Polish Refugee Says His Country Is Preparing For 'Inevitable War'

Claims Most Of People Against Red Aggression, But Closely Guarded

By WARREN FRANKLIN United Press Staff Correspondent SEOUL, Korea (UP)—A young Polish refugee from Communist oppression said today his country reluctantly was preparing for an inevitable war with the West.

Blond, 28-year-old Jan Hajdukiewicz told newsmen at a press conference that 99 per cent of the people in Poland are against Red aggression, but are closely guarded by the Communists.

Hajdukiewicz, who came to Korea following the truce to work as an interpreter, escaped to freedom Wednesday shortly before he was scheduled to return behind the Bamboo Curtain.

"Of course, Poland is preparing for war," Hajdukiewicz said. "Our industry is working only for war-war against the free world, against the United States and against the Western nations."

"The Communists in Poland do not defeat religion openly," Hajdukiewicz said. "The war between Communism and religion is underground."

Hajdukiewicz spoke slowly in easily-understood English. Whenever he faltered, an American warrant officer who spoke fluent Polish helped him over the language hurdle.

The young refugee said his parents still were in Poland and he feared the Reds may take action against them because of his bolt to freedom.

Hajdukiewicz said, nevertheless, he would write and tell them why he chose to flee his homeland, even though the letter undoubtedly will be intercepted.

When World War III comes, Hajdukiewicz said, the anti-Communist underground will be strengthened.

Hajdukiewicz also said that: 1. The Voice of America, Radio Free Europe and other free world broadcasts were Poland's "only source of news."

2. The Polish press and radio did not report the flight to the West of two Polish aviators in Russian-made MIG-15's.

3. Concentration camps still exist in Poland and are filled with political prisoners.

4. The Communists lied to the Poles about the June 17 riots in East Germany, by claiming the East Germans and not the Soviet army put down the revolt.

General Dean Asked Wife To Remain In U.S.

TOKYO (UP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean said today he asked his wife to remain in the United States when he was liberated because it would be unfair to other freed prisoners if she flew to Tokyo to visit him.

Dean's aide, Capt. William J. Gerard, said the general telephoned Mrs. Dean yesterday and said he expected to be home in two weeks.

"She would have been here such a short time, anyway," Gerard said. "And, more important, General Dean felt it would not be right to have his wife join him here when other repatriates could not, for financial or other reasons, receive the same treatment."

High Tribute Paid To Dennis Dupree

Chairman Says Crowds Largest Yet For Affair

Festival's Success Hailed

By AL PERRY Reflector Staff Writer The 1953 Farmers Day, hailed by observers as the most successful in the 5-year history of the event, officially came to a close here late last night as the last few visitors left the New Enterprise Warehouse shortly after midnight.

Early this morning clean-up crews moved in, sweeping, picking up trash, and taking down flags and bunting while officials and directors of the 1953 festival, for the most part, "glad to get a chance to relax," estimated that 12,000 to 15,000 visitors came to Greenville during the events yesterday and Tuesday.

Steering Committee Chairman Jack Wallace, thanking all who participated, said today that last night's crowd at the warehouse was "by far the biggest one we've ever had" at a Farmers Day. Wallace pointed out that capacity crowds seemed to particularly enjoy the various booths and displays set up for the event. Financially, he stated, Farmers Day was also a success, as budgeted funds proved to be more than sufficient.

Last night, following a round of entertainment lasting from 4 p. m. until 10, a square dance contest was held at the warehouse. Winners of the event and the $25 first prize were the "Tobaccoists" a team led by Assistant DuPont Plant Manager Dr. Russ Peterson and his wife.

Second place went to the "Gold Star" square, led by Lyman Eason. Music for the contest and open square dancing afterwards was provided by Arthur Bowen and the Bar-X Boys.

Large crowds in Greenville yesterday afternoon watched a colorful parade march through town with four bands and a variety of floats, automobiles and farm equipment.

Riding in the parade were Miss Bright Leaf of 1953, Joy Perkins of Stokes and her court, the two runners-up in the Tuesday evening beauty contest, Janice Atkinson and Nancy Worthington.

In ceremonies earlier yesterday on the steps of the County Courthouse, retiring Pitt County Negro Farm Agent Dennis D. Dupree was honored for 30 years of service to the county and presented with several gifts in tribute.

Float winners in yesterday's parade, as judged by a parade committee, were the 4H Club, first, the Home Demonstration Club, second, and the Lions Club, third. First prize was $60.

Wallace said this morning he wanted to extend thanks to all the following groups, as well as to the countless other workers and visitors who made this year's event successful. Singled out for praise were John Barnhill, of the Kiwanis Club Entertainment Committee, Ed Harris and Robert Moyer, Exchange Club parade committee; Larry Averette, Lions Club, warehouse committee; Bancroft Moseley, Rotary Club, booth committee; Conner Eagles, for the Dupree presentation; Bill Kzyer, Chamber of Commerce publicity committee; Julia Fisher and Margaret Register, Business and Professional Women's Club staff advertising; J. E. Collins, Moose Lodge, parking and information committee; Bill Watson, budget and finance; Charles Gaskins, treasurer, and John Lautares, Jaycees beauty contest committee. Wallace emphasized that a vote of thanks was owed to many others.

Secret Military Plans Get Top-Level Review

Pacific Defenses Studied

By DONALD J. GONZALES United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Detailed strategic plans for joint defense of the Pacific against any new Communist aggression came up for top level review today by leaders of the United States, Australia and New Zealand.

The secret military plans were laid before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and New Zealand Foreign Minister T. Clifton Webb at the second and possibly final day of the so-called "Annus Council."

The council is the top consultative body created by the Mutual Defense Treaty which the three nations signed in 1952. The current meeting, first in 13 months, has given special attention to the danger that the Korean truce might lead to a new Communist strike in Southeast Asia.

While the details were secret, informants said the defense review covered such matters as emergency use of bases, division of patrol and convoy areas, food supplies, docking facilities, military equipment and possible standardization of some types of arms.

Dulles, Casey and Webb agreed at their first meeting Wednesday to oppose recognition or seating of Red China in the United Nations pending results of the Korean peace conference.

Another topic up for discussion today was Britain's oft-expressed interest in joining the A. N. U. treaty. Spokesmen for the three powers have indicated the bid will be rejected in favor of some liaison arrangement with the British.

The military discussions were based on special reports prepared by Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander-in-chief, Pacific fleet; Lt. Gen. Sir Sydney Rowell, Australian chief of staff, and Lt. Gen. W. G. Gentry, New Zealand chief of staff. They met in Honolulu last week before coming here for the Annus meeting.

One encouraging aspect of their reports was Australia's recent production of F-86 Sabre jet fighters and twin-jet Canberra medium bombers. The planes, built from blueprints of their American and British predecessors, started to come off production lines earlier this year. They are being used to equip the Australian air force.

"It would be more appropriate for Vinson to be replaced by a Southerner," Jonas said, "and Judge Parker is certainly the most qualified Southerner available."

Parker, 67, was Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina in 1920. He was named to the Supreme Court in 1931 by then President Herbert Hoover, but the Senate refused by one vote to confirm his nomination.

United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis had led the fight against Parker after Parker had upheld an injunction involving 316 coal companies in the "Red Jacket mine case."

Order Cutback In Auto Production

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Studebaker Corp. officials ordered a one-third cutback in auto production today, which will mean unemployment for about 6,000 workers.

President Harold Vance said the cutback will be effective Sept. 14. But he said "Studebaker production has been considerably higher than many of its competitors who have cut schedules drastically in recent weeks."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Seven white men faced federal prosecution today on charges of kidnaping and forcing into slavery four Negroes, one of whom allegedly was beaten to death.

U.S. Attorney Frank M. Johnson Jr. and Special Agent J.M. Lopez, in charge of the Birmingham FBI office, disclosed in a joint announcement the men had been indicted by a federal grand jury.

The officers revealed that a 12-count indictment returned last Friday charged the men with holding the Negroes in involuntary servitude and peonage, inducing them to work on farms where they were enslaved, kidnaping and conspiring to kidnap.

The indictment detailed an account of three beatings including a fatal beating given one of the Negroes after he ran away and was caught. Other members of his

Pentagon Begins Notifying Next-Of-Kin; Some Hope Lingers

Fear Missing GIs Are Dead

By JOHN W. FINNEY United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Pentagon officials fear many of the 944 missing Americans believed captured in Korea but never reported by the Communists have died in Red prison camps, it was learned today.

They voiced this heart-breaking belief as the military services began notifying next of kin of the missing servicemen that "there is reason to believe" the men were in Communist custody "at one time." The servicemen had previously been officially listed as missing.

The Defense Department will make public their names in installations Friday after next-of-kin have been notified. The list includes 610 Army, 312 Air Force, 19 Marine and three Navy servicemen.

The United Nations Command in Korea submitted the names to the Communists Monday at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission. The U.N. told the Reds it had information that the men had been captured but never reported. It demanded an accounting of each man listed.

But military officials here said reports had been received, largely from repatriated prisoners, that many of the Americans were dead. Despite these reports, military officials said the demand for an accounting was made to get the fullest information possible on the fate of every American missing in Korea.

Officials hope that some of the Americans on the list may still be alive. The Communists say they have returned all U.N. prisoners desiring repatriation.

The belief that the missing men were captured by the Communists is based on a compilation of reports by repatriated Americans, Red radio broadcasts and personal letters.

Shortly after the armistice, Gen. Mark W. Clark, Far Eastern commander, said the United States had information indicating the Communists held 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans than the 3,313 they agreed to return.

But Clark's figures were revised downward after Allied officers were able to interrogate returned prisoners and cross-check the list of 1,022 Americans who the Reds said died in prison and 147 others who were reported to have escaped. The Communists also turned over 283 more prisoners than they had promised.

Lennon Calls On Confused Demos To Fall In Line

NEWTON (UP)—Sen. Alton A. Lennon called on confused Democrats who bolted the national party in the presidential elections last fall to "come back in the fold... when their hearts are pure."

The red-haired Wilmington attorney, appointed by Gov. William B. Umstead to the Senate in July, spoke to an estimated crowd of 2,000 persons who turned out here last night for a big Catawba County Democratic rally and fish fry. He did not refer to the torrid Senate race building up between him and the expected candidate, former Gov. Kerr Scott.

Lennon said his present tour of the state is an effort to find out why so many North Carolina Democrats "turned their backs on the party of the people."

"I think it was because we are living in an age of confused thinking," he said, "and that people feared last November that the Democrats might drive us into a third World War or that we might have a stalemate in Korea and they were afraid chiselers were taking over in Washington."

"They were guilty of confused thinking. They have no place to go but to come back into the party... which is big enough to take them back when their hearts are pure again."

Lennon praised the Democrats' record in state and national politics and said the progress of North Carolina in schools, health and roads is due to the work of the Democratic Party for the past 50 years.

Lennon said "nothing worthwhile" was done in the last Congress without Democratic backing and that he did not agree with much of Congress' programs except "those in favor of economy, efficiency and honesty in government."

Lennon urged particular Democratic effort in the 10th District represented by Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas of Lincolnton.

"There is nothing wrong with the 10th District that a group like this can't cure," he told the crowd.

Rep. Jonas Will Endorse Parker

CHARLOTTE (UP)—Rep. Charles R. Jonas (R-NC) said today he will urge President Eisenhower to appoint Judge John J. Parker of Charlotte to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Parker, chief justice of the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, has been mentioned prominently in Washington for the seat left vacant by the death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

"It would be more appropriate for Vinson to be replaced by a Southerner," Jonas said, "and Judge Parker is certainly the most qualified Southerner available."

Parker, 67, was Republican candidate for governor of North Carolina in 1920. He was named to the Supreme Court in 1931 by then President Herbert Hoover, but the Senate refused by one vote to confirm his nomination.

United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis had led the fight against Parker after Parker had upheld an injunction involving 316 coal companies in the "Red Jacket mine case."

Market forecast for today indicates around 2,000,000 pounds of tobacco will be sold, with tips predominating on local warehouse floors as earlier this week. Prices will remain high today with no more than slight increases expected.

Total Sales Gross Sales—21,239,438 pounds for $11,318,724.52; average $53.29 per hundred. Producers Sales—19,600,676 pounds for $10,706,665.76; average $54.63 per hundred.

New Course Lessens Danger To Florida

Hurricane Skirting Coast

MIAMI (UP)—A crescent-shaped hurricane with winds of 100 miles per hour turned north-northwestward in the Atlantic today, skirting the Bahamas and lessening the danger to Florida.

"Unless it changes course again there is no danger to Florida," chief forecaster Grady Norton said.

Norton said a storm scouting plane found the center of Hurricane Dolly, the fourth of the year, at Latitude 24.8 North and Longitude 70.7 West. This 610 miles a little south of east of Miami.

"It has winds of 100 miles per hour or more and still is in the formative stage,"orton said. "It is shaped like an amphitheater with the high winds and heavy weather in the north and east sides and open to the southwest."

"The hurricane plane confirmed that it is moving at 10 miles per hour in a north-northwesterly direction," he added. "The change if maintained will carry it well east of us."

Norton called the storm a "potential" threat to Florida when it was found yesterday moving a west-northwesterly direction. It changed its course during the afternoon and night.

The weather bureau located the center of the storm at 5 a.m. EST about 160 miles northeast of Turks Island in the Bahamas.

"The hurricane appears to be slowly gaining organization and strengthening with highest winds now estimated at 100 miles per hour near the center," the weather bureau said.

Observers said it appeared to be moving in a northwest to north-northwest direction, relieving some of the immediate threat to the Bahamas.

The weather bureau said early-morning observations indicated the hurricane would continue moving along its course at about the same speed for the next several hours with a slight increase in intensity.

The SS Lochaven provided weathermen with a fix on the center of the storm with its report of passing through the calm eye" just before 10 p.m. last night. The center had previously been estimated to be about 84 miles too far to the southwest.

The whirler had slowed in forward speed from about 15 miles per hour, setting the stage for a shift in course as well as increase in size and strength, weather observers said.

A Navy hurricane hunter plane made a reconnaissance flight about the storm area during the night. An Air Force plane was ordered out from Bermuda this morning to gather more information.

Forecaster Paul Moore said the hurricane — nicknamed "Dolly" — still was "not well defined" and was "poorly organized." The disturbance grew suddenly from a squall into hurricane strength yesterday.

The hurricane lashed Turks Island and its 5,300 inhabitants with its outer gales, and then lumbered toward other landfalls in the long chain of islands.

After Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, head of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, persuaded the Communists to leave the vicinity, the North Koreans calmed down.

The U.N. held another 600 anti-Communist Chinese just south of Panmunjom and will turn them over to the Indians Friday.

Thus far, the Indians have not received any of the Communist-held, U.N. prisoners who say they do not want to go home.

Radio Peiping, voice of Communist China, broadcast the first official reaction to a U.S. demand for an accounting of 3,000 prisoners held by the Communists and who were not repatriated.

The Red radio called the list produced by the Americans a "fake." In Tokyo a freed American pilot said Thursday a Chinese interpreter told him two weeks ago that at least 400 Allied prisoners are being held by the Reds in North Korea for "blood crimes."

Lt. James E. Gunnoe, 23, of 210 Staunton Ave., Charleston W.Va., said the figure includes "a considerable number of Americans."

The Peiping broadcast said the Americans invented the list to cover up the fact that the United Nations was "forcibly detaining" North Koreans and Chinese who wish to return to Communism.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The International Monetary Fund said today the world has made substantial "progress" in the past year toward balanced trade between countries.

In an annual report to its 55 member countries, the agency said that last year more countries balanced, or nearly balanced, their imports with their exports than in 1951. At the same time, it noted a "sharp" drop in the value of the trading done.

While the report expressed enthusiasm for the recent achievements of some nations such as Great Britain, Germany and the Netherlands, it said "acute" trading problems continue to exist for others, particularly the underdeveloped countries which produce raw materials primarily.

The report was presented on the second day of the fund's eighth annual meeting, being held jointly this week with the World Bank.

Fund Director Ivar Rooth told the assembly of finance ministers, government officials and private financiers that we have reached a stage where the future is not all dark," where efforts may be made, "and not just at trying to stop the world's economic deterioration."

The fund's troubles with Czechoslovakia, the only Soviet bloc member, had quieted down today after that country bowed to behind-the-scenes pressure. The Czechs repaid money they had withdrawn from their fund pledge, without fund approval, and indicated they will supply requested information about the recent revaluation of Czechoslovakian currency.

Qualified observers interpreted the Czech cooperation as an indication the country will also settle its $625,000 delinquency with the bank.

W. Raaodolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the U. S. Treasury, told today's meeting that the Eisenhower administration believes in honest money abroad, just as we believe in it at home."

He noted important plans "to strengthen currency, and thus improve trade with the world, in a number of countries, including the countries of the British Commonwealth."

"It must also be recognized," he said, "that some countries are still following unsound policies, which delay relaxation of restrictions on exchange of currencies between countries."

When Fluker refused, Fred Dial tied Thompson's feet, waist and then held a shotgun and pistol on "other persons," forcing them to "beat and whip" the man with a lariat, according to the grand jury.

Fred Dial and a youth, who was not indicted but who was identified as John Leon Rutledge, 16, then took Thompson to Grand Hopson's house where he died two days later on May 9, the indictment said.

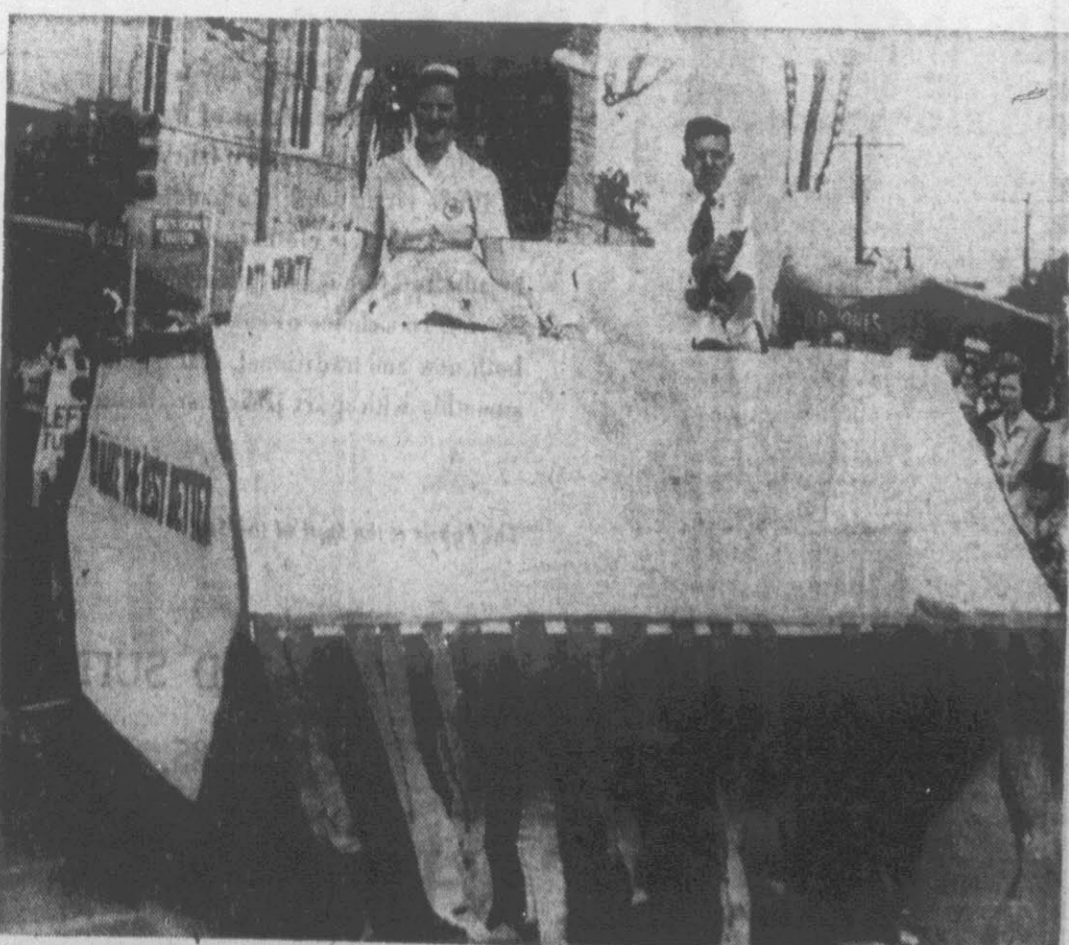

The indictment said another beating victim was Coy Lee Tanksley, alias "C. L." The grand jury charged that Oscar Dial and Fred Dial forced Tanksley to go to Fred Dial's farm, with the intent of holding him as a slave.

Tanksley was released from the county jail at Meridian, Miss., late last January after Oscar Dial paid his fine, the indictment charged. At the farm "about one week later" Oscar Dial tied Tanksley's hands and feet with a rope and beat him with a lariat, it was charged.

A third alleged beating occurred when Matthew Williams was whipped on the floor of a clubhouse in Sumter County in December, 1951, the indictment charged. This count charged Oscar Dial, Grady Clarence Dial, Fred Dial and Charles Harper with tying Williams' hands and feet and taking off his pants to beat him.

These four also were charged with conspiring with other persons to abduct Williams from Mississippi. A final count charged that John Henry Lowe was held in a condition of peonage and compelled to work in payment of a debt claimed.

Seven Alabamans Facing Federal Charge Of Slavery

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Seven white men faced federal prosecution today on charges of kidnaping and forcing into slavery four Negroes, one of whom allegedly was beaten to death.

U.S. Attorney Frank M. Johnson Jr. and Special Agent J.M. Lopez, in charge of the Birmingham FBI office, disclosed in a joint announcement the men had been indicted by a federal grand jury.

The officers revealed that a 12-count indictment returned last Friday charged the men with holding the Negroes in involuntary servitude and peonage, inducing them to work on farms where they were enslaved, kidnaping and conspiring to kidnap.

The indictment detailed an account of three beatings including a fatal beating given one of the Negroes after he ran away and was caught. Other members of his race were forced at gunpoint to beat him, the indictment said.

An investigation into the "peonage" charges began when one of the Negroes died two days after he was beaten.

The men indicted are members of a family which owns rich farms in rural Sumter County. Four are brothers, two are their cousins and the seventh is married to a member of the family.

All the men denied slavery and hogging charges.

Lopez said an investigation into the charges is "substantially complete." He said the investigation showed that Negroes were sprung from jail and then forced to work on lines on one of the farms.

Four of the defendants are brothers, members of a family which operates the Dial farm near Boyds, in west-central Alabama near the Mississippi line. The brothers are Oscar Edwin Dial, 34; Fred Nickle Dial, 25; Grady Clarence Dial, 28; and Robert Mitchell Dial, 44.

The other defendants are Lindsay Wingard Dial, 43, and Arnold Dial, alias Otto Dial, 27, cousins of the four brothers, and Charles Harper, alias Francis Harper.

Bonds were set at $2,500 for Oscar Edwin and Fred Nickle Dial, and $1,000 for the others.

The grand jury reported in detail the alleged flogging of one of the Negroes, Herbert Thompson, but no

Yelverton-Thompson Vows Spoken In Albuquerque, N. M.

FOUNTAIN—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Yelverton returned by plane Friday from Albuquerque, N. M., where they attended the wedding of Miss Betty Thompson and Staff Sergeant Leslie P. Yelverton Jr. on September 3 at 4:30 p. m. The nuptial vows were taken in the chapel of the Central Methodist Church. Miss Carol Thompson of Oklahoma City, Okla., was her sister's maid of honor and Mr. Yelverton served as his son's best man. Prior to the ceremony Master Sergeant Bill Mullens of Albuquerque seated the guests and Miss Linda Foster of Farmington, N. M. lighted the candles. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Charles B. Thompson.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thompson entertained at an informal reception at the Chi Omega Sorority House on the campus of the University of New Mexico.

After September 7, the couple will be at home at 1601 Tijeras North East Apartment 25, Albuquerque, N. M.

On Wednesday evening of September 2, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Yelverton entertained at dinner at the Desert Inn in Albuquerque. The guests included the wedding party and out-of-town guests of the Yelverton-Thompson wedding. Covers were laid for twelve guests and a four course dinner was served.

Junior Woman's Club Plans For Tag Day

The Junior Woman's Club met for the first meeting of the fall on Wednesday night, September 2, at the Woman's Club with the new president, Mrs. James Davenport, presiding.

Mrs. Marjorie Davis and Miss Adelaide Warren were accepted as new members.

Plans were made for the annual Tag Day, to be held on October 3, the proceeds to go for the club's main project, the Watson Memorial Fund.

Mrs. Lillian Gradis and Mrs. Annabelle Averette were appointed as delegates to the district convention in Windsor on September 23.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, September 16.

Fulford-Sautler Marriage Vows Spoken In Home Ceremony

PARMVILLE—In an 8 o'clock ceremony at the home of her parents, Miss Shirley Dean Sautler became the bride of Pvt. James Richard Fulford, with the Rev. C. L. Turpin of Farmville officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Braxton Sautler of Route 2, Farmville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Richard Fulford of Route 2, Farmville.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin covered with Chantilly lace. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with a purple orchid tied with white bridal satin ribbon.

Miss Carol Gardner of Farmville was maid of honor. She wore a strapless gown of pink satin, covered with net with a matching stole. She used a cascade bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums tied with blue satin ribbon.

Charles Vanford, a classmate of the groom, attended as best man. The bride's mother wore a dress of blue taffeta with matching accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

The mother of the groom wore a white and brown dinner dress, with matching accessories, with a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was given immediately after the ceremony in honor of the couple at the home of the bride's parents. Wedding cake, nuts, and punch were served in the dining room. Ninety-five guests attended, including those in and out of town.

Assisting in serving were sister of the bride, Mrs. J. T. Tyson, and sisters of the groom, Misses Marie and Janie Fulford, who wore strapless gowns of satin covered with net, with matching stoles. Corsages of white carnations were worn.

After the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip in the west.

Degree of Pocahontas Studies By-Laws

"Reading Writing and Arithmetic" is what the members of Witha Council Number 42 met at the Red Men's hall for Tuesday night. Thirty members went back to school for the first time in several years, and the first night was a written examination on the by-laws and regulations of the Council. Also, instructions were given throughout the meeting.

The following officers were reported absent: Gene McGowan, Furney Mural Clark, Alma Letchworth, and Lenner Mae Smith. Nancy Heath was reported as having been in a car wreck and still in Smith's Clinic. Two propositions for membership were presented for Mrs. H. L. Pruitt and Mrs. Mae Nobles.

A letter was read which the council had sent to Mr. Goodwin, resigning Great Chief of North Carolina for 53 years. A letter was also read from Great Pocahontas Marion Vincent, advising of her plans for an official visit on October 18th. Every member was urged to help the Public Relation Committee get new members of quality more than quantity.

For Good of Order, Betty Nobles presented each member with a candle. All months of the year were called out and each member was asked to stand when the month was called in which she was born. Each candle contained a message of what this month stood for.

Dora Bozeman, Kathleen Woolard and Reta Dunn contributed to the birthday fund. "Happy Birthday" was sung to them. Rachel Moore won the door prize.

Next meeting night will be "Memorial Service."

After the meeting adjourned, birthday cake, ice cream and nuts were served to all members.

Grifton P.T.A. Welcomes Teachers

GRIFTON—More than 200 friends and patrons of the school were present on Tuesday night when the first P.T.A. meeting of the school year was held in the school auditorium with Mrs. Robert Levine, president, presiding. Objects of the P.T.A. as outlined by the National Congress of Parents-Teachers were read by Mrs. Levine.

Prayer was said by Rev. Horace Quigley, minister of the Christian Church, who also pronounced the benediction.

Mrs. Robert Mewborn of the program committee recognized the school board members and welcomed those assembled, stating that it was "Get Acquainted Night" and all newcomers were asked to stand for a special greeting. Mr. Cecil Cobb of the school board presented Mr. Edward Bright, principal, who spoke informally for a few minutes.

He said that the "schools exist for the training, development and betterment of the children. This is the aim of all faculty and parent-teacher members, through the cooperation of all, we hoped to grow in numbers, efforts and achievements, which goes for making a finer school."

New faculty members to the school this year: Mrs. A. C. Fletcher, Mrs. Sarah Glasgow, Mrs. Edna Tracy, were given a welcome by Mrs. Levine.

Mr. Bright announced the results of the membership drive in which the sixth grade was winner on two counts, the most members secured and also the most fathers joining through their efforts.

It was also called to the attention of the group that the special bond election was coming up in the near future and that all persons were asked to register who had not previously done so.

A plea for workers for the preteen club was made. This is for children eight through 12 and has been under the direction of Mrs. John Looney, who needs help with the leadership of one person.

Attendance cakes on count were won by Mrs. Braxton's fifth and Mr. Brown's 8th grades.

After the business hour the hospitality committee, headed by Mrs. L. L. Mewborn and assisted by Mrs. John Coward, Mrs. Cecil Wright, Mrs. Wilbur Holland, Mrs. Heber Wade and Mrs. Walter Murphy, served punch, cookies and salted nuts. The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and held a beautiful center arrangement of purple petunias and tall green candles in crystal holders.

Building Thrones In New Zealand

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Two thrones are being built for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh for the day the Queen opens a special session of the New Zealand Parliament in Wellington Jan. 12.

The thrones will be about the same size, although the designs will differ slightly. The throne for the duke will be on the same level, but will be placed a little behind that of Queen Elizabeth.

Phone Book Carries Clue H-Bomb Tests Lie Ahead

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Further evidence came to light today (in the Pentagon's telephone directory) that the United States is getting set to test mankind's deadliest weapon of mass destruction—a deliverable H-bomb.

Both this country and Russia have exploded mammoth hydrogen test devices, the United States nearly a year ago and the Soviets just last month. Although there have been no official claims that either nation possesses a hydrogen weapon in a form capable of delivery on a target, American weapons are believed to have progressed far enough in that direction recently to warrant new test explosions.

As the United Press reported last July, indications are that the new tests will be held at Bikini, the Atomic Energy Commission's new Pacific proving ground, 180 miles east of Eniwetok.

They may be held late this fall, next spring or summer, or next fall. The AEC won't say and neither will the Defense Department.

Finds 2 Guilty Of Hunting Quail

Pitt county game and fish protectors last Sunday arrested two Bethel men with guns in woods and charged them with hunting on Sunday, hunting without licenses and hunting quail out of season.

They were William Asa Taylor of Bethel and Oliver Whaley of Bethel, who works in Virginia and was home for the weekend.

In Magistrate H. L. Jenkins' court Monday, it was testified that the officers met the two men with guns in woods Sunday. When the officers accosted them they denied they were hunting, but did not account for the guns. The officers testified that they found a quail under one of the men's feet.

Justice Jenkins found the men guilty of hunting quail out of season and fined each of them $25 and costs.

The fines and costs totaled $34.70, District Protector J. O. Teel stated.

Grasshoppers Out-Raced Spray

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) A farmer near here was appalled at sight of hungry grasshoppers invading his field of corn one evening. He hustled back to the house and phoned a company that does aerial spraying.

They promised to get right on the job in the morning.

But bright and early the farmer took another look at the field and canceled the spray job. The grasshoppers' night shift had cleaned the field.

Personal Work Claim Is Denied

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut Supreme Court has ruled that the state is not required to pay for work assigned to mental patients for therapeutic purposes.

Denying a $2,000 claim made in behalf of a woman patient for work in a hospital laundry, the court held: "Her labor was required not primarily for the benefit of the hospital, but for her own welfare."

Our Choice For High Court Vacancy

While the Reflector realizes its influence in the federal government can be measured only as one of a million voices raised across the nation, were it our places to recommend to President Eisenhower a successor to the now vacant post of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, we would unhesitatingly recommend Federal Circuit Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina.

The Reflector has said previously the President should not make the post of Supreme Court Justice a political plum, for

No More Whipping-Boys This Time, Please

Ex-President Harry S. Truman swung hard in his Labor Day speech at Detroit, but the old punch wasn't there. It lacked the sting, the impact, of days when he was in fighting trim. The important part of the occasion, was in his speaking out after a prolonged silence.

How can one become concerned over the statement that there are "other signs that the government is no longer so concerned for the welfare of all of us," particularly when there has been a surfeit of welfare-consciousness by government in the past?

"Big business" was belabored in accordance with Truman thinking. But then, "big business" has been the favorite whipping-boy of would-be demagogues for so long that one's natural sympathies are stirred into wondering "why?"

Generally speaking, the past decade has seen great strides in the earning power of labor; and a mounting sense of social responsibility by business.

To say an administration favors big business because businessmen have been assigned the job of conducting government on a business-like basis seems as empty a complaint as anyone could make. Would an unbusinesslike, or unskilled official be a better choice for those posts?

An enlightened electorate doesn't want a whipping boy as an argument for voting one way or the other. It's going to take something more than the old-style fire-and-brimstone to sway their thinking; and we think all will agree this last is a good thing for the country at large.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
STRENGTH AT THE LAST
Charles Dickens, who had a genius for probing the human heart and discovering the elements therein which call forth universal acclaim, ends his novel, "A Tale of Two Cities," with the account of how Sydney Carton rides to the guillotine in a tumbrel, sitting next to a little girl, Carton, as everyone who remembers who read the book, was dying for another man.
The little child asked to sit next to Carton as she goes on the death ride. She felt that the guillotine will lose its horror for her if she can sit beside this brave man who has such peace written across his face. She holds his hand to the very last, and at the end of the journey kisses him as he and she together solemnly bless each other.
On the Mount of Transfiguration Christ's divine life shone from within, illuminating his person and his features. Jesus declared that out of the heart of man came the sins which destroy him. And we are probably correct in saying that he also believed that out of the heart of man comes all his goodness. When people efface themselves as completely as did Sydney Carton, the divine goodness of such persons shines out through their features. These are the people we want to sit next to on the death ride. These are the people who give us peace when the moment of departure comes.

A Daring War Preventive Move

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has finally and deliberately presented a take-it-or-leave-it challenge to our friends and foes in warning Chinese and Russian Communists that the United States will wage all-out atomic war in the Far East, if they force a resumption of hostilities at next month's Korean political conference.
In view of possible consequences, it was not an easy or lightly made decision, but both daring and historic. Many carefully considered factors, economic and military, lie behind this solemn attempt to mobilize the courage and will power of the western, democratic world as mobilized by the United Nations.
ADMIRAL RADFORD'S VIEWPOINT—For one thing, it represents the viewpoint of the new head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Admiral Arthur W. Radford. He believes that Red China can be knocked out of action quickly by air and naval attack, since its major industries and resources are accessible and vulnerable to this kind of offensive.
He differs from his predecessor, General Omar N. Bradley, who was a ground fighting expert. He always thought of a conflict with China in terms of a mass, mainland invasion, in which our troops would be swallowed and cut up in frustrating, guerrilla warfare, as the Japanese were for so many years.
The Radford war would be mounted almost entirely by atomic, aerial onslaughts from bases in Korea, Japan, Formosa, Okinawa, the Philippines and Indo-China. It would be supplemented by a naval blockade reinforcing a complete commercial boycott.
Meanwhile, United Nations and Syngman Rhee's native forces would immobilize MaoTse-tung's 2,000,000 men on that peninsula, while the French harassed the southern provinces' farmhands from Indo-China.
REDS WANT NO SHOWDOWN NOW—Secret and continuing studies by the reorganized National Security Council support the bold theory that this virtual ultimatum may pound some sense into the political expediency.

Judge Parker's outstanding record as Federal Circuit Judge for the past 28 years irrefutably testifies to his outstanding qualifications for the highest judicial post in the land.

It was in 1925 that President Calvin Coolidge recognized the competency and ability of the North Carolina jurist by appointing him to the position he now holds. A few years later President Herbert Hoover appointed Judge Parker to the United States Supreme Court, but in a stormy debate over one of his previous decisions Judge Parker failed to receive confirmation of the Senate.

Though the lack of Senate confirmation kept Judge Parker from the Supreme Court bench more than two decades ago, Judge Parker has grown mightily in judicial stature since that time; and over more years than most men in the land has enjoyed the respect and esteem of leaders at all government levels as well as rank and file citizens.

President Eisenhower may comb the county over seeking a man to fill the highest judicial post in the country. In our opinion, he will be unable to find a man more capable or better qualified than Federal Circuit Judge John J. Parker.

Soviet Blunders And U.S. Policy Helped Win

We think it no detraction of the admitted statesmanship of Conrad Adenauer to voice the belief his victory in the German election was greatly augmented by recent U. S. diplomacy.

The memory of recent rioting in East Germany, inadvertently spurred on by American food gifts, must have been in the minds of West Germans going to the polls. Demonstrations of acute want were heartlessly smashed with clubs and bullets of the Communist regime.

Such displays of brutality and callous disregard of human life and rights were bound to have turned the hearts and minds of voters against any compromise with the outlaws ruling Eastern Germany and their masters further East.

Only defiance to proponents or apologizers for the Soviet system should have been expected under those circumstances.

There were many who feared a reversal of opinion among the voters because of keen American interest and stakes placed on the outcome by John Foster Dulles. As it turned out, the Germans placed their own interests first; the West can expect to be put on notice, at some future date, that Free Germany will not accept a puppet's role in the deadly game of power politics.

But in the meantime—
The West's faith in a potentially strong ally has been immeasurably bolstered; Soviet diplomacy lost "face"; planning for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's army can proceed on a more realistic level; one more hurdle has been jumped in the race to strengthen the Free World so as to preserve Peace.

McNaught Syndicate, Inc. REG-MANNING

Somebody Told Me Top-Quality Football At Hand

In March, 1949, when I graduated from the University of North Carolina I told Wife Rachel: "We might not come back to the University much during the rest of our lives, but one thing is pretty certain: we'll come up here for football games."
Now, less than five years later, I find myself eating my own words. The quality of Greenville football is so high that even our love for Chapel Hill doesn't take us back. Why should we fight traffic and risk our lives on the highway when the East Carolina College stadium is less than a block from our house?
Here's another angle to the support of local football: Both Greenville High School and East Carolina College need our backing in order to continue their athletic progress.
The quality of football at Greenville High has come up recently because, in part, of the support of the GHS boosters club. With funds from season ticket sales the club has made possible the hiring of two assistant coaches for Bill Kirtrell to use in development of his team.
Last night GHS Booster Club

President Howard Hodges said, "Friday night at the Wilson-Greenville game Greenville High had the highest gate receipts in its history, which really helped. But many of the 144 Boosters who joined in last year have not renewed their memberships. In order to carry on the program, we need the support of the Boosters. After all, it was through them that we were able to make financial progress, and it will be through them that we maintain the pace."
The situation at East Carolina College is probably even more serious. The Pirates Club, under the direction of E. E. Rawl, has undertaken to supply 1,360 new seats at an expense of nearly $10,000. To raise this amount, the club is selling memberships for $15. This entitles the member to tickets to the five home games that would cost him $12.50 at the gate, plus a priority on seats, plus a priority on seats for basketball, plus free attendance at baseball (if last season's policy is continued.) For regular expenses, the college takes $10 of the $15, and the remaining $5 goes toward the seats.

At this point, this fund is $3,400 short, though the seats have arrived and are being erected. This deficit is being undertaken by President Rawl, assuming that the necessary 270-odd memberships will come through.
There are several other advantages to the memberships: All Pirates Club seats will be on the 5th Street side, with new aisles being cut for the convenience of the fans. And the seats on the North side are four and one-half inches wider than the South-side seats, which will be occupied by the ECC student body. Another important factor: When that cold North wind comes it will be on the backs of the Pirates Club members, while the South side fans will have to bear it from the front.
Talk has already started about ECC elevating itself to the Southern Conference. If this is to happen, seating capacity is one "must" in our athletic program. For the bargain price of $15 you can get more than your money's worth in priorities, a warmer seat and a warmer heart from having the satisfaction of increasing the seating capacity.
And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

DIVIDING THE BOND MONEY (Henderson Dispatch)
After a month hence give their approval to an additional $72,000,000 of State bonds, a formula set up by the last General Assembly, which authorized the election, will be applied in distributing the school portion among the one hundred counties of North Carolina. To devise that plan required a good deal of study but it was finally completed and approved by the law-makers.
The bonds for schools will amount to fifty million dollars. Every county will be allotted at the outset the flat sum of a hundred thousand dollars, accounting for ten million of the fifty. Another fifteen million will be apportioned on the basis of average daily attendance at the schools. Actual records will determine that, however, or $25,000,000 will be left to the State Board of Education to divide up on what it considers the need of the individual counties. That is where the controversy will arise.

On the basis of this formula we do not know how much Vance county would get. Franklin county authorities say they will receive $238,000 on the basis of the flat allocation alike to all one hundred counties, plus the average daily attendance record. As to the other $25 million, a good deal may depend upon how convincing the counties can argue for their own interests.

The other $22,000,000 involved in the bond election will be used for improvements at mental institutions. Individual counties will not be concerned as to that.
But some source should make it a point to give every county fairly definite information in advance of the election as to how much its share will be of the fifty millions that will go for school construction. If such figures are convincing, they should prove effective in rolling up votes for the addition of this large debt to the State's account.

Continuation Of Federal Farm Program Seen 'Sure'

By LYNN NISBET
REASSURED—The several thousand members and patrons attending the annual meeting of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange were reassured Tuesday as to continuation of the Federal farm program. Assurances that the price support phases of the program would not be affected this year or next and that future legislation would probably not make drastic changes were given by Senator Clyde E. Hoey, second ranking Democratic member of the Senate committee on agriculture, and Representative Harold Cooley, presently ranking member and chairman under Democratic regimes, of the House committee. These assurances were pleasing and accepted in good faith.
AUTHORITATIVE—Then came Rep. Clifford Hope of Kansas, chairman of House committee, and introduced by Cooley as the No. 1 agriculture man in the nation, who made the principal address to the more than 3,000 assembled in Raleigh municipal auditorium. Chairman Hope was in position to speak with authority, where the others might have been wishfully thinking. He affirmed that there would be no change in policy until the end of 1954, that the tobacco support at 90 per cent of parity is permanent, that he believes cotton support at 90 per cent will be continued in future bills, and that through study is being made with respect to proposed changes on other basic crops.

SOUND—All of the speakers on the program—Senator Hoey, Congressman Cooley, Governor William Umstead and others—said some very nice things about Chairman Hope. In return, Mr. Hope may have felt he had to say nice things about them. There was no requirement, except his own sincerity, that he should say the agricultural act of 1938, promulgated by a Democratic congress under leadership of a Democratic administration, was essentially sound and fair to everybody. He noted that although enacted in a time of surplus crops and low prices it had stood without basic change through periods of scarcity and high prices, through years of war and times of peace. He indicated belief that while some adjustments and amendments must be made, there will not be material change in the basic policy for some time to come.
BUSINESS—Time was when frequent reference was made to business men and farmers', thus perhaps unconsciously making invidious distinction between the groups. That expression is not used any more, because farmers are businessmen. Text of all the speeches indicated acceptance of that concept. More impressive testimony was offered by the character of the attendees at this annual meeting, and the financial reports of the two cooperatives. The cotton group has clear assets of $1,086,466; and the FCX has a net worth of $7,549,544. Even those accustomed to big money do not consider that "little business." That thinking is in line with what Rep. Hope meant when he said that it seems all of our problems are big ones.

PRINCIPLES—For the same reason the members of the audience understood much better than the same group would have understood a few years ago the references to necessity of applying the same business principles of reasonable return on investment, reasonable pay for labor, reasonable prices for produce—and some semblance of guarantee that these reasonable standards would be maintained—to farming operations as have long been applicable to banking, commerce and manufacturing.
NON-PARTISAN—Senator Hoey, Governor Umstead and Representative Cooley several times facetiously referred to the temporary status of Republican dominance in national affairs. Representative Hoey made no reference to political parties. That difference in attitude is readily understandable. The North Carolinians were at home and in a Democratic State. The Kansas was an honored guest at a meeting where preponderant majority of his hosts were of another party. It was evident from his facial expression that he enjoyed the kidding of his colleagues on the platform, but that he did not feel it was his place to fire back the same kind of friendly persiflage.

Business Today States May Protest

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the troubles with a national sales tax is that 32 states and many cities already levy sales taxes or gross-receipts taxes, which are the same thing under another name.
The 32nd state came into the fold just nine days ago when a 1 per cent sales tax became effective on a list of goods in Pennsylvania.
Existing state and city sales taxes range up to 4 per cent. When a 4½ or 5 per cent Federal sales tax is also laid on all goods, probably excepting foods, they will cost up to 8½ or 9 per cent more than customers would otherwise pay for them. If that won't discourage buying, especially of nonessentials, very little will.
Present sales taxes apparently discourage some undetermined amounts of buying. But the chief effect is to drive it to other areas. The 3-to-4 per cent sales tax in California is said to be second to Nevada's gambling law in attracting California spenders to Las Vegas and Reno.
The 3 per cent sales tax levied by New York City has made millions of dollars in sales for stores outside the city in New York State, in Connecticut and in New Jersey. It has accelerated the building of branch and other stores in the suburbs, causing the city to lose taxable real estate investments.
The higher New York State taxes on liquor send caravans of autos across the state line into Connecticut every Saturday. While there, many New Yorkers buy groceries and other goods. Similar situations exist in many other parts of the country.
A national sales tax would drive much business away. It might make vacations in Canada and Latin America a bit more attractive, but shopping for goods across the national border would not amount to much except across from Detroit and a few other cities. Customs, you know.
The fact that 32 states have sales taxes is going to make trouble for the Eisenhower Administration if it goes ahead with plans for a similar tax. States and cities have regarded sales as their special tax preserve and they will resent Federal poaching. Furthermore, they will recall that the Administration is committed to reduction of tax duplications, rather than to increasing them.
Twenty-three states obtained their largest amounts of revenue in 1952 from sales and use taxes.
Last year states collected $2.4 billion in sales and gross-receipts tax. A lot of Congressmen will be under great back-home pressure to keep the Government out of this field.
CIGARETTE BRANDS, SIZES RAFFLE VENDING MACHINES
Vending machine operators are being driven crazy by the constant introduction of new brands and sizes of cigarettes.
Time was when a vending eight columns of standard-size packs would satisfy even the swankiest tavern; now "localities" want 11 and 12 column machines handling various sizes.
There are constant reports of new brands and new sizes coming out; at present a king-size, mentholated cigarette is being market-tested in the Pacific Northwest.
The number of brands in this country is small compared to Great Britain, where around 200 brands are in varying degrees of popularity. Vending machines there, however, are rare and juggling operations are carried on largely by small tobacconists.
HOT SPELL MAKES WORK FOR REPAIRERS
Merchants are still complaining about what the recent heat wave did to business. While it kept some stores empty, it boomed business for many repairmen.
It seems that weak spots in television sets, appliances, air-conditioners, refrigerators, plumbing systems and wiring circuits show up quickest when subjected to continued hot weather and/or extra use.
Sellers of beer and soft drinks did quite well, too.

The General Showed'em How
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—You don't have to meet a man in this world to learn something from him.
I never met Maj. Gen. William Dean. I got to Korea late in July, 1950, a few days after he was reported missing in combat. This I have always regretted. I would like to have seen him in action.
He is free again now, after nearly three years in enemy prison camps. But although I never met him personally, he has enriched my life by teaching me two things:
1. Don't sell faith short.
2. A man's example lives beyond his presence.
When I first reached Korea, Gen. Dean's 24th Infantry Division was still retreating after a series of confused but magnificent delaying stands to hold up an overwhelming North Korean Army that had it known how to use its power would have had the entire peninsula in three short weeks.
A still-dazed American officer told me:
"We thought all we had to do was to stand on a hill and show the U.S. uniform, and all those little brown specks would run back north where they came from."
In those dark days the 24th Division had suffered terrible losses. And each day it suffered more. It is less a criticism of the men than it is of America to say the division was unready for combat.
The men weren't in proper shape. They were short of the right weapons. And so it was that Gen. Dean, a first-class fighting man, had to go up and do what no division commander should be required to do.
He had to go up and show the boys how. He himself was the 24th Division. He was the spearhead of the ill-prepared America—in the flesh. He had to do what they teach a commander at West Point he shouldn't have to do. He had to go to the bare front, forget his two stars, and lead like a second lieutenant. So did his colonels—including rugged Dick Stephens, later known as "The Big Six," and now a major general himself.

The fate of Gen. Dean was to be captured, after trying to get a wounded man back. He knew that theoretically a man of his rank shouldn't be where he was—but he was fighting a foe, not a laugh war. Without the on-the-spot leadership that such commanders as he and Col. Stephens gave, the retreat would have become a rout.
After his bullet—pierced helmet was found, those of us who came later were sure that Gen. Dean was dead. But again and again we ran into this stubborn comment from the enlisted men who had seen him fight:
"They just couldn't have killed the general. He's too smart for them. He'll turn up yet."
The faith seemed futile, and foolish to us at the time. But it was amazing how the example of Gen. Dean's personal courage carried on with his men. They found it hard to let him down, knowing what he had done. And they didn't let him down.
Through all the months after that each member of the battered 24th Division felt he could hardly do less than his lost leader.
That kind of frontline leadership went out of the American Army with the Civil War. It is too expensive, and a modern army no longer can afford it.
But it is a fact of history that the sacrifice and valor of Gen. Dean paid off magnificently. Nor will the American Army—and the relations between officer and enlisted man-suffer by what he did.
In the annals of our military he will be imperishably remembered as the general who, when it had to be done, went up got in hand and showed the boys how. No other officer in our time has done more to popularize the stars of rank.

Farmville School Enrollment Sets All-Time Record

FARMVILLE—Two weeks after the Farmville schools had opened for the 1953-54 season, all previous enrollments had been exceeded.

Principal Sam D. Bundy said there are 318 pupils in grades one to three, and 308 pupils in grades four to eight in the elementary school. The Farmville High School has an enrollment of an even 300 students.

The principal went to Raleigh this week to deliver a certified set of enrollment and attendance figures. He said the Farmville school is due to receive an allocation of another elementary teacher, to be assigned to the primary school.

Bundy said the high school will be entitled to another teacher next year if the present level of enrollment and attendance is maintained.

The Farmville High School football team will play its first game of the season against Jamesville High School in the Farmville park Friday night at 8 o'clock. Jamesville is a newcomer to the Coastal Conference. Season tickets are now on sale and they will be on sale at the game Friday night. The Farmville Red Devils will play six games at home this season. Extra seats have been installed at the park.

ECC Departments Show Materials In Booth During Tobacco Festival

Activities in the industrial arts, creative arts, and business education departments at East Carolina College were featured in an exhibition which attracted favorable attention from many visitors attending the Farmers Tobacco Festival at the New Enterprise Warehouse here this week.

A booth, colorfully decorated in the East Carolina purple and gold, presented an informative and attractive display of work carried on in the three departments of instruction. Also among the materials on view were copies of college publications, including the student yearbook the "Teccon."

The exhibit was prepared by Alumni Secretary James W. Butler with the cooperation of members of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity for men students. Assisting also in planning the display were Dr. Kenneth Bing, director of the industrial arts department; Dr. E. R. Browning, director of the business education department; and Francis Lee Neel and John Gordan, faculty members of the art department.

Demands Source Of Army Report

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today demanded that the Army identify the author of a classified military report on Soviet Siberia which he described as "clear-cut Communist propaganda."

He said his Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee is determined to pin down responsibility for the document, entitled "Psychological and Cultural Traits of Soviet Siberia."

Photostatic copies which McCarthy displayed to reporters showed that the report was issued by the Military Intelligence section of the Far East Command in Tokyo in January, 1952. It was labeled "restricted," a comparatively low order of secrecy classification which means that distribution of the document must be limited to military personnel. A distribution note on the document said 100 copies were printed and sent to 37 top commands in the Far East.

Army officials declined to comment on McCarthy's charge that the document "extolled all the virtues of Communism with an occasional slap on the wrist."

Meanwhile, the subcommittee resumed its investigation of Communists in government with questioning of unidentified employees of agencies coming under its spotlight for the first time.

Draw To Be Held For Zone Matches

MONTREAL (UP)—The draw for the opening singles matches in the North American zone Davis Cup final between Canada and the United States was scheduled to be held today at the Mount Royal Tennis Club.

Considered almost certain to be named for Canada were Lorne Main of Vancouver, B.C. and Henri Rochon of Montreal. Tony Trabert, U.S. champion from Cincinnati, and Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia were likely to be the American choices.

Laird Watt of Montreal, non-playing captain of the Canadian squad, said Main, Canada's first-ranking player, would definitely appear in one singles match. He still was debating whether to use the 29-year old Rochon or call on one of his first-year men, Paul Willey of Vancouver or Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que.

Willey was being considered as a teammate for Main in Friday's doubles, Watt said. The two easily whipped Cuba in the doubles during the semi-final cup tie last month after Rochon and Bedard combined with the Mexican doubles combination of Rafael Ortega and Mario Llamas in the quarter-final round.

Lawrence A. Baker of Washington, D.C., vice-president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, will act as non-playing captain of the American squad. He said Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., would probably be teamed with Trabert in the doubles as an experiment and that Bernard Bartzten of San Angelo, Tex., the fourth member of the American team, would be used if the tie was decided during the first two days.

Draw To Be Held For Zone Matches

The injury jinx which seems to dog Greenville High School's quarterbacks caught up with Bobby Nunn yesterday.

The first-team field general for the Phantoms had his side injured and may miss tomorrow night's conference opener against Jacksonville. The extent of the injury was immediately diagnosed but Coach Bill Kittrell immediately shifted a pair of Varsity newcomers into the position in order to fill the gap as could be done.

Jerry Drum, number one man on the 1952 Jayvee team, and Tommy Kay Norris were both given some work at quarterback yesterday with Drum expected to start tomorrow if Nunn can't play.

Nunn was shifted to quarterback this year when the Phantoms were short-changed through the loss of George Sideris and Pat Sawyer. Sideris broke his collar bone before the 1952 season started and the injury never did heal enough to permit him to return to the gridiron and Sawyer has had knee trouble for the past two years. Sawyer can, however, see limited action as he did last week against Wilson when he was used as a spot player.

A short scrimmage session yesterday put the cap on rough work by the Phantoms. Defensive tactics against Jacksonville's single wing and T-formation plays were stressed although kickoff and punt return formations occupied the first half of the workout.

Other than Nunn's injury, the Phantoms expect to be in top shape for tomorrow's contest. James Speight, Bob Langston, and Bob Howell are all three ready to step back into their starting backfield posts and the linemen are already pronounced "more improved" than what they were last week when they held Wilson to a net of 16 yards rushing.

Kickoff time for tomorrow's game will be eight o'clock. The contest will be played in the East Carolina College Stadium.

Dodger Rookie Hurls Eight Hitless Innings

NEW YORK (UP)—The Dodgers can clinch a tie for their seventh and most easily attained pennant today and if that doesn't make the Yankees sit up and take notice, wait until they hear about Bob Miliken.

All the rookie righthander did Wednesday night in Cincinnati was to take over for the injured Johnny Podres in the first inning and pitch 1-3 no-hit innings as the Atomic Bombs scored a 6-0 victory to go 13 1-2 games in front of second-place Milwaukee.

The Braves suffered a 2-0 defeat to the Phillies, reducing Brooklyn's pennant combination to two games. Thus if the Dodgers win today they are assured of a tie, no matter what Milwaukee does in its remaining games.

Miliken, pitching Brooklyn to its longest lead of the season, replaced Podres who ducked away from a line by Ted Kluszewski and strained a knee ligament in the opening inning. There were two out when he took over and he walked Bob Borkowski, the first batter he faced in the second inning, then retired 24 men in a row. The only two Cincy hits were singles by Kluszewski and Roy McMillan off Podres.

Duke Snider hit his 38th homer in a five-run fifth inning in which Peeewe Reese accounted for the other runs with a grand slammer, his 13th homer of the year.

Miliken, who has been pitching brilliantly of late, now moves into focus as a possible surprise starter in the series. His victory was his eighth against three losses.

The Yankees also won 9-3 from

Pirates Work On Passing; Freshmen Get Long Drill

Freshman candidates were given a thorough workout in defensive tactics yesterday as the East Carolina College Pirates stepped up their football workouts.

The frosh were tried on defense by an offensive group composed of letterman. Every newcomer who was dressed was given an opportunity to work.

A rough scrimmage session which concluded the practice drill gave the Pirates a chance to put to an actual test the things they worked on individually yesterday. Head Coach Jack Boone had the backs and ends reviewing pass patterns and pass defense while Assistants Jim Malory and Earl Smith worked the linemen in a long tacking drill.

The Bucs will have their final double load of work today. Class registration for upperclassmen will take place today and classes will begin tomorrow. The practice schedule will be lightened to one-a-day drills tomorrow.

Running with the offensive units yesterday were mostly holdovers from the 1952 team. Dick Cherry was at quarterback, Toppy Hayes and Paul Gay were at the halfbacks, and Claude King was at fullback. Hayes, a defensive back for the last two years, appears to have nailed down the starting position at left halfback. His running has been outstanding in the drills thus far and his defensive work is the best of any backfield candidate.

In the line the problem continued to be to pick the best of a lot of good ones. At the guards, George Tucker, Donald Burton, David Lee, George Rice, Bobby Thomas, and Grady Dickerson alternated along with some freshmen candidates. At the tackles, Willie Holland and Johnnie Brown have been doing most of the work with the first-unit but some player switches are planned to give the Pirates depth.

Guard James Faircloth and end Bobby Hodges were both back in light equipment yesterday after being sidelined for short while by illness.

Pittsburgh Wins From Washington

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—Franny Rogel, Jim Finks and Lynn Chadnois were the ball-toters whose touchdowns paid off for the Pittsburgh Steelers Wednesday night in a 21-14 exhibition pro football victory over the Washington Redskins.

A crowd of 22,000 saw the two National Football League teams tangle in an Elks Club charity game.

Rogel, former Penn State star, cracked the scoring ice midway in the first period when he tallied on a 29-yard dash. The Redskins tied the score in the second period on an 11-yard sprint by former Notre Dame Julie Rykovich.

Pittsburgh scored twice in the third period with big Finks blasting over from 10 yards out and Chadnois dashing home from five yards out. Washington scored a futile touchdown in the closing minutes on a buck by Leon Heath. Nick Boklovac converted three times for the Steelers and Bobby Dean twice for the Redskins.

Snead's Record Expected To Hold In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—Most of the big names of golfdom were included in the 100-man field teeing off today in the first round of the Eastern Open golf tournament, but the softened condition of the course was expected to protect Sammy Snead's tourney record.

Four inches of rain fell during the weekend, leaving the fairways and greens in the 6,896-yard Mt. Pleasant course soft. Pros who took warm-up rounds complained that tee shots were not getting their full roll.

In view of this, most experts were predicting that a 72-hole score of about 280 would win the tourney this year, five strokes more than the mark of 275 established by Snead in winning last year's tournament.

Snead, however, is not defending his title. Tourney officials said that his absence was caused by a desire to rest his still-healing hand, which had been broken, before leaving for Britain with the Ryder Cup team. They also speculated he may have been dissatisfied about arrangements for "appearance" money.

A blue-ribbon field had been assembled, including this year's top 10 money winners on the PGA tourney trail.

The top "money" entry is Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., second only to Lew Worsham on the prize-winning list and winner of the Virginia Beach and Labatt tourneys. The other leading money winners entered were Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

Others present were Jerry Barber, of La Canada, Calif., Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., 1952 Open champion Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., PGA champion Walter Burkeme of Franklin Hills, Mich., Earl Stewart of Dallas, Tex., and Jackie Burke of Concord, N. Y.

Big 10-PCC Agree

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The Big Ten football conference and the Pacific Coast Conference can now look forward to "three more years of enjoyable association," a spokesman said today after inking a new Rose Bowl pact for the years 1955, 1956 and 1957.

Professor H. T. Everest, vice president of the University of Washington and official spokesman for the PCC, said the contract continuing the Rose Bowl is "virtually the same as the old contract."

"After all," Everest said, "the association between the two conferences has been amicable—why should we change anything?"

Merriman Looking For Winter Action

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Marine Capt. Lloyd Merriman, fresh from the Korean battle zone, said today he was looking for a berth in a Latin-American winter league to get him in shape to take over his old job in the Cincinnati outfield next season.

The ex-Starline football player will be discharged from the Marine Corps today after completing 86 combat missions in an F9F Pantherjet.

Merriman follows Ted Williams of Boston and Gerry Coleman of the Yankees as the third fighting ball player to return from the service in the past month.

Twelve pounds over his playing weight, Merriman said he was worried about being rusty after missing all of the 1952 and 1953 campaigns and said he hoped to play winter ball in Cuba or Venezuela to get back in shape.

Merriman flew more combat missions than any other professional athlete in the Korea war, topping Williams (39) and Coleman (68).

Williams' averaged skidded to .429.

Fearless Creates Misery: Only 11 On All-America

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Thousands of bitterly disappointed college stars undoubtedly will grind their gridirons in rage today over the astounding news that there are only 11 players on Fearless Fraley's preview All-American football team.

Picking an All-American team at this time of the year actually makes better sense than it does in December. This way you don't have to pretend that you've seen all the candidates.

It's a lot safer, too. Because when you do it in the accepted post-season fashion, you usually wind up with some bum who didn't even show up had chilblains, two left feet or came down with scholastic scurvy.

My guys, as of the moment, are sure-fire, can't-miss, guaranteed-to-a-s-t-until-October candidates. Without further apologies, here they are, listed with their schools and hometowns:

Ends — Don Doheny, Michigan State, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Tom Miner, Tulsa, Okla.; Ed Meadows, Duke, Oxford, N. C.; George Jacoby, Ohio State, Toledo, Ohio.

Guards — J. D. Roberts, Oklahoma, Dallas, Tex.; Steve Eisenbauer, Navy, Sheffield, Pa.

Center — Dick O'Shaughnessy, Michigan, Seaford, N. Y.

Quarterback — Jackie Parker, Mississippi State, Knoxville, Tenn.

Halfbacks — Paul Cameron, UCLA, Burbank, Calif.; Paul Giel, Minnesota, Winona, Minn.

Fullback — Johnny Lattner, Notre Dame, Chicago.

Second team: Ends, Joe Collier, Northwestern, and George Black,

Washington; tackles, Chuck Doud, UCLA, and Ed Culpepper, Alabama; guards, Morgan Williams, TCU, and Joe D'Agostino, Florida; center, Jim Neal, Michigan State; backs, Buddy Leake, Oklahoma; Gene Filipiski, Villanova; Leon Hardeman, Georgia Tech, and Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

One thing sure, if they show up you'll be hearing plenty about all 11 of them. Not that I'm making any excuses, understand, because my theory is that by December not even old Fearless will remember who he picked anyhow. And that way I get two columns out of it.

So if you have any complaints, tell 'em to Lattner. He's doing my running for me this fall—and if you catch him, don't say I didn't warn you. My guys are tough, thank goodness!

FISHERMEN from Greenville doing their fishing at Hobucken came up with six puppy drum, six trout, and a hog fish, a pompano, a bluefish, and a croaker at a recent outing. The men making the catch were Bob Ross, Jack Edwards and Quinten Avery.

Hundreds Of Notables At Vinson's Funeral

WASHINGTON (UP)—Hundreds of prominent Americans, headed by President Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman, came from all parts of the country today to attend memorial services for Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

The services were to be held at 3 p. m. e. d. t. in Washington Cathedral, with Episcopal Bishop Angus Dun officiating. Immediately afterwards, Vinson's body will be sent by train to his home town of Louisville, Ky., for funeral services and burial Friday.

Mr. Eisenhower, to whom Vinson was a close friend and bridge partner, interrupted his Colorado vacation to fly here from Denver for the memorial rites.

The President will return to Denver tonight for a reunion with his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, just home from Korea.

Mr. Truman who appointed Vinson to the nation's highest judicial post in 1946, came by train from Independence, Mo., to pay his last respects to the genial, silver-haired Kentuckian who died of a heart attack Tuesday at the age of 63. Former President Herbert Hoover sent word from New York that he would not be able to attend.

Observers Note Signs Russia In For Hard Times

By W. A. RYSER
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Observers said today the Communist world has entered a long period of internal trouble and tension which may add great strength to the West.

Josef Stalin has been dead only six months, but during this short period his heirs have suffered a smashing defeat because of their uncertain policies.

The observers noted that the Malenkov government tried to pierce the hard shell of the anti-Communist West with a "soft" policy.

Admitting failure, the Reds purged police boss Lavrenti Beria as a scapegoat and reverted to the old Stalin-Molotov line of general obstruction and open hostility to the United States.

As a result of its vacillating diplomacy, the Soviet suffered three staggering blows:

1. The June 17 rebellion against Soviet oppression in East Germany.
2. The Sept. 6 landslide victory of the openly anti-Communist Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in West Germany's parliamentary elections.
3. Failure of the Tudeh (Communist) Party to capitalize on unrest in Iran that led to the overthrow of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government and returned the pro-Western Shah to the throne.

The same wavering and lack of decision also can be seen in Russian internal developments.

In a sudden switch in economic policy announced by Premier Georgi Malekov in his speech to the Supreme Soviet last Aug. 8, the Soviet Union launched its greatest drive for production of consumers goods and food since Lenin's introduction of the NEP New Economic Policy in the early 1920s.

As the NEP was launched to help Russia out of the deepest economic crisis in her history, the present concessions to the peasants are considered by London observers as evidence of the tremendous economic difficulties facing the Kremlin at the present moment.

Similar concessions have been made in the satellite countries, indicating that forced collectivization had caused agricultural disaster and popular discontent.

Another factor working against rapid stabilization of Russia's internal situation is the continuing struggle for power within the Communist Party presidium which rules the Soviet empire.

At present there is no reason to believe any of the Soviet leaders is any nearer to taking Stalin's place as a result of the spectacular downfall of Beria.

His brother Paul found a use for the truck at the same time and drove it off. The wind did a thorough job of scattering the money. One woman who turned in part of the $60 Maynard got back said people were fighting for the money "all the way down the hill."

Barking 'Upset' The Lady's Dog

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—People are forever calling the City Pound and complaining about barking dogs.

Dog Wardens Herb Sackett and Mike Clente call the callers with: "All dogs bark. Shows they're healthy."

But a woman stopped Clente. She reported that her dog was neurotic and became upset when he heard the barking of other dogs.

Pitt Insurance Group To Meet

The Pitt County Insurance Exchange will meet tonight at 7:00 at the Resport Bros. Barbecue House, it was announced today.

Members of the Board of Directors of the group are asked to arrive by 6:30 p. m. in order that the meeting's business agenda may be established.

All members and prospective members, said the announcement, are urged to attend.

Cases Disposed Of In Pitt Recorders Court Tuesday

By CHESTER WALSH
Judge Dink James disposed of the following cases at the Tuesday afternoon session of County Recorder's Court:

Orlander Barnhill, Negro, failure to yield right of way, leaving the scene of an accident and driving without an operator's license, three months on the roads, suspended on condition that Barnhill not drive without proper operator's license, pay court costs and $80 for damage to V. L. Fordham, Edenton.

Arthur Lee Gardner, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs. The case charging Gardner with non-support was not prosed.

James Earl Stevenson, Negro, was not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon.

Jesse J. Roberson, Negro, paid costs for possession of non-tax paid whiskey.

The case in which Willie James Streeter, Negro, was charged with non-support of a minor child was continued.

Ira Jones, Negro, no operator's license, four months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs and he is not to drive without an operator's license.

The case of Charlie Stocks of Ayden, charged with breaking, entering and larceny, was not prosed with leave.

Willie J. Streeter, Negro, assault, continued to.

Joseph H. Lewis, Negro, larceny, case not prosed.

Clyde Whitefield, assault with a deadly weapon and drunk and disorderly, four months on the roads, suspended on good behavior for two years.

J. B. Bullock of Ayden, refusal to return government property, case continued to.

NECESSARY BREAK-DOWN
BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Unlike almost any other product manufactured, a grinding wheel is made to break down in use. That's because as the abrasive grits dull, the band that holds them together must break down to present new cutting surfaces, say researchers of Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp. The wheel that doesn't wear down become glazed and smooth on the face. Then it doesn't cut.

"Miracle Drug" say SURIN Users

Pains of Arthritis, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, Bursitis—Relief Can Start in Minutes

There's no internal dosing with SURIN. Nothing to swallow and wait anxiously for relief. You simply apply SURIN right at the point of pain and blessed relief starts as penetration beneath the skin gets under way. Of course there's a reason for this wonder-working new external fast pain relief medicine.

It's methacoline, a recent chemical born of research in a great laboratory. It acts speedily to aid penetration of SURIN's pain-quelling ingredients. Methacoline also causes deeper, longer-lasting pain relief and increased speed-up of local blood supply.

Tested on chronic rheumatism in large university hospital it brought fast relief to 75% patients and its home-for-the-aged 77%. Totally different from old-fashioned rubs and liniments, modern SURIN brings faster relief, longer without burning or blistering; without unpleasant odor or grease. Simply smooth on SURIN at the point of pain and feel pain ease in minutes. Money-back at your drug store if SURIN doesn't relieve muscle pain faster and better than anything you've ever used. A generous jar costs $1.25. SURIN is not a cure for any of these conditions.

Rev. J. W. Ray Is Retreat Speaker

Rev. James W. Ray, North Carolina Baptist Student Union Secretary, was guest speaker at a Fall Planning Retreat held here last weekend under the auspices of the Baptist Student Union Council at East Carolina College.

Various council members presented their plans to welcome the approximately 750 Baptist students enrolled at the college this fall.

According to a report released by the group, the theme of the Planning Retreat was "LISTEN, or Love Inspires Sacrifice Toward Every Need. Among events of the weekend conference were study and discussion groups and messages from local pastors.

Council members present were Joel Farrar, Ruby Underhill, Ralph Smiley, Gwen Williams, Ruth Lassiter, Alice Jackson, Ann Carawan, E. J. Hines, Airlee Barbour, Barbara Guyton, Bill Penuel, Esie Lawson, Vera McNeil, and Janet Swinson.

Boys Fined For Their Autograph

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Tip to the youngsters: If you must leave a mark in wet concrete, don't make it your autograph. The Juvenile court judge lowered the boom on three teen-age boys the other day. They readily admitted they not only wrote their names on the newly poured cement surface of a street but did a lot of tramping around, leaving two-inch deep footprints.

The judge called it malicious destruction of property and assessed them a total of $10, the cost of re-finishing the cement.

Money Scattered All Over Town

PANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—It was not raining money. Charley Maynard started to town with $570 in an envelope. In his garage, he decided he'd wear a coat and went back for it. He put the money on a fender of his truck.

Behind-Scenes View Of President On Vacation

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
DENVER (UP)—Backstairs at the summer White House:

The special switchboard for the summer White House at Lowry Air Force Base has been handling an average daily load of about 3,000 calls. The board is handled by a special detail of Army Signal Corps men regularly assigned to the White House in Washington.

Members of the presidential party have been sending home for heavier clothes. When the President came out here, it was summer. Now autumn is upon Denver and the nights are getting chilly.

Mr. Eisenhower probably would be horrified if he knew that several persons attached to his party have been visiting heavily stocked commercial ponds in the Denver area and fishing with grasshoppers or salmon eggs for rainbow trout. Owners of these ponds "guarantee" a catch and charge $1.60 per pound for the fish hauled out.

The President is an angling stylist and thinks fishing with anything but dry or wet flies is "meat" and not sport fishing.

The President took time from his conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on Labor Day to have a truly important business session with Andreelle Cavenah, 8, and her sister, Kenda, 13. The girls are the daughters of Col. and Mrs. K. A. Cavenah. The colonel is the Lowry base commander.

Before Kenda visited the President, she was determined to become a veterinarian, but when she left, she had changed her ambition. She now wants to be a secretary like the ladies she saw working in the summer White House offices.

The loudspeaker system wasn't working properly at the Lowry Officers Club the other day when the President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended a party there.

The President wanted to say a few words to the large group of guests, but the amplifier wouldn't work. The President started speaking without benefit of the microphone, but club attendants continued to work on the system.

N. C. Inaugural Float In Parade Yesterday

Featured in yesterday's Farmers Day parade was the North Carolina float which took part in President Eisenhower's Inaugural Parade. Depicting the numerous uses of wood and the necessity of conservation, the float drew many a round of applause in yesterday's activities. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Right in the middle of the President's remarks, a few bars of hot jazz blared out over the loudspeakers.

"Ha!" said one of the guests, "The Eisenhower and his Dixie-land five."

Nazarenes Hope Old Town Won't Change

NAZARETH, Israel (U.P.)—Residents of this little white town, nestled in a basin at the foot of Israel's Galilean Hills, face the future with mingled apprehension and hope.

The Israel government's decision to make the town where Jesus lived the administrative capital of Galilee is expected to transform the appearance of this Oriental hamlet, with its many church spires and cupolas.

Any child in Nazareth will show you the cave where Mary was told by the Angel Gabriel that she would give birth to a child by the Holy Ghost. The town's narrow, dusty streets, paved with smooth stones, still resound to the tapping of the hooves of sure-footed donkeys as they did 1,953 years ago.

The Christian character of Nazareth is unmistakable. Out of 20,000 inhabitants, 13,000 are Christians. The Greek Orthodox Church predominates, and bearded priests garbed in black, wearing heavy gold crosses hanging on their breast from gold chains, solemnly lift their skirts to enable them to walk up steep alleys more quickly.

Fear Change
The belief is expressed that an influx of newcomers and the establishment of government offices will obliterate the imprints of Arab culture on the town, nearly all of whose inhabitants speak Arabic as their mother tongue.

Transformation of the town into an administrative capital is expected to improve its economic situation which is going from bad to worse, with unemployment growing. About 5,000 destitute Palestine War refugees constitute a serious problem not only economically but also socially.

One of the town's better sources of income is a company known as "Holy Land—Nazareth," which exports Christian souvenirs and holy objects. This company specializes in soil and water from the Jordan. A representative of the company recently returned from a trip to Spain and other European countries, where attempts were made to establish business ties. According to its directors, the company's prospects for selling holy soil and Jordan water are good.

The soil is packed in little bags and the water poured into bottles in a number of Nazareth monasteries. Representatives of the town's various religious sects seal the bags and bottles.

Communists Organized
The inhabitants of Nazareth, irrespective of religious affiliation, hope the transformation of the town as district capital for Galilee will put an end once and for all to the military rule it has been subjected to since its occupation by Israeli forces early in 1948. The military regulation requiring special permits to leave or enter the town is regarded to a certain extent as being responsible for the rise in unemployment, since it is difficult for the men to seek work elsewhere.

Thus far, Nazareth has been in Israel only by virtue of its geography. Otherwise, its ties—cultural and social—were with Arabs across the border. Even economic contact was somehow maintained with Arab in Jordan, Syria and the Lebanon by groups of experienced smugglers transporting farm produce and manufactured goods back and forth across the border.

The Communists are the best-organized political group in Nazareth. Their popularity was due to the fact that they were taking the lead in vociferously opposing the military government. Membership in the Communist Party is also regarded as being the only legal way to express opposition to the Israeli state.

The townspeople say that once economic conditions improve and unemployment drops, Communist influence will become negligible.

Cabbies Act As Eyes For Police

DETROIT (U.P.)—When Detroit police are tracking down a criminal, they have an additional 2,000 pairs of eyes helping them each day.

"The eyes" are those of Detroit's 2,000 taxicab drivers, who have been mobilized as an unofficial branch of the police force. Their cabs, equipped with two-way radios, bolster the police department's fleet of cruisers.

"We contact them when we have positive identification of an automobile or a suspect in crimes like murder, rape and robbery," said Chief of Detectives Jack Harvill.

However, Harvill said the cabbies have clearly defined limits on their duties. He said their job was to "tail" wanted automobiles or suspects and radio information to their dispatchers, who in turn keep police posted.

Aided in Five Cases
"Their aid to police is carefully limited to prevent cabbies from yielding to any temptation to take the law into their own hands," Harvill explained. "They follow a wanted car or person and keep broadcasting but have been warned never to attempt to make an arrest themselves."

Police records showed that at least five persons have been arrested and convicted through the aid of cabbies.

"So far as thugs are concerned,"

Harvill said "It doubles the effectiveness of police when any major crime in or near the downtown area is reported."

The cabbies first began working with police when one of their members was victimized by a robber or swindler. Police requested their services in helping hunt the still unknown sex-slayer of 18-year-old Jo Ann Gillespie, whose body was found in a alley near her home last Jan. 3.

Even before that, Harvill said, cabbies were "unofficial" police helpers, but it wasn't until last April that the program was expanded to its present status.

Car And Truck In Highway Mishap

A car and pick-up truck were involved in a highway accident on the Old Stantonville road early this morning, Patrolman W. W. Joyner reported.

A charge of failure to yield the right-of-way was lodged against Albert Moore, 49, of Route 1, Greenville, after the car driven by Moore pulled from a side road into the path of a loaded asphalt truck driven by Alton Smithwick, 33, of 306 West Second Street, Ayden.

The accident occurred at 7:45 this morning. More than $1,000 in damage resulted when the asphalt truck overturned spilling its load of asphalt after being struck in the side by the car. No one was injured in the accident, Joyner reported.

Car Overtakes; Two Collide, In City Last Night

A car driven by Henry Lewis Langley, 17, of Route 1, Greenville, overturned at the railroad tracks at 14th and Pitt Street last night around nine o'clock.

While no one was injured, damage to the car was estimated by investigating officer J. B. Cannon as being around $200.

A car operated by James Ward, 35, of Woodlawn Avenue, Greenville, collided with a car driven by Christine Felts, 48, last night at Fifth and Elizabeth, causing minor damage.

No injuries. The accidents were the only ones reported in the city on Farmers day and both occurred last night.

Tracing Vehicles Unlisted For Tax Purposes Is Paying County Dividends

A crack-down on automobile owners who failed to list their vehicles for taxes during January is paying off for Pitt County.

Under the direction of County tax office his checked the list of automobile license registrations for Pitt County against the list of automobiles listed for taxes on the county books.

In the check, Gray said, the county found between 2,300 and 2,500 vehicles for which licenses were issued to Pitt County but which had failed to list the vehicles for taxes with the county.

By the time the delinquent listing is finished, he estimated, approximately $250,000 in tax valuations will be added to the county's books as a direct result of the automobile check which brought not only additional automobile listings, but the listing of other personal property as well.

In terms of dollars and cents, the county auditor said, the additional valuation on the county tax books will mean some $4,000 additional tax revenue for the county for the current fiscal year. Already more than $1,500 has been collected in taxes as the delinquents listed their automobiles and other personal property.

When the check of auto registrations in Pitt against the auto listings on the tax books were completed, notices were sent to some 2,300 to 2,500 people to whom automobile licenses were issued, but who had not listed the motor vehicles for taxes.

Of those, Gray said, the majority came in and listed their vehicles for taxes; but second notices were mailed to some 750 people.

There now remain on the list approximately 375 people who apparently owned automobiles January 1, 1953 who did not list them for taxes in Pitt. Gray said this morning these remaining persons who do not check with the county tax office in about two weeks will be subpoenaed to report to the tax office. The list of individuals who fail to answer the subpoena will be turned over the Pitt Grand Jury for action at a later date, Gray said.

Last year when similar action was taken by the county against individuals who failed to list taxes, the Pitt Grand Jury found true bills of indictment against 23 Pitt Countyans.

The listing of dogs on the county tax books also have been checked in recent weeks Gray said, and so far the check has resulted in an additional $132 in dog taxes paid to the county by individual owners who failed to list their canines in the original listings in January.

Ava And Frankie Again Feuding In Frosty Silence

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Ava and Frankie are feuding in frosty silence today just 12 city blocks apart.

The two-year marriage of beautiful Miss Gardner and hot-tempered Sinatra is teetering on the brink of a telephone call. Each one apparently feels the other should phone first, so they're sitting out the deadlock in two different hotels.

Ava shared her breakfast coffee with a reporter in her hotel suite and expressed firm opinions on things like Africa, poached eggs, leading men and hemlines.

Her marriage? She just smiled mysteriously. "Frank is a fine actor," she said. "I think he gives a great performance in 'From Here to Eternity'."

country without her. "Some women will take just so much from a man," the friend added mysteriously.

Sinatra, currently singing at the Riviera night club, told his friends he was completely mystified over Ava's unannounced return three days ago and her anger. He refused to say why he didn't pick up the phone and ask Ava.

"I don't care to talk about it further," she said pleasantly, leaning back on the couch and crossing her bare legs. The question of hemlines arose.

"If women follow that very short skirt fad they're fools," Ava said. She paused and smiled. "But then, we're fools."

Rioting Convicts 'Under Control'

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (UP)—Sullen convicts were reported "under control" at the Washington State Prison today after guards fired tear gas bombs to quell a riot by cursing, taunting inmates.

The riot Wednesday followed a mysterious fire, possibly set by inmates, that destroyed the prison's metals plant and did at least $300,000 damage.

Two convicts prostrated by overdoses or burns of tear gas were in the prison hospital, but guards said they were not in serious condition.

The convicts evidently began the destructive rebellion to protest poor ventilation in cells during Wednesday's 90-degree heat. The metals plant fire, knocked out the ventilation system, and officials said the riot and fire may have been connected.

Lessons On Fish Trapping Costly

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—The native was angry when he saw three men fiddling around with his homemade fish trap on the St. Francis river recently.

But he got hotter than a blister when he got close enough to see they were actually breaking up the illegal contraption. He accused them of stealing his fish, too.

The three conservation agents silently took him before the magistrate. And he lectured the man about illegal fish trapping. Then the judge charged him $19.50 for the lesson.

The fire melted virtually all of a $165,000 supply of 1954 automobile license plates being manufactured by inmates. State policemen carrying sub-machineguns took up stations along the prison walls and reinforced guards entered cell blocks to gas the prisoners into submission.

German Physician Claims Solving Eclampsia Riddle

By DELOS SMITH

United Press Science Editor NEW YORK (UP)—A German doctor teaching in the University of Tokyo believes he has solved the riddle of eclampsia, a body disorder that sometimes appears in pregnancy and now and then—in medical parlance—"terminates fatally" for the woman or her unborn child or both.

But an American doctor reported that there is as yet no satisfactory explanation for another of the chemical mysteries which appear in pregnancy. Why is it that women with rheumatoid arthritis usually show no sign nor symptoms of that disease while they are pregnant? It's a question begging for an answer.

If Prof. Herman Grauert, who is a physician as well as a biochemist, has unraveled eclampsia, he will be a benefactor of woman-kind and of medicine. Its incidence is not high. It may be mild or severe. But it is always dangerous.

Grauert said he could produce "an absolute cure" in every case, and without "terminating the pregnancy" for harming the unborn child. He was reporting in Tokyo University's Journal of Experimental Medicine. From his report, doctors everywhere will try out his assertions. Time will tell if he's right.

The cause of eclampsia has been speculative. Grauert said it was prussic acid (hydrocyanic acid) poisoning, which originates in the embryo and floods into the maternal bloodstream, there producing the violent convulsions which are the hallmark of severe eclampsia.

In the normal course of metabolism — that basic chemical process by which the body builds simple chemical substances taken from its food into highly complex chemical substances, or reduces complex substances into simple ones—there appear highly poisonous cyanic combinations he said.

Normally these combinations are neutralized instantly by hydrogen-sulfur compounds and turned into non-toxic salts. Eclampsia, he continued, resulted from the failure of the embryo to neutralize. The poison overwhelms the maternal metabolism which fails to produce enough of the hydrogen-sulfur compounds. He said injections of sodium-thiosulfate in combination with cobalt-oxyl-nitrate were an un-failing antidote.

Dr. John Lansburg of Temple University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, reported on the "anti-rheumatic factor" of pregnancy in "The Bulletin of Rheumatic Diseases" of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Presumably the chemical or chemicals generated by pregnancy which make pregnant women immune to the disease for the duration of pregnancy, might produce the same dramatic end in males and non-pregnant women. But before medical science can test this presumption, it will have to identify the chemical or chemicals.

"There is at present no substance commercially available derived from the pregnant woman which has any established effect on rheumatoid arthritis," he said.

He thought it possible there might be one available some day—or, at least, the continued search for the chemical or chemicals was "justified."

Newsmen Found Guilty Of Contempt Of Court

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—The city editor, a reporter and a photographer of the Cleveland Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, were found guilty of contempt of court Wednesday for violation of an arraignment last month.

The defendants were Louis Clifford, press city editor; reporter Sam Giaino; and photographer James Thomas. Clifford was fined $500 and costs by Common Pleas Judge Joseph H. Silbert and held in custody of the sheriff one hour. Giaino and Thomas each were fined $100, but Thomas' sentence was suspended.

The case grew out of the Aug. 20 arraignment of one-time Probate Judge Nelson J. Brewer, charged with embezzling from the estate of a mentally ill war veteran, Silbert, who conducted the arraignment, ordered before the hearing that no photographs were to be taken. The press contended that Silbert's order was not binding, inasmuch as it was an agreement with Brewer to save him embarrassment.

Attorney Tom J. Edwards said in defense of the "picture-taking episode": "Trials are public and what happens is of public interest. Those who are present can distinguish what they see and hear with impunity. Evidence in the law shows that the court cannot suppress the right of the people to know."

Silbert's citation charged the three defendants with transgressing "the dignity and honor of the court and obstructing the administration of justice."

Silbert's citation was based on section 35 of the American Bar Association's canons of judicial ethics which forbids picture-taking in courtrooms.

Edwards said he would appeal the verdict. The three defendants were released under personal bond.

Piece Of Gum Is Bookie's Defeat

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A stick of gum was evidence in a charge of registering bets on the speed of a horse.

Police testified in introducing the piece of gum as evidence that the bookie wrote customers' plays on gum and if approached by police put it in his mouth and began chewing.

He wasn't fast enough police said, and inspector Duncan MacNeil grabbed the gum before the bookie could do away with the damaging evidence. It cost the bookie a $50 fine — plus the stick of gum.

Boy Goes All Out To Help Indians

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—American Indians may never have heard of Peter Sindell, but he's up to his 10-year-old neck in efforts to help them.

An off-hand remark by a camp counselor five years ago started Peter off on his quest to learn more about this country's natives. Now he is well known to Indian Bureau officials who have sent him official releases and advised him on how he can help. The department suggested he might ask missions and schools on the reservations about other assistance. They also sent him charts, maps and pamphlets.

Now Peter has organized and is writing a book.

"I'm going to call my group the Indian Help Association," he said. "The name of the book will be 'Did You Know About Indians?'" and will be designed to clear up mistaken ideas. Profits from the books will go toward Indian projects, such as books and school materials for reservation schools.

Peter also has set up a monthly newsletter and has 18 subscribers.

"I'm going to study and be a doctor and help the Indians," he said.

Peter's parents, Attorney Theodore Sindell and his wife, Mildred, are content with his avocation and ambition.

Mrs. Sindell sighs sometimes, though, when she sees the heap-up Indian souvenirs and relics in her son's room.

This demonstration was worth many hundreds of dollars to me!

I thought only a higher-priced car would suit me. But then I found out how much more Chevrolet offered for how much less!

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel
Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the rich-looking upholstery and appointments and roomy, comfortable seats. Just turn the ignition key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You get more power on less gas
Here's all the power and performance you could ever ask for. And along with it comes the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history! That's because of Chevrolet's two great high-compression engines.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*
Finer performance on less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

Even Power Steering, if you want it
You ought to try Power Steering to see how easy driving can be. You can spin the wheel with one finger! It's optional, of course, at extra cost, and available on all models.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops
An easy nudge on the brake pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet brakes are the largest in the low-price field—extra large for extra stopping power.

It's heavier for better roadability
You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady ride. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than other low-priced cars.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

U.S. Army Might Shift Far East Base From Tokyo

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO (U.P.) — The United States may move its Far East military headquarters from Tokyo to Okinawa, it has been learned from reliable sources.

Japanese people have been good. Most of the trouble has resulted from the behavior of troops from Korea here for short leaves. And there is another point. Many Japanese dislike the idea of their nation being used as a base of operation by foreign troops engaged in duties elsewhere.

Okinawa Built Up
"The basic idea," one State Department official said, "is to eliminate as many American military establishments here as we can and keep only those which have a mission to accomplish in the direct interest of Japan."

Since the end of World War II, the United States has spent millions of dollars building up Okinawa. Construction work of all types still is being pushed.

Once Okinawa was so terrible that nobody wanted to serve there. Today, conditions are greatly improved. American dollars have practically remade the island. Typhoon-proof office buildings and homes have replaced the tin shacks and tents. Many of the officers and men now have their families with them.

Strategically, Okinawa is well located. It could serve well as a Far East GHQ in case of war.

There are several reasons for making the move, but one very important factor is to improve U.S.-Japan relations. U.S. ambassador John Allison is diplomatically quiet on the point, but some lesser State Department officials make no secret of their desire to see the transfer take place as soon as possible.

With the Korean armistice signed and with Japan no longer serving as the big staging base for a hot war, many persons argue there is no need for keeping the United Nations Command here. There have been rumors that it would move to Korea.

Okinawa Logical Place
With Japan again a sovereign nation and with the Korean war stopped, many persons say there is no real reason for the U.S. Far East Command to remain here. American-held and strongly fortified Okinawa is most frequently named as the most logical place for it.

Because of the unavoidable friction between foreign troops and the Japanese, State Department officials would like to see American troops in Japan limited to those serving there as security forces. They are here by treaty with Japan—here at Japan's request to protect this island nation until Japanese security forces can handle the job alone.

Considered as a whole, relations between American troops and the

Pay Raise Runs Into Opposition

JERUSALEM (Israel) (AP) — Israel Parliament members of the Social democratic labor party "Mapai" had it their own way when collecting their allowances for the past month. When the cashier paid them fifty-four Israel pounds more than usual because the House Committee had approved an increase in their representation fees and travel expenses, the Mapai deputies said "No" and returned the money. The State budget is big enough anyhow, they thought. Deputies of other factions disagreed with the gesture. They felt entitled to accept the raise.

New Students Sign On The Dotted Line

Operation Sign-on-the-Dotted-Line occupied freshmen at East Carolina Tuesday and Wednesday as they enrolled for fall-quarter courses. Faculty members of the business education department seem to be doing a big day's work as new students crowd forward to put their names on class rolls. Upperclassmen are registering for work today. Enrollment for the fall quarter is expected to be the largest ever at East Carolina.

Britain Charges Launch Shelled In Open Waters

HONG KONG (UP)—Great Britain charged today the shelling of a Royal Navy launch by a Chinese Communist ship Wednesday took place "in international waters."

A navy announcement raised the casualty toll to seven killed—six British sailors and a member of the Hong Kong defense force. Five crew members were injured.

The launch which the British said was "damaged" was brought into a navy dockyard at Hong Kong. Newsmen and photographers were not permitted near it.

British authorities also refused to permit interviews with either survivors or rescuers.

A Royal Navy spokesman said no further information would be given out for the time being because of "the political nature of the thing."

The British announcement said the shelling occurred "about seven miles southwest of Lintin Island" in the Pearl River estuary between Hong Kong and the Portuguese colony of Macau.

Recently the estuary has been the scene of stepped up activity with the Communist promotion of Lap Sap Mei Island as a transshipment point for the trade in

Seeks 200 Pickers For County Cotton

The local employment office is currently seeking the services of 200 cotton pickers to harvest the cotton crop now in Pitt County fields.

Doug Taylor, spokesman for the farm employment program this morning said that he has on hand orders calling for 200 cotton pickers now.

"The workers are here, it is just a matter of rounding them up," Taylor said.

Taylor stated however, that he does not figure the need for farm labor as being an indication that the situation is severe, but rather a fact that local farmers want to harvest their crop before it rains or becomes damaged by wind.

"We are trying not to bring in outside labor to work in the county as we have done in past years" Taylor stated.

However, in the event that the needed workers do not show up in time to harvest the crop, Taylor pointed out that he was sure he would be able to bring in a supply of farm workers to harvest the 1953 crop.

Any interested persons are asked to go by the office of the Employment Commission and apply.

Front-Running Entry Once Victim Of Polio

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—Polio, mean as it is, was no handicap for pretty Anne Lee Ceglia, Miss Virginia who as of now is a front-runner in the Miss America contest.

Anne, with the light brown hair and flashing green eyes, shared honors in the first night of preliminary judging with Miss Pennsylvania, Evelyn Margaret Ay, who caught the eyes of the critical judges when she appeared in a white number in the swim suit section of the contest.

Having polio did not do any harm to little Anne's qualifications. She's proper height—five feet, five and a half. She has a 36 bust, 36 hips and measures 24 inches about the middle.

Anne and Evelyn took a short lead on the other 50 contestants, and Anne got her trophy in the all-important talent division. She brought down the first night house when she turned her soprano loose on "O Mio Babbino Caro," a difficult number by Puccini.

But getting back to the polio. Anne awoke one morning a few years ago with the miseries. It was what her doctor thought it was and polio left her with partial paralysis of one leg. The doctors did what they could and the plucky little gal from Norfolk took over from there. She massaged her leg, she swam and she cut capers on the dance floor. You would not know she ever had any misery today.

Miss Ay wasn't behind the cabinet when the measurements were passed out, either. She's an ash blonde, whatever that is, and also has green eyes. She is five-eight, bust 37, hips 36, waist 24 and stretches the scale springs to 132. When it comes time for her to display her talent she will give her best to a dramatic reading.

Some of the same is in store tonight. One-third of the kids will parade in bathing gear, the rest will show what talent they have or compete in floor-length gowns.

On Saturday night $25,000 in scholarships will be parceled out to the winners, with the plum of $5,000 to Miss America of 1954.

Association Will Meet In Kinston

Caswell Training School Auditorium in Kinston will be the scene of a district meeting of the North Carolina Association of Parents and Friends of Mentally Retarded Children this coming Sunday at 3 p.m., announced District 15 Chairman Mrs. Stella T. Joyce this morning.

According to the announcement of the meeting, all interested in the welfare of retarded children are cordially invited to attend. Membership fee in the group is $1 yearly.

Drivers Warned Of Speed Trap

DAVENPORT, Ia. (UP)—Police were puzzled Wednesday when hours passed without a violation being recorded on the electronic speed analyzer they had set up in a Davenport residential area.

They discovered that two blocks ahead of the detecting device a cardboard sign had been propped up on broomsticks. It read: "Caution. Speed trap ahead."

ROADMASTER

CUSTOM BUILT BY BUICK

TO you who have yet to drive a 1953 Buick ROADMASTER, we have this to say:

There is waiting for you at the wheel of this car a tremendously satisfying experience—the most magnificent Buick motoring experience of the past half century.

We say this as a matter of straight and simple fact.

For in this automobile—the smoothest-riding, the most maneuverable, and the most instantly responsive ROADMASTER in history—is an engine unlike any other in the world, plus an automatic transmission of similar uniqueness.

Here, you command the first Fireball V8 Engine—the world's first V8 with vertical valves—the modern and advanced V8 with the highest horsepower ever placed in a Buick, and the highest compression on the American scene today.

Here, you command distance through the liquid grace of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—where getaway response is instant and quiet, and power build-up is infinitely, utterly smooth.

Here too, you take a new step forward in fine-car motoring—in the luxury of your ride, the luxury of your surroundings, the luxury of your control, with Power Steering standard equipment at no extra cost.

We can give you the details, the reasons, the facts.

But—wouldn't you rather learn the sum total of such things in a road sampling of the greatest ROADMASTER yet built?

We'll be happy to arrange matters. Why not visit us soon?

* Available at additional cost on Roadmaster and Super models only.  Optional at extra cost in Super and Roadmaster Sedan and Riviera models.

Ancient Drug Lore Is Valuable Today

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Medicine is a dynamic modern science, yet magic, primitive superstition and hand-me-down drug lore from ages past make up one of its more important branches—pharmacognosy.

Sales Boom For Kinsey's Book

NEW YORK (UP)—Book dealers across the nation reported today that Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior of the Human Female" was selling like hotcakes.

The book was enjoying brisk sales despite an $8 price tag and the storm of criticism which broke when excerpts and summaries of it were published three weeks ago.

Interest in the book, which compiles the results of interviewing equal numbers of men and women, dealers at St. Louis, Mo., and Washington, D.C., reported a heavy feminine interest, but a New York chain said more men were asking for copies than women.

A bookstore near Indiana University at Bloomington, Ind., had 1,000 autographed copies of the new book on its shelves. The store, with exclusive rights to copies signed by the author, reported brisk sales.

In some areas, however, the new Kinsey report was unavailable. Not far from the university bookstore in Bloomington, dealer J. O. Henderson kept the book off his shelves.

"We're not going to bother with it," he said.

In Boston, traditional center of book-banning, dealers reported an "unusual demand" for the Kinsey report.

use of drug plants. The science, besides putting to modern use drugs known to Hippocrates, Galen, Paracelsus and the early physicians, incorporates techniques used by witch doctors and shamans of uncivilized peoples.

Iodine, common as anything around the average house, has an ancient history. Priest-doctors of Assyria treated wounds with sea kelp, and goiter with burnt sponge both are rich in iodine and are used for the same purposes today.

All Reports Checked
To the present day, centuries-old superstitions about the medical properties of certain herbs have been common. With the progress of science, many of these remedies were found to be worthless, yet others have been found to contain solid substance.

Thirteenth-century Welshmen used the foxglove plant, which contains digitalis, for heart disorders. Ancient Egypt was acquainted with opium, henbane, peppermint, and castor oil. Ephedrine, a drug used for treating colds, asthma, and hay fever, comes from a plant used in China for nearly 5,000 years.

Aborigines have made many contributions to medicine still in use. The American Indian discovered the use of cascara, and recognized the healing properties in wild parsnip, later discovered to contain a drug active against pneumonia and meningitis. South American Indians gave science quinine and curare, a muscle relaxer.

Pharmacognosists seriously regard reports of strange or primitive cures. They could lead to important medical discoveries, no matter how fantastic they seem.

GARNETT, Kan. (UP)—When a Garnett car dealer took a trade-in, he got a tan terrier in the deal. The dog figured the old car was his and persisted in returning to it every time his owners took him home in the new automobile.

Kansas Town To Stage Big Show Marking Oil Find

RUSSELL, Kan. (U.P.)—A successful oil gamble that transformed central and western Kansas from an area of sometimes marginal agricultural production into a singular agricultural production into one with a multi-million dollar industrial economy will be commemorated Sept. 10-12.

The show, "Three Decades of Derricks," is Kansas' single oil exposition of the year.

The wildcat well for the mammoth producing area was brought in Thanksgiving Day, 1923. It was 150 miles from the nearest oil production.

The Carrie Oswald No. 1, near Fairport, northwest of Russell, is still producing—a 30-year-well and going strong.

A plaque will be dedicated at the well.

Discovery of oil in Russell county electrified the mid-continent area three decades ago. Within a few days, this area was swarming with oilmen seeking land leases. Farmers who had been faced with mortgages they could not pay suddenly found themselves able to buy luxuries they had never dreamed of owning. The "black gold" under their land became, by far, their best crop.

Highlights of the show will include the largest parade ever held in this city of 7,000, a free barbecue stag for 5,000 oilmen, nightly entertainment by top national talent, oil field displays worth millions of dollars and dedication of the pioneer well plaque.

Top government and oil industry men will be here. Kansas' Gov. Edward F. Arn and U.S. Sens. Andrew F. Schoepel and Frank Carlson will be among them.

The success story of the Carrie Oswald No. 1 is also the story of seven men who achieved fame as well as fortune in plunging the well into the dusty prairie.

Dubbed the "Lucky Seven" were

C.W. Shaffer and J.E. Missimer, Russell bankers; A.E. Seeley, rancher and oil operator; Charles E. Hall, real estate man; J.H. and Frank Liggett, southern Kansas ranchers and oil operators, and the Stearns and Streeter Oil Co. of Wichita.

TRIPLE CHECK
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (U.P.)—Indiana pulled a $646.51 boner when it mailed a veteran's bonus to Denver Riley, Indianapolis. In the envelope were three checks totaling $613.51—two of which were made out to other veterans. Riley turned them over to their rightful owners and cashed his own check—worth $267.

NANCY CARTER Tested RECIPES

COLLEGE FUDGE BARS
(Perfect to mail to college students)

1/3 cup Nutreat Margarine or Trianglet Butter
2 Pick of the Nest Eggs
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup broken out meats

1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon double-action baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 squares unsweetened chocolate

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Melt chocolate and add margarine mix well. Beat eggs, add sugar gradually, beating thoroughly. Add chocolate mixture and blend. Fold in flour. Add milk, vanilla, and nuts. Mix and turn into a greased pan, 8x8x2-inches. Bake in a slow oven, 325 degrees, 45 minutes or until done. Cool and cut into 16 bars. Frost with this icing:

BITTERSWEET ICING: Melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cool slightly. Mix 1/3 cup sugar with 4 tablespoons water and boil only 1/2 minute. Cool until lukewarm; add slowly to chocolate and stir until blended. When thickened frost cookies.

Firemen Out On Picnic Alarm Wasn't Heard

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The fire siren in nearby Harrison Township screamed and screamed and screamed. The township firemen didn't hear it. They were picnicking. Their host had assured them he could hear the fire siren at his home. Too, he added, there was always the telephone. They even got a stand-in dispatcher so the regular dispatcher could go to the picnic. Came the report of a grass fire. The temporary dispatcher tried the host's telephone. No answer. He tried the siren. "Everyone in the township except the firemen—heard it. To make it worse, the fill-in dispatcher couldn't get the siren turned off. Finally, he got the firemen from the neighboring township to damage the fire. They reported: "No sound."

Tarboro Band Among Four Featured In Long Parade

Followed by the eyes of the crowd and the eye of the camera, drum majorettes of the Tarboro High School Band march north along Evans Street in yesterday's Farmers Day parade here in Greenville. The Tarboro band was one of four in the event providing marching music for the floats, automobiles, farm machinery and other units passing by. Large crowds viewed the parade, part of the fifth annual Farmers Tobacco Festival. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Wednesday's Parade Drew Thousands Of Spectators

Part of the-crowds which lined downtown Greenville streets is shown here just before the Farmers Day parade passed by yesterday. The arrow street marker at 5 Points shows the direction of the parade's route, which began at 10th and Dickinson and ended at the National Guard Armory on Evans Street. Winning floats in the march were the 4H Club, the Home Demonstration Club, and the Lions Club. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Tobacco Prices Reach New High For Season

RALEIGH (UP)—New season high price averages for flue-cured tobacco were set on the Eastern, Border and South Carolina belts with the opening of sales this week, and average prices moved slightly higher at Eastern markets while holding steady in the other two belts yesterday.

Decreases of $1 to $4 per hundred pounds were reported on the Middle and Sandhills markets, although top quality grades held firm and companies paid $70 per hundred more frequently for these grades than on Tuesday.

Middle Belt volume was light at most markets. Gross sales at the five markets which opened Tuesday totaled 2,358,724 pounds at an average price of $54.68 per hundred. This was $2.72 higher than on opening day of 1952.

Volume continued heavy on the Border and South Carolina belts although a larger number of markets cleared the floors.

Leaf grades showed changes of $1 and $2 per hundred with more losses than gains. Lower quality lugs sold for slightly higher average prices and other offerings were mostly unchanged.

Overall quality was about the same. A larger proportion of nondescript was marketed but the percentage of fair and good cutters increased.

A new season high was set Tuesday when 10,865,833 pounds sold for a $60.56 per hundred average. This was $2.09 above Friday's figure and $1.11 over the previous high set Aug. 31.

Increases of mostly $1 were reported yesterday. Volume was heavy at most markets and some were still blocked. Offerings of poor leaf and nondescript showed a small increase in proportion. Bulk of sales was low to good leaf, fair lugs and nondescript.

Shocked By Trip Into Slum Area

CHICAGO (UP)—Coroner Walter McCarron, shocked by a visit to a slum tenement he said was a death-trap housing more than 2,000 persons, today threatened to subpoena Chicago's mayor and other top officials to an investigation.

McCarron said he discovered the "unbelievably shocking" tenement building yesterday while investigating a slum fire that killed 18 persons on Labor Day.

He said he will call Mayor Martin Kennelly and other officials to a hearing Monday and demand they explain why fire-trap housing is allowed to stand here.

When the coroner came away from the teeming seven-story tenement yesterday he said he "never before saw such hazardous and unsanitary housing conditions."

"I understand there are 10,000 more buildings like it," McCarron said.

The building was not far from the four-story building gutted by the Labor Day fire. Both are in Negro neighborhoods.

McCarron said he was told that from 2,000 to 2,500 persons lived in the seven-story building, with several families in some rooms where apartments were marked out with chalk on the floors.

He said that he and members of the coroner's jury could feel the seventh floor sway under their weight as they walked over it.

Failed To Avert Crash Into Home

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP)—Two Air Force pilots told today how they tried but failed to keep their stalled jet training plane from crashing into a home and causing the death of a 46-year-old grandmother.

Mrs. Phyllis O'Kray died last night of injuries suffered when the T-33 training version of Lockheed's F-80 Shooting Star crashed into the home a few hours earlier.

Two other occupants of the residence were injured but the two pilots, Capt. Samuel Fant, 34, the pilot, and Capt. Howard Rhodes, 30, walked away from the crash unhurt.

They said they were coming in for a landing at a San Fernando Valley airport when a "flameout" caused the plane to stall.

Eyewitnesses said the pilots deliberately nosed the plane toward a vacant lot, but that it bounced over a road and into the home of retired fireman John Chandler, 35.

Chandler and his wife, Helen, 28, were injured by debris.

The plane bolted through the living room and dining room of the home and shot out into the backyard where it struck Mrs. O'Kray.

Pravda said the Legion's platform was used for the most serious insinuations against the peace camp and for praising the policy of American imperialist aggression.

MOSCOW (UP)—Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, denounced the American Legion as a "brazen burglar" today in an editorial on the Legion's recent convention in St. Louis.

Speeches made to the delegates by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson were criticized.

Pravda said the speeches and resolutions approved at the convention were aimed at fanning war hysteria in the United States.

Isn't it clear," Pravda asked, that Washington does not seek a peaceable means of solving international controversial questions but as before relies on a policy of force?"

"Daddy, lift me up so I can see!" may not be exactly what the young fellow is saying, but the idea is there just the same in this scene snapped during yesterday's Farmers Day parade through Greenville. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)
