Korea Peace Talk Seen By Big Four

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
BERLIN (AP)—British informants said today the Big Four plan to hold a Korean peace parley in Geneva about April 15. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is consulting with the Red Chinese regime at Peking on the details of its participation in the parley.

These were the developments from the foreign ministers' conference this afternoon as it neared its close.

Earlier American authorities said the Big Four had approached agreement on the Geneva parley, awaiting only Molotov's concurrence in a clause spelling out that the meeting itself would not constitute U.S. recognition of the Peking government.

The Geneva meeting would be the one major dividend from the otherwise fruitless Berlin conference.

Secretary of State Dulles, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault went into their sixth secret session with Molotov today hoping that no last-minute maneuver on his part would make a Korean conference agreement impossible.

Highly placed informants said the Western ministers still were insistent that the conference initially include only the 20 governments most interested in the Korean War—the 16 U.N. members which sent troops there, South Korea, Communist North Korea, Red China and Russia. They insisted such neutrals as India be barred.

Agreement to hold a Korean conference would be the only major accord produced by the foreign ministers in their 25 days of debate. On the major conference issues—reunification of Germany and independence for Austria—the ministers wound up in hopeless deadlock.

Against the background of failure on European problems, Dulles declared the Western Powers will continue to guard Berlin as the

Rebel Vietminh Troops Fall Back To Escape Fight

Advancing French Seek Contact; Planes Strafe Red Positions

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Crack rebel Vietminh troops surrounding France's northwest Indochina fortress of Dien Bien Phu moved still farther back today to escape battle-seeking French forces.

Gen. Rene Cogy's troops pushed three to five miles north and west of the heavily fortified plain without contact.

Cogy, French commander in north Indochina, for several days has been sending out 4,000 to 5,000 troops daily in an attempt to draw major units of the estimated 36,000 Vietminh soldiers into battle. The rebels have been entrenched around Dien Bien Phu for three months but have never attacked.

French airmen in American-supplied warplanes strafed and bombed the Vietminh positions around the plain for the 62nd straight day. French army sources said the mounting air attacks made it increasingly unlikely that the Vietminh would try a full-fledged assault on Dien Bien Phu.

French fighter pilots strafed the Red supply lines by bright moonlight following daylight attacks, during which B26 bombers dropped napalm on troop concentrations and supply dumps.

The French reported the rebel troops were scattered and dozens of supply dumps destroyed.

In Saigon, meanwhile, French Commissioner General Maurice Dejean denied "emphatically and categorically" that the French had contacted Chinese Communist or Vietminh representatives with a view toward peace negotiations.

His denial followed rumors in Hanoi that a Chinese Communist delegation—disguised as a team of either football or table tennis players—had crossed from China into North Viet Nam as a preliminary to armistice talks.

Security Firings Total Is Raised

Officially Disclose 29 Gov't Firings For Disloyalty; Administration Acts On 2,200 Security Risk Cases

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of officially disclosed 1953 government firings for disloyalty reasons rose to 29 today as the administration took steps toward analyzing 2,200 "security risk" cases.

The figure of 29 covers only five big departments whose officials have been questioned about security separations by the House Appropriations Committee and whose testimony has been made public. The same departments reported 437 "security risks" had been dropped.

Most recent agency to report was the Commerce Department. In testimony made public today, Asst. Secretary James C. Worthing told the committee 132 security firings or forced resignations last year included 23 persons classified as "cases involving alleged subversion or disloyalty."

Previously, the Justice Department had reported 1 former Communist among its 8 security firings; the Treasury Department had listed 4 disloyalty cases among 130 dismissals; the Agriculture Department had told of 1 disloyalty case in an undisclosed number of security firings in the State Department, with 11 or 12 involving disloyalty.

On that basis, with the State Department figures unofficial, the committee has received reports showing that out of 971 security cases in six departments, 40 or 41 have involved persons found or suspected to be disloyal.

The State Department already has given its figures but the committee has not released them. Reportedly, there have been 534 security firings in the State Department figures unofficial, the committee has received reports showing that out of 971 security cases in six departments, 40 or 41 have involved persons found or suspected to be disloyal.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) said, meanwhile, the administration's promise of a limited analysis of the security risks will not stop his demands for a Senate investigation of the whole issue.

Johnston told reporters the promised analysis "could mean anything—it only confuses the confusion." He said that as he understands the plan the analysis will leave many questions unanswered and there is no assurance the administration will make it public.

Announcement that the Civil Service Commission had ordered an analysis of the 2,200 cases was made late yesterday by Chairman Philip Young.

Young said it would be "futile and meaningless" to attempt an analysis assigning a specific reason for separation in each case. He said it would be the rare case in which only one reason was involved.

He said he had requested from employing agencies the number separated whose personnel files contained information indicating (1) subversive activities or associations; (2) sex perversion; (3) conviction on felony or misdemeanor charges; and (4) any other type of information falling within the government security regulations.

Reds Order Out East Berliners For Mass March

Hundred Thousand Workers In Demonstration Supporting Molotov

BERLIN (AP)—A hundred thousand East Berlin workers assembled on Unter den Linden today under heavy Soviet military police guard for a Communist-ordered demonstration supporting Soviet proposals on Germany. A rival "silent march" of protest against Russian tactics in the Big Four meeting was authorized to start later in the day in West Berlin.

The Red MPs were stationed at major intersections of the main East Berlin street and patrolled in East out two miles to Stalin Alley. All regular traffic was blocked hours before the big East German march was scheduled to get underway this afternoon.

Communist union bosses herded the workers from their jobs to demonstrate their "support" of Soviet Russia. The demonstrators brought along red flags and big transparencies bearing slogans in praise of Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's "peace proposals" at the Big Four conference ending here today and denouncing the West's European Defense Community as a "war treaty."

Before assembling at their parade route on Unter den Linden, the workers also had to sign pledges to work nights or Sundays to make up for lost time today.

Meanwhile West Berlin police reluctantly gave permission for more than 30,000 anti-Communist trade unionists to stage a rival "silent march" of protest against Molotov's refusal to unify Germany by a free election.

Fearing Communist squads would provoke a riot during the Western march, police countermanded union instructions to have the demonstration pass by the Allied Control Authority Building in the American sector, where the last session of the Big Four conference was being held.

Manion Dismissal Sets Off Outcry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mason (R-Ill.) today resigned from President Eisenhower's Commission on Inter-Governmental Relations in protest against the dismissal of Clarence Manion as chairman.

And from several Republican senators there was a chorus of outcry against the White House treatment of Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame Law School.

Manion disclosed late yesterday that he had resigned by request. He declared he had been let out because he supports a proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to limit treaty powers.

Manion said his resignation was requested by Sherman Adams, presidential aide.

Since Manion was a presidential appointee, Adams obviously could not have acted without Eisenhower's approval.

Mason, in a statement announcing he was resigning, directed his fire at Adams.

Mason said Adams' action "smacks of autocratic dictatorship" and puts the commission "in the same helpless condition as a strong man would be with his head suddenly severed from his body."

He called Manion "one of the biggest men in the country—a man big enough and capable enough to be President of the United States."

"For a man of that calibre to be fired from a position of national importance by a presidential assistant because of his expressed convictions that we need the Bricker amendment is nothing short of a national calamity," Mason added. "Such action smacks of autocratic dictatorship."

The Senate was debating the Bricker amendment yesterday when it received word of Manion's dismissal.

Bricker, whose amendment has been opposed vigorously by President Eisenhower, arose to tell his colleagues "there is a threatening storm ahead when men of great ability who do not see alike with

One Cavern Explorer Is Returned To Open Skies

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—The outside world looked good today to Marguerite M. Klein, a school-teacher-explorer who found Crystal Cave's rugged depths too much for her strength.

She admitted she was "glad to be out" when fellow explorers in an extensive scientific expedition brought her to the outside last night over and around dangerous pits and crevices.

Samuel Aston Loyd, 30, an engineer from Waynesboro, Va., who helped lead the 27-year-old Chevy Chase, Md., teacher out of the cave, said:

"We put a rope around her to safety her across Bottomless Pit. She had to stop frequently for breathing."

Bottomless Pit is a 100-foot drop inside a tight-squeeze crawlway. The trail narrows down to about

Begin Debate On Nominee Beeson

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate squared off today for bitter debate on the nomination of Albert C. Beeson to the National Labor Relations Board, with indications that he will be confirmed by a slim margin.

Republicans appeared to be lined up solidly behind the 47-year-old California businessman named to the NLRB by President Eisenhower. Most Democrats indicated they would vote against him, but there were exceptions.

One of these was Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who said in an interview: "I think I'll support him. If there is no conflict of interest—and my investigation doesn't disclose it—I'll be for him."

The six Democrats on the Senate Labor Committee, which questioned Beeson at length, accused him of giving the committee what they called "deceptive and misleading testimony" on three counts.

In a formal report to the Senate, the committee minority said Beeson gave "false" testimony when he said that he "had resigned from the Food Machinery and Chemical Corp." and "had given up his pension rights" and "had not made statements appearing in the San Jose Mercury."

Beeson was vice president of the food machinery firm, at San Jose, Calif., before being named to the NLRB.

The Democrats declared he "withheld information of importance and revealed facts only with reluctance and when confronted with contradictions in his own testimony."

Labor Committee Republicans filed a last-minute report expressing full confidence in Beeson. They noted that he has now submitted a written resignation to his old employer and said:

"This resignation completely dispels the alleged 'conflict of interest' which Democrats have said would make Beeson unfit for a job on a semi-judicial agency, such as the NLRB."

Eisenhower named Beeson to a one-year term on the NLRB early last month. Since last August the board has had only four members and more than 30 cases are reported deadlocked. Beeson's confirmation would break any deadlocks that might exist between Eisenhower appointees and holdovers from the Truman administration.

Visiting President Of Turkey Feted

RALEIGH (AP)—President Celal Bayar of Turkey today thanked Raleigh citizens for "a shining example of Southern hospitality" as the city welcomed the President and his wife on a two-day visit to North Carolina.

Bayar was greeted by Mayor Fred Wheeler and other city and state officials following an early morning parade from the special train cars carrying the official party on their tour of this country.

The red flag with white crescent and star of the Republic of Turkey flew from the State Capitol and numerous other flags lined the street along the parade route. School children waved Turkish and U. S. flags and shouted greetings.

Secretary of State Dan Bure welcomed the President at the train station in the absence of Gov. Unstead, who is on vacation. President and Madame Bayar rode with Mrs. Unstead in the state's official car at the head of the parade.

Around 1,000 citizens crowded around the official stand before City Hall for the welcoming ceremonies.

Speaking through an interpreter, the 70-year-old Turkish leader promised the continued cooperation of his country with the United States in efforts for world peace. Turkish soldiers in Korea, Bayar declared, gave active proof of his country's intentions.

"Our sons were proud to fight alongside the courageous sons of America in Korea," he added.

Mayor Wheeler read a proclamation setting aside the week of the President's visit as "Republic of Turkey Week," and pointed out Turkey is similar to North Carolina in many respects. Both have a cotton and tobacco among principal agricultural products, he said.

As a gift from the city, Wheeler presented the President and his wife with a set of plates especially designed and made by the ceramics department at North Carolina State College to commemorate the visit.

Visitor Smashes Churchill Image

LONDON (AP)—The wax figures of Prime Minister Churchill and two members of his Cabinet were smashed to smithereens by a man with a hammer at famed Madame Tussaud's museum today.

While a party of schoolgirls looked on in horror, museum attendants grappled with the attacker and pinned him down until police arrived to arrest him. The man was not immediately identified nor was his motive made clear.

"He was our first visitor of the day," a museum official said. "He went straight up to our Cabinet group, took the hammer out of the black brief case he was carrying and set about our models."

"First of all he went for Sir Winston Churchill and smashed that model completely. Then he went for Sir David Maxwell Fyfe and smashed that. Next he pushed Mr. Peter Thorneycroft over and that smashed, too."

"He was just setting about Lord Leathers when attendants interfered."

Sir David is Britain's home secretary and Thorneycroft is president of the Board of Trade. Viscount Leathers was former transport, fuel and power coordinator, a ministerial post.

Reginald Edds, an official of the museum, estimated damage at 1,000 pounds ($2,800) and said it would take two months to replace the models.

Sir Winston's wax face was smashed into 30 pieces. It was the third model of him and was installed in the museum's grand hall in 1944. The first model was destroyed by fire in 1928 and Churchill outgrew the second, which was made in 1928.

Shrine Ceremonial Set May 25, 26 In Greenville

The Spring Ceremonial of Sudan Shrine Temple will be held in Greenville May 25 and 26, according to official announcement made here yesterday.

The ceremonial was unanimously awarded to Greenville at the business meeting during the regular Winter Ceremonial in New Bern the latter part of January.

Noble C. Mack Clark, Dragoman of Sudan Temple, conferred with members of the local steering committee Tuesday night to outline preliminary plans for the ceremony.

The affair will be held at East Carolina College, and a portion of the college's dormitories will be used to help house the thousands of visitors expected here for the occasion. This event immediately follows college commencement.

Noble Clark estimated that there would be between 5,000 and 7,000 Shriners and their ladies in attendance, in addition to thousands of visitors that will come in from surrounding communities to witness the parade and other outdoor events staged in connection with the ceremony.

He emphasized the point that the 25 special committees would receive the services of all the 250 Shriners of Pitt County.

Following Clark's visit here, the steering committee, headed by L.M. Buchanan, met yesterday morning and began naming committee chairmen and co-chairmen.

The preliminary work will get underway immediately with a meeting scheduled with Potentate Ed Rooker, Mayor of Warrenton, March 2, to discuss the plans that are being worked out.

Austrian Offer Cold-Shouldered By Soviet Russia

BERLIN (AP)—Austria offered today to extend the occupation rights of the Big Four powers to June 30, 1955 if they grant her independence at once—but Russia refused.

In a dramatic last-minute attempt to liberate his little nation from foreign troops, Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl made two separate proposals. Each time Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said no.

The first would have extended the time for occupation troops to withdraw to mid-1955.

The second would have given chiefs of the American, British, French and Soviet diplomatic missions in Vienna control functions for an indefinite period after the independence treaty was signed and military evacuation was carried out.

Soviet rejection was flat and complete.

Finds Escape In Playing 'Arab'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Here's a tip for officers who serve subpoenas and folks who are served with them.

Deputy U.S. Marshal Ellis Binford works it this way:

When a secretary asks him to wait, Binford pulls a newspaper printed in Arabic out of his pocket. After glancing at it, he appears to spot an item of terrific interest and starts making strange, excited noises.

Usually the secretary rushes to tell her boss about the strange man. The boss comes out to see him and Binford serves the subpoena.

Training Offer Coolly Received

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American move to help train anti-Communist Indo-Chinese troops appeared certain today to run into strong opposition from top French government and army leaders.

There were solid signs that if France accepts this American suggestion it will do so reluctantly.

French military authorities were reported convinced they are training loyal Indo-Chinese recruits as fast as humanly possible and that American aid in this task is not needed.

To back up their arguments, French diplomats reported today plans to mobilize an additional 108 "commando" battalions of anti-Communist troops this year. If this goal is met, they emphasized, loyal Indo-Chinese forces will total some 320,000, outnumbering the 300,000 Communist force for the first time.

Coupled with the 170,000-man French Expeditionary Corps, this would give anti-Communist forces a 5-3 manpower advantage unprecedented in the bloody seven-year-old conflict.

The Defense Department disclosed late yesterday that it has informally proposed that the French allow Americans to help train native forces, mainly Viet Nam recruits. It reported Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, commander of American Army forces in the Pacific, would be sent to Indochina to head an enlarged American military mission which would have some training responsibilities, if the French agreed.

The Pentagon explained that the matter so far is being discussed via military rather than diplomatic channels.

The French Embassy, commenting on the Pentagon statement, said emphatically it knew of no formal request of this kind. Diplomatic spokesmen made clear their opinion that any such American bid would have to be decided on a high diplomatic level.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said O'Daniel's possible mission was discussed in detail by Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Under Secretary of State Walter B. Smith in a closed-door meeting with committee members Tuesday.

Assistant Police Chief Dorsey Succumbs; Funeral Held Today

Greenville Assistant Police Chief Captain S. Bowen Dorsey, 63, died yesterday at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Captain Dorsey had suffered a heart attack last Saturday and doctors said he also had pneumonia. He suffered a heart attack last fall, according to Police Chief S. G. Gibbs.

"A native of Abbeville, Ga., he had served in law enforcement for 40 years. He became Chief of Police of Headland, Ala. in 1914 and served in that capacity for two years.

In 1916 Captain Dorsey was named deputy sheriff of Henry County, Ala., where he remained for four years.

From there he came to North Carolina and was police chief of Fremont for one and one-half years, moving to Wilson as police chief from 1923 to 1927.

He went from Wilson to Raleigh as Deputy Warden of the State Prison, where he stayed until 1935. In 1935 he came to Greenville as a police officer. In 1943 he became the Pitt County ABC officer.

Again in 1945 Captain Dorsey moved to Raleigh where he was

More Evidence On Cigarette Effect Needed

NEW YORK (AP)—A cancer statistical analyst says more evidence is needed before any definite conclusion can be drawn linking cigarette smoking with lung cancer.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, director of statistical research for the American Cancer Society, in a paper presented yesterday, before the American Historical Assn., said other factors besides the increase in cigarette smoking are "under suspicion for the increase in lung cancer."

He cited soot and fumes from coal and oil furnaces, fumes from motor vehicles, dust from asphalt roads and rubber tires.

He said, "It is not inconceivable that cigarette smoking has certain beneficial effects," adding that cigarette smoke kills certain bacteria. He did not elaborate.

Wilmington Port On Inside Track

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—M. P. McLean, president of the McLean Trucking Co., says his company favors Wilmington as Southern headquarters port for its new land-sea trucking service.

McLean said yesterday he had conferred with the State Ports Authority about establishing the Southern headquarters of the 50-million-dollar service at Wilmington. But he said another meeting within two or three weeks will be necessary before a final decision is made.

McLean also revealed that Charleston, S. C., had entered the picture. "But everything being equal," he said, "we would favor Wilmington."

If Wilmington is picked, a 2½-million-dollar port facility will be built. Col. Richard S. Marr, executive director of the State Ports Authority, said yesterday that if the new terminal is built at Wilmington it will add about 1,000 additional workers.

Under the McLean land-sea service announced Tuesday, trailers will be driven onto ocean-going vessels. Each ship will be able to carry 240 loaded trailers.

Highway Commissioner Backs City In Bid For Right-Of-Way

The City of Greenville is getting a helping hand from the Commissioner of the Second Highway Division in its effort to have the Civil Aeronautics Authority grant a highway right of way across a portion of the airport property.

Tuesday night in a special meeting the City Council authorized Mayor W. L. Wheeler to sign a petition to the CAA for a right of way across the property to permit the construction of a new highway and a new bridge across Tar River at Greenville.

Yesterday afternoon, Highway Commissioner Maynard Hicks of Snow Hill said he has written a letter to the CAA in support of the petition.

Hicks, in his letter to the CAA, said in part:

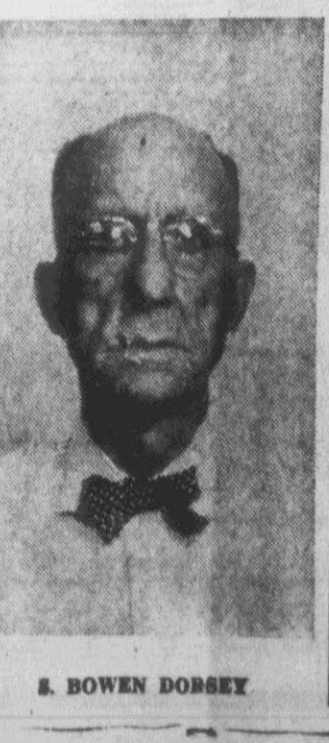

"The engineers have studied this project for quite some time and have been unable to find any location that would meet the needs and requirements except the location that is designated in the survey which will accompany this letter."

The survey proposes a new location of highway 11 north of Greenville to the west of the present location between Tar River and House Station.

Hicks' letter also advised the CAA: "The Highway Department is in full agreement with the proposed lines that are shown in this survey. If the Civil Aeronautics Authority can see their way clear to release their property so that the State Highway and Public Works Commission can be granted a right of way, it would be, in my opinion, one of the greatest assets to the State Highway System in the Second Division."

At its meeting Tuesday night, the City Council authorized City Engineer T. W. Rivers to go to Atlanta for a conference with CAA officials on the matter.

S. BOWEN DORSEY

Director of the Bureau of Identification in the Prison Division. In 1948 he came back to Greenville and has been here since. He was named captain and assistant chief of the local Police Department in the early part of 1952.

He was a member of the North Carolina Police Executive Association, the Pitt County Peace Officers Association and the Greenville Masonic Lodge and the Sudan Temple of the Shrine.

Funeral services were held at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel this afternoon at two o'clock. Members of the Greenville Police Department served as active pallbearers and as an honor guard at the funeral. Burial will be in Abbeville, Ga. Friday afternoon.

Captain Dorsey was the son of the late John D. and Sarah Bowen Dorsey. He attended school in Abbeville, Ga.

The assistant chief is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Estelle Glenn of Abbeville, Ga. and Miss Louise Dorsey of Wrightsville, Ga. He has several nephews and nieces, including one nephew in Raleigh.

Church Women Talk Plans To Raise Money For Building Fund

The women of Boyd's Presbyterian Church met Tuesday night, February 16, with Mrs. Thelma Evans with 18 women present. The meeting was called to order by the president, The Lord's Prayer was repeated in union. Mrs. K. O. Radford gave an interesting devotional taken from the fourth chapter of Nehemiah, telling of the church members who went ahead and worked, while others stood and looked on.
At the business session, several things were discussed in regard to raising money for the building fund. On the 23rd of February members will begin quilting bed quilts. A new project will begin at the next meeting.
After the meeting Mrs. Evans served delicious refreshments, Ritz, potato chips, salted peanuts and hot chocolate.
Mrs. Dickerson closed the meeting with a prayer.
The next meeting will be with Mrs. Martha Evans.
Sunday School and preaching are held each Sunday. Anyone who does not have a home church is invited to come out and worship with members of Boyd's Presbyterian Church.

Foreign Students Give Program For End of Century Club

The End of the Century Club met on February 16 with Mrs. James L. Fleming Jr. with 18 members present. Mrs. Fleming's home was bright with arrangements of spring flowers. After a short business session the hostess introduced her guests, Mrs. George Perry of the Foreign Language Department of East Carolina College, Senorita Leonor Padilla of Honduras, Central America, and Bert Hilleland of Norway. Mrs. Perry explained that Senorita Padilla is here at the college as an exchange student, and at her request Senorita Padilla told the club about her country and some of her experiences in the United States. She then sang two Spanish songs, accompanying herself on the guitar.
Bert Hilleland, who is at the college for this year on a Rotary scholarship, appeared in a beautiful native costume, taking the members of the club on an imaginary sight-seeing trip of Norway. She told of the industries, crops, schools and government in her country.
Both students charmed their audience by their gracious manner and informative conversation.

Film On Irrigation Shown At Fountain H. D. Meeting

The Fountain Home Demonstration Club held its annual February supper meeting with husbands and others as guests February 11 in Greenville at Respass-James Barbecue House. Mr. C. B. Joyner was asked to return thanks. Mrs. J. W. Gay, president, gave the welcome. The response was given by Mr. C. B. Joyner. A delicious meal of barbecued chicken, Brunswick stew, potatoes, slaw and corn sticks and dessert of pie a la mode was served, after which Mrs. Blanton Little and Mr. Claude Goodman, county agent, gave a demonstration entitled "Milk Makes the Difference" which was interesting and informative. Mrs. Gay then turned the meeting over to the recreation leader, Mrs. Alton Moore, who presented Mr. Stancil Dilda. Mr. Dilda showed a film on irrigation. He also gave some interesting figures on what irrigation has done in the past.
While preparing to play bingo, Coca-Colas were served by Mr. Albert Bell. Several prizes were awarded during the bingo hour.

Says Majority Enjoy Their Rut

BOSTON (AP)—A Boston business executive says the majority of workers are "good-natured slobs" who want to be left alone in routine jobs.
William H. Eastman, personnel director of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. said yesterday that "thousands resist promotions because they don't want to be lifted out of a rut."
escort the secretary, Lina Taylor, west of Esther's choir, then she read a poem in Mrs. Taylor's honor. The honoree was escorted to the East where she was presented with a gift as a token of appreciation of her work during the year.
This was followed by a refreshment hour which was enjoyed by the O.E.S. and their guests.

Belvoir H. D. Club Make Plans For Community Building

The Belvoir Home Demonstration Club held its annual joint meeting at the Home Ec. Cottage Feb. 4th at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. D. M. Hollowell presided.
The Valentine motif was carried out throughout the room and in the table decorations; also in the games, contests and refreshments.
The recreation leader, Mrs. Clarence Barnhill, entertained with several games and contests.
The Home Agent, Mrs. Milton May, gave a most interesting and helpful demonstration on "Milk Makes the Difference."
Mr. Sam Winchester, farm agent, gave a talk on "How to Produce Good Wholesome Milk."
The Home Ec. teacher, Mrs. Johnston, explained the adult class meeting which is to be held weekly for six weeks.
It was decided to build a community building as soon as possible. A committee of six was appointed to look after it getting started. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Barnhill, Mr. Earl Lewis, Mr. D. M. Hollowell, Mrs. Jesse Bullock and Mrs. Frank Clark.
Delicious refreshments were enjoyed by the club members, their husbands and several invited guests.

Strike The Spark By Collective Effort

Just how interested is Pitt County and its communities in obtaining additional industry for the section?

Superficially, at least, it is assumed that most every community in North Carolina is interested in obtaining new industry to bolster its economic situation. Yet, when it gets down to brass tacks, we sometimes wonder whether the apparent interest is genuine.

This week there was a meeting held in Greenville by officials from the Department of Conservation and Development which was supposed to be a workshop on ways and means for attracting industry to Pitt County. Every municipality in the county was invited to send two or more representatives to the conference with the department officials. Yet only Greenville was represented.

Of course, there are probably valid reasons why the other municipalities of the county were not represented at the meeting. Even so, the conspicuous absence of representatives of other communities at the meeting leaves a question of interest in new industry.

In the western and Piedmont sections of the state, the small cities and towns as well as the larger ones have exhibited positive, aggressive interest in obtaining new industry, and they have gained many new industries in that section. Industrial migration into that area has afforded a boost to the economy, and has given their economic situation a broader footing.

Industry has found good locations in small towns in that section just as it has in the larger towns.

The same thing should be true of the Eastern section if there can be developed as much active interest in the securing of new industries as has been in the case in other regions of the state.

The location of a new industry anywhere in Pitt County would be of benefit to people in every section of the county. Toward that goal, it seems to us, the several towns of the county should band together in a common purpose.

A spark of genuine industrial-mindedness in the like that which is prevalent among communities in Western North Carolina has yet to be struck in the East. If by their collective efforts, the communities of Pitt could strike that spark, it would greatly enhance the chances of bringing new industry into Pitt County as a supplement to the outstanding agricultural economy the county already enjoys.

South Korea Still Is A Problem Child

The United Nations is finding its armed ally, South Korea somewhat of a problem child in these days of truce in Korea.

Apparently too, individual chiefs in the South Korean government are finding other high officials problem children also.

The recent assertion by South Korean President Sygman Rhee that he might reopen the fighting war with the North Koreans posed a problem, and still does. A more recent problem has stemmed from the assertion of an ROK general that the remaining 3,000 Indian troops would not be permitted to leave Korea until certain Koreans were returned by the Indian government.

They are Koreans who asked to be sent to a neutral nation rather than being returned to either North or South Korea.

The threat was promptly refuted by the Foreign Minister of South Korea, and likewise Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has warned that the Eighth Army will see to it that the Indian troops are able to leave Korea as they have planned.

It was just another incident which could have touched off new trouble in the already troubled Far East.

If the South Koreans continue their antagonistic actions, they may get way off base one of these times and begin something that will engulf all the U.N. in an unnecessary shooting fight in their own nation.

Look For Dewey vs. FDR, Jr.

WASHINGTON—Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. will battle for the New York Governorship next year, according to current indications, in a contest that will rock both political parties. The outcome between these figures could determine the fate of both men, as well as that of President Eisenhower.

Dewey has only to bow to demands that he run again, which he is expected to do soon. Roosevelt has only to win the nomination, and leaders of the New York City and state organizations have started the movement. The Wagner-Lehman-Roosevelt faction scored a clear-cut sweep over the conservative Farley opposition in New York's Mayoralty election last fall, and in subsequent reshuffling of the state committee.

BROTHER WONT EMBARRASS "JUNIOR"—Roosevelt and his promoters scoff at the suggestion that James Roosevelt's far-off California marital difficulties will embarrass "Junior." They are now negotiating an alliance with Carmine G. DeSapio, Tammany Hall boss. Young Roosevelt's only likely competitor is Averell Harriman, whose wealth and manner of speech will militate against him.

Harriman may be dealt in with a place on the state ticket, or the promise of a senatorial nomination when Senator Herbert H. Lehman's term expires in 1956. DeSapio's clubhouse collectors of political dough yearn to get their hands into the money bags of the New Deal-Fair Deal capitalists.

DEWEY'S INNUENDO—Dewey hinted at his plans in a recent argument with New York businessmen and industrialists. They visited him in an attempt to persuade him to abandon his demand that Congress allocate development of water power on the Niagara River to New York State instead of private interests.

A bill for private construction and operation passed the House last year. Dewey blocked Senate action with a personal last-minute filibuster. He may be able to do so again at this session through a log-rolling tieup with public power advocates from TVA states and the Far West.

Somebody Told Me Premise Raises Objections

Several readers of yesterday's column have just as well as told me that I'm nuts! This is the gist of what I said: Men notice women more than women notice men.

"A woman will not let a man know it," one reader said, "but she will notice a man's walk, dress, physique, general looks in a split second. Naturally a woman cannot stare, for that would not be lady-like. Therefore, a woman trains herself to size up a man at a glance."

This reader prefers to remain anonymous, but he must have a point. He says that women notice even more features about a man than a man does about a woman.

But another reader disagrees. "How can women notice men when they are so busy noticing other women?" he asked. He, too, has a point. For example, there are plenty of women who have no interest in athletic contests at all (and some do not even understand the various games), yet they go simply to see other people, most especially what other women are wearing!

Let's agree on this point: Women notice other women more than men notice other men. On that point there should be no debate.

In arguments about the North versus the South, this same business of observation enters in. More accurately, you could probably say that the amount of observation varies in the larger cities over the smaller ones. In large cities, it seems that people simply do not notice each other at all, beyond the families and close friend. People live next door to each other and still do not even know their names.

Teenagers in my opinion top the lot when it comes to observing each other. They are more aware of each other's presence and make more ado over each other. Flirtation, as I remember, prevails more in high school than during any other age. And after all, what could be more fun than flirting?

Whether men or women do the most observing is a question that remains unanswered in my opinion. But one thing is certain: Both of them notice each other plenty. (Special note: Will the party who called me and left the number of 29—please call again? I lost the number.)

And I thank you.
JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

There'll Be Some Changes Made (Washington Daily News)

The coming of color television to Eastern North Carolina has caused some changes to be made.

These changes affect school children particularly. "I can't get Johnny to go to bed at night" is indicative of the situation many parents find themselves in today. "My boy just doesn't study his lessons like he used to do" is another expression that is being heard with much regularity. "Either we've got to get rid of television or the teachers will have to stop assigning home work" is another sentence making the rounds.

With each passing day there are many new TV sets being installed in the Pamlico area. Right now in Beaufort county alone there must be somewhere between 3,000 and 4,000 sets operating.

It is inevitable that with the coming of television some changes in the everyday routine of life must come also. It is a predicament which parents must face whether they want to do so or not.

Children will be children, and no parent wants to take something away from the child, provided that it is a normal and practical thing. And certainly television is amusing, entertaining, and even educational. If the parents want to sit and look at it, surely the children do too.

Seriously, it does present a problem. Children are hard enough to get to bed anyway, and television gives them an added excuse for staying up. At best the average child has less time to study at home than before. That is a good common sense, whether we want to recognize it or not.

That old song "There'll Be Some Changes Made" never rang truer than it does today. Some changes are being made in so many homes right now. The real thing that so many of us don't recognize is that the changes aren't confined to the children alone. The adults are affected as well as the children.

Mother isn't playing bridge as much as she once was. Daddy is not going to as many night meetings as he did awhile ago. Changes are being made.

Two Men Compare Notes At Democratic Party Dinner

By LYNN NISBET

COMPARISON—William Marshall of Walnut Cove and Emmett Winslow of Hertford got together during the Jefferson-Jackson dinner weekend to compare notes. The comparison was very interesting.

Marshall is a manufacturer and dealer in building supplies and president of a thriving bank in Stokes county, on the western edge of the Piedmont, and has served several times in both branches of the General Assembly. Winslow is an oil and hardware dealer, a former sheriff and legislator of Perquimans county, and currently highway commissioner for the first division.

The fundamental philosophy of government and the major objectives in political activities of the two men are very much alike. They have approximately equal prestige in the social and political economy of their respective sections. That doesn't mean they always support the same candidates, or that their approach to solution of problems is the same. In fact, the whole purpose of these paragraphs is to point up the differences in viewpoint and methods of best attaining the desired same goal. The main difference is that there is no race relation problem in Stokes county and no Republican problem in Perquimans.

VOTES—Because very few Negroes are registered to vote in Perquimans and further because there are few Republicans in the county, the voting is much lighter and the Democratic primary is the determining election. Because there are a lot of Republicans in Stokes the party primary takes second place to the November general election.

Of the 9,602 people credited to Perquimans county by the 1950 census 1700 voted in the last Democratic primary for the nomination of a Governor. Of the 21,820 people in Stokes county 2360 voted for all candidates in the Democratic primary for Governor two years ago.

The story takes a different turn when it comes to recording the vote in the November general election, which is controlling so far as State and Federal offices are concerned.

PERCENTAGE—The Perquimans primary vote was a much larger percentage of the maximum potential based on population than was the Stokes Democratic primary total. But in November the Perquimans folks figured the election was over so they stayed at home. The N.C. Manual records that only 1376 Democrats and 233 Republicans turned out for the general election. That was 101 fewer total and 124 fewer Democrats than voted in the primary, and represented 16 per cent of the population.

In Stokes county more than twice as many Democrats voted in the general election as in the primary, plus upwards of twice as many Republicans. The recorded vote for Governor in November was 4,714 Democrat, 3,503 Republicans, for a total of 8,217 or 38 per cent of the population.

Marshall and Winslow did not have all these figures at hand when they were talking, but they were confident of the general fact that in the eastern counties the objective of the primary is to nominate the best man—or woman—for the office at stake, while in many western counties the primary objective is to nominate the Democrat conceded the best chance to beat the Republican nominee in November.

Their conversation also brought out that while the Democratic primary is the real election in most eastern counties, there is almost as much factional division within the party in western counties. In other words, there is just one "election" in the east—that being the primary, but there are two in the west—the primary and the general election.

Another important fact emphasized is the necessity for eastern and western Democrats to understand the conditions which contribute to the different approach.

It is admittedly difficult for a man living in a county where the Negro population is less than one percent to understand the feelings of a friend living where Negroes outnumber whites; and it is hard for the fellow who thinks of a Republican only as a word in the dictionary to understand the attitude of a fellow Democrat who realizes that two out of every three people he meets on the street and does business with every day is a Republican.

POYPOURRI—Judge William A. Devin was observed sitting in the Sir Walter Hotel lobby the other day. (That title of "Judge" is correct, because upon his retirement last month from the office of Chief Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, after two years in that post following many other years as Associate Justice and Superior Court Judge, he assumed the status of an emergency judge.) A friend asked him how he felt to be among the "unemployed." Before the former Chief Justice could reply another friend answered for him. "He ain't unemployed. Mrs. Devin has kept him busy doing things around their new home in

TELLS HOW TO ANALYZE LOCAL RETAIL TRADE

A simplified method of analyzing retail trade areas in small and medium size communities is described in "Retail Trade Area Analysis," by Isadore V. Fine, Inc. It is published by the University of Wisconsin (at $1.15). The study points out sources of information, suggests a model questionnaire and suggests ways in which the information can be coordinated and interpreted.

Business Today Farmers Confusing

By ELMER ROESSNER
While stereotype conceptions of the farmer may create pitfalls for businessmen, they also can confuse politicians and, or, statesmen.

The farm population of 23,577,000 in 1950 included approximately 13,000,000 persons of voting age. The farm population is estimated to have declined since then and, as shown here yesterday, not all of those counted as farmers are honest-to-gee agriculturalists. Furthermore, a lot of them are farm laborers, whose interests may not be identical with farm owners.

(The exact number of farm laborers is difficult to determine, government counts in 1950 ranged from 6,782,000 to 13,703,000 and these figures are further confusing because they include children working for parents and people who work as little as one paid .50 per hour a week.)

Because of the decline and the exceptions, the voting strength of dirt farmers is considerably less than 13,000,000. Why, then, do they appear to wield so much power in a nation of 160,000,000?

The real reason is that what we call farm voting strength is very largely small-town voting strength. There are more than 40,000,000 persons living neither in metropolitan areas nor on farms.

Many of them live in small factory towns. But the greater number live in towns whose economies are supported by agricultural production in the surrounding area. And even in mill towns, the agricultural periphery is important to the incomes and wages of merchants and employees.

The American farmer is a vocal fellow, and he speaks in a firm voice through granges, cooperatives, associations and federations. But he is not capable of the roar that goes up every time his income is threatened.

The added volume is that of the people who sell him things and the people who work for those who make for and vend to the farmer. It's the voice of thousands of store owners, of the Chamber of Commerce officials, of service station operators, workers and stockholders in tractor plants, and millions of others.

That's why demands for prize supports continued unabated after purely farm organizations say they'd rather have independence; that's why politicians bark to so-called voices of the farmer even when there are few arable acres in their districts; that's why so many of our farm problems seem insoluble.

Supports for cotton keep the gins, the general stores and the auto salesmen prosperous; supports for wheat put money into the pockets of harvester manufacturers and tavern owners as well as those of the farmer. This may all be very sound but when you pay 86 cents a pound for butter, you may like to know that you are helping to keep some truck lines, county fairs and creameries prosperous as well as the dairymen.

INTEGRATION IN OIL EXPLORED IN DETAIL

Of all the oil companies with capacities in excess of 20,000 barrels a day, only three are not engaged in production, refining, wholesaling, retailing and transportation activities, a study by John G. McLean and Robert Wm. Halgh of the Harvard Business School faculty shows. And all the companies with capacities of more than 50,000 barrels a day were completely integrated in 1950, the date of the data of the professors' exhaustive study. While the large companies were integrating, many small ones were merging or expiring.

Their findings have been published in an oversize book of 752 pages, titled, "The Growth of Integrated Oil Companies," by Harvard Business School (at $12).

Blames Courts For Bootlegging

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The bootlegger is enjoying boom times in America again.

He's getting to be a big operator, just as he was in Prohibition days. He is able to put up $25,000 to $60,000 for a still that will turn out a thousand gallons of alcohol a day.

He has new lists of suckers eager to buy his cases of "smuggled" Scotch or Canadian whisky at cut-rate prices. He is again using counterfeit labels and tax stamps on a big scale.

Maybe no one has offered you a bargain basement buy in moonshine lately, but the liquor industry says moonshine is being sold in parking lots, candy stores, gas stations, cigar stores, and by telephone. It says the bootleggers have henchmen working in hotels, apartment houses, business buildings and industrial plants all over the United States.

The postwar rise of the bootlegger has the regular liquor industry more than annoyed. It is so angry that it is considering hiring its own agents and lawyers to track down bootleggers and help the government convict them. Ralph Heymsfeld, 42, president of Schenley's and a spokesman for the industry, feels the government isn't doing enough to wipe out bootlegging.

"Moonshine has a romantic history. The hillbilly moonshiner is part of our folklore. We're not worried about him."

"But we are concerned about the big operators who have moved into the cities. No one can say for sure how much illegal whisky is being sold. But I say you can go anywhere in New York—or any other major city—and buy bootleg whisky within 10 minutes.

Anybody who wants it can get it. The supply equals the demand."

Heymsfeld said that the distilled spirits industry paid $1,840,850,650 in federal and state taxes in 1953, roughly $13.25 a gallon, but that the government spent less than six-tenths of one per cent of this revenue to enforce the liquor laws.

"Most bootleggers get suspended sentences," he added. "Only a third are sent to jail. The courts simply aren't doing the job."

"Curiously, the government concentrates its campaign against bootlegging in the southern states, but the bootleg industry actually is flourishing in every section of the country."

"They seize 20,000 stills a year, but the amount of bootlegging isn't going down. We say it's increasing."

Heymsfeld thinks bootlegging could be cut down if the taxes on legal liquor were lowered, thus permitting it to be sold more cheaply. But he doesn't believe there is much real prospect of getting the taxes lowered.

"The only way left to meet the moonshine menace is by strict enforcement," he said. "We are considering setting up a number of pilot operations in which, in cooperation with government officials, the liquor industry can protect itself against bootleggers, just as banks hire Pinkerton guards to protect themselves."

He wouldn't go into the details of his program, but he was hoping mad. He left no doubt that the legal liquor industry is tired of paying all the taxes and taking all the worries while the bootlegger ducks the taxes and reaps the big profits.

Worth Noting

OXFORD—The judge grinned and said he would have to plead guilty, or at least a nolo contendere.

Comes along now as admirer of Harold Stassen with some advice for Kerr Scott and Alton Lennon. Both these top candidates for the U.S. Senate have run into trouble because of alleged misquotations or misinterpretations of statements made in public addresses. The Stassen friend says that the ex-Governor, ex-university president and aspirant several times for the Republican nomination for President, always requires that a trusted stenographer or a recording device be on the job at every press conference and every time he makes a public speech to keep an accurate record of just exactly what he said. The man said Stassen had been known to admit he wished he hadn't said it just the way he did, but he was glad to have a record to prove he didn't say it like some other folks claimed he did.

With the total already well above $32,000 the Jefferson-Jackson Dinner treasury is still receiving money. The final accounting is expected to exceed by some $3,000 the record total of 1953.

Senators Hoey and Lennon are supporting the bill sponsored by several Republican Senators to insert the words "under God" in the pledge to the flag.

Milk Commission Plans Crack Down On Compliance Failures

GRAHAM, N. C. (AP)—Milk distributors who have violated a regulation by failing to notify the State Milk Commission 10 days in advance of a milk price cut face a hearing and possible disciplinary action.

The Milk Commission meeting here yesterday, instructed its executive secretary, J. V. Whitaker, to determine who the violators were and to notify them they will be called to appear before the commission for a hearing.

Whitaker indicated there were at least 12 distributors involved in the so-called price war in the Greensboro Burlington and Durham areas.

The resolution relieves distributors and plants from having to post uniform prices 10 days in advance.

The commission was told that a price war on milk in the Greensboro, Burlington and Durham areas has caused some distributors to reduce wholesale prices to stores about 3 cents a quart.

The regulation on the posting of prices 10 days in advance of any change is being removed, the commission pointed out, "until such time as in the opinion of the commission this requirement can be re-established without jeopardizing the established business" of plants and distributors which have been complying with the regulation.

The commission planned to hold a hearing today at Clinton on proposed changes in rules and regulations governing Milk Marketing Areas 4 and 6.

Several distributors told the commission the price war is costing them from $6,000 to $15,000 a month.

The Doctor Disagrees

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
DR. TALBOY watched Shelly. "Do you know Dr. Lewis?"
"Yes, and I've met his wife. There were parties for them when they were married. I liked her, and wondered . . ."

"Why she would marry him?" Shelly's pink cheeks were his answer.

"I'm not in the market for gossip as such Shelly," he said after another pause.

"I wish you'd call me by my first name. After all, I am Stephen's friend."

"Yes," she said warmly, "and he likes you very much all right. It shall be Craig, then Even in the office."

"As you choose Now, if you would tell me what you know about the Lewis setup?"
"It isn't much Dr. Lewis seems very popular—and I thought he was a widower when he first came to Norfolk. It seemed his wife was an invalid; she died last year. I don't remember just when except that it was not when they had the funeral. He has one child, a grown daughter—she works in the city. I believe, and comes home on week ends I—I don't like the doctor much myself, but he is generally popular."

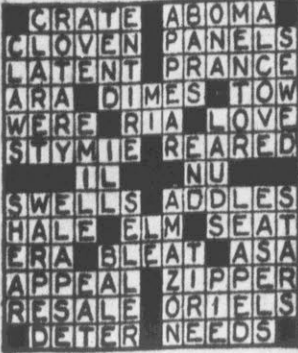

"Did Stephen like him?"
Shelly frowned in an effort to remember. "I don't know He's been at Carr parties I think he is more popular with women than with men. I—don't like him. I—don't care too much for middle-aged men with amorous manners."

Dr. Talboy laughed. "Anybody ever tell you that you didn't need to, with your youth and beauty?" Shelly's lips quivered. "And his marriage . . ." prompted her caller.

"Oh yes. Well, it was somewhat sudden. There was a little talk—at least, I heard a little—that Dr. Lewis was courting a woman in St. Williams, and then, all at once, or so it seemed, I heard that they had married. She was house-mother at one of the dormitories at the girls' college there. The word

"From his wife." Craig looked at her sharply. "You know him?"
"I've heard Stephen talk to his father about him. I've heard them say they could manage the plant better if Mrs. Evans didn't belong to so many clubs."
Dr. Talboy thought that one over. "They give programs," Shelly helped him. "The clubs do—base them on articles in popular magazines."
"I suppose she's heard a program on silicosis—and got it all wrong."
"Why doesn't the company discharge this Evans if he makes trouble?"
"My dear girl, these days nobody discharges anybody." He grinned at her, then pulled his feet toward him and buttoned his coat. "The plant has its troubles, just as I have mine. Right now, my big one—I'll make no compromise, you know, on this Lewis thing! I'm going to fight for that wife, all the way! I'm going to fight Lewis as a husband, and I'm going to fight him as a doctor!" He smiled with relief at that coming fight. "I find in that man a composite of much that is wrong in medicine. Personal morals and integrity have been left too, too far behind, as witness that man's establishment, his prestige, his freedom to practice with the small knowledge and the big errors which he employs, his power to hurt and to harm, to kill and to cripple, under the protection of his M.D. Yes, sir, I'm going to fight Ervin Lewis!"

"Oh, but, Craig," said Shelly unhappily. "he's an exaggerated case. You won't find many doctors doing —well, the things he did to his wife."

"True, he is an exaggerated case, Shelly. I grant that. But you need an exaggeration to make your point." He stood up; Donald came, stretching, out from —the couch.

"I'm going to put that story in the newspaper, Shelly. I came here to warn you that I would. Mrs. Lewis will file suit for divorce, giving all the sordid details."

He paused in the doorway which led to the hall—and sighed. "I'm afraid I can count on Lewis to spoil my good fight," he said regretfully. "They'll settle the property thing out of court; he'll give her the divorce uncontested and she'll leave town."

"But," said Shelly anxiously, "wouldn't that be the better thing? All around?"

"It would be smoother," Craig amended.

U.S. Gives Israel $39 Millions; Arabs Draw Zero

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has given Israel $39 million dollars in special economic aid during the past four months while allocating nothing to Arab countries. Informed officials who reported this today attributed the lack of Arab allocations to failure of their governments to devise specific projects which the United States feels it could back.

The latest allocation to Israel—a 13-million-dollar sum—was made without publicity by the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA), presumably to keep from upsetting Arab governments which contend Washington favors Israel's economic aid.

This grant, coupled with a 26 million-dollar allocation announced last Oct. 28, boosted Israel's total to 39 million dollars for the fiscal year which started July 1 with prospects that the final figure will reach about 60 million dollars.

Old 'Asia For Asians' Policy Given Try By Hopeful Philippines Republic

By DON HUTH
MANILA (AP)—The Philippines Republic has embarked on a new foreign policy, "Asia for the Asians," which has U. S. diplomatic officials watching carefully. Up to now, the new policy has left cold the Asian countries it was intended to influence.

The policy is based on developing an Asian nationalism under the wartime rallying cry used by Japan in promoting its East Asia co-prosperity sphere.

Philippine proponents insist the new policy will not affect traditional ties with the United States. Despite this, American officials here indicate they must remain alert for any unilateral action which might affect the balance in democracy's bulwark against communism in Asia.

The U. S. Embassy in Manila has not commented officially but appears concerned lest the policy be misinterpreted in some quarters in the United States. The Philippines still depend upon the United States for aid in supporting the islands' economy and so must move cautiously, U. S. sources indicated.

The basic change under the new policy would seem to be toward independent action in foreign matters and away from the old Liberal party policy of taking cues from the United States. At the last election, Elpidio Quirino, head of the Liberals, was beaten soundly for a second term as president by Ramon Magsaysay and his Nacionalista party.

The policy switch was disclosed in a surprising manner earlier this month. Instead of being enunciated by Magsaysay or by Vice President Carlos P. Garcia, the secretary of foreign affairs, it first was proclaimed by Garcia's under secretary, Leon Guerrero.

Guerrero was the "voice of freedom" during the early days of World War II until his capture by the Japanese. Later he was released from prison and broadcast Japanese propaganda.

Guerrero's first strong support for the new policy came from Sen. Claro M. Recto, wartime foreign minister of the Philippines under the Japanese. Recto has been accused by critics of being anti-American but has denied the charge.

Vice President Garcia quickly added his support.

So did Sen. Jose P. Laurel, wartime president of the Philippines during the Japanese occupation.

Bipartisan backing came from members in Congress. But there were strong indications that the defeated Liberal party would subject the new policy to torrid debate in the Senate.

President Magsaysay has remained silent although Guerrero insists that the new President endorses it.

Vice President Garcia said in a subsequent speech:

"Asia for the Asians, far more than a foreign policy, is a statement of eternal reality. It is an axiomatic fact, self-evident and undeniable. It is the expression of a deep sentiment of a resurgent nationalism in liberated Asian countries."

Guerrero said it would be "servile and misguided" for the Philippines to keep on taking their lead from the United States in foreign matters.

The Philippines has considerable spawdwork to do in cultivating friendship with such countries as India, Ceylon, Indonesia, Burma, Malaya, Thailand, Indochina and Japan.

Diplomatic relations between the Philippines and neighbors are weak. The Philippines have established no direct diplomatic relations with Burma and Ceylon. They have not recognized the Associated States of Indochina.

The Philippines still are embroiled in a red-hot reparations tussle with Japan. These negotiations have dragged on for years.

Indonesia has looked with suspicion upon the Philippines. Many Indonesians feel this country has echoed too much the sentiments of the U. S. State Department.

Guerrero claimed the "Asia for the Asians" policy has created a "favorable atmosphere" among Asian neighbors. But it appeared too early yet to tell what real effect it would have until it is converted from speeches to action.

Ask Chaplin Post Security In U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Superior Court has been asked to require Comedian Charles Chaplin to post payments to guarantee $100 weekly payments to support his daughter, Carol Ann Berry, 10 born to former actress Joan Berry.

In a motion made yesterday, attorney Joseph Scott said Chaplin, as a permanent resident of a foreign country "may attempt to remove all of his remaining assets from America," making enforcement of the support judgment impossible.

Scott explained that the news of Chaplin's wife, Oona O'Neil, deserting her American citizenship to become a British subject was "the last straw to satisfy us of our duty to the little girl."

The attorney asked that a receiver be appointed for Chaplin's California assets until the actor posts security to guarantee the payments. The court set March 16 for a hearing on the petition. The child attends a private boarding school here.

But if there is not, he said he would be willing to support some emergency moves such as public works projects.

Flanders said he was sure the President's tax program with its business and investment incentives would bring about a decrease in unemployment.

Bolling said the present administration so far "hasn't got to first base" with any program of building up a shelf of planned and ready-to-go public works if the downturn worsens.

Miss Loretta Barber of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission in Raleigh visited the Falkland School and discussed building homes for bluebirds with the 4-H Club.

On a previous visit to Falkland Miss Barber had asked the 4-H members to start a project of building homes for the birds, so when they decided to undertake the project she made this return visit.

She talked to the pupils about the importance of birds and wildlife in North Carolina and then showed a short film entitled "Sharp Eyes."

Instruction sheets were given out to show the boys and girls how to build the bird houses. Miss Barber explained them to the members.

She promised to return around March 1 to take a picture of the group with the finished bird houses since the Falkland club is the only club in North Carolina with this project.

County 4-H leaders Miss Josephine Cusick and C. J. Goodman were with Miss Barber at the meeting. Mrs. Sue May, Pitt County Home Demonstration agent, attended the meeting also.

Civilian Clothes Improve Conduct

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U. S. Army officials report that incidents between soldiers and German civilians have dropped since the GI's started wearing civilian clothes during off-duty hours.

"The conduct of soldiers generally improves if they are in civilian clothes they don't feel as conspicuous and they're more relaxed," says Col. A. L. Selby.

Homing Instinct Returns Pigeons

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—The purloined pigeons at first puzzled the police. One boy's 28 homing pigeons had been stolen. Another youth admitted the theft, but said his own 20 birds were all mixed with them.

Inspectors Jack Fink and Donald Hopper tossed them into the air, one at a time. Twenty-eight flew to one cote, 20 to the other.

President's Tax And Economics Plans Endorsed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today he believes President Eisenhower's recommendations for meeting the nation's current economic situation are "just right."

The Vermont senator said he was particularly impressed with the President's tax recommendations designed to increase business incentives by giving corporations and investors some breaks.

Rep. Bolling (D-Mo.) said in a separate interview he regards it as fully as important to do some things for the consumer.

Consumption can best be increased, he said, by raising the personal income tax exemption, cutting excise taxes, and speeding up action on public works.

Meanwhile, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he agrees with the President that March will be the key month in showing how the economic winds are blowing.

The President told his news conference that employment normally picks up in March. If that doesn't happen this year, he said that would be a warning of trouble and his administration would use every weapon available to head it off.

One of the first things that might be considered, he said, is a cut in taxes to spur consumer spending. He did not go into detail, but the taxes most generally cited in this connection are personal income levies and excise, or sales, taxes.

Ferguson said he personally is optimistic that March will show an improvement in the unemployment situation, specifically in his own state where there now are sizable auto plant layoffs.

But if there is not, he said he would be willing to support some emergency moves such as public works projects.

Flanders said he was sure the President's tax program with its business and investment incentives would bring about a decrease in unemployment.

Bolling said the present administration so far "hasn't got to first base" with any program of building up a shelf of planned and ready-to-go public works if the downturn worsens.

On a previous visit to Falkland Miss Barber had asked the 4-H members to start a project of building homes for the birds, so when they decided to undertake the project she made this return visit.

She talked to the pupils about the importance of birds and wildlife in North Carolina and then showed a short film entitled "Sharp Eyes."

Instruction sheets were given out to show the boys and girls how to build the bird houses. Miss Barber explained them to the members.

She promised to return around March 1 to take a picture of the group with the finished bird houses since the Falkland club is the only club in North Carolina with this project.

County 4-H leaders Miss Josephine Cusick and C. J. Goodman were with Miss Barber at the meeting. Mrs. Sue May, Pitt County Home Demonstration agent, attended the meeting also.

Civilian Clothes Improve Conduct

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—U. S. Army officials report that incidents between soldiers and German civilians have dropped since the GI's started wearing civilian clothes during off-duty hours.

"The conduct of soldiers generally improves if they are in civilian clothes they don't feel as conspicuous and they're more relaxed," says Col. A. L. Selby.

Homing Instinct Returns Pigeons

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—The purloined pigeons at first puzzled the police. One boy's 28 homing pigeons had been stolen. Another youth admitted the theft, but said his own 20 birds were all mixed with them.

Inspectors Jack Fink and Donald Hopper tossed them into the air, one at a time. Twenty-eight flew to one cote, 20 to the other.

Judge Soon To Decide Sum Roosevelt To Pay His Wife

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A judge will announce within a few days how much temporary support James Roosevelt, who claims he is worse than broke, shall pay his estranged wife Romelle, who demands $3,500 a month.

A four-day hearing on the matter wound up yesterday with her attorneys accusing the eldest son of the late President Franklin Roosevelt of "making false statements for the purpose of concealing his assets."

Roosevelt's attorney said Mrs. Roosevelt will have to get along with $30 to $40 dresses instead of $300 ones.

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman took under submission the support demands and the amount to be allowed Mrs. Roosevelt for court costs and attorney fees.

The support order will be effective pending trial of their separate maintenance suits. In hers, Mrs. Roosevelt, 38, accuses her 46-year-old husband of adultery, naming three co-respondents. She also filed letters signed by him stating he admitted infidelities with nine other women.

Roosevelt has denied all the charges.

Baby Chicks Are Presented To 10 4-H Boys, Girls

Ten 4-H boys and girls received 100 baby chicks through the Seabrook Foundation poultry chain yesterday.

The chicks were presented to the 4-H'er, by County Farm Agent Sam Winchester and Assistant County Agent C. J. Goodman.

Goodman said that the 4-H members will raise the chicks and then exhibit their 12 best ones. Following the exhibit the 12 will be auctioned and the proceeds will be returned to the County agent's office to be used in furthering the chain next year. All the remaining chicks will be kept by the 4-H member who raises them.

Goodman stated that the breed purchased this year is Parmenter Red which proved successful when used by the chain last year.

The assistant farm agent said that the ten 4-H'ers receiving the chicks were chosen from about 15 applicants. He said that the 4-H'ers who wanted to participate were requested to send in cards to the County agents office and the 10 were picked from these.

The ten participating 4-H members include: Sonny Mall, Wayne Latta, Irving Allen, and Linwood Bruce Holloman of Farmville; Tommy Braxton and Moye Waters, Winterville-Greenville; Allen Harris, Belvoir; Gladys Harris, Pactiville; Parmie Moore, Fountain, Ann Manning, Pactiville.

Retires In Style From Locomotive

ABBEVILLE, France (AP)—Locomotive engineer Henri Frein figured that you only retire once in a lifetime.

When he took the throttle for his last run, he replaced his overalls with an ensemble of black tie, full dress suit, and pearl gray homburg.

He already is paying his wife, who has temporary custody of their three small children, $1,073 a month.

Judge Kauffman said his decision will be based on Roosevelt's ability to pay as shown by his income and disbursements the past five or six years.

The insurance executive's financial records, introduced in court, show gross annual income ranging from $30,000 to $51,000 the past few years and yearly disbursements varying from $40,000 to $79,000.

The judge ordered stipulations and restraining orders to remain effective pending trial which will be at least eight months hence. One order forbids either person from disposing of property. A stipulation bars either from making derogatory remarks about the other in the children's presence.

Roosevelt also has the right to visit his children but only at his wife's home. An attorney said she leaves the house when her husband is with the youngsters.

The judge ordered Roosevelt to continue making mortgage and tax payments on the family house. In his summation, Arthur E. Schifferman, one of Mrs. Roosevelt's three attorneys, declared:

"We have shown that Mr. Roosevelt cannot be believed in any of his testimony."

"And we have shown that he is by nature so devious that he would stoop to making false statements for the purpose of concealing his assets."

In reply, Roosevelt's attorney, Samuel B. Picone, said Mrs. Roosevelt now "has more than $100,000 in assets which she never had before they were married. It was given to her by him. And now they are trying to make a criminal out of him."

Declaring that Roosevelt's testimony has "been thoroughly and completely impeached," Schifferman said the hearing indicated the "juggling of many thousands of dollars."

The attorney also declared, in reference to $100,000 Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt loaned to her son James: "We know there is some secret agreement between Mr. Roosevelt and his mother, but we do not know the terms thereof."

Mrs. Roosevelt estimated her husband was worth two million dollars. He submitted financial statements indicating he was $72,185.15 in the red last Jan. 31.

Would you trade a Penny for a Dollar?

● You can if you use Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda for your top-dressing and side-dressing needs. It costs a little more because it's worth more. But the difference in cost usually can be measured in pennies per acre, while the difference in value often amounts to dollars per acre.

Chilean "Bulldog" Soda gives you generous extra value. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate. It's 100 per cent available (quick-acting); 100 per cent dependable. The minor elements make crops stronger, healthier. The sodium—26 pounds in every 100-pound sack—is a key to maximum returns on your entire fertilizer investment. It offsets the bad effects of acid-forming fertilizers...increases the efficiency of mixed fertilizers containing them. It releases "locked-up" potash in the soil...increases the availability and efficiency of soil phosphate...reduces potash, calcium and magnesium losses by leaching...develops larger, deeper root systems.

Sodium builds up the productivity of your land—more each year. It's an essential element for some crops...beneficial to most and necessary for maximum yields of many.

Pennies-per-acre difference in cost may mean dollars-per-acre difference in value to you. Chilean "Bulldog" Soda is the best fertilizer your money can buy. Use it for all of your top-dressing and side-dressing needs.

'Tarzan' Lex Barker Goes Into Westerns

By BOB THOMAS
 HOLLYWOOD—Lex Barker (Tarzan) is turning in his Lincoln for boots and saddles.

The handsome actor will no longer be flexing his muscles in the jungle. From now on, his dialogue will be "Head 'em off at the crossroads," instead of "Me Tarzan; you Jane."

He has signed a seven-year contract with Universal-International, which is news in itself. Not for many months has any studio signed any established player to an exclusive deal. U-I specializes in action pictures, especially Westerns, and that's all right with Lex.

"That's the kind of picture I want to do," he said. "I like working outdoors. Besides, I think a big man looks silly in indoor pictures. A fellow like John Wayne looks much better on a horse than in a business suit."

Barker was the 10th of the Tarzans, and his resignation from the series means that producer Sol Lesser will have to start hunting for an 11th ape man. The actor explained the reason for the split:

"I figured at this point in my career I ought to be able to enjoy a little more profit from doing the pictures. Mr. Lesser didn't see it that way. So I signed with U-I."

"But I am grateful to him for exposing me to the public—and I do mean exposing. I readily admit that the series was a great thing for me. Traveling to Europe and Mexico made me realize how tremendously popular Tarzan is."

So much so that the foreigners passed up his bride a girl named Lana Turner. In order to get his autograph. That was partly due to her new brunette hair shade, which makes her look unlike the Lana film audiences know.

"Lana was delighted when the fans failed to recognize her," Lex said. "There are two stages in star's career. The first is when he's starting out and is wild to have someone ask for an autograph. The second is when he's happy to go somewhere and not be recognized."

That's why Lana likes her new hair. Her husband likes it too—says it makes her look softer.

U-I has big things planned for Lex. The studio's programming has been built around three stars—Rock Hudson, Tony Curtis and Jeff Chandler—and a new boy is needed to avoid a sameness of product.

Cribbage Game In Marathon Run

They have played 27,000 games, counting holes rather than games in scoring. The lead has shifted alternately from 700 to zero. The last count gave Williams only an 18 hole lead over his wife.

Pupil Accidents Drastically Cut

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The National Education Assn. says safety programs have cut the annual accidental death rate among elementary school children from 417 per million pupils in 1923 to 240 per million in 1953.

Dr. William G. Carr, N.E.A. executive secretary, says much of the credit goes to teachers for their work with school safety patrols and driver education courses.

Dread Nerve-Gas Antidote Is Now In Large Supply

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 Associated Press Science Reporter
 NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—The life-saving antidote for frightening nerve-gas war now can be made artificially, and there is already enough to treat 400 million persons, it was disclosed today.

The drug is atropine, until now obtained only from plants grown mostly in Iron Curtain countries controlled by Russia.

The synthetic drug, made with chemicals from petroleum, frees this country from dependence upon foreign supplies.

Synthetic production of atropine is announced by Winthrop-Stearns, Inc., of New York City and Rensselaer N. Y.

Nerve gas blocks or paralyzes nerves, causing death unless quickly counteracted. Atropine is the best known antidote, for it neutralizes the paralyzing chemical in nerve gas.

The firm has supplied 330 pounds of atropine for Defense Department stockpiles. A life-saving dose is only 1-150th of a grain of atropine sulfate. Thus a single pound of atropine is enough to treat more than one million persons. The drug can be stockpiled in ampules ready for injection, at strategic locations for military or civilian use.

Atropine is obtained naturally from atropa belladonna and datura stramonium. The biggest producers of these plants are Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia, with some now beginning to be grown in Australia.

"There is evidence that large quantities of natural atropine have been disappearing recently behind the Iron Curtain," said Dr. Theodore G. Klump, president of Win-

ART NOTES

by JOHN GORDON
 Just exhibited in the Community Art Gallery at the Sheppard Memorial Library is an exhibition in several media by Mrs. Madge Allen, Art Supervisor of the Greenville Colored Schools.

Mrs. Allen's work is adventurous and experimental with the virtues and faults of unusual spontaneity. She achieves considerable richness of means in the techniques she uses. She switches easily from style to style, ranging from realism through expressionism to pure inventions in form and color. Amazingly she succeeds equally well in each style. Only occasionally does she founder and the few unsuccessful works in the exhibition are more than redeemed by others in a similar style.

Several outstanding items in the exhibition are: Theater Lights (No. 2), a strikingly effective opaque watercolor; Design (No. 6), a jazzy melange of fragments and textures; Study in Oils (No. 8), a small, attractive abstraction; Dismal Swamp (No. 12) and Three Chinese Boys (No. 27). These last two paintings seem to me to be remarkably original and effective.

It is understandably difficult to generalize about an exhibition as diversified as this one is. But, I think that the very diversity here is revealing and important by way of context to an understanding of individual paintings and consequently the personality behind them.

On the evidence of the whole exhibition it seems that Mrs. Allen is fundamentally an expressionist and a romantic. The furious energy of Study in Black (No. 7) states epigrammatically the driving search for expression which extends through the whole show and accounts for its diversity, its excitement and its emotional rewards.

throp-Stearns.

About 1,000 pounds of atropine are used annually in this country, mostly as an anti-spasmodic to relax muscles in treating gastrointestinal disorders, and for eye drops in eye examinations.

Synthesis of the drug was achieved by research teams of Sterling-Winthrop Research Institute, Rensselaer, and Winthrop-Stearns building on developments by other scientists.

Always A Mess When Infant Learning To Eat

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.
 AP Newsfeatures

Little children are pretty messy at their meals. It takes growing up to learn to eat neatly. A certain amount of mess you have to put up with, but there are limits.

We want children to eat because they enjoy eating, and if we fuss at them too much about table manners we can destroy their zest for food. Little children are just not coordinated enough to eat without some spilling.

So long as a child is getting the food into his mouth and eating, put up with the mess. Prepare for it, so the cleaning up is not too difficult. A piece of linoleum under his chair, a plastic mat in front of him reduce your after meal labors.

Arrange the food so that he can get as much as possible without help. Let him eat many things in his fingers; it's easier and more fun than utensils. A carrot can be cooked whole and eaten like a banana. Green beans are more interesting long. Have as much meat on a bone as possible. Peas, lima beans, can be picked up one at a time in the fingers.

Put a toothpick into each bite of such foods as boiled potato or hamburger and let the child pick up the bite and suck it off the toothpick.

Fingers and toothpicks cut down the amount of spooning the child has to do.

Custards, cereals, soft foods have to be eaten with a spoon. A child can manage a spoon for some foods if he doesn't have so much spooning he gets tired and bored with it.

Soups can be drunk if you put them in a cup. If there are vegetables left in the bottom of the cup they can be spooned in, but there is much less spooning if the liquid is drunk off first.

Milk, of course, is drunk. It adds interest if the child is allowed to pour the milk from a little pitcher into his glass. Be sure there is not very much milk in the pitcher at one time. You can add more as the meal progresses.

Leave the youngster alone and don't scold him for his spillings so long as he is really eating. Help him if he needs help with the food that is more difficult to handle.

Mrs. Ralph complained that some times young Bob just messed with his food. He'd squeeze the food in his hands, smear it on the back of his chair or throw it on the floor. Then he'd pour his milk onto his plate or sometimes directly on the floor.

This is the kind of a mess you shouldn't put up with; it's a destructive mess.

Don't make a fuss and don't scold. Just wipe off the child's face and hands, take him out of his chair and tell him he is finished eating so the meal is over. Don't give him any more food until the next meal.

He will learn in short order that food is to be eaten, not played with.

In the course of time, your youngster will develop table manners that are an exact copy of yours. Children love to copy as soon as they are old enough to do so. Nagging about table manners doesn't help a child learn more quickly; it just destroys his zest for food.

We want children to eat with enthusiasm all through childhood. When a youngster is quite young he gets much of his eating pleasure just from being able to get the

Restaurant Will Open Tonight

The newly remodeled Pirra Restaurant will open tonight on the Washington Highway five miles East of Greenville.

The new restaurant will open in the building formerly occupied by the Tar Heel Social Club and will be under the management of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Parker, Jr.

Mrs. Parker announced that the building has been completely remodeled and redecorated on the inside. She said that the restaurant will specialize in serving western steaks, seafood, chops, barbecue, friend chicken and sandwiches.

The restaurant will open each afternoon at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Parker stated that candle-lit tables will be provided for patrons and for the first three nights an orchestra has been engaged. She said it is hoped that an orchestra will be on hand each Saturday night thereafter.

"We have a nice dance floor," she noted.

The management also announced that the restaurant will cater to private parties.

Mrs. Parker said that no telephone is available there as yet and asked that anyone wishing to arrange a private party call 5741 before three o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker also operate the Green View Drive-In on West End Circle.

food into his mouth by himself. If he spills a little it doesn't bother him; try not to let it bother you. When he is older he will enjoy eating neatly—just as you do.

Opportunity Knocked Five Times For Singer Roberta Peters; Is Now Listening

NEW YORK (AP)—"This is the Met press bureau, a singer is ill, we have a last-minute change in cast," says the voice on the telephone.

"In tonight's 'Don Giovanni,' a young New York singer will do her first Zerlina here or anywhere. It will be her debut, and it will be the first time she's appeared on any stage, or sung the role with orchestra. There wasn't even time for a full rehearsal."

The substitute was Roberta Peters. I went, looked, listened and loved it.

That was 1950. Came 1951:

"This is the Met press bureau, a singer is ill, we have a last-minute change in cast," says the familiar voice. "In tonight's 'Rigoletto,' Roberta Peters will do her first Gilda here or anywhere."

Came 1952: "This is the Met press bureau, a singer is ill, we have a last-minute change in cast—" That time it was Miss Peters doing her first Sophie in "Der Rosenkavalier."

She got in under the line in 1953 by a matter of hours. But she made it. It was not till New Year's eve that she did her last-minute "first" again, as Adele in "Fledermaus," and now already in 1954 she has substituted for her first Susanna in "Figaro."

So instead of listening across footlights, this time I grabbed her off between rehearsals and talked to her for a lunch hour.

Miss Peters has not only luck and looks but also a deservedly popular coloratura that has been heard in the Metropolitan Opera, in London, in Hollywood, on radio and television, and on regular recital tours.

Though opportunity has by now loudly knocked five times on her door, she is still only 23. She's full of the sparkle and animation of youth. She has trouble-making blue eyes, a trouble-making black curl in front of each ear, a trouble-making laugh that breaks out in brusque gusts. In fact, everything about her is trouble-making.

But trouble is what she has no time for: The Met isn't Bohemia, and isn't Left Bank. Life for a young singer there is neither beer, skittles, nectar nor ambrosia.

She's a working girl. The week I talked to her she had a Firestone program Monday, "Cosi Fan Tutte" at the met Wednesday and right after a "Don Giovanni." She has rehearsals, acting classes and singing lessons.

She doesn't fool about it. "I really feel that the day when I start studying will be the day when I start downward toward the end of my career as a singer," she says solemnly.

The lessons take, too. For example her French is good enough for Paris French. She got it all right here in New York, for she has spent only two days in Paris—and two in Florence, two in Rome. Why doesn't a successful young singer travel more? No time. She went over to the continent when she had only one week as vacation from her London appearances in "The Bohemian Girl," Beecham conducting.

"What I'd love to do," she says, "is spend about three months in Fiesole, way above Florence."

When? Well, this summer is out, for there may be another movie. This winter is booked up with Met, recitals and lessons. If you want to hear her, better forget Fiesole and Florence, try the Met.

Miss Peters' father runs a shoe store, her mother is a milliner. The petite Peters lives with them, uptown on the West side. She works on the rapidly growing repertoire, does some painting, walks her dog Pelleas, a silvergray miniature poodle, skates in winter, swims in summer dances in any season.

NOTICE OF SALE OF LAND NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust executed by William (Bully) Moore and Roger Whitaker, dated the 10th day of December, 1951, and recorded in Book E-25 at page 195 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, North Carolina, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness thereby secured and said deed of trust being by the terms thereof subject to foreclosure, the undersigned trustee will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the court house door in Greenville, North Carolina, at noon, on the 1st day of March, 1954, the property conveyed in said deed of trust, the same lying and being in the County of Pitt, State of North Carolina, in Greenville Township, and more particularly described as follows:

Another Enemy Of Tooth Decay

CHICAGO (AP)—Incorporating antibiotics into dental cements and resins used to fill teeth apparently could help prevent decay later on underneath fillings, a dental study finds. Cavities are difficult to sterilize completely after decayed parts are drilled out, hence the later decay. Some types of filling have a germ-killing action, and this is stepped up by adding antibiotics to them. Dr. Maxwell B. Colton and Eugene Ehrlich of New York write in the journal of the American Dental Association.

Surprise Visitor Wounded By Boy

MCLLOUD, Okla. (AP)—Curtiss Haskell Smith and his wife Audrey paid her mother, Mrs. Lena Cotney, a visit yesterday but found she wasn't home.

"We thought it would be funny to hide in the closet and holler boo when she came in," Smith told J. C. Farris.

But Mrs. Smith's 14-year-old brother Marvin was the first to return home. He heard a noise in the closet, grabbed a .22-caliber pistol and went to investigate.

When Smith yelled "Boo," the boy pulled the trigger wounding him in the elbow.

COMPARE AND SEE . . .

PRICES are DOWN at Colonial!

Yes, let's compare with last year! We hear a lot about higher living cost, with the inference that the higher food prices are largely responsible. But, let's look at the record—let's compare today's food prices with those of one year ago! Comparison proves that at Colonial there are many, many food prices less than last year. Comparison proves that this is true in almost every department. And that means lower food bills when you shop at Colonial, Now, more than ever before, your Total food bill is less when you shop at CS!

Pirates Can Win Championship Tonight

East Carolina Faces High Point Panthers

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

Unchallenged ownership of the North State Conference's top spot will be at stake tonight in High Point when East Carolina College's Pirates meet the High Point Panthers.

The Pirates, possessors of a 13-1 record in North State play, can sew the title up for themselves with a victory. By sewing up the first place, they then will become, automatically, the number one team in the North State Conference tournament scheduled to begin February 26 in Lexington.

Pairings for the tournament will be drawn next Sunday afternoon. All conference play will have been completed by then and the positions of the nine teams in the conference will be settled. Only eight teams will be eligible to participate in the tournament.

East Carolina won the regular season title last year but got bumped in the first round of the tournament. The team that knocked them out was this same High Point College crew that they are meeting tonight.

Upsets don't appear to be much within the power of the Panthers this year. They lost the big man they had last year, 6-7 Howard Alexander when the Indiana native followed Coach Bob Davis to Georgetown (Ky.) College and thus far Coach Virgil Yow hasn't been able to find a suitable replacement.

The Pirates and the Panthers have already met once this year and the Buc came away with a 100-61 victory. There was nothing the Panthers could do to hold the score down and the Pirates had one of their easier nights of the season.

The same line-up that started for East Carolina in that first meeting will go on the line again tonight. Bobby Hodges will be at center, Charlie Huffman and Don Harris will be at the forwards and J. C. Thomas and Cecil Heath are scheduled to start at the guards.

All five of the Pirate starters have averages of more than 10 points per game for the season. Hodges, shooting for a new record in single season and career scoring, leads the way with a 26.7 average. Heath and Harris bring up the rear with 10.5 marks.

About the only scoring threat presented this season by High Point has been guard Kent Moseley. The little native of Reidsville has been averaging almost 20 points a game this season but he hasn't been able to carry the entire load by himself.

After tonight's game, the Pirates will begin preparations for their Saturday night contest with Atlantic Christian. That game, the last one of the regular season for both clubs, will be played in Elm City because of increased seating capacity in the Elm City gym.

Rough Times Are Waiting For Top Basketball Team

By RIF WATSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The easy sledding is over for Duquesne's talented basketball team in the Duquesne bid to go through the season undefeated.

Unleashed in collegiate play in two weeks, Duquesne romped to its first successive victory last night by walloping little Geneva 93-59. It was no challenge for the No. 1 team in the latest Associated Press poll as the regulars all hit in double figures.

Now, however the Dukes go up against the meaty party of their schedule, starting next Monday against Bowling Green. Then in order will follow Cincinnati, Dayton, St. Bonaventure, Villanova and the National Invitation Tournament. If the Dukes can do it, they'll be the first team since Army in 1944 to go through without a loss.

Kentucky, the nation's only other undefeated team, also has a good chance to go through without a loss if they beat De Paul in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night. Kentucky, ranked second with 19 straight, has a routine date with Tennessee tonight and also must face Vanderbilt, Auburn and Alabama. If the Wildcats and Louisiana State tie for the Southeastern Conference title, as expected, they would play off for the championship.

Dayton walloped Cincinnati 91-66 last night and Villanova trimmed St. Bonaventure 79-64. Dayton No. 17 team, ran its record to 21-5 as John Horan scored 26 points and Bill Uhl made 24.

Both the NIT and NCAA tournaments gained one team yesterday. Wichita, ranked 15th with a 22-3 record, joined Duquesne Dayton, fourth-ranked Western Kentucky and Louisville in the NIT, and Seattle, No. 7 team, was named a Western "at large" team in the NCAA for the second straight year.

Louisville lived up to its NIT selection by whaling Kentucky Wesleyan 91-76 to make its record 19-4, and little St. Francis of Brooklyn enhanced its chances of an invitation by trimming City College 71-61. The Terriers now have 12 straight victories and a 19-3 mark.

The NIT suffered a blow, however, when President Max Farrington of the Southern Conference announced that the conference would not change its rule that the NCAA is the only postseason tournament for members. The NIT had hoped to land Furman, if they did not win the conference title, because of high-scoring Frank Selvy's gate appeal.

Only two other top-ranking teams were in action last night. Notre Dame, No. 6, fell behind Butler 11-3 but picked up by the quarter and won going away 81-66. Holy Cross, No. 9, romped to its ninth straight since a loss to Notre Dame in whipping St. Michael's of Vermont 89-67.

La Salle, No. 12 stopped Fordham 61-56 after leading all the way.

Frank Pellerin, assistant baseball coach at Michigan State, was a three-letter winner for the Spartan team as an undergraduate. He was captain of the 1940 freshman team.

The Paladins have a 4-1 circuit record while Richmond's is 8-2. The two teams meet Monday night.

Furman Paladins Meet Mercer Team

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Furman's Paladins and their greatest of all major college scoring stars, Frank Selvy, will entertain Mercer at Greenville, S. C., tonight without the incentive of trying to impress National Invitational Basketball Tournament officials.

For the Southern Conference Executive Committee has voted not to lift the ban on any of its teams playing in the NIT. Max Farrington, conference president said last night the action came about when the Executive Committee decided not to poll its members to change a conference rule.

The winner of the league's annual tournament, scheduled March 4, 5 and 6 at Morgantown, W. Va., automatically receives a bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. playoffs.

Furman is currently in a battle with Richmond's Spiders for second place in the regular season

Red Devils Here Tomorrow As Greenville Closes Out Regular Season; Locals Are Seeking Revenge

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

As far as most Greenville High School officials, coaches, fans, players, and alumni are concerned, the game of games will be coming up tomorrow night in the Greenville High gym when the conference leader comes into town to face the Greenies. The important part of the game is not that the team the Greenies are playing is the conference leader, but that they are playing Kinston is what makes the game so important.

Although there is no mathematical chance of the G-men winning the conference regular season play, it would certainly help to deflate the much inflated ego of their most beloved rival. The Red Devils have won three consecutive basketball games from the Farleyemen. They took two regular season victories last year and downed the G-men earlier in this season. A Greenville victory tomorrow would be sweet revenge to any Greenville partisan.

Kinston has swept through the Northeastern Conference with hardly any opposition this year. Coach Farley's gang gave the Devils a rough time in Kinston but came out on the short end of a 48-43 score. The only other scare that has been thrown into Coach Amos Sexton's five was by the Washington Pam-Pack. Kinston eked out a 50-49 win over the Pack last Friday night.

The Phantoms also have not had much opposition with the rest of the conference. The Kinston defeat and a surprise loss to New Bern are the only blemishes on the Greenville record. Greenville had defeated the Bears rather handily in Greenville but the Bears caught

Ayden, Grimesland Girls Open Tournament's Games

Ayden and Grimesland girls, the eighth and ninth ranked teams in regular season play, will meet tonight at 6:30 in the first game of the Pitt County tournament in Farmville.

In the only game between the two teams during the regular season the Ayden sextet emerged the winner by a 44-32 margin.

In the second game tonight the Ayden boys meet the Grifton boys. These two teams are ranked eighth and ninth in regular season play. Neither team had won a county game until they met each other last Tuesday night—then Ayden won its first game.

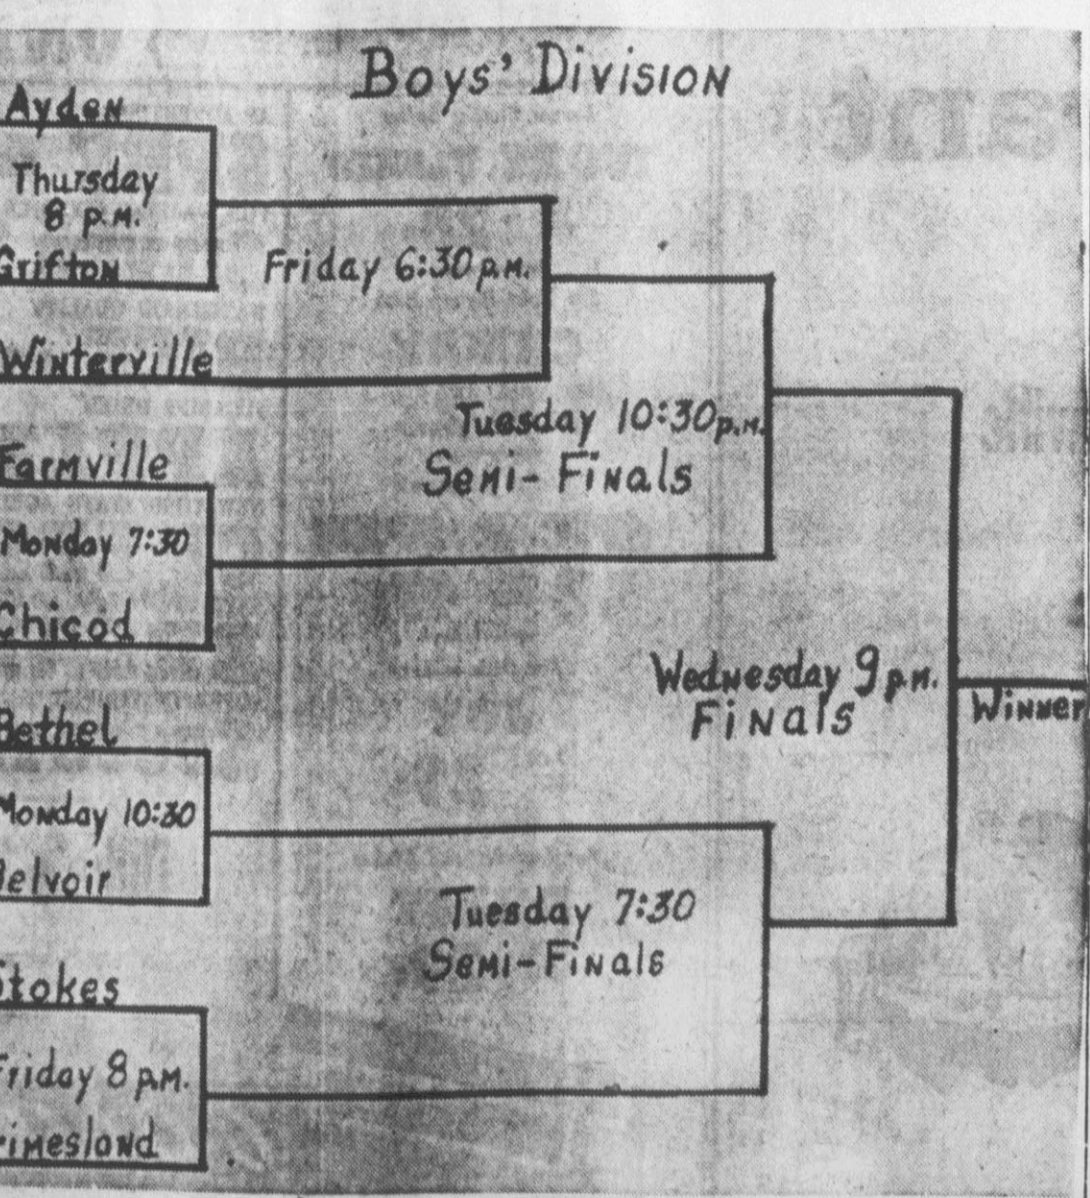

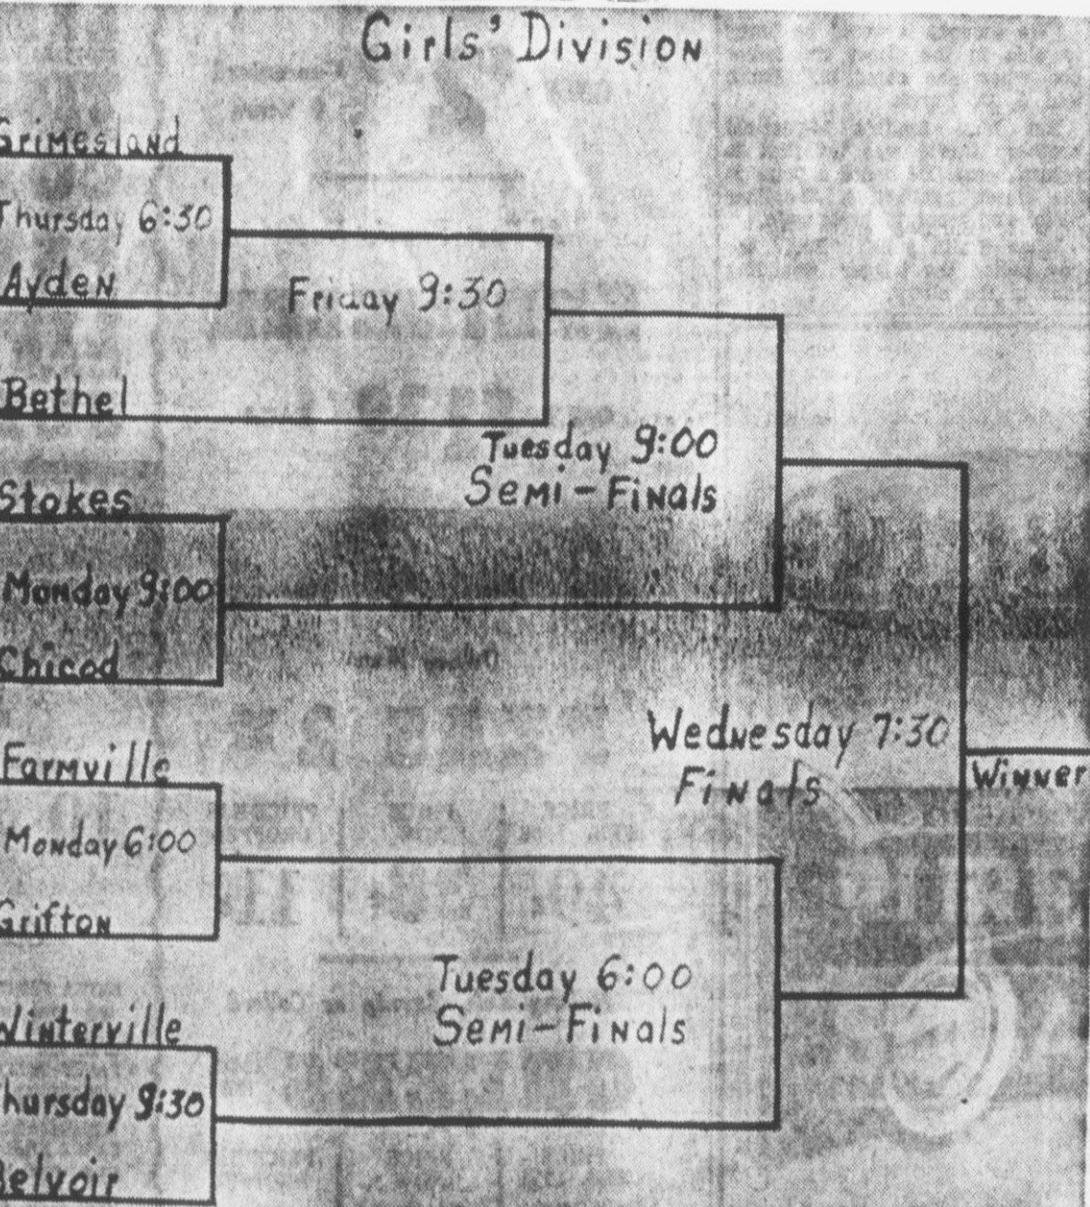

Completing tonight's activity will be a game between Winterville girls and Belvoir-Falkland. In the two regular season contests the Winterville sextet, ending the season in second place in the standings, defeated Belvoir-Falkland both times. Belvoir-Falkland ended seventh in regular season play.

Friday Night Activity

Opening Friday night's activity at 8:30 will be a game between Winterville boys, who placed first in regular season play, and the winner of the Ayden-Grifton game.

Following that game will be a contest between Stokes and Grimesland. Stokes finished in a tie for second place with Bethel, but when a drawing was held they won second place. Grimesland finished the season in seventh place.

Final game Friday night places first place Bethel girls meeting the

Farmville Wins Two From Grimesland

GRIMESLAND — Farmville High School's basketball teams took two games from the local cagers here Tuesday night. The girls game ended 51-29 and the boys contest 60-55.

Wooten's 22 points paced the Farmville girls. Teammate Flanagan had 13 while Mills, with 15, was high for the losers.

Jack Allen's 24 points was the high total for Farmville in the boys game with Teddy Allen right behind with 17. Andrews and S. W. Heath each collected 18 points to pace the Grimesland cagers.

Boxer Believes Philosophy Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Durando has a simple philosophy about boxing.

"If I can catch and hit a guy, then I've got him."

Having caught and belted Rocky Castellani the last time, the Bayonne, N. J., Bruiser feels very confident that he can do it again Friday night in Madison Square Garden.

"I'm going to try and knock him out again," he said as he finished his training in Stillman's Gym. "I'd like to make it real sensational."

Told that Castellani was a 2-1 favorite despite Ernie's seventh-round technical knockout in their last fight, Durando said:

"That's okay with me. I'm the best underdog fighter you ever saw. I was an underdog against Castellani two years ago. I was a 4-1 underdog to Charley Humes in Paris last October and I knocked the Frenchman out in the sixth round. Any guy I can hit I can knock out."

It seems that the heavy-fisted Jerseyite has to stop 'em to win. He has won 38 of 55 fights with 15 losses and 2 draws. He has flattened 27 rivals, almost 50 per cent. But of the 28 fights that went the limit, his record is a poor 11-15-2.

Reynolds And Yanks Far Apart

NEW YORK (AP)—How do the fat and prosperous Yankees stay "hungry" enough to keep on winning baseball championships?

They don't, Alie Reynolds said today—it's not hunger that drives them on, but fierce pride.

"They thrive on the idea of being the best," the big Indian right-hander added.

It's probably the same stuff that keeps Alie himself on the firing line although he's now 36. He is relieved of chores and rolling in oil riches.

"Sure, it's true I don't need my baseball paycheck to keep me going," he said, "but this is the game I got my start in, and it's hard to break away."

"I know there was talk I might chuck it this year and devote myself to my oil business. But my oil business doesn't keep me tied down. So I want to keep playing baseball."

"I'll play as long as I can help the Yankees. When I can't, I'll quit—but you can bet this, I'll quit on top."

Reynolds had a second conference scheduled here today with Assistant General Manager Roy Hamer over 1954 salary demands.

The Yankees are said to be offering the wealthy Cherokee no more than last year's $37,500, if that much. He is reported holding out for $40,000.

"That's another place where enters in," he said. "There's very little difference in my demands and their offer. But I'm too proud to take less than I think I deserve. It's principle."

Reynolds, perennial World Series starter for the world champions and holder of a proud 7-2 record in Series play, had a 13-7 winning mark last year but his stout relief pitching is credited with bringing the Yankees their fifth straight pennant and world title.

Davis Cuppers Seeking Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—The core of Uncle Sam's Davis Cup team—Tony Trabert, Vic Seixas and Bill Talbert—four leading foreign aces begin their quest tonight for the national indoor tennis championship.

Trabert, U. S. grass court champion and top-seeded entrant, drew the veteran Frank Shields, 1951 Davis Cup captain, as his opening foe at 8 p. m.

He will be playing simultaneously with the defending title-holder, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., who meets Desmond Margeson of New York, and Budge Patty of Los Angeles, holder of the French indoor title, who faces Ronald Holmberg of Brooklyn.

Seixas, who cracked a knee, suffered a plague of boils and lost his delicate touch in the recent cup campaigns at Australia, launched his comeback against young Don Thompson of New York.

Although Wimbledon champion, the Philadelphia plumber heir was seeded third behind Trabert and Larsen with the fourth position going to the world-touring Patty.

Seixas has a formidable service and an effective net game which should stand him in good stead on the Seventh Regiment Armory boards where ground strokes become of minor importance.

One of the best opening matches sends the 35-year-old Talbert, 1953 Davis Cup captain and two time indoor champion, against Gene Garrett at 9:30 p. m.

Fishermen Plan Five-Year Trip

NEW YORK — Lou Marron is going big-game fishing in a big way. Soon he will leave on a five-year expedition to the South Pacific.

But the jaunt will be more than just an extended fishing trip. Lou, one of the world's foremost deep sea anglers, will be accompanied by marine experts from the University of Miami.

The researchers will study the life cycles of the largest fish, breeding habits, general physiology and food sources.

Their vessel, "The Explorer," is 40 feet long.

The two scientists from Miami are Dr. F.G. Walton Smith, Director of the university's marine laboratory, and Dr. Luis Rivas, university ichthyologist.

Marron claims the world's record for broadbill swordfish—a 1,182 pounder taken on a 39 thread line off the coast of Chile on May 7, 1953. For the past three years he has been a member of the U.S. team in the International Tuna matches.

Assisting Lou and the university experts will be Mrs. Marron, a distinguished sportswoman, who has won many fishing trophies.

In late March the "Explorer" will start working off the coast of Chile for research on broadbill swordfish, marlin and tuna.

POLISH IS FATAL
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A drink of liquid silver polish was fatal for Gary Hagelbert, 13. Cyanide in the polish caused the death, the coroner said.

Monkeys are seldom troubled by fleas or chiggers.

Football Tonight

East Carolina College's football Pirates will close their off-season practice tonight in College Stadium with their annual Purple-Gold game.

Kickoff time for the contest will be at 8 o'clock. Proceeds from the admission prices will go to the Monogram Club at East Carolina. The prices will be 50 cents for students and a dollar for adults.

All members of the squad will participate in the contest tonight. The group has been divided into equal units and both will operate from the Pirates' T-formation.

Coach Jack Boone will be in charge of the contest.

Duke Grid Team Starts Workouts

DURHAM—With seven of last year's starters and seven other lettermen gone, Coach Bill Murray and his aides will lose no time in tackling their 1954 problem when off-season grid drills start here Tuesday.

And the fact is that they can spare no time in view of the job that is facing them.

Some of the great names in Duke football are included in the list who are lost. It is a matter of record that Captain Howard Pitt, end, Ed Meadows and Jesse Birchfield, tackles, Bobby Burrows, guard, Red Smith and Lloyd Caudle, halfbacks, and Byrd Looper, fullback, are among the all-time greats at the institution.

Other losses are Joe Hands and Bernie Jack, ends; Jim Logan and Walter Smith, guards; Dave Lerp, quarterback; and Jack Kistler, fullback. All of them saw much action for the Blue Devils last season.

There are 30 lettermen returning and the squad will also get some help from members of the unbeaten freshman outfit, among whose personnel are some of the most promising performers in Duke history.

It is known, however, that it is a big jump from the frosh to the varsity but it is also thought that some of those frosh of last season might have been regulars on the varsity had they been eligible.

The lettermen that Murray will have available are two quarterbacks, Jerry Barger and Worth Luis; three tackles, Fred Campbell, W. D. Pesperman and Lewis Berry; three halfbacks, Bill Conner, Nick McKeithan and Bob Pascal; three fullbacks, Sam Eberdt, Bryant Aldridge and Ronnie Falls; three ends, Jerry Kocourek, Tracy Moon and Sonny Sorrell; three guards, Marty Rose, Jim Nelson and Ralph Torrance; and two centers, Johnny Palmer and Doug Knotts.

Off-season drills will continue until March 20 when they will be capped off with an intra-squad game.

Honesty Pays Off; They Won Anyway

BELLFLOWER, Ill. (AP)—Here's the hard way to win a basketball game—but the honest way.

Coach Elroy Nickel of Bellflower High School thought his team had beaten Wapella High 62-61 Tuesday night. Nickel was feeling happy—with his second victory in 20 games—until he checked his score book when he returned home.

No matter how he added it up, the score came out 62-62.

He telephoned the Wapella coach, Hank Roehrich, 25 miles away. Roehrich and his team, plus cheerleaders and a group of Wapella fans, drove back to Bellflower last night.

The game was resumed where it left off. In the 3-minute overtime, Bellflower won 63-67.

If Selvy Wasn't, Pettit Would Be Cage Sensation

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit of Louisiana State would have been the talk of college basketball this season, if Frank Selvy had been out of the picture.

Furman's Selvy, of course, is the leading scorer in major college competition with a 42-points per game average and with almost every important record in his possession.

But Pettit, according to the latest NCA figures is second with a 33.1 average.

Bob's average is higher than any one ever has posted except for Selvy this season. He is well ahead of the record of 29.5 points per game established by the Furman ace last year. Pettit also has a career average of 27.4 points per game and three 60-points plus performances, the only other player besides Selvy to score that many more than once.

Selvy the senior from Corbin, Ky., has a career mark of 31.7 and has been over the 60 mark a half dozen times this season alone, hitting a peak of 100 last Saturday against Newberry.

There are other statistical departments in which Selvy doesn't hold the lead. Niagara's Charlie Hoxie and Larry Costello are the most accurate shooters in major competition Hoxie sinking 87.9 per cent of his shots from the floor and Costello 86.3 per cent from the foul line. And Connecticut's Art Kimbly is still the No. 1 man in rebounding, hauling in 23.3 a game to 22.2 for Charlie Black of Marshall and 22 for La Salle's Tom Gola.

Two National Hockey League coaches celebrated birthdays three days apart. Tommy Ivan of Detroit was 43 on Jan. 31. Boston's Lynn Patrick was 42 on Feb. 2.

Slade 'Outmaneuvered' Foe In Surprising Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jimmy Slade, 27-year-old comeback kid, has bounced right into the middle of the light-heavyweight championship picture.

"I outmaneuvered him," Slade said after scoring a surprising 10-round decision over Clarence Henry of Los Angeles in a nationally televised bout last night.

Slade, of Norfolk, Va., weighed 178½, Henry 186.

Jimmy's speed had Henry baffled through half the fight and then he added to Henry's confusion by rallying with telling blows every time it appeared he had been hurt himself.

"He only hurt me once in the ninth," Slade said.

Ringside witnesses thought, however, that Jimmy had been hurt half a dozen times. But it cost Henry dearly, for Slade came bouncing back each time with a flurry that had Henry backtracking.

Slade, ranked third among the light-heavyweights, gained a good deal of stature in upsetting Henry, who was being groomed as a possible challenger to heavyweight king Rocky Marciano.

Henry was the superior puncher all the way last night, but he didn't have enough opportunities to connect for it to do him too much good. Slade was devastating in attacking the body from the inside and danced away from almost everything Henry could throw at him.

Court Action May Come Of N. C. Prisons Unrest Probe

RALEIGH (AP)—Possible court action loomed today as a result of evidence uncovered in a probe of recent uprisings at the Halifax and Jackson County prison camps.

State Prisons Director William F. Bailey reported yesterday that the evidence had been turned over to the district solicitors — E. R. Tyler of Roxobel and T. D. Bryson Jr. of Bryson City—for possible prosecution.

"If prison personnel or inmates have violated the law," Bailey stated, "they will be held responsible."

On Jan. 24, Halifax inmates held two guards at knife-point for several hours before releasing them unharmed. Three days later, Jackson inmates seized a guard and held him hostage for several hours. In each case, Bailey quelled the disorders by meeting with the prisoners and assuring them he would look into their grievances.

Dead Woman Is Charged With Funds Shortage

DETROIT (AP)—A dead woman is charged with a felony in an investigation of the records of a Wayne County Circuit Court post.

Accused is the late Mrs. Freda Crofutt, who was the court's chancery clerk. After Mrs. Crofutt's death last September a shortage of $58,965 was found in her accounts.

A warrant charging conspiracy to violate gaming laws was issued yesterday against Mrs. Crofutt and Stanley Kulma, 32, alleged numbers operator. Investigation has brought out that Mrs. Crofutt played the numbers and bet on horses, and dabbled in the stock market as well, with court funds, officials said.

She was named in the warrant since it is necessary to name at least two persons to charge a conspiracy, the prosecutor's office said.

Chief Of Police Takes Cyanide After Fatality

WOODBIDGE, N. J. (AP)—Police Chief George E. Keating committed suicide by swallowing a dose of cyanide after killing a schoolboy in a hit-and-run auto accident, authorities have disclosed.

The 62-year-old chief, who was today for his 35 years of service on the force, took the poison in his home Tuesday about 12 hours after the accident in which 14-year-old Robert Bernardi was killed.

At first Keating's death was believed to have been due to a heart attack, but then an autopsy revealed mouth burns and the presence of cyanide.

"It is a most regrettable case involving this fine officer who had been one of the most outstanding policemen in Middlesex County," said Count Prosecutor Alex Eber.

lowing this, he added, the offenders will receive "administrative punishment" as provided by prison regulations.

The Halifax superintendent, James B. Turpin, has been transferred to the Vance camp near Henderson, Bailey said, and is being succeeded by E. G. Howe, who has been a fugitive officer.

Warm Welcome To Eisenhowers In Vacation Town

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower, warmly welcomed to this desert vacation resort, looked forward today to soaking up plenty of sunshine—much of it on the golf course.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here last night for five days of rest after a 9½-hour nonstop flight from Washington.

A crowd of about 3,000 persons turned out at the airport and cheered the couple as they descended from their private plane.

"We are delighted to be back here once again. We have been looking forward for a long time to this trip. We are delighted to be in this state."

The Eisenhowers—together with the First Lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud—were welcomed officially by California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

On hand, too, was one of the Eisenhowers' hosts, old friend Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of the Studebaker Corp., and former chief of the government's foreign aid program.

Hoffman invited Eisenhower to Palm Springs four years ago, but the Eisenhowers actually are staying here at the Smoke Tree Ranch home of Paul H. Helms, a bakery executive.

The ranch, close by snow-dusted, 10,800-foot Mt. San Jacinto, is a development made up of 61 privately owned homes. Hoffman's place is located about a block from Helms' home.

Hoffman told newsman Secret Service agents picked the Helms residence over his for the President because of security advantages.

"It has a closed patio, for example," Hoffman said, "and it has complete privacy."

He described it as a "very simple place" with four bedrooms. The Helms family is providing a cook and a butler for the Eisenhowers.

The President was accompanied from Washington by a small White House staff and he intends to mix some business with relaxation.

The population of the United States was 167,200,000 at the end of 1953.

National French Contest Slated For N.C. Pupils

The National French Contest, sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of French, will be administered in North Carolina secondary schools Wednesday, April 7, according to an announcement by Mrs. Marguerite A. Perry of the East Carolina foreign languages department, state contest chairman.

The purpose of the national contest, an annual event, is to encourage interest in French and to recognize excellence in scholarship among students of the language. All students of French in public, private, and parochial secondary schools are eligible to participate, Mrs. Perry states.

Last year 83 schools in the state were represented in the contest. Approximately 1650 students took the tests. Dinah Porter, student of the Greenville High School, took top honors.

The outstanding student of French in each school taking part in the contest will be awarded a "prix d'honneur" in the form of a certificate. Other prizes, including medals given by the French government, college scholarships, books, and records, will be awarded at the chapter, regional, and national levels.

Invitations to participate in this year's contest were issued early this week by Mrs. Perry to secondary schools throughout North Carolina. Tests will be given in schools entering the contests to students on four levels, according to their advancement in the study of French.

Schools wishing to participate have been asked to notify Mrs. Perry by Thursday, March 4, and to forward requests for copies of the tests. The examinations are standard printed objective tests in two parts, each of which requires thirty minutes for completion.

The four divisions included are: French I first or second semester of first year French; French II, first or second semester of second year French; French III, first or second semester of third year French; and French IV, first or second semester of fourth year French.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Walter Biebert, looking for an apartment here, turned one down because he thought the rent too high.

The apartment house manager was chagrined. The place, she said, had been vacant five months. "This," she said with feeling, "is what the Democrats did to the country."

Escapee Is Found By Barking Dog

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Charles Pryor, who operates a farm at nearby Lappas, became suspicious yesterday when he heard his dog barking in the barn and went to investigate.

He picked up a pitchfork and jabbed a piece of canvas on the ground. Out jumped Steven Dean, a 20-year-old Negro who had escaped the night before from the Maryland State Reformatory for Males.

Pryor summoned guards from the Breathedsville institution and they responded, taking Dean into custody. He was serving an 18-month sentence for larceny.

Neither Side Saw Room For Accord

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Two tigers moved up close to examine each other again, and again they withdrew to watch and wait and sharpen their claws.

That may be the historians' description of the Berlin meeting, which began Jan. 25 and ends this week, between the Big Four foreign ministers.

Three of them from the West—United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault—have talked four weeks with Russia's Molotov.

Neither side was expected to yield anything. Neither did. In that sense the meeting was not a disappointment.

But history may consider it a tragic disappointment if it turns out this was the last chance the Big Four had to settle their differences peacefully before World War III.

At Berlin the stumbling blocks were peace treaties for Germany and Austria, as they had been in one meeting after another since 1946.

This was only the latest in a series. The previous one was in September 1949. There may be others in the years to come.

If that's so, then this one, in spite of the attention it attracted now, may wind up as only a tiny footnote in history.

At the time of the first breakdown over Germany and Austria

This country and the rest of the West were practically unarmed; Russia was an arsenal.

Still, there was a balance between them: this country was peacemaker for Russia in number of men under arms but this country had the atom bomb which Russia didn't. The bomb was enough to discourage Russian attack in Europe.

In the years since 1946 both sides have built up their muscle, sharpened their claws, pushed and pulled and tested each other without locking in a full death struggle.

Communism—

Russia clinched her hold on the satellites, grabbed Czechoslovakia (1948) rushed development of the atom and hydrogen bombs, achieving her first atomic explosion in 1949, her first hydrogen one in 1953. And the Chinese Communists took over all of China (1949).

At war's end the Communists, in Russia alone, ruled 200 million people. Now communism, Russian and Chinese, rules 800 million under a solid Red military alliance that stretches from central Europe and across Asia to the Pacific.

The West—

Under the threat of Russia the United States moved on from the atom bomb to development of the hydrogen bomb and built up an atomic armory so vast it is beginning to put more reliance on atomic weapons, less on men.

The United States and Western Europe came out of the helplessness of their disarmament to new rearmament and formation of their own military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact (1949).

The tests—

When Russia threatened to gobble Greece and Turkey, former President Truman abandoned traditional American isolationism in peacetime by rearming them (1947). When Russia tried to force the Allies out of Berlin with a blockade (1948), this country smashed the blockade with the air lift.

When communism threatened impoverished Western Europe from within, this country helped it with Marshall Plan economic aid (1948). Communism tried another thrust with the invasion of South Korea (1950) but was blocked in a war that lasted three years, is not yet officially ended.

East and West grow steadily stronger. Neither, therefore, seems to think it necessary to yield anything. If either did, at Berlin it might have been the first paving stone on the road to ruin, so tightly are the two sides balanced.

Now like two tigers, each capable of uncorking sudden death, the two sides watch each other, each waiting for the other to jump or stumble or, perhaps, to die of indigestion.

Giant Runway Is Nearly Complete

MUROC LAKE, Calif. (AP)—A runway 15,000 feet long—almost three miles—and 300 feet wide is being constructed at Edwards Air Force Base here for the planes that are steadily pushing back the frontiers of flight.

The slab of concrete is 19 inches thick and is flanked by earth shoulders 300 feet wide. Pouring of concrete, with two giant paving machines in operation, is well under way. Completion is scheduled for November, 1954.

The runway is a major phase of the expansion program that is transforming Edwards Field into a permanent flight test center.

Library Will Use Miner's Lamps

NEW YORK (AP)—A new lighting system is being installed in the New York Public Library's book stacks.

In the meantime, employees were equipped with flashlights to locate books on the unlighted shelves. But they had a tough time manipulating flashlights when their arms were loaded with volumes.

The library has found a solution: it's ordered 48 miner's head lamps.

Praise Vintage Of 1953 Wines

BINGEN, Germany (AP)—Germany's world-famous vineyards along the Rhine and Moselle rivers promise to produce their best vintage since 1921. The grapes were blessed by a long, dry, golden autumn, a combination of weather that makes wine and the hearts of winegrowers sing.

"You will see," say old-timers here, "that the year 1953 will go down in wine history."

The harvest, while long in quality, was short in quantity. Frosts last spring killed off two-thirds of the crop.

New England's Fishing Fleets Migrate South

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP)—A southern migration of the New England fishing fleet is adding a new economic worry to that section, already concerned over loss of some of its textile industry.

Segments of the fishing fleet, a vital part of the economy for many New England coastal cities for many years, are moving to shrimping grounds in the Gulf of Mexico.

During the past four months the Massachusetts fishing centers in New Bedford and Gloucester in particular have seen some of their fish and scallop draggers head for the Gulf.

What is causing this southward migration?

Three Gloucester fishing captains who left recently to take up shrimp fishing at Gulf Shores, Ala., blamed their troubles on foreign competition, particularly from Canada, and low profits on catches. High insurance rates have been given as another cause.

One of the Gloucester skippers, Tony Frontiero, said:

"I can't see any profit there. I only paid an income tax of $36 last year. I have paid as much as $5,700 on one year. It is time to quit."

The Gloucester fishing captains said in Alabama operating expenses would be less and there would be no foreign competition.

New Bedford has seen more than 40 of its vessels, valued at several million dollars, leave for ports in Florida, Alabama and Texas. Unless they return, New Bedford said, several allied industries dependent upon the fishing fleet may be hard hit.

But at New Bedford, there was a feeling that with arrival of warmer weather, these vessels might head back. New England fleets normally do better financially in the summer. In the Gulf, the fall and winter months usually are the best.

Some, like Capt. Jens Larsen of New Bedford, operator of the 88-foot Gamnet, found that the larger New England fishing boats couldn't operate as profitably in the Gulf as do the smaller fishing vessels, and have talked of going back to New England.

Gulf Coast shrimpers, apprehensive over the new competition, haven't welcomed the newcomers with open arms. They said supplies of shrimp aren't sufficient to take care of the existing fleet.

Took Her Up On Shooting Idea

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—Mildred Hunter's boy friend took her up on it right away last night when she said:

"Well, if you're going to kill me you might as well do it now. . . ."

Thomas M. Bowling, about 29, a door-to-door magazine salesman, fired three quick bullets from a .22 target pistol and killed her, then fatally injured himself with a shot in the right temple, Sheriff's Deputies Alvis Porter and Otto Manns reported.

Bowling died en route to a hospital.

The deputies gave this account: Bowling and Miss Hunter, about 27, had been dating for two or three years. Bowling reportedly had been away from Logan several months.

Last night he appeared at the Jitterbug Inn, where Miss Hunter was seated with two other women and a man. He called her aside and said something to her which was not audible to the others.

When she told him, in effect, to fire away, he took the pistol from his belt and shot her.

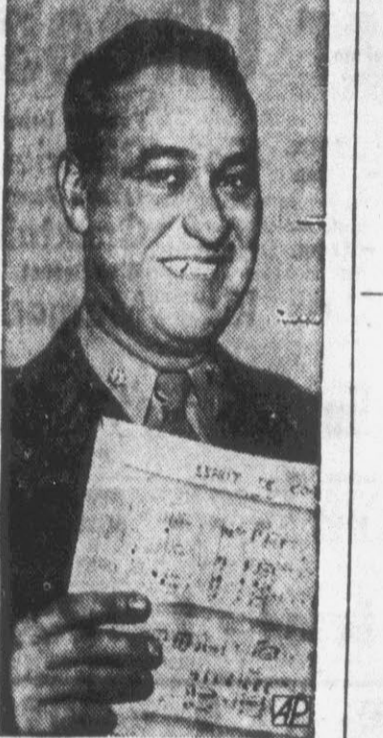

The motive was not immediately apparent, the deputies said.

Claim Shooting Down 2 Planes

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported today from Hangchow that Chinese Reds in Chekiang province have shot down two Nationalist planes from Formosa.

Antiaircraft fire sliced one of the U. S.-made F47s in two, the report said.

One plane plunged into the sea near Yuhwan, north of Wenchow Bay, and the other crashed and burned somewhere on land, the paper said. One pilot reportedly was killed.

Terms Spiritual Healing A Science, In Talk Here

Spiritual healing is today lifted out of the realm of blind faith into its true status of normal, demonstrable, divine science, Jules Cern of New York City told a large audience in Greenville Tuesday night.

Appearances to the contrary, man is spiritual—not physical—and knowledge of this is healing the sick as well as the stanning by prayer alone, Mr. Cern declared.

On nationwide tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Cern spoke under the auspices of Christian Science Society, Greenville, in the church building. Speaking on "Christian Science: The Understanding and Practice of God's Allness," he was introduced by Mrs. Lucille Tripp, First Reader for the society.

Worship of God as All—as Infinite Spirit—rules out physicality as actually real, Mr. Cern said. He held that there is nothing novel or unreasonable about rejecting matter as a basis for healing.

Commenting on the fundamental Christian Science teaching that "Spirit is All—instead of matter," he said: "This does not eliminate man and the universe; it illuminates man and the universe."

The Bible, he said, "supplies clear evidence that Christ Jesus, his disciples, the apostles, and the prophets before them had healed others."

Mr. Cern explained healing in Christian Science by stating that, to the Christian Scientist, "the belief that there is disease is all there is to being disease."

"Since there is no such thing as an incurable belief, there can be no such thing as an incurable disease."

Today, through the systematic teachings of Christian Science, he stated, "the assertion, 'God is all,' is not only a reverent declaration but a divine revelation. God's allness is not an emotional theory, but a devotional Science."

He went on to explain that Christian Science practice is not a question of the human mind over matter. He said it is "the humble acceptance of the allness of divine Mind, God—instead of matter."

The purpose of Christian Science, he told the audience, "is not to reveal what kind of a mortal one is, or what kind of a material body one has, but to reveal what a perfect spiritual idea of God man is and has always been."

To the Christian Scientist, he said, "Man does not exist in matter, as matter, or because of matter. He exists in and because of God."

"Even though the truth about man does not refer to a physical body."

May Cancel Film Due State Dept.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Plans for a motion picture based on the life of French entertainer Maurice Chevalier may be canceled on the basis of a refusal of the State Department to grant him a visa to enter this country, a producer announced yesterday.

William Goetz, an independent producer at Columbia Pictures Corp., said he is awaiting information which probably will determine the future of the picture. He previously announced plans to make a film of the French comedian's career with Danny Kaye in the title role.

The State Department said its refusal of a visa was based on the ground that Chevalier's presence in this country is considered contrary to the best interests of the United States. He had been refused an entry permit in 1951 on the basis of his signature on a Communist-inspired Stockholm peace appeal.

There was no indication in a statement issued by Goetz that Chevalier would take any part, advisory or otherwise, in making the picture.

DELRAY CLUB COUPE

with the year's brightest new idea in interiors!

Here's something really new and different in family cars. This Delray Club Coupe combines all the colorful smartness of a sport model with an interior that's designed for everyday family use. Seats, sidewalls, even the headlining, are all of soft, lustrous vinyl in color treatments that harmonize with the exterior color of your choice. A wide and handsome color choice it is, too!

And this new interior is just as durable and practical as it is beautiful. The vinyl is easily washable and amazingly resistant to scuffing and wear. You don't have to worry about little feet on the seats or the things that little hands might spill. And for grown-ups, here at last is a coupe that provides all the between-seat knee-room of a 2-door sedan!

The Delray Club Coupe is only one of the wonderful new Chevrolet models that give you new power, performance and economy in the lowest-priced line in the low-price field. Come in, look them over and choose your favorite.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U)—Enough firm spots persisted today in the stock market to keep it ahead in a quiet way.

Many minus signs flocked the list, but they were not heavy enough to weigh the market down. Trading hit a pace right around yesterday's 1,740,000 shares.

Higher on balance were the steels, motors, radio - televisions, oils, coppers, tobaccos, and electronics.

Aircrafts were just about alone in slipping as a group. Railroads were rather mixed.

Packard whose directors took no divided action yesterday, was off slightly. Douglas, down 3 points yesterday after directors proposed a two-for-one stock split, was off around a point today.

Missouri Pacific Preferred, favored in a reorganization plan, was up fractionally. Yesterday it gained 3/8.

American Woolen Prior Preference stock lost between 7 and 8 points, the preferred was off between 1 and 2 and the common gained a shade. The company announced it had lost around 9 1/2 million dollars last year. The company also announced that one critic of a plan to retire the two preferred issues had been made a director and another, already on the board, had been named chairman.

Among higher stocks were Illinois Central, Kennecott Copper, General Electric General Motors, and Zenith Radio.

Legion Post Gives Sum To Recreation

J. K. Hester (above, left), treasurer of the local American Legion post, presents a check to Louis Gaylord Jr., chairman of the Elm Street Park project, to be used for the completion of the community building now under construction at the park. Looking on is Ed Harris, commander of the local post. Members of the local post voted to present the money for the project at their regular meeting last Tuesday night. (Reflector photo by Alvin Taylor)

Pitt County Post No. 39 of the American Legion Tuesday night voted to donate $250 to the fund for completing the building at Elm Street Park. Commander Ed Harris presided.

District Legion Commander Rodney Latham of Washington, in a brief after-dinner speech, said that 40 sons of deceased war veterans are eligible for entrance at West Point and the same number for entrance at Annapolis each year, provided they can meet the army and navy requirements. College scholarships also are available to worthy boys and girls through the influence of the American Legion.

The February civil term of Pitt County Superior Court was adjourned yesterday afternoon by presiding Judge Howard H. Hubbard.

Seven divorces were granted during the term of court which opened Monday. Divorces were granted in the cases of: Grace H. Forrest vs. Allen C. Forrest; Ida Louise Edwards vs. Luther Earl Edwards; Verdie Cox vs. J. C. Cox; Mary Elizabeth Sutton vs. Lester M. Sutton; Dorothy Taylor Hatem vs. Henry Nimon Hatem; Raymond L. Collins Sr. vs. Irma Belle Collins; and Marvin Adolph Sayland vs. Mary Appel Sayland.

In the case of Fred Jenkins, executor for the last will and testament of Joanna Williams, vs. Aloizio Langley, a judgment was entered in favor of the plaintiff in the amount of $207.

Johnie Bowen, plaintiff in the case of Bowen vs. the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, administrator of the estate of Fannie V. Bowen, was awarded $750 by the jury in a claim of indebtedness against the estate of the deceased.

The case of W. G. Dunn vs. Eula P. Greathouse was settled with the plaintiff receiving $118.82 plus cost of the court action. The case of Carrie Dupree May vs. W. M. Monk was settled with the plaintiff being granted $307.

In the case of Ann Boykin vs. W. R. Elks and W. E. Jones, the plaintiff received $250 from each of the defendants plus one-half the cost of the court action from each defendant.

A non-suit was ordered in the case of Wilbert Rogers vs. Eubie Cox. The case of George Louis Beal vs. Roy Peterson Gaskins was dismissed.

In the case of L. F. Johnson and Samuel Northrop, trading as Bright Leaf Motors, vs. Archie Corey and Ernest H. Eaton, trading as City Cab Co., the court found Corey not to be a defendant in the case, and found Eaton sole owner of the automobile in question in the case.

The next meeting of the East Carolina Engineers' Club will be held in Washington, N.C., Wednesday, February 24 at 6:30 p.m. The group will assemble at Frank's Restaurant.

Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of East Carolina College, will be speaker. Although he has not announced a subject for his speech, it is understood that he will talk about some of the aspects of college scholarships for engineering studies.

Firms Announce New Associate

Officials of the Home Building and Loan Association and H.A. White and Son Insurance Agency of Greenville have announced the association of Herbert White Lee with the firms.

Lee recently resigned from the Diplomatic Pouch and Courier Service of the U.S. State Department and has returned to Greenville to accept a position with the local firms.

Lee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Lee of this city, and for the past five years has been with the Diplomatic Pouch and Courier Service of the State Department. Lee's last post was in Manila where he was Courier Service Supervisor for the Far East. He was previously stationed in Cairo, Egypt, and in Washington, D.C.

Lee is a native of Greenville and attended the University of North Carolina where he received a B.S. degree in political science in 1947. He served three years in the U.S. navy during World War II. Mrs. Lee is the former Miss Betty Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.V. Morton of this city.

Haddock School Recent Host At Discussion Meet

HADDOCK—Haddock School was host to parents and teachers of Robinson Union and Warren Chapel Negro schools at a recent meeting.

This was the fifth of a series of discussions on the theme, "Juvenile Delinquency—Its Causes and Remedies."

The topic under consideration was "Improving Juvenile Delinquency Through Better Schools and Community Relations," led by a representative of Warren Chapel School. Some points developed were: The value of secure family life, spiritual and emotional needs supplied, a guidance program that extends beyond the classroom and permeates the community, and church activities that reach parents and students—coordinated activities.

About 40 teachers and parents and friends of the schools were present.

Toothpaste Got Over Firemen

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (U)—Firemen had as much trouble with toothpaste as they did with flames and smoke while battling a fire in a semitractor near Springfield last night.

"We had toothpaste everywhere—in our coats, down our necks, on our equipment and alongside the road," said Rural Volunteer Fire Chief George B. Argill.

"There may be some teeth brushed with free toothpaste in the morning, but not mine. I've lost my taste for the stuff."

The truck, bound for St. Louis from Akron, Ohio was loaded with tons of dentifrice.

District Highway Talk Held; Discuss Program

Highway Commissioner Maynard Hicks of Snow Hill, commissioner of the second highway division, met here yesterday with district engineers and heads of other departments in the division for a general discussion of the highway program for this year.

Commenting on the meeting, Commissioner Hicks declared:

"We covered the whole field of the six departments thoroughly, and it has been agreed by all that the information received from this meeting will be a help to the department in accomplishing its one goal: a better highway system for the second division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission."

Hicks said maintenance in general was discussed at the meeting, and also the matter of advertising signs along the highways.

"We are having considerable trouble protecting our right of way from advertising signs," he said. "People don't realize the danger that is being caused traffic by these signs, and the hazards they are creating."

He pointed to a recently adopted ordinance which specifically prohibits the placing of advertising signs along the highways within the limits of the highway right of way. He said it was necessary for the new provisions to be adopted because of the number of advertising signs being placed in the right of way area of highways.

Attending the meeting yesterday in addition to R. Markham, division engineer, and members of the division office staff were: district engineers H. W. Wesley of Washington, G. Y. Griffin of New Bern and Heber Gray of Kinston; and department heads J. Saunders, L. L. Bishop, Paul Mallison, J. D. Parker, and J. L. McDonald, and R. G. Gregory.

Search Ordered For Missing Girl

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (U)—A statewide search for a missing 16-year-old high school girl was ordered last night by Sheriff Charles Seeley. He said there was a strong possibility she was abducted.

Mrs. W. C. Steinhauer, mother of the blonde, blue-eyed girl made a personal appeal for word of her daughter Darlene. In hope someone had seen the girl, she asked:

"If they'll just let us know she isn't dead."

Seeley said he has "dealt with missing girls a number of times in my life, but nothing like this." He added:

"There is apparently no way the girl could have gotten out of this county, but she has disappeared like magic."

The girl was let out of a friend's car about 1 a. m. Saturday after a date. She had about half a block to walk to the house where her family lives. She never reached home.

Steinhauer is a Burlington Railroad station agent at Wiggins, 13 miles west of here.

Living In Woods His Way Of Life

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—After 30 years of camping out along the Cape Fear river here, James Williams 78, a hermit, is convinced it's the best kind of life.

Williams' only home is a well-patched lean-to. For a short time about five years ago he lived in a home given to him, but "There just wasn't enough air in there for me," he drawled.

Occasionally he goes to town for staple groceries which he stores in a hollow tree.

The average American is eating about 40 per cent more lettuce than before World War II.

YOU Can Become a Practical Nurse

Qualified practical nurses are urgently needed now for positions of respect in private homes, hospitals, doctors' offices and institutions. Age and maturity are no handicaps! Mature women often preferred. Your only requirements—good judgment, ability to read, write and do simple arithmetic. Short, easy, inexpensive, spare-time training won't interfere with your present job or household duties. Learn how you can qualify for lifetime security, admiration, and service to your community.
