

Collected 165 Pints Despite Lateness Of Arrival Monday

Bloodmobile Meets Quota UN Awaits Dramatic Plea

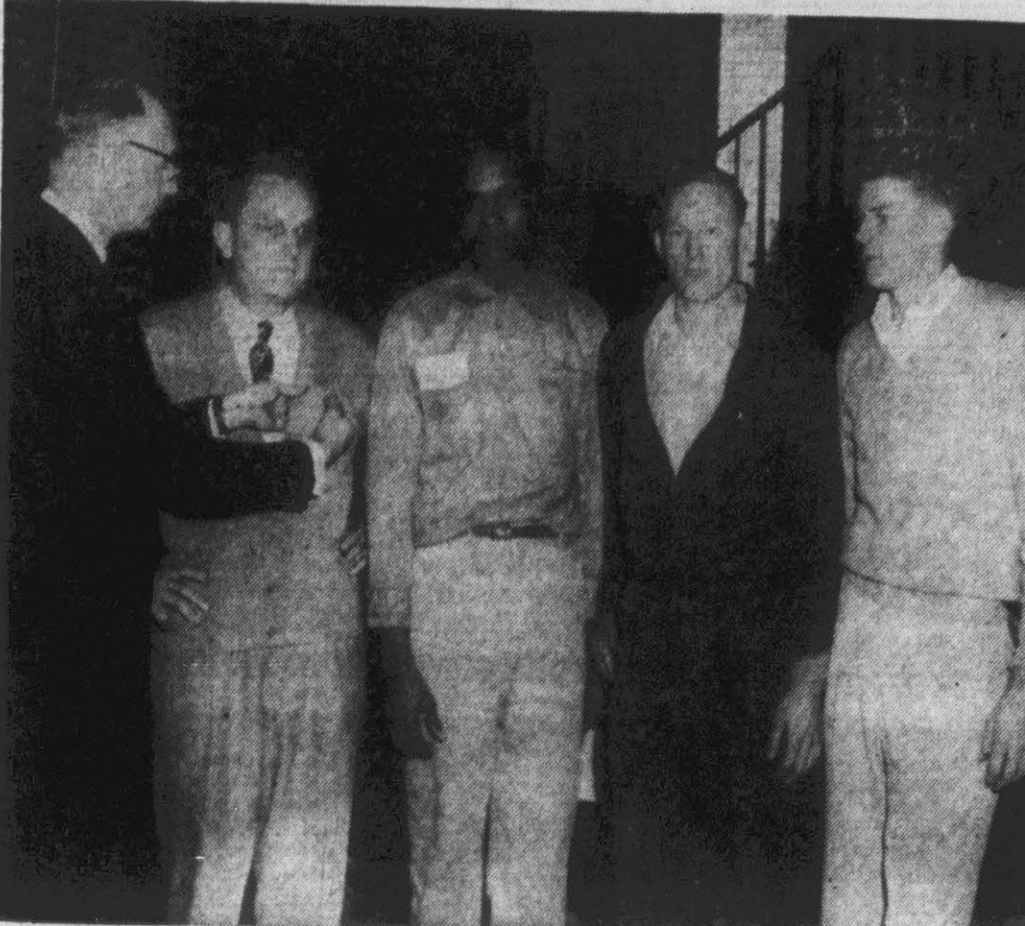

The bloodmobile collected 165 pints of blood yesterday to save the blood program for Pitt County, Dr. Walter C. Humbert, blood drive chairman, reported this morning.

A total of 188 people came to the Army between 12 and six o'clock to contribute the blood; however, 23 were rejected. Dr. Humbert said that 74 others came yesterday morning to contribute, but could not wait because the bloodmobile was late arriving.

The doctor said the bloodmobile was late arriving in Greenville because the driver who was supposed to have the vehicle ready to leave Norfolk yesterday at 6 a.m. failed to show up.

On behalf of the Pitt County Chapter of the Red Cross, Dr. Humbert expressed appreciation for those donors who gave blood even though the trouble with late arrival was encountered.

The volunteer workers expressed their gratitude because they do not mind working a long time if they have the donors, the blood drive chairman said, but they do not like to stay there all day with no donors. Dr. Humbert said that everyone left tired, but happy after yesterday's visit which insures continuation of the blood program here. He reported that yesterday, for the first time, there was a large number of donors who were friends or relatives of patients who had used blood while in the hospital. The next visit of the bloodmobile is in February.

Said To Have Urged Eisenhower Not Address UN Claim Churchill Perturbed

LONDON (AP) — Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express claimed today that Prime Minister Churchill tried "with all the eloquence at his command" to talk President Eisenhower out of making his atomic bomb speech to the United Nations.

And when Churchill saw his protests were in vain, the Express said in a dispatch from Bermuda, he set about using his influence to tone down the wording as far as possible.

The independent pro-empire paper said Churchill was "greatly upset" when shown the first draft of Eisenhower's proposed speech to be delivered later today.

"He took the line that as first drafted it would profoundly shock the world," the paper's correspondent, Rene MacColl, said. "He pointed out that since the NATO forces in Europe are being equipped with atomic artillery and other atomic weapons, the bluntness of the speech might be construed as a threat," MacColl reported.

In Churchill's view, said the Express, the shock of Eisenhower's speech would have a "bad and depressing effect on world opinion."

In his announcement in Bermuda Sunday night that Eisenhower would address the U. N. Assembly on perils of the atomic age, U. S. Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerly said Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel had read the speech and "unanimously approved" it. Later he amended this to say they had no objections to it. Hagerly also said that Lord Cherwell, formerly chief of Britain's atomic program, had worked with Rear Adm. Lewis Strauss, the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission chairman, on the draft of the speech.

MacColl claimed the argument he reported over the speech had been the only real disagreement between Churchill and Eisenhower at Bermuda.

"When Sir Winston came to Bermuda, he had no idea such a gesture to the world was in the President's mind," he wrote. "But in spite of the vigor of Churchill's pleas, Eisenhower remained solid on the idea of speaking to the world about the atomic dangers facing it."

"Eisenhower had produced the maximum impact value on his original text and Churchill told him the shock would have a bad and depressing result on world opinion. "What they did need now was a sober and constructive approach to the problem, holding out reasonable hope it could be surmounted somehow."

"Sarnist" angles have now vanished from Eisenhower's speech as a result of Churchill's intervention, the Express added. "The Republicans now control the House by a 219-215 margin with 1 independent. The Senate has 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and independent Wayne Morse of Oregon. Mitchell is in Philadelphia to supervise the completion of plans for a weekend conference of Middle Atlantic states party leaders. Mitchell also announced the selection of Stanley Woodward ambassador to Canada in the Truman administration, as the party's new treasurer.

West Germany Hails Outcome

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government found the outcome of the Bermuda Big Three conference today "very worthy of welcome."

The Germans noted with special satisfaction the reaffirmed Allied support for the European Defense Community, which would create a six-nation army including 12 German divisions. The high point for Germany was the decision to accept the Russian offer of a Big Four meeting in Berlin.

Predicts Demos Will Gain Seats

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stephen Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, says his party will win a 40 to 50-seat margin in the House next year on a platform pegged to national security, fair treatment for the farmer and lowering the cost of living.

These, he said, are among the "vital national issues particularly on domestic affairs, which sadly need buttressing." He also cited "apathy towards federal housing, the Republican failure to meet the increasing plight of small business and inability to set up foreign trade on a sound basis."

While forecasting the big House margin, Mitchell told a news conference last night he's fretting about the outcome in the Senate, where the Democrats now have more members than the Republicans.

He said he's basing his forecast on information from experienced political observers. "The Senate elections pose a harder problem. I am hopeful we might win control of the Senate, but I am not as confident as for the House. It's a matter of arithmetic since we have just so many Senate seats at stake," he explained.

The Republicans now control the House by a 219-215 margin with 1 independent. The Senate has 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and independent Wayne Morse of Oregon. Mitchell is in Philadelphia to supervise the completion of plans for a weekend conference of Middle Atlantic states party leaders. Mitchell also announced the selection of Stanley Woodward ambassador to Canada in the Truman administration, as the party's new treasurer.

City Tag Sales At Faster Pace

City license tags for motor vehicles which went on sale December 1 are moving a little faster than the tags did a year ago.

City Clerk H. H. Duncan said this morning the city has sold 399 auto license tags since December 1, compared with 349 auto tags sold during the same period last year. Until December 1 when the 1954 license tags went on sale, the city had sold 3,445 auto tags for 1953. The number marked a new record in city license sales for a year. For 1954, Greenville has ordered 3,500 auto license tags—the same number ordered for 1953—but Duncan this morning expressed the opinion that few if any of the 1954 tags will remain by the time the licenses for '55 go on sale next December.

Board Of Elections Discusses Setting Up New Vote Precincts

Pitt County Board of Elections held a meeting yesterday in the Court House to discuss the creation of voting precincts throughout the county.

Board Chairman Gilbert Peel explained to the other two members that the County Commissioners had created new townships throughout Pitt County giving a total of 15 townships each with new boundary lines. "This had made it necessary for the Board of Elections to create an entire set of new voting precincts. All of the old precincts will have to be done away with," he said.

Peel continued by telling the Board that at least one voting precinct is needed in each township with some townships divided into more than one if necessary. In creating the townships he pointed out that taken into consideration as well as the convenience of the voters the expense involved in maintaining a voting precinct, and a suitable place to vote.

The Chairman explained the more precincts there are the more number of votes in the precincts; and, whereas, The Board of Elections will have to spend considerable time and give considerable thought to the establishment of the new precincts in order that we may not create more precincts than are necessary and at the same time have voting precincts located as conveniently as possible for the voters. County maps showing the new township divisions were passed out so the three member board could study them before another meeting is held. A resolution prepared by Chairman Peel was read, discussed, and adopted by the Board. It reads as follows: Whereas, by the creation of new townships throughout Pitt County by the Board of County Commissioners, the Board of Elections by necessity will have to create new precincts in order that the precincts may be established in sufficient time to give the proper notice prior to the primary in 1954. T. E. Joyner, Jr., of Farmville, and W. B. Phillips of Ayden, are the other two members of Board.

Delegates Expect 'Sensational' Bid To End Deadlock

UN Awaits Dramatic Plea

By TOM HOGE UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates from both sides of the Iron Curtain waited expectantly today for President Eisenhower's dramatic appeal to the General Assembly for peace in an atom-peril world.

One high diplomatic source said the address would be a "sensational" aimed at breaking the seven-year-old East-West deadlock over atomic energy control.

Most delegates speculated the U. S. President would aim his plea directly at Russia. Most voiced hope that the momentous address, coming as the Assembly prepared to recess its eighth session would pave the way for high-level big power talks designed to ease world tensions.

Eisenhower worked until after midnight in Bermuda with Britain's Prime Minister Churchill and France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault winding up the secret talks they hope will advance a big step towards peace.

The U. S. President, in his spare time, worked on his U. N. address. The 60-nation Assembly hall was readied for a packed audience of foreign diplomats, newsmen and tourists.

Eisenhower's U. N. visit was planned to last only about an hour and a half.

Flying in from Bermuda, he was due at La Guardia Field at 3:05 p.m. and 40 minutes later at U. N. headquarters to be greeted by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, who invited him to make the address.

The speech was scheduled at about 4 p.m. EST.

Hammarskjöld arranged a short reception at 4:45 p.m. A half hour later the presidential party was headed to whisk back to La Guardia and on to Washington.

The major U. S. radio and television networks will carry the speech. The Voice of America planned to beam it throughout the world.

Television films of the President's appearance will be flown to 15 countries in Western Europe, Latin America and the Far East.

Eisenhower's address comes shortly after the Assembly urged its Disarmament Commission to arms issue and called for big power talks to break the East-West deadlock. It was expected to suggest a fresh approach to the problem of international atomic energy control.

Observers speculated it might spell an end to the Baruch plan, proposed to the U. N. seven years ago by Eisenhower's old friend, Donned Spanish. This plan called for control by stages of atomic energy production throughout the world leading eventually to international ownership of all atom plants.

In their disagreement resolution last month the Western Big Three dropped any mention of the Baruch plan, which the Russians have denounced as a plot by Western imperialists to grab the Soviet plants. Western delegates have felt for some time that the Baruch plan went out of date with the birth of the hydrogen bomb.

Eisenhower was expected to appeal to Russia to be reasonable and agree to cooperate in preventing atomic war.

It had been hoped to wind up the Assembly session tonight. In view of the Eisenhower speech, adjournment probably will not come until tomorrow.

Education Board Hears Delegation; Grifton Vote Reported

Ask Improving Falkland Schools

By BOB BOYETTE Reflector Staff Writer

A 17 person delegation from the Falkland community came before the Pitt County Board of Education at the regular monthly meeting yesterday in the Tucker Building to ask for improvements of the schools in Falkland.

The delegation asked for enlargement of white school and improvement of the Negro school. The enlargement was asked on the basis of the expected increase in enrollment in the Falkland white school. There are 260 enrolled there now.

The board advised the delegation that plans are made already to improve the Falkland Negro school, using the bond money recently voted in the state-wide bond election. The delegation was told that one important thing to consider regarding the Negro school was the possibility of a new location.

The boundary between the Grimesland and Chilocho school district arose again yesterday and Superintendent of Schools D. H. Conley wrote a letter to the State Department of Public Instruction asking that a survey be made regarding the disputed attendance area.

The report of the recent special school tax election in the Chilocho district came before the board. It showed that the citizens of the annually a tax not to exceed 10 cents on the $100 valuation of all property, both real and personal, in order to provide supplemental funds with which to operate the schools at a higher standard, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both.

The report of the election must be canvassed by the Board of County Commissioners. It will be sent to the Commissioners at the next meeting, according to the county superintendent.

Resignations of five teachers from various schools in the county was approved by the board, as required now by state law. The board instructed a letter be sent to all principals regarding school athletics and their relation to the total program of public education.

The letter explains to the principals that the board has discussed the matter of a reasonable program of school athletics and wishes to give its views as to what constitutes such a program.

It states, "A reasonable program will provide for an extension of the fundamental aims of education, such as (a) development of mental and physical skills, (b) working together as a team, (c) how to meet competition with the rules of the game, (d) and how to creditably represent one's school on the playing court or athletic field."

The letter continues by saying that the program will promote wholesome relationships among the various schools and communities within the county, and will emphasize and develop high standards of sportsmanship and scholarship as pre-requisites for athletics.

The board explained that it agreed at the meeting yesterday that it will look with disfavor on any athletic practices that are not educationally sound. The following were especially noted in the letter:

- (1) Overloading the physical potential of the school by having too long a schedule and by taking long trips that keep students away from home too much and up late at night. (2) Reducing regular class time for practice and games. (3) Lowering academic standards to allow students to make the team. (4) Allowing inter-school athletic contests to become an occasion for creating ill-will between schools and communities. (5) Using players not temperamentally suited for the restrictions and competitions of the game. The letter ends by asking that the schools conform to the suggestions.

Only One Minor Change Effected In Customary Procedure

County Commissioners Re-Organize

F. F. Hendrix and J. T. Dupree were re-elected as chairman and vice chairman of the Pitt Board of County Commissioners at the regular monthly meeting yesterday.

As is usual with the December meeting of the board the re-organization of the board takes place. Hendrix re-appointed the same committees as in 1952 with one exception. He replaced Dupree, who asked to be relieved of the library committee.

The township list takers appointed by County Tax Supervisor Reginald Gray were approved by the board yesterday. They are: Warren Kinlaw for Ayden, Jim W. Reavis for Arthur, McAlvin Turner for Belvoir, R. N. Simmons for Bethel, Ralph McLawhorn for Chilocho, Charlie Tyre for Falkland.

L. P. Thomas for Farmville, A. C. Gay for Fountain, H. S. Ragdale and Harding Suggs for Greenville to be assisted by Mrs. A. E. Forrest. If needed, Mrs. Kenneth Price for Grifton, Grover Manning for Grimesland, J. B. Barnhill for Pactus, C. Whitchard for Stokes, and A. D. McLawhorn Jr. for Winterville.

A committee report was given on the visit to Beaufort County Home to see the operation there. The board decided to keep the matter of changes for the Pitt County Home open until more study could be made by the committee composed of Dupree and M. B. Hodges.

Robert E. Beddard of Winterville was granted an exemption from poll tax because of a disability.

H. G. Tripp was appointed constable of Fountain Township. The board approved authorization of expense by the sheriff's office to bring back three men that the Welfare Department had issued warrants for abandonment and non-support of their families.

The resignation of Margaret Wade as Negro Assistant Home Agent was accepted by the board. A contribution of $250 to the Pitt County TB. Association was approved by the board. The board approved inventories to be assessed at 33 and one-third percent of the true value as reported by the State and Federal Income Tax and Tax Supervisor Gray was instructed to check with the N. C. Department of Revenue to insure that inventories are listed at correct value.

The schedules of values by the tax supervisor were approved and reports by the various departments of the county were approved by the board. A delegation from Black Jack community came before the board complaining about condemnation notices placed on privies in that community by the Health Department. The board asked that representatives from the Health Department come to explain the notices. After this explanation regarding public health was made, the delegation seemed to have their questions answered.

'Final Offer' For Korea Peace Meeting Is Rejected By Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies today laid on the line a "final offer" for a Korean peace conference but the Communists rejected it outright in a scornful propaganda blast the chief U. S. delegate termed "garbage."

The Red action made academic a potential Allied problem—South Korea's refusal to accept part of the U. S. proposal.

South Korea's delegate refused to attend the meeting as U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean delivered the new plan.

Dean's offer nailed down loose ends of previous Allied proposals and suggestions. "I told them (the Reds) this was it and we would stand on it," Dean told newsmen "this is our final offer."

The Communists, reading from a 16-page prepared statement, termed Dean's offering "absurd and ridiculous." An Allied spokesman said the Red tirade "was the roughest we have heard here."

Dean said: "It is very obvious that they have stopped negotiating."

He told the newsmen there is an implied time limit to his proposal but said: "We still stay here for what we consider a reasonable time." He gave no indication how long that might be.

The diplomats meet again Wednesday (9 p.m. EST). Meanwhile, 30 more South Korean prisoners of war refused to return home after talking with officers of their homeland.

Terms of the new U. S. proposal on the peace conference include: 1. Russia could sit in without being labeled a belligerent on either side or a neutral but would insist they vote with the Communist side. 2. "Some or all" of the non-belligerent countries who have "current" experience in Korea could attend as "neutrals" without voting rights. They could talk on subjects under debate but could not bring up subjects. These could include India, Sweden, Switzerland, Pakistan and Chile and Communist satellite Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The meeting would open at Geneva within 28 to 42 days after the present sessions end. Dean has indicated he might accept another site—but not Panmunjom.

4. Sessions would be open to the press except on agreement by both sides.

The South Korean government issued a statement saying it would not accept "neutrals" at the peace conference. The South Koreans object strongly to India which they call "pro-Communist."

Despite the trouble with aging South Korean President Syngman Rhee, Dean said he was "confident that we would be able to iron out our differences."

However, Dean said his difference with Rhee seemed academic in the light of the Red rejection.

Airline Passenger Sets Globe-Girdling Record

CHICAGO (AP)—A young brunette flew into Chicago early today to break by eight hours the record time for rounding the world as a commercial air lines passenger.

"It was the best weekend trip I ever had," said pretty Pamela Martin as she stepped from a United Air Lines plane at Chicago's Midway airport. She started her trip there at noon Friday.

She had covered the route in 90 hours and 59 minutes. She had only 10 hours sleep along the way but told waiting newsmen she felt "fresh as a daisy."

The 23-year-old advertising copywriter-artist said she was "too excited to sleep much" and she looks forward to making the trip again—but with this difference: Next time she will take time out "to see those cities."

For the benefit of news photographers, she kissed the pilot of the UAL DC6B which made up 34 minutes on the final leg of the flight from Denver to Chicago. Are you married? a reporter asked Capt. W. F. White.

"I was," was his lugubrious reply. Pamela, met by J. Stuart Rochford, general manager of Rochford Happiness Tours which picked up the $1,700-plus-taxes tab for her trip, whisked Miss Martin to a Loop hotel for a welcome breakfast and that long-for shower she has been promising herself since Sunday.

The record Miss Martin broke was something over 90 hours, set by Maj. Horace Boren, an official of Braniff Airlines.

The plane was 20 minutes late out of Denver, due to a snowstorm but Capt. White said he "revved it up" on the home stretch. He beat the scheduled 7:25 a.m. arrival time by 14 minutes, with the aid of a tailwind.

Her trip began at Midway at 12:12 p.m. last Friday and took her to London, Rome, Cairo, Karachi, Rangoon, Manila, Okinawa and Tokyo. Her only complaint was that it was "just a series of airports." Next time, she vowed, she'll take "time out to see the cities."

Girls Unit VFW Initiates Members

The Junior Girls Unit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary, Post 7032, held its first meeting since the unit was installed in November, on Friday, December 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Phillips. The unit is the first one in the state of North Carolina.

Rachel Phillips, president, presided, and the opening prayer was given by chaplain Linda Joyner.

Four members were initiated, namely: Jo Anne Parks, Rebecca Parks, Jean Christopher and Patsy Moore. There are currently 23 members of the organization which is composed of daughters and sisters of veterans of foreign wars, between the ages of 5 and 18. Those desiring to become a member of the Junior Girls Unit should contact Miss Rachel Phillips, unit president. Three officers accepted their oath of obligation for their respective duties.

The unit will sponsor one child at the annual VFW children's Christmas party, and will help with the packing of the stockings. The unit was extended an invitation to help decorate the Christmas tree on December 17.

Plans were made to have one business and one social meeting each month, to be held on every first and third Thursday afternoon at 5:00 p.m. at the VFW post home.

Twelve unit members and two council members of the sponsoring organization were present.

Following the closing prayer by the chaplain, refreshments were served by the president's mother, Mrs. Bill Phillips.

Mrs. Marshburn Is Guest Speaker For Clio Club
The Clio Book Club was graciously entertained on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 1, at the home of Mrs. Dink James on East Ninth St.

Special guests for the afternoon, Mesdames Owen Marshburn, John Clark Sr., M. P. Bailey, R. G. Pridmore and T. B. Fullilove, were welcomed by the vice-president, Miss Agnes Fullilove.

Under new business, the club voted to buy a TB bond and to take a Christmas project of some kind. Members were also urged to support the Garden Club demonstration and lecture.

Miss Fullilove then turned the meeting over to Mrs. James who introduced the speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Owen Marshburn. Mrs. Marshburn, in her charming and natural manner, gave a most glowing report on her trip to Honolulu. She gave an interesting description of the islands visited and passed beautiful pictures and souvenirs to help bring alive the scenic beauty of the trip. She also told of the many beautiful flowers on the islands and of the friendly people.

From a beautifully appointed table, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. John Clark, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

Books were exchanged and the club adjourned.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
 Miss Norma B. Craven, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, who is retiring in Raub, Malay Peninsula, after 45 years of service as a missionary of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, Methodist Church, has been honored by the British Government with membership in the Order of the British Empire. Miss Craven has been an educator, most recently on the staff of the Anglo-Chinese School in Ipoh. She is the second American Methodist missionary to receive this honor, the first being Miss Mabel Marsh, educator, of Kansas and Kuala Lumpur, Malaya.

"Christmas is a season that should be celebrated by the whole family and within the home itself," says Dr. Edward D. Staples, director of the Department of the Christian Family, of the General Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Nashville, Tenn. And to promote that observance within the home, Dr. Staples has prepared a leaflet containing a family Christmas worship service that can be conducted by the head of the house, plus a Christmas Eve litany, and suggestions for the lighting of the Christmas candles with a formal religious service. This is the eighth year that Dr. Staples has emphasized such home celebrations, and it is estimated that his suggestions have been followed by some 400,000 or more families in recent years.

Two women in Assam—"forgotten country in the extreme northeast of India"—are reported by Missionary educator Frank C. Laubach as having contributed much to his team's work in producing phonetic characters for Assam's language and in teaching illiterates to read. "One is Mrs. O. L. Swanson, for many years a missionary," says Dr. Laubach. "She knows the language at least as well as the professors, and knows villagers' vocabulary better than the professors. It was her influence that led the government to invite us to Assam. The other is Miss Julia Rose, who came a long way down from the tribal country to get help in making lessons in one of the Naga languages called Kabui Naga. These are the most primitive people in India. Mrs. Swanson had translated our Assam book into Assamese at prodigious labor before we arrived."

Tax Case Goes Into Seventh Day

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The federal government today pressed its case against Keith M. Beatty in an effort to prove the Charlotte businessman evaded more than $250,000 in income taxes during the years 1945-46-47.

The lengthy trial is in its seventh day. Judge Wilson Warlick ordered night sessions to begin tonight in Federal District Court here.

E. M. (Eb) Beatty, brother of the defendant who is serving a 3-year sentence on tax fraud charges; T. R. Parlier, internal revenue officer from Greensboro, and nearly 30 cab drivers testified yesterday.

Testimony showed that Beatty and the Beatty Service Co., a taxicab firm, paid income taxes totaling $146,653.15 during the three years. Beatty is charged with evading taxes.

E. M. Beatty said cabs registered under the name of C. A. Hayworth were owned by Keith M. Beatty, but less than 26 were in operation.

Tax returns of the late W. J. Beatty, Keith Beatty's father, also were introduced. District Attorney James M. Bailey said they would help in the government's attempt to show that Keith Beatty alone received income from the company.

Resumes Public Probing Into Espionage Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) resumes public hearings today in an avowed effort to show there has been espionage on radar secrets at the Army Signal Corps laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a news conference Nov. 13 an Army inquiry had turned up no evidence of successful spying at Ft. Monmouth in recent years. He said he thought there had been some several years ago.

McCarthy has said the Ft. Monmouth hearings in the Senate investigations subcommittee he heads will show "what espionage means." He has said one woman questioned

Map, from German foreign office files, is dated Sept. 28, 1939, and purportedly has signatures of Stalin and Joachim von Ribbentrop, then German foreign minister. It is said to be part of agreement putting the Baltic states in the Russian sphere. Mr. Hoover said that only a "cataclysm" could bring freedom to the Baltic nations.

Found His Son In Trunk Of Auto

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—George Renfro, who came here yesterday hunting a son he hadn't seen in two weeks, found him in the trunk of an auto, shot to death.

The victim was William Delmer Renfro, 26-year-old unemployed Madison County farmer. Police said after the back of Renfro's head was torn away by a shotgun blast, the body was stuffed in the victim's own car.

The elder Renfro made the discovery after visiting a grocery to check on the son's whereabouts. When he came out of the store, he noticed the auto parked on the street.

Police said an acquaintance of Renfro's son had tipped the father to the car's whereabouts.

The murder had police baffled today. "We're working on this case without any clues," commented Lt. Stanley Hadley.

Two Pupils

ELK PRAIRIE, Ore. (AP)—Schoolmaster Clyde Babcock, who hasn't had anybody to teach, finally has enrolled two pupils at Elk Prairie School.

Babcock, who gets an annual salary of $3,425 has been without students since school opened last September in this remote western Oregon community.

The families of the children he taught last year had moved away temporarily because work ran out in the nearby strawberry fields.

While waiting for students to show up, Babcock spent his time improving the building and working on the school flower garden.

Drew Pearson To Testify In Grand Jury Probing

CHARLOTTE (AP)—With newspaper columnist Drew Pearson as the main witness a grand jury investigation of charges of corruption in the Charlotte Police Department opened today.

The situation was touched off several weeks ago after Pearson, in a nation-wide broadcast, said certain men (in Charlotte) "who fear for their lives" could contribute "valuable information" to the Police Study Committee here.

Later he said he had information that a big-time "gambling racket with police payoffs" existed here.

Pearson agreed last week to attend the investigation as a voluntary witness but was subpoenaed.

Many high-ranking city officials are among the witnesses scheduled to appear.

The court suspended judgment on condition that Outlaw pay $50 fine, costs deducted, and remain of good behavior for a year.

Judge Whedbee gave Lewis N. Smith of Kinston 30 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The fireworks were exploded near the armory during a dance last Saturday night, it was testified.

Economy's Bigness

By ELMER ROESSNER
Both the growth and the bigness of the American economy are staggering. Most of us are so close to the economy—in fact, we are part of it—that we do not realize how fast it is growing and how enormous it's become until someone takes time out for a perspective.

Such as Herbert R. Silverman, New York financier. He pointed out to the American Management Association the other day that the dollar volume of business transacted per American firm had increased almost 250 per cent since 1940. Part, of course, is due to inflation, but a mighty big chunk of it stems from the fact that the average store is selling more things to more people more often.

Take the Department of Commerce. Its Office of Business Economics has been studying the purchases of equipment by private business and found that the total rose from $5,568,000,000 in 1929 to $22,046,000,000 last year. Again, inflation has to be reckoned with. The OBE economists reckoned, and they came up with this fact: If all the approximately $5.5 billion worth of equipment bought in 1929 had been purchased with 1947 dollars, it would have cost $7,956,000,000 and in 1952 its cost would have been $17,417,000,000. So their physical volume was more than double. And in those same constant dollars, purchases of electrical machinery were $529,000,000 in 1929 and $2,463,000,000 in 1952—more than quadruple.

Take Gilbert Burck and Sanford S. Parker. Writing in the December Fortune, they analyze the luxury market in America. They start out with the assumption that family units with less than $4,000 a year buy only necessities—though many of the necessities today were luxuries in 1933—or day before yesterday. Then Burck and Parker calculate that as incomes rise over $4,000 a year, a rising share of the available luxuries, starting with families earning $5,000, who may have $400 for luxuries, and going on up to families with incomes of $100,000 and up after taxes, who spend $23,700 on necessities and have the rest for luxuries. The formula is a bit complicated—and we're not sure it doesn't step outside at the ten-yard line—but touches down the point that the amount available for luxury spending in the U.S.A. is $34 billion a year—a sum equal to the total national income of the United Kingdom. During the next depression bums will lean out the windows of their caddies and ask, "Buddy, can you spare $99.50?"

REVOLVING CREDIT PLAN
A Philadelphia department store is trying out a new credit plan. Customers who qualify are permitted to charge up to agreed-upon amounts, with 24 months to pay and a credit charge of 1 per cent a month on unpaid balances. If the outstanding balance is from $20 to $60, the monthly payment is $5. Payments increase in size with balances, up to the point at which the customer owing between $90 and $1,000 pays $45 a month.

Qualified customers are issued a credit card, which is to be shown each time a purchase is made. Advantage of the plan, from the store's viewpoint, is that it encourages add-on charges. FORMING TRADE ASSOCIATION
Donald R. Brann, who considers himself a pioneer in the do-it-yourself market, is now organizing the American How-To Council, a trade association limited to established manufacturers of products in the D-I-Y market. Mr. Brann, of the Pleasantville, N.Y., Branns, became interested in D-I-Y back in the thirties when his wife wanted valances. Instead of asking, like many of us husbands, "What in blazes are valances?" Mr. Brann went out and made patterns on butchers' paper, and cut valances out of plywood. He loaned the patterns to neighbors, then decided to sell them and patterns for lots of other things that can be dood-by-oneself. Now he is one of the fellows that Burck and Parker, a few paragraphs back, have in mind.

Off-Street Parking Again Considered

It is encouraging to Greenville citizens, and to those of other communities who come to Greenville on business or pleasure, to see the City Council is once more giving consideration to the problem of off-street parking.

Already approved is a plan for enlarging the parking area between the Municipal building and the fire station. While this additional space will be designated for parking of city employees, it should do a little to make more parking space available on the streets in the vicinity of the municipal building.

Also under consideration by the council is the possibility of utilizing a portion of the property around Sheppard Memorial library for off-street parking. The matter, of course, must be worked out between the Board of Trustees of the library and the city council. If part of the library property is converted into a public parking lot, it would mean doing away with a portion of the lawn which now surrounds the library.

At the same time, it would make available much-needed additional parking space which could be used by library patrons, and also by people who visit the business section of Greenville.

The parking problem has been one that has faced Greenville for several years just as it has most other small and large cities. It is fairly well agreed that off-street parking is the only practical long-term answer.

Every bit of off-street parking space which can be acquired will help the city's acute parking problem a little. It could be fine if several large parking lots could be made available immediately, but since that is next to impossible, concentration on small off-street parking spaces will bring the city that much closer to the answer to its problem.

We hope the City Council will continue its study of the city's parking problem, and will be successful in making more off-street parking available for Greenville's business section.

Not Just A Fight For Newspapers

In its meeting in Greenville last week-end the Eastern North Carolina Press Association renewed its pledge to work for the repeal of the secrecy provision enacted by the state General Assembly during the 1953 session.

By its action, the General Assembly permitted a veil of secrecy to be lowered over the powerful and important appropriations committee which heretofore had remained open to the public at all times as had all other committees of the General Assembly.

Some people may think the newspapers of the state are making a mountain out of a mole hill over this question. Yet, fundamentally, it is not a fight of the newspapers any more than it is the fight of all the people of the state who wish to keep government at all levels open to public scrutiny at all times.

When government at any level goes behind closed doors, away from the view of the people it governs, it immediately infringes upon the inherent right of the people to know what goes on in the government which in the final analysis belongs to them—not to elected officials. It is therefore, important that the citizens in every community of the state exercise every effort and every precaution to see that all government activities are kept in the open where they are in full view.

The newspapers are leading the struggle in North Carolina to keep all avenues of government activities open to public view. But it is not the fight of newspapers alone. It is of the utmost importance to every citizen that his "right to know" is not taken away by officials on any level.

If this right which has been such a great factor in American liberty and American democratic government is to be preserved, individual citizens as well as the press of North Carolina and other states must join in the effort to thwart any move to infringe upon this freedom, wherever it may arise.

Returning To Spiritual Aspects Of Christmas

As the Christmas season approaches, there will be throughout Pitt County many programs reminding the people of the true spirit of Christmas.

In practically every community of the county in the next few weeks, there will be Christmas programs sponsored by churches, schools and other organizations. It is part of the spiritual side of the Christmas season which to a large extent has lost ground to more worldly interpretations of the Christmas season.

Those people of Pitt County who avail themselves to the opportunity of attending or participating in these Christmas programs will be enriching their own lives, and increasing their appreciation and enjoyment of the Christmas season.

Those who renew the emphasis they place on the spiritual aspects of the Christmas season will find the season much more meaningful than those who do not.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
OUT OF A KINDLY HEART
After spending my life with educated people, I must confess that to me, nothing is more disconcerting than to realize how seldom people try to put into operation the theories they believe.

For instance, it has been my observation that the people who talk most about the necessity for greater social consciousness can sometimes be the meanest little 2x4's in personal dealings that one could encounter. Watch out for the people who are always talking about the necessity for sportsmanship. Let such a person get to a position where he is in danger of losing money or losing face or losing power and he will often turn right about and show himself to be the poorest sport under heaven.

To say these things is not to be cynical—or rather it is to be cynical about one class of people, namely, the theorists. I have said that people of good theory often fall down in practice. It is also true—inspiringly so—that many people who would not know the meaning of the term "social consciousness" will nevertheless sacrifice, scruple, take the clothes off their own backs, and the food off their own tables to see that somebody who's up against it gets a better deal. Personally, I am all through with theorists, but the longer I live the more faith do I have in the common people who do good only out of a kindly heart.

Unheralded Court Decision

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court has recently ruled in practical and violent manner the Truman-Clark revival of the theory that the three branches of the Government are separate, independent and sometimes noncooperative bodies. It has rebuked and repudiated the White House and Congress in the contest between Washington and the states for control of vast natural resources.

The decision was handed down in the famous and extremely important natural gas case. Climaxing years of legislative and political debate, the court held that the Federal Power Commission does enjoy regulatory authority over independent producers' gathering and marketing of this fuel, which has become a widely used source of heat and energy.

It virtually declared that this growing industry is a public utility, and subject to Federal jurisdiction over production, transportation, distribution, rates, profits and investments. Despite its technical nature, it is one of the most far-reaching decisions in this field in many years, especially if it is applied in future litigation involving coal, water power and application of atomic energy to industrial use.

NO COMMENT FROM IKE—The anti-states rights attitude, particularly if it governs in the school segregation case now under consideration, can plunge the court—or its philosophy—into the 1954 and 1956 campaigns as it has not been so involved since F.D.R.'s court-packing proposal.

Although President Eisenhower has not commented on the ruling, as Roosevelt and Truman were wont to do when judicial action irritated them, the natural gas decision his straight at his campaign pledges and general viewpoint on Federal versus state authority.

He has declared for all possible decentralization of power in favor of the states, local communities and private enterprise.

GOVERNMENT GETTING OUT OF ACTIVITIES
In the face of the high tribunal's holding that the Federal Government had a "paramount interest" in the old tidelands off the Pacific and Gulf coasts, Eisenhower declared in favor of turning these properties over to the states. On May 22, only four months after inauguration, he signed a bill to that effect which Congress passed on his recommendation.

In accord with Ike's "time for a change" viewpoint, as well as his preference for state and private interests, Washington has been divesting itself of activities accumulated during the New Deal-Fair Deal era. The Government has sold the Mississippi River barge line and placed synthetic rubber plants on the market. It has disposed of the Ickes rum and sugar plant in the Virgin Islands, and wants offers for Bluebeard's Castle, which Ickes remade into a non-paying hotel.

Secretary McKay has angered Morse-Humphrey "liberals" by preferring private to public construction of a hydroelectric system based on Hell's Canyon. He has announced that he will favor private or local development of similar projects. Ike himself described TVA as "creeping socialism."

DRAMATIZES DISAGREEMENT—But the natural gas reversal dramatizes the Supreme Court-White House disagreement most violently, and for the first time since inauguration. Favoring Federal control, Truman reorganized the FPC so that the majority would assume legally questionable authority over gathering and marketing of the product.

Although a voluble Democrat, Senator Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma millionaire oil-gas magnate, sponsored a bill to block Federal regulation. It was passed by Congress but vetoed by Truman. His commission, and apparently with Truman's acquiescence, failed to exercise any regulatory power. Whereas the veto pleased clamorous urban consumers, the commission's inaction satisfied wealthy oil-gas Democrats in the South, Southwest and Far West.

ANOTHER JUMBLE—But they disappointed Truman by supporting and contributing heavily to Ike's candidacy. Eisenhower promptly named as FPC chairman, Jerome K. Kuykendall who favored state and private interests in these disputes. Now, the preponderant New Deal court has ruled against the FPC, an independent agency, against Congress and against the White House.

What a politico-economic-judicial mess!

Somebody Told Me

About Jay, The Strange Pet

The other day I ran into Fred Sutton with the Carolina Dairies, who gave me an animal story about a Pitt County farmer by the name of Ola Kittrell. The Kittrell farm is located on the 14th Street Extension, sometimes known as Red Clay Hill.

Fred was at Ola's place to buy some turkeys and they were out in the yard discussing the matter. All of a sudden as the conversation was in progress a Blue Jay lit on Ola's shoulder. Fred says, "I have never been as flabbergasted in my life."

Then Ola told Fred the story of Jay, as the Kittrells call him. Ola acquired the bird when he was young, took him into his house and fed him worms. Consequently, Jay became Ola's pet. The bird has his freedom, but above that loyalty to his master. He stays near home and is devoted to the Kittrells.

As Fred and Ola were talking, Ola was eating pecans. "You wouldn't think that a bird would take food from a person's mouth, would you?" Ola asked.

"I certainly wouldn't," Fred confessed.

"Watch this," Ola said, placing a piece of nut between his teeth. Jay promptly pecked it away and Fred stood awed.

Mrs. Kittrell told a story that practically qualifies the bird for a job with the FBI. One day Jay came to the front door and raised a tremendous racket. Mrs. Kittrell went to the door and when she did Jay flew in the opposite direction. He came back, and again flew in the same direction.

Mrs. Kittrell then noticed a man crossing a field in that direction, but thought nothing of it.

When Ola came home that night Mrs. Kittrell told him of Jay's strange behavior. The next day the newspaper revealed that an escaped convict had been in that area.

So the story is a fantastic coincidence? Even at that, you have to admit that there's at least one Blue Jay who has more sense than many humans display.

The development of this bird's intelligence makes me wonder what can be done with animals if we raise them from infancy. It's an interesting subject that Ola Kittrell could probably write a book about.

And I thank Fred.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

POLITICAL ADVICE
(Washington Daily News)
Senator Alton Lennon has been a busy man in recent months making speeches over the state. He has appeared before many civic clubs and fraternal organizations.

And he probably has attended as many meetings as any man in the state recently.

On the other hand Kerr Scott, former governor who is expected to run, has not let any grass grow under his feet. He has written many letters, made visits over the state, and he still is in the process of feeling out "the voters."

Now smart politicians come alone and tell Mr. Lennon that he is not conducting his campaign in a manner designed to win the nomination. They point out that Mr. Lennon is speaking before the very groups which are already on his side, thereby neglecting the mass of voters in the rural areas which normally one expects to support Mr. Scott.

So they are urging Mr. Lennon to hit the dirt trail and the "Scott road" trail, talk with the grass roots voters, the farmers, the country store voters, and the group of voters normally expected to vote for Mr. Scott.

Of course there is a lot of logic in that thought. Mr. Scott is already well known to all people of North Carolina. And most North Carolinians are either for him or against him. There are very few neutral voters in the state where Kerr Scott is concerned.

But from a practical standpoint, we can assume that Mr. Scott needs to pay more attention to the civic club vote, the fraternal organization strength, and the city voters as much as Mr. Lennon needs to make friends with the rural voters.

After all a vote is a vote, regardless of who casts it. A dirt farmer's vote counts just as much as does the vote of the biggest politician in a county.

At this point in the campaign it is almost safe to assume that Mr. Scott's strength will come from the rural voters and the small town electorate. These groups apparently will stand by him for any office he wishes to seek.

On the other hand the city voters are expected to give a majority to Mr. Lennon. And in practical politics a candidate wants to pull voters away from the other candidate. In this instance Mr. Lennon is in a very unusual position of not being known yet by the voters of either category. So not only must he seek to get rural support for his candidacy, but he must whip up enthusiasm behind the groups normally expected to support him. And right now he seems to be making a determined effort to do that.

Later, it is expected that he will get into the grass roots sections more and more. And at the same time Mr. Scott will come into the towns and cities more and more, making more appearances before civic and fraternal groups.

And from the manner in which the campaign is shaping up right now, it promises to be a humdrum race.

Data Wanted On Highway Weight Loads Of Vehicles

By LYNN NISBET
WANTED — An appropriate item in the want ad sections of North Carolina newspapers might read something like this: "Wanted—Authoritative data on the effect of the weight loads of motor vehicles upon the highways."

The truth is that, despite a lot of publicity sponsored by railroads and motor carrier organizations, and in face of reams of statistical data put out by State and Federal agencies, there is so far no conclusive evidence of what the operation of big motor trucks cost the public or how much of the total cost the trucks pay in gasoline and franchise taxes.

The railroads have a catchphrase slogan to the effect that "only a railroad has its own roadbed." The inference is clear that the railroads exclusively provide and maintain their own tracks while the motor trucks participate in use of the highways which have been built and maintained by tax money collected from all highway users. Further argument is that the railroads pay local ad valorem taxes on rights of way and tracks, while highways pay no taxes to the communities which they traverse.

NOT FREE — On the face of the picture thus presented the railroads have all the advantage, and the highway trucks are cast in the role of moochers upon the public bounty. More thorough study of the situation puts a different look on the picture. While it may be true that the railroads maintain their own roadbeds and pay taxes upon them, there are not many miles of railroad track in North Carolina that was not originally made possible by State or local bonds or tax exemptions approximating advantages now accorded highways. The fact that progressing economy calls for different modes of transportation should not blind North Carolina taxpayers to the fact they are still paying for some of the railroads presently operated by the big companies. The railroads in this state have profited greatly through perhaps to less degree than some of the big transcontinental lines by handouts from the public treasury.

BURDEN — Neither should the present generation of North Carolina taxpayers overlook the fact they are currently subsidizing highway motor truck operations and airways. The railroads perhaps never could have been developed without public tax subsidy. The fact they do not need it is a tribute to the successful private management of the railroads during the past three quarters of a century. The more or less subsidy now accorded motor trucks and airplanes is greater in dollar and cents value but not much higher percentage-wise than the earlier subsidies of the railroads. In fact, it is probably less.

What many people are prone to overlook in consideration of these problems is that the railroad industry is just about 100 years old, the motor-truck industry about 25 and the airplane industry as a prime transportation factor less than 15.

What part of the burden of developing these several phases of transport should be borne by the public at large and what part by the industries themselves is still a moot question.

HEAVY — There seems no doubt, on basis of information provided by the several competive industries and government agencies, that as of now the public is contributing a much larger share of the cost of motor truck operations than of either rails or air. Apparently railroads, although less than 100 years old, are too old; and air transport is too young, to justify equitable comparison with motor vehicles operating on the ground.

For that reason, and because as of now the motor lines seem to be costing more in the way of both direct and indirect subsidy, it is pertinent to consider some of the elements in present statutes relating to their activities.

WEIGHTS — The total weights permissible to be hauled by trucks have been increasingly upped by successive General Assemblies, but the total weights are not so important as the axle weights—a fact admitted by all parties to the controversy. Maximum allowable axle weights have gone up in every recent legislative session. When they were increased in 1949 and 1951 it was rather openly charged that Scott influence obtained the increases in return for truck-operator and road-contractor support for the $200 million secondary road bond issue.

Whatever merit that argument might have had lost its effectiveness when the first Unstead legislature of 1953 granted a thousand-pound tolerance, which had the effect of increasing axle weights from a maximum of 18,000 pounds to a total of 19,000 pounds before penalties for overweight could be invoked.

The railroads contend that since they are now paying for full maintenance of their roadbeds, they are being discriminated against through hidden subsidies to the motor truck operators. The truck-

Politics Need A Good Comedian

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Politics always has produced some of the nation's greatest unconscious comedians.

But Henny Youngman, "The Comic's Comic," has a new idea. On the theory that a good pro can always beat an amateur, he thinks it's time to bring a few conscious career comedians into government.

"The people can't help but benefit," he said, "and they'll at least get something new to laugh at."

"What I have in mind is that these comedians will be something like the King's Jester in the old days. When the regular government jokers—or the appointed diplomats—get their skulls all heated up in debate, you call a 15-minute break and bring in a professional comic to cool both sides off."

"Any comic who can't make a crowd laugh in 15 minutes is in the wrong business—or maybe needs a couple of new writers. Anyway, the diplomats get a few laughs while they are resting their brains during this time out, and maybe when they start arguing again they'll make more sense because they've got less steam in their heads."

Youngman, who has originated so many jokes that even Milton Berle can't remember them all, feels that staff government comedians would be particularly useful right now in the United Nations and to settle major labor disputes.

"Look how many strikes you might prevent," he said, "if the guys barking at each other across a table would stop and share a belly laugh."

Henn, who says he hasn't bothered to copyright his idea, offered to guinea pig the experiment himself and become the first U.S. federal government comedian, "provided the pay is right, and naturally I get a free hand in picking my staff—and top billing, of course.

"I even got a few hundred jokes ready. No, I won't give you any samples. I don't want to trip my lid."

"Like most professional comedians today," he said, "Brooklyn's gift to the world of japey, feels the nation has let a lot of moss cover its funnybone in recent years."

"People are hungry for a chance to laugh," he said, "but now they feel they have to have a reason. That's why practical jokes are coming back. People get so they resent them. Now they enjoy a practical joke again as long as it is really funny, and not cruel."

Are practical jokes every-thing but cruel?
"Why, sure," said Henny. "If you want to cobweb a guy, really mix him up, you just send him a telegram saying, 'Ignore first wire.'"

"Now, take another example. Suppose you go through a toll bridge. Well, you pay for the guy in the car behind you. He'll drive 50 miles trying to find out who you are and why you paid for him."

Henny said that in his vaudeville days a prank was to sneak into another performer's room, fill his bathtub with hot water and pour in several packages of Jello. "I'd take him days to get all that Jello out of the tub," recalled Henny, and added reflectively: "If times were tough, he might even decide to eat it."

Henny's other favorite gag was to have a friend at a nearby restaurant summoned to the phone and then put by his plate a printed card saying, "The management requests that you please leave quietly."

Well, fellow voters, it's up to you. If you want a paid practical joker in government, just wire your Congressman. But will he want any professional competition?

Postmaster Urges Early Mailing And Correct Addresses For Yule Season

By BOB BOYETTE
Reflector Staff Writer
"Please address your Christmas mail properly," is the urgent plea of Greenville Postmaster J. Knott Proctor as he looks toward the Christmas rush season.

Pointing out that improperly addressed mail presents the biggest problem encountered by the mail personnel, Proctor said that if the letter, card, or package is addressed properly it can be delivered.

The postmaster explained that people leave off the street address and use nicknames a lot on Christmas items. He said that after the holidays there are usually hundreds of pieces of mail that are not delivered because failure to address properly.

Proctor stated that children are the great offenders of the nickname usage. He said that if a letter is addressed to "Skinny Jones," at a certain street address the postal people leave it there but if it is "Skinny Jones, Greenville, N.C." it just goes into the unknown box because no one has the slightest idea where to send it.

Picking Up
"The mail is picking up somewhat," Proctor said, "with more Christmas cards seen today (Monday) than before. I would estimate it has picked up ten to 15 percent." The big rush is expected to begin about the 17th of the month continuing until Christmas. As usual there will be extra help hired to counteract this rush. Plans call for ten boys to help in the post office and the city routes and six more to help on the rural routes.

"We usually hire high school and college boys who need the job," he said, "with one boy standing in the post office lobby to receive the mail and two others helping with the parcel post truck."

The other seven boys for the city are used by the city carriers and the six by the rural carriers in their big rush period.

The postmaster said that the postal employees are used as many hours as needed to insure delivery prior to Christmas.

Letter To Schools
Proctor has prepared a letter and sent it to the schools in the city urging the principals to get the children to cooperate during the holiday rush period.

The letter points out that in the past holiday seasons students have been called on to help the post office by mailing early and asking their parents, friends and relatives to do likewise.

"Do your mailing early," the letter continues, "by mailing Christmas cards and parcels to distant places in excess of 150 miles prior to December 10. Those going to local addresses by December 15.

The rates on Christmas cards are two cents for unsealed cards without a message written on the inside. If you seal the cards you will have to put a three cent stamp to mail them.

"In addressing them be sure to use a complete address which means using the street name and house number for city addresses and route number and box number for rural addresses. Only in this way can you be sure of delivery. In many instances we do not know the person you are sending a card to and unless it is addressed completely we cannot deliver it. Put your name and address in the upper left hand corner on all three cent cards and they will be returned in the event they cannot be delivered. Regular two cent cards are not returnable.

"Poorly prepared parcels often result your gifts being broken or lost and consequently someone is disappointed on Christmas day."

The letter also asks that people bringing Christmas cards to the Post Office for mailing will greatly assist the postal employees if they are in two bundles—one for local city cards and one for out-of-town cards.

The postmaster said that many people are violators of where to put the stamp. In his letter he urges that the stamps are placed in the upper right hand corner. He pointed out that he had seen the stamp placed all over the envelope thus making the postal machine miss the stamp causing the card not to be delivered.

Proctor concluded the letter to the students by saying, "We know that the volume of Christmas mail will be heavier this year than ever before and so it is most urgent that we all work together if we are to be successful."

Grisly Search For Head Of Murdered Schoolgirl

PAMPLICO, S. C. (AP)—A grisly search for the head of a Pamplico schoolgirl and her missing companion was intensified here today.

The decapitated body of Betty Clair Cain, 15-year-old Pamplico High School sophomore, was discovered by officers in a shallow grave beside the Pee Dee River some two miles from here early last night.

Dragging operations started this morning at a fish pond about two miles from where the girl's body was found. Sgt. Roy Williams of the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division said a bloody undershirt found in a tobacco barn near the pond led officers to believe the girl's head and possibly the body of Harvey Allen, 22, of Latta, the girl's companion, may be in the water.

The shallow grave was uncovered about 6 p. m. Part of the girl's undergarments were gone and a coat she was wearing when she left home about 7:30 p. m. Sunday night was missing. Sgt. Williams said a heavy club believed used in the slaying was near the grave.

Dr. John R. Clausen examined the girl's body last night but refused to release his findings.

Three men were picked up for questioning. Williams remarked that "our biggest job is to find the other body or the other man."

The couple left the girl's home on a date Sunday about 7:30 p. m. Allen's bloodstained car was found early yesterday parked behind a Negro church near here.

Part of Allen's clothing was found in the car. In the trunk officers found blood and bits of hair identified as Miss Cain's.

Raleigh Cain, a drug store clerk, identified the body of his daughter. The girl's mother and a sister are the other survivors.

Plan Activating New Air Group

RALEIGH (AP)—Plans for activating the 123rd Air Base Group—a new Air National Guard unit at Charlotte, Jan. 1 were announced yesterday by State Adj. Gen. John Hall Manning.

Manning said the new group will be the housekeeping unit for the 123rd Air Guard Wing which has squadrons in North Carolina, West Virginia and Kentucky. Heretofore, the Air Base has been assigned to Kentucky.

The new unit will include a headquarters, communications squadron, air police squadron, food service squadron and installations squadron.

Allen is the son of Romie C. Allen. He was graduated from Latta High School in 1950 where he was the president of the student body and a football player.

Windows in the car were broken but no glass was found. Officers said this indicated the attack may have occurred at another spot.

Long Terms For Burglary Count

HALIFAX, N. C. (AP)—Walter Slowe and Robert (Buddy) Mason, Negroes of Baltimore, Md., faced prison terms totaling 20-30 years today after they pleaded guilty yesterday to second degree burglary and conspiracy.

The charges grew out of the $8,000 robbery of a storekeeper near Enfield last Dec. 16. Superior Court Judge Joseph W. Parker passed sentence on the pair. Slowe and Mason had staged a long fight against extradition from Maryland.

Three men already are serving prison sentences in connection with the case: Herbert Harmantz and William H. Kittrell of Baltimore and DeQuincy Cotten of Enfield.

Police said two men entered the home of Maceo Sanders the night of Dec. 16 while Sanders was away, tied up his wife and stole a safe containing nearly $8,000.

Safe And Sane Yuletide Means More To Come

AP Newsfeatures
You can enjoy your Christmas to the fullest if you'll just observe a few safety precautions, advises the National Safety Council. Here are their suggestions to help make your Yuletide safer and saner:

1. If you plan a home party and want to use candles on your table, be sure that the center-piece is not made of Christmas greens. These become very dry in a hot room and may be ignited quickly by the tiniest spark.

2. When buying decorating materials make sure they are flame proof. Avoid using candles near decorations. Provide plenty of ash trays so that guests will find them easily available. String decorations near the ceiling or place them well above the guests heads.

3. Set the tree where it does not obstruct an exit from the room, and away from fireplace and strong heat. Keep it in water from the time you bring it home. Make a fresh saw cut across the trunk base before setting it up. Place tree in water-containing holder. Fill it daily. Remove a dry tree from the premises immediately after the holidays.

4. A blown fuse may be the signal that the tree is overloaded dangerously with lights. Be sure fuses are right size, and don't use a penny in the fuse socket. Don't use lighted candles on the tree.

5. When hanging tree ornaments stand on a sturdy stool or ladder. Wear low-heeled shoes.

6. Buy safe toys for your youngsters. Select washable playthings colored with non-poisonous dye or paint. See that playthings are sturdy so they will not come apart leaving jagged edges. Check eyes, buttons and beads on dolls to make sure they cannot come off and be swallowed by a curious youngster.

average price of $55.20 a hundred pounds. Knoxville turned over 585,136 pounds at an average of $58.60 for a total sale of $342,121. Johnson City sold 345,458 pounds of leaf for $189,353, an average of $54.81.

The East Carolina College Singers will present a program of Christmas music tonight (Tuesday) at the annual dinner given during the holiday season by the Greenville Music Club. The event will take place at 6:30 at the city Women's Club, and will be attended by approximately fifty members and guests.

The College Singers is a small and carefully chosen group of men and women students at East Carolina who were selected as members of the ensemble because of their talent as musicians and the excellence of their voices.

Solists on tonight's program include Jeanne Pritchard, soprano, of Elizabeth City; Rachel Mundine, pianist, of Newport, and Gerald Murphy, tenor, of China Grove. Miss Pritchard will sing "No Candle Was There and No Fire", and Mr. Murphy will have as his solo number "On Holy Night" by Adam. Miss Mundine will play Lecuona's "La Comparsa."

Numbers by the College Singers will include Christmas songs from various lands, including the English "The Holly and the Ivy", the French "Shepherds! Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep," and the Bo-

Big Industrial Growth Visualized For State

TARBORO, N. C. (AP)—Big industrial development for eastern North Carolina was visualized last night by Director Ben Douglas of the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Douglas said he hoped to see industry in eastern North Carolina which would use the plentiful water supply in manufacturing man-made fibers. He visualized other plants which would process and package the many truck crop products.

Douglas was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Tarboro Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Assn. Several hundred business, professional and industrial people attended.

The CID director said he also hoped to see plants which would process and package shrimp, oysters and other seafoods caught locally.

Douglas said leaders on the community level are playing a big part in the industrial development of North Carolina. They will continue to have a big role in the state's expansion of industry, he added.

Douglas lauded the eastern North Carolina communities, for their campaign in attracting tourists and providing facilities for them.

He said the mechanization of agriculture is another big factor in the industrialization of the eastern part of the state. He pointed out that more and more farm labor is being made available for industrial work.

Rotarians Told City Govm't In Gradual Change

City Manager James S. Hughes told Greenville Rotarians last night minor changes are being made daily in the operation of the city's municipal government under the council-manager form, although they may not be apparent to the public.

Since assuming the duties as Greenville's first city manager in September, Hughes said, he has begun studies of the municipal government operations to see where improvements can be made to give citizens more efficient government.

It is the city manager's duty, he continued to give the citizens of a city a dollar's worth of service for every dollar collected in tax money.

The studies and the minor changes now being made in the local government operations are expected in the long run to make for better government in Greenville, Hughes said.

The speaker traced briefly the development of the council-manager form of government from its beginning in Staunton, Va. shortly after the turn of the century to the present day. At present, he pointed out, there are 1,106 cities, towns and counties in the United States which use the council-manager form of government. In addition, there are 35 such forms of government in operation in Canada.

A city manager, Hughes said, is the administrative head of the government who carries out the policies of the city council, and is responsible for the city's personnel and operations as well as studying its finances and preparing and administering the city budget adopted by the governing board, the council.

Hughes asserted advisory committees composed of citizens play an important part in aiding the manager and the council in studying and resolving problems which face the city. He pointed to the numerous advisory boards and committees appointed by the local city council which look into matters and make recommendations for action of the city council.

The city manager pointed specifically to the Planning Board of the city which is now in the process of formulating subdivision regulations for the city. "In my opinion", Hughes said, "subdivision regulations comprise one of the most important instruments in the development of any city."

He asserted that in the past, the admission of subdivisions to the city without specific regulations for improvements is now causing a burden on the city in the way of drainage, street maintenance and other categories.

Turning to another problem, Hughes termed off-street parking as one of the most pressing problems now facing most municipalities. Automobiles have increased much more rapidly than they have been planned for, he said, and the movement of traffic as well as parking have become acute problems. He added that the local government is looking into the matter of off-street parking for Greenville, and that he has written the Local Government Commission of the state asking whether it would be permissible for Greenville to issue bonds to provide off-street parking if the citizens of the city so desired. He has not received a reply to the inquiry, he added.

To illustrate where expenditures of Greenville's government are going, and where city revenues are coming from, Hughes presented a breakdown showing revenues and disbursements of city funds by percentages in various categories.

Revenues for the $600,250 budget of Greenville, broken into percentage figures come from the following sources, he said:

Cemetery lots, 1.79 per cent; merchants licenses, 3.88; court costs, 2.34; parking meters, 3.06; utilities commission, 23.74; real property tax, 43.34; intangibles tax, 1.64; delinquent paving assessments 2.39 beer and wine tax, 2.27; ABC board, 1.71; Powell bill, 9.48; delinquent taxes and penalties, etc., .72; miscellaneous sources, 3.67.

Percentage-wise, the city's disbursements are broken down this way, Hughes said:

Administration, 7.04; police department, 19.18; street maintenance and garbage collection, 21.47; health, 1.91; insurance, 2.65; courts, 1.35; buildings and grounds, 4.50; cemeteries, 2.92; debt service, 10.33; libraries, 2.71; recreation, 4.99; N.C. streets 7.82; miscellaneous items, 3.19.

Hughes told Rotarians that as long as he is city manager, "I will do everything I can to see that you, the citizens of Greenville, get the best service the city can give you for your tax dollars."

The speaker was introduced by J.B. Kittrell, Jr., chairman of the program committee. Guests of the club at the meeting were the Rev. J. Maloy Owens, and Charles Joyner, junior Rotarian.

Playboy, Dancer Granted Divorce

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP)—The marriage of Texas playboy-heir Shepherd Abdullah King and Egyptian dancing girl Samia Gamal ended yesterday in divorce just like evangelist Billy Graham said it would.

But the ever-happy King, who changed his religion to the Moslem faith to marry the voluptuous Nile charmer, still could crow a little. Graham predicted the marriage wouldn't last six months. It endured about two years.

SOUTH MOVES NORTH COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Planners of an "Old South" coalition for a UBO event here was abashed to learn that no bona fide uniforms of the Confederacy were available for loan or rental south of Philadelphia.

Leopard Killed On Escape From Cage Of Zoo

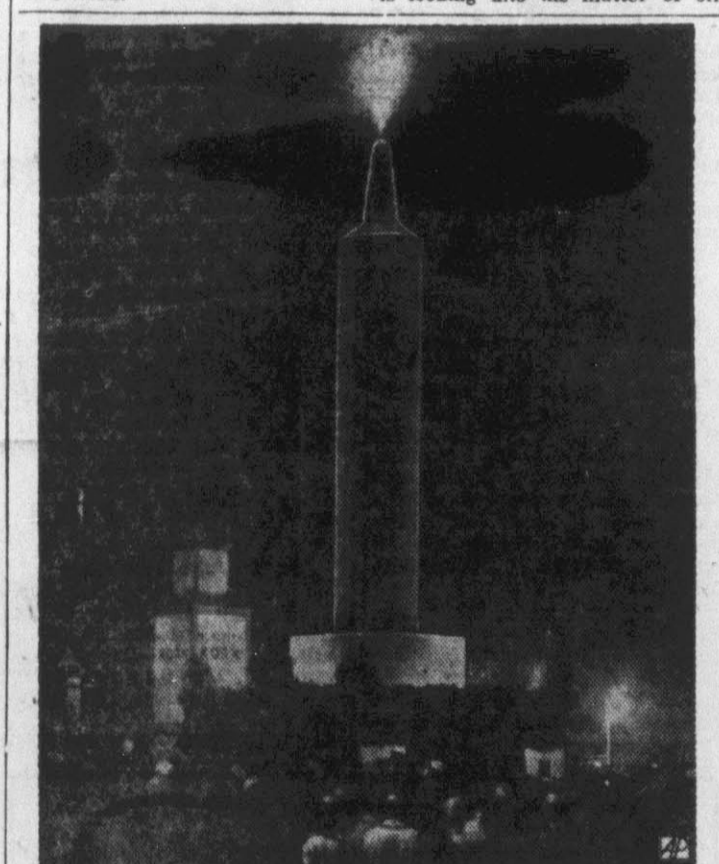

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The mate of Oklahoma City's celebrated leaping leopard which touched off a three-day safari following his escape from the Lincoln Park Zoo in 1950 tried the same thing today, but her freedom was short-lived.

An attendant was attacked and severely bitten before the fugitive was shot and killed by Zoo Director Julian Frasier within a half hour after she dashed from her cage into a clump of bushes. The grounds were deserted except for zoo personnel.

Frasier fired once from a 12-gauge shotgun and dropped the beast. The injured attendant, M. S. Alsop, was treated for bites and a heavy scratch. A cage door which failed to click shut at feeding time was blamed for the breakout.

Phants Tangle With Quakes In Third Game Of Season

Bob Howell, With 17.5 Average Per Game, To Lead Locals In Quest For Second Win Tonight At GHS Gym

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

It's back on the comeback trail for Coach Bo Farley's Greenville Phantoms tonight at 8 o'clock when they meet the Goldsboro Earthquakes in the Greenville High gym.

Bobby Howell, the Phantoms high scoring forward, will attempt to improve his 17.5 scoring average when Greenville meets Goldsboro here tonight.

Coach Farley's cagers will be gunning for their second win of the season as against one loss, suffered to Rocky Mount last Friday night.

The junior varsity teams from both schools will open the double-header at 6:30.

Top Strength

It seems the G-men will be in the best condition of the young season tonight, with everyone on the squad ready.

Scoring leader Bob Howell, who is averaging 17.5 per game, is counted on for one forward position in the starting lineup. 6-4 Bobby Starkey, who may be slowed after a toe operation last week, and slender Walter Perkins, one of the finest defensive performers on the squad, are fighting for the other forward post.

Harold Edwards, a rugged operator under the backboards, is slated to open at center.

All-Conference guard George Siders and agile Edgar Moore, possessor of a deadly one-hand push shot, will man the guards.

Several reserves are expected to see action. Bobby Conway and 6-5 Clark Noble should relieve Edwards some at center. Pat Sawyer, a hustling guard bothered by a bad knee, has shown improvement of late and will probably play some.

Little Tommy Saied, a dead-eye duck set shot artist, is expected to play much of the game at guard.

Jayvee Coach Bill Kittrell has been working his squad hard all week and said about their prospects, "I am looking for a better game from the jayvees tonight. I think they have improved since the last game and could give Goldsboro a real battle."

Olympic Games

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Brazilian Olympic Committee announced today it would make a bid for the 1960 Olympic Games. The committee also said it would ask that the equestrian events of the 1956 games be held here because of Australian restrictions on foreign horses.

Linemen Named

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two husky Florida linemen, Joe D'Agostino and Dan Hunter will play for the South in the Shrine's North-South college all-star football game here Christmas night.

The appointments were announced by South Coach Andy Gustafson.

North Coach Stuart Holcomb of Purdue announced the selection of tackle Jim Balog of Michigan.

Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Preacher Roe lost three games in 1953. His third defeat snapped a 10-game winning streak.

Florida State University has two brothers on its football team—Carl and Robert Green, halfbacks from Brookhaven, Miss.

Majors Squabble As Trades Are Sought By Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—Although shoved into the shadows by the player-owner dispute over the pension plan, hopeful managers were trying hard today to pull off at least one trade at the major league meetings.

The Milwaukee Braves, eager to land a hard-hitting outfielder to replace the aging Sid Gordon, made overtures for New York's Bobby Thomson. But when the Giant asked for southpaw ace Warren Spahn in return, Milwaukee Manager Charlie Grimm remarked, "That took care of that."

The Braves, however, still were hopeful of coming away from the meeting with an established outfielder just as the Giants are determined to wind up with a top ranking pitcher.

Rumors continued to flow thick and fast but nobody appeared close to completing a swap.

The Orioles still are hot after first baseman Eddie Robinson of the Philadelphia Athletics. The Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees are trying to get A's righthander Harry Byrd.

Cleveland hasn't given up in its attempt to lure catcher Clint Courtney from Baltimore but the Orioles insist on outfielder Larry Doby in exchange. Detroit is hot after outfielder Jackie Jensen from Washington but the Senators want a lefthanded pitcher in return.

The only deal completed yesterday was the sale of utility infielder-outfielder George Metkovich by the Chicago Cubs to the Braves for the waiver price of $10,000.

The club owners did more business than the managers. The National League voted to increase the visiting club's share from 22 1/2 cents a ticket to 25 cents. It voted to permit lights to be turned on to finish Sunday games but added that no second game of a doubleheader could be started after 6 p. m. local time.

The American League voted to hold the 1954 annual All-Star game in Cleveland, July 13, and the 1955 All-Star game in Washington. A National League city will be the site in 1955.

The junior circuit appointed a three-man realignment committee to study possible new major league territory. This followed up a Sept. 29 motion to expand into a 10-club league "in the event it should be desirable to expand to the Pacific Coast."

The members appointed were Frank Lane general manager of the White Sox, George Melinger, vice president of the Cleveland Indians, and Calvin Griffith, Washington vice president.

Both leagues rejected a proposal to limit night baseball to 14 home games for each club. The National League decided to continue its current plan of a best two-of-three pennant playoff. The American has a one-game playoff.

Stanford Senior Is Top Passer For Grid Season

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Garrett, Stanford senior, stands alone as major college football's leading forward passer of 1953.

The quarterback from San Marino, Calif., turned in a performance that kept the passing title on the West Coast for an unprecedented fourth straight year, but Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski established some impressive career records.

Garrett paced the field with 118 completions (of 205 attempts), 1,637 yards gained and 17 touchdown throws according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today. His percentage of 81.6 was tops among those who had tried 150 or more aerials, and was surpassed by only one player who threw less frequently.

Garrett did all this despite the fact Bratkowski saw action in 11 games while he played in 10. In the three preceding years Westerners Don Heinrich of Washington won the passing crown twice and Don Klosterman of Loyola of Los Angeles once.

Bratkowski who attempted the most passes—224—of which he completed 113 for 1,461 yards, wound up with two all-time career records and one near miss.

—His total yardage of 4,863, gained for three varsity years surpassed John Ford's 4,736 compiled over a four-year period at Hardin-Simmons (1947-50). And his 734 attempts mark him as the "passingest" player of all time.

King And Gaskin Named By Tigers

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP)—A pair of Clemson football aces have been accorded high honors by their teammates.

A vote by lettermen of this year's squad named quarterback Don King the team's most valuable player. End Dreher Gaskin was named to receive the James Morrow Trophy as Clemson's "outstanding defensive player."

Gaskin, who caught 22 passes during the season yesterday was named to the South squad in the Jan. 9 Senior Bowl game at Mobile, Ala. A 6-4, 225-pounder, Gaskin already has been drafted by the pro Detroit Lions.

King scored eight touchdowns for the Tigers and averaged 119 yards rushing per game. The sophomore quarterback averaged 37.1 yards per punt during the season.

Grifton Boys, Girls Post Wins Over Maury Cagers

GRIFTON—A fifteen point scoring effort by Mac Lancaster sparked the Grifton boys to a 54-30 win over Maury High School of Greene County here last night. In the preliminary game the Grifton lallies, led by forward Dawn Smith, walloped Maury's girls 68-44.

Worth Craft and Linwood Branch chipped in with 14 and 11 points respectively to aid the win. Beaman, with eight points, paced the Maury squad.

In the girls' game Dawn Smith's 30 points completely dominated the scoring play. Forward Colleen Braxton was second high for Grifton with 24 points while Norville paced Maury with 18.

The win lifted the girls squad to an overall mark of 3-3 for the season while the boys' record now stands at two wins against four defeats.

Friday night the Grifton teams take the court again against the Chicod Hornets. The games will be played at Grifton.

W. Va. Fullback To Get Trophy For Performance

GREENSBORO (AP)—Tommy Allman, great fullback of the championship and Sugar Bowl-bound West Virginia Mountaineers, will receive the 1953 Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the outstanding blocker of the Southern Conference.

The honor was voted Allman today by the Southern Sports Writers Assn. Sports writers, sportscasters and college publicity men cast 17 ballots, while seven of the conference coaches also participated.

Allman, a senior, has been called by his coach, Art Lewis, the finest blocking fullback he has ever seen in college or professional football. Allman got 50 points in the voting.

A close second was Furman's Vince Perone, star guard, who had 33 points. Others high in the voting were Bob Orders of West Virginia, 19; John Bednarik, of William and Mary, and Hal Grizzard of Virginia Tech, 15 each; Steve Korcheck of George Washington, 14, and Bill Bowman of William and Mary, 10.

The award is given by the Jacobs brothers of Clinton, S. C., in honor of their father, the late William P. Jacobs, who wanted to give a boost to the unsung player of football, the man who does the best blocking job.

Negro Athlete Drops Law Suit Against League

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A $50,000 civil rights suit against the Class C Cotton States League was dropped here yesterday bringing to an end a controversy that started last spring when Hot Springs hired two Negro baseball players.

Pitcher Jim Tugerson, who filed the action, asked his attorney to seek dismissal of the suit. Tugerson recently was bought by Dick Barnett of the Dallas Eagles in the Texas L-league.

The suit, filed last July, charged that the league violated Tugerson's civil rights by not allowing him to work because of his race. It also contended that his contract with the Hot Springs Bathers was violated.

The controversy, which threatened to split the three-state Cotton States League, began when Hot Springs hired Jim and Leander Tugerson. Five of the league members threatened to withdraw if Hot Springs was allowed to play the Tugersons.

The Bathers forfeited one game—against Jackson—when Tugerson made his lone appearance here. However the forfeit later was disallowed by minor league boss George Trautman.

Tugerson played with Knoxville in the Mountain States League last season.

The Cotton States League has teams in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas.

State's Wolfpack Plays Deacons In Major Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The first major clash of the still-young Atlantic Coast Conference basketball season is due tonight when North Carolina State invades Wake Forest.

The Deacons, who upset the apple cart last season by winning the Southern Conference championship, and the Wolfpack are undefeated thus far. In their two meetings last season each won one game.

Other games tonight find Atlantic Christian at Guilford, the University of South Carolina at Davidson and Appalachian at East Tennessee.

$10,000 Miami Golf Tournament Ready To Start

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fifty-three touring golf professionals warmed up for the $10,000 Miami Open Golf Tournament today by competing in the LaGorce Country Club on Miami Beach.

The Miami Open, last big tournament of the 1953 campaign, will start Thursday at the Miami Springs Municipal Course with a field of 150 teeing off in the first round of the 72-hole event.

Eighty-three golfers were automatically eligible. More than 175 other entries will compete for the remaining 87 places in the bracket in qualifying rounds today and tomorrow.

Bob Toski, Northampton, Mass., became one of the favorites on the basis of his victory in the $15,000 Havana Country Club invitational tournament which ended Sunday. Toski finished a stroke in front of Al Besselin, Grossingers, N. Y.; Freddie Haas, New Orleans, and Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich.

Most of the golfers, however, considered Sam Snead the man to beat. The West Virginia Slammer has won the tournament five times and usually is at his best here.

Boxing Offices Moved; American Attendance Off

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing's most important social note of the season comes in the form of an engraved card from Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, announcing that he has moved his offices into a hotel suite over on Manhattan's swank East Side.

In moving his and the champion's enterprise into a neighborhood where steaks start at $7.50, Weill obviously is making a clean break with the Broadway-Eighth avenue sector which for a quarter of a century has been the boxing capital of the world.

It's a stable taxi ride across town from Madison Square Garden and Stillman's Gymnasium and the theatrical office buildings which traditionally have housed the game's managers, sometimes three to a room, to Weill's new offices.

"I notice," commented a rival of heretich manager, "that he waited until he was out of town to have those notices mailed out. He probably thinks it will blow over by the time he gets back."

It might have been more than a coincidence that about the first thing the big league owners did after coming to order as announced attendance figures for the past season.

The news was nearly all bad. Business dropped in every American League park a total of 16 per cent. Only that fact Milwaukee kept the National from showing a similar drop. One authority claims that 12 of the 16 major league clubs lost money.

Thus the owners have their situation indelibly on the record when the time comes today or tomorrow to go to the mat with their players on the matter of increasing pension payments and other benefits which would run into money. The men who foot the bills would like very much to have the public on their side if it should come to a serious showdown.

Herman Taylor, veteran Philadelphia promoter, swings at television from the floor in the current issue of International Boxing Magazine.

"You can't sell something you're giving away free," Herman says. "However, boxing is doing just this—selling its birthright for a mess of pottage."

"To offer two, three and even four boxing shows a week on video gives the fan more boxing in a month than he would ordinarily see in a year. And all in the convenience of his home. So, what is to happen to the small clubs and the local promoters with their weekly shows matching local talent and neighborhood rivals? They have to go out of business, and with their demise goes boxing."

Throughout this area, spots like Camden, Allentown, Atlantic City, Trenton and Reading, all have been forced out of business. Here in Philadelphia only one club is running, and that has been running at a loss for the past few years. There is no autopsy needed—we know what is killing boxing."

row, 189, outpointed Willie Bean, 209, Los Angeles, 10.

SOUTH GATE, Calif.—Oscar Torres, 123 1/2, Juarez, Mex., stopped Tommy Umeda, 122, Los Angeles, 6.

Fond memories might make it a little difficult to believe but first glances suggest that Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina College Pirates are a better balanced basketball team than they have been since entering the North State Conference in 1947.

The Pirates have played two games thus far and have had four players breaking double figures in scoring in both games. That's a far cry from the old days when the Bucs had to rely on one or two men to carry their scoring load.

Big Bobby Hodges, a long-time work horse for the Pirates, is the chief leader in the new Pirate picture. He has banged the buckets for 55 points in the two games. He's the leader in the scoring but not the only one with an impressive two-game total.

Charlie Huffman, the big senior from Thomastville who has played three previous years in the shadow of Hodges and the now-departed Sonny Russell, has 36 points in the two games. He got 18 in each game played. Last year, he went through the season as number three man in the individual scoring column with an average of 13 points per game.

J. C. Thomas, a guard with an eight-point average a year ago, has 27 points in the two games. Cecil Heath, another eight-point average a year ago, has 21 points. Freshman forward Don Harris, a second-stringer thus far, has 18 points.

In their two games, the Pirates have scored 168 points. Nine members of the 12 man squad have had a hand in the scoring. The three who have not scored have seen only limited action thus far.

Defense has also taken a turn for the better. In the two games, Belmont Abbey and Guilford have managed to score 125 points. That's still a decent offensive figure but a far cry from other years when the Pirates have had to depend on red-hot offense to balance a defense that could get lax at times.

The Pirates will put their squad to its first test of the young season Saturday night when they meet strong Lenoir-Rhyne in Memorial Gym. The game is already shaping up as one of the more-important North State battles of the year since both squads have figured so strongly in pre-season ratings.

After the Lenoir-Rhyne game, the Pirates will have only one other pre-Christmas game. That will be the December 14 meeting with Catawba here in Greenville.

The first Michigan State football team to play in Macklin Field Stadium was the 1923 Spartan eleven. It was coached by Ralph Y. Young, now the school's athletic director.

The Cat's Paw

by MARION SALTER

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

LEUTENANT CHASE dropped down on the couch, casually picked a cat hair from the cover and blew it into space. "Miss Morgan, he said, "where are your cats?" "My cats?" "Yes. Small four-legged mammals. One gray, one yellow. Here, kitty, kitty, kitty. See, no cats. Where are they?" "I have no cats." But she saw how obvious it was that once the sharp-clawed April and May had lived here—the patches of pulled threads on the rug, the fringe they'd made of parts of the couch cover. For that matter there were even small paw prints around, where the white feet had playfully tapped the wall.

"I did have," Charlotte went on. "But they died. It's certainly no secret, but I can't see how it has any bearing on the case." At least she amended to herself. I can't see how he can think that it has.

"It's this way, Miss Morgan. When I left here yesterday, after sitting on your couch, my trousers were fur-bearing, shall we say. Later, on one of Mr. Cummings' suits we found cat hairs in much the same locale, and of the same colors. Gray and yellow. The tailor had returned that particular suit to Mr. Cummings only the day before Christmas. I thought you hadn't seen Mr. Cummings outside the office since last summer."

"This is it, Charlotte thought, this is that unforeseen thing you've feared would show up. She put her hands to her face as though her mask were slipping. But she looked him straight in the eye as she said, "So help me, Lieutenant, I haven't. Not since August."

"When did your cats die?" "Well, as a matter of fact, rather recently, Christmas night."

"What was the cause of their death?" the lieutenant pursued.

"Asphyxiation. One of them apparently played with the gas jets when I was out and in this small apartment. . . . Well, curiosity killed a cat." Charlotte turned away and looked out the window, while she tried to control the quiver of her chin. There had even been a quaver in her voice. Lieutenant Chase would surely think he'd stumbled on something significant.

Charlotte turned back to him. "It's just that I loved my cats," she said.

"So much that if someone had poisoned them you would have felt vindictive?" His voice was flat, and he didn't even look up from jotting things down in his notebook.

"That's as hypothetical as your question," Charlotte said. She smiled pleasantly at the lieutenant. Abruptly he picked up his hat. "Come again," Charlotte said. "I will." The door closed behind and say, "Dorothy told me she hated Kingsley Cummings." "Velora loved the extortion letters." "Eric loved me and was jealous of Mr. Cummings." "Ask Velora about the death of Osa Field." She could say . . . What would she say?

Especially about Eric who suddenly seemed so far away. She could hardly recall his face.

Now she would like to go to her mother, or at least call her. But the police mustn't know she had a mother. And her mother realized that too.

THIS NEW LAW

Affects Every Car Owner And Operator

On and after January 1, 1954, every automobile owner and operator, when called upon to do so, must be prepared to meet the requirements of the new North Carolina Motor Vehicle Safety-Responsibility Law.

Enacted to protect the public from the careless and financially irresponsible driver, this law is designed to restrict the operation of automobiles to those drivers who are financially able to pay for bodily injuries, death or property damage which their automobiles may cause.

In brief, the new law provides that the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles must suspend the license of each operator and owner of a motor vehicle involved in an accident in this State in which any person is injured or killed or the property of any one person is damaged in excess of $100 unless:

- (2) He is covered for the accident by other liability insurance having such limits, or
- (3) He furnishes security, up to a maximum of $11,000, as required, to cover possible damages arising out of the accident, or
- (4) He is released from liability or finally adjudged not liable or enters a settlement agreement for the payment of all claims, or
- (5) At the time of the accident the car was legally parked or, as to the owner, was being operated without his permission.

- (1) Automobile liability coverage is certified as in effect for him, with minimum limits of $5,000 - $10,000 for bodily injury and $1,000 for property damage, or

Resident motorists are also liable to like suspension by the Commissioner, following such an accident and suspension in another State with a similar law.

A discharge in bankruptcy will not relieve one from these requirements.

The simplest, easiest way to meet the requirements of this law is to have adequate and acceptable Automobile Liability Insurance at the time of an accident. This will permit you to keep your driving privileges without having to deposit cash or other security.

admit this. But their theme, which is obviously true, is that "There is probably no house standing that could not be improved — in its materials, in its structure, and in the way it reflects and encourages the changing, modern American way of life."

The moral seems to be that we can't "sanely modernize" our home without giving the problem as much serious thought and investigation as we'd give the planning of a new house.

Judge Admires Offender's Wife

WEST LOS ANGELES (AP)—A traffic offender, fined $5, asked Judge Leo Freund if he might have a stay of execution long enough to go home and get the money from his wife.

"You have a wife that has $5 to spare?" asked the judge.

The defendant said he had.

Judge Freund told him he could have three hours to go home and get the money from this paragon of a wife.

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—Supt. James L. Rogers made a public statement about Spartanburg General Hospital: it was "crowded and overflowing."

Proof came in six days later. A patient, rushed in for an emergency appendix operation, was fixed up with a bed in a hallway. After the operation he was bedded down in the hospital office. The patient: Supt. Rogers.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

How to modernize a house is a subject that is becoming more and more popular because we are living differently than we used to.

Shorter work weeks, more leisure time, hobbies, gardening, the do-it-yourself trend, television and radio — organized ballyhoo for home ownership — and many other factors are making people much more home conscious.

But modernizing a home is a complicated problem. It raises such questions as "what house?" and "what is modern?" Many books have been written — close to a small library of them — trying to give us some common denominators to work with.

One of the most ambitious of recent volumes we have seen is "The Complete Book of Home Modernizing" by Samuel Paul, architect, and one of his colleagues, Robert E. Stone. It has just been published by the H.S. Stutman Co.

This is a sort of an omnibus book, drawing on various trade contributions by way of illustrations, but the authors tackle the subject of modernization on the practical basis of how you and your family live.

"The home belongs to both the parents and the children." They keep that in mind.

"Space is the first requisite for an atmosphere of comfort and graciousness in which your family and guests will always feel at ease." You can agree with that, but space is the most expensive com-

Attention Automobile Owners Don't Lose Your Driver's License

Don't risk having to deposit up to $11,000 with the Department of Motor Vehicles or losing your driver's license.

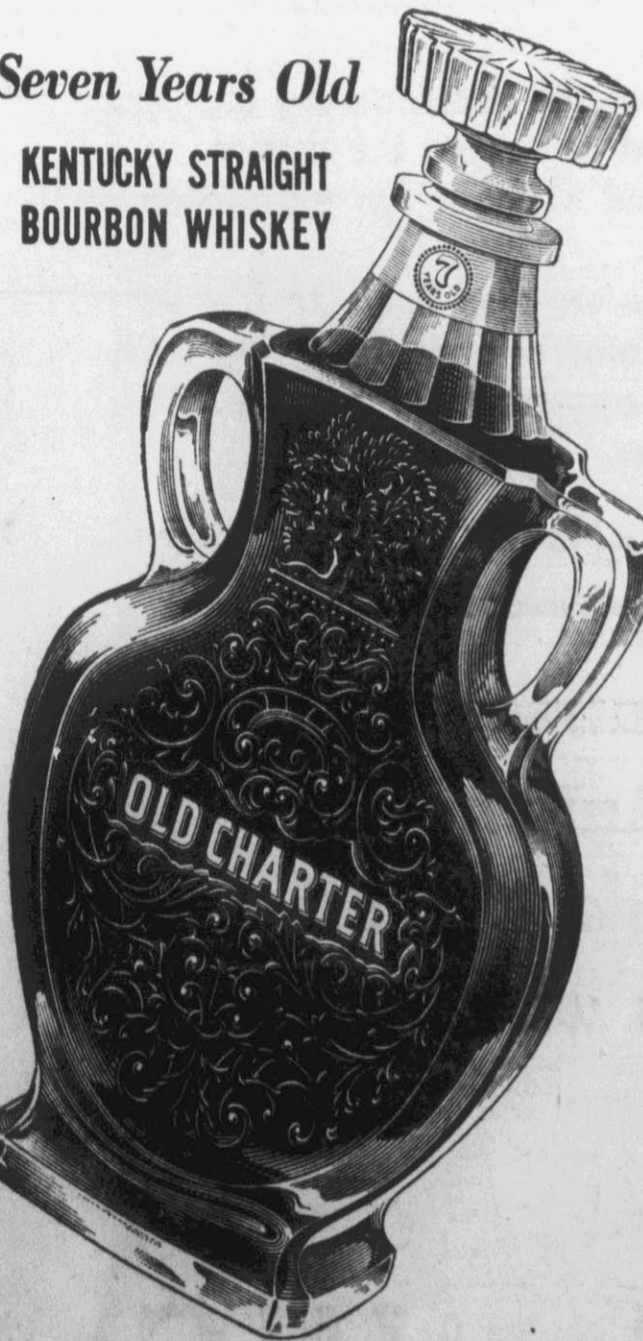

This can happen to you under the new automobile responsibility law unless you carry automobile liability insurance. We have been protecting car owners for 26 years with liability insurance and we can cover your car immediately, if you will see or call us at 311 Evans Street, Phone 3712. All of our policies meet the requirements of the new law. Rates are lower for many drivers.
