

President Says Americans Can't Live In Fear

Hopes Red Issue Will Fade

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he hopes his administration's clean up in Washington will eliminate the Communist-in-government issue from next year's political campaign. The President told a news conference he has said his last word, at least for the time being, on the Harry Dexter White case. Then, in a generalization in response to questions, he said he does not believe Americans can afford to live in fear of each other forever. He said he cheerfully acknowledges the responsibility of the executive departments to clean out Communists from the government. Progress along this line had been demonstrated by a recent report of the separation of 1,450 persons from the federal payroll for security reasons he added. Firmly, Eisenhower declared there is no one more active in opposition to communism as an ideology than he is. Whenever communism presses in on us, he said he will be in the front rank of those who are opposing it.

Advised Against Retaining Harry White In Gov't Service

FBI Head Opposed Truman Move

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's dramatic disclosure that he opposed — but bowed to — former President Truman's decision to keep Harry Dexter White in government today fanned new political controversy in the spectacular case. A reporter cited the statement of Hoover's spokesman that the director had said he was "imminently involved and then he would speak out." He added however, that he sincerely trusts that the need for investigations of communists in government will be eliminated. A reporter cited the statement of former President Truman, in reply to charges made by Atty. Gen. Brownell in the White case, that the Eisenhower administration had embraced "McCarthyism."

But the attorney general conceded, under sharp questioning by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), that it was a matter of "judgment," that he said he was not "impugning" Truman's loyalty as the former President had claimed in asserting that Brownell "led to the American people."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.), noting these suggestions, had the blunt comment: "I'm not interested." Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, jumped into the controversy with a statement that Truman was "lax in his official duties and showed great disrespect to the Senate" in not permitting it to know of the FBI report about White before it considered the latter's appointment. Knowland said that as a witness, Brownell was "factual and devastating in showing the carelessness with which the Truman administration proceeded in dealing with security problems."

Farm Bureau Federation Approves Resolution

Endorse Leaf Acreage Cut

RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation has called for a 5 per cent cut in the flue-cured tobacco acreage allotment for 1954. The federation approved a resolution urging the reduction as it concluded its 18th annual convention yesterday. The delegates approved several other resolutions and re-elected the following officers: G. Gordon Maddrey Aoshkie, president; R. Flake Shaw, Greensboro executive vice president; and M. A. Morgan of Smithfield, Zeno Ponder of Marshall and A. D. Williams of Wilson, vice presidents. Before urging a cut in the flue-cured tobacco acreage, the federation defeated a move to ask for no reduction and another calling for a 10 per cent cut. M. A. Hester of Forsyth County recommended a 10 per cent reduction, asserting that the Old Belt "takes a licking every year" regardless of weather. For the last six years, Hester said, Old Belt growers have seen tobacco prices drop before the end of the selling season. He declared, "The situation has developed where the buyers get all their wants before we get half through our market. Then we take the loss. We are fast being railroaded out of tobacco production."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators introduced evidence today that former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder promoted Harold Glasser in 1946 after FBI reports had linked Glasser with Harry Dexter White in Soviet espionage. In what for him was precedent-breaking testimony, Hoover told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee at a crowded, televised hearing yesterday that he advised against retaining White, who had been named in an FBI report as a spy suspect. The ruddy-faced FBI director said firmly he had never committed his agency to any such arrangement, which he said would have been "inconceivable" for it and "not within my purview."

Hoover also said two Truman Cabinet members involved did not favor keeping White in government service. Atty. Gen. Brownell, who preceded Hoover as a witness yesterday, said any "reasonable man" would have to conclude that Truman kept White as a spy when he appointed him. Miss Fanny White, 70, a sister of Harry Dexter White, said in Boston Brownell's charges are "false, all false." She said her brother, who died in 1948 after swearing he was not a spy, "loved this country" and "had no respect for Russia."

Hoover, greeted with applause as he took the stand, unfolded a carefully worded story of back-stage maneuvering in the Truman Cabinet during February 1946. For him it was unusual testimony about an individual case. He previously has limited himself to discussion of legislation and funds to operate his department. Testifying in a firm voice, he said that on Nov. 7, 1945, Elizabeth Bentley had detailed to the FBI her activities as an espionage ring courier and that a letter, dated the following day, was sent to Brig. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, then Truman's military aide, listing White's name among others as possible members of an espionage ring. He said this was followed Nov. 27 by a 71-page memorandum on Soviet espionage activities, delivered to Vaughan Dec. 4.

Hoover said that when he learned White's nomination to the monetary fund post had been submitted to the Senate Jan. 23, 1946, he sent Vaughan on Feb. 4 a 28-page report on White. He said that in the period from Nov. 8, 1945, to July 24, 1946, seven communications were sent to the White House mentioning White's name.

Can't Do It

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, shunting aside the Harry Dexter White case at his news conference, said today he does not believe the federal budget can be balanced in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. He also said the administration probably won't know until next month whether it will ask Congress to increase the national debt ceiling of 275 billion dollars. He gave two reasons for his belief a balanced budget can not be achieved in the fiscal year beginning next July: One, he said, was the need of tax adjustments, to remove injustices. He indicated this would necessitate some loss in revenue. He gave expenses of the farm program as the other reason. Eisenhower said these are unusually high because of the drought and related problems.

Hear Kidnaper Told Mother Her Son Still Alive

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government expects to wrap up its death demand today for the kidnaper of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease whose mother confronted them in federal court with the lie they told to get $600,000 in ransom. In an unflinching voice, she testified yesterday that Carl Austin Hall, the 24-year-old wastrel, repeatedly assured her that her only son was alive even though he had been slain soon after his kidnapping. Her multimillionaire husband, Robert C. Greenlease, sat only a few feet from Hall. The 71-year-old automobile dealer watched her closely as she talked. He had been there all day, listening to her government press its case for the death penalty for Hall and his alcoholic lover, divorcee Bonnie Brown Heady. Both have pleaded guilty. At times his jaw tightened. His teeth clenched. And occasionally he would study Hall, who served in World War II as a Marine only to come back to a life of crime. Beside him sat Robert Lederman of Tulsa, Okla., his business associate, who had acted as an intermediary. Mrs. Greenlease's voice was firm as she told of her first talk over the telephone with the kidnaper last Oct. 4, six days after her boy's abduction. A federal jury charged solely with determining whether Hall and Mrs. Heady should die, listened attentively as she related the first telephone conversation: "I said, 'This is Mrs. Greenlease. We are willing and ready to pay the money, but first I must know that my son is alive and well.' He said, 'I can assure you your son is alive and well.'"

Silver Dollar Clue In Robersonville Murder

Suspect Robbery In Slaying

By BOB BOYETTE Reflector Staff Writer ROBERSONVILLE—Police Chief W. T. Smith reported this morning that he recovered a silver dollar last night that may be connected with the murder of a 69 year old Negro, whose body was found Monday. The police chief said he recovered the silver dollar, made in 1884, from the pocketbook that belongs to the wife of Ernest Everett Station, 28, who has confessed to the slaying of John Robert Hassell, a veteran mill employee whose body was found buried under sawdust at the mill here Monday. "It was generally known that Hassell carried a silver dollar made in 1884, his birth year," Smith said. Investigating officers said they had learned that on Sunday prior to the murder at Station had said he needed money and was going to get it. He also said, officers stated he was going to kill that man and get his job and if anyone approached him about the killing he would kill his wife and children. Hassell's body was found buried in sawdust under the Taylor Mill and Gin Company here at 10:45 a.m. Monday. Police said that he had been robbed of more than $100. Police Chief Smith said this morning that $130 was found in a machinist book at Station's home. He stated that he does not know for sure if that was the money robbed from Hassell. "Station was a mechanic helper and not an understudy to Hassell as had been reported earlier," the chief continued, "and Station was called to fire the boiler Monday when Bentley did not show up."

Survivor Says Paratroopers' Plane 'Hit Something'

Plane Mishap Kills 25 Men

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—A big C119 Flying Boxcar hurtled to earth during a mass paratrooper drop here yesterday, killing 15 men aboard and 10 floating from parachutes in its path. The plane apparently dropped engine trouble during a drop of about 1,000 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division. The drop, a 32-transport training project, was part of a conference on joint airborne operations. The pilot co-pilot, two other Air Force crewmen and a paratrooper rode the falling plane to their deaths. The paratrooper was unable to jump because a shovel, part of his heavy equipment, caught on the jump door. The toll would have been heavier had not 38 paratroopers riding the plane jumped as it was falling. The other victims had jumped from companion planes in the flight and were hit as the crippled plane descended. One of the crash survivors, Sgt. I. C. Hubert Sluss of Bristol, Va., said two "sticks" of 19 men each were waiting to bail out when "the plane hit something that sounded like two automobiles hitting. I hollered for the guys to jump but some of them just seemed to stand there." Sluss, a "pusher" whose job is to see that the men jump on signal, said the plane "started to weave and equipment was thrown into the aisle. The men were stumbling over that trying to get out. A couple of the boys fell down and we threw them out. It probably hit something that was in the falling plane and which had their 'chutes collapsed in its wake. Scores of horrified observers watched the second major training accident at this sprawling army base in three months. Twenty soldiers drowned here Sept. 2 when an engineer pontoon boat capsized on a lake. The plane was attached to the 746th Squadron of the 48th Troop Carrier Wing at the Charleston, S. C., Air Force Base. Maj. M. R. Fowler, public information officer of the 18th Airborne Corps, said it was flying at about 2,000 feet before starting its dive. Fowler said the pilot veered sharply to the left, apparently trying to avoid hitting more of the drifting parachutists. Sluss reported he and Sgt. Jesse Arrington of Newport News, Va., saw a burning man inside the plane after it hit. A board of officers began an investigation.

Dulles Says Soviet Rulers Live In Fear

CLEVELAND (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russian rulers have refused to talk with the West about European problems because of fear for their control over peoples behind the Iron Curtain. "The Soviet rulers have retreated into a diplomatic 'defensiveness,'" the secretary declared. "The free world now has the diplomatic and moral initiative."

Korea Negotiators Appear Making Headway

Slight Progress In Parleys

By SAM SUMMERLIN PANJUNGM—Allied and Communist negotiators today appeared to be making some progress in talks to arrange an already long-delayed Korean peace conference. The Communists today turned down an American plan for inviting neutral nations to the full-dress talks. But they apparently abandoned demands for a round-table conference at which neutrals—including Russia—would have a full voice. The Reds suggested instead that neutral nations attend the conference as a third party to insure a "harmonious atmosphere," but with almost no voting power. U. S. special envoy Arthur Dean said the vaguely worded Red plan needed clarifying and asked the Reds a series of questions. The viewed. Communists indicated they would answer at tomorrow's meeting. Elsewhere in Korea there were increasing signs that the Communists might not resume interviews with Chinese and Korean war prisoners who have refused to go home. The Indian command said there would be no interviews tomorrow and a spokesman said he had no idea when the explanations would resume. The Reds talked to 227 Koreans Monday—the first interviews in 10 days—but the program has been insisted on seeing POWs from the same compound who were not interviewed Monday. The Indians have told the Communists to talk to an entire 500-man compound in a single day or forget those who are not interviewed. Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett who often reflects official Red thinking, told Allied newsmen the Communists have given up the idea of a round-table parley in the face of United Nations opposition. This would mean a major Red concession. The Communists said Burchett, now take the stand that the conference be between the belligerents, as the Allies propose, but neutrals attending as a third party to "exercise a harmonizing influence." Bulchett said the neutrals might vote in minor matters such as procedural arrangements. In a second subcommittee meeting Allied and Communist negotiators appeared to be near agreement on a method for deciding when the peace conference will open. The Reds suggested that the date be four weeks after agreement is reached on the first item of the preliminary agenda — composition and place. Dean previously had suggested the full-scale talks start four weeks after the Panmunjom preliminary conversations end. Dean said after the session today that once composition and place are fixed, other arrangements probably could be worked out in a hurry. In the major debate over neutrals, North Korean delegate Ki Sok Bok said "we categorically reject" the companion proposals. Dean offered yesterday to settle the controversy.

Low Bids For School In Grifton Total $86,630

Low bids for Grifton's new elementary school construction totaled $86,630 in a special meeting of the Pitt Board of Education yesterday afternoon. The special meeting of the Board was called at the last regular meeting for the purpose of opening bids for the construction. The low bid on the general construction was for W. G. Dunn of Greenville for $69,600. Turner Electric of La Grange was the low bidder on electrical installation when its bid totaled $2,700. The low bid for plumbing was from W. M. Wiggins of Wilson. That bid was for $4,675. Heating installation was received by Ideal Plumbing and Heating of Greenville for $9,655. Architect plans and supervision will cost $4,331.50 and James W. Griffith of Greenville is the architect. The total cost amounted to $90,961.50 with construction slated to begin about December 1. Board Authorities While at the special meeting the Board of Education authorized Griffith to sketch the Grifton Negro School, showing in his sketch the needs of the school. Plans will be formulated to make the improvements shortly. The Board also authorized the sale of two pieces of property. One is the old School property in St. Johns community near Grifton and the other is the Fountain Negro school lot.

Report Speeds Of 1,272 MPH

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Times aviation editor, Marvin Miles, says the Douglas Skyrocket plane last Oct. 14 reached a new world speed mark of 1,272 miles an hour. Scott Crossfield, 32-year-old pilot for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was at the controls of the swept-wing rocket plane when it exceeded the record of 1,238 miles an hour set Aug. 15, 1951, by Bill Bridgeman. Name Of Tarheel 'Progressive' Is Read Into Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name of Mary Price, who ran for governor of North Carolina as the Progressive Party candidate in 1948, came out during the Harry Dexter White hearing yesterday. Miss Price's name was in a letter read into the record by Atty. Gen. Brownell at a hearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The letter, marked top secret and dated Nov. 8, 1945, was from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover to Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan and told of operations of a "Soviet espionage system."

Letters To Notify 105 Business Firms Their Awnings Too Low

A total of 105 local business firms will begin receiving letters today from City Manager James S. Hughes telling them that their awning in front of their place of business is violating the city ordinance. The City Council asked the city manager to write to the business firms that are violating the city ordinance as amended in 1952, which requires the frame and canvas to be seven feet six inches and seven feet high, respectively. In the letter to those whose awnings are very low and were violating the ordinance prior to the amendment it reads as follows: "A recent survey of the height of awnings in the city reveals that your awning is extremely low. Prior to the amendment the height requirement was seven feet for the frame and six feet-six inches for the canvas. Your awning was found to be below the old minimum. "In order to remove the hazard to pedestrians on the sidewalk, you are requested to have the awning in front of your place of business raised to the requirement of the existing ordinance." In the letter to those whose awning is above the old requirement but below the amended city ordinance it reads: "A recent survey of the height of awnings in the business area of the city reveals that the awning in front of your place of business is below the minimum specified in the city ordinance. "If it is possible to raise the awning to comply with the ordinance without undue expense, you are respectfully requested to do so. In any event, if you re-place or re-

POW Says His Murder Planned

SEOUL (AP)—A South Korean prisoner who escaped Monday from a compound in the neutral zone said today he narrowly avoided execution by pro-Communist POWs. Cpl. Pak Ki Do said he was tried and sentenced to death by a 45-man Communist tribunal holding more than 300 South Koreans reported to have chosen communism. BIG OVERSIGHT MANSFIELD, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas municipal elections were held Nov. 3—except in Mansfield. Officials forgot to have ballots printed in time here, so the voting was not run off until yesterday.

Judge's Trial Is Near Jury Stage

BAYBORO, N. C. (AP)—The bribery trial of former Pamlico County Recorder's Court Judge T. B. Woodard neared its jury stage today, following final arguments by lawyers. Woodard is charged with taking money from A. P. Caton of Pamlico County to return a car seized in a liquor raid to its owner, Herbert Johnson of Farmville. Johnson was convicted of transporting non-tax paid whisky. Testifying yesterday Woodard said he "never received a dollar" in bribes from anyone. He denied he ever took any money from Caton. He said he released the car after County Attorney E. B. Hollowell said it was not worth enough to cover a lien against it. Hollowell, testifying for the state said a motion he made to have the car confiscated was denied by Woodard. Dean had told the Reds the United States is prepared to ask its allies to approve seating neutral nations (1) after settlement of the Korean problem, or (2) if the Korean debate bogged down and addition of other nations "appeared desirable." The Red diplomats said neutrals must be admitted to the conference from the beginning.

Farm Bureau Told Channels Of World Trade Need To Be Opened

By LYNN NISBET RALEIGH (AP)—It is more important and more essential to world peace for the United States to assume moral leadership among the nations than to build economic strength and military might. That was what Raymond Ogg, director of international affairs for the American Farm Bureau Federation, told delegates to the State Farm Bureau convention here. He added that moral leadership is definitely related to economics. The speaker is just back from an extended visit to Europe and he gave first hand report on conditions discovered there. He is definitely convinced that solution of most of the international problems will be found through "trade, not aid." The peoples of the free world must learn to trade with each other. A high level of exports of agricultural is essential to survival of the American farmer, and to sustain this level we must import goods from other countries, in order to close the dollar gap. He said the farmers of America lost more than a billion dollars in exports last year. If we did not export anything we would have to take some 50 million acres out of production. We may have to take out 30 to 35 million acres next year, because of loss in export trade. Translated into dollars and cents, Ogg said that during the past five years we have exported 27 billion worth of produce, about $24 billion of which was paid for with "foreign aid" American dollars. Obviously, that situation cannot prevail indefinitely. After deducting the abnormal war time military spending and foreign aid loans, the speaker said the trade balance was still two and a half billion dollars out of what. Some of the reasons for this condition are obvious, some are difficult to understand. For one thing, price supports on cotton and wheat are so far above world levels that we are practically being priced out of the market on these commodities. Some of our tariffs are entirely too high, amount to as much as 100 percent of the commodity price in some instances, more than 60 percent of base cost in many. The speaker thought the United States should take the lead in re-negotiating international trade agreements and that the President should be given wider powers in this field. One of the chief trade barriers is uncertainty on part of European and other customers about the tariff structure. Ogg said the Farm Bureau policy was to stabilize tariff rates and simplify customs procedure. Development of backward areas in the world in order to provide new markets is an important plank in the Bureau platform. Coordination of domestic price support programs with foreign aid objectives is another. The suggestion has been made that to relieve the situation there might be established a policy of export subsidy or a two-price system, one support price for domestic use and a lower price for export to meet competition. The speaker warned of serious danger in these ideas. They would be resented by other nations which might properly charge the United States with "dumping" goods into the international market. And, he emphasized, we must not forget that the basic policy of the Communists is to "divide and conquer." Mr. Ogg admitted he did not know the answer to these questions. In fact, he said, it wasn't his job to find the answers. He was merely stating the situation as he has seen it and it is up to the farmers and manufacturers and other interests to give their best thought to the problems and out of their composite thinking it is hoped a solution can be found.

Dr. H. G. Haney Guest Speaker At Athenium Book Club

Mrs. T. I. Wagner entertained the Athenium Book Club at a beautiful luncheon on Tuesday. Beside the club members, Mrs. Helen White Hawes, Mrs. Charles Flanagan, Mrs. Ray Minges and Dr. H. G. Haney were additional guests.

The guests were served from an elegantly appointed table in the dining room decorated with the Thanksgiving motif. Mrs. N. O. Warren, Mrs. Charles Flanagan and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan served the table.

After the luncheon the guests assembled in the living room where Dr. H. G. Haney in a teaching plan taught the three books of the Pentateuch, Numbers, Leviticus and Deuteronomy. Dr. Haney said he had always been impressed with the religious tone that most Greenville organizations have and he commended the club for the ambitious plan for studying the Bible this year. He discussed briefly the plan of these first five books of the Bible, and their spiritual significance in the lives of the Jewish people of that day and in the 20th Century.

The club appreciated the talk of this popular minister.

During the business meeting the club voted to buy a TB Seal sale bond.

30 Years Ago Today

November 18, 1923

The city schools have cooperated heartily with the Woman's Club in emphasizing Children's Book Week in the community. During the week an assembly program in the high school was devoted to reading for boys and girls at which time Miss Gray, librarian of Teachers College, made a most interesting and instructive talk. There is no better way to direct children than to help them help themselves, self expression is the key-note to growth. The Woman's Club offered a prize of $2 to the 11th grade pupil writing the best essay on the subject, "My Book Party." Mildred Mangum won this. In the Evans Street School the evening theme on the subject, "Books I have Read From the Public Library and Why I Like Them," was written by Elizabeth Skinner.

Mrs. Striplin Is Speaker For A.A.U.W. Meeting

Mrs. Estella Striplin, member of the staff of the Dean of Women at the College, spoke to the Greenville branch of the AAUW at the November meeting Monday night held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Bowen on Liberty Street. Her subject was her work in the American University in Beirut, Lebanon, where she spent the three years from 1920 to 1923.

The hostesses, Mrs. Bowen, Mrs. Luther Herring and Mrs. Howard Mims, served delicious dessert and coffee.

Mrs. D. S. Spain Jr. presided at the business meeting. New and renewed members were presented by Miss Emma Hooper, chairman of membership committee—Mrs. W. W. Smiley, Mrs. J. O. Derrick and Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins.

Miss Louise Williams, member of the program committee, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Striplin told of her interesting trip to Lebanon by an Egyptian boat, with only three other Americans aboard, and gave her impressions of the American University and the people of Beirut.

She spoke of the influence of the Christian schools on the Moslem people and said that such colleges are being discouraged now in Syria because of that influence. Much of the money that runs the American University, she said, is contributed by the American people. The American University gives work in many fields.

She pointed out the contrast between the position of women there and in the United States, saying that it is really a tragedy to be born a girl in Lebanon.

The speaker told a number of interesting experiences of her life in Beirut and showed some beautiful souvenirs of her three years there.

There will be no December meeting of the AAUW. The next meeting will be held the third Monday night in January.

Tobacco Prices And Volume See Decline

RALEIGH (AP)—The Federal-State Market News Service reported that most average flue-cured tobacco prices on the Middle and Old belts showed a decline yesterday.

Volume was fairly heavy and quality down some on the Middle Belt. Prices were steady to lower, with more losses than gains reported. The second largest volume of the season was reported Monday when 4,140,394 pounds were sold, averaging $41.61, down 60 cents from last Tuesday. The markets were closed Wednesday, Thursday and Friday last week.

Most declines on the Old Belt yesterday were $1 and $2. Declines were centered in lugs and cutters. Other grades held steady. Volume was light to heavy by market.

Old Belt sales Monday totaled 8,002,262 pounds, averaging $43.30, up $1.97 from last Tuesday. This was the heaviest volume of the season. The Rocky Mount, Va., market will close Nov. 25.

Eastern Belt markets sold 3,001,818 pounds Monday, averaging $48.08, up 47 cents from last Tuesday. The Smithfield market will close Nov. 20.

The News Service said Eastern, Old and Middle belts showed declines during October as compared with October, 1952.

The Eastern Belt sold 135,739,036 pounds, averaging $59.04 during October. The 1952 poundage in October was 152,814,022 pounds, averaging $53.48. This season through Oct. 31, the belt sold 415,477,762 pounds, averaging $58.09.

The Middle Belt sold 51,062,310 pounds during October, averaging $48.80. During October, 1952 the belt sold 63,098,364 pounds, averaging $52.29. For the season through October, the belt sold 85,101,782 pounds, averaging $51.02.

For the Old Belt this year's October sales were 32,053,198 pounds, averaging $47.15. During October, 1952, the belt sold 54,927,299 pounds averaging $48.14. The season total for the Old Belt through Oct. 31, is 40,875,022 pounds, averaging $48.21.

Total season's sales for the Border Belt which closed last month were 158,571,898 pounds, averaging $57.91, up $6.03 from 1952. The belt sold 17,106,415 pounds during October, 1953, for an average of $57.35. During October, 1952, the belt sold 16,255,050 pounds, averaging $49.55.

First Messages By Mighty Radio

JIM CREEK VALLEY, Wash. (AP)—The Navy will flash its first messages today to its ships, planes and stations around the world from what it calls the world's mightiest radio transmitter, high in Washington's Cascade Mountains.

Operation of the 14-million-dollar station NLK, utilizing 1,200,000 watts of power, will be started by Adm. Robert Carney, chief of naval operations, while scores of dignitaries and the nation's newsmen look on.

The station, located on a 6,900-acre site 55 miles northeast of Seattle, has been nearly six years on the draft boards and in construction. It will be turned over to the United States by David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America, which built it on contract.

Two parallel 3,000-foot mountain ridges support the 12 towers between which the antenna cables swing—some spanning a distance of 8,700 feet. From the cables trail the wires leading into the transmitter in this valley below.

The rated power, the Navy says, is 22 times greater than the biggest commercial broadcasting station in the United States and twice the power of any military transmitters.

Mr. & Mrs. Mewborn Hosts At Supper

GRIFTON—On Thursday evening Mrs. Robert Mewborn had as guests for supper and bridge members of her contract club and invited players for four tables of bridge. In the living room eye-catching arrangements of varied colored chrysanthemums formed the decorations. As guests arrived they were invited into the dining room where a delectable supper was served. The table was covered with a green and brown linen cloth. The centerpiece was a green bowl with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and tall green candles. Elsewhere berries and late fall blooms were used.

Following supper bridge was played progressively with Mrs. Alton Chapman and Mrs. J. L. Quinerly club high scorers. Mrs. Robert Forney was remembered with the visitor's prize. Other guests were Mesdames L. L. Mewborn, L. D. McCotter, Richard Nelson, J. W. Short, H. P. Quinerly, Dewey Wall, Thurman J. Williams, Jack Tucker, Bill Daves, Miss Hazel Patrick, Miss Bert Johnson and Miss Louise Mewborn.

Bridge Club Is Entertained at Supper

GRIFTON—On Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Hodges were at home to members of their bridge club and additional guests at their home on the Greenville highway. Floral decorations were of exceptional beauty. There were yellow and white chrysanthemums in the living room. In the dining room where supper was served buffet style, the table was covered with a lace cloth and the table held eggnettes with miniature lavender mums, greenery and tall green candles. In the den where the tables were placed for the games, dried arrangements and nasturtiums in vivid orange made pretty decorations.

Mrs. Thurman Williams and Mr. L. L. Mewborn received the club awards for highest scores. The visitor's prizes went to Mrs. Bill Daves and Mr. Robert Forney. Others playing were Mr. Daves, Mr. Forney, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb, Mrs. Mewborn, Mr. Williams, Mrs. W. I. Bissette and Mr. H. C. Oglesby.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Carl Austin Hall, now on trial for the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Greenleaf, worked for a short time last summer as an insurance salesman.

H. G. Sterling, an insurance company representative, said yesterday Hall made only one sale while on the job. The person who bought the hospitalization coverage from him probably won't claim any benefits.

The sale was made to Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, on trial with Hall.

Bible Words to Live by

JOHN 17:20—"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word;..."

My father died during the depression years, while I was in college. Shortly thereafter, I was faced with a problem, about which I wrote my mother and asked her to pray for me. She replied, "Son, your father and I prayed for you before you were born and I am praying for you now." To know that my parents prayed for me before I was born was a source of great encouragement.

Today as I try to face life's many perplexing problems, it encourages my soul to remember that my Lord prayed for me centuries before I came into the world. To remind myself that Jesus included me in his prayer in the face of the Gethsemane and Calvary experiences is most humbling, yet strengthening, encouraging and motivating to my soul to press on to the realization of higher things in life. How grateful I am for Christ as my Saviour who, even today, is at the right hand of God mediating for me.

Regard Dewey As Losing Prestige In Wicks Fight

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Acting Gov. Arthur H. Wicks today was on his way out as Senate leader—but under circumstances viewed as a serious blow to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's political prestige.

Wicks agreed to resign in the near future as majority leader and temporary president of the Senate in return for a promise from his Republican colleagues not to comply with Dewey's demand that he be ousted.

The agreement was reached late yesterday behind closed doors in a dramatic GOP Senate conference. Wicks will submit his resignation before the 1954 session of the Legislature begins in January. Some sources predicted he would resign in the next day or two. He will continue as a senator.

The Dewey camp hailed the outcome as a victory for the governor, who had insisted that Wicks, because of his Sing Sing Prison visits to labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay, quit or else be stripped of his leadership at the special session of the Legislature, which opened yesterday.

A source close to Dewey said, "One thing is clear, despite some face-saving. That is that Wicks is on his way out."

But Wicks forces viewed the turn of events as a major political setback for the governor. For in accepting Wicks' plea that he be permitted to resign after the special session, the Republican Senate majority went counter to Dewey's wishes. Democrats went even further.

Some characterized it as a "repudiation" of Dewey's leadership. They jubilantly began envisaging a decision by Dewey not to seek re-election next year.

Funeral On Thursday For Mrs. Viola Barnes

Mrs. Viola Smith Barnes, 75, died at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Pitt Memorial Hospital after several years of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Thursday afternoon at 2:30 by her pastor, the Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Hollywood Cemetery in Farmville.

Mrs. Barnes was a native of Alabama and came to Pitt County to live in 1916. She was married to Elbert Barnes, who died in 1931. She had made her home in Greenville with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Braxton, since 1942. She was a member of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ola Vincent and Mrs. Grace Braxton of Greenville; two sons, H. G. Barnes of Raleigh and L. B. Barnes of Adger, Ala.; 15 grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Mattie Kirkland of Littlefield, Texas, Mrs. Willie Tomm of Ft. Worth, Texas, Mrs. Daisy Smith and Mrs. Sylvon Greene of Alabama; and three brothers, Wade Smith of Alabama, Ben Smith of Tennessee and Jewell Smith of Alabama.

Open House Honors New Pastor & Family

GRIFTON—On Sunday afternoon members of the Methodist Church held open house in the recreation rooms of the church to honor their new pastor, Rev. R. C. Mooney, and Mrs. Mooney. Throughout, fall flowers of red, yellow and bronze hues made pretty arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chauncey greeted the callers. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cobb introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Mooney, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jackson.

Mrs. John Oglesby poured tea and guests served themselves sandwiches, nuts and cookies. The table was covered with a green cloth and held a silver bowl of white and red chrysanthemums and tall green candles in silver holders. Assisting in the serving were Mesdames C. E. Jones, Clay Burney, Milton Hart and W. M. Taylor.

Club Sponsoring Turkey Shoot

CHICOD—The Chicod Ruritan Club is sponsoring a turkey shoot on Tuesday, November 24, at 5:30 p.m., at Chicod School. Proceeds of the shoot will be used for the advancement of community resources.

The winner of each round of shooting will receive a turkey. Each round consists of 12 shooters, using .12-gauge shotguns, the shells to be provided by the club. The marksman with the largest number of shots in the center will be declared the winner. Judges are Alton Gardner, F.H. Hodges, James Smith and P.V. Gaskins. The public is invited.

Fortune Smiled On School Bond Sale

Taxpayers of Greenville School district have reason to be enthused over the favorable average interest rate of 2.8464 per cent which was received for the $750,000 school bonds of the district sold Tuesday.

interest rates on some of its bonds to three and one-quarter per cent.

It would be a misnomer to term the interest rate received a "lucky break," but the district is fortunate in getting a rate as low as it did. Over the long period of years during which the money borrowed through use of the bonds will be repaid, it will mean less cost for taxpayers than if the interest rate had been three per cent or even higher.

4-H Work; Achievements By The Hundreds

Pitt County 4-H youths this week celebrated with a planned program their annual Achievement Day. The yearly program is set aside by the organization to reorganize outstanding work of members, and to review the accomplishments of another 12 months.

When it comes to 4-H work in Pitt County, there is hardly a day in the 365 which passes without having been a day of achievement for the farm boys and girls.

The hundreds of rural boys and girls who are participating in the Pitt 4-H program are making a sizable contribution to the growth and progress of Pitt County, particularly in the rural areas. Their work in their homes, on the farms and in their individual communities is helping to build a better Pitt County from any one of a number of standpoints. The accomplishments of 4-H members of Pitt County during a year would fill a volume if they were all set down in writing.

Those who were singled out for special awards at the 4-H Achievement Day program this week especially deserve congratulations for their outstanding work. At the same time, all the boys and girls who take part in the 4-H work in Pitt County have every right to take pride in what they are doing for themselves and what they are doing for the county in which they live.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE END OF THE ROAD

Yesterday I read the writings of another columnist who answers queries on romantic and domestic problems. A young woman 32 years old had written asking how she could get herself out of the toils of an infatuation for a married man. It was a grim and sordid recital. To say that the girl was in a desperate situation was to indulge in understatement.

The columnist made a magnificent reply. She spared no feelings, pulled no punches, and used language everybody could understand. She told the girl to get going and to get going fast—away from her temptation. She said the girl would have to have "psychological support in the form of regular fellowship." Best of all, the columnist had spiritual advice to offer, and she handed it out without the least apology.

Nobody is in such a hopeless situation as an unmarried girl in love with a married man. The last analysis she can be sure that the man in question will stick by his wife and children, and not by her. He has too much at stake to do otherwise. She will be left holding the bag, and any girl who has got herself involved in that kind of wicked nonsense should snap out of her delusion quickly and realize that the end of such a pathway is sorrow in wholesale lots.

Let her not dream otherwise. She is in for sorrow and plenty of it. She should resolutely decline to be victimized.

National Whirligig

New Political Advisory Staff

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has tentatively agreed to creation of a tripartite, political general staff in order to check the nationwide trend against the Republican Party, especially its slender representation in House and Senate. It will be designed to prevent repetition of Attorney-General Herbert Brownell's botching of the Harry Dexter White affair.

Despite the comforting victory in the special Congressional election in the twenty-fourth California District last week, Ike is now convinced that what he dismisses as "skirmish" losses could lead easily to a Waterloo in next year's struggle for control of Congress. A hostile legislative body could also wreck his Administration and result in a Democratic triumph in the 1956 Presidential contest.

FACTUAL INFORMATION—But it required patient presentation of factual evidence of an adverse tide by two Party experts, who had traversed the country before the November 3 reverses in New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin and in numerous municipal scraps. At first, Ike refused to credit the bad news. Incidentally, it now appears that these gloomy reports on political conditions contributed to Attorney-General Brownell's unexpected blast against Harry S. Truman, for promoting White in the face of FBI warnings of White's pro-Communist affiliations and activities. Monday, 24 hours before the November 3 voting, was a dramatic day around the White House.

PERSONS IN ALL VOCATIONS QUESTIONED—The proposed reorganization and rejuvenation of the creaking Party machinery began to have traversed the country. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republicans' Congressional Campaign Committee, returned from a sentiment-sampling trip across the country.

Although he talked with GOP state, county and local leaders, he did not confine his interviews to them. Traveling incognito, he questioned farmers, factory workers, service tradesmen.

Mrs. Carroll Kearns, the politically keen wife of another Pennsylvania member, also crossed the country. She quizzed housewives and working women in various income brackets. Simpson compiled their joint data, and submitted it to Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's Chief of Staff. It is understood that

Two major matters gave concern to school officials of the district after the $1,500,000 school bond issue was passed by local voters last June. First was the possibility that an unusually high interest rate would be required to sell the school bonds. The second was the prospect of continued rising building costs which would naturally scale down the amount of construction which could be purchased with the funds available.

The sale of the first half of the bonds to be issued by the district apparently hit the market when conditions were favorable for an interest rate which did not put the district at a great disadvantage. If the same good fortune is hit when bids are let for the school construction work, the district may be able to stretch its school building money farther than it seemed possible several months ago.

It's For The Protection Of The Youngsters

Little enforcing by the police department should be necessary to bring compliance to the new city ordinance which prohibits the leaving outside any abandoned ice box or similar container which has a snap lock that can not be released from the inside.

Local business firms, which probably own the vast majority of abandoned ice boxes and other containers in Greenville, should be anxious to cooperate in removing these hazards for their own protection as well as for the protection of youngsters of the city.

The new ordinance was adopted by the City Council after a large number of youngsters had died around the nation by locking themselves into abandoned ice boxes while at play.

Some inconvenience may be encountered by a few firms which have stored old ice boxes outside; but complying with the new ordinance should not prove a major obstacle. If space is not available for storing the containers indoors, their latches may be removed so they will not lock.

The cooperation of not only business firms, but individuals will be needed in bringing about compliance with the new ordinance, and preventing the Greenville community from suffering the tragedy of a child meeting death in an abandoned ice box, as has been experienced in other localities.

he passed the information on to Ike. PATTERN OF GRIEVANCES—The Simpson-Kearns report presented a pattern of grievances now well known because of the election setbacks, but they were not recognized when Simpson visited the White House in early October. The polls were sore over the mishandling of patronage. Farmers were kicking against reduced returns. The women were peeved over prevailing high retail prices. These were the highlights of the two pilgrims' findings.

But the sunshine boys at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue would not listen—that is, seriously. They said that their own checks contradicted Simpson and Mrs. Kearns. They would not believe that Ike had slipped so badly so soon. Anyway, they took Ike's own viewpoint that his program would command general approval, when and if it was enacted by the next Congress.

Then came last-minute warnings of New York, Wisconsin, New Jersey and other defeats. There also came a call for Simpson to show up at the White House on November 2. Due to earlier plans, he had to drive all night to reach Washington in time for his scheduled appointments with Ike's staff. Coincidentally or not, it was on this same day, with the California test only a week away, that Brownell obtained Eisenhower's approval for the Truman-White bombshell.

IKE QUESTIONS BROWNELL'S STRATEGY—Ike himself now questions the Brownell strategy. The President cannot understand the A. G.'s long delay in speaking out—from August 23 until early November. Ike doubts whether a luncheon address was the wisest method for springing the revelations, especially as they involve a former President. Supreme Court Justice and several dead officials. He would not have subpoenaed Truman.

Somebody Told Me Impressed By Friendly People

Many moons ago I interviewed a guest of the C.W. Howards from Germany, Ockie Shute. At the time Ockie had only been in America three days. Sunday night I met his sister, Miss Helga Shute, who has been here six months. The Shute family is in the cigarette manufacturing business in Germany and have business connections here with the Greenville Tobacco Company.

But as time went by I had better luck. Helga considers America's warm weather one of its greatest assets. "Since I've been here," she says, "I haven't had cold feet. When I was packing to come over here I had nine sweaters that I was planning to bring. My brothers told me that I wouldn't need all of them, so I brought only one."

they bring in the second serving." Charlie said, "we've already had plenty." Helga's background includes teaching typing and shorthand, and working as a bank secretary. Before traveling in America she toured Europe and in America she has ventured all the way to California. "I had no idea," she confesses, "that your country was so wide."

What Other Editors Are Thinking

CONTROVERSY IN AMERICA (Greensboro Daily News) The sober statement by the governing body of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. that a "subtle but potent assault upon basic human rights is now in progress" in America deserves thoughtful attention.

The urge toward conformity in the U.S. was never greater than today. It was brought on by a savage menace—the need for building strong defenses against a so-called "new freedom" which is in reality an "old tyranny." But the right of Americans to free inquiry, to hear and express provocative ideas is the greatest gift of Hebraic-Greco-Roman civilization. Without it our western world would lose its vitality, its sense of direction and its life-blood.

purely negative fashion. This "fanatical negativism", being "totally devoid of a constructive program", falls to offer an adequate answer to the false but glittering enticements of Communism. On the theory that the end justifies the means, it leads "subtly and silently" to the undermining of truth and helps the demagogue come into his own "on a national scale."

Farm Bureau Members Show Lively Interest At Meet

By LYNN NISBET FARMERS — Well above a thousand of the attendants at the 18th annual convention of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, held in Raleigh Monday and Tuesday, manifested lively interest in the matters considered at the several group and general sessions. There were several hundred others who came more or less "just for the ride."

California has moved into cotton production in a big way means that North Carolina and the other areas in what is called the "old belt" must submit to acreage cuts that in many instances are little short of disastrous to some growers.

millions of farmers and multiplied millions of dollars, the fact remains that while the old producing states were able to block a plan for a three-year instead of a five-year historic base for acreage allotment, North Carolina will be cut next year to 538,000 acres compared with 743,000 in 1950 because of the production history built up within the past three years in the far west. The cut would have been more severe except for some fast political manipulation by southerners in Congress, and by compromise agreements which admittedly yielded more than was considered proper to the new producing areas.

er's statement that to convert one pound of cotton lint into No. 40 yarn requires spinning it out to about 33,000 yards—approximately 18 miles. A mighty little nap in the lint can make a big difference in that thread.

cotton group discussion into a few words the conclusion seems to be about this: North Carolina cotton growers face political competition in national legislation in order to mold what they've got against the competition from the west, and they face perhaps less immediate but in the long run more serious competition from the economic factors of cheap production and synthetics. The tobacco folks face similar problems, and conditions are not too much different in livestock.

POLITICAL — There are definite economic aspects involved, such as the fact that western lands lend themselves more readily to mass machinery in production with less dependence upon human labor, resulting in lower total costs.

This natural advantage is tremendously enhanced, as was explained by Paul Keller of Clayton secretary of the N.C. Cotton Promotion Committee, by the fact that there is now a Republican administration in power which thinks none too kindly of the South; and the further fact that the Senate majority leader is a Californian (Senator William F. Knowland) and one of the recognized farm leaders in the Senate is Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, a Democrat and former secretary of agriculture.

to meet competition of synthetics everybody connected with cotton, from the field hand through the ginner and the spinner and weaver to the customer, must find ways to improve the final product.

Carroll At Meeting Of Little League Baseball Officers

Field directors and national officers of Little League Baseball gather at the second annual meeting of field directors in New York recently. Local Recreation Commission Director Warren Carroll, seated second from the front on the inside of the left table, attended the meeting on behalf of Greenville's Little League baseball. He said that getting the regional tournament here next year was possible even though two Florida cities are bidding for the tournament. Representatives from Maine to California attended the meeting that had headquarters in the Taft Hotel.

Seventy-One To Graduate From ECC This Fall Term

Seventy-one students are scheduled to complete their work at East Carolina College at the end of the fall quarter, November 25. Those satisfying the requirements for graduation will receive their degrees with their classmates at commencement exercises to be held in May, 1954.

The list of fall quarter graduates includes sixty candidates for the B.S. degree, which at East Carolina is conferred upon those taking courses preparing them as teachers; six are candidates for the A.B., or liberal arts, degree; and five are scheduled to receive the master's degree, which at the college here is a degree for teachers and school administrators.

North Carolinians among the graduates number 68 men and women. Three out-of-state students come from New Jersey and Virginia.

Those completing work for the

Now Laying Pipe Of Storm Sewer

Storm sewer construction on White Street is being installed now. City Manager James S. Hughes has reported.

Hughes said that pipe has been laid from the end of White Street one block north of Colonial Street to 4th Street. The pipe will eventually go to Ward Street beyond 4th St.

The city manager anticipated completion of the project next week. He said that pipe laying should be finished this week, but complete construction of man holes and catch basins will not be finished until next week.

The City Council had decided in September to install the storm sewer but the project was delayed due to repair on ditching equipment.

GUNNING FOR HUNTERS

EXPENSIVE BATH
CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's block-square City-County Building may get its first bath—at a cost of $200,000—since it was built 48 years ago. The request for the cleaning job has been sent to the county commissioners and the City Council.

Gadget Detects Physical Faults

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A new medical machine developed here can record a heart beat at the same time it checks the amount of oxygen in your lungs and body cells.

Simultaneously, as it checks and records nine body functions it can detect brain complications and tell a doctor whether his patient needs artificial respiration. Its development was a community project here.

First visualized by the staffs of the Southwestern Polio Respiratory Center and Baylor University's College of Medicine, the physiograph was put into practical application by Dr. Leslie Geddes. A team of physiologists, clinical men physicians and medical technicians combined ideas for Geddes.

Yesterday, at a reception where the device was unveiled, Dr. William S. Spencer, director of the respiratory center, said:

"This is an effort to begin a whole flock of body function studies at one time, moment by moment studies because the disease may change the way a body reacts—moment by moment."

Other researchers said the machine can detect when a patient needs drugs to support a lagging heart. It is expected, they said, to be a key detector in diseases of the heart, lungs, and respiratory system and in brain complications or injuries.

Homecoming Day For Church Of God In Greenville

Next Sunday—November 22—will be "homecoming day" at the Church of God in Greenville and all-day services will be held.

Dr. Earl P. Paulk of Charlotte, overseer of the Churches of God in North Carolina will speak and Rev. Archie Luke of Charlotte will preach at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

All members of the church are invited to attend and take well-filled baskets. A picnic dinner will be served after the morning service, Rev. L.B. Robbins, pastor of the Greenville church, announced.

In the afternoon there will be singing by soloists and groups from other Churches of God in this state.

Pirate Jayvees Lose, 50-49, To EMI Team In First Game

Injury Increase Blamed On Rules

The return of the one-platoon system was blamed by a University of Virginia doctor today for an "alarming" 30 per cent increase in injuries to players on Virginia's football squad.

Dr. Charles J. Frankel, a faculty member at the university's Medical School and examiner for the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery, said there has been a similar upswing in injuries at other colleges he has checked.

Furthermore, he said, the injuries have been more severe than in the days of unlimited substitutions.

"College athletes, with few exceptions, are not as rugged as a generation ago," Dr. Frankel, Virginia team physician, declared.

He said injuries this year have been more frequent and more serious not only in actual game competition but in practice sessions as well.

Dr. Frankel is considered an authority on athletic injuries and treatment and has been the author of many papers on the subject for professional journals.

Final Plans

Final plans are being made for the Midnet football game scheduled for Thanksgiving afternoon in College Stadium.

Greenville's Midnets will be host to North Charleston, South Carolina this year. The game will be played with the understanding that the series will be continued through the years on a home-and-home basis.

The contest, sponsored jointly by the Exchange Club and the Recreation Department, is for boys who will not have reached their fifteenth birthday before January 1, 1954, and who do not weigh more than 115 pounds.

Kickoff time for the game will be 2:30 p.m.

Michigan State quarterback Tom Yewic is a catcher on the baseball team and is considered a major league prospect.

Guard Jennings House Dropped In Free Throw

Guard Jennings House dropped in a free throw in the last two minutes of the overtime period to account for the win. He had been largely responsible for the Rams staying in the game during a Buc drive late in the fourth period by dropping in five field goals and a pair of free throws.

The Pirates Jayvees had rallied in the fourth period to send the contest into the overtime. Center Lem Cox dropped a free on a two-shot arrangement and missed his second one to set up the situation which tied the game.

In the overtime the Rams jumped to a rather decisive lead and held it the entire five minutes. They retained control of the ball in such an effective manner that the Jayvees were never able to do any serious threatening.

House, a former Durham High School player, took scoring honors for the game and for the Rams with 22 points. Scoring honors for the East Carolina team were taken by forward Johnny Rice.

Title Bout Build Starting Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—The buildup for the next world heavyweight title fight will begin officially tonight in Los Angeles when Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia displays his credentials before a nationwide audience in a 10-rounder against Freddie Beshore.

Unless something goes badly wrong with the script, the 190-pound, 6-foot-3 "huncher boy" from the East will star in a main event within the limit. Tomorrow a lot of folks will be saying they've just seen the next champ, and from there it will be only a question of time and careful guidance until Danny finds himself sampling Rocky Marciano's bombs.

The reason one can predict all this with some assurance is that some sort of challenger with a new face must be found by next summer. Erzard Charles, Roland Larstarza and Nino Valdes do not fit into one of those outdoor super-productions, though he might. He talks good too.

"Marciano's knockouts over Walcott and Louis were overplayed," we see he is quoted. "They were old men. I saw him against LaStarza and I know he can be taken. He's not in the same class with some of the former champions."

That's the kind of talk Rocky and his manager, Al Weill, love to hear.

The news that Rogers Hornsby has landed upon his feet again and will supervise an extensive series of baseball instruction films for national TV showing is one of the most welcome items of the week.

It is highly probable that the former batting wizard knows as much about the same's finer points as any man living. Players have told us they learned more about baseball in one session under the Rajah than they had previously even suspected.

This should at last be the ideal setup for the grizzled Hall of famer. He will have no club president to appease, nor will he have to grapple with his pet aversion, a general manager. He will not be expected to wet nurse the big league stars who are hired to demonstrate the way he says the game should be played. If they don't like the way Hornsby talks to them, they can always resign.

The job has found its man.

The job has found its man.

The job has found its man.

The job has found its man.

Sign Orange Bowl Agreement

Representatives of the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast conferences and of the Orange Bowl committee sign agreement in Washington calling for top teams in the two leagues to play in the Miami, Fla., bowl on New Year's Day in 1954 and 1955. Left to right, seated: W. Bruce McIntosh, president of the Orange Bowl committee; Dr. R. I. Throckmorton of Manhattan, Kan., signing for the Big Seven, and Dr. J. T. Fenney of Columbia, S. C., signing for the ACC. Standing: Stuart Patton of Miami; Dr. Earl Fullbrook of Lincoln, Neb.; Van C. Kussow of Miami, and Dr. Geary Eppley of College Park, Md. Oklahoma, Big Seven champion, probably will meet Maryland in the 1954 game. (AP Wirephoto).

Injuries May Be Equalizer In Saturday's Duke Game

Iowa End Named Lineman Of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—A lad whose football career was believed ended by illness last spring—Bill Fenton, Iowa end—was named the Associated Press Lineman of the Week today.

Iowa surprised Minnesota, 27-0, and Fenton's feats in smearing Minnesota's famed Paul Giel earned him the nod in the weekly voting by sportswriters and broadcasters.

Giel, held to a mere 13 yards by rushing, didn't hesitate to praise Fenton.

"That boy Fenton was in my hair all afternoon," Giel said. "He was terrific, all right."

Fenton, a senior pre-medical student, won the coveted lineman honor a year ago. Later he was voted Iowa's most valuable player.

Unexpectedly he became ill last spring and was bedridden for several months. His football days were believed over. Then the situation changed. He made a rapid recovery and this fall again has been outstanding in the Iowa line.

Another end, Ron Rockin of Wisconsin, was praised for his great defensive play against Illinois. He was credited with a major part of Wisconsin's surprise victory over the Illini.

Clyde Bennett, South Carolina end, similarly received many votes for his fine work in helping knock West Virginia out of the unbeaten ranks.

Clemson, which ends its season Saturday against Auburn, held a limited drill. All seniors missed practice because of exams. Sophomore quarterback Don King sparked a passing session.

Another blow was struck North Carolina forces yesterday when 220-pound tackle Ralph Beaver was sent to the hospital with pneumonia. Quarterback Marshall Newman directed the Tar Heels' running attack. The team plays at Virginia.

To Discuss Idea Of New Circuit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Villanova College Athletic Director Ambrose (Bud) Dudley's latest idea to pump new life into sagging college football game receipts—a first big conference—reaches its northernmost hurdle Dec. 5 in Cincinnati.

Dudley announced yesterday that a number of unattached schools will discuss the idea then, during the annual coaches' gathering.

He said Boston College, Boston University, Fordham and Holy Cross have expressed strong interest in joining. And he said Syracuse, Colgate, Penn State, Delaware, Temple, Lehigh, Lafayette and Bucknell also have been approached.

The only salvation for the financial success of football here. The independents are going to have to band together. The sponsors of major bowls are tying up with conference teams only. We must build natural rivalries to generate interest among the football fans."

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Santiago Esteban 138, Walsenburg, Colo., stopped Doug Kirby, 137½, San Francisco, 6.

Six lettermen are back from that team, including Mel Thompson, who scored 536 points, and Dave Gotkin an All South guard. In addition, Coach Everett Case has a bevy of fine-looking sophomores who could move en masse into the starting lineup.

Out of the five starters are back for their senior year. Like all Diddle's teams this will be one that can run, shoot and score, and it will be rich in experience as well. Probable starters will be Tom Marshall and Dan King at forward, 6-9 ½ Art Spoelstra at center, and Lynn Cole and Dyke Vest at guard.

Louisiana State is expected to give Kentucky a stiff battle for the Southwestern Conference title. Coach Harry Rabenhorst has 6-9 Bobby Pettit and all his other starters back. A good long shot is Tulane which also gets its back.

In the new Atlantic Coast Conference, Maryland, banking on Gene Shue, and Wake Forest, with high-scoring Dick Hemic, are the best bets to challenge N. C. State. In the old Southern Conference, it looks like a three-way battle among West Virginia, Furman and George Washington. Furman, the No. 1 offensive team last year, has State, despite the loss of 14 prospects through inepteligibility, figures to be at least as good as last year. The Wolfpack of 1952 won 26 of 32 last year, captured the Southern Conference title but lost the conference tournament to Wake Forest by one point.

weeks ago. Trainer Bob Chambers said yesterday it is doubtful if Smith will be able to play Saturday. Hardeman was injured in Georgia Tech's loss to Alabama and is out for the rest of the season.

Much of the powerful Duke running game revolves around Smith, a chunky 200-pounder who needs only two touchdowns to break the Duke career scoring record of 134 points. The record was set by Clarence (Ace) Parker during the 1930s. Parker is now the Blue Devil backfield coach.

Another ACC team out for revenge Saturday is Maryland. The Terps were upset in 1952 by Alabama, 27-7. The loss completely knocked the Terps out of the bowl picture. A win over the Tide would leave Maryland with a perfect record and almost insure them a bid to the Orange Bowl.

Both Duke and Maryland scrimmaged yesterday. The Devils worked against Freshmen with fullback Jack Kistler and quarterback Jerry Barger in the top outfit.

South Carolina meets Wofford. The Gamecocks, suffering numerous injuries, worked lightly yesterday as a precaution against any more. The team worked offensive plays against a Wofford-type defense.

Expecting resistance from West Virginia's big line Saturday, North Carolina State stressed passing during a 45-minute offensive session. The squad, with the exception of end Harry Lodge, was reported in good physical shape.

The running of backs Joe White, Jimmy Bland and John Herlein sparked Wake Forest drills. The team scrimmaged an hour and a half preparing for its homecoming game against Furman Saturday.

Phantoms Start Drills For Basketball Team

Wise Surprised At Generals' Zip

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—One thing that constantly amazes Carl Wise is the way his Washington and Lee football team has retained its zip and enthusiasm through the many discouragements of a losing season.

"Here we are, coming to the end of a year in which we can't post a winning record but from the spirit of the team you'd think maybe we were in line for a bowl bid," says the W&L coach wonderingly.

"It is just something a person can't explain. Maybe it's because we have been able to move the ball even while losing. And maybe it's because we have been getting better all along."

Washington and Lee after starting off its campaign with a lopsided victory over little Shepherd College in a colossal mismatch, dropped its next six in a row—to Maryland, North Carolina, West Virginia, Richmond, Virginia Tech and George Washington.

Finally, on Nov. 7, the Generals broke the spell by routing Davidson, 34-7. Then last week they followed up with a 27-13 triumph over their arch-rival, Virginia.

Wise isn't surprised that morale in the W&L camp now is at a peak. He hopes it stays that way because he's convinced the Generals will have to keep right on improving if they want to whip William and Mary this Saturday at Williamsburg.

Yesterday W&L took a look at William and Mary pass plays as executed by freshman quarterback Herb Sickers, making like W&M's Charlie Sumner. No contact was still the rule as Wise tried to avoid further injuries.

W&M, for its part, tired out Al Grieco and Bob Elzey at quarterback just in case Sumner, who has a leg injury, isn't available Saturday. Without Sumner the Indians would be vastly weakened.

West Virginia emphasized blocking at light drills. Davidson on held a lengthy scrimmage after a session on fundamentals. Furman stressed pass defense, then labored on pass offense for Wake Forest.

hardwood floor. Coach Bo Farley started practice Monday night for the high school squad. Callisthenics and the process of getting into shape have been stressed thus far.

Yesterday's workout consisted of a long drill on fundamentals. Farley worked with the candidates on pivoting, shooting, and defensive tactics.

The G-men cagers of last year finished with a respectable record despite an epidemic of flu that riddled the team in the final weeks of the campaign. The final record of nine wins and fourteen losses was accomplished despite the epidemic that reached such proportions at one time that nine Varsity players were unable to dress.

The strength of the 1952 team is shown by the manner in which they rebounded after taking five straight losses in their opening games against Eastern AAA Conference opposition. They split their last 18 contests.

This year's team will start again with six games against Eastern AAA teams. The games will be with Wilson, Rocky Mount, and Goldsboro and all will be played before the Phantoms tackle their Northeastern Conference schedule.

Only five lettermen will be available to Farley and the Phantoms this year. They are guards George Sideris and Edgar Moore, center Harold Edwards, and forwards Bob Starkey and Bob Howell.

Returning non-lettermen include center Bobby Conway, forward Walter Perkins, and guard Dixie Hobbard.

Up from the crackerjack Jayvee squad are forwards Tommy Saleed and Harry Scott and centers Clark Nobles and Harris Northrop. Guard Pat Sawyer, who was sidelined all of last year, with a knee injury, is ready again this year and will play unless the knee gives away again.

The other member of the squad will be Paul Boyette, a transfer student from Glendale.

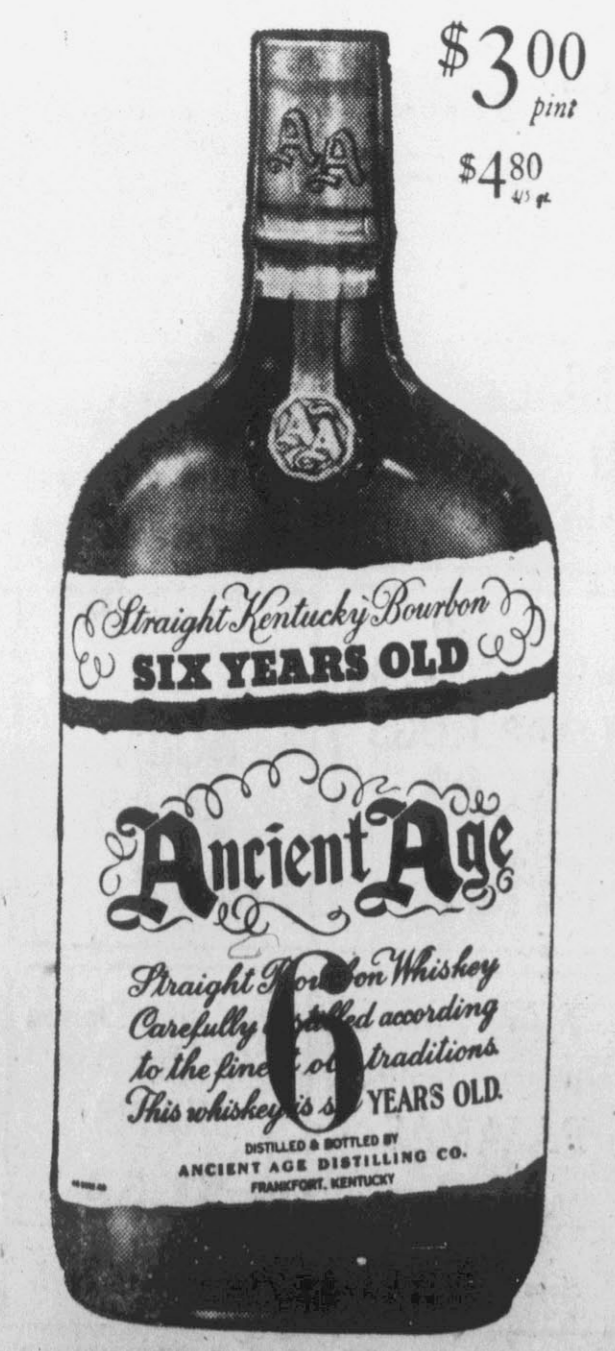

The Phantoms have two weeks in which to prepare for their opening game. The contest will be played here against Wilson.

The complete schedule: December 1, Wilson; 4, at Rocky Mount; 8, Goldsboro; 11, Rocky Mount; 15, at Goldsboro; 17, at Wilson.

January 5, New Bern; 8, at Washington; 12, at Elizabeth City; 19, Roanoke Rapids; 22, Jacksonville; 26, at Kinston; 29, at New Bern.

February 2, Washington; 5, Elizabeth City; 12, at Roanoke Rapids; 16, at Jacksonville; 17, Kinston.

Kentucky Figures On 'Representative' Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Kentucky, a name long synonymous with collegiate basketball, appears ready to regain its place among the nation's elites after a one-year exile.

Adolph Rupp, whose 23-year record at Kentucky includes 471 victories and 82 losses, frames the outlook in eight carefully chosen words: "The university will have its usual representative team."

Rupp says with a straight face that he isn't sure how the year's layoff—Kentucky was suspended for one year by the NCAA as an aftermath of the bribery scandal—has affected the play of his veterans. The Baron admits, however, that "our freshmen and sophomores seem to have come along faster with the extra practice than they would have if we'd had a regular schedule."

Despite Rupp's caution, the advance dope is that Kentucky is loaded—as usual. The team that won four national tournament titles in the past eight years—will be headed by veterans Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos. This trio is capable of brewing considerable misery for its 24 opponents.

Some believe it could become one of the greatest outfits since the 1948 Kentucky team, which shared the Olympic championships. Besides the veteran trio, the squad includes letterman Bill Evans, Gayle Rose and Willie Rouse. Among the sophomores, at least four appear to be outstanding. They are 6-foot-6 Jerry Bird, 6-7 Phil Gravemeyer, and guards Linville Puckett and Jess Curry.

Kentucky will not be the South's only powerhouse. North Carolina, despite the loss of 14 prospects through inepteligibility, figures to be at least as good as last year. The Wolfpack of 1952

Political Weapon In Commie Probes

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, using the Harry Dexter White case as a starter, can now carry variations of it into the 1954 congressional election year.

Atty. Gen. Brownell laid the foundation—with his charge the Truman administration was lax in getting rid of Communists—for a continuing investigation into similar cases.

The 1945 FBI report which named White as a suspected Russian spy named other government employees too. Many of them, like White, were allowed to keep their jobs for months or years afterwards.

The Senate's subcommittee on internal security, which yesterday heard Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, asked former Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, friend of former President Truman, to appear today.

Snyder told the committee he couldn't make it today but would answer later its questions about Harold Glasser, who was mentioned in the 1945 FBI report, held a high Treasury job, and was an adviser to White.

Glasser also was kept in government service after the FBI report and, like White, was promoted.

Just as Truman wrote White a letter of regret upon his leaving government service, Snyder wrote Glasser a similar note when he resigned. And former Secretary of State Dean Acheson wrote a note praising his work.

Later, when Glasser was called before this same subcommittee during the Truman administration, he refused 113 times to answer questions, citing the constitutional guarantee against possible self-incrimination.

Congressional committees have questioned, or attempted to question, many of those who figured in FBI investigations of espionage.

But Brownell opened up a road for going over the same ground again with a new twist: Why did the Truman administration keep these people in government service after getting FBI reports on them and then let them resign with notes of regret or praise?

Brownell, in effect, had charged Truman promoted White to a job with the International Monetary Fund although knowing he was a spy.

If congressional committees, headed by Republicans, want to pursue this kind of inquiry they can call a number of former Truman officials to explain their actions.

The Eisenhower administration alone knows why at this time it chose White as an example.

Brownell could have chosen any one of a number of other cases. Perhaps he singled out White because he had reached greater eminence in the Truman administration than the others. He was assistant secretary of the Treasury when Truman gave him the job with the fund.

Truman claimed in his Monday night broadcast that he kept White on because there was not enough evidence in the early FBI reports to convict him, and to give the FBI more time to check on him and others.

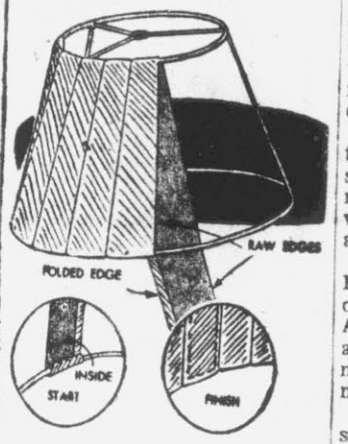

Hoover, by his testimony before the committee yesterday, indicated such a decision was strictly Truman's. He said it was taken not with FBI urging or approval but actually with FBI disapproval.

Truman already has accused Brownell of raking up the White case for purely political reasons. A continuance of this kind of examination by the Republican-dominated committees might influence next year's congressional elections.

If the Democrats in Congress share Truman's view, and some of them have indicated they do, then next year should be a savage year in Washington.

And after Brownell's attack on Truman the Democrats who have been fairly gentle with President Eisenhower may feel free to give him the kind of roughing up he must have hoped would never happen to him.

Make Do

TO RE-COVER a lamp shade frame, cut a continuous 3-inch bias strip from any kind of material. Fold the left edge of the strip under about 1/4-inch. Attach strip with a tacking stitch to the bottom wire of the frame. Wrap the material around the frame, making sure that the folded edge overlaps the raw edge so there are no gaps. At the finish, fold both edges of the material under and tack to frame.

Handpainted Tile In New Table-Top Idea

PAINT YOUR OWN tiles. Sylvia Robbin, artist, shows how she used an intricate Persian design for a table top.

GLAZED, BAKED and mounted, the tiles glow under lamp light, because of the metallic paints used in decoration.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The do-it-yourself home craftsman has latched on to coiré tables as the easiest conversational piece to wrest kudus for home workmen.

Old tables are being crowned with modern or gilt picture frames—old or new flush doors are anchored to wrought iron or the newer fashion shiny brass legs—old fireside benches are being fitted with marble slabs—any old small table may be fitted with plain or decorated tiles.

One such tile-topped table, created recently by artist Sylvia Robbin and her husband, used 25 tiles, paints to decorate. Total cost about $13.

Mrs. Robbin used a charming Persian design for the tiles, making her all-over design first on paper. She advises that pattern and colors are best chosen to blend in with furnishings, that if pattern forms a unit on the tiles (as hers did) they should be numbered on the back so they will fit into proper order when finished.

Her designs were sketched in pencil on unglazed tiles (which she believes easier to work with than glazed tiles). After pencil sketching she used an undercoat as filler before the design was applied in color. When finished and thoroughly dry (about a day) a coat of clear glaze was applied. She baked the tiles at 250 degrees in her kitchen oven for about an hour, according to directions on her color kit.

A frame was made to fit the tiles

The Cat's Paw

by MARION SALTER

SYNOPSIS

Her cats weren't the only things worrying Charlotte Morgan, a copywriter for the Kingsley Cummings advertising firm. There was her mother, who ran away from her father, and her, when she was 12. Charlotte had stolen jewelry to help her mother, although she despised her. Eric Hay was in love with her. Two other employees of "The King" hated her. And her cats kept trying to tell her something. Cummings discovers Charlotte stole the gems and makes a date to meet Charlotte and her mother, after offering to help Charlotte to the big time.

CHAPTER NINE

CHARLOTTE fled down the stairs. When she got out on the street, she found the apple still in her hands. She tossed it into an open garbage can, and glancing back, saw an old man shuffle out of the shadows and snatch it. At eight-thirty the next night, Charlotte and her mother rang Mr. Cummings' bell, entered the expensive East Side apartment. You'd think it was a party, Charlotte thought—the way he insisted on serving drinks, toasting Mrs. Morgan's health, telling her what a clever gauger she had, how remarkably alike they looked like sisters. Charlotte saw her mother almost taken in, charmed by his manners.

Until he said, "Now if you'll forgive me Mrs. Morgan, there are a couple of details I want to work out with Charlotte." He brought her worn coat, helped her into it as though wrapping her in ermine, bowed her to the door. She sent Charlotte a wan look and left.

They were alone. He made another drink, and when he brought it over, he kissed Charlotte lightly on the lips. It startled her, the quick kindling of her body, the sudden surge of feeling for this man she hated.

"You do have emotions, Miss Morgan, don't you?" he had said. He'd known.

Like my mother, it was like this with my mother.

They sat with their drinks, Charlotte stiff and unforgiving. Around her the harmonious mood-making room. Within her the warm relaxing liquor, the stir of excitement at being alone with this attractive and urbane man. He talked, and as she listened, Charlotte began to forget why she had come.

She had never met a mind like his—brilliant but embittered, cultivated, acute. Her own responded, echoing. Yes, yes, that's what I think, too! I, too, think normality is dull, that we should dare to be different.

"Our whole educational and social system," Mr. Cummings was saying, "is geared for the masses. All is held to mediocrity. Our children are not educated, only instructed. And consider today's books, magazines, the so-called entertainment. Behold the ugliness of manufactured products. One must search for anything tastefully styled."

"Delafield's for the discriminating," Charlotte said. He made her feel clever sophisticated.

"That's because I am not a typical businessman." He accepted the tribute as his due. "Delafield's is my creation, not my mint." He poured Charlotte another drink from the cut-glass decanter.

"Nobody, but nobody thinks," he went on. "Listen to them—the platitude attitude, the comfortable commonplaces that eliminate the need for brain strain." He talked in epigrams. "Convention is a corset," he said. "Behold people squeezed into it, stiff and unnatural, cramped by it. All the fears and hates and guils and conflicts laced up suppressed. But still there—till one day they break through as aggressions. A fist fight. A murder. Isn't it better to live freely?"

The magnetism of his low, persuasive voice. The spell of his light, discerning eyes. Charlotte didn't see that he spoke of freedom while robbing her of it. She even thought his mordant wit was humor, his flashing charm for her. "But you're too flattering an audience," Mr. Cummings said. "Don't let me run at the mouth and how you live. Everything," Charlotte. I want to know about you. Where you were born, how you got to Delafield's, where and how you live. Everything."

He leaned toward her, listening like a doctor. Suddenly Charlotte wanted him to know that she was not one of the dull people he scorned; that she, too, was different and understood about unconventional behavior. Impulsively she told him the whole story of her mother.

He was delighted. "But there you are," he exclaimed. He got up from his chair and crossed to sit on the couch beside Charlotte. "That's the perfect example. The feelings your mother tried to suppress all those years she lived with your father would out ultimately. And of course it explains you. Your hostility, born of insecurity; the pretense of being emotionless because you fear the effect of feelings; the ambition to get even with life. Yes, and the hurt in your eyes that you don't even know is there."

Nor did she. Now she lowered them from the knowing look in his. "Shall I make a diagnosis, Charlotte?" he asked. "We're two of a kind, you and I."

He reached for her almost empty glass and set it on the coffee table. He bent and kissed her, his lips demanding on her mouth. There was the need to become close to another human being, to escape her aching loneliness. There was the need of a caress, even a false and shallow one such as this. And so her close association with him began.

The next day Mr. Cummings called a brief meeting and announced that the missing merchandise had been found. Ceremoniously he handed the rings and watches to Mr. Nathan. "The culprit has been dealt with," he said.

But he had only begun. For a while the drama of it all excited Charlotte. When a head-waiter bowed them to a table in plush places such as she had never entered . . . when people turned to admire them at the theater, Charlotte in the simple black dinner dress King had suggested that she buy, he himself striking in the tuxedo to which he seemed born . . . in the taxi, returning to King's apartment, she saw herself playing a role. She, Charlotte, safe inside, watched the actress star. At the office too. She, Charlotte, safe inside with her secret.

Of course she knew that King enjoyed molding and educating her. That was fine. She wanted to learn—about art and music and books and fine food. About psychology, advertising business. She wanted to pick King's brains. She supposed it was one form of gold digging.

And all of it was better than forever eating alone at home or in the miserable, cheap restaurants with their fried-food smells, their congregation of the slightly shabby, somehow dispirited and gray ones who ate there, together, alone. All of it was better than forever listening to the sound of solitude that was like the ticking of the grandfather's clock back home, when she'd come from school to emptiness, after her mother had gone.

Love? The sentimental nonsense with which so many deluded themselves, the syrup that poured from Tin Pan Alley? "I love you," her mother had used to say. Love! That was what made the affair so satisfactory. Neither of them ever even pretended to love.

"By the way, there's a woman," he'd said once in the beginning. "She is in love with me. It's a nuisance. But she won't be bothering me any more."

When had Charlotte begun to know King meant to chain down and control her, mentally and physically? His will—always his will. At first it was all charming and subtle. Till he realized he had never possessed her, the Charlotte safe inside, she listened to his opinions but formed her own.

It was then King tried new techniques. Intimidation—"You seem to forget I know all your secrets." Degradation—"After all who are you? The daughter of a plain dirt farmer and a licentious mother. When I took you in hand you didn't know Monet from Manet, a Moselle from a Rhine wine."

None of it touched Charlotte. No more did his staged moods of the weeks of ignoring her existence. At last she began to see King as he had tutored her to see others. She saw that he reached for power out of his deep fear of being hurt and humiliated that he disparaged others so he might feel superior, wanted everyone to share his own torturing frustrations and sense of futility. She saw him as one hopeless and helpless.

in September with establishment of the Housing Authority. George N. Deas, executive director of the group, said that although a great segment of the population retires with pensions of $125 or more, they are financially unable to move to Florida without sizeable capital. Deas said the project is aimed at providing "low-cost quality housing for people who are migrating to Florida with insufficient income to pay the existing rental or purchase terms." "The Housing Authority is interested in renting to pensioners," he said, "because their pensions will not cover usual Florida rents and because that should make the sale of revenue certificates easier. The renter would have a guaranteed income."

AP Newfeatures
 Wintertime is the season for entertaining. But there is more to the idea than just inviting the crowd in, unless it is a spontaneous suggestion.
 Mom rebels usually when the young adults of the family want to take over for an evening. Most times she has a good point—all the planning is left to her, and the cleanup job as well.
 If you want to be popular with your group, you'll plan every detail of your social gathering before the buzzer sounds the arrival of the first guest. Here are some suggestions which might prove helpful. Try them and see how simple life can be with a little advance planning:
 1. Arrange a cozy setting in your living room, removing all extraneous objects such as ash trays, expensive figurines, occasional tables. If you plan to dance take up the rug before the crowd arrives.
 2. There should be a small table in the room with bowls of potato chips, candy, nuts, etc., available within easy reach of the most bashful guest.

3. Take records out in advance if you plan to use them at all. Wipe them clean and make sure you have good needles for your player.
 4. Consider the advantages of a glowing fire if you have a fireplace. The wood should be stacked and ready and the fire built about ten or fifteen minutes before the appointed party hour.
 5. If it is raining or snowing, be sure to have a convenient place for umbrellas and rainwear. A basket or waste paper receptacle may be left inside the door to hold umbrellas. A door mat should be within easy step to clean off wet shoes. If a closet isn't handy to your entrance, hangers should be provided so that wet coats may be taken to the nearest closet.
 6. If you plan to cook over your fireplace—hot dogs, marshmallows or popped corn—arrange pillows within easy reach so that they can be placed in front of the fireplace when the time comes for your snacks.
 Corn popping can be fun and you won't need to leave your guests if the butter is melted in advance and ready to be re-heated at the fireplace when the time comes. For a new taste treat have small bowls of chopped chives and parsley in readiness. The buttered corn may be rolled in the chives or parsley or in a combination of butter, garlic and parsley. Squeeze the garlic into the butter—but be sure your guests all like this flavor before you set 'em up.
 8. Your room should be well lighted so that guests do not have to strain their eyes. And as soon as the room gets stuffy ventilation is in order.

 9. The conversation should not lag. If the group is mixed and several guests are strangers to the rest of the crowd make a special effort to keep them circulating with the others. You should have two or three ready suggestions for livening up the party if things begin to look dreary.
 10. Encourage your crowd to dress up for a party. Goodclothes have a restraining influence on teen agers. There is something about dungarees that puts one in a sprawling, reckless mood, sometimes boisterous. Make your party a dress up party and you'll notice a different crowd psychology.

She Sent Letter 24 Feet Long
 CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—While Marine Corps Pfc. William C. Cameron was being transferred here, his girl friend, Marion Vorlicky of St. Paul, Minn., didn't know for six days what his address would be.
 She wrote every day anyway and when the letter arrived it was 24 feet long, on paper 8 inches wide. "I thought it was wallpaper at first," Cameron said.

FINE THEFT
 WESTPORT, Conn. (UP)—Accused of breaking into a home and stealing $15, Anthony Leigh, 16, explained he needed the money to pay a speeding fine.

Auto Overtakes; Two Men Injured

Two Pitt County men were injured Monday night when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on a paved rural road near Winterville.
 Patrolman James W. Boykin who investigated the accident identified the men as Marcellus Wilkes Jr., 19-year-old Negro of Winterville who was driving the automobile, and Roland Smith, 20-year-old Negro of Winterville who was riding with Wilkes in the car.
 Boykin said Smith suffered a broken arm and fractured ribs in the accident, and that Wilkes received facial lacerations.
 The patrolman said the vehicle in which the men were riding apparently went out of control and overturned. The car was a total wreck, the officer stated. Investigation of the accident is still incomplete, and no charges have been made by officers.

STEAK WARNING
 BOSTON (UP)—The menu at Durgin Park's one of Boston's famed old restaurants, bears this warning: "We are not responsible for any steak ordered well-done." Charcoal-broiled steak so cooked is apt to be tough, a chef explained.

News From Grifton

By MRS. CECIL COBB

Guests of Misses Neta and Irma Lee Sumrell for the weekend were Mrs. J. D. Willard and son Bill of Kinston, Mrs. Tom Heath, Mrs. J. A. Allen and children of Ayden, and Mr. Harry Sumrell of Norfolk.
 Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jackson were in Raleigh on Monday to attend the Farm Bureau convention in session. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hart attended the football game in Chapel Hill on Saturday and were accompanied on the return trip by J. R. Hooten who spent the weekend here.
 Mrs. L. O. Cox has returned from Fayetteville where she visited Mr. and Mrs. John Cox and family for the weekend.
 Little Miss Andrea Smith has returned from Richmond where she spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Banks, who accompanied her home and were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Smith. Master Joe Tracey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Tracey, is recuperating at his home here after being hospitalized at Lenoir County Hospital in Kinston.
 Guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Tuck-

Old Fire Bells Bow To Progress

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Progress has elbowed aside another tradition in historic old Charleston. The city's two fire bells have been replaced by three sirens.
 For more than six decades the bells tolled fire warnings and also were rung at the death of presidents, the approach of hurricanes and the end of wars.

Subdues Moose With His Shovel

ANACONDA, Mont. (AP)—Dan O'Rourke, a forestry school senior at Montana State University, came face to face with the big moose upon investigating a noise in nearby brush.
 The moose lowered his fan-shaped horns to charge. But O'Rourke clobbered the moose on the head with his shovel and ran 50 yards to his truck.
GOOD SCOUTS
 BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—E. D. Finch and his two sons recently were awarded the highest rank in the Boy Scouts at the same ceremony. Finch, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 30, and Ronnie Finch and Johnnie Finch received their eagle badges. Johnnie is a member of Troop 30, and Ronnie is a member of the senior group of Explorer Scouts.

Rap Soliciting While In Uniform

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce wants Waterbury policemen and firemen to stop soliciting contributions for community drives while they are in uniform.
 The practice, said the chamber in a protest to the city police and fire boards, "entails a traffic hazard as well as antagonizing the public."
 The estimated value of minerals in the water of the Dead Sea is more than a trillion dollars.

Stock And Market Reports

WALL STREET—The stock market edged up slightly today as the flood of dividend reports continued to create some irregularity in the list.

Gains ran to around a point at the best while losses were usually in the smaller fractions.

Trading was rather light at a pace under yesterday's 1,250,000 shares, a level well below the daily average so far this year.

Steels were higher for the most part with Republic Steel moderately active. It was yesterday's most active issue after reporting favorable dividend action.

Going up with the steels were the motors merchandising shares, most coppers and railroads.

The rubbers were largely depressed along with radio-televisions and some chemicals and oils.

Among higher stocks were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Boeing, American Telephone, Anaconda, Copper, General Electric, Southern Railway, and Johns-Manville.

RALEIGH (N.C.D.A.)—Opening cotton quotations at North Carolina markets today for 1-132-inch staple:

Middling—Tarboro 34.12, Smithfield, Lumberton and Lincolnton 34.00.

Strict low middling—Lincolnton, Tarboro and Smithfield 33.00, Lumberton 32.50.

Came Out Like A Shot From Gun

DETROIT—Toibert Chamberlain 49, a Water Board workman, rode a stream of water out of a seven-foot deep excavation when the main burst.

"I came out of there like I was shot from a cannon," Chamberlain said as he picked himself off the grass unharmed. The 40-foot stream drenched cars and pedestrians nearby for 10 minutes before the water was shut off.

Fifty-Millionth Telephone Ready

WASHINGTON—The nation's 50 millionth telephone in service will be installed for President Eisenhower in his White House office today.

The telephone is black and around the base are 48 gold stars, one for each state. The presidential seal takes the place of the number plate, and the dial and numerals are finished in gold. A presentation inscription is on the instrument.

Elections Board Chairman Sees Hard Job

Can't Please Everyone In Reshuffle, Says Peel

Realizing that it may be impossible to make everybody happy the Pitt Board of Elections will begin foundation work for rearranging the 23 voting precincts of the county at a meeting called by Chairman Gilbert Peel for December 7.

The chairman said yesterday that the present Board of Elections is in the position of a man who must answer "yes" or "no" to the question of whether he had stop whipping his wife.

"We must do the job ourselves, or resign and let someone else be appointed to do it. It is expected of us to do our duty no matter how hard it is to do," he said.

Peel pointed out that the Board needs the help and constructive criticism of persons from all parts of the county in establishing new precincts. This action was brought about by new township lines made official at the last meeting of the County Board of Commissioners.

Peel said the Board of Elections realized that the ob could not be done in one day and that it was their desire to establish new precincts that will serve for a number of years.

"I am sure that T. E. Joyner and W. B. Phillips, other Board members, are of the same opinion as I am in that we should do the job so that it will serve the best interest of the people of the county. We do not propose to follow the line of least resistance in setting up new precincts for the coming primaries and the following general elections," Peel continued.

"We must take into consideration that sections of the county are growing and in setting up the new precincts we must have in mind voting that will take place in 1956 and 1960.

For instance, Greenville township Precinct No. Two, located at the Court House is one of the largest in the county. It voted about 1,500 in the last general election. That, in my opinion, is more than one precinct can serve. That precinct has lost practically no votes, if any, by the change and possibilities are, if it should remain as is, by 1960 the vote will exceed 2,000.

"Ayden and Farmville are two other precincts that voted well in the last election. The Board of Elections will be in session on December 7 to begin the work of rearranging the 23 voting precincts of the county.

The Woman's Club meets tonight at the home of Mrs. Rosa Lee Bradley on Tyson St.

Title Changed

The Production and Marketing Administration has a new name. James Meredith, secretary, announced today.

The new name of the office, effective immediately, is the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, Meredith said.

The change will be in name only, Meredith said, and will not result in any change in the duties of the state, county and community committees.

The offices will remain in the Pitt County office building and the functions of the office will remain the same.

Funeral Thursday For Albert W. Harris

Mr. Albert Whitney (White) Harris, 55, of 1011 Lawrence Street died in Pitt Memorial Hospital at 8:50 o'clock Wednesday morning. He had been ill for several weeks. Funeral services will be held at the Eighth Street Christian Church Thursday afternoon at three o'clock by his pastor, Dr. H. G. Haney, assisted by the Rev. Leon Russell, Methodist minister of Rocky Mount. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The body will remain at the Wilkerson Funeral Home and will be carried to the church one hour prior to the time of services. Members of the Greenville Masonic Lodge will have charge of the services at the grave.

Mr. Harris, son of the late J. Henry and Susan Brown Harris, was a native of Pitt County. He was married in 1926 to Miss Ruth Haskins, and for the past 30 years had been a member of the Greenville Masonic Lodge, No. 284, A.F.&A.M., was past Master of the Lodge, a 33rd Degree Mason, a Shriner, and member of Sudan Temple of New Bern. He was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church and a member of the Board of Deacons.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. George W. Davis of Wilson and Miss Nancy H. Harris of the home; two brothers, J. L. and W. S. Harris of Greenville; and three sisters, Mrs. E. W. Braxton of W. S. J. McLawhorn of Winterville, and Mrs. H. L. Cherry of Greenville.

Negro Principals Review Findings

The third regular monthly meeting of Pitt County Negro school principals yesterday was highlighted by a discussion on findings from a guidance conference that two county teachers had attended recently.

The two teachers, Mrs. Willie McGorham Williams of Stokes Elementary School and Miss Pencie C. Nixon of Bethel School, led a discussion on findings gathered at a conference of guidance counselors of the State that was held at North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham.

County high school supervisor Miss Hazel J. Jordan participated in the discussion. Principals were urged to cooperate in guidance program as well as support it. It was pointed out that children's attitude and behavior should be stressed.

Information regarding employment opportunities for the students upon graduation from school was presented by the three women.

County Superintendent of Schools D. H. Conley said the principals discussed the regular routine business that usually comes up during the school month.
