Congressional Groups Await Oppenheimer Report 'Wait-And-See' View

A Loss Impossible To Calculate

The suspension of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer by the Atomic Energy Commission because of security reasons has come as a great shock to the American people.

Were Oppenheimer a physicist of lesser calibre or a man who had been less in the midst of the development of nuclear energy, the shock would not have been as great to the American people.

But here the man who is largely credited with the development of the atomic bomb and played a major part in the development of the hydrogen bomb by this country is discharged as a security risk.

It makes a citizen ask, well, who can you trust these days?

A Positive Step For Confining Communism

If the move of the United States and Great Britain to formulate a NATO-type alliance of free nations in Asia meets with the success which NATO has had in Europe, it will be another big step toward preventing the spread of communism.

NATO has had its troubles, there is no question about that. There have been great difficulties in meeting the needed level of defenses among the nations of the alliance organization. Yet the organization, in spite of difficulties and short comings, has prevented the spread of communist control to the nations in the organization.

There has been no outbreak of open communist efforts to gain, by force or arms, control of nations in NATO as there has in the Far East. The unity among the nations has given them strength where individually, some were extremely vulnerable to communist attack from within.

If it is possible to effect such an alliance among the free nations of Asia, it should be a major step toward the prevention of the spread of communism in that area. Asia, however, will present many problems not confronted in Europe. If anything, the building of such an organization in Asia will be more difficult than it has been in Europe.

Yet, the experience which has been gained through the work of NATO will prove invaluable in seeking to build a similar organization among the free nations in Asia.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
GOD'S HANDMAID?
Do you believe statements such as this? "Sorrow is the handmaid of God, not of Satan." "Grief should be the instructor of wisdom; sorrow is knowledge."

Most of us feel pretty much the same about sorrow. It is grievous, burdensome, and something we want to avoid at all costs. This is only natural. If we welcomed trial and sorrow, we would be abnormal. Sorrow is presented to us often not as God's punishment but as something He has allowed in order that our lives may be made better. It is always hard to see this in the midst of sorrow.

Life is so much of a mystery that we cannot say that God never sends sorrow upon us. If He does not send it, He at least allows it. But the glorious fact is that out of our sorrows there sometimes grow our greatest joys. Sometimes we have to know loss before we can appreciate the value of the things we already possess. Sometimes life has to be reduced to its lowest terms before we can understand its highest possibilities.

"Sorrow is the handmaid of God, not of Satan."

National Whirligig

Reluctant To Share Secrets

WASHINGTON—Atomic experts at the Pentagon and in Capitol Hill have always been more reluctant to share nuclear secrets with Britain or other Allies than the scientists and the Presidents who authorized actual development of the A and H bombs—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman. Even today, the nonmilitary and nonpolitical groups favor greater dissemination of information now classified as confidential.

Three stubborn men were responsible for the 1948 modification of the secret Roosevelt-Churchill agreement, negotiated at Quebec in 1943, on the use of the A bomb and exchange of nuclear data. They were the late Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, then Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, then head of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy; and the late James V. Forrestal, then Secretary of Defense.

Although the trio had occupied major roles in the supposedly bipartisan conduct of World War II, they did not learn of the Quebec Pact until July of 1947, four years after it had been made.

SCRAPPING OF AGREEMENT—Although the three co-operated in forcing drastic modification, a revision which amounted to outright repeal, Vandenberg turned out to be the key figure in the change. He forced Truman and Clement R. Attlee, then Labor Prime Minister, to reluctant scrapping of the arrangement.

The Quebec agreement provided that the United States and Britain would never use the then unperfected A bomb against each other, or against a third nation without prior consultation. Since England was then our principal ally in a fierce war, and presumably always will be, this portion of the pledge did not upset Vandenberg, Hickenlooper and Forrestal so seriously as another clause.

While there are several charges against Dr. Oppenheimer, including charges that he sought to block the development of the hydrogen bomb, that his opposition slowed the development project, he has not been charged with being an agent of a foreign nation. Nevertheless, there are charges he has been closely associated with communists in the past, that he contributed to communist causes during 1940-42, and that he gave conflicting testimony to the FBI about former communist associations. Sixteen charges of subversive activities have been leveled against him, it is reported.

If nothing else, the loss of the scientific services of Dr. Oppenheimer to this nation's nuclear energy development program will be great.

If Dr. Oppenheimer has participated in subversive activities against the United States while key man in the nation's nuclear energy development program, there is no telling how much information has found its way to potential enemies of this country. Likely it is a matter which will never be answered.

The shock of the suspension of Dr. Oppenheimer on grounds that he is a security risk is bad enough.

But now the American people will have once again to hear the "I told you so" tirades of McCarthy who as usual can be expected to come up with new charges, his own theories and new spy-hunting investigations which will likely be more vicious than those of the past.

Passion Play Part Of Easter Celebration

Most Pitt Countians this week will have the opportunity to see a religious pageant they have not previously had the opportunity to see here at home.

"The Passion Play," adapted from the Oberamagau play based on the trial and crucifixion of Christ, will be presented Wednesday through Saturday nights of this week in Wright auditorium on the East Carolina College campus.

Work on the production has been in progress for the past six months, and representatives from practically all Greenville churches are taking part in the production under the sponsorship of St James Methodist Church. Members of the group have expressed the hope that "The Passion Play" can become an annual event in Greenville in connection with the celebration of the Easter season. Whether it is undertaken as an annual presentation will depend to a great extent upon the success with which it meets when presented the four evenings this week.

Those who have spent many long hours in getting the production ready for presentation here at the Easter season are to be commended for their work. It is to be hoped that the response of the public to the presentation of "The Passion Play" will equal the enthusiasm with the undertaking that has been carried out by its cast and others who have worked on the production.

The city of Manila is known as the Pearl of the Orient. Perhaps at one time it was, but today its enormous bay is still cluttered with the wreckage of Japanese ships sunk during the latter years of the war. Dozens of charred and corroded hulls rise out of the shallow water to form a breakwater of ghost ships for the port. The city's beautiful Dewey Boulevard, which skirts the bay past the American Embassy and Manila's best hotels, is no longer the envy of Asiatic cities. During the war the Japanese uprooted its lines of shade trees and converted portions of the boulevard itself into air strips for fighter planes. It was reconstructed shortly after the war, but the trees are gone and few of the impressive water front mansions endured the American bombardments of 1945. Today it is difficult to imagine the boulevard of fifteen years ago. Modern apartment buildings have been erected on the old residential sites. Dance halls and snack bars have mushroomed in profusion along the water front, and Manila's elite turned to the hills behind the city to build their new homes.

In the course of General MacArthur's "return" in 1945, approximately half of the city was destroyed. Public buildings, bridges, business property, homes and streets were gutted. During my two years assignment numerous Filipinos commented to me on the expert marksmanship of the American bombardiers during the liberation. "You know, it was amazing a sly grin or a wink" "how they were able to bomb from such a height without hitting any of the property belonging to General MacArthur!"

Perhaps the most unfortunate loss of property occurred within the old "walled city." This section of Manila (known as Intramuros) was the original fortified city founded by the Spanish conquerors circa 1575. Here within the confines of high walls and a moat the Spanish colony built its homes, cathedrals and shops. For over two centuries the viceroys of Spain governed from Fort Santiago, which was the doubly fortified section of the city commanding the approach from Manila Bay. Fort Santiago was also headquarters for the American military governors of the Philippines (1898-1901), the last of these being Brigadier General Arthur MacArthur, father of Douglas MacArthur. Although metropolitan Manila through the years has spread far beyond the confines of the old walls, the original city remained until 1945 a vital part of Greater Manila. Fort Santiago was still utilized. The cathedrals and other public buildings were show spots. Unfortunately, the Japanese being driven out in 1945 chose to make their last stand within the old walls. They were bombed into submission, and the historic spot was reduced to ruins.

"If I am correct in this analysis, the co-called recession period would be a short one," he concludes.

Business Today

Sales Relationship

By ELMER ROESSNER
It is apparent to even the smallest businessman that while sales and inventories are interrelated, the relationship is not always smooth. A drop in sales makes inventories seem to pile up a terrifying rate, while a rise in sales fails to reduce stocks evenly.

Part of this may be due to imagination. When sales lag, inventories, no matter how small, seem to tower menacingly; when sales are brisk there is always some item overstocked and another one short.

Part of the trouble results from the lag between the start of production (or placing the order) and sales. Just how this operates in durable goods is spelled out by Robert C. Swanton in the latest bulletin of the National Association of Purchasing Agents. What happens in durables parallels what happens in soft goods and what happens in manufacturing is much the same as what happens in retailing.

"Let's assume a manufacturer making a gadget," Mr. Swanton writes. "His sales program has been 100,000 units per month and production and procurement are geared to that figure. "Production lead time is three months that is, from the time they start cutting metal until they have finished goods in the warehouse, they have 300,000 in various stages of process. Protecting that production program is two months' supply of unworked material, enough to start 200,000 more. Back of that, purchasing has committed for 90 days of future coverage.

"Then sales back up; sales says cut 10 per cent. The impact on purchasing is immediately much more than 10 per cent. It is 80 per cent because it has 10 per cent more than it needs in finished goods, 30 per cent more in work-in-process, 20 per cent more in unworked inventory, and 20 per cent more committed."

That means, he says, that old orders must be cancelled or deferred and new orders cut. This is what has been happening in the last seven to eight months, Mr. Swanton says, as company by company and industry by industry made adjustments.

"If I am correct in this analysis, the co-called recession period would be a short one," he concludes.

Government thwarting discount phones
The General Service Administration, which buys most of the non-military supplies for the government, recently announced that it would consider bidders' offers of 20-day discounts.

On the face of it, this looked like a bit of bureaucratic standardization. But there was more to it than that, E. F. Mansure, the administrator, disclosed.

Some bidders, knowing that it is almost impossible for the government to make payments on time have been offering very large discounts if the government paid their bills in 10 and sometimes 15 days. The size of their discounts often made their net price the lowest, but when the government got around to paying the bill between the sixteenth and twentieth day, the discount did not apply and the actual price was often very high.

So now all discounts must be for 20-day payments. The government can take advantage of that period, Mr. Mansure said, adding that the GSA was setting a record for payments within that time.

Frozen juice sales rise on lower prices
While a lot of industries have been having trouble in coming close to last year's sales records, concentrators of frozen orange juice have been selling more than ever. The Department of Agriculture reports that sales in February were the equivalent of 5,500,000 gallons, a million gallons more than was sold in any months last year and a new all-time high. One of the reasons is the fact that prices averaged the lowest yet reported, being 14.6 cents per 6 ounce cans.

Vodka sales almost double in a year
Sales of vodka rose 84.4 per cent last year while the sales of all other alcoholic beverages rose only 6.5 per cent, Ed Dreier, president of Brandy Distiller Corp. reports. The rise has been most marked in California, where it is cutting into gin sales.

One of the reasons for the increase is the fact that vodka is said to be completely odorless.

Signs Of Age Catching 'Tracy'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Something has happened in our house that I am not sure I can face.

I would just as soon not talk about it at all—but it seems that there is nothing else I want to talk about more.

"The basic thing about you, Rover," said my wife, Frances, "is that you are a coward."

"I still can't figure how you went through the second World War without catching jaundice, which I understand turns people yellow. You were born yellow, and any physician who looked at you and didn't mistake you for a lemon was either near-sighted or color blind."

Then she sighed, and I thought, added very graciously: "I don't doubt you have physical courage, whatever that is, and I suppose that is what you must have demonstrated on the battlefield, or they wouldn't have let you stay overseas with the soldiers for four years."

"The thing about you, Rover," my wife continued, "is that you are a moral coward. You may be able to face a bullet and die without fear (Boyle's note: She is mistaking me with a captain I introduced her to who once won the Medal of Honor in a few moments of abandon), but you can't face tomorrow. Anybody who loves yesterday as much as you do has to be a coward."

I suppose she's right. A woman who puts up with the same man 16 1/2 years in a row probably has cased him pretty well. But to get back to what happened in our house, it's the baby. Eight months ago a surprising thing interrupted our lives.

A slinky black limousine pulled up to our door, from which alighted a five-week old baby girl, clad naturally—in a small and unobtrusive milk diaper. We are unable to prove this because my wife who, unfortunately for her, is allergic to milk, discarded the damp diaper and surrounded the infant with a local towel.

We came to love the baby, and she gained weight—a sure sign of prosperity, even among the young—and bowed her head and took the name of Margaret Tracy Ann Kathleen Boyle. Or, as we call her, Tracy.

Well, you know how this life is. You, I suppose, had planned it, and suddenly, a stranger comes in and changes the whole tempo. Folks are different. I know a guy who dreams that some morning he will wake up and find that somebody has put a slot machine in his rumpled room. But I would just as soon wake up and find that an orphan's home had moved into my house.

I love babies—fat, crinkly babies, and I like 'em wet or dry. I love them when they laugh, and I love them when they cry. I think any grownup must really love a baby more when it cries than when it laughs, because he can help it more—and that's what grownups are probably for.

Now this time for sure I'll get a feel for what has happened in our house and made me feel so blue. Tracy, that infantile betrayer, will soon be 10 months old, and the signs of decrepitude accompany everything she does.

She came to us as a baby, and now she is turning into a human being. This was not part of the bargain, and she has broken the rules. It is so much more difficult to love a human being than a baby.

"Says Frances, "Quit yearning for yesterday. Tracy has to grow up. It's her duty. Don't you want her to walk and talk like normal people?"

Oh, no, angel, not like the others. Grow feathers. Fly. . . fly. . . always fly. Daddy will catch you if you fall.

It does not believe in such investigations as instruments of private ambition or articles of terrorism. It does not, therefore, believe in the sort of investigation that has been conducted by the junior Senator from Wisconsin. It believes in sensible and intelligent investigations. In calm and judicial investigations, in investigations honestly intended to bring out facts.

This newspaper believes that the press has the right and duty to print all the news that's fit to print; to interpret and explain that news to the best of its ability; to advocate or oppose public policies, and to criticize public officials, whether they are in the executive branch of the government or in the legislative branch. It believes the press at this moment has a particular right and duty to report fully and criticize intelligently the gyrations of the junior Senator from Wisconsin.

It believes that the massive drive against the junior Senator from Wisconsin has come from communism's worst enemies—those who hate tyranny in all its forms, those who believe in saying what they think and letting others do the same, those who stand for man's liberty and dignity everywhere and under all circumstances.

We believe in investigating. That is the business of a newspaper and the pride and glory of a self-respecting newspaper man. Let the junior Senator call the responsible press of this country to the stand. They will welcome his questions—they have nothing to fear. But let him realize, also, that they will have questions to ask him, and that some of those questions he may well fear.

Halifax Day And North Carolina's Debt To The Past

By LYNN NISBET
HALIFAX—April 12, 1776, is one of the dates on the North Carolina flag, commemorating the adoption of the resolutions at Halifax which preceded the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia. Despite the significance of the incident and the importance of the date, April 12 this year was just another Monday except in Halifax county, and perhaps some nearby communities.

Programs were given in Halifax county schools and street sales of Halifax Tags to provide funds for restoring the old Halifax county jail were promoted by several groups.

The other date on the flag, May 20, 1775, commemorates the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Historians have debated for years the authority of this date and there has been some confusion with another meeting on May 31. Coming more than a year before the Philadelphia Declaration and almost a year before the Halifax convention, the Mecklenburg incident is significant. However, it was mainly local, whereas the Halifax meeting was an authorized state-wide convention of accredited delegates.

When the State Flag was formally adopted by the General Assembly in 1885 the legislators regarded these two dates as most important in State history, and gave them equal status.

In recent years observance has lagged and there has been some criticism that North Carolina public schools pay more attention to the birthday of Abraham Lincoln than to the dates on the flag or the dates upon which this State entered the Union or adopted its own constitution. Many people believe that so far as North Carolina is concerned May 20, 1775, and April 12, 1776, are just as significant as July 4, 1776.

DEBT TO PAST—The major scale restoration project at Tryon's Palace in New Bern; the movement to preserve and restore the Halifax jail; efforts to preserve the Aycock birthplace, and pleas for more attention to the house in which Andrew Johnson was born, are segments of revival of interest in past history—of which Williamsburg is the outstanding instance.

Numerous other historic restorations and the hundreds of markers along the highways further attest recognition that this generation owes something to the past.

In that connection an editorial in the Sanford Herald is apropos. The editor quotes with approval a speech by Mrs. Ernest Ives commending the English people for recognizing their debt to the past. Mrs. Ives, who is better known as the sister of Adlai Stevenson, suggests that living up to a heritage is as important as establishing the succeeding generation; the two are equal parts of one way of life.

Mrs. Ives and Editor Bob Mason were talking mostly about the preservation of antiquities as physical mementoes of economic and social progress. But they extended the thinking into the realm of ideas. Locally the House in the Horseshoe and an old cotton press on a Lee county farm are objects of attention by historians around Carthage and Sanford. Preservation of these symbols is ardently tied in with reservation of the pioneering spirit which built them—long with plank roads and barge routes and principles of honor in government—which is fittingly described as the "aristocracy of enterprise and vision."

The pioneers who built log houses in patches cleared from the primeval forests also built the concept of human liberty and the dignity of man.

APPROPRIATE—It seems particularly appropriate to give consideration to such matters this week, when thoughts of Christians throughout the world are focused on events of two thousand years ago, when the experiences of one person made the cross a symbol of sacrifice as the highest service, the open tomb an everlasting symbol of the freedom of the spirit.

Worth Noting

All of us naturally like to find bargains. All of us, when shopping, try to get top return for each dollar spent. And in the long-run, the surest way to achieve that is to patronize established merchants who are concerned with the future—not just today's sales.—(Industrial News Review)

Stigma Of Prison For Using Abusive Language

By REX THOMAS
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—You can be sent to prison in Alabama and wear the brand of an ex-convict the rest of your life for no more than using abusive language or driving a car without a license.

Scores of men, and women too, walk into the penitentiary each month to serve sentences of a few months or a few weeks—or, in some instances only a few days. They're checked in, given a number, fingerprinted and mugged like all other convicts even though they may have only 10 days to serve, or less. Records at Kilby prison tell the incredible story of men brought miles across the state with a debt to society of one day plus court costs which are worked out at the rate of 75 cents a day.

These short-termers are county prisoners, convicted of misdemeanors which carry hard labor sentences of a year or less. Under a 1927 law, counties can, and do, turn county prisoners over to the state rather than feed and house them. In the 1952-53 fiscal year which ended Sept. 3, Kilby imprisoned 934 county convicts. Twenty of them had 30 days or less to serve, 266 had less than 60 days, and 389 were in for less than three months. Many of the county prisoners go to prison because they can't pay court-imposed fines and costs.

When that happens, the State Prison Department must pay the costs to the county in cash, collecting from the prisoners in labor at the rate of 75 cents a day.

In counties where officials still live on the fee system, they get their share of the money paid by the state the same as they would be defendant himself paid it, in liquor law violations, sheriff or other officers or persons who give evidence for convictions get $50 for each case.

Efforts have been made to relieve the state of the heavy financial burden of housing county prisoners, but resistance has been too tough to overcome. And so luckless motorists who can't pay traffic fines still wind up in prison.

Navy Reveals Its Spending Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy disclosed today it plans to spend 15 million dollars in the year beginning July 1 in construction of facilities and additions to train naval and Marine reserve forces.

In testimony on a Navy Department appropriations bill, made public today, officials outlined a program of 13 naval air reserve projects estimated to cost $79,000; 10 naval reserve surface training projects estimated at $2,789,000, and 14 Marine Corps projects estimated at $2,420,000.

Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass), subcommittee chairman, brought out during the hearings that the total amount requested for the coming fiscal year is exactly half that for the current year.

Projects proposed for Marine Corps Reserve ground training facilities include: Columbia, S.C., $164,000 for addition to existing Naval Reserve Training Center for a special infantry company of the Marine Reserve.

Winston-Salem, N.C., $181,000, facilities for the Marines at the Naval and Marine Training Center.

Might Overlook Rules Violation

DETROIT (AP)—In the light of all the facts the Wayne County Board of Institutions is taking another look at a woman worker's suspension.

The board may have to wink at civil service rules.

In violation of the rules the woman stayed on her job until the day her baby was born. The rules require an expectant mother to go on leave of absence six months before and one month after the birth.

The woman explained she had to stay at work. Her husband had deserted her and her two other children.

Coalition Pushes Big Farm Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee appeared to be on the run today before a coalition drive to give the Agriculture Department a bigger budget than it sought.

Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn.), managing the bill for the committee, said he was doubtful if he could hold the line when the House resumes today consideration of actual money allotments.

Andersen told newsmen he would oppose all proposals to boost amounts recommended by an Appropriations subcommittee of which he is chairman. But, he added, "a lot of pressure apparently has been applied from somewhere to raise the figures."

Andersen's subcommittee, with full committee approval, held the Agriculture Department to the $698,741,813 in new cash it requested but boosted by $45,000,000 the $743,741,813 it sought in new lending authority for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In the first test of strength Monday, the committee was upset as the House voted to add $2,198,635 for research activities.

Andersen and most committee members opposed the increase, which was approved by a standing vote of 59-38, subject to a roll call vote before final passage today.

Support for the larger research funds came from Democrats and Republicans alike and the same group was ready to try for higher allotments for other activities.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Stein Drake was all set for the opening of the baseball season.

He had three television sets—one in the living room of his apartment, another in the kitchen, and a third in the bathroom.

That was before detectives Philip Smith and Arthur Shine arrived to take inventory. They claimed the sets were stolen from three homes, and told Drake they got his description from a taxi driver, his description from a taxi driver, charges at police headquarters. He missed the opening game.

Light Vote, No Upsets, Picks GOP Candidate To Oppose Sen. Douglas

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
CHICAGO (U)—Joseph T. Meek, who calls himself a "no-label, unaffiliated Republican," romped off with the Illinois GOP senatorial nomination early today in the nation's first primary of 1954.

The 50-year-old head of an organization of 40,000 Illinois merchants, Meek has said he would support most but not necessarily all of President Eisenhower's policies. But he says, too, he is neither "a Taft-Republican nor an Eisenhower-Republican."

Yesterday's balloting produced no surprises, no upsets, no real tests on national issues, and probably the lightest vote of any Illinois primary in at least 10 years.

All 25 Illinois House members were renominated, including four committee chairmen who overpowered varying degrees of competition.

In next November's Senate race, it will be Meek, a man who never has run for public office, before, against Paul H. Douglas, a first-term Democrat.

Douglas had no opponent in the Democratic primary.

Meek easily outdistanced Edward A. Hayes and left seven others in a nine-man field strung out back in the dust. Hayes is a former national commander of the American Legion.

Robert E. Chipfield, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, finally beat back the challenge of Atty. Lawrence Stuckell and took the Republican Congressional nomination in a district he has represented 16 years.

Harold H. Vide, chairman of the Un-American Affairs Committee, had an easier time of it with Robert Allison, a state representative for 20 years.

Chairman Leo Allen of the Rules Committee pushed past three opponents with no trouble, and Chairman Chauncey Reed of the Judiciary Committee took a pair of contestants into camp.

All four chairmen were expected to win. And their victories probably will result in Republican claims that they offer an endorsement of the administration program and the way it is being handled in Congress.

While the senatorial and congressional scraps commanded a measure of national interest, Illinois voters were more concerned with local races and issues. The vote in Chicago was the lowest in some 20 years.

Low vote and all, this was one primary that went off strictly according to the dope in the form sheets.

Meek was the favorite in the GOP senatorial sweepstakes on the basis of strength outside Chicago and support of 33 of the 34 state senators. Hayes was figured in second place because of popularity in Chicago and among legionnaires and veterans.

Austin L. Wyman, former chairman of the Chicago Crime Commission, and Park Livingston, former president of the Illinois University Board of Trustees, looked like the next best bets. They ran third and fourth.

With Chicago votes coming in first as usual, Hayes pulled away to a brief, thin lead. Meek overtook him when downstate returns piled in, and led by a few hundred votes three hours after the ballot counting started.

From then on, it was Meek all the way, building up a steadily increasing lead. In the end he even passed Hayes in Chicago and Cook County and headed for a victory margin of around 100,000 votes.

Even so, Hayes refused to admit defeat. "I will not concede," he said, "until the final count."

At 5 a. m. EST, with counts in from 8,452 of the state's 9,805 precincts, the standings were:
Meek 237,652, Hayes 150,310, Wyman 65,768, and Livingston 60,918.

For the state as a whole, it looked as if the final figure for the primary would be little more than 1,400,000—roughly the total in 1944. In the 1950 off-year primary, the turnout was 1,789,787. In the presidential primary two years ago it was 2,292,347. Illinois has around five million registered voters.

Meek wants cuts in taxes and in foreign economic aid, and no Americans fighting in Indochina. He considers investigations pointed at Communists, such as those of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), necessary but he says, "The technique is not always perfection."

He has said he would "enthusiastically support Mr. Eisenhower in every effort to forward basic principles of the Republican party as in the party platform."

Career Woman Is Selling Out

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
For 25 years Frances Sider has been the kind of career woman pointed to with pride by those seeking to prove that no woman needs to be chained to the home.

A pioneer designer of bathing suits and sportswear, this petite, supercharged tycoon has built up a reputation as a woman who can run a successful business with one hand and a home and family with the other.

She manages to look smart and feminine with directing corporate affairs that would produce ulcers in many big businessmen. Both home and office are tastefully decorated in soft pastels, her business and domestic staff operate efficiently, she seems the final argument to refute the old-fashioned theory that woman's place is in the home.

Yet this spring, after the most successful season in her long and brilliant business history, careerist Frances Sider suddenly announced that she is selling out, giving up her business interests, planning to stay home and be a housewife. Here's how she explains it.

"I've been knocking myself out for all these years, working early and late, trying to run a household in my spare time. It's been an exciting, demanding life. But all of a sudden I asked myself what I was getting out of it all.

"My daughter seemed to resent the time I must spend at work. My husband was disappointed when I couldn't always be with him at the social affairs necessary in his profession as a lawyer. I began to feel that I wasn't being fair to either of them. So I'm quitting. I'm going to be a full-time wife and mother . . .

"I've given the career angle a fair try—and now I wish I'd just stayed home in the first place.

"If my daughter shows signs of wanting a career, I'm going to do my best to talk her out of it. "I'm convinced the happiest women and those who give as well as get the most out of life, are the ones who make a full-time job of running a home and making their families happy."

Reign Of Terror Said Prevailing In Housing Area

CHICAGO (U)—The Chicago Housing Authority said today "a reign of terror" exists in its Trumbull Park Homes project.

The CHA asked State's Atty. John Gutknecht to "aggressively quell" the "racial disturbances." The situation at the far South Side project now "goes beyond a simple police action," the CHA said, and that Gutknecht's help was needed "to bring to justice the instigators of the trouble" there.

CHA Commissioner John C. Yancey said the Trumbull Park disorders "unquestionably are part of a planned effort."

The project, built with federal funds, has some 10,000 home units under control of the CHA, and had been occupied entirely by white families until July 1953, when the first Negro family moved in. Since then, nine other Negro families have moved into units.

A 24-hour police guard, ranging from a few foot policemen to up to 700 men, has been at the site since the first disorder last year.

Yancey predicted that after several additional Negro families move in this spring "greater masses of terrorist forces, overshadowing those in the past" will foment disorder.

John R. Fugard, CHA board chairman, said that despite the police guard and assurances of Mayor Martin Kennedy "tension has mounted at the project."

Harry Schneider, CHA director of management, said a few days ago a group of 150 men marched through the project shouting: "We want Howard."

Donald Howard, 29, his wife and two children were the first Negroes to move into Trumbull Park. Howard was charged Saturday with assault with a deadly weapon. Two youths claimed he fired a gun at them Friday night. Howard denied the charge.

During the Russian blockade of Berlin in 1948, about 64 per cent of the cargo air lifted into the city was coal.

New Pageant

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina apparently will have another pageant depicting its early history.
A charter was issued yesterday to four men of Bath to organize Colonial Bath, Inc. and promote and produce "a historical pageant or pageants." Incorporators of the charitable, non stock group were the Rev. A. C. Noe, president; John Whale, vice president; W. E. Pace, secretary; and Foye H. Mason, treasurer.

Superstitious Pair In Suicide

RICHMOND, England (U)—A couple who registered at a local hotel yesterday declined to take room 12, saying it might bring bad luck.
The superstitious pair—later identified as James McCulloch, 45, and Miss Olive Bailey, 40—were reassigned to room 12.
They were found dead in gas-filled room 12 last night, leaving behind a joint suicide note.

Quipped Blaze Burned'em Out

WEYMOUTH, England (U)—Comedian Tommy Fields and mimic Tony Fane, heading the bill at the Ritz Theater, were fishing from a pier yesterday when a fire broke out several blocks away.
"Maybe they're burning the Ritz down to get rid of us," Fields quipped.
When they showed up for last night's performance they found out the fire was indeed at the Ritz, which had in fact burned down.

CAMEO

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE
MRS. SERENA ADAMS dumped the basin of suds in the sink removed a little mirror from a chair where it had been propped erect and polished its surface with her elbow before she hung it again on the kitchen wall.

"Now," she said, "you look like somebody."

In his wheel chair Mike Adams grunted, rubbing his hand over his shaved cheeks. "Dang near peeled me! You let me do it myself and my skin wouldn't burn a week."

"Your hands shake and you let your beard grow too long. Every day I'm going to shave you after that. Now you sit still till I fetch you a clean shirt. She's not going to see you looking like a tramp."

"Sit still, she says! You ask me, she's lucky she can see me at all," he retorted, "acting the fool like she did."

"Listen now—" the old lady's voice rose—"you're not going to throw it up to her, not one time. You let me hear you even cheap it and you can sit in that chair till you rot and I wouldn't even fetch you a drink of water."

"You'd do it, too," he growled.

"How do you ever going to know why she did it if you don't ask her?"

"We ain't going to know because she don't know herself."

"She wrote it down, didn't she? It was in the paper."

"How do we know she wrote it? There was plenty around that place that was jealous of Fannie. They thought Albright favored her and liked he did. But she earned it, all these years, taking a lot off him looking after those young ones of his, doing things a wife would have done for him if he'd had one. Anybody could have written that piece on the typewriter. It didn't have any name signed to it."

He wriggled in the chair as she jerked the shirt around him. "You got my arm twisted. Lemme do it myself."

"I don't reckon there's any use trying to get a necktie on you." She sighed.

"What for? What you want to dude me all up for? I ain't going any place."

"That nurse is coming with her. I wish he wasn't sending a nurse along. I can do for her just as good as anybody and it's just one more for me to wait on."

"You mean that one that was here? Young feller. Had that girl with him?"

"Marshall his name is. The girl was one of the Tabers from down Harpeth way. Old Mort Ravel's daughter married a Taber. You remember Mort?"

"Yeah, I recall him. He had this same thing I've got. Used to see a chauffeur lift him out of his car every time he came down to the courthouse."

Serena was all primed and ready long before the ambulance backed up to the door.

A little crowd gathered as the white-coated men helped the nurse down and set several suitcases on the sidewalk. Then the stretcher came out slowly and solemnly.

Like a coffin, thought the old lady, gulping down a lump in her throat. Farrell reached a hand to her grandmother but the nurse intervened quickly, tucked it back under the blanket.

By evening of the next day Serena was satisfied that the nurse, whose name was Miss Murphy, had accepted her voluble version of Farrell's mischance, as retailed elaborately in the kitchen. Not that Miss Murphy made any comment, except to say, "Is that so?" indifferently but Serena was confident she had made some impression. While the nurse was out on her afternoon airing, the old lady decided that it was time to post Farrell on what was supposed to have happened. Not that she expected any praise for having been clever enough to think up the story, but she was naively certain that Farrell would welcome this new version of what could only be considered a foolish and sordid affair.

"Now don't you cheap," she warned when she had told it all in detail. "You thought it was mouth-wash and you haven't got any idea how that piece got written in your typewriter. You haven't told them any different over at the hospital have you?"

"I didn't tell them anything. I couldn't talk at first and when I could make sounds they wouldn't let me. But I'm not going to agree to anything like that, grandma, even to save your pride. I did take the stuff, I know what it was and I wrote the note. I was a fool I know now, but I won't act a lie. When I did it, I wanted to die. Then I saw how selfish I was. Everything just got too much for me, all at once."

"Then you changed your mind—but who needs to know that? You just keep quiet and she'll carry that story back to the hospital.

Two Liquor Stills Raided By ABC

Pitt County ABC officers destroyed two moonshine liquor stills Monday, one near Gardnersville, and the other about two miles south of Grimesland near the Blackjack road.

Both of the stills were 50 gallon steam distilleries.

Along with the still found near Gardnersville, officers destroyed 100 gallons of fermented mash, and a 50 gallon drum boiler.

The still found south of Grimesland was in operation when the officers approached, but ABC Officer J.M. Ward said a warning signal was given by an automobile horn and the operators of the still fled the site before officers could reach it.

The tractor was operated by Edward Earl James of Chestnut Street and the car was being driven by

Phillips Leads Phantoms To 10-6 Win Over Cardinals

Second Baseman Hits Two-Bagger, Triple

JACKSONVILLE—Infielder Jerry Phillips was the batting hero here yesterday as Greenville High School's Phantoms defeated Jacksonville 10-6. The game was a Northeastern Conference contest.

Phillips batted out a double and a triple and drove in two runs to lead the Phantom attack. His double came during a seventh-inning rally that put the game out of the reach of the Cardinals.

The victory evened the Phantoms' conference record for the year at 3-2. Wins have been over Washington and Jacksonville with the losses coming at the hands of Roanoke Rapids and Elizabeth City. The next conference game for the Phantoms will be Thursday when they meet Kingston's Red Devils in Guy Smith Stadium.

Early Lead
The Phantoms jumped to an early lead in yesterday's game with a single run in the first inning and two more tallies in the second but they lost their lead to a Jacksonville explosion in the third. The three-run rally of the Cardinals in the third chased Phant starter Bill Hendrix and brought in Dave Dickinson who was credited with the win.

Coach Bo Farley's squad wrapped the game up, to all intents and purposes, in the sixth inning with three runs. Dixie Hobgood started the frame by reaching first on an error. Hobgood went to second on an infield out and then stole third while Gene Hudson was being walked and stealing second. Harold Edwards struck out but Dickinson got life on an error by the shortstop. Bob Howell then banged out a single that chased the third run of the inning across.

Only Six Hits
The Phantoms got only six hits off Jacksonville's Richard Church but they were helped along considerably by loose Jacksonville play. Church gave up 12 bases on balls and his mates committed five errors behind him to keep the Phantoms in business throughout the game.

Hendrix gave up five walks and struck out three batters in the two and two-thirds innings he was in the game. Dickinson, who pitched the last six and a third innings, gave up three walks and struck out two batters.

Church, Henry, and Stephenson led the Jacksonville hitting with two hits apiece. Bob Howell got two singles for Greenville.

Grifton Rallies In Seventh For Win Over Grimesland

GRIFTON—Grifton High School's Bulldogs pulled a Frank Merrill finish here yesterday afternoon to defeat Grimesland High School, 4-3. The Bulldogs rallied twice in the last of the seventh inning after two men had been retired. The two runs came on a costly error by second baseman E. Hardee of Grimesland.

The two runners scored on a wacky bit of play in the first place. Alvis Harris, the third man to bat in the inning, started the work with a double. Worth Craft followed him to the plate and struck out but the Grimesland catcher dropped the ball and Craft was on first before the ball could be retrieved.

William Rouse then came up and hit a slow grounder to the second baseman. Both runners had been moved up with a wild pitch while Rouse was at the plate and Harris dug out for home when Rouse hit the ball. The second baseman elected to make the play at home, ignoring the force play at first, and his throw got away from the catcher. Craft then scooted home on the error.

Harris was the leading hitter for the day with a pair of singles and a double in four trips to the plate. Craft got a pair of singles. Rouse figured in the batting, also, because all four of the Grifton runs came while he was batting. "The first two runs came on a Texas League single in the third and the final two in the seventh inning on the error of the grounder."

Lennie Jackson pitched the victory that leveled the Grifton record at 3-2. Jackson struck out six and walked five for the victory.

Grifton's next game will be tomorrow afternoon with Kingston's Jays.

Phants Travel

Greenville High School's track team is in Durham today for a meet with the highly-ranked and highly-regarded Bulldogs of Durham High School.

The meet is the third of the season for the Phantoms. They have already racked up victories over Raleigh and Fayetteville of the Eastern AAA Conference. Neither of the two teams which have met the Phantoms has managed to come close to beating the Greenville team.

Durham is rated as the best in high school track circles. Last year, they dominated the State Meet in Chapel Hill and were also among the high scorers Saturday in the Duke-Durham relay at Duke University.

Gaskins Pitches Chicod Victory

CHICOD—Chicod's Jerry Gaskins pitched a two-hitter here yesterday afternoon as Coach Hoot Burke's Hornets continued to run through Pitt County Conference opposition.

Gaskins' pitching job was at the expense of Bevoir-Falkland and found up with the Hornets on the long end of an 11-1 count.

Bobby Burroughs led a 13-hit attack that backed Gaskins. The shortstop got three for four as did Archie Oakley, who plays in the outfield when he is not pitching.

Gaskins helped his own cause by banging out a homerun with one man on in the fifth inning.

Bevoir-Falkland's two hits went to Bullock and Ross. The one run turned in by the Eagles came in the fourth inning when the Hornet defense let up. Curley Mills led the Chicod defensive play which was outstanding except for the fourth inning let-up.

LaMotta On TV In Comeback Try

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—More than a year after a brutal beating by Danny Nardico sent him into retirement, former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta will be seen on television tonight in a comeback effort against Billy Kilgore of Miami.

The Bronx Bull has been made a 3-1 favorite over the unrated Kilgore in a 10-round main event which will be telecast by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

It starts at 10 p.m. EST. Nardico stopped LaMotta in Miami on New Year's Eve, 1952. The Tampa toughie knocked Jake down for the first time in his career, then beat the helpless ex-champ so badly he was unable to come out for the eighth round.

"I felt sick and washed up after that," LaMotta said. "I could have kept on fighting. I turned down some good offers to fight Nardico again and to meet Bob Olson and Randy Turpin. I didn't feel like fighting any more."

"Then my weight crawled up to 195 and I felt lousy. I went back to training and got down to 168 and began feeling great again."

"In the gym, I flattened some pretty good guys who're still fighting. That convinced me I had enough left to come back. I'm only 32 and I think I'll do all right against the middleweights and the light heavies they've got now."

LaMotta lifted the middleweight crown from Marcel Cerdan in 1949 and lost it to Sugar Ray Robinson in 1951.

Pafko Injured

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. H. C. Boehner said Andy Pafko, Milwaukee rightfielder who was beaten by a pitched ball in yesterday's baseball opener here, probably would be released from the hospital today.

The physician said x-rays were negative, indicating he suffered no fractures.

"He's in good shape and in good spirits," Dr. Boehner said. He indicated Pafko should be ready to play ball in Milwaukee against St. Louis tomorrow.

Milwaukee lost the opener to the Cincinnati Reds 9-8.

Champs Look Like Chumps In Opening Day Contests

Wandering Bobo Grets Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—When the Baltimore Orioles returned to the American League yesterday after a 52-year lapse, baseball's No. 1 nomad was on hand to greet them like long-lost cousins.

Actually Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom made his debut in an Orioles uniform a full 30 minutes before Baltimore took the field for the season's opener in Detroit.

Garrulous affable Bobo beat the Orioles to the punch with a half-hour television show called "The Knothole Gang," which will precede all Baltimore TV games.

"You know, I played for a lot of teams in the National and American Leagues," Bobo told his audience, "but I never played for Baltimore."

"You know why?" he continued. "You haven't had a big league ball team here in 52 years—or 'Ole Bobo would have made it.'"

Newsom played for eight clubs during his major league career, performing with some of them more than once. He won 211 games and lost 227.

With former major leaguer Bill Nicholson as his guest, Bobo talked with local teenage amateur players, giving them tips and words of encouragement with an occasional quip thrown in. He even did a couple of commercial stunts.

Shantz Wonders If Game Was Last

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bobby Shantz won a ball game yesterday but he's wondering today if it was his last.

The 28-year-old southpaw had to leave the game because the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox yesterday because of an acute spasm in his valuable pitching arm.

The Athletics were leading 5-2 as Shantz pitched to Boston's Billy Goodman in the top of the sixth inning. The little lefty broke a beautiful curve ball across Goodman's letters. The crowd of 16,331 cheered. But out on the mound, Shantz was doubled over.

He motioned to the dugout and Manager Eddie Joost came running out. They conferred a few seconds and Shantz, his head bowed and the picture of dejection, slowly walked to the dressing room, where trainer Jim Tadley went to work on him.

Shantz, who had his back operated on in his rookie season with the club, fractured a wrist at the height of his fabulous 1952 season, when he won 24 games and was selected the league's Most Valuable Player, and injured his arm last season, was almost in tears.

He was sidelined most of last year by the arm ailment suffered in Boston May 21. He went to see Dr. Charles Van Ronk, a retired Philadelphia physician who the Philadelphia players with arm trouble. The doctor gave him his special treatments and pronounced him fit to work again. He looked good in the early innings against the Red Sox, working with that smooth, effortless motion so familiar to the Philadelphia faithful.

But then came that pitch to Goodman. Shantz said in the dressing room he had felt some pain in the fourth inning and again when he warmed up for the sixth. Tadley finally worked the "lump" out and Shantz said he felt fine, no pain.

LOS ANGELES—Bob Albright, 212, Los Angeles, outpointed Jake Williams, 186, Los Angeles, 10.

Furgol Apologizes For Bad Conduct At Greensboro

GREENSBORO (AP) Professional golfer Marty Furgol, whose spiced language and arguments during the Greater Greensboro golf tournament resulted in a $250 fine by the Professional Golfers' Assn., has apologized to tournament officials.

Furgol was fined and ordered to apologize for his par tin rhubarb with Doug Ford and Bill Nary, fellow golfers. Furgol lost to Ford in a playoff for the championship. Ford and Nary were fined $50 each.

Furgol was fined $100 for his conduct and profane language "in front of the public and officials" at the Wilmington Azalea and the Greensboro tournaments; $100 for his conduct while Ford was putting in the fourth round at Greensboro and $50 for his remarks toward the PGA field of members. He also was placed on probation for six months. The argument at Greensboro was over a rules interpretation.

5-3 The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers tasted defeat at the hands of the Giants 4-3.

The highly rated Milwaukee Braves also were dumped in Cincinnati 9-8. The well-regarded Boston Red Sox were knocked off by the lowly Philadelphia Athletics 6-4. The high-flying St. Louis Cardinals were soundly thrashed by the Chicago Cubs 13-4. The hustling Chicago White Sox were stalemated by Cleveland 8-2. And the fighting Philadelphia Phillies were upset by the upstart Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2.

Otherwise everything went according to script. Well nearly everything. Eddie Mathews, whose 47 home runs made him king of the majors in 1953, whacked two out of the park for the Braves. Roy Campanella, the majors' run-batted-in champion last year, cracked two homers for the Dodgers. Mickey Vernon, AL batting champion, homered for Washington to beat the Yankees in a 10-inning tussle. Sal Maglie, who has made a living out of whipping the Dodger, beat 'em again. And the old St. Louis Browns, who are now the new Baltimore Orioles, lost again—absorbing a 3-0 shutout in Detroit.

Crowds totaling 236,414 turned out in generally cool, sunny weather to watch the teams get under way. It was the first time in 16 years that every club began the season simultaneously.

Home runs—clusters of them—provided the boisterous keynote to the full-scale opening. The noisiest and most dramatic four-baggers were slamed by the Giants' Willie Mays and the Senators' Vernon.

Mays, the wonder boy, lived up to his buildup, smashing a tremendous 425-foot shot into the upper seats in left center in the sixth inning to snap a 3-3 deadlock and give the Giants their triumph.

Mary Grissom relieved Maglie with the bases loaded and only one out in the seventh. He retired the side and permitted only one hit the rest of the way. Carl Erskine was the loser.

Vernon's game-winning homer came with one out and a runner on base in the last of the 10th to break a 3-3 tie. Alie Reynolds, fifth Yankee pitcher and 18th player used by Manager Casey Stengel, was the victim of the blow. President Eisenhower, who threw out the first ball, stayed right to the end.

Jim Greengrass cracked four doubles, tying a major league record, in Cincinnati's first opening-day victory since 1949. The Redlegs clouted 13 hits against four Braves' hurlers. Mathews' two home runs were solo shots.

Philadelphia's triumph over the Red Sox was dimmed by a recurrence of the arm injury to Bobby Shantz that had sidelined the little Athletics' southpaw most of the 1953 season. Shantz was ahead 5-3 when he suddenly stopped the game in the top of the sixth and complained of an aching arm. He was sent to a hospital for examination. Gus Zernial's two-run homer and ex-Yankee Bill Renna's first-inning double with the bases loaded paced Shantz to victory.

Held harmless by Bobby Roberts through seven innings, the Pirates pounced on the Philly ace and Jim Konstanty, his reliever, for four runs in the eighth to pull the game out of the fire after rookie Bob Skinner's pinch-hit single had tied the score. Hal Rice doubled to drive in the winning run.

Successive fourth-inning home runs by Wally Westlake and George Strickland opened the gates for the Indians, who staged a 15-hit assault on Billy Pierce and three relievers to gain their one-sided victory in Chicago.

Stan Hack's managerial debut was a marked success as his Cubs shelled starter Harvey Haddix and four other St. Louis hurlers for 16 hits while southpaw Paul Minner was handcuffing the rookie-sprinkled Cardinals to six safeties.

The day's largest crowd—46,994—watched Baltimore make an ignominious return to the American League after 52 years. Detroit's Steve Gromek shut them out with seven hits and fanned nine.

Toscanini Gone, Renowned Symphony's Fate Is In Doubt

By GEORGE CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP)—It was a musician's dream, but for the moment it's over.
Ever since the NBC Symphony Orchestra was formed 17 years ago for the fiery maestro Arturo Toscanini, it has been a sort of mecca for the men who make music.
Today, now that its 87-year-old guiding genius has retired, no one is sure, officially or otherwise, just what the future of America's most widely heard symphony orchestra will be.
"We just don't know yet," a National Broadcasting Co. spokesman said.
Toscanini's plans also are uncertain. For the time being, he's at his Manhattan home occupied with listening to his orchestra's recent recordings appraising their quality.

In each case, his word is law as to whether a record shall be released.
Sometime in May or June he plans to go home to Italy, just as he usually does in summer. But he hasn't said whether, as usual he'll come back in autumn. He has no plans, just now, for conducting again—anywhere.
No matter what its future, the story of the NBC Symphony, and the dynamic little man who moulded and polished it to jewel-like excellence, will remain a memorable drama in musical history.
It began in the summer of 1937, from the moment NBC announced it was bringing Toscanini, then 70, back from Europe and forming an orchestra for him. He had retired after a decade conducting the New York Philharmonic.
Right at first, NBC said, top musicians made themselves available from orchestras in Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, San Francisco and elsewhere.

"It wasn't then and never has been a matter of finding 'first desk' musicians for the orchestra," the spokesman said. "It was a matter of taking the pick among the best."
What made the orchestra a sort of paradise for players?
Several things. The pay was high. The audience was the biggest any musical organization had. Few other orchestras offered the chance for 52 weeks of concerts a year. Recordings were frequent.
But one of the strongest attractions was the opportunity of playing under Toscanini, who even then was recognized as probably the foremost conductor of the world.
Original assembling of the orchestra went on for several months. There were about two months of auditions, of culling, of shifting, selecting.

Then, with the approximately 100 chairs filled, three leading conductors, Pierre Monteux, Artur Rodzinski and William Steinberg, were brought in to put the musical machine through its first, breaking-in paces.
"An orchestra is not an orchestra until it plays together," the spokesman said. "A hundred musicians are just that—a hundred musicians—until they develop cohesiveness. Then they're an orchestra."
The preliminaries—the rehearsal concerts—went off smoothly that fall of 1937. Toscanini arrived from Milan in December. He put the organization through more trial runs, tempering, blending it.
Then on Christmas night, in NBC's Studio 8H, where the orchestra was to play so often in its 17 years, the little maestro stepped to the podium, and over the air went the first delicate notes... the strains of Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso in D Minor.
It was a new, major step in bringing fine, classical music regularly into American homes.
Through the years, there have been changes in the orchestra.

New Musicians, in a few instances, took the places of old.
Some, like violinist William Primrose, left to become noted soloists. Milton Katims, also once a violinist in the orchestra, became a conductor.
But many have stayed through the years, like first harpist Edward Vito.
What Toscanini earned has never been disclosed, but NBC says he was "the highest paid conductor per concert in the world." He scored a quarter-million-dollar Hollywood offer to appear on film.
His musicians got the best in pay usually around $200 a week, compared to less than a third of that in most other places. In addition they received recording fees, and Toscanini's records set sales peaks.
"We wanted an orchestra that was worthy of Toscanini," the spokesman said. "He evidently felt that it was or he wouldn't have stayed with it."

UN Sells Cards As Money-Raiser

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—In five successful years, selling Christmas cards has become an established means of raising money for the U.N. Children's Fund. Last year's sale set a record of about two million cards sold at a profit of roughly $95,000. This announcement spurred the fund's 26-nation executive board to okay a similar project for 1954.
Only about 25,000 cards were sold the first year, 1949.
Mrs. Nora Edmunds, in charge of the sale, already is lining up artists to illustrate the cards for next Christmas. The artists customarily donate their services.
In previous years, they have included Henri Matisse and Raoul Dufy of France, Mrs. Dagmar Starke of Denmark, George Him and Jan Lewitt of Britain (formerly of Poland) and Leon Weisgard of the United States.
The cards are nonsectarian and international. Their message is, "Season's Greetings" in English, French, Spanish, Russian and Chinese.

"It is open," Mrs. Brooks replied. "But what do you want to do this thing for? You'll regret it all your life."
The man fled. Police picked him up minutes later and held him for attempted robbery.

Brownell Knows Digging Up Commies Is Tedious Work

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell flatly opposes any attempt by Congress to pass any act outlawing the Communist party. He says it would make the job of rooting out Communists tougher.

He says he'd rather have a few strengthening changes in present laws.

The government already is working against the Communists in several ways, mainly: (1) the Smith Act, passed in 1940; (2) the Internal Security Act, passed in 1950; (3) the government employees' security program, and (4) deportation.

If the party should be outlawed tomorrow the first problem facing the government would be the constitutional one: Did Congress have the right under the Constitution to outlaw the party? Getting the answer would be long drawout.

Meanwhile, pending the outcome of a test case going all the way up to the Supreme Court, the government wouldn't try any other Communists, using up time and money that would be wasted if the Supreme Court said the law was unconstitutional.

Under this act it is unlawful to teach conspiracy to overthrow the government forcibly. In 1949 the government nailed the 11 top Communist leaders in the country on that charge.

They were convicted in October 1949 after a nine-month trial. They appealed, were turned down by the U. S. Court of Appeals, and appealed to the Supreme Court, which upheld their conviction on June 4, 1951.

The government could have prosecuted other party leaders in the meantime but first it wanted to see whether the Supreme Court thought their trial under the Smith Act was constitutional.

It did, but more than two years were used up between the time the 11 were brought to court and the time the high court gave its opinion. Once that was done the government brought batch after batch of lesser Communist officials to trial.

Brownell said 106 leaders have been indicted under the Smith Act since 1948 and 67 have been convicted so far.

Government workers' security program:

Brownell and President Eisenhower set this up in the spring of 1953 as a successor to former President Truman's government workers have been let out.

The administration has been extremely vague on how many of that number were actually Communists. But the program covers persons sympathetic to, or affiliated with, Communists, as well as simple drunks and blabbermouths.

Deportation: The administration is working to drive out of the country subversives who are here as aliens or naturalized citizens. Since January 1953, Brownell says, 200 persons with records of subversive activity or affiliation have been deported.

Internal Security Act of 1950: This was intended to make the Communist party, party members, and front groups register if, after a hearing, the party was found to be a tool of Moscow. The act was set up the Subversive Activities Control Board to hold the hearings.

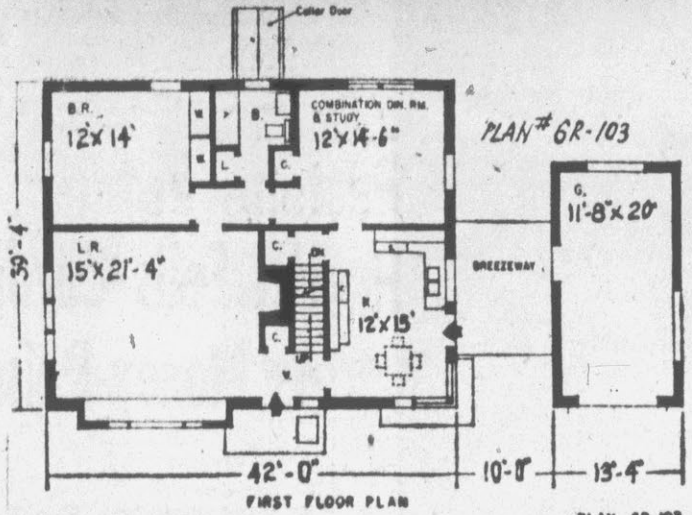

It held them for 14 months on the party itself, starting April 23, 1951, and ending July 1, 1952 after 2,981,000 words of testimony by the government and the party. The board ruled the party was a Moscow tool and ordered it to register. The party refused and went to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The court will hear the case in a few weeks. No matter how it rules, the party or the government will appeal to the Supreme Court. So a final decision is months away.

The Communist party has said neither it nor its members will register, no matter what the court decisions. If the high court upholds the act and the board and the members still don't register, they may be arrested in wholesale lots.

Blind Man Takes To Rebuilding His Own Home

SCARBOROUGH, Maine (AP)—A year ago 70-year-old Allen T. McConnell decided to take up carpentry. Since then he has remodeled his rural four-room home and currently is adding a 12 by 14 foot bedroom. The next project will be a sunporch. He is nearly totally blind.

He can distinguish only between light and shadow.

His wife, Mary, tells him when boards or studs are level — sometimes helps with the sawing. She also helps find tools her husband misplaces.

Guided by the carpenter's square, he cuts a groove along a board — then discards the square and saws along the groove. For nailing, however, he depends entirely upon touch.

Adding to McConnell's physical woes is the fact that he also is very deaf. He used to depend on lip reading but can't see to do that any more.

New Country Club Officers Elected

Kenneth Phillips, Greenville business man, last night was elected president of the Greenville Golf and Country Club at the annual stockholders meeting. Phillips succeeds Dr. Dan Wright who has been president of the club for the past year. Tom Smoot was elected vice-president of the club and Ben Harrison, J.C. Lanier, Jr. and Alex White, Jr. were elected to the board of governors of the club for three year terms. Retiring members of the Board of Governors are Ken Phillips, Walter Harrington and Lewis Tebeau. Hold-over members of the board are J.S. Ficklen, Jr., Judson Blount, Jr., Simon Moye, Julian White, E. E. Rawl Jr. and Howard Hodges Jr. Stockholders gave their approval at last night's meeting to plans for the construction of another nine holes as an addition to the present nine-hole golf course of the club. Retiring President Wright reviewed for the stockholders the club's operation for the past year, and the improvements which have been made during the year. The swimming pool and wading pool are completed, he said, and the new men's locker room which has been under construction is virtually completed. He said work is to begin immediately on the conversion of the facilities used by the men's old locker room into a lounge and locker room for women. Also approved by the stockholders was a constitutional amendment which authorized an increase in the number of stockholders in the club from 200 to 300 members.

Regrets Action On Oppenheimer

HOBBES, N. M. (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM), a member of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, says he "regrets very much the cancellation of clearance" for Dr. Robert Oppenheimer. Anderson said the wartime A-bomb director "did fine work on development of the A-bomb, but I know something of the circumstances which moved Adm. Strauss to the action taken." Anderson did not elaborate on his knowledge of circumstances of the action yesterday but said, "I still hope we can find a way so that a man of Dr. Oppenheimer's great talent can continue to serve this country."

Local Elections Dominate State Voters' Concern

By LYNN NISBET RALEIGH.—The Democratic voters of North Carolina will, on May 29, nominate a candidate for the United States Senate, for State Treasurer and for Commissioner of Insurance. The Senate nominations will be for a partial unexpired term and a full six-year term. The treasurer and insurance commissioner nominations are for the remaining two years of unexpired terms. Important as these offices are, and among them the senatorial contest is the only one stirring any popular interest, the fact is the voters generally are far more concerned over district and county offices. There are seven candidates for the full six-year senatorial term, only four of them also seeking the short term of approximately 40 days. It is commonly conceded that the contest is actually only between incumbent senator Alton Lennon and ex-Governor Kerr Scott for both the short and full term. In the 12 congressional districts there are contests in six, with betting odds favoring incumbents throughout. In 12 of the 21 judicial districts where terms of judges run out there are contests in four; and in 21 solicitor districts there are contests in 10. These state and district races, however, are less significant in evaluating political interest than the legislative contests for 50 seats in the State Senate and 120 in the House of Representatives; the 100 sheriffs and equal number of clerks of court, and an aggregate of some 300 county commissioners and an undetermined number of local recorder judges, solicitors, board of education members and what have you on the local level. The fact is that Tarheel voters are interested in representation at Washington and Raleigh, but by and large they are a lot more concerned about who will be in the county courthouse or the city hall.

Partial Control Of Painful Gout May Lie Ahead

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Reporter CHICAGO (AP)—The way may have been opened up towards eventual complete control of gout—one of mankind's oldest and peakiest afflictions—the American College of Physicians (ACP) was told today.

Dr. Elmer C. Bartels of Boston's Lahey Clinic said the possibility is suggested by promising results with a relatively new drug called "Benemid" although he did not say that that particular substance would be the final answer. He told the ACP's annual meeting that there still are "many problems" associated with the use of the drug—chief of which is the fact that sometimes a patient may suffer recurring attacks of his gout during periods up to nine months after Benemid treatment is begun. But he declared that "most cases" are eventually brought under control by the substance, sometimes in combination with other medicines.

The clear implication of his report was that the final answer to complete and relatively easy control of gout might come from improvements in the use of the present drug, or from the development of a better one having similar action. The drug works by drawing troublesome uric acid from the gouty tissues.

Bartels told the meeting: "Those interested in gout have been waiting patiently for the discovery of a substance that would accomplish for gout what insulin does so brilliantly for diabetes—that is, effectively control gout regardless of the severity of the disease. "Fortunately, this era appears to be at hand with the discovery of Benemid, and so a bright new chapter on gout is now being heralded."

Describing the Lahey Clinic's experience with the drug—first used against gout several years ago by a group of Chicago doctors—Dr. Bartels said 42 patients have now received it for periods ranging from 12 to 30 months and of these 39 are considered to have obtained "satisfactory" results. Many of the cases were severe ones which had not responded to any previous treatment, he said. On the other side of the ledger, Bartels said, some other people had to discontinue taking the drug because of "undesirable side effects."

Proved Innocence With Blowtorch

BOSTON (AP)—Chipper, 71-year-old Herbert Page told the Municipal Court judge he was innocent of a charge of stealing $2,000 and proved it—with a blowtorch. Herbert Monahan, 51, of Lexington, said Page induced him to part with the money to help in experiments to produce a "noninflammable" paint. Monahan told Judge Frank W. Tomasello he just didn't believe Page had such a paint. In answer, Page trained a blowtorch on pieces of plaster smeared with his "special" paint. There was much smoke—but no flame. "There you are your honor," coughed Page as spectators headed for the exits. "Just like I said, the paint doesn't burn." The judge acquitted him.

Selling Track

CURRITUCK, N. C. (AP)—All property of the Mowock dog racing track near here will be sold at auction April 29 in accordance with an order signed by Superior Court Judge Malcolm Paul.

Currituck County Sheriff L. L. Dozier said yesterday all property but not the real estate will be sold. Judge Paul's order gave the sheriff one year to sell the property and the land.

Dozier said about $250,000 worth of equipment including pari-mutuel gambling machines will be sold.

The North Carolina Supreme Court recently ruled that betting in the state is unconstitutional.

Tenor Will Stay And 'Finish' Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tenor David Poleri once again will assume the role of Don Jose in the opera "Carmen" to complete some unfinished business: the stabbing of soprano Gloria Lane.

The pair appeared together in a New York City Opera Company production of the opera last Nov. 19 in Chicago.

And Poleri 28, in what the company called an "emotional outburst," stalked off the stage, leaving Miss Lane, as the heroine, unscathed. She improvised a natural death to conclude the performance.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company said Poleri "would stay around to finish the job this time" when the pair do Carmen here April 29.

Garcia said Japan's 400 million dollar offer would serve as an initial payment that would eventually produce $1,400,000,000 in reparations.

Garcia said formal reparations talks would start immediately. Garcia said Japan's reparations offer included cash, capital goods and services.

Some Germs Dangerous Whether Dead Or Alive

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Reporter ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Some germs are dangerous dead or alive and healthy glands seem to be a good defense against their double punch new experiments reported today indicate.

There are germs which are dangerous while alive. But they also contain a hidden poison inside them. This poison is released when the body kills and breaks up the germs.

How you react in both battles may well depend partly upon having healthy adrenal glands, glands which are neither too lazy nor too active, the new studies suggest. This could explain different reactions to infections because of age health conditions.

The new studies made in mice are described to the Federation American Societies for Experimental Biology by Doctors R.D.G. Botham and Thomas F. Sherry of the University of Utah School of Medicine, Salt Lake City.

The adrenal glands, located atop the kidneys, produce a potent hormone, cortisone. Resistance to some infections is reduced by giving certain adrenal extracts. But the injections can increase resistance to various kinds of poisons.

The Utah scientists took out the adrenal glands of mice. These mice became 1,000 times more susceptible to an injection of a poison producing strain of staphylococcus germs, the type which cause boils and other ailments.

The mice reacted badly even when injected with dead germs. The germs, dead or alive, are broken up by the spleen, and their poison is released. The mice with no adrenal glands "actual commit suicide by destroying the bacteria and thereby liberating this material."

Mice with no adrenal glands did survive when given enough of the hormone. Too much was bad in fighting germs. Too little was bad in combating the poison of the destroyed germs.

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON (AP)—Except for two things the investigation of atomic scientist Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer—to determine whether he's loyal or a security risk—might have gone on quietly to the end.

New York newspapers heard of the investigation and broke the story of his suspension. And Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who a week ago hinted about dirty work on the hydrogen bomb, has jumped into the case with both feet.

It won't be quiet now. Before the basic, publicly known details get lost in a gush of words, here are the veins leading up to now.

April 27, 1953. President Eisenhower issued his security program covering government employees. Even though an employee has been investigated before, he must be re-investigated if there's substantial derogatory information about him.

There was such information about Oppenheimer, a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and head of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton. During the war he was chief of the scientists who developed the atom bomb. Since then he has been an AEC adviser.

June 5, 1953. The AEC renewed its contract with Oppenheimer.

July 3, 1953. Lewis Strauss became AEC chairman, knew of information about Oppenheimer.

July 7, 1953. Strauss decided Oppenheimer no longer could keep secret documents investigation was begun.

November 1953. Justice Department told President Eisenhower about Oppenheimer. President said "blank wall" must be kept between him and secrets until investigation cleared him or ousted him.

Dec. 23, 1953. Maj. Gen. K. D. Nichols, AEC's general manager, wrote Oppenheimer that, because of material in his file, he was being suspended as security risk. Nichols said Oppenheimer could get a hearing if he wished.

Nichols cited 16 charges, on most of which Oppenheimer had been investigated before. Most of them accused him of communist affiliations and friendships before and during war. Oppenheimer had previously acknowledged and explained most of the charges. He had not been dismissed.

Nichols added one that seems new: that Oppenheimer deliberately tried to delay this country's development of the hydrogen bomb.

March 4, 1954. Oppenheimer wrote Nichols saying he wanted a hearing to try to clear himself. Oppenheimer went back over explanation of the old charges, denied he had ever been a Communist party member or delayed hydrogen bomb development.

April 6, 1954. McCarthy replied on television to criticism of his tactics by Edward R. Murrow on March 9 TV show. With no visible connection to Murrow, McCarthy asked: "If there were no Communists in our government, why did we delay 18 months our research on the hydrogen bomb?"

April 7, 1954. Eisenhower, asked about McCarthy statement, said he knew of no delay in H-bomb program. Former President Truman said there had been no delay.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole, chairman of Congress' Atomic Energy Committee, said there had been discussion whether it was wise to rush into full-scale work for perhaps three months, between September 1949 when the Russians tested their atomic bomb and Jan. 31, 1950, when Truman ordered go-ahead on H-bomb. Cole said he saw nothing sinister in this debate involving AEC members, scientific advisers and the National Security Council.

April 12, 1954. Panel set up by AEC began considering Oppenheimer's case.

April 13, 1954. The story of Oppenheimer's investigation, under way since last summer, broke in New York newspapers.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a member, said McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee considered the Oppenheimer case as long ago as May 1953, but was given some Bids will be received next week on a $600,000 education building at the Durham College.

Prison Inmates' Offer Declined

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP)—The state of Arizona won't accept the offer of 500 state prison inmates to pay the salary of Ted O. Mullen, acting warden.

As a result, Mullen plans to return to his higher paying job in the Department of Liquor Licenses and Control.

The convicts made the offer yesterday in a petition to Gov. Howard Pyle after the Legislature refused to raise the warden's salary from $4,800 to $7,200 a year.

"We are willing to deduct from our inmate fund the balance to make up Mr. Mullen's salary," the petition stated.

Atty. Gen. Ross Jones said acceptance of the offer would be illegal.

Talking Oil Can To Promote Sale

CHICAGO (AP)—Standard Oil Co. of Indiana brought out a talking oil can today to help promote the sale of a new line of motor oils.

The station attendant merely snaps a button on the top of an oil can and hands it to a customer while he services the car.

The oil can starts plugging the new oils, explaining their purposes and accomplishments in tests.

The talking can plays a tiny record and is operated on flashlight batteries.

Astor Building Is Up For Sale

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—The Mackinac Island Park Commission is selling the Clerk's Quarters Building of the old John Jacob Astor trading post.

It was built in 1817 and is a two-story timber structure. It later was converted into a summer hotel. Astor founded a fur trading empire on the Great Lakes shortly after his migration from Britain. Mackinac Island now is one of the nation's most popular summer resorts.

Red Tape Kept Firemen Away

MARSHALL, Mo. (AP)—A group of rural residents got together, formed a fire protection association, bought a fire truck and got ready to operate.

Then a call came in. But things were delayed 15 minutes to make sure the caller was a member and deserving of the organization's help. So by the time the pumper rushed up to the farm home, volunteers had the fire out.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—A new national headquarters for the home building industry is going up here. The National Association of Home Builders is erecting a two million dollar, 8-story National Housing Center. It will be ready within a year. Servicemen And Families Linked By 'Ham' Radio

By DANIEL J. MARSTON
 NEWS FEATURES
 SEATTLE — Sometimes it's a young mother pinching her baby so the father, far across the sea, can hear.

Or a child at Santa Ana, Calif. A dangerous polio case. "Hello, Daddy, I'm all right."

Or a call from a soldier in Japan about a father at home who'd just had a father at home who'd just had a critical heart attack. His mother was reached on a "phone in a hospital hallway.

A cancer case. The young sailor's mother was dying.

"Sometimes — well, we're all crying, and that includes my wife and myself, too," says amateur radio operator Gene Erckenbrack. Erckenbrack estimates that in one year, his station, W7VY, and M. Sgt. Harry Brooks', station, KA4SV, Itami, Japan, arranged and transmitted 3,000 such calls between servicemen and their families.

Now another man has succeeded Sergeant Brooks at his Itami post. A year ago Erckenbrack was trying a call to a station in Japan and an Army officer there asked if he could help in getting a call through to his family in New Orleans.

Erckenbrack got the call through. And then, with earphones against a microphone, the officer and his family were able to talk after a fashion.

But Erckenbrack decided that wasn't satisfactory. He arranged a "phone patch" to tie a telephone directly into his short wave transmitter and receiver.

His transmissions works for one-way conversations, with one person talking a while, saying "Over," and then there's a switch and the other person can talk. He has to listen in for the change-overs.

He finds he frequently gets "through" when commercial telephone calls fail.

He averages handling eight to a dozen phone calls a night. The best times vary with the seasons. Promptly at 7 p.m. however, he goes off the air because his broadcasting interferes with T-V sets in the vicinity, a situation he's trying to correct.

His calls to people over the United States to tell them that Japan is calling them "are never refused." "But sometimes I forget to make them collect, and they're charged to my phone bill."

Evidence Of Spring Upturn In Business On West Coast

By SAM DAWSON
 LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some signs of a spring upturn in business are sighted here today—in a region that's grown so fast that its people habitually expect tomorrow to be a still brighter day.

Some of the signs are seasonal. Merchants say the Easter trade is starting at last after a 10 per cent retail slump in March.

Sales of new cars are picking up. Most auto assembly lines—a big industry in southern California since the war—are going full tilt with an eye toward the hoped-for big summer selling season. Used cars, their prices pared some time back, are selling better now.

April is always the big month here for starting to build new homes.

But other than seasonal factors make the economy look stronger too.

The new turn in world affairs raises expectations here of steady, if not increasing, production in the important aircraft and allied industries.

Indochinese war tensions and risks, plus the turmoil over the hydrogen bomb, make industrialists here confident that the days of cutting back on national defense are over—especially with the new emphasis on air power, guided missiles and electronics. Southern California has a large concentration of them. In this area they account for perhaps one fourth of the economy.

The Aircraft Industries Assn. reports that employment in its members' plants is now at a post-war high, with order backlogs insuring it will continue so, and with fears of further stretchouts fading. Spokesmen for the industry say that the somewhat painful adjustment caused by past cancellations and dropping of some plane models for later advanced ones is now over.

More men in the Los Angeles area are out of work now than a year ago. But the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles points out that the labor force has been steadily increasing and that the percentage of unemployed is well below that at this time in either 1949 or 1950, the years of an inventory recession.

Officials of the Bank of America, the nation's largest, say that inventories here are less out of line this time than in some other places. They report definite signs recently that unbalanced inventories have been pretty well adjusted here and that factory purchasing agents should be more active again soon.

Consumer loans, especially for buying on time are down from a year ago. But construction loans are holding up well. Bankers say that collections continue good despite loss of overtime pay in many factories. They say defaults and delinquencies continue to be minor.

California's industrial output isn't hit as much as that of the nation as a whole, bankers say. They believe the Southwest's continuing population growth should pull the region's industries through any business dip better than those in older sections.

Tourist trade continues healthy, but the bankers point out that it isn't as weighty a factor in the region's economy as before the war. The postwar influx of young veterans, and of new industries, like electronics, to hire them, has changed the economic picture.

"Public psychology is still the main thing," says one leading banker. "It decides how much will be spent and whether we'll go on growing. So far it's good here."

"There's a lot of excitement around here just now about Indochina and the chances of our becoming involved. That's a strong, if unfortunate, factor in keeping people from expecting a business dip here of any size."

Surface Heater Is Sprayed On
 LONDON (AP)—British firm has developed a surface heater device system for planes which can be applied by spray-gun.

A coating of insulating material is sprayed on parts requiring protection. A thin layer of metal is sprayed on next. This is the heater element. It is covered with another spray of insulator.

Terminals and leads connect the plane's electrical system to the heater element.

 RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A sneeze caused $200 damage to John A. Erwin's car, $500 damage to another auto, a bruised knee, and a traffic charge against him of failing to yield the right of way.

Erwin told police he suddenly sneezed as he approached an intersection. His auto plowed into another car. The other motorist had a bruised knee.

Free Advice On How To Begin A Conversation

By GENTHA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In case you're one of those shy, socially maladroit ones like me who goes through agonies about what to say after the hostess had made introductions and gone her merry way, I'd like to warn you about a current magazine article called "How to Start a Conversation."

I use the word "warn" advisedly, because the piece suggested four possible conversation-starting gambits, and then gave specific examples of each. And I have tried them.

The article, warming up, explained that conversation, once started, rolls along pretty well under its own steam. And you should be able to launch a topic to roll. Then it gets specific.

1. Make a provocative statement, says the article, because it will force questions. The example it gave was: "There is a hurricane heading this way."
2. Ask a leading question. It will force an answer. Example: "Did you see the parade today?"
3. Express an opinion. It will call for assent or dissent. Example: "Can you suggest a color for my room?"

In addition to being shy and socially maladroit, I am a neat, methodical person, and so I worked my way through all four gambits, following directions implicitly.

The first gambit was played at a cocktail party tossed in a big, largely glass office building.

I arrived fairly late, and the party was humming comfortably. Failing to see anyone I knew, I any parties. And, if anybody does, I promise to stick to my pre-arranged conversation roller: "Who is that woman over there in the weird hat?" It's never failed to get a conversation started about either women or hats.

Maybe I should write an article.

Inland Waterway Work Stressed

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, starting an Easter holiday, tunes up his golf today for a round later in the week with the sensational North Carolina amateur who came close to winning the Masters Tournament.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, arrived here by plane from Washington last night for about a 10-day stay at "Mamie's Cabin," named for the First Lady, on the edge of the Augusta National Golf Club.

Eisenhower found most of the talk at the club still centering on 31-year-old Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., whose play in the Masters won him probably more attention than the winner.

Patton finished the regular 72-hole tournament at the Augusta National with a 290, just a stroke more than Sam Snead and Ben Hogan Snead won in a playoff.

Bobby Jones, president of the Augusta National, met Eisenhower at the airport and told newsmen neither Snead nor Hogan had been able to stay over for a game with the President.

But Jones said Patton had been invited back to the club for the Easter weekend. He probably will team up with Eisenhower Friday.

The President left the nation's capital after watching the Washington Senators defeat the world champion New York Yankees in a 10-inning baseball thriller at Griffith Stadium.

"How did you like the ball game?" a reporter called to the President as he came down the ramp from his private plane, the Columbine, at Augusta's Bush Air-Port.

"Oh, wonderful," he replied with a wide grin, "particularly that home run."

He was talking about the four-bagger slammed in the 10th inning by the Senators' Mickey Vernon. It gave Washington the game 5-3.

President Opens His Holiday With Golfing Tune-Up

BEAUFORT, N. C. (AP) — Improvement of inland waterways and rivers is the next step in the development of North Carolina.

This was asserted last night by U. S. senatorial candidate W. Kerr Scott. He told the Beaufort Rotary Club that he had called for development of the waterways in a speech two years ago at dedication ceremonies for port facilities at nearby Morehead City.

"I repeat now," Scott said, "that these waterways should be improved in two directions—through dredging operation and through the establishment of small feeder pots."

The former governor said, "Our problems are mutual and interlocking and they can best be solved by all of us working together toward a common goal of a better life for all."

Scott told the group he has "little sympathy and no respect" for "those misguided individuals who, for selfish reasons, try to turn town and country people against each other. It makes no difference where we live or where we work. What is bad for one group is bad for all, and what is good for one group is good for all groups."

Shrimpers Told License Required

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP) — With the shrimping season less than a month away, out-of-state commercial shrimpers were warned yesterday their catches will be confiscated unless they are properly licensed.

The warning was issued by Director Ben Douglas of the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Last year commercial shrimpers took about two million dollars worth of shrimp from Tar Heel waters between the mainland and the Outer Banks.

Douglas, who is expected to set the opening date for commercial shrimping on or before May 10, pointed out the confiscation regulation was adopted by the C&D Board last month.

Other parts of the regulation state unlicensed shrimpers are guilty of a misdemeanor. No license will be granted out-of-staters whose states prohibit Tar Heels from fishing their waters.

To back up its regulation, the state recently acquired four new patrol boats for its Commercial Fisheries Division. They were acquired from the Army on a lease-basis and expand the patrol fleet to nine vessels.

Growing Family For 90-Year-Old

DETROIT (AP) — On her 90th birthday Mrs. Minnie Weitzel looked back at her motherhood of 10 families of nine children each. She had nine children by her first husband, who left her a widow in 1913. Then she married Martin Weitzel, a widower, who also had nine children.

"It was like starting motherhood all over again," said Mrs. Weitzel. She now has almost 140 descendants and would like to have 180. She said: "That will be 10 times the children I had. And it will sort of round out my life."

Municipal Quandary Over How To Spend $31,850

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The will of a grateful native son who went West and got rich has pitched the city of Adairsville into an unbelievable municipal quandary.

The problem: how to spend $31,850.

For Adairsville, a little north Georgia town that straddles tourist-bearing U. S. 41, that is more than three times the annual income from taxes. Adairsville has a population of about 990.

Banker W. A. Graham, who moved away from here as a young man and amassed a seven-million-dollar fortune, died at the age of 100 in Pryor, Okla. A court dispute over the will's validity was settled April 7 and the gift to Adairsville became final and legal.

The wealthy Oklahoma banker died more than two years ago and his gift has been growing ever since—$1,850 has been added as interest.

What do a mayor and City Council do when the problem becomes how to spend money rather than how to get it?

Mayor J. E. McKeivey of this poor little rich town hasn't found the answer, and his four-man City Council is equally undecided.

"There haven't been many suggestions about how to spend it," says the mayor. "People all have different ideas about those things."

How are the town's finances? "I would say fair for a city of this size," says McKeivey. He points out that Adairsville's only indebtedness is for sewer bonds, and its tax rate is only 12 mills. That takes care of all the municipal functions, including the one-man police force.

The mayor makes no suggestions, but he points out that the town has no municipal park or recreational facilities.

R. D. Barton, Adairsville's funeral director, recalls that Graham on a visit here several years ago told friends that when he reached his 100th birthday he intended to give Adairsville some money.

In fact, the promise went back further than that.

"He sold his interest in the Vech Milling Co. for about $15,000 and left here when he was about 30 years old," says Barton. "He said when he left that when he left the world he would give the town back as much as he had taken away."

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Belk-Tyler's on the third floor.

His family which also includes his wife, Marguerite, 39, and their daughter, Gladys, 20, live in 14 dormitories, schools and buildings that make up the home. "Under Kentucky statutes the children have all been legally adopted," Rev. Vogel said. The children range from 1½ to 23 years of age. (AP Wirephoto)

DEATH OF THE FLYING TRAPEZIST

AT LOOSE ENDS, ONE NIGHT, I HAD DRIVEN TO A SMALL NEIGHBORING TOWN.

A CARNIVAL CAUGHT MY EYE! I PARKED THE CAR, TOOK MY FLASHLIGHT AND WALKED ACROSS THE FIELDS.

I SAW A TRAPEZIST ACT IN PROGRESS. THE TRAP ARTIST FACED HER PARTNER ACROSS A GULF, SEVENTY-FIVE FEET DEEP (UNBROKEN BY A NET, SHE POISED, SWUNG...)

THEN THE LIGHTS FAILED!

THEN ALMOST INSTANTLY I SHOT MY FLASHLIGHT BEAM UP TO SPOTLIGHT THE GIRL.

HOW IN AN INSECURE GRIP SHE DANGLING BY ONLY ONE HAND, JUSTIFIED IN MID-AIR... ONE WAS SLIPPING...

I COULD SEE THE BURN OF ARDOR ON THE GIRL'S FACE. THEN HER OTHER HAND MET THE IRON GRIP. THE CROWD CHEERED!

I CAN NEVER THANK YOU ENOUGH

WHEN THAT GENERATOR FAILED, IT WAS LUCKY FOR US THAT YOUR FLASHLIGHT DIDN'T BACK OUT TOO!

NOT A CHANCE! I'VE USED "EVEREADY" BATTERIES ALL MY LIFE. I'VE NEVER HAD A DUD WITH "EVEREADY"! THEY REALLY HAVE "NINE LIVES"!

Funny Money

Greenville citizens were warned today to be on the lookout for counterfeit quarters.

An official of a Greenville bank said two counterfeit quarters showed up in a deposit made yesterday at a local bank.

He said it was the first appearance of counterfeit 25-cent pieces here in a long while, and added their appearance may be an isolated incident.

One of the counterfeit coins, he said, closely resembled an authentic quarter, while the other was considerably darker than a good coin. Neither of the counterfeit coins, he said, had a "good ring."

Dr. Graham Says U.S. Should Not Keep Its Fears

GREENSBORO (AP)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, chief moderator of the India - Pakistan Mission of the United Nations, speaking before a Woman's College audience last night, declared that the world's chief barrier to peace is "materialistic, godless, totalitarian communism."

The former N. C. senator and president of the Greater University warned, however, that America should not, in the heyday of its great power, become the stronghold of fear and bigotry. "May there always be here freedom to struggle for freedom."

He reminded his audience that it was the U. S. which "failed human hopes" after World War I by rejecting the League of Nations and turning to itself. He added that a similar role was taken by Russia after World War II.

Speaking generally and in worldwide terms, Dr. Graham urged an end to the segregation of races, and of furthering the theory of white supremacy. He declared furthering of the theory was bitterly resented by "colored people of an ancient culture in the East and in Africa, who make up more than half the world's population."

More specifically, Dr. Graham said that segregation as it is practiced in American churches "should not exist." They do not come under the control of the U.S. Supreme Court and should not wait for the court's decision, he said.

He declared he hopes the people of the South will accept whatever decision comes from the court relative to segregation.

Dr. Graham accused Communist Russia of a drive "toward erasing God from human consciousness of man, and individual freedoms as well."

He described the Russian political faith as a "fanatical dogmatism of materialistic and totalitarian communism."

North Carolina farmers received $672,434,000 for crops in 1953.

Auto And Milk Truck Collide In City Today

Above is the car which crashed into a Carolina Dairies truck at Fourth and Tyson Streets about 8:30 this morning. The car was operated by Erma C. Stapleford, 34-year-old Negro woman who was charged with failure to yield the right of way. The accident was investigated by Patrolman W. C. Flake. (Reflector photos by Alvin Taylor)

Driver Hospitalized With Injuries Following Crash

Three persons were injured when a car hit a Carolina Dairies delivery truck at the corner of Fourth and Tyson streets early this morning.

Injured was Erma C. Stapleford, Negro woman, who was driving the car. George H. Brannon, driver of the truck and Clayton Meeks, 16, who was riding on the truck.

Miss Stapleford received multiple bruises in the accident, according to an attending physician. Meeks received contusions of the scalp and a slight fracture of the shoulder, and Brannon suffered contusions of the chest, nose, lips and legs. Meeks and Miss Stapleford were treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital and released while Brannon was hospitalized.

The truck overturned as a result of the collision and came to rest upside down. Crates of milk bottles were overturned in the vehicle.

Miss Stapleford was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way in the collision.

Damage to her car was estimated at $450 and damage to the truck amounted to $650.

The accident was investigated by Officer W. C. Flake.

Defends Film Stars For Refusing Roles

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tyrone Power today sprang to the defense of himself and other top male stars who have been accused of partly causing the production slowdown in Hollywood.

An independent producer recently rushed into print with a statement decrying a lot of top stars for refusing to work. This has helped stall filming in Hollywood, he claimed. He also asserted that he sent John Wayne a $400,000 check to do a picture and it was returned unopened.

Another producer claimed to have sent a $350,000 check to Clark Gable for a film commitment. It was also sent back.

Why would stars turn down such fabulous offers? Ty Power explains:

"Supposing Clark had taken that $350,000. When it is added to his other earnings, he'd probably get to keep $15,000 or $20,000 out of it. So the salary itself doesn't represent any great profit.

"But it's not just a matter of money. Actors like myself, Wayne, Gable, Gary Cooper, Burt Lancaster, Kirk Douglas and others named by that producer—whose names escapes me right now—no longer have studio contracts to protect us.

"The only real security we have is our talent. Our livelihood depends on getting good scripts. If only member of the class who actually is handicapped is Miss Louise Wells, 20, who has walked on crutches since a polio attack. People in wheel chairs, she says, can with modifications do practically all the well-known dances.

'A' For Atom, 'B' For Bomb

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio told Russian schoolchildren today that American kids have a new way of learning the alphabet— "A for atomic, "B for bomb."

The broadcast, heard here, was a special one for Pioneers, the junior branch of the Soviet youth organization.

ADMIRAL RETIRING

NORFOLK (AP)—Vice Admiral John J. Ballentine, 57, for decades a leader in naval aviation, will be retired May 1 because of a heart ailment when he leaves command of the Atlantic Fleet Air Force, it was learned here today.

STORE HELD UP

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A white man held up a downtown jewelry store shortly after noon today and fled with about $2,000 in rings and watches.

In the 115 years from 1835 to 1950 about 25 million people from Great Britain emigrated to countries outside Europe.

Crates of milk were thrown about in a Carolina Dairies delivery truck when it was involved in a collision at the corner of Fourth and Tyson Streets. The truck overturned and came to rest bottom side up. Three persons were injured in the collision.

Baseball Terms Applied In Court

TAUNTON, Mass. (AP)—Jurors in a Bristol Superior Court session got some easy-to-understand baseball language in their instructions from Judge Joseph L. Hurley.

"You, who are baseball fans have seen the umpires call them as they see them and not worry whom the decision favors.

"You, too, are umpires. Call them as you see them. Use your common reason and good judgment."

Superior Court Term Enters Into Third Day

A two-week term of Pitt Superior Court entered its third day today under the direction of Presiding Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford.

Five divorce cases were disposed of when the term of court opened Monday afternoon, and a number of criminal cases have been disposed of since that time.

Matthew Turner, alias Johnnie Turner, was sentenced to three to five years in each of four cases charging forgery and worthless checks, and a prayer for judgment was continued in three other cases.

Turner entered a plea of guilty in each of the seven cases against him. Judge Williams sentenced Turner to three to five year terms in the four cases, to run currently, and to begin at the expiration of the term he is now serving on similar charges from Edgecombe County.

John Henry Sumrell, alias John Ford, was sentenced to 12 to 18 months on the roads in each of two cases charging forgery. He entered a plea of guilty to each case.

King L. Bremis was found guilty by a jury of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, and was sentenced by Judge Williams to two years on the roads.

Lloyd Gold Peaden was found guilty of driving drunk and sentenced to six months on the roads, suspended on payment of a fine of $150 and costs and condition that he not drive a car for one year. Alton Eugene Harris, charged with driving drunk entered a plea of guilty at the close of state's evidence, and was fined $150 and costs.

Milton Barrett plead guilty to two charges of issuing worthless checks and was sentenced to 18 months in prison suspended upon payment of $30 for Collins-Pridmore Department Store and $30 for R. R. Forrest, and upon condition he not violate any law for three years.

Mistrials were ordered in the cases against Thurman T. Gray, charged with driving drunk, and Edward Williams, charged with non-support. Clinton Bullock was found guilty of non-support of a child and ordered to pay $20 per month to the support of the child and $128 hospital expenses incident to the birth of the child and $18 medical bills. A six month sentence was suspended upon those payments.

Theodore Stokes Taylor, charged with speeding and reckless driving, was allowed to withdraw his appeal to Superior Court upon payment of cost and that he abide by the judgment of the lower court.

Cases against Johnnie Whichard, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, and Linwood O'Neal, charged with assault, were not prosed with leave. Divorces were granted in the following cases:

Amos J. Stooks vs. Mamie Ruth Padgett Stocks; Selma H. Bryant vs. John Bryant; Ruby L. Speight vs. J. L. Speight Jr. Bruce Donnell Scott vs. Ellen Dupree Scott and Maude Teel Fussell Talley vs. Frank T. Talley.

Delays Sentence Of Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. District Judge Walker M. Bastian today held up any sentence for Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif.) until the Supreme Court can pass on his conviction on charges of falsifying his payroll in a salary kickback scheme.

Judge Bastian held that there is reasonable doubt "as to whether the law under which Bramblett was convicted applied to the charges against him."

The government now will carry the case directly to the Supreme Court in an effort to set aside Judge Bastian's ruling.

The judge explained the situation in a formal opinion: "If the Supreme Court affirms the decision of this court, the case will be finally determined favorably to the defendant."

"Should the Supreme Court reverse the decision of this court, the case will be finally determined against the defendant and the only matter remaining will be the return of the case to this court for sentence."

Rainbow Cleaners And Laundry—Misses Buttons

Between January 1, 1954 and April 8, 1954, Rainbow Cleaners and Laundry has pressed 34,248 shirts. In the same period of time we have missed 24 buttons. We have replaced 2,889 buttons that were not on shirts when customers brought them to us. We have re-laundered free of charge to customers 75 shirts during that period for missing 24 buttons on shirts.

Let us miss your buttons at Rainbow Cleaners and Laundry. We've had the opportunity to miss the buttons on your dress shirts and work shirts. Now we are looking forward to the opportunity of missing the buttons on your summer sport shirts. Remember, we will launder 6 shirts FREE if we return a shirt with a button missing.

The shirts which have gone through our modern, efficient laundry during this 14-week period had 308,233 buttons on them. Our customers have gotten back 308,208 buttons on the first try. There were only 24 buttons missing.

We've getting better, because we haven't missed a button in the last 10 days.

Believe it or not, we do not have a machine at Rainbow Cleaners and Laundry that rips the buttons off of your shirts and blows them through the toes of your socks.

Let Rainbow Cleaners and Laundry mothproof and store your winter garments to give you that needed closet space in your home for your summer clothes.
