Second Traffic Fatality For Year Saturday Pitt Man Dies In Accident

By ALVIN TAYLOR Pitt County recorded its second traffic fatality of 1954 when a car overturned on a curve on the Stantonburg road and overturned about 11:30 Saturday night.

Injured in the accident was Mary Lee Powell of Greenville. She was not severely injured and that she is to be released from the hospital this morning.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse assembled members of the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon to view the scene of the accident and the wrecked vehicle.

Dead as a result of the wreck is John David Middleton, 30-year-old Negro of Greenville Route 6. The victim was reported to have died before he could be placed in a hospital.

The wrecked vehicle was being operated by Osea Jack Newton, 23-year-old Negro of Farmville. He is being held in county jail under $5000 bond pending an inquest into the death.

The coroner indicated that the man died of a broken neck and stated an inquest into the death of Middleton has been set for Thursday night at 7:30 in the Pitt County Court House.

Wildcat Walkout Hits Atomic Plant Projects

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—A wildcat walkout by members of AFL Laborers' Local 818 halted work today on two vast atomic plant construction projects.

More than 8,000 AFL construction workers were idled by the walkout which union leaders described as illegal.

The laborers tentatively had rejected new wage proposals offered by the Knoxville chapter of Associated General Contractors. However Wardrop said a meeting was scheduled today "whether to ratify or disapprove the wage scale proposed."

Congress Heads Into Scheduled Final Three Weeks Of Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress heads today into the scheduled final three weeks of its 1954 session with President Eisenhower reportedly prodding for stepped-up action on his program of anti-subversive measures.

Republican leaders are aiming for a July 31 adjournment. Signs are that if they don't make it, they shouldn't miss by more than a week or two.

Neither of these bills is in the form the administration asked. The House has also okayed bills to provide the death penalty for espionage in peacetime and broaden the espionage and sabotage laws, and to increase penalties for harboring fugitives from justice.

Boyd-LaRue Vows Pledged

LINDALE, Ga.—The marriage of Miss Glenda Jane LaRue, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. LaRue of 11 S. Third Street, Lindale, to James Calvin Boyd, son of Mrs. Clem M. Johnson of Clinton, N. C. was solemnized at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 27th, in the First Baptist Church of Lindale before a large company of relatives and friends.

Tall white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra cast a soft glow over the altar, which was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, white gladioli, white pom-pom chrysanthemums and Queen Anne's lace.

Rev. E. Stanley Morris of Lindale, a long-time friend of the bride's family, performed an impressive single-ring ceremony.

As the ushers, R. H. Posa and Wesley Connell, seated the guests, a program of appropriate wedding music was offered by Miss Suzanne Hall, pianist.

Miss Jo Ann Lemming was maid of honor. Her dress was of soft green taffeta with bodice of lace and taffeta. She wore a matching lace stole and carried a bouquet of orchid asters tied with orchid ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jo Ellen Posa and Miss Lynda Kate Greer. They wore identically styled gowns of net over taffeta, with lace berthas. Miss Posa's dress was aqua and she carried a bouquet of pink asters, tied with matching ribbons. Miss Greer's dress was orchid and she carried deep purple asters tied with orchid ribbons.

Entering the church with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride, radiantly lovely, was met at the altar by the groom and his uncle, Haywood F. Snell, of Beaufort, N. C., who served as best man.

The bride's gown was of net, taffeta and lace. Lace insets were featured in the full net skirt which was worn over taffeta and which ended in a long train in the back.

The Breast Stroke. . . Bring your arms forward from your side, with your fingers close together just below the water's surface. When arms are completely stretched out in front of you, turn your palms out and push your arms back until they are on an even level with your shoulders. Then all you have to do is bend your elbows and bring your hands under your chin and you are ready to start again. At the start of the stroke the legs are fully extended with the feet together. Then slowly part the legs by bending the knees. This is continued until the legs are in a V position. When they are completely apart pull them together again in a wedging motion using both your feet and legs.

Back Stroke. . . Place right arm above shoulders with palms in the water, pulling down through to the side. When you have completed three-fourths of the stroke with the right arm, start the same action with your left. The leg motion is the same as in the American crawl, only it is done on the back.

American Crawl. . . Extend right arm on the surface of the water and begin moving it backward with a downward motion. While doing this you inhale through your mouth with your head facing left. When your right arm reaches a 90 degree angle start exhaling through your nose. By this time your left hand is extended above the water and you turn your face right for inhaling. The leg motion consists of kicking from the thigh down. There are four leg motions to each arm stroke.

Besides helping to develop and firm the body, swimming is invaluable as a complexion beautifier.

Women In The Church

Mrs. Julia A. Woodward, of Kansas City, Mo., who recently retired as a missionary of the Gospel Missionary Union, has been honored by the American Bible Society for her part in translating the New Testament into the little-known and difficult language spoken by the more than 1,000,000 Indians living in the mountain area of Ecuador. She has been named an honorary life member of the Society. Mrs. Woodward began translating the New Testament into the Ecuadorian Quechua soon after she began her missionary assignment in Ecuador forty years ago. She started with the gospel of St. John, which she finished in 1917. She completed the translation in 1953 and it is being published this year.

Be In The Swim And Stay Trim

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
Every little swimming stroke has a meaning all its own for those who seek beauty.

So what better exercise could be devised for summertime charm?

The flabby girl can develop a good firm chest and bosom by doing the breast stroke. The leg motion in this stroke helps put action into hip and thigh muscles where fat likes to accumulate. It helps whittle down the waist, too. Best of all this exercise is just as valuable in developing the thin girl, say advocates of the swim for health theory.

The girl with poor posture—slouch or round shoulders—may be helped by the back stroke. This helps unwind that shoulder area and exercise muscles that normally are neglected.
Fatties would do well to cultivate the American crawl, one sure way to burn up excess fat. The motions firm the legs and thighs and help exercise abdominal muscles and back. Every muscle gets a workout with this stroke.
Here are some pointers suggested by experts to help you develop these strokes:

There's not much similarity between EGGS and TELEPHONES. No resemblance at all.
Even so, many people think that like a three-minute egg, a long distance telephone call should be held to three minutes. That was true during the war years, when additional circuits and equipment could not be installed and when long distance lines were carrying a heavy load of urgent defense calls.
Today, however, unlimited long distance lines have been provided to meet your needs. The time limit is only on the three-minute egg.

Fall Styles To Play Up 'Slouchy' Look

Editor's Note—Fashions for the fall went on review in New York today, the start of a week-long schedule of unveilings before the fashion press of the nation. Here's an expert report on what the new styles will mean to the well-dressed American woman. It will be followed by daily stories in this newspaper until the press preview ends Friday.

By DOROTHY ROM
NEW YORK (AP)—It's going to be smart to be slouchy next fall, the international fashion press learned today with the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the bloused silhouette after a season in which the tight midriff and Princess lines made women suffer for the sake of fashion.

The newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skillful use of pleats and flares has been made in some skirts, allowing room to move while preserving a slender appearance.

The bloused-back dress showed up in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers until now. It suggests a return to the casual way of dressing that most American women love, and also makes it possible to hide a few extra bulges around the middle.

The tight-midriff Empire line is still present in many collections but a choice is now offered, with the casually comfortable look the newest and therefore the smartest in the lineup.

Suits for fall over a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt still decreed for daytime wear and hemlines about the same or occasionally a trifle shorter than those of spring and summer. One leading suit designer shows the longer jacket as the highlight of his collection but the "Blouson" jacket seems a favorite. This is a bloused effect ending in a belt at the waist, similar to the Eisenhower jacket of World War II. Boxy and barrel-shaped jackets rounded at the top and snuggled in around the neckline also are prominent and popular.

The fur-trimmed suit and even the suit with reversible jacket lined in fur is seen frequently, often as a part of the popular costume suit, which consists of a smart dress covered by a tailored jacket.

The costume is the top favorite in practically every collection, shown either as dress and jacket, dress and matching full-length coat or suit with coordinated blouse. This is the highly versatile breakfast-to-dinner outfit which permits a woman to go from office to cocktail party or dinner perfectly dressed for the occasion when she removes her jacket.

Handsome fabrics make new headlines for fall, with much emphasis on tweeds for any hour. There are tweed dress-and-jacket combinations in which the dress emerges with open neckline and brief sleeves, ready for any after-occasion. There are feather-weight silk-and-wool tweeds suitable for both suits and dresses. The combination of satin and tweed is a new note for fall, highly effective and apparently slated for wide acceptance.

Black and charcoal gray remain tops for basic costumes, but the combination of a sherry brown and black is newer, and the faded color of the season is purple.

The soft black crepe dress, which most women feel is a necessity in any wardrobe, gains new stature this season, and will be seen in quantity in shops across the country. It is done in either silk or rayon, simple, skillfully draped to be dressed up or down with jewelry and accessories.

The top cat silhouette of the season is the loose, rounded line which is drawn in slightly at the neckline, in something resembling a barrel shape. This usually is a few inches shorter than the skirt hemline.

There is a rounded, smooth look to both suits and coats this season. Shoulders are natural, and the dropped shoulder line is important. Garments are loose above the waist drawn in below either at neckline or hemline.

Necklines take a dramatic play, with big collars on coats and suits, open décolletages on dresses. The sailor collar is shown in many versions on coats, suits and occasionally on dresses.

Biggest news for the college crowd is the Bermuda-skirt, a knee length affair worn over Bermuda shorts, with long knee-length socks. This is done in plaid plaid knit version as well as in circular cut tweeds, open in front to reveal the shorts beneath.

Even hats follow the casual line in the early collections, with the slouch-brim felt leading the field and the flapper cloche a close runner-up.

Boys Rounded Up After Rioting

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Forty boys at the Youth Authority's new 2½-million-dollar northern California reception center rioted briefly yesterday.

LONDON (AP)—A Dominican diplomat was dead today and his adversary in a dinnertime quarrel and gun fight was in a hospital with a stomach wound.

The two men, described as formerly "great friends," shot it out Saturday night in the Dominican consulate not far from Buckingham Palace.

The dead man was the Dominican Embassy's first secretary, Don Luis Bernardino. His wounded opponent was Capt Antonio de la Maza, the embassy air attache.

An embassy spokesman said the two men were dining together at the consulate building when they became involved in a violent argument. The shooting followed. The spokesman said he did not know what caused the dispute.

Furniture, Rug Market To Open

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—The semiannual Southern Furniture and Rug Market opens here tomorrow with the largest number of furniture stores in the market's history registered.

About 400 manufacturers will display home furnishings through July 22. The event, open only to retail merchants, introduces new furniture and home furnishings designs.

The expected attendance of 6,000 will bring in representatives of as many stores as any previous exposition.

Upholstery in new furniture is dominated by pastel hues and off tones, with colors paralleling popular clothing trends.

Proopic Chromatic Analysis

WHAT IS IT?

PROOPIC CHROMATIC ANALYSIS is a complete, scientific facial analysis. For example, artists all agree that, for beauty and symmetry, the distance between the eyes should be approximately the width of one eye so that if you have a broad bridge your eyes appear to set close together. If you have a broad bridge, Ridgeway's Opticians will fit you with spectacle frames that will slenderize it, creating the illusion of harmonious and graceful proportions of your facial features. Face-Lifting For Municipal Governments

Whether people are aware of it or not, municipal government in Eastern North Carolina has undergone quite a face-lifting in recent years. Particularly is this true among the larger municipalities in this area.

A great deal of the credit for this new look in municipal governments hereabout is due, in our opinion, to the efforts of young men who compose Jaycee organizations in the various towns.

The new look to which we make reference is the trend toward the council-manager form of government.

Practically all Greenville citizens are aware that the city changed from the old aldermanic form of government to the council-manager form a little more than a year ago. But Greenville is only one of several. In almost every recent case in which a municipal government in this area has been changed to the council-manager form, the Jaycees played a leading role.

Washington changed to the council-manager form of government under the leadership of Jaycees there shortly before the people of Greenville voted to adopt the council-manager form.

Welcome Rain For Pitt County

Those were welcome rains which fell over Pitt County during the past few days.

Reports from around the county indicate much-needed rains fell in practically all sections. Three-quarters of an inch of rain was recorded in Greenville on Friday bringing the total rain for the first 10 days of July to .98 of an inch.

The dry weather during June has caused some permanent damage to Pitt's crops which the week-end rain did not help. But it is apparent the rain did most crops throughout the county a great deal of good.

Crops around the county have perked up considerably since the rain came, and for the most part, the spirits of the people have likewise perked up. The latter could be due not only to the fact that the crops are looking better, but also to the fact that the cool days which accompanied the rain afforded a welcome relief from the siege of hot days.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
"ME COOKIE"

A little toddler who is within hailing distance of his second year has a vocabulary of about ten words—mostly nouns—and he uses them in a way that greatly amuses his parents. He attaches the word "me" to anything he desires—"Me cookie," "me milk," "me up," "me down." His whole conception of reality up to this present moment consists in himself and what he wants. His life oscillates between these two points.

This is cute in a toddler, and of course quite natural. But it is neither cute nor natural in an adult. Yet there are many adults whose whole lives consist in nothing beyond establishing relationship between "me money," "me sex," "me power." These are the people who bedevil their homes, their employees, their friends, and anybody who is unfortunate enough to set himself up in opposition to their desires.

The basis of moral and intellectual growth, as we have often observed before, is the capacity to criticize ourselves. But there are millions of people whose thoughts run along only one line—themselves and the things they want. How to get these things becomes the end of their existence the only project in which they have any interest.

They are little "Me cookie" people who have never grown up.

Exposing Of More Scandals

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Defense and military housing scandals involving more than $1 billion worth of projects will be exposed by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee after Congress adjourns late this month. Current revelations about windfall profits, padded fees, unchecked loans, gratuities and free entertainment for FHA officials are only a preview.

The inquiry will show that many thousands of enlisted men, veterans, defense workers and their families were charged extortionate rents through higher-up negligence, if not downright dishonesty, in handling funds. So far, the expose has concerned itself chiefly with so-called luxury apartments.

COMMITTEE HEARINGS—In the forthcoming hearings, which will be held in every section of the country—New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston—the victims will be shown to be men still in uniform, who have only a limited income.

In fact, the principal reason why the government undertook the project through insured loans was in the hope that the benefits of low-cost housing would be passed on to the tenants and purchasers.

Besides FHA officials, Pentagon figures may be criticized for their indifference to these practices. Many servicemen have complained to their commanding officers without obtaining any relief. Some have brought suits for possible recovery, although lawyers insist that "everything was done legally."

There was simply an utter lack of policing or supervising the program, according to this viewpoint. Nor did the appropriate committees on Capitol Hill show any concern as to whether Uncle Sam's interests were protected.

MOST OFFENDERS PROTECTED—Despite Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell's forecast of political indictments by the Department of Justice, it is generally believed that the statute of

Business Today

Travel Makes Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER
The beautiful girl you meet on the beach at Waikiki this summer may be the top saleswoman for an apparel manufacturer. The fellow you find there when you climb to the top of Matterhorn may be a mechanic who devised a cheaper way to get burrs off tool parts. And the man in the pith helmet you encounter in the Upper Congo may have sold more air-conditioning units in the State of Indiana than any other person.

Not many years ago the only other Americans one met traveling abroad were millionaires and schoolteachers on sabbaticals. Now there is a rising tide of salespersons and plant employees.

That's because fashions in incentives have changed. Years ago, cash was considered the only incentive. Employers took it for granted that workers would do their utmost for a buck.

Then someone discovered that merchandise often has a greater attraction. If a man got $100 for breaking a sales record or turning in a valuable suggestion, it probably went into the family pool and was spent for groceries, insurance and parking fines. But if he were offered something he'd never buy himself—a combination toaster and egg poacher or a color TV set—he would strain for the award and, besides, his wife and family would get behind and push.

And now travel—especially those trips an employee won't think of taking, even if he had the money—are becoming incentives. The cruise ships have been bidding for this business for many years, and so have been the packaged-tour people with their rail and bus lines. And now the airlines are hitting it hard, using special advertisements and salesmen to sell corporations the idea of offering all-expense, round-trip tickets to Miami, Bali Bali and Venice as rewards for those who exceed their quotas.

The airlines are busy selling conventions abroad, too. Why not send the entire sales force to Mexico City, instead of just the top men? As a legitimate expense, it's deductible from earnings for tax purposes.

There is a sad part about it, however. The little steno who goes without lunch for two years to get enough money for two weeks in Havana is not going to meet either loving Latins or millionaire Americans. All she'll meet are the salesmen from her own office, and Joe, the mailroom boy, who devised a cheaper way of wrapping packages.

THAT'S THE LEAST HONOREES COULD DO
A small New York advertising agency appointed 45 writers and editors as honorary vice-presidents. Got its name in 45 publications.

NO DECEPTION UNTIL POOLED. EXAMINER HOLDS
A new theory in the application of government regulations has been put forward by a Federal Trade Commission. Examiner. The officer, William L. Pack, held that a deceptive practice is not, in itself, cause for FTC action. A deceptive practice, he held, is not actionable until someone is deceived.

Mr. Pack apparently goes along with those who hold that if a tree falls in an inhabited forest, it makes no sound.

The case on which he ruled involved a Detroit directory company whose solicitations looked like those for the telephone yellow pages. While the practice may be deceptive, there was no showing that anyone had been deceived, and he recommended that the case against the firm be dropped.

His recommendation will be reviewed by the FTC commissioners.

Future Living Costs Concern Most Retired Workers

By ROGER BABSON

NEW BOSTON, N.H. — During a visit here I have had an opportunity to talk with various retired workers now living on pensions. One thing that interests them most is the future cost of living. They are grateful to their employers for their pension, but they wonder just how much it may always be able to buy. You cannot blame them for worrying, considering that a $1,000 pension received in 1900 will today buy only about $300 worth of food, clothing, and shelter.

MONEY VERSUS GOODS
Too many of my readers are thinking only of dollars, rather than of what these dollars will buy in the years ahead. Of course, the ideal thing would be for employers to promise their retired people a certain number of bushels of potatoes, pounds of meat, pairs of shoes, etc., in the form of a pension. Corporations, however, cannot do this unless they can be reimbursed by the Government. As our politicians are the ones who mainly determine the cost of living, would it be unfair to ask their government to "give these pensioners 'insurance' against such unnecessary inflation?"

Another possible answer would be to have pension funds invested in merchandising stocks. I have in mind Super Markets such as A & P, Kroger, American Stores, First National, Stop & Shop, etc., and the Variety Chains. These stocks could partly serve as a hedge against rising food prices and the cost of necessities. The latter could always be purchased from Chain Stores, such as Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Penney,—especially from the modern Variety Stores which now carry nearly everything necessary to living, other than food. The buyers for these Variety Chains hunt all over the world for the best merchandise at the lowest prices and sell it at the least profit; while the value of their inventories increases along with the cost of living.

Thus, if pension funds were invested more in such stocks, the pensioners should be much better off if the cost of living should increase—especially in view of the "self-service" feature which was promoted by Herbert A. Hills Jr., of Wellesley, Mass.

TEN BIG VARIETY CHAINS
Working people should also put a fair proportion of their own savings in these stocks, possibly an equal proportion of money in each of the ten. Knowing, however, that two of these, the McLellan Chain and the McCrory Chain, are largely owned by the United Stores Corporation, I can "catch two birds with one stone" by buying the stocks of United Stores Corporation which are listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges. The Second Preferred sells around $9.75 a share and yields over 8 per cent; and the Common sells around $2.75 a share. When working people come to me and want stocks to lay away for their children and grandchildren, not for speculation, I recommend these United Stores stocks at the rate of one share of Common for protection with each two shares of Second Preferred for dividends.

WARTIME PROTECTION

There are several good reasons why I like the above ten Variety

Chains. In addition to their being a hedge against inflation and against a rising cost of living, they provide a geographical protection in case of World War III which big city stocks cannot offer. All the above ten chains have their assets scattered throughout the United States. The United Stores (McCrory and McLellan) have stores in over 440 cities scattered in 37 states, while Woolworth has 1,973 stores in the United States and Canada alone. Woolworth, however, has a large investment in England and Germany which World War III would probably wipe out. Although we may not now fear such a war, no student of history can believe that wars are over forever. Only a great spiritual awakening, of which I see no signs at present, can prevent the onslaught of such a war before long.

Will It Be Higher Taxes Or Reduced Spending?

Is Governor Umstead laying the groundwork to ask the 1955 General Assembly for higher taxes in the state?

The answer to that question will not come for months yet, but it is time now for the public to begin considering the possibility.

Governor Umstead has observed it is "perfectly apparent" that the next General Assembly will have to choose between raising taxes or reducing expenditures.

He added he would "hate to see any backward step taken in any of the essential services rendered by the state." The rest of the citizens of the state share the same opinion.

Yet in the face of economic conditions, we do not see how the state legislators can conscientiously increase the tax burden upon their constituents back home.

With plenty of money in circulation, it was to be expected that the state would make advances which more revenue and greater spending could provide. It would have been a mistake if the state had not followed such a policy.

On the other hand, it would be a grave mistake for the state to try to continue expanding programs with lavish expenditures in the face of stringencies in the economy.

The public feels keenly the tax burden which it is carrying and has carried for several years. Public opinion now strongly favors at least a hold-the-line policy toward taxes if reductions are impossible. But sometimes the voice of public opinion is lost in matters of this sort. It sort of rests in a passive mumbling rather than speaking its piece.

Make no mistake about it. The alternative between higher taxes and reduced spending obviously will become a very real issue in North Carolina not many months hence. The people in the 100 counties should let their representatives who are going to Raleigh in January know which of the alternatives they favor.

Around Capitol Square

ADVISORY — Governor Umstead told reporters at his latest news conference he has not decided how many persons will be named to the group he expects to advise him on effectuating the Supreme Court non-segregation decrees. Nor does he know when he will announce the appointments, or if the list will include one or more Negroes. Further, he doesn't know whether he will call it a commission or a committee.

A reporter asked what is the difference. The Governor confessed he isn't sure about that, either. Probably a commission would indicate somewhat larger authority, a committee would be wholly advisory. He made it clear that the information and advice offered by the group would be available to any agency having need of it, but primarily it will be for his personal guidance in determining a course of action.

The idea of having such an advisory group has been generally commended, but a few people have criticized it as premature until the high court promulgates its final decrees.

JUDGES — Governor Umstead has not had opportunity to study the details of the map and proposed plan for redistricting the State's superior court set-up, prepared by the Judicial Council. He recognized the need for additional judges and favors the principle of increasing the number of districts and establishing more divisions within which judges will rotate in holding court. He is not prepared to express an opinion on the merits of the exact arrangement presented to N. C. Bar Association by Chief Justice Barnhill.

FAVORED — A reporter recalled that during the hilly contest fight on judicial redistricting in the last Legislature, impression was widespread that Governor Umstead was opposed to the whole idea. He said that was not and is not the case. He favored the principle, but could not go along with the bill which passed the Senate and almost got by the House.

Important Decisions Still Awaiting Action By Umstead

tional judges and favors the principle of increasing the number of districts and establishing more divisions within which judges will rotate in holding court. FAVORED — A reporter recalled that during the hilly contest fight on judicial redistricting in the last Legislature, impression was widespread that Governor Umstead was opposed to the whole idea. He said that was not and is not the case. He favored the principle, but could not go along with the bill which passed the Senate and almost got by the House.

John Strong, administrative aid to the Chief Justice, said he has received only eight letters objecting to the plan as outlined. He concedes there is probably more opposition than this small number of protests would indicate, but feels sure that the essential features of the plan will be enacted into law by the next General Assembly.

COMMITTEE — The Democratic State Executive Committee will probably meet on July 29 or August 5. The date has not been set, but Governor Umstead said it would be the last week in July or the first in August. Long standing custom is to have sessions on Thursday.

Indications are the committee will run smoothly when it does meet. There is no prospect of opposition to Sam J. Ervin Jr., as nominee for the United States Senate; Carlisle Higgins as nominee for Supreme Court Justice, and Frank Crane for Commissioner of Labor. These men are now serving in the respective positions by appointment of the Governor.

The committee also must elect a chairman and a vice chairman. B. Everett Jordan, who has served as chairman for the past five years, is slated for uncontested re-election, and Mrs. Mary Laurens Richardson will be continued as vice-chairman.

There is a vacancy on the National Committee, occasioned by resignation of Carlisle Higgin when he was appointed to the Supreme Court. The National committee fills its own vacancies, but it is customary for the State to nominate. Several names have been suggested, with odds favoring ex-Governor Gregg Cherry. Since the woman member lives in the east, the man will probably come from the western part of the State.

Besides nominating candidates and electing its officers, the committee is expected to adopt memorial resolutions for senator Clyde Hoey and other prominent North Carolina Democrats who have died since the last meeting.

DISTRESS — It is often true that immediate estimates of damage resulting from storms or fires are excessive, and later appraisal shows the loss not as severe as feared. The opposite is true in the area of Person, Granville, Wake and Johnston counties ravaged by the hail-storm last Monday.

The desperate plight of many farmers was illustrated the other day when Grady Miller, Wake county farm agent, called a meeting of affected farmers to discuss relief measures. He expected 50 to 60, and more than 400 showed up.

Besides the complete loss of thousands of acres of tobacco and corn, other crops are seriously suffering from drought.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

TEMPERS RISE WITH TEMPERATURE

(Rocky Mount Telegram)
More bad things happen in the "good ole summertime" than any other season of the year. Crime statistics all indicate that summer is the season of violence. Since tempers seem to rise with temperature, perhaps the similarity in these words is more than pure coincidence. In hot weather people seem to kill each other for the "darndest" reasons.

For example, yesterday's news told of one killed and eight others injured in an all-out fist fight over who could drink the most whiskey.

Our Teenagers Called 'Luckiest'

By SANDRA NEMSER

AP Newsfeatures Writer
American teenagers are the luckiest in the world, says 24-year-old Jean Kapp Phillips, probably this county's youngest corporation president.

"British youngsters would like to be in the position of their American counterparts. They are not given the respect we show our teenagers and are forced by economic conditions to earn a living wage at an earlier age."

Jean, who once won the title "America's Typical Teenager," has been interested in teenagers ever since she was old enough to write about them. With a former employer, she recently formed Teenage Public Relations, a company dedicated to help business sell its wares to boys and girls from 11 to 19.

She feels the 22 million teenagers here constitute a multi-billion-dollar untapped market, and says:

"Teenagers are an unknown quantity as far as adults are concerned."

The dark-haired, attractive wife of a dentist, Jean observed English teenagers in 1949 when she made an 18-country tour of the continent entirely on her own money.

When she speaks about the unequal opportunities American teenagers have, she knows from experience. Before reaching 21, she had written for several magazines, produced a newspaper teenage column and appeared on radio and television. Jean, who gets letters from teenage fans, and looks like a teenager herself, spent more than five years researching this age group. She says the typical teenager today is at the height of curiosity and eagerness for new experiences.

"He's open minded, more than at any other period in his life. He's enthusiastic but also a bit skeptical because of world conditions. He is better prepared for life than any other teenager in history."

Jean understands teenagers because she is able to speak their language, and she hopes to get American business to do the same. One thing youngsters could learn from Jean is ingenuity.

As Earl Peel—now her vice-president—tells it, he hired Jean about five years ago as his secretary and fired her within two days because "she was the worst secretary I ever had." As Jean was about to leave his office she placed on his desk a written plan of action for Teenage Public Relations—with a bell on it.

"I put the report away and forgot about it," says Earl. "But every time I'd rearrange my papers, the bell would ring. I'd pick up the report and write to Jean."

The bell and the ingenuity paid off in a business which Jean knows best: teenagers.

Another crime of prejudice and passion, no doubt aggravated by the heat, was described by this Telegram headline: "Man Expreses Dislike of Texas—Funeral Plans Indefinite."

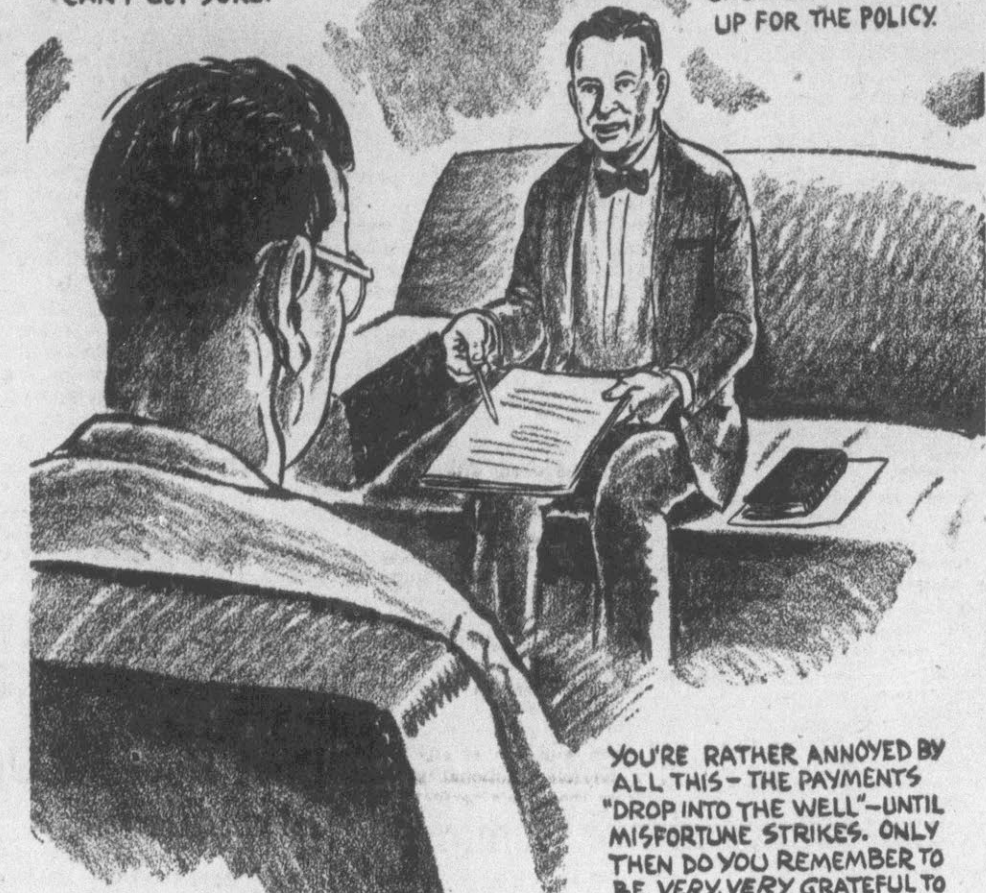

The fight over drinking capacity took place in Kentucky. It seems five men from a place called Broadhead gathered on the Dixie River two miles east of a place called Crab Orchard for a swimming, fishing and drinking party. They were joined by four men from another place called Red Hill. An argument developed over who could drink the most; the Broadhead men or the Red Hill men. The deadly combination of heat and liquor in no time fired the dispute into a knock-down-drag-out fist fight which ended only after the combatants dropped from sheer exhaustion. The dead man, explained Deputy Sheriff Lon Bourne had not been struck with a heavy instrument—"just beat and stomped to death." (Apparently this method of murder is a little more respectable in Kentucky than resort to heavy instruments.)

In the other example of summer crime, a man named Philip E. Ahlm had the fatal misfortune of running into a Texan named Ed Neely at a Hollywood party. During the course of the conversation, Ahlm made some uncomplimentary remarks about Texas and Neely shot him down on the spot. Later, Neely claimed that Ahlm also "kidded" him about his Texas accent and criticized that Texas idol, Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Living as we do in North Carolina, a state with more aggravated assault than any other place in the country, none of us can afford to be too smug about crimes like these described in other sections. On the contrary, we might even be justified in feeling that we are living downright dangerously considering how susceptible the time and place in which we live is to crimes of violence.

Nurse Lady

ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

WALT surprised Cynthia that following morning by asking her if she would like to drive over to Richmond with him. He said there was a health center there that he would like to investigate; he might get some ideas for the additions to the clinic.

"I thought on the way," he added, "we could stop by the hospital and see the Manolai boy. He should be out of his cast next week, and he ought to start having a lot of therapy."

This suited Cynthia, as she wanted to see how Nora was. On their way to the hospital she told Walt what had happened the evening before.

"Why didn't you send for me?" the young doctor asked.

"I did think of it," Cynthia admitted. "But everything happened so fast that it was difficult to think what to do. And if it hadn't been for Norman Nora couldn't have been saved. We would have been too late."

"How did that Brandt fellow happen to be there?"

Cynthia explained that Norman had just flown in from Washington and had phoned.

"Humph . . . That seemed the only comment the doctor intended to make. However, as he helped his assistant nurse out of the car after parking in the space reserved for doctors at the hospital, he added, 'I wish Brandt would stay in Washington. You see entirely too much of him, Cynthia.'"

Cynthia did not reply. She thought, why Walt's jealous! Or else he has taken such an intense dislike to Norman that he thinks it is up to him to save me from Norman's clutches.

She could have told Walt that she intended seeing Norman as much as she wanted to. But there seemed no point in starting an argument. Besides, Nora was the one on her mind now.

There was a no visitors sign on Nora's door, but the floor superintendent told Cynthia she thought it would be all right for her to go in for a few minutes. "Just don't stay long," she advised. "I think it might do her good to see you."

At first Cynthia thought Nora was sleeping; her eyes were closed, the long dark lashes against her pale cheeks. She looked rested and peaceful, though, not frighteningly still and ghostly as she had last night. Then her eyelids fluttered open, she stirred, sighed, looked up and saw Cynthia.

"Nora darling," Cynthia said. She bent over to press her own cheek against Nora's. "Oh, darling, I'm so thankful you're all right. We're all so thankful."

"I know," Nora said. "I'm thankful too, Cyn. I didn't suppose I would be, but when I woke up a while ago and saw the sunlight streaming through the windows, a glimpse of such blue sky above—well, I found I was glad to be alive, after all."

"Of course you are!"

"It was wrong of me to do what I did," Nora said. Her wide eyes looked into her friend's. "Do you think I will be punished, Cyn—do you think God will forgive me?"

Cynthia knew that in Nora's religion it was a sin to take one's own life. But she knew that this religion would give Nora the strength she needed to go on living, to accept life no matter what it brought.

"There isn't any doubt in my mind," she said, smiling back into her friend's eyes. "God has forgiven you, darling! And He will help you if you ask Him to." For Cynthia's prayers had been answered and that was the kind of faith she had.

To her further relief, Nora now began to cry, quietly, almost silently, big tears making little rivulets down her pale cheeks. Cynthia did not try to wipe away, Cynthia did not wipe them away, either. She knew that this was what Nora needed. She let her cry, holding one of her hands in hers. Then as soon as she saw that Nora's tears were subsiding, Cynthia said she must go. "I promised not to stay too long," she told Nora. "You must try to rest now. And I'll come back tomorrow."

Nora did not say anything; she just nodded and gave Cynthia her wisitful, tremulous smile. But Cynthia knew that she would be all right.

She was, therefore, somewhat provoked when, after she had told Walt about Nora, he said brusquely, "I'm afraid she'll do it again."

"Do what?"

"Try to commit suicide." As a doctor, Walt put it bluntly. "They always do, once they get that neurotic."

"But Nora isn't neurotic."

"She must be. She ought to be placed under the care of a good psychiatrist."

Cynthia felt indignant. "I don't agree with you at all, Nora's had a terrible emotional shock. Aside from that, she's perfectly normal."

"Anyone who would do what she did, just because her love life had gone wrong, couldn't be quite normal." Walt was insistent or stubborn, in what he thought. They had reached his car.

Cynthia almost felt like telling him she had changed her mind and did not want to go to Richmond. It would mean spending almost all of her precious Sunday afternoon with him. If they were going to argue—and if Walt was going to be grumpy and superior, as he had the last few days—she could have spent her afternoon more pleasantly and profitably at home.

"Naturally you wouldn't be able to believe that love could be that important to anyone," she said.

"What do you mean by that?" He turned to throw her a glance. Her head was held high, her small chin firm.

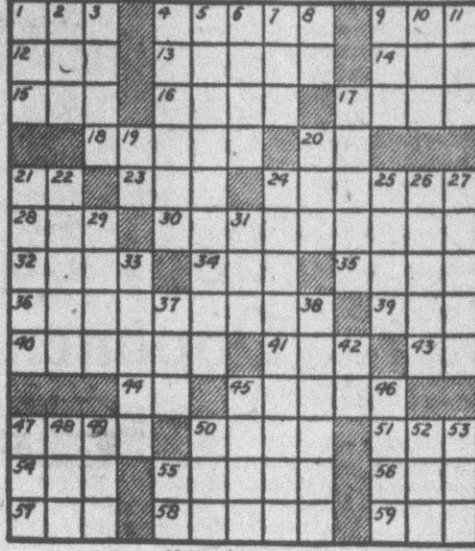

"I mean you're not a man, Walter Sellars—you're just a machine. I doubt if you have any emotions. For example, you informed me the other day that you were going to marry me! You didn't say it was because you loved me, and I'm beginning to think you have some other reason behind it."

"What other reason could I possibly have? I never thought of marrying any woman until I thought of marrying you. That ought to be proof enough of how I feel."

This was no time, the young doctor thought, to try to discuss such matters. He had to devote most of his attention to his driving. He had to maintain a fair rate of speed in order to get to Richmond, look over the health center and get it. Besides, she was so worked up, she didn't know whether what he had just said was true or not. "I see you don't deny it," Walt said sternly. He pulled the car sharply over to one side of the road turned off the ignition. "See here, Cynthia, you're supposed to be engaged to me. Maybe I didn't tell you how much I love you. I admit I'm not good at making fancy speeches. Maybe I do seem engrossed in my work. But if you had any idea how much I've thought about you lately, how worried over you I've been—the sleep I've lost—I'm sure you wouldn't talk the way you do."

That was a little better, Cynthia thought. Walt looked so grim, so much in earnest, there was little doubt that what he had just said was true. Maybe Walt did love her—in his own fashion.

Infantry's Role Emphasized By Russian Organ

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian armed forces are told by their own newspaper, Red Star, that the foot soldier is still the man who wins wars and that the infantry cannot be replaced by air or naval superiority.

American naval landings in the Korean War — at Inchon and elsewhere — are cited as proof.

"The aggressive war against the Korean people unleashed by the imperialists of the U.S.A.," Red Star says, "proved once more that neither aviation nor naval power can substitute for the foot soldier. Air and naval superiority cannot compensate for the absence of infantry. In this way the 'theory' of converting domination at sea and in the air into domination on the ground could not be proved by experience . . ."

Early Bird Must Buy Something

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — You have to get up early to outsmart Beirut bazaar merchant. At any other time of the day, these merchants drive a hard bargain. But if you are the first to enter the shop that day, you become a favored customer. If you show signs of leaving without buying, the merchant may slash his prices 90 per cent. He might follow you to the street and beg you to name your price.

His panic stems from an ancient tradition which says a merchant must sell the first customer of the morning or risk bad business all day.

This is one of the many trading habits which have clung to the "souk," or bazaar, of this Levantine seaport since the ancient Phoenicians bought and sold here thousands of years ago. In many areas Beirut has become a modern city, but in the heart of town the souk still retains the appearance and habits of another age.

Old Buggy Whip Tree Cut Down

ROLLA, Mo. (AP)—They cut down this Ozark city's famous "buggy whip" tree the other day. It was 90 years old and not so hardy anymore.

The sprout was planted by Robert Love, early day Phelps county sheriff. Hurrying home from Jefferson City, he was caught in a flash flood at the Gasconade River ford but managed to save the tree and himself.

He cut a silver maple branch for a buggy whip and just stuck the branch in the mud when he got home. The sprout outlived him by many years.

VACATION BY LAND — Vacationers are going into the Superior National Forest roadless area this year by amphibious truck, ordinary trucks, buses and by foot. A federal order prohibits use of airplanes to get into the resort area, being preserved as a "wilderness" region.

Casey Hopes Rivals Eat Each Other

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

The American League pennant chase is developing into a war of nerves. Cleveland Manager Al Lopez says he isn't afraid of the Chicago White Sox. Haven't got the pitching to last out the long season. More concerned with the New York Yankees. But the Tribe still has the better club. Chicago Manager Paul Richards merely shrugs off last month, when his club went into first place. He expected it all along. The problem right now is to lick the Yanks, he says.

New York Manager Casey Stengel doesn't have much to say. He's been spending his time looking up at the other two hoping they'd eat each other. Right now, it appears that Stengel's hopes have been coming true. Last week, the Indians swept the Sox four straight games. Had they been able to do the same with the Yankees, they would have had a run-away of the race. But the Sox won all four finishing operations with a 3-0, 8-2 double victory yesterday.

The Yanks who have been taking advantage of the second-divison clubs, won their ninth in a row and 12th in their last 14 by slugging the Washington Senators 7-3 to climb within half a game of the Indians. The White Sox are three games back as the chase continues to tighten.

Billy Pierce, back for the White Sox after being sidelined with a sore arm, tossed a two-hitter in the first game shutout yesterday and Virgil Trucks came back in the nightcap to hold the Tribe to five hits. Until the Indians got to Trucks for two runs in the ninth, they had gone 23 innings without scoring a run.

Minnie Minoso hit a two-run homer and Matt Batts hit one with none on to account for all the first-game scoring. In the afterpiece, bonus ringer Ron Jackson homered with two on in the third. That was all Trucks needed. Ray Narleski was tagged with the first-game loss as Bob Lemon took the second.

Except for the seventh inning, when Bob Grim loaded the bases with none out, the Yanks had no particular problems with the Senators. Johnny Sain came in to rescue the youngster, who got credit for his 10th success. In other American League action, Detroit whipped Baltimore 2-1 and the Boston Red Sox won a double-header from the Philadelphia A's 18-0 and 11-1. The National League action left the New York Giants still 5 1/2 games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants thumped Pittsburgh 13-7 in the first game of a double-header, but dropped the second 5-1. Brooklyn edged Philadelphia 8-7 in the first game of a twin bill but lost the second 3-1.

Cincinnati and Milwaukee split a double-header, the Redlegs taking the first 6-5 and the Braves winning the second by an identical 6-5 count. St. Louis nipped Chicago 4-3 in the other National League game. Al Aber, who retired the first 17 Baltimore batters, needed help from Billy Hoett and Steve Gromek to protect his victory after Jim Fridley hit a home run in the eighth. The winning margin was provided by rookie second baseman Reno Bertoia, who got his first major league hit—a home run—in the fourth.

The Red Sox moved into sixth place from the American League cellar by virtue of their double triumph over the A's. They had 40 hits, including four by Ted Williams who now is batting .367. The A's lost Gus Zernial, probably for the season, when the big outfielder slipped and broke his left collarbone while attempting to field a line drive in the ninth inning of the first game. Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan were the winning pitchers. The Giants massacred the Pirates on six home runs—including No. 31 by Willie Mays—in the first game. But in the second, Dick Littlefield, who rarely could get American League batters out during his tenure with St. Louis, Detroit, Boston and Chicago, snuffed them. The game was close until the Pirates broke it open with three runs in the eighth. Jim Hearn was the victor.

The Dodgers had their troubles with the Phils. They dissipated a six-run bulge in the first game and finally had to win it in the eighth on doubles by Billy Cox and Junior Gilliam. Earlier, Gil Hodges had clouted two home runs and Carl Furillo, one. But Carl Erskine couldn't stand the prosperity and the Phils tied it with six in the eighth. The second game was tied at 1-1 going into the seventh inning. Del Ennis hit a home run off Don Newcombe to break it up. Herman Wehner with an assist from Robin Roberts, stopped the Brooks.

Jim Command made his first major league hit, a grand slam home run, in the Phils' big eighth inning of the first game. There is nothing in the record books to indicate if any other major league players have hit grand slam homers for their first major league hit. The Redlegs beat the Braves in the first game on back-to-back home runs by Gus Bell and Ted Kluszewski. Bell also collected a home run by Gus Bell and Ted for the losing cause in the second game. Joe Cunningham hit his fifth home run since joining the Cardinals June 30 to lead the Redbirds to their triumph over the Cubs. The blow broke a 3-all tie in the sixth.

Odds Soar On Nat'l Loop All-Stars On Eve Of Contest

By JOE REICHLER
CLEVELAND (AP)—Two 11th-hour changes in the American League pitching staff have caused the odds on the already favored National League to soar to 8-5 today for tomorrow's annual All-Star Game.

BULLETIN
CLEVELAND (AP)—Robin Roberts, Philadelphia Phils' right-hander, and southpaw Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees were named today as the starting pitchers for tomorrow's 21st all-star game.

Nobody here could recall when one league ruled such a prohibitive favorite over the other, even during the years when the power-packed American League captured four straight from 1946 through 1949.

Now, on the eve of the 21st clash, the shoe is on the other foot. Not only does the National own a four-game winning streak but it has most of the long-ball hitters.

Until New York's Allie Reynolds and Cleveland's Mike Garcia were declared physically unfit, it appeared the American League's seemingly superior pitching might offset the National's numerous home run hitters.

Reynolds begged off because of a pulled groin muscle and Garcia was excused because of a ruptured blood vessel in a finger. In their places, Manager Casey Stengel chose Sandy Consuegra, crafty Chicago White Sox right-hander, and Irv Noren, currently hot Yankee outfielder. Noren probably will see action only as a pinch hitter.

Both managers—Stengel and rookie Walter Alton—were mum concerning their pitchers but the expected crowd of 65,000 in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium probably was due to see a battle of right-handers—at least during the first three innings.

Based on the starting lineups, which are predominantly right-handed, and by process of elimination, the field narrowed down to Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phils and Bob Keegan of the Chicago White Sox as the opposing hurlers. Both will be well rested by Tuesday. Keegan has done no pitching since Friday, nor has Roberts except for a brief mopup job Sunday.

The only other well rested pitchers are the Yankees' Whitey Ford and the Milwaukee's Jim Wilson, who replaced the injured Harvey Haddix, does not figure to start. Ford and Antonelli are left-handers.

Roberts, although sporting a sear (for him) 11-8 record this season, is a veteran All-Star competitor. He was the starting pitcher in three of the last four games, all winning ones for the National League. Keegan (12-3) a sophomore, is enjoying his first outstanding season in the majors. Stengel, the all-winning World Series wonder, who has yet to triumph in four All-Star games as manager, may upset the odds and start Ford against the National League lineup, which is packed with left-handed power as represented by Stan Musial, Duke Snider and Ted Kluszewski. But Ford (6-6) has had a spotty season. Dean Stone of Washington, his only other available southpaw is strictly a gamble.

All Stengel's right-handers, with the exception of Keegan, worked either Saturday night or yesterday. Baltimore's Bob Turley, Cleveland's Bob Lemon and the White Sox' Virgil Trucks pitched yesterday. Washington's Bob Porterfield and Consuegra were on the mound Saturday.

Alton appears in a better way for pitching. Should Roberts start, his second pitcher, in all likelihood, will be Antonelli, whose 13-2 record is the best in either league. After Antonelli, the Brooklyn pilot can come back with Marv Grissom, the Giants' ace relief right-hander, or southpaw Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's veteran southpaw, who has three All-Star game performances under his belt. Spahn pitched Saturday.

Right-hander Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, who saw action yesterday, don't figure to be called on unless absolutely needed. Wilson also pitched yesterday.

Falkland continued its drive for first place in the Tobacco State League over the weekend by sweeping victories from Belvoir on Saturday and Sunday. Falkland's double win now puts them only one game behind first place Williams-ton.

In Saturday's game at Falkland, Runt Waters fired a seven-hit, one-run job at the Belvoir squad as his teammates supplied him with a 10-run attack for a 10-1 victory.

Bob Boyette, Paul Jones, and Ralph Caldwell, the former Tarboro and Durham star, led the hitting for Falkland with two hits apiece. J. C. Hammill had a perfect five-for-five to lead Belvoir hitting.

The second game was a Sunday game at Belvoir and proved no contest at all as the Falkland team pounded out 22 hits to win 19-4.

Caldwell again was the big spark for Falkland with a homer, a triple, and a double. Mayo Allen led Belvoir with two hits.

Mark Stancill went all the way for Falkland to gain credit for the win. William Watson was the favorite Falkland target and was charged with the loss.

Next week the high-flying sluggers from Falkland will take on Robersonville in Robersonville on Saturday and in Falkland on Sunday. Falkland will probably go with Teddy Barnes or Ken Hall on the mound.

The Falkland record is now 16 wins and 7 losses for the season's play.

The Kiwanis team pulled a big upset Saturday morning with an 8-3 win over the Jaycees in a North State League game. The Kiwanis team took advantage of several breaks in pulling the game out of the fire.

Four runs in the second inning proved to be the downfall of the Jaycees. The four runs gave the Kiwanis a 6-1 lead and the Jaycees could never catch up after that.

The loss knocks the Jaycees out of the race for the pennant of the second half. If the Lions lose all the rest of their games and the Jaycees win all the rest of theirs the two teams will be tied with the V.F.W. If the V.F.W. beat the Kiwanis then they will have to beat the Lions in their final two games to win.

Farmville Sweeps Two In Central Loop Play

Farmville swept a doubleheader from Norlina in Central Carolina League action on Saturday and Sunday, winning by scores of 12-5 and 9-1.

The second place Farmville team exploded for seven runs in the fourth inning to make the victory easy. The Norlina team had battled Lefty Hinson for five runs in the first two innings until Benton came in to put out the fire and pitch shutout ball the rest of the game.

Tommy Cole led the hitting for the Farmville squad with three hits in five trips. Price led Norlina with 2 for 4.

In the Sunday game at Norlina, Sonny Brantley pitched a sparkling five-hit job at the Norlina squad as his teammates racked Lord Dickman for 11 hits. Millard Webb led the Farmville hitting with four hits in five trips to the plate including a home run. Tommy Cole and Luther McKeel also homered for Farmville. Eddie West, the State College football quarterback, had two for four and led the Norlina team at bat.

The Farmville team is now two games behind Smithfield in League action with a 17-6 record compared to Smithfield's 19-4 mark. Farmville gets a chance to erase some of that margin Wednesday night when Smithfield comes to Farmville at 8 o'clock.

Elks Win 16th Straight; Exchange Tie For Third

The Elks club smashed to its sixteenth straight victory of the year Saturday afternoon as they smashed out 14 hits in recording a 19-5 win over the Moose. In the second game Saturday, the Exchange team moved into a tie for third with the Moose by virtue of a 13-1 win over the Pepsi-Cola.

Merrill Bynum's home run was the big blow for the Elks. It came in the fourth inning with two runners on base and the Elks was leading only 5-5. That hit started the Elks rolling and the Moose didn't have a chance after. The big bats of the league leaders boomed out 11 runs in the fourth and the game resembled a track meet with the Elks trying to outrun their teammates on the bases.

Bill Jenkins, Bynum, and Bobby Arthur all had three hits to lead the Elks. Denny Hardee went all the way for the victory for Coach Tom Rowlett's team.

The Exchange team looked sharp as it finally got good pitching. Bill Clapp and Larry Roberts pitched magnificent ball in recording the win for Coach Neely James' team. Clapp went until two were out in the third and Roberts went the rest of the way. Clapp pitched as far as he could according to the Little League law that allows a pitcher to pitch only six innings in a week. Clapp and Roberts both pitched the game against the Elks on Tuesday so it worked that together they could go the distance against the Pepees.

The fire-balling pair struck out 13 batters and gave up only three hits. Jack Whitley had two of those hits to lead the Pepees at bat. Clapp's three for four led the Exchange at bat. Jeff Fountain smacked a home run for the Exchange in the fourth inning.

This afternoon the Moose play the Exchange at 5 o'clock in an important Tar Heel League game.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano's 1955 opponent may emerge from Wednesday's heavyweight match at Madison Square Garden between Hurricane Tommy Jackson of New York and Nino Valdes of Havana.

Although Jackson was an early 2-1 favorite, the price is narrowing and Valdes might even enter the ring as the favorite.

The 10-round bout will be televised by CBS. Jackson weighed 192½ at Friday's checkup and Valdes 207 pounds.

The Hurricane, 22, beaten twice in 20 pro fights, is making his second start since he was defeated by Jimmy Slade. Valdes, 29, has an eight-fight winning streak on a 30-8-2 record. The Cuban is No. 2 among the heavyweight challengers and Jackson is No. 5.

Liles Takes Win At JC Carnival

FARMVILLE—Graydon Liles won the Jaycees Golf Tournament at the Farmville Jaycee Sports Carnival in a sudden death playoff from George Mercer of Goldsboro.

Liles parred the extra hole while Mercer bagged a birdie and the Farmville resident kept the championship in the city. Both golfers had scores of 111 after 27 holes.

Joe Exum of Greenville was the consolation winner in the championship flight with a score of 126. Twenty-three golfers participated in the tournament.

In the tennis matches, Bill Caulder of Henderson and formerly of Farmville teamed with Robert Pierce of Farmville to defeat Charlie Fitzgerald and Fred Reuben of Rocky Mount in the final round.

In an all-star baseball game between two teams from the Little League ended with a 13-12 score in favor of the Veterans-Jaycees over the Rotary-Kiwanians.

A dance in the school gymnasium brought the day's activities to an end. An estimated 300 people attended.

Tiny Disk Plays Big Role In Any Germ Warfare

By ELTON C. FAC
WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest and most valuable gadget the military has for countering germ warfare attack is a flimsy disc of paperlike substance, slightly larger than a silver dollar.

The chief of the Army's chemical warfare service, Maj. Gen. William M. Creasy, calls it a significant step toward "development of a revolutionary detection device around which a workable defense" against stealthy bacteriological warfare is being built.

In a recent speech, Creasy mentioned "a very thin filter which will trap bacteria, permitting them to be identified within 15 hours, or one sixth of the time previously required."

The Defense Department, in response to inquiries, today displayed the gadget, an unimpressive disc looking like it might have been cut from a thin sheet of cross-ruled paper.

But its production took the brains of some wartime German bacteriological warfare experts and improvements for mass producing by American experts who captured similar filters at the end of World War II.

Like the membrane filters used in all laboratories, this one is designated as a "millipore" filter. Its extreme porosity allows water to run through it quickly and freely, but trapping on its surface all micro-organisms or their poisonous products which constitute one of the chief instruments of bacteriological warfare.

On the surface of the disc marked off in small squares, are deposited all germs or their products in a liquid—water, milk or other drink. The squares provide a method for bacteria count.

Under a microscope and other common testing apparatus of a laboratory, the presence of a dangerously high bacterial count, together with the type of bacteria, can be spotted in a matter of hours.

Until development of this method a gelatin plate-culture method was needed, a process requiring almost four days.

About 300 filters can be packed in a small, pocket-size container. The former detection system required a case of glass plates as big as a heavy desk for a corresponding amount of equipment.

Hopes Airplane Will Be Claimed

ROCKY MOUNT, Va. (AP)—There's an airplane on Mrs. Mary Law's farm property here and Mrs. Law sure does wish its owner would come and take it somewhere else.

Trouble is, Mrs. Law doesn't know who owns it. Neither does the Civil Aeronautics Administration, which has investigated.

The plane has been in a field on Mrs. Law's farm since early Friday afternoon, when it made a forced landing, flipped over and was damaged. A man, a woman and a child slept unhurt from the craft. The man told Mrs. Law he was going to nearby Martinsville to see what could be done about moving the plane. He and the two others left.

Mrs. Law hasn't seen him since. Three men came to the farm Friday night to "look over the situation," Mrs. Law says, but they left and have not returned. Meantime, the CAA has run up a blind alley trying to identify the plane and its pilot.

Mrs. Law doesn't care who owns it, though. She just wants somebody to come and take it away.

The New York Marine News stated that, "every completed port, such as the State Ports of North Carolina, is an added national asset."

Relief Supplies Pouring In Flood Stricken Area

By RICHARD O'REGAN
VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Relief supplies for thousands of homeless victims of central Europe's worst flood, in centuries poured into stricken Austria and Germany today.

Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and the Saar were the first to offer bedding, food and clothes to thousands of families made homeless by the raging Danube and a dozen tributaries. Their five-day rampage has claimed at least 24 lives on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The aid began to arrive as rescue workers struggled to reach submerged Austrian and German towns where inhabitants were still stranded on rooftops and upper floors. More than 3,000 American soldiers have been taking part in the rescue work.

Sketchy reports from Czechoslovakia and Hungary indicated those two Danube Valley countries have been hard hit by the floods. Prague and Budapest radios said Communist authorities had ordered entire farm communities evacuated and that many hamlets were under water and crops destroyed.

It was not known what the death toll was in the two Iron Curtain lands. Nine deaths were reported last night in Communist East Germany.

In West Germany, skies cleared and flood waters began to subside, but thousands of acres of rich farmland were still under water. Countless houses, bridges and industrial plants were damaged—some beyond repair.

In the venerable town of Passau, surrounded by the Danube, Inn and Ilz rivers, waters inundated at least a third of the community. An estimated 1,000 were homeless there.

While the worst seemed over in Germany, the churning Danube forced thousands more victims from farms and villages along its banks in Austria.

The steel city of Linz, where 24,000 persons have been evacuated, desperately attempted to stem the tide of destruction. Police and firemen were still rescuing hun-drede from rooftops and upper floors.

Nearly 40 water-soaked houses sank beneath the flood crest at Linz. Municipal authorities warned police to shoot all looters.

The Danube spilled over Vienna's commercial docks last night, flooding cellars and halting rail traffic. The main railroad linking Vienna to the west also was inundated and travelers were forced to detour.

Two U.S. C-119 Flying Boxcars dropped 25,000 empty sandbag covers at Straubing. Hundreds of volunteers, U.S. soldiers and German border police worked feverishly to close gaps appearing at Deggendorf.

U.S. helicopters stood by to fly more sandbags to the critical areas. The 'copters and Army boats have rescued more than 600 persons since the floods began.

SPECIAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF RESALE OF REAL PROPERTY

Under and by virtue of the power and authority contained in a certain order made by H. L. Lewis, Assistant Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, on July 7, 1954, in a certain special proceeding entitled D. Paul Tripp, et als, vs. Dessie Tripp Brock, et als, same being special proceeding No. 5874, in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, the bid at the sale held on June 24th, 1954, having been raised and said Clerk having ordered a resale of said property, the undersigned commissioner will offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash, at public auction, at the courthouse door in Greenville, North Carolina, on Friday, July 23, 1954, at 12 o'clock noon, those certain lots or parcels of land, in the City of Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina, on the north side of Tar River, east of State Highway No. 11, just north of Farmer's Warehouse, and specifically described as follows:

First: Lot No. 3 of the R. H. Tripp property on the south side of Martin (Perkins) Street, BEGINNING at a point on the southern side of said street, marked by an iron stake, 135 feet East of N. C. Highway No. 11; thence S. 20 W. 150 feet; thence S. 70 E. 70 feet; thence N. 20 E. 150 feet to the southern side of Martin Street; thence along the southern line of said street N. 70 W. to the point of the BEGINNING.

The above parcel of land is shown as Lot No. 3 on map made of the R. H. Tripp property by Roger L. Mann Jr., C. E., on June 14, 1954. Second: BEGINNING at the southwest intersection of Martin Street and North Pitt Street; thence along the western line of North Pitt Street 150 feet; thence parallel with Martin Street N. 70 W. a distance of 80 feet; thence N. 20 E. parallel with North Pitt Street a distance of 150 feet to the southern property line of Martin Street; thence S. 70 E. a distance of 80 feet to the point of the BEGINNING.

The above parcel of land is shown as Lot No. 4 on map made of the R. H. Tripp property by Roger L. Mann Jr., C. E., on June 14, 1954. A map of said property can be seen in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County, North Carolina, in the office of J. H. Harrell, Attorney, and at the Farmer's Warehouse in Greenville, North Carolina.

This the 7th day of July, 1954.

Unopposed For President's Job

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, commander of Paraguay's armed forces, won hands down in yesterday's presidential election. He was unopposed.

Stroessner, candidate of the Colorado party, Paraguay's only legal political group, takes office Aug. 15 to fill the unexpired term of fellow party member Federico Chaves, whom he toppled in a revolt last May. The term runs until February 1958.

Both Meetings Meant Trouble

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Thomas Peta and Howard Shafer never see each other again, it will be all right with both of them. Recently, their cars collided on a street here. The damage wasn't extensive but two weeks later they collided head-on on a highway near Orlando. This time, both cars were wrecked and Peta was hospitalized with a pelvic fracture.

The State Dock at Wilmington has three acres of hard top open storage area.

Farewell Ride On Old Locomotive

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Eight carloads of railroad fans took a sentimental journey yesterday—a farewell trip aboard the nation's last camelback locomotive in active service.

Old No. 774, the 41-year-old Jersey Central engine, chugged her way down to the north Jersey shore for the excursion, sponsored by the north Jersey chapter of the National Railway Historical Society.

What lies ahead for No. 774? The Jersey Central says it hasn't decided. Perhaps she'll wind up at the railroad's boneyard at Elizabethport. Then again, she may have a brighter future if sent to the Baltimore & Ohio transportation museum at Baltimore.

A camelback gets its name because the cab is in front of the firebox and astride the boiler. Old No. 774 made her last business run in April, taking commuters from Cranford to Jersey City.

Candidates Left No Impression

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Two days after three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor of Kansas appeared at a rally here, a Salina Journal reporter asked 20 persons on the street if they could name the aspirants.

Two named all, 5 named one and 13 could name none.

The main warehouse at the State Dock in Wilmington is 86,000 square feet large.

Well Soaked As Big Main Bursts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California has been having a heat wave, so three families were really startled when an apparent cloudburst hit their houses yesterday.

The half-hour torrent poured down fire place chimneys and soaked floors and rugs in the Philip Kemmer, David J. Manns and M. P. Marinas homes.

Then city employees stopped the geyser shooting from a big water main that had burst in the Silver Lake district, ripping a deep opening in a parkway.

City's Banners Welcomed Rain

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Banners, displayed for a statewide meeting, got caught in a heavy rain. The convention over, curious residents wonder why they weren't removed.

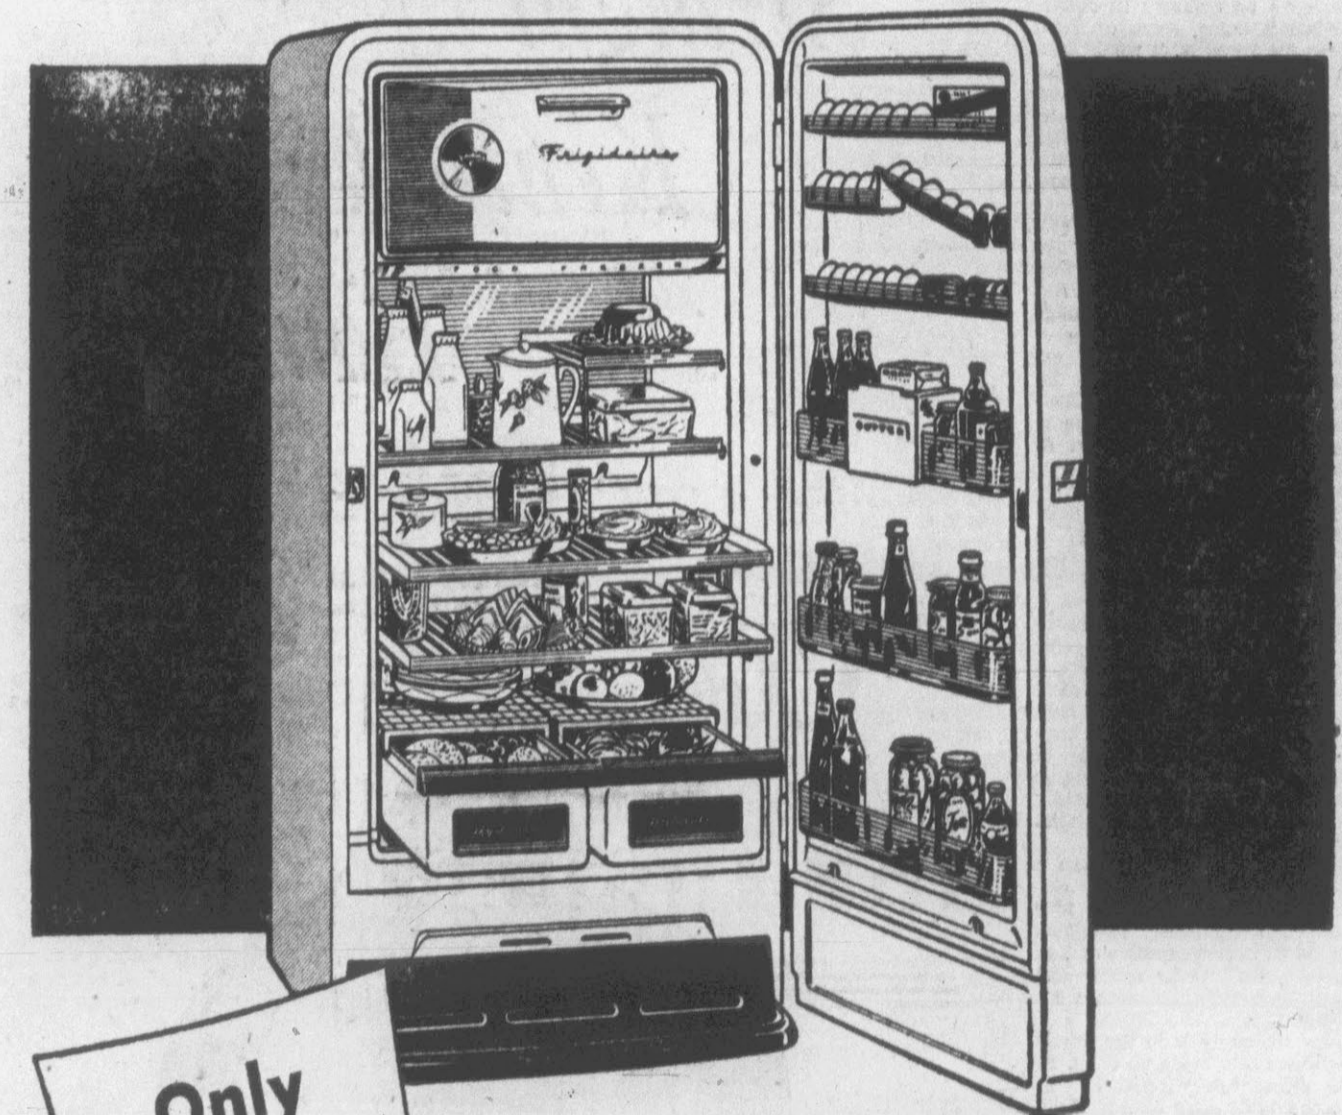

"We're so tickled with this three-inch rain, we decided to leave the flags up for it," grinned Ray Faubion, Chamber of Commerce manager.

All transit sheds and warehouses of the North Carolina State Docks at Wilmington and Morehead City are equipped with the latest sprinkler and deluge systems as a means to prevent and overcome fires.

RESCUED FROM INSIDE CHIMNEY—Joseph Laore, 21, is removed from the chimney of the Chicago Yacht Club at the Monroe Street harbor on Lake Michigan. Police and firemen broke a hole in the base of the 100-foot-high chimney to reach Laore, who told police he had been stripped of his clothes and beaten by four Negroes after midnight. He apparently had been carried to the roof of the one-story building and dropped feet first into the chimney. He was removed to an oxygen tent in a hospital. (AP Wirephoto)

'Out Of Season' Foods Available

By MRS. LILLIE LITTLE
Just recently one of our Pitt County Home Demonstration Club members said that she did not know of any one thing that had done more to change our way of eating than the Home Freezer. There is no "out of season" for products of your garden, orchard or farm.

The preservation of many foods by freezing is superior to other methods in maintaining the appearance and nutritive value of the finished product. This method of preservation has a special appeal to the modern homemaker because it is quick, convenient and easy. Less cooking is involved — the discomfort of working in a hot kitchen on a summer day is reduced.

The rapid growth in popularity of preserving fresh fruits, vegetables and meats the "frozen way" is evident by the increasing number of home freezers and by the sales of a tremendous volume of commercially frozen foods. There is an endless variety of prepared foods being frozen which certainly makes modern meal preparation much simpler.

Just as no one costume could be suitable for every occasion, no one home freezer could be designed which would meet the needs of every family. So if you do not already have a freezer be sure to study your situation carefully before making your choice. The factors to consider are: the size of the family, the availability of fresh food stuffs for home freezing, the installation space available, the extent and necessary allocation of the family budget, the kind and amount of entertaining planned.

Different freezers are designed for different uses. In general they are for — 1. storing frozen foods, 2. small amounts of freezing and storage, 3. larger amounts of freezing and storage, 4. chilling, freezing and storage. So buy to fit your needs.

With the availability of frozen foods in three ways — the home freezer, the freezer locker plant, and the commercially frozen foods, most of us are learning "to live the frozen food way." Let's just consider what happens when foods are frozen. Everyone is familiar with the changes that take place in a strawberry as it stands at room temperature. If it is slightly green it will deepen in color and become fully ripe. Then as it stands, this perfect ripeness begins to deteriorate; the tissues soften and the juices since changing its 75 foot antenna from the 250 foot tower to the 804 foot tower.

 Letters and cards have come from Bayside, Virginia; Linden, Laurinburg, Fayetteville, Elizabeth City, Warrenton, Lexington, Warsaw, and White Lake in North Carolina; Orangeburg, Aiken, Charleston, and Kingstree in South Carolina; and Drexel Hill, Pennsylvania.
 Thursday Breakdown
 WNCT left the air last Thursday to re-construct one portion of the coaxial cable which connects the antenna to the transmitter. A bend in the cable was prohibiting the transmitter from operating at top efficiency.
 Ship Condition
 In some areas close in to the station a ship condition has occurred since WNCT changed to the high tower. Chief Engineer Hank Triebly says, "this is caused by the signal skipping over some areas close in. Viewers having this trouble should consult their servicemen for a solution."
 Baseball
 Tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 12:15, WNCT will telecast the All-Star Major League baseball game between the American and National League teams.
 Show Changes
 Beginning tomorrow evening Playhouse 95 will replace Strange Adventure in the 7:45 to 8:00 spot. On July 31 Wild Bill Hickcock will alternate with Superman from 10:30 to 11:00 each Saturday morning. On July 17 WNCT will telecast the Arlington classic horse race from 3:30 to 4:00 p.m.

Moscow, China Hinted 'At Odds' In Indochina

Moscow seems to be muscling in on the Chinese Communists in Indonesia. Once again there is a hint of conflict of authority in Asia between Moscow and Peking.
 Last week's appointment of a Soviet ambassador to Indonesia spells trouble for that politically disorganized country of 70 million people. But it also recalls previous indications of conflict over spheres of influence—for example in the Communist parties of India, Japan and Korea—between the Russians and their Chinese allies.
 With Viet Nam in Indochina virtually in the Red pocket, advancing an encirclement of the Asian mainland Indonesia becomes a key country in Communist planning.

Western observers there have been waiting eight months for announcement that the U.S.S.R. would open an embassy in Jakarta. When it came, some of them assured me recently, it would confirm suspicions that the Russians and Chinese disagreed on how Communist revolution should develop in the Indies, whose politics have been in a chaotic state much of the time since they won sovereignty from Holland in 1949.
 The Russians never had an embassy in Jakarta. Four years ago Indonesia took up the matter with Moscow. Nothing was done. But six months ago — after beginnings of an Indonesian party purge — the Russians agreed on an exchange of ambassadors. The Indonesians named one. The Russians did nothing. Then, last week, Moscow appointed Dmitri A. Zhukov to the post.

Zhukov, former ambassador to Chile, has been chief of protocol in the Soviet Foreign Ministry. In addition, he is an expert on areas which Communist jargon calls "colonial and dependent." Indonesia is such an area. Despite its independence, the Communists still refer to the coming "liberation" there.
 The Chinese Communists have had general charge of Red strategy for the Indies. They have a huge embassy in Jakarta with a staff of more than 300. Chinese funds swelled the coffers of the tightly organized Indonesian Communist party.

Last October the party began a purge, eliminating Chinese elements. The party congress four months ago confirmed expulsion from the Central Committee of Tan Ling Djie, Chinese by origin and a party theoretician. Others went out with him.
 Today the party is in the hands of a triumvirate made up of D. N. Aidit, 31, secretary general who has been in Moscow. M. H. Lukman, 24, first deputy secretary and son of a Moslem religious teacher, and Njoto, 29, permanent representative in Indonesia of the Communist World Federation of Trade Unions and president of its estate labor section. Njoto, who also has been to Moscow, heads the Communist-dominated Trade Union Federation.

The Chinese were aligned at the March congress. Only Soviet Premier Malenkov's portrait was displayed with Aidit's on the stage. That of Mao Tse-tung was in the wings.
 The Communist party, with about 126,000 members at the moment, is exceedingly strong in Indonesia. It has only 29 seats of 216 in Parliament, but the others are distributed among 18 parties so the Communists hold the balance of power. They have wed themselves to the Nationalist (PNI) party, which now rules uneasily. The Communists can cause the Cabinet's fall at will.

 Although the party publicly denounces terrorism, it has infiltrated terrorist groups.
 The party is carrying out forceful and incessant propaganda in the countryside to convince the peasants of the worth of communism never at any time offending the peasants' Moslem religious feelings.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today with many substantial gains in the list.

The rise continued the swing ahead into new high ground scored last week.

Gains were largely fractional with some extended to between 1 and 2 points. Losses were small. Trading in large blocks was a feature of the session and the pace was pushed to the two and a half million level. Friday's total with the market rising was 2,240,000 shares.

Steels did well, and also higher were the utilities, rubbers, aircrafts, distillers, chemicals, movie issues, railroad, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

ratified the six-nation project, which calls for an international army to defend Europe. The United States views such joint action by the Europeans themselves as a necessary bulwark against the Soviet threat, but the French in particular have balked on grounds it opens the door to German rearmament.

Official sources in London said today American and British diplomats had worked out a short, four-power treaty to give West Germany near-independence this year if France fails to ratify the EDC Treaty.

These sources said the treaty, which would be signed by the United States, Britain, France and West Germany, would give the Bonn republic power to control most of its own affairs but would not provide for German rearmament outside of EDC.

Iran To Reject Soviet Protest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran is reported preparing to reject a Russian protest against Iranian membership in the Western defense network on grounds it does not menace Soviet security.

Commenting on last week's Soviet note warning that Iran's participation in a Western defense bloc would violate a 27-year-old Iranian-Soviet friendship pact a highly placed source said last night: "We have not yet taken part in any bloc which might threaten the security of the Soviet Union, and we do not see any reason why we cannot take part in any kind of regional defense for maintaining our security."

Two Calls For Local Firemen

Firemen were called to the home of Della Davis at 1316 Clark Street Sunday at 5:11 a.m. when a sofa caught fire.

Only the sofa was damaged in the blaze believed to have been started by a cigarette.

The fire department was also called to the Export Tobacco Company last night when the automatic sprinkler system went off. No fire was found, however.

Israeli-Egyptian Clash Kills Seven

JERUSALEM (AP)—Another flare-up on the tense Israel-Egypt border costing the lives of six Egyptian soldiers and one Israeli posed a new problem today for the U.N. Palestine armistice commission.

Reports of the latest incident came yesterday as the commission issued a statement blaming both Arabs and Jews for the June 30-July 2 shooting across the no-man's land dividing Jerusalem.

The commission is scheduled to continue its discussion on that fray today.

Both Egyptian and Israeli sources accused each other of setting off the new skirmish which broke out Saturday night near Gaza.

Egypt accused Israel of armed aggression at the frontier post of Deir Elbalah and demanded an emergency meeting of the armistice group. A detailed charge made in Cairo said besides the six Egyptians killed, four were missing and two wounded.

An Israeli spokesman said one Israeli soldier was killed and two wounded in an Egyptian attack on an Israeli patrol near the Gaza strip.

Commenting on the earlier shooting in Jerusalem in which nine persons were killed and 83 wounded, Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, Danish chief of the armistice commission, said both Israel and Jordan had violated their cease-fire. But he added it was impossible to tell who fired the first shot.

Autos Collide At City Intersection

Cars operated by Hayes Austin of 307 Summit Street and William Garrison, Negro, of Winterville Route 3 were involved in a collision at the corner of Dickinson Avenue and Tenth streets Saturday.

Damage to Austin's auto amounted to $5 and to Garrison's, $2. No charges were placed in the accident.

Plan Questioning Alleged Witness

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami detectives returned Walter Lee Yow here from Georgia for further questioning today about his story that he saw 7-year-old Judith Ann Roberts raped and murdered last Wednesday.

Detectives Charles Sapp and I. J. Whitman said the 44-year-old former convict's story was vague and full of discrepancies but consistent enough to warrant bringing him back. He was arrested in Marietta, Ga., Saturday for vagrancy.

Yow told officers he was with the man who stole Judith Ann, daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, from her bed in the home of her grandparents.

Sapp said Yow related at first that he saw his companion rape the child, then smash her head with a rock, but later insisted he waited in the car some distance away while the other man took the girl into a wooded area off fashionable Bayshore Drive.

Then Yow declared he made up the story to get out of Georgia and back to Florida because he had been told that Georgia officers would "bash in his head" if he fell into their hands.

Georgia officers said the paunchy Yow, who described himself as a Cherokee Indian, had a long record of convictions, including assault on a female, and had been in a North Carolina hospital for criminally insane.

Woman Arrested By ABC Raiders

Pitt County ABC officers reported one arrest over the week end on charges of violation of the liquor law.

Arrested was Rosa Lee Keys, Negro, of 109 N. Greene St. who was arrested by officers Saturday night. ABC Officer J. M. Ward said the woman was charged with illegal possession of non-tax-paid liquor after officers found one-half gallon of bootleg whiskey in a trap under the kitchen floor of her home.

Taking part in the arrest were ABC officers Ward, H. B. Lilley and Glynn Perkins, and deputy sheriffs Duke Andrews and Elmer Hadcock.

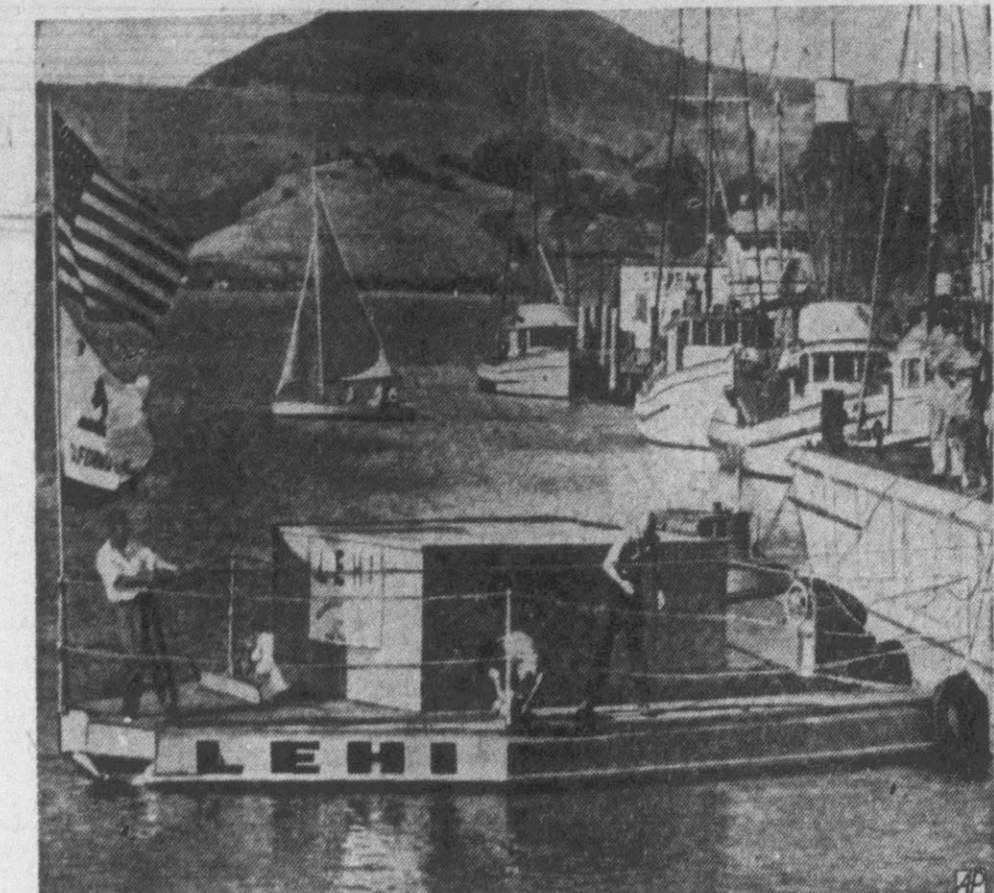

Marriage Licenses

Eleven marriage licenses were issued by the office of the Register of Deeds from July 1 through July 10.

Licenses were issued to the following: White: Robert Lee Stallings and Bertha Mae Nanny; Archie Cox and Grace Pennell; Daniel R. Hughes and Blanche Ham; Roland Morgan and Rachel Jones; Leigh W. Cooley and Sara Hannah Harris.

Colored: Floyd Brown and Erma Lee Moore; James Daniels and Helen M. Hooker; Clarence E. Williams Jr. and Reba Laughinghouse; Willie Lee Smith and Fannie Mae Blount; Joseph Frank and Mandy Mae Clemmons; Edward Forbes and Nora Lee Rasberry.

Prelude To A Dangerous Adventure

Adrift and becalmed about 35 miles southwest of Santa Cruz, the raft Lehi is now an object of search by a relief vessel bringing water and food for the hungry and thirsty crew members. The above photo was made at the launching of the Lehi at Sausalito, California. The adventurers are attempting to drift 2,200 miles to Hawaii, taking with them no food or water, depending upon nature to supply their needs. (AP Photo)

Fire Company Leaving Tonight

The Rough and Ready Negro Volunteer Fire Company of the Greenville Fire Department will leave tonight for East Spencer to attend the 63rd annual meeting of the North Carolina Negro Volunteer Fire Association. Capt. Leroy Barnes is in charge of the contingent.

The convention will get under way Tuesday morning and continue through Thursday. In addition to the business sessions, numerous contests are scheduled. The Greenville firemen are entered in all of them. Fire Chief George Gardner stated. City Council approved the fire volunteer company's participation in the convention contests and donated part of the expenses.

Greenville firemen attending the convention are: Heber Green, John Blazell, Alfred Barnhill, Joseph Lee Joyner, James Hagen, William O. Hagan, James Holliday, Joseph C. Jones, James Floyd, Billie Hester, Frank Gray, Charles Chapple, Harvey Darden, Donald Williams, Marion Outterbridge, Ernest H. Easton, Jr., Joseph E. Smith, Freddie Outterbridge, Edmond Love and Reginald Graye.

The wharf at the North Carolina State Terminal, Morehead City, can berth 4-500 foot vessels and one petroleum tanker at one time.

Agents Attended N.C. Conference

Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, Pitt county home demonstration agent, and Talmadge T. Mitchell, assistant Pitt county farm agent, attended the 32nd annual state conference of Negro Farmers and Homemakers in Greensboro.

The meetings were held at Agricultural and Mechanical College last Tuesday through Friday.

At Tuesday's meeting, Vice-President J. W. Mitchener presided. Dr. F. D. Bluford, president of the college, welcomed the farmers and farm women. Alvin Cherry of Bertie county, president of the State Conference of Farmers and Homemakers, responded.

Speakers included Dr. Pauline E. Kenney, Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro; Miss Virginia Moore, home economist, Birmingham, Alabama; Lewis Barbee, agronomist at A. and T. College; W. G. Westmoreland, agronomy specialist, State College, Raleigh; S. J. Hodges, agronomist, A. and T. College; A. C. Madrey, horticulturist, A. and T. College; J. R. Grandy, biology; T. W. Flowers, horticulturist; Dr. Frank H. Jeter, extension editor, N.C. State College, Raleigh; Miss Pauline E. Gordon, house furnishing specialist, N.C. State College, Raleigh, and others.

Extensive entertainment was provided for the delegates and they were conducted on several tours of the institution's grounds and buildings. Dr. Bluford, president of the college, and Mrs. Bluford, were hosts to the delegates at a tea Wednesday evening.

The conferences ended Friday with a business meeting, committee reports and awarding of a silver loving cup.

Unusually cool weather prevailed in the Greenville area Sunday, but
