Sheriff Pat Gordon (center) chats with K. H. Gerlach (left) and Mrs. Byrd T. Roach at Lake Wales, Fla. after the sheriff reported that two men had been arrested and charged with conspiring the murder of Gerlach and Mrs. Roach. Sheriff Gordon headed the investigation in the case in which he says another woman was also to be killed. Held in the Lake Wales jail are Emmett Donnelly, 60, a local attorney, and Willard Durden, 35, an Orlando building contractor. They are accused of conspiring to kill the wealthy widow and the elderly calendar manufacturer for profit. (AP Wirephoto)

Solicitorial Race Run-Off Called

Luther Hamilton, Jr. of Morehead City asked the State Board of Elections for a runoff in the Fifth Judicial District solicitorial race yesterday.

Hamilton, who placed second in the five-man district race in the Democratic Primary May 29, signified his intentions of asking for the second primary by telephone yesterday. He explained his formal request will arrive in mail shortly.

In the District solicitorial race on May 29 Hamilton received 8,300 votes while Robert D. Rouse, Jr. of Farmville placed first with 9,204 votes. Three other candidates, H. Horton Roundtree of Farmville, J. W. H. Roberts of Greenville and Cecil Beaman of Snow Hill, had about 12,000 votes between them.

Rouse Here June 26

With Hamilton asking for a run-off, it gives Pitt County a total of five races on June 26; however, only three will receive county-wide vote.

S. A. Whitehurst, former Pitt

County Sheriff, who was making a bid for the office again placed second in the Sheriff race on May 29. Last Saturday, he asked the Pitt County Board of Elections for a second primary.

Marvin W. Smith, present County Commissioner from District Four, was defeated by Robert G. Little in his bid for reelection on May 29; however, Smith was in a position to ask for a run-off and he did last Monday.

Two Constable Races

There will be two township constable races here on June 26.

Russell Wooten of Ayden Township, who placed second in a seven-man constable race there, asked for a run-off last Monday.

A check this morning revealed that Lyman Buck of Grimesland, the only other candidate in a position to ask for a second primary, did so on Monday afternoon. Buck placed second in the Grimesland Township constable race.

Prolonged Crisis Haunts France

PARIS (AP)—The specter of a prolonged Cabinet crisis threatened France and the Geneva conference today Premier Joseph Laniel for the third time in five weeks demanded a vote of confidence from the angry National Assembly.

The deputies will vote Saturday. Observers generally were pessimistic about Laniel's chances. The Premier survived his last confidence vote May 13 by the thin margin of two votes and some of his support seems to have deserted him since then.

Enough of the lawmakers may reconsider during the interim, however to enable the government to squeeze through. Few of the deputies want to assume responsibility for jeopardizing the Geneva conference and there is no certainty any new government could be formed quickly.

The Premier's confidence vote came early today at the end of an all-night session of the Assembly. It followed the deputies' refusal, 324-269, to consider an innocuous government-backed resolution on the Indochina crisis, referred as the windup of a four-day debate.

Many speakers accused the Cabinet and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, in particular, of not working hard enough for an Indochina peace.

Laniel immediately called a Cabinet meeting at the Elysee Palace—France's White House—to formalize the confidence vote demand.

The crucial ballot Saturday will be on the government's refusal to give priority to three other resolutions sharply critical of its Indochina policies. But the Assembly's decision may well turn also on the troublesome question of the proposed European Defense Community Treaty.

Party differences have stymied the Assembly's consideration of the pact, which would put soldiers of six West European nations into a unified army. The Popular Republican Movement (MRP) insists that the treaty be called up for ratification as quickly as possible.

The Gaullists, however, are firmly opposed to EDC and want to delay consideration. Laniel needs the support of both groups for a majority as long as the Socialists remain in opposition.

There is "growing concern lest the rapidly mounting costs of supporting dairy products will result in the unfavorable reactions such as followed efforts to support prices of other perishables such as potatoes, eggs and hogs."

Meetings of the State Cotton Promotion Committee and the State Council of the North Carolina Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs were scheduled.

Hundreds of farm men and women from throughout North Carolina have been attending the "vacation-education program. It began Monday and ends tonight with a pageant in Reynolds Coliseum.

The visitors heard an address last night by Dr. R. L. Beukenkamp, agricultural attaché of the embassy of the Netherlands, Washington.

"For the first time in history," he declared, "The Free World has to undertake a global responsibility. The farmers of the world have to bear a great share in this responsibility and I question sometimes if they are sufficiently aware of the important part that is assigned to them in this world struggle of 'to be or not to be'."

He added, "Today, in 1954, we have agricultural surpluses in what we call 'The Free Western World,' and malnutrition, hunger and inadequate production potentials in great parts of the rest of the world, these latter nations would be willing to believe in and support our philosophical and political aims, if we, as responsible and free nations will prove to be worthy of the world responsibility and if we are ready to substantiate it by proper action."

He told the audience that "hunger, lack of purchasing power, chaos are the best allies against our cause of justice and democracy."

Pitt Barely Met Half Of Quota For Bloodmobile

Pitt County citizens donated a little more than half the quota during the two-day visit of the bloodmobile this week.

Figures show 178 pints of blood were contributed while the quota was 340 pints.

Pitt County blood drive chairman Dr. Walter C. Humbert, showing his disappointment at the results, said only 59 pints were contributed in Bethel Monday and 119 in Greenville Tuesday.

He said 65 people showed up at Bethel Monday and 132 in Greenville.

Of the 119 in Greenville who gave blood, 46 were replacements for hospital patients.

There were 210 people pledged to give blood on Tuesday here, but only the 132 went to the National Guard Armory.

This is the last visit of the Tidewater Regional bloodmobile until next Fall.

Dulles Calls For Fast UN Action In Indochina War

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today rejected British and French arguments that the United Nations should not act on Indochina while peace negotiations with the Communists are under way at Geneva.

He appealed in effect for speedy action by the U.N. Security Council to send a peace observation commission to Southeast Asia asserting that "knowledge has never yet been an impediment to honest negotiations."

Dulles did not mention Britain and France by name but U.S. diplomats in Washington said those nations have been the principal source of arguments which Dulles said have "little validity."

In a speech prepared for the International Rotary convention here, Dulles discussed major topics of American foreign policy with emphasis on these points:

1. Today there is perhaps "too much difference between the members of the non-Communist world." Dulles deplored the lack of unity but said it is probably inevitable in the development of common policies among free nations. He presumably referred to differences about action to save Indochina from Communist control.

2. He renewed his warning to Western Europe generally and Italy and France particularly that "there may have to be a basic shift in United States policy" unless the nations there promptly complete organization of the European Defense Community. He noted specifically that France and Italy so far have failed to ratify the treaty under which a Western European army, including German forces, would be established.

3. The first condition which must be fulfilled prior to possible American intervention in the fight against communism in Southeast Asia is the grant of complete independence by France to the native states of Indochina. Dulles asserted, "the United States will never fight for colonialism."

4. Regarding the development of Communist influence in the Central American republic of Guatemala, Dulles expressed hope that the organization of American states will "help the people of Guatemala to rid themselves of the malignant force which has seized on them." He said that if the Guatemalans do not succeed in this effort the whole American organization "may be corrupted."

5. Regarding the United States attitude toward the rest of the world, Dulles disavowed any suspicion "that we have any mandate to run the world." He said "none need fear that we shall develop an unhealthy lust for power."

On other matters the President had this to say at his news conference:

Communism—What he personally fears more than anything in the Free World's struggle against Communism is the possibility of a failure to look the danger squarely in its broad face. Eisenhower said emphatically the United States cannot achieve its aims by military force alone.

He said that in addition to military strength, there must be the psychological, political and intellectual basis for any intervention designed to help the Free World in the battle against the forces of communism.

President's Revision Plans OK'd In Committee Demo Tax Cut Plan Hurt

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Finance Committee action giving President Eisenhower just about what he asked for in tax changes today dimmed the prospects of victory for a Democratic-planned floor fight to tack on an income tax cut.

Finishing its work on the $75-page tax revision bill last night after six weeks of secret deliberations, the group accepted nearly all of the benefits for corporations and individuals sought by the administration. These would amount to about $1,400,000,000 in tax cuts in the first year.

Democrats on the committee did not even offer their proposal for a big reduction in personal income taxes by a boost in exemptions. It had become obvious the committee would reject such a move.

Their failure to win committee support threw cold water on any hopes for a general income tax reduction in the revision bill for the Senate rarely upsets the Finance Committee on tax legislation.

Nonetheless, the senior Democratic committee member, Fear of Delaware, told newsmen they planned to fight the issue out on the Senate floor.

Other informants said the Democrats might center their floor battle on a new plan providing a $20 tax cut for each taxpayer on his return, taken as a final step after he had figured his tax.

Sen. George (D-Ga.) actually offered this in committee last week as a substitute for a provision giving substantial relief to stockholders on their dividend income, but lost 10-4.

The revenue loss from the $20 plan would be about $50 million annually under George's estimate; committee staff officials said it might reach $1,400,000,000 a year.

Either would be much less than the original plan calling for a 4½-billion-dollar income tax cut in 1954 by raising exemptions $200 and a $7,800,000,000 reduction from 1955 on through a $400 exemption hike.

Principal benefits in the House bill retained by the Senate committee, besides the one to aid stockholders, include: accelerated depreciation allowances for corporations and individuals, increased deductions for medical expenses, an increased exemption of retirement income permission to farmers to deduct soil conservation expenses, an increase in charitable deductions, permission to fathers to keep the $600 exemption on a child under 19 or going to college even though the dependent earns more than $600 a year, and permission to single heads of families to use the same income-splitting privilege now granted married couples.

Changes made by the Senate committee in the bill included: elimination, at least temporarily, of a section cutting taxes of American companies on their foreign income; broadening a provision allowing working mothers to write off up to $600 of the cost of child care; sharp increases in percentage depletion allowances on 30 metals including lead, zinc and uranium; insertion of a new provision aimed at closing a loophole under which builders made windfall profits on government-financed apartment projects.

The bill also would extend for a year—as the House version does—the 52 per cent corporation income tax rate otherwise due to fall to 47 per cent as of last April 1. This would pick up $1,200,000,000 of added revenue in the year to help offset the $1,400,000,000 loss expected from the measure's other provisions.

McCarthy Says He Urged No Favoritism For Aide Swears No Help For Schine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy swore today that Secretary Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams suggested to him "there must be Communist infiltration of the Air Force and Navy which the McCarthy subcommittee could investigate."

Under oath at the McCarthy-Army hearings, McCarthy also testified that as early as last September he urged Secretary Stevens to "lean over backward" against giving any special consideration to G. David Schine, drafted former aide in McCarthy's subcommittee.

Both Stevens and Adams, also under oath, have denied they tried to divert the subcommittee to investigation of the Navy and Air Force.

McCarthy testified that at a Nov. 6 Pentagon luncheon, Stevens and Adams indicated "they were unhappy" about the subcommittee concentrating its investigations of the Army.

They told him, McCarthy said, that the Navy and Air Force "must be just as bad as the Army."

The Senator added that Adams offered to give Roy M. Cohn, his subcommittee chief counsel, information on the Navy.

Under questioning from Ray M. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigations subcommittee, McCarthy brushed away any idea that he was responsible for bringing about the current public controversy with Army officials.

McCarthy said he and his staff merely replied to the charges filed against them by Stevens and Adams.

But McCarthy agreed with Jenkins that his case consists of three principal points:

1. That Stevens and Adams sought to "discredit" the work of McCarthy's investigations subcommittee.

2. That Stevens and Adams "sought to prevent, or to stop or to block your investigations of subversives" as Jenkins phrased it.

3. That Stevens and Adams sought to prevent the subcommittee from calling before it for questioning Army Loyalty Board members.

McCarthy first took the witness chair late yesterday, brought to it in a bitter clash with Army Counselor Joseph N. Welch who denounced McCarthy as a "reckless and cruel" man without a sense of decency. With the outburst, Welch stopped questioning Cohn and called for the next witness—McCarthy.

Welch's emotional flare-up came when McCarthy spoke of Frederick G. Fisher, a young member of Welch's law firm, as having had Communist front associations, referring to an acknowledged onetime membership in the National Lawyers Guild.

The guild denies any Communist connections but McCarthy said a House committee had described it as the "legal bulwark" of the Communists and the government is seeking to have it formally declared a subversive organization.

Getting in his story of receiving reports on Communist infiltration of the Army, McCarthy said he wanted to make it clear "we do have a good Army. He added that 98 per cent of the men are loyal and "willing to die in defense of the United States."

"The policy of the United States," he declared, "is seriously blocking the way to progress of the Geneva conference."

U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith replied that he was keenly disappointed by the "unconstructive" statements of Molotov and Chou.

"I had hoped for some response to our efforts toward a compromise," Smith said.

After reviewing some of the major issues on which the West and the Communists are deadlocked, Smith said:

"I am obliged to state that the Soviet, Chinese Communist and Vietminh delegations have so far shown no signs of willingness to resolve these issues on any reasonable basis which could be acceptable to this conference or which would insure the return of peace to Indochina."

The Reds have demanded that the supervisory commission be half Communist and half Western. The West, insisting that Communist nations cannot be neutral, has proposed a supervisory group composed entirely of Asian neutrals.

President Denies Blame Each Other For Peace Failure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today nothing could be further from the truth than statements that he is backing away from his foreign trade program calling for a reduction of tariffs.

Eisenhower told his news conference the fact he has now asked for a simple one-year extension of the reciprocal trade act—instead of insisting on his original request for a three-year extension with provision for a gradual 15 per cent cut in tariffs—does not mean he is abandoning the program.

There have been suggestions by Democrats that the administration was giving up on the Eisenhower program without a fight.

The House Ways and Means Committee today unanimously approved the one-year extension of the President's authority to make trade agreements with other nations. The House is likely to act on it tomorrow and the senate perhaps next week.

Speight-Baker Vows Spoken In Fountain

FOUNTAIN—In an afternoon ceremony on June 6 in Fountain Baptist Church, Miss Addie Catherine Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker of Farmville Route 2, became the bride of Walter Person Speight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Speight of Snow Hill.

The Rev. Richard L. West, pastor of the bride, heard the vows. The double ring ceremony was used.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Wiley Yelverton of Fountain, organist, and Miss Marcia Forbes of Farmville, vocalist. The chimes were played for the bride's entrance and during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a summer suit of navy and white kamelin white Irish linen blouse and navy and white accessories. She carried a white Bible, topped with white and purple orchids.

Miss Helen Baker of Durham, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a pink faille suit with pink and white accessories. Her bouquet was of mixed summer flowers.

Roy Speight of Rocky Mount was his brother's best man. Ushers were Douglas Lovic of Snow Hill and Fletcher Baker of Kinston, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore an ice blue lace dress with navy accessories and red carnation corsage. The mother of the groom wore a blue crepe dress with navy and white accessories and pink carnation corsage.

After a short honeymoon the couple will be at home in Snow Hill where the groom is employed by Moe Motor Company.

Causby-Branch Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony on May 29 in the Memorial Baptist Church, Miss Joyce Branch became the bride of George Bennett Causby. Rev. Hartwell Campbell officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

Miss Branch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy L. Branch of Greenville. Mr. Causby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Causby of Albemarle.

Proceeding the service, Miss Carolyn Clapp and Mr. Edward Conway of Greenville rendered a program of nuptial music. Mr. Conway sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace and nylon net over bridal satin fashioned with a long sleeved, V-necked fitting jacket of lace over a strapless lace bodice. The bouffant skirt was made with side panels of lace over net and satin. Her two tiered veil of imported French illusion was attached to a pearl tiara. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white purple throated orchid and showered with Stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Miss Dot Branch attended her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Phil L. Goodson Jr., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. They wore gowns fashioned alike and picture hats of matching net and satin ribbon. They carried arm bouquets of carnations with satin streamers. The honorary bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Gro-well of Concord, cousin of the groom; Miss Faye Branch of Winterville, cousin of the bride; Miss Lou Tilley, Mrs. Arthur Gregory and Mrs. Charles Cherry, all of Greenville. They wore ballerina length gowns and headpieces fashioned with ruffles of matching net.

Mr. Ralph Causby was his son's best man, and ushers were Ashley Branch, brother of the bride; Kirby Branch, brother of the bride; Arthur Gregory, all of Greenville, and Hamilton Morton Jr. of Albemarle.

The bride's mother wore a pink silk linen and lace dress. Her accessories were white and she wore a purple orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a blue linen dress trimmed in pearls. She wore matching white accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bonnie Lyerly, aunt of the groom, wore a blue linen dress and navy and white accessories and her corsage was a purple orchid.

Charlotte Girl Voted Governor In Annual Tar Heel Girls State

RALEIGH, N. C.—A pretty Charlotte high school girl ruled North Carolina today as governor—but it was part of the annual Tar Heel Girls State.

Mary Louise Froebe 17, a resident of the Thompson Orphanage and a rising senior at Charlotte's Central High, won the post yesterday at the Girls State convention at Greensboro.

The entire Girls State moved by bus caravan to Raleigh today for Mary Louise's inauguration in the House chambers.

The girls elected a full slate of officers from the Federalist and the Nationalist Parties. Miss Froebe represented the Federalists.

The others who were inaugurated were Millie Pitts, Newton, lieutenant-governor; Gwen Shepherd, Durham, and Sue Simmons, Greensboro, co-secretaries of state; Mary Sue Tuttle, King, speaker of the House; Betsy Bullock, Oxford, chief justice; and Claudine Hodge, Rutherford, Anne Lewis, Morehead City, Margaret MacQueen Clinton, Biddle, Powell, North Wilkesboro, Sue Randolph, Raleigh, and Ann Thompson, Windsor, associate justices.

The girls—271 strong—visited Duke University on the way to Raleigh.

Secretary of State Thad Eure addressed them at the Capitol after which they ate lunch at North Carolina State College. The return

Susan Hayward Will 'Air All' In Divorce

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I'm glad the heat is on for a change, and not me," John Wayne laughed as he saw a reporter descend on Susan Hayward.

The two stars are co-starring in "The Conqueror," and Wayne was wryly observing one of the phenomena of Hollywood. Sometimes a star becomes too hot to handle, then he or she becomes the focus of attention for Hollywood correspondents.

Last year it was Wayne, who was embroiled in a divorce suit with his wife Chata. Now it is Miss Hayward, who is fighting litigation of almost equal intensity involving her husband Jess Barker.

"The divorce trial is set for June 14," Miss Hayward replied in answer to my query. "I will fly down from the location in Utah."

Will it be a one-day affair?

"Oh, no. The calendar is set for four days. Everything is going to be brought out. It's too bad. This whole thing could have been resolved very easily with a settlement. But it's too late for that now."

Miss Hayward indicates she will fight the affair to what may well be the bitter end. She is taking her twin sons to the location with her and says she will refuse to allow them to be brought into open court to watch the proceedings.

I didn't let Wayne escape as easily as he hoped. Long an anti-

After returning from Korea, he says, he wrote his wife Lori to come home. She had been with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Mullin, a British subject, in Garmisch-Par-

Set Fast Course To Extend Trade Powers For Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two House committees set a fast course today for a bill to extend for another year President Eisenhower's power to lower U.S. tariffs in agreements with other nations which lower their.

Known as the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, the law which the House bill would keep in effect is presently scheduled to expire at midnight Saturday.

House leaders want to get the extension bill to the Senate in time for action there next week if possible. While that would be after the deadline a temporary lapse of the 20-year-old law would not affect reciprocal trade agreements already on the books.

Eisenhower originally had requested a three-year extension of the controversial program in line with recommendations of a special commission on foreign economic policy headed by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co. The President later backed away from the three-year request now and asked instead for the shorter extension in order, he said, to give the House Ways and Means Committee more time for a longer look at the over-all program, with action next year.

This committee called a morning session to approve the one-year extension provided for in a bill introduced this week by Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.).

The Rules Committee, meanwhile, docked an afternoon session to send the measure to the House floor under procedure barring all amendments. Without such Rules Committee protection, the bill would be subjected to a barrage of amendments which could keep it before the House for weeks.

Treatments For Addict Ordered

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—A High Point lawyer has been sentenced to the federal hospital for drug addicts at Lexington, Ky., as a result of a narcotics crackdown.

Thomas J. Gold Jr., 46, one of nine persons in High Point and Greensboro, arrested, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge Johnson J. Hayes in Middle District Court here.

Arrested in High Point also were Daniel Roy Wright Jr., 28; John Henry Brown, 50; William E. Brown, 42; and Robert Gurley, 44.

Picked up here were William Washington Robinson, 59; Clarence Rubin Mangum, 44; and Alfred Lunt, 30—a Negro. Mangum's wife, Mrs. Mary Mangum, was arrested yesterday. The others Tuesday.

All were charged with conspiracy to violate the Harrison narcotics law.

Three others were arrested on narcotics charges recently. Clay Mariette and James Cheek, both of Burlington, were arrested May 30. Julius Eisenberg, 54, of Baltimore, Md., was arrested three days later. Mariette posted $25,000 bond. Cheek a $2,500 bond, while Eisenberg is being held on a $50,000 bond.

Says Funds Lack Hurting Parks

"Last month she and our son, and our dog, arrived in Montreal," Irvine said. "I went up to bring them back. And, by golly, the immigration officials said she couldn't come in on a visitor's visa."

"I didn't know what to think but they wanted papers about our marriage, papers about everything. Hell, I just gave up and came back home."

He said he was "getting damned mad."

"I guess it's just because of red tape but it's difficult to understand that kind of red tape. I have my dog but my wife and child are in Niagara Falls, Canada. How about that?"

Irvine met his wife while serving in Europe during World War II. He said after the war he returned to Europe and they were married in 1950 at South Sea, England.

"We got a visitor's visa for my wife and entered the U. S. with no trouble at all," he said.

He was shipped to Korea in 1951 after service in the reserve.

"I hardly knew what to do," he said. "Here I was going to get in the shooting again. So I sent my wife and son to live with her mother."

There was no immediate comment from immigration officials on the present difficulty.

Evangelist Eddie Martin Talks On 'What God Does For You'

It's not what you do for God, but what God does for you that will take you to heaven, declared Evangelist Eddie Martin Wednesday night in his sermon on "The Suffering Saviour" in the United Revival Crusade.

Sermon subject for Thursday was to be "Religious, But Lost."

Preceding the sermon, O. D. Hall of Beckley, W. Va., pianist of the Martin party, a second-year student at Baylor University, gave a testimony of personal salvation.

The opening prayer Wednesday evening was led by the Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Greenville.

In his sermon Wednesday evening Evangelist Martin portrayed the inward suffering of Jesus Christ who, as the preacher declared, "drained the bowl of sorrow dry."

Jesus was a man of authority in his teaching, of influence, of superiority, and of majesty, but it is not His life that will save a soul but through the death of Christ that the sacrifice was paid for man's redemption from fallen estate, the preacher went on to declare.

The word-picture in the sermon revealed the inward heart of the "man of sorrows, with his homeickness and loneliness, His poverty, and His concern for people."

Jesus mystified many people of His day as He proved His Messiahship by His miracles, Martin said.

"Only Jesus knows the value of a soul, the agonies of hell, because He had the burden of lost souls which crushed the Savior in the inner man. He was haunted through life by the very devil and the demons of the pit. He suffered the contemplation of the cross and knew the tragedy and shadows of the cross," the preacher pointed out.

Graphically the Garden of Gethsemane and trial experiences of the Savior were portrayed by Martin, and the privilege of His followers today is "to share His sufferings and to bear His cross through a yielding and surrendered life."

"You ask the question: Oh, Jesus why did you suffer from the cradle to the cross, why did you? And He answers back, 'I volunteered, because there was no other way for sinners to be forgiven and prepared for heaven,' the evangelist concluded.

Tuesday evening, the Rev. Harvey E. Johnson, minister of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville, led in the prayer.

A pastors' prayer meeting, with all Greenville and Pitt County sponsoring ministers, will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the Memorial Baptist Church, to pray for the success of the Revival Crusade.

Top Negotiators Reconvene Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top negotiators of U. S. Steel Corp. and the CIO United Steelworkers gathered today for a meeting at which big steel was expected to answer the union's contract demands.

The union is seeking an unspecified wage boost for the men who average between $2.14 and $2.24 an hour.

In addition, the union is requesting a guaranteed annual wage, improved pension and hospitalization programs and other contract changes.

Although today's talks concern only U. S. Steel, all the basic steel industry is keeping a close watch on the negotiations. All told there are some 600,000 USW members employed in basic steel. In past years U. S. Steel has usually set the pace for all steel companies.

Negotiations began May 18, recessing within a short time so the company could study union demands. Basic steel contracts expire June 30.

Says Production From Farms To Rise 3 Percent

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C. (AP)—C.B. Ratchford, assistant director of the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service, predicts there will be a three per cent increase in production of farm commodities next year.

Speaking to the North Carolina Agricultural Teachers Assn. here yesterday, Ratchford said that a 10 per cent increase would cause a 50 per cent drop in prices.

He predicted there will be a little decrease in demand as well as in price next year, with certain farm commodities being "squeezed."

Elected association president yesterday was R.J. Lynday of Brevard High School in Transylvania County. Fred L. Hunt of Piquette Springs High School, was named vice president.

The four-day meeting ends tomorrow.

Death Row Man Gets Life Term

RALEIGH (AP)—Robert Hamer, 29-year-old Negro who was scheduled to die tomorrow in the gas chamber for rape, has received a commutation.

Acting on a recommendation of the three-member Paroles Board, Gov. Umstead yesterday commuted the death sentence to life imprisonment.

A Duplin County Superior Court jury convicted Hamer last September of raping a young Duplin housewife after he had escaped from the Duplin prison camp. His conviction was upheld by the State Judge W.A. Brame, a member of the Paroles Board, said the case was personally investigated by Dr. Clarence H. Patrick, head of the board, and Johnson Matthews. Brame said the investigation showed the woman "didn't know whether she had been raped or not." He said that apparently the attack was "unplanned and unpremeditated."

Our Position On The Bond Issue

The Reflector can not lend its endorsement to the $250,000 bond issue for swimming pools and other recreation facilities which is to be decided by the voters of Greenville Tuesday.

Before the City Council acted upon the Recreation Commission recommendation that the election be postponed, we urged adoption of that recommendation by the City Council. We felt it was the wisest course for the city to pursue at the present time.

Since three members of the council saw fit to reject the recommendation for postponement, they have forced the issue.

The voters must now choose one of two things:

1. They must vote for the $250,000 bond issue in the face of the serious question of whether the money can be spent wisely under existing circumstances; or
2. They must reject the bond issue entirely.

The wisest alternative from the long range standpoint, in our opinion, is the latter.

If the people vote in favor of the bond issue now, the City Council will have a clear mandate that the people want the two swimming pools built as early as possible on the announced basis of one pool for white citizens and the other for Negro citizens. The Council will not be able to avoid following through with the construction of the two pools.

The planning, of course, which went into the pools proposal was on the basis of segregation. With the Supreme Court decision and subsequent rulings on the segregation issue, it is doubtful that segregated swimming pools, or anything else into which public funds go, will be permitted.

The many questions which arise, of course, will not be completely answered until the High Court issues the decrees which spell out the meaning of its ruling.

Only when the meaning of the court ruling is spelled out, will Greenville be able to spend wisely the quarter million dollars now proposed for swimming pools and recreation facilities. If the bond issue is passed now, the city will not be able to wait for such an explanation of the ruling.

It is entirely possible that a good bit of the money spent for swimming pools on the basis of the present plans will be wasted if the existing plan is followed. If the bond issue is passed now, two pools must be constructed; whereas in the future one pool may be adequate, and would result in a smaller expenditure than now proposed. Or if two pools are ultimately needed, their size and location as presently planned may not be advisable under future conditions.

The Reflector wants Greenville to have public swimming facilities at the earliest practical date. We need swimming facilities desperately.

Yet The Reflector does not want to see a quarter million dollars of local taxpayers' money spent foolishly in an unnecessary rush.

Proposed Plaques Seem Fitting

It is fitting, we think, that the two plaques requested of the County Commissioners this week should be erected by the county.

One of the plaques would commemorate the signing of the Pitt County Declaration of Independence which was signed in 1775, a year prior to the American Declaration of Independence.

The other plaque would honor the Pitt Countians who gave their lives during World Wars I and II and the Korean War.

Some permanent memorial is needed in the county to the early citizens of Pitt who formulated and signed the historical declaration which has been grossly neglected in the writing of histories of this country. A plaque such as the one proposed by the Pitt County Historical Society would be a fitting memorial to the document and to the citizens who played a part in bringing the event to pass.

While there are at least three memorials we know of in Pitt County dedicated to the memory of local citizens who served in the major wars of the past, the plaque honoring those who gave their lives in World Wars I and II and the Korean war does not, to us, seem superfluous.

The bridge across the Tar River at Greenville was dedicated in memory of men of the county who served in World War I. The Pitt County Memorial Hospital which was opened in 1950 was likewise dedicated to the memory of Pitt Countians who served in World Wars I and II. The Confederate monument which stands in front of the court house, of course, is dedicated to the memory of those who served under the Stars and Bars.

COALINGA, CALIF. RECORD: "... some people may have a confused notion that our country, because of its constitutional separation of church and state, is officially divorced from religion. This is not so. The Bill of Rights provision that 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion' simply means that no creed—Presbyterian, Catholic, Baptist, Episcopalian nor any other—shall be recognized and favored as a national creed. That is the essence of the religious freedom all Americans enjoy."

This Hearing Isn't So Costly

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Although the Army-McCarthy hearings impress the vast television audience as weighted with a larger cast and more lavish scenery than many Broadway productions, it will be one of the cheapest investigations that Congress ever conducted. The total cost will amount to between $15,000 and $20,000, depending on how much longer it drags along.

Chairman Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, as well as Senators not on the investigating committee, have received hundreds of letters, bewailing the "wasteful extravagance." Besides asking whether the taxpayers will foot the bill, they usually estimate that the citizens will be set back by several hundred thousand dollars for what Senator McCarthy derides as a "farce," a "show" and a "red minnow burlesque."

"That is a ridiculous figure," says Chairman Mundt of the estimate.

WHERE MONEY COMES FROM:—The money for the inquiry will be paid out of the specific appropriation of the Committee on Government Operations, which is headed by Senator McCarthy. That body was recently granted an additional $307,000 with only one dissenting vote—Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

The members of the Mundt Subcommittee, however, have agreed unanimously to ask the Senate to reimburse the Government Committee on Operations for all expenses incurred in the current controversy. If the Senate should refuse, which is doubtful, the Committee would have a smaller amount for its normal work.

But even if the full Senate without reimbursement money, McCarthy would simply request a larger appropriation later on. Unless he is hurt beyond repair in the showdown with the Army, he will undoubtedly get it. Few members dare to vote against "exposing Communism."

SMALL PAY FOR JENKINS:—Despite the exacting work and the sacrifice of his own $60,000-a-year legal business, Committee Counsel Ray H. Jenkins receives only the salary paid to a Senator's Administrative Assistant, which is $10,000 a year. But he is paid only for the time he works, which amounts to about $833 a month. He must pay his own living expenses here, which probably exceeds his Senate income.

His three assistants draw the same pay. Thus, the Committee's legal staff for a month costs about $3,300. Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch serves without pay. His one Boston civilian assistant also gets $833 a month. The Army lawyers and aides receive nothing beyond their regular salary.

INCIDENTALS:—The loudspeaker system used by the Committee members, lawyers and witnesses costs $25 a day, or about $600 for 24 sessions in a month. Each page of testimony transcript costs 25 cents, and there were 5,000 pages in the first month, or $1,250. With extra copies, this will total about $6,000. Incidentals are estimated at about $1,000.

The lights, the cleaning and rearrangement of the Senate Caucus Room, where the hearings are held, are not included in this tabulation. This chamber, where a circus midget once climbed on the knee—both knees—of the late J. P. Morgan, is periodically the scene of more expensive Congressional inquiries, and funds for its upkeep are carried in the legislative appropriation bill.

ESTIMATED COST OF HEARING:—Thus a month's hearings cost approximately $11,733. Since Chairman Mundt hopes to conclude in another two weeks, the overall expenditure should be slightly more than $18,000.

This figure, of course, takes no account of the intangible losses resulting from the legislative, legal and military work which the principals and minor characters would be performing, if it were not for their deep concern in the not so private life of G. David Schine. Nor does it take into consideration the time lost by everybody from housewives to Cabinet members and Wall Street executives in watching the televised drama.

Somebody Told Me

Eased By A Touch Of Humor

Point of order, Mr. Chairman! The senate investigation committee is the topic of today's column, with this conclusion: Thank God for the ability of people to laugh about it!

In the last issue of Look magazine there was a cartoon showing two Army officers. One was sporting a new campaign ribbon, having been awarded him for being near the McCarthy hearing.

A few weeks ago Red Skelton on his television program had a prize take-off on the hearing. He was a knight and the round table was the committee. The actor on the Skelton program who was Senator McCarthy sounded more like McCarthy than he does.

Tuesday I was talking to a radio amateur near Atlanta who commented when I told him I am in Greenville, N. C. "So you're in that famous town," he said, "that was mentioned in the McCarthy hearing." Immediately, I figured that he was mistaken, because most people I meet on the air get Greenville, N. C. and Greenville, S. C. mixed up. However, a Daily Reflector release the next day pointed out that it wasn't quite clear whether Stevens had been in Greenville, N.C., S.C., or Tenn.

Since the Air Force base is in Greenville, S.C., it seems that certainly he meant Greenville, S.C. However, I enjoyed being from the all-important town mentioned in the hearing in the eyes of one amateur.

Senator Ralph Edward Flanders of Vermont compared McCarthy to Dennis the Menace, explaining that McCarthy displays the "colossal innocence" of children "who blunder into the most appalling situation as they ramble through the world of adults." What I have wondered during the whole hearing is what kind of relationship the subjects have after hearing hours. I did read that Flanders and McCarthy met in the Senate Office Building Subway car after the exchange of words but did not speak.

Remember when the committee was trying to decide whether Private Dave Schine had spent more time on or off military duty. That's when they got into a discussion about which type of ink dries faster, black or white. When asked the significance of the chart that showed Schine's time on or off duty the Lieutenant stated, "It's just like a boxing match. One boxer wears white trunks and the other one wears black trunks." Naturally that brought the house down. What did the ink have to do with the case? You tell me.

No matter what side of the issue you stand on, you have to admit that the American point of view is best: We laugh about such situations more than we complain.

And I thank you.

NEEDED: U.S. POLICY FOR INDOCHINA

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
Senator Gore (D-Tenn.) says he agrees with Senator Knowland (R-Cal.) that the free world has come to the "jumping-off place" and cannot afford to let the Reds continue talking at Geneva while they swallow more territory in Indochina. The Senators call for a U.S. plan of action.

We agree with both senators. The time for decision is overdue. The administration must fish or cut bait in Indochina.

At one time or another various administration leaders have advised the world that the United States would not permit the Reds to take Indochina. President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles, Vice President Nixon all said that the Free World could not tolerate the loss of Indochina; that if Indochina fell a chain reaction of disaster would take place; that all Southeast Asia would then fall, that when South-east Asia fell, all Asia would go down the drain including Japan and the Philippines.

All the time the Communists have continued winning great victories in Indochina and taking new territory as fast as their armies could march. All the time the administration has been doing nothing but dithering and dawdling—paralyzed by British fears that any step to resist the Reds might provoke Russia or China.

If expert advice means anything, Indochina is the crucial battle which may decide the fate of Asia and perhaps the world. Who knows what disasters a decisive defeat there will ultimately bring us? If Indochina is that important the question is not whether we shall or shall not defend it. The question is simply how can we best hold it?

On the other hand, if Indochina doesn't matter, then let us wash our hands of that crisis and be done with it. At the same time we must decide where we will hold the line if not in Indochina.

The Republicans are caught on the horns of a dilemma of their own making. They are trapped by their political accusations that the Democrats on the one hand treasonably did nothing to save China from the Reds, and on the other hand the Democrats are blamed for going to war to save Korea.

This administration must now soberly face the question which the Free World will have to meet from now on with the Reds: Go to war to stop them or do nothing and let them take whatever they want by default, appeasement or surrender.

Tax Amortization

By ELMER ROESSNER

Thirty billion dollars worth of tax sheltering has been committed by American industry under the accelerated tax amortization program since January 1, 1950. It may be, even as you read this that the total is passing the $30,000,000,000 mark.

The rate of spending appears to be slowing down. For one reason, the defense buildup generated by the Korean War is past the peak. For another, the end of the excess profits tax has removed part of the incentive to get investments under this tax-shelter tent.

The accelerated tax amortization program is basically this: Companies expanding plant facilities that will strengthen defense have been allowed to amortize their costs over a relatively short period. For the most part, this has enabled companies to postpone payment of taxes to later years—and why this is true would require a yard of tape and two tax experts to explain. So take our word for it that faster amortization of capital investment postpones taxes. And since the excess profit tax is kaput and corporation tax rates promise to ease off in future years, this has been a saving to companies who have qualified.

The tax boons have not been distributed evenly, either by areas or industries, judging from a study by the Office of Technical Services. Its examination of figures from 1950 through June 30, 1953 during which time $27 billion worth of investments had been given Federal blessing, show that Ohio, Michigan and New York plants had, in aggregate, won an eighth of the total benefits. Each of those states benefited by more than a $1 billion in capital goods investment in the period. Illinois since has passed the billion buck mark, and other states are nearing it.

At the same time, the study showed that industries involving the primary metals got one-third of the benefits and these, plus the chemical and petroleum products industries, got 70 per cent of the total. Tired of the "shot in the arm" cliché, we will say that these tax benefits have been ice cubes in the hip pockets of industry in many regions. Tax-sheltered plants have provided markets and jobs on a broad scale.

As of June 30, 1953, only 28 per cent of the total—at that time $27 billion—had actually been expended. In other words, there was almost $20 billion still to be spent then. And, considering new allocations and work since completed approximately the same amount is now committed.

The government may have been a patsy for the corporations when this fast-amortization program was thought up (it started in the Truman regime but the Eisenhower administration is expanding the program) and being a patsy is playing off today, and on lots of tomorrows, in employment and capital investment.

FEW SHOPPERS WANT 'EVENING STORE HOURS'

Less overtime work may have something to do with it. But shoppers—at least on 34th Street, New York—are less interested in evening store hours.

In 1952, students in the School of Retailing of New York University asked 4,300 shoppers on that street when it was most convenient for them to shop. Fifty per cent said, "Evenings after 6 P.M." This year, students asked 4,370 shoppers the same question, and only 30 per cent gave the same answer. N.Y.U. does not explain the 20 per cent difference in the sample, nor the quaint Knickerbocker redundancy of "evenings after 6 P.M."

MANY FUR STORAGE PLANS MAY BE LOSING

Retailers offering fur storage services had better look to costs. The National Retail Dry Goods Association is tipping off members that recent surveys show there has been no important increases in fur storage rates over the past 15 years, while costs have gone up.

'The Big Red' Is Working Hard

By HAL BOYLE

GRAFENWOHR, Germany (AP)—From the deserts of Tunisia to the beaches of Normandy, Field Marshal Rommel's battle plans were used by "The Big Red one"—The U.S. 1st Infantry division.

It balked his breakout blow at Kasserine Gap, then helped crush and capture his famed Afrika Korps. It was in the forefront of the forces that ten years ago landed and breached his West Wall defenses.

If the ghost of the brilliant "Desert Fox" could come back this way once more, he would find reason for a dry smile over the antics time plays with the dreams of corporals and field marshals.

For here on the great sprawling German military reservation where Rommel himself once trained his feared panzer legions, his old foe—"The Big Red"—is practicing the new arts of possible new wars to come.

On rolling Bavarian hills only 15 miles from the Czech border, the U.S. 1st Infantry division is going through intensive maneuvers over the same ground they would have to defend if the Communists ever unleash their forces.

This week a battalion of the 16th Infantry Regiment, partly manned by some of the veterans who stormed across Omaha Beach, took two hills in a test attack—hills Rommel must have known almost as well as the face he shaved.

It would have been nice to have had Rommel's opinion of the operation—a skillfully coordinated attack employing every element from doughboy and tank to modern jet aircraft.

But it more than impressed a group of 42 former war correspondents flown here by Pan American Airways for a tour of old battle scenes. It was so realistic that at one point, when a quadruple mount of 60 caliber machine guns began clipping tree branches on the road a few yards before them, several began moving nervously toward the nearest ditch.

The only foulup in the maneuver came in the field of air support. Eight swift Sabers swooped down to knock out a strong point with napalm and 200-pound bombs.

They hit the target exactly, but about half the bombs were duds and none of the napalm containers flamed after hitting the ground. Some of the ground soldiers, knowing the nearest Czech jet airbase is only about three minutes flying time away, snickered aloud.

The air liaison officer looked unhappy. An admiral standing by looked cheerful.

"Who would you really rather have supporting you—the Air Force or the Navy?" a correspondent asked an infantry colonel who was explaining the operation.

"Well, I guess we really would prefer the U.S. Marines," said the colonel, grinning.

Commenting on the superior firepower of the modern army over any of the past, Brig. Gen. John Elmore, acting commander of the division, emphasized the penetrating power of the new Belgian-made Energa rifle grenade.

"It will go through 11 inches of armor at more than 100 yards," he said. "That means a Doughboy in his foxhole can knock out any tank now known to be in existence."

Gen. Elmore said his biggest problem is the turnover of trained men. His division of approximately 17,000 men had to train more than 11,300 new men in 1953, and will have the same problem with 8,000 more this year.

"But the spirit of the division and spirit is as strong as any human force we know—is as high as ever, because these men have confidence in each other."

"The men think they are ready for anything. So do I."

Higgins' Appointment To Court Not Very Surprising

HIGGINS—Selection of Carlisle W. Higgins of Winston-Salem to be Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court was not surprising, although many observers had thought Governor Umstead would go to the Superior Court bench for a man to succeed Justice Sam Ervin.

In making the appointment so promptly after the vacancy occurred, the Governor apparently profited from experiences in the Senators Lennon and Ervin cases, where nearly a month's delay occasioned log-jams of applicants and keen disappointment to those who missed out. Only two days elapsed between the appointments of Ervin to the Senate and Higgins to the high court to fill that vacancy.

It may be several weeks before Justice Higgins is sworn in, since the court is now in recess and will not convene for the fall term until August 30.

In naming his campaign manager he followed precedents of Governors Cameron Morrison and J.M. Broughton, who had chosen Heriot Clarkson and Emory B. Denny.

The Governor said he would ask the Democratic State Committee to nominate Justice Higgins for the general election ballot. The appointment holds only until the election returns have been certified on November 23. He had previously said he would request nomination of Senator Ervin and Labor Commissioner Frank Crane. It is expected that the committee will go along with the recommendations of the Governor on all these nominations.

The committee also must nominate a member of the Democratic National Committee in place of Higgins, whose judicial duties will not permit him retaining an official position in a political party organization. Capitol Square gossip gives Governor Gregg Chery priority rating for that place.

HIGHWAYS—Bids were taken Tuesday and will be passed upon by the Highway Commission at its regular meeting Thursday for 297.1 miles of road construction and two bridges, representing 39 projects in 36 counties. Major items include the Statesville bypass on US64 and 12½ miles of the US29-70 new location near Thomasville.

The commission also will present the McCary Award for outstanding service of a highway employee to Paul D. Miller of Statesville, Miller won the honor this year, ninth man to win it, for his development of a machine to widen highways and remove snow. The award was proposed by highway employees in 1945 in honor of the late D.B. McCary of Asheboro, former commissioner and acting chairman.

The afternoon session will be devoted to a showing of a moving picture depicting construction and operation of the New Jersey turnpike, and to discussion of cooperation of the highway organization with civil defense.

General Edward F. Griffin, state director of civil defense, will present to the commissioners and division engineers details of the plan approved in principle at the Manteo meeting in April for operation of an emergency mobile battalion in event of enemy attack or major disaster.

DEFENSE—The Governor's conference on civil defense also will be held Thursday at the Sir Walter Hotel, featured by short talks by State, Federal and Army officers. These talks will emphasize the importance of the civil defense organization not only during active war but in connection with many incidents of peace of disastrous fires, floods, storms time activities, especially in event of epidemic disease.

LABOR—The swearing-in of Frank Crane as Commissioner of Labor attracted 100 or more people to the hall of the House of Representatives, many of them from his native Union county. The oath was administered by Judge W. A. Devin, retired Chief Justice of the N.C. Supreme Court. The Bible used was one that had belonged to the grandfather of the new commissioner, brought up for the occasion by Walter Crane Sanders of Monroe, its present custodian.

Governor Umstead, in presenting the official commission paid high tribute to the services of the late Commissioner Forrest Shuford, and said he was happy to find in the department a man whom he felt sure would carry on the Shuford tradition. "The good thing to promote from the ranks of trained personnel in every case where it was apparent that departmental workers would fully co-operate with the promoted officer."

Grandma Keeps A Lighthouse

ROUND AND-ROUND SHE GOES ... Grandma Emma Miethbauer climbs the 175-step spiral staircase inside Slim Anne, North German light-house she has tended for 25 years.

GRUDINSKI

AP Newsfeatures

...n, Germany — Grandma Emma Miethbauer, who proudly calls herself the "world's only woman lighthouse keeper, will soon step down from her windswept post on the North Sea coast here.

It's not her idea. But the West German waterways administration decided that after a quarter of a century in the service the 73-year-old lady was entitled to a rest.

"I feel well enough to stand my watch for another 10 years," she declares firmly.

Emma, a plump, shrewd old sail, is in charge of Slim Anne tallest lighthouse in the long chain of beacon-fires that guide shipping through the sandbar-ridden Elbe estuary safely into Hamburg harbor.

"I love Slim Anne nearly as much as my grandchildren in nearby Coxhaven," she says. And frankly, Slim Anne, gaudily painted red and white, looks much fancier than her twin-sister, Fat Bertha, a mile away.

Twice a day, at dawn and dusk
Emma puts on her bedroom slippers and goes up the steep, 175-step spiral staircase inside the tower to tend the lights in the tiny cabin.
She wears slippers because she takes great pride in waxing the stairs once a week and would not dream of spilling her effort with wooden shoes.

Grandma Miethbauer took over the job from her husband, an old-time sailor, who died in 1929 after tending Slim Anne for 23 years. It took her some time to convince his superiors that she was capable of doing the job. She often had helped her husband during the dark winter months when the gaslight burned for 17 hours daily and the smoke blacked prism reflectors had to be cleaned over and over.

Emma was a success. There have been no complaints all these years.

LIGHTHOUSE - KEEPING
GRANDMA ... Emma Miethbauer stands in front of her cottage beneath the lighthouse.

She has never been ill, except for an occasional cold.

As time went by she lived the life of a hermit. She rarely left her tiny cottage beneath Slim Anne to visit her children who have succeeded only three times in getting her to go to a movie. She was haunted by the idea that the lights might go out during her absence and a ship strike a sandbar.

When Grandma was given notice of retirement she was completely upset.

"They can't do that to the light-house. Why—it's a man's job," she claimed, not quite logically.

New Floor Patterns

Short lengths of hardwood flooring, too short to include in standard
length bundles, are now being marketed by lumber dealers because of the unusual patterns they make possible in a hardwood floor. You can get northern hard maple and birch in an attractive ending of tones. The laying of the short lengths involves no more of a trick
than any hardwood floor laying.

You can get free pamphlets on the proper procedure.

One point seems obvious, however, and that is a solid and smooth subfloor. Shorter lengths are not going to provide the bridging afforded by longer strips.

But a subfloor of plywood, or an underlayment of hardboard ought to offset this hazard.

Investigators Probe Suspected Murder - For - Profit Activities

BARTOW, Fla. (P)—Investigators went to work today digging into the actions of a mystery man in the Florida version of Murder, Inc.

This man, a Pensacola resident, was a go-between in what County Solicitor Clifton Kelly has described as a plot to murder three wealthy persons for profit.

In rapid-fire order since Monday there have been these developments:

1. Sheriff Pat Gordon staged a fake abduction of one of the intended victims, Mrs. Byrd Roach of Lake Wales, 51-year-old blonde widow, to make the principals think their orders had been carried out.

2. Gordon arrested Emmett Donnelly, well-known Lake Wales attorney, and Willard Durden, Orlando building contractor, on three charges of conspiracy to murder for profit.

3. Gordon disclosed that the man picked as the killer, Manuel Reeves, a Pensacola Negro, had been keeping authorities advised of every step in the game.

4. Donnelly, 61, shot himself to death yesterday only a few hours after he was released in bond from jail.

ly's death would have no bearing on prosecution of Durden, now free in bond, but the next step would be to determine the exact part of the mysterious go-between.

Kelly said this man, still unidentified, came into the case like this:
Reeves related the man approached him in January and asked Reeves if he wanted to handle a job for Durden who is a former Pensacola resident.

Reeves then was brought in contact with Durden, learned it was a matter of killing and informed Hamp Gandy of Pensacola, a special investigator for the Escambia County sheriff's office.

The solicitor said he wanted to question other Pensacola witnesses before determining whether to charge the mystery man with any offense. He indicated there is some doubt the man realized what kind of a job Durden allegedly wanted done.

The warrants name the intended victims as Mrs. Roach, K. H. Gerlach, 81, of Lake Wales and Mrs.

Louise Clark Hawley, about 50, of Orlando.

Donnelly had handled the legal and financial affairs for all three of those named as targets of the killer. Kelly said it is the state's contention that Donnelly expected to profit from their deaths by the opportunity to convert part or all of their estates to his use.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge
Charles H. Whedbee found Frederick
A. Selinder guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license and taxed him with the costs.
The court fine Selinder $10 for failure to stop at a stop light.

Rufus Spain, Negro, non-support, 12 months on the roads, suspended on payment of $29.85 court costs and pay $100 for support before his release. The judgment provides that Spain shall pay $20 a week for support beginning June 12, 1954. Late yesterday he had not paid up. Judge Whedbee ruled that this cause is held for further order.

Speeding: William F. Johnson, costs; Raymond A. Jones, $10.

William McK. Elles, Negro, assault, 30 days suspended on payment of costs. The judgment provides that he is not to molest or harm Moses Payton, Negro.

John W. Williams, 703 East Fourth street, who was charged with assault and battery, was found guilty of simple assault. The court gave him 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of court costs.

The judgment also provides that he is not to harm, molest or threaten the prosecuting witness, Mrs. Elizabeth W. Williams, his wife. The defendant gave notice of appeal to Superior Court and provided $200 bail.

Killed Big Rattler

Lawrence Tyson is shown here holding a five foot, two inch rattlesnake he killed Tuesday evening near Stokes on the Dennis Mc-Lawn farm. The "timber" rattlesnake was still moving 13 hours later when this picture was taken. It had 16 rattles and weighed approximately 12 pounds. Tyson, who formerly caught snakes for the University of Illinois, tried in vain to catch this snake but when he saw it was going to get away he killed the rattler with one blow behind the head. This blow, with a small stick, broke the snake's neck.
Tyson said he milked two tablespoons of poison from the reptile.
The snake was first seen by William Anderson. (Reflector Staff Photo

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, Real Estate Editor

The home handyman is getting to be a pretty important guy in the eyes of industry. It used to be that new products for home building and home maintenance were sedately announced in architectural journals and that was that. Today the do-it-yourself man—or woman —gets more attention than the architect or builder.

Why? Because even when a million new homes are built in a year, as has happened in the past several years, a million prospects are still only a million. In contrast, somebody realized there were about 45 million older homes in need of repair and upkeep for every million new homes built, so Mr. Average Householder suddenly became a star customer.

Well, millions are slightly beyond our personal acquaintance. We never expect to be counting anything (even dimes or nickels) in millions. But we can see from those now-famous statistics that when a new product is aimed at the handyman, it means it's a 45 to 1 shot. So here are our selections of your longshots for today:

Glass Insect Screens

New screening material for windows, doors and porches is available in roll form through retail outlets this spring. It is made of glass fiber yarns coated with vinyl re-sins. It won't rust or corrode, needs no paint, has a permanent color and is not supposed to shrink, stretch or belly-out under pressure.

We poked a pencil through it, scratched the hole together again and couldn't find the place we punctured. You can burn the coating off over a direct flame, but the glass fibers remain.

One feature of the material is that you can cut it with ordinary scissors without raveling making it easy to frame. And if you do tear a big hole in it, you can patch it by using your wife's electric iron. Cut the patch slightly larger than the hole, cover the patch with wax paper, set the iron on cotton heat and use the tip or edge of the iron only on the lap to be fused.

Light pressure does the trick. Don't use the iron flat or it will flatten all the yarns it presses on.

You also can patch this screening with natural nail polish or household cement, but it is difficult to avoid filling up the openings.

Tile In A Tube

A new caulking compound for squeezing into cracks and crevices around sinks and tubs looks and feels like white tile, but it comes in a tube. It is a plastic rubber compound, formulated to prevent shrinkage, crumbling, or discoloration with age—common complaints about caulking materials. It dries overnight and if used around colored fixtures, it can be painted any color to conform with your decorating preferences. It's waterproof.

The manufacturers say it can also be used for moldings, sills, frames, counter backs, glazing repairs, and other joints.

Short lengths of hardwood flooring, too short to include in standard
length bundles, are now being marketed by lumber dealers because of
the unusual patterns they make possible in a hardwood floor. You can get northern hard maple and birch in an attractive ending of tones. The laying of the short lengths involves no more of a trick
than any hardwood floor laying.

You can get free pamphlets on the
proper procedure.

One point seems obvious, however, and that is a solid and smooth subfloor. Shorter lengths
are not going to provide the bridging afforded by longer strips.

But a subfloor of plywood, or an
underlayment of hardboard ought
to offset this hazard.

RESCUED, DIES—Robert R. Kissling, 29, former Berkeley, Calif., resident who returned from Southern California a week earlier, is rescued from the bay at Berkeley by Policeman Sanford Herrick (above) who doffed his clothes and pulled him from chin-deep water. Kissling was given artificial respiration on the shore (below) but died on the way to the hospital. Officer Herrick suffered minor injuries in the rescue. (AP Wirephoto)

Union Disclaims Blame For Shooting Incident

RALEIGH (AP)—A union official said last night that none of his agents was responsible for firing a shot yesterday at the driver of a Thurston Motor Lines truck at Dunn.

Carl Wise, driver of the truck, narrowly averted possible injury or death when a bullet fired from a speeding car ripped through the windshield.

Wise said he stopped the truck and got out. By then the car was speeding down the highway. He said he knew of no reason why anyone would want to shoot him.

Jones stated that his union won an election in Raleigh last winter but had been unable to negotiate a contract. The union had represented Thurston workers in Greensboro for three years but that contract expired last February.

Six people have been picketing the company's terminal here daily. Thurston Motor Lines is the largest in Eastern North Carolina. Its home office is in Wilson.

Lt. Col. Pittman Returning From Philippines Duty

Lt. Col. George H. Pittman, Jr., who has been stationed in the Philippines for the past two years, is scheduled to return to the United States this month.

Col. Pittman joined the 581st Air Resupply and Communications Wing as wing commander in August in 1951. From September 1952 to August 1953 he headed the 581st AR Squadron. From then until the present he was deputy commander and executive officer for the 581st AR Group.

Col. Pittman is the son of Mrs. G. H. Pittman of Falkland. He is expected to fly home and arrive in the United States by June 25 or July 1.

N.C. Press Body To Hear Alsop

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP)—Joseph Alsop of Washington, D.C., newspaper columnist, will be the featured speaker tonight at the opening session of the North Carolina Press Assn.

Association President Welmar Jones of Franklin will preside at the session, beginning at 8 p.m. On the program with Alsop will be the Rev. Elmer T. Clark, executive secretary of the World Methodist Council.

Following the business meeting, the delegates will be taken on a boat ride on Lake Junaluska by Rear Adm. W.N. Thomas, ret.

Friday business meetings will be held. Various phases of news gathering and publishing will be discussed Friday night.

Carl Sandburg of Flat Rock, poet, author and historian, will be the featured speaker at a Friday banquet.

Saturday the annual business meeting will be held. Project reports, election of officers and a memorial period will be held.

Chinese records indicate that examinations for the selection of officers for public service were given in that country as early as 1115 B.C.

JAMES ROOSEVELT WINS—James Roosevelt, surrounded by supporters at his headquarters in Los Angeles, waves a telegram in which his principal opponent for the Democratic 26th district Congressional nomination conceded Roosevelt's victory. Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, won the nomination by a ratio of about 6-1 over his closest opponent despite criticism because of his recent domestic difficulties. He will meet Republican Theodore Owings in the general election. (AP Wirephoto)

Feel weak... Run-down... Tired?

REBUILD WEAK WATERY BLOOD

Feel Stronger FASTER with Amazing New Dynex

You don't have to feel tired all the time. Chances are your blood is not up to par. Doctors tell you iron and vitamin starvation as well as other causes can be at the root of this tired feeling.

Dynex is the fast-acting blood builder you need! Just one ounce of the potent—good tasting liquid gives you more than twice as much iron as your daily minimum requirement calls for—five times more vitamin B₁₂ than a whole pound of calves liver! 7 times more B₁₂ and 14 times more niacinamide than a whole pound of beefsteak—and that's not all! There is no substitute for a balanced diet—but when you need iron to rebuild weak watery blood—when your system is vitamin starved—there is no other product like Dynex for fast action!

Father On Stage And In Real-Life

BIG HAPPY FAMILY... Actor Burgess Meredith, in plaid suit, is surrounded by his youngest children in "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker." clockwise, Jackie Scholle, 12; Joel Crothers, 13; Jada Rowland, 11; Lewis Scholle, 13, and Billy Quinn, 8.

By JOY MILLER

AP Newsfeatures Writer
It took Burgess Meredith 46 years to appreciate children, but now he thinks he does. Up to a point. He concedes they're wonderful, but wearing.

His training began fairly recently with his own children, Jonathan, now 3, and Tala, 2. It was polished up in a TV series, "Excursion," a show for children on which he was both master of ceremonies and commentator.

Now he's playing the title role in "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," an 1890 father of 17 children. As such, he is backstage tutor, confessor, games supervisor and second baseman. His entire brood isn't in the play, but enough have roles to provide a representative cross-section of pose plenty of problems.

Even so, Meredith says, he's as much in favor of large families as Pennypacker. But:

"It's hard to get girls interested these days, and after all it's more a woman's problem than a man's. But large families are fine if you can afford them."

Of his stage family all (from the youngest, 8, on up) do their homework backstage and frequently consult him. "If it's mathematics, though," he explains, "I run."

He waves a hand toward several boys in knee pants who are trooping in and out of his dressing room. "The problem's the same, home or here. You've got to keep youngsters occupied. Their energy is overwhelming. They don't stop for one minute while they're in the theater. It's tiring just to think about."

Two boys leave with the shoe shine kits Meredith got them soon after the show opened last December. They operate a thriving business backstage at 15 cents a shine.

As the actor straightens his costume—plaid jacket and knickers and striped hose—a third lad tells him what a vital spot second base is. That's the position Meredith will play when the "Pennypackers" meet the adult team from "Wonderful Town," another Broadway hit, in Central Park one of these days.

An "on stage" call for the boys leaves him free to talk about his own children and modestly pass around snapshots of the youngsters with their pretty mother, the former Kaja Sundsten of the New York City Ballet. The Merediths live on a farm in Spring Valley, N.Y.

He enlarges upon his hobby: children. "I never had any before. They fascinate me. If I had had them when I was in my 30s, I wouldn't have appreciated them half so much. I find it's no trouble at all to leave my own activities to play with them."

He grins, runs a hand through his rumpled hair "that used to be red, but it's more brown now," and says:

"Of course, there comes a time—usually 7 a.m. or thereabouts—when I am home late from the play and it seems I have barely gone to sleep and I open one eye and there's a child urging me to get up and play I ask myself: "Do I like them or not?" He chuckles convincingly.

"The funniest thing about being a parent. You miss your children all day. You can't wait to get home to see them. But after 15 minutes of seeing them you are worn out. I never realized it was so strenuous playing with children. Training for a heavyweight fight can't be nearly so difficult."

So he greets Fathers Day as a worthy memorial to his paternal zeal?

"Fathers Day," he says, "is one of those hopeful things like going to church on Easter. The only thing it accomplishes is to enable the manufacturers to unload all the monstrosities they've accumulated over the year."

"Fathers Day should be celebrated by complete vacation of father from child, so father can store up enough energy to go back to it."

CLASS DISMISSED
DES MOINES (AP)—"What," asked sixth grade teacher Harriet Scanlan, "is an autobiography?"
"An autobiography," replied Pupil Gary Loveless, "is the life story of an automobile."

Grandmother To Get Her College Degree At Last

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Irene Thomas, a shy, 62-year-old grandmother who says "I'm a pretty old lady for this kind of thing," is going to get a college degree next Wednesday—after 42 years of off-and-on study.

She first registered at Western Reserve University in 1912 as a candidate for a one-year certificate in library work.

Accomplishing that, she started work in city libraries.

She returned to the university in 1926 and started taking courses to take her "mind off" troubles she says cropped up after leaving school.

In 1949 she had almost enough credits for a bachelor of arts degree and took a few required courses.

Now she is ready to graduate.

VACATION DEAL
PULASKI, Va. (AP) — Ronald Smith, a newspaper carrier boy, wanted to take a vacation but his delivery route posed a problem. C. M. Hayter, 49, a customer, offered the solution—he would handle 13-year-old Ronald's route and Ronald would mow his lawn an agreed number of times.

Law Enforcers Take To The Air
FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Law enforcement is being flown from village to village through the remote regions of interior Alaska.

In past years, persons accused of misdemeanors were flown to Fairbanks for prosecution. Now, the territorial police and a United States district attorney fly from place to place to prosecute cases before the U.S. commissioner in each community.

Both Sent Cards From Same City
FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — State Rep. W. Sheffield Cowles, on a tour of Europe, sent a postcard from Seville, Spain, to his fellow Connecticut legislator, Erving Fry of Colebrook.

When he returned home, Cowles found a postcard from Pruyn in the mail that had accumulated while he was away. Pruyn had sent it to Cowles from Seville.

hand at keeping a witness pinned to the chair. He did this to Stevens and to Army Counselor John G. Adams for days. His pressure paid off.

Adams disclosed for the first time high officials in the Eisenhower administration had advised the Army in its dealings with McCarthy. McCarthy made quick capital of it and kept the hearings attention focused on this episode for a week.

The McCarthy attack went this way: he accused Welch of trying to "foist" off on the Senate subcommittee conducting the hearings a former member of the National Lawyers Guild — Fisher.

Welch said he did not find out until after he brought Fisher down here to help him in this case that the young man had been a member of the guild at Harvard Law School and a few months there.

Each time it happened McCarthy diverted Welch's attention from Cohn. It was something Welch seldom did to McCarthy when the senator for days grilled secretary of the Army Stevens al-

'Poisoned People' Of Pacific Call On U.S. To Stop Hydrogen Bomb Tests

Editor's Note—A shifting wind east radioactive ash along an uncharted path after the March 1 testing of the hydrogen bomb. The result was injury to two score natives—and a petition to the United Nations which sums up the Marshall Islanders' feelings toward the radioactive danger and the loss of their land. To get the facts at the scene AP correspondent William J. Waugh went from Honolulu to the Marshalls and spent 10 days interviewing injured persons and their leaders, and also personnel who run the atomic tests. This is the first of two stories reporting his preliminary findings. They were delayed by censorship in the Defense Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and the State Department. Only minor deletions were made in the original copy however.

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
KWAJALEIN, Marshall Islands, May 29 (AP)—They call themselves

"the poisoned people."

There are the 82 natives of Rongelap Atoll who were showered by radioactive ash from the March 1 explosion of a hydrogen bomb.

One of them, John Anjin, said the ash rained down for 24 hours. "It looked like salt," he said. "It came down like a light rain. You could feel it strike your skin. It burned when it touched."

Some of the "poisoned people" lost their hair. Others were burned. Almost all of them are cured now—but they have been banished from their homes for a year. They are among the Marshall Islanders who have petitioned the United Nations to end atomic experiments in this area—or at least to see that the United States observes closer precautions.

The Marshall Islands, midway between Hawaii and the Philippines, came under U. S. control in the war 10 years ago. In 1947 the United States became their trustee under U. N. authority. The islands are low coral atolls with a population of about 11,000.

Natives of Bikini and Eniwetok atolls were uprooted in 1946-47 to make way for atomic experiments. In the March 1 blast the 82 persons on Rongelap and 154 on Utrik were exposed or endangered to such an extent that they were removed from their home atolls. The Utrik people have gone back, but the Rongelapers must wait a year—until their atoll is considered safe.

Anjin, a Rongelap leader, described the March 1 explosion: "First saw light, then smoke. Smoke went up, then right through the clouds. Later heard and felt blast. Wind so strong some people fell down. It banged doors."

Of the 82 Rongelapers, about 45 suffered radiation burns. Many of these were slight. One man, 39-year-old Toma Naril still has a bad burn on the back of his right ear, three months after the explosion. He was fishing in a canoe when the ash began falling. "Some were frightened," said a Rongelap medical aide. "By night children were crying. Many adults were sick."

A few days after exposure, some of the residents began losing their hair. Three days after the blast a destroyer arrived to evacuate the residents. All started taking showers then.

The evacuation from Rongelap and Utrik was completed in two days. The affected people received medical assistance here on the Kwajalein Atoll. A top medical team was flown from the United States, arriving March 10.

In April a survey party visited the two affected atolls. This consisted of representatives of Joint Task Force 7; commander in chief Pacific Fleet; high commissioner, Trust Territory of Pacific Islands; the Atomic Energy Commission's engineer contractors (Holmes and Narver) and the native magistrates of Rongelap and Utrik.

It was decided the Utrik people could return home, with adequate water and food supplies to be furnished them. It was determined the Rongelap people would have to stay off their atoll for a year. They will live, meantime, on 14-acre Ejit in the Majuro Atoll. There the AEC contractors have built an entirely new village of 27 buildings.

"There is anger among some people," Anjin said. "I think it will disappear if we get back home. They trust the American people."

He said the Rongelapers have been well taken care of since their arrival on Kwajalein—with all the food, clothing, medical care and entertainment they need. The Marshallese people are movie fans. They like hillbilly and Hawaiian music.

Americans in the area felt a personal responsibility for the natives brought to Kwajalein. Mrs. Percy W. Clarkson, wife of the commanding officer of the task force rallied wives of naval personnel in a clothing drive for the women and children. All the evacuated persons I talked with have been emphatic that their treatment has been the best. But there is a certain amount of sadness among the people of Rongelap.

"My people don't feel good about not going home," Anjin observed. "We fear we may have the fate of Bikini."

The 200 Bikinians, moved from island to island are now on Isolated Kill, inaccessible many months of the year because of heavy surf.

Physically, Rongelapers today bear few signs of their exposure. Those who lost hair are getting it back.

Thirteen of the men made a brief visit to their home atoll to recover some of the possessions left behind. All the residents have been compensated for the lost crops.

Did these people have any message for the American people? Paul Irujiman, 38, spoke up in Marshallese:

"Please tell them not to do the same thing again—throw the bomb. We didn't do anything wrong."

Time To Duck In Annual Rivalry

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP)—An annual rivalry goes on here without decision. The swans in Vander Veer Park lagoon attack the semfame ducks which share the pond with them.

The swans presumably are trying to clear a nesting area. But the ducks plunge under water when attacked, swim submerged 10 to 15 feet and come up again out of sight of the attacker.

Short Voyage On Homemade Raft

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—Arthur Chape, 12, decided he'd build a raft and float down the Fox River. He became panicky when the raft began to rock in the wind-swept waves. Not being a good swimmer, he jumped anyway. A playmate on shore yelled. Their screams attracted nearby residents and police were notified. They arrived to find rescue wasn't needed. The water was shallow and Arthur waded ashore.

JUSTICE AND MERCY

WAYNESBORO, Va. (AP)—Kenneth R. Givens, a juror, was listening to the evidence in a case in corporation court, when there was an urgent message for him. There was an emergency and Givens was the only citizen the hospital knew who had a needed type of blood. Judge C. G. Quisenberry recessed court an hour at Givens' request. When he returned the jurors made him foreman.

Lions Sew Up Championship With 15-0 Win Over Kiwanis

V.F.W.	4	5	.444

Exploding their big bats behind the protection of little Tadpole Cates' one-hit pitching the Lions assured themselves of the first half championship of the North State League yesterday at Little League Park with a 15-0 win coupled with a 5-2 win over the Jaycees by the Kiwanis.

The Lions and the Jaycees play tomorrow in the final game of the first half in the North State League, but regardless of the winner the Lions will take the first half championship.

Allen Jackson was the big man with the stick for the Lions with four singles and a triple in five times at bat, a perfect day. Charles Puryear with three for three and Stuyve Noble with a long home run contributed heavily to the scoring.

In the opening game of the day the fast-rising V.F.W. team defeated the Jaycees 5-2 as Burton Jenkins bested Jasper Tripp in a mound duel. The V.F.W. led off with five runs in the first half of the first inning and the Jaycees could not get near that many runs off Jenkins.

Three errors led to Tripp's downfall in the first inning. The V.F.W. scored their five runs on just two hits, but the three errors all came at crucial times in the rally.

When Tripp did settle down there was no stopping him. The big Jaycees ace struck out 16 batters of the 18 that got out. That is the record for this year. The previous high being 15 by Merrill Byrum.

Jenkins had his effectiveness throughout the game. The V.F.W. star struck out nine and walked only one in pitching one of his better games of the year. Jody Bialock led the hitting for both teams with two hits in two bats.

This afternoon at Little League Park it will be the Elks versus the Pepsi-Cola at 5 o'clock.

Paul Giel Signs Giants' Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP) — How does a college kid react to an assured income of $60,000 for the next three years?

If he's Paul Giel, the Minnesota football star whose signing to pitch professional baseball for the New York Giants at those terms was announced here yesterday, he's more impressed with a gift automobile.

"Boy, you ought to see it," he told newsmen at a press conference attended by such high brass of the Giants' organization as President Horace Stoneham. "They gave it to me up at Minneapolis the other night. Was I surprised! It's a cream-colored, hard-top convertible, a 1954 model."

Don't conclude from this that Giel, a two-time All-America half-back at Minnesota, is more than usually naive. He had his pick of six or seven offers from major league baseball teams and turned down a couple of what he called "highly attractive" bids to play football in the Canadian League.

"I decided a long time ago to play baseball instead of football," the 21-year-old single-wing tail-back explained. "But when those Canadians came around I just had to listen. They made me some real attractive offers."

Actually, Giel admitted, "several" other baseball offers were better than the one he agreed to with the Giants.

"But there were some other considerations — and I always wanted to play with the Giants anyway," he added with a grin. Exact terms of the bonus arrangement were not, as is customary in major league baseball revealed. But the Giants' publicity department announced in the pressbox at last night's New York-Milwaukee game that Giel had "signed a three-year bonus contract." And one of the biggest of the club's front-office brass agreed $60,000 was "about right," adding it would constitute the youngster's salary spread over a period of three years.

Kilgore's Win May Rate Fight With Champion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Billy Kilgore's surprise technical knockout over Ernie Durando here last night may have earned him a non-title bout with middleweight champion Bobo Olson.

"I might get slaughtered," the plain-spoken Miamian said in his dressing room, "but I doubt it. I think I have a chance."

Kilgore, a 2-1 underdog, gave Durando, the hard-punching Bayonne, N.J., middleweight, a decisive beating from start to finish. A Miami Beach Boxing Commission doctor refused to allow Durando to come out for the 10th.

An examination after the fight disclosed there were four separate lacerations around Durando's left eye and 10 stitches were needed to close them. Two more stitches were taken in a cut over the right eye.

Carl James Added To Duke Staff

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke Athletic Director E. H. Cameron announced yesterday that Carl James, former Blue Devil football and track star has been added to the school's athletic staff.

Cameron said James, 25, will succeed Dan W. Hill Jr., who resigned May 31 to enter private business. James will be assistant to Cameron. He will begin work June 14.

A native of Raleigh, James was a star football player at Needham Broughton High School. He entered Duke in 1947 after a year at Edwards Military Institute.

Early Workouts Paying Off For Chicago's Bob Keegan

By BEN PHLEGAR

AP Sports Writer

After being mired in the minors for seven years with an aching arm, pitcher Bob Keegan leads the American League in victories today because Manager Paul Richards told him to get his arm sore in January instead of June.

The big right-hander from Rochester, N. Y., is the brightest new star of the first-place Chicago White Sox. He won his ninth game last night 9-4 over Philadelphia. He's been beaten only once.

Keegan, a sinker ball artist, is hitting his prime just two months shy of his 33rd birthday and in his second season in the majors.

The White Sox grabbed him out of the International League, where he won 20 and lost 11 for Syracuse in 1951. He was available because the New York Yankees, who have owned him for six minor league seasons had given up on his sore arm.

Sure enough, in his first season with the White Sox, Keegan came up with a sore arm last spring and had to go on the disabled list for 30 days. He finished strong, however, winning seven and losing five.

The past winter Richards ordered him to go to work in the gym. Just as he expected, the pitcher developed his old ache. But the advance schedule was timed perfectly and Keegan was fit and ready when the season opened.

He has started 11 games, finished nine of them and has a fine earned-run average of 2.27 in 99 innings. He's beaten every team in the league except the Yankees at least once and he holds three decisions over Boston. So far he hasn't faced the Yankees although he's sure to get a chance this weekend when the White Sox invade New York for four games.

The triumph in Philadelphia, which included home runs by Johnny Groth, Chico Carrasquel and Sherm Lollar, enabled Chicago to hold its one-game lead over the Cleveland Indians, who shaded Washington 1-0. New York defeated Detroit 5-1. Boston beat Baltimore 7-6.

The surprising New York Giants drove into a tie with Brooklyn for first place in the National League as Johnny Antonelli registered his second straight shutout in beating Milwaukee 4-0 while St. Louis tripped Brooklyn 3-0. Philadelphia won a pair from Chicago 4-0 and 14-6. Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 4-3 on four home runs.

The Giants jumped off to a 1-0 lead against Warren Spahn in the first inning, added a second tally on Antonelli's run-scoring single in the eighth and two more on three singles and a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

The Dodgers folded before the southpaw slants of Harvey Haddix, who joined Keegan as the only nine-game winners in the majors. He gave up only three hits, all singles, after holding the Dodgers hitless through the first five innings.

The Cubs got 10 hits off Murry Dickson but failed to convert them into a single run in their first game loss to Philadelphia. In the nightcap the Phillies won a battle of home runs. Willie Jones hit a pair and Bobby Morgan, Stan Lopata and Grady Hamner got one apiece. Joe Garagiola and Bill Serena both pinch hitters, homered for Chicago.

The long ball made all the difference in Cincinnati too. After Pittsburgh jumped on Joe Nuxhall for three runs in the first, the Redlegs fought back with bases-empty homers. Nuxhall got one in the third; Gus Bell, one in the sixth and one in the eighth; and Jim Greengrass, one in the ninth.

Bob Porterfield of the Senators had a no-litter working until Vic Wertz singled with one out in the seventh and he gave up only four hits all evening but Cleveland got the one run of the game. Wertz moved around to score on a single by Dave Philley and an error by Eddie Yost.

Boston came from behind in the seventh against Bill Lee and won in the ninth on a triple by Sammy White after Jackie Jensen had singled. The victory went to Frank Sullivan, type 6-7 Red Sox rookie, who was the fourth Boston pitcher.

A three-run double by Earl Berra and Eddie Robinson's first home run since joining the Yankees led to Detroit's defeat. Tom Morgan, who replaced V. Ford after two innings, picked up his fourth straight victory. Ford developed a blister.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

PITCHING — Harvey Haddix, St. Louis Cardinals, became the first lefthander to beat Brooklyn, allowing the Dodgers only three straight game and his ninth of the season, 3-0.

BATTING — Al Dark, New York Giants, got two doubles and two singles in four times up as the Giants beat Milwaukee, 4-0.

Jack Burns, manager of the Albany Senators, is the dean of Eastern League pilots. He has been a manager in the league since 1949.

AP Newsfeatures
To Herbert Levine, winning the Grand Prize in a recent photo contest, was no routine feat. He did it the hard way, for Herbert is a hospitalized Army veteran, stricken with polio in Korea less than a year ago.

He made his own prize winning enlargement, he told me, and now that he can get around on crutches he's back to snapping pictures and doing his own processing in a special darkroom in St. Albans Hospital, New York City. There was enthusiasm in Herbert's voice as he talked about his work. The doctors could prescribe in pills or a bottle.

This is an inspirational side of photography that we don't hear enough about. It is made possible by a group of volunteers teaching photography to patients in 40 hospitals in eight states and Trinidad, British West Indies. Volunteer Service Photographers has headquarters in New York City where the idea originated in 1941.

It was the brainchild of Josephine U. Herrick, a professional photographer, who believed that volunteer photography could play a vital part in the nation's service. She trained a group of War Service Photographers who bolstered morale by taking portraits of servicemen and women to be sent to their families.

As the war progressed and our hospitals filled with casualties, the program grew and changed in character. The volunteers under Miss Herrick turned their attention to hospital wards and used photography as a tool towards rehabilitation and recovery. As a hobby, it provided a mental stimulant to take the patients' minds off their ailments and give them something to do to fill their long, waiting hours. In many cases it stimulated damaged muscles to activity. It gave them the satisfaction of an accomplishment which they could send to their families and friends.

By late 1944 the therapeutic value of the program had been tested and approved by the Army and Navy surgeon generals. They authorized expansion of Rehabilitation Photography on a nationwide basis.

When World War II ended, hospitals ceased but the hospitals were just as full for years after. The need for Volunteer Service Photographers was as vital as ever. With the out break of the Korean conflict, new demands on VSP were made—and met.

Here are some of the services in their hospital program:
It gives instruction to patients in basic photography, lighting techniques, developing, printing, enlarging, making exhibition prints and photo-oil coloring.

It trains its volunteers in hospital techniques and procedures for bed, wheelchair and ambulatory patients.
It provides to hospitals: volunteers to carry on the program; the photographic equipment and supplies; portable darkrooms, where necessary; advisory service on rehabilitation photography and on constructing photo labs especially designed for different types of patients.

Its photographers take portrait snapshots of patients and send pictures home to their families.
It sponsors inter-hospital photo contests with prizes for the student patients; organizes exhibitions of their work; arranges photo field trips, color slide showings, demonstrations and lectures.

The VSP program is financed by private contributions and generous donations of photographic equipment by camera clubs, manufacturers and dealers. It could not continue, however, without the priceless donation of time and effort on the part of almost 250 active volunteers. Each gives a minimum of six hours instruction weekly for 44 weeks in the year to an average group of four student-patients.

Today, there is a gradual expansion of VSP services in civilian hospitals where it has been shown it can aid victims of polio, cerebral palsy and tuberculosis, particularly through the teaching of photo-oil coloring.

There is a place in this inspiring picture for the time and talents of more camera clubs and individual camera fans throughout the country. You can write to VSP, 292 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y., to see if you are near enough to join in one of the 40 hospital programs now in effect. If not, they can put at your disposal the knowledge they've accumulated to serve your local community.

SUMMER DRAMA . . . Velvet hats are making the headline news of the season. Left, a dramatic scoop bonnet in yellow velvet, elegant and new for afternoon wear with dressy summer costumes. Right, a summer charmer in velvet that perches over the chignon.

Says Violin Like Sleeping Princess

By W.G. ROGERS

Associated Press arts editor

NEW YORK—A violin is like the fairy-tale Sleeping Beauty: it needs a Prince Charming to wake it up.

So said Zino Francescatti by way of explaining that there's something more to a Stradivarius than Stradivarius. Mrs. Francescatti put it in her words:

"A violin is like a wine: if it's good at the start, it's still better after aging."

Monsieur and Madame, both being violinists, speak with equal authority, though Mrs. Francescatti no longer plays concerts: "One in the family is enough," she says.

Her husband is one of the best waker uppers of violins, and he has been hailed by the experts here and abroad as a splendid Prince Charming in this professional field.

One of his last official acts, as he quit the concert platform for a long summer-time rest in his home in the Berkshires, in Monterey, Mass., was to sit for this interview. "Sit," however, is hardly the word for this distinguished artist who, being southern as well as French, may sit but does not often sit still. And his fingers are agile from talking. I am sure, no less than from fingering the violin.

He plays the "Hart" Stradivarius. Some months ago he was invited to Genoa to play the Stradivarius which Francesco, teacher of the teacher of Francescatti's father—had bequeathed to the Italian city—was long unused, and needed working up.

"It had dried up, as a pair of shoes left in a closet dries up," Starting from that, Francescatti discussed that ever popular and mystifying subject: the secret of the greatness of a violin.

"Some people think it's the varnish, or they call it Stradivarius. But the fact is, in my opinion, that a violin becomes good after it is played on by good violinists. Note that the great violins usually bear the name of the great violinists who used them."

"Just as a violin looks better from much use, and takes on a richer patina from the constant rub of fingers, so it sounds better from much use."

Then was a Stradivarius great when it was first made?

"Yes, of course it was great, but greater after it had been in use a couple of centuries. There may be some 'Stradivarius' making violins today whose instruments we think are good but which can be proven great only a couple of centuries hence."

"A violin needs to have its merits brought out, coaxed from it. You have to take your violin and clean it and care for it and love it."

"I have a young friend who is a remarkable musician but on his violin he cannot play harmonics. He can play them on mine. They're in mine. Mine knows what's expected of it."

Francescatti likes New York. Its soaring buildings and its unforgettable skyline. He likes Boston which reminds him of French cities. And he likes Monterey, which is near Tanglewood, so that if he's with fellow musicians all winter on tour, he's surrounded by fellow musicians, even by the entire Boston Symphony, during the Berkshire Music Festival in the summer.

Born in Marseilles just under 50 years ago, he made his first public appearance when he was 5, and his American debut in 1939. He speaks English fluently, if not quite perfectly, but that will come, for he works at it all the time.

Japanese Beauty Entry Is Tiny

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Miss Japan, 1954, is a dark-haired 18-year-old beauty who weighs only 101 pounds.

Mieko Kondo of Nagoya.

Miss Kondo was named to represent Japan in this summer's Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif., after a 3½ hour pageant of bathing suit and kimono-draped beauties here last night.

She stands 5 feet 1½ inches and measures 34-21-36 in the places where beauty queens are measured.

Velvet Hats For Summer

By DOROTHY ROE

Time was when the well-dressed woman wore a velvet or felt hat in winter, changed to straw in summer.

But times have changed. One of the top fashions of this season is the summer velvet hat. So popular have these flattering velvets become that hat manufacturers are thinking of reversing the seasons, and trying out straws for winter.

The little black velvet hat for August and early fall has been gaining ground for several years, but this is the first season when velvet hats of all sizes, shape and color are seen in mid-summer.

You'll find them in all price range, from the expensive Paris imports and custom made models at $45 and up, to little hat bar numbers that can be bought for pin money.

Whatever their price, these new summer velvet hats are smart and new-looking, especially in color. You'll be seeing them in yellow, violet, silver gray, raspberry pink, tangerine and white, in addition to the traditional black. You'll find them in dramatic cartwheels and little chignon twists, to fit over the bun at the back of your head.

If you want to be ultra-smart, add velvet gloves to match.

Profanity Didn't Help The Driver

DENVER (AP)—Leo May, 23, of Denver swore at the motorist who pulled alongside him and cautioned him about reckless driving. At the curb he challenged the man to a fight.

But three hours later he quietly pleaded guilty to charges of using profanity and received a $10 fine from Municipal Judge George McNamara, the motorist who had admonished him.

Plea For Public Support Of Legislation Scheduled

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a fresh appeal for public support of his legislative program in a major television-radio address tonight.

It is scheduled for 8 p.m., EST. His immediate audience for a half-hour speech will be a group of self-styled "political amateurs," the National Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee.

This group opens a three-day meeting tonight with a congressional reception to be addressed by

Vice President Nixon. A hurriedly arranged dinner will follow with the chief executive speaking. Up until late yesterday the President had been listed only for some brief informal remarks tomorrow.

The White House said ABC would carry the speech direct on TV and radio, NBC direct on radio and by delayed film on TV (9:30 p.m., EST and Mutual on a radio rebroadcast (10:30 p.m., EST). Other coverage was subject to pending arrangements.

The President's decision to go on the air and his choice of forum were significant. He has a strong attachment for the volunteer group that worked for him in his '52 presidential race and is now engaged in a drive to marshal Democratic and independent votes for Republican congressional candidates pledged to the Eisenhower program.

Also, the White House decision is in line with the President's June 2 news conference statements that enactment of his program is so important to the national welfare that he intends to give what he termed his exclusive attention. He has voiced concern with slow congressional action on the program.

City Of Suspensions Shocked Twice By AEC Misgivings

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's hard to cause astonishment with new misgivings about Communist infiltration of the government. This city has become a breeding ground for doubt and suspicion.

But it happens. It happened twice within a few days and in both cases, one real and one imaginary misgivings involved the Atomic Energy Commission, which directs the nation's whole atomic program.

Early last week a special board of inquiry, headed by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, one of the world's great theoretical physicists, was loyal, highly discreet, a great keeper of secrets but —

The board decided 2-1 Oppenheimer no longer should be entrusted with secret information by the AEC. Oppenheimer directed this country's development of the A-bomb during the war and has been a consultant to the AEC ever since. The full five-man AEC has decided to review the board's ruling.

A few days later Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) raised a nightmarish question about the AEC, whose members are picked by the President himself.

This was it: suppose someday one or more of the five commissioners should turn out to be a security risk and not entitled to all the atomic information given the other commissioners.

Cole is chairman of the Senate House Committee on Atomic Energy, which acts as watchdog on the AEC.

The committee is considering an administration bill to make some changes in the basic Atomic Energy Act passed in 1946. All five members of the AEC have testified.

One of them, Thomas E. Murray, said he would like the law, if it is amended to say clearly that "all members of the commission shall have equal authority and responsibility . . . and full access to all information."

Murray, together with Henry D. Smyth and Eugene M. Zuckert, had been appointed to the commission by former President Truman. President Eisenhower has appointed the other two: Adm. Lewis L. Strauss and Joseph Campbell.

The three Truman appointees voiced fear that some of the language in the bill—saying the chairman, in this case Strauss, should be the "principal officer"—would make Strauss a czar and cut the other members out of some vital decisions.

Murray expressed opposition to this idea and complained that Strauss had taken a number of actions without consulting the other members.

At this point Cole stepped in to say he was willing for the law to say all the members of the commission should have equal responsibility and authority, as Murray suggested. But he added:

"I am not quite so willing to accept the latter part of it (Murray's suggestion that all five members have equal access to information).

Why shouldn't all five commissioners, if they're going to run the atomic energy program, have full knowledge of what's being planned and done?

Cole said because it would "render helpless a commission which at some time in the future by majority vote might determine that one or two of the five commissioners should not have certain information."

At this point Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) said he was "astounded." He asked Cole if he meant to suggest that someday some individual member of the AEC itself might be considered loyal and discreet but a security risk.

Cole said he had something like that in mind. So, instead of having the law say all members must have all information on the atomic program, he said a majority of the board should decide who among them was entitled to have it.

If he had carried his thinking one step further it would have come to this: maybe someday a majority of the five-man AEC might be security risks for, if one or two could be risks, then three or four or all five might be.

Selassie Admires U.S. Agriculture

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Haile Selassie, Ethiopian emperor, solemn-eyed Lion of Judah, heads for the Far West today after voicing admiration for "your country's splendid farm industry."

The African Emperor's next stop is Spokane, Wash. Yesterday he visited the Twin Cities and the rich farming country of southern Minnesota.

His tightly crammed schedule brought him glimpses of green fields, tall silos, the formal meat-packing plant at Austin and the famed Mayo Clinic at Rochester.

He stopped briefly at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Doty near Rochester where he smilingly drank a glass of lemonade and ate some homemade cookies.

The grueling tour sapped the energy of many in the royal party. But the 6-foot-4 ruler of Christiania's oldest nation disclaimed any fatigue. "Any tiredness I might feel is offset by the wonderful reception I am having," he commented.

Dixie Division Being Retired Next Tuesday

CAMP CARSON, Colo. (AP)—The Confederate colors of the 31st Infantry "Dixie" Division will be returned to Alabama and Mississippi next Tuesday when the unit is renamed the 8th Infantry "Golden Arrow" Division.

The change will be made in a two-day ceremony at Camp Carson. No movement of troops is involved.

Retirement of the 31st is part of the Army's program to return eight National Guard units to inactive status. The original troops recalled to active duty in January, 1951, have returned to their homes.

Most of the division's troops hail from the northeastern United States. With Tuesday's change, they will doff the double-D patch and Confederate shoulder emblem.

Tomcat Sounded Burglar Alarms

CLEVELAND (AP)—The cat that came to dinner and stayed to upset burglar alarms at the Lewis Machinery Co. got the gate.

Animal Protective League workers hauled off the orange colored tomcat yesterday after Tabby on three occasions summoned irate police by wandering past electric "eyes" during the night.

The cat first turned up two weeks ago begging food from workers at lunchtime. After that he became a regular pest who didn't know when to go home.

Argues Divorce Claims False

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Williamson Macfadden wants Dade County Circuit Court to throw out a divorce granted physical culturist Bernard Macfadden in 1946.

Mrs. Macfadden filed suit yesterday in which she contends that recently disclosed facts show his claim to Florida residence was false.

The divorced Mrs. Macfadden tried to stop Macfadden's marriage to Mrs. Jonnie Lee in 1948 when Macfadden was 80 and his bride 42.

Mrs. Jonnie Lee Macfadden was granted a legal separation in New York last February.

Big Rattler Had Work Stymied

STROUD, Okla. (AP)—Troopers Art Phelps and Mayes Lowery, answering an emergency call to the maintenance headquarters of the Turner Turnpike yesterday, arrived to find a six-foot rattlesnake holding a turnpike crew at bay.

Lowery shot the rattler's head off with his service pistol. Workers then reached their equipment and operations were resumed.

Catchy Calypso Beat Helps Train Army's Medics

PT. SAM HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A 350-pound sergeant stepped out in front of his class on bandaging. He rolled his eyes, bounced a couple of times and chanted:

"The roller bandage is so neat, The flannel bandage gives with the heat,

"The gauze, of course, lets in the air, With a wound on the head you shave your hair."

That is the first verse of "The Roller Bandage Calypso," an Army training aid with a West Indian beat.

The song just came to M. Sgt. William J. Paschall Sr., a former Memphis and St. Louis "rhythm and blues man," one day.

He was listening to another instructor teach trainees at Brooke Army Hospital here about the long narrow bandage, how it's used to keep dressings in place and protect wounds.

"I made a little ditty in my head," said Paschall, who sometimes is known as "350 pounds of solid sugar" and also as "the melodious medic."

His supervisor, Lt. John L. Hontela of San Francisco, talked him into singing it during a break between classes.

"Now I use it after each lecture on roller bandages," Paschall said. "And the trainees sing it with me. You'd be amazed how fast it caught on—I heard the men singing the song while they were shooting pool at the service club and pulling 'KP' in the mess hall."

Maj. Gen. William E. Shambora, commanding general of the hospital, is officially enthusiastic about the calypso.

"We welcome an innovation in our training which makes subjects easier to teach and easier to learn," he said.

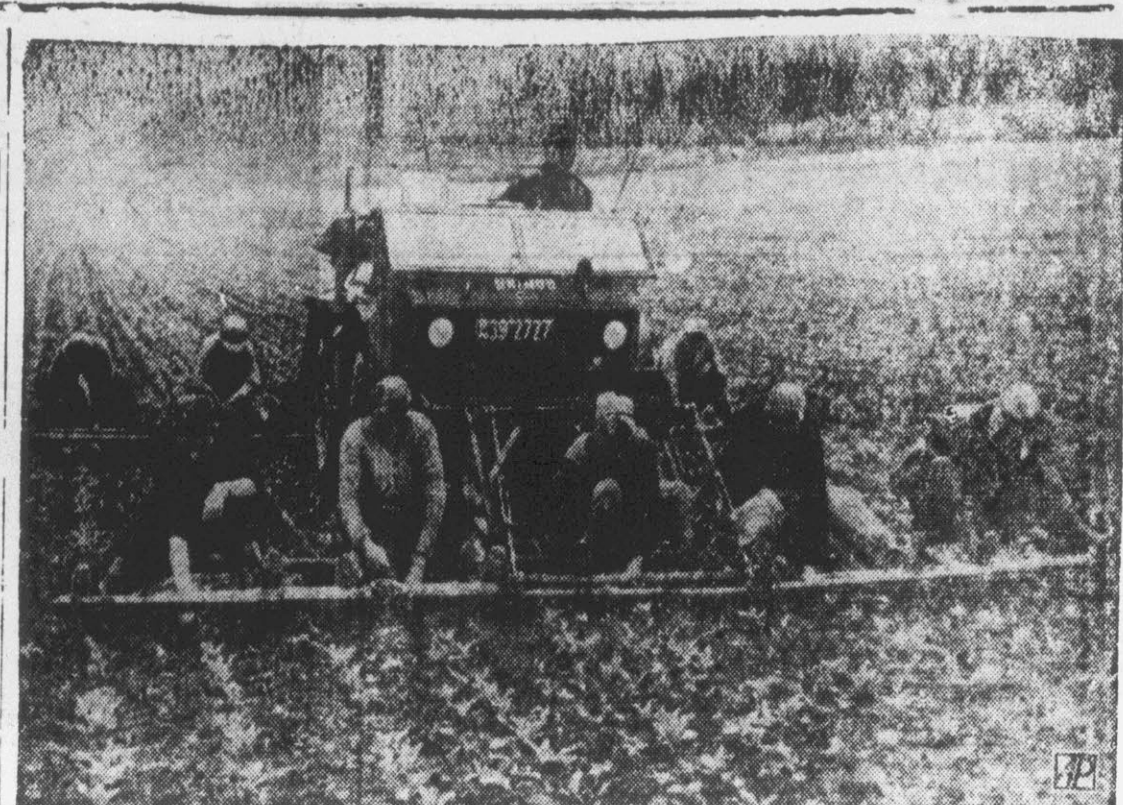

Brings Pasture To His Cattle

SEAFORD, Del. (AP)—Herman J. Ockels can't very well turn his cows out to pasture, so he brings the pasture to them.

"And they're just lazy enough to like it," the Seaford farmer says of the silver platter treatment.

Ockels drives a forage harvester into the pasture, cuts a load of chopped grass, brings it to the barns and serves it to the cows. All they have to do is stand there and eat it.

Ockels says the "lazy cow" idea conserves grass. Anyway, he doesn't have much choice. His farm is bordered on one side by the town of Seaford and on the other by a dual lane highway. He'd rather pamper his cows than have them risk injury by grazing.

BEWARE OF BUMPS—An ingenious device to take the bending out of beet farming is this tractor rig on a German farm near Hanover. The field workers sit on improvised benches fore and aft while weeding rows of sugar beet seedlings. A portable radio on the tractor provides music to add to the pleasant agricultural innovation. I Love Lucy Starts 4th Year Unchanged

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—I Love Lucy is starting its fourth year of laugh-provoking programs and shows no signs of slackening its pace as the No. 1 TV show of the nation.

On most audience ratings, carot-topped Lucille Ball has been able to nose out tight-lipped Joe Friday of Dragnet. Her supremacy in the surveys has been going on almost since the series started.

Having witnessed the inception of the show, I dropped by the set for a progress report when the players started their first show for the fourth season. It will be seen next September. Lucy was up to her usual shenanigans, sitting on a ledge outside the apartment while Ricky and the Mertzes hunted for her.

The show did not appear to have changed in its three years of prosperity. There was the same frantic movement of three cameras and crewmen to get everything rehearsed for the evening performance. There was the same earnest cooperation and striving for perfection. One thing that distinguished I Love Lucy (and Dragnet) too from its competitors is its complete professionalism. The laughs may not always be there when expected, but everything is done with expert craftsmanship.

I asked Lucille how long she thought the show could continue. "It's a mystery to me," she replied. "We have no worries as long as the writers (Jess Oppenheimer, Madelyn Pugh, Bob Carroll Jr.) keep coming up with such fabulous scripts. They're amazing."

There had been a report that the show would use more guest stars. Recent members of the cast have been Tennessee Ernie and golfer Jimmy Demaret. Lucille said they had no plans for more guests—unless they are as fabulous as Tennessee Ernie."

"The Long, Long Trailer," which Lucille and Desi Arnaz made last summer was a hit, and I asked if they planned any more movies. "Not this summer," Lucille replied. "We're going to Del Mar for two months after we do five shows for next season. If we did a picture, it would leave us no time off."

Bacteria in suspended animation which have been found imbedded deep in the mud of the ocean floor may be the world's oldest living things, scientists say.

Two Pitt Churches That Won Progress Honors

The Red Oak Christian Church was a second place winner in the "Rural Church of the Year" contest. The Red Oak Church was first place winner last year for the state and won second place in the Southeastern states. The awards were presented by Gov. William B. Umstead at the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

Above is pictured the Chicod Presbyterian Church which was a second prize winner in the "Rural Church of the Year" contest for North Carolina. The church received one of the four $100 prizes which went to second-place winners, presented Tuesday at the forty-sixth annual Farm and Home Week at N. C. State College. Completed High School From Bed

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Two years ago May Lou Boucher was stricken with polio.

Since then confined to bed, she has been unable to attend regular high school classes. But she was able to complete high school with home studies. A special tray held her books and the pages were turned by two younger sisters. May Lou, 17, received her degree at Portage High School last night — in a wheel chair.

Fire Losses For City Amount To $1,224 For May

Greenville fire losses amounted to $1,224 during the month of May. Fire Chief George Gardner reported to the city council recently.

The chief's report showed that fire losses for 1954 through May amounted to $76,204.72. Gardner said, however, that $62,678 of the total losses was accounted for by fires in the E. T. Stafford and Jessie Moyer homes.

The report also indicated that the local fire department answered six box alarms during the month of May, seven telephone calls to fires, two false alarms and three rural calls. In addition the fire department rescue truck was called out ten times.

The report stated that the volunteer payroll for May amounted to $100 and through May the volunteer firemen payroll had amounted to $1,224 for the fiscal year.

In his building report, Gardner, who also serves as city building inspector, indicated that permits for 19 dwellings had been issued valued at $205,800. He said that two permits for commercial buildings had been issued valued at $106,000, giving a total of $311,800 in new construction for May. Also three alteration permits were issued for $600. Gardner's report indicated that for the first five months of 1954 permits for 48 dwellings and nine duplexes had been issued with a total value of $668,300. He said revised commercial permits were approved costing $145,500. This, the report noted, gave a grand total of $812,800 in new construction authorized so far this year.

In addition, 16 alterations have been authorized at $71,300.

Says Apex Chief Known To Whip

RALEIGH (AP)—A 32-year-old Negro on trial in Wake Superior Court for drunken driving and resisting arrest testified yesterday Apex Police Chief Sam Bagwell is "known to whip people."

Alfred Scott, who claims he was hospitalized after being beaten by Bagwell when he was arrested, said he was afraid of the police chief, a 240-pound former boxer. The case, now in its third day, was expected to go to the jury today.

Bagwell testified Scott was unruly when he was placed under arrest. Bagwell said Scott began cursing and clinging to the steering wheel after his car was stopped by Bagwell and Deputy Sheriff Connie Holmes on March 6.

Bagwell said that while searching Scott he "felt a knife." He said Scott pushed him, and he hit the Negro.

Patricia Ann Walls, 19, who witnessed part of the incident, said she saw the police chief knock Scott down. "He had his hands around his (Scott's) neck and said, 'I'm going to kill you if you don't shut up,'" the girl related. Her mother, Mrs. Ruth Pe Walls, said Scott was "begging Holmes to keep Bagwell off him."

Apex Town officials including Mayor E.B. Tindell and Commissioner John Duncan, were character witnesses for Bagwell. They said his reputation was good in the town.

Lives Depending On Transfusions

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John and Theresa Ciccone received blood transfusions yesterday to be ready for high school graduation exercises next week.

For John, 20, it was his 451st transfusion. His 19-year-old sister received her 401st.

The Cicones were born with a rare blood disease known as Mediterranean anemia which hampers the production of red blood cells. The only known treatment for the disease is blood transfusion.

William Hugh Smith Dies Here Last Night

Mr. W. H. Smith, 67, died at his home, 702 Evans Street, in Greenville at 11:20 o'clock Wednesday night following a heart attack suffered about 30 minutes earlier. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

William Hugh Smith, son of the late Robert Lee and Neta Turnage Smith, was born in Farmville and came to Greenville as a young boy with his family. He had lived here since that time and had been a dealer in the horse and mule business all his adult life. He was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church and had served on the board of deacons.

Surviving are his wife, the former Ada Thomas of Greenville, to whom he was married in 1916; four daughters, Mrs. Lovit Hines of Germany, Mrs. O. L. Yeargan of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Jack Wallace of Greenville and Mrs. Gattis Honeycutt Jr. of New Bern; three sons, Robert Lee and James Thomas Smith of Greenville, and Lt. Alfred Lewis Smith of the U. S. Air Force, Lawson Air Force Base, Columbus, Ga.; nine grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Vernesa Townsend of Farmville.
