

Broader Social Security Coverage, Benefits Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today proposed bringing 10 million more Americans under social security, increasing benefits all along the line, and raising to $4,200 the amount of income subject to social security taxes.

The President set forth a six-point program for "improvement" of the social security system. 1. Expansion of insurance protection to about ten million more people not presently covered...

75, cannot draw social security payments if earnings are more than $75 a month. Similarly a widow of an insured worker loses her payment if she takes a job and earns more than $75 a month.

Under this formula, the four lowest years of earnings would be eliminated when calculating the earned payments. 6. Protection of the benefit rates of the disabled. Eisenhower recom-

After setting out his six-point program, Eisenhower also dealt at some length with the public assistance programs. Under such programs, states and localities provide assistance to the needy aged, dependent children, blind persons, and the permanently and totally disabled...

Accordingly, he recommended that the formula for federal sharing in the public assistance program "reflect this changing relationship without prejudicing in any manner the receipt of public assistance payments by those whose need for these payments will continue."

Variation in federal participation he said, is the result of a congressional policy that the federal government's share should be higher for states which, because of low resources, generally make low assistance payments.

The President said that a new formula "should take into account the financial capacity of the several states to support their public assistance programs by adopting, as a measure of that capacity, their per capita income."

'Right To Know' Issues Talked By Newsmen, Judges

RALEIGH (AP)—Newsmen, judges and other court officials today engaged in frank discussion of mutual problems encountered in keeping the public informed of court proceedings.

Gov. Umstead set the stage for the "Freedom of Information" conference with the assertion that "We all agree, of course, that public business should be conducted in the open."

When came a panel discussion between court officials and newsmen during which Superior Court Judge Sussie Sharp asserted that newspapers "do sometimes interfere with due process" in their reporting of trials.

Judge Sharp added that by printing in advance of trials "rumors, alleged confessions" and statements from opposing lawyers the papers "can destroy the presumption of innocence" and "in short, prevent a fair trial."

Federal Judge Johnson J. Hayes declared that the constitutional guarantee of a jury trial "means a public trial" and that "publicity is the terror of tyranny."

Judge Hayes said he felt freedom of the press should include coverage of court proceedings but that rules laid down by the U. S. Supreme Court forbid their use in Federal Court.

He declared that a "conscientious public servant ought to welcome the public getting knowledge of his official acts." The people, he said, will overlook mere mistakes, but "they detest corruption."

"Concealment or the prevention of letting the public know the public's business arouses suspicion and distrust," he asserted. "It creates a state of uneasiness and division, consequences which can be avoided in a free country like ours."

He added that there will always be a difference of opinion between the newsmen and public officials on questions of coverage, but "I am sure that when such differences arise in North Carolina we can settle them in a reasonable and sensible manner."

The governor reminded his listeners that freedom of speech and of press carry responsibilities for unbiased and accurate reporting "to the end that all citizens may be properly informed and make decisions based upon accurate and reliable information."

He said the rights of freedom of speech and of press "have withstood the storms of violence and abuse throughout our history and they have served as the firm foundations upon which we have built our nation."

Judges, sheriffs, chiefs of police and state officials gathered with the newsmen for the conference which was sponsored by radio and newspaper members of the Associated Press in North Carolina.

The governor's address was followed by a panel discussion between members of the judiciary and newsmen on problems of covering court news. Later there was a luncheon and in the afternoon another panel discussion, this time with newsmen and law enforcement officers participating.

The luncheon was featured by an address delivered by J. Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and chairman of the Freedom of Information Committee, American Society of Newspaper Editors, President Gordon Gray of the University of North Carolina presided at the luncheon.

Holt McPherson, editor of the High Point Enterprise, served as conference chairman. Charles H. Crutfield of Charlotte, vice president and general manager of Station WBT-WBT, served as moderator of the hidden panel discussion, and D. Hiden Ramsey, general manager of the Asheville Citizen-Times was moderator of the law enforcement panel.

be pure and correct in its processes, but absolutely public in everything that affects it. I cannot imagine a public man with a conscience having a secret that he would keep from the people about their own affairs."

Critical Test Of Strength For Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's efforts to tone down Sen. Bricker's amendment to limit treaty-making powers pointed him today toward a critical test of his strength in Congress.

The weight of political opinion here seemed to be that if Eisenhower fails to convince enough GOP lawmakers that the Ohio Republican's proposal is bad, he may suffer a defeat that would dilute his prestige and perhaps threaten major segments of his legislative program.

Democrats said privately they intend to sit out, for the time being, the backstage battle over Bricker's proposal to amend the Constitution to (1) spell out that treaties should not override domestic law and (2) give Congress power to regulate executive agreements not submitted to the Senate for ratification.

An influential Democratic senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, said he is not averse to letting the Republicans cut each other up politically on the issue. He said it seemed obvious the Bricker amendment had been aimed originally at a Democratic president and that some GOP members were embarrassed now that a Republican was in the White House.

"If Atty. Gen. Brownell and Secretary of State Dulles can't keep the Republicans lined up on the President's side, then maybe we Democrats will have to step into the breach later to save Eisenhower and the country."

Brownell and Dulles have been negotiating with Bricker in an effort to get the Ohioan to modify his amendment, adoption of which they contend would hamstring the President's authority to deal with other nations.

Sidestep Neutral Commission Quarrel By Restoring Men To Captors India Returning POWs On Jan. 20

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD PANMUNJOM (AP)—Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya announced today that India's custodial troops will return unrepatriated Korean War prisoners to their Allied and Communist captors next Wednesday morning—nearly three days before their scheduled release as civilians.

In letters to the Red and Allied commands, Thimayya said India acting alone, would return the captives as prisoners, not civilians—"as the only correct and lawful and peaceful course open."

Poland and Czechoslovakia, the commission's two Iron Curtain members, presumably stood firm on Red demands that the prisoners be held until a peace conference settles their fate. The Communist Peiping radio called this a "mandatory provision" of the armistice.

The Allies contend that the armistice calls for the POWs to revert automatically to civilian status at midnight Jan. 22, when they must be released. Thimayya stressed that India was returning the captives as prisoners, not civilians. He warned both commands that if they changed their status they will "not be in conformity" with the armistice.

Big Four Representatives Unable Agree On Sites In Berlin Deadlocked, 11 Days Before Meeting

BERLIN (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers' conference bumped into a deadlock today — 11 days before the parity was due to start. Unable to agree on sites in Berlin for the parity Allied and Russian representatives asked their home governments what to do.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said the United States did not believe the deadlock would postpone the conference beyond the Jan. 25 target opening date, but there was speculation in political circles here that the Russians were preparing to torpedo the meeting.

A senior Allied official here said the past week's four meetings of the Berlin commandants of the four powers involved 37 hours of wrangling and were a "waste of time."

The four powers are due to discuss the future of Germany and Austria, but the Soviet Union is expected to bring up other proposals, such as a five-power "peace conference" with Red China attending.

Committee Critical Of Supply, Service Set-Up Overhauling Advised Army

By C. YATES MCDANIEL WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army was told today it needs two new major commands and a thorough overhaul of its supply and training systems to meet the long pull of peace, half-war or another world conflict.

A committee composed of four businessmen and one general also called for strengthening the authority of the secretary of the Army and protecting it against absorption by the secretary of defense and his staff.

Reporting to Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, the committee aimed its strongest criticisms at the Army's supply system and technical services. It characterized their direction as sometimes "confusing" and their authority as often "diluted" to such point that these services would be inadequate in the event of another full-scale mobilization.

The report specifically called for creation of a third assistant secretary of the Army, for financial management, a second vice chief of staff, for supply, and establishment of a continental Army command and a supply command.

Two Big Cats Are Slain In Bladenboro Vicinity

BLADENBORO, N. C. (AP)—Two more suspects, both dead, have entered the Beast of Bladenboro rogues gallery. Both animals were killed yesterday near Bladenboro. One, a bobcat was trapped and shot in the Big Swamp about four miles from here.

The second, a spotted "leopard cat", was run over and killed by a service station operator near Bladenboro last night. The widespread search for the strange "vampire" beast was set off when seven dogs were found killed recently, their bodies drained of blood. The search was called off last week after officers theorized that the animal had been frightened away from the district by the mobs of armed hunters.

The bobcat was trapped and killed by Luther Davis. The "leopard-like" animal was killed on the highway by Bruce Soles. This possibly is an ocelot. Both animals generally fit the description of the "vampire" beast. The bobcat was gray, about 30 inches long and had a stumpy tail. The bobcat was lighter than the "vampire" which was estimated to weigh about 90 to 100 pounds. The animal killed on the highway was spotted like a leopard, was about 20 to 24 inches high and weighed between 75 to 90 pounds. Its tail was about eight inches long. The bobcat and the "leopard cat" join such other nefarious suspects as a black panther that has never been seen and a half-wild German police-hound dog.

The report advocated refining the Army chief of staff's role as "operating manager" for the Army "fully accountable to the Army secretary."

Infant Dies As Parents Refuse Treatment On Religious Grounds

CHICAGO (AP)—An 8-day-old boy died early today, several hours after young parents had refused on religious grounds to permit doctors to give him a blood transfusion.

The parents, Thomas Grzyb, 20, and his wife Barbara, 18, yesterday refused to sign a waiver which would have permitted an immediate blood transfusion. The best we are doing now is with transfusions of glucose.

The baby is getting weaker by the minute," Dr. Lerner said last night. "I almost got on my knees begging the parents to allow a blood transfusion. The best we are doing now is with transfusions of glucose."

But the baby died early today at the hospital. The parents were not there, an official said. "If the baby dies, that is God's will," the young mother had said as she and her husband refused to allow the transfusion. "I have no fear. The blood won't make any difference. I am not going to hand him over to the court until I have to. The judge doesn't care what's in the Bible."

Dr. Lerner said the couple's son, Thomas Jr., had needed a transfusion since birth. He said last night the baby had been in a state of shock since an operation for an abdominal obstruction Tuesday. "The baby is getting weaker by the minute," Dr. Lerner said last night. "I almost got on my knees begging the parents to allow a blood transfusion. The best we are doing now is with transfusions of glucose."

But the baby died early today at the hospital. The parents were not there, an official said. "If the baby dies, that is God's will," the young mother had said as she and her husband refused to allow the transfusion. "I have no fear. The blood won't make any difference. I am not going to hand him over to the court until I have to. The judge doesn't care what's in the Bible."

Sister Mary Michael of the hospital's pediatric section said she had told the young couple yesterday their baby's life depended on a blood transfusion. She added: "But the father told me, 'Our belief won't allow it. It's better to have a dead baby without the blood than a living baby with the transfusion.'"

The parents had contended the injection of blood into the veins is the same as eating blood, which they claim is forbidden by the Bible.

Memorial Service For Miss Gorrell

A memorial service for Miss Lois V. Gorrell, a retired teacher of music at East Carolina College, who died here on Christmas day, will be held at the Immanuel Baptist Church at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 17.

Many friends among her co-workers on the campus, in her church, and in the town have expressed a desire to do something in her honor. Plans are being formulated for a Lois V. Gorrell Memorial Fund for Missions. During more than a quarter of a century, while she was a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church, she showed a strong interest in both home and foreign missions and made liberal contributions to the work; therefore this type of memorial seems particularly appropriate. Any who wish to contribute may mail their checks to Mr. Clarence W. Willard, 511 East 10th St., Greenville, N. C., who will serve as treasurer.

The King's Daughters In Memorial Service

The regular monthly meeting of the Patient Circle of The King's Daughters and Sons was held on January 12 at the home of Mrs. Hugh T. Smith.

A very impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Nannie Evans for two beloved members, Miss Ruby H. Duncan and Mrs. Nancy C. Howard, who died during the year.

After the business session a history of the organization was given by Miss Estelle Greene. The King's Daughters and Sons was founded on Jan. 13, 1886 in the home of Mrs. Margaret Botton in New York City by 10 ladies. The group chose a little silver maiestee cross for its badge and this for its motto: "Look up and not down. Look forward and not back. Look out and not in. And lend a hand."

In addition to this significant motto, they chose the watchword "In His Name," and the text "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

The organization is now international in scope, conducting schools for boys and girls, homes for elderly people, working with the Indians, and many other worthwhile projects.

The N. C. Branch participates in many activities such as providing scholarships, supporting the Stone-wall Jackson Training School at Concord, and in maintaining homes in Raleigh, Durham and Rocky Mount.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Hugh T. Smith, V. C. Fleming, Alice Keel, J. B. Smith, J. E. Nobles, Nan Moore and W. G. Ward.

Would you trade a Penny for a Dollar?

You can if you use Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda for your top-dressing and side-dressing needs. It costs a little more because it's worth more. But the difference in cost usually can be measured in pennies per acre, while the difference in value often amounts to dollars per acre.

Chilean "Bulldog" Soda gives you generous extra value. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate. It's 100 per cent available (quick-acting); 100 per cent dependable. The minor elements make crops stronger, healthier. The sodium—26 pounds in every 100-pound sack—is a key to maximum returns on your entire fertilizer investment. It offsets the bad effects of acid-forming fertilizers...increases the efficiency of mixed fertilizers containing them. It releases "locked-up" potash in the soil...increases the availability and efficiency of soil phosphate...reduces potash, calcium and magnesium losses by leaching...develops larger, deeper root systems.

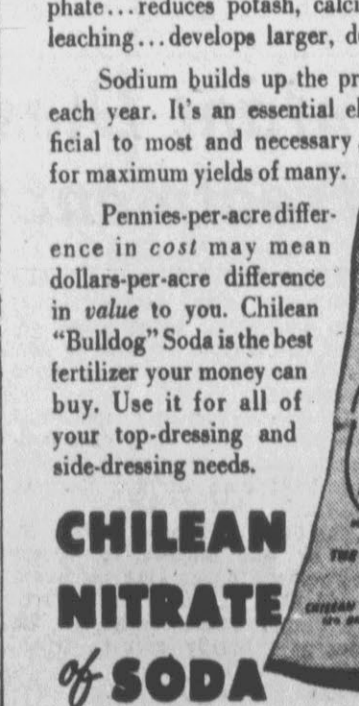

Sodium builds up the productivity of your land—more each year. It's an essential element for some crops...beneficial to most and necessary for maximum yields of many.

Pennies-per-acre difference in cost may mean dollars-per-acre difference in value to you. Chilean "Bulldog" Soda is the best fertilizer your money can buy. Use it for all of your top-dressing and side-dressing needs.

Seawell Hits Rejection Of His Appointment By GOP

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Herbert F. Seawell Jr. of Carthage says his rejection by the Justice Department as the state's U. S. Middle District attorney is "a slap in the face to the North Carolina Republican party."

Seawell, who was the GOP candidate for governor in 1952, was recommended for the Middle District post by the state GOP. Subsequently, the Justice Department rejected his nomination. Tuesday department officials said Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell "didn't have time" to meet with the North Carolina GOP leaders, pressing for Seawell's appointment.

Apparently resigned to Seawell's rejection, State GOP Chairman T. E. Story of Wilkesboro said yesterday that the four top North Carolina Republican leaders will meet in High Point Tuesday to make a new recommendation for the post.

High on the list is John L. Ingie, Winston-Salem attorney, a second choice when Seawell was recommended last summer.

Story was told by James McKillups of the GOP National Committee that there was no chance for Seawell to be named. "It looks like there's nothing we can do," Story said.

Irked at his rejection, Seawell said yesterday, "We've been doing all the talking. . . it's high time for them (Washington Republicans) to make some sort of statement."

Seawell called the rejection a "slap in the face" to the state Republican party and a "poor way to establish a two-party South."

Scheduled to meet with Story in High Point are Mrs. Anne K. Hickman of Winston-Salem, state vice chairman; Mrs. W. P. Few of Durham, national committeewoman; and J. E. Brothill of Lenoir, national committeeman.

Story said besides Ingie's name, two other applications have been received.

Bank Board Will Consider Permits

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Banking Commission will meet here next Wednesday to consider several applications including one for permission to open a new industrial bank in Albemarle.

The proposed Albemarle bank would be known as the Stanly Industrial Bank. Other applications include:

Peoples Savings Bank & Trust Co., Wilmington, for authority to open a branch in Wilmington to be known as the Dawson Street Branch.

Bank of Raleigh for permission to open a teller's window branch to be known as the Fairview Road Branch.

Peoples Bank, Roxboro, for permission to open a branch in Roxboro for the purpose of handling and servicing installment loans. It would be known as the Court Square Branch.

Peoples Bank & Trust Co., Rocky Mount, for authority to merge with the Pinetops Banking Co. and establish a branch at Pinetops.

The Scottish Bank, Lumberton, for permission to open a teller's window branch in Salisbury to be known as West Inns Drive-In.

Peoples Bank & Trust Co., Rocky Mount, for authority to move its consumer credit department from its main office to another location.

Some State Officials In Quandary Over New Law

RALEIGH (AP)—Some state officials are in a quandary over the state's new financial responsibility law which went into effect Jan. 1.

Under the new law, many state employees who drive state-owned vehicles may have to take out liability insurance or run the risk of losing their driver's license if they are involved in an accident. There are thousands of such state employees, including school bus drivers, highway patrolmen, and highway commission workers.

Persons who drive local governmental-owned vehicles for the cities and counties may also be in the same situation.

Under the new law, persons involved in accidents are required to furnish proof of their ability to pay damage claims which may be brought against them. Failure to furnish such proof will cause the person to lose his right to drive until the damage claims are met.

According to the law, vehicles owned by the state or its subdivisions shall be exempt from the financial responsibility act. However, it adds that this is not to be construed "to exempt the driver or operator of any motor vehicle owned by the state of North Carolina or any political subdivision thereof."

In effect, the state and local units are exempt but their drivers are not.

Under the state's torts claim law, the state will pay damages up to $8,000 to victims when a state-owned vehicle is involved in an accident provided the state's driver is at fault and there is no contributory negligence on the part of the other driver.

This does not constitute proof of financial responsibility, according to Atty. Gen. Harry McMillan. He said the state driver would be required to furnish such proof or lose his driver's license until the claim is paid by the state.

Instructions For Local Reservists

The regular meeting of the 3015th Reception Center, Army Reserves was held in Greenville Tuesday night with instruction army records administration and requisition and supply from supply depots to local units the principal topics for the meeting.

First Lieutenant Marvin Horton presented the program of instruction in the first portion of the meeting and First Lieutenant George Johnson was in charge of the instruction on the second phase of the program.

The promotion of Johnson from master sergeant to first lieutenant was recently announced by the unit.

Johnson joined the Army reserves in 1950, retaining the rank of sergeant he held when released from the Air Force in 1945. As a member of the reserve unit, he rose to the rank of master sergeant, and recently received a commission as first lieutenant.

Lt. Horton announced four members of the reserve unit recently re-enlisted in the reserve unit, and nine new reserve members have joined the unit.

Re-enlisting in the unit were SFC Ernest Spain, Jr. of Winterville; Pfc. John M. Smith of Greenville; Pfc. Joseph F. Whitehurst of Robersonville; and Pfc. Dalton W. Whitehurst of Bethel. Men who recently joined the local reserve unit are: Capt. Julian Davenport of Washington; Cpl. Lonnie Smith, Jr. of Winterville; Cpl. William S. Standell of Greenville; Pvt. Johnny Warren of Stokes; Pvt. Nathan Cannon of Greenville; Pvt. John Taylor of Grimesland; Pvt. William Vernon of Chocod; Pvt. O.J. Smith of Grimesland; and Pvt. Alvin D. Smith of Grimesland.

Lt. Horton said men interested in joining the local reserve unit are urged to contact the unit advisor at his office at 106 Ficklen Street, Greenville.

ABC Sales For 1953 Show Drop

RALEIGH (AP)—There was a decline of nearly one million dollars in the sale of legal liquor in North Carolina during 1953.

State ABC Chairman Tom Allen yesterday reported that ABC store sales last year totaled $64,980,714.65, a drop of $965,194.86 from 1952.

Allen pointed out that most of the decline occurred during the last six months of the year. During December sales amounted to $7,728,354.95, a decline of $263,361.05 from the same month of 1952.

The December drop would have been greater, Allen said, had it not been that ABC stores were opened during the month in Caswell County. Caswell's sales for the first month of operations were $37,109.95.

Mecklenburg led the state last month with total sales of $1,295,193.75. Next was Greensboro with $765,670.45. Asheville was third with $542,230.30, followed by Winston-Salem's $540,057.30.

Oregon Demos See Big Crisis

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon Democrats have urged Gov. Paul L. Patterson to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with "the deepening economic crisis."

A letter signed by the Democratic party's four top officials in the state said unemployment in Oregon was "the most critical of all states."

The State Unemployment Commission recently reported 12 percent of Oregon's workers were jobless, with a half-dozen cities reporting unemployment at 22 percent.

The governor made no immediate response.

Red Face For Expert On Theft

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Police officer E. E. Arnold an expert on recovery of stolen bicycles, gave a reporter lots of good advice yesterday on how youngsters could prevent so many thefts.

"They'll steal the wheels off bicycles, even if you've got them locked up," Arnold said.

Then officer Arnold took the reporter to the city pound, where recovered bicycles are kept locked up until claimed.

Burglars had stolen all the wheels.

The Italian government estimates that it will require 75 years more work to complete the excavation of Pompeii.

Staging Musical Comedy Jan. 18

Two East Carolina College students, members of the Teachers Playhouse, college dramatic club, have provided the script and the score for a musical comedy "Banana Moon", which the club will present Monday, January 18.

The performance will take place at 8:15 p.m. and will be open to the public. The production will be one of a series of Workshop Plays given during the school year.

The comedy, a romantic story of amateurs in a summer stock theatre, was adapted by Douglas Mitchell, Greenville sophomore, from Laurence Riley's "Return Engagement." Music for songs and dances was written by Patricia Godwin, sophomore from Havelock, with Mitchell as collaborator.

Susie Denton and Hannah Phelps, both of Raleigh, are serving as choreographers for the performance and with Charles E. Shearon of Durham will appear as principal dancers.

Scenery was designed by Jean Tetterton of Greenville and is being built under her direction. Ernest White of Waynesboro, Va., is in charge of lighting and sound effects.

The cast of "Banana Moon" includes Jeanne Pritchard, Elizabeth City; James L. Thompson, Durham; Jane Lingle China Grove; Robert Gardner, Rocky Mount; Anna Avant, Winterville; and Miss Goodwin. Mitchell is director of the production. Eleven other students will appear in minor parts.

Recital Of Works For Two Pianos Is Heard By Greenville Music Club

A recital of works for two pianos presented by Elizabeth Drake and George E. Perry of the East Carolina College faculty and an informal reception in their honor afterwards provided chief interest at the January meeting of the Greenville Music Club Tuesday of this week. Approximately 300 club members and guests were present in the Austin auditorium on the college campus to hear the faculty pianists in a program sponsored by the city music organization and the East Carolina department of music.

Selections played by Miss Drake and Mr. Perry during the evening ranged from a series of Bach preludes to works by Gershwin, Shostakovich, and other modern composers. Included among their numbers were Schubert's "Bondo Brillante", Brahms' "Variations on a Theme by Haydn", Rachmaninoff's "Floods of Springs", and Chabrier's "Espana Rhapsody."

The duo-pianists have played together during the past few years in Raleigh, Wake Forest, Farmville, Greenville, and elsewhere in eastern North Carolina. Their performance Tuesday was received with enthusiastic applause by the audience, and after the conclusion of the scheduled program they were recalled to the stage for a number of encores.

Representing the Greenville Music Club in welcoming and entertaining guests at the reception were Miss Beatrice Chastney, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gray, Mrs. Burt Greene, and Mrs. Edmund Durham.

Citizens' Responsibility Also

In exonerating Police Chief Frank Littlejohn of Charlotte of the various charges brought against him, the presiding judge made an observation by which all municipalities in North Carolina may profit.

"Men Only" Signs Are Coming Down

It is well known that the time is long past when the responsibilities of women in the life of a community were confined to staying at home, looking after the children and doing the home-making chores.

Those are still considered the duties of women, but to them have been added a multiplicity of others which in past years were considered solely the province of men.

Women on the police department of Greenville? Civic leaders would have scoffed the idea in past years, but this week, two women took the oath as police officers for the city.

Women in full charge of one of the major charity fund-raising campaigns for the community? It would not have been thought of a number of years ago, but this year women of Greenville and Pitt County have taken full charge of the annual March of Dimes campaign and from reports are doing a splendid job of raising funds.

A member of the "weaker sex" in a high elective office of Pitt County? The precedent of generations which had virtually placed a "men only" sign over elective offices of the county went by the board two years ago.

The fairer sex is certainly proving itself far from the "weaker sex" in community activities and the shouldering of community responsibilities. The old boundaries which formerly set out woman's world in limited confines for the most part have been removed. For the most part the woman's world of today expands as far, and into as many fields as does the man's world.

And what's more, the women are proving themselves capable of competing with their male counterparts on equal terms in most fields.

CAN MIRACLES HAPPEN?

People often tell us that no one can believe in miracles in a scientific age. Miracles, they say, are contrary to natural law, and science has proved that nothing ever occurs contrary to the working of natural law.

But miracles may be the result of the operation of spiritual laws, which take precedence over physical laws, as the spirit takes precedence over things natural. It is also possible that the miracles recorded in the Bible were the result of operation of higher physical laws than we have yet discovered, or they may have been the result of the operation of physical laws in combinations different from anything we have ever known.

A metal like iron will not rise from the ground because gravity pulls it toward the ground, but the operation of other laws turns this piece of iron into an airplane and then it rises from the ground. Water does not flow uphill, but the operation and combination of certain physical laws can make it flow uphill by means of the pump.

In other words, no one physical law operates alone, and when they begin operating in combination, these combinations produce airplanes, pumps, radios and TV sets. Think of the combinations being even more complex and higher and presided over by the wisdom of God, and you can see how a miracle is possible. It is presumptuous to say that miracles cannot happen.

Detractors Sink To New Low

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The fierce barrage laid down against President Eisenhower's nomination of Robert Emmet Lee for the Federal Communications Commission brings to light an unlovely and desperate attempt by a small clique of New Deal-Fair Deal radio-television commentators to hold their jobs and to continue to propagandize without any restraint.

The critics of Lee's selection have tried to link him with Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, who has been their nightly target for his investigation of Communists in Government during the Roosevelt-Truman era. Some have even raised the religious issue, stringing supposedly forgotten prejudices on the ground that McCarthy and Lee are Catholics.

Some have accused in writing—a few also serve as Washington correspondents—the Eisenhower Administration of being pro-Catholic although Protestantism's leading churchman, John Foster Dulles, occupies the top Cabinet post, and a Mormon elder, Ezra Taft Benson, sits at the same illustrious family table.

LEE'S SPONSOR—The Lee detractors maintain that his appointment and confirmation will give McCarthy control of the Federal Communications Commission, especially as Lee named John C. Doerfer of Wisconsin to that body almost a year ago. Their fearful theory is that Doerfer and Lee would take orders from "Joe."

The fact is that, although McCarthy and Lee are friends, Lee's real sponsor is Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. As chairman of Senate Appropriations, Bridges admired Lee's work when he was chief counsel, investigator and accountant for the House Appropriations Committee. Lee is a former Chicago policeman who studied to be a lawyer, and became one of J. Edgar Hoover's stars as an accountant-detective and bankruptcy expert.

Doerfer and McCarthy barely know each other. Doerfer was named to FCC as the logical successor when the term of Paul Walker, Oklahoma Democrat, expired. Walker had been the Commission's utility expert, and Doerfer had enjoyed long experience in that field as chairman of the Wisconsin Public Util-

The judge pointed out that while there may have been some misconduct going on in the police department of the Queen City, there also appeared there were illegal activities which were being carried on and condoned by civic leaders of the community.

Charges brought against the Police Chief included assertions that he had allowed gambling and racketeering to flourish in Charlotte.

Certainly if civic leaders and influential leaders of any community are going to condone gambling in private clubs and other illegal activities, it will make the job of the law enforcement officers more difficult if not next to impossible. In the case in Charlotte it was brought out that slot machines which were taken from one of the clubs had been stored in a warehouse owned by one of the members of the city council.

Almost without exception, the moral fibre of its law enforcement agencies is going to reflect the moral fibre of the people of the community. If the leading citizens are willing to close their eyes to gambling and other illegal acts, chances of the law enforcement agencies being prone to follow a similar course are going to increase. In practically every government situation, the agencies of the government will meet the standards of performance of their duties which is demanded by the people. If the people are willing to have lax enforcement of the law and let illegal activities flourish, chances are they will flourish.

While it is primarily the responsibility of the citizens of any community to lend support to those laws by abiding by them and by insisting that they be enforced.

In the Charlotte case, it can hardly be denied that the responsibility for whatever bad conditions exist in the city must be shared by the citizenry as well as by the law enforcement officers.

LABOR UNDER SOCIALISM

Working people who still believe that government ownership or control of basic industry is in their interest would do well to read a recent Reader's Digest article by Joseph A. Fisher, president of the Utility Workers Union (CIO) of America.

Mr. Fisher said: "We know from experience that our members employed by Government-sponsored co-ops of the Rural Electrification Administration, as well as those employed by municipalities which run their own light-and-power business, work under conditions inferior to those enjoyed by our members employed in private industry. . . . Consumer rates, wages and conditions of employment are fixed by political management while the worker is denied the right to use either economic or legal appeal against the Government."

The concluding sentence to Mr. Fisher's article is also memorable. He said: "Our union calls for curtailment of Government encroachment on private enterprise and a return of the electric-power business to regulated, taxpaying privately owned companies." (Industrial News Review)

"Total tax burden being carried by the people of Oregon approximates $862,600,000 this year. It is equal to nearly one third of the $2,800,000,000 estimated net income of the people of the state." Oregon Voter

"That section (government monopoly over atomic energy) must be repealed before anyone can safely invest other people's money in this business. . . . It was probably a good provision when it was written, but is a deterrent at the present time." David E. Lillenthal.

THEIR SECRET FEAR—The radical, New Dealish and anti-Lee commentators, however—it is unnecessary to identify them—have a secret sorrow and fear. They figure that their present jobs, or at least their partisan use of the new science of communications and propaganda, may be jeopardized by Lee's reorganized regulatory body.

They know from personal experience that the great radio-television chains and corporations stand in awe of the FCC and the Department of Justice. They know, too, that these Federally regulated firms aim to "keep in right" with whatever Party or administration does the day-by-day regulating. Their pathetic willingness to grant free time to McCarthy to reply to Truman's passing mention of the Senator reflects their low-towing attitude.

FAVORED IN DEMOCRATIC REGIME—As a matter of fact, these Roosevelt-Truman disciples and zealots—many of them—were placed and kept on the air and on television for this very reason. The FCC and D. J. can make it nasty and difficult for the radio-television hucksters and without straining the statutes or the regulations.

Instead of crackdowns or anti-monopoly actions, they received many favors during the Roosevelt-Truman regime, and they reciprocated by hiring and retaining—ever sustaining—these kindly and friendly commentators. Only a few individuals and chains dared to treat the Democrats objectively or critically.

Thus, by blocking confirmation of the Lee selection, the current crop of broadcasters seek to force Lee to name a man who will permit them to continue to feather their own lucrative and ideological nests. That is the hidden background of the anti-Lee cabal.

TRYING TO FORGET—A fellow guest at a dinner party recently reminded former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana that he had voted for the La Follette-Wheeler ticket in the 1924 Presidential campaign.

"Please," grinned Wheeler, "don't mention it. I have been trying to forget that affair for 30 years!"

Somebody Told Me

Lazy, Or Is Schedule Wrong?

How about telling me the cure for laziness. There are certain tricks that I go through life doing and later feel like kicking myself in the pants for. Maybe you do some of the same things.

For example, did you take a bath last night? When it came time to take one I was too interested in going to bed. So today I feel dirty all day and fuss with myself because I didn't get around to it.

Ever go to a dress-up affair and look down at your shoes and see that they should have been shined? When you were getting ready, maybe they didn't look so bad. But now, compared to the crowd, they look terrible.

Ever late to work? This trick would ruin me if it weren't for a tolerant boss. It's that last five minutes of sleep that ruins me.

Lately, TV is the trick that makes me kick myself. When other duties are calling, I sit engrossed in front of the TV set. After each show I tell myself, "I'm not going to get interested in the next one." Then, I find myself interested before I can get up. The other day I told the TV officials, "I'll be glad when you start running 'Life Begins at 80' so I can cut the thing off and go to bed." Ironically, the station had that program scheduled but couldn't run it because of a time conflict.

How about leaves on the yard? Or in the summer time, grass. When it comes to the yard I have to kick myself in the pants for about a week before getting around to it.

After all, what you accomplish in life is determined by your standards. In order to accomplish an average amount, I set myself with the highest possible standards, on the theory that I will attain 75 per cent of what I have set.

That's why I have to keep kicking myself in the pants in order to come within that 75 per cent of keeping up with the schedule I have set. Back in my high school days somebody told me, "If you take on more than you have time for, you'll end up accomplishing most of it. And if you shun responsibility you'll never get anywhere."

But with the ambitious schedule that I try to meet, the only comment I have for myself is, "You lazy character, you aren't nearly meeting that schedule."

If it weren't for that ambitious schedule I would hate to think how little would be gained. And I thank you.

SECRECY AUTHORITY INCREASING (Henderson Dispatch)

Much ado was and is being made, and very properly so, about the secrecy measure enacted by the 1953 legislature. At the time the law was passed, and indeed until within the past few weeks, it was presumed this was a procedure which stood alone in this field of government. But of late additional instances have come to light wherein existing statutes permit county commissioners and boards of education alike to shut the public out of their meetings.

It was discovered in Wilmington that a law passed in 1951 repealed a former provision that county commissioner meetings should be open to all who desired to sit in on them. Now, also in Wilmington, it has been found, by a search of the statute books, that school boards may bar the public from executive sessions.

How many other governing bodies may possess the same legal authority is uncertain. Municipal councils are specifically forbidden to hold such sessions, but are as much entitled to secrecy as other agencies of government. No single one of them should be permitted to transact public business without the knowledge of interested citizens.

The press of North Carolina has been fighting the legislative secrecy law ever since it was enacted. It will take on these other instances also. And let no individual assume that this is being done through selfish motives. The press is shut out, so also are all school boards may bar the public from executive sessions. When the press is shut out, so also are all citizens. And if that is to be tolerated, democracy loses one of its strongest supports. The public generally stands to lose an inherent privilege if it submits to this high-handed procedure on the part of law-makers and administrative bodies. Each victory won by government groups makes it all the easier for them to go on to others, and it may be assumed as a certainty that they will unless stopped in their tracks by popular demand.

History Repeats Itself, As Look At Old Files Proves

By LYNN NISBET
REpetition—An old adage has it that history repeats itself. There are some who wonder whether similar events are repetition or if in fact they represent continuity. A backward glance through the office copy files shows that in mid-January of 1950 and 1952, four and two years ago, your reporter was writing about identical subjects which occupy attention now—and have every election year for a generation or more.

Two years ago there was a Governor to be elected. Now, as in 1950, there is a senatorial campaign in the offing. These are the big races. Sharing the spotlight with them were several fill-in elections for State offices and the judiciary. And, of course, a full State Legislature, several hundred county officers and all twelve Representatives in the Congress.

In January of 1952 there was speculation about who would be the main candidates. William Umstead and Hubert Olive had announced for Governor, and there was wonder if a third real contender might get in the race. Gov. Kerr Scott had just announced his all-out support of Olive. The candidates had promulgated personal platforms which were very similar in content, and in line with North Carolina traditions of progressive government. There was speculation about who would be the campaign managers and how much "pressure" the administration would apply.

About this time two years ago it was reported that trial balloons were being sent up for Luther Hodges for lieutenant governor, and it was noted that politicians around Capitol Square didn't accord him much chance. Roy Rowe was the capitol favorite and Marshall Kurfess was a likely runner-up. Governor Scott suggested Dr. Raymond Earp as a suitable No. 2 official. (Earp did not run, but later managed the unsuccessful campaign of Hubert Olive for Governor. Luther Hodges did run, along with Roe and Kurfess, and piled up such commanding lead in the first primary no run-off was called.

NOW—With one third of January gone this year, there is comparable uncertainty. The background and the foreground is very similar. Only the names of offices and candidates are different. The big race now is for the U. S. Senate, instead of Governor.

Senator Alton Lennon, serving by appointment of Governor Umstead (who had defeated Olive in 1952) as replacement for Senator Willis Smith, whose death occurred a little more than three years after he had won over Scott-appointed Senator Frank Graham in the historic 1950 primary, has announced his candidacy, and has already named John Rodman as his campaign manager. Former Governor Kerr Scott has not announced but is generally conceded to have been in the race for months.

The question now is whether a third real contender will get into that fracas. The secondary and almost equally important question is, if Scott doesn't run whom will he back against Lennon? And there are the same questions down the line about the extent of pressure likely to be applied by the administration in behalf of the Governor's choice. Whether this is repetition or continuity depends largely upon the shades of meaning given definitions of the words.

SPECULATIVE—Two years ago at about this date there was speculation about whether General Eisenhower would run again. In view of developments since, it is hard to realize that this kind of speculation was going on just 24 months ago. And that, in essential elements, it was going on also 24 years ago. Many of the salient features of the Bailey-Simmons campaign in 1930 are present in the 1954 senatorial race, further emphasizing the question of whether it is repetition or continuity.

The basic principle is the same as it has been through the decades—that North Carolinians are fairly equally divided in allegiance to fundamental political tenets, that for lack of adequate words are usually called conservative and liberal. There really isn't much difference in the tenets and not much in the majorities or minorities returned for one or the other on election day.

TERMINOLOGY—Such words as "Conservative" and "Liberal," the "Grand Old Party," (GOP) and the "Old Guard," the "New Deal" and the "Fair Deal," have lost their original meaning. So have such phrases as "The Full Dinner Pail," "Two Cars in Every Garage," and "Grass Growing in the Streets." The "Gold Standard," "Sixteen to One," the "No Name Party" and the "Anti-Mason" are designations found only in the dust-covered archives of long past political campaigns, in filing cabinets beside those holding references to "Radicals" and "Rebels."

They have been replaced by such currently familiar terms as "Communist," "Loyalty Oaths," "Subversive" and "McCarthyism." These are the familiar terms now on national levels. So far as North Carolina is concerned the changing terminology has not greatly affected politics, except that the word "Radical" is seldom applied now to a Tarheel Republican.

There have been ups and downs for both parties and for the major factions in both, but in essentials and content in North Carolina from the days of Zeb Vance and Tom Settle to Alton Lennon and Roper Jonas, or to William

Business Today

The Sundown Farmer

The part-time farmer is not new any place in the world, but lately a new type has been developing in the United States. He is the sundown farmer.

The definitions aren't very sharp and the research is sketchy. But the sundown farmer is not to be confused with backyard gardener or the gentleman cultivator. Some of those who have studied the situation say he usually farms from 3 to 30 acres. Under that, he's a hobbyist or just supplementing his food supply; over that he's a professional.

Some of the sundowners are retired persons whose pensions aren't sufficient; others are commuters who put in 40 hours in an office or plant. These latter work their farms before or after their salaried jobs, or on week ends.

Statistics about average income, nature of crops and total production are lacking. Some guesses are that there are 2,000,000 persons in this particular group of agriculturists.

That would constitute a market. One of the largest retailing companies (Sears Roebuck) thinks there is. It has spent five years and approximately $1,000,000 readying a tractor and implements especially designed for this market. The tractor is larger than the walk-behind garden machines now on the market, but smaller and less expensive than the standard farm size. The company also is working on a prefabricated utility building which may be useful on large farms. It will be 21 feet wide, with a choice of lengths from 10 to 50 feet.

Many farm-supply stores have discovered the sundowner and have been selecting inventories with him, as well as the larger operators, in mind. While certain machines and structures may have special value to 3-to-30-acre farmers, the seeds, fertilizers and utensils produced for the regular market will also meet their demands.

Meanwhile, the increase in number of pension plans and the decline in farm land prices would indicate a growth of this market. Prices the Department of Agriculture reports, were 6 per cent lower in November than they were a year earlier.

SMALL BUSINESS
Small businessmen appear to be good payers. On May 1, 1950, the National City Bank of New York, after successful experience in making loans to veterans, started making loans of up to $10,000 for five years to small businesses.

OFFICE RENTALS CONTINUE HIGH
Office building rentals remain steady, according to the semi-annual survey by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Of the 259 local boards reporting, about half said vacancies were 1 per cent or less and one-third said vacancies were 2 per cent or less.

Office building property prices continued firm. Prices equal to six months ago for central locations were noted in four out of five replies. However, when prices had changed, they were more often down than up. Outlying property prices softened in a few more places.

RETAIL BUSINESS BUILDINGS had a slower market in some large cities, the NAREB survey indicated, but prices in general were stable.

Market Is Short On Real Tenors

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Tenors are getting almost as scarce as larks at the north pole.

Nor bathroom tenors. Too many of them. But real tenors, opera tenors, are in short supply. It's got some of them worried.

"In the entire world today there are only 10 tenors who can sing major dramatic roles with authority," said Ramon Vinay, a former baritone who became a tenor by accident rather than intent.

"As a result we have to travel like mad, and we are getting tired. And some of us are showing voice strain."

This may not appear much of a tragedy to the average man, who ordinarily doesn't list tenors as among the earth's major blessings, but when a few top tenors go hoarse it is a real blow to the world of serious music. Some fellow has to hit all those high notes and kiss the dying soprano, or how can the opera go on?

And it isn't as easy as it looks. "Before a new production we rehearse for about three weeks," said Vinay, who keeps in shape by weight lifting. "And believe me, five hours on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera is like 12 hours on the docks. It's like pushing a street car 20 blocks. You come home and drop dead."

All tenors are amateurs Vinay is a stand-out. He is a big bear-like man who looks like Luis Firpo, the former South American heavy weight boxer.

Vinay was born in Chile, raised in France, and started his career pushing a broom in a Mexico City department store. He also worked as a traveling salesman and a medicine box manufacturer before he settled down as a baritone in a small Mexican touring opera company. One night the regular tenor refused to go on. Vinay cleared his throat, sang the role—and learned he was a natural tenor.

"I like it better," he said, smiling. "The baritone is always the villain and never gets to kiss the soprano. The tenor does. He is the hero—and the soprano are getting pleasanter to kiss every year."

"But the audiences require more now than in the old days. They not only expect you to be able to sing. You must also act and look the part."

Vinay, who starred in the Wagnerian festival at Bayreuth, Germany, now travels up to 50,000 miles a year in America and Europe. He keeps apartments here and in Milan, but lives most of the year in hotel rooms.

"Many people don't know how to feel at home in a hotel room," he said. "But home is a state of mind. You just have to know how to make yourself comfortable."

Vinay makes himself comfortable by toting along a medicine ball which he bounces against the wall when he needs exercise. He sometimes also packs a five-foot telescope-astrometry is one of his hobbies—and if he becomes bored he sets it up by the hotel window and scans the stars.

"It is very easy in this world to lose your sense of proportion," he said. "But when you look at the heavens through a telescope it reduces your personal problems of success or failure. It will give anyone a better perspective on his own importance—yes, even a tenor."

All successful people have private fears, but Vinay grinned when I asked him what he was most afraid of.

"A cold," he said. Tenors are not be sneezed at—particularly when they are six feet tall and weigh 220 pounds.

Umstead and Kerr Scott, has been consistent. Whether within the scope of activities of the dominant party or between the parties the big question has been how fast progress or change should come.

BACK-UP—Getting back to where we started the facts seem to indicate that political conditions in North Carolina in January of 1954 are not greatly different from conditions which prevailed in 1952, or 1950 or even 1930. The names of candidates are different and the particular issues have varied ramifications. The big issue is the same, and that is which group or faction is likely to predominate in the upcoming primaries and election. As of now the betting odds favor the faction which, for lack of better designation, is called the "regular-conservative," because that group has a record of consistent winning through the years, despite some lapses in the direction of what is also misnamed—the "very liberals."

Parallel Proposals In New Labor Law

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower lost his first labor pilot when Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin, head of the AFL Plumbers union, went over the side and rowed ashore.

When Durkin quit last September he said he had worked for months with White House aides on changes which the President could ask Congress to make in the Taft-Hartley labor act.

He said he had agreed from the White House on 19 proposals but that the White House then backed out. Eisenhower then denied breaking his word to any associate.

On Monday Eisenhower, probably with the help of his new secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell, sent to Congress suggested changes which have been described as totaling 14.

Actually in some paragraphs of his message several ideas were expressed or suggested. An examination of the 19 changes Durkin talked about and the ones just offered by Eisenhower show:

The Durkin version and the Eisenhower message parallel each other in eight cases; Eisenhower offered three ideas not mentioned by Durkin; Durkin had eight suggestions ignored by Eisenhower; three of Eisenhower's suggestions overlap four of Durkin's.

Here are the eight parallel proposals:

Neither an employer nor a union has to negotiate on anything during the life of a contract unless the contract itself provides for a reopening.

Employers in casual or temporary industries should be free to enter into prehire agreements with unions.

Unions should be relieved of responsibility for unauthorized acts of their individual members.

Under the present law the National Labor Relations Board must ask for an injunction against secondary boycott but this should be discretionary with the board.

Secondary boycotts should be permitted in certain cases, as when an employer does "farm-out" work for a struck employer.

Checkoff of union dues could continue until revoked in writing by an employer.

Requirements for a union's filing of information on its finances should be simplified.

Eisenhower urged clarification of the law so states won't be deprived of any rights to deal with state emergencies and announced a study is under way on conflicts between state and federal jurisdiction. Durkin suggested clarification of state and federal jurisdiction.

This was the overlap:

Eisenhower asked power to tell fact-finding boards in national emergency strike threats to make recommendations on a settlement. Durkin expressed hope that by this time the President could make some suggestions on national emergencies.

Eisenhower urged that employers as well as union leaders be required to take an anti-Communist oath. Durkin urged abolishing the oath entirely.

Eisenhower suggested a study to find better ways of safeguarding union welfare funds. Durkin suggested small employers be allowed to waive the right to participate in the fund handling.

When a strike is in progress Eisenhower urged barring another union or the employer from calling for an election to get rid of the striking union, for four months in the case of the other union and a year for the employer. Durkin's version would forbade any such election for four months.

These were suggestions not in Durkin's version but made by Eisenhower:

The mediation service must step in whenever an injunction has been issued in a labor dispute; the act should be clarified on the free speech rights of employers and unions; the government should take a vote of workers, when a strike

Want No Leaks Of Test Results

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has passed word to the Navy to do something to stop those chatty and descriptive letters sent home by military personnel who see the big and supposedly secret atomic tests in the Pacific.

Recalling a number of letters from task force personnel who witnessed the test of a hydrogen explosive device at Eniwetok in the fall of 1952, a reporter asked the AEC what would be done to prevent similar disclosures in the forthcoming series of tests at which an H-weapon is expected to be used.

An AEC spokesman replied: "The task force is expected to have adequate measures in force to safeguard security restricted data."

At the Pentagon, it was explained that the commander of every ship and of installations ashore will be ordered to see to it that each individual in his command receives specific instructions against writing any personal letters to anyone describing or otherwise hinting at what he may see in a test. In the 1952 test, some crew members were said not to have been cautioned against letter writing.

Doubt was expressed today that a mail censorship, which involves inspection of each outgoing personal letter, could be invoked except in a war or state of emergency. Even during the Korean War no mail censorship was in force.

Birthday Is Now Paid Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—Birthdays will be extra special in the future for 4,000 Chicago electrical workers. They will get the day off from work with full pay.

Michael F. Darling, president of Local 1031, AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said four Chicago area plants with which his union has contracts have agreed to that special benefit.

"A birthday is a big event in everyone's life. It should be a holiday—with pay," Darling said.

East Carolina's Pirates hit the road this weekend for two games that may well have decisive bearing on final standings at the end of the North State Conference basketball race.

Saturday night the Bucs take on Lenoir Rhyne's Bears in a contest that will pit the speed and experience of Coach Howard Porter's Bucs against the overpowering height of Lenoir Rhyne.

Earlier this season, when the Bears came to Greenville, the Pirates tacked an 87-79 defeat on them but it must be remembered that few squads play better ball on their home court than do the Pirates. Since Memorial gym was opened in December 1953 no North State Conference ball club has been able to hand the Pirates a setback on their home floor.

Roland Barker, a speedy playmaker and Bob Ortmyer, a towering center, are expected to pace the Bears attack while the Pirates should rely mainly on Bobby Hodges, the conference's leading scorer who is currently boasting a 26.4 average per contest.

Although the Bucs are undefeated this season, Saturday's contest is rated pretty much of a toss-up but should the Pirates win then they still have Western Carolina to face on Monday night.

Last year when the Pirates took off on a road trip against these same two clubs they found themselves returning to Greenville with two defeats nailed on their record.

'Not Offered Post At State' --- Tatum

By ROBERT MOORE

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Maryland football coach Jim Tatum has introduced the good neighbor policy to college athletics.

Tatum met here yesterday with North Carolina State officials and explained how Maryland climbed to the top as the nation's No. 1 football team.

For several days before the meeting, there were reports that State authorities were meeting with Tatum to try to lure him away from Maryland. State is seeking a new football coach to succeed Horace (Horse) Hendrickson, who resigned after his 1953 Wolfpack tea won only one of 10 games.

Both Tatum and the State officials strongly denied these reports. "I am perfectly happy at the University of Maryland," said Tatum last year's Coach of the Year. "Somebody has the wrong idea about this meeting. I am here in an advisory capacity only—to help State set up a good athletic organization."

Tatum said he had not been offered the post at State "today or any other day." He also laughed at Western Carolina's Cata-mounts are moaning the loss of All-American guard Ronald Rogers. It was Rogers who paced the Cats to a 192-97 win over the locals in last year's contest at Cullowhee.

That game, many western sports observers believe, showed the greatest scoring duel ever put on between two players on any basketball court in the state. The Pirates' Sonny Russell, thought by many to be the greatest East Carolina player in history, and Rogers, teamed up in a scoring duel which gave them both well over 30 points apiece.

This year it seems, the Cats are relying again on offensive basketball to bring them victory. The question therefore is, can Porter's defense hold long enough to shake Hodges or Charlie Huffman, the Bucs No. 2 scorer, loose.

Anyway you look at it these two games mean quite a bit. A pair of wins for the local cagers would bring them back to Greenville with a conference mark of six wins against no losses and definitely put them over the hill in the chase for the loop flag.

After this road trip the Pirates take on Appalachian on the local court, play two of the conference week-sisters, Guilford and Catawba on the road, and then return here for games with High Point and Western Carolina.

It's a crucial series all right but from here it looks like East Carolina is on the road to the top position and nothing short of serious injuries or a miracle can stop them.

about reports he told State he'd go to the Raleigh, N. C. college for a 10-year contract calling for $20,000 a year.

Tatum said he did "not believe in contracts. I have no contract at Maryland. I have never had a contract in my life."

The Maryland coach said he and State representatives met in Richmond "merely for convenience."

"If I wanted the job at State," Tatum said, "I would have gone to Raleigh after it."

Tatum also denied he had recommended anybody for the State job, although two of his assistants at Maryland were called into the meeting which continued nearly six hours. Warren Giese and Eddie Teague were the assistants.

"They were here too, to help explain our athletic program at Maryland," Tatum explained.

Dr. J. B. Kirkland, chairman of State's committee seeking a new coach, said "a coach was not the prime purpose of our meeting."

"Jim has given us some advice," Dr. Kirkland said. "There has been no attempt to hire him. We just wanted to see what we might do to improve our athletic situation."

Pirates Are Preparing For Road Trip To Western Carolina, Lenoir Rhyne

Porter Experimenting With Akins At Center, Hodges At Forward In Attempt To Add More Height

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

Possibilities of a line-up change have crept into East Carolina College's preparations for Saturday night's basketball game at Lenoir Rhyne.

Coach Howard Porter has been experimenting with big Bobby Hodges at forward and newcomer Waverly Akins at center in an effort to get more height into the Bucs line-up. The possible changes would move Paul Jones and Don Harris out of their positions as alternate starters at the forward post.

Akins is a junior who came to the Bucs from Oak Ridge Military Institute. He has seen limited action this year as a sub for Hodges at center. He is 6-4 and a good rebounder.

Any height the Pirates can muster for the Saturday game will be sorely needed. Coach Jim Hamilton's Bears are one of the taller teams in the North State Conference with 6-8 Raeford Wells and 6-7 Bob Ortmyer operating under the boards.

Akins didn't see a great deal of action the first time the two clubs met. Hodges scored 26 points in playing almost the entire game when the Bucs defeated the Bears 87-79 here in Greenville before Christmas.

If the change is made, then the Pirates would have Hodges (6-5), Akins (6-4), and Charlie Huffman (6-3) as the main operators under the boards. Cecil Heath (5-8) and J. C. Thomas (6-1) would handle the outside work.

Lenoir-Rhyne started warming up for the important Saturday game with a 75-68 victory over hapless Catawba last night. The victory gave the Bears a 4-1 record for the season and they could pull ahead of the Pirates if they should win Saturday night. East Carolina has a 4-0 record against conference opposition. They have an overall record of six wins and no defeats to make them the only unbeaten team in the state.

An intensified seriousness has marked East Carolina's drills for the game. The Bucs still remember the 1952-1953 season when they went to Hickory undefeated in conference play and got thrashed by the Bears in a poorly-played and poorly-officiated contest.

Saturday's game will be followed by a trip to Western Carolina Monday night. The Bucs will return home next Thursday for a contest with Appalachian's Mountaineers.

We hope to improve our football. We won only three games last two years."

Dr. Carey Bostian, State's chancellor, confirmed Kirkland's remarks. Kirkland said State probably will make its selection of a coach "in three or four weeks."

Golf pro Ellsworth Vines was a top amateur tennis player 20 years ago.

Robersonville Wins One, Ties Other Contest

ROBERSONVILLE—Robersonville High defeated Farmville High in one basketball game here Tuesday night and tied the visitors in another.

The local boys defeated Farmville 56-51, and the girls' game ended in a 69-69 tie.

Edna Wooten of Farmville was fouled as the regulation time ended in the girls' game. She dropped the foul in '66 tie the game 64-64. At the end of the three minute overtime the two teams were still tied 69-69.

Wooten led the night's score with 47 points. Steverson led the winners with 29 points.

In the boys' contest the Farmville rally fell short. The visitors were behind 46-29 going into the final period. The 22 point effort in the final quarter was still not enough to win the Coastal Conference contest.

Farmville girls now have won two and tied one in the Coastal Conference while the boys have won two and lost one in that conference.

Charles Records KO Win In Bout With Satterfield

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—A revitalized Ezzard Charles dropped a bomb on Bob Satterfield in Chicago Stadium last night to touch off a gigantic buildup for a heavyweight title bout with champion Rocky Marciano.

Charles, who gets a chance to become the first fighter in history to regain the heavyweight crown, pole-axed Satterfield in the first minute of the second round with one of the hardest left hooks he ever has thrown.

Satterfield, outweighed 180 to 189 and a 7-2 underdog, was set up for the mighty finishing blow by absorbing a right to the midsection. As he started to bend forward, Charles' pistonlike left caught him flush on the chin.

He went over backwards and hit the canvas so hard resin dust flew. He lay lifelessly until referee Frank Gilmer tolled out seven. Then he raised his head feebly, but he couldn't get up, and he took the full count flat on his back.

Thirty minutes later, he was still dazed and unable to remember clearly what happened. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds. A national television audience, and 4,921 ringside customers who contributed to a net gate of $13,942.24, saw one of the cleanest, and most brutal, knockouts in years.

The International Boxing Club wasted no time in clearing the way for the 32-year-old Charles, who lost the title to Jersey Joe Walcott July 18, 1951, to try to recapture it from Marciano. The bout is being planned for June in a New York ball park.

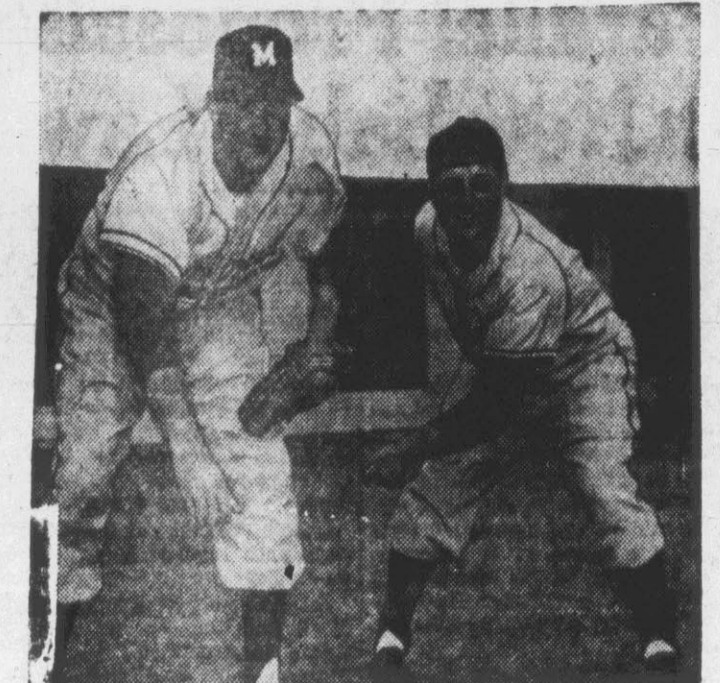

"Charles has earned the chance," said Truman Gibson, IBC secretary. "It will not be necessary for him further to prove his right as the No. 1 contender."

"All I want is a title shot," said Charles. "I'll fight anybody to get it—(NINO) Valdes, (Dan) Bucceroni, (Roland) Lastraza. You name him, I'll fight him."

Mid-Week Lull Hits Cage Game
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A mid-week lull in North Carolina basketball that started yesterday continues tonight.

Three games were played last night and only one is on tonight's schedule. All games involve North State Conference teams.

The tightest of yesterday's games saw Elon win its first North State Conference start 60-66, over Atlantic Christian. Elon, led by guard Don Packard with 23 points, was forced to fight off a last quarter rally by the Christians, Manager Walter Alton, who coached both boys while they were with Montreal last year, is seeking to bolster the sagging Dodger mound staff as the Bums prepare to defend their league crown.

W. Kentucky Upsets Dayton

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Dayton basketball team probably will have to give up its lease on the title of "giant killers" after what happened last night.

The Ohio Flyers blew a six-point lead in 80 seconds and bowed to Western Kentucky 79-75 in a triple overtime battle. The victory was No. 15 for Western, longest unbeaten streak in the nation.

Just a year ago Dayton wrecked Seton Hall's string of 27 triumphs, longest ever compiled by a major college in a single season.

The Flyers led the fifth-ranking Hilltoppers until the final three minutes of regulation time. In the first overtime they built a 64-58 advantage with 80 seconds to play. But Western fought back and tied the score on Jack Sallee's driving

Key Witness Is Holding Up Case

DETROIT (AP)—Key witness Donald Ritchie's change of heart about returning to the United States blocked prosecution strategy today in the Walter Reuther shooting conspiracy case.

One and likely a second court proceeding faced indefinite adjournment with Ritchie's adjournment in Windsor, Ont., after first agreeing to come back to Detroit when he gave up his five-day flight in Canada yesterday.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said he would ask a continuance in today's scheduled court examination of Carl Renda, one of four men named by Ritchie as plotters in the attempt to kill Reuther in 1948.

Without Ritchie's presence O'Brien said he couldn't carry on his case.

The same would be true, O'Brien indicated, of the extradition proceeding in Windsor involving Clarence Jacobs, uncle of Ritchie and whom the latter also named as a conspirator. The Jacobs case also was scheduled for today.

Held without bond in Windsor on a Canadian "apprehension" warrant, Ritchie is not to get an extradition hearing until Jan. 21. This had the effect of a stymie against the other two cases.

Both apparent stalemates developed within hours after Ritchie and his woman flight companion, Betty White, gave up separately to provincial police at Preston, Ont., 150 miles northeast of De-

PACTOLUS—A talk on rural sanitation and the appointment of new committees for 1954 highlighted the meeting of the Pactolus Ruritan Club Friday night.

J. Carrol Waldrop of Greenville, member of the Pitt County Health Department staff, was the principal speaker for the meeting and discussed rural sanitation, urging members of the club to give full cooperation to the health program in Pitt County.

When O'Brien first "broke" his case Jan. 8, he said Ritchie's story was the "solution" to the mysterious shotgun attack on Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, April 20, 1948. He has stuck with this since.

Ritchie named Renda, 35, and Joseph, 48, along with Peter Lombardo, 51, Leavenworth Penitentiary inmate, and Santo (Sam) Perrone, 56, father-in-law of Renda as conspirators. Perrone remains at large.

In order to facilitate Ritchie's arrest, O'Brien also swore out a conspiracy warrant against him. Ritchie had been at large 16 hours before his flight was disclosed.

The 33-year-old onetime fish peddler and convicted petty thief exchanged farewells with Miss White, a waitress, at the Windsor jail yesterday.

Miss White told reporters later of romance with Ritchie. She gave her age as 28 and said she had known Ritchie since she was 16. Police freed her. There was no charge against her.

Asked about her future plans, she said "I don't know. When you love a guy you just don't know what you'll do."

Ellender Claims Politics Tainting New Farm Plans

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today President Eisenhower's proposed new farm program is "tainted with politics."

The proposal would result in lower price supports for cotton, wheat, corn and other products, Ellender said in an interview, but would continue present high supports for tobacco, promise them for wool through a new direct subsidy, and make no change for dairy products.

"It looks like someone figured out votes in planning this program," Ellender added.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he is certain the program is the right one, although he added its political feasibility is yet to be determined.

Te President also said he does not regard himself as too smart politically but is confident that a shift from rigid to flexible farm price supports will help farmers and the nation's prosperity.

With a congressional battle mounting over the new farm proposals, Ellender predicted the Senate Agriculture Committee will line up 10-5 against it. He is the senior Democrat on the group.

Any such division might make it difficult for the President's congressional leaders to get action at the session. Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) and other members of the House Agriculture Committee have shown little enthusiasm for the proposals.

Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate committee declined direct comment on Ellender's forecast except to say he expects members to "keep an open mind" until they learn the facts. The committee opens hearings Monday.

Most of the Democrats and several Republicans on the farm committee have announced they favor extending the present rigid 90 per cent price supports on cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, peanuts and rice that expire with this year's crops.

Eisenhower proposed a flexible system of price supports ranging from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, a price declared by law to give farmers a fair return. Government price pegs would be lowered in times of surplus and raised during shortages, to stimulate production. The amount price supports could be lowered in any one year would be limited.

Sen. Young (R-Nd.), in a separate interview, said he agreed with Ellender that a majority of the Senate committee now opposes flexible supports. But Young said he regards Eisenhower as "very capable politically and I think the last election proved that."

Insurance Group Meets Tonight

The Pitt County Insurance Exchange will hold its regular monthly meeting at 6:30 tonight at Respass Brothers Barbecue House.

Phil Goodson, secretary-treasurer of the exchange requested that all members be present as an interesting program has been planned.

Ground-Breaking For Church Sunday

Above is the architect's drawing of the Saint James Methodist Church. On Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at the site of the new on Forrest Circle Drive, ground breaking ceremonies will be held. Plans call for the first of three units, which will include a Fellowship Hall and ten classrooms, to be completed by November 1. Beginning at that time the Sunday services will be held in the Fellowship Hall until the permanent sanctuary can be completed.

Ground breaking ceremonies will take place for the new Saint James Methodist Church Sunday afternoon at four o'clock on the church lot on Forrest Circle Drive between East Fifth and Tenth Streets.

Bishop Paul Neff Garber, presiding Bishop of the Richmond area of the Methodist Church which includes Virginia and Eastern North Carolina; Rev. Hiram K. King, District Superintendent of the New Bern district which includes Greenville; and Rev. Leon Russell, the first minister of the St. James Church and now pastor of the Washington circuit of the Methodist Church, will attend the ground breaking ceremony.

The ceremony to take place Sunday is for the first of three units of the church. The entire building is expected to cost approximately $300,000; however, this unit, which will be a fellowship hall and ten classrooms, will cost only about one-third of that amount.

Building To Start Soon
The actual building of this unit will begin next week, with anticipation of its being completed by next November 1.

Roy Smith is the supervisory contractor and J. W. Griffith is the architect.

Howard L. Hodges is chairman of the Building Committee, and Leslie Garner is the chairman of the Fund Raising Committee.

At the present time the Church holds its Sunday services in the Third Street School auditorium. Rev. J. Malloy Owen, the pastor, resides at 413 East Fourth Street and his telephone is 417-3.

Started In 1951
The new church got its start at a regular meeting of the Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church in February, 1951, when a committee composed of Dr. Howard McGinnis, chairman, J. B. Kiltrell Sr., D. H. Conley, Van C. Fleming Jr., and Dr. W. M. B. Brown was appointed for the purpose of investigating the need of a new Methodist Church in Greenville.

Several committee meetings were held resulting in inviting publicly peoples of all denominations to meet at the Kiwanis Club on a Sunday afternoon to discuss the formation of a new church.

A group of about 40 people attended the first meeting and they filled in questionnaires stating their pleasure in joining a new church. Of these 40, about 25 signed the statement to join the new church if it were organized. There was a second meeting held several weeks later and the number to sign up for joining the new church increased to 45.

Information gathered at these meetings was reported to the Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial Church and the action taken was to make every effort to establish this new church.

Under the direction of Rev. Leon Russell, reports of this activity was made to the District Superintendent Rev. Hiram J. King who immediately made requests to have a minister sent at the earliest possible date. Numerous meetings were held in private homes in the early Spring of 1951 and in June an organizational meeting was held in the library of Greenville High School under the leadership of the new minister, Rev. E. L. Earnhardt Jr.

Named And Formed June 1951
Rev. King was present and the new Saint James Methodist Church was officially named and organized with a beginning membership of 38 members. It was agreed that all members joining the new church before the end of the Conference year were to be considered charter members.

71 Charter Members
By October 1, 1951, the end of the Conference year, there was a total of 71 charter members of the new church.

During the first year and one-half the following were officers of the Church: Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the Official Board; Harold Bowers, secretary; Van C. Fleming Jr., treasurer; Kenneth Hite, George W. Smith, Van C. Fleming Jr., trustees; H. Frank Steinbeck, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Van C. Fleming Jr., president, Women's Missionary Society; H. L. Hodges Jr., chairman of the Building Committee; and Leslie H. Garner, chairman of the Building Fund Committee.

Meeting At Third Street School

During this year and one-half of activity, the new church met in the Third Street School auditorium, having each Sunday a complete Sunday School program and a morning worship service.

The membership grew to 225 active members. A tremendous amount of credit is due to the ladies of the Church, for they were responsible in a large measure to the increase in membership by actively stimulating interest throughout the city.

The Women's Missionary Society is composed of three active circles and their religious activity is commendable.

Under the direction of Rev. E. L. Earnhardt Jr., the new church grew in membership, religious education, and financially.

Miner Trapped By Rock Cave-In

DRAGERTON, Utah (AP)—Rescue workers worked late last night attempting to reach a miner trapped beneath tons of rock by a mine cave-in.

Trapped is Willie Trupillo, about 45, who was caught in the cave-in yesterday afternoon at the Geneva Horse Canyon coal mine near this central Utah town.

It was not learned what caused the cave-in.

gave two lots on Forrest Circle Drive in 1952 and an additional four lots were purchased for the site of the new church.

Through the generous support of the Jarvis Memorial Church, its members, the Methodist Conference and many local and out of town citizens money was raised to build the new church.

In November 1953, $50,000 in 15 year bonds bearing an interest rate of four and one-half percent were sold to local citizens.

Sunday's ceremony is for only one-third of actual building. When completed it will include a permanent sanctuary, a fellowship hall, and classrooms.

Says Loot Was Somebody Else's

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Taxi Driver Robert Louis Stevenson told Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay that 18 pounds of butter and nine pounds of coffee stolen from two supermarkets were left in his cab by another man.

"I'd say you were literally left holding the bag," Hannay said. He ordered Stevenson 28, to serve nine remaining months of a previous sentence for forgery.

Six flags have flown over Mobile, Ala. — French, British, Spanish, United States, Republic of Alabama and Confederate.

Contino On Way To Civilian Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sgt. Richard J. Contino, $4,000-a-week accordionist in civilian life who entered the Army after a prison term for draft evasion, will return from Korea next Tuesday aboard the transport General Gordon.

And he will soon be back in civilian life and the show business, his family said in Pasadena.

Says Difference Is In Reliability

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the United States' chief delegate to the United Nations, in Dallas last night, gave the difference between him and Andrei Vishinsky, the Russian chief delegate.

"Vishinsky is an individual who follows instructions regardless of their nature," Lodge said. "He is very closely held."

Kelly Has Beauty ... And Is Actress

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's not hard to see why Grace Kelly is one of the fastest rising young stars in recent Hollywood times.
1. She is blonde and beautiful.
2. She can act.
This unusual combination has brought her a series of choice roles, generally as a wife. She was Gary Cooper's spouse in "High Noon," Ray Milland's in "Dial M for Murder" and will shortly be William Holden's in "The Bridges at Toko-Ri." She was also the waverling wife in "Mogambo."
Her present role in "Rear Window" is her only departure. She plays Jimmy Stewart's sweetheart.
"I hope I don't get typed," says Grace, who is unmarried. She has been a pretty cool character in her film roles so far. But things are warming up for her in "Rear Window." She has some smooching scenes with Stewart which Alfred Hitchcock says are the hottest he has directed since the famous love match of Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant in "Notorious."
"They certainly ought to be the closest love scenes of all time," observed Grace. "The camera has been inches away from our faces. The other day I asked if my hair needed fixing. Hitch told me my hair wasn't in the picture; just my face. Can you imagine how it will look on the wide screen? Immense!"
Grace seems to talk in the tones of an English lady, but she actually is a Philadelphian. She was born there 25 years ago, her father being

John Kelly, a well-known building contractor. Show business was in the family, however. Her uncles were playwright George Kelly and Walter C. Kelly, "The Virginia Judge" of vaudeville.
An independent gal, Grace made her way up on her own. She studied two years at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, then won a role in a New York show, "The Father," with Raymond Massey. Twentieth Century-Fox picked her for a role in "14 Hours."
"Yes, I played a wife in that one too," she recalled. "I was supposed to be getting a divorce, but my husband was caught in the traffic jam of people watching the man who was going to jump off a building. The experience got us back together. The critics couldn't see how this had anything to do with the main plot. The picture lost a million dollars."
"Twentieth offered me a contract, but I didn't think I was ready for it. I thought I needed more training in the theater."
So she turned her back on the Hollywood gold and returned to New York. After some stage and TV work, she did "High Noon." That brought forth the offer for "Mogambo," which was accompanied with a term contract. Did she think she was ready for it then?
"No," she admitted. "But the part was good, and I was eager to see Africa. So I signed." Since then all her pictures have been loan-outs, and MGM has announced no plans for her.

Ranchwomen Today Have Gone Modern

By JOHN JAMESON
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The gals from the range are not what they used to be. They are as sleek and modern as the purebred beef cattle their husbands and fathers raise on the Western ranges.
Three hundred of these ranch women, who have their own organization, the CowBelles, are meeting here while their menfolk wrestle with the problems which beset the livestock producing business these days.
The men, members of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., can be spotted easily by their high-heeled boots, big hats and typical Western garb, but not the women.
As they opened their convention with a luncheon in the luxurious Broadmoor Hotel, there wasn't a calico dress in sight—nor a sun bonnet, and the high heels were strictly French, not cowboy.

From all appearances it might have been a meeting of a group of city women.
"We live just like the people in the city do—and have more room," commented Mrs. Wayne Rowe of near Lawton, Okla., as she let a fur cape slide off her shoulders.
But some remember when it was different, as did Mrs. Rowe and Mrs. Lucius Long, another Oklahoman, from Meers.
"I remember when we used to gather up chips for a fire and the water froze in the buckets in the house," said Mrs. Long, who was born on a Texas ranch and has lived on a ranch all of her life.
"But it's different now," she observed. "We have pushbutton stoves, electric dishwashers, television and all those things."
The ranchwomen, traditionally helpers of their husbands, haven't lost that touch as life has become easier.
The CowBelles' No. 1 project for this year is to help promote the sale of beef.
The campaign has been pushed by local groups and now is being expanded to a national basis, explained Mrs. Ralph L. Cowan of McNeal, Ariz., retiring president.
"One of our slogans is eat beef and stay slim," said Mrs. Cowan, who added that the women also are educating housewives in the use of less expensive cuts of meat and stressing slow cooking of beef to reduce shrinkage of the meat.
The men's group also has listed promotion as its biggest job of the year in a drive to halt the drop in beef eating and beef prices and thus solve the stock growers' problem.

H.W. Gwyn Talks To Ruritan Club

WINTERVILLE—The local Ruritan Club heard a talk by Henry W. Gwyn, training supervisor for the DuPont plant at Kingston on "How Our Business System Operates" Tuesday night.
Gwyn also discussed the growth of the DuPont company since its founding in 1802. From 1850 to 1925, he said, the number of employees grew from 350 to 15,000; and the stockholders from six to 13,000. Capital investment grew from $1,000,000 to $145,000,000. By 1949, Gwyn said, the number of employees had reached 75,000; stockholders 110,000, and capital investment $1,272,000,000.

Gwyn attributed this phenomenal growth to good management, fair treatment of employees, and a constant effort to turn out a product desirable to the consumer.
Gwyn illustrated his talk with charts and diagrams.
In its business session the club completed arrangements to send two delegates to the Ruritan National Convention which meets late in January in Washington, D.C. EL Wood Davenport, district governor and Rev. Henry Melvin were selected to represent the Winterville club.
FENCED WITH CRUTCHES
SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Gene B. Hoss bought more than 200 cast-off crutches from the state hospital here, and used them to build a fence 140 feet long around his garden.

Police Turn Up Juvenile Cases

Two Negro boys have admitted breaking into a house at 10 Ford Street Sunday night and taking a piggy bank with about 100 pennies.
The boys, one 6 years old and the other 10, told police that they spent the money and threw the bank in to the river.
Also missing in the theft was a billfold containing about $3.50 but no trace of this has been found, according to Detective R.T. Rogerson, who investigated.
In a second juvenile case investigated by local police officers it was found that a 12-year-old Negro boy had shot at and broken the glass on an electric light meter in the 1220 block of Fairfax Avenue. The meter was mounted on a pole at the site of a new house which is being constructed in that district.
All three cases will be turned over to the juvenile authorities for further investigation according to police officials.

LEFT, RIGHT TRAFFIC
STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish parliament has appointed a committee of experts to study whether Sweden should change from its present system of a left-hand rule of the road to right-hand driving like its Scandinavian neighbors and other countries of continental Europe.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in the second hour today—just as it did yesterday—and produced good gains throughout almost the entire list.

Yesterday's move ahead was led by the rails. Today the leadership was broader and included aircrafts, steels, chemicals, and electronics.

Gains were pushed to between 1 and 2 points in many instances. Small minus signs here and there didn't succeed in hampering the rise.

Volume held at a pace right around yesterday's 1,420,000 shares.

Douglas Aircraft was the most active issue in that division and extended its gain to 3 points at times.

Hudson was active and up a major fraction while Nash held steady. From Detroit it was predicted that directors of the two companies were ready to okay a merger.

Higher stocks included General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Boeing, Kennecott Copper, Du Pont American Tobacco, Missouri Pacific Preferred Southern Pacific Texas Co., and 20th Century-Fox.

Jaycee Service Award Will Be Made Tonight

Approximately 150 persons, including both Jaycee members and some of their bosses, are expected when the Junior Chamber of Commerce holds its annual Bosses Night Banquet at the Greenville Golf and Country Club tonight at 7 p.m.

The highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the Distinguished Service Award Key to the outstanding young man of Greenville between the ages of 21-35. He does not have to be a member of the local Jaycee club.

Beginning today members of the Jaycees all over America will celebrate Junior Chamber of Commerce Week. This is the 34th anniversary of the founding of the Jaycees.

The National Jaycee group, which now numbers more than 2,500 clubs and 200,000 individuals, was established in 1920 in St. Louis, Missouri.

First national Jaycee president, and the man who started the Jaycee idea, was Henry Geissenbier.

Geissenbier was a young business man in St. Louis back in 1915 when he first got the idea of young men's organization to help out civic affairs. When the idea occurred to him, he was president of a large St. Louis dancing club. He heard a speaker trying to enlist support of a badly-needed sewer improvement in St. Louis, and realized how much an active bunch of young men could do to help get the legislation enacted. Looking around, he

Dr. Russell W. Peterson, assistant plant manager at the DuPont plant, will have charge of the program at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting Friday night.

His subject, illustrated, will be "Education and Business." President J. Bryan Brown will preside.

Program Chairman John A. Collins, Jr., has announced that present plans provide for a different Kiwanian to have charge of a program at each weekly meeting during 1954.

County Tax Supervisor Reginald Gray reported this morning that there is no line in the Court House for citizens of Greenville Township who are listing taxes for 1954.

He said that there has been a short line almost all the time since the list takers began work on January 2, but today the line has quit forming and the people should take advantage of it by listing their taxes now.

He pointed out that during the last week of January the line will be very long and some of the people who wait may not get their taxes listed on time. To avoid this long line and long wait to list taxes the tax supervisor urges citizens to list now.

Reports from other list takers in other townships around the county show that people are listing earlier this year; however, if more do not list between now and the last week of the month the long line and long wait is expected again.

The Greenville Furniture Dealers Association are meeting tonight at 7 p.m. at the Austin Double Inn Restaurant.

R.W. Davenport, chairman, will preside. He urged all members to attend to formulate plans for the year's work.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

The "speed clock" used by Greenville police on highways entering the city recorded eight motor vehicles as exceeding the speed limit during the weekend.

The "speed clocks" are so reliable that there is no known case here in which a defendant speeder appealed his case to a higher court.

It has been shown in trials in court that local officers do not apprehend a motorist when he is exceeding the zone limit by five miles an hour.

None of the eight defendants up for speeding by the "speed clock" disputed its accuracy. They are: Herbert F. Oldham, 10; Windford H. Ward, $20, costs deducted; James M. Moye, $10; Jesse R. Rogers, $20, costs deducted; Helen H. Harrington, $12.50; Herman C. Hill, $10; Lump Tripp, $13; and Paul David McKinney, $15.

Speeders cited to court by other officers are: Howard F. Bradybough, $30, costs deducted; Willie W. Perkins, Negro, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 court costs. The judgment also provides that Perkins is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper brakes, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for seven days.

James R. Crawford was found not guilty of careless and reckless driving.

William Worsley, Negro, 511 West 15th Street, assault on a female, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $30, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is to behave and not violate any criminal law of North Carolina for a year, and he is not to harm or threaten his wife. The court found Worsley not guilty of the larceny of his wife's watch.

Jesse Stanton Jr. paid $10 for passing another vehicle at an intersection.

Alma Barfield Standell, drunk, 30 days in county jail.

Ben Frank Bennett, Negro, was found not guilty of allowing a person with a learner's permit to operate his car. Mary Lee Bennett, Negro, driving without an operator's license, prayer for judgment was continued on payment of $15 costs. She is not to drive without a license and must make adequate restitution for damage in a wreck.
