Watered Stocks From Sunken Ship

Stock certificates, salvaged along with $85,000 in currency and 5,000 British pounds sterling from the sunken freighter Flying Enterprise, are hung up to dry at Brussels, Belgium, where the recovered valuables are being sorted. An insurance adjuster said that the Flying Enterprise carried $250,000 in bank notes when she sank last year off the British coast after an epic struggle by her skipper, Capt. Kurt Carlsen, to save his ship. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London.)

Dulles Calls Korea Allies To Discuss Site For Parleys

By DONALD J. GONZALES WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called a meeting today of the 16 nations that fought in Korea to discuss a site for next month's Korean peace conference. The Allies pushed ahead with the site problem even though the Communists still have not agreed to the decisions of the United Nations General Assembly on the composition and form of the conference. In an effort to avoid a fight with the Reds on a site and precise date for the meeting, the Allies may propose various alternatives. But even this is considered no insurance against a wrangle. Geneva, Switzerland, has led advance speculation on a possible site pending Allied-Communist agreement. Colombo Ceylon, and other Asian sites also have been mentioned. And Korean Ambassador Dr. You Chan Yang told a reporter that his government might favor San Francisco or Honolulu. Dulles called today's Allied meeting to get the ball rolling on the position the U.N. will take. One of the first actions is expected to be a formal decision to invite South Korean representatives to join the meeting. South Korea, although it bore a large part of the fighting, is not a U.N. member because Russia blocked its admission. Under terms of the Korean armistice, the peace conference is to be convened no later than Oct. 28—90 days after the truce was signed at Panmunjom. The United States has the responsibility of consulting with the U.N. Allies and South Korea and then arranging details with the Communists, perhaps through U.N. headquarters in New York. The October meeting will be the showdown with the Communists over Korea's political and military future. The truce set the agenda on "the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc." Dulles has said that the United States would join South Korea in walking out of the conference after 90 days if it appears that the meeting "is a sham and unproductive."

Returnees Say Sixty Men Detained By Communists Hostages Said Held

By LEROY HANSEN PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations assured the Communists Monday at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission that it will return all prisoners in "Operation Big Switch," including convicted criminals. The liberated prisoners described the men detained at nearby Kaesong as die-hard American patriots who exhibited the greatest resistance to the nerve-ending Communist indoctrination campaign. According to the returnees, the men will not be freed until the United Nations hands over the 14 Communist ringleaders of the Koje Island riots of 1952. Peiping radio, voice of Red China, listed the men the Communists want returned. The list included a fanatic rabble-rouser named Pak Sang Hyon, who Gen. Mark W. Clark said had been ordered to surrender to the U.N. in order to organize prison camp resistance. The United Nations assured the Communists Monday at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission that it will return all prisoners in "Operation Big Switch," including convicted criminals. Some 100 Americans, 25 Britons, 20 Turks, five Australians and 250 South Koreans went through Freedom Gate today in the 28th day of "Big Switch." The Reds announced they would release 100 Americans and 200 South Koreans Wednesday, 100 prisoners below their promised daily quota of 400. There was no explanation for the lower number. Among those repatriated in Tuesday's proceedings was Lt. Col. James P. Carne, commander of the first battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment, who risked his life while in captivity by refusing to divulge British military secrets. Pic. Walter Dixon, whose wife re-married after he was reported killed in action in 1951, also was released. Dixon is the second "Enoch Arden" of the Korean war to be repatriated. Sen. William F. Knowland of California went to Freedom Village to greet the returning prisoners. The Senate majority leader, who is on a fact-finding tour of the Far East, chatted for a few minutes with Lt. John D. Bryant, 31, Baldwin Park, Calif. He also greeted Sgts. First Class Nathan O. Andrews, 24, of Clarkston, N.C. and William F. Borer, 24, of Jersey City, N.J. "Glad to have you back," the California Republican said. General Black began loading former prisoners for the voyage home Wednesday, 1,697 troops from India arrived to take over the duty of guarding captives resisting repatriation.

Indicate Soviet Building 'Family' Of Weapons Russian A-Blast Revealed

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. experts said today Russia's latest atomic explosion indicates the Soviet Union is beginning to develop a diversified "family" of A-bombs. The United States has been stockpiling atomic weapons of many types and sizes for the past two years. But until now Russia has apparently been concentrating on production of a single "early model" A-bomb. The Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday night that a "fission explosion" took place in Russia Aug. 23. This is the language the AEC uses to denote an atomic blast, as opposed to an H-bomb test, which is called a "thermonuclear explosion." The AEC had announced earlier this month that Russia set off a hydrogen explosion Aug. 12. The second test, coming only 11 days later, led the AEC to conclude the Russians are conducting a "series" of nuclear experiments. The brief official announcement said the latest Soviet explosion "was in the same range of energy release as our recent Nevada tests." Those tests, conducted last spring, involved 11 different atomic shots which were reliably reported to range in energy release from the equivalent of 15,000 to 50,000 tons of TNT. Thus the AEC made clear there was nothing spectacular about the size of the latest Soviet explosion. It also said that if Russia sets off any more explosions in the current "series", the United States will not announce them "unless intelligence indicates information of greater interest." This marked a departure from past policy of disclosing every Russian atomic explosion as soon as possible after its detection by the delicate U.S. monitoring instruments which record radioactivity swept into the atmosphere by a nuclear blast anywhere on the globe. To date, the United States has reported four atomic tests and one hydrogen explosion in the Soviet Union. The first three atomic tests came at widely-spaced intervals between the fall of 1949 and the fall of 1951. The Aug. 23 blast was the first atomic explosion the Russians had set off in nearly two years. The long hiatus in Soviet atomic tests had led many U.S. officials to conclude Russia froze A-bomb designs after the 1951 tests in order to build a stockpile as quickly as possible. It was felt the Russians could hardly have perfected a variety of atomic weapons with only three tests. The United States has conducted 42 atomic tests since World War II in order to achieve its present varied arsenal of advanced weapons ranging from "tactical" atomic artillery shells to city-wrecking aerial bombs. While there may be other explanations for Russia's Aug. 23 test, experts felt that a logical inference is that the Soviet Union now has a big enough stockpile of its early model weapons to feel justified in experimenting with more advanced types.

Another Million Dollar Sales Day

By AL PERRY Reflector Staff Writer Greenville tobacco market sales topped the million dollar mark here yesterday for the third time in the 8-day-old 1954 season. The $1,000,684.48 total, representing almost a full sale in all warehouses, was paid out for 1,878,444 pounds of tobacco and an average of $53.27 per hundred in gross sales. Yesterday's million dollar day came as a surprise to many tobaccoists, who had predicted sales would not quite reach the million mark of opening day on August 20 or last Friday's sales. Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee, releasing market figures this morning, stated that due to the forthcoming Labor Day holiday, sales this week may be heavier than usual. No sales will be held on Labor Day, Monday, September 7. Whedbee reiterated his comment made earlier in the season to the effect that prices are "at the highest level in the entire 63 year history of the market." Producers, or net, sales yesterday accounted for $959,364.84, or an average of $54.55 per hundred for the day. A summary of the Greenville tobacco market season to date, includes gross figures on the three top days: Million Dollar Days August 20—$1,045,135.26, average $51.81 per hundred pounds. August 28—$1,070,350.65, average $53.23 per hundred pounds. August 31—$1,000,686.48, average $53.97 per hundred pounds. Total Sales (3 days) Gross—$1,134,806 pounds for $1,045,135.26, average $92.50. Net—$1,018,432 pounds for $5,505,532.94, average $54.04.

Community Has Less Than Day's Supply Of Water Buncombe Town Drying Up

WEAVERVILLE (UP)—This Buncombe County town of 1,100 had less than a day's supply of water left in its reservoir today and Mayor W. W. Shope said the situation was "desperate." With no relief from the drought in sight, Shope said there was only a foot of water, or about 10,000 gallons left in the reservoir to supply the community which has a normal consumption of about 100,000 gallons per day. He said nearby Reems Creek could supply 50,000 gallons daily but that efforts to locate a large pump had been unsuccessful. Rigid restrictions were clamped on the use of water. Home and commercial laundry was forbidden on pain of having the water supply cut off completely. The local school was cut to half a day's operation. The situation also was growing critical in Asheville, where the reservoir levels were falling steadily. Dr. Margery Lord, city health officer, warned that the situation was worse than during last year's drought "but people don't seem to realize it." Daily consumption is running about 10,000,000 gallons a day, while the two reservoirs are receiving only about 4,000,000 gallons a day. Meanwhile the U. S. Weather Bureau reported the month of August was the driest on record in the Raleigh area and as Raleigh city officials announced an ascending scale of water conservation measures to go with a descending reservoir supply. July also was the driest July in Raleigh in the 66 years records have been kept, the weather bureau said. The area hasn't had any rain since a sprinkle on August 20, bureau officials added. The situation has been worse in the past, they added. On Oct. 30, 1921 the area rainfall was 17.4 inches below normal compared to six inches yesterday. During one month in 1921 citizens were allowed to use water only four hours a day. Raleigh Mayor Fred B. Wheeler planned to complete a special committee today to correlate information on the water supply and keep citizens informed. The conservation schedule provides when the water level sinks to a supply of: 30 days—an intensive publicity campaign; 25 days—a block by block personal contact campaign to give tips on water saving; 20 days—financial penalties for failure to cut consumption; and at 15 days—an ordinance prohibiting the use of water except for protection of lives and property.

Highest Tribunal Orders 4 Americans Re-Hired UN Dismissals Set Aside

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—The dismissal of 12 of 21 American employes of the United Nations, fired after a loyalty investigation by a U. S. Senate subcommittee, was set aside today. The action cost the world organization an estimated $135,000. Four employes were ordered reinstated with full back pay and heavy indemnities were directed to be paid to seven other dismissed secretariat members in decisions handed down at Geneva, Switzerland, by the administrative tribunal—the U. N.'s highest court of appeals in staff matters. The indemnities ranged from $6,000 to $40,000 and totaled, with legal costs, $126,100. However, the tribunal ordered pension payments to one employe normally scheduled for early retirement, raising the estimated cost to $135,000. In addition, full back pay was ordered for the 12 whose dismissals were overruled. The dismissal of nine employes by former Secretary-General Trygve Lie was upheld by the tribunal and the remaining case was sent back to the joint appeals board, a lower U. N. appellate body. The administrative tribunal, comprising representatives from Britain, France, Sweden and Egypt, did not rule directly on the basic issue of whether the secretary general can fire a secretariat member who pleads protection of the Fifth Amendment in investigations of alleged subversion. It recalled that Lie had sought advice from an international panel of three jurists who held that he could fire an employe who refused to answer questions for his own government. But it pointed out, in several individual decisions, that Lie's legal representatives did not advance such arguments before the tribunal but held that the dismissals were justified under a provision of the staff regulations dealing with "termination of employment for unsatisfactory services" charge was not proved. It recognized, however, the secretary general's right to fire without explanation any holders of temporary contracts. Many of the U. N.'s 3,300 secretariat members are employed on such a basis for short periods. A spokesman for Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, involved in only one of the cases, said the tribunal's judgments "are now receiving close study and consideration."

Price Gain Seen On Eastern Belt Leaf

RALEIGH (UP)—The big Eastern Flue-Cured Tobacco Belt opened the second full week of sales with average prices climbing $1 to $3 per hundred pounds higher than Friday's quotations and a heavy volume of sales. Average prices on the Border and South Carolina belts stayed about on the same level as the high average with which the last week of sales closed. Most leaf grades were steady to $1 higher while light and nondescript dropped mostly $1 and $2 per hundred pounds. Last week the Eastern Belt sold a gross of 42,100,170 pounds for an average price of $53.97 per hundred. Sales for the season were brought to 66,420,850 pounds averaging $53.60. The Border and South Carolina belts averaged 44,591,724 last week averaging $57.27 per hundred, $2.03 higher because of less nondescript and volume was reported heavy on the majority of markets. Auction bid averages per 100 pounds on a limited number of representative U.S. grades for the Eastern Belt: Leaf: Good lemon $68, fair lemon $65, fair orange $63, low orange $65. Cutters: Fair lemon $66, low lemon $69. Lugs: Good lemon $69, good orange $68, fair orange $63. Primings: Fair lemon $62, fair orange $59, low orange $45. Signs Go Down

RALEIGH (UP)—A blackout on point-of-sale advertising of beer went into effect in North Carolina today. To comply with a new regulation by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, dealers took down their neon signs and posters, packed away glasses and dispensers bearing brand names. Stocks of beer on hand were tucked away to keep them from public view. The only advertising inside retail outlets now permitted is display of one can or bottle of each brand sold. No outside advertising is permitted. Dealers may display their ABC number outside the establishment. Some dealers said they plan to hire sign painters now banned in North Carolina to dealers in neighboring states.

Either Broadcast Or Die Of Hunger

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea. (UP)—A West Point lieutenant colonel said today he made four propaganda broadcasts for the Chinese to save fellow American war prisoners from starving. Lt. Col. Paul Von S. Liles, 27, Columbus, Ga., said at least 60 Americans had died of starvation when he decided to go to the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and make his first broadcast. "I saw nothing ahead but starvation," Liles said. "If we wanted to live we had to buy our food. The price was submitting to the Communist propaganda campaign. I was trying to get conditions improved," he said. "They told me they would let me ask the United Nations to make food drops by plane. We had already lost about 60 men. They said they would let me ask for food drops. But when I got there I found they had lied to me." Liles said a fellow classmate from West Point, a major, was killed by disease and starvation after he told the Chinese that speeches made by their foreign minister, Chou En-Lai, were not worth the paper they were printed on. He said the Chinese used food to force South Korean prisoners to join the North Korean army. "We saw them giving the ROKS military training," Liles said. "The ROKs were dying several hundred every few days. We saw them being buried. Most of the prisoners joined the army rather than starve." Liles said he made a 15-minute speech in which he gave the location of his prison camp to tip off the Air Force not to bomb it. Liles said 20 Americans went to Pyongyang to make broadcasts.

Pilot Says His Rocket Plane Could Go Higher

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The Marine pilot who flew a rocket-powered plane to an altitude of 83,235 feet—almost 16 miles—for a new, unofficial world record says he could have gone higher if he had carried more fuel and the rockets had started firing sooner. Lt. Col. Marion E. Carl said he had less than three minutes fuel for the full run and that there would have been "no limit to the altitude" if there had been more fuel in the tanks. He was carried to an altitude of 35,500 feet by a B-29 plane before his Douglas-built Skyrocket was dropped. "I launched down to 28,000 feet before I could get the first rocket to start," he said. "Otherwise I'd have gone several hundred feet higher." Carl said there was no sensation of speed or height during the flight. "The only thing I noticed was the fact that the sky was a little darker, and my eyes troubled me. The contrast between sunlight and shadow is much greater up there." "I didn't have much time to look around. I was just trying to fly as high as possible." Carl said he was certain he could have seen San Francisco, 400 miles to the north, if he hadn't been so busy checking instruments. "I know I was going well over a thousand miles per hour on this altitude run," he said, but added, "that speed doesn't seem very fast up there." "One interesting thing I noticed was that the temperature at 55,000 feet was minus 70 degrees, but at 80,000 feet it warmed up to minus 58."

Red Conclave

TOKYO (UP)—Top North Korean and Chinese Communist leaders were reported en route to Moscow tonight, presumably for talks with the Soviets on the Korean peace conference. Peiping and Pyongyang radio, in identical broadcasts heard here, said Russia summoned North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung, Foreign Minister Nam Il and other government, military and Communist Party officials to Moscow. A Peiping broadcast said Gen. Teng Teh Hui, commander in chief of the Chinese people's army, had left for Moscow.

Gangs Help Red Terror Tactics

BERLIN, Germany (UP)—Communist strong arm squads reinforced Red police today in an effort to stem the flow of hungry East Germans into West Berlin for free "Eisenhower" food packages. East Germans who slipped through the Iron Curtain to get the American-issued food packages said the East German Communists have formed "peoples' control units" in an attempt to frustrate the food-seekers. The squads wear blue armbands inscribed "Peoples' Control" and are being used to reinforce communist police at railway stations and on roads leading into the city, the East Germans said. The American High Commission newspaper, the German-language Neue Zeitung, said that gangs of Communist youths were terrorizing East Berliners who collected food parcels. The Red toughs were smashing windows during the night and sticking labels on shops and offices reading: "This bacon hunter will become an AMI (American) agent," the newspaper said. Germans arriving in West Berlin yesterday reported that Communist police beat men and women caught bringing the food packages into the Soviet-occupied zone. Today's arrivals also reported that loudspeakers in Soviet Germany factories are warning workers daily they will be fired if they collect "beggar parcels."

Predict 440 Will Die Over Holiday In Auto Wrecks

CHICAGO (UP)—The National Safety Council has predicted that 440 persons will die in traffic accidents over the nation during three-day Labor Day holiday. Its death forecast yesterday covered the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday, Labor Day. The council expects a record 40,000,000 autos on the highways during that period. It suggested a three-point program for cutting the holiday death toll: 1. Cut usual cruising speed 10 miles an hour. 2. Double check before passing or changing lanes. 3. Don't compete in traffic—let the other guy go first.

New City Manager Arrives In Greenville

Greenville's first city manager, James S. Hughes, arrived in town late yesterday and visited with city hall personnel this morning prior to assuming his new duties. Hughes made a tour with city officials of various parts of the city this morning as arrangements were being completed for office space for the new administrator. He and his family, including his wife and two sons, will take up residence in the Tucker circle section. The family spent last night at a Greenville motor court prior to arrival of their furniture. Hughes received the Greenville city council's nomination for the job as first manager for the city in a meeting with the board on August 14. He previously had appeared before the council for three other preliminary interviews. His selection for the job followed three months of study by council members of almost 50 applicants and visits by the mayor and board members to several cities in which the city manager set-up has been in operation for some time. The appointment was made effective as of today.

Reported Suicide Try By Soviet Ambassador Denied

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—A high Iranian official said today Soviet Ambassador Anatol Lavrentiev had shot himself but other government sources and the Soviet Embassy denied the report. Assistant Iranian Premier Amidi Nouri said Lavrentiev was in critical condition and receiving blood transfusions at the Soviet hospital. A few minutes later the Iranian propaganda department denied the reports and the Soviet Embassy repeated its denial of last night. Nevertheless, rumors swept through Tehran that Lavrentiev, who had been recalled to Moscow, had attempted to commit suicide. Iranian foreign officials who earlier had reported hearing the rumors asked the Soviet Embassy this morning for an appointment with Lavrentiev. The Soviet Embassy said an appointment might be arranged in the afternoon. Soviet hospital spokesmen said Lavrentiev had been ill last week but was improving. Lavrentiev, who was ambassador in Yugoslavia at the time of Tito's split with Russia, also had served as Soviet minister to Hungary and Romania. A career diplomat, Lavrentiev was considered an expert on Balkan affairs. Press reports said Lavrentiev shot himself just below the heart. They said he had been expected to die during the night. The newspaper reports said Lavrentiev had been summoned to Moscow for misleading the Soviet government by indicating the outlawed Tudeh (Communist) Party would establish a Communist republic in Iran by Sept. 1. These newspapers said Lavrentiev also had advised the Kremlin that the Tudeh was powerful enough to hold the initiative in Iran.

Plan Release Of 300 Tomorrow

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The Communists said today they will release 300 more prisoners, including 100 Americans, tomorrow (today EST) in accordance with the following timetable: 9 a. m. (7 p.m. EST Tuesday)—100 South Koreans. 9:45 a. m.—50 Americans, 50 South Koreans. 10:45 a. m.—50 Americans, 50 South Koreans.

May Renew Claims On All Trieste Area

By HELEN FISHER BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Yugoslavia may soon reassert a claim to the entire Trieste free territory, reliable sources said today. But it was emphasized that any reassertion of the claim, which dates back to the end of World War II, will be made on a political basis without the threat of military force. It is believed that Marshal Tito may outline Yugoslav policy, at least in part, in an important speech he is to make next Sunday. Informants said that government leaders are thinking in terms of "a return to 1945." That means to the time just after the war when Yugoslavia briefly occupied the entire Trieste territory, and claimed it. Informants said the government now is considering how to carry out a policy of claiming Trieste in practical terms. It was suggested that the government might decide: 1. To ask for a revision of the Italian peace treaty, in which it was specified Trieste should become an international neutral territory. 2. To raise the issue in the United Nations, at the risk of a Russian veto or of Eastern-bloc support of Italy. The Yugoslav view is that Marshal Tito has made every possible concession to settle the troublesome Trieste issue in a friendly way. The reply, in the opinion of Yugoslavians, has been an increasing nationalist attitude by Italy. As a result, informants said, the government feels that now stands let the world know that it stands on the original claim to all of Trieste.

Church women of Columbus, Ohio, have joined with the Y.W.C.A. and some local civic groups in sponsoring "The Daughters of the Orient," a club composed of Japanese war brides of soldiers attached to nearby Fort Benning. Through the club the brides are perfecting their English and learning "American ways." The wife of an army chaplain has arranged for a Bible class attended by most of the young women, and a city civics teacher is preparing them for American citizenship. The soldier-husbands are reported as "greatly pleased with their wives' adjustment to their new life."

The Rev. Goida Maude Bader, of New York, has been called "the busiest woman minister in the United States." . . . Mrs. Bader, wife of Dr. Jesse M. Mrs. James D. Wyker, president of United Church Women (department of the National Council) announces that the leaders of sixteen denominational organizations of church women have officially endorsed the establishment of an annual "Fellowship Fund" through which church women may support and expand interdenominational work. ## Started With Nothing; Is Six-Figure Tycoon Today

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — George Papanicolas started out with nothing, worked up to 36 cents and now counts his stack in six figures.

Papanicolas, and let's just call him George hereafter, is a prominent District of Columbia lawyer and a nationally known Greek-American leader. He is friend to many a biggie on Capitol Hill. Recently he built a 20-room palace on 50 acres across the large from the Congressional Country Club.

This place has a fun room in the cellar that is bigger than most other young houses. On the walls are several original oil paintings that cost George numerous thousands.

The crystal lamping on the ceiling of the main dining room must make the chandelier in the state dining room of the White House pause to count its crystals.

Eventually there will be a couple of swimming pools and some tennis courts. Also, enough other "toys" to keep George's lovely, black-haired wife and his four kids and two dogs off the highway and out of mischief.

George made his fortune by piling one little brick on top of another in the real estate business. George wasn't always in the chips. There was the time he was going to high school out in Michigan and needed some pin money. His brother owned a couple of movie houses and offered our lad a meal ticket plus sleeping pad if he would slap paste on the billboards and put up signs telling the people what attraction was coming next.

George took the offer. He said that the meals were fine and the bed, straw and all was sleepable enough, but where was the money? The brother said that could be fixed easily. He would give George all that was taken in water the start of the second show. The brother kind of snickered thinking he had pulled a cutie. But our George won. He lined up all his high school chums and offered them half-price tickets, half a minute after the second show started.

He made a small pile, but, as we said, later was to reach a point where his fortune amounted to the above-mentioned 36 cents.

It was at this point that he signed a "contract" with a cousin named Art. They put two minds together and with George's 36 cents, went into the face-cream business. This was in the long ago when ingredients were cheap. The 36 cents bought a pound of paraffin, a dab of citric acid, and a few small jars. Then they were out of funds, but still needed perfume. George thought up something. He wrote to a lot of perfume companies, said he was setting up shop and asked for some samples.

He got them, and he and Art were in business. Incidentally, George does not recommend his formula. It sold all right but it didn't do the faces of a lot of nice ladies much good.

Anyhow, that was the beginning. And who can deny that George did not make a pretty nice thing out of nothing plus 36 cents?

FRASER, Colo. (UP)—President Eisenhower breaks camp at the ranch of Denver businessman Axel Nielsen today and returns to the summer White House in Denver.

The President was scheduled to leave Nielsen's ranch late in the day for the drive back to the Colorado capital. Mr. Eisenhower expects to stay in the state about three more weeks, apparently intending to leave in time to make speaking engagements in Massachusetts Sept. 21.

The President's assistants haven't confirmed them yet, but there have been rumors he may spend part of the remaining time of his vacation at the Gunnison, Colo., ranch of Colorado Gov. Dan Thornton.

Newsman covering the President's activities spotted him Monday digging industriously with a big shovel on the banks of St. Louis Creek, which runs through the Nielsen property. They found out later he was building a small dam designed to keep recently stocked trout in the stream on the ranch.

LONDON (UP)—Firemen were eager to oblige when Mr. and Mrs. David Lee told them to save "Peachy," a pet cat, "at any cost." The animal was found trapped between a girder and the basement ceiling.

Firemen tipped away floor boards, knocked through a concrete floor and cut through a bolt to rescue the cat.

STEEPLE BUMPSTEAD, Essex, England (UP)—The Rev. Eric Wheeler was free of the bats in his church belfry today.

After sulphur fumes and other remedies had failed to remove the bats the vicar took a motor-driven bicycle into the church, started the motor and squeezed the horn. Terrified bats evacuated the church. The vicar figured they thought the noise was made by a "giant," infuriated bat.

WHAT A RELIEF!
PAOLA, Kan. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Damon Morgan came home to find their two children and a baby-sitter gone and spots of blood on the floor. They recovered from the shock after finding that sifter had cut her hand on the electric fan and had taken the youngsters with her when she went to get the injury dressed.

Rustlers Taking Malaya Cattle

KOTA BAHRU, Malaya (AP) — Gangs of rustlers are rounding up cattle in lonely villages in North Malaya and taking them across the border into Thailand for sale to dealers.

Despite close cooperation between Malayan and Thai police, it has been difficult to detect stolen cattle being driven across the shallow Gelok River dividing the two countries, according to reports.

Lions Are Told Of TV Progress

Members of the Greenville Lions Club last night heard a report on the progress of construction of Greenville's television station.

The report was made by A. Hartwell Campbell, manager of the local radio and television station.

Campbell pointed out to the Lions that the biggest delay to be overcome by the local operators is the erection of the more than 800-foot high tower from which the programs of the first Eastern North Carolina television station will be beamed.

Once shipment of the necessary parts for the tower, which is estimated to weigh over 90 tons, is received in Greenville, the actual erection will take from three to four weeks, Campbell pointed out.

The tower is estimated to be put up at the rate of 60-80 feet per working day.

Most of the equipment at the TV station is now on hand with the exception of a few parts.

In closing Campbell said, "We are still several months from getting our programs on the air."

President Henry Swayne presided over the session.

Brazil Prepares For Jet Planes

RIO DE JANEIRO (U.P.)—Panair Do Brasil, the first Latin American airline to contract for jet transports, reports that it has begun training pilots and technicians in the use of Britain's De Havilland Comet Mark Two.

The company said it is to receive the first pair of four contracted Mark Two Comets in the fall of 1954. It has options on yet another brace of Mark Twos, and on three Comets Mark Three.

Panair said the first trainees, who left for London in June, constituted two pilots, a maintenance engineer, and a radio communications technician. Heading the group was Capt. Mauro Aguiar, Brazil's first jet pilot who already has checked out in the Comets.

BOAC To Be First
The Panair personnel will follow training outlines prepared by De Havilland and the British Overseas Airways Corporation. The Brazilians will remain in Britain four months, and, on their return, will start a training program for Panair personnel here.

BOAC officials here said they would make first experimental flights for a Rio-to-London run this fall. The Comets should streak over the route in about 16 hours, compared with 32 hours now taken by giant Argonauts with conventional motors.

Rio's International Galeao airport already is having its landing strips adapted to jet planes.

'Radio Quiz' Is Costly Lesson

VAN NUYS, Calif. (U.P.)—Answering a "$64 question" cost a housewife here exactly that much—plus a certain amount of faith in people.

Mrs. Barbara M. Farrell, 65, told police she answered her phone and a man identified himself as "Bill Wilson, a master of ceremonies for a quiz show sponsored by the Ford Foundation."

"The Ford Motor company recently celebrated an anniversary," he said. "Which one was it? If you answer correctly, you win twice the amount of cash you now have in your house."

"The fiftieth," Mrs. Farrell answered.

"You are absolutely right," the man yelled into the phone. "Now, how much money do you have in the house?"

"Why, $64," she replied.

"Then that's exactly half of what

Big Cities Swelter In Lengthy Heat Wave; No End Is In Sight

By UNITED PRESS

It's not the humidity, it's the heat.

There was plenty of humidity, too, today, but it couldn't touch the record-breaking, collar-wringing heat that has blistered most of the nation for more than a week with no quick relief in sight.

In the nation's big cities simmering asphalt, brick and concrete caught and held the sun's heat like Dutch ovens, and there was no real relief even in the early morning hours.

President Eisenhower slept snug under blankets at his mountain fishing retreat at Fraser, Colo., where the temperature reached 26 degrees Monday, but the aides he left behind in low-lying Washington sweltered in record-matching 100-degree heat.

More than 20,000 government workers in the capital were sent home early and the Weather Bureau forecast another 100 reading today.

A score of cities east of the Rockies matched or bettered Washington's heat.

At Des Moines, Ia. it was so hot an air conditioning system in a bank "burned" out.

Along Chicago's Halsted Street, drinkers carried chairs and their beer out to the sidewalk to catch the tiny breeze stirring off Lake Michigan.

An all-time heat record was set in Newark, N. J., where the mercury soared to 100 degrees for the fourth straight day, and dozens of other heat marks were set elsewhere.

All Connecticut state offices at you have won," he said. "We'll send it to you by messenger right away."

The messenger appeared shortly afterward with checks for $128 and $64. He gave her the $128 check, explaining that was the prize, and then asked for the $64 cash in exchange for the other check "to prove to the studio how much you had."

Mrs. Farrell became suspicious later and called the studio, which said it had no "Bill Wilson" nor any such program.

Hartford were ordered closed an hour and a half early because of the heat, and Cleveland, O., dispensed with the 11:30 p.m. city park closing time so that hundreds of heat sufferers could camp out for the night.

Meanwhile, flash floods that had forced more than 2,000 Texans out of their homes abated, and the victims began to move back into the stricken areas.

The latest flood came Monday at Uvalde, Tex., where an 8.4-inch cloudburst sent a six-foot wall of water roaring down a dry streambed and into portions of the town. Sixty persons were forced out of their homes.

Some temperatures in the heat belt were Beloit, Wis., 101, Madison Wis., 100, Clinton and Davenport, Ia., 100, Louisville, Ky., and Huntington, W. Va., 101, Philadelphia 100, Rapid City, S. D., 99, Indianapolis, Ind., 97, Boston 96 and Detroit 95.

VFW Auxiliary Stages Picnic At Clubhouse

The annual V. F. W. and Auxiliary family picnic was held at the clubhouse on Thursday evening, August 27. Approximately 100 persons enjoyed the food and companionship.

After the picnic, Mrs. Sherman Parks led the children in games.

Second District Commander Sid Myers and Mrs. Myers from LaGrange were special guests for the occasion.

Announcement was made by the local Commander, Elvy Forrest, that the kick-off dinner for the 1954 membership drive would be held on September 3. State Commander Forrest Dunstan from Elizabeth City will address this meeting. The Auxiliary was invited to attend.

A call meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary was held at the clubhouse on August 28. Mrs. B. T. Joyner, president, announced plans for the membership campaign in the auxiliary. Mrs. Kenneth Baker will serve as general chairman. Mrs. Kenneth Brown and Mrs. Bob Fleming will serve as captains of the two teams.

The state membership quota for the local auxiliary for the coming year is 82 members. The drive will terminate at the January 1954 meeting.

The rehabilitation committee reported that a bicycle had been obtained for a veteran's child to enable him to have a paper route. Clothing has been given to two veterans' families and dishes were also given to one of these families. The Auxiliary voted to sponsor a clothing closet of usable garments to be made readily available when requests are received.

Mrs. H. L. Vincent, general chairman of the committee representing the V. F. W. and Auxiliary, gave a report on the progress of the open forum on alcoholism to be held in Greenville in early October.

First steps to organize a Junior Auxiliary for daughters of Auxiliary members were initiated. Mrs. J. B. Bass will serve as director and youth chairman of this project.

The Yorubas were the most advanced tribe, socially and politically when Europeans first went to Nigeria.

Open Letter To School Youngsters

(This editorial is directed to the school children of Greenville. If the parents want to read it, that's fine too; but principally it is an open letter to the youngsters who go back to school tomorrow.)

It's going to be tough for some of you youngsters to get in the swing of going to school again after three long months of vacation from study. The "back-to-school" bell tomorrow morning will mean less time for baseball, less time for playing in the neighborhood, and less time for out-of-town parties.

It is also going to mean more study than you have used to in past years, and much more study than you have been used to this summer.

Even so, this school year holds a great deal in store for you. As the nine months go by, you'll be climbing to another rung on the ladder to maturity and adulthood. You'll be accepting new responsibilities in keeping with your increasing capabilities. You'll be exposed to more new and interesting facts, theories and ideas in the course of the year's school work.

There'll be plenty of hard work to do, and plenty of play time and extra-curricular activity. Unless you make it so, the school year will not be a long hard grind over boring books.

And while you are going to school this year, keep in the back of your mind the rare privilege which is yours as you attend a school which seeks to prepare you for your place in a free, modern, world. Be thankful for the parents and others who are paying taxes so you can go to school whether you are rich or poor. Stay aware of the hundreds of thousands of dollars which have been spent here in Greenville alone to give you and those who follow you good facilities, good teachers, ample books and other work materials.

Above all, remember the adults of today are affording you a much better opportunity for an education than they had when they were your age. The grown-ups have seen a lot more of life than you in your few short years; and they realize—as you will in years to come—the importance of education in the modern world.

Have a good time in school this year; but never overlook your principal reason for being there: to learn in order that you may be better prepared to accept your place of responsibility as a good citizen in a democratic nation.

East Carolina Still Needs Rooms

East Carolina College still needs assistance from people in Greenville if it is to enroll this fall all students who wish to attend college here.

Registration for the fall term at East Carolina already has passed the 2,000 mark and there probably will be more students applying before school begins next week.

During the past few weeks, college officials have appealed to Greenville people who have extra rooms in their houses to make them available for college students to rent this fall. This week, President Messick of East Carolina renewed the appeal for college students.

In the past half decade, East Carolina College has grown by leaps and bounds. For many years it has had more students than it could house on the campus. In the past few years—even with the construction of more dormitory facilities—there have been more students than rooms on the campus.

People in Greenville have rented rooms to college students to take care of the overflow. But this year—as last year—the overflow of students has increased, and more rooms in private homes have been needed.

Greenville citizens who have rooms they can rent to college students will be helping both the students, the college and Greenville if they will notify college officials that they will make rooms available to college students.

"ROBBED" OF $164,000,000

How "cheap" is socialized electric power? On the face of it, this kind of power may seem a bargain—the rates are generally lower than those charged by the private utility companies. But that doesn't tell the whole story by a long shot.

C. J. Green, an expert who spent 20 years with the Federal Power Commission, made a special study of the rates charged by the Tennessee Valley Authority. He concluded that these rates would be twice what they are if TVA had to pay full taxes and interest rates on its money—which would make them much higher than those of the business-managed, taxpaying companies.

Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn recently wrote, "In the five year period prior to 1952 we find that TVA had to pay full taxes as well as interest on its investment at 3 per cent annually the taxpayers were robbed of $164,000,000 or about $33,000,000 a year!"—(Industrial News Review)

McCarthy Sees A Silver Lining

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Senator "Joe" McCarthy now dares to believe that he may make "McCarthyism" both a feared and honored word in the vocabulary of American politics. Recent developments here and abroad, he notes, have led many neutrals and detractors to regard his Red hunt more favorably than they did when they used the term as one of opprobrium.

J. Edgar Hoover, whose FBI was barred from exposing Communist conspiracies at Washington since before World War II by political considerations, has endorsed the Senator indirectly. The FBI Director characterizes his rival sleuth on Capitol Hill as "earnest, honest, sincere, and 'no pushover'."

For the normally cautious and cagey Hoover, this unsolicited approval is highly significant. Still chafing over Roosevelt-Truman restrictions, he apparently seeks to prevent any repetition now or later. He has also cooperated in many unknown ways with every group of Congressional investigators, albeit secretly.

CHANGED ATTITUDE—A leading New York newspaper, Republican and pro-Eisenhower, recently reversed its editorial attitude toward McCarthy. So have many other eastern magazines and newspapers along the Atlantic Seaboard. In this so-called enlightened area, McCarthy has been extremely unpopular, with his main support coming from the South, Middle and Far West.

His latest "congratulations" from erstwhile critics stem from his current inquiry into the Government Printing Office, which prints thousands of confidential and classified documents annually. GPO officials failed to fire a bookbinder, although fellow employees told the FBI years ago that he was a Communist and had stolen a secret code. Only a few days ago he was suspended after he refused to answer questions of any kind on the ground of "incrimination."

REDFILTRATION IN CAPITAL—It is true, as McCarthy realizes, that numerous anti-Communist developments, entirely unconnected with his Congressional operations, are partially responsible for his apparent rehabilitation. They combine to place him in a more sympathetic light and framework. He is no longer a lonely Diogenes with a lantern that shines only dimly.

First, there is the supplementary Jenner Report. Knitting together the tangled and scattered threads of all previous investigations, it discloses that the Reds, literally and physically, had the run of high and secret places at Washington, despite numerous official warnings of their machinations. These included memos by A. A. Berle Jr., then Assistant Secretary of State, in 1938, and by J. Edgar Hoover in 1945. Alger Hiss was not convicted until 1950.

According to the Jenner Committee's information, two Red espionage rings in the Capital have not yet been unmasked. Every member of the committee, Democrat and Republican, approved the findings, conclusions and recommendations.

RUSSIA AIDED BY BRITISH U. S. TRAITORS An important factor in the new McCarthy "look" is Malenkov's announcement of Russia's possession of the H-bomb formula. Nuclear fission experts doubt that Russia could have mastered this problem, if it had not been for the cooperation of American and British traitors. And England has been more lenient toward Reds than the U. S., even after the confessions and convictions of top scientists in this field.

Anti-McCarthy forces warn that he has lowered American prestige abroad by his "monkeyshines." But every foreign affairs expert, including our own diplomats, gives other and far more convincing reasons for hostility toward us inside and outside the United Nations. They resent our political, financial and military power, and especially our use of it. Moreover, European appeasement of the Kremlin in the wake of the Korean tragedy weakens this argument. So have recent demonstrations of Communist infiltration, political and economic, in France, Italy, Iran, India and other allied nations. As a McCarthy aide and enthusiast wryly remarks: "What Europe needs is a Joe McCarthy!"

Fishing Report Is Backed Up

When William French of French Refrigeration Service told me about a fishing spot at Hobucken I laughed at him. But this weekend Bob Ross of Refrigeration Discount Corporation, Quentin Avery of Edwards Auto Supply and I found out that French knew what he was talking about. We tried his spot and had such good luck that we threw back everything under eight inches. Our haul included only one croaker that met the requirements, along with six beautiful trout, six puppy drum even larger, one hog fish, one blue, and one pompano. This might be my only chance in a long time to crow about a catch. So I'm bragging to everybody I know, plus some people that I hardly know at all.

But I must admit that there was a time when I was about to be excluded from the good fortune. Bob and Quentin were hauling in the puppy drum while I sat without a strike for a long time. Pretty soon they even excluded me from the conversation. As I was feeling lowest, a drum nearly sank me out of the boat. For disbelievers, we took pictures which are now being developed. After much consideration, I've decided to tell you the spot where we had our good luck. From the bridge at Hobucken, head toward buoy 12 for about 200 yards and turn left at buoy 11-A. The distance from there is hard for me to judge, but it amounts to a 45-minute run with a five-horsepower motor on a small skiff. We caught most of the fish about one-quarter mile on this side of three stakes driven into the ground. After trying several spots in the vicinity, we decided that about 50 yards from shore was best. Also, the area in which we caught the drum was slightly seaweedy. Bob Ross, who's been fishing for about two years, claims he never had such luck. Half of the fun of the trip was enjoying Bob's enthusiasm. "When you get those pictures developed," he told me, "I'm going to take one around in my wallet." We fished with shrimp until it gave out and then cut up pin fish, too, and the crabs didn't steal it quite so easily. Some fishermen say that we can fish the rest of our lives and never have such good luck in a short time. But you can rest assured that we'll try to top that catch. And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

PRISONS ADVISORY BOARD INVITED SLAP IT GOT (Hertford County Herald) Governor Umstead did a neat piece of counter-punching in his brief to the Prisons Advisory Board. He struck back with acid words and gave a knockout blow by removing from office Prisons Director Walter Anderson. The Governor is slow to move, as he has been accused by the Advisory Board, but when he moves he bores in and takes command of things. There is no doubt he intends doing the governing while he sits in the Governor's chair. He made that clear as daylight in the letter he wrote to the Board, just as he has done when it came time to make decisions and name appointees in other departments of the State government.

Governor Umstead leans heavily toward a state of super-independence in making policy decisions and naming official appointees. Yet, one can't find too much fault with him for going it alone, for after all it is his responsibility to govern and the record his administration makes during its four-year reign will be chargeable to him. In the prisons department, for instance, it is fairly apparent that the major differences are between the Board and Highway Chairman A.H. (Sandy) Graham. There is a pretty wide divergence of opinion on how prisons should be managed. The Advisory Board represents one extreme view, Highway Chairman Graham represents the other. Somewhere between the two, perhaps, was Governor Umstead's own personal view. But, the Governor appointed Graham to run the prisons and it was up to Governor Umstead to either support his administration appointee or put another at the head of the Highway Commission. Our own idea about the prisons affair is that neither side is totally right, both have their good points, and each party to the quarrel has given some evidences of pettiness and peevishness. One member of the Advisory Board said upon being asked for comment on Governor Umstead's letter, "We want to act like grownups." Let us hope they do—the Board, Highway Chairman Graham, and Governor Umstead included.

Around Capitol Square

CONTINUITY — Looking back over office files your reporter finds that just about a year ago he was writing about the report of a survey made by Bert Robb, director of waterways for Michigan, on the potential use of deep sea and inland ports in North Carolina, and the promotion of the seafood industry. That report was made to the Board of Conservation and Development at its Morehead City 1952 summer meeting. Along about the same time there were news stories about the dedication of completed facilities at the State ports at Morehead City and Wilmington. The letter he wrote to the Board for recommendations made by Governor Umstead for ports development at this year's C&D board meeting. The stories about the dedication ceremonies mentioned the fact that Governor Morrison in 1924 sought bond issues for their development, and that a hundred years before Morrison other states had dreamed of achieving important ocean-wise shipping from North Carolina bays.

UNFINISHED — These dreams seem never to be fully realized and the development jobs never completed. The REA, for example, did not come into being until the early 30's—and it is still hard for some folks to realize that Governor Ehringhaus and Dudley Bagley set up the North Carolina Rural Electrification Administration before Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal got the national authority into action. But years before Ehringhaus and Bagley attained the goal of governmental recognition, Governor Walter Bickett in his 1917 inaugural address envisaged electric power in farm homes, and in the early 20's Buck Duke's power company was string-ing lines to carry electric energy to farm homes along the North and South Carolina border around Charlotte. FARTHER — The office library has a volume, "North Carolina and Its Resources," published by the department of agriculture back in 1896. That book also has reference to the efforts to develop deep sea ports and water commerce, and adequate east west transportation facilities across the state. Much progress has been made, of course, but the desired goal is still far away. PROGRESS — There were more miles of railroad in North Carolina in 1896 than in 1935, but there were no miles of paved highways. Automobiles were still in the experimental stage and the first air flight was not made until seven years later. Telephones were a novelty and electric lights were regarded as dangerous and impractical gadgets. UNCHANGING — The old book has a story about Stone Mountain in Wilkes county, and about how promoters were planning a railroad to it in order to make the stone available for buildings and macadamizing roads. Stone Mountain is still there and untouched, and there is still talk of promoting a highway to it in order to bring out the stone for buildings and highways, but by trucks instead of rail cars. North Carolina is farther advanced now than the men of 1896 dreamed it would even be, but it is still just as far from the ultimate goal. Because, as the poet of long ago said, "all experience is an arch where through gleams that untraveled world that fades forever and forever as I move."

Business Today

Those Interest Rates

By ELMER ROESSNER
Probably the most criticized action taken by the Eisenhower Administration has been the increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate. This tends to limit the supply of new money to lend and, hence, to raise interest rates.

This is not to defend or criticize the action, but it is to point out that the Administration put itself in an embarrassing political situation which will be next to impossible to get out of.

Businessmen everywhere are complaining. Home builders and their prospects are indignant. Magazines are carrying indignant articles. The most frequent criticism is that higher interest rates benefit bankers at the expense of borrowers. Banks get higher rates for the money they lend. It has been charged that the higher rates for the money they lend. It has been charged that the higher rates are a pay-off by Republicans to bankers who supported them.

Another criticism is that higher rates are a burden on the taxpayer. Interest on the government debt is now $6.4 billion a year; in 1951 it was $5.6 billion. Congress refused to increase the limit of the national debt from $275 billion to $290 billion. In 1946, the debt was 279.8 billion and the carrying charges 4.7 billion. At the 1946 rate, the current $6.4 billion in interest would carry an indebtedness of $380 billion. And, say the critics, the Federal debt is never going to be liquidated anyhow, so all the taxpayers are interested in are the carrying charges.

The answer to the first criticism is that while bankers get higher interest rates, they have less money to lend. The amount of money available makes the interest rates, not vice versa. The answer to the second point is that the limitation on fresh money is a block against inflation; that while taxpayers may have to pay more for interest, in return they get assurances that the money they put in bonds or savings will have the same purchasing power, plus higher interest, when they take it out; that the purchasing power of pensions and annuities will not dwindle year after year, and that insurance policies will be just as big when paid as when they were taken out. It can be contended that every time inflation pushes the consumer's price index up one point, it costs consumers $2 billion. And it can also be argued that arresting inflation lessens chances of a disastrous inflation. Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and other Administration leaders have been making speeches trying to explain the situation, some private associations and individuals have attempted to throw light on the matter. But these explanations, since they must involve an explanation of the entire American banking and economic system, are difficult to understand—especially by the small businessman whose bank won't renew his loan.

FOUR GIFT SHOWS VIE FOR TRADE SALES One could guess that Christmas was only four months away when four gift shows played to dealers in New York this week. The New York Gift Show was held in two hotels, the International Gift and Fancy Goods Show was on in another, fifty California manufacturers put on their own show in another hotel and an informal show was in progress in an office building largely tenanted by firms in the gift trade. At the international show, many foreign firms were making their dollar debut.

The Full Moon Carries Wallop

By HAL BOYLE
WOODLAND, N.Y. (AP)—The full moon is often man's enemy in the city.

It stirs in him an old disquiet, an ancient tumult of the blood, and whispers in his heart: "What are you doing here, city child? How can you breathe in all this steaming concrete? Have you forgotten the feel of the wind on a hill?"

This silent message sends a surge of restlessness through the sad, grownup children of the city. The meekest gives start quarels with their husbands. The mildest men look around for a cop to pick a fight with. And lovers weep without reason and wonder how long love lasts. Ask many a veteran police sergeant or bartender what the full moon does to people, and you'll get the answer: "It makes them crazy. I wish they'd all leave town."

And that's not a bad idea. If everybody left town during a full moon and went out to the countryside, all mankind would be happier. For in the country a full moon is both man's nurse and spiritual adviser. It takes him back home to nature, the lost mother he ran away from long ago and has been homesick in his soul for ever since. It gives him a shining peace, a mystic ecstasy, a sense of being where he belongs, a quiet gratitude for the deep privilege of breath.

So it is with me. And isn't it with you? The other evening, at the end of a vacation, I sat alone on a cabin porch in the Catskill Mountains and watched the dark come down. The sun had sunk in red confusion, a bonfire fell full by the dry wood of all the world's regrets, and a great full moon rose up like a big blob of yellow butter to soothe the huris and burns of the day.

But in the vaudeville show we call living nobody can stay out of the act long. I heard a familiar buzzing, slapped at and missed the mosquito on my forehead, felt the lump he left. "That's life for you," I said aloud to the surprised man in the moon. "The innocent bystander always gets stung."

Great Progress Amid Goals N.C. Never Attained

By LYNN NISBET

linians, it is apparent that Governor Umstead has objectives very similar to those of Governors Vance and Aycock and Bickett et al. He has more to work with, a broader base from which to start, because of what his predecessors accomplished. The methods are necessarily different and there are new tools with which to work. Governors Elias Carr in 1896 and Cameron Morrison in 1924 cherished the same desires as Governors Kerr Scott, in 1949 and William Umstead in 1953 for ports and transportation facilities and general industrial development. There have been ups and downs—more ups than downs, maybe—but there has been a consistently continuing purpose and a fairly stable record of progress for which no individual can claim major credit. It is the genius of a State working out, however slowly, its own destiny. There is reason for pride in achievements to date, but no justification for complacency or resting upon the record.

Nat'l Guard Is Authorized To Raise Number In Ranks

Battery "C" of the 690th Field Artillery Battalion, National Guard of the United States, here is in full reduced strength as of today and ratings from lieutenants down are now open.

Reorganized January 28 1953, the unit was authorized only 34 enlisted men and three officers, but as of September 1, 1953, the unit is authorized 100 enlisted men, five officers and one warrant officer. The increase in number of personnel has opened numerous positions in rank.

Any veterans interested in joining the National Guard may do so and hold the rating which they held at the time of their discharge. Most men discharged now have reserve obligation up to a many as eight years, but by joining the National Guard a veteran is able to cut down on this obligation.

Boys under 18½ years of age are permitted to join their local unit, and when such action is taken the boy is declared exempt from draft.

The National Guard has 50 vacancies each year for West Point, the Naval Academy, or Coast Guard Academy. Allotted on a competitive basis these vacancies are available to high school graduates who are Guard members. Vacancies filled from the Guard have no bearing on congressional appointments.

More than 1000 schools are open to Guard members. While attending one of these schools, a member has all expenses paid by the government, and he draws full Army pay for the rank held while in attendance.

On Tuesday evenings from 8 until 10 o'clock the unit meets for drill and study. Various phases of work of the armed forces are studied at these sessions. There also is practice in drill. First Lt. Franklin P. Redmond, battery commander, invites the public to view these meetings.

While attending the two-week summer encampment at Fort McClellan, Ala., this year, the local guardsmen made the highest score of any unit of the 690th Field Artillery Battalion. A score of 34 was achieved out of a possible 40. Attending the program were 28 enlisted men and two officers.

Equipment that is used by the unit includes M-1 rifles, 30 calibre carbines, 30 and 30 calibre machine guns, sub-machine guns, and hydraulic drive trucks. Expected anytime are 155 housing.

If at any time the city or county has an emergency, the National Guard is always willing and ready to help.

For the two hours of work each Tuesday the members draw one full day's Army pay for whatever rank they hold.

The unit is in need of a battery clerk and bugler at the present time. The bugler will be used at military funerals, for the unit is making plans to be available for such burials.

Anyone interested in joining the Greenville National Guard should call Lt. Redmond at 2241, or contact SFC Mayo Allen at the Armory Monday through Friday. Phone number of the Armory is 5693.

Sergeants first class: Mayo E. Allen, Cecil E. Bullock, Joseph D. Clark, Steve Johnson, and Thad J. Lewis.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court Monday, three Negro women were found guilty of "frivolous and malicious prosecution." Judge Charles H. Whedbee taxed each woman with $13 on court costs.

In the case of Ernest Brown, Negro, charged with assault on Eula B. Brown, Negro, the woman declined to testify and she had to pay court costs.

In the case of George Newton, Negro, who was charged with damaging personal property (cutting a dress) belonging to Charly Newton, Negro, the woman declined to testify against her assailant and she had to pay court costs.

In the case of Jasper Langley, Negro, charged with assault on Sarah Langley, Negro, the woman declined to testify and she had to pay court costs.

Roy Ashley, Negro, 432 Bonner Lane, was charged with false pretense. Judge Whedbee did not proceed the case after learning that Magistrate L. K. Jenkins had disposed of the case.

Reuben V. Bunting paid court costs for not having an operator's license.

Transporting and possessing non-tax paid whiskey, Jessie Earl Newton, Negro, six months in jail, suspended on payment of $100, costs deducted. Newton's automobile was ordered confiscated. The judgment also provided that Newton is to remain of good behavior for two years and that he is to be placed on probation for one year.

In the case of James Banks, Negro, charged with attempted breaking and entering, the court found the defendant guilty of forcible trespass and gave him six months on the roads. Sentence is to be suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. Banks is not to molest Kathleen Redman, Negro.

Drunk: Hubert Worthington, Negro, $10; Ernest Vance, Negro, $10; Frank J. Parker, $10; Eura Johnson, Negro, $10; Ephraim Harris, Negro, $10; William Scott, Negro, $10.

Assault: Mary Buffin and David Jenkins, Negroes, each paid $5. Annie Mae Baker, possession of non-tax paid whiskey, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that she shall behave for two years and that she shall be placed on probation for a year.

Jimmie Skipper, Negro, was given 30 days in jail or pay $15 for assaulting Dorothy Jarmon, Negro. Richard Hardy, Negro, was found not guilty of assault on a female.

Southern Demos Disagree As To Fighting Pledge

WASHINGTON (UP)—Southern Democrats disagreed today on staging a "loyalty pledge" fight at a party meeting to be held in Chicago Sept. 14-15.

Any such fight would destroy the display at the big rally planned in conjunction with homecoming ceremonies for Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee.

Govs. Hugh White of Mississippi and John S. Battle of Virginia said they intend to seek repeal of the party loyalty pledge adopted at the 1952 national convention. The pledge commits all delegates to Democratic conventions to promote the candidacies of the convention's nominees.

Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama opposed the move to repeal the pledge. He said "those who sit in the Democratic Party councils and who enjoy all the benefits and honors of the Democratic Party should be loyal to the party and its nominees."

The loyalty pledge was written into convention rules after a bitter North-South fight and was intended to prevent dissident Southerners from putting Republican nominees on their state ballots under the Democratic Party's label.

A study of party rules is on the agenda of the Chicago meeting. A special committee, including eight members of Congress and four governors, was named by party Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell last May. Mitchell intended only a study of the national committee's rules and by-laws. The national committee is the governing body of the party between national conventions.

But Southerners opposed to the loyalty pledge seized upon the opportunity to make a pitch for repeal of the controversial convention rule.

Battle, a member of the rules study group, said he feels national party leaders now realize they made a "serious mistake" last summer. He said he expects the rules group to adopt a resolution to throw out the loyalty pledge.

The Chicago meeting cannot repeal the loyalty pledge. Only a national convention has that power. The national committee could, however, submit a recommendation for the next convention, which meets in 1956.

Gov't Moving To Deter Train Strike Clouds

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government moved today to head off a threatened nationwide strike by railroad conductors.

National Mediation Board chief Francis A. O'Neill Jr. summoned representatives of rail management and the independent conductors union to a meeting in an attempt to prevent the walkout slated for Sept. 10.

A mediation board spokesman said O'Neill would appeal to the 35,000-member union to hold off strike action while efforts are made to settle the dispute. The union is demanding a change in its pay scale system.

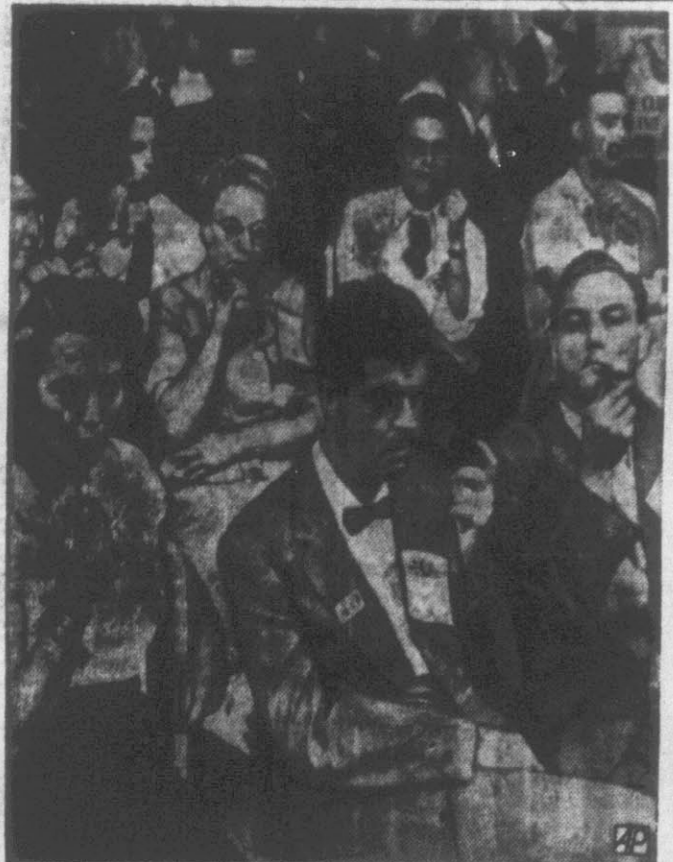

More than a score of other rail unions representing 1,300,000 workers were drawing up new demands which could be served on the industry Oct. 1. That is the date the present "moratorium" on rail contracts runs out, leaving the unions free to seek higher wages and other benefits.

The Order of Railway Conductors fired the opening gun with a demand that the carriers pay its members on a "graduated" scale—the system now used to pay engineers and firemen on the roads. This provides for a varied pay scale according to the power of the locomotive instead of the flat wages now received by the conductors.

Rail management has claimed that the "moratorium" in the present contracts blocked the conductors' demand until Oct. 1. The union has insisted the issue should be bargained at this time.

To back the demand, the conductors' chief, Roy O. Hughes, notified the mediation board that the workers will call a strike against "a railroad or railroads" at 6 a.m. local time a week from Thursday. However, President Eisenhower presumably could prevent such a walkout for 60 days by naming an emergency board to investigate the dispute.

Dodgers May Set Winning Record

Eddie Mathews Man To Top Ruth's Mark

By OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK (UP)—Strapping Eddie Mathews won't break Babe Ruth's magic home run record of 60 round trippers this season but the mauler from Milwaukee already has proved beyond doubt that here at long last is the man who may better the Bambino's mark.

As of the moment, handsome Eddie has 43 home runs in 133 games. Discounting the date and all the other camouflage, he is four behind the Babe's record pace of 1927 in the matter of games played, for the Babe had 47 in 133 games.

Consider, first, that last season as a freshman he hit 25 homers. The national high power rifle championship shooting started today with the field of more than 700 marksmen including servicemen, National Guardsmen and civilian crackshots.

The race for the overall national title consists of four matches—the Navy Cup match, the Scott Trophy match, the Corps Cup match and the President's match. Also to be held will be several individual matches for famous trophies, such as the Coast Guard Cup, Leech Cup, and the Wimbledon Cup.

Month's Practice Enables Cartier To Win Comeback

NEW YORK (UP)—Middleweight Walter Cartier explained today that a month's practice in bobbing and weaving had enabled him to win an impressive comeback victory over Garth Panter of Salt Lake City Monday night.

None of the three ring officials gave Panter more than one round and one even. Cartier weighed 164 pounds; Panter, 159 1/2.

"Of course, I was in better condition, too, last night," continued brown-haired Cartier. "But the main thing was my bobbing and weaving. I practiced it for about a month up at Greenwood Lake. So I wasn't getting hit with any of Panter's sucker punches, and I was always in position to nail him."

Lewis Prepares Today To Take Up Player Proposals

NEW YORK (UP)—Attorney J. Norman Lewis, his relations with Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick restored to a friendly basis, prepared today to take up the legal aspects of 12-player proposals with Lewis Carroll, attorney for the commissioner.

The 49-year-old lawyer, retained by player representatives, Allie Reynolds and Ralph Kiner, discounted that one of the most important proposals involved the allocation of radio and television receipts to the pension fund.

"We succeeded in eliminating, to our complete and mutual satisfaction, all the personal misunderstandings that had previously arisen," he said.

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UP)—Head Coach Earl (Red) Blaik surveyed one of the smallest West Point football squads in history today and cautiously observed that it "may be on a par" with last year's team, which had a 4-4-1 won-lost-tied record.

Only 45 men turned out for the opening practice session of the fall Monday, and that ranks as one of the smallest gridiron groups ever assembled at the military academy.

Ted Williams Blasts Homer As Bosox Beat Cleveland

By CARL LUNDQUIST NEW YORK (UP)—Brooklyn's dynamic Dodgers hit the September stretch today with an outside chance to wind up with the best winning record of any National League team in 44 years.

If they play at about the pace they have set since the All-Star game the Brooks can finish up with 110 victories and only 44 defeats, surpassing all other National League winners since the 1909 Pirates had that mark.

The Brooks have turned in 40 victories as against just nine defeats since the mid-season all-star break. They won 25 out of 31 during August and currently are pounding home runs at a near-record pace. They have 180 for the season and have a chance to top the major league mark of 221 set by the 1947 Giants.

Monday night's 6-3 triumph over the Cardinals in which Duke Snider hit two homers and Gil Hodges got one, was the 10th straight at Ebbets Field over St. Louis this year. Snider wound up with 15 homers for August, one short of a National League mark of 16 for a month set by Ralph Kiner with Pittsburgh in September, 1949.

Roy Campanella set a National League mark for catchers when he drove in two runs with a double to give him a total of 124. The old mark of 122 was held jointly by Walker Cooper of the 1947 Giants and Gabby Harnett of the 1930 Cubs.

Manager Charley Dressen received another good pitching performance from a bull pen operator when rookie Bob Milliken pitched four-hit ball to gain his sixth victory, striking out six Cardinals.

The Diggers now have clinched the season's series against every club but the Phillies, whom they lead in victories 8-6. The runner-up Braves were idle and dropped 10 1-2 games behind.

The two berths allotted went to Edgar Draper and John W. Wood, both of Seattle. The 23 golfers who move right into the championship round without qualifying were exempt under one or more of the following categories: Former U. S. amateur champions, former British amateur champions, members of the British and U. S. Walker Cup teams, or holders of three other titles.

Camera News

COMPARED with this in black-and-white, a color stereo shot of the New York skyline from a Hudson River sightseeing boat packs a far greater wallop. To get sharp focus on both background and foreground, it is safer to stand about 10 to 12 feet from nearest foreground object.

AP Newsfeatures... pictures has multiplied so rapidly that an up-to-date professional can hardly be without a stereo camera. The demand for stereo wedding pictures mounts steadily as prospective brides and grooms discover the new medium exists.

A major reason for stereo's booming popularity among regular camera fans is the minimum amount of work needed to achieve its unique effect. There's no home dark-room processing of any sort. Just mail off the roll of color film after shooting and back it comes, nowadays, all mounted and ready for viewing.

The usual way to see stereo results is with a hand viewer. Its disadvantages are that only one person may see a picture at a time and, because people's eyesight vary, the hand viewer's focus may have to be shifted from person to person. At times, too, the batteries or bulb in a hand viewer may burn out in the midst of a showing.

To offset these faults, many stereo fans have several hand viewers for showing slides and they keep a spare bulb and fresh batteries at hand. Or they replace the batteries, entirely with a transformer which plugs in any electric outlet and assures a bright picture at all times.

The ideal way to show stereo to a group of people is with a stereo projector. However, in comparison with regular slide and even movie projectors, they are still too expensive for the average guy. It's safe to predict that the first inexpensive stereo projector will find a responsive market.

Stereo viewing isn't the only way to see stereo slides. A single frame may be projected as a regular color slide. The image will merely be a bit smaller than a normal 35 mm slide. How come one of the makers or regular slide projectors hasn't come out with an adapter to make this more convenient for stereo slide owners?

Black-and-white and color prints may also be made from stereo slides. The first step is to have a Kodacolor copy negative made of one of the frames. This costs only 25 cents and is ordered by your local camera store. A black-and-white print can then be made directly from the color negative, either by yourself or by your photofinisher, or a color enlargement can be ordered through your camera dealer.

One of the strangest blunders possible in shooting stereo was committed by a friend only because he had a little experience in photography! After being photographed, he offered to take a couple of pictures so that I could get into them.

Although he had never shot any stereo pictures before, the set-up looked fool proof. The exposure was set (sunny day): 1-50th second at f 4.3 and he was familiar with rangefinder focusing. He couldn't make a double exposure because with the Revere stereo camera you can't shoot until you have wound the film which automatically cocks the shutter for the next shot.

I started playing with the children and he snapped away. When the slides were returned, I discovered that in several pictures he had turned the camera to a vertical position and shot! He had been watching the subject matter so intently through the viewfinder that from previous experience, he unconsciously "framed" the composition vertically by turning the camera when it seemed necessary.

The results are weird in stereo viewing... people and buildings are all at right angles to normal position.

So the first rule to be impressed on stereo newcomers is: Always hold the stereo camera horizontally and as level as possible in shooting.

Protest Free And Compulsory Kindergarten

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — A protest movement has started here against the Government plan to cancel the free "Compulsory Kindergarten" for five year olds. The Minister of Finance believes that the cut would mean a considerable saving on teachers' salaries hitherto paid by the State.

A "Save the Kindergarten Committee" representing 10,000 parents and 103 kindergartens has been set up to convince the Government of the social disadvantages that would be caused by the closing of the "Compulsory Kindergartens" probably forcing children back on the streets as many parents couldn't afford the fees demanded in private kindergartens.

Study Discloses Starvation Is Widespread Over World

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (U.P.) — Human starvation was the subject of a just-completed scientific study on a world-wide scale, and it showed that although there was enough food for all the people in the world, almost two-thirds of the humans were starving.

By "starving," Dr. Jacques M. May, head of the Department of Geographical Society, meant two degrees — one "total," in which the starved person eats nothing and dies at once, and the other "partial," in which the victim eats without being nourished.

He found none of the total kind and an astonishing proportion of the partial kind, and this, he suggested, accounted for the general miserableness and backwardness of backward countries and areas. Under-fueled and under-lubricated people are like machines — they function poorly and they break down early and often.

Since Dr. May is a geographer, his findings were reduced to maps in two sets. The first set, of three, showed the world sources of selected foods from which come the essential nutrients of the healthy and efficiently functioning human — proteins, animal and vegetable; fats, carbohydrates, minerals, and vitamins.

U. S. Well Off
The second set, six maps, showed the distribution of clear-cut nutritional-deficiency diseases through out the world. A comparison of the first set with the second showed that these diseases, for the most part, existed on large scales for no reason having to do with any lack of the foods which could eradicate them completely if every human ate those foods regularly.

The comparison demonstrated the good fortune of the United States — its people have a diet adequate from the medical viewpoint and are free generally of the deficiency diseases. In the western hemisphere only three countries are equally fortunate — Canada, Uruguay and Paraguay. May placed two-thirds of Argentina in this category, too.

All of western Europe with the exception of Portugal, Spain, Italy, and East Germany were shown to be adequately nourished from the medical view. The map-makers, under Dr. May's direction, were forced to use official figures of the Soviet Union for its population. However, the American Geographical Society included the locations of forced-labor camps where, it said, starvation diets were imposed on inmates.

Among all the rest of the world, only the following countries were shown to be adequately nourished: Greece, Turkey, Kashmir, Nepal, Tibet, Thailand, Cambodia, Formosa, Somaliland, Portuguese Guinea, Australia and New Zealand.

Distribution Trouble
The explanation, said Dr. May, "lies largely in the faulty distribution of the food that is theoretically available."

"For this, many factors are responsible, economic, social, and physical," he added. "Perhaps the foremost economic reason is that in many areas the ordinary individual does not earn enough to buy the food he does not produce, even if such food is available in the markets.

"Worse, he often has to sell part of his home-grown food to buy manufactured goods pay taxes or interest on mortgages, and the like. Among the social factors, the growth of population and the consequent division and redistribution of property are paramount.

The physical reasons for malnutrition are many, but among the most significant are the exhaustion of soils plowed for years, the low fertilizing value of the human and animal manure commonly used in starvation areas, which cannot return to the soil more than it has received from it. Thus there is initiated a vicious circle of poverty and scarcity."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Prices on the stock exchange early today edged upward on increased volume.

Gains, however, were limited to very small fractions—a technical move after the six-day decline which carried industrial and rail averages to new lows since late in May, 1952.

Volume, swelled by several large blocks, was the heaviest since June 25, totaling 380,000 shares for the first hour, against 260,000 yesterday.

Rails performed about the best, with gains ranging to a point in Northern Pacific and nearly that much in Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Railway.

Allied Chemicals led its group upward and Union Carbide eased.

Elsewhere, steel shares moved irregularly. Bethlehem Steel rose 1/4 to 47 3/4. U. S. Steel was down 1/4 to 35 1/2.

Texas Gulf Producing sparked its group with a gain of 1 1/2 to 42 1/2. Other oil shares did little. Newmont featured in the mining section with a gain of 1 1/2 points to 38 1/2.
