Appeals To France And Italy; German Troops Essential To Defense

Eisenhower Urges EDC Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told Congress today a firm defense of Western Europe against Russian attack will be impossible without German troops to bolster the line.

"No measures to defend free Europe from Soviet aggression can be fully effective without participation."

White House a bill providing $5,243,575,795 to run the foreign aid program another year, including both military and economic assistance.

But, he acknowledged that Communist gains in Indochina represent a "serious military setback" for the free world.

He said that in order to block further Red drives it would be necessary to strengthen the economic base of Far East countries, thus permitting them to build up their armed forces without dangerous strain on their economies.

Cost Of Living Index Up; Food Prices Credited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Higher food prices, attributed mainly to drought conditions sent the government's living cost index up slightly in July. It was the third straight month of rising costs and will mean a penny-an-hour pay boost for about one million workers in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries.

Fight To Tighten GOP Control Of Congress Apparent President Raps Depression Prophets

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says administration critics forecasting a depression are pursuing "crooked-fence economic politics" — and aides said today this means he intends to fight hard to tighten Republican control of Congress.

Democrats quickly replied to Eisenhower's latest pat on the back for the GOP-run 83rd Congress with notice they are ready to wage the November election battle on the issues of the administration's tax, farm, labor, power and business policies.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today that its index for July was 115.2 per cent of the 1947-49 living cost average. This is just two-tenths of a point under the record reached last October.

View Sickness 4 'Thrill Killers'

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn's four thrill-killing teen-agers, once boastful about their deeds of violence, turned sick and shaken from the sight of one of their hapless victims.

The "fun" was over for Jack Koslow, 18-year-old leader of the brutal foursome. He wept when confronted yesterday with the battered, water-soaked body of a Negro victim and told detectives, "I feel sick."

was the first to be shown the bruised and bloated figure stretched out on the pier. He turned pale and whimpered: "Yes, that's the man. Take me away from here before I faint."

Police reported only two days ago that Mittman had told them he liked to pummel the gang's victims "to see how hard I could hit."

Workers who will get an automatic pay rise have union contracts tied to the index. These workers took a cut of a penny-an-hour last April because of living cost declines.

Peiping Repeats Formosa Claims

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China called again today for the "liberation" of Formosa and declared "we shall not stop until this objective is attained."

A Peiping radio broadcast said Formosa "must be liberated by the Chinese people and they will brook no U. S. occupation, no U. N. trusteeship, no neutralization."

The Chinese people both legally and morally are perfectly justified in wanting to liberate Taiwan (Formosa) and wipe out the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek gang," said the broadcast, quoting an editorial in the official People's Daily.

His statement said: "Arrests will continue to be made as in the past. If we follow our criterion of arrests only in clear-cut, substantial offenses, I think we'll be o.k."

Senate-House Committee Agree On Bill Accord On Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate-House conference committee agreed today on a compromise social security bill extending coverage to more than 10 million additional persons, and raising benefits and the taxes to pay for them.

Asked if he would oppose the report in the Senate, George said merely he would vote against it, indicating he planned no fight to block it.

The Senate and House versions of the bill were in general agreement on new benefit scales and on raising the tax base from $3,600 to $4,200. Their only major difference lay in just which additional workers should be covered by the legislation.

Smallest Total Since Korean War Allocated Appropriations See Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress voted a mere $53,909,000,000 to run the federal government this fiscal year — the smallest total since before the outbreak of the Korean War.

This year's appropriations fell about $5,500,000 below the $59,498,000,000 voted by Congress last year after the Republicans returned to power.

The year the nation started in earnest to rebuild its military might after the Red attack on South Korea.

Thirty-Six Depart For Induction, Pre-Induction

Christian Science

The importance of relying wholeheartedly on God, divine Mind, for guidance will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "MIND" will include the following passage from the King James Version of the Bible (Proverbs 3:5,6): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy path."

The practical availability of spiritual guidance will also be stressed in the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (254: 10-12): "When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path." The Golden Text is from Daniel (2:20,21): "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever; for wisdom and might are his; he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding."

H. D. Agent Discusses Labor Savers

The Sweet Gum Grove Club met yesterday afternoon at the Community Building with Mrs. Sue B. May, Home Demonstration Agent, giving the demonstration on Laundry Labor Savers. The attendance was small for this club due to the fact that two of the members, Mrs. David Nobles and Mrs. Leon Barnhill, were on tour with other club members and four others were at home with new babies. Mrs. Fernando Whichard reported taking flowers to the mothers and plans to take gifts to the babies.

Open discussions on Food Preservation and Family Life, which were very interesting and informative, were led by the leaders, Mrs. Lewis Whitehurst and Mrs. Margaret Tetterton, respectively.

The club plans to sponsor an educational exhibit at the County Fair. The committees appointed were Mrs. David Nobles, Mrs. Lewis Whitehurst and Mrs. Sam Alexander with the president, Mrs. Heber Briley, assisting. The recreation leader, Mrs. John Whichard, read two articles and led a contest, "States and Their Birds." Mrs. Sam Alexander won this prize.

Hostesses for the afternoon served iced drinks, cookies and pickles.

Shower Given In Honor Of Miss Taylor

Miss Hilda Speight and Mrs. Lila Bullock entertained Miss Katherine Taylor on August 4th at the home of the former at a miscellaneous shower.

From the hostesses, Miss Taylor received a lovely corsage. The home was decorated in mixed summer flowers.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jean Clark, Mrs. Mary Seymore, and Mrs. Kelly Pope in the games that were enjoyed by 15 guests present.

Following the opening of gifts, refreshments of Coca-Colas, brownies, potato chips and nuts were served.

Miss Taylor was presented a gift of crystal by the hostesses.

The present Japanese imperial dynasty has ruled over the country since 600 B.C.

Mrs. W. H. Rogers Jr. was hostess on Tuesday evening, to the members of her bridge club. The attractive new home on Tenth Street was decorated with summer flowers. Upon arrival the guests were welcomed by the hostess and her little daughter Elizabeth Cook.

After several progressions Miss Novella Moye, making top score, was presented hand-made handkerchiefs. The hostess served a frozen salad course.

Mrs. Cook of Tarboro, mother of Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. James Coleman, Misses Novella Moye and Ernestine Forbes enjoyed the hospitality of the club.

Mrs. Speight Serves As Hostess To H.D. Club Meeting

Reston-Nobles Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon at the Bethany Community Building with Mrs. Brantley Speight serving as hostess.

Mrs. Obed Castelleo, president of the club, presided at the meeting. The Community Building was decorated with arrangements of multi-colored asters for the occasion. Visitors for the meeting were Mrs. Speight's daughter and niece, Miss Rachael Speight and Miss Janet Best, who assisted her in serving lunch, dainty sandwiches and gingerbread squares to the club members.

Mrs. Sue B. May, Home Demonstration Agent, gave the monthly demonstration on Laundry Labor Savers, and a report on family life was given by Mrs. Castelleo.

During the business session the group discussed having an exhibit at the Pitt County Fair in October and the president appointed a committee of two to consider the proposal and make the final decision. On this committee are Mrs. Don Langston and Mrs. Speight. Mrs. Castelleo will also serve on the committee.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in the discussion of routine club business.

Mrs. Jack Hughes Compliments Bride-Elect

Mrs. Jack Hughes of Winston-Salem was hostess Thursday morning at 10:30 at a Coca-Cola party honoring Miss Marian Brown. The party was held in the garden of Mrs. Haar's.

The honoree was given a corsage of lavender asters which complimented her lavender and white dress.

The twenty guests who attended the party were served macaroons, fruit bars, potato chips, nuts, party sandwiches and iced drinks.

Mrs. Hughes presented Miss Brown with a silver butter dish.

Rehearsal Party Given Bridal Couple

Miss Janet Watson was hostess on Monday night at the Watsons' home for the Duval-Duke wedding party at a rehearsal dinner.

The hostess presented Miss Duke with a white bridal corsage.

The home was attractively decorated with arrangements of roses and mixed flowers. Auxiliary tables were used and each was decorated with a bouquet of gladioli.

After dinner the bride and groom presented gifts to their wedding attendants.

Miss Duke and Mr. Duval received from Miss Watson silver in their chosen pattern.

Show-r Honors Bridal Couple

Miss Bernadine Ballance, Mrs. Robert Shoe and Mrs. Cecil Whitehurst were hostesses Wednesday night at a floating miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Marian Brown and Mr. Madison Smith. The party was at the home of Miss Ballance on Hooker Road.

The hostesses presented Miss Brown, who was dressed in a white and lavender dress, with a bridal corsage of white carnations.

Upon arrival of guests they were invited into the living room that was decorated with arrangements of pink snapdragons and white asters. From the dining room table, which was covered with a cut-work cloth and held a centerpiece of white glads and fern flanked by crystal candelabra holding white tapers, guests were served punch, nuts, bridal cakes, mints and olives. The buffet was adorned with a bowl of mixed pink and white asters.

Miss Brown and Mr. Smith were the recipients of many nice gifts from the forty guests present.

Mr. And Mrs. Nobles Are Honored By Association Allied Florists

Wednesday evening, August 18th, the Greenville Association of Allied Florists met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nobles for their regular monthly meeting.

President Minnie Honeycutt opened the meeting and members repeated the Lord's Prayer. After the business session Mrs. Betty Nobles was invited to preside and have charge of the installation of officers for the coming year.

In well chosen words Mrs. Nobles thanked Mrs. Honeycutt for her untiring efforts and wonderful leadership for the past year and presented her a white Bible as a token of appreciation.

All officers and members were recognized and thanked for their cooperation and help during the past year. Mrs. Nobles made a most impressive talk on the past years work and read several verses of 12th chapter of Romans from the Bible, the association's guide-book.

Following officers were then installed:

Mrs. Aileen Jefferson, President. Mrs. Marie Cox, Vice President. Mr. Graham Jefferson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Mrs. Lena Tyson, Reporter.

As these officers were instructed and installed they were presented their favorite flower and in appropriate verse told the symbolism of the flower to their duties.

On the table was a beautiful arrangement of red roses, the Association's flower. This was given to Mr. and Mrs. Nobles by Mrs. Minnie Honeycutt. Mrs. Nobles gave a reading "God and The Rose" and asked for a continuation of the cooperation and love of each fellow florist, reminding that God estimates, not by the size of the task, but by the way each duty is met.

Mrs. Nobles thanked the other Florists for their many kindnesses and courtesies in the past and expressed her pleasure in having been one of them and her best wishes for their happiness in the future.

Mr. Nobles told how much the Association had meant to Nobles Florist and to him personally, by giving him added faith in his fellow florists. He encouraged members to have faith in each other and hold fast to their faith in God. With Mrs. Lena Tyson at the piano, he sang a beautiful solo "Have Faith in God" and closed this most impressive installation with prayer.

Mrs. Minnie Honeycutt presented Mrs. Nobles a beautiful orchid and Mr. Nobles a yellow rose boutonniere as an expression of her appreciation of their love and cooperation in the past and her best wishes for their future.

Mrs. Marie Cox presented Mr. and Mrs. Nobles a gift of sheets, pillow cases and linen hand towels from the Association, as a token of their love and appreciation.

Each Florist expressed their regrets that Mr. and Mrs. Nobles would no longer be their cooperative competitors and invited them to be honorary members of the Association.

Mrs. Nobles, assisted by Miss Jean Bright, served delicious home made peach and lemon ice cream with pineapple cake. A very pleasant social hour was enjoyed and everyone left with a fuller faith, brighter hopes and a deeper appreciation of God's goodness and earth's beauties.

'Books and Stuff'

DR. ED. HIRSBERG

With the conference of the World Council of Churches in full swing this week in Evanston, Illinois, we looked around for some books on religious themes as a sort of appropriate gesture.

Concerning the World Council itself, the Westminster Press has just issued a big book surveying the whole thing, called "A History of the Ecumenical Movement 1517-1948," which certainly ought to be comprehensive enough.

The Christian Hope and the Task of the Church was prepared for publication by the World Council itself, and contains selections by Christian Church leaders from Asia, Europe and America.

Our reviewer this week is Bruce Tribbe, versatile librarian at the College, who holds Master's degrees in both Library Science and Music.

UNTO A GOOD LAND, by Vilhelm Moberg. New York: Simon and Schuster, 1954.

UNTO A GOOD LAND by Swedish author Vilhelm Moberg, the Literary Guild's selection for August, will provide several hours of enjoyment for most of the people who read it.

Those who read Mr. Moberg's earlier novel, THE EMIGRANTS, will recognize many of the characters in this second volume of a projected trilogy.

Speaking of new novels, another one has just come out by that prolific author of children, Eleri Queen, named "The Glass Village."

And published this week was James Street's new novel, "Goodbye, My Lady," about the trying adolescence of a Mississippi swamp boy and his dog.

Which brings us to the opportune moment to announce that "Books and Stuff" is taking a two week rest period—our boss, your Editor, just told us we could have a vacation.

Church Assembly Endorses Prayer For Peace Plea

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—President Eisenhower's fervent plea to the world's spiritual chiefs to lead the way to a just and lasting peace drew an approving "amen" from churchmen today.

He laid his show-the-way challenge before representatives of 170 million Christians yesterday at a session of the World Council of Churches.

It was greeted with applause. Clergymen and laymen attending the convention later told newsmen of their reaction to Eisenhower's speech—including his appeal for a prayerful campaign for peace that could result in a global day of prayer, his public profession of faith and an invitation to criticize government "in the light of religious ideals."

A half dozen or more used terms such as "wonderful" and "very good."

Bishop Otto Dibelius, leader of German Protestantism, appraised it as a "very remarkable speech," and added:

"It comes from the depths of the heart and is very much welcome by the members of this assembly."

The President addressed a multitude of 18,000 men, women and children who sat or stood in North-western University's Deering Meadow. In the audience were representatives of 163 denominations in 48 countries who are in the midst of a 11-day conference.

Eisenhower spoke of a campaign for "a just and lasting peace," and added:

"I believe that you spiritual leaders of a great world organization, together with your brethren of other faiths, can lead the way."

"The goal should be nothing short of inviting every single person in every single country of the world who believes in the power of a Supreme Being to join in a mighty, simultaneous, intense act of faith."

"That act of faith might take the form of a personal prayer by hundreds upon hundreds of millions delivered simultaneously and fervently for the devotion, wisdom and stamina to work unceasingly for a just and lasting peace."

The President, through most of his remarks was solemn in tone. The black academic robe he donned to receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Northwestern emphasized the gravity of his demeanor.

The President, in one part of his speech, referred to religion as "a practical force in our affairs," and invited churchmen to give government "criticism in the light of religious ideals."

Methodist Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, told a newsman:

"I thought it was a very forceful statement of the proper relationship of church and state. Problems in the realm of economic and political life can never be effectively solved until the decisions are made in an atmosphere created by Christian faith and hope."

Prof. Adolph Keller of the Swiss Protestant Church Federation said it was "a great moment to hear such a statement," and noted that Eisenhower had made a "declaration of dependence in God."

Bishop Weston Henry Stewart of Jerusalem, a prelate of the Church of England in Jordan, said he was most impressed by the President's profession of faith.

That was the President's statement that, "for a moment" he was speaking "as a private citizen, a single member of one of the constituent bodies of this council of churches."

The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England, made this comment on Eisenhower's suggestion for a religious peace movement:

"All such movements must begin from the bottom and not be laid on from the top."

Expensive Hat Is Touring World

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A $1,500 hat which the John B. Stetson Co. claims to be the world's most expensive, is making a good will tour around the world.

The hat, which left here today, is being carried in a specially designed, hand-tooled leather case and will make its first international appearance at Sydney, Australia. It took 43 skilled hat workers one year to plan and complete the hat.

Daughter Makes Police Complaint

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—An 11-year-old girl summoned police to come and arrest her mother. She complained she had been spanked.

Police said the girl went into a temper tantrum when she was told they could do nothing about it. So the police left, recommending that she get another spanking.

Irish Welcome Became Glorious Nationalist Fight

POMEROY, Northern Ireland (AP)—Sure, it was a glorious fight—but the Union Jack still fluttered today over Pomeroy.

But you should have seen the place last night about the time Liam Kelly was being welcomed home from jail. He's the local hero of the nationalists, who want to wrest Northern Ireland from the British crown and join it up with the Irish Republic. He had been spending a year in the Belfast goal for making seditious remarks last year about Queen Elizabeth II. This was when he was campaigning for a seat in the Northern Ireland Parliament.

But yesterday Kelly's term was up and he headed for home. His nationalist friends camped on the edge of Pomeroy to give him a big welcome and escort him into town. Three hundred North Irish cops with guns stood by just in case of trouble.

As the word was passed along that Kelly was coming, bonfires were touched off on the hill. The nationalists formed a parade to march him to his home and hoisted the green, white and gold flag of the Irish Republic.

The police ordered them to strike the flag when they started down Pomeroy's main street. The nationalists paid no heed and marched into the cordon of 80 police strung across the road.

The police charged with their shillelaghs and broke up the parade. The nationalists retreated to the churchyard with 30 wounded, then armed themselves with stones and bottles.

"Stand firm, boys," a leader shouted, "now let 'em have it." The nationalists charged back into the fray. They beat off police trying to grab the flag, but another attack by the police clubs finally sent them reeling.

The fighting petered out then, and the village hotel was turned into a casualty station for the night. The able-bodied, including Kelly, went home to bed.

He's quite a fellow actually. He won the seat he was campaigning for last year in Northern Ireland's Parliament. While in jail, he also was elected to the Irish Republic's Senate. He was sworn into office in his jail cell last week by special permission of the British.

Canoe was on a hiking expedition with his brother Donald, 24, and Otto Strausberger, 34, Los Angeles, when his companions left him to get water.

While they were gone, he stumbled over a 10-foot cliff and landed on the ledge.

"I tried again and again to scramble back up the cliff above me but I just couldn't make it," he said.

His brother and Strausberger notified rangers Cane was lost and a search party was launched.

The helicopter was provided by nearby Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev.

"I dozed off a few times during the two nights on the ledge but I couldn't sleep comfortably," Cane said.

Seek New Uses For Big Supply Of Indium Ore

TRAIL, B.C. (AP)—At Kimberley, 90 miles northeast of here, is perhaps the world's largest source of indium, which may turn out to be a 20th Century Cinderella metal.

Scientists are seeking new and wider uses of this silvery white element, one of the softest metals known. Indium resembles aluminum and thallium in its properties. It is almost soft enough to be chewed.

Indium is used as an indicator in atomic piles since radio-activity can be induced easily in the metal. As an ingredient of solders, it lowers the melting point considerably.

An indium-tin alloy makes effective glass-to-glass and glass-to-metal seal. Applied to bearings in some aircraft and racing engines it has valuable antiwear qualities.

"The metal at Kimberley could produce about a million ounces annually, though production is much less because the demand is small.

Off-List Buying Habit Growing Over America

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Buying off-list is a growing habit with many American families in the present buyer's market.

Many manufacturers wink at the cutting of their regular retail list prices. Many others deplore it and fight it. "Fair trade" advocates see red at the mention of it.

"I can get it for you wholesale," long a popular slogan is only one of many now.

Discount houses are at war with old-line stores in many cities. Buying clubs have spread through factories and government and industrial offices. Discounts, trade-in allowances, gifts and other sales come-ons characterize this year's auto market. "Loss leaders," and occasional price wars, are a sales gimmick in many lines.

Even the President, in his mid-year report on the economy, takes note of "discounts, concessions, bargain sales etc., that have been a significant feature of recent markets." He cites them in his contention that "the value of the people's money has remained entirely intact."

Discount houses have been the chief peevish of other retailers of late. These inflation-born houses slash the usual retail markups to sell goods below list prices. Objecting manufacturers say this cheapens their product in the public's eye.

At first the older stores fought the discount houses by stressing the services and conveniences the regular ones offer. But of late a few have been meeting the competition by slashing profit margins themselves, although usually in the traditional guise of clearances or promotions.

One big chain store official however, predicts that a downward trend in markups of major appliances and electric housewares is in the making.

Manufacturers center their dislike on both the discount houses and the regular retailer who uses "loss leaders," items sold below cost to attract customers to the store.

Recently both Ekco Products Co. of Chicago and Philco Corp. cut off their lines from all distributors in the New York area, while drawing up new contracts with stiffer "fair trade," or list-price clauses, and dropping some dealers who con-

Rate Reduction Needs Consideration

The Reflector feels it is time for the Greenville Utilities Commission to again give serious consideration to a reduction in electric power rates for its customers.

Utilities officials were contemplating a reduction in electric power rates more than a year ago when the request came from the City Council for an increase in the utilities turnover to the city from $82,500 to $142,500.

The Utilities Commission granted the City Council request for an additional $60,000 annual contribution to the city's general fund; but in so doing, the Utilities Commission said it felt it unwise to obligate the Commission for the additional $60,000 and at the same time reduce electric power rates.

A look at the audit of utilities operation for the past year makes it appear that perhaps now the Utilities Commission is in a position to reconsider the power rate reduction.

Freedom Has Lost A Staunch Supporter

Death of Italy's former premier Alcide de Gasperi has robbed the European nations of one of their staunchest opponents of communism, and one of the most fiery supporters of European unity.

De Gasperi played an important role in the economic rehabilitation of both his own nation and all Europe by leading Italy out of the chaos which followed World War II into the path of democracy and economic stability.

Although de Gasperi vacated his position as the head of the Italian government in July of last year, he still held a tremendous influence in the Italian government. He was his nation's most ardent foe of communism both in and out of public office.

The death of the former Italian premier will be deeply felt in his native land, and it likewise will be felt throughout the free nations of Western Europe. Freedom has lost an important ally in de Gasperi's death. Communism has seen one of its most outspoken enemies pass away.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
ORDAINED OF GOD

What is marriage?

Marriage is a covenant—or promise—entered into by a man and a woman who desire to fuse their lives together in every particular and who publicly announce their willingness to assume the responsibility which this important step involves.

The marriage ceremony is the legal—and usually the religious—avowal by the interested parties that they are willing to assume certain obligations toward each other, toward society, and toward God. The obligation they assume toward each other is that, forsaking all others, they will cleave only to each other as long as they both shall live. Toward society they assume the responsibilities incident to founding a home and keeping it decent and upright. Their obligation to God is to live together as heirs of the grace of life, looking in this relationship into which they have entered, to the God who made them one in the beginning.

The adulterer is a cheat. He wants to have the privileges of marriage without assuming its responsibilities. Some people take a jaunty attitude toward the sins of the flesh, but a careful reading of the Bible reveals that such behavior is antisocial and sinful. Impurity damages life at its most profound depths. The immoral are enemies of society.

Sec. Stevens Still Politicking

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens created an extremely unfavorable impression during the Army-McCarthy hearings after it developed that he had cultivated the Wisconsin Senator so ardently and dined with the wealthy family of Buck Private G. David Schine. But the textile manufacturer apparently learned no salutary lesson, for he is still politicking on Capitol Hill.

In its economy program, the Army recently decided to close a veterans' hospital at Little Rock, Ark., and to keep a similar institution open at Framingham, Mass. Arkansas happens to be the home of Senator John J. McClellan, who headed the Democratic minority on the Mundt Investigating Committee. Massachusetts is represented, Republican-wise, by Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

STEVENS' AMAZING STUFF—When the Pentagon announced its hospital program, McClellan was engaged in a tough primary battle with former Gov. Sid McMath, who represented the New Deal faction of Arkansas Democrats. The Senator felt it necessary to absent himself from important Senate sessions and Mundt Committee meetings in order to fight for re-nomination.

With or without McClellan's solicitation, Stevens reversed himself overnight. He agreed to keep open the hospital at Little Rock and to shut down the veterans' institution in Saltonstall's State.

It was an amazing shift, in view of the Bay State Senator's influential position as head of the body which handles so many national defense problems, and in view of the fact that "Salty" faces re-election in which might be a tough contest.

For some strange reason, the White House has slighted both Saltonstall and Representative Edith Rogers of Massachusetts, who heads the House Veterans' Affairs Committee.

Supposedly through the influence of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, an aircraft carrier scheduled to be built at the Quincy, Mass., yards was given to the Brooklyn Navy Yard. And Mrs. Rogers failed in her attempt to have several destroyers constructed at

For the 1953 fiscal year, the utilities operations brought in a net profit of $304,975.48 even after the $82,500 contribution to the city's general fund. For the fiscal year which ended last June 30, utilities operations brought in a net profit of $333,028.64 after a contribution of $142,500 to the city coffers.

In spite of the $60,000 increase in the contribution to the city's general fund last year, the net profit of the utilities was only $8,000 less than it was for the previous year.

For the current fiscal year, revenue of the utilities is expected an increase at least equal to the $174,000 increase from 1953 to 1954.

On the basis of these figures, The Reflector feels a critical study of local utilities rates should be made with the idea of granting customers a rate reduction if such is feasible. We feel such a study will show that a rate reduction is possible, and at the same time the utilities can retain a reasonable net profit for improvements even after making its contribution to city operations.

The matter of a rate reduction for electric customers of the Greenville Utilities should be given immediate, thorough consideration by the Commission.

Lively Campaign Brewing In Western N.C.

Eastern North Carolinians are going to miss most of the election fun this fall, but over in the western part of the state where there are sufficient Republicans to threaten Democratic control, it promises to be a lively campaign year.

North Carolina Democrats are going to exert their fullest efforts in an attempt to recapture the 10th district Congressional seat held by Rep. Charlie Jonas, the state's only Republican Congressman. At the same time, Democrats are going to try to keep in office Rep. Hugh Alexander of the eighth district who is opposed by a formidable Charlotte Republican.

The kickoff address by National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchel in Jonas' home district is an indication of the importance both North Carolina Democrats and the national party organization attach to the fall campaign in this state.

Likewise the decision to hire a full time assistant to the state chairman is a wise move which we are glad to see the Democratic party in North Carolina finally take. It is also encouraging to see that national party leaders are taking more interest in the Democratic party in North Carolina, in spite of the fact it has taken a Republican threat to make them sit up and give the Tar Heel state the acknowledgment we think it should have.

PAMPA, TEXAS, DAILY NEWS: "The only real way to increase wages for everybody is to increase production . . ."

Quincy. Both Saltonstall and Mrs. Rogers are quite upset.

POLITICAL PATRONAGE—Politicians frequently argue that patronage perquisites are a nuisance instead of an asset in their business. Their expression is that, in filling a governmental job (federal, state or municipal), "You make one friend and create a score of ingrates." Few, however, abide by that theory.

The exception to the credo is Senator Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho, who must face the voters next November. When his colleague, Senator Herman Welker, demanded another judgeship for Idaho several months ago, Dworshak fought it bitterly on the ground that every lawyer in the potato state would be on his neck, and oppose his re-election, if he did not get the appointment.

The extra judgeship measure passed, and Dworshak's premonitory prophesies have come to pass. So he has assigned the problem of selecting the new jurist to Senator Welker.

MORTALITY STATISTICS—Senator Estes Kefauver's smashing primary victory in Tennessee defied the mortality statistics with regard to members of Senate investigating committees. His survival cheered several colleagues, who have noted with misgiving the unhappy fate of so many Capitol Hill investigators.

Representative Martin Dies of Texas, the original Red hunter, was defeated through F.D.R.'s and New of Maryland, who headed the group that examined charges against Owen Lattimore, was knocked off by Senator "Joe" McCarthy. Former Senator Brien McMahon of the same Committee died unexpectedly.

Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, the Old Testament voice of the Kefauver Crime Committee, also died. Herbert O'Connor of Maryland was not re-nominated. Senator Lester C. Hunt, another Kefauverite, committed suicide.

Somebody Told Me

A Fisherman's Practical Joke

ATLANTIC BEACH, N.C. — If you are interested in fishing and want to speculate on what kind of fishing trip to take down here you can have a full afternoon of fun shopping around.

Tuesday Don Calloway of Repeco in Greenville and his brother-in-law, Tommy Craig of Concord, were with me on a tour along the waterfront to hear the various reports about fishing and the Captains each defending their own enterprises.

The richest character of all was Albert Freeman, Captain of the Lois Nancy II. He didn't have a party when we arrived and wasn't particularly interested in selling us on the idea of going with him. Instead, he seemed to want to laugh and talk. He seems to have the kind of outlook that is sorely needed these days.

Of the stories he spilled off to us he seemed to enjoy telling and we definitely enjoyed listening most to the one about Captain Allen Taylor. Cap'n Taylor, Albert says, was one of the oldest charter fishermen at Morehead up until the time that he stopped taking parties two years ago.

One day Albert was fishing and saw Cap'n Taylor with a particularly important party on his boat. All Albert could land was one small Spanish Mackerel. As soon as Albert saw Cap'n Taylor's boat he asked a member of his party to help him play a joke on Cap'n Taylor. It so happened that there was someone along who loved a practical joke.

The joke was this: The one Spanish Mackerel was put back on the hook and Albert began to circle Cap'n Taylor. When Cap'n Taylor looked his way the fisherman started reeling in the mackerel. When the boat took a turn and Cap'n Taylor couldn't see what was up, the mackerel was thrown back in the water. On the next turn the same fish was pulled in.

All of Cap'n Taylor's party soon started watching the big catch in progress.

Albert doesn't know how, but Cap'n Taylor found out about the mackerel trick. When he yelled at Albert one day on the street in Morehead Albert didn't suspect what had happened.

"If I ever find out that you do that to me again," Cap'n Taylor said, "so help me, I'll kill you." And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

SNIPING AT SENATOR ERVIN (Washington Daily News)

It is becoming quite evident that the liberal forces within the Democratic party in North Carolina are already sniping at Senator Ervin, the man from Morganton who was named by Governor Umstead to succeed Senator Hoey.

No one has proclaimed that Senator Ervin is not qualified. No one has made any claim that he is not a true Democrat. But many liberal elements of the party are saying that he is too conservative.

This could be the first part of an anti-Ervin campaign designed to get out some outstanding liberal in two years to run against Mr. Ervin. It should be remembered that the new senator is at the present time filling the unexpired term of Mr. Hoey. And Mr. Hoey's term did not run out until 1956.

Since the Republicans have decided not to run a man against Senator Ervin in November, it means that he will go back for the unfinished term without opposition.

What Mr. Ervin does in the next two years will in large measure determine the opposition to him from within the Democratic party in 1956. If he makes an excellent record, then there is every reason to believe that he will be re-nominated easily in 1956. If on the other hand this sniping campaign against him continues, then there is every reason to believe that one of the liberal politicians of the state will run in the Democratic primary and give him a good race. And it is entirely possible that he could be defeated. But he does have two years to build his political fences.

The Daily News believes that Senator Ervin will make an outstanding record. He won't be as liberal as will Kerr Scott, but he won't be ultra-conservative to the point that Senator Byrd of Virginia is or some others of the real old fashioned conservatives.

He entered the senate with a more favored position than did Senator Lennow who was an unknown Mr. Ervin is well known all over North Carolina and he has a previous record as a Supreme court justice and his political strength in the state is not of the spontaneous variety such as that which Mr. Lennow had to acquire after he became senator.

It is evident in some of the liberal newspapers that Mr. Ervin's first actions are not setting too well with that group. But even if Mr. Ervin remains ultra-conservative, he'll still be a difficult nut to beat in any primary. He is much stronger than many people believe.

We think he'll be an outstanding senator, and that by 1956 he will be so strongly entrenched in the senate that any candidate will have a tough time unseating him.

Arrest Law Interpretation Of Court Gains Recognition

By LYNN NISBET

ARRESTS — The near-hysteria that prevailed in law enforcement circles upon publication in the Supreme Court decision in the Mobley case is giving place to recognition that the court has given a sensible interpretation of an old statute. Officers may still make arrest without warrant when a breach of the peace is committed in their presence. They still have the right and duty to arrest for felonies. Effect of the ruling that in other instances of misdemeanor arrest cannot be made without a warrant is to make the officers somewhat more careful in unwarranted arrest of citizens.

There is no doubt that some officers in the past have been entirely too quick to take harmless people into custody. There are authenticated instances of people being arrested and jailed for public drunkenness, when they were not doing harm to anybody, to have it later develop they needed a physician rather than a policeman. It seems to be stretching the effect of the court decision entirely too far to say that under it an officer cannot arrest a reckless driver or speeder for violating the law in his presence until and unless he has an accident in the officer's presence.

Preponderant majority of law enforcement officers—municipal police, county sheriffs and deputies, highway patrolmen—are men of high character and good sense. Unfortunately a badge and a gun has a tendency to make fools out of a few. The decision in the Mobley case is being recognized now as affording public protection against these few without seriously impeding the others in performing their duty.

Precipitate demands that Governor Umstead call a special session of the General Assembly grew out of the unfounded complaints of some officers that the high court had destroyed all their effectiveness. The Governor has received and acknowledged several requests for a special session, and has courteously acknowledged them. That is about the extent of special session prospects.

BOOKS — A group of fellows were talking the other night about the number of books recently written or in prospect by men who have had large part in formulating and carrying out national policies. Eisenhower, Truman, Barkley, and numerous others have presented their versions of controversial matters. It is rumored that James F. Byrnes will write a book when he retires as Governor of South Carolina next January, which will be to large extent his story of experiences as Representative and Senator in the Congress, Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Secretary of State and assistant President. Predictions are it will be highly controversial and perhaps vitriolic in treatment of some former associates in these widely diverse activities.

The discussion group mentioned concluded that at least one more book ought to be written. Better than any other living man Lindsay Warren knows the story of national governmental financing and international co-operation from depression years, through World War II and post war agreements. Now in retirement at his home in the original Washington after nearly 30 years mostly spent in Washington on the Potomac, half of that time in the Congress and the last 15 years as comptroller general in charge of the general accounting office, he has the time to "do a book" and the ability to do it well.

Many matters that were top secret at the time can now be publicized, and nobody in the world knows more about the beginnings of foreign aid, the co-operation of allied governments in the second world war, the financing of the "Manhattan Project" which resulted in development of the atom bomb at Oak Ridge, the effectuation of the Marshall Plan, and the re-negotiation of war contracts which saved millions of dollars, than does Lindsay. If he could be persuaded to write a book presenting the unbiased story of these world-moving events it would show up some of the propaganda volumes for what they are.

YOUNGSTERS — Are the Young Democratic Clubs and the Young Republican Clubs prodding their elders into political activity, or are the regular party organizations using the youngsters to do a lot of the preliminary work for the fall campaign—and then move in for the kill and claim "we didn't" without giving the youngsters credit?

Whatever the motive or background strategy may be, the fact is that the YDC and the YRC are carrying the ball now in the political campaigning. Sure, the major candidates on the party tickets are taking advantage of opportunities afforded by YDC and YRC rallies to do their stuff and they give the impression that it is

Business Today Big-Time Publisher

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the largest publishers of magazines in the country is our old friend and everybody's uncle, the U.S. Government.

It doesn't have as many titles as McGraw-Hill, nor the total circulation of Henry Luce, but it has quite a line.

It ranges from "Aging," a 50-cent-a-year bimonthly dealing with work being done in the field of geriatrics, to "Treasury Decisions," a $6.50-a-year weekly chronicling decisions in customs and patent cases.

Among the very useful publications are "Foreign Commerce Weekly," $3.50 a year, and "Survey of Current Business," a monthly at $3.50 a year, published by the Department of Commerce.

The government publishes five weeklies, 2 bimonthlies, 12 monthlies and 4 bimonthlies. In addition, there are several publications listed as magazines that come out irregularly, such as the "Comprehensive Export Schedule," and innumerable bulletins, leaflets and newsletters, to say nothing of the fabulous number of leaflets, booklets, books and other one-shot publishing ventures.

The weeklies, and their annual prices, include, "Business Service Checklist," $1.25; "Department of State Bulletin," $7.50; and the "Internal Revenue Bulletin," $4.50.

Biweeklies are the "Airman's Guide," $2.75, and "Foreign Policy Briefs," $1.

The monthlies include "Agricultural Decisions," $4; "All Hands," containing articles on the Navy, $2.25; "Flying Safety," $3; "Foreign Agriculture," $1.50; "Higher Education," $1; "Monthly Labor Review," $6.25; "Naval Aviation News," $2; "Public Health Reports," $4.25; "Soil Conservation," $1.25; "Statistical Bulletin," $1.75; and the "Technical News Bulletin of the National Bureau of Standards."

The bimonthlies include "Children," $1.25; "Journal of the National Cancer Institute," $1.75, and the "Department of State Field Reporter," $1.50. More information of these publications can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C.

While none of the publications will ever compete with the Saturday Evening Post, many have a wide circulation among specialists in their field, among the colleges and libraries, among government employees and among foreign embassies and consulates, including the Russians.

ADVERTISING UP 9.1 PER CENT IN 1953 FOR NEW HIGH
In its final tally of figures for 1953, Printers' Ink reports that American advertisers invested a record $7,809,200,000, in national and local advertising last year. That's a gain of 9.1 per cent for the year.

The large number of new stations and the rise in rates gave television the largest gain, 34.5 per cent. Outdoor advertising was up 8.8 per cent, magazines, 8.4 per cent; business papers, 8.2 per cent; direct mail, 7.3 per cent; newspapers, 7.0 per cent; farm publications, 4.8 per cent; radio, 4.1 per cent, and miscellaneous, 3.8 per cent.

DEPARTMENT STORE SALES . . . DOWN 3 PER CENT AT THE HALF

Department store sales in the first half of this year, were 3 per cent lower than in the first half of 1953, according to Federal Reserve figures.

The declines were general throughout the store. However, a few departments did a bit better than a year ago. Among them were cotton yard goods, up 7 per cent; costume jewelry, up 1 per cent; stationery, up 1 per cent; corsets and brassieres, up 2 per cent; silk and muslin underwear and slips, up 1 per cent; girls wear, up 1 per cent; records, sheet music and instruments, up 14 per cent; candy up 2 per cent; basement underwear, corsets and brassieres, up 1 per cent; basement men's and boys' wear, up 1 per cent, and barber and beauty shops, up 8 per cent.

FTC EXAMINER UPHOLDS . . . THE DANGLING COMPARATIVE

All national advertisers—as well as cigarette makers—are watching the outcome of a Federal Trade Commission case against Liggett & Myers. In the first phase, an examiner held that such claims that cigarettes were "always milder," provide "cooling smoking," leave no "unpleasant after taste" and are "soothing and relaxing" were not intended to be absolute; "milder," he held, simply means that the cigarettes are milder than most others, not milder than any other cigarette ever made.

If the commission goes along with this view, all cigarettes will probably be advertised as "milder" and all beers "drier."

This Can Only Be A Coincidence

By REILMAN MORIN
For Hal Boyle
NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the famous story of "the curse of the Pharaohs"?

It came from the dim recesses of the tomb of Tutankhamen, a king who ruled Egypt and died at an early age royal tombs. The discovery of the "solar boat," found a few months ago, beside the Grand Pyramid of Cheops.

His two daughters died suddenly, within a few months of each other, while the work was in progress. Zaky Nour is keeper of antiquities for the region where the boat has been found. He was one of the directors of the excavation of it. In Carlo a few weeks ago, he told me this story:

"Leila, the oldest girl, went to school as usual that day. She was nine years old and appeared in good health. During the afternoon, she suddenly developed a nose-bleed. They couldn't stop the flow. She died before sundown."

Doctors diagnosed it as a heart attack, he said. Three months later, his young daughter, Wafaa collapsed and fell dead at play. She was six. Zaky Nour said, the cause of her death is not known.

He died the day before the opening of the chamber holding the "solar boat."

He said, "As a scientist, of course, I can't believe this is anything but a coincidence. But there are many things we don't know."

the Carnarvon expedition lived to a ripe old age and died quietly in bed. And also, that thousands of people have been "exposed" to the dire warnings, engraved on the walls of the tombs.

Yet, a strange and tragic misfortune has overtaken one of the scientists connected with the discovery of the "solar boat," found a few months ago, beside the Grand Pyramid of Cheops.

His two daughters died suddenly, within a few months of each other, while the work was in progress. Zaky Nour is keeper of antiquities for the region where the boat has been found. He was one of the directors of the excavation of it. In Carlo a few weeks ago, he told me this story:

their show. The regular party organizations will take over about October 1 and wage and intensive five weeks campaign culminating in the November 2 general election. During that period the regular State chairmen and vice chairmen and the candidates for major offices will back in the limelight. Meanwhile, the younger groups are laying the groundwork for that intensive effort with local, district and regional rallies and statewide meetings, designed to stimulate interest in the issues involved. The Young Republicans are holding forth at High Point this weekend, and the Young Democrats have scheduled their State convention at Charlotte on September 16-18, following numerous smaller get-together meetings throughout the State.

The younger folks are running these meetings, but the regulars

The Tamin Carney Wilde

by BART SPICER

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE
I WALKED back to the dock, striding along swiftly, and turned down the slope toward the Dixie Dandy. On board the tireless Mr. Russell stood dashingly at his railing. He wore most of his Masking Day pirate's garb, minus only the big, silver-mounted pistols and the wide-brimmed hat. He was leaning on the guardrail, yelling to someone out of sight. I crossed over to ask him if he'd seen Ellen.

"Not since breakfast," he said. "Congratulations, Sherlock." He pointed to a paper on the deck near his pirate's hat. "I was just reading about it. I'll bet you . . ."

"How long have you had the paper?"

"Boy brought them half an hour ago. Makes you look pretty smart, don't it? How come I never noticed? Maybe you keep it just for . . ."

"Is Ellen on board now?" I cut him off brusquely but he didn't object.

"Don't think so. She was loaded down with camera stuff when I saw her on deck." Russell leaned perilously over to take a folded paper someone handed him from a flatboat moored alongside.

"What's all this?" I gestured at the flatboat.

"Lighter," Russell explained. "Just getting set up so we can move cargo tomorrow."

"Move it where?"

"We lighter it downstream to that ship there. See the basket masthead? The rusty tub, the Montelume. About 1,000 yards, maybe. Lightening is cheaper than taking it on shore and reshipping."

"Yeah," I said vaguely, not listening, but thinking of a wild, unlikely notion. "But what about customs? That's a sea-going ship, isn't it? Don't you . . ."

"You saw the customs man," Russell said, indicating the crew of the lighter. "He's already checked the cargo. There isn't much of it. We don't have enough space. No job to go down in the hold and check cargo there."

"Then the cargo is put on board that ship and taken out of the country," I said almost to myself. Then I grabbed Russell's arm tightly. "Why didn't you move the cargo earlier? You've been here for three days."

"Take it easy, man," Russell protested. "This is no slave ship. Our crew wants to take in Mardi Gras, too. It's all we can do to keep enough cooks and stewards around to feed the passengers. The crew would just quit if we tried to work them during carnival. And even if they would work, the crew of that ship wouldn't be on hand."

"Is that routine?" I asked excitedly. "Do you always do that?" I took a sober breath and let go of Russell's arm. "Wait a minute, let me get it in order. First, do you always carry cargo on this cruise?"

"Sure," Russell said. "I told you . . ."

"I know you did. I just wanted to make sure you always took cargo, not just sometimes. Now, do you always take your cargo off by lighter to send to another ship?"

"Well, yes, if the cargo is consigned to a ship," Russell said. "Sometimes it goes ashore to somebody in town."

"Okay. When cargo is put on a ship bound for foreign ports, is it always inspected in your hold, the day before you move it?"

Russell said: "Well, that's a tough one. Usually, I guess it is. It's a routine inspection, you know, just to make sure no critical war materials go to the wrong people. So sometimes . . ."

"You mean it's always done, but it isn't strictly the way it should be done. Stay with me, Russell. I'm not asking for fun."

"We always do it that way, Wilde. Is it important?"

"Mighty important. Have you ever moved cargo any day other than the day after Mardi Gras is a big show?"

"Sure the men like to get ashore. There's never any rush about the cargo and Mardi Gras is a big show."

"It's certainly a big show," I said numbly.

Russell looked at me sharply. "What's the matter with you, Wilde? You sick?"

"I just saw a ghost," I mumbled. "And I thought it was finished." I shook my head, trying to clear my brain. "Listen will you do something for me, Russell?"

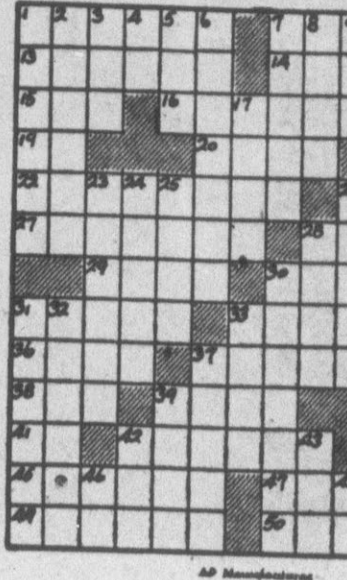

"Yes, if I can."

"Go up to that phone booth there near the warehouse. Call Capt. Grodnik. He's at the office of the chief of police. If he isn't, try to trace him. Tell him I'm on the boat. I want him to come down here. And he better bring a local badge with him. Tell him we quit too soon."

Russell whistled soundlessly. His foot touched at the newspaper lying on the deck. "Same stuff? More of the same?"

"Yeah, the last part. Hustle it, will you?"

Russell hit the gangplank in a long leap and ran lightly up the beam.

I walked slowly up the wide staircase and moved along the corridor of the Texas deck, heading for the last de luxe bedroom on the right side.

Stewart's getaway, I thought. That's what I overlooked. Getting Stewart, then finding the girl and the money, was enough for us. But Stewart had planned to come aboard the Dixie Dandy today, with his girl hidden in a crowd of costumed tourists. He'd stay under cover and tomorrow, when the cargo left the boat's hold and was winched downstream to the rusty ship just 1,000 yards away, Stewart and his Mary would move with it. A simple, reasonable plan.

If everything had gone smoothly, Stewart would have been just another passenger on the Dixie Dandy, less active than most, probably. In New Orleans, he would have picked up the girl and the money, moved with the cargo to the Montelume with no trouble. I'd thought it very funny when the cops were poking through the crated machinery, hoping to find Stewart in the cargo hold. It was funny then, but not now. It would be ridiculously easy, if any of that machinery was boxed with a little added space designed to take a man, a girl and a wad of cash. It wouldn't be a long trip. Just 1,000 yards.

I was beginning to see it all now. Though I still couldn't guess what had upset the original program. Of course Stewart had left a trail when he tried to burn his personal papers and wasn't careful to burn everything thoroughly. So we knew about the boat and from that moment his original plan was lost.

But it had been a good plan. And a cleverer mind than Stewart's had set it up.

IF YOU heat with oil here's an important new budget plan you'll want to take advantage of right now!

Through this convenient new plan you can spread your oil payments out over the full year by paying equal monthly payments between May 1st and April 30th.*

Under "old-fashioned" purchasing habits, you buy and pay for about 83% of your yearly fuel needs in a period of 5 months. This means that your heating bills are highest at the time of year when Food, Clothing and other household expenses are also at the highest level.

THE QUALITY OIL BUDGET PLAN eliminates the unpleasant prospect of ever having to make a large cash outlay for fuel at inconvenient times. INSTEAD your yearly fuel requirements are estimated and the cost is divided into convenient monthly deposits throughout the year.

QUALITY'S Budget Plan For Fuel Oil and Kerosene

Powell, McCall Lead Lakeland To 6-0 Win In Finals

McCall's Grand Slam Homer Provides Margin

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Editor

Big Boog Powell produced the pitching and Jimmy McCall powered the punch as Lakeland's little leaguers rolled to a 6-0 win over the strong Columbia, South Carolina team yesterday afternoon in the finals of the Region Five Play-offs.

The Lakeland team packed its bags and made ready for the trip to Williamsport. If form follows true, the Lakeland team should bring back the championship from Williamsport. Last year was the first year the Regionals have been staged in Greenville and Birmingham won here and went all the way in Williamsport. Lakeland should not turn down the tradition.

Powell had to do some fancy clutch pitching yesterday as he was constantly in trouble throughout the game. He had men on base in every inning but always came through to stop them from scoring.

Jerry Ellisor, who pitched Columbia's opening round win over Alabama went on the hill yesterday for Columbia but was not as sharp as he was Monday. He was in trouble in the first and second innings but no runs scored. In the third Ellisor got the first two batters easily. Elmo Haynes then slammed a single off Wickie Wheeler's glove at third base. Barry Roberts singled to center and Haynes went to third. On the throw to third Roberts went to second. Powell came up to the bat and Columbia Coach Duke ordered him walked intentionally. They wanted no part of the slugger. Little Jimmy McCall stepped in and promptly ruined the strategy with a towering home run over the right-centerfield fence to score all three base runners.

In the next inning another home run, this one by Charlie Powell knocked Ellisor out of the box. John Meade Coleman came in to pitch the rest of the way for Columbia. Powell was in a jam right from the start of the game. He walked Henry Walker and hit Chip Clary. A wild pitch sent the runners to second and third with nobody out. Wickie Wheeler smashed a line drive down the third base line but Bernie Haskins stuck out a glove and snared the ball as he stepped on third for a double play.

Two men were on for Columbia in each of the third and fourth innings. In the fifth Powell looked like he was tiring. He walked the first three batters to face him in that inning. He worked a full count on Dickie Moseley and then forced him to pop up. Powell then bared down and struck out Coleman and Carroll Simon to retire the side.

Powell walked five and struck out six, but gave up only three hits to the hard-hitting Columbia nine. Ellisor got two of the Columbia hits. Four of the Columbia players had two hits.

Powell's two hits brought his average for the three days to .625. He led the hitting during the tournament.

Bobo Olson Solid Favorite Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—Middleweight king Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco lays his world championship on the line tonight and is a solid favorite to retain it in a 15-round match with the nation's leading challenger, Rocky Castellani of Cleveland.

The bout will be nationally televised and broadcast by NBC, with the San Francisco area blacked out of the TV picture.

The show goes on at 9 p. m., EST at the Cow Palace. The budding, 26-year-old Olson captured the middleweight crown from Randy Turpin of England in 1953, turned back the threat of Kid Gavilan in Chicago last April in one of his greatest fights, and he hasn't been beaten in his last 15 bouts.

The last time he was beaten, in fact, was in a bid for the title against Sugar Ray Robinson here in his adopted home in 1952.

Castellani, at 28 a seasoned ringman without much of a punch—less, in fact, than the champion, who is not famous for chilling his foes—is not famous for chilling his foes. He was last defeated in 1953 by Pierre Langlois.

Olson and Rocky have had 52 professional fights apiece, each has lost five, and both tuned up for this title struggle by laboring a young man named Pedro Gonzales. Rocky won a decision; Bobo ended the matter in four rounds.

Phantom Coaches Still Drilling Fundamentals

Greenville's Phantoms continue their twice a day drilling at the N. Y. A. center as they prepare for the coming football season.

The Phantoms have been working on fundamentals all week long under the direction of Head Coach Bill Kittrell and his assistants. Each position has a coach in Coach Kittrell's effort to teach the boys fundamentals through and through.

The linemen have been working on blocking, tackling and defensive maneuvers. The ends under End Coach Bobby Conway have been working on cutting and pass receiving. Coach Conway seemed pleased with the way his boys have been coming around. Coach Conway said, "We have only one experienced end back from last year (Harold Edwards) but the other boys have been coming around rapidly."

Assistants Marshall Tatum and Fred Soles have been working on the backs. The backfield plans have been messed up with the failure of several key boys to report. Although Coach Kittrell is far from a starting line-up he has had the same boys running at first team in the backfield most of the time. That has been Bob Howell at quarterback, Billy Sermons or Tommy Norris at left-half, Pete West at fullback, and Mitchell Johnson at right half. Coach Kittrell has been pleased with the way the team has been coming around and is especially impressed with the spirit and the hustle of the team.

The Greenville coaches say they can already see that the men are separating from the boys. This led to one of the best wise-cracks of the year. One Greenville High player announced his plans for quitting the team. When friends pressed for a reason for his quitting, the player rubbed his battered and bruised body and answered, "I'm one of the boys that has just been separated by the men."

Proud Parents Have 3 Sons On Lakeland Team

By BOB BOYETTE
Reflector Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. "Red" Powell of Lakeland, Fla., parents of three of Lakeland's Little League Region Five Tournament champions, were mighty proud parents yesterday afternoon.

And the Powells, who had traveled from Lakeland to Greenville to see their three sons perform, had a right to be proud—because Lakeland's Little Leaguers had won the Regional championship and their three sons had played an important role.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell, both officers in the Lakeland Little League program, had seen their sons play probably the most vital role in Lakeland victories in Greenville. "Boog" Powell, the oldest and largest son, had pitched two of the three Lakeland wins here and had hit a home run with one man on to provide the only runs in the 2-0 other game. Charlie and Carl, both 10-year-old boys, had also done their share. Each got hits in the first game and Charlie blasted one of Lakeland's two home runs in the final game.

Have One Other Son
The Powells have one other son back in Lakeland. He is only four and one-half years of age and can hardly wait until he is large enough to be a Little Leaguer.

What about this athletic ability? Where did the sons get it? Well, Mr. Powell is a former semi-pro player in the Florida Phosphate League. Mrs. Powell has just always been the one to cheer the family athletes along.

Wonderful Thing
When questioned about what she thought of Little League baseball, Mrs. Powell said, "It is the most wonderful thing that ever could happen to them. I can hardly wait until the baby can play."

Mr. Powell said, "Little League baseball is the greatest character builder in the world."
All All-Stars
Of course, each of the three sons had to be all-star players to be on the Lakeland All-Star team which had won the city championship and the North Florida championship before coming here for the regionals, but the three Powell boys were also on the same Lowell Engineering team in the Lakeland Orange League. This team won the pennant in the Orange League.

Boog, as the pitcher won eight games while losing none. In tournament play he is still undefeated. He also plays shortstop when not pitching and he has a fabulous .650 batting average.

The two 10 year old boys, Charlie and Carl, also did their share. Charlie, the centerfielder, batted .350 as did Carl, the catcher. In anybody's league those batting averages are good.

Boog is playing his last year as a Little Leaguer as he just turned 13 this month. For all four years of Little League play he has been on the Lakeland All-Star team. One year this team went to the Florida State finals only to lose to Pensacola.

The Powells plan to travel on to Williamsport to see if their boys can continue and win the Little League World's Series. As for Greenville Mr. Powell said, "The city of Greenville has been most gracious host. We certainly enjoyed our stay here with some of the finest people in the world."

Braves May Be A Team Of Destiny, But Need Boost

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The "History of the 1951 National League" became required reading for the Milwaukee Braves today.

Written into the annals of the National League by the New York Giants, this remarkable record provides convincing and recent proof that baseball miracles are possible.

Although firmly believing they are the new team of destiny, the Braves could use a little solid encouragement. They lost two out of three games to St. Louis, including a 2-1 10-inning thriller yesterday, and now trail New York by 5 1-2 lengths.

Even now, however they are much better off than the Giants were at this stage three seasons ago. Milwaukee still could do it all alone, without depending on a collapse by either the Giants or Brooklyn.

It could work this way. The Braves have five games left with the Giants. They've lost five more than the Giants. A sweep of the five would cancel out the New York lead. The Braves and Brooklyn play six more times and the Braves have lost only two more than the Dodgers.

In 1951 the Giants trailed Brooklyn by seven games as late as Sept. 1. They were still six games behind in the losing column on Sept. 20. Only a complete Dodger collapse in the final week paved the way to the playoff.

The Giants, apparently back in good health after a critical slump, won their third in a row, 5-0 over Philadelphia. Brooklyn again had to hustle for a 7-5 verdict over the hustling Pittsburgh Pirates. Cincinnati took two from Chicago, 7-0 and 6-3.

In the American League Detroit and Cleveland split a twin bill. The Indians won the first game 4-3 but lost the nightcap 9-2, ending a nine-game winning streak. The Yankees whipped Philadelphia 8-5 for their 10th straight and Chicago edged Baltimore 4-3.

Cleveland now leads New York by 2 1/2, and Chicago by 8 1/2. Boston jumped ahead of Washington in their private battle for fifth place with an 11-6 triumph. Ted Williams broke his string of 17 hitless times at bat with a single and a double. He also walked four times.

Ruben Gomez tamed the Phillies on seven hits and received home run support from Dave Williams, Ray Katt and Bobby Hoffman.

The last-place Pirates refused to fold, even when Brooklyn ran up a 7-0 lead in the first three innings on Gil Hodges' 32nd homer and a bases-loaded triple by Walt Moryn. Jerry Lynch, Preston Ward and Frank Thomas homered for Pittsburgh.

The Braves drew 48,057 to an afternoon ladies'-day contest with the Cardinals, the largest crowd ever squeezed into County Stadium. Milwaukee came from behind with two out in the ninth to tie the score at 1-1. But a triple by Wally Moon and a long fly by Solly Hemus brought victory to the Cardinals in the 10th.

Bobby Feller won the 260th game of his brilliant career in the opener against Detroit with home run support from Vic Wertz and Dave Pope. The Tigers fell upon three Indian hurlers for 14 hits in the second game, including a three-run homer by Bob Nieman.

Baltimore ended Jack Harshman's string of scoreless innings at 34 by scoring three runs in the fifth but the White Sox held on for their one-run triumph, getting the winning tally in a two-run uprising in the eighth. Nellie Fox who had a perfect day at bat with four hits, drove in the deciding run.

The Yankees got a late-inning scare from the usually docile Athletics, who knocked out Eddie Lopat with five straight hits in the eighth. But after scoring five runs the A's were checked by Johnny Sain. Philadelphia put two men on in the ninth with two out before Sain finished off by getting Elmer Valo on an infield grounder.

Ward, Campbell Favored In Final Semifinal Round

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Harvie Ward and Bill Campbell, a pair of Southern shotmakers who are overdue in championship competition, were favored to sweep through semifinals in the Canadian Amateur golf championship today, and clash in Saturday's final.

Ward, transplanted North Carolinian who now registers out of San Francisco, and Campbell, tall West Virginian, both won two matches in yesterday's play over the London Hunt and Country Club course and both are firm favorites in the 36-hole semifinals.

Ward meets Lyle Crawford, 21-year-old from Vancouver, B.C., while Campbell faces Harry Haverstick, three-time Pennsylvania state amateur champion from Lancaster, Pa.

Campbell, a runner-up in the Canadian Amateur in 1952 and a runner-up in this year's British Amateur, breezed past Don Varey of Brantford, Ont., 4 and 3, and Joe LeBlanc of Montreal, 6 and 5, yesterday.

The Wolverines this fall will meet Army, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan State, hoping that at least two of these games will fill the vast 97,000-plus Michigan Stadium.

Cards Have Good Hurling Set-Up

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three rookie hurlers, plus veteran Harvey Haddix as the backbone, could form the nucleus of a top-flight corps of starting pitchers for the St. Louis Cardinals next season, something they have missed in 1954.

Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, 29-year-old Negro who has compiled an 11-5 record since coming up in mid-June, heads the list.

The other two are Gordon Jones, 24, who has been with the club about two weeks, and Ralph Beard, 23, who came up with Lawrence.

Jones turned in an eight-hit performance yesterday to defeat the Milwaukee Braves in 10 innings 2-1. His bid for a shutout was spoiled in the ninth.

Jones has allowed nine runs—only three of them earned—in 24 innings of work for an earned-run average of 1.13. He has appeared in four games, three as a starter, and has a 1-1 record.

Lawrence, who got his nickname through his ability to pitch with little rest, has appeared in 23 games for the Cards, 10 as a starter. His win-loss record places him second on the current staff behind Haddix's 15-9.

The Bull, who has beaten all other teams in the league at least once, has pitched 37 1-3 innings while allowing 36 earned runs for an earned-run mark of 3.32.

Beard, although he is yet to chalk up his first victory against two defeats, has turned in able performances during his nine appearances for the Cards.

He has pitched in 44 innings, allowing only 15 earned runs for an ERA of 3.06. Only 12 home runs have been hit off the trio.

The Card hitters have carried their share of the load this year but ineffective and spotty pitching has the club mired in sixth place in the National League.

Double Play For Two Fishermen
BERLIN, N.H. (AP)—Big league double plays have little on the one pulled off by Anthony Dube and his son, Donald.

Dube, about 60, and his 33-year-old son were trolling from different boats in Maine's Lake Richardson. Suddenly a vicious strike tore the elder man's rod from his hand and into the water.

Seconds later Donald felt a strike and reeled in to find his line had tangled with another. Attached was father's rod, reel and a 23-inch lake trout.

Man Behind The Scenes

Mr. James W. Boykin of the North Carolina State Highway Patrol is shown here saying the final remarks at the conclusion of the championship game in the Region Five Little League tournament which was completed here yesterday. Boykin, who gave his time freely, was the man "behind the scenes" at the event. He was appointed to the general chairman's job by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and gave his vacation time to help promote the tournament for the betterment of American boyhood. # $50,000 Suit Is Filed With Clerk Of Court

A suit involving a sum of more than $50,000 was filed with the office of the Clerk of Court this week. The exact sum of $52,527.11 is the amount being claimed by C. H. Edwards Jr., L. E. Tipton and the Appliance Sales and Sporting Goods Corp. in a suit against Appliance Sales and Service Corp., E. K. Fisher and Edna W. Fisher.

The plaintiffs are asking $2185.45 in collections due, $441.66 for loss sustained by re-possession, and $50,000 for resulting damages.

The complaint also requests Fisher be restrained for five years, from Nov. 18, 1952 date, from working within Pitt County for any business firm or corporation directly or indirectly engaged in the appliance business.

According to the complaint, the suit came about in this way: In November of 1952 Fisher, who was president and manager of Appliance Sales and Service Corp. sold out to C. H. Edwards Jr.

The agreement, plaintiffs say, provided Fisher's corporation be dissolved after the sale of his business, exclusive of accounts receivable, and that Edwards would purchase all assets of that corporation, exclusive of accounts receivable. Edwards would incorporate the business, the complaint continues, and continue in the same line of business, with the understanding the defendant would not re-enter the appliance business in Pitt County for a period of five years from the date of the bill of sale.

The complaint states on Nov. 18, 1952, this agreement went into effect, and soon thereafter Edwards formed a corporation with L. E. Tipton and Rosemond M. Tipton, under the name Appliance Sales and Sporting Goods Corp.

It is stated that at the time of sale the accounts receivable, which were retained by Fisher and Appliance Sales and Service Corp., per the agreement, amounted to a "sizeable sum" and Fisher remained at the business place, as agreed upon,

"to assist the plaintiffs in becoming acquainted with the business and aiding them in every way possible for the successful operation of the new corporation," financed by Edwards, and from which Fisher was retiring.

Some months later, the complaint continues, Fisher decided to organize a new corporation "in competition with Appliance Sales and Sporting Goods," and he "called together the employees of the plaintiffs corporation in an effort to employ them himself, and he succeeded with a number of them."

It is then alleged that he applied for a charter and incorporated Fisher's Appliance Corp. Since its incorporation this business "has been managed and controlled by Fisher," the plaintiffs allege, and "he is conducting this business as a competitor of the plaintiffs' corporation, in violation of the terms of the agreement."

Plaintiffs state Fisher's corporation officers had "due notice" of the agreement and the bill of sale between Edwards and Appliance Sales and Service, "and notwithstanding said notice and agreement Fisher's Appliance Corp. turned over full and complete management of said business to Fisher."

The complaint notes the bill of sale also stipulated Edwards should receive a commission of two per cent of all accounts receivable collected for Appliance Sales and Service.

For such collections there is due the plaintiff, it is claimed, a sum of $2185.45, "demand for payment having been made and refused."

Also "as a result of re-possession" made under the contract "the plaintiffs have lost the sum of $441.66," for which sum Fisher is also being sued.

For damages the plaintiffs are suing for a sum of "not less than $50,000."

Finally the complaint requests a court order restraining Fisher from engaging in the appliance business

The suit said Miss Leadbetter won the contest during the Hermosa Beach Western Jubilee last month.

Christian Giving

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 20:35; I Corinthians 16:1-2; II Corinthians 8:1-9.

Paul met the Ephesian elders on the seacoast as he was about to sail for Jerusalem. He told them he probably would never see them again, and to remember Jesus' words, "It is better to give than to receive."

The Christians in Jerusalem were in dire need, so Paul suggested to the Corinthians that on the first day of each week each one should lay aside, "as God hath prospered him," for the relief of the saints.

Although the churches in Macedonia were also very poor, they contributed more than generously to the suffering brethren in Jerusalem. Paul, disappointed with the offerings of the Corinthians, wrote them of this liberality.

The Macedonians also begged Paul to take their gifts to Jerusalem and minister to the saints himself, he wrote, "But first gave their own selves to the Lord."

MEMORY VERSE—Acts 20:35.

Christian Giving

JESUS SAID: "IT IS MORE BLESSED TO GIVE THAN TO RECEIVE."

Scripture—Acts 20:35; I Corinthians 16:1-2; II Corinthians 8:1-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WHEN DO WE give gifts? Always at Christmastime, of course; then there are family and close friends' birthdays, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Eastertide when gifts are often exchanged. Why do we give presents? Because we love our relatives and friends and want to make them happy.

We also contribute to our church, to local charities, to the Red Cross which helps people in disasters, and to various funds to aid research in various fields of disease prevention. These are all good causes which merit our gifts, but the subject of today's lesson is Christian giving.

At the end of Paul's third missionary journey, when he was returning to Jerusalem, he sent word to the elders of the church at Ephesus that he would like to see them before he sailed. They came to the seacoast at Miletus to meet him, and he told them: "I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come.

Everyone was to contribute. "As God hath prospered him." The poor widow would contribute her pittance and the rich man would give generously from his wealth. That is the way to contribute to the church or Sunday School.

The first day of the week, make your contribution, whether large or small. Do it regularly, not omitting several first days and then carelessly dropping something into the collection plate. The small children should be trained to give their offerings, according to their parents' circumstances, and the adults theirs in proportion.

We all may know someone who is what we call "stingy," miserly, and there are women as well as men who may be called so. What a great deal of pleasure they miss in life that is enjoyed by the generous givers who believe that it is "more blessed to give than to receive."

MEMORY VERSE

"I have showed you all things, how that so laboring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"—Acts 20:35.

to give than to receive." Then Paul knelt down with them and prayed and they wept freely and lay on his neck and kissed him, for he had told them that he felt he would never be able to visit them again, and they loved him.

Have you ever compared the amount of money you contribute to your church with the sums you spend on luxuries and amusements? There is nothing wrong with the latter, provided we do not allow ourselves to spend extravagantly or on things that are harmful to us.

However, surely our church, from which we derive so many benefits and upon which we depend for inspiration to carry on our daily tasks and for comfort in our sorrows, should mean more to us and be supported more generously.

In Jerusalem there were many Jews who had eagerly received Christ's gospel who were very poor indeed, we are told. They were not only uncommunicated from their former religious life, but were unable to find work because they were followers of Jesus. Whatever money may have been held by the Jerusalem church must have been gone, so fellow believers in various fields sent in contributions to aid the needy Christians in Jerusalem.

In writing to the Corinthians about the matter of collection for the suffering, Paul gives his views of the manner in which they should be made: "Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. Upon the first day."

Paul wanted the churches to contribute as generously as they were able to the poor and suffering in addition to their regular contributions to their churches.

In Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians he suggests that the people in the churches in Corinth were not giving as much for this good cause as others, according to their means. The Christians in Macedonia were poor, too, but they were generous, giving abundantly from their meager funds—even more than was expected of them, and doing it joyously.

They prayed Paul to take their offerings and himself minister to the needy in Jerusalem. They "first gave their own selves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God," he writes.

"Inasmuch that we desired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would finish in you the same grace." Titus was to return to Corinth, and complete the work he had begun there.

"I speak not by commandment, but by occasion of the forwardness of others, and to prove the sincerity of your love." Paul knew that he was much loved in Corinth and appealed to the Corinthians to show it by responding to his appeal.

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that ye through His poverty might be rich." Christ's poverty came when He was born in a manger in Bethlehem, giving up all to come to earth and lead the life of a poor man, and to suffer and die for us.

Urge U.S. Draw Line Of Battle

By VERN HAUGLAND OMAHA (AP) — The Air Force Assn. urged today that a "line of aggression" be drawn — and Soviet Russia be attacked with nuclear weapons if she crosses it.

The organization of almost 40,000 air power enthusiasts — largely veterans or members of the Air Force — also called upon the executive department, the Defense Department and the Congress to "take immediate steps to insure that our retaliatory force is speedily built to and maintained at proper levels of effectiveness."

The statement, read by retired Gen. George C. Kenney, AFA president, said U.S. policy must "clearly define nuclear weapons as legitimate and conventional instruments for resisting aggression."

It said in the event if any future Communist aggression, the "basic sources of military strength behind" that aggression must be attacked. "We do not attempt to say at what point men of good will are justified in reaching for their guns," the statement said.

"But we do believe, in the interests of both peace and freedom that the line of aggression must be drawn and the issue joined."

At a symposium on reserve forces, meanwhile, the AFA was assured there are no plans afoot within the Air Force to eliminate the air reserves and to federalize the Air National Guard.

Maj. Gen. William E. Hall, special assistant to the Air Force chief of staff, told the convention the recently announced White House position supporting the reserve program remains in effect.

Performance Bond will be required for one hundred per cent (100%) of the contract price. Payment will be made on the basis of ninety per cent (90%) of monthly estimates and final payment made upon completion and acceptance of the work.

No bid will be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids for a period of 30 days. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive informalities.

Guarding against Nature. New and improved materials are reducing the toll you pay to sun, wind, and rain. NATURE'S not always friendly, for we must pay, directly or indirectly, the cost of damage to our homes, our cars, and other possessions by wind, water, and the heat of the sun. OUT OF OUR POCKETS—Losses to the elements, through rust, decay, and evaporation, today cost the average American family about $250 a year. Industry's scientists are making constant progress in combatting these losses. Your window screens and car trim, alike, now remain rust-free and bright, when made of stainless steel. NEW CHEMICALS and resins are the basis of versatile plastics, and give added life and brilliance to paint for your home. They also protect your car and even the hulls of ships. Recently-developed silicone water-repellents protect the masonry walls of our buildings by letting moisture out, but not in. HOW UCC HELPS—Providing industry with a steadily-increasing variety of materials that resist the harmful effects of the elements is one of the important jobs of the people of Union Carbide. # Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market climbed in cautious trading today.

Aircrafts, steels, metal mining and rubber issues provided the upward momentum for the market. Chemicals and distillers were fairly firm, too. The rest of the market was narrowly mixed.

Trading started at a fast clip with aircrafts and selection motion pictures in demand. The pace soon slowed, however, and movie stocks became irregular. By early afternoon steels were in the spotlight.

Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, reported negotiating merger terms, attracted ready buyers. Some recently neglected distillers—Hiram Walker and Austin Nichols—also found support.

Among the large opening blocks were General Electric 45 up 1/4, on 2,500 shares, North American Aviation 43 1/2 up 1/4, on 2,000 shares, Boeing 64 up 3/4, on 2,500 shares and General Motors 82 1/2 up on 1,500 shares.

Shortly after noon a block of 14,500 shares of Carrier Corp. changed hands at 53 1/2 up 1/4.

Climbing issues included Republic Steel, U.S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Zenith, American Telephone Homebase Mining, Vanadium, Climax Molybdenum, Louisville & Nashville and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Somewhat lower were International Harvester, Radio Corp., International Telephone, Dupont Hilltop Hotels, and United Air Lines.

Colored News
Funeral services for Mrs. Clarina Albritton, who died Thursday afternoon, will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Waterside F. W. B. Church near Farmville. Rev. Willie Phillips, pastor, will officiate. Burial will follow in Waterside cemetery.

Surviving are her husband, Wiley A. Albritton; two daughters, Fannie Mae Foreman and Geraldine Foreman; a son, Willie Earl Foreman; her mother, Mrs. Emma Adams; six sisters and one brother.

The body will lie in state at Joyner and Son Funeral Home in Farmville from 2:30 p.m. Saturday until 6:30 p.m. at which time it will be taken to the late residence of the deceased and will remain there until the hour of the funeral.

Mrs. Mary Gay, Elder and Mrs. Jim Barrett of Bethel attended the Cooper Grove Association held with High Rock Church Saturday and Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bradshaw of Eiland.

An Aug. 22 at 8 p.m. the choir of St. Mary Baptist Church, consisting of 24 mixed voices, invites you to worship with it at the above name church for its 17th anniversary. Your favorite choir from many of the rural and urban churches will be present to help render spiritual music for the occasion. Refreshments, too, will be served to everyone present. St. Mary Baptist Church is located about five miles northeast of Greenville, just off the Bethel-Greenville highway.

Sunday is regular Youth Day at Philippi Christian Church. The regular Youth Day minister, Rev. Mansford of Ayden, will again conduct the youth services. The Junior Choir, featuring Miss Catherine E. Foreman as leading soloist, will render special music. You are cordially invited to come and spend the day with the youth at Philippi.

South Greenville Park Committee will meet tonight at 8:30 at the Fleming Street School auditorium.

Cold War Said Undergoing Lull

OMAHA (AP)—Robert Murphy, deputy under secretary of state, said today the cold war appears to be entering a new phase—a lull in Soviet-directed action.

Murphy told the Air Force Assn. a "new reluctance" of the Communist bloc to undertake military adventures may be encouraging "even though an occasional Red Chinese general or commissar may indulge in bombast about taking Formosa."

He said it could be the Reds are merely trying to lull the non-Communist world in order to divide it—or it could be Soviet leadership has realized the folly of recklessly challenging the determination of America.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, told the association Soviet atomic power is increasing at an unexpected and appalling rate, and the task of building an effective continental defense may well represent "the greatest and most difficult national security problem ever faced by our country."

Cole suggested, however, that the continental defense problem, if attacked vigorously and boldly, may yield unexpected solutions.

"The art of developing new tools of defense—new electronic detection devices, new interceptors, and new aircraft missiles—is now in ferment," he said.

Murphy challenged the idea a line could be drawn across a politically unstable region, beyond which aggression would not be tolerated.

"What good is such a line if subversion and infiltration have suddenly brought the friendly government down from within?" he asked. He said this problem might be solved by community defense systems, as are taking shape in Southeast Asia and in the Balkans and Near and Middle East where "a deterring bulwark is materializing slowly around the Communist orbit."

Ten-Year-Old Is Teaching Piano
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—For weeks 10-year-old Dora Maus pressed her nose against the window of a piano store here and admired a piano.

Finally, Dora, a pert little blonde, walked into the store and told the owners she wanted that piano and would make payments of 50 cents a day on it. It was a deal and she made the money by selling newspapers.

After she had paid $40, the piano company gave her the piano. The manager's wife, Mrs. Lee Gable, even agreed to give her lessons.

That was two months ago. Today, Dora not only can play tunes but she also has become a teacher in her own right. She is teaching a friend, Penny Trecky who already can play two songs.

Pitt Prisoner Granted Parole
The North Carolina Board of Paroles has announced the parole of William Rogers, Negro, who was convicted in Pitt County Superior Court of assault with a deadly weapon (a shotgun) with intent to kill James Davis, Negro.

Rogers was convicted at the April, 1954, term of court. He had served four months of his sentence.

Degrees Presented To ECC Graduates

College graduates, because of their training, have a special obligation to take part in the never-ending battle to maintain our heritage of freedom, members of the graduating class of East Carolina College.

Police Dept. Has 2 New Officers

Bruce R. Buck has been sworn in as an officer of the local police force. Police Chief S. G. Gibbs announced today.

Buck returns to the force after an absence of seven and one-half months. He resigned on January 1 after three years service and attaining the rank of sergeant.

The officer is from the Black Jack section and attended the Chicago schools. He is 29 years old, married and has one child.

Also added to the force recently was Hubert McGee, Jr. McGee is 25 years old and married with two children. The new officer attended East Carolina College and is now making his home in Greenville. He has three years army service during which he rose from the rank of private to first lieutenant.

Last Year, This Area Was Cooler

The highest temperature here yesterday was 96 degrees, 18 degrees higher than on the same day a year ago, when the local U. S. Weather Station reported 78 as the high.

The lowest temperature here last night was 73 and at 8 a.m. today it was 82.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature was 78. Lowest that night 63, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 66.

Air Reservists Seek Training

Flight "D" of the 9948th Air Force Reserve Squadron held a meeting last night at the Austin Building, East Carolina College.

Forms were passed out and signed by the local reservists who are making efforts to get specialized training in this area. Should this training be approved the reservists will get pay for attending the courses one night each week.

There were eight Air Force reservists present at the meeting last night.

Thirteenth Child Is On The House

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn couple has discovered that children are cheaper by the baker's dozen—at least at Midwood Hospital.

Fire Capt. Arthur Wallace, 50, and his wife Helen, 36, celebrated the birth of a baby boy, their 13th child, at Midwood yesterday.

The hospital, which charged for the other 12, decreed that little William was on the house.

The other Wallace children range in age from 14 months to 15 years.

Portable Plant

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is going to order an atomic power plant that can be knocked down and flown to remote bases for quick reassembly.

The Army said yesterday the plant would be the first to produce both heat and electricity.

A working model will be built at nearby Ft. Belvoir, Va., at a cost estimated at less than eight million dollars. It is expected to be in operation within two or three years and would, at peak production, meet the residential needs of 1,700 persons.

The Army said the initial high cost of such atomic plants may be outweighed by a saving in transportation of fuel for conventional plants.

Thirty-three firms have expressed interest in the project and have been invited to bid.

are showing up to take full advantage of the opportunities afforded to get as much publicity as possible. The youngsters like it that way, because they know that while the older folks might not be able to get along without them they can't get along at all without recognition from the regular party organizations.
