THIRTEENTH HIGHWAY FATALITY—One person was killed and two others injured Wednesday night when the auto pictured above crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer near Greenville. Killed was Bobby Joe Buck, 20, of Greenville, Route Two. Injured were Russell Guy Lancaster, 21, and Howard Evans, 21. The accident marked the thirteenth highway death in Pitt County this year. During 1952 twelve persons were killed in highway accidents in the county. (Reflector Staff Photo).

Two Others Injured When Car Hit Semi-Trailer Youth Killed In Auto Crash

One person was killed and two others seriously injured in a Thanksgiving Eve highway accident near Greenville Wednesday night. Killed was Bobby Joe Buck, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Buck of Greenville Route 2. Injured in the accident were Russell Guy Lancaster, 21, of Greenville Route 2, and Howard Evans, 21, of Greenville Route 3, who were in the automobile with Buck at the time of the accident. The highway fatality Wednesday night brought to 13 the number of people killed on Pitt County roads during 1953—one more than was killed in highway accidents in the county during 1952. Highway Patrolman Jim Davis, who investigated the accident, said the automobile driven by Buck crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer owned by Taylor Transfer Company of Greenville, and driven by Charles Womack, 36-year-old Negro of 107 West Sixteenth Street, Greenville. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock at the intersection of the fire tower road and Evans Street extension near Greenville. Davis said the truck was parked at a store at the intersection, and had just pulled across the intersection headed toward Greenville on Evans Street extension when the collision occurred. His investigation indicated the rear of the truck had not gotten across the center line of the fire tower road when the automobile crashed into the rear of the truck, Davis said. The automobile, he added, was apparently traveling at a "high rate of speed." Lancaster and Evans were both taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital following the accident, and Lancaster was transferred to Taylor Hospital in Washington later Wednesday night. Evans suffered a head injury and hip injury, and his condition was

Moscow Proposal Apparently Carries Concession To West

4-Power Talk Offer Scrutinized

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and his chief policy advisers put Russia's four-power conference proposal under searching study today to determine whether it is a serious step toward easing world tensions or a clever stab at the unity of the West. Russia sent the Western Powers yesterday an eight-page note proposing a foreign ministers' meeting in Berlin, at a date still to be set. Contents of the note were not immediately made public but information available here was that the Soviets seemed to have given up their previous insistence that a Big Five meeting, including Red China, would have to be arranged before they would take part in a Big Four session. Such a concession could mean a gain in the Western efforts to deal with the Russians in conference on specific problems, notably the unification of Germany and conclusion of an Austrian independence treaty—always provided the Soviets have not interposed other unacceptable conditions. But there was immediate speculation here, in the British press and elsewhere abroad that the Russians might really be trying to maneuver the downfall of French Premier Laniel's government and cripple the Western Big Three conference opening in Bermuda a week from today. The timing of the Russian announcement, and the thing it didn't say, fed this speculation. Laniel fights for his government's life today during debate in the French Parliament on support of the proposed European Defense Community Treaty. Russia is bitterly hostile to this pact, under which half a million Germans would be put in uniforms as part of a Western European army. Laniel, who supports the pact, under which half a million Germans would be put in uniforms as part of a Western European army. Laniel, who supports the pact, under which half a million Germans would be put in uniforms as part of a Western European army. Laniel, who supports the pact, under which half a million Germans would be put in uniforms as part of a Western European army.

British Doubtful Of Russian Note

LONDON (AP)—The British Foreign Office cautioned today that Russia's willingness to talk things over with the West does not necessarily mean a basic change in the Soviet attitude to world problems. A Foreign Office spokesman said a Soviet note expressing such willingness emphasized also the Russians would press at Big Four talks for a wider conference to include Communist China. The Russians, the spokesman added, gave no indication what level they sought for any five-power meeting. Neither Womack, driver of the truck, nor his wife who was riding in the truck, was injured in the collision, Davis reported. The patrolman said the automobile was almost completely demolished in the crash, and the rear of the truck was damaged. Pitt Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated this morning an inquest into the death of Buck will be held as soon as Lancaster and Evans are able to testify at such an inquest. No charges have been brought in connection with the accident, and Rouse said charges, if any, will not be brought until after the inquest is held.

Hiss And Others Included In Committee Study Spy Probe Scope Broadens

By WARREN ROGERS JR WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) today left the issue of questioning Igor Gouzenko to Canadian and U. S. diplomats and pressed forward on other fronts in his Communist-in-government probe. He issued a statement which said the Internal Security subcommittee, which he heads, has nine former government employees, including Alger Hiss, "now under special scrutiny." The subcommittee is trying to determine who was responsible for their continued employment, which in most cases, involved promotions, increased authority, continued access to government secrets, and increases in pay," the statement said last night. It was thus apparent Jenner plans no further steps until there is a fresh exchange of views between Secretary of State Dulles and Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson. Jenner's subcommittee has asked and been rejected, then asked again for Canadian permis-

Skepticism Over Vishinsky's Boast

By MAX HARRISON UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western Diplomats were skeptical today of a hint by Andrei Y. Vishinsky that Russia may have types of atomic and other weapons that the West hasn't. The chief Soviet delegate to the U. N. dropped his mitigation yesterday in the General Assembly's 60-nation Political Committee just before that group rejected every proposal in his package plan for easing world tension. Some delegates suggested privately that Vishinsky had timed his remark to distract attention from his plea, which he could foresee. It was agreed every day more attention than the vote. The Vishinsky peace package called for a ban on all atomic and hydrogen weapons, a one-third reduction in the armed forces of the big powers, the abandonment of all foreign bases and the elimination of propaganda of a hostile nature. Just what Vishinsky said about Russia's new weapons was still being disputed today. He spoke in Russian and U. N. translators turned out two versions. The version relayed to the delegates as Vishinsky spoke said that the Western Powers "do not have and other weapons that the Soviet Union already has." Other Russian experts went back to a tape recording of the original speech in Russian and came up with a translation saying the other powers "possibly" do not possess all the weapons the Russians have. There was no doubt, however, about Vishinsky's claim that Russia now has overtaken the West in atomic and hydrogen weapons. "It is not correct to say that we are weaker in this field of endeavor," he declared. U. S. military authorities have repeatedly denied that the Russians are anywhere close to the United States in either atomic or hydrogen bomb production. The Political Committee's rejection of the Soviet "peace" resolution cleared the deck for a final round of debate on Burma demands for the withdrawal to Formosa of Chinese Nationalist irregulars from Burmese territory. A limited withdrawal, which is expected to remove about 2,000 of the 12,000 troops involved, began early this month and the debate was recessed to see how the operation progressed.

Planning Board Defers Action On 2 Other Items New Subdivision Plat OK'd

By BOB BOYLETTE Reflector Staff Writer Greenville City Planning Board approved a plat for a subdivision and deferred action on two other items at the regular monthly meeting Wednesday night. The Board approved the Evans-Murray-Allen subdivision plat for lots and streets, providing it conforms with City Ordinance No. 21. Ordinance No. 20 is a subdivision ordinance which new subdivisions must conform with to be allowed to become a corporate part of the city. A discussion was held on commercial and industrial building setbacks, but the Board decided to begin a study of building line setbacks in both the commercial and industrial areas of Greenville as a view of establishing a policy for the city as a whole. No policy will be recommended until a thorough study can be made. Action was also deferred on the proposed subdivision regulation the Board plans to set up. The Board discussed the possibility of holding a special meeting to discuss nothing but the proposed subdivision regulation. O. J. Stancill appeared before the Board to request that the Board reconsider re-zoning his wife's property on the corner of Third and Jarvis Streets. He explained that he felt that the action taken by the Board at the last meeting was unfair to him. Stancill pointed out that no one opposed the service station that would be built there if the property were rezoned commercial, and that that corner of the four at that intersection already had a business development. After a discussion the Board decided not to recommend that the Council reconsider Stancill's request due to a traffic problem that could develop there should a service station be built, and because owners of the other two corners of that intersection could request their property to be rezoned and the Board would have to recommend it under the General Statutes of North Carolina. Board members present at the meeting included Chairman Frank Little, Tom Rivers, and Mrs. D.M. Clark. Others present were Mayor W.L. Wheedee, City Manager James S. Hughes, and Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Greenville Utilities Commission.

U.S. Envoy Limits Role Of 'Observers' Stipulates Parley Terms

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur Dean indicated today the Allies will agree to Red demands that neutral observers be invited to a Korean peace conference—if Russian attends as a Communistelligent. Dean stressed that nonbelligerent observers would have a voice but no vote. Summarizing items "on which both sides can probably reach agreement," Dean made several stipulations regarding what he called "nonvoting observers." The spokesman for 16 United Nations which fought in Korea is not authorized to approve invitations for neutrals during the negotiations to set up a peace conference. Informed quarters emphasized, however, that he would not have told the Communists "both sides can probably reach agreement" on something he could not deliver. Meanwhile, the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission rebuffed the U. N. Command for the second time when it turned down a request that 15 ex-Communists be authorized to interview 22 Americans, 1 Briton and 328 South Koreans who have refused to come home. The commission again set a limit of five Allied explainers. The U. N. Command has not indicated when it will start trying to persuade the balky prisoners to Communist efforts to woo home about 20,000 unrepatriated Chinese and Koreans remained stalled by Red refusal to accept rule changes. Only 26 working days are left before the Dec. 23 deadline for winding up the interviews. The repatriation commission also ruled that it has no jurisdiction over three North Korean soldiers who fled to safety at Panmunjom Nov. 19. The decision cleared the way for eventual release of the trio in South Korea. Dean was asked after the session whether his statements meant there was a possibility of the United Nations accepting participation of neutral nations at the Korean peace conference. "I don't say that this is a possibility, but I have to know precisely what they have in mind before I report back to the United Nations," he replied.

Argue Supreme Court Has Full Authority To Strike Down School Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department told the Supreme Court today that the court is fully empowered to strike down racial segregation in public schools. In response to an invitation of the court, where five school segregation cases are pending, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell and his chief aides filed a brief asserting that the 14th amendment to the Constitution "compels a state to grant the benefits of public education to all its people equally, without regard to differences of race or color." The brief said the question is not "whether there is equality as between schools," adding: "The Constitution requires that there be equality as between persons." The cases before the court are from Kansas, South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia. Fourteen other states require segregation of Negro and white pupils and three others permit it. The pending cases were originally argued many months ago when the government filed a brief opposing segregation practices in the public schools. Subsequently, the court ordered reargument for Dec. 7 and meanwhile asked that all parties, and the attorney general, submit additional briefs designed to answer questions in the mind of the court relating to the legislative history of the 14th amendment and its ratification by the states.

Laniel Believed To Be Winner

PARIS (AP)—Unofficial tallies today indicated that Premier Joseph Laniel had received a vote of confidence, in the National Assembly. The unofficial figures gave Laniel a majority of about 17 votes. The vote came at the end of a tension charged day in the National Assembly's debate on French foreign policy. The vote reflected reluctance to throw Laniel out of office on the eve of the Bermuda conference and just after Laniel had offered to meet the Western Big Three to discuss world tensions. Early in the day it seemed Laniel would have difficulty in getting approval from the deputies of his party on European unity. Then at one point Foreign Minister Georges Bidault threatened to resign because he felt he had been slighted by the premier.

Spent $11 Billion In Two Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures say the government spent 11 billion dollars in the first two months of the fiscal year which started July 1. The government had about 150 billion of spending authority left for the remaining 10 months, said the report issued yesterday by the group's chairman, Sen. Byrd (D., Va.).

Secret Of Couple's Disappearance In 1931 Is Suddenly Broken

ORANGE, Tex. (AP)—The enduring love of Betty McCuddy and Tom Buntin, the full story of a secret even from their children, after 22 years, rallied friends and neighbors to their side today. Back in 1931, insurance man Thomas C. Buntin of Nashville, Tenn.—called an alcoholic incapable of earning a living outside his wealthy family's business—disappeared. Six weeks later, after Buntin's will had been mailed from St. Louis, the pretty Russellville, Ky., girl who had been his secretary vanished too. The cost to the lovelorn pair: a wife, three sons, family prestige and a thriving business to him; her family and a share in a million dollar estate for unmarried Betty. Only rumor and speculation ever connected the two disappearances. As much of the story as anybody knows began in Brownsville, Tex., weeks after the disappearance when Tom and Betty decided to let their love flower in the lush Rio Grande Valley. Their plane to New Orleans was grounded there by bad weather. They moved here from Brownsville about five years ago. Tom, 28, proved not to be the ne'er-do-well a Tennessee Supreme Court branded him. He and 22-year-old Betty stayed in Texas and somewhere along the years assumed the names of Mr. and Mrs. Y. Yesterday, their love—after 22 years of happiness and six children—was splashed across the nation's front pages. The Nashville-Tennessean broke the story in a copy-righted dispatch. "Today, dazed by the quick developments, the tall, thin man and the motherly woman with gray in her hair waited to tell their love story to the children rushing to their home here. Neighbors dropped by to chat last night as Tom and Betty, four of their children with them, ate a belated Thanksgiving day dinner. Silent and miserable, almost bitter earlier in the day, they took on a more cheerful manner as their old friends rallied around. "They're among the finest people I know," a prominent Orange resident told the Associated Press. "Everybody in the neighborhood thinks the world of them," a neighbor told reporters. "We were in love," Betty told Nashville-Tennessean reporter John Seigenthaler. "Money didn't mean too much to us. If money had meant anything, we wouldn't have done what we did." Both were prepared today to return to their jobs to which they commute in nearby Beaumont. Tom's an employe of an appliance firm. Betty works as a court stenographer. "What can I do?" asked a teen-

Far-Reaching Effects Seen In Air Secretary's Reversal Order

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officers speculated today over the effect Secretary of the Air Force Talbot's reversal of a reserve officer's security dismissal might have on similar cases under study. Talbot would say only that "the decision was mine alone."

He authorized this direct quotation for a report some hours after he announced yesterday that he had cleared Lt. Milo J. Radulovich, who had been threatened with discharge because of alleged Communist sympathies of his father and sister.

In recent months the Air Force alone has been faced with security decisions involving about 100 officers. All have arisen from derogatory information supplied to security officers, mostly from within the Air Force itself.

In some of the cases the officers involved have chosen to accept discharge under honorable conditions. Other cases are still pending.

The other military services are known to have had similar security problems. The Radulovich case has been one of the very few that has come to public attention.

In this case, as in similar ones, the person involved is informed in writing that the military service is considering revoking his commission. He is told the nature of the information lodged against him and given a choice of accepting discharge under honorable conditions or of fighting to stay in the service.

In most cases, the individual has chosen to go along with regulations and keep the matter between himself and the service concerned. There have been cases where an individual has requested and gained a hearing, with no word leaking out to the public.

In the case of Radulovich, the Air Force gave him all the rights provided in the rules. He received written notice of intention to dismiss him. He asked for and was given a hearing before a security board convened by the 10th Air Force at Selfridge Field, Mich. After that hearing he sent a brief to the Air Force personnel council in Washington.

The original security board found he was a doubtful security risk—but did not question his loyalty—and recommended that his commission be recalled. The personnel council, top-ranking adviser to the Air Force secretary on such matters, disagreed with some details but agreed with the conclusion.

Thus, Talbot overruled all of the agencies and advisers provided for him by law in clearing Radulovich.

Air Force officers said security investigations would continue when warranted by information received.

"We will have to judge each case on its own merits just as we have been going all along," said one officer who declined to be named. "Of course, it may dampen the enthusiasm of some of our security investigators, but after all, they are following the regulations."

Radulovich's attorney had said his client was accused because his sister reportedly joined in a Communist picket line and his father read a "radical" newspaper.

Talbot, in ruling the 26-year-old officer is not a security risk, said his "association with his sister is not such as to make her activities and beliefs the determining factor in this case."

He added that the record does not support the conclusion that the father had engaged in activities of "such a type as to bear upon the decision in this case."

Radulovich, married and the father of two children, now lives at Dexter, Mich., and attends the University of Michigan as a GI student. He served about eight years in the Air Force before going on inactive duty.

Jail Familiar, And Confusing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A new booking desk resembling the one at Charleston's city jail has been installed as part of the face-lifting job at Kanawha County Jail.

One of the county jail's regulars, a 68-year-old man charged with drunkenness, was booked yesterday. On his way to a cell, the man mumbled to himself:

"It's a hell of a thing when a man can't tell which jail he's in."

Burglar Wasted A Lot Of Effort

REDDING, Calif. (AP)—The burglar sawed through the flooring to get into the store, tried to chip the safe loose from its cement base, then tried to burn his way into it with a torch. About that time he was either frightened away or gave up in disgust.

Kind of a shame, in a way. The safe wasn't locked and there was $1,100 inside.

Santa Will Dominate Five Points

Mrs. Cora Powell, left, and H. Frank Steinbeck, chairman of the Trade Promotions committee, view the Santa Claus that will be placed at Five Points during the Christmas season. The Trade Promotion committee is in charge of the decorations and Steinbeck said that additional funds are needed to complete the decorations. The chairman said that both interested parties and local merchants are paying for the Yule decorations, but merchants who have not contributed yet are urged to do so immediately so the lights can be turned on Friday night as scheduled. Materials used this year are three-ply aluminum foil that will show up nicely, according to Steinbeck. (Reflector Photo by Bob Boyette).

TRAFFIC TROUBLE
 VICKSBURG, Miss. (UP)—The city followed a traffic engineer's advice to eliminate a traffic bottleneck by prohibiting parking along a three-block zone. But irate property owners made such a clamor at city hall that workmen were ordered to return "no parking" signs to their crates before they could get them set up. Mayor Pat Kelly said he was waiting for the traffic engineer to tell him what to do next.

Trieste Brawl Could Be Mutually Embarrassing

By PAUL HURMUSE
 ATHENS (AP)—What will Greece and Turkey do if Italy and Yugoslavia plunge into an all-out brawl over Trieste?

The question is a diplomatic brain twister. Here's why:

Greece and Turkey are partners with Yugoslavia in the Balkan defense alliance. They are also linked to Italy by NATO. Yugoslavia is not.

Early this year, Greek government circles spoke ambitiously of offering Greece's services as "mediators" if any dispute arose between Italy and Yugoslavia. When the chance came, Greece preferred not to intervene. Turkey is following suit.

The three member governments of the Balkan alliance are setting up a secretariat to pool common efforts against possible Red aggression. A military pact binding Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey may be negotiated to implement the political agreement.

Nobody has ventured to say what the roles of Greece and Turkey would be in the event of an armed attack by Italy against Yugoslavia or vice versa.

The Balkan friendship pact could turn into something mutually embarrassing.

Last winter when the three Balkan allies were negotiating the pact, Italy charged Yugoslavia planned to use the alliance against her. Official Italian government and church circles in Rome said Marshal Tito was getting allies together to strengthen his hand for the Trieste dispute and for his feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

Nevertheless Greek Premier Alexander Papagos invited the Italians to enter the pact, an invitation renewed when former Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi visited Greece last January, a month before the pact was signed.

The Italians, however, are unwilling to make any binding agreements with the Yugoslavs until the Trieste and church issues are settled.

Treasure Find Is Now 'Shrinking'

LAELAND, Fla. (AP)—A man who claimed he found buried treasure under the Suwannee River is now talking about 30 coins of little value instead of thousands worth a fabulous half million dollars or more.

William F. Sneed Jr., a coin collector and hotel operator, said last night the story of a treasure find he told 24 hours earlier in Jacksonville was "misinterpreted."

"I had around 15 doubloons and 15 gold pieces," Sneed said here. He said they did not have too much value but they were found in the vicinity of the Suwannee.

The Florida Times-Union at Jacksonville said its story was accurately written by a reporter who quoted Sneed as saying he found 4,500 Spanish gold doubloons and 3,500 silver pieces of eight worth over $900,000.

A radio-television interviewer at Jacksonville said Sneed also told substantially the same story as that which appeared in the Times-Union. Tommy Tucker of WMBR and WMBR-TV said Sneed told him he found about 8,000 coins in a barnacle-crusted chest under the Suwannee River and they were worth about $300,000.

Both newspaper and radio interviewers said Sneed told them he found the treasure last Saturday under several feet of water near the mouth of the Suwannee.

Last night Sneed, however, said the coins were found about three weeks ago near the Suwannee.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
November 27, 1923
Junior girls class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church met with their teacher, Mrs. D. L. Mangum, in her home yesterday afternoon at 3:30.

The class adopted the name "Willow Workers," with a class motto, "Where There's a Will There's a Way" and the class aim is "To Will To Work and To Work With a Will."

The following officers were elected: president, Dorothy Willard; secretary, Louisa Hooker; treasurer, Helen White; class reporter, Mary Tripp.

The afternoon was spent busily at work on articles for Christmas stockings for a little girl Santa doubtless want find.

The following members were present: Louisa Hooker, Kemp House, Helen White, Grace Wayne, Mable G. Best, Dorothy Willard, Mary Tripp, Louise Harrington, Rowena Dickerson, Hazel Carson, Ida Moore, Lula Speight and Jenine Moore. Homemade candies were served by the hostess.

Christian Science Services
Spontaneous expressions of gratitude by church members for the blessings which a fuller understanding of God's love had brought into their lives was a feature of the annual Thanksgiving service held in Christian Science Society, Greenville, on Thanksgiving morning.

A period devoted to voluntary statements of gratitude is included in the Thanksgiving Day service in all Christian Science churches. Testimonies included mention of healing of physical disorders through the application of Christian Science, as well as other blessings.

The importance of expressing gratitude to God in deeds, rather than just in speech, was emphasized in the Lesson-Sermon read from the desk, entitled "Thanksgiving." It was especially prepared for the day, and consisted of selections from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

First Presbyterian Announcements
Rev. James B. Ficklen, minister of the Howard Memorial Presbyterian Church, Tarboro, will be the teacher of the annual Bible Study, "The Book of Psalms," in the Church Parlor Monday, Nov. 30, at 8 p.m. Each member of the church is urged to be present. The public is cordially invited. Please bring your Bible.

The Session has called a congregational meeting Wednesday night, Dec. 9, at 6:45 in the Fellowship Hall for the purpose of electing four elders and five deacons of the Class of 1956.

Dr. Harold J. Dudley, General Secretary of the Synod of North Carolina, will be the speaker. A covered dish supper will be served. The congregation's nominating committee consists of F. H. Hug, chairman, J. R. Moyer, Miss Christine Johnston, W. J. Cartner, J. Lawrence Smith.

On Sunday, Nov. 29, there will be an interdenominational youth meeting at the Eighth Street Christian Church at 6 p.m. Each young person is asked to bring a bag supper. The Westminster Fellowship of College Students will meet at the Manse, 401 E. 9th Street, Monday afternoon at 5:30 for vesper program and supper.

During the month of December the 11 o'clock Sunday morning services will be broadcast over WGTC.

Thalian Club Continues Study Of Canada

Mrs. T. W. Rivers graciously entertained the Thalian Club on November 17 in her charming home in Brookgreen. A delightful three course luncheon was served to the members and invited guests.

After luncheon the president, Mrs. Wright, called the meeting to order. Mrs. Jack Nobles read the minutes and a letter from the TB Association. A motion was made and carried to buy a bond. Upon the conclusion of the business the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Charles Gaskins who continued the study on Canada, stressing the industries, business and life in each province.

Upon the conclusion of her talk, the books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Lydia Wooten Class To Provide Needy Family With Cheer

The regular meeting of the Lydia Wooten Class of Jarvis Memorial Church was held Monday night at the home of Mrs. A. C. Tadlock, 210 Library St., with Mesdames G. A. Taylor, Arden Tucker, J. W. Tyndall and Jake Venters as co-hostess.

Mrs. Paul Bachelor, class president, opened the meeting with a prayer. Roll call was made and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Lyle Leichter, assistant secretary. The treasurer's report was given.

Plans were made for providing Christmas cheer for a needy family and this project was turned over to a committee.

Mrs. Arden Tucker gave the devotional and Miss Gayle Clapp delightfully entertained the class members by giving two readings of short stories, one by a high school student and the other by Booth Tarkington.

During the social period delicious refreshments of ice cream, cake and nuts were served by the hostesses, after which the meeting was adjourned.

Coffee Hour Given To Honor Bride-Elect

Miss Emille Dupree, bride-elect, was honored at a coffee hour at 5 o'clock Thanksgiving Day by Mrs. John A. Clark, Miss Shirley Clark and Mrs. Fenner Allen Sr. at the home of Mrs. Clark.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Clark and the honoree. Arrangements of bridal white and green were predominant in decorations for the occasion.

Mrs. Allen served coffee from a table centered with arrangements of white chrysanthemum and greenery and white tapers.

Decorated sandwiches, nuts, mints and ham biscuits were served to about 35 guests.

Mrs. Clark said goodbyes at the door.

Miss Dupree was presented a corsage of white chrysanthemum and crystal and china in her chosen patterns by the hostesses.

Greenville Girl Opens One-Man Show In Local Art Gallery

A one-man show by Mary Anne Keel, native of Greenville, opens today in the local Art Gallery on second floor of Sheppard Memorial Library. Miss Keel is a graduate of Greenville High School (1948), attended East Carolina College for one year, a Fine Arts Graduate of the Ferrer School of Art, Raleigh, attended N.C. State College, taking ceramics, and is at present with the display advertising department of the Raleigh Times in Raleigh.

She has exhibited frequently in the Annual Fine Arts Festival in Greenville. This is her third one-man show, having held one at the Ferrer School in Raleigh and one in Belhaven just last month. She has had her works included in the Sidewalk Show sponsored by the Raleigh Woman's Club, Florida International at Lakeland, Fla., Balentine's Restaurant in Raleigh, J. Sherry Well's Jewelry, Raleigh, and she won first and second prizes for Graphic Art at the N. C. (1953) State Fair.

The works in this exhibition are of several media: oils, mixed media, water colors, woodcuts, monotype, tempera and block prints.

This show will remain in the gallery through December. The public is cordially invited to visit the gallery and see the works of this versatile painter. Gallery hours are daily, except Sunday, from 2:00 to 6:00.

Daughter of South Has Royal Oak In Her Background

(Royal Oak, Mich. Daily News)
If soft, round vowels start pouring from the mouths of a certain third grade class at Adams elementary school, Royal Oak, the answer is easily explainable.

Lytle Batchelor, the children's teacher, was born in North Carolina, and she'll tell you about it without emphasizing a single consonant.

Miss Batchelor, though a fresh graduate of East Carolina College, has "old" roots in Royal Oak. Her mother, the former Marion Lytle, was principal of Grant school, Royal Oak, for several months and then left for graduate study at Columbia. From there, she went to East Carolina College as a teacher, and met the man who became her husband.

Miss Batchelor isn't sure whether the children will pick up her accent. With a smile, she said, "If they do, I sure hope it doesn't stant a wah between the North and South."

Can't Win

ROCKY MOUNT (AP) — Mrs. Lula Jones had had two automobile accidents this year. Although she was blameless, they had cost her about $500 in repairs. Yesterday she decided to avoid heavy Thanksgiving Day traffic by staying home. The car was locked in the garage. Two other cars passed in front of her house. The first one slowed down suddenly and the driver of the second car slammed on his brakes. The brakes locked and the car skidded across a field, slamming into the Jones garage, knocking the Jones car through the rear end of the garage. Mrs. Jones' car was back in the repair shop today.

Booklet Aimed At Red Teachers

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-eight thousand copies of a booklet citing reasons why Communists should be barred from teaching will be distributed to New York City public and parochial schools and college faculties. Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools, said the 40,000 copies needed for the public schools would cost about $2,000, and would be paid from public funds. Booklets for parochial schools and college faculties reportedly will be paid for by an unidentified private donor.

Grimesland 4-H Youth Wins In State Contest

Earl Hardee of the Grimesland 4-H Club was a first prize winner in the 1953 State Junior Tobacco and Sales Contest sponsored by the Tobacco Associates, Inc.

The first prize of a $200 Federal savings bond was awarded to Hardee at Raleigh Wednesday night by J. Henry Vaughn, of Elm City, chairman of the board of Tobacco Associates at the program which honored 4-H Club members, Future Farmers of America and their county agents and agricultural teachers.

Hardee was the first place winner for the eastern district, which is made up of the Eastern and Border Belt markets. First place winner for the western district comprised of the Middle and Old Belt markets was Mae Whittington of Surry County.

Winners of $100 bonds for second place were Ezra Page, Jr., Fairmont and Bill Stephens, Kernersville. Third place winners of $50 bonds were George Taylor, Nashville and William Knight, Summerfield.

The top three winners in each district were chosen from the 215 boys and girls who participated in Junior shows and sales conducted on 13 markets during the past fall. In Greenville the Pitt County Junior Tobacco Show and Sale was held last month and was sponsored by the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade. It was at this show that Hardee won the first place prize of $75 that entitled him to enter the State Junior Tobacco Show. He also won $7.50 in the 4-hand show for the third best display of cutters and $2.50 fifth prize in the leaf class 4-hand show. Second place in the Pitt County show went to C.E. Manning, Jr. of the Belvoir FFA Club; third place to J.R. Lee of the Pactolus 4-H Club; fourth place to Edward Earl Lee of the Stokes 4-H Club and fifth place to Jimmy Stocks of the Winterville FFA.

29.08 Acres of tobacco was grown by the 27 participants in the Pitt County show producing 47,518 pounds of tobacco, which sold for $30,423.48 for an average of 64 cents per pound. By comparison the 215 participants in the State show planted 204.9 acres, producing 285,627 pounds of leaf, and receiving $154,627, or 58.26 cents per pound for it.

The purpose of the Junior Tobacco Show and Sale as set forth on the application blank for the Pitt County Junior Tobacco Show and Sale is "to encourage and educate our young farmer friends to produce better tobacco as well as to improve the handling and grading of tobacco by using the recommended practices in all phases of production and marketing."

Pocahontas Plan Christmas Party

Twenty-one members of the degree of Pocahontas met on Thursday night at the Red Men Hall for a regular meeting. The meeting was called to order by the presiding Pocahontas, Mrs. Bernadine James. Mrs. Myrtle Avery and Mrs. Marlon Vincent acted as officers. The minutes were read and approved. A motion was carried to send a thank you note to Mrs. Minnie Davis for the new roll book obtained from her.

Unsettled plans were discussed for the Christmas party. A committee was appointed to settle and make arrangements for the occasion. A pause of silent prayer was given for Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Roxie Evans won the door prize and Mrs. Pearl Robinson's name was drawn for the Jackpot.

Bride-Elect Honored By Joint Hostesses

Miss Nancy Elks and Mrs. Bob Russ entertained Miss Emily Dupree, bride-elect of December, at a dessert bridge party and miscellaneous shower Saturday night at the home of Miss Elks on East 5th Street.

A dessert course of ice cream pie and coffee was served upon arrival of the guests, after which the honoree was presented many useful and attractive gifts from those present. The hostesses remembered the honoree with a corsage of baby mums and gifts of crystal in her chosen pattern.

During the progressions of bridge Coca-Colas and nuts were served. After scores were totaled Mrs. Joy Mills received earnings for high score and Mrs. Sarah Glasgow earnings for low score.

Nearly 150,000 farms in the United States were electrified in the year ending June 30, 1953.

Wife Murdered In Another Man's Car

SOUTHPORT, N. C. (AP)—Richard Winton Deaver, a 49-year-old dredge crewman, remained behind bars today while his wife was buried at Andrews, S. C.

Mrs. Louise Deaver, 36, suburban-haired and described by her husband as "a good-looking woman," was shot to death Wednesday night as she sat in another man's car. Deaver has been charged with murder.

"I don't know why I did it," Deaver told The Wilmington Star in an interview in his jail cell yesterday.

In a voice broken by sobs, he told how their marriage of 13 years had been interrupted by separations and how they had parted after another quarrel five weeks ago.

Deaver said he went to the cafe where his wife worked as a waitress last week end and begged his wife to return to him.

"I went by the cafe again Tuesday night and I asked her if I could take her home," Deaver said. "She said I could. I bought her a coat and gave it and $20 in cash to her. I picked her up when she got off work."

The husband said they sat and talked for two hours in front of her house but she declined to see him again Wednesday night.

The next night, he parked his car near her cafe and when she and Clifton Sellers, 40, of Southport parked near his car he jumped out of his car and shot once, Deaver reported.

"My wife screamed. I was then holding on to the door handle of her car. They jerked me as they pulled off in the car with me still hanging on. I chased them in my car."

"I forced their car off the road, went on down past them a little, turned around and rammed Seller's car head-on."

"He jumped out and ran up the road. I had my gun and she said, 'Don't kill me, Deaver.'"

"I shot her once. Then I was upset and tried to kill myself. I don't know what made me do it. I feel so awful now. I'm so sorry. Oh, my God."

Mrs. Deaver was a native of Andrews, S. C. The couple had no children.

Prosecution Of Mossadegh At End In His Trial

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and his army judges rested today in preparation for the opening of the former dictator's defense against charges of trying to upset the monarchy and illegally dissolving Parliament.

The way was cleared for Mossadegh to start talking when the chief prosecutor, Brig. Hossein Azemodch, wound up a 35-hour indictment speech yesterday by again demanding the death penalty.

The old politician's lawyer, Col. Jallil Bozorgmehr, told newsmen Mossadegh is set to begin his arguments when the court resumes its sessions tomorrow. "He has been waiting anxiously for this,"

Somebody Told Me

Guessing Game For Local Fans

Football was the subject of my last column, but today it's worthy of mention again. East Carolina College's signing for the Elks Bowl game here on January 2nd has every football fan speculating. Yesterday I was fortunate enough to make a trip to the Post Office during the time there was a bull session in progress on this very topic. Erskine Duff, chairman of arrangements for the game, was the star of the bull session. Gene West, Greenville's Mayor Pro-tem and a member of the Elks Club, was the co-star. Contributing to the session were J. B. Kittrell Sr. and Dr. Melvin Hoot.

East Carolina was a high-standing candidate for the Cigar Bowl at the time of their decision to participate in the local Elks Bowl. Coach Jack Boone himself told me, "We'll make more money in the Elks Bowl than we would have in the Cigar Bowl." And let me explain why I asked him about the money angle: Above everything else, the East Carolina football team needs money. In order to increase seating capacity, and therefore increase attendance and be in a position to attract better teams with higher guarantees, money is necessary.

So it's logical to assume that before accepting the Elks Bowl invitation and passing up the opportunity to go to the Cigar Bowl, East Carolina would know what was coming. Duff would admit nothing to me, except that "one of the teams under consideration has a winning streak of 22 games." And he asked me, "Jack, how would you direct the publicity?" Obviously, even if the opponent has already been decided it's better to delay the announcement. Fans can speculate for a few weeks. The question mark will create more talk, and word of mouth is the greatest publicity-getter known to man.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

PRISON RIOTS
(Washington Daily News)
This year, 1953, has been a year in which the United States has seen many serious prison riots. We are told that at least 24 major riots have occurred in our prisons, and then we have had any number of minor disturbances. Millions of dollars in property has been destroyed, and the effectiveness of our prison system has been challenged.

Then we read that hundreds of prisoners on the inside have little or nothing to do except sit there and brood over their troubles, and that brooding leads to resentment and to disturbances which sometimes grow into full fledged riots. Inmate leadership can usually be found which is capable of organizing such a riot.

In Michigan for example, we are told that the prisoner who led the revolt there had twice been declared insane by courts. Yet, he organized and directed the most destructive prison riot seen in this nation. Had Michigan spent a little money in correcting abuses and organizing a good prison system, the chances are that this great riot would never have occurred. Millions of dollars in property were destroyed there.

Around Capitol Square

MENTED:
That talk of "tenuous bonds" lulls us as the Empire falls apart. It is not just a matter of form that the great, modern, increasingly wealthy country of Canada is discussing a new flag instead of the old one with the Union Jack in the corner. Both large and small countries of the Empire are making the bonds look very tenuous, indeed.

COLLEGEES — The commission authorized by the 1953 Legislature and recently appointed by Governor E. M. Siler to study conditions existing in State supported institutions of higher education got down to work this week. Monday was devoted to hearing spokesmen for the six teacher colleges and Tuesday to the three units of the Consolidated University and the three other university level institutions.

PROBLEMS — Each of the spokesmen at this week's sitting emphasized the importance of his own institution in the scheme of things. While each was generous in complimenting the others, running through the whole story was the always discernible thread of jealous rivalry.

Business Today

Unafraid Of Rumor

By ELMER ROESSNER
Apparently few consumers have been told that the boom is supposed to be leveling off. It is, you know. The tip-sheets and even more respectable commentators have demonstrated that the peak is past. Maybe they are right. But consumers, it seems, either have not heard this or do not take the tip seriously.

meanwhile, food prices are tending lower."
GOVERNMENT TELLS HOW ADVERTISING BENEFITS
Five jobs that advertising can do for small business are cited in a new "management aid" by the Small Business Administration. They are:
1. — Cut selling expenses by reaching many prospects at one time at low cost.
2. — Reach the prospect who won't see a personal salesman.
3. — Safeguard your market position, make known your brand and protect your product against competitors' imitations.
4. — Help you create new markets, introduce new products and seek out new customers.
5. — By helping your company's reputation, it can help you to get the best in materials and man power, increase the capital value of your company, and foster good relations with your community.

The Survey Research Center of Michigan University, which has made some studies of consumer intentions for the Federal Reserve, made another in September and October for Business Week. And, as the magazine points out in a copyrighted article in its current issue, while many consumers have reservations about how good business generally will be next year, most of them are convinced that 1954 will be a good time to buy.

ANCIENT FIBER ADAPTED TO MODERN APPAREL
American engineers can build better pyramids than the Pharaohs; now they can make better ramic fabric than the ancient Egyptians.
For thousands of years, fibers have been extracted from the ramie plant and woven into sturdy cloth, but the process requires too much hand labor for modern conditions. However, three American corporations tackled the problem and have developed methods of growing the ramie, stripping the fiber from the stalk mechanically, of degumming and bleaching it, weaving it into fabric and then finishing with chemicals that add wrinkle-resistance, spot-resistance and color-fastness.

Bowl Games At Home Is A Good Idea

East Carolina's football team has gotten its bowl bid. While it may be disappointing to some of the many Pirate fans in Pitt County that the team is not going to be playing in Florida sunshine on New Year's Day, the fact that the bowl game will be played here at home will mean many more fans will get to see the Pirates battle in a post-season game.

more prestige to the college itself and its outstanding 1953 football team to have been invited to the Cigar Bowl or Tangerine Bowl. But to have a bowl game played on its home field—with the possibility of the game becoming an annual event—is certainly a feather in the cap of the college and its football team. It is likewise a feather in the cap of Pitt County to have a football bowl game played here.

Fitting Tribute To North Carolina

People from all parts of the world still hunger for citizenship in the land of the free, the United States. It was a fitting tribute to North Carolina and the part the state has played in the history of the nation that the largest single group of foreign-born people ever to receive their citizenship in the United States took their oaths in the Tar Heel state this week.

The Elks Clubs which have undertaken the sponsorship of the Elks' Bowl game here are to be congratulated for undertaking the major project. Most folks hereabouts are fully agreed the performances of the Pirates during regular season play this year entitled them to a post-season bowl game without a doubt. And when one stops to consider the matter, there is really no reason why a major college bowl game should not be instituted in this section of the state. It surely has the potential of growing into a major sports attraction.

At Fort Bragg 279 persons representing 25 nations stood in the army base stadium and repeated their oath of citizenship to the United States. The majority of the group was made up of army personnel. Among others were old men and women who during their twilight years of life attained through naturalization one of the most prized possessions in the world—the right to be called an American citizen.

If officials of the Elks' Bowl succeed in getting a college football team equal to the calibre of the Pirates to be the other team in the event, there is little doubt about the success of the initial college bowl game in Greenville. East Carolina College, as well as the many football fans in Pitt County, have every reason to be elated over the rather surprising developments which have come about in the college team's bowl picture in the past few days.

No Place For Leniency In Subversive Cases

For the second time, Alger Hiss has been denied a plea for parole from federal prison to which he was sentenced on charges of perjury in denying that he gave government secrets to the communists. It is fitting, we believe, that Hiss and his fellow communists who are found guilty of betraying their country to a foreign nation be made to serve their sentences rather than being returned to normal lives after only a portion of their sentences have been served.

It is fitting, we believe, that Hiss and his fellow communists who are found guilty of betraying their country to a foreign nation be made to serve their sentences rather than being returned to normal lives after only a portion of their sentences have been served. We know of no case in which a person has been convicted of subversive activities in the United States in which the sentence imposed was more severe than the crime called for in common sense terms. At the same time, The Reflector is inclined to doubt that individual American citizens who have seen fit to betray their government secrets to a foreign nation; or have taken part in an attempt to overthrow the federal government in an attempt to enslave the people of the nation, are capable of returning to positions of loyal members of the American society.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
MAKE IT COME TRUE
People generally esteem us about as highly as we esteem ourselves. If we think little of ourselves and our powers, we find that others think little of them also. If we esteem ourselves as of some worth, we find others accept our evaluation. And this attitude—if kept within reasonable bounds—is not inconsistent with the attitude of humility which the Bible continually enjoins.

A person in this country who stoops to the level of selling out his country to the international bandits of communism should be made to pay in full for his crime. We can see no place for leniency in such an instance.

WASHINGTON—The integration of American and Canadian commercial and military interests achieved by Presidents Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower under World War II and postwar pressures heralds a vast dislocation in international relationships. Although Ottawa may never withdraw from the British Commonwealth, the new continental coalition is viewed with concern in London.

NEEDS U.S. FUNDS—Canada turns to us for funds to expand her industries, her mines, her oil wells and pipelines, her plutonium fields. She needs us as a market. American investment in Canada totals almost $8 billion. One-fourth of all Canadian manufacturing is done in plants below the border. Machinery, equipment and parts flow North, while minerals, timber, farm goods and dairy stuff come our way. She is our best cash customer, as we are hers.

Begin Building Of New Grifton Church

The first step in the construction of the new Grifton Free Will Baptist Church took place when ground breaking ceremonies were held Sunday.

The Rev. C. J. Harris of Greenville officiated at the ceremonies.

Rev. Harris, who assumed his duties on October 1 replacing Rev. Frank Davenport of Tarboro, who was pastor from May, 1952, turned the first spadeful of dirt on the 100-by-150 foot lot. The building itself will measure 28 by 48 feet when completed.

The new church will be constructed of concrete block and will seat about 200 persons when completed.

Parish members will do much of the construction and it is hoped that the building will be completed by Christmas, Rev. Harris said.

The parish currently has some 30 members and has been meeting regularly in the W. I. Bisette building since its founding in May, 1952.

Church services are held each first and third Sundays with Sunday school classes each Sunday.

Another Lesson For The Victim

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—When burglars took $8,500 from Mike Shean's home last week the 66-year-old tavern owner figured things had gone just about far enough.

Remembering the $3,500 he lost the same way in 1944 and the $3,000 burglars got in 1948, Mike ran an ad in the newspapers. From now on, he declared, he was going to be more careful with his money.

Burglars could stay away. The next day he got a phone call from Los Angeles. It was an old friend named Turner, the man said. You remember me, I know where you lost all that money. Want to help you out. Got a fool-proof system for beating the horses. Just send me some money, to M. Turner, Los Angeles.

Mike sent $200. The next day another call, another $100. Then $200 more, then $300.

Yesterday Mike got another call: "Send me more money, only this time to M. Turner, Miami, Fla."

"Where's my winnings?" Mike demanded.

"Don't worry. I'll call you again," the man replied.

Mike went to police. They're looking for M. Turner.

And Mike has made a new resolution: He's going to be more careful with his money. Starting right now.

Churchill Beats TV Plan Foes

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives beat down a rebellion in their own ranks last night, winning approval in the House of Lords of Cabinet plans to introduce commercial television in Britain.

The peers by a 157-87 vote defeated a motion opposing the government's scheme. A full debate is now slated for the House of Commons.

The nation's present TV and radio are a monopoly of the publicly owned British Broadcasting Corp. Under the new plan, some advertising would be accepted to earn money for improving and expanding the service.

Government sources claimed a moral victory in last night's vote in the upper house, contending that between 80 and 150 members abstained from voting. Leading Conservatives opposing the plan include Lord Halifax, former ambassador to Washington, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

The TV issue and other political differences have brought Churchill under bitter criticism from some of his Conservative supporters just as he is preparing for the Big Three meeting in Bermuda.

Letter To Judge Got Daddy Home From City Jail

SEATTLE (AP)—If you had been Municipal Judge John H. Neergaard would you have granted this plea?

"Dear Judge Neergaard: 'You don't know us, but you put our daddy in jail for drunkenness. I'm not blaming you because he had it coming, but would you please let him come home for Thanksgiving because every Thanksgiving and Christmas daddy says grace and it wouldn't be the same.'"

"Our daddy is . . . 'Please let our daddy come home.' Sincerely yours, Mary, Jane and Jackie." The judge did—and canceled the remainder of the sentence too.

Ayden Methodist Church To Hear Bishop Cushman

BISHOP CUSHMAN

AYDEN—Bishop Ralph S. Cushman of Raleigh, is to be guest speaker in a "School for Christ" series at the Ayden Methodist Church from November 29 through December 2.

Bishop Cushman will deliver his first message Sunday morning in the regular eleven o'clock worship service and he will speak each night from Sunday through Wednesday nights at 7:30.

Bishop Cushman is a world known leader in the Methodist Church. He has held some of the outstanding positions in the church world. He has served as Chairman of the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church and other positions both in his own denomination and in Protestantism at large.

Among his pastorates have been: Fall River, Mass.; Flint, Mich.; Geneva, N. Y.; and Rochester, N. Y. Methodist Church in 1932 and served over the Denver area and later the St. Paul area.

Bishop Cushman has also done some writing including: "Meditations and Verse," "The Message of Stewardship," "Practicing the Presence," "Have a Stewardship," "Spiritual Hilltops," "Hilltop Verses and Prayers," "More Hilltop Verses and Prayers" and others.

He is now retired, and Bishop and Mrs. Cushman are now making their home in Raleigh.

Pastor of the Ayden Methodist Church is the Rev. C.M. Fogleman, Jr.

New Bookmobile Goes On Display In Robersonville

ROBERSONVILLE — The new Bookmobile (Library on Wheels), recently purchased with private financial subscriptions by Beaufort, Hyde and Martin counties, was placed on display in Robersonville last Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Copeland of Washington, district librarian, and Mrs. Paul Peel of Williamston were present to give information about the Bookmobile. The traveling library with a capacity of 1,600 books, made stops at the Robersonville schools and the Public Library.

The vehicle has office facilities, ample skylights and electric lights for cloudy days.

The Bookmobile was procured by the people of the three counties in response to a popular demand for library service, the district librarian stated.

Plan Question Doomed Couple

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis police officials will question the doomed kidnap-slayers of Bobby Greenlease Monday in their continuing efforts to track down the missing $303,000 ransom money.

L. A. Long, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, said yesterday Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell and Circuit Atty. Edward L. Dowd will go to the Missouri penitentiary to question Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, both sentenced to die in the gas chamber at Jefferson City Dec. 18.

Mother Sad On Thanksgiving Day

NEW GLARUS, Wis. (AP)—Thanksgiving Day meant little to Mrs. Dorothy Tschudy.

While happier families gathered with traditional festivity, the 28-year-old widow fought her loneliness with "faith that somehow I'm going to get Jeffrey back."

Mrs. Tschudy gave up 2-year-old Jeffrey by court order last week but, with friends and neighbors behind her, is seeking an exception to the State Department of Public Welfare policy that a child placed in a home for adoption needs both a father and mother.

Her husband died last April before adoption could be carried through on Jeffrey, who had lived with them since March 1952 at Albany, Wis.

Released Wednesday from the Monroe Hospital, where she received treatment for shock and fatigue, Mrs. Tschudy spent the holiday here yesterday at the home of her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Arzue. Other members of the family were not invited.

No children were present to remind Mrs. Tschudy of Jeffrey. The holiday dinner was eaten almost in silence.

Mrs. Tschudy had written Wednesday to George Keith, acting director of the Department of Welfare, asking that Jeffrey be allowed to spend Thanksgiving with her.

Keith replied: "I'm sorry. I can't do it. I lack authority to grant the request."

In 1940 there were about 675 American whale ships in the Pacific Ocean with about 15,000 crewmen aboard.

Little Joe Dead; Family Departs

CLYDE, Calif. (AP)—The bereaved family of little Joe Anderson left yesterday for a new home in Oregon—miles from the irrigation canal that made Joe its 33rd victim last week.

"Getting away from here will make the forgetting easier," said Mrs. Warren Anderson. "I'm not bitter at anyone. But Joe is dead. Now they'll build a fence, I'm sure of that."

Joe's father last week wrote a poignant letter to President Eisenhower asking him to build a fence along the canal.

"I can't fence it, nor can any of my neighbors," he wrote, "because it belongs to our government. . . . The canal is your responsibility, Mr. President, and I think if you had known about it one of your first acts as president would have been to have fenced it. Because the canal, Mr. President, has taken 33 lives—mostly babies like your grandson, David, and my boy, Joe. . . ."

A movement is now under way to get the canal fenced all along its 87 miles. The government may go ahead with the work, providing the irrigation district repays the cost.

But the Andersons won't be here then. They're moving to Portland, Ore., "because we don't know anyone there."

They still want the fence built, however. As Mr. Anderson said in his letter to the President, "build it for Joe—not my Joe now because he was the last boy the canal took from his mama and daddy. Not for my Joe, but for some other little Joe—or David—who's all boy and will be No. 34."

Calmly Walloped Intruder's Head

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Mary Weems, 81, didn't scream when a man awakened her yesterday by removing the screen from her bedroom window.

She didn't scream when he started through the window. She calmly lifted a stick of stove wood and whacked him on the head.

The intruder fled, leaving his hat. That was the only trace police found of him.

New Association Of Fox Hunters

Rufus V. Keel, Greenville tobacco warehouseman and ardent fox hunter, today reported details of the East Carolina Fox Hunters Association, a corporation, organized at Goldsboro recently.

The association plans to affiliate with the North Carolina State Fox Hunters' Association.

M.R. Garris of LaGrange was elected president; Jack Loftin of Mount Olive is vice-president, and D. Ed Howell of Goldsboro is secretary and treasurer.

Five directors were elected. They are: G. Frank Seymour of Goldsboro, Joe Wallace of Kenansville, Bunny Baker of Snow Hill, William Pittman of Micro, Luther Ballance of Kenly, Jack Foss of La Grange and Rufus V. Keel of Greenville.

After the election of officers and directors the association voted to hold a three-day fox hunt January 13-15 and to hold a bench show for hunting dogs the night of January 12. The place will be announced later, Keel stated.

Membership fee in the association is $3 and memberships will start as of September 1 each year. Entry fees for the dog bench show is $2.

The President appointed M.R. Garris Jack Loftin and G.F. Seymour on the By-Laws and Incorporation Committee. This committee is to report at the next meeting. The meeting place will be announced later.

The Cat's Paw

by MARION SALTER

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
Charlotte dropped down on Mario's desk. Why now was her heart in such a fright? "Somebody better give me the minutes of this meeting," she said, "so I'll understand these veiled and subtle references."

Tim touched his tie, pushed back his cuffs and cleared his throat. In marvelous mimicry of King, he might have been amusing—except that it all too evidently wasn't. "Quote," Tim began, "I've been receiving threatening letters. Does that surprise you? No, I see it doesn't. I see the remarkable grapevine has been at work. Now as anyone at all cognizant of psychology is aware, threatening notes are the product of a psychotic and to be discounted as such. They give a little person a false feeling of power, under the impression that he or she, the inferior one, is victimizing the one feared and hated. While these notes are hardly pleasant reading, they're not to be taken seriously. I merely wanted to learn who was sending them. Now I know. And as I thought, the individual was of course no danger. The whole thing was rather pathetic. And I think this announcement will put an end to the matter. Unquote. Tim paused. "Thus spake Zarathustra."

Charlotte felt that everyone awaited her comment. Id better seem curious, she thought. "Well, who was it, did he say?" She made her voice breathless. "Everybody suspects everybody," Eric said. "Maybe he doesn't know at all," Charlotte said. "Maybe he just did that to breathe fear into whoever is back of it." She didn't dare look at Velora's face.

"What was the threat though?" Tim asked. "That the sixty-four-dollar question: What's our beloved boss got in his past?"

"Women," Norma said. "Cherchez la femme fatale. So now he takes it all out on us." Norma had never sounded so belligerent, and her pretty face was bitter.

"Why, what else happened?" Charlotte pursued. "His Highness said," Norma went on, "that this sort of poisonous thinking is, of course, contagious, so the innocent must suffer with the guilty, and . . ." She paused for breath.

"So," Dorothy took it up "point one, there will be no dates between members of the advertising staff." She watched Charlotte, who began to draw cats on Mario's layout pad.

"Point two," Dorothy continued, "all desks are subject to inspection without warning. Three, lunch hours are to be staggered, from eleven-thirty to two. Not more than two of us may leave at one time. And last, after today there will be no personal telephone calls, incoming or outgoing. This is a business office, he said."

"Believe it or not," Tim put in. "Business!" "He has his reasons," Dorothy challenged.

"Then about the jewelry," Velora said. "Mr. Cummings said some jewelry was taken from the main floor last week, and it's still not known whether it was an inside job or a kleptomaniac."

Charlotte's heart lurched, and she drew in the cats' whiskers with exaggerated care. The thick silence hung like a fog.

"What's the connection?" Charlotte asked at last.

"Who says there has to be a connection?" It was Tim. "But I don't think for a minute you've heard everything yet. He must sit up nights devising new forms of torture. Here's the final blow. There will be a couple of personnel changes he said. In this office. Just to start the new year right."

"I know it's me going to be fired," Norma said. "I never kidded myself I was great shakes as a copywriter. I hope it is me; then I'll be free of that fiend."

"You know very well it's probably me," Tim said. "Well, one meets the most interesting people work for a—for a cat-killer." "You're beautiful when you're dramatic," he said, "but I don't know what you're talking about." "About two sweet inoffensive creatures that should have scratched your eyes out," Charlotte said. "So you'd better look around for a new advertising manager, and for a new copywriter, too. Because as of January first, I resign," Charlotte leaned across the desk and met his glass eyes. "As you like," he said. "But I think you'll find you're making a mistake. Some jewelry disappeared last week. It occurs to me that the investigators might find your—transgression, shall we call it?—a matter of interest. Especially since it's a matter of record." His glance toward the filing cabinet was almost imperceptible. "There was a tape recorder in this office the day you confessed taking the rings and watches."

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
Charlotte wanted to throw the paperweight at Cummings. She wanted to beat him with small, hard fists. She was a balloon blown to bursting with hate of him.

"Of course," King tempted, "a promotion to advertising manager would automatically exempt you from suspicion. I'd see to that."

She looked at him incredulously. Maggots in his mind, she thought. But the taste of triumph was sweet in her mouth.

"Who killed Osa Field?" she asked softly. She watched his bland, well-oiled face. Was there just a flicker of fear?

"So you did read Velora's piece of prose," he said. "I'm surprised that your mind is so glib and I'm sorry to find you so bitter. I know it's your nature, but I had hoped . . ."

Suddenly he seemed to switch tactics. "Oh, Charlotte, I miss you. I want you, I've got to have you back."

"Doesn't it get stuffy behind your mask?" he said, "and I don't know what you're talking about."

"Look here," he said, "couldn't we talk this over in a more agreeable atmosphere? Say the Mont D'Or, dinner at eight?"

And then the idea danced before her. She gave him her most innocent-eyed look. "Why not?" she said slowly. "The Mont D'Or at eight." She dropped her lashes.

She stood and walked back to the office. She was so tired, she could hardly make her legs go. Left, right, left, right, she told them, like a drillmaster. Yet somehow she had to last till this evening. And then? It all depended; things always depended.

Once the notion crossed her confused mind that perhaps none of this was real. Maybe she was psychotic. Maybe she had delusions of persecution. Maybe she'd just been offered a good job and didn't know even how to take it. Maybe King even loved her—in his obscure way.

She almost laughed out loud. That made her see straight again. Lo, the lengths to which the ego can carry us! Secretly thinking I'm so attractive King might love me; so capable he might really want me for the job I thought I was a realist.

A little after lunch her mother called "Charlotte, I've had you on my mind ever since this morning. I can't help it." She talked fast and apologetically. "I just had to call to beg you to be careful, I have a sort of premonition."

"Of what?" "I can't say, just this sense of something . . ." Her voice trailed off.

"A mother's intuition?" Charlotte asked. "Not that! Listen, after tonight you may not need to worry any more." Charlotte spoke with her hand cupped around the mouthpiece. "What do you mean?" "Just that things have come to a sort of point of no return, and I think there's a bull I can get by the horns at last."

"I wish you wouldn't talk in riddles. Just tell me in simple English."

"I can't very well."

"At least be careful about taking bulls by the horns. Where will it be?"

"Right here, if all goes well."

"Oh Charlotte."

"I'll tell you what, I'll meet you at Barney's, you know, just around the corner, shortly before or after eight. Good-by, now."

"Charlotte, wait!"

The phone clicked in its cradle as Charlotte hung up.

Her gaze traveled around the office. She was suddenly sure this would be her last day here.

"This is a business office," Tim had quoted King. Business! That's where King had miscalculated. He thought Charlotte still had business ambitions. He didn't know how long they'd been dead.

Business! The young girls came in here applying for jobs. They had morning in their faces, and they said, "I want to be a copywriter." Being a copywriter she wanted to tell them, was pretty much a matter of prying open pocketbooks, as though they were so many oysters. And of the public, so they'd understand you. Serve Mammone, serve the public, learn to be coy on the typewriter and you'll succeed. And oh, yes, above all you must think you're smart. Never for a minute doubt it.

It had been a long time since Charlotte had thought she was smart. The young things were welcome to her job.

But what then would I like to be? . . . Back home, the child Charlotte had dreamed of the things she'd be when she grew up. She'd be a poet, weaving words into patterns of beauty. She'd be a chemist in a white coat and discover a cure for cancer. She would be a lawyer, and the jury would be carried away with her words.

There were still just as many exciting things to be as ever a child could imagine. The difference was the death of expectations. The lost magic of youth which was now a bridge she had burned behind her.

The difference was the numbness inside.

Now Charlotte thought it would be restful to type bills of lading for a living or run an elevator, up and down. But she would worry about that after tonight. After tonight she could make New Year's resolutions. First, off with the old . . .

In her mind she began to say good-by to the others, checking them off. Good-by, Mario starting into space. What do you see? So long, Velora, I never saw your hair uncombed before. Good-by, Dorothy, frustrated female. What becomes of your type? But why are you staring at King's door like that? And Tim, smoking one cigarette after another and looking lost good luck with whatever you're brooding about. I'm for you, Good-by, Norma who bores me, with your grocery lists, your swatches for slipcovers and drapes, your dull domesticities. So long.

None of them had any meaning for Charlotte. She'd never known them at all. Except Eric whom she might have loved in another life. It was as though Eric had caught her thought waves. He suddenly came over to her desk and leaned down, speaking low.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BARNTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

How to build a dog house seems to be a far cry from the problems usually pursued in this department. But it isn't. It's just the latest howl. A reader wants to know how to plan a dog house. Maybe she assumes we must have had experience inside such a structure.

Well, we don't happen to have any doghouse plans with two bathrooms and expansion attics on our desk at the moment. But since dogs are a problem to householders everywhere and since the construction of a good dog house might set an example for such modern construction, let's take a look at the dog problem.

If you don't think this involves a bone of contention, you must live in the best of regulated neighborhoods. Harry Henderson, writing about big suburban developments in Harper's magazine, observes that one detail the super planners overlook in new home communities is dogs—dogs brought from apartments by young home buyers, who turn the pooches loose to roam through neighbors' yards.

"The result," says Henderson, "is that the dogs form great packs which race through the area, knocking down small boys and girls, and wrecking gardens and flower beds." When they are tied up they howl and bark. When they are locked up in the house, they charge out to bite mail carriers and delivery men. In one community 13 mail carriers were bitten in one summer.

Now this is no criticism of the best friend a reporter ever had. In fact, we love dogs just as much as (and when) they love us. While raking up some rubbish in the fall, we found that neighbor Harry O'M's handsome and lanky Irish setter pup was a wonderful diversion—a perfect time killer, barking at each reach of the rake and running after every stick we'd throw—until we took off a good pigskin glove to light a match to the rubbish pile and the pup ran off with the glove.

Well, we didn't complain to Harry O'M, but meeting J.D. of Ho-hokus, N.J., (which is many miles away), we unbored.

"You know, John," we said, "we can't keep on buying five-dollar gloves for a pup to hide in the woods."

"Try buckshot," John said. But that wasn't the answer. Who would want to hurt a handsome animal like Harry's setterpup? Besides, our village has rules against guns.

"You don't want a gun," John replied. "Get a sling shot. All suburbanites use sling shots. You can make one. It's a good do-it-yourself project. Or buy one. They're advertised in the papers. They don't hurt the dogs. Just sting 'em and they won't come back."

Well, no dog in this David's neighborhood is named Goliath, so we haven't tried John's sling shot idea. But to see the holes made in our newly sown lawn you'd think that all dogs were giants of horse size.

And it made us feel sad the other day when neighbor Harry said he'd given his setter away—too many complaints from people.

So we decided that if we ever had a dog again, the way we'd plan a dog house would be to keep a soft rug in front of the fireplace and cut a swinging panel in the bottom of the front door so Rover could run in and out to his heart's content—in, to get away from the neighbors, and out, to remind them that the best part of living in a house is—living.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee and Solicitor Eli Bloom disposed of 16 cases, and 11 of them were for motor vehicle or traffic law violations.

Robert Lee Simpkins, Route 5, Greenville, driving drunk, 60 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to drive a motor vehicle for a year. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year.

Mary Moore Haddock, Route 3, Greenville, careless and reckless driving, was found guilty of following too close and failure to keep proper lookout. The court continued prayer for judgment on payment of $20, costs deducted. The judgment provides that she is not to drive a motor vehicle for 60 days unless she makes restitution for property damage to David Moye of Snow Hill.

Johnny Vance, Negro, paid $5 for not stopping at a stop sign.

William N. Lovitt, Negro, was not guilty of having defective brakes.

Speeding: Jimmy Earl James, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $35, costs deducted. He is not to operate a motor vehicle for 30 days.

William C. Swanson, $15.

Milton Barrett, Negro, assault on a female, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15, and he is not to molest or threaten Katie Bell Richardson.

Phillip Baker, Negro, following too close, $20, costs deducted. He is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year unless he makes adequate restitution to Jehu Taft.

are we going to expand present units or add new ones, and what should be policy with respect to housing of students.

Dr. Gray touched upon one point, which may be the heart of the whole matter, but which has usually been skirted or completely avoided. That is how far the budgeting agencies of the State should go in making educational decisions. That echoed his opening facetious comment, but there is nothing funny about the problem. The allocation or withholding of money by budget authorities can often be the determining factor in decisions which properly belong to educators.

As to competition among the colleges and complaints that University standards for graduate degrees are too high, Gray said that if the people and the Legislature of North Carolina wanted degrees like Ph. D made easier to get, he hoped other institutions would be authorized to grant them and that University requirement would not be lowered. "If error is to be made," he said,

"I would rather err on the side of too strict requirements than to relax and cheapen them." No discussions of this kind at this time could fail to take cognizance of the segregation question. President Gray agreed with President F.D. Bludorf of A&T that whatever the judicial decision or legal impact might be, as a practical matter there will continue for a long time in North Carolina institutions predominantly for whites and others predominantly for colored students.

Nobles Runs 35 Yards For Lone Greenville TD

If you can't join 'em, beat 'em at their own game.

That is apparently the thought in mind as East Carolina College's Pirates open preparations for their January 2 Elks Bowl. The game will be the first of its kind in Eastern North Carolina.

The Pirates accepted the invitation to play in the game after being snubbed by both the Tangerine Bowl and the Cigar Bowl. They were given the official heave-ho by the Tangerine Bowl last week while the Cigar Bowl had never gotten around to giving any sort of a definite statement on the Pirates' position with them.

The Greenville Elks Club is spearheading sponsorship of the new bowl game. Proceeds from the game, after expenses, will be used for the Elks' Eastern North Carolina Boys Camp.

No announcement has been made regarding opposition for the Pirates. Officials connected with the game would say only that the Pirates' foe would be a conference champion. There was no indication as to the club's conference membership or its geographical location.

Preliminary speculation about the game would suggest Westchester State or Clarion State. Both are Pennsylvania teams with splendid records. Clarion defeated the Pirates 13-7 last year in the Lions' Bowl at Salisbury. Westchester, ironically, was supposed to have gotten the bid for that game but they had to cancel their agreement to make the trip.

Erskine Duff, chairman of the committee attending to arrangements for the game, said at the time of the initial announcement that details are being worked out. He added that further information about the contest would be revealed "from time to time."

With that bit of football information out of the way, one is reminded that tomorrow's games will close up show for the Big Four.

Wake Forest got the jump on Duke, State, and Carolina by upsetting South Carolina yesterday. The win was a welcome one for the Deacons and a comforting end to an otherwise miserable season.

Duke and Carolina hold the most interest, however, with their game tomorrow. Duke, of course, is figured to win the game but the Tar Heels have shown signs lately of realizing what their own Split-T offense is good for.

The Tar Heels looked good last week in romping all over poor little Virginia. Leonard Bullock, Ayden's own, looked as if he were born to operate the Split-T and is slated to start tomorrow against the Blue Devils.

Duke is supposed to be in top shape for the game. That means the Old Redhead, Red Smith, will be back in operating shape. If he is, then Carolina may have more than it can handle. Smith, one of the best football players ever developed in North Carolina, has good days against the Tar Heels and he has an added incentive this year in that he needs but two touchdowns to break a Duke scoring record set by Clarence Parker, the Ace of them all.

We pick Duke. The score will be a big one if Bill Murray has Smith. Otherwise, Carolina might make it more than a traditionally interesting football game.

Banged-up State, already more interested in the forth-coming basketball season than in the dismal record of its football team, has sent a representative group down to Tallahassee, Florida, in hopes of finally bringing home a victory to go with the one they have over even-miserable Davidson. The Wolfpack might do just that.

Last year, State and Florida State met for the first time in Riddick Stadium. The game was a close one but the Wolfpack turned a pass interception into 13-7 victory over the Seminoles. Both clubs have basically the same material this year and with Eddie West in good shape the Wolfpack might roll tomorrow.

On the basis of the Wolfpack record for the year, it would be dangerous to pick them but we're going to do it. State will have to rally its sagging morale to do the trick, though. That has been their biggest opponent for most of the season.

The North State Conference wound up its business yesterday with East Carolina line coach Clyde Biggers' Catawba Indians in second place.

Biggers' team rolled 14-0 over improving Lenoir-Rhyne to take undisputed possession of the runner-up spot. The Indians did all of their scoring in the first half and then hung on for dear life to bounce Clarence Stasavich's Bears. The victory gave Catawba a 4-1-1 record for the year. The loss was to East Carolina.

Gulford moved into fifth place in the final standings by dumping Elon 9-0. Reuben Slade, the lad with the golden toe, kicked a field goal for Gulford's first three points and then Charlie Strider recovered a fumble to set up Mack Privott's touchdown run.

A quick North Charleston, S.C., All-Star team scored in every quarter yesterday afternoon to defeat Greenville's Midget All-Stars 37-7 in the first Thanksgiving Day battle between the teams.

The Cooper River All-Stars took advantage of defensive mistakes on the part of the Greenville team to win the game. They mixed the Split-T and single wing offenses effectively and kept Greenville off-balance throughout the game.

Greenville's lone touchdown was scored in the fourth quarter when Dick Nobles went 35 yards on an end-around. Nobles had taken a handoff from quarterback Charlie Rumley to start the scoring run. The extra point came on a pass from Rumley to end Klutz Fisher.

First Blood

The South Carolinians drew first blood in the game with a 15-yard end sweep in the first period. In the second quarter, they operated from the T to complete an eight-yard scoring pass. In the third quarter a T handoff through the middle was good for two yards and another touchdown. Two fourth-quarter touchdowns came on a 40-yard runback of an intercepted pass and a 25-yard end sweep.

Greenville's Split-T offense was hampered considerably by ragged play in ball handling. The Greensies fumbled five times during the game and the South Carolina squad recovered four times. The Greenville squad was outweighed about six pounds per man.

About 1500 fans saw the College Stadium contest. It is hoped by the sponsors of the game, Recreation Department and Exchange Club officials, that it will become an annual affair on a home-and-home basis. No admission was charged but voluntary contributions were accepted to help defray the expenses of the North Charleston group.

The South Carolina team was quartered in the East Carolina College gymnasium. Their meals were provided by approximately 50 Greenville mothers who also provided housing for the South Carolina cheering squad.

Warren Carroll, Recreation Department director, pronounced the entire Thanksgiving Day program a success. He singled out the group of mothers for special praise and thanks for their assistance.

The North Charleston team left early today on their return trip.

Captains of the Stokes-Pactolus Blue Jays will be Nancy Worthington and Carl White. Both are seniors and will be in the line-ups for their respective teams Tuesday night when Stokes opens the 1953-1954 basketball season with Chicod.

Stokes-Pactolus To Have 20-Game Basketball Card

STOKES — The Stokes-Pactolus Blue Jays will open a 20-game basketball schedule here Tuesday night when they meet the Chicod Hornets in a basketball doubleheader.

The Blue Jays have 14 Pitt County Conference contests scheduled. Non-conference games will be played with Lenoir, Oak City, Walsenburg, Aurelian Springs, and Chowinville.

Nancy Worthington and Carl White have been named captains for the teams this year. Both are seniors.

The complete schedule:

December 1, Chicod; 4, Winterville; 8, at Ayden; 11, at Belvoir; 15, Grimesland; 23, Lenoir; 29, January 5, Farmville; 8, at Grifton; 12, at Chicod; 15, at Bethel; 19, at Winterville; 22, Oak City; 26, Belvoir; 29, Grifton.

February 2, at Grimesland; 5, at Oak City; 9, Walsenburg; 12, Bethel; 16, Chocowinity; 18, Aurelian Springs.

Saddened South Carolina Departs From Grid Scene

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A saddened band of South Carolina Gamecocks folded their football tents today and quietly departed the Atlantic Coast Conference scene.

The proud birds came an unexpected cropper in their Thanksgiving Day game with Wake Forest at Charlotte, losing, 19-13.

The defeat frustrated South Carolina's hopes of ending its season with an 8-2 record. The 1953 Gamecocks had dreamed of becoming the school's first eight-game winner, but instead went down to their third loss in 10 starts.

The loss also tumbled South Carolina from a third place tie with North Carolina to a fourth-place deadlock with the Deacons in the conference standings. The Gamecocks and the Baptists ended the season each with 2-3 conference records.

North Carolina's hopes for retaining third place in the standings will be settled tomorrow when the Tar Heels invade Duke. A Tar Heel defeat would drop North Carolina into a three-way knot with South Carolina and Wake Forest and give Duke the unofficial conference title. The Blue Devils and Maryland are now tied with 3-0 family marks. But the unbeaten Terps, finished with their regular season, have walked off with all the honors in sight, including selection as the ACC's representative against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

North Carolina State travels to Tallahassee tomorrow to close a dismal season against Florida State and wrap up the conference season.

The Deacons fashioned their upset victory on the passing arm of junior quarterback Joe White. He returned to the scene of his Charlotte high school triumphs to throw two touchdown passes and set up a third score.

South Carolina moved the opening kickoff 73 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown with halfback Gene Wilson plunging for the final yard. The Deacons rebounded in the second period going 80 yards to score in 12 plays. White passed to end Bob Ondilla the last 16 yards.

Wake Forest recovered a fumble on the Gamecock's 33 in the second period and White passed the distance to Jim Bland for a touchdown. A few minutes later, the Baptists uncorked a 60-yard scoring drive featuring White's passing to Ondilla. Halfback Bob Frederick scored from the two.

South Carolina bounced back late in the fourth period when quarterback Johnny Gramling tossed a 30-yard scoring pass to halfback Blackie Kincaid.

Al Rosen Named MVP In Unanimous Voting

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Rosen, Cleveland's slugging third baseman, was named Most Valuable Player of the American League today by an unprecedented unanimous vote.

All 24 members of the committee of the Baseball Writers Assn., three from each American League city, named Rosen first. Thus the 28-year-old infielder won the award in a landslide with a maximum 336 points.

The highest previous total was run up by Lou Boudreau with 324 points in 1948, the year he led Cleveland to the world championship. Best score in National League history was Stan Musial's 319 in 1946.

To touch off this demonstration of solid support, Rosen led the league in home runs with 43, runs batted in with 145 and just missed nipping Washington's Mickey Vernon for the batting championship. Vernon finished with an unofficial 337 to Rosen's 336.

This was Rosen's fourth full season in the majors although he also appeared briefly in 1947, 1948 and 1949. It was by far his most impressive performance. When Rosen first came to the majors his fielding left much to be desired but he worked hard to improve himself to move out of the "chest filder" category.

Yogi Berra, New York Yankee catcher and 1951 winner, finished second to Rosen with 167 points, and Vernon was third with 155 points. Actually Vernon polled 10 seconds to only 5 for Berra but the votes for third, fourth and so on gave Berra more points. Berra hit 297 drove in 108 runs and hit 27 homers. Vernon knocked in 116 runs, second to Rosen.

Under the scoring system, a first-place vote counts 12 points with a drop to 9 for second and so on down on a 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Other top finishers were Minnie Miesson, Chicago, fourth with 100 points; Virgil Trucks, Chicago, fifth, 81; Phil Rizzuto, New York, sixth, 76; Bob Porterfield, Washington, seventh, 64; Ray Boone, Detroit, eighth, 59; Jim Piersall, Boston, 56; and Billy Pierce, Chicago, 55.

AL ROSEN Most Valuable Player

Wedding Bells

Wedding bells rang yesterday for a pair of East Carolina College athletes.

Football player Donald Burton and basketball player Bob Moyer were the two. Burton was married in the First Methodist Church in Roanoke Rapids to Jean Page and Moyer was married at Little River Presbyterian Church in Hurdle Mills (Person County) to Betty Sue Whitfield. Both couples will live in Greenville.

Burton is a guard on the football squad. He is from Roanoke Rapids, as is his new wife. Mrs. Burton is a former student at East Carolina but has been working in Washington, D. C. this fall.

Moyer is a center on the basketball team. He is from Snow Hill. Mrs. Moyer finished her undergraduate work at the end of the fall quarter. She is from Hurdle Mills.

Both athletes will continue their work with the East Carolina teams when the new term starts Tuesday. Burton will report to football practice for the January 2 Elks Bowl contest while Moyer will return to basketball practice in preparation for next week's opening contest against Belmont Abbey.

In the last half of their game at Ann Arbor, Tulane held Michigan to two first downs. Still the Wolverines beat the Green Wave, 26-7.

Ayden To Play, 20 Games In Pitt, Coastal Leagues

AYDEN — Ayden High School's complete basketball schedule was released today by Coach Stuart Tripp. The card will be opened next Tuesday night when the Tornados meet Belvoir in a Pitt County Conference game.

The game will be the first of 20 for the Tornados. Included in the schedule are 10 Pitt County Conference games and 12 Coastal League conference contests. The games with Farmville will have double bearing for the Tornados since both teams are members of both conferences.

The Tornados have been holding formal workouts for the past two weeks. Tripp will coach the boys team and E. F. Johnson will direct the girls' activities.

The basketball practice was interrupted Tuesday to allow members of the squad who were football players to attend an informal supper in honor of the football squad. Parents and friends of the players were also present with a total of 40 guests present.

The complete schedule:

December 1, Belvoir; 4, at Robersonville; 8, Stokes; 11, Farmville; 15, at Bethel; 18, Snow Hill.

Traditional Tilts To Wind-Up Year

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Tradition-laden games just about wrap up the 1953 college football season tomorrow but only one of them will have any effect on the lineup for the Jan. 1 bowl contests.

The schedule lists such rivalries as Army-Navy, Notre Dame-Southern California, Alabama-Auburn, Georgia-Georgia Tech and Oklahoma-Oklahoma A&M, but it's the Rice-Baylor game at Houston that will determine the host team in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title and remained in the running for a Cotton Bowl spot by defeating the Texas Aggies 21-12 yesterday. Now if Baylor defeats Rice, the Longhorns will go into the bowl at Dallas Jan. 1 against an unnamed opponent. But if Rice wins, it'll be the Owls since they defeated Texas during the regular season.

Thanksgiving Day games also produced the undisputed winner of the Ivy League crown in Cornell, which tied Pennsylvania 7-7. Penn already had conceded the title to Cornell since it played only one league rival but the tie erased any possibility of an argument. The Middies marked the end of George Mungler's 16-year career as head coach at Penn.

The year's largest crowd, 102,000, will sit in on the colorful Army-Navy game in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. It is the nationally televised game of the day. The Middies will be out to make it four straight over the Cadets but Army is favored on the basis of a better record against common opponents this year.

Sugar Bowl-bound Georgia Tech likewise is the choice to whip its state rival and go into the postseason game against West Virginia at New Orleans with an 8-2-1 record. Notre Dame seeking to get back on the victory trail after being tied

Grimesland Wins From Hookerton

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North State Conference closed football shop today after clearing up two tieups of unfinished business in Thanksgiving Day games.

People who take care of such matters adjusted the conference standings to put Catawba in second place and Gulford in fifth.

Catawba blanked Lenoir Rhyne yesterday 14-0, to break a second place tie and earn runnerup honors to East Carolina. Gulford bounced Elon, 9-0, to move into undisputed possession of fifth place.

The Indians from Salisbury did all their scoring in the first half and dug in defensively to stop Lenoir Rhyne. End Howard Crane blocked a Lenoir Rhyne punt to set up Catawba's first score. End Terrell Hall grabbed the loose ball and raced eight yards for the touchdown. Catawba drove 60 yards for the second touchdown, fullback Dick Smith plunging from the one yard line for the tally.

The Indians ended the conference season with a 4-1-1 record.

A field goal by end Reuben Slade and a recovered fumble helped the Quakers to victory. Slade booted 23 yards for the goal. Guard Charlie Strider recovered an Elon fumble on the Christians' eight-yard line and Mack Privott dashed the distance for the only touchdown of the game.

Young Davis Cup Players Bounced By Australians

MELBOURNE (AP) — America's two younger Davis Cuppers—Bob Perry and Hamilton Richardson—left before little known Australian rivals today and new injuries plagued the U. S. squad in the opening round of the Victorian Tennis Championships.

Wimbledon Champion Vic Seixas had to ask another day's rest for his ailing right knee and U. S. Champion Tony Trabert broke a blood blister on his racket hand while gaining the second round.

In a severe blow to American net prestige, Perry went down before a 30-year-old weekend player, Pete Malloy, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 and Richardson bowed to Brian Tobin, 22-year-old West Australian who has never won an important tournament, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5.

There were strong indications that Seixas might have to default after all.

"I intend to play," Vic said. "But if my knee doesn't feel better than it does today I don't know. I won't take any chances."

After winning in straight sets Trabert showed an ugly popped blister on the third finger of his

Ruffin Defends

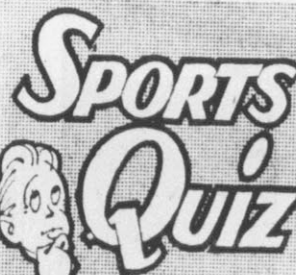

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—Arthur Ruffin Jr. of Wilson defended his championship in the second day's action at the North Carolina Amateur Golf tournament here today.

Ruffin defeated Grover Dillon of Raleigh, one up, in yesterday morning's opening round, and eliminated Clifton Toms of Durham, 5 and 4, in the afternoon round. The defending champ was paired with George Brownlow of Winston-Salem in the first of today's two rounds.

Brownlow advanced by beating Bud Ruffin of Wilson, 5 and 4, and Hubert Walton, also of Wilson, one up.

Other quarter-final pairings today: D. A. Lilly, Farmville, vs. Lawrence Cook, Wilmington; Joe Bullin Jr., Winston-Salem, vs. Harold L. Bateman, Plymouth, vs. John Frazier, Salisbury.

Quarter and semifinal rounds were scheduled today. The field will be idle tomorrow and the final round will be played Sunday.

A World of Opportunity for All ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Deuteronomy 24:14-15, 19-21; Amos 5:10-15, 24; Matthew 19:16-22; II Thessalonians 3:7-10; James 5:1-5; I John 3:17-18

"Seek good and not evil, that ye may live; and the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you. Hate the evil and love the good and establish judgment in the gate."
A young man came to Jesus asking what he should do to have eternal life. He had kept the commandments all his life. He told the Master; what more could he do?
Jesus told the young man, "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast and give to the poor, and come, follow Me." The young man was rich and went away sorrowing.

HEBREW LAWS SHOW COMPASSION FOR THE POOR AND FATHERLESS

Scripture—Deuteronomy 24:14-15, 19-21; Amos 5:10-15, 24; Matthew 19:16-22; II Thessalonians 3:7-10; James 5:1-5; I John 3:18

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
AS WE were informed in last week's lesson, the Hebrew laws provide definite protection for the poor, for widows and their children. Owners of estates were ordered to leave gleanings for the distressed, and olive trees and grape vines were not to be stripped of their last fruit, but some were to be left for the unfortunate, according to Deuteronomy 24:19-21.
Also the law was exact in the matter of payment for work done. "Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates: At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it, lest he cry against thee unto the Lord, and it be sin unto thee."
This exhortation is for us to be not only kind, but just, to the poor man who labors for bread for himself and family. If a man (or woman) puts in a full day's work, expecting to receive pay when the job is done, it may not be only inconvenient to be put off, but unjust and the cause of tragedy, as the worker may need so large a sacrifice. So he went away still unsatisfied. He had lost the prize because of money.

Writing to the Thessalonians, Paul reminded them that when he was with them he had earned his daily bread because he wanted to set a good example. They had made a rule that he who would not work should not eat.
For those who gained their wealth by evil means, James writes: "Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver is cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days. Behold, the hire of the laborers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth; and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord."
When we read in our papers of men who live by stealing, by racketeering, and accumulate wealth by other unlawful means, we wonder how they can possibly enjoy it. How can they live with themselves with such guilty consciences?
To live honestly and uprightly, speaking the truth; to be just in our dealings; to teach our children to do likewise, and above all, as John says, "Let us not love in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth."

the money to buy necessities. Such injustice is sin in the sight of man and God.
To some people money seems to mean more than anything else in the world, and to accumulate it their sole purpose in life. These people are severely rebuked in the Scriptures. In Amos' day many who witnessed such practices were afraid to speak out against those who were guilty. He says:
"They hate him that rebuketh in the gate, and they abhor him that speaketh uprightly."
Possibly those who committed these sins were rich and powerful and those who would rebuke them feared retribution if they spoke out.
"Forasmuch therefore as your trading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye have built houses of hewn stone, but ye shall not dwell in them; ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.
"For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sins; they afflict the just, they take a bribe, and they turn aside the poor from their right.
"Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time; for it is an evil time.
"Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live; and so the Lord, the God of hosts, shall be with you, as ye have spoken. Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish judgment in the gate.
Hate the evil and love the good.

Charges Benson's Aides Undercutting His Work

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-MD) charged today that some aides of Secretary of Agriculture Benson have been "ghost writing" speeches unfairly attacking Benson's handling of farm problems.
Beall told a reporter a quiet inquiry is being made into what he said is "good evidence" that some Democratic holdover policy makers in the Department of Agriculture have written such speeches and slipped them to Democrats for delivery.
These employees and others, Beall said, also have supplied ideas and material to be worked into the texts of public addresses criticizing Benson.
He named no names, saying: "I do know it's being done. I think Mr. Benson now knows it's been going on. There are dozens of these people—a core of disloyalty."
Benson was not reached immediately for comment.
Many Democrats and some Republicans in Congress, as well as some farm leaders, have been highly critical of Benson's handling of farm problems, principally the decline in farm income.
"The public is entitled to a fair presentation of the facts of what Benson is trying to do," Beall said, "rather than half-true distortions prepared by skilled speech writers supposed to be interpreting and helping to implement farm programs designed for the benefit of all."
The senator said he became suspicious when he read the texts of speeches made "on the same day last summer in the Senate and House—the similarity of their language struck me."
He declined to name any senator and representative who made such speeches, but he said he looked into the matter and "our information was that the material came from ghost writers at the Agriculture Department."
Since then, he said, he has been told of instances where speeches were written in whole or in part by members of Benson's staff, for delivery by his critics. Others got critical material obtained from these staff members, he said.
He said instances included "planted" reports that the recent department reorganization would hurt farm aid programs and cause confusion among farmers, and that Benson's policies would impoverish many farmers and perhaps cause a depression.
Another device, he said, has been slowness to make changes and then to point at the slowness as evidence that the were wrong.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market was higher today with trading moderate.

Price changes were held to fractions in almost all cases, and many leading issues were unchanged.

Trading was at a rate under Wednesday's 1,540,000 shares, a total that was the best in nearly two weeks.

Motors were higher along with railroads motion pictures, aircraft distillers, and utilities.

Coppers were mostly lower as were the oils. The rest of the market was steady or narrowly mixed.

Among higher stocks were Republic Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley Industries, Radio Corp., Dow Chemical, CIT Financial, and New York.

CHICAGO — Potatoes: arrivals 137; on track 340; total U. S. shipments for Wednesday 645; Thursday 72; supplies moderate; demand slow, market dull.

A high-wire act is not in progress in the above picture. It's all in a day's work for workmen of the Greenville Utilities Commission as they install wreaths in the center of the tinsel-covered strings of multi-colored lights which have been strung across the main streets of the city. Installation of Christmas decorations is nearly complete in the downtown section.

Pitt 4-H Youth Given Winner's Certificate

Jimmy Hendrix, of the Greenville-Winterville 4-H Club, received his award as State winner for his Home Grounds Beautification project at a luncheon in Raleigh this morning.

Hendrix was honored along with 40 other State 4-H winners at the luncheon attended by 150 Club members, their parents, and agricultural workers. Each of the winners received a certificate recognizing him as a State champion.

The young 4-H Club member has been active in Club affairs. He received the "Most Outstanding Boy" award presented by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce at the Pitt County 4-H Club Achievement Day recently and was awarded a number of certificates as Pitt County winner on various projects which he had entered.

C. J. Goodman, assistant agent, also attended the luncheon along with Hendrix.

The awards were made by L. R. Harrill, State 4-H Club leader. The music was by Johnson County's 4-H Rhythm Band, which has been invited to play at the National Congress next week and guests were welcomed by State College Chancellor C. H. Bostian.

Glenda Hoble of Deep Run, girls' winner in community relations, and Felton Davis, Goldsboro, Route 1, winner in dairy achievement project, spoke on behalf of the 4-H'ers. Shirley Waugh of White Plains, president of the State 4-H Club Council, presided over the meeting.

Hendrix, along with the other State project winners left for the National Club Congress in Chicago by train following the luncheon.

Minor Traffic Mishaps Listed

Three minor traffic accidents were reported by city police Wednesday afternoon, Thursday and this morning.

An accident at the intersection of Fourteenth and Evans Streets this morning resulted in charges of making a left turn in the face of oncoming traffic being brought against Marvin Roland Beacham, 21, of Greenville.

The police accident report stated the car driven by Beacham was involved in a collision with an automobile driven by Velma Hart Sanders of Ayden route three.

Yesterday police investigated a collision of vehicles driven by Willie Frank Langley, 27-year-old Negro of 1405 Short Street, and Johnnie Green, 44-year-old Negro of Chicod yesterday at the intersection of Myres and Pamlico Avenues. No charges were brought by police in the accident which resulted in an estimated $125 damages to both cars.

On Wednesday automobiles driven by Joseph E. Haddock, 25, of 105 Washington Street, and Jessie James Anderson, 38-year-old Negro of 1018 Mack Street, were involved in a collision on First Street. Damage to the vehicles was estimated at $175 by police. No charges were brought against either driver.

Colored News

Mr. Eli Leggett, 44, died suddenly at his home near Veners Crossroads Thursday at 8:30 a.m. Funeral services will be conducted at Haddock's Chapel, F.W.B. Church Sunday at 2 p.m. with the pastor, Rev. F. L. Dixon, officiating. Burial will follow in Branch's cemetery near Haddock's Crossroads.

Mr. Leggett was the son of the late Mr. Blount Leggett and Alice Cox Leggett. He was born and spent his entire life in the surrounding community and was a member of Haddock's Chapel F.W.B. Church.

Mr. Leggett is survived by his wife, Mrs. Martha Lane Leggett, one daughter, Miss Elvie Leggett, both of the home; three sisters, Miss Emily Leggett of the home, Mrs. Charlotte Gardner of Greenville, and Mrs. Martha Leary of Chicod; two brothers, Ran Leggett of the home and Roosevelt Leggett of near Bell's Fork; and a host of relatives and friends.

Mr. Leggett will lie in state at the home from 6 p.m. Saturday until one hour prior to the funeral.

Friends of J. B. Taft Sr. will regret to learn that he has been confined to his home with illness for more than a month. His address is 100 W. 1st St.

The Elks Choir requests the presence of all members of the Gospel Chorus at their choir meeting on Nov. 29 at A.M.E. Zion Church at 7:30.

The Juvenile Tent Class 209 asks all members to meet Saturday at 3 p.m. to make plans for the trip to Grifton on Dec. 12. All members who are not present at this meeting Saturday will not take the trip.

By special request, the "Lane Singers" will render a gospel program through songs on Sunday night, November 29, at Phillippi Christian Church. The "Lane Singers" were guests the 4th Sunday of this month. The time is 7:30 p.m.

Will Mail Out $41,430 In Christmas Club Savings

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association next Tuesday will mail Christmas Club checks totaling $41,430 to more than 1,200 members who deposited various sums during the past year.

Executive Vice-President A. C. Tadlock said the Christmas Savings Club has had wonderful growth since 1937, when it was established. That year Christmas savings totaled $1,600. Since then there has been a steady increase in membership.

"Last year, the Christmas Savings Club distributed $37,690 just before Christmas," Tadlock stated, "and this year the $41,430 of savings is a 10 per cent increase over last year. The records show that the same people enroll again in the Christmas Savings Club after they receive their checks. The checks provide money for the members to settle year-end bills, pay insurance and taxes, and have some money to spend for Christmas."

Deposits may be made weekly. A depositor $50 just before Christmas; $2 a week, $100; $3 a week, $150; $500 for the depositor just before the next Christmas.

Last Rites Saturday For Mrs. M.C. Hardee

Mrs. Clara Bell Venters Hardee, 53, died at her home near Sheldonsville Thursday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock. She had been in failing health for several months.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel, and burial will be in the family cemetery near Winterville.

Mrs. Hardee was born and reared in Pitt County and had spent most of her life in Winterville, Black Jack, and Sheldonsville communities. She was a member of Sheldonsville Methodist Church. She was first married to H. C. Venters, and he died in 1939. In 1952, she was married to Mark C. Hardee, and he survives.

Also surviving are a brother, Carlton Harper of Murfreesboro; two sisters, Mrs. Luther Hill of Murfreesboro and Mrs. Raymond Stepp of Maury; and four nieces and nephews.

Large GHS Delegation Will Be In Student Congress At Raleigh

Delegates from twelve high schools of North and South Carolina will participate Monday and Tuesday, November 30 and December 1, in the first annual Carolina District N. F. L. student congress.

All sessions will convene in Raleigh in the state capitol legislative halls.

Greenville High will be represented by the largest delegation of student law-makers because of the local high school's NFL chapter being the largest in the district; and John Brooks, 10th highest ranking N. F. L. member in the nation will be Greenville's candidate for Speaker of the House.

Governor William B. Umstead has accepted an invitation to the Monday evening banquet and will make the presentation of N. F. L. medals to the outstanding congressmen of the first day's session.

Bills and resolutions have been submitted, for the opening session's agenda, that provide for direct election of Presidents, to establish a 5 per cent federal sales tax, to expel McCarthy from the Senate, to reduce congressional duties $1000 per day, and to appropriate $1,000,000, 000 per year to finance a program of decentralization of federal government and its agencies.

Pitt county will be represented by twenty-six students: (Ayden) Sheila Cannon, Dianne Moseley, and Millie Tripp; (Belvoir) Tanya Anderson, Peggy Lewis, Marlene Clark, Barbara Jenkins, Doris Moore and William Little; (Greenville) Patsy Baker, Sally Beard, Jane Berryman, John Brooks, Dennis Bullock, Mack Churchill, Gayle Clapp, Jack Clifford, Hugh Duncan, Teddy Fountain, Jerry Howell, Bill Kittrell, Betty Gayle Raynor, Harry Scott, Henrietta Swayne, Donna Tabbar and Ginger Worthington.

A Senator and House member will be elected to represent the Carolina District in the National Student Congress sessions in Greenville, Pennsylvania in June.

R. B. Starling of the Greenville high school faculty will direct the congress and will be assisted by the other members of the district committee: Ruby Swisher of Concord and John Wiseman of Sumter, S.C.

Several Hunters Charged Here

District Game Protector J. O. Teel of Greenville reported that he and other game law enforcement officers arrested several hunters for violations of state game laws.

He said he had not heard of any hunting accidents Thanksgiving Day, the opening of the hunting season for quail and rabbits.

Some of the hunters were charged with hunting without licenses and others for not having their guns plugged. Violators of the state game laws usually are tried in magistrates' courts.

Below Freezing Charge Assault On 12-Year-Old

The heaviest frost of the fall season occurred in the Greenville area Thursday night as the temperature dropped to 26 degrees.

At eight a.m. today the mercury had risen to 29.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 39.

Peyton Suggs, 20-year-old Greenville Negro, was bound over to Superior Court this morning on charges of criminal assault on a 12-year-old girl.

Suggs was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Charles Wheelbee in city recorder's court this morning. Judge Wheelbee found probable cause and ordered Suggs held without bond for Grand Jury action.

Suggs was taken into custody by officers W. E. Peters, V. C. Ackert, and H. F. Lawson of the Greenville police force last night after charges had been filed against him.

The 12-year-old, sixth grade Negro girl took the stand at the hearing this morning, and testified that Suggs criminally assaulted her while she was in bed asleep with her sister, nine, and a seven-year-old girl.

She told the court she and her younger sister had gone to the house where Suggs lives to spend the night with his 16-year-old sister who was sick. She testified she found Suggs in bed with her when she woke up during the night and that he assaulted her.

Suggs took the stand during the hearing and denied the charges.

Officers took Suggs into custody after midnight last night after the girl and her mother came to the police station and reported the incident.

Funeral Held Today For Bobby Joe Buck

Bobby Joe Buck, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Buck of Black Jack, was killed instantly in an automobile accident near Greenville at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

Funeral services were conducted at the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Church at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. Floyd B. Cherry, and burial was in Greenwood Cemetery. Members of the Sunbeam Class were honorary pallbearers. The body remained at the home until one hour prior to the time of service.

Mr. Buck spent all his life in the Black Jack community and was graduated from Chicod High School in 1951 and attended East Carolina College. He was a member of the Black Jack Free Will Baptist Sunday School.

Surviving are his parents; two brothers, Melvin of the home and A-10 Noah J. Buck of the Air Force, now in Germany; two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Hardee Jr. of near Greenville and Polly Buck of the home; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah A. Buck and Mr. and Mrs. Jessie B. Hardee.

Funeral Held Today For Mrs. G. S. Porter

Funeral services for Mrs. Dora E. Porter, 68, who died at her home at Simpson Thursday at 7 a.m., were held at the home Friday at 3:30 p.m. Rev. N. B. Hill officiated. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery in Greenville.

Mrs. Porter was a daughter of the late John and Betty Cox of Pitt County. She was a member of Salem Methodist Church.

Surviving are her husband, G. S. Porter; four daughters, Mrs. R. H. Worthington of Ayden, Mrs. Charles W. Harris of near Greenville, Mrs. Frank Cooper Jr. of Chocowinity, and Miss Louise Porter of the home; four sons, Gentry B. Porter, Wayland L. Porter and Leland Porter of Simpson, and Earl Porter of Greenville, and 10 children.

No Crime For Thursday, Here

A quiet holiday so far as crime was concerned was reported in Pitt County today by Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson.

The sheriff's department said this morning it received no reports of robbery or any other crimes during the holiday.

Will Be Included In Ports Survey

Chamber of Commerce Manager Willard T. Kyder said that Greenville and Pitt County will be included in a survey of ports and inland waterway resources now being conducted in North Carolina.

The survey will include the making of a master plan for the development of shipping, warehousing, agriculture, recreation, business and industry. The survey by a New York firm will cost about $47,000.

The N. C. Coastal Marine Council, organized in 1952, to promote development of the area's water resources, requested the survey. It was authorized by the 1953 General Assembly and will take about eight months.

Both the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the Tar River Ports Commission are members of the Council.
