Action Deferred By City Council

By BOB BOYETTE After a lengthy discussion last night at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council...

Prior to deferring the action on the pools the Council had heard recommendations from City Manager James S. Hughes...

When the discussion on the proposed swimming pools began Hughes told the Council that action should be taken on the contract with Planning Engineer Charles M. Graves...

Mayor W. L. Whedbee explained the various points of the contract which told that the City agrees to give Graves $1,000 for preliminary fees...

The contract also calls for detail plans to be drawn for four percent of the construction cost should the people of Greenville approve the forthcoming bond election...

Finally, the contract explained that two percent of the construction cost would be paid for day to day supervision. That day to day supervision would be handled by local engineer Thomas W. Rivers.

The contract was discussed by members of the Council and most of the members seem to agree that it was a good contract.

Collins Expresses Views At this point in the discussion Councilman J. A. Collins told the members of the Council that he had heard that a concern would provide plans for the pools free and also he said he had heard that "Graves is a promoter."

Councilman Eugene West explained to Collins that even if plans were provided free someone would have to be employed to supervise the construction.

Collins stated then that he thought a pool similar to that at the Country Club should be built. That pool is being built, according to Collins, at approximately $45,000.

Mayor Whedbee then said, "We aren't going to build the pools now, but instead are going to give the people a chance to vote on it."

At this point a motion was made by Councilman A. C. Ruffin, seconded by Councilman C. Wesley Harvey to enter into the contract with Graves.

A vote was taken and it was decided to enter into the contract with the Atlanta engineer.

Location of Pools The next item to come before the Council regarding the pools was the location for the two proposed pools.

City Manager Hughes told the Council that Graves, School Superintendent J. H. Rose, Recreation Director Warren Carroll, Councilman Ruffin and himself had studied possible sites and agreed that the White pool should be located across the street from Elm Street Park and that the Negro pool should be adjacent to Eppes High School.

This recommendation was given to the Recreation Commission and they have written a letter, Hughes said, recommending that the Council accept the recommendation for the two pools at the sites mentioned above.

The letter told the reasons for Recreation Commission was in full selecting the two sites and said the agreement was that the sites were probably the best for the two pools.

"Economy and centralization of recreational activities seem to be the reason for the site selections," the letter stated.

Hughes then told the Council that he had a letter from Graves recommending that the Council accept the above mentioned sites. His reasons were about the same as those in the Recreation Commission letter.

Next, a discussion came up regarding the possibility of getting a title for the land for the two pools from the Greenville School Board since both pools, if put where recommended, would be on school property.

Whedbee said that the city would have to have a deed to the property before the pools could be built as proposed on these sites.

Republicans Try To Push Housing Program Through

By CHARLES F. BARRETT WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders hoped to push through the House today a controversial proposal to keep President Eisenhower's public housing program alive with authority for 35,000 new units after next fiscal year.

With one bloc of House members bent on killing public housing, and another bloc aiming at a much bigger program, GOP strategists conceded the issue could be close.

Time to vote on a 226-page re-amping of housing laws approached after a week-long scrap. Major issues include interest rates on Federal Housing Administration and GI loans, easier terms for FHA home buyers, and the availability of money for mortgages.

Republican sponsors told the House yesterday the bill would assure a record of 1,400,000 new houses this year, help to tear down slums and improve older homes.

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the Banking Committee said the program should "satisfy the most liberal member and yet not alarm the most conservative."

But many Democrats insisted it was inadequate and would lead to higher interest rates on veterans' home loans.

Other opponents accused sponsors of the bill of trying to "out-deal the New Deal."

Republican leaders said an appropriations bill passed Wednesday would leave authority to build 35,000 low-rent public housing units in the fiscal year starting July 1, although this interpretation was in dispute.

They planned an amendment to the omnibus housing bill to authorize another 35,000 units in the following fiscal year. They said this would be a good start on President Eisenhower's request for 35,000 units each year for four years, and the latter two years could be considered later.

The housing bill would permit Eisenhower to fix interest rates on loans insured by the Veterans Administration and the FHA up to a point 2 1/2 per cent above the average yield on long-term government bonds.

At the present market, this would be a maximum of 5 1/4 per cent interest. The current maximum on GI loans is 4 1/2 per cent. The rate of FHA loans is 5 per cent although the present law permits even higher rates.

Democrats planned a strong protest. The House voted tentatively yesterday to permit Eisenhower to drop down payments on FHA home loans even lower than the President had proposed. The bill merely gives the President power to provide the easier terms and does not make them mandatory.

Under the bill as brought to the House the minimum down payment on a home valued by FHA at $12,000 could be reduced from $2,400 to $1,400; at $15,000, from $3,000 to $2,100; and at $20,000, from $4,000 to $3,400.

The amendment would permit down payments to be lowered an additional $400 in each case. But it was subject to reversal on a roll-call vote today.

Critically Ill Judge Dismisses Case Against Boy For Rescuing Pet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, retired chief of staff of the Air Force, is critically ill in Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The Air Force said yesterday the general, who has been hospitalized for months, "is falling rapidly." Members of his family visited at his bedside.

Private physicians who attended Vandenberg in 1952 said he was suffering from cancer of the prostate gland which spread to other areas, but the Air Force has declined to state the nature of his present illness.

Senator Asks Sears To Consider Past Praise Of McCarthy Must Assure Impartial Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating senators said today they will ask Samuel P. Sears for new assurances that he could be fully impartial as special counsel in probing a row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Army officials.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said he for one will ask Sears to reflect on prior utterances praising McCarthy, and then say "if he still feels he can do an impartial investigation."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), another Senate investigations subcommittee member who had a hand in the negotiations which brought Sears to the job, said he also wants that done when the subcommittee again meets with Sears, probably Monday.

Sears, who flew back to Boston after meeting with the subcommittee here yesterday, told newsmen upon his arrival there he feels he has "not done anything that would disqualify me."

The prominent Boston trial lawyer told a news conference here yesterday he was determined to tackle the job as counsel "as dispassionately as I can," without any "partisanship."

Asked whether he had ever taken a stand on "McCarthy or McCarthyism," he told the reporters: "Not publicly, and not privately."

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), who will preside at the televised public hearings said Sears had given similar assurances at a closed meeting at which he agreed to take the post. So did other subcommittee members.

Potter told reporters he had "no reason to doubt" that Sears would be impartial. But he said the public is entitled to renewed assurances because of reports that Sears had in the past made statements praising McCarthy's fight against communism, which Potter said were not mentioned in yesterday's discussions with him.

Boston newspaper files showed that Sears hailed McCarthy's reelection in November 1952 and said in a statement that the Wisconsin senator "has done a great job and he will continue to do so as he drives the 'pinks and commies' out of government."

The Harvard Crimson, student-edited daily at the university, quoted Sears on Nov. 12, 1952, as saying he tried to raise money to help McCarthy's campaign for reelection, to counter an anti-McCarthy fund drive by several Harvard professors.

The Crimson said Sears told it in an interview that "I chased the senator all over Wisconsin trying to start a fund drive," and that "I felt that attempts to defeat Sen. McCarthy are ill-advised."

There would undoubtedly be 200 more Communists in the government if it weren't for McCarthy.

The Crimson also quoted Sears as saying McCarthy's defeat would have been a "blow to the welfare of the United States," and that "the senator has done a great job and will continue to do so. He won't sleep on the job."

American for Democratic Action, an organization which generally supports the policies of the New Deal and "Fair Deal," said of Sears' selection: "The integrity of the Senate has been jeopardized by this obvious first step to whitewash Sen. McCarthy. Mr. Sears' public record of praise and support of McCarthy disqualifies him on grounds of both ethics and objectivity."

One major question still to be settled is whether McCarthy will be permitted to cross-examine Army witnesses. He has insisted he should be allowed to do so and has urged that Stevens and Adams be permitted to question him when he testifies.

McCarthy has turned over the chairmanship of the subcommittee to Mundt while the probe of his row with Army officials is made. He has announced that he would refrain from voting either on procedural matters or any conclusions reached by the subcommittee.

After Sears' appointment was announced yesterday both Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Rep. Laurence Curtis (R-Mass) told reporters he had expressed to them about 10 days ago "an interest" in the job.

The Democratic members of the subcommittee said they had not been aware of this. At the news conference, Sears himself said he was accepting the job at personal sacrifice because he regarded it as a public duty.

Saltonstall said he had received a telegram from Sears and had forwarded it to Mundt, along with a letter from Curtis in a covering letter. Saltonstall said he wrote Mundt that he had known Sears for some time and regarded him as a man of high integrity and as a capable trial lawyer.

Mundt said he did not recall having seen the telegram mentioned by Saltonstall. He also said he believed the correspondence he received from Saltonstall may have been discarded.

McClellan, senior Democratic member of the subcommittee, said Sears' name was on the original list of attorneys he and Mundt had drawn up when they started looking for special counsel and that, so far as he knew, Sears had made no application for the job.

Saltonstall told newsmen it was his understanding that Sears "did not ask for the job" but that the subcommittee had asked him to take it.

"I think he is as good a man as the subcommittee could have gotten," Saltonstall said.

Sears, a Republican, said he had been a potential candidate for the GOP nomination for governor of Massachusetts in 1952.

Launch Two-Pronged Pincer Attack On Dien Bien Phu Vietminh Throwing In Fresh Troops

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The Vietminh threw thousands of fresh troops into a two-pronged pincer attack on besieged Dien Bien Phu today, smashing repeatedly at both the northwestern and southeastern approaches to the heart of the French Union bastion.

A brief French communique said the defenders had "violently counterattacked" the Communist-led rebels each time they rushed at the two corners of the hill-encircled plain 175 miles west of Hanoi.

There was savage hand-to-hand fighting as the French forces repeatedly beat back the rebels trying to break through into the plain's headquarters center.

As the second major Vietminh attempt to overwhelm Dien Bien Phu raged on its third day, the fighting was so furious the French had no chance to estimate the losses on either side. They had some 3,000 of their estimated 40,000 attackers in the first 48 hours.

The attack on the northwest was the first in that sector of the current drive on the French fortress, though the rebels in their first mass frontal attack on the plain three weeks ago had taken two posts in the center of the northern defense perimeter.

In the current attack, until today, they had kept a division of some 10,000 men poised on the plain's western fringes while two other divisions attacked repeatedly on the east and southeast.

The French admitted last night they had lost three eastern outposts but said the heart and main arteries of the bastion were still intact. Fighting raged in that sector off and on throughout yesterday as the black-clad rebels, armed with containers of high explosive, rushed through withering machine-gun fire to the barbed wire barricades.

The desperate French forces—French, North African, Vietnamese, Thai tribesmen and Foreign Legionnaires—fought hand to hand with those who broke through the fire. The French hit back also with six tank-led counterattacks into enemy hill positions around Dien Bien Phu.

Despite the violent attacks, the garrison commander Col. Christian de Castries, radioed army headquarters in Hanoi last night that his troops' morale was high and he believed they could hold on after outnumbered 4-1.

(In Paris, the French press agency reported that De Castries had appealed for more reinforcements.)

Strong winds and Vietminh anti-aircraft fire made it difficult yesterday for French planes to swoop low over the saucer-shaped valley to parachute in supplies and troops—the only means of supplying the fortress.

American civilian pilots helped with the task, piloting giant Flying Boxcars which dropped ammunition and other U. S. supplies without a moment's delay.

French bombers and fighters also made a record number of sorties yesterday.

Similar System For Coming Year

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Board of Education has adopted the same regulations it used this year for allocating school teachers during the next school year.

Elementary teachers will be allocated on the basis of six teachers for the first 71 pupils in average daily attendance. An additional teacher will be allotted for each extra 30 pupils above 171.

The board's action yesterday also saw it allow four teachers to high schools for the first 80 pupils in average daily attendance with an additional teacher for each additional 30 pupils.

New health textbooks for the fourth through eighth grades and a U. S. history for fifth grades also were adopted.

The board approved the holding of an election in Charlotte on the question of establishing a community college program there. It also okayed the use of school buses in connection with the mass inoculation of school children against polio in the six test counties this spring. Counties are Buncombe, Caldwell, Catawba, Durham, Guilford and Rockingham.

TERMED "LEAST TOXIC" LOS ANGELES (AP) — The man who discovered penicillin, Sir Alexander Fleming of London, says that 10 years' experience with it has demonstrated that it is the least toxic of antibiotics.

"People have died of aspirin poisoning but none of penicillin poisoning," he told a group of newsmen. "You couldn't commit suicide with penicillin if you wanted to."

Company Plans Reinstate Morning Washington Bus

A letter received by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday stated that Carolina Coach Company plans to reinstate the bus leaving Washington at 7:25 a.m. effective April 25.

The letter also stated that a new set of schedules has been filed with the N. C. Utilities Commission which not only reinstates the 7:25 a.m. bus from Washington, but also has a bus leaving Greenville for Washington each day at 4 p.m.

"At the same time," the letter continued, "the bus that now leaves Greenville at 11:50 a.m. for Raleigh will move back to depart at 12:05 p.m. for convenience of the students at East Carolina College. When this schedule gets back into effect, I believe all the complaints we have had from Greenville will have been met."

Continuing, the letter stated, "I am sure that you and the people around Greenville who have been riding our buses recently know how much we are operating below our capacity through that territory. We continue to hope that business will pick up so that these trips will carry their own weight but it looks like it is right much of a hopeless situation."

The copy of the letter sent to Willard T. Kyzer, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, was signed by W. G. Humphrey, Traffic Manager for Carolina Coach Company.

Petition sent to Company Kyzer sent a petition signed by seven people to the bus company along with a letter on March 29, six days after 7:25 a.m. service between Washington and Greenville had been discontinued.

The petition to the company stated that cancelling the schedule at 7:25 a.m. left the signers without a way to get to and from work. Most of signers lived in Grimesland and worked for Greenville people.

Kyzer's letter told the bus company that the petition was being sent at the request of the employers, and that "we respectfully petition you to restore those schedules on which we are dependent for transportation six days a week."

"Their employers by telephone," Kyzer's letter continued, "have advised this Chamber of Commerce office that the removal of these buses will either prevent the signers of this petition from working in Greenville or if they do the employers will have to provide other means of transportation for the approximately 10 mile trip each way, per day, which they claim is an undue hardship on both parties."

Alaska Statehood Bill Faces Trouble In House

By FRANK W. VAILLE WASHINGTON (AP) — Hawaii and Alaska, fresh from a Senate triumph, headed toward a new obstacle today in their quest for statehood.

The Senate yesterday rebuffed efforts of opponents to sidetrack a bill to admit both territories as states and passed it 57-28.

But some lawmakers, predicting trouble in the House, felt the Senate victory might turn into an ironic April Fool's joke.

Danger to the statehood bill in the House comes from the Senate's action, largely maneuvered by Democrats tying in Alaska to what was originally a bill to admit only Hawaii.

Some Alaska statehood advocates expressed hope President Eisenhower could be persuaded to lift his own and his party's objections, which have been based on the expressed ground that Alaska is not yet ready to become a state.

Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said in an interview, "All he's got to do is take his foot off Alaska and this bill will pass."

House Republican leaders already have announced they do not favor inclusion of Alaska in the legislation. The Republican-dominated House Rules Committee has kept an Alaska statehood proposal bottled up for 10 months.

In the past, Alaska has usually voted Democratic, Hawaii Republican.

The House last summer passed a bill providing statehood for Hawaii alone.

The measure the Senate passed yesterday could go to conference between the two houses, but on member's objection from the House floor could block such a thing except by action of the Rules Committee.

Sen. Cordon (R-Ore) floor manager for the bill, said he does not know whether the House would accept the tandem bill but he pointed out it has previously passed bills to give each territory statehood.

Unemployment Drop Seen By Several Economists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that unemployment increased by 54,000 in March to a total of 3,725,000. It was the smallest monthly increase in six months.

The Census Bureau, in releasing the figure, said unemployment "leveled off."

By NORMAN WALKER WASHINGTON (AP) — Several economists said a new government survey due late today may show a slight but hopeful drop in the number of the nation's unemployed.

The jobless total has swelled for several months, mounting slowly but steadily to the 3,671,000 reported by the Census Bureau for February. The report due today will be for March.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, who keeps close tabs on the unemployment situation, told reporters last week he believed unemployment had eased a little in March and the number of employed also had increased.

Several other economists said privately they felt as did Clague that the whole employment picture would brighten a bit when the March figures were announced by the Census Bureau.

President Eisenhower has said he will take a close look at the March employment figures in planning economic policy.

Federal Reserve Board figures yesterday showed department store sales last week 1 per cent below the corresponding week in 1953. The board said the late Easter date could be expected to cut March sales 1 per cent.

City Council Members Discuss Varied Matters During Extended Monthly Session Last Night

By BOB BOYETTE Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville's City Council made City Manager James S. Hughes a member of two boards here and voted to annex the Forrest Hill Subdivision into the City of Greenville at the regular monthly meeting held last night at City Hall.

Many other matters including discussion of the proposed pools, adopting a new city license plate, and erecting of traffic lights were discussed.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee read an ordinance regarding the annexation of the Forrest Hill Sub-division. The ordinance stated that everyone living in the area agreed 100 percent to take on their share of the debts of the City of Greenville and to have the rights of citizens of the city should they be allowed "to become a part of the city."

Hughes told the Council that "everyone has either complied or agreed to comply with the subdivision regulations and I recommend that we accept the ordinance."

It was voted to annex the subdivision as of April 2 (today).

There was another petition to bring an area into the city. It is a parcel of land lying east of Elmhurst containing about 60 acres. It was pointed out that some of it was being developed now and that the Planning Board had approved the preliminary plat, but that the final plat would be submitted only on what was being developed now.

Hughes said that everything in that area was in order, but that it would have to be advertised prior to becoming a part of the city. The Council voted to have the City Clerk advertise the petition and that action on the matter would be taken at the next meeting.

Makes Hughes Member City Manager Hughes was made an ex-officio member with voting power of the Planning Board and the Recreation Commission at the meeting last night.

There was a recommendation from the Planning Board and the Recreation Commission that he be made an ex-officio member.

Deferred Action The matter of making the Planning Board function also as a Zoning Commission was deferred until next Thursday at last night's meeting along with all decisions regarding the two proposed swimming pools.

Prior to postponing action on making the Planning Board as a Zoning Commission there was some discussion of making the present Board larger and also of setting up a separate board to act as a Zoning Commission.

To Get New License The Board voted last night to adopt a new type license plate for citizens who own cars and live within the city limits of Greenville.

The new plate would be about the same size as the present State plate and would have an outline of the State of North Carolina on it. It would have written across the State "Greenville, N. C." Right under that would be more writing "World's Greatest Tobacco Center."

A number would be placed at the lower left part of the license plate. The plate would be colored green and white.

The request was submitted by City

Manager Hughes in the absence of Tige Gardner.

It was brought out that these type licenses would cost the city 25 cents a piece, seven cents more than the present city license tags.

To Help Get Air Conditioning The City Council voted to take part in air conditioning City Hall, if their part ran not more than $2,500.

Hughes told the Council that the Utilities Commission was considering air conditioning portions of the building and was wondering if the Council would help pay for it.

The city manager said that it was estimated that it would take approximately $8,500 to air condition the lobby and offices on the first floor, the Council room and his of-

Dr. Jan Schinhan To Speak At Festival Saturday Afternoon

Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan of the Department of Music at the University of North Carolina will present a program on "North Carolina Folklore" at the Woman's Club Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This program is a part of the Greenville Community Arts Festival being held here this week. The public is invited to attend.

Ever since his student days in Europe, Dr. Schinhan has had a great interest in folk music and has collected such melodies wherever he could. This original hobby turned out to be one of his main interests.

DR. JAN SCHINHAN

For his dissertation at the University of Vienna he submitted a comparative study of the music of two American tribes on the Pacific coast. He has continued to devote himself to such studies.

Later, Dr. Schinhan turned his efforts toward a less primitive manifestation, namely that of the folk songs of America, with special emphasis on the southern regions and the Appalachians. Since 1933, he has yearly given a course on folklore, and he will do so again this summer. At present, he is working on the fourth volume of the Frank C. Brown collection of North Carolina Folklore, which contains the tunes of 518 ballads and 749 folk-songs.

Like its predecessors, the three volumes, which have already appeared in print, this volume also will be published by Duke University Press.

Sans Souci Book Club Members Attend Arts Festival Program

Mesdames C. S. and F. J. Forbes were joint hostesses to the Sans Souci Book Club Tuesday, March 20, at a delightful luncheon meeting.

This was a rather unusual meeting in that the club chose to attend the Arts Festival program given at the Woman's Club by Mrs. Duckworth of Asheville, who spoke on the subject "Flower Arrangement," meanwhile arranging from containers with beautiful flowers, each in different design.

The program was splendid and Mrs. Duckworth proved to be as adept at talking as at flower arrangement.

At the conclusion of the program the Sans Soucians drove out to Respass-James Restaurant, where in a private dining room they were seated around a flower bedecked table. Here they enjoyed a delicious barbecued chicken luncheon and much lively conversation to which a number of visitors gave added pleasure by their presence. The following were welcomed guests of the club: Mesdames John Mayo, Bill Moody, John Staton and Miss Camille Staton from Bethel; Mesdames J. B. Spillman Sr., M. L. Wright, Bessie Scott, Pat Byrd and Mrs. Mitchell, all of Greenville; and Mrs. Duckworth of Asheville.

Round Table Members Hear Guest Speaker Talk On Grace Crowell

Mrs. C. E. Oakley was gracious hostess to the members of the Round Table and to her guests, Miss Eunice McGee, Mrs. T. Y. Walker, Mrs. Raleigh Lee and Miss J. D. Aman, at her home on East Fifth Street on Tuesday afternoon.

All the newly-elected officers assumed their duties with Mrs. H. H. Duncan presiding. Following a brief business session Mrs. J. W. Higgs presented Miss McGee whose subject as guest speaker was "Grace Noel Crowell." Speaking appreciatively of her as a person and poet, Miss McGee stated that she was author of more than 1900 published poems, many of which have been set to music, and many more of which have been broadcast over every radio station in this country, England and Australia.

Mrs. Crowell, she said, has been the recipient of many honors which attest not only her literary ability, but the warm human appeals of a deeply understanding heart. Texas conferred her greatest literary honor upon her in 1935 when she made her Poet Laureate. In 1938 she was chosen the American Mother of the Year by the Golden Rule Foundation; and that same year American publications selected her as one of the ten outstanding American women.

The speaker stated that though she is ranked as a minor poet, she yet interprets the life and people around her in such clear, serene and singing tones that faith, hope and beauty are to be found in her homely, philosophical lyrics. The sonnet is her favorite form of expression and under her skillful pen the deep things of the heart find expression in words that all can understand.

As examples of her nature poems Miss McGee read "White Birch," "Cedars in the Sun" and "Bird in the Rain."

"Out in the rain a searlet bird, The one bright splootch across the day, Stood high upon an aerial's tip And sang its heart away."

"Nor rain nor cold deterred that song."

"Cheer-up," and I who needed much That clear command—stood very still, And caught my breath to whistle back: "I will, I will, I will!"

In all this poet's works there is a reflection of a personal relationship to the eternal verities. Interesting examples of this were noted in such poems as "Scandal" and "The Those Who Are Content." Her deeply religious nature is well expressed in "Jesus Was a Poet" and in the last poem chosen, "The Golden Cross."

"Often the city lies beneath a pall Except where a cross upon a spire - - - speaks out Its golden message—It is like a shout From that high pinnacle, the cross held high, Its wide arms outlined on the darkened sky Bidding men know that always there is light Lifting beyond the shadow of the night."

The Travel Item of the afternoon was given by Mrs. D. L. Moore, who told of Jamaica, famous for its Castleton Gardens of "exuberant vegetation," its Blue Mountain coffee and luxurious seaside resorts.

In closing the program Mrs. W. E. Marshall called attention to the word "Geriatrics" and spoke briefly of the awakening interest of the public to the implications of the problems of the aging.

During the social hour that followed delicious refreshments were served.

Going Away Party Given For Mrs. Gantt

GRIFTON—As a compliment to Mrs. Cy Gantt, who will leave soon to join her husband in Wilmington, Del., where they will make their home, Mrs. Douglass Boone entertained members of her card club and invited players on a recent evening at her home on Pitt Street. Spring flowers in various hues made pretty decorations in the living room where the tables were placed for the games.

Mrs. Gantt was presented a white carnation corsage and a gift from the friends assembled as a token of the occasion. She was also holder of the second high score award. The first went to Mrs. Bill Austin. Mrs. Bill Raye was recipient of the victor's award. The floating prize was held by Mrs. W. R. Johnson and the consolation went to Mrs. George Lehman. Others playing were Mesdames L. O. Posey, Joe Cavahia, Ike Armstrong, Albert Tyson, Norman Reis, B. C. Troutman and Miss Ruth E. Smith.

GRIFTON—Mrs. Wiley Gaskin entertained on a recent evening at her home on Church Street at a desert bridge for members of her contract club. On arrival guests found their places at the four-tables and a dessert with coffee was enjoyed. During the progressions which followed Mrs. Roy Jackson and Mrs. Woodrow Smith compiled highest scores among club members and were given attractive prizes. Mrs. David Parker was remembered with the victor's prize. Others playing were Mesdames Frank Davis, Wilbur Murphy, Bill Rasberry, Milton Hart, Edward Hart, Walter Patrick, Ben Tucker, Julius Chauncey, Glendie Tucker, Sam Nelson, Josh Worthington, Billy Phillips, Roger Johnson and Hunter Shackelford.

'Books and Stuff'

DR. ED. HIRSBERG

We're still flushed with the success of the Authors' Luncheon that was held yesterday in the College cafeteria as a featured program of the Community Art Festival. Those attending numbered approximately 150, and all the customers seemed satisfied. Speeches by the participating literary lights were short but brilliant; the food was good, and everybody was grateful to the Literature Group of the Women's Club for staging the affair with smoothness and aplomb. Orchids to all concerned—and we hope the women make it an annual affair for Greenville.

Latest news about books of interest to Southerners: Publication last week by Macmillan of "A History of the Southern Confederacy" by Clement Eaton, a native of Winston-Salem, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and now a history professor at the University of Kentucky. The book looks at the War Between the States from a Southerner's point of view, giving special attention to such interesting factors as the forces disrupting the Union, the life of the Confederate soldiers, the personality of the leaders of the Confederacy, and the effects of the war on social life in the South.

And from Macmillan we also hear the reprint rights to that great war classic, Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind," have been let out for publication in cheap editions. "Gone With the Wind" will come out as a paper Perma-book, selling at 75 cents, and in a hard-bound edition for $1.98, early this month. It's still consid-ed the best-selling novel of this century—and the cheap editions probably will add many more millions to its circulation.

Another item about the paperbacks: In four years one of the biggest sellers has been an edition of Shakespeare's tragedies—which has sold over a million copies. And a fairly highbrow poetry anthology has sold two million, along with Homer's "Odyssey," of which over half a million have been sold. So everybody isn't reading trash, we're glad to note.

On the local scene: We note that "Confederate Finance," by Dr. Ed. Hirsberg, has been selected by the U.S. Department of Education as one of the best books for publication this Spring by the University of Georgia Press.

Dr. Joseph Withey of the College Drama Department has been giving us some interesting information about the books he has been using to help him with the staging of the Passion Play which is scheduled for production April 14, 15, 16 and 17 at the Wright Auditorium.

Much of the grouping of characters and the stage design, paintings and observation of religious paintings dealing with the life of Christ.

"The Gospel in Art," edited by W. Shaw Sparrow, and "The Life of Christ as Represented in Art," by Dean Farrar. Also "The Life of Christ" by Robinson Lees, has photographs of sculptured settings by the Italian sculptor, Mastroianni, that have been important to Dr. Withey. With such authentic sources of information, the production—which is being sponsored by the St. James Methodist Church—is bound to be good.

"Italy in Today's World" is the subject of Dr. E. D. Johnson's radio book that this Sunday evening at 9 o'clock over Station WPTC—and on Tuesday evening over the Kingston local station also. Today's reviewer of two books of interest to local readers is Dr. Don Murray of the College English Department, an expert in American Literature and a specialist in the American novel.

Edna Lee, THE SOUTHERNERS NY: Appleton-Century-Crafts, 1953

This is a long narrative of Reconstruction times in Atlanta, focusing on the period from 1861 to World War I. Jessica Kildare, orphaned and illegitimate, makes her troubled way in the world against various personifications of snobbery, corruption and greed.

Provided for by a grandfather whose identity is long a mystery, Jessica is first incarcerated in the ogrish Mrs. Plummer's Seminary for Young Ladies and is then placed in the family of Camilla Carrebee, socialite and czarina of the Carrebee Cotton Mill. She marries Wes, Camilla's handsome and decadent son, but is unable to save him from an alcoholic demise. She dedicates herself to the Mill, battles with Camilla for control, and finally triumphs.

The book swarms with Dickensian characters, the pure-hearted, the black-hearted and the clownish.

Officers Report One Minor Wreck

One minor traffic accident was reported by Greenville police yesterday.

The accident happened at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Tenth Street at 8:50 yesterday morning where a car driven by William George Maxwell, 203 Greene Street, collided with the rear of an automobile operated by William Curtis Moore, Negro, 25.

The police accident report said Moore's car stopped for a traffic light, and Maxwell's car hit it in the rear. Damage to the Maxwell car was estimated at $200.

No charges were brought by officers in connection with the accident.

There is an entertaining mystery concerning Jessica's parents; there are touches of horror and violence; there is some Faulknerian decadence and corruption.

Very conscious of social problems, Mrs. Lee attacks false pride of family and the unholy partnership of unscrupulous Southern aristocrats and Northern financiers which pillaged common people and natural resources in the name of an industrial New South.

There is a good deal of melodrama here, and only Camilla seems convincing as a character. Nevertheless THE SOUTHERNERS is an exciting tale well told, and an engaging liberal idealism illuminates the thesis. It is a solidly capable romance of its kind, superior to the author's previous Reconstruction novel, THE WEB OF DAYS.

THE GOOD SPIRIT OF LAUREL RIDGE, by Jesse Stuart NY: The McGraw-Hill Books Co., Inc., 1953.

Jesse Stuart here presents a memorable portrait of one Theophilus Akers, a stalwart and wise old man who dwells on Laurel Ridge in the Kentucky mountains. Although there are several friendly ghosts in the story, Op himself is the good spirit of the Ridge.

He has little material wealth, but he owns the wooded hills as Thoreau owned Walden Pond; he can't read but he knows the wild strawberry patches, the yarbs, and the habits of turtles and foxes. He is able to hear the ghostly waltz of Morgan galloping at night, and he can make the wind create music in a horsehair harp on the cabin wall. He tells a fine yarn occasionally, as when he relates how, after a carouse on persimmon brandy, the devil carried him home one night. Most important, he enjoys life, people, and the calico clouds over Pawpaw Cap.

More Thoreauvian than his literary kinsman Grandpa Fustie, Op is deliberately contrasted with All Pruitt, a nervous Modern Man who has fled from fear and complexity to the wholesome simplicity of Laurel Ridge.

The plot of this novel, it must be stated, is exceedingly thin and artificial. The romance of Op's daughter and an AWOL soldier is only tacked on to the fabric of the main portrait, and is poor material at that. The book lacks the depth and richness of TAPS FOR PRIVATE TUSSEE. It is not a masterpiece for accomplishment, but it is surely worthy of notice. Mr. Stuart remains a rich mine of legendary lore and a gifted painter of the region he loves.

Wilson Speaker Addresses Club

The Meadowbrook Men's Community Club held their regular monthly supper meeting at the church on Thursday night, with the Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Wilson as guest speaker.

Mrs. Johnnie Anderson and Mrs. Ray Wingate, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Mayo, Mrs. Irvin Roberson and Mrs. Cliff Rhodus served supper to 18 members and guests of the club.

Cliff Rhodus, president of the club, welcomed Linwood Stoneham as a new member of the club and Joe Finch of Wilson as a guest.

The Rev. Mr. Williams brought a message on "The Pillars of the Men's Club in the Life of the Church." The speaker challenged the men to rise up and give their very best to make the church and its program go forward through loyalty, cooperation and unselfish service. Williams said that Christianity put into practice through our lives is the only answer to the threat of Communism.

Secretary Finds Relative Through Routine Letter

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — When Carolyn V. Cohen, secretary of the Upper Keys Chamber of Commerce answered a routine inquiry she added this note:

"I'm proud of the 'V' in my name, which stands for Valentine. I was born in Woodbridge, N. J., and as the family is large could I be writing this letter to a relative?"

In a few days she received this reply from Raymond L. Valentine of East Orange, N. J.:

"Dear Carolyn: Stop wondering if you are writing to a relative. Yes, it is your Uncle Ray."

Mrs. Cohen hasn't seen her uncle for more than 30 years and didn't know where he was living.

Now Valentine plans a visit to the Upper Keys to recover from an illness and see his niece. Both were born in Woodbridge.

Police Comb City For Three Youths

BALTIMORE (AP)—FBI and local police combed East Baltimore today on almost a door-to-door basis for any "drapes" answering the description of three youths who took $30,000 from a Provident Savings Bank branch office yesterday.

The three, wearing "draped" type haircuts, sporting waist-length jackets and dark glasses, held three bank employes and 10 customers at gunpoint while they gathered up the cash in a shopping bag.

They entered the bank during the late morning business peak, just a few minutes after a Brinks armored car had delivered $23,000 in cash to the bank.

Argentina and Chile have large populations of Irish descent.

Suit Is Dropped By 20th Century

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor Marlon Brando and 20th Century-Fox Studio have settled their differences.

The studio announced yesterday that it has dropped a two-million-dollar breach of contract suit against him and he will report June 7 for the film "Destree," with Jean Simmons.

Brando failed to appear several months ago for the start of "The Egyptian." He turned up in New York, where he was under care of a psychiatrist. The studio now says it and Brando will share costs of the delay on that picture.

Brando returned here for the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Marlon Brando Sr., who died Tuesday.

Dollars Must Be Stretched To Meet Needs

It is encouraging to see that the Board of Trustees of the Greenville city schools has put the construction of a new high school building officially on its list for the next project in the current expansion program.

The citizens of Greenville evidenced their appreciation of the need of expanded school facilities in the city last June when they voted overwhelmingly for a $1,500-000 bond issue for school buildings.

Bids for the first of these buildings already have been received, and contracts for the construction of a new elementary school for white children in Southeast Greenville, and for the construction of additional classrooms at the South Greenville Negro school are being let.

Because of the pressing need for expanded high school facilities brought about by the rapidly increasing number of students in high schools, the decision to get the high school next is a wise one.

The Greenville School Board, like almost every other one in the country, is faced with the problem of spreading as far as possible the money it has for capital improvements. To meet the needs of a constantly expanding school population, the local school board, it seems to us, is of necessity going to have to build quality schools so far as construction and facilities are concerned; but many of the fine trimmings may have to be omitted from school plans.

In addition to the one-and-one-half million dollar bond issue which has been voted by the Greenville school district, it is expected another $100,000 will be available to the district from state money for school construction. Unless Greenville can get the facilities to meet its school needs from those funds, it is not likely to get additional facilities in the next few years.

In spending the money which is available for school expansion here, careful priorities must be placed in individual projects such as has been done in the case of the two elementary projects about to begin construction, and the new high school project.

At the same time careful study must be given proposed facilities to assure the district gets every facility possible for the money it has to spend on school.

Some Improvement Seen In Highway Accident

It doesn't take but a few days of "bad luck" on the highways to ruin a reasonably good safety record which has been started; but so far in 1954, the nation is having one of its best driving years in the past three.

Total figures for February throughout the nation have just been released, and show traffic deaths totaled 2,470 during that month. They represent a decline of two per cent from February a year ago, and make the totals one per cent less for the first two months of 1954 than for the corresponding months of 1953.

Even so, 5,370 people killed on the highways of the nation in two months is a terrible toll.

Statistics on North Carolina's highway deaths and injuries for 1954 are showing improvement over 1953 so far, and it is to be hoped that the trend toward more careful driving will be continued.

Yet it is obvious that a relatively few bad accidents could turn the reasonably encouraging traffic accident picture into a gloomy scene compared with records of the past year.

Is Ours A Calm

Acceptance, Or Ignorance?

The H-Bomb and its related problems are considered so important by the British Parliament that full debate by that body is planned for Monday.

Repeated outcries of concern over prospects of what the thermonuclear explosions hold in store for the world have increased in England since the first disclosures of H-Bomb might; in many respects, British expressions of fear and horror have been more frequent and disturbed than by Americans who have to live with the bomb.

Maybe the wonder and awe of the first "little" atomic bombs of World War II have dulled our own conceptions of what portent atomic bombs and hydrogen bombs bear on the future. Or, as seems equally possible, Americans have passed through the stage of early uncertainties and accepted the responsibility that is now theirs.

Whatever the cause may be, there does seem to be a disproportionate variation in concern over the hydrogen bomb between Americans and Britons.

We hope the lack of hysteria in this country does not signify a lack of understanding, but rather that Americans do comprehend the awesome responsibility and power lying dormant in our atomic arsenals.

The alternatives of life and death, not of individuals but of civilizations are open to whatever policies we choose to follow. Yet the realization of all this has made only sporadic headlines in "vox populi."

Maybe Americans are more adult than the rest of the world gives them credit. Maybe not. What do you think?

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
There is an interesting story in the thirteenth chapter of Genesis about Lot, who when his uncle Abram gave him a choice of territory, chose the city of Sodom.

This city was notoriously wicked, even for those wicked days. In order to enjoy the manifold luxuries of Sodom and be able to embrace the opportunities to get rich which undoubtedly existed there, Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom. He did not go into the city at first; he just toyed with the idea of entering. But of course he entered finally, and almost the last we see of him he is running as fast as his legs can carry him, dragged along by angelic guardians trying to escape the city upon which the wrath of God had fallen. In the very last view we have of him, he is a drunken, inebriated old man.

The lesson is—don't toy with the forbidden. There was no sign up saying that Lot could not enter Sodom. No voice out of heaven thundered warning to him. But Lot knew of the wickedness which was rotting out the life of Sodom; yet because Sodom was comfortable, rich, sophisticated, and pervaded with a materialistic culture, Lot could not resist.

His counterparts are the men and women today who compromise their conscience and ruin their children in their desire to live lives of wealth, comfort, and indulgence.

Ike Studies Farm Problems

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower recently amazed a small group of White House dinner guests by telling them that he had devoted more time and thought to the farm problem, including a fair return to the producers and reasonable (lower) prices to consumers, than to any other question except the cold war, with its diplomatic and military aspects.

Only two Cabinet members—Secretaries John Foster Dulles and Charles E. Wilson—see Ike and take up more of his official and evening hours than Ezra Taft Benson, the mild and amiable Mormon who presides over Agriculture. The President has an unusually high regard for Secretary Benson because of the courage and common sense he has displayed in fighting for more flexible and lower price supports on farm products.

They regard an across-the-board reduction in Federal payments to the farmers and in retail prices of food as essential, even though it means that Eisenhower will be only a one-term President and Benson only a four-year sacrifice on the altar of a sound and sensible agricultural economy.

IKE APPROVES BUTTER TRANSACTION—Benson's reduction of the government's purchase price on butter from 90 to 75 per cent, which went into effect yesterday, has Ike's full approval, even though it may have adverse political effects in the dairy states, including Senator "Joe" McCarthy's Wisconsin.

Eisenhower and Benson believe that lowering of the price support on butter and other farm products will eventually benefit both the farmer and consumer. Their proposed liquidation of huge surpluses and high food prices is a key move in the general attempt to return to a system of private initiative and enterprise. It is not generally realized, but Uncle Sam has become the exclusive purchaser of major farm crops, which he now buys at an artificial and politically fixed price. So long as he will pay a guaranteed price (90 per cent of parity), the farmer will continue to overproduce. He has a political price and market. The taxpayers finance this form of state socialism

Somebody Told Me

Clearwater People Friendly

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The second day of vacation in Florida looks even better than the first. A swim today (Sunday) was great, especially when it was combined with a fairly successful fishing trip out on the pier at Clearwater Beach. Yesterday I said the water was too cold for swimming. But after the first dip it's no colder than a cool summer day at Morehead.

This is the only kind of fishing I have ever been able to do and stay out of the dog house. Wife Rachel is only 100 yards away (on the beach with the children) and can come out on the pier and grab me by the nap of the neck any time I stay too long. Not only that, I can take the older child, Nancy, with me. If this keeps up, the fishing I mean, I'll have to clean and eat fish every night. At least I hope I can have some to clean every night. Sunday I thought I had a sea monster on the hook and it turned out to be a catfish. In my opinion that's a disgrace to the Gulf Stream. But I did catch enough "whiteys," to eat. No doubt every fisherman knows what a whitey is, but not me. It looks like an undersized trout.

Food here is reasonable, but not under Greenville prices. But what you can eat will ruin your waistline. Today for lunch we had chicken pie, which is good in Greenville in March. But in addition, we had tomatoes and corn that tasted like July in Greenville. Never have I enjoyed fresh vegetables so much! Pardon me if your mouth is watering, but it was just like the first day of fresh vegetables at home, except the prices were almost (not quite) as low as late season prices. How do the children like this deal? Probably a stupid question. They have the undivided attention of both parents most of the time, plus a beach. Tell me, how do you get sand out of a child's hair without a continuous howl?

The friendly atmosphere of Clearwater is something I mentioned yesterday, but it's worth a repeat. After a vacation several years ago in unfriendly Miami I must say I'm surprised.

Seeing the retired people, or should I say people who presume to be retired, enjoying life at Clearwater gives you a bright outlook. After the struggle of living, if we are lucky enough to have means, there are places in the world that specialize in our enjoyment.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

PRESIDENT SPELLS OUT VITAL ROLE OF TRADE (Kinston Free Press)
President Eisenhower in his address to Congress Tuesday on the foreign trade program spelled out a four-point plan which is vital to the promotion of world peace and economic health on the home front. Congress will do well to expedite this important program with all possible haste.

A three-year extension of the reciprocal trade program is sought, along with the power to cut tariffs five per cent each year for a period of five years. Other objectives are curtailment of foreign aid, encouragement of private U.S. investments abroad and taking of steps to facilitate the exchange of currencies with all nations engaged in trade with the United States.

It is significant that President Eisenhower did not offer this plan to the Congress until he had had detailed recommendations from a special bi-partisan commission, headed by Clarence B. Randall, board chairman of the Inland Steel Corporation. Randall stayed on as a special presidential consultant to help draft the message after the commission's report had been finished.

There are indications that the die-hard conservatives in the GOP will spare nothing to delay or to curtail this important matter. Many observers say there will be a one-year compromise on the reciprocal trade program—just as there has been for each year of the past several—because the Congress will not want to fight the issue through in an election year. But that is merely dodging the real issue.

The future of this Nation and the world is so inter-woven with world commerce and what the United States does in its trade policies, that any unusual delay in this matter could result in serious political repercussions. A three-year extension of the trade act would restore confidence in commerce as nothing else could. It would expedite the flow of goods and the 4,000,000 Americans dependent on foreign trade for their daily livelihood would be facing a more secure future.

The hot war threat in Indo-China is a crucial issue today and Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles know just how serious it is. But even this issue does not outweigh the potential good that can come from an enlightened trade program by the United States. People who buy and sell goods and services—other than war materiel—learn to like each other better. They are building international friendships and keeping the people gainfully employed at home and abroad.

Congress should act now to pass the full program, which Mr. Eisenhower has spelled out so clearly.

Advertising Paradoxes

By ELMER ROESSNER
There are a number of paradoxes about advertising. One is that advertising, if it's good, doesn't cost the advertiser anything. If $1 spent for advertising creates sales that increase profits $1.01 or more, the advertising hasn't "cost."

Another is that advertising, if it's good, may not cost the purchaser anything, either. When advertising creates mass sales it makes mass production possible and mass production can lower costs and hence selling price.

There is a third paradox about advertising that is not quite so generally understood. It can often defy the law of diminishing returns.

of the XYZ Iron Biglet Co. It puts $30,000 a year into advertising and sells $1,000,000 worth of biglets, producing a net profit of $100,000. Advertising investment is 3 per cent of sales, about the same as for competitors.

The management is eager to increase profits and has its advertising agency conduct a market survey. The survey shows that to increase sales, the company will have to enter new markets, where competition is more intense, and will have to advertise more extensively in its present market. To add another $1,000,000 in sales, the agency estimates, will require an additional outlay of $70,000 in advertising.

The management's first reaction is to scream. Advertising costs will shoot from 3 to 7 per cent of sales; stockholders will complain; competitors will laugh at them.

The second sober reaction is to tell the agency to go ahead. While the investment for advertising, in ratio to sales, will more than double, the added $1,000,000 in sales will increase net profits by at least $60,000 (not $30,000 as it seems at first glance—figure it out!). The increase may be even greater because only a few of the overhead charges will rise with sales volume.

PEOPLE SLEEPING WARMER, BLANKET FIGURES INDICATE
Six per cent more civilian bed blankets were produced in 1953, compared with 1952, the Wool Bureau calculates. Production of military blankets declined 8 per cent. All of this used an agree-gate of 87,000,000 linear yards of blanketing, enough for 31,000,000 bed blankets and almost 17,000,000 crib blankets.

All-wool blankets accounted for 21 per cent of the total civilian bed blankets; part wool, 38 per cent, and cotton, 41 per cent.

FOR GLIMPSE OF ROME, THE GLITTER OF ROME—Merchants seeking colorful backgrounds for displays of imported goods may get exactly what they want by asking travel bureaus and consulates.

Almost all countries produce colorful posters intended to encourage travel and their travel bureaus and consulates are eager to have them displayed where they will be seen. There is rarely any charge for them.

NEW YORK TELLS STORIES: "BE NICE TO CUSTOMERS!"
It could be that visitors going into New York shops in the future will be warmly greeted, their wants given the utmost attention and their opinions regarded with the greatest respect.

The New York State Department of Commerce has published a 24-page booklet for merchants in the state. It is entitled "Customer Relations," and it outlines in detail how to make customers feel like queens or kings. There are sections on what kind of treatment customers want, how sales are lost, how to employ suggestion selling, how to close sales, the importance of a liberal return policy, and how to train employees.

SALES NOT MADE UNTIL CUSTOMER KEEPS THE ITEM
Speaking of returns, the Joan Newsletter points out that one of the greatest causes is the failure of salespersons to sell satisfactorily.

If a salesperson assures a customer that her selection is correct and that the article will give her lasting satisfaction, the shopper will be less likely to return it for a refund.

Another significant cause is salesperson's desperation. When they see a sale slipping away, many will urge shoppers to "take it home and try it." With that invitation, all too often a customer takes something she doesn't want and returns it later.

The cost of one return can wipe out the profit on two sales.

Doctors Prefer To Treat Women

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) Sidewalk scowls by a pavement Plato: Most doctors prefer to treat women rather than men not because women are more attractive but because they are more sensible—at least about their ailments.

A woman accepts illness as part of life, but a man takes his health for granted, and it hurts his pride if something goes wrong with him. He is as surprised as if his fist had doubled in size of its own volition and hit him in the face. He feels his body has betrayed him on purpose.

"Women are willing to wait until tomorrow to be cured," said one doctor. "But men always want to be cured yesterday." Here's a good tip if you have to spend a siege in a hospital: Try to get put into a semi-private room in which the other patient is a sick man or a physician. The nurses will be spending much more time pampering him; they can't very well turn you down when you ask for a drink of water.

The magazine ads offer feature showing how a young man wins his girl's heart merely by switching to a particular brand of toothpaste. This is fine as far as it goes, but it is only half the picture. How about the fellow who wants to get rid of a girl and doesn't know how? Can't they develop a toothpaste so repulsive that all he would have to do is brush his teeth with it once, and she would drop him of her own accord? There should be a big market today for a product like that.

so small it didn't even have a draft board.

Wives are so inconsistent. They will pat a dog on the head and praise him because he acts almost human, but, on the other hand, if their husband shows the least sign of acting like a gay old dog all he runs into is criticism. Will we never get rid of the double standard?

Scientists have discovered that carefree-looking bums aren't carefree at all, but are actually worried and unhappy. It turns out that the secret of keeping your mind off work is to stay on the job—and think of something else. It is heartening to see how science is steadily finding out things the ordinary man knew all along.

Everything depends on how you look at it. A robin sees no reason why it shouldn't sing or build its nest in a cemetery. But the average grownup would be outraged if he caught a small boy squatting by a grave and practicing on a saxophone. Why are birds and children so much less pompous than big live people? Dead people aren't the least bit pompous. Just lonely.

Why is it when you ask your friends if they have read any good books lately, none ever answers, "Yes, the Bible." Yet it is still a best seller.

The best way for a dumb man to get ahead in a hurry is to marry a smart woman.

Money never buys everything in life, but isn't it amazing how many things you can rent with it? A hermit? We know has just heard about the hydrogen bomb, and we rather treasure his shocked comment on it: "Anybody who would build a thing like that must be crazy. Don't they know they're playing with dynamite?"

Final Six Weeks Is Hectic Period In State Campaigns

By LYNN NISBET
LAGGING A small group of folks were discussing the political campaign, particularly the race for the United States Senate. One fellow quipped that Kerr Scott had set the pace in the walkathon between Kinston and Hargett's Cross Roads in Lenoir county some weeks ago. "If it is a race at all," complained this man, "it is walking race. There ain't nobody running."

Another fellow said that complaints about the campaign not speeding up were coming mostly from people who wanted to make money out of it, either for personal work or for printing or some other legitimate purpose. He added that it would be very unusual for a statewide campaign to get in high gear before April, and that prospect of real speed before the middle of the month is unlikely.

Experienced campaigners have learned that the final six weeks, after county and local candidates have filed, is the hectic period. The fact is that headquarters staffs of the leading senatorial candidates—Lennon and Scott—are devoting more time and energy to gathering material and laying plans for vigorous effort during the end-of-period than to front page activities now.

EFFECTIVE—Each camp got in effective licks last week. The Lennon exposition of the highway situation in and around the Scott farm, supported by facts and figures, scored for his benefit. Scott's demand for the Federal government to follow the example set by his administration in requiring banks to pay interest on deposits of public moneys added several points to his credit in political talk around the state.

EXAGGERATED—Both incidents were blown up to look bigger than they really are, just like the pictures of the candidates appearing around the headquarters and in other places throughout the state. The factual statements about prices of land and amount of interest collected are provable from official records.

What the statements did not include was that the money deposited in banks and on which the State collected several million dollars interest was mostly the proceeds of bond issues on which the State was paying approximately the same interest rate as it collected; or that the 39 acres for which Scott collected over $12,000 was highly improved land, while the 400-acre area he is said to have bought with the money was a run-down farm.

Further charges and claims may be expected and as the campaign progresses into the strenuous period the answer may be forth-coming. It is hardly likely that some of the matters can be ignored.

UNEMPLOYMENT—Reports from the furniture and textile centers in the Piedmont are that part time employment rather than technical unemployment is the major problem. Many plants are running four days a week instead of six, or on straight 40-hour basis without overtime or double shifts. While that does not materially affect the labor statistics since all the workers are listed as "employed" it does reduce take home payroll pay roll of the people by 25 per cent to 50 per cent.

Two humorous stories are going the rounds, illustrating the short time work and the attitude of the people toward it. Around Salisbury, where the radio programs and newspaper advertising make frequent use of the slogan: "Snap back with Stanback," the street loungers who remember the depression of the 30's have adapted it to "snap back to fatback."

A better story is that of the man who worked the 4 to 11 shift and usually slept late in the morning. He work up one day to find the children washing behind their ears and putting on their best clothes. "What's the idea?" he demanded. "What are you kids dressing up for?" The little folks explained they were getting ready for Sunday school. "What all you kids," asked the old man. "This is Friday and there is no Sunday school today." Their reply: "Well, daddy, we woke up and we didn't hear any whistles, so we thought it was Sunday." In more serious vein, the business men in the industrial centers are genuinely concerned about the fall-off in payrolls and the scarcity of spending money due to shorter hours and part time work, which is not reflected in bureau of labor statistics on unemployment, but is reflected in cash register and bank deposit totals.

April To Give More Clues To The Course Of Business

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—April promises to give more clues to the course of business—jobs, take-home pay, retail sales, production, building—than did March.

The big debate still goes on today after March's inconclusive performance: Is the nation having only an inventory adjustment? If so, after a little more paring of stocks, and the related Easter shopping season, merchants should start ordering again and the industrial trend will be back to higher ground.

Retires In 1948; Now Helps Others To Plan Old Age

OMAHA (AP)—An ex-university president is ready to help you face retirement. His correspondence course is called "planned maturity."

When Rowland Haynes retired as president of the University of Omaha in 1948, he wasn't sure what he would do.

"I never was much good at fishing," he admitted.

But Haynes, now 75 and a widower living with a son-in-law and daughter here, found happiness. In six years, in addition to doing a little teaching "for relaxation," he planned his course in what he calls "super adult education."

"Someone has said that retirement is about the severest shock the human organism can sustain. But it doesn't have to be a shock if you plan ahead for it."

Returns To Comedy Seven Years Later

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Seven years ago, Wendell Corey was brought to Hollywood on the strength of his work in the stage comedy "Dream Girl." Today he's doing another comedy, but he had to go back to the stage for it.

In the darkened Baltimore Theater of downtown Los Angeles, I watched Corey, Diana Lynn, Estelle Winwood, Marshall Thompson and others rehearse "Sabrina Fair" prior to its Phoenix opening. On a nearby stage, the players went through their lines in the New York hit, which will play Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle in its road tour.

After the run-through, Corey went to lunch. He seemed happy to be returning to comedy, which had been his strong suit on the stage. Yet with one exception, he has done no comedies in the couple of dozen films he has done here. And that exception didn't draw many laughs and had best be forgotten.

"I came to Hollywood at a time when everything was grim," explained Corey. "I don't mean the business; the movie industry was still prospering then. But producers were making hard tales of crime and corruption and I fitted into the pattern."

"I was either the criminal or the lawyer. Prosecution or defense, it didn't matter. It got so that I almost felt I had passed the bar."

When he first arrived in Hollywood, he was hustled right to Arizona to do a hard Western tale with Burt Lancaster and John Hodiak, "Desert Furies." He has been hustling from picture to picture ever since with stage work, TV and radio sandwiched between.

On one occasion, he was rushed to MGM to play opposite Lana Turner in "A Life of Her Own." He escaped from the studio just as fast.

"I worked one day only," he recalled. "I didn't care for the script, and Miss Turner and I didn't care for each other. Ray Milland took over. I've never been sorry. The incident didn't seem to hurt me at MGM. I went back to do five pictures there."

Corey often takes a flier at the stage, as he is doing with the limited run of "Sabrina Fair."

MEDICAL RECORD BOSTON (AP)—Dr. William J. Brickley, Boston medical examiner, says that in 33 years on the job only 2 of more than 30,000 problem deaths he has handled still are unexplained.

Greenberg Hurls Montclair To 3-1 Win Over Pirates

Redmen Get All Runs In Big Fourth Inning

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Editor

Little Irman Greenberg scattered seven hits and left 11 East Carolina baserunners stranded yesterday as Montclair (N.J.) State Teachers College defeated the Pirates 3-1. The game was played on the ECC diamond in overcast weather.

Greenberg, a small right-hander with a big curve ball, let the Pirates bother him only once. That was in the seventh frame when Cecil Heath reached base on a fielder's choice and then rode home on a three-base hit by Major Hooper. Other than that, he got along without any trouble.

The little hurler was given a comfortable working margin in the fourth inning of the contest when his mates picked up their three runs. The tallies came on three hits, a walk, a fielder's choice, and a rather costly East Carolina error.

Working Margin

John Gray started the whole thing off with a line single into rightfield. Red Goldwater followed with a hot grounder to third baseman Charlie Cherry. Cherry elected to try for the force play at second but threw the ball into rightfield. Both players advanced on the play and then Ronnie Mayer walked to load up the bases.

The whole procedure was interrupted momentarily while catcher Ronnie Rubin was struck out but Greenberg then came to his own defense with a sharp single through the box to score Gray. Goldwater and Mayer came home moments later on a single by Dick Lukaski and that was the ball game.

The Pirates threatened to do some more damage in the ninth inning but Greenberg worked his way out of the danger. The Pirates put men on first and second bases with only one out before Greenberg retired Cecil Heath and Major Hooper on pop flies.

East Carolina Coach Earl Smith tried three pitchers against the Redmen. Bill Loving, the starter, gave up all three Montclair runs and was tagged with the loss. Clyde Owen and Jimmy Piner finished up.

The loss was the third of the season for the Pirates. They have won only once. Montclair now has a 2-1 record.

East Carolina will open its North State Conference schedule this afternoon with a doubleheader at High Point College. They will follow with a single game at Guilford tomorrow afternoon.

Suggs Has Eyes On First Place

CARROLLTON, Ga. (AP)—Louise Suggs, a hometown girl who is currently the smoothest performer on the women's play-for-pay golfing circuit, set her sights today on the $875 first prize money in the fourth Carrollton Women's Open tournament.

Miss Suggs occupied the favorite's role in the $2,500, 54-hole medal play event which began today at the Sunset Hills course. Challenging the top 1953 money winner and current leader on the Ladies Professional Golfers Assn. circuit were 20 professionals and 19 amateurs which formed a top-flight field.

Rated just behind the little Georgia shotmaker were professionals Patty Berg of Minneapolis and Chicago, Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., Betty Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., Betty Dodd of Tampa, Marlene Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., Betty Hicks of Palm Springs, Calif., and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

Among the top amateurs were Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, National Champion Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif.

The tournament ends Sunday.

Babe Helps Ike With Golf Game

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias helped President Eisenhower open the 1954 drive for funds against cancer last night and also gave him a few professional pointers on his golf game.

Last year the famous Babe came down with cancer herself. There was talk for a while that she never would be able to play golf again. But a few months after an operation she was belting the ball as of old, and still is.

At the White House, Babe and Mrs. Eisenhower watched as the President passed a pellet of radioactive cobalt, used in cancer research, over a Geiger counter.

That generated an impulse which was transmitted by wire to New York's Times Square, where it illuminated a 70-foot crusader's sword, symbol of the American Cancer Society.

Illumination of the sword signaled the start of the society's drive for 20 million dollars to fight the disease.

When the President's part in the ceremony was concluded, Mrs. Zaharias stepped up and told him she had prepared a long speech on the work of the society.

"But I think I'll just talk to you a little about your golf," she said. "How is your golf?"

"Well," the President laughed, "it could be better. But as long as I've got people like you to emulate, I'll be all right."

"I hope one of these days to have a game with you, and I won't be afraid to take a lot of strokes."

When the President and the First Lady entered the broadcasting room where the cancer fund ceremony was held, the Babe was grasping the pointed end of a wooden sword and was swinging as she would a golf club.

Eisenhower smiled and volunteered to send upstairs for the real thing. They settled for the improvised club, however, and the Babe proceeded to give him a few tips about his grip.

The President confided he has been having a little trouble with it, and before he was through he had the sword in hands, demonstrating just what he meant.

Mrs. Zaharias showed him how to correct the trouble, and the President expressed his thanks.

Angry Topping Blasts Yanks For Poor Spring Training

By ORLO ROBERTSON
AP Sports Writer

Cowowner Dan Topping let loose an angry blast yesterday at the New York Yankees, who won only eight victories in 24 games during spring training.

As the team prepared to head North from Florida, Topping charged his veteran players with overconfidence. He said:

"They think nobody can beat them. The five straight pennants have got them to thinking that way. Well, they'll have to get that idea out of the back of their heads."

The Yanks should arrive home with a better record than 8-16 because starting tomorrow in Jacksonville, they meet only minor league competition until April 9. Then they open a three-game series at Ebbets Field against their World Series cousins—the Brooklyn Dodgers.

But regardless of their performances on the homeward trek, they can't escape the fact they have been a bitter disappointment. Some of the experts say they need a take-charge guy like Joe DiMaggio. Mickey Mantle figured to be that man but so far he hasn't been able to play regularly enough.

And the showing of Whitey Ford, who won 18 games last season and figured to be the ace of the mound staff this season has been another big disappointment. He has shown little to indicate that he'll be able to take up part of the slack caused by the sale of Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals.

While blasting his veterans on one hand, Topping said he wasn't disturbed too much over the Yankees' poor spring record.

"Stengel (Manager Casey Stengel) isn't disturbed so why should I be," he said. "There are reasons why some games were lost. Casey preferred to look at young players and see what he had for the future."

Stengel got rid of eight of his youngsters yesterday, including Elston Howard, first Negro ever to don a Yankee uniform. They were sent to the minors, leaving the club with 31 players on the roster.

While the Yankees were preparing to depart from St. Petersburg, Fla., the Dodgers yesterday got big Don Newcombe—the man they figure will go a long way toward winning the National League pennant and World Series.

He allowed only six hits in seven innings as the National League champions defeated the Milwaukee Braves 8-7 before an overflow crowd of 9,287 at Mobile. He gave up two runs, one a homer by Bill Bruton.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, Philadelphia Athletics and the Cleveland Indians also received good pitching, the Redlegs from an unexpected source Corky Valentine, 24-year-old right-hander, went the route with four-hit ball as the Redlegs snapped Washington's three-game winning streak 4-3. Valentine also drove in a run with a double.

Little Bobby Shantz looked more like the Shantz of 1952 as he pitched seven scoreless innings and fanned six in the Philadelphia Athletics' 5-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Indians received shutout pitching from Early Wynn and Bob

Yanks Are Picked To Win AL Crown

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—The weakened world champion New York Yankees are ready to be taken but there doesn't appear to be any club in the American League strong enough to do it. Largely because of the failure of the other clubs to improve sufficiently and because of New York's knack of coming up with replacements year after year, the Yankees are picked to capture their sixth straight championship.

The Yankees are not as strong as last year's outfit that became the first team to win five consecutive pennants and world series. They figure to be at least 10 per cent weaker because of the loss of such key 1953 performers as Billy Martin, Vic Raschi and John Mize and the uncertain status of Mickey Mantle, the young outfield star. Mickey, slow in recovering from a double knee operation, may not see regular action until a month after the start of the season.

Usually the loss of three star players at one sitting and the prospect of playing without another for at least a month spell disaster for a club. But not the talented Yankees. Thanks to a smart winter trade and the calling up of brilliant newcomers the Yankees still retain the winning combination. They have pitching, power, speed, great defensive strength, depth and cunning.

In place of the khaki-clad Martin, the Yanks have Jerry Coleman, the returned Marine captain. In place of the departed Raschi and the retired Ewell Blackwell, they have Harry Byrd, former Philadelphia fireballer and Tom Morgan, fresh from the Army. In place of Mize, they have Eddie Robinson, who came with Byrd in the deal that sent a handful of Yankee youngsters to the Athletics last December. Until Mantle is ready to play regularly, centerfield will be handled by Irv Noren and rookie Bob Cerv. Mickey's ambidextrous power, rifle-like arm and blazing speed is certain to be missed.

The writer, who spent seven weeks with six of the eight teams this spring picks this probably order of finish:

1. New York
2. Boston
3. Cleveland
4. Chicago
5. Washington
6. Detroit
7. Baltimore
8. Philadelphia

Two home runs by rookie Joe Frazier and one each by Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst helped the St. Louis Cardinals down the Chicago White Sox 7-4.

Seven runs in the last two innings brought the Detroit Tigers over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Konno Faces Test In AAU Swim

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Dynamo Ford Konno, Ohio State's great ace from Hawaii, faces his biggest test today in his goal to score a triple in the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming Championships in Yale's pool.

Konno, 21, won the 1,500-meter grind last night with the greatest of ease. He seeks the 220-yard free-style title today, but to do so he'll have to lick Michigan's Jack Wardrop.

Wardrop, a Scot, pulled the upset of the year by defeating Konno over this distance in the NCAA meet at Syracuse, N.Y., last week. Konno, who hates the 1,500-meter grind but swam it last night to give him a crack at a triple in this meet, licked Tonatiah Gutierrez of Mexico by 15 yards, Konno swimming unopposed from Hawaii to conquer with a Big Ten title which "Topkapi" has romped from the National Collegiate "was" "Gutierrez" in 19:07.8, comparatively "how time for him."

Gutierrez followed in 19:21.6. And behind him were Bill Yozryk, Springfield College's Athletic Club, 19:48.1; Joe Robinson, New Haven Swim Club, 19:58.4; Marty Smith, New Haven S.C., 20:00.3; Charley Stagemier, Coca-Cola S.C., Cincinnati, O., 20:31.5.

ORGANIZER

DURHAM—Bill Bradley, director of State Prisons, organized wrestling at Duke University and coached the sport for five years from 1921 through 1925. His son Bill Jr. is a crack freshman football prospect at the institution.

Big Gun

GREENWOOD, S. C. (AP)—Washington outfielder Roy Sievers has been a big gun at the plate of late with 17 runs batted across in the last 10 games.

Outfielder Jim Busby's batting average has dropped 200 points to a still very good .400.

GREATEST?

DURHAM—Doug Knotts, last of four brothers from Alabama, to star for a Duke football team, may be the greatest of them all. He can play either at tackle or center and certainly will be one of the best linemen in the land next fall. The other brothers were Ernie, Jimmy and Don. All were linemen.

Battle Of Ring Champions In Gavilan-Olson Contest

Talbot Picking Gavilan To Win

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—If one may judge by everything he has heard between here and Florida, tonight's middleweight title fight at Chicago between Bob Olson and Kid Gavilan is going to have the greatest television audience in history outside the heavyweight ranks, and it might be fairly close there.

At every gathering we have been in around the baseball training camps for several weeks the question of the probable winner has eventually arisen, and a considerable number of man-to-man bets have been made in our presence, all at even money. We have not heard a supporter of the challenger, ask for odds. Those who like the Cuban-Hawk just like him, and the hell with the pounds he's giving away.

We happen to have been one of this group, dating back to well before the match was made. We gained a great deal of respect for Olson the night he beat Randy Turpin for the crown at Madison Square Garden, but simply have the feeling he lacks the class to cope with Gavilan's brilliance for 15 rounds. The Cuban figures to win by a decision.

At numerous times during Gavilan's career it has been necessary to temper one's enthusiasm for his particular form of art. He has had a disconcerting habit of fighting only when he felt like it, or not good enough to win. This has not won him his great popularity, but it has earned him a lot of money.

Tonight will be different. This is the one where the Kid figures to turn it on as he never did before, even in his bouts with Sugar Ray Robinson. He knew that nobody his size could whip Robinson. He has no such feeling about Olson. He would never have gone into Chicago, where he is perhaps least popular of all, unless he had been dead certain in his own mind that here was a man made to order for him.

By championship standards, neither of tonight's principals is a very heavy puncher. The chances of a knockout, except possibly of the technical variety, are not much. Each has long since proved his ability to take a clout on the chin, or he wouldn't be a champion in his division. Though he has shown for can beat an opponent into helplessness with his ceaseless two-fisted attack, Olson has not stunned men of Gavilan's caliber with a single blow.

CHICAGO (AP)—Two world boxing champions, Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco and Kid Gavilan of Cuba, will battle 15 rounds or less for Olson's five-month-old middleweight crown at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The nation's TV fans, except in blacked-out Chicago and a 100-mile area, will watch on NBC the favored Olson, 25, make his first title defense against welterweight champion Gavilan, 28. ABC radio will broadcast.

Starting time is 10 p.m., EST. Odds hovered around 2-1 in Olson's favor before the noon weigh-in, at which Bobo was expected to outweigh Gavilan by six pounds, 159 to 153.

This is the first bout between two reigning champions since the now-retired middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson failed to dethrone the then light heavy champ Joey Maxim in New York June 25, 1952.

The International Boxing Club, which billed the scrap as "the best fight in a last-minute rush at the box office to reach a goal of $360,000 gross from a capacity 19,400 paid.

It appeared likely the fight would lure about 17,500 paying some $20,000, sweetened by $100,000 from the TV rights.

Olson gets 35 per cent of the net gate and TV money, about a $119,000 pay day, against Gavilan's 25 per cent for around $85,000.

A torrid pace is expected in the meeting of the balding, tattooed Olson against the cocky Gavilan, who has had almost twice as many pro fights as Bobo, 115 to 60. It'll be Olson, a busy, flailing crowder, against a crafty, skinny-legged slasher.

Olson won the middleweight title vacated by Robinson when he whipped England's Randy Turpin at New York last Oct. 21. He since has had one fight, knocking out Joe Rimone at San Francisco Jan. 23 in a non-title bout.

Gavilan has held the welter title since he won a 15-round decision

Gavilan would have to abandon the 147-pound title if he defeats Olson tonight. In the last few of his seven 147-pound defenses, he had great trouble making that weight.

Olson, with a 54-6 record, has won 12 straight since his last defeat, March 13, 1952, when he was repulsed in 15 rounds in an attempt to dethrone middleweight champion Robinson.

Gavilan, who like Olson was beaten twice by Robinson, has a 98-13-4 record and last was defeated in a surprise non-title loss to Danny Womber May 1, 1953. Since then the Kid has won seven straight.

Olson lacks the punching power of Gavilan, although in a heavier class, he shades the kid in the knockout department, 27 to 26. Olson has been stopped only once, by Robinson at Philadelphia in their first meeting, Oct. 26, 1950. Gavilan never has been knocked out and only twice has been floored, by Ike Williams and Carmen Basilio.

Sam Snead Favored 'Again' In Greensboro Golf Open

By KEN ALTA
GREENSBORO (AP)—Sam Snead, despite meagre gold and glory from the winter's pro golf tour, ruled as popular favorite today as the $10,000 Greensboro Open started a three-day stand.

Dave Douglas the long thin man from Delaware whose $6,850 in PGA earnings lead this year's golfing money winners, was on hand, along with 15 others among the top 25 coin collectors. Snead doesn't rank in the top 50.

They call this Snead's tournament — and with good reason—The forty-six West Virginian has won here four times, including the inaugural in 1938.

He's played little circuit golf this year. Such little chores as playing with President Eisenhower and fishing have cut deeply into his tournament schedule. But the colorful character from the hills commanded the major portion of attention. Most of the top notchers were on hand for their final tune-up prior to the Augusta Masters next week, final winter tour event. And they all played with an eye on the scoreboard and an ear cocked in the direction of Snead's gallery for word of the progress of the blammer.

The Starmount Forest Country Club course a par 71, 6,718-yards, was somewhat water-logged after heavy rains earlier in the week. It's 600-yard seventh hole was even a more formidable test today unless you belted them like Snead. Eighteen holes today and tomorrow will see the field of about 125 reduced about in half for Sunday's 36-hole windup.

A qualifying round yesterday added 20 of 66 competing amateurs to the field. It was held at the Greensboro Country Club course to preserve the condition of Starmount.

A year ago, on the Sedgewick Club course, the 72-hole finish produced a four-way tie involving Snead, Texas Earl Stewart Jr., Art Wall, the hole-in-one ace from Pocomo Manor, Pa., and Doug Ford, the New Yorker who last year won three tournaments and finished second seven times. In the playoff Snead and Stewart shared off the others after 18 holes, with Stewart going on to win in a sudden death affair on the 19th.

All four are back again in a talented-studded field that might well produce another deadlock in a year that has seen nine different players win the 10 open tournaments to date. Weary Bobby Toski, the Massachusetts mite, who won the last two, at Baton Rouge, La., and Wilmington in March, is sitting out this one before moving on to Augusta.

Something To Smile About

Dining quietly with his wife, Dorothy, at a Hollywood supper club, Stan Hack smiles broadly when informed that he has been named to succeed Phil Cavarretta as manager of the Chicago Cubs. He says he will leave immediately for Shreveport, La., to join the club. Hack told reporters: "It will be wonderful to get back to Chicago where I spent my entire major league career as a ball player." (AP Wirephoto)

SYNOPSIS

The horse-breeding farm in Tennessee which the widowed Gale Taber and her daughters, Ravel and Julia, had tried to maintain, had run them into mounting debt. Gale had hoped that Ravel might marry John-Mark Williamson, a substantial farmer, and that her younger daughter, Julia, a nurse, might become Dr. Pete Marshall's wife. But Ravel seemed to want Marshall, while Williamson's attention centered upon Julia. In a reckless mood, Ravel joins with Sewell Albright, an old family friend, in a drinking party, an episode which lands Sewell in the hospital where Dr. Marshall and nurse Julia Taber are called upon to attend him. Ravel decides to win Williamson away from her sister, but he rudely spurns her bold advances.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

GALE TABER did her hair carefully. As a rule, three smacks with a brush and a bobby pin or two jabbed into the russet of her curls satisfied her, but this afternoon she did it over and over, not too happy with the result at last. She looked 50, she decided unhappily, and that grim milestone was still almost six years away. There was a tired look around her eyes. Her financial worries had been eased, but not solved, and there had been a fierce argument with Ravel when John-Mark argued a buyer for four mares.

"For two cents," stated Ravel grimly. "I would marry Sewell Albright myself! I could you know."

Gale's head had gone up. She had caught Ravel's eyes on her, with a hint of bafflement in them. "Do you think you could?" she had said then. "If you can—by all means do it."

"I could get him away from you—it would be easy," persisted Ravel.

"I wonder," was all her mother had said to that.

The scene had ended by Ravel's stormy dash out of the house. Gale looked over her wardrobe unhappily. Why hadn't she taken better care of her clothes? There was nothing left that was even fairly new except a blue dress to which she had lost the belt. It would have to do.

"I'm going to town. Thea, I'll be late for dinner," she said.

"You fetch me some currants then and some candied pineapple," Thea ordered. "My Christmas cake had ought to be made a month ago."

"Good gracious, I forgot Christmas. Dooley might come home. We'll have to do something festive."

"Ain't got long to do it in. Ain't much more'n two weeks."

"I'll get it right away. Give me a list."

For Sewell would have to spend Christmas in that dreary hospital. Gale thought compassionately of him as she drove the 18 miles into the city. She should have gone to see him long ago. She drove to the hospital first and went up to the fourth floor. Julia was not in the room, but a frail-looking girl with haunted brown eyes sat beside the bed with a notebook on her knee. Sewell beamed, lifted himself by the trapeze arrangement hung over the bed and held out his hands.

"last I told Dooley this morning I guessed I'd have to break my neck to get you down here. This is Mrs. Rhodes, my secretary. They let me do a little work now and then. This is Mrs. Taber, Rhody, Gale Taber."

The two women said, "How do you do?" mechanically, and Gale saw the pale girl's eyes widen and a troubled look come into them. "Sewell pushed a stack of letters across the counterpane. 'That will do today, Rhody. Dump 'em in that drawer over there. We'll take care of them tomorrow.'"

"But Mr. Albright, that Washington letter demands an immediate answer," argued Farrell.

"You answer it then. You'll know what to say. Or ask Randall to do it."

As Farrell went to the elevator, she saw Sewell's nurse coming, very neat and crisp in starched cap and apron. This was another Taber—there were three of them then. She had seen the tawny-haired girl who had come in twice while she was taking dictation, and she had been sent away both times while Sewell joked with that girl about her black eye. The younger Tabers, she had discounted as passing fancies, to be treated with avuncular indulgence by Sewell; but this older one, this Gale, was neither young nor frivolous. She was, in Farrell's opinion, a woman of a fierce argument with Ravel when John-Mark argued a buyer for four mares.

"For two cents," stated Ravel grimly. "I would marry Sewell Albright myself! I could you know."

Gale's head had gone up. She had caught Ravel's eyes on her, with a hint of bafflement in them. "Do you think you could?" she had said then. "If you can—by all means do it."

"I could get him away from you—it would be easy," persisted Ravel.

Cooking Entered As The Evidence

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Defending a suit against her husband for failing to pay installments on a set of aluminumware, Mrs. J. C. Davenport in a cross action charged food stuck to the pans.

A company representative promptly whipped out a small stove, picked up a pan and fried an egg in the courtroom. Then he removed the egg and showed the jury a pan with no egg stuck to it.

The jury ruled the company could have both the pans and the money Davenport had paid on them.

details to her mother and John-Mark. She had resented any assumption of authority by them and was outraged by her mother's temerity in selling any of the stock. To a farmer who would not appreciate them. That John-Mark had had a hand in it was an added piece of treachery in her mind.

Deepest in her was the certainty that all these recent rebuffs had a common link. There was a "conspiracy of some kind" to beat down her pride and humble her. John-Mark's casual brush-off, Gale's amazing challenge—there was a common denominator somewhere. Dooley! They were all disdaining her because of Dooley, Dooley was the undetermining factor—she had to be. What other woman could be in John-Mark's mind, at the bottom of his sudden decision to refurbish his neglected house?

She had a sudden idea for revenge, four-sided, complete.

HERE OUGHTA BE A LAW!

Junior And Bedtime Problem Simplified

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D. AP Newsfeatures

"Johnny just won't go to bed. Sometimes it's even 10 or 11 o'clock before he quiets down." Mrs. Williams sighed.

"I get him undressed by 8, but it's a drink of water, or a trip to the bathroom, or 'where is the fire engine parked?' or he is hungry."

"When he was younger he went to bed like a lamb. But this nightly ordeal is getting me down and I have tried everything to break him."

"Tried everything?" usually means mother has tried spanking and scolding and threatening. Then she has tried ignoring, but that breaks down and there are more scoldings and scenes.

Scoldings just don't work. The child loves all the commotion. To him it makes little difference whether the excitement is good or bad; he hardly distinguishes between praise and scolding. To him it's just activity, and he is the center of it. He loves it, and will keep on doing whatever brings this lovely excitement—such as getting out of bed a dozen times an evening.

If you can't get your child to bed at night, try something like this: See to it that he gets up in the morning. No long morning naps to make up for lost sleep the night before.

Insist on a nap during the day—some children get too tired to go to sleep. However the nap should be early in the afternoon so that there is time for vigorous play, outdoors if possible, in the afternoon.

An early pleasant supper with plenty of time for conversation and companionship with the whole family. Play and a continued pleasant time after supper for a short while. This play should be quiet—no roughhousing or hoisterous games.

Then a warm bath, pajamas and bed.

Now comes the rub. You put him to bed. Make sure he has had his drink and gone to the bathroom. Ask if everything is arranged for the night. Then tell him once you have left the room, he can't have anything else until morning.

Tell him he is to stay in bed. Suppose he doesn't. All right, take your chair and put it near the door of his room. The minute he shows himself at the door, pick him up quietly and put him back to bed.

Don't say one word. Don't scold, don't smile, don't talk. Be just as stupid and uninteresting as you can possibly be. He'll be surprised and do his best to get a reaction out of you. Don't let him. Don't get angry, don't laugh—no matter what he does. Put him back to bed 15 times if necessary.

If you can do it, I'll bet three nights will be enough.

Going higher 100 feet is equivalent to going north about 70 miles.

Jesus' Intercessory Prayer

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—John 17.

Lifting up His eyes to heaven, Jesus prayed: "Father, the hour is come; glorify Thy Son, that Thy Son may glorify Thee. . . I have finished the work that Thou gavest Me to do, and now, O Father, glorify Thou Me."

Jesus prayed next for His disciples, "For I have given them the words which Thou gavest Me; and they have received them, and have known surely that I came out from Thee, and they believe that Thou didst send Me."

Christ prayed for "them also which shall believe on Me through their (the disciples') word; that they may all be one, as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."

Lastly Jesus prayed that those whom His Father had given him and who would carry on His work after He was taken from them, "may behold My glory" and be with Him in the hereafter. MEMORY VERSE—John 14:13.

Jesus' Intercessory Prayer

HIS MISSION ACCOMPLISHED, JESUS PRAYS THAT HIS DISCIPLES BE WITH HIM IN HEAVEN.

Scripture—John 17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AT FIRST READING this lesson may seem a difficult one for the younger children. It can be made interesting and helpful if the children are asked if they have been taught to say prayers at bedtime, and what the subjects of these prayers are.

Do they pray for material things for themselves—a bicycle, doll carriage, other such items? Or do they ask their heavenly Father to make them more loving to those around them; that they may control their temper, cease envying those who have more than they; be more helpful to parents, teachers and playmates?

Jesus prayed first for Himself, that He had finished His work for which God had sent Him into the world, and asking His Father to glorify Him, not for Himself, but that "Thy Son may glorify Thee."

Then He asked that God would care for those whom Jesus loved upon earth, "the men which Thou gavest Me out of the world;" then for all who should believe in Him—the whole Christian world; and finally that these faithful disciples who would carry on His work when He left

"I pray for them; I pray not for the world, but for them which Thou hast given Me; for they are Thine. And all Mine are Thine, and Thine are Mine; and I am glorified in them."

Soon the Saviour would no longer be with His disciples. "While I was with them in the world, I kept them in Thy name, . . . none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the Scripture might be fulfilled."

To many this chapter of St. John is a sad one. Reading it we shrink for what is coming—for Christ's suffering—but He speaks of joy, praying that these disciples "might have My joy fulfilled in themselves," and that the Father should "keep them from evil."

"Sanctify them through Thy truth; Thy word is truth."

"Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on Me through their word; that they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in Us; that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."

This is the Lord's prayer for all of us, the millions now on earth that believe in Him, as well as for the world of His time. Have you noticed how many

Sale Of Building Annoying To Cops

DETROIT (AP)—A favorite meeting place for Detroit Communists has changed owners and philosophies. The three-story, red brick building frequented for years by various Red groups has been purchased by the A. C. Williams Memorial Missionary Baptist Church for $65,000.

The move was annoying to subversive organizations but proved even a harder blow to police, who will have to ferret out the new meeting grounds.

In its heyday as a Communist conference hall, police cars were said to vie with subversives for choice parking spaces in front. The main doors served as a backdrop for FBI movies of persons entering and leaving.

Ceremonies Planned For Ground-Breaking

Grace Free Will Baptist Church will have a ground-breaking service next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at Watauga and Spruce streets, one block west of West Greenville School. Rev. Rashie Kennedy is pastor of the church.

Members of the Mission Board of the State Convention of Free Will Baptists and members of the Central Executive Committee and Mission Board have been invited to participate in the ceremony.

The following compose the Planning Committee: N. L. Stott, chairman of the Board of Trustees; J. W. Evans and W. C. James, trustees; E. B. Tinnin, Sunday School superintendent, and Pastor Rashie Kennedy.

A church official said Grace Free Will Baptist Church has made considerable progress since it was organized and it continues to move forward. It now has a membership of about 150. Pastor Kennedy and the members have worked faithfully and diligently together as "laborers with God" to accomplish their goals.

Another church official stated that during the next several weeks the plan is to build the first unit of the church plant. The first unit is to be 40 by 100 feet, with available space for church services and Sunday School. Many of the members will assist in the building operations. The public is invited to attend the ground-breaking ceremony next Sunday.

To Hold Revival

WINTERVILLE—Revival services will begin at the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church Monday, April 5, at 7:30 p.m. The services will continue through Sunday, April 11, and the public is invited.

Rev. R. B. Crawford, pastor of the Greenville Free Will Baptist Church, will be the visiting evangelist. Rev. N. D. Beaman will lead the congregational singing. A special song service will be held each evening preceding the worship service.

Air Base Tells Washday Weather

MARGATE, England (AP)—In East Kent, which has more weather than it does climate, English housewives appreciate the fact that the U.S. Air Base at Manston is so obliging. They phone the base's meteorological station before making washday plans. Sometimes they ask how warmly they should dress their children for school.

Margate's sailing club frequently calls for information about winds and the height of waves in the Thames Estuary.

The airmen are happy to give the information, but sometimes they are puzzled. For instance, a man called recently and asked: "Will the wind be strong enough tonight to blow down my TV aerial?"

Detroit To Keep Old City Hall

DETROIT (AP)—Because it would cost about as much to tear it down as it did to build it, Detroit's old, solid stone City Hall will continue overlooking Cadillac Square, the Motor City's hub. It cost $500,000 80 years ago.

Government officials will move to a new 20-story city-county building on the river-front, but the City Plan Commission recommends that City Hall be kept and used as a reception headquarters for royalty and heroes, a parade reviewing stand, and other ceremonial events. City Council agrees.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — A fairly wide mixture of gains and losses persisted today in the stock market in moderate trading.

The list sagged around two points at the most while advances to a point were in evidence. The market was mixed at the opening, and that state of affairs carried on into the early afternoon.

Volume dwindled as prices receded and maintained a rate of about two million shares for the day. That compares with 2,270,000 shares traded yesterday in a rising market.

Aircrafts were depressed as were some motors, rails, chemicals, and electrical equipment issues. Many of these issues were reacting from their recent strength. There was little buoyancy in the list. Most sections had scattered plus signs.

Lower were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, General Electric, Du Pont, and General Motors. Higher were American Telephone, Allied Chemical, American Woolen, and Fedders-Quigan.

Approximately 140 people attended the Authors Luncheon held yesterday in connection with the annual Community Arts Festival here.

Featured speakers on the program were seven outstanding North Carolina Authors.

Sam Byrd of LaGrange, actor, author and producer who has recently returned to North Carolina as a newspaper editor, spoke briefly on the theatre, and some of the experiences of his early writing career. He will continue with his theatrical work in addition to his newspaper work, he told the audience.

Other speakers on the program included Thad Sten, Oxford poet; Elizabeth Uterback, poet and member of the East Carolina College faculty; Louise Greer, author of "Browning and America"; Martha Pingel, author; Sam Ragan, managing editor of the News and Observer; and W. Amos Abrams, editor of North Carolina Education.

Prior to the luncheon which was held in the dining hall on the East Carolina campus, an informal reception in honor of the authors was held in the Alumni-Faculty building on the college campus.

The luncheon was under the sponsorship of the literary department of the Women's Club, and Dr. Edgar Hirschberg and Dave Whitchard served as joint masters of ceremonies.

A chief topic of discussion at these meetings is "The Competencies Desirable in Teachers of Science in the Secondary School." Emphasis is being given to how these competencies may be developed in students receiving training as science teachers.

Maj. Bruce Cotten Dies In Baltimore

Major Bruce Cotten, 81, retired Army officer, died at his home in Baltimore Thursday.

He was the son of the late Col. and Mrs. Robert Cotten of Cottondale Plantation near Bruce in Pitt County.

Maj. Cotten was an alumnus of the University of North Carolina and in his will left to the University the Bruce Cotten Collection of North Carolina. The collection includes Maj. Cotten's entire library, and contains books, and materials of rare nature concerning North Carolina. It is reported to be one of the largest collections of its kind.

Mayor Discovered It Was Not A Joke

ZANESVILLE, Ohio — Mayor Sherman Johnson of Zanesville, a grocer, was convinced it was an April Fool's Day joke when the telephone rang yesterday.

A voice on the other end said: "This is radio station WHIZ. How would you like to get your name on a nationwide radio broadcast by helping stimulate the sale of butter now that support levels are changed? All you have to do is sell butter at half price tomorrow."

Deciding to play along with a gag, Johnson said he would do better than that; he would give away a pound with every $5 purchase.

Last night he heard his "promise" aired over the facilities of the National Broadcasting Co.

"Well," he sighed, "I'll keep my word."

Ayden Store Robbed Police Chief States

AYDEN—A store operated by Rev. King, Negro preacher, at 839 Venters Street, was robbed last night.

Acting Police Chief J. M. Whitehurst said the robber prized off a bar on the rear door to gain entrance. Several dollars in small change was missing from the cash register. Nothing else in the store was disturbed. Police are continuing their investigation.

HDCM Members Attend State Council Meet

More than 50 Pitt County Home Demonstration Club members attended the annual State Council meeting of Negro Home Demonstration Clubs in Raleigh last Wednesday.

Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, Pitt County Negro Home agent, made the report of the county's activities last year and its proposed projects.

The meeting had the largest attendance of its history, 2,008 club women attending.

Dr. J. W. Seabrook, president of State College at Fayetteville, principal speaker, emphasized the important part that women play in making a home a home, based on love, integrity, tenderness, industry and toil. He pointed out the triangular value and influence of the church, the home and school for reducing juvenile delinquency. He pictured as "happy days when adults might take a back seat and the children assume the leadership in church work."

Mrs. Lena Brindie, State Council president, introduced the speaker.

The Northeastern District group provided the musical program at the morning session.

Mrs. Bonnie Davis and Mrs. Estelle Nixon were in charge of the election of officers.

Mrs. Naomi B. Wilson, vice-president, presided over the afternoon session.

Excellent reports were given of 1,453 district activities of county councils. Mrs. Fannie E. Harrison reported for the Northeastern district. Mrs. Leah H. Powell for the Southeastern District, and Mrs. Lillie Perry for the Western District.

$600 Alimony For Jar Heir's Wife

LOS ANGELES — Glass jar manufacturing heir John A. Kerr's divorce decree gives him clear title to a portable barbecue set, a leather chair and a pressure cooker.

Mrs. Flora A. Kerr keeps the $50,000 North Hollywood home and gets $600 monthly support for herself and the two children. She told the court yesterday that she reconciled with Kerr not long after she filed for divorce in 1949, but that he didn't keep his promise to give up drinking for keeps, so she filed again.

Boy's Efforts To Save Pet Failed

CAMBRIDGE, Md. — When Tommy Creighton's house caught fire last night, the 12-year-old ran out and slammed the front door behind him. He remembered his pal Tubby was still inside.

Unable to re-enter the flaming living room. He ran to the rear of the one-story house and broke a bedroom window, badly cutting his fist. He was climbing into the smoke-filled room when firemen arrived and restrained him.

They found Tubby unconscious under a bed and carried the black and white spotted terrier outside.

For 30 minutes, as Tommy tearfully watched, they worked over Tubby, using artificial respiration and the department's new resuscitator.

Finally, they had to tell the youngster—Tubby was dead.

Jennie Required To Cease Smoking

ST. LOUIS — Jennie, a cigar-smoking orangutan at the St. Louis Zoo, expected her first smoke in weeks when Director George P. Vierheller returned from his vacation yesterday.

But Jennie was disappointed. Vierheller has stopped smoking. "I'm not going to be tempted by carrying cigars," he said. "Jennie will have to learn to get along without them."

Bows Head Before Eating Sandwich

FREMONT, Neb. — Nurses offered John Davis, Council Bluffs, Iowa, fruit juice and a sandwich after he gave a blood donation at Midland College.

Davis sat and bowed his head. Quickly the nurses lifted him to a cot. But he was not in a faint.

A pretheological student, he had bowed his head for momentary prayer before eating.

Picks Up Wallet; Receives Reward

NEWTON, Mass. — Scores of persons passed the frayed brown wallet that lay on the sidewalk yesterday.

They weren't going to fall for that old April Fool's gag.

But along came Donald Burke, 15, who wasn't fazed by the smile of onlookers.

The wallet contained $78.

Donald, an orphan and one of eight children, traced the wallet to a Needham resident who rewarded him with a $5 bill.

Road Chairman Works With Pick

CAMP HILL, Pa. — Borough President Norman S. Keim asked all his new committee chairmen to get a first-hand knowledge of their departments' operation.

Ed Carl, just named chairman of the Highways Committee, took the advice to heart. Yesterday he started working without pay during a week of his vacation—swinging a pick and shovel on a street construction project.

ices on the second floor, the Police Station offices on the first floor, the Utilities offices on the second and third floor.

He then estimated that the City's part for doing the job would be $2,500 so the Council voted to take part in $2,500 of the work.

Accept Street Dedication

A request from Ficklen Arthur to dedicate several streets to the City was accepted by the Council on the condition that several houses located in the streets be moved off within the next 12 months.

Should the house not be moved out the dedication acceptance would be void.

City Manager Hughes told the Council that he had talked to R. Markham, Second Division Engineer for the North Carolina Highway and Public Works Commission, and that the highway commission would pay for part of curb and gutter and all paving of Fourteenth Street from Rock Springs Drive to the City Limits.

He brought out that the Highway Commission would not pay for the entire area of curb and gutter, but just that area along the school and college property and that the City must finance curb and gutter in the other areas along the street.

Hughes said that property owners had agreed to pay for the curb and gutter along their property so that would make the city have to finance about $900 over a six month period.

The Council voted to go along with the Highway Commission and finance this portion, so the work could be done soon.

A letter from John C. Clifford was read to the City Council by Hughes. Clifford told the Council that he would have to resign from the Board of Adjustments due to his business.

The Council voted to write a letter to Clifford thanking him for his services, and they postponed nominating another man to replace him until next Thursday's meeting.

Recreation Terms Expire

Another Warren from Recreation Director Warren Carroll told the Council that two members of the Recreation Commission had terms expiring. Carroll's letter recommended re-appointing A. Tyson Bilbro, but stated that Dr. N. M. Jergensen had said that work at the College prevented his continued services if re-appointed.

The Council voted to re-appoint Bilbro and also voted to appoint Mrs. Grace Eaton, an instructor in the Physical Education Department at East Carolina College.

The Council also voted last night to invest $10,000 of Paving Contract with the First Federal Savings and Loan at an interest rate of three percent. Money for the investment came about after some bonds had recently expired.

National Guard Request

A request to contribute $50 monthly to the local National Guard unit was made by the Commanding Officer of the 690th Field Artillery Battalion of New Bern.

The council, in making his request, told the Council that Greenville's battery of the unit had made an excellent rating at last year's summer camp.

The commanding officer told the Council that the unit is financed by Federal and State funds, but this money was not enough to keep the Guard at a standard needed.

He reminded the Council that the local Armory was open to all civic clubs here for use at any time they desired free of charge and that he would certainly appreciate it if the Council could see fit to donate $50 monthly to the unit.

Wedbee told the Colonel that he thought the unit was an asset to the City, but the matter would have to be referred to the City Attorney to check the legal angle of making the contribution.

The mayor then asked Lee to check to see what are the possibilities of making the contribution during the next fiscal year.

Lee said he did not think the city could make an outright contribution

Pickup Truck Is Taken To Alaska

DETROIT — The Rev. Father John Buchanan was in the Motor City today to get a pickup truck to help build a school in Alaska.

And he'll get it for free. Since going to Alaska in 1949 the Roman Catholic priest has built four log chapels and is now well along with the school that he says eventually will cost 1½ million dollars without financial aid from the church. He gathers supplies where he can get them free. The truck is being donated.

Father Buchanan has 74,000 square miles of Alaska for his parish. It's inhabited mostly by Indians.

legally, but he would write a letter to the Attorney General on the matter.

Water Banking Up

Louis Gaylord Jr. came before the Council last night representing Home Oil Company. He explained that water banks up in the Oil Company yard at every rain and the owner of the Company thought it the city's responsibility to alleviate the matter.

Hughes told the Council that he didn't think it was the City's responsibility. He explained that the city had offered to do necessary work at fixing the matter if Home Oil would provide the material.

The Council voted to have the City do the work at preventing the banking of water there if the Oil Company would provide the material.

It was voted at last night's meeting to install a traffic light at the corner of Cotanche and Tenth Streets, but the matter of installing a light at Munford Road and North Greene Streets was deferred until next fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Action was also deferred on purchasing a validating machine for City Hall.

Suspend Teacher On Protest Meet

RUSKIN, Fla. — A 27-year-old mathematics teacher was suspended yesterday pending an investigation of charges that he punished 14 grammar school students by making them crawl on hands and knees across a hot asphalt basketball court at midday.

A. L. Vergason director of education for Hillsborough County, said Carroll E. Fogal, father of two children, who has been teaching for three years, admitted he was responsible for the punishment.

"There was never any question about whether he did it," Vergason said. "He concedes he was in the wrong. He was a good teacher and a good citizen. We deplore it."

Parents of the children charged at a protest meeting that Fogal directed four school patrol members to make the children crawl on the hot asphalt as punishment for breaking out of line after eating lunch in the school lunchroom. They said three of the children refused to crawl and were required to run around the basketball court 20 times.
