CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK
MANY PIECES OF LUGGAGE LOOK ALIKE!
HAVE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS WRITTEN INSIDE YOUR LUGGAGE. IT MAKES FOR POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION.

IT WAS A PEARL-HANDLED GUN--I BARELY RECALL THE INCIDENT--BUT IN THE EXCITEMENT, I DID AS SHE SAID. I THREW IT IN THE QUARRY.
PONY MADE YOU DO THIS?

THERE WAS A BODY IN THAT WELL, UNCLE KINCAID, SO OUR ONLY CHANCE OF CLEARING YOU IS TO RECOVER THE GUN AND ESTABLISH ITS OWNERSHIP.

IT WASN'T MY GUN. I NEVER OWNED ONE. I NEVER FIRED ONE.
HERE THEY COME WITH THE MAGNET.

THEY BROUGHT IT IN BY PLANE--GOT IN TWENTY MINUTES AGO.

THIS STONE WEIGHS ABOUT THE SAME AS A PISTOL. SHOW US HOW YOU THREW THE GUN, KINCAID.

OKAY! NOW TOSS THE MAGNET OUT IN THE SAME SPOT, BOYS.

THESE QUARRIES ARE ROCKY--IT MAY BE TOUGH OPERATING THE MAGNET.
WE'VE GOT TO FIND THAT GUN!

AND IT'S CHRISTMAS TIME! HOW COULD I GET INTO SUCH A MESS?
EASY, UNCLE KINCAID! IF THAT GUN'S THERE, WE'LL FIND IT.

MEANWHILE, TESS AND BONNIE BRAIDS HAVE CALLED ON THE PLENTYS.
WE WANTED TO SEE YOUR NEW BATHROOM AND WISH YOU MERRY CHRISTMAS.

WE'RE GOING TO HAVE THE BIGGEST CHRISTMAS EVER, BONNIE BRAIDS, AND UNCLE CANHEAD'S GOING TO SPEND IT WITH US.

IT'S ALL SO BEAUTIFUL, GERTIE. WE'RE SO HAPPY FOR YOU.
AND UNCLE CANHEAD MADE IT ALL POSSIBLE! HE'S SUCH A WONDERFUL MAN. WE EXPECT HIM BACK TOMORROW FOR CHRISTMAS.

WHAT DO YOU SAY, TRACY? SHOULD I PUT HIM UNDER ARREST?
NOT YET, SHERIFF. PLACE HIM IN MY CUSTODY. AFTER ALL IT'S NEARLY CHRISTMAS.

BLONDIE... I'VE THOUGHT UP A FORMULA THAT WILL ASTOUND THE SCIENTIFIC WORLD

IF IT WORKS, IT WILL MAKE THE ATOMIC AND HYDROGEN BOMBS OBSOLETE
YES, DEAR, BUT NOW LET ME FINISH GETTING SUPPER READY

WIVES NEVER SEEM TO BE ENTHUSIASTIC WHEN THEIR HUSBANDS GET THESE WORLD-SHATTERING IDEAS

VISITORS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD WILL SOMEDAY VISIT THIS LABORATORY I'VE SET UP IN OUR BATHROOM

YOO-HOO ALEXANDER--COOKIE--COME TO SUPPER

IT MAKES ME SO MAD WHEN THEY DON'T COME WHEN I CALL THEM-- NOW I'LL HAVE TO GO OUT AND GET THEM

ALEXANDER--COME THIS MINUTE--I'VE CALLED YOU TEN TIMES
I DIDN'T HEAR YOU, MOM

I'M GOING TO SHOW YOU HOW QUICKLY YOUR DADDY COMES WHEN I CALL HIM TO SUPPER

NOW FOR THE BIG TEST--EVERYTHING DEPENDS ON HOW THESE ACIDS ACT WHEN I MIX THEM

DAGWOOD--COME TO SUPPER

BANG

NOW, HEREAFTER I WANT YOU TO COME AS QUICKLY AS THAT WHEN I CALL YOU

THAT'S ENOUGH, HOBE! BEN AIN'T BETTER FROM HIS ACCIDENT YET...

WOTTA CRIME! A GREAT CHAMP LIKE HIM LOSIN' HIS MEMORY-GETTIN' PUNCHED AROUND THE RING BY A MUG WHO AIN'T FIT T' CARRY HIS GLOVES!

TAKE IT EASY, KID...

IT'S NO USE, SPIDER... I... DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO... JUST CAN'T SEEM TO RECALL ANYTHING.

I'M GOING TO TAKE A LITTLE NAP, SPIDER... YOU DON'T HAVE TO WAIT!

HUH? O.K., BEN... BUT I'LL BE BACK IN AN HOUR...

I.. I WONDER IF YOU COULD DO ME A BIG FAVOR?

ANYTHING YOU WANT, CHAMP-NAME IT!

WOULD YOU TEACH ME HOW TO... FIGHT?

ME- TEACH THE CHAMP?

I.. THINK SO... DOES THIS LOOK RIGHT?

KEEP YER WRIST STRAIGHT, CHAMP... PUT SOME SHOULDER BEHIND IT... YEAH... YOU'RE GETTIN' IT JUST FINE!

Stevenson Says Party Must Heal Rifts In Ranks

Unity Of Democrats Urged

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today the Democratic party's biggest problem right now is the "healing of intra-party disputes such as exist between the North and South."

But while we are lying in the weeds awaiting our call to return to power it seems to me that closing our ranks and obtaining party unity is the prime essential.

Planned Manpower Cut Starting Early Army Draft Calls Reduced

By ELTON C. FAY WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon, slashing its draft call for next February to 18,000 men, appeared today to be starting five months ahead of the originally contemplated schedule for cutting down the size of the Army.

Wilson's comments yesterday came as he boarded a plane for Paris after some intensive final-hour work with other Pentagon officials on the Defense Department's recommendations for the next fiscal year.

Benson To Ask Congress To Increase Maximum 'Concerned' By Cotton Cuts

By OVID A. MARRIN WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson says he will recommend that Congress authorize a 1954 cotton planting allotment of about 21 million acres, compared with 17,910,000 already allotted by him as the maximum allowed by law.

The 1954 cotton crop. Quotas would restrict sales to cotton produced on allotted acreages. Excess sales would be subject to stiff penalty taxes.

Four People Injured In Collision At Intersection

Four persons were injured, three of them seriously, shortly after last midnight, when two cars collided at the intersection of highways 11 and 33, one mile south of Bethel.

The injured boy was Bobby Roger Rollins, 18, who was admitted to Pitt General Hospital for observation.

Approximately 100 Needy Pitt Families On 'Opportunity' File

Names of approximately 100 needy families have been taken by various organizations in Pitt County so a nice Christmas might be afforded them, officials at the Welfare Department reported this morning.

The car was driven by William Woodrow Grainger, 118 N. Eastern Street, Greenville, who was cited for driving drunk, speeding 100 miles per hour and driving after his license had been revoked.

City Council And Library Board To Take Up Parking

Members of the City Council will meet with the Sheppard Memorial Library Board Monday night to discuss the possibility of establishing an off-street parking on library property.

Patrolman Delton Perry stated that the car ran off the left side of the road on the curve, broke down a road sign post, and four six-by-six posts and finally hit a tree stump. He estimated damage to the car at $750.

Range Of Manhunt Extended

FBI Gets Into Search For Man Accused In South Carolina Slayings

PAMPILICO S. C. (AP)—The FBI today checked a report that an escaped Negro convict, sought in the double slaying of a Pamplico girl and a young man, had been seen in Cincinnati, Ohio, Thursday night.

Abruptly, Angriely Breaks Off Korea Negotiations Envoy Walks Out On Reds

By FORREST EDWARDS PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. envoy Arthur Dean abruptly broke off negotiations to set up a Korean peace conference today and angrily walked out in the midst of a marathon Communist harangue.

Dean's walkout ended a 5 hour 45 minute session, the longest since the talks began Oct. 26.

Americans To Go Before Explainers

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Six of the 22 American war prisoners who stayed with the Communists are to appear Monday before fellow Americans who will try to talk them into coming home.

Dean told newsmen he and President Syngman Rhee of South Korea reached an agreement in talks Friday on a course for the preliminary peace negotiations.

Nixon Concludes Tour On Monday

By RUSSELL BRINES TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon returns to Washington Monday with a fresh bird's-eye view of Asia and the Middle East and a report for President Eisenhower that may recommend a review of some aspects of American policy toward this explosive part of the world.

Auto Passenger Injured In Wreck

A hitchhiking college student received a cut on the mouth, a knee injury and other cuts and minor bruises when the car in which he accepted a ride left the road on a curve on the Bethel highway near the intersection of the Stokes highway.

Pitt Cotton Acreage Is Sharply Reduced For '54

Pitt County cotton growers will be able to plant 7,527 acres of cotton during the year 1954, according to figures released by James Meredith, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (formerly PMA) secretary for Pitt County, today.

Man Wounded In Knifing Affray

Willie J. Adams, Negro, received knife wounds last night in an affray with John Frank Langley, also colored.

Big Edition Day For N.Y. Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—It's B-E (big edition) day on the New York newspaper front tomorrow.

They Fainted

NEWTON, N. C. (AP)—The Newton-Conover High School mixed chorus, some 25 to 30 students, was singing "White Shepherds Watch Their Flock by Night" at last night's weekly chapel program before the student body when things began to happen.

Train And Truck Hit At Crossing

An Atlantic Coast Line diesel engine collided with a motor truck in Grimesland Friday morning about 9:30 and hurled it some distance away from the track.

Death Said Due Natural Causes

Pitt Coroner Griffin H. Rouse reported the death last night of Guy Turnage, 82-year-old Negro who died at the home of his daughter, Mary Shirley, on the C. L. Davenport farm about four miles west of Greenville.

County Met But 62 Per Cent Of Blood Donor Quota In 6 Months

Pitt County gave only 62 percent of its quota to the bloodmobile during the six month period from July to December, Dr. Walter C. Humbert, blood drive chairman reports.

Dean said the Communists may have wanted to break off the negotiations because they want "to escape their responsibility under the armistice agreement for a unified Korea."

Red China and North Korea have insisted that the Soviet Union attend as a nonvoting neutral observer. Dean has refused to retreat from his insistence that Russia attend as a full participant, bound by the terms of a treaty if one is signed.

He already has reported to the White House on two of Asia's most immediate issues.

Competent sources in Karachi said yesterday American leaders now are considering building up Pakistan to challenge Nehru's influence and leadership in non-Communist Asia.

Begin Study Of Possible Resumption Of Use For Tar River Port Terminal

Preliminary studies into the possibility of restoring water transportation to the Tar River Port Terminal a few miles east of Greenville began this week.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

County Met But 62 Per Cent Of Blood Donor Quota In 6 Months

Dr. Harrell said in the letter, "The patience and understanding the volunteers who worked so diligently and graciously at the bloodmobile visit and of the donors was greatly appreciated. Those donors who waited actively and sympathetically expressed their support of this important blood program."

The Cat's Paw

CHAPTER THIRTY
CHARLOTTE wondered what the lieutenant had asked Eric. And what he had answered. She wondered where everyone was by now. Lieutenant Chase would doubtless be off on fresh scents. The gang would be back in the office, managing a semblance of work. This time of year there was chiefly sale stuff to get out the old cliches they could do with one hand.

Let them all think she was still in the infirmary. Let them think anything they liked, she couldn't go back quite yet. She'd go downstairs to the Corner Cupboard. Black coffee, she needed, and food. Strength. She had to get strength from somewhere. She started walking down. She told herself she used the stairs because she didn't want to meet anyone in the elevator.

She went on to the Corner Cupboard.

The sedative seemed to be having its effect. The chatter and chatter were all about her, but they didn't quite come through. It was as though she were under water, swimming lazily. As though she were in a warm glassed-in tank. She yawned and yawned, and nothing seemed to matter.

Dreamily she watched the three shadow-faced young matrons at the next table. They were bejeweled, furred, perfumed. Bits of their conversation drifted toward Charlotte, as though borne by the cigarette smoke. Now they were talking about the Cummings case—and her. She strained to hear their lowered voices.

"It gave me the funniest feeling when I rode down in that elevator," one said.

"You mark my words," another said. "It's that girl, that copy-writer. The newspapers don't tell you everything they like to throw the guilty one off; but what was she doing, hanging around the store? Cummings' protegee, indeed. I know how these promotions work."

"That's what I thought, but didn't you hear that last radio bulletin?"

What bulletin?

Charlotte couldn't seem to hear another word—whether because they now spoke even more cautiously or because of the strange roaring in her ears she couldn't tell. The room rocked slightly, as though she were on a boat. The hammering necessity to flee was upon her. Fingers fumbled in her bag for change. She paid, she was out, almost running along the aisles. It took more than a sedative, didn't it? The clerks behind the counters eyed her oddly and murmured to each other, didn't they? Things were closing in now, weren't they?

She was hardly aware of getting on the elevator and riding up to the office.

Now what? Count ten. Take a deep breath. You have to wait. There isn't a thing in this wide world you can do, except wait, smart Charlotte.

She wandered into the office.

Dorothy stood staring moodily out the window, sagging back to the room. She turned around slowly and her malicious eyes stared Charlotte down.

Something cold and many-footed crawled along Charlotte's back. Watch out for Dorothy Eric had said.

Norma looked up from reading vogue. "You still look a little ghostly," she said. "How do you feel?"

"Ghostly," Charlotte answered. "Was there any mail for me while I was gone?"

It was supposed to be a feeble joke, but surprisingly Velora said, "As a matter of fact, there was. I put it in your drawer."

As Charlotte opened the letter, it seemed to her that all eyes bored into her back. It seemed to her they must be able to read what it said. Just one line, carefully printed. "I am going to tell," it said. There was no signature.

She slipped it into her purse. Had the police opened it and read it? But it would tell them nothing.

It would tell them that she knew—something.

She busied herself at the desk. A cold rain swept against the window, and it was as though she saw the city through tears.

"Where is Eric?" she asked at last.

"He's being held for questioning," Velora said.

"Why? What happened?"

They all looked at her.

"Nothing," Marie said. "He just refused to answer some of the lieutenant's questions fully."

Oh, Eric.

Nobody else said anything. There was only the brooding quiet the boding air of something impending. Tim started whistling the Prisoners Song.

Around three o'clock Norma spoke. "Thank God there was no funeral. We'd all have had to go, can you imagine?"

Charlotte couldn't. But then King apparently hadn't been able to imagine himself at his own funeral either. It developed that years ago he'd specified that he wished no public funeral and that he wanted to be cremated, his ashes scattered to the four winds.

The Christmas Candle

In the earliest times the lighted candle had a place in man's expression of his religious belief. Light has always symbolized the outreach of the Almighty.

But in the celebration of Christmas, the lighted candle has assumed a special significance. Gleaming in the darkness, it is like the Star that stood over Bethlehem. Flickering in the wintry draught, it is like the tiny infant rocked in his mother's arms. Shining boldly through its wreath, it is like the Master of Mankind beckoning the world into the warmth of His Love.

And yet, no candle can express the real joy of Christmas. Worship is our divine gift for revealing our love to God. The prayers and hymns we lift from happy Christian hearts as we gather in Church; these are the real Christmas Candle—the glow of a people honored and blessed by the birth of the Christ.

No Real 'Off-Season' For Local Tobacco Warehouses

They're Far From Being Empty Shells

By BOB BOYETTE
Reflector Staff Writer

What happens to tobacco warehouses when the selling season is over?

That question arose recently at the Reflector and it was decided that story on how quiet everything was in these "dead" buildings when the tobacco market closes would be interesting.

It was decided to show in picture form (they say one picture is worth 1,000 words) how the bustling warehouses look as compared to the closed, non-used buildings today—just a few weeks after tobacco buyers quit buying tobacco here.

Immediately Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee of the Greenville Tobacco Market was contacted and his advice was requested on helping get a little story on what happens to these warehouses when the selling season ends.

Whedbee seemed to get a kick out of explaining what happened in the different warehouses and explaining that they were not "dead" during the off-season.

In the first warehouse visited there was a marine supply company. In this warehouse were several nice boats and many motors. In here in the off-season small boats and motors could be purchased and boats were repaired and reconditioned.

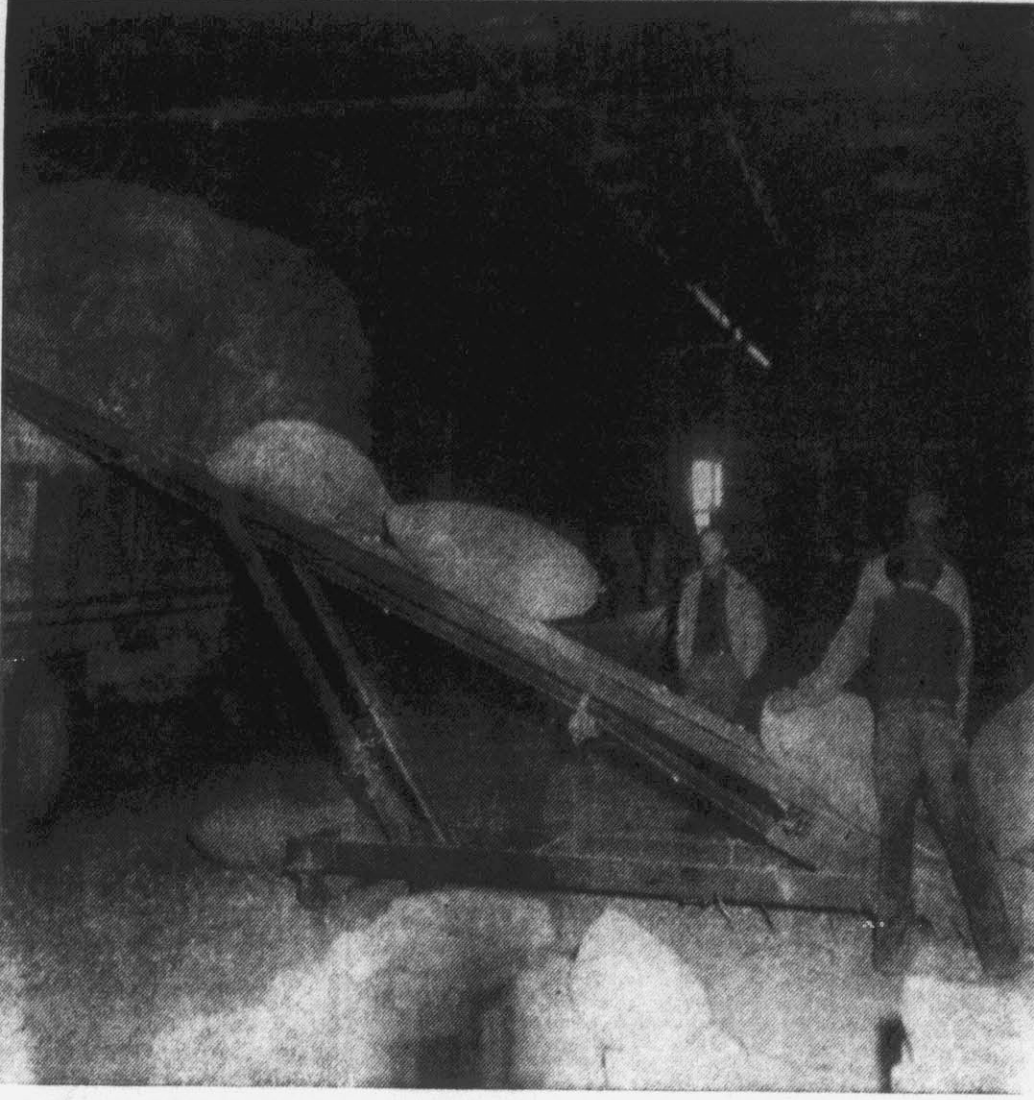

Just A Sideline
The next stop in another warehouse proved quite interesting. There was so much going on in this warehouse that the owner said that selling tobacco in it was "just a sideline."

There was approximately 11,000,000 pounds of peanuts on hand in the building with a shipment of about 4,700,000 pounds fixing to leave. The men here were peanut buyers for large peanut companies and the government.

Beside the buying and shipping of peanuts the men were planning to supply between 250,000 and 300,000 pounds of seed peanuts to Eastern North Carolina next Spring. Also future plans call for the company to become producers of new certified seed peanuts for N.C. 1's and 2's recently released by the North Carolina Crop Improvement Association. It was explained that by time for the 1955 crop these new certified seeds would be ready for the public market.

Surely there was no time or room for anything but peanuts in the building, but it was soon learned that between 2,500 and 3,000 tons of fertilizer is slated to be stocked by several fertilizer companies in there soon.

There was also storage space for two chemical companies in the same building as well as an insurance agency. The chemicals were insecticides used for growing tobacco and the insurance business included everything from life to hail insurance for crops; however, the big business was the sale of hail insurance. It was interesting to note that the tobacco auctioneer who worked in that warehouse during the selling season was the insurance man too. There is not a doubt about the volume of business done by that insurance company, because it is obvious that no

Today, one may find such a scene as this where peanuts instead of tobacco line the warehouse floors. One warehouse has approximately 11,000,000 pounds of peanuts in it. This truck is loading part of a 4,700,000 pound shipment that left the warehouse recently.

In the regular selling season many piles of tobacco such as these line the warehouse floors. Out-of-selling season the buildings are used for storage of everything from tobacco to chemicals.

one could out talk a tobacco auctioneer.
The Sales Supervisor immediately took off for another part of town and more warehouses. The next stop showed a warehouse that had a manufacturing company inside that manufactured tobacco flues for the curing barns while still another had a company that manufactured another type of curer.

Moving on to another building there was found more storage space for fertilizer. In that same building were several new pick up trucks and other farm machinery being stored.

In another warehouse everything was "dead" as it was thought maybe most of them were, but during the early part of next summer a cucumber market will operate there.

Another item of note was the different warehouses that were rented to local tobacco companies for the storage of large hogshead of tobacco that had been bought here and was ready for shipment. At one building it was noted that a shipment was being loaded for movement to Belgium. Whedbee reminded that tobacco was shipped from Greenville to all parts of the world.

In one warehouse the hogshead were broken open so a buyer could inspect the contents. If he should buy that tobacco then a number of hogshead would be loaded for shipment to his homeland—whether it be in Europe or Asia.

Grain Storage
Next stop a warehouse that was used for the storing of grain was found. In this building there were large piles of wheat, corn barley and other types of grain spread on the floor.

Moving to another warehouse, which Whedbee explained was the largest warehouse in the world, there were many thousands of bags of fertilizer. This warehouse also stored farm machinery for nearby farmers who wanted their machinery in storage during the winter months. When questioned as to what it cost the farmer to store his machinery there, the proprietor of the building said it was just an accommodation.

Another warehouse had a band stand with a piano on it where square dances are held several times each month. Looking across the building one could see a wrestling ring where wrestling takes place during the warmer months. The above facts prove that many think are so quiet and not used in the off-season are really either places of business or storage buildings. It shows that most of them really are in use 12 months in the year and not the few weeks that tobacco is sold by the farmers of eastern North Carolina.

This is a familiar scene in the warehouses during the active selling seasons. Note the auctioneer as he gets various bids from the company buyers.

Santa Claus To Arrive For Children's Christmas Party

Final plans for the annual Children's Christmas Party were made at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Thursday night. Sixty children have been invited to attend the affair, with each to receive an individualized gift presented by Santa Claus. They will also receive other gifts, a Christmas bag, and be entertained in games at the party on Friday night, December 18. Christmas tree decorating exercises will be held by the Post and Auxiliary on Thursday night, December 17. All members are invited to these two activities.

Following the opening ceremony of presentation of the colors and Pledge of Allegiance, Mrs. B. T. Joyner, president, announced that an invitation has been received from Caswell Training School to attend the Christmas program there on Monday night, December 14. Several members plan to go. One of the special projects of the Auxiliary is in cooperation with Caswell Training School. Five gifts have been sent to the school for some of those who would not otherwise be remembered at Christmastime. The Auxiliary voted to buy a $10 TB Bond and to maintain booths for the sale of Christmas Tuberculosis Seals next week in cooperation with the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association. Mrs. H. E. Alder is chairman of this project. Twenty-four shaving sets have been sent to Veterans Hospital at Oteen and the members favored a Christmas remembrance to be sent to the veteran brother of an auxiliary member who is suffering with leukemia.

Four To Attend National Methodist Conference

Four students, active in the Wesley Foundation will attend the Fifth National Methodist Student Conference, which will be held at the University of Kansas, Lawrence December 28-January 2, 1954.

The theme of the Conference is "Christ Transforming Culture" and the program will feature drama, worship, nationally known concert artists and such outstanding speakers as Nels Ferre, Vanderbilt School of Religion, Ralph Sockman, pastor of Christ Church (Methodist) New York City; Bishop Matthew Clair of St. Louis. The theme of the Conference will be also carried out in discussion groups and in workshops in the area of worship, drama, music, world Christian community, and other phases of the Methodist Student Movement. A Conference of the National Society of Wesley Players will be held during the National Conference.

More than 2000 students are expected to attend from all over the United States and from foreign countries. Representatives from the Wesley Foundation who will attend are: Willis Dean Lindsay, James, Edward Dixon, Earl Tucker, Herbert Wooten, Zeno Brown, Harry Brown, Frank Patrick, Robert Wright, William Person, Norman Brunson, Jack Patrick, William Tyson, Marvin Davis, W. J. Evans, R. A. Fountain, J. M. Fountain, W. M. Bowen, C. E. Bynum, R. G. Little, R. O. Moye, T. W. Skinner, R. L. Smith, C. A. Turner and W. F. Whedbee.

The students from Pitt County are D. L. Corbett, Reid Gaskins, Dink James, Edward Dixon, Earl Tucker, Herbert Wooten, Zeno Brown, Harry Brown, Frank Patrick, Robert Wright, William Person, Norman Brunson, Jack Patrick, William Tyson, Marvin Davis, W. Miss Kittrell Gives Travel Talk For Chatham Book Club

Mrs. J. K. Long was hostess to the Chatham Book Club at its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, December 1st.

Upon arrival of members and guests, a delicious sweet course with coffee was served, with Mrs. Carl Adams and Mrs. Frank Bendall assisting.

After a short business session, presided over by the president, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Long, who had charge of the program.

Mrs. Long introduced Miss Elizabeth Kittrell as guest speaker. Miss Kittrell gave a glowing report on her tour of Europe, which she made last summer. She showed colored movies of places and things of special interest, and her narration of the film was most interesting and informative.

New Director

Robert H. Gibbons Jr. has been named Director of Music of the St. James Methodist Church here. Confirmation of his appointment by the Church's Official Board was announced by the Rev. J. Malloy Owen, minister of the church, who said the appointment for the new church year becomes effective immediately. Mr. Gibbons, a native of Saint Georges, Delaware, is a student in Duke University.

St. James Church is holding Sunday School and Sunday morning worship services in the Third Street School, pending the erection of its own building beginning early in 1954. The new parsonage-apartment is located at 413 East Fourth Street. Telephone 4173.

Wesley Players Will Present One-Act Play

A one-act play for the Advent Season will be presented by the Alpha Zeta Chapter, Wesley Players, of the Methodist Student Center, on Sunday morning at 9:45 in Fellowship Hall of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The setting of the play is Bethlehem, B.C. 5, the night after the birth of Christ. The place is outside the Bethlehem Inn. Cast is as follows: Tubal, a Roman soldier, Robert Mann, Newport; Leah, Maid at the Inn, Anne Carlson, Rego Park, L. I. New York; Junius, a Roman soldier, Walter Johnson, Elizabethtown; Joanna, a maid, Laurie Holmes, Whiteville.

Student director is Jane Holmes Bolton. Miss Mamie Chandler is director of the play.

The play will take the place of the regular worship service in the Student Class on Sunday morning, and the Adult Classes of the Church School will be special guests for this Advent Service. Any others interested are invited.

The Pitt County Medical and Dental Society held its annual Ladies Night program at the Country Club December 10. A roast turkey dinner was served to all those attending. Dr. W. H. Pott presided over the meeting. Dr. K. B. Pace presented a sketch of the history of the society, highlighting some of the experiences of medical practices before the days of the paved roads.

The group was then entertained by a concert on organ and piano by Miss Rachel Mundine, music major at E.C.C. Her selections included "London Fantasia," "La Comparsa" and "Hall Dance" at the piano, and a group of favorite Christmas songs on the organ.

Dr. Pott introduced the officers for the next year. They are Dr. Dan Jordan, president; Dr. M. B. Massey, vice-president; and Dr. Tad Larkin, secretary-treasurer.

Coffee Hour Is Given For Mrs. Minges

Mrs. T. I. Wagner and Mrs. Hoyt Minges were hostesses at a coffee hour from 11 to 12 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of the former to honor Mrs. Ray D. Minges, who recently moved to Greenville from Richmond to make her home. Sharing honors with Mrs. Minges was Miss Dorothy Neil Henderson, December bride-elect. Both were given corsages of red and white carnations.

Callers were welcomed by the hostesses and their honored guests and invited into rooms made festive with decorations of red glads, red carnations and Christmas scenes to carry out a green and red seasonal theme.

In the dining room the table was spread with a white lace cloth over green and centered with an attractive miniature snow man and girl.

Mrs. M. O. Minges presided at the coffee table. She was assisted in serving party accompaniments by Mrs. E. G. Flanagan and Mrs. Charles Flanagan.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Forrest Minges of New Bern, Mrs. Lyman Bass of Farmville, Mrs. William Corbett of Henderson, and Mrs. William Bowen of Norfolk.

College Singers Give Club Program

Mrs. J. D. Messick was hostess to the Ladies of the Round Table and a number of guests at her home on East Fifth Street Wednesday, December 9.

After a short business meeting conducted by Mrs. W. E. Marshall, the program chairman, Mrs. R. R. Taylor, presented Mrs. Messick who introduced Mr. Dan Vornholt of the Music Department of East Carolina College. Mr. Vornholt directed the College Singers in a program of Christmas music which was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Members and guests were then invited into the dining room. From a table covered with a hand painted green cloth centered with a unique white Christmas tree, Mrs. Howard Porter, assisted by Mrs. K. B. Pace, served delicious refreshments.

New TV Models Shown Dealers

A dealer's show of the new Crosley radio and television line for 1954 was held today in the Hotel Proctor by Brown-Rogers-Dixon Company, Crosley distributors for North and South Carolina.

Present for the event were Art Guitton, sales manager for Crosley; C. M. White, general sales manager for Brown-Rogers-Dixon; Ed McGee, sales manager for the Raleigh branch of Brown-Rogers-Dixon; and L. E. Denny, district manager for the company.

Parochial School To Be Dedicated Sunday

Dedication of St. Raphael's School, with the participation of the Most Reverend Vincent A. Waters, Bishop of Raleigh, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30. The Parents-Teachers Association will be host to visitors at a reception immediately following the ceremony.

Services, consisting of the rite of dedication, a sermon and the bishop officiating at Solemn Benediction, will be held in the auditorium of the school.

A number of clergy and nuns from communities of Eastern Carolina are expected to attend.

The occasion will mark a milestone in the approximately 36-year pastorate of Father Charles Gable in Greenville.

Starting in 1916, the first Catholic parochial school was begun here with but five pupils. The enrollment rapidly expanded, as did the school's facilities, and numbered over 130 when the large converted home was destroyed by fire in 1952. Classes were immediately resumed in temporary quarters and planning was soon underway for the now completed structure on Fourth and Fifth Streets.

Consisting of six large classrooms, auditorium, cafeteria, kitchen, library and lavatories, the modern new building was occupied for classwork in October of this year.

An outstanding donation was the cafeteria equipment by Mr. and Mrs. James Strickland of this city. It was given in memory of their late son, Warren S. Strickland, who was killed in a flight accident in Japan during the recent Korean conflict.

Organized New Church Thursday

On December 10 at 7:30 p. m. the Free Will Baptist Mission, 557 Evans Street was organized into the Grace Free Will Baptist Church. The Executive Committee of the Central Conference was present to perfect the organization.

The Mission had its beginning in the early part of 1952 in a cottage prayer meeting conducted by Rev. Rashie Kennedy then chairman of the Conference Mission Board and a member of the State Mission Board. Rev. Charles Keith assisted in the prayer meeting which continued weekly until the mission was organized in July 1953.

The mission held its first meeting in the present location on August 2, 1953. The new church will continue to hold services at 557 Evans Street until August 1, 1954. It is hoped by that time, a new building will be erected on the lot recently purchased one block from West Greenville School.

The Grace church was organized with over 100 charter members. Charter membership privileges will be left open until Sunday night January 3, 1954.

Rev. Rashie Kennedy has been elected as full-time pastor of the new church.

On December 27, Rev. James Earl Raper, from the Bible College in Nashville, Tennessee, will begin a revival in the new church which will continue for one week.

Dairy Farming Shows Considerable Growth In County

Shown above is part of the herd of 33 milk cows at the Green Hill Dairy near Greenville. The dairy is one of several now operating in Pitt County. Carolina Dairies reports that most of its milk supply is now produced in this area. K. O. Radford is manager of the Green Hill Dairy. (Reflector Photos by Alvin Taylor).

Little Milk Now Being Shipped To Local Buyers

By ALVIN TAYLOR
A number of Pitt County farmers are enjoying year around profits from a farm product that until recent years was seldom ever produced in this area.

These farmers are either supplementing their agricultural income or making a full-time job of raising dairy cattle.

Before and during the war there were only two dairy farms in Pitt County according to Erel Webb, manager of Carolina Dairies. At that time most of the milk used in Greenville had to be shipped in from far off areas. Even the Western part of the state which produced somewhat more milk than Eastern North Carolina had little for sale beyond their own needs.

Moreover, milk shipping facilities used at the time were not as modern as now and the milk did not always arrive in top condition, Webb said. He recalled that during World War II he often had to make many phone calls before he could locate enough milk for local needs.

With the end of the war, the local dairy started a campaign to interest farmers in this area in milk production. How well this program has succeeded is indicated by the fact that 99 per cent of the milk used at the local dairy is produced in this area.

"Actually," Webb said, "more milk is produced in this area than we use, because, while we do import some occasionally, we also ship some out from time to time when we have a surplus."

This, of course, has resulted in an economic boon to the farmers involved. It means a steady income for them for their farm products in comparison to conventional farm products such as tobacco, cotton and peanuts for which the growers receive their profits only once a year.

Dairy farming has its headaches as does any other phase of farming however. Certain specifications have been set up by the State and county health departments. Barns are required to have cement floors and hot and cold running water are necessary in the barns and in the milk processing room. Herds have to be inspected periodically for protection against diseases that could contaminate the milk.

Once a month, according to Pitt County Chief Sanitarian Willie Pate samples of the milk are taken to make a bacteria count and determine the butterfat content of the milk.

At the Greenhill Dairy, on the Falkland highway near Greenville, K. O. Radford, manager and part-owner, has about 33 heads of milk producing cows.

Radford says that this herd produces about 100 gallons of milk a day. This requires milking twice a day, washing down the milking barn, and straining and processing the milk each time.

Radford uses mechanical milkers as do practically all the dairy farmers in Pitt County. Even at that it makes a busy day for Radford and the one part-time assistant he employs.

Cows have to be fed and milked on time. The milking barn and milk processing area have to be kept spic and span.

The dairy farms are rated by County sanitarians who might drop in at any time. If the bacteria counts goes above a certain point or if the buildings do not reach certain standards then the milk has to be sold as grade C milk rather than grade A.

Dairy farmers realize, however, that the advantages of having a regular income make milk production worthwhile.

New Milk Commission Poses Uncertainties For Year Ahead

RALEIGH — North Carolina dairymen face rather uncertain market conditions for their products in 1954 as a result of two things over which they have little direct control.

No one knows just what effects prices fixed by the state's new Milk Commission will have on producers; and prices received by farmers will be influenced largely by the level at which dairy products are supported by federal government purchases. Now at 90 per cent of parity, it could be lowered on April 1.

Briefly, that's the picture Tar Heel dairymen face next year, according to Dorris D. Brown, farm management and marketing specialist for the State College Extension Service. Brown outlines the 1954 dairy outlook in the current issue of Tar Heel Farm Economist, monthly Extension Service publication.

Milk cow numbers for the nation are up 2.6 per cent from a year ago, explains the farm management specialist. Total milk production in 1953 is up the same amount for a total of 118 billion pounds. This compares with a 115 billion pound production in 1952.

In North Carolina production of Grade A milk is up 14.6 per cent. The number of Grade A shippers is up 9 per cent. Similar increases have occurred in most other Southern states.

National demand for milk has not changed from the 694 pounds per person used in 1952. Demand for cheese and dry milk has declined. Butter use appears to have leveled off. Demand for low fat and fluid skim milk is slightly higher. Population increases account for 2.6 per cent greater sales in 1953. Sales of fluid milk and cream in North Carolina are about 4 per cent above 1952 levels.

Government purchases supported prices of butter, cheese and non-fat dry milk throughout the year. Government purchased about 5 per cent of all milk marketed. Export sales were less than 1 per cent of production.

Consumer prices for fluid milk did not change in most North Carolina markets during the year. Producer blend prices for Grade A milk were slightly lower. Ungraded milk prices were down 10 to 20 per cent.

In 1954, North Carolina dairymen can ask the new State Milk Commission to fix the price paid Grade

A producers for fluid milk uses in approved marketing areas.

Brown recommends that Tar Heel dairymen (1) adjust seasonal production to avoid a high percentage of blend process during the spring and early summer; (2) reduce cost by feeding an abundance of home-grown pasture and silage; and (3) fit their herd size to the available pasture, roughage and labor. High production from a few cows is more profitable than medium production from many cows

Swine Specialist Offers Tips For Hog-Killing Time

RALEIGH — It's hog-killing time on North Carolina farms.

Most Tar Heel farmers are old-timers at killing and storing the home pork supply, but J.K. Butler, swine specialist for the State College Extension Service, offers a few tips to make the job much easier.

Butler suggests that hogs for slaughter be given plenty of water but taken off feed one full day before killing. Handle hogs quietly. If they are excited, it is harder to get a good bleed. Use a sharp knife and keep the head lower than the rest of the body.

Keep the outside of the body clean and don't use water that is boiling, the specialist says. Water at about 145 degrees is best.

Other suggestions are to remove the internal organs as soon as possible, split the carcass down the back and get it chilled as soon as possible. Don't allow the meat to freeze. Chilling at a temperature just above freezing makes curing easier. Butler believes that proper chilling is one of the most important factors in saving meat, whether it is cured in locker plants or on the farm.

Production of honey is the least important of the bee's services to man says the National Geographic Society, pollination of food and other crops being far more important.

K. O. Radford, manager of the Green Hill Dairy near Greenville, washes down the milking barn prior to beginning the afternoon milking. Dairy farms must operate under rigid health department regulations.

Crop Care Put Him In $1,000 Per Acre Club

RALEIGH — "Good farming practices landed Len Grady smack in the $1,000 per acre club this year," says Sherman N. Shelton, Negro county agent for the Agricultural Extension Service.

Grady, Negro farmer of Dover, Route 2, Jones County, started out right this year with his tobacco crop and has shown his farmer neighbors "how to grow tobacco," according to Shelton.

The farm agent says Grady, who tested his soil for fertilizer and lime needs, used black shank resistant Dixie Bright tobacco and treated the tiny plants in the plant bed twice each week for blue mold control. This insured him of healthy plants to transplant to the field. After transplanting, Grady used the recommended 4-8-10 fertilizer at the rate of 1,000 pounds per acre. He spread the plants 18 inches apart in the rows and cultivated twice with cultivators.

He broke out all the bottom and top suckers and topped his tobacco as high as he could reach. He let his crop get "good and ripe" before cropping and then cropped once a week.

The trick to growing the Dixie Bright tobacco, says Grady, is to let them get good and ripe. They have a tendency to get a "yellowish tinge" before they are ready to prime. This causes some farmers to discard these fine disease resistant varieties, thinking they are no good.

Pesky Ham Mites Seem To Be Kept Away With Lights

An accidental discovery has proven to be the answer to the troublesome problem of controlling ham mites.

Three State College scientists have found that a simple thing like ordinary electric light or daylight will kill the pests.

Meats specialists W.L. Brown and T.N. Blumer and insect specialist B.B. Fulton say their discovery is of practical use to farmers, locker plant operators and meat packers.

Ham mites are as common over the whole Southeast as the pesky meat skippers and are becoming more of a problem. Blumer says they'll destroy all the lean meat in a ham, leaving only the skin, fat and bones, in an estimated four to six months under ideal conditions.

Ham mites are white and about the size of the dot on this letter "i." You can see them. They leave a fine, brown powder which has a peculiar sweet, musty odor. And they always do their damage in the dark.

The School of Agriculture men had tried many gases, sprays, and other materials unsuccessfully in their tests to control ham mites. One day, before testing another spray, mites were transferred from a badly infested ham to five clean hams and these were left temporarily exposed to daylight. Mites began crawling over the hams soon, but after five days in natural daylight all the mites had died.

From that clue, tests were repeated under different conditions with similar results.

The convincing proof came when two infested hams were hung between two 120-watt electric light bulbs. One ham was wrapped in aluminum foil while the other was not. Within 10 minutes, mites on the unwrapped ham were "dropping like flies." Within six hours all the mites had been killed by the electric light.

Farmers have one problem in putting this finding to practical use. The light must shine directly on the ham; yet hams should be covered by a paper or cloth cover to protect them from skippers. When you expose the ham to light, you leave it unprotected from skippers.

Blumer says the easiest way around this problem is to put the hams inside a recommended cover immediately after curing to protect them from skippers. It is likely that they should have no mites then because the curing salt keeps them from getting into the meat.

Then just put a strong electric light in your ham storeroom for 24 hours once every two weeks to kill any mites which get into the room. Light will not kill mite eggs, so you need to repeat the treatment light about every two weeks.

Another way to keep mites away is to build a wooden frame for a cage, cover it with 30-mesh screen (much finer than ordinary, window screen), and store the ham inside. Hardware dealers can order the screen. The ham should be hung some place where light can get at it—near a window or electric light bulb. Another point: be sure to keep all skippers off the ham before putting it into the cage.

With the cage, you're leaving the ham exposed to light to kill the mites, but keeping the skippers away with the screen. Even if you have only $50 worth of cured hams, it's worth the effort to build such a cage to protect them.

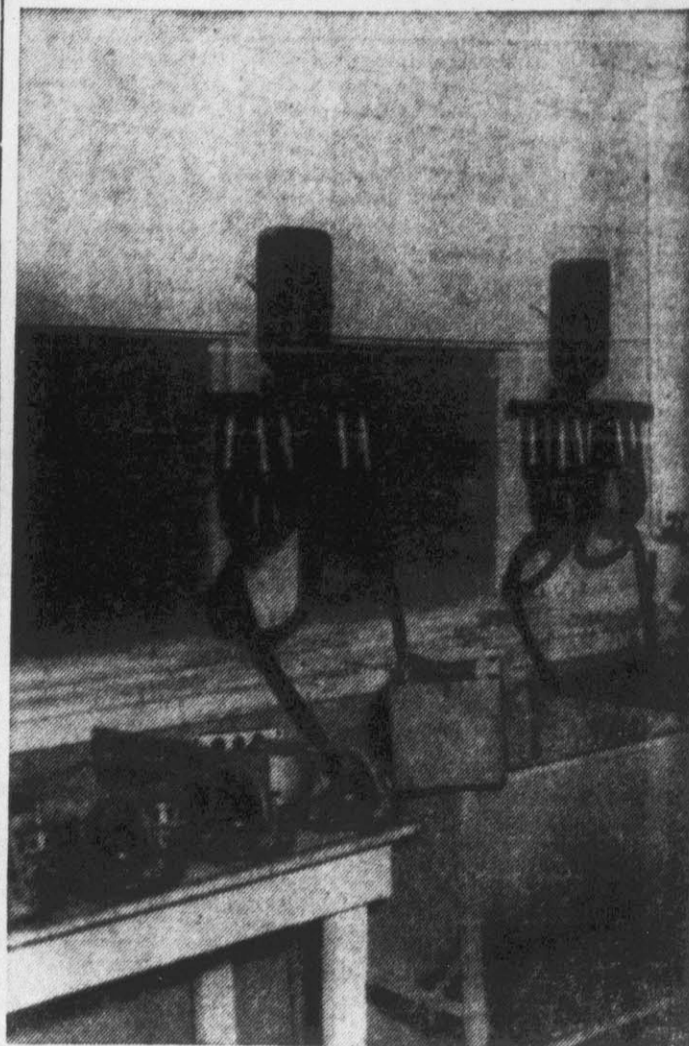

Locker plant operators will find electric light a much easier, safer and cheaper way to control mites than by fumigation. One locker man said he'd saved more than $200 worth of meat he'd have lost except for controlling mites with electric lights.

At State College, one 120-watt bulb has kept mites under control in a storage box 8x8x4 feet filled with about 100 hams. Some of the have been kept for more than one year with no signs of mites. Temperature is held at about 70 degrees with a relative humidity of about 70 per cent. Both of these conditions favor mite growth, but still the light bulb controls them.

Blumer says that encouraging as this discovery is, further improvements are on the way. Plans call for testing plastic, nylon and cellophane bags to try to find a low-cost, effective, long-lasting bag for storing cured hams which will let in light to kill mites and keep out skippers at the same time.

K. O. Radford (above) places a container of milk into a cooler in the milk processing room. The milk will be kept in the cooler until delivered to the dairy.

The mechanical milkers, part of which are shown above, have to be sterilized after each use. The above picture is in the milk processing room where the milk is strained and placed in cans.

News From Ballards

By MRS. G. S. NICHOLS

Christmas music was the program theme at the December meeting of the Home Demonstration Club and was very inspirationally presented by Mrs. E. M. Tyson Sr. She gave some interesting information on how some of the most beautiful Christmas hymns were written.

Bringing out the thought that "O Come All Ye Faithful" has been the song most throughout the world. Mrs. Tyson led the group in singing several of these carols. Miss Thelma Flanagan gave an enjoyable and humorous reading of "Biff Takes a Slough Ride," by McNeil, and the program closed with some timely remarks by Mrs. A. C. Turbine on her visit to the United Nations, accompanied by other club women of the state.

Mrs. Perneil Burnett presided and the meeting opened with the group singing "Silent Night," followed by the club collect repeated in unison. It was then voted that the club would have their annual Christmas party on Tuesday evening, Dec. 18, at 7 o'clock, and that there would be two hostesses at the club meetings this year instead of one as in the past years. The group also voted to purchase 500 Christmas seals.

At the social hour a short recreational period was directed by Mrs. L. R. Jones and Miss Thelma Flanagan. The hostesses, Mrs. Perneil Burnett, assisted by others served delicious apple sauce cake topped with whipped cream and cherries, Christmas candy and hot coffee.

Mrs. G. T. Tyson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tyson of Grifton, attended the showing of "The Robe" in Raleigh Saturday. Miss Mary Nichols of Washington, D. C. was a recent visitor in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Nichols. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hart were Grifton visitors Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gathin of Tarboro were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crawford.

Grigs Tyson and John Erwin were Williamson visitors last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Crawford, who have been making their home at Bell Arthur and working at Dupont, have purchased a home and moved to Grifton. Mrs. E. H. Roberson, who teaches in Nashville, was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Annie Flanagan. While here they attended the May-Tyson reunion in Farmville.

Mrs. Roy Smith and children, who have been making their home in Norfolk the past several months while Mr. Smith was on shore duty with the Navy, have moved to Greenville where they will make their home while Mr. Smith is on sea duty again.

Mrs. Moses Tyson of the Lange Crossroads section is spending several days with Mrs. Owen Tyson. On Monday evening they were guests of Mrs. Ike Joyner.

James Tyson of Washington, D. C. was a recent visitor in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tyson. Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Barber and Mrs. Meekin Tripp of Greenville were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Barber.

Winter Means Honey Bees Need More Food

RALEIGH — Thousands of North Carolina's hard working honey bees are in danger of starving to death.

W.A. Stephen, bee specialist for the State College Extension Service, in a summary of the current plight of the state's bee colonies, says some few are in good shape for the winter. Others, however, do not have sufficient stores to carry them through the winter.

"We will need plenty of bees next spring to help pollinate our crops," says the bee expert. "And of course, big pollinations are necessary to the production of honey in the spring. But the battle to keep the bees alive must be won in the next few months."

Bees, explains Stephen, can use sugar syrup to winter on. He suggests that beekeepers start with boiling water and use two parts of dry sugar to each part water. Stir well and in a few minutes all the sugar will be dissolved, says Stephen.

EXTRA-PROUD HORSE TRAINER

MIAMI (AP)—Most horse trainers are proud to have one stakes winner during a year. But Harry Trotsek is extra-proud. He developed nine different stakes winners during 1953 and five of them were $100,000 races. Trotsek handles the Hasty House Farm horses who will race in Hialeah this winter.

Corn Growers Have Until January 15 To Apply In Writing For Allotment

North Carolina farmers who intend to plant corn in 1954 on a farm which had none during the three-year period 1951-53 have until January 15 to apply in writing for an acreage allotment — that is, if they desire their 1954 corn to come under the federal price support program.

Application blanks and acreage report forms are available at county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (formerly PMA) offices for filing requests for allotments.

North Carolina's commercial corn producing counties (where farmers are most concerned) are: Beaufort, Camden, Chowan, Craven, Currituck, Duplin, Edgecombe, Gates, Greene, Halifax, Hertford, Johnston, Jones, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Northampton, Onslow, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Pitt, Tyrrell, Washington, Wayne, and Wilson.

$200 IS $200

EDINBURG, Tex. (UP)—Hidalgo County found a way to save $200 a year—at a cost of only $1,500,000. Auditor B. F. McKee, in making public the county's 1954 budget, said: "This year we allocated $200 for courthouse repairs. I don't think that will be necessary in 1954." Next March officials were

Observer Corps Will Be Tested

RALEIGH (AP)—Ground Observer Corps members in 31 northeastern counties will run through a test drill conducted by State Civil Defense officials Sunday.

Between 20 and 30 planes will be used in the exercise, according to Col. John Gresh, GOC coordinator for the State CD Department. The GOC was created to spot potential enemy planes flying in to attack.

Bethel Firms To Close Two Days

BETHEL—Stores and other business places in Bethel will be closed Friday, December 25 (Christmas Day) and Saturday, December 26. They will reopen for business Monday morning, December 28.

Fertilizer Data Ready For Issue

RALEIGH — Official 1954 fertilizer recommendations of the State College Extension Service are just off the press.

Free copies are available through local county farm agents or by writing to Department of Agricultural Information, State College, Raleigh.

Prepared by the Departments of Agronomy and Horticulture at N.C. State College, the recommendations offer every North Carolina farmer a chance to get the most out of his fertilizer dollar. With a copy of the recommendations in every farmer's possession, crop values throughout the state could be boosted immeasurably, according to fertilizer experts.

HOLLYWOOD REALISM

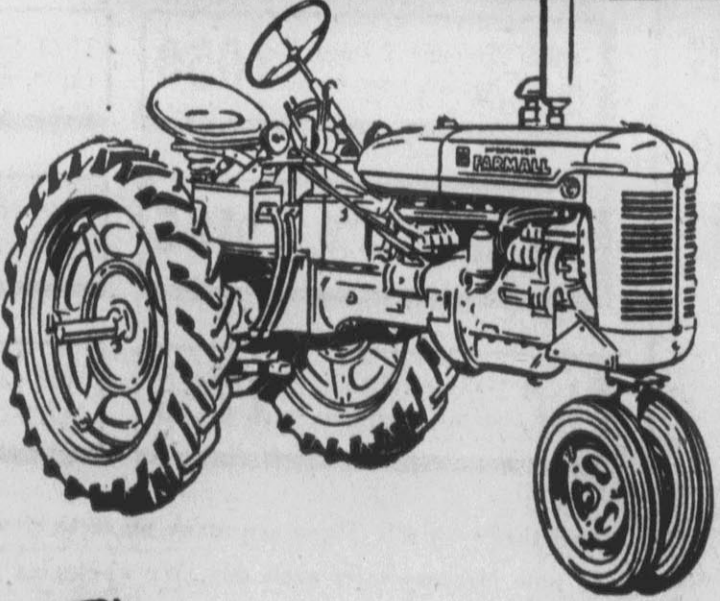

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—It must have been a realistic movie Paul Pendergrass saw. Pendergrass said that one scene in the movie showed watches of all actors and actresses stopping due to magnetism. When Pendergrass left the theater, he found his watch had stopped for the first time in three years. A jeweler could find nothing wrong with the watch, which suddenly started working again.

And the level of price support will be 90 per cent of parity for farms that plant within the farm acreage allotment. That means about 33¢ per pound. Farms on which the acreage planted is in excess of the allotment will be subject to a penalty on the excess at 50 per cent of the cotton parity price as of June 15, 1954.

For farms on which the 1954 peanut acreage is not greater than the allotment, all peanuts produced may be marketed without penalty. This will mean about 11 1-2¢ per pound.

If marketing quotas are disapproved
The level of price support will be only 50 per cent of parity for farms that plant within their allotment. That means about 18¢ per pound. Acreage allotments will be in effect for 1954 even if marketing quotas are disapproved.

If marketing quotas are disapproved
The level of price support to cooperators for 1954 crop peanuts will be 50 per cent of parity as of the beginning of the marketing year. That will mean the price will be about 6¢ per pound.

Phants Bow To Blackbirds; Bucs Play Lenoir Rhyne

G-Men Bow By 57-45 For Second Defeat

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Rocky Mount's strong Blackbirds ran up a quick lead to dispose of the Greenville Phantoms 57-45 last night in the Greenville gym.

The Blackbirds shot into a 10-10 first quarter advantage and capitalized on the poor shooting of Coach Farley's crew to win handily. The G-men hit only 27 per cent of their field goal attempts in last night's game, a far cry from the lofty 41 per cent average they had posted this year.

For the first quarter outburst the Blackbirds pulled away to enjoy a 34-18 lead at halftime. Soon after the intermission the Greensies whittled the Rocky Mount lead to ten points but the two squads matched shot for shot until the final Rocky Mount goal.

It was a long night for the Greenville rooters as their heroes missed many easy opportunities.

Center Smokey Lancaster walked off with individual scoring honors for the night. The big Rocky Mount all-state candidate tallied 15 points from his pivot post. Teammate Bobby Patterson ranked second in the scoring race with 14 points.

Forward Walter Perkins led the Greenville scoring with 11 points and Harold Edwards followed with 10. Edwards also snatched 13 rebounds off the backboards to lead both squads in that department.

Ace scorer Bob Howell saw his high average drop when the Rocky Mount defense held him to only 8 points, his low for the year.

Last night's game winds up the pre-Christmas home schedule for the Phantoms. The next Phantom game is with the Goldsboro Earthquakes in Goldsboro on Tuesday night.

Three Games End Season Card For Pro Leagues

By ORLO ROBERTSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League winds up its scheduled season tomorrow with three teams having very definite reasons for wanting to end the campaign on a victory note.

The Cleveland Browns, already winner of the Eastern Conference title, want to defeat the Philadelphia Eagles so they'll have an unbeaten year—the third in league history.

The Detroit Lions need a victory over the New York Giants to assure them of the Western Conference crown and a spot in the playoffs against the Browns Dec. 27.

And the San Francisco 49ers must whip the Baltimore Colts to keep alive their title chance should the Lions lose. A Detroit defeat and a San Francisco victory would entail a playoff in the West Coast city Dec. 20.

Also at stake is second place in both conferences worth a few hundred dollars to each player. Philadelphia and Washington are tied for the runner-up spot back of Cleveland, each with a 6-4-1 record.

Washington has the much easier assignment tomorrow in its clash with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

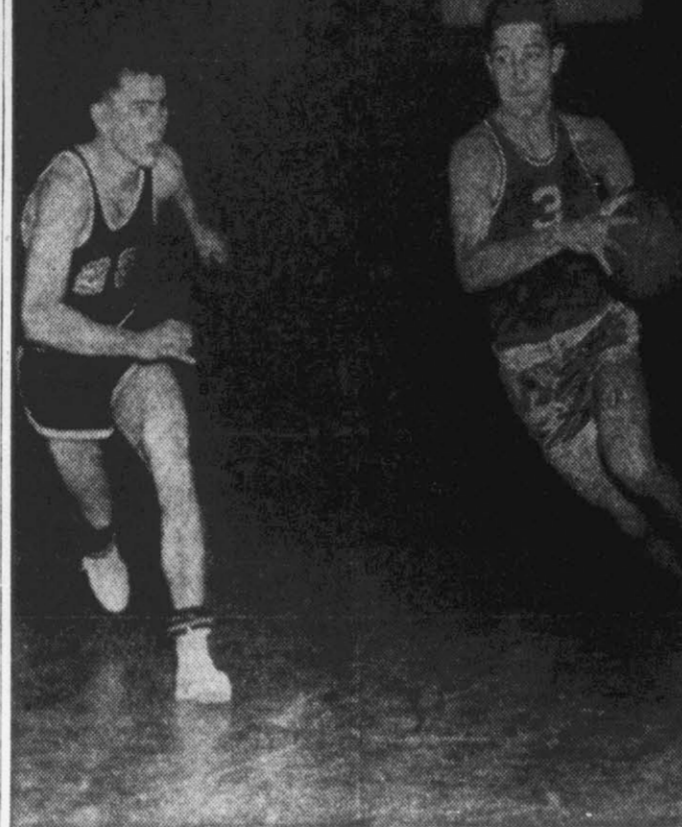

Los Angeles Rams, who lost to Detroit in the Western Conference playoff last year, can get into the money only if they whip the Green Bay Packers today and the 49ers lost to the Colts.

Maryland Eleven Holds Scrimmage

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland held a practice scrimmage yesterday for the first time since winding up an unbeaten season, but quarterback Bernie Falsburg was still shelved with a knee injury.

It still isn't known whether Falsburg will be able to play New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl against Oklahoma.

The squad of 30 players and the coaches will fly to Miami, leaving Washington the morning of Dec. 16.

George Sideris (3) drives for the goal in last night's game between Greenville and Rocky Mount. Sideris scored but his efforts were not enough as the Blackbirds took a 57-45 decision over the local cagers.

Guard Bobby Patterson, who scored 14 points in the Phantom-Blackbird game last night, goes in for a shot. In the background Pat Sawyer (11) follows the play.

Tickets On Sale For Elks Contest Here In January

Advance sales of tickets to the Elks Bowl game in Greenville on January 2 were begun Saturday.

The East Carolina College Pirates will be the host team to the Morris-Harvey College Golden Eagles from Charleston, W. Va. and light workouts before the Christmas holidays will be conducted by each team.

Members of the ECC Pirates Club have opportunity to buy two tickets to the Elks Bowl game, Chairman Erskine Duff said today. All tickets are $3.00 each, and mail orders must be accompanied by 25 cents additional to cover mailing and handling charges.

Tickets will be available in the Alumni Office at East Carolina College after December 20, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., except the Christmas weekend when the office will be closed.

After December 20, all seats in College Stadium at East Carolina will be placed in general admission sales at $3.00 each.

The Elks Bowl game is sponsored for the benefit of the Eastern North Carolina Elks Boys Camp and all profits from this game will go to this worthy charity.

Deadline for Pirate Club priority on Elks Bowl tickets is December 19, Duff said.

Thirteen Games Slated Tonight For State Teams

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pre-Christmas rush is on for North Carolina college basketball teams.

Thirteen games tonight will keep state quintets busy. Wake Forest, beaten by Duquesne, 76-61, in the opening round of the Steel Bowl tournament at Pittsburgh last night, meets Bradley in a consolation game tonight.

North Carolina State will be host to Eastern Kentucky and North Carolina enters South Carolina, while William and Mary moves over to Duke.

North State Conference action has Western Carolina at Piedmont, Lenoir Rhyne at East Carolina, Newport News at Atlantic Christian, Catawba at Presbyterian, High Point at Wofford, Appalachian at Tusculum and McCrary at Elon. Cherry Point at Belmont Abbey and Virginia Tech at Davidson round out the busy card.

North Carolina passed its first collegiate test of the season last night by downing William and Mary, 71-61. Guard Al Lifson was the floor leader and top pointmaker for the winners with 22 points.

Center Dickie Hemic took individual scoring honors by netting 23 points as the Deacons bowed to the third-ranked Duke. Forward Lowell Davis tallied 20 but the Deacons were unable to threaten their high-powered opponents.

Catawba came from behind in the last period to beat Newberry College, 70-66. Guard Bill McKaig was a standout for the winners, scoring 27 points. Center Ed Blanko paced Newberry with 20 points.

Tuesday night the Grifton cagers travel to Winterville for their eighth contests of the season.

FRIDAY'S FIGHTS

MELBOURNE—Augustino Argote, 135, Spain, knocked out Pat Ford, 135½, Australia, 4.

Farmville Defeats Ayden Cage Teams

AYDEN—Farmville High School defeated the Ayden girls and boys in a doubleheader here last night. The boys won 38-35 and the girls 57-32.

In the girls game Farmville jumped into an 18-6 lead at the first quarter and continued the pace to win easily. Edna Wooten led the visitors in scoring with 25 points while Doris Oakley paced the guards on defense.

Wilma Stocks scored 19 of Ayden's 32 points while Sarah Barfield, a substitute, led the local girls on defense.

In the boys' contest Ayden jumped into a 15-10 lead at the first quarter for the longest lead of the ball game. By the halftime the visiting quint had pulled ahead by 24-22.

At the end of the third period Farmville led by 32-29 and they held this three point margin to win the game 38-35.

Ayden has lost four games. Both the boys and girls have lost three Pitt County Conference games and each team has lost two games in the Coastal Conference. The game with Farmville was both Coastal and Pitt Conference.

Chicod Wins Two Contests At Grifton, 65-64, 55-44

GRIFTON—Chicod High School's cagers handed Grifton High two losses last night in games played at Grifton. An overtime period was necessary in the first contest as the Chicod girls took a 65-64 decision while in the second game the Grifton boys absorbed a 55-44 defeat.

Patsy Mills, with 40 points, paced the Chicod girls to their overtime triumph but she barely edged out Grifton's Colleen Braxton who netted 35 markers. The regulation game ended with the score knotted at 60-60.

In the second game forwards Fornes and Burroughs, with 17 points each, led the Chicod attack. Worth Craft, with 12 points, paced the Grifton attack while Jack Starkley, a diminutive guard, was leading the losers' defense.

The double defeats left the Grifton boys with an overall mark of one win against six defeats while the girls' record now stands at four wins and three losses.

Tuesday night the Grifton cagers travel to Winterville for their eighth contests of the season.

Winterville Wins One, Loses One Against Bethel

BETHEL—Bethel and Winterville split a doubleheader here last night in a pair of thrill packed contests. The Winterville girls edged past the Bethel lassies 64-61 but the Bethel boys came back to down the Winterville boys 55-53.

The loss was the first conference defeat of the season for the Bethel girls. Mary Jo Wynne and Corinne Briley scored 27 and 23 points respectively but their efforts were not enough to match that of Winterville's scoring duo of Averette with 30 and Little with 26.

Bethel now owns a 3-1 conference record and a 7-2 record on the year. In the boys game forward Michael House whipped in 23 points to lead his mates to the win. Wingate with 16 points and Paramore, who had 12, paced the Winterville attack.

The win was the fourth conference victory of the year for Bethel without a loss. A last quarter offensive spurt fell short for Winterville and the Bethel boys had their win in the bag.

East Carolina Team Unbeaten This Year

Duquesne Downs Deacons; Bevo Scores 82 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—The powerful Duke of Duquesne gilded by their first major basketball test so easily that the question today was "Who's going to stop them?"

Playing the first game in Pittsburgh's four-team Steel Bowl tournament, Duquesne defeated Wake Forest, last season's Southern Conference champions, 76-61, using reserves most of the second half.

The Deacons from the South figured to be a major hurdle in Duquesne's campaign for national prominence, particularly since they beat North Carolina State earlier in the week.

But the Dukes never had to apply the pressure. They led by 61 points at the half and used the full 12-man squad before it was over. Dickie Hemic of Wake Forest salvaged the scoring honors with 23 points. Dick Ricketts got 19 and Si Green, highly touted sophomore forward, 17 for the winners.

Captain Dutch Burch sank a field goal with three seconds to play as Pittsburgh upset Bradley 66-64 in the other Steel Bowl game.

Touring Texas Christian, defending Southwest Conference champion, bowed to Brigham Young of the Skyline Conference 59-48. The Skyline teams had success elsewhere too, with Wyoming beating Creighton 71-65, Utah taking the measure of Loyola of Los Angeles 87-56 and Utah State whipping Montana State 77-65.

George Washington, one of the better teams in the Mid-Atlantic area, rallied in the second half for an 81-67 Southern Conference decision over Richmond.

St. John's of Brooklyn, a finalist in last year's National Invitation Tournament, still is having trouble finding the right combination this season. The Redmen won their third straight, 75-53, at the expense of Fairfield, but it was close through the first half.

Al Lipson scored 32 points as North Carolina opened its collegiate schedule with a 71-41 victory over William and Mary.

Rio Grande and Bevo Francis returned to small college competition and Bevo promptly scored 82 points, bettering the listed small college record of 72 points set by Nate DeLong of River Falls, Wis., and the major college mark of 73 by Bill Mikvy of Temple. Last night's score was 116-71 over Blue Basketball moves over into East Carolina College's Memorial Gym tonight after holding forth in Greenville High School Gymnasium throughout the week.

The occasion tonight is the first meeting of the young season for Coach Howard Porter's undefeated Pirates and Coach Jim (Pappy) Hamilton's highly-regarded Lenoir-Rhyne Bears. The game, tip-off time slated for 8 o'clock, will be a North State Conference contest.

The game will be the third of the year for the Bucs and their second at home. They hold previous wins over Belmont Abbey (in a road contest) and Guilford (in Memorial Gym a week ago). The victory over Guilford was a North State Conference contest.

Freshman forward Don Harris is expected to account for the only major line-up change by Coach Porter tonight. The freshman ace from Laurinburg will open at the position held by Paul Jones in the two previous games. It will be Harris' first starting job although he did play most of the game against Guilford.

The rest of the starting line-up will be the same. Charlie Huffman will team with Harris at forward. Bobby Hodges will be at center. J. C. Thomas and Cecil Heath have locks on the guard positions.

Hamilton's flag-happy Bears have been rolling along with ease through the combined efforts of a veteran and one newcomer who was once rated the hottest college prospect in North Carolina. The hot-shot is forward Floyd Propst, the former Camp Lejeune High School ace who was everybody's All-State player when he was in high school.

Propst went to Carolina for a year after leaving high school but transferred to Lenoir-Rhyne last year. He was ineligible for intercollegiate competition last year but he did play semi-pro ball for the DeHart Trainers, a strong semi-pro team, in Hickory.

Chief gun in the Lenoir-Rhyne attack is still guard Roland Barker, the sharp-shooting Kentuckian who came South for baseball. He has been a star with the Bears for two previous seasons.

After tonight's game, the Pirates have one more pre-Christmas contest remaining. That will be on Monday night when they meet Catawba in another North State Conference game. Tip-off time for the Monday game will be at 7:30.

(Ohio) College. Bevo scored more than 100 points last season but it was against a junior college outfit.

In other games Rice beat Sam Houston 69-77; Seattle outscored Pepperdine College 84-65; California edged San Jose State 86-68; Southern California tripped Hawaii 69-46; and Washington State defeated Gonzaga 60-46.

Grimesland Scores Double Wins Over Chocowinity

Carter May Fight February Match In Cincinnati

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Promoter Sam Becker popped up with a $30,000 offer today to lightweight champion Jimmy Carter to defend his title against Wallace (Bud) Smith, the No. 1 challenger, at Cincinnati in February or March.

As Carter just finished his third defense of 1953 and doesn't have to go again until May, he probably will take his time answering. Anyway, Eddie Chavez looks like his next challenger in San Francisco.

Smith beat back the No. 2 challenger, Cuban Orlando Zuleta, last night at Madison Square Garden to win a unanimous decision in 10 dullish rounds. Only in the seventh and eighth, when Smith shook up Zuleta, did the fight arouse the small crowd of 2,991 that paid $17,708.

Referee Ruby Goldstein scored 7-3-1, Judge Art Susskind 7-3 and Judge Bert Grant 8-4-1, all for Smith. The AP card had it 6-3-1 for Smith.

Vic Marsilio, manager of Smith, said in the dressing room he had a wire from George Barton, past president of the National Boxing Assn., to the effect that Smith would be recognized as the leading contender if he beat Zuleta. Vic said Bob Christenberry, New York State Athletic Commission chairman, was agreeable to the idea.

GRIMESLAND—A 22-point scoring spree by forward Bobby Andrews paced Grimesland to a 40-23 win over Chocowinity last night at Grimesland. In a preliminary contest the Grimesland lassies whipped the Chocowinity girls 40-22.

In the boys' contest Grimesland jumped ahead to a 10-3 margin at the end of the first period and was never headed. They lengthened their lead to 33-11 by the end of the third period and then relied on substitutes.

Second high man for the winners in the scoring parade was S. W. Heath with 11 points. Roger Mills, an alert forward, paced the defensive play and also chipped in with numerous assists to his teammates. Mayo, with eight points, led Chocowinity's scoring.

Becky Mills' 24 points was the scoring highlight for Grimesland in the preliminary contest. Adrine White played a stellar defensive game for the winners.

The win gave the Grimesland girls an overall mark of 3-4 while the boys' victory lifted their record to 4-3 for the season. Next contest for Grimesland will be Tuesday night when they travel to Stokes to engage the Stokes-Pactolus squads.

North Carolina State will be host to Eastern Kentucky and North Carolina enters South Carolina, while William and Mary moves over to Duke.

Safety Awards Won By Twenty-Four Employees Of Utilities Commission

Twenty-four employees of the Greenville Utilities Commission received safe driving awards at a dinner meeting last night.

There were 61 employees of the Commission present at the meeting that was highlighted by the presentations and a talk on safety by Larry Brown, business manager of the Commission.

Roy Martin, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, expressed appreciation on behalf of the Board for the continuing efforts on the part of employees in maintaining service and their loyalty and devotion to their job.

In the talk on Safety, Brown stressed that at this time of the year "one becomes apt to relax and become a little carefree and maybe forget to be as careful as usual."

"This business of safety is just as important whether you are at work or play, at home or on your job, because an injury is just as painful and suffering just as great no matter what you were doing when you received it, and the mental anguish suffered by other members of the family as just as severe in addition to the fact that there may be a loss of income, if it's you who is injured, which is never a pleasant outlook for any of us," he said.

Brown presented each employee a manual of safety practices adopted by the commission.

Superintendent Martin Swartz told the employees that he was happy that such a good meeting could be held and he wished that it could happen more often because it gets everyone in the Commission closer together."

Those receiving the safe driver awards: J. C. Boyd, one year; T. R. Boyd, one year; S. E. Briley, nine years; J. F. Crawford, six years; W. A. Darden, eight years; Mac E. Fleming, two years; A. B. Goodson, two years.

H. Heath, one year; W. E. Hill, nine years; H. W. Hoell, two years; W. R. Jackson, four years; Marvin James, six years; A. S. Johnson, one year; J. Jones, three years; E. L. Pollard, five years; J. Pollard, five years.

J. C. Roebuck, one year; N. A. Roebuck, six years; K. R. Rowe, ten years; H. E. Savage, three years; S. R. Spain, nine years; J. B. Stocks, two years; Lloyd Vincent, seven years; W. F. Western, two years.

Each man received a certificate and some men received a pin also.

Cars Collide In Parking Mishap

A car driven by Carrie Evans Forbes, Route 1, Greenville collided with an automobile driven by Billie Harrelson Tebeau of Brookgreen last night when Mrs. Tebeau stopped to park.

Police reported that Mrs. Tebeau had stopped to back into a parking space when the second car crashed into the rear.

Damage to Mrs. Tebeau's car was estimated at $20 and to Mrs. Evans' car $100.

The wreck was investigated by B. R. Buck and no charges were placed.

King wouldn't have cared to have a preacher moralizing over him. He wouldn't have cared to have the curious staring at him in such a disadvantageous position.

Timber Demonstration Held In Pitt Thursday

Farmers in this area saw demonstrations of power saws, a bow saw and a portable timber harvester at a timber demonstration on the farm of Arch Flanagan near Farmville Thursday afternoon.

Largest piece of equipment demonstrated was a Jackson Timber Harvester, a portable saw mill which can be set up in 35 or 40 minutes ready for operation. Other equipment demonstrated included a one-man bow saw and a portable power saw.

Jim H. Phillips, State extension forestry specialist, put on a demonstration of timber thinning. Phillips showed farmers attending the meeting the type trees to cut out of a timber stand. He noted that the trees thinned out give the good trees a chance to develop. The under developed trees thinned out can be used for pulp wood or fence posts, he noted.

Phillips also demonstrated the best method of timber scaling—determining the number of board feet in a standing tree. Using a tree scale stick the number of board feet in a standing tree can be determined within 3 per cent.

Two contests were held at the demonstration for which 3 merchant, use certificates were given to the winners by C.H. Edwards House of Greenville.

The first contest was a timber scaling affair. Growers were to guess the number of board feet in two standing trees. The trees were cut at the end of the demonstration and sawed up into boards. It was found that the two trees produced 362 1-3 feet of lumber, M.L. Turnage of Greenville and James W. Moore of Farmville tied in this contest. Both men estimated the 360 board feet of lumber would be obtained from the trees.

The second contest called for the farmers to guess the number of cords of wood thinned from an acre of timber. 11.36 cords were thinned out and Roy Worthington of Stokes won with an estimate of 11.6 cords.

The court found probable cause and bound him over to Superior Court.

The case in which Charles E. Jones was charged with assaulting a female was dismissed.

Robert Moore, Negro, paid $10 for being drunk.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Friday, Judge Charles H. Wheebec found Leroy Jenkins Knight, 20-year-old Negro, guilty of four charges—possession and transporting unlicensed whiskey, assault with a deadly weapon (an automobile), careless and reckless driving and speeding 90 miles an hour.

The court gave Knight six months on the roads for possession and transporting, sentence suspended on payment of $100, costs deducted; for assaulting officers with a deadly weapon (an automobile) 60 days on the roads; for careless and reckless driving, six months on the roads, sentence to run concurrently with the possession sentence, and to be suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted; for speeding at 90 miles an hour, the court gave Knight six months on the roads, sentence to run consecutively with the other six-months sentence. Sentence is to be suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted.

The court ordered Knight's car to be confiscated and sold.

Testimony was that Knight's car collided with a car driven by State Highway Patrolmen Jim Davis and Shep Newman at Fifth and Tyson Streets while the officers were transporting a highway wreck victim to a hospital.

Judge Wheebec ordered that this case be held open until next Wednesday's court, when the defendant decides about appealing to Superior Court.

William Whitehurst, Negro, who had been convicted of non-support of illegitimate children, was ordered to serve three months on the roads.

Ernest Little, Negro, was given 30 days on the roads for failure to stop at a traffic light, sentence suspended on payment of $10. On the charge of driving without an operator's license, the court gave Little 30 days on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he not operate a motor vehicle for six months, unless he makes adequate restitution for personal injury and property damage.

The judgment also provides that he is not to operate a motor vehicle without an operator's license and pay $15 court costs.

Norman E. Tripp, who was charged with non-support, was acquitted. The court taxed his wife, Mrs. Ruby Tripp, with court costs for malicious and frivolous prosecution when she failed to appear to testify against him.

The case in which Marcus E. Patton was charged with speeding was not pressed.

Chester Joyner, Negro, was given 30 days on the roads for larceny.

Peter B. Tuttle, speeding, 30 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for 60 days.

Arthur J. Richardson, speeding, 90 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for nine months.

Hyman E. Boyd was found not guilty of failure to yield right of way.

Sylvester Vick Jr., carpenter, was charged with forgery of a check on Roy G. Smith, contractor, for $37.49.

Colored News

Chorus Presents 'The Messiah' On Sunday

Above is the East Carolina College Choir which will present Handel's Messiah tomorrow at 4 p. m. in Wright auditorium at the college. The choir is under the direction of Dr. Elwood Keister. Organist for the program will be George E. Perry of the college music department and pianist will be Gloria Keister. (Reflector Photos by Alvin Taylor).

A chorus of 125 singers from campus and community will combine to present Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," in Wright Auditorium of East Carolina College on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The event, sponsored by the East Carolina College Music Department, will feature seven soloists.

Music students in solo roles will be Monteen Winstead of Tabor City, soprano; Patsy Pappendick of Elizabeth City, alto; Ellen Sprinkle of Asheville, alto; and Gerald Murphy of China Grove, tenor.

Mrs. Allison Hearne Moss, soprano, and Ed O. Parkinson, bass, both of Greenville, and Dr. Elwood Keister, tenor, will also have solo parts.

Dr. Keister of the college faculty will conduct the chorus in the performance of the popular and inspiring oratorio. George E. Perry, also member of the Music department faculty, will be organist, and Mrs. Gloria Keister of Greenville will be pianist.

For several years the pre-Christmas presentation of "The Messiah" has attracted large audiences from over Eastern North Carolina. This is the first year for a joint college-community project of this type and Dr. Keister is pleased with the production.

In his first year as a member of the East Carolina faculty, Dr. Keister is making his initial appearance as conductor of the chorus. He is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and of Teachers College, Columbia University. His professional experience as conductor and singer also includes appearances with many noted music organizations, including the Robert Shaw Chorale.
