Penthouse Home For Pet Canine

CHARLESTON, Mo. (AP)—Frank Hequenborg's dog Gick has a penthouse home atop his master's house. He reaches it by ladder.

And Gick can walk the plank anytime, too. It leads from the Hequenborg roof out over a backyard lake. Gick enjoys the 30-foot dive.

But he's a canine prima donna. He won't dive unless there's some one around to applaud.

Went For 'Walk' And Rode Train

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Ten-year-old Morton Iver of Fargo, N.D., who "went for a walk," arrived here aboard a train—with no ticket, no money, no luggage. Morton said no one asked any questions after he wandered onto the train.

Police informed Morton's frantic parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Iver. Who drove here to get him. "Trains sure are interesting," the lad told police as he left after the 240-mile rail trip.

'Average' Man Doesn't Exist

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP)—Hamilton College's "average freshman" does not exist except in the figures compiled by Robin Holloway, a mathematics major.

The average is 5 feet 10 inches, weighs 152½, has brown hair and blue eyes, is the son of a college-trained business executive and worked as a bellhop at a summer resort hotel. He went to public high school, won a varsity sports letter, belonged to three clubs and worked for the school paper.

Pitt Man Held Pending Inquest In Gun-Slaying

Richard Jones, 33-year-old Negro of the Falkland community, was being held in Pitt County jail today pending a coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting of Allen Newton, 21-year-old Negro, near Jones' home Saturday night.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse announced today that the inquest will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Pitt County Court House.

Jones was taken into custody by sheriff's deputies early Sunday morning after being called to Jones' home to investigate the shooting. Taking part in the investigation were Deputy Sheriffs Lloyd Manning, Jasper Lee Mills, Elmer Hadcock, Coroner Rouse, and Falkland police chief Horace Tripp.

Officers quoted Jones as saying he heard a noise in the yard around his house about 11 o'clock Saturday night, and after getting no response when he called out, went to the porch of his home and fired into the dark. He told officers that on two occasions later in the evening he went out into the yard and looked around because he thought he heard someone "run off" after he shot. He failed to find anything unusual on the first two trips, he told officers, but he went out a third time and found Newton's body in a field. He found the body about 30 to 40 minutes after he shot, Jones said.

Officers said the body was found some 45 to 50 yards from the house in a field. Newton died of a shotgun blast which struck him in the right side of the chest. Jones told officers he fired once with a double barrel 12 gauge gun.

Jones told officers this morning he and Newton "were good friends," and that Newton had worked with him until July.

Thirteen Offers Her No Worries

WALHALIA, S.C. (AP)—Mrs. Rod Turnbull, born on a Dec. 13, has no fear of 13's.

She was born in the 13th year of her parents' marriage and was the 13th grandchild in her generation. There are 13 letters in her maiden name and her 13th birthday came on a Friday the 13th.

She never plans things for her lucky day, the 13th, so avoided being married on that date. But she sailed from the United States to join her husband in Japan's occupation forces on a 13th, and she and her husband sailed back home on a 13th.

Delivery Service For Polio Serum

MILL HALL, Pa. (AP)—The Kiwanis Club of this Central Pennsylvania community has set up a "GG Pony Express" to operate in case there is a polio outbreak. Upon learning there was no way of getting Gamma Globulin—the polio preventative serum—from Phillipsburg, 60 miles away, the local service club swung into action.

Now all a physician has to do when he needs GG is to contact one of the Club officials and a member will be dispatched to drive to Phillipsburg with authorization for the serum and deliver it to the physician.

Because cats were associated with witches, several attempts were made to wipe them out during the Middle Ages and some authorities think outbreaks of the plague were brought about because of the resulting increase in the number of rats.

Our Gloomy Viewers Do Us A Disservice

Our patience with America's prophets of doom is severely strained. They're all good, sincere men, no doubt; but we have a strong feeling they are doing more harm than good by preaching "there is a depression coming, for sure."

Their greatest preoccupation seems to lie in reading business charts and reports that do not portray all the aspects of a continuous boom. Subsequent analyses for public consumption invariably resemble a mad rivalry to see who can offer the darkest prospects.

In view of their constant forbodings we suspect nothing will make them quite happy unless their dire words are fulfilled.

No one, we hope, honestly expects the post-war inflationary boom to continue indefinitely. There must be, there has to be, a letdown of some degree. The terrifically stepped-up production of consumer goods, necessitated to fill the gaps left by restrictions and limitations of war years, is bound to reach the point where it is no longer desirable; the backlog of demand will have been filled.

We may, today, be witnessing the turn of the tide.

When that point is recognizable, we must expect a slackening off on production lines, a retreat from present record levels of employment and the folding-up of unstable business establishments.

What alternatives can we expect?

Conscientious workers, able employers and wise managers are not the people who will suffer unless the expected "leveling-off" gets out of hand.

The fact remains that there are many people who regard today's boomlike economy as "normalcy" and anything less as tragic.

Panic, or "a case of nerves" during any slackening-off period for business seems to us to be the greater danger. And our gloomy viewers-with-dark-glasses seem intent upon creating all possible forbodings for the future, to the public's disservice.

Stage Setting For Republican Fight

Statements this week by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles point directly to a pending, clear-cut break between the administration and Republican Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Such a break—and it definitely appears in the making now—could well split Republican ranks wide open. McCarthy is considered within the Dewey faction of the party, while the administration would be on the other side of the fence.

It was Dulles who telegraphed the first punch in the break when he leveled a blast this week at McCarthy for his criticism of the Eisenhower administration's policies in dealing with alleged communists, and with allies of the United States. Dulles asserted the United States does not intend to turn to the methods of intimidation or using threats upon its allies to get them to do the bidding of this country as some individuals—and this fits McCarthy—would propose.

Further assurance the administration is fed up with McCarthy's publicity-gabbing tactics, is indicated by the fact that President Eisenhower, while not mentioning McCarthy by name, stood squarely behind the initial statement of Dulles.

Although the administration has never formally embraced McCarthy, as an individual official, President Eisenhower has done so in a general way in his statements that he was in favor of all Republican candidates and officials.

If the administration openly severs relationships with the Republican Senator from Wisconsin, it will leave McCarthy in somewhat of a spot. At the same time, it will draw repercussions from officials on Capitol Hill who may feel kindly toward McCarthy, and those who would put the party in a place paramount to principles. The repercussions could spell trouble in Congress for any program which the administration might propose.

Even with the Republican-Democratic fight over the Harry Dexter White issue still going strong, it appears the stage is being set for a knock-down-drag-out fight among the Republicans themselves in Washington.

ASHLAND, NEB., GAZETTE: "Your weekly newspaper is the nerve center of a community, and without it that same community would soon begin to lose its identity. It is one of the great bulwarks of a free America. Thousands of weekly newspapers throughout the United States represent the best read printed matter in general circulation today."

FOWLER, MICH., POST: "In these days of high taxation, a person has to take advantage of all the good breaks to keep from going broke. But remember, any free handout is just a false solution to the basic difficulty. The day you find yourself believing that government gifts are the cure to all economic evils, that's the day you slipped into socialistic and communistic thinking."

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—The Democrats in the next Congress will win another fight against troublesome Republicans on behalf of President Eisenhower, and this time it will be on the domestic rather than the foreign front. Although not entirely for unselfish reasons, the opposition will align with Ike to prevent a partisan raid on the Civil Service System. It will be one of the most controversial questions before the forthcoming session.

Republicans of high and low degree are hot under the collar over their failure to profit, job-wise, from their first national victory in 20 years. The Civil Service Commission has awarded them less than half of the 1,500 positions which were held to be legally open to new appointees. Despite replacements of policy-makers at the top, there has been no wholesale exodus of minor employees.

The problem has been raised at several Cabinet meetings by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Attorney-General Herbert Brownell Jr., former chairmen of the Republican National Committee. Other Cabinet members, although not sympathetic to the attempted job grab, have raised the question "by request" of important political figures in their home states—New York, New England, Michigan, Ohio, the South, etc.

BITTERNESS OVER PATRONAGE—There is bitterness on Capitol Hill over the question of patronage, which is bread and butter to so many members from doubtful districts. Dr. Arthur L. Miller, Nebraska Republican, has demanded the resignation of Philip Young, Civil Service Commission chairman, for his refusal to be a party to destruction of a career and merit system by yielding to partisan hunger.

In seeking workers, voters and contributors for Eisenhower last fall, local politicians promised that the faithful would be rewarded, relying on the campaign slogan that "It is time for a change. They think that Ike had reneged on them. If necessary, they will continue to insist on a new batch of Civil Service Commissioners, especially Young's beheading, or a revision of legislation that will fertilize the non-

Human Relations

By ELMER ROESSNER
Human relations—particularly discipline—is the most difficult problem faced by supervisors and foremen—outranking the writing of reports, overseeing production and difficulties with procedure.

But few organizations offer supervisors training in human relations despite the fact that they are the most important, and frequently only, contact between workers and management. Inept supervision can be costly to a company; resulting in worker antagonism, poorer or slower work, more rejects or errors and more firings and resignations.

The Civil Service Assembly reports one survey of supervisors indicated most had received no formal training in human relations or supervisory techniques from their organization. The only training received by 40 per cent was trial on the job before appointment. Eleven per cent had obtained training on their own and 10 per cent received training from their organization.

Yet, supervisors queried felt training in human relations would be their most valuable asset. If this was not possible they recommended: (1) training after appointment; (2) a period of training as an assistant supervisor; or (3) conferences with other supervisors in the same company. Also recommended was formal schooling in supervisory techniques and conferences with supervisors of other companies.

Smaller firms often cannot afford the time or money for formal classes or training sessions. On the other hand, they cannot afford to make a worker, no matter how good, a supervisor without giving him some kind of training in the human relations tools needed to handle his job properly.

EXPORTS RISE
About $234,429,000 in U.S. agricultural products were exported during September, an increase of 17 per cent over the $201,207,000 worth shipped in the previous month and 6 per cent above the corresponding 1952 months, according to the Department of Agriculture.

For the three months ended September 30, agricultural exports were $632,099,000, a gain of 9 per cent over the $577,772,000 for the same 1952 period.

PURCHASING POWER
Income distribution estimates for the years 1944, 1946, 1947, and 1950 are included in a new publication available from the Commerce Department, Washington 25, D.C., for 65 cents. The study can be useful to many businesses wishing to measure potential consumer demand.

PROMOTER PROPOSES TV-Parity SUPPORT
"I have come to enlist your support in a movement to save the television industry," said the Old Promoter. "You know, inventories are high, sales are slow in some sections of the country and there is quite a bit of price cutting."

"Ah," we said, "yes!"

"We have to get Congress to enact a parity support plan. Every set manufacturer can get non-recess loans on sets he can't sell. The amount of the loan will be determined by a formula similar to the farm program. And the Government can give the sets it is stuck with to India, where there is quite a shortage."

"But there is no telecasting station in India," we protested.

"Then we'll give them one. And after we get the television industry stabilized, we'll go to work on fly-swatter and buggy-whip industries."

"But won't there have to be quite a system, as there is in agriculture?" we asked.

"Sure," said the O.P., "that's the heart of the plan. Every manufacturer will have to cut back production for his 1937-39 level."

After the old fellow left, it occurred to us that there were not many sets made in those years. Suppose he has turned social satirist?

Remember The Day In '41?

National Mental Health And The Cycle Of Business

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 3. I have an idea that has been chasing me around lately and I want to share it with you. I am beginning to wonder what effect our national mental health may have on the business cycle and continued prosperity.

YOUR EMOTIONS AND MINE
Human nature tells us that our emotions influence our behavior in more situations than we would like to admit. Psychologists point out, for example, that after the successful salesman has tried all his appeals to our logic, and failed, he burrows, away at our emotions. More often than not we succumb to the emotional appeal. Certainly, if we have even had the opportunity to attend a town meeting we know that the emotional appeal of some individual will override all the logic. Every national political election has been won by emotional upheaval rather than by common sense. Probably it is Eisenhower's appeal to mothers, sisters, wives, and sweethearts, relative to Korea, which won his election.

If, then, it is true that emotion plays such an important part in our individual lives, and on our political scene, is it not just as possible that how we feel about business conditions may actually affect the conditions themselves? We surely know that confidence is a very important factor in banking, manufacturing, and buying.

FERTILE AREA FOR STUDY
Businessmen are impatient with sociologists, anthropologists, and psychologists because their experiments take so long to complete, and are so costly. If, however, some practical-minded social scientists would team up with a group of open-minded businessmen to study the effect of our national mental health upon the business cycle and prosperity, I forecast great discoveries would follow.

The longer I have worked on the problem of forecasting, the more I have wondered if there is not some unknown spiritual and mental factor that affects other economic prognostications. At the turn of the century, Harvard's famed Doctor Cannon said that 50 per cent of the patients who came into his office for medical care had nothing wrong with them physically. Their ills were psychosomatic, that is, mental and emotional. If we add to these the huge numbers who are partially psychosomatic but who never visit a doctor, we must

SECRECACY—Whether the key word is "secrecy" or "publicity" is of little consequence when the question involved is to what extent the people should be informed about activities of their elected public officials. That is a continuing issue, ranging from the area of international affairs down to municipalities in North Carolina. Two incidents in the municipal category have been much in the news during the past few days.

At Greensboro, Mayor Robert H. Frazier took occasion at a civic club luncheon to vigorously criticize some of his associates in the city administration, and then vigorously condemned the newspapers for reporting what he said.

At Mount Olive, Mayor Nelson Ricks contended that a petition requesting an election on the question of legal sale of beer and wine was "private property" and not available to the public, although the petition had been formally presented to the town council and the council officially order the election.

In that instance the courts intervened, upon application of Editor Cletus Block of the Mount Olive Tribune, Judge Grover Martin of the Superior Court decreed that the petition should be made public.

While the mayors of Greensboro and Mount Olive were trying to keep the people who elected them from knowing about what they were doing, there were numerous citizens among the taxpayers supporting the local governments who joined in the effort to find out what was going on.

In both instances the newspapers were in the forefront of this movement for information.

As result of this effort on part of public minded citizens, Mayor Ricks of Mount Olive yielded without protest to the judicial decree for making the public record available to the taxpayers; and Mayor Frazier of Greensboro apparently is on the way out on his self-appointed position as dictator of municipal policies.

ISSUE—Meanwhile, the extent to which public business should be conducted in public remains an important issue. Congressional investigators have been criticized almost as much for putting on television shows as for closed door sessions. Most people instinctively realize that some governmental matters should not be publicized. The main point at issue is who shall decide what to give out and what to withhold in the interest of the nebulous principle of "secrecy." There is growing fear that "too many self-appointed censors of congressional doing confound national security with their own personal advantage. It is increasingly difficult to distinguish between the merits of Communism and McCarthyism, although there remains deep rooted conviction among the average citizen that neither extreme is necessary.

DISTINCTION—The mis-named "secrecy" law of the 1953 General Assembly points up this distinction. Casual publicity about that act has left impression that it banned everybody except members of the appropriations committee from sessions of that group. It did not. It left the way open for members, certainly the accepted leaders, of the committee to invite whoever they wanted while giving them the right to ban those whom they did not want. That provision gave the semblance of an open session, while actually it was more definitely "closed" than if no outsiders had been permitted.

The same sort of conditions applies to congressional committee hearings, when the chairman can put on a TV show of what he wants and prevent publicity of matters which he thinks might not contribute to his prestige, or that of his party or faction. Responsibility for such decisions must be vested somewhere. It is absurd to argue that even in a pure democracy everything done and said by officials should be given full publicity. It is just as absurd to contend that all official activities should be secret. The question of how far elected officials shall be permitted to go in imposing closure is one for the voters to decide in those elections which the State and Federal constitutions both decree shall be frequent and free.

CAMPAIGNING—This issue of the degree of secrecy which should be maintained in the transaction of public business has already been injected into the 1954 political campaign. It is evident in the national situation with both Democratic and Republican parties seeking to capitalize upon it. In two or three North Carolina counties the 1953 "secrecy law" is looming as a local issue, and it may get into the U.S. senatorial scrap.

It is evident that people are becoming more aroused over attempts of their elected officials to operate behind closed doors, but it is doubted by most observers

Power Of The Press Is Shown

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What is the power of the press? Empty newstands this week told the world's largest city the answer.

Millions of New Yorkers learned that their favorite newspaper, like their favorite wife, was something they had taken for granted—something they now really appreciated for the first time because it was no longer there for them to depend on.

They missed the daily rendezvous with the newspaper, and nothing could quite take its place. A strike that silenced every major paper in the city for the first time in its history left holes, large or small, in every life. Even blind men, for whom a newspaper is still a window to an unseen world, complained.

People discovered anew the importance of the printed word—the daily printed word. Television and radio reporters worked overtime to tell the news, but the spoken word didn't fill the gap left by the silent presses. Nothing could do all the things a daily newspaper does.

"The first day of the strike my wife, Frances, remarked cheerfully: "Well, it's nice to see your face at breakfast again after all these years. I had forgotten what you looked like across a scrambled egg."

"To tell you the truth I miss the advertising more than the news," she said the second day. "It's rather nice not to know all the terrible things that are happening in the world."

"Oh, I guess I can put off my Christmas shopping until this strike is settled," she said the third day. "You waste so much time shopping if you don't know what the stores are featuring."

But the fourth day she was hit by news hunger:

"Tell me what is happening. I want to know what is really going on. Even if most of the news is bad, I guess I want to know it. It makes me restless when there isn't a newspaper in the house."

I suppose this experience was typical in thousands of homes. The feeling of uneasiness deepened with each day of the strike. A newspaper is a mirror that reflects and fulfills many needs, and who likes to go day after day without looking in a mirror?

Family Records Are Accepted By Library

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Library of Congress has received a gift of Shelby family papers, which center around Isaac Shelby Revolutionary War hero and first governor of Kentucky.

The papers were presented to the library by Shelby's great-granddaughter, Miss Susan Preston Shelby Grigsby of New York.

The collection includes more than 2,000 papers dating from 1738 to 1863 and contains letters from Thomas Jefferson, Henry Clay, Benjamin Harrison and John Sevier, first governor of Tennessee.

The first papers are those of Shelby's father, Evan Shelby, frontier leader who emigrated from Wales and lived in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the part of North Carolina which later became East Tennessee. He declined nomination as governor of the short-lived "State of Franklin," an office which Sevier was elected.

The Isaac Shelby papers, chiefly correspondence, are related to his public career from his early days as deputy sheriff in Frederick County Md., until his death in 1826. He was a lieutenant under his father at the Revolutionary Independent Battle of Point Pleasant, W. Va. and took part in the battles of Kings Mountain and Cowpens later.

After the Revolution, Shelby returned to North Carolina and served in the Legislature for two terms before moving to Kentucky in 1783. He was a member of the convention which framed the constitution and became the first governor.

Shelby was again elected governor in 1812 when the impending war with Great Britain drew him from retirement. He organized and led 4,000 Kentucky volunteers to join Gen. William Harrison in the invasion of Canada. This won him Harrison's praise and a vote of thanks and a gold medal from Congress.

Shelby declined the post of secretary of war under President Monroe in 1817 because of his age.

The Shelby papers, which will be described in the February Journal of the library, will be made available to research workers after they have been repaired and organized.

Bible Words to Live by

PHILIPPIANS 4:11-13: "I have learned in whatever state I am therewith to be content. I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound... to be full and to be hungry. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Not far from Hannover in Germany is the Marienburg Castle, ancestral home of a long line of Hanoverian Kings of England and Germany. A few years ago I climbed the lofty mountain to its summit in order to join over 12,000 Protestant youths gathered there outside the castle walls for their first postwar rally.

They came wearing ragged clothes, holes in their socks, soles worn through, patched knees and elbows. A few slices of black bread plus a handful of plums constituted their lunch for the all-day program. Some fainted of sheer exhaustion.

Under an open sky they sat, on bare damp ground, their gaunt faces turned toward a preacher on the slope far below. From God's holy Word he addressed the lost and forgotten generation of a vanquished people to relieve their care-fraught minds of anxious pre-occupation even with life's barest necessities.

"Take no thought for the morrow," he pleaded, "what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink, or wherewithal ye shall be clothed." And even as he spoke their weary souls seemed to be lifted up. Scales fell as it were from dazed and sunken eyes which gleamed to hear him say, "But seek ye first the Kingdom of God." Their hearts made answer, "Thy face Lord will I seek."

I sat down beside them that day as one most wont to complain. I arose as one who had learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content. For Christ is my complete strength. And His Kingdom the sole object of my seeking.

Debate Procedure For Restoring Of Harmony

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)—A difference of opinion over procedure has developed in efforts to restore harmony between the Eisenhower administration and Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) on tax policy.

Both Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey are known to be hoping to avoid another fight such as they waged in the past session of Congress.

But in preliminary discussions to date, they have differed over how to approach the billion-dollar tax questions that must be settled when Congress reconvenes next month.

The Treasury prefers to wrap up in one package a broad, partly technical tax revision program and some major decisions on tax rates, such as excises and corporation income taxes.

Reed and some of his colleagues strongly prefer to take up the general tax revision bill separately, early in the session, with the hope it will be passed before possible fights develop over major tax rates.

The question may come up at President Eisenhower's conference with legislative leaders next week.

Behind the difference of opinion on procedure lie potential differences on policy or strategy.

The tax revision program will include many relatively small benefits for millions of taxpayers—new or bigger allowances for medical expenses, child-care expenses of working mothers, dependents making more than $600 a year, business depreciation and other points.

Sponsors think it will be popular, as most tax-reducing measures are. It also includes a rewriting and streamlining of almost the entire revenue code, strongly championed by Reed.

The Treasury is said to feel that its "sweet pill" should not be wasted early in the session, leaving nothing but some possibly bitter pills to come—such as postponing three billions of dollars of corporation and excise tax cuts already written into law.

In effect, the Treasury is approaching the problem with emphasis on avoiding those reductions. Officials say they would have a better chance of canceling the scheduled tax cuts if that step is tied in with widespread tax benefits. The two moves, in effect, would tend to cancel out.

Reed and some other lawmakers more interested in cutting taxes and passing out other benefits than in canceling reductions, say they prefer not to jeopardize the tax revision program by wrapping it into a package with highly controversial major tax rate proposals.

Young Hoodlums Beat, Kill Man

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gang of youthful hoodlums beat a wealthy manufacturer to death in the heart of downtown Los Angeles last night when he attempted to aid a Marine who was being attacked by the gang.

The victim was William D. Cluff, of Hollywood, owner of the Western Chemical Manufacturing Co., producers of asbestos products.

Police said the youths ganged up on the Marine, Pfc. John W. Moore, 18, of Camp Pendleton, Calif., at the intersection of Seventh and Broadway. Moore said he was nudged in the back and when he turned one of the hoodlums snarled, "Have you got a beef, or something?"

Then Moore was slugged and the battle moved into the street. Witnesses said Cluff, who was window-shopping while waiting to keep an appointment with his wife, called out: "Leave that Marine alone."

With this four others leaped from a nearby car and about nine youths swarmed over Cluff beating him and knocking him to the curb. Officers said his head hit the pavement. He died en route to an emergency hospital.

Later police picked up seven youths for questioning. Moore was only slightly hurt in the fight.

PORTALES, N.M. (AP)—The Portales Daily News carried an article about a new type self-serve bootleg joint in this dry Eastern New Mexico city. The otherwise empty house had a well stocked refrigerator, a price list on the wall and a slot in a closet door for donations.

Police closed up the place. They charged the house owner with possession of liquor for sale in violation of the local option law.

Training Plane Is Still Missing

CHERRY POINT, N. C. (AP)—Marine planes continued a search today for a jet training plane with two pilots aboard missing since last Friday.

Civil Air Patrol and Coast Guard planes were not scheduled to take part in the hunt for 1st Lt. Duke Williams Jr., 27, of Yazoo, Miss., and Capt. John H. Barclay, 34, of Santa Monica, Calif., who Cherry Point officials said Saturday were in the silver colored trainer.

Reports were negative from all of yesterday's searches. Capt. B. R. M. McEachern operations duty officer, said. He reported that Marine helicopters were able to search the entire day but operations of other aircraft were curtailed because of adverse weather.

McEachern said CAP and Coast Guard planes would not continue the search except on a voluntary basis.

Renew Supreme Court Fight To End School Segregation

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for Negro parents in Virginia and South Carolina today renew before the Supreme Court the long legal battle to open all public schools to all children regardless of race. They hope to win a decision that segregation of Negro and white pupils is a harmful discrimination violating the Constitution. No decision is likely for several months. Thurgood Marshall, New York City attorney who represents the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), in opening the debate before the nine justices, is prepared to assert in essence: "Candor requires recognition that the plain purpose and effect of segregated education is to perpetuate an inferior status for Negroes which is America's sorry heritage from slavery." John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee in 1924, was prepared to reply in behalf of South Carolina:

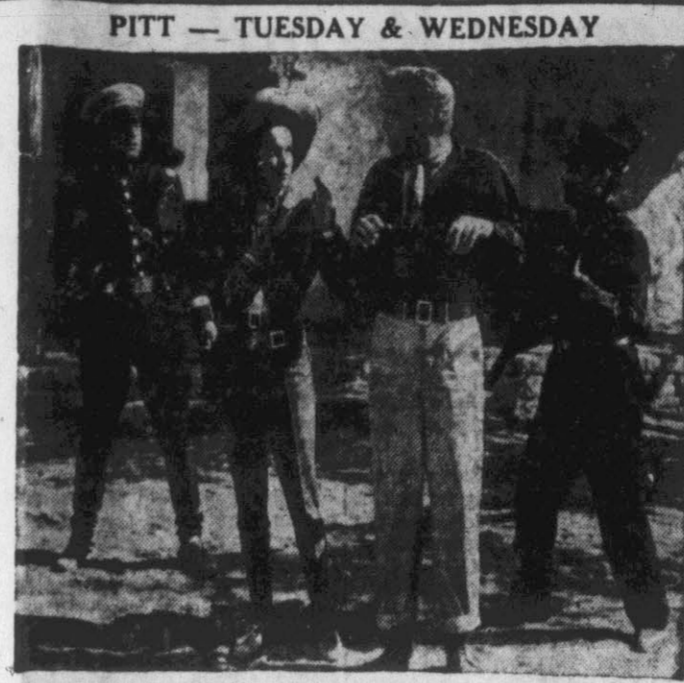

For the benefit of the newly freed slaves. It says no state may deny any person due process and equal protection of the laws, nor abridge any person's privilege or immunities. Today marks the beginning of three days of reargument called for by the high court last June. First arguments were heard over a three-day period last December, but the court was unable to reach a decision. In addition to Virginia and South Carolina, Kansas and Delaware are directly involved. The Virginia and South Carolina cases were consolidated for reargument. The other cases will follow them. The general assumption has been that any final decision against segregation would mean the end of separation of the races in public schools throughout the United States. Virginia says the custom of segregation is followed by one-third of the nation. South Carolina provided this list of states which like itself have laws requiring school segregation: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia. South Carolina listed New Mexico, Wyoming and Kansas as states having laws which permit segregation. The Justice Department told the Supreme Court in a preliminary brief that "some Southern leaders have expressed the view that considerable popular opposition will be met in the execution of any program for integration of public schools."

In their opinion," the brief said, "separation of the races in the schools is one of the ways of life in the South. They predict that popular antagonism to elimination of segregation, arising from a traditional hostility to the mingling of the races, will most likely be reflected in withdrawal of state aid, for those schools. "On the other hand," the conviction has been expressed that these fears are exaggerated and unjustified, a nd that there is no reason to assume that once this court has authoritatively resolved the constitutional question, the people of the entire country, including the South, will not abide by its decision." Gov. Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia has declared that a Supreme Court decision to end segregation would be "nothing less than a major step toward national suicide." He has said repeatedly that Georgia would revert to a private school system if segregated schools were outlawed. Preliminary legislation has been passed by the State Legislature.

Pilots Die As 4 Thunderjets Hit

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Four Thunderjets in tight formation shot through low-hanging clouds near here early yesterday and slammed into a pine thicket, carrying their pilots to instant death.

Officials at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, Ga., home base of the single-seater planes, theorized that they got lost in rough, rainy weather. They crashed only a few minutes before they were scheduled to land at Dobbins after an instrument flight from Miami. The pilots, all members of the Atlanta Air National Guard unit, were identified as Capt. Idon M. Hodge Jr., 30, Atlanta 1st Lt. Samuel P. Dixon, Chamblee; 1st Lt. Elwood K. Kent, 28, East Point, and 2nd Lt. William A. Tennant, 25, Atlanta. Bodies of the pilots were found several hundred yards from the wreckage. Officials estimated the jets were traveling at more than 250 m.p.h. on impact. Wreckage was scattered over a three-quarter-mile area.

Says American POWs In Russia

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese prisoner of war recently repatriated from Russia said today he saw "American prisoners" in a prison south-east of Vladivostok.

Tadashi Maeda, 58, a former Navy captain and military attaché, made the statement in testimony before the Repatriation Committee of Japan's House of Representatives. Maeda is one of 811 Japanese returned from Russia last Tuesday. He reported the Vladivostok prison, from which he was released, confines only "foreign convicts." "The largest population in the prison was Germans, followed by Japanese, Finnish, Polish, Turks, French, Britons, Dutch, Estonian and American prisoners of war," he said. He gave no details. Maeda said the treatment was on the level of "the lowest subsistence standard." Meals, however, had improved since February, he added. When he left, he said, the daily ration was 700 grams of rye bread, 40 grams of powdered grain, 110 grams of grain, meat, fish, salt, sugar and vegetable.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

HOW TO HAVE a basement where deep excavation is inexpedient is one problem solved by split level design. The house shown here permits the creation of a large hobby room with lavatory and closets, a separate laundry room, a storage room and a furnace room under the bedroom wing of the house. Ground under the living room-kitchen wing is unexcavated. A third bedroom can be finished off above the living room. This arrangement gives the house only half-flights of stairs. This is plan H-270-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,254 square feet and contains 20,896 cubic feet—convenient figures for local estimates. Jagged glass from the explosion missed Wayne but pierced Jerry's neck, just missing the jugular vein. Bandaged and scared, Jerry renounced homemade science.

Mechanization Is Replacing Dog

WINNIPEG (AP)—Mechanization is usurping the historic domain of the Arctic sled dog. Veteran mushers in northern Manitoba are turning to the husky-mobile for more efficient and cheaper transport. It is a small-track sled similar to the famed snow-mobile. The switch is attributed to the high cost of food for the dogs, which claims too large a slice of the trappers' income.

Glaciers Slowly Melting Away

WEST GLACIER, Mont. (AP)—Glacier National Park's largest ice masses—some equivalent to nearly 70 city blocks—are slowly receding. A U.S. Geological Survey staff, which yearly makes profiles of the park's principal glaciers, reported the park's largest glacier—Sperry—now covers only 300 acres. In 1900 the ice mass covered 840 acres. However, M.E. Beatty, chief park naturalist, said the present year was favorable to glaciers. Early spring snow lasted through the summer despite a warmer than usual July. Annual precipitation at the glacier exceeds 100 inches. Domestic cats easily revert to the wild state.

The Christmas Bicycle Shifts Into High Gear

THREE SPEEDS are provided in new American bicycles like this. 1. Gear box, 2. gear shift, 3. brake handle, 4. brakes here and on rear wheel.

Special care must be taken of the new three-speed American bicycles, the makers warn those who will be getting them for Christmas. They say: Don't fiddle with the gear shift until the machine is in motion and then it is wise to stop pedaling for an instant when a shift is made. Don't lay your bicycle on its side, some of the controls may be damaged. Oil the machine once a month. Remember that your brakes are hand operated instead of pedal operated. Several American makers, putting this type of machine out in quantity for the first time this year, say that some foreign makes of this type have been used here but few Americans know how to care for them to get the most out of the three speeds.

Forestry Demonstration To Be Held On Thursday

A forestry demonstration will be held on the farm of Arch J. Flanagan next Thursday at one o'clock, according to Sam Winchester, Pitt County Farm Agent. The Farm Agent's office is co-operating with several firms and persons in Eastern North Carolina to bring to the timber owners of Pitt County the latest information on forestry. The demonstration will include poisoning of trees, thinning them, and sawing them into lumber. Featured in the demonstration will be a portable sawmill, which is transported on wheels and can be set up ready to saw lumber in 30 minutes. Other forestry equipment to be demonstrated will include some of the latest type power saws and a one-man bow saw. A local pulpwood dealer will demonstrate the thinning of your pines for pulpwood. James H. Phillips, forestry specialist for North Carolina State College, will be present to discuss some of the latest developments in forestry. Winchester pointed out that only two per cent of the annual farm income in this county comes from forest products while woodland represents 47 per cent of the total farm lands. "With just a little help the forests in this county could be made to produce from $6 to $13 per acre per year instead of the present approximately $1 per acre," he noted. "This would increase forest income from the present $170,000 to $1,300,000 based on $8 per acre, or $2,040,000 based on $12 per acre."

Sunday Eggs Buy Church's Organ

DUE WEST, S.C. (AP)—Thousands of "Sunday eggs" combined with perseverance to buy an organ for the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church here. The women of the church began an organ fund when the building was erected in 1925. Fund-raising in this small community of modest incomes was not easy.

The women donated to the fund the eggs their hens laid on Sundays. In addition they used all the usual money-raising methods, including ice cream suppers and quilting bees. Twice their savings were wiped out by bank failures. But the women persevered and the hens co-operated on Sundays.

Twenty-eight years and $17,000 later the church installed the organ.

Festive Fuses Ideal Gift For Bewildered Christmas Shopper

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeature Writer From now until after the Christmas Eve office party, I'll thank all the beforehand shoppers to leave me alone with my gift problems.

I am a last minute shopper by nature, if not by choice. I simply cannot seem to get into the spirit of Christmas shopping until the crowds are out, the sales-people harassed and the best items snatched up. What's more, I never seem to be able to think up just the perfect gift for each person on my list, so I wait until the last possible moment and match up whatever seems available and will get by.

A 12-Month Project One of the reasons some people shop early, I have concluded, is so they can brag and nag about it between Thanksgiving and Christmas. I just thank my stars that they are seasonal birds, because there is positively nothing more nervous-making than listening to an early shopper when you haven't even set down your list of gifts on the back of a used envelope. I know shoppers who work on Christmas the year around. One woman of my acquaintance took one day of a two-day tourist visit to Paris last summer to find a little shop on an obscure street and order a wide assortment of hand monogrammed handkerchiefs for Yule distribution.

Some Are Practical Several months ago a fore-sighted friend invested in new glassware. She ordered tumblers, old-fashioned cocktail and wine glasses for herself—and at the same time ordered extra dozens of assorted glassware of the same pattern, all earmarked for Christmas gifts. "Now," she remarked comfortably, "if I give a party and need more glasses, I'll know just where I can borrow some that match my pattern."

Others Hurle Through Obviously, neither of these thoughtful operations are possible for the habitual, last minute shopper. We have to rely on swift footwork, sheer ingenuity and shock effects.

One year I was pretty proud of myself for hurrying through the annual chore in something less than 30 minutes. I purchased three dozen salt spoons and distributed them around to one and all. Everyone uses salt, I figured, and even if some of my recipients are too young to appreciate a personal salt spoon now, they will grow up to know and love it. The only slightly adverse reaction was from my cousin's family, which, in toto, received eight.

All Have The Spirit This year I propose to try a new late shopping device. Instead of going to the usual places to buy my gifts and fighting the crowds, I shall patronize off-beat spots like plumbing supply houses, hardware and drugstores.

All sorts of fascinating and useful presents are available, like assorted faucet washers, electric box fuses and tugs of nails. I'll bet some folks would even appreciate new locks for their front doors. Let others provide the handsome little flacons of perfume, I'll gift my friends with big, economy size bottles of aspirin tablets quickly available at the prescription counter of my local drugstore.

After all, the value of the gift is in the spirit of the giver, and by Christmas Eve, I'm full of spirit.

Bucs Wallop Guilford 92-58 In North State Opener

Hodges And Huffman Lead Pirates Attack

By JIMMY KELLS
Reflector Sports Writer

While 1500 leather-jungled fans just about raised the roof, East Carolina College's basketball Pirates opened up defense of their North State Conference regular season championship Saturday night by walloping Guilford College 92-58 in Memorial Gymnasium.

The fans, mostly students and faculty members out for the first look at Howard Porter's 1953-54 team, whooped and hollered in grand style as the Pirates all but buried the Quakers. Most of their cheers were directed toward center Bobby Hodges and forward Charlie Huffman.

Hodges, the 6-5 All-State and All-Conference center, led the scoring parade with 35 points. Huffman, a senior who is making a serious bid for the honors that have gone in past years to Hodges and the now-departed Sonny Russell, tossed in 18 points and played a terrific game in the rebounding department.

"Took Charge"

With Hodges and Huffman in command, the Pirates "took charge" after the first few minutes of the first quarter. The Quakers had held the score down to an almost rock-bottom minimum for the first half of the opening period before the Pirates began pulling away. The last time they were anywhere near the Pirates was at the four-minute mark when the score was 6-6. After that, it was nothing short of a rout.

With Hodges carrying the bulk of the scoring load, the Pirates rolled up a 21-9 lead at the end of the first 10 minutes of action. At the half, the margin had been extended to a 42-24 advantage.

After the half, the Bucs came back stronger with a pair of 25-point quarters. Guilford's own offense picked up but it was too late to do anything about the terrific advantage held by the Pirates.

While Hodges and Huffman were the prime leaders in the scoring show, no less than four of the Pirates hit the double figures in the scoring department. Freshman forward Don Harris got 13 points in his extended bid of action with the first team. Sophomore guard J. C. Thomas got 11 points.

Deliberate Play

For Guilford, Bill Atkins, a deceptively slick forward, slipped in 21 points to lead the show. Captain Bobby Callcutt tossed in 16 points and turned in a good game as director of an unusually deliberate Guilford offense.

The victory was the second of the year for the Pirates, pre-season favorites in the North State. They had opened their 19-game schedule last Tuesday night with a 76-67 win over ambitious and highly-regarded Belmont Abbey.

The game was the second North State Conference game for the Quakers and their second loss. They had dropped their conference opener last Thursday to High Point by a 65-61 margin. Before that, they had defeated the Southern Conference's Davidson Wildcats and lost to the independent High Point YMCA.

The game launched a 10-game home schedule for the Pirates. They will be idle until next Saturday night when they meet Lenoir-Rhyne's potentially-dangerous Bears in Memorial Gym. Lenoir-Rhyne continued its assault on non-conference opposition with a 98-66 victory over Tusculum Saturday night.

The Winterville-Vanceboro basketball game, originally scheduled to be played in Vanceboro tomorrow night, will be played in Winterville instead. The switch was made necessary due to the fact that Vanceboro's new gym has not been completed.

A December 13 game between the two squads is scheduled to be played in Vanceboro.

Shirley Gabriel Honored As MVP In North State

Shirley Gabriel, Appalachian's one-man offensive show, has been named the North State Conference's outstanding football player of 1953.

As a result of his selection by the 21 sportswriters who are members of the Southern Sports Writers Association and the seven North State Conference football coaches, Gabriel will receive the eighth annual award of the High Point American Business Club. The award will be presented to Gabriel at the club's annual banquet in High Point Thursday night.

Gabriel edged East Carolina College's sophomore quarterback Dick Cherry for the honor. Gabriel compiled 108 votes to 78 for Cherry according to an announcement yesterday by Smith Barrier, executive secretary of the writers' association. In the voting, tallied on a 5-3-1 basis, Gabriel gathered in 16 first place votes to 13 for Cherry. Third man in the balloting was East Carolina's Bobby Hodges, number two man in the state in individual scoring during the past season. Hodges received 34 points.

During the season, Appalachian Coach E. G. Duggins used Gabriel at all four backfield positions. In the process, the 165-pound senior from Station gained 1,000 yards rushing and led the state in scoring with 111 points. He is president of the Student Body at Appalachian State Teachers College and an A student in Math.

East Carolina's end Larry Rhodes also received votes in the balloting.

Frank McGuire, head basketball coach at the University of North Carolina, will be guest speaker at the presentation banquet. The banquet will follow the annual winter meeting of the North State Conference.

Cherry, Hodges, Gay Make All-State Gridiron Squad

Three members of the East Carolina College North State Conference championship football team have been named to the Greensboro Daily News All-State football team.

End Bobby Hodges, quarterback Dick Cherry, and halfback Paul Gay made the 22-man squad. This is the first year that either of the three have been named to the team.

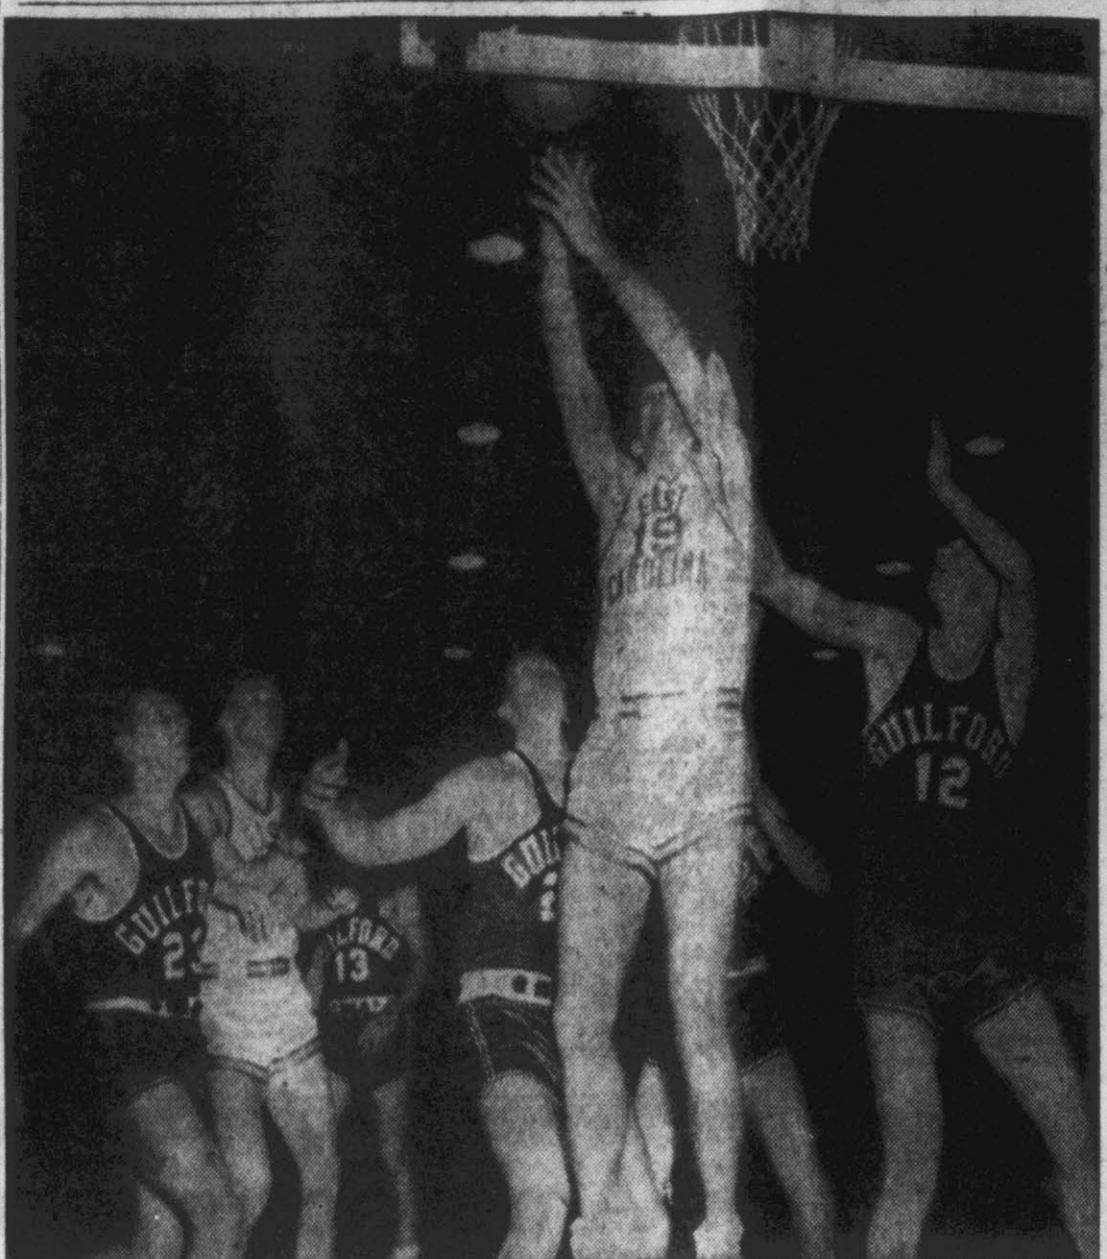

Duke University's powerful Blue Devils dominated selections with nine members of the squad. There were six North State Conference players on the team. Those besides the three East Carolinians were Appalachian's Shirley Gabriel, the state's individual scoring leader with 111 points; Catawba's center Harvey Stratton; and Lenoir-Rhyne's Harold Egelsky, a tackle.

Both Cherry and Hodges were All-State high school players. Gay State All-Eastern AAAA Conference honors while in high school but was never a member of the All-State team.

In individual comments about the selections, the coaches, officials, and Daily News staffers who selected the squad pointed out Hodges as "... the bulwark of East Carolina's forward wall on offense and defense." Hodges was second in the state's individual scoring race with 10 touchdowns and one extra point for a total of 61 points in nine games. He is a senior from Kinston.

Cherry was singled out as "... East Carolina's championship offense. The Washington sophomore passed for 17 touchdowns, and the game the Pirates lost was one in which Cherry played only three minutes due to injury."

Gay was described by selectors as the feature in East Carolina's running complement to Cherry's passing. The Wilson junior featured the outside running attack of the Pi-

BOBBY HODGES, East Carolina College's senior center, scores for the Pirates in their 92-58 rout over Guilford Saturday. J. C. Thomas (14) waits in the background for a possible rebound. The win was the Bucs' second against no defeats.

Toski Fires 272 To Capture Golf Meet In Havana

HAVANA (AP)—Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., had everybody on his side in the Havana Country Club's invitational tournament as he won in a record 272 strokes.

Toski, 36, was known to be a hot prospect when he was named to the team. He was married to a woman named Lillian Steward at Coconut Grove, Fla., Dec. 14.

The Cubans promptly called Toski "La Bomba Atomic," because he weighs only 130 pounds but plays a powerful game of golf.

Toski didn't let his fans down. He won the 72-hole tournament, beating 30 other professionals with a four-round total of 272. That was one stroke better than the scores turned in by Al Bessellink of Greensboro, N. Y., Freddie Husk of New Orleans and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

The little New Englander put on a finish that had a touch of drama. His drive on the 381-yard par 4 18th hole was to the right of the fairway behind towering palm trees.

"The only way I could get from there to the green was to put a sharp slice on the ball and knock it between the palms," Toski said. "Fortunately, it came out all right."

The ball stopped 18 inches from the hole and Toski's fans cheered. He sank the putt and walked straight into the arms of Miss Steward at the edge of the green.

Detroit Lions Head For Title In Western Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Only the New York Giants, one of the weaker National Football League eleven, stood between the Detroit Lions and another Western Division title today.

The Lions winners of the 1952 crown, clinched at least a tie for the division lead yesterday by defeating the Chicago Bears 13-7. By winning, they maintained their one-game margin over the San Francisco 49ers who walloped the Green Bay Packers 48-14.

If yesterday's performance by the Giants means anything, Detroit is a cinch to win next weekend's game against the Philadelphia Eagles in Cleveland's 11th straight victory over the Eastern Division champions. The Lions' record in four years is 62-14. The championship game is scheduled for Dec. 27 on the field of the Western Division leaders.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Steelers downed the winless Chicago Cardinals 21-17 and the Washington Redskins blanked the Philadelphia Eagles 10-0. Los Angeles swamped Baltimore 45-2 Saturday. However, yesterday's Detroit victory mathematically eliminated the Rams from the Western Division race.

Doak Walker and Bobby Layne were the big guns in the Detroit attack. Walker kicked a pair of field goals and Layne uncorked a touchdown pass to Dorn Dibble. The Bears, hampered by the Lions' bruising line play, waited until the final two minutes for their lone score, resulting from an 11-yard pass from Tommy O'Connell to Ed Macon.

The 49ers had an easy time of it against the Packers. They scored two touchdowns in the first and third periods, and singles in the second and final quarters.

George Ratterman, substituting at quarterback for Otto Graham, completed 15 of 27 passes for 235 yards and three touchdowns as the Browns scored eight times on the Giants and added two field goals and eight conversions by Lou (The Toe) Groza.

Winless Hornets Seek First Wins In Bethel Games

CHICOD—Coach Alston Burke's winless Chiloc Hornets will be looking for first victories tomorrow night when they travel to Bethel to meet the Indians in a Pitt County Conference doubleheader.

The Hornets have already lost conference doubleheaders to Stokes-Factolus and Farmville. The games which have been played were a part of the 18-date schedule that has been arranged for the Hornets.

In the games which have been played thus far, the Hornets have been led, in the girls division, by forwards Patsy Mills and Clara Wilson and guard Joyce Spain. Joyce was an All-Conference guard last year. In the boys division, football stars J. T. Mills, Bobby Fornes, and Bobby Burroughs have been leading the play. Mills is a guard and Fornes and Burroughs are forwards.

The remainder of the Chiloc schedule:
December 8, at Bethel; 11, at Grifton; 14, LaGrange; 17, Bath; January 5, Ayden; 8, at Grimesland; 12, Stokes-Factolus; 15, at Belvoir; 22, Bethel; 26, Grifton; 29, Grimesland.

February 1, LaGrange; 5, Winterville; 8, at Bath; 12, Belvoir; 16, at Winterville.

torious Tribe's big point collector was Chick Cornell with 20 points. Washington and Lee's Generals also made their debut a successful one. The Generals swamped Bridgewater, 78-55, with W&L's Stu Atkinson contributing 21 points and Jim Rich 20.

Davidson's Wildcats suffered their second successive defeat, being thrashed by North Carolina State, 58-41.

No games are scheduled tonight.

Jackie Gordon of the Cleveland Barons was the first player in the history of the American Hockey League to score 100 goals.

Phantoms Seek Second Victory In Clash With Goldsboro Five

Tar Heels Edge South Carolina In Shrine Bowl

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The breaks of the game, as rarely before in the 17-year history of the Shrine Bowl football classic decided the issue in Saturday's thriller, won by North Carolina, 13-12.

The Tar Heels, with head coach George Wingfield of Reidsville at the helm, seized two South Carolina fumbles and converted them into touchdowns, within four minutes and 15 seconds after the opening kickoff.

South Carolina made use of a recovered fumble and pass interception en route to its touchdowns.

In the final analysis the difference was a blocked conversion attempted by Bill Petty of Gaffney after the Palmetto club's final score late in the second period. Bobby Honeycutt, the slim Durham speedster came barging through to block the kick and preserve the Tar Heels' one point margin, giving them their ninth victory against four ties and four losses.

Honeycutt, although he did not score, led the North Carolina ground gainers with 79 yards in 14 carries. The state 100-yard dash champion this year and last, Honeycutt was voted the Lee Kirby Award as the game's outstanding player in a poll of newsmen.

Map Seizer, Lenoir tackle, who was a standout, set up the first score by recovering a fumble on South Carolina's 36 on the game's third play. A 16-yard Honeycutt scamper and two by Burlington's brilliant Coy Calyton followed to carry to the eight from where Jimmy Thomason, Charlotte Central fullback, scored in two shots. Dick Darling of Elizabeth City converted the eventually decisive point.

The next kickoff return was fumbled by Raymond Head of Rock Hill and recovered on the 26 by Charlie Lucas, High Point tackle. The 267-pounder showed amazing speed to go all the way for the touchdown. A short time later a broken tooth put him out of the game for keeps.

Lannie Goff of Columbia Olympia scored both South Carolina touchdowns on one-yard plunges. He was in the first period an interference penalty on a pass gave South Carolina the ball on the one from where Goff hit left tackle for the score. Near the close of the first half the teams exchanged interceptions, Petty setting up the South Carolina score by returning the ball 16 yards to the Tar Heel 17. A pass from Dick Bradham of Sumner covered on one-yard plunges. The Tar Heels led in first downs, 10-9. The Tar Heels led in total yards, 172 to 148. Honeycutt produced only 36 yards in penalties, 21 against North Carolina.

Wolfpack Plays Three Big Games In Coast League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Powerful North Carolina State plays three big games this week as action in the young Atlantic Coast Conference moves into high gear.

All of the eight basketball teams in the loop see action, but only two conference games are scheduled.

The big one comes Tuesday night when State invades Wake Forest. In the opening game between the two last year at Wake Forest, the Deacons upset the Pack, 61-50, in one of the season's thrillers.

Both teams showed impressive power last week. The Wolfpack won its first two games and the Deacons their first three.

Other major foes facing N. C. State during the week are Phillips Oilers and strong Eastern Kentucky.

Duke amazed the conference winning two games last week. In both games, against Furman and Tennessee, the Blue Devils scored over 100 points. Duke has only one game scheduled during the week against William and Mary.

Kentucky Back In Cage Battles As Bevo Slumps

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball took on an aura of normalcy today because:

1. Kentucky was back in action after being suspended a year by the Southeastern Conference.

2. Branch McCracken, coach of NCAA champion Indiana, has expressed dissatisfaction with his team.

3. The raves over Bevo Francis and his Rio Grande College team, which on occasion reached a fever pitch have subsided.

All this and the season only one week old.

Adolph Rupp's Kentucky team spent most of last year practicing for the current campaign with the avowed intention of winning the national title and showing no mercy in the process.

The Wildcats looked like they might make good their threat in their opener Saturday when they massacred Temple 86-59 behind the 51-point scoring binge of Cliff Hagen, their 1951 All America. This represented a Kentucky record for one-game point production.

"We didn't play nearly as well as we are capable," said Rupp. "We'll need four or five games to get the feel of competition again."

Kentucky plays only one game this week—against Xavier of Ohio in Cincinnati.

McCracken's pessimism over Indiana well may be justified. The Hoosiers had their troubles licking Cincinnati 78-65 after holding a slight one-point margin at the half.

The coach sadly proclaimed the club had "a long way to go" if it is going to repeat as Big Ten and NCAA titlist.

The Hoosiers won't have a chance to relax tonight. They play Kansas State one of the three teams to defeat them last season. State opened its campaign with a 70-41 victory over Denver.

As for Francis and Rio Grande, they have played four games and won two after running up a 40-game winning streak. Bevo has hit for 176 points in the four games for an average of 44 points per game.

In all, the general impression was that Rio Grande is a good, small college team, but still very much in the small college class.

To decide at the meetings here whether to retain or drop the pension plan. They simply will consider the Executive Council's recommendation.

Ed Lopat's three-hitter over Washington on May 27 started the Yankees on their 16-game winning streak during the 1953 season.

Shirley Gabriel Honored As MVP In North State

Shirley Gabriel, Appalachian's one-man offensive show, has been named the North State Conference's outstanding football player of 1953.

As a result of his selection by the 21 sportswriters who are members of the Southern Sports Writers Association and the seven North State Conference football coaches, Gabriel will receive the eighth annual award of the High Point American Business Club. The award will be presented to Gabriel at the club's annual banquet in High Point Thursday night.

Gabriel edged East Carolina College's sophomore quarterback Dick Cherry for the honor. Gabriel compiled 108 votes to 78 for Cherry according to an announcement yesterday by Smith Barrier, executive secretary of the writers' association. In the voting, tallied on a 5-3-1 basis, Gabriel gathered in 16 first place votes to 13 for Cherry. Third man in the balloting was East Carolina's Bobby Hodges, number two man in the state in individual scoring during the past season. Hodges received 34 points.

During the season, Appalachian Coach E. G. Duggins used Gabriel at all four backfield positions. In the process, the 165-pound senior from Station gained 1,000 yards rushing and led the state in scoring with 111 points. He is president of the Student Body at Appalachian State Teachers College and an A student in Math.

East Carolina's end Larry Rhodes also received votes in the balloting.

Frank McGuire, head basketball coach at the University of North Carolina, will be guest speaker at the presentation banquet. The banquet will follow the annual winter meeting of the North State Conference.

Bouts This Week May Show New Title Contenders

NEW YORK (AP)—Challengers for both lightweight champion Jimmy Carter and middleweight King Bobo Olson may come out of this week's two bouts.

Wallace (Bud) Smith, the No. 1 lightweight contender from Cincinnati, and Orlando Zulusta of Cuba, the No. 2 135-pounder, collide for the fourth time Friday night at Madison Square Garden. They're all even so far, each with a win, loss and a draw. Both have been clamoring for a crack at Carter.

Smith, who has flattened five rivals in a row, is a 17-10 favorite.

The 10 p.m., EST, bout will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC).

Rocky Castellani, No. 2 middleweight contender from Cleveland, and Gil Turner, No. 4 from Philadelphia, face each other in the main 10-rounder at the Cleveland Arena Wednesday night. It tops a fine card on the Cleveland News' Christmas Fund show. Willie Troy of Washington and Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez of Costa Rica meet in another middleweight 10.

Turner, who recently moved into the 160-pound ranks, is a surprising 3 to 5 choice.

The Castellani-Turner fray will be telecast (CBS) starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Teddy (Red Top) Davis, the No. 1 featherweight contender from Hartford, Conn., is a slight 13-10 favorite to beat young Tony de Marco of Boston in a hot New England special at the Boston Garden Saturday night. Red Top also is the New England lightweight king but his regional title won't be at stake. New England will be backed out of the coast to coast (ABC) telecast, which starts at 9 p.m. EST.

Paddy de Marco, the No. 9 lightweight from Brooklyn, faces Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles, in the main 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena tonight. The aggressive Brooklyn billygoat is an 11 to 5 favorite over Chavez, who is making his New York debut at a main event. Paddy was defeated in Boston by Tony de Marco, who is no relation.

Child Hospitalized As Result Of Being Struck By Automobile

A three-year-old child was hospitalized yesterday morning after being hit by an automobile on a rural road about one-half mile south of Venters Crossroads.

Highway Patrolman Shep Newman, who investigated the accident, identified the child as Deafes Leggett, three-year-old Negro. Newman said the driver of the car, Henry David Elks of Ayden route three, was traveling north on the road when three children ran in front of his car.

Elks applied his brakes and ran off the road to avoid hitting the children, the officer said, but collided with one of the children. The child suffered a fractured right leg and multiple abrasions, the officer said. No charges were brought against the driver.

In a highway accident about 1:30 Sunday morning, two cars collided on Highway 11 approximately two miles south of Bethel.

Newton identified the drivers as William Connett Jr. of Bethel route one, 30-year-old Negro, and James Curtis Howell, 40-year-old Negro of Robersonville route two.

The officer said the collision occurred when Howell passed a car which was traveling behind Connett's car, and collided with the rear end of Connett's car, knocking it some 18 feet onto the shoulder of the road. Newton said Howell's car traveled 1,533 feet from the point of impact before stopping.

Damage to Howell's car was estimated at $300 by the officer, and damage to Connett's car was estimated at $100. Howell was charged with careless and reckless driving. There were no personal injuries reported.

Patrolman Jim Davis investigated an accident Saturday afternoon after an automobile overturned on the County Home road. The officer said a car driven by Harvey Williams, 31, Negro, of Ayden route three, collided with the rear of a car driven by H. C. Smith of Ayden route one. After the collision, Davis said, Williams' car traveled out of control from 495 feet and turned over several times.

No injuries were reported. Charges of driving drunk and careless and reckless driving were lodged against Williams.

Early Friday night a car driven by John Henry Palmer, Negro, 20, of Stokes route one, went out of control on Highway 903 during a heavy rain and struck a ditch. Patrolman Newman said no injuries resulted from the accident and no charges were made. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Jack Dempsey's Plans For Wedding On Rocks

By WATSON SIMS
 NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty and fabulously rich widow has called off plans to marry Jack Dempsey with the statement: "Oil and water simply won't mix." She says she's flying back to Florida today.

"We're just too different," says Mrs. Estelle Auguste, possessor of a fortune estimated at 45 million dollars.

The breakup came last night, three days after the Palm Beach, Fla., widow had announced she would marry the man who used his iron fists to slug his way to fame and fortune.

Dempsey had stalked out of Mrs. Auguste's apartment in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel a few minutes before she announced the engagement was broken.

At the Mayflower Hotel, where the former world heavyweight champion is staying, a telephone operator said in answer to calls:

city."

She inherited her wealth from her second husband, H. Spencer Auguste, founder of the Commercial trust and executive of the May Co., a department store chain. He died about four years ago.

Dempsey, who had known her husband for years, proposed marriage to the widow about a year after Auguste's death.

The blonde widow said the breakup with Dempsey wasn't caused by "any one thing." She added that there were "a lot of things that got to be more and more important when we were together."

Mrs. Auguste said there was an incident—concerning movie star Kirk Douglas—which "probably ignited the whole thing" and "started us off" last night at Lindy's Restaurant.

She said she told Dempsey she was inviting him to visit them at Palm Beach for the Christmas holidays—after their marriage. She said Dempsey became "furious."

She added that she didn't know why Dempsey was angry, and declared the invitation to Douglas was "only a friendly gesture," and "after all, he's a nice fellow."

Mrs. Auguste said Douglas had written asking her not "to do anything" until he got here from Europe Dec. 15. Asked if that involved plans to marry Dempsey, which had been rumored before Thursday's announcement, she said that was "anybody's guess."

Federal Mediators Scheduling New Talks In Newspaper Tie-Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal mediators came out of surprise talks with union representatives early today and then scheduled new negotiations in the 10-day-old strike against six major daily newspapers.

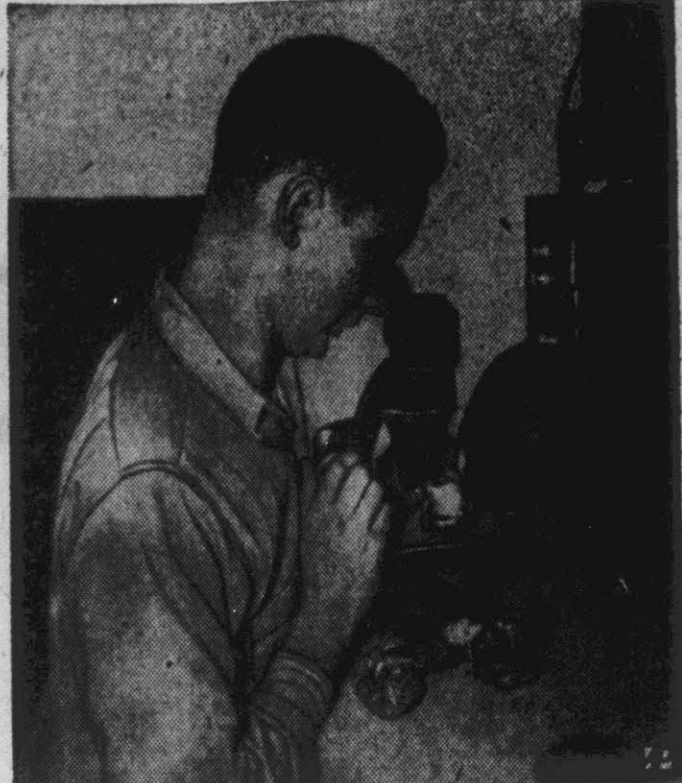

Walter A. Maggilo, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, called the talks after meeting last night with representatives of the AFL Allied Printing Trades Council, whose members have been refusing to cross picket lines set up by the AFL International Photoengravers Union.

The photoengravers struck the newspapers in a dispute over wages and other contract issues. About 400 photoengravers are involved, and their picket lines have idled 20,000 employees belonging to the CIO American Newspaper Guild and the pressmen's, stereotypers', printers' and mailers' affiliates of the printing trades council, and other unions.

Yesterday brought two key developments in the strike:

1. Resumption of publication by the New York Herald Tribune, the only one of the city's major newspapers not involved in the engravers' dispute. The Herald Tribune, which stopped publication a week ago in sympathy with the other papers, put out adless Sunday and Monday editions of eight pages each.

2. Spirited activity among representatives of the two sides as mediators twice scheduled joint negotiations which did not materialize. In both cases it developed that officials of various unions involved were meeting secretly and unexpectedly with Maggilo and other mediators.

Mrs. Talmadge Got Her Paving

ATLANTA (AP)—Mrs. Herman Talmadge, the wife of Georgia's governor, finally got her road paved.

Back in 1948, gubernatorial candidate Herman Talmadge was promising Georgians he would build 10,000 miles of highway if elected. Charging past administrations with road favoritism, Talmadge roared from the campaign stump:

"I promise you this: that the last road in Georgia to be paved will be the one beside my farm home."

He was elected and eventually his administration built the 10,000 miles of paved roads. Mrs. Talmadge asked him for her road, connecting their farm at Lovejoy to a highway. The governor paid no attention.

Then Mrs. Talmadge decided to play politics herself. At a dinner one night she approached three Highway Board members. They were in the middle, between the governor and the First Lady. They allibed and stalled.

Finally, Mrs. Talmadge decided to skip state government and try local sources. She mentioned the matter to her representative, Ed McGarity.

Yesterday, as she drove back to the executive mansion from the farm in a pouring rain, Mrs. Talmadge beamed. She drove over a paved road. The quarter-mile strip had been paved with county funds. Mrs. Talmadge is a taxpayer in Henry County.

With a smirk she sent this message to the stalling State Highway Board dominated by her husband: "It can be abolished for all I care."

Labor Secretary's Role Is Difficult

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—James P. Mitchell has the smallest province in the federal government's vast domain. His Labor Department has 5,000 employees, which is fewer than any other department.

His job as secretary of labor, which might seem to make him grand titan and superchief of labor problems, is really a seat on the aisle. If he can make it more important, it will take some doing.

The National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, not the Labor Department, dig deepest into the difficulties of workers and employers.

The NLRB as chief interpreter of the Taft-Hartley Act, lays down the rules for both sides. When a national strike threatens, the mediation board is called in to try for a peaceful settlement.

The secretary of labor has no control over wages in peacetime. And when the government does control wages in wartime as it did in World War II and after the Korean outbreak, it sets up a special board outside Mitchell's department.

Railroad workers' relations with their employers are outside the labor secretary's jurisdiction. Their problems with the railroad industry are handled by the Railroad Retirement Board and the National Mediation and Adjustment Boards. Even a couple of tiny agencies, which might seem rightfully to belong in the Labor Department, are outside it: these handle vocational training and rehabilitation of handicapped persons. Both are in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Nevertheless, a labor secretary can make his job vital, if the President is guided by him and Congress has confidence in his judgment.

As a member of the Cabinet, the labor secretary can advise the President on the administration's labor policies and its recommendations to Congress on labor legislation.

So far in the Eisenhower administration the biggest job of the labor secretary—both Mitchell and his predecessor Martin Durkin—has been working on Taft-Hartley law changes which might be acceptable to unions and management and to Congress too.

Mitchell may find it an impossible task. Durkin quit when, he said, the White House wouldn't go along with his recommendations for changing the law.

Mitchell told the CIO convention Nov. 18 he would be spokesman for labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet but not a "mouthpiece." He pledged "fair" amendments to the Taft-Hartley law.

And he said he wants the minimum wage law widened to cover more of the nation's 63 million workers, plus a raise in the wage. Under present law about 22 million workers in interstate industries must be paid at least 75 cents an hour.

National Honors To News Bureau

By LYNN NISBET
RALEIGH (AP)—The North Carolina State News Bureau has been voted first place in the United States, second in the world, for travel news coverage during 1953. First world position went to Pan American Airways.

These awards come as result of balloting among delegates attending the Midwest Travel Writers Association in Chicago Saturday night.

It is the second year a national honor has come to the N.C. State News Bureau. Last year the National Association of Travel Organizations made a similar award. A plaque was presented to Charles Parker, director of State advertising of which the news bureau is a part) by James L. Bossenmyer, executive vice president of NATO. The presentation was made during the Conservation and Development Board sessions at Morehead City in July.

Although qualities upon which the award of excellence was made are similar, the organizations have different viewpoints. NATO is composed of groups such as chambers of commerce and travel agencies, while the writers association is made up of individual newspaper, periodical and trade publications throughout the middle west. It is considered a greater honor to win from two separate organizations than to have repeated with one—and there is still a chance of again topping the NATO list.

The father, Robert, escaped and rescued another son, Donald, 11. An explosion in an oil stove caused the fire.

Early Call For New Marshal

LAMARQUE, Tex. (AP)—About 10:30 p.m. Saturday Lester Ingram was notified he had become mayor in this newly incorporated town's first election.

About 2 a.m. he was notified a burglar was trying to break into his place of business, a jewelry store.

Ingram pinned on his new badge and rushed down in time to scare away the intruder.

GOOD DAY FOR STAYING IN DOORS—A near blizzard which raked central Nebraska adds new snowy contours to autos parked on a North Platte street. A photographer, inside and comfortably warm, snapped this picture through a window of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin newspaper office. North Platte was covered with four inches of snow. Winds gusting to 50 miles an hour whipped it into road-blocking drifts. (AP Wirephoto).

Peanut Referendum To Be Held December 15th

Pitt County peanut farmers will vote in a referendum on Tuesday, December 15, to determine whether marketing quotas will be used for the 1954, 1955, and 1956 crops of peanuts. A similar vote is being held on the same day in all areas where peanuts are grown.

According to Carl Scott, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, (formerly PMA) all peanut growers are eligible to vote in the referendum who shared in 1953-crop peanuts produced on a farm with a picked or threshed acreage of more than 1-acre.

At least two-thirds of all farmers voting must approve the quotas before they may be made effective. If marketing quotas are not approved, they will not be used for the 1954 peanut crop, and another vote will be held next year on quotas for the following three crops.

Explaining that the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim peanut marketing quotas, Mr. Scott stated that each year, between July 1 and December 1, the Secretary must proclaim the amount of the quota for the next crop. This quota is converted into a national acreage allotment which is apportioned to States and to farms according to provisions of law. All farm operators have been notified in writing of their farm acreage allotments prior to the referendum, Mr. Scott said.

The farm marketing quota is the quantity of peanuts produced on the farm acreage allotment. Peanuts produced on farm where the 1954 peanut acreage is larger than the allotment will be subject to a marketing penalty.

If growers vote approval of quotas, price supports on 1954-crop peanuts will be available at 90 percent of parity to peanut farmers who harvest within their acreage allotments. Support for the 1955 and 1956 crops, under existing legislation, will be available at not less than a percent of parity between 75 and 90 percent which depends on the supply available at the beginning of the marketing year. If growers oppose peanut quotas, the level of support on the 1954 crop to cooperators will drop to 50 percent of parity.

Chill, Cheerless Day Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today was a chill and cheerless one for most of the nation, and additionally one of sorrow and hardship and pain for tornado-lashed Vicksburg, Miss.

Residents of that historic city searched its ruins for bodies that might swell the known death toll of 30 in Saturday night's twister which also injured 230 persons and caused an estimated 25 million dollars of property damage.

The city was without gas, which is used to heat most of its homes, and a fifth of it was without electricity.

The Vicksburg tornado was one of four in the South Saturday. Others struck in Louisiana and Arkansas.

It rained today along the Atlantic Coast, in western New York, western Pennsylvania and in the Pacific Northwest. There was light snowfall in the Great Lakes region.

Rains preceded a wave of cooler air approaching the Atlantic. Another eastward-moving chilly air mass was rolling across the Great Plains.

Motor vehicle traffic in the United States exceeded half a trillion miles for the first time in 1952.

Utilities Board Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Greenville Utilities Commission will be brought up to date on the progress on the two major construction projects now under construction by the Commission at the regular monthly meeting tomorrow night, Superintendent Martin Swartz said this morning.

The new sewerage lift station on Third Street and the tie line from the new sub-station to the Black Jack Intersection on Highway No. 43 are the two major construction projects.

Larry Brown, Commission secretary will make the financial report and other routine business matters will be discussed tomorrow night.

Five Cents Made It No 'Bargain'

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A small, gray-haired woman walked to a counter at the five-and-dime store and asked for a 5-cent tie box. The clerk told her the cheapest one was a dime.

She left indignantly, declaring: "I bought the tie because it was a bargain but it won't be a bargain if I pay a dime for the box!"

Superfort Cuts Record For Hop

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A B47 Stratofort bomber flew nonstop from England to MacDill Air Force Base here yesterday in 8 hours 53 minutes, clipping 14 minutes off the old record for the 4,480 miles.

"Aside from strong head winds we encountered no difficulties," Col. William E. Creer of Spanish Fork, Utah, commander of the bomber, said.

Oil Distributors To Hold Meeting

Two oil distributors from Kinston will attend the regular monthly meeting of the Greenville Oil Distributors Association tomorrow at the Silo Grill, W.L. Allen, local Association chairman stated this morning.

An oil distributors association is being formed in Kinston now and H.J. Landauer and Tony Carey of that city will attend the local luncheon meeting scheduled for 12:15 p.m.

Allen said that John G. Clark, Sr., who was recently appointed to the Wholesale Marketer Study Group of the American Petroleum Institute, will report on a meeting of the Institute he attended in Chicago last month.

The Association will also study the recommendation by the local Merchants Association regarding holidays to be taken for Christmas. Other routine matters will be discussed.

Scott Announces Sanford As Aide

RALEIGH (AP)—State Sen. Terry Sanford of Fayetteville will serve as chief aide for former Gov. W. Kerr Scott in his feeling-out campaign for the U. S. Senate.

Scott announced over the weekend he had called on Sanford to help him complete a survey of sentiment throughout the state. Sanford, 36, is former president of the North Carolina Young Democrats.

Scott said he had visited "many of my friends in various parts of the state, and the sentiment in favor of my seeking the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate has been encouraging." He added, however, that time is growing short and there are "many sections" of the state which he has been unable to visit.

Many political observers consider Scott is virtually in the race for the seat held by U. S. Sen. Alton A. Lennon of Wilmington. The former governor has said he hopes to announce definitely sometime next month whether he will be a candidate.

Snakes Moved In, They Moved Out

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—The first snake was killed in the Hershel Jones kitchen with a garden fork. A stick was used on the second. When the third one showed up, Mrs. Jones called for help and a neighbor killed it.

Thereupon the Joneses moved out for a week and a half.

No Shots Fired At Republicans

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A loud bang startled a strategy conference of New Haven Republicans.

"Somebody just took a shot at us," one of them reported to police. Police found a bicycle just outside the smoke-filled room. Its front tire had burst.

N.C. Cotton Growers Will Vote Next Week

RALEIGH (AP)—Mark this date on your calendar, Mr. Cotton Farmer!

"It's a date that can mean money in or out of your pocketbook next year. Tuesday, December 15, is the day cotton growers will decide whether marketing quotas will be in effect on the 1954 cotton crop."

H.D. Godfrey, administrative officer of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, reminded farmers today.

"This is a decision that will affect every cotton grower, and that's why it's so important that each one cast his ballot," Godfrey said. All farmers who grew cotton in 1952 will be eligible to vote in the cotton referendum.

The referendum will be held in North Carolina. At least two-thirds every cotton-producing county in the quotas if they are to continue in effect.

The vote follows the Secretary of Agriculture's proclamation, on October 9, of a national marketing quota and a national acreage allotment for the 1954 crop of cotton. Such proclamation must be made under the law, Godfrey explained, when the prospective total supply of cotton exceeds the "normal supply."

The total supply of cotton for the 1953-54 marketing year was estimated on that date at 30.5 million bales, more than 4 million bales above the normal supply of 16.4 million bales.

The large cotton stocks available this year are due principally to a 45 per cent drop in exports in 1952-53 and the large 1953 crop.

French Beat Off Vietminh Attack

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French army command said today its forces beat off a Vietminh attempt to destroy Gia Loc, a key French stronghold near the highway linking Hanoi with the seaport of Haiphong. The French claimed they inflicted "extremely heavy losses" on the Communist-led rebels.

The French acknowledged, however, that French and Vietnamese troops manning the post and the armored column sent to their aid suffered "serious losses" in the five-hour battle yesterday. No figures were given.

Crack Vietminh Regiment 42, reinforced by regional battalions, blasted the fort with heavy mortar and machine gun fire just before dawn. An infantry assault followed.

A French relief column fought its way through an ambush on the road with the aid of French fighter and bombers. The Vietminh fled when the column finally drove through to the fort.

Although oil has been produced in 27 of U.S. states, about half of all production has come from 14 states.

Dateless Coeds Can Buy Time Of Young Lancelots

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Chivry, dead for years, has been pushed about six feet deeper into the ground by four Oklahoma A&M College undergraduates who decided to trade the Air Lancelot idea for a fast dollar.

They are selling good looks and social poise for 70 cents an hour to dateless damsels.

Calling themselves the Citywide Escort Service, they hope their business venture will prove the answer to a desperate coed's prayer. They are available, at the prevailing rates, for coke dates, dances, bridge, coffee or tea drinking, or any other social gathering.

The boys—Gaylord Orman Hennessy, Okla., sophomore, Joe Perry, El Reno, Okla., senior, Dave Bergdahl, junior from Skandia, Mich.; and Jerry Herrin, Meno Okla., freshman, also from Skandia—guarantee the young Ladies a date they will be proud of, well-mannered, well-dressed well-read, well!

They're available at a moment's notice to fill in for a girl whose date has suddenly come down with double pneumonia. They believe these emergencies will constitute the bulk of their business—which hasn't been booming yet but proves promising.

The boys announced their arrival on the Oklahoma A&M social scene with an ad that read: "Girls, don't panic. An escort is as close as your telephone."

Here's the way their system works:

Customers get the use of one of four cars—their choice. The first 20 miles are free and a nominal charge of 3 cents a mile is added thereafter. Cigarettes, the customer's brand, are free. Rates start at 70 cents an hour for single dates with lower rates for double, triple or quadruple dates.

Phones at the Citywide Escort Service have been ringing since the ad appeared with more requests from pranking men students than customers. But it's no laugh for the four young partners, who claim:

"We're in it strictly for the dough."

The Atlanta branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sponsored the services.

Unique Celebration For Friml's 69th Birthday

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Rudolph Friml, last of the great operetta composers, plans a unique celebration for his 69th birthday today.

1. He'll bicycle some 15 miles from his Hollywood hilltop home to a beach club at Santa Monica. "People think I'm crazy, but I like to beat the red lights," he says.

2. He'll take an endurance swim in the club's pool. Last year he swam continuously for 2 1/2 hours. "I wanted to see how Florence Chadwick could do it."

3. He'll go to Friml's Chinese-style home, expecting to see quite an old party. After all, hadn't he been a student of Anton Dvorak in Czechoslovakia and the composer of such classics as "Rose Marie," "The Vagabond King," "The Firefly"? And wasn't he the remaining member of operetta's big three, the others being Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg?

4. He'll play a Chinese beauty, ushered in and the composer was listening to a piano piece on one of his three recording machines. He sat down to the piano and accompanied himself in a "Czechoslovakian rhapsody," which he said he composed as he went along. It was a feast of melody.

5. He'll play another spiritual song and a lighter one designed for Jeanette MacDonald. "Something she can sing in Las Vegas," he explained that he had recently written some added songs for MGM's third version of "Rose Marie."

6. He also reported he had just returned from Berlin on an abortive mission to write a show. He is soon leaving for Hong Kong.

"The most important things in my life are in this order: (1) health; (2) music; (3) travel," he remarked.

"I am never sick. Why? Because I take good care of myself. I stand on my head for 10 minutes every morning. That gets the blood to the brain and starts you thinking. That's why I have remained creative all these years."

"I do lots of yoga exercises. I also exercise my fingers; they are my fortune, you know. I do all my composing on the piano and have someone else put it down on paper. Not like the old days. I wrote millions of notes for 26 shows, arranging and orchestrating everything myself. That was before we had recording machines."

Friml said he had health equipment all over the house and invited me to see for myself.

"I am always exercising," he said. "Even in the show or bathtub. How many other men take the trouble? Not many. See—I even exercise on the stairway. I always go up like this." And he glided quickly up the stairs, two at a time.

He showed me a large box in which he had electric lights in- cluded the seat to pour. Also a re- ducing machine. In the bedrooms he pointed out ultra violet lamps that kept the air pure at all times —"not even smog can get in."

He demonstrated his head stand- ing technique, then reclined on his back and rolled to a standing position without using his hands.

"Try it," he urged. I did, and rose with a slight ebarley horse.

"Look," he said, raising his trou- sers, "these are the legs of a baler- ina."

We also talked about the musical theater and he said he found the shows of recent years lacking.

"They are full of smart songs," he commented sadly, "but that is all. There is no melody and no good voices to sing them. It is too bad. I hope the operetta will re- turn to the new generation can learn what real singing is."

Stricken Woman Resisting Help

STALEY, N. C. — An aged woman believed dying of cancer still resisted efforts today to get her and her mentally retarded nephew out of their one-room shack.

The 75-year-old widow, Mrs. Mary Mines, has locked herself in and refused all offers of medical aid. W. L. Lednum, police chief of this town about 25 miles south- east of Greensboro, says she has threatened to shoot anyone who tries to enter.

The county sent an ambulance and nurse to her home Saturday but Chief Lednum said Mrs. Mines refused to open the door.

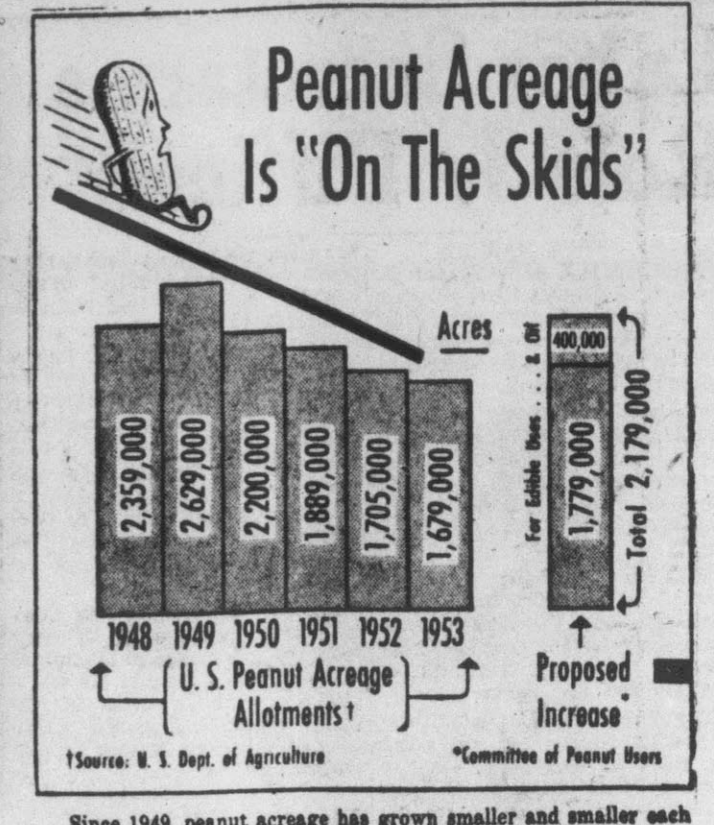

With her is her 36-year-old nephew, George Fox, who Lednum says is unable to feed or dress himself. The police chief says Mrs. Mines once told him she keeps Fox tied with a rope.

Mayor John Staley says that Mrs. Mines promised Fox' mother on her deathbed that she would take care of him all her life.

Mrs. Mines receives about $40 a month in old age assistance, and relatives also help her financially. But they are unwilling to sign papers that would allow authorities to take her by force for treatment.

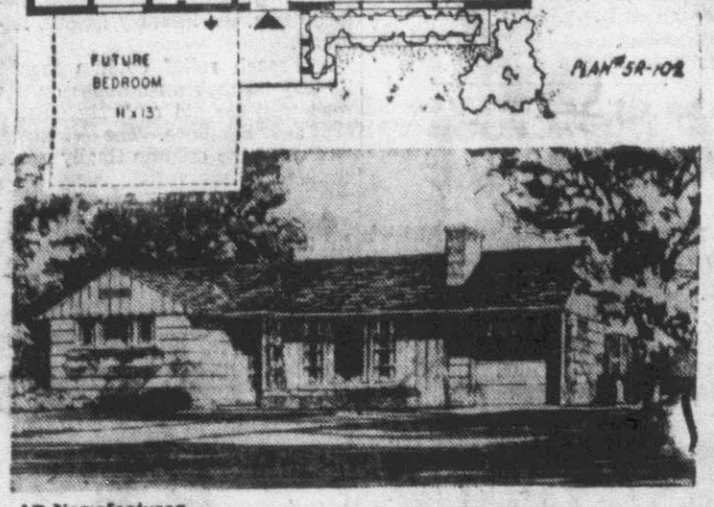

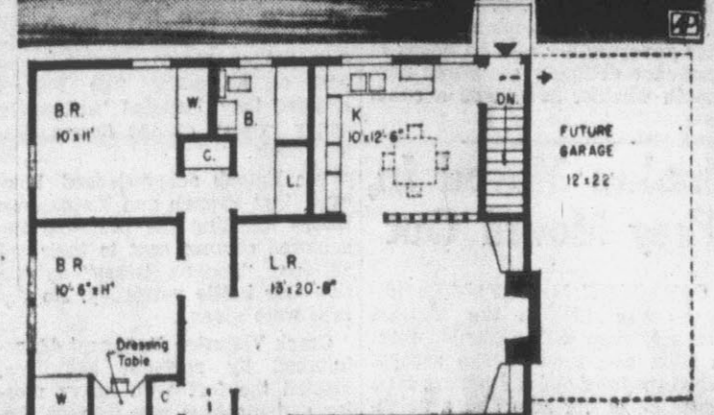

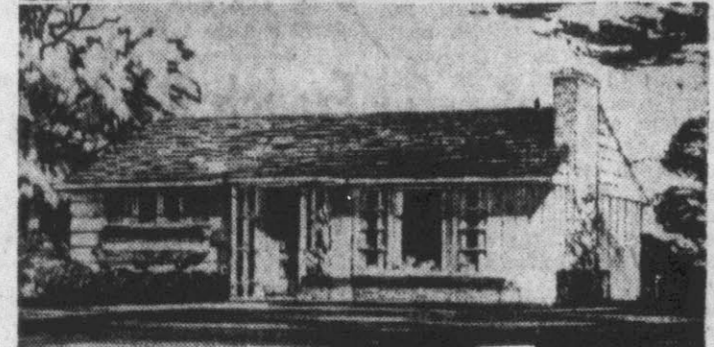

FEED STORE WRECKED:—A cow contentedly feeds on broken bales of hay inside the wrecked feed and general store in Leander, La., belonging to A. M. Smith. Since 1949, peanut acreage has grown smaller and smaller each year, but our population has increased by 8 million people in that same period. Total acreage of all farm crops taken together has increased to take advantage of bigger markets. But the Farm Value of peanuts has dropped from more than $246 million (@10 1/2¢ per pound in 1948) to about $150 million (@10.8¢ per pound) in 1952. A vote against peanut acreage control in the December referendum can reverse this trend.

Inflation Worry: Price Of Wives Climbing Fast

Cannot Explain Suicide Of Son

By EDWARD POLLAK
JUBA, Equatoria, Sudan — De- velopment programs have touched off inflation in the Azande terri- tory—the price of a wife has rocketed from eight to 15 spears in the past few months.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Bartley Crum Jr., son of the prominent California attorney, shot himself to port.

The 18-year-old youth's body was discovered by a schoolmate in a private home where they roomed. He apparently fired a rifle bullet into his forehead.

Young Crum, a student at Reed College here, was described by the coroner as having been "nervous and lonely."

But his father, who was in San Francisco on a speaking tour, said he was unable to explain his son's action. "I saw him only last week and he appeared in good spirits," the attorney said.

"Who could tell if he was trou- bled? Parents would be the last to know of those things."

Later, speaking at a banquet for Jewish National Fund, Crum said: "The future of man rests with a little segment of the world in Palestine. In honor of my son, I pledge 1,000 trees to be planted there."

Crum learned of his son's death only 30 minutes before the banquet. The audience, when told later of the youth's death, started a fund for a memorial forest in Israel.

The Azande, or Zande, live astride the border between the western corner of Equatoria, Sudan's southernmost province, and the Belgian Congo.

The development is under way in the Sudanese part of the Azande territory. Sponsored by the Equatoria Project Board, it in- cludes a sawmill, development of local industries, and several mar- keting centers for cotton and other crops.

The tribesmen at first welcomed the projects. Lately they have been increasingly worried about soaring prices—especially the prices of wives.

Marriage is a well organized af- fair not only among the Azende but also among the other tribes of the 212,000 square miles of southern Sudan.

The pattern may vary from one tribe to another, but the principle is roughly the same—the bride- groom must pay a "bride-wealth" to the family of his betrothed be- fore he can take her home.

Often the bridegroom doesn't have the necessary wealth to buy his wife on a cash and carry basis. In those cases payment by in- stalment is generally accepted.

When a man sends his wife back to her family—in other words when he repudiates her—he is entitled to refund of the bride-wealth.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

The Cat's Paw by MARION SALTER

CHAPTER TWENTY FIVE ERIC AND Charlotte sat at the card table drawn up by the fire, pretending to eat. They kept the conversation careful, chiefly about art.

"Water colors can't be corrected, can they?" Charlotte asked. "Did you ever try them, or is it too terrible to be stuck with your mistakes?"

She realized what she had said. No topic was safe. All, all led to the unmentionable.

But Eric answered her. "It's pretty terrible at first. But you can learn from them, too, and enter it as experience."

She sipped the black bitter coffee, drinking in the significance of Eric's words.

"Where did you learn so much about art?" Eric asked when they had been silent too long.

"Oh, I just seemed to pick it up," Charlotte waved her hand vaguely.

But it had been from King. King who had taught her so much. King who was dead.

She dropped and broke a plate when they were doing the dishes together.

"Everything I touch," she said. "Everything I touch." She stooped to gather up the pieces, as though they were the shattered fragments of her self, and her sobs sounded horrible to her own ears.

Eric gathered her to him, and at last they began to kiss each other hungrily as though they might be torn apart and separated soon.

And now she lay back on the couch pillows. In the dim room the firelight threw dancing shadows on the ceiling. She turned and laid her face against Eric's shoulder.

"I've got to go," she said. "I'm keeping Tray up late."

"He's replaced by now."

"The changing of the guard. But I still have to go."

"Yes." "Charlotte," Eric said. "If I let you go now can I be sure you won't get away from me again? Go back behind the invisible glass, I mean. Promise that you won't?"

Charlotte stood up. "I can't promise," she said. "I don't do it on purpose. I just suddenly find myself there, and I can't get out."

Her voice trailed off, and she could feel the space rushing in between them.

"Charlotte! I'll take you home." "No. Tray will see me safely home."

"But I insist . . ."

"No. Thank you. I want to go alone." She stared at Eric across the distance, as though she hardly saw him. "Please don't call me. I'll see you Monday at the store. Good night." Almost like a sleep-walker she moved past Eric and out his door, down to the street.

And from inside the taxi, careening downtown, she saw the late, lulled city as chimerical, unreal. It rose story upon story; people piled in layers, stacked like plates. And now she seemed to see them with the building facades stripped away, the interiors exposed like those of a dollhouse revealing bed over bed, bathtub over bathtub, stove over stove stranger over stranger—all the way up.

Most of the buildings seemed asleep. Only one light here, one there burned on, perhaps where someone lay in dread of the thoughts that come out in the dark. Or where in the office buildings the tired old men who were watchmen dozed and dreamed of days gone by.

Maybe at this moment, somewhere in the huge honeycomb that was New York murder struck again. A murder sufficiently stoppress to make Page One.

Now there was Sunday to sit through, though mercifully Charlotte had slept through the morning. Eventually, she supposed, the body took charge, and one slept. But she'd never be rested. This muscular ache, this need to lie down and never move, this hundred-years-old feeling was forever.

The sense of Sunday lay all around, the wide and round and empty silence. It was the church-quiet of closed and locked store doors, of people resting, the city slowed to a halt. But to Charlotte it was the silence of death. Even the weather was quiescent. No wind no snow. The gray day just waited. It seemed the ominous stillness before a storm.

Charlotte had read the paper she always had delivered on Sundays. There was nothing new on the "Cummings Case." Just a rehash of yesterday's reports—and it appeared on Page 10. At the end of the column she released her held breath.

Or did the police sometimes have new details and not tell the press? Suppose that all this time they had the record . . .

And then the sharp insistence of her bell shattered the silence. She pressed the buzzer to open the downstairs door and at once wished she hadn't. She opened her door and leaned over the stairs.

"Who is it?" she called.

There was no answer. "Who is it?" she called again, and heard the slow ascending steps.

"Lieutenant Chase," he said. There was the quick rearing and runaway of her heart, and she struggled to breathe normally as he appeared. As though it had been she who climbed the stairs.

"Well, good morning," Charlotte said. "Have you just come from church?" She jammed her hands in her plaid-skirt pockets, and held her thumbs in "tight fists."

"Me, church?" The lieutenant laughed.

"I'd expect you to be on the same side as the ministers, against sin, that is. Come in."

"I'm against it. I'm against it all the time in my business." His blue eyes were like a searchlight on Charlotte's face.

"You make me feel I should open my mouth and say ah," she said. "Now what shall we talk about? You pick a topic."

Lieutenant Chase wandered about the room, vaguely, to all appearances. He's looking for something though, Charlotte panicked. But what could it be? There's nothing incriminating here. He lifted the curtain and peered into the cubbyhole of a kitchen. He glanced into the lavatory, the closet.

"May I help you?" Charlotte asked.

"I'm just looking, thank you," he said.

"Just browse around. Any time." (To Be Continued)

For millions of older cars it means better working horsepower and better total engine performance. It is not only the finest gasoline in Esso's history . . . but the very best gasoline you can buy! If you've tried it, you know what we are talking about.

TOTAL POWER means just what it says. It means, to begin with, a great advance in sheer high-compression POWER under the toughest driving conditions. It means POWER to start fast on cold winter days . . . POWER for fast warm-up . . . POWER to counteract stalling caused by carburetor icing on cold, damp days . . . POWER to kill off knocks and pings . . . POWER to take steep hills in stride . . . POWER to pickup swiftly from a standstill. It means that in the total of the jobs your engine will be called on to do this winter, you can expect the maximum that can be obtained from any gasoline you can buy. For the very newest in "Happy Motoring" try New "TOTAL POWER" ESSO EXTRA in your car today!

Total working horsepower for the highest-compression cars! For many late model high-compression cars new "Total Power" Esso Extra Gasoline now makes it possible for the first time to enjoy full engine performance without a trace of knock or ping.

Total working horsepower for many new cars where total performance is now kept "under wraps" by retarding the spark to avoid knocking. These cars may now be set to fully efficient timing, giving owners more horsepower, better gasoline mileage, too!

Total working horsepower wherever "cold engine stalling" is a critical problem on cool, moist days. Contains a special additive that protects against stalling caused by carburetor icing, permits maximum possible power-flow from the time you start your engine.

Total working horsepower can benefit present users of "regular" gasoline who drive mostly in short trips around town. Now, by simply switching to new "Total Power" Esso Extra, they can get better mileage this winter . . . better all-around performance, too.

Electronics Extend Promise Of Exciting Years To Come

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who sent the first SOS from an American ship just 80 years ago today isn't looking backward. He's looking ahead to a bright new day when electronics will run your life.

He is Ludwig Arnsen, a young man of 70 who is fit as a fiddle and tuned to the great things he sees coming to American life soon.

But he concedes: "I don't see why anybody would have wanted to live in any time except these past 80 wonderful years."

Fifty years ago today the American-registered ship Kronland bound from Antwerp to New York with 150 passengers hit a terrific westerly gale off the Irish coast which smashed her rudder. In vain the crew tried to rig a jury rudder in the pounding seas. The Kronland wallowed helplessly. Then the skipper ordered his young wireless operator, Ludwig Arnsen, to send out the distress signal—known then as a CQD.

The British cruiser Kent picked up Arnsen's signal 35 miles away, took her under tow and brought her into Cogh. So Arnsen made American maritime history.

A New York youth who'd seen a request for wireless operators on a bulletin board at Columbia University, he made several other voyages before coming ashore. On land he worked for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of America from New York to Alaska.

In 1908 Arnsen approved the hiring of an office boy at $3 a week. That boy was David Sarnoff, today chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America.

In 1922 Arnsen founded his own electronics manufacturing company on a $2,000 shoestring. Today, as president of Radio Receptor Co., Inc., he has 1,500 employees in his Brooklyn plant and does an 18-million-dollar-a-year business.

"But maybe the next 50 years will be even more interesting than the past 80," says Arnsen, smiling. Looking into the near future he foresees electronics doing these things:

For wrist watch wearers—perfect time and no more winding. Your watch will be kept wound by signals from a central station to which it will be tuned.

For auto drivers—practically no more accidents. When the sign says 50 miles an hour, you won't be able to go 55. A beam to which your motor is tuned will control it. When the sign says "stop," your car will be automatically slowed until it stops. And there won't be a thing you can do about it.

For secretaries—no more dictation from the boss. He'll be able to talk into a machine which will not even type his immortal words. They'll come out in printed pages. So the boss will have to perfect his English.

For file clerks—no more bulky files. When you want to know something you'll press a button of a memory-device machine and the machine will tell you all about it.

For the whole country—no more fire alarm systems. Through a central electronic scope a watcher will be able to see a fire starting anywhere within his range. He'll be able to pinpoint right down to your backyard.

"Yes," says Arnsen, "it will be a wonderful, exciting world."

FOLLOW THE LEADER—It's a moot point whether the little boy is leading these white French poodles or they're taking him to a Paris dog show where three were entries.

Bright, Macclesfield. Dr. Meredith K. Posy, faculty advisor of the Jarvis Forensic Club, will accompany the students to Florida.

Rescued After Cold Night Out

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dickie Lutzoff, 8, lost for 10 freezing hours in the San Gabriel Mountains, was rescued yesterday from a Mt. Wilson cliff by three members of the Altadena Mountaineers Rescue Club. They found him perched on an old slide overlooking a 1,000-foot precipice.

Dickie said he hadn't moved from 4 p.m. Saturday when he became lost until he was found. The lad had gone into the mountains with three other youngsters but had decided to return alone by a short cut, sheriff's officers said.

Another Bitten By Own Teeth

OMAHA (AP)—Here's another version of the story of the gent who got bit by his own teeth. An Omaha, with the courtesy born of 70 years' experience, stepped aside to let a secretary pass through the office's swinging door. It swung back and nailed him on the chest. He let out an "ouch" as he extracted his choppers from a breast pocket. They had bitten him.

When Baby Meets Spoon, Try Teaching

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D. AP Newswriter

Did you ever try to suck down a mouthful of applesauce? Try it sometime. It doesn't work very well. But that is what a baby will do the first time you offer him some food from a spoon.

Sucking is the only way he knows how to eat and he uses it on what every foot gets into his mouth. Using tongue and lips to push food back far enough to go down the throat requires an entirely different set of muscles from those used for sucking.

Small wonder that the baby's first few experiments with spoon fed foods often end with more food on the face than down the throat. He has to bring a complicated new set of muscles under control before he can manage food in this new form.

There are a few little tricks to teaching him this new way of eating.

Use a small spoon, one that will go easily into his mouth. A demitasse spoon is much better than one with a large bowl.

Select the right time for the first lesson with a spoon. Make sure he is in a good frame of mind, neither too hungry nor too full.

If it is feeding time and he is crying vigorously with hunger, — in agony to get some food into his stomach, every fiber in his little body yelling for something to ease those gnawing hunger pains—you will only make him made by offering a spoonful of stuff he doesn't know what to do with.

When he feels better, and is lying comfortably in your arms, you can stop the milk, burp him, put him back ready to eat a little more and then offer the spoon. Do not wait until he has had all the milk he wants, because he will be too sleepy and relaxed to be bothered with anything more to eat.

The first food offered from a spoon should taste very good. All

Assistant White House press secretary Murray Snyder said he understood Western Union has a backlog of telegrams possibly totaling 1,700 or more. Snyder told reporters the telegrams have come in so fast it has been impossible to break them down into those which favor McCarthy's China trade demand and those who support the President's stand.

Meanwhile, Republican congressional leaders maintained discreet silence in the Eisenhower-McCarthy controversy.

Santa Came To Grifton Riding New Fire Truck

GRIFTON—Santa Claus came to town here Saturday morning—not on the traditional sleigh and eight reindeer but on Grifton's fire truck and accompanied by five floats, two bands and other entries that go to make up a Christmas parade.

Describing the parade J. A. Rogers, president of Grifton's Merchants Association, sponsors of the parade, said, "We thought it was a howling success."

In addition to Santa, the floats and the bands the parade featured Herman Joseph, a circus clown formerly with Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus, a number of decorated bicycles, trucks entered by local merchants, Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops and other entries.

The parade, which lasted about 45 minutes, formed at the Grifton school, moved down Queen Street, jam-packed with spectators, to the Kinston-Ayden highway and back to the school.

The $25 first prize for the best float went to the Eastern Star entry, the $15 second prize to the Parent-Teacher Association, and third prize of $5 to the Girl Scouts.

A $10 prize for the best horse entered in the procession went to Beverly Croom of Kinston and the $5 prize for the best pony was awarded to Jesse Harrell of Kinston.

Two bands were entered in the parade, the band from Ayden Colorized School and the County Band.

Adopt Plan For Assembly Recess
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—India and the Western powers agreed today on a plan for an indefinite recess of the U. N. General Assembly later this week without a debate on the Korean peace conference.

The president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India, would be authorized to reconvene the Assembly, with the concurrence of a majority of the 60 members.

The new plan drops any reference to a specific date for reconvening. The Assembly now expects to recess on Wednesday or Thursday.

Distribution Of Bible Overruled

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—The New Jersey Supreme Court today ruled the King James version of the New Testament could not be distributed to children in the state's public schools.

In a 20-page opinion written by Chief Justice Arthur T. Vanderbilt, the court said, with unanimous consent: "To permit the distribution of the King James version of the Bible in the public schools of this state would be to cast aside all the progress made in the United States and throughout New Jersey in the field of religious toleration and freedom."

"We would be renewing the ancient struggles among the various religious faiths to the detriment of all. This we must decline to do."

The case arose from a decision by the Rutherford Board of Education to distribute the King James version and the Book of Psalms and Proverbs to those children whose parents requested it.

The books were given to the board of education by the Gideons International, a non-profit association incorporated under the laws of Illinois. The society is known for its Gideon Bible found in hotels.

The case was instituted as a court test of a national program of Bible distribution in public schools by the Gideons.

A Jewish parent, Bernard Tudor, and a Roman Catholic, Ralph LeCocque, obtained an injunction forbidding distribution of the books. LeCocque later withdrew from the case, but Tudor—backed by the American Jewish Congress—sought a ruling that the plan was unconstitutional.
