Guatemalan War Ends As Leaders Sign Agreement; Plan New Junta

Pledge Continuing Fight To Wipe Out Communism; New Elections Slated

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—Rebel chief Carlos Castillo Armas and government boss Col. Eliezer Monzon signed a peace pact here today ending Guatemala's two-week-old civil war.

The treaty provides for a new five-man military junta—Guatemala's fourth government this week—with Monzon as top man. The other members include Castillo and one of his aides and two ministers in Monzon's outgoing regime.

Castillo's followers invaded their homeland from neighboring Honduras on June 18, vowing to overthrow the Communist supported government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Move To Impound 3 Ballot Boxes

The Pitt County Board of Elections today moved to impound ballot boxes of three precincts in which S. A. Whitehurst asserted there were irregularities in Saturday's run off election.

At a special session this morning, the Board of Elections by unanimous vote ordered the boxes of Ayden precinct, Bethel precinct and Pactolus precinct delivered to the Board of Elections at the office of the Clerk of Superior Court here at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Whitehurst's petition for a recount of the ballots in the three boxes, together with six supporting affidavits, was presented to Elections Board Chairman Gilbert Peel at approximately 4:45 yesterday afternoon.

Whitehurst, who requested a recount of boxes in all 25 of the county's precincts when the votes were canvassed by the board Tuesday, asked in his formal complaint delivered yesterday afternoon that recounts be made only in the boxes of Ayden, Bethel and Pactolus.

The Board of Elections will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 in the courthouse to determine whether a recount will be ordered in the three boxes.

In ordering the impounding of the ballot boxes of the three precincts, the Elections Board complied with a request by Whitehurst that the board "cause the ballot boxes, in the precincts where irregularities are alleged to have existed impounded pending the hearing of said matter by the Board of Elections."

In his formal statement to the board, Whitehurst set out the alleged irregularities in the three precincts as follows:

"That in the Pactolus precinct, one James Tripp voted in said election though he was a resident of the State of Virginia; that Jim Chauncey, a poll holder in said precinct, allowed and permitted numerous ballots, there being approximately 15 in number, to be removed from the said polling place, marked, and then placed in the ballot box; that J. B. Barnhill, one of the election officials marked as "void" at least six ballots on which the petitioner had received a legal vote.

"That in the Ayden precinct, a Negro man named John Throver engaged in electioneering inside the polling place near the ballot box by instructing 3 or 4 other Negroes to mark their "X" in front of Ruel Tyson's name on their ballots; that all of the ballots in said precinct were removed from the ballot box, divided, and a portion thereof counted by a man named R. H. McLawhorn Jr., who was not an election official of said precinct, and who, because of his being a nephew of Ruel Tyson was vitally interested in the outcome of said election.

"That in the Bethel precinct, 5 more ballots were found in the ballot box than there were names checked on the poll books by the election registrar, Mrs. Roberson, she having stated that 322 persons had voted and the said box contained 327 ballots."

Charges of the alleged irregularities mentioned in Whitehurst's statement were supported by affidavits from six people.

An affidavit concerning alleged irregularities at the Pactolus precinct was signed by Clarence Harris Jr. of Greenville route five. Affidavits concerning alleged irregularities at the Ayden precinct were signed by R. E. Cannon of Ayden route two, Roland Cannon of Ayden, T. B. Harris of Ayden, and Grover C. Hardee of Greenville route two. An affidavit in support of alleged irregularities at the Bethel precinct was signed by W. C. Whitehurst of Bethel.

Also in his formal statement to the board, S. A. Whitehurst asked that the Board of Elections subpoena as witnesses at the hearing on the matter Mrs. J. C. Johnson and Clarence Harris Jr., both of Greenville route five. At the call meeting of the Board of Elections this morning, Attorney M. E. Cavendish, appearing in behalf of Whitehurst, asked the Board of Elections to also subpoena R. Lee Harris of Greenville route five as a witness at the hearing.

The board passed a motion to subpoena all three as witnesses. It was requested that all three be called as witnesses in connection with alleged irregularities at the Pactolus precinct.

Elections Board Chairman Gilbert Peel said the purpose of the call meeting of the board this morning was for the board to determine whether to impound the ballot boxes from the three precincts as requested by Whitehurst.

Mutilated Bodies Of Red Torture Victims Shown

GUATEMALA (AP)—Handkerchiefs to their noses, a long line of men, women and teen-agers filed past a row of mutilated bodies in tropical Guatemala's capital today.

The smell of death was overpowering as the curious populace lifted the lids of the crude wooden coffins to peer at some of those the new military government says were tortured to death by deposed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's dread secret police.

Some of the lookers fainted. Others vomited at the stench. Most fied.

In the small, plaster-walled room in Guatemala City's morgue a statue of Christ loomed behind the coffins, candles burning at its side.

The gruesome display was part of the drive by Guatemala's new government against Arbenz's Communist backers, who sparked the terror wave which preceded his downfall and who now are reported stirring up peasant opposition to his conquerors.

In the weeks just before and after Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' "liberation" army of exiles invaded from neighboring Honduras, the police rounded up hundreds of anti-Communists and opponents of Arbenz's red-backed regime.

Of those picked up, the bodies of some 60 so far have been brought to the capital—torn, battered and broken by police torture.

Six of these, brought in yesterday from the little village of Villa Lobos, were typical. After several days of working over by the police, they were machine-gunned on June 24 and left in a shallow grave.

All were men. Their bodies were purple from beating, slashed and cut by floggings. Eyes were gouged out and teeth were kicked in. The groins had been a favorite target.

Each man's hands were tied behind him. Why they were tortured was not known. Probably they had refused induction into the army of peasants Arbenz tried to recruit to fight the onrush by Castillo Armas' insurgents, the hastily armed farmers who now are threatening whatever regime the rebel chief and the current military government set up.

Possibly they were just overly active against the Communists, who were strong in the Villa Lobos area.

Anyway, they are dead, horribly so.

Gov. Umstead Will Name Advisory Committee For Problems Of Desegregation

RALEIGH (AP)—An advisory committee to work on problems brought up by the U.S. Supreme Court decision banning public school segregation will be named by Gov. Umstead.

The governor said yesterday he does not know how large the committee will be. It will be appointed after "certain preliminary studies" now under way are completed, he said.

Umstead said he hopes to make recommendations on the segregation problem to the Legislature which meets here next January.

The governor also told his news conference the next Legislature will be confronted with the problem of raising taxes or reducing state spending.

A report showed that general fund revenues fell nearly two million dollars below estimates in the fiscal year just closed and are now expected to drop $4 million below estimates for this fiscal year.

However Umstead said Asst. Budget Director D. B. Coltrane feels the state will get through the fiscal year without too much difficulty if the latest revenue estimates are realized. A credit balance of 20 million dollars on hand in the general fund at the beginning of this fiscal year will help ends meet.

A fiscal year-end report by revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw showed general fund taxes brought in $181,293,584 last year. Nontax revenues increased this to $184,825,607. Although this was $1,993,707 below estimates made when the Legislature prepared the budget, it was $4,324,957 above the previous year and a new record high for tax collections.

General fund spending for the current fiscal year is authorized at 306 million dollars. Latest estimates of tax collections is 184 million. This means that even with the 20 million credit balance the Budget Bureau will have to cut spending by about four million to make ends meet.

House Forces Rally After Setback On Farm Price Plan

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE WASHINGTON (AP)—House forces backing another year of fixed high farm price supports sought to rally their forces today from a surprising initial setback in the battle over new farm legislation.

Both the House leadership and the rival fixed-support group predicted victory when yesterday's House action, still tentative, comes up for a formal verdict today.

The House yesterday rejected both fixed high supports and the Eisenhower administration program of flexible supports, and voted for a compromise put forward by House leaders. But the standing-vote decision could be reversed in a formal showdown roll call scheduled before nightfall.

Ninety-two members didn't take part in the standing vote when the House yesterday approved 179-164 a compromise price support amendment to the farm bill offered by Rep. Robert D. Harrison (R-Neb) with the backing of GOP House leaders.

Instead of the administration's program of flexible supports at 75 to 90 per cent of parity, the compromise calls for flexible supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity.

Before voting on the compromise, the House shouted down an amendment by Rep. Heslton (R-Mass) which would have enacted the administration program in toto.

The contested price support feature of the bill applies only to six basic commodities—cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts—all of which are now supported at 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a legally set price standard said to give farmers a fair return on their production in relation to their costs.

Still to be taken up by the House, among other things, are proposals to raise dairy price supports from their existing level of 75 per cent of parity to 80 per cent. Secretary of Agriculture Benson lowered the dairy support rate from 90 to 75 per cent April 1.

The standing vote yesterday went pretty much according to party lines with only about 18 or 20 Republicans voting against the compromise and about as many Democrats favoring it.

Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas lashed out at the Republican compromise asserting he could see no more difference between it and the administration program than "between murder and manslaughter."

"You can't kill this just a little by bringing in 82½ per cent," he told the House in appealing for continued high supports.

Tobacco Market Dates Debated

RALEIGH (AP)—Folks in Florida want their tobacco auction markets opened later than usual and folks in North Carolina and Virginia want theirs to open earlier.

This was what a committee of growers, buyers and warehousemen representatives were told today as they conducted a hearing on opening of sales on five flue-cured tobacco belts.

The committee was to make recommendations to the board of governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn. and the board later today was to set the opening dates.

The demand for market openings closer together brought from Fred Royster, president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Assn., the comment "The demands made here this morning cannot be met."

Royster told the group that "to have a tobacco market you must have inspectors and tobacco buyers." He meant by this that he does not think there are enough inspectors and buyers for all markets to operate at the same time.

In the past, auction markets in the Georgia, Florida area have opened around the middle of July with other belts to the north opening later and later until the opening of the Old Belt shortly after the middle of September.

Today spokesmen for the Florida area asked for an opening not earlier than July 20-22. A spokesman for the big Eastern North Carolina Belt asked for an opening not later than one week after the opening on the South Carolina-North Carolina Border. In the past the East has opened two weeks or more after the border. This spokesman said he had heard talk the Border opening would be fixed at

Aug. 2.

A North Carolina Middle Belt spokesman also wanted an earlier than usual opening, and a large delegation from the Old Belt wanted sales to start earlier—some suggested around Sept. 1.

Norman Sheppard of Smithfield, representing the Eastern North Carolina Belt, said he has heard it has been proposed to open the Border markets on Aug. 2, the Eastern markets two weeks or more later, with the Middle a week after the Eastern and the Old a week later. Such a plan would open the Middle and Old Belts markets earlier than usual.

Sheppard said this proposal was a matter of "grave concern" to the Eastern Belt. He pointed out that South Carolina markets and markets of the North Carolina Sandhills area have pulled out of the bright belt association and set their own opening dates.

He hinted that the Eastern group might consider doing the same thing saying: "Those of us who are members feel entitled to as much consideration as those who have withdrawn." He asked would the action of those who have withdrawn "encourage other groups to withdraw so they can have a voice or will they be heard here?"

W. E. Warriner Jr., mayor of Lawrenceville, Va., spoke for three Virginia markets, Petersburg, Lawrenceville and South Hill, which have withdrawn from the Old Belt. He asked that these markets be allowed to open with the Middle Belt. "Historically," he said, "we should be in the Middle Belt," he said.

Sen. Johnson Lines Up Solidly Against Red China Seat In UN

Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) took the floor soon after Johnson sat down, to register a dissent. He said this nation must be on guard against these calls for going it alone or we soon may find ourselves going it alone in a Third World War.

Morse said that while he opposes Communist China's admission to the U.N. and wants the American delegation to fight it vigorously, "I'm not going to take the position that if a majority of our Allies make a mistake that we should walk out of the U.N."

Instead, he said the United States should remain in the organization and try to "reason" with its Allies.

Sen. Johnson Lines Up Solidly Against Red China Seat In UN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas told the Senate today that the "American people will refuse to support the United Nations if Communist China becomes a member."

Johnson lined up squarely behind Senate Republican leader Knowland of California in a demand for a reappraisal of this country's foreign policies and defense.

In an interview earlier, Knowland said he may ask Congress to shut off all American contributions to the U.N. if that organization admits the Chinese Reds. He said Secretary of State Dulles would be asked to reaffirm U.S. policy on the issue in an appearance before the Foreign Relations Committee today.

Again taking the same line as Knowland Johnson told the Senate that he and the American people are "very uneasy about the intentions" of longtime Allies.

Although he did not name them, Johnson made it clear he was talking about England and France, genuinely seeking their minds. Sen. Thyre (R-Minn) also congratulated Knowland and Johnson and said he wanted to be associated with them in their speeches.

Johnson indicated that Senate debate on the administration's new $3 billion dollar foreign aid bill, expected to reach the Senate soon after the July 4th recess, will bring a full-dress discussion of these problems.

And he joined Knowland in a plea that partisan politics be forgotten on these important issues.

Johnson said the Senate must be certain that the foreign aid program and funds "actually back up the legitimate objectives of the United States."

He said there is indication that some policies "no longer have any vitality."

In an obvious reference to British Foreign Minister Eden's proposal for a pact with Communist nations in Asia, Johnson said this "smacks strongly of the appeasement at Munich."

Some Smokers Disturbed, But Sales Are High

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Most of the country's cigarette smokers still are puffing away—though apparently with some restraining anxieties—despite medical reports the habit might hasten their death.

This was the situation indicated today by checks with tobacco wholesalers and retailers in more than a score of major cities across the nation.

Most of them said they had detected no change in cigarette sales since an American Cancer Society report 10 days ago that average cigarette users 50 to 70 die sooner, mainly of heart attacks or cancer.

"Smokers seem generally complacent about it," said a San Francisco wholesaler. "They figure why worry when the hydrogen bomb is liable to stuff out their lives anyhow someday."

Some Smokers Disturbed, But Sales Are High

However, there were some reports of sales drops, amounting to as much as 25 per cent, along with other signs some smokers were disturbed. A change to filter-tipped cigarettes was a wide trend.

Among 75 sources, some of them representing chains with hundreds of outlets, 52 said cigarette sales had remained unchanged, 15 reported slumps, usually slight, and 7 reported sales increases.

"The scare has just switched them around to filter-tipped," said a Dallas wholesaler. "We also sell more pipes than ever before, but there's no real decline in cigarette sales."

"People just fuss, raise hell, buy pipes and then go right back to cigarettes."

Some Smokers Disturbed, But Sales Are High

The survey gave no general evidence of a big run on chewing tobacco, cigars, snuff or pipes as a substitute for cigarettes.

Distributors in Washington, D.C., reported:

"The demand for pipes, pipe tobacco and cigars has risen slightly."

Indications of a switch was to filter-tipped, long cigarettes came from dealers in nearly every city.

Many sources said it was too soon to gauge the effects of the latest medical report accurately.

"Actually, it will be impossible to determine reliably what the effects are, if any, until the middle of July."

The report has probably created a "flash-in-the-pan reaction," said an Albany, N. Y., wholesaler. "But the public will resume normal smoking as people have done after other such scare reports."

Said a Dallas Secretary: "I might as well die happy."

Roebuck-Perkins Vows Spoken

STOKES—On Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in a candlelight ceremony marked by unusual loveliness and dignity, Miss Lois Cordelia Perkins, daughter of Mrs. J. L. Perkins and the late Mr. Perkins of Stokes, became the bride of Joseph Clinton Roebuck, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Roebuck of Robersonville, in the Memorial Baptist Church of Greenville officiating at the double-ring ceremony was Rev. J. Frederick Jones. Only members of the immediate families were present.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Miss Joy Perkins, pianist, and Miss Barbara White, vocalist, who sang "Because" and "Through the Years." Traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn were used.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Julian Perkins, by whom she was given in marriage.

Her dress was of ice blue imported Chantilly lace over taffeta and net fastened with a portrait neckline applied with rows of seed pearls and beads. The sleeves were of three-quarter length and she wore elbow length mitts of matching fabric. Her hat, an original creation, was shaped to correspond with the portrait neckline, and was caught in the back with a brief veil; with this she chose blue accessories.

The bridal bouquet was of white stephanotis and rosebuds centered with a purple threated, white orchid. This was tied with white net and satin ribbon, showered with stephanotis and fern.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Jean Perkins of Stokes. Her dress was of light pink imported lace over taffeta with short sleeves with which she wore matching mitts. The scalloped neckline was outlined with pearls and iridescent sequins. Her hat was of the same material designed with scalloped front and matching veil. She carried a nosegay of gypsophylla and blue painted shasta daisies, tied with blue net and satin ribbon.

Little Misses Brenda Roebuck and Jewell Perkins were flower girls. Their dresses were of deep pink lace fashioned after that of the maid of honor's. They carried nosegays of blue gypsophylla and rainbow ribbons. They wore head bands made of the same flowers.

David Roberson of Robersonville, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as best man, and ushers were Jerome Perkins, brother of the bride, and Johnnie Ray Crandell of Robersonville, brother-in-law of the groom.

Mrs. Perkins, mother of the bride, was attired in a navy sheer with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Roebuck, mother of the groom, wore navy blue lace with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. J. L. Perkins in Stokes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cutchin III of Whitakers greeted guests and introduced them to the receiving line.

Presiding at the register was Miss Joy Perkins Presiding in the dining room was Mrs. Reid Perkins, assisted by Mrs. Jerome Perkins.

From a beautifully appointed table covered with white cut-work cloth over green, guests were served delicious bride cake, nuts, mints and bridal mints. The three tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bride and groom and an etched end of the table were tall crystal candelabra holding white tapers.

On the side porch guests were served punch by Mrs. Vance Perkins from a lovely table covered with imported linen and decorated with smilax.

The lower floor of the spacious home was thrown en suite for the occasion. Throughout, elaborate floral arrangements of white gladiolus, roses and baby's breath were artistically arranged.

Good-byes were said by Mr. and Mrs. David Roberson.

For the northern wedding trip, Mrs. Roebuck changed to a two-piece bolero costume of navy blue taffeta and silk with navy accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After July 1st, the couple will be at home in Norfolk, Va.

'Books and Stuff'

DR. ED. HIRSBERG

We have a quotation from a brand new book called "Back of History: The Story of Our Own Origins" by William Howells, which we think is particularly appropriate for the coming 4th of July weekend. . . Remembering as we write that over 400 people probably are going to be killed in auto accidents during the next few days:

"Automobiles have put us in a position to vie with other people without having to meet them face to face, and we have not yet worked out an etiquette to control things. One of the prominent automobile manufacturers can advertise that its latest is "Designed & Engineered to stay ahead of other cars," not merely speedy, comfortable or safe. Once behind the wheel, the hounded side of our culture finds a clear field. The baboon in us decides to have some fun, tears up the New Testament, and sets off down the highway, bogging the left-hand lane, to see how nearly he can miss an accident."

More about the War Between the States: A new edition of "My Diary North and South," by William H. Russell, a war correspondent for the London Times who was sent over here in 1861 to cover the hostilities. . . After seeing the Battle of Bull Run from the rear, he foresaw that the South would win the war, was refused any more press privileges by the northern authorities and went home. The Diary is well worth reading for the fine material he got before he had to leave, particularly his opinions about Lincoln and Jeff Davis. . .

Since we're intimately related to a sportswriter, we're always interested in what's happening in that field. . . Time-Life is putting out what promises to be the most elaborate sports magazine in history, publication to start weekly in the Fall. . . And we've got some new statistics about recent sports books that show that people are doing plenty of reading about athletes and athletics, over and above all the time they spend watching them perform over TV. . .

For example, "Power Golf" by Ben Hogan, has sold 180,000 copies, plus 800,000 more in the paperback edition. . . And Sam Snead's "Natural Golf" sold 24,000 copies during its first year; Don Herold's "Love That Golf" sold 24,000; Hy Turkin's "Baseball Encyclopedia," 48,000 copies; Tom Meany's "Babe Ruth," 78,000, and so on. . . So if you want to write a book that will sell, make it about sports. . .

Speaking of selling what you write (and who hasn't wanted to?) we've been looking over the current Atlantic Monthly, which contains as amazing an array of writing talent as we have seen gathered inside a single cover. . . Andre Maurois, Archibald MacLeish, Ezra Taft Benson, Hanson Baldwin, William Saroyan and Reinhold Niebuhr, to mention just a few. . . Now we know why the Atlantic didn't want the article we read in a few months ago. . . and that's the editor, Edward Weeks, has been on a scouting trip in England and has lined up for future editions articles by or about such people as Gilbert Murray, the foremost Greek classicist of our time, Dylan Thomas, Wolf Mankowitz, and about twenty others. . .

There's an interesting little piece about what the GI's in Korea are reading these days, in this week's Time Magazine. . . Most popular among the fiction selections are James Jones' "From Here to Eternity," Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny"—which is coming out in the movies soon, incidentally—and "Battle Cry" by Leon Uris. All of these, we note, are World War II adventure stories. . . And for those who like statistics again, although the exact number of soldiers in Korea now is a military secret, 250,000 of them used the available library facilities during the first three months of 1954. . . So they are doing a lot of reading, and not all comic books, either. . .

Personal note: Your columnist will be spending the next three weeks in New York, attending a seminar on "Christian Foundations in College Teaching" at the Union Theological Seminary. . . So "Books and Stuff" will have a New York dateline—and maybe, we hope, a few extra kicks. . .

On the local scene: Two one-act plays put on by the Teachers Playhouse at the College Theatre on Wednesday evening, July 7, "Good Night Caroline" by Conrad Seiler and "The Valiant" by Holworthy Hall and Robert Middlemass. The director will be Atwood Smith, a junior from Kinston. . . Over TV on Sunday afternoon at one o'clock, "Let's Go to College," supervised and produced by Dr. Martha Pingel and George Patti of the College faculty. It'll be something historical about the 4th of July—very appropriate, we think. . .

Our reviewer this week is Bob Hilldrup, versatile sportswriter now on vacation. . . The book he reviews has just been issued and is especially interesting to southerners. . .

REBELLION ROAD, by Helen Fopping Miller and John Dewey Topping, Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company, 1954.

A time-worn plot situated in a vivid and soul-searching background make up REBELLION ROAD, the latest of Helen Fopping Miller's numerous novels.

Mrs. Miller finished the novel which was begun by her brother, John Dewey Topping, who was killed in an automobile accident only a short time after he had written the first two chapters. He had planned the book to be an epic of the Reconstruction days in the South following the War Between the States but his sister decided to disperse with the "elaboration of historical background" and concentrate on the effect of the times on the characters.

The story's romantic interest revolves around young Duncan Wade's attentions to the daughters of the nearby Villerand family, a family which is suspiciously prosperous for one which spent the war years in ravaged Alabama.

Wade and his father, indomitable old Hugh Wade, set out to revive the past glory of their wrecked plantation and at the same time keep the scalawag Yankee tyrants from stealing what little they have left. To complicate matters the younger Wade refuses to bow in subordination to the Yankee army and finds himself in almost as much trouble as during the war years.

The story is weak and at times apparently confused, but there are moments when the true suffering of the characters can be realized by the reader. And always in the background is a vivid picture of what the life of the South was like in the days when the Black Republicans of Thaddeus Stevens rode rampant over a courageous people.

The book is good entertainment but'll never break any top-notch literary standards.

The pastor will be on television at 9 a.m. Monday through Friday. The following musicians will sing in order listed: Reel Quartette, Winterville Men's Quartette, Sutton Quartette, Mrs. Lupton and Hilda Grace Kennedy. The scripture for the TV program will be taken from First John.

There's an interesting little piece about what the GI's in Korea are reading these days, in this week's Time Magazine. . . Most popular among the fiction selections are James Jones' "From Here to Eternity," Herman Wouk's "The Caine Mutiny"—which is coming out in the movies soon, incidentally—and "Battle Cry" by Leon Uris. All of these, we note, are World War II adventure stories. . . And for those who like statistics again, although the exact number of soldiers in Korea now is a military secret, 250,000 of them used the available library facilities during the first three months of 1954. . . So they are doing a lot of reading, and not all comic books, either. . .

REBELLION ROAD, by Helen Fopping Miller and John Dewey Topping, Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company, 1954.

A time-worn plot situated in a vivid and soul-searching background make up REBELLION ROAD, the latest of Helen Fopping Miller's numerous novels.

Mrs. Miller finished the novel which was begun by her brother, John Dewey Topping, who was killed in an automobile accident only a short time after he had written the first two chapters. He had planned the book to be an epic of the Reconstruction days in the South following the War Between the States but his sister decided to disperse with the "elaboration of historical background" and concentrate on the effect of the times on the characters.

The story's romantic interest revolves around young Duncan Wade's attentions to the daughters of the nearby Villerand family, a family which is suspiciously prosperous for one which spent the war years in ravaged Alabama.

Wade and his father, indomitable old Hugh Wade, set out to revive the past glory of their wrecked plantation and at the same time keep the scalawag Yankee tyrants from stealing what little they have left. To complicate matters the younger Wade refuses to bow in subordination to the Yankee army and finds himself in almost as much trouble as during the war years.

The story is weak and at times apparently confused, but there are moments when the true suffering of the characters can be realized by the reader. And always in the background is a vivid picture of what the life of the South was like in the days when the Black Republicans of Thaddeus Stevens rode rampant over a courageous people.

The book is good entertainment but'll never break any top-notch literary standards.

Scott-Clark Rites Solemnized In Double Ring Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Alberta Jeannette Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey Clark of Grimesland, to Jack Cooke Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lee Scott of Weeksville, took place Friday, June 25, at 1 o'clock in the Grimesland Methodist Church.

The "double ring ceremony" was solemnized by the Rev. N. B. Hill Jr. in a setting of white flowers and cathedral candles.

Miss Oma Bliss Lewis played the traditional wedding music.

The bride wore a pale yellow nylon street dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and painted daisies.

Miss Sophia Clark was her sister's maid of honor.

James Ray Scott, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

After the ceremony, the couple left for a wedding trip and upon their return will reside in Greenville.

Mrs. Scott is a graduate of Grimesland High School and will enroll in East Carolina College in September.

Scott attended Weeksville High School and is a graduate of East Carolina College. He is now Rehabilitation Counselor of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind.

Reading Skills Will Be Topic Of Conference

Practical approaches to better reading will be considered and evaluated at a conference at East Carolina College Tuesday, July 6.

In discussions and demonstrations presented on the program, emphasis will be placed upon "a dynamic skill-building program," according to Dr. Keith D. Holmes of the college education department, conference chairman. The public is invited.

The conference will open at 9 a.m. in the auditorium of the Wahl-Coates Laboratory School. A luncheon at 12:30 in the North Dining Hall and an afternoon program in the Graham building will complete the day's program.

During the morning four faculty members of the education and the psychology departments at the college will analyze "related factors vital to instructional improvement in reading," including intelligence and personality, speech and hearing, reading diagnosis and analysis, and guidance. They will also analyze in detail a case study of reading difficulties.

Speakers on this program will be Dr. Hazel E. Taylor, Dr. Rodney W. Everhart, Dr. Woodrow Flanary, and Frank G. Fuller.

At the luncheon Dr. Holmes will discuss "A Skill Building Program and How It Works" and Dr. J. K. Long of the college education department will welcome guests.

Granted Doctorate By Indiana University

Vera A. MacKay, faculty member of the department of education at East Carolina College, has just been granted a doctorate in the field of elementary education by Indiana University at Bloomington.

A Canadian by birth, Dr. MacKay attended the University of Toronto, where she received the bachelor's degree, and Indiana University, from which she now holds both the master's and the doctor's degrees.

Before coming to East Carolina in the fall of 1953, Dr. MacKay was connected with the Department of Education and the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto and held a teaching fellowship at Indiana from 1951 to 1953. In 1943-1945 she served in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

ECC Conference Will Feature Problems Of Special Education

East Carolina College will stage its Fifth Annual Conference on Special Education Wednesday, July 7. Meetings will begin at 9 a. m. and will be held in the Flanagan building.

How the public schools may help the child with disorders of speech or hearing, the mentally retarded child, the child with defects of vision, the crippled child, and others with special problems will be discussed and demonstrated.

Dr. Rodney W. Everhart of the college department of education is acting as coordinator of the conference and has announced the program for the day. Parents, teachers, and others interested in special education are invited to attend.

A chief feature of the conference will be observation by those present of activities in the Speech and Hearing Clinic now being conducted at the college under the direction of Dr. Everhart and Catherine Furbee, speech-correction coordinator in the Saginaw, Mich., public schools and member of the summer faculty at East Carolina.

Participants in the clinic include ten people from the ages of eight to thirty-five who are receiving help with their problems in speech and hearing and seven student clinicians who are doing student teaching in the clinic.

At the observation, scheduled for 10 a. m., Miss Furbee will give a demonstration of group therapy techniques, and the clinicians will demonstrate individual therapy.

The morning program beginning at 9 o'clock will include greetings from President John D. Messick of the college, and talks by Albin Pitutis, executive director of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and Felix S. Barker, director of special education in the state Department of Public Instruction.

Three special-interest groups will meet at 11:30 in the Flanagan building. Topics of discussion and leaders have been announced as follows: Guidance in Special Education, Frank Fuller of the East Carolina department of education; Common Eye Problems among School Children, Mrs. Burnetta Blatt of New York City, nurse consultant for the National Society to Prevent Blindness; and Problems of the Mentally Retarded, Dr. Hazel E. Taylor and Dr. Judson White of the East Carolina psychology department.

Teachers of special education now engaged in work in North Carolina public schools will speak on a panel beginning at 2:30. They are Mrs. Verda Sugg, Wilson; Mrs. Eula Greathouse, Rocky Mount; and Mrs. Katherine Van Nortwick, Whitefish, Greenville. Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina will act as moderator.

Strong Tremors Jolt Philippines

MANILA (AP)—A strong earthquake jolted the central Philippines today, centering in southern Luzon, where nine persons were reported dead and at least 14 injured.

Philippine News Service, which reported the casualties, said the provincial capital of Sorsogon was hardest hit.

Seven were reported killed there and two in Legaspi City to the north.

Eighty per cent of the old buildings in Sorsogon, a city of 26,000, were destroyed, Philippine News Service said. The towering steeple on a Catholic cathedral toppled.

Communications with the area, on the southeastern tip of Luzon, were disrupted. Meager reports were relayed here from a ship in Sorsogon harbor.

Huge landslides were reported between Sorsogon and Albay province to the north.

The Philippine Red Cross office here said field reports described the quake as the strongest ever to hit Sorsogon province, a rich copra producing region of almost 300,000 persons. It reportedly lasted 80 seconds.

Red Cross teams flew to the area.

Town Wins Back Its Mail Service

SEVEN SPRINGS, N. C. (AP)—Sunday mail service will be resumed here July 18.

In what the Post Office Department described as an economy measure the service was suspended last month.

Then the townspeople got together and raised $138, the annual cost of the service, which they sent to Washington.

It was returned today, along with a letter from P. B. Davis, district mail supervisor at Norfolk, Va., reinstating the service.

Jurists Doubted Death 'Accident'

BALTIMORE (AP)—Kenneth C. Keller, who told a jury he accidentally shot his wife while embracing her, was sentenced yesterday to 18 years in the Maryland Penitentiary for second-degree murder.

The 23-year-old mother of two children was fatally shot in the head last January. Keller said he was embracing her and stroking her hair with a hand that held a pistol.

He said the gun was discharged accidentally. Keller, 24, is formerly from Parsons, W. Va.

Ruse Prevented Suicide Leap From Fifth Floor

NEW YORK (AP)—A detective's ruse saved a middle-aged woman who, for an hour and a half, perched on a fifth-story hotel window ledge and threatened to jump.

Some 5,000 onlookers stood by as Mrs. Marion Oakes, about 50, was coaxed to safety last night. She said she was despondent over the death of her husband.

Police pleaded with her without success as she sat on the ledge of the Hotel Endicott, screaming, "Gangsters are after me."

Finally, Detective Bob McDonald put on a white shirt backward, which in the darkness resembled a doctor's tunic, and keeping up a stream of pseudo-medical talk, persuaded her to step off the ledge "only for one minute."

She was then grabbed by another policeman. The woman was taken to a hospital for observation.

Bethel Methodist Men's Club Has Greenville Speakers At Monday Meet

Bethel - On Monday night 55 members of the Bethel Methodist Men's Club met in the Fellowship Hall of the church for their regular monthly meeting. The invocation was given by J. Sidney Moore, followed by a supper served by the Sallie Tucker Circle of the W.S.C.O.

Tom R. Andrews, Jr., read the minutes and called the roll. Dr. C. G. Garrenton gave the devotion. President J. C. Wynne, Jr. then introduced Frank Strawn, president of the St. James Methodist Men's Club in Greenville.

Mr. Strawn spoke briefly on what his home club was trying to accomplish and gave praise to the attendance of the Bethel Club.

Mr. Kenneth Hite of Greenville was introduced by the president who gave an informative talk on church extension. Mr. Hite, having come from St. James Methodist Church, was able to give first hand information on this subject since his club is one of the newest churches in the conference and their church building is in the process of being built.

An announcement was made that three members would attend, as delegates, to the National Conference of Methodist Men, meeting from July 9 through July 11 at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. They are W. Jasper Smith, Conference Lay Leader, Clifton Everett, District Lay Leader and J. C. Wynne, Jr.

The meeting was then closed with F. L. Andrews, Jr. giving the benediction.

North America has about 225 million people.

Plans Progress For Tournament Jaycees Are Told

Junior Chamber of Commerce members were told last night that plans for the District Little League tournament are progressing.

Chairman Jim Boykin announced the following committee heads for the August tournament: Roscoe King, transportation; Norman Wilkerson, first aid; Walter Whitehurst, program; Jimmy Sutton, business staff; Jim Lanier, dignitaries; Bob Boyette, publicity; John Ray Hardee, decorating; Booger Seales, entertainment for Little Leaguers; Frank Diener, concession; Ben Rouse visitors entertainment; Herb Lee, finance.

Club president Frank Dail announced that plans for King's Brothers circus are being carried out. He said that a representative of the circus has sold ads in Greenville and the local club had made approximately $5 from the sales.

Bob Russ, chairman of the committee to provide entertainment for the Greenville Tobacco Festival in August announced the following committees: band committee, Jim Lafferty, Cecil Harris, John Lautares, Jack Edwards; committee to obtain meal for the dance area, rest rooms and maintain order, Jim Boykin, Dick Briley, Charles Horne, Norman Harris, Ashley Hudson; entertainment committee, Jim Rodgers, Louis Boyd, Roscoe King.

Dail announced that Neil Singletary had been accepted for membership in the club. Guests at last night's meeting included: Jim Lineburger and Jimmy Kirvin.

Dr. Sam White won the attendance prize last night.

'Carmen Jones' Has Odd Movie Aspects

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The most expensive movie with an all-Negro cast is getting under way and it will present Bizet with a Harlem touch.

The picture is "Carmen Jones." It is being made by Otto Preminger the bold bald Viennese who tilted with the censors last year with his "The Moon Is Blue."

"Carmen Jones" was a wartime hit on Broadway when it was produced by Billy Rose, Oscar Hammerstein II—this was just before his historic partnership with Richard Rodgers—took the operetta made Don Jose a GI Carmen a parachute factory worker and the toreador a prize fighter. The Bizet music was not jazzed up. The arias remained the same but Hammerstein changed the lyrics into the idiom of the American Negro.

Now "Carmen Jones" is getting the film treatment with color CinemaScope and all that. Heading the cast are two popular singers—Dorothy Dandridge and Harry Belafonte. But you won't hear their singing voices.

Their songs will be recorded by Katherine Hilgenson a promising young white soprano and Laverne Hutcherson current lead in "Porgy and Bess."

"Why do you hire singers and then don't let them sing?" I asked Preminger.

"Because the music is still Bizet; I can't change that," replied the producer-director. "The two leads are not operatic singers."

"But I think it is very important to cast singers in the roles. Thus they will know how to sing a song. If you have an actor do it he merely mouths the words without feeling. And I am having the stars work closely with their singing doubles so each will get the feel of the songs together."

I asked if he anticipated any resistance to the picture because of an all-Negro cast.

"I have been assured there will be none" he said. "Apparently there is no objection to all-Negro pictures even in the Deep South. The pictures that have trouble are those with mixed casts or ones that present problems like 'Pinky.' And even those manage to get playing time in the South."

"Ours is not a problem picture. There is not a white person in the cast. The whole action takes place in the Negro world thus creating a kind of wonderland effect. No one could be offended by it."

Mrs. Edwards Hostess To Timothy H.D. Club

The Timothy H. D. Club met Monday afternoon for their June meeting with Mrs. J. J. Edwards as hostess.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. R. Wall. The devotional was led by Mrs. Thomas Taylor.

Fifteen members answered to roll call. The club had as their guests Miss Annie Whitford, Miss Ruth Gardner and Mrs. Louise Erwin.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Mac Ross and Mrs. Z. O. Whitford who gave the demonstration on salads and salad dressing. They made four salads, tuna fish, fresh vegetable salad bowl, frozen fruit and banana and peanut salad. The salad dressings consisted of French cooked salad dressing, sour cream dressing and cranberry dressing. Everyone enjoyed them very much along with Mrs. Edwards' refreshments.

Book reports were given by Mrs. Alton Gardner, Mrs. E. O. Smith and Mrs. M. A. Smith. The garden report was given by Mrs. Mac Ross. Education and music reports were given by Mrs. Alton Gardner, and the poultry report was given by Mrs. Mac Ross.

The president told of the trip to Farm and Home Week pageant. Those who attended were Mrs. Herbert Taylor, Mrs. Dalton Smith, Mrs. W. R. Wall, Mrs. Ronald Buck, Mrs. Cleo Reel, Mrs. Mac Ross and Mrs. E. O. Smith.

During the social hour, the contest of "What do you know about boll weevils," taken from the Progressive Farmer, was enjoyed by all Mrs. Louise Erwin was the winner.

The club collect was repeated and the meeting adjourned until the August meeting. Mrs. Dalton Smith will be hostess at that time.

Taxpayer Was Left Holding The Bag

The administration chalked up a victory, the solons in the Senate stacked up more fodder for their campaign guns, and the average taxpayers were left holding the bag with no hope for income tax reductions from the current session of Congress.

Hazards Of The Holiday Ahead

As individual families solidify their plans for the holiday week-end ahead, it should be kept in mind that a number of hazards always go along with the July 4 holiday.

To be sure, the travel hazard on North Carolina's highways should be at the top of the list. In spite of the fact that more than 500 highway patrol cars will be patrolling the highways of the state during the week-end, there will be accidents. Most drivers, we believe, will be exercising caution to prevent accidents; but there will be others whose carelessness will endanger their own lives and the lives of others.

But there are other holiday hazards as well.

The sun promises to have its usual warmth during the holiday, which means many children and many adults who should know better will return from their holiday with a severe case of sunburn.

Then too there is the water hazard. Beaches along the ocean and along the rivers of this section will be jammed on the holiday. Literally thousands of people will be swimming. Hundreds of others will take to the creeks and rivers for fishing. Unfortunately as it is, drownings always play a part in the tragedy of the July holiday in North Carolina.

There are other hazards which could be named that lie in front of the holiday crowds in North Carolina this coming week-end. It suffices to say, however, that caution should be the byword of every North Carolinian during the holiday.

Whether at home or away, it will pay North Carolinians to take a little more time and be a little more careful in enjoying their holiday week-end.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
EVERLASTING ARMS
Ponder these figures for a moment:
The sun is a part of the solar system. The solar system is a part of a galaxy. Twenty to thirty thousand million stars make a galaxy. One hundred million galaxies may make a universe. Every star in the Milky Way has a cubic parsec to itself. A parsec is ninety million miles multiplied by two hundred thousand.

Of course when we get to thinking in terms as huge as this, our heads swim. Even if we could write these figures on the board, we wouldn't know what to call them after they were written out. "The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth his handiwork."

Some people would say that we are but little specks in this immensity and therefore God has no interest in us. Still others would say that a great universe like this did not just happen—somebody made it and still sustains it. We read in the Bible concerning Christ: "All things were made by him; and without him was not anything made that was made." This same Christ said, "Come unto me . . . and I will give you rest."

We are in the hands of an immense Power, but a benevolent Power. We are on the side of the stars, and the stars are on our side, and the God who made them is our God.

The Eternal God is our refuge, and underneath are the Everlasting Arms.

National Whirligig

Mitchell's Popularity Down

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell's allegedly "arbitrary" management of the Democratic Party's affairs since the disastrous 1952 election has stirred a general demand for his removal before or immediately after next fall's Congressional contests. The organization's oldsters do not want to enter the 1956 Presidential campaign with him at the helm.

For a stopgap chairman chosen for personal rather than political reasons by a badly defeated candidate, Adlai E. Stevenson, Mitchell has behaved in a more caustic manner than such a beloved and skilled boss as James A. Farley ever dared. He is winning no friends or delegates for Stevenson, who shows every sign of willingness to accept another nomination two years hence.

ROOSEVELT CLAN OPPOSES MITCHELL—Mitchell has alienated the still influential Roosevelt dynasty by his refusal to support James Roosevelt in his California primary battle. He has antagonized the liberal wing known as the Americans for Democratic Action by suggesting that they mute their clamorous trumpets, although his conservative enemies share his attitude on this question.

Mitchell's known sympathy for the Supreme Court's decision against segregation in the public schools threatens to reopen the schism which the Roosevelt-Lehman-Humphrey "radicals" created with their demand for a "loyalty" oath at the 1952 national convention.

His attitude tends to temper Southern Democrats' bitterness toward the "Republicans" because the ruling was handed down by an Eisenhower-appointed Chief Justice, Earl Warren.

FAVORITISM ALLEGED—The latest complaint, and perhaps the most disturbing, is that he shows favoritism in disbursing funds to Congressional candidates in the forthcoming elections. Mitchell denies that he has been partial, but Democrats in southern states who voted for Ike insist that he is holding out on them.

Finally, New York Democrats believe that he is backing Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. in their gubernatorial campaign. They think he seeks to regain favor with the Roosevelt faction, balancing the bag with no hope for income tax reductions from the current session of Congress.

That's about the picture, as we see it, of the defeat of rival income tax reduction proposals fought out in the Senate this week.

The Republicans, almost to a man, voted against the Democratic proposal for a reduction in income taxes. The Democrats, almost to a man, voted against the Republican proposal for income tax reductions. Each was defeated by a vote of 49 to 46.

So, after all the talk about income tax reduction this year, it apparently has slipped through the fingers of the taxpayers. This has happened in spite of the fact that practically all the Senators of each party indicated they favored some sort of income tax reduction for the people. There was not enough support for either of the rival measures to get through the Senate.

It is not difficult to anticipate each party using the Senate action over the proposals as campaign material for the November election.

The Democrats, naturally, will point to the Republican Congress and declare the Republicans did not come through with a reduction that has been looked forward to.

The Republicans, on the other hand, will assert they wanted a reduction, but the Democrats voted against it and killed it.

Meanwhile, the administration, having won by default its battle to keep taxes from being further cut, likely will sit by smugly and declare what is happened is for the best in the long run.

The taxpayers, in retrospect, will see they were the ones caught right in the middle of a highpowered political squeeze play.

Victory For Freedom In Western Hemisphere

It is a victory for continued freedom in the Western Hemisphere that the communist power in Guatemala has been broken. While the anti-communist rebels were hammering away at the communist-tinged government of the small Central American nation, two quick change-overs in the government within the country ousted communists from power.

Now two anti-communist leaders are negotiating for a basis to set up a new government in Guatemala. On one side is Col. Armas, head of the rebels who invaded the country to overthrow the communist government. On the other is Col. Monzon who came out on top when two coups in quick succession knocked over the pro-communist government from within.

We have little doubt that these anti-communist leaders will reach agreement on the setting up of a new free Guatemalan government.

More important, however, is the fact that the communist-riddled government in Guatemala has been ousted.

his snub of James. And many prominent New Yorkers think F.D.R. Jr. would be a weak candidate, preferring Mayor Herbert F. Wagner of New York or Justice Charles W. Froese.

A SERIOUS CASE—Although Mitchell's repudiation of James Roosevelt and Representative Robert L. Condon of California has attracted more national attention, his stubborn refusal to recognize Wright Morrow of Houston as Democratic National Committeeman for Texas has had far more serious consequences. Like Governor Allan Shivers and the Texas electorate, Morrow openly backed Eisenhower.

But when Morrow appeared at a recent meeting of the National Committee at Washington, Mitchell held that the position was vacant and refused to recognize him. Morrow's friends point out that he was confirmed for a four-year term by the 1952 national convention, following his selection by the Texas State Committee.

When Morrow declared for Eisenhower during the 1952 campaign, he tendered his resignation to the State Committee on three different occasions, but it was unanimously rejected. So far, the Texas organization accuses him of "trying to organize a New Deal, zion has refused to agree with Mitchell. In fact, pro-Stevenson faction in opposition to the "regulars."

TEXAS NEWSPAPERS VOICE OBJECTIONS—On the basis of Mitchell's personal ruling in the Morrow case, he should read out of the Party many prominent Democrats who supported Ike directly or indirectly. The hitherto little-known chairman, for instance, should exile such veterans as Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, Governor Herman Talmadge of Georgia, Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, and possibly Bernard M. Baruch, the Democratic Crusader for so many years.

Texas newspapers have criticized Mitchell severely for his inconsistent, self-contradictory, high-handed and unfair position in the Morrow affair. It was the Houston Post which is owned by former Governor William P. Hobby (Oveta is Mrs. Hobby) which voiced that condemnation.

The Dallas Morning News likens Mitchell's action to the behavior of the "Central Executive Committee of the Russian Community Party." Jesse H. Jones' Houston Chronicle denounces it as "disfranchising of Texas in Party affairs."

Sen. Ervin Has Big Stock Of Colorful Mountain Tales

By LYNN NISBET

STORY TELLER A great deal has been said and written in recent years about the homely philosophy of the Carolina mountaineers and their peculiar manner of expressing it. Other parts of the state have regional idioms and colloquialisms. Each generation also has expressions which lose meaning as habits and customs of the people change. The yack-yack of teenagers is as unintelligible to adults as many of the stories of old-timers are to the young folks of today.

Senator Sam Ervin, who maintains contact with youth through his children, but prefers to use his superb ability as a story teller to keep alive the oldtime ideas, bridges the gap between the generations and the geographic areas. Probably not since the days of Zeb Vance has North Carolina had in the halls of Congress anybody so capable of translating the philosophy of North Carolinians into understandable English through story telling. He has the knack of using stories to throw bars that are effective, but hurt less, because of the humorous twists he gives them.

It is expected by his friends, and it will be a loss to congressional literature if he does not, that he will frequently entertain and enlighten his colleagues in the Senate with some of his

Somebody Told Me

Incentive To Neighborliness

When God made watermelons I believe he intended them for bringing neighborhoods closer together. There must be something that's more fun than getting together with the neighbors on a hot summer evening and eating watermelon, but right now I can't think what it would be.

If some national magazine would have a contest to determine America's ideal neighborhood I would enter the Maple Street - Shady Lane area as a potential champion.

Eating watermelon in the yard, as we did last night with Janice and Conner Merritt (our across-the-street neighbors) and as we often do with Vick and Elmo Dupree (who live behind us) is, just one phase of what makes our neighborhood ideal.

Pardon the negative approach,

What Other Editors Are Thinking

CREEPIING SOCIALISM (Wilson Times)

Sweden offers us an example of creeping Socialism. It simply goes to show that heavily-taxed enterprises can't compete with tax-free ones. We've found that out in small ways in America. What printer can compete with the government printing office when it comes to envelopes? It's a business the private printer has given up. But why should the government subsidize the people who want ready-stamped envelopes? We run into much of the same thing in our co-ops. They pay one tax, not two. Yet private enterprise which operates in competition with those co-ops, pays two. That's precisely what brought about much of the slackening of business in Sweden. When those that pay no tax reach the point where they outnumber those that do, how can the latter carry the full load that the co-ops before they became co-ops helped to carry?

We have something of the same thing in Tennessee. Subsidized power has brought no end of mountain yarns. His stories ought to be recorded against their background, because already a great many people miss the points because they are not familiar with the customs upon which they are based. Customs and practices change, but the essential principles do not. Stories based on horse and buggy activities can be changed to apply to automobiles and airplanes without loss of meaning—but it must be admitted there is some loss of "color."

"DRIV HARD" — In pre-motor car time the horse was the main standby for getting from one place to another. It was good economic sense as well as kindness for the man to take care of his horse. After a hard day's ride or drive he would see that his horse was taken care of before seeking accommodations for himself. In summer the sweated horse was rubbed down, watered and fed. In winter the horse was cleaned of mud and ice-cluttered fetlocks, so that the horse would be ready for use next day.

So, one of Senator Ervin's stories has to do with the defendant in court, who was slated for acquittal on promises of his lawyer, but actually was convicted and given a stiff prison sentence. He asked his lawyer what happened to him. The answer: "Well, the fact is, you have been driv hard and put up muddy." Youngsters maybe don't understand that, but oldtimers accept it as a good illustrative description of a quoble cross. In horse and buggy parlance one of the qualifications of a good worker was that he did not "jump out of the shafts or kick over the swingle tree or let the traces go slack." An important part of the harness in those days was the holding back straps—it being as important then as now to put on brakes sometimes as well as to have power to move forward.

So another of Senator Ervin's stories is about the experience meeting at a country church in the Blue Ridge foothills. One of the leaders, who will be called John Doe on account of that wasn't his name was called upon to testify, and his testimony went something like this: "The Lord has been mighty good to me, and I have tried to show my appreciation by doing what I thought was right. I have been a member of this church for nigh onto 65 years, and in all that time I have never jumped out of the shafts or kicked over the swingle-tree."

CONSERVATISM? — Then it came the province of another old-timer, who will be called Joe Doakes (also on account of that ain't his real name), to testify, and he paid tribute to his friend in this manner: "I, too, have been a member of this church for nigh onto 65 years, and the Lord has been good to me. I want to already thinks he's a Rocky Marciano. It's just a matter of time before he's going to push somebody down, and they're going to jump up and knock him winding. "Hitting a mere baby!" will doubtless be Don's fault. So far this sort of thing hasn't happened. But the other day I heard one of the neighborhood children threaten the other, "If you don't stop that I'm going to knock your head down so far that you'll have to unbutton your shirt to talk."

Living in harmony in a neighborhood is a matter of give and take. But with a neighborhood like ours it's a minimum that you have to take. If this harmony will continue, I'll nominate the Maple Street-Shady Lane neighborhood as the ideal one in America.

And I thank you.

new industries into the region. That, of course, has been hard on the other states, particularly those that in recent years have been losing their industries. Yet when President Eisenhower called that creeping Socialism, many backers of public power rose in indignation. They think he

Voice of the People

OF A COURT'S DECISION The fate of fifteen millions lay in the hands of nine. They had studied the situation and had but one design. That was to loose the fetters that had dwarfed men's minds and soul; and give them courage to demonstrate their role in their country's goal.

Our talk of our country's democracy had been of no avail. Other countries had bitterly condemned us because of the minority's travail. "Let's stop it!" said the highest tribunal. "Let's practice what we preach!" And so ordered was affixed to a document by a Court you can't impeach. Extra! Extra! Extra! You could hear the newsboys shout in every language under the sun. The news was scattered about. The tidings lifted millions from despondency and despair and proclaimed and hailed this democracy as one that's truly and fair.

Let's accept the High Tribunal's mandate however difficult it may seem. You'll be acting as God's real children and be justified in that Court Most Supreme. These Millions too have aspirations and want to do what's right. They're magnetic they're repellent they're neutral, yet they're precious in His sight. George Jones Greenville

Business Today

Forecasts Possible

By ELMER ROESSNER
Even small businesses can make reasonably accurate forecasts of sales and this can be done at moderate expense, says the Small Business Administration. A good forecast is valuable indeed; it enables a company to key its production, advertising and selling to the market and thereby reduce waste and increase profits.

The SBA has issued a leaflet telling the importance of sales forecasting and how to make them. It's Management Aid No. 48, and is free from field offices of the SBA and the Department of Commerce.

The first step is to analyze internal figures; that is, the annual figures for 10 to 15 years back. While the rate of growth may be some indication of future sales, there are many other factors, and some more data are needed.

The second step is to determine the business' share of the market, which can probably be done only by obtaining external statistics, from trade associations, government agencies, etc.

The third step is to relate all these figures to some outside figure, usually some national statistic, that will indicate the general course of the industry. The fourth step is to apply analysis and common sense.

For instance, a manufacturer of expensive clocks for ships and homes takes the sales for the previous year and adjusts them to conform to prospects for shipbuilding and consumer durable income. The results are further tempered by the sales department's judgment of the trends in home furnishings.

A small New England soap company bases its forecasts on government figures on the number of families, the size of families and disposable income in its sales areas. It has found that the amount of soap used depends on the number of families, the number of children in families and the amount of money families have to spend. The company gets a good picture of its future sales by spending only $25 a year for raw statistics.

The leaflet describes many statistics and tells where each series of government and private can be obtained.

U.S. STRIKES A BLOW FOR FIRMER PICKLES

Pickle packers may save about $2,000,000 a year as a consequence of a Department of Agriculture study. The study shows that large from softening of pickles during processing.

Agriculture scientists found that softening came from a mold that grows in the dried flower which often adheres to the cucumber. It can be checked simply by removing flowers and washing cucumbers thoroughly.

GOLDFISH ALMOST HOLD BACK STIMAC

A new wonder machine, just unveiled by Sperry Products of Danbury, Conn., had a narrow escape. Goldfish.

Four years ago the company brought out a machine that locates flaws in metals by bouncing ultrasonic waves into them. (The machine also can tell how much bacon is likely to be produced by a hog.) A year ago, General Motors asked Sperry to improve the machine so that it could check jet engine rotor forgings for flaws and also provide a chart of any flaw. Sperry engineers found a way of doing this, but it was necessary to place the parts in a tank of water.

testify that everything Brotoner Joe said about his never jumping out of the shafts or kicking over the swingle-tree is the truth. But honesty compels me also to say that enduring all that 65 years, I have never known anybody to break as many holding-back straps as he has."

While these stories have the atmosphere of long gone days and the similes are not readily understood by young people now, no old timer can hear Senator Ervin tell them without getting the meaning. Nor can he hear them without understanding that the Senator has a sort of contempt for the man who will drive a horse hard and put him up muddy; and that he might have more respect for the fellow who occasionally kicks over the swingle-tree than for one who breaks too many holding-back straps. SEED GRAIN — North Carolina is not generally regarded as a "wheat state" or one in which small grains constitute a major farm crop. It may surprise many people to learn that North Carolina farmers this year will produce more than 300,000 bushels of certified, small grain seed for planting this fall. Broken down by classifications there will be an estimated 207,807 bushels of oats; 58,584 bushels of wheat; 26,484 bushels of barley and 32,300 pounds of fescue seed approved by the N.C. Crop Improvement Association.

Death Got Up Early This Morning

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Death got up early this morning.

As America began to celebrate the long Independence Day week-end, Death promptly went on overtime.

For when mankind has a holiday for any reason, Death can know no idleness. He must tabulate a great human self-slaughter.

And so it was Death rose early today. He had a lot to do in the busy days ahead. He had many a mortal rendezvous to keep on highway and byway, in homes and saloons, on pond and pavement, on mountain cliff and summer playground.

For Death had a double duty. He had not only his usual job to do, the escorting of the sick and old and life-worn across his pale frontier. He had his extra holiday clients to attend to. The lost battalion of the needless dead.

On such days as these, Death, the fair weather friend of the foolish, initiates new members into the D.O.A. club. This club has no dues and no life membership. It is made up of unseeing holiday victims who are brought to hospitals and tagged with a card bearing three initials that stand for "dead on arrival."

Yes, Death got up early this morning. For by next Monday night there are hundreds of Americans he must meet and wave to their doom—a D.O.A. tag. The potential membership crop was large and the land was wide, and Death is conscientious. He didn't want anyone who earned that tag to miss it.

Wherever Americans set out to celebrate the holiday, this skeletal comrade of the stupid and careless went right along for the fun. And here is what he will say to some, or perhaps is already

Jesus, Our Example and Lord

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Luke 2:40-52

When the Lord Jesus was a little child, dwelling with His parents in Nazareth, He grew "and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom, and the grace of God was upon Him."

When Jesus was 12 years old, His father and mother took Him to the Passover in Jerusalem. When they were returning home, they missed Him and sought Him among their companions.

Back in Jerusalem, they found Jesus in the temple with learned doctors, asking and answering questions. His mother chided Him, but He answered that He "was about His Father's business."

Returning to Nazareth, Jesus was an obedient Son to His parents, and as He grew in stature and wisdom, He was "in favor with God and Man."

MEMORY VERSE—Luke 2:40.

Jesus, Our Example and Lord

HE GREW AND WAXED STRONG, FILLED WITH WISDOM AND GRACE

Scripture—Luke 2:40-52

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE TURN now from the dire warnings of the prophets prophesying dreadful punishment because of the sins of the children of Israel, to a lovely story of our Lord's childhood and youth. We have read it before, but like the tale of His birth, it is ever new.

It is a story that will appeal to children of all ages as well as to those of us who are grown up. It can make even the smallest seem to think of their own homes and compare their conduct there with that of Christ when He was young. If the lovely picture of the small boy growing up, obedient and helpful in His home is presented strongly enough, it may help the youngsters to follow His example.

And in this decade when the "unlawful actions of older children are occupying so many newspaper headlines, and horrifying us, it might give some a change of heart and mind that will save them lasting shame in the future.

We know very little of Jesus' childhood after He and His parents came back to their home in Nazareth (about 90 miles from Jerusalem) after their flight to Egypt soon after Jesus' birth. He was three years old at that time, and Luke tells us, "The Child

He was preaching and teaching, men who tried to trap Him were astounded and ashamed because He quoted the Scriptures to them.

However, to continue our story: "And when He was 12 years old they went up to Jerusalem," as they did every year—at the feast of the Passover. This may not have been the first time Jesus was taken to Jerusalem, as His parents went every year, but this time He was older and it probably meant more to Him.

"And when they had fulfilled the days, as they returned, the child Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and Joseph and His mother knew not of it."

At first they thought He must be with some of the company, and they looked for Him among their kinfolk and acquaintances, but did not find Him. Then they turned back to Jerusalem, probably terrified that something harmful may have happened to the child. Three days they sought Him. Finally, in the temple, they found Him "sitting in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions."

What did the boy Jesus ask them? We do not know, but the doctors must have been enthralled with this young boy who was so interested and intelligent. "And when they saw Him, they grew, and waxed strong in spirit, filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him."

It is, of course, natural for children to grow in body and in mind, but sometimes what we knew as a very sweet, tractable little child will, when we see him a few years later, have changed into a heedless, disobedient, turbulent youngster.

What has happened? Is it the parents' fault? They are often told so. Is it just a natural condition which will pass as the years go on, and the child becomes wiser? In some cases the answer is yes; in others, no; he may grow more wilful, lawless and unmanageable.

Is it the result of the great war and continual violence recorded in the newspapers all over the world? Some blame the so-called "comic" books which depict crime in all its horrors and are sold cheaply in many places to children.

Jesus' home in Nazareth must have been a small, humble place. We know virtually nothing of His brothers and sisters growing up with Him. Were they too "growing in spirit and wisdom?" Jesus must have gone to school in the synagogue and learned to read and write and to know the Scriptures. And how well He learned the letters. Time after time, when were amazed, and His mother said unto Him, "Son, why hast Thou thus dealt with us? Behold, Thy father and I have sought thee approving."

She did not scold or rave at Him for giving them trouble and grief. She spoke gently, sadly, we have no doubt, but gently, as Mary, the sweet mother, would speak. And He answered: How is it that ye sought Me? wist ye not that I must be about My Father's business?"

They did not understand His words, but He knew that He was preparing even at that early age, for His Father's work.

"And He went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject unto them; but His mother kept all these sayings in her heart. And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

You remember that after Jesus' birth, with all the wonders that occurred then, that St. Luke tells us that Mary kept "all these things, and pondered them in her heart."

Mothers keep so many things that happen to their children, and "ponder them in their hearts."

Best are they who have happy things to call to mind when their children are grown and have left home.

There's a marvelous new eyeglass service at Ridgeway's... It's called: PROSOPIC ANALYSIS PROSOPIC ANALYSIS is a complete, scientific facial analysis which we give as a method of diagnosing your features to determine exactly what type of frames will flatter your face and hide defects. It has to do with functional ornamentation that highlights and brings out the importance and need for individualized eyewear. We're happy to say that this wonderful, new facial analysis by our competent opticians has met with enthusiastic response... and we think you'll appreciate it too, as another outstanding Ridgeway optical service.

Deputies Didn't Believe In Signs

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies didn't believe the signs on the barrels hidden in woods near here. So they went ahead and tested the barrels' contents. It was mash—the kind used to make liquor. The signs read: "Poison—Cotton Molasses."

Free Lesson In Law Provided By Presiding Judge

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Gerald Mastacchio, 31, serving 15 years for attempted robbery, got a lesson in law yesterday from Judge Fred B. Perkins.

Serving as his own attorney, Mastacchio went before Superior Court with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for his release from prison.

He said two other men had confessed the attempted robbery for which he is serving time so he should be freed.

Judge Perkins explained to Mastacchio he drafted the wrong petition because he was not attacking the legality of the trial but was, in effect, claiming new evidence. What he should have brought, the judge said, was "a petition for a writ of error coram nobis."

Mastacchio went back to prison, presumably to draft a new petition.

Find Emperor's Health Perfect

NEW YORK (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia has been found in "perfect health" by doctors at Presbyterian Hospital.

The monarch left the hospital yesterday after a general checkup. He's been in the United States for the past four weeks.

The United States has about one milk cow for every eight persons.

Grainger, who was re-elected last week, is the defendant.

SPECIAL NOTICES

STATEMENT OF RESULT OF THE SPECIAL BOND ELECTION HELD IN THE AYDEN SCHOOL DISTRICT OF PITT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA ON JUNE 26, 1954

At the special bond election held on June 26, 1954, in the Ayden School District of Pitt County, North Carolina, the following votes were cast for and against the issuance of not exceeding $300,000 School Bonds for and in behalf of said School District for the purpose of acquiring, erecting, enlarging, altering and equipping school buildings and purchasing sites in said School District in order to maintain the constitutional six months' school term, and the levying of a sufficient tax for the payment thereof on all taxable property within said School District: 420 votes were cast for the issuance of said School Bonds and the levying of a sufficient tax for the payment thereof, and 326 votes were cast against the issuance of said School Bonds and the levying of a sufficient tax for the payment thereof.

The number of voters registered and qualified to vote at said election was 1029.

At said election a majority of the qualified voters of said Ayden School District of Pitt County voted in favor of the issuance of said bonds and the levying of such tax.

By order of the Board of Commissioners for Pitt County
 F. F. HENDRIX
 Chairman

Attest:
 Blair C. Wheelless
 Clerk of Board of Commissioners

TO THE TAXPAYERS AND CITIZENS OF AYDEN SCHOOL DISTRICT OF PITT COUNTY:

No right of action or defense founded upon the invalidity of the election mentioned in the foregoing statement shall be asserted, nor shall the validity of said election or the right or duty to levy a sufficient tax on all taxable property within said district for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds, be open to question in any court upon any ground whatever, except in an action or proceeding commenced within thirty days after the publication of the foregoing statement.

The Ayden School District of Pitt County was created by order of the Board of Education on March 29, 1954, and comprises the following territory in Pitt County:

BEGINNING at the southwest corner of the J. R. Turnage land on Contentnea Creek, at the Lenoir County line, now owned by Mrs. Harry Stillman, and running east with the Grifton School District line as follows:

Along the southern line of said land now owned by Mrs. Harry Stillman to the paved road running from Hanrahan to North Carolina Highway No. 102, thence along said road north to the mouth of the road leading to North Carolina Highway No. 11 and Littlefield; thence with said road east to the point where the Thad Hart land touches the south side of said road; thence along the southern boundary of said Thad Hart land to Highway No. 11; thence north from its point 645 feet along Highway No. 11 to the point where East Branch Swift Creek; thence east with said road from Highway No. 11 to Littlefield and continuing to Elm Grove Church; thence northeast with the old tram road, and along the northern boundary of the Cannon land (now owned by Thelbert and Bruce Hart) to Swift Creek; thence southeast along Swift Creek to the point where East Branch Swift Creek; thence east along the southern boundary of the Sade Smith land to Turkey Cook Canal, the point where Chicked an Grifton School Districts meet.

Thence with the Chiloc School District line as follows:

Burt Jenkins Hurls V.F.W. To 2-1 Win Over Jaycees

Jaroslav Drobný Plays For Title

By ROBERT JONES
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Jaroslav Drobný, 32-year-old exiled Czech now living in Egypt, won the Wimbledon singles championship today by defeating 19-year-old Ken Rosewall of Australia, 13-11, 4-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Drobný, now 32, will be the oldest Wimbledon champion since Bill Tilden broke the six-year French monopoly in 1930 if his drop shots and cute stuff prove too much for the 19-year-old Aussie.

Rosewall, on the other hand, would be the youngest champion since 1891, when a 18-year-old named W. Budge Patty won the title.

Drobný, more popular than ever with English fans since he announced his intention of seeking English citizenship recently, is known here as "The Grey Fox of Center Court."

Rosewall will be playing in the final for the first time.

The bookmakers have made youth and speed a 1-2 favorite. The seedings agree, with Rosewall No. 3 to Drobný's No. 11.

Yesterday, the top-seeded doubles pair: Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose of Australia, whipped America's Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris and Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 in one semifinal.

In the other, the second-ranked pair of Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia trounced the No. 3 seeded Rosewall and Lew Hoad, also of Australia, 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 4-7, 8-6.

In the women's semifinals, Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., beat Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., 3-6, 6-3, 6-3. The California girl, three-time winner here had been rated fourth and Miss Hart second.

Now Miss Brough faces Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., who whipped Louise for the title two years ago and, most experts agree, has improved since. Miss Connolly overthrew Mrs. Betty Pratt of South Orange, N.J., 6-1, 6-1 yesterday.

This match, along with all the doubles finals will be played tomorrow.

PONY All-Stars Meet Graduates In Monday Game

Greenville fans will be able to get an early look at the PONY League All-Stars this year as they have a practice game planned for Monday night with a group of last season's PONY league performers.

The game will be played at Guy Smith Stadium Monday night at 7:30.

The all-star team was picked by the managers of the PONY League teams and have been practicing under the management of Junior Yohn and Bill Kittrell.

The all-stars will play against such former stars as Ike Riddick, Donald Patrick, "Wrinkle" Rumley, Charles Smith, Edwin Wilkerson and Manager Wayne Bishop.

Burton Jenkins bested Jasper Tripp of the Jaycees in a tight pitching duel at Little League Park yesterday afternoon as he led his V.F.W. teammates to a 2-1 victory and a tie for second place in the North State League with the Jaycees.

Jenkins gave up only one hit in the six inning contest. He walked five and fanned 11 in the course of his win. Tripp gave up two hits and walked five while striking out 12.

The V.F.W. scored their winning run in the third inning. Coach Eugene Ayer's squad benefited on the wildness of Tripp to put runners on second and third with two down.

Jody Blalock came up with the chip on and smashed a scorching single to drive in Kenneth Allen for the run. Tripp got out of the hole without any more runs scored against him but the damage had already been done.

The V.F.W. had scored in the first on a fielder's choice, a double, and an error by the Jaycees' shortstop.

The Jaycees picked up their only win in the second when Stocks tripled and scored on a ground out.

Coach Marshall Tatum's Jaycees squad came back and almost tied the game in the last inning. After one was out, Buddy Murray and Don Melton walked and each advanced on a double steal.

Sonny Hodges struck out and with Jasper Tripp at bat the V.F.W. brain trust decided to walk the Jaycees slugger intentionally. On the second pitch the ball got away from the V.F.W. catcher and Murray streaked for home only to be blocked from the plate by Jenkins who made the tag for the out.

This afternoon the Exchange will play the Moose in a Tar Heel League game.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Tickets to the 1954 football games of the University of North Carolina became available to the public yesterday for the first time.

Previously the tickets had been offered on a priority basis to members of the educational foundation and alumni.

Both individual and season tickets to games away and home games were offered, with season tickets receiving preference, the Athletic Assn. announced.

The 1954 PGA championship will be held July 21 through 27 at Keller golf course, St. Paul, Minn.

A pair of dramatic and well-timed home runs kept red-hot Harris Super Markets in the thick of the fight for the second half flag in the Recreation Department's Softball League.

The Marketmen used home runs in the sixth inning to climb back into contention in their game with the Graniteers and then used another in the last inning to win the contest. Final score in the game was 13-11.

The game was one of two played last night at Guy Smith Stadium. In the first game, Home Builders stubbornly held onto their tie for third place with Harris Super Markets by defeating winless Jolly Rogers 12-7.

Barnes, Davis, and pitcher Spooky Morgan had two hits apiece for the Marketmen. No single member of the slumping Graniteers, second place finishers in the first half standings but not tied down in sixth place, could get more than one hit.

In the first game, too much Home Builders class wrecked any hopes the Jolly Rogers had of getting into the win column for the first time in this half of the season.

The Builders scored four times in the first inning, added three runs in the fourth and five in the fifth to more than adequately handle the situation for pitchers Dan Gordon and Ford McGowan.

Gene Hudson and Paul Jones had two hits apiece to spark the Builders. The Jolly Rogers' eight hits went to eight different batters.

By The Associated Press
BATTING—Joe Cunningham, St. Louis Cardinals, hit two home runs and drove in four in his second major league game as the Cards beat Milwaukee, 9-2.

PITCHING—Johnny Sain, New York Yankees, allowed only one hit in three innings of relief salvaging an 8-7 victory for New York over Boston.

Yankees Have Chance To Climb Into First

By BEN-PHEGAR
AP Sports Writer
The time has come for the New York Yankees to sit back and watch Cleveland and Chicago knock each other around long enough for the Yanks to slip into the American League lead.

It may not happen that way, but there never will be a better opportunity. Here's the situation in the league in the next 10 days.

Cleveland, now leading by three games, has to play the second-place White Sox eight times between tonight and a week from Sunday.

During the same spell the Yankees will be meeting fifth-place Washington in seven games. And right here may be the kicker. The Yanks should win most or all of those games but there is no certainty that they will. So far, the Senators steadfastly have refused to play dead for the New Yorkers. In fact, they've won five of the nine games played so far.

Cleveland and Chicago have met eight times with the White Sox winning five. Even if they can keep up this average the Sox will gain only one full game on the Indians. They'll still trail Cleveland by two.

But the path would be open for the Yankees. If they could win their seven with Washington they'd shoot to the top, a game in front of Cleveland.

New York was the only one of the American League contenders that played yesterday. The Yankees jumped away to a 7-0 lead at Boston but had to struggle for an 8-7 victory. This left the Yanks 3 1/2 games out of first place.

In the National League, the New York Giants swept into a four-game lead by whipping Brooklyn for the third straight day 5-2. St. Louis crushed Milwaukee 9-2 with Stan Musial and rookie Joe Cunningham hitting two home runs each. No other games were scheduled in either league.

Johnny Sain, who has allowed only eight runs in 35 2/3 innings of relief pitching came to the Yankees' rescue in Boston and shut out the stubborn Red Sox through the final three innings. Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Andy Carey were the big blows in the Yanks' 12-hit attack.

The Giants used another of their patented late-inning climaxes to hog-tie the Dodgers. After Brooklyn had pulled into a 3-2 deadlock in the seventh on home runs by Roy Campanella and Carl Furuseth, the Giants came back with three in the eighth. The first two of the three came as pinch hitter Dusty Rhodes duplicated his game-winning single of Tuesday night with the bases loaded.

A single a throwing error by Roy Campanella on a sacrifice bunt and a walk by Erv Fallica set it up for Dusty, who batted for Monte Irvin. Ruben Gomez, with ninth-inning help from Hoyi Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, won his seventh game.

Cunningham, brought up to the Cardinals Wednesday as a replacement for Tom Alston, hit one home run in his first major league game Wednesday night in Cincinnati and drove home four runs with his two blows into the right field seats at Milwaukee yesterday.

Harvey Haddix, the league's biggest winner, was struck on the leg by a line drive off the bat of Joe Adcock in the fourth inning, but early fears of a fracture were dismissed by a hospital examination. He probably will be out 10 days.

Douglas Leading Motor City Open

By The Associated Press
DETROIT (AP)—Dave Douglas held a one stroke lead and Cary Middlecoff held his temper as the Motor City Open reached the midway point today.

Douglas took a thin one-stroke lead yesterday with a three-under-par 68.

Middlecoff nearly blew up on the fifth green. His 30-foot putt flirted with the cup and missed, and the Memphis dentist—in mild rage—kicked his club. It broke, leaving him without a putter.

"I was ready to quit," Middlecoff said. "I had never broken a club as a pro and it burned me up. I was going to pick up but decided to give it a try."

It was a remarkable try. Middlecoff used his driver, one iron and sand wedge as a putter and finished with a 72—only one over par. He carried a pair of 12-foot putts with his one iron on the last two holes.

Tommy Bolt of Houston Tex., didn't throw one club while posting a one-over 72.

One stroke off Douglas' pace were three veterans—Chuck Koestis of Royal Oak, Mich., George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J. and Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C. Each had a 69 and Koestis added sparkle to his with a pair of eagles.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—A brisk rally turned the stock market around today after a quietly lower opening and by early afternoon gains in leaders ranged from one to as much as four points.

Volume increased as the buying came into the market.

Du Pont, which has bounced up and down for a good part of the week, led the advancing shares with a gain of 4 1/2 at 139. General Motors climbed 2 1/2 to 76 1/2.

Mostly higher groups included steels, chemicals, motors, televisions and coppers. Aircrafts, rails, rubbers and electrical equipments were mixed.

Advancing stocks included Celanese, Western Auto Supply, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Boeing, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Santa Fe, Matheson Chemical, Union Carbide, Raytheon, Alcoa, J.P. Stevens, General Electric and International Harvester.

Coca-Cola International traded for the first time since May 4, off 2 1/2 points at 930.

The group was accompanied to Raleigh by County Agent Sam Winchester, Assistant County Agent G. J. Goodman, Home Demonstration Agents Mrs. Lillie Little and Miss Josephine Cusick.

Rescued: One Little Kitten

"It's all right now," the white Persian cat is assured by Alvin Lincoln of the local telephone company as they descend to the ground. Last night the cat, owned by Mrs. Arthur Wayne who lives on the Bevoir road, climbed the telephone pole and was unable to get down. This morning the local telephone company came to the rescue at the request of Mrs. Wayne, and the cat was soon safe on the ground again, apparently none the worse for its all-night sojourn atop the pole. Flood Victims Are Still Dazed

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. (AP)—Emilio Sandoval sat slumped in a straight-backed chair in the doorway of his ruined hotel. He rubbed the three-day stubble of black and gray on his jaw and glanced back at the bare room, at the warped boards clattering the stone floor, at the five-foot water mark on the walls.

"You will forgive me, please, if I don't get up," he said.

His lunched fist made a circular motion over the pit of his stomach.

"I am upset by this," he said. "I have a bad feeling in here."

Monday night Sandoval had been hurrying to clear the lobby of his hotel before flood waters moved in. He was trapped in the hotel when the rising water took a sudden surge.

"I never thought to see it happen," he said. "Nothing like it ever happened before — to see the water racing down that street."

That is why Sandoval is like most of the living and the dead in Piedras Negras — they never thought to see it happen.

Now the border sun bakes the oiled mud in the streets and shimmers off the foul waters still standing in many places. There is no water system left in the town of some 35,000 across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass. Children squat and scoop water out of the streets to quench their thirst, and old women bending double to wash their clothing in the pools bring it up coated with slime.

Across the border south Texans have gathered up donations of food and a helicopter assigned to the Red Cross by Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Tex., brings it across, trip after trip. But the only distribution system is to pile the food in pickup trucks and drive it to camps that sprawl squallidly over the hills around town.

Mexican authorities bring in tank trucks full of pure water from inland towns but there isn't enough to go around.

No Divorce 'Til Lawn Mowing Arrangement Set

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Wanda Cholewa, 35, got a home, custody of her three children and $28 a week for their support.

But until her husband had the lawn mowed she refused to sign a separation agreement for a divorce.

"He has a power-mower," she told Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick. "He took it with him when he left last February."

Her husband Leo, 32, a forging company foreman, wanted no part of the lawn cutting. It was two acres of land and she had the house. Let her mow the grass, he contended.

Finally, to end the stalemate, Judge Merrick suggested that Cholewa give her $100 to have the job done. He consented and Mrs. Cholewa signed the agreement.

The divorce was granted on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

Police Court will resume its regular sessions beginning Monday, July 19.

Juggler Leaped In Lions' Cage To Try Rescue

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Eric Drosdsky is a circus juggler who is scared of animals. But last night he leaped into the lion cage and fought desperately for the life of trainer William Coetzee, his best friend.

Women screamed and fled from the tent when one of the six performing lions turned on Coetzee as he was putting the animal through its paces. As all six lions pounced, Drosdsky rushed into the ring. With a chair he tried to draw the raging beasts toward himself.

Farmville Board Adopts Budget And Continues Tax Rate At Its Old Level

FARMVILLE—The Farmville Board of Commissioners approved a budget of $121,766.44 for the operation of the town government, $10,715 for debt service, and $208,900 for the operation of the water and light department for the coming fiscal year.

The budget approval came at a Commissioners meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The budget included a salary increase for city employees of approximately five per cent and $5,835.90 for the operation of Farmville's new library, was made up without an increase in the tax rate.

The local tax rate will be maintained at $1.35 per $100 during the coming year. Local taxes have not been increased since 1947.

Town Clerk Cleveland Paylor noted that the recent tax evaluation will bring in approximately $3000 in additional revenue during the year.

The total assessment of property valuations is now set at $5,983,432 in 1953 the property valuations were set at $4,818,154.

However, the total is tentative and is subject to revision pending the number of complaints filed with the County Board of Equalization and Review.

The commissioners appropriated $11,726.48 for administration, salaries and expenses during the coming year. The street department is to receive $46,165.72 under the new budget. The $11,000 in Powell Bill funds was appropriated for street work during the next fiscal year.

The police department will operate under a budget of $28,486.92 while the fire department received $4,201.52.

Other appropriations included: $3,500 for acquisition and maintenance of cemetery property; $2,500 for the operation of the town hall, and $3,200 for general expenses.

In addition, the health department is receiving $2,400, and $2,750 has been appropriated for the recreation department. The newly constructed library, which was donated to the town during the past fiscal year by Miss Virginia Elizabeth Davis will operate on a budget of $5,835.90 next year. Last year only $1,500 was appropriated for the old city library.

Under estimated revenue was listed $56,835 from the 1954-55 tax levy, $30,600 from other income, $11,000 Powell Bill (restricted funds) and $23,331.44 from the water and light department for a total of $121,766.44.

Under debt service general the budget lists bond maturities at $9,000 and bond interest at $1,715 for a total of $10,715 which is appropriated from the tax levy to cover the amount.

The water and light department lists $111,471.06 for operating expenses for the coming year, $46,500 for purchased power, $27,597.50 for debt service, and $23,331.44 as contribution to the town's general fund for a total of $208,900. Under estimated revenue for the water and light department operated under a budget of $193,000, giving an increase of $15,900 in the water and light budget for the coming year over last year's.

Farmville's water and light department is operated directly by the town and comes under the Board of Commissioners.

The combined budgets of the General Fund, Debt Service, and the water and light department gives a total budget for the coming year of $316,050, as compared with a combined total of $290,481.10 for the past fiscal year.

Fire Chief Asks Residents Check On Fuse Boxes

Fire Chief George Gardner today urged local citizens to check their electrical fuses to determine if 15 ampere fuses are being used in their houses.

The chief's warning came after firemen answered a call last night to a house occupied by Melissa Perkins at 700 Fleming Street. A minor blaze was found in the dwelling caused by a short circuit in the electrical lines.

Firemen found that the fuses being used in the house were 30 ampere type and two of the fuses were found to have been bridged.

The threaded portion of the fuses had been cut and connected to the center pole so that the fuse could blow under a heavy load.

Gardner asked that householders never bridge a fuse or place a penny behind the safety device.

He particularly urged citizens to check the fuse size.

"You are not supposed to use over a 15 amp fuse in any house circuit unless a competent electrician told you differently," the fire chief said.

He said that the best procedure to follow if 15 amp fuses blow continuously is to cut off all the lights on the circuit and turn on each one separately until the defective fixture is found. If the short circuit cannot be found an electrician should be called.

Damage to the Perkins home was light although an extension cord had to be replaced and had scorched which ran from one room, down a wall in several places.

Holiday Drivers Get Off Today On Early Start

CHICAGO (AP)—Motorists able to get ahead of the crowd hit the highways early today for the long July 4 weekend.

Other thousands packed with sports clothes, ready to catch evening trains, buses and planes for summer resorts.

The National Safety Council estimated that with good weather 40 million cars will be on the nation's highways Saturday, Sunday and Monday. The peak volume of travel will occur Monday afternoon and evening when the tourists head home.

For some 430 of the highway travelers, this may be their last July 4 holiday weekend. The council estimates that number will be killed in crashes between 6 p.m. today and midnight Monday.

COLDWATER, Mich. (AP)—J. J. Birton of Detroit's suburban Dearborn was a year and a half late, but Justice of the Peace B. E. Taylor thought it was better than never.

Birton was fined $15 on a traffic charge in November 1952 before Justice Taylor. All he had was $5, and Justice Taylor accepted his promise for the rest.

In yesterday's mail was a money order for $10.
