

Dulles Returns To Geneva Hoping Presence Will Help Honorable Indochina Peace

PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles arrived here today and said he considers that a collective defense organization for Southeast Asia could help France get "just and honorable peace terms" in Indochina.

Dulles flew into Paris aboard a U. S. Military Air Transport Constellation for a British-French attempt to convince him an "honorable" peace can still be won in Indochina—and that his presence in Geneva would help win it.

He is scheduled to talk with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Eden and Mendes-France left Geneva earlier today to be on hand for the conference.

In a statement, Dulles recalled he had come to Paris last April 13, before the Geneva conference started, to talk about forming Southeast Asian defense pact.

At that time, he said, he felt such an organization would help France. "I still feel the same way," he added.

He went on to explain: "The United States is not itself a belligerent and therefore not a proper party to many aspects of the problem which are the principal concern of the Geneva conference. However, we do have a great and continuing interest in collective action by France, Great Britain, the United States and other free countries to promote the peace and freedom of the area. "This, as well as pressing European problems will, I hope be among the subjects of our conversations here, which are bound to re-emphasize to the Communists the futility of their efforts to divide us."

The reference to European problems indicated Dulles expects to discuss plans for the six-nation European army which France has delayed placing before its Parliament for ratification.

Dulles' flight here was in answer to an urgent appeal from Mendes-France. On leaving Washington last night, the American secretary emphasized that Paris was his present destination.

At conferences this afternoon and tonight, Mendes-France and Eden will outline the prospects for an Indochina peace settlement in an attempt to allay American fears that France is getting ready to surrender to the Reds at Geneva.

Dulles' determination that the United States should not be saddled with responsibility for any such settlement resulted in his decision that neither he nor Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith would return to Geneva for the final round of negotiations.

Western diplomats at the Geneva conference viewed Dulles' trip to Paris as a strengthening for Mendes-France, who has only eight days left to make good on his promises to win an "honorable" Indochina peace from the Communists by July 20 or resign.

French and British diplomats were hopeful their bosses could convince the American secretary he or Smith should return to the conference table with them. A French spokesman in Geneva said Mendes-France would make a "lightning visit" to Paris, and would be back in Switzerland tomorrow or Thursday.

But Dulles in an airport statement in Washington served notice the United States might part company with her European allies over future policy on Indochina.

"It is not clear that the interests which we hold in common with France and Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia will necessarily be best served by identical action in all respects," he declared, adding:

"Therefore, my trip to Paris is without prejudice to the position previously expressed that neither I nor Under Secretary Smith have at the present time any plans for going to Geneva, where the United States is presently maintaining contacts with developments through Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and his associates."

Senate Committee Drops Warning To France, Italy Foreign Aid Terms Eased

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, yielding to State Department appeals, reversed itself late yesterday and struck out of its $3,100,000 foreign aid bill a proposed notice to France and Italy to join a proposed European army or foreign U. S. help as of Dec. 31.

With two top Republican leaders voting against the move, the committee substituted less stringent language already approved by the House in a move to prod the two nations to approve the projected European Defense Community.

Now the bill goes to the Armed Services Committee, perhaps for further changes. That group considers it because much of the overseas program is arms aid.

Voting on the losing side in the Foreign Relations Committee for the virtual ultimatum to France and Italy were Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader and Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

The votes of five Democrats and three other Republicans gave the administration the 8-5 margin which deleted from the bill wording which would have ordered a shutoff of all foreign aid, military and nonmilitary, to France and Italy Dec. 31 if they had not joined EDC or an acceptable substitute. The provision had been tentatively approved Saturday.

Contributing to the reversal was a hurry-up visit to Capitol Hill by Secretary of State Dulles before he departed for diplomatic talks in Paris and a warning from Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe. Gruenther, telephoning from Europe, termed the Senate version "dangerous," a term Dulles also reportedly had used.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), Foreign Relations Committee chairman, said the reversal restored House-approved language which would allow delivery of the two nations of equipment and materials on order from the 1951, 1952 and 1953 foreign aid programs, but will deny them any share in funds from the 1954 and 1955 programs unless they join EDC, a proposed six-nation army including West German troops.

The allowable deliveries would keep the aid flow going to both countries for an undisclosed period. Wiley announced that those voting for the milder language were Senators H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), Aiken (R-Vt.), Wiley (R-Wis.), Green (D-R.I.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Speakerman (D-Ala.) and Gillette (D-Iowa).

Voting "no" in the closed session, Wiley said, were Knowland, Ferguson and Senators Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Langer (R-ND) and Mansfield (D-Mont).

The committee adopted an amendment by Mansfield ordering the Foreign Operations Administration abolished next June 30 as the official dispenser of foreign aid.

Forty-one rebels were reported killed and 17 captured in various actions during the night. There was no announcement of French losses.

Between Son Tay and Hanoi Vietminh guerrillas attacked a French highway guard patrol but were driven off by a tank squadron that rumbled out of Son Tay to the rescue. Twenty Vietminh were killed and seven captured in the roadside fight.

One rebel sniper was killed on a Son Tay street corner but others apparently escaped.

Other fights were reported just north of Hung Yen, 35 miles southeast of Hanoi, and through the Sept Pagodes-Luc Nam-Puh Lang Thuong triangle, 35 miles northeast of Hanoi.

North of Hung Yen, rebel guerrillas and French-Vietnamese patrols clashed in small night battles.

Russians, Americans In Austria Battle Flood Kept Trying To Stay With Army

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—American and Russian troops worked within a few hundred yards of each other outside Vienna today in an effort to save a U. S. airfield and two Austrian villages from floods.

The waters of the swollen Danube River, raging downstream after leaving 70,000 homeless in Germany and Western Austria threatened the U. S. Air Force base at Tulln. Isolated in the Russian occupation zone of Austria, it is 22 miles northwest of Vienna's American sector.

Officials said the airfield was "prety much out of danger," unless the waters took a big rise. Floods from the Danube approached within 200 yards of the field, inundating the communities of Tulln and Langenlebrunn and flooding a road connecting them with the airfield.

Russian and American troops worked on the road but there reportedly was no actual cooperation between them.

Last night a 3-year-old child fell into the Danube near Vienna and drowned, bringing the total dead reported in Austria and East and West Germany to 28.

Conservative estimates placed property damage at hundreds of millions of dollars.

West and east of Vienna, hundreds of newly endangered families were evacuated during the night. The river was still rising. It was expected to reach its high point at the capital sometime today.

Miles of riverside docks and railway lines already were under water in Vienna. Cellars of many warehouses were flooded. But a quarter-mile wide overflow area protected the center of the city.

In Germany, more thousands of farmers were able to return to the wreckage of their homes as the floods receded.

The Czechoslovak radio reported immense damage to farms and villages near Bratislava. Communist Hungary also braced itself for the waters, three times their normal July height at some points.

Just Likes Ride In Helicopters ERDING, Germany (AP)—A U. S. Army helicopter pilot aiding in flood rescue work in Bavaria, told this one today:

He plucked several marooned people from a farm house. Later he took a man from a house top who looked vaguely familiar.

"Didn't I bring you out a few hours ago?" the pilot asked.

"Yes," replied the man. "I enjoy riding in a helicopter and so I went back by row boat."

Broaden Right To Inspect Cars RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina Automobile Dealers Assn. garage members no longer have the exclusive right to conduct inspections under the Carolina Safety League's voluntary inspection program.

Directors of the Safety League yesterday authorized the so-called independents where they qualify, to perform the inspections.

Cars passing the voluntary inspection get a windshield marker signed by the state's motor vehicle commissioner.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—A young ex-soldier, who kept going back to the Army, was in jail here today charged with wearing a uniform illegally.

The ex-G.I., identified as 19-year-old Richard Brown of Norwich, Conn., was picked up by the FBI after his forcible ejection from Camp Kilmer on July 9. He was taken into custody when he kept returning to the camp.

Authorities at Kilmer said Brown lived at the post from May 2 until July 8 when the provost marshal issued an order for his ejection. He was forcibly removed the next day.

Kilmer authorities said Brown reported to the big separation center last May wearing the uniform of a sergeant. They said he told authorities he was AWOL from an airborne unit at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The investigators finally learned that Brown had been discharged from the Army at Valley Forge, Pa., Feb. 10 of this year for fraudulent enlistment.

The order for his ejection was then issued. When he kept returning to the camp after July 9 the FBI took him into custody.

Merchant Board Declines Parking Issue Action

By EDWINA McMULLAN Reflector Staff Writer At a special call meeting this morning the directors of the Merchants Association heard the recommendations of Professor W. F. Babcock on parking problems in Greenville, and after a full discussion declined to take any action whatever on the recommendations.

The report was presented to the directors by Coarles A. White, chairman of the Off-Street Parking Committee, acting for the City Council.

The first item of the Babcock recommendations was that courtesy parking be abandoned as an aid to better enforcement of time restrictions in the parking meter zones.

It was the consensus of the directors present that with proper attention to the courtesy parking plan there would be no detriment to enforcing the parking meter laws.

The directors, therefore, declined action, leaving the burden of putting the recommendation in effect with the City Council.

Professor Babcock, consulting engineer from North Carolina State College, with a group of other engineers recently made a survey of the parking situation here, and as a result of his findings made eight recommendations for changes, including the abolition of the courtesy parking plan.

The local Off-Street Parking Committee, after hearing the report, has also recommended that the courtesy parking be abandoned.

The committee, composed of members of the City Council, Merchants Association and Chamber of Commerce, went on record as approving all of Babcock's recommendations.

Meet Tomorrow To Rule If Sufficient To Order Recount Election Hearing Set In Raleigh

Election Hearing Set In Raleigh

The State Board of Elections will meet in Raleigh tomorrow to hear arguments on a motion to dismiss the protest filed by S. A. Whitehurst in the Pitt County sheriff's race, and his demand for a recount of ballots in Ayden, Bethel and Pactolus precincts.

In a demurrer filed with the State Board yesterday afternoon, attorneys for Ruel W. Tyson contended there was insufficient evidence to justify a recount, and that S. A. Whitehurst had not complied sufficiently with the rules to be entitled to demand a recount of ballots in the disputed boxes.

Hearing in Raleigh An erroneous report from the Associated Press, carried in approximately two-thirds of the copies of yesterday's edition of the Reflector, said the Wednesday meeting of the State Board was slated for Greenville rather than Raleigh.

Attorneys representing the Pitt County Board of Elections, Whitehurst and Tyson were called to Raleigh yesterday to appear before the State Board of Elections to discuss the election dispute in Pitt County. The official meeting with the Pitt representatives lasted only a few minutes, however.

Hearing Set For Wednesday Jesse Jones, Kingston attorney appearing for Tyson and Pactolus precinct officials, filed the demurrer with the State Board of Elections.

M. E. Cavendish, Greenville attorney for Whitehurst, told the board he had been handed a copy of the demurrer only a few minutes before the matter came up, and asked that the hearing on the issue be postponed until Whitehurst's attorneys could make preparations for arguing the case.

Cavendish also told the State Board that Judge Albion Dunn of Greenville, who is appearing with him in the case, was unable to be in Raleigh yesterday for the meeting.

After a brief conference, J. Hampton Price, chairman of the State Board, announced that a hearing on the motion would be held Wednesday in Raleigh.

On Hand For Meeting Attending yesterday's meeting were attorneys J. H. Harrell, W. W. Speight and W. H. Watson representing the Pitt Board of Elections; M. E. Cavendish, representing Whitehurst; and Sam B. Underwood

Jr. of Greenville and Jesse Jones of Kingston representing Tyson. Whitehurst and Tyson also were on hand for the meeting in Raleigh yesterday.

A check with the attorneys here this morning indicated the same group plus Judge Dunn, one of Whitehurst's attorneys, would be on hand for the hearing in Raleigh tomorrow at 11 o'clock.

State Board's Decision The State Board of Elections is expected to decide, following the hearing tomorrow, whether sufficient evidence has been presented in compliance with election board rules to justify a recount of the ballots in the three disputed boxes of Pitt County.

If the State Board decides Whitehurst has made a sufficient case to justify the call for a recount, it is expected the State Board will hear the entire case de novo (all over again).

J. H. Harrell, attorney for the local board, said such a decision would mean that the State Board "can hear it (the case) on affidavits submitted and additional affidavits or subpoena witnesses and hear oral testimony or both."

If such action is taken by the State Board, it is likely the board would come to Greenville for such hearings.

Should the State Board decide tomorrow that Whitehurst has not complied with the rules sufficient to make out a case entitling him to a recount, it can dismiss the whole proceeding.

Air Force Says It Needs $7.6 Billion

By RUSSELL BRINES WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force says now it needs $7,600,000,000 to build a global system of air bases for its strategic bombers a cut of nearly two billion dollars from earlier estimates.

James H. Douglas, under secretary of the Air Force, said in testimony made public today that minimum operational requirements for a 137-wing Air Force should be completed by the end of 1957. A wing ranges from 30 to 75 planes.

He told a House Appropriations subcommittee that "closer figuring" had cut nearly two billions off the $9.6-billion estimate given Congress a little over two years ago.

Maj. Gen. L. D. Washburne, assistant Air Force chief of staff, testified that the 137-wing Air Force now projected and former President Truman's onetime goal of 143 wings have approximately the

Industrial Mid-Town Areas Burn; Arson Suspected Three Fires In High Point

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP)—Fires burned out sections of three industrial areas in mid-town today. Fire Chief Claude Canady said there was definite suspicion that the separate fires were purposely set. The High Point Enterprise estimated the loss would aggregate one million dollars.

Fifteen firemen were overcome by smoke and another suffered a hip injury when he fell through a floor. All were hospitalized but their injuries were not considered serious.

The state Bureau of Investigation and the National Board of Fire Underwriters announced they were sending representatives here.

Mayor George Covington announced after a conference with police and fire officials plans for an all-out patrol of the city against any firebug.

The first fire was discovered last night about 10:30 o'clock in the Jiffy Manufacturing Co., where the main building roof was badly damaged.

About midnight a second fire was discovered in buildings occupied by the Monarch Furniture Co., and the B. & W. Upholsters Co.

While firemen from High Point and six other cities and towns were battling the first two outbreaks, a third fire lit up the skies in an area two blocks from the heart of town as buildings of the Snow Lumber Co. caught flame. That block, sided by Hamilton, Wrenn, Commerce and Green Sts. was about half burned out. The Snow company's main shop was saved by a fortunate wind-shift about 4:30 a. m. Several other buildings and stacks of lumber were destroyed. The City Hall, which occupies a corner of that block was not damaged.

Chief Canady said the fires were separated in such a manner that sparks from one could not have caused the others. The first broke out in an area about eight blocks west of the location of the second and third.

The fires had no effect upon the High Point Summer Furniture and Rug Show which opened in the Exposition Building yesterday.

Smoke, which rose 1,000 feet, was visible for miles. A pall stretched north and east of the city for a distance of 25 miles.

Industrial Mid-Town Areas Burn; Arson Suspected Three Fires In High Point

High Point firemen were assisted by men and equipment from Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Thomasville, Salisbury, Jamestown, Lewisville and Archdale.

Chief Canady said the fire in the Jiffy Company apparently broke out in a railroad box car, which chattered up on a spur track alongside the building. The blaze spread to a loading platform in the rear, but it was under control by the time the second fire broke out.

The second blaze destroyed buildings occupied by the High Point Lumber and Core Co. and the Allied Metal Stamping Works, in addition to Monarch and B.&W. companies.

Very few spectators gathered to watch the fires, although smoke and light woke persons as far away as 15 miles.

No injuries were reported. Canady said he has called in representatives of the State Insurance Commissioner's office to assist in the investigation of reported incendiarism.

Outpost Town Is Vietminh Target

By FORREST EDWARDS HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Vietminh mortars shelled French army headquarters at Son Tay, 28 miles northwest of Hanoi, last night and sniper warfare rang through the streets of the defense outpost town of 6,000.

A French army spokesman said civilians were moving out of Son Tay as rebel pressure built up in that sector and across the northern Red River delta.

Forty-one rebels were reported killed and 17 captured in various actions during the night. There was no announcement of French losses.

Between Son Tay and Hanoi Vietminh guerrillas attacked a French highway guard patrol but were driven off by a tank squadron that rumbled out of Son Tay to the rescue. Twenty Vietminh were killed and seven captured in the roadside fight.

Union Leaders Ask Study Of Red Infiltration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heads of both the AFL and CIO today proposed that President Eisenhower name a commission to study Communist infiltration of labor unions and recommend controls to the next session of Congress.

Both the AFL and CIO have expressed apprehension that Atty. Gen. Brownell's plan to permit dissolution of labor unions—found by the Subversive Activities Control Board to be Red-influenced—may be too drastic. The Senate Judiciary Committee has come up with its own plan to deny such unions access to bargaining rights facilities of the National Labor Relations Board.

Labor leaders proposed that Eisenhower name a commission representing industry, labor, Congress and the judiciary to study the entire problem.

Thwart Attempt To Escape Jail

GRAHAM, N. C. (AP)—A prisoner, identified as Calvin Dunlap of High Point, was thwarted today in an attempted escape from Albemarle County Jail.

Dunlap overpowered two Negro trustees who brought breakfast to him. Taking their keys, Dunlap broke out of his cell and started down to the main door, armed with a sock in which he had stuffed a cake of soap and a broken soft drink bottle.

When Dunlap appeared at the outer door, Jailer Fitch Hensley called the sheriff's office who in turn radioed Burlington police for help.

When the police arrived, Dunlap laid down his weapons and keys and returned to his cell upstairs.

'No Right'

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The World Court ruled today the U. N. General Assembly has no right to review compensation awards made to 11 Americans dismissed from U. N. jobs after U. S. inquires into alleged subversive activities.

The 11 Americans were dismissed by the U. N. Secretary General after refusing to answer questions before U. S. investigative agencies. They were awarded more than $170,000 in compensation by the U. N.

Governors Want Gasoline And Oil Tax Fields Highway Plans Criticized

By JACK BELL BOLTON LANDING, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania proposed and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California endorsed today a plan for a showdown conference of governors with President Eisenhower on a projected 50-billion-dollar highway program.

In a point-by-point criticism of an Eisenhower proposal laid before the 46 annual Governors Conference here by Vice President Nixon, Fine told his colleagues:

"We want the federal government to get out of the gasoline and fuel oil tax field once and for all and now is the time to do it before we embark on any large scale highway program such as the President has proposed."

Eisenhower suggested that the federal government and states cooperate to build a system of roads aimed at providing transportation for an expected 200 million population by 1970.

The President's proposal was interpreted by Fine, a Republican supporter of the administration, as placing a "cloud" on the states' control of road building activities and as involving continued federal aid which a majority of the governors have opposed.

Fine said he thinks the states should "take advantage of the President's offer" only after a conference of the governors in Washington this fall where "we can determine once and for all what is meant by it."

Gov. Knight, also a Republican, supported the conference proposal—so long as the meeting is held after the November elections in which he is running.

But the Californian told his colleagues they are going to have to figure out how the states can take the gasoline tax away from the federal government and still build a system of interstate roads such as the President suggested.

Almost without exception, Republican and Democratic governors agreed that the country needs a 10-year expansion of roads that would shape up as one of the country's greatest permanent, nonwar construction programs.

But there was a distinct feeling among leaders of the 46th annual Governors Conference here that the President had laid down a challenge to them in the historic controversy over state and federal powers.

Against a backdrop of conference demands that the federal government get out of the road-building business, Vice President Nixon put to the governors at their annual state dinner last night a presidential suggestion for an interstate road program designed to provide transport for 200 million Americans by 1970.

Reading notes the President had prepared for a speech which Eisenhower canceled after the death of a sister-in-law, Nixon told the governors in the President's words that the "appalling inadequacies" of America's highways must be solved "to meet the demands of catastrophe or defense should atomic war come."

Only 2 Major School Projects Undertaken

Except for two major construction projects in Grifton and Farmville work on the Pitt County schools this summer is consisting of general repairs and renovations, D. H. Conley, county school superintendent, said this morning.

In Grifton a new addition is being added to the present school. This addition will consist of eight classrooms, including two large primary rooms and a home economics classroom.

Conley stated that work on this building "is progressing nicely and we are hoping it will be ready for the opening of school in the fall."

Construction of this building, which will cost an estimated $90,000, was begun in January.

The other construction project under way this summer is a new gymnasium for the Negro school in Farmville.

This building is a $70,000 project. Dimensions of the gym are 9 by 12 feet, and a stage will be included in its facilities.

Conley said the gym will probably not be ready for the opening of school this fall, due to a hold-up on steel, but "we should be in it by the first of November."

Other than these two projects, work on the county schools includes repairing, painting, and a general checking of plumbing, heating and wiring in the approximately 9 buildings throughout the system. Gutters, down spouts and roofs are also being checked.

Conley estimated that approximately $20,000 will be spent this summer for these repairs and renovations, including furniture and equipment.

Sweaters Join New Style Look

By DOROTHY ROE
NEW YORK (AP)—The "swan-neck" sweater, with an outside turtle neck which pulls up over the head to form a hood, is Claire McCordell's contribution to the fall lineup.

This casual designer long has anticipated the "slouchy look" so important in the fall collection, and has been training her models to slouch for years. This time she underscores the sweater dress, which is simply an elongated tube sweater, worn with or without a narrow belt.

The bloused waist-length jacket is a particular pet of the carefree Claire, who likes it so well that she shows two in one costume—one over the other, with a matching skirt.

Outstanding are her tweeds in unusual muted colors and her amber brushed wools and velveteens combined with soft pink or bright red blouses and matching amber "junk jewelry," also designed by Miss McCordell.

For the college crowd she shows the wildly popular knee-length skirts in bright corduroy or wool, and trouser-pleated slacks with fly-fronts boasting brass buttons.

The "clochette" silhouette is the high note in Hannah Troy's collection, designed by Bruno. This is a fitted princess shape with nipped waistline achieved by darts that are released to form rounded hip-line and shaped bustline.

This house ignores the relaxed look of most fall collections, and continues to stress the fitted midriff, the Princess silhouette and the nipped waist. The coat dress is a favorite here, being shown in many fabrics up to and including white satin embroidered in rhinestones.

These showings marked the opening of a crowded week of New York fall fashion openings, shown for the benefit of the international fashion press.

Just Too Hot For Thermometer

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—St. Elizabeth Hospital nurses had trouble keeping their clinical thermometers down below 105 degrees because of the heat here yesterday.

The temperature in the hospital rooms was 105 degrees and it was a sweltering 109.3 in nearby St. Louis.

A hospital official said the thermometers maintain the temperature of the environment until they are shaken down. She explained an accurate reading could be taken by keeping the thermometer in cool water or alcohol and then putting it quickly into the patient's mouth.

One nurse took her thermometer into an air-conditioned room, ran cool water over it and cooled it to 98 degrees but by the time she got back to her patient the thermometer read 105 again.

Heat Wave Hits Central States

The biggest heat wave so far this summer baked central sections of the nation today with little real relief in sight.

At least eight deaths were attributed to the heat.

The mercury zoomed to an unofficial 121 degrees in Pittsburg, Kans. yesterday and plus-100-degree readings were common from the Rockies eastward to the Great Lakes.

Local water shortages developed in some communities from the heat and lack of rainfall, but no widespread crop damage has developed yet.

In Kansas City, where the temperature reached 109, so many people turned on their air conditioners that power lines became overloaded. The Kansas City Power and Light Co. said power use hit an all-time high last night.

Midwest City, an Oklahoma City suburb of 20,000, ran out of water as 107-degree heat led to record consumption. Officials said shortages will occur daily as long as the heat continues.

These all-time high heat records were set yesterday: Columbia, Mo., 113; Springfield, Mo., 108; Rapid City, S.D., 109; Dallas, Tex., 110.3; Oklahoma City, 107; and Casper Wyo., 104.

The temperature reached 90 or above in all states except a strip along the Atlantic coast from the Carolinas to New England and in the northwest over Washington.

Rest Prescribed For Billy Graham

ASHEVILLE (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham must rest six weeks following an operation here yesterday for the removal of a kidney stone.

Dr. Thomas R. Huffles of Asheville, who performed the operation, and Dr. L. Nelson Bell, Asheville surgeon, and Graham's father-in-law, said Graham must take a complete six-week rest.

Graham suffered five attacks during a recent European tour.

Blackwell-Post Marriage Vows Spoken In Afternoon Ceremony

BIRMINGHAM — Miss Martha Anne Post and James T. Blackwell Jr. of Spartanburg, S. C. were married June 19 at 3 o'clock at Highlands Methodist Church. White gladioli, smilax and white candles in brass holders decorated the church.

Dr. Guy M. McGowan officiated at the double ring ceremony and music was presented by Philip Lavall and Mrs. Aleta Brassell.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rowell D. Post, was given in marriage by her father. Her full length dress was of shirred net and lace over taffeta and a sequin and pearl cap held her fingertip illusion carnations and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nancy Post was junior attendant for her sister and Mrs. John Coombs of Nashville, matron of honor. Miss Diane Dorton of Crossville, Tenn. and Miss Rebecca Howell of Fayetteville, Tenn. were bridesmaids. They wore embroidered pink organdy accented with pale pink satin and bandeaux of pink satin with face veils. Their cascade bouquets were of pink carnations and ivy.

James T. Blackwell of Spartanburg acted as best man for his son, groomsmen to be Lewis Blackwell of Spartanburg and John Coombs of Nashville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Post selected an iceblue antique silk dress with pearl trim and Mrs. Blackwell wore a dress of rose organdy. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Joy Caudle of Gadsden kept the bride's book and Miss Susan Lineberry, Mrs. Lester Smith and Mrs. L. Frank Brown served.

For their wedding-trip to Florida, the bride adorned a beige silk shantung costume suit flecked with black and black patent accessories. She wore a corsage of bronze cymbidium orchids.

For the summer, the couple will be at home on Highland Ave. They will reside in Spartanburg in the fall where Mr. Blackwell is a professor of science at Spartanburg Junior College.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Annie Pittman of Greenville, N. C.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mrs. Pittman and Mrs. Georgia Franklin also of Greenville.

Embezzled Cash Also Subject To Income Tax Laws

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Embezzled funds are subject to income tax under terms of a ruling by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The court made the ruling yesterday in upholding the conviction of Arthur B. Marienfield of St. Louis, former president of the Mar-Meat Co. He was sentenced to 15 months in prison and fined $5,000 in Federal District Court last year after being convicted for evading $23,968 in income taxes for 1946.

In his appeal, Marienfield contended the money which the government claimed was income and was used by him, actually belonged to the firm.

MATHEWS, Va. (AP)—Navigable rivers, bays and arms of the sea and ground under them never did belong to the King of England in Virginia and other colonies, Judge Lewis Jones ruled in court here.

He denied a petition to vacate an oyster ground lease made by the state on the ground that it violated an original grant of land to George Bilups in 1653. Since Magna Carta, Judge Jones said, ownership had been in parliament.

An Apology To Our Readers

The Reflector owes an apology to its readers for the erroneous report in yesterday's issue which stated the State Board of Elections would meet in Greenville on Wednesday.

The State Board of Elections will meet Wednesday to consider the disputed sheriff's election in Pitt County, but the meeting will be held in Raleigh rather than in Greenville as reported in a late bulletin carried in approximately two-thirds of the copies of yesterday's edition of The Reflector.

We believe our readers should know the full story behind the error. Here is how it happened:

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock after the day's press run had begun, the Associated Press in Raleigh telephoned The Reflector and reported the State Board of Elections had decided to hold a meeting in Greenville on Wednesday in connection with the local election dispute.

In an effort to keep its readers informed on the latest developments in the election dispute which has gained the attention of practically all the citizens of Pitt County, The Reflector stopped its press. The front page was remade, and the bulletin from the Associated Press inserted in the story on the meeting which was taking place in Raleigh yesterday afternoon.

It was not until shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon that we were able to contact Raymond Maxwell, secretary of the State Board of Elections. The purpose of the call to Maxwell was to ascertain the nature of the business of the meeting we thought was going to be held here Wednesday. It was at that time—after the afternoon's edition had been distributed—that Maxwell informed us the Associated Press report must have been in error because the State Board was going to hear the Pitt County case in Raleigh on Wednesday . . . not in Greenville.

We informed the Associated Press of Maxwell's statement.

The Associated Press in Raleigh double-checked with Maxwell and informed us late yesterday afternoon their first report was in error. The news service offered its profuse apologies for the error to The Re-

Strength for the Day

KEEP COOL

Keep cool. Few jobs are done better for being rushed. Think things through and make the right decision. The time you save by rushing in helter-skelter will probably have to be spent in regretting what you did. The time you lose in stopping to collect yourself will probably be made up by your greater efficiency when you do begin.

Even emergencies are better handled coolly and calmly. The building may be burning, but the firemen pause while the chief plans a course of action which will be safest and most effective. The driver who slams on his brakes on an icy road is more likely to have a wreck than the man who thinks first and slows cautiously.

The pace of the modern world tends to shove us along faster and faster. Resist it. Create an island of intellectual calm around yourself and keep your balance. Mental institutions are crowded with people who tried to outrun the tempo of living.

The same principle is true in spiritual life. The man who comes steaming into church 15 minutes late and sits with his eye on his watch waiting for the service to end gets nothing out of it. When you pray, take time to pray slowly. The God of Peace must be worshipped in a calm, collected, reverent spirit.

Public's Voice On UN Heard

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The American people apparently want drastic revision of the United Nations Charter rather than the withdrawal proposed by Senator William F. Knowland, if "Red China succeeds in shooting her way" into the international organization.

In preparation for scheduled review and revision of the Charter next year, a Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee has been canvassing public opinion at hearings throughout the country, and will hold many more sessions before it finishes its work. Chairman Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin has asked for and received hundreds of written memos on this question.

Although generally favoring continued United States membership, the majority admit to deep disappointment in the U.N.'s performance. They favor Charter changes that will make the organization a more workable and constructive body. Their views reflect widespread belief that the U.N. has not fulfilled the high expectations of postwar days.

CRITICISM OF U.N.—A major demand centers around Russia's frequent use of the veto to block efforts to maintain world peace and settle dangerous difficulties. The U.N.'s failure to give us wholehearted support in Korea, as well as its refusal to intervene in Indo-China, has also provoked severe criticism.

Considerable sentiment appeared in favor of the Bricker Constitutional Amendment, which seemed certain of adoption until the White House maneuvered its defeat. The Ohio Senator's proposal would prevent any treaty or executive agreement, including the U.N. Charter, from superseding Federal or State laws. Many speakers—there were sometimes as many as 50 in a single day, showing the interest and hope in the U.N.—warned that the Charter's provisions on civil liberties, genocide and related humanitarian questions impinged on domestic legislation, local and national. They were surprised to learn that neither the U.S. nor Great Britain had ratified these clauses. Only the smaller member nations have approved flector and to the readers of the newspaper.

While the origin of the error was not the fault of The Reflector, we want to offer our sincere apologies to our readers for having passed on to them the erroneous information.

Velvet Glove Or Not, It's Still A Problem

A recently concluded series of articles on juvenile delinquency was crowned with an opinion by a panel of youngsters that the courts and parents should "quit coddling kids."

This is surprising and refreshing in a day when there is so much advocacy of the velvet glove in human relationships. Particularly in this so when the source of this reasoning is the social group which provides periodic head-scratching and concern for adult society.

Of course, we may assume the panel members who discussed those aspects of juvenile delinquency were themselves fairly well removed from factors which inspire unsocial traits among our youngsters. Thus, lacking in first-hand knowledge of the subject, their "ivory tower" deliberations could be weighed and found wanting in many respects.

Conversely, recommendations from a panel of anti-social youngsters would hardly be worthy of being heard, because their opinions would be subject to prejudices of their own peculiar backgrounds; and though they might honestly try to be objective, would be suspect.

While it involves a distinct minority of kids, anti-social or criminal traits among juveniles have been a part and parcel of society for as long as there has been sufficient population to offer this distinctive failure of society. We suspect that people today take greater cognizance of this failing, because:

- (1) There could be a greater incidence in those over-populated areas, of which we have more than ever before;
- (2) Numerically, the incidence is bound to be greater with the ever-increasing population;
- (3) Juvenile delinquency is more widely publicized;
- (4) A growing sense of social responsibility.

Regardless of these presumed factors, it seems clear that until we have something more concrete to base our conclusions upon, parents, schools and law enforcing agencies must share the blame for not inculcating a proper respect for social mores and laws among those youngsters who have lost their way.

Selected Shorts

LOVINGTON, N. M., LEADER: "If we would remain free and enjoy living standards, it is time for all of us to realize the necessity of encouraging the saver and stimulating to greater efforts the few constructive men and women among us who have the capacity endlessly to improve living standards for all of us."

RUSSIA'S MANY VEToes—Many witnesses insisted that the U.N. be given more power to enforce its decisions, including an international police force. Attempts to carry out these ideas have always been blocked by one of the more than 50 votes employed by Moscow.

Amendment of the Charter will admittedly be an extremely difficult operation. Changes require a two-thirds majority in the Assembly, and this number must include the five permanent members of the Council.

Although the veto has turned out to be the principal stumbling block to U.N. action in major difficulties, it is doubtful if the Senate would ever agree to its abolition. It is considered necessary in order to "leave the United States free to defend its interests as it saw fit." We would probably use it to prevent Red China's entry.

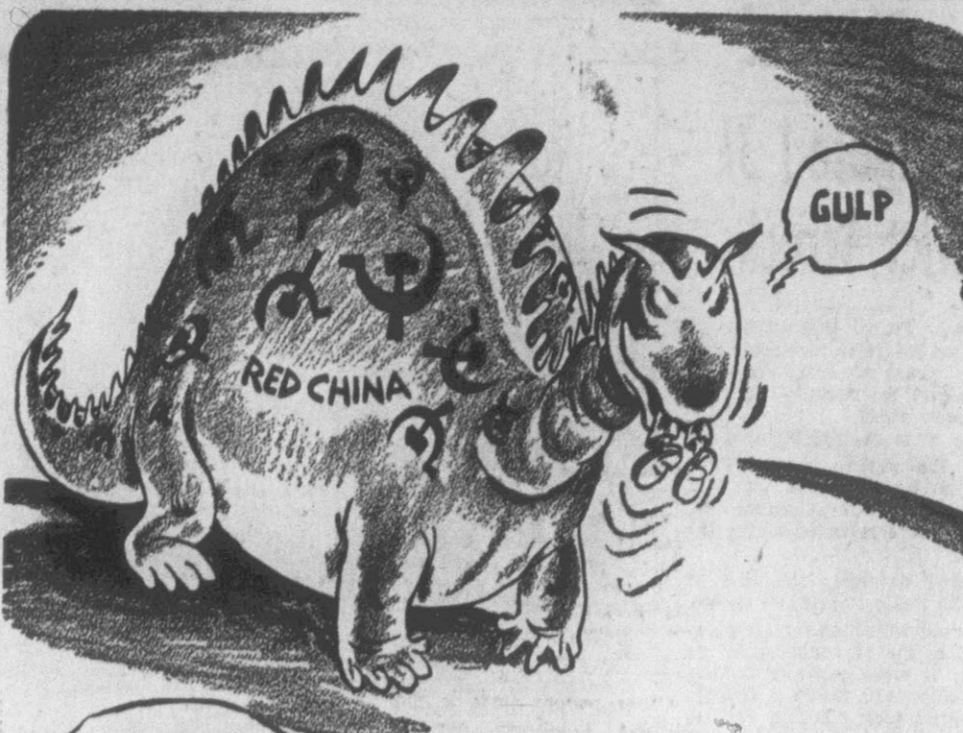

DULLES MORE FAVORABLE TO CHARTER REVISION—Secretary Dulles originally opposed what he described as "premature" efforts to overhaul the Charter. He thought that the organization should be given the full five-year trial provided in that document itself.

But growing dissatisfaction with the U.N.'s record in maintaining and restoring peace throughout the world, as well as Senator Knowland's more extreme proposal, is understood to have made him more favorable to the idea.

For one thing, Administration spokesmen and Senate colleagues are using the prospect of revision as an argument in urging the Californian not to carry out his threat to resign as Senate Majority Leader, thereby making more arduous the Eisenhower-Dulles pathway in foreign affairs. They are having enough trouble with Churchill and Eden without being forced to take on the influential Republican leader.

Dulles has promised to consult with the Wiley Committee before it submits its recommendations for revision to the Senate on January 31, 1955.

End In Sight

Somebody Told Me

Enthusiasm Is Nice To See

To see enthusiasm like I saw last night is real fun. En route to Greenville, about seven miles from Greenville I picked up a Little League baseball player who was on his way to a night double header in Farmville. He didn't thumb me, but peered over his shoulder with that pleading look.

Telling me his name and knowing mine was of least importance; he was interested in talking baseball and I was interested in listening. When he got out of the car I did find out that his name is William Dunn; he plays for the Rotarians.

"What position you play?" I asked.

"Reckon I'll pitch tonight. But I play shortstop and first base, too."

"What kind of pitching record you got?"

William beamed. "Won five and lost one."

"What happened on the one you lost? Hitters too neavy?"

"No, sir, I don't think that was it. Our coach, Mr. Monk, told me that I just got too mad with the coach on third base. And I reckon he was right. I was so mad I could hardly throw the ball."

From there William continued telling me his theories on pitching. Like Eddie Lopat, he likes the use of the change up. "I used to try to throw the ball hard as I could, but then I started to use the change up and I've struck out more."

He definitely plans to try out for the major leagues. ("Hope I can pass the test, too.") What worries him about going up in baseball is that he enjoys batting in the clean-up spot and realizes that if he goes up as a pitcher he'll be put on the end of the batting order.

"Who do you want to win the pennant this year?" he asked me, cutting a sharp eye my way. I was almost afraid to answer, lest he might throw me out of the car if I gave the wrong answer.

"That was the wrong answer, William is a strong Yankee fan and will be disappointed if they don't win this year."

He gives his father credit for his pitching wins this year. "Last year I didn't do so hot. But then Daddy got me in the back yard and every time I would make a bad pitch he would have something to say about it. So I decided that I was going to hit the mitt wherever he put it."

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

OUR PROPOSED AIRPORT (Wilson Times)

For years towns like Getson have been struggling to get air service. They've been unsuccessful largely because they don't develop sufficient traffic to justify regular schedules. In those struggling years, however, we've all built airports, taking the position that the town without one is like a town without a railroad. But as the years have dragged on we've learned that we'll get service only if we combine, if out of a much larger area we can get enough passengers and enough freight to attract airlines.

While we were struggling to get that service, Rocky Mount did manager to get Eastern. It runs planes East and West several times a day. But now that most of the lines are jumping from two to four motor ships, even Rocky Mount's field is inadequate. It has made that city willing at last to join hands with the other cities in the area in the hope that a bigger port and more service can be gained for our section of North Carolina. It's the only way we'll ever get real service, something that we all recognize as highly useful.

Looking toward that end the last session of the legislature created an authority to establish a port. It was predicated on contributions from four counties, Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe and Pitt, and four cities, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Greenville, and Tarboro. But, under the present setup, if anyone failed to make its proper contribution, the whole project would fall. That's precisely what Nash county did the other day when its county commissioners decided not to go along. Unless their position can be changed or unless the act of the assembly can be amended, we'll have no four-county airport.

The more you have in a thing like that, the harder it is to get them to work together. But can't we somehow prevail on Nash county to reconsider? The project is too important to let lapse.

It means too much to . . . of this area. All of the communities but Tarboro and two of the counties have already given money toward the port. Tarboro, we're given to understand, will eventually go along. That leaves only Wilson and Nash counties to make contributions and we are of the belief that Wilson will go along when the time comes. Will Nash county alone, by refusing, kill the project?

Both Raleigh and Durham wanted air service. But like the rest of us they didn't join hands until a few years ago. Now that area has excellent service, with both East-West and North-South transportation. We can have the same thing if we'll submerge our differences, as Raleigh and Durham did, joining together to make a worthwhile airport. It's been the desire of this section for a long time. Now must we fore-go it because one county holds back? Isn't this the time to put some pressure on the delinquents to get them to come along?

Business Today

Debts Of Consumers

By ELMER ROESSNER
American consumers, as of May 29, owed a total of $27,520,000,000 in short-term and intermediate-term debts. Of this, $20,932,000,000 was in instalment debts, the rest was for charge accounts, single-payment loans and service credits.

Since the end of the war, consumers bought more than $110 billion worth of durables on the instalment plan, and that had a lot to do with the high rate of sale of automobiles, refrigerators and all the other durables manufactured in such profusion.

That so much business has been transacted on credit is amazing; but what's even more amazing is the fact that a great many people make no use of their consumer credit. One of the things that puzzles manufacturers and retailers is that approximately 10,000,000 persons with incomes from $2,000 to $7,500 a year never buy things on time or easy, "Charge it!" Persons making more than that may be able to buy most, if not all, their durables for cash. But those 10,000,000 may just be going without.

Reasons for this failure to use credit have been studied by William J. Cheyney, executive vice-president of the National Foundation for Consumer Credit. Most of them, he has found, are based on fear. The five principal reasons, he declared, are:

- 1. Fears engendered by teachers, parents and grandparents brought up on copybook maxims, who have exaggerated the dangers of credit.
- 2. Fear of losing employment before payments are completed.
- 3. Fear of sickness, accident or death while in debt.
- 4. Fear of community or social disapproval.
- 5. A twisted pride in the boast of financial independence based on paying cash only.

Mr. Cheyney suggested that credit grantors work to overcome these fears with educational campaigns. Credit insurance, he added, is a useful point, since it can eliminate most of these fears.

HONEYMOON SUITE DOESN'T SUIT HONEYMOONERS

The name "Honeymoon Suite" has been dropped from all such suites by the Hotel Edison, New York, which finally discovered that honeymooners are shy about staying in honeymoon suites named Honeymoon Suite.

SUBURBAN BOSTON LEADS U.S. IN DEPARTMENT STORE

SALES
If department store sales are a true index, suburban Boston is one of the liveliest places, economically, in the country. Sales in that area during the first five months of the year have been 5 per cent above those in the same 1953 months, according to Federal Reserve figures. The national average is 5 per cent down.

Only four other shopping areas showed gains. They are Cambridge, Mass., up 3 per cent; Rochester, N.Y., up 3 per cent; Little Rock, Ark., up 1 per cent; and Minneapolis, up 1 per cent. The largest dip was reported from San Antonio, Tex., down 10 per cent.

By Federal Reserve Districts, the Boston district had the best record, down 1 per cent, and the Cleveland district the saddest down 11 per cent.

MORE GOING FOR SERVICES LESS FOR CONSUMER GOODS

Consumer spending for services was up $5 billion during the past year, the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank reports in its monthly review, "Business Conditions." At the same time, spending for goods has declined.

Spending for services which includes utilities and fuel, medical, service, public transportation and rents—now accounts for 35 per cent of all consumer expenditures, the bank finds. Furthermore, it says, expenditures for services should gain during the months ahead.

MAY NATIONAL ADVERTISING TOPS APRIL AND YEAR AGO

Total national advertising in May was 1 per cent greater than in April and 4 per cent above May, 1953, according to Printers Ink. The gain for the first five months of 1954 over the same period in 1953 was 9 per cent. In the five-months comparison, only farm magazines and network radio showed declines. The largest gain was in network television, up 43 per cent.

ONLY 18 PCT OF INDUSTRIAL FIRMS ENJOYING A BOOM

Of 94 industrial companies responding to a questionnaire by Mill & Factory, 60 per cent said the level of business was lower than a year ago, 18 per cent said it was higher and 22 per cent saw no change. Of those who found business off, 62 per cent had shortened plant work weeks, 65 per cent had eliminated overtime and 54 per cent had laid off workers.

Bright Sayings By Plain Folks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—"It is a rather pleasant experience to be alone in a bank at night."

Now who would say a thing like that? Well, as a matter of fact, Willie Sutton, the notorious bank bandit, tossed off the remark while philosophizing on the rewards of a career that has kept him behind prison bars most of his life.

It is one of several thousand quotations collected by Jim Simpson and Ann Gillis, the sprightly lady who bosses NBC's Who Said That?, the most durable of all TV panel quiz programs.

Feeling that Bartlett did a good job for his day but that someone ought to also preserve the antique wit and gilded wisdom of the current generation, Simpson and Miss Gillis are bundling together for book publication the quotations they feel best reflect our times.

Most books of quotations lean too heavily on poets and politicians. Miss Gillis and her co-worker have a more cosmopolitan approach. They see no reason why a really witty observation by a gangster—or a housewife—should not be preserved by posterity. As a result, their volume promises to reflect the real mental life of our recent past more accurately than a formal history.

Here, for example, are a few gems from their collection which should help give posterity some kind of light on the kind of human beings who dwell in the middle of the 20th century:

"A committee is a group that keeps minutes and loses hours"—Milton Berle.

"May the Lord bless you real good"—favorite benediction of evangelist Billy Graham.

"Politics is the diversion of trivial men who, when they succeed at it, become important in the eyes of more trivial men"—George Jean Nathan.

"Age is no matter. . . You can be ravishing at 20, charming at 40, and irresistible"—Mrs. Chan- behold the turtle: he makes progress only when his neck is out"—James B. Conant, former president of Harvard.

"Washington is a place where half the people are waiting to be discovered—and the other half are afraid they will be"—Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

"A good education is harmful to a doctor. A good calf is better than a good head"—Agnes de Mille.

"The way for the armed forces to win an atomic war is to make certain it never starts"—Gen. Omar Bradley.

"The only normal and classic things I ever created are my children"—Pablo Picasso.

"If a man is vain, flatter. If timid, flatter. If boastful, flatter. In all history, too much flattery never lost a gentleman"—Kathryn Cravens, author of "Pursuit of Gentlemen."

"I haven't sold Bibles all my life"—Frank Costello.

"The work was killing me; they called me out of bed at all hours of the night to receive the resignations of prime ministers"—Vincent Auriol, on vacating the office of president of France.

"American soldiers have taught me better than I could have learned in any other way what America means to me"—Francis Cardinal Spellman.

School, Hospital Programs Heavily Backed By State

By LYNN NISBET

SUPPORT—The extent to which North Carolina taxpayers have supported educational and hospital programs, through appropriations of the General Assembly and bond issues voted by the people, does not justify the oft-repeated charge that the State has not made reasonable effort to meet its obligations in these fields.

Of course, the obligations cannot ever be fully met. Demands increase in accelerated ratio to provision of facilities. The record shows that since the end of World War II there has been authorized spending of $300 million for educational and medical facilities out of State collected tax moneys, and an approximate like amount by counties and municipalities. These amounts include only buildings and equipment, and do not take into account the hundreds of millions allocated for operation and maintenance of the institutions.

EDUCATIONAL—Biggest item in the list is $100 million for State grants in aid to counties for school building. That item is made up of $25 million allocated out of general fund surplus and $25 million bond issue authorized by the Legislature of 1949, and $50 million bond money authorized by the 1953 General Assembly. Practically all of the 1949 money has been spent, and several millions of the 1953 authorization have been committed.

Next comes the allocations for institutions of higher education aggregating more than $85 million, of which about $63 million goes to university level institutions, and $22 million to other State supported colleges and schools.

BREAKDOWN—Breakdown of permanent improvement appropriations made by the 1947, 1949, 1951 and 1953 Legislatures and bond issues voted by the people show the following distributions.

For the Consolidated University $46,630,478 divided as follows: The University at Chapel Hill, including the division of health affairs and hospitals, $21,649,800; State College at Raleigh, including Central Experiment Station, $17,928,578; Woman's College at Greensboro, $7,652,100.

Other university level institutions: Agricultural & Technical College at Greensboro, $9,858,441; North Carolina College at Durham, $6,012,809; Pembroke State Indian College, $658,000.

Teacher training and general colleges not counted at university rank: East Carolina College at Greenville, $5,880,805; Appalachian State Teachers College at Boone, $4,395,050; Western Carolina College at Cullowhee, $4,279,200; Winston-Salem State Teachers College, $2,434,000; Elizabeth City Teachers College, $1,770,225; Fayetteville State Teachers College, $1,364,122.

The State School for the Deaf at Morganton got $1,218,500, and the School for the Blind and Deaf at Raleigh, $1,110,738.

These items add up to nearly $86 million over and above the $100 for public school houses and in addition to an undetermined amount for educational purposes at correctional and training schools and hospitals. Take into account the spending at local levels for equipment and buildings, and the annual operating cost of $150 million or more, and it is found that North Carolinians since World War II have invested something like two billion dollars ($2,000 million) in education of its youth.

HOSPITALS—Within the past 10 years North Carolina has put some $85 million of State funds into hospital construction and equipment, including for most of that time $1 million a year for grants in aid to local hospitals and health centers. Legislative appropriations and bond issue money went in the ratio of $42 million for mental hospitals, $10 million for tubercular sanatoria.

Further detailed breakdown shows units in the mental hospital system getting: Raleigh, $10,263,259; Goldsboro, $8,344,755; Morganton, $7,537,300; Butler, $6,082,550; Caswell Training School (Kinston) $6,094,550; and a new school for Negro mental defectives $4 million.

The sanatoria allocations were: The main unit at McCall, $3,684,904; Eastern Sanatorium at Wilson, $4,512,389; Western Sanatorium at Black Mountain, $1,511,181. Figures for the Gravelly hospital at Chapel Hill were included in the University Health Affairs allocation, along with the multi-millions for the general hospital there.

The orthopedic hospital at Gastonia and the hospital-school for spastics at Durham came in for about half a million.

NO BOAST—The physical facilities for education and medical treatment in North Carolina are far short of the desired goal, even below the point of essential needs. The State has nothing to boast about from the viewpoint of attainment.

It is submitted, however, that

New For Fall: The Bloused Look

HERE'S HOW YOU KNOW IT'S NEW... Center, the new semi-fitted suit for fall, which represents the easy, relaxed look slated for 1954-55 popularity. Small sketches show other details of the new look, as previewed in New York.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Here are the things to look for when you go shopping for that new fall suit or dress. These are the outfits that you will find in your favorite specialty shop or department store, come fall. These are the top styles already ordered by your local buyers and now in process of manufacture in New York's teeming garment center.

1. The bloused top dress. This is the headline silhouette for fall, following the corseted midriff look of last season. It's an easy, relaxed silhouette, which gives you room to breathe, doesn't reveal every bulge of figure, is easy to wear. You'll find it in all fabrics, usually teamed with a slim skirt.

The "blouson" suit or costume. This has a bloused jacket which ends at the waistline with a belt, is worn with matching slim dress or skirt, comes in handsome tweeds and flannels, dark worsted and new blends of Dacron, worsted and silk.

3. The sailor collar. This is a new and important note for fall, found on dresses, suits and coats, sometimes even in fur.

4. The sack jacket. This is a loose, boxy, short jacket which may be semi-fitted in front. Look in back.

5. The barrel coat. This is rounded above, slightly tapered at the hemline, loose and comfortable, smartest when worn slightly shorter than the skirt or dress beneath.

6. The middy. This is the loose, schoolgirl garment that has been coming back to favor periodically for two generations. A pullover with no waistline, worn with a slim skirt shown in high-color flannels and jerseys, often with a sailor collar.

7. The low, open neckline for dresses. A flattering, feminine décolletage achieved in many ways, sometimes with low, flat or stand-away collars.

8. The fur collared or fur lined suit. An old favorite newly popular for this fall. Often reversible.

9. The costume. This consists of wool dress and matching jacket or full-length coat, and is the most important single fashion of the season. Dress usually is low-necked, short-sleeved, sufficiently dressy for after-5 wear, permitting the wearer to go from office or shopping trip to cocktails and dinner, suitably dressed when she removes her jacket.

10. Combinations of satin and tweed. A top fall fashion. Sometimes done with satin linings and weskis combined with tweed suits.

Sometimes done by adding satin hat and blouse to a tweed suit.

11. The doll dress. This is the little-girl fashion so popular this summer, carried on for fall in dainty, lacy, white or pastel dance dresses.

12. Wide collars on coats, suits and blouses.

Seek Owner Of Big U.S. Flag

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police here are looking for the owner of a giant-size American flag found along the Western Maryland Railway tracks by 13-year-old Myron J. Levy.

The flag is 12 feet high. If the owner doesn't show up today, police plan to give it to Ft. McHenry, off whose shores the "Star Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key.

A baby is born in the United States, on the average, every three seconds.

Banking Committee Considers Compromise Housing Program

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Key members of the House Banking Committee were reported today to be considering a compromise public housing program only for families who lose their homes in the razing of slums.

A conference committee seeking to reconcile differences between Senate and House versions of housing legislation was due to turn to the controversial public housing question either today or tomorrow.

President Eisenhower asked Congress for authority to start 35,000 new public housing units a year for the next four years. The House refused to grant any new public housing authority, but the Senate voted to give Eisenhower what he wanted.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich., chairman of the House Banking Committee, said in an interview he might go along with a public housing program with "restrictions." He declined to spell these out. Wolcott long has been a foe of low-rent public housing.

Other persons close to the conference committee said public housing opponents may offer to back a one-year continuation of the program—provided new units are restricted to families dispossessed by slum clearance.

Senate advocates of public housing said this kind of a restriction would cut the heart out of the program.

Another point of difference is a Senate provision designed to guard against the possibility of future "windfall" profits by builders operating with government-insured loans. The House bill contains no such section because allegedly widespread housing irregularities did not come to light until after the House finished work on the housing program.

Windfall profits are defined as the margin between a builder's actual costs and the value of a government-insured loan based on an inflated estimate of construction and other expenses.

Wolcott said he would insist on examining "very carefully and critically" any proposal which, as he put it, might stymie building programs by hedging government-insured lending with unduly tight restrictions. He said a program which builders refused to use would be no program at all.

The Senate Banking Committee investigating alleged housing scandals took testimony yesterday from Fred C. Trump, a New York City builder, who said apartments would not have been built under an expired postwar loan insurance program if the law had set rigid limits on loans approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

Helping To End Drinking Habit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I want to stop drinking but I can't," Edward G. Robinson Jr. told the Domestic Relations Court yesterday.

"I've had some experience in those matters," replied Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle. "I'll show you how."

So the busy judge, who handles more than 100 cases a day, offered to set aside his lunch each day for two weeks to talk to the actor's 21-year-old son, who has been arrested three times in recent months for intoxication.

Young Robinson's wife Frances, with whom he recently was reconciled, promised to help the judge. "I hope it works," she said. "It must work."

Barking Dogs' Curfew Relaxed

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—A barking dog's life, the City Council says, can begin an hour earlier each morning.

The Council voted last night to amend a recent ordinance that stipulated that dogs "are not permitted to howl or bark between the hours of 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. so as to disturb the neighbors."

Yielding slightly to the protests of dog owners who had trouble convincing their pets, the councilmen moved the morning curfew back to 7 a.m.

Many Claimants To Prison Land

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—You don't own any of the land the New Mexico Penitentiary sits on do you?

Seeds of other folks do—or their ancestors claimed they did—and the prison is suing those it knows about to prove they don't.

The whole matter came up in a preliminary step to clear title to the 100 acres of land comprising the 75-year-old prison site. It was part of an ancient land grant.

Attorneys representing the prison say the old records are incomplete and indefinite.

The list of defendants in the prison's suit to clear title totals 1,040 persons and companies. Of these, about 350 are living and their whereabouts are known. The rest have died, or can't be traced.

Rosemary, Jose Expecting Child

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Rosemary Clooney and her husband, Jose Ferrer, announced last night on the eve of their first wedding anniversary that they are expecting a child next January.

The couple returned yesterday from New York, where Miss Clooney appeared in a television show. She hopes to appear in one or two more movies before the stork arrives.

Landslides Kill At Least Five

MEDELLIN, Colombia (AP)—At least five persons were killed and 60 injured by landslides near here yesterday. A search for more victims continued during the night.

The first landslide attracted many rescuers and onlookers. A second slide buried many in the crowd.

Staton fanned 12 batters and walked five in the seven inning contest. "Smiling Charlie" never had a runner to reach third safely off him during the course of the game. In the fourth inning with one out Ralph Johnson walked. From there out not a single Bright Leaf batter reached base. Staton retired 11 batters in order to the end of the game.

Staton almost lost his no-hitter in the fifth inning but superb fielding and thinking saved the strong-armed righthander. Wilbur

Owens laced a ball between first and second on what looked like a sure hit. The Redmen rightfielder, John Wesley Hudson, had been playing shallow and raced in to field the ball and throw the runner out at first. The throw beat the runner by a good two strides.

The Redmen scored twice in the first inning to sew up the ball game. Kelly Barnhill reached first on a fielder's choice, forcing Hudson who had walked. Billy Boyd Cox then hit a booming double off the centerfield wall. Staton helped his own cause by singing in Cox from second for the second run.

The Redmen picked up their final run in the third on a single by Barnhill and an error.

Barnhill with three for four was the only player in the game to get more than one hit.

Due to the All-Star games next week the Pony League action will be suspended for a week. The teams will play Wednesday night but will not play Thursday. Thursday's schedule will be taken up the following Thursday.

It Could Be An Important Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The most important heavyweight bout to be fought the remainder of this year might well be the number scheduled here tomorrow night between Hurricane Jackson, a spectacular 22-year-old Negro from Long Island and Nino Valdes, the Cuban speedster who has been yelling for a title shot ever since he defeated Ezzard Charles in a major upset last summer.

The bout, which will be televised nationally, assumes added sature because of the growing conviction that Charles will not fight Rocky Marciano again this year, if at all. There are men close to the game who are convinced that Ezzard, despite his protestations to the contrary, got more than enough of Rocky at Yankee Stadium last month.

Regardless of whether Charles is permitted to risk his life again, either this year or next, it is a fairly safe bet that the winner of tomorrow night's scrap will eventually find himself in the ring with the Rock Valdes currently is rated the No. 2 contender, while the unimpaired Jackson is listed no better than No. 5, but the latter figure is misleading if we are permitted to deal in potentials.

Up to a night in April, when he ran afoul of a cutie named Jimmy Slade and caught a surprise licking, Jackson was considered the best thing in boxing trunks. Some thought he was a new Joe Louis, destined to win the championship in short order possibly without ever meeting defeat. Slade, the clever veteran, put an artistic crimp in these plans for the Hurricane, but the young Negro remains as remarkable a physical specimen as he ever was and it could be a grave mistake to count him out for good.

Jackson blamed his first setback on his mother Mrs. Georgia Jackson, claiming she interfered with his training by keeping him home nights. Since then he has done his training at regular camps, like other fighters. He began his "comeback" by scoring a fast technical knockout over Charlie Norcross at the Garden late in May.

Valdes' chief claim to fame—Charles down in Florida, was as the reigning heavyweight champion of Cuba. He since has cut a swath through Europe while waiting for officials of the International Boxing Club to say hello to him.

Bill Clapp Paces Exchange To Win

Righthander Bill Clapp pitched and batted the fast-moving Exchange team into third place in the Tar Heel League yesterday afternoon with a 13-2 win over the Moose.

Clapp gave up two runs in the first inning and pitched one-hit shutout ball the rest of the ball game. The hard-throwing flame-thrower fanned fourteen Moose batters and walked only one in giving his best control performance of the year.

Besides his outstanding pitching performance Clapp brought his batting average up to .511 for the year with a four-for-four performance at the plate.

The Moose scored two in the first and Emmett Koonce held the Exchange scoreless for two shaky innings. In the third the Exchange finally started rolling in high gear. Billy Neal James reached first on an error. With one out Clapp smashed a double over the centerfielder's head and scored on Jeff Fountain's single. Fountain scored on Charles Gray's double. Larry Briley singled in Gray for the fourth run. After that the floodgates were opened and there was no stopping the booming bats. Seven runs in the sixth sewed up the contest.

Jeff Fountain, who was hitting .550 before game time, raised his average even more with three hits in four trips to the plate.

The win for the Exchange pushed them in third place and only a half a game out of second.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock there will be an important North State League game between the Kiwanis and the V.P.W. The V.P.W. has to win the game in order to stay in the race for the pennant of the second half.

Certificates To Little Leaguers

The Greenville Tar Heel and North State Little Leaguers will present certificates of Little League participation to all the Little Leaguers that played this year on Saturday, July 17 and Monday, July 19. In order to receive his certificate, each player must have at least one of his parents in the stands at either of the two games.

The league directors surmise that every boy who has played Little League baseball this summer deserves to have a parent present when his certificate is awarded him.

The Recreation Department would like to point out that adult participation is needed in order that Little League ball might survive in Greenville. The Little League program is controlled by parents and interested supporters of the boys that play.

Whether a boy plays or not depends largely on the interest of his parents to him and the league. This is the reason parents are encouraged to be present on the 17th or 19th to see their sons awarded his certificate.

Association For Players Formed

CLEVELAND (AP)—The major league baseball players have organized formally into an association with by-laws and a constitution but no dues. J. Norman Lewis, their lawyer, goes out of his way to insist this is no union.

Lewis will receive a reported $30,000 fee for services rendered in helping the players negotiate a new pension contract with the owners. His fee covers work through October 1954.

"There is no definite arrangement for the future after October," said Lewis. "We didn't discuss it. That is something that probably will be decided later."

Lewis' fee will come out of the central fund into which All-Star Game gate receipts and All-Star and World Series radio-television cash is placed. According to Lewis, the owners' committee already has agreed to the payment and the players followed suit yesterday.

Pension payments also are paid out of the same central fund.

The 16 current player representatives, one from each big league club, will continue in office until July '55, when a general election will be held. The term of office will be two years. In the past there has been no formal term. Two league player representatives also will be elected for two years in 1955.

There will be four regular meetings of the player representatives, the first week in April, All-Star week, World Series week and the first week in December.

The player representatives have been functioning, without by-laws or a positive legal setup since 1946 after the Mexican League threat when several players "jumped" to Mexico and Robert Murphy, Boston lawyer, tried unsuccessfully to organize a players' union.

To assist in handling the pension fund, Allie Reynolds of the New York Yankees and Ralph Kiner of Chicago Cubs were elected to two-year terms. They will serve on a four-man committee with John Galbreath, Pittsburgh owner, and Hank Greenberg, Cleveland general manager.

Present pension agreement expires with the end of the radio-TV by which the pension fund will get 60 per cent and the owners 40 per cent of the All-Star game and world Series TV will be drawn up by Lewis and the lawyers of the two majors, Ben Fieny of the American and Lou Carroll of the National. The present pension agreement expires contracts in 1955.

Outfielders Hog Spotlight In Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielders hogged the spotlight in the major league batting races today with Duke Snider of Brooklyn and Irv Noren of the New York Yankees showing the way and several others in contention.

Snider slumped seven points to .367 last week with 11 hits in 35 at bats. Meanwhile outfielders Don Mueller of the Giants and Gus Bell of Cincinnati closed in. Mueller with a three-point increase to .356 and Bell with a four-point gain to .344.

Wally Moon, St. Louis outfielder, is fourth at .333 followed by teammates Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial with .331.

In the American League, Noren took over the top spot from Cleveland's Bobby Avila. Irv gained 15 points to .344 while Avila tailed off nine to .341.

Trabert Starts In Clay Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the nation's first-ranked singles star, makes his first appearance today as action picks up in the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament.

Trabert, who drew a first-round bye, meets Bernard Frank of Evanston, Ill., in a second-round afternoon match.

Women players idle Monday begin their matches today. In all, 32 feminine swingers are entered.

Local Bible Study Group Will Hold Session Tonight

Pictured above are leaders in the youth Bible study group, "Youth Crusade for Christ," formed recently as a follow-up program to the evangelistic crusade here by Eddie Martin. Standing, left to right: Jimmy Phelps, chairman of the petitioning committee; Tommy Bodkin, vice president of the group; Doris Cole, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Gibbons, president. Seated, left to right, are: the Rev. J. Malloy Owen, instructor of the Bible class; and the Rev. Leonard W. Topping, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association.

Another session of the Bible study group formed by the young people of the county as a follow-up to the recent Eddie Martin evangelistic campaign will be held tonight at 7:30 in the sanctuary of the Memorial Baptist Church, according to the Rev. J. Malloy Owen, instructor of the group.

As a follow-up program to Eddie Martin's evangelistic crusade here more than 200 young people have organized a youth Bible study group, meeting every week in one of the local churches.

The group was organized at the suggestion of Martin, who advocated a vigorous follow-up program to his evangelistic campaign among the youth of Pitt County, with attention focused upon the teaching of the Bible.

Chosen by Evangelist Martin, Reverend Owen, minister of the St. James Methodist Church, is instructing the group.

Officers elected before the county crusade closed were Bob Gibbons, Duke University junior, president; Tommy Bodkin, Greenville High School senior, vice president; and Doris Cole, Winterville High School senior, secretary-treasurer.

President of the Greenville Ministerial Association, the Rev. Leonard W. Topping, who served as general chairman of the Martin crusade stated, "The Bible study pursued by the youth division of the evangelistic crusade is one of the practical issues of the county-wide campaign.

"I hope it will be a means of encouragement of the young people to study their Bibles more diligently in times of private devotion.

I highly recommend that the youth attend these Bible studies," he concluded.

Discussing the purpose of the organization, President Gibbons said, "The emphasis is being placed on the study of the Bible because this is the principle means of Christian growth."

Speaking for the group, Gibbons said, "We wish to present a united front for Christ in order that we may win the other youth in our county."

Some twenty "prayer cells" have been formed to meet informally in private homes for prayer. These, small, intimate groups meet where and when they choose.

Women Brought Road Building

TOKYO (AP)—Tax coffers were as dry as the roads were wet. So women of Okachi Island near Sasebo decided to do something for their children who waded through mud to school during the prolonged rainy season.

They planned a sumo tournament to start a fund for a two-lane paved road. Husbands watched aghast as their wives—clad in the traditional sumo costume of scant breech cloth, rope and unworpt hair—contorted through the grotesque leg-swinging, muscle-flexing warm-up routines in preparation for the wrestling matches.

The men hastily subscribed the money and built the road, paved with a hard promise that the women stay out of the sumo ring.

Russian Vessel To Risk Seizure

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warships may attempt to intercept the 15,000-ton Soviet tanker Leningrad, which has cleared Singapore for Shanghai in Red China, a high Nationalist official indicated today.

There was no comment concerning three other Soviet ships reported heading northward—two toward the Siberian port of Vladivostok, and one for Red China.

But there was widespread speculation here that the Soviet merchant ships might rendezvous with a submarine escort for the dangerous voyage through waters patrolled by Nationalist naval vessels.

The Nationalists seized the 8,940-ton Soviet tanker Tuapse June 23.

An official with top-level contacts, when asked today if the same fate faces the Leningrad replied:

"We have not received any official information on the movements of the Leningrad, but perhaps we will take the same action as we did in the case of the Tuapse."

The Leningrad reportedly carries a cargo of kerosene and diesel oil for Communist China. The Tuapse's petroleum cargo, also destined for Shanghai, has been unloaded by the Nationalists.

Accuses Kerr Of Buying Election

Gov. Roy J. Turner withdrew from Oklahoma's runoff primary election last night, automatically giving the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate to Sen. Robert S. Kerr.

Turner, though personally wealthy with cattle and oil millions, said lack of finances prevented his making the campaign for the runoff, which had been scheduled July 21.

Under Oklahoma law no candidate may personally spend more than $3,000 in the Senate race. Turner said "pressure" on friends—through whom big campaigns are generally financed—prevented them from cooperating as originally intended.

He accused Kerr of buying the first primary election. "Deluges of money altered the results last Tuesday," he declared in a statement released at midnight.

Kerr had a plurality of 33,302 votes, leading Turner 238,543 to 205,841, but strength of seven other Democratic candidates blocked his bid for a majority and forced the contest into a runoff.

Kerr will now face the Republican runoff winner in the Nov. 2 general election.

"The information came as a complete but very pleasant surprise to me," said Kerr.

Elite 82nd Will Show Might To Pentagon Brass

By ELTON C. FAY
FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—The Army massed its elite outfit, the 82nd Airborne Division, for a dress review to show Pentagon officials today a mobile striking force.

To the approximate 17,500 men of the famous airborne division, the Army added several thousand supporting troops and some of its newest atomic age weapons, including a six-gun battalion of 280 mm. nuclear cannon, two batteries of the "Honest John" heavy rocket weapon and two tank battalions.

The review and demonstration was set up for top Washington officials invited to Ft. Bragg among them Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert B. Anderson, Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and the Army chief of staff, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the latter a World War II commander of the 82nd. Secretary of Defense Wilson canceled plans to attend so he could go to the Detroit funeral of a former associate.

Only rarely is a full Army division assembled for a formal review an occasion which takes weeks of planning and days of equipment polishing. It takes hours just to parade almost 18,000 men, their trucks, jeeps, weapons carriers, tanks and guns past a reviewing point.

But the Army plans were not confined to a mere formal parade. They scheduled also an actual, capsule demonstration of the "vertical envelopment" technique of the modern battlefield, assigning a battalion (about 800 men) to stage a parachute drop of troops and heavy equipment.

The 82nd Airborne is virtually the only one of eight divisions in the United States at full strength and high mobility, it thus represents virtually the core around which would be deployed to any point in the world in a new and serious emergency.

Actors, Writers Lose Damage Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Twenty-three film actors and writers have lost their $51,750,000 damage suit against major studios which denied them employment for refusing to say whether they had Communist affiliations.

Superior Judge Ellsworth Meyer threw the suit out of court yesterday and ordered judgment in favor of the studios and other defendants, including members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The judge charged that they had been penalized for exercising their right under the Fifth Amendment. They argued they had been blacklisted by studios after being subpoenaed by the House Committee in 1952.

However, the judge held that the plaintiffs did not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause for action. And he added that in a criminal prosecution or investigation, a court or jury is entitled to draw unfavorable inferences from refusal of witnesses to testify.

In addition to studios and film executives, defendants included Representatives Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.) and Clyde Doyle (D-Calif.) of the House committee, and committee investigator William Wheeler.

Bringing the suit were Michael

Wilson, Gale Sondergaard, Howard Da Silva, John Howland Chamberlain, Fred Graf, Alvin Hammer, Donald A. Gordon, Robert Lees, Robert L. Richards, Waldo Salt, Philip Stevenson, Louise Rosseau, Alfred Lewis Levitt, Paul Jarrico, Abraham Lincoln Polansky, Wilma Shore, Herta Uerkvitz, Paul Perlin, Guy Endore, Edward F. Huebsch, Frederick I. Rinaldo, Louis Solomon and Anne Revers.

Pentagon Area's Traffic Unsafe

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—The highways around the Pentagon, which houses this country's defense department, are termed "one of the most serious traffic hazards" on the Eastern Seaboard by the American Motorist, monthly magazine of the American Automobile Assn.

The magazine said its safety director reported that directional signs were too close to intersections and turn-offs, that the signs were made of wood and were black on white and hard to read at night.

It reported that the area was the scene of 139 accidents in a year, with 32 persons injured.

Stevens Finds He's Deep In McCarthy Land

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—U.S. Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens found himself knee deep in McCarthyism yesterday when his plane stopped at this international airport en route from Paris to Washington.

The secretary has been touring Army units in West Europe. Operations officer Charles McCarthy cleared the plane for landing.

At the control tower microphone was Jack McCarthy. The immigration officer who okayed Stevens to leave the plane was another Jack McCarthy.

The customs officer who learned he had nothing to declare — just passing through — was John McCarthy. Stevens went to the airport post office to mail some postcards and got his stamps from Tom McCarthy.

Messenger Nick McCarthy took his order for a cup of coffee, and lounge attendant Paddy McCarthy brought it to him.

Model Nuclear Engine Has Shown Value In Testings

By FRANK CAREY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The land-based model of the world's first nuclear submarine engine "has already produced more than enough power to send an atomic submarine around the world, fully submerged and at full speed."

The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee said so today in a report to the Senate, and House recommending a series of changes in the basic Atomic Energy Act.

The engine, a land-based "prototype" of the atomic engine now installed in the USS Nautilus, is located at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing site in eastern Idaho.

Speaking of prospects for economic atomic power for industry, however, the committee said only that such an objective "is on the horizon, though not within our immediate reach."

The legislation which the committee recommended would generally carry out President Eisenhower's recommendations for changes in the 1946 Atomic Act to allow exchange of some nuclear secrets with Allied nations and permit private industry to enter the atomic power field.

The bill as a whole was unanimously approved by the 18-member committee, but some members expressed sharp dissents on some sections. The Senate may begin debate on the measure late today or tomorrow.

The bill would:
1. Authorize the negotiations of agreements with foreign nations in the area of peacetime uses of atomic energy. The committee said this would provide "a mechanism to implement the President's peacetime international atomic pool plan."

2. Permit the AEC to transfer to another nation participating in such an agreement atomic materials in quantities needed for the development or utilization of atomic energy for nonmilitary and research purposes.

3. Allow transfer to another nation, or to a regional defense organization, secret data concerning the tactical employment of atomic weapons—but not including any information on their design and fabrication.

The committee said such information would include "data necessary to the development of defense plans, the training of personnel in the employment of, and defense against, atomic weapons and the evaluation of the capabilities of potential enemies in the employment of atomic weapons."

4. Permit the AEC to license private industry to possess and utilize atomic materials and to own atomic reactors or "furnaces" designed to produce and utilize such materials.

Just Her Size, But Not Buying

MIAMI Fla. (AP)—"Have you a 15-pound roast?" the woman customer asked Butcher Eddie Thal.

Thal wrestled one out of the cooler and laid it on the counter. The woman looked at it sighed happily and turned toward the door.

"It's U.S. prime," Thal pleaded. "Doesn't it look all right?" "Oh, I didn't want to buy it," the woman said. "I've just lost 14 pounds and I wanted to see what that much meat looks like."

Tobacco Crop In Pitt Again Will Lead All Others

This year Pitt County, as previously will produce and sell more brightly leaf flue-cured tobacco than will be produced or sold in any other county in the entire world, according to a report just released by W.L. Wheedee, supervisor of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade.

The report is indicative this year for a crop in this vicinity "of good quality with the poundage slightly less than last year's crop."

Weather conditions prevailing over that section of Eastern North Carolina from which the Greenville Tobacco Market draws tobacco for its auction sales, since the date of the last crop report, have been as follows:

During the month of June rainfall was somewhat under normal. However, since July 1 rainfall has been normal or above, with over-c cloudy skies following the local showers and also the big general rains on July 9-11.

Effect of these weather conditions on the tobacco crop in this section generally have been as follows, according to Wheedee's report:

Growth and development were somewhat retarded during the month of June, of the tobacco which was set out at the very first of the transplanting season. However, with the coming of the July rains, "tops are filling out nicely and the tobacco plants are experiencing a normal growth."

The modern transit sheds at the North Carolina State Dock at Wilmington are constructed of steel, concrete and masonry, and are each 79,000 square feet large.

Convict Mother Of Child Brutality

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A young mother of eight children has been convicted of prolonged brutality against a 9-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Trinidad Vera, 28, was convicted by a jury yesterday of six felony counts, including four of assault, one mayhem and one of assault with a deadly weapon. That makes her liable for a prison term of from 6 to 64 years.

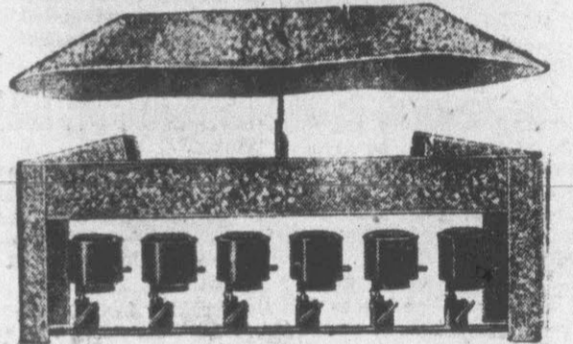

She had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. Trial of the sanity plea begins Thursday.

During the trial the child, Celia Sanchez, and other witnesses testified that two years of mistreatment resulted in permanent damage to her vision, two skull fractures, many broken arms, loss of teeth and other injuries. Her trice-broken left arm still is in a cast despite extensive treatment that started in April when her plight was discovered.

Celia's stepfather, Jose Cruz Vera, 43, an ex-convict, was charged during the trial with four counts of felonious assault against Celia and one count of child molestation. He was jailed in lieu of $10,000 bail.

The Veras have six children of their own. Celia and a sister were Mrs. Vera's children by a previous marriage. Juvenile authorities said the mother told them she could give no reason for the beatings. Investigator indicated the other children were not mistreated.

ABELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CHAPTER THIRTY TWO
APPARENTLY Walt had not finished all he had to say to Cynthia. "I must admit," he said brusquely, "that I did feel I had to save you from that—this Norman Brandt. I don't believe he's the right sort of man for you. You come from a different background; you shouldn't marry someone apart from your profession, waste yourself on someone who doesn't share your work."

"I suppose I'm saying it very badly." Now the rare smile came to Walt's handsome mouth and he tried to soften the harshness of his voice. "I guess what I'm trying to tell you Cynthia, is that although it may be true that my work comes first, my work needs you, and I need you—to help me make it as important as it should be."

At least he was being honest, Cynthia thought. Most of her anger began to evaporate.

"My life—my work—couldn't be the same without you, Cynthia. If that makes any sense—if it is any proof—will you marry me?"

His eyes met hers in a direct glance. His manner, for him, was as humble as it ever could be. If he had taken her in his arms and kissed her not demanding but tenderly, that might have helped. Yet he was not a man who could easily show his affection, no matter how deep that affection might be.

And, because of last night, Cynthia did not want Walt to kiss her now.

She did not want him to turn back and take her home, either. She would go on with him—not just to Richmond today, but she would continue working side by side with him, day after day, because she, too, loved the work they shared. As for whether or not she would share the rest of his life, she still could not say. But even if she was not sure that she could accept his kind of love, this half a loaf, at least her woman's pride had been appeased.

So her voice was gentle as she said, "Walt, I honestly don't know I don't even know what could possibly happen to make me certain. But I can't say I'll marry you until there's not the faintest shadow of any doubt."

"I suppose you're right." That was the admission he usually gave somewhat grudgingly, though now he tried to smile. But he did not say as before, that she should take all the time she wanted. Instead, he added, "We could be married sooner than I'd thought. As you probably know, I've had several other conferences with Mrs. Brandt as well as with some of the people who will be on the board. The work on the clinic can start almost immediately. It should be well along, perhaps finished, by fall. Then we could be married, Cynthia. Of course I want you to be certain, and I want you to be happy—that is the most important thing."

"Thank you for saying that, Walt." She was glad he had. It proved that Walt was not entirely selfish and that fundamentally his standards were sound. Yet she had always known that. Otherwise, she could not have admired him so much—believed herself in love with him.

Walt started the car and they drove on. He tried to put aside that professional manner of his. He even managed to be almost gay. They talked of other things—Julius's progress and Walt's schedule for the child's treatments, which would start as soon as the boy was dismissed from the hospital. He said he was determined that the boy not only should walk but that he should walk without any sign of a limp.

Cynthia recalled what she had told Norman—that she feared Julius might never be able to run and play like other children, unless a miracle could take place. And Norman had said that he hoped her doctor would prove to be that miracle man.

Now it began to look as though Walt might well be. He had been so encouraged after the examination he had made today that he seemed confident the little boy's leg and hip would one day be perfect again.

Cynthia was as interested as Walt was in their tour and inspector of the health center. The doctor made a number of notes and asked a great many questions, even about costs and upkeep. And Cynthia, smiling to herself, decided that she had been right—Walt, in accepting Elizabeth's ideas, had made them his own.

On their way home they stopped at a roadside restaurant for dinner. It turned out to be a pleasant spot; excellent food, a restful and yes, almost romantic atmosphere, with even a dance orchestra.

To her surprise, Walt asked if she would like to dance.

"I didn't suppose you ever did anything so frivolous!" Her laughing eyes teased him, as his arm circled her slender waist.

"I used to be quite a dancer when I was in college," the young doctor returned, his own eyes twinkling. "You should have seen me!"

They danced together nicely, although he was not quite so good a partner as Norman. But that doesn't matter, she told herself when the music stopped and they returned to their table. You don't choose your life partner because he's a good dancer. She almost laughed out loud, remembering what Roz had said about its being a big mistake if she and Norman did not form a lifetime partnership. This made her remember one more issue it would be well to clear up now, since this had been a day for clearing up things.

She told Walt that as the benefit was to be the following Friday evening Mrs. Brandt was having a few people at Pleasantridge to watch it over television. "Elizabeth has asked me to come," she added. "And I believe she intends to invite you, Walt."

She wanted him to know that she intended to continue her friendship with the Brandts.

That scowl started to creep back in place, but the young doctor managed to banish it. "I shouldn't take time for such social events," he said, but he managed a smile. "However if you want me to accept the invitation, I will, Cynthia."

Cynthia smiled, too. She did want him to accept. She wanted him to show the Brandts that he could be friendly and nice, not the boor he had been that other time at Pleasantridge.

Nevertheless, Cynthia felt certain that Elizabeth Brandt knew character well enough to understand that Walt was actually a fine person. Elizabeth would approve of his putting his work before anything else. She would understand that when Walt acted brusque, or discourteous, it was only a defense to cover up more vulnerable qualities.

When she was in for a third surprise when Walt took her to her door, after a pleasant drive back. For Walt did kiss Cynthia goodnight. It was not a short, fierce kiss. It was quite a long one. It began as almost a light and tender kiss but it ended up with enough ardor to convince the young nurse quite thoroughly that this young doctor could be entirely unprofessional upon occasion—altogether an average young man with plenty of red corpuscles.

Yet she still was not sure about her own feelings. For Walt's good-night kiss had not swept her off her feet. Maybe, she told herself ruefully, she expected too much of this thing called love. Maybe it was only a fancy. It had not proved real in Nora's case. It might be just something people dreamed up—not real, after all.

Eisenhower Likes Legislative Record

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says he feels pretty good about the way Congress, almost evenly divided among Democrats and Republicans, has treated his program. The full treatment won't be known until Congress winds up its work, perhaps at the end of this month.

Eisenhower wants the voters in the November congressional elections to judge his Republican administration by the kind of program Congress enacts.

Here is the record to date: Passed by both House and Senate and now law:

American participation in the St. Lawrence seaway; extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act for one year; a defense pact with South Korea; creation of an Air Force academy; extension of major excise tax rates and cutting of others; providing two billion dollars for highway construction; and increasing the borrowing power of the Commodity Credit Corp.

Passed by both houses but with differences which require compromise before final passage which seems assured in some form:

A general overhaul of the tax laws and a housing act. The Senate gave Eisenhower most of what he wanted on housing; authority to build 35,000 public units a year for four years; continuing government-insured loans on homes; and use of one billion dollars for slum clearance. The House, which had acted ahead of the Senate, wanted no part of the 35,000 public housing units. Whether the House will yield now and go along with the Senate is not known.

Passed by one house and therefore not law unless the other also approves:

The 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid bill the farm bill; the wire-tapping bill; and the social security bill. The House has passed the foreign aid bill. The Senate hasn't voted yet. But it seems pretty sure Eisenhower will get a sizable chunk of the 3½ billion dollars he asked. Eisenhower won a victory, not yet complete, when the House approved the farm bill with recognition of the principle that there should be a sliding scale—82½ to 90 per cent of parity—on farm price supports for basic products. Supports have been at 90 per cent for years. It's uncertain whether the Senate when it votes, will go along.

The White House wanted a law permitting use of wire-tapped information in trials of subversives. The House voted for such a bill, in modified form. The Senate may not.

The House pleased Eisenhower by approving a bill to widen the social security program, bringing under its coverage up to 10 million more people. The Senate seems likely to go along.

What Eisenhower asked for and hasn't got so far:

Reinsurance on private health insurance; statehood for Hawaii; revision of the Taft-Hartley Act; a constitutional amendment permitting 18-year-olds to vote; and revision of the Atomic Energy Act to permit this government to give allies more atomic information.

The Democrats, by teaming up, pressed up Eisenhower on Hawaii and Taft-Hartley. In the Senate they worked in statehood for Alaska as well as Hawaii. The House wanted statehood for Hawaii only. Probable result: statehood to neither.

The Democrats didn't like the administration's proposed change in Taft-Hartley and managed to get them sent to the cooler for this year.

Eisenhower won a big victory, by a narrow squeak and vigorous effort, in getting the Senate to block the Bricker amendment. Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and others wanted a constitutional amendment limiting the scope of treaties with other countries.

Rocket Fuel Used To Fight Disease

By STEVEN V. DAVID (For Sam Dawson)

NEW YORK (AP) — A clear colorless liquid which the Germans used to power their wartime rockets promises to make life easier and healthier for you.

The liquid is a chemical called hydrazine. Full-scale production has been under way in this country only a year, but already it is being used in the manufacture of drugs, photographic chemicals, insecticides, plant growth regulators and many other things.

Hydrazine was discovered more than 60 years ago in Germany. Largely because of its difficult preparation and unsuspected applications, nothing much was done about it until World War II, when the Nazis used it to fuel their rockets.

Hydrazine is one of the most highly reactive of the inorganic chemicals. It also is a very powerful and concentrated source of chemical energy.

Development of its military uses is continuing in this country. But Matheson Corp., owned jointly by Matheson Chemical Corp. and Olin Industries, Inc., biggest producer of hydrazine in the United States points out that its nonmilitary uses are growing all the time.

This doesn't mean that huge quantities are being made. "A little of it goes a long way," comments a Matheson official. "But it is sufficiently different in what it will do that we expect it to become an important basic chemical."

In the drug field, Matheson says, hydrazine derivatives show promise in treating tuberculosis, high blood pressure and urinary tract infections. Hydrazine is being employed in the preparation of hormones, antihistamines antibiotics and certain vitamins and sulfa drugs.

A hydrazine derivative called maleic hydrazide slows down the growth of grass. The Naugatuck Chemical Division of the United States Rubber Co. discovered the derivative and tried it out on grass plots along Eastern highways. In some cases, it cut mowings during the growing season from 19 to 2.

Maleic hydrazide retards cell division temporarily, Naugatuck says. It works only on plants and has no effect on humans or animals. The company doesn't recommend spraying full lawns with it, however, unless power spraying equipment is used. Otherwise you may get an uneven lawn and possibly some burned-out sections.

Maleic hydrazide also is used as a spray to stop onions and potatoes from sprouting during winter storage. It prevents the flowering of tobacco and delays the opening of buds on fruit trees until the damage of frost is past. Other derivatives of hydrazine are used as insecticides and fungicides.

The chemical has numerous industrial applications, including use in boiler water treatment and as a reducing agent for such work as separating rare metals in a pure state from their oxides or salts.

Looking Back At Old Pay Scales

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) The Commercial Appeal recently came up with this one in its 100-years-ago column:

Burl Ives...Expert On Cooking A Goat

By HUBBARD KEAVY (For Bob Thomas)
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All I know about cooking goat I owe to Burl Ives.
This piece concerns baking, goat meat, which is fair warning to those with conventional palates. Turn now to the classified section if you think Ives and I may offend your delicate stomach.
This ballad singer is a great eater all 260 pounds of him. He's a great chef too. If you cook a hunk of goat — or chevon as the fancy cook books call it — you will be disadvantaged because you won't have Ives' ballads between basting. If he should turn up at your house, which is doubtful because he is busy playing the sheriff in "East of Eden," don't ask him to sing "Blue Tail Fly." He's beginning to hate it.
What you do is get a leg (we had four) of chevon from the nearest grocery. Punch three or four holes in same and insert a clove of garlic in each. Put the meat in a roasting pan and sprinkle with salt and worcestershire over it. Then pour on a generous amount of melted butter. Shake on some freshly ground pepper. Have the oven preheated, at 300 degrees, and bake about three hours. Baste every 15 minutes.
Then mix one cup of papaya nec-

Grandmother Likes Her Sole Role As Diplomat

By NADEANE WALKER AP Newsfeatures

STOCKHOLM—"I'm not a bit embarrassed at being the only woman in a man's world; I like it," says Mexico's new minister to Sweden, a handsome blonde, blue-eyed grandmother.

Mrs. Amalia de Castillo Ledon had just wound up nearly a hundred protocol visits which occupied her first three months here.

"Now," she says, "I think I will begin writing articles about Sweden for Excelsior." That's the Mexico City newspaper for which she used to write a regular column.

"I'm starting a round of visits to factories, everything from steel and iron to porcelain and crystal, and I want to visit Lapland and other parts of Sweden during the summer."

Hailed on her arrival as the Mrs. Roosevelt of Mexico, the Mexican minister is the second top-ranking woman diplomat to serve in Sweden. The first—and the world's first—was Russia's Mrs. Alexandra Kollontay, who was here before the war.

Mrs. Ledon is also the second Mexican woman to serve as a minister. The first was sent to Colombia 14 years ago.

Ambassadors and ministers usually go into hate and tails to present their credentials to the King on arriving here. Mrs. Ledon went in a long dress with long gloves and wearing her decorations.

On a second, less formal, presentation to the palace, she was presented to Queen Louise and the royal household. The attractive minister is enthusiastic about Swedish women. "They're so slim and well-dressed; so soft and sweet."

Swedish children: "I think they must be about the most beautiful children in the world; sometimes I have to stop and express my admiration in the street even if they can't understand me."
The chic, well-dressed diplomat looks far too young to have three children and seven grandchildren, but she has been in Mexican political and social work for 20 years. Starting as a teacher, she created several organizations for women.

"One thing led to another," she says of the career which brought her the post of Mexican minister and alternative delegate to the United Nations six years ago. She served a four-year term as chairman of the Inter-American Commission of Women, travelling in 21 countries to work for the recognition of women's rights.

"In Sweden," she reports happily, "women have nearly their full quota of civil rights already."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Active and higher railroads pointed the stock market ahead today in the early afternoon.

While gains went to around 2 points at the best, they were counterbalanced to a certain degree by losses that in cases went to between 1 and 2 points.

Trading was brisk, especially in the first hour, and volume hit a pace right around yesterday's 2,300,000 shares.

Railroads, together with several other major divisions, displayed early advancing tendencies. In the second hour, the rails became much more lively and stepped ahead in heavy trading. The pace slackened later but prices held well.

Also ahead were the steels, aircraft radio-televisions, and movie issues. There were no sharply depressed sections, but minus signs were shown in motors, rubbers, coppers, chemicals, oils, and electrical equipments.

Higher stocks included Seaboard Railroad, Great Northern, New York Central, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, RKO Theaters, 20th Century-Fox, Burlington Mills, U.S. Steel, North American Aviation and Radio Corp.

Lower were Deep Rock Oil, American Telephone, Lone Star Gas, General Electric, Pacific Mills, Chrysler, Goodrich, and American Tobacco.

GUATEMALA (AP)—Col. Castillo Armas President of Guatemala's new military junta, says he will keep in effect the land reform law under which former government split many large estates among the peasants.

The controversial measure, ex-President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman resulted in confiscation of 234,000 acres of land belonging to the U.S.-owned United Fruit Co., according to company officials.

Speaking yesterday at an anti-Communist rally here in the capital, Castillo Armas said the settlers who have taken over the land will now be made outright owners, not mere tenants on lease as under the Communist system.

He did not say what the new government would do about compensating the former owners. The Arbenz government had rejected a demand by the U.S. State Department that Guatemala pay United Fruit 15 million dollars or submit the matter to international arbitration.

The leader of the successful revolt against Arbenz and his Communist backers pledged to fight the Reds with the "new weapons of social justice, welfare, work, sound economy and finance and respect for personality."

He told the cheering throng that the fight is on, also, against persons charged with crimes under the Arbenz government.

DURHAM (AP)—A homesick Negro was being held here today charged with murder after police said he admitted yesterday the killing of a woman 16 years ago.

Officers said the man entered the police station last night, dropped a suitcase, and said: "I'm Rudy Faucette. I killed a woman here back in 1938."

Police quoted Faucette as saying he decided to give himself up after talking to relatives in New York recently, making him homesick.

Faucette told police he started for Durham from Hartford, Conn., in June, stopping in New York to see some major league baseball games.

PROLIFIC COW ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP)—A cow on the Charles Brown farm has had six calves in two years: Twins, a single calf, then triplets this year.

Pitt County had 21 fewer accidents and three less traffic fatalities during the first six months of 1954 than were recorded during the same period in 1953, according to figures released by Cpl. C. E. Whitfield of the State Highway Patrol today.

The figures showed that during the period from January 1, 1953 to June 30, 1953, 123 traffic accidents were investigated by highway patrolmen assigned to Pitt County. During the same period in 1954 only 102 wrecks were reported.

During the first six months of 1953 five persons died as a result of injuries received in highway accidents. Only one person had been killed on Pitt County roads during the six-month period in 1954.

However, another fatality was added to the total during this month which is included in the second half of 1954. The second fatality came last Saturday night when a car overshot a curve on the Stanfordsburg road.

The first fatality came in May when a car ran off the road near Farmville.

Injuries this year are also running behind last year, according to the report. Within the first six months last year 38 persons were injured in car smashups. This year at the end of June the total injuries were seven less than during the previous year with only 31 recorded.

Property Damage Down Estimated property damage for the first half of 1954 was far behind the corresponding period last year. Motorists damaged their autos and other property by an estimated $60,075 during the period in 1953 while on June 30, 1954 only $44,690 in property damage had been reported—a reduction of some $15,475.

But with the drop in accidents, injuries, fatalities, and property damage, came a corresponding sharp increase in enforcement of the highway laws by the county's patrolmen.

In the first six months of 1953 the highway patrolmen charged 1,235 motorists with traffic violations. Through June 30 of this year some 1,656 vehicle operators had been cited—an increase of 421.

The patrolmen investigated more wrecks with the heaviest property damage during March of this year than any other month so far. The report showed 23 accidents during that month with seven injuries and property damage estimated at $13,640. Some 280 drivers were charged with traffic violations during March.

Lightest Month The lightest month this year was April when 12 accidents were recorded. Only two injuries were reported and property damage amounted to $4,450 while 277 arrests were made.

The one fatality during the first six months of 1954 came in May. Also during May more motorists were charged with traffic violations than during any other month with a total of 330. Five persons were injured that month and damages amounted to $4,700.

Totals for other months include: January—Accidents, 21, injuries, 9; fatalities, 0; damages, $9,590; enforcements, 289. February—accidents, 15; injuries, 3; fatalities, 0; damages, $7,700; enforcements, 295. March—accidents, 23; injuries, 7; fatalities, 0; damages, $13,640; enforcements, 260. June—accidents, 16; injuries, 5; fatalities, 0; damages, $4,520; enforcement, 205.

During the entire year of 1953, 14 deaths were recorded in Pitt County as a result of highway wrecks. Since 1938 traffic fatalities have ranged from as high as 18 in 1938 and 1950 to as low as three in 1945 and 1948.

Highway Patrol records show the following highway deaths year-by-year since 1938: 1938, 18; 1939, 13; 1940, 10; 1941, 13; 1942, 9; 1943, 17; 1944, 10; 1945, 3; 1946, 14; 1947, 5; 1948, 3; 1949, 12; 1950, 16; 1951, 10; 1952, 12; 1953, 14.

Court Has Plan To Insure That Vacation Money

GREENSBORO (AP)—Need money for that 1954 vacation? Do you have trouble squirreling away that little nest egg? Try the easy, automatic Guilford Superior Court way—miss a payment and bingo! 12 months on the roads.

It works this way—or did yesterday when Randolph Gray, 19 and Delbert Patton, 20, of Burlington pleaded guilty to theft of $68 in goods from a filling station.

Judge Allen H. Gwyn of Reidsville suspended their 12-month road terms on condition that they pay the clerk of court $5 weekly through July, 1959.

At the end of that period they may withdraw the total — $1,300 each.

And if they goof in the meantime, they forfeit the bundle and pay interest at the working end of Prisons Department picks.

Wage-Price Inflation Spiral Still In Doubt

By SAM DAWSON NEW YORK (AP)—Will a wage-price hike in the steel industry spread to other industries and start another inflation spiral?

Such spirals in postwar years sent the bread buyer and the bread winner into a race to keep up with each other. Wages went up generally and prices went up generally. And the purchasing power of the dollar in the nation's stores took it on the chin.

Steel industry spokesmen say that the new wage hikes plus the insurance and pension provisions of the new union contract would justify a raise in the price of steel products.

The question for them to decide is whether their customers will balk in these days of fierce competition in the steel business. Some steel products have competitors among the other metals and the plastics.

And the makers of autos household gadgets and other big users of steel may argue that it's hard enough as it is to find customers for their products at present prices—let alone trying to pass along another steel price hike in the form of higher prices on consumer goods.

Since the wage and benefit package which the steel companies have negotiated with the steel workers is the most generous of any this year in a major industry there's a chance that other unions will push hard for similar gains.

Managements in other industries would be just as convinced as the steel companies that hikes in labor costs justify a boost in consumer product prices.

Labor leaders on the other hand argue that corporate profits are high enough to absorb the wage increases without raising prices.

In other postwar years wage boosts often laid the basis for another round of inflation.

This year as in many other postwar years there is also at hand that fertile seed bed for inflation—a federal policy of easy money and easy credit.

But business observers point out today that other conditions aren't the same this year and that the chances of another inflationary spiral aren't great.

Postwar shortages that sent customers scurrying to buy at any price are things of the past. For another thing consumer demand is much less active now. And finally this time the consumer won't be competing with the military fog goods. The defense program has been stretched out and military buying is considerably less than two years ago.

This means that there are plenty of goods to be had. Price hiking whether justified by costs or not, will be a tricky business.

Talk Abolishing Public Schools

JACKSON Miss. (AP)—A state constitutional amendment opening the door for abolishing public schools was recommended by Mississippi's committee seeking ways to dodge the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public education.

Gov. Hugh White said yesterday he would call the Legislature into special session early in September to consider the proposed amendment to Mississippi's 64-year-old Constitution.

It would authorize the Legislature by a two-thirds vote to abolish public schools, statewide or on a local option basis, if necessary to maintain segregation.

Members of Mississippi's Legal Education Advisory Committee declared it would be used only as a last resort.

The amendment is viewed as a safeguard if Negroes try to force school integration. It could be held over their heads as a threat—cooperate or lose your public schools.

Private, segregated schools with state aid could be set up under the amendment, which would wipe out the present constitutional requirement that public schools be provided.

The advisory committee said it would recommend that the Legislature get started on a building program to improve Negro schools but only if the proposed constitutional amendment were approved for protection.

FURNITURE MEN Look For Brisk Fall Business

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—A brisk fall business was forecast by furniture company representatives here for the Southern Furniture and Rug Market.

The market opened yesterday with more than 1,500 furniture retailers registered. More than 5,000 are expected before the market ends July 22.

A panel yesterday predicted good fall business. Leo J. Heer, manager of the Southern Furniture Exposition Building, the moderator, said that national figures indicated that retail store business during June of 1954 equaled business of June, 1953.

There was some order writing done yesterday but market officials said it is too early to tell if buyers are buying to sample or will buy in depth.

Officials said they expected this to be a buyer's market.

Will Determine Risks Run By Uranium Miners

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Are uranium miners exposing themselves to radioactivity which could shorten their lives? The U.S. Public Health Service is going to find out, if it can.

The service, in cooperation with the Atomic Energy Commission and the health departments of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico, has sent two motor caravans on the vast Colorado Plateau, heart of the nation's uranium boom, to gather the facts.

Actually begun in 1950, the study may take years to complete. The motorized medical teams are scheduled to visit 20 mining districts in the four-state area this summer. Officials said that more than 1,000 miners and mill workers have been examined in the last four years.
