

Egyptian Council Restores Naguib

CAIRO (AP) — Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib took all his old jobs back today in Egypt's military government.

Guidance Minister Salah Salem tensely announced Naguib's reinstatement as premier and chairman of the ruling Revolutionary Council.

Salem said the incidents of Naguib's ouster were erased at a joint meeting of the Revolutionary Council and the civilian Cabinet late last night as though they had been nothing more than "a passing cloud."

Nasser, who had been president during the three days of Naguib's eclipse and premier and council chairman since, said in an interview today the full restoration of Naguib was made to end all quarrels before resumption of negotiations for withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal zone.

Salem said the regime still held to its March 5 decision to establish a constituent assembly—an interim parliament—by July 27, and to abolish the two-year-old rule of martial law and local press censorship. It was Salem who had announced Naguib's resignation and accused the popular, pipe-smoking army man of seeking absolute powers. Naguib has become a near idol to millions of Egyptians hoping for an end to the feudal rule which has gripped this strife-torn Middle East country.

One of those who attended the heavily guarded, four-hour joint meeting last night said it was Nasser who suggested Naguib be given back his old posts provided he give up his earlier demands for powers to veto the council's decisions and to hire and fire Cabinet ministers.

The council also canceled out another decree signed only yesterday naming Nasser as Egypt's military governor. The post went back to Naguib.

The surprise developments of last night were another chapter in a long conflict inside the Revolutionary Council. Nasser was the behind-the-scenes engineer of the bloodless coup which ended the monarchy, exiled King Farouk 20 months ago and set Naguib up as revolutionary hero.

Nasser, on the other hand, was said to have wanted the council to step into the background when the interim parliament took over.

The Men Win

CLIMAX, Mich. (AP) — Climax has climaxed its family breakfast arguments on whether women can govern better than men with a resounding ballot in favor of the men.

Male candidates won every race in yesterday's village election. In nearly every case it was husband against wife and papa's margin was around 10-to-1.

The women said they nominated a ticket "just for fun." The men expressed belief the wives likely were influenced by a woman's slate which routed the men and took over the government of nearby Mendon two years ago.

Mendon, incidentally, abolished its petticoat control of government in yesterday's elections, too.

Regular Term Of Superior Court In Pitt Cancelled

The regular term of Pitt Superior Court slated for the week of March 15 has been cancelled, Court Clerk D. T. House Jr. announced today.

The term of court had been designated for civil cases. House said the term of court was called off because a number of attorneys who had cases to be calendared for the term have to be out of town during that week.

House explained that the state Supreme Court will hear cases from this judicial district during the week of March 15, and a number of the attorneys have cases which the Supreme Court will hear.

The Clerk of the Court said a criminal term of Pitt Superior Court could not be arranged for the week of March 15 because Solicitor W. J. Bundy of the fifth judicial district will have to be in Beaufort County at a special term of court which has been set for the trial of a case which originated in Pamlico County in this district.

A term of criminal court is slated to begin in Pitt County on March 22. Two mixed terms of Pitt Superior Court are slated for the weeks of April 12 and April 19, and will be devoted to the trial of criminal cases, House said.

Three weeks of Superior Court are scheduled for the county in May with civil terms slated for the weeks of May 3 and May 17, and a mixed term slated for the week of May 24 which House said will be devoted to the hearing of civil cases and only the criminal cases which involve persons being held in jail at the time. The May 24 term will be the last term of Superior Court scheduled for Pitt County until August.

NEW YORK (AP) — An anonymous telephone caller, who reportedly spoke with a Spanish accent, told Waldorf-Astoria Hotel security guards early today that "something terrible" would happen to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) during the night.

McCarthy had checked into the hotel last night. The threat was reported to police. A city patrolman was sent to the hotel and joined a Waldorf-Astoria security guard in an all-night vigil outside McCarthy's room.

Police Lt. Joseph Whelan said a man with a Spanish accent made the threat to the hotel switchboard operator at 12:15 a.m. and repeated it to a security officer of the hotel. The caller hung up before the call could be traced.

There was no indication whether McCarthy had been informed of the threat. Edward Lawless, night manager of the Waldorf-Astoria, refused to discuss the telephone call with newsmen.

It was learned, however, that the caller, who spoke in a threatening tone—asked to speak with McCarthy. The caller was reported to have thought that an employe on the hotel information desk was McCarthy and to have told the employe: "You'd better get out of the hotel—something terrible is going to happen."

U. S. Proposal Of United Anti-Red Front Is Gaining

By CARLOS R. ESCUDERO CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The United States gained ground today in the 10th Inter-American Conference with its plan for united action to halt communism in this hemisphere.

Five Latin-American nations—Brazil, the Dominican Republic, Paraguay, Honduras and Nicaragua—threw their support to the new "Dulles Doctrine" in sessions yesterday.

Haiti also called for anti-Red action "not in conflict with the principle of nonintervention."

Underlining the importance President Eisenhower's government puts on the issue, Dulles canceled a speaking engagement in Philadelphia tomorrow to continue his personal watch on the progress of his anti-Communist resolution. Discussion of it in the Political-Judicial Committee was expected to take several more days.

The U. S. resolution would call for the 21 American republics to consult and act jointly against Communist seizure of power in any of the American states, just as they now are pledged to repel jointly invasion by a foreign aggressor. It would also provide for disclosure of identity, activities and sources of funds of person spreading Communist propaganda or traveling in the interests of the Red cause. Mexico submitted an amendment to expand such joint action to all forms of totalitarian intervention in the Americas.

Launching the committee debate yesterday, Dulles answered Guatemala's demand that he describe it as "that far-flung clandestine political organization which is operated by the leaders of the Communist party of the Soviet Union." He said one of its aims was to bring parts of the Western Hemisphere into its grip.

Brazilian Foreign Minister Vicente Rao said he would prefer to speak of "Soviet interventionism" rather than Communist penetration. He warned that "inter-American interventionism"—one American nation interfering with the affairs of another "to impose its own anti-Communist action.

Guillermo Sevilla Sacasa, Nicaraguan ambassador to Washington, said his nation also rejected a state's intervention in the affairs of another "to impose its one-sided will," but joint action against foreign ideas threatening peace and harmony in the continent is not intervention.

Increase Use Of Speed Device

"Speed watch equipment is now being used more than ever in District Five to detect speed violators," Sgt. John Laws, who is in charge of District Five of Troop A of the State Highway Patrol, stated.

"No motorist need have any worry as long as he drives within the various speed requirements. It's simply a matter of driving legally and living longer," Laws said.

The three-county District Five had a total of 650 traffic arrests for hazardous violations, Laws reported. Lenoir County had 268 arrests, Pitt 98 and Greene 127.

Laws' report showed that 42 accidents were investigated during February of which 15 were in Pitt County. Two fatalities occurred, both of which were in Lenoir County. There were 11 injuries, of which Pitt County had three.

Property damage, the report continued, amounted to $19,600 during February. Of this amount $7,300 was attributed to Lenoir County, $7,700 to Pitt, and $4,600 to Greene.

Young Mother Charged With Drowning 3 Tots

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — A distraught young housewife who wrote a message that "God told me" to-day faced a murder charge in the bathtub drownings of her three children.

County Atty. Joseph B. Campbell said Mrs. Constance Fisher, 24, would be arraigned in Municipal Court.

Richard Fisher, 6, his brother Daniel, 4, and their sister Deborah, 1, were found dead in their home yesterday by their father Carl 33, who smashed a door to gain entrance.

Richard's body lay face down in the tub. The others were on beds. Campbell said Mrs. Fisher was huddled in a blanket under a bed. He said she had swallowed some liquid shampoo in a suicide attempt, but it had no serious effect. Fisher, a Maine Central Railroad employe, was temporarily prostrated when he discovered the bodies and a note scrawled on wrapping paper.

"It was so hard to do, but God told me it was the only way I could save them. They are in heaven safe forever from evil."

The Fisher family physician said Mrs. Fisher had been subject to periods of depression and had consulted a psychiatrist about them.

Douglas, speaking before the Piedmont Society of Tool Engineers here last night, said there is a need for high school vocational education, college-trained engineers and a technically trained group in between to attract new industry to the state.

GOP Leaders To Discuss 'Fair Play' Bill In Pushing Probe Measures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders called a meeting today to discuss steps that might be taken to persuade committees to make their investigative procedures fair to everyone.

The question arose in the wake of a public row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

A closed meeting of the Senate GOP Policy Committee followed introduction by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) yesterday of a bill to establish by law "a code of fair play" for congressional investigations.

Douglas said the approach taken by Republican leaders, based on persuasion rather than legislation, amounted only "to a pious hope that committees will reform themselves."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the policy committee, was due to report to the GOP committee on his survey of existing Senate committee rules and discussion of possible improvements with individual committee chairmen.

Republican Leader Knowland of California already has said each committee has the unquestioned right to accept or reject any suggestions growing out of the study.

President Eisenhower said Knowland had advised him that "effective steps are being taken by the Republican leadership to set up codes of fair procedure."

The President's statement, dealing indirectly with the storm over the questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker by McCarthy at a one-man hearing, said Congress has responsibility for seeing that its committee procedures are fair and proper.

The bill offered by Douglas and Humphrey is similar to measures previously introduced but on which no action has been taken by the Senate Rules Committee.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), chairman of the rules committee, recently referred to the policy committee study of investigative procedures as "much ado about nothing."

Douglas told the Senate he had noted "with great concern that the Republican Policy Committee does not propose to take positive action on the President's recommendations or on the various bills previously introduced to improve investigating procedures."

"Instead," he continued, "it is proposed to make 'suggestions' to committee chairmen for revised rules of conduct which, if adopted, could be reversed by the next chairman, or by the sitting chairman, at his merest wish."

Douglas said he was sure this "pious hope" approach was not what Eisenhower had in mind. Nor, he said, is it sufficient acceptance of the responsibility we all have as members of Congress for the reform of our procedures.

The policy committee study was undertaken after Secretary Stevens contended McCarthy had abused and humiliated Zwicker in questioning him.

Fire Truck Ready For Rural Calls

The fire truck used for rural calls has been repaired and is now ready to answer calls in the county, Fire Chief George Gardner announced today.

The truck, which has been broken down for some time, was repaired by firemen today and was being tested this morning.

The parts came in this morning about 7 o'clock and we had it ready to go by 10 o'clock," Gardner stated. Parts for the truck had been on order for several days and the department was notified late last week that they had been shipped.

Nixon Scheduled To Answer Adlai

By FRED S. HOFFMAN WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, it now is known, hand-picked Vice President Nixon to fire back the Republican party's reply to charges by Adlai Stevenson that the GOP is using "slander, dissension and deception" to try to win the coming congressional elections.

But Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) while terming Nixon an "excellent choice" to speak for the party, made it clear last night he still expects NBC and CBS to give him free radio and TV time to reply to what he called a "vicious attack on me personally" by Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 presidential candidate.

"I am delegating to no one the authority to defend me," McCarthy told newsmen in New York after he had learned the two big networks had rejected his demand for equal air time but had agreed instead to give the Republican party a 30-minute rebuttal period next Saturday night.

The Wisconsin senator hinted strongly he might take the matter to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), of which his friend, Robert E. Lee, recently became a member. The FCC censes and regulates radio and television operations.

Addressing a big Democratic rally in Miami Fla., last Saturday night, Stevenson aimed much of his attack at McCarthy, whom he accused of seeking to lead the Republican party to a "malign and fatal totalitarianism."

The title of the Democrats' also said the Republicans are divided "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower." Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee, claiming that Stevenson had "impugned the Eisenhower administration," got in ahead of McCarthy yesterday with a formal bid for equal radio and TV time to reply. He stressed that Stevenson spoke as leader of the Democratic party. "This, Hall wired both big networks that "this is not a matter for personal rebuttal by any individual"—an apparent reference to McCarthy.

High administration sources said last night Eisenhower himself made the suggestion that the Republican National Committee seek free radio-TV time to answer Stevenson and that it was the President who chose Nixon to speak for the party. The President, it was reported, phoned the idea to Hall, who already had moved in the same direction.

One informed source indicated that the strategy was "to get McCarthy out of the headlines and get our story across."

It was understood in this connection that Hall did not contact McCarthy before asking the networks for rebuttal opportunity.

McCarthy, arriving in New York after a brief Miami vacation, said Hall was "entirely correct" in regarding the Stevenson speech as an attack on the GOP. McCarthy, in fact, called it an "intemperate attack." But he added:

"Mr. Nixon is speaking for the party. I'm speaking for myself." "The FCC rules," he asserted, "provide that I must be given time to answer these charges. . . . I intend to do everything I can to make the television companies live up to their obligations."

Commission sources said last night FCC's basic law requires that candidates for public office be given "equal opportunities" on the air. But this would not seem to cover the present situation since no one involved is an active candidate.

However, these sources also said the commission has tried in the past to see to it that broadcasters treated all controversial issues fairly.

Arrests Rise In Bootleg Roundup

Arrests are continuing in the largest round-up in Pitt County's history of people charged with illegally selling whiskey.

The number of persons taken into custody since the crack-down by officers Thursday night rose to 41 today as officers continued to search out individuals and serve them with warrants which have been prepared.

The round-up of bootleggers in the county is an outgrowth of work of two Negro undercover agents who concentrated their efforts in Pitt on week-ends during December and January purchasing whiskey in almost all sections of the county.

In the first push Thursday night and early Friday morning 28 Negro men and women were taken into custody by officers, and five more were arrested Friday and Friday night. Over the week-end officers added two more to the list, taking into custody Alfred Anderson and Elbert Anderson, both of the Baldards Crossroads section.

Yesterday officers arrested David Cannon, Ernest Dixon and Courtney Dixon, all of the Cannons Crossroads section, charging each with illegally selling whiskey.

Last night Jessie Mae Stancill of 200-A First Street, Greenville, was taken into custody by Rocky Mount police on a bus in Rocky Mount and held for local ABC officers. ABC Officer J. M. Ward said officers had been seeking the woman since Thursday and had been unable to locate her. "Last night," Ward said, "we got a tip she took that 7 o'clock New York bus from Greenville. We called Rocky Mount police and they picked her up on the bus in Rocky Mount, and we went over and brought her back to Greenville."

Three warrants charging illegal sales of whiskey were served on her. Early today Ayden police arrested Lutrial Moya on an ABC warrant charging illegal sale of whiskey, and Wiley Roberson of Greenville was taken into custody by local police this morning on two warrants.

Ward said all the people arrested so far in the round-up are Negroes and all have been charged with illegally selling whiskey.

Face Defeat On Excise Tax Cuts

By CHARLES F. BARRETT WASHINGTON (AP) — Some key Republicans said today the Eisenhower administration faces probable defeat in trying to shove off a wide range of excise tax cuts.

A bill to reduce many of these "nuisance" taxes comes up in the House tomorrow, with leadership backing and with no organized opposition in sight there or in the Senate.

President Eisenhower evidently conceded defeat in the House when he conferred yesterday with GOP congressional leaders.

Leaders said the administration would not oppose House passage of the bill to slash about $30 million dollars a year off taxes on movie tickets, furs, passenger fares, telephone bills, cosmetics, luggage, handbags and wallets, jewelry, cameras, sporting goods and other items.

But they announced, after the White House conference, that the administration would fight to knock out some of these reductions when the bill hits the Senate. The administration position is that the government cannot afford to lose the revenue.

The bill would slice to 10 percent all excise or sales taxes now above that level, except those on liquor and tobacco, effective April 1.

The proposal also would cancel about one billion dollars in reductions now scheduled for April 1 in excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes, automobiles, gasoline, trucks and buses, beer and wine. Eisenhower has urged this cancellation.

Two members of the Senate Finance Committee said in separate interviews that when the bill reaches there, they are inclined to go along with the cuts despite administration opposition.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said the bill seems to offer an "equitable solution" to the excise tax problem. He noted there are demands to eliminate entirely many of the taxes.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa), however, too, was inclined to go along with the proposed cuts.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa), however, said balancing the federal budget is the "overriding issue" and he would oppose the tax cuts unless they are balanced with new spending cuts.

Police Hold Man For Robbery Try With Cap Pistol

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Harold Alexander, 29, address unknown, was being held in jail today after police said he attempted to hold up a Charlotte finance company yesterday with a cap pistol.

Manager P.M. McMillan said a bandit entered the company at 6:30 p.m., pointed a gun at him, and ordered him to give him money.

McMillan said he told the man he had put the money in a night deposit. Police quoted McMillan as saying the bandit became jittery, shouted, "I should kill you," then turned and fled.

Minutes later Alexander was captured by police as he emerged from a nearby alley. Police found a cap pistol on him and said Alexander admitted the robbery attempt. McMillan also identified him, police said.

District Sanitarian Here To Assist In Cafe Survey

By BOB BOYETTE Reflector Staff Writer

A supervising sanitarian for the eastern district from the North Carolina State Board of Health is here this week helping Pitt County Health Department sanitarians make a survey and inspection of the cafes of Greenville.

The purpose of State Health Department Sanitarian Walter C. Lackey's visit is to confer with operators to see that all sanitary precautions are taken in eating houses to protect the public's health.

Lackey came to Pitt County at the request of Dr. Walter C. Humbert of the local Health Department.

Dr. Humbert reports that plans are being made this week for the establishment of a Food Service Training School for operators and employes here. It will be held April 20, 21 and 22.

"The purpose of the school," Dr. Humbert stated, "is to acquaint operators and employes with correct sanitary and health measures for operating eating establishments, and to show operators where they have the same responsibility in guarding the public's health that a pharmacist has in dispensing drugs or a dairyman has in the production of quality milk."

"General conditions of Greenville restaurants are fairly good," the health director continued, "but we want it better than that as we want every sanitary precaution made."

Dr. Humbert concluded by adding that "If a restaurant fails to meet safe minimum standards their operating permits will be revoked until the violations have been corrected."

Faulty Vision Is Accident-Cause

Faulty vision ranks high as a cause of hunting accidents, according to Dr. Sam T. White II, Greenville optometrist in charge of the annual observance of "Save Your Vision Week."

"Foggy eyesight can lead to mistaken identity, failure to distinguish a fellow hunter or local farmer from legitimate game," White stated.

"For the older hunter, there comes a time when the rear gun sight is just a blur and accurate aim is impossible without some visual aid," the optometrist said. "Unfortunately, glasses alone cannot help the older-presbyopic hunter. A hunter must instantaneously be able to change focus from back sight to front sight to the target, and no ordinary lens correction can serve these purposes. The best answer for the middle-aged hunter is a telescopic sight, which eliminates the necessity of adjusting to different distances."

Insurance Commissioner Urges Cooperation In Highway Safety

Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold has called for more cooperation with highway safety measures in an effort to keep the state's auto insurance rates down.

Gold made the appeal in an address here last night before the Greenville Rotary club.

Gold asserted that the people of the state play a major part in determining insurance rates, because losses which are paid by insurance companies are a major factor in determining rates. Speaking of automobile liability insurance rates, Gold said, "We have some of the best rates in the country here in North Carolina, and the only way we can keep them is by keeping losses down."

The commissioner of insurance explained briefly to the Rotary club the duties and activities of the state Department of Insurance. The department he said, collects some $7,500,000 annually in fees and licenses, and the cost of operation of the department is approximately three-and-one-half per cent of the collections.

He said it is the duty of the commissioner to determine rates for various types of insurance other than life insurance after hearing proposals from a commission representing all the insurance companies. The rates, he added, are determined by the operating cost of the companies and the losses.

The department, he asserted, carries on an extensive fire prevention program in an effort to decrease losses by having experts work with local fire departments on equipment and techniques of fighting fires; administering the building code of the state; and inspecting and investigating state property in an effort to prevent fires or determine causes of fires.

It is also a duty of the department, Gold said, to supervise building and loan firms of the state, and examine insurance companies. P. L. Goodson was in charge of the program at the Rotary meeting last night, and Gold was introduced by E. Hoover Taft of Greenville.

Judges will be Mrs. W. Jesse Moye, Mrs. E. S. Beasley, Sr., and G. E. Travathan.

A program of music will be presented and the public is invited.

Attend Child Welfare Meet At Rocky Mount

Mr. K. T. Futrell, Superintendent of Public Welfare in Pitt County, and several professional workers from the Pitt County Welfare Department attended the Child Welfare Conference held in Rocky Mount, North Carolina, on Friday, March 5.

The conference was scheduled by the State Department of Public Welfare for the officials and case workers in the District, which comprises approximately ten counties.

Dr. Ellen Winston, State Commissioner of Public Welfare, presided at the conference. Also present from the State Office were Miss Mary Frances Roberts, Supervisor of Adoptions in North Carolina, and Mrs. Jeanie G. Austin, Field Representative for this District.

The purpose of the day long meeting was to review and discuss the new Child Welfare Manual which was compiled recently to include the new laws and amendments of the North Carolina General Assembly to cover the field of child welfare; particularly of those pertaining to the adoption of children.

Several Clerks of the Court from some of the counties represented were present.

Drama Club To Present Play For Young Children

School children of Pitt County are happily anticipating the production of "The Emperor's New Clothes," which will be given in their honor in April by the Teachers Playhouse of East Carolina College. Audiences of approximately 3,000 people are expected to attend four performances April 20-23.

The drama will be one of a series of plays for young people given annually in the spring by the college.

Republicans To Soon Pick Man

WINSTON-SALEM (AP)—North Carolina Republican leaders will nominate a U.S. Senate candidate for the November election within a few days, State GOP Chairman Ray Jennings said here yesterday.

The seat is now held by Sen. Alton A. Lennon of Wilmington, a Democrat, who was appointed by Gov. Umstead to fill the vacancy left by the death of Sen. Willis Smith.

Jennings said the Republican candidate tentatively has been decided upon. He refused to identify him, other than "He's a leader in industry, education and religion in the state."

Jennings said the senatorial nomination and possibly nominations for two Supreme Court positions, the state treasurer's post and a place on the Industrial Commission may be elected by the party leaders.

The nominating committee was appointed at the state convention at Charlotte Saturday. Jennings also was elected then.

The children's plays have increased in popularity each year. Last spring more than 5,000 people in Pitt County and in Kinston were present at eight performances of "Robin Hood, or the Merry Outlaws of Sherwood Forest."

"The Emperor's New Clothes," this year's play for children, is based on a fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen and will be presented in a dramatization by Charlotte Chorpenning. Dr. Joseph A. Withey of the Department of English will act as faculty supervisor of the production.

As in former years, the Greenville branch of the American Association of University Women will act as sponsor. Mrs. James Poindecker, chairman of the production for the AAUW, will manage the distribution of tickets to schools throughout Pitt County.

Dates of performances have been announced as follows: April 20, 21, and 22 at 3 p.m. in the College Theatre on the campus, and April 23 at 2 p.m. in the Eppes High School for Negroes in Greenville.

They will also submit their publications to the Association for the yearly ratings provided for schools, colleges, and universities throughout the nation.

Representing the "East Carolinian" are Editor T. Parker Madgry of Seaboard; Editor-elect Fay O'Neal of Selma; Business Manager Edna Massad of Benson; and Anwer Joseph of Greenville, Valeria Shearon of Varina, Jerry Register of Elizabethtown, and Fred Joseph of Greenville, staff members.

Co-editors Thomas R. Lupton of Greenville and Mildred Reynolds of Columbia, and Editor-elect Jane Kanoy of Thomasville are delegates from the "Buccaneer."

Solved A Crime; Still Baffled

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP)—Police have solved a crime involving theft of $100 but they don't know where it happened.

A fugitive from Shirley Industrial School—a detention home for boys—was returned here yesterday on a charge of taking a car without authority.

Police said he told them of breaking into a gas station last Tuesday and stealing $100 from the cash register.

But he couldn't tell where the gas station was other than "within a day's walking distance from Fitchburg."

No nearby police department has any record of the theft.

State Again To Try Extradition

RALEIGH (AP)—Extradition papers are being prepared by North Carolina in a new attempt to return a man from California who was released by mistake from a Tar Heel prison camp last New Year's Eve.

Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California turned down a request last week by North Carolina that Paul Ward, alias Phillip P. Ward, be returned to complete serving a two- to - four - year sentence for breaking and entering. Through a mixup, Ward was freed after serving only seven months.

Gov. Umstead's office yesterday reported that the extradition papers being prepared will request that Ward be returned to face trial in Forsyth County a second time on charges of breaking into a school and stealing a safe, money and checks valued at $400.

The extradition request was made by Solicitor Walter E. Johnston Jr. of Winston-Salem. Ward was convicted in Forsyth last May 14 of breaking into the Clemmonsville school and sentenced to 10 years, Johnston told the governor.

Ward claiming that his constitutional rights were violated at the trial, filed a petition under the state's post-conviction statute. Judge J. H. Clement, who presided at the original trial, directed that the verdict be set aside last Dec. 19 and ordered a new trial. A detainer was filed ordering that Ward be held for trial after he completed the two- to - four - year term. Then the mixup followed which resulted in his release.

Business Today

A Profitable Year

By ELMER ROESSNER
Corporate America had a 10 per cent more profitable year in 1953, judging from National City Bank of New York's survey of annual reports of 2,359 leading corporations. Their aggregate net profits after taxes were 10 per cent higher than they were in 1952.

But, as National City is quick to point out, some of the 1953 gains were in the nature of a recovery from the effects of the prolonged steel strike in 1952, and some represented a return to normal profit ratios after OPS ceilings were terminated. And for some companies, 1953 meant a rebound from slump conditions in 1952, including those in textiles, clothing, leather and shoes, rubber products and paint.

The gains among manufacturing companies, approximately half of the total, were far from sustained. They showed an 18 per cent gain for the first nine months of 1953, while only a 10 per cent gain for the year. At that rate, quite a few must not have made any gains in the last three months of the year.

Only seven categories of corporations showed less profits than in 1952. Of these, 18 coal-mining companies showed net profits 47 per cent lower, and 64 real estate companies suffered a 26 per cent drop. Twelve amusement corporations were down 15 per cent. Declines, in per cent, in other categories were: wholesale and miscellaneous trade, 9; variety and nonfood chains, 2; transportation other than railroads, 1, and beverages, 1.

The priciest gains were made by 29 iron and steel companies, up 38 per cent, partly, of course, reflecting improvement over the effects of the 1952 strike. Twenty-one shoe and leather corporations reported net profits 36 per cent higher and 18 food chains reported net profits up a total of 31 per cent. Other gains of more than 20 per cent included textile products up 28; restaurant and hotels, 24 and telephone and telegraph, 21.

The 2,359 corporations reported an aggregate net income of $9,912,063,000, compared with $9,044,756 in 1952.

ABSENTEEISM DOWN COMPANIES REPORT

Current employment trends appear to be having effects on absenteeism. Mill & Factory checked 296 companies. Of these, 38 per cent reported less absenteeism than a year ago, 53 per cent reported the same amount and only 9 per cent noted an increase.

TRANSFORMS STANDARDS TO SAVE MILLIONS

A set of standards developed under the auspices of the American Standards Association is expected to save American industry $10,000,000 in the next three years. The standards apply to transformers which weigh up to 30 tons and cost up to $45,000 or more.

HHFA RELATES WEATHER TO HOUSING DESIGN

Maybe architects may now be dissuaded from designing New England style houses for Texas and ranch-type homes for Maine. The Housing and Home Finance Agency has just published six reports "designed to help architects, engineers and housing consultants use available weather data in the planning of more comfortable, convenient and economic structures."

WARNS AGAINST INTERIOR VINYL-COATED OUTERWEAR

Manufacturers and dealers have been warned to beware of vinyl-coated fabrics of inferior quality in a letter to the trade by Sol Sackel, of Bolta Products Sales. For satisfactory use in outerwear, vinyl-coated cloth must be processed correctly, he warned, adding that the market is being flooded with fabrics of inferior quality.

Very Articulate Guitar Player

By EDDY GILMORE
For Hal Boyle
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most articulate men in America is a banjo player who never got beyond the fifth grade.

His name is Eddie Condon born Albert Edward Condon, a high priest of pure jazz, who has a consistency akin to the late Babe Ruth's.

The Babe never threw a wrong base. Eddie never played a wrong chord.

After an honest start on the banjo, Condon has come down to the guitar and he's one of the best in the business. He's a man not given to bragging. The only self praise I ever heard him indulge in was the remark, "I've never played a solo in my life."

It's Eddie's articulation with words, not music, that fascinates so many of his listeners and friends. Consider his comment on an eminent French music critic who denounced American jazz.

"Who does that frog think he is," asked Eddie, "to come over here and try to tell us how to play? We don't go over there and tell him how to jump on a grape." That is typical of Eddie.

I was talking to him the other night about a mutual friend who, although he'd never been south of South Chicago, suddenly developed a very strong case of South mouth.

"He's really got a Southern accent," I said.

"He certainly has," commented Eddie.

Off Street Parking Not Just For Merchants

Last week Greenville's City Council agreed to pay one-half the estimated $500 cost of a survey in the city to determine what off-street parking facilities are needed and where such areas could best be located.

By its vote the council took the position that the survey cost should be shouldered jointly by the city government and the merchants of the city.

Since that time, and even while the mat-

Routine Matter Or Item For Serious Thought?

There was a small item at the meeting of the Greenville City Council last Thursday night which took little time and probably was passed unnoticed by many people who read the account of the meeting.

It could be considered a routine matter. Then on the other hand, perhaps some thought should be given it.

A request from New Bern was made to the City of Greenville to use facilities in Greenville as an evacuation center in case of an enemy attack on the New Bern area.

Playing games again? Was it a scheme thought up by some Civil Defense official to try to impress the people of this area? Just a publicity stunt that fizzled?

Some people will answer all those questions with a big "yes."

But maybe we would be wise to give it consideration rather than granting the request and forgetting about the obligation Greenville would assume in case of such a disaster as the request suggests.

What would Greenville do if it suddenly found itself the evacuation center for several thousand people from other communities of Eastern North Carolina? Would the city be able to cope with the situation on a few hours notice?

Perhaps city officials and rank and file citizens all over North Carolina should take this matter of Civil Defense preparation for emergencies a little more seriously than has been the case in recent years.

The catastrophe we consider impossible often happens at the time we least expect.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
PREJUDICE

Firm convictions have a very stabilizing influence upon one's life, but when these firm convictions solidify into prejudice they inveterate a person in every hateful quality.

All of us who profess any religion at all feel that our religion is the best. If we believed there was a better religion, we would forsake what we now profess and adopt what is better. But to be loyal to one's religion is one thing and to hate everyone else who differs from us is something else. There is not a religion in the world that does not have within it certain good points, else it never would have called forth the loyalty of multitudes. To say this is not to say that one religion is as good as another. My religion is best according to me, and your religion is best according to you. That's the way it is—that's the way it ought to be. But if we have any spiritual vision at all, we can see happy and commendable things in other people's religion which we might well strive to incorporate into our own.

What goes for religion goes also for patriotism. Each of us loves his country and prefers it above all others. Let the other fellow indulge in pride and boasting also. Try being patriotic without being prejudiced. Someone has said that prejudice squints when it looks and lies when it talks.

National Whirligig

Aggravating Old Friction

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Congressional resentment over proposed changes in Capitol Hill's historic house-keeping methods has aggravated latent bitterness toward certain political advisers at the White House, especially Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's Chief of Staff. He was already at loggerheads with many prominent GOP-ers because of his stinginess with patronage.

Although the current controversy was precipitated by Senator "Joe" McCarthy's tough investigating tactics and Senator William Langer's tactless handling of the Warren nomination, it involves a far more fundamental problem, in the opinion of veteran House and Senate members.

It raises the ancient question of whether the President shall dominate the national legislature to such a degree that the constitutional balance of power among the three arms shall be distorted. On that issue the legislators are extremely jealous and sensitive, regardless of party.

CAPITOL HILL EXPLODED HELP FROM IKE—Moreover, Congress is now in the process of retrieving authority that was taken from it by such headstrong figures as Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. Capitol Hill feels that they sought to override and demean the legislative body in both domestic and foreign affairs. It was expected that Ike would help them in this attempt, not to cross them.

F. D. R. transformed Congress into a "rubber stamp" group in early New Deal days. He tried to "purge" its most distinguished members. He wanted to "pack" the Supreme Court. Truman pursued the same pattern. He denounced members as "little men." He said there were "too many B-7-1-4's in the Senate." He tried to seize the steel industry.

He ordered troops into Korea without prior Congressional sanction. Both he and Roosevelt negotiated secret agreements which the Senate tried to undo, first through a formal condemnation of the Yalta and Teheran pacts and recently through the George-Bricker Amendment. Although defeated by a single ter was being considered, there has been some opposition voiced against the city putting money into the project.

It is understandable that some businesses, because of their location or nature, feel they would not benefit by off-street parking facilities in or near the principal business area of the city. They feel it is up to the businesses themselves, rather than the city, to provide adequate parking facilities for customers; and many businesses which have located in areas away from the main business district in recent years have endeavored to afford parking areas.

It is a mistaken idea, we believe, that off-street parking facilities in or near Greenville's business district would serve only to benefit businesses in the immediate area. On the contrary, such areas, if and when they are provided, should prove an asset to shoppers who visit the business district as well as businesses themselves. Off-street parking areas also will benefit the city by alleviating the parking situation along streets, and will therefore help in moving the traffic which is increasing year by year in the heart of Greenville.

It is short sighted, we feel, to look at off-street parking simply as a method to help business firms in a particular area. The advantages such areas would provide all people of Greenville who visit the business area; and also the part such areas would play in alleviating present and future traffic problems should be considered.

All things considered, we feel the City Council is justified in appropriating some $250 of city money to be used for having the survey made.

Whopping Good Basketball Season In Pitt County

Basketball season officially is over now, but it will probably be many years before local sports fans have an opportunity to see better basketball than they have during the season which is just ending.

Basketball in the Pitt County circuit was good throughout the season and provided many thrills and chills, cheers and heartaches for respective teams and supporters throughout the county.

In Greenville, Coach Boley Farley's Phantoms came through to knock off Kingston in the Northeastern Conference tournament for the conference championship.

For those who followed East Carolina's basketball season, it was a year to remember as the Pirates swept the conference, winning both the regular season play championship and bringing home top honors from the conference tournament. The Pirates went on to win the NAIA region 26 tournament here and now are in Kansas City vying for national honors.

All around, it was a whopping good basketball season at home for the folks of Pitt County.

Somebody Told Me

Gadgets Hold A Fascination

If ever there was anybody who has absolutely no use for a gadget, it's me. Yet, there's nothing I enjoy more than looking through a catalog of useless gadgets.

One came in the mail yesterday that I always enjoy; it's full of items, some of which everybody needs and the rest of which everybody might want but not half of the people who own them would go to the trouble to use them.

For example, take the car nap. This gadget is a horse-shoe shaped job that is inflated and you sit it around the neck while you sit up in a chair and sleep. Well, at least you can say one thing for it: it costs only 50¢.

And if you have a parakeet you can get him a playboard for $3.98. Dig this description: "Your budgie will have the time of his life in this wonderful playground and so will you just watching him. The big plywood base is 18 inches square. Included are all the parts that you'll need to assemble a tall ladder, center climbing post, light rocker (they're hilarious on this) and mirror—our show-off preens by the hour and gives his reflection innumerable kisses. The entire set is held together by sturdy wooden dowels." Whoever wrote that should be writing TV scripts for comedians.

Anybody need a pencil holder? The catalog describes: Grandpa probably had a Pennsylvania Dutch Pencil holder just like this one back in the days of the general store, when eggs were nine cents a dozen. It's a cast iron holder with molded decorations hand-painted in colorful Pennsylvania Dutch designs. The only catch is: who would use it if they had it?

Here's one that's more useful: "Flea-duster pet comb. Flies do a grooming and rid of his unwanted guests at the same time. Fill the plastic comb with your favorite insect powder. As you comb, squeeze the bulb in the handle. A supply of powder comes through the hollow teeth and is sent deep into hair roots, where it's needed most. Grooms cats, too."

This particular company has a supply of gadgets that would keep me interested for hours. Yet, as far as purchasing them I realize that very few of us actually use the gadgets.

It's still fun to view them, and evidently enough people buy them to keep many others employed.

And I thank you.

By LYNN NISBET
PROGRESS — Primary accent now is placed upon the industrial development of North Carolina, with secondary accent upon those things which contribute directly to that objective. One who has traveled over North Carolina during the past 15 years is apt to be more impressed by the collateral and indirect contributions—the little things not apparent to the casual or infrequent visitor, but which in the aggregate add up to real growth.

It has been the privilege of your reporter to visit all sections of North Carolina at least twice each year since 1940. Every trip has afforded new occasion for pride in manifold progress.

Some of these manifestations have been glaring. A big factory where two or three years ago was a tobacco field; a residential suburban development where not long ago was the habitat of wild game; a broad new highway completely by-passing a town where on the last trip narrow and crooked streets constituted traffic hazards.

FRIENDLY Most of the progress has been gradual and friendly. It has been like watching a neighborhood child grow up, rather than having an adult neighbor move in. It is bigger and better each year, but it is essentially the same North Carolina, with the same traditions, the same virtues and faults, the same aspirations.

This kind of progress is noticeable in new school houses with accompanying gymnasium and playground facilities. It is more noticeable in roadside churches. With the possible exception of painted farm homes and cleaned up yards, the improvement in rural church buildings and grounds is the most outstanding testimonial to progress. The once familiar church of four clap-board walls and broken panes is as rare now as the brick structure with stained glass windows was a generation ago.

EXCEPTIONAL — There are still some unimproved country churches surrounded by eroded grounds bare of greenery with scraggly tombstones for background. There are farm homes which indicate tolerated existence rather than exuberant living on part of the residents. Occasional communities, both incorporated towns and scattered rural settlements, have not kept pace with progress.

The significant thing is that these exhibits attract attention because they are exceptions, whereas not so many years ago the well kept premises were the outstanding features. This change has been subtle and gradual, discernible only to one long familiar with the landscape.

IMPROVED — The traveler across North Carolina in 1954 probably will see no more acres of pasture than he saw in 1940, but he will see more cows. The scrawny cattle grazing on browned out grass have been replaced by good stock living on improved pastures. The mule drawn plow has given way to the tractor, as the farm wagon has been displaced by a motor truck.

Despite the splurge of industrial promotion there are no more perhaps not so many smokestacks now as there were a decade ago. They have been succeeded by the fabricated towers and webs of copper wires carrying the magical energy generated from "white coal" in the hydro and steam plants of the power companies.

The Lumbee, the Cape Fear, the Neuse and the Roanoke rivers are becoming as important in the electric power plan as the Little Tennessee, the Catawba and the Yadkin. Someone has said, and it is probably true, that it is impossible to travel 25 miles over any paved or black top road without coming in sight of an electric power line carrying from 110 volts to 330,000, a radio or TV antenna. Many of the unpainted tenant houses have electric washing machines on the front porch.

HOSPITALS — The statisticians can furnish figures on hospital beds and public health services in relation to people benefiting from these facilities. The gap between need and availability of service has not been closed, but it has tremendously narrowed. The community now without emergency hospital facilities is rare. If there is no hospital in the immediate community, good roads make possible ambulance transportation to one nearby.

BASIC — These testimonials to basic progress cannot compete for newspaper headlines with the location of a big factory. In the aggregate they may be more important, because this kind of permanent improvement contains the most persuasive argument for industrial expansion.

UNCHANGED — In some important respects there has been no change. North Carolina has a distinctive personality which remains fairly constant. The concepts of integrity and neighborliness and kindness and genuine courtesy which have guided our people through the years have been impervious to surface change in habits of living. Even ment has not been necessary before, and it seems unnecessary now.

We think tampering with the Constitution is a serious business which should be undertaken only after the most careful consideration. Such consideration has not been given the George substitute nor can be given it during this session. Already the Bricker debate has cost the Senate six weeks of precious time when nothing else was achieved. Senator Lennon's move now would cause an even greater delay of necessary legislation by clogging the decks even further.

We can only hold our breath and hope that reason will prevail in the Senate and that the George substitute will quickly be consigned to the oblivion it deserves. We believe our Senator was ill-advised and unwise to attempt this unwarranted resurrection.

opponents. When it became apparent that the commendable end of preventing subversion of the Constitution to treaties was unnecessary and in fact would paralyze presidential power to deal with foreign affairs, President Eisenhower and the more progressive members of both parties killed the move. Several hastily-conceived and hastily-considered substitutes sprang up, of which the George measure is one, in a desperate last-ditch attempt by the isolationists.

The George substitute is a weakened version of the Bricker amendment. It would provide that no treaty conflicting with the Constitution would have effect and that no agreement would influence internal law without recorded Senate votes. This needlessly formalizes what has had the force of "common law" since the founding of the republic. Such an amendment has not been necessary before, and it seems unnecessary now.

Industrial Development Given North Carolina Priority

though there is a hospital in almost every county and a delicatessen in every village, neighbors still "sit up with" the sick and carry food to families whose troubles interfere with normal household routine. These unchanging human characteristics are given almost as much consideration by industrialists looking for new locations as are the evidences of economic advancement.

The point for emphasis would seem to be that failure to obtain as many new factories as the state at large or any community might desire does not necessarily mean lack of progress.

'Tightwad' Jack Benny Footing Lavish Wedding Of Adopted Daughter Tonight

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD UP—Jack Benny's reputation as a tightwad gets a jolt tonight when he foots the bill for the lavish wedding of his daughter Joan to Seth Baker of New York.

Rabbi Edgar F. Maguin will marry the young pair tonight at 7 in private ceremonies at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Present will be the parents of the couple—the Beverly Hills Hotel. Present will be the parents of the couple—the Beverly Hills Hotel. Present will be the parents of the couple—the Beverly Hills Hotel.

After the ceremony, the hotel's Crystal Room will be packed with some 500 well-wishers, including more of Hollywood's top stars.

"Outside of having an elopement, there were only two ways we could have done it," sighed Benny. "We could have had a very small wedding and invited only the family and a handful of friends. Or we could have a big affair and invite everyone. Because too many people would have been slighted, we decided to have a big wedding."

I remarked that this might ruin his reputation as a money pincher, built up for years on radio and TV. "Reputation nothing!" he protested. "This might ruin me!" He estimated that the entire affair may run up a bill in excess of $25,000. This might seem high to all those except fathers who have had to finance weddings lately.

Joan's wedding gown alone is reputed to cost $2,500. It is a Don Loper creation of brocaded lily-of-the-valley white satin, full length with a train. Rex designed the cap of Juliet pearls with a three-tiered, full-length veil.

"Oh well, I have only one daughter," said Benny bravely. "I don't care what it costs, just so the kids have a happy marriage."

He added that Joan's wedding is a contrast to when he married Mary Livingstone. "We did it in Waukegan at the home of a friend," he recalled. "There were six or seven people there, and the cost of the wedding was nil. We didn't even have time to have a reception. We were married in the afternoon, and I had to grab the train to Chicago, where I was appearing in a show that night."

Jack said he was pleased with his future son-in-law, who is a stock broker. Baker, 26, is a graduate of Andover Academy and Amherst College, where he was a Beta Theta Pi. He was married once before.

Joan, 19, is an adopted daughter and was a junior at Stanford when she decided to get married. She has appeared on the Benny radio show and was on his TV program last month. She and her husband will make their home in New York.

Firemen Respond To Six Alarms

The Greenville fire department responded to six alarms during the weekend, but none of the fires was serious.

The first call was Saturday afternoon from North Greene Street, across the river, for a grass fire. The firemen answered a false alarm from Box 73, Douglass and Vance Streets, early Sunday morning for a grass fire.

The department answered a call Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock to a grass fire at 11th and Pitt Streets.

Sunday night about 6 o'clock the firemen put out a fire on a passing truck at Fifth and Greene Streets. The firemen were called to the Greenville Credit Production Credit Association, 310 Evans Street, Sunday afternoon, when a flue from an oil heater clogged.

Early Monday morning firemen extinguished a fire on seats in a parked car at Seventh and Dickinson Avenue, Chief George Gardner reported.

N.C. Tax Office Open Every Day This Week Here

North Carolina's State Department of Revenue office on the third floor of the Pitt Courthouse will be opened every day this week to give assistance in filing State income tax.

E. R. Carraway, local State Revenue agent, said that those who have not filed by next Monday night, March 15, will be subject to a fine.

The minimum fine for the first 60 days after March 15 is $1.00 or five percent of the total added to the tax. Those who do not file until after 60 days beyond March 15 will be subject to a $5.00 minimum fine or 25 percent of the total added to the tax.

Carraway urged those mailing returns to be sure to send them to the N. C. Department of Revenue, Raleigh, and not to the local office.

"A person may get an extension beyond the 15," Carraway added, "if they need this extra time and have a legitimate reason for needing it." This extension may be obtained by writing or wiring the Director of Income Tax Division W. H. Griffin, Jr., Raleigh. Forms for writing for this extension may be obtained at the local office.

Every day Monday through Friday of this week and on Monday of next week there will be three agents in the local office on the third floor of the courthouse to aid Greenville and Pitt citizens in filing their State income tax, it was reported. The three agents are Carraway, Charles Harper, and Bruton Taylor.

Rotarians Hear WNCT Manager

AYDEN—The Greenville television station WNCT is one of the best equipped stations in North Carolina at this time.

This was the message of WNCT Manager Hartwell Campbell to the Ayden Rotary Club at its supper meeting last Friday night.

WNCT's schedule will be expanded March 15 and the program will run from 7 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Campbell estimated that there are 45,000 TV sets within a 60-mile radius of Greenville. The Greenville station represents four networks—CBS, NBC, ABC and DuMont. He said the new tower at WNCT is expected to be completed by April 30, according to the manufacturers.

The tower will provide a better signal from 30 to 50 miles from the station, and will expand the present horizon from the present 24 miles to 42 miles, the WNCT executive stated.

Campbell described to the Rotarians in layman's terms how the pictures are made in a TV studio and transmitted. He said the "Greenville station has the 75th largest television audience in the United States."

Earl Westbrook of Dunn, president of the WNCT Television Station, was visiting Rotarians from the Dunn Rotary Club. Rotarian Paul Taylor won the "on time" prize, Snowdie Edwards, the "fellowship" prize.

East Carolina Plays Tonight In N. A. I. A. Tournament

Unbeaten Kentuckians Still Ranked No. 1

NCAA Tourney Grind Steps Up

By ED COBRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—With the exception of the Southeastern Conference and the Ivy League, which wound up in a dead heat all the conference basketball races were over today and the NCAA post-season tournament was ready to get down to the serious business of weeding out the weaklings.

Games are scheduled at four sites tonight—Fort Wayne, Nashville, Peoria, Ill., and Corvallis, Ore. The game in Nashville will be a playoff for the Southeastern Conference championship between Kentucky, the only major undefeated team in the nation, and Louisiana State.

The Wildcats, No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll, are ranked the favorites to crash through to one of the finalist spots. Indiana, the Big Ten champion and defending NCAA titleholder, also is the other choice for the windup at Kansas City March 20.

But the other schools vying for spots in the regional finals will have their own troubles tonight. Here's how they line up:

At Fort Wayne—Notre Dame vs. Loyola of the South and Toledo vs. Penn State.

At Peoria—Bradley vs. Oklahoma City.

At Corvallis—Idaho State vs. Seattle and Texas Tech vs. Santa Clara.

Notre Dame is ranked one of the main threats to Kentucky and Indiana—assuming the Wildcats make it. The Irish have lost only two of their 22 games. Loyola, on the other hand, has been whipped eight times.

Penn State will go into its game with Toledo, the Mid-America Conference champion with a 14-5 record and a fine scorer in Jesse Annelie. The Nittany Lions are the favorites.

The Bradley-Oklahoma City contest looms as one of a high scoring outfit against a tight defense. Bradley averaged better than 30 points a game during the season while Oklahoma City has permitted it to average only 18.4 points per game.

Seattle's Chiefs, who lost their first game of the season then went on to win 26 in a row, rate solid favorites over Idaho State. Texas Tech, the Border Conference titleholder, could get an argument from Santa Clara, a Western all-star team with a good 19-5 record.

Stanoffs in two conferences were broken in last night's action. Southern California won the Pacific Coast crown with a 48-46 conquest over Oregon State and Rice took the Southwest Conference championship by edging out a 77-71 victory over Texas. Both games were the third in three-game play-offs of races that ended in ties.

State AA Tourney Opens In Kinston

KINSTON, N. C. (AP)—Tri-City of Lenoir County defends its state Class AA high school basketball championship in a three-day tournament opening here Thursday afternoon. The eight competing teams won district or conference titles to qualify for the final tournament.

Four games will be played each day. First day losers will drop into consolation afternoon play on Friday and Saturday.

Kannapolis, making its first appearance in the seven years of North Carolina High School Athletic Assn. tournament play, will open the tourney at 2:30 Thursday afternoon against Sanford.

The 4 o'clock game matches North Mecklenburg and Henderson, both strangers to the tournament finals.

At 7 p. m. host Kinston, making its sixth tournament appearance in seven years, takes on Canton a newcomer to the finals. The 8:30 contest matches Tri-City and Whiteville. Tri-City took a 64-61 thriller from Shelby for the title a year ago at Winston-Salem.

The 4 and 7 o'clock winners will meet in a 7 p. m. semifinal Friday, with the two other Thursday winners playing at 8:30 Friday. The championship game will go on at 8:30 Saturday night. Every team will play every day, with afternoon consolation double headers on Friday and Saturday.

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK (AP)—Unbeaten Kentucky entered its Southeastern Conference playoff with eighth-ranked Louisiana State today as the No. 1 college basketball power in the nation.

The Wildcats, favored to defeat the Tigers for an NCAA tournament berth, were the first choice of 43 of the 48 sports writers and sportscasters in the weekly Associated Press poll. It marked the ninth time in the past 13 weeks Kentucky has headed the list.

Indiana's defending NCAA champion remained in second position, receiving 11 first place ballots and 666 points on a system of 10 points for first, nine for second etc. Kentucky polled 788 points.

Duquesne, seeded No. 1 in the National Invitational Tournament which is slated to see its first action tonight, moved up from fourth to third at the expense of Western Kentucky. Western and the Dukes may meet for the NIT title as both are entered.

The Oklahoma Aggies, who have tucked away the Missouri Valley Conference crown and another NCAA spot, also advanced—from sixth to fifth—over last week, changing places with Notre Dame.

Holy Cross, ninth, and North Carolina State, tenth, returned to the top ten after an absence. N. C. State's cinderella five yesterday upset seventh-place George Washington 75-73 in a NCAA playoff.

LaSalle and Seattle fell from favor, the Explorers dropping from eighth to 12th and the Chiefs from 10th to 11th.

Altogether eight of the top ten are in the thick of tournament battles. George Washington has been sidelined already and the loser of the Kentucky-LSU EBC playoff will be out. The winner goes to the NCAA regional at Iowa City Friday.

The Hoosiers, Aggies, Notre Dame and North Carolina State are in the NCAA. Duquesne, Western Kentucky and Holy Cross are playing in the NIT.

St. Benedict's First Opponent In 32-Team Meet

KANSAS CITY — East Carolina College's District 26 champions get into action in the mammoth N.A.I.A. basketball tournament tonight at 8:30 (EST) when they meet St. Benedict's of Kansas.

The Pirates, one of eight seeded teams in the tournament, are favored to whip the midwesterners. The game is one of the feature contests in today's program which calls for eight ball games between noon and midnight.

The Pirates went into the tournament with a 23-1 record for the year. They swept through the regular campaign with an 18-1 mark and then added three victories in the North State Conference tournament and two in the N.A.I.A. district playoffs with Presbyterian and Erskine.

Coach Howard Porter's squad of 10 players has been in Kansas City since early Sunday morning. They went through light workouts Sunday afternoon and yesterday in preparation for the game today. The entire squad is in good physical shape and appears to be well-rested from the tournament grind of the last two weeks and the eight-hour plane ride which brought them to Kansas City from Raleigh-Durham airport last Saturday.

The same starting team is expected to get the nod in the game tonight. That line-up has freshman Don Harris and All-Stater Charlie Huffman at the forwards, All-Stater Bobby Hodges at center, and Cecil Heath and J. C. Thomas at the guards.

Hodges Well Known

Hodges has become one of the better known individuals in the Kansas City tournament because of his outstanding record with the Pirates during the regular season just completed. Hodges goes into the tournament as the highest scoring college player in North Carolina with 1,998 points in four years of 24 games played this season and is within 41 points of setting a new total for a single season.

Little is known about the St. Benedict's team the Pirates will face tonight. The squad is made up of native Kansans, who defeated Kansas Wesleyan in a best-two-out-of-three series to enter the national finals.

Results of the game tonight will be phoned to Greenville by Manager Norwood Talton.

Pettit Signs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—All America Bob Pettit of Louisiana State has been signed to play for the East in an East-West all-star basketball game here March 22.

The East squad will include, in addition to Pettit, All America Frank Selvy of Furman. All seniors are eligible to compete.

Arkansas 'Wonder Boys' Outshine Bevo In Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Rio Grande's Bevo Francis played to a full house and the Arkansas Tech wonder boys performed before thousands of empty seats—but the wonder boys turned in the most impressive performance in opening play of the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) basketball tournament.

The marathon tournament, with 32 of the nation's finest small college teams, opened yesterday with eight games. Eight more games today will wind up first-round play.

Rio Grande of Ohio scored a 90-74 victory over Arizona State of Flagstaff. But Bevo, who came to the tournament with a season average of 50.4 for 23 games, was limited to a miserly 28 points.

A capacity Municipal Auditorium crowd of 10,500—the biggest first night turnout in the history of NAIA tournaments—watched Rio Grande play in the next-to-the-last game of the night. Then many of them left without waiting for the finale between Arkansas Tech and Mercer College of Georgia.

And in that game Arkansas Tech's wonder boys broke the 100 mark for the ninth time this season. They spanked Mercer 100-72.

In other games Regis of Denver edged Tennessee A&I 61-58, Western Illinois bumped Morris Harvey 84-68, East Texas State thumped Portland (Ore) University, 72-59, St. Peter's of New Jersey defeated Wayland College of Texas 76-63 and Nebraska Wesleyan outlasted Whitworth of Spokane, Wash., 68-64.

The six-day tournament winds up Saturday night.

Today's first round schedule includes East Carolina of Greenville, N.C., vs St. Benedict's of Kansas at 8:30 p.m., EST.

GHS Track Squad Moving Workouts

Greenville High School's track squad planned to move out to Guy Smith Stadium for workouts this afternoon.

The Greenies have been holding workouts at the high school for the past week. There have not been any heavy workouts as yet since individual conditioning and light calisthenics have been stressed by Coach Bill Kittrell.

The workouts thus far have disclosed an apparent weakness in only the field events. Last year's points in the javelin throw by Cleith Oakley but the javelin has been outlawed in high school track this year.

Oakley has been concentrating thus far on the discus and will continue to work with it throughout the season. He is working with letterman Tommy Smith and non-letterman Charlie White in the event.

In the shot-put department, letterman Bill Taft and Tommy Smith have been showing up nicely thus far.

The Phantoms will open their season April 7.

Soph Substitute Toast Of 'Pack

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Phil Dinardo, a sophomore substitute guard from Philadelphia, was the toast of North Carolina State College basketball followers today.

He tapped in a two-pointer with 35 seconds remaining to provide the winning basket as North Carolina State's Wolfpack defeated a t e d George Washington here last night 75-73.

The win, N. C. State's 15th straight in seven years over the Colonials, sends the Wolfpack into the NCAA Eastern regionals Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia.

Dinardo also came up with a key defensive play. He blocked the next-to-last shot the Colonials got at the basket in their attempt to break the Wolfpack jinx.

A crowd of 5,000 saw State, the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament champion, blow an 11-point lead in the third period. GW held a 66-65 edge with six minutes remaining in the final period. But Coach Everett Case's team came back to win.

Center Ronnie Shavlik with 20 points paced the winners, while Elliott Karver's 21 points led GW. The Southern Conference champion Colonials built up a 14-7 lead in the first period, but the Wolfpack went ahead 20-18 at the close of the period. At halftime, N. C. State led 45-39.

Experiment With Jet Tanker Planes

WASHINGTON (U) — The Air Force may turn to swift, jet-powered tanker planes to provide mid-air refueling for the new B52 all-jet heavy bombers of the Strategic Air Command.

The B52s are expected to begin coming off the production line late this year. Each is being equipped to replenish its fuel supply in flight to offset rate of fuel consumption by its eight thirsty jet engines.

Mid-air refueling for medium B47 jet bombers is standard practice.

All tanker planes now used are piston-engined aircraft, the KC97 Boeing Stratofreighter, with tanks and a "flying boom" for transfer of fuel to jet bombers or fighters.

Airmen are highly pleased with the current method of replenishing jet bombers and fighters in mid-flight. But they also say that a loss in efficiency, in time and in fuel will always exist when a jet bomber refuels from a piston-engined tanker. The reason:

A jet engine performs best at high altitude, where the air is thin.

NOTICE NORTH CAROLINA PITT COUNTY

A piston-engined aircraft produces more power at lower altitudes. The B47 usually cruises at 30,000 feet or above. The KC97, totting a hefty 8,000 or 7,000 gallons of jet fuel in addition to its own gasoline, has a practical ceiling for refueling of about 20,000 feet. To refuel, the bomber must descend 10,000, then climb back with the accompanying high fuel consumption rate for a climb.

What is true of the B47 medium will have ever greater effect in refueling of the B52, a much bigger and somewhat faster plane.

The Air Force disclosed last fall that it was experimenting with a B47 converted to a tanker plane by the Boeing Airplane Co. The Boeing company announced last week that its new jet transport, a prototype of which is being built, can be utilized as a tanker.

Boeing expects to get a cruising speed of about 650 miles for the transport. This would bring the speed of a tanker up to a satisfactory match with a jet bomber—and at the same time make it possible to operate the tanker at the bomber's normal cruising altitude. Dimensions of the jet transport are almost as great as that for the piston-engined tanker.

Probe Testimony Cannot Be Used

WASHINGTON (U) — The Supreme Court says testimony given by a witness before congressional committees may not be used against him in state or federal courts.

This immunity applies, the high tribunal declared in a unanimous decision yesterday, even though the witness may have failed to claim his constitutional privilege against self-incrimination.

Court Of Inquiry Nears Climax In Schwable Case

WASHINGTON (U) — A Marine Corps court of inquiry today turned to a study of "mentricide"—the destruction of a mind—as it moved toward a climax in the case of Col. Frank H. Schwable.

The Marine air officer, who signed a germ warfare confession for his Communist captors in Korea and repudiated it when freed, is expected to testify himself later this week, perhaps Thursday.

In the meantime, his counsel called Dr. Joost A. M. Meerloo of New York City as a follow-up witness to Maj. Gen. William H. Dean, who testified yesterday.

Dr. Meerloo, a Dutch psychiatrist, specialized in the study of Communist brainwashing and defines its result as "mentricide"—literally, mind-murder. He coined the word as a description of what happens to a mind robbed of its will by torture and interrogation.

The court of one admiral and three Marine generals was set up to recommend whether Schwable should be court-martialed or otherwise disciplined.

Dean, who won the Medal of Honor in Korea and was a prisoner for three years, told the court yesterday he would rather die than submit to capture again.

"If I ever go to war again," he said, "I'll carry along a pill which I'll take if I'm captured." He said the military rule of disclosing only name, rank and serial number when captured is an ideal "we should all strive for" but he said he told his captors more than that.

"There must be a line," he said, "but when you're being interrogated there is no artificial barrier you can put down and say this is it . . . The Communists won't stop anywhere."

Highway Employees Group Holds Quarterly Session

A panel, a "tacky party," a barbecue supper, and entertainment by Dr. Warren Aldridge highlighted the quarterly meeting of the Pitt County chapter of the North Carolina State Highway Employees' Association last Friday night at the local highway garage.

The panel on "Know Your Association" was made up of eight members of the local chapter. J. G. Gibbs, right-of-way engineer, was master of ceremonies for the panel.

Gibbs and Mrs. Kathleen Woolard won the judging for the "tackiest dressed." Judges for the Tacky Party included Mrs. Earl Crump, Mrs. William Benton and Mrs. Warren Aldridge.

The barbecue dinner was prepared by local highway department employees. Those who prepared it included: C. D. Bass, Lonnie Buck, Jasper Boyd, and D. F. Johnson.

Dr. Warren Aldridge, who entertained the group, pantomimed "In the Book" and sang the popular "Football Game."

Earl Crump, Highway personnel director of Raleigh, spoke briefly on personnel matters.

H. A. Hendrix, chairman of the Pitt County chapter of North Carolina State Employees Association, a recently organized group, informed the highway employees that the local chapter of State Employees Association was a comparatively new organization, that he was seeking ideas for effective functioning, and that he hoped it would be as successful as the Highway chapter.

Pitt County Chapter officers of the highway association are Miss Annie Laurie Askew, chairman; H. L. Vincent, vice-chairman; and C. D. Bass, secretary-treasurer. Miss Askew presided at the Friday meeting.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Benton of Wilson, J. H. Alford of Durham, H. H. Wesley, Jake White, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cutchin and Mrs. Sybil Smith of New Bern, Mrs. George Entistle of Utica, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Boyette, Dr. and Mrs. Warren Aldridge, Reverend Peyton, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Landing and Mr. Hendrix of Greenville.

Difficult To Sell Surplus Wheat

WASHINGTON (U) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson is finding it difficult to sell surplus wheat abroad even at cut-rate prices.

Three months ago the secretary sought to stimulate lagging export sales by offering government-owned supplies at reduced prices to markets not covered by an international wheat agreement.

But takers on this offer have been relatively few. The volume shipped abroad under it has been running at less than a million bushels a month from a government-owned surplus of about 350 million bushels.

World wheat supplies are at record levels this year.

College Musicians Will Stage Concert Sunday

An impressive array of talent among East Carolina College students and faculty members will be presented in a concert next Sunday afternoon, March 14, and will make the event a chief musical attraction of the school year.

The East Carolina Orchestra, the College Choir, the Varsity Men's Glee Club, the Women's Chorus, and two soloists will appear on the program. Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, director of the college department of music has announced.

The concert will take place in the College Theatre at 8:30 p.m. and will be open to the public. A large audience from Greenville and other Eastern North Carolina towns is expected to attend.

Walter Noona of Norfolk, Va., pianist, and Mrs. Gladys Reichard White of the faculty, mezzo soprano, will be soloists. Noona, whose performances as a pianist have won him state, regional, and national honors and awards and wide recognition in musical circles for his talent, will play a group of compositions by Chopin, Rachmaninoff, and Ravel.

Mrs. White will sing the "Flower Song" from Gounod's "Faust" and "When I Have Sung My Songs" by Charles.

With Dr. Cuthbert as conductor, the East Carolina Orchestra will open the concert with selections by Wagner and Strauss. The sixty-piece orchestra, made up of instrumentalists from the campus and Pitt County, will accompany a choir composed of the three choral organizations as they sing the "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser" and other selections.

Can Pay Traffic Fines Into 'Box'

NORMAN, Okla. (U) — Fuming drivers who wouldn't be caught dead—no less alive—in the police station to pay a parking fine have found salvation at last in the "Traf-o-teria."

The little device, installed recently on all parking meters here as an experiment, turns potential nonpayers of parking tickets into law-abiding citizens. Indications are it's going over big with the paying customers.

A motorist here receives a parking ticket and an envelope. If he puts the ticket and 50 cents into the envelope and places it in the Traf-o-teria, an aluminum box attached to the parking meter, the fine is considered paid. Wait 48 hours and the auto goes up to $1.

Police Chief Albert Dodd thinks the pay-as-you-drive boxes will be a bonanza in enforcement of the city's traffic codes.

"Used to be," reflected Dodd, "women were pretty reluctant to come to the station, and they'd give the tickets to their husbands, who chances are, would forget to pay them. Now the women pay better than men."

Over time parking fines collected in the boxes during the first month of "Operation Traf-o-teria" totaled $400, Dodd said, a 135 per cent increase over the previous month's take.

Conceding that a few nasty notes crop up along with the ticket envelopes, chewing gum, match covers, and assorted loot when the collecting officers empty the boxes, the chief insisted that so far public reaction has been "quite favorable."

CHAPTER THIRTY TWO
 "THAT'S pretty hard," said Shelly. "When people are determined to think the worst."
 "Oh, dear," protested the older woman, tucking up a stray lock of hair. "Don't you think people generally want to be kind?"
 "No, I'm afraid I don't have such optimism about the human race. Perhaps you'd better tell me what I've done or what you've heard I've done."
 May Anna blinked. She had rehearsed her approach, had planned how to make her points in progressive order. Shelly should not have taken a short cut; she immediately regretted it.
 May Anna played with her bracelet; she touched the matching necklace of woven bead strands at her throat. "The thing is to avoid any chance of talk, Shelly..." she said uncertainly.
 "You mean, I should be more careful of what I do? Or is it only a matter of being more discreet about when and where I do it?"
 "Oh, dear, Shelly, don't take that attitude!" pleaded May Anna in agitation. Had she really expected her victim to sit quietly, listen and say nothing?
 "Please tell me what you've heard about me."
 "I don't listen to gossip..." began May Anna.
 "Who does, thought Shelly, and admits it? But she said nothing."
 "Of course, when close friends speak to me in a tone that shows they are worried about you, dear."
 Shelly waited.
 May Anna laughed a little. "Oh, there wasn't much said, of course. Eleanor likes Dr. Talbot. She says he is good company—and she said

—everyone thought she would marry Stevie."
 "Was there ever an engagement? I'm not being catty. Just curious."
 "There was an understanding, I'm sure."
 "I see." Shelly took a mint from the little covered dish on the table beside her. A gust of wind blew a spatter of rain across the verandah to strike against the window pane. "Is that the only story you've heard?"
 "In no case were they really stories, dear. Eleanor just said she knew you must have had a good time. And Laura Jarvis—you know what good friends we are. She went to your defense, dear, when Ervin Lewis said some catty things about the Medical Society meeting you attended. All settled up, was his term. He said you spoke in Dr. Talbot's behalf."
 Shelly gasped. "Since I've been to only one meeting, it had to be the time that poor Mr. Prewett and Mr. Cornfield spoke in refutation of the gossip that was going around about Craig's accident."
 "You didn't speak that evening?"
 "Yes, I did. But not about Craig. I had helped organize a night call service which needed the indorsement of the Medical Society. I explained it."
 "Oh dear, I got the idea that you had—"
 "Dolled up to dazzle those doctors into being nice to Craig?"
 "Shelly, dear—"
 "I'm sorry, but I am upset. I did dress carefully that evening. Most any woman wants to appear well before a lot of men. I went to that meeting in Stephen's interest, Mother Carr. I spoke only for the night call service—though, of course, I had known why Dr. Talbot was hurt the night of Mrs. Armes' death."
 "How did you know that, Shelly?"
 "Shelly bit back the sharp rejoinder, "I wasn't with him!" Instead—"It was on the office record," she said softly, "that he'd had no sleep for three nights. In Stephen's interest, I felt that the truth must be told. The rector and Mr. Cornfield told it."
 "Well, I'm glad to get that straightened out. Because Laura and Dr. Lewis seemed to think—"
 "But don't you see that that's the same situation as colored Eleanor's story about the picnic? Mrs. Jarvis was miffed at me because she thought I refused to send Dr. Talbot to her on a night call. And of course Dr. Lewis hates Craig for all the scandal about his wife's attempted suicide. I mean, when people don't like you in the first place, their stories about you—well—sometimes..."
 "I understand Dr. Talbot was very rude to her."
 "If he was, it's the first rudeness I've ever known him to commit. Don't you know him at all?"
 "Yes, dear, I've met him."
 "Craig himself thinks Stephen should have let some of the local doctors care for his patients. And, except for the plant, Stephen might have done that. But you see, Mother Carr, industrial medicine means specific study and information. Stephen had studied it, and know that the stories were not true! But how? Oh, what a spot her husband had put her in! He should never have left her at the mercy of these people! He'd counted on their protecting her, helping her. Instead—

 She leaned back in her chair, waited for an opening, and then she tried her best to explain how hard, how very hard, she had been trying to save Stephen's practice here—to carry on Stephen's work."
 "But maybe you shouldn't, Shelly! Isn't it true, dear, that he's pretty much of a radical?"
 Shelly took a deep breath. "He's a brilliant man, Mother Carr. He also is honest to the point of sometimes seeming rude. He's convinced that it's not enough to believe in a thing, one has to announce his belief and defend it. Naturally, when Craig's belief conflicts with established ideas, he gets called a radical."
 "You do call him by his first name, don't you?"
 "Yes, of course. He's Stephen's friend."
 May Anna shook her head, unhappily. "I wish you hadn't gone into the office."
 "I wish Stephen had never left it. I mean, it's pretty silly to say what we wish were true. We have to handle what is true."
 "Well, of course, dear," said May Anna comfortably. "I'll accept your claim that you're trying

Republicans Have Problems Of Usual Kind... And Others

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Republicans lie awake nights, thinking rain on the roof sounds like ballots dropping in a box, it's because they have problems. The usual kind, plus some.

The usual kind: convincing November's voters they've done dandy in the ordinary affairs of government, including handling a recession, and should be re-elected to control of Congress two more years.

The plus some: the conflict between Sen. McCarthy and the Eisenhower administration. If it breaks into open war, McCarthy and the party both face possible losses in November.

The Republicans might lose to the Democrats if President Eisenhower broke openly with the Wisconsin Republican and the party split into Eisenhower and McCarthy factions.

(Adlai Stevenson suggested Saturday night, however, that if Eisenhower did break with the senior his administration would have had the "grateful and dedicated support" of all but a "tiny and deluded minority.")

If McCarthy and the President should break and the Democrats take over Congress, McCarthy would lose chairmanship of the investigating subcommittee which has brought him headlines and power.

To make the problem extra-plus: if the conflict continues without a real break, the Republicans may emerge from November beaten up. One interparty crisis after another could leave the voters fed up.

Republican defeat this year would mean Eisenhower would have to depend on a Democratic-run Congress to put over his program for the two remaining years of his term or watch the Democrats ram through their own program. At any rate, two years of control in Congress would give the Democrats the means and time for laying the groundwork for a combined congressional and presidential victory in 1956.

As chairman, with a staff at his command paid by the taxpayers, McCarthy can make his own investigations. He runs the show. Losing the chairmanship might not be too hard on him. He did pretty well before he had it.

But the possibility of his losing the chairmanship in November has raised questions about his performance. For instance: would he be willing to force an issue with Eisenhower and a break, even though it cost him the chairmanship and his party control of Congress?

If there is ever an answer to that it may also provide answers to questions about his ambitions. The current speculation about what McCarthy wants can be reduced essentially to three points of view:

1. He has no ambition beyond wanting to be a good senator. Being a good one means for him, right now, routing out any Communists still in the government and exposing anyone who is "soft" on them. He feels so deeply the rightness of his job he will not backtrack for anyone, no matter what the consequences to him or the party.

2. What he really wants is control of the Republican party. He's a Roman Catholic and knows the tradition: no Catholic has ever been president. Therefore, he has no presidential ambitions. But as party head he could make or break presidents. That would make him the most powerful man in the country. A Republican loss in November, and his loss of the chairmanship, wouldn't hurt him; he could use the next two years to rally Republican support around him and away from Eisenhower.

3. He doesn't know what he wants. He was an unknown until 1950. That year he made a speech declaring there were Communists in the State Department and suddenly found himself the center of attraction. He found he could ride that subject to fame and power. And he has. He has no long-range plan. What he wants is power, or the sense of power, so badly and he wants headlines so hungrily that he'll blindly risk smashing the party to get his way and his name in headlines.

Not any one of those three speculations about McCarthy may prove right. No matter what his ambition the fact is: every time he's reached a crisis with the administration, he has let it be followed by a brief cooling-off period. Then sovie. He was back again.

Report Accident Figures 'Wrong'

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Motor Vehicles Department reported yesterday that a list of 1953 traffic deaths by counties which it issued last week was incorrect.

The figures given out by the department were the number of fatal accidents by counties instead of the total number of deaths it was explained. The department pointed out that

Wants Outsiders To Assist State

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Umstead says a number of North Carolinians now living in New York want to help North Carolina in its campaign to attract more industries. The governor was back at his desk yesterday after a two-day stay in New York. While there he and his group met with a group of native North Carolinians at the Links Club. Ben Douglas, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, said "We found the group enthusiastic and desirous of giving us all the help they can in bringing more industries into North Carolina."

New Misfortune Facing Actress

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Another misfortune has befallen actress Susan Ball, 20, whose right leg was amputated last Jan. 14.

Miss Madeline Benavides, 30, sued her yesterday for $1,124, claiming she was hurt when the actress' car crashed into the back of hers Oct. 17.

Miss Ball who plans to resume her film career as soon as she can walk with an artificial leg, first injured the leg two years ago dancing in a movie scene. It was re-injured later. A malignant infection developed and surgeons removed the leg to prevent spread of the malignancy.

Yoshida Hints At Rearmament

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today hinted for the first time he might seek to change Japan's constitution which forbids military rearmament.

The constitution, drawn up under the U.S. occupation, renounced war and forbade the revival of Japanese air, sea and naval forces.

How, Yoshida has built up a national safety force of 120,000 men and under the mutual defense agreement signed yesterday with the United States pledged to beef up this force even more and provide for air and naval forces.

More Than 6,600 Dogs Over County Given Vaccination

More than 6,600 dogs have been vaccinated for the prevention of rabies in Pitt County since January 1, it was reported today.

Dr. Walter C. Humbert of the local Health Department said that the total figure since January 1 is 6,654.

During the anti-rabies clinic held during the month of February there were 6,623 vaccinated, of which 1,358 were dogs registered in the city of Greenville.

Since the close of the clinic on February 27 Dog Wardens have started a house-to-house survey in Greenville and other Pitt towns as well as the rural areas. Dr. Humbert estimates that 2,000 more dogs will be vaccinated as a result of this survey.

The number of dogs vaccinated this year shows a 40 percent increase over the corresponding period of 1953.

If this survey shows a dog owner who has not had his dog vaccinated a three day notice will be given. "Failure to comply will make it necessary for city and county officials to prosecute," Dr. Humbert added.

He also reports that the Dog Wardens will also check for city dog licenses when they make this survey.

"Inasmuch as 1,974 stray dogs were removed from the streets of Greenville and other Pitt towns and the rural areas in 1953 it is most important that all owners who wish to claim their dogs have them vaccinated and licensed or listed for tax purposes," he continued.

Purpose of Rabies Program

The purpose of the rabies program, according to Dr. Humbert, is to protect dogs claimed for ownership and to pick up the remaining strays and to reduce the danger of stray dogs who have not been vaccinated from contracting rabies.

It also reduces the danger of rabid dogs biting humans, livestock, and poultry—thus reducing the losses of both livestock and poultry.

By taking all stray dogs that can be apprehended from running at large materially reduces damage these dogs can do to gardens, livestock and wildlife.

"In 1953," the health director continued, "because of the reduced number of stray dogs there were the lowest number of losses of livestock and poultry there has been in many years."

Dr. Humbert concluded by saying

Note Threatens Baltimore Board

BALTIMORE (AP)—"Look out Council you are next for a big shooting you low sewer rats."

That was the pencil-scribbled, unpunctuated message received yesterday by the Baltimore City Council. The word "Communist" appeared at the end of the message and it was not known whether it was meant as a signature or a slur.

The councilmen accepted the message quite calmly, several of them commenting that they often receive anonymous cards or letters. This one wasn't addressed to any individual councilman.

Yesterday's message merited a second look however, because of the recent shooting in the House of Representatives in Washington.

Omit Portion Of Citizen's Oath

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Japanese-born wife of a Seventh Day Adventist minister was permitted yesterday to take her oath of citizenship without the customary swearing to bear arms for her country.

Mrs. Masu Sager of Takoma Park, Md., told Chief Federal Judge William C. Coleman she would promise to do noncombatant service but said her religion would not allow her to swear to bear arms.

Under these conditions and after considerable questioning, Judge Coleman allowed her to take the oath of allegiance with the phrase stricken out.

About 400 million acres in the United States are classified as cropland.

Agree To Try

PARIS (AP)—France and Germany agreed today to try to settle their quarrel over the Saar on the basis of a Dutch plan for Europeanizing the rich little industrial border territory.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault insisted, however, that French proposals which were submitted here to West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today should also be taken into consideration.

A brief communique issued after Adenauer and Bidault held two separate talks this morning gave no indication of the nature of the French proposals.

Experts of the two governments are expected to continue the talks until Adenauer and Bidault get together again in Brussels March 20 at a meeting of the six-nation proposed European Defense Community's foreign ministers.

Rare Operations For 17-Day-Old

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—James Paul Patterson Jr. recently underwent two rare operations. He's 17 days old.

The first came when he was 6 days old to correct a condition that obstructed passage of food and air from the stomach to the intestine. Three days later a blood clot formed and stopped the flow of blood in his right leg. Another operation.

A physician said development of the blood clot had no direct relationship with the first operation. He said only 30 cases of the stomach-intestine condition have been reported throughout the world.

Aged Dog Killed By An Automobile

GROSSETO, Italy (AP)—Italy's oldest dog, 31-year-old Birillo (it's Italian for Skittles) died yesterday but it took an automobile to kill him.

The old veteran, whose picture appeared in many newspapers last year when he passed 20, wandered into the street and into the path of a car.

Camerasmen who photographed him last year asked what kind of a dog he was and what was his secret of longevity.

To the first question, his owner replied: "Well, mostly just mixed dog."

To the second: "I feed him vitamins."
