Debate Tempo On Reds-In-Gov't Issue Steps Up
McCarthy Assails Mitchell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell's challenge to the Eisenhower administration to lay before a grand jury the charges that former President Truman promoted a Russian spy was termed "completely dishonest" today by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Atty. Gen. Brownell, who made the politically explosive accusation in a speech at Chicago Friday, made no comment on Mitchell's challenge.

Mitchell, appearing on a CBS television program yesterday, accused Brownell of "low politics" in saying that Truman had promoted the late Harry Dexter White in the face of FBI reports that White was a spy. Truman has denied it.

"The Republicans may have an armful of porcupines before they get through with this," Mitchell said.

McCarthy, in an interview, said the Democratic national chairman knows it was "completely dishonest" to suggest that the whole matter be laid before a grand jury. "Anyone with an ounce of brains knows you can have a completely documented case of espionage which would not be a legal case. It is completely dishonest to say that unless you can send them to jail they are innocent."

"If Truman and his crowd protected people who obviously were espionage agents, such as White, that doesn't mean you can indict them. The important thing is that the people know the facts. I think Atty. Gen. Brownell performed a tremendous public service."

Truman has said White was fired "as soon as we found out (he) was wrong."

Truman, asked why White was not prosecuted, told newsmen in Kansas City Saturday: "It was never proven that White was a spy. He denied any such connections before an investigating committee. He was never indicted by a grand jury."

White died in 1948, a week after denying before the House Un-American Activities Committee that he had been a member of an "elite" group in the Communist apparatus.

Brownell had said Truman promoted White in 1946 from the post of assistant secretary of the Treasury to director of the International Monetary Fund despite two warnings from the FBI.

Mitchell, terming the whole thing "a political smokescreen," said that if someone took advantage of Truman, such a person should be prosecuted, and he continued: "Either someone took advantage of Mr. Truman, or is it the suggestion that the President was furthering the interests of a foreign power . . . or that he was part of a Communist activity?"

"It has to be one or the other," Mitchell suggested. "Let him go before a grand jury" with the evidence and get its answer.

Infant Found Safe; Girl Just Wanted To Keep Him
Kidnaping Babysitter Held

HUGO, Okla. (AP) — A 17-year-old former carnival strip teaser was arrested today and quickly arraigned on a federal charge of kidnaping a 5-month-old baby boy while baby sitting with him at Evansville, Ind.

FBI agents arrested Mrs. Tommie Dene Doughty and recovered the baby, Richard Lee Stammer, alive.

They were found at the home of Mrs. Doughty's father, Buford M. Mason, North of Bokchito, in Red River Valley farm country.

Mrs. Doughty was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner D. A. Stovall six hours after she was captured. Stovall placed her under $20,000 bond and she was turned over to U. S. Deputy Marshal W. A. White for removal to Muskogee federal jail.

"In a way I'm glad it's over, but I still wish I could have kept him for a few more days," Mrs. Doughty told The Associated Press in Oklahoma City by telephone.

She was permitted to talk on the phone after her arraignment and she haltingly answered questions about her trip by bus and hitchhiking since she took the baby Friday night.

"He is just the age of the one I lost," Mrs. Doughty said. "I fell in love with him when I first saw him. He reminded me of my child. He didn't give me any trouble at all during the trip."

"I had some money when we left Evansville and I bought what he needed along the way. He didn't eat at all. . . . Was just a perfect baby."

The child is the son of Richard Duane Stammer, 20, a sailor, and Shirley Stammer, 18.

Asked how she felt, she quickly replied: "How would you feel?"

The FBI said that Mrs. Doughty lost a child at birth in June 1953 in Chicago.

The agents said that Mrs. Doughty told them she gave birth to a child at Dallas in 1951 but two weeks later her husband took away and she never has seen it since. The FBI said the father was Lamar Mitchell.

The Stammer baby apparently suffered no ill effects from the two days and nights of travel.

The FBI said Mrs. Doughty told her parents the baby was hers.

Couple Accept Offer Of Flying To Kidnaped Son

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A reporter brought Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duane Stammer the word early today that their baby son had been found safe near Bokchito, Okla., with the baby sitter charged with kidnaping him.

"How soon can we get him back?" the 20-year-old sailor and his 18-year-old wife Shirley, wanted to know.

The couple accepted the offer of an automobile dealer, Ed Mooney, to pay the plane fare to Durant, Okla., where the woman and their baby had been taken by FBI agents. The Travelers Aid Society had offered fare for the 25-hour bus ride.

Mrs. Stammer appeared at her front door in a kimono. She leaned against a wall, stunned a little by the relief of tension.

"We can just be thankful he's okay," she said. "I was awfully bitter against her, but not too bitter now."

The Stammer said they'd been in bed but hadn't slept since their 5-month-old baby, Richard, disappeared Friday night with a woman known here as Wanda White.

"Now that I think back," Mrs. Stammer said, "she seemed awfully anxious to get her hands on the baby."

"She said, 'Sure I'll take care of my baby.' I thought she was joking."

The sister lived across the hall from the apartment of Mrs. Stammer's mother and often played with the baby when he was brought to see his grandmother.

Police here said they learned the woman had been living with a truck driver, identified only as F. White, at Elkhart, Ind., before coming here three weeks ago. The FBI said her name is Norma Jean (Tommy) Doughty, who had had run-ins with the law as a carnival dancer.

Mrs. Stammer arranged through her mother for the woman to care for the baby so she could start night work at the Farmer's Daughter drive-in restaurant to earn money for a new winter coat.

Flue-Cured Leaf Markets Take Holiday After Tuesday's Sales

RALEIGH (AP) — A drop in prices and a drop in leaf quality have resulted in a sharp increase in the amount of tobacco going to the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp. under the government price support program.

So much of the leaf sold last week went to Stabilization that all flue-cured markets will be closed for the remainder of this week following tomorrow's sales. Officials hoped this would relieve congestion of redrying plants which process tobacco for the Stabilization Corporation.

Stabilization receipts last week amounted to about 40 per cent of total sales on the Old Belt as compared with 31 per cent the week before. On the Middle Belt Stabilization received about 19 per cent of the sales last week and about 5 per cent of the leaf offered on the Eastern Belt.

Phil Hedrick, tobacco marketing specialist for the State Department of Agriculture said he felt the sales holiday is "not going to increase the price or decrease it." He attributed the increase in Stabilization receipts to the fact that buying companies "are just not bidding on it."

Fred Royster of Henderson, president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn., which ordered the sales holiday, saw two reasons for the increase in Stabilization receipts: (1) the quality of the tobacco now being sold, and (2) a weakening in the market price. He said he felt the first factor accounted for most of the big increase in leaf placed under government loan, pointing out that much of the leaf is coming from areas where quality was out sharply by the drought.

Hedrick pointed out that some farm organizations have called for a 5 per cent reduction in next year's tobacco acreage and expressed the opinion the price situation might be helped if Agriculture Secretary Benson should approve a reduction and announce his decision immediately.

Meanwhile, the season is drawing to a close on the Eastern Belt. Final sales will be held tomorrow at Winston, Thursday at Dunn, Nov. 18 at Smithfield and Nov. 20 at Rocky Mount.

Averages were at lows for the season last week on the three belts. The average of $50.65 per hundred pounds in the Eastern North Carolina was down $3.52 from the previous week. Season figures are $49,360,891 pounds sold at an average of $57.35.

The average of $43.74 on the North Carolina Middle Belt was reflected in a seasonal average of $49.80 on sales of 107,164,484 pounds.

Averages for most grades declined for the fourth straight week on the North Carolina and Virginia Old Belt. At $43.53 last week, they were down $2.13 from the season low set the previous week. Seasonal figures are 128,949,403 pounds averaging $47.00 a hundredweight.

Souvenir For Family

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The parents of a soldier who was a prisoner of war in Korea received a magazine from the Communist last week. "Just a bunch of filthy lies," the father exclaimed when he looked at it.

The magazine, postmarked London, England, was delivered here to Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Rollins. It claims to be a souvenir of "the good food and good times" of a prisoner of war relative had while a prisoner of the Chinese People's Volunteers.

The Rollins' only son, Charles, 23, a released POW, came home last month and re-enlisted.

Young Rollins was indignant. He phoned Greensboro Postmaster J. Tracy Moore "to see why they had such propaganda go through the mails."

Postmaster Moore said: "If it contained lottery tickets or obscene pictures we could remove it from the mail. But we have no local authority here to remove it from the mail even though it is lies."

He asked Rollins to turn it over to postal authorities, however, for forwarding to Washington.

The 94-page magazine was published by the Chinese Peoples Committee for World Peace, Peking, China. It was sent to Rollins by the Britain-China Friendship Assn., 228 Grays Inn Rd., London, W.C.1, England.

The magazine contains several dozen pictures of POWs apparently having happy times in prisons, eating Thanksgiving Day feasts every day in the week, swimming and playing games, and living in "a typical POW camp on the shores of the beautiful Yalu River. The scene is pleasant and peaceful."

A mimeographed letter inside the front cover says, "Should you or your ex-prisoner of war relative wish to be kept in touch with developments in China, we should be glad, on the payment of two dollars per annum, to send copies of 'China Reconstructs,' the bi-monthly periodical published in China, and other material published by this association."

Defiant Note By Mossadegh Now Undergoing Trial

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Angry ex-dictator Mohammed Mossadegh, challenging the competence of a military tribunal to try him as a traitor today threatened to commit suicide, fired his lawyer and warned the court he might boycott the trial.

Clad in his customary pajamas, the 73-year-old former Premier told the court he would not appear any sentence it might mete out.

"I will not accept any forgiveness. I will stay in this prison until I die. If you release me, I will commit suicide as soon as I get hold of the means," he shouted.

"I am not going to attend the coming sessions even if you cut off my head," he declared at the climax of a heated argument with Gen. Nasrollah Moghbell, chairman of the five-man tribunal.

It was the second day of the trial for his life. As he did on the first day, he wept, panted, pounded the table and gesticulated. He made fiery speeches against the British, whom he had fought to a deadlock over this nation's vast oil riches.

At both sessions, Mossadegh declared the military court was not competent to try him on charges he tried to overthrow the monarchy, defied the Shah and illegally dissolved the Majlis (lower house of Parliament). And at each, he used the old argument—the British were the cause of Iran's woes—that once had brought him unprecedented power until his overthrow and subsequent arrest after a bloody Aug. 19 coup led by supporters of the Shah.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled professional baseball is still only a sport and hence is not subject to federal anti-trust laws.

The court's decision was given on three appeals attacking the much-discussed player "reserve clause," keystone of organized baseball.

The appeals had asked the court to overturn a 1922 unanimous decision delivered by Justice Holmes that baseball is a sport, not a business.

The decision was announced in a per curiam opinion—that is, one not signed by any member of the court.

It said the tribunal was upholding the Holmes' decision of 1922 "so far as that decision determines that Congress had no intention of including the business of baseball within the scope of the federal anti-trust laws."

Work Stoppage To Honor Dead

ROME (AP) — Italians from Trieste to the toe of the peninsula laid down their tools today in a 10-minute "memorial" work stoppage for the six persons killed by police during Trieste rioting last week.

The suspension was called by all three of Italy's big labor federations, representing nearly all Italian workers. They said only essential public services continued during the period. Many schools in Rome observed 10 minutes silence.

The nationwide demonstration followed a bitter accusation yesterday against the British command of the Trieste civil police by the Italian government. Its report said the bloodshed in the disputed Adriatic city "was caused by riot squad tactics of the police, which were characterized by extreme severity and the hasty use of firearms."

The report charged the police measures were unjustified. It added that the British had failed to heed advance warnings by Italian officials or Italians' pleas to ease the situation. Two British officers were named as being among those at fault.

Today's work stoppage marked the second consecutive day of calm following the bloody riots that swept Italy last week.

Riot police and Carabinieri stood guard outside the British Embassy in Rome, where 12,000 rioters battled with police Saturday, but there was no demonstration. Police also were in relatively large numbers near the U. S. Embassy but had nothing to do.

Trieste itself, where an estimated 150,000 persons turned out yesterday to bury the six riot victims, also remained quiet.

Italian newspapers continued to demand removal of Maj. Gen. Sir John Winterton, Allied commander in Trieste's Zone A.

Stephen Mitchell To Resign After Elections In '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stephen A. Mitchell says he will resign as Democratic national chairman after the 1954 congressional elections, and back his favorite for the party's 1956 presidential nomination.

Mitchell is a close friend of Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 nominee.

The party chairman, he said on a CBS television program yesterday, should be neutral among various aspirants for the nomination, and "I'll be partisan." Stevenson selected Mitchell for the post after winning the 1952 presidential nomination.

Mitchell said he intends to serve through next year's campaign for control of Congress, but that if the Democrats want a new chairman before then, "I'm awfully easy to get rid of."

Charles S. Edwards has been appointed to the post. He will start to work with Moore and work with him on a part-time basis until December 15. Moore agreed to break Edwards into the various duties of the office.

Find Three Small Bodies Huddled In Burned House

FULTON, Ky. (AP) — Desperately Mrs. Thomas L. Dedman groped last night for her children in the wildly blazing room. The lights had gone out and the room was full of smoke.

Troy Lee Poole, 18, of Harris Station, Tenn., a visitor, crawled about on his hands and knees, also searching.

But the rapidly spreading fire, started when an overturned oil heater exploded, forced them to give up. They fled with face and neck badly burned.

Mrs. Dedman's two older daughters, Patsy, 15, and Anita, 12, escaped too. Left in the house were Terry Lynn, 7, Donna Fay, 4, and Tommy, 2.

Later firemen found three small bodies cuddled together near a window. The home was destroyed.

UN Told All Depends On New Policies By Russia

Disarmament Chances Dim

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States, told the U. N. today disarmament and world peace depend on a "change of mind and attitude" by Russia's rulers.

In a major policy speech prepared for the U. N. Assembly's 60th annual Political Committee, chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said:

"The fighting in Korea obviously made disarmament talk unreal. But now we have an armistice, and the United States continues, therefore to hope that despite the discouraging nature of the Soviet note of Nov. 3 in connection with a four-power conference on Germany, the Soviet leaders will yet give concrete indications that they actively desire to remedy the current state of international affairs."

"We hope they will join with us in practical steps to reduce international tension which will be reflected in developing a disarmament program."

Disarmament is impossible without international security and once international security has been achieved, disarmament cannot be conducted without proper safeguards.

Lodge said no balanced disarmament program can be put into effect "until world tensions have been reduced by settlement of some of the major political issues between the Soviet Union and the free world."

But, he added, agreement on such a disarmament program would help ease the world tensions.

"The existence of international security depends on a change of mind and attitude on the part of the rulers of the Soviet Union."

"So long as they believe that they have the only good idea for conducting human affairs—which idea they must impose on the rest of the world whether it likes it or not—and so long as they live in baseless fear that the rest of the world seeks to destroy their idea, just so long will Communist imperialism continue in all its manifestations: subversion of peaceful governments by force and violence, mendacious propaganda on the German warfare model, and even promoting actual warfare as in Korea and Indochina."

"Proper safeguards for conducting disarmament can only take place when the Iron Curtain no longer exists, so that we will know what they are doing as they can know what we are doing."

"The answer in every case lies with the Soviet Union."

Lodge headed a week's lineup of western speakers calling for new attempts by the U. N. disarmament commission to win world agreements next year on arms reductions. A 14-nation resolution before the committee provides that

The U. S. delegate detailed statements by President Eisenhower, expressions by the U. S. Senate, and hopes of scores of private U. S. organizations aimed at getting a safeguarded disarmament program.

Lodge said the Russians have attacked the idea of Western bases overseas without offering a look at Communist air bases under its own flag or in other countries.

He said the Soviet Union condemned propaganda which it charged prepared a new war. The Communist party all over the world under direction from Moscow, seeks to overthrow peaceful governments by force and violence.

"It is not on such discredited nostrums as these that disarmament can be achieved," Lodge said.

Referring to the speech by Russia's Andrei Vishinsky on the disarmament question last week, Lodge discounted Vishinsky's promise that Russia would not spend "a thousandth of a millionth part of a ruble for atomic weapons" if the U. N. declared them banned.

"The prohibition of atomic and similar weapons is a matter so deeply affecting the vital security of nations that it can be put into effect only when there are safeguards which protect against a violation," Lodge said.

May Determine Fate Of Dragging POW Interviews

Thimayya And Reds Confer

By JOHN RANDOLPH
PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Indian chief of the Korean repatriation commission went to Kaesong today for a face-to-face meeting with the Red high command that may determine the future of the struggling Communist program to woo back thousands of its former soldiers.

The trip by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya came after the Communists defied a set of ground rules for the interviews which he laid down Friday night.

The 90-day interview program reached its halfway point Monday with only about 10 per cent of the 24,400 Chinese and North Koreans interviewed—a direct result of Communist delaying tactics.

Thimayya told the Reds to call 500 prisoners (one compound) a day and forget about those they are unable to get to each day. Otherwise he indicated, the Indians might have to take over the program themselves.

However, the Communists Monday morning again demanded the remaining two thirds of a Chinese compound which was one third interviewed Thursday on the last day of explanations.

Since then the remaining prisoners have refused to come out for interviews. Thimayya told the Reds to call for another compound because it would be nearly impossible to separate the partially interviewed group.

However, the Reds refused to yield in their demand for Tuesday's interviews.

There has been considerable speculation that the Communists may be seeking to force an argument and bow out of the entire interview program with a propaganda blast that they were treated unfairly.

Their propaganda has been given a shattering by the overwhelming number of prisoners who have refused to return home—only 64 of 2,205 interviewed have accepted the Red pleas.

Thimayya said his meeting with North Korean Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho and Chinese Gen. Ting Kuo Yu would probably last into the night. He said he did not plan a news conference on his return.

Meanwhile, Allied and Red staff advisers met secretly for the second time in efforts to write an agenda for top-level diplomats who will plan a Korean peace conference.

U. S. Delegate Kenneth Young said the Reds offered a recess, but he did not disclose its contents.

Find $20 Bill

DETROIT (AP) — Twenty dollars of the missing $308,000 Greenpeace ransom money has appeared in Petoskey, Mich., according to a copyrighted story by the Detroit Times today.

FBI agents have clamped a security lid on local police officers, and all other persons involved in the trail of the money.

In Detroit, Fred McIntire, local FBI chief, declined comment.

The Detroit Times story said FBI agents have swarmed into Petoskey since last Tuesday when the $20 bill was discovered by Mrs. Henry J. Krauser, who operates a rooming house.

Mrs. Krauser identified the money from a list circulated by the FBI to all operators of hotels, motels, rooming houses and merchants.

Secret Meeting For Negotiators Of Korea Truce

PANMUNJOM (AP) — U. S. and Red diplomats met secretly today on an agenda for planning a Korean peace conference and the Communists offered a statement which obviously interested the American negotiators.

Although the lower level meetings are secret by agreement, U. S. delegate Kenneth Young told newsmen he had taken a 10-minute break "to study carefully their remarks."

Young would not discuss the Red statement, but said:

"We hope we can get an agreement."

Monday's 1 hour and 45 minute session was the second held by staff officers after top-level diplomats in 11 meetings couldn't agree on what to talk about first.

In past negotiations, the Reds often have made their concessions in lower level, closed-door sessions rather than in the publicized high-level meetings.

Marshall Will Go To Collect Prize

Marshall is expected to deliver the traditional Nobel address at the ceremonies in the University Fjell Hall here.

King Ibn Saud Of Saudi Arabia Succumbs Today

BAHREIN, Persian Gulf (AP) — Word reached this island that King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, the world's richest and most powerful absolute monarch, died today.

The crippled, one-eyed king was stricken with angina pectoris on Oct. 9, but on Oct. 27 a message reached the outside world that he had passed the crisis.

The king, 6 feet 4, a giant of a man in his prime, had been crippled in recent years by arthritis. He would have been 73 this month or next. His exact birth date was not recorded.

Ibn Saud's skill and daring as a desert warrior carved out for him his kingdom of Saudi Arabia, with six million subjects. American capital which tapped his country's vast oil resources gave him an income of more than 200 million dollars a year.

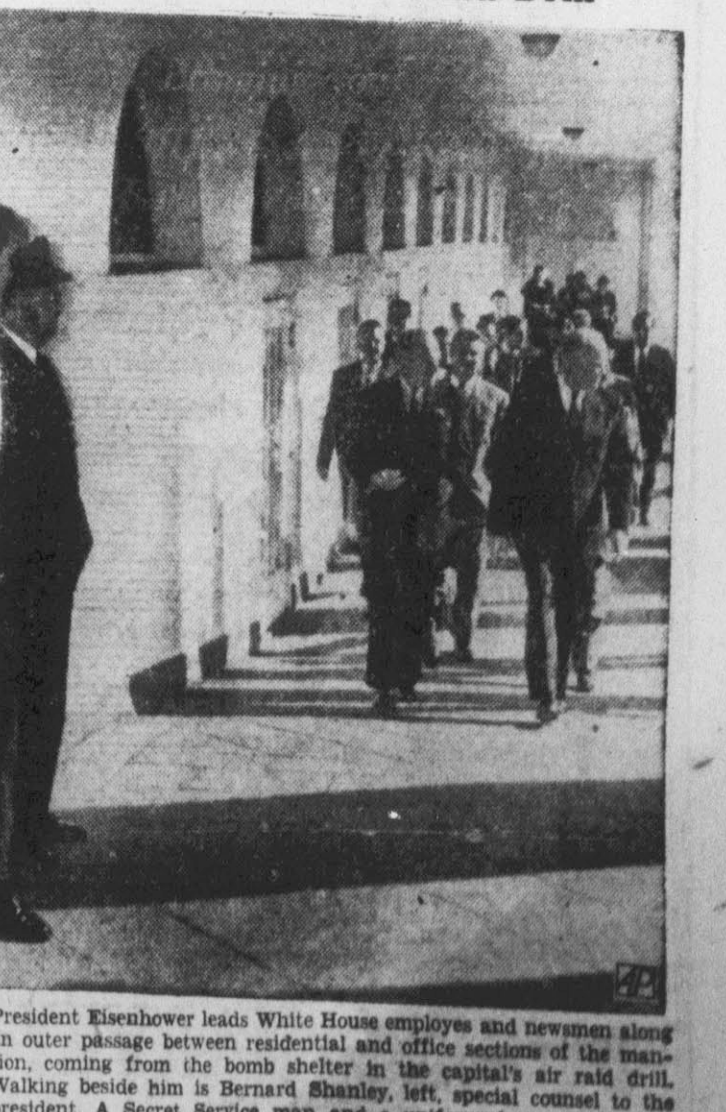

He had 40 sons, among them Crown Prince Saud, who was named 8-time Minister of Saudi Arabia's first Cabinet on Oct. 10. The message received here today said Saud had become king with Prince Faisal as crown prince.

The king also had more than 100 daughters by at least 135 marriages. He never had more than four wives at a time, however, in accord with Moslem law. He never drank or smoked.

Because of his one eye, some Bedouins who had fought with him in the desert wars called him "Old Cyclops."

His full name was King Abdul Aziz Ibn Abdul Rahman Al Faisal Al Saud. He was the son of the Sultan of Nejd, and through his acts of daring and skill not only recovered his father's kingdom but added materially to it.

Miss Lambi Is Book Club Speaker

The Semi Cent Book Club met Tuesday night with Mrs. Earl Fleming. Mrs. Fleming called the meeting to order and there being no old or new business, introduced the speaker, Miss Ruth Lambi.

Miss Lambi gave an introduction to her talk and pointed out on a map of Canada the different places she visited while there. Miss Lambi saw more than an average tourist because she was an exchange teacher. She had many experiences that were breathing as she described them. Among the most interesting were caribou counting, flying over Siberia and seeing the midnight sun. She described the people of Canada as very friendly and kind. As she talked, Miss Lambi showed motion pictures in color, and at the close of her talk all felt closer to our northern neighbor, Canada.

Mrs. Fleming had as her guest Mrs. James T. Meredith. Refreshments were served and books were exchanged.

Bride-Elect Is Honored at Luncheon

Honoring Miss Emilie DuPree, bride-elect, Miss Esther Cobb was hostess at a bridal luncheon Saturday, November 7, at her beautiful home in Pinetops.

Guests were received by Miss Cobb and mother, Mrs. J. Vines Cobb, and were directed into the living room where tomato juice cocktails were served. Later they were invited to the spacious dining room where a delicious turkey luncheon was served. Decorations for the occasion were fall flowers and greenery. Centering the dining room table was an arrangement of white bridal flowers used with white candles in silver candleabra to carry out a green and white motif.

Miss DuPree was presented a corsage of white carnations and asters and sterling silver candlesticks by her hostess.

Guests included Mrs. Chauncey Leary DuPree, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. John A. Clark and Miss Shirley Clark of Greenville, and Mrs. Tom Furlow, Mrs. A. W. Edwards, Miss Nancy Swift and Miss Rosalie Wynn, all of Cherry Point.

Harry Dexter White Is Becoming Active Ghost

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Dexter White, the roundish economist dead since 1948, may become the most active ghost in American history no matter who looks better in the end, Democrats or Republicans.

Atty. Gen. Brownell—in his critical charge that the Truman administration knew White was a Russian spy but promoted him—has raised questions the public will want answered.

Did Brownell intend to state as a fact that former President Truman knew White to be a spy when he gave him an important government job? If the English language has any meaning, Brownell seems to have said that.

How can he prove it? Truman denies it. If Brownell can prove it, what is he as attorney general going to do about it?

Truman says he fired White when he learned White was "wrong" but nevertheless let him resign. Truman says this procedure was often followed. The record shows Truman congratulated him on his service to the government.

Truman says it never has been proved White was a spy. But once he did learn White was "wrong," what did Truman do to have him prosecuted or at least investigated further to find out what damage he had done?

Brownell says it was Truman's side, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, who was given FBI reports on White for the President. Vaughan says he doesn't remember them and is now hearing of White for the first time.

Did he read such FBI reports? Was it his job to do so and then tell the President? Or did he give this task to someone else in the White House and depend on him? If so, who was he? What happened to the reports?

In making his charges about White in a speech to the Executive Club in Chicago last Friday, Brownell was not talking off the cuff or depending upon memory, which can be unreliable.

He read from a deliberately prepared text. As attorney general, he must assume full responsibility for what he said, whether or not he had help in the writing.

At one place in his talk Brownell said:

"Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him to the most sensitive and important position he ever held in government service."

Two paragraphs later he added: "White's spying activities for the Soviet government were reported in detail by the FBI to the White House by means of a report delivered to President Truman through his military aide, Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, in December 1945."

The phrasing there—"a report delivered to President Truman through . . . Vaughan"—could be interpreted as meaning not that Truman actually got the report but merely that it was intended for him and given to Vaughan.

But in the very next paragraph Brownell said:

"In the face of this information and incredible though it may seem, President Truman subsequently on Jan. 23, 1946, nominated White, who was then assistant secretary of the Treasury, for the even more important position of executive director for the United States in the International Monetary Fund."

Although others may have recommended White to Truman for the monetary fund job, it was Truman who nominated him for Senate consideration.

In the first paragraph quoted here Brownell said "the very people who appointed" White knew he was a spy. In the third quoted paragraph Brownell has Truman doing the appointing.

Unless he qualifies these statements later, Brownell clearly seems to be saying Truman knew White was a spy but nevertheless promoted him.

Truman says he knew nothing about what Brownell said were two FBI reports on White as a spy—one in December 1945, or one delivered to Vaughan by the FBI on Feb. 4, 1946, after Truman had nominated White for the fund job.

It was only later, Truman says, that he found out White was "wrong" and fired him.

Art & Craft Leaders Give Demonstration At Red Oak Club

Original and appropriate Christmas decorations was the demonstration given by Mrs. Lizzie Vandford and Mrs. H. R. Allen, art and craft leaders of Red Oak Club, at the meeting on Friday, Nov. 6, in the Community Building.

A table, bristling with ideas for the approaching yuletide season, was displayed and included cornucopias made of chicken wire, Christmas novelties of clothes hangers, and the egg place card. Miniature Christmas trees, huge candles made from discarded candles and the poinsettia made from crepe paper caused much comment from the 18 members and 10 guests present.

Mrs. Jarvis Tripp Sr. presided. The minutes were read and approved and the roll called. The treasurer of the club gave her report, and the treasurer of Red Oak Club Building Fund announced the proceeds of the Harvest Festival and gave a report as of November 1st.

Music and Home Beautification leaders gave reports. It was decided that all members who so desire file an arrangement for the club building and church. First, second and third awards will be made for the most original and appropriate arrangements. These are to be placed in the church or club by Dec. 1.

It was voted that the club have a covered dish supper for the December meeting which will be held on Friday night, Dec. 4. It will be "Family Night" and a wonderful evening of fun and recreation is being planned by the recreation director, Mrs. B. L. Tyson.

The club discussed and decided that at some future date, they would sponsor an "Oldsters Party" which would be for all persons 60 years of age or above in the surrounding communities.

Mrs. Charles Jackson and Mrs. Mary Stocks, hostesses for the evening, served dainty cookies, potato chips and coffee.

Minor Accidents During Weekend

Several minor traffic accidents were investigated by city police over the weekend. No injuries resulted.

A three vehicle accident occurred at 4th and Evans yesterday around 6:20 when a truck driven by Van C. Fleming, 35, of Brookgreen and a car operated by Richard Roach Jr., 26, of Route 2, Greenville, and David K. Jones, 26, of Route 2 Greenville collided, causing minor damage.

Cars driven by Horace Lee Cox, 40, and Sampson Coley of Winterville collided at 8th and Dickinson Avenue with no injuries and slight damage. There were no arrests.

A third accident involved cars driven by Willie F. Barnhill, 35, of 125 North Greene Street, Greenville, and Connie B. Hines, 27, of 1107 Forbes Street, collided at Fourth and Pitt Streets.

Juror Got Lost, In Wrong Court

The bailiff sprang into action and escorted a man from the jury box. Noses were counted and there was still a full jury.

It turned out the misplaced juror had got lost. He had been looking for another courtroom.

Special Events Under Way To Mark American Education Week

A variety of events highlight the 33rd annual observance of American Education Week which began yesterday and will run until Saturday.

American Education Week was conceived in 1921 by the National Education Association, the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

A movie trailer began being shown at the Pitt Theater over the past weekend and will run until Saturday. It is titled "It Is Your Responsibility." Yesterday (Sunday) lit-anies were used by 13 local churches.

Today includes a full program of events. Loyalty Day is being celebrated at all elementary schools with every school having a flag raising program. A movie, "Skippy and the 3 R's," will be shown this afternoon at West Greenville School auditorium. Tonight a Greenville unit of the North Carolina Education Association will be at the high school. To climax today's program, a radio show over WGTC at 9:15 p.m. will feature Mrs. J. H. Rose and her speech students. The program, a dramatic skit, will last until 9:30 p.m.

All during the week many classes at various schools are planning special programs inviting the parents to attend.

The observance of the week will close with an assembly in the high school auditorium on Friday morning at 8:50 when the Women's Chorus from East Carolina College will give a musical program.

This year the central theme for American Education Week is "Good Schools Are Your Responsibility." The agencies sponsoring the week point out that the observance of this occasion is for the express purpose of the public's reviewing the purposes and accomplishments of the schools.

Local high school principal O. E. Dowd said, "For our boys and girls to receive that type of educational training parents desire, the schools must have the support and interest of everyone."

Whistle - Stopping For Uncle Sam

The "whistle-stop" campaign, an important and accepted function in American political wars, has gone international. Instead of winning voters, it's winning friends for America.

Vice President Richard Nixon is the campaigner who is reported upsetting all sorts of precedents in his whistle-stop tour abroad. He's in Asia now, and the common people who seldom if ever in a lifetime come within shouting distance of a high foreign dignitary are seeing an important visitor who came to see them.

According to veteran Associated Press correspondent Russell Brines, who is accompanying Nixon on his world tour, the unorthodox activities of the vice president are making a big hit with the people of Asia.

Rather than devote his undivided attention to governmental officials, diplomatic experts and "big brains," Nixon is pushing official functions to one side; schools are visited, diplomats kept waiting while he shakes hands with fenced-out crowds of commoners; he stops motorcades to talk with farm families, waves at tens of thousands of Asians lining his highway routes, carefully plotted schedules go by the board . . . he's politicking for Uncle Sam in a big way.

Additionally, Brines says Nixon and his wife are attending a heavy schedule of state dinners, luncheons and conferences. It still sounds like a hard way to make a living. The vice president's only criticism seems to be the amount of protocol he is expected to go through.

The world tour had two purposes: to give the vice president a first-hand look at the many facets of world problems and to inspire good will for the United States.

There's no way of telling how much of new foreign affairs knowledge Nixon is gathering, but this much is clear; he is campaigning as hard for the cause of American friendship as he did for votes.

And while the people of Asia don't have a whole lot to say about their governmental policies, they will come day. When that time comes their friendship will mean a lot to this country.

When Patience And Hope Are Gone....

Reporters, radio commentators, headline writers, all must be strained to the quick trying to find new ways of announcing another "no" by the Communists.

It is repugnant in the extreme to re-tell the same story each time a Western proposal is rejected by those "other people"; nor do many editors ever feel satisfied their daily reading public absorbs the full account . . . from first paragraph to last.

Yet, the events so recorded remain a part of the foundation for history of the future. Whatever happens tomorrow is inextricably linked to the events and circumstances brought about today.

We, all of us, are weary of the constant international bickering; but must tolerate it to the end. The virtue of patience remains the only source of strength against the enervating atmosphere of despair. When patience and hope are gone, then truly our enemies will have won their most important battle.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PICTURE PUZZLE

A little two-year-old sitting up at the table with his family in the dining room of a summer hotel had been given a simple picture puzzle to engage his attention and keep him quiet. There was one piece which evidently belonged in a certain place but he would not put it there. "I don't want it to go there," he would cry out; "I want it to go here." And he kept trying to make it fit into an impossible space.

He was not so different from many of us. Life lies before us and God's providence is spread out like a picture puzzle on a table. It takes a little ingenuity to get pieces all together. But there are certain pieces which fit into certain places because a sovereign God has demanded that it be that way, and it is futile for us to try to make these pieces fit into any other places. We can be just as childish as the little two year old. We can weep and shriek and pound the table and say, "I don't want that; I want this." But all the time the thing we are trying to do is ridiculously impossible.

Try thinking of life as a picture puzzle. Imagine all the picture put together under the providence of God, and then try to change the pieces so that they will fit as Universal Law exercised by a Sovereign God intended they should fit.

McCarthy Criticism Fading

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's current exposure of Soviet espionage in President Eisenhower's own branch of the Government—the Army Signal Corps Headquarters at Monmouth, N. J.—has silenced White House criticism of the Wisconsin man's tactics and objectives.

He may still dislike and deplore McCarthy's mannerisms, or the necessity for a continued inquiry. But he also knows when the hour has come to beat a strategic retreat from a dangerous military or political sector.

The significance of this strange twist in the Eisenhower-McCarthy relationship, although not generally appreciated accounts for the new respect for an investigation which the President has criticized indirectly on several occasions at the behest of so-called liberals and intelligentsia in his train.

THEN AND NOW—For a full understanding and appreciation of Eisenhower's new position, especially as his example will influence the attitude of Congress and the Republican Party toward the erstwhile "bad boy," it is necessary to review their relationship from the day he was nominated for the Presidency.

McCarthy was then an extremely controversial figure, for he had not produced the proof of many of his seemingly fantastic charges. The nominee's advisers begged him to show no sympathy toward the Senator or the Jenner-Dirkson-Caphart faction which approved the campaign against Eisenhower.

In general, Candidate Eisenhower agreed. He and others shivered on the night that McCarthy, in his Chicago speech, attempted to link Adlai E. Stevenson with the anti-American conspiracy.

In many of the Eastern newspapers supporting Ike, as well as on the lips of certain GOP spellbinders, "McCarthyism" became a word of scorn.

IKE WANTED JOB LEFT TO HIM—In his inaugural Address, the new President exhorted the freedom of thought and speech. In his message on the State of the Union, he appeared to condemn all Congressional investigations into this problem as interference with his own prerogatives.

He declared that the responsibility for weeding and keeping subversives out of the Government rested on the Executive Branch. Otherwise, he said, there would be "disorder and confusion." In other words, he invited Congress, and especially McCarthy, to leave the job exclusively to him.

He inaugurated his own security program, which he promised would be tighter than Truman's. Under the new system, according to a recent White House report, 1,456 Federal employees were discharged or forced to resign because they had been deemed untrustworthy for one reason or another.

TO OFFSET PUBLIC INDIGNATION—The timing of this announcement was not accidental. It was issued, it appears, in order to offset the public indignation arising from the McCarthy revelations of extensive espionage and betrayal of radar secrets at Monmouth, Ike's special charge as a military Chief Executive. The laxity of ordinary security safeguards there was criminal.

The political and Congressional reaction has been, and the White House realizes it, that if Eisenhower cannot keep the Reds out of the Army's most secret laboratories and experimental centers, he should not object to what used to be denounced as "McCarthyism."

As a result of this dramatic development, it is now certain that "Joe" will rank next to Ike as a Republican campaign figure in the 1954 elections.

McCarthy's CHANGED TACTICS—McCarthy's new stature has also changed him for the better. He conducts his hearings with amazing restraint, and within legislative bounds. He conceals the identity of suspected witnesses and violators. He cooperates completely with the Department of Justice, especially the FBI, and they reciprocate. As suggested here months ago, "Joe" now believes that "McCarthyism" will assume a different and respected meaning in American political lore.

Business Today

New Business Peak

By ELMER ROESSNER
Nineteen fifty-three will be the most prosperous year so far in American history. The record rung up in the first ten months is so massive that no foreseeable decline between now and December 31 can prevent this year's business from setting a new record.

It will top all years past in the amount of goods produced, in total volume of sales, the number of people employed and the amount paid in personal income.

October figures were not as good as they could be, but they were not frightening nor discouraging. Industrial production, as measured by the Federal Reserve Board, did not make the usual nut-brown rise, but it was level with September. Department store sales were around 5 per cent below a year ago, but even then — they were still 2 per cent ahead for the first nine months of the year. Employment in October was estimated by Commerce Department at 62,200,000, about 55,000 fewer than in September, but still 138,000 more than in October 1952. Personal income in September, the latest months for which figures are available, was at an annual rate of $286 billion, compared with $276.4 billion in September, 1952.

It would take a mighty big dip in the next seven weeks to keep 1953 from being a record year. And such a dip is not in sight.

The National City bank, in its monthly letter, says, "Those who have looked to the fall season as a testing period of a business downturn will find little in the record of October to support pessimistic projections. Not only has business in general held up better than expected, but commodity and financial markets, as well as such basic indicators as building contract awards, steel and paperboard orders registered renewed strength during the month. Apparently the date of the much advertised 'recession' must again be postponed.

"Sentiment in business and investment circles has been buoyed by this demonstration of continuing strength in underlying demand and by the excellent showing of corporation earnings statements now becoming available for the third quarter and the nine-month period. With business holding at or near peak levels, and with the nearing prospect of tax relief from the burdensome excess-profits tax at the end of this year, confidence in the maintenance of profitable operations into 1954 has been gaining and has been reflected in the recovery of prices on the stock exchanges."

RETAILERS SEE GAINS
—IF THEY WORK HARDER
Christmas expectations of managements of 87 stores in 35 metropolitan markets were checked by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The findings:

Six out of seven expect an increase in sales over last season. Two out of every three expect gains will be more than 5 per cent.

Four out of five admit they will have to work harder to make gains.

Three out of four will advertise more this season.

Two out of three will start Christmas promotions earlier.

BUT NO PAYMENTS FOR NOT GETTING BUCK

A sportsman's insurance policy is being introduced (by Continental Casualty Co.). It covers gunshot wounds, travel accidents, falls, sprains and other hurting accidents. Coverage can be for three to thirty-one days at from $1.10 to $11. Benefits range from $5,000 to $50,000 for accidental death and from $250 to $2,500 for medical expenses.

Third Largest Crop Being Harvested By U.S. Farmers

By ROGER BARSON
NEW BOSTON, N. H. — Early last summer I discussed the 1953 crop outlook, which then was more or less tentative. Now the overall situation is more clearly defined. Despite the vagaries of summer and early fall weather, the outlook is for the third largest total production of record.

NATURE ALREADY HAS BEEN KIND

Most of my earlier crop forecasts have been well borne out. For instance, another billion-bushel-plus wheat crop already has been harvested, with much to spare. Total supplies for the 1953-1954 season would, in fact, prove extremely burdensome were it not for the Government support price of $2.21 a bushel (national average at the farm). Wheat farmers are taking good advantage of the loan, which means that prices may average somewhat higher. The gimmick, however, is this: An official curb on 1954 acreage! The paper must be paid! Below-average crops of barley, oats, and rye have been harvested. Nevertheless, supplies of these grains should suffice for indicated requirements. Higher prices should rule over the longer term. The flaxseed crop of 39,011,000 bushels is slightly above the 10-year average and will prove fully adequate. Although drought sharply reduced soybean prospects, the indicated U.S. output of 269,483,000 bushels is 18 per cent above the 10-year average. Including record farm stocks, total supplies will easily suffice for 1953-1954 requirements. Yet both flaxseed and soybean prices may work a little higher as the season advances.

A GLANCE AT FALL CROP PROSPECTS

Last summer's long, hot dry spell cut the nation's corn prospects, but not enough to cause real concern. The indicated crop of around 3,200,000,000 bushels is slightly under the 1952 output, the 10-year average. It should suffice, since the carryover was of average size. The support price of $1.60 a bushel (national average) will ease marketing pressure. Later in the season, the price support program and the prevailing favorable feeding ratio may result in somewhat higher average prices.

The edible dry bean crop this year probably will be in the vicinity of 17,730,000 bags (100 pounds each), only slightly under the 10-year average, and will easily go around. Prices are under seasonal pressure, but should recover over the longer term. The U.S. potato crop of close to 374,000,000 bushels is about 9 per cent below the 10-year average, but well above normal domestic consumption. My June forecast of a big U.S. rice crop is being well borne out; in fact, it will set a record high. Current price weakness in both potatoes and rice should be followed by some recovery over the longer term.

COTTON CROP

My earlier cotton forecast that a large crop would be planted, despite the Government's request for a sharp cut, is being fully realized. The indicated yield of 15,596,000 bales compares with the 1942-1951 averages of 12,215,000 bales. Including the Aug. 1 carryover of 5,500,000 bales, total supplies for the 1953-1954 season will be around 21,100,000 bales, or about 10,000,000 bales above indicated domestic consumption and exports. A lot of cotton planters will demand Government loans this season. Cotton farmers will pay for this spurge by a sharp cut in the 1954 national cotton acreage allotment.

FARM PRICE OUTLOOK

Although I expect total cash receipts from farm marketings to decline moderately in 1954, they still will be sizable. Farmers on the whole should continue to prosper. However, certain sections, like Kansas, the dairy states and parts of the Southwest, are suffering. The problems of farm surpluses and a workable and fair price support program remain unsettled. Hard work, cost cutting, promotional programs, and a putting of the national interest in the livestock situation in a later issue of this paper.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

ELECTIONS—Politicians around Capitol Square have expressed gratitude at outcome of several elections this week. They read significance only in one—the congressional district contest in New Jersey, which resulted in electing a Democrat to replace a Republican.

Despite Republican claims to the contrary none of the Democrats hereabouts had any real concern over Virginia's gubernatorial race nor the mayoralty campaign in New York City. They recognized, too, that State and local issues probably had more influence upon the election of a Democrat as Governor of New Jersey than did national or general conditions.

Admitting the impact of personalities in the congressional race, the feeling has been widespread that results there constitute a test of the national administration's strength. Added to the victory tr

Wisconsin three weeks ago, and the admission on part of Republicans that they have, perhaps less than even chance to win the Los Angeles congressional elections next week, the New Jersey result is hailed as a trend.

National Republican leaders had publicly recognized the New Jersey test as important and they put everything they had behind their candidates.

ENCOURAGED—This admitted off-year trend away from the Republican administration has given new courage to North Carolinians who hope to recapture the 10th district next year. It emphasizes the point that the party is held responsible, rather than the individual. Early reports from the 10th district are to the effect that while Charles Raper Jones is personally popular and admittedly a very able legislator, the registered Democrats who voted for him last year are wondering if they should not replace him with a good man of their own party.

Further effect upon North Carolina of the several recent elections is to increase the difficulty of Republicans getting a strong man to enter the U.S. Senatorial race.

SENATOR—The lack of activity in Democratic senatorial circles continues. Nothing of newsworthy import has happened for three or four weeks, unless the statement of ex-Governor Kerr Scott that he would not make any formal announcement until around February 1 comes in the category of news.

Senator Alton Lennon is continuing his get acquainted tour of the State. He is expected to announce within a few days the selection of a Piedmont County Young Democrat leader to be his administrative assistant to fill the vacancy created three weeks ago when Jesse Helms of Raleigh resigned to become executive secretary of the State Bankers Association.

Meanwhile, with or without formal announcement, Scott is waging an intensive campaign against the guile of surveying sentiment. He is traveling a lot. Mail going out and coming in at his Haw River farm is reported to be increasing in volume. A substantial part of the type-written correspondence is processed in Raleigh by persons who were closely associated with Scott when he was Governor and who have time on their hands under the Unstead regime. In his early morning Monday-Wednesday-Friday radio broadcasts the Senator of Haw River gets in some mighty good plugs for his senatorial candidacy along with homely philosophy and wit designed to appeal to the country vote.

There are still some would-be leaders looking for another candidate, and it is not hard to find some of them who are certain that John D. Larkins Jr., of Trenton, will win in the race. Majority opinion is that the contest will be actually a two-way affair between Lennon and Scott, regardless of the number of names printed on the ballot.

Scott is still talking about money. Lennon has not mentioned the matter of money in public, but some of his friends freely voice the hope that he is thinking about it and having some private conversations in which dollars—lots of dollars—are the main topic.

ISSUES—Long time observers of political campaigns in North Carolina predicted some time ago that by October 1 the probable issues in the upcoming senatorial and congressional campaigns would be pretty well determined. Five weeks after that deadline, the atmosphere is just as hazy as it was in July. The analysts and would-be political prophets get no help from recent developments.

Kerr Scott has long been classified as a Roosevelt-New Deal and Truman-Fair Deal type of Democrat. Governor Unstead and Senator Lennon have been classified as somewhat more conservative. The facts are that Unstead has been fully as liberal as was Scott in the Governor's office, and Lennon does not appeal to the ultra-conservative element of the Democratic party, further complicating and analyzing of elections in other States, it appears that with exception of the New York City mayoralty race the winning Democrats were actually more conservative than the losing Republicans. That certainly was true in Virginia, and to less—but still notable—degree in the Wisconsin and New Jersey congressional races.

The real core of next year's campaign issues, in North Carolina and other States as well, may be the traditional problem of State's rights. It may be distinction between conservative and liberal attitudes on national or Federal government's control over forests, streams, and many utilities—such as electric power, telephone, railroads and even bus and truck operations which cross state lines. Unstead and Lennon have favored development and operation of these resources by private capital subject to governmental regulation, mostly at State level, with only such Federal control as may be necessary when natural geographic lines and political lines do not coincide.

The Lead Pencils Here To Stay

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't say goodbye to the old wooden lead pencil.

The fountain pen, glamor girl of the writing field, hasn't written off the pencil at all.

The pen, which started as a simple goose quill, now can do almost anything. It can write under molasses, play "peek-a-boo," light your cigarette serve as a flashlight, wind in a warhead, be booby-trapped with explosives so as to blow the hand off anyone who picks it up.

In some snobbish circles a man's social rating today is determined by four things: The size of his car, the breed of his dog, the fur his wife wears, and the number of tricks his pen will perform.

This has led some worried friends of the wooden lead pencil to ask:

"Why can't it keep up with the times too? It will go the way of the dodo."

Well, we have just had a long talk with Clyde Nissen, the tall, slim executive vice president of the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Assn. who assured us that the lead pencil was still in fine shape.

"To begin with," he said with pointed sharpness, "the wooden lead pencil was able to write under water years before the pen, and can still do it better."

"There have been more changes and improvements in the lead pencil in the last 20 years than in the entire motor car industry. But it has been trained to do more kinds of real work — not just tricks."

The 26 billion dollar industry turned out 1,247 billion wooden lead pencils last year—eight for every American in some 350 types and styles.

What can they do?

"We have pencils that will write on white hot steel," said Nissen. "And paint water color pictures, outline the operation area on the skin of a hospital patient, mark stockyard beef, erase your auto, touch up the paint on your auto, cut into stone, play a phonograph record, write on glass, plastics, film and chinaware, retouch furniture scratches or stained wallpaper."

One pencil is so slender it is sold as a bookmark. There even is a "koshier pencil," guaranteed free of pork-derived products, developed for kosher butchers. Pencils, used to tighten tourniquets, have proved lifesavers to accident victims.

Pencils now come in 72 different colors. Artists and the heads of business firms employ them most often. Executives often like to use an identifying color for their signatures. The pencil industry, with its 72 colors, can now satisfy in this respect a corporation with a board chairman, a vice president, and 70 vice presidents.

"Incidentally, the pencil is our first line of defense," said Nissen. "Industry uses far more pencils than the schools do."

"The average seven-inch pencil can be sharpened 17 times, write 45,000 words or draw a line 35 miles long. The annual output of pencils could pave a 20-foot highway from New York to Baltimore. Since the industry started about a century ago in America it has turned out enough pencils to pave a four-lane highway from New York to San Francisco, plus a 20-foot feeder road from Boston to New York."

Nissen said he didn't think it necessary to teach the wooden lead pencil to skip rope to meet the competition of new types of pens.

Gamma Globulin May Have Prevented Contacting Polio

By FRANK E. CAREY

ATLANTA (U)—Gamma globulin, first used widely last summer in an attempt to ward off the crippling effects of polio, may actually have prevented some persons from developing paralytic polio at all.

Some scientists at work on a nationwide survey to measure the effectiveness of GG think as many as 800 cases may have been prevented—but they don't expect to be able to prove it.

However, said Dr. Alexander D. Langmuir, one of the key specialists in the survey:

"We confidently expect that the survey will give the first conclusive answer to the question whether or not gamma globulin, if given in the week just before a person comes down with a paralytic attack of polio, actually modifies the paralysis."

If it were established that GG can prevent crippling, he said, "it would be extremely important from the public health standpoint—almost as important, in fact, as actually preventing paralytic polio."

The Public Health Service's communicable disease center in Atlanta, headquarters of the evaluation work, hopes for their important findings also when information is collected about GG injections given 185,000 children in 23 epidemic areas.

Langmuir said the survey is expected to:

1. Point to leads that might suggest improved methods for predicting polio epidemics in specific areas.
2. Provide some indication whether it is possible "to set up a program of mass immunization with gamma globulin in a given epidemic area in time to be effective."

3. Determine the value of giving GG to household and other contacts of established polio cases.

4. Provide guidance in allocating and distributing GG for various uses.

5. Furnish the largest body of consistently collected, standardized records ever obtained on polio.

Some of the handicaps scientists face in drawing conclusions about GG's performance during this year's polio season, Langmuir said in an interview, are:

1. Necessarily, the blood derivative was used under field circumstances rather than the previous carefully controlled laboratory conditions.
2. The disease itself behaves so unpredictably it is hard to tell whether a dip in the number of cases, recorded during the season, might not have occurred anyway.

Last April and May, at the beginning of the polio season, weekly totals were running ahead of comparable weeks in 1952—and because 1952 was a record year, some health officials voiced concern. But, during June and July, the weekly totals were running about equal to last year's, and thereafter they rapidly fell below.

The peak of this year's outbreak was reached in mid-August, about a month earlier than in 1952. At the time of the peak this year, there had been a total of 15,978 cases, compared with 19,800 through mid-August in 1952. Latest available figures show a total of 30,730 cases as of Oct. 31, compared with 50,340 for that span in 1952.

The pattern of epidemics in which GG was used will be compared with those of earlier years in the same areas, Langmuir said.

He cited another possible indication—in general, where mass shots of GG were administered to children, subsequent cases developed in greater proportion among older persons. But, he said, such a shift had "occasionally been observed during epidemics before the days of GG."

Here's how the researchers expect to get conclusive evidence on whether GG actually lessens a paralytic attack:

Experts on evaluating the power and functions of muscles are studying a number of people who came down with a paralytic attack within a week after receiving GG in mass injection programs. These same people are being examined 60 days later to see if the paralysis lessened in the meantime.

These cases are then being compared under similar circumstances of study with people who came down with paralytic polio just before GG was administered.

The polio detectives are also doing a special study of the possible paralysis-modifying powers of GG among people who had received it, not in mass programs, but because they had been in close contact with a patient.

This study will bear on an important practical question: Do mass injections or concentrating on household and similar contacts constitute the best use of GG?

Langmuir offered the personal opinion that inoculating such contacts will prove to be of value and that also there will be "some need for mass immunization programs in concentrated epidemics," especially in smaller communities where polio is not always present in some degree.

"One thing is certain," he said. "Gamma globulin is not the answer to the polio problem, it is at best only an interim measure."

Probe Shooting By Patrolman

NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C. (U)—An investigation into the shooting of a motorist by a Highway Patrolman Saturday continued today. Patrol Capt. W. F. Bailey said the shooting apparently was an accident.

Capt. Bailey said yesterday Patrolman T. C. Goodman had been suspended temporarily from the patrol until the investigation is completed. He said this was a routine move.

Bailey said a pistol in Goodman's hand discharged when he stumbled over a car bumper. The bullet struck Lester Lowe of Rt. 1, Ronda, in the neck. Lowe was operated on last night. Doctors at Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem said he was in critical condition.

The captain said Goodman chased the Lowe car after picking up a radio message that another patrol car had been forced off the road by it. He said Lowe's car bumped Goodman's before the patrolman was able to stop it.

Bailey said Goodman had his pistol out because three escaped convicts were at large in the area.

The captain said Lowe will be charged with reckless driving, speeding and assault with a deadly weapon (an automobile). Two others in the car were charged with drunkenness and a third with aiding and abetting speeding and reckless driving, Wilkes County Sheriff Claude Billings said.

TAMPA, Florida—East Carolina College's Pirates were unceremoniously bounced from the nation's list of undefeated and untied here Saturday night by an upstart Tampa University team. The score was 18-13.

The Spartans, playing their best game of the season by their own admission, scored twice in the second period to take a lead they never surrendered. They gave up two second half touchdowns to the Pirates but added another from their own pot to maintain their margin of victory.

First Loss

The loss was costly in several ways to the Pirates. First, it halted their season's record at seven consecutive victories. It also brought to a halt the string of 14 regular season games without a defeat.

In material, the Pirates paid dearly. Right halfback Paul Gay went out of the game with an injured knee. Left end J. D. Bradford left with a severe ankle injury and tackle Thurston Callahan had his knee popped out of place.

These injuries, plus the loss of quarterback Dick Cherry because of a week-old injury and fullback Claude King because of unnecessary roughness and unsportsmanlike conduct, put the Pirates in a bad way in the game.

Tampa's first touchdown came in the early minutes of the second period on a rush of nine yards by fullback Tom Spack. The TD had been set up when Pirates co-captain Jack Britt's fumble had been recovered by Tampa on the East Carolina 12.

After the TD the Pirates received the kickoff and failed to gain. Claude King got off a 46-yard punt to Spartan Al Leathers on the Tampa 20. Leathers, in a double safety with Charlie Harris, moved to his left, handed off to Harris, and then faked the Pirates away from Leathers. Leathers went the distance for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good. East Carolina's most serious threat came when they drove to the 20 but had a pass intercepted to end the drive.

Second Half

An unnecessary roughness and pass interference penalty set up East Carolina's first touchdown in the third period. The TD came on a 14-yard pass from the injured Cherry to end Larry Rhodes. The extra point attempt was no good. Tampa roared back and counted after the following kickoff. The kickoff had been returned from Tampa 25 to the East Carolina 29 on some razzle-dazzle that evidently blinded the Bucs. Anyway, on the first play from scrimmage Tampa quarterback Tom Minhand passed the rest of the distance to Harris for the touchdown.

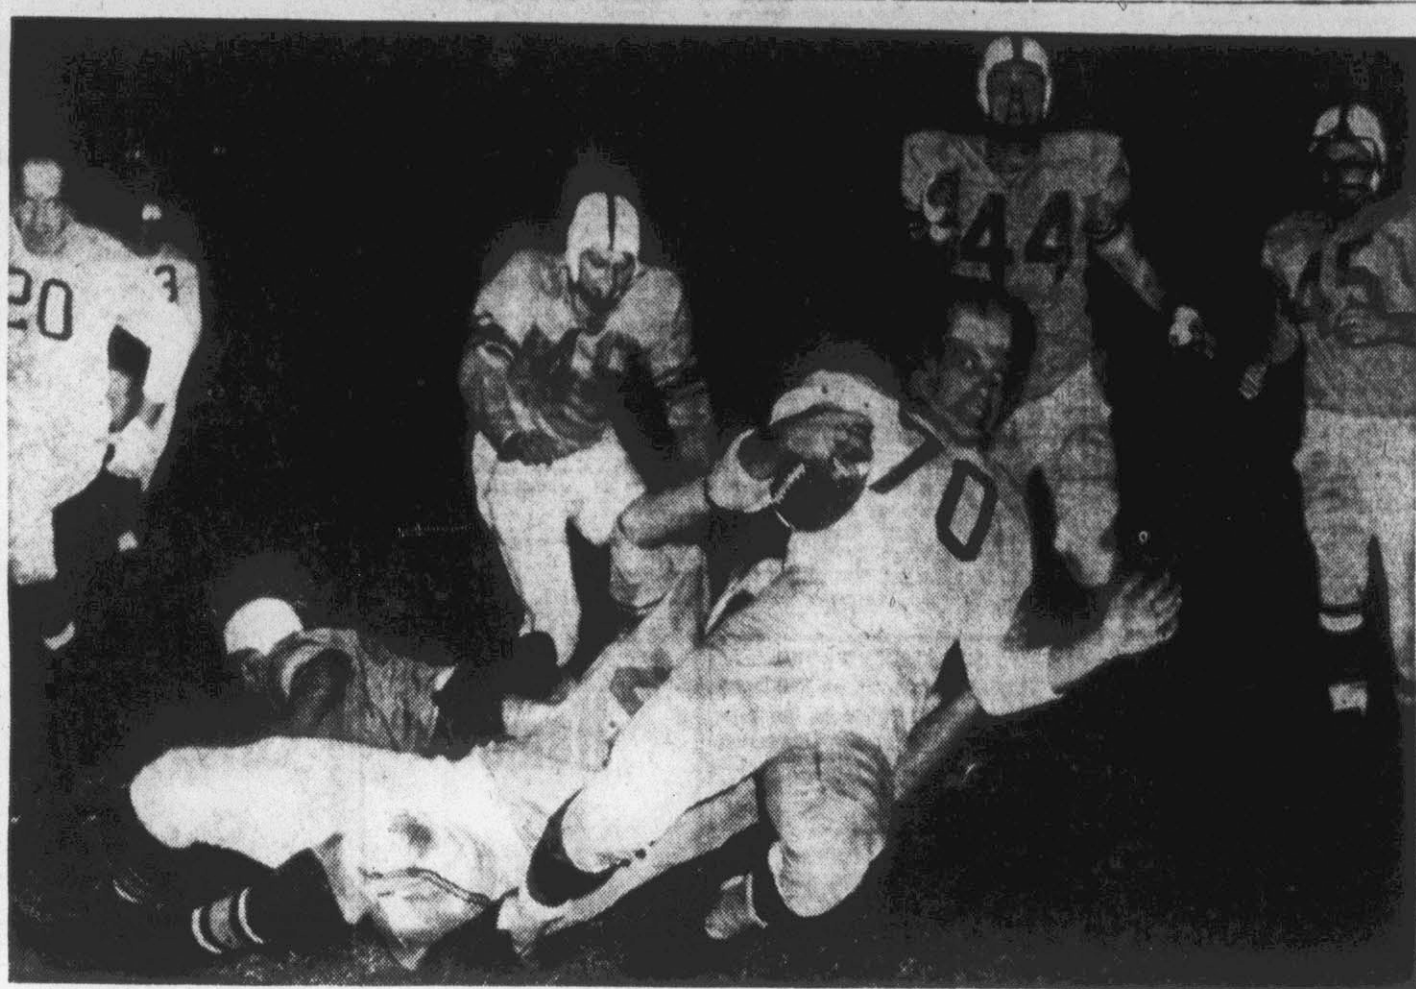

The East Carolina touchdown that closed the scoring for the evening came on the longest run of the night from scrimmage. Ted Barnes went over tackle and then sped 55 yards for the score. The play had come after the Pirates had received Tampa's kickoff and the kick had been returned to the Pirates 45. Bubber Matthews added the extra point and the Bucs trailed 18-13 with five minutes left to play in the third period.

Neither team did any scoring in the fourth period although the Pirates threatened a couple of times. Once, Milton Collier had a pass intercepted on the Tampa five. A second time, Cherry, in the game again, had a pass intercepted on the Tampa 15.

Next week, the Pirates will be back in Florida for a game with Stetson University. The game will be played in Deland, site of a 19-19 tie last year.

Scoring summary:
East Carolina 0 0 13 0-13
Tampa 0 12 6 0-18

East Carolina scoring: Touchdowns: Rhodes, Barnes; point after touchdown: Matthews (placement).
Tampa scoring: Touchdowns: Spack, Harris (2).

BOBBY HODGES hauls down Tampa's Tom Spack (70) Saturday night after the Tampa fullback had picked up two yards against the Pirates. Other players who can be identified are East Carolina's Larry Rhodes (49), Dave Lee (44), and Willie Holland (45). Number 20 is Tampa's Ted Greene.

Maryland, Duke Share Scoring Lead

Farmville Plays Scotland Neck

FARMVILLE—Farmville's Red Devils will meet Scotland Neck here tonight in a game postponed from Friday night.

One major line-up change is planned for the Red Devils by Coach Charles Tucker. That will be at one of the halfback posts where Curtis Worthington will replace Jesse Joyner. Joyner is out of action because of a shoulder injury.

Jimmy Allen is also expected to account for another change in the Farmville attack. He will take over the kicking chores which formerly belong to Carroll Wooten. Wooten is slowed by an injury.

The Red Devils are expected to rely on their passing game more to play in the finals of the league playoffs by winning semi-final games Saturday night. The Gold team as expected by bouncing the Red 12-6 while the Blue upset the White 13-6 to gain the final round.

Dick Heller led the Blue team in its upset victory over the White. He scored himself on a two-yard run back in the first period and then passed to Dick Nobles for 50 yards and the second Blue TD. His running was an outstanding feature of the game and set up both touchdowns.

The White's one big moment came in the second quarter when Peanut Nunn passed to Lynn Jorgensen and Jorgensen lateraled to John Wesley Hudson who went all the way for the touchdown. The play covered 40 yards.

Albert Crawford's extra point after Heller's touchdown completed the Blue scoring.

In the Gold-Red game, Billy Cox's passes accounted for both Gold touchdowns. The first was a three-yard jump pass to end George Saled while the other was a 40-yard jump pass to Bullock.

The Red TD came on an eight-yard plunge by back Charles Roberts. Phil Davis and Charles Roberts had set up the score with their running.

The Gold had taken the regular season championship in the league standings.

If there's any doubt why Maryland and Duke are the top teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference, a quick look at the leading scorers will give the answer.

Of the five top point-makers in the conference, three belong to Maryland and two to Duke. And top place is shared by a player from each school.

Maryland fullback Ralph Felton, who has scored in every Terp game this season, ran over one touchdown and booted two extra points Saturday against George Washington to bring his total to 43 points.

Smith has been on top of the heap for three weeks. He upped his total to 43 points Oct. 24. Injured early in the Duke-Virg game the next week, he has been idle since.

Close behind the leaders in third place is Maryland's ace quarterback Bernie Fainoney with 42 points. Fourth is Lloyd Caudle of Duke with 36 points and Chet Hamulak of Maryland fifth with 30 points.

South Carolina's Carl Brazell dropped out of the top five for the first time in six weeks. He is sixth with 27 points.

Felton, Hamulak, Fainoney and Joe Horning chipped in touchdowns as the Terps defeated George Washington, 27-6, in Griffith Stadium at Washington. Maryland met stubborn resistance from the Colonials, who trailed only 7-6 at the half.

Hamulak, the leading Maryland gainer, sparked the strong second half offensive as the Terps ground out their eighth straight victory of the season.

A snow-soaked field and a determined band of Navy players combined to stop Duke's powerful running attack as the Blue Devils were held to a 0-0 tie.

With the backs unable to gain on the sloppy turf of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium, the game turned into a defensive line battle.

The Blue Devils managed to get deep into Middle territory in the second and third quarters but lacked the scoring punch. Quarterback Jerry Barger intercepted a pass on his own one to stop the lone Navy scoring threat in the fourth quarter.

South Carolina showed a strong running game in downing North Carolina, 18-0, in the lone conference game. The Tar Heels, hampered by fumbles, never threatened Johnny Gramling, Gene Wilson and Blackie Kincaid did the gamecock scoring.

Underdog Clemson stiffened its back against Georgia Tech during the first half but two third period touchdowns gave the Engineers a 20-7 victory. Quarterback Don King scored the Clemson touchdown.

Pepper Rodgers passed to Dave Davis for one Tech score and bulled over from the one for another. A Bill Brigrum to Bill Bennett pass gave Tech its final score.

North Carolina State held on grimly for three quarters against favored Army before succumbing, 27-7. Wolfpack quarterback Eddie West scored the Pack's touchdown on a 63-yard punt return.

Wake Forest dropped its fifth game of the year as Boston College rolled to a 20-7 victory. Quarterback Sonny George intercepted a pass and ran 45 yards for the Wake Forest tally. He also kicked the conversion. Badly outplayed, the Deacons mustered only 82 yards total rushing.

This week's schedule: Notre Dame at North Carolina, North Carolina State at Pittsburgh, Mississippi at Maryland, Clemson at The Citadel, and South Carolina at West Virginia. Wake Forest and Duke have open dates.

Everybody Can Make Cash By Selling Orioles Players

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—The Baltimore Orioles announce they will have $500,000-plus to spend for players before they pay any income taxes, and it will be extremely interesting to see if the rest of the American League has the good sense to make a number of key performers available to the infant club.

If it has, and the Orioles are improved sufficiently to come off the bottom and get up in the race, everybody will make money and there will be a revival of interest in the league, which has been bad over-Yankee. If it has not, then the men who fought so hard to get Baltimore back in the big show have been flim-flammed.

Without help in the form of players of proven character, there is little chance that the former St. Louis Browns can climb more than a notch or two at best no matter how loyally their new home fans support them. The potential simply is not there for another "miracle."

Unless they are given the decent treatment they deserve, the Orioles will go into camp somewhere next spring with one of the slowest and weakest hitting sets of athletes of modern record. The Browns stole only 17 bases last season and stretched only 26 hits into triples, both new American League marks.

The club was a poor last in batting with a collective average of .249, and it did not boast a regular who hit even close to .300. It made a total of 151 errors, an average of nearly one per game and 29 more than were committed by the Washington Senators. It is small wonder that Marty Marion has not besieged the new owners to let him manage this aggregation another year.

Probably the minimum requirement if the Orioles are to sell any tickets their second year would be a couple of outfielders who can hit for distance and average and a third baseman of big league caliber. They could use more, but it still is to be seen whether their league rivals are unselfish and bright enough to deal them that much.

By some lucky chance, the club goes into Baltimore with what looks like the making of a pretty good pitching staff.

The next best thing the Orioles will have going for them is Clint Courtney, their catcher.

There might be another future star of some magnitude on the squad, though the jury still is out on shortstop Bill Hunter. The high-priced kid proved he could field with nearly the best of them in his rookie season. Only three posted higher averages, and none of them came close to matching his 515 assists. However, he hit only .219, with one homer. He scarcely can help improving upon that.

Outside these assets, such as they are, the Orioles will have very little to sustain the fans' interest through the first hard season unless the rival owners start cutting up that half million.

West Virginians Wrap Up SC Title

RICHMOND, Va.—West Virginia's Mountaineers owned the Southern Conference football championship today. One of the reasons was Johnny Mapp, the league's leading scorer.

Mapp scored two touchdowns Saturday to pull his Virginia Military Institute teammates from behind and to a 20-19 victory over William and Mary, the only team which still had a chance to share the conference title with West Virginia.

While Mapp was boosting his touchdown-total to 10 the Mountaineers were staging a rally to beat Virginia Tech's Gobblers, 12-7. West Virginia's victory extended college football's longest winning streak to 13 games, kept the Mountaineers unbeaten and untied and in the picture for a post-season bowl engagement.

Pass Defense Saves Notre Dame's Record

By BOB HOORING
NEW YORK (AP)—The bowl candidates who will face tough opposition Saturday would do well to take the pass defense page from Notre Dame's book. Johnny Lattner's outstanding performance enabled the Irish to remain unbeaten after a 28-20 battle with surprisingly tough Penn. Lattner returned a kickoff 92 yards for one touchdown and set up two more. But it was his end zone pass interception in the final quarter, killing a Quaker drive, that assured victory.

It's an old story for the country's No. 1 team, which uses a skilled pass defense as a major weapon in its campaign for the national championship.

Irish quarterback Ralph Guglielmi threw a scoring pass on the first play after intercepting an Oklahoma aerial to put Notre Dame safely ahead in a game it won 28-21. Guglielmi's 48-yard scoring runback of an interception against Navy broke the contest with the Middles wide open.

And good pass defense is just what the doctor orders for UCLA against Washington, Georgia Tech against Alabama and Maryland against Mississippi as the three teams battle for bowl assignments.

Ninth-ranked UCLA, idle last week, fights for a chance to the Stanford's Pacific Coast Conference leaders in the race for the Rose Bowl while the Indians go outside the POC against San Jose State. The Bruin problem is to stop Washington's sophomore passer Sandy Lederman. UCLA has yielded six touchdowns so far this year—four via the air lines.

Georgia Tech, No. 6 prior to its 20-7 victory over Clemson, is being mentioned frequently for the Sugar or Cotton Bowl. It draws Alabama, which has come up with a fine passer in sophomore quarterback Bart Starr while Tech may be without the services of injured halfback Leon Hardeman. A 'Bama upset would put the Crimson Tide in the bowl limelight.

Second-place Maryland, fresh from a 27-6 conquest of George Washington and almost a clinch for the Orange Bowl under the recent Atlantic Coast-Big Seven Conference tieup, bumps into an improving Mississippi team. Ole Miss mixes effective passing by Lea Paslay and Houston Patton with its strong running game. The Terrapins have given up just five touchdowns to date—two by passes.

Oklahoma halfback Larry Grigg batted away a pass at the Sooner 16 to stop a Missouri threat and then there the nation's No. 8 team marched to the touchdown that gave them a 14-7 triumph. Oklahoma, Big Seven favorite for the Orange Bowl, can assure a conference tie tie by defeating Iowa State Saturday.

Stanford finds its Coast supremacy challenged by UCLA because of a late-awakening Southern California pass defense. USC, ineligible for the Rose Bowl this year, ran back an intercepted pass to set up Sam Tsagalis' field goal that meant a 23-20 victory with 14 seconds left in the game. Earlier, Stanford's Bob Garrett had completed 20 passes for 324 yards and three touchdowns. Ironically it was the only interception of 31 Garrett tossed.

Fourth-ranked Illinois, gaining momentum in a drive for the Big Ten championship and a Pasadena visit with sophomores J. C. Carline and Mickey Bates as the prime movers, meets Wisconsin. The Illini turned back Michigan 19-3 as Carline gained 184 yards. Michigan State, No. 5 before its 28-13 defeat of Ohio State for second position in the Big Ten, will meet Michigan in the nationally televised game.

The Cotton Bowl picture was clouded when Texas tied Baylor for the Southwest Conference lead by edging the third-ranked Bears 21-20 and knocking them from the unbeaten class. The Longhorns now have a schedule advantage in facing the two lowest teams—Texas Christian and the Texas Aggies—while Baylor has to meet Rice and SMU, both still in contention.

But Texas may need an air-tight pass defense Saturday to stop passers Ray McKown and Ron Clinckscale for a Horned Frog team that has won 10 of its 11 games.

West Virginia, 12-7 comeback conqueror of Virginia Tech, and a bowl contender, meets South Carolina with its point Johnny Gramling-to-Clyde Bennett battery.

Notre Dame plays North Carolina. Duke, No. 10, which was fought to a scoreless standstill by Navy, will be idle.

End Soltau Leads 49ers To Victory

NEW YORK—Unless they meet San Francisco in a post-season playoff for the Western Conference title, the Los Angeles Rams won't be seeing 49er end Gordy Soltau again this National Football League season—and it'll be just fine with them.

Soltau, former Minnesota star, grabbed off a 17-yard Y. A. Tittle aerial in the end zone yesterday with a little more than a minute left to give San Francisco a 31-27 victory over the Rams. The result left both teams and the Detroit Lions locked in a 5-2 tie for the divisional lead.

This wasn't the first time this year that Soltau rammed defeat down the Rams' throats. On Oct. 4, he booted a 17-yard field goal with six seconds remaining for a 31-30 San Francisco win.

While the Western half's big three feverishly were battling for position, the mighty Cleveland Browns continued to power their way past all opposition. They held a 2½-game lead in the circuit's eastern conference today after yesterday's 34-16 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Browns need take only three of their remaining five titles to insure another divisional championship. They pace San Francisco in the big game on next Sunday's schedule.

In other games yesterday, the Philadelphia Eagles roared to a 30-7 win over the New York Giants, the Washington Redskins came with a fourth-quarter rush to down the winless Chicago Cardinals 28-17 and the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers battled to a 21-21 tie. Detroit whipped Baltimore Colts 17-7 Saturday night.

Soltau's heroics climaxed an uphill battle for San Francisco. Just five minutes before the final gun it appeared the Rams had pulled the game out of the fire. Halfback Paul (Tank) Younger rambled 39 yards on a pickoff down the sidelines to put the Rams in front 27-24.

Tittle outpassed Norm Van Brocklin, the Los Angeles ace. The 49er pitching wizard completed 18 out of 32 tosses, including three for touchdowns. Van Brocklin completed only 9 out of 19, one for a score.

Cleveland, which appears to be toying with the competition these days, was down 16 points at one point in the second period but, sparked by Ray Renfro, they put on a 24-point scoring spree before the first half ended and added 10 more in the final quarters.

Bobby Thomson gave one of the league's best passing performances in Philadelphia's one-sided triumph over New York. He completed 22 of 44 for 437 yards and four touchdowns.

Little Eddie LeBaron, Washington's ball-handling star, came back after suffering severe bruises in the opening quarter to direct the 'Skins' two tallies in the fourth quarter which left the Cardinals with a dismal 0-7 record.

Armed Services Want To Draft Brainier Youths

WASHINGTON (AP)—The armed services are seeking permission to put more of the brainier draft prospects in uniform.

The Army, Navy and Air Force submitted the request yesterday to Dr. John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower. It was accepted for study.

Prospective recruits now are classified by tests into four categories of mental capacity. The services are required to tailor their inductions so that no more than 9 per cent of the recruits are taken from the highest category, 28 per cent from the second, 26 per cent from the third and 37 per cent from the fourth.

The services say they want to cut down on the obligation to take men from the lowest category.

No Takers Yet For King Farouk's Luxury Yacht

By EDWARD POLLACK
CAIRO (AP)—In the market for a yacht?

Ex-King Farouk's floating pleasure palace is up for sale but nobody can figure out who'd want to buy it.

The ornate ship Mahroussa—it means "Protected"—has been in dry dock since Farouk's exile in 1952. It used to be an ordinary royal yacht, luxurious to be sure, but nothing extra special. Then Farouk gave it his extravagant touch.

On his orders, the yacht underwent several transformations—at cost to the state of more than $2,870,000. Solid gold doorknobs were installed. Suites, living rooms, a music room, bill room and several studios—all were furnished with priceless works of art.

Even India's wealthiest maharaja would pause before shelling out to buy the Mahroussa.

Some have suggested Egypt's President Naguib take over the ship as a presidential yacht. But it's far from likely the modest, austere President would even consider the idea.

A plan to use the yacht for luxury cruises by millionaires is under study, but no decision has yet been made.

Meanwhile maintenance costs are mounting daily.

An accurate estimate of the wealth Farouk left behind when he was exiled has yet to be made. It once was thought his estates in Egypt would amount to more than 28 million dollars. But later government figures show Farouk's confiscated assets, including the Mahroussa, may well run more than 43 million dollars.

Main assets include: more than 35,000 acres of Egypt's best land; $562,520 worth of corporation shares; two large palaces a number of smaller homes and rest houses; and several seagoing launches and river crafts. A valuable art collection, liberally stocked with nudes, rounds out the list.

The government plans to sell everything at public auctions starting early next year. Some of the proceeds will go to pay Farouk's personal debts and to reimburse those who were forced to make "donations" to the ex-King. The balance, if any, will be used "for the benefit of the people," a government spokesman says.

Plans Proposing New Excise Tax

LASALLE, Ill. (AP)—Rep. Mason (R-Ill.) plans to propose a 5 per cent federal manufacturers' excise tax to replace what he calls the present "hodge-podge system of excise taxes."

In a radio speech yesterday, Mason said he would introduce a measure when Congress reconvenes in January proposing to levy such a tax on all manufactured products except food and medicine, and to repeal all federal excise taxes except those on liquor and tobacco.

Heated Philippines Race Now Awaits Vote Count

MANILA (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino and challenger Ramon Magsaysay wrapped up their free-swinging campaigns tonight and left it to the voters to decide tomorrow who will be the new chief executive of the Philippines.

Despite military precautions, violence grew in the last tense hours before the polls opened.

Both sides claimed victory—the incumbent Liberal party by 400,000 votes and the opposition Nacionalista-Democratic party coalition by a million to 1½ million votes.

The election board said definite results probably would not be known for three days.

The angry, hot-headed campaign ended in Manila with both candidates home from quick, last-minute trips to the outlying districts.

No Sign Of End To Jet Fighter Plant Walkouts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Negotiations are continuing in two major segments of the aircraft industry—Lockheed and Douglas—but there is no sign of a break today in the 17-day-old strike that has virtually halted production at North American Aviation plants.

North American produces the Sabre jet and Super Sabre, interceptor and fighter planes for the Air Force at plants in Los Angeles and Fresno, Calif., and Columbus, Ohio.

Fears of a general tieup in the aviation industry were eased last yesterday when members of the AFL International Association of Machinists turned down the latest offer of Lockheed but voted for a continuation of negotiations while they stay on the job.

Last week Douglas workers represented the IAM at Santa Monica did the same thing and those at El Segundo voted to accept a company offer of a 5-cent hourly wage boost.

The IAM at Lockheed seeks a 12 per cent wage boost. The company has offered 5 cents and an additional cent in cost of living. Current wages range from $1.27 to $2.61 with about 16 categories. Average wage is $1.98½.

But although further talks are scheduled at North American, statement by both management and the union indicate no change in their positions.

"We have no intention of offering a single point under strike pressure that we have not already offered in peaceful negotiations," said J. H. Kinderberger, chairman of the board at North American.

"We believe that the fantastic demands made by the CIO United Auto Workers would put us in a handicapped competitive position and unrealistic operating condition."

"Instead of yielding to the CIO-UAW demands under strike pressure, we will continue to use every lawful means to get the plants back into full production at the earliest possible date."

Paul Schrade, president of the UAW Local 897, declared strikers are holding to their demands which include a 28-cent hourly wage boost. The company has offered a 4 per cent boost over wages which have ranged from $1.42 to $2.32 hourly.

"Workers are fed up with second class wages and working conditions spooned out by the gold-plated panhandlers doing business by courtesy of the Defense Department," declared Schrade. "As far as the corporation is concerned, when they decide to grant their employees a decent pay and job security enjoyed by other aircraft workers then we'll settle this dispute. Until then progress may be slow."

The union has maintained long, but carefully spaced picket lines as ordered by court injunctions. The next negotiating session is scheduled tomorrow.

BETTER VISION
BETTER SHOPPING

Shopping is supposed to be one of woman's most enjoyable pleasures. But some women find it tiring. After a day of examining price tags and materials, a day spent in stores chock full of all kinds of merchandise—they arrive home headachy and tired and irritable.

Poor vision is often to blame. When eyesight defects are corrected, shopping returns to its place as a pleasure. Keen eyesight can buy better, too—bargains are really bargains.

FIVE POINTS—GREENVILLE

Quirino returned from the north for a last pre-election broadcast and a rally.

Magsaysay flew back from the south for rallies.

From throughout Manila torch-lights flickered in the humid night as parades from various districts converged in the downtown area.

In his prepared radio speech, President Quirino again stressed his charge of American intervention in the election—the issue on which he has based his campaign.

"I cannot and shall never willingly be a party to any plot to revert our country to the ignominious status of a colony of any foreign power," he said.

Both candidates repeated their theme of the campaign.

The aging, frail Quirino called Magsaysay a dangerous political fledgling backed by Americans. He praised his own recent long-range economic and development program.

Quirino laughed off charges of corruption hurled by the bulky Magsaysay, a tough ex-soldier who quit his job as defense secretary with the administration in a bitter argument with the President.

Magsaysay, well known in the islands as the scourge of the Communist led Huk outlaws, drummed repeatedly on the corruption charges.

He said it has caused the United States to lose faith in the Philippines, but denied Quirino's charges that he is an "America's candidate."

Magsaysay's domestic program is based generally on a government cleanup and economic measures aimed at improving the lot of the large farm population.

A huge turnout is expected for the balloting. Officials predicted more than 93 per cent of the 5½ million voters would go to the polls in 28,072 precincts.

Philippine News Service reported three election eve incidents: A jeopod of campaigners was ambushed and one was seriously injured in Quirino's home province of Ilocos Sur.

Just outside Manila in Quezon City, a blast smashed the speakers' stand at an opposition Nacionalista party rally. People stampeded but no one was injured.

On Samar Island, armed terrorists dispersed a political meeting in the Taft Town Plaza.

Ruritan Club's Turtle Race Is Staged Friday

GRIMESLAND — Hassell, Knott & Edwards' warehouse entry won the "turtle derby," sponsored by the Grimesland-Simpson Ruritan Club at the Grimesland High School last Friday.

Other winners were: Texas Company's "Bill," Scott Dry Cleaners' "Pants," Hassell, Knott & Edwards' Warehouse "Wash," R.G. Little's "Lumberjack," and Farm Bureau Insurance Company's "Henry." Winners of the five races entered the derby.

A miniature racetrack running 16 turtles in each race, had jockeys and judges and other race officials functioning.

Tige (Sweetpea) Gardner, Cecil Ellington and Mrs. Ray Tyson presented a musical program between the races.

WESTVILLE, Conn. (UP)—A 24-year-old Westville man was arrested for driving without lights at night. He was operating a bicycle.

Warning Shot Wasn't Cricket

CULVER, Calif. (AP)—A policeman said he had to fire a warning shot to bring actor Steve Cochran's $6,000 sports car to a halt yesterday. Cochran posted bail of $325 on booking of reckless driving and evading arrest.

"I just wanted to show my friends how my new sports car would corner," police said Cochran explained.

Officer Roger Devaux said he chased Cochran five miles at speeds up to 66 miles an hour through heavy Sunday traffic. He quoted Cochran as saying "You never would have caught me if you hadn't shot—that wasn't very fair."

With Cochran were Sue Mortimore, 25, a model, and Air Force Sgt. Ralph S. Hodges, 24.

Plays 'Sabina' In Comedy By Wilder

Faye Sermons of Greenville will play the role of Sabina, made famous on Broadway by Tallulah Bankhead when Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" is produced by the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina College November 11, 12, 13 at 8:15 in the College Theatre.

Though Miss Sermons had a year of experience as a drama student at the Greenville High School and has served on the technical staffs of productions by the Teachers Playhouse, as Sabina she will appear in her first major role. Playing opposite her will be Percy Wilkins of Benson, who is cast as Mr. Antrobus, the part played by Frederic March in the New York production.

"The Skin of Our Teeth" is a fantastic and highly diverting play by the famous American dramatist Thornton Wilder, who has several times been the winner of the Pulitzer Prize in drama. Critics have described "The Skin of Our Teeth" variously as "wonderfully wise as well as wacky" and "a tremendously exciting and profound stage fable."

A delightful comedy on the one hand it deals philosophically with the struggles of man, represented by Mr. Antrobus and his household, who by the skin of his teeth has survived down through the ages.

The play, a testament of faith in humanity, is written with a novelty of technique as unusual as that of Wilder's "Our Town," which the Teachers Playhouse produced successfully several years ago. The scene, for instance, shifts from Excelsior N.J., to Atlantic City's Boardwalk, and then across later back to Excelsior. The time covers the extraordinary adventures of Mr. Antrobus and his family from the time of the dinosaurs to the end of the war—any war.

Under the direction of Dr. Joseph A. Withey of the department of English, the Teachers Playhouse will present the play with new scenery designed for the construction and with the fine lighting effects made possible by the equipment in the College Theatre.

Blaze Disrupts GM Operations

DETROIT (AP)—A short-lived but potentially dangerous fire disrupted operations at General Motors' hydraulic transmission division last night.

The blaze broke out in the heat treat department of the division's recently leased quarters in the Kaiser Motor Corp.'s Willow Run plant. It was the second time in three months that fire has struck the GM hydraulic transmission division.

Company officials said the fire started near a number of cyanide tanks in the heat treating department. When streams of cold water from the plant's fire-fighting equipment poured on the tanks, they exploded, spreading flames throughout much of the plant.

A night force of 1,200 workers was sent home, but company officials said the midnight shift reported on schedule.

One person was hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation. Three others received first aid treatment for injuries suffered in fighting the blaze.

Less than three months ago, a disastrous fire destroyed GM's transmission plant in Livonia, Mich. Four persons were killed. Transmission production was transferred to the Kaiser Willow Run plant. The first transmissions rolled off assembly lines there last week.

Judy Garland Says Her New Film Role Is Tops

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Judy Garland is working in a movie for the first time in four years. By her own admission, she's better than ever.

Miss Garland is acting in "A Star Is Born," a remake of the 1937 film classic that starred Janet Gaynor and Fredric March. For a variety of reasons, the set has been closed until recently. The first two weeks of shooting had to be scrapped when Warner Brothers decided to make it in Cinemascope instead of the normal screen. Also, there were reports of tantrums.

But when I saw Judy on the set, she was just as nice as pie. She giggled her way through a comedy scene in a projection room and was jolly with the crew. She wore a red dress and a ready smile and seemed slimmer down from her previous poundage. Still, she was a bit nervous.

When she finished the scene, she plumped down in her dressing room and remarked that she thought she had improved in her four-year absence. Her last film at MGM was "Summer Stock" with Gene Kelly.

"I think I've become much better since then," she said candidly. "I know it sounds awful to say, but I never really liked myself on the screen before. But now I go to the rushes and I actually enjoy them. I even cry a little at the sad scenes."

"The four years have done me a lot of good. I got out and met the people and sang before live audiences. It improved my timing, and my voice is better too. I think I look better. I don't have that 'little girl' look any more."

I asked if she felt any trepidation in doing a remake of a movie that is so well remembered by many people. "A Star Is Born" still plays regularly on the TV circuit.

"No, I think we're on safe ground," she remarked. "We are adding elements that the first movie didn't have. We have songs in this one, and Cinemascope. In some ways, the story is improved. The first picture had no scenes to show why the two leads became top stars; there were no scenes from their own pictures."

"But our picture will show why the girl reaches the top. There will be six musical numbers" (by Harold Arlen and Ira Gershwin).

The picture is being produced by her husband Sid Luft and James Mason plays the fading movie hero, formerly done by Fredric March. Charles Bickford is the producer, the Adolphe Menjou role, and Jack Carson is the press agent, which Lionel Stander did. Carson explained that scene in which he tells the actor he's washed up has been toned down in this version.

Judy had to dash off to lunch, and I asked her future plans.

"I don't know yet," she remarked in transit. "I'll either hit the road, do another picture or have a baby. I haven't decided which."

California District To Hold Elections Tuesday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Republicans and Democrats, their forces split by two candidates on each ticket, wound up their campaigns today in the 24th District, where the year's final congressional contest will command national attention tomorrow.

To the Republicans the race may mean further jeopardy for their slim House majority. To the Democrats the balloting may mean a crowning triumph for recent victories east of the Mississippi. There are now 218 Republicans and 215 Democrats in the House of Representatives.

The registrar of voters has forecast a 40 per cent ballot—perhaps 66,000 votes—in the special election. In the district there are 81,691 registered Democrats and 75,289 Republicans.

The seat was vacated by a Republican.

The one who gets the highest number of votes will win, even though his total may not represent a majority of the ballots cast.

Candidates are Glenard P. Lipscomb and John L. E. Cillier both Republican state assemblymen; and George Arnold, attorney, and Irving Markheim, veterans' service officer. The Republican party is supporting Lipscomb. Arnold has Democratic party endorsement.

The Republican campaign in Lipscomb's behalf has concentrated on the theme that his election will constitute a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration. Lipscomb, an accountant in private life, was executive secretary of Richard Nixon's vice presidential campaign.

Arnold, whose father, Thurman

Arnold, was assistant attorney general in the Roosevelt administration, is the son-in-law of columnist Drew Pearson. He has the backing of several labor organizations, as well as his party's support, and he has campaigned in favor of tax reduction, against a national sales tax and against "Communist aggression wherever it occurs."

Arrests for the month numbered 3,518 with 145 for driving drunk. The patrol officers checked a total of 27,756 drivers licenses in the month. In court, 2,832 of the cases were found guilty while only 254 were turned loose.

Value of cars and property returned to individuals in the month amounted to $16,350 while fines turned over to County School funds amounted to $49,945.88.

Caught In Act Of Gasoline Theft

Jim Grimesley, 25, of Greene County, was arrested Friday night on charges of larceny of gasoline from tractors belonging to the Greenville Equipment Company.

Police Chief S. G. Gibbs, Detective N. H. Byrd and Caesar Corbett came upon the man in the act of removing gasoline from the tractors around 11:00 p.m.

The gas was being removed by placing it in a glass jug.

The Police Department has had several reports in the past weeks on persons attempting to steal gasoline from the parked tractors near the company.

Dance Marathon Innovator Dies

WILDWOOD, N. J. (AP)—Sebastian B. Ramagosa, 57, millionaire race horse and store owner, died tonight in Burdette Tomlin Memorial Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Ramagosa was said to be the first person to sponsor dance marathons during the 1930s. Among those employed by him were Red Skelton, Frankie Laine and June Haver.

His enterprises were concentrated in Wildwood, where he owned 76 stores, a local bus company and a turkey farm. Other interests were nationwide. He owned a stable of racing horses which were in meets throughout the East.

He had operated 110 marathons throughout the nation prior to World War II.

During the winter, he lived at his Milford, Pa. estate. By his side when he died were his wife Jeanette and three sons, James, William and Gilbert.

CHAPTER ONE

CHARLOTTE sat tensed over the typewriter. Blank paper, blank brain. Every day now it grew worse, every day turning out copy was more of a hurdle. It was like having to hurry in a nightmare and being unable to budge. Like not knowing the answer to a vital test question.

But this couldn't happen to her. Delafield's star ad girl. It used to be that the quick click of her typewriter could hardly keep pace with her ideas.

Surely this paralysis was the effect of the Christmas pressure. Rush! The messenger's waiting for the negligee ad for the Times. Deadline! Hurry up that perfume ad for the Tribune. Quick! The buyer wants to run a Christmas special on evening bags.

For days lunch had been sandwiches at her desk, cups of coffee to keep her ticking. No wonder she was used up.

But it wasn't because of the Christmas dither.

With sick certainty Charlotte knew the real reason for this funk. That was the right word, wasn't it? Always word-conscious, Charlotte looked it up.

"Funk," said Webster, "a shrinking back through fear; panic."

Funk was the right word. No! When one's tired, the imagination exaggerates. See, everyone feels the same way, the whole advertising department is practically in a state of collapse just look at them.

Charlotte gazed around the big office, seeing the over-spilling ashtrays and wastebaskets, the tumbled desk tops, the faces strained and drained 'neath the glaring lights.

Tim Callahan X'd out a line of copy noisily. "Goddamn the King," he exploded. "Anyone else care for a benzadrine?" He held out the bottle of tablets, popped one into his mouth and washed it down with something in a Dixie cup.

Miss Van Camp went on printing neat numbers on neat charts but he pursed prim lips. The perfect secretary. Even behind his back she wouldn't stoop to disrespect of her boss, Kingsley Cummings, president of Delafield's. Kingsley Cummings who had scheduled a meeting for tomorrow morning, the day before Christmas, when other employers encouraged office parties and passed out bonuses.

"Get together a complete campaign to start the new year," he'd dictated. "Layouts, copy, statistics."

That—on top of Christmas. So tonight they were trying to whip the thing into some sort of shape, here in what they called the snake pit.

That was another thing. Till this winter they'd had at least thinly partitioned privacy. Till the day The King found Tim writing poems behind his closed door. The next day he'd ordered the individual offices torn down. No one doubted that he very well knew creative people need corners and enclosures; that it was torture to work in the open.

At least Charlotte's desk flanked the window and she could swivel her chair around, her back to the office, and feel almost alone. She did so now, starting out across nighttime New York. The midtown office buildings loomed dark, deserted. Here and there a lone light gleamed yellow. A plane roared and soared in the starless sky. Now the panic, too, came on swift wings the way it did lately, swooping down, overpowering Charlotte. She locked her arms across her chest, nails digging into flesh, fighting down the fear. If only she could quit this job, escape! If only . . . If only she had her life.

Someone was watching her; she felt eyes. Velora's dark shape, glittering behind her rimless glasses? She had long felt Velora Van Camp suspected—something, Dorothy's pale blue and envious? She'd long felt Dorothy watching, waiting.

Charlotte whirled around. Velora wasn't even in sight. Dorothy sat bent over her drawing board, showing the telltale darkness at the roots of her blonde hair. Overdressed Dorothy who was forever fighting the effects of being forty, forever fighting, period, Mario, at his desk, ripped a sheet of paper from his ad and crumpled it impetuously. Mario was advertising manager. That meant doing whatever The King commanded. Norma, of course, sat calm and combed, tapping out her uninspired, lady-like copy: "Delafield's label, your assurance of taste and quality."

"Delafield's headquarters for smart women." Getting her work done, so she could go home to her new husband.

Eric. It was Eric Hay watching Charlotte from the back of the office, as he sprayed fixative on his layouts.

Desperately with a clatter of the machine, Charlotte began to type—now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party, now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party, what shall I do, what shall I do?

"Now is the time for you to quit worrying," Eric said, suddenly behind her.

"Symptom of a subway rider," Charlotte said, "reading over shoulders."

Eric shifted his pipe, unperturbed. "I know you're proud and independent," he said. "But I also know you're stymied. Now listen. Every writer has an occasional arid period. It'll pass when you recover from Christmas. And when The King quits riding you. You mustn't personalize that. Any day now he'll pick on someone else, me, maybe."

Stability. Eric Stability Hay, Charlotte thought. For him life was logical; normal causes for things, natural effects. Usually stability bore her, but on Eric it looked good, tempered as it was with the dark red hair, the warm, brown, seeing eyes. Suppose she could tell him . . . ask him

As though for a second she'd thought she'd dare.

"Twenty thoughts just flickered across your face," Eric said, "and I couldn't read one of them. Funny about your face. It's mobile, responsive, yet secret. It's like watching lights and movement behind a drawn window blind."

"You make me feel like a haunted house," Charlotte said. And I

When he left, Charlotte got out her compact and made a business of powdering her neat nose and smoothing the black bangs. In the too-thin face, the amber eyes looked back at her, inscrutable as a cat's.

Charlotte snapped shut the compact and began to write. Nothing notable, nothing with the old Char-

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Belk-Tylers 3rd Floor.

Blind Men Help U.S. Air Defense

OAKLAND, Calif. (U.P.)—Three blind men working at the ground observer headquarters here have proven that sharp ears and nimble fingers can perform a job that highly rated radar elements fail to do in airplane spotting for national defense.

The men, William Standage, 31, Berkeley, and Marvin Flinn, 28, and William Evans, 65, both of Oakland, have been volunteer workers at the air raid warning filter center here for almost a year and Air Force officials have described their work as above average in all respects.

The filter center was set up to evaluate reports of suspicious planes in the northern California area which have not been detected by radar because of various problems of terrain.

Each man has received the official wings of the ground observer corps for working 50 hours or more at the center.

Air Force Sgt. William Warren of Santa Barbara, who is attached to the center, said the men are "raid clerks," who assemble information about type, description, altitude and the number of suspicious aircraft in each report and record it on a "raid board."

The "raid board" is then relayed to a "plotter" who gets a range on the suspicious planes and prepares further reports for Air Force fighter-interceptor squadrons.

The "raid boards" are equipped with braille pegs and holes which aid the blind men in their weekly six-hour watches.

Warren said Standage "made less mistakes at his job than most people and was easier to teach than the other volunteers."

Standage said he found blindness was "something of a handicap in the job at the center but not much. He has 168 hours of volunteer work to his credit and has received an award for personal accomplishment."

Standage holds a degree in psychology from the University of California and lives with his guide dog in a Berkeley apartment. He has been blind all his life.

Flinn, who has a wife and three-year-old daughter, has been blind for 18 years. He said "it helps to be blind in my work at the filter center because of the way the raid stands are set up."

"I can place information and find data on the raid stand faster than those that see," he said. He seeks to get other blind persons to volunteer their services to the filter center because he is convinced they can do a great service to their country in national defense.

Flinn has been blind for 16 years and has worked in the center 115 hours.

Evans, the oldest members of the trio lost his sight six months ago. "I find I can hold down my position at the filter center and have behind in my work even though I am blind," Evans said.

Russia Building Up Naval Power

TOKYO (U.P.)—Adm. Robert C. Carney, U. S. chief of naval operations, said today Russia has been steadily building up her naval power throughout the world and, in event of war, Soviet submarines could give the American fleet "serious trouble."

But he said he believes the United States would maintain control of the seas despite probable losses from Russian subs.

He reaffirmed at a news conference that the U. S. Navy has the capability of delivering the atomic bomb in the Far East.

Carney is on a familiarization tour of naval units in the Far East.

Plan Modernize Stretch Of U.S. 1

RALEIGH (U.P.)—The State Highway Commission plans to modernize U. S. 1, a main north-south highway artery through North Carolina.

A joint statement released over the weekend by the two highway commissioners through whose divisions the road travels said the work will be done as rapidly as funds become available. Fifth Division Commissioner Donnie A. Sorrell of Durham and Eighth Division Commissioner Forrest Lockley of Aberdeen stressed all needed improvements cannot be completed within the next few years.

Worn and outmoded sections of the highway will be rebuilt. By-passes will be run around Henderson and Sanford, and major improvements will be made at Raleigh, between Aberdeen and the Richmond County line and between Henderson and the Virginia line.

The highway runs from Virginia through Warren, Vance, Franklin, Wake, Lee, Moore and Richmond counties into South Carolina. The commission said postwar traffic had put a heavy burden on the road and made many sections obsolete.

Heavy Loss In Goldsboro Fire

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—An early morning fire destroyed the main building of the Dillon Supply Co. here yesterday, causing damage expected to run to at least a quarter million dollars.

Goldsboro firemen, summoned by a passerby, helped save a recently constructed annex at the rear of the building, separated from the burned structure by a fire wall. C. A. Dillon of Raleigh, head of the firm, declined to give an official estimate of the damage. The origin of the blaze could not be determined.

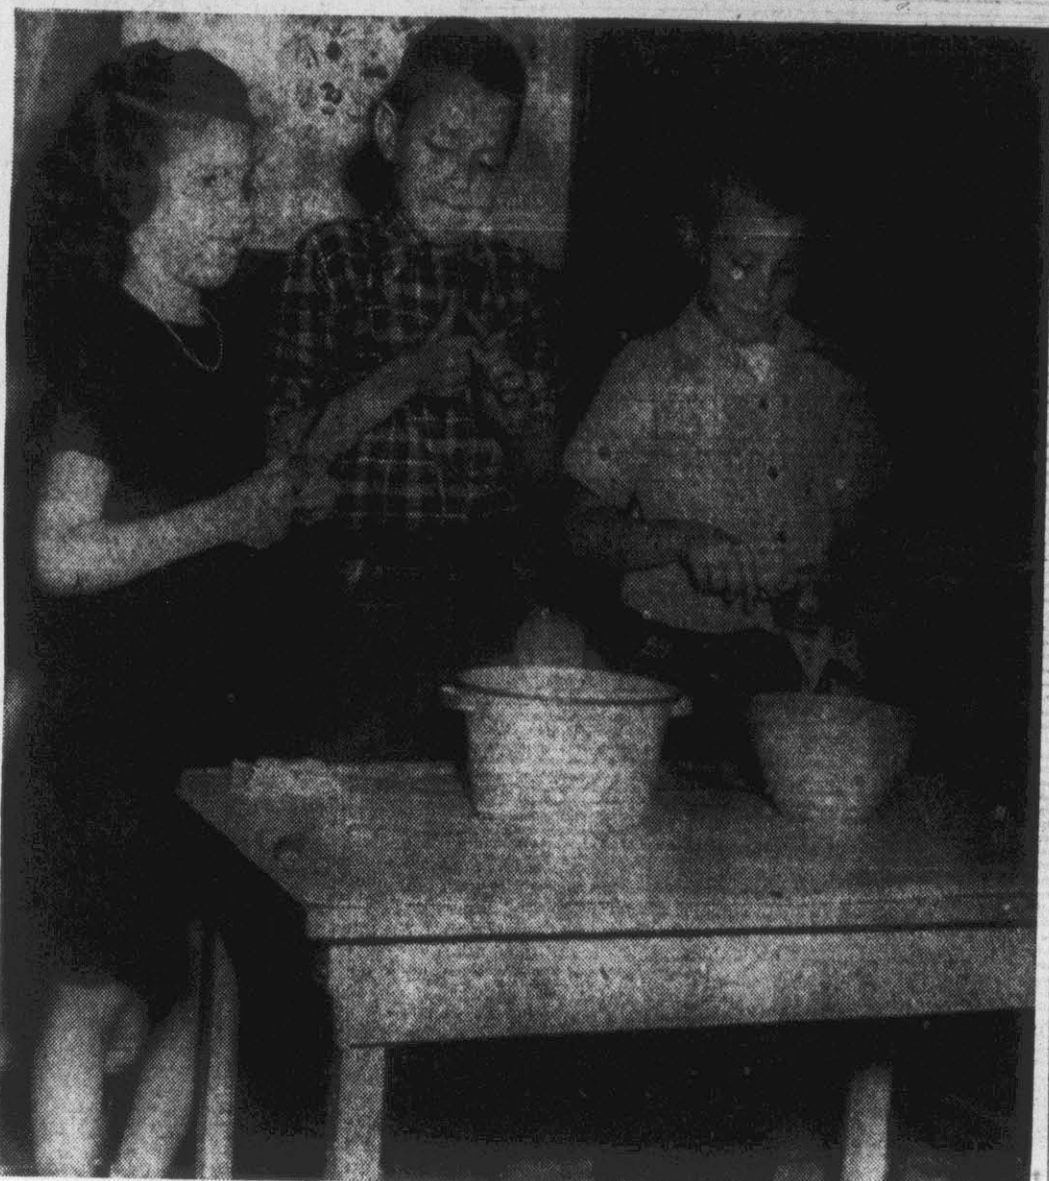

Would Not Urge POWs To Return

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. William Dean says the Korean War seems to have given Americans "a bigger comprehension of what communism is, (but) we still have a great deal to learn."

Dean, who spent nearly three years in Communist prisoner camps in Korea, said on an NBC television program yesterday the United States should not seek to persuade prisoners who have elected to stay with the Reds to return home.

"We should tell those individuals what they can expect there but we should not make an emotional appeal for their return," he said. "If we have nothing to offer—let them stay."

They Learn Through Active Problems

Today's schools with improved methods and materials not only teach the so-called fundamentals well, but they do a better job than did the schools in the "good old days," School children 100 years ago memorized specific facts without learning why; children today learn how to apply these facts in solving problems. A second grade at the Training School is solving an arithmetic problem by counting and dividing carrots. The pupils from left to right: Nancy Tribble, Douglas Pritchard, and Don Taylor. Women In The Church

Miss Eunice Thomson, former director of alumnae activities at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., has been named an administrative assistant in the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, Methodist Board of Missions, in New York City. For years editor of the alumnae publication of her alma mater, Wesleyan College, Miss Thomson became director of alumnae affairs in 1947. Miss Thomson, daughter of the Rev. T. H. Thomson, Reidsville, Ga., is a member of the Georgia Poetry Society and has won awards for her verse.

After three years "in exile" in makeshift buildings on a hillside in Pusan, the far-famed Ewha University, first college for women in all Korea, is now back on its original campus in Seoul. The fighting between northern and southern forces in Korea drove the young women south of the city of Seoul, but their president, Miss Helen Kim, gathered them together and opened classes on the various tiers of a Pusan hillside, eventually adding temporary buildings for instruction and for dormitory purposes. Despite the nearness of the war, the student body increased until there are now more than 2,000 young women enrolled. When Dr. Kim, her faculty, and the student body received government permission to return to the old Seoul campus, they found windows broken, walls riddled by shot, and all the equipment gone. But they have managed to repair the buildings somewhat, and to make them suitable for classes—at least more suitable than the crowded quarters in Pusan.

United Church Women—arm of the National Council of the Churches—has four major projects in the field of U. S. government action which it is pressing through resolutions of its national, state, and local organizations. It is urging upon Congress and government agencies: "continued support of the UNV with particular stress upon the Rights and the hope for 'covenantants' in this area; continued strengthening of the Point Four program, with U.S. aid independent of military commitments; exploration of 'every possible avenue to secure agreement within the UN for the reduction and regulations of armaments'; appropriation by the U.S. of moneys for the International Children's Fund.

UDC Convenes For Annual Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 60th annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy opened here today. More than 1,000 out-of-town delegates, from 38 states, were expected.

The memorial costing $130,000, consists of an outer aisle bay, with the dimensions of a small chapel, and two stained-glass windows depicting incidents in the lives of the two Confederate army heroes.

The Rev. Thomas Van B. Barrett, rector of the Robert E. Lee Memorial Church of Lexington, Va., will deliver the dedicatory sermon.

Preliminary events yesterday included a memorial service for members who have died since last year's convention. Also honored was the late Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, Richmond author and editor, who was an honorary associate member.

Only Youngsters Lead Symphony

NEW YORK (AP)—Pierre Monteux was a hale and hearty 78-year-old conductor taking over for the usually hale and hearty 86-year-old Arturo Toscanini yesterday at the NBC Symphony's first concert of the season.

Toscanini is recovering from a light attack of flu; so Monteux, who is here for the Metropolitan Opera opening a week from today, took the baton for the broadcast, which originated at Carnegie Hall. It was announced that Toscanini might be able to conduct next week.

Want To Delete Liquor Allegation

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Attorneys for Bing Crosby have asked Superior Court to delete from a traffic damage suit against the crooner all allegations that he was under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident. Crosby has denied the allegations.

Population Set At Over 2 Billion

NEW YORK (AP)—Two scientists say the world now has 2 1/2 billion persons and that the population should continue to grow before stabilizing itself at about four billion.

The scientists—W. S. Woytinsky and his wife, E. S. Woytinsky—said the earth's population had quadrupled in the past 300 years and should reach the 3 1/2 billion mark by the start of the next century.

The couple reached their conclusions in a study financed jointly by the Rockefeller Foundation and the 20th Century fund, which made public part of their report yesterday.

Refresher Course Held By Carolina Motor Club Here

The Carolina Motor Club conducted a refresher license training school for branch office personnel at Troop A, State High Patrol headquarters in Greenville today.

Branch managers and assistants were here from 16 Eastern Carolina towns for orientation in issuing 1954 license plates for motor vehicles. The new licenses will go on sale December 1.

Four Carolina Motor Club officials were here from Charlotte in connection with the instruction of those who are to sell the 1954 motor vehicle licenses. They are: Frank Miller, vice-president; Bill Peterson, sales manager; Lucien Agniel, public relations director; and John Elliott, field secretary.

Others here were Archie Gilbert of Raleigh, chief of the theft bureau, N.C. Department of Motor Vehicles, and Inspector M.H. Bynum of Greenville, and highway patrolmen from various places.

Towns represented were: Abokkie, Edenton, Elizabeth City, Greenville, (A.J. Garrett, branch manager), Jacksonville, Kinston, Manteo, Morehead City, New Bern, Plymouth, Tarboro, Wallace, Ashington, Williamston, Wilson and Rocky Mount.

Those who attended were guests at lunch at noon.

Poppy Sale Said Most Successful

Mrs. E.K. Forrest, Chairman of the Buddy Poppy Sale held in Pitt County on Saturday, reported this morning that the sale was the most successful sale to date. There were 4950 poppies sold for $797.32.

In addition to Greenville, Buddy Poppies were offered to the public in Ayden, Winterville and Grimesland. Commander Elvy Forrest of the V.F.W. Post and Mrs. B.T. Joyner, President of the Auxiliary, expressed their appreciation to every citizen that bought and wore the symbol of gratitude to honor disabled and deceased veterans.

The funds received from the sale will be used to help needy and disabled veterans and their families in Pitt County, to assist veterans in hospitals, national rehabilitation program, and to help maintain the V.F.W. National Home for orphans and widows of veterans at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

"To those who so generously contributed, they can be assured that every cent will be used for the cause to which it was given," said Commander Forrest. Appreciation was also extended to all who helped make the sale a success.
