Party Struggles Eclipse Fight For Congress Control

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The campaign for control of Congress was temporarily eclipsed today by a contest between Averell Harriman and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

The edge appeared to lie with Harriman, former foreign aid director and unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1952. But Roosevelt predicted he would win in "a very close contest."

New York Republicans, convening at Syracuse, were prepared to give their gubernatorial nomination to U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's choice to succeed him. Dewey plans to return to private life.

Harriman had the backing of Tammy Hall and other influential party leaders as Ives' November opponent. Roosevelt, however, claimed "surprising" support from New York City to augment upstate strength.

In the Democratic primary in Rhode Island yesterday, the state ticket headed by Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 86, and Gov. Dennis J. Roberts had no opposition for renomination. The state GOP primary is scheduled Sept. 29.

Far to the west, President Eisenhower arranged to confer during the day with Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee, and two of Hall's aides, in advance of a speaking trip to the West Coast later this week.

The President returned from a mountain vacation to his Denver summer headquarters yesterday and did some more work on four speeches he will make during the coming three days.

While other Republican speakers were plugging for continued GOP control of Congress, former Rep. Fred A. Hartley Jr. urged replacement of Clifford P. Case as the party's candidate for the Senate in New Jersey. Case, also a former House member, opposes Democratic Rep. Charles R. Howell for the seat being vacated by Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ).

Hartley, in a television broadcast from Newark, said Case had "a New Deal, Fair Deal, CIO... voting record." Unless the state GOP replaces him, Hartley said, it must "assume responsibility for a Republican defeat in the November election."

Vice President Nixon told a party rally at Omaha the Eisenhower administration has given the nation "bulletin" guarantees against a depression. He said a key point in Communist philosophy is to rely on collapse of the U.S. economic system.

A different view of the economy was taken by President George Meany of the AFL, who told the organization's convention at Los Angeles the administration is "doing nothing—just nothing" about unemployment.

Hard Bargaining Over British and French Proposals

Old Problems Shaping Up For Nine-Power Meeting

LONDON (AP)—Hard bargaining shaped up today over rival British and French plans for rearming West Germany.

Ministers conferred anew over old problems of Western defense that must be taken up again at a nine-power conference in London Sept. 28.

And something of the conflict to attend that session—in which French Premier Pierre Mendes-France is to call for British commitments that Britain has refused in the past—was pictured in the editorial comment of Europe's newspapers, left, right and center.

The Minister Churchill's government was warned by the independent, pro-Emile London Daily Express not to "take the easy way, the way of acquiescence in French wishes, the way of smoothing down French fears at Britain's expense."

On the other side of the fence, the liberal News Chronicle declared "the British government must recognize that the time to make our utmost contribution has arrived and that no contribution can now be effective unless positive commitments are made."

France's Western allies were taking a long, cautious look at the plan outlined by Mendes-France yesterday in a speech before the European Consultative Assembly at Strasbourg.

As a substitute for the six-nation unified army of the European Defense Community treaty which his National Assembly killed Aug. 30, he wants to tie West Germany in a tight continental alliance with Britain that would limit the fighting forces of all member states and control their arms production.

Under both Mendes-France's proposals and the British plan put forward previously by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the basis for rearming German troops would be the Brussels treaty of 1948. That treaty was originally drawn up by Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg for defense against any new German aggression. The idea now is to admit both West Germany and Italy—which would get all the EDC partners together again—and re-vamp the rules. Instead of the unified army envisaged under the EDC, members of the pact would rush their national armies to defense of any other partner attacked.

The VFW Council of State, at a weekend meeting here, also announced the appointment of Carlton Garrett of Elizabeth City as state director of athletics and youth activities. A. L. Hubbard of Troy was named chairman of the Americanism Committee.

City Receives Powell Bill Funds

Greenville received its share of Powell Bill funds yesterday—a check from the state for $59,530.32.

The check was received by Mayor W. L. Whedbee and represented the city's share of $5,390,897.20 in Powell Bill funds for construction of city streets.

The amount is $2520.32 more than was originally estimated in the city budget when it was made up in June. At that time budget-makers estimated that $7,000 would be received from the state for street construction. In addition the city budget carried over $15,000 from last year's budget to be used for drainage principally in the Hillside section, according to City Clerk H. H. Duncan, giving a total of $72,000 which the city planned to spend during this year for street work.

That amount was broken down as follows: street grading, $7000; curb and gutter, $9000; storm drainage, $47,000; street paving, $9000.

In a letter to Mayor Whedbee, A. H. Graham chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission notes that since the enactment of the Powell Bill act in 1951, a total of $30,127,039.10 has been paid in cash from the Highway Fund to towns and cities which have established their eligibility in accordance with the Act.

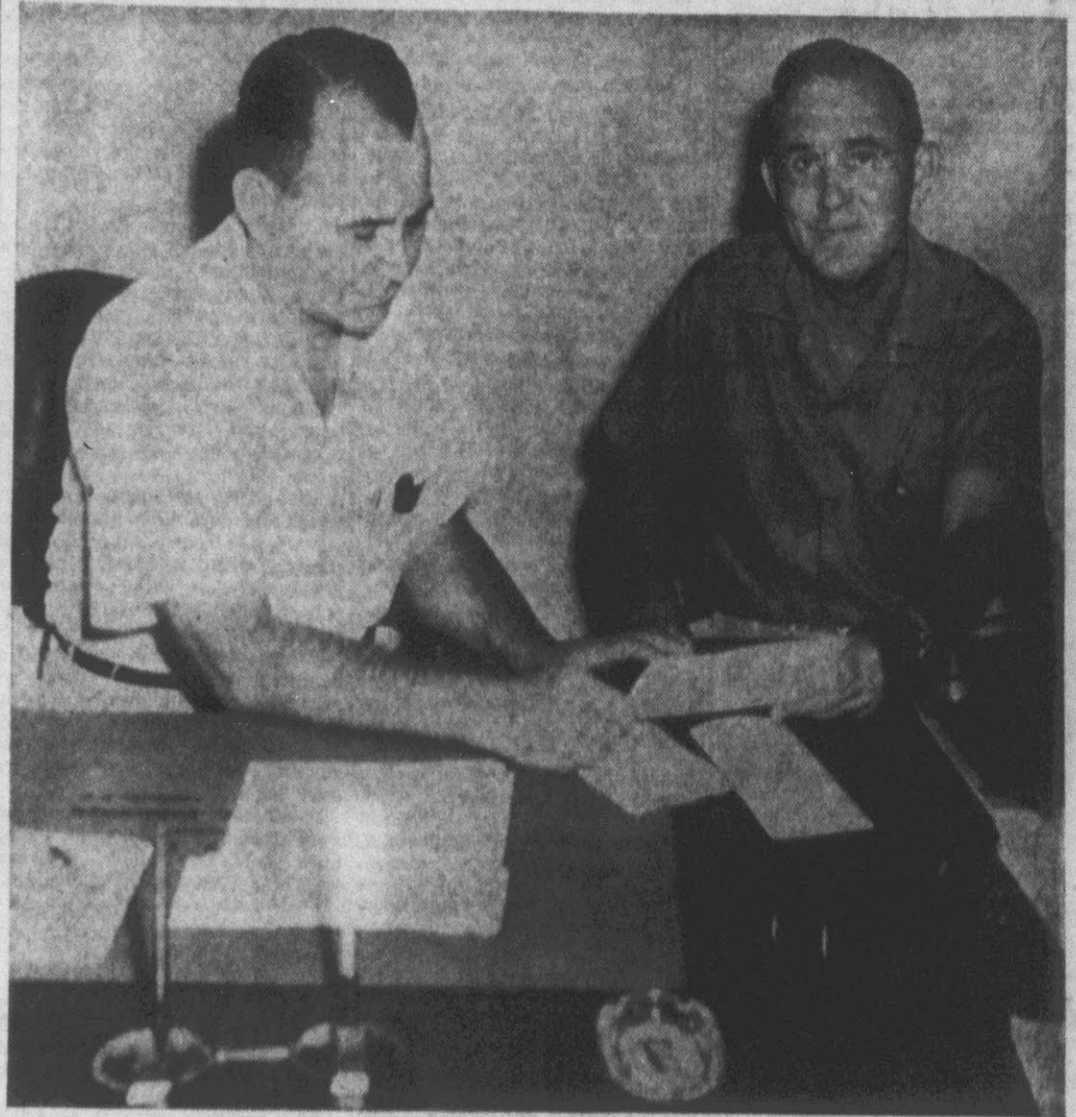

The letter explains that the allocation is based upon municipal population, as listed in the 1950 Federal Census Report, and local street mileage. This year the fund pays $4.66 for each mile of streets in Greenville and $1.77 per person based on the 1950 census.

"As you know," Graham's letter states, "the Act sets rather definite limits to the purpose for which these monies may be spent; therefore, municipal officials should review the statutes and pertinent opinions from the Attorney General in connection with contemplated use of these funds. In our examination of the Reports on Powell Bill Funds for the past fiscal years, which all participating municipalities must submit to the Commission by August 1 of each year we have found that the expenditure of Powell Bill monies by the individual cities and towns has been for those purpose state in the Act." Greenville received $57,801.84 from the Powell Bill fund in 1953—$2,218.78 less than the amount received this year.

Human Interest Always In Law

RALEIGH (AP)—If a stray dog attacks himself to your household, are you required by law to have the animal vaccinated for rabies?

No, said Atty. Gen. Harry McMullan in a digest of opinions released today. While it is the duty of dog owners to present their pets for vaccination, the law does not apply to a person who is not a dog owner, even if the pooch lives at his house, McMullan said.

In another opinion, McMullan said a child assigned to a particular school in a school district "has no right to ride the school bus to any other school or to attend any other school."

Other opinions included:

The Motor Vehicles Department is required to revoke the driver's license of an operator convicted for a second offense of drunken driving even though the warrant does not allege it is a second offense.

The use of a device emitting electric power for the purpose of catching catfish in commercial waters is prohibited by law.

The use of the words "Army" or "Navy" in the name of a mercantile establishment is unlawful unless the store is actually operated by the U.S. government or some authorized agency.

The provisions of the Powell Bill Law for street aid to municipalities makes it "very doubtful" that a municipality may use the funds for maintenance of a street outside the corporate limits even though the street is within a cemetery owned by the municipal unit.

WESTFIELD, N. J. (AP)—The public library wants its readers to get it move—by borrowing eight books each and holding them until Oct. 11.

McCarthy Verdict Ready Monday

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating a charge against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today they hope to hand down their "verdict" Monday.

What the special six-man committee may report to the Senate remained a tightly guarded secret. Sen. Ervin (D-N.C.), a committee member said in an interview he now expects the report to be made public Monday, instead of on Thursday of this week as the committee had planned tentatively. Another member, who declined to be quoted by name, confirmed the new target date.

Ervin said a report that early ought to bring the Senate back into session to consider it on Oct. 1 "or very soon thereafter."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.), who is not on the special committee, said in a separate interview "I understand there is a good possibility we will be called back Oct. 1 or Oct. 3."

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) the committee chairman, declined to say whether he has informed any Senate leader of a target date, nor would he announce any specific date for the report.

"We'd like to see it done this week if possible," he said.

In California, Senate Republican Leader Knowland said he lacks any clue to when the Senate will be summoned back to Washington.

When the Senate ended its regular session last month, it authorized Knowland and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, acting jointly, to recall senators to consider the special committee's findings on a resolution by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) to censure McCarthy for what the Vermonters termed conduct unbecoming a senator.

A week ago yesterday, the special committee of three Democrats and three Republicans finished taking public testimony.

Lexington Man Wills Big Sum To Wake Forest

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A man who wanted to finish his college education but couldn't because he was too poor has left most of his estate of almost one million dollars to help young men and women attend Wake Forest College.

Col. G. Foster Hankins, one of Lexington's biggest real estate holders, left an estate of $918,188 in a will filed for probate yesterday. The 83-year-old bachelor died last Saturday.

He specified that most of the estate go to set up the George Foster Hankins Foundation to help deserving young people attend Wake Forest, with preference being given to residents of Davidson County.

Hankins attended Wake Forest for two years but couldn't finance his dream of becoming a doctor. Wake Forest did make him a doctor in 1952, an honorary doctor of laws. He had given many gifts to the school in his lifetime.

VFW Will Erect Office Building At High Point

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars has approved plans for a $100,000 state headquarters building on South Main St. here.

The VFW Council of State, at a weekend meeting here, also announced the appointment of Carlton Garrett of Elizabeth City as state director of athletics and youth activities. A. L. Hubbard of Troy was named chairman of the Americanism Committee.

AFL Turns Deaf Ears To Appeal By Sec. Mitchell

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell's appeal that the American Federation of Labor support the Eisenhower administration apparently had fallen on deaf ears today at the annual AFL convention.

Top AFL leaders and delegates gave no indication of plans to mollify their steady barrage of criticism of President Eisenhower and the Republican administration.

However Mitchell in his address at yesterday's opening convention session appeared to be appealing to the AFL's 10-million-member rank and file more than to the labor organization's leaders.

He bitterly accused the AFL face to face of unfair and unyielding opposition to the GOP and hinted that organized labor could get more of what it wanted by not being so hostile.

"I am disturbed when you criticize unfairly," Mitchell said. "In the past 20 months we have accomplished much for the working men and women of America, and I can pledge to you that we will continue to do so."

"But I would like to suggest that if we were as confident of your support when we are right as we are of your criticism when we are wrong we would be even more effective in your behalf."

The 750 delegates listened to Mitchell in complete silence and gave him a politely warm, but short, burst of applause when he finished.

One Killed, 28 Injured In Ill. Train Wreck

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—One person was killed and 28 others were injured yesterday when a New York Central streamliner plowed into a truck at a crossing and went off the tracks.

The NYC's diesel-powered Southwestern Limited, bound for New York with an estimated 95 passengers, struck the truck and the second unit of its diesel engine was derailed. Nine cars following it careened from the tracks and came to a screeching, sending half 200 yards beyond the crossing. The last two cars remained on the rails.

Rescue crews attributed the relatively small number of injuries to the fact that the derailed cars did not splinter.

Killed in the collision was Cary Bryant, 24, of Mattoon, driver of the truck laden with gravel.

The train was speeding eastward after a scheduled stop at Mattoon when it hit the truck at 11:42 a.m. (CST).

Only three injured remained in the hospital overnight.

Officers Search For Rocky Mount Hold-Up Man

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—A statewide search was pushed today for a young freckle-faced gunman who robbed a drive-in bank here yesterday of $8,209 in the eighth bank holdup in North Carolina this year.

The FBI, State Highway Patrol and local officers combined forces in the hunt for the nervous gunman who held up the North Rocky Mount Branch of the People's Bank and Trust Co.

Bank officials had estimated that $7,500 was taken but an audit showed the figure was $8,209. The young robber wore gloves and a white handkerchief over his face. Officers said he could have taken thousands more if he hadn't been in such a hurry.

R. S. Ward, bank manager said the gunman was "almost as nervous as we were." Road blocks were thrown up but no trace of the getaway car has been found.

President Appeals For Day Of Prayer

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower appeals today to the people of Russia and other Iron Curtain countries to join Americans tomorrow in a day of prayer for world peace as "the true cure for war-breeding tensions."

In a message beamed to the Soviet Union and its satellites over the powerful radio facilities of the Voice of America, the President said:

"May the world be ringed with an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit."

A municipality can legally require telephone companies and power companies to remove at their own expense utility poles when necessary in a street widening program.

The many millions of people shut away from contact and communion with peoples of the free world join their prayers with ours.

"May the world be ringed with an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit."

Yelton is executive secretary of the teachers and state employees retirement system in Raleigh.

He will speak on the retirement system, with emphasis on the plan for teachers.

An open house will follow the speaker's address.

This will be the first meeting of the local NCEA unit for the year.

Farmville Market

FARMVILLE—Sales Supervisor Charles S. Edwards reported yesterday sold 797,534 pounds of tobacco for a total of $455,890.13 averaging $57.14 per hundred pounds.

Greenville Market

The Greenville Tobacco Market sold 1,691,450 pounds of tobacco for $925,115.94 yesterday averaging $54.69 per hundred pounds. Sales Supervisor W. L. Whedbee reported this morning.

Pitt Farm Bureau Begins Annual Campaign

"Every farmer is a businessman," Greene County Senator Alonzo C. Edwards told Pitt County Farm Bureau members last night. "It is up to him to protect his farming operation by a stronger organization."

Speaking at the kick-off meeting of the Farm Bureau membership drive for this year the senator and Farm Bureau leader said: "Farmers should not be satisfied until every farmer is a member of the farm organization. Through organization only can farmers get the type of farm program they want and protect the farm program they have."

The senator noted that for the past 30 years agriculture has enjoyed a period of prosperity that was due to the efforts and ingenuity of farm leadership.

"Farmers in Pitt County are living in a prosperous area," he continued. "Yet, how much of the consumer dollar are we getting for our produce? Over 56 cents went for fixed costs, transportation, and so forth. This left 44 cents for the farmer of which 30 cents was spent for fixed production costs over which the farmer has no control."

Receives 10 Cents

The speaker said that farmers in this area actually received about 10 cents out of the consumer dollar, the difference going for labor.

"During that time the consumer prices were steadily going up," he noted. "Farmers' fixed prices were going up—and net dollars for crops and produce were going down. The consumer still pays the high dollar."

He said that in 1953 the average income went up 6 percent while farm income went down 17 percent. "Farmers fared and shared worse than any other segment of society in 1952-53," he emphasized.

Turning to tobacco farmers the senator said: "Tobacco farmers have written in statute books the law that if we do not control ourselves we do not want support prices. As long as tobacco farmers vote quotas on themselves and keep tobacco under control they will receive 90 percent of parity. Tobacco is the only crop receiving 90 percent parity because tobacco farmers are willing to stay in line."

"It is up to the farmers to write the type of farm program they want," he said. "The American Farm Bureau has supported the tobacco program and it is the only commodity backed at 90 percent of parity."

New Tax Laws

Speaking of taxes the senator stated: "On the state and national level we are facing changes in economic spending this year. North Carolina has a surplus of 50 million but at the end of this year will be left with virtually no surplus. When the General Assembly meets again a new tax law will be written and new taxes will be put on somebody.

"Are farmers prepared to defend themselves properly to see that burdens are fair in 1955?" the senator asked. "Are farm people in North Carolina well enough organized to help write fair tax laws?"

Arch J. Flanagan, County Farm Bureau president, presided over the meeting. He introduced Dr. Mark Frizzelle, who is chairman of this year's membership drive.

Frizzelle stressed the importance of getting this year's membership drive over quickly and the importance of a successful drive to all farmers.

J. B. Bunting of Bethel was nominated by the group to represent Pitt County on the North Carolina Agricultural Foundation Committee.

Bill Little, field representative of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, told the group that farmers will have the opportunity at meetings to let lawmakers know exactly the kind of farm program that they want.

He stressed the importance of each farmer attending the meetings and expressing their wishes on the farm program.

City Manager James S. Hughes told members of the Recreation Commission last night that City Engineer Tom Rivers is presently laying out the site for the Kiwanis Club miniature train directly across the street from Elm Street Park.

Hughes said the site had been approved by a committee appointed by the mayor at the August meeting of the City Council. At that time the council agreed that the train would be moved from its present location at Guy Smith Park at a cost not to exceed $750. Half the moving cost is to come from the recreation budget and half from the public works budget the council stipulated.

Hughes stated that the committee met several times and approved the Elm Street site. The city manager noted that a heavy construction contractor had offered to grade the area free of charge. He said the tracks will follow along the creek bank and then back into the wooded area. The city manager declared that the possibility of the train being flooded out were remote because it will be "approximately the same elevation as the Little League playing field across the road at Elm Street park."

The Kiwanis Club had reported that the train was a losing proposition and it would have to be returned to the manufacturer unless it could be moved to a new location.

Requests Use of Park

Floyd Nichols appeared before the commission and requested the use of Guy Smith Stadium next summer by a semi-pro baseball team which is interested in becoming a member of the Bright Belt Baseball League.

Nichols requested that the fence at the park be made so it could be moved back and forth to accommodate baseball and said the team would furnish the labor for moving the fence at each game. He said the ball players would play free of charge and donations would be taken up among the crowd to pay expenses.

The commissioners voted to allow the team the use of the park. Commission Chairman Tyson Bilbro called for a report from Recreation Director Warren Carroll and Hughes on the cost of constructing a wading pool to be added to the recreation facilities. It was reported that further figures on the cost of the project and a complete report would be made at a later date.

Letter from Planning Board

Bilbro read a letter from the Planning Board asking for the Recreation Commission's recommendations for the minimum number of acres required for playground activities.

Carroll reported to the group that the National Recreation Commission recommends a play area for every four blocks of residential area and a larger playground for every 12 blocks. Carroll said he had additional information coming on the specific recommendations. The commission voted to inform the Planning Board that the commission will make specific recommendations when the information arrives.

John Bizelle said that a Negro semi-pro ball club had asked for use of land at South Greenville Park to construct a ball park. It was brought out that enough room is available at the park for construction of the baseball diamond. The commissioners agreed to empower Carroll to work out the details of constructing and use of the park with representatives of the team.

June H. Rose, representing the school board requested use of Guy Smith Stadium for Eppes High School football games this year and permission was granted.

Party Honors Mrs Stalls

ROBERSONVILLE—On Thursday night, Mrs. Dora Mae Hurst of Robersonville, her sister, Miss Carolyn Stalls, and their sisters-in-law, Mrs. David Stalls and Mrs. Oswald Stalls of Williamston, gave Mrs. Hurst's mother, Mrs. Sudie Stalls, a surprise birthday party at her home in Williamston. When the last guest arrived, the honoree had the pleasure of unwrapping many beautiful packages. After the contents were displayed, everyone went to the dining room where the table, with a dainty crocheted cover, was centered by a gorgeous large layer cake flanked by four lighted candles in silver holders.

The top of the cake frosted in white was almost covered with delicate pink lattice work leaving space for the inscription "Ma Sue." A bunch of white roses and a few natural looking sweetpeas completed the top which was encircled by a lacy border of icing. Three pink festoons surrounded the side of this work of art which earned much admiration. After the exclamations subsided, the cake was cut and served with mints, salted peanuts and ice cream to the 40 relatives.

Group pictures were then taken. The first was of the honoree and her sons and daughters, then the grandchildren, posed before the in-laws, were photographed.

Due to the length of time that had elapsed since a family reunion, the women and men spent the evening in conversation. The group left before midnight after a very pleasant four hours of fellowship.

As a climax to "Membership Day" which was on Sunday at the Methodist Church when a number of new members were taken into the church, a fellowship supper was had at 5 o'clock on the church lawn.

Tables were placed here and a beautiful picnic supper was enjoyed. Later in the evening singing led by Henry Oglesby was enjoyed. The supper was to honor all new members of the church who have been taken in in the past year.

In charge of the day's program were Charles Kline, Clint Jones, Mrs. Claude Hart while Mrs. Milton Hart was in charge of the program.

To Serve As Book Lovers' President

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. C. D. Carraway was hostess to the Book Lovers' Club at the first meeting of the fall Tuesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. D. M. Little, presided. The minutes were read and approved and the books were exchanged.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. B. L. Stokes, chairman, Mrs. V. L. Roberson and Mrs. I. L. Smith presented a slate of officers for the new club year. The following received a unanimous vote of approval, Mrs. W. H. Gray will serve as president, Mrs. V. L. Roberson vice president, Mrs. J. C. Smith secretary, and Mrs. C. D. Carraway treasurer.

Mrs. Ralph Ferguson, wife of the Baptist minister, was guest speaker for the afternoon. She gave a most interesting and informative report on her trip to California. She used maps and pictures to illustrate her talk.

The hostess served a delicious sweet course.

Ministerial Association Asks Observance Of Day Of Prayer

Tomorrow has been proclaimed National Day of Prayer by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Locally the Rev. Leonard W. Topping, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association, urges all churches to keep their doors open all day for prayer.

He also requests each church to observe the National Day of Prayer during the evening.

President Eisenhower's proclamation follows: "Whereas, the Congress by Joint Resolution approved on April 17, 1954 (66 Stat. 64), provided that the President shall set aside and proclaim a suitable day each year other than a Sunday as a National Day of Prayer, on which the people of the United States may turn to God in prayer and meditation; and whereas, Americans of every generation have sought and found in their personal and national problems, and whereas, it is fitting that all Americans should unite in prayer on one day of each year in reaffirmation of our reliance upon Divine support and our faith in the power of prayer.

"Now, therefore, I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim Wednesday, September 22, 1954, as a National Day of Prayer when all of us may give thanks for blessings received and beseech God to sustain us in our efforts toward a peaceful world.

"In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed. Done in the City of Washington, the eleventh day of August, in the year of our Lord, Nineteen hundred and fifty-four."

Ministerial Association Asks Observance Of Day Of Prayer

Tomorrow has been proclaimed National Day of Prayer by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Locally the Rev. Leonard W. Topping, president of the Greenville Ministerial Association, urges all churches to keep their doors open all day for prayer.

He also requests each church to observe the National Day of Prayer during the evening.

President Eisenhower's proclamation follows: "Whereas, the Congress by Joint Resolution approved on April 17, 1954 (66 Stat. 64), provided that the President shall set aside and proclaim a suitable day each year other than a Sunday as a National Day of Prayer, on which the people of the United States may turn to God in prayer and meditation; and whereas, Americans of every generation have sought and found in their personal and national problems, and whereas, it is fitting that all Americans should unite in prayer on one day of each year in reaffirmation of our reliance upon Di-

New Books Discussed At Ex Libris Club

ROBERSONVILLE—Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the Ex Libris Club had its first meeting of the 1954-55 year after being inactive since June. For this occasion the home of Mrs. Leo Everett was decorated with vases of sinias and beautiful arrangements of mixed summer flowers.

The meeting was called to order by the president. After the roll call, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting.

For the first time in its history, there was no program. Mrs. Pitt Roberson, who was scheduled to give the talk, was called to Lumberton Saturday morning due to the illness of her aunt, Miss Sudie Phillips whose death soon followed the heart attack.

Each member in turn gave the title of her new club book and the author's name before telling others of the story to inspire a desire to read the novel. The program for the year is the study of the characters of the Old Testament, also the rise and fall of ancient civilization, Babylon, Egypt and Greece.

After the discussion of the books, the hostess served strawberry sundae and home-made cake to the twelve who were present, then they adjourned to meet with Mrs. John Tyler on Tuesday, September 28.

Choral Club To Rehearse September 23

At a recent meeting of the Pitt County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs it was decided that the first rehearsal of the Pitt County Choral Club for the fall would be held on the fourth Thursday in this month which will be September 23rd. This rehearsal will be held at 2 o'clock at the Home Demonstration office in the Agriculture building with Mrs. J. Paul Davenport as director.

This club was organized a little over three years ago and since that time they have been invited to sing on many occasions. They have been invited to sing at Achievement Day in Greenville in early November.

This club invites all members of the Home Demonstration Club in Pitt County to report at this first rehearsal. It is for old and young. The reason for holding the rehearsal in the afternoon is that probably more women could come at that time than could come at night.

This club has won one first and two second places in a contest of all the clubs in North Carolina.

All club members and non-club members are welcome. An interest in music is the only requirement.

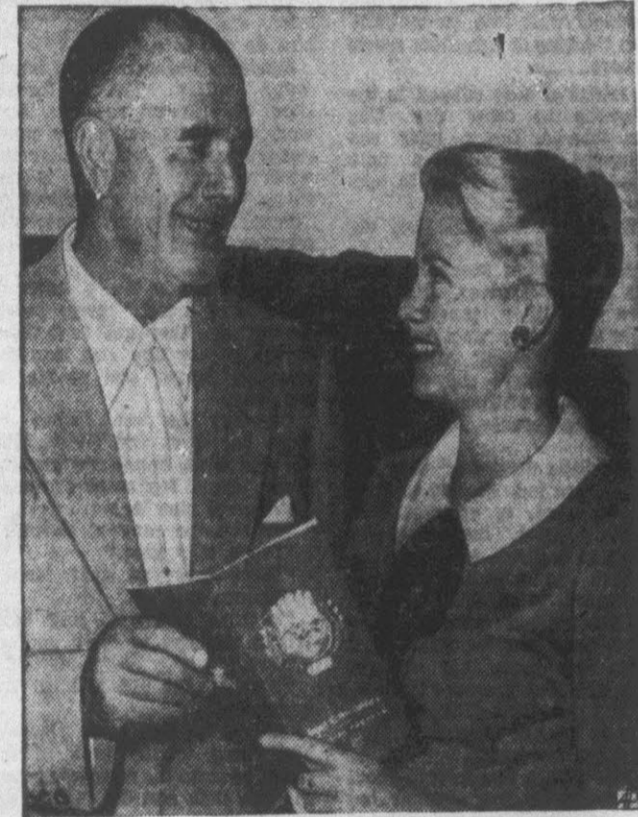

Greene County has 65 members in their Choral Club. It is the hope of the club that Pitt County will have as many.

Teen-Age Group Is Scheduled To Meet Wednesday Evening

The Sub-Teen Square Dance Club is scheduled to meet each Wednesday night from 7 until 8:30 p.m. Mrs. Frank Dudley, who is in charge of the club said today.

Meetings are being held in the recreation building at Elm Street Park. It is open to children from nine to 12 years old, according to Mrs. Dudley.

"We'd like to have a crowd for the meeting," Mrs. Dudley said.

Pactolus Store Robbed Of $30

The Paul Davenport Store at Pactolus was robbed of approximately $30 in change early Monday morning when thieves broke into a front window of the building.

Pitt County Sheriff Ruel Tyson reported that the money was contained in a cigar box in the store. He said the robbers broke a plate glass window in the front of the store to gain entrance.

The sheriff said the investigation of the robbery is continuing.

Floor Coverings Topic At HD Meet

Mrs. Lillie Little, assistant Home Demonstration agent, gave the monthly demonstration at a meeting of the Belvoir Home Demonstration Club last Thursday.

This month's demonstration is on "Smooth Surface Floor Covering."

Several reports were given by members of the club. Mrs. Wiley Clark reported on health. Mrs. R. M. Manning on citizenship. Mrs. Claude Clark on home gardening. Mrs. Ola Forrest on education, and Mrs. D. M. Hollowell on poultry. Mrs. Hollowell is club president and also the group's home poultry leader.

Mrs. Forrest's resignation as vice president of the club was accepted, and Mrs. Frank Clark appointed to succeed her.

After the business session Mrs. Little led the group in a game. A social hour followed, at which time Mrs. H. A. Moore, hostess, served the group refreshments.

Mrs. Forrest will be hostess for the October meeting.

Shooting Victim Transferred To Chapel Hill

The sheriff's department reported this morning that Joe Boyd, who was shot in the foot Sunday night, is scheduled to be transferred to the University of North Carolina Hospital today where an effort will be made to save his badly-injured foot.

Boyd received a severe injury about 6 p.m. Sunday when he was hit in the foot by a .12 gauge shot gun blast. The shooting occurred near Penny Hill.

Being held without bond in connection with the shooting is Nellie Harris of Edgecombe County. The woman was arrested and held for Pitt County authorities by the Edgecombe County sheriff's department. She is being held in Pitt County jail.

Boyd was taken to a Tarboro hospital following the shooting.

Investigating were Deputies Duke Andrews and Jasper Lee Mills.

Which Is Better Qualified To Judge?

One's reaction to any given proposition depends largely upon the way in which he views the question at hand.

There is a case in point in the cry which has been raised by several hundred citizens of the Aurora section of Beaufort County over the recent changes in their mail service. The petitioners from Aurora protested the removal of the afternoon mail service out of Washington, N. C. to their community. Presumably their protests were based on the fact they were not getting the calibre mail service they had before the Postoffice Department made recent "economy" changes.

The Postoffice Department says, however, in reply to the petition signed by the several hundred people, that the mail service is just as good as it was before.

Now who knows more about the mail service between Washington and Aurora, the people who live in that community or some postal official in the nation's capital?

Concluding a lengthy letter which explained the changes in the postal service in the area in question, Acting Assistant

Postmaster General Paul C. Leduc told Congressman Herbert C. Bonner:

"You may be assured that under the rearrangement of service in Eastern North Carolina on an overall basis service to and from offices served by star route No. 18445, Washington to Aurora, North Carolina, will be as good or better than prior to August 16, 1954, and with considerable saving to the Department."

If the new postal changes in the Washington-Aurora section are as good as the Postoffice official claims, we doubt there would have been several hundred signatures on the petitions protesting the changes in the service.

Changes in mail service probably look a lot different to the man who works them out on paper than they do to the man who depends upon the service to receive his mail.

Frankly, we are inclined to think the man who depends upon the service to get his mail daily is better qualified to judge the calibre of service than the man who sits behind a big desk in Washington, D. C. and works out the "economy" changes on paper.

Robbers Are After The "Sitting Ducks"

Robbers keep knocking off small banks in Eastern North Carolina like sitting ducks.

It is going to take more protection than local law enforcement agencies can afford to prevent a continuation of the wave of robberies which so far has swept into eight North Carolina banks this year.

Without exception, the banks which have been robbed have been located in small towns or in outlying sections of larger towns. In small towns where the police department consists of three or four men, and even in larger towns, it is virtually impossible for local officers to afford full

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SALVATION BY BOOKS?

This morning I stood in a great library containing hundreds of thousands of books. A short while later I was in a book store and browsed over the shelves containing the world's great classics now put out in such cheap editions that anyone can buy them. I thought of what a marvelous thing it is to live in a country where we can read anything we want and can express any opinion we have. It might have been interesting to live at certain periods in the past but nothing, it would seem, could equal the thrill of living in the midst of this interesting 20th century.

But another thought possessed me as I browsed over these books. If the world could be saved by knowledge, we would indeed have been saved centuries ago. Or if for any reason that salvation had been delayed, the books coming out today could certainly have converted us and saved us in wholesale lots. But of course nobody is saved by mere knowledge. No book—even the Bible—ever conferred salvation upon anybody, unless that book succeeded in leading us to the source of salvation, which is God Himself. The Holy Spirit touches our hearts and causes us to respond to His messages of salvation. We live in an age which is desperately trying to save itself by books, machines, gadgets, and great movements for social betterment. God alone is the Author and Finisher of our salvation.

American Aid Has Role In Italy

By RAY TUCKER

NAPLES—Only vast American economic aid and the tremendous influence of the Vatican on devout Italian women will keep this country from installing a pro-Communist Government within the next few years. Poverty unimaginable to Americans, living side by side with medieval wealth and display, makes Italy the most fertile soil in Europe for the Reds.

Now that France has rejected the European Defense Community Treaty, Moscow has intensified its anti-American propaganda here. Italian Reds stage nightly rallies in the wretchedly poor agricultural areas that stretch from here to the toe of the Peninsula. The walls of homes, business houses and factories are plastered with posters, rejoicing over the "death of EDC" as an "act of liberation." The Kremlin seeks to prevent Italian ratification from offsetting the French debacle.

The Communies' principal seat of power used to be in the Northern industrial cities—Milan, Turin, Verona—and they are still strong there. It was the series of strikes and government paralysis, precipitated by the Reds in the North, that led Mussolini to march on Rome in 1922, and establish his own dictatorship. Industrial improvement and U.S. help has cut down Communist strength here, although they polled 23.5 per cent of the vote in recent elections. Their maximum was 23.9 in 1946.

REDS' GAINS—In the section south of Naples, however, where living standards are notoriously low, the Communists have registered sensational gains. Their 1946 figure of 11.6 per cent has increased to 21.75 per cent. In Sardinia, it has jumped to 21.2 from 12.5. It has tripled in Sicily, rising from 7.9 to 21.8 per cent.

Meanwhile, the rightists, anti-Communist parties—Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats, the Monarchists, Neo-Fascists and lesser groups—remain almost stationary in voting strength. Since that critical year of 1946, when former President Truman and the Pope pooled forces to repel Red efforts to obtain complete control of this key, Mediterranean nation, the conservative groups have raised their 1946 total average of 20.8 to only 21.8 per cent. In local August elections, held after Russia's recent diplomatic victories, and involving more than 500,000 farmers, the Reds ran up the alarming total of 38.5 per cent of the popular vote.

Anti-Communist leaders advocate formation of a "national bloc" to combat the rising Red tide. It would consist of liberals, conservatives, Royalists and Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats. Such a combination would control about 60 per cent of the popular vote and of the seats in Parliament. It would insure a stable government pending forthcoming conferences time protection for banks.

It seems to us the banks would be wise in employing their own armed guards, particularly during this harvest season in the Eastern section when banks of necessity have to carry large quantities of currency on hand.

The bank in Rocky Mount which was robbed yesterday was in an outlying section of the city away from the main business district. It afforded easy pickings for the robbers just like many other bank branches in both large and small towns.

Even a city the size of Rocky Mount can not afford to have a policeman on duty at each of its banks from the time the banks open in the morning until they close in the afternoon. It is obvious cities of smaller size can not either.

It would not cost the banks of this section a prohibitive amount to have their own guards during this busy season. If all the banks cooperated in the effort by placing one guard on duty at each bank, we are confident it would almost eliminate bank robberies in this area.

Bank robbers are just like other thieves. They are after the easy pickings. They go after the sitting ducks and let the others alone.

Selected Shorts

MOUNT DORA, FLA., TOPIC: "The safeguard against the 'thinking' of communists, and their effort to worm their way into labor organizations, is best obtained through education of adults and youth on just what communism is, and permit its disavowal under a system of free discussion."

on revision of NATO, EDC and the Mediterranean Defense Organization.

SERIOUS CONCERN OVER COMMUNISM—The mere suggestion of such a political coalition, in view of the fierceness of factional strife in Italy, reflects the serious concern over the Communist menace from the Alps to the toe pointing to North Africa. But so far the Scelba Government has rejected the unity compromise.

It appears to be the only solution, in the opinion of Anglo-American diplomats. It looks as if President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill may have to apply a bit of economic pressure here, along with help from the Vatican's far more experienced diplomats.

The Reds' advances in this area have an especially threatening and prophetic character because Rome has concentrated major reconstruction efforts in the South since World War II. More than $1 billion has been spent or appropriated for land reform, redistribution of great estates among the peasants, and for general economic development and rehabilitation. There has been some progress, but living conditions are still pitifully low.

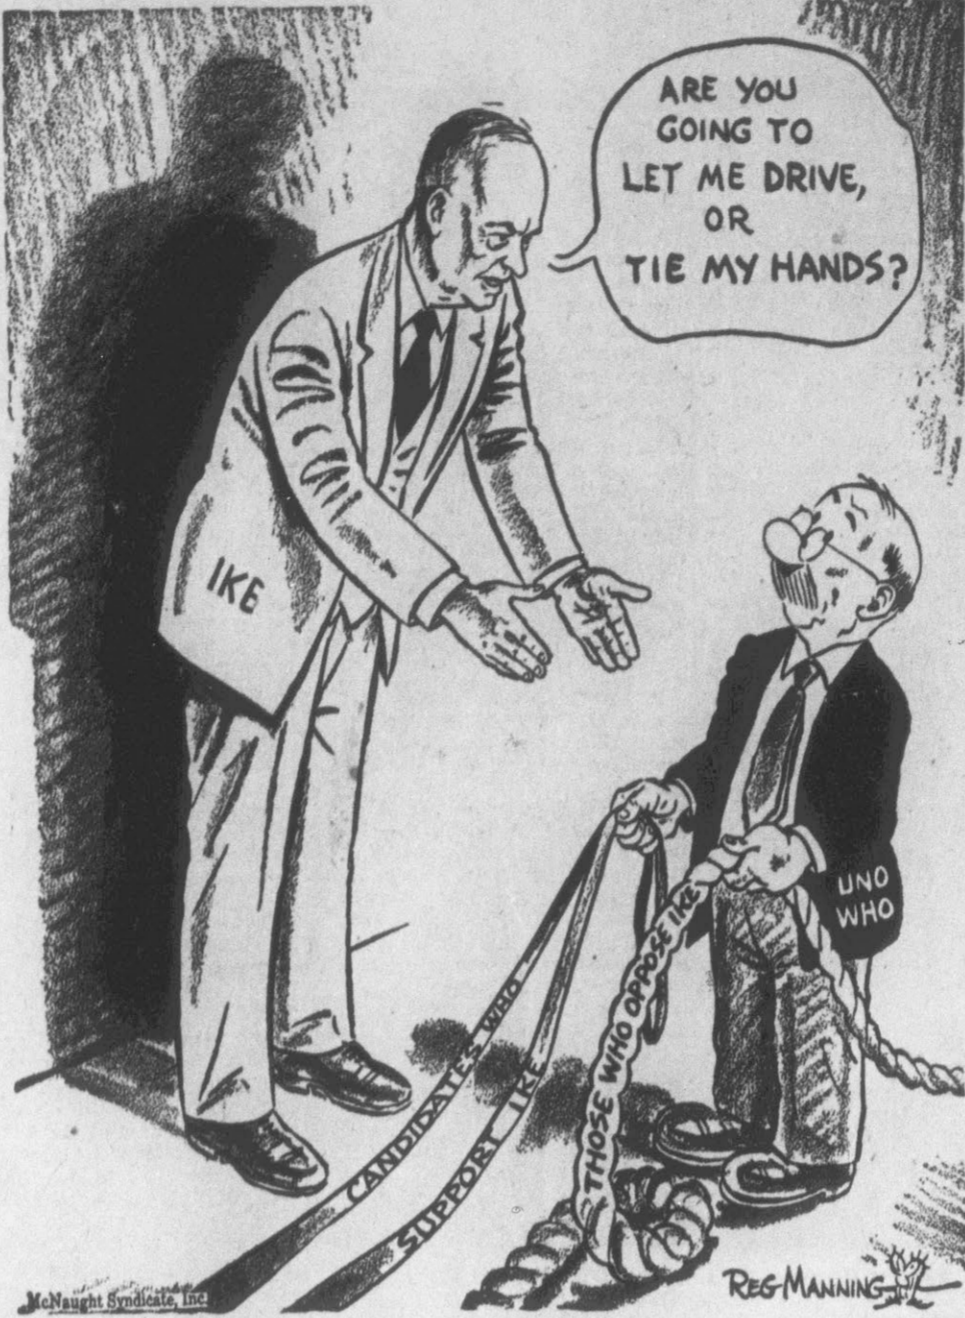

FOOD PARAMOUNT—The average Italian factory worker or farmer is not a deep student of politics or economics. His attitude on those questions is determined by bread and butter rather than ideological factors—although he never has butter on his table, and he is lucky to have bread. Neither under the, and he is lucky to have bread. Neither under the, and he is lucky to have bread.

Here are a few statistics which explain why Communism is on the march, not only in Southern Italy, but also in many other lands taken under the American Eagle's wing:

For years the annual per capita consumption of meat has averaged 8.5 pounds, whereas a medium-size, American family will eat that amount over a weekend. The yearly per capita consumption of textiles has been 5.5 pounds, and less than 5 pounds of soap. There are only six small and expensive automobiles for every 1,000 persons.

LIFE BEHIND TATTERED CURTAIN—As a rule, the average Italian has no electric lights, no running water, no sanitary facilities, no street lights, no movies, no radio, no television. He is living—or existing—behind a tattered curtain.

Save for a few hundred thousands of the 46,000,000 population, it is a bare and bleak existence. Whether the two great, anti-Red and conservative leaders—President Eisenhower and the Holy Father—can prevent Italy's surrender to Moscow may be decided within the next few months. As of today, it is only an even bet.

Somebody Told Me

Compliments Always In Style

You never can tell what good will come from saying something complimentary about somebody.

Yesterday I overheard a compliment for Mrs. R. V. Hall of Winterville. All of a sudden it occurred to me that Major Hall, formerly of the Organized Reserve Corps here, had been transferred to Germany. His wife is staying in Winterville awaiting an addition to the family.

So I called Mrs. Hall and got Bob's address, hoping that I would hear a German short-wave radio station and possibly get Mrs. Hall and Bob together on the airways.

It must have been about 9:00 yesterday morning when I talked to Mrs. Hall. At noon I swung my antenna in the direction of Germany and heard several American GI's operating stations in Germany.

So I called DIA-UU, told him that I wanted to get in touch with a Major Hall at Karlsruhe. "Just a minute," he said. He picked up the telephone, evidently Signal Corps lines running through Germany, and called another GI station, DIA-MW, alerted the station to be on the lookout for me.

"I've got a station close to the Major who'll give you a call," he said. "She'll be calling you at 14308 Kilocycles." The operator, Betty Lou, evidently a WAC, was standing by in a matter of seconds.

While this procedure was going on I was ringing Mrs. Hall in Winterville. The phone must have rung for 15 minutes with no answer. Betty Lou had better luck. She was able to get Bob on the phone in a matter of minutes.

At this point fate played a trick on us. Things were going too smoothly. Radio conditions began to fade and it got to the point that I could barely hear the station. But what did it matter? We couldn't get Mrs. Hall in Winterville for the relay of any message she might have.

So we made a schedule for today, and signed off.

Later in the afternoon I called Mrs. Hall to tell her the story. "What a shame! I was at the doctor's office and he informed me that we were going to have twins!"

If the timing had been just a little different Major Hall would have known the news almost as soon as Mrs. Hall knew it! If conditions were favorable today, he knew it only 24 hours later.

All of this was the result of someone in my presence mentioning the Halls. And the words were complimentary.

And I thank you.

JACK EDWARDS

The Voice Of The People

To The Editor,

Dear Sir:

Your timely editorial of September 7 concerning the proposed earlier closing of the Greenville Western Union office has been brought to my attention. The interest displayed by you in taking your valuable time to put this important matter before your subscribers and our customers, the good citizens of Greenville, is indeed appreciated. If our proposal contemplated the complete elimination of telegraph service during the two hours we propose to delete, as you describe in the third paragraph of your article, then we would be in full accord with your objection and further efforts to obtain approval for the earlier closing discontinued immediately.

In fact however, since we realized that Western Union operations form an integral part of the communications system in Greenville, arrangements were made with Warren's Walgreen

Agency to provide telegraph service, during the hours we propose to close, by telegraph equipment to be installed in the agency. An extension telephone will also be installed in the agency for the switching of telephone calls when the Greenville office closes. There will be no change in the telephone number.

The above arrangement will provide for the acceptance of outgoing telegrams from Greenville either by telephone or over the counter by the agency and such telegrams will be transmitted immediately after acceptance in the same manner that they are now handled through the main office.

Incoming telegrams for delivery will also be handled by the agent in the same manner that they are now being handled. That is, the agent will provide delivery by telephone to persons having access to telephone service and by mail to those persons residing within our normal Greenville deliver, limits who do not have telephone service. Telegraph additions will not be charged an additional fee when their messages are delivered by taxi within our normal delivery limits, as Western Union will pay such charges.

The earlier closing will provide the Greenville office with more help during the busy hours of the day which will result in better telegraph service being provided during the rush hours. Also, it will allow our Greenville employees more free time in the early evening for rest and relaxation.

The arrangement we propose has proven quite satisfactory in a number of cities comparable to Greenville in size and the reductions in every case have been heartily approved by the affected employees.

Our purpose in writing has not been to enter into controversy with you but rather to explain the true facts of the situation. Yours very truly,
B.G. Dopsen
Dist. Superintendent

Population Trends Are Factor In State Spending Program

By LYNN NISBET

CONFLICT—Analysis of population trends in North Carolina indicates that some 136,000 more people moved out of the State than moved in during the period from April, 1950, to July, 1953. Sponsors of the industrialization program carried on by the Department of Conservation and Development say that included in this number of out-migrants were a lot of trained specialists and experts who left because they could not find suitable work here. So, they argue, it is necessary for the State to appropriate more money to step up the industrial development in order to provide jobs and keep these trained men and women at home.

Then come the university and college folks to the advisory budget commission and ask for larger appropriations to expand facilities for training technicians—because the current supply of trained technicians cannot meet the demands of home industry, which is having to go to other States for highly skilled personnel.

That recalls the comment of a legislator some 25 years ago, who said that one session the University came with a plea for a library building, because there were thousands of valuable books piled on the floors and inaccessible for lack of library shelves. The building was authorized and constructed. And next session the same folks came back with a plea for money to buy books, because they had yards and yards of gaping empty shelves with no books for the use of students.

So it is that the job is never finished. More classrooms at colleges call for more dormitories and more students in dormitories require additional class room and laboratory equipment. Another angle to the same problem is that faced by the Port Authority. If ships are scheduled shippers will provide cargo; and if cargo is assured the ships will come. Meanwhile, the advisory budget commission and the General Assembly have the task of evaluating the betting odds as to which to provide first—books or shelves, ships or cargo, dormitories or students.

INTER-RELATED—Presentations made to the advisory budget commission by the several agencies and departments of State government have served to emphasize the inter-relationship of many of these agencies. The mental hospitals, for example, desirous of effectuating the major objective of treating and curing victims of mental illness do not want to be loaded with seniles and congenital feeble-minded who cannot be "cured." The correctional schools, charged with responsibility for taking juvenile delinquents and training them into useful citizenship, protest the commitment of morons or those slightly above the moron IQ level, who obviously cannot be rehabilitated into good citizens. The prison department protests having to carry the burden of criminally insane or mentally incompetent perpetrators of crimes against the public.

So it is that mental hospitals and correctional schools join in claims that the feeble-minded who are not susceptible to either cure or training should not be sent to their institutions. Obviously these persons are welfare clients—but welfare funds are woefully inadequate to care for them. Then comes the question of what to do with criminal insane and criminal tuberculars. Does major responsibility lie with the prison department, because they are criminal, or with the hospitals because they are mentally or physically sick?

Just as pertinent question is what degree of obligation the State owes to the menialy defective and how much of the load should be borne by families of the "patients." In that connection statistics offer no help, but serve only to further complicate the situation. Because statistics show that approximately one percent of all the people—one out of every hundred persons—is of sufficiently low mentality as to need help from somebody else.

Ideas Boosting Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER
Don't count downtown out. It's still in there slugging.
True, suburbs with the shopping centers have many central trading districts groggy. Traffic congestion, sales taxes and other uncomfortable factors in downtown shopping have helped the low rent, low-tax, fresh air aggregations of stores on the fringes of metropolitan areas.

But downtown merchants are fighting back.
In more than 100 cities, according to trade association figures, retailers have united to build parking lots and take other action to make shopping more convenient. In other cities, reduced transit fares during shopping hours have been underwritten by merchants.

Even the bitterest rivals among New York stores got together this year for a summer-long festival, dangling bargains to lure both summer vacationists and suburbanites into air-conditioned stores.

And now more than 150 retailers in Louisville have been brought together by that city's two newspapers in an integrated drive to bring shoppers back from suburban stores. They have pledged about $100,000 to finance a 52-week campaign.

Participating are banks, parking lots, garages, restaurants, theaters, transportation companies, real estate firms and service businesses, as well as downtown merchants. Backbone of the campaign consists of a full-page newspaper advertisement each week with the theme, "Downtown Louisville has everything—quality, value, selection, assortment."

Louisville merchants have been concerned about the emigration of business since 1951. A number of studies were made, and the situation compared with that in other communities. A civic committee laid plans for dealing with slum clearance, expressways, municipal bridges, traffic and parking. As a complement to these plans, it urged the newspapers to co-operate on a long-term basis and the shop-down-town campaign is one manifestation of that co-operation. The Louisville Chamber of Commerce and the Times and the Courier-Journal will be glad to exchange information with other cities.

WHOLESALE GROCERS NET 1 PER CENT, THEN PAY TAXES
Wholesale grocers made a net profit before taxes of 1.09 per cent of sales last year, an analysis by the United States Wholesale Grocers' Association shows. While this is 0.11 per cent more than in 1952, it is in keeping with the general downward trend in recent years. The net was 2.008 per cent in 1950.

Despite this narrow margin, only 7 of 119 firms surveyed showed a loss. Operating expenses were 7.34 per cent of sales, the lowest since 1948. Turnover was 10.91, the highest in the same period. Without the increase in turnover and reduction of operating expenses, few wholesalers, it seems, would have broken even last year.

DRY CLEANERS GRAB SHARE OF FUR STORAGE

Dry cleaners are important competitors for fur storage business, a survey of department stores by the Retail Fur Council shows. Two out of three stores said dry cleaners' competition hurt because every driver is a salesman for the cleaner.

The survey showed that only 34 per cent of the stores showed an increase in volume last year, 38 per cent reported a loss and the rest held their own. It also disclosed that 48 per cent of the stores have not increased their rates, despite the rise in costs of labor, rent, insurance and other factors.

Tribute To Unsung Heroines

(By SAUL PETT)
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—With a deep bow to their courage and a prayer for their peace of mind, this little tribute is dedicated to those unsung heroines who leave the safety of their homes and knowingly walk into an ambush. I'm thinking of substitute school teachers.

A friend of ours subbed in the 6th grade the other day. The class giggled. Hours later she discovered the cause—a note passed from conspirator to conspirator. It said:

"What dunk (sic) did they dig this one up from?"
Most substitute teachers these days are housewives. It's been years since they taught, even longer since they went to teachers college. Being rusty and being temporary, they are naturally unsure of themselves. The children, of course, are a big help.

"The little darlings," said our friend, "are just waiting to trick you, to taunt, to smirk, titter, connive against, confuse—particularly to confuse—to undermine, to have fun with, to exploit—particularly to exploit."

"They put out feelers. They keep testing you for weak spots to see how much they can get away with. The pressure is always on. And the worst thing you can do is to appear uncertain. That opens the floodgates."

While the sub is worrying about how she looks and whether the mob will like her, she reaches into the regular teacher's desk, feeling like an intruder. She pulls out the seating plan. Ordinarily, the troublemakers are separated. Today, she finds things changed. But each one of the sweet little liars insists that's his regular seat.

The sub writes on the blackboard. A boy in the back asks her to rewrite the fourth word. Another asks about the last word. Teacher begins to worry that her handwriting has gone to pot. Another request for a rewrite. Then a giggle. Then teacher catches on.

In the lower grades, especially, kids are contradictory. They love to break the rules. They also love to heckle the sub for not following the rules.

One day in the first grade, our friend passed out lined paper for a spelling test. A girl asked, "Should we fold the paper down the middle?" The sub studied the permanent study plan for the answer. It wasn't there.

Being cautious in her ignorance, she said brightly, "Well, how do you usually do it?"
Suddenly bedlam. Thirty throats went wild. Thirty throats about 30 different versions. And, working quietly under the diversionary storm, Johnny near the window kicks Walter in the shins. Walter tries a headlock on Tommy, and Tommy innocently brushes Helen's gym shoes off her desk.

The 1st grade has a different "king and queen" every week. As royalty, they get first, in the recess line and lead the morning prayer and pledge to the flag.

One day the sub looked up from her desk and there, with his chin in his hands and his eyes glum, was a boy staring from a distance of nine inches.

"What's the matter, Harold?"
"I'm a silly king."
"What gave you that idea?"
"Sharon said so."

"I think you're a fine king. Would you like to draw another picture?"

"No, I think I'll talk to the poly-wogs."

And with that, the solemn king went to the back of the room, pressed his nose up against the fish tank and did talk to the polywogs.

In the 2nd grade, they have a "show and tell" period, in which the kids display their proudest possessions. A girl showed a new doll. A boy exhibited a football. Another boy quietly reached into his pocket and displayed a live garter snake.

A few minutes later, trying to overcome a hump, the sub asked another young citizen where he got his new fire engine. The boy, whose father is one of the town's most prosperous merchants, answered like a machine gun.

"My father gave it to me. He got it out of a garbage can. We get everything out of garbage cans. We get food out of garbage cans and clothes and . . ."

This time teacher was saved by the recess bell.

New Proposal For German Rearmament Made By France

By CARL HARTMAN
 STRASBOURG, France, (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France goes before the European Consultative Assembly today with new proposals for binding a re-armed West Germany and Britain to France in a West European defense pact.

The French Premier unveils his plan before the deliberative branch of the Council of Europe, made up of Parliament members from the Council's 15 nations.

In advance of the Premier's speech, usually well informed sources here said his plan calls for something like this:

1. Approval of the British proposal to expand the five-nation Brussels defense alliance of France, Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg to include West Germany and Italy. The seven nations would be pledged to come to one another's aid in case of an attack.
2. This group would set limits on German rearmament as well as on the armies of the other members keep on the European continent. By limiting all the nations, the French hoped to meet the German demand for equality in any setup.
3. The European alliance would not actually control the various national armies; that job would be left to the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which includes the United States and Canada.

4. The new European alliance would not be a supranational organization like the European Defense Community which the French Assembly torpedoed. But decisions would be taken for the group by a council of representatives, on which no one nation would have a veto.

Reports from Washington said Mendes-France was ready to join the British and the Americans in bringing West Germany into the North Atlantic alliance provided Britain and the United States maintain troops on the continent for a long period and as long as satisfactory controls are put on German rearmament.

Mendes-France sent his proposals over the weekend to the six other prospective European allies as well as to the United States and Canada. The foreign ministers of all nine nations will meet in London Sept. 27 in a determined try at finding some defense arrangement to substitute for EDC.

In Washington, the State Department had no immediate comment on the French proposals but the sentiment seemed to be that they offered little if any new hope

Local Elks Join In Benefit Ball

The Greenville Elk's lodge has joined with 23 other lodges in the Carolinas for promotion of the first annual Elk's Charity Ball to be held in Charlotte next month for the benefit of cerebral palsied children.

or prize at the Oct. 16 dance Radio Center there will be a Cadillac. Thirty thousand tickets are on sale.

Roger M. Collins, exalted ruler of Greenville Lodge No. 1645, said all proceeds from the benefit dance will be used to buy and equip a mobile unit.

Staffed with physical therapists, the unit will tour various communities in the state. The therapists will train parents in the care of their cerebral palsied children.

"Interest of Elks in cerebral palsied children is not new," Collins said. "Nationally, they have contributed to the training of therapists."

In several places, the lodges work closely with United Cerebral Palsy. It is estimated the state has about 1,500 children with the disease.

Tar Heel Elks lodges participating in sale of tickets to the Charity Ball include Asheville, Brevard, Morganton, Hickory, Statesville, Winston-Salem, Reidsville, Greensboro, Salisbury, High Point, Sanford, Burlington, Lumberton, Gastonia, Shelby and Greenville.

 condition during the past two weeks. The mental hospitals want to be relieved of senile and feeble-minded who are not by any stretch of imagination susceptible to curative treatment, so that they can operate as hospitals to cure the mentally sick. The training schools want to be relieved of the custodial care of feeble-minded who are not amenable to any kind of training.

The welfare department, admitting some responsibility for these persons that hospitals and training schools want to pass off, pleads utter inability to care for them within limits of budget allocations. So it looks like hospitals and training schools must continue to waste money on hopeless cases because welfare does not have enough money to take them off their hands. That is the situation in face of the recognized fact that facilities for hospital treatment and training schools cost more than custodial care of incompetents.

The further inescapable conclusion is that the taxpayers of North Carolina are putting up a lot of money every year to relieve families of the expense of caring for members of low mentality under the guise of giving them hospital treatment or training, when it is quite obvious that neither treatment nor training will make any impression upon their condition.

Claims Pirates Set Him Adrift

TOKYO (AP)—Yoshihiko Otobu, 26, told police why he was found bruised up aboard his drifting lifeboat yesterday in Tokyo Bay.

Two knife-wielding pirates were unable to start the engines after tying him up at dockside, so they cut the hawser line in anger and left him to the mercy of the sea.

Underdog Role For Phantoms Fri.

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's Phantoms bear down this week to square off the final preparations before the Kinston game to be played in College Stadium Friday night.

The Green Phantoms enjoyed a weekend of rest while the Red Devils put up a terrific fight to upset the Raleigh Capitals 18-13. In that game the Red Devils rallied for three touchdowns in the last eight minutes of the game to win. That win makes Kinston one of the teams to beat in the Northeastern Conference picture.

The Phantoms should have their injured ready for the Kinston game. End Harold Edwards has been out of action since he hurt his shoulder before the season began. The big end may be ready for Friday night's game. Pat Sawyer played only part of the time in the Jacksonville game, but will be ready to go all the way in Friday's encounter. Halfback Mitchell Johnson sustained a broken thumb in practice last week and it is doubtful whether he will be ready for the Kinston game.

Kinston will heavily outweigh the Phantoms, but the Greenville team should have the advantage in speed. The top guns in the Kinston attack are quarterback Poo Rochelle and fullback Buddy Potter. Rochelle fired two touchdowns passes in the Raleigh win in addition to directing the team. Potter is an 197 pounder who might play end against the Phantoms.

Teams around the Northeastern Conference received a boost Friday night when the Washington Pam-Pack pulled one out of the bag in tying the New Bern Bears 14-14 at Washington.

The Bears had almost begun to be a myth instead of just another team. Other teams in the conference began to talk of the New Bern power, and hope that their team could stay within a few touchdowns of them. Washington ruined that small fantasy Friday night with a spirited performance.

At the beginning of the year everyone was talking about the 86 players Coach Joe Caruso had out for his New Bern team. When Coach Bill Kitzell of Greenville heard of the 86 squad roster he looked at the 13 players he had out then and said, "Just tell Caruso he can put only 11 on the field at a time just like the rest of us."

Trout Mystery In Missouri River

OMAHA (AP)—Who put the trout in the Missouri River?

U.S. Army Engineers are trying to solve the mystery because no one previously has seen trout in the muddy Missouri.

The trout, all beauties — the largest weighed four pounds and measured 21 inches — were pulled out below Randall Dam in South Dakota.

One theory is the fish might have come from the Niobrara River which runs into the Missouri at the Nebraska-South Dakota border, that the Missouri and traveled some 50 miles upstream.

Pirates Prepare For Lenoir Rhyne Battle Saturday

Coaches Jack Boone, Jim Mallory, and Earl Smith took the East Carolina Pirates inside yesterday afternoon for movies of last year's Lenoir Rhyne game and held a lengthy chalk talk on the West Chester loss.

Boone said today that Little All-America candidate David Lee suffered a strained knee in the game Saturday night and will probably miss the Lenoir Rhyne clash this weekend.

Closer inventory of the squad revealed Boyd Webb sustained a badly bruised hip, but should be ready for duty, though maybe limited. Co-captain Willie Holland received a bruised knee. He will be ready barring agitation this week, Boone said. Fullback Bobby Gay is limping slightly with a bruised leg, but is expected to be okay in time for the game.

Last night, the Buc coaching troupe sent the Pirates through a light workout under the lights. Work on offensive plays and line blocking came in for much attention.

Boone said that Lenoir Rhyne has a good, young ball club. "They'll give us a good ball game," he commented.

With one of their biggest games of the year coming up Friday night with the Kinston Red Devils, the Greenville Phantoms were stopped from outdoor drilling by the rain yesterday afternoon. The Phantoms went through a skull drill while the storm was coming down.

While the G-men could have used the afternoon to good advantage if it had not been raining, the day was not entirely lost.

According to the sports experts around Raleigh and other leading newspapers, Kinston and New Bern are the only two teams in the Northeastern Conference. In the high school roundup section praise is heaped upon New Bern for defeating Wilmington, which is an unusual feat; and Kinston for its thrilling win over Raleigh, a team that might not win a game all year. The Red Devils certainly received a lot of publicity from the 40-6 win over Contentnea two weeks ago. Those two teams were about as evenly matched as a Greenville High School varsity vs. Greenville Little League All-stars game would be.

Other terms in the Northeastern Conference may push their way into the limelight before the season is over. Washington upset mighty New Bern with a 14-14 tie Friday night, in a game that left all the sports writers moaning because their "dream team" had been scarred.

News around the Greenville and Washington area has it that those two schools will be pulling some more of these scarring jobs. When

Oklahoma First In AP Ratings

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of Oklahoma, ranked first behind Notre Dame in pre-season forecasts, reigned today as the No. 1 college football team in the country pending returns from all the precincts.

Sad Bud Wilkinson's Sooners, who crushed California 27-13 in their opener, were alone at the top of the first weekly Associated Press poll of the season. The nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave them 56 first-place votes, good for 789 points.

Notre Dame, which will get its baptism of fire under Terry Brennan against Texas Saturday, was ranked second with 613 points. The Irish were followed, in order, by Maryland, Texas, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Michigan State, UCLA, Mississippi, Baylor and Wisconsin — the latter two tied for tenth.

Georgia Tech, which was sixth in the pre-season poll moved past Illinois, which hasn't played yet, on the basis of its crushing 26-6 victory over Tulane. That was the only change of any importance over the pre-season poll.

Backward Look As Season Closes

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants open the World Series in the Polo Grounds a week from tomorrow as the flags in Florida probably are flying at half mast.

For the first time since baseball magnates became convinced their athletes would be better conditioned for the 154-game grind with the help of warm sun and palm trees in the early spring, Florida doesn't have a World Series entry.

The Indians and Giants shunned the orange juice circuit for the sun's and sun of Arizona. With only the Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles around for major league companions, the two clubs played each other often enough to know the players by heart.

On their barnstorming tour back to the majors the Giants whipped the Indians 13 times in 21 games, often by such scores as 20-14 or 13-9.

Al Lopez flatly predicted a pennant for his Indians and made good as of last Saturday. Now he's after a new all-time high in victories.

Leo Durocher said he never made predictions, then quickly

Palmer May Join Pro Ranks Soon

Arnold Palmer, the new United States amateur golf champion, is toying with the idea of joining the pros on the winter golf trail. This follows the usual pattern of winners of the national amateur. That's one of the reasons for a new champion just about every year. It's been a long time since an amateur king hung around long enough to successfully defend his crown. An exception was Lawson Little.

Little returned to defend the British and American amateur championships he won in 1934, and retained his crown in both instances. Little played some amazing golf as he waded through the four fields of competitors in successive years. He established himself as one of the greatest match players the amateur ranks have produced.

Every year, when the British amateur golf title tournament is staged, someone is bound to recall Little's amazing performance in the 1934 final at Prestwick when he trounced Jim Wallace with a record-breaking 14 and 13 triumph. The partisan gallery so riled up the 22-year-old Little that he fairly burned up the ancient Scottish course. Little shot the first nine holes in 33 and was six up. Another 33 on the second nine put him 12 up. He scorched the first five holes of the second round, 3-3-4-3-3, and the one-sided slaughter was over. Little had taken 82 strokes for 23 holes. Even Lawson Little never expects again to shoot such a blazing stretch of golf.

WARM-UP — This 76-pound snapper, taken by Gerald White of Dexter, Mich., while practicing, would have won championship if caught during spear-fishing tournament, Miami Beach.

SPORTS SHOTS

by Bruce Phillips

HANGING OUT THE WASH: West Chester's 6-4 baseball score win over the Pirates Saturday night was a simply partisan on the part of Dame Fortune.

The breaks just weren't going East Carolina's way.

To illustrate: 1. Buc Halfback Emo Boado squeezed through right tackle in the final period for an apparent Pirate tally, only to have the play snafued by an off-sides penalty.

2. Tackle Charlie Smith rode through the Rams line late in the third period to swat down Joe Chibbert's punt. The pigskin, making like a bar of soap in the bathtub, slipped around in the end zone and finally out. Had an ECC player collared the leather, it would've spelled touchdown.

3. West Chester Fullback Lee Royer, standing in wait of a Pirate punt in the third quarter, saw Buc defenders bearing down on him and at the last moment let the ball go. From the stands, it looked like the ball hit his leg, but officials declared otherwise. Several ECC linemen covering the ball after it rolled some 20 feet past the safety man said the pigskin struck Royer's leg.

Coach Jack Boone's commentary: "It was the best game I have seen here in many a year. It was a situation of two evenly matched teams, both with the same system, feeling each other out like a couple of boxers, and waiting for the breaks."

Elsewhere around the North State Appalachian, beginning the season with unexpected vigor, took the No. 1 position with a sound 19-6 trouncing of Guilford Saturday night. The impetuous Mountaineers reduced Guilford's offense to a ripple. Quarterback Ned Pennell's 65-yard TD dash on the third play from scrimmage ignited a spark that the Quakers could never quite extinguish.

Lenoir Rhyne, the Pirates' foe this weekend, ran roughshod over Newport News Apprentices 32-0. The Bears used mostly freshmen in the second half after Fullback Billy Eanes and company piled up a safe lead. Newporter Bill Ackland tailback, is the talk of the squad. Reports say he's got it.

Catawba's Indians were jolted 32-0 by a potent Wolford eleven. Good news, though, to Coach Clyde Biggers, was the impressive showing of Fullback Harold Carter. The lean pass-run-kick expert was Catawba's one-man offense in '52 before sustaining a leg injury. The infliction has hampered him since, but his performance in the Indians' first two games indicate he's fully recovered.

Tom Young, Western Carolina's mentor must be ready to trade valuables for an extra-point kicker. For the sixth time since 1953, that point after had decided the outcome of a game against the Catawbas, this time 7-6 for Carson-Newman.

Elon's Sid Varney let his Christians sit out Saturday's wars. They make their debut against The Citadel this weekend.

North State action gets into high gear this Saturday with Appalachian meeting West Carolina, East Carolina taking on Lenoir Rhyne, Catawba going against Newberry, and Elon battling The Citadel. Guilford has an open date.

Trouble From Vishinsky As U. N. Begins Sessions

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Andre Vishinsky can be relied on to make as much trouble as possible among the Western Allies in the United Nations General Assembly which opens its ninth regular session today in New York.

Since the Allies already are having plenty of trouble on their own, centered around the problem of rearming West Germany, anything Vishinsky accomplishes in the way of dissension will be just extra gravy for the Russians.

Vishinsky who keeps coming back as Russia's delegate to the U. N. no doubt will try to split the United States a little further from its friends on the subject of Red China by making a pitch to get the Communist Chinese seated in the world organization and the Nationalist Chinese ousted.

The British recognize the Communists as the legitimate government of China. The United States is tied to the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa.

But, since the British will go along for postponement for a while, the United States should be able to block U. N. action on Red China this year. Sooner or later, perhaps in 1955, it must face a showdown.

Vishinsky will probably talk disarmament again, but not with a plan this country would accept. The United States may offer an extension of President Eisenhower's proposal of last year for a world pool of atomic materials for peace.

And before it's over this U. N. session may disclose how much, if any, this country's influence among its friends has declined. But meanwhile the major problem of this country and its friends will be in Europe: Germany.

After addressing the U. N., Secretary of State Dulles hopes to leave Saturday for a London conference called for next Tuesday by British Foreign Secretary Eden. Nine Western powers will discuss letting the Germans have guns again. Those attending will be the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Italy, West Germany, and the three Benelux countries—Belgium, Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

In mid-October the United States and the other nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), will meet in Paris to discuss the same problem. No solution is in sight yet.

The United States and Britain wanted to see a re-armed Germany in a single European army with the French, Italians and the Benelux countries.

The Allies had agreed that once a single army was created and Germany became a part of it, Germany would regain her sovereignty, which she doesn't have now. The United States, Britain, and France, with their occupation troops in Germany, keep their thumb on the government of Chancellor Adenauer.

The French stalled for two years dreading the thought of a rearmed Germany and fearing the Germans eventually would control a single army. Finally the French Assembly scuttled the whole idea. Western defense plans were shot to pieces. Adenauer began demanding full sovereignty.

Now Western officials are seeking a plan on which all can agree for restoring arms and sovereignty to Germany. Here are some of the main questions which reveal the Allies' dilemma:

Should Germany have full sovereignty? If she's rearmed should there be strict controls on how much rearming she does? Should there be limits on how much rearming any of the Allies can do? Will Britain and the United States make promises to France that they will never let the Germans get into a position of attacking or dominating France?

Only one thing is clear: Western defenses against Russia are weak so long as Germany is unarmad.

JOINED 'EM
 FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Wolfgang E. Goettig, a former member of the German Army, was captured by the Americans in World War II. Now a citizen of the United States and a resident of Trenton, N. ## WNCT - TV Schedule

Beginning Wednesday evening in the 5:30 to 6:00 spot television station WNCT will carry filmed highlights of games the previous Saturday of Duke University. The entire Duke schedule of games both at home and away will be featured.

The Duke highlights will be a condensed film of the game in order to give WNCT viewers the most significant plays.

World's Series
 Although it has not yet been determined whether the World's Series will begin on September 28th or 29th, arrangements have been made for WNCT to televise the entire series.

Professional Football
 Next week the schedule of the best of the pro games to be carried by WNCT will be announced. Negotiations are underway to bring Saturday games to WNCT in addition to the Sunday pro schedule, but plans are not complete.

Daylight Time Going Out
 Effective Sunday Daylight Saving Time will be discontinued and most of the WNCT schedule will be affected. Station officials urge WNCT viewers to watch the schedules for time changes.

Red Pilot Who Collected $100,000 For MIG Enrolls At Delaware Univ.

By VERN HAUGLAND
NEWARK, Del. (AP) — Kenny No, the former Communist pilot who flew a MIG jet fighter from behind Korea's Bamboo Curtain a year ago—and collected a $100,000 reward—enrolled this week as a freshman at the University of Delaware.

From Gen. Mark Clark, the man responsible for the award, came hearty congratulations.

"He's doing the right thing," Gen. Clark told the Associated Press by telephone from Charleston, S.C., where he heads the military school, The Citadel.

"It's wonderful that he is using the money wisely—and I am sure he has good advice."

"He has seen communism—knows what it is to have to live under it. I send him my warm regards and wish him all kinds of success."

The world's most unusual college freshman lined up with 575 other beginners at registration desks Wednesday, in this quiet college town.

He donned the blue-and-gold Class-of-'58 "pinkie" cap which freshmen traditionally have been required to wear on or off the campus.

And he moved into one of the ivy clad red brick "tosh" dormitories overlooking the university's pleasant, tree lined lawns. As a freshman, he may not own or drive an automobile. He'll learn about other undergrads' limitations as he goes along.

At his dormitory the huskily built, broad faced 22-year-old Korean was found in typically collegiate slacks and sport shirt. He was polite, agreeable—and reticent. He lived up well to the "No" part of his name. No pictures, no story, no comment.

"I wish very much to be considered as any other student," No said. "I don't like for people to read about me and see my face in the newspapers. So I would rather not talk if you are a writer."

The young Korean lieutenant flew into fame by delivering to the U.S. Air Force its first complete and undamaged MIG at Kempo Airfield near Seoul Sept. 21 1953. He said at the time that he had known nothing of the $100,000 reward.

No said his some purpose then was to "come to a free country because over years I long to be free."

Gen. Clark, as U.N. commander in chief in Korea, had offered $100,000 to the first Red pilot to bring in a MIG, and $50,000 for later ones.

Some persons argued that since the Korean fighting had ended before No made his escape, the reward no longer applied.

Clark from Charleston, said he felt No was entitled to the reward. "There was nothing in the offer about an armistice intervening," he said.

Clark also said that although he had given the matter no thought, there really was no reason why No couldn't have enrolled at The Citadel instead of Delaware—except possibly for the language difficulty.

"We have cadets from South America, and we can provide assistance in Spanish—but we have no one here who speaks Korean," he said.

When No waiting in Okinawa, decided he wished to use part of his new fortune for a college education, the State Department canvassed the field and sent him literature on the four best prospects—one university from each geographical area.

No chose Delaware, with its 1,900-student enrollment and its location in a town of 10,000, because he wished to go to a smaller school, in a smaller town. Newark has one main business street a few blocks long, one theater, no large stores.

John E. Hocutt, dean of students said the college authorities decided at the start that the young man must first build up his knowledge of English.

Accordingly, No lived on the Delaware campus six weeks the past summer, "auditing" a summer school course in English. Then he went to Columbia University, New York City, for a special course in English for foreign students. In that course, the students lived together spoke nothing but English.

Hocutt had several letters from No, and they showed definite improvement. No also adopted the westernized form for his name. Until recently he was known as No Kum-Sok. Now, in a clear flowing script, he signs his name, Kum Suk No. It took less than a week on the Delaware campus last summer for him to acquire the nickname Ken, or Kenny. To his professors he is Mr. No.

Asked his preference in studies, Ken surprised his mentors by wishing to major in political science.

"His educational background—his training in advanced chemistry and physics and mathematics—points toward engineering," Hocutt said.

The upshot has been registration in arts and sciences—a fairly light course chosen because language difficulties may make a given task about three times as difficult for him as for an American. In his sophomore year No may be able to decide which way his training shall go—to engineering or to political science.

The Korean is fond of sports, especially soccer which is played at football-famous Delaware. His classmates fear he may be so busy hitting the books, however, that they may not see much of him on the athletic fields.

The university has had a number of Asiatic students, most of them in its graduate schools. It also has a few Negro students, having adopted a nonsegregation policy about 10 years ago. One of the nation's venerable institutions its roots go back to 1743—it has been coeducational since 1940. It has no aviation department.

Kenny says he has done no flying of late has no idea when or if he will pilot a plane again. He received his advanced and jet flight instruction from Russian pilots in Manchuria, and has said that more Russian than North Korean pilots were flying for the Communists in the Korean War. In contrast to the Communist system from which he fled No in the United States has become more than a little of a capitalist. His $100,000 has been placed in a trust fund administered by a Pacific Coast law firm.

From this fund he has set up a bank account, from which he pays his student fees, board and room charges and other costs. Few of his classmates have such an assured and sizable income.

A Washington attorney, appointed by the State Department as his counsel, has advised him not to talk to reporters, because of "a couple of contracts" for magazine articles.

Asked how his writing for a magazine with huge circulation fitted in which his wish to shun publicity. No explained, "that won't come out for a while yet. By that time it won't matter so much."

Olivia Back In Town; But Only For Movie

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Olivia De Havilland is back in town, but only to make a movie. She'll make Paris her regular residence after her marriage to Pierre Gallante.

"Pierre is an executive of Paris Match, the popular French magazine, and his duties keep him there," says Olivia. "Although my home will be in Paris, I'll make pictures in England, France, Italy, Spain — and Hollywood."

"You forget that I was born in Japan," she replied. "Of course I grew up here and I do miss the weather. You forget how good it is while you're away. You say, 'Oh, it's foggy all through June and I've seen Aprils when you didn't even see the sun.'"

"But when you come back, you realize how fabulous the weather is. Human beings adjust to wherever they are and I must say there's no finer place to become adjusted to than Paris. It is an absolutely wonderful place and my son Benjie loves it as much as I do."

Olivia is here to play the nurse's role in the medical saga, "Not as a stranger." I saw her after she made tests for the film, and she was in white gown and cap, ready for surgery. She showed me a pile of rubber gloves, needles, scalpels, etc., which she is learning to handle under the instruction of a registered nurse.

"We're going into surgery tomorrow," Olivia said with anticipation. She explained that she, Frank Sinatra and others on the picture would be allowed to witness an operation.

Olivia said her forthcoming marriage will take place some time after the picture is finished. Gallante will meet her here in December. The marriage would have taken place sooner except that French law required a nine-month wait after her divorce.

Before the deadline, she got in-

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out

This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the cleaner-burning super-fuel

Instead of trying to fight trouble-making deposits with so-called "miracle-additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place. That's why Gulf, in making new Super-Refined NO-NOX, refines out the carbon-forming, "dirty-burning tail-end"—more than a cupful in every gallon. Just look at the plates the Gulf scientist is holding in the unretouched photo above, and see what a difference Gulf super refining makes!

Now—Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. Result: a cleaner-burning super-fuel that gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power . . . free from knock or pre-ignition.

Starting with your first tankful, this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- ▶ More complete engine protection than the so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. Why? Because Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline, the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines—and then treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties. It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits—carbon, rust, gum.
- ▶ Extra gas mileage. Why? Because new

NO-NOX is specially blended for the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

- ▶ No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's super-compression engines. Why? Because the anti-knock power of new NO-NOX has been stepped up to an all-time high.

- ▶ Stall-proof smoothness—no more worries about carburetor icing in chilly weather or vapor lock on warm days. Instant starts, too—and fast, fuel-saving warm-up.

That's why new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX gives you more power-with-protection than you've ever known.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX
MORNING came presently, with somebody sliding a mop under Penn's bed and a thermometer being pushed between her lips by a vague hand.

Then Kelly was there, with snowflakes on her furs and her cheeks bright with cold.

"Back to civilization again, I see," Kelly said. "You're having a little broth this morning, they tell me. They were afraid of internal injuries at first but you escaped. You were lucky."

Penn could think more clearly now, and abruptly a stark memory stiffened her. "Uncle Ellhu!" she gasped. "He was hurt, too?"

Kelly's voice came with a kind of careful calm. "It's all right, Penn. Just get well and don't worry."

"But I saw blood!" Penn persisted, desperately trying to lift her head, trying to cry out but almost instantly the nurse was back again and the needle stung her arm.

"It's imperative that you keep quiet, Penn. You'll be better in a few days, then we can talk." They were hiding something from her. Suddenly she knew what it was—Gill! G. was dead, and they were trying to keep her from knowing. A horrible loneliness pressed her in the shivered and was afraid, and was childishly glad when, very late, Marsh Nichols came in again.

He said, "Hello. Mother sent you a note. She gave me orders not to read it, I'll put it here on your pillow."

"My eyes—they won't work right." Penn began to cry thinly. "That will all clear up; no real damage, they tell me."

"Marsh, I have to know—"

His fingers rested softly on her lips. "All you have to know now is that you're going to be all right. In a few days they'll let you go home, good as new. Go to sleep now, or that night nurse will give me the devil."

When he was gone she reached a hand up weakly, groping for the note. Weakly she fumbled it open, but the few lines sawn before her eyes and tears ran down her temples into the pillow. The aloof person whose face she had never seen quite clearly, came in next and took the note out of her hand.

"I can't see it," Penn whispered.

"Want me to read it to you?"

"No—oh, no!"

"All right, I'll put it in this drawer here in the table. But you calm down, sister if you don't want another hypo. Doctor said no more unless you get fractious, so don't get fractious."

"I'll be quiet," Penn sighed obediently.

Tomorrow, perhaps, she would be better. Tomorrow she would have the truth. But when Kelly came in in the gray of winter morning, a wining dread held Penn back. She could not ask. There was some mystery, but her instinct told her that whatever it was was grim, and she was not strong enough yet to bear it.

Kelly said brightly: "Food today. Then you'll get well fast."

"Is this Tuesday?"

"Tuesday. You've been here four days. But you can go home before long."

"Tuesday." She could think now, add two and two in her mind. "The second of December! Quincy's wedding day!"

"They put the wedding off till you're better, darling. Now stop worrying and rest so that time will come soon."

Penn's voice was a peevish whirr. "Everybody says that. Stop worrying—let it be—let it be—nobody tells me anything—nobody comes but you Kelly."

"I'm back in town now, so it's handy for me." The effort to be casual was evident in Kelly's tone and Penn's ears, sharpened by anxiety, caught it the evasion, the studied casualness. "I had to stay in town because the weather has been bad. We had a blizzard over the week-end. You missed it."

Kelly was putting on a show. Penn, angry, tried to lift her head, but there an instant crackling pain that seared her eyeballs and made her gasp for breath. She heard the nurse come in, heard the scolding, heard Kelly protesting.

"She's worrying too much. Penn's an intelligent person; I'm not sure we're doing right."

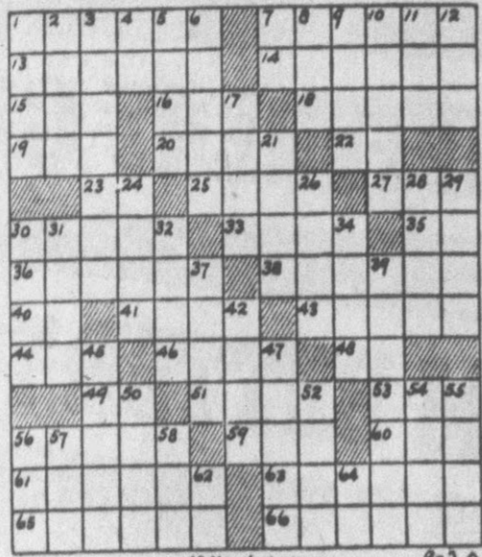

"Doctor's orders. Here, swallow this, sister. Can't have you flopping around this way."

Penn tried to scream out that Gill was dead, lost at the bottom of the sea, but there was no breath in her and her lips parted only to receive a capsule that she could not swallow, even with water. It dissolved bitterly on her tongue and sickened her but after a little it was gone and the green walls receded again and morning, too, dissolved, melting into dusk.

Then abruptly she was sharply awake her mind clear. The stupid heavily. "But it's no good—for you Penn. No good at all. You'll do well to forget it."

"If you do love me you'll tell me the truth—about Gill—a bout whatever it is they're hiding from me!" she cried passionately. "You won't let me lie here—imagining things—torn to pieces—"

"Easy, sweet!" he spoke softly, and touched her lips with cool fingers. Then suddenly he kissed her groping hand and was gone.

Seasonal Upturns Are Appearing In Business

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Business hopefully feels its pulse today and thinks it feels a quickening.

The seasonal signs of upturn are beginning to appear, even if some of them are still a little pale around the gills.

If you're an optimist, but don't look for any runaway boom, you can count these blessings and promises:

Fresh losses of jobs have shrunk noticeably since Labor Day. Employment hasn't perked up much, but there are fewer new recruits to the ranks of the unemployed.

The auto industry will furnish a flurry of layoffs in upcoming weeks as factories retool for new models. But the Detroit story is brightened by the promise of spirited activity in the closing weeks of the year.

Steel mills report some increase in new orders. They are far from swamped by the volume. But it's a gain, welcome after a long dull summer. And steel executives say they can sight better days ahead, just as soon as the auto companies get going on their new models and start chomping up their steel supplies.

Bank loans to business have finally registered an increase—to the relief not only of bankers but of those economists who regard the volume of business borrowing as a sign of its health.

The gain is tardy in coming and is feeble compared with the usual demand of business for credit at this time of year. But last week food processors, dealers in commodities and textile firms began borrowing more in anticipation of good fall and winter business.

Other industries are also beginning to go to the banks for loans. They need the credit to carry supplies and to finance production of the good which consumers are expected to buy between now and Christmas.

Back-to-school buying has been good this month, the stores report.

Furniture sales are improving at retail—as row on row of new homes go up around the country. The National Retail Furniture Assn. is predicting that furniture manufacturers will be getting a good volume of re-orders for the rest of this year.

Stock market traders count their blessings, too. September has a sour reputation for breaks in stock prices. But the market slid through the first two weeks after Labor Day with timorous gains and finally managed to edge above the year's high it established in August.

RENT'S MIGHTY HIGH
MANCHESTER, Conn. (AP)—The Army-Navy Club has discovered that it owes 10 years rent. It leased the club from the town, but once the lease was signed nobody bothered about the agreed rental price — $1 a year.

More Korea Dead Are Returned

SEOUL (AP)—The Communists today returned the bodies of 132 Americans and 68 of unknown nationality for a total of 3,900 in the Korean armistice exchange of war dead.

In 17 deliveries, the United Nations has returned the bodies of 1,300 Chinese, 7,000 North Koreans and 600 unknown for a total of 8,900.

POETIC TRUTH
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sign in a local hotel announcing the acquisition of a new parking lot was headed: "Parking is such street narrow."

hysteria had gone and she was ashamed, recalling it. She reached for the call button, and it was answered by a strange girl in blue, who came in half timidly.

"You want something?"

"A letter. In that drawer."

It took Penn a long time to read the three thin lines Sara Nichols had written.

"This foolish, stubborn boy still loves you. So do I. Be good and patient and God will give you happiness, Sara Nichols."

"Love letter?" asked the little aide.

"No—yes—no. From an old friend. A woman friend. Tear it into little bits and destroy it."

When Kelly came again the doctor was with her, and they both wore a purposeful air. When her blood pressure was taken and the doctor had examined her bruises, made her move her eyes and directed a beam of light into them, he folded up his apparatus and stood back with a shrug.

"Three more days," he said. "We will continue." He seemed to be speaking sternly to Kelly. "Have absolute quiet for three more days. Then we'll see."

"This mental anxiety—" began Kelly.

"Sedatives—if she gets upset, I'll leave the order."

Penn dragged up furious words. "Something is very wrong and you are all telling me lies!" she hurled at them.

"Nothing is wrong with you, young lady, that won't be right if you obey orders," snapped the doctor.

They left her alone again with the dim light and the green ceiling, and hours seemed to pass before Marsh Nichols slipped in and laid a white rose on her pillow. She reached for it, laid it against her cheek, but it had no odor.

"Lula's Christmas rose," he said. "It blooms in the house. No perfume. It bloomed early this year."

She said desperately, "Marsh, they're keeping something from me."

He took her hand and gently rubbed her fingers. "I just work

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was mixed today in the early afternoon, with prices moving narrowly.

Changes out of a fractional range either way were unusual. Some gains went past a point, and a higher tendency was noticeable at times.

Trading was slow. The pace was less than two million shares for the day. That compares with 2,000,000 shares traded in yesterday's backward market.

There was little in the overnight news to stimulate the market, and most key stocks marked time.

Higher among major divisions were steel aircraft coppers, oils, chemicals, and rubbers. Lower were farm implements, railroads, and utilities. Others were steady.

Pacific Mills was sharply ahead between 3 and 4 points, and also higher were Barber Oil, Royal Dutch Petroleum, Union Carbide, Bethlehem Steel, Boeing, Philco, Olin Mathieson Chemicals, Raytheon, and Bristol Myers.

Lower were Southern Railway, American Airlines, Consolidated Edison U. S. Steel International Harvester, and Allied Chemical.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—Central North Carolina poultry markets: Fryers and broilers barely steady, farm price 22 1/2, L. B. plant price, few sales at 23 1/2; Raleigh eggs steady, A large 50.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady at 22; eggs steady, A large 42-45.

No Ticket For Sleeping Driver

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A policeman, with a soft heart, started to write an overtime parking ticket here yesterday, then took another look at the driver, obviously fagged out and asleep at the wheel.

He put his pencil in his pocket, took out a nickel, inserted in the meter and walked away.

The driver snoozed on.

Pin Ball Racket's Popular In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Pachinko a Japanese vertical pin ball game named for the sound of the ball, does more business in Japan than the department stores.

Pachinko parlors throughout Japan report they take in 42 million dollars a month while Japanese spend 35 million dollars a month in department stores.

Radioactive Rain Falls On Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Radioactive rain, contaminated by recent Russian A-bomb tests, fell Saturday in northern Japan, the newspaper Asahi said today. The radioactivity was far below the danger level.

Russia announced last week it had completed a new series of A-bomb tests.

Strip Tease Dance In Japan Theaters Not Popular Now

TOKYO (AP)—The number of striptease shows, a postwar fad in Tokyo, has shrunk from 14 to 8, a survey showed today. Sponsors immediately canceled plans for a new luxury theater.

Observers attributed the decline in popularity to the Japanese dancers' tendency to accentuate the strip instead of the tease.

Japanese Films To Feature 'Kamikaze'

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese movie makers are hard at work on films based on the kamikaze or suicide attack corps of World War II, the Japan News said today.

Two films based on Japan's role in the war are nearing completion and a third is ready for production.

Tokyo Police Nab Dangerous Suspect

TOKYO (AP)—Kyodo News Service today reported the arrest of a young man who was quoted as saying he planned to kill Prime Minister Yoshida unless he abandoned plans to leave on a world tour Saturday.

The man was identified by Kyodo as Toshiyuki Maruyama of Kobe.

British Railways claim to be the busiest in the world, operating daily 40,000 passenger trains, transporting nearly three million passengers and one million tons of freight.

Cases Heard In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of 22 cases, only eight of them involving motor vehicle or traffic law violations.

Henry Lee Selby, Negro, assaulting Herbert Barrow with a deadly weapon (shotgun), 60 days on the road, sentence suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that Selby shall be of good conduct for a year and that the gun be confiscated and sold.

The court taxed Selby with court costs in a drunk and disorderly case and a discharging firearms in the city case.

Arthur Williams, Negro, assaulting Morit Jenkins, Negro, with a deadly weapon (knife), 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs.

Drunk: Jesse J. Kinney, Negro case not pressed. James E. Clemmons, Negro, (and disorderly), $15; Joe Frank Barrett, Negro, 30 days or pay $10; James Moore, Negro, (and disturbing the peace), $10; Willie E. Harper, Negro, (and disorderly), 30 days or pay costs; Robert Gaskins, (and disorderly), 30 days, or pay $10. The court ordered Gaskins to move away from his sister's home; Gray T. Hardee, (and disorderly), 30 days in jail or pay $15.

Charis O. Windham paid court costs for having improper brakes. Jack Nobles, 215 Cotanche Street, was found not guilty of non-support.

The court found Elizabeth Hines, Negro, guilty of larceny of a pocketbook, from Annie Lee Harper, Negro, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and $13 to Annie Lee Harper, Negro.

Herman C. Everett, failure to stop at a stop sign, case not pressed. Donald C. Grant, paid court costs for speeding.

Herbert Floyd and Jesse J. Small, Negroes, damages to city property, each 30 days or pay court costs and they are to behave for a year.

Assault: Al Joseph Randolph and Mack Harris, Negroes, case against Randolph was not pressed. Harris was given 30 days, suspended on payment of $20 to a physician for treatment of injuries. Harris gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Louise Whichard, Negro, possession of non-tax paid whiskey, six months in jail, suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted. The court placed her on probation for five years. The order provides that she is not to possess any intoxicating beverages, remain of good behavior and provide a Christian home for her son, Wilbert.

Wilbert Gay, assault on a female, 30 days or pay $25, costs deducted, and he is not to harm Nannie Lee Wilson.

Father Of Two Killed In Wreck

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP)—A 23-year-old father of two children was killed in an automobile wreck as he and a companion were returning home last night to Burlington from night school classes at nearby Elon College.

John W. Wright, the passenger, was killed. James Wood, also 23, was treated for minor injuries and released from a hospital. Police arrested him and charged him with manslaughter and careless and reckless driving. They said his car hit a power pole in West Burlington.

Greenville Minister's Father Dies Monday

SPEED—Rufus J. Johnson Sr., 68, well known Edgecombe county citizen, died early yesterday. He is the father of Rev. Harvey E. Johnson, minister of First Pentecostal Holiness Church in Greenville.

Funeral services will be held at Tarboro Pentecostal Holiness Church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. Harvey Morris, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery in Tarboro.

District Governor Addresses Lions Club

A ten year perfect attendance chevron was presented to Henry M. Swayne, past president of the Greenville Lions Club.

An award in recognition of service as secretary of the club was given to R. K. Worsley.

The out-of-town guests attending last night's Regional Meeting were: Zone Chairmen Cecil B. Lamm of Wilson, Jessie J. Sprull of Washington and W. E. Rasberry of Grifton; and club officers Carl Aycock of Lucama, Till Chaucey of Ayden, Chuck Kline of Grifton, J. M. Worrell of Swan Quarter, Joe C. Williams of Swan Quarter, Hobert Brown of Washington and Bill Jackson of Washington.

Other guests at the meeting were: Dr. Jack Watters and Dr. Charles Adams of Greenville.

Service League Will Help With Bloodmobile

Greenville Service League will again enlist volunteers to serve at the Bloodmobile reception center here next week.

The Bloodmobile unit will make two visits in Pitt County, September 30 and October 1. Health Director Walter C. Humbert has announced.

Dr. John M. Mewborn will be in charge of the doctors in Farmville. Assisting him will be Dr. E. T. Williams and Dr. Charles E. Fitzgerald.

Tyson said the services of the local nurses will be rotated as usual.

Bloodmobile hours for the Greenville visit will be from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. The unit will be in Farmville from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Humbert said anyone between the ages of 18 and 60 is eligible to be a donor. The quota for each visit is 140 pints of blood.

"We need blood," the Director declared, "and I certainly hope we have sufficient interest and backing to make these visits successful."

He said, "We need to make our quota this time, as there has been only one visit by the Bloodmobile in this area since June. This was taken by the Dupont plant August 9."

The Director emphasized keeping up civilian interest in the blood program. He said the Red Cross blood program is now primarily for civilian use only and "not a great deal" of blood is going to the Department of Defense at the present time.

Colored News

Master Reginald Lee Dupree (Hap), age 5, was instantly killed Saturday, Sept. 18, at 10:30 a. m. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday at Phillips Bros. Funeral Home.
