Dulles Says Geneva Parley Not Preliminary Step

'No Recognition' Of China

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles comes out today for round 2 in his fight to win Congress to his view that this country more than held its own at the Big Four meeting in Berlin.

He arranged to meet with the House Foreign Affairs Committee and presumably he planned to take the same line he adopted in briefing key Democratic and Republican congressional leaders yesterday: that U. S. agreement to seat Red Chinese delegates at an April conference in Geneva on Asiatic peace problems does not mean that U. S. recognition of Red China is in the offing.

Meanwhile, there was one indication that Dulles had failed to quiet all the doubts in the minds of the lawmakers with whom he talked for 90 minutes in his office yesterday.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, said in a New York speech last night he has "substantial" misgivings about the decision of the Big Four foreign ministers to invite the Chinese Reds to the Geneva conference, despite Dulles' assurance on the recognition question.

The Californian also objected to discussion of Indochina unless representatives of the affected states are on hand and enjoying an "equal voice."

Later Dulles issued a formal statement that "there would be no U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime." He said this country had obtained Russian agreement on this "so efforts to unify Korea and promote peace in Indochina could proceed without changing the U. S. basic position on China."

Knowland said that when Dulles comes before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee tomorrow he will be asked, among other things, "what price is expected to be paid" for a free and united Korea. Knowland is a member of that committee.

Knowland said the presence of the Chinese Communists at Geneva could be justified in discussion of a possible peace settlement in Korea, since the Reds fought in that war.

But he said he doesn't like the idea of talking about peace in Indochina "before there is a chance to determine what kind of a Korean peace can be achieved."

Four Young Men Arrested, Charged With Safe Theft

Four Craven County youths were arrested yesterday and charged with the robbery of the safe at Chocod School last Tuesday night.

Pitt County Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson who brought charges against the youths identified them as: Lonnie Worthington, Jr., 17; John Harvey Lilley, 18; Donald Edwards, 19 and Woodrow Morris, 20 all of Vanceboro route two.

Tyson said each of the youths admitted taking part in the safe robbery at Gardner and Brunson store last week. The safe, containing $400 to $500 in cash, was stolen from the store last Tuesday night, and was found buried in a woods near Vanceboro Sunday afternoon.

Arresting officers recovered 19 cartons of cigarettes from the robbers, and approximately $80 in cash which the youths said came from the safe. Tyson said the youths showed officers the spot in the woods near where the safe was found where they had buried $4.57 in pennies and $5.70 in nickels.

The Sheriff quoted the youths as saying they took the safe from the store and carried it to the woods in the Bear Hole Swamp section of Craven County where they saw a chisel, hammer and hack saw and force their way into the back of the safe. The following day, Tyson said, the youths returned to the woods and buried the safe.

Taking part in the round-up of the four yesterday were members of the Pitt County Sheriff department, Craven County Sheriff Charles Berry, SBI Agent Clyde Fentress, and Constable Miller of Vanceboro.

The four youths were being held in jail in Greenville under a bond of $1,000 each.

Lilley, Edwards and Morris were arrested near their homes in the Vanceboro community, and Worthington was arrested at Dover where he was working with his father on a school construction job. Charges of breaking and entering and larceny have been brought against each of the youths.

They are to be tried in the March term of Pitt Superior Court, Tyson said.

Showdown With Army Secretary Put Off One Day

McCarthy Pushes Attack

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) broadened his attack today on the Army's handling of alleged Communists in its ranks as he waited for a face-to-face showdown with Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

Stevens was to have appeared this morning before McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee to reply to the Wisconsin senator's charges that the Army was trying to "coddle and promote Communists."

But McCarthy late yesterday ordered the hearing postponed until Thursday, partly to accommodate Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), who had a conflicting engagement, but also, McCarthy said, to give Stevens a chance to prepare fully for his testimony.

Instead, McCarthy called a so far unidentified witness to a public hearing which he predicted would show "how the Army handled the case of another known Communist."

McCarthy said the inquiry has nothing to do with his blasts at the Army for honorably discharging Maj. Irving Peress, now a practicing dentist in New York. McCarthy has called Peress a "fifth amendment Communist."

Peress termed the McCarthy charges "sheer nonsense."

It was the Peress case that touched off a barrage of charges and counter charges between McCarthy and Stevens over the weekend.

Specifically, Stevens objected to the way McCarthy questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker in a closed hearing in New York last week. Zwicker is commanding general at Camp Kilmer, N. J., from which Peress was discharged at his own request on Feb. 2.

Stevens accused McCarthy of "abuse of our loyal officers" and "weakening the Army's prestige and morale by 'unfair attacks' as a man who had had one depression named for him he thought he could say with good authority there are no signs on the landscape of any big depression now."

Observing that economic dips occur about every five or seven years in free enterprise systems, Hoover added:

"You can have high confidence that this is only a passing dip, a slump, a readjustment or a recession, not a great depression."

He said the "combustible materials are not hereabouts to construct another conflagration like that of the decade of the thirties." Then, he said, a total financial collapse in Europe combined with public overoptimism and a weak banking system at home to bring about worldwide depression.

McCarthy told a news conference yesterday he believes control of Congress will turn in November on Zwicker and Maj. Gen. William Berrin, the Army adjutant general, not to testify in response to McCarthy's summons. Stevens said he would appear himself. Network television coverage of the session is planned.

McCarthy yesterday made public the transcript of the New York hearing and it showed that the senator at one point told Zwicker, a decorated veteran of the Normandy invasion: "You are not fit to wear that uniform."

The senator's transcript also showed, called Zwicker down for "hemming and hawing" and told him Peress' promotion from captain and honorable discharge was a "tremendous disgrace to the Army."

Zwicker, who protested after the hearing that McCarthy gave out a "colored" version of his testimony, testified he got an "official order" to discharge Peress and that he had no choice but to comply.

Hamilton To Be Freed Within Next Couple Days

Parole For Ex-Klan Head

RALEIGH (AP)—Thomas L. Hamilton, former Leesville, S.C., grocer who was head of the Ku Klux Klan when it spread terror in Columbus County in 1961 is being released from prison on parole.

Gov. Unstead signed a parole yesterday for Hamilton, 47, who is suffering from arthritis of the spine. Dr. C. H. Patrick, chairman of the State Parole Board, said Hamilton will be released from the New Hanover County Prison Camp within the next two or three days. It will take a little time, he explained, for the parole to be processed.

Hamilton, who has renounced the Klan, is going back to Leesville where his wife and daughter live. He plans to sell cars.

The former Klan head pleaded guilty in Columbus Superior Court in July, 1952 on two charges of conspiracy growing out of the flogging of a Negro woman. He received two years on each count. He had completed one of these sentences and would have finished the other next November.

Hamilton's trial climaxed a drive by state and federal officers on night riders in Columbus County. More than 100 persons were arrested. Nearly a score were given prison sentences, others were fined and received suspended prison sentences. Hamilton was the last of the former Klansmen in a North Carolina prison.

Dr. Patrick said Hamilton has been given a job by City Motor Sales of Augusta, Ga. He will be under the supervision of South Carolina parole officers.

About three months ago, Hamilton issued a statement renouncing the Klan. He said, "I am through with the Ku Klux Klan and believe all my former associates will best serve themselves and society as a whole by taking a similar stand."

In one of his letters to the parole board, Hamilton pledged he would "go back home to my job and forget about everything but being a good citizen and church member leaving all organizations but the church alone. . . From this day on I shall make it my business to see that my family is cared for and my daughter educated."

His parole file included letters from Clifton L. Moore, former solicitor who prosecuted him and who now is a Superior Court judge, and Willard Cole, Whiteville editor whose stand against the Klan won him a Pulitzer prize.

Moore said in one of his letters "there will be no criticism from me" if Hamilton were paroled.

Cole's letter stated he had no objections to a parole, adding he was impressed by Hamilton's declaration "that he is through with the Ku Klux Klan and his appeal to his former associates to join him in the dissolution of the Klan. . ."

Hopes Rise Over French Approval

By MARG PURDUE
PARIS (AP)—Informed sources said today that France's National Assembly probably won't even begin debating ratification of the European Army Treaty before the April 26 opening of the Geneva Conference on Korea and Indochina.

The debate, certain to be a long and bitter one, may open soon after the Geneva meeting starts.

The sources said such a schedule will be tentative and might be altered by unforeseen events. But they believed it likely that the Big Four foreign ministers themselves would attend only the opening days of the conference, leaving French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault free to return to lead the parliamentary battle for the European Defense Community pact.

The Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee is expected to spend another six weeks on its detailed examination of the treaty, finishing only three weeks before the Geneva gathering starts.

Sources close to the Cabinet said today that Bidault and other ministers who favor EDC ratification are now much more optimistic about its chances in the Assembly than they were a few weeks ago.

The unyielding attitude displayed by the Soviets at Berlin contribute some to this fresh optimism, they said. It has resolved the doubts of some wavering who had hoped for evidence of Soviet good will in the Big Four Conference.

But more important, they said, are assurances which reportedly were given to the French at Berlin by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Eden that both the United States and Britain would come forth at "the psychological moment" with guarantees of cooperation with and support of EDC that some doubters in the Assembly have long been demanding.

According to unofficial and unconfirmed reports in Paris, Dulles has agreed that the United States will pledge to keep ground forces on the continent in strength and consult with the French before reducing their numbers. Moreover, he reportedly has promised to back a move to extend the life of the North Atlantic Treaty from 20 to 50 years to parallel the term of the EDC treaty.

First Youngsters Get Injections In Major Test

Begin Polio Vaccine 'Shots'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The first group of youngsters today received their injections of Salk's vaccine—science's new hope of conquering polio.

Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of the vaccine, administered the injections personally, as he will to all 5,000 first, second and third-grade pupils between now and June in 19 Pittsburgh schools.

Under terms laid down by Dr. Salk, names of the children were withheld. The youngsters were given no prior warning.

The University of Pittsburgh scientist said he wanted them to approach the tests in a completely normal frame of mind without building up mental tensions. The first injections were given at Arsenal Elementary School.

Salk has planned the local test so he can watch the vaccine's effect step-by-step in the youngsters receiving it.

Blood tests will be given with the injections—which may number as many as three for each child—to record the progress of the vaccine in building up immunization to the crippling polio virus.

The first large-scale effort is to determine whether the vaccine will confer the hoped-for immunity from infantile paralysis. But the vaccine has been tested, over a period of years, on countless laboratory animals and on more than 600 human beings.

So confident is Dr. Salk that the vaccine will help those receiving it that he, his wife and their two children were among the first to be inoculated.

The vaccine itself is a combination of the three paralysis-producing strains of polio known to science. It is cultured in laboratories and safety-tested before it is administered.

Once injected, the vaccine induces a mild case of polio which the system conquers, strengthening its natural resistance to the disease.

Dr. Salk believes the vaccine will produce immunity for as much as seven months after injection.

While the Pittsburgh test is the first for Salk's vaccine, it will not be the only one.

Hundreds of thousands of youngsters throughout the nation will receive injections during the spring in a campaign conducted by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

British Build Big Anti-Sub Fleet

LONDON (AP)—Britain disclosed today she is concentrating on building a vast anti-submarine force equipped with new and secret devices to protect this country's ocean lifelines.

"Emphasis will remain on the completion of anti-submarine forces and on completion of aircraft carriers under construction," the Admiralty said in a budget memorandum.

The revamped navy is obviously designed to counter Russia's submarine strength.

A Ministry of Defense spokesman told the House of Commons yesterday the Soviet Union now has about 350 submarines. Britain has only 57.

The Admiralty said re-equipping the Fleet Air Arm with jet and turbo-jet fighters planes has been stepped up and "further deliveries of aircraft fitted with airborne early-warning radar are proving of great value in the Fleet."

The memorandum, submitted by J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, said three carriers soon will be completed.

Britain presently has one fleet carrier in service and five others in training and reserve.

Thomas said the main bulk of research and development is directed to anti-submarine, anti-mine and anti-aircraft work.

Stokes Store Is Robbed In Night

Thieves smashed the front door of Jerome Perkins Store in Stokes last night and made off with merchandise valued at $700 to $800.

Pitt County Sheriff's officers were pressing the investigation today in an effort to apprehend the thieves who looted the store of four automatic shotguns and rifles, other firearms and a quantity of other merchandise.

A preliminary inventory of the store this morning showed one 16 gauge and two 12 gauge automatic Savage shotguns were stolen, one double barrel Stevens 12 gauge shotgun, one .22 caliber automatic rifle and one .22 caliber bolt action rifle.

Also missing, Perkins reported, were a quantity of shirts and pants, bullets for the guns, and approximately 100 cartons of various brands of cigarettes.

The thieves, officers said, apparently tried unsuccessfully to remove the lock from the front door of the store, but instead broke the glass out of the front door to enter the store.

The robbery was discovered early this morning.

Taking part in the work on the case today were Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and Deputies Lloyd Manning, Jasper Lee Mills and Arthur Andrews.

Congress Told Chinese Reds Killed 15 Millions

By RUSSELL BRINES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson has told Congress the Chinese Reds in "just about the bloodiest pattern that the Communists have followed in any country in the world," have killed about 15 million of their own people since 1949.

Robertson, whose province is Far Eastern affairs, attributed this huge death toll to liquidations and government-ignored starvation.

In testimony on the State Department's budget request, made public by the House Appropriations Committee today, Robertson said the department anticipates in Asia for the foreseeable future "emergencies, crises and problems of the greatest importance and magnitude."

He made these other main points:

1. A basic American strategy is to keep powerful Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa as a constant threat of American-supported military action against Red China.

2. On the mainland "there is a deep undercurrent of unrest and resentments that would be glad to follow some other leadership if it had the chance."

3. New outlets must be found for Japanese trade, including more access to American markets, "or we will inevitably throw Japan into the Communist orbit."

4. For an indefinite period "we must make a contribution toward keeping our allies strong." In "Formosa and Korea we have an army of just about one million men . . . a big reserve against trouble in Asia" but a financial drain too heavy for these countries to handle alone.

Robertson, who once served as President Eisenhower's personal envoy to South Korea, gave this sketch of Communist China from available information:

The mainland had one of its worst famines in history in 1950. "Throughout that period the Communist government was exporting food, with thousands of people dying of starvation, to Soviet Russia in exchange for industrial equipment and military supplies."

Rep. Carlyle To Seek Re-Election

DUNN, N. C. (AP)—U.S. Rep. F. Ertel Carlyle, a Lumberton Democrat, will seek re-election for his fourth term as congressman from the 7th district.

Carlyle announced yesterday he will seek nomination in the coming Democratic primary. Fayetteville lawyer Beavly Carroll will oppose him.

Bladen, Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, New Hanover and Robeson counties make up the 7th district.

Report Pontiff Suffers Relapse

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Plus was reported today experiencing renewed difficulty in taking food. Anxiety increased over his health.

Vatican sources said that the 77-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has had more difficulty during the past two or three days in taking food.

The Pope has been suffering for more than a month from a gastric ailment whose nature has never been definitely disclosed, if it is definitely known.

In the most recent announcement on his health, the Vatican press office said that it was hoped that the Pope might soon be able to take all his nourishment orally.

French Relieve Beseiged City

SIAGON, Indochina (AP)—The French command announced tonight that the 18-day siege of Muong Sai, 45 miles northwest of Luang Prabang, the royal capital of Laos, has been lifted with the aid of American donated B26 bombers.

The high command said elements of Vietnamese Division No. 308, which unleashed an offensive toward Luang Prabang Jan. 30, has pulled back its forces from the vicinity of the capital as well as Muong Sai. The division is regrouping in the valley of the Bac River 50 miles northwest of Luang Prabang.

GET SALARY HIKES
OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's House of Commons yesterday approved salary boosts of $10,000 a year for the Prime Minister and $5,000 for each of the 21 other Cabinet ministers. Prime Minister St. Laurent's pay will be $37,000 and his ministers' $27,000.

Japanese Return To Iwo Jima; Salvaging Remnants Of Battle

IWO JIMA (AP)—The Japanese are back on Iwo Jima, the surplurpocketed island which in World War II cost the U. S. Marines 20,000 casualties to win.

Two hundred and fifty Japanese workmen are salvaging junk left over from the fighting nine years ago to ship back to Japanese factories.

They are working under an agreement between the U. S. military and a Japanese firm. American salvage firms turned down the project as uneconomical because of the distances involved and present U. S. scrap prices.

Atop Mt. Surabachi, the American flag flies where it was planted Feb. 23, 1945—one of the few spots where the Stars and Stripes are never lowered.

"We use about one flag a week," said Maj. Harry M. Edwards of the 1st Air Force base used by trans-Pacific planes.

Nearby are four shrines, s killed

Japan was permitted to send religious groups to build them.

Looking down on the black sands of the invasion beach from atop Surabachi, it is hard to believe that any force could storm up that open stretch in the face of 135 dug-in positions commanding every inch of the approach.

Japanese workmen have removed almost every sign of the heavy casualties still being removed, however, is a landing ship which had been washed high up on the beach, then covered by the sand.

Workmen are digging it out and cutting it up with torches.

There still is plenty of evidence of the beating Japan took. The gun ports and block houses along the cliffs bear multiple marks of machine gun, rifle and grenade attack.

The stench of volcanic sulphur still dominates the air but the scenery has changed. New foliage has appeared. Some spots have a jungle appearance.

One of the island's three air strips, with a 10,000-foot runway, remains in use. The Air Force keeps a 350-man force there.

High grass today covers the area where the 5th Marines cut across the southwest end and isolated Surabachi.

The Japanese junkyard is on the beach opposite the invasion beach. A Japanese workman is cutting up the remnants of a Japanese Zero plane. The metal is taken to a small plant and compressed into bales.

One huge stack of compressed metal was made from beer cans discarded by the Americans.

Also in the junkyard are tanks, rolls of barbed wire, rusting vehicles, plane parts and amphibious craft.

Once baled the metal is moved to the 88 Eastern Pilot, a rusting bulk rammed into the beach and forming one section of a breakwater. There it is lowered into boats and taken to small Japanese steamers offshore.

Constable Files For Re-Election

T.L. Perkins of Stokes filed Monday for re-election as constable of Stokes Township.

Perkins has been constable in Stokes for a number of years. He is the second man to file as a candidate for constable of a township. Roland R. Cannon of Ayden filed Saturday for candidate of Ayden Township.

Senate Returns To Long Debate Over Bricker Amendment Today

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate goes back to its lengthy debate on the Bricker proposal to curb treaty powers today with leaders pressing for final action on the thorny question this week.

The proposed constitutional amendment has been before the body for almost a month, although laid aside temporarily for some other business.

Republican Leader Knowland of California told newsmen he thought the Senate now was ready to dispose of the matter tomorrow or Thursday. He said considerable other legislative business is piling up.

Up for consideration today is an amendment offered by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to his own original proposal, which drew strong opposition from President Eisenhower.

Bricker now proposes to write into the already-revised resolution a provision that a treaty or other international agreement cannot become effective as domestic law unless Congress passes legislation on it, or unless the Senate so provides by a two-thirds vote in ratifying a treaty.

This is a substitute for a broader provision which was knocked out in Senate voting last week. But even the milder version seems doomed.

Next, Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) may offer a motion to send the entire resolution back to the Judiciary Committee for further study, an action which would shelve it indefinitely.

Knowland has expressed confidence the motion will be beaten.

Next, Sen. George (D-Ga.) is scheduled to call up his substitute, which many senators believe will get the most support of any of the alternatives before the Senate.

The key section of George's proposal provides that an international agreement negotiated by a president and not sent to the Senate for ratification cannot become effective as domestic law only if Congress so provides in separate legislation. This is opposed by the administration.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) spoke out in behalf of the treaty curb amendment yesterday, telling an audience at Newark, N. J., that "acts of at least two recent presidents have, in the minds of many, violated this fundamental principle" that the Senate shall have a voice in approving international agreements.

Byrd said the Bricker amendment would protect Congress' powers from "usurpation by any president as inclined."

Thieves Take $523 From Local Firm Over Weekend

Thieves broke into Folger Buick Company over the weekend and stole $523.93, according to police reports.

The loss was discovered by Lee Folger, operator of the establishment, when he opened for business Monday morning.

Folger said that the money was kept in a locked filing cabinet in the office of the building. He said that the cabinet was presumably locked Saturday and was found open Monday morning with the money missing. Folger noted that he locks the cabinet himself each day.

The owner said that the company closes at one o'clock Saturday afternoon but that someone was in the building until six o'clock. Evidently, he said, the theft took place sometime between six Saturday night and eight o'clock Sunday morning.

The cabinet was located in the office of the building and police reports show that it was the fourth robbery of the company in recent months. Folger reported that on the first occasion $20 was taken from the cabinet, the second burglary saw $90 stolen and the third, $30.

Folger noted however that the losses were covered by insurance.

Police are continuing their investigation of the theft.

Dr. Hirshberg Speaks To Aries Book Club

Aries Book Club members held a most enjoyable meeting on Thursday night, February 18, at the home of Mrs. Leo Jenkins on Rutledge Road. Lovely arrangements of early spring flowers were used throughout the living and dining areas.

Special guests for the occasion were Mesdames J. D. Mesick, Charles De Shaw, Wendell Smiley and Dr. Ed Hirshberg.

During the business session Miss Grace Outland, president, called for reports from the secretary and treasurer and appointed a nominating committee for officers for the coming year.

The short subject was given by Mrs. W. C. Goodwin, who read an article from the December issue of Popular Mechanics entitled "Here Come the Corvettes." This brought the listeners up-to-date on the mass production of plastic cars by Chevrolet. In addition several helpful household hints were passed along to club members by Mrs. Goodwin.

Mrs. Jenkins then presented Dr. Hirshberg of the East Carolina College English Department, who gave a very amusing and enlightening resume of some of the things that have been happening in women's magazines, as well as very humorous comparison of feature stories in some of the most popular men's magazines such as Esquire, Male and Stag.

Using illustrations from Vogue, Mademoiselle and Harpers Bazaar, Dr. Hirshberg brought out the fact that in addition to fashion articles these magazines include much good, worthwhile material concerning cultural subjects.

Particularly enjoyed by all was his reading of the poem "Under Milk Wood" by the late Dylan Welcham, claimed by some as one of the greatest of our contemporary poets.

This is a rather peculiar poem, composed of half prose and half verse. Dr. Hirshberg called particular attention to how the great charm of Thomas, his imagery comparing things to make them more vivid, was used throughout the poem to paint scenes of his native village in Wales and to clearly depict the people whom he knew.

Dr. Jenkins joined the group for the enjoyable social hour which followed.

Miss Outland poured punch from an attractively appointed table and guests served themselves to tasty accompaniments.

Books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Wilbur Murphy Scored High Award At Bridge Party

GRIFTON—Mrs. David Parker entertained on Friday night at an enjoyable party at her home on McRae Street with players for three tables of bridge. Gladoli and joulous were used in the rooms where the guests were received. Apple pie a la mode with coffee was served at the refreshment hour.

Mrs. Wilbur Murphy scored high, Mrs. Paul Bradley second high among the club members. The consolation went to Mrs. Heber Wade. Others present were Mesdames Jake Worthington, Bryan Davis, John Coward, Charlie Gardner, C. T. Jackson, Albert Tyson, Walter Murphy, Claude Hart and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

Grifton Hostess Entertains Club

GRIFTON—Thursday night Mrs. Julius Chauncey was hostess to members of her contract club for an interesting session at her home here. Bowls of quince, joulous and red candles made a pretty setting for the party.

Three tables were in play with Mrs. Bill Rabberry scoring high. Mrs. Heber Wade high among the visitors and Mrs. Milton Hart received the low score award. Others playing were Mesdames G. L. Tucker, Roger Johnson, Roy Jackson, Ben G. Tucker, Sam Nelson, Edward Hart, Hunter Shackelford, Edwin Reeves and Woodrow Smith.

The hostess served heavenly hash, cake and coffee at the refreshment hour.

North Carolina estimates it has about 9,250,000 laying hens.

Teen-age Turnout

By Ruth Evelyn Topping and Ann Ruffin
"Man, These Phantoms Are Gone!"

Now, can you believe it! The Greenville Phantoms have at last beat the Kingston Red Devils! In a game Friday night in the GHS gym, the Phantoms dropped 68 points and the Red Devils dropped only 54.

The Jr. Varsity squad played a good game, but they came out on the short end.

Come One, Come All—Come one, come all to the Eastern District Basketball tournament in the East Carolina college gym February 26, 27, and 28.

Three games played Thursday night include Greenville vs. Roanoke Rapids, Elizabeth City vs. Jacksonville, and Washington vs. New Bern. Kingston drew the bye.

Happy Birthday! Happy Birthday and many happy returns of the day were wished to Olive Venetia Morrill as GHS students walked into the Woman's Club Saturday night. They walked into the hall room they fell into the gala atmosphere of beautiful sweeping evening dresses, happy couples, and dreamy music.

On a long table at one end of the room sat the most gorgeous cake. It was piled three layers high and perched on the top was a story book doll dressed in a pink gown and the very imitation of Olive.

"In the Mood for Love" "I'm in the Mood for Love" was one of the favorite recordings that 20 teenagers danced to Friday night.

Betty Jean Hales and Joy Jordan, hostesses, served cokes at Betty Jean's home after the dance at Greenville high.

Congratulations

Greenville high has chosen two Citizens of the Month for the first time in years. Shelby Wayne, senior, and Willis Stancill, freshman, were chosen by a committee of English teachers and class presidents.

Shelby is an honor student and plans a nursing career. Willis, also an honor student, is active in the Sea Scouts organization.

"We're New York Bound!"

"We're New York bound!" cry the journalism students of GHS. March 11-13 is the date of the Columbia Scholastic Press convention which the students will attend. During this convention the school newspaper, "Green Lights" will be graded. For the past two years "Green Lights" has received medalist rating, the highest grade given.

Students going to New York are Mary Will Long, Marylyn Bested, Jack Clifford, Frances Adams, Artemis Kares, Sally Beard, Harris Northrop, Rachel Steinbeck, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Goodman, chaperones.

Helplessly Sees Young Son Die

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An invalid father watched helplessly from a wheel chair while his son, 4, burned to death in a garage fire.

Firemen said the boy, Mark Clark, apparently hid in a car in the garage while playing with neighborhood children yesterday. His brothers David, 12, and Edward, 15, tried to reach him but were driven back by the flames.

Overcome by grief, the father, Archie Clark, was taken to a hospital.

Local Kiwanians Meet With Farmville Club

FARMVILLE—Fifty-nine Greenville Kiwanians attended an inter-club supper meeting with the Farmville Kiwanis Club in the High School cafeteria last night.

Frank K. Allen of Farmville was master of ceremonies. He welcomed Past Lt.—Governor Ed E. Rawl of Greenville as the "daddy" of the Farmville Kiwanis Club.

Eli Bloom of Greenville had charge of the program. Hunter B. Keck of the Greenville club made arrangements for the inter-club meeting. Chester Walsh extended greetings for the Greenville Kiwanians.

Tige Gardner, star of the Kiwanis minstrel show, and Mary Dunn Beatty, director of the dance for the minstrel, headed the program of music and dancing. Miss Beatty did a dancing specialty for the Kiwanians.

A trio, Shirley Emerson, Jean Matthews and Mrs. Jean Burton, sang several songs, with Christine Smith as accompanist. Mrs. Jackie Kinsall sang a popular song, and Tige Gardner and Eli Bloom interspersed the program with comedy.

Mrs. Ray Tyson of the Greenville club and Miss Lou Taylor Lewis of Farmville were accompanists for the singing of "Happy Days Are Here Again," and other group songs.

Continues Series Of Special Services At Local Church Tonight

Dr. F. Crossley Morgan of Concord, N.C., continues his special services in the First Presbyterian Church tonight at eight o'clock and his subject will be "The Conquest of Fear."

"The Christian Home" was the theme of Dr. Morgan's message Monday evening in which he declared that the Christian home has its origin and foundation in the nature and character of God, taking as the text of his sermon "For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father, from whom every family in heaven and earth is named", Ephesians 3:14-15.

Each morning at ten o'clock Dr. Morgan teaches a systematic and consecutive study of the "Prophecy of Haggai".

The public is cordially invited to all services.

It was recalled last night that group of Greenville Kiwanians headed by then president Ed E. Rawl sponsored the organizing of the Farmville Kiwanis Club in 1945. Rawl said "the Farmville club is one of the most active clubs in the Carolinas Kiwanis District."

After 40 Years They'll Be Wed

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—The romance of two German youngsters before the start of World War I comes to fruition March 4 in a marriage ceremony at Anchorage, Alaska, after some 40 years of "pen-palling."

Eric Tobehn, now 54, was called too young to become engaged to Charlotte Staudte, 53, when the two were childhood sweethearts in Bad Lovisick, Germany. After Eric was called up for the army, Charlotte's letters followed him through the war years.

Out of the army, instead of returning home, he joined the merchant marine and, in 1926, settled in America. The last several years he has lived at a boarding house operated by Mrs. Oscar Westlund at Mound, Minn., just outside of Minneapolis. Charlotte's letters still came.

But Tobehn didn't have the cash to pay her one-way passage here. He did, however, regale Mrs. Westlund with tales of what a wonderful cook Charlotte was. So Mrs. Westlund last year sponsored Charlotte and employed her.

A planned wedding last Christmas was abandoned when Tobehn lost his job. Now working for the government in Alaska, he recently wrote to set the date and told of an apartment he has for his bride-to-be in Anchorage.

Her white satin wedding dress all ready, Miss Staudte boards a plane for Alaska Friday.

The United States and Britain are among the few nations which have not accepted metric measurements—meter, gram, liter.

Stokes Methodist Church Scene Of Briley-Stokes Wedding

Stokes Methodist Church was the setting for the February 7 wedding of Miss Betsy Jane Stokes and Robert Earl Briley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stokes of Stokes. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Briley of Stokes.

The Rev. W. H. Willis of Kingston officiated. Wedding music was presented by Miss Joy Perkins, Stokes, pianist, and Miss Donna Smith, Lucama, cousin of the bride, soloist. Miss Anne Stokes, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Gilbert, Kingston, cousin of the bride, and Miss Barbara Ann Bullock, Belvoir, cousin of the bridegroom. Miss Stokes wore a street-length dress of iridescent sheer, silk shantung trimmed in purple velvet, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and full skirt. Her headpiece was a half-hat of pink forget-me-nots. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations with matching ribbon.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Earl Respass of Pantego, the bride wore a street-length dress fashioned with molded bodice of natural lace, high round neckline, bracelet-length sleeves, bouffant skirt of natural faille with inserts of lace. Her accessories were navy. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Best man was Lindsey Rae Briley of Pictious, cousin of the bridegroom. The ushers were Ken Evans, Greenville, cousin of the bride, and Bert Dixon, Greenville.

The mother of the bride wore a black, silk faille dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom wore a navy, crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For travel the bride wore a light blue jersey dress with white angora trim, navy hat with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses. Upon their return from a bridal trip through Florida they will make their home in Stokes.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Stokes High School and attended East Carolina College.

Health officials indicated they would await such reaction before determining the extent to which gamma globulin is used in 1954—and how.

A group of 17 polio experts appointed by the U.S. Public Health Service reported last night that:

1. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin, a blood derivative, prevented or mitigated paralytic polio when given in mass inoculation programs to all children in the 33 areas in 13 states which had epidemics last summer.

2. It had found no evidence that gamma globulin was effective when given to family contacts of persons stricken.

However, the committee qualified its statement about the mass inoculation program by saying that observations did not provide enough information to permit it to conclude whether or not gamma globulin had an effect in preventing or alleviating the disease when used in this way.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had announced that it would make available for use this summer three million doses of gamma globulin, worth 19 million dollars. It reaffirmed those plans in commenting on the committee's report.

Foundation President Basil O'Connor said the finding in the case of family contacts "was to be expected" and that the foundation, foreseeing that had urged unsuccessfully last year that "by far the lesser amount of GG be used that way."

Lions Hear Talk By Beatty, Moss At Weekly Meet

Kenneth Beatty, superintendent of the Greenville Street Department and John Moss of the Pitt County Health Department presented a program to the local Lion's Club at their regular weekly meeting last night.

The two men showed the club a movie illustrating the proper receptacles to be used for garbage. Beatty told the Lions that, of the $110,000 budget on which the street department operates approximately 70 per cent goes for garbage collection.

The club members heard a report by Ruland Davenport on the Newcomer's Party to be held March 19 at the West Greenville School. Junior Lion for the evening was O.J. Stanton.

Following Ducks Cost Tot's Life

TECUMSEH, Okla. (U)—A 17-month-old boy played "follow the leader" with a flock of ducks yesterday and the game cost him his life.

Mrs. Effie Boyle, mother of Donald Oliver Boyle, said she saw him following the ducks down to a stock pond on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Cargill, grandparents of the youngster.

The ducks walked into the pond and began swimming. Young Donald did the same, and sank. He was dead before his mother could reach him.

Major Stumbling Block Being Removed

A major problem which once stood in the way of the proposed new route for highway 11 just north of Greenville apparently is being cleared up rapidly.

Representatives of Greenville and Pitt County who conferred with Civil Aeronautics Administration officials have asserted that approval for two proposed highway routes have been assured by the CAA, and approval for another route—the primary route—is virtually assured.

With that point of right of ways on or adjacent to the Pitt-Greenville airport property for the new highway cleared, every effort should be made by officials of the second highway division as well as local leaders to push the highway project as rapidly as possible.

The way the project has been pictured, the question of a right of way for the proposed highway route adjacent or across the airport property has been the key to the situation. From indications now, that key is about to turn to open the way for further steps to be taken to move the project from the paper stage to the actual construction stage.

Second division highway officials have said the new highway to join highway 11

It Appeared More Like A Gossip Circle

In our opinion the uninvestigated charges which were brought against Chief Justice Earl Warren in the consideration given his nomination to the Supreme Court by a Senate subcommittee exhibits one of the most ignoble instances of bad taste we have witnessed in Congress in a long time.

There were 10 charges against the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court which were made public by the committee staff and put into the public record. In generalities, they accused the former Governor of California with a host of things including being czar of illicit activities in California and following the Marxist line.

The most shocking thing is not that charges were brought, but that the subcommittee put into the public record without so much as trying to determine whether there were a shred of truth to any of the charges.

In other words, the subcommittee appeared willing to take any charges or rumors anyone in the nation wanted to make against the Chief Justice and place it in the record. As a matter of fact, they did not even check to see whether the names which were signed to the charges were names of real people.

In our opinion, the incident is one of the most irresponsible things which has been done recently by a Senate subcommittee. Such might be expected from McCarthy and his hatchmen, but not from a judicial subcommittee.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
NATURE OF TEMPTATION

The story of the temptation of Adam and Eve found in the third chapter of Genesis is one of the most remarkable in the entire Bible. The serpent tempts Eve to eat of forbidden fruit, implying that the reason why God does not want the human pair to eat the fruit of the knowledge of good and evil is because, having eaten it, the eyes of the two creatures shall be opened and they shall be as God.

From that day to this, the word of the tempter has been, "Ye shall be as God." Repeated over and over again through the ages, this has produced in man such a sense of self-sufficiency that, although he does not come out and say that he knows more than God, down in the bottom of his heart he feels that so far as his own affairs are concerned, he knows more than God or anybody else.

In other words, unregenerate man becomes an idolater, and the idol he worships is himself. Temptation finds him an easy victim. It tells him that if he does not yield to temptation he will miss something so worth while that he will regret it all the rest of his life. God with His rules and regulations is just trying to keep man from having a good time—so the tempter tells him. Live the free, untrammelled life, he whispers.

These are the continuing temptations of the one who in the beginning whispered to our first parents, "Yield—and ye shall be as God Himself."

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Although Dixie Democrats represent a minority group of a minority party on Capitol Hill, their individual state and high ranking in major committees enable them to influence legislation and even White House policy as effectively as the Republicans' ordained leaders and Presidential advisers. They now dominate debate on the Bricker Amendment, taxation, Federal financing, national defense, farm problems and foreign affairs.

In a sense, they furnish the guidance once provided in the domestic and foreign fields, respectively, by the late Robert A. Taft of Ohio and the late Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. When they spoke their mind on great issues, Congress usually acted on their advice.

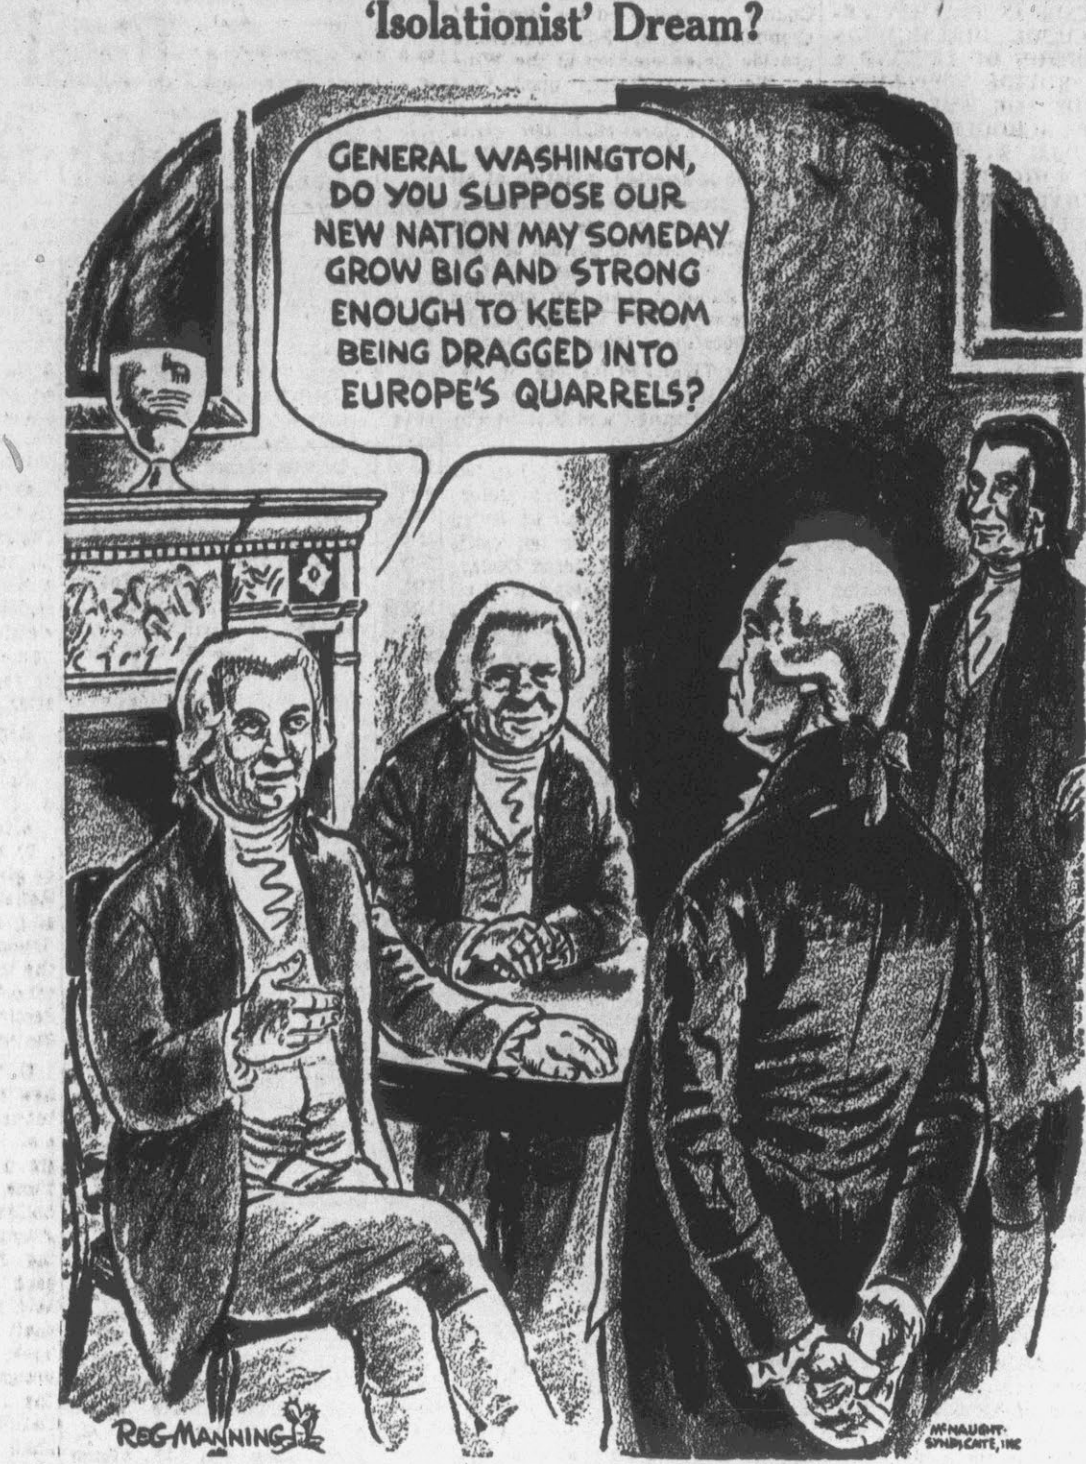

So it is with the Southern bloc today. President Eisenhower cannot obtain enactment of the humblest piece of legislation without their say-so. Nor does their balance of power derive solely from the fact that the Democrats have an actual majority in the upper chamber, and are in a minority by only three votes in the more representative body.

ADMIRE EISENHOWER—Luckily for Eisenhower, these dominant figures are not fierce or sectional partisans. In fact, they like and admire him. When they differ from him, it is on principle. And when he did not carry their states in 1952, he rolled up a larger vote than was ever given any Republican nominee. They will probably support most of his legislative program.

The Dixie members are listened to with respect because they have become authorities on their chosen subjects through long service and serious application to their legislative responsibilities. Unlike other sections, the South keeps the same men in office year after year, until seniority status alone propels them up the ladder of political power and rank.

Many years ago, John Nance Garner of Texas urged against the platoon system in politics. Returning the same men to Washington every two or six years has paid off, especially when Democrats are in control. But it also pays dividends when they are in the minority.

DIXIE DEMOCRATS' POWER—Thus it is that

Somebody Told Me

A friend of mine told me yesterday, "You should put in an occasional word urging more people to attend Sunday school and church."

"Is this problem more severe than ever?" I asked him. The reason for my question was that at our church, the new St. James Methodist Church, a constant increase in attendance is shown. Then I decided that perhaps it is because St. James is new that the membership continues to increase.

"No," my friend answered, "your situation there at St. James is normal. Attendance is on the increase in most places. But it's only because many people are encouraging attendance. And the job is far from completed."

"For example," he continued, "do you realize how many churches in Greenville are closed on Sunday night because of low attendance?" That question jolted me even further.

This matter of poor attendance is revolting and most ministers put much emphasis on it. But if I may be so bold as to make a suggestion, it would be that ministers more often encourage those in church to make every effort to bring their family and friends the next Sunday, rather than preaching the sermon to the non-attender who is not there and cannot hear it. Why preach about attendance to those who attend? Another of my friends told me, "My husband told me that the preacher's sermon today was about me. You see, I stayed home and he preached to the ones who were at home instead of the ones who were in his congregation."

Here's a solution to the attendance problem for those of us who have children. Take your children to Sunday school. Sell them on the privilege we have in attending. Once that is done, you won't have to worry about the devil's influence on you.

By that I mean that once you sell your children on Sunday school they will demand that you take them every Sunday. At least they'll make you feel like a cad if you don't.

This has happened to us. We wouldn't even entertain the idea of not attending unless it is a case of sickness. Nancy (our daughter) looks forward to it days in advance.

So if you have children there's your answer. They will not let you stay in on a particular morning that you feel lousy.

As this friend who preferred to remain unnamed put it, "We'd have a lot less trouble in the world if more of us served God instead of the devil. I know, because I've done both."

And I thank you.

INFORMED—Chances are that the people of North Carolina will be better informed about what goes in the next General Assembly than has been the case for many years. For that situation thanks will be due to a relatively small minority of the membership in the last session who sought to keep the people from knowing anything about the reasons back of appropriations of public tax moneys by the Legislature.

News reporters assigned to the General Assembly and members who voted against the "secrecy law" of 1953 may seek to claim the credit—and on the face of the record can make out a good case for their claim. The fact is, however, that the extreme advocates of secrecy got hoisted on their own petards, and inadvertently rendered what may be recorded in history as a great contribution to enlightenment of the idea that the public has a right to know about public business.

BACKGROUND—Limitations of time and space preclude full presentation of historical background. Condensed into as few words as possible the story seems to be essentially this. Prior to 1925 each and every department and institution in State government operated on its own budget. Governor Angus Wilton McLean proposed and obtained enactment of a law putting all State agencies, departments and institutions supported by public moneys under executive budget control.

Business Today

Discount Sales Rise

By ELMER ROESSNER

A lot more discount selling—and more vigorous resistance by conventional merchants—seems certain in weeks and months ahead.

Discount houses—those establishments selling goods at less than fair-traded or regular selling prices—have been expanding. One is now reported planning to open on New York's Fifth Avenue. The basis for expansion is the greater availability of goods at distress prices.

Department of Commerce figures show that at the start of the year wholesalers' inventories were $378,000,000 higher than at the beginning of 1953 and that retailers' inventories were $952,000,000 higher—despite the fact that values of many items had declined.

While definitive figures are not complete, it appears retail sales are under year-ago marks; certainly department store totals, as reported by the Federal Reserve, have been less for most weeks so far this year.

Obviously, here and there a distributor or retailer is finding himself with debts he can't meet and goods he can't sell. He may have been the most stalwart defender of fair trading in the community. He may have denounced price cutters at every opportunity. So—well, you've guessed it!

If he is especially loyal to other businessmen in his community, he will transship—that is, he will sell his surplus, at desperation prices, to a discount house in a distant community. In any event, some discounters get goods that he can sell at low prices.

More orthodox merchants are not passive. They are stressing the fact that discount sales—"bootleg sales," they sometimes call them—are made without delivery, credit and other services and, if there is a guarantee, it is usually voided by a cut-price sale. Furthermore, they are insisting that manufacturers protect their price lines by fair-trading their goods where legally possible and by refusing to sell to dealers or distributors who allow goods to fall into discount channels. They are insisting that where goods are fair traded, manufacturers fall into court dealers who undersell.

They also are asking for laws for protection against the worst excesses of price cutters. Fourteen retail associations have asked the New York legislature to prohibit corporations from running discount operations for employees. Other states will be asked to take similar action.

Nobody, of course, will win the fight. In times of decline, discount sellers gain a little larger share of total sales; in times of boom, the standard retailers gain.

Entertainment Out Of 'Agony'

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Out of a clinical curiosity, I went to an "agony" television program recently and everything went according to plan. I never felt worse.

The show was "Strike It Rich," which gives away about $250,000 a year to people who tell their troubles before the cameras. For that kind of dough, you can buy a lot of trouble.

The audience involved mostly women and some servicemen who seemed to have wandered in out of boredom. On the stage there were many boxes of a wash detergent and paste-board hearts since this is "the original show with a heart" and the soap pays for the heart.

A few minutes before air time, a cheerful, tall man came out and introduced "The man with the really big heart," who turned out to be Walter Frammer, the show's producer. Frammer, a short man with heavy glasses and a nervous, set smile, introduced the man who had introduced him.

Then Frammer made a little speech which I took to be an answer to recent criticism of the show on the grounds that it attracts needy people to New York who end up on relief and that if exhibits had taste in parading human misery in public.

"We're not running a welfare department," Frammer said. "Just a little quiz game, which is basically for entertainment and also some inspiration."

Frammer concluded by telling us he wasn't asking us to applaud but he'd appreciate it if we did when he raised his hands thus and so and, besides, there would be prizes later for those who applauded the most.

As the show got under way, Frammer was very busy, running around checking camera angles, watching the clock, leading applause and several times darting backstage to announce "heartline calls," which presumably come from people watching at home.

The first contestant was Mayor Dominick J. Delucio of Hartford and Lionel Hampton, the band leader. After a few questions, they won $500 for a girl in Hartford, "who is very sick—just to prove how sick she is, her weight has gone from 143 to 73."

I also thought it was nice of Warren Hull, the host, to bring out the fact that the mayor owns a restaurant in Hartford, which bears his name, and that Hampton's next theater date will be at the Apollo in Harlem.

After a singing commercial and a plug for a movie magazine, a gray-haired, nervous woman tried to win $125 for a sewing machine. She said she's alone in the world, she sews for a living and "they took away my old machine. I'm back in the rent and my lights have been turned off."

Having difficulty with several questions, the woman won only $60. But at the last second, Frammer's "heart-line" voice announced that "Strike It Rich" had just arranged with a certain company, which he named, for her to get a sewing machine free as well as the $60 in cash.

"Ah, boy!" Hull sighed. "That was to the rescue all right."

The last guest was a public health nurse who wanted to win money for a hospital bed for her patients but just then the program ran out of time. There were only a few seconds left to announce "heart-line" calls in behalf of the sick girl in Hartford. These donations included $50 from a meat market, which was named.

Later, I went backstage, where prospective contestants were being interviewed for future shows. They included a pregnant woman and her husband, two women with small children, two soldiers and one young lady, somewhat disheveled in a long coat and saddle shoes, who was crying quite visibly. "I'm so nervous," she sobbed. "I'm getting married next month. I want a tractor for my farm."

Tar Heels Likely To Be Better Informed On Lawmaking

it favored, while banning all those who might register protest. Subsequent publicity given to the series of events has pretty well convinced the people that this is not a quarrel between a few legislators and a few reporters, but that it represents assumption by a few men that they, and only they, have any right to know why the taxpayers money was spent as it was.

Microwave Radio Repair Course Is Available Under Army's Training

A new course in microwave radio repair has been made available to high school graduates who qualify for Army technical training. It was announced today by Sgt. A.G. Atwood, local Army and Air Force recruiter.

"Just how important and what a prominent role microwave has in the field of radio is proved by its many uses in civilian enterprises today," the recruiter added.

Microwave is most frequently used to provide wideband noise-free circuits over which are transmitted transcontinental television programs. Also, it is used for transmission of hundreds of simultaneous telephone conversations; public utility companies, which use the microwave for communications to remotely operate electrical power; and still another is the major turnpike systems which utilize the microwave in communications.

The course, which is conducted at the Army Signal School, Fort Monmouth, N.J., is of 26-weeks duration. Applicants who qualify for this opportunity will be sent directly to the school immediately following the completion of basic training.

NOTICE OF WINTERVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT SPECIAL ELECTION AND NEW REGISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that the question of the approval or disapproval of the levy of a special tax of not to exceed ten (10) cents on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, located in the Winterville School District, to provide supplemental funds with which to operate schools of a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both, will be submitted to the voters of the Winterville School District at a special election to be held on March 20, 1954. The Resolution adopted by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County calling said special election and ordering a new registration therefor is published in full below as a notice of such special election and the new registration therefor.

A RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR AND ORDERING A SPECIAL

ELECTION IN AND A NEW REGISTRATION OF ALL QUALIFIED VOTERS IN THE WINTERVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT ON THE QUESTION OF LEVYING A TAX TO PROVIDE SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS FOR THE OPERATION OF SCHOOLS IN THE WINTERVILLE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF A HIGHER STANDARD THAN THAT PROVIDED BY STATE SUPPORT, OR EMPLOY ADDITIONAL VOCATIONAL TEACHERS, OR BOTH.

WHEREAS, the Winterville School District has heretofore been established by regular proceedings and the boundary lines of said district have been defined and the said boundary lines and the action of the Board of Education with respect thereto duly appear on the records of Pitt County; and

WHEREAS, the Winterville School District Committee, in lawful meeting assembled, resolved to petition that an election be held and had in the Winterville School District to determine whether there should be levied in said school district a tax of not to exceed ten cents (10c) on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, within said district, in order to provide supplemental funds for the operation of schools on a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both; and

WHEREAS, the said petition of the Winterville School District Committee, together with the approval of the Board of Education of Pitt County, was received by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, and after due consideration the same has been approved by the said Board of Commissioners; and

WHEREAS, the aforesaid petition of the Winterville School District, together with the approval thereof by the Board of Education of Pitt County and the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, has been approved by the State Board of Education; and

WHEREAS, the Winterville School District has a school population of one thousand (1,000), or more, as has been certified by the Board of Education of Pitt County and the said Board of Education of Pitt County has requested the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County to provide for an election in the Winterville School District upon the question of levying a special school tax of not more than ten cents (10c) on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, located within said Winterville School District, to provide supplemental funds with which to operate schools of a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both;

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, and it is hereby ordered that:

1) An election shall be held in the Winterville School District to determine whether there shall be levied a tax of not to exceed ten cents (10c) on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, located within said Winterville School District, to provide supplemental funds with which to operate schools of a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both.

Pitt County Tournament Moves Into Semi-Final Round

Large Crowd Watches Games In ECC Gym

Farmville, Bethel, Stokes and Winterville Send Boys and Girls Teams Into Semi-Finals Of Tournament

By BOB BOYETTE

Farmville girls opened the third round of the Pitt County tournament in Memorial Gym here last night by defeating a hard fighting Grifton sextet 48-40.

In the second game of round three the Farmville boys eliminated Chico 52-30 in another hard fought, but ragged playing contest.

Farmville girls jumped into a quick first quarter lead that they never lost. At the end of the first quarter the Red Devils were ahead 19-8.

Farmville extended the lead to 20-12 shortly after the second period began, but Grifton's hard fighting girls began to close the gap. They never really threatened the Red Devils; however, because the Bulldogs forwards seemed to have a good case of the jitters and most of their shots were hitting the board too hard.

At the intermission the Red Devils were leading 33-20.

Throughout the third period Farmville still clung to their lead with Grifton's "huckles" team missing better than 75 percent of their shots. At the end of the period the Red Devils led 40-24.

Fighting a last chance battle in the fourth period the Grifton cagers cut the lead to ten points with five minutes and one-half remaining. Shortly afterwards Phyllis Haddock, Grifton's pint size forward who had been the playmaker for the Bulldogs, fouled out and Farmville again stretched its lead to 46-32.

With 2:50 remaining two of Farmville's guards fouled out. The remainder of the game proved to be slow and ragged with Grifton cutting the lead to an eight point margin by the final whistle.

Edna Wooten led the winning girls with 23 points. Carolyn Moring, Doris Oakley, and Nan Williams led the Farmville defense.

Colleen Braxton, Grifton's forward who had averaged 33 points per game during the regular season, led the Bulldogs scoring with 16 points. She was missing many of her shots and never showed her regular season form last night.

Gertrude Lewis, Joyce Koon, and Carolyn Davis were defensive leaders for Grifton. Most of the time the Grifton guards were unsuccessful at stopping Farmville's Wooten simply because of her height.

Peggy Buck, Grifton utility player, played a bang up game at both forward and guard last night. When she was not playing on defense the petite blonde scored seven of Grifton's points.

Farmville 52, Chico 30
Farmville boys also jumped into a first quarter lead and never lost it in registering a win over Chico in the second game last night.

The game started rather slow, but with 3:30 seconds remaining in the first quarter the Red Devils were leading 8-2. Chico had come back to close the gap to 12-9 by the end of the quarter.

Action picked up in the second period with Farmville widening the lead to 20-12 and one minute and one-half had elapsed, but the Hornets came back again to close the margin to 22-19 with 2:40 remaining in the first half. At the intermission Farmville led 26-21.

Throughout the third period the lead continued to widen and then be closed by Chico, but never did the Hornets get closer than three points. Farmville led at the end of the third quarter 34-20.

After one minute and one-half had passed in the final quarter Farmville led by 30-23, but that proved to be all for Chico in the way of threats. The Red Devils, even though playing a ragged game increased their lead and by the end of the contest were leading by a thirteen point margin, 52-39. It was the longest lead of the game.

Jack Allen led the Red Devils scoring with 17 points. Bobby Burroughs was high for Chico with 15 points.

Stokes-Chico
Jane Bullock was the difference in the third game of last night's action as she sparked a last half drive for a 47-43 win by Stokes over Chico.

The tall forward dropped in 20 points, 19 of them in the last half, to put the Blue Jays in the semi-finals. She got some valuable offensive assistance from Nina Perkins who scored 15 points but the show was mostly Bullock's when the chips were down.

Chico, working behind Patsy Mills' 26 points, went into the second half with a 21-18 lead. Bullock and Perkins started chipping away, however, and Stokes pulled up even (25-25) with four minutes of action left in the third period.

After Stokes tied the score that first time, the count was knotted no less than eight times in the remaining time. Chico held the advantage throughout most of the third period but they were never able to pull ahead by any considerable margin.

The one time either of the two teams was able to get what might be termed a "comfortable margin" was early in the fourth period when Stokes pulled out ahead 43-36 with 4:21 left. Chico's Mills sparked a Hornet ray, however, and the count was tied again at 43-43 with 1:32 left.

In the last minute of action Bullock scored a free throw and a field goal and took a big part in some stalling tactics pulled by the Blue Jays to keep the ball away from Chico.

Stokes' ace guard and captain, Nancy Worthington, was forced to leave the game in the first quarter after a hard fall but she returned to action in the last quarter to lead the Stokes defense.

Bethel-Belvoir
Big Mike House was the difference in the tight moments of the final game of the evening last night. The big Bethel forward led the Indians scoring with 14 points but his real value lay more in taking rebounds away from the smaller Belvoir team that struggled vainly in a 62-38 loss.

Actually, the game was never much in doubt. Neither team appeared to be playing its best brand of basketball but Bethel simply made fewer mistakes than did Belvoir.

Belvoir jumped to an early lead in the game but Coach Walter Latham's taller team wiped that out and moved into a 14-11 lead of their own at the guard. In the second quarter, with House's jump shot working nicely, Bethel worked up a 26-18 lead at the half. After that, it was simply a matter of wondering what the final score might be.

Belvoir fell farther and farther behind in the last half and continued to score only because of an almost amazing accuracy from the free throw line. The two high scorers for the Eagles, Bobby Bullock and Glenn Ross, accounted for almost two-thirds of the points altogether and almost half of the total with free throws. Ross sank one field goal and 11 free throws for 13 points and Bullock had two field goals and seven free throws for 11 points.

Cheerleaders Of GHS Attend Monday Meeting

GHS cheerleaders attended the NCEAA cheerleaders convention Monday afternoon in Washington.

A president and secretary were elected from the squads. They are Elizabeth Oden, Washington, chief cheerleader, president, and Ann Ruffin, Greenville, chief, secretary.

A trophy was awarded to the Kinston varsity squad and one to the Kinston Jayvee squad for presenting the best yell.

Rules were made concerning sportsmanship and refreshments were served.

Next year the conference will be held in Kinston earlier in the school year.

Schools attending were Elizabeth City, Kinston, Greenville, Jacksonville and New Bern.

Little Leaguers Must Register Now
Recreation Department officials today announced that only one week remains for registration of boys who intend to play Little League baseball during the coming summer months.

Only 60 out of an expected 175 boys under 12-years of age have appeared at Elm Street Park to sign official league contracts. All boys who expect to play are required to sign a contract regardless of their standing with the league.

Those who fail to sign a contract before February 27 will be required to appear before the league's governing board before they can be certified for play.

Two leagues are planned for the Little League program this year. There will be eight teams in the Leagues and as many minor league teams as are necessary to give all boys a chance to play.

Contracts may be signed at Elm Street Park any afternoon this week.

Phantoms Ready For Loop Tourney

By WAYNE BISHOP

Reflector Sports Writer
Greenville's Phantoms take a 14-5 season's won-lost record into the annual Northeastern Conference Tournament Thursday night with the hope of gaining some consolation from the fact that arch rival Kingston will be representing their conference in the State Tournament. Although the Green Phantoms downed the Red Devils with surprising ease Friday night, 68-45, the Devils won out in regular season play and therefore won the right to represent the Northeastern Conference in the state finals.

Since the G-men and the Red Devils are paired in separate brackets for the conference tourney, the only way the two will meet is for both squads to gain the finals.

In the opening round of play on Thursday night Kinston is given a bye, while Greenville plays Roanoke Rapids, Washington takes on New Bern, and Elizabeth City meets Jacksonville. In Friday night's play Kinston will meet the winner of the Jacksonville-Elizabeth City game and the winners of the Greenville-Roanoke Rapids and New Bern-Washington games meet in the semi-final playoffs.

The two teams with undefeated records then meet for the final playoffs on Saturday night. All of the tournament will be played in ECC Memorial Gymnasium.

The conference tourney annually supplies plenty of thrills, and stirring performances as a climax to the season. Last season Kinston won the tourney although their star forward, Doug Gregg, was held to 21 points in the two games. Gregg had been averaging 21.2 points per game all season long.

Last season the G-men came in third place in the tournament when they were defeated in the semi-finals by Roanoke Rapids. Ace forward and high scorer, Smith Worthington, missed most of the tournament because of a fractured wrist suffered in the second quarter of the first game.

This season Kinston went all year long without a conference defeat until they ran into Coach Bo Farley's stirred up Phantoms in the last regular season game of the year. In that game Coach Farley's ball-hawking basketballers showed Kinston how to play the game of basketball. The Greens led throughout the contest and finished up with a 14 point margin in their favor when the final horn blew.

Howell Faces Scoring
The Green Phantoms will enter the tournament with forward Bob Howell leading the team scoring averages with the highest average of any Phantoms during the year. Howell scored 23 markers against Kinston Friday night and upped his season average to 15.2 points per game. Big sophomore center, Harold Edwards, ranks second in the scoring race with an average of 14.3 points per game.

In conference play Howell also leads the team in percentage with a 17.8 average. Howell has mopped up conference foes for 213 points in 13 games. Edwards also is second in conference averages with a figure of 14.8. Edwards and Howell are the only players averaging in the double figures for Coach Farley's team.

Hodges Leading

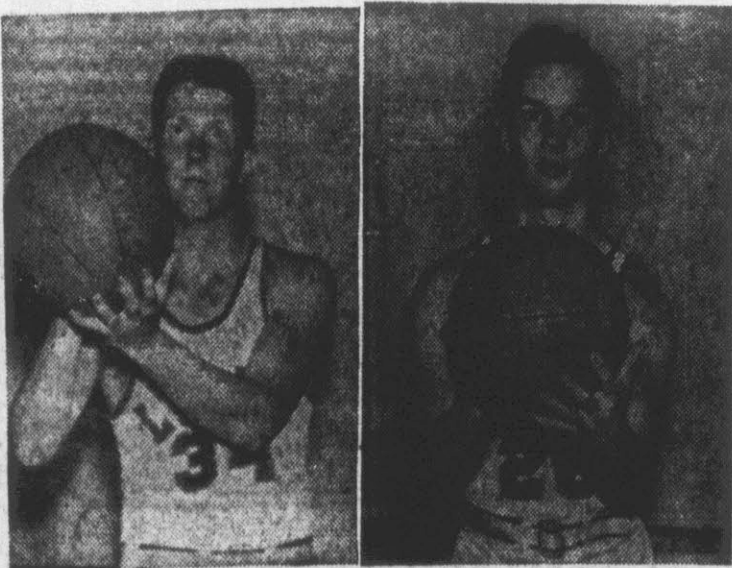

Center Bobby Hodges took high-scoring honors in the game to maintain his average of 26.7 points per game. Hodges' 26 points pushed his total for the year to 507 points and moved him within 102 points of setting a new career scoring record for the North State Conference.

Charlie Huffman's two good performances last week pushed his individual total for the season to 302 points and his average to 15.9. He has been one of the two top scorers on the Pirates' squad throughout the year.

J. C. Thomas and Don Harris both pushed their scoring for the year over the 200 point mark with their performances against Atlantic Christian. Thomas moved up to 214 for the season and Harris moved to 206. Cecil Heath completed the first five with 189 points for the year.

All of the Pirates' first five has competed in the 19 games played by East Carolina this year.

Former Pitt Stars Playing For Hi-Scoring Mars Hill

TODD KITTRELL AND BOBBY COLE
... Former Foes Together at Mars Hill

MARS HILL — A pair of Pitt County Conference graduates are seeing considerable action with the nation's highest scoring junior college basketball team.

Todd Kittrell of Ayden and Bobby Cole of Winterville are the two Pitt boys on the Mars Hill team which is averaging 83 points per contest. Kittrell is a center and Cole is guard.

The two boys played against each other throughout outstanding high school careers. Kittrell was a member of several outstanding Ayden teams while Cole played for equally prominent Winterville teams.

The Mars Hill squad has a record of 12 wins and four losses for the season and will participate in the Western Carolina Junior College Athletic Conference tournament which opens Thursday at Spruce Pine. The squad tied with Lees-McCree Junior College for top honors in the Western Conference.

Both Kittrell and Cole are freshmen at Mars Hill and plan to return to the school next year.

Harry Stein, basketball coach at Brandeis University, and Fuzzy Levene, coach of the Milwaukee Hawks in the N.B.A., were high school classmates in Brooklyn.

The Doctor Disagrees

By Elizabeth Selfert

CHAPTER TWENTY

SHELLY took off one of the snow-white gloves and smoothed it against her flat black purse. "Will you tell me one thing, Craig?" "One thing maybe."

"Were you drunk, night before last? Tuesday night?"

No.

"Shelly waited for more. It came. Shelly, the Medical society doesn't care whether I was drunk that night, or not. They will deal with the fact that a patient died that I was called and that I did not come. In other words, I, a doctor, let a patient die."

"Mrs. Armes?"

"Mrs. Armes."

"What was wrong with her?"

"As far as I could tell over the phone, she had had a seizure of angina."

"That's a heart attack?"

"Yes." He was watching her alertly, and she tried to stifle the suspicion that it was a young and pretty woman that he watched her not.

"If," she said briskly—or as briskly as her naturally caressing voice could manage. "Would Mrs. Armes have lived, doctor, if you'd got there?"

"I don't know."

"What do you think?"

"I think she probably would not have lived. But Shelly," he went on hastily, against the look of satisfaction in her face, "we must remember that I did not get there—and that Mrs. Armes died. That is my sin. That is what the Medical society will consider in any action it takes. In a way, I'm lucky, of course. If I had lived back in Babylon, they would have cut off my hands for losing that case."

Horror blanched her face. "Oh, you're joking and—"

"It's a matter of history. A doctor's fee was fixed by the success of his operation. If he failed—that is, if a patient died when under his care—his hands were cut off."

"But what if it was hopeless? I mean, some patients."

"In Babylon, it was unethical for a physician to take on a 'hopeless case.' His rich voice twanged, and Shelly flushed. "There are some Babylonian doctors here in Norfolk, too."

"Don't tease me, Craig. This is important."

"Yes, it is," he agreed. "That's why I'm anxious for you to understand that the Medical society has a right to suspend my membership. It is their right and their obligation, to prevent doctors of a certain moral character from practicing."

"Does that mean losing your license, Craig?"

"It could mean that. If they recommended its suspension to the court."

"But isn't that an awful lot of power to give a society of men in a town like Norfolk?"

"All local societies have that power, however." He stretched a brown hand and a muscular arm down the bed toward her, as if to comfort her. "Remember, Shelly," he said gently "that a few weeks ago I tried to get our local society to use that same power on Dr. Lewis. And if I thought it was applicable to him—and it was! I still say so—I have to submit to the use of it on me."

He turned his head away, and she saw the muscles of his jaw tighten. "I say this, even though I am, in principle, opposed to the A.M.A.'s use of power. They have too much power, and they use it badly. You know how I feel about the closed hospital system, for instance. You've heard me rant about it often enough. Not so much the theory, as its horrifying abuse. But just the same, while they have the right of licensure they've a right to use it—and if they use it to suspend Lewis, I can't in good conscience deny them the right to suspend me!"

Shelly was doing some quick thinking. The man was obviously willing to crucify himself just to prove that he was consistent. "Look, Craig, I do know how you feel about the closed hospital system—that it is a way by which good men are kept from practicing and bad doctors are allowed to practice. It is scandalous, and something should be done about it. That's your point isn't it?"

He cocked a suspicious eyebrow at her. "It's my point, all right, but I had no idea you felt so strongly about it."

Her eyes widened innocently. "But, of course, Craig! You've been telling me—and I can't help but think that if the doctors who feel as you do would get together on this thing . . ."

"If enough of us wanted to, we could accomplish something, of course. But it's certainly a big job—and men naturally hesitate to risk their practice, their hospital affiliations. Ideals take a beating, you know, when a man has a family."

"Oh, yes, of course. But still—why, Craig, you could make some sort of start right here in Norfolk!"

He looked at her keenly, his thumb nail thoughtfully scratching the adhesive strapped around his ribs. "I'm open to any suggestion."

Shelly stood up. "Well, for one thing, you could object to their throwing you out of the Medical society, and off the hospital staff, just because it looks as if you might have been drunk Tuesday night."

Now she had reached him. She extended her hand, and he took it, held it. "You mean I should fight to maintain my position within the fort?"

"Of course I mean that. I must go now. Miss Browne will want her lunch. You get well and come back to work, will you? You're kind of needed around the office."

She walked out of the room, and Craig watched her go, his hand scrubbing at his ear.

The corridor seemed dim after the bright room she had left and Shelly almost ran into Eleanor. As always, her first thought was of how smart Eleanor looked, whenever one saw her, whatever she was doing. She wore no hat today, and her brown hair looked as if a casual comb had been run through it, but each shining strand lay in its most effective place. Her fleecy coat was slung about her shoulders with just the right off-hand air; the scarf tucked into the opening of her dark red suit looked like a scarf, not a throat bandage.

Eleanor carried a sheaf of flowers, yellow and white snapdragons, faintly and pleasantly fragrant. Her other arm cradled a half-dozen bright-jacketed books—her whole effect was that of having gathered up a few odds and ends, thrown her coat about her shoulders and run over to the hospital. And yet . . .

"Oh, hello, Shelly," she said breezily. "I'm on my way to see Craig. I don't know if one takes a man flowers! But then I don't know, either, if it's ethical to pay sick-calls on a doctor." She was past Shelly and had gone breezily into Craig's room, from which issued a fine mixture of her voice and Craig's—and their laughter.

Shelly's head snapped up, and she went swiftly out of range. But as she turned the corner, she threw a resentful look over her shoulder. "I'll bet," she muttered under her breath, "that he doesn't talk to her about what's wrong with the A.M.A."

But maybe he did. It was about all he talked to Shelly, and she liked it.

But she wondered—Did Craig know that Eleanor was thirty years old? But—oh, what difference did that make? Eleanor was undeniably beautiful—and chic—and artful—

She went out to her car, slammed the door, drove angrily to the office. "Did you know," she asked Miss Browne heatedly, "that Eleanor Walsh was running after Dr. Talbot?"

"Well," said the nurse comfortingly, "she's run after other men, and not caught any yet."

Shelly was busy for the rest of that week. She had two rather large projects in hand, and worked on them simultaneously.

The first was an outgrowth of Mrs. Jarvis' night call, and Craig's rebuke to her over the way she had handled it. "You should have called someone else," he'd said.

But who else? He hadn't said that. She knew all the doctors in town—the Medical society listed twenty-five—but general talk said, "You can't get a doctor to come out at night." Well, maybe the talk was right. She could find out.

"It's the easiest-driving car I've ever tried!"

Ed Sullivan reports on the new 1954 Mercury

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan. Sunday evening, 8:00 to 9:00. Station WNCT, Channel 9.

"HERE, FOR THE FIRST TIME, IS FINE-CAR PERFORMANCE IN A POPULAR-PRICED CAR—161 HORSEPOWER OF IT"

"Talk about showmanship—what a performance this new '54 Mercury gives! I tested it and found I was at the wheel of the easiest-driving car I ever tried. And then I found out why.

"Mercury's all-new, overhead valve, V-8 engine delivers a whopping 161 horsepower. And thanks to Mercury's new 4-barrel, vacuum-controlled carburetor—exclusive with Mercury in its class—that power is made available instantly, automatically, for easy passing and hill climbing.

"Then there's that wonderful feeling of easy, sure control on curves—the satisfying result of Mercury's new ball-joint front wheel suspension.

"Add to all this Mercury's optional features—power brakes, power steering, the 4-way power seat, electric power windows and Mero-Q-Matic Drive, the smooth, proven no-shift drive—and you see why I say the new Mercury is the easiest-driving car I've ever tried.

"But try it yourself and really see what I mean. Take a test ride at your Mercury dealer's—soon."

"LITTLE PUSHER" was a rewarding picture sight for Miss Lillian Draycott, Brooklyn, N. Y., out for a Sunday stroll on the waterfront. It won the grand prize of $500 in the second Osborne Color Transparency contest and will be featured on a 1955 calendar. It looks good in black and white, too.

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures
All photographers everywhere have been invited by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City to participate in its forthcoming international photography exhibition; the theme: "The Family of Man." Edward Steichen, dean of American photographers and director of the Museum's Department of Photography, will organize the exhibition.

This ambitious undertaking has been in progress for almost two years and last year carried Steichen to Europe on a personal search for picture possibilities and exchange of ideas with the foremost foreign photographers while publishing his plan. In a few months, the final selections must be made and, because the Museum wants to present the most complete exploration possible of photography's achievements in recording human relations, we have this last-minute reminder from Steichen:

"This exhibition will require photographs, made in all parts of the world, for the gamut of life from birth to death with emphasis on the everyday relationships of man to himself, to his family, to the community and to the world we live in. Subject matter may range from babies to philosophers, from the kindergarten to the university, from the child's home-made toys to scientific research, from tribal councils of primitive people to the councils of the United Nations.

"It is essential to keep in mind the universal elements of human relations and the experiences common to all mankind rather than situations exclusively related to a single race, an event, a time or a place.

Any photographer may submit pictures but there will be no payments made nor prizes awarded for any selected. Only unmounted print up to 8" x 10", with name and address written on the back of each print should be sent to: Family of Man Exhibition, Museum of Modern Art, P.O. Box 368, New York 19, N.Y. Deadline is April 10, 1954. No prints will be returned but they will be acknowledged on receipt.

After pictures have been selected, the photographers will be asked for a loan of their original negatives to make exhibition or mural size prints. The project will come to life with its grand opening in New York in January, 1955, simultaneously with duplicate editions in Europe, Asia and Latin America. What's New? Do you need the formula for a print flattener solution—or a tank or tray cleaner or strain removed solution? Do you want to sell pictures of interest to farmers—or engineers—or undertakers? Then it's the almanac for you, the "Universal Photo Almanac 1954 Edition," edited by Ralph Samuels (Falk Publ. Co., 10 W. 33 St. New York, N.Y.—$2.50).

In its 18th year of publication, this 260 page paper covered, plastic-bound book features three major divisions: 1. The complete market guide with 1000 listings of picture buyers; a bibliography of photographic books, dealers and distributors. 2. A revised general formula and general data sections. 3. An editorial section with articles by well known photographers on fashion, press, lighting, stereo and movies among others; also a special port-folio of prints from Life magazine.

Practical, instructional and inspirational, the 1954 Almanac is a handy volume for a fan's photo library.

(For that print flattener solution: add water to 4 ounces of glycerin to make 32 ounces of solution. After washing, drain prints, then immerse in the solution for 5 minutes before draining and drying as usual. Answers to the other questions above are on pages 160, 199, 214 and 229.)

Capitol Square

issue involved has been that nearly every candidate for the Legislature who has announced to date, whether for re-election or as a newcomer, has stated he will vote for repeal of the secrecy law. Some of those who vigorously supported the act last year do not make full confession of error but propose study commissions to work out a formula or code to govern members and reporters. Several of the sponsors of the secrecy law have found it inexpedient to offer for re-election, although none has given that a reason for retirement.

PARTISAN — Party lines were crossed in the secrecy law voting. Under leadership of Rep. Ralph Fisher of Transylvania a majority of the Republicans voted for secrecy. The bill would have been enacted without their votes and some of them now recognize they muffed a play that could have been developed into a favorable campaign issue. One Republican who did not vote with majority of his colleagues and who is seeking re-election is Ed Gavin of Randolph. In his announcement statement he expresses pretty well the sentiments of all opponents of such legislation. He says: "I voted against the enactment of this bill in the 1953 General Assembly and shall always stand against the spirit of irresponsibility which prompted its passage. If the trend toward secrecy in government is to be halted, if accountability, representative government is to stay alive in North Carolina, the next Legislature must take firm, vigorous action against this law."

Responsibility To Train Farm Leaders Claimed

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina State has a responsibility to train leaders in agriculture and industry, "and for making known to our farmers and industrialists the most efficient methods and techniques." This was asserted yesterday by Dr. Carey H. Bostian in his inaugural address after he was formally installed as chancellor of the college. More than 3,000 persons watched the ceremony in Reynolds Coliseum.

Dr. Bostian, 46, pledged to "do my best to help State College achieve its high destiny." He became chancellor last Sept. 1 succeeding John W. Harrelson who retired after heading the college for 20 years.

A native of Rowan County, Dr. Bostian was formally installed by Gov. Umstead, who handed him the college's charter and seal. The oath was administered by Chief Justice M. V. Barnhill of the State Supreme Court. President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University of North Carolina delivered the charge.

Dr. Bostian said that teaching at the college "should be continued with the same high standards with perhaps a little more emphasis on the development of leadership and resourcefulness in our students and a little less on vocational skills and techniques."

"Everything we seek to do," he declared, "has a direct bearing on the economic development of our state and the prosperity of our people."

He said: "Our faculty will be encouraged to try new ideas in teaching, and to introduce values of liberal education in all courses." Dr. Bostian noted that on March 1 a daily farm program will originate from the campus over more than 100 radio stations in the state. Television operations will begin Sept. 1.

"These new media of communications," he said "will greatly increase our ability to impart knowledge to the people."

Rural Dangers Keep Him Away

NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP)—Insurance man Marvin McBride has been telling his friends about the perils on his farm.

McBride stopped his car on his farm to move a log that blocked the road. He almost touched a rattlesnake. The snake crawled into a hole in the log.

McBride punctured a yellow-jacket nest while trying to poke the snake out with a pole. The moving snake attacked the yellowjackets. McBride got away from there.

Obliging Victim Of Police Raid

MIAMI, Okla. (AP)—Anything to oblige, said T.H. (Tab) Bluejacket to state crime bureau agents who had just raided his night club near Afton.

Agent Ray Page asked Bluejacket for the use of his truck to haul in whisky and gambling equipment seized in the raid. Bluejacket not only loaned his vehicle but drove it to the courthouse.

He pleaded innocent to charges of illegal possession of liquor and gambling devices and was released on $1,000 bond.

Policeman Helps Forgetful Wife

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Howard Smith was driving a friend to the airport yesterday when she remembered she had left a pot of stew on the stove. She phoned police for help, saying the door key was under the mat.

Patrolman Robert Allen went to the house, stirred the stew a few times, then dutifully turned off the gas and left.

Sapling Impales Farm Laborer

BROKEN ARROW, Okla. (AP)—A stubborn willow sapling, crushed to the ground by a bulldozer, snapped back like an arrow yesterday after the machine had passed over it and speared a farm worker who was walking behind.

The victim, Jess Lee Henry, 22, was struck in the chest and died before reaching a hospital.

The bulldozer, operated by Henry's father, was clearing brush from the farmland.

In 1953 the U.S. birth rate was nearly 25 per 1,000 of population.

Another Bore Blame For Murder He Now Admits

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police today considered what action to take against a motor car company worker who said he killed a boyhood companion in 1935 and then let another youth take the blame.

Anthony Derda, 29, walked up to a police inspector in a restaurant and told his story yesterday, saying he wanted to clear his conscience and "get right with God."

"That other guy has been living with a black mark on his record all of these years," he said. "I've been living with the actual guilt."

He identified the boy killed in a woods near Pittsburgh 18 years ago as Steve Kotola, then 16, was accused of the crime and sent to a boys' corrective school. Derda added.

Pittsburgh police verified young Kotola had been killed, but said Oberhelman was tried and acquitted of the shooting. Oberhelman later died.

Deputy Police Inspector Chester I. Burnett said Derda gave these details: Derda, 11 at the time, was hunting rabbits with the Kotola boy. The boy taunted him and Derda shot him through the head with a .22 rifle.

Derda, 11 at the time, was hunting, saying the boy had stolen his rifle and fled in the woods.

When the snow melted 45 days later, the body was found and Oberhelman was blamed.

In Pittsburgh, Joseph Flynn, captain of homicide detectives, described Oberhelman as a "mentally retarded" youth who spent time in mental institutions before

Notices For Bids On New Schools Sent Contractors

Notices for bids for the construction of two new schools in Greenville were sent to contractors yesterday.

J.H. Rose, superintendent of Greenville schools, said notices were mailed to contractors announcing that the Greenville School system will open bids on construction of the two schools in March 23.

Announced for bids are the new white elementary school to be located in the southeast section of the city, and an addition to the South Greenville Negro elementary school.

The white elementary is to be constructed on a recently purchased site near the intersection of Fourteenth and Elm Streets. The building, Rose said, will have 12 classrooms, a library, kitchen, cafeteria and a multi-purpose activity room.

The addition to the South Greenville school will be composed of eight classrooms, library, kitchen, cafeteria and multi-purpose activity

Merry-Go-Round Building Booms

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP)—Paul Parker, one of the nation's largest merry-go-round manufacturers, says he doesn't know whether general business conditions around the country are good or bad or medium, but in merry-go-rounds it's booming.

Since the first of the year, he's produced three and has orders for 15 more. That may not sound like a lot of orders, but in his line it's mighty good. Last year, for example, his total production was four.

"I got used to just sort of rocking along," he said. "For years the merry-go-round business was just so-so. Then—bang—it raises up and hits me in the face."

There's no immediate explanation but Parker is well aware merry-go-rounds—the business, that is—have their ups and downs.

No. 4 in a series of RARE CREATURES:

THE BACK-PEDALLING SNOOSE

can't see where he's going because he's so in love with where he's been

The SNOOSE is a cautious manufacturer who pedals backward to keep his eye on where he's been. Naturally he can't see where he's going.

He would rather linger over his tiny past successes than feast on big future ones. And if his advertising methods are out-of-date, so what? They've been safe so far, haven't they?

Fortunately the SNOOSE is rare. Most manufacturers look ahead to increasing sales.

They know that the best way to sell more products is to convince more people. And, since all business is local, they advertise in newspapers . . . because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town.

They know that when the newspaper moves into the living room, the family devours the news and the ads with equal enthusiasm.

No wonder manufacturers increased their newspaper advertising 12.8% in 1953* — an all-time record.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

TEEN TALK

Dear Judy

AP Newsfeatures
Just like Topsy — Fairmont, Minn. teens "just grew," it seems. Their five talk is influenced by nothin' but just plain originality. So here reported by John Franklin of The Sentinel for your enjoyment is the current vocabulary:
Just a Kill. — Something uproarious, amazing or wonderful. Tough bounce. — An expression of sympathy to a fellow who has just been the victim of some misfortune. He, she or it teats me. — There is much about him or her that is admirable or likeable.
He, she or it isles me. — The opposite of teating.
Queer Dick. — Scorn for a fellow who doesn't follow the usual pattern.
Livebox. — passion pit or passion pasture. — Drive-in theatre.
Rod. — Family car.
Big thrill. — Sarcastic reply to disappointing information.
An oldie making a comeback goes like this:
"Knock knock."
Da Da
Da Da Who?
Da-da-da-da-da.
The last is a takeoff on the drag-n'theme.

Games are a new twist on an old pastime such as charades, only with modern tableaux. The index finger and middle finger formed in a V and placed under the nose is a Cadillac coming down the street. If eyes are moved left or right at turning a corner.
A rotary motion of the hand around the head is a "tip around the block."
At Grand Forks, N.D. the boy who has a steady girl friend is called a bird dog, according to Bob McKenzie. And the girls enjoy meeting informally in "pot luck" groups. The cliques meet at homes where each brings some goodie for a pot luck affair. Boys are seldom invited to these hen parties and are contemptuous of them.
Light corduroy pants (baby blue is the hottest color) and suede jackets are popular with the boys. Ducks hunting caps are tops in headgear, maybe to match the ducktail hairdo which is called the North Dakota bush cut.
St. Louis teen-agers bah like little lambs (for goodbye) typical joke goes thus:
"Did you hear about the cats, both cool, who were going through a museum?"
"They came across an Egyptian mummy. One of them points to it and says to the other, 'dig that crazy band-aid.'"
The girls wear bobby sox which are thick, white and rolled triple to make a bulge at the ankle. Shoes are strollers, bluejeans and levis are out of date — have been replaced by slack pants and sport shirts. Boys wear argyle socks, red-orange shoes. Pink shirts are the most popular.
At Des Moines, Iowa, the kids bounce around on motor scooters. The most overused word is "mangy" to denote something distasteful "so" in various inflections expresses disbelief, mild contempt, strong disapproval and casual agreement. "Soggy" is a term

Ike's Visit Has Brought A Boom

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — What's a presidential visit worth to a resort community like this? Two weeks ago this desert spa was in the doldrums. Business was off. Hotels had cut rates. It looked like the winter season might be a bust.
Among the things businessmen were gnashing their teeth about was lack of promotion. The Chamber of Commerce budget was a mere $80,000 none of it for publicity. Rival Las Vegas reportedly spends $500,000 a year plugging itself.
Now, with Palm Springs basking in the reflected glow of worldwide publicity attendant to President Eisenhower's visit, all that is changed.
Thousands of sightseers jammed the town last weekend. Hotels were sold out. The 10,000 year-around residents were swamped with guests who "just dropped in."
Businessmen say they couldn't have bought so much publicity for a million dollars. And it hasn't cost 'em a dime.
Claims Children Need Museums
NEW YORK (AP)—More special museums for children are needed to answer their questions about life, says Dr. Francis H. Horn, president of Pratt Institute.
Children have a great natural curiosity, but this important trait usually is dulled or killed because parents don't know the answers, he says.

Workshop For C-of-C Local Leaders Planned

A Chamber of Commerce leaders' workshop, arranged for Chamber presidents, officers, directors, key committee chairmen and managers, will be held Friday, February 26 at the Hotel Charlotte in Charlotte, local Chamber Manager Willard T. Kyzer reported today.
It will be a one-day regional meeting for volunteer and professional local chamber leaders and will feature roundtables.
Friday morning there will be five roundtables consisting of:
"Maintaining Economic health and prosperity, financing your Chamber of Commerce, organizing for better government, community betterment through education and getting good committee results."
The noon luncheon will be a discussion on "A report to the 'Stockholders' of the National Chamber."
In the afternoon there will be more roundtables including: "The organization and operation of your Chamber of Commerce, developing your program of work, and making the best use of your community leaders."
To conclude the day's activity there will be a summary of the events.
Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the day's activity will close at 4 p.m.
Ed H. Cherry, manager South-eastern Division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will preside at the meeting.
Discussion leaders include William J. Byrd, manager of External Affairs of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S.; Charles W. Harbaugh, manager of Domestic Distribution of the C. of C. of the U.S.; Dwight Havens, manager of the Service Department of the C. of C. of the U.S.; and D. Fred Blackwell, manager of the Roanoke District of the C. of C. of the U.S.
Kyzer said he did not know if any local Chamber leaders would attend the event, but is getting information of it to them today.

Marjorie Main Is Talking Retirement

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Marjorie Main, who is as much a character off the screen as on, may retire from acting. Then again she may not.
The veteran actress is coming to the end of her MGM contract March 23, and she confesses, "I'm counting the days." As of March 23, she'll be a free woman.
I saw her in the homey dressing room she uses at Universal-International, where she has done a sizable number of loanouts.
I asked her how long she had been at MGM, and she guessed around 14 years. She actually came out here in 1938 to re-create her stage role in "The Women."
How does she feel about leaving?
"Well, I'm sorry about leaving a lot of good friends at Metro," she remarked. "But I wasn't too happy about the last two pictures I did there. One was 'The Long, Long Trailer,' and I had only two tiny scenes in the picture. One of them was out out."
"Then I did 'Rose Marie.' They decided that something was needed to relieve the plot so Bert Lahr and I did a musical number. Oh, I mean it was a lot of work. Took us six weeks in all. And then they threw the number out of the picture because it interfered with the plot!"
Miss Main admitted that she was toying with the idea of retiring. "It might be fun to just do nothing after working all your life," she said. If she did continue pictures, it would merely be one a year,

Expanding 3-D In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, which claims to have had the first three-dimensional movie process not requiring polaroid glasses as early as 1941, is now planning expansion into the provinces. Moscow has a 3-D theater. The plan calls for a network of them.
Prof. P. Koslov, director of the Research Cinema Photo Institute, says the old screen had shortcomings. "Now we not only have a new screen but a new system of shooting and projecting 3-D films which greatly improve their quality."
Americans who have seen Russian 3-D in Moscow find it good. Soviet Film production faces no stiff competition from television. Theaters are still overcrowded and any foreigner with a ticket to spare is besieged by Russians who want to buy it.

co-star Percy Kilbride has said he'll do no more.
"It's entirely up to Percy," said Miss Main. "I love that little fellow; he's such a fine performer. I think he got fed up with the series after the last one. Why, they put poor little Percy on a straw mat and dragged him all over the back lot. Then they had him double slide down a long slide into a swimming pool. Percy had to stand in the water up to his neck and he was terrified. He'd never been in a pool before."
"They should realize at our age you can't do all this physical stuff. You just don't have the energy that younger people do. We're too old to be running around. Percy's two years older than I am." He's 66.

She added that she is constantly amazed at the success of the "nice and corny" Kettle pictures. During a tour in Indiana, a theater man told her the series outdrew all other pictures he played. What is the secret?
A sage foreign observer gave her a hint: "Those pictures have such come to the end of their run. There are still two to be released, but that's right."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market pursued a mixed course today with many leading issues selling lower.

The decline extended to around 3 points at the outside while gains were almost all fractional.

Trading was moderate. The pace was perhaps a little better than Friday's 1,510,000 shares when the market was lower.

On the depressed side were the aircrafts, distillers, most rubbers, steels, coppers, some oils, and electronics issues.

Motion picture issues had a flurry of rising prices early in the session. They turned quiet later but held to their gains. Utilities were higher on balance and some chemicals were ahead. Otherwise the market was narrowly mixed or steady.

Among lower stocks were U.S. Steel, Studebaker, Goodrich, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, American Can, and Southern Pacific.

Higher were New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Paramount Pictures, Loew's, Allied Chemical, and American Car & Foundry.

RALEIGH (U—NCDA)—Hogs were mostly 25 to 50 cents lower today. 25.00 at Woodland Weldon, and Scotland Neck. 24.75 at Jacksonville, Warsaw, Kenly, Beula, Enfield, Tarboro, Hamilton, Laurel Hill, Elizabethtown, Freeman, Micro, Siler City, Burgaw, Newton Grove, Clarkton, Wilmington Colerain, Whiteville, Windsor, Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Rocky Mount, Lumberton, Fayetteville, Clinton, and Rich Square. 24.50 at Wilson, Dunn, Mt. Olive, Goldsboro, Fair Bluff, Bailey and Smithfield.

City Hall Gets New Paint Coat

Painters began painting Greenville's City Hall yesterday.

Plans call for painting the lobby, both stair wells through the third floor, second floor hallways and offices on the east side of the building on the second floor.

The painting of these parts of the building were approved by the City Council at their regular monthly meeting in December.

The lobby is being painted light green and will be trimmed in dark green. The stairs and hallways will be painted a sand color trimmed in gray and the offices on the second floor will be painted various colors.

City Manager Hughes said the contract for painting parts of the building went to Ed Stancill, who gave the low bid.

Estimated coal reserves of Canada total 55 carloads for every person in the country.

Bankers Assemble Here, New Officers Elected

W. H. Woolard Jr. (left) was elected secretary-treasurer of Group One of the North Carolina Bankers' Association which met in Greenville yesterday. At the right is C. C. Simpson of the Bank of Farmville who is retiring chairman of the group. Newly-elected chairman is Frederick A. Arthur of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company. The above picture was taken at Sheppard Memorial Library at the business session of the group yesterday afternoon. (P. photo by Jesse Helms)

W. H. Woolard Jr. of the Meadowbrook Branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company was elected secretary-treasurer of Group One of the North Carolina Bankers' Association at their thirty-third annual meeting here yesterday.

The local banker was elected to the position along with other new officers at the business session of the group yesterday afternoon.

The approximately 300 delegates at the business session held in Sheppard Memorial Library yesterday afternoon elected Frederick A. Arthur of the Washington branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company as chairman for the coming year. New vice-chairman is Paul F. Edmund of the Tar Heel Bank and Trust Company of Gatesville.

The newly elected executive committee includes: H. E. Beam of the Branch Bank and Trust Company of Plymouth; V. N. Whitehurst of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Snow Hill; S. T. Moore of the Bank of Washington, N.C.; and Edward C. Green of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Elizabeth City.

Continuing on the State executive committee for a second year is Wyatt R. Aydt of the First and Citizens National Bank of Elizabeth City.

The business session was presided over by retiring chairman C. C. Simpson of the Bank of Farmville. The bankers heard an address by Irvin Morgan president of the Farmville Oil and Fertilizer Company at the session.

The delegates went to the Greenville Country Club at five o'clock for a social hour which lasted until six o'clock.

At seven last night the delegates were entertained at a banquet in the dining hall at East Carolina College. The affair was presided over by Simpson and opened with the singing of "America" by the assembled bankers. The invocation was then given by Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College. The state officers were then recognized.

The bankers heard a address by Sam D. Bundy, principal of Farmville High School following the banquet.

The one-day meet was closed with an informal dance for the delegates and guests at the Greenville Country Club last night. Music was furnished by Herb Carter and his Orchestra.

garbage from both residential and business districts.

After the picture, Mr. Moss demonstrated the use of can and racks which he recommended should be used by all residence within the city.

The visitors were, Mrs. Mary Brewington, W. P. Norcott and Rev. O. J. Rooks.

After the picture was shown, the visitors were excused and the organization went into a business session with A. T. Mills presiding.

Travis Allen, chairman of the program committee read a letter and program from Theodore Ullman in which he stated that he had accepted the invitation from the Les Hommes Club and would appear in the C. M. Eppes auditorium in concert March 14, 1954.

All members of the newly organized Gospel Chorus who were to meet tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Lula Brown will meet instead at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Dawson tonight at 7 o'clock, 1502-A Fleming Street.

The Ladies Social Sorority Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Forbes.

The Les Hommes Club held its regular meeting in the Health Department Building Friday night.

Highlight of the meeting was presentation of a film by Mr. J. Moss, County Sanitation officer. The title of the film was "Garbage & Refuse Removal" which illustrated the methods and technique of disposing and removing refuse and

Two Injured As Heater Explodes

Two men were injured at Gibbs Coal Yard on Railroad Street this morning when a hot water heater on which the water jacket had been plugged up exploded.

The injured men were D. E. Jones who lives on the Falkland highway who received a broken leg from the blast and S. J. Sutton who received cuts about the face and leg.

It was reported that the coal burning water heater had just been installed in the office of the coal yard and the water outlets had been plugged up. A short while after a fire had been built in the stove the water jacket exploded sending fragments through the walls and windows of the building.

E. M. Gibbs, manager of the coal yard, said that the stove had been drained of water before it was installed but that evidently a small amount of water had been left in the water jacket.

The two injured men were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the rescue squad of the Greenville Fire Department.

Firemen reported that no blaze resulted from the explosion.

Funeral Wednesday For Eugene Manning

Eugene Manning, 39, died at his home in New Bern at seven o'clock Monday night from self-inflicted gun shot wounds.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Walter V. Nobles, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville. Burial will be in the Manning family cemetery near Littlefield.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lola Lewis Manning of Winterville; six children, Peggy, Ernest, Marylon, Carolyn, Deland, and Dorman Manning, all of Winterville; his father, Wyatt Manning of Arapahoe; a brother, Archie Manning of Arapahoe; and five sisters, Mrs. Harold Dixon and Mrs. Tommy Harris of Reidsboro, Mrs. Arthur Powell, and Mrs. Woolard Green of Arapahoe, and Mrs. Heber Williams of New Bern.

Landlord Cheers Tenants In Spirit Of Brotherhood

CHICAGO (U)—Forty-nine tenants in a North Side apartment building have received a letter from their landlord but there was no notice of a rent increase.

"Because this is Brotherhood Week," Jerome M. Schulman wrote the tenants, "we should remind ourselves to have proper respect and consideration for our fellow man. . . . This letter is my feeble step to a practical application of brotherhood: to help take some small burden or worry from the mind of a brother man."

"Let me assure you that there will be no rent increase unless a future rise in basic costs forces one."

Schulman owns a three-story apartment building and his tenants pay an average rent of $64 for four rooms and $76 for five rooms.

Vietminh Suffer Heavy Losses In Sudden Attacks

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—French Union forces stormed down on two Vietminh posts west and southeast of Hanoi today and claimed they inflicted "heavy losses" on the Communist-led rebels.

French army headquarters here said one French force hit the Vietminh in the village of Buc Tap 12 miles west of Hanoi, and drove them from pillboxes and entrenchments.

Fighters and bombers joined in the attack machinegunning and napalm-bombing the rebels. An army spokesman said no report had been received of the exact Vietminh casualties, but they were heavy.

A similar attack was reported in a village near Nam Dinh, 55 miles southeast of Hanoi. The French said nine rebels were killed and 28 captured.

Critics Assailing Graham Crusade

LONDON (U)—Billy Graham continued to make headlines in London newspaper today. One paper said British firms had been asked to kick in 50,000 pounds ($140,000) to pay for his three-month evangelistic crusade. Another reported 20,000 pounds ($56,000) already had been collected.

Graham himself was due in Southampton this afternoon aboard the liner United States.

The Laborite Daily Herald, which got up in arms last weekend because of an unflattering reference to socialism in Graham's advertising calendar, said the subscription call had gone to 6,000 British firms to "help hot-gospel Billy Graham save us from sin."

The Evening News quoted Graham's campaign treasurer, British motor industrialist Alfred Owen as saying 20,000 pounds already has been collected in five weeks from "industrial sources" and private "prayer partners."

A spokesman for Graham's London "crusade headquarters" declined to comment on the newspaper reports of fund appeals.

The Daily Mail said with considerable emphasis that Graham's London office looks "like the inside of a military headquarters at zero hour," with 40 assistants working in a room lined with a huge map studded with pins marking church "targets."

The cow, camel, yak, water buffalo, ewe, goat and reindeer all furnish milk for human beings.

New Short Form Finds Favor Of N.C. Taxpayers

RALEIGH (U)—More than a third of the persons filing state income tax returns are using the new short form, according to State Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw.

Under the new short form a standard deduction of 10 per cent is allowed for medical expenses, contributions, taxes and similar deductions. Regardless of how much a person makes, he may use the short form, but his total deductions cannot exceed $500.

Of 43,900 returns received on Feb. 16, more than 16,000 were short forms, Shaw said. He explained that the short form simplifies tax filing for individuals and also eases the Revenue Department's job of processing and checking the returns.

ATTEMPTED CURE
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A police car stopped the zig-zagging car on a Philadelphia street and questioned the unidentified youth at the wheel. His explanation: "My girl had hiccups and I was trying to scare her out of them."
