Demos Rally For Chicago Meeting

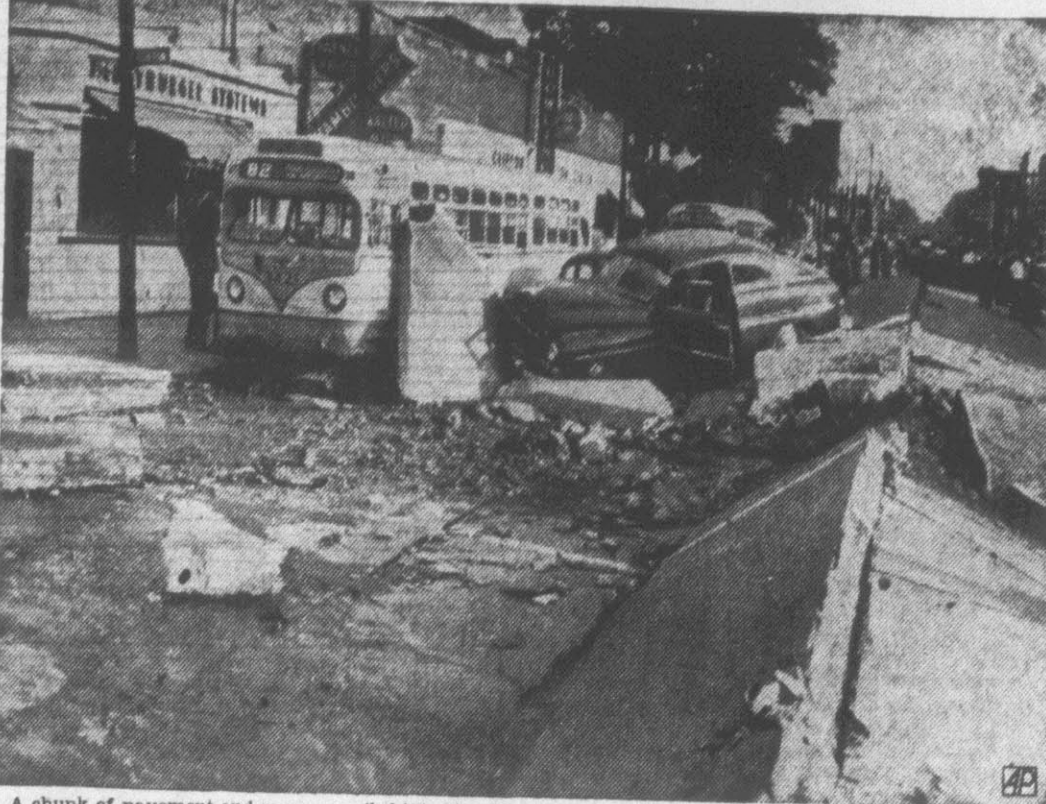

CHICAGO (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman and Democratic leaders from all but two states gathered today for the party's biggest conference since its landslide November defeat. The main purpose of the two-day get-together starting Monday was believed to be the healing of party wounds suffered during the 1952 election battle. However, party spokesmen said Mr. Truman might well take the occasion to get in some licks at the Eisenhower administration. It was also possible, spokesmen said, that he would make some political capital out of the resignation of Martin F. Durkin from the President's cabinet. Mr. Truman, scheduled to arrive today, will take the main share of the spotlight with a 12-minute speech at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner Monday night. The former president's speech will be televised nationally, along with addresses by Alabama Sen. John Sparkman, the Democrats' 1952 vice-presidential candidate, and other party leaders. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democrats' champion in the last election, was expected to offer only a brief speech at the dinner, even though he was one of the most dominating figures at the conference.

Jet Ace Is Said Held For 'Deal'

Communist Newsman Says Flier Held As Diplomatic Pawn By Reds

By WILLIAM MILLER United Press Staff Correspondent PANNUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The Communists today held Capt. Harold Fischer, a double jet ace shot down last spring, as a pawn for a possible diplomatic deal with the United States. Communist correspondent Wilfrid Burchett said the Reds downed the Swea City, Iowa, flier in the forbidden Manchurian sanctuary and he was not to be considered a prisoner of war. Fischer was shot down last April while trying to bag his 11th Russian-made MIG-15. "Fischer was shot down over the mainland of Manchuria, and therefore is not a prisoner of war," Burchett said. "Fischer is not a prisoner of war under the armistice agreement. In order to get him back, the United States will have to negotiate through diplomatic channels." Burchett, often an unofficial mouthpiece for the Communists, did not say whether the Chinese would attempt to use Fischer to bargain for admission of Red China to the United Nations. "If a Chinese airman bombed Mexico and crash-landed in the United States, he would not be classified as a prisoner of war," Burchett said. Communist China, Burchett emphasized, technically was not at war with the United States in Korea, even though Chinese land and air forces entered the conflict as "volunteers." The United States has demanded the return of 944 prisoners, including Fischer, whose capture was announced by Peiping radio shortly after he was reported missing in action. In another development today, the Communists accused the United States of kidnapping a Polish member of a neutral nations inspection team and demanded his return. Major Gen. M. Wagrowski, senior Polish delegate to the neutral nations supervisory commission, said American army officers in South Korea abducted interpreter Jan Hajdukiewicz on the pretext that he had asked for political asylum.

Scene After Sewer Explodes In Cleveland

A chunk of pavement and a car are piled into the side of a city bus after a mile-long explosion along West 117th street in Cleveland, O. At the right are pavement slabs tilted and pointed by the blast. At least 60 persons were injured, and one woman was killed. The cause of the explosion was not definitely determined immediately, but an official said that it was probably caused by an accumulation of sewer gases under the street. (AP Wirephoto)

Assert Churches Are 'Infiltrated'

By PAUL SOUTHWICK United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Communist Party officials have told the House Un-American Activities Committee that Communists infiltrated American churches with "great success." One witness, in sworn testimony released Friday night, said 600 American clergymen are "secret" Communists and between 3,000 and 4,000 are in the "fellow-traveling category." The testimony was taken in closed-door hearings in New York last July from four former party members. Joseph Zack Kornfeder who quit the party in 1934, told the committee that Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor emeritus at Union Theological Seminary in New York, was the "architect" of Communist infiltration of the churches. Ward replied from his home in Cliffside, N.J., that the charge was "completely false" and accused the committee of a "gross violation" of its rules by failing to inform him of the testimony. Benjamin Gitlow, who was ousted as general secretary of the Communist Party in 1929, said the Reds had been "highly successful" in penetrating the Methodist Church. The principal individuals involved in the Communist conspiracy to subvert the Methodist Church for Communist purposes are: Dr. Harry F. Ward, Rev. Jack R. McMichael, Rev. Charles Webber, Rev. Alison J. Smith, Dr. Willard Uphus, Margaret Forsyth, Rev. Lee H. Ball and Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch," he said. Uphus said at Conway, N.H., that "there is just no truth" in allegations he was involved in an attempt to "subvert" the Methodist Church. He said "I am positively not a Communist." McMichael who also was identified as a Communist, denied the charge in a subsequent open hearing in Washington. His testimony has been sent to the Justice Department for examination for possible perjury. McMichael was named as a Communist by Gow, Leonard Patterson, a New York shipyard worker and former Red, and Manning Johnson, a party member for 10 years and now employed by the Immigration and Naturalization Service in New York. Kornfeder said Red infiltration was aimed at all religions—Protestant, Jewish, Catholic and Moslem—but he said targets in the Catholic Church were laymen rather than priests. "The principal individuals in-

Many Air Force Men Unaccounted For By Captors

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department today identified 309 Air Force pilots and airmen believed captured but never accounted for by the Communists. Included on the list were Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., son of the former 8th Army commander, and double jet ace Capt. Harold E. Fischer, of Swea City, Iowa. With today's list, the Defense Department virtually completed the task of notifying the next of kin of 944 Americans. The total names published is still 27 short but a Defense Department spokesman said the remaining names required further cross-checking before next of kin could be notified. Van Fleet was reported missing in action in April, 1952 after piloting a B-26 bomber over North Korea. Today's list was the first public announcement that the young son of Gen. James A. Van Fleet may have been captured by the Communists. Fischer, who gained fame by shooting down 10 Red MIGs without using his radar gunsight, disappeared on April 7. The Communist radio reported two days later that the 27-year-old airman had been captured after being shot down north of the Yalu River. He was not returned by the Communists, however, despite the Red claim that all American prisoners desiring to go home had been repatriated. The large number of Air Force men on the latest list, coupled with the Red claim that Fischer was shot down over Manchuria, raised speculation that the Communists may be holding back some U. S. airmen on the grounds they had been captured in the "neutral" territory of Red China. Air Force circles feared that the Communists may contend they are "special" prisoners who can be released only through diplomatic channels.

Top Strategic Planner To Succeed General Clark 'Unknown' Will Negotiate

By JOHN W. FINNEY United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. John Edwin Hull, one of the Army's top strategic planners and atomic warfare experts, has been given the most difficult job of his military career—attempting to negotiate a Korean peace with the Communists. President Eisenhower bypassed big name generals Friday to pick the virtually unknown Hull to succeed Gen. Mark W. Clark as supreme Allied commander in the Far East. Hull, now Army vice chief of staff, will report in Tokyo about Oct. 1 for a period of briefing in his new job before Clark retires Oct. 31. As supreme commander also of United Nations forces in Korea, it will be the 58-year-old general's task to mastermind the negotiations with the Communists at the forthcoming Korean political conference. The soft-spoken general told a reporter he "appreciates the responsibilities and difficult problems ahead." He then added with a typical gesture of firmness, "I will give it all I've got to give." Hull, who was nearing the end of his military career after years of behind-the-scenes jobs, said he was "highly honored" to be designated Far Eastern commander and "to follow in the footsteps of such great leaders as Generals MacArthur, Clark and Ridgway." While unknown to the public generally, the burly, bald-headed Hull is one of the most loved and respected generals in the Army. He was "Ed" Hull who handled the Army's far-flung operations from the Pentagon command post during World War II as assistant chief of staff of operations. After World War II, Hull be-

Soviet Takes No Chance U.S. Will Seize Ships

WASHINGTON (UP)—State Department officials said today the Russians apparently are making sure the United States doesn't have a chance to seize the American lend-lease ships which the Soviet Union refuses to return. Officials said the 670 U.S.-owned vessels are in use by the Russians but are not permitted to touch American ports—apparently in fear this government will seize them. Undersecretary of State Walter B. Smith renewed the fruitless attempt to regain the ships Friday. He called in Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin and demanded to know what the Soviet Union intends to do about them. The United States sent nearly $11,000,000,000 worth of lend-lease material to Russia during World War II but is willing to close the account for return of all vessels and payment of $800,000,000 that is considered a fair settlement for some $2,000,000,000 worth of usable material remaining in Soviet hands at the end of the war. The Soviets have balked at returning the vessels and have offered to pay only $300,000,000 on the remaining debt. Zarubin, whose visit to the State Department was only the second in a year, promised to transmit Smith's request immediately to Moscow but made no other commitments.

McCarthy Claims Army Documents Red-Slanted Threatens New 'Exposures'

By ROBERT E. LEE United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today answered the Army's blast at him over a restricted Army document on Soviet Siberia with a threat to "expose" other material he said was "put out under Communist discipline." McCarthy said his Senate investigating subcommittee has a "sizeable number" of documents similar to the controversial one he showed reporters in photostat form Wednesday. The Army said Friday the Wisconsin Republican exhibited the pamphlet on the culture and psychology of Russians in Siberia while it was still classified "restricted" and thus subject to espionage laws. McCarthy announced Thursday that the document had been declassified after he had asked the Army for it. The Army replied that it was declassified as of 10 a.m. Thursday because McCarthy had made most of it public. McCarthy told reporters today the Siberia pamphlet was just a "sample" of others he had. He said he would give his full subcommittee all his information on Army documents and predicted a public airing of his charges that they are "Communist propaganda" would follow. He said he would prefer that the Army "cooperate" in "exposing" those responsible for the documents but added: "If they're going to try to hide the people responsible, I have no choice but to go ahead and expose it publicly." McCarthy said he wouldn't let the Army "hide any Communist propaganda or any Communists behind a label of 'restricted.'" The Army statement said the last five pages of the 75-page document knocked down McCarthy's charges that it was "95 per cent Communist propaganda." The Army said the charge "is refuted by a reading of the entire document, particularly the conclusion." The conclusion, which McCarthy did not show reporters, pointed out among other things that the Soviet citizen is "a helpless prisoner of a slave state." McCarthy and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) conducted an open subcommittee hearing Friday shortly before the Army's reply to his charges. At the hearing, John Lautner, a former Communist leader in New York who now works for the Justice Department, testified that the United Nations is a "perfect setup" for information trading among American Reds and U.N. delegates from Communist countries. Under questioning by McCarthy, Lautner described a Joel Remes as a "high official of the Communist Party." McCarthy said Remes is employed by the Polish delegation to the U.N. Lautner said if this was so, he is there "on a party assignment."

Miss America Choice Still Anybody's Guess

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—There have been six preliminary winners so far in the Miss America contest, but it still is anybody's guess who among the 52 contestants will win out in tonight's final competition. Several judges have hinted broadly it might be worthwhile to watch the shapely misses from Oregon, Missouri, Delaware, California and Ohio. But none seems very sure. The girl who gets crowned tonight as most beautiful in the nation will have to rate highest overall in three classes—talent, bathing suit and evening dress. She also will have to impress the judges with her poise, conversational ability and charm. There were two preliminary winners Friday night—Miss California and Miss Delaware. Patricia Ann Johns, the California representative from Fresno, showed off to good advantage in a white bathing suit tucked around a 36 bust and 34 hips. Those measurements may visit the golden brown-haired beauty since the hips are supposed to match the bust in the perfect woman. But who ever heard of a perfect woman? Lois Ann Alava, Delaware's contribution, won Friday night's talent division, with a piano rendition of the cadenza from Grieg's "Concerto in A Minor." The winners in the evening dress category are never announced. Other preliminary winners so far are Miss Pennsylvania, Evelyn Ay, and Miss Wyoming Elaine Holkenbrink in the bathing suit category; and Miss Virginia, Anne Ogilis, and Miss South Dakota, Delores Jerde, in the talent division.

Seek $51,000 In Railroad Suits

The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company has been named defendant in two suits totaling $51,000 recently filed with the clerk of Pitt Superior Court. Plaintiffs in the suits are Roy C. James and his wife, Peggy W. James. The suits are an outgrowth of a truck-train collision on the Belvoir road just east of the Pitt prison camp which occurred last December 30. James, in his suit against the railroad company, seeks $25,000 damages for personal injuries received in the collision plus $1,500 damages for the truck he was driving at the time of the collision, which the action alleges was demolished. Mrs. James, in her suit against the railroad company, is seeking $25,000 damage for injuries allegedly received in the collision.

Hurricane Does Little Damage Hitting Bermuda

MIAMI (UP)—Hurricane Dolly lost her powerful punch today as she passed over Bermuda on the way to the open Atlantic. The Miami weather bureau said the calm "eye" of the storm, which had been packing winds up to 100 miles an hour, reached the capital city of Hamilton at 12:30 a.m. EST. At that time, the Bermuda station reported that maximum winds had slowed down to 47 miles per hour. At 3:45 a.m., they were gauged at a normal 15 miles per hour. As the hurricane headed in a northeasterly direction toward the open sea with nothing in its path, it began gaining speed.

Mother Of Nine

Eighth Million Dollar Tobacco Sale Day Recorded Here Friday

Steadily increasing price levels and continued heavy volume drove daily amounts of tobacco sales to new highs here late this week, as the 1953 bumper year record of seven million dollar days was eclipsed yesterday when the eighth such day was officially recorded. Sales Supervisor W. L. Wheelers this morning announced figures for sales of Thursday and Friday of this week, both days totaling above the million mark. Thursday's Sales Gross—1,858,242 pounds for $1,068,919.13; average $57.52 per hundred. Friday's Sales Gross—1,746,590 pounds for $1,029,844.19; average $58.55 per hundred. Yesterday's Sales Gross—1,944,820 pounds for $1,130,416.04; average $58.12 per hundred. Producers—1,801,532 pounds for $1,069,984.66; average $59.39 per hundred. Tips remained predominant in sales this week but are expected to gradually give way to better grades next week. More smoking leaf and cutter grades are present, raising price levels. Practical tops was close to $70-$71 late this week, with some warehouses averaging over $60 per hundred on their entire sale. Farmville Sales Yesterday's Sales—788,432 pounds for $443,287.14; average $56.22 per hundred. Week's Sales—3,084,100 pounds averaging $54.80 per hundred. Season's Total Sales—10,712,636 pounds averaging $53.78 per hundred in comparison with the 1952 totals at the same stage of the market of 8,215,400 pounds averaging $50.86 per hundred. A larger percentage of smoking leaf and cutters was noticed in sales late this week. Sales Monday are expected full, according to Sales Supervisor Fred Moore.

ECC Foundation Becomes Incorporated; Would Raise $100,000 Endowment

The East Carolina College Foundation has just been incorporated by the Secretary of State in Raleigh. The Foundation has the purpose of raising a $100,000 endowment fund, income from which is to be used to provide scholarships at the college. Incorporators are Arthur Tyler of Rocky Mount, Dr. Lewis Swindell of Washington, Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, and President John D. Messick and Business Manager F.D. Duncan of East Carolina College. The East Carolina College Foundation is similar in its purpose to the Pitt County Foundation, which was begun in 1952 with the goal of raising a $100,000 endowment fund for scholarships for East Carolina students. To date, approximately $40,000 of this amount has been subscribed, and indications are that the remainder will be obtained before the end of 1953. President Messick stated here this week that East Carolina needs endowment funds to provide scholarships for young people who have ambition and ability but who are financially unable to attend college. Prior to the beginning of the 1953-1954 term, he explained, applications for self-help and scholarship were received from 510 students. The college was able to help only 214 of these, Dr. Messick said. Forty of the applicants received scholarships, and 174 were given self-help positions which enable them to earn part of their fees. "This," Dr. Messick continued, "leaves 296 applicants whom we have not been able to help—promising young people who may never get the education they need, want, and deserve." Applications for help would have been greater in number, he further explained, if it had not been well known that all scholarships were taken.

White House Now Considering Likely Durkin Successor

By ALAN ADAMS United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—White House officials are considering Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and former Dean Clarence Manion of the Notre Dame law school as possible successors to Martin Durkin as secretary of labor, informed sources reported today. The sources emphasized, however, that many other persons would be considered before a final decision is made. Driscoll is not seeking re-election this year and Manion is a well-known expert in labor law. Durkin's sudden resignation left bitter feelings among union leaders even though Durkin himself appeared to take it calmly. The 59-year-old mild-mannered Irishman was due in Chicago today to discuss union business as head of the AFL plumbers—A job he returned to Friday morning. The CIO auto workers union executive board passed a resolution charging that Durkin's resignation showed the nation that "There is no place in the big business-dominated Washington scene today for the voice of the working man and the policies of organized labor." Meanwhile Americans for Democratic Action charged that the resignation "demonstrates very clearly the obedience of the Eisenhower administration to the anti-labor bias of those big business interests who would like to shake the American trade union movement." The ADA's 1953 political "wish" on agreements reached with Durkin "under pressure from anti-labor spokesmen." Durkin said he resigned because White House aides had reneged on a promise to support his proposed changes in the Taft-Hartley Act. One top labor official said "this is a complete break." He asserted that labor would speak out "in double doses" at the national AFL convention opening in St. Louis Sept. 21.

Wreck Near New Bern Kills Four; Four Injured

WRECK 11N F912a Sept. 12 NEW BERN (UP)—A highway wreck near here killed four men and injured four servicemen yesterday. The dead were listed as Edwin R. Swinburne, 40, of Falls Church, Va., a sailor attached to the USS Tusk at Portsmouth, N.H.; Paul L. Volkmer, 22, a Cherry Point Marine from Bucyrus, O.; Swenson W. Gilmer, 25, a student of Virginia Polytechnic Institute from London Bridge, Va.; and Darrell E. Fondelle, a sailor stationed at Cherry Point. Highway Patrolman H.G. Willard said a southbound car, apparently driven by Swinburne, ran off the pavement onto the right shoulder and swerved back onto the highway into the path of an oncoming car driven by Volkmer. Swinburne and Gilmer were dead on arrival at a hospital here. Volkmer and Fondelle died about three hours after the collision. Gilmer apparently was a hitchhiker, police said. His only identification was a class ring and a letter written to him by Miss Jeanette Bateman of Wilmington, N.C. She said Gilmer had planned to visit her this weekend. Two servicemen riding in the car with Swinburne and Gilmer were hospitalized at Camp Lejeune, and two Marines were admitted to the Cherry Point dispensary. They were passengers in Volkmer's car.

Actress Denies Any Communist Support

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Lucille Ball, television's top actress, maintained today she registered to vote as a Communist in a 1936 primary election only to please her Socialist grandfather. But the red-haired comedienne, star of the "I Love Lucy" show, denied ever joining the Communist Party or ever casting a ballot for a Communist candidate. Rep. Donald Jackson (R-Calif.) agreed there is no indication that Miss Ball ever was a member of the Communist Party. Jackson disclosed Friday that an investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee, of which he is a member, had taken testimony from the actress. "Miss Ball has cooperated with the committee investigator in all respects, Jackson said. "She has acknowledged her Communist Party registration. Jackson said, nevertheless, the committee plans to continue investigating Miss Ball's case because "no case is ever closed." The actress had this to say about her link with the Communist Party: "I explained that the reason I did it was because my grandfather wanted me to. At that time, it didn't seem at all wrong to my and please him. "It was his last few years. He had always been a Socialist... we registered... my mother, brother and myself. That was all there was to it. I never voted myself... and 17 years later they present me with this." Her husband, Desi Arnaz, who stars with her on the television show, also denied his wife had ever been a member of the Communist Party. "She was never a party member or held a card," Arnaz said. "She never belonged to any front organization or any committee."

Two Breweries Increase Prices

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)—Two of Milwaukee's biggest breweries have hiked the wholesale price of beer as much as 27 cents a case and $1.50 a barrel, it was reported today. Pabst yesterday increased its price of case beer 15 to 16 cents for bottles and cans. Schlitz was also reported to have raised its wholesale price, but the report could not be confirmed.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Aldermen a motion was adopted directing the mayor to have all city property, including buildings and grounds, school buildings and parks, paved streets, water and gas mains etc., appraised.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker left yesterday for Windsor to join in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Mrs. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Davis.

Misses Virginia King, Frances Taft and Elizabeth Gaskins left this morning for Greensboro where they will attend school.

What is reported as a complete compilation of the dead, injured and missing in the disaster following the series of earthquakes and tidal waves in Japan is now figured at 1,366,749. It is also estimated that more than 300,000 houses were destroyed.

The Greenville Girl Scout Council is looking forward to a visit from Miss Dorothy Kirkpatrick who is a member of the National Field Staff for Region VI, with headquarters in Atlanta. Miss Kirkpatrick will appraise the work of the Council to date and will help formulate plans for the coming year. She visited Camp Hardee during the past season and impressed campers and staff alike with her enthusiasm and capability.

Miss Kirkpatrick will arrive in Greenville on Sunday, September 13, and will confer with individual Council members on Monday. That evening she will attend the regular meeting of the Girl Scout Council. Tuesday morning she will meet with the white troop leaders at 10 o'clock at the Rotary Club, and on Tuesday afternoon she will meet the colored troop leaders at Eppes High School.

With Miss Kirkpatrick's help, the Council hopes to make this a banner year for Girl Scouts in Greenville.

Joint Hostesses Compliment Bride

Vanceboro—Mrs. R. S. Lancaster and Mrs. B. L. Witherington complimented Mrs. James Woodall of Raleigh, with a linen shower at the home of Mrs. Lancaster, on College Avenue Tuesday night. Mrs. Woodall, a recent bride, was the former Miss Ann Peterson of Vanceboro and Winston-Salem.

Upon arrival, Mrs. Woodall, Mrs. J. L. Peterson, the honoree's mother, and Miss Grace Peterson an aunt of the honoree were presented corsages of tuberoses and fern tied with silver and white ribbons and miniature wedding bells.

Following a bridal contest, Mrs. Woodall and guests were taken into the breakfast nook. Here the gifts were arranged on a table beneath a green and yellow umbrella from which were suspended sprays of clematis and fern. Mrs. F. B. Lancaster, Jr. another recent bride also received a gift of linen.

The dining table was covered with a back ground of white tapers in silver holders was placed on a white umbrella from which sprays of clematis tied with wedding bells in graduated sizes formed the decorations.

Refreshments of ice cream petite fours, cashew nuts and bridal cake were served the honoree and approximately twenty-five guests.

During the business session the members were urged to visit the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Louise Harris gave the card report and a continuing fund was taken. "Our Neighbors" was the subject of the devotional meditation inspiring given by Mrs. L. E. Turnage.

In the meditation Mrs. Turnage pointed out the many ways God can be served through neighbors.

Scripture references were taken from the 10th chapter of Luke, verses 27-31.

Mrs. R. L. Corbett, program chairman, conducted an interesting program on "Some Rules for Daily Living."

During the social hour delicious fruit punch, potato chips, sandwiches, cookies, ham biscuits and salted nuts were served.

U.D.C. Pays Tribute To Mrs. Deal At September Meeting

The George B. Singletary Chapter of the United Daughters of Confederacy met Thursday, September 10, at the home of Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth with Mrs. E. W. Harvey as assistant hostess.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming, the president, greeted each member and a new member, Mrs. H. T. Smith.

During the business session Mrs. Fleming read the yearly report which reflected a splendid year's work. Last year's officers with the exception of one were elected to serve another year. Mrs. R. D. Harrington was elected to serve as the new registrar. It was announced that Edwin McMullan had won the Robert Ransom UDC scholarship to University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Mrs. Harvey read the following special tribute to Mrs. R. C. Deal: "On the morning of July 1, 1953, God in His infinite wisdom called Celeste Robinson Deal from her earthly labors to be forever with the Lord. Nothing that we say of Mrs. Deal's life can do justice to her example. She was an inspiring example of humble and faithful service. She possessed a deep and abiding faith in her Master and Lord."

Mrs. Deal was a person of high ideals. She was a true daughter of the south and upheld fully Southern traditions. Until her health forced her into retirement she found great joy in participating in a number of activities in the life of the community. Her life was a living testimony of her devotion to Christ and to the work of His church. Her going has left an empty space, one not readily or easily filled.

We give thanks to our Heavenly Father for Mrs. Deal's exemplary life, the memory of which shall live long in our hearts and be an inspiration to those who were touched by it.

In her passing the George B. Singletary Chapter UDC has lost one of its most loyal and devoted members. Her interest in all phases of its work never less than in our memories we honor her for what she was and for what she did.

In grateful recognition of Mrs. Deal's loyal service to the George B. Singletary Chapter UDC we offer this tribute:

"The lights are out in the mansion of clay
The curtains are drawn, for the dwellers away
She silently slipped o'er the threshold by night
To make her abode in the City of Light."

Mrs. J. C. Wooten gave a most interesting and informative program for the afternoon on "The Work of the UDC". The greatest work for 60 years was the markers and monuments. Nearly every county seat has a monument. History and traditions have been kept alive through research and the collecting of papers of true history. Mrs. Wooten also spoke of the scholarships, the Jefferson Davis Memorial Highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, and the various historical collections.

During the social hour delicious home made cake, ice cream, and buttered pecans were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. P. E. Wells.

Kiwanians Hear Program Of Song

Miss Jane Fuller, soprano, and Frank Bodkin, baritone, appeared on a program of songs at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night.

They sang as duets "Night and Day," "With A Song In My Heart," "Just A Memory" and "Peter Piper." Mrs. Howard Bodkin was accompanist. Miss Fuller sang "My Sugar Is So Refined" and "Nobody Knows De Trouble I've Seen." Frank Bodkin sang "Jonah" and "Give A Man A Horse He Can Ride." John C. Clifford had charge of the program.

Vice-President J. Bryan Brown, who presided for President Leo W. Jenkins, announced the names of delegates and alternates to the Carolina Kiwanis District convention to be held at Columbia, South Carolina, October 11-13. Delegates, John Barnhill, Cecil Ellington and Ed Williford, Alternates, D. A. Blue, Dixie McGlohon and Ed E. Rawl, Jr.

At last night's meeting, Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., won the attendance prize. C. M. Jones of Mount Dora, Florida, and Davis L. Moore, Jr., were guests of the club.

Chairman John A. Collins, Jr. had a brief meeting of his Ladies' Night Committee after last night's meeting. Edmund Harding of Washington, nationally known humorist and lecturer, will be the headliner on the Ladies' Night banquet program. The banquet will be held at West Greenville School Friday night, October 16.

Although the average dairy cow produces about 200 pounds of butterfat a year in the United States, many cows produce as much as 600 pounds.

Red Oak News

About 50 men, women and children gathered at the Community Center last Saturday afternoon for a "labor of love". The gathering was called by S. C. Winchester, who is chairman of the Landscaping Committee for a "Better Church" and a "Better Community."

While some of the men were operating two tractors, the others were leveling ground, cutting down dead trees, and doing the heavy work which others were mowing the lawn, sweeping etc.

Inside the community building were ten of fifteen women busily preparing a supper for the workers. Big pots of chicken stew, fried chicken, vegetables, salads, sweet potatoes, pickles, bread and iced tea were fed to a hungry bunch of people. It was a wonderful occasion and will be long remembered by all those who had a part in it.

Twenty-five members of the Chi-Rho Fellowship met in the Community Center Sunday afternoon at six o'clock.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Geraldine Mills. Rose Moye called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Bette Lane Evans had charge of a most inspiring devotional period. Joyce Jackson had charge of the recreation.

It was voted to "adopt" an orphan at our Christian Orphanage in Atlanta and to remember him or her at Christmas and during the year.

Plans are underway to present a pageant in the near future. Mrs. E. L. Tyson will direct this pageant, called "Gifts for Youth."

We are looking forward to the best Homecoming Day ever held at Red Oak.

We are also making plans for our biggest and best Harvest Supper and Auction Sale in October.

Quite a few people attended a meeting at the church last Sunday night for the purpose of discussing the possibility of organizing a Christian Woman's Fellowship and a Christian Men's Fellowship.

Mr. Sam Bundy of Farmville led in the discussion with the men.

Mrs. Bill Whedbee, Mrs. Agnes Settle and Mrs. Glenn Haney of Greenville formed a panel of three to answer questions in an open forum discussion with the women. The outcome of this meeting will be announced at a later date.

A neat little sum of money was realized from the "Fun Night" sponsored by the Young Married Couples Class last Friday night. The crowd was small but a good time was had by all those who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tyson and sons of Chapel Hill spent last weekend with relatives in Pitt County.

Vanceboro Woman's Club Hears Reports Of Executive Board

VANCEBORO—The Woman's Club of Vanceboro held its regular meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Alton F. Whitley, with Mrs. M. T. Jacaruso as joint hostess. The president, Mrs. Lawrence Lancaster, opened the meeting with the club collect repeated in union.

During the transaction of routine business, Mrs. Don White, secretary read the minutes of the meeting of the executive board, which was a dinner meeting held the previous night at the home of Mrs. Lancaster. Mrs. White listed the departmental chairmen as follows: Publicity, Mrs. H. D. McLawhorn; American Home, Mrs. Dewey Jordan; Education, Mrs. L. P. Taylor; International Relations, Mrs. Ralph Carawan; Pine Arts, Mrs. Howard Patterson; Welfare, Mrs. Ted Williams; Public Affairs, Mrs. Earl Cleve; Bond; Mrs. James Warren; Membership, Mrs. J. E. Laughinghouse. Mrs. Gus Roberson, Mrs. Alton Whitley and Mrs. H. D. McLawhorn were appointed to make up the year books.

Mrs. Earl Cleve will serve as parliamentarian and Mrs. James E. McLawhorn as magazine subscription chairman.

A report was given by the chairman of the building committee, Mrs. Able Cleve, who told of the outstanding needs to complete the club house. Mrs. Cleve resigned as chairman of this committee and Mrs. Earl Cleve was elected to succeed her.

Mrs. Lancaster reported on the highlights of the meeting held at Trenton and announced that the district meeting will be held in New Bern on Sept. 24 and urged the members to attend.

Plans were made and committees appointed to entertain with a tea on Monday afternoon, Sept. 14, honoring the faculty members, the local school board members, the county superintendent and county supervisor. Wives and husbands of the honorees to be included.

The club voted to sponsor the selection of "The Citizen of the Year" in town.

Mrs. James E. McLawhorn, magazine chairman, reported on the number of subscriptions to the state and national magazines secured and urged members to subscribe before Oct. 1.

The club voted the following as new members: Mrs. L. E. Powell, Mrs. D. M. Robinson, Mrs. E. P. Biall, Mrs. C. V. Willis, Mrs. R. S. Lancaster and Mrs. C. L. Lancaster. The club women's Litany was read by the secretary in closing.

During the social period the hostesses served ice cream, salted nuts and cookies.

THE GRIPPING STORY OF ONE MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH HIS GOD!

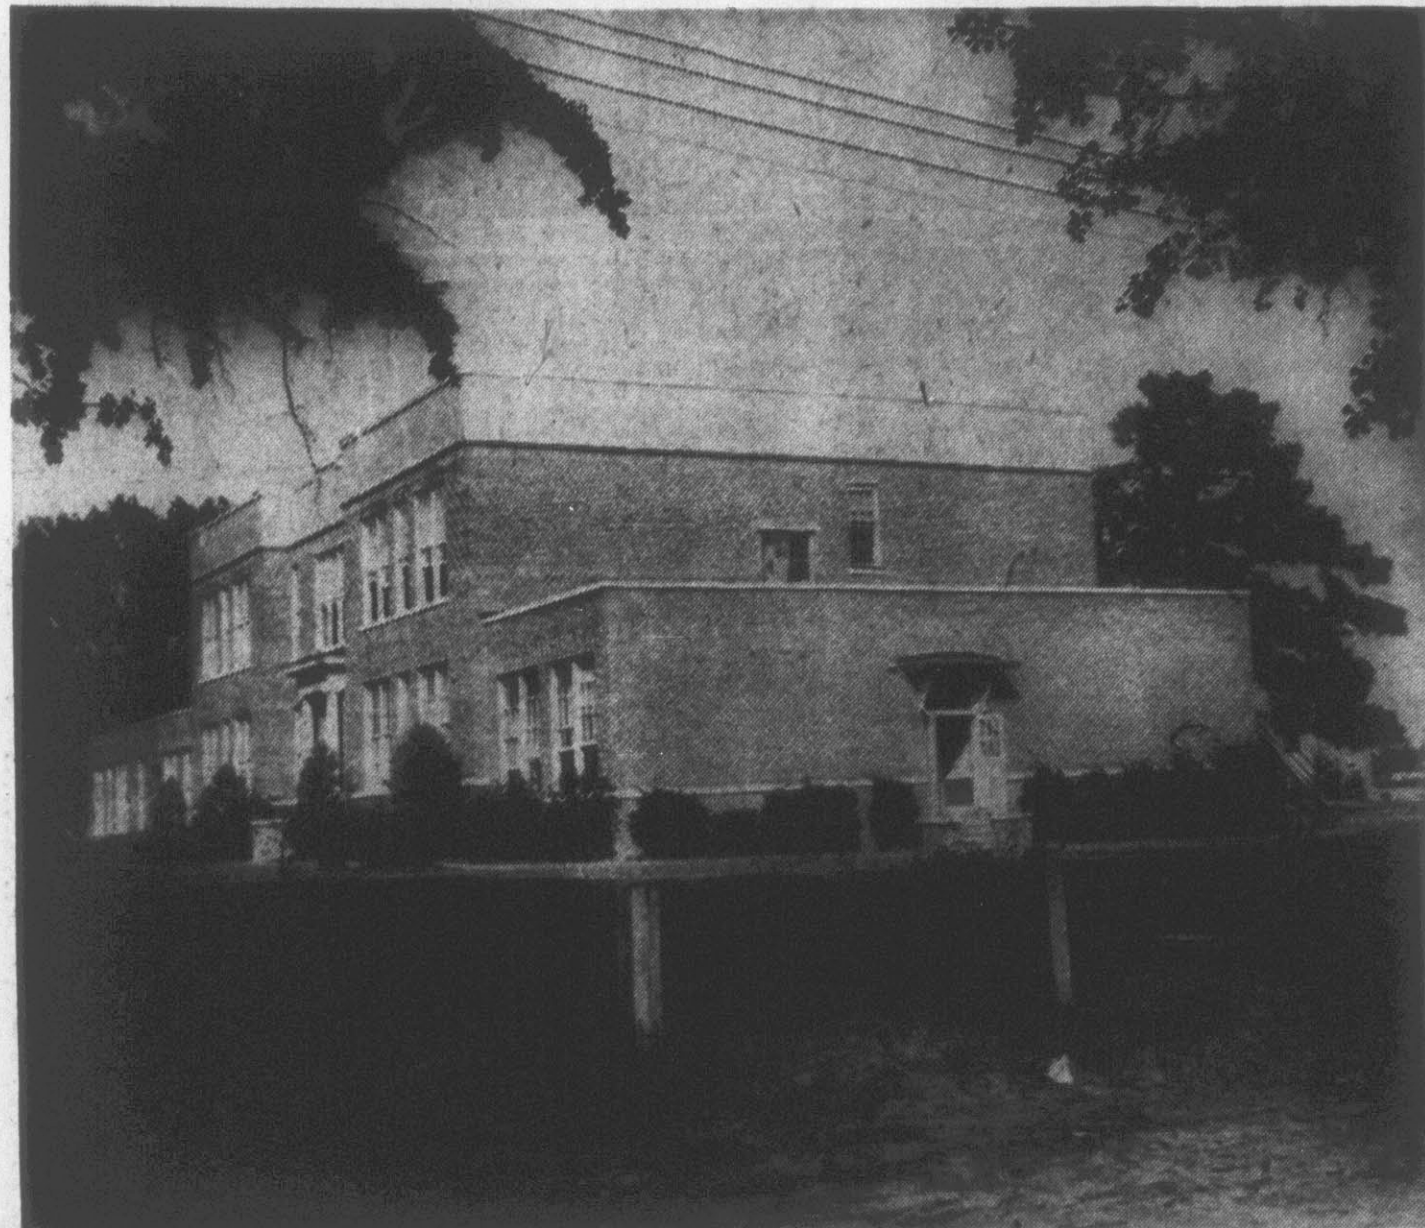

Views Of Grifton, A New Boom Town In A Modern Era

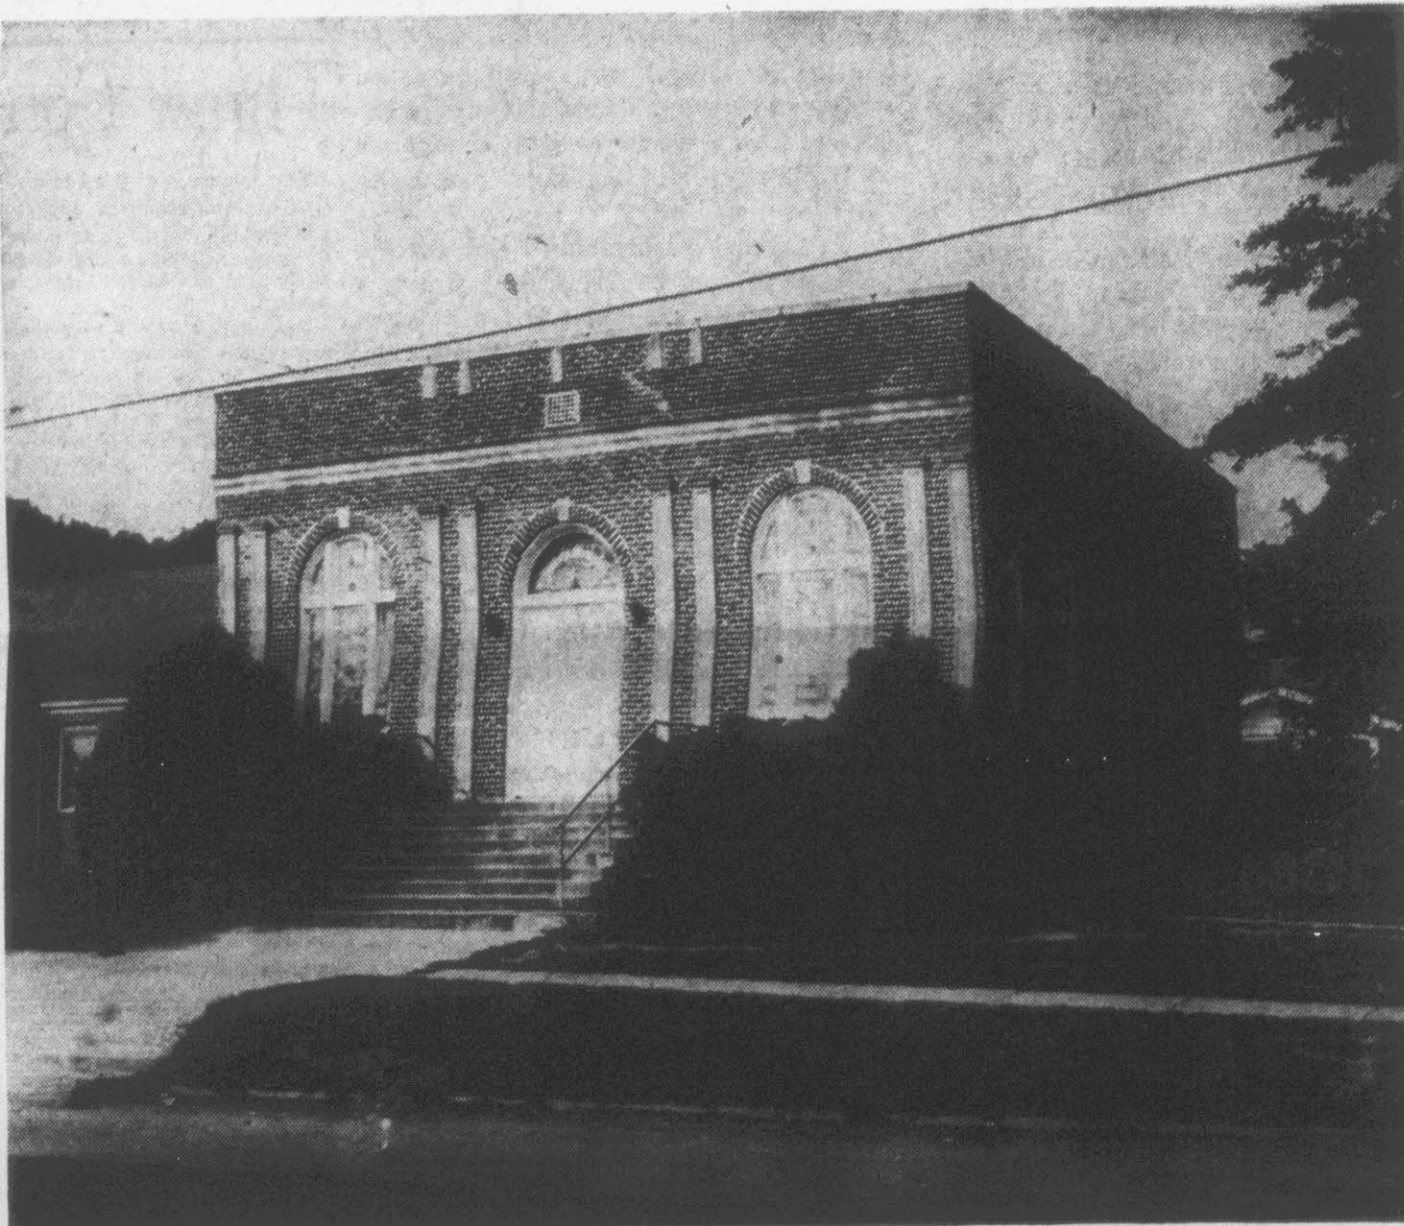

Neat old shade trees, whitewashed at their base, line many of the streets in Grifton lending a touch of the olden days to the growing city while adding beauty at the same time. Ample space on each side insures the saving of the landmarks in the event of a need for widening highways and streets.

Scores of new homes have been constructed in Grifton in the past year and a half. One of the many housing projects built to meet the increased need for homes is pictured above. It is located on NC 118, East of Grifton's business district.

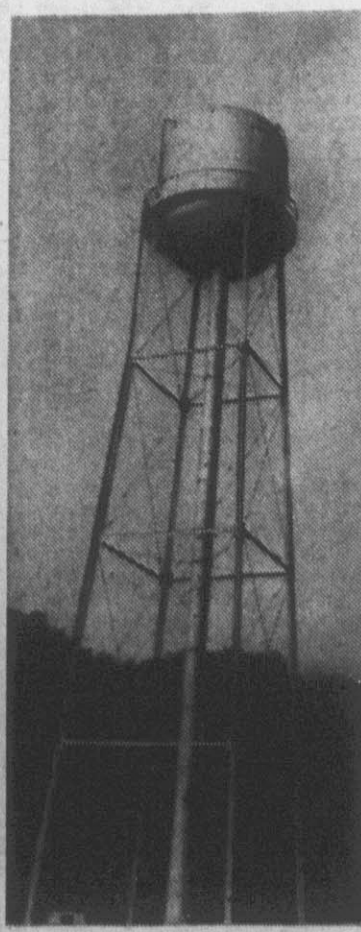

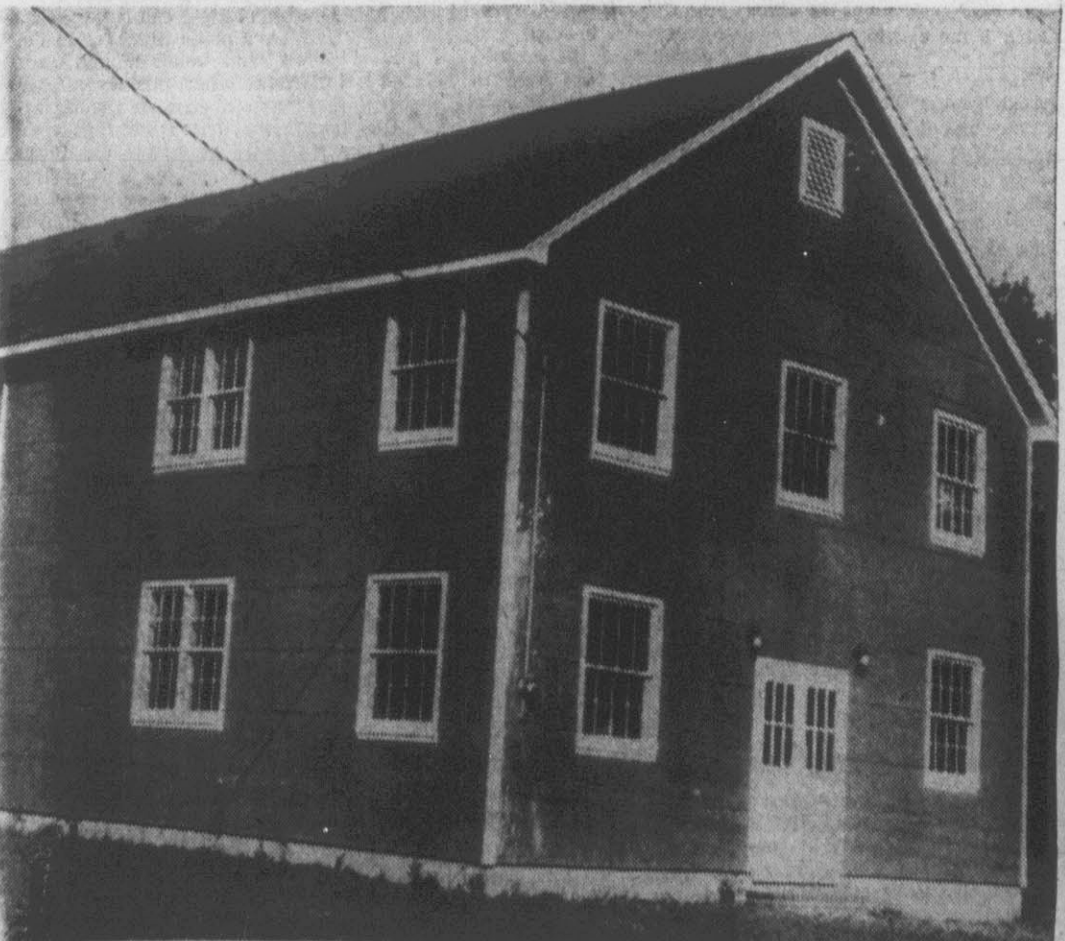

The modern brick school building, including vocational agriculture shop buildings, houses the class rooms where 440 Grifton School children daily attend classes. The classes of Grifton's schools have been rapidly filled with the opening of the DuPont plant near by. (Reflector Photos by Roy Hardee)

Here is a downtown view of ever growing Grifton. Before the construction of the large DuPont plant near Grifton began, the town had made very little progress in keeping up with the rest of the Eastern part of the state. However, in a matter of weeks it was turned into a regular boom town with new stores constructed and housing projects.

Here is the Sunday school rooms and recreational building of the Grifton Baptist Church. Recently constructed the building meets a need for church goers in the rapidly populating community. On a lot next to the new building, the proposed Grifton Baptist Church is supposed to be constructed in the future.

One of the more familiar landmarks in Grifton is the town's water tower, which can be seen towering over the sprawling city.

Pictured above is Grifton's modern fire truck and city hall which has been constructed during Grifton's current boom of progress. The purchase of the truck marked the first time in the history of the community that the town had had fire protection. A fire alarm, said to be audible for eight miles has recently been installed on the top of the station to be used in summoning firemen to fires.

A Personal Obligation To N. C. Youth

Very little good has been accomplished in North Carolina's history during a time when a majority of the people have taken an apathetic view of a situation in which the people were called on for a decision. History will repeat itself again this fall if the people of the state do not snap out of their passive viewpoint toward the $50,000,000 bond issue for public schools and $22,000,000 bond issue for mental institutions.

Already it has been acknowledged that there are groups of people in North Carolina who are working for the defeat of the bond issue in the referendum October 3. These groups are seeking to impress upon the minds of voters that it is more important that the state resist additional debt rather than provide the school and mental institution facilities sorely needed.

Unsung Heroes Of Farmers Day

Greenville's Farmers Day celebration for 1953 has come and gone; and judging from the crowds of people who were here for the annual event, it was a tremendous success.

While practically all the people of this area view Greenville's annual Farmers Day celebration as a gala occasion to be looked forward to, few realize the long hard hours of planning and work which goes into such an affair.

The real heroes of Greenville's Farmers Day are, in our opinion, not the celebrities and entertainers who appear on the stage, but the many committee members of Farmers Day who work for weeks and months to put on the celebration.

These men and women who devote many hours toward the community project are to be congratulated on the results of their effort this year. Its success was evident by the crowds which attended.

Strength for the Day

YES — THINK IT OVER
When the last great day of human existence arrives everybody will be judged for the life he has lived. Even St. Paul, the greatest Christian the world has ever produced, looked toward that day with apprehension. It never was and never can be viewed with equanimity.

Of this we can be assured—we shall all be judged individually. There will be a measuring stick for me never used before on anyone else and which the Almighty Judge will never use again. To be sure, we shall all be judged on the basis of certain great unchanging principles, but there will undoubtedly be taken into consideration the opportunities we have had and the way we have used them. The great question will be not how good we are on that last day, but how good we ought to be; not how much we have accomplished, but how much we have tried to accomplish; not what we are, but how much we have grown.

If you have been raised in a Christian home amid helpful environments, you will be judged according to much higher standards than some poor chap who was born into a poor home and who brought a poor heritage with him into the world. The savage in the jungle will be judged on a standard entirely different from that used in the judging of a modern American, well educated, well fed, and with two cars in his garage.

Labor Leaders Must Complain

By RAY TUCKER
Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"What is the matter with our well-paid professional labor leaders?" explodes Mrs. F. G. of Charleston, S. C. "Never were they or the members of their unions earning more money, living better or facing brighter prospects."

"Even Eisenhower seems afraid of them. And yet, as I read their speeches, the United States is going over a cliff in a hack hired at high union wages."

Answer: I would not take the labor leaders' gripes too seriously. If they concede that working conditions are excellent, the officers, lobbyists and walking delegates might lose their good jobs, their winter conventions in Miami and other fancy perquisites. And they must keep complaining in order to hold the gains they have made. Every other group does the same thing.

GLOOMY TALK—However, it is amusing to read two entirely different kinds of Labor Day addresses delivered by two of the principal officials. It seems as if the publicity agents of the American Federation of Labor ought to get together when they engage in shouting for their bosses.

According to William F. Schnitzer, A.F.L. secretary-treasurer, this is the worst of all possible countries. Evil forces, he says, are "killing" slum clearance and low-cost housing projects, sabotaging our "disgraceful free public education system" and "raiding" the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Fund. The evil forces, of course, are members of Congress.

OPPOSITE LABOR VIEW—But Charles F. McGowan, vice-president of the A.F.L. and head of the International Brotherhood of Bootmakers, Black-

Those who are interested in better schools for the children of North Carolina must, in the coming weeks, take it upon themselves not only to vote in favor of the bond issue, but also actively support the issue between now and October 3. Otherwise, it is not unlikely that opposition forces in the state will hold sway at the polls when the question is decided.

If the bond issue passes it will mean a great deal to the youth of Pitt County, and to the youth and future of North Carolina as a whole.

Similar Tragedies Should Be Prevented

Tragedy which struck in Winterville Friday, taking the lives of two infants, should serve as a grim warning to parents all over Pitt County.

Two Negro children, one two years old and the other one year old, were left alone in their house, apparently for only a short time. The brief period, however, was enough time for a fire to sweep through the dwelling and snuff out the two young lives.

With cold weather approaching, stoves and heating systems which have not been in use for several months will be called back into service. Unless this proves different from previous years, the county will suffer a number of fire losses from faulty heating equipment.

In any home where small children are left alone could be engulfed by fire in a relatively few minutes, and the children burned to death as those in Winterville.

The death of the two children in Winterville was a terrible tragedy which possibly could have been prevented. Without due precautions on the part of other parents throughout the country, it is a tragedy which could be repeated in Pitt County.

Nothing To Gain

It was to have been expected that Great Britain would protest to the Peiping government over firing on a launch in international waters. So the announcement carried with it no element of surprise.

The United States, on similar occasions, has protested to Communist governments of various nations over attacks made on our aircraft and individuals. Other countries regularly follow the familiar protest pattern to little or no effect.

To us it is unbelievable that peoples who claim, like ourselves, to be anxious to preserve the peace should ever lift a menacing gun toward others unless they were first endangered. Shooting (with intent to kill) is no way to keep friends; but it is a certain means of arousing bitter enmity. And such actions are positive indications of hostile intent by the guilty party.

The Chinese Communist government had nothing to gain by the murderous attack on the British launch, and much to be lost in the way of possible good will. Like Russia, their attitude toward the rest of the world is one of overbearing contempt; it carries a grim portent for the future.

smiths and Iron Shipbuilders, a truly hard-boiled union, disagrees with Secretary-Treasurer Schnitzer. After referring to and glorifying in the American system, he says:

"In the exercise of this freedom, the working people of America have, step by step, advanced to the highest standards existing anywhere on earth. Their hours of labor, their wage structure, their provisions for sickness, pensions, vacations and educational opportunities, are unequalled by the workers anywhere."

Finally, John L. Lewis announced that the United Mine Workers' welfare fund, which is financed by coal operators and consumers, had paid out $138,963,949 in pensions and death and sickness benefits in fiscal 1953.

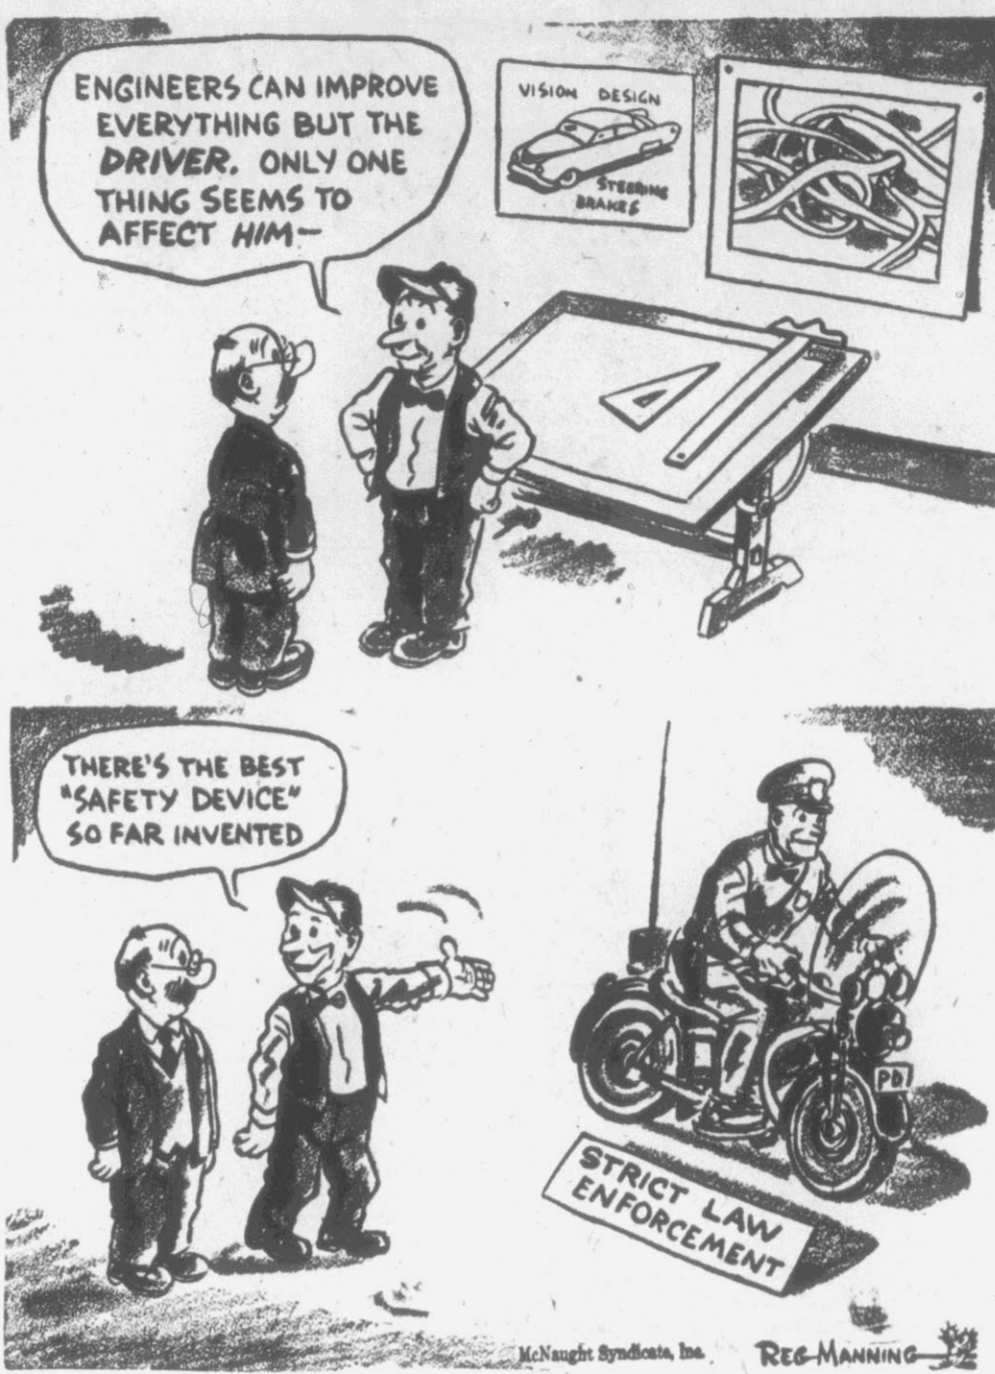

ATTITUDE TOWARD SENATOR MCCARTHY—"I cannot understand your attitude toward Senator McCarthy," writes G.A. of Davenport, Iowa. "Sometimes you criticize him. But in a recent column you seemed to praise what he has done."

Answer: It is not my job to have an "attitude" toward Senator McCarthy. In all my writing about him, I have tried to preserve an impartial, reporterly standard. However, I have received some delightful, albeit critical, letters concerning my latest column on a growing appreciation of him. Writes D. E. of Shreveport, La., in a typical outburst:

"What you ivory tower oracles fail to realize is that the East, including many magazines and newspapers, are always ten years behind the times in their thinking on major domestic and international problems. In the intellectual sections far from this eastern front, people are Americans and not melting-pot drops."

In time the East will learn that the issue of whether McCarthy is a gentleman has nothing to do with the issue of Communism versus the United States of America!

Three Square Meals --- Free

This column is directed to parents of three-year-olds who are not too enthusiastic about eating three square meals a day. Absolutely free of charge, I have a solution.

These paddles looked luscious to us, but up to this time we had not found anything luscious enough to tempt Nancy to eat a full helping; that is, not in recent months. But Nancy must have realized how short our supper was. She immediately gobbled up her burger and then W. R. said, "Won't you have part of mine?" If ever she thought she was making a safe offer, it was then. But Nancy fooled her and ate half of hers.

As this transpired, my hunger quadrupled. After all, I figured, if this stuff is good enough to attract Nancy, who lately isn't interested in eating, it must be something special. My one paddle was far from adequate.

The result of the whole situation was this: We were glad Nancy ate so heartily, but determined that before returning we must have another cheeseburger. We also agreed that no other food would attract her so much unless it was because of an extreme shortage of it.

But before retiring we were forced to go downtown and buy another cheeseburger. Without Nancy around to remind us how good they are, we didn't enjoy it half as much.

It amounts to this: Nothing is nearly as good when it's plentiful.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

DEMOCRATIC UNITY

(Wilson Times)
Representative Celler, Democrat of New York, smells victory for his party in 1954 if the four Southern states which went against Stevenson in 1952 will come back. But the New Yorker has done nothing to show that if those four states did come back, they would possess a voice of any consequence in party policies. Those four states kicked the traces because they felt that Stevenson represented the Truman policies. But those policies weren't set by the Democrats; they were set by the CIO, instead. And the South has no use for the CIO and its socialistic concepts.

Does the North want the South back sufficiently to change its programs? Or will it do as it's been doing for the last 20 years, ram those policies down the southerners' throats? We know that some Southerners, notably former Governor W. Kerr Scott of North Carolina, say they'll be Democrats at all levels, meaning, of course, that he'll go down the line with CIO. But would Scott, if by chance he were elected in 1954, remain long in the Senate if he espoused those policies? Isn't the South one of the last stamping grounds for those hoards who're bitterly opposed to Socialism? We're not at all sure that Stevenson will be the party nominee in 1956. That isn't because he doesn't want to be, for he's indicated that he'd love to try again. But would Stevenson run on the same platform he did last year? And, if he did, would he not suffer more defections in the South. Why, then, won't those Northern Democrats yield to the South on some of the major points? They'd love to keep our votes, but they don't want us to have any voice in party circles. That, of course, is what the South resents. It may, in the end, be the means of breaking the present Democratic party alignments.

AROUND CAPITOL SQUARE

occur to the average citizen that one problem is what to do with psychiatric patients at the big new hospital at the University who want to attend Chapel Hill schools. Or a couple of Negro girls at Murphy who want to attend high school somewhere, when facilities are not afforded in their home district. WHITTLING — For the first time in months the State Board of Education did not have any consolidation problems, but there was the matter of "whittling off" a few pupils here and there from certain high schools which are trying to stay open, because the parents of the children felt they would get better attention at neighboring larger schools. The situation at Hobbessville in Gates county was highlighted when some of the pupils wanted to go to Gatesville and some others to a school in Perquimans county. The problem involved the age-old conflict of community pride and parents desire to give their kids the best possible schooling. It involved also the recurring problem of a changing economy bringing

State Board Has No Idea How Much Land It Owns

By LYNN NISBET

LAND — The State Board of Education doesn't have any idea how much land it owns, or has some claim of title. The board does know that none of it is worth very much per acre, since nearly all of it is marsh or "made" land. Even cheap land runs into money when the land-lord can lose a few islands, one tract of 5,700 acres, and another of a quarter million acres and not miss it until somebody seeks to lease or buy it.

LEASING — From time to time the State Board has sold tracts of land for nominal sums, but the policy now is to lease it retaining title in the State in the event it should later become valuable. A good part of the boards with land deals. Two or three islands made by dredgings from the intercoastal waterway were leased, and a quit-claim deed for any shadow of title the State might have to an undivided one-third in 2,000 acres somewhere in the wilds of mainland Dare county was authorized—on consideration of the receipt of $2,000 from the big pulp company.

LOST — One man wanted to lease an island near Shallotte but Archie McL. Graham, chairman of the land committee, found that the act vesting title to such islands covered only the area from Bogue Sound to the mouth of the Cape Fear. Also there was application to buy a tract of 5,700 acres near the eastern limits of Lake Mattamuskeet in Hyde County. Efforts to locate that tract had not been successful. The stock-dogger item was a request from several people for title to 250,000 acres in Dare, Hyde and Tyrrell counties. Nobody present knew anything about such holdings. Search is being made of old records, but opinion prevailed among board members that most of that intangible acreage had already been disposed of in some manner. It may develop, however, that the State has claim to a lot of swamps it didn't know it owned.

VAGUE — One trouble is that many of the old records are vague as to boundaries and titles. Land was cheaper then than this almost worthless acreage is now, and boundary disputes were rare. That was part of a much larger tract granted in 1794 to a family. The States claim of title dates to a sheriff's deed after a tax sale in 1807 for a part of the original grant. That deed however was not recorded until about 1860. With respect to the quarter million acre tract, it seems that the State sold it to two men who fell down on payments and under some kind of action the State repossessed it. All of that happened more than 100 years ago and records are hard to locate—or to interpret after finding.

CONSCIOUS — Deliberations of the board of education at several recent meetings incident to increasing applications for title to the lands in its charge, demonstrate clearly that the old order has changed. The frontiers have been explored. It is no longer possible just to move on to new territory when contests arise. Land, like other natural resources, has now an ascertainable limit. Acreage that a short time ago was not worth owning is attaining higher values every year. The land-conscious members of the State Board of Education are fast becoming the biggest real estate operators in North Carolina. That is, with respect to the monetary value of the entire holdings is probably less than the value of many city blocks in the state.

DIVERSE — Whether to lease or sell or retain land, and how much it is good business to spend in order to determine validity of title, is just one phase of the diverse responsibilities of the group having control of the public schools. It might not

No End To Taxes

By ELMER ROESSNER
Hate me for saying it, if you will, but whoever you are, wherever you may be, you are going to pay higher city and state taxes in the next few years and so on until eternity.

This has nothing to do with any legislation now pending. It is entirely about the broad trend. And this broad trend will leave you poorer.

Americans now are paying between $10 billion and $11 billion a year for state and subsidiary governments. By 1960 they will be paying between $15 billion and $20 billion.

The reasons for the rise:
1. Pay scales of state and city employees, always lagging, are nevertheless following industrial wages up the escalator.
2. The few non-Federal bodies refusing to recognize the 40-hour week are fighting a rear-guard action and when they eventually lose their costs will go up.
3. The ratio of 6-to-16-year old youngsters to the rest of the population and to taxables as well is rising and will continue to rise through the next decade and hence the cost of education is certain to rise.
4. Pay scales for teachers, excepting in a few states and communities, are disgracefully low and many of the best are leaving school systems. Unless we foresee some hidden advantages in a generation of numbskulls, we are going to have to make the rewards of teaching sufficient to attract better teachers.

5. Cities, towns and much of our states will have to be rebuilt. They were designed for the horse and buggy and then somebody—no names, please!—devised the cheap automobile. You and I are going to get the bill for the extras on that car pretty soon and it will run into billions of dollars for new, wider and better highways; more bridges and bigger cloverleafs, and parking lots with emphasis on the lots.

6. All of us are demanding more services: Fluorination of water, more water, better garbage pickup, state and municipal television, shampoo for needy children, gamma globulin, stranger beasts in zoos, psychotherapy for everybody, jalls without cockroaches, larger payments to the unemployed, chicken on Sunday.

If we think we can have all these things without higher taxes, we are kidding ourselves. The only compensating advantage is that, as taxes rise, we may become more alert to graft and waste. We may, if we are vigilant, get more for our money but we will be paying a whale of a lot more money.

Thrift Raises Its Bowed Head

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone knows New York City is inhabited by a bunch of fast-living grasshoppers who lose away their money with no thought of the morrow.

Yep, that's us, fellows. If we can't spend our dough quick enough with both hands, we kick it away with our feet.

As the old Broadway saying goes "Who wants to be the richest guy in the cemetery? A guy who isn't living beyond his means just isn't living."

But guess what's happening right here in the neon — lit midst of the world's greatest one-way primrose path. Why, a herd of thrifty young ants is springing up, a generation infected by the old, squirrely idea that it pays to put away a few acorns for a rainy day.

Who are these young codgers? Well, they were turned up in a survey of 3,620 children between 6 and 11 years old. And it turned out that one out of five already had somehow or other picked up the old-fashioned habit of saving part of his pocket money each week. Most averaged between 25 and 50 cents.

The survey, made by the Gilbert Youth Research Organization, for the Washington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, estimated that the city's 1,000,000 subteenagers are stashing up to $150,000 a week in their piggy banks. This, of course, includes emergency withdrawals to help their parents out of a tight spot.

The bankers thought this showed a mighty healthy attitude on the part of the young savers. But an old wastrel I showed the figures to only grumbled enviously:

"Imagine children of such tender years having a sum like $150,000 a week within reach of their grimy little paws. I trust the little monsters are saving it for a sensible purpose, such as buying milk coats or entertaining chorus girls."

However, the kids who indicated any immediate goal for their savings were stubbornly planning such typical small fry investments as model airplanes, doll dresses and bicycles.

Where do city children get their money? How much do they get, and how do they spend it? What do they really know about the value of money? The survey came up with some interesting answers.

Over half the kids get a regular weekly allowance. The majority of those in the 6-7 age bracket got 25 to 50 cents; those 8 to 9 to 51 to 99 cents; those 10 to 10 to 11 from 51 cents to a dollar or more. Only 10 per cent reported the best they could knock the old folks for was a dime or less.

One out of every five said they sometimes earned their own money, either for "being good or by doing chores. Fully half of these also were savers, showing that the harder it is for a young fellow to get his dukes on dough the more reluctant he is to fritter it away on a grammar school blonde.

The average teen-ager consumes six candy bars and 5.2 bottles of pop a week. But the favorite vice of the 6-to-7-year-old child is ice cream, about seven servings a week if he can buy them. His interest in wider pleasures — ice cream sodas, candy and poppicks up as he matures.

It was estimated the kids gulp down 8 billion plates of ice cream a year. If your child says wistfully, "Gee, I'd like to have all that—well, tell him that if he ate a serving every minute, it would take him 15,360 years to eat it all. And, of course, all he'd say to that is, "I guess I wouldn't have to hurry, would I, Dad?"

As to the movies Hold on, Hollywood bad news ahead, the survey said a majority of 6-to-11-year-old children went to the movies at least once a week 10 years ago, but now only 10 per cent do. In six out of 10 homes the kids reported Hopalong Cassidy now rides into their living rooms via television-for free.

When asked what they or their parents could buy for a penny, 841 of the 3,620 kids said flatly "nothing. And 53 said the same about a nickel."

Kind of makes you feel sad and old doesn't it to hear of even one kid who no longer can buy a dream with a nickel?

The Velvet Hand

By HELEN REILLY

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

McKee gave his entire attention to Libby and Kit listened engrossed. Where they had got very little, the inspector succeeded in building a fairly complete picture. Libby answered him fully searching her mind as he led her on step by step. Odors? Libby said yes that there had been a queer smell in the room in which she was confined. "Something like what you get in a Fifth Ave. bus sometimes." Sounds? There had been a dog that barked a lot, and a rooster that crowed. McKee said that she had been in a house in the country, heated by kerosene, and in close proximity to a chicken house.

He asked her about the tissue with the print of her lips on it, and she nodded. They had done that while she was blindfolded, after they had stuck a needle in her. There was a lipstick in her bag. "Fingerprints, inspector?" McKee said there wouldn't be any on it. She had no recollection about the car in which she had been taken away, she didn't think the seats were leather, but wasn't sure.

The Scotsman studied her thoughtfully. She had been home and safe for a day and a half; she had had a bad fright within the hour—her pulse was rapid and her breathing shallow. "Now since you got back, Miss Tullis?"

Libby had gone as far as she intended to go. Her mouth was stony. She was in one of her obstinate fits. Kit intervened. "You've got to, Libby, or I will."

They both did. McKee digested the whispering voice that had called the house after Libby had finished talking to Tony Wilder, and that she had instantly recognized. "When you picked up the receiver who did the man ask for?"

"Nobody. He knew me right away. He told me not to talk to the police, not to tell them anything or else—"

She was white again. "He just—just threatened me. He said I'd be sorry if I had anything to do with the police."

The Scotsman rose, said good-bye soothingly and that she was not to worry, that she was perfectly safe and nothing more was going to happen, and left the room.

Kit went with him. At the foot of the stairs he asked her a question. "Who was here in the house, Miss Haven, when the arrangement for the delivery of the money was made?"

Kit said: "My uncle and I, and my aunt, Mrs. VanKreef." She added wretchedly: "I know, I know. I thought about the extension in the upper hall, too, at the time, but my aunt was in the middle of a shower. I ran up and looked."

Miriam VanKreef was in the living room. She was frostily gracious; she was afraid she could tell him nothing he didn't already know, her brother-in-law hadn't seen fit to take her into his confidence until after the money was paid over.

McKee knew all about Kit's subway journey and the tall woman in the green raincoat on the 72nd St. platform.

"You remained here undisturbed, Mrs. VanKreef, while Mr. Haven and Miss Haven went to New York?" She had. "I didn't hear from anyone. Not a word. Philip didn't tell me the truth until after he came home. I was—stunned."

McKee looked sympathetic. Earlier in the day the maid, a laundress, a woman who came in to clean two days a week and the gardener had been investigated and given a clean bill of health. Hugo Cavanaugh had told the Havens, and only the Havens, that Strait had got in touch with him, but this woman had listened in on the conversation between Cavanaugh and Kit Haven. Less than an hour later the call had come warning Libby Tullis not to talk to the police—and Mrs. VanKreef had been out of the house and in the village at the time the call was made. Try and check on it. He said to Kit: "I'd like to have a look at your uncle's study."

He had a look—and the mystery of the kettle boiling in the small hours of the morning was solved. Kit watched while McKee examined some opened mail lying on the typewriter desk. It was at Philip's bank statement that he paused, turning the long brown envelope over. Philip had torn the narrow end open. The flap was still sealed. "Well, well," McKee said. "I thought it might be something like this." He pointed to a bright smear coming from under the sealed flap. He said that the bank statement had been steamed open, that was what the kettle had been used for. The smear was fresh muckilage that had been applied to reseal the flap. Will you get your uncle, Miss Haven?

Philip came in with Mr. Strait. "Yes," he said, he had looked at his statement only yesterday although it had been in the house since last Wednesday. Did it tally with his own stubs? Philip looked sheepish. "Well, to tell you the truth—" He confessed that he was careless. At least a third of the stubs in the cheque book he produced were blank.

McKee said that the only possible reason why the bank statement had been steamed open was to remove a cancelled cheque that had been either forged or altered. "You'd know for instance, if you gave your maid a cheque for $100 and found it made out for $1,000 that there was something wrong."

Philip said: "I don't pay the servants; Libby tends to all that. Does it matter?"

McKee said, smiling: "It's just a little question of a penitentiary offense. Mr. Haven, Strait, will you take this statement and Mr. Haven's cheque book and get in touch with his bank and see what you can find out?"

He was finished with the house and the people in it, for the moment. He assured Kit and Philip that they needn't worry, the wate police were putting a man in the grounds, and accompanied by Strait, started back for New York and Eleanor Oaks and Pedrick and Anthony Wilder.

Personal

If someone in your family doesn't go to Church, please DO NOT SHOW that person this message. The folks to whom it is addressed will probably see it themselves, and they'll prefer to think about it personally.

To the member of the family who stays home on Sundays

We want to help you, and those you love! We are the churches of the community; and our sole purpose in existing is to help every family to find the happiness and strength which comes through faith in God.

But, if someone in a family ignores us, that person becomes a kind of stumbling block. His example hinders others . . . makes it harder for the family to build a Christian home.

He may be "all for the churches" but, if he hasn't taken his own place in our worship and work, his moral support has the same effect as indifference.

Please think this over seriously and let us have your reply next Sunday. We need your help just as you need ours.

Greenville's Phantoms trounced the Jacksonville Cardinals 44-0 last night to successfully open their 1953 Northeastern Conference schedule. The game was played in the East Carolina College Stadium.

Right halfback James Speight scored three times for the Phantoms. His touchdowns came on runs of 14, 92, and 33 yards.

Left halfback Bob Howell and fullback Bobby Langston each scored twice to round out the Greenville touchdown parade.

The Phantoms were held scoreless in the first quarter of the contest but wasted little time in getting down to work in the second period. And when they started there was nothing Coach Lou Savin's Cardinals could do to stop them.

The first touchdown, Speight's 14-yard run, was set up in the closing minutes of the first quarter when Greenville took possession of the ball on downs. From the 43-yard line Langston and Speight worked the ball to the 14 where Speight took advantage of a tremendous opening made by tackle Tommy Smith and guard Billy Arnold to score easily. The extra point attempt was no good but it was of little consequence.

92-Yard Return

Greenville held the Cardinals after the kickoff and forced them to punt. That's when the second touchdown for Speight and the Phantoms came into existence. Speight took Jack Henry's kick on the Greenville eight-yard line, cut to his right, turned up the sidelines and outran everybody on the field to pay dirt. He wasn't touched by a single Jacksonville player during the entire run and picked up a convoy of interference as he ran. Jacksonville failed to gain again following the kickoff and punted to Bob Howell who returned the ball to the Jacksonville 33. On the first play of the series Speight shot through the line and into the end zone to run the score to 18-0. The first half margin for the Phantoms was extended to 24-0 after Howell had set up the touchdown with an intercepted pass that was returned to the Greenville 49. A short gain and a penalty against the Cardinals moved the ball to the Jacksonville 42 where quarterback Tommy Norris passed to Speight for a first down on the 21. On the next play Norris found Howell open and flipped the ball to him. Howell took the ball on the 15 and sped the rest of the way in.

Langston Scores

Just after the beginning of the third quarter Bob Langston scooped up a Jacksonville fumble and raced 50 yards to score. Gene Hudson booted the extra point and the Phantoms' margin had been extended to 31-0.

Howell scored his second touchdown just a few minutes later with a dazzling piece of broken-field running that covered 35 yards.

Langston scored the final touchdown on a three-yard dash after a drive from the Jacksonville 27. Hudson kicked the extra point and the Phantoms had their 44-0 margin for the night.

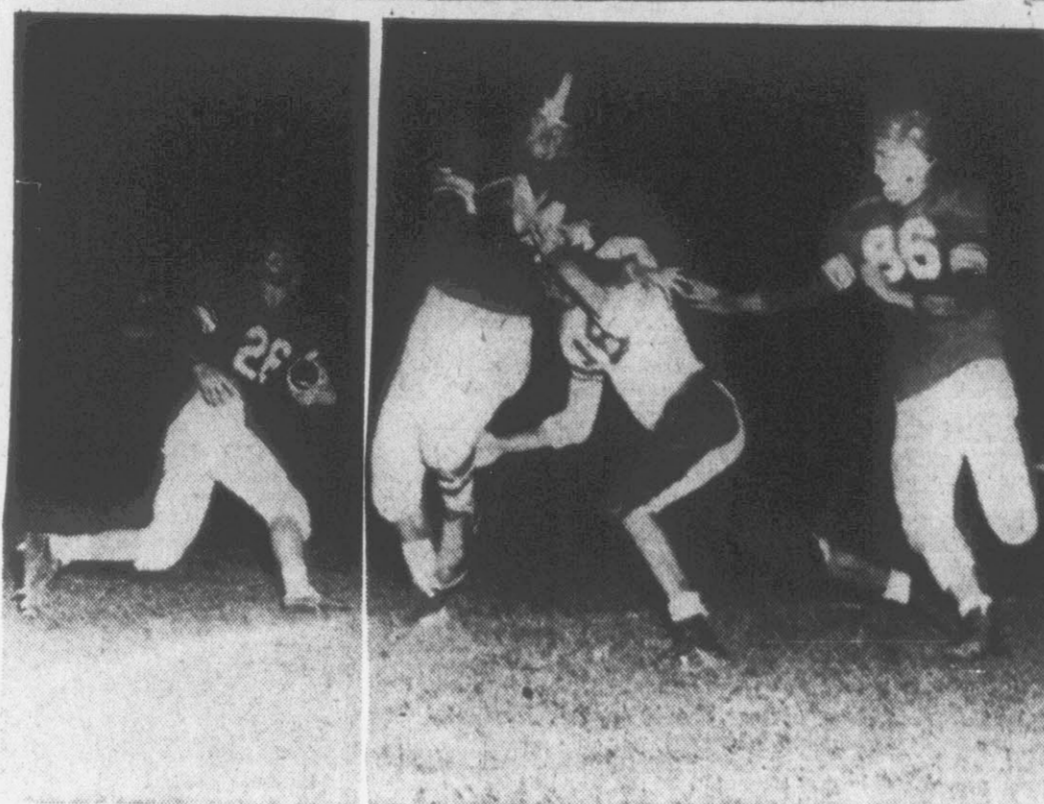

Defensively, Bobby Conway and Doug Morgan look honors for the Phantoms. Conway, end and captain who is used at halfback on defense, was a "tower of strength," according to Coach Bill Kittrell. Morgan, center and linebacker, came through with several vicious tackles to stem offensive attempts on his side of the line.

Tackles Tommy Smith and Dixie Hobgood teamed with guards Billy Arnold and Jerry Phillips to lead the offensive line play for the Phantoms. End Harold Edwards also turned in a good performance.

Speight was the leading ground gainer with 79 yards in eight tries from scrimmage. Howell picked up 59 and Langston got 56 to follow in the rushing.

FINE PASS RECEIVER

CHAPEL HILL—One of the best pass catchers on the University of North Carolina football squad is Van Weatherspoon, junior from Durham.

Bucs Review Power Thrusts In Workout

The East Carolina College Pirates worked long and hard on their power plays yesterday afternoon as they began their one-day practice schedule.

The plays reviewed in yesterday's contact session are the ones the Bucs expect to use when they get in scoring territory this year. A veteran backfield composed of Dick Cherry at quarterback, halfbacks Topsy Hayes and Paul Gay, and Teddy Barnes at fullback did most of the running.

Barnes, a 195-pound sophomore from Wilson, who was subbing for the injured Claude King, looked particularly good in the drill. He played particularly good in the drilled, defended defensive halfback on the 1952

Michigan State Fans Fear Big Letdown By Spartans

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UP)—The black pall of pressure hangs over Michigan State's football camp.

Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn's 1953 Spartans face defense of the national championship they won last year, the burden of continuing an unbroken string of 24 victories, and the added problem of entering Big Ten football competition for the first time.

Michigan State fans fear letdown from the pace which has carried the Spartans through two successive undefeated seasons.

"The national champions all have graduated," Munn notes. "We won the title in 1952 but this is 1953."

Michigan State has 21 letter winners returning, including Munn's famed pony backfield, and a host of sophomore hopefuls, but pre-season scrimmages thus far have been well below last year's lustre.

"Elimination of the two-plateau system by changes in the rules has us seriously worried," Munn admits. "We have a number of promising specialists but it is going to be a bigger job than we figured to pick a team which is effective both offensively and defensively."

The loss of 21 lettermen, includ-

Cooper Leading In Eastern Open

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—Pete Cooper, who quit his job as a club professional "to shoot for big tournament dough," held a one-stroke lead over the field of 60 today as the $15,000 Eastern Open golf tournament advanced into its semi-final round.

Cooper, scoring six birdies and only one bogey, took over the lead from Ralph Lomell of Fresno, Calif., Friday with a sparkling five-under-par 67 to give him a two-day total of 137. The genial former pro at the Century Country Club in White Plains N.Y., saved his sixth and last birdie for the last hole—a 15-foot putt which assured him the lead at the halfway point.

Behind Cooper was Otto Greiner of White Beaches, N.J., who matched the leader's 67-Friday to give him a two-day total of 138. Doug Ford of Harrison, N.C., Julius Boros of Mid Plains, N.C., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Wally Ulrich of Maplewood, N.J., were tied for third place with 139's.

Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., and Ralph Lomell were next with 140's, while Andy Gibson of Catonsville Md., Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., Ed Oliver of Palm Springs, Calif., Avery Beck of Kinston, N.C., Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y., and Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., were next with 141's.

and Randy Schrengengost; guards Henry Bullough, Dale Hollern, Ferris Hallmark, Don Schiess-wohl, Roland Dotsch, and Bill Ross; and center Jim Neal.

Complicating Munn's problems is a rough Big Ten schedule starting Sept. 26 on the road against Iowa and Oct. 3 against Minnesota. The Spartans return home for games with Texas Christian and Indiana, then play Purdue at Lafayette Ind., Oct. 24, Oregon State at home Oct. 31, Ohio State at Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 7, Michigan at home Nov. 14, and Marquette at home Nov. 21.

NEW YORK (UP)—There were nothing but question marks today in the minds of Yankee supporters regarding their mighty ace of past World Series fame—Superchief Alie Reynolds.

To be sure, Reynolds didn't exactly disgrace himself Friday while blowing a 3-2, 10-inning decision to the sixth-place Tigers after his mound opponent, lefty Ted Gray, drilled a triple. He gave up only seven hits, struck out five, and occasionally flashed the old Reynolds brilliance as in the ninth when he blew three swinging strikes past Steve Souchock with runners on second and third.

But the window-breaking Dodgers aren't in sixth place and Reynolds might have a tussle with them even if he were the mighty strong-armed right hander of other World Series years.

The feeling is that old "money-bags" will rise to the occasion and he still is regarded as the one big guy for the Yankees even if for only psychological reasons.

Yet the question marks start flying around like heavenly saucers again when Reynolds' 1953 record is compared with the way the guy used to pitch. He's 11-6 now as against 20-8 for 1952. He has worked in 131 innings as against 244 last year. In 1952 he struck out 160 to lead the league. This year he has struck out 68. He has pitched only four complete games as against 24 in 1952.

Or more important, compare Reynolds for 1953 with the four big Dodger starters. All four Carl Erskine, Preacher Roe, Russ Meyer, and Billy Loes have better percentage marks in the win and lost column, all have pitched more innings, all have more complete games, all have more strikeouts, and all have better ratios than Reynolds in strikeouts over bases on balls.

Giants, Crawford's To Play 2 Games

The semi-pro Greenville Giants will meet the Pittsburgh Crawfords tonight and tomorrow afternoon in a pair of baseball exhibition games. The contests will be played in Guy Smith Stadium.

The Giants, regular season winners in the Virginia-Carolina League with a record of 26 wins and seven losses, will send Chance and Eason to the mound against the Crawfords. The Pittsburgh team will counter with Henry Miller of the New York Cubans and Bill Kitt of Birmingham.

The Crawfords are one of the best known Negro teams in the country and are currently making a tour through the East and the South. They have won 62 of the 64 games they have played this year. Players for the Crawfords come from teams in the Negro American and National leagues.

Tonight's game will start at 8 o'clock. The Sunday contest will start at 2 p.m.

CHICAGO (UP)—The fired-up Chicod Hornets downed Rock Ridge 18-13 in their 1953 opener played here yesterday.

Captain J. T. Mills of the Hornets scored twice for Chicod, once on a 70-yard kickoff return and once on a five-yard sweep around left end. Chicod's other score came on a line buck by halfback Jerry Gaskins.

A 40-yard pass from Mills to end Bobby Fornes set up the winning touchdown in the last 15 seconds of the game. The clincher was Mills' five-yard dash around end.

Bobby Edwards and Mack Howell scored for Rock Ridge. Their extra point came on a pass from Alton Cook to Edwards.

The victory was the first Chicod has ever scored in six-man football. The Hornets started the sport last year but were unable to win in seven contests. This year, Coach Alston Burke has a squad of 20 inexperienced players.

The Hornets will meet Whitakers next Friday in Chicod.

Seixas, Trabert Lead Canadians

MONTREAL (UP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas were top-heavy favorites to all but blast Canada's Lorne Main and Paul Willey off the court today and clinch a United States victory in the American Zone Davis Cup final.

The powerful United States team advanced to within one match of clinching the right to meet the survivor of the Belgium-India series Friday when Trabert and Seixas humiliated Henri Rochon and Main in the opening singles play.

Trabert, opening the five-match series Friday, completely outplayed the left-handed Rochon in a 6-2, 6-3, 8-6 victory. Fresh from his triumph over Seixas in the finals of the U. S. singles play last Monday, the 23-year-old Cincinnati star required only 75 minutes to down Rochon while Seixas polished off Main, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, in a mere 60 minutes.

Lawrence Baker of Washington, D. C., non-playing captain of the U. S. team, announced that Bernard Barten of San Angelo, Tex., and Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., would play the final two singles matches Sunday if Trabert and Seixas clinch the series today.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

Seventeen defendants appeared before Judge Charles H. Whedbee in Police Court Friday to answer to 23 cases.

James T. Langley, Negro, who crashed his car into the rear of a State Highway Patrol car driven by Cpl. C. E. Whitfield on Dickinson Avenue, had three charges against him. The court found him not guilty of driving drunk.

Judge Whedbee gave him three months on the roads for careless and reckless driving, sentence to be suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted.

The judgment also provides that Langley is not to drive a motor vehicle for a year unless he makes restitution to Cpl. C. E. Whitfield, State Highway patrolman, for property damage.

In the case against Langley charging him with resisting arrest, the court continued prayer for judgment on payment of $10. Langley gave notice of appeal in both cases.

James W. Langley, (white) Route 4, Greenville, driving drunk, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. The judgment also provides that he is not to drive a motor vehicle for two years unless he makes restitution for property damage to Alton Vandford, 217 Ridgeway street, Greenville. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year. The court gave him 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 for disorderly conduct. The careless and reckless driving charge was combined with the other case.

Robert L. McLawhorn, Route 4, Greenville, charged with driving drunk, asked that his case be transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Al C. Pollard, driving drunk $100 and costs, and the judge recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year. The court taxed Pollard with court costs on the charge of transporting non-tax-paid whiskey.

In the case of Edward Williams, Negro, non-support, was given six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $12.50 a week beginning September 12, 1953, into the Durham Welfare Department for support of his children. The court placed him on probation for two years.

Drunk: Ray Jones, $15; Rosa Lee Bland, Negro, $10; James Cosby Jr., $10; Archie Ruffin, Negro, was found not guilty of discharging firearms in the city limits, but the court fined him $10 for being drunk.

Ruth Telfair, Negro, paid $5 for assault.

Fred Leary, Negro, paid $15 for not having an operator's license.

Caesar Praye r Negro, charged with assault on a female, was found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined $10.

William H. Spell, Negro, was found not guilty of parking on a highway without lights.

Willie Vines, Negro, paid $10 for disorderly conduct.

Amos Parker, Negro, assault on a female, paid $15 and the court ordered him not to molest or harm Mamie Tyson, Negro.
