Right On The Nose

Navy Lt. J. M. Brown awaits rescue from the cockpit of his F4U Corsair fighter plane which wound up in this unusual position after a freak takeoff accident at the Naval Air Station at Atlanta. Lt. Brown, who was uninjured, had to sit high and dry until the plane was braced and a stepladder extended to the cockpit. His plane was about two feet off the ground on takeoff when the engine cut out. The craft ran off the runway, hit into soft dirt and flipped up on its nose. (AP Photo from U.S. Navy)

Rhee, Dulles And President Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Syngman Rhee of South Korea conferred with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles today at the formal opening of friendly but blunt talks on military and economic problems besetting partitioned Korea. Rhee was regarded as certain to renew his demand for steps to unify Korea. The outspoken 70-year-old South Korean President had set a blunt tone in an impromptu statement on his arrival yesterday for intensive talks running through Friday. He thanked the American people for their aid but said there would be no unification worries if the Allies "only had a little more courage" in driving out the Communists. He said the reds were not pushed "some people had a little cold feet." Eisenhower also gave an indication at his news conference last week of the frank nature the talks are expected to assume. He said then he knew of no one in this country who was advocating resumption of Korean hostilities. Rhee and his wife were overnight guests at the White House.

Order Aged Man Be Held For Grand Jury

A six-man coroner's jury last night recommended 72-year-old Henry Marvel Harper of Grifton be held for Grand Jury action in connection with the slaying of his son-in-law, Matthew Harper. The elderly Negro is charged with shooting his daughter's husband Saturday night in a store operated by his daughter. Only two witnesses took the stand last night to testify at the inquest. Edward Barrow, Grifton Negro who was in the store at the time of the shooting, told the jury he was in another room of the store when he heard the pistol shots. He testified he did not see the elder Harper enter the store nor did he witness the shooting. Grifton Police Chief Herbert Adams testified that Henry Marvel Harper talked freely of the shooting shortly after the slaying. Adams testified that the elder

McCarthy Dismayed By Republican Criticisms

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he uses "almost an ideal set of rules" to run his investigations. And he voiced "dismay" at the attitude of some of his Republican senatorial critics. McCarthy's statements were in testimony prepared for a hearing before a Senate Rules subcommittee studying a variety of proposals for revision of the rules for Senate investigations. No action is foreseen this year. The inquiry got a boost from—but is not based upon—the recent 36-day hearings into McCarthy's row with Army officials. In a 3,500-word statement defending himself and the Senate Investigations subcommittee of which he is chairman, McCarthy said: "I do not believe that any of the allegations aimed at me or at our committee, calculated to prove that we are in effect demanding equal time in (sic) the White House, is

Blames Knowland For Killing Early End To Talkathon

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Anderson (D-NM) said today that tactics used by Republican Leader Knowland have blown up chances for an early end to the marathon battle over the administration's atomic bill. "We'll be here to Thanksgiving now," Anderson said. While he talked with reporters the Senate ground on into a new day in another round-the-clock session. Sen. Morse (Ind-Rep) was still firing away with a speech he started last midnight. Morse, in his third marathon talk stint of the atomic dispute, was still going strong with a criticism of the administration's power policy. Anderson hotly charged that Knowland "promoted a filibuster as hard as he could" by moving to table, and thus kill without debate, an amendment to the controversial legislation which was offered late last night. Word had been sent to Knowland, before he abruptly cut down Morse's amendment, that he would start "the fur flying" if he made another tabling motion, Anderson said. Earlier, as dawn was breaking over the Capitol after its fourth all-night session in recent days, Knowland said he hoped and expected the administration measure overhauling the nation's atomic energy law could be passed during the day. "But if not," he said grimly, he would keep the Senate going non-stop. Knowland kept one session going 86 hours last week in an effort to wear down the opposition. A Democratic group, with enthusiastic aid from Morse and the little Republican help, first tried for an amendment to bar a proposed Atomic Energy Commission contract for private power to replace Tennessee Valley current supplied to atomic installations. After losing that fight, the critics of the measure have been trying to cut out for further study the whole domestic section of the bill, aimed at promotion of private atomic operations. There has been much less criticism of the foreign portions of the legislation, which would allow limited exchange of atomic weapons information with allies. Anderson, holding his thumb and forefinger just a little apart, said "we were just that close" to action on the bill when Knowland made his motion to table last night. "Now it's hopeless," he said. "The only way you can stop debate now is through cloture, I would say." And to do that, he noted, would take 20 more votes than the administration was able to muster on a debate-limiting move yesterday. Under the Senate's cloture, or debate-limiting rule, each senator is allowed to speak on a bill and all amendments for only one hour. Knowland tried to put the rule into effect yesterday to bring a halt to a debate now in its 13th day, but to do so he needed 64 votes, or two-thirds of the entire Senate membership. As it turned out, he got only 44, and 42 votes were cast in opposition. After cloture was rejected, the Senate began to act on the atomic bill and disposed of nearly a dozen amendments before the tabling of Morse's amendment brought a jarring halt. The measure had been passed earlier in the day by the House along the lines requested by the administration. Indications that Knowland's tabling motion had revived the dormant spirit of the bill's opponents in the Senate were confirmed by Anderson's words. Newsmen asked him, when he spoke of the Senate now being here to Thanksgiving, whether he was serious. He said he certainly was.

Stop Shooting In Indochina Sector

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French and the Vietnamese ordered firing stopped in part of Indochina today — 7 years, 7 months and 8 days after Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh's rebel legions attacked Hanoi. The truce negotiated at the Geneva conference became effective in North Viet Nam and its rich Red River delta at 8 a.m. (8 p.m., EST) yesterday. The armistice is scheduled to spread gradually over the four other sectors of the war-ravaged Southeast Asia and becoming effective on Aug. 1 in Central Viet Nam, Aug. 6 in Laos, Aug. 7 in Cambodia and Aug. 11 in South Viet Nam. Hanoi's big guns roared sporadically throughout the night before the cease-fire became effective and the Vietnamese kept up pressure on outlying posts manned by Vietnamese units. In recent days the Reds have concentrated on such posts in an apparent effort to encourage desertions and prevent the native troops from moving south with the departing French. There were no early reports, however, of any large-scale fights in the last hours before the truce time. There was no certainty that the killing and wounding had stopped in North Viet Nam. This was a cease-fire, not a signed peace. Mines sowed along the roads and paths and in the rice fields may take their toll for months. No one could be certain that all the thousands of Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas or all the irregulars loyal to the French-supplied Viet Nam government had received the stop-fighting word or would obey it. Many observers believe it will be a matter of only two to four years before communism engulfs all of Viet Nam and perhaps Laos and Cambodia as well. The cease-fire agreement provides for internationally supervised elections in July 1956 to unify Viet Nam could be defended militarily against the Reds, but he only shrugged when asked about the political prospects. Many French civilian officials here share Cogy's doubts of the future. With the cease-fire, Cogy turned his effort to the mammoth task of moving his thousands of French and Vietnamese troops from their shrunken sector of the northern delta to the southern holding left to the Viet Nam government headed by ex-Emperor Bao Dai. The Vietminh were expected to take control rapidly of the territory being evacuated. The first phases of the military withdrawal began with the armistice hour. Companies began falling back to their battalion headquarters areas in preparation for a progressive withdrawal to the port of Haiphong. By Aug. 11 Cogy must have soldiers and civilians being evacuated from north, west and south of Hanoi massed in a 10-mile zone around the North Indochina capital, once the official seat of French power in the Far East. They must be out of the Hanoi area within 80 days from today. The marchers to the sea must be past Hai Duong, midway on the route, 20 days after that. The evacuees have 300 days from today to quit their Haiphong beachhead, destined to be the last French foothold in North Viet Nam. Not all the Vietnamese troops will be moving south. The French admitted yesterday that a number of the native soldiers were pulling out of their posts and disappearing, presumably returning to their homes in hopes the Vietminh would forgive and forget.

The State Board of Elections yesterday declared Ruel W. Tyson Pitt County's official Democratic nominee for sheriff. The decision of the State Board climaxed the dispute over the runoff race between Tyson and S. A. Whitehurst which has been going on for some four weeks since the second primary July 26. Tyson won the runoff primary by 44 votes over Whitehurst. In its decision yesterday, the State Board overruled the Pitt County Board of Elections which had ordered a recount of disputed ballot boxes in Ayden, Bethel and Pactolus precincts. The State Board in its findings, said there was not enough evidence of irregularities in the three precincts to recount the disputed boxes. Tyson appealed to the State Board of Elections following the announcement of the local board decision to recount the ballots in the three boxes. Order Vacated The State Board ordered that the Pitt Board's order of a recount be vacated and that the certificate nominating Sheriff Tyson which is already on file with the Pitt Superior Court Clerk be declared in effect. The state body left the Pitt County Board free to continue its investigation of the alleged irregularities in the June 26 run-off election, but no such investigations will affect the results of the election as now certified. The announcement of the State

Board's decision to uphold Tyson's appeal came at 4:20 yesterday afternoon. Its statement on the decision was not released until later. Factors In Ruling The State Board based its decision on several factors. It concluded there was not enough evidence of irregularities to justify a recount; the Pitt Board had declared Tyson the nominee; the outcome of the election would not be altered even if all the votes challenged by Whitehurst were to be thrown out. Tyson had a margin of 44 votes, and Whitehurst challenged only 31 votes in the three disputed boxes. Gilbert Peel, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, could not be reached today for comment on the decision of the State Board of Elections. He is on the tobacco market in Georgia. J. H. Harrell, special counsel for the local board, said he could not speak for the Pitt Board of Elections, and does not know whether the local board will continue its investigation into the alleged irregularities. If the county board elected to do so, he said, it could continue the investigation including a recount of the disputed boxes, but it would not affect the outcome of the election. Could Appeal Informed sources said here this morning an appeal could be taken to Superior Court in an effort to get a reversal of the decision of the State Board. M. E. Cavendish, attorney for Whitehurst in the matter, said this morning, "So far as I know now, no further action is contemplated." Efforts to reach Whitehurst by telephone for comment failed. A long series of legal maneuvers were included in actions taken by opposing sides since the dispute began. When the Pitt Board of Elections met to canvass the ballots on June 29, Whitehurst made an oral request to the board that the ballots in all

RUEL W. TYSON election would not be altered even if all the votes challenged by Whitehurst were to be thrown out. Tyson

Chinese Actions Denounced; Peiping Plans Counter-Protest U. S. Files Protest Over Attacks

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has dispatched to Communist China a sharply worded demand for an immediate halt to Red plane attacks against American and British aircraft. Diplomatic officials reported the state note was given to Britain to relay to the Red China regime as a follow up to the weekend clashes over the South China Sea. The note, it was said, denounced the "brutality" of the Chinese Communists in shooting down a British commercial airliner Friday and later belligerent attempts to interfere with rescue operations by American mercy planes. In London, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told parliament that Britain already has the American note for relay to the Red Chinese. He said: "I have been requested to instruct our charge d'affaires in Peiping to convey a protest to the Chinese government on behalf of the United States government both in respect of the six U.S. citizens killed and wounded in the British airliner and the wanton interference with search and rescue operations in the area of the incident." Eden also revealed that about an hour after the British airliner was shot down on Friday the Red Chinese sent a message warning that any warplanes sent to search would be fired on if they approached land. He described this message as "against all international custom and behavior" and said Britain was making a further protest. Tokyo monitors reported that the Chinese Communist radio had announced the Peiping government was lodging a "grave protest" over the shooting down of two Red planes off Hainan Island Sunday by U.S. Navy aircraft. A statement issued by Vice Foreign Minister Chang Han-fu claimed the American planes violated Chinese skies in shooting down the planes. The United States insists the Red planes attacked over the open sea. At the Capitol, it was disclosed that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee had asked Secretary of State Dulles to appear for a closed-door session at 4 p.m. It was scheduled to deal with the German situation, but would also give the senators an opportunity to talk over the Far Eastern situation with the secretary. Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today the Communist world should read "a strengthened U.S. foreign policy" into the shooting down Sunday night of the two Communist planes off the Red-held island of Hainan. Others on Capitol Hill joined in a general "well done" for the U.S. airmen who downed the planes. Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said it was wise policy to shoot down the Communist attackers, because failure to fight back "might have misled them into believing that Americans won't fight." "Let this be a lesson to them, that Americans will defend themselves and their rights on the high seas," he added. Ferguson said the Communists "should have recognized 'strengthened U.S. foreign policy' in recent months, particularly since President Eisenhower had sent aircraft carriers to 'protect and help this mission of mercy.' The U.S. planes were aiding in a search for possible survivors of the British plane. Chairmen of both the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees urged colleagues to let the White House and State Department call the signals. Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) announced the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads probably will discuss the situation during the week with Secretary of State

Hear Complaints Over Valuation Less Polio

RALEIGH (AP)—The number of polio cases reported to the State Board of Health so far this year is less than one-third the total for the same period last year. The board's epidemiology division said today that 102 cases had been reported this year through the week ending July 24. For the same period last year, polio cases totaled 355. There were 25 polio cases reported last week. Three each were reported from Cabarrus, Wake and Wilson; two each from Burke, New Hanover and Onslow; and one each from Bladen, Caldwell, Duplin, Gaston, Iredell, Lenoir, Robeson, Rowan, Surry, and Wayne. Among those counties, New Hanover has had the highest incidence this year, with a total of 10 cases. Wake has reported eight cases, Gaston six, and Iredell and Wilson five each. Caldwell, which had 116 cases through July 24 in 1953, has had only one case so far this year. MEET TOMORROW RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Unmsted and State Democratic Chairman B. Everett Jordan will meet tomorrow to set a date for a meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Airliners 'Buzzed' By Jets Off Hainan Island

HONG KONG (AP)—Two airline pilots reported their planes were buzzed by jet fighters off Red-held Hainan Island today—one by U.S. planes and the other by unidentified jets. Capt. Romby Mistry, pilot of an Air India plane which arrived here from Bangkok, reported his craft was buzzed by two United States jets about 80 miles off Hainan at 3:30 p.m. And Capt. Jack R. Bruggers of Paris, pilot of an Air France Constellation, said four unidentified jets buzzed his transport about 100 miles off Hainan. Bruggers described the planes as "the shape and color" of Communist MIG jets. The incidents occurred in the general area where a British airliner was shot down by Chinese Red fighters Friday with a possible loss of 10 lives, including three Americans. Mistry said he "saw two more U.S. jets about six miles away." He estimated his position as 100 miles north of Tourane on the Indochina coast. Mistry described the planes as "of a black color." Bruggers said four unidentified jets followed his plane for four minutes and then swooped up on the right side and across the Constellation's nose before they disappeared. The Air France transport, bound from Saigon to Tokyo with 20 persons aboard, landed safely at Hong Kong's Kai Tak Airfield at 1:19 p.m. Bruggers said the fighters were green in color but that he could see no markings. He said they were "definitely not" United States jets. Bruggers said his plane was two hours out of Saigon and flying at 17,000 feet when the four fighters appeared behind him. The transport continued to Tokyo. Later, Capt. Max C. Weber of Great Barrington, Mass., pilot of a Pan American World Airways transport which arrived here from Bangkok reported he was "escorted" for a few minutes by four U.S. Navy jet fighters.

Secrecy Shrouds Suicide Death Of Intelligence Agent In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) An American counterintelligence agent, known to be a friend of missing West German security chief Otto John, has committed suicide in his Berlin quarters, it was learned today. Fellow officers found the man, a naturalized American with the rank of captain in the Counterintelligence Corps, mortally wounded in his billet near the American Army hospital last Friday. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital. The Army has withheld announcement of his identity until the family is notified. Rumors that the agent was being questioned and that he was suspected of disloyalty were flatly denied by U.S. authorities today. A senior officer said a complete inquiry shows the man to be above suspicion. Officers said the agent had known Dr. John, former chief of the West German Federal Office for Protection of the Constitution, for some time. The agent shot himself the day after John's disappearance in the Soviet sector was made public. Officials declined to discuss details of the suicide, particularly the motive. They discouraged speculation on the extent of the man's link with Dr. John and insisted there was no doubt of the American's loyalty. He was reported to have been German-born, with most of his relatives living in Communist-controlled territory. The 44-year-old John drove into East Berlin with a Communist friend last Tuesday night, the tenth anniversary of the July 20, 1944, plot against Hitler, in which he participated. The federal government at Bonn insists that the security chief was lured into the East, perhaps drugged, but the Communist regime has contended John came voluntarily "to work for unity." Red Radio Berlin broadcast John's voice in a brief statement which accused the West German government of reviving Nazism. As the director of West German counterintelligence fight against the Communists, John had widespread contacts in both American and British intelligence networks. Official quarters here have indicated John's knowledge probably will require revamping of the network on which the West leans for information from East Germany and even from the East European satellite nations.

Two Escapees From Road Gang Quickly Caught

Two long-term white prisoners working with a State Prison Camp road gang beyond Fountain yesterday afternoon, who made a dash for liberty, were quickly captured in nearby woods with the assistance of a bloodhound. Prison Supt. Paul Crawford said Dennis Forbes, sent up from Elizabeth City, and John Baldwin, sent up from New Bern, for long terms, ran from an unloading truck and through a group of workers stringing tobacco at a barn and hid in the woods. "Old Joe," veteran prison bloodhound, with Harvey Pilingame holding the leash, spotted the two prisoners in nearby woods in less than an hour and a half. Forbes and Baldwin were tried in Superior Court for escaping.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR July 27, 1924

Washington—A campaign for world co-operation to prevent war will be opened tomorrow by 36 organizations represented in the National Council for Prevention of War. "Stop War! Co-operate!" is the slogan adopted for the movement and its sponsors say that it will cover nearly every state in the union. One hundred and fifty thousand ministers have been asked to preach sermons on "World Co-operation" next Sunday and public meetings will be held in many places. The council has announced that all the presidential candidates will be asked the question: "How far will you co-operate for world peace?" and later the same question will be asked of candidates for the Senate.

Services Wednesday For Maj. T. M. Sellers

FCX Summer Meeting Set Wednesday Evening

Final plans have been completed for a summer meeting of patrons and members of the Pitt FCX Service at the Winterville High School Wednesday, July 28, at 8 P.M.

Scheduling this type of meeting at night marks a departure from custom according to N. L. Stott, manager of the Pitt FCX Service. Heretofore, he said, such meetings have been held in mid-afternoon. The decision to schedule the meeting after dark was made in an effort to provide more comfort for those attending and to allow a greater number of farm people to be on hand, Mr. Stott said.

During the business session, the FCX patrons and members will hear a progress report on the operation of the local FCX Service as well as report on the Farmers Cooperative Exchange as a whole.

They will also elect a board of directors to advise the local manager in the operation of the cooperative. The board will be composed of five farmers from this area, each of whom will serve a three-year term.

During previous years, a barbecue picnic has been served at FCX county membership meetings. This year, because of the change of time, only light refreshments will be served.

Mild Temperatures In Greenville Monday

However, a farm freezer and other prizes will be given away at the meeting, Mr. Stott said.

The Pitt FCX Service is one of 60 service stores operated in North and South Carolina by the Farmers Cooperative Exchange, a farmer-owned, farmer-controlled organization.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 89 degrees. Lowest last night 65, and at 8 a.m. today it was 76.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 88. Lowest that night 68, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 72, the local U. S. Weather Station reported.

More than 11,000 people visited the State Port at Wilmington during the Azalea Festival in 1954.

Local Rector Going To Anglican Session

Dr. Wallace I. Wolverton, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, will leave early next week to attend the Anglican Congress in Minneapolis. He was elected as the priest delegate from the Diocese of East Carolina.

The Anglican Congress is the second of its kind, the first having been held in London in 1908. It is a gathering of bishop, priest, layman delegates from 327 dioceses in ion." Among the speakers will be the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, the Lord Bishop of London, the Archbishops of Quebec and Dublin, and the Bishop of Johannesburg.

Churches in the Anglican Communion which will be represented by delegates are The Church of England, The Episcopal Church in America, The Church in Wales, The Church of Ireland, The Episcopal Church in Scotland, The Church of England in Canada, The Church of the West Indies, Church of India, Pakistan, Burma, and Ceylon, The Holy Catholic Church of China, The Holy Catholic Church of Japan, The Churches of South Africa, and of West Africa, The Church of England in Australia and Tasmania, and the Church of New Zealand. Also present will be representatives of certain of the Orthodox Communions, The Old Catholic Church of Europe, the Polish Catholic Church in America, and The Independent Catholic Church of the Philippines, all of which churches are "in communion with the Archbishop of Canterbury"; which is a phrase denoting mutual recognition, and the freedom of confirmed church members to receive communion in any of these churches.

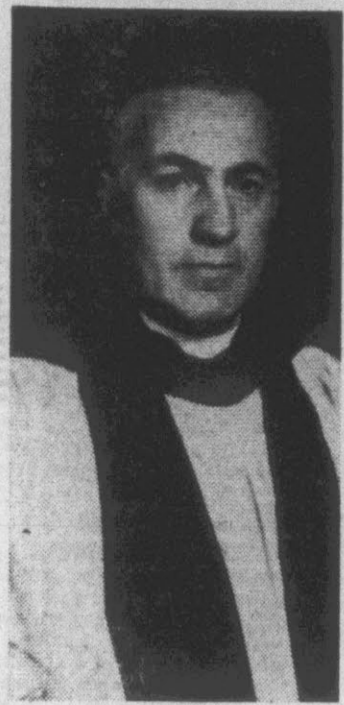

Following the Anglican Congress, Dr. Wolverton will go to Evanston, Illinois to attend sessions of The World Council of Churches.

Prior to coming to Greenville, Dr. Wolverton served for sixteen years as a regular chaplain with the U.S. Air Force. He attained the rank of Colonel before his retirement for disability, incurred in the Korean War. His military service brought him in contact with various churches in the Anglican Communion in other countries.

During his absence services at St. Paul's will be conducted by the newly arrived College Curate of St. Paul's, the Reverend C. E. Sharp.

the Anglican Communion. These dioceses or church districts are scattered throughout the world, and range in size from the 125-square-mile diocese of the Island of St. Helena, to vast areas like the diocese of North Africa, with its 600,000 square miles. Hardly a century ago there were but ten dioceses beyond the British Isles. Today there are 257 dioceses throughout the world in addition to the 70 in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland.

The general theme of the Congress is "The Call of God and the Mission of the Anglican Communion."

FELL IN HOLE—This Colonial Ice Company truck, driven by Wilbur Little, fell into a hole on Albemarle Avenue yesterday morning. Little said he did not see the sign warning motorists of the street repairs. Greenville Police Officers V. C. Ackert and W. C. Flake charged the driver with "careless and reckless driving." There were no injuries, but damage amounted to breaking down a barricade and to a shovel. Reports indicate no damage to the truck. (Reflector Photo by Bob Boyette)

Successes In Treating Of Cancer Described

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Two highly encouraging new successes in the treatment of some kinds of human cancer were reported today at the sixth International Cancer Congress.

One is a surgery-plus-X-ray treatment of cancer of the breast, the most common form of the disease among women. The technique is saving about half the patients who get treatment reasonably early, the congress was told.

The second is a new drug giving—at least temporarily—normal life to a number of sufferers from several forms of cancer.

The surgery-plus-X-ray method was described by Dr. Robert McWhirter, radiologist and surgeon of the Royal Infirmary at Edinburgh, Scotland.

This method, used since 1941, surgically removes only the infected breast but avoids cutting out a part of the chest wall, armpit and neck to remove lymph nodes to which the cancer probably already has spread.

Those affected areas are treated by X-rays daily for three weeks, beginning 10 days after the surgery. This method thus avoids severe mutilation of the body and some complications from surgery or X-rays.

McWhirter said 60 per cent of the women treated by the conservative combined method had survived for at least five years. A five-year survival is usually regarded as evidence of a cancer cure. He said 48 per cent had survived 10 years. All were women whose breast cancers were regarded at the time as suitable for operation.

Even on cases considered unsuitable for help by extensive surgery, McWhirter said 32 per cent were alive five years and 16 per cent were living normal active after 10 years.

Encouraging success through use of the new drug thioTEPA was described by Dr. Jeanne Bateman of George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

She said a high percentage of patients with cancers of the ovaries, breasts and the worst form of brain cancer had achieved good results, enabling them to return to months of useful, active life so far. The drug often produces temporarily good results in other forms of cancer, she added.

Describing results with the first 94 patients tested, Dr. Bateman said the drug works best if injected directly into the cancer. The drug even then manages to go to work on cancers in distant parts of the body begun by cells wandering from the original site.

The drug is not a cure, Dr. Bateman cautioned, but it has succeeded in keeping some patients on their feet and useful until nearly the end of their lives.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Wheelbee found Sylvester Vick Jr. guilty of assault, resisting arrest and drunk and disorderly conduct.

The court sentenced him to 30 days on the roads on the assault charge, 30 days for resisting arrest and 30 days for being drunk and disorderly. Sentences are to run consecutively. Vick gave notice of appeal to Superior Court. He was taken to the county jail.

Burley Lee Carter, Negro, was found guilty of three charges of motor vehicle law violations. The court gave him 30 days for improper equipment, sentence suspended on payment of $15 on court costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper brakes, and is to make adequate restitution for property damage. For driving without an operator's license, Judge Wheelbee gave Carter 30 days, suspended on payment of $15 on court costs. These two sentences to be served concurrently. For driving while drunk, the court gave him six months on the roads, suspended on payment of court costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year.

Found Himself Inside Chimney

BALTIMORE (AP)—Lincoln Goodman went to visit his mother in her second-floor apartment yesterday. They talked for a while. He had several beers and then fell asleep. His mother left the apartment about 9 p.m.

Soon afterward neighbors heard moans coming from the chimney running through the vacant second-floor rear apartment. They called for help and Goodman was chipped out of the chimney by a fire department rescue squad.

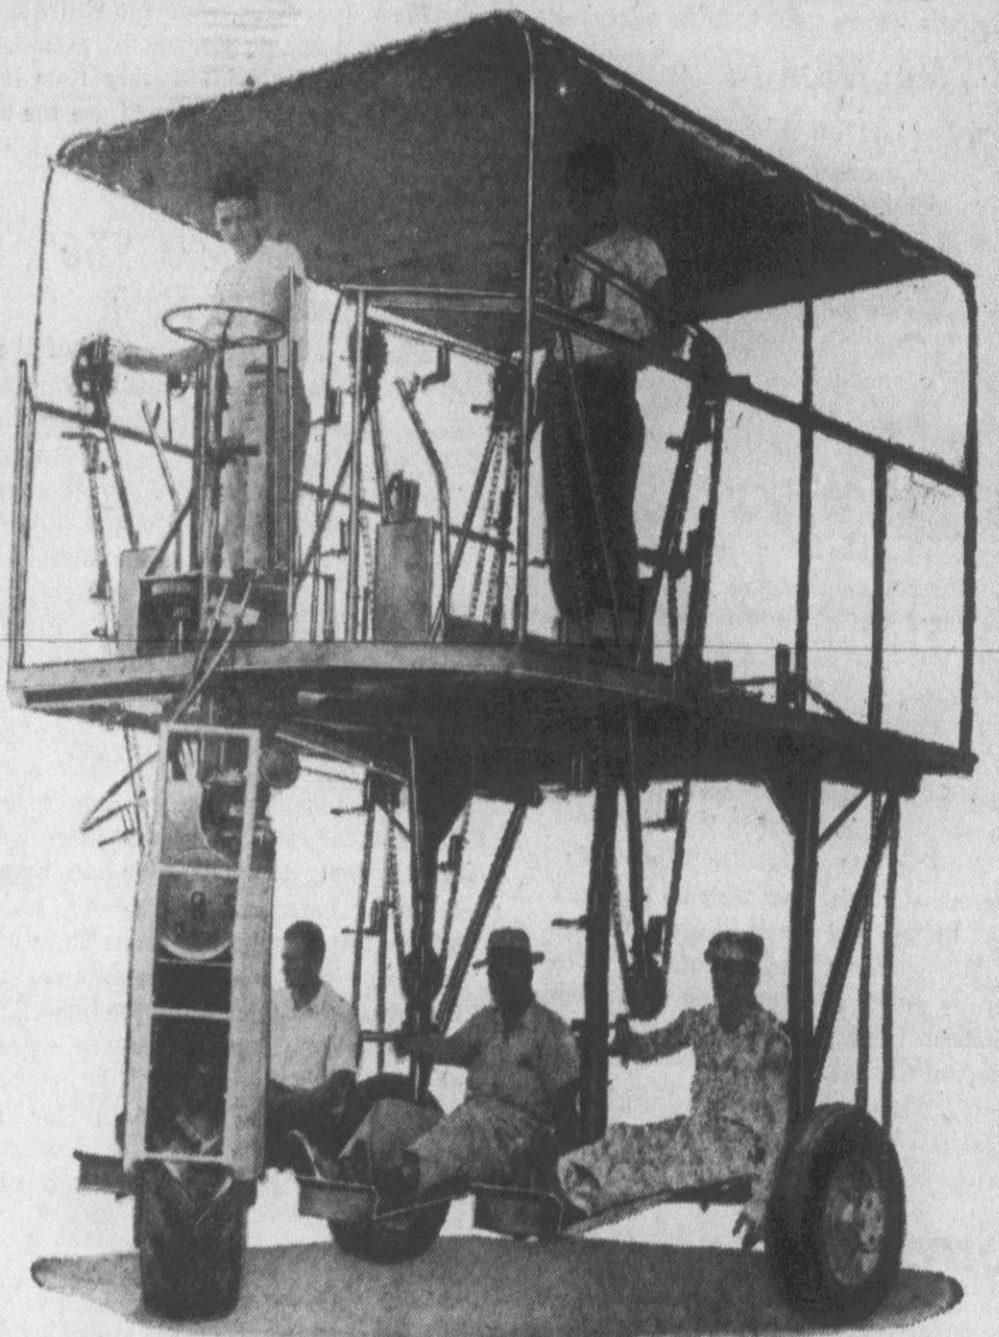

Goodman, a 23-year-old Negro, was admitted to University Hospital for observation. He was unable to explain how he got on the roof and tumbled down the chimney.

The Roanoke Line Introduces The Roanoke-Holliday Tobacco Harvester

Available in two models: (1) the amazing 5-man operated model (family size), and (2) the high capacity 9-man operated model (large farms and custom operators).

All of the conveniences and comforts that our engineers have put in the Roanoke-Holliday Harvester has been done with the idea that high production will be reached when the primers and loopers are at all times as convenient and comfortable as possible. This has been proven true in actual field tests. Five people have harvested as high as an acre per hour with our family size harvester; and up to 1400 sticks per day have been harvested with our nine-man operated harvester.

Mr. Farmer, the following 6 outstanding features are our answer to the demand of both the small and large farmer:

- 1. MANEUVERABILITY: Can turn completely around in 8 feet which means that this harvester can speedily operate in any field that has been tractor tilled. No field is too large or too small.
- 2. ADJUSTABLE LEAF CLIPS: Can be easily set for small, medium or large hands of tobacco.
- 3. CONVENIENT LOCATION OF LEAF CLIPS: Tobacco is delivered to the looper so as to prevent looper from reaching through or around the chain to obtain the tobacco from the clips.
- 4. ADJUSTABLE SEATS: The seats have been designed for the complete comfort of the primers. They are form fitting with legs and feet rests. The complete seat can be adjusted all 4 ways, right, left, up or down.
- 5. RUGGEDLY AND COMPACTLY CONSTRUCTED: Ruggedly constructed, but amazingly light in weight (2650 lbs.). Light in weight means less sticking. Frame is made with 3" pipe and has a wooden platform. The wooden platform means lighter, safer, and cooler operation. Canvas top as standard equipment.
- 6. W 3-4" COMPLETE WIDTH OF FRONT WHEEL ASSEMBLY: Eliminates damaged tobacco by harvester moving down heavy crops of tobacco. Operates in fields with rows running from 40 to 48 inches in width.

Remember, you have closer supervision of labor because everybody who is taking in tobacco is mounted on the harvester. This gives you better grades of tobacco, higher production per person and brings the ASSEMBLY-LINE PRINCIPALS right to your farm, Mr. Farmer.

No Other Alternative In The Matter

An eye for an eye. That's the only kind of dealing the Communists understand. It is the only kind of dealing they respect.

We must endorse the action of navy air-men who returned the fire of Communist fighter planes which attacked them while they were aiding in the search for survivors of the British airliner which was shot down by Communist planes.

When the Reds fully understand the United States fully intends to protect its rights on the high seas, they doubtless will back down from their belligerent tactics which they have used in the past without repayment in kind.

The Red leaders - in Peiping and in the Kremlin - have used to their advantage in-

A New Note In Red China's Tune

There is a new note in the old communist tune today.

Red China, departing from its pattern of denying all charges, has admitted one of its pilots shot down the British airliner in the Far East Saturday. What's more, Red China's communist government has offered to pay damages for the disaster.

We can not help but view this about-face of the communist government as a new overture to gain British favor. Following the settlement of the Indochina struggle, the communists may well be maneuvering for a more concentrated campaign to gain for Red China a seat in the United Nations.

By offering to pay for damages of the lost airliner, the Red Chinese government may be hoping to buy more British support in their bid for a seat in the U. N.

By this one departure from their belligerent attitude, they may be hoping to lull the British and other Western nations into thinking Red China is now ready to give up its policy of aggression and assume its position of responsibility in a peaceful society of nations.

It is a hoax. Neither the British or other Western nations should be fooled by this action on the part of Red China.

Strength for the Day

Put up, or else. Greetings, Athletes! Bring forth your songs, your hymns of praise, your inspirational books, your hospital, your enterprises for human betterment. You claim to be the very elect of mankind in your en- lightenment. To what good work and what merciful endeavor has this enlightenment of yours led you?

On the other hand, we respectfully submit that the religious beliefs of our ancestral religions have as their chief concern the relieving of human suffering and the bettering of world conditions. The first hospital ever built for humans was built by a Christian woman almost 2000 years ago in the city of Rome. We cannot recall any athletes who helped dispel from the world the blight of slavery. We have not observed any disbelievers standing along life's agonizing path- way offering to assist the overburdened, and getting down into the dirt to bind up the wounds of those who have known the slings and arrows of an out- raged fortune.

To be perfectly frank about it, does not your activities, Mr. and Mrs. Athlete, consist in writing articles against religion, making speeches, and in general parading yourselves as intellectual somebodies? The glory of the Christian Church abides in its millions of humble persons who rejoice in the priv- ilege of being able to serve their fellows and to better the world in which they live.

Feud Of Rural, Urban Groups

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The recent Governors' Confer- ence demand for exclusive state control of highway construction throughout the United States has landed President Eisenhower in the midst of an old and bitter feud between two powerful blocs of politicians.

The duellists in this behind-the-scenes battle are the rural and urban factions on Capitol Hill and in every State Legislature.

Although the Governors assembled at Bolton Landing, N. Y. tempered their final road-building resolution under pressure from the White House, they still insist that the Federal Government abandon all gasoline taxes, turn over this revenue to the states and permit each commonwealth to undertake the task of building roads.

DRISCOLL'S SCHEME—Ironically, the father of this scheme is Alfred E. Driscoll, former Governor of New Jersey and one of the President's best friends and admirers. He unveiled his idea in 1952, when the Governors' annual get-together was held at Gatlin- burg, Tenn.

It escaped notice then because 1952 was a Presi- dential election year, and we reporters were too in- terested in the Republican Governors' favorite for the Republican nomination. He was a man named Eisen- hower.

RURAL CONTROL—The state executives' prop- osal has been always fought by Congress, and by the United States Conference of Mayors, which has an able and powerful lobby at Washington and throughout the country.

The "city bloc" points out that most State Legis- latures and governors are controlled and influenced by rural, farm-to-market, let-me-live-by-the-side-of- the-road legislators, and that urban highway interests would be neglected under the Driscoll program.

Congress, has rejected the state control proposi- tion again and again. In the $875,000,000 1954 Federal Highway Act, the largest road-building project ever approved in a single year, it provided for co-operation among the Federal Government, the states and the cities.

SQUABBLING STATES—The basic argument

timidation and aggression wherever they felt they could get by with it. When their hand is called in such a move, they usually back up and take another look at the situ- ation. They revert to other tactics or other points of emphasis.

The United States has called the hand of the Chinese Communists by shooting down the two Red planes which attacked the American planes engaged in the rescue operations. It was the only alternative for this country if we were not to be driven from the high seas in the Far East.

We hope the American military forces will continue to deal with Communist belligerence in the same manner in which it dealt with the attacking Communist planes. We must call the Red bluff every time it ap- pears. If we do not, they will use the bluff to further their intentions to dominate the world and the United States.

Wonder Where The '21' Are By Now

Wonder what's ever become of the 21 American boys who voluntarily traded their freedom for communist enslavement at Panmunjom a number of months ago.

So far as the American people are con- cerned, those 21 youths dropped from sight when they stepped behind the bamboo cur- tain for the last time. We thought surely the communist would be using them for propa- ganda purposes. In our book, the 21 are most conspicuous by the absence from the news of the world.

Have they already served their purpose in the communist cause and been disposed of? Are they brooding somewhere behind bars wishing their decision had been dif- ferent at Panmunjom when they had the chance? Do they still nourish their dream of power in the communist scheme, or has that mental balloon long since burst?

Maybe some day the sequel to the action of the 21 at Panmunjom will be written. It will make interesting reading for their American buddies who were subdued by the deluge of lie the communists pointed at them.

Cooperation Needed

Efforts by the city to get weeds cut down on vacant lots are going to be successful only in proportion to the cooperation the city receives from property owners.

There are a number of vacant lots, heav- ily grown with weeds, which have become conspicuous eye-sores in several sections of the city. Not only do these weed patches mar the beauty of Greenville, but they also provide breeding places for mosquitos and other annoying insects.

The city is offering its cooperation to property owners in getting these weeds cut down in compliance with the local ordi- nance. The Reflector hopes property owners who have allowed vacant lots to grow up in weeds will cooperate with the city in this project.

Somebody Told Me

Those Old Lessons Practical

While in school the average student thinks that most of what he studies that's the least bit abstract is bunk; that he'll never get the opportunity to use it when he graduates. For example, do you know how to figure the square root? As I recall high school, I had plenty of trouble remembering how to figure it then, when I was constantly using it. In constructing a tower for my short wave radio antenna I confronted the problem of determining how long the guy wires would be. Since I'll do most of the erecting alone, the guys will have to be pre-cut. Also, I need to know how much guy wire to purchase.

Gene Ward and I were discuss- ing the problem and my messenger memory told me that there was a method by which I could find the hypotenuse of a triangle if I knew the other two sides. "Sure," Gene said, "A-square plus B-square is equal to C- square." Then he proceeded to show me how to figure out the length of each guy by figuring the square root of "C." Immediately I contested Gene. "There's an easier way to do it. I can't tell you what it is; but there is one." Gene said he hadn't studied geometry since 1932, but he refused to believe it. A quick call to Miss Estelle Greene of the Greenville high school faculty proved Gene right and me wrong. Miss Greene tactfully said, "You're thinking of some other sort cut and have it mixed up with finding the hypotenuse."

Back at the office there was one part of Gene's operation that escaped me, so I called J. D. Adams on in the deal. On his next trip home J. D. brought back an encyclopedia, determined to figure square roots. And we have nine figures that we know are right; we proved the answers.

The point of this story, in case you wondered, is that you never know when you'll need some bit of information that you picked up in school. So you should try to re- tain every little fact you learn? Impossible. That's not even logical. But to remember enough about school to know that there's a way to find such answers and an ap- proximate idea of how to do it will lead you in the right direc- tion.

And I thank you JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

A SITUATION WHICH NEEDS TO BE CLEARED UP (Kinston Free Press

In a recent speech by Senator Harry F. Byrd, Democrat of Virginia, in the United States Senate, he charged that the "Housing situation is one of the most scandalous in the history of our government's operation."

The Senator's criticism was directed at the Housing and Home Finance Administration and the Federal Housing Administration.

Senator Byrd says that more than a year ago he called upon Albert M. Coble, Housing and Home Finance administrator, to take note of the fraudulent conditions of graft and fraud are coming to light, the Justice Department has taken no decisive action to prosecute those responsible.

The Senator states that on April 27th last he communicated with the Attorney General of the United States urging prompt prosecution of a key official of the FHA, who had refused to answer questions before congressional committees pleading his rights under the Fifth Amendment. Nothing has been done, says the senator.

Senator Byrd calls attention to the revelations which have already indicated millions of dollars have gone in illegal profits and graft and he charges that outside of the FHA there is trouble in the slum clearance, and in fact: "It is doubtful whether a federal housing program can be found which is both clean and efficient. All of them are capable of exploitation."

The Senator further charges that amendments which he offered to the bill requiring proper supervision and audit by the General Accounting Office of FHA Public Housing have not been adopted. The housing bill now pending, says the Senator, is a "loosely drawn bonanza for those who would exploit it for private gain at public risk. There is nothing in the bill to tighten up administrative responsibility. The additional invitation to immoral- ity resulting from 20-30 and 40 year loans which make it difficult to estimate the losses ultimately to fall on the backs of the tax- payers, still remains."

Senator Byrd, we believe, speaks from the standpoint of knowing what he is talking about. There have been other evidences, admissions and revelations of criminality of the conduct of these government agencies. Ac- cording to the Senator, in 15 years the Federal Government has subsidized housing in the United States for more than sixty billions of dollars.

It is clear that Congress has an obligation to place regulations and restrictions on the operation of these governmental agencies to prevent such wholesale cor- ruption and looting of the public treasury as apparently has been done.

The situation certainly needs to be cleared up.

N. C. Institutions Found Generally To Be In Good Shape

By LYNN NISBET

TUBERCULOSIS — Tubercu- losis is no longer dreaded as the "great white plague" or regard- ed as an incurable disease. It is still a serious challenge to medical science, but science is win- ning the war against it. North Carolina maintains four sanatoria for the treatment of TB. The oldest and largest is located on one of the highest spots in the fam- ous Sandhills area. The institu- tion at McCain has separate but adjacent units for white and colored patients—about 350 col- ored, 250 white—situated on a 2,000 track in Hoke county. Since 1947 the State has allotted $3,648,904 for permanent improvements, and operation costs run about a million and a half a year.

Dr. H.S. Willis, general superin- tendent, told the budget commis- sion that past allocations had pretty adequately taken care of immediate physical needs of the institution. Some work is needed to dress up the main entrance and fly-ash from the power plant smoke stacks constitute a menace needing control.

Bids were to be opened this week on a new prison ward and there are increasing perplexities in equitable distribution of the cost of buildings, equipment and treatment for prisoner patients between the hospital and the highway commission. Presently the prison department makes a flat contribution of $21,900 a year. That does not cover the cost of handling the prison section. From one viewpoint the highway fund should bear all the cost; from another—which is the argu- ment of the prison folks—the patients would have to be cared for if they were not prisoners and it is primarily a hospital problem. In any event the cost comes from taxpayers' money, and there seems little reason for prolonged argu- ment about which pocket it is taken from.

WINNING — Despite the fact that there has been an unex- plained upsurge in new tubercular cases reported during the past few months, Dr. Willis believes the war against the disease is being won. Additional facilities provided in recent years has eliminated the waiting list for white patients, and almost removed it for Negroes. Illustrating gains made it was reported that in 1948 there were 136 deaths in the McCain hospital. Last year with a larger population there were 29 deaths. The institution is understaffed with doctors and woefully short of dentists. The overall picture, how- ever, is brighter than it was two years ago and Dr. Willis re-iterated the prediction made then that if the present rate of progress con- tinues, the next quarter century will see tuberculosis relegated to the status of smallpox and dipther- ia as a public health menace.

CORRECTIONAL — On their third day out on the current tour the budget commission visited two of the State's correctional schools for youth—Morrison Training School for Negro boys at Hoffman and State Home Indus- trial School for Girls (white) at Samarcond.

Morrison has 218 Negro boys, ranging in age from 8 to 18. Full rated capacity is 250. One dormitory is now out of use undergoing major renovation. The school is intended mainly for 12 to 16 year-olds, but a few emergencies occasioned the much younger and older fellows—largely because there is nowhere else for them to go. Most of the boys are committed by juvenile courts from urban communities (a few by superior courts). Supt. B.R. Brown said less than 2 per cent of his boys come from purely rural areas.

The grounds are not fenced in and the buildings do not have bars. Emphasis is upon the train- ing school idea, the rehabilita- tion of boys who have gone wrong, rather than upon the idea of a jail house. Runaways are much less frequent than might be ex- pected under this arrangement.

SAMARCAND — The school here has 170 girls, full capacity load, averaging 15 years in age. Approximately two-thirds of them come from cities and towns, one- third from rural communities nearly all from homes in the low economic level. Miss Reva Mil- chell, the superintendent, em- phasized that most of the girls are juvenile delinquents guilty of truancy and other offenses less than real thievery or sex crimes. She protested the common idea that Samarcond is a place to coddle prostitutes. She said there isn't a single one of the 170 in that class. When the institution was first opened it was largely for the purpose of handling violators of sex rules. That is not the case now.

The physical plant has been almost completely rebuilt during the past two years. The old barn- like manor house which served

Mortgage Proposal

By ELMER ROESSNER
In the last two decades the amortized mortgage has almost completely replaced the straight- term mortgage in housing financ- ing. Lenders like the amortized mortgage because it reduces their risks and if home- owners are ever in a bind because they have never experienced the worry — or sometimes the extortion — when the time came to renew a term mortgage on an aging house.

In an amortized mortgage, each payment pays the interest and part of the principal, reduc- ing it over the years. On a term mortgage, payments were smaller but at the end of the term the full amount was still owed and to obtain a renewal the home owner might have to pay a bonus or agree to a higher rate of interest. Rates up to 8 per cent were not uncommon.

And now the amortized mort- gage may be replaced by the open-end mortgage. An open-end mortgage also provides for amortizing the principal but the home owner can increase the amount of the loan up to a high proportion of the original amount. The new housing bill would per- mit the Federal Housing Admin- istration to guarantee open-end mortgages for improvements, packaged kitchens and some ma- jor appliances. And once the FHA does that, other mortgage lenders will undoubtedly grant the same terms. In fact, some open-end mortgages are already in existence.

Horace Russell, general coun- sel of the U.S. Savings and Loan League, would go even further than that. Writing in the League's monthly publication, he advo- cates mortgages open at both ends. He suggests that the home should serve as a "cradle to grave" source of credit for the family.

Under his proposal, a family could borrow not only for im- provements, but for other pur- poses, up to the arranged limit. It could even borrow to make mortgage payments. Further- more, the home-owner could pay off as much as he cared to.

It would work this way: A buyer would get a mortgage of, say, $10,000 when he took over a house. If he wanted to build a garage after a few years, he could get the money automatically, as long as it didn't bring the total out- standing back above the $10,000 mark. (Or perhaps the top limit would decline, to take care of depreciation of assets.) And if some one needed an operation a few years later, the mortgage could be increased back to the limit. And, if the father was out of work for a while some time later, the payments he couldn't make would simply be added to the amount due. If he got a windfall, he could pay off as much as he wished. In short, the home would be a sort of private bank. And that would be a boon to retailers.

CIRCULAR TELLS WHICH... FEA MISSIONS WANT... CATALOGS... Manufacturers wishing to re- place their catalogs in Foreign Operations Administration mis- sions abroad should ask the Office of Small Business, F.O.A., Wash- ington 2, D. C., for "SBM" No. 54-29.

This lists the missions and shows what catalogs they are interested in. Some have no room for catalogs, others want cata- logs in a limited number of cat- egorical, and others love to get catalogs. Missions accepting cata- logs usually make them available to business firms in their area of operations.

GAS HEATERS REACH... 38-MONTH PEAK IN JUNE... June business was the largest in 38 months, at least as far as automatic gas water heaters are concerned. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association reports that shipments totaled 208,400, the largest total since March, 1951, when the housing boom was at the top.

June shipments were 18.5 per cent higher than in June, 1953.

PR NOW $1 BILLION... A YEAR BUSINESS... A billion dollars a year is being spent for public relations, and this supports 100,000 practitioners, Mrs. Denny Griswold, publisher of Republic Relations News, esti- mated on the publication's tenth anniversary.

She said that more than 250 corporation presidents came up through public relations depart- ments; ten years ago there was only a handful. Today there are more than 200 university courses in public relations, with 15 col- leges granting degrees in the field. In 1944 there were less than half a dozen such courses.

Parity For Urbiculture Needed?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The farmer now has parity. Should the city dweller have parity, too?

This puzzling problem arises as the result of a bill introduced by Rep. J. Arthur Younger, a Cal- ifornia Republican, to create a U.S. Department of Urbiculture.

This department would be to city folks what the U.S. Depart- ment of Agriculture is to the fellows who follow the furrows on the farms.

Well, plow me under, but who wants that? It is all well and good for Rep. Younger to point out that about 75 per cent of the nation's population used to live on the farm but now 75 per cent live in the cities.

Everybody knows the reason these people moved to town was so they wouldn't have to keep on being a problem to the Depart- ment of Agriculture.

But having made the transition from farm block to city block, why should they have to worry about dealing with agents from a De- partment of Urbiculture?

Parity is very simple for the farmer. When the government tells him he's got parity, he knows he can trade in his car every other year for a new one. When he doesn't have parity, he pays the car and gives his over- flow crops to his poor relatives.

It is not so easy to arrange parity for a city dweller. He is a rugged individualist, and the only crops he grows are window geraniums and king size ulcers. It is hard to see how a federal De- partment of Urbiculture can en- courage a market for either. Surplus users are even harder to dispose of than surplus butter.

I talked, however, with a num- ber of New Yorkers on the sub- ject of creating a federal govern- ment branch devoted to the prob- lems of city living. The reaction was rather limp.

"Would that be good or bad for the Dodgers?" asked a man from Brooklyn.

A young lady inquired: "Never mind urbiculture-what- ever that is. How about a federal Department of Matrimony?"

Two other fellows said they weren't interested in the proj- ect as they already had jobs in City Hall. Another said, "Well, I hear the Department of Agriculture passes out free seeds to farmers. If the Department of Urbiculture will hand out free bus tokens, I'm not too much against the idea."

On the other hand, a number of disillusioned motorists couldn't see the proposition at all. They were unable to figure how the federal government could solve the parking problem.

One patriotic citizen was indig- nant at the mere suggestion that a federal bureau would im- prove New York.

"It has taken us 300 years to get into this mess," he said, "and nobody in Washington can straighten it out."

Then he added grimly: "Congress is a great place to visit—but I sure would hate to live there."

It looks like urbiculture may have a hard row to hoe in his culture.

Swimming Sequence In Film Is Big Task

By HUBBARD KEAVY
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here is a swimming pool with a capacity of 600,000 gallons, the most attractive of which is Esther Williams. It takes some doing to figure out new ways to display Esther in the water, but Hermes Pan is our man.

This classically christened dance director went into mythology, because the story is about Hannibal and Rome, to dream up a number for Esther. In the pool are statues of Apollo and several other fellows who could have been kinsmen of Hermes. Esther glides into the pool and Apollo — in the person of Johnny Olszewski, he of the Chicago Cardinals — comes to life when Esther kisses him. This is fantasy.

On the screen the entire sequence will last but seven minutes. But it involves 75 players and technicians, five weeks of rehearsal and five full days of filming.

Heretofore, Esther's underwater life has been filmed through a window in the side of a big tank. That got to be pretty stale stuff, because about all Esther could do was cut her capers in front of the camera. The limitations were pretty narrow. In this one, called "Jupiter's Darling," the cameras will be in the water too, which will give Esther and companions much more latitude.

Part of the rehearsal time was spent determining how long Esther and the six males representing the ancient deities could stay under water. The limit was 50 seconds. Hermes had to break up the action into 50-second takes. This meant something had to be done about the music, because you just can't play music willy-nilly and hope it fits. Eight bars run 50 seconds. So everything had to be coordinated to the second.

It would seem that after Hermes got this thing all set up and timed and rehearsed it could be knocked off in eight 50-second takes. But movies can't be made so easily. There will be long delays while the swimmers rest, while lights are focused and cameras moved. And each tiny part of the scene will be filmed many times from varying angles.

If you see this picture you are apt to wonder how Esther's red hair stays in place under water. Simple. She douses her head with transparent grease and her braids are wired into place. She explains, "So I can't come undone, can I?"

Bargain Vacation Prices Near End

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Better get your Mexican vacation in soon. Prices are catching up with the new exchange rate.

The peso cost of a trip is higher than it was last year. But it costs the visitor from the United States less.

The reason is the devaluation of the peso three months ago. From a value of 11.5 cents United States, it dropped to 8 cents. This means the tourist gets 12 1/2 pesos for his dollar now, compared to the 8.65 he got last year.

This change of 44.5 per cent is not all clear gain to the tourist, though. Prices have gone up, probably about 30 per cent. But this leaves costs in dollars still 15 per cent less than a year ago.

The price increase has been not only along the tourist circuit. It is also affecting the average working Mexican. As a result, a round of wage increases of about 25 per cent has been given or is sought.

By the time these higher wages affect the general price level, the rates will go up again. After that happens, the tourist won't find his dollar buying any more than it did last year.

Teachers Ass'n Officers Named

North Carolina Kindergarten Teachers Association officers for 1954-55 were elected at the closing session of the second annual kindergarten Workshop sponsored by East Carolina College.

Mrs. J. C. Terry of Rockingham, chosen as president to succeed Mrs. J. Duke Haynie of Fayetteville, was elevated from the first vice presidency. Mrs. Haynie was first president of the state association.

Other officers named by the association include: Mrs. W. R. Sechler of Hickory, first vice president; Mrs. Donald Barnes of Charlotte, second vice president; Mrs. Jeanne Morris, Clinton, recording secretary; Mrs. Johnnie Lee S. Marks, Dunn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Lotia Smith Welch, Scotland Neck, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Maddrey, Severn, historian.

Named as consultants to the association are Miss Annie Mae Murray, kindergarten instructor in the East Carolina College Laboratory School, Greenville, and Miss Patsy Montague, State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, educational affairs; Alumni Secretary James W. Butler of East Carolina College, public relations.

Following the election of officers, plans were discussed for a camp-workshop for persons interested in early childhood education. Speakers at the final session Friday were Miss Murray, director of the workshop; Miss Montague and Homer A. Lassiter of Raleigh; and Mr. Butler, discussing development of the association's objectives.

Sabre Jet Wing Leaving Korea For Modernizing

TOKYO (AP)—The sharpshooting 51st Fighter Interceptor Wing, whose Sabre jets ran up an impressive record of MIG kills during the Korean War, is being moved to Okinawa from Korea next week to be re-equipped with rocket-firing Sabres.

Gen. Earle Partridge, Far East Air Force commander, announced here today the move will strengthen rather than weaken air defense of South Korea.

Armistice terms prevent United Nations forces from introducing new combat materiel into Korea. Hence outmoded air groups are withdrawn to areas outside Korea for modernization.

The 51st is the third air wing of the U. S. 5th Air Force to be pulled out for modernization.

The use of fur garments was one of the luxuries that the Roman people adopted from Greece.

British Gov't Takes Over Coventry's Civil Defense

COVENTRY, England, (AP)—The Churchill government takes over the civil defense reins of this war-battered city this week. Socialist city councilors washed their hands of the whole business months ago, contending civil defense is useless against an H-bomb.

Civil defense work will go on just the same, with the city's 3,000 volunteer workers putting in two or three hours a week at first aid lectures and rescue drill—and the national government will continue to foot the bill.

The Council voted last April to disband its preparedness machinery. One H-bomb on the city, they said, and there wouldn't be anybody left to rescue anybody else anyway.

Personal appeals by Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe failed to move the Council so last week the government stepped in and appointed three outside officials to form a commission and run the show.

It has all worked out nice and smoothly. The government keeps civil defense going in Coventry—and the Council has registered its protest.

The only people likely to be not so pleased about the whole business are the local taxpayers. Getting three top officials in from London is going to add a penny or two to the local taxes.

Under a 1948 act of Parliament, local authorities have to foot the bill for any outside help sent in to carry out duties they refuse to accept.

Durocher Unworried Over Collapse Despite Setback

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The possibility of a Giant collapse was pooh-poohed by Manager Leo Durocher today but New York fans had cause for alarm. A humiliating 9-1 loss to Brooklyn last night stretched the slump-ridden Giants' losing streak to five straight and chiseled their first-place lead over the Dodgers to only three.

"I'm not worried about a thing," Durocher said after last night's loss. "We're still in a great spot. They've still got to catch us."

"Sure, we're in a little slump. But I think the worst is over. We were due to level off a bit the way we were going before the All-Star Game. Now we're back home for a long spell and everything will be all right."

The Dodgers' 15-hit victory was their first over Sal Maglie at Ebbets Field. Maglie had whipped them 10 straight times in Brooklyn.

Milwaukee's Braves, whose dimmed pennant chances began to flicker anew after their three-game sweep of the Giants over the past weekend, made it five in a row with a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh. Gene Conley, Milwaukee's 6-foot-8 rookie right-hander doled out four hits while Billy Bruton and Eddie Mathews were providing the offensive spark to move the three-place Braves to within 10½ games of the Giants.

Bruton opened the game with a triple off loser Bob Purkey and scored on a single by Mathews. In the third, Bruton singled stole second and scored on Mathews' second single. Doubles by Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko in the sixth accounted for Milwaukee's third run.

All other clubs had an off day as they girded themselves for the busy schedule today. The spotlight is on Chicago, where the second-place White Sox meet in the first of a three-game series. Cleveland, which leads the Yankees by a game and a half, is host to Boston's Red Sox, whom they've beaten 13 times in 14 meetings.

The Dodgers, who were scheduled to meet Chicago's Cubs this afternoon, made short work of Maglie last night, blasting him for 11 hits before sending him to the showers in the sixth inning. They continued their barrage on relievers Hoyt Wilhelm, Paul Giel and Al Corwin. Pee Wee Reese and Jackie Robinson collected three hits apiece.

The Giants, who had whipped the Dodgers in their last six meetings, were limited to five hits by Carl Erskine.

Inter-Loop Play Idea Is Scrapped

NEW YORK (AP)—The major leagues have dropped Hank Greenberg's idea of an interleague schedule, at least for 1955, and have agreed on a new rule to ban signing of college baseball players who have started their second academic year.

Milwaukee gets the 1955 All-Star Game, at a date to be determined later, and the problems of Caribbean winter baseball are to be solved at a final conference today between the Latin delegates and Commissioner Ford Frick.

The Caribbean leagues agree to end their seasons and playoffs by Feb. 15 for permission to use no more than five players from each major league team, of which at least two will be rookies who have appeared in less than 45 games.

All is set except the actual final agreement between Frick and the delegates. Player requests to deal directly with the Caribbean teams were rejected.

Frick said Greenberg's interleague proposal was withdrawn by the Cleveland General Manager at the joint meeting after being discussed at each separate league meeting.

The college rule represents a victory for Everett (Eppie) Barnes, collegiate athletic director, who he fought for many years to get some protection for college players.

Roy Mack Says A's Not For Sale

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Roy Mack emerged in his own light today as the current strong man of the Philadelphia Athletics.

The normally quiet, unassuming executive vice president of the American League club stuck his jaw out a country mile at the mid-summer baseball meetings in New York yesterday and announced the A's are not for sale, a half a hundred rumors notwithstanding.

And if that wasn't plain enough talk, the eldest son of Connie Mack declared he was in the throes of a family squabble with his younger brother Earle to obtain complete control of the club and change the downtown Athletics into a pennant contender.

Several weeks ago Manager Eddie Joost had a row with outfielder Gus Zernial over the big slugger's placement in the batting lineup. The argument was carried into Roy Mack's office.

When Zernial and Joost had departed, Mack was asked by sports writers what it was all about. His rather wistful comment:

"Nobody ever tells me anything."

Apparently something new has been added. Yesterday it was Roy doing the telling and in no uncertain terms. Admitting that he had discussed the future of the A's with a syndicate headed by Arnold Johnson of Chicago, who has been pushing Kansas City for a major league franchise, as well as several groups from points west, Roy said:

"When I say we are definitely not selling, I mean that. It's easy enough to kick a guy when he's down, but I'm not going to stay down."

"I'm going to battle for all-out control of this club, especially since the 'Save the A's' has got going."

This last was a reference to an effort by local civic and business leaders to retain the club in Philadelphia.

As for his hassle with his brother, Roy said:

"Some time ago, my brother Earle said he would give me an option to buy his stock. We went so far as to practically have the options drawn up for signature. Then he backed down, I don't know why but he did."

The A's stock is divided just equally among Connie Sr., Earle and Roy.

"Go ask Roy where he is going to get the money," was General Manager Earle's comment.

Over 1,200 Top Amateurs Play In Qualifying Round

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 1,200 of the nation's top amateur golfers play 36-hole qualifying rounds today for the USGA amateur championship with 163 gaining places in the preliminary round.

The qualifiers will try their skill on 38 courses throughout the country with the largest fields—107—at Detroit and New York.

The amateur championship will be played at the Country Club of Detroit, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich., Aug. 23-28.

Five men—Ted Cooney, Charles Pyle, Dr. Ted Leneyak, Edward Martin and Edwin C. Vore qualified at Boston while Tom Veech, Tom Brennan Jr., and Ken Berke came through in Milwaukee last Friday.

Joe Bernolfe, a veteran golfer, won the Utah area spot and Ray Weston Jr., and Erv Parent took the state of Washington's berth yesterday.

Softball Tourney Starts With Two Games Tonight

The Recreation Softball League double elimination tournament starts tonight with a doubleheader on tap for the first round.

The first game starts at 7:30 with the Graniters playing the Southern Bred. The second game will be between the Home Builders and Harris Super Markets.

During the course of the regular season play the Graniters racked up a more impressive record than did the Southern Bred. The Graniters won 12 and lost 6 while the Bred had an 8-11 record.

Whereas the Southern Bred doesn't have an outstanding pitcher, the Graniters have George Fuller, the number two pitcher in the league.

In the second game the Home Builders have a much more impressive record than do the Super Markets team. The Builders had the second best record of the year, winning fifteen and losing five. Harris Super Markets won seven and lost seven.

In the second half of play the Harris team finished in third place, however, and could give Coach Ford McGowan's crew a fit.

On Wednesday night three games will be on tap. At 7 o'clock the Carolina Dairies plays the winner of the Graniters-Southern Bred game and at 8:15 Garner-Wynne-Manning plays the winner of the Home Builders-Harris Super Markets game. At 9:30 the two losers in the first round of play come together that will eliminate one of the teams.

The Carolina Dairies had an 18-2 won-lost record for the year. Garner-Wynne-Manning had a 10-9 mark. The strong points of the Carolina Dairies team are its well rounded hitting power, air light infield, and the best pitcher in the league. Garner-Wynne-Manning has another excellent infield and good hitting power, but until of late no pitching.

Batting Leaders Extend Margin

NEW YORK (AP)—Irv Noren of the Yankees and Brooklyn's Duke Snider have lengthened their leads in the major league batting races.

Noren, who had a 199 - point bulge a week ago today owns a commanding 34 - point advantage over runner-up Minnie Minoso of the White Sox in the American League. The Yankee outfielder is swinging at a .358 clip as compared to Minoso's .324 mark.

Snider, after boasting a 10-point edge last week, now is 19-points ahead of his closest competitor, Don Mueller of the Giants, in the National League hitting parade. The Dodgers' flycatcher is batting .363, while Mueller stands at .344.

Noren, with 10 hits in 29 at bats, lost two points during the week. Minoso moved up from third by going 11-for-31 and gained two points. Cleveland's Bobby Avila, second last week, lost 21 points and fell to fourth at .320, one point behind third-ranking Mickey Mantle of the Yanks with .321.

Snider went 10-for-25 and increased his average two points. Mueller, meanwhile, remained second, but lost seven points by going 8-for-30. Six-times batting champion Stan Musial of the Cards advanced from fifth to third at .337, followed by his rookie teammate Wally Moon in fourth with a .336 mark.

College All-Stars Drill In Secret

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Declaring that his All-Star college football squad is "vulnerable to scouting," Head Coach Jim Tatum has barred visitors from the Stars' practice field at Purdue.

"We appreciate spectator interest," said Tatum, "but this will be one squad whose plans will not be reported to the pros."

The All-Stars meet the pro champion Detroit Lions Aug. 13 in Soldier Field, Chicago.

The ban apparently will apply for the rest of the training schedule.

Tatum, who steered Maryland to a national championship last fall, also revealed that he'll have five separate teams—none of which will be named as the regular unit.

Pony Schedule

With the Pony League tournament over as far as Greenville teams are concerned the regular season play got back into swing last night. The schedule has been resumed right where it was left off.

The schedule for the rest of the year is as follows:

July 27—Fordomatics vs. Redmen
July 29—National Guard vs. Redmen
July 30—Bright Leafs vs. Fordomatics
August 2—Fordomatics vs. National Guard
August 3—Redmen vs. Bright Leafs
August 5—Redmen vs. Fordomatics

Pridmore Hurls Three-Hitter As NG Beats Dodge

| Bright Leaf | 4 | 2 | .667 |
| National Guard | 3 | 3 | .500 |

Lefthander Bobby Pridmore fired a snappy three-hit pitching performance last night as he pitched the National Guard to a 3-2 victory over the Bright Leafs in Pony League play at Guy Smith Stadium.

Pridmore's victory knocked the Bright Leafs out of their first place tie with the Redmen. The Redmen now have a half a game lead over the Dodge team.

Runs in the first, third, and fourth innings proved the downfall of Richard Nobles, the starting Bright Leaf pitcher.

Two errors and Phil Davis' ground single brought in a run in the first. Three hits brought across another run in the third and two singles and an error scored the winning run in the fourth.

Errors Score Runs

Errors by his teammates brought across both runs off Pridmore in the sixth. Raymond led off with a single. Ronald Riggs grounded to second where Carl Bested never could come up with the ball. In an attempt to pick the runner off base the Guard catcher threw the ball in centerfield with Bullock scoring. Jimmy Jenkins walked putting runners on first and third. Boyce (Butch) Cox grounded sharply back to the pitcher, and when Pridmore threw to second to force one runner Biggs came in to score.

The next play was really a dilly as Ronnie Finch grounded to the pitcher who threw Cox out at third. With most of the players thinking there were three outs Finch walked off first base. Pridmore was on the ball and fired it to Dick Evans for the third out.

Raymond Bullock got two for three to lead the Bright Leafs at bat. Carl Bested and Phil Davis each got two hits for the National Guard.

Score by innings:
Bright Leafs 000 002—2
National Guard 101 100 x3
Nobles, Johnson (4), and Riggs; Pridmore and Stoneham.

Finals Today In PGA Tournament

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Chick Harbert and Wally Burkemo, two golfers who thrive on the kind of competition whose you face the other fellow—and try to beat him down, meet today in the final match of what may be the best-played PGA Championship in the postwar era.

It is the second man-to-man clash between these two, who live and work scarcely 10 miles apart in suburban Detroit, and the third PGA final for each.

In yesterday's grueling 36-hole semifinals, Burkemo, the defending champion, almost crushed Cary Middlecoff with one brief string of birdie shooting, let him get away and then came back to win on the 37th. Harbert, twice runner-up but never a winner in this tournament, had to go clear to the 36th green to down Tommy Bolt, 1 up.

Burkemo and Harbert clashed in the second round of the 1951 PGA at Oakmont, and the blonde, bright blue-eyed Burkemo won on the 19th hole. That was when Wally, playing his first championship, went all the way to the final before he took a 7 and 6 drubbing from Sam Snead.

Burkemo only lasted until the third round the next year, when it was Harbert's turn to go to the final, but he took the title last year at Birmingham, Mich. beating Felice Tora, 2 and 1.

Against Bolt yesterday, Harbert gained a 2-up lead at the 27-hole mark and then started to shoot steady pars until the holes ran out.

That admirable strategy didn't work. Bolt matched the pars for seven holes, then, when it was a case of win or quit, he sank an almost unbelievable 40-foot putt for a birdie on the 35th.

Chisox Aim Sweep Series With Yanks

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox dared to hope for three straight victories in a pressure-packed series starting tonight—against the New York Yankees—the team that has been smashing Sox hopes all season.

"It wouldn't surprise me if we sweep the series," said Manager Paul Richards as he prepared to send three top pitchers against the New Yorkers.

Virgil Trucks, a 13-game winner who has lost only 5 decisions was Richards' choice for tonight's opener. The Yanks' Casey Stengel indicated he will counter with Harry Byrd, who has won 6 of 11.

Trucks is to be followed by Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra. Byrd will be followed by Ed Lopat and either Allie Reynolds or Whitey Ford.

It was the Yanks who were responsible for shoving the Sox back down the ladder as they were reaching for the top in New York just last week.

The Yanks took three out of four in that series—something they've been accustomed to in past engagements with the Comiskeyes. They now hold 11 wins over the Sox against only 5 losses this year.

That means they're mainly responsible for the White Sox being in third place, 6 games off the pace of the leading Cleveland Indians and 4½ back of the Yanks, instead of at or near the peak.

The White Sox hold an edge over all other American League rivals, including a 9 to 7 bulge over the Indians.

Two or three losses in Chicago to the Yanks wouldn't quench Sox pennant ambitions finally but it would take weeks of desperate—and successful—scrambling for them to recover. This would be especially true if the Indians continue their winning pace in their current series with Boston.

Richards, who claims his boys "have been outtucked in several of those games" with the Yankees; points out from here on out the schedule is definitely in the Sox' favor.

After this week's series, they the Yanks only three more times and the Indians only six more. Meantime, the Yanks and Indians must meet each other eight times.

Young Brooklyn Comer Outslugs Ex-Champ Towel

NEW YORK (AP)—Vic Towel looks like you would expect an ex-champion to look at 26 and young Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn has all the earmarks of a real comer.

Towel at 133 pounds was 15 over the weight he held when he lost his world bantam crown to Jimmy Carruthers in '52. He was slow in contrast to the clever 20-year-old hit and run artist who is unbeaten in 25 pro fights and fast rising featherweight hope.

But Towel showed the willing style of a mauler despite his loss to Costa on a unanimous decision in a 10-rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway last night. It was Towel's first fight out of his native South Africa.

Away from the ring since December, Towel was rusty. If he hadn't twisted his right ankle (he claimed Referee Peete stepped on it) he might have come on to make it a close finish.

Shivers Leads In Texas Vote; Runoff Planned

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—County Democratic executive committees meet today to canvass the primary election returns that indicate runoff elections for governor and other Texas offices.

The runoff will come Aug. 28 after the State Democratic Executive Committee in turn makes a canvass Aug. 9 of all primary returns, district and state.

Meanwhile, Gov. Allan Shivers led Atty. Ralph Yarborough by 650,919 votes to 632,040 in latest returns announced last night by the unofficial Texas Election Bureau. Two lesser candidates—Arlon B. Davis of Dallas, with 16,062 votes and J. J. Holmes of Austin, with 15,538—combined to force the runoff.

Candidates must have a clear majority of all votes to win. The campaign for governor, now narrowed to Yarborough and Shivers, promised to be a bare-knuckled, dog-eat-dog fight.

Shivers led the Texas Democratic party organization into the Republican camp in 1952 and was the moving force that put Texas in the Republican presidential election column. Yarborough supported Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

In other results that became apparent as the final vote counts trickled in:

1. It was apparent that U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Sam Rayburn had won re-nomination by heavy majorities.

2. Two congressmen, Representatives Ken Regan of Midland and Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, in the populous Fort Worth district, apparently were defeated. Regan had not conceded defeat to State Sen. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa, who had a slim 169-vote lead out of more than 50,000. But Lucas already had wired congratulations to Mayor Jim Wright of Weatherford, who had a 3-to-2 majority out of about 80,000 votes.

3. The solid power of George Parr, political boss in south Texas, apparently had been cracked, temporarily at least. His candidate for district judge won apparent election but his district attorney seemed lost and his nephew, Sheriff Archer Parr of Duval County, trailed an opponent for state representative by 63 votes in latest unofficial returns.

In Saturday's voting, however, Parr's "Old Party" candidates defeated the opposition candidates by a little better than 3 to 1 in his home county of Duval.

Civic Band Plans Initial Concert

First concert by the newly formed Community Band will be given tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Elm Street Park.

The band, composed of local businessmen, college and high school students, was organized four weeks ago.

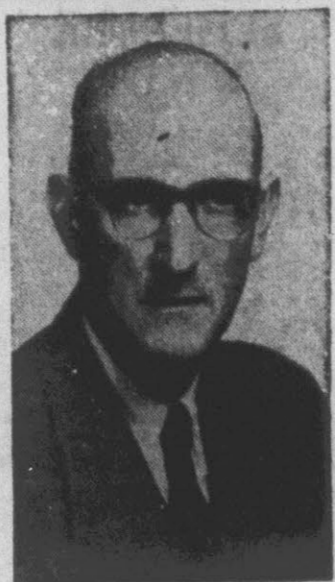

Under the direction of James E. Rodgers the group of 60 musicians has been rehearsing weekly every Wednesday night at the high school band room.

Sponsored by the Recreation Department, the Community Band was organized to give musicians an opportunity to participate in a musical organization during the summer months.

This is the first such project undertaken by the Recreation Department, which urges "those who like good music" to attend the informal concert tomorrow night.

Police Hunt For Dog Mutilator

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police in northwestern Baltimore are seeking a perversely who apparently delights in strapping dogs to a board and killing them by slashing with a knife. Since last April six dead dogs have been found mutilated in that manner, in the same block. The latest was found yesterday.

Ralph Wellons

Rotary Governor To Visit Bethel

BETHEL — The Rotary Club of Bethel today is host to Dr. Ralph D. Wellons, Governor of the 77th District of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 43 Rotary Clubs in the southeastern part of North Carolina.

Dr. Wellons will address the club and confer with President J. C. Wynne, Jr., Secretary S. Charles Ives, Jr., and Committee chairman on Rotary Administration and service activities, and on plans for participation by the Rotary Club of Bethel in the world-wide observance of Rotary's Golden Anniversary, February 23, June 2.

The District Governor of Rotary International was elected for the 1954-55 fiscal year at the annual Rotary Convention in Seattle, Wash. last June. Dr. Wellons is President of Pembroke State College in Pembroke, N. C. and a member of Rotary Club of Red Springs. He is one of 220 District Governors supervising the activities of some 8,300 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 389,000 business and professional executives in 89 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Boys Stole Car To See 3 Girls

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Three Baltimore boys told police they met three girls from Williamsport, Md., recently on a moonlight cruise out of Baltimore and wanted to see them again. They stole a car and headed for Williamsport, Detective Joseph Hutchins said.

But they got on the wrong road and wound up, lost, near Handock, Md. That's where state police found them, out of gas. They were slated to be charged with car theft today.

Court Order For Feeding Baby

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A young mother has been ordered by a judge to wear her baby. Mrs. John C. Honeycutt and her husband pleaded guilty last month to forging 30 checks totaling $700. They claimed they used the money to buy food and medicine for their daughter Debra, 5 months old. When Mrs. Honeycutt told the court yesterday she was breastfeeding her baby, Superior Judge Joe Raycraft ordered her to put the child on a bottle and return Aug. 9 for sentence.

Trolley Turned At Wrong Corner

BALTIMORE (AP)—Operator Willard Brannan drove his No. 10 trackless trolley from Broadway into Bank Street yesterday. Then he turned to his grinning passengers and explained that they'd have to get off and wait for the next No. 10. Following several automobiles ahead of him, Brannan had made a left turn one block too soon. Trolleyless, as well as trackless, his vehicle stalled.

Sen. McClellan Eisenhower Pressured To Order Tariff Hike

By LEON HATCH
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan who two years ago participated in the defeat of Sid McMath for a third term as Arkansas governor, today meets the challenge of McMath for his own job.

McMath and another candidate, Paul Chambers, Arkansas' Democratic national committeeman, are attempting to oust McClellan from the Senate seat he has held for nearly 12 years. A fourth candidate, Leonard Ellis, did not campaign.

If no candidate gets a majority of the total vote cast in today's Democratic primary, the two top men will meet again in a second primary two weeks hence.

In Arkansas, Democratic nomination is equivalent to election. McClellan, senior Democrat on Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee and in that role familiar to television audiences during the recent McCarthy-Army hearings, campaigned mainly on his 12-year record and the prestige he said his seniority gave. McMath attacked him as a "Democrat in name only," a Republican and an errand boy for "Texas oil millionaires" and "the power trust."

Chambers declared both his opponents represent special interests—McClellan "big business" and McMath organized labor—and that only he could represent "all the people."

Besides McClellan, Rep. Oren Harris of El Dorado in the 4th District is the only member of Arkansas' all-Democrat congressional delegation opposed for re-nomination.

Gov. Francis Cherry, who beat McMath two years ago with the active support of McClellan, also has three opponents for re-nomination: Orval Faubus of Huntsville State Sen. Guy Jones of Conway and Gus McMillan of Sheridan.

Polls open at 8 a. m., CST, and close at 6:30 p. m.

Embezzlement Trial Starting

CLAYTON, Ala. (AP)—Ex-banker Royall Reynolds, whose disappearance last March brought sleepy Clio Ala., awake with a start, goes on trial today on embezzlement charges. Reynolds' disappearance tied up funds in the now-defunct unchartered Merchant's Money Exchange at the critical spring planting period. He returned two weeks later. An audit showed a $75,000 deficit in the bank's funds. A citizens' committee agreed to accept a settlement under which depositors would get back all except about 10 to 15 per cent of their money. Reynolds liquidated all his personal holdings and his relatives chipped in to make up all except about $9,000 of the deficit.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Heavy pressure to protect a key industry in the production of delicate wartime instruments bore down on President Eisenhower today as he considered whether to order his first major tariff increase—on imported watch movements.

The Tariff Commission has recommended a 50 per cent increase in tariff rates to protect the highly skilled domestic watchmaking trade.

Scores of other industries, interested in their own protection from lower-cost foreign imports, waited with interest. Lead and zinc producers also have a tariff increase bid pending on Eisenhower's desk.

Foreign governments were concerned whether the movement for free world trade—already jarred by Congress' inaction on Eisenhower's three-year plan of gradual tariff reduction—might receive another setback.

Although the U. S. watch industry is comparatively small, consumers have a stake too. Importers estimated the tariff boost, if approved in full, would increase the cost of an imported watch by $3.50 to $5.

Since he took office Eisenhower has turned down Tariff Commission proposals for higher duties on briar pipes, shears and scissors and groundfish fillets. He approved in part a recommendation for increasing the duty of alskise cloverseed.

But the pressure for higher tariffs on Swiss watch movements has been built mainly on claims the domestic watchmaking craft is essential to national defense. The industry was the major wartime producer of precision instruments and timing devices.

A Senate Armed Services subcommittee, after hearing military officials testify to the "unique" skills of the watch and clock trade, reported on Saturday that the industry must be kept "alive and vital."

Domestic companies have complained that rising imports from Switzerland, where watchmakers are paid less, are damaging the market for American watchworks and causing layoffs which are scattering the trained working force.

Importers contend the watch industry is not the sole maker of instruments and timers, noting that camera producers furnished them in World War II. They also argue that if Switzerland's dollar-earning exports are reduced by the higher tariff wall, the Swiss will be able to buy fewer American farm products and manufactured items.

Called A Halt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ronald Carlos Taylor, 25, always wanted a motorcycle.

He had an opportunity to buy one from a friend last week, one that could do 100 miles an hour. The fact he has been drawing the full state pension for the blind eight years didn't deter him. He bought it.

He rode several interesting blocks before he made a left turn and ran into Miss Barbara Murphy, 25-year-old pedestrian.

Yesterday, Municipal Judge Charles Perry gave Taylor a 30-day suspended sentence for driving without a license, 30 days suspended for violating a pedestrian's right of way, and six months on probation.

Taylor sold the motorcycle.

The Taming of Carney Wilde

by BART SPICER

A dated scrap of paper marked "Delta Lines, Cabin 5," sends Detective Carney Wilde aboard a luxury boat cruising from Cincinnati to New Orleans, in the hope of apprehending one Charles Alexander Stewart. This youthful clerk had absconded with funds belonging to a bank in Philadelphia, and in the course of his flight, had killed a policeman. As Wilde stealthily searches Cabin 5, he is surprised by the sudden appearance of its occupant, Miss Pomeroy, a professional photographer on her way to the Mardi Gras. The tall, handsome, self-sufficient young career woman orders him, at gun-point, from her room.

CHAPTER EIGHT

MISS POMEROY said to me: "Tell me what gives you any right to ask me questions. About anything."

I said: "I told you about the man we're looking for. He's a killer, so that makes him your problem too. But strictly speaking, I don't have any right to question you." I brought out the letter Grodnik had given me and held it out to her. "You know me, you said. If you'll read this, you may be willing to help me."

One long thin hand came up automatically for the letter. She didn't read much of it. She folded it again, inserted it in the envelope. "In my pocket," she said in a thin tone. "In my coat."

I went to the bed again and bent over the coat. The wad of papers came out easily this time. The Delta Line receipt I skipped. Under it was a paid hotel bill. The next was a receipt from Mabley Carew's department store in Cincinnati. A receipt for one wardrobe trunk, brought today and paid for in cash.

I dropped the papers on the bed. And then I sat again. "Bought today," I said to Russell. "Sure it wasn't empty?"

"These were in it," Miss Pomeroy said, gesturing at the two big leather bags against the wall. "My equipment."

Russell nodded. "Could be. I know she had the trunk and two or three bags, maybe four." He glanced around the room. "Enough extra stuff here to account for it all," he admitted.

"Miss Pomeroy," I said, "would you mind telling me why you came on board at the last minute without a prior reservation? There's no reason why you have to tell me, I'll admit. But I'll have to find out somehow."

"I'm on assignment for Vacation," she said with no hesitation. "It was a last-minute idea of the editor's. I've got a letter from him somewhere."

"The gun," I said. "Why the ready gun?"

"I'm a single woman Mr. Wilde, and my job takes me to some rough places. I always carry a gun. There's a permit in my bag. And I know how to use it. Now, what else?"

"Just an apology, I guess," I said. I watched her blue eyes grow shadowed. "I'm not much good at apologizing. Could I go away somewhere and practice and come back another time?"

"Of course," she murmured. I looked at her as I eased the door shut and she was still there, standing straight and wonderfully tall, the overhead light falling on her lustrous hair, framing the line of her chin with a silvery edging, making slight hollows below her cheekbones, touching her full mouth with a gentle glow. She held her eyes hard on mine all the while I pulled the door shut.

"Smitten, Mr. Wilde?" Russell suggested. "A mile tall for some, but not for you. And not for me. A veritable doll, no?"

"I'll have to check the boat's crew, Russell," I said. "Can you set that up for me?"

"Easy," Russell said. "Two shifts only. Not much work while we're actually moving. We always hire extra hands in Cincinnati for loading and unloading. The stewards might be hard to round up all at one time but—"

"Won't be necessary," I broke in. "Just figure out how I can get a look at every crew member some time or other."

"Will do. What about the rest of the passengers?"

"I don't know. How many are there?"

"Roughly, 200."

"I guess you better get me the list."

"Sure. Also the captain is giving a party tonight. A get-together for the passengers. Might be a good idea to have a look at all the bedroom passengers, maybe, since your man had a bedroom reservation. What do you think?"

"Could be. Can you fix it?"

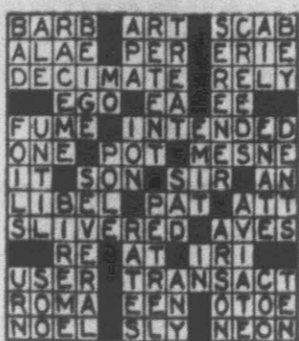

"Sure."

I went back to my bedroom, locked the door and stretched out full length on the soft double bed.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Outside in the corridor a voice spoke, sounding muted, but distinct inside my room. It was Mr. Russell using a public address system.

"All passengers are reminded of the captain's party in the dining-saloon. The saloon is forward on the Texas deck. That's the center deck of the boat. Come when you're ready, come as you are. No rules. No formality. The captain's giving a party and everything's on the house. On the boat, maybe I should say. Everyone's invited."

I got up and went into the bathroom, combed my hair, wiped my face with a damp cloth and buttoned my jacket. Then I opened the door and went to the captain's party.

At the foot of the forward staircase, young Mr. Russell stood, chatting amiably with a short, white-haired man who had his back to me. Russell had changed his uniform jacket for a blue, brass-buttoned blazer with "Assistant Purser" embroidered above the breast pocket.

"Hello Mr. Wilde," he said. "Come and meet Dr. Riggs. You'll be sharing the same table."

The small, white-haired man was thin and he stood very straight. His sharp chin was held very high. He took my hand in a quick snatch, gripping hard.

"Not doctor, my boy," he said in a hoarse, gravelly voice. "Just Doc. Old Doc Riggs. Pleasure to meet you, Mr. Wilde. Recuperating from a traumatic experience, I see."

"That's a nice way of saying it, Doc," I laughed.

"If you can't say it nice, don't say it. That's the way I see it." The little man cocked his head birdlike to one side and looked at me with confident, faded-blue eyes that saw everything there was to see. He wore a suit of small checks, a blue bow tie that was just the watery shade of his eyes. The small aster in his buttonhole was a basic part of his atmosphere. He grinned at me and his wide thin mouth looked extremely wise and knowing. Doc Riggs looked like a graduate con man. He dressed that way and he had a voice that could carry a mile.

"Pitch-man Doc?" I asked. "Or a carnie?"

"I won't deny either impeachment, sir," he chuckled. "Although I am now retired from the hurling-burling scramble for a quick bit of crumch, I must confess there was a time when Orestores and Co. were wont to call on me when ever their solid gold brass watches were finding few takers among the reubens. And Benbow's Mammoth Carnival, to a man, once referred to me admiringly as Spindle Jack Riggs in recognition of a certain small adeptness I managed to acquire through the deft dexterity of a delicate digit on the controlling gaff of a wheel of fortune. But all that was long ago. Have you any shares of High Licking Oil, Coal and Copper, Inc. in your portfolio, Mr. Wilde? I think I could find a few magnificently engraved specimens of high peridy and profit. Both peridy and profit to be mine, I assure you."

Russell and I were both grinning hugely by the time Doc Riggs offered his stock for sale.

"Doc, I've got to break it off, I'm afraid," Russell said with genuine regret. "I've promised to introduce Mr. Wilde to the captain and then I've got errands to run. I hope you'll remember all this so we can pick it up again later."

"If I forget any, I can make up a better one, Mr. Russell," Doc said happily. "Please Mr. Wilde. We'll meet again at dinner I believe."

I let Russell pull me away from the dapper little con-man.

"Let's just walk around the outside of the mob," he suggested. "Riggs, by the way, is in bedroom six. I'll point out all the top-dog passengers I see. I won't be able to stick around after the captain comes in."

Cadillac

TIC CORPORATION

Off on an Hour's Vacation!

To be honest with you, we're not certain where he's going. He may be journeying to a branch office of his corporation... or he may be heading home for the day... or he may just be taking his afternoon "constitutional" behind the wheel.

But one thing we know for certain. He's about to embark on a little vacation. And for its length, it will be one of the most wonderful interludes a man could hope to enjoy.

For he's about to spend an hour in his 1954 Cadillac—and here, beyond any question, is the perfect remedy for a trying day.

It will bring him physical relaxation—for his Cadillac is so comfortable and luxurious that merely to sit in the driver's seat is to rest. And the car handles and steers with such complete effortlessness that every mile is a tonic for the body.

It will bring him mental refreshment—for the car is such a joy to drive and ride in that a man seems-almost automatically to leave his cares at the curb-side. And it will bring him renewed enthusiasm and interest—for every moment a man spends with his Cadillac serves as a stimulating reminder of his past accomplishments—and acts as a wonderful inspiration for planning and thinking out the future.

All this, of course, is the very essence of Cadillac value. All cars offer transportation—and varying degrees of satisfaction. But it remains for Cadillac to provide a definite therapeutic for the mind and body of a work-weary man.

In this glorious respect, there are simply two types of cars: Cadillacs and all the others.

Come in sometime—when life has grown stale with the toil of the day—and take an hour's vacation in a 1954 Cadillac.

It will be the most refreshing sixty minutes you ever spent on the highway—and we'll be delighted to provide the car at any time!

$125 to $175 Per Week
 I want two best appearing men with cars to represent an old national concern, one of the largest financial institutions in the country. If you are willing to work hard for $125 up to $175 per week and you are able to work in the 60 mile area of Greenville Monday through Friday, don't pass up this ad! If you are a man of average intelligence, I want to talk to you. I know what you are probably thinking, as you read this ad, the same as I thought myself many times when I was job hunting. . . That it is just another ad with a lot of promises. Believe me, fellows, it is not! It has been 10 months since I joined this firm and I regret to this day it wasn't 10 years ago. I have made more money in the past 10 months with this firm than I earned with other firms in the past five years. I don't care what your previous experience has been-whether it is selling magazines, books, vacuum cleaners, appliances, picture coupons or any other type of sales work. If you are able to open your mouth and talk to me, I will show you how easy it is to earn up to $175 per week with this company. Experience is not necessary, we give you complete training. If you are accepted you will be backed by millions of dollars in advanced advertising. This advertising will keep you busy constantly calling on prospects in this territory with qualified leads sent in by people demanding that our representative call on them. This is a job with security for the rest of your life. Get in on the ground floor! You owe it to yourself to answer this ad. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain. Come in and let me prove to you that this is what you've been waiting for. Contact Eugene Stafford at the Hotel Proctor, Tuesday or Wednesday, July 27 or 28, 1954, between the hours of 2:30 to 8:00 p.m. Write P. O. Box 556, Greenville, N. C. Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy demand for steels at higher prices today encouraged a rise in the stock market.

In the early afternoon, advances between 1 and 3 points were frequent. There were scattered losses, but only in special instances did they go past a point.

Improvement in prices brought a quickened demand that sent volume to a pace past yesterday's 2,110,000 shares traded in a mixed market.

Going up with the steels were most motors, rubbers, aircrafts, distillers, coppers, tobaccos, railroads, oils, building materials, and a sizable contingent of low-priced issues.

Gigantic Brush Fire Is Fought

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A gigantic brush fire roaring through 5,000 to 6,000 acres of pine and oak oak southeast of here, burned into its second week today.

But a fire that cut a 2,000-acre swath out of cedar brake and scrub country 20 miles northwest of the state capital was believed "generally under control" after destroying three homes in the Lake Travis area last night.

The roaring fires, visible for miles last night, added smoke and eye-smarting cinders and ashes to drought-harried central Texas' miseries.

The flames flared to major size last night after a day of 109-degree temperatures in this region, without normal rainfall for months.

The state highway patrol said some 250 volunteers had the fire around Dodd City, lake resort community to the northwest, under "general control" before 10 p. m. last night. But the big blaze threatening the eastern edge of the 5,000-6,000-acre Bastrop State Park, 35 miles to the southeast, burned on.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION

My sister's home burned to the ground. They $1,000 insurance covered the purchase price 10 years ago, but it will cost $12,000 to rebuild the home. How can we find out the replacement value of our home, so we can increase our fire insurance accordingly?

For the answer to any of your insurance problems, consult Les Turnage of D. L. Turnage Real Estate and Insurance Agency, 225 Cotanche St. Phone 2715.

Tobacco Festival Entertainment Is Being Lined Up

A portion of the entertainment program lined up for the forthcoming Tobacco Festival August 12 was released this morning by Bancroft Moseley, chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

Ten groups will be responsible for some form of entertainment during the Festival. Each group has been allotted specific times by the Committee for its program.

Business and Professional Women will sponsor a program by Marie's School of Dance. Accompanist for the numbers will be Hal Lemmond.

This club will also sponsor Cary and Fred, a brother and sister team who will render Hawaiian music, and the Rhythm Girls, a trio composed of Estelle Dunn, Louise McGowan and Mary Dawson.

The Kiwanis Club is going to sponsor Slim Short's show with Arthur Bowen and the Bar X Boys, James and Tom, Myrt and Midnight. This is a regular WOTM show.

Garland Batchelor and the Golden Weed Jamboree with Uncle Fud will be backed by the Exchange Club, while the Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a round dance with R.C. Fields and his orchestra.

The Lions Club will have a dance with music by Hal Lemmond and his orchestra.

The Recreation Commission has scheduled a number of contests and games for the festival.

Also sponsoring events on the entertainment program, but whose selection has not yet been announced, are the Elks Club, Moose Club, Rotary Club and the Rough and Ready Fire Department.

Showmen Enjoy Traveling Life

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—Accompanied by a ringtail monkey, a whale's rib and 180 rusty guns, two disabled war veterans have toured 44 states on a 270,000-mile jaunt since 1944. Fred Sheldon and Bill Sellers like the life.

Packed in their ancient truck are such attractions as a bear trap belted as the only one in the world which catches the bear by the head, and an assortment of pictures of hangings.

Visitors are welcome to inspect the display. If they wish to contribute a dime or quarter, that's fine; if not, that's fine too. The show is seldom seen twice in the same town - but not because the two veterans and their show aren't welcome.

"We're just enjoying seeing the country," Sheldon grins.

Jim Bowie Yet To Be Located

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Police thought they were getting a run-around when a prisoner gave his name as Daniel Boone.

But the police clerk said it was correct—the man was a personal friend of his.

The clerk's name is David Crockett.

Cars Damaged In Monday Accident

City Police reported an accident on Dickinson Avenue yesterday afternoon which resulted in approximately $250 damage to the two vehicles.

One car, a 1950 model driven by Mrs. Martha C. Forrest of 1209 Dickinson Avenue, was damaged approximately $50 while the other, a 1951 model, driven by Mrs. Jessie Brewer, 1206 Myrtle Avenue, sustained about $200 damage.

According to the police report Mrs. Forrest stated she looked in her rear view mirror and did not see any car so she pulled from the curb. Mrs. Elks stated she saw no car until she got hit.

Both cars were "driveable" and Police investigating officers Lt. W. Harris and Patrolman H. H. McGowan made no charge.

The accident occurred near the Eighth Street intersection at 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

Too Many 'Tin Badges' Around

OKLAHOMA, Calif. (AP)—The bus sign said "No smoking." But Russell A. LaPlaca, 26, smoked.

When the man behind pointed to the sign, Russell replied, "Who says?"

The man was Police Inspector William G. Martin and he showed his badge.

"Anyone can have a tin badge," Russell said.

In back of Martin was Police Inspector J.C.R. McDonald, who also showed his badge. Then all three got off and went to Southern Station, where Russell posted $25 bail for smoking on a public conveyance and snuffed out his cigarette.

Extra Employees For Soil Tests

RALEIGH (AP)—The soil testing division of the State Department of Agriculture has added four temporary employees in anticipation of heavy business with the approach of fall seeding.

Dr. J. W. Pitts, director of the division, said yesterday farmers should send in their soil samples without delay if they want prompt service.

Dr. Pitts said: "A separate testing line will be maintained for 'Lime Only' on the outside of mail-results in a hurry in order to place their orders for lime should mark 'Lime Only' on the outside of mailing cartons."

Firm Prices For Tobacco Market

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—Warehouses in the Georgia-Florida Tobacco Belt began their third week of sales Monday with prices holding steady or averaging slightly higher for most grades.

The practical top remained at $64 per hundred pounds and gains reported were from $1 to $2 per hundred in most instances, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said. A few losses were reported.

A slight increase was noted in offerings of lower grades. The bulk of the offerings consisted of low and fair leaf and primings and low to good lugs.

Tobacco sold last week throughout the belt grossed 43,718,586 pounds at an average of $51.88 per hundred. That brought the season's gross sales up to 57,064,467 pounds at a $52.12 average.

Only 4.2 per cent of the sales have gone to the Tobacco Stabilization Corp on government loan. Warehouse men said this indicated that farmers generally are satisfied with auction prices.

Monday's top price of $64 was paid for fair lemon cutters. Monday's lowest, $25 per hundred, was for best thin nondescript.

Driver Charged In Accident On Evans St. Today

"Falling to yield the right-of-way" was charged against a Fayetteville man after an automobile accident on Evans Street this morning.

Jack Willard, Jr. of 213 Franklin Street, Fayetteville, who was driving a 1954 model pickup truck owned by Music Distributors, Inc. of Fayetteville pulled from the curb hitting a 1953 model car driven by N. L. Stott of 206 South Sylvan Drive of Greenville.

The accident, which occurred on Evans Street in front of Mrs. Morton's Bakery, caused $150 estimated damage to the Stott vehicle and $25 to the truck.

Greenville City Patrolmen Henry Lawson and William Flake, investigating officers, charged Willard with failing to yield the right-of-way. He will be tried in Police Court tomorrow (Wednesday) at 9 o'clock.

Cargoes of mahogany lumber for the furniture manufacturers of North Carolina come from the Philippines and are imported through the North Carolina State Port at Wilmington.
