Rejection Based On Premise Judiciary Branch Is Independent Offers 'Consider' Written Queries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark refused today to comply with a subpoena to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee on the Harry Dexter White case.

Clark offered however, to give "serious consideration" to any written questions the committee may wish to send him.

In a letter to the committee, Clark based his rejection of the subpoena on the premise that the judiciary branch of the government is independent of the legislative.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged today that aggressive American plots against the Soviet Union have created international tensions making disarmament impossible.

White House And GOP Heads Tried Deter Probers Pressures Failed Halt Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heavy pressure was applied by the Republican National Committee and the White House before Republican members of the House Un-American Activities Committee dropped their plan to require former President Truman to testify.

Truman or Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark.

Truman had bad politics and might backfire on the Republicans. Since the Senate's internal security subcommittee was investigating about the same case—although it had not subpoenaed Truman or Clark—the House members were urged to abandon their plans, this source said.

Aide Parleys Appear To Have Reached Some Accord Top Negotiators To Meet

By JOHN RANDOLPH PANMUNJOM (AP) — Top U. S. and Red negotiators return tomorrow to discuss plans for a Korean peace conference after a week's recess while staff advisers worked in secret on an agenda.

The advisers ended a series of six secret meetings today but refused to give any information on the results. However, they apparently reached some sort of agreement since the top delegates were called back.

Dacron Plant Is Safety Winner

KINSTON — W. E. Gladding, manager of the local Dacron plant of the DuPont Company, announced today that on November 12 the plant qualified for the second of three awards in the company's safety award plan.

Charlotte Judge Blames Assembly For Easy Rein On Barbituates Control

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A Charlotte judge, under criticism for suspended sentences he gave last week to a man and woman who sold drugs to a high school girl, says the criticism should be directed against the General Assembly.

Judge Sedberry noted that state law prescribes a maximum penalty of a $35 fine for illegal sale of a barbiturate—a hypnotic drug. He added that he had exceeded his authority in passing out suspended sentences in the case, but he had imposed the sentences "with the acquiescence of the defense lawyers and for the moral effect on the defendants."

Tobacco Market Had Highest Average In Its 63-Year History

Greenville Tobacco Market closed its 56-day selling season last week and figures show that it had its highest average in the 63-year history of the market, exceeding the Eastern Bright Belt average and leading the four major markets in Eastern North Carolina in average price per hundred pounds.

This year Greenville paid out $38,658,936.84, almost seven million dollars more than last year even though the market ran two weeks longer last year. Tobacco averaged $8.12 per hundred pounds higher this year than in 1952.

On October 2 of this year the market sold 2,353,592 pounds of tobacco for $1,506,571.27 averaging $64.10 to set a record for the most money paid out in one selling day.

last day that the market was open. 29 Days Above $80 During the season a total of 20 sales days averaged above $80 per hundred pounds. The highest gross average for any one day was the 24th of September when tobacco averaged $94.78 per hundred pounds for the 1,627,406 pounds sold that day.

For one week ending on October 2, the five days sales of 8,734,098 pounds sold for $5,592,539.34 averaging $64.00 gross. This was for every type of tobacco sold in every warehouse during that week.

Sales ran for five and one-half hours per day for the entire season, making it a short selling season because a large volume of tobacco passed through the warehouses at a faster rate.

Low Year 1931 is probably the year that most farmers and tobaccoists in this area were glad to see end because in that year the local market had its lowest average in history—$9.21 per hundred pounds.

During that low year of 1931 about one-half a million more pounds of tobacco was sold than during this season when Greenville set its high average record of $55.86; however, this 1931 crop brought only a little more than $6,000,000 for the entire season's sales of better than 66,000,000 pounds of tobacco. During the 1933 season's record week, Greenville paid out almost that much—it lacked only about one-half million dollars.

The story was told to police by the girl's step-father, James Botticelli, 40, superintendent of a five story rooming house at 187 E. 95th St.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
November 13, 1923

Saturday afternoon at her home on Fourth Street, Miss Henrie Long delightfully entertained at six tables of bridge in honor of Miss Lynda Warren, bride-elect.

The house was beautifully trimmed to carry out a green and white color scheme. After several progressive, Mrs. Cary Warren having the highest score was presented a hand-painted powder jar. The honoree received an odd piece of silver, while Mrs. Stanford Travis of Weldon was remembered with a pair of candles.

Table prizes were cut by Misses Kathleen Cousins and Iva Sheburn and Mesdames Cary Warren, John Flanagan, Graham Flanagan and H. H. Duncan.

After the guests had enjoyed a delicious salad course, little Jean Hodges, dainty and airy in a pink chiffon frock, entered with a fluffy white parasol from which hung numerous white packages, a shower of gifts for the bride-elect.

In her charming way Miss Warren expressed her gratitude and much merriment was occasioned by the unwrapping of the gifts.

U. D. C. Official Is Speaker For Local Chapter

A most delightful meeting of the George B. Singletary Chapter of the United Daughters of Confederacy was held at the home of Mrs. R. D. Harrington Thursday, November 12. Lovely arrangements of fall flowers were used throughout the home.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming presided over a short business session. She welcomed each member and the following visitors: UDC District President Mrs. J. A. Jones, Mrs. J. S. Willard and Miss Ona Shindler.

Mrs. Fleming introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. J. A. Jones from Kinston, who is the District President, State Patriotic Chairman, and also is on the National Patriotic Board. Mrs. Jones' talk on the work of the UDC was most inspirational and informative. She brought out that this chapter is in the best report for the district, and its year book won second place at the State convention. Mrs. Jones also gave the district report which reflected how very active the district had been during the past year. In closing Mrs. Jones said, "We should be proud of our heritage and should protect this heritage by rendering patriotic services. These services should include services of all types such as giving a pint of blood, maybe only a smile, an invitation to dinner to a service man, giving aid to charity cases, The Cancer, Heart, Red Cross, TB, Polio also need your help. Then we must not forget to buy bonds."

The hostess, assisted by Miss Shindler and Mrs. J. S. Willard, served a delicious congealed salad, cheese biscuits, chicken a la d sandwiches, nuts and tea.

Joint Hostesses To Neighborhood Club

Elmhurst Neighborhood Club met last night at the home of Mrs. Marshall Whitehurst on Berkeley Road.

Mrs. Tom Smith, president, led a short informal business meeting. Minutes were read and roll was called by Mrs. Floyd Phillips. Each of the nine members present responded with a household hint.

The new scrapbook was presented and approved. Those present agreed to skip next meeting since it comes on Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Whitehurst and her co-hostess, Mrs. James Gurganus, led the group in playing games.

The hostesses served hot cocoa, roasted pecans and pimento cheese sandwiches.

The United States had about 53 million motor vehicles in 1952.

Girl Scout News

GIRL SCOUT NEWS
The Girl Scouts of Troop 8 had their investiture service Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 11. The meeting was held at the Rotary building and many of the mothers attended. They saw their daughters take a wonderful step in life.

To start the service, the girls formed a horseshoe circle and the Color Guards brought in the flag. They pledged allegiance and then sang one verse of "America."

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor made a few brief comments about the meaning of becoming a Girl Scout. Then ten of the girls came up and took a candle and said one of the promises. Then all the girls came up one by one and Mrs. Ruby Finch, troop leader, gave out the pins, and the girls became Girl Scouts.

Following this, members of the refreshment committee served punch and cookies. The table was gaily decorated with a green paper cloth. A large arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums was placed in the middle of the table. Colorful fall leaves were scattered the length of the table. Two pumpkins surrounded by pine cones were set on either side. The girls served their mothers punch and cookies.

There are about 20 Scouts in Troop 8.

Student Retreat This Weekend

A statewide retreat for Disciples of Christ students will be held at Camp New Hope, near Chapel Hill, Saturday and Sunday, November 14 and 15.

The meeting will call together Disciples students from the center of the state, and it is for the purpose of making a study of the possible development of a statewide organization of the Disciples Student Fellowship.

Miss Louise Morris, director of religious education at Eighth Street Christian Church, and about a dozen Disciples students at East Carolina College will attend the retreat.

Newton J. Fowler Jr., a student at Lynchburg (Virginia) College and president of the International Disciples Student Fellowship, will be guest speaker and lead discussion groups. Others on the two-day program are: Dr. Cecil A. Jarman of Wilson, Dr. Travis White, president of Atlantic Christian College, and Thomas P. Inabnett of Wilson, state director of religious education for the Disciples of Christ, director of the retreat at Chapel Hill.

Prince Observes 5th Birthday Tomorrow

LONDON (AP) — Chubby Prince Charles celebrates his fifth birthday tomorrow with his life as a schoolboy about to begin. The little heir to the throne acquired a governess last week. She is Miss Catherine Peebles, 31, former governess of Prince Michael, son of the Duchess of Kent. British law says every child must start his education by the age of 5—and little Charles is no exception.

At first he will be taught at home. But he may get a crack at public school life by the time he is 10. If he does, he will be the first heir to the throne ever to get the typical schooling of a blue-blooded British boy.

Traditionally, the young sprigs of British royalty are carefully screened in their early years from contact with the outside world. Queen Elizabeth II was 18 before she mixed with people of her own age at a wartime officer's training school for the Women's Royal Army Corps. Before that, her education was in the hands of her governess and tutors.

King George VI, the Duke of Windsor and King George V all were 15 before they left their tutors to become cadets at Dartmouth, the navy's training college.

But the Duke of Edinburgh, who attended a preparatory school in England when he was 9, reportedly takes a dim view of tradition swaddling his son.

The young prince, in the opinion of many Britons, would make a better King if he had an early and thorough knowledge of how his subjects live.

Traditionalists, on the other hand, argue that the very specialized knowledge a democratic monarch must have cannot be learned at an ordinary school.

Prince Charles will not have to spend much time studying Latin, mathematics, science and English literature — the main subjects taught in British schools.

But he will have to learn fluent French and German so he can converse easily with foreign rotundies. He must know the geography of the lands over which he will reign. He will have to delve deeply into economics and social studies, and he should become an expert on constitutional history and government.

Later, perhaps, will come the traditional stint as a naval cadet—although at the moment he shows more interest in soldiers than sailors—and a few terms at either Oxford or Cambridge universities.

Pitt Insurance Exchange Meets

The Pitt County Insurance Exchange met last night at Respass Brothers Barbecue House. Members agreed to have signs about the Pitt County Insurance Exchange to be made up between now and the next meeting, which will ultimately be displayed in their respective windows.

Jim Joyner of Farmville was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate ways and means of educating the general public relative to the new financial responsibility act that will take effect on or about the first of the year.

Dessert Bridge Party Given In Honor Of December Bride-Elect

Among the pre-nuptial parties to honor Miss Dorothy Nell Henderson, whose marriage to Lt. Jack DeWayne Westfall of Harrisville, W. Va. is planned for December, was a dessert bridge given by Miss Mary Andrews Whitchard at her home on East Ninth Street Wednesday evening.

Guests were greeted by the hostess, her mother, Mrs. W. L. Whitchard, and the honored guest.

Throughout the rooms of the home a color scheme of bronze and yellow was used. Attractive arrangements of chrysanthemums were placed on the mantel and auxiliary tables. Card tables for the refreshment hour were centered with epergnettes filled with tiny mums.

Molded bridal loaves and cakes were served and after the scores had been tallied Coco-Cola and salted nuts were enjoyed. Mrs. Robert Green assisted the hostess in serving.

Miss Margaret Johnston received a bottle of cognac for high scorer and for low score the bride-elect was presented a double deck of cards.

Miss Henderson was the recipient of a lovely corsage of white chrysanthemums and a gift of crystal.

Tomorrow's Garden

By
The Greenville Garden Club
Owning even one camellia is usually enough to turn the average person into a camellia "fan"; having three or four makes most of us addicts. All year their dark shining evergreen makes them outstanding ornaments to any yard and while they cost a little more than ordinary broad leaved evergreens they are worth every penny. Furthermore, once they are established they grow with little care and attain a great age.

The beautiful camellia flowers are of widely divergent types. In old prints we see pictured the flat full flowers with waxy overlapping petals — listed in catalogs as imbricated — known to us as "the kind like Pink Perfection and Sarah Frost". There are many of these. Purily is a beautiful white, Gaiety or Leslie Howard is variegated and C.M. Hovey or Colonel Firey is brilliant red.

Another type has a very full center of frilled petals, no stamens showing and flat outer petals. Prof. Sargent, deep red, is a perfect example of this.

A very large group is listed as peoniform and embraces every color and combination of colors. One of the oldest varieties with large flowers and satisfactory foliage is Chandleri Elegans, vg. pink and white. Another excellent variety is Herme, vg. pink and white, and the entire Herme family, all sports from the original. All of these are hardy in our section, make strong rapid growth and bloom very freely. Their colors range from deep pink to pink margined or flanked with white.

Among the loveliest flowers are those listed as semi-double. The flowers are quite double but open wide to show a beautiful center of golden stamens, sometimes short and sometimes long as in Leucantha but always very attractive. Outstanding among these are Duchess of Sutherland, white with a dash of deep pink on one or two petals, Lady Clare deep pink and Lady Van Sittart, sometimes white, often solid pink and sometimes variegated.

A new group has large flowers, single or semi — double which do not open quite wide, resembling the flowers of Hibiscus. These are quite controversial as those who like them, like them very much and others dislike them just as heartily. Examples of these are Rose Mallow and White Hibiscus.

In addition to the infinite range of color and form of their flowers, camellia plants vary widely in habit of growth. Jarvis Red and Celtic Rosea, pale pink, make wide graceful bushes. Pink Perfection and Prof. Sargent form tall compact shrubs. Sarah Frost grows very rapidly and needs much pruning.

It is impossible in these few paragraphs to more than touch on this most fascinating subject but in the Garden Center at Sheppard Memorial Library is a wealth of information. Take a note book and pencil as the books there are for reference not circulation.

In addition to C. japonica known to us just as Camellias there is another class, Camellia Sasanaua which we speak of usually as Sasangus. They are rapidly attaining a well deserved popularity as bear dairy flowers which cover foliage, make sturdy growth and they too have handsome evergreen plants.

There are not a great many varieties as yet but some of the best are Apple Blossom, blooming in September, Rosea, deep pink; Cleopatra deep pink, double and ruffled, Dawn, semi-double white with pink edges, and the very popular double white, Mine-no-Yuki or Snow on the Mountain.

All have a long blooming period, some are quite willowy in growth and others are compact. Whichever ones are chosen they should be given opportunity to show their real beauty and while they may be in a row, on a border, or in a group leave space between them.

There are about 200,000 service stations in the United States.

Bobby Parker To Be 4-H Speaker

Bobby Parker, who recently returned from Ireland where he traveled under the International Farm Youth Exchange Program, will be the principal speaker for the Pitt County 4-H Club Achievement Day program to be held Monday night at 7:30 at the West Greenville School auditorium.

Parker, now a student at North Carolina State College and a former 4-H member, International Farm Youth Exchange delegate and of the farming methods practiced by Irish farmers.

Highlight of the program will be the presentation of awards to county champions whose projects are judged as most outstanding this year. 4-H boys and girls who have been outstanding in leadership and other activities during the year will be recognized.

Awards for the most outstanding 4-H boy and girl will be presented during the program by the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the event also call for a talent show to be presented by Joyce Lee Jackson, Clarence Elks, Ann Oakley and Bobby Latta.

Ted Allen, president of the 4-H County Council, will preside over the meeting.

Club officials said that parents of 4-H members and others that are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Deny New Trial On 1947 Murder

KINSTON, N. C. (P)—Sam Thompson of Goldsboro convicted of murder for the 1947 slaying of Kenneth Taylor of Kinston, has been denied a new trial by Judge Henry Grady.

Judge Grady, who presided at a hearing for Thompson last week under the state's post conviction law, yesterday ruled that no constitutional rights had been denied Thompson, the basis of the new trial petition.

Thompson's testimony that Lemuel Parrott of Kinston, brought about Parrott's death sentence in the original trial.

Shortly before the execution, however, Thompson changed his story, declaring that neither he nor Parrott had anything to do with the slaying. Parrott subsequently was granted a new trial and acquitted.

Thompson maintained that he made up the story about his and Parrott's part in the crime to even a score with Parrott, who earlier had involved Thompson in a robbery.

Police Guarding U.S. Ambassador

NEW YORK (P)—Police have placed a 24-hour guard at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, it was learned today.

Authorities would give no reason for the action, saying only that a guard was put there three days ago.

Lodge is aboard the special train carrying President and Mrs. Eisenhower to Canada on a two-day good will tour.

Friday 13th Club Is Meeting Today

PITTSBURGH (P)—Friday the 13th once again called together a group of 14 Pittsburgh businessmen who poke fun at persons who believe the day brings bad luck.

The "Friday the 13th Club of Pittsburgh" meets for luncheon today and the program calls for entering the dining room by walking under a ladder, sitting beneath open umbrellas at tables decorated black cats, throwing salt on the floor, breaking mirrors and paying for meals with $2 bills.

The club was formed a few years ago. Its officers are 13 vice presidents and a vice president in charge of vice presidents.

Three New Milk Marketing Areas

RALEIGH (P)—Three new milk marketing areas were created by the State Milk Commission yesterday.

The commission set minimum Class 1 and 2 producer prices to be paid in each area. Controls in the areas become effective Dec. 1.

The commission's latest action leaves the state's extreme western, its northwestern and its northeastern sections as its only areas not under milk commission control.

Commission Chairman W. W. Fitzpatrick of Rougemont said the three new areas are:

The Raleigh-Durham area, which includes the counties of Wake, Durham, Lee Moore, Chatham, Orange, Person, Granville, Vance, Franklin, Warren, Johnston and Harnett. The minimum Class 1 producer price in this area was set at $6.25 per hundredweight. Class 1 milk is generally considered most bottled milks.

The Fayetteville area, including the counties of Cumberland, Hoke, Scotland and Robeson. The minimum Class 1 producer price in this area was set at $6.35 per hundredweight.

The third new area is District No. 7, which includes the counties of Gaston, Cleveland, Lincoln, Catawba, Iredell, Alexander, Caldwell, Burke, Rutherford, Polk and McDowell. The minimum Class 1 producer price in this district was set at $6.25 per hundredweight.

The minimum Class 2 producer price in all three of the new areas was set at $4.50 per hundredweight.

Because humps of asphalt sometimes ooze from the bottom of the Dead Sea and are washed ashore, it is believed there may be rich oil deposits in the area.

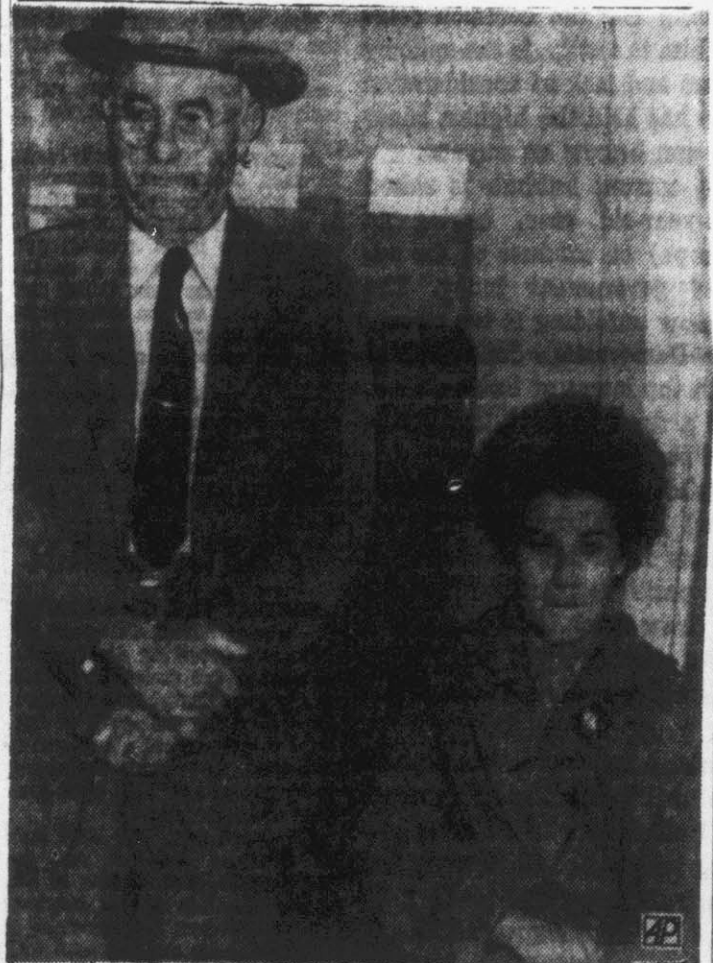

Movie Couple Adopt Indian Tot

LOS ANGELES (P)—Movie cowboy Rog Rogers and his movie cowgirl wife, Dale Evans, yesterday adopted a 19-month-old part Choctaw Indian child, Mary Little Doe.

Miss Evans said the only way it was possible to adopt an Indian child was to have Indian blood too. "Rog's part Choctaw," she said, "so they let us have Dodie."

Dodie joins Cheryl, 13, the Rogers' other adopted girl; Linda Lou, 10, and Roy Jr., Rogers' two children by his first wife Arlene, who died seven years ago.

John David, 6, soon will be adopted into the family.

KIDNAP-SITTER HELD:—Mrs. Tommie Dene Doughty, 17-year-old former carnival strip teaser who disappeared from Evansville, Ind., with a 5-month-old baby, bites her lip as she is held for questioning at Hugo, Okla. The woman was arrested at Kokchito, Okla., and has been held on a kidnaping charge. The baby, Richard Lee Stammer, was found with her in good condition. Mrs. Doughty, who had been hired as a baby sitter, said the child was "just the age of the one I lost." At left is Deputy U. S. Marshal W. A. White. (AP Wirephoto).

The Big Probe Started All Wrong

Previously, The Reflector has remarked that delving into the matter of Communists holding influential government jobs was not a subject for partisan consideration. "It's too big, too important and not merely of partisan interest to be made a weapon of political infighting," the editorial stated.

One Squabble The U.S. Should Stay Out Of

A pathetic role in a stirring real-life drama is being played by ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran who is on trial for treason following the return of the Shah to power in Iran.

The 73-year-old politician was taken into custody following the overthrow of his government in Iran. His trial has attracted attention around the world, but few expected it to be the dramatic spectacle it has turned out to be.

Mossadegh, apparently is of the firm conviction that he, legally, is still the supreme officer in that nation; that the court which is trying him has no authority to hear the charges which have been brought against him.

Although a man of Mossadegh's age and former prominence is the object of sympathy when his world crashes around him, it is up to his countrymen to decide his fate. Mossadegh's trial is surely a matter which is alone the business of the people and the government of Iran.

Spokesmen of the United States, whether official or unofficial representatives of the government, would be taking a wise course not to risk involving this nation in a domestic squabble in Iran. It may be tempting for some self-styled statesmen of the United States to insert their two-cent opinions of the trial of Mossadegh; but this country would do well to follow a strict "no comment" policy toward the touchy Iranian issue.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

One evening last summer I was driving along a highway and passed several boys on bicycles. They were riding without lights. In fact their bicycles did not seem to be equipped with lights. It was a pretty dangerous procedure, and as I drove along the thought came into my mind that there was something highly symbolic about these youngsters. There are millions of them today driving through life without any lights. Children are usually what the home, the church, the school, and the community make them. Although many modern homes are as good as the best in the past, many parents very decidedly do not set wholesome moral examples to their children. Furthermore, there are literally millions of children growing up today who know practically nothing about religion. The answers given by many college students to Biblical questions, are almost unbelievable. My observation of young people is that they are much better than anyone would have a right to expect considering that we have had two world wars in a generation and that present-day adults are not too conscientious about the examples they set their children. No lights! No lights! And life's highway has seldom been darker than it is right now.

National Whirligig

Many Covered By Indictment

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Although not even Attorney-General Herbert Brownell accuses Harry S. Truman of deliberately and knowingly promoting a disloyal American to a key and sensitive post in the International Monetary Fund, the former President must plead guilty to sloppy, indifferent and political handling of the numerous subversives who had crept into the Government during the Roosevelt Administration. Even more than the Alger Hiss scandal, the belated disclosures about Harry Dexter White's real influence on major domestic and foreign policy reveal how the nation's primary interest—elementary security—can be betrayed by well-meaning but inept and inefficient officials. And the indictment runs not only against Harry S. Truman. As a detailed study of the sinister drama shows, the responsibility for grave dereliction in safeguarding important secrets against Russian espionage rests upon several former Cabinet members, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and the Truman secretariat at the White House. They placed personal and political loyalty to Truman and the Democratic Party ahead of their duties to the American people. WHITE DOSSIER SENT TO VAUGHAN—When the FBI report on White's association and cooperation with Red agents reached Theron Lamar Caudle, then head of the D of J's Criminal Division, he says that he "begged" former Attorney-General Tom Clark to block the Treasury official's promotion to the International Monetary Fund. Although Justice Clark is keeping silent, as he has in other peculiar incidents involving him, he apparently saw no reason to interfere. He permitted the FBI to forward its dossier on White to the White House, but only as one of many routine reports. And it was handed to all men—Major General Harry H. Vaughan, whose job as Military Attaché amounted to relaying crude jokes to his World War I battery mate at the big desk. Handing such an explosive document to Vaughan was like giving an atomic bomb to a child as a Christmas present. CLARK FAILED TO ACT—Both Truman and Vaughan now say that they have no recollection of fore the issuance of subpoenas for former President Harry Truman and former Secretary of State James Byrnes. Subsequent events have provided grounds for more than tentative concern over tactics involved in ferreting out facts on Red infiltration.

Indicative of procedures demonstrating poorly-considered actions are the following:

(1) As Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell noted, the original accusations by Attorney General Herbert Brownell against Mr. Truman in the Harry White case, were made in a luncheon club talk rather than before a gathering of governmental officials or representatives of the judiciary . . . which would have been a more fitting gathering, where responsible men would be given the information first-hand rather than through indirect sources.

(2) The strategy of attempting to put Mr. Truman's recollection, truthfulness and-or integrity on public trial. For while the former president was a man of many talents, detailed memories of all questions raised during his hectic years in office would be representative of a quality unknown in the majority of mere humans.

(3) The impetuosity manifested by sending a subpoena to a former Chief Executive, before doing him the common courtesy of asking him to testify, is the epitome of poor manners and lack of consideration for a man who has held the highest honor all Americans can bestow on anyone.

(4) All the current hubbub is raised over a seven-year-old case, having no bearing (we hope) on conduct of the administration of government today. The whole picture now unfolding is too clearly an attack on a Democratic administration of the past with the intent of linking what should now be a dead issue to the Democratic Party of the present.

We are confident that all Americans, Democratic and Republican, want to ascertain the facts regarding placement of Communists in positions of trust within the governmental framework. But there is a right way and a wrong way of going about the revelations which are owed to conscientious citizens.

If, and unless, a restraining atmosphere is not applied to this Republican Red-hunt there is very real danger of national hysteria replacing the needed objectivity and calmness in a truly important task.

The thought has been expressed on several occasions by thoughtful men, and Mr. Truman in an extemporaneous talk Tuesday night echoed it: the fear of communism can be manipulated so as to cause nationwide hysteria, placing freedom of speech and thought under attack. The former president said that is the case today. We don't know.

But of this we are certain: the conduct of Republican administration leaders in the opening phases of this new investigation has been deplorable.

Somebody Told Me

Reward Offered To Unknown

Note to the person who set off the explosion at 12:15 yesterday morning: If you'll give me the exclusive story I will give you a cash award and promise not to reveal your identity. Apparently, you did little harm. In fact, I personally appreciate your giving Greenville something to talk about. Most of us are forced to live by a routine; you know, go to work at a certain time, go to the Post Office and get the mail, see the same people and talk about the same things. But the explosion offers a new approach. Now you find out from everybody you see how soundly he sleeps. For example, the explosion is supposed to have happened close to our house, yet Wife Rachel nor I heard it.

"Did you hear it?" is the new question and the answer brings a bout the inevitable discussion about sleeping habits. One man told me yesterday, "I would have given $20 to have been in on that excitement. Man, don't you know that was fun!" Somebody else told me they were driving East on Fifth Street when it happened. "Even at one o'clock it drew a string of traffic to 10th Street. College students rushed out of the dorms with their pajamas on and didn't seem to notice the weather. Girls were leaning out of almost every window of Cotten Hall. And even all the way up to Jarvis Hall there was a big commotion!" College officials discounted the possibility that the explosion occurred in East Carolina Stadium after a careful inspection of the grounds. All buildings were checked soon after the explosion. Agnes Barrett, President Messick's secretary, told me, "Sorry. I'd like to give you an exclusive on it, but we have no information."

So, to the person who did it: The cash award will come after a convincing report from you that you are the one who did it. I'll print your story, but not your name. Consider all of us who are never tired of curiosity! If we never find out we'll never enjoy life again. Have a heart, give with the information!

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

AGAINST TAX COLLECTORS (Rocky Mount Telegram) Despite disturbing developments of debility and decline in Britain, the average Englishman apparently still retains the spark of defiance to government abuse, real or imagined by which Englishmen early gained and kept their freedom from tyranny. We learn from the little town of Patcham, England that one Englishman, Eric Poore, in the grand tradition of his freedom-loving ancestors has arranged in death to have the last word with his hated tax collectors. His will published this week read: "From my grave I curse the Board of Inland Revenue who have ruined my life. All inspectors of taxes are sadistic and depraved."

That is common knowledge." Poore demanded that he be buried outside the United Kingdom with my face to the south I love so well and my back to the country which my family and I have served well but which has treated us badly. He ordered a copy of the will sent to every tax collector he ever has dealings with and a pun, that Mr. Poore told them off richly. However, before too much sympathy is wasted on him, it should be noted that Mr. Poore was not so poor in that he left an estate of $84,000. This leads us to believe that either the tax collectors weren't as sadistic and depraved in their treatment of Mr. Poore as he alleged, or else poor Mr.

Poore died before the tax collectors could take it all away. In view of the confiscatory tax policies employed in recent years in England, we suspect Mr. Poore managed to die rich only by dying in time. In any event Mr. Poore's savage outburst from the grave strikes a responsive chord in most people who fancy themselves crushed by taxes and oppressed by tax collectors. Foul as are our tax conditions today, it is not an especial curse of this age alone. Lament against taxes and tax collectors goes back to pre-Biblical times and no doubt will be heard as long as man, political creature that he is, insists on maintaining necessary governments.

Around Capitol Square

Scott Running Now, But Announcement By February

By LYNN NISBET RUNNING — Ex-Governor Kerr Scott has said he will make a formal announcement around February 1 about his candidacy for the United States Senate. He has been quoted numerous times during the past few weeks as saying he is still surveying sentiment and probably will not make up his mind until after New Year day. His public statements do not jibe with his private correspondence and his activities. Kerr Scott is running now for the nomination to the United States Senate in next year's Democratic primary just as hard, and perhaps just as fast, as he will be next May. Raleigh newspaper folks discovered several days ago that Scott had installed, an electric Robotypewriter in the home of a former employee of the Department of Agriculture who later had a top level post in the Department of Conservation and Development. Early this week Arthur Johnson, head of the Raleigh bureau of the Greensboro Daily News, obtained a copy of a letter Scott had written to Dr. Ira Schaub, former dean of agriculture at State College, which contained thinly veiled threats and promises in connection with support State College might want from the United States Senator during the next few years. That letter was in response to failure of the College Alumni office to furnish the candidate with a mailing list of class secretaries and probably other alumni.

Furthermore, a man very close to the ex-Governor and present Senatorial candidate, has told numerous friends that "Kerr has received such gratifying response both with respect to voting support and campaign money, he cannot afford not to run." These factors add up to the conclusion that the survey is over and the race is on. Many Capitol square observers now think that the "formal announcement" scheduled for early February will be a news story about the opening of campaign headquarters at the Carolina Hotel. That story is expected to be followed by announcement of the opening of headquarters at the Sir Walter for Senator Lennons' campaign to hold the seat he occupies by appointment of Governor William Umstead. CAMPAIGNING — Meanwhile both Lennon and Scott are waging vigorous campaigns for votes in the May primary. Their manner of approach and methods are different. Lennon is making more public appearances and more speeches to relatively small audiences, especially luncheon club groups. He is also getting in a lot of handshaking with individual voters. Scott is making fewer public appearances but is getting around with the handshaking job and using the mails very effectively. NEW GROUND — Both candidates are plowing new ground. Lennon is having his first experience campaigning in a large area where majority of the voters do not know him or very much about him. His previous campaigning has been limited to New Hanover county and the Duplin-New Hanover-Pender-Sampson four-county State senatorial district. (Actually, that was also just New Hanover county, since the rotation agreement and lack of Republican opposition made it necessary to do general election campaigning in the other counties.) Scott is having his first experience campaigning "for" something rather than "against" something. When he first ran for Commissioner of Agriculture in 1936 he ran "against" William A. Graham and the regime which had held the fort for years. When he ran for Governor in 1948 he made the issue "against" the entrenched faction which was backing

Charlie Johnson. He won handsomely both times. Now for the first time in his public career he has a record of his own to defend and no record to run against. For it is a fact that however capable or competent Senator Lennon may be, he has not established a record of public service on State or National level that can be challenged or attacked. If Scott tries the same campaign tactics he used successfully in 1936 and 1948 he will wind up just fanning the breeze. And if Lennon uses the same tactics on statewide scope that proved successful in New Hanover county he may find that strangers do not react like homefolks. All in all, it ought to be a right interesting campaign with the result by no means predictable as of now. EAST—WEST — The century long dream of adequate transportation across the state from east to west is still just a dream. Rumors of deals whereby the Southern Railroad system might take over the A&NCO between Morehead City and Goldsboro and tie it in with the lines now operated by the Southern to Charlotte, Asheville and thence to Atlanta, Knoxville and Cincinnati have turned out to be not much more than the same kind of dreamlike idea that inspired State aid to construction of the railroad a hundred years ago. North Carolina has excellent

Business Today

Babies Boom Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER Little girl, named Barbara, presented American business with more than $100,000 in future sales the other day. At the same time she gave the Government a promise of $40,000 in taxes.

She did it by having a son. The figures are only approximations. It would not be hard for the sales total to reach $250,000 $500,000 or higher, or for the tax total to hit $100,000 or more.

The girl and her husband calculate it will cost them at least $20,000 to raise the youngster to manhood. It will take around $1,000 the first year, somewhat less from the second through fourteen years, a bit more in the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth years and lots more in the eighteenth to twenty-first years. Most of this will be spending for goods and services, including tuition. In addition there will be $2,000 or more spent by grandparents and other relatives for gifts and Sunday dinners.

If the young man, after 21, earns only the current rate of weekly wages in manufacturing industries—$70.49 in September—and works 50 weeks a year, he will earn $155,980 by the time he is 65. Of this, $40,000 or more will go for Federal, state and various local taxes. The rest will be spent or saved and the savings will be in turn be loaned to business.

But if the man earns more than the average, if he goes on working after he is 65, or if there are future twirls of inflation, his earnings, his spending and his tax payments can be much, much higher. It's easy to see, then, that the birth of Garth Elmer Roessner, is an economic event of importance. And in the same way, the birth of every child is a $100,000 occurrence.

Economists talk of the gross national product, personal income seasonally adjusted, end of month inventory totals, the consumer price index, housing starts and carloadings. But the most significant statistics in the United States are the figures on births. INDUSTRY BUYS THREE TONS OF DIAMONDS A YEAR

Diamonds are also one of industry's best friends. Three tons, worth $50,000,000, are being imported for industrial use this year, the Wire Association meeting in Chicago this week was told by C.R. Myer, manager of the abrasives division of Elgin Watch.

They are so useful in drilling, grinding and polishing work that they bring $5,000 a pound. The best substitute costs only 16 cents a pound.

UTILITY FINANCES FORBID HOLIDAY GIFTS

The perennial question of whether buyers should accept Christmas presents from those who sell or try to sell them has been raised again this year by Purchasing magazine. It polled almost 400 purchasing agents and found that in only 9 per cent of their companies were gifts absolutely prohibited. In 42 per cent, acceptance depended upon the judgment of the department head, in 19 per cent gifts were permitted "within limits," and 30 per cent had no limits.

MODERN WIRING FOR HOMES

Prewar wiring in homes is slowing the sales of some electrical equipment. Air-conditioners, electric stoves and other devices often require more power than is provided by existing lines.

To help dealers sell more appliances—and to sell more power—the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. is offering to finance wiring modernization. The utility pays the contractor, and then adds installment payments to the electricity bill over one to three years.

Muscles While You Are Resting

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Well, I was just sitting there with my feet on the desk, contentedly watching a spider spin a cobweb between my two shoes, when the phone rang.

"Are you one of those lazy men who hate exercise?" demanded a voice. "No," I said honestly. "I'm just one of those lazy men who hate people who exercise and brag about it."

"How would you like to exercise while you loaf?" asked the voice. "How would you like to build a tiger-trim figure without even moving a muscle yourself?"

"Can I do this lying down?" I asked cautiously. "Sure," said the voice. "You can even read, eat, watch a TV program, or fall asleep—and all the time you are getting to look more like Hercules. We do it with machine. Come over and see."

So I climbed out of my lethargy and into a taxi and trundled over to a Fifth Avenue station that said on the door: "Relax-A-Chlor."

A brunette named Louise Simonet led me into a small room where a pretty blonde, Charlotte Rakay, lay stretched on a table. Miss Rakay wore a bathing suit and a series of damp felt pads that looked like an old-fashioned truss. Wires led from the pads to a small radio-like machine with knobs at her side.

"This machine takes the place of your nerve centers and electrically flexes your muscles for you," said Miss Simonet, "at the rate of 20 contractions a minute or 1,200 an hour. It does all the work for you. All you have to do is plug it and turn the dial. It can tone up any muscle in your body while you relax."

"How about that old serratus anterior muscle?" asked cynically. She adjusted a pad on the blonde girl's left rib section, and tucked it in. Immediately Charlotte's spleen, serratus anterior began a rhythmic twitch.

"How does it feel?"

"Tingly. . . just tingly," replied Charlotte raptly. "Now, we'll test it on the muscle we sit on—the gluteus maximus," said Miss Simonet. She put a pad under each of Charlotte's hips, and a moment later the blonde was giving a completely relaxed imitation of Gypsy Rose Lee at her best.

"Wonderful fine-electricity," I murmured. "How does that feel?"

"Tingly. . . just tingly," said Charlotte coolly. "There is no feeling of shock at all."

Charlotte's pectoralis major responded as gamely as her vastus externus. I had a feeling of regret when Miss Simonet switched the machine off without giving Charlotte's adductor magnus and sartorius a workout. I hate to see any good muscle slighted.

Miss Simonet asked "Now, would you like to try the machine?"

Basically, I agreed to test the only muscle I had on display at the moment—the one in my triple-threat chin. She held a pad under my chin like a buttercup, and immediately the muscles began automatically twitching. I had a wild sense of power—as if I could chew the biggest hunk of bubble gum in the world.

"How does it feel?" asked Charlotte.

"Tingly. . . just tingly," I told her. A spokesman for the firm—a big fellow with powerful muscles—slid sports figures and entertainment magazines used the Relax-A-Chlor to keep in shape painlessly. But they had to turn down one customer who wanted a machine for the head.

"I got a fat-headed girl friend," he explained, "and this damn really needs help to exercise it."

north-south railroad and air line service, but not much to brag about in east-west service. The highway folks are showing some interest in improving the three major east-west federally numbered highways—US 20-64-70—but even in highway buildings primary consideration is given the north-south routes—US 1-17-29-30. North Carolina cities from Durham eastward are still more accessible to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York by air, highway and rail than to Asheville. Experiments with mail have proven that letters get from Raleigh to New York or Jacksonville more quickly than to Asheville, which is about half the distance. The anomaly of that situation is more marked when it is remembered that in most parts of the world transportation and commerce follow the rivers, and North Carolina rivers nearly all flow in a general eastward direction. Nobody seems to know why, or at least nobody has been able to give a lucid explanation, but commerce in North Carolina just will not flow in east-west directions like it does in Virginia and South Carolina and Tennessee and Maryland.

It might be that the traditional delineation of eastern and westward sections of North Carolina for political offices and the diversity of agriculture and manufacture which has prevailed—but which is being rapidly overcome—has been responsible for the unfortunate condition.

Dr. Bing Attending Industrial Arts Conference in Chicago This Week

Dr. Kenneth L. Bing, director of the department of industrial arts at East Carolina College, is attending this week at Chicago a meeting of the Mississippi Valley Industrial Arts Conference, of which he is a member.

During the past weekend he participated in work carried on by the Research Committee of the North Carolina Industrial Arts Association at a meeting in Raleigh. The committee, headed by Dr. Ivan Hostetter of State College, prepared recommendations relative to an advisory committee on industrial arts, a state bulletin on industrial arts, and other matters of interest in the field of study. Plans were also completed for a meeting of the North Carolina Industrial Arts Association at Asheville Saturday of this week.

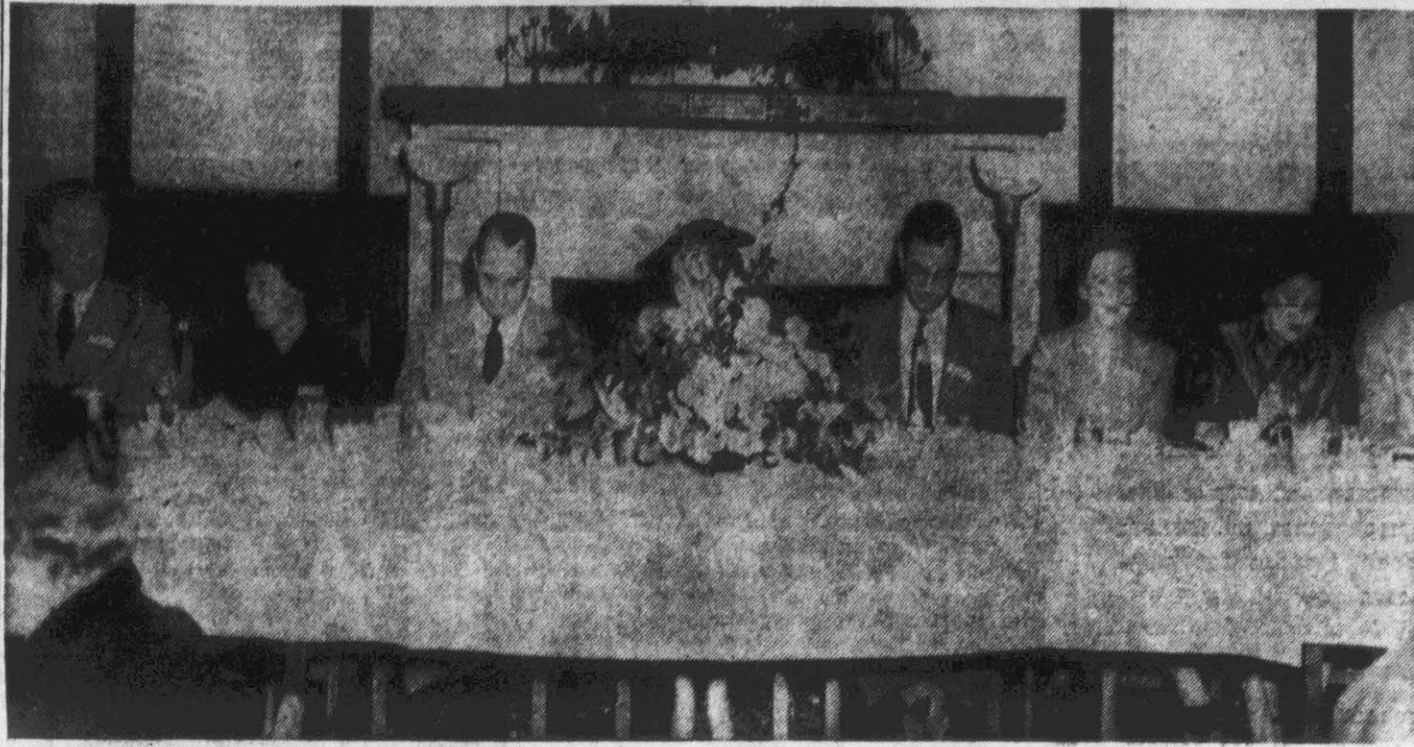

The Chicago meeting brings together approximately fifty directors of departments of industrial arts in colleges and universities of the Mississippi Valley. Dr. Bing will take part in discussions of questions of professional interest to those concerned with the training of teachers.

Jap Arrested In Knifing Assault

TOKYO (AP)—Police said today a 21-year-old Japanese man arrested today while dressed in female attire admitted stabbing James Pearce, a Department of Army civilian, in a Tokyo park early yesterday.

Pearce, of Goldsboro, N. C., was reported in fair condition at an Army hospital.

First Newcomer's Luncheon Club Meeting Held Yesterday

A total of 65 persons, of which better than two-thirds were newcomers, attended the first Newcomer's Club Luncheon meeting yesterday at the Greenville Woman's Club building.

Mrs. Fred Hall, acting chairman of the new club sponsored by the local Woman's Club said, "I am delighted that so many newcomers attended this first meeting and I am sure that the club will be a success."

The acting chairman explained the object of the new club as being a social outlet for new residents of Greenville. She explained that there are no dues, but one duty—to be a friend.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee, expressing a few words of welcome to the newcomers of the city, told them that Greenville is a friendly city and basis for this friendliness is because it is a relatively new city. He said the feature for this club was one of the best he had ever seen and closed his remarks by giving the motto "Our Greenville, Yours If You Come."

Other short talks of welcome were given by Mrs. R. P. Rogers, on behalf of the Woman's Club; City Manager James S. Hughes; President of the Chamber of Commerce W. W. Speight; President of the Merchants Association C. W. Harvey, Jr.; and East Carolina Alumni Secretary James W. Butler. A cake, which had "Welcome Newcomer" written on it, was won by Mrs. Robert Gilbert. She exclaimed "That's my number," when the number was drawn from a box.

The invocation was rendered by Reverend W. M. Howard, Jr., minister of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The Newcomers Club will hold its next meeting the second Thursday in December. Plans call for future meetings to be held each second and fourth Thursday of each month.

His Fish Story Was Stretched

DALLAS, Tex. —Sam Kellog, Corpus Christi, Tex., movie operator, was telling a Dallas man yesterday about a Gulf coast fishing trip.

Kellog said he waded out in waist-deep water, dipped a hook and came up with a big trout. As fast as he could bait the hook and drop it back in the water, he got more trout. He pulled them in and pulled them in until he got tired, so stopped to smoke a cigarette.

When he finished, the story went, he threw the butt on the water. Another big trout came out of the water and took the butt down.

Five or ten seconds later, Kellog related, the trout broke water again and spat out the butt.

Will Be In Piano Recital Sunday

Laura Frances Pope of Coats, senior at East Carolina College, will be presented by the department of music in a recital of works for the piano to be given Sunday afternoon, November 15, at 4 o'clock in the Austin Auditorium. The public is invited.

The program will be Miss Pope's graduating recital. Appearing with her as assistant artist will be Carolyn Brothers of South Mills, organist. Both students are pupils of George E. Perry of the faculty.

Miss Pope will play during the afternoon a group of selections by Mendelssohn, Chopin and Debussy and the "Larghetto Calmata" from MacDowell's Concerto in D Minor, Op. 23. Miss Pope's selections will be three Bach numbers.

As a student at East Carolina for the past three years, Miss Pope has participated in the activities of the College Band, the East Carolina

Ruritan To Hold Turkey Shoot

CHICOD—The Chicod Ruritan Club met Tuesday night under the direction of the president, Mr. Eugene James.

Plans were made for the Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot to be held at the Chicod School on November 24. Proceeds from this turkey shoot will go toward the purchase of a pig to be given to a student of the Chicod School for the improvement of livestock in this Chicod area. Committees appointed to handle the turkey shoot are: Mr. Grady Grey Smith and Mr. Jerome R. Worsley, shooting; Mr. E. G. Hardee and Mr. Keith Brunson, purchase of the turkey, and Mr. Jerome R. Worsley and Mr. F. H. Hodges are on the publicity committee.

New officers of the following year were elected, they are: Otis Stokes, President, James H. Edwards, Vice President, Keith Brunson, Secretary, Grady Grey Smith, Treasurer, Rev. E. L. No Curtsy, But Texan Courtesy

HOUSTON, Tex. —Mayor Roy Hofheinz asked Houstonians to substitute courtesies for curtsy next Wednesday when greeting King Paul and Queen, Frederika of Greece.

"Good taste and proper recognition of democratic standards dictate that there be no curtsies," the mayor said.

What is the proper salute? Hofheinz recommends: "How do you do?" "Welcome to Texas." "Howdy, pardner."

Pirates Leave For Florida; Phants Play Yellow Jackets

Cherry Back At Post For Bucs' Last Game

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Editor

The Pirates have gone South in an effort to find a little warmth. They turned their back on Greenville's cold breezes and soggy ground last night when they boarded their train for DeLand, Florida, and their game tomorrow afternoon with Stetson University. Weather reports from the Sunshine State have offered the suggestion that they will find at least warm weather to greet them.

The Bucs, however, are interested in warmth of another variety, too. They got the cold shoulder last week from the Tampa Spartans and, as a result, wound up with their first loss of the season. They're looking for different results tomorrow in Stetson.

Cherry Back

Off-hand indications would suggest that the Pirates have every right to expect a warmer reception tomorrow. For one thing, they have Little All-America candidate Dick Cherry back at quarterback. The Blonde Bombshell was out of action last week in the Tampa game except for three plays but he has been taking an active part in practice this week and is expected to be able to go at near top speed.

At halfback, Paul Gay is out of the game with an injured knee but Jack Britt has been shifted to the spot and found to be the answer to the problem. The 170-pound senior and co-captain from Fairmont was switched from left halfback. He is one of the faster men on the squad and a good defensive performer.

In the line, there aren't any special problems among the first-stringers. When you start dipping down into the reserve pot, however, the soup might be just a little thin. Left tackle Sonny Callahan didn't make the trip because of a severe leg injury. Left end J. D. Bradford will not play because of an ankle injury.

At Stetson, there haven't been many reasons for moaning and groaning this week. The Hatters romped 41-0 over Morehead (Ky.) State College last week and the first-team got plenty of rest in the contest. In practice, the Hatters have been favored with good weather and there have been no injuries in that department.

The Hatters have broken even in six games this year. Among their three victories, in addition to the win over Morehead, is a victory over Tampa.

Offensive leaders for the Hatters thus far this year have been halfback Nick Colantuono and quarterback Fred Semanie. Both played outstanding football last week in the victory over Morehead.

The game tomorrow will be the last for four members of the squad. Bobby Hodges, Jack Britt, Johnny Brown, and Johnny Daughtry. All but Daughtry are starters.

The Pirates expect to have a fairly large crowd of fans at the game. Quite a few of the college students have gone down and many of the players' parents are also expected to attend.

The Bucs will return home early Monday morning. They will leave DeLand Sunday afternoon and arrive in Wilson around 3 a.m. Monday.

There will be no local broadcast of the contest.

Hatters Develop Inside Running

DeLAND, Fla.—Stetson University will get a true test of its football caliber when the Hatters meet once defeated East Carolina in the DeLand homecoming game Saturday afternoon.

The East Carolina Pirates who have lost only to Tampa University while winning seven games, were homecoming opponents for Stetson last year. One of the highlights of the Stetson season came when the Pirates—paced by Quarterback Dick Cherry and End Bob Hodges—scored three late period touchdowns to tie the Hatters, 19-19. The squad has been reminded this week that both Cherry and Hodges are back this season.

Cosch Jay Pattee has worked the Hatters on developing a more powerful inside attack this week. A fair amount of success is reported in this department with Halfbacks Gene Stephenson and Nick Colantuono and Fullback Harold Knowles doing the bulk of the running.

Pass defense for the backs and pass rushing for the line has been another point of concentration. However, the Hatters have not weakened one defense department to strengthen another.

"We must be prepared to stop a double-barreled passing and running offense if we hold our own with East Carolina," Pattee said as he commented on the balanced Pirate standard T.

Practice the past week has developed the probability of a new starter at quarterback. Freshman Fred Semanie—who has worked with the first unit by virtue of his passing performance against Morehead last week—is likely to get the nod.

UNC 'Resigned' To Fate At Hands Of Notre Dame

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As the impending arrival of the nation's No. 1 team drew closer fans of the ACC's North Carolina Tar Heels appeared more resigned to the inevitable.

Notre Dame, that magic name which has spelled doom for all its opponents this season, is on its way.

Even the Tar Heels' No. 1 fan, Gov. William Umstead, has said that he will attend the game with resignation—but with hope.

At South Bend yesterday the Notre Dame team sharpened its pass defense, a department in which the Irish have been adroit to date. The Irish squad boarded a plane at noon today bound for Durham.

While at Chapel Hill Coach George Barclay eased up on the Tar Heel team, limiting practice to a thorough defensive dummy scrimmage.

Barclay counted all his men, except right tackle Thad Eure, ready for the contest.

At College Park yesterday the Maryland Terps zipped through a final workout for tomorrow's game against Mississippi.

The Terps are out to avenge a 21-14 licking by the Rebels last year which snapped an 18-game Maryland winning streak.

Coach Horace Hendrickson at North Carolina State gave his defenses a complete check and reviewed key offensive plays.

The squad left the Raleigh-Durham Airport this morning for its game in Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon. The coach said the squad was fit and eager.

To avoid injuries to players the South Carolina Gamecocks went through dummy drills yesterday and planned for Morgantown, W. Va., for a game tomorrow with undefeated eighth-ranked West Virginia.

The Clemson Tigers held a final drill session with stress on pass patterns. The entire squad, with the exception of end Scott Jackson, is in good physical shape for its game with The Citadel.

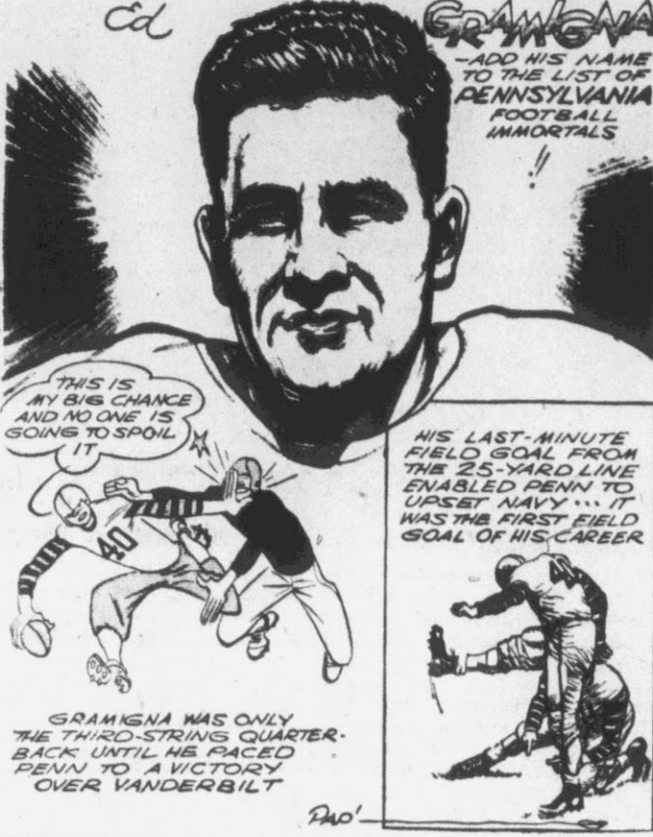

A vigorous practice session was on tap for Wake Forest which has an open date.

Coach Tom Rogers staged a scrimmage between the varsity and the freshmen.

Duke's Blue Devils, also resting this weekend, held a long scrimmage session against the freshmen, who play the VPI frosh at Durham today.

It was probably the final rough work of the week for the varsity, which faces Georgia Tech in Atlanta Nov. 14.

Nobles Leads Blue To Win Over Gold In Midget Series

Halfback Richard Nobles scored twice last night to lead the Blue to an upset 13-6 victory over the Gold in the Midget Football League playoffs finals. The victory gave the Blue the city championship.

Nobles scored in the first period on an 18-yard run. In the third quarter, he added another six points on a brilliant 45-yard exhibition of running. Dick Heller added the extra point after Nobles second TD.

The Gold team, regular season champions in the league, had four scoring opportunities but could cash in on only one. That was in the third quarter when Stan Hathaway bucked over from the four yard line.

The other three times the Gold got in an excellent position to score, a tough Blue line rose up to stop them on the four-yard line on each occasion. The Blues' defensive network was led by John Boyd, Albert Crawford, Dick Heller, and Erskine Duff.

The defensive standouts for the Gold were Arthur Andrews, Billy Boyd Cox, and George Saleed. On offense, Hathaway and Cox were the standouts.

The Gold had wound up regular season play with a first-place record of four wins and two losses. They had defeated last-place Red in the semi-finals of the playoffs. The Blue had been the third place team

Illinois Looking For Holiday Trip

By BEN PHILEGAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The Illinois football team, which would like nothing better than to spend the Christmas holidays in California, runs into its biggest stumbling block when it meets Wisconsin at Madison tomorrow.

Unbeaten in the Big Ten, the Illini need one more victory to assure themselves of at least a tie for the conference title and its accompanying trip to the Rose Bowl.

Wisconsin, beaten in the Big Ten family only by Ohio State, still has bowl hopes and Badger Coach Ivy Williamson claims he knows how to stop J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates.

At East Lansing, Michigan State, the other main candidate for the Big Ten crown, engages Michigan in the television game of the day. The Spartans figure to win. If they do they'll finish the conference with a 5-1 record.

Illinois was ranked third in the nation in this week's Associated Press poll. Michigan State was No. 4.

Maryland, the No. 2 club plays host to Mississippi, No. 11. Like Notre Dame and West Virginia, Maryland is unbeaten. It was at this point last year too. Then came Mississippi and a 21-14 licking. It looks as if it will be close again.

Fifth-ranking Georgia Tech headlines the Southeastern Conference's top attraction at Birmingham against Alabama, where the Crimson Tide are reported to be upset-minded.

Oklahoma has a chance to become the first club to receive a major bowl bid this season. The Sooners entertain outclassed Iowa State while Kansas State, the second-place team in the Big Seven Conference, is the underdog against Missouri. An Oklahoma victory and a Kansas State loss would wind up the Big Seven race, which carries an Orange Bowl invitation. Oklahoma is ranked No. 6.

UCLA returns to action against Washington after a week's rest. The seventh-ranking Bruins, very much in the Western hall of the Rose Bowl picture, can tie for the Coast Conference lead since Stanford will be playing an outside date with San Jose State.

Baylor's Bears expect to start another winning streak at the expense of Houston and Texas, conquerors of the Bears last week, enters Texas Christian.

The U.S. Census Bureau estimates that another person is added to the population of America every 13 seconds, on the average.

Phants Close Season In Conference Game

By WAYNE BISHOP

Reflector Sports Writer

The Greenville Phantoms write "finals" to a long and ill-fated football season tonight.

They will travel to Roanoke Rapids to meet the Yellow Jackets in a Northeastern Conference game. With both teams riding long losing streaks, the only thing at stake in the contest is fifth place in the seven-team conference standings. Jacksonville has already wrapped up the cellar position with six losses but tonight's loser will drop down only a half-game ahead.

The G-men will enter the contest with no less than five key players out of uniform. The injured list includes Captain and end Bobby Conway. He is out with a shoulder injury.

Other absentees include halfbacks Mitchell Johnson and Joe Taft, quarterback Pat Sawyer, and tackle Dixie Hobgood. Johnson and Taft are sidelined with illnesses. Sawyer has a bad shoulder and a bad knee. Hobgood has a severe knee injury sustained last week in the Greenville loss to Elizabeth City.

The Phantoms have won only two games thus far this year. They knocked off Wilson 12-0 in their opener and then bounded Jacksonville 44-0 in the second game. Since that time, however, they have dropped consecutive games to Fayetteville, Kinston, Washington, Mount Airy, New Bern, Rocky Mount, and Elizabeth City. Their conference record is one win (over Jacksonville) and four losses (Kinston, Washington, New Bern, and Elizabeth City).

Tonight's starting line-up has Harris Northrop and Harold Edwards at the ends, Howard King and Tommy Smith at the tackles, Jerry Phillips and Bobby Nunn at the guards, Sam Winchester at center, George Sideris at quarterback, Bob Howell and James Speight at the halfback posts, and Bobby Langston at fullback.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Orange Bowl's two-year pact with the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conferences will be formally signed Sunday at a meeting in Washington, D. C.

Under the agreement concluded recently, these conferences will provide the Orange Bowl teams for the next two New Year's Day games.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—The old question of whether Charlotte becomes a member of the South Atlantic Baseball League has bobbed up again—right in the middle of the football season.

President Robert E. Hipps of the Tri-State League, of which Charlotte is now a member, told Mayor Kenneth Cass of Greenville, S. C., yesterday that the entry of Greenville hinges on the decision of Charlotte and the Sally loop.

On the other hand Greenville also wants in the Sally, but will be happy to take Tri-State as a second choice. Since Greenville once was in the Sally, it appears that its chances are better than Charlotte in getting its choice.

Meanwhile, Charlotte must decide by Dec. 1, in order to remain in the Tri-State or face the possibility of being in neither league.

Technical Staff Of Thornton Wilder Play

Student members of the technical staff of Thornton Wilder's satiric comedy "The Skin of Our Teeth" were responsible for much of the success of the play, produced this week by the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina College in three performances. Shown here in a pre-performance conference with Dr. Joseph A. Withey of the faculty, director, (right), are front row, left to right, Edith Rogers of Raleigh, Dr. Withey; second row, Jean Jones of Raleigh, Pauline Armstrong of New Bern, and Virginia Reed of Kinston; and back row, William Fenuel of Goldsboro, Cecil Roberson of Henderson, Marcia Milne of Rocky Mount, and Ernest L. White, Jr., of Waynesboro, Va.

Well directed, effectively staged, and competently acted, Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" opened the 1953-1954 season successfully for the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina College in the College Theatre.

This performance was the first in a series of three. The play was presented Wednesday and Thursday night, and Friday night at 8:15 in the College Theatre. The Pulitzer Prize play, a satirical comedy combining the ridiculous and the philosophical and noted for its originality in stage technique, was a challenging undertaking for the student players. It might well have missed fire, it did not.

The tempo performance has been and the story of the struggles of the Antrobus family for survival through the ages moved toward its climax at a fast pace.

The cast was well chosen, and both principals and those in minor parts gave creditable interpretations of their roles. Faye Sermons of Greenville made an attractive Sabina, and her characterization of the "eternal female" combined a pleasing sense of humor with the requisite allure and sophistication.

Percy Wilkins of Benson, as the Mr. Antrobus of the production, portrayed effectively Man in his moments of grandeur and of folly as he meets such crises as the Ice Age, the Flood, and War.

Nancy Cooke of Dunn as Mrs. Antrobus gave an especially good performance in her role of wife, mother, and preserver of the race. Douglas Mitchell of Greenville as Henry and Marie Vines of Washington, D.C., as the fortune teller also deserve special mention.

Others in the cast include: Robert Hill, Goldsboro; Dock Smith, Princeton; Charles Hill, Jacksonville; Jimmy Walton, Lexington; Ben Wolverton, Greenville; Thomas Pierce, Robert Gardner, and James Corum, Rocky Mount; Betty Sue Gay, Dunn; Rachel Mun-

Quicker Cure By Umstead Notes Ruling Anti-TB Drugs Would Upset Old Ones

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — Potent new anti-tuberculosis drugs can cut in half the hospital stay of many TB patients, with home treatment completing the cure, four Pittsburgh physicians said today. This go-home-early method seems to work successfully for persons who respond to drugs, they told the American Public Health Assn.

Of 173 men and women sent home early, only seven later had to return to the hospital, said doctors Merle Bundy, George E. Martin, Linhope Alexander and Carl C. Kuehn, Pittsburgh Department of Health.

For the persons who react well to the drug, the usual long hospital stay is being reduced 50 per cent. But, they said, this new treatment method needs further study to determine its real value.

Patients visit a clinic each month and careful tabs are kept upon them in their home treatment. Isoniazid streptomycin and PAS are the drugs used in the hospital and continued at home for one to two years. No bad reactions have been noted from the daily doses of these drugs, Dr. Bundy said.

Of 111 patients taking isoniazid at home, only three failed to stay well. Of 62 taking streptomycin and PAS, four had to return.

RALEIGH (AP) — If the U. S. Supreme Court abolishes segregation in public schools it will have to upset a long list of previous decisions, Gov. Umstead declared yesterday.

Umstead made the point at his news conference after indicating he is hopeful the court will not abolish segregation in the public schools.

"I'm not conceding or assuming that the Supreme Court is going to abolish segregation," he stated in answer to questions. "There will be plenty of time for me to assume that after the court does it. I'm not going to encourage them to do it by assuming."

The governor told the newsmen that word of Motor Vehicle Commissioner Edward Scheidt's safety program has spread to other states. He said Gov. Elmer Anderson of Minnesota had written asking for details of the safety program.

The governor confirmed rumors that the Southern Railway has been dickered with a view to taking over the operation of the "Old Mullet Line" between Goldsboro and Morehead City.

He said officials of the Southern have held preliminary conferences with officials of the Atlantic and East Carolina Railroad which operates the line under a state lease having some 30 years to run. H. P. Edwards of New Bern, AEC board chairman and general

Farmville News

The Farmville high school senior class will present their play, "Here Comes the Prince," Friday, Nov. 13, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

Written by Anne Coulter Martens, the play is a three-act farce comedy. Terry is engaged to Carol and never even suspects that Joan loves him. Carol is a glamor girl and Joan is just a good pal. When Carol learns a Prince is coming, she promptly gives Terry the air. She's dreaming dreams of European castles. Joan comes to Terry's and Carol has ordered him out of the house, so Joan dresses him up as the new cook.

Plenty of fun follows, for Terry is always making blunders and trying to dodge the sly caresses of Winks, the sentimental butler. Joan has rigged herself out as the Prince and intends to put on an act that will make Carol so sick of royalty that she'll go back to Terry and make him happy.

Then oh, horrors, the real prince arrives! What's more, he is followed by Sonya, an impetuous foreign beauty, who comes into the quiet household like a little whirlwind! To add to the fun and excitement, there are an absent-minded professor, an ambitious social climber and her daughter, a self-made man and an adorable grandma.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Leviticus 25:18-22; Deuteronomy 8:11-18; Psalm 24:1; Malachi 3:7-10; Matthew 25:14-30; Luke 12:15-34; 21:1-4; 1 Corinthians 16:2.

"The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof, the world, and they that dwell therein."—Psalm 24:1. Remembering this always, we should thank Him daily for His blessings.

Jehovah ordered the Israelites to let their lands lie fallow for a time, and He would send them plentiful harvests for six years, enough to feed them for three years.

St. Luke tells of Jesus watching people bringing offerings to the temple; He said the poor widow's mite was more worthy than that of all the rich, for she gave her all.

Paul wrote the Corinthians that on the first day of the week each one should lay by him in store as God hath prospered him.—1 Cor. 1:2. MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 24:1.

Good Stewards of God's Gifts

LET US NEVER FORGET TO THANK THE LORD FOR HIS BLESSINGS

Scripture—Leviticus 25:18-22; Deuteronomy 8:11-18; Psalm 24:1; Malachi 3:7-10; Matthew 25:14-30; Luke 12:15-34; 21:1-4; 1 Corinthians 16:2.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. "THE EARTH is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof, the world, and they that dwell therein."

How many of us who appreciate the beauties and the tremendous number of earth's products that make our lives comfortable remember to give thanks for them, as David did? All the fruitful acres of land are His, all the seas, the rivers, mountains, plants, birds, flowers, trees. All the riches of the earth are His also—its gold and silver, precious stones, coal, iron, uranium, and so on and on, and all the peoples and tribes that live on the earth's bounty are His too; He created them.

The smallest members of a class may have their attention called to these things and be asked to tell of the special beauties which they have seen that impressed them. Every child should be brought up to appreciate earth's beauties and riches. In Leviticus we are told of God's ideal for Israel concerning you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." The minimum that a Jew was supposed to contribute toward the Lord's work was the amount of his earnings. That was the compact between Jehovah and Israel. When they contributed less, they were not keeping their part of the compact.

Most Gentile churches do not tithe, and the problem of how much we should contribute to carry on the church's work is left to us. For a lesson on how best we can use God's gifts, we are referred again to the parable of the talents. A wealthy man was about to go on a long journey. He called three of his servants to him, and entrusted the ablest (presumably) with five talents; the next with two, and the last with one.

On his return he demanded an accounting. The one with five talents had doubled them; the one with two had done the same; but the one with only one had buried

Utilities Counting On $715,287 Net Income

The Greenville Utilities Commission has spent a total of $417,291.42 of its $1,368,821.54 budget for the 1953-54 fiscal year, according to a monthly financial report released by Utilities Business Manager Larry Brown.

The report showed that during the first four months of the fiscal year, which began July 1, the water department spent $42,695.30 of its allocated $138,392.60; the sewer department has used up $8,712.07 of its $21,096.75; the electrical department spent $284,170.31 out of its allotted $914,642.79; $47,254.51 has been spent on rural electric lines out of $147,796.98; and the gas department has spent $36,459.23 from its allotted $146,892.42.

The Utilities Commission expects to show a net income of $715,287.00 this year, according to the report. $279,076.17 of this amount has been spent so far for improvements and retirement of bonds. The Commission has also turned over to the city $47,500 of the allocated $142,500 from this amount.

In the monthly report, a treasurer balance of $197,457.20 was shown on October 1. Receipts from October 1-31 were $170,315.93 and disbursements were $178,112.36 leaving a treasurer balance of $189,660.77 on October 31.

Broken down into departments for the month of October, the report shows the water department had a gross income of $19,131.72; expenses of $12,960.01, and a net revenue of $6,171.71. The city electric department, gross income $99,936.76, expenses, $73,604.01, net revenue, $26,332.75. Rural electric department, gross income, $36,941.52, expenses, $29,294.51, net revenue, $7,737.01.

The gas department showed an income of $9,770.28 during October with expenses of $11,610.48 and a monthly deficit of $1,840.20. Brown said that this deficit was a seasonal thing which is made up in other months.

The report showed that 42 rural electric customers were added in October, 12 sewer taps were added, and 11 water taps were made.

The report also indicated that the Town of Ayden bought 453,600 kilowatt hours of electricity from the Greenville Utilities at a cost of $5,578.48; Winterville bought 88,480 kilowatt hours for $1,339.72; Grimesland purchased 155,700 kilowatt hours for $2,086.40; and the Pitt-Greene Electrical Co-operative bought 57,000 at a cost of $920.72.

Makes Plea For Peace In Armistice Day Address

"The sanctity of freedom, the true armistice the end of all wars, lies in our heart," Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College told an audience and guests on the campus at an Armistice Day observance held Tuesday at noon in the Austin auditorium.

Cadets of the college Air Force ROTC and representatives of the local American Legion post took part in the program. The event has become an annual observance on the East Carolina campus.

Dean Jenkins pointed out as a paradox of modern life "man's triumph over nature in the sphere of theoretical and applied science and his tragic inability to live with his neighbor." This paradox, he said, "is no longer of more academic interest, but a matter of life and death."

Drawing attention to the destructive power of the atomic, the hydrogen, and the cobalt bombs, he said: "Man holds in his hands the means of sudden total destruction. Accompanying this fact is the inescapable corollary — unless he learns to live with his neighbor, he will destroy himself."

Asking "What can we do about this threat to our existence?" Dean Jenkins answered, "The threat is not atomic energy as such. The threat is not in our disordered society, as such. The threat is really in the human heart. In like manner the solution does not rest in treaties, or pacts, or agreements; the solution does not rest in the United Nations. The solution rests in the human heart."

Cadet Officers' Club Organized

Cadet officers of the Air Force ROTC Wing at East Carolina College have completed organization of a Cadet Officers Club for the 1953-1954 term. Club leaders have been chosen and a program of activities begun.

Robert K. Williams, Greenville senior, will head the club as president during the present school year. Other officers are: L. Calvin Butt, Hertford, vice president; Major I. Hooper, Stumpy Point, secretary; Robert E. Hicks, Deep Run, treasurer; and William Tucker, Winterville, assistant treasurer.

Capt. Thomas W. Harper of the Air Force ROTC staff is acting as advisor to the group.

Among activities now being carried on by committees of the club are planning a club room for the organization and making arrangements for the annual military ball at the college, which is scheduled for Saturday night, March 6, 1954.

Tar Heel Natives Make Up 98% Of ECC Enrollees

Almost 98 per cent of the 2206 students now enrolled for classes on the East Carolina College campus are North Carolinians, and the college is providing training this quarter for men and women from 84 counties extending from Cherokee to Dare.

Registrar Orval L. Phillips of the college has just released figures indicating that 2132 of the 2,206 students now enrolled at East Carolina are North Carolinians; 89 come from other states; and five represent foreign countries.

Pitt County, where the college is located, leads in enrollment with 316 men and women students at the college. The ten counties with the next highest enrollments are Lenoir, 108; Beaufort, 88; Wayne, 74; Duplin, 69; Wake, 67; Nash, 66; Martin, 62; Halifax, 61; Johnston, 59; and New Hanover, 59.

Virginia, which has an enrollment of 47 students, leads other states. Registered at the college are students from New Jersey, New York, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Maryland.

Foreign countries represented at East Carolina are Peru, Nicaragua, Honduras, and Norway.

The Cat's Paw

Charlotte Morgan's cats tried to tell her something when she returned to her apartment late the night before Christmas Eve, after a long, bitter day of trying desperately to keep her mind on her creative advertising work in the hostile offices of the hated "King." She still could feel the eyes of Eric Hay burning into the back of her neck. She was serving a sentence, couldn't quit. The next day, while other office workers are holding Yule parties, "The King" postpones a staff meeting from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. While waiting, Charlotte admits to herself that she is in love with Eric. At the afternoon conference she notices red blisters on the wrists of Kingsley Cummings—"The King." She surmises that he is allergic to cats. Alone in her apartment Christmas Eve, Charlotte answers the phone twice. The second call is her mother's.

CHAPTER FIVE
 WHAT had her father been like, really? Charlotte strained to recapture him—to see a face, hear a voice, touch a reality. She knew that he had been tall, rather good-looking, in fact, with eyes as blue as the sky he lived beneath. But what was in the eyes? She'd never looked to see had she? What had he thought about in his fields? What was behind his habitual quiet—peace or pain or simply nothing?
 He had built her a swing and a dollhouse brought her a red purse and taken her to the circus. From time to time he had let her pick a kitten or a puppy from a litter, and had allowed her to keep a yellow duckling and a black chick to grow up as beloved and useless pets. Such things Charlotte remembered. But not the individual, not the stranger beyond reach whom now belatedly she mourned.
 Her mother had met him when she was eighteen. She had come over from her home in New York City to spend the summer on her aunt's farm. In August she had eloped with Edgar Morgan. Charlotte couldn't imagine her father eloping. Or had a flame gone out in him later, unfed by the head-high, fastidious wife? Tragedy of waste: two people ill-met and married. Now Charlotte could understand it. But not then, after her mother left.

 More and more, as she went into the terrible teens, Charlotte withdrew into herself, a lid locked. She spent tormented hours in her room, brooding over her mother's photograph, her emotions ambivalent. Loving her mother yet hating her, blaming her but blaming her father more. Somehow, it was his fault, somehow he had failed. But neither parent had thought of her nobody wanted her.
 Charlotte was sullen and silent with the ill-tempered woman who kept house for them and with the neighbors who came to call. She felt that because she looked so exactly like that other Charlotte Morgan, her mother, they all expected her to turn out bad, too. Everyone is against me.

It didn't matter what people thought, since you hated them. Nothing mattered except to show them—to prove to them that you needed no one; not a father, certainly not a mother. The thing was to make a plan and have the determination to follow through. Somehow she would get educated, though the farm was losing money every year. And then she'd be a success, across the river, in bright, beckoning New York.
 Edgar Morgan, feeling a failure, aware of Charlotte's censure, which she took no trouble to hide, spent more and more time in his fields. And one spring day in her senior year, he fell dead in the freshplowed earth, as though he had dug his own grave.
 "That's the coldest girl you ever saw," folks whispered. "Didn't shed one tear at her poor father's funeral."
 But it was the used-up emotions, the paralysis inside.
 New York. From the first she'd loved its anonymity, known it was her town. Here she could be anything, within reason. Here, where ambitions rose high as the surging buildings, and the city seemed to pulse with the heartbeat of the millions. She would make money, and she would have clothes, a smart apartment. She would hear concerts and see shows, go to the sort of restaurants one read about. She would become one of the chic career creatures one also read about, a graduate of the finishing school that was New York. She would show—everybody... whatever it took, besides brains.

HERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

 The next four years were all alike. By day she clerked in Macy's. In the teeming basement. In hosiery. In lingerie. In Better Dresses. Service with a smile. Yes, madam; no madam; thank you. If you could see yourself as others see you, madam.
 By night she rushed off to school, then home again to study, hunched up in the uncomfortable straight chair in the uncomfortable rooming house cubicle that was too hot in summer, cold and cheerless in winter.
 Play—what was play? Sometimes after class she had a cup of coffee and a hamburger with some boy who couldn't afford more

Plague Of Flies On British Coast

LONDON (AP)—Eight English seaside resorts appealed today for government aid against a plague of black flies which hitch-hiked across the Atlantic on floating seaweed.
 Millions of the insects have appeared on the beaches.
 But experts say the flies are a type common along the eastern coast of North America.
 Attacks by flame thrower and helicopter-sprayed insecticide have failed to budge the pests.

 The resorts fear the flies will drive away vacationers unless wiped out before next spring.

POND POINTER
 CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — The University of Illinois agriculture department offers farmers a rule-of-thumb for determining the right size for a farm pond. The experts say a good ratio is three to five acres of watershed for each acre-foot of water storage capacity.
 The ancient Druids believed that the dead atoned for their sins by residing in the bodies of animals.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—The stock market was mixed today with trading subdued.

Prices spread out over a range of around a point either way with many leading issues holding unchanged.

Trading hit a rate of about a million and a quarter shares for the day. That compares with 1,300,000 shares traded yesterday.

It was apparent that the market was suffering from the neglect that has become customary on Friday when more attention is given to plans for the weekend rather than to spot trading.

Railroads were mixed but higher on balance. Others in that same category included oils, motion pictures, coppers, chemicals, rubbers and distillers.

The aircrafts were unchanged to lower, and the others, and steels also were lower on balance.

Higher stocks included Nickel Plate, Sinclair Oil, American Cyanamid, and U. S. Steel. Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker, Union Carbide, Douglas Aircraft, and American Telephone.

CHICAGO—(USDA)—Salable hogs 9,000; general market active, 15-35; higher on butchers; sows lower; unevenly 25 to as much as 75 lower; good shipping demand; most choice 180-200 lb butchers 20.50-20.85; few lots 20.90 and double deck choice 21 lb 21.00; most 350-500 lb sows in large lots 17.00-19.00; few up to 600 lb and over down to 16.50 and below; good clearance.

Salable cattle 1,500; salable calves 300; slaughter steers and heifers scarce, nominally steady; cows steady to 50 lower, mostly steady to weak; no inquiry for bulls; vealers about steady; odd head choice steers sold up to 25.50; commercial to high-good grades 14.50-21.00; few choice 876 lb heifers 22.50; utility and commercial cows 8.75-11.00; canners and cutters 6.00-8.50; most strong weight canners and cutters 7.00-8.50; commercial to choice vealers 15.00-22.00; cull and utility grades 5.00-14.00.

NEW YORK—The stock exchange member firm of Hornblower Weeks today entered the cotton brokerage business.

The company announced it is acquiring the business and staff of Scatterly Jones, a New York cotton brokerage house. Scatterly offices at Charlotte, N. C., Memphis, Tenn. and Dallas, Tex. will be taken over by Hornblower but managers will continue in their present positions.

Cayton B. Jones, a senior partner in the Scatterly firm, will become a limited partner with Hornblower. Under his supervision, Clayton B. Jones Jr. will head the company's cotton department.

RALEIGH—(NCDA)—Cotton prices steady to slightly stronger. Opening quotations at North Carolina markets based on 1 1/2-32-inch staple length:

Middling—Lumberton and Tarboro 34.00

Strict low middling — Tarboro 33.00, Lumberton 32.50.

Colored News Car And Truck In Mishap Today

Mrs. Louise Cannon, 1218 Dayenport St., died Wednesday afternoon in Pitt Memorial Hospital. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at English Chapel Church, with the pastor, Rev. S. Hembry, officiating.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Minnie Edney of the home; four sons, Cpl. Jessie Cannon, now stationed in England, Robert Cannon of Winston-Salem, Robert and Ray Cannon of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Nora Johnson of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Grace Saunders of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Lee Bizzell of Ayden and Mrs. Blanche Payton of the home; three brothers of the home; seven foster children; six grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends.

A car and truck collided early this morning in Hillsdale causing damage estimated at over $250 by city police.

The truck was driven by John H. Rooke, 55, of 2619 Sunset Avenue, and the car by Roger A. Hollingsworth, 52, of 2516 Sunset Avenue, Greenville.

Officer H. H. McGowan, investigating officer, reported no injuries or arrests.

The friends of Mrs. Rosie Green will regret to learn that she is ill in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The Junior Ladies Auxiliary of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church will meet with Mrs. Mamie Hall on McKinley Ave. Sunday at 5 p.m.

Negro Farm Leaders In Five-County Meet Here

Negro agriculture leaders from a five-county area attended a training meeting at the Pitt County Office building yesterday designed to acquaint them with the Farmer's Home Administration program and services.

Attending the session were Negro county agents, home agents, vocational agricultural teachers, and veteran instructors from Martin, Edgecombe, Pitt, Greene and Beaufort counties. Three members of the staff of North Carolina A & T College in Greensboro also attended.

Representatives of the Farmer's Home Administration conducted sessions concerning various phases of the Farmer's Home Administration's loan program.

These included Ralph Rogers farm management specialist for Pitt and Greene counties; Jim Eubank of Martin county; John Stallings, Edgecombe county; F. V. Harris, Beaufort county; and also F. V. Harris, State production officer and Marion Holland, State field representative.

For the second half of the program, Comer Eagles of the Soil Conservation Office took the group to the farm of Edison Cannon, Negro, who obtained a Farmer's Home Administration loan. Eagles pointed out that in order for Cannon to have his loan approved it was necessary first for a complete drainage plan to be worked out with the representatives of the Soil Conservation Service. The drainage plan was a part of the complete soil conservation plan which included 24 acres of pastures and 36 acres of crop land which is being planted under a soil conserving crop rotation plan.

The group was shown the improvements made on the farm after Cannon obtained the FHA loan. Eagles pointed out that provisions has been made for a drag line canal through the farm and tile was ready to be installed to drain the wet spots on the farm.
