Torrential Tropical Storm Hits West Florida Coast

FT. MYERS, Fla. (UP)—A new tropical storm of near hurricane force smacked into the "millage, aires fishing ground" on the West Florida coast today, drenching the already water-logged peninsula with more torrential rain.

Part of the state's $250,000,000 citrus crop lay in the path of the storm as it roared across the peninsula toward the Atlantic Ocean. The beach front hotels from Clearwater to Naples, which were being prepared for a new winter season, boarded up large windows on the ocean side. Small boats were moved up into the swollen bays of the Everglades to ride out the blow. The Coast Guard went into "condition one," or on full alert for its own protection and that of any vessels getting into trouble on the turbulent seas. The Highway Patrol and police departments of Sarasota, Bradenton, St. Petersburg, Tampa and other cities went on 24-hour call for any disaster work. Emil Lewis, head of the Red Cross in Florida, left Atlanta and arrived in Tampa to personally survey the situation. The Red Cross opened shelters in the storm area and plans were made to evacuate residents should it become necessary. The Red Cross had boats ready to lend assistance in evacuation. In Miami, where unusually heavy winds have flooded homes, five families were evacuated by the Red Cross this morning. The organization said it also was removing stock from some flooded farms to higher ground in the Hills area. An isolated squall — part of a general bad weather front — buffeted Miami with gusts up to 50 miles an hour as the real storm moved into the west coast. The weather bureau said the storm would cross the peninsula and emerge again on the Atlantic Ocean side near Melbourne, Fla. This path would take it across the south end of the interior citrus belt and all of the Lush Indian River orange section on the east coast. Daytona Beach, already soaked with a torrential 9.36 inches of rain, prepared for another deluge. Ft. Myers residents took the new storm calmly, believing it would bypass them but some store owners boarded up and the Coast Guard went on "condition one" — precautionary — in the area. Two big PBM flying boats were evacuated to a safe haven. Airline flights to and from Florida continued but some were rerouted out of the storm's path. The new storm was named Hazel for the eighth letter of the alphabet. At 8 a.m. the blow was centered about 90 miles southwest of Ft. Myers and was moving toward the northeast at about 30 miles an hour. The weather bureau said Hazel should grow weaker in her cross-state journey but dangerous gales were expected on the lower part of the west coast from Sarasota to the Everglades. Storm Hazel, named for the eighth letter of the alphabet, was centered about 150 miles west-southwest of Fort Myers, Fla., at 5 a.m. e.s.t., the Weather Bureau reported. The weather bureau predicted the storm would continue moving northeastward at about 17 miles per hour and its center would reach land "a little south of Tampa" at about noon, e.s.t. Winds of 35 to 45 miles per hour extended from 100 to 150 miles north of the center of the storm, the weathermen said. The Weather Bureau ordered storm warnings raised along the Florida coast from Cedar Keys and small craft warnings on the Atlantic Coast as far north as Charleston, S.C. The storm had immediately become a serious threat to land, because the northerly direction of tropical disturbances in the Gulf of Mexico is blocked by the upper gulf shoreline. The prospect of tropical rains accompanying the new disturbance was especially serious for south Florida areas already damaged by floods in lowland farms and many residential areas. Although Florida had escaped serious wind damage this year it had been soaked by 31 days — a deluge totaling more than 25 inches. Water stood in many sections of the state after heavy rains from one brush with a hurricane on the west coast, a nor'easter on the east coast, and violent thunderstorms last Thursday. The year's sixth hurricane, Figuerre, struck inland near Panama City in northwest Florida a two weeks ago but caused only a few minor injuries and a comparatively light damage estimated at $1,000,000.

FBI Sets Stage For Nationwide Manhunt Kidnapers Waive Hearing

By PAUL DIX United Press Staff Correspondent ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — The two confessed kidnapers of Bobby Greenlease today waived the first legal steps of what the state hopes would be a swift road to the gas chamber. Carl Austin Hall, 24-year-old master-mind of the kidnap-slaying, and his alcoholic accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady, 40-year-old divorcee, waived preliminary hearing at their appearance before U. S. Commissioner Edwin J. Bain and were ordered turned over to the state for prosecution on murder and kidnap charges. Bain continued their bond of $100,000 each on the federal extortion charge on which the pair had been held here while FBI agents and police sought to find Thomas John Marsh, a degenerate blamed with the killing by Hall, and to solve the mystery of the missing half of the $600,000 ransom money. U. S. Marshal Omar Schnatmeier said the pair would be turned over to authorities from St. Joseph, Mo., where Bobby's body was found in a shallow grave, for trial. However, Schnatmeier said the time of their departure and the means of transit would be kept secret for security reasons. Neither Hall, restrained with a waist shackle nor Mrs. Heady spoke during the time they were in the courtroom except for a brief private conference with Mrs. Heady's attorney, William Rosenthal of St. Joseph. Rosenthal suggested to Bain that the bonds were excessive but Bain said he didn't think so in view of the gravity of the charges against the pair. The FBI meanwhile set the stage for a full-scale manhunt for Thomas John Marsh, 37, the wine-sodden degenerate who was named by Hall as the killer of six-year old Bobby Greenlease. A federal charge of illegal flight to escape prosecution was filed against him in Kansas City. Under the federal fugitive charge, the tattooed suspect could be arrested anywhere in the United States. But the FBI in Washington said it would not order a nationwide federal search for Marsh until "inconsistencies" in the kidnap story are ironed out. While federal and state authorities moved swiftly to mete out justice to the kidnap-murderers, the bereaved family of the tiny victim faced the final ordeal in the nightmare that began 12 days ago. Funeral services for the boy, who was beaten and shot to death only a few hours after he was abducted from his school, were scheduled at a small Catholic church in a Kansas City suburb. Hall and Mrs. Heady were to be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in St. Louis today on a federal extortion charge. This was a preliminary to turning them over to Missouri authorities for prosecution on the more grave charges of kidnaping and murder. Prosecutors at Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., had not agreed Thursday night whether to bring the pair to trial on the kidnap charges on file at Kansas City, or on the murder charges, filed at St. Joseph. Both would carry a maximum penalty of death in the gas chamber. Jackson County Prosecutor Richard K. Phelps of Kansas City said he was sending two aides to St. Louis to seek custody of Hall and Mrs. Heady. He said he had "conclusive evidence" to convict both of kidnaping. The Greenlease boy, whose wealthy father operates a chain of Cadillac auto agencies, was taken from an exclusive school in Kansas City by Mrs. Heady on Sept. 28. An assistant of Buchanan County Prosecutor John E. Downs was in St. Louis with murder warrants for the pair. The body of the boy, who was beaten and shot to death was found in a shallow grave in the yard of Mrs. Heady's home in St. Joseph. According to Hall's story, Bobby was shot by Marsh at the Heady bungalow. Downs said Thursday his investigation was "far from complete," and he thought the prosecution should be conducted "in whatever jurisdiction has the strongest case."

Guiana's Leftist Leaders Ousted

LONDON (UP) — The Colonial Office announced officially today that Britain is suspending British Guiana's six-month-old constitution to prevent "Communist subversion" in the South American colony. British Gov. Sir Alfred Savage removed portfolios of the ministers of the Peoples' Progressive Party, now in power in British Guiana, the announcement said. The Colonial Office said Britain was "quite satisfied" that the party was completely controlled by a Communist clique and declared the constitution had to be suspended to prevent a dangerous crisis. Landing of troops and revoking of the constitution were necessary to prevent the colony from being turned into a subordinate to Moscow which could use it for extending Communist influence in the Western Hemisphere. "It has become clear to Her Majesty's government that the ministers have no intention of making the constitution work — the contrary their sole object is to seize control of the whole life of the territory and run it on totalitarian lines," the Colonial Office said. The formal announcement singled out leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan and his American-born wife, Janet, for criticism and said "their next attempt to demonstrate their power might have been disastrous to the territory." The statement said the government's action shortly will be laid before the British Parliament. A commission of inquiry will look into the political situation and recommend revisions for a new constitution, the statement said. Tough Welch Fusiliers and Royal Marines stood guard in Georgetown today but tension eased. Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton said earlier that Britain would not permit the Communists to set up a government in British Guiana or any other commonwealth state. Lyttelton, who dispatched warships and troops to British Guiana this week to prevent a Red coup d'etat, said the government in the South American colony is "inspired by Communist principles." The colonial secretary addressed the second session of the annual Conservative Party conference following a special cabinet meeting last night in London. "In British Guiana tension has grown and it has become clear that the present government is inspired by Communist principles and is determined to apply them, regardless of the demands of the population," he said.

President Silences Squabbling About Russians' H-Bomb

By LOUIS CASSELS United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP) — Official squabbling over Russia's ability to produce H-bombs was abruptly silenced today by a blunt statement from President Eisenhower which emphasized that the Soviets already have enough ordinary A-bombs to rain destruction on American cities. Informed sources said the chief purpose of Mr. Eisenhower's remarks at a news conference Thursday was to rescue that essential fact from the welter of confusion generated by conflicting high-level pronouncements on the Soviet H-bomb program. Within the past few days the public had heard differing appraisals of the status of Soviet H-bomb development. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said the time when Russia can wage H-bomb warfare is about three years away. Chairman W. Sterling Cole of the congressional Atomic Energy Commission said the time is "imminent." Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming contributed to the confusion with differing appraisals of their own. Mr. Eisenhower quickly stepped in to halt the controversy. He announced that he has "asked all members of this administration to refrain from comment on Soviet nuclear capabilities unless they first check their statements with the Chairman (Lewis L. Strauss) of the Atomic Energy Commission." The President did not offer a forecast on when Russia will have a stockpile of H-bombs and a fleet of bombers big enough to deliver them. Instead, he stressed that "the Soviets now possess a stockpile of atomic weapons of conventional types," and have tested an H-bomb or the "forerunner" of the H-bomb. "We, therefore, conclude that the Soviets now have the capability of atomic attack on us, and such capabilities will increase with the passage of time," he said. He thus drove home a point which atomic experts and civil defense officials have long tried to establish — that eight or 10 A-bombs of the type Russia already possesses can destroy a city as completely as one of the dread hydrogen superbombs.

Police Flooded By Futile 'Tips'

By UNITED PRESS Jittery citizens from Connecticut to California, eager to help bring Thomas John Marsh to justice, kept police hopping today with a bewildering flurry of reports they had seen the fugitive. Almost all of the reports were obviously useless, but such tips are the backbone of good police work and officers reported they were checking them. The FBI had not ordered its own nationwide manhunt, but the federal government charged Hall with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder. And local police departments from coast-to-coast were alerted to look for the 37-year old tattooed degenerate suspected of participating in the Bobby Greenlease kidnaping case. The Midwest and Ohio Valley spawned the most reports from persons who said they saw men similar in appearance and suspicious in behavior. Iowa authorities got five separate tips. At Philadelphia, the Pennsylvania Railroad's Chicago-to-New York streamliner "General" was stopped for eight minutes while detectives checked a report that Marsh had boarded the train. Michigan and Illinois were among the states that listed state-wide alarms after residents reported seeing the thin-lipped, hard-drinking man with a high forehead. Hall was seen only six months ago — a bar in Lemont, Ill., where he spent much of his childhood.

Yugoslavs Protest Italy Getting Trieste Zone

BEGRAD, Yugoslavia (UP)—Anti-American demonstrations flared throughout Yugoslavia today in protest against the Western decision to give Italy zone A of Trieste. Angry crowds again surged through the streets of Yugoslav cities this morning after damaging American and British buildings in Belgrade and other places last night. The government sent a sharp protest to the United States and Britain over their "unilateral" decision. The former note warned Yugoslavia was ready to "take all measures at its disposal to protect its interest." All offices and shops in Belgrade were ordered to close at noon and employees were told to "get into the streets." But they were warned to "be sensible." Strong police forces and firemen with hoses stood by to enforce the warning. One angry crowd of about 3,000 got a chilling foretaste of the enforcement shortly before noon when police waded in with sabres and clubs to disperse a demonstration in front of the American Embassy. The demonstrators fought with clubs and rocks for 15 minutes until fire hoses were turned on them. Belgrade Radio reported at noon big demonstrations were under way at Rijeka and other Western Yugoslav cities. Protest meetings were announced also for Sarajevo, Skopje and elsewhere. Yugoslav authorities closed the frontier between its own Zone B of Trieste and Zone A last night. All residents of Trieste were ordered to return to their respective zones at once. Even normally pro-western elements joined in the indignant anti-Western chorus. Trieste is one of the few subjects on which there is near unanimity in this country.

Chadwick Swims The Dardanelles

CANNAKALE, Turkey (UP)— Florence Chadwick swam the Dardanelles both ways today in one hour, 58 minutes and eight seconds to achieve her goal of swimming all four of Europe's major long distance tests within a year. The former secretary from San Diego, Calif., who set a record for crossing the Bosphorus on Tuesday, made an easy round trip crossing of the Dardanelles, which separates Europe from Asia. She swam from Naraburju on the Asian side of Turkey to Poyrazli point on the European coast in 38 minutes, 30 seconds, and stroked her way back in one hour, 19 minutes and 38 seconds.

events include a parade at 2 p.m., a tea in the Y Hut from 2 to 4:30, the East Carolina-Eton football game at 8 in the college stadium, and a Homecoming Day hop following the game. The new Victory Bell presented by the Veterans Club to the College will be accepted by Pres. John D. Messick in a ceremony scheduled for 4:30. Of chief public interest will be the parade which, according to plans, will begin the afternoon program. Alumni Secretary Butler describes this year's event as "gala and colorful... with many floats, campus queens, and marching units." The College Marching Band, visiting bands from high schools in Eastern North Carolina, a drill team from the East Carolina APTOT

Wing, and other marching units will participate. The procession will form near the Wright Building, move downtown and through the business district of the city, and then return to the campus. A Homecoming Day Queen chosen by student vote this week will ride in a special float in the parade. Her identity has not yet been revealed. Other queens chosen by campus dormitories and organizations will ride in convertibles. Preparations for decorating the campus dormitories in honor of visiting alumni are already in progress. The East Carolina purple and gold and various decorative designs based on student life and activities will make the campus gay.

Enough Pledged, Didn't Show Up

Only 50 pints of blood were collected in Farmville yesterday, according to Dr. W. L. Harris, attending physician with the Bloodmobile. Dr. Walter C. Humbert, director of the County Health Department, said that enough people had signed up to meet Farmville's quota of 170 pints, but they failed to show up. Dr. Harris reported that two blood collection centers had gone above their quota this week with two others falling short. The Bloodmobile had worked around Armed Forces bases in Virginia this week prior to coming to Pitt County. The bloodmobile physician said collection has usually been successful in Greenville, and he is hoping to meet the quota of 17 pints today. Collection of blood here began at 10 o'clock this morning. Several people showed up at the Army prior to 10 o'clock and workers with the bloodmobile hope that is a good sign that many more are to come. Dr. Harris said blood collected by this bloodmobile would be used in hospitals in North Carolina and Virginia.

Morris McEwen, who organized the firm in 1946, said Cheek would serve in a "consulting and advisory capacity" and would figure in the company's plans for expansion. Cheek, a native of Asheboro, was first appointed insurance commissioner by Gov. W. Kerr Scott in 1949 to succeed William F. Hodges.

U.S. Asked To Soften Stand To 'Save' Truce

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Britain and France feared today plans for the Korean peace conference might collapse, and reports said the two countries had urged the United States to make concessions to save it. The two nations took the position that the United States should soften its policy against inviting India and other neutrals to the conference. Specifically, this country's allies were said to be urging the U. S. to tell the Reds: 1. Either that an understanding on inviting Asians to join the conference might be reached at preliminary direct talks proposed by the U.S. 2. Or that the issue of inviting the Asians could be taken up at the conference itself as a matter of high priority. U.N. diplomats held little hope that the fourth American message to Peiping, made public Thursday, reflected enough U. S. flexibility to induce the Reds to agree to face-to-face talks on disputed "arrangements" for the Far East meeting. At one point, the United States did make clear that, in addition to terms and place of the conference, the preliminary confab could deal with "procedural administrative and related questions" having to do with setting up the parley. But this did not make definite whether the issue of invitations to Asians could be taken up. Observers generally felt that any evidence of flexibility in this provision was more than counteracted by later assertions reaffirming the assembly decision last August limiting the Korean conference to belligerents plus Russia. Diplomats continued to look for some new message from the Far East Communists, but there was little hope that such a message would give any ground on the Communist demand that the Far East conference be expanded into a roundtable meeting.

On September 29th, 1853 God in His infinite love and wisdom called to her eternal home Mrs. Annie Harding. She was a lifelong member of the Episcopal Church. She was loyal and faithful in everything pertaining to the welfare of her church. She was constant in attending her church services until ill health prevented her from doing so.

Mrs. Harding possessed a meek and quiet spirit. Her home was a sacred place, a place where there was love, trust and contentment. Everyone who visited in her home received inspiration and came away a better person. In all her relations in life she exemplified her love of her Master by her love for her family.

She was a true and faithful member of the George B. Singletary Chapter of the U.D.C. The members of the chapter express deep sorrow and heartfelt sympathy to her family.

We may be well assured that she shall hear the Master's voice saying: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of the Lord."

This tribute to Mrs. Harding will be entered in the minutes of the UDC chapter and a copy sent to her family.

Mrs. E. W. Harvey had charge of the program for the afternoon which was "Old Southern Songs of the Period of the Confederacy." She presented Mrs. Dink James who led the group in the singing of old songs, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. L. Fleming and on the guitar by Mrs. T. M. Watson. Solos sung by Mrs. James were "Annie Laurie" and "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes." Duets sung by Mrs. James and Mrs. Harvey were "In the Gloaming" and "Juanita." Mrs. Harvey read "Dar's Always Something Wantin'" and "Old Stonewall." The program was closed with the group singing "Caroline."

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. E. L. Willard, served a delicious salad plate with spiced tea, cookies and nuts.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 9, 1923

The Woman's Club met for the first time this fall Thursday afternoon in the Sunday School room of Memorial Baptist Church. Mrs. H. S. Ragdale, president, opened the meeting with a few timely remarks, one of them being a statement to the effect that the success or failure of the club depends entirely upon its membership and not its officers, as the latter are entirely powerless without the help and cooperation of the former. Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the program committee, brought before the club the suggestion that the subject "Famous Men and Men of Today" be discussed and accepted or rejected. The suggestion was voted upon favorably. Mrs. L. H. Bowling was elected treasurer and Mrs. E. W. Harvey was elected secretary.

The Pitt County Chapter of the Woman's College of U.N.C. Alumnae Association had its annual dinner meeting at the Country Club Monday night at 6:30.

Mrs. V. C. Fleming Jr., who was presiding, opened the meeting by asking Mrs. Obed Castelloe to return thanks.

After a delightful meal was served, Mrs. Luther Herring entertained the group by telling of life on the campus during her college days. Miss Elizabeth Hyman added to Mrs. Herring's talk by giving some of the highlights of her college days.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, who is on the Board of Trustees for the Greater University, gave a very enlightening talk on the work that she has been doing with the board of trustees.

Mrs. Fleming then called upon Mrs. Carlos Murray to give a report from the nominating committee. She read the following slate of officers: Mrs. Paul Clark, Winterville, president; Mrs. M. T. Speir, Winterville, secretary; Miss Elizabeth Kittrell, Greenville, treasurer, which was unanimously accepted.

The secretary, Mrs. I. J. Edwards Jr., read the minutes of the last meeting. There was no further business so the meeting was adjourned to meet again in the Spring.

Program Given By Dr. Bessie McNeil For B. & P.W.C.

Highlights of last night's meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was a program given by Dr. Bessie McNeil. Dr. McNeil traveled in Europe this summer and while there she attended the Congress of the International B. and P. W. C. Federation in Stockholm Sweden and Finland. Dr. McNeil's report of her travels and of the International Congress sessions were most interesting.

Club president Mrs. David Proctor presided over the meeting at which forty-five were present. Club members were asked to go to Farmville on November 9 to help with the organization of a B. and P. W. Club in Farmville.

Beatrice Patterson with the National Federation Headquarters in Washington will be present for this meeting.

President Proctor announced that the 7th District Federation meeting will be held in Jacksonville on October 25. The mid-year Council will meet in Goldsboro on November 7 and 8. The Greenville B. and P. W. Club will sponsor the Sunday morning breakfast at mid-year Council. Mrs. Proctor urged club members to attend both these meetings.

National Business Womens Week will be observed October 11-17.

Four-Way Race Shapes Up In YDC Convention

RALEIGH (UP) — A hot four-way race for the presidency of the North Carolina Young Democrats Club shaped up here today as several campaign-wise older Democrats arrived to take part in the YDC's 18th annual convention.

U. S. Sen. Alton A. Lennon arrived last night one jump ahead of his expected opponent in the Senate race next year former Gov. Kerr Scott.

The Haw River man is said to have written letters and made contacts for Miss Edith Marsh, of Raleigh as a candidate for the YDC presidency, but Scott has neither confirmed nor denied the report.

Other contenders for the post are Horace Korneyag of Greensboro, W. Lamont Brown of Southern Pines, and George Morrow of Forest City.

Brown and Korneyag arrived early yesterday and hung banners across the Sir Walter Hotel lobby before unpacking their handshakes.

Bob Spence of Smithfield announced that he is running for vice president. The contenders for national YDC committeewoman dwindled to one yesterday when Mrs. Alma Young Drake of Dunn announced that she has withdrawn because she works for an agency that handles federal funds and cannot legally participate in politics.

Mrs. Mary McGee of Raleigh is now unopposed for the committeewoman's post. As of last night there also was no opposition to John Campbell of Lumberton for the national committeeman's job.

The delegates planned a political conference today and various committee meetings in connection with a lunch. Among the topics for consideration are President William B. Harrison's proposal that YDC officers be elected for two-year terms instead of one year and that the method of financing the YDC be changed.

More than 50 legislators have said they will be present for a legislative breakfast tomorrow morning at 8:30, and a general business session is scheduled for Saturday at 10 a. m. Election of officers will be at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Gov. William B. Umstead has said he will attend the closing banquet Saturday night, when national YDC President Richard Nelson will deliver the main address.

Wrong Man Got Tobacco Credit

An error in the news office of the State College extension service in Raleigh caused a news story carried in Thursday's Reflector to credit a bumper crop of tobacco to the wrong Pitt County man.

The news release, which was printed word-for-word in The Reflector as it was received from the extension service news office, said "C. J. Goodman, Pitt County tobacco farmer," produced more than a ton of tobacco per acre this year.

Dr. Frank Jeter, editor of the extension service, said this morning the name of Goodman, Pitt County assistant farm agent, was used in the release from his office through error.

Jeter explained that the 4.6 acres of tobacco in Pitt County which averaged 2,061 pounds per acre and brought an average price of 63 cents per pound was produced by Horace Corbett of the Fountain community. Jeter further explained that the information for the news story on Corbett's crop was furnished the extension service by Goodman, and Goodman's name, got into the news release through error.

HERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Several Hundred Thousands Of Kids To Get Polio Vaccination

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Several hundred thousand children are about to be vaccinated with an experimental vaccine which its scientific developer and financial backer hope will abolish polio, it was made known today.

In Miami, Dr. Jonas E. Salk disclosed new tests with 474 children and adults that indicated further its complete safety and effectiveness. Here in New York, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the financial backer, acknowledged that it was planning tests with "hundreds of thousands of children" soon — perhaps within three or four months.

The medical advisory committees of the foundation — one for each state — have just completed a closed four-day conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where plans were made for the scientific tests on a mass scale.

The vaccine should not be confused with gamma globulin, which is designed merely to minimize the effects of polio. The vaccine, if successful, would, to all intents and purposes, prevent it.

Everyone involved has supreme confidence in the vaccine. The fear is that public reaction will get out of hand and make a truly scientific testing of its effectiveness as a polio preventive, impossible.

The conference at White Sulphur Springs discussed means of persuading the public to permit the mass vaccinations to proceed scientifically. If the public demands vaccination for every child and organizes pressures to get it, many years will pass before anyone can know whether the vaccine is the answer to polio.

The mass vaccinations will be preceded by an intense public education campaign. Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation said that as soon as the plans were complete, the details would be announced.

To mean anything, mass vaccinations will have to have "controls" — as many children who are not vaccinated as those who are. The vaccinations will have to be made during the time of the year—usually, January, February, and March — when there is the least polio in the community.

The next step in this purely scientific testing, is to await the incidence of polio among those vaccinated will be the test.

Dr. Salk himself discussed "controlled" mass vaccinations in addressing the 22nd annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics in Miami today. He said one method might be injecting alternate children with either the polio vaccine or a vaccine for another disease. Thus, there would be two "strictly comparable" groups.

Or, he added, the polio vaccine could be injected into children of a certain age — preferably the age which has shown the greatest susceptibility to polio. The comparisons could then be made with their younger and older brothers and sisters.

He disclosed that since his first report in the Journal of the American Medical Association last March, he has injected the vaccine in various forms into 474 children and adults in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, and in all forms it not only was safe — it stimulated the production of antibodies to fight all three polio viruses.

Salk, who is research professor of bacteriology at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, has now vaccinated a total of 637 persons — mostly children with the "killed" virus of the three forms of polio with results that were more or less uniform. One of the most important was proven safety. Not one of his subjects contracted even a mild case of polio.

Salk warned the doctors against assuming a "practical vaccine" is at hand. There are many "unanswered questions." But "the studies are progressing satisfactorily. There have been no set-backs nor anything but revelations that shed more light on the course ahead," he said.

Washington Monument Is Having Anniversary Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—It is 65 years today since the Washington Monument, the great white spire towering above this capital, was opened to the public.

Business on the steam elevator that day, Oct. 9, 1888, was only moderately brisk.

But the 210 hardy souls who rode the creaky elevator to the tip-top that fall day were the forerunners of a mighty procession that swelled with the passing years into many millions.

By this week, 27,377,732 persons from all quarters of the globe had visited the 555-foot monument, a trademark for the city of Washington in the same fashion as the Eiffel Tower for Paris and the Empire State Building for New York.

Cornelius W. Heine, historian for the National Capital Parks Service which is in charge of the monument, finds names of kings and queens and assorted other royalty from many faraway lands on the register of distinguished guests.

But the register shows only one president of the United States gazed out from the monument peak

Allotment Plan Soon To Be Announced On Crops

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Agriculture Department will announce "soon" whether farmers will have to comply with acreage allotments on all basic crops next year before they can get price supports on one of them.

Howard H. Gordon, chief of the Production and Marketing Administration, said he hopes the decision will be announced "within the next two weeks."

Wheat farmers got the bad news yesterday when the department announced that the preliminary support price of a bushel of 1954 crop wheat will be $2.20.

It said that to be eligible for the support, a farmer must not only comply with his wheat acreage allotment but with "all other 1954 allotments which have been or will be established for basic commodities in which he has an interest on the farm."

Of the six basic crops — corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, and peanuts—all but rice are heading for acreage allotments next year.

The "multiple-compliance" rule is designed to make control as rigid as possible to prevent production limits on one crop from encouraging switches to other crops with consequent new surpluses.

In the past a farmer violating his wheat allotment just became ineligible for price supports on wheat.

The move to keep farm production keyed to demand is in line with the department's plan to reduce price supports on non-basic crops like oats, rye and barley next year to prevent surpluses in those crops on acreage diverted from production of the basic crops under allotment programs.

The effect of the "multiple-compliance" on wheat farmers is great because wheat is grown on the same ground as corn in many areas, with tobacco and occasionally peanuts in others, and with cotton in the South.

One spokesman conceded that to be "consistent" the department should require "multiple compliance" as a prerequisite for supports on all basics, not just for producers of wheat alone. But he declined to guarantee this would be done.

Unruffled Calm Is Suddenly Broken

By PHIL NEWSOM
It seldom occurs to Americans that a Moscow-directed Communist government could be set up in the Western hemisphere. Which is not too surprising. It took the Alger Hiss and the Rosenberg cases to convince most Americans that home-grown Reds were anything more dangerous than a collection of wide-eyed long-hairs who needed a bath.

So, in the face of mounting Communist strength in Central and South America, the Northern neighbors have maintained an unruffled calm.

The calm was broken this week from a surprising quarter.

It came from British Guiana, an area of some 83,000 square miles on the north coast of South America. A colony, it represents Britain's only toe-hold on the continent.

In the Empire scheme of things, British Guiana is small, but the British reacted with the same vigor as if someone had been caught stealing the family jewels.

British warships and troop reinforcements were rushed to the capital of Georgetown to put down what the British Colonial Office described officially as "Communist intrigues" and to prevent any attempt to "set up a Communist-dominated state."

The situation in New Guiana is a many-sided one.

The British took it over in 1815 from Holland and began developing sugar cane plantations, timber exports, gold mining and certain tropical crops.

Like many another area throughout the world developed by the European colonial powers for profit, it was the scene of planter exploitation and fairly frequent native uprisings.

The British made some improvements and some concessions to the native population, but the population of less than half a million was too small and the economic contribution to Empire too insignificant to rate much attention.

Despite the fact that the colony's total area is 83,000 square miles, only about 7,000 have been developed.

Nearly half the population is East Indian, the descendants of laborers imported in the 19th Century to work the plantations. The remainder are the descendants of Negro slaves, persons of mixed blood and perhaps 20,000 of European blood.

With this as the cultural and economic background, we come to the present.

Last April, perhaps belatedly, British Guiana was granted a new constitution. It provided for a certain amount of self-rule through an elected lower house and a native prime minister. A British-appointed governor and an upper house named by the governor provided the checks and balances.

Last April also, the Peoples Progressive party swept into power under the leadership of Cheddi Jagan, a dentist of East Indian origin, and his blonde, American-born wife, Janet.

Both the Jagans were educated in the United States, and of the two, Mrs. Jagans is said to be the driving force.

The British say both are Communists. The Jagans deny it. They do not however deny their admiration for both Red China and Moscow.

Cake Cutting Honors Townsend-Tucker Bridal Party

Miss Frances Tucker and Charles Townsend, whose marriage was solemnized in the Grimesland Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, were honored with a rehearsal party and cake cutting, when Mrs. Robert Stanell and Mrs. Floyd Tucker entertained for the wedding party, families and out-of-town guests Saturday evening.

The event was informal and rooms were attractively decorated with large white wedding bells tied with wide satin ribbon and arrangements of flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tucker greeted the guests at the front door and directed them to the bride's register, presided over by Mrs. Seth Arthur. They were then directed to the dining room.

The bride's table, covered in a hand-made crocheted cloth in Queen Anne's lace pattern, was centered with a miniature bride and groom dressed in replicate. Back of these were double candle holders with green tapers, tied with white wedding bells with satin bows. At one end of the table rested a gorgeous three tiered wedding cake intricately covered in white frosting, garlands and dainty white roses.

The top tier held a cluster of white wedding bells, satin streamers and wedding charms coming from the base of the cake. At the opposite end of the table was the crystal punch service. Mrs. Jack Riley poured lime ice. The cake was cut by Mrs. P. D. Spell. Containers of green mints and nuts completed the service.

On the buffet was a massive arrangement of white dahlias flanked by hurricane lamps with green candles.

Others assisting the hostesses were Mrs. James Rogers, Miss Janice Tucker and Mrs. Bertha Buck.

New Victory Bell On Campus

East Carolina students hope to ring their new Victory Bell for the first time following the game here this Saturday (Oct. 10) between the Pirates and Elon. It is shown here being admired by Nell Stallings and Dr. N. M. Jorgensen of the health and physical education department. Formerly used on the "USS Broome," the big brass bell was cast by J. Bernhard and Co. of Philadelphia in 1855. It is a gift to the college from the Navy Department, was installed on the campus by the college Veterans club, will be dedicated Saturday to students in service during and since World War II, and will be rung to celebrate East Carolina victories in athletics.

Color TV Displayed To Press Gathering

By JACK GAVER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—In color television, Ed Sullivan shows up with a baby pink face.

This is apt to be a little disconcerting to anyone who runs into him frequently in the flesh and notes that his coloring is a perpetual golf course, or Lee Shubert, tan.

CBS gave a demonstration Thursday of its newly developed color TV camera equipment and receiving apparatus to a press gathering which saw a half-hour variety show, Sullivan as M.C., which was a part of the regular CBS programming. The general public, of course, saw the show black and white.

CBS President Frank Stanton described the various equipment as being considerably simplified and capable of mass production within a reasonable length of time.

The CBS coloron tube used in the demonstration is a 15-inch one, but the resulting picture frame is a little less because of the necessary masking when placed in a cabinet.

The first sets that will reach market, once the FCC gives its nod, will have this size tube, Stanton said, but he added that work already was well along on a 21-inch rectangular tube and that it should be available within a year after the ball starts rolling.

Stanton said that the first CBS sets would retail for around $1,000. Mass production will make possible a reduction, but this will be a couple of years away at least.

Horse Show Said To Be 'Success'

Early reports made last night at the regular Jaycee meeting indicate that the Third Annual Jaycee Horse Show held here last weekend was a big success.

Since all bills and collections from the horse show have not been settled, the exact figure which the club cleared on the annual project is not known yet.

Dr. Warren Aldridge, chairman of the horse show this year, thanked members of the club for their work in the show and called for reports from the various committees.

The meeting last night was the first to be held at the Rotary Club building. Because of the growth of the club, the meetings were changed to the Rotary Club.

The club voted to attend in a body a fish stew to be given by the Farmville Jaycees next Thursday night in Farmville. A bus for transportation will leave from the Rotary club for all desiring to go.

Jack Whichard, who recently completed a tour of service with the United States Army was welcomed back.

Two new members, Jim Rogers, High School Band director and Cecil Harris of Redisco were voted in by the club last night.

Other guests were: James Boykin, Bob Boyette, Fred Myers, Joe Brown. President Ben Rouse presided.

Plant life being protected in Acadia National Park Maine ultimately will represent a botanic garden of the entire Acadian region.

O. E. S. To Hold District School

Plans were formulated for the district school of instruction which will be held here on Saturday, October 31st, in the Masonic Temple. The local Eastern Star Chapter will be hostess to the affair. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. lasting all day. At 1 p.m. a luncheon will be served in the Fred Stokes dining room. The local stars will serve this meal with Mrs. Martha Forrest, Mrs. Ethel Allen and Mrs. Lillie Cherry in charge.

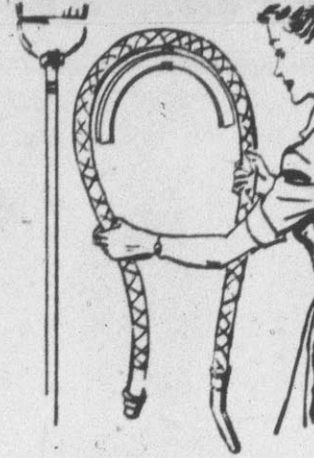

It was voted to serve the York Rite Masonic Bodies on Monday evening, Oct. 12; also the Scottish Rite supper on Nov. 5th.

Mrs. Jacqueline Carson, a visitor from the Trenton chapter, was recognized and expressed pleasure in being present. She is now making her home here.

The local chapter was well represented at the reception at Griffon held for the district deputies last Friday night.

Mrs. Kennedy announced an instruction class would be held on Wednesday night at Mrs. Carrie Munford's.

Leon A. Marshall, supervisor for the E. T. Wilkins & Associates, who are making a tax revaluation of Pitt County dispatched a crew of five measurers to Fountain yesterday to begin measurements there.

Two of these measurers will work the commercial buildings with the other three on private houses.

Another crew is working on Summit and East 3rd Streets here in Greenville. This crew is mostly college students who work during their spare time.

The supervisor stated that he thinks the tax revaluation work is progressing nicely.

Pirates Ease Off In Drills For Homecoming Contest

Gay On Injured List For Homecoming Game

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Editor

The East Carolina College Pirates began easing the tempo of their drills yesterday when they concentrated on timing and kicking exercises and laid the rough work away for the week.

The drills yesterday were little more than polishing exercises for the Pirates who had rough scrimmages twice this week. The Bus, currently riding an undefeated streak of 10 games, will play host to Elton tomorrow night in College Stadium.

The Homecoming Contest will be the third North State contest for the Pirates. They have bumped off Lenoir-Rhyne and Catawba in conference play thus far this year. In a non-conference opener, the Pirates walloped Wilson Teachers College. Elton lost his conference opener last weekend when they were edged 21-19 by Appalachian.

In workouts yesterday, Claude King, Tom Allsbrook, and Milton Collier handled the punting for the Pirates with King and Bubber Matthews doing the work on extra points. Boyd Webb, Jim Stanley, Tippy Hayes, Emo Bardo, and Allsbrook handled most of the kick returns.

Right halfback Paul Gay went to the sidelines yesterday with a minor injury that may limit his action tomorrow night. He has been taking treatments for the injury but the full effect of the treatments won't be known until tomorrow. He joined Harold O'Kelly and Ted Barnes on the injured list.

No line-up changes are planned in the forward wall tomorrow night but there are likely to be some changes in the backfield. Emo Bardo, the starter at left half last week, has been complaining of a sore shoulder this week and may have to surrender the starting job to Tippy Hayes. Hayes saw considerable action against Catawba last week after being out of action in the first two games because of an injury. Jack Britt will back Hayes up at the left half slot.

If Gay can't go at right half, then Allsbrook seems to be the likely choice for the starting job. Allsbrook is a senior from Scotland Neck and already has one 37-yard scoring run to his credit this year although he has not seen a great deal of action.

Jim Stanley, a sophomore halfback from Washington, has been alternating with the first team backfield this week in scrimmage sessions and may see considerable action tomorrow. He has been running at left halfback mostly although he can play right half.

Dick Cherry and Claude King are the only sure-starters in the backfield. For Cherry, the game should have some added significance because it was against Elton a year ago that he came into his own as a top-flight college quarterback. He passed and ran the Pirates to a 25-9 victory over the Christians—the first time such a thing had been done since the teams started playing each other in 1946.

The curious "added attractions" that seem to surround certain games literally thrive on the East Carolina-Elton series. The Pirates have won only once from Elton, they have never beaten Elton in College Stadium, they have never defeated the Christians in an East Carolina homecoming game, and two of the East Carolina coaches are graduates of the Elton system. Head Coach Jack Boone went through Elton as one of the school's greatest all-time athletes. Line Coach Jim Mallory was head coach of the Christians until he came to East Carolina this fall.

EAST CAROLINA coaches Jim Mallory and Jack Boone will be looking across tomorrow night at a team representing the school they once represented. Mallory was formerly head coach of the Elton Christians and Boone was a Little All-America backfield star for Elton football teams in the late 30's and early 40's. (Reflector Sports Photo)

ACC Teams Taking On Rough Outside Teams

RALEIGH (UP) — Only one conference game was scheduled this week in the Atlantic Coast Conference but some teams are facing no breathers by taking on outside foes.

Maryland will lie in wait for the University of Georgia Bulldogs on the College Park gridiron Saturday, while Clemson will face the Miami Hurricanes in the land of sunshine.

At Columbia, the South Carolina Gamecocks worked to get fullback Bill Wohlman back into action for the Saturday tilt with Furman and Duke polished up their attack for a try at the Purdue Boilermakers at Durham.

North Carolina State will be looking for their first win of the season when they take on Davidson College in Raleigh Saturday night.

But the game that takes the spotlight this week is the conference battle between coach George Barclay's University of North Carolina Tar Heels and the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest.

Barclay picked out 39 players for the trip to Wake Forest yesterday following a tapering-off drill, but had to leave center Bill Kirkman and guard Miles Gregory behind.

Coach Tom Rogers put Deacon quarterback Sonny George back into heavy equipment today for the first time since he injured his hip in the Villanova game last week. Wake Forest lost to William and Mary and Duke this season but defeated Villanova 18-12 last week. The Tar Heels are undefeated, with victories over North Carolina State and Washington and Lee.

Royals Win

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — The Montreal Royals, showing more post-season punch than their parent Brooklyn Dodgers, defeated the Kansas City Blues, 7-2, here Thursday night to win the Little World Series, four games to one.

Hamp Coleman held the New York Yankee-owned Kansas City team to seven hits to record his second victory of the series. Coleman pitched a nine-hitter to beat the Blues in the second game at Montreal, 6-2, and thus became the only pitcher to win two games in the series between the champions of the International League and American Association.

Old Question Up For Duke, Purdue

By WILLIAM A. SHIRES
DURHAM, N. C. (UP) — Purdue's Boilermakers arrive in the land of cotton today to meet Duke in a game that has heated up the old question of whether the Midwest or the South has the tougher brand of football.

Dixie fans have argued for years that the cream of the crop in the South and Southeast are good matches for the grid titans of the Midwest. But only on rare occasions has there been opportunity to prove it.

Purdue, though defending co-champions of the Big 10, isn't the class of the Corn Belt this season. Stu Holcombe's men have dropped both 1953 starts, to Missouri and Notre Dame, and were hard-hit by graduation losses that included passing star Dale Samuels.

But the Boilermakers are the first Western conference team ever to play in this area, and the Lafayette, Ind., invaders have the twin incentive of upholding hog and hoinventy-land boasts and achieving their first win of the season.

The South is ably represented by Duke, the glamor team of Tobacco row. Coach Bill Murray's big Blue Devils, 10th ranked team in the nation, have been impressive in winning three straight games.

Murray, for the first time this season, will have his "starting" backfield of six "regulars" ready to throw against the massive Boilermaker line.

That six man "regular" backfield includes Murray's two quarterbacks of almost-equal ability, Worth Lutz, and flashy Jerry Barger. There's a similar situation at fullback where the Dukes have jarring Jack Kistler and Byrd Looper.

Together with halfbacks Red Smith and Lloyd Caudie, a pair of speedsters, the Duke backfield has amassed 766 yards rushing in three games. In the air, Duke has completed 12 of 23 aeriels for only 166 yards but with Lutz back in shape after sitting out last week's Tennessee game with an injury, Murray may call for more passes.

Duke will be the favorite before a homecoming crowd of 35,000. Should Purdue triumph, it will be the first blemish on the record of the brand-new Atlantic Coast Conference against outside opposition.

Mighty Maryland, the other ACC kingpin, will be trying to keep the ACC slate clean against tough Georgia and Zeke Bratkowski at College Park, Md.

Still unbeaten North Carolina, a team that also may be untested, battles family rival Wake Forest at Wake Forest, N. C., tomorrow. Wake Forest has beaten the Tar Heels three years in a row and the Deacons found their attack last week to beat Villanova.

Elsewhere in the South, North Carolina State will try for its first win against Davidson at Raleigh tomorrow night. South Carolina meets Furman, Virginia Tech goes against Richmond, VMI plays The Citadel, Virginia meets George Washington, West Virginia should keep rolling unbeaten against Washington and Lee, and Clemson plays Miami (Fla.).

and he showed surprising punch against the much more experienced Castellani of Cleveland, O.

The Milwaukee boxer went into the bout weighing 160 1/4 pounds to Castellani's 159 1/4.

It was a slashing, driving battle from beginning to end and kept the crowd of 3,200 yelling.

Olla was cut under one eye in the third round, but it didn't slow his attack. There were no knockdowns although Olla slipped to one knee in the fifth.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — Ted Olla's ring career was well underway today even though he dropped Thursday night's 10-round bout with tough Rocky Castellani in Milwaukee Arena.

It was Olla's first major fight,

Injury-Riddled Phantoms Meet Undefeated Mt. Airy

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Coach Bill Kittrell's injury-riddled Green Phantoms will attempt to snap their three game losing skid tonight when they face the undefeated Mount Airy Grantites in the Mount Airy Football Stadium.

The Phants will be on the rebound after dropping three hard fought and close games by a combined total of 20 points. After winning 12-0 and 44-0 over Wilson and Jacksonville, respectively, the Phantoms hit the skids by losing to Fayetteville (19-0), Kinston (14-13), and Washington (12-6).

The same old injury jinx which has been a Phantom nemesis for three years, is in peak form for the game tonight. The jinx has sidelined the team's leading halfback and ground-gainer, All-State candidate James Speight. Speight will miss the game because of a painful muscle injury in his back.

Fullback Bobby Langston, halfback Bob Howell, quarterback Pat Sawyer, and guard Thomas Whitaker all have been in light equipment most of this week and are certain to be slowed down by their respective injuries.

The large injury list and the inability of several players to make the trip because of Saturday jobs has put Coach Kittrell on the "undecided list" as far as naming a starting team is concerned.

The Mount Airy team runs its offense from an old-fashioned, but highly-efficient, single wing. Their power comes from the running of their two deep backs with the wingback handling the outside running in most instances.

The Phantoms will spend tonight in Mount Airy and begin their return trip tomorrow. On their way home they will stop in Durham where they will be guests of the Duke University Athletic Association at the Duke-Purdue football game.

Phantom JV's Win 7-6 Over Pam-Pack

Greenville high school's junior varsity football team marched 86 yards in the early minutes of the fourth quarter to register the winning tallies as they turned back the Washington Jayvees 7-6 at the NYA center yesterday.

The Baby Phantoms gained sweet revenge over the same team which had earlier dumped them 14-0 when Tommy Key Norris scooted across from 15 yards out. Norris scored on a pichout. Halfback Bob Shackelford put the game on ice with his true right toe. He placed the kick through the uprights despite the rushing Washington line.

The victory gives Greenville a 2-1 record for the season. The other victory was a 27-7 verdict over Roanoke Rapids.

Washington led 6-0 at halftime.

805 Hunters Will Die In Accidents

BOSTON (UP) — Hunting accidents will kill more than 805 Americans during the next three months, it was estimated today by the Institute for Safer Living. The estimate was based on past fatality records piled up by thoughtless or "trigger happy" sportsmen.

For all of this year, the institute estimated 9,300 shooting mishaps throughout the nation, with more than 2,500 of them probably fatal.

TV Game Of Week Has Old And New In Grid Play

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — The nation's TV grid fans may be in for a visual treat of the one-planeton vs. two-planeton argument in Saturday's nationally-televised game between arch-rivals Oklahoma and Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

At times, it may appear on the screens that Texas is playing under last year's free-substitution rule, while Oklahoma sticks to the new one-planeton regulation through necessity.

For Coach Ed Price has a wealth of material — though much of it is green — at Texas and he has been pouring ball players in and out of the team's three previous games with the same abandon as in the "good old days" of 12 months ago.

Oklahoma on the other hand, hasn't that much manpower to throw around. Either that, or Coach Bud Wilkinson just doesn't believe in using as many young sophomores.

Aside from the steady flow of 50 or more players off the Texas bench and the intense rivalry between the two schools in their 48th annual battle, Saturday's game will look like most any other all-split T battle.

Barring an unexpected turn to an aerial game, both Texas and Oklahoma will concentrate on strong running games — the bread and butter of any split-T attack.

Most of the ball handling will be split between either Bunny Andrews, a senior, and Charles Brewer, a sophomore, for Texas, as they guide the No. 1 and 2 teams, respectively. When the third team goes in, any one of three or four ambitious youngsters might be at the helm.

For Oklahoma, the key man is Buddy Leake a sensational halfback Wilkinson moved in to try and fill the shoes of the departed Eddie Crowder. Leake proved no ball of fire as a deceptivist or as a passer however, in Oklahoma's loss to Notre Dame and tie by Pittsburgh.

Doug Cameron at fullback, a powerful straightforward runner but slow afoot on the outside plays, and bouncing Billy Quinn, the flashy junior who first made his bid for fame in the Oklahoma game a year ago, carry the rushing load for Texas. They've gained 267 yards between them.

On the other hand, Oklahoma is still in a state of reshuffling its lineup and also minus speedster Jack Ging, so there's no telling who Wilkinson will have in there taking Leake's handoffs.

Gault Leaving For Title Fight

SPARTANBURG, S. C. (UP) — William Henry (Pappy) Gault takes a leave of absence starting next week from his night job in the Spartanburg Herald mailing room to realize his life's ambition—a fight for the bantamweight championship of the world.

Pappy and his manager, Chris Cline, will leave for Sydney, Australia, where the 24-year old Spartanburg battler will meet champion Jimmy Carruthers Nov. 13.

Pappy first decided he'd like to become a boxer in 1946, then at the age of 17 he took a night off from his newspaper job to watch an amateur fight card.

"I figured I could do as well as those guys," Pappy said, and a boxing career was born.

But the young 118-pounder learned quickly there was a lot more to this fight game than just getting in there and swinging away. He had to learn to box.

Eddie Stout, an Indian from Oklahoma, did some boxing in Spartanburg, and Pappy credits Stout with teaching him his boxing ABCs.

After winning 63 of 67 amateur fights, Pappy turned pro in 1948, and last year beat Fernando Gagnon to win the bantamweight championship of North America.

Pappy lost his title in August on a split decision to young Billy Peacock in New York, but both Gault and his manager insist Pappy won that fight.

Red Devils -- Rams Meeting In Top County Grid Game

Farmville will play host to the strong Robersonville Rams tonight in the top county game scheduled.

The Red Devils, defeated only once in four games thus far, will be favored. Robersonville is the underdog largely on the strength of a 13-7 upset defeat handed them last week by Vanceboro.

Other games in the county call for Ayden at Williamson, and Chilo's six-man team at Leggett.

The Ayden-Williamson game will bring together two teams that have gone from one extreme to the other this year. Ayden has opened its season by tying Vanceboro 0-0. Then, they were trampled 34-0 by Robersonville before finding enough scoring punch to bury South Edgecombe 26-0 last weekend.

Williamston has won once in four games with that victory coming last week at the expense of out-castled Columbia. In previous games Coach Roger Thrift's squad had lost to Washington and Tarboro and tied Edenton.

Farmville will depend on its offensive punch tonight in an effort to beat the Rams. Ted Allen and Jesse Joyner are the leaders in the high-scoring Farmville machine. Robersonville's scoring punch is provided by Maurice Everett and Dan Clark.

Chilo's six-man squad dropped its second game of the season last week when they walloped 47-12 by Bath. They get their offensive power from the running and passing of J. T. Mills and the pass receiving of Bobby Fornes.

Lane To Remain With White Sox

CHICAGO (UP) — Frank G. Lane, "man in motion" for the Chicago White Sox, today announced rejection of a chance to go to Baltimore as general manager of the Orioles.

Lane revealed that he had talked with Clyde Morris, attorney for the Orioles, but had decided "that I should not enter into any discussion with the Baltimore club in regards to that club's general managership."

Lane stressed the fact that the Baltimore job was not offered to him, but Secretary Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox revealed that Baltimore had obtained permission to negotiate with Lane.

Comiskey also said that there was no change in Lane's current contract, which has two years and three months to run. There had been rumors that Baltimore was willing to offer a high salary, stock in the ball club and a possible bonus.

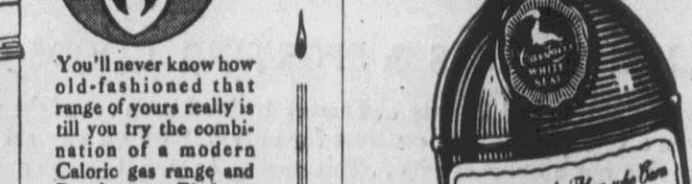

It was believed Lane received upwards of $30,000 per-year from the White Sox plus a bonus based upon attendance. He joined the club in 1948, and his original five year contract was torn up last year in favor of a new three year agreement.

Miami-Clemson Resume Old Feud

MIAMI (UP) — Clemson and Miami resume their gridiron feud tonight before an expected 35,000 fans in the muddy Orange Bowl.

The Hurricanes are a one-touchdown favorite over the South Carolina eleven, which lost to Maryland last week, 20-0. The Miamians bowed to Baylor last week 20-13 but put up a fierce second-half battle.

Wet weather and a field torn up by torrential rains and a heavy high school schedule are expected to slow Clemson's fast backfield and stymie Miami's passing attack.

Red Heads Don't Cry

By ROY L. FOLEY

SYNOPSIS

Phil Stanley, popular young socialite bachelor, had fallen in love with Nancy Kelly, his attorney's keen-witted, red-haired secretary. He'd taken her about, introduced her to his friends, including Linda Van Yliet, a brunette beauty who'd long ago set her cap for Phil. At home tonight, he finds Nancy busily typing extra copies of an important, confidential document which will figure in a law suit pending against the Stanley Construction Company, owned by Phil Stanley's high and mighty kin. On checking her work next morning, Nancy finds one of the copies missing and is gravely alarmed. It could be a dangerous weapon in the opposition's hands. Sam S. Kes, her brother-in-law, whom she dislikes and distrusts had been in the room with her while she worked and so had Dave Armstrong, a would-be suitor for Miss Kelly's hand. Later that week Nancy accepts Stanley's invitation to go ice-boating with him. A sudden storm wrecks their little craft leaving them marooned together over night, in a snow-bound cottage remote from all communication. It is with concern for the worry which Nancy knows her unexpected absence from home must cause her family, she smilingly tries to make the most of her plight.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

NANCY'S enthusiastic response to Phil's adventures, her eager questions, led them into the far places of the world—to beaches and palm trees, to the blue waters of the Mediterranean.

That was living!

She was carried up and up into an imaginary world of unending leisure that knew nothing of typewriters, alarm clocks that brutally shattered early morning sleep . . . Cass Street . . . law offices. Her cheeks were glowing now, half from imagination on fire, half from the wind of the afternoon.

Phil looked at his watch. "Believe it or not, we've been sitting here at this table three hours. You are a charming listener. It is a gift in a woman."

He stood up. "Come, the fireplace must need some fresh logs."

His words hurried Nancy back to earth, back into the clutches of apprehension again. Hardly before she was out of the kitchen Phil's hands were on her shoulders. They slid down her arms. He twirled her around and held her at arm's length, then he pulled her to him. His lips were on her forehead. He was kissing her cheeks. He crushed his lips against hers. She could feel the throb of his heart against her own. He picked her up. She kicked and beat her hands against his chest.

"Ah, a little wildcat."

He laid her down on the great couch before the glowing logs. "Don't get so excited—"

She struggled free and put the distance of a heavy oak table between them.

"Phil Stanley, you're—you're a beast!"

Phil started toward her around the table.

"Don't you dare touch me."

Phil stopped. He walked to the fireplace stood with his back to the flames.

"I'm sorry, you were so—so tempting."

He asked her to come from behind the table.

"I'll promise to be good, I promise—that's a nice girl—I guess I was a beast."

His tone was so penitent, so assuring, that Nancy felt that he was sincere. If he wasn't, he was a good actor."

She came from behind the table, hid her face in her hands. The tears trickled through her fingers. "Stop that," said Phil, "redheads don't cry."

Sunday morning found the Kelly home in a state of excitement it had not known in many months, at least not this particular kind of excitement.

Fifty times since midnight Mother Kelly had gone to the window to scratch a peek hole in the frost-buzzard that had swept through the city in half a century.

By Sunday night she was frantic with worry over Nancy. She screamed at Timothy to do something.

"What can I do?"

"Stop sitting there looking so vacant—put on your shoes!"

By Monday morning there was a headline emblazoned across the front page of The Sentinel. It read: "Fear Wealthy Socialite Drowned."

Lucy Wardle, wedged in the crowded aisle of a streetcar, by stretching her already too long neck, could just glimpse the story in another passenger's newspaper. She read:

"Discovery of the ice boat of Philip Stanley, 24-year-old socialite, River Hills, submerged in an area of open water at Oconomowoc lake, today led to belief that he may have been blown into the water and drowned."

"Mr. Stanley Saturday noon told his father J.G. Stanley president of the Stanley Construction company, that he had intended to sail, but would be home at six o'clock. He has not been heard from since. His iceboat, the 'Northwind,' was discovered by boys late yesterday."

"The younger Mr. Stanley recently was bequeathed a fortune by his aunt, Caroline Stanley, society woman and philanthropist."

Stretch her neck as she would, Lucy Wardle could not see another line of the story in the crowded streetcar. On a corner she matched a paper from a shouting newsboy and read the rest of the report.

"Oh my God—could Nancy Kelly be drowned too!"

She rushed into the Plankinton Arcade to telephone Mother Kelly, to confess Nancy's and her white lie, to say that Nancy had gone to

RUSTY RILEY

Oconomowoc with Phil Stanley.

Every phone booth had an occupant. Would whoever was talking never stop!

She recognized the voice of Larry Patrick, the reporter she had met so many times at the Kelly home. He was telephoning a story to his office, something about the damage done by store windows shattered by the storm. He emerged from the booth at last.

"Lo, Lucy. What are you looking so excited about?"

"Oh, Larry, something awful has happened. Nancy Kelly is drowned—with that Phil Stanley person."

"What!"

"Larry no one in the world knows it but I."

She poured out the story of Nancy and Phil the fib she had told Mother Kelly, of Nancy's failure to return home.

"Holy cow, what a scoop!"

Larry crowded into the booth with Lucy to listen in on her call to Mother Kelly.

Two hours later Larry Patrick sat with his feet on the table of the battered press room at the police station.

His hat was slouched down over his eyes. Discouragement was written in every line of his figure. He looked anything but the dynamo reporter that the movies tells about.

Larry was lost in contemplation of the uncertainties of life and particularly the fate that always seemed to be dangling the scoop of the year before him and then snatching it away just when he was about to grab it.

Larry was forever dreaming of the day when he would startle the world, well, if not the world, a part of it, and particularly his city editor with something special, sensational, colossal, exclusive!

Now the big news that Lucy Wardle had given him, the story that no only the body of Phil Stanley, the young millionaire, was lost beneath the ice of Oconomowoc lake, but beside him lay the body of the beautiful red haired girl, one Nancy Kelly—had gone with the wind.

Hardly had Lucy excitedly confessed her white lie and her fears for Nancy's safety to Mother Kelly than Larry snatched the telephone from Lucy's hands and called his city desk.

He had poured out his exclusive information to the city editor when he was cut short with:

"I know I know, Stanley is not dead, neither is the redhead. I know all about it. Get going on your run. Forget it."

Larry had given the wall of the telephone booth a vicious kick. "I'll be damned!"

That was the way with city editors. If they weren't the loudest, lowest, most discouraging, hardest boldest tribe of brow beating—

Larry's vocabulary of scorching epithets about city editors in general and his city editor in particular, sputtered out. Oh well, some day. He'd show them.

He had plowed through the snow-choked streets to the police station, pondering on how the city editor could possibly know that Stanley was not drowned, but above all that a girl, and not only a girl but a red headed girl, had been with Stanley. Why, Lucy not ten minutes ago said she was the only one in the world who knew Nancy had gone ice boating with Phil Stanley.

Lawsuit Charges 'Saucer' Injuries

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—An Ohio farmer in a suit against the government charged Thursday that a "flying saucer" fell from the sky and injured him while he was working in the fields.

Ferdinand Hackover said that on Oct. 17 a "machine or contraption composed of an umbrella-like kite fell from the sky and knocked him over his harrow."

The "saucer" turned out to be a U. S. Signal Corps device sent up in weather balloons to radio signals on wind velocity, direction, temperatures, etc.

The Sermon on the Mount

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Jeremiah 31:31-34; Matthew 5:1-10; Mark 7:20-23; John 3:3-5; Philipians 4:13; I Peter 1:13-23.

The prophet Jeremiah told his people that the Lord would make a new covenant with them.

The people need no longer teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother.

What characteristics has the new man? Jesus said: "Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven; blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God."

Nicodemus asked Jesus how he could be born again? Jesus answered, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God."

MEMORY VERSE—Ezekiel 36:27.

God's Design for New Men

A CHANGE IN THE HUMAN HEART IS NEEDED

Scripture—Jeremiah 31:31-34; Matthew 5:1-10; Mark 7:20-23; John 3:3-5; Philipians 4:13; I Peter 1:13-23.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

MODERN INVENTIONS have made our world and way of living new. Has the human heart changed? In some ways, the answer is yes, this writer feels. More is done to aid others physically, not only in our country but in many others. Let us read what the prophet Jeremiah considered necessary to make men new, and also Jesus' words on the subject. In Jeremiah's time Judah was very near the end of her independence. She was soon to be taken captive by Nebuchadnezzar, and, except for a brief period, she was never to know freedom again until our generation. Israel also rebelled against Jehovah, but Jeremiah, looking ahead, saw hope for his people in what he called a new covenant. "Behold the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah. This shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel: After these days, saith the Lord, I will put My law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people. And they shall teach no more for they shall be called the children of God. "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

Children are often "persecuted" by playmates: for instance, the boy who is called a "sissy" because he will not do what others consider manly because he knows it is wrong. Also the girl who is being teased by her friends because she refuses to do something of which she knows her mother and her conscience disapprove. It is a persecution that is very real to these children. However, says J. R. Miller: "No one has ever endured persecution with submission and patience but every drop of martyr blood that has fallen to the ground has caused some plant of righteousness to grow more luxuriantly."

Do you remember Nicodemus, a Jewish ruler who came to Jesus to learn of His gospel? Jesus had told him that he must be born again? asked the puzzled man. Jesus' answer was, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God."

MEMORY VERSE

"I will put My Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in My statutes, and ye shall keep My judgments, and do them."—Ezekiel 36:27.

every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord; for they shall all know Me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord; for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more." In the beautiful Sermon on the Mount, Jesus taught His disciples the Christian way of life, and children may be made to realize clearly that Jesus' teaching is the way to happy living. While it is not always easy to act in Christian ways, we can all, young and old, ask His help and receive it. "Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Who are the poor in spirit? Not necessarily those poor in worldly goods, but the humble who are not puffed up, but who are ready to recognize their own faults and to learn to do better. "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled." "Blessed are the merciful; for they shall obtain mercy." "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." "Blessed are the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God."

The hope of a better world today lies in a change of human hearts. Sin in the heart expresses itself in willfulness, folly, crime, selfishness which are opposed to God's will for a good world. There is a way God has provided by which repentant men can find this new life through Jesus Christ. "I can do things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Paul writes to the Philipians. "Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. "As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance; but as He which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation; because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy."

There is much in this lesson that can bring out discussion among children, young people or adults. These can lead to a better understanding of what a Christian life should be and promote a desire to live such a life. # Local C-of-C Is Now Linked To Commerce Dept.

Greenville's Chamber of Commerce has been appointed a cooperative office by the United States Department of Commerce, Willard T. Kyzer, manager, reported yesterday.

The U. S. Department of Commerce has formed 590 such offices with chambers of commerce and business organizations throughout the nation. It is a move to extend the services of the Department to a far wider segment of the business public.

The department will provide Greenville with Departmental publications, statistical data and reports that may be of value to business in this particular area. The publications will include Foreign Commerce Weekly, Survey of Current Business, and the Business Service Check list. Other publications will be furnished upon request of the local Chamber of Commerce. Greenville's cooperative office will get assistance as they request in providing prompt service to manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, the service tables, financial institutions, and such foreign and domestic trade problems as come within the responsibilities of the Department of Commerce.

Kyzer said the local Chamber of Commerce agrees to provide files, equipment and other office facilities as may be necessary to properly handle the reference material furnished. He also said the office must publicize the services and publications the Department makes available to the business public through this cooperative office.

ABC Men Ruin 2 Bootleg Stills

ABC officers hit pay dirt two times this week, destroying two illegal manufacturing plants in the county.

A 100-gallon copper still in Pactolus Township was raided and destroyed along with 200 gallons of mash.

Local officers said that the still had never been put in operation at the time of the raid. It was on Tranters Creek.

Down in Chicod Township, a 150-gallon still complete with two coils, 13 gallons of whiskey and 17 50-gallon barrels containing 700 gallons of mash, was discovered and destroyed.

The still was located near the Pitt-Beaufort county line on Creeping Swamp.

In operation at the time of the raid, the officers were spotted before reaching the still site and the men made their getaway.

Oil burners were being used to fire the still.

Officers making the raid were Jim Ward, H. B. Lilley, and Dick King.

Mayor Asks For Gamma Globulin

RALEIGH (UP)—Mayor T. C. Ragsdale of Jamestown asked Gov. William B. Umstead yesterday to make available gamma globulin supplies for mass inoculations for hepatitis in the Guilford County township.

Ragsdale wired the governor that the epidemic has reached "very serious stages" with more than 80 persons stricken with the contagious liver ailment.

Umstead said he has asked State Health Officer Dr. J. W. R. Norton, to confer with Guilford County health officers concerning the matter.

The State Health Department said earlier that it will furnish gamma globulin supplies for contacts of victims but not for mass inoculations because the cases are "too scattered."

Guilford County Health Officer Dr. E. H. Ellinwood said an intensive educational program is being conducted in the epidemic areas of Jamestown and High Point to instruct children and adults in personal hygiene to prevent the ailment.

Most of the stricken have been children between the ages of nine and 14. Only one Negro has contracted the virus disease thus far.

To Ask Stronger 'Lindbergh Law'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today he will ask Congress to strengthen the Lindbergh Law by authorizing the FBI to move in on kidnaping cases immediately.

The Tennessee Democrat, who headed the Senate crime investigation two years ago, said he will offer an amendment to the law as soon as Congress reconvenes. He said the need for prompt FBI action was demonstrated in the recent kidnap-murder of young Bobby Greenlease in Kansas City.

Two other senators, Robert C. Hendrickson (R-NJ) and Harley M. Kilgore (D-WVA), said in separate interviews that they favor such a revision. They said it would permit quicker work by the FBI and provide an additional "deterrent" to such crimes in the future. Kefauver, Hendrickson and Kilgore all are members of the Senate Judiciary Committee which would consider such legislation.

The present kidnap statute, passed after the abduction of the infant son of transatlantic flier Charles Lindbergh, makes kidnaping a federal crime—punishable in some instances by death—if a victim is transported across a state line. But it requires that the FBI wait seven days before it makes the assumption that a federal law may have been violated and begins its formal inquiry.

Kefauver commented that a one-week delay makes it "almost impossible" to conduct a thorough, effective inquiry.

"The FBI should be in on such cases from the beginning," he said. "Actually, the FBI was in close touch with developments in the Greenlease case from the start, on an informal basis. Arthur Eisenhower, brother of the President and an executive of the bank that provided the ransom money, said FBI agents were present while the money was being prepared."

Kefauver said he favors reserving to the states the jurisdiction over most crimes within their borders. But he said that "in this day and age, with rapid transportation, telephone and other wire communications it seems to me a justifiable immediate assumption that a kidnap case involves interstate commerce."

Fire Drills Are Held At Schools Of City

Students of Third Street School file out in an orderly line upon the sounding of a fire signal this morning. While there was no fire, the exodus was part of the training being given city school children during National Fire Prevention Week. In the bottom picture, students at C. M. Eppes High School gather around the aerial ladder truck of the Fire Department to hear a talk on better fire prevention. (Reflector Photo by Roy Ladder)

Fire drills under supervision of the Greenville Fire Department were the order of the day yesterday and this morning in Greenville City Schools.

All of the nearly 3,000 students were vacated from their classrooms in time ranging from 38 seconds to one minute and 23 seconds for the High School.

Fire Chief George Gardner this morning said that he was well pleased with the showing made by the children, and that it was one of the best in years.

Reduction Of Auto Liability Talked At Pitt Insurance Exchange Meeting

"An Overall Reduction of 10 Per Cent for Auto Liability" was the theme at last night's meeting of the Pitt County Insurance Exchange.

Dick Brantley, assistant executive secretary of the North Carolina Association of Insurance Agents, the speaker, said only 30 per cent of North Carolina drivers carry auto liability at present.

"This figure," he emphasized, "will be increased to 75 per cent by the end of 1954, due to the new Financial Responsibility Act passed at the last session of the General Assembly."

"North Carolina was the 44th state to adopt the law, and we have the benefit of the experience of other states and we can do a more efficient job of properly serving the needs of the public," he said in concluding.

All Belts Report Colored News Prices 'Steady'

RALEIGH (UP)—Prices held steady for flue-cured tobacco on all five belts yesterday, with slight increases in grade averages on all but one belt, the Federas and State Market News Service reported today.

Middle Belt averages advanced 67 cents to $49.50 per hundred and volume increased slightly. Deliveries to the stabilization corporation averaged from five to 12 per cent of gross sales.

South Carolina and Border North Carolina markets showed losses of $1 to $6 per hundred for green grades and quality declined as more green tobacco was offered. Volume was light and all markets cleared their floors. Sales totaled 2,488,616 pounds for an average of $55.24 per hundred Wednesday, a drop of 75 cents from the previous day.

Average prices on the Eastern North Carolina markets were about the same as the previous day, with gains of $1 and $2 balancing losses of the same amounts on other grades. Sales totaled 7,762,470 pounds for an average of $58.85—just eight cents below the day before.

There was very little change in prices or quality on the Old Belt markets Wednesday as sales continued light in spite of increased deliveries to some markets. Sales amounted to 1,689,106 pounds averaging $50.75.
