By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER BERLIN (P)—Secretary of State Dulles told the Big Four foreign ministers conference today the Soviet bloc and its one-man rule is the real danger to world peace...

West and saddled with Communist influence. Said Dulles: "Perhaps Mr. Molotov would admit that he then (in 1939) made a mistake—we all make mistakes. That fact should lead us not to be so confident of our judgment that we throw across the table accusations of criminal intent."

The last so-called East Zone "elections" in 1950. "In the Eastern Area there is an armed force of 250,000 to keep order," he continued. "That is one guard for 80 persons. In West Germany there is one policeman for 330 persons. Does this shocking discrepancy prove that the East Germans freely accept the order that their ruler's impose?"

Bricker Bill May Become Bogged In Welter Of Words

By JACK BELL WASHINGTON (P)—Grim Republican leaders faced the possibility today that their efforts to compromise the Bricker constitutional amendment on treaty powers might collapse in a legal welter of words.

Senators Knowland of California, Ferguson of Michigan and Millikin of Colorado planned to continue the search for language that would be acceptable to President Eisenhower and Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio). Bricker's proposal would limit the scope of treaties and provide for congressional regulation of other international agreements.

30 Years Ago Today

The Methodist Church at Warren Plains was the setting for an impressive wedding Saturday afternoon, January 16, at 5 o'clock when Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker and Clayton Dowell Taylor were united in marriage. The Rev. H. L. Davis officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jermain Taylor Walker of Norlina. Mr. Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dowell Taylor of Robertsonville.

Prior to the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Glenn Weldon, organist, and Miss Harriet Harris of Fraunkinton, cousin of the bride, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon tulle over bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice of chintilly lace and a Queen Ann collar. The sleeves came to lily points over her hands. The full skirt ended in a cathedral train. Bridal illusion was draped from a lace Juliet cap embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid showered with satin streamers.

Concert Choir At Methodist Church

The concert choir of Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. will present a concert on Friday night, February 5, at 8:00 at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. There will be no admission charge.

Organized in the fall of 1951, under the direction of Dr. Charles A. Woodbury, the choir has already been acclaimed as one of the outstanding collegiate choral organizations in the United States.

Girl Scout Council Entertains At Tea

The Greenville Girl Scout Council entertained on Sunday afternoon at the Rotary Club for all parents and friends of Scouting in the community.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, Executive Secretary, greeted guests at the door of the reception room and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the following members of the Council: Mrs. Charles A. White, president; Mrs. Frank Allen of Farmville; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, Mrs. J. H. Harrell, Mrs. J. T. Cheatham Jr., Mrs. W. F. Harrington and Mrs. F. D. Duncan.

Mrs. W. E. Basnight invited visitors into the dining room, where a color scheme of green and yellow, the Girl Scout colors, was used. The mantel at one end of the room was banked with greenery, interspersed with yellow candles.

The long table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a beautiful arrangement of jonquils and Dutch iris. Yellow tapers in crystal holders were placed at regular intervals along the length of the table, connected by sprays of forsythia and ivy.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Mrs. W. P. Moore, Mrs. J. K. Long and Mrs. B. B. Sugg Jr., all past presidents of the Council, alternated in serving punch at either end of the central table. Mrs. S. M. Crisp served coffee at an auxiliary table, which was similarly decorated.

Assisting in serving cookies, mints and salted nuts were the following girls, all of whom have received the Curved Bar, Scouting's highest award: Ann Moore, Martha Jane Pierce, Helen Haves, Susie Pope, Gail Clapp, Betsy Karnak, Jo Anne Parks and Ann Bryant.

Scouts and Brownies from each troop contributed to a program of continuous music, including group singing, piano, flute and violin solos. Records of popular Girl Scout songs were also played during the afternoon.

One of the features of the occasion was an exhibit of crafts, posters and other articles representative of the activities carried on in troop meetings.

In appreciation for her work with the Girl Scout movement, Mrs. Sugg, immediate past president, was presented with a gift by the Council members.

Mrs. L. M. Finch presided at the register. Upon leaving each guest received a copy of the Council's annual report. Several hundred friends of Scouting called between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30.

Stands Solidly Against Allowin Oil Concessions OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oregon's independent Sen. Wayne Morse made it clear last night he stood solidly against the depletion allowance granted oil companies for tax purposes and contended oil companies bribed politicians with large political contributions.

He explained the oil firms are allowed to deduct 7 1/2 per cent from oil properties before figuring the income tax due. Congress has argued many times whether or not the depletion allowance should be continued.

"I know the oil industry has made rather large campaign contributions," Morse said, "but I don't see why the people should have to pay for their bribes."

He spoke at a news conference preceding an address before the Oklahoma City chapter of Americans for Democratic Action.

Teen-Age Turnout

By ANN RUFFIN AND RUTH EVELYN TOPPING This article was taken from a copy of the February 15, 1946 Green Lights in dedication to the GHS seniors.

Worry makes frowns; frowns make wrinkles; wrinkles make age. So why worry? Seniors have ample reason for worry and wrinkles. Scampering from English to the library, they carry pencils, notecards, and puzzled faces—all are signs that those dreaded source themes are here.

Yes, the plague has descended. MABEL was never like this. That gentleman could at least kill those who objected to his right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." But poor seniors are not so fortunate. First they struggle with choosing a subject; then they fight to the READERS GUIDE they, then, wrestle with an article to get a note. Don't despair—the worst is yet to be. Remember the footnotes.

Few people are happy over the situation, unless some of the teachers are getting a great deal of fabled glory from watching the death struggles of students who are only allowed to exist undisturbed and carefree. It is a pity to die so young. Even the student teachers seem strained and unhappy.

There is one bright spot in an otherwise cloudy sky: those themes will be a game to grade, won't they?

Game Time The GHS Phantoms have a basketball game scheduled with Washington Pampank tonight. Will all those people be able to cram into the high school gym? This is the question being asked all over the school. No, comes the answer, the game is going to be played in the college gym.

Buy Your Annual Here "Buy your annual here," shouts Jo Ann Hales, the circulation manager for the "Tau." Students have been saving their pennies for months and have finally saved 200. Now they are answering Jo Ann's call.

The dummy has been sent to the Graphic Press in Raleigh, a proof will be made and the editors will proofread it and send it back with the number of copies to be printed.

Individual pictures sale was highest in the record of GHS. Eleven hundred dollars worth were sold. The Tau staff keeps 40 per cent of the sales on pictures.

"Green and Gold for Greenville High!" chant the freshmen as they choose their class colors, motto, and flower. Gold and green match their favorite flower, the jonquill, too. They decided "He conquers who thinks he can" suits them perfectly for a motto.

Come One, Come All! Come one, come all to the Interdenominational youth mass meeting Sunday night at 6 o'clock. The meeting will be at the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. Lee Willingham of the Hollywood Presbyterian Church will be the speaker. Bring a bag supper with you.

net over taffeta with a fitted bodice and a lace bolero. She wore a pink velvet bandeau with a veil attached by seed pearls. Her colonial bouquet was of pink and red roses with pink satin streamers.

Bruce Edwin Roebuck of Williamson was the best man.

Gene Taylor of Robertsonville, cousin of the groom, and Claude Weldon of Warrenton were ushers. The bride's mother wore an ice blue tulle with matching accessories and a purple orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue crepe dress with blue accessories and a purple orchid.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Harris of Franklinton and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bowers of Norlina entertained the bridal party and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper at the Bowers home.

For a trip to Kentucky, Mrs. Taylor chose a blue velvet suit and a white velvet hat. She removed the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of Peace College and a member of Sigma Phi Kappa Society. She was employed by the Citizens Bank of Warrenton.

Mr. Taylor is a graduate of King's Business College, Raleigh. He is now with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Book Odds and Ends Many new books have arrived at the high school library for teenagers to sweat over and enjoy. A surprise for the seniors is in store when they find a brand new encyclopedia in only one volume! This portable encyclopedia bears the name of THE LINCOLN LIBRARY.

Next year's seniors have something to look forward to for when they study Shakespeare they can find two books about his plays. One explains the characters in his plays and the other contains his plays in modern English.

LET'S BE POPULAR by Gall Burkett will bring the junior high lasses up-to-date on manners and ways to make friends. CHARM, BEAUTY, AND PERSONALITY by Edith McLeod tells girls of both Edith and senior high in on beauty, cosmetics, fashion, and diet tips.

WHEN YOU MARRY, styled just for teenagers by Evelyn Duval and Reuben Hill, helps teenagers, with marriage and courtship.

YOUTH LOOKS AT RELIGION by Arthur C. Wickenden points out the importance of a religion to teenagers. THE ALBUM OF AMERICAN HISTORY is a book chock full of nothing but pictures explaining American history.

TRISH by Margaret Craig is the story of a high school girl who has the same problems of the average teenager. This book is for older teenagers.

For boys the librarian has ordered HOLD THAT LINE, the story of a football hero, by Joe Archibald, and THE EXPLORATION OF SPACE by Arthur C. Clarke telling of space travel and man's place in the universe.

AVIATION FROM THE GROUND BALL TECHNIQUES ILLUSTRATED by Forrest Anderson and Tyler Micolleau, and MODEL AIRPLANE ENGINES by Donald Foote are also boys' dreams.

MULLINS, S.C. (AP)—Mullins' Women's Club members are working for a cleaner town. They are going out in groups, wearing work clothes, gathering up paper and other scraps from the town streets in their clean-up campaign.

They hope their example will be followed by other townsmen and women.

N. Y. Musician To Aid In Band Clinic At ECC

Waldemar Bhoays of New York City, specialist in the woodwind instruments, will lecture and demonstrate the use of band instruments, particularly the double reeds, at the Eastern Division of the All-State Band Clinic at East Carolina College Friday and Saturday of this week.

The Clinic, an annual event here, will bring to the campus directors and 110 student performers representing 33 bands in public schools of the eastern counties of the state. Robert Gray of the East Carolina music faculty is chairman of the clinic.

By special request of band directors in this area Herbert L. Carter, director of the East Carolina marching and concert bands, will conduct the Clinic Band, which will be organized, will rehearse, and will appear in concert during the two-day meeting.

Bhoays will speak each day at 3 p.m. to directors and student musicians attending the Clinic. He has studied at the Manhattan and the Juilliard Schools of music and has played in outstanding music organizations, including the Metropolitan Opera Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic, and the CBS symphony; and for such programs as the Firestone Hour, the Ballet Theatre, the Sadlers Wells Ballet, the Ballet Russe, and various Broadway shows.

Chairman Gray has announced thirteen North Carolina band directors and teachers who will conduct sectional rehearsals each Progress of Pitt Memorial Hospital and the facilities it offers Pitt citizens were discussed for Greenville Rotarians last night by Claude D. Ward, administrator of the hospital.

Ward told the Rotarians, "You and the other citizens of Pitt County are owners of the hospital." He explained that the hospital which was opened three years ago was built 39.1 per cent with county funds, 27.6 per cent state funds, and the remaining one-third from federal funds.

The success of the hospital Ward declared, "depends upon the people of Pitt County. The patronage the people give the hospital will determine its success." The administrator pointed out that the larger the patient load at the hospital, the more economical its operations would be. For the month of January, he added, the average patient load was 102 patients, the highest for any month since the hospital opened.

The hospital has 130 beds and 20 bassinets. Ward described briefly the medical and other facilities which the hospital has, and the services which it offers to the people of the county in the way of medical care. He also cited statistics which indicated the need for being made of the hospital by people of Pitt and surrounding counties.

The two major problems of the hospital, he asserted, are finance and personnel. He said the hospital provided a total of 29,128 patient-days of care last year, and that it provided 3,952 patient-days of care to charity patients.

Henry Coleman of Greenville was introduced as a new member of the club at last night's meeting, and guests included Robert Willson, Jr., and visiting Rotarians John B. Bunting of Bethel, Herbert Cox of Washington, and Gilbert Davis of Ayden.

Smith Named To Meeting On Highway Safety, Feb. 17

J.B. Smith, prominent local insurance and real estate agent, has been appointed as a member of the Organization Committee for the White House Conference on Highway Safety to be held in Washington February 17, 18, and 19.

Smith was notified of his appointment in a letter from Gov. William B. Umstead and by receipt of an invitation to the conference from the President.

Smith was chosen for the Organization Committee as the State Representative of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is State Safety Chairman for the Jaycees.

The White House Conference on Highway Safety has been called "to develop Nation-wide public support, at the community level, for proven methods of improving street and highway safety," according to an announcement of the meet from the Conference organization.

ident has asked all Governors to participate, and to designate outstanding citizens as delegates, including representative of agriculture, business, labor, women, public officials, media of public information and organizations," the announcement said.

The announcement pointed out that traffic fatalities in 1952 reached 38,000—more than those of American armed forces in Korea.

Smith, as a member of the Organization committee, will work under its chairman Robert Snodgrass, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and Roland Wilsey of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, secretary of the committee.

The young delegate has been engaged in the real estate and insurance business in Greenville for a number of years. He has been active in 6-4th local and State Jaycee activities.

Five Negro Children Die In Wilson Dwelling Fire

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—Five young Negro children perished in fire that destroyed a dwelling here early today.

Coroner Robert E. Goudy identified the dead as Shirley Gray Knight, 11, daughter of Odessa Knight; Betty Jane Harris, 6, Mae Margaret Harris, 4, Charles Harris, 3, and Maxine Harris, 2, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Harris. The Knight girl was spending the night at the Harris home.

The three oldest children were sleeping in a room at the rear of the house. The two youngest were sleeping in a front room with their parents.

Harris and his wife and his brother, Ed Harris, escaped injury. Goudy said the children apparently suffocated, but they also were burned beyond recognition.

Waterproofing Find Announced

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians have come up with a sure-fire waterproofing system they call "hydrofobization." It's so good, they say, it'll even keep tissue paper dry in a rainstorm and permit you to carry a quart of loose milk home in a paper bag.

The discovery is reported in the newspaper Leningrad Pravda. Scientists at Leningrad University are credited with developing the process.

No details are given except to say the "chemicals used are of a silicious organic character which are cheap and can be produced in large quantities."

The paper claims this is an entirely new waterproofing method. It says that where rubber "mechanically keeps water out hydrofobization prevents the molecules between water and fabric and treated fabric therefore repels water."

This means you could throw your raincoat and rubbers away if you had a suit and shoes treated with the stuff. Paper cups no longer will have to be waxed water colors can be washed after treatment, and "even the cheapest cottons will repel water as if they were made of rubber," the newspaper says.

The article goes on to say that treated and untreated fabrics are indistinguishable in appearance. The chemical cannot be removed from the fabric either by boiling or chemical detergents.

River Water Is Still Receding

The flood in Tar river at Greenville continues to recede and it dropped from the 17.35-foot level Monday to the 16.10-foot level today.

River Observer Leland Mizelle said he will continue to report the water stage to the U.S. Department of Commerce until the stream drops to the 14-foot level. The average depth of the river here is from three and a half to five feet.

Cars Smashed Up By Runaway Tank

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Traffic is bad enough normally on Lakewood boulevard but when a runaway Army tank got into the act this is what happened:

The 27-ton steel monster swerved into a parking lot yesterday, crushed five automobiles, snapped off a power pole and smashed a steel sign. Then it flattened a mailbox and knocked another sign into a house trailer.

Nobody was injured but W. O. Robert B. Duke, 25, Altadena, was badly shaken up by the time the tank ground to a stop. He told sheriff's deputies the tank went out of control when he swerved to miss an automobile.

GROWING FAMILY DENVER (AP)—Already the mother of six daughters, Mrs. Mary Armstrong, 39, gave birth to her sixth son yesterday.

Actor Leaves $150,000 Estate

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—An estate valued at approximately $150,000 was left by English-born actor Sydney Greenstreet, who died two weeks ago at 74. It was disclosed when his will was filed for probate.

The will, dated June 24 1948, and filed yesterday, provides that Greenstreet's widow Dorothy and his son John, 33, Oakland, Calif., tobacco sales manager, will share the bulk of the estate.

Warren Slated For Scrutiny By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's choice of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States comes up for public scrutiny today amid uncertainty as to whether he may be asked to testify.

The former California governor, who has been serving in the high post for four months under an appointment made while the Senate was in recess, appears certain to win overwhelming Senate approval.

Sen. Langer (R-ND), in charge of the hearing, said he would put it up to the five-member Judiciary subcommittee considering the nomination whether Warren should be asked to appear.

Langer had announced Jan. 16 that Warren "will be asked to appear" before the subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee. Langer is chairman of both. In an interview today, however, he declined to state his position in advance of the session.

Judiciary Committee staff members said they could find no instance in which a nominee for chief justice had been asked to testify, and only three such cases involving selections for Supreme Court associate justices.

Langer said about 100 communications had been received by the committee in opposition to Warren. He declined to evaluate them. But other senators said at least some of them could be characterized as "crank letters."

No senator has come out in opposition to Warren's appointment.

Clears Water Temporarily, At Least

The ruling of North Carolina's Attorney General on the county commissioners' districts of Pitt County under the new township set-up, has cleared the muddy water of confusion which has existed over the situation since new townships were established several months ago.

By its action, the County Commissioners

Singular Contrast In High Water Experience

There was a striking contrast in rivers in this section of the state with the recent high water reaching proportions of floods in most sections in the Eastern part of the state.

The Neuse, the Tar and most other rivers and streams ranged far out of their banks, in some cases causing people to abandon their homes and causing damage to farm land located in low sections near rivers and creeks.

There was one outstanding exception to the pattern, however, if reports are correct.

The rugged, usually turbulent Roanoke was calm and peaceful during the "high water" period on other streams. Reports from places in North Carolina along the Roanoke said the river looked about like it has since the big dam was completed. The big Kerr Dam stood its first real test and may give the people of the eastern section of the state something to think about.

It is doubtful that other rivers in this section of the state need any measure of flood control comparable to the Kerr Dam on the Roanoke; but it is not unlikely that consideration may be given to some sort of flood controls on the other rivers after the experiences with high waters in the past two weeks.

It is a matter which might well be given consideration.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
A SEED LONG PLANTED

Dr. Frederick G. Banting, who in 1922 discovered insulin as a specific for diabetes, is said to have come upon his world-shaking discovery as a result of reading an old, outmoded book on medicine. This book had been relegated to the stacks of practically dead books in a medical library. Perhaps the man who wrote it died feeling that his efforts had been in vain. Nobody much had read his book while he was living, and perhaps before he died he saw it go out of print and out of the memory of his colleagues. But years later, as Dr. Banting read this old, outmoded medical book, a statement popped out and started a chain of thought in the mind of the Canadian physician, which eventuated in a great discovery.

Poets have loved to dilate upon the significance of a seed carried by the wind. The words of the poet and the circumstances surrounding Banting's discovery mean to you and to me that perhaps some insignificant little circumstance in our lives, some words we have uttered, some lines we have written, some friendly smiles we have given, may some day change a whole section of the world's life. God is supremely indifferent to bigness. He appears to put no value on many things we consider very valuable.

Ponder these words: "Paul planteth, Apollos watereth, but God giveth the increase."

Surprise In Anti-Trust Suit

WASHINGTON — Attorney-General Herbert Brownell Jr. has dumbooned political and aviation bigwigs here in filing an antitrust suit against the most powerful transportation lobby at Washington—Juan Trippe's Pan-American World Airways and W. R. Grace & Co. They are accused of monopolizing air and water transportation between South America and the United States.

Through its two-party system of influence on the White House, members of the Cabinet and Congress and key officials of both political organizations, Pan Am has been able to stave off this suit since 1945, or through the regimes of former Attorney-Generals Tom C. Clark, J. Howard McGrath and James P. McGranery. It also has obtained five Presidential reversals of adverse decisions by the Civil Aeronautics Board, including three in the matter responsible for Brownell's current prosecution.

But his decision, together with reports that CAB will again demand a breakup of Pan Am's alleged monopoly, indicates that President Eisenhower insists on a new deal in the transportation realm.

THE MAJOR-LEAGUE POLITICS—Eisenhower, however, is now playing major-league politics for the first time since he entered the White House. Among those flabbergasted by Brownell's move are Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and Robert Murray, Commerce Under-Secretary for Transportation, both Pan Am friends.

Even before Brownell's announcement, they had been asked to intervene by Sam Pryor, Pan Am vice-president, former Republican National Committeeman for Connecticut and GOP Eastern Treasurer when Weeks was National Treasurer. Indeed, the Pryor influence has been so effective for years that he receives a larger salary than Trippe, Pan Am boss and operational genius. Pryor gets $40,000 to Trippe's $35,000.

Pryor is only one of Pan Am's friends. On the Democratic side, Pan Am has Louis A. Johnson, former Defense Secretary, whose law firm once collected an $18,000 fee from Trippe. It also has J. Carroll Cene, Democratic National Committeeman for Arkansas. When prominent Democrats cold-shouldered Truman in 1948, these two raised most of the campaign funds that resulted in victory over Dewey.

H.S.T.'S ACTIONS—Trippe's vast overseas expansion has resulted largely from these rich Washington contracts. In 1948, for instance, CAB ruled against his purchase of American Overseas Airlines because it would lessen U. S. competition to Europe. Truman approved the decision, but rescinded it upon mere made new township boundaries in Pitt County and did away with the old township boundaries. Since, by a 1935 statute, commissioner districts were set up on township lines—each district comprising one or more townships—there arose the question of what new townships comprise each commissioner district.

The Attorney General's opinion said the commissioner districts were not changed by the township alterations, and the districts remain the same as they were previously. Since the new township lines did not now coincide with district commissioner lines, the Attorney General said the Board of Elections will be justified in requiring each candidate for the Board of Commissioners to file an affidavit stating that he is a bona fide resident of the district which he seeks to represent on the Board of Commissioners.

From the voters' standpoint, it will make little difference because all the voters of the county vote on commissioners from all the commissioner districts.

While the Attorney General's opinion has clarified the situation sufficiently for the May primary, a new law setting up commissioner district according to the new township divisions should be passed during the 1955 session of the General Assembly.

It will avoid a great deal of confusion in the future if commissioner districts are set up on existing township lines—each district including specific townships—than having specific townships divided by more than one commissioner district.

"Our adversaries, no matter what the cost to their own people, are embarking on an international economic battle aimed at one objective—to generate a collapse in the level of our business activity." David F. Austin.

ST. CATHARINES (ONT. CAN.) STANDARD—That Canada is pulling its weight in the expenditures for defence among the thirteen member nations of the North American Treaty Organization is fully shown from the table recently published and which shows the apportionment among the signatories. The Big Three, the United States, the United Kingdom and France, spend all together $60,903,000,000 and this is how it is divided: the United States, $51,860,000,000; the United Kingdom, $4,937,000,000; France, $4,086,000,000. Then comes Canada with the following total: $2,171,000,000. The other nine NATO partners spent on defence in the current year a total of $2,401,000,000 or just $230,000,000 more than Canada's expenditure.

ANDOVER (MASS.) TOWNSMAN—Good times is that period in which people contract the debts that worry them in bad times.

GULFPORT (MISS.) DIXIE GUIDE—Traveling through Tennessee your observer found citizens up in arms over the threat to turn TVA over to private operation. Agitation against the sale of the authority was so pronounced President Eisenhower was prompted to quiet the fears of public-power people by stating such a move would be drastic.

TVA was born of the depression years. It was believed that this gigantic project was too big for private capital to handle so the government, with its unlimited taxing power, stepped in to make the valley dream a reality. Now Tennessee doctors who fought socialized medicine with tooth and nail and bankers who break out in a cold sweat whenever someone advocates the government ownership of banks, squeal like stuck pigs when socialistic TVA is stabbed.

overnight "reconsideration." Joseph O'Connell, CAB Chairman, resigned in protest.

When CAB held that there was scarcely enough traffic for even a single Seattle-Honolulu flight in 1948, Truman made the board certify Pan Am for the run in competition with Northwest Airlines. Truman even forced our Ambassadors at Paris and Rome to obtain Pan Am's entry into those cities, although the French and Italian Governments opposed any foreign rivalry until the White House brought diplomatic pressure.

So, it was not surprising that, when a European shipping strike threatened to halt Atlantic travel several years ago, Pan Am acceded to a White House request to place a special plane at Margaret Truman's service. Only recently, Senator John W. Bricker, new Chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, was entertained at Tampico and Acapulco, two swank Mexican resorts, by Wilbur Morrison, head of Pan Am's Latin-American Division. Bricker's Committee has jurisdiction over all foreign and domestic transportation problems.

BASIS FOR BROWNELL'S SUIT—The basis for Brownell's suit involves Pan Am's strenuous and successful campaign to block through service from South America to New York and intermediate cities by rival firms. The Grace Company is named because it shares joint ownership with Pan Am of Panagra, which operates down the west coast of South America from Miami to Santiago and Buenos Aires. Braniff International Airways has a line paralleling Panagra's.

In the interest of economy, efficiency, balanced competition and passenger convenience, CAB has issued three orders for a Miami interchange. It decreed that Braniff tie up at Miami with Eddie Rick-ebacker's Eastern Airlines, which has the Miami-New York leg. It would have Panagra swap with National Airlines, which flies from the Florida resort to New York.

PAST SUCCESS OF GIANTS—But the two giants—Trippe and Rickenbacker—oppose this proposed division of territory and service with the little fellows, Braniff and National. Twice, they persuaded their erstwhile White House cronies, John R. Steelman and Matt Connolly, to get Truman to upset CAB's rulings. Eisenhower recently returned a third decision for restudy, but without expressing approval or disapproval.

Brownell's action, however, suggests that CAB will again order the Miami hookups described above. In view of Pan Am's 20-year role as a bipartisan "sacred cow," it is doubtful if the Attorney-General would have proceeded without White House okay.

Disadvantage In Good Cooks

If you have a wife who isn't a good cook, never complain to anyone! If I had one who couldn't, I would probably be a rich man and night, but I just want to point out that there are disadvantages to having one who's a master of the art.

Let's discuss what happens to the husband of a wife who's a terrific cook. The main disadvantage that confronts him is the danger his health encounters. Everybody knows that eating too much is about the worst punishment you can subject your body to. With a wife who's a good cook, you're bound to overeat.

Also, the joy of eating out is ruined. For the wife, it remains a joy because she is inclined to enjoy other people's cooking more than her own, plus the fact that she escapes the dishes. With the husband, it's a matter of looking at the menu and immediately concluding that whatever he sees will be inferior to the treatment his wife would give the same dish at home for half the price. Very discouraging!

The husband of a terrific cook is inclined to get too choosy for his own good. Suppose, for example, the wife occasionally has something that isn't exactly up to par. In our case, this is no fault of the cook, but instead it's the fault of the cost of living.

No woman, unless she has the talent plus an unlimited bank account, can keep the standard up to 100 per cent. The so-called fortunate husband of the good cook will soon turn his nose up at good cooking of inexpensive foods.

This health angle could stand more emphasis. If ever you hear a skinny man complaining, ignore him! Have you ever noticed that skinny men live much longer than the hefty ones?

Here's what happened to me: For years I tried to gain weight. Finally, I concluded that I was destined to be skinny. This was alarming to me, but now I wish for the days when I was a bean pole. There's nothing more discouraging than feeling the pooch about the best; that is, nothing except the realization of what you have to do in order to eliminate it.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

LABOR'S BEST ALLY
(Nashville Banner)

Most Americans know that their nation's industrial productivity is the highest in the world, but even so we believe they will be somewhat amazed at the immense difference between output per man in this country and the rest of the world.

The Stanford Research Institute recently has completed a study on the productivity of manufacturing labor in 11 Western European countries, conducted during the last several years. It finds that the output per unit of labor in Western Europe averages less than 35 per cent as much as in the United States. The report shows that productivity of industrial workers in Sweden and the United Kingdom was highest, being about half that of U.S. workers. In most of the other countries it was about one-third. U.S. rate, except that in Italy and Spain it was only one-fifth and one-seventh respectively.

These facts are of vital significance to every American worker. For they mean that he gets paid vastly higher wages for his labor. In fact, as the figures would indicate, he receives about three times as much real income as the European worker. The pre-eminent position of the U.S. worker is pointed up even more strikingly when it is realized that Europe, next to America, is the greatest industrial area in the world and that most of the rest of the world is much farther below Europe in productivity than Europe is below the United States. The question naturally follows as to the reason for America's huge advantage in productivity.

The primary reason, economists agree, is this nation's abundant stock of capital, i.e., workers in America have at their disposal a far greater amount of machinery and mechanical power than do those of other countries. Contributing factors are European management's historic inclination to favor high prices, limited production and protected markets.

The study underscores anew the indisputable economic fact that capital, far from being an enemy of labor, is actually its best ally.

Greater Air Of Responsibility Seen At Press Institute

By LYNN NISBET

PUBLICITY — Some 300 people directly concerned with the publication of newspapers attended the mid-winter institute of the N.C. Press Association at Chapel Hill and Duke University. The attendees included owners and publishers of newspapers; employed editorial writers, camera and writing reporters, and public relations people representing governmental and private business agencies.

It was the 29th institute at Chapel Hill and the 21st annual dinner at Duke. Oldtimers referred frequently to the fact that while there has been practically no change in the pattern of the programs during these years, there is marked difference in emphasis on methods and practices.

The newspaper folks are acutely conscious of the impact of television sets and wire photography and other speeded up processes of transmitting material for presentation on the printed pages. They are also conscious of changes brought about by radio and television. This was illustrated by the stacks of newspapers at one side of the Carolina Inn lobby and a continuously working TV screen on the other side.

A visit around the University campus disclosed that expansion of radio and television activities has forced about everything else out of Swain Hall, and that TV radio projects now occupy almost as much space as the long established University News Bureau and the School of Journalism combined.

Programs of the convention tended to ignore radio and video. But in private conversations the newspapermen gave a lot of attention to these newcomers in the publicity field. They were recognized, but mostly as complementary and stimulating auxiliary media. Informal reports indicated that newspaper circulation has increased in approximate ratio with popularity of TV and radio.

RESPONSIBILITY — The formal programs and the off-side conversations both indicated increasing sense of responsibility on part of the newspaper folks. A lot was said about freedom of the press, freedom of information, and the inherent right of the people to know what their elected servants are doing about public business. Every reference to these rights was couched with recognition that the news media also have a definite obligation for complete, accurate and unbiased presentation of news happenings and other facts.

Weimar Jones, president of the N.C. Press Association, took occasion at the Duke Dinner to point up the relationship between privileges and responsibilities of the press with respect to the people's right to know. A similar note was sounded by a former president, Al Resch at the Saturday morning breakfast. Both speakers stressed the importance of repealing the 1953 act authorizing secret meetings of the legislative committee on appropriations; but at the same time they emphasized the obligation of reporters and newspapers to give complete, accurate and unbiased accounts of happenings. There seemed general concurrence in the opinion that newspapers have prated too much about freedom of the press and have not given enough attention to responsibilities of the press.

One result of that attitude has been the popular concept that the scrap over legislative secrecy is just a squabble between some

Business Today

Propaganda To Come

By ELMER ROESSNER
Humphrey B. Neill, the Saxtons River, Vt., ruminator who publishes weekly letters of "contrary opinion" has come up with an opinion that may not be so contrary after all.

He thinks there will be strong efforts to reopen trade between the United States and the Red nations and he guesses that "the propaganda aimed at converting us into internationalists will be over-whelming."

He suggests that there will be some propaganda, balloons and tests of public sentiment, such as the recent butter proposition. Trade, he opines, will be discussed at the meeting of foreign ministers in Berlin and there will be some purposeful leaks to the press. The Vermontor quotes the recent Randall Committee report on the problems of surplus commodities and makes note of the allure of the gold Russia seems to be willing to trade for Western goods.

"I don't think any of us have any conception of the deals which may be made and bubble up out of frantic minds trying to cope with world problems, which at the same time are confronted with the socio-political consequences of a developing slump."

Two things seem to support Mr. Neill's views.

First, the British Empire appears eager to expand trade with Red China and at this moment a British group is in Russia trying to work out business deals. Other Western nations are eager to do more business with Red countries. The United States is therefore under a double pressure: pressure to agree to our friends' trade with Communists and pressure to do some trading ourselves as a defense against losing free-world customers to the Reds.

Second, as Mr. Neill hints, recessions and fears of them have a powerful way of dulling the edge of political—and even moral—convictions. It will be recalled that we refused to recognize Soviet Russia from 1918 until 1933 when, at the bottom of the depression, we changed our minds.

However, economic fears are far from what they were in the thirties and our attitudes toward communism have been toughened by our diplomatic experiences and the deaths of so many young men in Korea. While it is true that there may eventually be some trade with Red nations, it won't happen very soon.

U.S. ITALIAN SPORTSWEAR FIRMS SWAP DESIGNS

An American toy manufacturer is exchanging ideas and blueprints with a European manufacturer; American and British soft-drink makers are swapping formulas and trademarks, and this week an international trade of sportswear designs, patents, fabrics and secrets went into high gear, as Trasformazioni Tessili shirts were distributed under the McGregor label. The designs are radically different from usual American sport shirts and the colors are new—and less flamboyant than the Truman styles.

The deal began a year ago when William Doniger, an American, and Gino Pizzenza, an Italian, admired each other's sportswear on a ski trail on Mt. Etna. It turned out each man was associated with his brother in a sportswear business. The rest was easy.

Office Desks Need Some Litter

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A wife at house-cleaning time knows no such agony as an untidy man forced to clean off his office desk.

To him throwing away the paper mountain he has come to love, layer by layer, is pure torture. It is like peeling away his heart.

I am in the process of cleaning off my desk right now. And if cleanliness is next to Godliness, I'll soon be a neighbor to Heaven.

Already I can see patches of the top of my desk—a horrible dull green—after tossing away 75 pounds of unanswerable letters, unread books and pamphlets, soiled socks, used coffee cartons, small pieces of string and lumps of sugar.

But who wants to see the top of my desk anyway? You can't play billiards on it. If you lie down on it to take a nap, you either get a stiff neck or the boss jumps to the conclusion you are loafing on the job.

All you can do with a clean desk top is put a small sign saying "Think" on it... and look at it and brood. If the desk is littered, you can paw into one of the paper gullies and find plenty to think about. But a bare desk offers no help to a bare brain.

A wife who shines up her house is at least rewarded by the comment of guests, "My, how lovely everything looks." But nobody walks into a business office and says, "I just adore the way you keep the top of your desk. It has such a mellow old gangrene patina. What kind of polish do you use on it?"

There is a legend that a clean desk reflects a clear mind. This is merely a fable to console the unimaginative. It is like saying a gentleman with neatly creased trousers can outpunch a guy in baggy pants.

It would be more nearly truthful to say the man with a littered desk recognizes and enjoys the normal confusion of daily living, whereas the man who can't work except at a clean desk is more likely to be a victim of strait-jacket thinking and tries to put life's chaotic problems into pigeon-holes. But pigeons are neither for people nor their problems—they're for pigeons.

Men with littered desks are quite tolerant of men with clean desks and merely feel sorry for their inefficiency. Your clean-desk man is always looking for an important paper lost in the files or carelessly tossed away in last month's wastepaper basket.

But your littered-desk man merely closes his eyes, inserts a hand within the debris before him and pulls out exactly what he wants. He never is at a loss because he saves everything, operating on the sound belief that you never know what is really important in this life until you need it. That man is never thrown any thing away.

"But psychiatrists say this shows a terrible sense of insecurity," a friend of mine objected.

"Well, if your clean desk is a sign you feel secure," I told him, "perhaps you ought to see a psychiatrist. Don't you really think anybody who feels secure in a mad world ought to have his head examined now and then?"

Perhaps you are wondering why, since I love to keep my desk like a magpie's nest, I am bothering to clean it up at all. Frankly, I was forced into it by a threat of legal action.

On the wall two feet above my desk I keep a sign that says, "Order Is Heaven's First Law." Generally, when my desk rubble gets level with the sign I weed it down a bit. This is to keep the telephone from rising out of my reach.

I hadn't done much weeding lately, and the other day the whole mass toppled over and caught our drama critic like a sizzling duck.

The drama critic took the accident in good grace. But all the clean-desk fiends in the office seized it as a golden opportunity. "If you don't clean off that desk," they said grimly, "we'll haul you into court for maintaining a fire hazard and a menace to public safety."

Eisenhower's Housing Program

(Wilson Times)

For our part, we can't see much difference between what Eisenhower wants in the way of a housing program and what former President Truman wanted. Both insisted on clearing away city slums. All of us will naturally applaud, for we would all like to get rid of our sub-normal houses. But can we do that only with government money? President Eisenhower says he would like to see it done by private enterprise; but if private enterprise won't do it, he'd like to do it with federal money. He'd like to see 35,000 new units go up a year for four years.

In theory everyone in America should own a house. Actually, some 55 per cent do. The only reason the other 45 per cent don't, it's our belief, is because they can't afford homes. How, then, can they afford rent in government houses? If the project is to make money, and most government projects are designed to do that, the rent must be higher than those people are paying now. They live where they do because it is cheap. That they would like to live in better homes we can take for granted. But will they move into better ones without more earnings?

Home-ownership in America has been growing by leaps and bounds. It's been that way ever since the nation started. As our people earn more, they acquire houses. The ratio of home-ownership has been steadily going up. In another 50 years it's not unlikely that 85 per cent will grow to become 80 per cent. Now will we need government-owned houses to do it. What we need are large quantities of mortgage money made available at reasonable interest rates. For all of our people have houses now. If they're renters, they know that what they pay out in rent will eventually buy a house. What they need are simply more incentives.

Vocalist Jo Stafford Is Finally Signed By Video

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Jo Stafford, the easy-going songbird from Coal- inga, Calif., finally makes her television debut with a new series to- night and she isn't sorry she waited. Virtually all of the other recording stars rushed into the new medium either on a regular or guest basis. Not red-haired Jo. "Sure, I had a lot of offers to do guest spots," she admitted be- fore rehearsals for the CBS show, which premieres tonight. "I passed up a lot of money because I didn't think that kind of TV would be good for me. "I have a different kind of voice from most singers. I can't go out and knock them dead with one number or two. You have to get used to my style. "TV is something of a monster. You are being seen by a fantastic number of people. If you don't click just right, you can ruin your- self. In two weeks, you can wipe out what you have been building up for 15 years. "And so Jo just bided her time while her competitors warbled on all channels. She didn't exactly need the money. She had a regular radio show, and her records contin- ued to sell—not only like hot- cakes, but like records as well. She had four big hits in 1953, and her current "Make Love to Me" is jiving the juke boxes. "Besides, I'm lazy," she admit- ted. She'd just as soon stay home and take care of her year-old Timmy. But one day her agent came to her with the CBS deal. It was a straight three-year contract with options thereafter. It was too good to pass up. The present plan calls for a 15-minute show "along the Perry Como-Dinah Shore lines" every Tuesday. It may be expanded to twice weekly since Jo feels her voice wears better with folks if they're exposed to it more often. Her husband, Paul Weston, who is also a Columbia Records execu- tive, will be in charge of the music, and she's happy to have it in such good hands. "One of the things I want to concentrate on with our show is the audio," she remarked. "There is not enough good music in TV. The thinking goes back to the early days when the public would look at anything, even a test pattern. The sound part of the show was unimportant, and the music was sluffed off. "They're still doing it in TV, and I think the public resents it. They want and expect good music with a show. Or else why would they buy so many records?"

Judge Embarks On New Careers

AP Newsfeatures
STILLWATER, Okla. — A 34-year old farmer who has been a state legislator, county attorney, and a private pilot at various stages of his career and is now county judge is chucking everything for a new career as a high school teacher. His Honor Robert McCubbins who when not attending class at Oklahoma A&M college is the Noble County judge, says he's been cultivating the thought for a long time. "I think we need better teach- ers," he said. "It's a worthwhile profession." McCubbins sandwiches his 12 hours of credits in education in between his duties as Noble County's judge, a post he has held for seven years. He holds a bachelor of law degree from the University of Oklahoma, and also has a bachel- or's degree from A&M. He's a bachelor in the marital sense also. McCubbins owns 780 acres near Marland and that's a big reason for his switch to teaching. "I wanted the summers off to tend to the farm," he says. "Teaching gives you that. Law doesn't." How does it feel to look down from the bench all day surrounded by the stature of a judgeship, then sit with other students under a teacher's watchful eye? "Quite interesting," says his hon- or. "I don't think it's any harder going to school now than it was the first time. One thing, I don't try to make as high grades now as I did then. I just take what comes along." McCubbins said he has no lofty ambitions to reshape the world as a teacher. "I figure I just wasn't cut out to be a lawyer and I thought education would best serve my interests." When McCubbins gets enough edu- cation credits to get a teacher's certificate, he'll resign his judge- ship and substitute a yardstick for a gavel.

Roosevelt Claims Blackmail Effort

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Roosevelt, denying his wife's charges that he committed adultery with 12 women, says he was being blackmailed when he signed a letter admitting nine infidelities. He says he knew the letter to be false but he signed it to keep his wife from suing for divorce in 1945 and thereby adding to his father's burdens as president. This was the answer given in a prepared statement yesterday by the eldest son of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. He said also that he will decide before April 2 whether he will run for Congress in the 26th District. Some Democratic party leaders have suggested he withdraw. April 2 is the final date on which to declare candidacy. Mrs. Romelle Schneider Roose- velt made the adultery charges in filing suit for separate main- tenance last Thursday. The letter was filed with her complaint. A preliminary hearing on her de- mand for support payments has been set for Friday. "My wife has chosen to make the most ugly accusation which it is possible to make against any man," Roosevelt's statement said. "Each and every allegation of mis- conduct by the 12 persons men- tioned with me is completely false and without foundation." Roosevelt offered "an especial apology to the nine women named in the letter signed by him. "Each and every one of them is completely innocent of any mis- conduct with me," he said. "The harm which has been done them I can never repair, but I can and do emphasize their innocence, ask their forgiveness and understand- ing of this unfortunate incident." From the very beginning, he said, his wife displayed an "un- reasonable demand for material se- curity" and developed "an unreas- oning fear and jealousy" of his social contacts. The result was "a calculated campaign" to transfer to her all his material assets "and a constant threat to accuse me of imaginary infidelities," he said. "This pattern reached its climax in the early part of 1945, when I was repeatedly faced with the de- mand that I acknowledge these imaginary happenings and, as she put it, 'purge my soul,'" his state- ment said. "I was given an alternative. She stated that if I once did this she would forever cease these demands and begin our marital life anew. If I did not, she would proceed with a divorce naming all individ- uals." This, said Roosevelt, was when he was entering the fifth year of service with the Marine Corps and when he was "very much below par physically," having contracted malaria and other disabilities in the south Pacific. He said he was promised that if he would sign a letter prepared by attorneys it would never be made public and in time would be destroyed. "That it was blackmail I now recognize, but my desire to keep these innocent people from unjust- ified attacks while I was overseas and unable to defend myself my desire to make, if possible, a suc- cess of my marriage and my de- sire to prevent any anguish to my own family led me to believe in the sincerity of my wife's state- ment," Roosevelt said. Upon his return from service he made every effort to "achieve a successful marriage," and he be- lieved his wife finally was con- vinced that her charges were im- agined. When they proceeded to have their three children, the state- ment said. But, he added, her im- agined financial insecurity and various psychological factors in- volved in the marriage "so affect- ed my wife that she had made living together impossible." "Threats of divorce or suicide," he said, "were an almost daily occurrence."

Extension Courses Offered In Nine Centers By East Carolina College

Largely for the benefit of teach- ers and administrators in North Carolina public schools, East Caro- lina College is now offering eleven extension courses in nine centers in the eastern section of the state. En- rollment included 263 men and wo- men. Extension courses are planned so that teachers in service and others may acquire credit toward degrees of certification. The program is car- ried out under the direction of Dr. Ed J. Carter, director of the Bureau of Field Service at East Carolina, and classes are taught by faculty members at the college. Both gra- duate and undergraduate courses are included among those offered at present. Two courses are now being taught in both Fayetteville and Roanoke Rapids. Other centers where classes are in progress are Raleigh, Tarboro, Clinton, Washington, Nashville, Lumberton, and Smithfield. Seven of the eleven courses are in the field of education. Others are in geography, art, English, and library science.

High Pressure Not Appreciated

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—M.V. Burleson, owner of a used car lot, said he turned down an applicant for a salesman's job, explaining that business was too slow to war- rant extra help. Attending to other business off the lot he returned to find the stranger closing a deal for a car. Burleson signed the papers and the applicant sold another car. Closing the deal, Burleson looked out his office to see the man finishing another sale. Before he could reach the scene, he said the man pocket- ed a $75 down payment and left the lot. He filed a complaint. Two principal conditions cause animals to become inactive for con- siderable periods; hibernation being brought about by cold and aestiva- tion by dryness.

Marilyn Admits She Has Never Seen Baseball Game

By SHINN HIGASHI
TOKYO (AP) — Actress Marilyn Monroe, bride of baseball's great Joe DiMaggio, said today she has never seen a ball game. "I met my husband after he had retired from active baseball," the pin-up star told a Japanese-American news conference. With occasional help from Lefty O'Doul, San Diego club manager, Miss Monroe parried questions ranging from the risk to the ridiculous. "How long have you been walk- ing like that?" one Japanese cor- respondent asked as Miss Monroe swayed across the room. "I started when I was 6 months old and haven't stopped yet," the blonde actress replied. "We are told you do not wear anything under your dress. Is that true?" another Japanese reporter asked as he eyed the fringe of lace peeking from beneath a form-tight red wool dress. "I'm planning to buy a kimono tomorrow," Miss Monroe evaded with a grin. The actress had kept newsmen waiting nearly two hours, but quickly dispelled any resulting hos- tility by taking all questions in stride. Pointing to a dark fur piece tossed carelessly over her left arm, a newsmen asked, "What kind of fur is that?" "Fox—and not the 20th Century kind," she quipped in obvious re- ference to the recent suspension

Ulcers Flourish On Cable Cars

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mary Alice Ball 34-year-old war widow, has switched to office work after 11 years as one of San Francisco's two woman cable car conductors. Mrs. Ball, mother of a 16-year-old daughter, said she's through de- manded "fares, tickets and trans- fer, please," on the creaking, sway- ing, hill-climbing trams because: "It was my ulcer or the line, and the ulcer was gaining." The average American uses about 15 per cent fewer white potatoes than before World War II.

Bucs Win, 99-74; Phants Play Tonight

Bobby Hodges Scores 36 Points As Pirates Blast Appalachian in North State Conference Contest

BOONE — All-Conference center Bobby Hodges scored 36 points here last night as East Carolina College's Pirates rolled over Appalachian's Mountaineers 99-74.

Hodges played only three and a half quarters. He was pulled from the game by Coach Howard Porter with five minutes left to play and didn't get back into the contest. Still, despite only 15 minutes of last half action, he scored 20 points in the last half to go along with 16 first-half points. It was his high total for the year.

The Pirates, with Hodges and Charlie Huffman doing the bulk of the work, jumped to a quick lead in the game and were never seriously threatened. The victory was their seventh in conference play. They have lost just once.

Freshman forward Don Harris, troubled by a slump last week against Western Carolina, found his touch again and wound up with 19 points for runner-up honors. Guard Cecil Heath scored 15 and forward Charlie Huffman had 12 to follow in the scoring.

There was never any doubt about the outcome of the game. East Carolina had a 21-13 lead at the end of the first quarter and a 45-33 halftime lead. Reserves played much of the final half when the Pirates scored 54 points.

The Pirates just missed the 100 mark for the third time this year. They had a 90-65 lead when Hodges went out of a game but were unable to get the 10 points they needed to crack the 100 figure.

Center Al Brown led the Appalachians scoring with 16 points. Guard Tee Hattcock, who won a starting job only last week, was second in the App scoring with 15 points.

The Pirates have all but sewed up the conference's first-place position now. They have four games remaining, two with Atlantic Christian and one apiece with Elon and High Point, and they do not expect any serious difficulties with either team. Atlantic Christian is rated as the only one of the three squads with anything better than an outside chance of upsetting the Bucs and they'll get their first chance tomorrow night when they come to Memorial Gymnasium to meet the Bucs in East Carolina's last home conference game. Tip-off time for tomorrow's contest is 8 p.m.

In last night's game, Hodges was by far the most outstanding offensive player. He was moving well and at one point in the third quarter he hit six consecutive baskets. He missed 10 free throws, however, to keep his point total from being even higher than it was.

Sievers Signs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Infielder Roy Sievers and pitcher Bob Habentich of the Baltimore Orioles have returned their 1954 contracts, bringing to seven the number signed for the coming baseball season.

The Orioles announced yesterday the signing of outfielder Jim Freley and pitcher Charles Locke.

Sievers, who alternated at first base with Dick Kryhoski for the St. Louis Browns, hit .270 last season. Habentich, a 28-year-old right-hander for Charleston, W. Va., had a .47 record with the American Assn. club and wound up with a 3.58 earned run average.

Duke Blue Devils Now Are Rated Among The Best

By BEN OLAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Seattle Duke and La Salle today swept in among the first 10 teams in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll. Unbeaten Kentucky and Duquesne still ranked one-two.

Kentucky received 27 first-place votes and an aggregate of 798 points as reward for its 13 straight victories from the 97 sports writers and sportscasters who cast their ballots.

Duquesne which rode to its 18th straight success last night by downing Villanova 70-41, corralled 696 points on the usual 10 first place, nine for second, etc., basis. The Dukes grabbed 12 votes for first place.

Indiana, 13 - 1, including last night's 80-71 victory over Louisville remained in third place, with 16 No. 1 ballots.

Western Kentucky, undefeated in 20 starts, broke the fourth-place tie which existed between the Hilltoppers and Oklahoma A&M. Western picked up 603 points (with seven firsts) and the Aggies (17-1) had 547 points—with nine for first place.

But it was the showing of the "newcomers" which turned the rest of the top 10 topsy-turvy — Oklahoma City, Minnesota and George Washington the victims.

Seattle climbed from 11th to sixth place on the strength of its continued improved play. The West Coast club has won 20 in a row since its opening game loss to Wichita, and five of those who balloted now believe they're the nation's best.

Duke (13-4) moved up 12 notches to the No. 8 position. The Blue Devils had 167 points, most of them as a result of the 82-65 licking they handed Navy Saturday.

Up-and-coming La Salle moved from 12th to ninth place, with 165 points and two first-place ballots. The Philadelphia five has come strong after dropping three early season games. They have won 15.

Notre Dame and Holy Cross remained among the first 10, although each lost ground. The Irish (10-2) dropped from sixth to seventh and the Crusaders (14-1) from seventh to 10th.

The leading teams on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 point basis (first-place votes in parentheses):

Offer Prize For Return Of Trout

PHOENIX, Ariz.—It pays to fish in the Colorado River. One Chamber of Commerce has offered a reward for the return of a trout with tag MO-1000.

It's all part of a scheme devised by Arizona Fisheries biologist Dick Wagner. He has planted 2,500 trout in various parts of the river. Most of the fish have tags.

The purpose of the plan is to gain information on growth rate, migration distance and direction plus the ability of these hatchery-raised fish to assimilate natural foods.

The one with tag MO-1000 weighs 3 pounds and is 17 inches long. It was released below Davis Dam.

The 50th Chicago City bowling tournament will start Dec. 26. The CBA will give every member of every team a special anniversary token.

Bethel Boys Leading Pitt County League

By BOB BOYETTE
Bethel boys and Winterville and Bethel girls hold the number one positions in the Pitt County Conference standings in games played through last Friday night.

Bethel and Winterville girls are still tied for the number one position with both teams winning their games Friday.

The Bethel boys, who were undefeated in conference play prior to last Tuesday night, still have four league games remaining, which means to lose them all would not drop them lower than third position in the standings. They have defeated each of the four teams they have to play at least once this year.

The Bethel and Winterville girls each have four games remaining with teams they have beaten once which gives a good indication they may be tied for the number one position at the end of the season.

Stokes-Pactolus boys, who are still in second position, have only two games remaining in their Conference schedule. One of those games is with Bethel. Should they defeat the Indians it would put new light on the standings.

Winterville boys, who are third in the standings, have four games remaining. They have defeated each of these teams once this year with the exception of Chicod, who they have not played.

The way it stands now it looks as if the Bethel, Winterville, or Stokes boys will be the regular season champs with either the Bethel or Winterville girls the regular season champs. There could easily be a two way tie for the first position.

Checking either closer would reveal that, should Bethel win their remaining games, they would have a 14 won, one lost Conference record which would put them safely in the top slot.

On the other hand, should Stokes-Pactolus defeat Bethel and win their other game with Grimesland the Stokes count would have a 12 won, two lost county record, which still would not top Bethel's should the Indians win all their remaining games except the Stokes game.

Winterville would have a 13 won, one lost record should they win all their remaining games which would be above either Bethel or Stokes should Stokes win that night.

The girls' side of the books looks as if it will either be a tie or definitely Bethel or Winterville when the season ends.

It points for an interesting finish which would provide for some good basketball during the next few weeks prior to opening of the tournament in Farmville on February 18.

Every team will be giving their all to assure the top slot in the standings which would give them an automatic bye into the second round of the tournament since there are nine county high schools.

Frank Selvy Sets Record In Game Against Clemson

By BEN PHLEGAR
NEW YORK (AP)—Furman's Frank Selvy a 6-foot-3 midget among the basketball giants to date seemed a cinch to lift the major college scoring record so high that even the big boys won't be able to touch it for many seasons to come.

The jump-shot artist from Corbin, Ky., got his hands on the record last night by scoring 25 points in a 70-53 victory over Clemson. This gave him 1,904 for 21 seasons of play with a dozen games left. The old three-year record of 1,888 was set by Clyde Lovellette of Kansas in 1952.

Selvy's performance was the highlight of a big night in college basketball as the teams started hitting the boards in earnest after midnight exams.

Western Kentucky and Duquesne both triumphed, bringing them a game closer to the elusive perfect season that no major school has attained since Army did it in 1943-44.

Western beat Bowling Green 94-82 for its 20th straight. Duquesne notched No. 18 at the expense of Villanova 70-41. Indiana's defending NCAA champions won their 13th against a single loss, defeating Duquesne 80-71.

Duquesne, ranked second to Kentucky in this week's Associated Press poll, overpowered Villanova with an all-around team effort. The losers came up with the game's high scorer in Bob Schaefer with 27 points, but none of his teammates got close to double figures.

Clutch shooting by Forest Able kept Western Kentucky's streak intact. Bowling Green crept within three points in the third quarter only to have Able hit for six straight points. He got a total of 25 points to 31 for Tom Marshall.

Indiana's battle with Louisville was a rough-and-tumble affair in which Louisville stars John Purdue and Chuck Noble fouled out and Indiana forward Dick White had a technical foul called against him for pushing a Louisville player in an out-of-bounds scramble late in the contest. Don Schlund hit 13 of 16 free throws and added eight baskets for scoring honors with 29 points.

Bob Pettit of Louisiana State runner-up to Selvy in the season's scoring race, was held to 15 points as LSU squeaked past Mississippi 53-52 for its sixth straight Southeastern Conference victory.

Atlantic Coast Meets Southern

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three North Carolina Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams get a chance tonight to show what they can do against Southern Conference opposition.

North Carolina (8-4) plays Washington & Lee (4-6) at Lexington, Va.; North Carolina State (12-5) plays William & Mary (6-6) at Lynchburg, Va.; and South Carolina (6-9) plays host to Davidson (5-9). Wofford invades independent Belmont Abbey in the other game.

North State Conference teams were involved in four of the five games last night. East Carolina ran its season's record to 11-1, defeating Appalachian 99-74. The Pirates, leaders the entire season in the conference, were led by Bobby Hodges with 36 points.

Elon had to rally in the final quarter to drop last place Guilford, 78-75. The victory moved Elon into a third place tie with Western Carolina.

In non-conference games Lenoir-Rhyne defeated Newberry, 86-55, and Enka whipped High Point, 99-67. Belmont Abbey, led by Jack Underwood, defeated the College of Charleston, 105-63.

Levy On Video Asked By Greene

By JACK HAND
PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Abe Greene commissioner of the National Boxing Assn., today proposed a per cent levy on all TV network boxing shows to set up a national fund to help the small clubs.

Greene's idea was an extension of a recent suggestion by Bob Christenberry chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, for a 2 per cent levy in New York state. Greene would make it a national fund.

"The national fund would be managed by the NBA, TV chains, leading promoters and managers," said Greene. "It would be used to pump life and vitality into regularly organized boxing clubs that have fought depressions and tried to keep alive under murderous conditions."

Under all states, not just one, "We have records on the clubs that have been operating for many years on a weekly or regular basis. Take the Newark club, for instance. It has been in operation for 30 years and now is struggling with a local TV show against tremendous odds."

"The club in Providence has the same problems. Baltimore, Washington, Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis also need help to keep the small clubs alive."

"There need not be a windfall that would enrich a promoter. Just enough adrelin to make the difference between success and failure while enabling youngsters to develop."

Greene pointed out that TV had made boxing, more than ever before a nationwide business.

"You can't confine TV's beneficence. If they will work them, to one state," he added.

"Properly managed, with the help of TV support, the small clubs can revive the sport in many cities and provide the talent that TV will need in the days ahead."

"If they don't come to the rescue, boxing on TV will be discarded by the wealthy sponsors for something else."

A New York committee including representatives of the commission, the International Boxing Club Eastern Parkway and a Syracuse club, already is working on Christenberry's proposal to help the New York clubs.

Sox Sign Two

CHICAGO (AP)—Third baseman Joe Kirene and utility infielder Neil Berry signed with the Chicago White Sox today to boost the club's satisfied players for 1954 to 31. Nine more are to be signed, including the team's leading batter, Minnie Miñoso.

Washington Pam Pack Here Tonight In Attempt To Gain Revenge; Second Place In League At Stake

Greenville High School's Phantoms, their undefeated conference record smeared by both Kinston and New Bern, will seek to return to the win column tonight against the Washington Pam Pack. The game will be played in Memorial Gymnasium on the East Carolina College campus.

The Phants, who up until a few days ago were the pride of the Northeastern Conference, have dropped their last two starts and need a win tonight to insure their current position in the league standings. Earlier in the season the G-Men squeezed by the Pam Pack in a contest played at Washington.

Forward Bob Howell is once again expected to pace the Phants in the scoring column. Howell, one of the Conference's top performers, has consistently been at the top of Greenville scoring totals.

Other players being counted on heavily to bring Greenville out of its slump are center Harold Edwards and guards Pat Sawyer and George Siders. All three of these boys played well in the losses to Kinston and New Bern.

Should the Pam Pack record a win tonight when they would enter the with Greenville for second place in the loop. The Greenies currently own a 5-2 loop mark with Washington having a 4-3. All indications point to a close contest with the Washington squad seeking revenge for the 47-40 setback handed them by the Greenies earlier in the season.

Charlie Bishop, who is well remembered by Greenville fans from the football season, will probably carry the burden for the Pam Pack. Other players expected to contribute to the Washington attack are Pinky Young, Bennie Waters and Larry Robertson.

A preliminary contest between the jayvee squads is slated for 6:30 with the varsity contest following at 8 p.m.

Notre Dame Picks New Grid Mentor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame sprang another surprise yesterday with the naming of a 25-year-old assistant football coach, Terry Brennan, to succeed Frank Leahy as head coach.

It had been felt by many that Brennan's age would prevent serious consideration for what is probably the most important job in the country. Leahy's high opinion of his young assistant was a big factor in his choice.

"Terry is a very talented young man who borders almost on the genius as a coach," Leahy said. "His age is no barrier. Coaching is a young man's game. Terry will make good."

The Brennan appointment was announced only 19 hours after Leahy, 45, had called it quits, declaring that his health would not allow him to continue.

Prior to the announcement, Leahy had said only that any one of his seven assistants was capable of taking over. These included, in addition to Brennan, the freshman coach; Johnny Lujack, Joe McArdle, Johnny Druze, Walt Ziemba, Bill Earley and Bob McBride.

The university gave Brennan a three-year contract believed to call for $12,000 a year. However, money derived from fringe activities such as radio and television, writing, speaking, endorsements, and other business ventures topped Leahy's annual income to over $50,000—some say as high as $70,000.

Despite his youth, Brennan is considered a good bet to fulfill the confidence of Notre Dame authorities in him.

As a 165-pound halfback for Notre Dame from 1945-1948, he started 30 or 38 games and Leahy considered him his clutch runner—the boy good for three or four yards in tight situations.

He turned down the professional game to coach Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago and it was his record there that prompted Leahy to summon him to South Bend for an assistant's post. At Mt. Carmel, he turned out three consecutive undefeated city champions, an unprecedented accomplishment.

Brennan, sandy-haired and freckle-faced, looks no more than his age. He is quiet and calm and impresses those who know him with his poise.

He is married to his hometown sweetheart from Milwaukee, the former Mary Louise Kelley, and has two children.

He was "thrilled and humbled" at being chosen to succeed Leahy but his new responsibility "does not alarm" him.

Tucker Leading Bulldog Scorers

Carlton Tucker, senior captain of the Eppes High School basketball squad, is pacing the Bulldogs in scoring so far this year.

Tucker has collected 78 points in the six Bulldog outings so far for a 13-point per game average. Fred Outbridge, a sophomore, is close behind Tucker in the scoring race having totaled 70 points in Bulldog games. Eppes currently has a record of four losses against two wins.

Ballot Report Puts Bethel Girls First

By BOB BOYETTE
In this week's balloting for the top Pitt Conference teams the Bethel girls and the Bethel and Winterville boys held the number one position.

The Bethel girls replaced Winterville as the number one sextet after defeating the Wolverines 73-62 last Tuesday night.

Bethel boys, which had received all the number one votes almost every week, dropped into a tie with the Winterville boys for first place in the rating. Winterville defeated the Indians 64-45 last Tuesday night.

Behind the two top county quintets were Stokes-Pactolus who defeated Belvoir-Falkland and Grifton in league game last week.

Next behind Stokes was the Farmville boys who defeated Ayden, but lost to Bethel in games last week.

Ayden boys, which have yet to win a county game, tied Belvoir-Falkland for the number five position this week. They lost to Farmville 50-48 in their only conference outing last week. Belvoir-Falkland lost to both Stokes-Pactolus and Winterville

THE DOCTOR DISAGREES

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

SYNOPSIS

Dr. Stephen Carr and his wife, Shelly, are on their way to a family dinner party honoring his venerable mother's birthday. Though polite to her always, Shelly well knew that the very social Carrs had never really accepted her. She was a stranger to them and to the little mid-west city of Norfolk, where the Carrs resided, a night club singer of uncertain background whom the whole Carr family believed Stephen had married impulsively. Aware of their subtle snubs, Shelly determines to prove her metal.

CHAPTER TWO

"DO YOU know that girl?" Shelly asked when the doctor came around the car and got into the seat beside her.

"Who?" he asked, more intent on the panel buttons on sliding the big car away from the curb.

"That woman on the walk— you spoke to her."

"Oh, no, I don't know her— but oh, you know—a doctor in a place like this—"

He shrugged. "She looked vaguely familiar. Do you know who she is?"

"Well—I think— she's with all those strange people who are coming into town for the new clay pits, the roads and things they are building. Several hundred men, I think, mostly laborers."

"That girl didn't look like a laborer's wife."

"Aren't there bosses? Civil engineers and such? It's an outside company doing the work, your father said. A gross contractor, he called it."

"That's right," Stephen agreed. "They even have their own medical setup."

"Their own doctor?"

"No, but health examinations, insurance—all that sort of thing. They'll use our facilities but not through the plant, as such."

"I see. You know, Stephen, it's made an acute housing shortage."

"I'd think so."

"Several of the big houses in our part of town have taken in these people."

"Did you say that girl . . ."

"I was getting ready to say it, but you talk so much you don't let me."

Stephen had stopped for what everyone in town called their ridiculous Courthouse Square traffic system of lights, and he could turn a laughing face to his wife.

She smiled at him. "The Pollers have made a couple of apartments, Dorina told me, and I think that attractive girl lives in one of them."

"I expect the Pollers can use the money. They have a burden in that nephew."

"I saw some furniture being taken in there. And what furniture!"

"I'd think they'd have enough furniture."

"Well—this is gossip, Stephen, of the kitchen variety."

"O.K. Let's have it."

"Well, I never know." She glanced at him mischievously. "At odd times you get touchy about gossip."

"This isn't one of the times. What have you heard, or seen?"

"Dorina told me that over the years the Pollers have sold a lot of their things—some of the rooms were empty. As you say, they don't have an excess of cash, though Miss Roxie manages to keep her hair blonde and to buy medicine."

"I saw Sonnie's truck there last week—that's the secondhand store—bringing in some second hand furniture."

"Junk," he qualified.

"I was thinking of what it must be to live in such a place. That girl we passed—she's no older than I am and she looks like a sweet, intelligent girl."

"Maybe she's never known better, darling."

"Maybe not. But it's so dreadful to have no home of your own—to keep moving about as these crews evidently do, from job to job, always living in makeshift rooms and apartments with dirty secondhand furniture. I think that girl's husband is an engineer. He's a big, husky man, and goes off early every morning in a car full of sun-burned men. He sometimes carries a square box that looks as if it might contain instruments."

"Transit," Stephen agreed.

"He's gone all day, and comes home late in the afternoon, his clothes stained. He works very hard, I'm sure."

"They make good money."

"What good is that?" Shelly asked indignantly. "His wife—that thin, dark girl—here she's alone in a strange town, living in that house with those Poller 'girls' and their moron nephew, with all that ugly old furniture—Well, it must be hard, Stephen."

"I suppose it is hard, darling, but in their line of work they simply have to . . ."

"I know. We all have to make compromises. But I get to wondering. It would be hard to make friends when she knows she'll be here for only a year. And, of course, Norfolk isn't going to help her."

"They had reached the edge of town and were driving along the highway; the white fences of Carr property began to flash first on one side of the road and then on both. It was popularly said that the Carrs owned all of Norfolk and half of the county. The former was an exaggeration; the latter scarcely was. The Carrs did own the underground rights of that much land, and a great part of the top soil, too. The Refractory was the town's leading industry. Everyone in town, if only indirectly, owed his living to the Carr family. The town had grown, its people prospered under their benevolent pa-ronage. But patronage of any sort can be irksome—and the sting sometimes burned unendurably.

Stephen turned the car into the lane which would become the house driveway and soon drew up at the impressive back door of his father's house.

"I never come here," Stephen said thoughtfully, "but what I am conscious of the disappointment it's been to my family that I didn't go into the business."

"Oh, but you're such a good doctor!" said Shelly with warm loyalty.

"I don't think that makes any difference," he said slowly. "They didn't want me to be a doctor, and they'll never make peace with the idea, never."

"What a strong-minded boy you must have been!"

"Spoiled is the usual word for it." This was not the first discus-

the disappointed one there. Both she and Dad have been good sports."

"So have you!"

"He glanced at her questioningly. "Why, of course!" she asserted. "You came back here and worked hard as a country doctor, when you might have lived like—"

"Hey, hey hey!" he protested. "You're on the wrong track. Mrs. Carr. Don't forget, Norfolk is the third largest town in the state. And growing like I'll get out. Why darl. I, for a doctor wanting to do private practice as against hospital staff work, this is the ideal setup."

"It is, eh?" asked Shelly, her tone faintly tart. "Yet you're still determined—You have quite definitely decided, Stephen?"

He opened the car door. "Yes," he said as he stepped out to the gravel. He came around to her side, and bent toward her tenderly. "I realize it will be hard on you, darling—though, with the family here, you'll not be lonely."

gress for the necessary funds.

A key provision, he said, is for operation of schools by the Welfare Department in those places in the South and Southwest "where there are state prohibitions against operating nonsegregated schools."

The U. S. Office of Education, part of the Welfare Department, would undertake in such places to operate schools independent of the state school systems, Hannah said. Ordinarily, state systems have supervision over the schools on posts.

Desegregation of the schools was directed by President Eisenhower last March.

See why the trend is growing to the 1954 Lincoln

The facts are simple: Lincoln is the one fine car whose sales have more than doubled in two short years.

There are good reasons why this trend keeps growing. The great new Lincoln for 1954 is the most dramatic edition of the car that started the big change in American motorists' ideas about fine cars.

Take, for instance, Lincoln's new styling—from the stunning new grille to the crisp, new rear deck and distinctive new taillights. It is a completely new design—akin to the ground-hugging, functional look found wherever the living is modern. Note, too, how well

Lincoln's new colors and fabrics go with Lincoln's new styling; dramatic new shades in nylons, gabardines, and leathers.

Above all you have incredible performance. Lincoln's world-famous V-8 engine has the new automatic 4-barrel carburetor—gives you superbly controlled action at all times. Add to all this the optional features—power steering, power brakes, the 4-way power seat and electric power window lifts—and driving becomes practically effortless. You'll know what we mean the moment you drive a wonderful new 1954 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan. Sunday evening 8:00 to 9:00. Station WNCT, Channel 9.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures
The photography class will come to order! Since our object, ultimately is to take good pictures, let's start with fundamentals. This is the natural place to commence for the beginners in our class, and the more advanced can always benefit from a review. In fact, like pieces in a jigsaw puzzle, facts and theories only vaguely understood previously will snap into place with clarity and ease to form a better picture than before.

For our text, we are indeed fortunate to have a brand new look which is a complete home course in the mechanics, techniques and applications of photography. Its name "Successful Photography"; its author, Andreas Feininger, a Life staff lensman; its publisher, Prentice-Hall and its price: $3.95.

The lesson for today from the book will be on a usually puzzling aspect of a camera lens—focal length and how it affects picture taking. Be sure to digest each statement and understand it before proceeding to the next. The focal length of a lens determines the scale of the image on the negative; the longer the focal length, the larger the image. Focal length and image size are directly proportional; a lens with twice the focal length of another lens produces an image twice as large.

In actual measurement, it is the distance from the lens center to the film, at which point the lens produces a sharp image of an object that is "infinitely" far away—like the sun. Have you ever held a lens toward the sun and focussed its rays on a piece of paper? When you produced the smallest, sharpest and hottest image—at the point where it started to burn—you demonstrated its focal length. The focal length of a lens is measured either in inches, centimeters, or millimeters, and this figure is usually engraved on the lens mount. It is the shortest distance between lens center and film at which the lens will still produce a sharp image. In this position, the lens is said to be focussed "on infinity."

In order to produce sharp images of close objects the distance from lens center to film must be increased proportionately—its lens must be "focussed." To produce an image that is the same size as the subject (close-ups of objects) the distance from lens center to film must be approximately twice the focal length of the lens.

According to their focal lengths, lenses can be referred to as "standard," "short-focus" and "long-focus" lenses. However, these are relative terms which change according to negative size. The same lens that has a relatively short focal length when used to cover a large negative has a relatively long focal length when used to cover a small negative. For example: a short-focus (or wide-angle) lens for an 8x10-inch negative has a focal length of 6 inches; if used on a 4x5-inch camera, this same lens would be standard lens since the normal focal length for a 4x5-inch negative size is 6 inches; however, if used on a 2 1/4 x 3 1/4-inch camera it would become a long-focus, or telephoto lens, since the normal lens on the 2 1/4 x 3 1/4-inch negative size is 3 inches.

The "normal" or "standard" focal length for any negative size is roughly equal to the length of the diagonal of the negative. Any lens with a focal length greater than the diagonal of the negative is covered if a long-focus lens; if its focal length is shorter than the diagonal of the negative, it is considered a short-focus lens.

There, Mr. Feininger threw some light on that topic and it's but one item in a storehouse full of facts that'll give you knowhow and the background to better pictures. Once past the foundation of basic photo techniques and principles you can move into the inspirational. You can explore, experiment and create with your camera because it is a tool which you have mastered.

Class dismissed—but don't forget you've got a lot of study and homework to do and if you have questions or problems, you'll undoubtedly find the answers in Andreas Feininger's book.

What's new? A couple of scholarships to famous photo schools await a pair of deserving young students some place in America.

First, there's the 1954 Scholastic-Anso Photography Awards for teenage photographers who attend public, private or parochial schools anywhere in the United States. After 39 regional exhibitions comes the national contest judging (deadline March 15, 1954). Some pupils in the 10th, 11th or 12th grade who show the most promise, based on a portfolio of not more than 20 nor less than 8 photographs will be awarded a scholarship to the Art Center School of Los Angeles, California.

For rules booklet, write: Scholastic-Anso Awards, 33 W. 42 St., New York 36, N.Y.

Secondly, there's an opportunity for a recent high school graduate to obtain a one-year, tuition-free scholarship in photography at the Rochester Institute of Technology after application and selection by the Photographic Society of America.

Here are the conditions a candidate must meet: he or she must have graduated from high school within the past two years; meet basic scholastic, character and aptitude requirements; demonstrate a satisfactory interest in photography and must apply by May 15, 1954.

Official applications and additional specific information may be had from: Scholarship Committee, P.S.A., 206 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Amateurs who are timid about entering contests may get a charge out of the winners announced in the 2nd National Anso Color Contest. The top three prizes were taken by amateurs, two of whom had never entered a contest previously. Grand Prize winner is a young war widow, Mrs. Catharine Boyd of Blue Earth, Minn. Her picture, a group of youngsters romping in the ocean surf, is typical of the pictures available to all amateurs but excels in natural action and spontaneity. As a social worker, the new car she won will come in mighty handy.

Also a winner on a first try was a 63-year-old physician, Dr. Morris Flexner of Louisville, Ky. His first prize in the Scenic division brings him a round trip for two to Hawaii plus spending money. A similar award goes to a grandmother, Mrs. Bonnie Mahan, San Mateo, Calif., who is a concert pianist and a member of a color camera club. She topped the Human Interest class with an appealing shot of her little granddaughter standing in a railroad station doll held behind her back, watching a train pull out.

Also new... a compact slide viewer which folds into a cigarette-pack size when not in use, for handy viewing of 2x2-inch color slides. With an optical lens giving four times magnification, the Kodaslide Pocket Viewer ($1.95) has a grained Tenuite screen for even illumination in viewing transparencies by transmitted light. It stows away easily in a man's shirt pocket or a lady's purse.

Birdlike Appetite Can Keep Child Well Fed

By DOROTHY V. Whipple, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

One of the most frequent complaints that a mother makes in a pediatrician's office is that her child doesn't eat — at least he doesn't eat as much as she thinks he should.

Once in a while we really do find a child who shows evidence of malnutrition. He is thin, pale, has poor posture, is easily tired, is cross and irritable. However, the vast majority of youngsters whose mothers complain about their birdlike appetites are well-nourished youngsters, whose food intake is obviously taking care of all their needs.

If your child doesn't seem to be at the peak of physical health, take him to your doctor for a complete examination. Maybe there is something wrong that needs attention.

If your doctor finds your child in good health and you still have mealtime trouble, consider each one of the following points:

1. Does he want between meals? Johnny didn't touch his breakfast so around 10 o'clock mother gives him bread, butter and jelly and maybe a glass of milk at 11. No wonder Johnny doesn't want his lunch. A pretty good rule is nothing but water between meals. Follow this rule even if nothing at all is eaten at a meal. It will take a few days, but not more than a few, before the youngster will become interested in food at mealtime.

2. Does he drink too much milk? Milk is a good food, but some children develop the habit of drinking so much milk they have no room for anything else. A glass with each meal is enough—and none between meals.

3. Do you pile his plate full of food? Little children really do not need a great deal of food. If a plate has too much on it, the child is discouraged before he begins. Make his portions very small, down to one pea if necessary, so that he can have the satisfaction of finishing and of coming back for more. If he does ask for more, praise him for finishing and give another very small helping. Meals are more interesting to a child if he can have five helpings, even if it only adds up to five peas.

Does he get a lot of attention for not eating? Children love to be the center of the stage; they love to have people pay attention to them. A child sometimes discovers that not eating is more interesting than eating. "Eat your carrots, Davey." "Come dearie, just one bite for Grandma." Even if the attention is not too pleasant, still it's better than being ignored. "Eat that food, young man, or you'll get spanked."

Try putting tiny portions on his plate. Say nothing at all if he doesn't eat, praise him if he does. When the family has finished, remove everyone's plate including the child's — even if he hasn't eaten a single bite — and don't say a single word about his failure to eat. And what's more, try your best not to even LOOK concerned.

Bring on the dessert. Don't threaten no dessert if the plate is not cleaned. BUT — and this is a very important but — for the child who is not eating the main part of his meal well, the dessert must be fruit. It doesn't make much difference nutritionally if a child eats a peach instead of a carrot, but it does make a lot of difference if he passes up his meat and vegetables, and fills up on ice cream or cake or even pudding.

One last thing. Try to have the child happy and not too tired when he comes to a meal. Nervous upsets take away appetite. If you have a squabble just before a meal, skip the meal or at least postpone it until the youngster is at ease and relaxed enough to want to eat.

If you can give this kind of a regime a week's trial — and don't be discouraged under a week — I'll guarantee a healthy child will eat as much food as he needs at mealtime.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Trading was relatively quiet today as the stock market declined moderately.

Most major divisions of the market were affected by the slip in prices, but there was no selling pressure at any stage of the fall.

At the most in a few instances, prices were off between 1 and 2 points, but both gains and losses were usually in the small fractions.

Trading was at a pace that amounted to around 1 1/2 million shares for the day. That compares with 1,740,000 shares traded in yesterday's fall market.

Among lower divisions were steels, railroads, oils, chemicals, aircrafts, radio-television coppers and utilities.

Motors, which were down yesterday, were somewhat mixed today as were the rubbers and distillers. The motion pictures and air lines were steady.

Glum Outlook By Five Groundhogs

QUARRYVILLE, Pa. (AP)—There was sad news this Groundhog Day for optimists hoping for an early spring.

Five different groundhogs, each proclaimed by the finders the "official" weather forecaster, poked noses into the chill Lancaster County air and promptly scurried back into burrows for another nap.

That, announced hibernating Gov. Charles Hess of the Slumbering Lodge of Groundhogs means six more weeks of winter weather.

The groundhog sighting and the resultant forecast all were part of the annual funfest in this southeastern Pennsylvania area, started nearly a half century ago. The tradition is that when the groundhog sees his shadow more winter is on the way; no shadow and you can count on an early spring.

Hess fixed the official time of the first sighting at 7:38.20 a.m. EST, noting proudly that five separate squads made similar reports within a space of 3 1/2 minutes.

"Entirely due to our adoption of radar, radio and other modern search and reporting gadgets," he said proudly.

In Allentown, the sun broke through and Mr. Groundhog glimpsed his shadow once to add more support to the more-winter forecast. But "unofficial" reports from the Grundow Lodge Nummas and von Lechau—Groundhog aids No. 1—on the Lehigh—said the groundhog was "confused" because of the mildness of the day.

Plant Cuts 150 Employees From Its Work Force

What was termed a "temporary reduction in the work force" of the DuPont plant near Kinston was announced today by R. W. Peterson, assistant plant manager.

The announcement said about 150 of the 1,700 employees now on the payroll of the plant will be affected by the layoff. Dr. Peterson said in the announcement that the 150 who will be temporarily laid off are relatively short-service employees of the plant.

The temporary reduction in the number of employees of the plant, Dr. Peterson said, is a direct result of the weak textile market which has been rather unstable since mid-1953 and which has affected many other textile fibers as well as "Dacron" polyester fiber.

Car Is Victim Of Odd Accident

The brakes on the above tractor-trailer gave way yesterday afternoon about three o'clock and it rolled across Ficklen Street coming to rest on the hood of a parked car. Police estimated damage to the car at $200 and to the fence at $100. The truck was not damaged. (Reflector photo by Alvin Taylor)

Tractor-Trailer Hits Car And Fence; Brakes Failed

The brakes of a tractor-trailer, which was being unloaded at the Ficklen Tobacco Company yesterday, gave way and rolled across the street, ripping down a fence and coming to rest on the hood of a parked car.

In a freak accident the truck, from which a load of hogheads of tobacco were being unloaded, rolled across the street before its driver could rest its brakes. The mid-section of the trailer came to rest on the hood of the parked car.

The big tractor-trailer belonged to the Goldsboro Tobacco Company and was driven by Mayland C. Elliott, Negro, of 716 North Jackson Street, Goldsboro. The car belonged to Connor Merritt of 2003 East 4th St., Greenville.

Traffic on the street was blocked for a short while during the time that the truck was being unloaded and while a wrecker was unloading the two vehicles. The trailer of the truck had to be lifted off the car by the wrecker and the car pulled out from under the truck before the tractor-trailer could be pulled out of the hole.

Investigating officers estimated damage to the car at $200 with damage to the fence running about $100. The truck was not damaged. No arrest was made.

Pitt Elections . . .

Sixth, he recommended that all that part of Greenville Township of Fifth St. east and west and south of the campus of East Carolina College and west of Charles Street and N.C. Highway No. 43 and east of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad be known as Greenville Precinct No. 6.

Seventh, he recommended that all that part of Greenville Township lying east and north of the western and southern boundary of the campus of East Carolina College and east of Charles Street and N.C. Highway No. 43 and south of Fifth Street to Green Mill Run, just below Greenwood Cemetery, and east of the Mill Run, be known as Greenville Precinct No. 7. Peel pointed out that it is intended that all the campus of East Carolina College together with that part of Greenville Township east of Green Mill Run from the point where it crosses Fifth Street shall be in precinct No. 7 and the voting place shall be the Brookgreen School.

Finally he recommended that the part of Greenville Township east of Jarvis Street and north of Fifth Street to Green Mill Run and west of Green Mill Run to where it enters the Tar River and south of Tar River shall be Greenville Precinct No. 8 with the old hospital building the voting place.

After more discussion the Board approved Peel's recommendation. Many Things Considered
The Board then asked that it be noted before even these tentative approvals made, that the number of votes a potential precinct would have, the expense involved in maintaining a voting precinct, and the convenience of the voters was considered.

Plans call for the action taken last night to be advertised throughout the county.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fight 2 Woods Fires In County

Two woods fires in the Whitehurst Station section of Pitt county damaged eight or 10 acres of valuable timber last night. Mrs. Margaret Smith, observer at the fire tower, reported today.

Forest Ranger N. S. (Kid) Tyson and his firefighting crew and others fought the scattering fire from about 7:30 until 10 o'clock before bringing it under control.

The forest ranger warned landowners and others that the North Carolina law requires all persons burning brush in rural area to obtain a burning permit and to notify adjoining landowners. Brush burning permits may be procured from any of the forest rangers.

Worst Winter In Seven Years Has Europe Chilled

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP)—The worst winter in seven years turned Europe into one vast icebox from the Urals to the Mediterranean today, spread misery among the homeless in the big cities, and covered the play resorts of North Africa with snow.

Trains were stalled. Rivers turned into giant ice ponds. Overworked electric lines broke down. Hundreds of villages were cut off.

The weatherman said even lower temperatures were on the way.

Already, more than 45 people have died.

In North Africa, many parts of Morocco had their first snowfall in 35 years. Near Meknes, three feet of snow was reported and the hills around Algiers were ice-capped.

London had its coldest night in seven years with the temperature tumbling to 23 degrees for 12 hours running.

Nearly 100 villages were cut off by snowdrifts in the Italian Highlands. A howling windstorm with gusts of hurricane force lashed at Trieste, injuring at least seven people.

Public "warming rooms" were opened in Frankfurt, Germany, and Paris, and shivering homeless jammed the Paris subway stations to escape the freezing winds.

German officials predicted the Rhine River would be frozen solid from the North Sea to Switzerland by the end of the week if there is no let-up. At Lorelei it was already frozen for more than three miles.

River traffic was at a virtual standstill throughout Germany and icebreakers were out on the River Elbe at Hamburg.

Two Danish planes flew a ton and a half of food into the island of Juist, where 400 children were marooned at a rest camp.

The lowest February temperature in 20 years—7.5 below zero—was chalked up at Basle, Switzerland. The Netherlands had its coldest night of the year with 1.4 degrees below.

In Britain, water pipes froze and many homes were without water. Trains running into London from the north were up to two hours late because of ice-up switch points. Power lines cracked under the weight of snow and ice, breaking electric service to many British areas, and hospitals and offices started emergency generators.

Mule Killed And Auto Damaged In Highway Mishap

Considerable damage was done to a car and a mule was killed at 8:30 this morning, when the mule jumped into the path of the auto on the Bethel Highway.

The driver of the vehicle was Larry Tetterton, 17, of Bethel, who was traveling south on NC 11 near Bethel. The mule and cart was driven by Eddie Mooring, 13-year-old Negro boy.

Patrolman Delton Perry, who investigated the accident, said that the mule jumped in front of the car just as they were passing. The animal received two broken legs and was destroyed.

Considerable damage was done to the hood and windshield of the vehicle. No one was injured and no arrest was made.

Ballentine To Be Main Speaker

L. Y. "Stag" Ballentine, Commissioner of Agriculture for North Carolina, will be the principal speaker for the annual meeting of the Farmer's Home Administration tomorrow afternoon in the Pitt County Court House at three o'clock.

Ralph Harris, county supervisor of the F.H.A. emphasized today that the public is invited to attend the meet to hear Ballentine's address.

Vietminh Attacks Seen As New Talking Point

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh attacks in five separate sectors shaped up today as parts of a general offensive apparently aimed at overrunning enough territory to give the Communist-led rebels a powerful talking point for ending the Indochina war by negotiation.

A new invasion of Laos threatened Luang Prabang, the royal Laotian capital. Ho Chi Minh threw virtually all his eight regular divisions—trained and equipped by Red China—into the winter campaign.

The war picture looked like this:

1. Vietminh Division No. 308, detached from the siege of Dien Bien Phu, crossed the border from northwest Viet Nam into northern Laos, overran French-garrisoned Muong Khous after a 30-mile advance and headed on toward Luang Prabang, 85 miles to the south.

2. In central Laos, a war theater for six weeks, other rebel troops battled French forces in the Mekong River area north and east of Thakhek, a town the Vietminh won during Christmas week and then gave up without a fight.

3. Three Vietminh divisions including No. 316, a heavy weapons outfit called the Iron Division, maintained pressure on Dien Bien Phu, the heavily fortified plain where the French keep a toehold in the Thai mountain country at Laos' back doorstep.

4. Two hundred miles to the east, troops of Vietminh division No. 320 infiltrated the Red River delta, the key defense bulwark of French Union forces against the sweep of communism into southeast Asia, and opened attacks on guard posts in the Ninh Binh and Nam Dinh sectors.

5. In the southeast Viet Nam, rebel resistance stiffened against a French drive to oust the Vietminh from the rich coastal strip of 220 miles between Cap Varella and Paflo.

But the Vietminh soldiers, with all their strength in the Red River delta and with the aid of perhaps 60,000 irregulars and guerrillas who have infiltrated the delta, appeared to have no chance of smashing the tens of thousands of French Union defenders or seizing any significant number of the 1,200 fortifications they man.

The Vietminh seemed to be seeking instead to put as much territory as possible under their Red flag before the spring rains to convince the war-weary French a negotiated peace is the best way to end the seven-year-old conflict.
