General Testifies To Repeated Efforts Obtain Schine A Commission

McCarthy Feud Testimony Opens

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Miles Reber testified today that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Roy Cohn repeatedly pressed him for an officer's commission for G. David Schine, committee consultant eventually drafted into the Army as a private.

Denying this, McCarthy asserts that the charges as to him and Schine were designed to interfere with (a) his investigation of communism in the Army, and (b) an investigation of what he termed "misconduct and possibly law violations" by H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense.

The fencing over this was dropped when acting Chairman Mundt (RSD) ruled that since the formal complaints against McCarthy were not then before the committee the point of order could not be raised at that time.

Reber said the Air Force was not then commissioning any new directly from civilian life while the Navy's requirements were substantially the same as the Army's.

Defense K. Struve Hensel was labeled as having been presented by "the Department of the Army."

Western Big Three Ministers Go Into Huddle Plan For Geneva Meeting

By MAX HARRELSON PARIS (AP) — The foreign ministers of the Western Big Three continued meetings here today to put their plans for the Geneva conference in final form.

All talks here are being carried on in strictest secrecy in hope the strategy decisions will not leak out before they are unveiled in Geneva.

The U.S. State Department announced its rejection of such an idea. It charged Russia with trying to sabotage EDC plans and wreck NATO, leaving Europe dominated by the Soviet bloc.

Hearing Room Is Tightly Packed

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Breathing room only!" That was the sign Capitol officials should have hung today outside the caucus room in the Senate Office Building for the premiere of the new extravaganza "The McCarthy-Army Story."

Three Soviet MVD Agents Give Themselves Up Their Assignment: Murder

BONN, Germany (AP) — Three Soviet agents sent to West Germany on a murder mission have given themselves up to U.S. authorities, an American spokesman said here today.

Nikolai E. Okolov and Germans Hans Kikowicz and Kurt Weber were after Georgi S. Okolovich, a member of the executive committee of the NTCS in Frankfurt.

Okolov was given the mission by his chief in Moscow, a Col. Studenkov.

Three Tobacconists Are Cleared In Federal Court

WASHINGTON, N. C. — Three Farmville tobacconists were absolved of guilt in federal court here yesterday where they were charged with forging the initials of a government official on sales tickets on eight baskets of tobacco.

The government sought in its case to prove that the inspection tickets of the government official were completed by a government official, that they were in the possession of Moye, and that Moye stood to gain by completing the tickets himself, and therefore had completed the tickets.

Moye offered no defense at the trial yesterday, but through cross examination of government witnesses, the defense counsel, Abdon Dunn of Greenville, brought out the defense that the accusations made by the government would have been too risky for Moye to have attempted.

Grifton Native Tapped For Post

Grifton Lions Club Observes Ladies Night

GRIFTON—On the second anniversary of charter night the Grifton Lions Club held Ladies Night at the school cafeteria. There was a large representation of the Grifton club, their guests and members of clubs from nearby towns. A fried chicken dinner was enjoyed.

Sam E. Nelson, president of the Grifton Lions, presided at the meeting. The invocation was said by John Coward. C. E. Jones led the group in the singing of "America" and "Lions Will Shine." These songs were followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

C. R. Kline gave the welcome to the ladies and guests with Mrs. W. I. Bissette before the response.

Before the dinner each Lion presented himself and his guest for the evening.

Lion Thurman J. Williams reviewed the history of the Grifton Club since its charter in 1952 and listed some of the major projects sponsored by the organization, which were scouting in Grifton, bread sales, white cane sale, tree whitewashing campaign, semi-pro basketball team and a part in the Swift Creek Folies. He gave something of the records of membership also. The guest speaker, B. B. Sugg Jr. of Greenville, was the after-dinner speaker. He was introduced by President Nelson. He delighted his audience with humorous remarks, using for his topic "The Hand That Rocked the Cradle."

The next meeting of the club will be May 3rd when A. S. Proctor of the DuPont plant will speak on "Industry and Agriculture."

Dr. W. E. Raspberry was in charge of the arrangements for Ladies Night.

District Deputy Visits O. E. S. To Install Officers On Tuesday

Greenville Chapter 149 Order of the Eastern Star met Tuesday evening in the Masonic hall with Mrs. Blanche Jackson, worthy matron, and John Carrington, worthy patron, presiding.

The hall was beautifully decorated with baskets of mixed spring flowers carrying out the O.E.S. colors.

The meeting was opened with the officers march. Following the pledge of allegiance to the American flag, the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

Mrs. Raye Bissette, district deputy grand matron of the seventh district, was presented by the conduckress, Mrs. Sadie Carrington. The worthy matron extended her a cordial welcome and invited her to sit in the east.

In a most impressive ceremony Mrs. Berdie Williams was installed as star point. Mrs. Raye Bissette was installing officer assisted by Mrs. Nell Moore as installing marshal. Mrs. Williams was presented a yellow dutch iris corsage from the chapter by Mrs. Blanche Smith, Mrs. Bissette and Mrs. Moore received red rose corsages.

Mrs. Bissette expressed her pleasure in being present and invited all who could to attend Grand Chapter in Wilmington in June.

During the business meeting Mrs. Mildred Kennedy gave the auditors' report. The Auditing Committee commended Mrs. Martha Forrester.

Mrs. Eva Corbett and Miss Ayla Ray Taylor on their fine work last year.

Mr. Alfred Kennedy reported that the piano had been tuned and minor repairs made.

The chapter voted to purchase an electric signet as soon as possible.

Mrs. Blanche Smith gave a report on the progress of the entertainment planned for the ladies when the Shrine Ceremonial comes to Greenville on May 25 and 26. The White Shrine and O.E.S. chapter are to be co-hostess in the entertainment for the ladies. Mrs. Smith stated that every detail is being worked out. This promises to be a gala affair for the Shrine ladies.

"Happy Birthdays" was sung to Mrs. Sadie Carrington, Mrs. Lena Galloway, Mrs. Ruth Harris and Mrs. Letha Cherry.

A delightful refreshment hour followed the meeting in the Fred Stokes dining room. The table arrangement was of mixed spring flowers. Yellow candles were used, encircled with the five star point colors. Lime ice and cookies were served by Mrs. Ernestine Garner and her committee. Meeting closed at 9:45.

No Coonskin Hat For Hollywood Version Of Daniel Boone's Life

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — When Gary Cooper plays Daniel Boone on the screen, he won't be wearing a coonskin hat.

The reason is that Boone didn't like a coonskin on his head. Too hot, said the frontiersman, who had a bushy head of hair. Besides, you're liable to collect fleas that way.

This is one of the facts uncovered by Milton Sperling, who will produce "Daniel Boone" with Cooper this summer. The producer has culled most of the historical works on Boone, selecting the fact from the legend.

"It is sometimes hard to find the real story," said Sperling in his Warner Brothers office. "Although Boone died less than 150 years ago, his story has become almost like folklore."

"The public has many misconceptions about him. Most people think of him as a tall man, about Cooper's size. Actually, his skeleton reveals he was of medium size. He is also considered to be the discoverer of Kentucky. He wasn't. Other white men had been there before. He was the first to settle there."

"In many respects he was a fabulous man. His great appeal to the American consciousness is that he was the first Boy Scout. He could read the signs of nature and live off the land. He had amazing escapes from danger. When he went into Kentucky, he was in the midst of 100,000 Cherokee and Shawnees who were eager to fight off an invasion by the white man."

"He was a great walker. He shunned the use of a horse because it would scare off the game. He walked all over the continent, including up to Canada and down to the Florida Everglades in his earlier years. In the last year of his life—he died at 85 in 1820—he wanted to prove he was still in good shape. So he walked from his home in Missouri to Yellowstone!"

Sperling, a young, well-read movie maker, said the script will stick largely to fact. It is being written by Philip Yordan, who wrote "Anna Lucasta."

"Boone's life was fabulous," said the producer, "but the mere recital of heroic deeds is not enough for a movie. We needed to have a theme for his life, and I think we have found it."

"Although Boone killed many men in his life, both white and redskin, he placed great value in human life. He was a kind, gentle man who merely wanted to satisfy his simple wants. After he had seen Kentucky, he realized that the good life was there."

"He practically had to shoulder his way through the game; the presence of salt licks in Kentucky made it an animal wonderland. And he knew by the blue grass that the soil was rich. He could shoot enough to eat right from his front porch, and all he had to do was drop seeds in the ground."

"Our picture will start with Boone as an adult. He has returned from a year alone in Kentucky and contemplates moving his family from Yadkin County, N.C. He hesitates because he knows it will mean bloodshed. The richness of the land made it a battleground for the Indians—the dark and bloody ground." And he knew the Indians would band together to fight off the white man. But he decided to go."

Above is Jane Harris, 3 1/2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Harris, 1609 South Elm Street, who is entered in the Little Miss Greenville contest to be held tomorrow night.

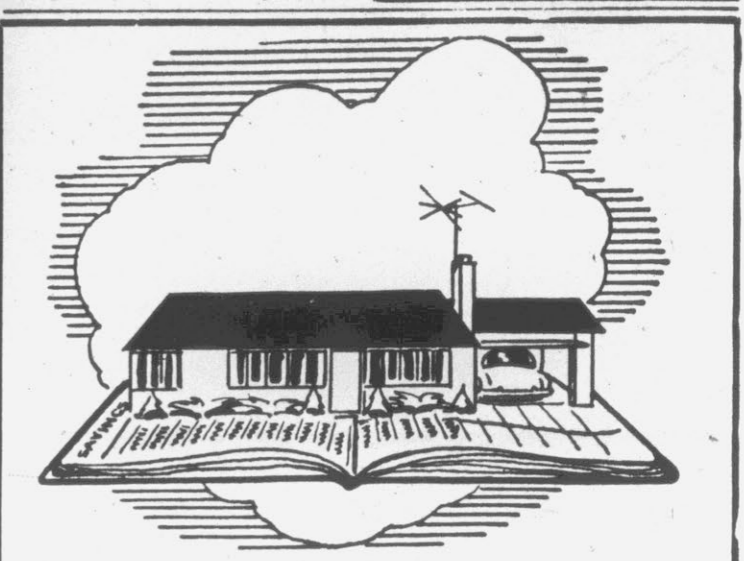

Miss Chandler Is Guest Speaker At Chatham Club

The Chatham Book Club met Tuesday afternoon, April 20, at the beautiful new home of its president, Mrs. W. P. Moore. The president presided over a brief business session and the slate for the coming year was enthusiastically adopted.

Mrs. Moore introduced Miss Mammie Chandler who reviewed the book of Jeremiah. Instead of the Weeping Prophet, which he is sometimes called, she portrayed a character of strength who was the first to make religion personal rather than a national. He was a man of prayer who fearlessly denounced worship of idols. His life seemed summed up in the verse, "Do justly, love mercy and walk humbly before God."

The hostess, assisted by her daughter who was guest of the club, served a delicious frozen salad.

Dr. M. R. McKay Opens Revival Series Sunday

Dr. M. R. McKay, Professor of Preaching at Southeastern Baptist Seminary of Wake Forest, will begin a series of revival services at the Immanuel Baptist Church on Eighth Street, Sunday morning April 25 at 11 o'clock.

The services will continue each night at 8 o'clock through Friday, April 30.

Born in Jefferson County, Missouri, Dr. McKay was graduated from the DeSoto High School, DeSoto, Missouri, received his Ph. D. degree from Shurtleff College, Alton, Illinois, and his Th. M. and Th.D. degrees from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Kentucky. He married Mary Winifred Favoright, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Favoright, Baptist Pastor in Illinois. The have two children, a daughter, Rosemary McKay, Professor of Speech at East Texas Baptist College, and a son, David McKay, a student in college.

Dr. McKay held the following pastorates before coming to Wake Forest: First Baptist Church, Aurora, Illinois; First Baptist Church, Topeka, Kansas; Second Baptist Church, Little Rock, Arkansas. He taught in the Pastors' Summer School in Kalamazoo, Michigan, and has been much in demand as a speaker on many college campuses for religious emphasis and focus weeks. He has also served as leader of young people in many summer assemblies.

In addition to speaking at the Immanuel Church each night, Dr. McKay will speak each morning next week at 9:30 over WGTC. There will be special music at all services, under the direction of Dr. James L. White, Choir Director. A nursery will be provided and in charge of the Powell Circle, so that parents of young children will be able to attend the services. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Prisoner Decided To Take Spring Stroll

ONTARIO, Ore. (U)—It was a nice day for strolling in Ontario yesterday, so Claude Crane, 24, left his weed-pulling tools on the Malheur County Courthouse lawn.

Sheriff John Ellering asked Oregon state police to take a stroll in the same direction.

He said Crane still had six weeks to go on his three-month sentence for auto theft.

ROYAL FAMILY... Pretty Archduchess Sandi helps mother, Princess Ileana, in kitchen of suburban home.

Nurse's Cap Replaces Crown Of Archduchess; Mother Is Happy

By MARY PRIM

AP Newfeatures... NEWTON, Mass.—Pretty Sandi Habsburg wears her nurse's cap as proudly as her grandmother, Queen Marie of Romania, wore a crown.

Daughter of Princess Ileana of Rumania and Archduke Anton of Austria was "capped" recently at New England Baptist Hospital's Nursing School.

Her mother was the principal speaker at the ceremony which marks the end of the students' six-month probationary period. So the hospital invited her to "cap" her daughter. The vivacious brunette princess says:

"I was so pleased. I was an arthritis patient at the hospital for three months. Sandi couldn't have picked a better place to train."

Sandi, born Archduchess Alexandra of Austria, reports the nursing course much tougher than Vassar, where she studied for a year. But she says she enjoys every minute of it.

She prefers to be called Miss Habsburg—or any reasonable variation. She says:

"Some of the girls call me Happy Bug. And a friend of my older brother makes it Sandrella."

"When patients hear about my title, their attitude always changes. They become very polite, distant or embarrassed."

She much prefers the reaction of a plumber she met up with while at work in the hospital recently, who said:

"Hi, Habsburg! I hear you're a duchess or something."

Sandi hasn't decided which aspect of nursing appeals to her most. Surgery interests her; so does child care. She majored in child psychology at college.

Her first nursing experience came when she worked in her mother's hospital in Rumania when she was 12.

Princess Ileana did nursing and even surgery during the war years. She is dedicating her new book, "The Hospital of the Queen's Heart", to Sandi. It comes out in May.

The military hospital she built in memory of her mother has been taken over by the Communists along with the rest of her homeland. Princess Ileana says:

"The book has a background of Communism as I saw it through the hospital wards."

Fan mail from readers of her first book, "I Live Again", published in 1952, still comes to the rambling frame house in Newton, a Boston suburb, where she lives with her six children.

She recently has flown about the country to give lectures—90 so far, she reckons. Her main idea is to bring home to this country what the communists are up to. She says:

"The United States doesn't realize that Communism is a battle for people's minds and souls."

The Princess still finds time for the lively sketches she used as chapter headings in her first book. She also designed and painted a window in the little basement chapel at her home.

The children's interests are as varied as their mother's. Stefan, 21, is studying mechanical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Maria-Ileana, 20, called Minola, now visiting in England, has been studying art here. Dominic (Niki), going on 16, is at preparatory school. Maria Magdalena, 14, known generally as Magi, is keen on architecture and wants to go to M.I.T.

Here sister Elizabeth (Hersi), 11, who attends Notre Dame de Sion boarding school in Kansas City with Magi, has made up her mind to be a nurse or doctor. The Princess says:

"That's the wonderful thing about a big family. They're all so different."

Griton P. T. A. Elects Officers

GRITON—At the April meeting of the P.T.A., members of the senior class presented the program which was "Preparation for Life." This was a panel discussion led by Mrs. John Bunch and Principal Ed Bright. The discussion was unheeded and was informative and interesting to all parents and friends who were present. Those taking part were Phyllis Jackson, Edna Lewis, Joyce Dennis, Bobby Cole and Mac Lancaster. They discussed the various subjects in school that had been of special benefit to them as offered by the curriculum and then those extra curricular. They brought out too some courses they felt might be added to better fit them for life if they were unable to continue their education after high school. One of these was guidance in that they could be helped to decide what they would make their life work and they felt too added geography would be of benefit today.

Mrs. Robert Levine presided at the business meeting and heard a report from the pre-school clinic at which time 46 children were registered. They were given examinations and inoculations and were then entertained by members of the first grade faculty and mothers who assisted in this project.

The nominating committee presented as a slate of officers for the coming term the following: president, Mr. Jack Calvert; 1st vice president, Richard Nelson; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Robert Mewborn; secretary, Mrs. Cecil Cobb; treasurer, Mrs. James C. Smith. These were voted upon and elected.

The attendance cakes were won by Mrs. Whitley's third and Mr. Underwood's 11th grades.

Amendments to the P.T.A. constitution as studied by the executive committee to better the workings of the organization were read by the president, these to be voted on at the May meeting.

Mrs. Levine appointed L. L. Mewborn and Richard A. Nelson as a committee to audit the books of the P.T.A.

Mr. A. E. Daniels asked that all boys from the fourth grade up interested in sandlot baseball to meet at 10 o'clock Saturday morning with him on the school ball field.

The May meeting was announced for 8 o'clock May 11th. This is an important meeting and all parents are urged to keep in mind the date.

Broadway Play Is Reviewed For End of Century Club

On Tuesday, April 20, Mrs. M. K. Blount very graciously entertained the End of the Century Club at her home on Rock Spring Drive. Luncheon was served on the terrace, with the guests gathering in groups around tables on the lawn.

Following luncheon the club adjourned to the drawing room where Mrs. J. B. Spilman gave a review of the current Broadway play, "Picnic."

Mrs. Blount's visitors were Mesdames J. H. Blount, M. L. Wright, S. T. White, Con Lanier, F. L. Blount, J. D. Messick, M. P. Hoot, J. B. Kittrell and F. J. Forbes.

A Time For Thoughtful Consideration

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public across the United States are concerned with the inroads which communists or other foreign agents may be making into the federal government and the American way of life.

At the same time, Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public are concerned over their own reaction and that of their neighbors to this confusion brought about by wondering just how many and how serious inroads have been made into the free life here by proponents of the philosophy which would do away with all freedom.

There are two great threats to the free American way of life in modern times. One of course is communism. The other has grown out of the fight against communism, and for lack of a better term, it has been tabbed McCarthyism. . . the philosophy arbitrarily attacking non-conformists with charges of subversion or efforts to overthrow what we call the American way.

In the freedom of the United States there has always been free criticism of government, free criticism of philosophies and open argument on all issues. Out of this freedom there has grown greater liberties, more firmly entrenched than when they were established by the founding fathers of this nation.

Always, we suppose, there has been

It Will Take A Big Selling Job

A new motor vehicle inspection law is being talked for North Carolina, and the proposal is being pushed by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt.

A good practical vehicle inspection law is needed by the state; but it is going to be difficult to obtain after the unfortunate inspection law which was passed a few years ago.

The words "inspection law" brings a great deal of opposition throughout the state just at the mention of it. The bad taste left by the last inspection law remains vivid with too many citizens of North Carolina.

The Reflector believes and has believed the state needs a motor vehicle inspection law to prevent unnecessary accidents caused by vehicles in poor mechanical condition. Yet we are sure it will take a terrific selling job to get the people to try any sort of motor vehicle inspection regulations again.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SERIOUS SOCIAL QUESTION
What is the matter with modern marriage? There has been more than a 200 per cent increase in divorce since the year 1900. There are about 385,000 divorces in the country every year, which means that every year the number of divorces equals about one-fourth the number of marriages.

One reason for increased divorces today of course is the fact that there is not so much stigma attached to divorce as there was 50 years ago. Another cause of divorce is drinking. Almost all judges are in agreement that in a majority of divorces, drinking is in some way involved. Also many branches of the Christian Church are declining today to stand resolutely against this evil.

Probably one of the greatest causes of divorce is the fact that young people often do not enter marriage with the mutual respect they once had. Frequently their relationships with each other are about as intimate before marriage as after. The result is that, with lessened respect for each other and with marriage robbed of the spiritual qualities which self-restraint and chastity confer, the inevitable differences of opinion about minor matters grow into serious quarrels, separation, and divorce.

It is hard to see how we can have much improvement in our present situation until courtship customs change.

Is The Deck Already Stacked?

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—American recognition of Red China and its admission to the United Nations in place of Chiang Kai-shek's exile government on Formosa will be the major issue at the Four Power Geneva Conference. Despite Eisenhower-Dulles attempts to sidestep and sidetrack this controversy, in view of Congressional and public disapproval of admitting Red China to the United Nations, Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese dictator and a Kremlin crony, will be the unwelcome and unbidden guest of honor at Geneva.

On this question, if it is put to a test which Washington seeks to avoid, the United States will be divided by four to one. England and France already greet Communist China as a going concern. The statesmen at 10 Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay need cash, regardless of its source. They resent our Battle Act boycott on trade with Russia, China and the satellite customers.

CARDS MAY BE STACKED AGAINST U. S.—Thus, the cards will be stacked against us at Geneva, if the question of recognizing Red China arises. England and France want a reopening of trade. The Laniel Government at Paris will fall unless he can return home with an agreement for termination of the war in Indochina, and nobody but Mao Tse-tung can decide that question, for he supplies the Vietnam rebels.

Russia, of course, will vote for Mao. And since Red China will be a participant at Geneva, the lineup will be four to one against us. Unless Dulles can block a vote or decision on this question, he will cast the only negative ballot.

Such an anti-American outcome is not assured, however, despite the Anglo-French desire for closer skepticism toward non-conformists, people who have had different ideas about things, individuals who disagreed with the generally accepted or traditional method of doing things. Gradually, however, it seems that the American people as a whole have been inclined to a near-hysteria which has made them less tolerant of diverging opinions; more ready to condemn the unconventional or new idea or argument as a part of a subversive movement aimed at undermining freedom.

To be sure we must leave no stone unturned to protect liberty from the enslavement which communism would assure. At the same time, we must not allow ourselves to run headlong into the arms of waiting facism which would likewise destroy freedom and liberty.

Neither of those basic philosophies tolerates freedom of thought or expression. Neither honors the individual above the state or the cause.

Point To Remember

In Registering

There was an important question concerning party registration brought out this week during the meeting of precinct registrars of Pitt County preparatory to the new general registration which begins May 1.

Can a man who is registered as a Republican or an Independent participate in the Democratic primary?

The answer, according to Elections Board Chairman Gilbert Peel, is No.

A Republican party organization in Pitt County for all practical purposes is, of course non-existent. There is no Republican primary for candidates for local offices, and indeed, we can not remember a Republican candidate for a local office in many years.

The results of such a situation is that the Democratic primary held in May is tantamount to the election. The Democratic nominees who are elected in the primary for local offices are assured of election in the November General elections.

Because of that situation which has existed here for many decades and is likely to continue to exist for many more, the only real voice a citizen has in the election of county officials is the voice which is expressed by a vote cast in the Democratic primary. If a person does not participate in the Democratic primary, he has no practical voice in the election of county officials.

A voter registered as a Republican or Independent therefore, has no real voice in the election of county officials in this solidly Democratic county.

Only those voters registered as Democrats can vote in the Democratic primary. And 999 times out of 1,000 only those nominees selected in the Democratic primary are elected to public office in the county.

For all practical purposes, the situation boils down to the point that the individual who registers as a Republican or an Independent in Pitt County because of some feeling for or affiliation with the national party organization virtually gives up his opportunity to participate in the election of county government officials.

Somebody Told Me

He Checked Up On Bob Ripley

Yesterday I heard the story of someone who has checked on Bob Ripley's Believe it or Not! The Rev. Ross A. Cadle of Apex is a native of Indiana and a reader of the Ripley column.

One of the late Bob Ripley's many claims was that he had found the world's shortest policeman, only three feet tall. "That would be easy to check on," the Rev. Cadle said to himself, "except for the fact that I'm in Indiana and Ripley says that the policeman is in Wallace, N. C." But the preacher vowed that if he ever came to North Carolina he would take a trip to Wallace and check on the claim.

If I knew how many miles it is from Apex to Wallace I could tell you how far he traveled to check the claim. When he arrived in Wallace he found the "policeman" working in a bank. In order to make this claim, Ripley had encouraged the officials of the town of Wallace to deputize this three-foot man in order to make him a policeman. He was appointed to the law enforcement office and exactly five minutes later was removed from office.

That story was picked up by short wave radio. The Rev. Cadle is an ardent amateur radio fan and operates many hours during his spare time. Note to short wave listeners: his call letters are W4-NOV.

Speaking of claims that are hard to believe, the flying saucer is one that has taken in more people than any single myth in history, I suppose. The tales of them were so convincing to me that I wrote several columns implying my belief in them. My conclusions came from a book by Frank Scully, I believe his name is, whose conclusions were supposedly taken from a University of Denver professor.

This particular book described the little man who had been found in the wreckage of a flying saucer. It was very convincing and no doubt made the publisher plenty of money.

Later, the book was exposed as being pure folly. What people won't do to make a buck can't be done.

It was indeed interesting to hear the story of a man who took the time to check on Bob Ripley and to be reminded that he's reliable, in contrast to many others.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

COLONIAL BATH, INCORPORATED (Washington Daily News)

An organization known as "Colonial Bath, Incorporated" has been given a charter in North Carolina.

The organization has been chartered in order to stage and promote an historical pageant. When we think of Bath's birthday, we must also think in terms of North Carolina's birthday. They are one and the same date. There is a richness of material which has been handed down to us from our colonial ancestors here in the Pamlico area and particularly Bath.

If that history, brilliant and and full, means very much to us, then we will without too much coaxing join in the movement to enlighten those who made it through the promotion of some type of pageant or stage production or outdoor drama.

The point we want to reiterate is that if we are going into the project, let us go into it fully and with determination to make it a success. If we are going to have a pageant, let us have a good one. If we are going into this thing, let us not go into it half way.

It represents a big project. It will cost money. It will take time, energy, and enthusiasm. It will offer trying and difficult moments. But if the pageant or drama is worthwhile at all, it is worth fighting for, working for, and living for.

We don't mean to represent a dark picture. But we do want to acquaint the people fully with what to expect. And above all we don't want to see any half way job. With us we want a good job or no job at all.

There are many benefits which can come to us from the staging and promotion of such a production. Rich in history as we are, we have a brilliant story to tell. We have a moving story, full of romance, struggles, hardships, and successes. They are all there. And what our ancestors gave us was given as a blood bathed heritage. They fought and died that we who love our land today might enjoy it to the fullest.

It would not be in justice to those who paved the way for us to enjoy the blessings of life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness should we, the living, do anything less than the full job here.

The people of Bath cannot do the job alone. We doubt that the people of Beaufort county can do it alone. This era of history belongs to all the people of North Carolina.

We should watch our step carefully and lay our plans thoughtfully. We should leave no stone unturned which will add to the lustre, beauty, and life of this undertaking.

Above all, let us think in terms of "let us do this thing right or not at all."

Political Scouts Uncertain Over Senate Race Result

By LYNN NISBET
UNCERTAIN — If information filtering in to your reporter from all over North Carolina can be taken at face value, after sifting it down to essentials, the only sure thing about the U. S. Senate race between Kerr Scott and Alton Lennon is the outcome is uncertain.

It was not planned but was just one of those "happen-so's" that occur once in a while that four men whom your reporter has learned to rely upon for fairly authoritative information came by the office within the past three days. Two of them had spent nearly a week in the territory west of Charlotte, two had been in the area east of Raleigh. That leaves out the heavy voting Piedmont section.

It was also purely chance that on basis of past known affiliation the unofficial scouts were equally divided as to personal preference for Scott or Lennon in the current race. That is far less significant than the fact that all of them were worried about what they found.

The Lennon supporters said they found prevailing sentiment favoring Scott, and the Scott supporters said they found entirely too much Lennon sentiment to please them. Not being identified with any campaign organizations these men felt free to express their opinion, instead of coloring the report for propaganda purposes. The employed campaign workers usually insist that things are going their way. In this instance the unofficial observers seemed to concede that things are going the other way. In the long run it probably balances up and leaves the conclusion that it will be a fairly close race unless there is much more interest than now seems probable.

There was not found any interest at all for the other five candidates in the senatorial race, and very little in the contests for Treasurer and Commissioner of Insurance.

TAXES — Growers of flue cured tobacco in North Carolina sold their 1953 crop for a total of $441,873,772. Growers of Burley received about $7.5 million for their 1953 production.

A report of the Federation of Tax Administrators shows that cigarette taxes, imposed by 41 States, yielded $482 million in 1953—virtually the same as the year before. In other words, the State which levies special excise taxes on cigarettes got around $33 million more than North Carolina farmers got for their entire tobacco crop.

Meantime, the Federal Government last year collected over one and a half billion dollars in excise taxes on cigarettes. Taking into account tobacco products in other States and taxes on tobacco products other than cigarettes, and adding the special municipal levies in a number of large cities, it is apparent that users of tobacco products paid the several levels of Government more than twice as much as they paid the farmers who grew the tobacco.

The Federation of Tax Administrators also reports that gasoline taxes levied in all of the 48 States last year exceeded $2 billion for the first time in history. The take was about 9 per cent above 1952, which had gone 8.8

Business Today

An Idea That Failed

By ELMER ROESSNER
Channeling of government contracts to small businesses is a perpetual problem in government. Congressmen, administration leaders and voters demand—nay, insist—that small business get "fairer" shares of Uncle Sam's spending dollar. But in the end, most of the dollars go to the giant corporations.

Few if any people were surprised when Attorney-General Herbert Brownell Jr. reported recently that the government's program of fostering pools of small companies to handle defense contracts was a flop. The same sort of idea failed to work in America during World War II and there was little hope that it could be made to function during the rearmament program.

Under government auspices, 26 pools were organized. Sixteen got no contracts; 10 got contracts totaling $5,421,000. Most of the participants would have been better off if they had stood in bed.

The idea of encouraging little fellows to get together to handle contracts probably grew out of the "bits" and pieces" program in England during the war. That program was born of desperation and it was frightfully expensive. When big production facilities were bombed out, the government set up systems whereby bits and pieces of shells, bombs and other materiel were manufactured in tiny plants around the country, then assembled into finished weapons.

This scheme enabled the British to fight on through their darkest days. But parts had to be made by workers who were frequently unskilled, shipped around the country, and assembled at great difficulty and frequently after considerable delay.

The American economy is built on the mammoth production line. Mass-producing anything in any other manner is bound to be costly; twenty small manufacturers can never hope to achieve anything like the efficiency of an operation under a single management and a single roof.

Big corporations have subcontracted a large part of their government contracts. There are reasons for believing that some of this has been done at a loss, spreading the work to avert criticism. The General Services Administration has placed a large part of its buying with small suppliers and the Small Business Administration and the Department of Defense have succeeded in getting quite a few small contracts placed with small manufacturers.

But in general, the huge volume of government requirements can only be met by mass producers. The department has consistently championed small business. It has also championed the Boy Scouts. But when serious crimes develop, we need the police; when national defense is at stake, we need ever mightier production lines.

Sorry, but that's the way it is. FIGHT AGAINST OIL RESTRICTIONS IS FRANK

There is so much that is devious in lobbying and publicity that the present campaign of the Creole Petroleum Corp. is refreshing.

Creole is a Rockefeller corporation with the fastest concessions in oil-rich Venezuela. It ships a large part of its oil to the United States.

Right now there is a movement on to restrict the importation of foreign petroleum. This movement is sponsored largely by United States coal and independent petroleum companies. Naturally, Creole doesn't like it. So it persuaded the Venezuelan Chamber of Commerce of the United States to make a survey of American trade with Venezuela. This wasn't too hard to do, because Lloyd G. Smith, a Creole vice-president, is president of the Chamber.

The Old Male Authority Fading

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Most men will do anything for women.

They'll climb the highest molehill swim the deepest puddle—to hold an umbrella over 'em in the rain. Lift them tenderly in and out of revolving doors.

Most men will even marry women. Bring 'em a paycheck all their life. Rescue them from a strangling octopus at the beach—or a tight girdle at home. Even listen to 'em.

More and more men must have been listening to their wives lately, or how else can you explain why more and more men are busting out in pink shirts? Gaze at the masculine landscape around you. "Creeping pink-shirtism" is turning thousands of hairy male chests a rosebud nursery color.

Stockbrokers are wearing pink shirts. So are pawnbrokers. So are wrestlers and other professional actors, bankers (although I am not sure they would lend money to a man in a pink shirt), factory hands and bus drivers.

The white collar class has practically vanished. It's the pink collar class now. The average office looks like an apple orchard in spring bloom.

(Editor's note: What's wrong with pink shirts? My wife gave me one.)

(Boyle's note: What do you think my wife bought me for Easter—a beige sleeping bag?)

Now, mind you, I'm not denouncing pink shirts. I asked a friend of mine, who has worn them for years, what life in a pink shirt was like, and he said:

"A pink shirt gives you a happy feeling. Strange women come up to talk to you at cocktail parties, and not all of them are near-sighted—just strange. Street beggars, for some reason, avoid a man in a pink shirt so you save money. Small children and prowling dogs are sometimes frightened away by my pink shirt, but that's all right with me. I like cats, and my two cats seem to prefer me in a pink shirt, particularly after twilight.

"I'll admit there was one disadvantage to my pink shirt at the start. Whenever the boss looked around the office for someone he could offload some of his own work on, there I sat—as conspicuous as the rear end of an elephant in a telephone booth. But then the boss bought a pink shirt himself, and now-wonder why?—everybody in the joint is wearing one.

"If I wanted to catch his eye now, I'd have to grow a beard." Well, I'm reconciled to wearing a pink shirt, too, and I welcome the next blinding fog.

The point I want to make, men, is this: It is time for American men to put their foot down and say firmly: "Women, this far and no farther. Hold! Enough!"

There's nothing wrong with pink shirts in themselves, they are another step in woman's steady march to power over the prostrate male.

A husband today rarely tells his wife what she should wear. His influence is purely negative. He usually says only, "Well, dear, that is something that is nice, but it isn't for you."

But since a wife now buys most of her husband's clothing, or is the voice of decision, her influence is overwhelmingly positive. She says, "This is what I bought for you, Buster. Quit crying. Put it on. Mrs. Jones bought one just like it for her husband, and he looks real cute in it."

That is why I feel that today the average man more and more is dressing, not by his own standards, but by one of two standards:

1. By the way his wife thinks she would like to look—if she were a man.

2. By the way some neighbor's wife dresses her husband. Since a husband can't control his own wife's opinions of what she would wear if she were his sex—and since he has even less influence over the ideas of his neighbor's wife—I think it is time men ought to make a grab to regain their old authority.

DRINKS DEPLORED
 DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Friedrich W. Niehaus, professor of medicine at the University of Nebraska, says persons who drink have a tendency to overestimate their physical well-being. Another danger confronting the occasional drinker is obesity, Dr. Niehaus says two or three drinks before dinner are likely to make you eat too much.

Party Staged By Dead Man, Held As Last Request

DETROIT (AP)—Forty-five convivial folk wined and dined last night as guests of a dead man who wanted them to "have the last one on me."

The will of Carl Clarke, a wealthy bachelor who died last Nov. 17 at the age of 79, called for a party to be thrown to divide up 261 personal "trinkets" left over from his half-million-dollar estate. The rest of his fortune, made as president of the Monroe (Mich.) Steel Castings Co., went to nine charities.

The objects, like the party, were bizarre. They ranged from a tattered pair of snowshoes and an old-fashioned vacuum cleaner to original oil paintings and an etching of Abraham Lincoln.

Among the guests was Gordon MacEdward, a 66-year old printer who had known Clarke for 35 years. "He was not an eccentric man," said MacEdward. "He was a quiet man who shunned publicity. He would wilt the grass over his grave if he knew that the press was here eating the same filet mignon his friends are having."

"Carl was a man who appreciated things in life that we guests can't comprehend. He never looked at women. He fought all his life for the rights of the American Indian and Negroes."

"Most of the people at this party are members of the Wednesday Nighters Club" which Carl started back in 1914.

Clarke's club consisted of a stag group which gathered monthly, mostly at his apartment, to hear lectures on the fine arts by authorities.

Friends of Clarke and their wives ate $50-a-plate dinners while a string ensemble played from a stage and movie cameras ground away.

Guests filed by one by one to draw a number from a silk top hat. The person holding No. 1 got first choice of Clarke's personal effects, and so on until the 45 had picked. Then the numbers were reversed until the articles were gone.

What prompted this odd way of dividing the pieces? "Carl didn't know what we treasured," said MacEdward. "So he picked this way to let us have what we wanted."

Weapons Tossed In Blast Furnace

ATLANTA (AP)—Police Chief Herbert Jenkins reported yesterday that a barrel and a half of guns and knives were dropped into a blast furnace at a steel mill here. Fifteen slot machines also were tossed in.

"We think we have found a means of destroying them," Jenkins commented.

Formerly such weapons, taken in arrests, were battered with hammers.

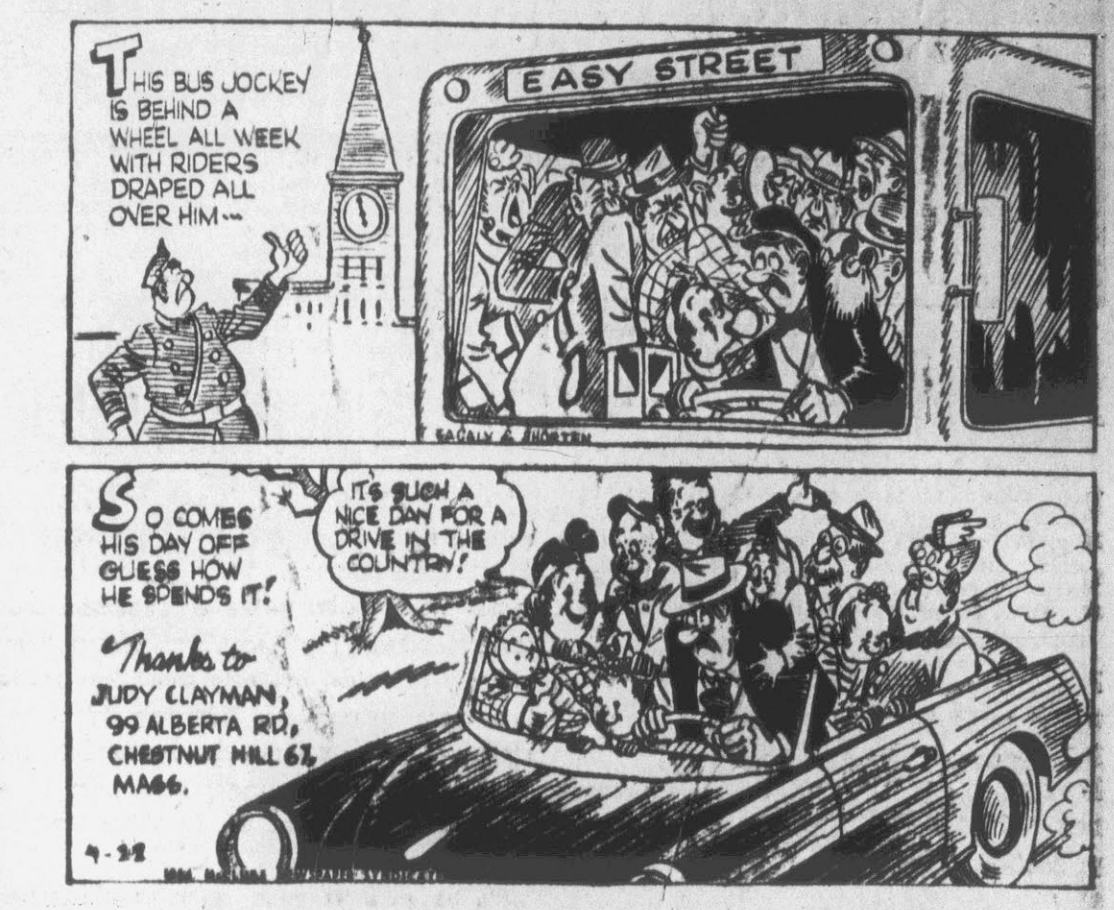

Suggests Whip For Car Thieves

BALTIMORE (AP)—A suggestion that whipping be used as a possible punishment for young men who persist in stealing automobiles was made yesterday by Judge S. Ralph Warnken in Youth Court.

The judge said it might be appropriate to whip the offenders when they enter prison and again when they are released 30 days later.

Aged Pony Has Brand New Foal

DENVER (AP)—Grandma Pokey is blind in one eye and her black spots are turning white with age.

At 25 years of age she's a centenarian—by human standards.

So you can imagine Mrs. Edwin L. Helm's surprise yesterday when she looked out the window and saw Grandma Pokey, a feeble Shetland pony, helping a newborn filly take its first steps.

Sen. Lennon Predicts McCarthy Will Be Relegated To Sidelines

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — When the truth comes out in the McCarthy-Cohn-Shine row, Joseph McCarthy "will be relegated to the sidelines in the opinion of the American people," U.S. Sen. Alton Lennon said last night.

He made his prediction in a series of questions following a speech at a public meeting sponsored by the Young Democrats Clubs of the University of North Carolina and Orange County.

During his talk, Lennon said he believes the awesome power of the hydrogen bomb will cause the Russians to "agree to an indefinite period of peace after using all the face-saving methods they can contrive within the next few months."

After his speech, the Tar Heel junior senator was asked what he thought of McCarthy and the methods employed by the Wisconsin Senator.

He said McCarthy is "a man who loves publicity" and has managed to get a lot of it with the help of the press, radio and television.

"Why, when he steps out of his office and says 'Boo,' Lennon quipped, "it's in the headlines."

There never would have been a public hearing on the McCarthy-Army row, Lennon asserted, if it had not been for "the courage character of one Republican member of the McCarthy subcommittee."

Because the one Republican member insisted the facts should be known, Lennon stated, the Democrats were able to have the hearing arranged.

"When the truth is out," he said, "McCarthy will continue to be in the Senate at least for a while, but he'll be relegated to the sidelines in the opinion of the American people."

In reply to a question, Lennon said he opposed the Bricker amendment to limit treaty making powers of the President, but that he supported Sen. Walter George's substitute. The George substitute, he explained, was a milder form of legislation which, if adopted as originally proposed, would have tied the President's hands.

At a dinner preceding his talk, Lennon said, "I wonder how many of you realize how close we are to conflict" in Indochina.

"I can't bring myself to believe," he declared, "that we should participate with combat troops in Indochina on any level."

Lennon, campaigning for the Senate, said he believes the "Russians are unwilling to risk the loss of their great cities for the sake of gaining more power. If my predictions are true then we shall have peace, not because the Russians like us better, but because they love their own lives and motherland more."

To Present Bull Calves On May 1

RALEIGH (AP) — The 36 contestants who won bull calves in the 21 mile walk from Kinston to Hargett's Cross-Roads will receive their calves in a ceremony here Saturday, May 1.

U.S. senatorial candidate W. Kerr Scott will pay off the 36 hikers. In addition, two bonus calves will be given. W. Tom Davis, Pink Hill farmer and lumberman who is co-chairman of the program, predicted a crowd of 5,000 will be on hand for the event.

A bonus calf will go to Mrs. Alice Aycock of Kinston Radio Station WISP. It was on her program that Scott first made his offer of a calf to anyone who could walk the 21 miles in less than the 6-hour time he chalked up in 1919.

This calf is being given by Dr. R. E. Earp of Selma, who was a highway commissioner during Scott's administration as governor.

The other bonus calf, given by Rom Harper, Pink Hill, R. I., will go to the winner of a free drawing among those who register during the holiday program. Davis said Harper is giving the calf "because he's proud of the Scott road program."

The other 36 calves, which will go to the winning hikers, were contributed by Tar Heel dairymen. Scott will present the calves to the winners. The first will go to Paul (Harlock) Simpson, Burlington postman who led the field in the calf walk with a time of 4 hours, 8 minutes.

Lawn Concert Is Given By Band

Several hundred people from the campus and the city of Greenville gathered on the lawn of the East Campus at East Carolina College Tuesday afternoon to hear the annual spring concert given by the college Concert Band.

A program of light popular music was presented by the student musicians. Herbert L. Carter of the department of music conducted the band. Among selections for the afternoon were the overture to the opera "Blossom Time" which will be presented next week by the Student Government Association at the college; "Serenata," a beguine by Leroy Anderson; selections from Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," and a group of marches.

Nixon Says U.S. Trying To Avoid Sending Soldiers

DES MOINES (AP) — America's foreign policy is designed to "avoid sending our boys to Indochina or anywhere else to fight," Vice President Nixon says.

But he told an Iowa Republican gathering last night that does not mean that America will keep its soldiers out of Indochina at the expense of letting the Communists move in.

Nixon was the principal speaker at a 125-plate fund-raising dinner. He criticized the Truman administration's foreign policy as one "characterized by weakness, inconsistency, compromise of principle at the conference table and an abandonment of our friends."

The Eisenhower administration's policy, on the other hand, he said, is based on "strength, firmness, consistency and non-surrender of principle at the conference table."

"We are convinced," he said, "that this policy is one which has the best chance to lead to peace and to avoid war."

He said the United States recognizes that the war in Indochina is a fight to save that country from "Communist colonialism" and added:

"If the Communists take Indochina, the danger of World War I will be tremendously increased."

That, he said, is why the United States' policy is to give "maximum material aid to the forces of the French and the Associated States of Indochina and to work for united action among all nations in the area" to resist further Communist conquest in Southeast Asia.

"That also is why at Geneva we shall work together with our allies for an honorable, peaceful settlement and against any settlement which would surrender Indochina to the Communists," he said.

Sale Of Savings Bonds Increases

The combined sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pitt County for the month of March totaled $110,959.75. The combined sales for the first quarter of this year were $290,815.75.

This sales announcement was made today by Pitt County Savings Bonds Chairman J. H. Waldrop.

According to the monthly sales report issued by Walter P. Johnson, state director, and W. H. Andrews Jr., state chairman of the U. S. Savings Bonds Division in Greensboro, the combined sales of Series E and H Bonds for the entire State of North Carolina for March totaled $4,313,148; for the year, $13,404,448.00.

In making this announcement, Chairman Waldrop stated that the sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in North Carolina were 9.5 per cent higher in March, 1954, than during the same month of 1953. The cumulative sales for the first quarter of 1954 showed an increase of 3.7 per cent. This was the best first quarter in seven years. Sales-wise, the Savings Bonds sales in North Carolina, and the nation as a whole, continues to ride an upward trend.

Chairman Waldrop further stated that "these sales increases are proof that investments by individuals in U. S. Savings Bonds are growing in popularity. When Americans save through U. S. Savings Bonds, they are securing the future of America while practicing thrift."

Scott Camp Denounces 'Unsigned' Statements

RALEIGH (AP) — Terry Sanford, state campaign manager of U.S. senatorial candidate W. Kerr Scott, says North Carolinians "are fed up with all unethical campaign devices, including unsigned leaflets."

In a prepared statement yesterday, Sanford criticized the use of unsigned campaign literature, advertisements and statements.

"Unsigned statements," he said, "are the work of cowards and there is no place in an honorable campaign for cowardly attacks on political opponents."

He added, "An unsigned statement is like an anonymous letter; it belongs in the waste basket. If it's not identified, you can be sure it's not true."

Sanford did not refer to any specific literature, but an unsigned leaflet distributed by U.S. Sen. Alton Lennon's headquarters may have prompted Sanford's statement. The leaflet accused Scott of having advocated a tax on land.

Lennon's publicity man, C. A. Upchurch Jr., said Lennon's headquarters assumed responsibility for the tax leaflet. He added it was not signed "because it had Sen. Lennon's name on it." The leaflet was mailed out with other Lennon literature.

Sanford noted in his statement that the counsel for the North Carolina Press Assn. recently issued a statement to the various newspapers "outlining for them the laws requiring acknowledgment by a campaign headquarters and a personal signature on all campaign advertisements. The same applies to leaflets, dodgers and circulars."

Sanford said, "If it is necessary to make a legitimate charge against

Double Mystery Behind Suicide Of Shop-Keeper

NYACK, N.Y. (AP) — Police here have a double mystery on their hands: why Raymond Jones hanged himself and why he preferred to run a tiny candy-news-paper store when he was worth at least $72,000.

After returning from World War II, Jones took over the small shop when his parents died. Everyone figured the store just enabled him to eke out a living.

Yesterday his body was found in the back of the closed store, hanging from a stairway railing. A routine check of the premises turned up the following:

Coins in a soda water box totaling $1,248.24; old cigar boxes stuffed with $22,230 in bills; two savings accounts of $25,908.90 and $18,740.47 respectively; a checking account of nearly $4,600 more. Authorities said Jones has no known relatives.

Vietminh Leader Said To Have Only Unity Appearances Among Backers

Editor's Note—This is the fourth of a series of articles on Indochina by William L. Ryan, AP specialist in Communist affairs. He interviewed scores of persons in Indochina, flew over the battle areas, and then went to Singapore to report his findings free of censorship. Ryan's concluding article in the series will appear tomorrow.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
SINGAPORE, April 22 (AP)—Ho Chi Minh has no real following in Viet Nam, said a Vietnamese leader. He is losing ground politically in Viet Nam, said a French officer. He would win three quarters of the vote in Viet Nam if there was an election tomorrow, said an American observer.

All three are more right than wrong. Ho's power was forced on the people in the areas he controls. Many people in the Vietminh areas have been disillusioned by what he has done to them with his power. In an election Communist terror in Red areas would frighten voters away from the polls. In other regions a combination of nationalism, hatred of the French and the appeal of Ho's propaganda probably would be decisive.

The Viet Nam side has only the appearance of unity, at best. There is even a feeling of rivalry and resentment between the south and the north. The south is a surplus area, the north a deficit area. Tonkin and Annam were protectorates when Cochinchina in the south was a colony, getting political experience with its own assembly. The southerners, who pay most of the taxes, are unwilling to accept the appearance of domination by the harder-working northern people.

That is only part of the story. Viet Nam has a number of political parties, but all seem made up only of leaders without members to speak for. One of the firmest unifying influences probably is the Catholic Church, but it has only two million members.

Religious sects operate their own armed forces. Only about a week ago, some of these para-military organizations announced willingness to place themselves under the national army. It probably took some persuasion and there are no firm prospects of success for the venture in view of the weakness of the Viet Nam government.

The oldest and the strongest of the armed sects is the Cao Dai, which actually is an attempt to embrace all religions. Basically, there was no real religion in the past in Viet Nam except ancestor worship. The Cao Dai has saints from many religions and from outside the religious field Victor Hugo, for example is a Cao Dai saint. The sect also has a pope in imitation of Rome, and cardinals — including women.

The Cao Dai has had physical control over a large area of south Viet Nam. Its armed force numbers about 20,000 effectives, regulars and local militia, with authority over about two million persons, like a state within a state. The Cao Dai, a member of the so-called anti-Communist nationalist bloc, has opposed the government in the past and has resisted having its forces taken into the national army. Armed by the French, the Cao Dais are fairly well equipped.

Another sect, the Binh Xuyen, has about 6,000 troops, also armed by the French and led by Gen. Le Van Bien, who is known as a gambling czar. This organization has control of the area from Saigon to the sea at Cap St. Jacques. It has gambling privileges to finance itself and it is also rumored it exacts tribute from Chinese merchants.

per cent Chinese who govern themselves on ancient congregational patterns and are not considered a political factor. The Hoa Hao sect has about 6,000 troops organized militarily on similar lines to the Cao Dai but far less influential.

Over-all there seems no single leader who can rally the whole country, no single ideal, no single rallying point at all. Possibly the only unanimity might be hatred of the Chinese, who dominated the country for a thousand years and whose troops pillaged after the Japanese left following World War II. But the ordinary peasants remain unaware that victory for Ho would mean victory for the Chinese too. Against all this, Ho has a tight organization of disciplined Communists, organized down to the village commissar level. This is being tightened even more with Chinese help in the form of "political educators" who are instructing Vietminh Communists how to teach the villagers their political manners. The Communist Laodong (Workers) party parallels the government organization directly. Over-all control is totally in the hands of the Tonkoi, central executive committee of the Communist party.

Ho divided the country into military districts with Communists in control of each district. The army is organized on the approved Communist line with a political commissar wielding unquestioned power over military officers.

The best guess is that Moscow wanted Ho and the Vietminh to be victorious without palpable intervention from Russia or China. The fact that the Chinese have now upped to an estimated 6,000 their advisers and technicians and that Russian supplies and trucks are pouring into northern Indochina does not alter this plan, since only appearances interest Moscow.

One good bet concerning Ho—the brilliant, fragile mystery man of the Orient—is that there is no case on record of his having disobeyed a Moscow order. It seems unlikely he would do so now. So it will probably be Moscow calling the turn for Indochina at the Geneva conference. Ho, son of a ruling class mandarin but a revolutionary since boyhood, long has been Moscow's most dependable political brain in Southeast Asia. Whether he is now a military brain too is open to grave doubt. More likely the Russians and Chinese have furnished new military brains from the outside.

Ho at 19 shipped aboard a French vessel as a cabin boy on travels which eventually took him to Paris, via the United States, Britain and Germany. A passionate student of Marx and communism he was equally passionate about languages, eventually speaking besides his native Annamite and dialects, French, Mandarin Chinese, English, Russian and German.

Ho started the Indochinese national independence movement after World War I. Moscow caught him up in 1923 and took him there for two years study. Then he went to Thailand via China and from Bangkok directed the Indochinese underground. He returned to Moscow in 1927 for Comintern world strategy meetings and was assigned to organize the Indochinese party and take over the movement in Malaya and Thailand.

In a shift of line by Moscow, Ho turned to collaboration with the French. After the fall of France and the Japanese advance during World War II, Ho took refuge in Yunnan province in China. There he formed the Viet Nam Doc Lap Dong Minh Hoi (League for the Independence of Viet Nam, called Vietminh for short). It was made up of refugees from Indochina.

The Japanese were driven out of Indochina and Chinese Nationalists occupied the country to the 16th Parallel. Ho proclaimed the independent state of Viet Nam. He entrenched himself because the Chinese were stubborn about getting out of the north, although Allied landings had re-established French authority in the south. When the Chinese finally pulled out, the French felt they had to compromise with Ho. They recognized his state as independent within the French Union. Bao Dai abdicated as emperor and joined Ho's cabinet as an adviser. But Ho and the French differed about the meaning of independence and a clash came in December 1946, beginning the jungle hit-and-run war which has never stopped.

Ho has surrounded himself with able, fiercely dedicated and ruthless men. Among them are his power twins, Party Secretary General Truong Chin and Vice President Tham Van Dong. Among the most interesting men in the Ho retinue is Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, defense minister and commander in chief of the army.

Giap hates the French. Now 42 years old a native of Annam, he was a scholar and a history professor as well as a revolutionary, a veteran of French prisons, his hatred deepened when his wife, jailed as a subversive, died in her cell in 1941.

These men handle the party and keep discipline. When necessary they purge and get rid of suspects by shooting them. Gradually the Laodong party squeezed out all other nationalist elements from a "national united front movement."

The Communists took that movement over completely.

This is the kind of an organization Viet Nam faces if there is a cease-fire and the French fall back. It would be an uneven contest.

The eggs of birds are large because they contain large stores of food for the developing embryo.

Orioles Hurler May Be Glad He Didn't Hurl No-Hit Game

Rizzuto Peeved By News Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Phil Rizzuto was burned up today over a printed report that the New York Yankee front office was fearful of the great little shortstop was slipping.

A story in a local paper said Rizzuto, "the littlest Yankee of them all was giving the Yankee brass the biggest worry" because of his shabby play in the exhibitions and during the first week of the regular season.

"I'd like to know who said that" the usually affable and mild-mannered Rizzuto barked. "I just can't believe anybody in the front office would say a thing like that."

"I wouldn't mind so much if it were true," the 35-year-old 5-6 Scooter complained. "But I know I'm far from being through. In fact, I won't be surprised if I had one of my best years this season. I know I never felt better in my life. Just because I'm 35 they're writing my obituary."

"I know I didn't look good in the exhibition games," Phil went on. "But all I was trying to do there was get myself in condition. Look when the time comes that I start slipping, nobody will have to tell me. I'll know it before anybody else. When the day comes that I think I'm hurting the club, I'll just walk off the field and hang up my glove. I'm not going to be a drug on anybody."

64 Quality For Golf Tournament

Sixty-four golfers have qualified for the annual club split tournament of the Greenville Golf and Country club which begins this week.

The qualifying period for the annual tournament ended yesterday with Kroll Webb and Boley Farley taking top spots in qualifying rounds with par 72.

First round matches in the tournament which will last for four weeks must be completed by April 28. There will be four flights in the tournament, with players grouped in flights according to qualifying scores. In addition to the championship flight, there will be flights one, two and three.

St. Moye, as defending champion in the annual tournament will be ranked among the favorites as will Farley, past champions Webb, W. L. Allen, Reynolds May, and championship contenders including Ben Harrison and Don Conley, Jr.

Sixteen players will compete in each flight, and there will be consolation flights for losers in the first round of flight play.

At the same time the golf tourney is going on, the club will also have a junior tournament which will consist of two flights of golfers under 16 years of age.

Ben Harrison is tournament chairman this year for the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Bullet Bob Turley may still be nursing a home run headache today, but he probably will end up glad he didn't pitch that no-hitter.

Turley toils for the Baltimore Orioles and last night he came within two outs of holding the Cleveland Indians hitless. He wound up getting beaten 2-1 when Al Rosen singled and Larry Doby, twice a strikeout victim, lined a high pitch 90 feet into the right field stands of Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

"It was over his head," Turley said. "He never should have swung."

Turley is so fresh out of the Army that he wasn't around the last time a member of his team pitched a no-hitter. That was in May last season when the Orioles were still the St. Louis Browns. Bobo Holloman was the author. Nobody would go broke giving prizes for answers to the question "Where's Holloman now?"

GI Paradise In Army's Bavarian Holiday Center

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany (AP)—Being a GI on duty in this Bavarian mountain city is as tough as getting $10 bills free. Most soldiers here look like recruiting ads.

A big U.S. Army rest and recreation center is busy constantly handling soldier visitors. But for the boys whose job it is to stay here a weekend pass can mean anything from a chamois hunt to a 60-mile an hour trip down a mountain on skis.

And the night time is not neglected. One big club features a dance floor which is dismantled every night while an ice skating troop cavorts before dining GIs.

One soldier cracked as he sipped a stein of foaming Bavarian beer: "Year, I suppose I'll be going home one of these days — when I'm 80 years old!"

Bobo never pitched another complete game for the Browns and he was lost in the minors by the time Turley shed his khaki last August.

A blond Greek-god type who stands 6-2 and weighs 215, Turley throws harder than any pitcher who has hit the big time since Bobby Feller moved from his Iowa farm to the Indians. He was the hottest property on the winter baseball market and the new owners of the Orioles turned down cash offers of $150,000 and upwards for his services.

Like Feller he is a strikeout artist. In 60 innings last season he struck out 61 men, despite a 2-6 record. He fanned nine on Baltimore's opening day when he beat Chicago 3-1 and last night he nailed 14 Indians on strikes.

The new Orioles like the old Browns, don't seem able to get him many runs. Seven of his eight games last year were decided by a single run, just like last night when eight Baltimore hits off Bob Lemon produced a first-inning run and no more.

Bob Porterfield of the Washington Senators, whose luck is usually all bad, was more fortunate than Turley last night. He pitched a three-hitter against the Philadelphia Athletics and his mates supported him with a 13th attack that produced a 131 victory.

New York whipped Boston 5-1 in the only other American League game. Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia 6-3. Pittsburgh edged the New York Giants 5-4. St. Louis beat Cincinnati 4-2, and Milwaukee thumped Chicago 7-3 in the National League.

The Yankees used their patented weapon, the home run, to ruin young Leo Kiely's return from the Army to the Red Sox. Yogi Berra, Gil McDougald and Mickey Vernon pounded Kiely's left-handed slants into the Yankee Stadium seats while the Sox were being mystified by Eddie Lopat.

The Phils threw their game away in Brooklyn in the first inning. Three throwing errors by the infield sandwiched between five walks and a single gave the Dodgers three runs. The league champions added three more in the next two innings and Billy Loes lasted long enough to silence the Phils' threats although he needed help from Jim Hughes in the ninth.

Whitely Lockman had a bad night in Pittsburgh. The Giants' first baseman hit a home run in the fifth inning only to have it disallowed because a base runner, Monte Irvin, had called time. Then in the eighth inning he muffed a pickoff throw from Don Liddle, and Toby Atwell scampered home from third base with the winning run.

Frank Thomas drove in three of the five Pirate runs with a two-on home in the first inning. Gerry Staley of the Cards won his first game and a new suit of clothes in Cincinnati. Manager Eddie Stanky, moaning over his pitiful pitching in desperation offered the new suit to the first hurler to stay the distance. Staley immediately responded with a nine-inning eight-hitter.

Stanky wasn't around for much of it. He was chased in the third inning by Umpire Bill Jackowski for making rude gestures after being warned to stay within the lines of the coaching box.

Warren Spahn Milwaukee's biggest winner last year, won his second straight with the help of a three-run homer by Eddie Mathews and a two-run blast by Joe Adcock. Adcock may not be on hand much longer. He received orders yesterday to report for an Army physical May 28.

Super Substitute by Pap

Whitfield's Boasting Not Bothering Regular Milers

NEW YORK (AP)—Men who are good at running the mile, which still is the "golden event" of the track world, consider themselves to be somewhat apart from the run-of-mine performers such as sprinters and middle-distance specialists, and so are not taking too kindly to the social aspirations of Mal Whitfield.

As far as they are concerned, Whitfield merely is the world's best middle-distance runner, the holder of two straight Olympic 800-meter gold medals. That, in the opinion of the milers, scarcely qualified the former Ohio State star to elbow his way into their select company, much less shoot off his head about trying to run the first four-minute mile.

When the Olympic king made his announcement last fall that he had decided to more than double his distance this summer and expressed some confidence that he could show the milers a thing or two, the reaction of the latter group was immediate and to the point. They said, and for publication, that Whitfield was full of warm air. They predicted he would get his lumps the first time he messed around with grown men.

Well, the time has come, and on Saturday at Franklin Field in Philadelphia Whitfield will be given his first chance. The opposition will include two of this country's best Fred Will and Horace Ashenfelter both of whom were quoted as saying Whitfield would have to learn the hard way. Under the circumstances, they can be counted upon not to do much loafing. The race also will introduce the crack New Zealander Murray Halberg, who recently ran a 4:04.4 mile on grass in his own country.

In other words, Whitfield is not starting out to work his way up from the bottom. He is tackling the elite among the golden boys right off, and if he beats them or even stays close to the pace he will have gone a long way toward silencing the doubters. Frankly, the average track expert expects to see the Olympic hero rocking and reeling and losing ground fast toward the finish, but he can't be sure.

With the big test finally before him, Whitfield has been making no rash predictions. He says merely that if he gets licked Saturday he will keep on trying to become the world's best miler. He remarks cheerily that "it's too late to back out now."

New Bern Bears Here For Northeastern Baseball Contest

By WAYNE BISHOP Reflector Sports Writer

After taking a few days off for the Easter vacations, the Greenville track and baseball squads swing back into action this afternoon. The baseball team will be host to the New Bern Bears in a Northeastern Athletic Conference contest at Guy Smith Stadium. The track team begins final preparations for the last two dual meets of the year.

Left-hander Bill Hendrix is slated to start against the Bears this afternoon in a conference struggle. The hardluck pitcher is considered the best of Coach Bo Farley's lot, but so far this year he has recorded only a record of no wins and two losses. In two games this year Hendrix has started but succumbed to a relief pitcher in the latter innings. In both games the relief pitcher went on to receive credit for the victory when the G-men rallied and won.

The G-men take a conference record of three wins and two losses in to the game and an overall record of four wins and three losses.

Two Dual Meets

Over on the track side of Guy Smith Stadium, Coach Bill Kittrell's Phantom endermen will be going through a workout with the East Carolina College track squad. The practice meet will have no official score kept and will be run entirely for practice. The meet will not count on the record of either team.

The Greenies have been laying off during the holidays to keep the players from getting stale during the long grind of the season. Practice will be resumed full scale this afternoon and until the season is over.

The endermen have only two dual meets left on their schedule and one big meet. The two dual meets are in Raleigh and Fayetteville with the big meet being the State Meet in Chapel Hill on May 7.

The G-men will be heavily favored to win the dual meets and are rated a good chance to place highly in the State Meet. Both Raleigh and Fayetteville have fallen before the attack of the G-men this year. Raleigh was defeated 66-47 and Fayetteville was downed 65-48. Both of the teams finished behind the Greenies in the Eastern Regionals at Durham. In that meet the Green Phantoms placed second in a field of four teams.

Greenville will be one of the favored teams in the State Meet because of their showing in the dual meets. In that meet it will be entirely up to the individual stars to do the work. The players who finished second or third in the dual meets would probably finish in the second ten at the State Meet. The Greenies have several players who are capable of placing at the State Meet and may surprise some of the larger schools that have been winning it year after year.

Las Vegas Opens $35,000 Tourney

LAS VEGAS Nev. (AP)—The $35,000 Las Vegas Tournament of Champions gets under way today, with the favored Sam Snead and 18 other name professionals aiming at the $10,000 top prize.

The 72-hole event, inaugurated last year and won by a longshot, Al Bessellink, is restricted to winners of a major open tournament in the past year.

Bessellink, of course, is back. Also on deck, and highly regarded, are Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Doug Ford, Earl Stewart Jr., Ted Kroll, Bob Toski Ed (Porky) Oliver, ex-amateur king Gene Littler, Ed Furgol, Dave Douglas, Fred Wampler, Art Wall Jr., Shelley Mayfield, Walter Burkemo and Chandler Harper, who was runner-up by one stroke for the big money last year.

There were two other eligibles for the event, Ben Hogan and Lew Worsham. Hogan does not list this one on his curtailed tournament schedule.

Worsham accepted, but yesterday was scratched from the list. PGA officials said the winner of the $25,000 "World" tournament at Chicago last summer was asked by the home club directors at Oakmont, Pa., to skip the event because of his many other road commitments.

TV, Gil Turner Help Bobby Jones

By RALPH BERNSTEIN PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Television and Gil Turner are making life much easier for Bobby Jones, his four kids and his expectant wife.

Jones arrived in Philadelphia last month for a 10-round bout with Turner. The 29-year-old Californian was unranked and figured so much cannot fodder for the ambitious local boy. But Jones, a 31 underdog, won a split decision.

An accident said Turner and his following. It couldn't happen again. It didn't. Instead of a split decision, the methodical Jones won on a 10th round technical knockout here last night in the return bout. He was only a 2-1 underdog this time.

So Jones who came here with little or no reputation, leaves with two impressive victories, his pockets lined with green stuff to take care of the little Jones kids and mamma, and prospects of a big outdoor fight in June.

Both of the Jones-Turner fights were part of the Wednesday night TV fights (CBS) so Jones picked up $4,000 in video money. He is supposed to have wrangled a $7,000 guarantee from Promoter Herman Taylor for the encore.

Bulldogs Here Again As Battle Of Bohunk Enters Second Round

East Carolina College's baseball Pirates will be trying to bring the Bohunk Bucket back home when they swing back into action Saturday afternoon.

The Bohunk is the symbol of athletic supremacy between East Carolina and Atlantic Christian College and the Bulldogs have the bucket right now. They are holding it on the strength of a 3-2 baseball victory over the Bucs last week.

The Pirates have been idle, so far as game activity is concerned, since the loss to ACC. Practice sessions have been another matter, however.

Considerable emphasis is being placed on the Bucs' hitting attack, something that has been notoriously weak thus far. Only one member of the "regulars" is hitting 300 so far, shortstop Paul Jones. He has nine hits in 30 trips to the plate. No other Buc batter is within 15 points of the 300 mark.

Atlantic Christian, rolling along behind a smooth combination of batting and pitching, improved its record to 5-2 for the season by defeating Guilford 6-4 yesterday. Long John Marley, the 6-10 freshman basketball star, pitched the victory for the Bulldogs. Ronald Percise, the classy shortstop of the Bulldogs, led the hitting.

The Bulldogs victory yesterday was not all ACC effort but included one costly error by the Quakers. That was in the fourth inning when Guilford's Bill Charlton dropped a grounder by Percise with the bases loaded. All three runs scored after the ball got away from Charlton who played high school ball on the same club with Percise.

Starting line-ups for the game Saturday are something of a question. East Carolina Coach Earl Smith has been experimenting extensively in practice sessions but has made no formal announcements so far. Some line-up changes are expected, however.

TAKE THE WHEEL—just for the joy of it

(Another big reason for trying a '54 Buick)

UNLESS you've tried it yourself, you're going to find it hard to believe. But when you press the pedal of a 1954 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflo, joy reigns—and so do you. You feel the joyous thrill of commanding instant response, the solid "take hold," the firm authority of your acceleration. You feel a joyous exhilaration at the utter smoothness of the forward carry—a completely infinite smoothness that is there every inch of the way. And you feel a deep and abiding joy at the simplicity of it all, the ease with which you drive, the blessed restfulness of travel with a truly automatic transmission working its wonders. As we said, you'll find this hard to believe—until you try it yourself. Until you try TT Dynaflo with the stepped-up V8 horsepowers of the 1954 Buicks. Until you try it with the new buoyancy and the new handling sureness of the improved Million Dollar Ride. Until you try it with the new visibility, the new luxury, the new "look of tomorrow" styling that are part and parcel of every 1954 Buick. So, we want you to be our guest at the wheel of a 1954 Buick with Twin-Turbine Dynaflo this week. During April, 1,500,000 people will guest-drive the 1954 Buicks, and join the Thrill Of The Month Club by doing so. We cordially invite you to join them, for a real thrill. Call us today. Dien Bien Phu Siege Witness Says Rainy Season May Save Fortress

Editor's Note — French military censorship in Indochina has prevented correspondents there from filing eyewitness accounts of the bitter fighting raging at the besieged French Union fortress of Dien Bien Phu. Here is a report from a veteran of that epic struggle, a German just returned home after release from the French Foreign Legion.

By ULRICH GRUDINSKI
FLENSBURG, Germany, (AP)—I see it this way, knowing the men who are fighting for Gen. de Castries—if they can hold out until the last of April or the first of May when the rainy season begins, the French forces can win at Dien Bien Phu.
That opinion of the bloody north-west Indochina battle was voiced here today by Horst Lemke, a blond 24-year-old German electrician. After five years in the French Foreign Legion, he was among the last to be flown out of the beleaguered fortress where Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' outnumbered French Union troops are battling legions of the Communist-lead Vietminh rebels. He left Dien Bien Phu March 7, just five days before rebel artillery closed down the only air escape route from the encircled plain. Because of French censorship in Indochina, his was the first detailed interview with a combat veteran of the bitter, brutal battle.

"The fighting spirit of the French Union troops is wonderful and the men have a great and warm loyalty for Gen. de Castries," Lemke said.
"They'd go through blazing fires for him and they fight with bravery and with confidence.
"You can't talk about fighting spirit when you talk about the Vietminh.
"They don't fight with loyalty; they always looked to me like they were blindly obedient machines, as though somebody behind them was forcing them forward mercilessly to their death.
"They throw themselves at the defenses wildly. Much of it's at night. And it's bloody and vicious.
"There's lots of hand-to-hand fighting—and it means close hand-to-hand fighting.
"You can see your opponent's eyes.
"It's seldom if ever that any quarter is granted.
"Casualties are heavy. The Communists don't care about their losses."
In all, Lemke said, there were then about 12,000 French Union soldiers in the besieged garrison when he left. Reliable sources in Indochina believe paratroop reinforcements have swelled it to about 14,000 now, though the French have never announced their force's size. Attacking them are an estimated 45,000 Vietminh.
Lemke said the Vietminh "come in at night, spilling out of the jungle around Dien Bien Phu. They swarm in like locusts and they burst out of their foxholes."
"Those devils are using Russian-made guns—and good ones too—tommyguns, mortars, artillery and antiaircraft guns. Their radar-guided antiaircraft fire is murderous.
"But their ground troops like to fight with their knives and they swing them savagely in hand-to-hand fighting.
"Sometimes it was like a nightmare to meet them in the light of the moon and listen to their wild cries as they charged.
"My guardian angel stood near me or I'd never be here now."

New! Mrs. Filbert's LIGHT MAYONNAISE

The old-fashioned heaviness is gone!

You never tasted anything like this!

Mrs. M. V. Filbert, President

GENUINE mayonnaise—but what a difference! Wonderful rich flavor—with no oily heaviness! Mrs. Filbert's new Mayonnaise is light with delicate egg whites, light with foamy egg yolks. Light with a salad oil so fine it fluffs away into the eggs—you taste the richness, but never the oil! Smooth, smooth with the gentlest vinegar... even the spices are soft-flavored.
"I use real lemon juice for sparkle," says Mrs. Filbert. "My LIGHT Mayonnaise aims to please your lighter taste. It's so delicate you could eat it by the spoonfull!" No oily heaviness! Delicious!... Eat some today.

Only a woman could make it taste so good!

Tobacco Setting Is Still Limited

RALEIGH (AP)—Field setting of tobacco in North Carolina has been limited almost entirely to the south eastern or Border Belt counties, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.
In a report for the week ending April 17, the agency said the supply of tobacco plants is ample and in fair to good condition. Most plant beds are free of disease and insects. Blue mold has been held in check by proper control measures, the report stated.

French Official Praises Bomber

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—France's air minister, Louis Christiens, praised the "versatile" B26 last night and called it one of the most important weapons in the Indochinese conflict. He arrived at Wright-Patterson AFB while on a tour of U.S. Air Force bases.
He said more American planes are needed by French forces in Indochina. A good airborne supply is absolutely essential for victory there, he said.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT
"HERE'S Johnny," warned Julia, hearing the outer door close. Ravel opened the inner door. "My word! Sewell's still on crutches."
 "Of course. He probably will be for weeks yet."
 "I meant to come over here in the first place," Sewell explained, when they had got him seated at the dinner table. "Started up your lane, and then I saw a strange car parked out there and thought you had company, so I went over to Williamson's. Didn't know it was just the doctor here. That apartment of mine has got pretty lonesome since both the kids went away. I never thought I'd miss them, but I do."
 "Has Sally gone away too?" Gale asked innocently.
 Julia watched Sewell's face. It tightened slightly; then his chin set and he drew a deep breath. "I sent her down to Florida with Rhody," he said. "Rhody's throat wasn't healing right and Sally needed a change too. May go down myself after a while. We might decide to stay all summer."
 John-Mark was quieter somehow. Julia observed. He still looked directly into her eyes when he spoke to her, he still put on the same boyish and engaging smile, but the ebullience was gone out of him. He did not whoop with laughter or eat enormously, though Thelma worried at him and passed dishes to him coaxingly.

 It was a very pleasant and friendly meal. When it was over, John-Mark said "Come over and see what I've done to the house, Dooley. The last guy in white pants has taken his brushes and ladders out of the place, and Tony and I have been smearing wax till I've got housemaid's knee and Tony groans every time he draws a breath."
 "Let me come over in the morning," Julia suggested. "Perhaps the sun will be shining then. I don't have to go back till late tomorrow."
 "Can't you stay overnight, doctor?" Gale asked. "We have plenty of room."
 Pete shook his head, smiling at her. "Sorry—I'll be on call after 4 in the morning. That's when the smashed-up kids who've been mixing gasoline and whiskey usually get hauled in for repairs."
 "Pierce," Sewell said, unaware that unconsciously he was connecting Pierce with Pete's early-dawn casualties. "Is doing fine out yonder. Took his first solo flight last week."

 Gale said: "You're really going to need some younger person soon to help Tony, John-Mark. Not that you'd want to let the poor old man go, of course."
 "I couldn't. It would break his heart. Even Tony doesn't know how old he is, but he was a grown man when I was a kid, a heck of a long time ago."
 The chauffeur held the car door open, holding the crutches while John-Mark and Pete helped Sewell into his car and they drove away. Julia never knew exactly how it was that she found herself holding Pete Marshall's hand out there in the dark.
 "Poor old fellow," Pete said low. "I'd better finish up that business. Too many people will see her down there. I'll see Albright tomorrow and suggest that he go down there and take her farther away—our west, or to Nassau or somewhere. I went out to see the Adamases."
 "I thought about them I worried for fear the old lady might talk."
 "Albright's taking care of them—so long as they keep still. One cheap and they derail the gravy train."
 John-Mark came around Pete's car then. "Why don't we go over to the house now, Dooley?" he suggested. "Tony can make some coffee—I want you to see how nice it looks."
 "I want to go over with you and return your chains Williamson," Pete said. "Spring is here at last—we hope."
 "You go with the doctor, Johnny," Julia urged. "I'll come over in the morning. I will, really. I'm just too tired to appreciate anything."
 "Well, come over to breakfast then," John-Mark was insistent. "I'll make the coffee myself."
 "Gale would be hurt, Johnny. I have so little time at home—but I'll come shortly after, I promise."
 "I'll say good night to the others," Pete went up the steps. Ravel was standing in the open door. She stood aside for Pete to pass, and in the light from the globe overhead Julia saw their eyes meet and clash and Ravel's head go up a little higher.
 Then Ravel came running down the steps. "What were you two moaning about down here?" she demanded.
 "Sewell," Julia answered promptly. "He's broken terribly." "Conscience. He can't get that silly woman out of his mind," Ravel said heartlessly.
 Pete came out then, with his hat in his hand. "Good-night," he said to Ravel; and to Julia, "See you tomorrow, Taber."
 She said "Yes, doctor good-night." And as an afterthought she said: "Good-night, Johnny."
 "I forgot to thank Gale for my dinner," he called back as he got into Pete's car. "Tell her for me, will you?"
 "She's used to it," Ravel said as she followed Julia into the house.
 Gale was sitting in front of the

Would you trade a Penny for a Dollar?

You can if you use Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda for your top-dressing and side-dressing needs. It costs a little more because it's worth more. But the difference in cost usually can be measured in pennies per acre, while the difference in value often amounts to dollars per acre.

Chilean "Bulldog" Soda gives you generous extra value. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate. It's 100 per cent available (quick-acting); 100 per cent dependable. The minor elements make crops stronger, healthier. The sodium—26 pounds in every 100-pound sack—is a key to maximum returns on your entire fertilizer investment. It offsets the bad effects of acid-forming fertilizers...increases the efficiency of mixed fertilizers containing them. It releases "locked-up" potash in the soil...increases the availability and efficiency of soil phosphates...reduces potash, calcium and magnesium losses by leaching...develops larger, deeper root systems.

Sodium builds up the productivity of your land—more each year. It's an essential element for some crops...beneficial to most and necessary for maximum yields of many.

Pennies-per-acre difference in cost may mean dollars-per-acre difference in value to you. Chilean "Bulldog" Soda is the best fertilizer your money can buy. Use it for all of your top-dressing and side-dressing needs.

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exercising or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.
 Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 16 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Cases Heard In City Police Court

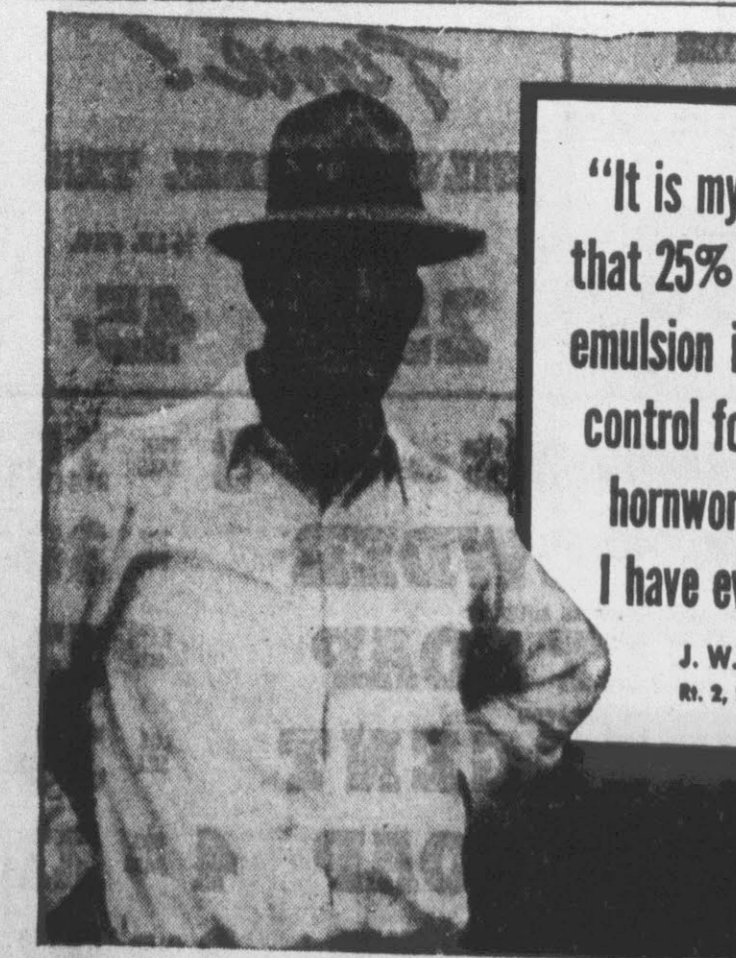

By CHESTER WALSH
 In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Wiedbe disposed of 12 cases, nine of them involving violations of motor vehicle or traffic laws.
 Roman H. Williams of near Ayden, failure to yield right of way, prayer for judgment continued to April 28 on condition that the defendant pay $15 court costs, and not operate a motor vehicle until and unless he makes restitution for property damage to W. W. Speight of Greenville for damage to his car in an automobile collision.
 No operator's license: Joseph Gray, Negro, not proessed; Earl Moore, Negro, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $15 court costs; William G. Moore, paid court costs.
 Johnny Willis, failure to keep proper lookout, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $15 court costs, and he is to make restitution for damage to George Potter.
 Billy Davis, Negro, was fined $5 for allowing a non-licensed person to operate his car; Barbara Morris, Negro, was fined $5 for driving without an operator's license.
 Edmund Zulawski, speeding, fined $15, and the judgment provides that he is not to drive a car for 10 days.
 Woodrow McRoy, paid $5 for not stopping at a stop sign.
 The case in which James Hemby was charged with damaging personal property, was not proessed.
 Drunk: Robert E. Cullter, $15; Ronald E. Nasalski, $10, and the court ordered that he is not to attend any dance at the armory on a Saturday night in Greenville for six months.

Hearings Will Be On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The complete public hearings of the McCarthy-Army feud will be televised by three major networks, ABC, NBC and Dumont.
 CBS will not pick up the pooled telecast but will offer twice-a-day summaries and interviews on its news programs at 7 a.m. and 11:30 p.m. (EST). The Mutual network does not plan any television coverage of the hearings which start today in Washington.

President Will Prolong Holiday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower has decided to prolong his vacation here, after an interruption Thursday and Friday for a series of speeches.
 The President's headquarters announced Wednesday that he will fly back to Augusta Friday night from Kentucky. Indications when he arrived here April 13 were that the vacation would end today.

"It is my opinion that 25% RHOthane emulsion is the best control for tobacco hornworms that I have ever used."

J. W. THOMAS
 Rt. 2, Snow Hill, N. C.

When hornworms show up—be ready for them. Kill them with RHOthane—the original TDE insecticide. That's what experienced tobacco growers do.

RHOthane offers you these important advantages:

1. Fast-acting control of hornworms at lower cost. RHOthane TDE has proved its value during many seasons of severe hornworm infestations. It's the only recommended hornworm insecticide providing 3-way safety: to growers, crop handlers and smokers.

2. It is available as dust or spray—both are equally effective against hornworms.

3. It also controls the budworm and flea beetle.
 Ask your dealer about RHOthane TDE. And get your descriptive folder, "Stop Hornworm, Budworm and Flea Beetle with RHOthane TDE."

RHOthane is a trademark, Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. and is principal ingredient.

Red-Tape Fight Nears Success

OMAHA (P)—James P. Davies is near his goal—a $17 tax refund after a 29-day tussle with county red tape. It all started when Mrs. Davies paid the taxes on the family car while Mr. Davies was out of town. Later, Davies paid the same taxes when Mrs. Davies was out of town. When they compared notes, Davies set out to get back the extra $17 they had paid.

For hours he toured county offices, moving from the treasurer to the assessor to the County Board. Now the latter has approved a refund. The present rate of increase in the number of human beings never has been equalled in the history of man says the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization.

made in the special proceeding entitled "Daniel Jones et al vs Mamie Jones Turnage, et al," the undersigned commissioners will on the 30th day of May, 1954, at 12:00 o'clock noon before the courthouse in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, that certain tract of land lying and being in Griffon, Ayden Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and more accurately described as follows: Lying and being situate in Ayden Township, and on the south side of Main Street in the Town of Griffon, BEGINNING at the C. F. Phillips corner, running thence with the edge of Main Street a westerly course 63 feet to a stake; thence a southerly course with Eleanor W. Gower's line, 184 feet to a ditch; thence down said ditch, 63 feet to C. F. Phillips' back corner; thence with C. F. Phillips' line to Main Street, the point of beginning. Reference is made to those deeds of record in Book R-22 at p. 44, and C-15 at p. 324. Purchaser will be required to deposit ten per cent (10%) of bid on day of sale to show good faith. This the 20th day of April, 1954. M. E. OAVENDISH S. O. WORTHINGTON Commissioners Apr. 22-29 May 6-13

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) Aircrafts showed unusual strength today as the rest of the stock market sagged. Douglas Aircraft on its sharply higher earnings and increased dividend opened on a block of 2,500 shares up 3/4. It gained 4% yesterday. It fell away in later trading and then ran its gain to 4 points before falling back again.

Other aircrafts posted gains of fractions to around 2 points with Boeing favored.

Price changes throughout the rest of the list were fractional with a few exceptions. A majority of stocks were lower.

Trading started on a mixed basis, but within the first hour the lower trend was established. That persisted into the early afternoon. Business maintained a rather subdued pace in the neighborhood of yesterday's 1,870,000 shares.

The steel, motors, oils, distillers, radio-television, and electrical equipments were steady to higher. Lower were the utilities, building materials, coppers, chemicals, railroads and a long list of miscellaneous issues including the tobacco, textiles, and air lines.

American Airlines lost a fraction on a sharply lower earnings statement for the first quarter. Also down were U.S. Rubber, American Smelting Air Reduction, American Can, Celanese, U.S. Gypsum, and Santa Fe.

Higher were United Aircraft, Lockheed, Republic Aviation, Socony-Vacuum, and Goodrich.

Raleigh (AP) — (NCDA)— Hog prices steady to mostly 25 higher. Air Reservists To Talk Plans

Flight "D" of the 9948th Air Force Reserve Squadron will discuss plans for summer "get togethers" at tonight's meeting in the Men's Day Room of the Austin Building at East Carolina College.

According to 1st Lt. Leonard R. Briley, acting unit commanding officer, members will discuss the possibility of a fish fry and other social events at tonight's meeting as well as pertinent Air Force subjects.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p. m. and all members and interested Air Force Reservists are urged to attend.

Wins Reserve Champion Prize

Cases Heard In Superior Court

The current term of Pitt Superior Court moved into its third day today as Judge Clawson L. Williams of Sanford continued to hear cases slated for this second week of a two-week term.

Two divorces were granted Tuesday in the cases of Benjamin Franklin Tyson vs. Jennie Lynn Parker Tyson, and J. L. Jolley vs. Lillie Martin Jolley.

John Lee Hudson entered plea of not guilty to charges of driving drunk and resisting arrest. At the close of the state's evidence, a plea of guilty was entered to the charge of resisting arrest, and Judge Williams directed a verdict of not guilty to the driving drunk charge. Hudson was fined $100 and cost.

Fred Lee Leggett, who entered a plea to breaking and entering and larceny earlier this week was sentenced yesterday afternoon to 18 months to three years and fined $250 and costs and ordered to pay $5 to the use of C. C. Fleming of Ayden. The road sentence was suspended by Judge Williams on condition the defendant not drink any intoxicants for a period of three years.

Lloyd Gold Peaden was sentenced yesterday to 90 days on the roads for a driving drunk charge. The sentence was invoked because of failure of the defendant to pay a fine imposed in the case when it was heard in Pitt Superior Court last week.

Hubert Jones entered a plea of guilty to charges of public drunkenness and was fined $10 and cost and ordered to pay $10 to the town of Ayden.

Edward Williams, charged with non-support, entered a plea of nolo contendere and was sentenced to 18 months on the roads suspended upon payment of $11 per week for the support of his wife and children and the condition that he not violate any law of the state.

Clifton Jones entered a plea of guilty to driving drunk charges and was fined $10 and costs.

Louis E. Wilson entered a plea of guilty to driving drunken charges and was fined $100 and cost.

Large Turnout At Food School

Two hundred restaurant operators and employes attended yesterday's two sessions of the Food Service School held in the Jarvis Memorial Church's Recreation Room.

There were 74 people present at the yesterday morning session and 126 present at the afternoon meeting. The school is being conducted by the Pitt Health Department and the N. C. Board of Health.

M. M. Melvin, executive secretary of the North Carolina Association of Quality Restaurants talked on "Dish Washing Methods and Procedures" at the two sessions yesterday.

W. A. Broadway, District Sanitarian with the N. C. Board of Health, will be the featured speaker at today's third session of the school.

According to reports, Greenville restaurant operators are saying that it is one of the best things ever done for restaurant owners in this town.

Several Greenville restaurants as well as several County restaurants have been 100 percent in attendance so far during the first two days of the school.

At tomorrow's final sessions Fred Whitaker, Director of the State Tourists' Bureau, Department of Conversation and Development, will talk on "Public Relations as it Relates to the Customer."

Les Gaylenettes will meet tonight at eight o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lillie M. Merritt, 1716 S. Pitt St. (over the hill).

The South Greenville Park Committee will meet tonight at Fleming Street School auditorium at 8:00 o'clock. This meeting is important to all citizens.

The P.T.A. of Fleming St. School wish to meet all parents Tuesday night, April 26, at 7:30. Please come and bring another parent.

There will not be a meeting for Pride of East No. 524, Order Eastern Star, tonight.

WINTERVILLE — Mrs. Mahalle Barrett, 54, died at her home here last Saturday about 1:30 p.m.

Funeral services will be held at English Chapel Free Will Baptist Church, near the television station, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. S. Hembry, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Barrett family cemetery at Winterville.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ollie V. Mobley and Mrs. Janie Edwards, both of the home; one son, Sgt. Moses Barrett, Medical Corps, U. S. Army, stationed at Bolton Field, Texas, and several grandchildren.

The youth of Phillippi Christian Church will celebrate its third anniversary on the fourth Sunday in this month. The morning worship at 11 o'clock will be conducted by Rev. Munford of Ayden.

At 3 p.m. Rev. H. L. McBride, pastor of the Church of God and Christ, will deliver the anniversary sermon.

At 8 p.m. Rev. Leroy Perkins, pastor of Cedar Grove Baptist Church, will conduct service.

The ministers throughout the day will be accompanied by their choirs and members.

The young people are hoping to make this a great day, but they cannot do it alone. Therefore, all are asked to cooperate fully with them.

All Junior Choir members of Phillippi Christian Church are asked to meet tonight at 7:30 for rehearsal at the church.

House-To-House Sale Of Napkins Starting

Members of the Greenville Exchange club will carry their annual napkin sale to the College View residential section of the city tonight.

Club members will begin their house to house canvass of the section shortly after 6 o'clock in an effort to sell paper napkins for the local Exchange Club hard of hearing program.

Aid to the hard of hearing in Pitt County has been one of the principal undertakings of the club for several years, and proceeds from the napkin sale will go for that program.

New strength and stamina! Lower upkeep costs!

New Chevrolet Trucks... do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save hours on the road. Thanks to new high-compression power, you can maintain faster schedules without driving at higher maximum speeds. Increased acceleration and hill-climbing ability let you save time where it counts.

You save time on deliveries. With new truck Hydra-Matic transmission, you save time at every delivery stop. And you can forget about clutching and shifting for good! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton Chevrolet trucks.

You save extra trips. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pick-up bodies are deeper, new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower for easier loading.

You save with lower upkeep, too. Extra chassis strength saves you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models... bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models... stronger frames in all models.

You save on operating costs. New power saves you money every mile! The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235" and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost) deliver increased operating economy.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay and continue over the miles. Chevrolet is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. It's also the truck that has a traditionally higher trade-in value.

Come in and see all the wonderful new things you get in America's number one truck. We'll be glad to give you all the money-saving facts.
