Unarmed Indian Calms POW Riot By Telling Them Manners 'Bad'

Anti-Communist Rioters Shamed When Asked About 'Hospitality'

By WILLIAM MILLER United Press Staff Correspondent PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) - An unarmed Indian general calmed thousands of rioting anti-Communist Chinese war prisoners by telling them they had bad manners, it was revealed today.

Bearded Major Gen. S. P. P. Thorat decided to use psychology on the seized two of his men as hostages for a Chinese sergeant who chose to return to Communism.

Thorat's strategy worked. He gained the release of the two men and won the respect of the prisoners.

Shortly after the sergeant had been taken from the enclosure, the Chinese rioted and threatened to attack Indian guards who stood with rifles nearby.

After 30 minutes' discussion, the Chinese still demanded return of the sergeant, and, as Thorat walked away, he was grabbed by Indian Major H. S. Grewal and Lt. Daljit Singh.

The lieutenant broke away but Grewal was held as a hostage. Lance Corp. Thakur Singh tried to rescue the lieutenant, only to be taken prisoner himself.

Thorat immediately returned to the stockade, ignoring their threatening gestures.

"What sort of Chinese are you?" he shouted at the prisoners. "Where is your hospitality?"

The sing-song shouts of the Chinese faded to a low mumble. "You have offered my men neither tea nor cigarettes," he complained.

The Chinese, shamed by the Indian general's reprimand, dropped their sticks and stones. They brought out cigarettes and cups of hot tea for Thorat and the 12 Indians who followed the general into the enclosure.

The Chinese not only released the hostages but formed an honor guard to escort Thorat and his men from the compound.

Meanwhile, the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission was deadlocked over procedure to be used in talks to prisoners refusing to go home.

The Repatriation Commission announced a disagreement over procedure may delay the talks for a period of not more than five days.

Starts Work On Investigation Of Atrocities DETROIT (UP) - Sen. Charles E. Potter, Michigan's junior Republican senator and a legless World War II veteran, started a "lot of preliminary work" today for his planned investigation of war atrocities in Korea.

Potter, who lost both legs in the battle for Colmar, France, in 1945, was assigned to handle the investigation for the Senate Permanent Investigating Subcommittee by its chairman, Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Will Head Pitt Drive In School Bond Voting

J.S. Moye Named Chairman

Joseph S. Moye, chairman Pitt County Board of Education, has been named county bond chairman for the school bond to be voted on October 3.

Moye announced the list of district chairmen yesterday and said they would strive for a large vote by appealing through civic clubs, PTAs, and other community organizations.

"We have no reason to believe that it will not carry throughout the state," Moye said, "and we hope there is a large vote."

The bond chairman said the people already know the needs of the school. He gave this reason for his belief that the bond for public school improvement would carry.

Moye said Pitt County would get $100,000 allotted to each county plus $261,571.20 of the first 25 million dollars; and he thought the county would get between $200,000 and $300,000 of the next 25 million.

More urged the citizens of Pitt County to listen to the bond drive statewide broadcast to be held September 30 at 9:30 p.m. on WGTC.

Governor William E. Umstead, Dr. David Young, State Superintendent of Instruction, and Dr. David Young of the State Hospital will be on the broadcast.

District chairmen: Mrs. Wilbur Worthington, Ayden; Jarvis Allen, Bell Arthur; Floyd Harris, Belvoir; Falkland; C. W. Everett, Bethel; C. P. Stokes, Chicod; J. B. Lewis, Farmville; W. R. Harris, Fountain; Joseph M. Taft, Greenville; Cecil Cobb, Grifton; Robert Little, Grimesland; G.S. Winchard, Stokes; J. Brantley Speight, Winterville; and Hubert Simmons, Faison.

Castle Idris, Libya (UP) - British test pilot Mike Lithgow announced he will try today to beat the new world speed record he set yesterday in a Supermarine Swift jet fighter.

The attempt to better his speed of 737.3 miles an hour appeared an effort to push the mark out of reach of American jets. A Douglas F4D Skyray Navy jet is scheduled to challenge British speed supremacy next week over the California desert.

This morning Lithgow zipped through a test flight over the hot Sahara sands and then announced he was going after a higher speed this afternoon than the one he set yesterday on "a practice run."

The 33-year-old navy lieutenant-commander and officials of the company that makes the plane were convinced it could go much faster than the 737.3 miles an hour Lithgow flew yesterday.

Gen. Dean Asks Mercy For Pair In His Betrayal

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) - Maj. Gen. William F. Dean has sent a cable to South Korean President Syngman Rhee pleading for clemency for two Koreans accused of betraying him to the Communists.

The two South Koreans were indicted Wednesday by a Seoul court on charges that for $5 each they told the Reds where Dean could be captured.

Dean said last night he sent a telegram to Rhee, asking clemency for the men. He said he wasn't even sure they were the guilty persons.

"If they are, I hope they will be released anyway, as a personal favor to me," Dean said.

The former 24th Division commander was settled down today for a quiet rest with his wife and family here after a simple greeting from citizens of his boyhood town.

Girls Can't Play If Skirts Long LONDON (UP) - A British school teacher sided with fashion designer Christian Dior today by insisting that her pupils wear skirts that "reach no lower than just below the knee."

The teacher, Miss J. M. Crawford, said "They can't play games properly in long skirts."

Starving Bears In City Streets PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (UP) - Starving black bears from the northern Ontario timberlands penetrated residential districts today and pawed at kitchen doors in search of food.

Police warned mothers to keep a constant eye on children during daylight hours and take them off the streets at night as the bears came south in record numbers to "feed up" for winter hibernation.

Adults carried shotguns and rifles in outlying districts of the twin cities of Fort Arthur and Fort William whose population totals 7,000.

One farmer shot two 250-pound bears on his back porch after being awakened by their pawing. Screen doors were ripped off hinges at scores of homes.

Thousands Driven To Emergency Shelters From Hurricane Storm Lashes Florida City

By BARBARA FRYE United Press Staff Correspondent PANAMA CITY, Fla. (UP) - A mighty hurricane which battered ships in the Gulf of Mexico roared across the northwest Florida coast today, driving thousands of shore-front dwellers to emergency shelters.

Outer gales and floods isolated the town of Apalachicola, Fla., and drove some 50 refugees from the little town of Panama Beach nearly 50 miles south of here.

Rain flooded many Panama City streets. Winds rose high above gale force within a few hours after midnight. Both wind and rain suddenly stopped at Panama City at about 5:55 a. m. EST.

In a special 8 a. m. EST advisory, the weather bureau located the center of the storm "near the coast between Panama City and the Fort Walton-Valparaiso area, moving northward at a slow rate, probably about 10 miles an hour."

Strongest winds were about 100 miles an hour near the center, the weather bureau said, with 72 m. p. h. winds reported from a coastal station in the Fort Walton area.

The advisory said high winds and heavy rain are expected in southeast Alabama and southwest Georgia during the day. Warnings of hurricane-force winds and dangerously high tides along the northwest Florida coast remained in force.

The buffeted cities are all located in a curving sweep of shoreline forming the northwest border of the Gulf of Mexico, in which the hurricane had battered at least six ships.

A cold wind brought from the east by the hurricane's circular movement slanted violently against store fronts. Plate glass has been protected from shattering by ground-up paper. Many shops were boarded up.

Roving police cars inspected washouts and fallen wires and trees which plunged portions of Panama City into early-morning darkness. One emergency shelter had to use candles.

A five foot tide lashed the beach and in one boathouse rising water forced a yacht against the roof. Palm fronds fell in liters, flowers bowed to the ground under the pounding of the rain and a few pine limbs sailed through the air.

Gardens of the Cove Hotel, Panama City's biggest, were half under water.

Evacuees from Panama Beach, including one stretcher case, took shelter in emergency centers at Tallahassee, Fla., inland to the north as water rose over a four-block street leading to the town docks.

W. M. Wehnt, chairman of a disaster relief crew at Tallahassee said between 800 and 1,000 persons standing by to give assistance where needed.

The U. S. weather bureau at New Orleans said the Panama City lull was probably caused by the "eye" of the storm passing over some three hours ahead of the predicted time.

Two pregnant women among the thousands of families jammed into Panama City emergency shelters went into labor while the winds

Japan's Typhoon Takes Heavy Toll; One GI Killed

TOKYO (UP) - Japanese national police reported today 481 persons dead or missing in the severe typhoon that ripped across Japan yesterday and left large areas flooded.

One American serviceman was killed at Camp Mairuru, 60 miles north of Osaka.

The latest casualty report by police listed 134 dead, 297 missing and 311 injured. Heavily-populated Kyoto prefecture was hardest hit with 45 dead and 31 missing.

An estimated 32,000 persons were reported homeless at Kyoto alone when the Yodo River overflowed and flooded 5,000 homes, some up to the second floor.

The center of typhoon "Tess," with winds of 100 miles an hour, ripped through the heart of Japan's main island of Honshu Friday but missed Tokyo.

It was the worst storm since a 1934 typhoon that took 1,000 lives. The U. S. Army established a disaster control center at Camp Ostu in the disaster area and started issuing relief goods and equipment in answer to urgent requests for help from Japanese officials.

One-third of the sprawling manufacturing city of Nagoya was flooded, police said. The port city of Yokohama was completely under water.

Aichi, Mie, Kyoto and Osaka were among the hardest hit cities. The "eye" of the typhoon brushed past the tip of Yakushima early Friday afternoon. It hit the southeast section of Mie and then smashed into Aichi prefecture in a northeasterly curve until it split in two over Suwa, 100 miles northwest of Tokyo. The two whirling centers continued across Honshu and curved out to sea near Sendai this morning.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (UP) - Starving black bears from the northern Ontario timberlands penetrated residential districts today and pawed at kitchen doors in search of food.

Police warned mothers to keep a constant eye on children during daylight hours and take them off the streets at night as the bears came south in record numbers to "feed up" for winter hibernation.

Adults carried shotguns and rifles in outlying districts of the twin cities of Fort Arthur and Fort William whose population totals 7,000.

One farmer shot two 250-pound bears on his back porch after being awakened by their pawing. Screen doors were ripped off hinges at scores of homes.

Another resident leaned from his bedroom window a week ago and killed three bears raiding garbage cans in his backyard.

Far-Reaching Military, Economic Treaty Concluded U.S. And Spain Sign Pact

By RALPH FORTE United Press Staff Correspondent MADRID Spanish (UP) - Spain and the United States today signed a far-reaching military and economic agreement that allied the two nations in defense of the Western world.

U. S. Ambassador James G. Dunn and Spanish Foreign Minister Alberto Martin Artajo signed Spanish and English versions of each of three accords defining terms of the alliance.

The agreement, negotiated after 17 months' planning and preparation, calls for strengthening of Spanish naval and air bases and making them available to heavy American atomic bombers and jet aircraft.

Signing of the agreement automatically released 226 million dollars in American aid for Spanish military and economic rehabilitation.

In accepting the terms, Spain gave up the status of neutral nation that she enjoyed in World Wars I and II.

Spain signed with the knowledge that the enemy in any future war would strike at bases which she has permitted the United States to use, as well as her cities, towns and harbors.

Officials said, however, that Generalissimo Francisco Franco believes the agreement was well worth the potential risks.

The first air bases to be reconditioned are in the Madrid, Barcelona and Seville areas.

Naval bases scheduled to be reconstructed and used primarily by the Mediterranean fleet are at Cadi and Cartagena.

American and Spanish military and civilian officials and newsmen witnessed the historic signing ceremony in Santa Cruz Palace.

The agreement does not fix a limit on the number of American servicemen and civilian technicians to be admitted to Spain, and thousands of officers and construction experts are expected to arrive shortly to implement the pact.

The agreement was made possibly largely through the efforts of a great friend of Spain, the late American Adm. Forrest Sherman.

Sherman, then chief of naval operations in Spain and approached Franco on the subject in 1951. The final decision was made recently by Franco and President Eisenhower.

Sens. Francis Case (R-S. Dak.) James Duff (R-Pa.) and John C. Stennis (D-Miss.) met with Dunn yesterday to discuss the alliance.

Plan Envisages Meeting With Pro-Red Sons Would Leave It To Mothers

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP) - A proposal to give heartbroken mothers a chance to win their Communist-indoctrinated sons from Korean prison camps depended on government and American Legion action today.

The plan, advanced Friday by Harry Myers, director of special events for the American Legion's Los Angeles council, would send the mothers to Korea, where their sons have chosen to stay in Communist captivity.

According to Myers' plan, the mothers could then meet their sons face to face in an attempt to persuade them to come home.

Some of the 23 families whose sons reportedly preferred to remain with the Communists hailed the idea as "the most wonderful yet."

However, a State Department spokesman in Washington said the proposal had not yet been brought to the government's attention.

Myers sent his plan to National Legion Commander Arthur J. Connel with the request that he relay it to "the United States government."

Mrs. Portia Howe of Alden, Minn., mother of Pfc. Richard R. Tenneson, said, "Oh, I think it's the most wonderful idea yet."

"I don't want to jeopardize a plan that has been worked out for the sake of one individual," she said, referring to United Nations plans for dealing with non-patriated prisoners.

"I just want my son home."

Three Negro men are being sought by Greenville police today for the brutal beating and robbery of an elderly Negro man at his home early this morning.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs this morning stated that three suspects who are being sought by local officers went to the home of Joe Roundtree, elderly Negro man, sometime after midnight last night.

The man apparently left the trio into his house for some reason and then the robbery and beating took place. Roundtree is in Pitt Memorial Hospital in a "fair" condition suffering from a serious head injury.

The robbery took place at 215 Center Street.

While a state-wide radio broadcast for the three men has been put on the air, Chief Gibbs said this morning he did not wish to reveal the names of the three who are being sought for questioning about the robbery.

All Tobacco Sales Records Exceeded

Almost every record that has ever been set by the local tobacco market was shattered the past week when more money was paid at a higher average per hundred pounds than ever before in the market's 63 year history.

Daily, weekly, and seasonal averages were broken by the Greenville market after completion of Friday's sale. W. L. Whedbee, sales supervisor, reported.

The highest previous seasonal gross average was in 1950 when the market averaged $56.34; however, this year's average is already $57.20 for the season and it seems to be still rising.

Minister Talks At Kiwanis Club Meeting Friday

At the Greenville Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night, Rev. B. E. Earnhardt, Methodist minister of Washington, N. C., was guest speaker. President - Leo W. Jenkins presided.

The meeting's theme was "National Kids' Day" annually observed each September 26, since Jimmie Fidler, Hollywood radio celebrity, established the custom during World War II.

The Washington minister discussed young people from numerous angles, and he punctuated his after-dinner speech with numerous anecdotes about the rearing of children. The Kiwanis frequently applauded him when he drove home a point about the "ups and downs" of childhood. J. Franklin Steinbeck, program chairman, presented the speaker.

A feature of last night's meeting was that numerous Kiwanians had their sons with them as guests of the club.

Ranger Explains Brush Fire Ban

District Forest Ranger N. S. (Kid) Tyson of Greenville has issued a warning about the forest protection laws of North Carolina and explained the brush-burning permit laws.

He called attention to a new phase of the law which prohibits a brush or grass fire to be started or caused to be started within 100 feet of an occupied dwelling.

Tyson quoted the state law governing starting of brush fires within 500 feet of areas under protection of State Forestry Service.

"It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to start or cause to be started any fire or ignite any material in any of the areas of woodlands under the protection of the State Forestry Service or within 500 feet of any such protected area, during the hours starting at midnight and ending at 8 p. m., without first obtaining from the state forester or one of his duly authorized agents a permit to start or cause to be started any fire or ignite any material in such above mentioned places between the first day of October and the first day of June, inclusive. No charge shall be made for granting such permits.

"During periods of hazardous forest fires conditions the state forester is authorized to cancel all permits and prohibit the starting of any fire in any of the woodlands under protection of the State Forestry Service or within 500 feet of any such protected area."

The district forest ranger said he or any of the district deputies has authority to issue brush burning permits.

Grimesland, One Of Pitt Counties Oldest Communities

Many modern and up to date homes dot the city limits of the town of Grimesland as evidenced by the home shown above. Pictured is the home of J. D. Heath.

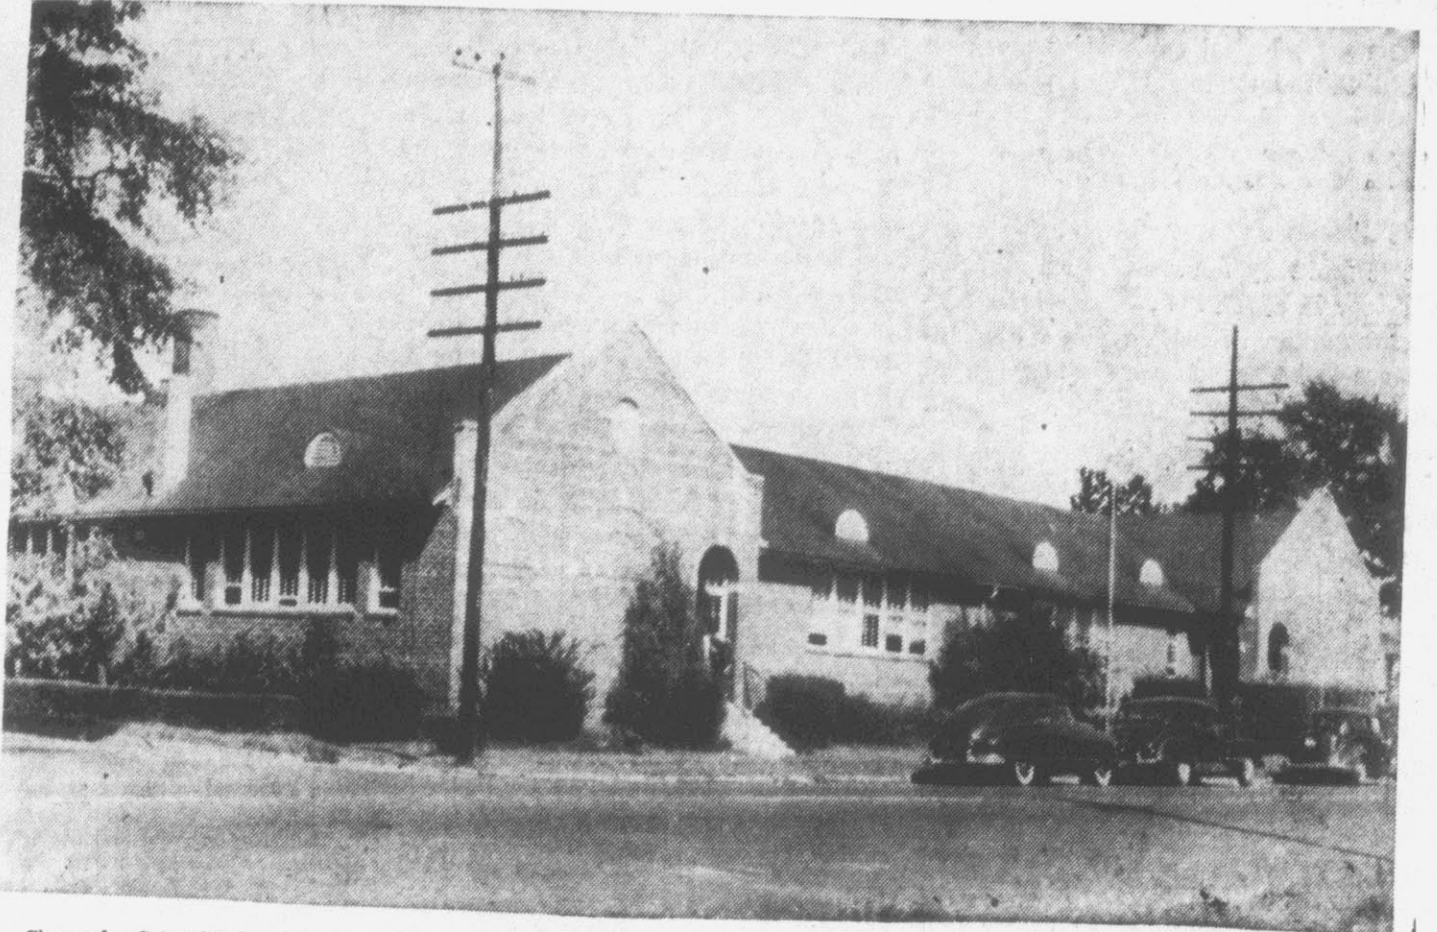

Perhaps one of the smallest post offices in the State is that of the Grimesland Post office. Mrs. Bonnie M. Godley is post mistress of the Grimesland office with Mrs. R. H. Galloway serving as clerk.

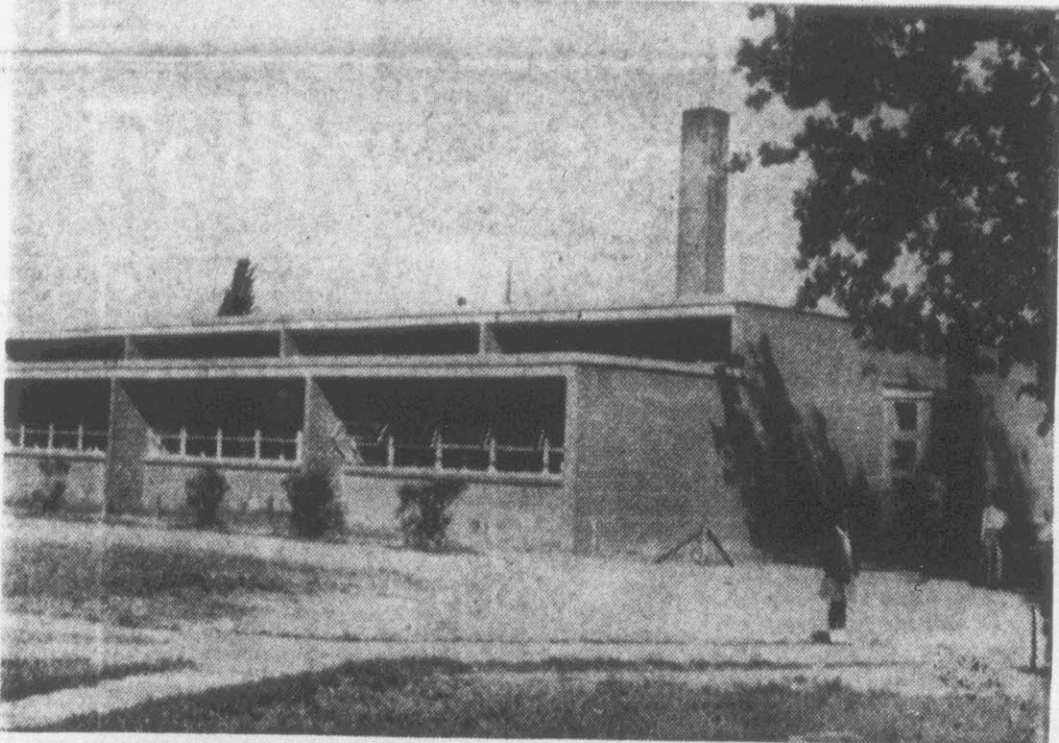

Pictured above is the Proctor Memorial Christian Church of Grimesland. Pastor of the church is G. H. Sullivan and Sunday School Superintendent is R. Victor Howell.

Here is a view of Grimesland looking West from one end of the town. A wide highway separating the two sections of town adds to the beauty of the old Pitt County community. L. B. Whichard is currently serving as mayor of Grimesland.

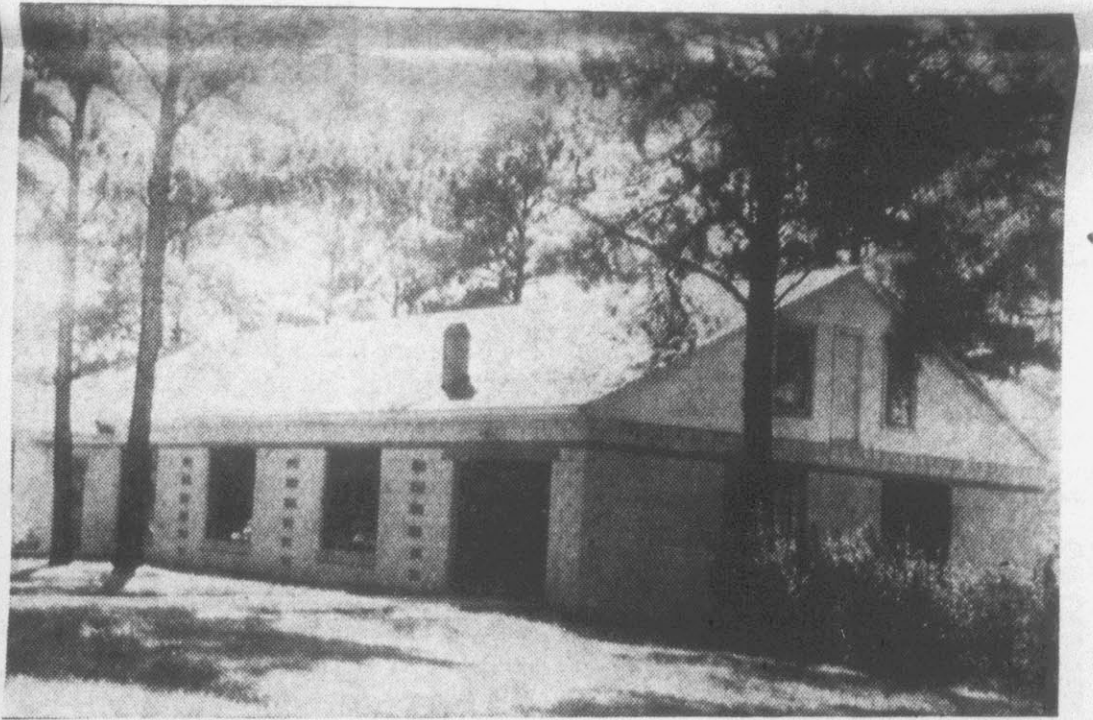

Classes for Grimesland's school population are held in the building, shown above, of which Garland F. Bailey is principal. Both high school and elementary classes are held in the brick building.

A modern and well equipped shop building is that of the Vocational Agriculture department, shown above, pride of the Grimesland School. A. H. Tucker is the Vocational Agriculture teacher.

Construction on the new Grimesland River bridge, which will span the Tar just below Grimesland, is moving along at a good pace. Work on the bridge was begun months ago and is scheduled to take around a year to complete, along with the construction of a new road leading to the site.

Tobacco History Is Being Made

People throughout Pitt County who have been closely associated with tobacco raising and the tobacco business for many years are saying prices like those being paid for tobacco this year in Eastern Carolina probably never will be seen again.

One thing is certain, even if some are inclined to doubt what the future will bring: grade for grade prices being paid for Eastern Carolina's tobacco this year never have been equaled in the many previous years the golden weed has been raised in this area.

The most logical explanation we have heard of the unusually high prices this

A.F. Of L. Ax Fell On Boss Ryan

The move by the American Federation of Labor to expell the racketeering-infested International Longshoreman's Union is a move to be hailed by all in the country who wish to see organized crime and gangsterism stamped out.

Various investigations and reports on the activities of certain elements within the labor union dominated by Joseph R. Ryan point to it as one of the most notorious den of criminals in the country.

After ordering the ILU to clean its own house of the gangsterism — which the union completely disregarded—the AF of L expelled the union from its ranks and chartered another union in its place. Such an act is to be commended.

More than mere paper work is involved in such a move, for Ryan and his followers can not be expected to give up their grip on the nation's commercial waterfronts without a terrific struggle.

The battling between Ryan's old union and the newly chartered ILA of the American Federation of Labor is destined to make news on the American scene during the coming months.

Strength for the Day

ON GOING TO CHURCH

Many people complain that they do not go to church because they do not find the preacher interesting.

This is a poor excuse. The sermon is only one part of a service of worship, and although it is important, it does not monopolize the importance of the service. The very quiet of the sanctuary has a beneficial effect upon our souls. At church we meet fine people—the best in the world. You may not be able to sing very beautifully, but if you want to remain silent and read to yourself the words of the hymn, that in itself will be helpful. The choir may or may not be pleasing, but again that is not a matter of overwhelming importance.

The important thing is that at church, in company with a group of believers, we have an opportunity to come into contact with God in a way not possible elsewhere. I recall one Sunday many years ago attending a service where the preaching was poor, the singing squeaky, the conducting of the service anything but inspiring. But in the recitation of the Creed, one of the statements which I had known from childhood leaped out, as it were, and stuck in my heart and mind like a dagger. I went out from the service feeling more spiritually exalted than I would if I had listened to the world's most eloquent preacher.

What we get out of church depends largely on what we take into church in the way of capacity and desire.

National Whirligig

A Treaty And Farm Economy

By RAY TUCKER

Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"Imagine my shock," writes Mrs. M.T.G. (address not given) "and that of many other readers to read in the newspapers that the United States Senate had approved a treaty handing over to the members of our armed services, when they are accused of criminal offenses, to the courts of NATO countries."

"I was amazed to find that such a treaty had been ratified. When the full import of this treachery is realized by the American people, I fear for our legislators!"

Answer: Pentagon and State Department spokesmen advocated this treaty on legal and political grounds. With so many American soldiers stationed in so many foreign countries (59, I believe), the affected countries would be offended if we insisted on maintaining what would be, in effect, extraterritorial courts. British and French possessions have complained for years over this vestige of colonial rule. They feel that it demeans them.

OVERSEAS COURTESY—But treaty supporters insist that fears of mistreatment of men in foreign courts are groundless. They assured Capitol Hill that in most instances the overseas judges and juries would be more lenient than our own court-martial boards. And they promised to keep these proceedings under careful observation.

However, if there should be any serious miscarriages of justice under this new system, worried readers may be assured that this international experiment will be scrapped. The Senate would repeal the treaty overnight under such circumstances. The fact, however, has a peculiar significance. It demonstrates that the United States cannot spread itself all over the world without assuming responsibilities and making sacrifices we would never have dreamed of—or accepted—a few years ago.

year, is that this section of the tobacco region had things just right during the growing season to be in advantageous position among flue cured sections.

Probably the most important of these factors is that the tobacco crop is much shorter than most people had expected or predicted. The tobacco on the Georgia and Border belts has been sold. It was fairly good tobacco, but somewhat short. The Eastern Belt had a good growing season and produced a reasonable amount of tobacco and surpassed the other sections in the quality of tobacco produced.

When the Old Belt opened, it became apparent that the quality of tobacco there was poor and the crop extremely short because of extremely dry weather. Put those factors together, and it left the Eastern Belt with the main supply of tobacco this season. And the purchasing companies, in order to fill their orders for leaf, have concentrated on the Eastern Belt for the larger percentage of their tobacco.

While it would be nice for farmers and the agricultural economy of Pitt County if tobacco prices could maintain their present high levels over a period of years; this year's prices can more realistically be viewed as the peak.

The chances probably would be less than one in 1,000 that all the factors which govern a tobacco crop — from its planting to its sale on the warehouse floors — would again place the tobacco crop of Eastern Carolina the favorable position it occupies this year.

Reds Are No More Trustworthy Than Before

Recurring reports that the Chinese communist in Korea have little faith in the truce agreement and are continuing to reinforce their military force, must be considered by American military leaders.

With many years experience of dealing with communists under the collective American belt, it should not be surprising that the Reds are failing to keep the terms of the truce. In view of that, the United Nations must keep its forces in Korea alerted and ready to repulse any surprise attack by the communists.

In the minds of some, the idea of a surprise attack by communist in Korea may be entirely unfounded. But in our opinion, nothing the communists do to attain their objective of world conquest should come as a surprise.

In Korea, the Reds have effectively used time on their side in every move they have made in the name of peace and settling the conflict. It is entirely possible that the present truce which includes a cease fire, will be broken by the Reds at any moment they think they have gained sufficient power to sweep U. N. forces from the Korean peninsula.

"How much truth is there," inquires F. G. of Richmond, Va., "in Truman's charges at the Chicago rally that economic conditions, especially for the farmers and workmen, have deteriorated under Eisenhower?"

Answer: The official statistics suggest that, as always, Truman was talking politics rather than economics. He had obviously not consulted the records, speaking only in erroneous generalities.

"Farm prices," he said, "are well below parity." "DECLINE DURING TRUMAN'S RULE" — Of course, they are, and they had begun the decline before he left the White House. The index stood at 99 in November, 1952, and fell to 96 on January 15, five days before inauguration.

As is usually the case, they continued their decline, and reached a low of 93. Most importantly, however, the parity figure was 110 when Truman was elected in 1948, meaning that it flopped 15 points during his last four years in the White House.

The farmers' realization of the responsibility for their smaller income explains why Eisenhower's popularity, although it has suffered somewhat, is still high in agricultural sections.

JOBLESS AT LOW MARK—He was equally misinformed on his charge that the factory workers had been hurt by the shift from Democratic (Truman) to Republican rule.

When Truman defeated Dewey in November, 1948, 1,831,000 people were without work. With liquidation of World War II plants, the figure increased to 4,065,000 by July, 1949, which was the highest since Pearl Harbor days.

As a result of the Truman-ordered and financed expansion after the Korean attack in June, 1950, the out-of-work total was about 1,600,000. But, as in 1941, it required a war to put them back on the payroll.

The latest official report from the Census Bureau lists the number of jobs at 1,549,000. That is the smallest number since the summer of 1945, when Washington still anticipated another year or more of war with Japan, including an actual invasion of the enemy islands. Finally, wages are at an all-time peak.

At Last Our Predictions Coming True

Somebody Told Me Some Drama In Everyday Life

This is a story of drama in everyday life. It's a simple tale of a man at an airport, but it conveys a thought worthy of passing on.

Yesterday on a business trip to Raleigh and Durham I took the family, and Rachel and I decided to show the children the airplanes at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. We walked up to the fence and were concentrating our efforts on pointing out features of the airplane that had just landed. All of a sudden the man standing beside us said, "Children really love airports." He was thirty-ish, handsome, well-mannered and well-dressed. "They certainly do," I said. "We have four," he continued, "and they're waiting for me when I land tonight." "It must be quite a job," I said, "that is, having four. But at times we think we'd like to try two more."

"It's fine to have a family of four," he said, "but by all means make it a point to get out now and then." As he was talking we were thinking what a friendly, well-adjusted man he was. You could picture him as a pillar in the church, and a civic-minded asset to the community. "Yes," he went on, "it's really important to get out occasionally. You know, relax and enjoy life. You see, I'm on my way home from four months in a hospital. My wife and I were so wrapped up in our four that we completely forgot everything else. Lost contact with our friends, never went out, and soon it had its effects on us." "This man didn't come right out and put it into words, but he had just recovered from a nervous breakdown. Never have I seen a man look so far from being in a nervous condition, but even as calm as he was, you could tell from the way he talked that he meant his advice to us to be heeded well.

It was only a few minutes later when this man, whose name we never learned, walked out on the run-way and boarded a plane. Driving home last night I asked Rachel, "Sleepy?" "No," she said, "I was just thinking about that man at the airport." We agreed that even though we don't know the man we appreciate his interest in us. He probably has interest not just in us, but in humanity itself. His emotional disturbance probably awakened his feeling toward others. And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

UP IN SMOKE (The Tulsa Tribune) Don't reach for that cigaret until you have pondered, for a moment, a stack of statistical information just issued by the National Tobacco Tax Research Council, Inc.

The federal government began taxing tobacco in 1864. The Civil War and the need for revenue to defray its costs was the excuse. But it is axiomatic that taxes levied for emergencies remain after the emergency has passed. Today the Federal Government taxes each package of cigarets at eight cents. The total annual take is over $1.5 billion. Forty-one states also tax cigarets at from two to eight cents—Oklahoma's is five cents—and that adds another $500 million to the burden of the habit.

Since the retail sales value of the approximately 19.5 billion packages sold in the United States in a year is approximately $4 billion, that means that the combined federal and state taxes represent more than 50 per cent of consumer expenditures on this item. Looking at it from the opposite side of the package, cigarets carry a tax of over 100 per cent.

Bringing such figures down to the level of the individual, the average pack-a-day smoker coughs up $29.20 a year in federal tax for his cigarets. Oklahoma then slugs him for $18.25 more, making a total of $47.45. Paying a yearly tax of $47.45 for the privilege of sticking a smouldering weed under one's nose is ridiculous.

Now, where was it we read that article telling how we could quit smoking?

Acquiring Rights Of Way Becomes Growing Problem

By LYNN NISBET
RIGHT OF WAY — One of the biggest problems confronting the Highway and Public Works Commission is acquisition of rights of way. It is rapidly becoming one of the most expensive items in the total cost of new highway construction.

The commission discussed at its monthly meeting here this week another bothersome and expensive item—the policing of the rights of way after title has been acquired by the State. Commissioner Emmett Robinson of the fourth division raised the issue when he asked what could be done about the traffic hazard of glaring Neon signs and bright lights along the highways. Many of these recognized hazards are not on the right of way and there is doubt about authority of the State to regulate them.

The discussion quickly moved into an area where authority is fixed, but admittedly very difficult to exercise. That is the location of service stations and drive-in eating places so close to the line that automobiles being served must park on the right of way—and in many instances the gas tanks and pump islands and other service facilities are actually on the right of way. And in hundreds of cases there are stationary permanent signs erected on property under complete State control, and access drives built in violation of law.

VARIABLE — The degree of violation varies. So does the width of the right of way, which in some places is 60 feet, the minimum of 30 feet each side of the center line, and in others is 200 feet or over, embracing 130 feet or more on each side of the center. In most instances the State has use-easement deeds rather than fee-simple title to this property. So long as it is used for highway purposes the distinction is a legal technicality without effect upon the State's right to control the space. There is also variance in the attitude of roadside operators. Some of them violate regulations because of ignorance. Others quite obviously are deliberately trying to "put over something". Therefore, it is very difficult to write or enforce a rule that will apply to every case with equal propriety.

BIG STICK — Chairman A.H. Graham and Chief Engineer W.H. Roberts Jr., said highway department policy has been to co-operate with local property owners and business places and be as easy on them as possible without actually damaging the public interest.

That attitude may have to be changed because the United States Bureau of Public Roads is threatening to wield a big stick. Rogers said there have been clearcut intimations that no Federal aid money will be available for highways unless the rights of way are completely cleared of all privately used buildings, storage facilities and service areas. The presently permitted exception is a temporary fence for grazing cattle.

If the Federal government bears down on that point the State government will be forced to bear down, too. That will mean that rights of way easements may cost more than has been the case, because the value of installations and the expense of moving them will have to be figured in the acquisition price.

EXPENSIVE — The expense of rights of way is overlooked by the average citizen when he thinks of the cost of highway construction. The commissioners are acutely conscious of it.

On one project approved by the commission this week the contract for grading amounted to slightly less than $200,000 while the contract for moving buildings along the way amounted to a little more than $200,000—and that did not include the purchase price for the easement or the buildings. Of course, there are some people who regard the State as fair game for any sort of hold-up they think they can get away with. These folks do not worry the highway builders as much as the honest home-owners and business firms who sincerely want to be fair and whose life savings in many instances would be lost unless a fair market price was paid for their property. That fair market price frequently is more than the cost of the road itself.

AUXILIARY — The increasing demands for auxiliary services by the highway commission presents a kindred problem to the rights of way acquisition. Access roads to school houses and school bus parking lots is an old problem. The highwaymen had a new one dumped into their laps this week. Rash Of Optimism

By ELMER ROESSNER
Ten days ago it was the fashion to predict an economic dip or a decline. Since then there has been almost a subburst of optimism.

"The market is there, the money is there and all in the world we have to do is go out and get it," Benjamin F. Fairless, U.S. Steel chairman, told the Economic Club of Detroit. He pointed out that more people have jobs in America than ever before in history, they are getting the highest wages, personal income is at a peak, people are spending more money than ever before and, on top of that, they still managed to save $17 billion last year.

The United States will enjoy in 1954 one of the most prosperous years in its history, J.W. Keener, B.F. Goodrich vice-president, told a management conference in Yosemite Park, California.

"The next year may go down in history as the biggest sales year yet," Dr. Lyndon O. Brown, Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample economist told the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers.

"There is a great possibility of pickup in economic activity," W. Harold Brenton, president, said at the American Bankers Association meeting in Washington this week. He said that at the moment business was on a plateau and that there were dangers of slide-offs in single industries, but that he was more afraid of public clamor for more inflation than of a recession.

While there was the usual disparity of views at the meeting of the New York Society of Security Analysts last week, James E. Hughes wouldn't even accept the "plateau" theory. He said that the market was ready for "a third phase of advance" which began in the bull market of 1942, and expects rises similar to the record-breaking gains which followed 1926 and 1946. While the stock market no longer controls the prosperity of the country, it cannot make record advances unless general business is booming or on the verge of booming.

STAINLESS STEEL KNIVES OUT—PULL DR. KINSEY
SOMETIME the greatest premium ideas fall flat. Retailing Daily reports that a home appliance center in Cleveland offered a copy of Dr. Alfred H. Kinsey's book on "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female" with every $60 rotserrerie, only to learn that offers of stainless steel knives or carving sets had out-pulled the book.

And in Buffalo an appliance store offered a $179.50 matched four-skin mink scarf with every $399 refrigerator and found no takers.

CEDAR CHESTS MUST BE 70 PER CENT CEDAR, SAYS FTC
A chest isn't a cedar chest unless 70 per cent or more of the wood is red cedar at least three-fourths of an inch thick.

The Federal Trade Commission, after conferences with manufacturers of cedar chests, has promulgated a new set of trade practice rules for the industry, replacing a code that was put into effect in 1933. The rules specify what may be described as cedar chests and prescribe other trade practices.

How To Deal With Neurotic Dog

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Dogs often become neurotic when a child is born into a family in which they have ruled as the pampered pets. The jealous dog feels he has lost face.

This was the problem worrying Abner and Elsie Whimzy, who were expecting a blessed event. How could they best break the news to loyal old Towser, their famous talking dog?

Abner first tried psychology. After Towser fell asleep, he gently put a doll in bed with him. The next morning Abner found chewed portions of the doll scattered all around the room. Abner decided then the best thing to do was to talk the whole thing out—man to dog. So he called Towser into the living room, and the following conversation took place:

Abner—Sit down, Towser, I've got something I want to tell you. Towser leaping brazenly up on the sofa—Okay boss. Now what have I done right?

Abner—This is no joking matter. Why did you tear up that doll?

Towser—It was an unaccountable impulse. It reminded me of a baby, and I hate babies.

Abner—Don't you think that's a pretty neurotic attitude for a grown dog?

Towser—So I'm neurotic. A baby just brings out the beast in me. After all, education is only skin-deep, isn't it? There's a savage lurking in all of us.

Abner—You're right, but we must learn to curb our impulses. Look, Towser, you know I wouldn't do anything in the world to hurt you, don't you? You know I'm your best friend, and—Towser—Boss, you got the script wrong. A dog is man's best friend, and any day you act like a man you know I'm right there backing you up like a buddy. If you got bad news, let's hear it.

Abner—Well, Elsie and I are expecting a little bundle of joy from heaven.

Towser—Let's bring the conversation down to earth, boss. What's in the bundle-moo? Abner—No. Now don't lose your temper, Towser. We are bringing another little one into our home.

Towser forgetting himself and beginning to growl—What, a puppy? I'll tell you right now—this house isn't big enough for two dogs.

Abner—No, not a puppy. A baby—a sweet, nice little baby.

Towser barking wildly — A baby, boss? That's even worse. What have I done to deserve this? How have I let you down?

Abner—It isn't that. Nothing could ever take your place in our hearts. But we became lonesome for the patter of little feet.

Towser—What's wrong with the patter of little paws? Sometimes I don't think I understand people. Is this a talking baby?

Abner—No, not at first. Towser—Well, that's a relief. I can't stand baby talk. But why you'd want a non — talking baby when you already got the only talking dog in the neighborhood, is beyond me.

Abner—Towser, old pal, this thing is bigger than both of us. Towser—Will this baby insist that we look at those dreadful cowboy shows on the television set?

Abner—No. But I do want you and the baby to be real pals. And if the baby pulls your tail or ears, I want you to put up with it. Understand?

Towser shuddering—Oh, their awful cummy hands. Abner—Every dog will go on just as before. Only one thing. You can't sit on the sofa anymore. You get hairs on it.

Towser—What do you think the baby will get on it—feathers? Abner—Never mind. Towser, I'm glad to see you're taking this like the real dog I knew you were. We've always been able to count on you in a pinch. Do you have any questions?

Towser after brooding — Just one, boss. Abner—Yes? Towser—How can I get a transfer out of this mixed-up outfit?

Teachers And Principals Of Pitt Schools Meet

The first county wide teachers' meeting and the first monthly principals' meeting of the year were held this week. D. H. Conley, county superintendent of schools, reported yesterday.

Winterville principal Paul J. Clark, president of the Pitt County Teachers' Association, presided at the teacher's meeting held at Grimesland Wednesday night.

Clark asked for school membership reports and for the number of teachers who had joined the teacher's organizations, either county, state, or national. Miss Mavis Brown, Winterville commercial teacher and secretary of the teachers' association, gave the financial report.

A program on vocational agricultural, featuring a talk by T. B. Elliott, director agricultural education for this district, was presented so the general academic teacher could tell their youngsters what is available to them. At the next meeting another vocational subject will be discussed.

Conley explained the School Bond issue, to be voted on October 3, and urged teachers to support it.

Garian Bailey, Grimesland principal, made the address of welcome and Mrs. Frances Madry led the group singing. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

W. C. Latham, Bethel principal, talked on principal's responsibility for good public relations in the community at the principal's meeting Tuesday night.

The Morehead Scholarship Plan, which is open to Pitt County students who want to enroll at the University of North Carolina, was presented by Joseph S. Moye, chairman of the County Board of Education, and W. W. Speight, local attorney.

A report on school visitation was presented by Miss Annie Lee Jones and Mrs. Edna Earle Baker, supervisors of instruction.

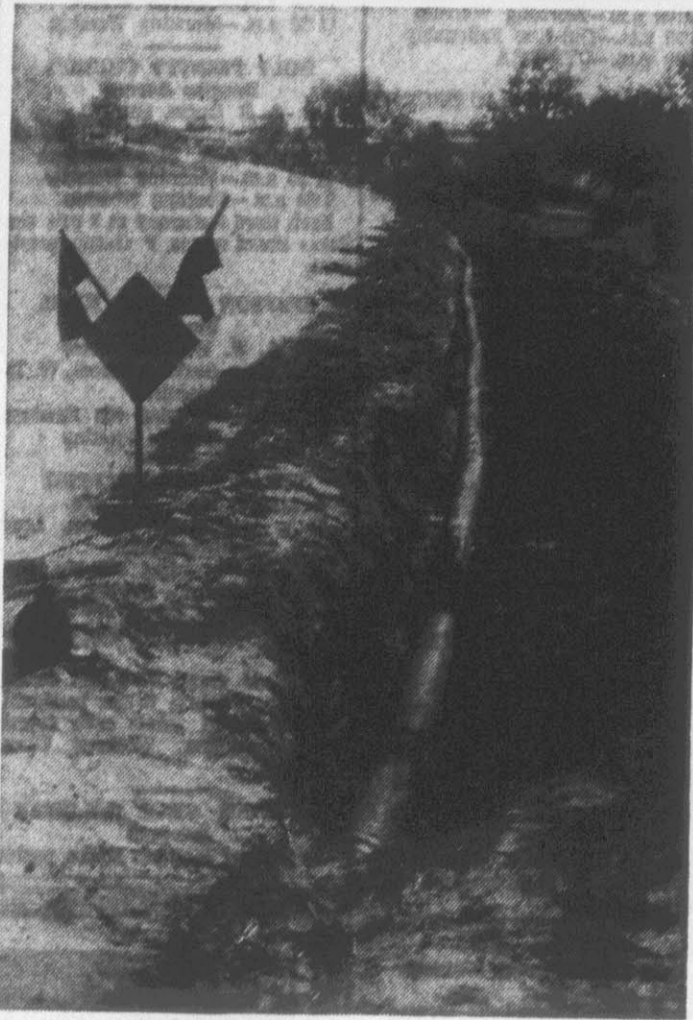

The Negro principals met the same evening to discuss routine school matters, Conley stated.

The next teacher's meeting will be held in Stokes on December 2; however, the date for the next principal's meeting has not been set.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Friday, two Marines from Camp Lejeune were found guilty of the larceny of gasoline from Helms Motor Company trucks parked in the rear of the Wagner-Waldrop Motor Company's plant at West End Circle.

Judge Charles H. Whedbee gave William F. Fullam and James R. Hopkins of Camp Lejeune each 30 days in jail, sentence to be suspended on payment of court costs and $15 each to Helms Motor Company. The judgment also provides that the two Camp Lejeune Marines must not visit Greenville for 12 months. On the second charges Fullam and Hopkins were each given 30 days in jail, the sentences to run consecutively with the other two cases.

Jimmy Earl James and Herbert Luther Tripp, Route 1, Greenville, found guilty of speeding at 75 miles an hour were fined $25 each, costs deducted. The judgment provides that they are not to drive a motor vehicle for 30 days.

Speeding: John R. Stanell, $15; Charles C. McGlone, $15; Lynn O. Rivers, $15; Doris M. T. Ruddle, $15.

The cases against Henry Monk and Carrie Randolph, Negroes, charged, respectively, with allowing a non-licensed person to operate a car and driving without an operator's license, were not prosed with leave.

The cases against James Humphrey and Ethel Hopkins, charging fornication and adultery, were not prosed with leave. Testimony was that they had been living together.

The case against William J. McMellum, Negro, charged with driving a car with defective equipment, was not prosed with leave.

Beavers Combat Dynamite Blasts

TWEED, Ont. (AP)—Even dynamite has failed to defeat the beaver in this area. Foresters of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests blast away beaver dams which flood large areas of the district only to find them rebuilt in a couple of hours.

"They aren't satisfied with just rebuilding the dam," one conservation officer complained, "they make it longer, higher and heavier. Electric fences are a failure, dynamiting doesn't work and we've already tried trapping. We took out 6,000 of the critters last year. I guess we'll have to be as stubborn as they are."

Arthur Strong, Negro, Route 3, Greenville, driving while drunk, 60 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs. The court recommended that Strong's operator's license be revoked for a year.

Amos Byrd, disorderly conduct and profane language, paid $10.

No operator's license: Johnny Weldon, Negro, $10; Richard L. Spivey, $15; Matthew Smith, Negro, $15; John L. Brown, Negro, $15.

Jesse Small, Negro, failure to pay taxi fare, paid $5 on court costs and was ordered to pay $10 to Bill Bland.

In the case of James Ed Mills, charged with non-support, Judge Whedbee ordered the case retained for further order.

Frank Gorham, Negro, operating a motor vehicle without a state license, $20, costs deducted.

Good Deed Pays After 15 Years

BUFFALO, N.Y. (U.P.)—A Polish refugee who survived long years of hardship and residence in a dozen countries soon will begin a new life, convinced that the good men do lives on.

Stanley Leja is joining the teaching staff at Cornell University. For the opportunity, he credits a friendship established more than 15 years ago during anti-Semitic riots in Poland.

Leja was kind to a fellow mathematics student, Marek Kac, during those riots. Soon afterwards, however, Kac came to the United States and Leja lost track of him. Remaining in Poland, Leja married. When the Communists invaded the country, he and his wife were deported to Siberia and suffered many hardships before making a flight to freedom in the United States.

One day while working as a loader in a local milling company, he heard the name of his old friend mentioned. He immediately wrote to him.

Kac, now famous as head of Cornell's math department and consultant in government atomic research, remembered that kindness back in Poland and invited Leja to join him at Cornell as an assistant professor.

AMES, Ia. (AP)—The corn borers have even the experts confounded in Iowa this year. Harold Gunderson, Iowa State College extension entomologist, says the borers normally reach their egg-laying peak around June 17 and have finished laying by June 25. But this year the laying continued throughout July.

Farmers normally spray when they find 100 egg masses per 100 plants. But that rule doesn't apply this year because eggs laid early already have hatched. And Gunderson says the experts have no other rule to offer that will help the farmers protect their crop.

Two Convicted Of Stealing Gas

City Police caught two Camp Lejeune Marines in the act of stealing gasoline from a local truck firm Thursday night.

The two men listed by Detective N.H. Byrd as being James R. Hopkins, 21, and William F. Fullman, 19, were arrested at 11:45 when they attempted to removed gas from trucks belonging to the Helms Motor Lines in West Greenville.

Thefts of gasoline had been reported to local authorities several times during the past weeks and officers had been investigating.

Before City recorders Court Judge, Charles H. Whedbee yesterday morning the two were found guilty of larceny of the gasoline and ordered to pay $15 to the Helms Co.

A 30-day suspended sentence was given the boys in each case, on payment of cost of court and not to be in the city limits of Greenville at any time in the next 12 months.

In passing sentence, the Judge said to the two: "We like to have marines in Greenville but do not welcome thieves."

STREET REPAIR WORK—Street Superintendent C. K. Besty is shown supervising the work of one of his crews which have been engaged in the reworking of streets and sidewalks in Greenville. Several sections of uptown sidewalk, crumbled and "ragged" for years, have been removed and replaced with newly-poured cement. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

SCENIC SHOES—Scenes tooled on the soles and heels of shoes were featured in a 1953 shoe repairing competition in London. This Venetian scene took first prize in the contest.

PICKING UP SPEED—Henri Frants's motorcycle takes to the air at the top of a hill in race at Paris' Montreuil cross-country track. Henri, a Frenchman, held on to win.

Don't Take It for Granted!

OSTRICHES NEVER STICK THEIR HEADS IN SAND!

WHEN AN OSTRICH IS FRIGHTENED, IT DOES NOT BURY ITS HEAD IN THE SAND, BUT STRETCHES ITS NECK ALONG THE GROUND!

Exchange Club Hears Sanitarian

At the Greenville Exchange Club's supper meeting at the Woman's Club last night, Willie Pate, sanitarian for the Pitt County Board of Health, was guest speaker.

He showed a movie made in North Carolina showing the various activities of an average county health department. The film included chest x-ray surveys, vaccination teams, work of visiting nurses, and other projects. The movie showed scenes of inspection of eating places, spraying for insects around homes and in canals, ditches and other breeding spots.

The sanitarian explained that the theme of the movie is that public health is not an individual matter, but the concern of everybody for the welfare of all. Pate said a North Carolinian now has the life expectancy of almost double that of a century ago, when epidemics were rampant and little was done to prevent disease.

President Jake Hadley presided.

Transplanting Raises Queries

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana transplanted a wild bighorn mountain ram with curious results. The ram and 15 other bighorn sheep were planted on an Eastern Montana ranch with a view to restoring the breed in that region.

The ram associated with a group of domestic sheep with these consequences:

A Jordan rancher wondered what 11 wool-less lambs in his herd would bring on the market. Sportsmen wondered if this could be the start of a new game species. And Montana state biologists planned to learn if the hybrid offspring would be sterile.

Child Turned In False Fire Call

City firemen were brought on the run yesterday around one o'clock when a small child pulled in a false fire alarm from the corner of First and Harding streets.

Information as to who pulled in the alarm was turned over to the Police Department for investigation. Two trucks answered the false alarm.

WATCHTOWER SPEAKER AT KINGDOM HALL

J. S. Wheeler, a representative of the Watchtower Society, will speak on "Happiness In A World of Gloom" at Kingdom Hall, 301 Brown street, in Greenville, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The address is free and no collection will be taken, the announcement stated.

GOT WHAT HE WANTED
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Homer W. Wilson, 45, was granted a request by Circuit Judge L. R. Curtis who last November suspended a year's sentence against him for assault and battery. The request was "put me in jail." Wilson said he wanted to get away from liquor and keep out of more trouble. Judge Curtis revoked the suspension.

BALINESE—Bali, a cocktail dress designed for Miami's coming winter season, is made from one of a series of screened prints adapted from Balinese ceremonial robes.

Leaflet Raid Slated For 3 N. C. Centers

FORT BRAGG (UP)—Roxboro, Durham and Chapel Hill will be the first three targets to be "attacked" in four days of aerial leaflet bombardment starting on L-Day, Sept. 29, the Army's Psychological Warfare Board announced today.

Laurinburg, Wadesboro and Monroe have been chosen as alternate targets in case of unfavorable conditions over the primary targets, the board spokesman said.

Military planes will bombard three cities per day in the Carolinas for the four-day period in a project set up by the board to test effectiveness of aerial leaflet drops designed to hit specific target areas.

Capt. Leonard Kleckner, project officer for the test said the wind conditions may force last minute redesignation of target areas.

"Leaflets will be dropped on the three cities presently selected if Mount, N. C., and Darlington, Mullins, Marion, Conway and Little River, S. C."

The leaflets to be dropped are postcards bearing the address of the Psychological Warfare Board on one side and a variety of questions for the finder to answer on the opposite side. The questions for the finder to answer on the opposite side. The questions concern such data as altitude of leaflet when first sighted, direction of the drift, location of the spot where it landed and whether it was one of many found close together or found alone.

The dozen cities to be hit will be chosen from 18 originally selected by the board as tentative "enemy held" targets. Others on the list of potential targets are Charlotte, Richmond, Warsaw, Goldsboro, Enfield, Wilson, and Rocky Mount, N. C., and Darlington, Mullins, Marion, Conway and Little River, S. C.

SUPPER FOR THREE

Three men ate supper together one night in the little town of Emmaus, near Jerusalem.

Two of them were sorrowful disciples whose Master had been crucified.

The third was the risen Christ, Himself, though His dejected companions had not recognized Him.

At the table Jesus broke bread as He had in the Upper Room. Suddenly the eyes of the disciples were opened. They beheld their Master!

Next Sunday is WORLD COMMUNION SUNDAY. Christians the world over will gather in their churches to celebrate the Lord's Supper. Again in the breaking of bread men will realize that Christ lives—that He stands in our midst today.

And the joy of the disciples at Emmaus will be multiplied a millionfold in every city cathedral, every village chapel.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

to his own 22. From there he, Howell, and Bob Langston alternated in carrying the ball to the Kinston 17 in a sustained march.

At the 17, the Phantoms were slowed temporarily by a 15-yard penalty that threw them back to the 22. Sawyer and Bobby Conway got the Phantoms out of the hole in that situation however on a spectacular pass play that Conway completed by jumping between two Kinston defenders. The play moved the ball to the Kinston four.

Two plays later Howell plunged through the line for the score. Sawyer's pass to Conway was good for the point and the Phantoms led 13-7. Kinston determinedly took the resulting kickoff and went length of the field for their winning points. Kenneth Brinkley spear-headed the drive to the Greenville 11 to set up Tripp's scoring run.

Coach Frank Mook's Kinston Red Devils struck for a touchdown with two minutes remaining to stage a 14-13 Northeastern Conference upset here last night.

The Red Devils' victims in the upset were the Greenville Phantoms, rated as "team to beat" in the Northeastern this year.

The winning touchdown came when quarterback Bill Tripp faked a pass and swept around right end from the 11-yard line to end the 94-yard drive. Roland Everette kicked the extra point that won the ball game.

The Phantoms had struck late in the first half after being held for downs earlier on the Kinston seven. The first touchdown came in the second period when Bob Howell scored on a 19-yard pass from quarterback. The play had been set up when Howell intercepted a Kinston pass on the Kinston 43 and ran it back to the 19 on a brilliant exhibition of broken field running.

On the scoring play, Howell was in the left flat when he took the pass on the Kinston 15. He cut to his right and swivel-hipped his way for the touchdown. The all-important extra point attempt by Gene Hudson was blocked by Kinston's Buddy Potter.

That was the only touchdown of the first half but the Red Devils got their own scoring machinery in high gear soon after the second half started. They capitalized on a Greenville fumble to start the show.

Phantom Assistant Coaches Marshall Tatum and Jack Benie praised Billy Arnold, Bobby Langston, Bobby Conway, and Doug Morgan for their outstanding defensive work. Halfback Bob Howell also turned in a top-notch defensive game with two pass interceptions.

On offense, Halfback James Speight was the leading ground-gainer with 110 yards in 21 carries. Fullback Bobby Langston totaled 52 yards in 16 tries.

The Phantoms were halted twice during the game on apparent scoring marches. The first time was in the opening minutes of the first quarter after Howell had intercepted a Kinston pass and returned it to the Kinston 48. In twelve plays the Phantoms drove to the Kinston seven-yard line but there the Devils' defense tightened and Kinston took over on downs.

The other time was late in the third quarter when the Phantoms drove from their own twelve to the Kinston 30 before their offense bogged down again.

Greenville will return home next Friday night for their Homecoming Game with the Washington Pam-Pack.

Score by quarters:

Greenville scoring: touchdowns, Howell, 2. Extra points, Conway, 1. (pass from Sawyer).

Kinston scoring: touchdowns, Tripp, 2. Extra points, Everette, 2. (placements).

The Phantoms began their second scoring drive just as the fourth quarter began. James Speight started the parade with a punt return two yards out, William Hux cracked across from the one on a quarterback sneak, and S. M. Barnes bulled through from the seven.

Wilmington never threatened in the contest which was played before 2,500 fans. It was the first home game of the year for the Wildcats. The ECC team is coached by Earl Smith, former head coach at Campbell Junior College.

The Baby Bucs started their touchdown parade early in the first quarter with quarterback Milton Collier crashing over from the two. Two more scores were added in the second quarter when fullback James Henderson took off on a 17-yard scoring jaunt and halfback Boyd Hooper cracked through on a five-yard line buck.

The third quarter was scoreless for both teams but ECC tallied three more times in the fourth quarter. Hooper crossed the goal line from

Big James Parker Beats Jim Slade

NEW YORK (UP) — Big James J. Parker's motto today was "be ware of little substitutes," for he was saved from defeat Friday night only by the last-minute fumble of light heavyweight Jimmy Slade in St. Nicholas Arena.

At that, he won by the eyelash margin of a single point.

Parker, towering six feet three inches and weighing 201 1/2 pounds, won an unpopular split 10-round decision over stocky, 177-pound Slade by virtue of a knockdown about 20 seconds before the final bell. It was his seventh consecutive victory.

Loud, persistent booring from the 1,200 fans greeted the verdict at the close of the nationally televised and broadcast bout.

Slade of New York accepted the match against Parker of Paterson, N. J., on three days notice after Danny Nardico of Tampa, Fla., suffered a virus infection and withdrew. And he spotted the tall knockout specialist 24 1/2 pounds.

Nevertheless, the nimble Negro light-heavy seemed to have the fight wrapped up at the end of the ninth round. He gassed Parker's left brow in the first round and thereafter dished out more punishment with his swarming, rapid-fire counterattack than he received from the awkward giant's long rights to kidney and head. He had Parker floundering in the eighth and ninth seasons.

Parker, who had knocked out 21 of his 29 previous opponents, was favored in rounds by judge Bert Grant, 6-4. But judge Tony Rossi voted for Slade, 6-4. Referee Jack Watson gave each five rounds, but favored Parker on points, 7-6.

The United Press had Slade ahead, 5-4.

Morehead City Romps 32-6 Over Farmville Red Devils

MOREHEAD CITY — Morehead City's undefeated team roared to an easy 32-6 victory over Farmville here last night. The win was the third straight for the Morehead City team.

Danny O'Neal and Kemp Wickizer shared the scoring honors for Morehead City. Wickizer broke the ice with a three yard plunge in the first quarter. O'Neal got off on runs of 46 and 36 yards for the next two touchdowns. Before the half, fullback Jerry Connor scored from the two. Walter Thomas booted a pair of extra points during the period.

Farmville came back in the third quarter for its lone touchdown. Teddy Allen carried the mail on the play which had started on the one yard line.

Bobby Willis, second string fullback for Morehead City, passed to Thomas for the final Morehead touchdown. The scoring pass covered six yards and came in the fourth quarter.

Fullback Jerry Connor was head and shoulders above the rest of the field in defensive play during the game. His chief assistants in rolling up the Farmville attack were Thomas and Jimmy Willis.

The defeat was the first for the Farmville team which had defeated Jamesville and South Edgecombe in its first two games. Biggest factor in the defeat last night was that Farmville was unable to get its potent offensive attack featuring Jesse Joyner and Teddy Allen rolling.

Close Batting Races Mark End Of Major Loop Season

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Two of the closest finishes to the batting races in 20 years shaped up today as Al Rosen closed in on Mickey Vernon in the American League and Al (Red) Schoendienst made a last, desperate bid to overtake Carl Furillo in the National League.

Rosen, shifted to leadoff man by Cleveland Manager Al Lopez in order to get as many official trips to the plate as possible, collected four hits in six trips as the Indians routed the Tigers, 12-3, Friday night and thereby raised his average to .332—only one point behind Vernon, who was shut out by Marion Fricano.

Schoendienst, meanwhile also collected four hits in six trips as the Cardinals routed the Cubs, 11-2, and upped his average to .342. The injured Furillo, idle for the last three weeks still holds the lead but his .344 figure looks more insecure every time Schoendienst steps to the plate.

Rosen, who finishes the season against Detroit pitching, hit two homers Friday night to take over the American League lead with 43 and he has the runs batted in

Elm City Defeats Chicod, 26-14, In Six-Man Game

ELM CITY—The passing combination of J. T. Mills to Bobby Fornes elicited four touchdowns here yesterday but they weren't enough as Chicod's Hornets fell 26-14 to Elm City.

Mills completed scoring passes of 30 and 10 yards to Fornes but the scoring plays were more than balanced by Elm City's four touchdown parade.

Elm City's touchdowns came on a 20-yard pass from Sharo to Jones, a 40-yard pass from Hardison to White, and two ends sweeps by Owens.

Curley Mills of the Hornets was outstanding in the defensive play of the afternoon with 21 tackles to his credit. J. C. Evans played an outstanding game at defensive halfback and had a 40-yard pass interception return to his credit.

The loss was the first of the year for the Chicod six-man team. They will meet Bath next Friday afternoon at Chicod.

Ken Raffensberger of the Redlegs started in organized ball in 1937 with Cambridge, Md., and led the Eastern Shore League in innings pitched with 298. He never has pitched that many innings since.

Irish-Oklahoma Head Grid Card For Nation's Fans

NEW YORK (UP) — The Oklahoma-Notre Dame football game, apparently the biggest thing to hit the Southwest since they opened the Cimarron Territory, heads today's college program and goes on before a sellout crowd of 57,935 and as many more as can scramble within TV range.

TV range for the clash at Norman's Owen Field is WKY-TV in Oklahoma City. The state Board of Regents made a vain bid to get the National Collegiate Athletic Association to at least add KOTV in Tulsa to the TV coverage.

The NCAA said both teams are due for nation-wide TV appearances later this season and TV would have to be limited to WKY-TV.

Earlier this week it appeared Oklahoma fans were clamoring for TV views of physical wrecks because that's how the rival coaches — Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma — described their squads.

But Friday night both teams reported sudden recoveries among the injured. John Lattner, Notre Dame's All-America halfback, is among the cripples expected to play and the Irish are seven-point picks to snap Oklahoma's 25-game home victory streak.

Leahy has almost the same team that defeated Oklahoma, 27-21, last year at South Bend.

Wilkinson, who had to build a new backfield to replace such stars as Billy Vessels and Buck McPhail, said Oklahoma "has less chance against Notre Dame than in any game I've ever been around." One of Wilkinson's new backs is Max Boydston, a 196-pound converted end who reportedly is faster than Vessels.

While Oklahoma fans attempt to get within TV range of the South-west feature, the NCAA's national TV offering today will be the Holy Cross-Dartmouth game at Lynn, Mass. Holy Cross is a seven-point favorite.

Michigan State last year's national champion, plays its first game in the Big Ten when it meets Iowa at Iowa City, Ohio State, touted as one of the top midwestern teams this year, meets Indiana in another conference contest at Columbus, Ohio.

Three other Big Ten clubs open their seasons against intersectional rivals with Michigan playing host to Washington; Wisconsin entering Penn State and Minnesota meeting Southern California at Pasadena, Calif.

Purdue visits Missouri Nebraska invades Illinois and Northwestern is at home to Iowa State in other non-conference games involving Big Ten teams.

In other intersectional features, Pennsylvania is at home to Vanderbilt, Villanova plays Texas at Austin, Tex., and Clemson visits Boston College.

The East Carolina College Pirates will make their North State Conference debut tonight—and they're picking on nothing less than the defending champion.

The big Buccaneers will tangle with Lenoir-Rhyne's big Red Bears tonight at 8 o'clock in College Stadium. The game will bring together the teams generally acknowledged as the most likely contenders for the 1963 conference championship.

The Pirates are somewhat dubious favorites in the game, largely on the basis of opening night performances a week ago. Coach Jack Boone's Pirates romped to an easy 41-0 victory over a hopelessly outclassed Wilson Teachers College team while the Bears were bounced 20-7 by Wolford.

Since that opening game, however, the picture has changed considerably for both teams. The Pirates have watched three of their starters tuff out of the sidelines with injuries. The Bears, on the other hand, have been working and improving steadily in their presentation of single-wing offense and defense.

Hayes Out

East Carolina's main troubles tonight will be having to operate with the services of the top three halfbacks on the team and the top right end. The halfbacks who are out of full-time duty are Tippy Hayes, Paul Gay, and Jack Britt. Hayes is the only one of the three definitely out of the game but both Gay and Britt have injuries that will keep them from running at top speed. The end who is on the sidelines is Al Habit, victim of a sprained ankle in last week's opener.

Most of the Lenoir-Rhyne practice work this week has been concentrated in improving an offense that sputtered and stuttered last week against Wolford.

Big Joe O'Donnell, a 175-pound sophomore, has been permanently installed at fullback to run with tailback Billy Eanes. Little (165-pound) Henry Smith, a junior college transfer from Gardner-Webb, has been made the top wingback in Coach Clarence Stasavich's single wing.

Lenoir-Rhyne's defensive play is led by co-captain Bob Mauer, a 196-pound candidate for All-State honors. Mauer, a 6-3 senior from Elizabethton, was one of the outstanding men in last week's loss to Wolford.

The probable starting line-up:

Pos. L-Rhyne	E. Carolina
LT—Clark	Hodges
LT—McCannless	Brown
LG—Gant	Lee
C—Gibboney	Hallow
RG—Mauer	Burton
RT—Egelsky	Holland
RE—Sherrill	Rhodes
QB—Kunkler	Cherry
LB—Eanes	Barnes
RH—Smith	Allsbrook
FB—O'Donnell	King

The Southeastern conference games match Tulane at Georgia, Louisiana State at Alabama, Georgia Tech at Florida, Kentucky at Mississippi and Mississippi State at Tennessee.

Oregon plays at Stanford and California at Oregon State in Pacific Coast Conference Montana plays host to Wyoming and Tulsa visits Wichita in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Pirate Frosh Beat 'Cats 39-0 In Season's Opener

WILMINGTON—Despite penalties totaling 205 yards, the East Carolina College freshman team rolled to an easy 39-0 victory over the New Hanover High School Wildcats here last night.

The game was the first of the season for the Frosh and the third for the Wildcats. In its two previous games the Wilmington team had defeated Asheville and lost to Maury (Norfolk).

The Baby Bucs started their touchdown parade early in the first quarter with quarterback Milton Collier crashing over from the two. Two more scores were added in the second quarter when fullback James Henderson took off on a 17-yard scoring jaunt and halfback Boyd Hooper cracked through on a five-yard line buck.

The third quarter was scoreless for both teams but ECC tallied three more times in the fourth quarter. Hooper crossed the goal line from two yards out, William Hux cracked across from the one on a quarterback sneak, and S. M. Barnes bulled through from the seven.

Wilmington never threatened in the contest which was played before 2,500 fans. It was the first home game of the year for the Wildcats. The ECC team is coached by Earl Smith, former head coach at Campbell Junior College.

Tom Fool Racing At Belmont Park

NEW YORK (UP) — Tom Fool, Greentree Stable's brilliant handicapper, was set to add the $50,000 Sycoby stakes at Belmont Park to his impressive list of consecutive triumphs today, unperturbed whether the famed milo classic was called a "race" or an "exhibition."

The fleet-footed son of Menow, winner of eight straight this season and headed for stud duty next year, has more than held his own in both this year.

Seven horses were entered for the Sycoby and if four of them start betting will be permitted. But if the field is reduced to three or fewer through scratches, there will be no wagering and a ninth race added to the three-stake program.

Hampson Stable's Alerted, Hasty House Farm's Rubie, Yolo Stable's Arcia Viva, Mrs. Ben F. Whitaker's Grecian Queen, Phantom Farm's Nullify and Myhelyn Stable's Master Fiddle were the other horses entered.

But America's racing fans would trade them all for Native Dancer, the galloping gray who dominated the three-year-old division just as Tom Fool spread-eagled the older horses. For the two champions were scheduled to meet in the Sycoby in the "race of the century" but Native Dancer went agais and had been retired for the year.

Now Tom Fool and Native Dancer never will clash for Tom Fool probably will start only once more after today's race—in the Pimlico special Oct. 24.

Sugg High Lions Defeat LaGrange By 26-0 Margin

LAGRANGE — The H. B. Sugg High School Lions invaded the stronghold of the Frink High School of LaGrange and completely overpowered the Frink team in scoring a 26-0 victory.

After the first three minutes of play there was no doubt as to which was the stronger of the teams. The only question involved was the margin of victory to be rolled up by the Farmville team.

Touchdowns for the Lions were scored by Baker, Calvin Tyson, and Babe Moyer. Those three were the offensive standouts for Farmville along with Joyner and Hope.

Defensively, Bud Moore, Stewart, and Freddie Tyson anchored the Farmville school's line.

Mangrum Blasts Ben Hogan Again

NEW YORK (UP) — Lloyd Mangrum, the lean Texan who was wounded while fighting with the infantry in Europe in World War I fired more verbal shrapnel at fellow Texan Ben Hogan before leaving for Britain with the rest of the U. S. Ryder Cup golfers.

Mangrum, the team captain, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and six other stars left Friday night by plane for their matches with Britain's top professionals at Wentworth, England, Oct. 2-3.

"I would say out chances are very good. But we will have to do the best we can without our best player — Mr. Hogan," Mangrum said sarcastically.

"He didn't give any reason to the players for not playing (in the Ryder Cup matches) but he may have given a reason to the PGA. I'm sure he had a good one," Mangrum added.

Last month Mangrum accused Hogan whose triumphs this year include the U. S. and British Open championships, of "picking in his spots." He said statements describing Hogan as "the world's greatest golfer" were "hogwash" and "make me a little sick."

Besides Mangrum and Snead, Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., Jackie Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., Walter Burkemo of Cleveland, Ed (Porky) Oliver of Wilmington, Del., Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliff, N. Y., and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., left by air for the U. S. bid to boost its 7-2 margin over the British.

Two other team members, Fred Haas of New Orleans and Dave Douglas of Wilmington, De., left earlier this week by ship.

Boy Scout Finance Drive Now Under Way In Ayden

AYDEN — Leslie C. Stocks, chairman of the finance drive for support of the East Carolina Council Boy Scouts conducted the kick-off meeting of workers in the campaign this week. Team captains are Kirby Smith, W. C. Ormond and W. G. (Bill) Griffith, to work among the white people, and Prof. J. W. Ormond among the Negroes. The Boy Scout program is financed on three levels. The Home provides for scouts the food and preparation for camping, special activities and also the troop dues which cover the troop budget plan and the unit equipment as well as subscription to BOYS LIFE Magazine and the scout's personal uniform and camp gear.

The sponsor provides an adequate meeting place with lights and heat and leadership as well provides the opportunity to camp at least 10 days and nights, and participates in all Council activities. The sponsoring institution does not finance the scouting movement. The community which is the third level, supports the scout Finance campaigns of the council through community chests and trusts and endowments. The council in turn administers field service, national service, awards and recognitions, camping activities, leadership training and lends program aids and helps. The drive for funds to support the 1954 program in Scouting begins this week in Ayden. Rewards have been conferred upon many scouts in Ayden since January, 1953. Three boys hold the rank of Eagle Scout, Lindy Dunn and Horton Jolly. Other ranks held are, one scout with Life, four with Star, four First Class, 12 with Second Class and 10 Tenderfoot Scouts. The Lions Club sponsors the activities of the recently organized Explorer Post in scouting. Bill Griffith is institutional representative and Henry Tunstall is adviser. Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts are sponsored by the Ayden Rotary Club, W. C. Ormond is institutional representative and Tommie Craft is club master. Leslie Stocks is Neighborhood Commissioner of scouts. The Ayden Negro School is sponsor of the troop and Explorer Post among the Negroes. Prof. J. H. Malloy is institutional representative and Prof. J. J. Brown is Scoutmaster. Prof. J. R. Lowry is adviser of the recently organized Explorer Post.

not angry at Libby." He shrugged. "She is—as she is. It's you I'm angry at." McKee had said to him in the corridor: "Miss Haven's in a state of shock and can't seem to pull out of it." "Why should you be angry at me?" Kit asked without interest. "I didn't do anything to you." "Oh, you didn't? All you did was constitute yourself judge and jury three months ago and give me the gate without a hearing. You thought I'd fallen for Libby. Well, you were wrong, dead wrong. But would you listen? No. That night you saw us in the car I was trying to warn Libby about Wilder get his address out of her—I didn't put my arms around her, she put her arms around me. But when I tried to tell you that, you just walked away. Of course I kept after her about Wilder. I saw her four or five times after that." He said a lot of other things. Kit settled deeper into her chair. It had been Hugo's outside the garden gate the other night. He had been in Portsmouth for days acting under McKee's orders. He went on admonishing her. "Stop it, Kit. Stop mourning for a Libby who never existed outside of your imagination. Stop trying to make people over to your own requirements. Take them as they are." When she didn't answer he crossed swiftly and put his hands on her limp shoulders and shook her. "You hear me?" Feeling was beginning to penetrate Kit's numbness. It hurt. She drew a breath and raised her head. "Take your hands off me." "I'll do nothing of the kind." Hugo bent and kissed her hard and angrily, drew off and glared down at her. On that Kit laughed, and the spell broke a spell that had endured for three long months. Courage and strength, first in a trickle and then in a stream, began to flow back into her. Whatever was to come, and there were going to be dreadful problems, she could see straight and knew she could face the future. (THE END.) CHAPTER THIRTY THE LIGHTS dimmed some more for Kit as the inspector continued to talk Libby then put the second part of her plan into operation. Her tormentor was disposed of, but she was still penniless. McKee said: "You were her main stumbling block. Your uncle's will leaves his money equally to you and to her, but if she persisted in marrying Tony Wilder, your uncle backed up by your dislike of Wilder, might have changed his mind. With you out of the way she thought she could manage him, and she would be his sole beneficiary quite soon—Mr. Haven is not a well man." Kit said slowly: "Did she plan to kill me, deliberately?" McKee nodded. "That was what we had to wait for. Without that, we would have had nothing. She could have pleaded self-defense where Pedrick was concerned—and got away with it. She fired those two shots at you the moment you appeared in the barn doorway, but I was ready and waiting." "Kit said: "Perhaps—perhaps Libby was just frightened—half out of her wits." "No, Miss Haven. Your death was part of her plan. She knew about your second key, knew you'd follow the black sedan. After Pedrick fell she went out of the barn and moved the sedan back, where you would be sure to see it. Pedrick had driven it farther to the left and out of sight of the road. Then she returned to the barn and watched you from there, moving from peephole to peephole, the gun ready." Kit pushed hair back from her forehead with a vague gesture. "It's the enormity of the deception... I can't seem to—" "The deception?" McKee said. "Lock at it. Miss Tallis considered that as far as the $25,000 was concerned she wasn't really harming your uncle, that he would spend it foolishly anyhow. As for you, you were her cousin, just that. Anything else was in your own mind. If you insist on endowing people with qualities they haven't got, and never did have—whose fault is it?" The inspector was right. She had misinterpreted Libby all down the line. "What will happen to her?" Kit's voice was barely audible. McKee said after a quick glance at her: "She won't pay the extreme penalty. There will be no death sentence." His eyes were cold. He was seeing Libby Tallis as he had seen her a little while ago in a small bare room with a wardrobe beside her, white and piteous, denying everything. "I didn't. No, I didn't, inspector. You're wronging me..." A sweet mouth, soft gold

Treasury Officials Say No Fiscal Policy Retreat

WASHINGTON (UP) - Treasury officials insisted today that their decision to cut the interest rates on some government borrowing is part and parcel of the administration's sound money policy and nothing else.

The decision, announced Friday night, looked like a retreat since the government has been offering higher interest rates since the Republicans took over in January.

But the Treasury said this isn't so. Spokesmen said the lower interest rate - the precise size of the cut was not revealed - will affect only U. S. savings notes which are bought mostly by corporations and others who pay high taxes.

They said the "sound honest money" program calls for borrowing at whatever rate of interest is necessary to meet competition from other borrowers such as states and cities. When the competition eases up, as in the case of savings notes, they said it is perfectly logical to cut the interest rate.

The planned cut, said the Treasury, "shows we have a flexible interest rate policy" rather than the so-called "hard" money policy that critics say makes it difficult and more expensive to borrow needed cash.

Rep. John D. Dingell (D-Mich.) called the action "manipulation - the most dangerous thing I ever heard of, and it's going to raise Cain with investors and with industry."

But Chairman Eugene D. Milliken (R-Colo.) of the Senate Finance Committee said the change is "nothing but a realistic adjustment to the market facts" - the fact is it is not necessary to pay as much for the money.

He said a few months ago, "the savings notes at their old rates of interest and announced a new series will be placed on sale next Thursday, at reduced rates which were not disclosed.

The rate since the increase on May 15 has been 2.47 per cent if the notes are held for their full life span of three years. They may be turned in anytime after four months, however, for a lower interest payment.
