Defense Secretary Sees Victory In Indochina Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today he thought a military victory rather than a negotiated peace, "would be perhaps both possible and probable" in the Indochina War.

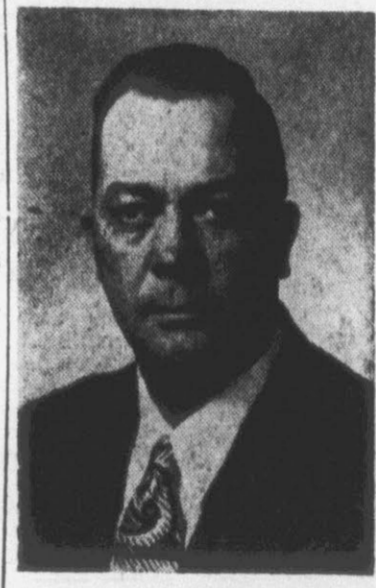

Wilson qualified his statement by noting that of course it "always depends on what the enemy does and who shows up as an enemy."

Pitt Board Chairman, Vice-Chairman Not Running Plan No Re-Election Bids

The chairman and vice-chairman of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners will not seek re-election in the May primary.

In separate statements given The Daily Reflector last night, Chairman F. F. Hendrix said he would not seek re-election because of pressing matters in his own business, and board vice-chairman J. T. Dupree said he would not seek re-election because of reasons of health.

I must devote more time to my business. I am going to take whatever time is necessary to see the projects already started by the County Commissioners through to a satisfactory conclusion.

Defenders Braced For Forthcoming Red Attack Rebels Near Laos Capital

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—French and Laotian defenders of Luang Prabang braced today for an "imminent" attack from the Communist-led Vietminh.

The rebels advanced the French and Laotian forces and many civilians withdrew under the cover of intensive French air bombardment leaving rice stocks burning behind them in an effort to destroy food the Red fighters need.

It appeared likely the French-Laotian forces had abandoned Pak Seng, though there was no confirmation of this. That point is a key to the Suong, which empties into the Mekong a few miles north of Luang Prabang.

Classroom Teachers Of Martin County Hold Supper Meeting

ROBERSONVILLE — Approximately 100 teachers from the Martin County unit were present at the Classroom Teachers supper meeting which was held Thursday in the Williamston High School cafeteria. Mrs. John Tyler of Robersonville, president of the Classroom Teachers, presided. Miss Helen Wells of Raleigh, the state president, and Mrs. Eula P. Greathouse of Rocky Mount, N. E. District president, attended. After a barbecued chicken supper there was a short business session which was followed by a musical program. Mrs. Irving Smith of Robersonville entertained with the accordion. Miss Jeanine Taylor gave several selections on the auto-harp then the group blended their voices in familiar songs. Miss Wells was the speaker of the evening.

Mrs. John Dixon Is Honored At Shower

ROBERSONVILLE — Miss Hilda Sumrell and Mrs. Rosalind Walker honored Mrs. John Dixon, the former Miss Clara Woolard, at a miscellaneous shower Monday at the Robersonville Teacherage. All the teachers were invited and each one brought a guest.

After everyone arrived the honoree followed a string that led to her gifts which included two pairs of pillow cases, a set of dishes, one tablecloth, crystal to match her set, a sterling fork, eight plates and one cup and saucer in her chosen china pattern. After the presents were unwrapped, everyone was given a sheet of paper on which to write words of advice for the bride and groom.

Lime punch, cookies, salted nuts, green and white mints were served buffet style.

Recently, Mrs. Dixon's fifth grade gave a towel shower in the grammar school.

Funeral Wednesday For W. A. Sermons

Mr. W. A. (Bill) Sermons Jr., 42, died early Tuesday morning following several days of illness.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by his pastor, Dr. H.G. Haney, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Sermons, son of the late W.A. and Amanda Allen Sermons, was born and reared in Pitt County and had lived in Greenville since 1937. He had been engaged in the tobacco business all his adult life and was a tobacco auctioneer and warehouseman. He was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church.

He was a member of Greenville Masonic Lodge 284 AF and AM and was a 32nd degree mason.

Surviving are his wife, the former Helen Tucker of near Winterville; a daughter, Faye Sermons, and a son, Billy Sermons, both of the home; a brother, E.R. (Pete) Sermons of Greenville; four sisters, Mrs. J.M. Sullivan of Ahoskie, and Mrs. Amos Evans, Mrs. Bill Forbes, and Mrs. L.E. Hunnings of Greenville.

Mrs. Wilson Hostess To Lector Club

Mrs. Tom Wilson was gracious hostess to the members of the Lector Book Club and several guests at her home on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 2. After a short business meeting, Mrs. Harold Forbes, program leader for the afternoon, chose "North Carolina Folklore" as her subject. North Carolina is one of the richest fields for the collecting of folk-songs and folklore in the English-speaking world today, and the N. C. Folklore Society has done invaluable work in collecting and preserving the dialect, legends and ballads of the Carolina people from Cape Hatteras to the Great Smokies. Mrs. Wilson served a delicious dessert with coffee and nuts. After the distribution of books, the meeting was adjourned.

Valentine Motif Used For Party

GRIFFON—On Friday night Mrs. Albert Tyson was a gracious hostess at a dessert bridge at her home on Queen Street. Red carnations were used as decorations and Valentine talies and table appointments carried out the seasonal motif. As guests arrived they found their places at the card tables and strawberry shortcake and coffee were served.

Mrs. Clifton Jackson was highest scorer among the club members and Mrs. Heber Wade second high. They were remembered with attractive gifts as was Mrs. Mark Phillips, a visitor of the evening. Others present were Mrs. Madames Walter Murphy, Jake Worthington, John Coward, Paul Bradley, Wilbur Murphy, Bryan Davis, Charlie Gardner, Archie Rogers and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

'Life In The Sea' Topic For Club Meet

ROBERSONVILLE — The Ex Libris Club met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Henry H. Pope on Main Street.

The subject for this date was "Life in the Sea." Mrs. Pitt Robertson gave a very interesting description of the fish which are unfamiliar to many people in North Carolina. After an informative talk, the program leader read an article from the November Geographic Magazine, then she showed colored pictures of fish life away from here. The hostess served sandwiches with hot tea to a large group.

'Family Album' Stylings In Hat Designs For Coming Spring

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor
Even in a modern world of angular architecture, jet planes and atom-powered machines, ladies need not look like blueprints, in the opinion of milliner Walter Florell of New York.

This dedicated designer who leaps about his plush salon with the grace of an exquisitely groomed gazelle, believes that as our era grows more coldly scientific, women takes, therefore, as the theme of his hat collection for spring, the old-fashioned charm of Currier and Ives prints. He calls his millinery "tokens of remembrance," and points out that a woman's hat need not look like Lever House, even though she lives in the age of the smashed atom.

He says: "Let's go back to the flirtations of yesterday—the blush, the dropped handkerchief the pretty hat. Not even a modern man should be deprived of the privilege of seeing his woman look beautiful."

He creates a family album look in the feminine confections he shows as headgear for today's women. There are pressed flowers, delicate veillings, chiffon trimmings and flattering pastel colors in his new group of "remembrance" hats. Silhouettes vary from outside cart wheels to tiny "demitasse" saucers in shades of coffee and tea. These are swathed in birdcage veiling, and worn straight and flat on the head and often trimmed with a single flower or loop of ribbon.

His "bell cloches" are deep-crowned and scoop-brimmed, often draped with filmy handkerchiefs held in place with antique pins.

Pressed flower trimmings give a sleek look to the hats, permitting the use of a number of different blossoms on one hat without giving it the look of a garden club entry. Straw caning and shiny black mohair are two of the favorite materials in the collection, with old-fashioned straws present in plentiful array.

Library Lends Pets To Children

ROLANDO, Calif. (AP)—The Rolando park Elementary public school has started a pet lending library. Pupils are allowed to take such small creatures as turtles, gold fish, hamsters, white mice, horned toads, guinea pigs, rabbits and birds home for study. There is a charge of five cents a week for each pet.

Donald Barnes, principal, said the school's 628 pupils have taken to the idea so enthusiastically that the library has a long waiting list.

The average temperature of the sun is about 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Old Friend And Ex-Wife To Bury Slain Max Bodenheim

NEW YORK (AP)—An old friend and a former wife today made arrangements for the burial of Maxwell Bodenheim, slain writer who flourished as a poet and novelist in the 1920s and then flourished in drink and poverty.

Author Ben Hecht yesterday offered to pay expenses for Bodenheim's funeral.

The dead man's first wife Minna last night arranged for him to be buried in a family plot at Cedar Park Cemetery, near Oradell, N. J.

Final arrangements, including the time of the funeral, remained to be completed.

No one has claimed the body of Bodenheim's third wife, the former Ruth Fagan, who was found slain with the prostitute poet.

Meanwhile, New York police pressed their hunt for the slayer or slayers and alerted cities from here to Miami, Fla., to be on the watch for scar-faced Harold Weinberg, 25.

A police bulletin yesterday said Weinberg, a fast-talker and an apparent ne'er-do-well with a police record as a vagrant and thief, was wanted for questioning in the double murder.

The bodies of the Bodenheims were found Sunday in a $8-a-week furnished room rented by Weinberg, who had been washing dishes in Greenwich Village restaurants.

Weinberg, police indicated, apparently had given the Bodenheims a roof a few days ago to spare them sleeping in hallways and subways.

Yesterday a truck driver in Charlottesville, Va., reported giving a lift to a man who gave his name as Weinberg. The driver said his description fitted that of the dishwasher.

New York police surmised that Weinberg, who was said to have been seen here last on Saturday night, about the time the Bodenheims were slain, may be heading for Florida.

There were reports that Weinberg had shown some attention toward the 35-year-old Mrs. Bodenheim despite objections by the 58-year-old poet.

Bodenheim was shot in the chest with a .22-caliber weapon. His wife was stabbed several times in the back and beaten viciously.

Minna Bodenheim, the former Minna Schein, was the inspiration for Bodenheim's poetry work, "Minna and Myself." They were married in 1918 and divorced in 1938. She now lives in New York.

Bodenheim married Grace Fawcett Finan, a widow, in 1939; she

More Called To Coffee Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators probed deeper today in an effort to find out whether speculation has had anything to do with the American consumer paying around a dollar a pound for coffee.

Officials of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange were called for a second day of questioning by members of a special Senate Banking subcommittee.

The exchange now polices its own trading operations, but the Senate may act later this week on a bill to bring coffee trading under federal supervision. Passage of the bill was blocked yesterday by a technical objection. However, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, predicted easy approval when it is brought up again.

Testifying yesterday, Leon Israel, vice president of the exchange, dismissed speculation as a factor in the high coffee price. He also said he sees no prospect of relief as long as "normal" demand continues.

Israel and Gustavo Lobo, exchange president, told the senators the Brazilian government uses special rates to exchange U. S. dollars for Brazilian cruzeiros in the coffee trade.

This, they said, could have some connection with the price situation. However, they said they could not agree with Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) that this practice adds as much as 25 to 30 cent a pound to the price of coffee in this country. Brazil is the world's biggest coffee producer.

McCarthy Urges Defeat For Any Asking Red Trade

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is calling for the defeat next fall of any Senate and House candidates approving American aid for countries trading with Communist China.

Addressing a Lincoln Day dinner here Monday night, the Wisconsin senator framed for the 1,500 guests this question he said they should pose for all congressional aspirants:

"If we send you to Washington, will you continue to vote our money to allies who are using that money to strengthen our mortal enemy, Red China?"

McCarthy said negative answers by the candidates "would give America an opportunity to curb communism that would be more effective than a blockade of the China coast."

As he has in the past, he cited Great Britain as a prime example of nations accepting U. S. dollars and yet trading with the Chinese. He said he anticipated that some would interpret his opposition to such trade as being anti-Eisenhower.

"But I am not fighting the President," he declared. "The President has done a good, over-all job in the year and a month he has been in Washington. But he is only one man and needs the help of all senators and representatives. Being so honest himself, he cannot conceive of traitors in government, or of being double-crossed."

Earlier, at a press conference, McCarthy said he had wired Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens asking that court-martial proceedings be started against every subversive in the armed forces. He said he told the secretary that "20 years of coddling of the military" have ended.

McCarthy, chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee said also that he would press for a contempt citation against Dr. Wendell Furry, Harvard University scientist who appeared before his group late in 1953.

"The true test of reformed Communists is whether they will disclose party tactics and brethren to investigators," the senator said. "Furry admitted before our group that he worked on secret radar material but would not reveal who worked with him."

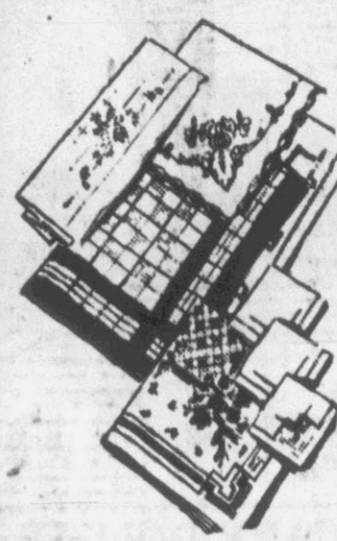

"Furry will be cited for contempt if the Senate will go along with us, and I think it will."

McCarthy said the Benson program for sliding farm price supports was "unrealistic." He said he thought supports should not go below 75 points and that for every point they dipped below 90, they should go a corresponding degree above 100.

Reservation Has Many Minerals

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—The vast Navajo Reservation is a treasure house of undeveloped minerals and other natural resources, say professors from the Universities of Arizona and New Mexico.

A search for wealth beneath the rocky soil of the 16-million acre land is under way. The geologists' salaries are paid from funds of the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Bucs Prepare For McCrary Eagles

Non-Conference Game Slated For Tomorrow In Memorial Gym; Marks Final Home Contest Of Year For Pirates

East Carolina College's Pirates go back to work tomorrow. Coach Howard Porter's Bucs close their home schedule in Memorial Gymnasium against the semi-pro McCrary Eagles. Tip-off time for the contest will be 8 o'clock. The game will be the only one of the season with the Eagles. In season's past, the teams have met on a home-and-home basis but the set-up was changed this year. The Eagles operate out of Asheville where the huge McCrary Mills are located.

East Carolina will go into the contest with a 14-1 record. Their one loss this season was to the Western Carolina College Cats, a team against which the Pirates got later revenge. In North State Conference play, the Pirates are on top of the nine team league with a 12-1 record.

While points scored in tomorrow's game would not be acceptable by NCAA standards, they will count in at least one Pirate's march toward scoring records in North State competition. East Carolina is not a member of the NCAA and any points that Bobby Hodges scores will carry him closer to both season and career scoring records in the conference.

Indiana Is Marching Toward League Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Indiana's powerful basketball team isn't making much headway in the Associated Press poll, but the Hoosiers are hurrying steadily ahead towards another Big Ten title. Ever since a Christmas vacation loss to Oregon State, the defending national champions have run third behind Kentucky and Duquesne in the weekly AP poll. They can remedy the situation, of course, if they continue playing as they did last night in winning their eighth straight Big Ten game with a 90-77 conquest of challenging Minnesota.

With 6-10 Don Schlundt and Bob Leonard teaming up perfectly, the Hoosiers looked capable of sweeping through again to the conference and NCAA championships. That would probably settle the poll problem.

No Indiana consecutive conference titles, nor gone through without a defeat, in the Big Ten's 49-year history. Minnesota spoiled the perfect record last year, but the Gophers never had a chance last night as Schlundt hit on 11 field goals and 14 of 14 free throws for 36 points and Leonard added 18 besides directing the attack.

Indiana has six more to go, including one with second-place Iowa, which made its record 7-1 by whaling Michigan 86-68 last night.

The big center might have a more difficult time in breaking the other record for which he is shooting. That one is Western Carolina's Ronald Rogers, total of 1920 points in four years. Hodges needs at least 226 points in the games remaining on the Pirate schedule to set up a new mark.

Hodges will get the starting nod at center tomorrow night against the semi-pros. Charlie Huffman and Don Harris will be at the forwards and Cecil Heath and J. C. Thomas will be the guards. Reserve guard-forward Paul Jones might be available for limited duty tomorrow night for the first time in three weeks. The senior forward from Thomasville injured his ankle in the Lenoir-Rhyne game three weeks ago. The ankle injury itself has almost healed but Jones had an unfavorable reaction to treatment because of a strange allergy to tape and several blisters formed on the injured ankle. The blisters have responded satisfactorily to treatments and Jones may be able to dress for the contest.

Sub guard Emory Bush is almost certain to miss the game. The junior from Jacksonville who came to the Pirates this year from Oak Ridge sprained his ankle rather severely in practice last Friday and will be out of action for most of the remainder of the year. Bush has been used as a sub for starter J. C. Thomas at guard.

Coach Adolf Rupp's unbeaten Kentucky team took no chances last night, employing only seven men while flattening Florida 97-56 for its 17th victory.

Duquesne, ranked second with an 18-0 mark, was idle, but fourth-ranked Oklahoma A&M almost suffered the fate which befell fifth-ranked Western Kentucky Saturday night.

The Aggies, heavily favored over Detroit, had to go into overtime before squeaking by with a 66-65 victory. Detroit, which has won only one of seven Missouri Valley Conference games, led the contest by missing six free throws in the last two minutes. The Aggies lead the Valley league with 5-0 and are 19-1 on the season.

Western Kentucky, meanwhile, snapped back from Saturday's upset loss to Eastern Kentucky by beating Morehead (Ky.) 89-75. Tom Marshall, held to eight by Eastern, scored in 38 points.

In the only other game involving top 10 teams, George Washington, No. 10, trimmed spirited South Carolina 61-53 to make its record 14-1.

The Colonials lead the Southern Conference with a 7-0 record and face their big test tonight against Furman, which stretched its league record to 4-0 last night by whipping Richmond 97-76. Furman's Frank Selvy, who has been averaging 38.6 points per game, got only 25.

Newcombe And Maglie Return

NEW YORK (AP)—Don Newcombe and Sal Maglie will be back on the mound this season. Both pitchers, on whose strong right arms may rest the outcome of the National League pennant race signed their 1954 contracts yesterday.

Newcombe, who won 20 games in 1951, came to terms with the Brooklyn Dodgers immediately upon his release from the Army. As usual, the amount he will receive was not disclosed. But Buzzy Bavasi, the club's vicepresident, indicated he got a sizable increase.

"I weigh 100 pounds less than when I finished the '51 season," Newcombe said. "I hope to shed 10 more pounds before I report for spring training. I'm looking forward to a good year and see no reason why I can't win 20 games against this year." His weight is 230 pounds now.

Maglie who won 33 games for the New York Giants in 1951 and 18 the following year, slumped to an 8-9 record last season. He was bothered by a back ailment and there were some reports he might retire. Now, however, he reports he's "feeling better than I have in two years."

It was these two, you may recall, who started in the memorable playoff game in 1951. Newcombe went 8 1-3 innings before he was replaced by the Ralph Branca, who gave up that dramatic home run to Bobby Thomson. Maglie hurled eight innings and left the game trailing 4-1. Larry Jansen received credit for the Giants' victory.

Several other National League clubs had some news from the contract-signing front. The St. Louis Cardinals brought their total of satisfied players to 26 by adding six-rookie shortstop Alex Grammas, outfielder Rip Repulski, first sacker Fred Marolewski and right-handed pitchers Cloyd Boyer, Joe Presko and Stu Miller. The Milwaukee Braves received utility infielder Sibby Sisti's signed contract and pitcher Paul Pettit and outfielder Gail Henley agreed to Pittsburgh's terms.

American Leaguers to sign were outfielder Vic Wertz of Baltimore and first baseman Earl York and outfielder Bill Wilson of the Chicago White Sox.

Blue Devils Hold To Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Duke's Blue Devils, holding as tight to second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference as sister to her best beau on Saturday night, literally challenges the lion in its own den tonight.

For Duke (4-1) will face North Carolina State (3-2) in Reynolds Coliseum in Raleigh. The Wolfpack moved into fourth place in the ACC last night thanks to a stinging and surprising 83-69 victory by Virginia over North Carolina at Charlottesville. The loss dropped the Tar Heels to fifth.

The Blue Devils must win to stay in second alone. Meanwhile, Wake Forest (5-5) at Wake Forest tonight. A State victory would leave the Pack tied with the Duke in the standings, but where would depend upon how the Deacons fare with Clemson.

A halloved basketball adage which gives the home team an alleged 10-point advantage was tossed out the window by the two teams last year. Duke lost to N. C. State in Durham 82-64, then turned around and whipped State in Raleigh, 84-82.

In the first meeting of the two this season, the Blue Devils defeated the Wolfpack at Duke Gym, 87-85, after State had led most of the way and as much as 13 points at one time.

State, now ranked 19th nationally hasn't forgotten. But Duke should be on the rebound after losing to George Washington last Saturday. The loss dropped them from 8th in the national standings to 15th.

Virginia's Buzzy Wilkinson swished in 45 points to spark his team's first conference victory of the year. This, plus a second quarter when North Carolina could score only a fantastically low five points, proved the Tar Heels' undoing.

The other action was in the North State Conference where Western Carolina tripped High Point, 75-65.

Kentucky, Dukes Fight For Top

NEW YORK (AP)—Kentucky continued to win games by 40 points or more but the Wildcats' first-place margin over Duquesne in the Associated Press basketball poll is getting smaller and smaller. This week the 97 experts who participated virtually admitted they couldn't choose between the two. Kentucky got the nod 787 to 751 on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote 9 for second and on down the line.

Forty-nine of the voters named Kentucky first or second whereas Duquesne drew 12 first-place votes and 35 for second. Five ballots skipped Kentucky altogether. Only two omitted Duquesne. Duquesne has won 18 games against college competition and two against service teams without a loss. Kentucky won its 17th straight last night, 97-55 over Florida.

Indiana's defending nation a 1 champions continued the grip on third place that they have maintained since suffering their only loss—to Oregon State in the week before Christmas. The Hoosiers polled 687 votes, almost 150 ahead of fourth-place Oklahoma A&M.

Western Kentucky gave up its No. 4 spot to the Aggies after suffering its first loss but slipped only as far as fifth. Rounding out the top 10 were Notre Dame, La Salle, Seattle, Holy Cross and George Washington. All except GW were in the select group last week. GW, 11th a week ago moved up by beating Duke Saturday night. This decision tumbled Duke from the No. 8 spot to 15th. The leading teams on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first-place votes in parentheses):

- 1. Kentucky (29) 787
- 2. Duquesne (12) 751

The standings of Pitt County basketball teams show both the Bethel girls and boys holding firm grips on the top positions as the season moves into its final stages.

An upset win by the Chicod girls over Winterville gave the Bethel girls the boost they needed to become the number one girls team in the county. The defeat dropped Winterville one-half game behind the league leaders. These two teams were tied last week.

Boys' standings are the same as last week with the winners coming through as expected, with the exception of Winterville moving into a tie with Stokes-Pactolus as the number two team in the standings.

This week's schedule: Tuesday Night Bethel at Grimesland Chicod at Bath Robersonville at Farmville Ayden at Jamesville Griffon at Belvoir (Monday) Walstonburg at Stokes Bear Grass at Winterville Friday Night Bethel at Stokes Belvoir-Falkland at Chicod Farmville at Snow Hill Winterville at Ayden Grimesland at Griffon

Siren Stampedes Poultry Flock

NEWBURY, Mass. (AP)—That town fire siren is murder, says Poultryman Arthur Fuller. When it blows, he told town officials, his birds stampede. Recently 95 were crushed to death in the rush. Officials sympathized but suggested that if the siren is moved volunteer fire fighters might not hear the summons to duty.

Poet Gordden Link Will Address Lecture Club

Dr. Gordden Link of Washington, D.C., whose 1953 volume "Three Poems for Now" is receiving favorable comment from distinguished critics of literature, will speak at the Faculty Lecture Club of East Carolina College Wednesday, February 17, at 8 p.m. in the College Theatre.

Dr. Link's topic will be "Poetry at Midcentury." Dr. James Poindester, president of the club, has announced that the meeting will be open to the public.

While at East Carolina, Dr. Link will be a guest February 18 in a number of classes at the college and will read his poetry for students. He will also conduct a workshop in creative writing.

Dr. Link first appeared in the pages of "Poetry: A Magazine of Verse" when he was 21. Later with Kenneth Porter and Harry Elmore Hurd he wrote "Christ in the Breadline", which exhausted two editions and received critical acclaim for the excellence of its religious verse. His poetry has appeared in magazines and anthologies both here and abroad.

In 1948 he received from the Poetry Society of America the Lola Ridge Award for Poetry of Social Significance.

Before World War II, Dr. Link was a college and university professor. After leaving the Army in 1946, he founded the McCoy College Writing Workshop at the Johns Hopkins University and directed it until 1951. He now lives in Washington, D.C. and is editor of the Contributions to Learning series.

Attend Bottlers' La. Convention

M.O. Minges, president, and Max Minges, vice president of the Pepsi-Cola bottling plant of Greenville are attending the convention of Pepsi-Cola bottlers in New Orleans. All business meetings, luncheons and exhibits are being held on the S.S. President, a Mississippi River showboat where bottlers were guest of Pepsi-Cola Company's President Al Steele for a showboat party Sunday.

President Steele told the bottlers 1953 was the biggest year in case volume sales of the company, and added that case sales of Pepsi-Cola have shown an increase over the corresponding month of the preceding year every month since September, 1950.

The latest techniques in bottling, distribution and promotion are being discussed at the meeting, and new types of equipment were displayed in the exposition hall. "Pepsi-Cola bottlers are always endeavoring to stay at the head of the parade in purity of produce and efficiency of operation," Minges stated. "Our conventions always present an invaluable opportunity to learn new methods and exchange ideas with other bottlers."

Keeping pace with the country-wide expansion distribution and facilities, the Pepsi-Cola Bottling company of Greenville during the past year constructed a new bottling plant in Kinston.

Dr. Messick At Chicago Meeting

President John D. Messick of East Carolina College is attending in Chicago this week the sixth annual meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, a national organization for the improvement of teacher education and an accrediting agency for member institutions.

Dr. Messick was appointed last November chairman of the national Committee on Accrediting of the AACTE. While in Chicago, he will attend meetings of this group and discuss its program for visitation of approximately 200 member institutions of the AACTE and for accrediting departments of instruction in these schools.

Wheel Decides Who's On Jury

DENVER (AP)—A gambling wheel spins out about 200 "winners" every other week at Denver in Colorado's only legalized lottery.

The 30-year-old confiscated wheel is used to pick jury panels for Denver district court. It is kept locked in a safe in the city and county building. Under law, it is brought out only in the presence of the presiding judge of district court, clerk of the court, jury commissioner and his deputy and the clerk and recorder.

Aged 62, Living Off His Father

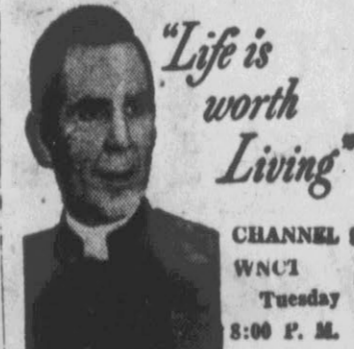

OMAHA (AP)—A 62-year-old man charged with stealing a package of cheese from a downtown store was asked by Judge Patrick Lynch what he did for a living.

"I live off my father," replied the man.

The judge said later he was too surprised to think of asking the father's age.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Aircraft advanced sharply in an otherwise steady stock market today.

Steels and motor stocks were generally lower as were selected distillers. But railroads, utilities, chemicals and motion picture issues were nearly a balance of small gains and losses.

Douglas jumped 3 1/2 at 101 and United Aircraft was up a point in brisk trading. Boeing and Lockheed also made progress. In the background of the aircraft advance were reports of heavy fighting in Indochina and the prospect that the U. S. would soon be called upon to supply more military aid, especially planes.

Oils showed general improvement, led by Texas Pacific Land Trust up 5 1/2 points at 123 1/2. Sinclair and Texas Co. also climbed. American Woolen Prior Preferred lost more than two points. Late yesterday, a Suffolk Superior Court judge issued an injunction restraining company officers from calling the preferred.

On the rise were Goodyear, International Harvester, Admiral Corp., American Telephone, McIntyre, Du Pont, International Paper, Baltimore & Ohio and American Can.

Lower were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, National Distillers, Union Carbide, General Electric and Southern Railway.

James Aubrey Smith Funeral Wednesday

Mr. James Aubrey Smith, 45, died in Aberdeen, N. C. early Tuesday morning after a short illness. Funeral services and burial will be in Aberdeen Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Smith, son of Mrs. Mary O. Smith of Pitt County and the late J. D. Smith, was born in Pitt County and lived here until 1933, when he moved to Aberdeen. He was engaged in the jewelry business until his retirement two years ago due to ill health. He was a member of the Lions Club and the Elks Lodge at Southern Pines. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Aberdeen.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary Bethune Smith; a daughter, Martha Ann Smith of Aberdeen; two brothers, Arthur Smith of Greenville and J. D. Smith of Lenoir; three sisters, Mrs. Jarvis Stokes of Stokes, Mrs. Arthur Evans of Greenville, and Miss Lucy Smith of Goldsboro and Greenville; and his mother, Mrs. Mary O. Smith of near Greenville.

The family request that no flowers be sent but memorial gifts may be made to Boyd Memorial Building Fund.

Destroy 2 Stills Near County Line

Two moonshine liquor stills were destroyed by Pitt and Beaufort County ABC officers yesterday working in the section near the county line.

A 100 gallon copper still was destroyed in the Gaynors Bridge section of Tranters creek. Officers said the still was hot when they came upon it, and apparently had been in operation, but no persons were found in the vicinity. The still was destroyed along with 200 gallons of mash and 10 gallons of moonshine liquor.

A 200 gallon submarine still was located in the Pine Log swamp and destroyed by officers along with 200 gallons of mash.

Both the stills were found in Beaufort County.

Taking part in the raids were Officers Clyde Stubbs and Ben Stowe of Beaufort County, and J.M. Ward, Dick King and H.B. Lilley of Pitt County.

One Person Injured In Three Highway Wrecks

One person was injured in a series of three highway accidents on Pitt County Highways over the weekend.

Injured was Guy Malcolm Nichols of Columbia, South Carolina who received a broken arm and a broken nose in an accident Sunday afternoon at 6:30.

Jones was traveling East on N.C. 102 about one and one-half miles from Calico when his car left the highway on the right side of the road, crossed four ditches and traveled 450 feet before coming to a stop.

The car received about $900 damage in the accident according to Patrolman Jim Davis who investigated. Davis said that no charges had been placed against the driver as yet but that his investigation was incomplete at the present time.

Pitt Memorial Hospital authorities reported the injured man's condition as being satisfactory.

Also Sunday a pickup truck, in attempting to outrun a highway patrolman, went off the road and turned over on a curve on N.C. 43.

The truck was being driven by Frank Streeter, Negro, of 1400 West Fifth Street, Greenville. He was being chased by Patrolman Shep Newman. The highway patrolman said that he gave chase to the truck along the highway and lost sight of him when he went around a curve. He said that when he came around the curve he found the truck on its side.

Newman said the truck received about $100 damage. The driver was charged with careless and reckless driving.

On Saturday afternoon a car driven by Lester Edwards of Route 4, Greenville rolled over two times on the Old Creek Road when it failed to make a curve. Patrolman Newman, who also investigated this accident, said that the driver was charged with driving drunk. No injuries resulted and the vehicle was a total loss.

Health Officer Talks To Rotary

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, health officer for Pitt County spoke to the Greenville Rotary club last night, tracing briefly the development of public sanitation.

The basic laws of sanitation were laid down by Abraham, Dr. Humbert declared, but the greatest advancement in the field of public sanitation have come in recent years.

Public sanitation, he said, has played a key role in the control of many diseases which used to cause epidemics in communities throughout the nation each year. An hundred years ago, he said, New York and other cities, large and small had open sewers, no water purification, and no refrigeration. "The cities were jungles of insanitary conditions."

As medical men discovered the cause of various diseases, Dr. Humbert said, sanitary engineers found means of preventing the spread of diseases in communities. Many diseases which used to reach epidemic stages in this country have been virtually wiped out by medical advances and advances in sanitation.

Humbert commented briefly on the work of the Pitt County Health Department in the field of sanitation in Pitt County.

Guests of the club at the meeting included Dr. Allan Taylor of Greenville, and visiting Rotarians Elbert Davis and Harry Mumford of Ayden.

Norwegian Student Talks To Ayden Club

AYDEN — "I am discovering America in 1953 and 1954 just like Left Erickson did 1000 years ago, except that I am discovering the country under better conditions than Erickson did. You people are so friendly that I am enjoying being over here in America."

These words opened an informal address to the Ayden Rotarians last week by a Norwegian student at East Carolina College in Greenville. She is studying English for a year at the college. In June she returns to Norway, where she will continue her studies in English for two years before she becomes a teacher in her own homeland.

The student, who won a Rotary International Scholarship, is Miss Berit Hillesland of Skudeneshaven, Norway. Howard McGinnis of the Greenville Rotary Club accompanied her and introduced her.

Miss Hillesland told the club of the political life, economic and sports life and other phases of living of her own country.

"The English I hear people speak over here is so different from the English I studied in my classes in Norway. I wonder just what you mean when you say 'I declare' and

"I ain't got nothing! "Skudeneshaven is a seaport town where herring and whale fishing are important. Farmers farm their own land and raise potatoes and grain. Electricity is produced by waterfalls. Artificial fertilizer, wood pulp and fish products are among the country's exports.

"Since Norway is inside the Arctic Circle, we have the Midnight Sun. The northern part of Norway is cold and ice abounds. The Gulf Stream is our friend and it is much warmer in the southern part of our country.

"Everybody loves our king, who has ruled since 1905. We have 150 Congressmen and six political parties, Conservative, Liberal, Christian Liberal, Agrarian, Communist and Labor, the party now in power.

"We have no illiteracy in Norway. Compulsory education is from 7 years to 15, with 5 years of high school. All high school students are required to study English, French and German. In elementary schools students are also required to study religion, gymnastics, knitting and sewing by the girls and woodwork by the boys.

"The Lutheran religion is the state church religion and religion is required as a part of the curriculum.

"We have football like you do here, except we use the foot instead of everything else. We have swimming, tennis, handball, ice hockey, ice skating and bob-sledding.

"We have many autos, mostly American. Our living standards are high compared to other countries. We have many radios but no television."

Miss Hillesland said she has been pleased at the friendliness of the people of North Carolina. She has visited a number of Rotary Clubs throughout this section, telling them about her country.

The "on time" prize was won by Miss Berit Hillesland of Norway. The "fellowship" prize was won by Larry Davis. Kersey Smith of Kinston and Dr. John Winstead of Greenville were visiting Rotarians. Bill Johnson had Fred Buehlo and Charles Mohle as his guests, and Rotarianne Mary Ann Hardee was guest of Ralph Hardee.

Football Coach Is Lions' Speaker

Jack Boone, head football coach of East Carolina College, spoke briefly to members of the Greenville Lions Club last night at its weekly meeting.

Coach Boone showed movies of the Elks Bowl game between E.C.C. and Morris Harvey College. In commenting on the game he said there were no alphas. "They really licked us, that's all."

"Our boys know they were beaten, and I'm hoping such a loss will make a better ball club," Boone stated.

The E. C. C. mentor remarked that he was well pleased at the way things are going in the Spri football practice and that he expected to have another good team next season.

O. E. Dowd reported to the club that April 21 has been tentatively set as Ladies Night for the Lions.

but that no definite plans have been made.

Members of the organization were reminded that on Thursday and Friday of this week the Blind Sale will be held at Lantares Bros. store. The items to be sold have been made by the blind people of this community.

Guests at last night's meeting were: Bill Arthur, Les Combs, Stanley Reeder, Ashley Lester, Lions Deputy District Governor, and Stuart Savage, Junior Lion.

Do CRAMPS give you that monthly look?

Why let tell-tale signs, "nerves" show in your eyes? Does your mirror show an older-looking, worn-out, nervous face during your "bad days"? Why let men see that you are suffering from monthly cramps? Try a little Cardui each day as thousands of women do. Let it help build strength and resistance so you have less and less misery each month. Some go through periods without feeling any discomfort at all. Also helps relax jittery nerves—glows better. Look, feel, act younger, more normal all month. Ask for Cardui. (Says "card-pee-egg")

New Mercury does the work while you enjoy the drive

Here's power-assisted driving at its easiest, most automatic—with an entirely new 161-horsepower V-8, new ball-joint front suspension and 5 optional power features.

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan Sunday evening, 8:00 to 9:00 Station WNCT, Channel 9

TAKE it easy! That's the keynote of this new Mercury. Get behind the wheel and you are truly "in the driver's seat." For Mercury's power features do the work for you. With the new 161-horsepower engine, ball-joint front wheel suspension and all those optional power features, you can drive with greater safety, and new power that makes any driving easy. And you'll take it easy on the pocketbook, too. For while this new overhead valve engine is the most powerful in Mercury's exclusively V-8 history, it is also one of the thriftiest. And then there's that famous Mercury styling that is so easy to look at. Inside and out you'll see dramatic new design, colors, and combinations. We invite you to visit us and test the new Mercury—in traffic, on the highway. See it work while you take it easy!

Space Boys Said 'Up To No Good'

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—Take it from the Soviet press, Captain Video, Buck Rogers, Flash Gordon and the rest of the U. S. space boys are up to no good. They're the vanguard of a new and greater "American imperialism" aimed at conquering other planets.

This is the judgment of one G. Avarin writing in the Soviet periodical Art of the Cinema. His article is entitled "Hollywood Looks to the Future."
Even if the Americans can't get to those other planets yet, says Avarin, they're meanwhile using the space films to scare the U. S. taxpayer so badly he won't mind paying the bill for rearming. According to the Soviet writer, the destruction of New York shown in the movie "When Worlds Collide" is an attempt to give "the common American man a deadly fright and to justify the armaments race."

At least one space man isn't even a good actor in the Soviet view. Avarin described swimming star Buster Crabbe as "one of the nine pseudo-actors who played Tarzan in the Hollywood films." He told his readers Buster played Flash Gordon "quite colorlessly." Avarin reported that Flash, Buck, Video, Superman and Bruce Gentry all "defeat the terrible 'Atom Man' and the 'superkiller' Cain who try to gain control of the world." Their films, he continued, "show all kinds of atomic, electric and thermo weapons, explosive flying discs, atom eyes, stratoplanes, cosmovibrators and other weapons of mass destruction."

The critic said such "atomists" as Bernard Baruch and the late Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal ordered Hollywood to launch the space campaign when America thought it had a monopoly on the atom bomb. The purpose: "to do everything possible to frighten the forces of peace and democracy with the United States atom bomb monopoly."

But when Russia exploded her bomb, Avarin continued, Hollywood entered a new phase. The movie men "foretold the inevitability of interplanetary wars and propagandized the idea of conquering the universe."

Airmen Relate How Plane Disintegrated Over Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—What is it like to be hurled into space and marooned on the snowy wastes of Alaska?

Six airmen who were catapulted into the air last Friday when an Air Force C-47 "disintegrated" in flight told last night of their experience. They were among 16 men on the plane. Searchers have found the bodies of three men. Seven were still missing and hopes they would be found alive were very dim. Among the missing were Lt. Col. W. West-Watson of the British Joint Military Services Mission on the U. S. Army staff at Washington, D. C.; and Capt. James Hill of the Army field forces at Ft. Benning, Ga.

A ground party which battled deep snow 15 miles to the scene of the crash from the little town of Curry, 75 miles northeast of here, last night reported it had found three bodies.

The six rescued men talked freely with newsmen at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base. They were hospitalized at the 5005th Air Force Hospital at Elmendorf after being flown to safety.

All six were suffering exposure, shock and various cuts and bruises. None of them could explain the accident, which happened on a flight from Elmendorf to Ladd AFB, Fairbanks, 275 miles to the northeast.

But to all six, the first indication of trouble was a terrific down draft that tossed the plane as if it was a feather. Two said they heard an explosion afterward.

Here is what the six had to tell newsmen:
Airman I.C. Edward J. Fox, 32, West Utica, N. Y., who was lying on a pile of baggage when disaster struck:

"We seemed to hit a down draft and the next thing I knew I found and saw the plane and some of myself in the air. I looked down the other guys flying underneath me. I pulled the cord on my parachute and landed."

As Airman I.C. Eli Ladue, 20, Au Sable Forks, N. Y., remembered it:
"A heavy turbulence just seemed to tear the plane apart. I remember hurtling through space and pulling my chute cord. When the chute opened I was fairly close to the ground."

Airman J.C. Rupert C. Pratt, 20, Salt Rock, W. Va.:
"There was a terrific down draft and then an explosion at one side and the plane seemed to open up. Then I found myself flying through the air."

Airman 2.C. Huey Montgomery, 20, Eldridge, Ala., who was also sitting on a pile of baggage about level with a window:
"All of a sudden the plane dropped hard and then came back up again. I heard an explosion and found myself in the air."

Airman 2.C. Edward W. Olson, 20, Elkader, Iowa, who was dozing at the time, said he awoke to find himself sailing through the air.

Airman I.C. Bobby Sallis, 21, West Helena, Ark., said he found himself projected suddenly into the air after "the plane just disintegrated."

LaDuke, Sallis and Montgomery were picked up at the site of the wrecked plane. They had joined after reaching the ground and walked through snow to the smashed craft for arctic survival gear and food rations.

The other three were spotted 15 miles from the wreckage. Both trios constructed makeshift shelters and huddled together Friday night in below-freezing temperatures awaiting dawn and rescue.

Halts Accidents For All Omaha

OMAHA (AP) — Police Chief Henry Boesen has decreed "no more traffic accidents in Omaha." He instructed George Winkler, director of communications to outlaw the word "accident" in reports on the police radio. Henceforth traffic mishaps will be called "collisions."
Explained the chief: An accident is "an unforeseen event that is no one's fault," but in his opinion "so-called traffic accidents occur because some one is in the wrong through lack of caution, courtesy or disregard for the law."

NO INTENTIONS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) told the Senate yesterday he could give "categorical assurance . . . there is no intention to send" American combat troops to Indochina, scene of long warfare against Communist-led forces.

Board Studying POW Conduct

WASHINGTON (AP)—A board of five Air Force generals is investigating the cases of more than 50 airmen whose conduct while Red prisoners in Korea has been questioned.

The board is under orders either to clear these men, or to recommend their future status with the Air Force and possible action if justified by "prior acts." Each is being handled separately.

An Air Force spokesman said "prior acts" would be those regarded as detrimental to the United States or to fellow POWs.

Among the cases under study are airmen who falsely confessed to germ warfare. Of the 220 men listed by the Air Force as known prisoners of the Communists, 33, were reported to have made such phony confessions.

An official announcement last night said the generals—whose names were withheld—will take into consideration the suffering these men may have undergone. Also to be weighed: "responsibilities of military men in war."

Future In Flying Is Open To Grads

There's a United States Air Force flying future open now to the outstanding high school graduate provided that he can meet the other requirements for pilot or aircraft server training, 1st Lt. Dorset F. Pendleton, Jr., Commander of Aviation Cadet Selection Detachment No. 304, announced here today.

With the current build-up of the Air Force there is a growing need for young men to fill positions on the USAF flying team, both as pilots and observers.

Pre-flight classes for both training programs start every two weeks assuring an applicant that he will receive class assignment within approximately a month after he has been found qualified.

Upon successful completion of either program, both of which cover approximately 14 months, the graduate receives his silver wings and is commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

Not only does an aviation cadet receive about $50,000 worth of the world's finest training with the latest equipment, the lieutenant pointed out, but the graduate can also receive valuable college credits from most schools on the basis of the Air Force training that he has received.

To qualify for entry into the pilot and aircraft observer training programs may be obtained from a member of Aviation Cadet Selection Detachment 304, on 16, 17 or 18 Feb. 54. While in Greenville they will be located in the Post office Bldg.

Campaign Issues Already At Hand

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — If events like a horse, could be made to stand still, the Democrats and Republicans already would have their main issues for the 1954 congressional election in November.

The Democrats are hammering on the downturn in business which has occurred under the Eisenhower administration.

And the Republicans are working overtime on the subject of Communists-in-government under the Democrats.

By election time, business conditions may have leveled off, as administration economists say they will. If they don't, the Democrats will have a talking point probably overshadowing everything else.

And the issue of Communists-in-government may be pushed into the background by other developments before then.

For instance, by November Congress will have finished this year's work on Eisenhower's program, which affects practically everyone; taxes, social security, unions, business, tariffs.

The President himself has said that if his party doesn't put over a progressive program it doesn't deserve to win. The congressional score on his program will provide plenty of election issues.

But at this time, before Congress even begins to act on most of the program, Communists-in-government and the economic reverse have given the politicians on both sides something to talk about.

For 20 years beginning in the 1932 campaign, the Democrats tragedy" banged away at the fact that the big depression began under the Republicans, which may explain one reason for their hitting so hard on the downturn now.

When some Republicans reacted with the charge that talk of a recession is unethical and almost un-American, it may have been an indication that recession talk was getting under their skin.

And although Eisenhower himself said, when asked about this, that everyone is entitled to his own opinion, he, too, denounced the "prophets of gloom and doom."

Over the weekend Sherman Adams, former governor of New Hampshire and now Eisenhower's assistant said Democrats and "left-wingers" are trying to "foist" a "Fear Deal" on the people.

That the Republicans are meeting recession talk head on so fast can be considered both a mark of their aggressiveness and a sign that this is going to be a rough political year.

Atty. Gen. Brownell gave notice of rugged days ahead near last year's end with his attack on former President Truman.

The man Brownell twice tried to steer into the presidency, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, stepped up the tough talk not only about Truman but Democrats in general.

In a December speech, Dewey told a Hartford, Conn., audience that for the rest of their lives they must associate the words "Truman and Democrat" with "diplomatic failure, military failure, death and

Now Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), that while there are some exceptions among the Democrats their in-government an issue for four years and wants to keep it one, for "government of, by and for is going around the country saying Communists . . ."

The Doctor Disagrees

By Elizabeth Seifert

SYNOPSIS
Dr. Stephen Carr is about to leave his native Norfolk in the mid-west, for Army duty in the Pacific. He has arranged with his old friend, Dr. Craig Talbot, a skilled physician, to come to Norfolk from a distant city for the purpose of taking over the Carr medical practice. Talbot arrives and is warmly greeted by Carr and his gracious wife, Shelly, at dinner in their home. Shelly is struck by the handsome Talbot's dynamic force, his charm and sense of humor and especially by his generally bad opinion of the medical profession as a whole. Fearfully, she wonders whether her husband's patients will find this bluntly frank nonconformist, acceptable as their doctor.

CHAPTER EIGHT
"WAS Dr. Talbot also just being—shocking—in what he said about the Medical association?"

"Well," hedged Stephen, "they aren't the same."

"Is he in bad trouble, Stephen? I mean this losing his last job?"

"Not really bad trouble. The hospital asked for his resignation, as it had a right to do. There was perhaps a certain amount of smear which prevented his immediate placement elsewhere. That's the methods he claims the association uses to enforce its opinions, and protect its system, and, as I said, his claims are constantly being borne out."

"Has he promised to behave here?"

"Certainly not!" Stephen laughed. "I haven't asked him for any such pledge. One, because he would have kicked me squarely in the teeth. Two, because I think a man like Talbot should be allowed to work no matter what he says or thinks. Nobody denies his brilliance as a surgeon and as a diagnostician—and he should be judged on that basis alone."

Shelly laid her cheek against his shoulder. "I'm glad you gave him the job, Stephen. I'm proud of you for doing it."

"Well, I'm sorry for the guy. And then, too—it isn't that I always agree with Craig. I don't! And I certainly deplore the hatchet methods he often uses. But—oh, while I haven't the personal guts to be an out-and-out radical myself, I am glad to be able to offer a hand to a free soul like Talbot."

"You worked under him," didn't you?"

"He was an instructor in medical school," Stephen agreed. "But he himself was still in training—as a resident—and moved on after a year. Incidentally Craig's opinions on medical schools are interesting. For one thing, he says that the only good schools are the ones who use the preceptor system. That's where the students of medicine, he went on thoughtfully, "quite early in their studies, begin to work along with practicing doctors. Wisconsin started it, several other schools now use the method, and it is successful. But there are also good medical schools which do not use it."

"What is your stand?"
"I like a combination of both."
"Can't you persuade Dr. Talbot?"

"Don't need to. He likes both, too. But he seems to endorse the preceptor system alone, and his constant plugging for it improves the clinical service of all the schools, if only through an effort to prove him wrong."
"Is he that important? To the whole association?"
"He's a gadfly. A mosquito doesn't look like much against a man, but—"

Shelly laughed softly.
"The point is," said Stephen firmly, "Craig is a good doctor, and he should be allowed to work. He is a man of ideas; his fertile brain stirs up medical ideas as well as controversy."
"Stephen," she said in a troubled tone "if Dr. Talbot is as good as you say, he won't be happy here in Norfolk, will he?"

Stephen chuckled. "I don't think there's anything," he said deeply, "that could surprise Talbot more than happiness."

Shelly opened her eyes with three thoughts crowding into her mind. It had snowed, but the sun was shining. She must get some yellow flowers for the table against the wall; pink did not give the right effect. And the fourposter was entirely too wide for her alone.

Then she reached her arm for the jangling telephone; it had better be for her! Harry should have answered it downstairs—he got no better as the days went by.
"Hello?" she said into the black mouthpiece.

It was Miss Cobb, Stephen's office girl. Shelly squinted at the clock beside the bed. Nine exactly.

"It's quite all right, Miss Cobb," she said pleasantly. "I sleep too late. I'm afraid. I've got into the habit of reading until all hours."

Miss Cobb's excited voice took over. She was, the gist of the matter went quivering her job. She had, in fact, already quit. She'd told Dr. Talbot so the evening before. But this morning she'd got to thinking and she realized that loyalty to Dr. Carr should make her tell the doctor's wife that she had quit—and why.

"Did something happen, Miss Cobb?" asked Shelly.

"Oh, Mrs. Carr!" wailed the voice on the other end of the line. Shelly sat on the side of the bed and dangled her feet. The voice went on for five solid minutes, incoherently babbling about "The Man! Shelly's soft lips twisted. Yes, Craig Talbot probably was a "theman" type for whom to work, what little Shelly had seen of him. Miss Cobb was going on and on—about all sorts of things, waiting rooms, particularly. Lists—and appointments—and, oh, a dozen things which meant nothing to Shelly.

But she did understand that Miss Cobb had quit her job. She was talking from her home—her father's home. "I like to work, Mrs. Carr. I like working for Dr. Stephen. But I don't have to work, and I want you to know that nothing will make me go back into that office while that man—"

"All right, Miss Cobb," said Shelly firmly. "I understand." She didn't, of course, but—And thank you for calling me. I'll see you sometime soon."

"You don't owe me any money, Mrs. Carr. I wrote my own check. And I mean to write to the doctor and explain."
"Oh, no!" said Shelly quickly. "We will not bother the doctor with our affairs and troubles here at home, Miss Cobb."

"But—"
"We'll let him believe that things are going on as usual here. That's what I do when the water heater plays out—and, you know, little mishaps in the home—so I'd appreciate it if you wouldn't write to him that you'd left his office. There's the matter of morale, you know."

"Oh, yes, of course!" said the woman contritely. "I just didn't think."

"SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY"

One Arm, Hangs Paper

UP SHE GOES! — John C. Sulatycki hangs paper.

AP Newsfeatures
ORLANDO, Fla.—John C. Sulatycki of Orlando is as busy as a one-armed paper hanger.
 The 67-year-old scion of a Polish noble family is a one-armed paper hanger.
 He's followed that trade ever since he came to the United States in 1905 and found trouble getting work because of his handicap.
 In desperation, he finally hung out a sign at the rooming house where he was staying in New York advertising himself as a one-armed paper hanger and painter. It was only after he was awarded a contract to redecorate some apartments that he began worrying over how he would manage a job he never had tried before. But it was easier than he thought.

 "I just figured out how to do it and everything fitted right in place," he said.
 He's still at it and going strong, refusing to accept social security payments in spite of his 67 years.
 "As long as I'm able to work, I'm not going to take social security money from the government," he declares. "Only when I'm flat on my back and there's NO other way."

TEEN TALK

(Diane Duboy)

AP Newsfeatures
 Let's spin the dial on the teenage network and see where our arrow points. Our correspondents have taken us on a safari to Boston, Albuquerque, Seattle, Louisville, Columbus and Washington, D.C.
 So it is just about time to refuel. And Denver, Colo. seems to be a nice likely spot.
 Well what of the twigs in that country? Let's hear what staffer James Harpster has to say. . . .
 There were real wheels in the long gone with '23-skidoo. Dad, dy-o, but that stuff walls now. As a matter of fact, it's stoned.
 And the same goes for the nerds and oddballs who think "George" is real cool for "cool."
 That's the word from the Ivyed halls of Denver high schools these days, and you'd better get with it. Times are changing, and teen-aged slangers are the first to let you know it.
 The kids themselves are the same as always. But their lingo still leaves the square very much in the dark.
 Like an explorer with a bag of colored beads, you can get along if you remember that nothing is just good—it's cool, gone, neat, or crazy. If it's better than that, it's real crazy.
 If it's the BEST, man, it's the craziest.
 Likewise, if it isn't cool, it's tacky.

A girl is a chick or a doll and a boy is a cat. Cats who lack grey matter are nerds or oddballs. There's no better way to identify yourself as a nerd than by saying something is "George." Cat, what you mean is "cool."
 Styles haven't changed much. Girls still are addicted to loose-fitting sweaters, though their taste runs more expensively than did their counterparts of the '40's. Where once wool sweaters might suffice to meet fashion requirements, the accent today is on cashmere. And any smooth teen-ager has at least a couple of good cashmere sweaters in her wardrobe.
 Also in vogue is the heavy, tooled belt — a la the jeweled bands that adorn the midriffs of the nation's motorcycle enthusiasts. The shingled Italian haircut is very popular. Heavy, gaudy costume jewelry, white shirts with french cuffs and fancy cuff-links and even men's ties are popular with the girls. So are saddle shoes and white socks with a thick roll.
 If you're a cat who wants to be crazy, thick-soled saddle shoes or badly battered buckskin shoes are cool. Add to the shoes white socks or argyles in bright colors, beat-up blue jeans tailored down so light they almost stop circulation, and a white dress shirt, and that's your high school uniform of the day. And dad, pull those pants down low on your hips.
 That's what makes you look real George. Cool, that is.

It's A Girl, And A Deluxe Model

DUARTE, Calif. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riggs are tired of seeing the same old birth announcements. When their new baby arrived this week, they sent out the following notices:
 "Announcing the arrival of our new model.
 "No change in body style this year. The wheelbase is 19 inches long. The weight is 6 pounds 13 ounces.
 "We ordered the super deluxe model with the extra loud horn and the removable seat cover. Our model came equipped with blue headlights and a blonde top.
 "We tagged the new model. Stephanie Dale Riggs and registered it to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Riggs, Duarte."

Send Assistance To Afghanistan

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government, which often has charged the United States with attempting to dominate Afghanistan through Point Four aid, is itself sending money credits and experts for construction work in the west Asian nation on the Soviets' southern border.
 The Soviet press announced the granting of the credits but did not publish the amounts. It said the money would be used for two grain elevators, a flour mill and a modern bakery.

Claim Ex-King Can't Collect

LONDON (AP)—The Egyptian Embassy holds ex-King Farouk hasn't a legal leg to stand on in his threat to sue persons who buy the stamps, jewels and art objects confiscated from his collection by President Gen. Mohamed Naguib's government.
 Farouk has no title to the property, the embassy said in a statement last night concerning the auction to start in Cairo Friday.

Big-Scale Bookmobile Plan

BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS — Kentucky got more than expected in the drive to start auto libraries in the state.

AP Newsfeatures
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — More than one hundred mobile libraries soon will fan out over Kentucky to provide something that hundreds of thousands of rural Kentuckians never have had before—free library service.
 The cream of an estimated 750,000 books collected in a statewide "Bookmobile Project" will stock these traveling libraries. The goal had been only a half million books.
 Three barn-like buildings here, the main collection center for the book drive that dipped into private libraries in nearly every Kentucky community, are jammed by contributions.
 Miss Margaret Willis, head of the circulation department of the Louisville Free Public Library, said the sorting and culling of the volumes will be expedited by trained librarians.
 She expressed belief at least half the books collected will be suitable for general library circulation—a net of around 375,000.
 The bookmobiles themselves which cost $3,000 with an original complement of 600 new books, will be purchased from funds obtained in a finance campaign that still is going on.
 The goal had been 100 traveling libraries. Funds for 93 already have been obtained in a drive so successful that leaders have said the goal may be raised to 120 — one for each Kentucky county.
 The great response in book contributions resulted from a "Citizens March for Books." This was a door-to-door canvass in communities throughout the state.
 Also highly successful was a free-movie program for children. In more than 300 theaters throughout Kentucky, children who brought two tufts in most rugs do not stand up straight, but have a natural slope in one direction called the "lay of the pile."

Germany's Jews Making Steady Recovery Today

By TOM STONE
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—German Jews, oppressed and persecuted under Hitler, are making a steady recovery in postwar Germany.

Prospects of the 125,000 Jews now in West Germany are the brightest since the Nazis unleashed a reign of terror against them 21 years ago. More than five million died in Hitler's campaign. Most were East European Jews. Some 300,000 were German Jews.
 The Central Council of Jews in Germany estimates there were 600,000 Jews in Germany when the Nazis took over. Those who remained and survived once again are back in business and taking part—without fear—in the country's social and cultural life.
 There are 400 Jewish lawyers in West Germany. Three Jews are in the federal Parliament. Some 350 Jewish merchants own businesses, the Association of Jewish Trade reports. The Jewish Women's Assn. of Germany boasts 2,000 members. Almost 200 Jewish students are at German universities. A Jewish newspaper claims a circulation of 48,000.
 It's a far cry from the days when Jews were stripped of their citizenship, removed from office, deprived of their businesses and fired from their jobs.
 The West German government pays compensation to Jews who suffered under the Nazis. Their confiscated property has been returned. They get preferential treatment for jobs and housing.

 A government survey estimates 380,000 German Jews live abroad. They were among the thousands who fled Germany after "Crystal Night" on Nov. 9, 1938, when SA men stormed and burned Jewish shops, homes and synagogues. The less fortunate died in Nazi extermination and concentration camps.
 Conspicuously absent from the Jewish scene today are children. For example, the government survey shows, of 250 Jews who live in Hannover, only 11 are children under 13. There are two between 14 and 19.

State Dispute On Police Record

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The police blotter told the story this way:
 "Subject walked into a tavern and explained loudly: 'I'm a Texan and I can whip any non-Texan in the joint.' One man accepted the challenge. Subject Texan received cuts on the back of his head when his head hit the floor."

NOT ARSONISTS

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Police said safecrackers who got $1,967 from a chainstore here carried a fire extinguisher which they used to put out a fire which started when they were burning the store safe open with an acetylene torch.

EIGHT-SEEING IN KAESONG — This picture was turned over to The Associated Press in Korea by an Indian photographer who said that he took it in Kaesong, North Korean and Communist dominated town just north of Panmunjom, and that it shows some of the 21 American turncoats who refused repatriation walking along the street. There was no explanation how the Indian got to Kaesong, but Indian troops were free to go to Kaesong if invited. None of these men was identified. The 21 Americans went to Kaesong from Panmunjom a week ago. (AP Wirephoto)

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

CASH INCOME A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

We are looking for reliable parties, men and women, who want to own and operate a chain of RCA licensed coin-operated radios or coin-operated television set. These are set up in hotel or motor court rooms for the benefit of transient guests, and operate one-half, one, or two hours for 25c. These quarters add up to a HANDSOME PROFIT for you, year after year. We will secure good locations for you and set you up in business. This can be handled in your SPARE TIME—collections need be made once a month, or, at the most, every two weeks. If you are not employed on Saturday, it can be handled in a few hours every second or third Saturday—it can be built into a full-time business that pays FULL-TIME INCOME. Physical condition or education is of no great importance. No selling or soliciting—no waiting months to build up the business. It pays you a profit the first day. This is not a "GET RICH QUICK" business, but it will give you a STEADY PROFITABLE INCOME for the rest of your life. NO RENT or overhead. NO inventory problems. No filling of machines. Just collections of quarters and pennies and small commissions to the hotel or motor court owner. Each quarter collected is profit. A minimum CASH investment from $845 to $3596 is all that is required, which is secured by equipment. NO RISK of losing your investment as long as people listen to the radio and watch television. If you can qualify and have the necessary cash and a sincere desire for financial security, write at once for appointment with our representative. Please give age, address and phone to Commercial Television Equipment Co., 196 Albion Ave., Paterson, N. J.

Ambitions Of Tallulah Are Far From Satisfied

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—Tallulah Bankhead is looking for a steady job. To the layman, it would seem that the magnolia blossom from Alabama is busy enough. In the past year, she has:

- Made her night club debut at the Sands in Las Vegas, where she returns next Tuesday.
- Appeared on everything in TV from Ed Murrow's Person to Person to Hedda Gabler to the Jimmy Durante show, which she does Sunday.
- Authored an autobiography that led nonfiction books for five months and sold out the first two 35-cent editions of 250,000 apiece.
- Acted in a movie, "Main Street to Broadway."

But all this is not enough for Tallulah. She told me her troubles in her hotel suite, where she was battling "the actor's nightmare," laryngitis. She explained that she wasn't supposed to smoke and proceeded to light a cigarette every two minutes.

"I'm not supposed to talk either," she added. "But you know how impossible that would be for me baby." She then poured forth thousands of words in an endless stream. I noted that she seemed to have given up "dahling." Everyone was "baby."

"I can't go on doing work in bits and pieces, really I can't, baby," she remarked. "I've got to have some steady line of work to keep the wolf from that door. Years ago, I bought a perfectly tremendous place in the country with a huge swimming pool and everything I thought I would retire there and enjoy the country life."

"But I have to keep working my fool head off to afford the place! People in our business should never acquire big possessions. You become a slave to them."

"Two courses are open to me:

I could go back to the stage or I could do a regular TV show. I still read all the play scripts that are submitted to my agents. So far I haven't found anything suitable. It's pretty hard to find a star vehicle. I don't mean the play has to be tailored for me. Lord knows, in my two greatest hits in this country, aside from "Private Lives," which was a revival—I'm talking about "The Little Foxes" and "Skin of Our Teeth"—my part wasn't big at all.

"I wouldn't mind going back to the theater, except for one thing: the road. I suppose if the show were a hit, I would have to travel all over the country with it. The thought of it bores me. It's all right for some stage-struck child, but I've been through all that."

"Besides, you have such a limited audience in the theater. In eight performances a week, you play to perhaps 8,000 people. You can play to more people in one night on TV than you could in a lifetime in the theater. Being in radio and TV has brought me to millions of people who never knew I existed. The sale of my book proves how important the mass audience can be.

"The other thing I could do is a regular TV show, and one is being cooked up for me. No, I can't tell you all about it baby, but it will be a situation comedy show. Something in which I would have an entertainer and perhaps a figure in the news as guest stars. I would be able to play myself, not a crude caricature.

"I wasn't happy with the reviews I did last season. It was like being shot out of a cannon. When you're playing with all those guest stars, you have to do things that aren't suited to you. I felt that the only thing I really did well was the closing monologue. In the rest of the show, I was like a fish out of water."

I might add that Miss Bankhead was sipping tea. She explained that she was still recovering from the celebration of her 51st birthday.

Fight Malaria In Irrigation Work

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A five-year antimalaria campaign is underway in the Yarmuk Valley where a big irrigation project is to be started soon. The campaign is to be jointly conducted by the United Nations and the Jordan government.

The Yarmuk irrigation project will give plots of fertile lands to an estimated 200,000 farmers.

Houses Conceal Water Supply

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—A salesman walked up to the door of a pleasant looking house. He noticed the fresh, green lawn and the brightly colored window shutters. He rang the doorbell. Nobody answered.

At this house nobody ever answers.

Inside the freshly painted stucco walls is a water well which the city operates. There are several "houses" in the city which conceal wells. They conform to residential standards.

Water department officials get an extra chuckle when handbills are dropped on the porch or when salesmen leave free samples. One woman even stopped by to buy the "house."

Arctic Indians Prefer Freezer

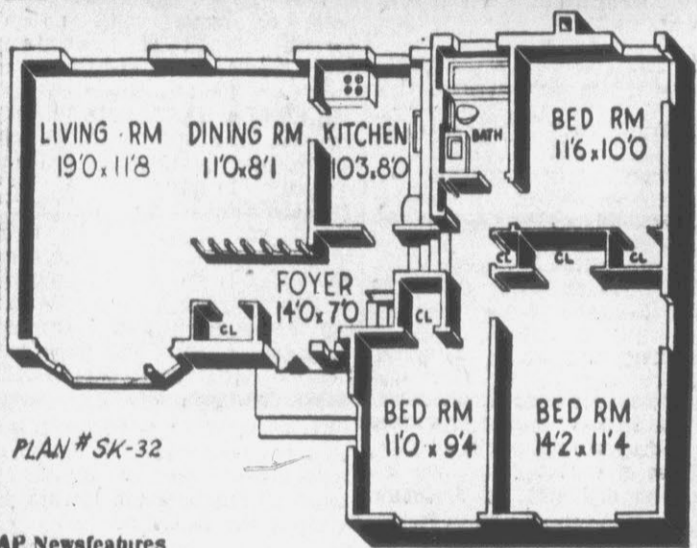

PRINCE ALBERT (AP)—Indians of Saskatchewan's Far North have discarded storage methods used by their forefathers in favor of the white man's freezers.

At the end of the caribou hunting season this winter the tribes will store their meat supplies free of charge in a gigantic deep freezer, installed at Stony Rapids by the Department of Indian Affairs.

The time-honored practice of the Indians was to shoot as many caribou as they could, store them by piling the carcasses and cover them with layers of snow and brush. Indian affairs officials say far more animals were killed than could be eaten and wolves and other animals destroyed many piles.

Many Activities Mark Nat'l Scout Week Here

Television shows, banquets, Court of Honor and Sunday Church services highlight activities by the local Boy Scouts who this week join the other Scouts all over the nation in celebrating National Boy Scout Week.

The television shows will be held each afternoon this week. They will be presented by various districts in the East Carolina Council of the Boy Scouts.

On Tuesday night there will be a Father-Son Banquet at the Jarvis Memorial Church Dining Room. Rev. W.M. Howard, Jr. will make a talk at this banquet.

On Thursday night the Blue and Gold Banquet will be held at the same place with Cub Scouts and their parents attending. Mrs. Bob Starling will give a short talk at this banquet.

A Court of Honor will be held in conjunction with the Father-Son Banquet Tuesday. Awards will be presented at both banquets, however according to Ercell Webb, Chairman of the Pitt District of the East Carolina Council. "Both banquets are considered recognition banquets," Webb added.

The week long events will culminate Sunday when most of the troops will attend Church services in uniform.

Robbed Because Open On Sunday

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Grocer Spurling Saunders is thinking seriously of closing his store on Sundays — to save money. Twice a masked bandit has robbed Saunders. Each time he took $6,000.

The holdup man warned the robberies would continue "as long as you stay open on Sunday." The holdups came on week days.
