Over $4 Million Budget Request Offered Today For ECC Needs

Messick, Duncan Outline Biennium Needs To Budget Advisory Commission

Budgetary requests of East Carolina College of $4,304,132.00 for the biennium of 1955-1957 for administration, maintenance and operation, were presented the Advisory Budget Commission at hearings in Raleigh Friday.

President J. D. Messick and Business Manager F. D. Duncan submitted briefs in support of the $2,133,123 for 1955-56 and $2,171,000 for 1956-57, asked for the college operations.

Previously, Dr. Messick had prepared a 16-item budget listing permanent improvements which total $2,975,500, and this was reviewed in Friday's appearance.

The itemized request for the biennial operational budget, as presented by Dr. Messick and Mr. Duncan in Raleigh Friday morning, shows the figures for 1955-56 first and 1956-57 second:

Total administration: $65,062; $65,062; instruction, $1,034,890; $1,034,890; auxiliary instruction, including summer school, $106,832; $106,832 student welfare, $6,600; $6,600; alumni office, $9,754; $9,754; custodial care, $427,355; $427,355; operation of plant, $124,313; $124,313; maintenance of plant, $128,907; $128,907; student stores, $142,678; $142,678; additions and betterment, $41,000; merit salary increment, $25,352; $25,352.

For the first year of the biennium, the total of $2,133,123 less receipts of $964,150, leaves a budget request of $1,168,973, while the second year of the biennium totals an estimate of $2,191,000 less receipts of $1,000,000, for a request from the State of North Carolina of $1,170,800.

The total operational requirement for $1,732,046 for 1953-54, offset by receipts of $926,358, was $805,688, and the current year, 1954-55, the requirement of $1,712,732, was offset by $914,460 in receipts, to leave the request at $798,272.

Permanent improvements appropriated for 1953-55 total $1,989,360. In support of the request, based on essential needs, Dr. Messick pointed out the comparison of enrollments of 1953-54 with 1945-46. The annual number of enrolled students in 1945-46 was 978, as against the enrollment in 1953-54 of 2,345 students.

The number of 55 equivalent full-time teachers in 1945-46 was increased to 93 in 1953-54, Dr. Messick declared.

Expected average enrollment for the current year, 1954-55, will be 2,410, with 2,560 anticipated for 1955-56 and 2,760 for 1956-57, Dr. Messick said, adding that beginning this year, the number of teachers required will be the equivalent of 87 full-time instructors, in 1955-56 the number will be 128, and in 1956-57 the number will be 149.

This would give a ratio of one teacher to 16 students in average attendance during the regular year. The request was urgent for new teachers in the college, especially in business education, science, and industrial arts, and new personnel for the library.

Dr. Messick supported his brief with a comparative analysis of new application and cancellation for Fall Quarters of 1953 and 1954. Last year the new applications totaled 1,152, 479 men and 673 women; this Fall the applications from 1,387 persons were from 680 men and 707 women.

Net applications last year were 943, with 857 actual registrations from 392 men and 465 women, while this Fall from 1,116 applications, the enrollment to date totals 1,022, of which number 468 are men and 554 are women.

Previously the permanent improvement budget was published and shows the request for a classroom building, two dormitories for men, additions to the administration building, the cafeteria, and completion of the library as major needs.

$51.70 Average On Local Market

Greenville Tobacco Market averaged $51.70 for 1,174,344 pounds of tobacco sold here Wednesday. Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee reported $607,250.94 was paid out Wednesday. There was a large sale yesterday and a blocked sale today, according to the supervisor.

Sole Objector

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council today overrode Soviet objections and agreed to full discussion of an American complaint that Soviet fighter planes shot down a U. S. Navy bomber off Siberia last Friday.

The vote was 10 to 1, with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky casting the only vote against. Vishinsky said a discussion of the incident might intensify international feelings rather than lessen it.

The debate was requested by U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. who charged the Russians violated international law by shooting down the bomber over open waters.

Vishinsky denied the U. S. charges and told the council the American plane had violated Soviet territory and had opened fire on two Soviet MIG fighters which were attempting to warn it away. The MIGs then returned the fire, he said, and the bomber flew out to sea.

Immediately after the council agreed to take up the U. S. complaint, Lodge took the floor to press his charges.

Young Victim Of Shooting Said To Be Improving

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP)—A young office secretary, the only one of four victims to survive a blaze of gunfire at a freezer locker plant, continued to improve at an Elizabeth City hospital today.

Hospital attendants reported the condition of Miss Audrey M. Brickhouse, about 20, was satisfactory.

Meanwhile, police held a 22-year-old butcher, Robert William Jordan, as the gunman who shot Miss Brickhouse in the shoulder and killed three other fellow workers at the Elizabeth City freezer locker plant.

Jordan, quoted by police as saying, "They were laughing at me, surrendered about a half hour after the four were shot down yesterday. Police were preparing to smoke him out of a room at the plant, in which he had barricaded himself, when he gave himself up.

Police Chief Clarence Owens released statements which he said Jordan made. In them, the young butcher said, "Everybody dominates me. I am a sheep among wolves, persecuted at every turn. Alas, the world is completely against me but persecution must end somewhere and I am confident it ends with the grave."

The police chief said the young man, rejected once before by his draft board, apparently had been brooding over an order for him to report for a re-examination yesterday. He already was late for his date with selective service officials when he showed up at the plant and opened fire on his fellow employees.

Those killed were Edward M. Zimmerman, 47, whose son, Edward Jr., had entered the University of North Carolina as a freshman Wednesday; Joseph Parrish, 24, a former serviceman who only recently returned from Korean service; and Alex Johnson, 46.

Dulles Reporting To Eisenhower

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles left today for the summer White House at Denver to report to President Eisenhower on the Southeast Asia Treaty Conference and other U.S. efforts to block Communist aggression in the Far East.

Power Lineman Is Electrocuted

EDENTON, N. C. (AP)—Wilbur Lee, 30, of Pasquotank County, was electrocuted here yesterday when he came in contact with a power line on which he was working.

Lee was an employee of the Virginia Electric Power Co. He was working at the top of a utility pole at the time of the accident.

North Algeria Has More Tremors In Wake Of Disaster

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—The earth still trembled at Orleansville today more than 24 hours after the disastrous earthquake that wrecked a death toll estimated at more than 1,000 Europeans and Algerians.

Another 2,000 were believed hurt. Shocks less violent than the first were felt five times last night and this morning. One lasted several seconds bringing down unsteady houses and great pieces of shattered walls. Blasted buildings in the heart of the town were crumbling into the streets.

There were 2,000 rescue workers and as many more troops, on the spot about 100 miles west of Algiers. The French army, which rushed all available troops and ambulances to the area, also sent four bulldozers and eight big water tanks, along with eight tons of bread and other food, 50 field kitchens and 35 cooks to man them.

The French interior ministry said last night 590 deaths have been confirmed officially, but most of them appeared to be European residents of the area. They said an accurate accounting of the quake toll will take many days.

With railways cut and many highways impassable, aid was flown in from Algiers and Oran.

Planes which rushed doctors and medical supplies to the area returned with the most severely injured. The less serious cases were cared for in emergency field hospitals or simply in the streets.

Many able-bodied survivors were reported fleeing from Orleansville and the stricken villages. They traveled by horse, bicycle or afoot, carrying a few valued possessions. French and Algerian troops were sent from Algiers and Oran to the trouble spot. American naval authorities ordered the U. S. Sixth Fleet, stationed in the Mediterranean, to stand by.

The harrowing quake hit just after 1 a. m. yesterday with a 12-second tremor which toppled even Orleansville's most modern structure — a nine-story building — like a stack of matches.

People who were not crushed in their beds ran terrified into the streets where many of them were felled by crashing masonry. Some forty guests in Orleansville's Hotel Baudouin were reported buried alive when the building collapsed.

The village of Vauban, 15 miles east of Orleansville, was reported wiped out — the fate of its 2,000 residents unknown. The other villages in that area also were badly hit — Millana, Duperre and Rouina.

Continue Pound Red China Coast

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communist artillery batteries and military bases on the mainland coast of Formosa were bombed and shelled the fifth straight day by Nationalist planes and warships today.

A Defense Ministry communique said only that results of the latest attacks were being assessed.

The "rest pocket war" over the Nationalist offshore island of Quemoy, 120 miles west of here and just seven miles off the China coast, began a week ago today with a five-hour Red bombardment from shore batteries.

Although the fight showed no sign of cooling, Nationalist officials today flew a group of newsmen to Quemoy for an on-the-spot inspection. Among the group was Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa.

The Defense Ministry said Nationalist planes yesterday destroyed 18 Chinese Communist surface craft, including several motorized vessels. They also bombed Communist fortresses at Aotou and Shihmou, satellite bases to the big Red base at Amoy. All are within artillery range of Quemoy.

Nationalist warships were credited with inflicting heavy damage on Red fortresses at Wuyi, Cape Chenhai and other tiny Red-held islands in the Amoy area.

The continued attacks on surface craft along the China coast would indicate continued Nationalist fear of a Communist attempt to invade Quemoy, which is defended by upwards of 30,000 Nationalist troops. There has been no official indication an invasion might be imminent, however.

Child Injured In Street Accident

A five-year-old girl was injured last night when she was hit by a car while on the way to a store to buy a penny's worth of candy.

The child was identified as Louise Plimore, of 1314 Clark Street. She is the daughter of Douglas Plimore.

The child was apparently hit by a car operated by Mrs. J. C. Lamm Jr. of 400 Maple Street when she darted out in front of the vehicle near the intersection of Fourteenth and Clark Streets. Her father told investigating officers that she had a penny and was on her way to the store to buy candy with the money.

Mrs. Lamm told officers that she was traveling about 10 or 15 miles per hour when the girl ran out in the street in front of her car. She said she tried to stop but was unable to do so. The youngster was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Fire Department rescue truck where she was treated for injuries received in the accident.

Doctors described her condition as "good" this morning and stated she was being held at the hospital for observation.

Investigating officers B. R. Buck and W. C. Flake said that no charges were being placed against the driver of the vehicle.

Democrats Hold Morganton Rally

MORGANTON, N. C. (AP) — Democrats from the 10th District swarmed into Morganton today to hear National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

The rally, aimed at unseating North Carolina's only Republican congressman, was expected to draw more than 2,000.

Police 'Ground' Young Balloonist

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Balloonist C. ret. Cashman's 21-mile trolie in the clouds — climax of a boyhood dream — has landed him in jail as an unlicensed pilot.

The 26-year-old Cashman, who does stage hypnotism off and on, soared an hour and a half yesterday below two grape-like clusters of 80 gas-filled rubber balloons.

He said he broke through the clouds at 3,000 feet, with his homemade rig, and reported that he reached 6,000 feet before the sun's heat began expanding and popping the balloons. He snipped a few balloons off and landed safely in a tomato patch.

Cashman described the trip as "wonderful all around." His wife, Mildred, helped with the preparations but she called it "ridiculous-crazy."

State police, sharing Mrs. Cashman's view, charged him with being an unlicensed pilot, operating an unregistered aircraft, and operating an uncertificated aircraft.

He pleaded innocent before Peace Justice Judge George Bigsbee of Guilford and a hearing was set for Sept. 17. In lieu of $500 bail he was sent to Albany County Jail.

Hundreds watched goggle-eyed along the way as Cashman's contraption soared from suburban Westmore to a farm near Valatie, down the Hudson River.

He rode on a piece of plywood, 15 inches square, mounted on a spokeless bicycle wheel swinging beneath two bunches of war surplus rubber balloons. Each was six feet across and contained 113 cubic feet of gas.

A power company crew tapped a main to fill the balloons and Cashman laid out $43.30 for the gas and labor.

Farmville Market Has $52.76 Day

FARMVILLE — Farmville Tobacco Market sold 776,118 pounds of tobacco yesterday for $409,459.54 — an average of $52.76.

Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards reported a full sale today. He said there had been a full sale every day this week except Wednesday, and he expects a full sale every day next week.

'Edna' Expected Skim Past Cape Hatteras Tonight

Hurricane Signals Hoisted

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane warnings were hoisted at 11 a. m. today from Morehead City, N. C., to the Virginia Capes as Hurricane Edna whirled its 115-mile winds in the direction of Cape Hatteras.

Storm warnings flew north and south of the hurricane area, from Myrtle Beach, S. C., to Eastport, Maine.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, ordered the warnings up in an 11 a. m. (EST) advisory and said the center of the tropical storm should pass near but slightly outside of Cape Hatteras by or before midnight.

"Precautions should be taken for very high tides and dangerous winds on the North Carolina and Virginia Capes this afternoon and tonight," he said.

The storm at 11 a. m. (EST) was centered about 225 miles south of Hatteras and moving about 10 miles an hour — a course slightly east of north.

Hurricane force winds extend 100 miles out from the center in the eastern semi-circle and about 60 miles to the west. Gale winds extend outward 150 to 200 miles from the center in all directions.

"Dangerous gales and high tides should be felt along the North Carolina Capes during the afternoon, increasing until the storm passes," said Norton.

Norton's forecasting territory ends at Cape Hatteras and predictions for areas north of there are made at Washington. Norton was reluctant to discuss the storm's possible effect on the North Atlantic coast area "because it would tie the responsible forecasters' hands."

Storm warnings were flying from Myrtle Beach, S. C. to Portland, Maine.

Residents of the New York and New England coasts were jittery as the hurricane lumbered in a northerly direction at 10 to 12 miles an hour. Norton said it will begin to speed up its forward movement during the day.

Small craft all along the coast from South Carolina northward were cautioned to remain in port. Winds were expected to reach gale force (39 to 54 miles per hour) along the Carolina and Virginia coasts this afternoon and early tonight.

Edna, named for the fifth letter of the alphabet, had hurricane force winds (75 miles an hour or more) outward from the center 100 miles to the north and east and 60 miles to the west. Gale force winds reached out 200 miles.

Earlier a high pressure area to the north blocked Edna's forward inched northward at five to six miles an hour. When the high pressure system moved out to sea, it cleared a path for Edna.

Very rough seas were reported over the Atlantic between the storm area and the coast line. Two ships rode out the storm as it crept northward off the Florida coast. The SS Fairland, out of Mobile, Ala., put into Miami after passing through the eye of the storm Wednesday. It encountered all likelihood there will be continuing tests of new weapons" at the Marshall Islands proving grounds. Other sources have reported a new test series is in the works for next spring.

Strauss also said he knows of no plan to move the testing area from where a mighty hydrogen bomb was detonated last March, setting loose a radioactive cloud which drifted beyond the warning area.

Some Japanese fishermen 80 miles from the blast were stricken by radiation sickness and some Marshall Islands natives also suffered, but less severely. This led to demands from some Japanese that the tests be halted or the test location moved.

Strauss' news conference ranged into the field of peaceful atomic energy uses and the AEC chairman said he expects conferences to open soon on creation of an international agency along lines suggested by President Eisenhower.

Strauss said, too, he hopes for an international conference of scientists on nonmilitary use of atomic energy "not long after the first of the year."

Council Adopts Parking Proposals

By BOB BOYETTE Reflector Staff Writer Greenville's City Council adopted two recommendations of W. F. Babcock, traffic expert of North Carolina State College, in a meeting at City Hall last night.

The council, upon recommendation of the Greenville Off-Street Parking Committee, approved a parking meter layout made by Babcock and also accepted his recommendation that signs be posted stating the one-hour and two-hour parking limits.

The Parking Committee had asked the Council to adopt three of Babcock's eight recommendations now suggested. The third, the abolishment of courtesy parking, did not need adopting the Council felt, since the plan had collapsed since the Merchants Association had stopped giving money several weeks ago.

There was a long discussion prior to adopting the traffic engineer's suggestions. Along with the adoption of his plan the Council also voted to change meters on Dickinson Avenue to two-hour meters immediately from Seventh Street to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad.

The State College engineer's recommendations came after he had made a study of Greenville's parking problems at the request of the Off-Street Parking Committee.

Annexation of Coghill Subdivision The Council voted to allow Mayor W. L. Whedbee to sign an ordinance annexing the Coghill Subdivision into the City. The subdivision became part of the City of Greenville effective with his signing.

Whedbee also signed an amending ordinance amendment which makes all metal awnings be seven feet from the sidewalk and all flaps be six feet and six inches from the sidewalk. Any metal awning must also be seven feet high.

Other Business At the request of the Council the City Police Chief S. G. Gibbs promised to put a policeman at Tenth and Clark Streets between 5 and 6 p. m. each day to help with the congestion at that hour.

The courtesy of the police force in carrying out the traffic regulations was discussed. It was mentioned that complaints about the courtesy of several officers had been received. City Manager James S. Hughes said the courtesy angle was taken care of.

Martin Swartz, former Greenville Utilities Commission superintendent and now Utilities consultant, was made a lifetime member of the Greenville Planning Board - with voting power only in the absence of Superintendent L. P. Bloxam.

Action was deferred until further study could be made on a request of the Colonial Life Insurance Company to discuss an accident policy with city employees.

Workmen's Compensation was discussed, but action was deferred on that item until later.

Councilman C. W. Harvey, Jr. was appointed, at the request of the Merchants Association, to meet with the Association to discuss the plans for decorating Greenville Streets for the Christmas season.

The Chamber of Commerce budget for advertisement was accepted by the Council.

A weekly column in this paper by the City Manager and other city officials was discussed, but no action was taken.

A discussion of cutting several corners so traffic may flow easier here was discussed, and it was decided that the corners on Pitt and Fifth would be cut and possibly the corner of Third and Elizabeth.

At the request of Councilman J. A. Collins the city manager and street superintendent will study Pitt Street from Fifth to Dickinson Avenue to see what it would cost to widen the street on the east side.

Action was deferred on the removal of portions of Pamlico Street from the Fire District.

The paving of several streets was discussed, and it was decided the Councilmen would visit the various streets, that have citizens 70 percent signed, to see which to pave now.

Monthly bills, which totaled $30,254.76, were approved.

All Councilmen were present as was the city manager, city attorney, city clerk, street superintendent, fire chief, police chief, tax collector and city engineer.

Students Undergoing Extensive Check-Ups

Approximately a thousand new students who arrived at East Carolina this week to begin work for the fall quarter are participating in an extensive testing program, which includes medical examinations and speech and hearing tests, given the supervision of Dr. Fred Irons, college physician, and Dr. Charles P. Adams and Dr. John L. Waters, members of the college medical staff.

Speech and hearing tests, given this fall for the third consecutive year to new students, are being administered under the direction, respectively, of Dr. Elizabeth Uterback of the English department and Courtney Strometra of the education department.

These tests will be used to determine whether students are in need of remedial work or medical attention. Those needing remedial work in speech will be directed to classes in speech and will receive training designed to help them overcome their difficulties. Students with serious speech defects or hearing losses will be referred to medical authorities if treatment is considered advisable.

McCarthy Finishes Testifying In His Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy finished testifying in his own defense against censure charges today and won agreement from the special Senate hearing committee to examine the "hot document" of the McCarthy-Army dispute and decide whether it will be accepted as evidence.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) ordered a recess of the hearings until 1 p. m. (EDT). He said the committee would examine the paper meantime and announce when it reconvened whether it would admit the 2 1/2 page paper which has been gingerly handled by two Senate committees.

Also scheduled for the afternoon was the start of cross-examination of McCarthy who has been his own star defense witness. His counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, asked him only a couple of questions before the public session was called off today. Then he announced that McCarthy was ready for cross examination.

At a closed-door session just ahead of the brief opening hearing the committee decided "at least in inspect" the controversial paper which McCarthy has been trying to get into the current case.

The disputed paper was produced by McCarthy at the recent hearing on his dispute with Army officials, but members of the committee which investigated that quarrel refused even to look at it. And Atty. Gen. Brownell ruled it should not go on any public record. McCarthy offered it at that time in support of his contention that his investigation of alleged Red infiltration at the Army's Ft. Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratory was needed. The paper purported to be a letter from the FBI to Army intelligence reporting on personnel at the laboratory.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said it was not a letter but contained accurate excerpts from a longer confidential FBI memorandum.

The committee recessed at 10:18 a. m. until 1 p. m., to examine the document and to check on some "other matters."

McCarthy is trying on the one hand to prove the 2 1/2-page document is "not spurious" and on the other that it does not contain secrets which might make his possession of it illegal.

The committee and its staff made mystery of their plans for questioning Roy M. Cohn, a central figure in the recent McCarthy-Army hearings, and James N. Juliana, a staff member of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

Committee sources said last night Cohn and Juliana had been summoned for questioning today. This morning the same sources said they had no appointment with Juliana, and that Cohn would not be questioned until some time in the afternoon.

It was reported that Juliana would appear at a closed door session.

Back after a two-week vacation—and we hope you missed us. We wished we were back in Greenville, especially when we were caught in Hurricane Carol up in Boston. . . . Most important building to be damaged, as you've probably heard, was the Old North Church, where Paul Revere hung his historical "one if by land and two if by sea" lanterns. . . . We're glad to be able to tell you that plans already have been made to restore it, with a stronger steeple than ever—though the old one had been standing for a pretty long time.

And speaking of restorations, we also visited Plymouth Rock, where everything has been restored except the Rock, which really is in terrible shape. . . . Surrounded by a sort of guard rail, the small area encircling the Rock seems to have been used as a sort of glorified junk heap, with everything from beer bottles to dixie cups lying all around the place. A disgrace, we thought—and what would John Alden have said, to say nothing of Priscilla! . . .

Much more picturesque, historically speaking, was Harper's Ferry, West Virginia, where the little brick fort in which John Brown tried to get his revolution started is still standing, with very few changes except that it's been moved to the top of a high hill overlooking the junction of the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers, where it fronts down on all who drive by. . . . We immediately started reciting "John Brown's Body," by Stephen Vincent Benet, which we learned in its entirety by heart at the age of eight. . . .

Which reminds us of another novel concerning the War Between the States that has just come out. It's "The Gray Captain," by Jere Wheelwright, about one of the last Confederate campaigns led by Jubal Early in his attempt to capture Washington—not the one in North Carolina. . . .

Two more novels by southern writers have just been published. One is a North Carolinian, Jan Cox Sparr, whose "Bride of the MacHugh" is a historical romance told against the background of the Scottish border in the early 17th century. . . . "A Long Time Since Morning" is about life in a modern small town in the South, and was written by Leon Odell Griffith, a 32 year old Florida newspaper man. . . . Both are first novels, and, we hope, the beginning of a long string of good books by two more southern writers of promise. . . .

Speaking of southern writers, reactions to William Faulkner's newest opus, "A Fable," certainly are mixed. J. Donald Adams, in the "Times Book Review," thinks that "behind the mazes of his prose there is always a story, though in 'A Fable' I find it top-heavy with message." Charles Rolp in the latest Atlantic Monthly is somewhat crueler. He calls the novel as a whole "spurious and unreal—a heroically ambitious failure." But Faulkner, we think, will still endure, despite the critics. . . .

A new work by another southern writer is reviewed in this column. He's James Street, Mississippi born and now a close neighbor in Chapel Hill. Our reviewer is Dr. Elizabeth Utterback of the E.C.C. English staff—and a writer of considerable talents herself. . . . So we've given her review a little more space than usual—hoping our boss, The Editor, won't mind. . . .

GOOD-BYE, MY LADY. By James Street. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company, 1954.
According to its author, GOOD-BYE, MY LADY is "no straight dog story. It's a story of two human beings; a lonely old man and a growing boy—fast in a Mississippi swamp. The boy finds a rare dog, and through the dog and the swamp and the uncle, I try to show a boy growing up. . . .

The plot of the book is simple enough: Boy sees dog; boy gets dog; boy loses dog. The first 88 pages deal with Skeeter the boy who hears a strange laugh in the swamp, and tells of his first two futile attempts, followed by a third successful one, to find and capture the strange creature which laughs and cries but will not bark, and licks herself like a cat. Skeeter's

Beautiful in its simplicity was the marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Ricks, near Pantego on Thursday morning at 10:30 when their daughter Blanche became the bride of Mr. W. R. Minshew of Greenville.

The bride wore a very becoming suit of fawnskin perfect brown trimmed with Jasp pink and accessories to match and carried a showery bouquet of bride's roses and swansonias.

Methodist Circle Is Entertained By Joint Hostesses

BETHEL—The regular monthly meeting of the Sarah Whitehurst Circle of the Bethel Methodist Church met on Monday afternoon at 3:30 with Mrs. R. J. Whitehurst with Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst, Sr. as co-hostesses.

The leader, Mrs. M. T. Whitehurst, called the meeting to order. Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, spiritual life leader, opened her program with the life of the mother of Moses, taken from the book "Women of the Scriptures." She closed by giving ten rules on "How to Get Along with Other People."

The program chairman, Mrs. H. B. Lewis, then gave an interesting discussion from "Man and God in the City." The title of the chapter was "City Accepts the Lord." Visual aids were passed among the group showing 'how various people of different occupations go to the city to progress.

Christian Love Topic of Circle Meet

BETHEL—The Fannie Heck Circle of the Bethel Baptist Church had its last meeting of the year on Monday night in the recreation room. A delicious supper was served to the guests which was prepared by Mrs. C. E. Brown, Mrs. W. G. Barnhill and others. Invocation was given by Mrs. John Mayo.

The menu for the night was fried chicken, pineapple salad, deviled eggs, ham biscuits, hors d'oeuvres, hot rolls, iced tea and lemon tarts.

There were twelve members and three visitors who were Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. W. R. Bullock and Mrs. Sig Hermon.

Junior Music Club Has First Meeting

September 10, 1954

All three sections of the newly organized Greenville Junior Music Club met for the first time on Wednesday of this week at their respective meeting places — Third Street School auditorium for grades 1 through 4, Greenville High School for grades 5 through 7, and Austin building of East Carolina College for grades 8 through 12. The meetings were conducted by the advisors for each group—Mrs. Paul Toll, with her assistant Mrs. Moye Dall, Miss Eva Hodges, assisted by Mrs. Paul Hickfang, and Mrs. Bruce Tribble, assisted by Mrs. Ed. Hirsberg. The combined attendance at the meetings was 58.

During the course of the meetings the Junior Ritual, consisting of a hymn, collect, and pledge, was introduced and studied, the aims of the club and the significance of it as a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs were discussed, the point system for achieving national recognition was explained, a temporary study program was decided upon, and various committees were formed.

Members of the nominating committee in the youngest group are Janice Jorgensen, Patty Carter, and Anna Louise White. Hostesses appointed for next month's meeting for the intermediate group are Lee Lang Harrell, Mary French Haves, Vickie Avery, Jean Trahey and Joanne Smith. Members of the nominating committee for the eighth grade and high school group are Jasper Tripp, Martha Tyler, Catherine Moore and Sara Smiley; the group's program committee for next month consists of Elizabeth White, Ann Parkinson, Martha Tyler, and Jane Blue; the refreshments will be handled by Judy Corbett, Joyce Sutton and Martha Pierce; the calling committee includes Jane Blue, Lou Rogers, Sara Smiley and Martha

Mrs. Adams Is Book Club Speaker

BETHEL—The Round Table Book Club met on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 with Mrs. T. R. Andrews, Sr. The home was very lovely with original arrangements of asters and roses.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. F. L. Blount, Sr. The secretary, Mrs. C. G. Garrenton, read the minutes of the last meeting and had roll call with ten members present.

Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst then sang "Club Collect" and was accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Smith at the piano.

Mrs. Andrews, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Katherine Adams. Mrs. Adams had as her topic for the afternoon "What Is Poetry?" which was very informative and given in a pleasing manner. The following poems were then read by Mrs. Adams: "Why I Teach," "Pretty Words," and "It Isn't the Town It's You!"

Methodist Evangelistic Rally Set For Saturday

A Methodist Evangelistic Rally featuring Rev. Howard Allred, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Draper, N.C., will be held Saturday, Sept. 11, at 7:45 p.m. in Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

Rev. Allred, a World War II USAF pilot, is a graduate of Guilford College and Duke University Divinity School. He served as pastor of Pelham Methodist Church, Greensboro District, for 5 years and is now in his first year as pastor of the First Methodist Church of Draper. Rev. C. M. Fogleman, pastor of the Ayden Methodist Church and Ministerial Advisor of the Greenville Sub-district Methodist Youth Fellowship says, "Mr. Allred is one of the outstanding young ministers of the Western North Carolina Conference."

The rally is sponsored by the Greenville Sub-district Methodist Youth Fellowship as part of a three-day "Christian Witness Mission" being held in connection with the New Bern District of Methodist Churches. During this Witness Mission all Methodist Churches in the New Bern District are sending out youth from house to house witnessing for Christ. It is the hope of the Witness Mission that many lost souls will be won for Christ as a result of this personal evangelism.

"The public is invited to the rally, regardless of age or denomination," Mrs. E. W. Larkin Jr., Adult Advisor of the Sub-district, declared.

An evangelistic song service will precede the preaching of the Word. Bob Gibbons, Duke University Junior and minister of Music at St. James Methodist Church, will lead. Dewey Griffith, new president of the Greenville Sub-district, will open the service. The service will be closed with an invitation to "accept Jesus Christ as your personal Lord and Savior."

Ayden Church To Conduct Revival

Evangelistic services will begin next Sunday morning in the 11 o'clock worship service of the Ayden Methodist Church. Services will begin at 7:45 o'clock each night of the week through Friday night.

Rev. Howard Allred, pictured above, of Draper, N.C. will be the visiting preacher during the special meetings. Rev. Allred is a native of Greensboro. He served as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, and attended High Point College and Guilford College where he received the A.B. degree in 1949. In 1952 he received the B.D. degree from Duke University.

At present he is pastor of First Methodist Church in Draper which is in the Greensboro District of the Western North Carolina Methodist Conference.

The pastor of the Ayden Church, Rev. C. M. Fogleman Jr., states that the choir of the church will provide music in each service and that the public is invited to attend the services.

First Presbyterian Announcements
The Westminster Fellowship will meet at the Manse, 401 E. 9th St., this Sunday at 5:30 p.m. for vesper program and supper.

The Pioneer and Senior Young People will meet Sunday evening at 6:00 in the Fellowship Hall for supper and vesper programs. The Session will meet in the Church Parlor Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The General Meeting of the Women of the Church will be conducted Monday night, Sept. 13, at 8 o'clock in the Church Parlor.

The Men of the Church will have a supper meeting Wednesday night at 6:30 in the Fellowship Hall.

The choir will meet for rehearsal Thursday night at 7:30.

All teachers, assistants, pianists, adult advisors, presidents of adult classes, general officers of the church school and members of the Committee on Religious Education are requested to attend the Workers' Conference Thursday night, Sept. 16, at 8 o'clock in Fellowship Hall. This meeting is planned to be a time of inspiration and learning.

Efforts are being made to equip the nursery to care for children of pre-nursery age so that their mothers and fathers will be free to attend their own church school classes regularly. At present there are two beds, one mattress and a plastic mattress cover. A play pen, crib mattress, one mattress cover, two crib sheets and suitable toys are needed.

Northern lights have been seen as far south as Texas.

District Deputy Grand Matron Visits Greenville Chapter O.E.S.

Mrs. Raye D. Bisette of Grifton, N. C., District Deputy Grand Matron of the Seventh District of the Order of the Eastern Star of North Carolina, made her official visit to Greenville Chapter No. 149 on Tuesday evening, September 7, at the regular meeting.

The chapter room was beautifully decorated with lovely arrangements of fall flowers.

Worthy Patron John Carrington presided during the pledge of allegiance to the American flag.

Following the ritualistic opening, the worthy matron, Mrs. J. B. Jackson, requested the conductress, Mrs. John Carrington, to present and escort Mrs. Bisette to the East, where she was given a hearty welcome.

Grand Chapter committee members were presented: Mrs. Uran Cox, Grand Chapter Home Endowment Committee, district chairman; Mrs. M. W. Maxwell, Tar Heel Star News district chairman; Mrs. Alfred Kennedy, Grand Chapter Library district chairman. These were presented in the East and given their credentials by the worthy matron.

Mrs. T. I. Moore was presented and given a warm welcome by Mrs. Bisette who presented her with a 25-year certificate of award from the worthy grand matron of North Carolina, Mrs. Irene Moore.

Mrs. Bisette is installing officer, assisted by Mrs. Uran Cox as marshal and Mrs. T. I. Moore as chaplain, for a special installation service.

Mrs. Bill Sermons was installed as chaplain and Joseph Palmer as warder.

In her address, Mrs. Bisette in a most charming manner took the efficiency chart as the basis of her message. She explained the various laws and regulations of the order, which are to be upheld, gave helpful suggestions on the ritualistic work.

She stressed the fact that we are expected to do all possible for the Rainbow Camp Fund. She announced that her School of Instruction will be held in Grifton on Saturday, October 16, at 10:30 a.m.—the definite time to be stated later.

Mrs. George Smith presented the deputy with a gift from the local chapter.

Mr. John Carrington demonstrated the beautiful new Eastern Star signet—and expressed his delight in the chapter purchasing this to assist in the initiatory work.

The gold star certificate of award for Greenville Chapter for 1953-54 was presented to Mrs. Kennedy who was worthy matron last year.

The worthy matron asked each hostess committee to remember the guest, Mrs. Clem Buckner, at the Masonic and Eastern Star Home, Greensboro, during their month as hostesses. This is in addition to the remembrances from the chapter.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Estelle Tucker, Mrs. Margaret James and Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons.

The exemplification of a visitor was presented by Joseph Palmer, Mrs. Alfred Kennedy, Mrs. John Carrington and Mrs. George Smith.

Miss Alya Taylor, Mrs. Percy Wells, Mrs. John Carrington, Mrs. Martha Forrest and Mrs. J. B. Jackson attended a secretaries school in Mount Olive on Aug. 19.

Mr. W. J. Bundy attended Rob Morris Day in Greensboro on Aug. 26.

26, representing Greenville Chapter. Mrs. John Carrington praised her committee on the work of the Masonic supper first Monday night.

Mrs. Richard David urged everyone to renew or take a subscription to the Tar Heel Star News, O. E. S. paper.

A delightful refreshment hour followed the meeting.

The dining table was centered with a lovely pink gladioli arrangement. Delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stokes, Mrs. Herman Nobles, Mrs. Thelma Stokes, Mrs. Lee Spurgeon, Mrs. Ed Ricks, Mrs. Julia Harris, Mrs. Ruth Harris, Mrs. Vera Sutton, Mrs. Estelle Tucker, Mrs. J. D. Aman, Jesse Brown, Mrs. Eva Jackson and Mrs. Elizabeth Mabry.

Free Will Baptist Church
R. B. Crawford, pastor

The Greenville Free Will Baptist Church will meet for Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. under the direction of Mr. Stephen Walters, superintendent. Everyone is urged to help make an all time high attendance record this Sunday morning. At the 11:00 a.m. worship the choir will sing the hymn "Serve the Lord With Gladness."

The pastor's sermon topic is "God Does Wonderful Things" (Ps. 72:18) The F.W.B. Leagues will meet at 6:30 p.m. under the direction of Miss Rachel Pollard. At the 7:30 p.m. worship the pastor's sermon topic will be "Christ, the Student and Teacher" (John 7:15). East Carolina students will be honored guests in the worship hour. There will be a time of fun and food fellowship following the worship in order for church and students to get acquainted.

Monday at 5:30 p.m. the East Carolina Free Will Baptist Student Fellowship will meet at the church parsonage, 303 Meade St.

Monday the Auxiliary Circles will meet as follows: Afternoon Circle with Mrs. Harvey A. Moore; Circle No. 1 with Mrs. Jesse Boyd; Circle No. 2 with Mrs. Alton Vincent; Young Women's Circle with Mrs. Bill Taylor.

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. the deacons will meet at the church.

Wednesday at 7:30 there will be prayer service and Child Evangelism Classes. At 8:15 the choir will meet for rehearsal.

Wednesday and Thursday the State Convention of Free Will Baptists will meet with the church at the Free Will Baptist Orphanage in Middlesboro.

All students and friends of the church who live in the city and who want a ride to any of the church services are asked to telephone Mr. Connie Hines, 202, Mr. Floyd Nobles, 208, R. B. Crawford, 5600, or Miss Mable Ann Mills, 2701.

Wife Learning To Drive At 79

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Richard Teasle, 79, was behind the wheel one foot on the accelerator; her husband, 73, had a foot jammed equally as firm on the brake pedal when their car crashed into a vacant house here yesterday. He told police he was teaching his wife to drive. Neither was injured.

Officers Elected By Association

Robert E. Tunnel was elected chairman of the Greenville Furniture Dealers Association at a meeting of the organization last night at the Silo Grill.

Serving with Tunnel for the coming year will be Robert L. Elks, vice chairman; Quinn Bostic, treasurer; and Mrs. Cora S. Powell, secretary.

In turning over the gavel to Tunnel retiring chairman R. W. Davenport said it had been "a happy privilege" for him to serve the organization during the past year.

Accepting the nomination Tunnel stated, "I appreciate the honor and the confidence placed in me." He said he accepted, "realizing it is a job, but I will do anything in my power to make this a successful year."

He called on the members to give him suggestions for the work.

Retiring chairman Davenport presided at the meeting. He urged the members to continue reporting delinquent accounts and repossessions to the secretary to be placed in the merchants Association file.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the National Retail Furniture Dealers Association to be held in Goldsboro Oct. 12 and the importance of members attending this meeting was stressed.

The next meeting of the local organization will be held October 14.

Delivering Babies On Drive-In Basis

CHADWICKS, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. M. L. Rower says he has developed a "drive-in service" for delivering babies.

For the fourth time in recent years, he delivered a child Wednesday in an automobile in his driveway in this Utica suburb.

Mrs. Doris Olney of Chadwicks, and daughter Gwenn were reported doing well today at a Utica hospital. Dr. Rower said Mrs. Olney was riding to the hospital with her husband when she announced she could not make it. He headed for the doctor's office. The baby—weighing 5 pounds, 12 ounces—arrived seconds after the car entered the driveway.

Too Much Pride To Ask For Help

LITTLE COMPTON, R.I. (AP)—Residents of this hurricane-ravaged town apparently have too much pride to ask for help.

After Hurricane Carol struck the 207-year-old shorefront town four homes lay in ruins, 50 others were damaged and 106 boats were sunk or missing.

Red Cross and town officials conferred last night on how to give aid to the storm victims.

But, of the 1,550 residents, only two applied for assistance.

There are 15 known meteorite craters on the earth's surface, says the National Geographic Society.

Grace Free Will Baptist Church
Rashie Kennedy, pastor
Sunday School will meet at 9:45 a.m. Mr. E. B. Tenny, superintendent, gives everyone a warm welcome. Morning worship will be conducted by the pastor at 11:00. The subject will be "Christian Education in the Church." The F.W.B. League will meet at 6:45 p.m. Mrs. James Harrell will have charge of the program. Miss Alma Hagan will speak on "Christian Growth." LeRoy Mills will also speak. Prayer period for evening worship will be at 7:45. Evening worship will be conducted by the pastor using as his subject "In The Last Days." This subject is continued from last Sunday night. The following questions will be considered: What will happen? What are we to do in preparation? Who will be saved? Who will be lost? These questions are to be answered from the Bible. Special music will be rendered in each service. College students will be welcomed in each service along with other visitors.

Monday night at 7:30 the Women's Fellowship will meet at 411 Latham Street. This being time to elect new officers, all women of the church are urged to be present.
Men will be working at the church on Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights.
A movie on "Our Bible and How It Came To Us" will be shown Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.
Church conference will be at 8:00 o'clock Thursday night. Brother Richard Gregory will speak in the devotions.

Judge James D.A.R. Speaker will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Major Benjamin May Chapter, D.A.R., Saturday at 3 p.m. His subject will be "What the Constitution Means To Me." Judge James has the longest service record of any elected official in Pitt County. All members are urged to attend.

A Full Investigation Is Still Needed

The fact that a coroner's jury ruled there was no "culpable negligence" on the part of prison employes in the death of Eleanor Rush certainly should not be construed as giving sanction to their treatment of the young Negro in Women's prison.

In spite of the fact prison employes and officials must at times take seemingly drastic measures to cope with prison situations, the use of a gag on Eleanor Rush was clearly a violation of prison regulations. From the evidence presented at the coroner's inquest, it is obvious the gag was a major contributing factor, if not the sole cause of the inmate's death.

In all fairness to the prison employes involved in the incident, their treatment of Eleanor Rush does not seem inhumane under the circumstances. Had not death resulted, the incident probably never would have come to light. Yet, the fact that their actions apparently contributed to the death of the inmate cannot be overlooked.

Even before the inquiry into the circumstances which caused the death at Women's Prison began, The Reflector suggested editorially that a thorough investigation of the treatment of prisoners in the state's prison system be conducted. We are still of the opinion such a measure should be taken in spite of the fact the Rush case has been closed.

Not only would such an investigation bring about correction of any practices which are not in keeping with prison regulations; but it would serve to answer a great many questions in the minds of citizens about true conditions in the penal system of North Carolina.

If such an investigation brought to light no prison violations which have not already been exposed, it would still be a worthwhile thing for the Senate.

It demands to us circumstances at the present demand such an investigation of the state's prison system.

Merits Of New Policy Outweigh Disadvantages

New emphasis has been placed on the peacetime development of atomic power as construction has begun on the first private atomic power plant at Shippingport, Pa.

The step marks the beginning of atomic development by private industry. Coupled with the announcement that the United States is entering into an atomic power for peace pool with several other nations, the recent developments mark a decided change in policy toward atomic development by the United States.

Both measures are going to make it more difficult to protect American atomic development secrets from Russia and agents of the Kremlin. At the same time, however, the moves promise to step up the pace of development of atomic energy for peacetime purposes. In the long run, the moves are destined to bring giant strides of progress not only to the United States, but to its allies across both the Atlantic and Pacific.

To be sure, the expansion of atomic development by the federal government has its disadvantages. Yet, it seems to us the merits of the new policies outweigh the disadvantages which the new policies have.

Pitt Had A Good Holiday Safety Record

Pitt County breathed a sigh of relief this week as the Labor Day week-end came to a close and Pitt got by without a fatal highway accident and less than its usual number of injuries in highway mishaps.

Highway Patrolmen and other law enforcement officers in the county worked long hours during the holiday week-end constantly reminding drivers to take it easy on the highways. But that in itself was not enough to prevent a deluge of traffic accidents. The cooperation of drivers in abiding by safety regulations was the greatest single factor in the good record of Pitt during the holiday week-end.

The drivers of Pitt are to be congratulated for their individual efforts which contributed to the good safety record.

One more major obstacle has been overcome by Pitt County in its effort to set one of its best highway safety records in many years during 1954. If the improved degree of highway safety on Pitt roads continues through the remainder of 1954, Pitt will come up with one of its best records in years.

A GREAT DISCOVERY
Shining shoes! Shining shoes! Shining shoes!
"How many have you shined this morning?" I asked him. "Oh, about twenty pairs," he said.
I fell to thinking what a dreary life it must be just shining somebody else's shoes. When the day was over he would have shined fifty or sixty pairs and what would it get him? Or where would it get him? At this point he looked up and cheerfully greeted a friend who had entered the shop. He inquired about the friend's family. Was the Missus well? How about the children? Oh, his grandchildren? He had eleven now. And such kids! No kids like these in all the world! And had the friend seen the fight on TV last night? Boy, you should have seen it. And that funny guy—What's-his-name—that makes everybody laugh? What a scream he is!

Sunday? After church, a picnic. It was getting a bit cool now for sea bathing, but he could still take the old jalopy out through the hills.
There was much laughter. There was jolly bantering back and forth between the bootblack and his friend. I listened attentively for I realized that I was being taught a lesson in the significance of little things which make people happy.
And when I left, I said to myself: "Bless you! I think I have discovered a happy man."

Farm Issue For South Dakota

By FRED H. MONFORD
While Ray Tucker is on vacation there will be guest columns by several prominent editors. Today's column is by Fred H. Monford, Editor and Publisher of THE PRESS & DAKOTAN, Yankton, S. D.

YANKTON, S. D.—The big question in the minds of party leaders in South Dakota as the 1954 November election approaches is over which way the bulk of the farm vote will go, in light of the Eisenhower Administration's successful fight for the principle of flexible price supports.

There is undoubtedly considerable farm sentiment here for continued support at the present 90 per cent of parity figure, at least until a better program has been worked out. That has been the stand taken by South Dakota's delegation in Congress—Senators Karl E. Mundt and Francis Case, and Representatives Harold O. Lovre and E. Y. Berry.

This disagreement with the Eisenhower Administration on the important farm issue has put the Republican party in this state in a rather awkward position. Its state party platform, adopted at the July convention, endorses the stand of the Congressional delegation but also praises the Eisenhower Administration for trying to solve the farm problem.

DEMOCRATS ON FARM ISSUE—Naturally, the Democrats are out to make the most of this situation, and they apparently intend to put most of their eggs in the farm issue basket. Some of their biggest guns were unlimbered at a late August farm rally held in Sioux Falls, with Adlai Stevenson as the principal speaker.

The Democratic ticket is heavily weighted with farmers or ranchers. Its candidate for U. S. Senator against Mundt, Kenneth Holm, of Groton, is a farmer, as is Ray Satterlee, of Martin, its candidate for Representative from the Second District, against Berry, the incumbent.

You wouldn't know it by looking at the thermometer, but football season - at least on the Pitt County level - moves into high gear this week-end ushering in another season of sports thrills.

All of Pitt County's high school football teams will be in action tonight, and Saturday night, East Carolina's Pirates will open their season with a home game.

Yep, football season is here again in full swing. There will be the thrills and cheers of the game, parading bands and prancing majorettes at half-time intermissions. The only thing missing this week-end as local football moves into high gear is the nip in the night air which usually accompanies football season.

Representative Lovre, from the First District, is opposed by Francis G. Dunn, Sioux Falls, an attorney. Senator Case is not up this year.

Another farmer-rancher, Ed C. Martin, of Chamberlain, is the Democratic candidate against World War II Air Ace Joe Foss, of Sioux Falls, for the governorship, but it appears that the party's chief hopes lie in the possibility of winning one or more of the three contested Congressional seats.

The farm issue, plus aggressive campaigning, is expected to give the Democratic cause a somewhat better showing at the polls than is usual in this normally Republican state, but most observers give them only an outside chance of breaking into the Republican ticket, either state or Congressional.

EISENHOWER STILL POPULAR—Not all South Dakota farmers, by any means, oppose the Administration's effort to work out some kind of a flexible price program. And Eisenhower, who won 70 per cent of South Dakota's vote cast in 1952, is still very popular in the state.

Only twice since it was admitted to the Union in 1889 has South Dakota swung into the Democratic column. Franklin D. Roosevelt achieved it in 1932 by capturing about 56 per cent of the vote cast, as compared with Eisenhower's 70 per cent two years ago.
But then in 1940, when Roosevelt won his third term, he did so over the objection of South Dakotans. They gave Wendell Willkie 57.4 per cent of their votes, which gave South Dakota the distinction that year of being the most Republican state in the Union.

The strong probability is that it will remain in the Republican this year, in spite of an aggressive campaign by the Democrats on the farm issue.

Notes from last night's Jaycee meeting:
Every time the Junior Chamber of Commerce meets the attendance prize is one of the highlights of the meeting.

Every Jaycee has a pocket button with his name on it. If he forgets to wear it he is fined a dime. It seems that about half of the Jaycees have lost their badges and of the remaining half who have them about 50 per cent forget 'em. For example, last night's pot amounted to over $4.

At the end of the meeting a visitor draws to see who the lucky man is. But it's not as easy as that. After his name is drawn, the potential winner has to name every member and guest at his table before the money is his. Everybody assumes that they're going to win the prize. More important than the money, every member hates to think of the fact that he might be called on to get up and name his table when he doesn't know one of his fellow Jaycees.

This drawing has done more to help Jaycees know each other than any other single effort. Last night it was Cecil Harris who won; last meeting Bob Boyette of the Reflector was the winner. Do we ever have a potential winner fall because of not knowing the names? A few, but not many. If we don't know somebody we make it a point to find him out before the drawing. Last night Carl Anderson of Denmark was the guest of Cactus Jim Lafferty. Every member at our table knew who he was even before the introduction.

Last night Dr. Glen Haney of the Eighth Street Christian Church was our guest speaker. Jaycees on State and local level are considering the project of alcohol education; helping inform the public exactly what alcohol will do. Dr. Haney has attended

A NEW APPROACH FOR EASTERN N.C. (Rocky Mount Telegram)
An overdue development in Eastern Carolina is the organization of a regional approach to our problems.

Civic and business leaders from several counties in this section of Eastern Carolina need to band together for unity and strength. In dealing with the State Department of Conservation and Development, or with industrial representatives, a regional organization representing Eastern Carolina could do so much more than the present scattered attempts of individual communities.

The regional approach is not only more successful in attracting industry to a given area, it is also the more sensible way to stimulate the growth of local industry. For, if there is anything better than attracting an outside industry it is to develop a "home-

KINSTON — Caswell training school used to be regarded as the red-headed step-child in the State mental hospital system. It has moved into full and honored membership in the family now. And more gradually, but just as surely, has largely moved out of the role of a training school into that of custodial care of hopelessly feeble-minded.

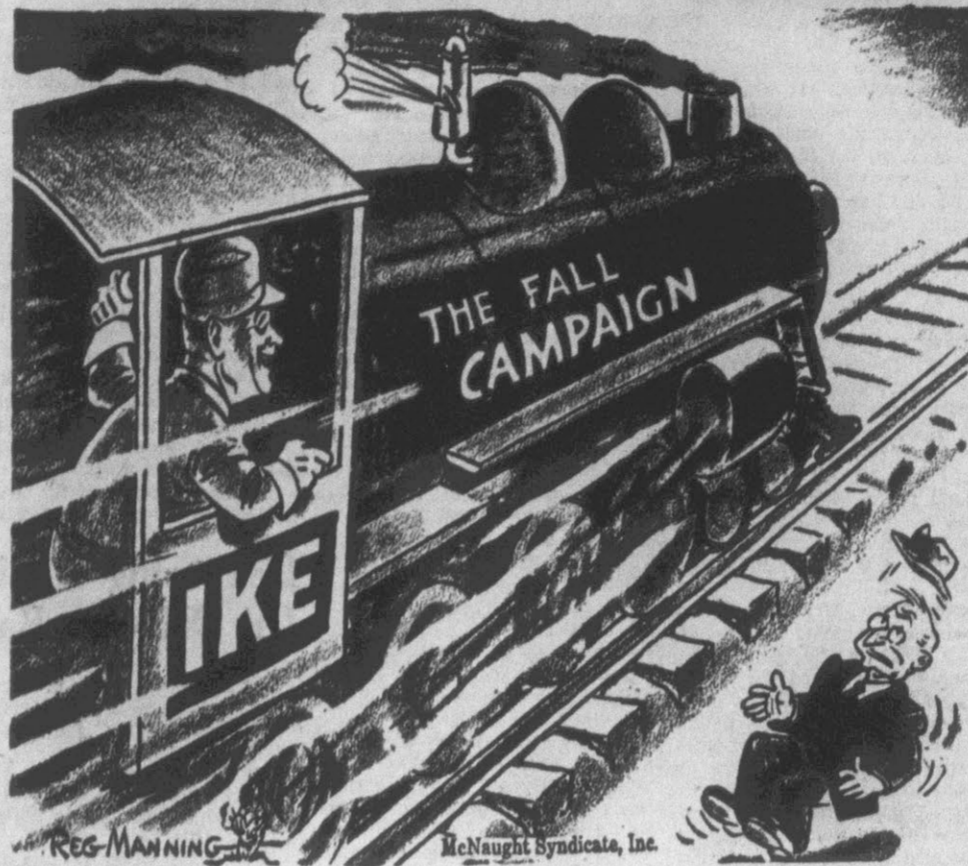

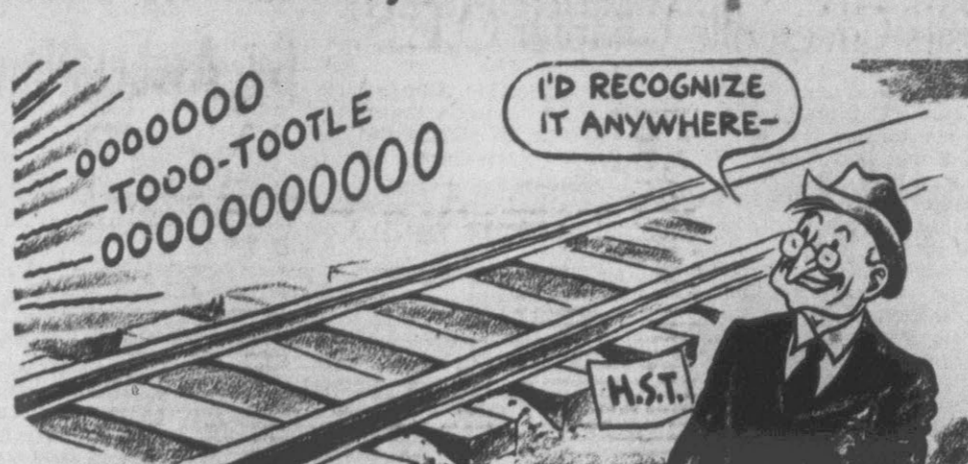

The step child status was changed when the Legislature of 1947 and subsequent sessions made available some $6 million for permanent improvements. Of that amount around $5 million has been spent leaving about a million to complete the building program. Another $4.5 million at Butler will relieve the pressure at Caswell and a $4.5 million allocation for a similar school at Goldsboro for Negroes means that within the past seven years the State has devoted more than $15 million to this general purpose.

The transition from the original concept that Caswell would be a school at which those of less than normal mentality might be trained for useful citizenship to the present use largely as place to care for idiots and imbeciles has been gradual. It came about through pressure from the public that the lower grade cases should be accepted in preference to those who might be able to partly take care of themselves. This has resulted in an increasing ratio of the admissions falling in the very low grades, less susceptible of training or rehabilitation. An inevitable further result has been to reduce the probability of discharge and consequently to decrease capacity for admitting other children. (Some of the "children" here are 60 or older, but none with mentality above a normal 10 to 12 year old.) Some of the higher mental level have been transferred to Butler and several hundred more will go there when the training school is completed.

TRAINING — Both Dr. Julian Lokey, the superintendent, and Speight Stroud, the business manager, insisted that the training program was not being neglected. It is true that fewer cases are likely to be released from Caswell after the transfer of the higher level to Butler, but the training is important for their happiness in their surroundings. Some of the budget group raised the question of complete segregation of the several groups—separate institutions. It was idiots, imbeciles and morons—in separate institutions. It was explained that experience in other States has proven that integration is better for everybody. The morons and high grade imbeciles are of great help in looking after the lower grade children. Furthermore, there is not much difference in the cost among the groups. The morons require more education and training, the idiots require more custodial and medi-

What Other Editors Are Thinking

Just last week, fifteen business and professional men from High Point, Winston-Salem and Greensboro attended the first meeting of a new Tri-City development committee. Long range plans for mutually beneficial cooperation were made to replace attitudes ranging from open hostility to friendly lethargy. "We were sorry about only one thing—that we didn't start 20 years ago," said C. C. Fordham, Jr., of Greensboro, chairman of the group.
The cooperation of four counties and four cities in the Eastern Carolina Airport project was a good beginning toward a regional organization in this area. The fact that the airport is now jeopardized should not discourage a similar approach on other matters.
This newspaper hopes that Rocky Mount through its Chamber of Commerce will initiate the organization of an Eastern Carolina regional group to further the development of this area.

We're Still Building

By ELMER ROESSNER
For years they have been saying, "This is the last big housing year; the market has been saturated." And for years house construction has gone right along at a high level.
Of course, with the small baby crop of the '30's coming of age the housing level has to drop sometime—or does it?
The critical period will be between next year and 1960, when the war babies begin entering the market. After that the population increase will insure active home construction for several decades to come.

In the critical years, it's true, family formations will not be of major importance in supporting the market. But a number of other factors may be decisive. The government's recent move to lower the required "savings" for older homes will add considerably to buying potential. A large part of our population that cannot afford the more expensive new home and that was barred from purchasing an older, less expensive house by the high down payment required and the shorter loan repayment time will not be "forced" to enter the market.
With increased demand, those owning older homes will be able to sell and buy better and bigger homes in more cases.
Then there is the increased percentage of older Americans whose home needs are very different from a young family just starting out. This group prefers small, one-level dwellings and, what is more, they usually have the accumulated savings to finance their purchases.
The economic gains by Negro families that much-talked-about "Negro market"—is assuming a growing roll in home sales.
Some other reasons for a high building rate are cited by the National Association of Home Builders, which estimates 1,400,000 new homes must be built annually if the nation is to be adequately housed:
1.—The mobility of the American public. In the last three years 9,000,000 families changed their address. Those moving into areas of expanding population actually caused housing shortages.
2.—The volume of housing that needs replacement is estimated to be between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000, depending on how you define it.
3.—Losses through disaster and demolition. Fire, ev storms, other disasters and demolition for highways, schools, parks and other buildings are a definite factor.
Industries are boosting home building through its mobility. New plants and new localities are being created. It creates new housing needs, more notable examples being the Fairless Steel works in Pennsylvania. It requires the building of a whole town, and government-financed plants which wiped out communities in some places only to create vastly larger ones in others.
The volume of home building may slump sometime in the next five years, but if it does it will be "the face of some very potent factors."
OLD PROMOTER
POINTS A MORAL
Speaking of the Old Promoter, Texas and Arizona rights, Edgar was remarking the other day, "There's certainly a lack of honesty in this world. Take my old stock-rigging pal Edgar."
"He spotted an advertisement offering territorial rights to a new type of air conditioner that could be moved from room to room. And it sold for only $49.95, with a 59 per cent margin."
"Edgar saw the possibility of millions. Quick like a bunny, he sent in a check for $2,000 for the Texas and Arizona rights. Edgar knows his hot air. At the same time, he ordered a carload of conditioners to be sent to Dallas. And do you know what they turned out to be? Electric fans!"
"No," said the old fellow, "there's a lot of dishonesty going around. Edgar is certainly glad he didn't sign his right name to that $2,000 check."

Christian Citizenship and Co-operation ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 6:1-6; Romans 12:9-16; 13:1-10; I Corinthians 3:4-9; Galatians 5:13-15.

In Jerusalem some of the Greek converts complained that their widows were not getting their share of the common fund which were for the needs of all, as were the Hebrews. A consultation was held and it was decided to select seven good men to see that this situation was remedied. Seven were chosen and the apostles laid their hands on them in consecration. Paul wrote to the Romans telling them to be filled with affection for one another; to forgive their enemies; to be liberal to those in need; and hospitable to the saints who were strangers. To the Galatians Paul wrote that they should live to serve one another, "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." MEMORY VERSE—Galatians 5:14.

PAUL STRESSES OBEDIENCE TO LAW AND LOVE OF OUR FELLOWS IN ALL OUR DEALINGS

Scripture—Acts 6:1-6; Romans 12:9-16; 13:1-10; I Corinthians 3:4-9; Galatians 5:13-15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL IN THE opening pages of the Bible we read God's statement: "It is not good for man to live alone." We are naturally social beings—children, youth, adults, older people. When a man or woman is solitary, happiness is almost always absent. We want very much to have friends—playmates in childhood, companions as we grow older. We need one another.

ren—as Jesus was entertained often in the home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus in Bethany. In our day, when we have conferences of people from different places, to be entertained in the homes of the church members, how many times we find those to whom we have offered our hospitality, such wonderful people that they have blest our homes with their presence.

The next admonition is harder for us to follow. "Bless them which persecute you; bless and curse not." Then, "Rejoice with them that do rejoice (and that is sometimes difficult for us in our selfishness), and "Weep with them that weep."

The sympathy of friends in a great grief cannot be overestimated. How many despairing souls have been aided immeasurably by loyal friends, and how hard it is when those to whom we turn—whether it be relatives, friends or even our pastor—seem cold to our suffering.

Now we touch upon the subject of citizenship. We should obey our rulers, Paul says, for "rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil, and we should be good citizens, pay our tribute to the government under which we live and which we must support, not only to escape wrath and

How can we make friends and keep them? We can learn a great deal in studying today's lesson.

In the book of Acts we are told that the early church was adding many converts, but in Jerusalem there arose a complaint that the needy widows among the Greek Christians were not being taken care of as were the Hebrews.

We have no way of knowing whether this was true or not, but the apostles were concerned about it. They consulted together and decided that they would choose seven of their number to whom they could entrust the matter to see that no injustice was done. After choosing the seven they all prayed for guidance, then laid their hands on the seven, consecrating them for this good work. Love is emphasized again and again as Paul's way of dealing with our companions and associates. How we of today need to practice and emphasize that in all our actions and thoughts. Read these words of Paul's in Romans 12, memorize them and strive to act them.

I will not quote them all, for lack of space, but here is the gist of them: We should love with sincerity; cleave to that which is good and avoid evil.

"Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love, preferring one another."

Look with affection on one another—playmates, friends, relatives and those with whom we come in contact daily. In our business we should not be lazy, but "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord."

That means that whatever our work, we should do it with energy, remembering Jesus and His tireless work. "Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer, distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality."

In those faroff days when Christ's missionaries were going about carrying His message, there were very few hostilities at which they could stay even if they had the money—which they very seldom had. So they needed the hospitality of the homes of the brethren.

At This Stage, History Is On Side Of Clevelanders

By BEN PHEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The time has come to start measuring the flag pole in the Cleveland Municipal Stadium for the 1954 American League pennant.

It may be a few days too soon to enlarge the press box for the world series, or begin printing programs. But with a 5½ game lead and only 14 games left, the Indians certainly are justified in showing some signs of optimism.

Among other things, history is on their side. No American League team ever blew so large a lead late in the season. Much bigger margins have been shaved, but never erased completely.

Collapse in the National League are a different matter. Brooklyn in 1951, Pittsburgh in 1938 and New York in 1934 are the most recent examples. It was the Pirates who built a press box that went unused. The '34 Giants lost six of their last seven games and were passed by St. Louis after leading by 7½ lengths on Labor Day.

But in the American League a 5½-game margin in mid-September has been like money in the bank.

The Indians saw the folding green stuff come closer yesterday with a 5-4 "Giff" victory over Philadelphia with the second-place New York Yankees bowed 1-0 to Baltimore on Joe Coleman's brilliant one-hitter.

The magic number for the Indians now is 10. Any combination of 10 Cleveland victories and Yankee defeats will clinch the pennant. The earliest possible date is Tuesday.

While the Indians were tidying up their affairs in the American League the New York Giants wasted a chance to gain a more comfortable lead in the National.

The Giants broke even in a doubleheader with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs and were lucky to get the split. It took two late rallies climaxed by a squeeze bunt with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth by Hank Thompson to pull out the first game 1-4. They never had a chance in the second game, getting only five hits while losing 3-0. Clyde McCullough drove in two of the runs, one with a homer.

The runner-up Milwaukee Braves weren't scheduled. They trail New York by four games and have 18 left. The Giants have 16 to play and Brooklyn, 5½ behind has 15.

It will take a combination of 14 New York victories and Milwaukee defeats for the Giants to clinch the flag.

Brooklyn came out of a prolonged slump with a 10-1 victory over St. Louis yesterday in the only other National League action. Washington beat Chicago 2-0 and Boston defeated Detroit 4-0 in the American.

The winning Cleveland run scored in the 11th inning against the Athletics when Ed Bertschy walked Hal Naragon with the bases loaded. Cleveland had come from behind with two runs in the eighth and one in the ninth to send the game into extra innings.

The victory was No. 100 for Cleveland, the most won by any American League team since the 1946 Red Sox.

Coleman's bid for a no-hitter over the Yankees was ruined by a bad bounce single by Enos Slaughter in the eighth inning. The ball was hit to second baseman Bobby Young but it bounced high over his head just when he went to field it. Nobody else came close to getting a hit off the 32-year-old right-hander.

The Chicago-Washington game was the fastest of the season, lasting only 90 minutes. Each team got only three hits but two of the Washington blows off Harry Dorish were home runs, by Roy Sievers and Jim Lemon. Chuck Stobbs was the winner.

Boston's victory over Detroit was another well-pitched game as Willard Nixon scattered four singles. Ted Williams, at bat four times, was held hitless for the second straight game.

BULLETIN

CHICOD — Chicod High upset favored Chocowinity 25-24 here this morning in the opening game for both teams. Last year Chocowinity won 33-6.

Tornadoes Meet Benvenue Team

AYDEN — Ayden High Tornadoes will open their 1954 football season tonight in Ayden against Benvenue High at 8 o'clock.

The Tornadoes will be playing a team they have not met before so a prediction of the game is virtually impossible. The Benvenue School is located near Rocky Mount.

Coach Stuart Tripp has built this year's Ayden team around six veterans back from last year's starting lineup. He expects veteran linemen Sidney Britt and Robert Harris to lead the line play tonight and he is banking on Quarterback W. O. Jolly and Milton Worthington to pace the backfield play. Both of these backs are veterans also.

Tripp hopes for good action from Tommy Edwards, a freshman back, and Lindy Dunn, a sophomore back. Newcomers in the line who are expected to fill gaps are Bert Tripp and Sonny Smith.

Opening game ceremonies will take place tonight with the Ayden High band providing the music.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

PITCHING — Joe Coleman, Baltimore Orioles, gave up just one hit, a bad bounce single by Enos Slaughter, in beating the New York Yankees 1-0.

BATTING — Hank Thompson, New York Giants, hit a home run with one on then squeezed home the winning run with a two-out bunt in the last of the ninth for a 7-6 victory in the first game of a doubleheader against Chicago.

It Takes More Than Sub-Par To Lead At Odessa

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Pre-tournament favorites like Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Tommy Bolt of Houston were finding today that it takes more than sub-par golf to lead in the $7,500 Odessa pro-amateur golf tournament.

Middlecoff and partner Bobby French of Odessa were among four teams tied for fifth place as the second round of the 72-hole match play tourney began. They shot a 32-32-64 yesterday, bettering par by eight strokes at the Odessa Country Club.

Bolt and his partner—crooner Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex.—were among six teams tied for 10th with 66's. They had a 31-34 round yesterday.

Their scores looked unimpressive, however, in comparison with the blazing 27-34-61 fired by pro Abe Beckman and 18-year-old schoolboy Wendy Green in yesterday's opening round.

Louise Suggs In Favorite's Role

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., was the favorite today as 14 of the top women pros and 17 amateurs teed off in the first St. Louis Women's Open golf tournament.

The winner of the three-day tournament at Glen Echo Country Club will collect $750 of the $3,500 in prize money. The event is sponsored by the Eastern Missouri PGA.

Miss Suggs moved into the favorite's role with a blazing five under women's par 71 in practice yesterday. She shot 36-35 against regulation figures of 38-38.

Other top choices include Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex.

Pirates Taper Off In Drills For Opener On Saturday; Webb Is Replacing Cherry

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

The East Carolina Pirates tapered off yesterday in their drills for the Norfolk Naval Air Station clash Saturday night.

Head Coach Jack Boone sent the North State champions through a two-hour workout, emphasizing passing and pass defense.

Boyd Webb, senior from Gastonia, sparked the aerial drill with pinpoint throwing. Boone said today that Webb will start the game Saturday under the center, replacing sidelined Dick Cherry.

Behind Webb, Coach Boone will have Junior Louis Collier and newcomer Gary Mattocks ready to go. Mattocks, especially, has shown fine form at the quarterback post. He was a standout for Southern Pines' six-man club. He was initiated to eleven-man football as safety man on Duke's freshman team in 1951. For the past two years he played service ball with Fort Jackson, S.C.

"The squad is in fine physical condition and workouts have been spirited," Boone said. "We have two purposes in wanting to win against this Norfolk club: to avenge the 7-13 loss handed us in 1952 and to prove to the skeptics that we've got a good ball club minus services of three All-Staters." (Bobby Hodges played out his eligibility and Paul Gay and Cherry sustained sidelining injuries.)

"Actually, I think our year will depend upon boys stepping up to the varsity from freshman ranks and from non-lettermen of a year ago. Too, our schedule will be much rougher this season and we actually may lose more games with a better club," Boone asserted.

Larry Rhodes, a senior from High Point, and J. D. Bradford, a junior from Fayetteville, will start at ends. Rhodes was an outstanding passer in '53 and Bradford excelled on defense. The latter was an All-State terminal in high school.

Co-Captain Wille Holland is a sure starter at left tackle. The All-Conference senior from Wilson has lettered with the Pirates for the past three years. George Tucker, one of the most aggressive linemen in the conference, will make the shift from guard to tackle and team with Holland.

Don Burton and David Lee are two tested performers at guards and make the Pirates rugged up the middle. Lee was All-Conference last year.

All-Conference his initial year was a fitting tribute to Louis Hall's ability at center. A first stringer on Wake Forest's frosh aggregation in 1951, the 220-pounder is a savage tackler and probably the most feared lineman in the conference.

Co-Captain Tippy Hayes and veteran Emo Bardo will open at halfbacks. Both expect their best year this season.

"The most underrated player on our club last year," according to Boone, "is Fullback Claude King who returns for his senior year at that post."

Twelve men were lost from the championship team, but Boone says the Bucs have replacements to offset these.

The Pirates will dress 44 players Saturday night.

Coach J. E. Lall of the Norfolk Tars was to have brought 42 players into Greenville this morning.

Headlining his array of stars are Leroy LaBat, former All-American at LSU; Duke Ellington, 6-4, 205-pound former University of North Carolina tackle; and Doug McLaughlin, former All-Southern player at the University of Richmond.

Last season Coach Lall's team won six games while dropping five. His roster boast many holdovers from the 1952 team which knocked the wind out of the Pirates' sails early.

Basilio Is Rated 1-3 Favorite In Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio is a 1-3 favorite to beat Carmine Fiore for the second time and keep alive his chances for a welterweight title shot.

The two will meet over 10 rounds in Madison Square Garden starting at 9 p.m., EST. NBC will broadcast and telecast the bout coast to coast.

Basilio, No. 1 welter contender from Canastota, N.Y., has been virtually promised a shot at the winner of the October title fight between champion Kid Gavilan and Johnny Saxton.

Among the victories in that string was a ninth-round technical knockout over Fiore in Syracuse 17 months ago. Fiore, 25, gave the upstart a good battle while it lasted. In the ninth Basilio pinned him to the ropes and whaled away until Referee Al Berl intervened.

Fiore, who packs a lot of dynamite in his left hook, won eight in a row after that loss. He had the string snapped by Ramon Fuentes, No. 5 welterweight contender, in Los Angeles July 12. Fiore's overall record is 47-16-5 with 18 knockouts.

Braves, Dodgers In Fateful Series

BROOKLYN (AP)—The fantastic Milwaukee Braves invaded Ebbets Field tonight for the first of a two game set with the fast-fading Brooklyn Dodgers and the series is at the utmost importance to both teams.

If the Braves are to stay in the pennant chase, they must win both games. If the Dodgers hope to get second money, they must sweep the series.

At the moment, they're a game and a half behind the Braves, who, in turn, are four games behind the New York Giants.

Manager Charley Grimm plans to throw Lew Burdette, an old Dodger's hater, against the Braves. Flatbush Leader Walt Alston, whose hurling corps has been anything but sensational, will counter with Billy Loes, a local boy, in an effort to stop the Braves who carry a 10-game winning streak here.

Alston had little to say before the battle, probably because there was little he could say. Five months ago, he might have looked at the schedule and thought: "Well this might be an important series in my pennant plans." But it's for sure that he never thought he'd be fighting for second place.

Grimm, in first or last place, was his usual chipper self after getting settled in the big town.

He must be taking lessons from Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, who always said he played each game as if it came up. The Indians are 5½ games ahead, so Grimm probably is reasoning what's good for Lopez is good for him.

"We've got to beat New York and Brooklyn," he said. "Win one game at a time, but win them."

ACC Squads Stage Rugged Scrimmages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Long and rough scrimmage sessions were rather general yesterday in the Atlantic Coast Conference as football squads looked to a weekend and at least one day of relaxation.

Movie cameras caught the Terrapins in action as Maryland Coach Jim Tatum put his squad through a scrimmage stressing defense.

Today he planned to have the squad review the film for flaws in plays.

Coach Rex Enright verbally dressed down his University of South Carolina squad after a long scrimmage on pass offense. Throwing and catching were erratic, he said.

Pass defense showed up better.

Today the squad went to Parris Island Marine Base for a scrimmage with the Leatherneck team.

Consistent long gains were made by Frank Griffith of Elberton, Ga., Clemson sophomore fullback, as the squad scrimmaged with stress on defense.

Also making a good showing was Don King, who headed the opposing team.

It was light duty for the Virginia

UCLA Boasts Plenty Of Ends

LOS ANGELES (AP)—With six lettermen returning to compete for the end positions this season UCLA will be well fortified in the wing department.

Bill Barnes, ruin wing coach, admits that material for these two positions look unusually solid. But he tosses in the usual gloomy gridiron comment that UCLA lost a major defensive end with the graduation of Myron Berliner 169-pound ace of last season's Bruin line.

Red China Is Bursting At Seams With Energy

Editor's Note—Deryck Winterton of the London Daily Herald correspondent who analyzed the Attlee party to Red China, sums up some of his impressions in the following article.

By DERYCK WINTERTON of the London Daily Herald
HONG KONG—Through the window of my room on the 10th floor of a hotel in Shanghai the noise of the city came surging up in steady beats.
The noise of hundreds of thousands of people—talking, laughing, walking, with an enormous overwhelming energy.
China is bursting at the seams with the urge to work, as she has always done, but now with the hope that work can mean the end of poverty.
Because poverty is still China's No. 1 problem. The average wage for all industrial workers is the equivalent of $20 to $25 monthly. The highest paid miner gets around $40. And these are the aristocrats.

A floor sweeper in a foundry—not classed as a "productive worker"—draws $10 a month. It is likely that the millions who work in tiny handicraft shops get less and the standard of most peasants is probably lower still.
At the other end of the scale a university professor gets about $84 a month and the boss of a state factory slightly more.
Rents are said to be very low—

In newly built apartments about a tenth of wages.
Last year, workers in state industries got a 5 per cent raise. According to the plan, they will get another 7 per cent this year.
State-employed workers officially have an eight-hour day and a six-day week. There is said to be little overtime, but there is probably more than admitted.
What about prices? Compared with those in Britain, they are extraordinarily mixed.

Basic necessities, like rice and cotton clothes, are probably cheaper. Some things are much dearer.
Here are examples taken from price tags in shops in different parts of China:
Cotton singlet, 84 cents; small towel, $1.12; child's cotton dress, $1.26; child's shoes, $4.90; man's shoes, $7; cotton dress, $2.50; cotton trousers, $2.10; medium-sized saucapan, 98 cents; wool rug $28; a football, $8.40; two-ounce bar of chocolate, 50 cents; an East German bicycle, about $98.
Vegetables are cheaper than in Britain. Eggs are under 2 cents. Fruit—which in the North is extremely good—is about the British price. There is very little fresh milk and meat is a great luxury.
Movie seats are 7 to 14 cents. Cigarettes are less than a third of the British price of 50 cents.
The shops are full of goods but one wonders how long this would be true if wages were higher. They are crowded with people too.
The huge blocks of apartments

POGO

going up would be classed in Britain as hopeless slums. The standard is to be one room about 12 feet square for a family, irrespective of size. In one block I saw there were 10 such flats to a landing—with two baths and one lavatory for all.
The Chinese themselves do not pretend these are good by Western standards, but by Chinese standards they are model dwellings.
The gap between them and the squalid, tumbledown rookeries of the past, often built of rotting wood or mud and straw with leaking thatch and no bigger than a garden shed is great.

Eighth Wife Is Asking Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The eighth wife of a Hollywood hotel owner, Lynn Wolfe, 46, is suing him for divorce or annulment and asking $250,000 damages.
Mrs. Shirley Wolfe, 17, alleges fraud and assault in her complaint. The Superior Court yesterday denied her $500 a month temporary alimony but ordered Wolfe to pay attorney's fees and costs of her suit.
Wolfe, admitting eight marriages told the judge: "My wives divorced me; I don't divorce them." He said he and Shirley eloped last June to Juarez, Mexico, where two of his previous wives had divorced him.

Sees Strategy Of Internal War

BANGKOK (AP)—A Thailand government spokesman said yesterday he was convinced the Communists aim to make "Thais fight Thais" rather than invade with Chinese or other Red troops.
Lt. Gen. Momluang Kharb Kunchorn told a news conference "we know definitely" that former Thai Premier Pridi Phanomyong had been ordered by Peiping to organize the "Free Thai" movement in Yunnan province and prepare the people of Thai stock there for aggression.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

RAIN was falling steadily when Marsh and Penn went out to the car. They drove as far as the country store in silence, except for the dismal clunking of the windshield wipers. Then Marsh Nichols cleared his throat.

"My mother," he remarked, "is an eager little person. She'd like to arrange life so that everybody will be happy."

Penn said carefully: "She's a very stimulating person. Thank you for letting me see her again."

It wasn't true, of course. Mrs. Nichols was full of fancies and anxious to exercise the dark anger her son harbored toward the Storeys. Marsh Nichols wasn't falling in love with her. He was as remote as ever as grimly on guard. She told herself that she did not want Marsh Nichols to fall in love with her. She told herself this over and over, very sternly. By the time they reached the dark, still-deserted Storey house she had made herself believe it.

Josh Henning shifted his black cigar to the other corner of his mouth and Claudia Mapes controlled the impulse to flap her handkerchief in front of her face and snort, as the air-conditioning unit sucked up the noxious smoke too slowly. Eilhu, who hated cigars, looked unhappy, too. It troubled Claudia to see how much thinner Eilhu looked, his face drawn and with its old rudeness faded.

Eilhu kept tapping his fingers on the desk. Claudia shifted in her chair, arranged some papers in a drawer, kept her eyes turned away so that she could not be accused of watching the faces of the two men. Her mind kept racing backward to the prairie that was home, back to that town, that old school. Josh Henning and Eilhu Storey had been the "big boys" then, and Josh had been rough and crude, with hard ugly hands and a raucous voice.

He said: "Claudia, why don't you get out of here? Eilhu and I have got things to thresh out."

Eilhu interposed. "Claudia knows all about my business. You stay where you are, Claudia."

"But don't make any notes. This is all confidential," Josh warned. "Certainly," snapped Claudia stiffly, glad that her desk was backed into a corner. The lower drawer was wide and deep. She opened it, made a show of bringing out a box of tissues, left the drawer open halfway. The click of the little switch in the drawer that she touched was covered by the squeak of her rolling chair as she pushed it back. The hum of the little motor she had turned on was inaudible above the whir of the air-conditioning system. The wire that ran into the drawer was cannily concealed, Claudia had seen to that the day she bought the tape recorder with her own money.

"If I got to talk before Claudia, I guess I've got to. Better get down to business." Josh flipped ashes on the floor. "I should get back tonight on that midnight train. I can relax on the train. Blood pressure's been up a little high lately. Not serious, but I get a headache. Had too many headaches already." Eilhu asked impatiently. "They'll have the biggest payroll in the state in operation out there by spring. They'll have people moving in to fill up all the houses you can get built."

"I didn't 'love 'em in, in the Army did. That's a military project. Has to be built and run to suit the Pentagon. You knew that, Josh. Everybody knew it before they laid a brick."

Claudia eased the drawer out again, keeping her hands busy with the papers on her desk, sliding a filigreed cigaret box a little closer to Josh Henning.

"Yeah, but nobody figured we'd have to give 'em the whole earth," Josh complained. "Nothing suits 'em! Nothing! Roads ain't wide enough. Who's going to widen 'em? State hasn't got the money, county's borrowed and bonded to the limit, and now they say we got to build enough schoolhouses to take care of all them kids. Pipe in more water, too, and you know how lo— the river's been all summer."

"Local problems. Have to be worked out locally. Nothing I can do about things like that here in Washington," insisted Eilhu. "Carrick says something can be done. Carrick says there's federal aid available and it can be had, if you work it right. He says there's ways to promote a nice piece of federal money—all we got to do is work with the right people. That's what we send you boys up here for to take care of the folks at home. Take that school business. They want two built, cost $100,000 apiece, and you know how I'll be—cutbacks on everything goes into a job like that."

"Who's got the money?" asked Eilhu bluntly. "Take roads Josh went on, ignoring him. "You know how the road business stacks up—rights-of-way out of all reason and sense; labor wants the world and there's always somebody a contractor has got to sweeten, kick back half his profit like as not. We got to have help, Eilhu, and you know how to get it—if you wasn't so m—headed—always antagonizing the wrong people."

Eilhu walked to the window, his shoulders bent. "All I can promise is that I'll see what can be done." Josh raised his voice. "And you know how to do it. Switch your vote on that Illinois bill coming up, and they'll let a rider slide in that's been fixed up to take care of situations like our state."

"That's a rotten bill and you know it. I'm not going to switch my vote, Josh. I can't afford to do it. I've taken a stand on it."

Henning laughed, and there was a dry, nasty edge on the laugh. "You took care of your own family all right. You took care of yourself good, too. If anybody should take a notion to dig back into Marsh Nichols' affairs. There's things ain't pretty, Eilhu. We've got to keep the boys satisfied, keep anybody from trying to dig into things."

"Is that a threat Josh?" Claudia asked boldly. Josh scowled. "I'm not making any threats to anybody. I'm just pointing out to the senator here the hole we're in out home and how he can help us get out of it. And he's the only one can do it."

"By trading a vote on that bill you're talking about for a quick and easy hunk of government money. I see," said Claudia coolly. "Eilhu," Josh poised his heavy body, "we sent you up here to take care of our state. You're just a hired man, as you might say. But the folks who hired you to represent 'em up here deserve some consideration."

He tramped out and Claudia walked quietly across the room, bolted the outer door. Then, pulling the big drawer wide, she clicked off her switch.

"I've got all of it on a tape, senator," she said calmly "in case

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today on a quickened trading tempo in the early afternoon.

The advance extended to around 2 points. Losses usually were small but some went to about 2.

The pace of business hit a gait in the vicinity of the two million mark. Yesterday's total in a rising market was 1,700,000 shares.

Buyers were especially attentive to the steels, railroads and the coppers.

Other major divisions advancing included the motors, tobaccos, oils, and building materials. The rest of the market was mixed to lower.

North American Aviation dropped away rapidly after the announcement that directors had increased the quarterly dividend to 75 cents from 50 cents. It was the day's most active issue yesterday up a point. It opened up a half today and then sold off abruptly after the dividend announcement.

Montgomery Ward was down from the start. The company reported a fall of more than 21 per cent in first half profits.

Eleven Bicycles To Be Auctioned Off By Police

Eleven bicycles will be sold to the highest bidder at the police department tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock unless the owners show up in the meantime to claim them.

The bicycles which have been held by police for some time will be offered for sale at the auction. They were picked up by officers at various times as stolen or abandoned property.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs says owners of the bicycles may claim them at the police station by properly identifying them up until the time of the sale. The bikes cannot be recovered by their original owners after the sale however.

Two Arrested On Larceny Counts

Two men were arrested on three charges of larceny at East Carolina College Thursday. Both men, Negroes, were employees of the college.

Officer D. L. Harrell found 14 football ticket books, valued at $168, in the room of Benjamin Pison and Cleveland Tuft at 1202-B Dav- nort Street.

Pison was also charged with larceny of a pair of pants belonging to Leslie Taylor, another employe of the college. The pants were recovered.

COLLEGE STUDENTS HONORED

Alcoholism Described As Matter For Education

"One out of every 16 people who drink will become alcoholics," Dr. H. G. Haney told members of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce last night.

"At that rate," he said, "some four of every 65 drinkers will become alcoholics."

Dr. Haney pointed out the attitude toward drinking is changing and drinkers are not condemned now. The whole thing is a matter of education, he added, and there is a definite sliding scale by which a person becomes an alcoholic.

People who treat alcoholics have learned to treat the whole man where he is, the doctor noted.

He told the Jaycees that he knows they feel "it is always the other ning from the right. As they multiply, and then add up to get the answer. This boy, who can barely dress and care for himself, can tell you right quick how much is 493,647 times 876-231. That's what the doctor said. (Parenthetic observation by your reporter; That had ought to be in the budget bureau.)

GENEROUS — In more serious vein, North Carolinians have reason to be proud of what their State has done for its unfortunate citizens, despite frequent criticism of inadequate facilities. William Rodman pointed out that there is nothing in the constitution of the United States or of North Caro-
