

Norris Still Held By Local Police

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Staff Writer

Herman L. Norris, 44, was still being held for investigation by police today in connection with the death of A. G. Witherington who was found by police behind the Elk's Club in an unconscious condition early Sunday morning.

Norris is being held without bail by police. Police yesterday arrested Norris, operator of a fish market on Fourteenth Street in Greenville, for investigation concerning the death of Witherington. Norris was also charged with breaking and entering and larceny of slot machines.

Norris then said he called Chief Gibbs and asked him to meet him at the corner of Fifth and Cotanche streets. Norris stated that Lieutenant R. W. Harris was with Gibbs and the three went to the Elk's Club. He said that Councilman Gene West was also at the club.

West said today that he did not go to the club until after Gibbs had investigated. West, a member of the city council, said that he presumed that Gibbs called him because Police Commissioner C. W. Harvey was out of town. The councilman stated that the injured man had been removed when he arrived at the scene but that Norris was still there. West noted that Gibbs took Norris home soon after he arrived.

West stated that he is a member of the Elk's Club but "All I want is justice carried out and let the chips fall where they may." Lieutenant R. E. Harris, who investigated along with Gibbs, said that he only saw one slot machine at the scene. He said that the machine was on the steps in the back of the club.

Harris also said that the spot that Norris pointed out as being the place where he found Witherington was in an open spot near the door. The lieutenant stated that at the time he viewed the scene he saw nothing near the spot on which Witherington could have hit his head except the floor. Coroner Griffith Rouse said at 11 o'clock this morning that he had not heard from the autopsy as yet. He said that he had not set a date for the coroner's inquest but that the coroner's jury was assembled last night to view the scene of the alleged crime.

President Opposes Dual McCarthy Role

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower replied to a question about Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today by saying: "In cases where a man is a party to a dispute in America—directly or indirectly—he should not be permitted to sit in judgment."

But he said he was ready to put himself on record with respect to the general situation. It was then he declared that a man should not sit in judgment on his own case. McCarthy has agreed to step aside as a member of the subcommittee when it looks into his charges that Army officials tried to "blackmail" the group into dropping an investigation of alleged Communists on Army rolls.

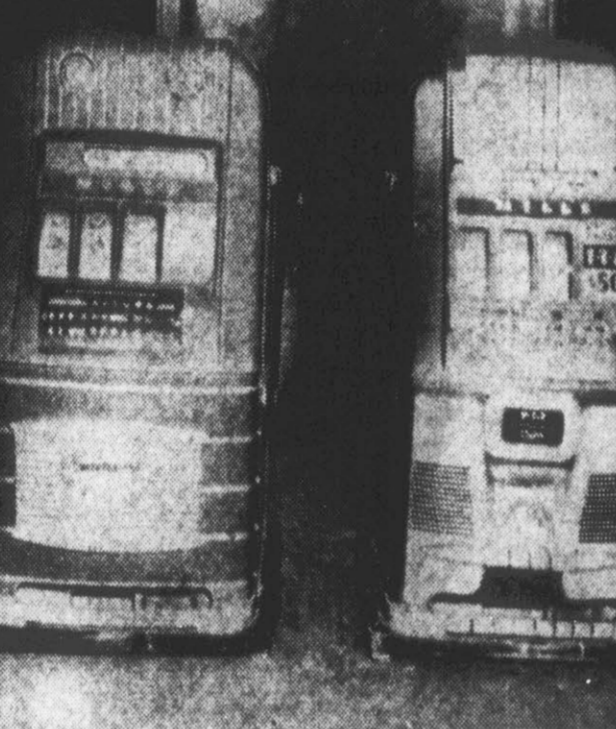

McCarthy and Cohn replied that Secretary of the Army Stevens and John G. Adams, assistant Army counsel, had sought to "blackmail" the subcommittee to drop an inquiry into alleged subversion in the Army. Eisenhower told reporters last week he believes Stevens and believes in him.

McCarthy late yesterday called—and hastily canceled—a subcommittee meeting to consider public investigations into two other fields while charting the course for the Army hearing. He wants to probe: 1. The cases of "41 individuals now working in defense plants who have records of Communist activities." 2. "Alleged bribery and fraud" in government spending in Alaska. The move ran up against a resolution adopted by the seven-man subcommittee binding them to stage hearings on no other matters until they have cleaned up the investigation of this one. Two Democrats and two Republicans on the subcommittee—enough to block the proposed move—promptly declared the subcommittee should stick to the Army-McCarthy matter.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich), a member of McCarthy's subcommittee, said in an interview with Newsweek magazine yesterday he opposes suggestions to turn the inquiry into the McCarthy-Army dispute over to another group. "It would establish a dangerous precedent sending one committee's dirty linen to another committee to wash," he said. Potter also said he regards it as possible that the investigation may lead to perjury or other criminal charges.

SLOT MACHINES IN POLICE CUSTODY—Greenville police took the two slot machines above from under lock and key shortly after 12:30 this afternoon long enough for a photographer to snap a picture. The machines were taken by police late Saturday night when they went to investigate a report of an injured man at the rear of the local Elks Club. (Photo by Roy Hardee)

Astonished?

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told his news conference today that something must have happened at the recent hydrogen explosion in the Pacific which surprised and astonished scientists. A reporter told Eisenhower at his news conference that anti-American newspapers in Japan and elsewhere were making much of the incident in which Japanese fishermen 75 miles away from the Pacific blast March 1 were reported to have been possible victims of contamination.

Something must have happened, the President commented, that surprised and astonished the scientists. Eisenhower said Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, has not yet returned to report on the explosion.

Proposes That U.S. Refuse To Talk Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) proposed today that the United States refuse to discuss the Indochina question with the Chinese Reds at Geneva and concentrate on seeking a Korean settlement. George, senior Democrat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview he is opposed to giving the Chinese Communists even the implied recognition he contended is involved in negotiating with them on problems of an area where their troops are not directly involved.

In that connection, he said the Senate ought to be represented in a bipartisan way at next month's five-power meeting at Geneva, Switzerland to bolster the administration's expressed determination not to let Red China into the United Nations.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Foreign Relations Committee agreed the Senate ought to be represented. "It would be a good opportunity to learn the changing facts of the world at first hand," he said.

Secretary of State Dulles told his news conference yesterday he has made no decision whether to invite a bipartisan congressional group to go with him to Geneva. He said he expects to discuss this soon with key legislative leaders.

"The Russians undoubtedly will put on a drive at Geneva to get the Chinese Communists into the picture and eventually into the United Nations," George said.

"I believe a majority of the Senate members of both parties oppose any such recognition for the Chinese Communists and oppose negotiating with them on anything except Korea, where they were directly involved.

"I don't think we ought to join in any negotiations with them about Indochina." However, Wiley said he assumed Dulles would try to bring peace in both Korea and Indochina. He said he thinks both issues must be settled ultimately with Russia.

"If the Kremlin wants peace—which I doubt—then something may be arranged," he said. "But if the Kremlin doesn't want peace, then nothing will be accomplished."

Stevenson Arrives For N.C. Vacation

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, looked forward today to a 10-day rest period at Paint Hill, the farm home near here of his sister, Mrs. Ernest Ives. Stevenson's North Carolina vacation will be capped by a major speech at a Democratic rally in Charlotte on April 2. Smiling and looking in good physical condition, Stevenson arrived aboard a plane yesterday afternoon at the Raleigh-Durham Airport.

Approximately 250 persons were on hand to welcome him, including Mrs. Ives who had a kiss for him, and about 25 University of North Carolina Young Democrats who carried a banner proclaiming, "Welcome Adlai Stevenson, Next President of the United States."

Stevenson had some good-humored wise cracks as he talked with newsmen. They wanted to know if his Charlotte speech would be an answer to Sen. Joseph McCarthy's treason charges against the Democratic party. Stevenson replied that he had no idea what his speech will be, but he was happy to hear it described as a major address.

Charlotte is in the district of North Carolina's lone Republican congressman. One newsman asked Stevenson if he hoped to win any "over a rest" to the Democratic cause in his Charlotte speech. He remarked, "I always believe in the redemption of sin." From the airport, Stevenson went to Raleigh and the Executive Mansion where he was greeted by Gov. and Mrs. Umstead and a number of local political leaders. Later, he visited briefly at the home of Jonathan Daniels, former Democratic national committeeman for North Carolina, and then left for Southern Pines. En route, Stevenson and Mrs. Ives were greeted at Sanford by Ralph Manger Lee County Democratic chairman, and other political leaders.

Another informal reception committee was on hand when they arrived at Southern Pines at 6 p.m. The group included Southern Pines Mayor L. T. Clark, Dr. E. M. Medina, Aberdeen mayor, State Rep. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, and others.

Stevenson's schedule calls for him to attend an "open house" reception at Carthage Friday evening.

Rhee Calls On U.S. For Aid To Unify By Force

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's President Syngman Rhee today called on the United States to help unify Korea by force or give him a ROK army which needs no help "if peaceable efforts fail." Only if one of these conditions is met will South Korea attend next month's Geneva conference on Korea and Indochina, Rhee declared. "We want permission to unify Korea militarily if peaceful efforts fail," he said in written answers to questions submitted by The Associated Press. "We want cooperation in the form of arms, munitions and other logistical support such as air and sea coverage." "Failing that," he declared, "we ask immediate expansion of our armed forces to a strength where foreign manpower will not be needed except U. S. officers in advisory and training capacity. "Under one or the other of these conditions we shall agree to attend the Geneva conference."

The South Korean army numbers 20 divisions. American military experts have voiced doubts that the Korean economy could support a larger army or that the 20 divisions could fight for more than a few days without American supplies. Rhee said he has not received adequate assurances from the United States concerning South Korea's position at Geneva.

2 Bus Schedules Are Discontinued

Beginning tomorrow (Thursday) two buses serving the Greenville-Washington area will be discontinued. It was reported this morning. One of the buses left Washington at 7:20 a.m. and arrived here at 8:05. The other bus which was discontinued left Greenville at 4:15 in the afternoon and arrived in Washington at 4:55.

Other Carolina Trailway buses that serve the two towns daily have had slight schedule changes, according to reports. Local Chamber of Commerce Manager Willard T. Kizer said this morning that complaints have been received from local women and a representative of East Carolina College since learning that the two buses would be discontinued. Kizer said that two local women called him this morning saying that since the early morning bus would be discontinued, their cooks, who come to Greenville from Grimesland each morning, said they would have to stop work. The other complaint was registered by James W. Butler, ECC Alumni Secretary, who stated that students who leave Greenville on Friday afternoon for their homes, would miss bus connections in other junction points since the change of schedules.

The local station agent said that the bus which left Washington today at 5:40 a.m. would leave at 6 a.m. tomorrow. It will arrive here at 6:40. A second morning bus which did leave Washington at 11:25 will now leave at 11 a.m., arriving here at 11:40. In the afternoon the bus which left here at 1:40 will leave, beginning tomorrow, at 1:35. It arrives in Washington at 2:15. Another bus did leave Greenville at 7:10 p.m., but it will begin leaving at 7 p.m., arriving in Washington at 7:40. A bus did leave at 10:10 p.m., but beginning tomorrow it will leave Greenville at 10 p.m. and arrive in Washington at 10:40. The local bus station agent said the change had been expected for some time and a letter was received earlier this week actually announcing the change.

Expect Senate To Okay Excise Cuts

By JOE HALL WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate takes up today a bill to slash excise taxes by almost a billion dollars yearly, with the administration facing a fight to prevent further cuts in revenue.

Both Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), floor manager for the measure, and Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted the bill would go through without any substantial change. But, unlike the House, the Senate considers tax legislation under procedures that permits amendments to be offered freely.

This industries which would get no tax relief in the excise measure as presented to the House by its Ways and Means Committee will have their first new opportunity to seek cuts in the Senate.

The Senate leadership hopes to get final action on the bill by Friday. The measure then will have to go to conference with the House to iron out differences. The sales tax changes would take effect a week from tomorrow.

Attempts will be made in the Senate to knock out the excise cuts in the bill as well as to add new reductions. But the major administration challenge appears to come from three amendments sponsored by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) which would cut the automobile excise tax from 10 to 7 per cent; eliminate the 10 per cent levy on a wide range of household appliances including refrigerators, stoves, freezers, ironers, dryers, dish washers and toasters; and cut the tax on television and radio sets and phonographs from 10 to 5 per cent.

These proposals would boost the tax reductions in the bill by about $30 million dollars. As passed by the House, the bill cut about 25 excises by $12 million dollars. The Senate Finance Committee which Millikin heads, eliminated a few of the House cuts but added others of its own so that the total revenue loss would be $68 million a year.

The bill would also extend for a year beyond April 1 a series of major excise increases voted in 1951 after the Korean War began. Items affected include autos, trucks, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer and gasoline.

Douglas argues that his amendments would give a needed shot in the arm to consumer purchases in the current business downturn. He says the cuts he proposes should reduce prices of autos by $50 and of major appliances by about $25.

Suez Talks Are Considered Off

CAIRO (AP)—Britain today notified Egypt she now considers British-Egyptian talks on the future of the Suez Canal base "formally broken off."

A high Egyptian official source disclosed this, adding that London's notification was made in a "note which has been handed over to Egypt."

The talks—revolving about Egypt's demand for withdrawal of Britain's 80,000-man garrison and Britain's demand for an outright understanding on future defenses of the canal zone—have been stalemated since Oct. 18, but recently there were indications they were about to resume.

Although the informant did not say so, it was assumed in Egyptian official circles that London's move was touched off by the recent worsening of British-Egyptian relations.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons in London Monday four British servicemen had been killed and several wounded by Egyptian attacks over the previous week.

French Opposing U.S. Mission To Train Viet Nam

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—U.S. Defense Secretary Wilson's announcement that he and Gen. Paul Ely, French army chief of staff, are discussing sending an American mission to train the new Viet Nam army caught French military circles here by surprise.

The French military here are strongly opposed to the idea. High military sources here affirmed today that there has been no change in the emphatic view voiced a month ago by their top commander in Indochina, Gen. Henri Navarre. At that time, he said it was "unthinkable" that Americans should train the fledgling Vietnamese army.

Navarre added that though Americans had had much experience in Korea, it was not experience which could be applied to the peculiar topography and climatic conditions of Indochina.

Navarre and the French military accepted the recent nomination of Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, a veteran of the Korean fighting, to head the aid mission here only on the stipulation that the mission's powers not be changed.

So, the mission's chief job is supplying the bombers, fighters, guns, ammunition and various other items needed to prosecute the war. Training of troops is specifically ruled out.

The reaction on an unofficial level among officers here was quick and sometimes stinging to the new prod from Washington.

Shot From Chute Like Cannonball

MONTGOMRY, Ala. (AP)—A termite exterminator was fired through a coal chute like a human cannonball yesterday when a boiler exploded.

Ray Jordan, 41, landed 40 feet away just shy of a concrete driveway, picked himself up and started running. He was hospitalized with burns, but his condition was reported to be good.

Fire Chief R. L. Lampley said the blast was believed to have been caused by an antitermite solution coming in contact with a pilot light in the boiler. Flames destroyed the one-story frame residence.

Radioactive Ash Showered Navy Vessel After Bikini Hydrogen Bomb Explosion

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The hydrogen explosion March 1 at Bikini Atoll—described by one congressional observer as so tremendous that it was out of control—showered radioactive ash on a U. S. Navy tanker carrying 92 crewmen. The Navy in a cautiously worded announcement last night disclosed the incident but said "no apparent injury to crewmen exists." The 14th Naval District here said the 4,200-ton tanker Patapsco had received "a slight and not a dangerous contamination of radioactive fallout." It did not say how far the vessel, one of the fleet supporting the test task force, was from the scene of the explosion. Twenty-three Japanese fishermen were burned seriously in a shower of nuclear ashes from the same blast. They said they were 80 miles away and outside the official hazard zone. In addition, 28 American technicians and 264 Marshall Islands natives more than 100 miles from the flashpoint were exposed to milder radiation. Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) said Monday the explosion "was so far beyond what was predicted that you might say it was out of control." He said it had blasted "a tremendous hole in the ocean floor." The Navy said the Patapsco was laid up at Pearl Harbor "for checking and complete decontamination." "It has been established that no apparent possibility of injury to crewmen exists," the Navy said. "All members of the crew were removed from the ship and given thorough medical examinations as an extra safety measure. This examination gave no evidence of any harmful effects from the slight exposure." One source said the blood count of some crewmen was low for a time but had been corrected. Lt. James W. Downing of Newark, Mo., commanded the tanker. It carried six officers, and 86 men

Low Bids For Building Schools Total $427,202; Cuts Sought

Low bids totaled $427,202 for construction of two elementary schools here when sealed bids were opened yesterday in the old Pitt General Hospital building.

Forty-two companies bid for either the general contract, electrical installation, plumbing, and heating for the two buildings. It was reported that the $427,202 was more than the Greenville school board had tentatively allocated for the buildings; and efforts are being made with the low bidders to reduce the cost without hurting the buildings before awarding contracts. A meeting of the board is planned for some time within the next few days on the matter.

East Carolina Construction Company of Dunn was low bidder for general construction of the white elementary school to be located in southeast Greenville. Its bid totaled $206,885. R. N. Rouse of Goldsboro held the low bid for general contract for the South Greenville Negro School building, which will be connected to the present South Greenville School. That bid was $123,966.

The low electrical bid for both buildings was made by the C. J. Demers Company of New Bern. Its bid amounted to $21,500. C. E. Williams of Greenville made the low bid for the plumbing installation in the two buildings. Williams' bid was $19,974.

The low heating bid was made by Bullock and Proctor of Raleigh. It totaled $54,877. The general contract low bids amounted to $330,851 for both buildings.

The new white elementary school will consist of 12 classrooms, a library, assembly room, cafeteria, kitchen, and office. The South Greenville Negro School will consist of seven classrooms, a library, an assembly room, kitchen, cafeteria, and office. Large Crowd Representatives of the 42 companies bidding filled the room at the bid opening ceremonies. There were 16 companies who made bids for the general contract; seven for the electrical installation; seven for the plumbing, and seven for the heating.

William C. Duff, chief engineer of the school house planning division for the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, was present at the bid openings along with members of the Greenville School Board.

James W. Griffith, local architect, opened the bids. Members of the school board are: Chairman J. B. James, Vice-Chairman Joseph M. Taft, J. Knott Proctor, W. L. Allen, Mrs. W. J. Stell, Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, and Dr. S. M. Crisp. City Superintendent of Schools J. H. Rose was also present at the meeting.

$75,000 Deficit Is Confirmed By Audit

CLIO, Ala. (AP)—The fear which began gnawing at citizens here three weeks ago when banker Royal Reynolds disappeared became an awful truth yesterday—an audit showed a $75,000 deficit at the Merchants Exchange. An official who helped audit books of the little uncharged money exchange declined use of his name but said the check revealed at least that much money is missing. He added, however that the $75,000 figure does not include personal property which Reynolds has promised to throw in to help make up any deficit.

Reynolds, who was president of the defunct exchange said he would dispose of his home, car and government bonds in an effort to pay off depositors. There was no estimate of the value of his personal holdings. Reynolds, released from jail temporarily to help with the audit, was put back in his cell after the check was completed. He is charged in three warrants with embezzling funds of the exchange while president. Depositors have filed unofficial claims for about $167,000, but less than $87,000 of exchange money is available.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
March 24, 1924

The Post Office Department has called to the attention of Postmaster H. R. Munford the regulations of the department which requires persons receiving mail through city delivery to put up receptacles for receiving mail.

Roger Smith has accepted a position with the Carolina Electrical Construction Co. in Rocky Mount. Friday night will long be remembered by the seniors of old Grifton high school. Everything was in tact. The juniors were at their best and they showed the seniors just what they could do. The banquet hall was decorated with purple and gold crepe paper, the senior class colors. The hall was decorated prettier than it has ever been before, since the juniors have been entertaining the seniors.

The plot of "Power of Sympathy," the first novel written in America by William Hill Brown, was reviewed and excerpts from "Charlotte Temple" by Susan Roosan were amusing and fascinating.

Mrs. Martin Gives Talk On Mardi Gras Before Cosmos Club

Mrs. George C. Martin Jr. was hostess to the Cosmos Book Club last Tuesday. After serving a delicious spring salad course, hot rolls and coffee, Mrs. Martin gave an interesting presentation of her topic, "Mardi Gras."

Mardi Gras, or Shrove Tuesday the last day of revelry celebrated in Roman Catholic countries immediately before Lent, was first recognized in this country by the French who founded the settlement later to become New Orleans. From the beginning, Mardi Gras and the 30 to 60 days of carnival which precede it have been jealously guarded by the Creoles of Louisiana against the encroachment of the public and the celebrations still remain almost completely in the hands of exclusive men's clubs.

During this glittering social season the debutantes are presented and nightly balls are given by the private clubs.

Mardi Gras is the grand finale. The merrymaking begins at daybreak, and all day the streets are filled with gay revelers in masques and masquerade costumes. Men, women and children join in the fun and the key to the city is turned over to "King Rex and his mystic crew of Comus."

A brilliant feature of both the day and night celebration is an elaborate parade of floats and tableaux down Canal Street. After the evening parade a grand ball is held in the old French Opera House which ends at midnight. The next day, Ash Wednesday, ushers in Lent.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Martin's talk, books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.
Mrs. E. B. Pace was a guest.

Party Is Given To Honor Daughter On Birthday

ROBERSONVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Worsley honored their daughter, Joyce, on her 18th birthday with a party at the Elementary School Cafeteria. The serving table was beautifully decorated with the birthday cake, camellias and pink candles. Other decorations consisted of several arrangements of spring flowers, ivy and pink candles dotted around the room.

The honoree received many beautiful and useful gifts which were displayed on an attractive table.

Mrs. Worsley and Mrs. Fred Taylor presided at the punch bowl while Mrs. J. B. Hurley served the birthday cake, potato chips and pickles. One hundred friends from Greenville, Williamston, Bethel, Stokes, Hamilton and Robersonville came to wish Joyce, a popular high school senior, many happy returns.

Mrs. Taylor Hostess To Bridge Club

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Robert Taylor entertained the members of the Deck Bridge Club at her home on Main Street Thursday night. The guests were greeted at the door by the hostess who invited them into the living room which was decorated with vases of beautiful variegated pink camellias which were raised by Mrs. Taylor who is a flower lover.

When the scores were tallied after the third progression, Mrs. Bruce Everett was high. Mrs. Pearl Everett received the guest prize and Mrs. Johnnie Gray Everett was remembered with a gift.

Mrs. J. G. Everett assisted the hostess in serving ice cream and cake.

Dr. Pingel Gives Program For Literature Dept.

Mrs. Paul Ricks and Mrs. J. W. Tetterton entertained the Literature Department of the Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tetterton on East 5th Street.

Following a delicious dessert course Dr. Martha Pingel, professor of English, East Carolina College, gave the program for the afternoon. Her subject, "Early American Novels," was most interesting and entertaining.

Dr. Pingel traced the history of the novel, stating that prior to 1780 the novel was unknown in America except in the south. It was a prohibited thing and severe punishment made if one was found reading a novel; particularly was this true in New England.

The plot of "Power of Sympathy," the first novel written in America by William Hill Brown, was reviewed and excerpts from "Charlotte Temple" by Susan Roosan were amusing and fascinating.

Dr. Pingel also emphasized the works of Charles Brockton Brown, showing the characteristics of his novels and contrasting his writing with the other novelists of his time.

In conclusion, the speaker stated that the women of America were responsible for the success of the novel, since it was they and not the men who read this type book.

During the business session, Mrs. Jesse Moye, president, announced final plans for the Author's Luncheon which will be held at the college Thursday, April 1, at 12:30. The luncheon will be one of the outstanding activities of the Arts Festival Week. Tickets are available from members of the Literature Department.

A number of outstanding writers from all over the state plan to attend this luncheon meeting in addition to those in Greenville.

The Antiques Show which is sponsored by the Woman's Club was announced for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Mrs. Norman Garrison has charge of the tickets.

A letter acknowledging receipt of check for $100 sent to the Restoration of Independence Hall fund was read by Mrs. Fred Hall. She also expressed her appreciation to the club for the splendid cooperation in making the Independence dinner a success.

Mrs. Moye announced that $5 had been sent to the Reference Department of the State Library to be used to purchase a book in honor of Mrs. W. H. Woolard who had meant so much to the Literature Department.

The next meeting will be held at the Woman's Club with Mrs. Howard Fuller and Mrs. J. O. DuVal hostesses.

The guests were greeted at the door by the honoree and Mrs. Mullens. Mrs. John Grimes invited them into the dining room which was lovely with subdued lights. The table, covered with a pretty white cloth, was centered with a large arrangement of gladioli and snapdragons which was flanked by crystal candelabra. Mrs. William Smith poured the punch while Mrs. J. W. Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor assisted in serving bridal cakes, potato chips, mints and salted nuts.

The gift table, where many pretty and useful gifts were on display, was decorated with an attractive candelabrum. Miss Pauline Crisp graciously presided here.

After an enjoyable evening, Miss Barbara Grimes said the goodbyes to the 40 callers.

Lydia Wooten Class Holds Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Lydia Wooten Class of Jarvis Memorial Church was held Monday evening, March 22, at the home of Mrs. R. H. Bland, 511 East Ninth St. Co-hostesses were: Mesdames D. L. James, Dorothy Johnson, H. A. Hudson, H. A. Hendrix and Edith Harrington.

The class president, Mrs. Paul Batchelor, opened the meeting with a prayer, after which the reading of the minutes and the roll call was given by Mrs. Lyle Leichter, assistant secretary. The treasurer's report was made and a collection was taken.

The president commented on the excellent programs, under the direction of Miss Eunice McGee, presented in the church each Sunday morning during this month.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson gave the devotional, reading the first three verses of the 96th Psalm. Her theme was "Using Our Talents to Bring Others to Christ," and she pointed out in a most interesting manner how two well known artists had used their talents to bring others to Christ.

Mrs. Johnson then introduced Billy Johnson, who gave several very entertaining readings including "Romeo and Juliet" and some episodes from "Dragnet."

Delicious refreshments of ginger ale with ice cream, mints, cookies and nuts were served by the hostesses during the social period.

W. H. Adkins Is Honored On Birthday

ROBERSONVILLE—Mr. William H. Adkins, one of the most prominent citizens of Robersonville, celebrated his 85th birthday this month at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Adkins. His daughter, Mrs. John Edwards of Williamston, and Mrs. Kate Tripp of Stokes, the oldest charter member of the Robersonville Methodist Church, were with him for this occasion. Due to illness, his daughter, Mrs. Murphy Smith of Red Springs, was unable to be present.

Mr. Adkins was born in Iredell County in March 1869. While living in Winston-Salem he became interested in bright leaf tobacco. In 1901 he moved to Robersonville and the following year he and Mr. Bailey opened the Adkins and Bailey Warehouse which has made the name of W. H. Adkins known to tobacco men in eastern North Carolina. A few years ago poor health forced Mr. Adkins to retire from active business.

Goat Wandered Into Town Jail

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP)—When day shift police officers came to work one morning, they were puzzled to find a black and white nanny goat in one of the jail cells. Night officers had left no report on the animal.

The goat was a patient prisoner. And finally its owner came sheepishly in to claim his goat. It had wandered away from its pen during the night.

Their Hands Into Taxpayers' Pocket

There are always some people who want to run their hand into the taxpayers' collective pocket and take out something to which they are not entitled.

That description, we think, fits those five Pitt Countians who were convicted this week of violating the employment security law in order to obtain unemployment benefits to which they were not entitled.

There are always some people in most any large group who want to get their hands on easy money which is being given

Is He Judging Others By Himself?

Things in the federal government are getting to a pretty low state when officials are unwilling to accept each other's sworn statements unless they are made under a lie detector test.

The lie detector test, of course, is what Sen. McCarthy asked for himself and every other witness who appears in the hearing in which the bitter fight between McCarthy and the Army is to be probed.

It is generally considered that making a statement under oath is sufficient to attest to the truthfulness of the statement. Especially among public officials, the invoking of an oath should not be necessary to have nothing but the truth. Yet McCarthy has come up with the proposal of the lie detector test in connection with testimony in the hearing in which he is concerned.

Maybe for some officials it would take a lie detector test and many other tests before the public could be convinced they were telling the truth. But, fortunately, most officials have attested by their behavior they are honorable to tell the truth when they are under oath or not.

If the faith of the American people in public officials has reached the low ebb where lie detector tests are necessary to attest to the truthfulness of their statements, we are indeed in bad shape.

Perhaps McCarthy is judging others by himself in proposing the lie detector tests.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
Most trouble in the world arises from the fact that world leaders are trying to correct effects instead of causes.

Most politicians are doing this. They find some unsatisfactory situation or some public nuisance or evil, and they dab it with salve which will take out the pain for the time being and make the wound heal until after election day. Doctors often treat results and not causes, and in the same way, politicians write columns and articles, authors write books and plays and dwell loftily on the theme of what is troubling the world. But their cure suggestions are frequently nostrums. They have a new "ism" to propose.

Ministers are often guilty of this mistake. They denounce sins, when what they should be trying to do is to cure sin; for sin is the inner corruption from which flow the acts which we call sins. Cure the soul, and you cure the sin. Correct a wrong act, and you may leave untouched the cause of the wrong act.

The word "radical" means a person who gets down to the root of things. Jesus was a radical. He proposed not just to correct evils but to cure the conditions which were causing evils. He believed in treating causes instead of results, in stopping evil at its source. And above all, he wanted to cure the soul, not just doctor it up for a while.

GOP Strategy For November

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—The Republican strategy for next November's Congressional campaign takes no account of the extreme anti-Communist issues which have been raised by Senator Joe McCarthy. Individual candidates for Congressional and state offices may capitalize on them if they choose, but they do not figure in the program framed by President Eisenhower and his top political advisers.

The GOP tacticians anticipate a hard and doubtful battle. In 1952, for instance, despite the popularity of Eisenhower, they won the House by only three seats, and they are in a Senate minority because of Robert A. Taft's death. Several special Congressional elections, as well as the New Jersey gubernatorial contest, reflect a Democratic comeback. The Northern and Southern wings of the opposition appear to be closing ranks.

Moreover, as the Party charged with power and responsibility, the GOP has had to champion the apparently unpopular side of many politically emotional questions. Eisenhower and Secretary Humphrey oppose forms of tax relief that will benefit millions of voters. Secretary Benson demands lower farm price supports.

Postmaster-General Summerfield holds the line against an 800 annual pay increase for 500,000 postal employees that would eventually be granted to a million other Federal workers, and, presumably, fix a higher wage pattern for organized workers generally.

HOPE POLICIES WILL BE VICTORIOUS—In view of the Administration's position on these problems, which undoubtedly antagonize millions of voters, President Eisenhower and his principal political aides—National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Postmaster-General Summerfield, Vice-President Nixon, Speaker Martin and several politically shrewd governors—have recently held several nighttime conferences to formulate what they hope will be victorious policies.

No small group at Washington, of course, can enforce its decisions on 500-odd candidates in every section of the country. In off-year elections, it is usually a case of every man for himself. But here is the Eisenhower formula:
The White House Policy Committee believes that away. Their desire to get such money leads them to get it by whatever means is necessary.

To be sure five people out of the several thousand who are on the unemployment benefit rolls of the Pitt office of the Employment Security Commission is an extremely small percentage of the total who are drawing compensation through the government agency every week. Yet if even one who is not eligible to draw money designated for unemployment benefits is drawing it, that is one too many.

Every effort should be made by the government to root out all individuals who are illegally drawing unemployment benefits or other government benefits.

It is easy to say that it is government money that is to be given away; but that indeed is a shallow fallacy. Every dollar which is paid out by any government agency must first be paid in by taxpayers from their earnings. The funds through which unemployment compensation payments are made are built up out of the wages of the people who are employed, and theoretically are ear-marked for the use of those individuals if the time comes when they are out of work.

If parasitic citizens of society who are ineligible to receive the compensation are allowed to drain off the funds through misrepresentation of the truth, it will mean extra burdens upon those people who are already paying into the fund for their own future security.

Results Being Attained Justify Means Used

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt apparently has taken this attitude toward motorists of North Carolina:

If they will not abide by the laws through a desire to cooperate and save their own necks, maybe they will through fear of getting caught for violations.

At any rate, the new policies of the motor vehicles commissioner appear to be based on some such conviction. And they seem to be bringing the desired results.

In recent months, the State Highway Patrol has employed the use of radar speed checking devices, the technique of saturating a section of highway or patrolling in packs has been used; unmarked patrol cars have been put on the highways, and now the patrol is using "dummy" radar units to make motorists think speeds are being checked when they are not.

It has been difficult for many North Carolinians to accept these tactics by the Highway Patrol, and there is still resentment of the techniques among some citizens. Yet, in our opinion, the means which have been employed by the highway patrol in their effort to cut down the number of accidents, injuries and deaths is justified by the results which are being accomplished.

the GOP's principal asset will be the fact that the Eisenhower Administration terminated the Korean conflict, which had cost approximately 130,000 casualties.

Coupled with that claim on the voters will be the contention that Ike has made the United States militarily more powerful at less cost to the taxpayers. A satisfactory conclusion of the Indo-China fighting, if possible, before election, will strengthen this argument.

PEACETIME PROSPERITY—The second Presidential issue will be the contention that the Republicans have preserved "prosperity" on a peace-time basis, and without the expenditure of many billions as were spent for overseas "emergencies" during the Roosevelt-Truman regime. This campaign planning assumes that there will be a late summer or early fall pickup in business conditions, with a reduction in current unemployment.

But even if the present recession persists, the GOP will contend that Eisenhower has managed the transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy with a minimum of hardships and upsets. In their political hearts, however, they are counting desperately on a steady upturn before the polls open.

AN IDEALISTIC PLATFORM—The final and overall hope is that, despite the Administration's rejection of the Democrats' tax, farm, and salary increase overtures to the voters, the people will "recognize" the underlying purpose of the Eisenhower program. The GOP theory will be that the President is seeking to build the foundation for a permanently sound economy that will not be based on the spending of the taxpayers' money.

If this strategy works, as the Republican leaders hope it will, the voters will accept deferment of immediate gains in the expectation that their trust in Washington will be rewarded even more generously in future years for themselves and their children.

As Eisenhower has said in recent "fireside talks" in the Roosevelt manner, and at several press conferences, the American people must live—and, so he hopes, vote—with "faith in America."
For the Republicans, or for any Party, this is a most idealistic platform.

AA Schedules Open Meeting

The organization that has done most to combat chronic alcoholism, Alcoholics Anonymous, is going on display before the public in Greenville! But if your interest in the group is purely for the purpose of finding out who's in it, you might as well stay home. The speakers will not be mentioned by name.

But the point is this: If you are interested in America's number four health problem, alcoholism, you will have the opportunity Tuesday night to learn something about this amazing organization that can do more than anything else to cure the disease.

In the city court room at eight o'clock the local AA group will sponsor an open meeting, for the interest of the general public, and present members of its organization as speakers to tell their own personal experiences, their experiences with drinking, and their experiences sober under the AA plan.

Check this lineup of speakers: 1. A Recorder's Court Judge. 2. A Mayor. 3. A Housewife from Wilson.

It would be against the code of AA to tell where the judge and mayor are from, but the fact that they have attained such positions makes a point. Once sober, the alcoholic is potentially a very useful citizen. By the same token, alcoholism strikes people who are prominent as well as those who are not.

Alcoholics Anonymous in Greenville has been organized for some years now. There are two groups here, both of which meet in the AA club room over the Globe Gift Shop on the corner of West Fifth and Washington Streets. Help they have given is un-measurable. They know how to help the alcoholic, because they themselves are dry alcoholics, having arrested their weakness by group therapy and faith in God. As a group they understand each other, know how to help each other and know how to help others who are ready to be helped. Likewise, they recognize the fact that an alcoholic cannot be helped unless he's ready for help. That's the sad thing about the disease.

Several times I have attended meetings of AA. Having seen how they operate, what their objectives are, what their outlook is, it's easy to see why it's one of the most useful organizations known to man. If you are interested in seeing what I have, all you have to do is drop in at the City Hall Tuesday night.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

COLD FACTS COMBAT MYTHS (The Florida Times-Union)

The vigorous competition between New England and the South for new industry has finally reached the stage where it is difficult to distinguish fact from fiction in the propaganda broadsheets. But the dependable Harvard Business Review is making a significant effort to clear the air of confusion. Writing in the magazine's current issue, Economists Stefan H. Robock and John M. Peterson insist that it is simply untrue that the South has poor labor resources. Recent studies indicate that the region has "extremely favorable and highly expected labor values for industry," they say.

Crossed Lines In The Statewide Political Campaigns

By LYNN NISBET
CROSSED LINES—The active personal in the campaign headquarters of current candidates for the United States Senate is probably more "crossed up" than has been the case in many years.

Abie Upchurch, who handled publicity for Frank Graham's senatorial campaign in 1950 and for Hubert Olive in his race for Governor in 1952, both of whom had the full backing of Governor Kerr Scott, is now in charge of publicity for Senator Alton Lennon, who is opposed by Scott for the Senate. Bill Whitley is handling the Scott publicity, after performing a similar job in 1952 for Governor William Umstead—who appointed and is now backing Lennon.

Dan K. Edwards, who led the Municipal League fight in 1951 for the half-cent a gallon gasoline tax for city streets, an idea violently opposed by then Governor Scott, is now Scott's Durham county manager, while two or three Lennon county managers have been recruited from the 1952 Olive-Scott ranks.

Latest important addition to the Lennon headquarters staff is Mrs. Mildred Moseley, who headed Kerr Scott's campaign office staff in 1948 and held the same position with Hubert Olive's organization in 1952.

One of the most interesting criss-cross incidents in the fact that while popular opinion has accorded Scott the bulk of the organized labor vote in the present race, along with some financial assistance, a large part of the Scott campaign literature has been produced in non-union shops. Some top labor officials have protested absence of the union label from the printed material.

Candidates and managers cannot think of everything—but there is always somebody ready to remind them of shortcomings. PUBLIC RELATIONS—The

Summer Promotion

By ELMER ROESSNER
It may be significant that within a few hours of each other, two of America's merchant princes called upon retailers generally to sell themselves out of the current decline in volume.

Bernard Gimbel, head of the Gimbel-Saks spread (as they say in the Western knickerbockers), called on all retailers to disabuse themselves of the idea that retail sales slide off in the summer. To prove he wasn't fooling, he announced that his own network was going to step up its summer promotions, was not going to shut down Saturdays and would sell as if business, was just as good in summer as it is any other time of the year—it is, as Department of Commerce figures show. Both July and August sales total topped September's last year.

Because the Gimbel-Saks network is so broad, it may competitively influence other retailers' plans.

Max Hess, Jr., the Allentown, Pa., merchant, at the same time called on the National Retail Dry Goods Association to launch a national "buy now" campaign. "There's no need for Federal aid in the form of new big public works programs or additional subsidies if private business helps itself," he wired the association.

Several other large retailers have taken parallel action, calling for harder selling. They are not resorting to the old prewar idea that business should try to pull itself up by its own bootstraps; instead they hold that buying power is still out there beyond the snowed-outdoors and it can be made effective with attractive promotions, new products and tempting prices.

It is, by the way, an excellent time for optimism. Promotions now can pay off. We are nearing a late Easter; the weather has been comparatively mild this year, and it looks as if a lot of excise taxes would shrink to 10 per cent on April 1. These three factors, working together, should stimulate sales through mid-April. If retailers can promote hard enough, sales could keep at satisfactory levels through the rest of April and May; with June the annual pre-vacation buying spurt comes along. After that, Mr. Gimbel's theory might be tried.

He's got a lot of facts to back him up. In addition to the statistical proof that total retail sales do not make a roller-coaster dip in summer, there is evidence that at any time in the summer at least 94 per cent of the people are living at home. At that rate, sales in summer should never be more than 6 per cent under the national average and, as Mr. Gimbel pointed out to your correspondent, it is only during summer vacation periods that many husbands and wives can go shopping together.

FOOD PRICES RISE SIX SUCCESSIVE WEEKS

There is a general impression—fortified by supermarket ads—that prices have been sliding down pretty fast. Well, as far as eat-stuffs go, they haven't been sliding fast; they haven't been sliding; they have been going up.

For six successive weeks the price of I. & B. Bradstreet's market basket of food has risen, reaching $ 27 last week, the highest point since 1951. A year ago it was only $6.42. Only?

MEN'S SUIT PRODUCTION TOPS 1952 AND 1953

The men's clothing industry operated at 85 per cent of capacity during January, compared with 81 per cent in January 1953, and 73 per cent in January, 1952, the Clothing Manufacturers Association reports. In January, production of regular weight suits was off 11 per cent, but this was more than offset by a 51 per cent increase in summer suits.

Leave Us Not Cure Spring Fever

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Don't know what's wrong with everybody? Could it be spring?

You take the dog for a walk, and he turns around and bites at the leash.

The pigeons start jaywalking in the streets, doing love rumbas with each other and thumping their wings to their beaks at taxicabs.

A knife-edged wind blows the last clinker of winter in your eye, and while you are grumpily pawing it out a warm sun pats you on the shoulder and says, "there, there. Feel better?"

Everybody seems sleepy and absent minded. At the office the boss tells the hired hand to do something, and the hired hand says, "what did you say?" and the boss nods for a moment and says, "when?"

High in the skyscrapers the swivel chair jockeys muse over what would happen if they threw a spitball at their secretary. They have a secret yearning to open the window and sail paper airplanes down on the heads of strangers.

The cop on the beat plops along and suddenly finds himself dreaming of the days when he used to go barefoot. He looks down at his shoes, as if he had half a mind to pull them off.

In tenement windows winter quilts are hung out to be aired. Housewives lean out and call to each other, "my, is my house a mess? How do you like the weather?"

A querulous treble sounds in the voices of children. They complain of strange pains and are comforted when their elders tell them, "oh, they're just growing pains. You're getting bigger every day." One minute a child stands in a dopey-eyed trance, as though he had a head full of adenoids. The next minute he is racing up the street like a maddened colt, running for no other reason except there is something stirring within him that won't let him keep still.

Little boys get out their beanshooters and set out to ambush the first robin, which annoys the robin as he is busy with house-keeping problems and has no time for little boys. Little girls get out forgotten dolls and begin to croon to them.

Rheumatic twinges slowly free the bones of old folks, and they lose the envy of better-off neighbors who spent the winter in Florida. "Pneumonia weather," they say wisely, when the first rains turn the landscape sodden.

In the suburbs a husband opens his front door to get the morning paper and sees two baby rabbits scampering across the lawn. He grins, steps out to look at the lawn and growls, "oh, no, not crabgrass already!"

In a nearby pond papa frog and mama frog are conducting an amphibious romance. Soon he pond will be full of little tadpoles, all anxious, for some unknown reason, to grow up to be big frogs and boss of the puddle.

In the heart of every tree and bush a whisper grows down to the roots and out to each branch. Suddenly the sleepy buds begin to break open like popcorn, and the brown woods swim in a green mist, a deepening of leaves.

Everything in nature all at once is busting its buttons, trying to grow as tall as the sun. At night the moon and stars seem nearer and brighter, as if a celestial housewife had newly dipped them in silver polish.

Don't know what's wrong with everybody. But if it's spring fever, doc, don't give us any wonder drug to cure it. It's a wonderful disease, this lotus virus, and the best medicine of the year.

ember pay day to the regular January time, with Christmas shopping getting a lot of employees broke. But Christmas shopping isn't as hard on them as the tax collector's March 15 call. "The longest and hardest pull of the year is between March 15 and March 25," said Ed Rankin, secretary to Governor Umstead. "And I'll give you a certified sworn statement on that if you want it."

OPENER—Alvin Wingfield Jr., of Charlotte, one of the seven candidates for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, will open his campaign with a speech in the Wake County courthouse Friday night, March 26, at 8 o'clock. Wingfield indicated to reporters at the time he filed that it would depend upon early response to his speeches whether or not he opens formal campaign headquarters. Senator Alton Lennon and former Governor Kerr Scott, recognized as leading candidates, have fully staffed and functioning headquarters. The other four filed candidates, W.M. Bostick of Cary, Olla Ray Boyd of Pineboro, H.L. Sprinkle of Greensboro and Amazon E. Turner of Oak City, have not indicated whether they will set up central base operations.

Appreciates His Speeding Arrest

WATERVILLE, N.Y.—At his arraignment on a charge of speeding, Richard C. Wolf of New York City turned to Deputy Sheriff Arthur Pugh and said: "I want to thank you. You may have saved my life and perhaps the lives of others. I had been to a sports show in Syracuse and was driving back home to attend another. I guess I just was not thinking. But thanks for arresting me. I guess I'm lucky you did." Peace was granted by Judge Basil Crandall fined Wolf $10.

Azalea City Set For Big Festival

WILMINGTON, N. C.—City officials predicted more than two million plants will be at their loveliest when an expected 250,000 visitors crowd Wilmington tomorrow for the start of the seventh annual Azalea Festival.

Featuring the three-day affair will be the Azaleas, now at their best. But such attractions as the $10,000 Azalea golf tournament with the nation's top professionals, a Broadway show, a rodeo, network radio shows, and scores of nationally known personalities will keep the throngs busy.

The Navy said yesterday that the Destroyer Minesweeper Thomas E. Fraser, with a crew of 300, will tie up at the State Ports Authority terminal Friday and Saturday, adding color to the festival.

Ella Raines, a movie actress, will be the festival queen. She will be crowned at the Coronation Ball Saturday by Gen. Mark Clark, now president of the Citadel, South Carolina military college.

Neva Jane Langley, Miss America of 1953, and Anita Colby, New York model and beauty expert, the radio shows "Big Jon and Sparkle," and "Queen For A Day" starring Jack Bailey and Blue Baron's band, will lend an air of festivity to the program.

A 10-foot parade will be held Saturday.

Teacher Education And Religion Project Role Of ECC Outlined

Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina College outlined for members of the college faculty Monday afternoon the purposes and objectives of the Teacher Education and Religion Project, for carrying on which East Carolina has been chosen as one of fifteen pilot centers in the nation.

The project is sponsored by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. "We are honored," Dean Jenkins stated, "in being chosen as the only pilot center in the North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia area."

The project was developed by a sub-committee of the Studies and Standards Committee of the AACTE. This sub-committee has proposed a program calculated to give greater emphasis to religion as an aspect of education in the preparation of teachers in all member institutions of the AACTE. The study has been made possible by a $60,000 grant from the William H. Danforth Foundation.

The heart of the project as stated by the sub-committee, Dean Jenkins explained, "is to discover and develop ways and means to teach the reciprocal relation between religion and other elements in human culture in order that the prospective teacher, whether he teaches literature, history, the arts, science, or other subjects, be prepared to understand, to appreciate, and to convey to his students the significance of religion in human affairs."

The primary aim of the study, he continued, is "to deal directly and objectively with religion whenever it is intrinsic to learning experience in the various fields of study."

"It should be made clear," he added, "that, in no sense, is the aim of the study to stimulate individual commitment or to encourage students to explore the resources of religion as a basis for durable convictions. It is the view of the committee that the emphasis on teaching about religion offers the most immediate opportunity for developing programs which are both appropriate to the responsibilities of neutral—to weigh the scales against any concern with religion." ready at the college here, he stated several projects relating to instruction in the humanities, art, social studies, science, and music are in the planning stage.

Sentenced To Die For Two Slayings

FLORENCE, S. C.—A 38-year-old Negro escaped convict was sentenced yesterday to death in the electric chair for the murder of a youth whose body was found in a well with the severed head of his young girl friend.

An all-white jury was out 1½ hours before finding Raymond Carney guilty. At the end of the one-day trial, State Circuit Judge Steve C. Griffith set the execution May 7.

Police said Carney admitted the double slaying of H. B. Allen, 22, of Latta, and Betty Clair Cain, a pretty 15-year-old schoolgirl, near Pamplico. The couple disappeared while on a date Dec. 6.

The girl's headless body was found the following day. Two days later, Allen's body was found in a well three miles away. With it was the girl's head, wrapped in a coat.

Officers quoted Carney as saying he grew panicky while attempting to rob the couple as they sat in a parked car and shot them. Police said Carney told them he cut off the girl's head to prevent identification.

Carney was tried only for the Allen slaying. He had pleaded innocent. After the verdict, he said, "I ask only for mercy, that's all." There was no indication whether he would appeal.

Sheriff John Hanna testified Carney made his confession shortly after his capture near Johnsville Dec. 19 because "he wanted to get right with God."

Peanut Growers To Meet Friday

The North Carolina Peanut Growers Association will hold its first annual meeting Friday in the High School Auditorium in Scotland Neck at 2 p.m. J.S. Sugg, Executive Secretary of the Association announced recently.

Dr. E.T. York, North Carolina State College Research Department, and Blake Shaw of the North Carolina Farm Bureau will be the principal speakers for the meeting.

In addition, directors and officers for the coming year will be elected. Sugg said that the association has approximately 50,000 members at present.

"It is realized," Sugg stated, "that all of these people cannot attend the meeting; however, it is hoped that many of them will be able to attend and that each County will be represented by people who will be able to carry the lessons learned back to their neighbors."

Life Term Given 4-Time Arsonist

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—Harold L. Hunter, convicted last month of arson, appeared in Common Pleas Court yesterday for sentencing.

Two words were typed on a sheet of paper and held up before the totally deaf defendant. They read: "Life imprisonment."

The life sentence was mandatory. The 42-year-old man had been convicted previously three times, in 1931, 1933 and 1938.

Robersonville Rotary Club Hears Talk By Doctor Garland Gray

ROBERSONVILLE—Dr. Garland Gray of Chelsea, Massachusetts was guest speaker at the Robersonville Rotary Club's last meeting. President C. R. Gray introduced him.

He discussed "Medical Research" and reviewed the history of medicine from the time of the Napoleonic war to the Korean War. He said only three per cent of the wounds received in battle are the cause of mortality. He attributed this improvement to generous use of blood plasma donated by civilians and immediate surgery, many operations being performed within a mile of the battle front. Dr. Gray reminded that armored vests are now being used successfully and said vaccinations and other improved methods in medicine and surgery have caused a sharp decline in the most common diseases of war.

Dr. Gray is a son of Mrs. Betty Gray of Robersonville.

Claude T. Wooten Funeral On Friday

NEW BERN—Claude Talmadge Wooten, 64, of New Bern died at 2:45 p.m. Tuesday at his residence. A native of Pitt County, he was a son of the late Henry Robert and Mary Manning Wooten. He was a veteran of World War I, a former Washington policeman, and a machinist at Cherry Point Marine Base.

Freshman Hudson Miller Hurls Two-Hit Win For Phantoms

Phantoms Win, 1-0, From Farmville Team

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

It looks as if the pitching woes of Coach Bo Farley, the Greenville High School baseball coach, are over. In yesterday's game with Farmville, an untried and untested freshman righthanded pitcher, Hudson Miller, spun a masterful two-hit shutout against the Red Devils as the Greensies won 1-0.

Miller had a no-hitter going with two out in the sixth inning when his opposing mound opponent, Lefty Hinson, smacked a double into left-centerfield. In the seventh inning Jack Farrior touched Miller for a single to finish the Farmville hitting for the day.

In posting his brilliant performance Miller struck out seven Farmville batters and showed perfect control in that he did not walk a batter.

Perennial Rivals In NBA Playoffs

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Perennial playoff rivals mix it up again here tonight as the Minneapolis Lakers and Rochester Royals open their best two-out-of-three National Basketball Assn. Western Division semifinal.

Both the Lakers and the Royals survived the initial round robin phase of post season play by belting the Fort Wayne Pistons out of contention.

Laker Coach Johnny Kundla is loving with the idea of playing both his 6-9 pivot men at the same time.

George Mikan and Clyde Lovelie have combined against the Royals a few times before. Kundla says they may play together again "if the situation is right."

After tonight's contest, the teams journey to Rochester for a nationally televised Saturday afternoon game. If a third contest is required, it will be played here Sunday.

Syracuse and Boston, who combined to bump the New York Knickerbockers out in the first round, start their best two-out-of-three Eastern series Thursday in Syracuse. The teams move to Boston Saturday, and back to Syracuse Sunday if the third game is required.

Eastern and Western semifinal winners will play best four-out-of-seven for the championship.

Nats To Trim 19

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—This week looms as a sorrowful one for 19 hopefuls in the Washington Senators training camp for Manager Bucky Harris reluctantly plans to start lowering the ax.

By March 30, when the Senators break camp and start north, Harris intends to chop down to 30 the record roster of 49 that reported here this year.

Bucky's biggest headache seems to be the outfield. Jim Busby, Tom Umphlett, Roy Sievers and Clyde Vollmer are regarded as certain to make the grade. That leaves these aspirants for the fifth outfielder the club usually carries: Carlos Paul, Kite Thomas, Angel Scull and Dan Porter.

Pirates Play

East Carolina College's Pirates were scheduled to open their 1954 baseball season this afternoon against Wake Forest's Demon Demons.

The game was slated to start at 2:45 at the college diamond.

Righthander Ken Hall was picked yesterday by Coach Earl Smith to start the game but cool weather this morning put a definite limit of three innings on his performance. Righthanders Jimmy Byrd and Jimmy Piner, both seniors, were slated to follow Hall to the mound for the Pirates.

The Pirates will travel to Wake Forest Friday for a return game. Their next home game will be next Tuesday against Montclair (N.J.) State Teachers College.

Rebuilding Job Starts At State

RALEIGH (AP)—The work of rebuilding North Carolina State College's football program began today as spring drills opened under the direction of new Head Coach Earle Edwards.

Edwards and three of his new assistants expected a squad of about 52 players, including 16 lettermen. The new assistants include Bill Smaltz, Al Michaels and Pat Peppler. A fourth member of the staff, Carey Brewbaker, Durham High School coach, will remain at Durham until the current school year is completed.

Captain and fullback Don Langston heads the returning lettermen. Others include quarterback Eddie West, guards Al D'Angelo, Bob Dunnigan and Jim Frazier, tackles C. M. Price, Tony Leone and Ken Urogvitch, center Dick Tom, halfbacks Bill Teer, Dickie Bethune, Monte Seoborn and Ted Klyk, and fullback Mike Nardone.

Among the newcomers are about 25 members from last year's freshman team. During the 30-day spring practice period Edwards and his staff will devote much of the time to installing a new offense, which will include the single-wing, double-wing and T-formation. The offense is patterned after the style of play Edwards taught as an end coach at Michigan State in 1949-1953. He was named head coach at State College in January to succeed Horace Hendrickson.

Bloody Battle In Prospect In Norkus-Nardico Battle

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Television fans who like their boxing bloody and brutal should get full satisfaction from tonight's 10-round fight between Charley Norkus and Danny Nardico, a pair of tough sluggers with the dispositions of angry bulls.

They staged an eight-knockdown brawl here Jan. 26. Norkus, an unranked 24-year-old heavyweight from Jersey City, came off the floor twice to win by a technical knockout in the ninth. Nardico was flattened six times.

Tonight's fight at the Miami Beach Auditorium will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Norkus will have a weight advantage of about 15 pounds over Nardico, the 27-year-old Tampa toughie who is ranked seventh among the light heavyweights.

"My guy's a Pier 6 brawler," said Nardico's trainer, Bill Gore. "When he gets hit, he sees red and wants to tear in and kill the other guy. He's got no finesse.

"We've got to hammer at Danny between rounds not to lose his head. If we can hold him down a little, he'll win.

"Norkus is a murderous puncher and a little smarter than Danny," Norkus' manager, Gene Laico, predicted another knockout victory for his fighter and said he believed it would lead to a top 10 rating for him among the heavyweights.

Norkus has won 25 of his 36 fights, 17 by knockouts, but has fought only four 10-rounders. This will be his first appearance on television. Nardico's 63-fight career includes 48 victories, 34 by knockouts.

Johnson Ready To Support Claim With Hard Cash

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harold Johnson was prepared today to put $2,500 on the line to back his claim to the light heavyweight title.

Johnson laid claim to the crown yesterday and said he was ready to post that amount with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission to guarantee a summer defense against any capable challenger.

Johnson's manager Tommy Loughrey said Johnson's move was decided on because the recognized light heavyweight titleholder—Archie Moore—"consistently has refused to meet Johnson in a title bout."

Loughrey said what brought things to a climax was the report that Moore was negotiating with Jack Solomons, London promoter, for a title defense in the British capital against Yolande Pompey of Trinidad.

Johnson has been rated for some time the No. 1 challenger and has won his last 12 fights, including victories over Ezzard Charles and Nino Valdes.

Moore was directed by the National Boxing Assn. last winter to fight Johnson, but signed for another bout with Joey Maxim, from whom Moore won the title, Moore won the second Maxim bout.

Johnson was last fighter to whip Moore, taking a 10-round decision in December, 1951. Moore had beaten Johnson twice before that and did it again in January, 1952.

The chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, Frank Wiener, said he would back Johnson in a demand for a title shot but said he couldn't go along with the Philadelphia fighter's claim to the title without entering the ring.

The State Athletic Commission almost quit the NBA recently because of that organization's failure to force Moore to meet Johnson.

Bill Orwig Hired

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Bill Orwig, University of Michigan backfield and end coach, has been named athletic director at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Walter K. Beggs, chairman of the university's Board of Intercollegiate Athletics, announced yesterday that Orwig had been hired for the job George (Posty) Clark quit Jan. 31.

Lassiter Loses, Tied For First In Billiards Play

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Luther Lassiter of Elizabeth City, N. C., after leading the pack for days in the world's Pocket Billiards Championships, found himself today in a tie for first place with Irving Crane of Binghamton, N. Y.

Lassiter was upset for the second time in the two-week tourney last night by fifth-place Mike Eufemia of Brooklyn 150-29 in 13 innings. It left Lassiter with a 7-2 won lost record.

Crane pulled even with Lassiter by defeating Joe Canton, Water-vilet, N. Y., 150-54, running out the game with a string of 41.

Other winners were Erwin Rudolph, Sayre, Pa., who defeated Morris (Snooks) Perlestein of Atlantic City, N. J., 150-28 in nine innings; and Jimmy Moore of Albuquerque, N. M., who also beat Perlestein 150-49 in eight innings.

The standings: Lassiter 7-2, Crane 7-2, Moore 6-3, Rudolph 5-4, Eufemia 4-5, Canton 2-7, Perlestein 1-9.

The Rotary Club presented Coach Bob Lee a $100 Government Bond as a token of appreciation for his outstanding work with the students at Robersonville High. The boys gave the coach two dress shirts and two pairs of socks.

Established Star Vs. Newcomer

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—An established star competes against the owner of a new scoring record today in the quarterfinals of the Women's National AAU Basketball Tournament.

They are Lurlyne Greer Meahouse, star of the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Hanes Hosiery team which is seeking an unprecedented fourth straight championship and Norma Schulte.

Norma, a 6-4 scoring whiz from Monona, Iowa, made 46 points for a new tournament record yesterday in leading the Davenport (Iowa) Brammerettes to a 61-39 victory over the New Orleans Dab-doub Motorettes. That gave her 80 points in two games.

Lurlyne set the previous single-game scoring record of 35 points in the 1952 tournament. In Hanes' first game of the 1954 tournament yesterday, however, she collected only 17 as the Carolinians downed the Jackson (Miss.) Yazoo Master Mowers 53-17.

Hanes and the Brammerettes meet in tonight's first quarterfinal game at 7:15 p.m. (EST).

Other quarterfinal pairings: 8:30—St. Joseph Goets Girls vs. Kansas City Dons.

Marion Optimistic

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Having worked with the Chicago White Sox as a coach for a month now former St. Louis Browns Manager Marty Marion is optimistic about their chances.

"They talk of nothing but winning," says Marion. "The Cardinals were like that in the days when they won pennants. Maybe I notice it more here after what I came from last season.

"From some things I've seen since training began, I wouldn't say they can't win."

Job-Hunting

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Outfielder Dick Wakefield has lost out again in a bid for a major league job. This time with the Washington Senators.

The Senators have told the one-time Detroit bonus baby his services are no longer required. He had been working out at the Washington training camp at his own expense.

"Where do we go from here?" Wakefield asked a friend after getting the news.

"Home, I guess," was the answer.

"You're right," said Wakefield.

CAMEO

By HELEN TOPPING MILLER
SYNOPSIS

Gale Taber, a widow, had refused Sewell Albright's offer of marriage, feeling that it would be unfair to foist upon this fine old family friend, her ever mounting debts, even though Sewell could well afford to pay them. She had carried on the business of breeding blooded horses on their farm in Tennessee after her husband's death, but a market for luxury stock had vanished. Then, too, there were her lovely daughters, Ravel and Julia, to be considered in any matter of family plans. Ravel, her older girl, was handsome, redheaded, spirited almost beyond control. She devoted herself passionately to the training of the Taber horses, while her younger sister, Julia, seemed content as a student nurse at their local hospital.

CHAPTER THREE

DR. MARSHALL opened the car door for Julia and swiped off the shabby cushions with a damp cloth. He did not help her in. In a doctor's book nurses managed for themselves. The car was old and started noisily, but to Julia it was exciting equipage. Now for the first time she was alone with Pete Marshall. Unfortunately he seemed in no wise specially aware of her as he waited for a break in the 5 o'clock traffic.

"Where do you live?" he asked, when they were out on the wide avenue. "Might as well take you home. I'm off till 4 in the morning."

"Oh, no, I couldn't let you do that," she protested. "It's 18 miles just drop me at the bus station. The bus goes right past our gate."

"Eighteen miles? Which way?"

"This way. West and then south. But I can perfectly well ride the bus, doctor. It's a long cold trip out there in this rain."

"Don't you like rain?"

"No, I don't. Not fall rain like this. It's hostile, like something being killed all the flowers and leaves dying and no birds or sunshine."

"Sunshine," he said, "can get to be monotonous. Especially when it hits a steel deck for 22 days at a stretch."

"You were a navy doctor, weren't you?"

"I was a lowly pharmacist's mate. That's why I like low-ceiling days. We got a little sleep on days under a long-billed green cap. "Ravel, up on Joachim," announced Julia. "She's teaching him galts."

"Doesn't she know it's raining?" With some difficulty he got the car righted and back into the ruts again.

"She wouldn't care. Blizzards and tornadoes never concern Ravel if she has a horse on her mind."

"Pneumonia holds no fear for her, either, obviously."

"She's never sick and never tired."

"Exhausting, even to hear about," he remarked. "The kind who get you out of bed before dawn and never go home till the guy packs up the bull fiddle. Goes with that color hair. Likely to have bone diseases later?"

"I'll tell Ravel that she has been completely diagnosed," Julia laughed. "She might worry if Jojo got bone diseases, but she'd never worry about herself. If you'll drive all the way around the house, doctor, and head downhill it will be easier going in the mud. But you'll have to come in and have a cup of coffee or our southern hospitality will be outraged."

"I could use a cup of coffee," he agreed, as he drove up to the side veranda.

The house smelled old when it rained. That Julia knew, because there was always some moth going on that no one ever found time to send the velvet draperies to be cleaned or to air the rugs and cushions.

Julia indicated the deer horns in the back hall and waited while Pete Marshall hung his raincoat there, tossed her gown damp coat over the banisters and opened the living-room door.

"There'll be a fire! I hope," she said.

There was also a scurry and a startled squeak. Julia had a brief glimpse of her mother, draped in an old bathrobe and barefooted, fleeing into the pantry. Immediately Gale Taber opened the door a crack and poked a curly head in, smiling serenely.

"How do you do?" she said, "Pooley, Baldr slid me off into the creek and I was just getting dry. I'm a disgrace. Get me some shoes and stockings, will you? And next time rap three times if you're crashing in with a man."

"This is Dr. Marshall, Gale. My mother, doctor. Dr. Marshall was good enough to bring me home when none of my family showed up to fetch me. I promised him a cup of hot coffee."

"Glad to have you, doctor," Gale was unperturbed. "Grab a chair and get warm. We'll make some coffee right away."

"Shall I get you a dress?" Julia asked.

"Oh, I suppose so. If you can find one fit to put on. Don't mind us, Dr. Marshall. We're all quite insane in this house. I'll speak to Thelma about the coffee."

The pantry door flapped shut and Julia said "If you'll excuse me, doctor, I'll try to get Gale assembled."

He rapped a pipe out on the fender. "So they call you Dooley, do they?"

"It's a foolish little name, but I love it, because my father invented it. He died four years ago."

Russia Expected Offer Contradictory Trades

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't be surprised if Russia soon offers to sell production machinery to the Western world—and, at the same time, to buy production machinery from that same Western world.

Contradictory, yes, but Soviet plans usually are, and U. S. Commerce Department officials analyzing a Russian trade promotion campaign which has been under way for 9 or 10 months believe these points will be part of a proposal they expect Moscow to make soon, a proposal advocating a "return to normal trade relations."

The means by which Russia hopes to open up its trade with the West, at a low level since the Communist grab of Czechoslovakia in 1948, are devious, according to a nonpublished report circulating in the Commerce Department.

Objectives in the campaign are equally devious in many regards. Here are some of them as seen by Commerce officials:

1. Russia is anxious to break up or at least soften the non-Communist world's picture of communism as able to meet only the barest needs of its own people, much less pull any weight in the West.
2. Since the '20s Russia has been straining every sinew to produce steel plants transportation and mining equipment, and heavy machinery. It may have a certain surplus (or at least dispensable) quantity of some types of such capital goods it could trade for consumer production equipment in an effort to give its underprivileged people a lift.
3. The shadow of the United States as the production colossus of the world is seriously hurting Russia's attempt to keep her following in neutralist Asia and in nations of delicate political balance, like Italy and France.
4. Economic ties are pipelines of political influence.

In any country where Russia can establish trade of any economic importance (for instance, become a main buyer of ships) it immediately expands its political influence because it could cause economic trouble by threatening to withdraw this trade. Shipwrights in countries like France, Italy and Germany might put pressure on their governments to soften, or even abandon projects like the Atlantic Pact or European army.

Tempting trade offers, especially in areas of unemployment or threatened unemployment, would be a powerful influence in softening interpretation of what is and what is not strategic trade. Recent reports from London have spoken of British merchants, back from Moscow with contracts for goods, beseeching the government to put a liberal interpretation on strategic trade lists.

Agreed on by major Western nations, these lists include military equipment and materials and machines needed to make them.

British Prime Minister Churchill, in a House of Commons speech, has called for more British-Russian trade as a means of reaching a "workaday" understanding

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks gave ground today in a rather moderate manner with spots of resistance to the decline appearing in scattered areas.

The decline was apparent from the start and carried into the early afternoon. Gains and losses with few exceptions were below a point with the emphasis on the losing side of the line.

Aircrafts behaved in a highly irregular manner. They were somewhat higher at the start and then dropped. A later recovery, however, brought on a mixed appearance. The aircrafts yesterday were higher most of the day and then fell sharply under late selling.

Chrysler which announced it is testing a new auto turbine engine, was slightly higher against the lower trend of the auto division. Gulf Oil, which reported a higher net income, was higher, also against the lower oil section movement.

International Business Machines, which proposed to split its stock by issuing one-quarter share for each share held, jumped ahead 7 points to 300 immediately after the announcement.

The volume of business in the market was restrained as prices fell and came to less than yesterday's 2,180,000 shares.

In the list of losers were U. S. Rubber, Boeing, American Telephone General Electric, Southern Railway, and Texas Co. Higher were Douglas Aircraft, Distillers Corp., American Woolen, and Allied Chemical.

RALEIGH (AP-NCDA)—Centra North Carolina fryers and broilers steady at 23. Raleigh eggs steady, a large 39-42.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady at 22 1/2. Asheville eggs steady, a large 37-39.

Police Broke Up Elopement Plans

NEW HARTFORD, N. Y. (AP)—Lloyd T. Dukett, 18, of Rome, N. Y., told police that when he left home yesterday with his 15-year-old sweetheart they figured they'd soon be man and wife.

But police said the planned elopement didn't pan out, because Dukett and the girl drove through this village at about 80 miles an hour in a stolen car bearing stolen registration plates, struck two other automobiles on Route 5 and rammed a branch office of the Oneida National Bank.

Senator Chavez To Retain Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A solid phalanx of Senate Democrats has turned back a Republican attempt to unseat veteran Sen. Chavez (D-NM). By so doing, they successfully defended their slim one-vote margin over the GOP in the Senate.

All of Chavez' 47 Democratic colleagues joined with five Republicans and independent Sen. Morse of Oregon last night to defeat the ouster resolution 53-36. Chavez did not vote.

As a result, Chavez now has a firm hold on the Senate seat he has occupied since 1935 and the Democrats still outnumber the Republicans in the Senate 48-47.

The defeated resolution declared that the 1952 election in which Chavez outran Republican Patrick J. Hurley by about 5,000 votes was "No contest" and that Chavez' seat was vacant.

The resolution was based on the report of the Republican majority of the Senate elections subcommittee, which said after a 14-month probe that there were so many flagrant violations of New Mexican election law in 1952, it was impossible to tell who really won. The subcommittee majority at no point criticized Chavez' own conduct.

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—The orange tree planted in 1856 at Bidwell's Bar on the Feather River near here still bears fruit. Ten-Year Prison Term Decreed In Assault Case

Judge Clawson L. Williams yesterday sentenced Fred Lyon, Farmville Negro, to 10 years in state prison at Raleigh after a jury found him guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

The criminal term of Pitt Superior Court moved into its third day today as the court continued to hear cases on the criminal docket.

We are going to serve barbecue and barbecued chicken with all the accessories, a dessert and a drink. We hope all our friends who can will come and enjoy this meal with us. The proceeds will be used to help pay for our newly remodeled club building and kitchen.

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks to all the ladies who have sent us their favorite recipes to be published soon in a Red Oak cook book. We need 100 recipes and so far we have received about 60. If you have not mailed yours in will you not do so at once. We want every female member of our church to have a recipe in this book. We have invited many of our friends to send recipes, too. Please attend to this at once! Let's have 150 people at Sunday School next Sunday, March 28. It will help to increase our average attendance for the past year. Come and bring your whole family. Pictures taken for the Scrapbook will be taken. Scott Pokes At Program's Foes

RALEIGH (AP)—W. Kerr Scott, U. S. Senate candidate, took a verbal poke yesterday at critics who he said are "trying to belittle and ridicule" the "Go Forward" program of his administration as governor.

In a prepared statement, Scott said the "Go Forward" program was "a program of the people—all the people—who wanted North Carolina to really get ahead."

He added, "No one person or group of persons, was responsible for the program; and, by the same token no one person or group of persons can destroy the program."

Scott described those who opposed the program as "faint-hearted, timid and selfish men." He added, "It is time for them to take a new look at what was really done by all the people working together."

The former governor cited what he termed the many accomplishments of the program, including thousands of miles of roads, many new schoolhouses, hospitals, new electric lines and telephones.

He extended an invitation "for them to come by my home and visit with me, see my farm, the roads that have been built in the community, and the advances we have made—just like the advances that have been made in thousands of other Tar Heel communities in the past few years."
