Farmville Attorneys Announce Candidacy For Coming Primary Two Seeking District Solicitorship

Robert D. Rouse Jr., Farmville attorney, announced today he will seek the Democratic nomination for the post of solicitor of the Fifth Judicial district in the May primary.

ROBERT D. ROUSE, JR.

In making his announcement, Rouse said, "During the past five years, I have been actively engaged in the practice of law in Pitt County, and I feel that the experience I have received qualifies me for the post of solicitor of the Fifth Judicial district."

H. Horton Rountree of Farmville, solicitor of Pitt County recorder's court since 1951, announced today he will seek the nomination of solicitor for the Fifth Judicial district in the Democratic primary May 29.

H. HORTON ROUNTREE

Rountree, a native of Farmville, has been solicitor of Pitt County's court since May, 1951 when he was appointed to the office to fill an unexpired term. In 1952, he was elected to the office for a two year term, without opposition. He also served as assistant solicitor in Superior Court of Pitt County for one year.

Gov. Umstead delivered the keynote address. Holt McPherson, editor of the High Point Enterprise, served as general chairman.

POW Return Not A Plan, But Decision, Says Indian

PA-MUNJOM (AP)—An Indian spokesman said today his command will turn back 22,500 unrepatriated war prisoners whether they be Allies or Communists or both.

The return will begin Wednesday. Although the Indians are awaiting replies to letters of notification sent both commands yesterday the spokesman said the tenor of the replies will make little or no difference.

Blizzard Hits Montana; Cold Blast To Spread

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Blizzard conditions gipped Montana early today and the first severe winter storm of the season pushed into Wyoming and spilled over the Continental Divide on the heels of 40-mile winds.

The Helena Weather Bureau issued a special advisory that Montana temperatures would dive today and tonight, reaching 30 below in the north and 10 below in the south.

'Young Man Of The Year' Plaque Presented Kittrell Wins Jaycee Award

Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, presents a Distinguished Service Award plaque to J. B. Kittrell Jr., naming him "Most Outstanding Young Man of the Year" in Greenville. The award was made last night at the annual Bosses' Night banquet at the Greenville Country Club.

The fresh blast of arctic air also spread into northern Minnesota, sections of Michigan and northwestern Wisconsin sending temperatures below zero early today. Freezing temperatures extended southward from this area into wide areas of the Midwest. The forecast was for much colder weather tonight and Saturday for the mid-continent.

Two Helicopters Stop At Airport

Two Marine helicopters landed at the local airport about 5:30 last night. The crew of the helicopters spent the night in Greenville due to poor weather conditions.

Plots of the aircraft said that weather conditions prohibited their continuing their flight. They said that ice was forming on the windshields and the rotors of the helicopters.

Governor Concur: No Secrecy

Umstead Asserts Public Business Should Be Conducted 'In The Open'

RALEIGH (AP)—"Public business should be conducted in the open." This assertion by Gov. Umstead was fully agreed upon yesterday by newsmen, judges and law enforcement officers at an all-day "Freedom of Information" conference here.

About 250 press and radio newsmen, judges police officers mayors, sheriffs, SBI and FBI officials attended.

Congress Generally Endorses Expanding Of Program Like Social Security Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appeared set today to give a broad but enthusiastic approval to President Eisenhower's plea for bigger benefits and more taxes under a social security system covering almost the entire population.

Chairman Reed (R-NY) praised the program and said his House Ways and Means Committee will go to work on it, probably in early March.

Monthly benefit increases would go to those already retired or receiving survivors' payments and in larger measure to those becoming eligible in the future. The increases would range from $5 to, ultimately, $23.50 or more for families.

Recommendations For Congress Sent President 'Invite' Voting Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators and House members were invited today to vote themselves a $12,500 a year pay increase. This would boost their salary to $27,500 a year.

The resolution creating the 18-member nonpartisan commission giving the legislators 60 days to make up their minds. There is nothing to stop them from extending that period, however.

The commission took note of the higher cost of living nowadays and said in addition that legislative and judicial salaries are inadequate, out of balance with the responsibilities of the offices and the duties of other officials and executives in private industry.

Compromise On Bricker Amendment Issue Sought Try Avoiding Of Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—A resolution circulated among most senators may become the rallying point of the Eisenhower administration's attack on the proposed Bricker amendment to limit the government's treaty powers.

The suggested resolution was sent around to all but about 10 of the 96 senators last Saturday by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Dec. 12 after the Reds accused the United States of "perfidy" in the prisoner of war release last June by South Korean of 27,000 anti-Communist Korean War prisoners.

Dean Denies Favoring Policy Of Appeasement

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur H. Dean, special U.S. ambassador to Korea, denies favoring a policy of "appeasement" toward Red China—as charged by Sen. Herman Walker (R-Idaho)—and terms Walker's attack on him a "great aid to the Communists."

Dean called a news conference last night at his Wall Street law offices and said: "I am 100 per cent against appeasement or knuckling under, and to the best of my knowledge and belief I have fought the Communists at every turn."

"I have said that in the selfish interests of the American people, we must face facts as we find them, not as we would like to find them. . . . I shall continue to do everything I can to help the Far East and Southeast Asia to fight communism. I have spent most of the last five months trying to solve the Korean problem, which is a very tough nut to crack."

Pressures Mount For Lowering Some Cold War Trade Barriers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pressures are mounting on the Eisenhower administration to lower some of the cold war trade barriers so as to permit more trade between the United States and Russia and its satellites.

There are several forces pressing strongly for official sanction of greater trade with the Soviet Union and satellite countries. They are: 1. The development of a buyer's market—meaning a supply of goods running consistently above the demand.

for the Soviet leaders has been low agricultural production. The export of any large quantity of foodstuffs such as fats and oils would run contrary to U.S. policy on this point.

"This man places service above self." Dr. J.D. Messick said when he presented J.B. Kittrell, Jr., the young man of the year Distinguished Service Award last night at the ed Service Award last night at the Greenville Country Club.

After completing his talk Saied presented awards to the Daily Reflector and radio station WGTC for their services rendered the Jaycees in their projects during 1953.

He also presented certificates to outstanding project chairman. Receiving those certificates were: Warren Aldridge for the Horse Show, Tom Chapin for the Elm Street Park project, Frank Dail for Operation Christmas, Harry Douglas for the Bosses Night Banquet, J.B. Kittrell for the E.C.C. Scholarship fund drive, John Lautares for the Farmers' Day beauty pageant, and Lester Turnage for the Little League Tourney.

Recommend No Action In November Traffic Death

A coroner's jury recommended last night that no criminal charge be brought against Charles Womack, Negro of Greenville in the traffic death of Bobby Joe Buck on Thanksgiving Eve.

Quiet Life Just Wasn't For Him

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Tired of the quiet life, a 4-year-old boy toddled into the corridor of an apartment house and: Filled a dozen mailboxes with dirt, ripped up letters and switched all the others.

The issue may come into focus upon an application by Minnesota businessman Dwayne Andreas for permission to export 20,000 tons of butter and 3,000 tons of cottonseed oil to Russia. These are not strategic materials and there is no policy barrier against them except a general policy under which the government reserves the right to bar any exports to Russia contrary to the security interests of the United States.

But on the other side is a set of arguments which remains powerful and which has many adherents especially in the State Department and probably in the Defense Department as well. They include: 1. A major policy of the administration has been to exploit differences between the rulers and the ruled in all the Communist countries. A major source of trouble stopped at a service station at the intersection and pulled off after looking to see if any one was coming. He said that he pulled into Evans Street extension, headed towards Greenville and the car coming from the east on the fire tower road crashed into the rear of his tractor-trailer which was involved in the collision. Buck was killed when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of the truck at the intersection of the fire tower road and Evans Street extension.

Churches of Christ, Scientist
That harmony in daily affairs demands obedience to God's laws will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" includes the following account of counsel by Christ Jesus from the Bible:
"And, behold, one came and said unto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I do, that I may have eternal life? And he said unto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is, God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Matthew 19: 16, 17.

The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We apprehend Life in divine Science only as we live above corporeal sense and correct it. Our proportionate admission of the claims of good or of evil determines the harmony of our existence—our health, our longevity, and our Christianity." (167:6)

Mrs. Fernando Ward Satterthwaite Jr. is the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Holden daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holden of Greenville. Her marriage to Mr. Satterthwaite, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Satterthwaite of Farmville, took place December 30, 1953 at the St. Paul Methodist Church, Florence, S. C.

Dr. Humbert Speaks To PTA Members On Bloodmobile Work

GRIFTON—The Grifton Parent-Teachers Association met in regular session on Tuesday night with Mrs. Robert Levine, president, presiding. Rev. R. C. Mooney Jr. conducted the devotional.

"The Financial Needs of the School," a report worked out by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradley, Mr. Ed Bright and C. R. Cobb, was given by Mr. Bright.

To begin his talk, Mr. Bright spoke of the new classroom building which is under construction. This building will help greatly to relieve overcrowded conditions which now exist here. He went on to say that the building would be used for an elementary department as well as a home economics department. He cited progress that had been made locally in the home ec. department but said that much would have to be done before Grifton would be eligible for federal funds and vocational home economics.

The principal said that the only funds in sight were the state bond issue money and that he did not know when it would be made available and that the stipulations would be. He stressed the needs for a larger auditorium and physical education plant. He went on to discuss the small needs of the school, those that the P.T.A. can work toward—the library, shrubbery and the posts that are being put around the campus.

At the conclusion of his talk, Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Pitt County health doctor, took charge of the program and discussed the Bloodmobile which will be here February 8. In discussing the organization of the Bloodmobile program in Pitt County, he pointed out that Pitt County is assigned 14 visits of the mobile from Norfolk. Six of these visits are assigned to Greenville, with two being held in Ayden, Bethel, Farmville and Grifton.

The reason that Grifton is assigned two visits even though it is much smaller is that on past visits Grifton has donated just as much as the larger towns. On the August visit, the 119 pints given here was even more per capita than was given in Greenville.

In discussing the need for a successful drive in the county he pointed out that it is the only available source of gamma globulin so vitally needed in our fight against polio. "Of course, the blood plasma and red corpuscles are always needed," he stated.

Grifton has been assigned a quota of 170 pints. Approximately 200 donors must be had because about 30 must be turned away for various reasons.

Bill Dawes, Charles Kline and Mrs. Richard Pate are making plans for the mobile which will be here on February 8 from 12 noon until 6 p. m.

At the conclusion of the program, a group of parents saw a film, "Mothers' March on Polio," which was narrated by Helen Hayes and shown by Julia Fisher of Greenville.

Clubs Make Plans For Annual Valentine Dance

Members of the Future Business Leaders of America and of Pi Omega Pi, honorary scholastic business education fraternity, at East Carolina College are making plans for their annual Valentine dance, a colorful event of campus social life for the past few years. It is scheduled for Friday, February 12, in the Wright building.

Selection by popular vote of a King and a Queen of Hearts to preside at the dance will be a new feature of this year's entertainment. Coronation of those chosen for the honor will be the theme of the evening.

Julian Vainright of Greenville, president of the F.B.L.A. and Donald McGlohon of Winterville, president of Pi Omega Pi, have announced a number of committee appointments. Chosen as co-chairmen of the dance are Jack Hudson of Kinston and Curtis Hendrix of Greenville.

Chairmen of other committees include Bobbie Lou Avant, Whiteville; Peggy Nash, Durham; Edwin Gore, Ash; Shirley Newton, LaGrange; Ann Bynum, Farmville; Frances Buck, Grimesland; Betty Sue Branch, Greenville; Florence Helms, Portsmouth, Va.; William H. Roks, Turkey; Keith Godson, Greenville; Kenneth Bordeaux, Mount Olive; and E. A. Thomas, Wilmington.

Following the program delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Wooten, assisted by her daughter, Miss Alice Wooten.

New Look In Spring Fashions Is Slim, Silken And Feminine

By DOROTHY ROE
NEW YORK (U.P.)—The new look in spring fashions is slim, silken and feminine.

This was evident today as New York designers opened a crowded week of spring fashion showings for some 150 visiting fashion editors, revealing what U.S. women will wear in the Easter parade.

Year-round, weather-wise fashions are the big news of the new collections, designed for wear in almost any season. The new lightweight silk suits and coats will do duty all through the summer, some going on into winter beneath fur coats.

Having discovered in past seasons that the weather is likely to jump straight from winter into summer, designers are showing low-necked, short-sleeved suits, coats and dresses of featherweight fabrics. The dress-and-jacket ensemble in fur-trimmed silk print is one of the important styles of the season, as is the silk tweed suit and the dark silk fitted coat.

The narrow silhouette is almost universal in daytime clothing shown in empire waists and high-waisted suits. The line through the midriff is skin-tight and will permit no concealing drapery to hide excess poundage. So we may expect a new wave of dieting just before Easter.

Designers achieve the high waisted-look in many ways. Some suits have skirts which reach to just below the bust, to meet a fitted jacket which ends at this point. Some coats are belted just below the bust, or have half-belts just below the shoulder-blades in back. There are dresses which are seamed or tucked from bust to natural waistline to achieve the moulded midriff look, and suits which employ a wide crushed cummerbund for the same effect.

Smooth, ladylike styles are the order of the season, in luxurious fabrics and sophisticated cut.

New suits do tricks, displaying such innovations as peckaboo jewels half hidden by a slot or pocket flap, handkerchief pockets in the elbow, button-in vests or collars of linen or pique, stick-pin flowers stuck in a pocket.

Instead of summer furs, one designer shows filmy crisp organdy stoles for wear with suits, coats and dresses. Sheer lace-trimmed linen collars and handkerchiefs with tweed suits are another whimsy of the same house.

There's a softly feminine touch even to the most tailored costumes, which have smoothly rounded lines above the belt, petal lapels, open necklines, dressmaker detail in rounded pockets, jewel trimmings and accessories.

Expert workmanship reaches a new high in this season's ready-made fashions, which have the feminine shape built-in, through carefully moulded inner construction. This year a dress retains its shape even when hanging in the closet.

Skirts are on the average one inch shorter than those of last season, though the difference is imperceptible in many collections. The short-lived threat of knee-length skirts is past, and the usual length is mid-calf, the most becoming line for most women.

Fabrics, make headlines in the new fashions, with silks that look like wool, wools that look like silk and cottons that look like both. Satiny smooth, chiffon weight suitings of silk and wool or mohair blends are tops in spring importance.

Colors are subtly grayed in silvery tones of navy, gray, beige and charcoal for many suits and coats, and go into pale pastels in the popular jewel-trimmed fleece coats.

The black or navy fitted silk coat is a top favorite of the season, as is the silk suit, either in dark solid colors or in subtle prints.

Hats are small, flat and worn forward, shoes are fragile and air-conditioned, jewelry is splashy and gloves are important with short-sleeved fashions.

Dr. Humbert Speaks At Meeting Of Third Street P.T.A.
Third Street School P.T.A. met on Thursday afternoon, January 14, in the school auditorium, with Mrs. Arthur Andrews presiding.

Dr. W. C. Humbert, Pitt County Health Officer, talked on preventable accidents in the home and school. He stated that 30,000 persons were killed in 1952 in accidents that could and should have been prevented.

He asked that everyone check homes and schools in detail to eliminate any danger points which might cause a preventable accident.

Miss Barrow, the new first grade teacher, was introduced. It was voted to give to the school a set of the World Book as a memorial to the late principal, Miss Laura Foley.

Mrs. Troy Dodson volunteered to act as chairman of the Mothers' March on Polio for this P.T.A.

Mrs. M. P. Bailey made the following recommendations for the safety of the school children: That all cars should be barred from coming on the school grounds other than the driveway in front of school, except necessary commercial trucks, and these to drive in only when children are not on the playground.

That the hedge on Third Street be cut back to a maximum height of two feet.

That no one but the janitor be allowed to burn trash on the grounds and then only when there are no children present.

These recommendations were accepted by the P.T.A.

Miss Barrow's first grade won the attendance prize.

Immanuel Church Announcements
On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a special memorial service at the Immanuel Baptist Church for Miss Lois Gorrell who died on Christmas Day. Miss Gorrell was a devoted and much beloved member of the Immanuel Church for many years, and a teacher of music at East Carolina College before her retirement. Her loss is keenly felt by all who knew her.

At the Morning Worship Hour, Miss Ruth Little will sing "Give Thanks and Sing" by Harris, and the choir will sing the anthem "Bless the Lord" by Ivanoff. The young people will have their fellowship hour at 6 o'clock, followed by the Training Union at 6:15. Evening Worship will be at 7:30, with special music by the choir. The pastor will speak on the subject "A Vital Christianity." There will be a church conference at the close of the service.

Beginning Monday night at 7:30 and continuing each night through Wednesday the pastor will teach the book, "Studies in the Psalms" by Dr. Kyle M. Yates. This study will be continued if necessary the first two or three nights of the following week, and is open to anyone interested in increasing his knowledge of the Psalms.

On Friday night at 8 o'clock the Truett young couples' class will hold its regular monthly class meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reid Tripp at 203 N. Library St.

The church has a nursery to take care of small children for parents who wish to attend the Sunday School or the Morning Worship.

Mrs. Ruel Tyson Leads Program At B.P.W. Club Meeting

The Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club met Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Woman's Club.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Ruel Tyson, State BPW Legislative Chairman. Mrs. Tyson led a panel composed of Ruth Garner, Ada Jones and Julia Fisher. Mrs. Garner discussed the history and background of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Miss Jones gave arguments pro and con in relation to the amendment and Miss Fisher explained the effects of the Hayden rider on the Equal Rights Amendment. This timely program was of particular interest to women. Similar programs are being given at BPW Club meetings all over the state.

The Greenville BPW Club is sponsoring the 1954 March of Dimes drive in Pitt County. At the meeting Miss Julia Fisher, campaign director, and other March of Dimes committee chairmen reported that the Pitt County Drive is proceeding smoothly.

Mrs. Sarah Proctor, president, presided over the meeting at which 36 attended. New members present were Dorothy Bolton and Billie Carr. Guests of the club were Evelyn Mullen, Raleigh, and Mrs. E. R. Bolt, Greenville.

The February program will be given by Catherine Walsh, Health and Safety Chairman. Mrs. Walsh announced that the February meeting will be Birthday Night. She also announced that Thelma Harmon, District BPW Director, and Ruby Blythe, 1st vice-president of the State BPW Federation, will be present for the meeting to be held in February.

Broader Meaning Given Monroe Doctrine

It was a stern warning issued by the Eisenhower administration to the Kremlin through Secretary of State Dulles' statement that the United States has made a basic decision to meet any future communist aggression by relying primarily on instant massive retaliation.

Reading between the lines of such a powerful statement would lead one to the conclusion that the administration has determined that no longer shall Russia be left to set the torch of war to isolated areas of the world without herself becoming engulfed by the fire.

Unsung Heroes In Fight Against Reds

The Charlotte attorney who became a communist for the FBI to study operations of the Reds in North Carolina and New York deserves the congratulations of his fellow North Carolinians.

While the activities in North Carolina may never prove one of the big links in activities of subversives in this country, the work of the attorney doubtlessly was one of those contributing small pieces which would be fitted into the gigantic jig saw puzzle of communist activities throughout the country.

There can be little doubt that during the past five years, the man who joined the communists to help the FBI supplied the agency with much valuable information on efforts of the Reds in the Tar Heel state. The federal authorities know more about communist activities in North Carolina by the efforts of the Charlotte man than they otherwise would have known.

Across the nation there are probably a good many people who—for the sake of their nation—have joined the communists as undercover agents. Their combined contributions to the internal security of the nation are of great value. These people—many of whom will never be known to the public—are among the many unsung heroes in the fight of the United States against the communists.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
IS THIS JUSTIFIED?
I should like to say a word to young people of high school and college age.

It appears to many of us oldsters today the young people very often blame their failures on their parents. Things would be different, they claim, if father had only warned up a bit and made a pal of me. Or others say, "Mother was ambitious and tried to run me. I never could live my own life." And still others, "I am the most frustrated person on earth and all because of the way I have been held down at home."

Veteran GOPs In Dilemma

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—The principal dilemma which confronts Capitol Hill Republicans in acting on the detailed Eisenhower legislative program is that they have never served under a President of their own who advocated the preservation and extension of a semi-fair state. It is a distinct shock to their political system, and the problem of readjustment will be difficult.

It is true that many GOP legislators voted for such innovations as farm subsidies, Federal pensions and insurance, government aid to health, housing and education, and Washington's general assumption of responsibility for national prosperity. But they did so grudgingly for the most part, and because it would have meant defeat of individual members if they refused to go along. They bowed to the popular currents set in motion by F.D.R.'s oratory.

But they always entertained the hope that this trend toward "statism," as they frequently termed it in Congressional debates, would be checked. Through 1952 to 1953, their platforms condemned many New Deal-Fair Deal reforms, although Willkie, Dewey and Eisenhower did not always adhere to convention decisions in their campaign speeches.

SAME OLD PLAYS—In their opinion, the Republicans' most effective issue in the 1952 contest was the chant that "it is time for a change." And now, as they peruse Ike's several messages and discuss the program he has outlined to them at secret White House conferences, they find that there are no fundamental differences between his proposals and those which they have fought for 20 years.

Without question, it is one of the most forceful pronouncements of international policy stated by the United States in many years. It suggests that aggression by the communists at any spot on the globe will be viewed as an act of the Kremlin. It likewise suggests that in any such instance, Russia herself will not escape injury by sending some other nation to do the fighting for her, as was the case in Korea.

The statement of foreign policy might well be compared with the pronouncement of President James Monroe on December 2, 1823, when he warned that any act of interference in the government of any American nation by any European nation would be taken as an unfriendly act, "dangerous to our peace and safety."

In so many words, the Eisenhower administration seems, by its recent statement to have given broader meaning to the Monroe Doctrine. The Eisenhower administration statement, as we interpret it, extends the Monroe Doctrine beyond the boundaries of the Western Hemisphere to embrace all the free world.

The statement should make the Kremlin sit up and take notice. It should leave little doubt as to the intent of the United States should communist aggression strike somewhere else in the world.

A Taste Of The "Good Old Days"

The weather Pitt County has had for the past few days has had that old touch of the "winters that just don't come around any more."

The wind has been raw and cutting. The rain and the sleet was the kind that wanders twice around your backbone before it finally slithers down into the gutter. The clouds have been dark and threatening a good portion of the time. Even the sun, usually a trusted ally, has been lacking the warmth which most people in this section have been accustomed to.

This is the kind of weather that chases you in early at night. There isn't a particular desire to go out because you know that cold wind is waiting for you. That trip to the post office you'd like to make about 9 o'clock can wait until tomorrow because the bitter chill in the air just isn't to be reckoned with. And those extra minutes standing in front of the house talking with a neighbor can wait 'til a warmer evening.

But, on the other hand, this weather has its pleasant moments too. It is nice to crawl down beneath the covers in the mornings when you look out and see the dripping coldness through the early haze. And the bacon and eggs always seem to smell better when they warm up the house with their odor. And it's extra nice to sit in front of the fireplace, or prop your feet up on the oil stove and just relax.

Grandpa always claimed that the weather these days just isn't what it used to be. But it'll give his "good old days" a run for their money.

publicans and Southern Democrats blocked his "welfare state" theories.

RESENTMENT TO BE HELD IN CHECK—Congressional veterans who have served through the transitional period from Hoover to Eisenhower have promised Ike that they will hold in check this spirit of protest and resentment. Luckily, they include almost all the top GOP figures—Speaker Martin, Majority Leader Halleck, Rules Chairman Allen, Majority Whip Arends and Senator Styles Bridges in the Senate.

Even they would welcome a greater "change" than Eisenhower has given them. But, in their huddles with voluntary grievance committees, they argue that it would be politically fatal to wipe out basic Roosevelt-Truman reforms of a helpful and humanitarian nature. A whole new generation of voters, they point out, as a result of the philosophy preached at Washington, expect Uncle Sam to look after their needs.

HERBERT HOOVER CITED—In their desperation, they cite Herbert Hoover as having planted the first seeds of a paternalistic form of government. They recall that he established the first Farm Board which did in a small way what the Commodity Credit Corporation does now. He also inaugurated the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to help distressed business and industry.

It was the late Senator Vandenberg who, in the face of Roosevelt's opposition, forced through legislation for Federal guarantee of bank deposits. In the foreign field, Hoover tried to check the worldwide depression of 1929-1933 by declaring a moratorium on foreign debts. In short, the present governmental structure has a Republican foundation.

Somebody Told Me

Kittrell A Long-Time Worker

Last night after J. B. Kittrell Jr. was chosen Greenville's Young Man of the Year I asked him if he would be available for a telephone interview later in the evening. "You already know more about me than I do," he said jokingly.

"I know one thing for sure," I shot back. "What's that?" "I know that you can't kill deer!" I was referring to the columns I wrote last month about J. B. and Buddy Harrington's deer hunting trip to Maine, which netted them naught in deer.

Although J. B. received the reward for his work in 1953, it's interesting to point out that back as early as 1950 he headed a movement that brought about our recreation program as it stands now. Greenville's charter in Raleigh stated that only a certain amount could be spent on recreation; I believe $12,000. This committee, chaired by J. B. and consisting of Howard Hodges and Dave Whichard III, headed a movement that resulted in the enabling act being changed to allow $30,000 to be spent on recreation. And the present City Council allotted that maximum amount in the current budget! Although Greenville has already outgrown the present allotment, $30,000, it's interesting to point out that our present Young Man of the Year was a factor in the change.

J. B. must have been in contention for this award in 1952, for it was then that he championed the drive to bring the City Manager form of government to Greenville. Of course this drive ended in 1953, which marks the project for that year. Anyone who follows Greenville's city government will tell you that the City Manager plan is already working to advantage in Greenville, with more benefits to be reaped as time goes by. J. B. modestly cited the Little League District Tournament, headed by Les Turnage, as the JC's outstanding project of the year. He did admit that the City Manager project would eventually overshadow most JC projects when the plan has been working long enough to function to best advantage.

The wife of Greenville's Young Man of the Year deserves consideration. She has to spend many nights of baby sitting alone while the husband is in various kinds of meetings. Betty Kittrell says, "I'm real proud, and it wasn't so bad. But I'll admit that I got tired of J. B.'s going to so many meetings."

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS
Yes, she does have an attractive nose. The same can be said for Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller's chin, Mrs. Anna Rosenberg's ears, Kathi Norris's eyes (but who is she?) Brenda Kelly's hair and Elizabeth Taylor's mouth. But that is as far as the ASMP goes above the neck, and put it all together and there is still something missing. Three-fourths of a head in fact.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

MELANCHOLY ANATOMY (St. Louis Post-Dispatch)
From time to time we have had to deliver a gentle ask talk about the business of picking the 10 most beautiful women on grounds there are at least 56,222,000 women old enough to be considered and some were overlooked. But now the American Society of Magazine Photographers has picked 10 women for special features, to make a composite "most alluring girl." In this case what is overlooked is not only women, but anatomy. Mrs. Douglas MacArthur has the most attractive nose, it says here.

Similar horrible omissions affect the rest of the ASMP anatomy, although in the case of what we editorially refer to as the limbs, there is duplication. Linda Darnell has the finest legs but Esther Williams the best thighs, and it would be fine to know where the photographers think one begins and the other resumes. Presumably the ASMP leg is what appears below a model's dress and the thigh belongs to bathing beauties. This sort of anatomical design would be an awful insult to American womanhood, if all of it added up to a woman. But a woman, thank heaven, is founded firmly on the principle that the whole is greater than the sum of the parts.

More N.C. Landowners Are Planting A Long Term Crop

By LYNN NISBET
TREE FARMING—More Tarheel landowners each year are going into the business of tree farming. They have learned that timber is a crop, subject to cultivation and selective harvesting in much the same manner as ordinary field crops. The "growing season" is longer but many tree farmers are finding that net profit yields are comparable to the crops which require faster and more expensive handling.

One farmer noted that necessity for harvesting his tobacco crop within a period of one week entailed so much extra expense there was very little real profit. He could harvest his trees any time within a two year period when it was convenient.

The increasing interest in tree farming is evidenced by the demand for seedlings. The forestry division of the State Department is bringing into production a new nursery near Goldsboro that is scheduled to afford some 25 million seedlings a year. This will practically double capacity of State nurseries which sell seedlings at nominal prices to landowners.

Even more significant is the current report on distribution of free seedlings from big private nurseries through the forestry sections of the State C&D Department and the Agricultural Extension Service at State College. More than a million and a half pine seedlings from these sources have been planted during the past three months.

The supply of 750,000 white pines offered to adult landowners by International Paper Company was quickly exhausted, and there is a backlog demand for 30,000 more. Nearly 600 members of 4-H Clubs have set out 864,750 pine seedlings furnished by Champion Paper and Fibre Company and the North Carolina Pulp Company. White pine seedlings from these sources have been exhausted, but there are available a number of short leaf and loblolly pines for specified counties. County farm agents, the College Extension Service or the State Forester at Raleigh can give the information on availability.

NEW PRACTICES—The idea of tree farming is not new, but so far as North Carolina is concerned the practice has become general only within the past decade or so. It has developed along with the practice of cattle farming and the recognition that pastures and wooded lands should be considered important segments of farm lands.

Oldtimers, even those not yet beyond middle age, can remember when trees were a nuisance and when only land that wasn't fit for anything else was "turned to pasture. Nothing symbolizes the new style in agriculture more than the development of improved pastures and careful attention to reforestation and selective harvesting of timber.

REPLACEMENT—The naval stores operators (tar, pitch and turpentine) 100 years ago and the timber barons 50 years later left a trail of destruction where they moved through North Carolina. The coming of the big pulp and paper mills was protested in some quarters as meaning further depreciation of important capital resources represented in trees.

The fact is that for a long time these big companies have cooperated with government agencies, often taking the initiative lead, in conservation and reforestation policies. Common practice has not yet achieved the goal of "cut a tree and plant a tree" but it is approaching that ideal.

The planting of some 20 million seedlings this year means a lot of pulp wood ten years hence and a lot of saw logs a decade or so later. Land owners are finding that this is the best use to which a lot of acreage can be put. They are finding, too, that while the care of growing trees does not re-

Business Today Near To Saturation

By ELMER ROESSNER
The refrigerator market is close to saturation. Electrical Merchandising, an authority in the field, calculates that as of January 1, 39,397,000 of the 43,580,000 wired homes in America had refrigerators. That's 90.4 per cent, and it leaves only 4,183,000 virgin prospects.

No other electrical device except radios, with 98.4 per cent, is as near to saturation. Now the 4,000,000 homes without refrigerators aren't much of a market. They probably include all the shacks and slums in America, along with some swanky kitchenless apartments. The 1,000,000, more or less, new dwelling units that will be built this year will be a prime market, but 1,000,000 refrigerator sales won't sustain the industry.

Meanwhile, sales have been off. McGraw-Hill researchers estimate 3,775,000 units were sold last year, 205,000 more than in 1952 but considerably under 1949, 1950 and 1951. So there is the almost perfect framework for the question, "What does a big American industry do when sales get harder to make?"

Part of the answer is in; it was disclosed in the unveiling of the new 1954 models. It is: Business adds so many improvements that almost every existing item in the line is outmoded, if not outdated.

When it can't make "new" sales, it tries to develop replacement sales. The 1954 refrigerators include models with taps for ice water and fruit juice on the outside of the door; a model with doors that open either to the left or right; models so reduced in weight they can be attached to walls or hung from ceilings; others that have shelves that turn like Lazy Susans, or which pull almost all the way out, or which have edges that prevent food from tumbling off.

Shelves on insides of doors, automatic or semi-automatic defrosting and special compartments for keeping butter, cheese, eggs and other food at special temperatures are common; most manufacturers have models with built-in food freezers. One company has a box with a built-in coffee dispenser; another with an aluminum-foil dispenser; another has an egg dispenser. And there is greater use of color than ever before.

Another part of the answer is shortening of the line. Most companies are putting out fewer models this year. One prominent maker has only four, another has five. This enables dealers to carry the lines with less money tied up in inventory.

A City Held Together By Dreams

By HAL BOYLE
WASHINGTON (AP)—What in the world is Washington, D.C.?

Most great cities of earth you can peel like an orange, and get at the heart and pulp of them. They give even the most casual visitor a definite feeling. New York is a tower. . . Paris is a beating pulse, and the eyes of a new love telling old lies. . . Naples is a song in the night and bread crumbs on a tablecloth. . . London is stolid courage in a fog. . . Shanghai is mystery and poverty that smiles at its own misery. . . Calcutta is a naked beggar pleading for alms beneath the shade of a Victorian monument. . . Berlin is a question mark, saluting itself. . . Bombay is a tired mongoose fighting a bored cobra, while each waits for the Point Four program to give it a better way of life. . . Athens is a blue sky and antique stones and wine with a resin taste, just as it tasted when Socrates drank it long ago. . .

Yes, most great cities are a definite feeling. But what in the world is Washington, D.C.? I know it is the capital of the United States, and that George Washington was able to sleep better near here than he was at Valley Forge. But what else?

I have come here many times, but all I get from it is a feeling of puzzlement. To me it is a vast jigsaw puzzle made up of thousands of sights and impressions, but I have never been able to fit them into a pattern, and I am beginning to doubt if there is a permanent one. This is a political city, and the only permanent thing in American politics is the next election.

Every once in a while I have a feeling I'd like to go out to the Lincoln Memorial and ask, "Mr. Lincoln, tell me about this place." But I'm afraid the only answer would be a sigh. After all, they shot Lincoln here.

What in the world is Washington, D.C.? Well, it isn't America any more than New York is. . . It is a mass of officials kneeling with their ear to the ground, and each one whispering nervously to his neighbor. "What are the grass roots saying?" . . . It is a place where most people come to from somewhere else they still call home. . . a camp of transients who have pitched their tents here for a purpose, then move on.

It is a two-way escalator where politicians pass each other while carrying out the will of the people. . . gladly on the way up. . . wryly on the way down. . . It is full of the front-page faces of yesterday, the faces of those who mistook what the grass roots were saying and no longer want to go back home and get a pension. . . It is a lobbyist reaching for the dinner check and saying, "Well, congressman, as I I was saying, it is only what the people want. . ."

But he doesn't say whose people. . . Nothing is done here without invoking the name of that great mystery—the people. . . It is a small boy turning to his mother in the Senate gallery, and saying, "Mama, are you sure those men down there are really senators?"

What in the world is Washington, D.C.? It is compromises and pleading and committees. . . It is a place where the cocktail party is a weapon, and gossip is not so much a vice as an industry. . . It is a town where everybody wants to feel he's in the real inside, part of "the big know. . ."

It is a forum, a sounding board. . . It is lonely integrity and private chicanery. . . and jet-propelled opportunism. . . and stubborn sincerity. . . It is museums and monuments and tons of secret documents and scores of famous Americans, including "FBI Chief." "Does it never change?" a visitor asks. And a cynic answers, "Sure. It changes from organized chaos to a confused optimism depending on how you look at it."

What in the world is Washington, D.C.? I still don't know. But I do know that the only thing that holds it together are the dreams of 161 million Americans—and a small ballot box.

Worth Noting

DILLON, S. C. HERALD: "The United States is the great bulwark that stands between freedom and slavery. If the communists could get control of this nation it would not be very long before the whole world would be reduced to a state of slavery."

WALTHAM, MASS. NEWS-TRIBUNE: "The failures of domestic government and the personality clashes are part of the price we pay for a system founded on freedom of personal expression. The rewards far outweigh the penalties, so despite all the uproar over subversion and malfeasance the domestic situation is never really out of control."

U.S. INDUSTRIAL OUTPUT 2-3 TIMES 1938 MARK
Industrial production in the United States in 1953 was 267 per cent of the 1938 output, according to calculations of the National Industrial Conference Board. It was ahead of Canada, with 243 per cent, France with 143, the United Kingdom with 136, Western Germany with 124 and Japan with 115.

Five Prominent Speakers To Assist In Spiritual Emphasis Week

Five outstanding speakers, prominent in educational and religious activities in North Carolina, will participate in programs offered during Spiritual Emphasis Week at East Carolina College. The event will open next Monday morning, January 18, with an assembly at 10 o'clock in the Wright building, and will continue through Thursday, January 21.

Guest speakers shown above are (left to right): Dr. Gordon W. Lovejoy, educational consultant for the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Guilford College; Harry S. Jones, director of the Carolina Region of the NCCJ; Rabbi Nathan Hershfield of Temple Emanuel, Gastonia, professor of Old Testament at Livingston College, Salisbury; the Rev. William W. Finlator, minister at the First Baptist Church, Elizabeth City; and Dr. James G. Huggin, minister at the Central Methodist Church, Shel.

Dr. Huggin will make the keynote address of Spiritual Emphasis Week Monday morning. Following the general theme of the week "Our Moral and Spiritual Heritage: This Nation Under God", he will speak on the topic "Spiritual Foundations of American Life: What Are They?"

Evening assemblies during the week will be held at 7 o'clock in the Austin auditorium. Dr. Lovejoy will speak Monday on "Maintaining the Spiritual Foundations: Have We Abandoned Our Spiritual Heritage?"

Other assembly speakers will be Rabbi Hershfield, Tuesday "Basic Institutions of American Life: the Home, the School, the Church"; and Mr. Finlator, Wednesday, "The American Way Versus the Communist Way: What Are the Basic Conflicts?" Thursday the guest speaker will discuss "Interreligious Cooperation: How Can We Work Together." Open forums following the major addresses will be conducted by Mr. Jones.

The public is invited to attend events of Spiritual Emphasis Week. The program has been arranged under the leadership of Dr. Carl V. Harris, director of religious activities at the college, and W. Parker Marks of Speed, president of the Interreligious Council of East Carolina College, sponsor of the week's activities.

armed Germany. And Russia could hardly yield to him.

President Eisenhower and Russia's Premier Malenkov made speeches during 1953 on relations between the two countries. In December Eisenhower suggested: "They sit down and talk about pooling some of their atomic materials for peace. If that succeeds, he indicated, maybe they could go on to talk about getting rid of the atom bomb."

Russia responded with the complaint that banning the bomb should come first, and reserved the right to talk about that if the two powers sit down to discuss peaceful use of the atom.

This week Dulles and the Russian ambassador began talks on arranging American-Russian talks on the atom, as Eisenhower suggested.

But in his Monday night talk on this country's new military strategy, Dulles said this country no longer will depend on huge armed forces, matching man for man with the Communists in the field, but will try to prevent any attack this way:

Standing ready to blast the attacker with "means of its own choosing." What means? Dulles

Berlin Again Demonstrates Russia, U.S. Have Big Gap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nothing shows better than events of the past three days the gap between the United States and Russia, and how dim is the chance for agreement on their biggest problems.

After many speeches here and in Moscow about getting together, exchanges of notes extending over months, and much maneuvering the two powers reached the point of sitting down in the same room to talk.

Not talk about what they wanted to talk about. Just talk about arranging the time and place for the real talks.

The three allies—United States, Britain, France—have exchanged notes with Russia since last summer, trying to set up a meeting of their foreign ministers.

Agreement at last. They'd meet in Berlin, Jan. 25. But where in Berlin? In East Berlin, controlled by Russia? Or in West Berlin, controlled by the Western Allies?

Representatives of the four powers in Berlin met to settle the details. All this week they talked. The Russians held out for half the talks to be in East Berlin. This country wanted more than half in West Berlin.

Last night the four representatives gave up, dumped their disagreement back in the laps of higher officials.

But even if the preliminaries are settled, the United States and Russia are in complete disagreement on their major European problem: Germany.

The United States wants East and West Germany united, no doubt in the belief that the East Germans, after eight years under the Russians would rejoice in lining up with the West Germans as United States allies.

What would this mean to the United States? Secretary of State Dulles made clear in a speech Monday night what hopes this country has for Germany.

He outlined America's new military strategy, based on West European defense against Russian attack backed up by this country's potential for "massive" retaliation.

He said Europe cannot be defended unless Germany is allowed to rearm. He said it can't do so under the present armistice agreements, although it could join a unified European army if France agreed to go along.

But the last thing Russia wants is a rearmament Germany. It spent the past year, by many devices, trying to avoid just that.

Dulles could hardly settle with the Russians at Berlin for a dis-didn't say. There's no doubt he meant atomic weapons. Dulles, therefore, couldn't very well agree on banning the bomb.

Starlings Have Special Chaser

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State University has a startling chaser. It cleared the nearby community of Millheim (pop. 1,000) of 15,000 starlings and certain areas of State College before the birds departed on their annual migration.

The birds moved out when treatment was applied in August, and didn't return. The treatment consists of the amplification of a very special noise.

"The noise," Dr. Herbert W. Frings explains, "will not arouse the robins, grackles, nor cowbirds, but we feel we can develop a treatment for them also."

The Stuart kings of England were enthusiastic devotees of cock fighting and it was long called the "royal sport."

Camera News

ACTION at a Sweden-Japan soccer meet at night was snapped by the Zunow f1.1 lens at wide open aperture at 1-200 second. The 35mm Super XX film was developed in DK 20 for 20 minutes and the original print enlarged 90 times.

DOUBLE PURPOSE camera case has a built-in flash reflector and B-C unit ready to connect with a 35mm camera.

By IRVING DESFOR AP Newsfeatures

The New Year got off to a fast start for me with the arrival of a report from Tokyo of Japanese large scale production of the fastest lens in the world. No longer a dream, a blueprint or a mathematical formula, Japan's booming optical industry is making the f 1.1, which is twice as fast as the present f 1.5 and f 1.4 super speed lenses and ten times faster than the popular f 3.5 lens used on many good amateur cameras. The new jet lenses will be for use on standard 35mm still and 16mm motion picture cameras. Till now, experimental lenses of that speed or faster have required curved or cupped film, making them commercially unfeasible.

Telling the story of this achievement, the newspaper Asahi, Japan's biggest daily, relates it is the culmination of ten hard years' work that began with a request from the Imperial Japanese Navy. During the last war, they wanted a super-fast lens that would take aerial shots at dawn and dusk. Two optical experts began the work and late in the war, succeeded in making three samples of an f 1.2 lens. However, an air raid destroyed their factory and samples.

After the war, the two experts, Sakuo Suzuki and Dosaburo Hamano, began again. Success came 50,000 blueprints later involving hundreds of thousands of mathematical calculations and measurements down to two millionths of an inch. The "Zunow f 1.1" is composed of nine separate elements (pieces of optical glass). The secret of the design is their shape and arrangement to eliminate all possible distortion and at the same time to allow the greatest possible depth of field consistent with its phenomenal speed.

Asahi reports that a new plant has been finished and the lens company hopes to swing into full production of 1500 units per month by this March. Only lenses will be made, not cameras, and the formula will not be licensed. The price of the lens, in Japan, before taxes, will be about $150.

An f 1.1 lens, coupled with the newest fast films, will enlarge photography's horizon still further. Its

'Golden Circle' Had Big Filmdom Failure

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Whatever happened to the Golden Circle? A couple of years ago Paramount put forth a big hoopla about a dozen or so young hopefuls who were supposedly destined for stardom. The campaign was designed to duplicate a previous Golden Circle, which fostered such names as Susan Hayward, William Holden, Ellen Drew and Patricia Morrison.

Today only one of the most recent Golden Circle remains at Paramount — Joan Taylor. Another, Mary Murphy, had a lead in a Marlon Brando picture. But only Barbara Rush appears to be working regularly in movies. One of the circle alumni was recently reported working in a gas station.

Barbara Rush's fortunes are prospering at Universal-International. She has been doing leads, her latest being opposite Rock Hudson in "Taza, Son of Cochise." I had lunch with her and she told me why the circle proved to be something less than golden:

"It was doomed from the start.

'Golden Circle' Had Big Filmdom Failure

As a matter of fact, I don't think it was such a good idea. They spent a lot of money promoting the circle as an institution, even took all of us to New York and around the country.

"But it was sold as an institution. Everybody had heard of the Golden Circle, but nobody could tell you who was in it.

"Besides, it isn't practical for a studio like Paramount. The studio builds very few players from scratch, as they were trying to do with us. Whatever new people they push usually have already built their reputations in other fields. Like Rosemary Clooney from recitals, Audrey Hepburn from the stage or Joanne Gilbert from night clubs.

"The really unknown player never has a chance. We saw that when we were trying to get good roles. Every time a good one would come along, the bosses would try to borrow Elizabeth Taylor.

"Paramount isn't geared for developing new people. It makes so

Phants Play Pirate Jayvee Squad

Contest Set For 8 p.m. Tonight In Memorial Gym; Will Benefit The March Of Dimes Drive

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

It will be a real test of strength tonight for Coach Bo Farley's Greenville High School basketballers when they face the strong East Carolina College Junior Varsity in Memorial Gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

The contest will be a benefit affair with proceeds going to the March of Dimes fund. Admission will be 25 cents.

The game should help determine whether or not the G-men have a team that is capable of going all the way in the Northeastern Conference. The Phantoms have already rung up three Northeastern Conference victories in as many games and have a season's record of seven wins and just two losses.

Coach Earl Smith's Jayvees have contented themselves mostly with high school teams here in this portion of the state. Their latest outing was last night when they got stopped 70-66 by the New Hanover High School (Wilmington) Wildcats.

Farley's five has pushed over Northeastern foes with little trouble this year but one catch in that arrangements is that the teams that have been played have been the so-called "weak sisters" of the conference. On the other side of the ledger, the Phantoms have looked good in winning four of six games with Eastern AAA Conference teams.

Smith's Jayvees will probably rule as slight favorites at game time tonight. They have a slight height advantage and a considerable experience advantage over the Phantoms.

The Green Phantoms will be weakened somewhat by the absence of guard Pat Sawyer. The old injury plinx has struck Sawyer again. One consolation, however, is that it is not Sawyer's old knee injury that has him sidelined but his elbow where he has a broken blood vessel. He is definitely counted out of tonight's game but he is expected to be able to play next week when the Phantoms return to conference play against Roanoke Rapids.

Coach Farley will probably start Bob Howell and Walter Perkins at the forwards, Harold Edwards at center, and George Sideris and either Edgar Hoore or Tommy Saied at the guards.

Coach Smith is expected to start William McArthur and Johnny Rice at the forwards, Lem Cox at center, and Freddie Williams and Gary Scarboro at the guards.

Blocking Awards Given Member Of League Teams

CLINTON, S. C. (AP) — Jacobs Memorial Blocking trophies were awarded here last night to outstanding players in three Southern football conferences.

The University of Mississippi's All America guard, Crawford Mims, received the award for the Southeastern Conference.

South Carolina fullback Bill Worrman was the state and Atlantic Coast Conference winner.

The Southern Conference winner, Allman, was the only winner not present.

The banquet featured a talk by Dode Phillips, football standout at Erskine College in the early '20's. Phillips said such sessions as the trophy banquet "belle the pe.ennial criticisms leveled at football."

He added that the character-building qualities of football "have proved over the years that they more than outweigh any temporary faults" that might crop up.

Guests at the banquet, held at Presbyterian College, included 1953 All-State players, college coaches, radio sportscasters and sportswriters.

The Jacobs Trophy was started 25 years ago by the late Dr. William P. Jacobs, former president of Presbyterian.

Billy Martin Is Classified 1A

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chronicle today quoted Billy Martin, New York Yankee second baseman, as saying he has been reclassified 1A by his Berkeley draft board but plans an appeal.

Martin here of the 1953 world series, served in the Army at Ft. Ord, from November, 1950 to April, 1951. Then he received a hardship discharge and was classified 3A on grounds that he couldn't support his family on Army pay.

Under a recent selective service rule change, local boards were directed to review the status of all 3A's who had less than six months in military service.

At the time of his hardship discharge, the Yankee infielder listed as dependents his wife, Lois; his mother, Mrs. J. A. Downey; his stepfather, John Downey and his sister, Joan, 13.

The Chronicle quoted Martin as saying he now is separated from his wife and that she has custody of their 13-month-old daughter, Kelly Ann.

"But I'm supporting them both," Martin said.

JVs Defeated

The East Carolina Junior Varsity was defeated by Wilmington High School 70-66 last night in Wilmington.

East Carolina led all of the first half, but lost that lead in the third quarter when three of the starters left the game because of four fouls.

In an effort to overcome that lead in the fourth period, East Carolina outscored Wilmington by three points, but a freeze put on by the AAA high school quint was successful.

Pirates Finish Work For Game Tomorrow

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

East Carolina College's Pirates wrapped up preparations today for what could easily be one of their most important games of the entire season.

Coach Howard Porter's undefeated Pirates travel to Lenoir-Rhyne tomorrow to meet Coach Jim Hamilton's Bears in a battle that can decide the early season lead in the North State Conference.

Unbeaten East Carolina is on top of the standings with a perfect 4-0 record. Lenoir-Rhyne is in second place with a 4-1 mark. The only Bear loss was a pre-season defeat at the hands of these same Pirates.

A Lenoir-Rhyne victory tomorrow night would boost the Bears into the top spot in the conference standings. It could also give the Bucs a tough road to travel if they want to repeat last year's first-place efforts.

Coach Hamilton's Bears have rolled over everybody they have played this year. Wednesday night, they boosted themselves to their present position with a 75-68 win over Catawba. They have also defeated Atlantic Christian, Western Carolina, and Appalachian.

Despite experimentation this week, the Bucs aren't expected to make any starting line-up changes this week. Bobby Hodges, the team and conference scoring leader who has been working at forward this week, is expected to be at his usual center position tomorrow. That means either Paul Jones or Don Harris will start at the forward post opposite Charlie Huffman.

Hodges had been working at forward with newcomer Waverley Akins working at center. Akins' presence in the line-up would give the Bucs a little more height but the experience owned by Jones will probably be more valuable tomorrow night.

Lenoir-Rhyne will have a definite height advantage in the game. Center Bob Ortmeier is 6-8. Forward Raeford Wells is 6-7. Forward Roman 51

Rickey Remarks On Salary Cuts For Ballplayers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates says reports that the club's principal stockholders have tightened purse strings so much that he has to trade top players for cash are absolutely without foundation.

"I'm getting just a little bit tired of seeing those reports published," Rickey declared in the wake of his latest maneuver whereby the Bucs reportedly picked up about $80,000 and two players from the Philadelphia Phillies for pitcher Murry Dickson.

Rickey, who has been bitterly disappointed in his rebuilding efforts since taking over the Pirate helm late in 1950, said John Galbreath, Pirate president, and Tom Johnson, vice president and secretary, have been "very helpful." They are the Pirates' top stockholders.

"Mr. Galbreath has not put his foot down," Rickey declared. "Neither has Mr. Johnson. They have been wonderful. I've noted from time to time published reports that they have clamped down on our purse strings. That's simply not so and you can make it as emphatic as you please."

The 72-year-old Rickey has gained much of his recognition as one of baseball's top strategists because of his trading ability.

Harshman Signs Chisox Contract

CHICAGO (AP)—Pitcher Jack Harshman, Nashville left-hander who this week was voted the Southern Assn.'s Most Valuable Player in 1953, today signed a 1954 contract with the Chicago White Sox. He was the 15th Sox player to come to terms.

Harshman 26 once a first baseman in the New York Giant farm system had a 23-7 record in Nashville's regular season and won 4 games in the Dixie playoffs. Currently he has a 14-4 record for San Juan in the Puerto Rico winter season.

Belvoir-Falkland Improving On Record Posted Last Year

By BOB BOYETTE

Both of the coaches of the Belvoir-Falkland High School basketball teams seem to be a little happier with the work of their teams this year in comparison with last season.

So far this year both the girls' and boys' teams have won six of their first ten games and three of their first seven Pitt Conference games which is not an enviable record, but is an improvement over last year.

The girls, coached by Belvoir Principal O. H. Forrest, have been showing outstanding defensive work. Coach Forrest doesn't mind saying that he has the best defensive team he has had in years.

"If I only had as good an offense, we would be alright," he pointed out.

In praising the guards he heaps it on Edna Randolph, Florence Harold, and Joyce Tetterton. "Without them we would not have won a game this year."

Clark Leads Scoring

Although the offense is not the most potent machine in the world, Marlene Clark, a sophomore, is doing alright. She has scored 122 points in their first ten games for a 12.2 average per game.

Coach Forrest lost two starting players from last year's sextet who played Ayden High for the eighth position in the Pitt Tourney. They lost that game and failed to be in the tourney, which proves his point in that his girls are doing better.

To build his squad this year Coach Forrest has seven returning lettermen.

So far this season the girls have beaten Gardner 20-18, Walstonburg 37-24, Gardner 40-34, Ayden 38-25, Grimesland 27-18, and Stokes 34-32. They have lost to Bethel 51-41, Farmville 36-22, Grifton 43-31, and Winterville 45-22.

Boys Doing Better

In comparing the boys to last year's quint Coach Ed Warren says that last year they won only seven out of 22 games while this year Belvoir-Falkland has already won six of the first ten games.

From last year's team Warren lost three first stringers, one of those All-Pitt Conference. He has four lettermen back.

With only four lettermen back he still has his trouble in keeping his team winning. Since the season began he has lost three of his starting players. One of these players, Gene Bell, did not pass enough school work to remain on the squad and another, J. B. Nichols moved to Grimesland.

That makes him lack much needed reserve strength; however, he says that he is pleased with the work of his team so far this year. "They are showing much more spirit and desire to win than last year's team showed," he added.

Leading the team to their six wins, three of them Pitt Conference games, has been Gene Harris and Douglas Parker, an outstanding defensive man.

So far this season Harris has scored 159 points for a 15.9 average per game.

When questioned on how his team is going to do the rest of the year, Coach Warren answered that he hopes to get farther in the County tournament than other teams have been doing. "Never has a Belvoir team been beyond the first round," he stated.

So far this season the boys have beaten Gardner 68-27, Walstonburg 65-48, Gardner 58-21, Ayden 43-40, Grimesland 63-38, and Grifton 73-62. They have lost to Bethel 57-55, Stokes 72-45, Farmville 47-41, and Winterville 71-45.

Jesus and Nicodemus

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Nicodemus, a Pharisee and ruler of the Jews, came to see Jesus at night to learn more of His gospel.

Christ answered Nicodemus that "a man must be born again, or he cannot see the kingdom of God."

After this Jesus and His disciples went into the land of Judea where Jesus baptized many.

John's answer was: "A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven. Ye yourselves bear me witness, that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I am sent before Him."

MEMORY VERSE—John, 3:16.

TEEN TALK

Dear Judge

AP Newsfeatures What's the pitch on kids in Albuquerque, New Mexico? As part of this column's plan to spread the word from youth to youth on fads, fancies, foibles, here's a report from Joy Gallagher, of the Albuquerque, N.M. Journal.

If a teen-ager asks for the mill so he can snag the passion pit with a frozen chick—don't be alarmed. It isn't coming down with something. He wants the car so he can take his girl to the drive-in movie. Teen-agers have a language all their own.

Slang terms change from year to year, and this year they are crazy man, crazy. Real nervous. A survey of local high schools brings up a few startling facts.

Back in 1944, a girl who was going steady polished only the nail on her third finger, left hand. If she liked one special boy, (out wasn't going steady) she left only that nail unpainted. And, if she were "just looking," she polished them all.

But my, how times have changed! Today, a girl who is going steady laces her shoes backwards—from the top down. One shoe laced backwards means she likes a special boy but hasn't landed him; and shoes laced right means she's still looking.

In 1944, we wore a blue skirt and a white sweater or blouse, one blue sock and one white one. But that was back in Virginia. Here the western influence comes out. The girls wear low western cut levis like the boys, or frontier pants and western skirts. In Virginia, a girl who wore levis or slacks to school would have been sent home to change to a dress or skirt.

Fiesta dresses are very popular with teen-age girls here, and are worn on many occasions. They're not so much a fad as a local fashion, however.

Teen-age boys say there are just two ways to dress: A "cat" wears suede shoes, yellow corduroy peg pants, a narrow suede belt and sunglasses. A "stomper" wears low, western cut levis, cowboy boots, western shirt with the top snaps open, a western hat and a wide-tooled leather belt with his name on the back and a big silver buckle.

Cats and stompers choose a haircut with ducktail and sideburns. Square dancing and western dancing are popular, but two dances from way back—the bunny hug and the snag—have become popular again, too.

It wouldn't pay to learn new expressions and fads. By the time you learned them, a cat will probably be a "space kitty" and a stomper a "beat feater."

Long Weekends For Year Ahead

AP Newsfeatures With the strains of "Auld Lang Syne" a memory, what does the New Year offer in holidays? It looks like good, long weekends for the coming year. Many holidays will be Mondays or Saturdays.

Some, like Memorial Day, May 30, are on Sunday, making Monday a holiday.

July 4 also is a Sunday, with Monday listed as a holiday. Labor Day, the first Monday in September is Sept. 6 this year.

Thanksgiving, as usual, is a Thursday—Nov. 25. Christmas falls on Saturday; New Year's Day also Saturday.

Lincoln's birthday is Friday, Feb. 12, while Washington's birthday in Monday Feb. 22 Sunday, Feb. 14, is St. Valentine's Day. Columbus Day is Tuesday, Oct. 12, Nov. 11, Armistice Day is a Thursday. Good Friday is April 16—Easter is two weeks later this year than last.

Halloween falls on Sunday, Oct. 31. St. Swithin's Day is July 15, a Thursday. Legend has it that if it rains on this date it will continue for the next 40 days.

Mother's Day, the second Sunday in May, falls on May 9 this year. Sunday, June 20 is Father's Day. Don't forget the birthdays of relatives and your wife's anniversaries. And your federal income tax is due March 15. That's a Monday.

Jesus and Nicodemus CHRIST TELLS HIM HE MUST BE "BORN AGAIN"

Scripture—John 3.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. THE VISIT of Nicodemus to Jesus shows us how far-reaching and widespread was the influence of Christ's teaching and His actions throughout the Jewish world. Not only were they discussed among the poor and sick who were the recipients of His miracles of healing, but also among the highest church dignitaries, and this, at the beginning of His ministry.

Nicodemus was an educated and cultured man, a Pharisee and member of the powerful Sanhedrin, and called "a ruler of the Jews." His visit was made at night, possibly because he did not wish his associates to know of it, or else because he wanted to see Jesus when He was alone, not surrounded by a great throng of people, which was usually the case.

Nicodemus addressed the Master with great respect, saying, "Rabbi, we know that Thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles eternal life. For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

"For God sent not His son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through Him might be saved."

"He that believeth on Him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God."

Evil men love the darkness rather than the light, said Jesus. "But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, and his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God."

We are not told what Nicodemus answered to these teachings of Jesus, and we do not read of him again until Jesus was crucified, when John tells us that when Joseph of Arimathea took the body of Jesus from the cross, Nicodemus came with precious spices to embalm His body.

that Thou doest except God be with him." Jesus' reply amazed and puzzled Nicodemus: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

How can a grown man be born again? Nicodemus asked. "Except a man be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

"The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the Spirit."

"How can these things be?" Nicodemus asked. "Jesus answered and said, Art thou a master of Israel, and knowest not these things?"

"We speak what we know, and testify that we have seen, and ye receive not our witness. If I have told you earthly things, and ye believe not, how shall ye believe if I tell you heavenly things?"

"And no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven."

"And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE
DALE still augmented her long-distance calls to Swanscombe by the regular Thursday letters. I think I am finding my place here, Grandy, she wrote in one of her letters. At least, I am not stuck fast in yesterday.

Good, the old man wrote back. Keep busy, and you won't have time to delve into tomorrow's news.

Sound advice, and Dale leaned gratefully on the strength of it, although when she quoted that part of Grandy's letter to Andrea, the young concert pianist said quietly, "You could have thought that through yourself, you know. It's not so profound. It's just another 'Grandy said, isn't it?'"

"What's wrong with that?" Dale countered defensively.

"Nothing—if you were six years old. At that age you need a directive finger. I'd just like to see that grandfater of yours hand me blue-prints for my life!"

On the evening before Don Parish left for the conference in Canada he and Dale dined together on the east side at Wivel's Swedish smorgasbord. The atmosphere was informal, the music and food good. Dale had dined here once with Phil, and they had placed hilarious wagers on the number of return trips an obese couple near by would make to replenish their plates.

Watching mounds after mounds of food steadily vanish, Phil had murmured to Dale, "No profit for Wivel's on those two—and you owe me a buck!"

If Don was not as lively a dinner companion as his brother, he also was not too firm, once Dale led the conversation around to the forthcoming conference.

"It's to be a sort of international exchange of ideas," he explained. "What goes on, and why, in the upper atmosphere. The topics will have a bearing on guided missiles, radar and high-frequency radio, with physicists from Germany, France, Norway, Sweden and Britain."

Dale smiled. "You must feel fully superior up there with all those top minds."

"And I sound like a stuffy old fogey!"

"No. But I do wonder why you bothered with me tonight. Shouldn't you be making a last-minute check of facts and figures, to have it all at your fingertips?"

"Yes, and I feel like a twelve-year-old truant," he said with enormous satisfaction. "Would you like to dance?"

Since that first night, Don was markedly improved. Tonight there was no need for apologies over his clumsiness, as they moved smoothly around the floor.

"I feel tense coils unwinding," he said, as they returned to their table. "I've been more keyed-up than I realized. I suppose there's such a thing as over-concentration, like overtraining for an athlete."

"In other words," Dale said teasingly, "a date with me is only a means to an end."

"You are good for me, Dale," he said unexpectedly serious.

She lifted her eyes unreservedly to his. "And you, for me," she told him.

It was the truth. Don, self-reliant and undemanding, was a preventive against the emotion that Phil could arouse in her. Her responsiveness was something of which, lately, she was increasingly aware. It was involuntary and disconcerting, with Don, who had no matrimonial ideas in his head, and who did or said nothing to stir her from her detachment, she felt safe.

It would have been awkward to try to explain that to Don, although Phil would have understood. Too well! Phil would laugh straight into her eyes and want to know what was wrong with being human. And why fight it?

Don was drawing a circle with his fork on the tablecloth. Something in his avoidance of her eyes revealed embarrassment. Of shyness. Finally, with a rueful grin, he said, "I haven't known many girls. I never had time for them, and when I did take one out we'd bog down on small talk and she'd stifle yawns. I had one topic of conversation: science. Not a moonlight-and-roses theme! It made me a very dull companion—undoubtedly it still does."

"No," she protested. "You're a very dull companion—undoubtedly it still does."

He grimaced. "Is that a compliment?"

"Certainly." But to clarify it, she turned serious. "So many people push at me, Don, I have to keep edging away from demands I can't answer."

His fork pressed four tiny holes in the cloth. "Dale, does Phil—"

He broke off, reddening to his ears. "Forgive me. Nothing gives me the right to ask a question like that. It's out as evidence of my social clumsiness, will you? But—don't let my brother make a nuisance of himself, Dale."

She smiled. "I can handle Phil! But she thought, Why should it trouble Don?"

"Phil," Don was saying, "has a way with girls. He always did."

A shift of tone, and it would have been derogatory or disloyal. Sensitive to his inflection, Dale said teasingly, "You sound wistful!"

"Just jealous maybe." He grinned.

She looked incredulous. "But that's ridiculous! Phil envies you."

"Oh rot. Why?"

"Your brilliance. Yours, and Andrea's. Your conspicuous success

Pedaled Bicycle 700 Miles To Be With Grandma

ATLANTA (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Warren Shuey Jr. was homesick for Dixie and his grandmother's fried chicken—so he pedaled his bicycle about 700 miles from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta.

Warren said he left home on his bicycle Jan. 6 and that his parents thought he was headed for school. Instead, he kept on pedaling southward.

He traveled about 100 miles a day and slept in tourist courts at night. His baggage was limited to a couple of extra shirts and his Bible.

"I read my Bible every night and then prayed that I was doing the right thing," Warren said.

Mrs. Beulah Brannon the grandmother, said the parents have given permission for Warren to remain with her.

The Shuey family formerly lived in Atlanta.

Shopping Around To Find Measles

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—Anybody got a case of red measles they'll share with Shirley Ann Thurmond?

The 2½-year-old girl is suffering with nephrosis, a kidney disease, and her doctor thinks measles would help combat the more serious malady.

But Henderson County doesn't have a single case of red measles in the infectious stage. The child would have to be exposed to a case during the incubation period.

Her father, Eugene Thurmond, said: "We would take her any place if we could find a case in the right stage."

Late In Learning Divorce Granted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Middlesex Probate Judge John C. Leggat yesterday took under consideration the case of a wife who was divorced 18 years ago but didn't know it. Mrs. Tovia Jokinen, 44, of Stowe testified she went to court in 1935 to have her husband stop beating her and support herself and their two children.

She said they were reconciled later that year and have since had three more children. She told the court she decided she wanted a divorce last summer after her husband disappeared. It was then her lawyer learned she was divorced in 1935.

Animals Try To Break Into Zoo

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Animals in the San Antonio Zoo never had it so good. That must be the reasoning of wildlife outside the zoo, Director Fred Stark says.

Stark revealed yesterday in a report to the San Antonio Zoological Society that during 1953 he trapped a total of 85 wild animals trying to break into the zoo.

Included were 44 skunks, 37 opossums, 3 raccoons and 1 ring-tail tail cat.

Farouk's Mother Now In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The mother of deposed King Farouk of Egypt is in St. Vincent's Hospital for observation.

Hospital attendants said last night Queen Mother Nazli Foad I, undergoing tests and her condition is not serious. She was treated for a kidney ailment at Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., on three occasions between 1947 and 1950.

Run Over Twice By Same Driver

ATLANTA (AP)—Donald Lingerfelt, 15, was run over twice in a matter of minutes by the same hit-and-run driver but came out with only minor injuries.

Riding his bicycle last night, he was run down by an automobile. The driver stopped, then backed the wheels of the car over the boy's legs, and sped away.

Doctors there said injuries on the youngsters head and legs were slight.

At the time of its burial in a volcanic eruption in 79 A.D., Pompeii was six centuries old.

You can get an awful crick in your neck from forever looking up." She added, "It can make you feel inferior."

It was Don's turn to be unbelieving. "Phil's the most cocksure man I've ever known!"

"Why do you think he took a year off to write that book?" Don laughed disparagingly. "Everyone thinks he can write a book. I could myself, if I had time. That was a whim. Something he had to get out of his system."

"It was more than that," Dale said positively. "Phil was trying to prove something to himself."

"The book was a dud, so what does that prove?"

"When failure is a degree up in growth, it ought to go by another name," she said thoughtfully. "I think Phil has—grown."

"That bluff-brain," Don said affectionately.

She formulated a swift denial, but astonishment held back the words. That Don's rallery should have put her on the defensive, and aligned her on Phil's side, was in itself a revelation. It silenced Dale and Don, back on the subject of the conference was unaware of the storm he had aroused in Dale.

Announcing The New Packard CLIPPER

The new Packard CLIPPER Panama Hardtop! Sportiest car in the new CLIPPER line.

See the 1954 Packard line at your dealer's beginning Friday, January 15th.

America's Newest Medium-Priced Car!

Luxury at a lot less...because Packard builds it

A year ago the Packard CLIPPER was introduced as America's newest medium-priced car.

- And men who know were quick to say: "That's a lot of car for the money!"
- And it was a lot of car for the money. And it is a lot of car for the money. Because Packard builds it.

So the news spread!

- And in 1954 the new CLIPPER brings you fine-car luxuries, fine-car power, fine-car ride... (the high-price features everybody wants)... and yet at a popular, medium price!
- We have built a finer car for '54 because experience in '53 proved that there are many thousands of Americans who want a true luxury car in the medium-price range.
- Most cars in the medium-price field are simply big brothers of smaller cars made by the same company. These cars may offer the modern gadgets and the smooth look of the big car, but in most cases their basic engineering is still influenced by small-car engineering.
- "Packard-built" makes the difference
- No feature or claim will ever give you a more powerful reason for buying a CLIPPER than the name Packard.
- You'll find the reason when you take command of a Packard CLIPPER and put it through its paces over a road of your own choosing. Make that date with "Packard-built quality at a popular, medium price" very soon... won't you?
- You'll get luxury for a lot less in a Packard CLIPPER.

Since you can't test the new Packard CLIPPER at the famous Packard Proving Ground, get the story, fact by fact, on the pocket proving ground at your dealer's. But don't stop there! For the real thrill, drive a CLIPPER.

Plus state and local taxes, if any, for Clipper Special Club Sedan (illustrated at top). Optional equipment, including white leather tires, extra. Prices may vary slightly in nearby communities due to shipping charges.

Did you know you can buy a Packard CLIPPER for as little as $2655

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK—A new recovery high was reached today by the stock market in its fourth straight advance.

Prices were up at the best between 1 and 2 points; losses were small.

Trading hit a fast pace on the rise and expanded well beyond yesterday's 1,530,000 shares.

The market on average attained a peak early in December in its recovery drive from the mid-September lows. Yesterday the market matched that average price level, and today it moved into new high ground—the best in nearly eight months.

Motors, steels, and the railroads were prime participants in the move ahead, but all divisions enjoyed the benefits of the rise.

Among higher stocks were New York Central, Northern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, American Telephone, Du Pont, General Electric, American Tobacco, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, National Distillers, and Radio Corp.

Superior Oil of California was up 38 at 690. It was up 17 two days ago.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco "B" added a fraction after directors declared a dividend of 90 cents as against 80 cents previously.

Merchant Board Meets Monday

The newly elected Board of Directors of the local Merchants Association will hold its first regular monthly meeting Monday night at 8 p. m. in the Association office at City Hall.

Reports and accomplishments of 1953 will be made and reviewed by the Board. Also the past year's treasurer summary and plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Newly elected President B. D. Johnston will make committee appointments for 1954 Monday night also.

Courtesy Parking

A discussion will be held by the Board on the Courtesy Parking plan in effect here. Figures show now that the Association is going in the "red" approximately $5.00 each week.

When the plan was begun last April and for sometime thereafter, the returned nickels were as much as the output, but now the return of nickels has dropped off.

Notes of thanks from local people and out-of-town visitors are still received when given a courtesy parking envelope instead of a violation ticket so expressions from the members of the Association are requested.

COOLER RECORD

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—What local dealers say is the largest air conditioning system ever installed in an existing building has been ordered for the 29-story Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Building here. It will have a cooling capacity equal to five million pounds of ice melting daily.

Committee For Farmers' Day To Meet Wednesday

A meeting of the Farmer's Day Committee will be held next Wednesday night to wind up business of the 1953 Farmers Day and to elect officers for 1954 it was announced today.

According to Jack Wallace, president Farmers Day, Inc., this meeting is usually held in May, but this year it has been moved up to January to give the new committee more ample time for preparation.

Two representatives from the Greenville Exchange Club, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Lions Club, the Merchants Association, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Tobacco Board of Trade will serve on the committee.

Petitions Due By January 30

Greenville City Manager James S. Hughes said this morning that all paving and curb and gutter petitions must be in his office by January 30 in order to be presented for construction during 1954.

The city manager stated that all petitions will be presented to the City Council at their meeting on February 1st.

At that time, he added, the Council will decide if all of them can be constructed in 1954.

Square Dances Drawing Crowds

The square dances at West Greenville School on Wednesday nights, under auspices of the Greenville Recreation Commission, continue to draw crowds. Admission is free.

J. Bryan Brown, chairman of the midweek dance committee, said the dances are attracting family groups and others.

Recreation Director Warren Carroll announced that beginning next Thursday night, January 21, they will start holding classes for beginners. Music is furnished from records, and they include instructions from well known dance teachers.

The regular square dances are held Wednesday nights at 8 o'clock.

Grifton Mothers In Polio Funds March

GRIFTON—Next Wednesday between the hour of six and seven p. m. a group of mothers will blitz the town as part of the town's efforts for the 1954 March of Dimes campaign.

On that night, an army of volunteers, most of them mothers, will call at all the homes in town to collect March of Dimes contributions. This example of motherhood arrayed against polio will be enacted in villages, towns and cities throughout the nation.

Mrs. James Rooley, chairman of the local drive, has recently released plans for the drive which is being sponsored by the local chapter of the P.T.A.

For the Mothers' March Grifton has been divided into twenty-two districts. The mothers will begin their solicitations from their homes and will gather at the school when they have finished in their area.

The districts and those collecting include: District 1, Mrs. E. J. Hmlewski; District 2, Mrs. C. E. Stone and Mrs. J. D. Boone; District 3, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. A. A. Gould; District 4, Mrs. Joe Herbert and Mrs. A. E. Daniels; District 5, Mrs. Clinton Jones and Mrs. Frank Davis; District 6, Mrs. Leonard and Mrs. Paul Lovette; District 7, Mrs. W. E. Johnson; District 8, Mrs. F. J. Hudson and Mrs. W. Skelton; District 9, Mrs. H. W. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Wiley Gaskins; District 10, Mrs. Tucker McGlohon and Mrs. J. R. Goolsby; District 11, Mrs. Cecil Wright and Mrs. Bill Mahler; District 12, Mrs. E. C. Mooney and Mrs. H. L. Worthington; District 13, Mrs. J. H. Bass and Mrs. B. C. Troutman; District 14, Mrs. Ed Bright and Mrs. Jack Calvert; District 15, Mrs. Sam Nelson and Mrs. Frederic Cox; District 16, Mary Dawson McCotter and Mrs. N. S. Janetos; District 17, Mrs. Clifton Baldwin and Mrs. Claud Hart; District 18, Mrs. Bryan Davis, Mrs. Bill Daws, and Mrs. Richard Nelson; District 19, Mrs. Heber Wade; District 20, Mrs. Milton Hart and Mrs. Archie Rogers; District 21, Mrs. John Groet and Mrs. Julius Chaucey; and District 22, Mrs. H. N. Reis and Mrs. L. O. Posey.

Mrs. Edward Hart and Mrs. Tom Gower are soliciting the merchants and Mrs. Joe House and Mrs. S. E. Coffman will be on the sound car.

The campaigns in the white and colored schools are being conducted by the schools on a competitive basis. The P.T.A. is donating a cash prize for the grades raising the most money.

Mrs. Norman Webb, Mrs. P. Shute, Mrs. Charlie Butcher, and Mrs. Charles Kline were in charge of the distribution of posters, test tubes and coin collectors.

Mrs. Robert Mewborn and Mrs. Frances Shackelford divided the town into districts and are assisting in other capacities for the drive.

Although charcoal has been made for centuries, modern methods of heating wood in retorts and recovering such by-products as wood tar, acetone and acetic acid is comparatively modern.
