UP)—"Operation Tornado," in which 8,000 volunteers joined in a mammoth work bee to rebuild the twisted-flattened Beecher district here, was declared an "unbelievable" success today.

"I'm completely overwhelmed by the spirit and the accomplishments of these volunteers," said M. F. Borgman, chairman of the local committee which planned the two-day project. "The whole thing is unbelievable, more tremendous than we ever expected."

The committee set an original goal of 7,500 workers to combine in rebuilding in two days the homes that were destroyed in two minutes last June 8 by a shrieking tornado which took 119 lives. An estimated 8,000 skilled and unskilled workers answered the call Saturday and Sunday, although only about 5,000 of them were on the job at one time.

The weary volunteers, both men and women and including some from Ohio and Indiana, celebrated their "job well done" with a victory dance which lasted well into this morning. The dance was held under the stars in the Beecher High School gymnasium, still lacking a roof which was blown away in the June tornado.

Of the 200 homes swarmed over by the volunteer army 93 of them had only foundations. By dusk Sunday, 80 of the 93 had roofs. The other 107 homes were in various stages of construction before the project, billed by its promoters as the "world's biggest work bee," got started.

One resident, whose home was swept away by the winds, said his dwelling was rebuilt so fast "it seemed as though I just held up a door frame and these people built a house around it."

Many families moved their furniture into their new homes before the victory dance. Some of the dwellings still lacked the finishing touches such as interior painting and plastering, but all were termed "livable."

Mayor Donald Riegle said many of the volunteers asked that they be allowed to return to the area today so they could complete the homes they started.

"There's still a lot of work to be done on some of the homes," Riegle said. "But the heavy work is out of the way in most cases. The owners themselves will be able to put on the finishing touches. For those who can't do the work themselves, there still are plenty of volunteers available to complete the jobs."

The volunteer army, including former General Motors President Charles S. Mott, represented 30 Michigan cities. They used up more than 100 carloads of lumber and other materials. Working under a blazing sun, they drank more than 50,000 cups of coffee and consumed more than 10,000 box lunches.

Brownell Thinks Most Reds Are In Labor Unions

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., said today he believes more Communists are to be found in labor unions than anywhere else in this country.

In reply to a question, he said Communists have not concentrated in the clergy.

Brownell's statement in an interview with U. S. News & World Report, a weekly magazine, was the latest development in a controversy over the extent of Communist infiltration of the churches.

J. B. Matthews, former executive director of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee, charged in a magazine article that the Protestant clergy forms "the largest single group" of Americans supporting the "Communist apparatus."

Matthews resigned amid mounting criticism of the article and shortly after President Eisenhower fired a heavy blast at it.

Asked what the Justice Department plans to do about Reds in labor unions, the attorney general said he expects to work in cooperation with a congressional committee which plans to investigate the problem.

In addition, he said, there are prosecuting pending under the Taft Hartley law involving union leaders charged with swearing falsely they are not Communists.

Brownell said the congressional committee will determine "whether there is any need for additional legislation to eliminate the Communist influence."

He said there are some unions that are run by Communists "but they are not big AFL or CIO unions."

Brownell estimated that Communist party membership has been cut about 75 per cent since the prosecutions of top Communist leaders under the Smith Act. There are now about 25,000 Communist party members in this country, compared with about 100,000 when the trials started, he said.

However, Brownell warned that the party "is a greater menace now than at any time."

"The Communists have gone underground since the Smith Act trials started," Brownell said. "They are better organized and detection is more difficult."

During an ice storm in 1952, one couple who operated a dog kennel near New York City is reported to have left their house where electricity had been cut off, preventing operation of the oil heating plant, and moved into the kennels which was heated by gas which required no electricity.

Will File Claim For Migration

MELBOURNE (AP)—An Australian labor leader says Japan will submit claims for migration to

New Guinea at the International Labor Organization Asian regional conference in Tokyo in September. Albert E. Monk, president of the Australian Council of Trade Unions, made the statement in an address to the United Nations Association. He recently returned from an I.L.O. conference in Geneva. Japan, had changed their postwar clamour for migration because they realized that the limited number of migrants Australia could absorb would not solve their population problems. Ships drawing up to 36 feet water can pass through the S. Monk said Asian countries, except Canal.

ANOTHER MILLION DOLLAR DAY IN GREENVILLE

On Friday, August 28, the Greenville Tobacco Market had its second million dollar day of the 1953 season, paying out $1,070,350.65 for 2,010,774 pounds to farmers who sold here on Friday.

The farmers selling tobacco in Greenville now are better pleased with the prices received on all grades of tobacco than at any time in our entire history. This is particularly true of the common and medium grades, now selling at the highest level in a 63-year period and which have consisted to this date mostly of low grade bottom primings and tips.

Practical tops at present are 69c with occasional company purchases of choice leaf at 70c and 71c. Grade for grade there is not a market in the entire flue-cured area that excels Greenville in prices paid to tobacco growers for every single grade of their tobacco.

Farmers from 26 counties in North Carolina sold tobacco in Greenville on Friday and went home happy over their sales.

Bring your tobacco on to Greenville now and enjoy for yourself and your family these high prices which you so richly deserve for your toil and labor in producing this crop.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Weakness in oils and strength in Firestone featured an irregularly lower stock market during the morning dealings today.

Firestone gained 1 1/4 points to 57 as production was being restored after a strike. Other tires eased with Goodrich down a point.

Among the oils, declines of a point or more were set by Houston, Richfield, Kelly, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil, Plymouth Oil, and Barber Oil. Tide Water Associated featured the group in turnover, helped by a 5,000-share block transportation.

Atlantic Coast Line was a weak spot in the rails. It lost a point to a new low at 90 and helped pull the rail average down to a new low since Sept. 16 1932. The loss in the average amounted to a mere 26 cents with support developing for a few of the leading issues.

Minnesota Mining lost nearly two points, Western Union more than a point, and Clark Equipment a point. Mathieson Chemical gained a point.

Most net changes held to fractions with gains in such issues as American Telephone, Coca-Cola, Columbia Broadcasting, General Foods, Eastman Kodak, Grumman Aircraft, International Business Machines, and U. S. Leather.

Army Manpower Cutback Affects ROTC Program

WASHINGTON (UP)—Manpower cutbacks may prevent some ROTC students graduating in 1955 from being commissioned, the Army said today.

The Army said it will make "every effort" to make room for ROTC graduates of the 1953-54 school year, but it warned there is no assurance that all of the 1955 class can be accommodated.

If ROTC students, who have been deferred for their college training, fail to win a commission they will be liable for the draft.

The Army said, however, it will give students not commissioned "appropriate recognition with regard to their training and potential qualifications."

The Army has already begun forcing out the first of some 8,000 officers who are making way for this year's ROTC class. Likewise, in order to stay within manpower limitations, the Air Force is forcing out officers and has warned that ROTC students must take flying training or be dropped.

Six Questioned In Red Probing

NEW YORK (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) questioned six witnesses today about possible Communist infiltration "in a military branch" of the federal government.

McCarthy refused to identify the witnesses or name the "very important" military agency involved as he opened the new phase of his investigations into communism here. There were reports that he is checking into the activities of civilian employees of the Army.

He described the witnesses as "both cooperative and uncooperative."

New Classrooms, New Furniture For Brookgreen First Grade

A move to prevent serious overcrowding due to expected increased enrollment in Greenville city schools has added to the system some of the "largest and best" first grade when it opens Wednesday announced that the Recreation Building at Brookgreen School has been converted into a classroom.

The Brookgreen building has been completely painted and renovated. Said Rose's letter, "This building has hard wood floors, steam heat, adequate toilets, good lights, drinking fountains, new furniture, and a large playground. It is an ideal place . . . to attend school."

Driver Faces Four Charges As Result Of Car Wreck

A Route 1 Greenville man faces four traffic charges today as a result of an auto accident at Dickinson and Line Avenue Saturday night. City police arrested and charged Roy White, 36, of Route 1 Greenville with driving drunk, careless and reckless driving, no operator's license and leaving the scene of an accident.

A car driven by White collided with one operated by A. Z. Heath, 64, of Route 1 Ayden. Heath and his wife were injured when their car was struck. A passenger in the White car, Gray Hardee, also of Route 1 Ayden, was injured.

The three injured people were removed to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Fire Department's rescue truck. Injuries of the Heaths were described as being cuts and bruises to Mr. Heath and head and eye injuries for Mrs. Heath. Hardee received leg injuries, head and arm lacerations.

Damage to the two cars was placed at $1300 by investigating officers. Another Saturday night accident resulted in slight property damage to two cars according to City Police reports.

A car driven by Jasper Woodrow Crawford, 34, of 106 Boyd Avenue city, was struck on the left rear by a car driven by Robert Francis McLanahan, 64, of Bethel.

There were no injuries in the accident which occurred at Dickinson and Boyd Avenue at 8:00. Investigation of the accident is incomplete, according to investigating officer W. B. Cole.

City Manager Expected Today

Greenville's first city manager, James S. Hughes, was expected to arrive in Greenville sometime today preparatory to taking over his new duties as of tomorrow.

City officials have indicated Hughes and his family will take up residence in the Hillsdale-Tucker road section. Temporary reservations have been made with a local motel.

Hughes appointment earlier this month to the administrative post followed a three-month period during which the Greenville council screened and interviewed almost 80 applicants for the job.

He has served previously as city manager of Farmville, Va. and South Norfolk, Va., and in construction administrative posts with the army. Accompanying him to Greenville will be his wife, the former Miss Eloise Coverlee of Fredericksburg, and two sons, Bobby 9, and Richard, 7.

Stopped At 98

The temperature in the Greenville area soared toward the 100-degree mark Sunday afternoon and stopped at 98.

Lowest temperature here last night was 67 degrees, and at 8 a.m. today it was 72. No rain.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 91 degrees. Lowest that night 75 and at 8 a.m. next day it was 82. Rainfall that day, about one-fifth of an inch.

Consider Safety Steps For Pupils

City and school officials got together in an informal session Saturday afternoon to study combined safety measures for Greenville school children.

Supt. J. H. Rose of the Greenville city schools met with Mayor W. L. Whebedee and Police Chief S. G. Gibbs to discuss the question.

The matter of school education ties in closely with a current three-point program of the city council for promoting safety on Greenville streets.

Commenting on progress of the program thus far, Mayor Whebedee said that traffic stop-and-go lights have been installed at intersections of Dickinson and Ninth, Dickinson and Pitt, and Fourteenth and Evans.

Other intersections also have been under study for needs of possible further precautionary measures. Mayor Whebedee said cost in labor and material for one of the lights is about $500.

He said efforts also are being made to get a survey by a government engineer for a thorough study of the entire traffic situation.

Plans Ride Over Niagara Falls In Barrel Saturday

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UP)—Lesley Sanders of New York City will try to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel next Saturday or Sunday afternoon, it was reported today.

Major Lloyd Hill, local riverman, said Sanders had hired him to arrange to pick up the barrel below the falls after the plunge.

Hill said the trip would take place in the afternoon of either day and might start from the American side of the river.

Sanders planned a similar trip over the falls in 1950 from the Canadian side. But when he crossed the International Bridge, Canadian immigration officials refused to allow him to enter the country.

Find Man Dead Near Highway

BRUCE—James Jones, 52, of this community, was found dead beside the highway around 9:40 Saturday night here.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse ruled the man died of natural causes and that no inquest will be deemed necessary.

Sheriff's deputies Jasper Lee Mills and Elmer Haddock investigated. The man who had lived in the section for the past 30-40 years was farming on a farm owned by W. H. Wooten at the time of his death. It was reported by Rouse.

Much Gamma Globulin Sent To North Carolina

North Carolina has received 216,800 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin to fight polio to date this year, according to a report released late last week by Pitt County Health Superintendent Dr. Walter C. Humbert.

On July 2, over 100,000 cubic centimeters were shipped to Caldwell County to combat polio outbreaks in that area, and on July 10-13, Catawba County received 95,000 units of the life-saving fluid. Last North Carolina spot to receive a shipment was Avery County, which received 21,000 cubic centimeters shipped on August 1, said the report.

The 216,800 unit total is second only to New York for amount of gamma globulin provided, the report went on. Steuben and Chemung Counties in the Empire State received 232,940 cubic centimeters. According to the statement, "about 150,000 children have been inoculated in 14 different epidemic areas with . . . gamma globulin distributed by the U.S. Public Health Service in emergency shipments."

Nine states and the territory of Alaska received shipments. Said the release, "hundreds of others have been given similar protection . . . under basic allocation plan prior to polio season."

North Carolina's share, if expressed in quarts, would total approximately 230.

In 1895, died in 1947. Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Edward Gulben of Texas City, Tex., Mrs. Graham Byrum and Mrs. W. E. Malone of Edenton, Mrs. J. Noah Williams of Smithfield, and Mrs. Ruby Nethercutt and Mrs. Dan H. Gordon of the home; six sons, J. Alfred Taylor of Jacksonville, Jack Taylor of Norfolk, Va., T. E. Taylor of Rocky Mount, Howard A. Taylor of Kinston, Jarvis Taylor of Benson, and C. Lamuel Taylor of Orlando, Fla.; 26 grandchildren; eight great grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. J. P. Stallings of Hopewell, Va.

"Chief" Taylor, until the time of his death, was the oldest active law enforcement officer in Pitt County. He had been actively engaged in law enforcement work for 50 years and served as bailiff for Pitt County Superior and County Courts.

Mr. Taylor first entered police work in 1902 when he was elected constable of Bethel Township. From there he went to Farmville where he served as Chief of Police for 20 years, then served as deputy sheriff under former Sheriff Joe McLawhorn.

He had been an active member of the Pitt County ABC board for the past 16 years.

Last Rites For J. L. Taylor Held

Mr. John L. Taylor, 79, known as "Chief" throughout this community, died at his home in Greenville at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon following seven weeks of illness.

Funeral services were conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon by the Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and burial was in Forrest Hill Cemetery in Farmville. Members of the Farmville Masonic Lodge had charge of the service at the grave.

Mr. Taylor was born in Martin County and came to Pitt County as a young man, remaining here for the remainder of his life. He was Chief of Police in Farmville for 20 years. In 1937 he became an ABC officer and had continued in this work until his recent illness. He had been an active officer of the law for more than 50 years. He moved his family to Greenville in 1941. He was a charter member of the Pitt County Peace Officers Protective Association and also a member of the Farmville-Masonic Lodge. His wife, Mrs. Magnolia Philpott Taylor, to whom he was married

Last Rites Held For Father Of Local Man

S. R. Bartlett, father of Dr. Stephen R. Bartlett of Greenville, died Saturday morning at his home in Westport, Connecticut. Funeral services were held there today.

Dr. Bartlett is a member of the surgical staff of Pitt County Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Charge Murder Of His 'Lonely Hearts' Wife

SEBRING, Fla. (UP)—A 55-year-old unemployed caretaker was to be arraigned today on charges that he strangled his "lonely hearts" fourth wife.

Russell Chester Stackhouse of Blaine, Me. is charged with the first degree murder of Mrs. Janie B. Stackhouse, whose body was found buried in a citrus grove, a sashcord wrapped around her neck.

Stackhouse is the 56-year-old woman's fifth husband. They met through a "lonely hearts" club.

Sheriff Broward Coker said Stackhouse has served four prison sentences, including a federal sentence on a charge of transporting a stolen car across state lines, and other sentences received in Maine.

School Fire Is Believed To Have Been Kids' Idea

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UP)—North Charleston area officials today blamed a clumsy attempt to burn down the Dorchester elementary school on children who don't want to go there Thursday.

The school was damaged slightly yesterday by a fire which started
