Tower Reaching Up

The 160-foot micro-wave tower, now under construction on West Fifth Street, is nearing completion. The above photo shows workmen lowering part of the apparatus used for pulling up steel beams in construction of the tower. The tower will be the final link in Greenville in the micro-wave relay system that will bring television network programs to the local station. From the tower the signals will be carried to the station by buried coaxial cable which has already been installed along Fifth and Evans Streets. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor).

McCarthy May Talk With Ike

Senator Silent About 'Leak' Of Planning Personal Chat With President

By ED CREAHER WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was reported today to be planning a personal chat with President Eisenhower soon after the President returns from the Big Three talks in Bermuda.

This report came from a person in a position to know. McCarthy declined to be quoted on the subject, and the White House press office said it hadn't heard anything about such a meeting.

McCarthy yesterday disclaimed any intention to challenge Eisenhower's leadership of the Republican party but he reserved the right to criticize the administration "when I think it is making mistakes."

This was a reply to statements earlier in the week by the President and Secretary of State Dulles rejecting McCarthy's demands for drastic revision of some phases of administration foreign policy.

McCarthy's statement was phrased for the most part in conciliatory tones.

But at the same time he appealed over the President's head, in effect, to the American people on the question of cutting off American aid to any foreign country which trades with Red China so long as any American war prisoners are held by the Communists.

Departing from his prepared statement, McCarthy urged all who share his view that such trade should be stopped to write or phone the President.

This invitation was filmed for television, and news programs from coast to coast carried it last night.

At 8:30 p.m. last night, the White House said 120 telegrams had come in. Asst. Press Secretary Murray Snyder said "they were not all one way," but said no breakdown had been made.

"Now I think President Eisenhower is an honorable man," he said in his prepared part of his statement. "I think he will follow the will of the American people if that will be made known to him."

The administration's position is that the British and other Western nations have stopped sending to Red China all goods which could be used to wage war. Such trade as the West is conducting with the Chinese Communists, in the administration's view, is advantageous to the free world.

Churchill, Laniel And Aides Greet President To Historic Talks

Eisenhower Arrives In Bermuda

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived in Bermuda today for the start of a history-making Big Three conference with Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Laniel.

The Presidential plane Columbine landed at American-leased Kindley Field at 11:12 a. m.

Waiting to greet Eisenhower as he stepped from the plane were Churchill and Laniel, together with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

A crowd of about 1,000 was on hand to welcome Eisenhower. Also present was a colorful honor guard made up of Royal Welsh Fusiliers, Bermuda militia and U.S. armymen.

Churchill and Laniel, already in Bermuda, reached the airport about five minutes before the Columbine landed.

The British Prime Minister wore a light gray suit with a white handkerchief protruding from his pocket. He had on the same gray homburg he wore on his arrival here from England Wednesday.

Eisenhower stepped off the plane promptly at 11:15 a. m. and was greeted by Bermuda Gov. Sir Alexander Hood and Mrs. Hood, followed by the commanders of the military units drawn up to receive him.

The President then walked a few steps and was met by Churchill, who gave him a hearty handshake. The crowd of Bermudians and Big Three conference officials cheered.

Like Churchill, Eisenhower wore a soft gray suit and gray hat. In the Presidential party were

Secretary of State Dulles and Lewis Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Strauss was added to the party at the last minute this morning.

The flight from Washington took 3 hours 10 minutes.

Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault were scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. to get the formal talks under way, with their chiefs gathering around the table immediately afterward.

The whole group was to dine tonight with Gov. Sir Alexander Hood at Government House.

The colorful reception ceremonies contrasted sharply with the somber questions facing the conference.

Churchill earlier had been believed eager to press his pet scheme for a quick meeting with Russian Premier Georgi Malen-kov. By today, however, it seemed obvious that the American desire to give priority to pressuring the French for ratification of the European army treaty now dominates. Laniel, who arrives yesterday, let it be known through aides that he is just as eager as Eisenhower to tackle this problem in the hopes of gaining from Britain and the United States assurances of protection from the rearmament German units which the projected international army would include.

The French also let it be known they intend to tell Eisenhower and Churchill that Britain and the United States must approve the French economic union with the Saar Basin. The French say they will not ratify the EDC Pact without prior agreement on the Saar. This coalition area now autonomous but closely tied economically to France is also claimed by Germany.

While the principals discuss these and such other problems as Indochina, the future of Korea, relations with Red China and Russia's intentions, technicians are expected to draft a note to Moscow replying to Russia's acceptance of a proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting early next year. All three nations apparently favor the meeting, although the United States reportedly would like to specify that the German and Austrian questions should be discussed.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda charged that Eisenhower was preparing to demand preconditions that would make the proposed four-power talks impossible. The newspaper said "aggressive American circles" were trying to create around the proposed conference "an atmosphere of pessimism and hopelessness."

Promises Release All Unrepatriated POWs By Deadline

By GEORGE MCARTHUR PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean told the Communists today that unrepatriated war prisoners will be freed Jan. 22 unless a peace conference decides some other course "and no human hand or mind or debate can change it."

"We are never going to agree, under any circumstances, to a change in that date," he declared.

Dean and Communist diplomats huddled for almost three hours on plans for a peace conference while a few miles away 30 more South Korean war prisoners unanimously rejected pleas to return home.

Allied persuaders in three days have talked to 90 South Koreans who chose life under the Communists but one has changed his mind.

ROK officers whisked through 30 interviews before noon today. The U.N. Command asked to interview 40 prisoners Saturday. The repatriation commission said the request for an extra 10 was filed too late, but there were indications it still would be approved.

The preliminary peace talks are in recess until Monday, Dean asked that a Saturday session be called off because he will be in Seoul for conferences with South Korea's President Syngman Rhee. He refused to divulge the subject of the talks and would not comment on rumored differences between the U. N. Command and the South Korean government over plans for a peace conference.

The spokesman for 17 Allied nations which fought in Korea spelled out their position on unrepatriated prisoners after the Communists heatedly insisted that the POWs could "never be released" until a peace conference decides their fate.

Dean said the Reds appeared to be trying to block a peace conference in an attempt to hold in indefinite captivity 22,600 Korean and Chinese war prisoners who have refused to go back to Communist rule.

He reiterated that the Korean armistice provides that unrepatriated prisoners "be released to civilian status" Jan. 22—120 days after they were turned over to custody of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Dean told newsmen "some small progress" was made during the 3 hour 45 minute session. The Communists agreed to incorporate in their plans for a peace conference a clause limiting the debating rights of nonvoting neutral nations.

The Allies have contended that Red insistence on giving neutrals the right of unlimited debate would permit nonbelligerents to tie up the conference indefinitely.

Undeclared Morris Harvey College To Play ECC Bowl Veterans Are Chosen

Morris Harvey College of Charlottesville, Va. will meet East Carolina College in the Elks Bowl here January 2.

The announcement of the bowl invitation by the West Virginia college was announced shortly before noon today by Erskine Duff, chairman of the bowl arrangements committee.

The meeting of the West Virginia team and the Pirates will bring together the champions of the North State Conference and the West Virginia Athletic Conference. Both teams boast undefeated records in their conference play for the 1953 season.

Morris Harvey is no stranger to bowl play, having appeared in the Tangerine Bowl on December 31, 1950, and in the Burley Bowl in 1951.

"We are more than pleased to have obtained such an outstanding team, and we believe there will be no better bowl game anywhere," Duff declared.

Coach Jack Boone of the Pirates spoke highly of the football prowess of the Morris Harvey team in a statement today. "We are mighty happy to play them," he said. "They have been a power in the West Virginia Conference for many years, and we will have our work cut out for us. It should be a whale of a ball game. Morris Harvey is the top team in the West Virginia conference year in and year out."

The Morris Harvey team is coached by Eddie King.

Boone disclosed today that the Morris Harvey team is the opponent East Carolina had sought for a Thanksgiving Day game this year, but because of injuries to their players, the West Virginia team declined the invitation for that date. Their injured players have since recovered, Boone said.

The Pirates' coach said his charges will begin their pre-bowl workouts on December 14, and continue workouts daily through December 18. The team will return to practice on December 28 after a 10-day Christmas vacation and hold two workouts daily, December 28 and 29. After that they will taper practice sessions for the January 2 bowl game on their home field.

Witness Says Rep. Condon Was In Closed Session Congressman In Red Meet?

By GENE KRAMER SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A House Un-American Activities Committee witness testified yesterday he saw Rep. Robert L. Condon (D-Calif.) at a closed Communist meeting in 1948.

Condon, who was barred for security reasons from witnessing a Nevada atomic test last May, denied that he ever was a Communist.

Charles David Blodgett, an admitted ex-Communist, told the committee here he saw Condon at a "closed emergency meeting of Communist party members" at Oakland, Calif., in March or April 1948. The witness testified he did not know whether Condon was a party member, but he had never seen a non-Communist at such a meeting.

Condon at the time was a candidate for the Legislature. He won, and last year was elected to Congress.

Condon said he had thought the Oakland meeting was a trade union affair which he and other Democrats attended in behalf of party candidates. Condon added, "I will put my loyalty and affection for my country and my people against any of the members of the staff of the Un-American Activities Committee who have drummed up these fantastic witnesses."

From New Orleans, where he is participating in hearings of a House committee, Condon told a San Francisco Chronicle reporter on the telephone:

"I am not and never have been or ever will be a member of the Communist party."

Condon, invited to appear before the Un-American Activities Committee in rebuttal at any time, asserted "this is a Republican committee touring the country to smear Democrats."

Condon said on the House floor last July his exclusion from the atomic test came about because "did not fairly evaluate the information concerning the 'Bridges Campaign' in last January's issue of the Review."

This is the first year the poetry and juvenile awards have been given, Mrs. Bernice Kelly Harris of Chicago salesman of 22, testified he saw Condon at a meeting of the Communists' political affairs committees for Alameda and Contra Costa counties. He said the meeting was called to decide whether the Reds would back primary candidate against Rep. P. George Miller (D-Calif.) to force Miller to take a campaign stand closer to the left.

Six hundred waterfront workers massed outside the hearing room in response to a stop work call by Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, which is protesting identification by committee witnesses of several Bridges' aides as Communists.

The committee cleared out spectators—including many of the longshoremen—when applause burst from the rear for a defiant witness. He was Robert Treuhart, labeled by Blodgett as a Communist and onetime law partner of Condon and an ILWU counsel. Treuhart refused to testify, and harangued the committee.

Report American Ship Fired Upon

CAIRO (AP)—The American Embassy announced today that a 7,255-ton American freighter Albion had reported Egyptian shore batteries fired on her as she tried to deliver 9,600 tons of wheat to Jordan for Arab refugees from Palestine.

The attack reportedly occurred yesterday in the Gulf of Aqaba, east of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. The Albion was bound for the Jordan port of Aqaba, at the head of the gulf.

The ship's first report made no mention of casualties or damage to the vessel.

It appeared likely that the Egyptian gunners had believed the ship was destined for Elath, an Israeli port also at the head of the gulf to which considerable traffic is routed to circumvent Arab Egypt's ban on Israel-bound shipping passing through the Suez Canal.

The Albion reported she had pulled out of the firing area but was making another attempt today to reach Aqaba.

The embassy said it had "urgent representations" to the Egyptian government and that President Mohammed Naguib's regime had given "assurances that action would be taken to facilitate the ship's passage through Aqaba Gulf."

Members of the North Carolina Press Association began arriving here today for their fall meeting being held in Greenville today and Saturday.

A session on advertising will also be held at the College Saturday morning with Don Hall of the Roanoke Rapids Herald as discussion leader.

A luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 Saturday at the East Carolina College dining hall at which Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of the college, will speak. Following his address, committee reports of the association will be given, and the annual election of officers will be held.

Association President Sam Ragan of the News and Observer will preside at the two-day meeting.

Baby Surprised Mom And Doctor AKRON (AP)—On a physician's advice Mrs. Juanita Furbee entered Akron City Hospital to have X-rays taken for a suspected tumor.

Six hours later the "suspected tumor" turned out to be a seven pound three ounce baby boy.

The city manager reported that district highway engineers said that a route and destination survey of the proposed widening of Greene Street was needed and would be made by the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

After some discussion the Council voted to defer action on the proposed widening until the January meeting of the Council.

The Council voted not to consider buying Greenville Tobacco Company property on Boyd Avenue for a playground at the present time.

Tom Rivers, city engineer, reported that the survey of First Street from Gotanche to Eastern had not been completed. He promised to try to have it prepared by the January meeting of the Council.

The City Manager explained that more funds from the Paying Fund had been used than was originally anticipated, and he had prepared a recommended Bond Retirement Schedule for Contract No. 2, based

Literary Awards Go To Four Tarheels Today

RALEIGH (AP)—Awards for poetry, juvenile literature and historical writing were presented today as the State Literary and Historical Assn. held its 53rd annual session.

Frank Borden Hanes of Winston-Salem received the Roanoke-Chowan award for poetry for his verse narrative, "Abel Anders," judged the best volume of poetry published by a Tar Heel in the 3-year period ending last Aug. 31.

Ruth and Latrobe Carroll of Asheville won the award for juvenile literature given by the North Carolina Division of the American Assn. of University Women. Their book, "Peanut," was picked as the best juvenile work for North Carolina authors for the same 3-year period.

Hugh F. Rankin of Chapel Hill was given the R. D. W. Connor award for the best article by a Tar Heel student published in the North Carolina Historical Review during the year ending last July. Rankin, a graduate student at the University of North Carolina, wrote on "The Moores Creek Bridge Campaign" in last January's issue of the Review.

This is the first year the poetry and juvenile awards have been given, Mrs. Bernice Kelly Harris of Asheville presented the poetry award for the Roanoke-Chowan group of writers and allied artists. Mrs. Carl Plonk of Asheville, state AAUW president, presented the juvenile award.

The literary association also elected officers and attended to other business at its morning meeting.

It also was the first presentation of the R.D.W. Connor award, given by the Literary and Historical Assn., Connor, for whom the prize was named, was one of the most noted North Carolina historians and first secretary of the State Historical Commission, now the Department of Archives and History.

Mrs. Inglis Fletcher of Edenton was elected association president to succeed Dr. Frontis W. Johnston of Davidson. Vice presidents elected were: D. Hiden Ramsey of Asheville, State Supreme Court Associate Justice Sam J. Ervin Jr. of Raleigh, and D. J. Whitener of Boone. Paul Murray of Greenville and James A. Gray Jr. of Winston-Salem were named to the Executive Council.

Dr. Christopher Crittenden of Raleigh re-elected secretary-treasurer, said association membership totals 1,015, a gain of 153 during the past year.

The Council decided to bring this matter up at the next meeting since two members were absent last night.

Mayor Pro Tem Gene West presided at last night's meeting in the absence of Mayor Whedbee, who was sick. Other members of the Council present were C. W. Harvey Jr. and J. A. Collins.

The Council then approved the City Clerk report for the month of November.

Prior to adjournment, City Manager Hughes asked that the Council members consider changing their meeting date from the first Thursday evening to the second Thursday evening of each month to allow

Perjury Charged Former Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—Val R. Lorwin, a former state department official, was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury today on charges that he falsely denied Communist party membership during a loyalty hearing in December, 1950.

The indictment, returned under the false statements statute, accused Lorwin of falsely stating under oath at the loyalty hearing that:

1. He never was a Communist Party member.

2. He never carried a Communist Party card.

3. He never held a Communist Party meeting in his home.

Lorwin, 46, no longer with the government, is a native of New York City. The justice department said it was unable to supply his present address.

At the time of the hearing, Lorwin was chief of the European section, division of international labor social and health affairs in the State Department.

Lorwin was indicted under

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
December 4, 1923

Listen, kiddies of Greenville! Here's some honest-to-goodness Santa Claus news. You didn't know that you were going to be guests of the Rotary Club at a swell party and Christmas tree celebration.

Well it's a fact. It was all agreed upon at a meeting of the club last Monday night and a committee has been appointed to work out the program and the date when the big party will be staged.

When the highway improvement program is completed, Pitt County will have 95.5 miles of paved roads, W. H. Rogers, county highway engineer, announced. He pointed out that the roads were constructed for less than in other counties because a great saving had been effected by the county highway commission acting as its own broker in all purchases of materials.

Shower Is Given To Compliment December Bride-Elect

Miss Emilie Dupree, bride-elect, was graciously entertained Friday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Willie Pate at home on Farmville Highway.

The home was attractively arranged with mums, displayed in the living room and dining room. Miss Dupree was presented a lovely corsage of tiny pink mums fashioned with pink rosebuds.

The 35 guests, enjoyed amusing games led by Mrs. B. L. Tyson, after which Mrs. Dupree opened her gifts. She was the recipient of many pieces of crystal and china in her chosen patterns and many other beautiful and useful gifts.

Mrs. Pate presented the honoree with a dinner plate in her chosen pattern.

Mrs. C. L. Dupree poured punch and Mrs. Bryce Sigmon Sr. served the bridal cake from a beautifully appointed table centered with an arrangement of white flowers and bridal candles.

Thanksgiving Motif Used at Council Meet

AYDEN—Oneda Council No. 47, Pcoahontas, met on Friday night, Nov. 20, with 18 members present. The prophets read the 15th chapter of St. Luke in observance of Thanksgiving. The flower committee reported that cards and flowers had been sent to several sick members. The members were sorry to hear of Sister Goldie DuRant's husband's death in Washington, N.C. Sister Malissa Braxton is out of the hospital and is doing nicely. Sister Cynthia Aldridge expressed her thanks for flowers and cards sent to her while she was in the hospital.

The flower box was passed around and the collection was $3.75. There was a miscellaneous shower Monday night, Nov. 30, at the home of Sister Elizabeth Barfield for Sister Goldie Haddock, a recent bride.

The Social Committee served a very delicious and attractive plate using the Thanksgiving motif with hot coffee.

A piano has been purchased for the hall, painting has been done and venetian blinds and curtains have also been purchased.

Christian Church Announcements
The Circles of the Christian Women's Fellowship will meet Monday as follows:

No. 1 with Mrs. Ty Wagner, 3:30 p. m.
No. 2 with Mrs. Preston Cannon, 3:30 p. m.
No. 3 with Mrs. J. W. Tetterton, 3:30 p. m.
No. 4 with Mrs. David Evans, 3:30 p. m.
No. 5 with Mrs. Owen Marshburn, 3:30 p. m.
No. 6 with Mrs. J. H. Woolard, 3:30 p. m.
No. 7 with Mrs. Douglas Stocks, 8:00 p. m.
No. 8 with Mrs. S. B. Tucker, 8:00 p. m.
No. 9 with Mrs. T. I. Moore, 8:00 p. m., with co-hostesses, Mrs. E. C. Williams and Mrs. V. M. Forrest.

No. 10 with Mrs. Paul Rausch, 8:00 p. m.
No. 11 with Mrs. Herman Evans, 8:00 p. m.

Sunday, December 6, will be observed by the Disciples of Christ around the world as Woman's Day. This Sunday has been so observed since the year 1890. The choir will sing two special numbers, "Beautiful Savior" and "My Sheep Were Grazing." The pastor will preach on the text "Help Those Women Who Labored With Me In The Gospel."

The Christian Women's Fellowship will have a special program on the night of December 14 when several tableaux, with the general theme, "The Madonna," will be presented under the direction of Mrs. D. H. Conley.

On December 16 the Fireside Club of the Christian Church will have their annual Christmas fellowship dinner at 7:00 p. m. in the Red Oak Christian Church. Tickets may be secured from Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Laughinghouse, co-presidents of the club for this year.

E.C.C. Singers Will Perform At Dinner For Music Club

Christmas music provided by the East Carolina College Singers will be a special attraction of the program offered at the annual holiday dinner of the Greenville Music Club. The event is scheduled for Tuesday, December 8, at 6:30 p. m. at the Woman's Club.

Plans for the annual social meeting of the Music Club are now being completed under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth N. Cuthbert. Yule decorations, a dinner served by the staff of the Woman's Club, and a program of carols and other Christmas selections are expected to make the event a delightful and interesting occasion.

The College Singers is a group composed of 14 men and women students of music at East Carolina College, each carefully selected as a member of the ensemble. Dan E. Vornholt of the faculty is director.

In addition to music by this group, those present at the dinner will join in singing songs appropriate to the holiday season. Miss Ona Shindler of the Greenville High School music faculty will direct this part of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Perry of East Carolina College are in charge of arrangements for the dinner meeting. John C. Clifford Jr. is president of the club. Those who plan to be present for the Christmas dinner are asked to notify Mrs. T. W. Rouse, 405 Harding Street, at once. Her telephone number is 2870.

Kiwanians Plan Christmas Gifts

The Kiwanis Club is planning to spread good cheer among some deserving families and underprivileged children during the Christmas holidays.

President Leo W. Jenkins announced at the directors' meeting Wednesday night that several orphanages and correctional institutions will be remembered again this year.

Chairman Bill Taft of the Christmas Committee is making up a list of persons and families who will share in the Kiwanis Santa Claus program this year. Taft and Chairman Don H. Conley of the Underprivileged Child Committee are cooperating in this project.

Kiwanians are expected to fill in names of worthy people on blank cards at their places at the supper meeting tonight.

The Kiwanians are to take toys to the December 11 club meeting for the King's Daughters. The toys will be turned over to them at the December 19 meeting for distribution Christmas Eve.

In the 1950 census Pennsylvania had 1,185,000 fewer people than in 1940.

Ayden Approves Paving Street

AYDEN — The local Board of Commissioners passed a resolution authorizing the paving of Venters Street from Third to Sixth Streets in a special called meeting of the Commissioners last night.

Paving of the street will begin soon according to Mayor Corey Stokes. Property owners will be assessed for two-thirds of the cost of the project, Stokes said, and the Town of Ayden will pay the remaining one-third.

The Board of Commissioners also met in its regular monthly meeting last Tuesday night. Only routine business was discussed and some bills were paid at that meeting, Stokes stated.

Farmville Board Rejects Allowing Sidewalk Display

FARMVILLE — By a vote of three to two, the Farmville Board of Commissioners Tuesday night, turned down a proposed ordinance to allow local merchants to display merchandise on sidewalks.

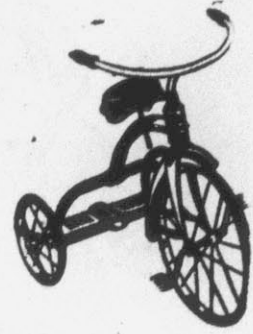

The proposed ordinance provided for this special permission from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas.

Mayor O.G. Spell said he had talked with League of Municipalities official and they said unofficially that the commissioners have no right to grant permission for sidewalk displays.

Pair Admit Slaying Of Woman; Throttling 'Took 20 Minutes'

DENVER (AP)—A young salesman and a co-worker were held today after police said they admitted a holdup-slaying to collect insurance on a pretty red-haired telephone operator.

Detective Capt. Charles Burns described the strangling of Mrs. Evelyn Leick, 26, last Tuesday night as one of the strangest ever investigated by Denver police.

In custody were her husband, Le Roy Leick, 20, and Gene Dukes, 20, employees of the same brokerage firm here.

Detective Capt. William E. Flor said both signed statements admitting a plot to kill Mrs. Leick but each blamed the other for throttling her. They were quoted as saying it took 20 minutes.

Mrs. Leick was found dead in the back seat of the family car 20 minutes after her husband was discovered, bleeding and semiconscious from a beating in a downtown alley. His wife's sister, Miss Vera Monroe, had been pushed out of the car in another alley, also after a beating.

Leick and Miss Monroe told officers then they were clubbed by a man who rose from the back seat of the Leick car as the trio left their apartment house and started to a movie.

Detectives reported yesterday two other men had volunteered the information that Leick, married in 1948, had offered them money to help make the death of his wife look like a holdup slaying. One said this took place in 1951.

"Imagine thinking about it for two years," said Detective Burns, "and never letting on to her what was on his mind."

Officers said their investigation centered on Leick after word of the purported plot and discovery of Mrs. Leick's $7,000 life insurance policy naming her husband as sole beneficiary.

Flor and Burns related these details: Detectives asked others working with Leick if he had proposed the scheme to any of them. One said the offer was made to Dukes.

Dukes denied this but was taken to police headquarters for questioning. After Dukes was brought in, Leick admitted his plan and Dukes' statement followed.

Dukes said they discussed the plan over drinks in a bar about three weeks ago and Leick offered him $2,000 for his part.

On Tuesday night Dukes bought a ticket to a theater but left by a side door. He then waited in the back of the Leicks' car.

Dukes rose as they got in and hit Miss Monroe with an iron pipe. She was pushed into the alley semiconscious and the car driven away.

Mrs. Leick had fainted, but when they stopped she fought for 20 minutes before dying of strangulation. Both men said they held her while the other did the actual killing.

Then they walked to an alley, where Dukes—as agreed—hit Leick on the head with the pipe. Police were called after Leick crawled to a house and begged for someone to find his wife.

Miss Monroe, also in the hospital with a bandaged head and arm, said "Oh my God" over and over after being told of Leick's statement.

"You just never know," she said, "You just never know."

Important Note For Automobile Drivers

North Carolina automobile owners and drivers had better be taking a good look at the state's new financial responsibility law pertaining to motor vehicles.

The much-talked about, but little understood law becomes effective January 1, and it is destined to make quite a bit of difference to motor vehicle owners and drivers whose automobiles are involved in traffic accidents which result in damages of more than $100.

The new law is based—and justly so, we think—upon the proposition that a person who drives a motor vehicle upon the public roads of North Carolina should be prepared to shoulder the responsibility for any damages which the vehicle causes.

In adopting this financial responsibility law, North Carolina is not venturing into a new field. The law adopted by the General Assembly last spring is patterned after similar financial responsibility laws now in effect in 43 of the 48 states.

Basically, the law provides that the owner of an automobile involved in an accident in which damages amount to more than $100, must furnish to the Department of Motor Vehicles satisfactory proof that he is able to meet damage claims up to $11,000. Unless he does this within a period of 60 days after the accident occurs, his operator's license is automatically suspended until he law is satisfied. The provision applies to all drivers involved in an accident regardless of who is apparently to blame.

The usual liability insurance policy, providing it was in effect at the time the accident took place, is evidence enough of financial responsibility, according to the new law.

As The Reflector has previously stated editorially, we believe the law is a good one. It is likely to make North Carolina's highways safer, and it is sure to give victims of traffic accidents greater protection than they have had heretofore under the law of the state.

We urge the citizens of Pitt County—particularly those who own or drive automobiles—to familiarize themselves with the new law, so they will know what to expect under it if they are involved in a motor vehicle accident after the first of the year.

Season When Autos Begin To Shed License Plates

Automobiles in and around Pitt County started going through their annual change this week. They are shedding their old license plates and taking on new ones of different colors.

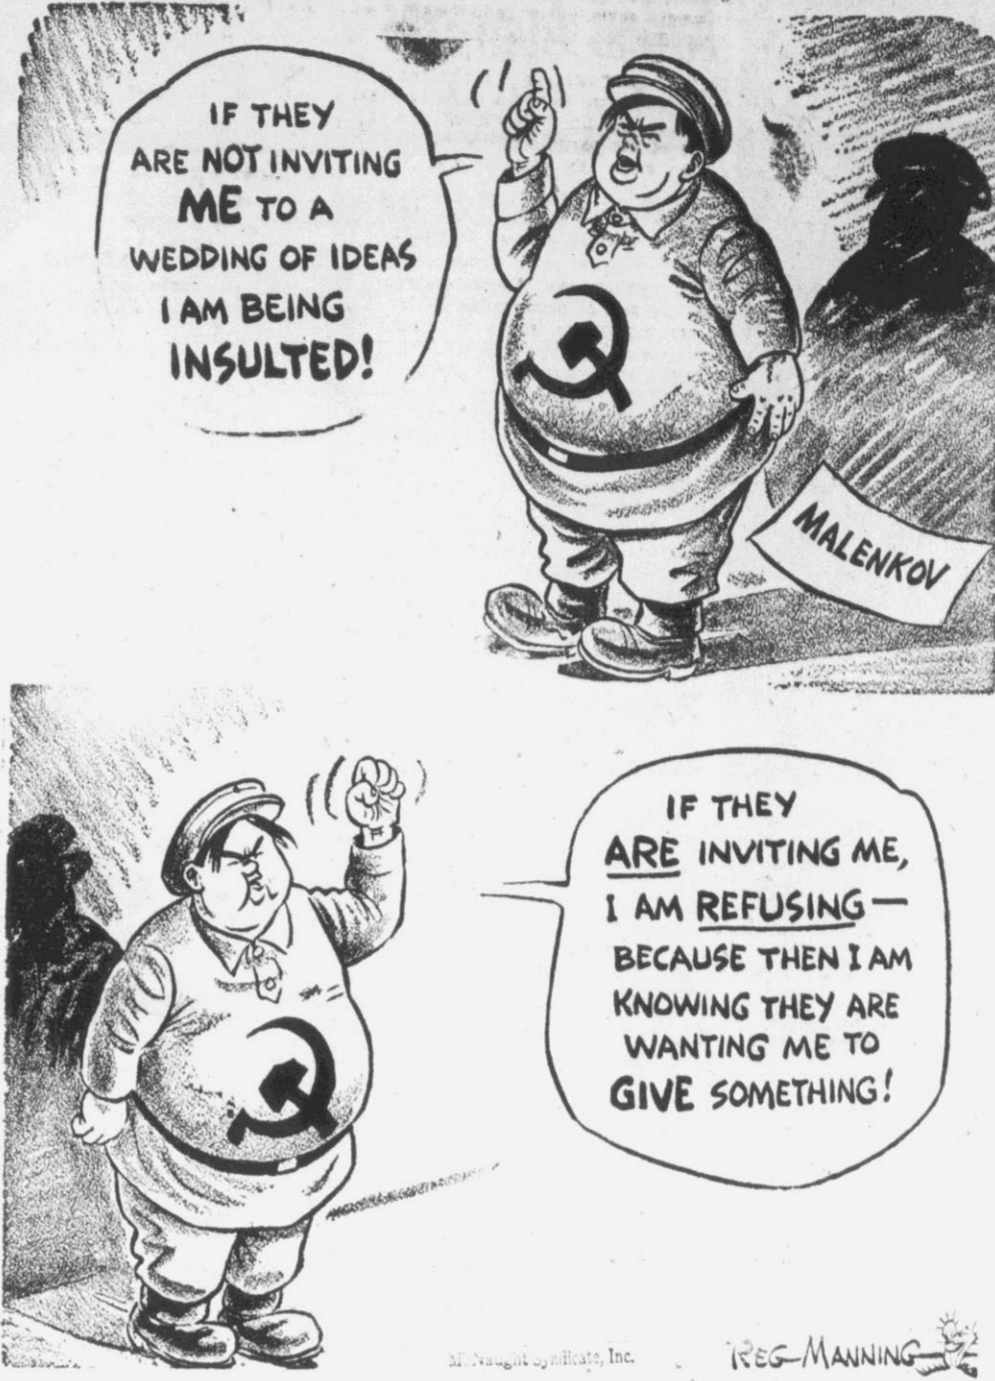

And like the trees which shed and change colors each year, just a few cars are getting the "new license look" now. As December gives way to January, and the days slip by toward February 1, more and more cars will be carrying the new black-and-orange background license plates for '54.

As happens every year about this time, there will be discussions among groups here and there about which license plates look better, the new ones with their change in color combinations, or the old ones we've gotten used to in the past 12 months.

Nothing will be decided, and next year this time when North Carolina goes back to the orange-on-black-background for its motor vehicle licenses, a similar discussion will ensue. It does every year.

And each year in North Carolina the pile of old, discarded license plates for the old year grows higher, and the sales of new license plates reach new record marks.

Some People Go For Puzzles

Like puzzles? A salesman recently brought this one by the store. It's entitled "How Are Your Wits?"

Read this sentence: Finished files are the result of years of scientific study combined with the experience of years.

Now count about the F's in that sentence. Count them ONLY ONCE; do not go back and count them again. Do you think you're right?

During the last two weeks I have shown this puzzle to about 50-odd people. At church, at work and in the barber shop. One person, Conner Merritt, gave the correct answer after reading the sentence only once. Roy Phelps found five, several found four. The rest found only three.

The back of the card reads: There are six F's in the sentence. One of average intelligence finds three of them. If you spotted four, you're above average. If you got five, you can turn your nose at almost anybody. If you caught all six, you're a genius. There is positively no catch.

Many I have shown this puzzle to declare that there are only three F's in that sentence. Many even read it over and over and still see only three. This proves how fast we read. The average person reads the word "of" so fast that it doesn't register with him. But amazingly enough, some people find one of the F's and no more.

The cross-word puzzle craze is one that I never have taken to. But while at Carolina I saw more students working them than I saw studying.

Puzzles constitute a lot of fun, but do not appeal to some people because they reveal their lack of gray matter. The one above is a good example. After being told plainly to count the F's, most people overlook them.

Believe-it-or-not Bob Ripley had an arithmetic problem that proves 63 is 64. This is done by a diagram 63 square inches, which triangles drawn within that amount to 64 square inches in area. And then there's the one about the three soldiers in a hotel that everybody knows that presents the problem as to where the dollar change goes to.

Many people have the money-making hobby of working magazine puzzles for cash. It's a talent that can be developed. Until you do, most puzzles will make you feel very average.

And I thank you.
JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

WHY NOT NORTH CAROLINA? (Rocky Mount Telegram)

Time and the lack of interest of busy and thoughtless generations now threaten to do what enemy shots and shells never could do—to end the existence of five grand and glorious old ships whose exploits are famous in song and story.

The Constitution, Constellation, Hartford, Olympia and Oregon lie tied up and neglected in backwaters. The American Navy, which they helped make great, says its hands are tied since the cost of restoring these famous ships is estimated at some $40 million. The Navy cannot, if it would, spend current appropriations for the preservation of relics and has asked Congress for advice. Once restored, the ships might be maintained by interested communities and would last a long time.

Offered to pay for the cost of restoration in fact, Baltimore Harbor was built in Baltimore Harbor, and the Constellation which 156 years ago if the Navy would deliver her there. The cost of rehabilitating the Constellation, now rotting in Boston Harbor, is estimated at some $3 million (it cost only $314,000 to build her in 1797).

Since 1946 there has been a law on the books that would allow the Navy to give the vessels away to localities or groups willing to restore them on a non-profit basis. This now promises the best hope of saving these nautical shrines. Oliver Wendell Holmes saved old Ironsides from destruction in 1830 by penning the famous ballad, "Old Ironsides," which became "Ay, tear her tattered ensign down." Since there appears no Holmes on the scene today, salvation must come from other sources.

Aside from the merit of saving these ships, some states or cities (and why not North Carolina) might "adopt" one of these ships as a ward. Properly maintained, it would in time become a leading tourist attraction well worth the cost of restoration.

In any event, we hope Congress will either give the ships to interested states or cities for preservation or allocate sufficient funds to prevent their ultimate destruction.

General Fund Receipts, Markets And 'Culture Week'

By LYNN NISBET
REVENUE — As has been the case numerous times before the monthly report on State revenue collections for November affords reason for optimism or pessimism, depending largely upon the interpreter's state of mind.

General fund receipts were down $123,235 below last November, and highway fund receipts were off $376,939. But, for the five months of the fiscal year beginning last July 1 the general fund was up $1,723,737 or 3.39 per cent, while highway collections were up $1,696,767 or 3.32 per cent. Commissioner Eugene Shaw notes that the five month period is a much fairer comparison than one month, and explains that difference of a few hours in the time checks are received may have substantial effect upon the single month report. The optimists accept that explanation and the fact that the yearly totals are up as reason for satisfaction.

The pessimists point to the fact that the income bracket, by far the largest source of general fund revenue, is down for both the month and the year. The nearly one million dollar increase in sales taxes is taken to reflect higher living costs and indicates the people are using up reserve savings for current expenses.

Aggregate receipts in all funds of nearly $85 million dollars for the five months which are usually the "light" months indicate that collections are running close to advance estimates, and that there will be money to pay budgeted appropriations—but with little if any left over.

CULTURAL MARKETING COMMISSION, both of which boards were appointed last week by Governor Umstead.

When the two groups were handed their commissions the other day, the Governor suggested they should work closely together and that there is money in the Rural Rehabilitation account which might be used to finance the marketing studies.

PROGRAM — That is essentially what George Ross has advocated for a good many years. He had a large part in organizing the original Rural Rehabilitation program back in depression and New Deal days. He has spent a good many years in promoting better marketing methods for farm crops, in private business and as an official in the marketing division of the Department of Agriculture and more recently director of Conservation and Development.

Organized as a Federal agency the FRA unit was transferred to full State control—along with something like half a million dollars in cash assets. The directors have conserved this capital relatively intact, with only small allocations for developing, promoting and servicing plans for improvement in rural conditions.

soundings titles like the Society for the Preservation of Antiquities, and the overlapping membership includes some of the best known persons in drama and literature in the United States. Paul Green and Kermit Hunter and Inglis Fletcher are here, along with dozens of others with perhaps comparable ability but up to now less recognition.

The distinctive peculiarities of these people and the differences in their particular objectives are much less evident than the common purpose which brings them together.

FOLKS — The keynote word for "culture week" might well be "folks." The writers of accurate history, past and current; the writers of drama and poetry and romance; the painters of pictures—whether in words or colors—and the composers and players and singers of music, have the common purpose of interpreting folks to folks.

And the folks assembled this week in Raleigh give tangible evidence of their ability to do that job in a highly successful way, because they are a very folksy bunch. The comic caricature of a poet or a musician with pallid complexion, dreamy eyes and long hair is just as outmoded as the concept of a farmer with hayseed in his hair.

Business Today

You Can't Say No?

By ELMER ROESSNER
Now that the end of the year is approaching, some businessmen may benefit, over their bookkeepers' objections, by setting up a C.S.N. account. It may be a nuisance, it may spark Internal Revenue agents' queries—but it may help them understand their own business operations better.

There is that apocryphal character in American business who, at this time of year, mutters, "I have spent $7,648.56 for advertising and it didn't produce any sales. In fact, it didn't even produce any advertising."

It seems that he, like so many others, charged everything to advertising that didn't have special accounting niche. The manager of the Tulsa branch came in and the boss showed him the town. The $897 expense was charged to advertising. His wife pledged $500 of his money for a birthday in the neighborhood park he paid it with a company check and charged it to advertising. His brother-in-law wired for a $1,000 loan; the boss mailed him some literature and a check for $90, charged to advertising.

chances are, he won't do it forever. But the real danger is that he is fooling himself. He hurls himself into the belief that he is buying advertising, public relations and good will whereas, for the most part, he is paying for the inability to say no. So if he—and the many other businessmen like him—really want to know how their businesses are doing, they ought to set up a C.S.N. account.

It stands for "can't say no." YOU CAN'T GO FAR ENOUGH
Taking to the road becomes less of a way to "get away from it all" as the years go by. First the scenery gave way to billboards; then picnic lunches to roadster but the television and swimming-pool equipped motor.

Home trailers, until recently, offered a semirestful life away from the city and television. But CBS-Columbia and Pacemaker Trailer Company have come up with the answer—TV sets built in trailers.

The sets are standard except for special cabinets and for devices which can be attached to give 82-channel reception—good for anywhere in the country.

Look out for low bridges or you will have a mangled antenna. GAS FURNACE SHIPMENTS UP
Gas-operated central-heating equipment shipments declined in October but the ten-month total still topped last year, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

Notes From The Oddity Almanac

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Notes from the Oddity Almanac, designed to educate your baby sister and put the kids to sleep:

Has your wife been badgering you to buy her an air-conditioning machine? . . . Why not surprise her with an old-fashioned hand-waved fan this Christmas?

The fan has been a sign of exalted rank among women since the 14th Century B.C. in Egypt, when it was considered an emblem of happiness or repose. . . .

Fans have accented the glamour of famous women from Cleopatra to Sally Rand. . . . the first Queen Elizabeth had 31 fans at her death, including one set with precious jewels, presented her by Sir Francis Drake. . . .

The old-time hand fan won't prevent hay fever. . . . but it has no electrical parts. . . . and it is the only instrument on the market today, except the baby buggy, that will give modern woman both fresh air and exercise. . . .

Industry-Marches-On Dept: It is said that the quill used by Thomas Jefferson to write the Declaration of Independence came from one of his own geese at Monticello. . . . America's goose quill pen tycoon today is Lewis Glasser of New Haven, Conn., and some 1,000 tourists a month buy his pens at President Jefferson's old home. . . .

Almanac Headlines: Who were the last words spoken by Gen. Custer at his famous last stand, the battle of the Little Big Horn? Our firm believes—and nobody can show we're wrong—is that Custer said: "Je-e-e-hoshaphat! Whoever saw that dad-burned many Indians before?"

Almanac Long-Range Weather Forecast: Snow flurries in Alaska, followed before the first of the year by a rising tide of orange peels and discarded sunburn lotion bottles along the Florida coast.

"the boy most likely to succeed" Small Animals-With-Big-Problems Dept: Comedian Jack E. Leonard, who tips the beam at 350 pounds and says he wouldn't lose an ounce if he could, has been fretting recently because the veterinarian says his 3½-pound chihuahua, named Patjack, is over weight. . . . Do any Almanac readers know of any tested diets for slimming down a Chihuahua?

How-To-Get-Ahead tips: Get rid of that unsightly mop of hair on your head, mister. . . . Don't just comb it over the years. . . . Borrow a match and burn it off now. . . . Baldness is on the march. . . . Yul Brynner, star of "The King and I," is so bald he doesn't dare bend over the table when playing a near-sighted opponent at billiards. . . . But he reports women fans write they regard his baldness as a badge of masculinity and a sign of virility. . . .

Editor's note: Why doesn't Boyle quit dreaming and go ahead and buy himself that toupee he needs? Maybe he could deduct it from his income tax as a business expense.

CIVILIZATION AND EDUCATION
Comparatively few readers of this column would recognize the name of Dr. Frank C. Laubach. Yet this man—a Christian missionary—is one of the most distinguished present-day world citizens. He has taught sixty million (yes, million) people in sixty-eight countries to read and write through an original technique which he has devised. His triumphs and the extent to which he can take completely illiterate adults and have them reading within a few weeks, sounds like a fairy tale.

In a recent interview Mr. Laubach said: "The most burdened people on this planet, the naked, the hungry, the ill-informed, the sick, the impaired in mind and soul, are the 1,200,000,000 illiterates. More than half of the human race, hungry, driven, diseased, are afraid of educated men in this world and of demons in the next."

What are we to say of this vaunted civilization of ours which leaves half the world's population in this state? What are we to say of education in the light of Laubach's words that if one were to speak kindly to one of these illiterates, he would probably be "the first educated man who ever looked at him except to swindle him."

Is modern man really civilized? Is he educated?

Ickes' Diary Raises Questions

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Harold L. Ickes' 6,000,000-word diary has raised the question among his overburdened successors at Washington of when this literary Colossus found any time to work for Uncle Sam instead of for Harold L. Ickes. If he were still alive, some taxpayer might bring suit for recovery of the several hundred thousands of dollars paid him during his twelve years as Secretary of the Interior.

Leaving out the odd figures, the "Old Curmudgeon" wrote 500,000 words a year during his twelve years here. 10,000 words a week and almost 1,500 words a day. His laborious, copy-reading methods only multiply the mystery of how he reconciled his role of diarist with his responsibilities as a public servant. Ickes was a sports reporter in Chicago many years ago.

KEPT SECRETARY BUSY—He made his first copy in pencilled longhand, which was then typewritten by a secretary on the Federal payroll. After he had edited this original draft, he frequently corrected it, or expanded it. It was then retyped. In addition, he was a prolific writer of books and magazine articles, and was never averse to making a withering speech.

He poured out more than words, however, which makes his achievement all the more bewildering. He exerted and exhausted himself physically and mentally as he poured out his intense emotions of hate, envy, ambition, frustration and plain disgust with so many of his fellow officials, including Franklin D. Roosevelt.

CARELESS DEPARTMENT WORK—This literary expansiveness explains, belatedly, why the Interior Department was conducted in such a slipshod, hit-or-miss and careless manner during his incumbency. Although he engaged in many extracurricular activities, and always sought more power for himself, he neglected details.

He left them to young and enthusiastic subordinates drawn from the extreme left ranks of the New Dealers. But he was always happy to accept their ideas, if only because they enabled him to build his secret treasure of written hate, corral headlines, create confusion and make enemies.

His Ickesiana, both published and unpublished parts, will be one of the wildest, wildest and strangest documents ever to be filed with the Library of Congress.

"SILLIEST FANTASY"—For those who lived through this period with or without Ickes, however, his literary legacy answers almost as many questions as it raises. It suggests that other factors than personal ambition alone led F.D.R. to seek a third and fourth terms. It provides other reasons than World War II for the Administration's conservative shift.

As James A. Farley says, Ickes' belief that either Party would name him for President is the "silliest fantasy" in political history. But the writings show how many men around Roosevelt were ready and willing to fight for the nomination in 1940 and 1944, and possibly disrupt the hodgepodge Democratic organization, if F.D.R. did not silence their clamor and rivalry by running again.

PRESIDENTIAL HOPEFULS—Within the White House family, either seeking it on their own or catapulted onto the scene by friends, were Ickes himself, Henry Wallace, Cordell Hull, Louis Johnson, James of R.F.C. Alben Barkley, ex-Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina. Standing on the outside but always available until his death was "Al" Smith.

As his comments and as his friends' commentaries reveal, Roosevelt did not regard any of these men as strong or popular enough to hold together his ragtag-bottal alliance of radicals, conservatives and what-have-you. F.D.R. found objections to all rivals!

F.D.R. apparently felt that he had to break the two-term tradition in order to insure a Democratic victory in 1940 and in 1944. Anybody else might have been defeated by Wilkie in 1940 or by Dewey in 1944.

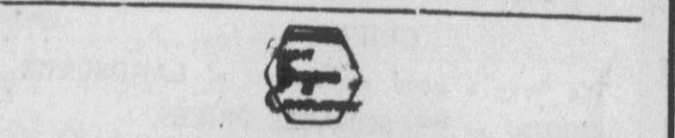

ICKES IRRITATED F.D.R.—Ickes records that he was the only "liberal" in the Roosevelt Cabinet who remained loyal to the true faith in the third and fourth terms. He even exhortates Wallace for deserting the pink flag.

In this respect, Ickes is correct. Every other Cabinet member had accepted F.D.R.'s dictum that "Doctor Win the War" had supplanted the "Doctor New Deal." The late President eventually became impatient, even irritable, at Ickes' failure to sense that the New Deal as such had worn out its welcome in a world struggling for survival against brutal dictators.

Perhaps it was because Harold had a bit of the dictatorial streak in him!

The Cat's Paw

by MARION SALTER

ERIC MUST have something in mind. Surely he'd read the papers, he wouldn't suggest it if . . . Even so, she shouldn't go.

Charlotte stuffed the telegram in her purse and started up the stairs. She'd decide after she read the paper.

Still she postponed it, taking time to hang up her wraps tidily, to brush her shining, clean hair, to change into her ballet slippers. Was she more afraid of what she'd find or not find? The between-the-line insinuations?

She spread the paper on the table, sat down and began to read. Quickly, skimming the headlines with eyes that seemed almost unconversed with Miss Morgan, who was working late . . . When questioned the attractive brunette revealed that at one time she had some dates with Kingsley Cummings who was twice her age. She is quoted as saying that it was never a romance, that her role was rather that of protegee. She also said that yesterday afternoon Mr. Cummings promoted her to advertising manager, following the dismissal of Mario Milani.

Detectives questioned Mr. Milani at his neat, middle-class Long Island home. They quote him as admitting that he arrived at home at one a.m. this morning, after a tour of several midtown bars. Mrs. Milani bore out her husband's statement that he is not a drinking man, and that last evening's indulgence was an emotional reaction to his dismissal. He is unable to recall precisely which bars he visited.

Police hint that several curious angles have come to light in this puzzling case.

Dorothy had gone for a long walk, between seven-thirty and eight-thirty. She does that for her figure, you know; but of all times to pick! They're both nervous wrecks, especially Velora. I should think after that peculiar statement she made at the party. And Dorothy—I don't know she sounded awfully queer."

"I shouldn't wonder. That accounts for everyone but Eric and Doodles."

"Oh, Velora had talked to her. She was safe at home in the bosom of her family last night."

"There's nothing like a family bosom to keep one on the straight and narrow."

"I don't know about Eric's alibi," Norma chatted on, "but of course he didn't do it. Charlotte, do you have any theories—after all, you were there. That is, I mean . . ."

She laughed, embarrassed.

"Yes, I was there," Charlotte said. "Let's face it. But I've never been any good at guessing who-dunnits. Well, thank you again for asking me over. See you Monday; I suppose there's business as usual Monday."

"I suppose so. Doesn't it seem hard-boiled? Poor Mr. Cummings. I suppose that early tragedy in his life more or less explains him. Of course you knew him better . . ."

"Yes. Well, good-by, Norma."

"Good-by."

Charlotte hung up thoughtfully. What made Norma suddenly so prying, the self-appointed investigator? Nice Norma who had always minded her own business. Why had she wanted Charlotte for dinner? So that later she could say "Imagine, she was right here in our house last Saturday night?"

What did Norma suspect?

What had Norma said about King's early tragedy more or less explaining him? Charlotte had just skimmed that in the paper, though of course King had told her about it. Now she ran her eye down the column till she came to it. "Mr. Cummings," the paper said, "was a widower. His young wife died in childbirth in 1925. The baby, a boy, died two days later."

Did that "more or less explain" King? Had that been the blow from which he'd never risen the same? Had that made him hate life and find it futile, made him envy all who were allowed to be happy and do his utmost to ruin their lives? Scratch the inhuman sadist and find a suffering, defeated human? Could be.

New Stop Sign Is Being Adopted

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The yellow stop sign is being replaced by a new reflective red one.

The National Safety Council said the vivid red sign has white letters and can be seen more than a block away at night in low-beam city driving headlights and from more than a quarter of a mile away at night in high-beam headlights.

An official committee of traffic authorities gave preliminary approval of the sign as the national standard. Formal approval is expected this fall.

Florida, Indiana, South Dakota, Louisiana and Oregon already have adopted the sign as standard. New York City and Chicago have installed some of them. Many other cities are testing their effectiveness.

"There are so many different types of yellow signs that the motorist sometimes become confused and fails to realize that the yellow octagonal sign he is approaching is a stop sign and not a warning sign," said T.T. Wiley, New York City traffic commissioner.

"By using red for stop signs only, the confusion will be eliminated."

The council said the highly reflective signs are made of the same type of sheeting as the reflective bumper tape used on the rear bumpers of millions of automobiles.

"Charlotte," she said, "I wondered if you'd care to come to dinner, here at home, just Bob and me. This is all so nerve-racking, and I thought it must be worse if you're alone . . ."

"That's very nice of you," Charlotte said. "But I—I have a dinner date."

New Ready-To-Wear Shop Opens Dec. 5

Miss Georgia Gossin, "Three Sisters" supervisor for North and South Carolina, discusses tomorrow's opening of the new store in Greenville with Mrs. Sarah Sharpe, manager of the local store.

The "Three Sisters", Greenville's latest ladies' ready-to-wear store, will open for business tomorrow morning at nine o'clock.

The local store will be a part of the 140-store nationwide chain of "Three Sisters" stores.

"Three Sisters" handles popular priced ladies' dresses, coats, lingerie, hose and dresses. It will handle junior's, misses and ladies' ready-to-wear.

Construction of the latest addition of Greenville's downtown shopping area began a few weeks ago in the building formerly occupied by Frank Wilson Clothiers. The entire building was remodeled and redecorated for the new store under the supervision of Bernard Sanders, construction superintendent for "Three Sisters".

The interior of the store is decorated in pastel colors and fluorescent lighting is used throughout. The floors are covered with carpet and tile and a new glass front has been added to the building.

Mrs. Sarah Sharpe has been appointed manager of the "Three Sisters". She is originally from Wilson and prior to coming to Greenville she was employed at the "Three Sisters" store in Winston-Salem.

New Six-Ply Pill Is Promising For Stomach Ulcers

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
ST. LOUIS (AP) — A six-ply pill was described as a new and promising treatment for stomach ulcers in an exhibit shown today to the American Medical Assn.

It combines four different anti-acids to counteract excess stomach acids causing or worsening the ulcers. The fifth element is an oatmeal extract which binds the acid-fighters together and releases them slowly for about two hours. The sixth ingredient is a gummy material which forms a protective coating over the lining of the stomach or the duodenum, the first part of the intestine.

These new pills, not yet on the market, have relieved pain within a few days in most of more than 250 patients treated so far, according to the exhibit.

The exhibit is staged by Doctors Leo L. Hardt and Frederick Stegmann, Stritch School of Medicine of Loyola University and Cook County Graduate School of Medicine, and Clarence A. Maaske and Robert Grover of the University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver.

The pills are known to have helped the healing-over of ulcers in the stomach, Dr. Hardt said. And X-rays of many patients show no ulcer scars in the duodenum, an area which can't be seen by the gastroscope, a tube which takes pictures within the stomach.

The pills combine four anti-acids commonly used for ulcers—calcium carbonate, aluminum hydroxide, magnesium trisilicate and magnesium carbonate.

Used separately, some of these produce undesirable effects, such as constipation or diarrhea, Dr. Hardt said. But the combination so far shows no bad effects. Patients take about 24 pills a day, usually before and after meals, and before bedtime.

Treatment usually is continued for at least a year, with fewer pills in the second six months.

Jenkins Reviews 'Buffer' Role Of Education Board

The role of "buffer between the school and those people in our public who would criticize the school" without justification "must be adopted by Boards of Education in fulfilling their duties, Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College told the Johnston County School Board Association at a dinner meeting this week in Four Oaks.

"Criticism frequently comes," he explained "from unrepresented groups. With the help of the general public and of professional school people the Board should determine those things that are desired in a school. They should then hire people qualified to achieve the aims of the school and should support them."

Further defining the work of the Board, Dr. Jenkins said that it should determine with the help of professional school people the characteristics, skills, and attitudes of the educated citizen; and then, through the program of education offered in the school, it should strive to attain the objective of training children for citizenship.

"Petty gripes, unjustifiable complaints, and requests for the inclusion of trivialities in the educational program," he said in conclusion, "should be dedicated to regular school Board of Education meetings and disposed of as expeditiously as possible."

By DORIAN FALK
VIENNA (AP) — Bulgaria's Red rulers, raiding the nation's private bookshelves and public libraries for "waste paper," have destroyed all pre-Communist literature, a Bulgarian newspaper reveals. The toll includes many valuable old books once the pride of Bulgarian libraries.

The magazine Literaturni Front, for example announced the waste paper drive was so thorough "the whole contents of the 100-year-old public library in Lom were sent to the paper mill and rammed into bins."

Communist functionaries did a similar job all over the country, according to Literaturni Front. The books and manuscripts collected were shipped to Sofia and sorted by color before being carted to paper mills.

Bulgarian news organs indicate the waste paper drive is only one small part of a bigger movement to regiment the minds of seven million Bulgarians, most of whom are anti-Communist peasants.

Details of the ever-increasing Russification of literature also have been disclosed by Bulgarian newspapers. They show that more than 80 per cent of Bulgaria's literary production now is "of Soviet Bolshevik origin."

In 1944 only 3.4 per cent of books published in Bulgaria were original Soviet works or translations. In 1950 that figure had risen to 35.7 per cent.

Ponder Whether Tariff, Subsidy Foster Outputs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mid-Century Conference on Resources for the Future today pondered whether high tariffs or peacetime subsidies would be the best way to foster production of strategic war materials.

The subsidy proposal, as an alternative to suggested tariff protection for the lead and zinc industry, came from Charles P. Taft, brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio).

In a prepared statement, Taft told the conference, which is closing today:

"Any tariff is government intervention not quite in harmony with the position of the supporters of the free enterprise system. It is a concealed subsidy which no doubt is why it is preferred."

Andrew Fletcher, president of the St. Joseph Lead Co., last night called for a tariff, adjustable to the rise and fall of foreign lead and zinc prices, to protect domestic mines from low cost foreign competition.

Taft argued such a tariff "would produce immediate reprisals, and justifiably—it is one more piece of economic warfare on Canada, our best friend and ally."

But Fletcher contended: "The major portion of our lead and zinc mining industry will be shut down unless some constructive action is taken."

"We must not jettison the safety of our nation, and possibly even of the free world, by shutting down our mines."

Taft said the government should subsidize mining exploration and operation of "truly marginal higher cost mines."

Ready To Inform Utah Legislator

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's Legislature is holding a special session to consider a number of school matters, and one of the items up for action is a revision of the state's annual census of school-age children.

"I don't know where all those kids come from, but there sure are a lot of them," said Sen. Luke Clegg during the debate.

Sen. Jaren L. Jones interrupted: "If Sen. Clegg doesn't know where all the kids are coming from I'll be glad to tell him if he'll step outside for a few minutes."

Clinic-Workshop Of Piano Teachers Set

Final arrangements are now being made for a one-day clinic-workshop for piano teachers to be held at East Carolina College, Monday, December 7, in the Austin auditorium, Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, director of the college department of music and chairman of the event, has announced.

The meeting is sponsored by the North Carolina State Piano Association. Teachers and college students of piano are invited to attend. A registration fee of $1 will cover the cost of participation in the day's program.

Dr. William S. Newman, chairman of instruction in piano at the University of North Carolina and past chairman of the senior piano division of the Music Teachers National Association, will direct activities of the clinic-workshop.

Widely known as a concert pianist, musicologist, and author of books on music, he served last summer as master teacher for the piano clinic at the second biennial convention of the Western Division of the Music Teachers National Association in Seattle, Washington.

He has given courses during summer sessions at Columbia University and the Ullillar School of Music.

Two sessions have been scheduled for the clinic-workshop at East Carolina. A morning meeting will begin at 9:45; and an afternoon meeting, at 1:30.

With Dr. Newman as discussion leader, the State Contest-Festival music will be analyzed. Also on the agenda are discussions of musicianship, technique, and the fundamentals of piano practice.

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Actor Robert Mitchum is scheduled to appear in court today to answer a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in the city limits.

After his attorney posted $250 bail yesterday a warrant charging escape and evading arrest was withdrawn.

Motorcycle officer J. N. Ryan said Mitchum suddenly drove off while he was writing out a ticket for speeding Wednesday night.

Ryan said the actor later phoned the police station and explained, "I wasn't sure you were a cop, Dad; I thought you were a bandit, so I went home."

Planned Suicide Proved Failure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police found William Joe Kraker sprawled in the front seat of his car yesterday, a hose leading from the exhaust pipe through a window and a suicide note pinned to the dashboard.

But Kraker was alive. His gas tank had gone empty.

King-size cigarettes were about 17 per cent of U.S. production in 1952.

First Junior Girls' Unit Of VFW Here

The first Junior Girls Unit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary in the state of North Carolina, sponsored by Greenville Post 7032 and Auxiliary, was installed in an impressive ceremony at the clubhouse in November Mrs. Hugh Hamrick, State Junior Vice-President, of Shelby, N. C., officiated at the installation. Mrs. Arthur Andrews, Junior Vice-President of the local auxiliary, presided.

In instituting the unit, Mrs. Hamrick stated, "It is our duty to train our children to have respect of our flag, love of our country and instill patriotism in the heart of every child."

The Junior Girls Unit is composed of daughters and sisters between the ages of five and 18 of veterans who have served in foreign wars. Twenty-two members took the oath of allegiance, and the following officers were installed:

President, Rachel Phillips; Senior Vice-President, Joanne Parks; Junior Vice-President, Alvare Bass; Treasurer, Darleen Phillips; Secretary, Jackie Moore; Chaplain, Linda Joyner; Conductress, Judy Ferris; and Guard, Rebecca Parks.

Following the installation services, a reception was held. Golden punch, cakes topped with blue icing, and nuts were served from the appointed table centered with an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums flanked by burning blue tapers. Each member of the Junior Girls unit wore bouquets of gold chrysanthemums tied with blue ribbon and honored guests wore corsages.

Special guests present for the occasion were Mr. Andy Penny, Past Commander of the Fourth District, Wallace, N. C., Mr. Charles Croom, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bright from the Post in Washington, N. C.

Igor Gouzenko Likely Remembering Night Of Fear In September, 1945

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Igor Gouzenko, as he ponders repeated bids for his testimony about Red fifth columns in North America, must recall a night of terror in 1945 when he could convince no one that such a thing existed.

The State Department yesterday asked the Canadian government to arrange an interview between Gouzenko and Sen. Jenner (R-Ill.) and Robert Morris, chairman and counsel, respectively, of the Senate internal security subcommittee.

Gouzenko has been living in Canada under an alias and with police protection since, as a Russian code clerk at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, he exposed a Red spy ring operating in Canada in 1945 with contacts in the United States.

In a note to the Canadian Embassy, the State Department emphasized that Jenner's subcommittee would abide by Canada's decision as to what part of Gouzenko's testimony, if any, could be made public.

Accepted also were Canada's other terms: (1) that the interview must be under Canadian auspices, and (2) that Gouzenko must be willing to risk his police-guarded obscurity by testifying.

The State Department said it has no official word on the latter. But in an announcement, which indicated the meeting might already have been arranged, it said: "In view of the necessity of protecting Mr. Gouzenko's security, the arrangements concerning the time and place of the meeting cannot of course be made public."

If he read that, Gouzenko perhaps thought back to a different time and place. Back to Sept. 5, 1945, when he was not a naturalized Canadian with a craving for anonymity. Back to when he was Igor Gouzenko, a native citizen of Russia and, at 26, a Red army lieutenant especially trained to decipher codes.

The picture of him then is dramatically painted in "The Report of the Royal Commission," a 733-page paper-backed volume published by Canada June 27, 1946.

The report summed up the hearings in early 1946 of a royal commission before which, Gouzenko was star witness and accuser. More than a dozen Canadians testified. Some of them were later convicted in the courts on espionage charges.

Gouzenko, the report says, had been having a struggle with himself. He had been ordered back to Russia after serving two years at the Ottawa embassy. He did not want to go. He wanted to live in Canada with his wife and child.

For the first time, he said, he had discovered freedom—in the store windows full of things anybody could buy, and in elections where more than one candidate stood for office.

So he began dog-eared some of the documents in the files of the Russian Embassy—damning evidence of a spy ring involving atomic secrets and Canadian government employes. About 7 p. m. on Sept. 5, 1945, he picked up the papers he had marked and walked out of the embassy.

Then, says the report, he went to a newspaper with his story and, the next day, to various official offices, but "he was unable . . . to have anyone accept him seriously."

The report does not name the newspaper or the offices.

What was he to do? He knew the embassy would be looking for him. He went back to his apartment with his wife and son. As he entered the apartment house, he thought he saw two figures lurking in the shadows across the street.

Inside, he sat quietly and tried to think. There was a knock on the door. He did not answer it. Perhaps, if he made no noise, they would go away . . .

But then, as children will, his son scrambled across the floor. The man at the door spoke. Gouzenko recognized the voice of Ulder Lt. Lavrentev, a driver for the embassy's military attaché.

Gouzenko reacted instinctively. He went out the back door to a balcony onto which opened other apartments. He begged his neighbors to care for his son if anything happened to him and his wife.

One neighbor, a woman whose husband was away for the night, took the Gouzenkos in. Another, a Royal Canadian Air Force non-commissioned officer, got out his bicycle and rode for the police.

The Canadian Mounties arrived but the Russian driver had disappeared. They set up a watch, telling Gouzenko to leave the bathroom light burning in his neighbor's apartment unless something went wrong. If the light went out, the Mounties were to come up from the street and investigate.

Around midnight four men knocked on Gouzenko's empty apartment. Getting no answer, they broke the lock of the door and entered. The RCMP man heard the noise and sounded the alarm. The Mounties closed in.

They found the Russians, including the head of the NKVD (Soviet secret police) unit in Canada, ransacking Gouzenko's apartment. The bashed-in lock was on the floor.

From then on, Gouzenko and his family—there is now another child—were under the Mounties' protective guard.

The Soviet Embassy sent the apartment house $5 to pay for the lock.

Christmas Basket Talent Show Set

A talent show, broadcast over radio station WGTN, will be presented by the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce on the night of December 15, to raise funds for Christmas baskets for needy families of the community.

Plans for the annual talent show were announced last night at the meeting of the local Jaycees.

Club president Ben Rouse appointed Frank Dall general chairman of the project, and Dall in turn appointed various committees which will work on the project.

Present plans call for the show to be broadcast from Austin auditorium on the East Carolina College campus. Eli Bloom will serve as master of ceremonies.

The club voted last night to renew for three years its franchise on the Jaycee baseball team in the Greenville Little League. When the league was organized three years ago, the club purchased a three-year franchise for the club, and last night voted to renew it for an additional three years.

J. B. Kittrell Jr., chairman of the Jaycee committee which solicited funds for the Pitt County Scholarship Foundation of East Carolina College, reported members of the club secured $4,900 for the college scholarship fund in its recent three-day campaign.

State Director Gene Ward reported to the club on the quarterly board meeting of the state Jaycees recently held in Lumberton. Representing the local meeting of the meeting were Ward, Dan Saieed, district vice president, President Ben Rouse, Jim Lanier, Walter Whitehurst, J. B. Smith, Jimmy Warren and Dr. Warren Aldridge.

It was announced last night that the annual Bosses Night banquet of the local Jaycees will be held on January 14 at which time the Distinguished Service Award will be presented to the man chosen as Greenville's Young Man of the Year.

Members of the club were reminded of the visit of the Bloodmobile to Greenville Monday, and pledged for donations of blood were made by a number of Jaycees.

Two new members of the club, Bob Boyette of The Daily Reflector, and James W. Boykin of the State Highway Patrol, were inducted by past-president Charles Horne as new members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Nonconfidence Move Smashed

OTTAWA (AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's Liberal forces smashed down a Progressive Conservative motion of nonconfidence in Canada's government last night. The House of Commons vote was 152-56.

The ballot came after a three-week debate on the government-prepared throne speech which opened Parliament and outlined the Cabinet's program. The House action cleared the way for immediate consideration of government legislation.

The defeated motion stated that Canada's welfare depends on free competition and urged action to "restore" markets and promote world trade.

The car can be seen half buried in the front of the building. Three hours after the crash the building caved in (bottom view). Police said damage was estimated at $30,000. Police also said that Smith, driving at a high rate of speed turned his car into the front of the store to keep from crashing into the police station. (AP Photos).

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Editors of the Harvard University Crimson prepared to send "a few thousand" copies of their undergraduate daily newspaper to New York today to help fill the strike-caused news void there.

Crimson Managing Editor George S. Abrams said: "The thought of a great city like New York without a newspaper can cause only unrest among those interested in the intellectual well-being of the United States. The Crimson, in its small way, could not sit by and see such a situation continue to exist."

Crimson President Michael MacCoby of Mount Vernon, N. Y., said today's edition will feature Associated Press news and "analyses of world and national news by Harvard professors and newspapermen attending Harvard under Nieman Fellowships."

Activities Reported By Local Salvation Army

Lt. and Mrs. B.T. Lewis, commanding officers of the Greenville Salvation Army Post, 1817 Dickinson avenue, have completed their report of activities of the year through October 25.

The Salvation Army has befriended many persons stranded in Greenville without funds or friends, the report states. The post provided 52 nights lodging and 97 meals. It provided 26 transients with shoes and clothing and transportation for 10 persons.

The Salvation Army gave 65 worthy families grocery orders. It donated 430 pairs of shoes and 4,238 garments. The post paid house rent for destitute families on four occasions. In addition, the report shows that the post provided 64 household items to families that were victims of fire. Lt. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis give considerable time to counseling with individuals and families who are in destitute circumstances or in trouble, the report shows.

An important part of the Salvation Army's work in Greenville and vicinity is holding religious services at the Citadel and on the street. "Our job is not only to meet the physical needs of the people, but their spiritual needs," Lewis stated. "Believing that when people are brought into proper relationship with God through Christ, many problems are solved. We conducted 122 senior and 187 youth meetings and classes during the year and the response has been gratifying. We want to thank the people of the community for their cooperation and help," the post commander's report states.

A grand prize winner will then be chosen with additional cash totaling $500 for the winning club member and $75 for the sponsoring club. Now what club or club member can afford to ignore a tempting target like that?

To guide the camera clubs in their entry selections, a few suggestions are offered by Mr. Fred Seeley, vice president of the Osborne Company of Clifton, N.J., originators of the commercial art calendars, 66 years ago.

"The number one general rule is that a good calendar picture is a happy picture," Mr. Seeley stressed.

Among the most popular subjects are landscapes anywhere in the United States, without human figures — or with the human figures — or with the human figures subordinated; or human interest scenes featuring babies, children, and children with animals. Action shots of all sports are also popular, animal and birds, gardens, farms and homes with scenic value. Seascapes and harbor scenes, hunting and fishing shots and unusual aerial photography are acceptable. Pretty girl pictures are eligible also but besides being appealing the young lady must be engaged in some interesting and credible activity.

"The specialized picture category was initiated this year," Mr. Seeley added, "to meet the calendar needs of specific industries like lumberyards, grocery stores, dairies, farm equipment makers, automobile repair and gasoline stations, and so forth. It also includes pictures to illustrate special public service themes such as safety and the back-to-church movement."

The contest excludes entirely pictures of nudes disasters or wrecks and foreign scenes except those made in Canada or Mexico. The final point to bear in mind is that if recognizable people are shown in the pictures, model releases must be obtained.

Roanoke Baptist Session Slated

Several hundred representatives from the 92 churches of the Roanoke Baptist Association are expected to be present for the Annual Training Union "M" (Mobilization) Night program to be held at the First Baptist Church of Wilson on Monday evening, December 7th. Records indicate that 534 persons attended the annual meeting last year. The goal set for this year is 850.

Mr. Bruce Boyette, associational Training Union Director, has announced that the meeting will begin at 7:30. Young people from over the association will speak on various phases of Training Union work and a preview of activities for 1954 will be presented. The Rev. Alvin F. Boone, Whitakers, will be in charge of the music. Mr. Boyette states that associational officers for the coming year will be elected.

Since 1946 "M" Night has become an annual event for Baptist Training Unions throughout the Southern Baptist Convention. In December 1952, 289,264 people attended these simultaneous associational meetings. The goal for December 7, 1953, has been set at 825,000.

Mr. Boyette is urging each of the churches in the Roanoke Association to have representatives present at this "M" Night program.

Sports Time-Out

with Jimmy Ellis

Some announcement is expected today about East Carolina's opposition for the January 2 Elks Bowl in College Stadium.

Athletic officials at East Carolina said yesterday that several teams were under consideration for the bid but none had been given a final say-so. Those details were supposed to have been completed by noon today.

Sponsors of the bowl have run into a little trouble in that some teams don't especially want to play because of the difficulty in getting the NCAA to sanction the game. The National Collegiate Athletic Association is rather stingy about sanctioning bowl games and only about eight are officially recognized.

One of the teams under consideration for the bowl, Westchester State Teachers, ran into the same situation in 1952 when they were offered a chance to meet East Carolina in the Lions Bowl at Salisbury. Westchester accepted the bid and then had to do some fast backtracking because of a lack of NCAA sanction for the game. Clarion State accepted the bid and defeated the Pirates 13-7.

Both teams are under active consideration for the bid. Clarion may rate slightly over Westchester because of the previous game between Clarion and East Carolina. There have been unofficial reports that Westchester is on the 1954 East Carolina schedule and the Pirates may be so anxious to get a look at the Westchester attack that the bid would go to them.

Anyway, we should know today.

Basketball has gotten into full swing in the state and on the local level. On that local level, it looks as if the fans have a good year to look forward to. Both Greenville High School and East Carolina College teams looked good in their first games.

The Panthers knocked off Wilson of the Eastern AAA Conference in their debut. Coach Bo Farley's boys played almost the entire game without center Harold Edwards who was expected to be the kingpin in the Phantom attack this year.

Farley used several combinations in the game with Bobby Conway and Clark Noble sharing the center's duties. Both came through very well although Noble's performance was the more pleasing because he had been a rather unknown quantity until he proved himself Tuesday night. Conway has had considerable experience in previous years.

Forwards Bob Howell and Bobby Starkey both played well despite the fact that Starkey was slowed down by fouls early in the game. Howell proved himself, in that one game at least, to be a good man from the floor and in the rebounding department.

On the outside, little George Sideris came through in a way that was rather expected. He handled himself in the ball, and the plays well in directing the Phantom attack. He also showed that he can score for Coach Farley's team. He and Edgar Moore make a good pair of guards who should improve as they gain experience.

The college team, not at all impressed by reports of toughness on the part of an ambitious Belmont Abbey team, won their opener 76-67. There was some great team play in the victory but there was still room for some outstanding individual performances.

Big Bobby Hodges led the scoring with 23 points and a terrific job of rebounding. Charlie Huffman added 18 points and also did a good job with the rebounding. Guards Cecil Heath and J. C. Thomas took over when the defense tightened around Huffman and Hodges and popped in 27 points between them.

Senior Paul Jones and freshman Don Harris alternated at the other forward post. That system might be followed for quite a while since Jones is the type fellow you want sitting on the bench and Harris is the good prospect who needs plenty of experience if he is to fulfill what is expected of him.

The Panthers will go out of town tonight for another game with an Eastern AAA Conference team. Rocky Mount's Blackbirds opened their own season Tuesday night by walloping hapless Henderson 73-35 in Rocky Mount. There was never any contest about the winner of the contest and Rocky Mount coasted after the first two minutes of action.

The Pirates will open their home schedule tomorrow night against Guilford College. The Quakers have had their rough moments already and lost their North State Conference opener last night to High Point. The Panthers won 65-61 in a real thriller.

Guilford has a veteran team this year that is sparked by guard Bobby Calcutt. The little playmaker is a former teammate of Pirates Charlie Huffman and Paul Jones since all three are graduates of Thomsville High School. The Pirates, pre-season favorites in the North State flag chase, will be favored over the Quakers. But that doesn't mean a thing. Particularly in this North State Conference.

R. Mount Team Second AAA Foe For Greenville

By WAYNE BISHOP Reflector Sports Writer

Gunning for their second consecutive victory over triple-A competition, Greenville's belligerent basketballers pit their high geared offense against that of the Rocky Mount Blackbirds tonight in Rocky Mount. In high spirits after their 64-60 upset victory over Wilson on Tuesday, the G-men are out to conquer even higher goals. The Blackbirds are still rated a favorite over the Phantoms since they have virtually the same squad that whipped the Greens twice last season.

Once again ailments will hinder Coach Farley's boys in their attempts for a win. Big Bobby Starkey, a 6-4 senior sharpshooter, has undergone a minor toe operation and has been counted out definitely.

Another first stringer, Harold Edwards, is placed on the doubtful list. Edwards, sprained an ankle last week and it hasn't healed as expected. How much the big center will play, if any, has not been decided as yet.

Bobby Conway, a rugged rebounder, and slim Walter Perkins will replace Edwards and Starkey. All-Conference performer George Sideris, the wily wizard of playmaking, and Edgar Moore, a 6 foot junior, have been named to start at the guards for the Farleymen. Ace scorer Bob Howell, who bagged 19 points against Wilson, and Perkins will man the forwards with Conway at center.

Game time has been set for 8 o'clock.

Lattner And Giel Lead All-America

By BOB HOOBING NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame's John Lattner and Minnesota's Paul Giel, a pair of halfbacks who proved as outstanding in one-platoon football as in the two-platoon era, are the only repeaters on the 1953 Associated Press All America team announced today.

Paul Cameron of UCLA and David Kossel Johnson of Rice join the two Midwesterners to form the first-team backfield. Recommendations by regional boards of newspaper and radio experts covering the entire nation formed the basis for the selections. The line is composed of Capt. Don Dohoney of Michigan State and Sam Morley of Stanford at ends, Stanley Jones of Maryland and Jack Shanafelt of Penn at tackles, J. D. Roberts of Oklahoma and Crawford Mims of Mississippi at guards and Larry Morris of Georgia Tech at center.

The return of limited substitutions, which also brought back the naming of a single first team rather than a 22-man unit of the Associated Press, put added emphasis on the capable all-around players. Lattner, who played both ways even in the days of specialists, was the "bread and butter" performer for the Irish. A tireless worker and team inspirational leader, he was a driving runner, excellent tackler and a good punter. After he had tipped through the huge Southern California line for four touchdowns Coach Frank Leahy called him "a wonderful competitor" and a "fine clutch player."

"The finest I ever have coached," says Minnesota's Wes Fesler of Giel. Against Michigan he ran for 112 yards and two touchdowns, completed 13 of 18 passes for 169 yards and another score, came up with two leaping interceptions and some important tackles. His three-year total of handling the ball 1,056 times was a national record. He ran and passed for 1,339 yards this year. Cameron, UCLA's workhorse at tailback in the Bruin single wing, rushed for 672 yards and scored 72 points to lead the Pacific Coast Conference in both departments. He also added 326 yards by passing. His coach, Red Sanders, said, "I don't think we would have reached the Rose Bowl without this all-around player."

The lightest man on the team at 178 pounds, Johnson combined speed and power at fullback for Rice. His 944 net rushing yardage was second highest in Southwest Conference history. He also rated tops as a punter, linebacker and blocker. The All America line, which averages 203.5 pounds per man, is flanked on one side by Dohoney, a 193-pounder who excels on defense. He personally checked Giel and threw back a Wolverine threat in Michigan State victories over Minnesota and Michigan.

Morley, who caught 45 passes for 594 yards and six touchdowns, was exceptional in his first year of playing defense. Georgia Tech's Morris, the only junior to go with the otherwise all-senior lineup, was the best linebacker and blocker for the Engineers.

Mims, who stood out in every game, and Roberts, the kingpin of one of the finest lines in the nation, were excellent 200-pound guards. Mims rushed opposing passers and kickers constantly, blocking three punts in two games. Roberts, a defensive specialist in '52, was unsurpassed on offense.

Jones, top-weighted man on the squad at 235, was the bulwark of a defense that held Maryland's opponents to a mere 31 points. Shanafelt was the principal reason Penn

J. C. THOMAS, a sophomore from Raleigh, will be in the starting line-up tomorrow night when the East Carolina Pirates meet Guilford in the Pirates' first home game. Thomas got 14 points Tuesday night when East Carolina defeated Belmont Abbey 76-67. (Reflector Sports Photo).

Major Leaguers Defend Selves Against Charges

By JOE REICHLER ATLANTA (AP)—Major league player representatives today defended themselves against charges of trying to wreck the pension plan as lines were forming on both sides of the player-owner dispute.

American League player representative Allie Reynolds, accused by Johnny Murphy and Dixie Walker, baseball's first player delegates, as being one of the ring-leaders of a group that was "trying to jeopardize the pension plan," heatedly denied any such intentions.

"We have no kick as to the operation of the pension plan," Reynolds said last night. "We simply are trying to improve it. All the players certainly are proud of the plan and in no way want to jeopardize its standing."

Murphy and Walker, who helped set up the pension plan in 1946, accused the player representatives of violating the trust of their fellow athletes by walking out of a meeting made as good a showing as it did on its "suicide" schedule.

Pirates Meeting Guilford Squad In Home Opener

By JIMMY ELLIS Reflector Sports Editor

When East Carolina College's Pirates make their home debut tomorrow night there will be something rather unusual about their squad roster. They'll have a non-North Carolinian on the team.

The "furriner" is forward Johnny Rice, a native of Delaware who now makes his home in Kinston. He's a reserve forward on the squad. He's played high school ball for Seaford High School in Delaware.

Rice isn't expected to see a great deal of action tomorrow night unless the Pirates have a good night. Coach Howard Porter is expected to stick with his starting combination with one or two alternations unless the Pirates really hit their stride.

The expected starting line-up has Charlie Huffman and Paul Jones at the forwards, Bobby Hodges at center, and Cecil Heath and J. C. Thomas at the guards. Those five started Tuesday night when the Pirates opened their season with a 76-67 victory over Belmont Abbey.

Freshman Don Harris and transfer Waverly Akins, both forwards, are expected to see considerable action. Harris, the two-time All-Stater from Laurinburg, alternated with Jones in the opener against Belmont. Akins took over for Huffman after Hodges fouled out and Huffman moved into the pivot position.

In games played last night, Guilford blew a slim first-half lead to lose to High Point 65-61. The Quakers led most of the way in the nip-and-tuck contest, the Mid-lifter for North State Conference teams. Tickets will be available at the door tomorrow night for the game.

North Staters Have Hard Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Davidson invades Wake Forest tonight in the top attraction of the state college basketball card.

The Wildcats aren't expected to cause the Deacons too much trouble. They lost their opening game to Guilford of the North State Conference Wednesday night, 63-58. Wake Forest, 1952 Southern Conference champions, already has one victory to its credit. The Deacons members of the newly formed Atlantic Coast Conference, beat Virginia Tech, 82-55, earlier this week.

Other action tonight sends the semipro McCrary Eagles against North Carolina and Tusculum against Lenoir Rhyne. Appalachian travels out of state to meet Milligan.

The first North State Conference game of the season last night saw High Point beat Guilford, 65-61. In non-conference games Enka's Rayonites trimmed Western Carolina, 87-76; Belmont Abbey downed Elon, 81-78, and Atlantic Christian eked Norfolk Navy, 69-68.

Forward Jerry Williams sank a free throw with 20 seconds left to earn Atlantic Christian its victory. ACC center John Marley had tied the score at 68-68 with a tip-in a few seconds earlier.

Belmont Abbey produced a 28-point scoring spurge in the final period to down Elon. Jack Underwood, who scored 21 points for the night, led the rally to spoil the Christians' season opener.

Pete Sykes sparked a late Panther rally over Guilford. The Quakers, opening their home season, enjoyed a 33-32 lead at half time.

Over-eager Western Carolina committed 33 personal fouls against Enka. The Rayonites capitalized by sinking 31 free throws, 10 of them by Smith Langdon.

ACC Winter Meeting Could Turn Into Important One

GREENSBORO (AP)—What shaped up as a routine Atlantic Coast Conference meeting today may develop into one of importance in the wake of reports that there has been increased support for admission of West Virginia and Virginia Tech.

The seven large schools which broke from the Southern Conference last spring voted in Virginia in mid-October to bring their number to eight. Virginia was expected to be made an active member as of now at the session.

From the time of the split last May West Virginia and Virginia Tech had supporters who wanted them brought into the ACC along with Virginia as a sort of "package deal", but for one reason or another only Virginia was asked.

Dr. James T. Penney of South Carolina, conference president, said on the eve of the session that he was long aware of the agitation to bring in the two Southern Conference members, but that he did not know if adherents to the plan were prepared to press the matter at this meeting. There was the possibility that official action might wait until next spring, said Penney.

West Virginia, always a basketball power, added to its athletic stature by gaining a football Sugar Bowl bid. Virginia Tech, regarded as a school with a bright athletic future, is a charter member of the Southern Conference. C. P. Miles, its veteran faculty chairman, formerly was president of the Southern.

Several minor constitution changes and reports of various sports committees headed the official agenda.

Francis Unhappy About 32 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—It's hard to think of a basketball player as a flop when he scores 32 points in his New York debut but Bevo Francis, the scoring sensation from Rio Grande College, is mighty unhappy about his first game at Madison Square Garden.

"I don't blame anybody. I just had an off night," he said dejectedly in his dressing room last night after Rio Grande had suffered its first loss in 41 games, 83-76 to Adelphi College of Garden City, N. Y.

"We played our worst game," agreed Coach New Oliver, who has guided Bevo and the tiny Ohio school to national basketball prominence. "I don't know why we had to pick this one to play so poorly."

Francis, a gangling 6-9 sophomore, averaged 50.1 points per game last season against a mixture of small colleges, business schools and junior colleges. Last night was his biggest test.

He had been averaging 50 to 60 shots a game but against a collapsing zone defense which literally put him in a cage during the second half he managed just 26 attempts. He connected on 10.

"Our defense hurt us most," Oliver said. "We let them shoot from outside and they hit everything in sight. I don't make Bevo play defense much anyhow not a tight one. I can't afford to let him foul. I don't even have another center."

In the other half of the Garden's first college double-header of the season, St. John's of Brooklyn outlasted Lafayette 66-61.

Elsewhere, the biggest upset of the night was the 87-54 defeat of Texas Christian by Midwestern of Texas. TCU is the two-time Southwest Conference champion.

Southern Methodist overpowered Texas Wesleyan 105-70 and Texas Tech surprised Tennessee 88-71. Maryland won its second straight in the new Atlantic Coast Conference, beating Clemson 81-41.

In the Midwest, Notre Dame, a quarter-finalist in the NCAA tournament last spring, breezed past Ball State 84-63. Bowling Green defeated Detroit 78-53, and Oklahoma City was extended before turning back Hardin-Simmons 64-52.

Wyoming, perennial power of the Skyline Conference, defeated Montana State 62-53. Seattle, which lost its famous O'Brien twins at the end of last season, was beaten by Wichita 82-64.

Haas Happy Man

HAVANA (AP)—Freddie Haas Jr., one of three players tied for the lead was mighty happy today as he entered the Havana Country Club International Golf Tournament. But for a while he didn't expect to make it.

Haas victim of a virus infection, shot a healthy 65 as did Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., in yesterday's opening round.

"All I could eat was baby food," the New Orleans pro explained. "I felt weak and I doubted whether I could get here for the tournament."

The top trio led a field of 31 professionals in the three-day event. Behind them came Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., with a 66 and defending Champion Dutch Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., with a 67.

Australian Aces Upset By Seconds

MELBOURNE (AP)—Australia's No. 2 team of Rex Harwig and Mervyn Rose upset Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad in the doubles final of the Victorian Tennis Championships today leaving the Aussies' Davis Cup Captain, Harry Hopman, dissatisfied with the result.

The 19-year-old court twins who were expected to carry this country's Davis Cup load in the challenge round later this month, went down before the sharp stroking of their older fellow countrymen, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

WINS BATTLE WITH DEER.—Frank Sanders, 50, a Grand Haven, Mich., high school physics teacher, shown with a buck which he said he fought hand-to-antlers for four hours before the animal was killed. The deer rushed Sanders after he had wounded it while hunting near Grand Haven. Then followed the long struggle in which Sanders said he clubbed the deer and even stabbed it with a pocket knife. He was bruised, scratched and an antler punctured him under the arm. "It was a fair fight," Sanders said, "we both weighed 160 pounds. (AP Wirephoto).

WHERE DEATH AWAITS.—This arbor-covered walk (left), decorated with a whitewashed cross, will be the last view of the outside world for kidnap-killers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady. In the background is the entrance to Missouri's gas chamber in the state penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo. The doomed couple, sentenced to die December 18, for the kidnaping and slaying of 6-year-old Bobby Greenleaf, will enter the building through the door at right. Witnesses to the execution use the door at left. At right is the gas chamber itself, with its two seats. The couple probably will be executed side by side. (AP Wirephoto).

Mediators Try Again Today In Paper Walkout

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Negotiators and a special panel of federal mediators pitch in again today in efforts to break the deadlock in the week-old photoengravers' strike which has left the city without a major newspaper.

A 2½-hour mediation session recessed early last night. Walter A. Meggiolo, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reported no progress.

The dispute involves wages, hours, welfare benefits and holidays.

The special three-man mediation panel was set up yesterday on orders from Washington. It entered the talks at once.

The strike of 400 photoengravers has choked off a total newspaper circulation of almost 5½ million and idled about 20,000 employees of six newspapers—the Times, Daily News, Daily Mirror, World-Telegram and The Sun, Journal-American and Post.

The papers were closed when nonstriking members of mechanical, craft and editorial-business office unions honored the photoengravers' picket lines.

A seventh major newspaper, the Herald Tribune, suspended publication Monday night in sympathy with the other publishers. Its photoengraving is done by a commercial firm.

The photoengravers, who have turned down proposals by the publishers and by federal officials to arbitrate four deadlocked issues, have cut their demands from a $15 weekly package to a $7.50 package. The publishers have been standing on their prestrike offer of a $3.75 package.

Wages under the expired contract were $120 a week for day work and $131 for night work.

Saved By Safety Fence He Built

LANCASTER, Pa. (U.P.)—Roy Houtz is foreman of a crew that put up a safety fence last week on Route 290.

Driving along the highway near the spot yesterday his car was struck from behind by a trailer-truck and headed straight for a 15-foot embankment. The only thing that saved him was the fence.

Island Was Once A Burial Ground

UNION SPRINGS, N.Y. (U.P.)—A Lake Cayuga island that was a favorite burial ground 5,000 years ago has yielded 150 skeletons of its pre-historic inhabitants.

Limestone in rocky Frontenac Island preserved some of the oldest human bones ever found in the eastern United States.

William Ritchie, New York state geologist, who directed excavations, this past summer, says the island was so popular for burial that graves were stacked on each other by civilizations existing thousands of years apart.

Dr. Ritchie believes the oldest bones are of the narrow-skulled Lamokans, who lived 5,000 years ago. The date will be tested by measuring the decomposition of radioactive carbon from the charcoal remains of ancient fires.

The island, about one acre in size, was abandoned when the nomadic natives turned to agriculture 1,000 years before the white man ate his first corn in North America.

The graves displayed a variety of burial customs. Dogs were buried alongside humans, a child was lowered in the ground with a stone ball clutched in his hand, bones were collected and buried in bundles, and the skull of a woman was buried with a child.

HEAVY RESCUE
GRAYLING, Mich. (U.P.)—It took two companions two hours to get William Howe, 33, out of a swamp after he was accidentally shot in the leg while deer hunting. Howe is 6 feet 3 and weighs 300 pounds. He's recuperating in a hospital.

An average adult not engaged in manual work in a temperate climate needs about 2,500 calories of food a day.

Fire And Police Mergers By Communities Studied

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Seven communities in the United States and Canada have combined their police and fire departments, and the Public Service Administration has begun a study of the feasibility of such mergers.

The PSA will seek to determine how well the consolidated systems work, whether they could be used in big industrial cities, what improvements could be made and how the public has accepted the change.

Buena Park, Calif., is the most recent community to adopt the idea. Others having some form of an integrated system are Sewickly Heights, Pa., Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich., Huntington Woods, Mich., Montreal-East Que., Oakwood, O., and Sunnyvale, Calif.

Timmons, Ont., with a population of 27,743 is considering such a merger.

Officials of the seven communities reported that a major advantage of the consolidation is that it saves money without reducing efficiency.

Pros And Cons
Montreal-East, with a population of 5,000 and a business district containing 22 stores and 29 industrial plants, has saved about $26,000 a year, its officials reported.

Sunnyvale, population 15,000 is the largest community to adopt the consolidated system, and Sewickly Heights, population 671, is the smallest.

Opponents of the plan often base their objections on the difficulty of training personnel for both fire and police duty.

According to the PSA experts disagree on the best way to carry out the functions. Some say the duties are so different that separate units are necessary.

Pet Gorilla Has Lost His Home; Going Into Zoo

ANACORTES, Wash. (U.P.)—Bobo, the pampered baby gorilla whose antics have cost him his happy home is heading for the zoo.

Mrs. Ray Lowman broke into tears yesterday as she reported Bobo's sale to the Seattle Park Department for $5,500.

Describing herself as "almost heart-broken," the woman who has cared for the ape for most of his 2½ years added:

"We just have to get rid of him, and the first thing we're going to do is renovate our whole house. We haven't any chinaware left. There isn't a floor lamp in the house either. And just yesterday he jumped up on the dining room table and broke that too."

Bobo has grown to 60 pounds, just a start toward his eventual 500 to 600 pounds.

VISIT FORMOSA

American Album Concert Here At East Carolina December 14

The American Album of Familiar Music, for more than ten years one of this country's top ten radio programs in its field, will present the "Music America Loves Best" at East Carolina College Monday, December 14, at 8:30 p.m. in the Wright auditorium.

The concert in Greenville by the American Album will round out the first personal-appearance tour made by the soloists, chorus, and orchestra of the popular group. The program here will be the first attraction offered during the winter quarter by the college Entertainment Committee, of which James W. Butler, alumni secretary, is chairman.

A well rounded program of the kind of music the public loves to sing and to dance to, from Broadway, Hollywood, radio, TV, and the concert and opera stages, will be presented at East Carolina by Musical Director Gustave Haechen, the orchestra, the chorus, and three soloists.

The concert to be given at the college is designed for eye, as well as ear effect. Staging and technical effects have been designed by the Broadway director, Charles Adams.

Heading the list of soloists will be the popular and beautiful soprano, Vivian Della Chiesa. She will be the only woman in the company, which includes an orchestra of 23 men, all top instrumentalists, and an all-male chorus.

Earl William, tenor, and Michael Robert, baritone, will also be featured soloists. Instrumentalists from the orchestra will be heard at the concert in popular classics, such as the "Warsaw Concerto."

Vivian Della Chiesa who will appear as soloist with the American Album of Familiar Music at a concert at East Carolina College December 14, is nationally known as a star of radio, television, opera, and concert. The program will be an attraction of the college Entertainment Series for the 1953-1954 season.

Leaves Today On Global Flight

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Pam Martin, 23-year-old artist and advertising copywriter, planned to leave today on her 21,878-mile flight by commercial air lines around the world, hoping to set a new record.

Miss Martin's schedule calls for completion of the trip in 91 hours and 25 minutes. The present record for around the world in commercial planes is 99 hours and 18 minutes.

Her trip is being planned and paid by a Chicago travel company.

British Railways officials estimate that 9,600 vehicles carry 12 million passengers a day in London.

How to make a myth out of a moth is a favorite conversational project for some coffee table scientists. You've probably heard them tell of how the destruction wrought by a moth is greatly exaggerated. But when you took your woollens and furs out of storage this season and found holes eaten in them, you began to wonder how one little bug could have such a big appetite.

It takes sad experience to learn about the conduct of moths. This writer's father happens to know a lot about moths—from more than a half-century's observation—so he is on speaking terms with moths. He explains the argument that a moth is harmless, because it actually is harmless. No flying moth ever ate the felt from under the keys of Faderewski's piano. But the worms hatched from the 100 or more eggs laid by each of these dainty flutter-byes have eaten the felt right off the hammers of many pianos.

Three steps are necessary to get rid of moths:

1. Kill the moth—the little yellowish variety with about a half-inch wing spread. Bigger varieties are beautiful but dumb and harmless.
2. Get rid of their eggs by frequent beating, brushing and airing of clothes in bright sunlight—or by dry cleaning.
3. Store clothes where a fumigant or aroma in a virtually airtight place will kill any newly hatched larvae. Partly or fully developed worms are harder to kill.

L.L. of Stamford, Conn., who operates a men's clothing store, writes to this department: "I have a cedar clothes closet in its natural state, but it has lost all of its aroma. What can I do about it?" Closets or chests lined with aromatic cedar have been effective against moth damage when they are stripped of doors and when clothes are free from eggs and worms when stored. The reason cedar works is that its aroma kills newly hatched worms. Older and tougher worms will survive and chew.

But the oil from the cedar sometimes hardens on the surface with age and closes the pores of the wood. In these cases a light sanding with a fine grade of production paper every year or so will open up the surface, release the aroma and give the cedar a fresh, clean appearance.

For a really effective cedar closet, use lining at least 3/4-inch thick. Use it on the floor, ceiling and door as well as on the walls. All crevices must be closed tightly, but paint, varnish or finish of any kind will seal the pores of the wood and destroy its effectiveness. If you have varnished, you can bring out its natural aroma by sanding it down to the natural wood.

Moth-proof bags, commonly sold, cannot be effective if they have any openings, no matter how small. They can't be moth-proof if a clothes hanger hook protrudes from the top, unless the hanger hole is tightly sealed. Porous bags or containers of moth crystals then must be hung in such bags.

Naphthalene and paradichlorobenzene—the two common chemicals used in moth flakes—release vapors of umitating powers. When a room or closet is sealed, these vapors will fall to the floor and smother insects. Carbon tetrachlo-

Art Appreciation In A Supermarket

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Art has come to the supermarket.

Early this year, Robert R. Endicott came across a little-known still life by Jan Breughel and liked it so much that he wanted to share it with others.

Being editor of Family Circle a monthly magazine sold only in chain of grocery stores, he fulfilled his desire by reproducing the 300-year-old painting in an issue. Readers were notified that reprints suitable for framing were available at $1 a copy.

Endicott felt he might get a few hundred replies but was swamped with 20,000 in short order.

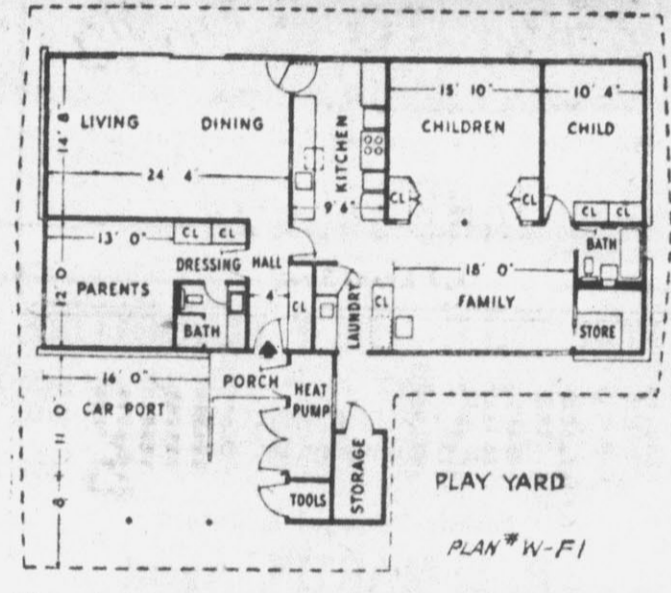

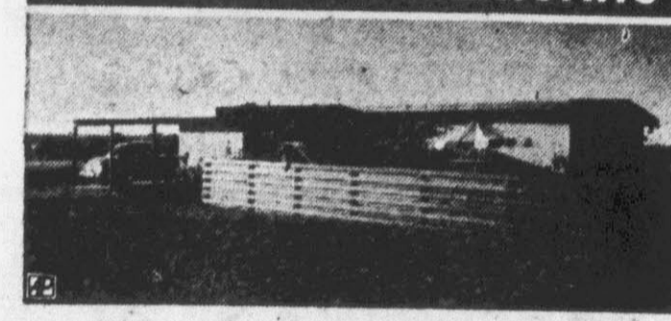

"Actually," he said, "it shouldn't have been a surprise. Supermarket merchandising and modern appliances have simplified housekeeping to a point where the average housewife has the time and opportunity to indulge her natural interest in the arts."

This initial success prompted Endicott to commission William Ward Beecher, great-grand-nephew of the author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," to paint a picture especially for the magazine. Sales of this quickly passed the first effort, and now Endicott plans a regular schedule of commissioned works by modern artists.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

THE FAMILY ROOM is an important feature of homes designed for modern living. This is a room in which the family does most of its living—an informal living room, a main floor recreation room, a party room, a multi-purpose room. In this plan it merges with the boys' bedroom, which can be closed off with a folding partition. It opens into the kitchen to give the mother constant view of youngsters at play. A glass wall separates it from the play yard, still within view of the kitchen. This house was designed by Wilshire & Fisher, architects, 5217 Ross St., Dallas, Texas, in cooperation with engineers of General Electric. Wide roof overhangs and basementless construction are used for year-round air conditioning. All equipment is electric.

Pitdown Man Hoax Fails Dim Past Research Value

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Now that "Pitdown" has been exposed as a hoax, where does man stand in his knowledge about evolution?

The answer: just about where he did before that famous fossil skull was found to be a fraud.

In fact, the exposure clears the air. Physical anthropologists have been viewing Pitdown with skepticism for years.

When the pieces of skull and jawbone were found in an English gravel pit near the Sussex village of Pitdown between 1912 and 1915 some scientists concluded they were parts of the same creature who lived anywhere from 50,000 to 500,000 years ago.

On the basis of evidence then at hand, Pitdown seemed to them to be either a superior type of sub-human or a sub-normal type of true human. Yet his head was curiously different from those of other pre-historic men found in various parts of the world. He was a puzzle in the whole evolutionary picture.

Dr. Harry Shapiro, head of the department of anthropology of the American Museum of Natural History, says Pitdown "never was consistent with other data. He was out of line chronologically. His removal, instead of weakening, in effect strengthens our knowledge of the evolutionary process."

Prof. Ernst A. Hooton of Harvard, one of the world's most famous anthropologists, says the hoax "doesn't disturb our ideas of human evolution at all. If it is right that the head is a fake, it loses all its significance and removes a very puzzling link."

In England, Pitdown's time-stained skull and ape-like jawbone have become the butt of cartoonist's jibes and comedians' jokes. In this country some fundamentalist churchmen, who maintain that man was created in his present image about 6,000 years ago, have used the Pitdown hoax as a lever to pry to the whole theory of evolution.

Actually, scientists say the only disservice that possibly could come from exposure of the Pitdown hoax would be widespread skepticism about other important discoveries of mankind's vestigial past.

"People usually bandy the phrase 'man came from monkeys.' Most authorities today agree there are five families in that part of the living animal kingdom to which man belongs—the human family, the great anthropoids, the small anthropoids, the old world monkeys and the new world monkeys. All developed from the same stem hundreds of thousands of years ago, which is quite a different thing from saying 'man came from monkeys.'"

In the study of mankind's evolution through fossils the most important discovery was made in Java in 1892 by a young Dutch physician, Eugene DuBois. He found the famous Java Man skull—an ape man twice the size of a gorilla who prowled the volcanoed slopes of ancient Java possibly 750,000 years ago, a real missing link between ape and man.

About the same period another giant peered out of a cave near modern Peking—quite a 1,000-pound brute with oversize jaw and undersize brain even bigger and tougher than Java Man. His fossil remains were discovered in 1929 by Franz Weidenreich, who incidentally—was convinced that Pitdown was a phony.

A third giant was added to this company in 1948 when Robert Bloom, a renowned anthropologist, found its petrified remains in South Africa.

It is interesting to recall the Book of Genesis: "There were giants in the earth in those days." In 1921 the remains of Rhodesian Man were found in northern Rhodesia. Far down the evolutionary chain from the giants, he lived from 20,000 to 40,000 years ago. He stands as an ancestral type to modern man, about five feet 10 and stoutly built. But his brain space was small, his face reminds you of a gorilla's.

Since World War II, paleontologists have been aided in some phases of their work by fluorine testing.

With advances in methods of fluorine testing Pitdown recently underwent his final examination. Then the world learned that fragments of the cranium are genuine remains of a primitive man but the jaw is from a modern ape and deliberately faked.

THE ONE-WING BOASTY BIRD can't make headway with one wing tied, but still he wants to keep trying

A BOASTY BIRD is an advertiser who purposely flies in the face of experience—even though he knows it's harder that way.

He'd rather climb stairs on his hands and knees than take a comfortable ride in an elevator.

And he'd rather use an advertising method that might succeed in place of a method that doesn't fail.

Fortunately he's a rare creature.

The advertising that always does its job, of course, is newspaper advertising. It's basic.

Very few manufacturers or advertisers, for example, would even dream of trying to introduce a new product without using newspapers. Because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town...regularly...day in and day out.

No wonder it's basic for advertisers!

All business is local...and so are all newspapers!

Government Under God

CHRISTIANS OBEY THE LAWS OF GOD AND EARTHLY RULERS

Scripture—1 Kings 9:3-9; Isaiah 31:1; 42:4; Acts 5:17-29; Romans 13:1-10; 1 Peter 2:13-17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Obedience to law is surely a most timely topic in this day of disobedience, vandalism and every type of violence and cruelty.

What should Christians do about the problem? Parents are blamed for a good deal of the vicious acts of their children.

King Solomon was warned by God Himself when Israel was at the peak of its prosperity.

If Solomon and his people obeyed His laws and were faithful to Jehovah, He would establish the throne of thy kingdom upon Israel forever.

ing. "The prison truly found we shut with all safety, and the keepers standing without the doors; but when we had opened, we found no man within."

Then someone came and said that the men they sought were preaching in the temple, which they had been forbidden to do.

Imagine the stern countenance of the high priest as he asked: "Did not we strictly command you that ye should not teach in this name? and behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us."

Facing their enemies without fear Peter said simply: "We ought to obey God rather than men."

Writing to the Romans Paul states obedience to law in these words:

MEMORY VERSE

"He shall not fail nor be discouraged, till He have set judgment in the earth; and the isles shall wait for His law."—Isaiah 42:4.

however, and disobeyed His laws. "I will cut off Israel out of the land which I have given them; and this house which I have hallowed for My name, will I cast out of My sight."

You may remember that toward the end of his life, this king, so famed for his wisdom and justice, had forgotten his Lord and, through his heathen wives, turned to the worship of strange gods.

Isaiah warns his people not to trust war and help from more powerful governments as a means of overcoming their troubles, instead of turning to the Lord.

After Jesus had ascended into heaven, the Apostles preached and healed tirelessly. Multitudes brought their sick and demon-possessed to them, and they were healed every one.

The high priest and the Sadducees were jealous and angry at this, and they seized the Apostles and put them in prison. However, an angel of the Lord opened the prison doors, brought them out, and said, "Go, stand and speak in the temple to the people all the words of this life."

They proceeded to do as they were told, but the high priest called the council together next morning and he sent to the prison for the Apostles. The high priest's officers went to the prison, found no prisoners, and returned, saying, "We found the prison doors open, but we found no one there."

OZARK IKE

UNLESS THIS SHACKLENS, THEY'LL NEED A ST. BERNARD DOG TO FIND TH' PIGSKIN!

AND A BLOODHOUND TO KEEP TRACK OF TH' PLAYERS!

TH' FIELD MAY BE COMPLETELY BLANKETED BY HALF-TIME, SO BOTH TEAMS WILL BE SHOOTING TH' WORKS TO SCORE EARLY!

AND THE DRAGONS KICK OFF TO THE WILDCATS IN A SWIRLING MUST OF WHITE...

THE COACHING BOX

A TACKLER CAN BREAK THROUGH A STRAIGHT-ARM BY FORCING IT UP OR TO THE SIDE WITH HIS FOREARM, AND FOLLOWING THROUGH WITH A HARD CHARGE!

WITH OZARK IKE IN TOP FORM, TH' WILDCATS ARE FAVORED TO WIN, BUT THIS WEATHER COULD BE AN 'EQUALIZER'!

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES

I'LL START BEING A DOCTOR'S WIFE TOMORROW. RIGHT NOW THIS MAN IS EARNING HIS LIVING BY TAKING A PICTURE OF US TOGETHER. SO STAND STILL AND LET HIM GET ON WITH HIS JOB!

THANKS, MISS TALBOT!

I'LL TELL YOU WHAT, MY LITTLE MOVIE STARLET... HE CAN TAKE A THOUSAND PICTURES OF YOU, ME? I'M TAKING A WALK, A LONG AND INVIGORATING WALK... AND WHEN I FINISH...

...I'LL TALK TO YOU... WITHOUT LOSS OF TEMPER, SELF RESPECT OR THE SCIENTIFIC PERSPECTIVE I USED TO PRIDE MYSELF ON! SEE YOU LATER!

OHET! COME BACK! WHERE ARE YOU GOING?

THE PHANTOM

KICKED DOWN!

THE PHANTOM KNOCKED DOWN THE SUPER-APES!

QUICK--UPP!

I'M COMING!

PHANTOM--GHOST WHO WALKS--WE COULDN'T--

TELL ME LATER, KING, YOU'RE COMING WITH US!

THAT FOOL ARROW SQUAD--STANDING THERE WITH LOADED BOWS-- I CAN'T TELL THEM TO SHOOT-- WITHOUT A TOM-TOM! HERE IT IS!

BLONDIE

YOO-HOO DEAR, IT'S ME-- I'M HOME

DON'T YOU DARE KISS ME!

IT'S THE PLUMBER-- I ASKED HIM TO STIR THE STEW FOR ME WHILE I STEPPED OUT TO THE MARKET

FLASH GORDON

HAVING SHAKEN FREE OF THE GIANT SQUID WHICH WAS TOWING IT OFF ITS COURSE, THE BATHYSFERE STILL CONTINUES TO TUMBLE STRANGELY OUT OF CONTROL!-- DOWN, DOWN INTO THE COLD, BLACK DEPTHS OF THE OCEAN...

I'LL THROW ON THE SURFACING JETS! MAYBE THAT WILL PULL US OUT OF IT!

TONS OF AIR PRESSURE BLAST FROM THE SPHERE! FOR AN INSTANT IT LEAPS UPWARD...

...BUT A GREATER FORCE SETS IT AND AGAIN IT FALLS DEEPLY TOWARD THE SEA BOTTOM!

HOME ADDRESS
WATERBURY, Conn. (UP) — When a 38-year-old man appeared before a Judge Charles R. Summa, he maintained he shouldn't be charged with vagrancy because he had a home. The court looked at his long record and said, "Your arrest record shows that you will have a home--on Whalley Ave." That is the location of the New Haven county jail.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined slightly today in a quiet manner.

Few features appeared in a market that seemed to be a typical Friday affair with traders and others more concerned with the coming weekend holiday than with the immediate business at hand.

Gains and losses spread out over a range of minor fractions either way with a few more minus signs in evidence. Only a relatively few issues gained, or lost a major fraction.

The pace of trading was restrained at a rate well under yesterday's 1,740,000 shares.

Steels on balance were higher while the railroads were lower—the same pattern that appeared in yesterday's market. Other major divisions were mixed or steady.

Higher stocks include Studebaker, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Consolidated Natural Gas, and Anaconda Copper. Lower were Du Pont, General Electric, Southern Railway, and Northern Pacific.

CHICAGO (AP)—(USDA)—Salable hogs 10,000; slow; 25-50 lower on weights under 230 lbs; and 50-75 lower on heavier weights; closed dull 75-1.00 lower on all weights; hogs around 50 lower; most choice 180-230 lbs 22.25-23.50; few load choice 200-210 lbs at 23.50; most 240-270 lbs 22.75-23.25; most 280-300 lbs 22.50-2.75; most 350-550 lb sows 18.75-20.75; few light weights to 21.25; good clearance.

Week Without Daily Paper Felt By New Yorkers

By MARTIN POST

NEW YORK (AP)—When New Yorkers asked "What's new?" this week they weren't just making conversation.

They hadn't seen a single one of their major newspapers since Monday. They were annoyed and news-hungry — and advertising-hungry too.

Shoppers stayed home in droves when they should have been massing for the Christmas buying rush. Job-seekers and home-hunters had no want ads to guide them. There were no race results no horoscopes.

Financial houses took emergency measures to keep their clients abreast of Wall street.

Many persons missed out on what was happening to their comic strip heroes, although some comics were read over radio and television.

Habits of a lifetime were disrupted.

"I look at my wife every day now while we're eating," one man said mournfully. "There's no newspaper between us."

Subway riders emerged from the hind their newspaper curtain. They peered at car ads, read books and magazines, or just studied the faces and clothes of fellow passengers.

On the Queens subway rush hour they saw an attractive young woman peck at her escort's cheek without benefit of a shield. Suburban commuters found new delights in the scenery—or caught up on sleep.

One railroad issued a mimeographed summary of the day's news to its riders.

And a restaurant chain has been putting out 20,000 copies of a single page news sheet for its customers since Tuesday.

There was a growing appetite for out-of-town papers, but so few were available as to be of no help.

Radio and TV announcers grew hoarse as they tried valiantly to satisfy the news hunger. But you can't carry a TV set under your arm.

And people got confused about the simplest things—like what day of the week it is. An NBC newscaster reported he was helping out on this score by reminding listeners to keep track of the days by reading newspaper datelines.

Gaily decorated stores, their shelves bulging with holiday wares snapped up radio and TV time to draw customers. So did some eaters.

One big department store set up a window display with this wistful sign:

"These ads would have been in the Sunday Times . . ."

New shows opened without benefit of newspaper reviews.

Producers of one later phoned critics and pleaded for "a good quote over the telephone."

"It will be nice to hear," they said hopefully.

Grifton Merchants To Hold Parade Tomorrow

GRIFTON—The Merchants Association sponsored Christmas parade will be held tomorrow on Queen Street in Grifton.

J.A. Rogers, president of the Merchant's Association, said that a number of floats and bicycles will be vying for the cash prizes being offered for the best entries.

Rogers said that a $25 first prize will be given for the best float, a $15 second prize, and a $5 third prize. He also stated that a $5 prize will be given for the best decorated bicycle entered in the parade.

Featured in the parade and during the rest of the day will be Herman Joseph, formerly a clown with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, who will appear tomorrow.

In addition the Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops will march in the procession and several bands will appear. Santa himself will ride Grifton's fire truck as the highlight of the event.

Rogers said that the parade will form at the Grifton school at 10:30 tomorrow and will move out at 11:00. The procession will move up Queen Street to the Kinston-Greenville Highway and then return by the same route to the school.

Framework For C-of-C Set Up By Grifton Merchants

GRIFTON—Plans for a local Chamber of Commerce moved a step nearer reality last night when a group of an estimated 15 to 20 Grifton citizens met at the local school to set up the framework for a Chamber of Commerce.

Robert Wheeler, town manager of Grifton, said that many local people had phoned in and said that they would be unable to attend the meeting but that they were in favor of the plans for a Chamber.

It was decided at the meeting that a Chamber of Commerce was needed in Grifton and that its function would be to publicize Grifton in this area, according to Wheeler.

Wheeler was elected secretary of the Chamber at last night's meeting and plans were made to have another meeting next Thursday night at 7:30 in the assembly room of the school.

Wheeler urged anyone who is interested in joining the Chamber of Commerce to attend the meeting next Thursday night. He emphasized that any citizen of Grifton can join and that members do not necessarily have to be in business in Grifton.

Wheeler said that it is hoped that the group can meet with the recently-formed Grifton Merchants Association next week and that plans along this line are being worked out.

Cotton Problem Is Returned To Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress had a controversial cotton crop control program back in its lap today—tossed there for the second time in recent weeks by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

This time Benson wrote to Rep. Whitten (D-Miss) disputing the latter's contention that the secretary could allow farmers to plant more cotton in 1954 than they would be permitted to do under a control program Benson announced in October.

Because of a big surplus, Benson proclaimed marketing quotas on the 1954 crop and announced a national planting allotment of 17,910,000 acres, a reduction of about 26 per cent from this year's plantings.

The GOP farm chief said at the time that such a sharp cut would have serious effects on the economy of the South, but added that he was without legal authority to allow a larger acreage. He did state, however, that he would urge Congress to authorize a reasonable increase.

Two weeks ago Whitten told Benson that farm law did give him authority to set a larger allotment. The secretary said he would re-examine the law and the situation. Several other Southern lawmakers publicly agreed with Whitten.

He wrote Whitten yesterday that the law was wrong. Furthermore, Benson said, "widespread publicity" given Whitten's argument had resulted in "misunderstanding" of the secretary's authority.

Benson did agree that farm law gave him authority to boost allotments in case of a national emergency. But there is nothing in the cotton supply and demand situation in this country or abroad, the secretary said, which would justify action under these emergency provisions.

Benson said he could foresee no possible situation that would find this country short of cotton.

Warmed Up

The U.S. Weather Station here today reported a 30-degree rise in temperature between 8 a. m. yesterday and 8 a. m. today.

Thursday morning the temperature at 8 a. m. was 27 degrees. This morning at 8 o'clock it was 57 degrees, a springtime level.

The highest report shows that the highest temperature here yesterday was 63 degrees. Lowest last night 42, and at 8 a. m. today it was 57. No frost; no rain.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 53 degrees. Lowest that night 39, and at 8 a. m. next day it was 41.

Single Accident In City Thursday

One traffic accident was reported in Greenville yesterday by local police. There were no injuries in the accident, and no charges were made by police.

The single accident occurred late yesterday afternoon when a truck ran into the rear of a car on Third Street near the intersection of Evans Street. The car, driven by Harold Mills, 29 1004 Ward Street, received an estimated damage of $120 to the rear end. The truck, driven by Herbert C. Draper, 1015 Lodge Street, Wilson, was not damaged.

Funeral Sunday For William A. Tyson

William A. Tyson, 67, died in a Raleigh hospital Friday morning at three o'clock. He had been in declining health for the past two years and critically ill for a week.

Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of the Wilkerson Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Tyson, son of the late William Edward and Elizabeth Cox Tyson, was born in Pitt County, but had spent most of his life in Durham. He was employed by Hofnagel's, Inc. in Portsmouth, Virginia, for nine years and in January, 1949, he moved to Greenville and made his home with his sister, Mrs. Stella Tyson Joyce. He was a member of the Methodist Church in Durham.

Surviving are four sisters: Mrs. Sam Edwards, Mrs. Lena T. Stokes, Mrs. Sam Baker and Mrs. Stella T. Joyce, all of Greenville, and a number of pieces and nephews.

New Crossfire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today came under a new crossfire of criticism and praise touched off by his reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service.

Carrying on the attack begun yesterday before a House Government Operations subcommittee, the National Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts accused Benson of bad faith and demanded jettisoning of the plan pending further study.

But in another prepared statement, the American Farm Bureau Federation approved the "broad plan" of reorganization and expressed "wholehearted" belief that Benson should have an opportunity to carry it out.

Big Snowstorm Buffets Dakotas And Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A storm that dumped more than a foot of snow in some sections of mid-America buffeted the Dakotas and Minnesota today as it swept northward into Canada.

Nebraska, Kansas and eastern Colorado also were hit but the snow had all but ended in these states.

Schools were closed, motorists were stranded and communications knocked out in some areas.

International Falls in Minnesota reported 14 inches of snow. A foot fell in the eastern half of South Dakota. In north-central Nebraska Lexington also had a 12-inch total.

No large-scale traffic tieups were reported in the Dakotas and Minnesota but some telephone lines were severed and driving was hazardous. In eastern South Dakota many schools were closed.

Northwesterly winds caused near-blizzard conditions in parts of Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas yesterday.

Advise Tri-State Study Of Decline In Fishing

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A legislative commission recommended today that Virginia join North Carolina and Maryland in a broad research program to revive the fishing industry in the three states.

The program would call for an additional expenditure of $12,074 by the three states during the first year. Virginia would provide the bulk of this, $64,434.

The commission, headed by State Sen. Edward L. Breen of Norfolk, said the research program is needed to find out why there has been a steady decline in the migratory finfish population in the three states.

The commission, composed of five legislators from Virginia's eastern fishing areas, consulted with similar legislative study groups from Maryland and North Carolina. The three states appointed a research committee which drew up the research program.

The legislators agreed that the research program, to be successful, should be a joint effort of the states. But each state would undertake certain phases of research so as to eliminate duplication.

While Virginia would put up $64,434, Maryland would expend $32,290 and North Carolina $25,350.

The commission explained Virginia's large contribution was the fact that the landed value of the fisheries industry in the state is nearly twice that of Maryland and almost three times that of North Carolina.

The commission attached to its report the findings of the three-state research committee, composed of W. A. Ellison Jr., director of the Institute of Fisheries Research at Morehead City, N.C.; R. E. Tiller, fisheries biologist of the Maryland Department of Research and Education at Solomons, Md.; and J. L. McHugh, director of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Gloucester.

Door Left Open To Truman Aides

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators left the way open today for inviting some Truman administration Cabinet members to explain what they did about FBI reports on spy suspects in government.

But first the Senate internal security subcommittee went ahead with efforts to accumulate more evidence about the dates these FBI reports were compiled and distributed among top officials of the Truman administration.

Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, told newsmen the Justice Department has been asked to supply such information about five former federal employees — Alger Hiss, Irving Kaplan, Harry Magdoff, Edward J. Fitzgerald and Maurice Halperin.

They are among nine former employees whose cases are receiving special scrutiny. Chairman Jenner (R-Ill.) said there is evidence the five kept their jobs and in some instances were promoted despite derogatory security information.

The four others are Harry Dexter White and three subordinates when he was assistant secretary of the Treasury; Harold Glasser, Victor Perlo and V. Frank Coe.

Jenner, meanwhile was making plans for—or had already arranged—a secret interview with Igor Gouzenk, the longtime code clerk at the Russian embassy in Ottawa who exposed a Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1945.

No Slogan For Some Licenses

RALEIGH (AP)—Although it is state policy to stamp "Drive Safely" on North Carolina license plates, many 1954 plates will not carry the slogan.

The reason was explained yesterday by Miss Foy Ingram, head of the registration division of the Motor Vehicle Department.

She said the manufacture of next year's plates began last March and at that time the slogan was not carried. However, after he was named motor vehicles commissioner in May, Edward Scheidt suggested the slogan be carried.

His wish was followed out but not before perhaps three or four hundred thousand plates had been stamped out before he assumed office.
