N.Y. Dock Strike Ends Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—A day-old strike of 25,000 longshoremen will end tomorrow at 8 a. m., an International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind) official announced today. Patrick J. Connolly, executive vice president of the union, made the announcement after a meeting of the union Wage Scale Committee. Along the paralyzed waterfront it had been believed the men would return immediately following the meeting of the committee called to ratify a peace formula reached last night by union and shipping representatives with the help of federal mediators. Connolly said tomorrow was chosen for resumption of work because union locals also had to ratify the agreement. He appeared certain they would, asserting "it's 100 per cent sure everybody will be back to work tomorrow morning." He said he was advising John G. Lyon, chairman of the New York Shipping Assn., that the 25,000 dock workers would be on the job tomorrow morning. Terms of the agreement were announced by Federal Mediator John Andrew Burke after a 2 1/2-hour talk last night with union leaders and representatives of the New York Shipping Assn. The settlement included payment of an 8-cent-hourly wage boost retroactive to Oct. 1, 1953, which employers estimate will cost about four million dollars. In turn, the union would pledge not to

Big Flying Boxcar Crashes At Bragg; 14 Are Casualties

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—A C-119 Flying Boxcar crashed in flames here today and killed at least two men. Heroic action by the pilot was credited by witnesses with saving the lives of a number of construction workers in the path of the falling plane. The Army reported 14 casualties in the crash. There were 12 aboard the plane and two civilian workers were struck by the falling ship. Public Information Officers said they did not know immediately whether the dead were military or civilian personnel. The big plane crashed in a barracks street at this sprawling military reservation shortly after a takeoff for Olmstead Air Force Base, Pa. It carried a crew of five and seven military passengers. As ambulances and fire-fighting equipment sped to the scene, one of the passengers Pvt. G. E. Wilson, a medic of the 325th Airborne Infantry Division, dashed into the burning plane and helped rescue several fellow passengers. The 22-year-old Wilson, a native of Mount Joy, Pa., later was admitted to a hospital, suffering from shock. G. E. Sweat, a construction worker of Atlanta, said he and a group of workmen saw the burning plane coming directly toward them, then veer suddenly aside. "He certainly saved all our lives," Sweat said. D. B. Burgess, a Fayetteville mechanical engineer employed on the project, said the plane swept low overhead with its left engine afire. He said the plane veered abruptly as if the pilot was attempting to avoid striking a construction area where many men were at work. The scene of the crash was the Smoke Bomb Hill area of the sprawling Ft. Bragg reservation where another Flying Boxcar, the Fairchild plane that's used to transport paratroopers, crashed into a mess hall last March 30. Seven were killed in that crash.

Baltimore Sees Schools Quieter; Student Parley Effort Is Failure

Mass Meeting Of Washington Pupils Breaks Up Early; Plenty Of Confusion

Schools opened peacefully in Baltimore today, and principals reported that attendance which declined during last week's segregation disputes, was almost normal. The upward trend on attendance rosters continued at schools which were the scenes of picketing. There was a heavy police guard at Southern High School where violence occurred last week, but the officers were not needed. Students were under orders to come to classes or face expulsion. A pupil's mass meeting at Anacostia High School in Washington ended in confusion today with little accomplished toward ending protests of mixing whites and Negroes in classrooms. Some 700 to 800 gathered in the athletic stadium of Anacostia High and heard pleas that they go back to school while their leaders met with school authorities to discuss the situation. They first reached a decision that a committee of pupils would meet with acting Principal Eugene Griffith. But then boys came from the youngsters who have been striking over the integration program. The session broke up with the strikers saying "no" to Griffith's plea for the conference. Griffith told those who wanted to attend classes to come in and the others to go home. At other Washington schools where disorders and demonstrations have occurred in recent days the tension eased. Anacostia High has been the scene of the biggest demonstrations against the three-week-old program of racial integration in District of Columbia schools. Yesterday Police Lt. William T. Murphy said he felt "the peak of the disturbance is past" at Anacostia. The police officer made the statement at day's end after more than 2,800 students were reported absent at one time or another from three high schools and six junior highs. Six persons were arrested near Anacostia High. Two were held on charges of disorderly conduct. The others were released. During the day about 100 white students congregated in front of the Supreme Court Building, where the historic decision outlawing segregation in the public schools was handed down last May 17, but left quickly under police orders.

Justice Dept. Creates Special Unit For Task FHA Scandal Cases Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today created a new unit in the Justice Department's criminal division to handle a mounting number of cases arising from scandals in the Federal Housing Administration. At the same time the attorney general said he is assigning Max H. Goldstein, a top criminal prosecutor in the department, to assist U.S. Atty. Leo A. Rover in presenting housing matters before a special grand jury opening here today. The department said the special grand jury will "inquire into bribery and other criminal conduct in the federal housing program, and specifically into the conduct of Clyde L. Powell, ousted assistant FHA commissioner. Meanwhile, Powell sought a court order to block the grand jury investigation. Through his attorney, Daniel B. Maher, Powell filed papers challenging the validity of the grand jury. He had been scheduled to appear before it this morning. Maher's petition asked the U.S. District Court to "take judicial notice of countless predictions in newspapers and political forecasts that there would be political indictments returned against members of the former administration prior to the November election." Today's developments came in the wake of testimony before the Senate Banking Committee yesterday that Powell demanded and received $10,000 from a Washington architect before he would approve an application for increasing an FHA-insured loan on an apartment project here. The committee also heard testimony that Powell banked almost three times his salary over a period from 1948 through last April, although he reported only his salary on federal income tax returns. Maher in addition to contesting the validity of the special grand jury, specifically asked that a subpoena for Powell's appearance be quashed. He said a statement by Atty. Gen. Brownell announcing that the grand jury would investigate bribery and other criminal conduct in the federal housing program was "a patent attempt by the chief law enforcement officer of the United States to use an arm of the United States District Court as an instrumentality of political propaganda." The Justice Department said Powell "had charge of the rental housing program which operated from 1946 to 1950 and resulted in windfalls to speculators exceeding $1 million dollars alone in 285 cases reviewed by the Housing and Home Finance Agency." Goldstein, in addition to his work with Rover and the grand jury here, will coordinate similar grand jury investigations which the attorney general has requested across the country. The Banking Committee planned more testimony today on alleged windfall profits made by private promoters on apartment projects built with government-insured loans. He said a statement by Atty. Gen. OK Site For Future Sub-Station

The Planning Board last night approved a proposed location for a future sub-station in the eastern section of the city at the corner of Elm and Fourteenth Streets. Under long range plans submitted by City Manager James S. Hughes, a fire house would be constructed at the intersection to house two fire companies. It would be similar to the present West End Sub-station, according to Hughes. Two fire trucks would be placed in the building under the plans. The city manager said this morning that designation of the area for the firehouse is strictly long range planning and there are no immediate plans for construction of such a building. "We wanted to designate the area so that it will be available when it is needed," Hughes stated. The board also suggested at last night's meeting that the police department be asked to submit recommendations for a major street plan to show through streets and designate the stop streets. A study of the police department's recommendations will be made by the Planning Board which will make recommendations to the city council on the matter. Board members approved the final plot for additional area to be developed in the Coghill sub-division. A portion of the area had already been approved and taken into the city. The remaining portion was approved by the board to be submitted to the city council. The Coghill sub-division is located behind College Courts.

Concern Voiced Over Progress In Bureau's Drive

Only 2599 members have been signed up during the current Farm Bureau membership drive it was reported at a meeting of the Pitt County Farm Bureau Membership Committee last night. County Chairman of the drive Dr. M. T. Frizzelle, expressed concern over the number of members reported to date. "This is the greatest thing in our lives," the chairman stated, and the farm organization has meant more to farmers in this county than anything else. There should be no need for a few workers to have to solicit these memberships. Each person should feel it is his duty to see that this organization becomes stronger and more active each year. It is not only for his sake, but for his children and his children's children." He urged each person in the county to make himself responsible for his immediate community. At last night's meet the group went on record unanimously as desiring to improve mail service in this county. Members were appointed to contact their local postal authorities to see what steps could be taken for improving the service. Dr. Frizzelle urged all workers who have memberships written to mail or take them to the county office in Pitt County Office Building. The following report of members written by townships was released: Arthur, 196; Ayden, 225; Belvoir, 77; Bethel, 274; Chocod, 161; Falkland, 204; Farmville, 418; Fountain, 139; Greenville, 162; Grifton, 47; Grimesland, 34; Pactolus, 187; Stokes 143; Swift Creek, 107; Winterville, 225.

U.S. Holding Off Its Own London Pact Vote Await French Assembly OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration probably will wait until after the French Assembly has acted before it asks the Senate to approve agreements making Germany a partner in the Atlantic Alliance. That would mean that the package deal worked out in London last week would not be presented before the new session of Congress beginning in January. Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee predicted yesterday that the agreements, insofar as they require U.S. action, would be approved at special Senate session next month if they were submitted by that time. However, there is a strong feeling among State Department officials that the United States should not take the lead in giving final approval to the London plan, as it did in 1952 in confirming the European Defense Community program. The French Assembly stalled on that until last month when they finally killed off EDC. The sentiment now is to wait and see what action the French Assembly takes on the new program. Moreover, the agreements still have to be worked out in detail and to be acted on at least in part, by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council, which is scheduled to meet late this month. PARIS (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France has been authorized by his Cabinet to stake the life of his government if necessary on parliamentary approval of the London agreements for West German rearmament and sovereignty. One of the ministers disclosed this action was taken at a three-hour meeting of the Cabinet today with President Rene Coty presiding. It was agreed he said that the Premier would demand a vote of confidence in the National Assembly if it appears such a step is necessary to obtain ratification of the London accord. Mendes-France was to report to the Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee later today on the proceedings and results of the ministerial conference in London last week. Chances of the Assembly approving the plan for West German rearmament were greatly improved by the British pledge to keep troops on the continent indefinitely. There still is strong opposition among some deputies to the idea of a remilitarized Germany. The Foreign Affairs Committee earlier this year opposed the ratification of the European Defense Community treaty. The treaty died in the Assembly Aug. 30.

Mitchell Renews His Nixon Feud

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell says Vice President Nixon's truthfulness is becoming an issue in the battle for control of the next Congress. Mitchell yesterday renewed his public feud with Nixon saying the vice president's campaign statements about security risk findings have been distortions amounting to "deliberate falsehoods." Addressing the National Press Club in Washington, Mitchell asked whether President Eisenhower is "going to continue to countenance" Nixon's statements. The vice president, swinging through Iowa, told a Mason City audience last night that the Eisenhower administration is "still hotly engaged against the spokesmen for big government and socialist tyranny." Nixon said the Nov. 2 balloting will determine "whether our 30-month task has been in vain." Eisenhower and top GOP congressional leaders will huddle at Denver Friday for a political powwow that may bring a decision to enlarge the President's role in the campaign. The Summer White House announced yesterday that Eisenhower is considering adding "several" talks to his pre-election schedule—a step advocated by some party leaders who see the GOP in a "tough fight." At Watertown, N.Y., Sen. Irving Ives, the Republican candidate for governor last night was the target for a shower of tomatoes at an open air rally. The fruit missed him but splattered his wife, Marjorie. Ives said angrily the tomatoes "came by indignation straight from Tammany Hall," the outfit which is running this campaign on the Democratic side. Ives' opponent is Averell Harriman, former foreign aid chief. Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas jabbed at both major parties in a New Orleans talk. "The South has been too long ignored by one, too quickly forgotten by the other," said Shivers, "and I know that a large per cent of the older men could not stand up under the severe punishment and brain washing that the Communists are able to force upon their prisoners."

Temperature Is Recorded At 100 Here Yesterday

The United States Weather Station here reported today that the thermometer yesterday registered 100 degrees, an all-time high record for Greenville in October. Mrs. Carl B. Matlen, local observer, said "this is the hottest October since the Weather Station was established in Greenville more than 40 years ago." Lowest temperature here last night was 74 degrees and at 8 a. m. today it was 80. The temperature here yesterday a year ago was in striking contrast to the present heat wave. Highest temperature in Greenville that day was 84 degrees. Lowest that night 60, and at 8 a. m. next day it was 64.

Tar Heel Demo Caravan Arrives

WILMINGTON (AP)—Charles W. (Yank) Stewart, who had been declared an outlaw, yesterday was sentenced to 25 years for highway robbery, theft of a police car, breaking and entering and armed robbery. He was sentenced to three five year terms and one ten year term, to run consecutively, by Judge Henry Steveson. His step-son, Charles (Mickey) Ramsey, 24, was given a five to seven year suspended sentence for aiding and abetting in robbery and breaking and entering. He was placed on probation for five years. Stewart pleaded guilty. Ramsey offered no defense, pleading nolo contendere. Stewart broke away from officers while they were escorting him to a hospital last summer after being arrested for a series of store burglaries in Southeastern North Carolina. While the search for him was under way a supermarket was robbed. Officers, aided by bloodhounds, found Stewart in a semi-conscious condition. Police said he had cut his arm on a broken window during the robbery.

Prison Guards Picket Indiana's State Prison

MICHIGAN CITY Ind. (AP)—Off-duty guards picketed the Indiana State Prison early today in a protest aimed at getting state officials to meet with their union representatives. The midnight shift of guards went to work in normal strength, but members of the outgoing shift formed picket lines soon after midnight. Merle Griffith, vice president of the International Guards Union, said the postmidnight demonstration was not ordered by the union, but he added, "The strike is on." Griffith had said earlier he had telegraphed Gov. George M. Craig stating that a walkout might come at 7 a. m. today if the governor did not agree by that time to meet with union representatives. Griffith indicated that a limited number of guards would be left on duty to feed the 2,300 prisoners and to keep them under surveillance. The prison employs about 190 guards. National Guard units stood by in armories at Gary ready to move in any emergency, and other units at Valparaiso and Whiting were on a four-hour alert. State police also were ready to mass troops at the prison quickly if necessary. Gov. Craig said in response to the union's ultimatum: "We won't recognize the union now or at any time in the future, and we won't recognize anyone else who seeks to turn people against the government." "You can't strike against the government," Griffith might just as well find out about it now," the governor added. Hugh P. O'Brien, chairman of the State Board of Corrections, handed the guards on the midnight shift cards stating, "I (will) (will) not be loyal to the state of Indiana." Some also entered the Parker and Roebuck Garage through a rear window some time during the night. Owners of the establishment reported some change missing. Investigating are Deputies Lloyd Manning and Duke Andrews.

New HD Agent

Mrs. Lillie Little will serve as Pitt County's new Home Demonstration agent. She was appointed by the Board of County Commissioners Monday after they accepted the resignation of Mrs. Sue B. May who has been Pitt's Home Demonstration agent for almost four years. Mrs. Little has served as assistant agent since August of last year. Prior to coming to Pitt County Mrs. Little was Home Demonstration agent in Stanley County for two years. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haynes).

Farmville Market Has $56.51 Day

Farmville Tobacco Market sold 503,798 pounds of tobacco yesterday for $284,709 and an average of $56.51 per hundred pounds. Sales Supervisor C. E. Edwards reported much of the tobacco sold yesterday was "in high order, and this accounts for the decline in price." He said there was about the same amount of tobacco for sale today as yesterday.

Two Break-Ins Last Night For Stokes Firms

The sheriff's department reported two break-ins in the Stokes community last night. The C and W Super Market which was only recently opened was robbed of between $90 and $100 when thieves broke a front glass in the store. Someone also entered the Parker and Roebuck Garage through a rear window some time during the night. Owners of the establishment reported some change missing. Investigating are Deputies Lloyd Manning and Duke Andrews.

Sen. Bridges Flays Fear Of Red Russia

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) has called for a return to the days of the rattlesnake flag so the Communist will be "afraid to take any action which may possibly call for strong measures on our part."

Draft Board's Head Resigns In Protest

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—This west Texas city's draft board chairman has resigned because he does not like the life prison sentence meted out to Cpl. Claude Batchelor. Batchelor, 22 of Kermit, Tex., was convicted by a court-martial at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex., last week on charges of collaborating with the enemy and informing on fellow POW's while a captive of the Chinese Reds in Korea. Draft Board Chairman H. W. Wright said he did not condone collaboration with the Communists but that he thought "brainwashing" and Batchelor's youth should have "been considered."

Would Be Heard On Receipts Tax

RALEIGH (AP)—Thompson Greenwood, secretary of the North Carolina Merchants Assn., says Tar Heel merchants want to be heard on their reaction to a proposal to levy a gross receipts tax on them. In a letter yesterday to D. S. Conrath, assistant budget director, Greenwood said he is convinced the Advisory Budget Commission "is contemplating recommending" to the 1955 Legislature that a gross receipts tax be levied. Greenwood said that in behalf of the state's merchants he was requesting a "hearing before the Advisory Budget Commission at the earliest possible date." A gross receipts tax is a levy on merchants' total volume of business. Commenting on the letter, Conrath said "No conclusions have been reached as to the budget and as to whether any new taxes should be recommended." The Advisory Budget Commission recommends to the Legislature a general fund budget for the next biennium. Conrath said the commission has discussed taxes only "in a very limited way." Gov. Umstead has said the legislation will be confronted with the choice of reducing state spending or levying additional taxes.

Outlaw Stewart Gets Long Term

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—"Down with the GOP," battery of Tar Heel Democrats holding a series of rallies throughout the state, sounded here today as a Democratic caravan moved in for an 11th District shindig. The series opened yesterday at Hendersonville and principal speakers set the theme on a local level, decrying Republicans in North Carolina courtrooms. U.S. Sen. Alton A. Lennon struck off sharply at defeated Democratic primary candidates who do not support the party's ticket in the General Election. Lennon was defeated for renomination by former W. Kerr Scott. "I have no patience with anyone who offers himself as a candidate for his party and then will not fight for every man on the ticket," said Lennon. A host of Democratic dignitaries also spoke at the Henderson County rally, where voters often go Republican for local, state and national candidates.

Chambliss Outlines Fair Program At Legion Meet

At the American Legion's supper meeting at the Fair Grounds last night, Manager Norman Y. Chambliss gave an outline of the Pitt County Agricultural Fair which opens in Greenville Monday. Gates to the Fair Grounds officially open at 4 o'clock. He said the attendance goal this year is 50,000 to witness "Pitt County On Parade" and $3,500 in cash premiums is offered this year. Preliminary Shows will be on the midway again this year, Chambliss stated. He said fireworks will be featured four nights of the week. He said 1,500 seats have been erected for people who attend the

NAAWP Leader To Fight Action Revoking Charter

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A court attempt to revoke the charter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People has brought a promise from its president that the NAAWP will pursue its course throughout the country. Bryan Bowles took this stand yesterday in Philadelphia after Delaware Atty. Gen. H. Albert Young began legal action in the Court of Chancery here to have the association's charter revoked. Bowles said that if the association lost its charter in Delaware "we will go into the 47 other states and seek franchisees, and failing that, we will take to the U.S. mails." Young said he based his attempt

Atheneum Club Begins Study Of New Testament

The Atheneum Book Club began its 1954-1955 season with a luncheon meeting on Tuesday with Mrs. J. H. Rose as hostess.

The Rose home was made more lovely by the use of mixed fall flowers in the living room and music room. A delicious three course luncheon was served to the members seated at tables.

Mrs. Owen Masterson, president, presided at the business meeting, after which she presented Mrs. Rose as the program leader for the day. As the topic for the year is a study of the New Testament, Mrs. Rose gave in a most graphic manner the background of the New Testament World as a priceless gift to succeeding generations. It presented a clear picture of Jesus as the great revolutionary humanitarian.

The club was delighted to welcome back as a member Mrs. W. F. Young of Wilson, N. C. and as guests Mrs. Hannah Richardson, Washington, N. C.; Mrs. Louis Boyd, Mrs. Lindsey Wilkerson, and Miss Matt Barnes.

Highlight Of Pitt County WCUNC Program Is Talk By Mrs. Kittrell

The Pitt County Alumnae of Woman's College of the University of North Carolina had their annual Alumnae Dinner on Monday evening October 4, at 6:30 p.m. in the Winterville School luncheon room with Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr. a member of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina as guest speaker.

Joint Hostesses Entertain Guild

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church met Monday with Miss Polly Dall on Evans Street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Kemp House Baldwin and the treasurers report was given by Mrs. Lee Moore. Committee reports were given by Miss Frances Wahl, Spiritual Life chairman who reminded the group of the week of World Week of Prayer and Self Denial; Mrs. Rosa Herring, chairman of the Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities. The president invited the Guild to be guests at the covered dish luncheon to be given by the Womans Society of Christian Service on Monday, October 11. Also that anyone having warm clothing that they would give to be sent to the Koreans, to take them to the church office; and that the Annual conference was to be held in Burlington on April 23 and 24.

The devotionals were given by Mary Thomas Smith. Mrs. Rosa Herring gave the program in an interesting manner. She told of the 4th Assembly of the Woman's Society of Christian Service which was held in Milwaukee in May of this year. After the program delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses; Misses Polly Dall, Lillian Purvis, Ona Shindler.

Student Group Will Attend Retreat

A number of East Carolina College students will gather at Camp Carolina (near Arapahoe) for a Disciple Student Fellowship Retreat this week end.

They are: Sybil Jones, Al Averette, Jean Creech, Mary Joyce Sugg, Helen Pipkin, Dean Tripp, Everett Purvis, Joe Haslip and Jackie Sears, chairman of the D.S.F. Retreat. Miss Louise Morris, Director of Religious Education at the Eighth Street Christian Church, and student worker for the Disciples at East Carolina College, will attend the retreat as an adult leader. George Downey, director of religious education of North Carolina Disciples will be attending the Retreat as an advisor. Student groups from the University of North Carolina, Womans College, Atlantic Christian College, N. C. State College, Meredith and East Carolina will attend. The retreat begins at 7:30 p.m. Friday, October 8, and continues until Sunday, 3:00 p.m. Holland has 200 miles of ramparts which never yield to the sea.

Elementary School, was a unique bulletin board, bidding welcome to each college graduate. While greetings were exchanged there, fruit punch was served.

The guests were invited into the luncheon room and found their places at a long banquet table, decorated to carry out the College Colors. The programs were small yellow diplomas rolled and tied with white ribbon. Mrs. Blair Wheelless gave the invocation and Mrs. Paul Clark, president, extended a warm welcome to all present. Following the three-course dinner Mrs. M. T. Speir, secretary, called the roll by location and representatives of all Pitt County towns but one were present. Mrs. Rosa Little led group singing and Woman's College talent was evident. Mrs. B. L. Tyson gave a humorous monologue, "Off to Woman's College."

The highlight of the program was a message to the group by Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Sr., member of the Board of Trustees of the Greater University. She brought greetings, direct from Chancellor Edward Kildder Graham. She spoke of the growth of the college and plans for the further enriching of its curriculum. Quoting Chancellor Graham as to what Pitt County Alumnae can do for the college Mrs. Kittrell said, "First, know your college; second, talk Woman's College; and third, see your legislators." She also made a plea on behalf of Chancellor Graham that the alumnae make personal contacts with him because he longs to know them better.

A short business session with a report of the nominating committee followed. Miss Virginia Bell Cooper, president, and Mrs. C. C. Little, vice-president, both of Ayden, will serve for the coming year. They, in turn, will appoint a secretary. Since on Tuesday October 5, the college was to celebrate Founder's Day and its 62nd anniversary, Mrs. Luther Herring was asked to send a telegram of congratulations from the group. As the College Song was sung the alumnae raised their voices and let them swell with revived college spirit.

Fall Wedding Planned

Miss Annie Ruth Buck is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Buck of Greenville, who announce her engagement to David Earl Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Tripp, of Greenville. A fall wedding is planned.

Oriental Theme Noted At Luncheon For Miss Wooten

Mrs. J. M. Barrett, Mrs. J. C. Wooten, and Miss Alice Wooten were hostesses at a luncheon given Tuesday at the Woman's Club to honor Miss Lillian Wooten, bride-elect.

In the decorations of the front rooms of the Club there was a touch of the Orient. On the table and around the rooms were pieces reminding us of the eastern countries. A bowl of white fuji mums and snapdragons centered the punch table. The punchbowl with floating Vanda orchids was on an old Chinese dragon mat. Red Chinese lilies were used in the smaller sitting room.

Bible Institute Opens Thursday

Thursday night will be the opening session of the Grace Bible Institute. The Bible Institute is a new institution just opening up in Greenville. A preliminary course has been taught for the last six years in the county and adjoining counties in community classes which has prepared the way for the institute. The Grace Bible Institute will include in its curriculum the Preliminary Teacher Training Course. This course has six units of twelve class hours per unit making a total of seventy-two class hours. Three units are in Bible and three units in methods. The Bible units give a complete survey of the Bible. This course gives four semester hours credit toward the Standard Training Course in Christian education. Also the Gold Seal certificate course will be taught for graduates of the preliminary course and others who have taken one or more units of the preliminary course. The Gold Seal course gives eight semester hours toward the standard course. A course may be arranged for students not desiring credits. Classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. Schedule for the first twelve weeks will be as follows: Each Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:30 class in "Old Testament Law and History" from 8:30 to 9:30 class in "Child Study." Other subjects to follow will be: Old Testament Poetry and Prophecy, New Testament, Sunday School Evangelism, Pedagogy, Sunday School Administration, Bible Introduction, Bible Doctrine, Missions, and Daily Vacation Bible School.

On arrival Miss Wooten and her mother, Mrs. W. L. Wooten were presented leis. Miss Wooten's being of white carnations, and her mother's a Mauna Loa lei of orchids. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. C. Wooten and Miss Alice Wooten and presented to the bride. They then were shown into the room where Mrs. J. M. Barrett graciously presided over the punchbowl. There was much informality and guests enjoyed visiting with one another until invited into the dining room, where luncheon was served. On the table was a bowl of many colored orchids sent from Honolulu by a relative, Mrs. R. W. Bynum and Miss Ann Bynum from Stan- tonburg were out of town guests.

BUTTON DOWN TIE
$1.50

Before Tie Is Buttoned To Shirt... Slip Small End Through Loop Label...

• Keeps tie in place • Keeps shirt down!
• Keeps shirt collar in position!

Here's the most unique, clever and practical neckwear idea since men started wearing ties. You'll go for it the second you see it. The short end of the tie is made with 3 button holes... correctly spaced so that when you tie the tie, one of the button holes will match the position of the button on your shirt. There's also a hidden loop label that keeps the big end of the tie in place. Result: tie stays put..... The crowning touch is the beauty of patterns.

First Girl In 10 Years Elected President Of Senior Class At GHS

KITTY COLLINS

Greenville High School's senior class has selected its first girl president since 1944, according to an announcement from the high school.

Kitty Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger M. Collins was chosen senior class president in an election September 6. Lillian Hooker Wooten was the last young lady to hold this position in 1944.

Other officers of the 1955 class are John Brooks, vice president; Shirley Holland, secretary; and Alice Flye, treasurer.

The new president's school activities are numerous and varied. She is chairman of the citizenship committee for the Student Council, holds membership in the National Honor Society and the Glee Club, and serves as a school marshal.

For three years she has represented her homeroom in the Student Council. She has served as secretary-treasurer of the International Correspondence Club and as historian for the Future Teachers of America. Last year she was floorshow chairman for the Junior-Senior, and her sophomore year she headed the decorating committee for the Coronation Ball.

Miss Collins also serves as secretary of the Interdenominational Youth council, sings in the Girl's trio and takes voice lessons.

Also active in church work, Miss Collins sings in the choir at Memorial Baptist Church and plays the piano in her Sunday School department. She is interested in all youth meetings and youth movements.

Her future plans include attending East Carolina College to receive a teaching certificate, after which she hopes to attend Mars Hill College and become a director of religious education.

Movie Fashions Now Available

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD IS—Now you gals can see a fashion show at your movie theater and go to the store and buy the creations the next day.

That's the unique setup Pine and Thomas have arranged for their new film "Lucy Gallant." Here's how it works:

If you go to their movie—and they certainly hope you do—you'll see a fashion show as part of the entertainment. Wide screen, color and everything. Then, if you like something you see you can visit the local department store and purchase one of the "Lucy Gallant" specials, the exact replica of what was on the screen.

Everything works out nicely. The girls get to wear real Hollywood fashions. The picture gets publicized and who knows—the producers might even make some money on selling the dresses. The only one who suffers is the guy who pays the bills. And who worries about him?

The plan was ideally suited for "Lucy Gallant." It's the story of a hardworking Texas gal (Jane Wyman), who builds a dress establishment from a tent to a stylish salon. The fashions in the film were created by the reliable Paramount designer Edith Head.

I found Edith on the set during the fashion show scenes, and she was as petite and efficient as ever. She was also playing a role in the film and had been waiting around since early morning for her scene.

"For the first time I am beginning to sympathize with actors," said the designer, who sees the acting breed (female, at least) with it is most temperamental and diffi-

Dior Creations Rate Approval By N. C. Man

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

There is at least one man in America who approves of Christian Dior's move to de-accentuate the feminine bosom.

"Legs are much more interesting," says Gordon Hanes of Winston-Salem, N.C. "In fact, there is nothing more fascinating than a pair of shapely feminine legs, perfectly groomed, of course, and sheathed in the sheerest possible nylon."

Young Hanes, scion of a distinguished Winston-Salem family started with tycoons, spends much of his time while in New York walking down 5th Avenue looking at women's legs. He even does it when accompanied by his attractive wife and comments openly to her when he spots an outstanding set of gams. Mrs. Hanes does not become hysterical on these occasions but views the exhibit with academic interest and perhaps a constructive comment such as:

"They are very good indeed, dear, but did you notice the ones on the red-haired girl across the street?"

The reason for all this is that looking at legs is Hanes' business. As head of the nation's biggest hosiery mills, he's been doing it for years, and probably knows more about the proportions and characteristics of American legs than any other individual in the country.

Since he was a mere sprout, Hanes knew that some day he would take over his father's hosiery manufacturing business, and so he set about learning all he could about it. He decided one of the most important contributions he could make was observing how different kinds of stockings looked on various legs, and how they could be improved.

The result of this research was that he decided girls' legs looked prettiest in stockings without seams. The hosiery must, of course, fit the ankle perfectly, with no wrinkles or bags—must look in fact, like a second skin.

"The bare-leg look is the thing," says Hanes. "But of course stockings have to improve on bare legs. Only one woman in a thousand looks her best with no stockings. Practically all women have small blemishes of the skin which are improved by a veil of stocking."

She enthused about the plan to merchandise the fashions from the picture.

"Usually women see a lovely gown in a picture and admire it," she remarked. "It ends there. But now for the first time, they can go out and buy it." She added somewhat remorsefully that she wouldn't profit from whatever was realized on the enterprise. Her contract with the studio provides a flat salary only.

Home Seamstresses Get New Zippers That Grow

HOW MARY GROWS! Every mother knows how fast children out-grow their clothes. A new aid to home seamstresses is available, however, in the form of an adjustable zipper closure, that grows with the child. The busy little miss above is wearing overalls made with the new slide-fit zippers, which make it possible to adjust the suspender to fit. The adjustable closures, up to now found only on ready-made garments, are now available for home sewing, can be used on waists of skirts and slacks also.

Teen-age Turnout

By Frances Adams and Mary Will Long

With the end of the first month of school all organizations and classes in Greenville High School have completed plans for 1954-55. One of the first and most important steps was that of electing leaders for each group.

For the first time since 1944 a "madame chairman" will preside over the senior class. Kitty Collins an outstanding leader, was elected senior class president. Completing the slate of officers are John Brooks, vice-president; Shirley Holland, secretary; and Alice Flye, treasurer. Selling stationery to finance the school annual is the first major project undertaken by the seniors. Hannah Proctor, as overall chairman, is in charge of the sales. She is being assisted by Peggy Everett, Frances Vandiford, and Marjorie DeSavigny.

Two Editors Chosen Elected co-editors by the senior class September 20, Rachel Steinbeck and Jimmy Hendrix will edit the "Tau" of 1955. Jeri Lassiter and Artemis Kares will serve as associate editors. All finances will be handled by Dewey Griffith, business manager, Preston Jarvis will assist him.

Working as advertising manager and assistant advertising manager are Jimmy Perkins and Lou Chestnut. The selling of annuals will be supervised by Frances Vandiford who is circulation manager, Jane Winchester, Peggy Everett, and Edgar Moore have been selected as class editor, literary editor and sports editor. Completing the staff are Pat Herring, art editor; Mitchell Johnson, assistant art editor; Clark Noble, staff photographer; and Sue Tucker and Pat Baker, staff typists. Ward James, senior English teacher, will again serve as adviser.

Juniors Elect Officers Juniors are just as much in the spotlight these days as the seniors. At a recent class meeting, Hal Edwards was elected president of the junior class. The slate of officers is completed by Larry Powell, vice-president; Bonita Respass, secretary; and Tommy Norris, treasurer. Ronita and Tommy served as secretary and treasurer last year also.

The junior class will again sponsor the annual Junior-Senior banquet and dance. As in previous years magazines will be sold by the class to raise money for the affair. Prizes will be awarded by the Curtis Publishing Company to juniors selling the most subscriptions for each group.

Glee Club plans A group of "song birds", namely the high school glee club, has been busy making plans for this year. A vocal clinic, a Thanksgiving chapel program, and a Christmas program will highlight the club's pre-Christmas activities. The spring semester activities will include an annual concert, the state music festival, and the state music contest.

New officers for the girls' Glee Club are Jane Winchester, president; Alice Flye, vice-president; and Janet Powell, secretary-treasurer. Tommy Bodkin, president; Mac Respass, vice-president; and Jimmy Perkins, secretary-treasurer are officers of the boys' Glee Club. The Glee Club is again under the very able direction of Miss Ona Shindler.

Traffic Committee New students in G.H.S. have probably discovered by now that those evil looking monsters who stand along the halls giving passers-by the "evil eye" are members of the traffic committee. Seriously speaking, this group has been doing a wonderful job since school started this fall. In spite of crowded conditions, traffic in the halls has been running smoothly.

John Brooks, senior, is chairman of the traffic committee. Old members working with him are Rachel Steinbeck Hal Edwards, Frances Adams Edgar Moore, and Josephine Hendrix. Thirteen new members have been appointed. They are Jimmy Hendrix, Janet Powell, Dennis Bullock, Gayle Clapp, Bonita Respass, Leila Davenport, Jerry Howell, Edwin Wilkerson, Mickey Sumrell, Ginger Ross, Kelly Barnhill, Robert Howell, and Nina Overton.

Newspaper Staff Increases To keep students well informed on the happenings around school, "Green Lights", the high school newspaper, has added some new members to its staff. Jerry Howell, advertising and art editor, will be in charge of ad sales and cartoon drawing. Circulation manager, Kathryn Johnson, will have charge of distributing "Green Lights." Dee Hux, Rosemary Eagles, and Theresa Knudson will work as feature writers. Gene Brown holds the position of typist. Clark Noble will serve as photographer. Sylvia Satterthwaite will serve as exchange editor. Reporters are Nancy Brown, Betsy Karnsak, Henrietta Swayne, Lois Ann Webb, and Linda Whitchard. Sports writer, Hugh Duncan, will assist the sports editor.

Co-editors appointed in May are Frances Adams and Mary Will Long. Department heads are Janet Powell, associate editor; Sally Beard, feature editor; Wayne Bishop, sports editor; and Harris Northrup, business manager.

FHA Picks Officers Although most of the fairer sex of G.H.S. claim that they will follow professional careers, a few are still planning to be homemakers. New officers for the Future Homemakers of America are Frances Adams, president; Marjorie DeSavigny vice-president; Norma Barnhill, secretary; Anna Stokes, treasurer; Carolyn Tripp, historian; Rachel Steinbeck, reporter; Christine Harper, parliamentarian; and Betty Sue Stator, song leader. Five girls—Shelby Gaskins, Sadie Rae Brady, Janice Boyd, Mary Banks Hunnington, and Mickey Sumrell—received their junior homemaker's degrees at the first meeting of this year. Frances Adams received her chapter degree.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Belk-Tyler's in the third floor.

Unitarian Fellowship Meets For Discussion

The Greenville Unitarian Fellowship met at a pot-luck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Luskin in Lakewood Pines.

The program for the evening was a discussion of the theology of Paul Tillich, a prominent Protestant thinker, led by Dr. George Pasti Jr. Tillich analyzes our age of anxiety and finds the source of anxiety to be three-fold — fear of death, sense of guilt, and sense of emptiness of life. The anxiety of the present is especially the "dark valley of a meaningless and empty life." Anxiety turns a man to courage, because its opposite, despair, is intolerable. Some find courage in worldly activity or in self-realization. This Tillich notes does not face the basic causes of anxiety. It is only by "accepting acceptance" that one gets courage and meaning in life. A lively discussion and criticism of Tillich's theology followed.

The group made plans to sponsor public discussions of several vital issues of today.

Pitt's Bridge Program To Be A Great Asset

The rebuilding of three Pitt County bridges in the near future as announced by Highway Division officials will mean a great deal to Pitt County.

When the program is completed, it should mean bridges on practically all major highways in the county have been either replaced or renovated in recent years. With the possible exception of the bridge across Contentnea Creek at Grifton, we can think of no other bridge on a major highway in the county which can be considered a traffic hazard.

It took a long time to get a much-needed bridge building program started for Pitt County, but since the program has been undertaken by the Highway Division, it is apparent officials are determined to eliminate the outmoded, dilapidated bridges which a few years back dotted highways throughout Pitt.

There is certainly no doubt that the three bridges to be rebuilt in current projects have been sorely needed. The old Pillsbury bridge across the Tar between Falkland and Belvoir has long needed a modern replacement. The same is true of the Penny Hill bridge, and the Middle Swamp bridge between Farmville and Snow Hill.

Coupled with the project to construct a new bypass highway at Greenville, including a new bridge across the Tar here, the present projects and those which have recently been completed, should give Pitt an adequate system of bridges for years to come.

The new bridge at Grimesland which was recently opened has already proved a great asset to the people of the eastern section of the county. The Reflector is confident the other bridges which have now been programed for rebuilding will prove equal assets to people in other sections of the county, and people who find it necessary to travel through those sections.

Pitt has long needed a bridge building program. It should be a great source of satisfaction to the people of the county to see the money for the program being appropriated and the projects getting underway.

Is This An Example Of Army "Justice"

If the Army has a conscience, it will indeed have trouble living with it after the sentence of life imprisonment which has been handed to Cpl. Claude Batchelor for his collaboration with the enemy while being held a prisoner of war, and for informing on fellow prisoners.

The Army has as its cardinal purpose the defense of freedom and justice which are the foundations of American democracy. We see little justice in the handling of the two parallel cases of this enlisted man and an officer who faced similar charges before court martials.

After being wooed by the Army to forsake his communist allegiance and accept repatriation, Cpl. Batchelor will spend the rest of his life in federal prison. Meanwhile, an army officer, who likewise was found guilty of cooperating with the communists while a prisoner of war has been set free with only a dishonorable discharge.

We do not see how the Army can now, or will be able to in the future, justify its disposition of the two cases. Both the enlisted man and the officer are to be at the same time despised and pitied for their behavior while prisoners of war. But surely if Batchelor is deserving of his punishment, the officer has been let off with a token.

Is Army justice meted out according to rank? Is it a greater crime for a 17-year-old kid who is an enlisted man to collaborate with the enemy than it is for a mature, high-ranking officer, seasoned by years in military service to commit similar offenses?

Although we hold no sympathy for either man for his actions while a prisoner of war, in our opinion this demonstration of Army "justice" could cause much more far-reaching damage to the future of the American people than the acts of the officer and the enlisted man while they were prisoners of war.

Agricultural Exhibits Are Important To The Fair

Pitt County goes on parade Monday at the annual Pitt County Fair sponsored by the American Legion posts of Greenville, Farmville, and Ayden.

In the past, Pitt County has held the distinction of being one of the best county agricultural fairs in the state. It is to be hoped that it will rate as high this year as it has in past years, so far as agricultural exhibits are concerned.

No agricultural fair is better than the exhibits put on display at the fair by the farmers who live in the area which the fair serves. This year the fair is offering $3,600 in awards for exhibits which are on display.

Unfortunately, in past years there have always been a number of categories in which no exhibits were entered. There have been others in which only one or two exhibits were entered. It is to be hoped that this year the number of exhibits at the fair will reach a record number and that all the categories for which awards are made have a number of entries.

Hundreds of copies of the premium list for the fair already have been circulated among the people of the county. There are other lists available for individuals who are interested in entering exhibits in any one of the many categories.

The success of Pitt County On Parade this year will depend to a large degree upon the exhibits at the fair. The Reflector urges the people of Pitt County to actively participate in the fair by entering exhibits for the long list of awards offered by the fair.

Drive On Diplomatic Front

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower Administration has begun an intensive pre-election attempt to settle ancient and troublesome diplomatic quarrels, especially military fortification of Western Europe and the Middle East, which have prevented mobilization of the democracies against Russia. It is believed that solid successes on the foreign front will mean Republican votes on November 2.

This strategy helps to explain Secretary John Foster Dulles' record-breaking commuting to so many distant and scattered areas within the last few months—Geneva, Brussels, Paris, London and Manila.

The White House is so anxious for favorable, pre-election decisions that it would not entrust negotiations to reliable subordinates. It directed the diplomatic drive himself.

WINNING MARK FOR IKE—Republican strategists have discovered that Ike's promise to settle the Korean conflict, even though it was not entirely satisfactory, was his winning issue in 1952.

Vice-President Nixon reports that it still has voting power. Thus, they think that similar achievements on the eve of balloting will enable them to duplicate the triumph in the Congressional contests.

It may also take the voters' minds off such touchy domestic questions as spotty unemployment, lower farm prices and Ike's failure to live up to expectations that he would be a strong Executive. Opposition charges that he is not a forceful figure could be balanced by pointing to his firm stand on the international ramparts.

It is not argued here that partisan politics alone motivated Ike and Dulles. They have repeatedly shown their sincere desire for Allied unity in the face of Russian aggression. It just so happens that a resolute and realistic foreign policy coincides with the GOP's political needs and interests.

STIFF ULTIMATUMS—Dulles revealed his anxiety for prompt implementation of a Western European agreement by giving the stiffest ultimatums delivered to Britain and France, since World War I. If an arrangement for rearming Germany is consummated at November's NATO meeting, it will be due chiefly to his plain talk, which shocked the European states-

Brief Thoughts For A Column

Overheard in the barber shop: "What did the big chimney say to the little chimney?" "You're too young to smoke."

Visited the Fire Department yesterday on business and was impressed with the kitchen that has been built by the men without city funds. They simply acquired a store room not in use, approached a few merchants for used appliances, used some of the funds out of their activities money and some out of their pockets. The result: a neat, well painted and decorated kitchen. And when I was there yesterday every dish was washed and in place.

The Fire Department has a dance coming up November 4 with one of the nation top bands, Billy Mays.

Overheard in the post office: "Is this weather hurting your business?" was the question of a man in the clothing business. "It's really hurting mine."

No doubt the fuel oil companies are crying. But on the other hand, they also sell gasoline and people are probably doing enough additional riding to make up for it. Or is that possible?

Ironically, one local firm received an extra 250 cases of anti-freeze.

Ho hum! Another drive! Who said that? I take it all back! The membership drive for the Pitt County Association for the Blind is not just another drive. Last year through this program sixty-four people were removed from the classification of blindness!

The Greenville Lion's Club attempts each year to supplement available County and State funds to the tune of $2,500. Those of us who can see often fail to realize the plight of those who cannot. Mail your membership contribution to the Lion's Club, Greenville.

Saw Smilin' Jack Boone yesterday at the City Hall. He was as cordial and friendly as ever, but naturally wouldn't admit that his East Carolina team is going to have a good chance of winning the rest of the games on the schedule. Naturally not; it wouldn't make sense for Jack to do that. But he seemed in such good spirits that I got the impression that he's well pleased.

The return of Dick Cherry surprised me. First reports were that he would stay out this season so as to have an additional year of eligibility.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

ALONG PARTY LINES (Henderson Dispatch)

A climax is near at hand in the long reign of Senator McCarthy in the calling and sometimes manhandling of witnesses in the problem of Communists in government. A special Senate investigating committee, which investigated where a larger group left off in its investigation, has deliberated for several weeks and has concluded the Senate should censure its free lance Republican member from Wisconsin.

There are six members of the special committee that prepared the newest report. One of them—and a good and capable man, at that—was Senator Ervin of North Carolina. He said there wasn't any disagreement between members of his group.

Other reports as to how the Senate at large reacts to the committee's findings indicate that the vote will be along party lines, for the most part, when the full upper house of Congress is called back November 8 to act. The results will not be one hundred percent in that direction, but enough wavering and variations to provide a majority one way or the other, and most likely in support of the newest conclusions.

The Senate will not be called back until nearly a week after the congressional elections on November 2. Politics dictated that ruling, too. Both sides feared results at the polls of a decision, whatever it may be, before voters cast their ballots. After all, one-third of the Senate membership is seeking reelection. Whichever way individuals in that third vote they will stand to lose or gain because of their decision.

All indications, however, point to a clipping of the senator's wings as an authority conducting investigations—into communism or otherwise. His free wheeling almost certainly is at an end. He may be an asset to one party or the other, but in reverse he is likewise a liability. Dealing with the issue he has created is a hot potato in some quarters and among some groups of citizens. The senator is bound to slip out of the picture's front page copy. He has had his share of notoriety. The country as a whole will be glad to have a breathing spell on his conduct.

Wording Of Proposed Amendment Confusing To Voter

By LYNN NISBET

RETIREMENT—The first of five amendments to be voted upon by the people at the forthcoming general election is entitled: "To authorize the General Assembly to provide for the retirement of members of the Supreme Court."

That is an unfortunate and confusing statement of the purpose of the amendment. Actually, the purpose is to provide for temporary recall to duty retired justices, in event of temporary incapacity of a sitting member of the court.

There is presently provision in the statutes, with constitutional sanction, for retirement of members of the Supreme Court on the same terms applicable to retirement of Superior Court judges, except that 12 years continuous service instead of 15 years makes the Supreme Court members eligible for retirement. The retirement act provides for lifetime pay at two-thirds the salary at time of retirement.

Retired members of the Supreme Court and the Superior Court assume the status of emergency Superior Court judges, subject to assignment to hold courts when their health permits and the need arises.

There is no provision for emergency call of retired justices for service on the Supreme Court. The pending amendment seeks to provide such service by adding to Sec. 6 of Article IV the following sentence: "The General Assembly is vested with authority to provide for the retirement of members of the Supreme Court and for the recall of such retired members to serve on his Court in lieu of any active member thereof who is, for any cause, temporarily incapacitated."

EFFECT—The effect of this provision would be to assure a reserve of judicial manpower for the Supreme Court in event of emergency, just as the law now provides the reserve of emergency judges for the Superior Court.

Pursuant to provisions of GS 7-50 and 7-51 Superior Court Judges Sumner Burgwyn, John Burney and John Clements retired within recent months and became emergency judges. Previously Judges Henry Grady and Felix Alley had retired. As emergency judge Judge Grady has been very active. So has Burgwyn, and Burney is expected to hold courts during the next few months. Judges Alley and Clement are not physically able to preside over courts.

Under the same statutes Chief Justice William A. Devin retired last year. He, too, became an emergency Superior Court judge, subject to assignment to hold courts anywhere the Chief Justice may direct. Although 83, he is in excellent physical condition and able to preside over any court. However, only a dire emergency would induce Chief Justice Barnhill to assign his former chief on the Supreme Court to hold a term of Superior Court. And regardless of the need, by reason of illness or other incapacity of any member of the Supreme Court, there is presently no provision to utilize the ability and experience of the retired chief.

There have been several instances in recent years of a member of the court being absent for two to six weeks on account of illness. The late Justice Michael Schenk was incapacitated for months before his retirement, and the late Chief Justice Stacy was off the bench for short periods. There are many reasons other than illness which disqualify members of the court to sit on specific cases.

TEMPORARY—Legislative interpretation of the phrase "temporarily incapacitated" will be necessary to determine its application. Whether it would apply to one-case disqualification of a Justice is doubtful. Such instances of disqualification frequently arise. Justice Bobbitt came to the high court from the Superior Court bench just about a year ago. It is quite possible that matters which were heard in his lower court may come before the high tribunal, in which event he would not participate in consideration of them. Justice Higgins had an extensive law practice before coming to the court a month ago. If a case in which he appeared is appealed he will disqualify himself from considering the matter before the court.

Just last week Judge J.C. Russell disqualified himself to preside over a trial in Alexander Superior Court because he discovered that some years before he became a judge he had represented in another matter one

New Yuletide Mark

By ELMER ROESSNER
Assuming the use of a lot of imagination, advertising and hard work, retailers can set a new high in Christmas sales this year.

The highest December on record was in 1952, when retail sales hit $14,410,000,000. Last year things looked pretty good until the dip began late in the fall. December sales were $13,932,000,000—lower than any month in 1953.

This year the pattern is different. The early months of the year were depressed, but conditions have been improving in the second half and the Administration is saying that the dip is over.

Retail sales have been above the $14 billion mark since April, and in June and July they were at $14.4 billion a month. August figures are not yet available.

In short, business as a whole need only improve a little on early summer to hit a new mark. But that will take quite a bit of doing.

June and July figures are swelled each year by purchases of autos, vacation clothing, sports items and related articles. Stores to set a new mark, will have to make up for the winter drop in auto, gas and accessories sales—which constitute a big chunk of spending—and then sell a little bit more.

Favorable factors are the high level of personal income, which stayed up even during the decline earlier this year, and the international horizon which, if not fair, is not lit up by electrical storms.

Unfavorable is the consumer insistence on lower prices, as has been evidenced by the growth of discount selling. This may result in a slight decline in the average expenditure per person. Retailers will have to sell a lot more gifts to overcome even a slight drop in the average.

The business-gift market promises to be good this year. It has been increasing in dollar volume almost every year since the war; it appears to have gone ahead of last year when other gift-buying was down a bit. However, this year fewer contractors will be buying presents for government housing people.

NEW JERSEY A BARGAIN IN STATE TAX LEVIES
The average person paid $70.31 in state taxes during the fiscal year ending June 30, Commerce Clearing House calculates.
"State tax collections reached a new peak that year. The total was $11.1 billion.
The lowest per capita taxes were levied in New Jersey—$39. The highest were in Washington—$108, followed by California and Louisiana, tied at $102.
LAND AROUND JET AIRPORTS GOOD FOR TURNIPS AND SPUDS
Jet planes may be faster than the real estate dollar as well as faster than sound. In a report on "The Impact of Turbine-Powered Aircraft upon Land near Airports," the American Society of Planning Officials says that land around airports will be too noisy for sleep, work or conversation. The noise also cuts the milk yield of cows, discourages hens from laying and pigs from getting fat. In addition, there's the crash hazard.
LOCKING STABLE DOOR SAVES LOTS OF HORSES
Preventive maintenance in one plant has reduced maintenance costs more than 10 per cent and down-time 50 per cent, writes Walter F. Keleber, industrial engineer, in a new Technical Aid published by the Small Business Administration.

Scrawls By A Pavement Plato

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidewalk scrawls by a pavement Plato: My idea of a sophisticate is a man who enjoys chewing a raw oyster before swallowing it. But somehow I never completely trust a fellow who can do it. Never yet met a woman who'd admit she could.

Why is it that two out of three bus drivers, when you hand them a dollar bill, take such delight in giving you your change in nickels and dimes, even though they have plenty of quarters?

There are some signs of progress in our mad world. For example, you see fewer and fewer restaurants called "Dew Drop Inn."

Whenever I see the weird designs on a landscaped French poodle, I wonder what the results would be if you put a pair of scissors in the dog's paws and let him give his owner a haircut.

Prosperity note: Some panhandlers in the Wall Street district now start off by asking for half a buck.

Being useful isn't enough to win recognition in this civilization. You have to have a touch of glamour also. Whyever wrote a poem to an ash-tray—or a garbage pail?

An old-fashioned man is one who can remember when girls wore sweaters just to keep warm.

The saddest and most hopeless comment I ever heard on the problem of juvenile delinquency was this observation by a veteran detective: The real trouble is that one out of every three children today is born into a home where he isn't wanted."

Overheard on Broadway: "I wouldn't say he's cheap exactly, but the reason he doesn't carry his mother's picture in his wallet is that he doesn't believe in giving anybody a free ride."

The average man likes dogs better than cats because he feels a kinship to them. He knows that a dog is a loyal-hearted fool who blunders through life making all kinds of mistakes, but at least isn't smug. A cat, whatever else it is, is smug. If it does do something wrong, it never apologizes, as a dog does. Women like cats because they envy their feline self-sufficiency, and because cats rarely, if ever, show a sense of guilt.
It would save a lot of family quarrels in America if, when a couple went to buy a new car, the automobile agency would sell them one with the first scratch a "dy on the fender."
A Fifth Avenue salon now is offering something for the ladies called a "Huck Fin" haircut. This should go a long way toward making Mark Twain famous.
One of the oddities about a policeman's lot in New York City is that if he shoots a criminal he has to pay for the bullets out of his own pocket.
No old maid is ever resigned to spinsterhood until she quits buying kiss-proof lipsticks. On the other hand no sensible girl will count any bachelor as a good marital prospect if he has learned to sew a button that will really "stay on."
How is the ordinary wife able to make a two-bit can opener last longer than an expensive fur coat?

Business Clue Trends In Profit Statements

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—First earnings reports indicate today that the nation's manufacturing and mining companies found the going rougher during the summer months.

Early returns from the banks, however, show their third-quarter profits slightly higher than a year ago.

Railroad earnings for the first eight months of the year are markedly lower than in 1953, with every indication that their nine-month report—to come out in the next few weeks—will show substantial declines.

At the half-year point, manufacturing and mining companies as a whole managed to break a little better than even with the same period in 1953 in net profit after taxes.

But a slow third quarter may pull the nine-month figures lower than in 1953. That year saw nine-month earnings running 18 per cent ahead of 1952. It was only in the fourth quarter of last year that the drop in industrial production began to take its toll of earnings.

So far 27 manufacturing and mining companies have reported their nine-month earnings this year. Their combined profits after taxes come to $72,654,552, a drop of 11.4 per cent below the $80,025,488 the same companies earned in the first nine months of 1953.

These companies have fiscal years that do not correspond to the calendar year. For most of them the first nine months of their fiscal year ends Aug. 31.

The great mass of companies are yet to be heard from. Their earnings statements will be coming out in the next month or two. The reports of the off-beat 27 can be accepted only as a possible indication of the earnings trend.

Eleven of them did better this year than last. In this group are makers of appliances, textile machinery, corsets and brassieres, chemicals and heavy machinery, and oil producers.

Of the 16 whose earnings are down this year one operated in the red in the first nine months. Others in this group with lower earnings include: textiles, iron, brass, copper, zinc and lead, paint, rubber, and two machinery and two appliance makers.

French Premier Is Good Gambler

WASHINGTON (AP)—From what can be seen of his tactics, Pierre Mendes-France, the French premier and "reign minister," has proved himself a superb gambler.

At the nine-power London conference which agreed to let West Germany rearm, Mendes-France played one of the toughest, shrewdest and most daring games of diplomatic poker in recent years.

France could have come out of that game discredited, isolated and perhaps forced to watch her allies let the Germans rearm, whether the French liked it or not, and without any French say about how much rearming Germans could do.

The result could have swept the French into a backwater of history, reducing them to the status of a truly second-rate European power.

But at the same time, Mendes-France knew the enormous stake which his allies particularly the Americans and British, had in this game. They wanted quickly a real, and not illusory, defense against Russia.

To make it real called for a Germany rearmed in alliance with the French, not a Germany rearmed at the expense of an angered France.

So, although Mendes-France knew how much France could lose if he lost, he knew also that his allies would have to choose between losing the chance for a firm defense or making concessions to him.

He went into the London conference with the United States, Britain and Germany more than a week ago demanding concessions. One of the biggest concessions he wanted was from the British.

He wanted the British to reverse an age-old policy and promise to keep British troops on The European continent as a guarantee against the day when perhaps a re-armed Germany might turn on her French ally.

The old British policy had been to make alliances with European nations, balancing one off against the other, while never committing her own troops to service on the Continent.

The United States and Britain had both tried to push the French into joining a single European army with rearmed Germany. This would have meant, for the French, giving up their own national army.

That was one of the reasons the French Assembly voted down the single-army idea. Among other reasons was the British refusal to heed the French request that they keep troops in Europe permanently.

The British might have saved the single army if they had given that promise. Instead they sat on their hands.

Clean-Up Day For Yards Alleys, Lots, Buildings

Tomorrow will be clean-up day for the city's yards, alleys, vacant lots, factories and stores, according to Greenville's Fire Prevention chairman Sherman Parks.

All citizens are urged by the committee to remove all unnecessary combustible material and place it at the curbs in containers to be removed by the city Street Department.

Parks said all material which must be retained on the premises and which burns easily should be stored safely.

Factories and stores have been provided with blanks for inspection of their buildings to make it easier for them to observe this clean-up day campaign, Parks stated.

Home owners are asked to clean their back yards and vacant lots of leaves and grass, remove all surplus useless boxes, old paint and other rubbish from their garages and store any useful combustible material in fire safe containers.

Citizens are reminded by the committee that insurance rates are based on fire losses and these precautions will not only help to keep insurance costs at a minimum but also save lives and property.

Fire Prevention Week in Greenville is being sponsored by the materials used in the program, and urges full participation that fire losses in the city may be held to a minimum.

On Paper, Elon Is Tougher Than Record Would Show

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

In a pre-season commentary, Coach Sid Varney of the Elon Christians said "We should be decidedly stronger in 1954 over our football eleven of last year."

But so far, the Christians have been unable to muster a single victory. The Citadel jarred them 21-7 in the season's opener and last week Appalachian repelled them 30-6.

So, against the Pirates in Burlington this Saturday Elon will have among their objectives: 1. elevation from winless doldrums; 2. dethroning of the conference champions.

On paper, Coach Varney should have a stronger unit than their record indicates. Only losses by graduation from the '53 squad were Co-Captain John Platt and Dwight Dillon at halfback and tackle respectively and Guard Marvin Moss. A number of other boys were lost to the armed services, though, and two left school. But from a look at their roster, Coach Varney should have good replacements to offset these.

The Christians record last year was 1-1-6. Optimism hit the camp after impressive winter drills. Improvement was noted in almost every category.

Among the 15 lettermen returning are Co-Captain J. C. Disher at one of the ends and veteran quarterback Bill Snyder. Disher is a great defensive player and capable passer. Snyder has developed into a good passer and directs Elon split-T attack smartly.

Whitney Bradham, Kerry Richards and Paul Watts are a hard-running trio of halfbacks. The three have carried the Christians' offensive burden in their first two games. In Charlie Michaux, Coach Varney has another standout terminal. Michaux was the talk of the state when he performed on Fayetteville's high school teams.

Big men in the line are Jim Hawkins, Pat Cafasso, Nick Theos, and Bob Kopp, tackles; Chuck Maynard and Glenn Varney, guards; and Homer Hoggood, center.

Coach Varney has an array of non-lettermen and freshmen which should be another benefactor.

East Carolina's Pirates yesterday whipped through offensive drills giving special attention to line blocking and play timing. Work on pass patterns and a signal-drill also was included on the day agenda.

Dick Cherry was out in light tugs loosening up his left ankle. His surprisingly fast recovery from a broken left ankle has shot the camp's spirits skyward. He is expected to be in playing condition soon.

Boyd Webb, Milton Collier and

Gary Mattocks alternated at the quarterback post in the passing practice. Fullback Claude King, the first East Carolina player hurt after the season opened was back at his old fullback post and running full speed. He shared the duties, though, with Harold O'Kelly, his replacement in the Pirates' last two games. David Lee guard, was also going through the paces in heavy equipment.

A defensive scrimmage is on tap for the gridirers this afternoon. The Pirate coaching staff is given the Elon game every consideration and expect a tough game from the Christians.

'No Upsets' Says Coach Lou Little

NEW YORK (AP)—Football upsets are not upsets at all, says Columbia's Coach Lou Little, who refuses to concede that the anti-platoon rule has proved the "great equalizer" of the autumn sport.

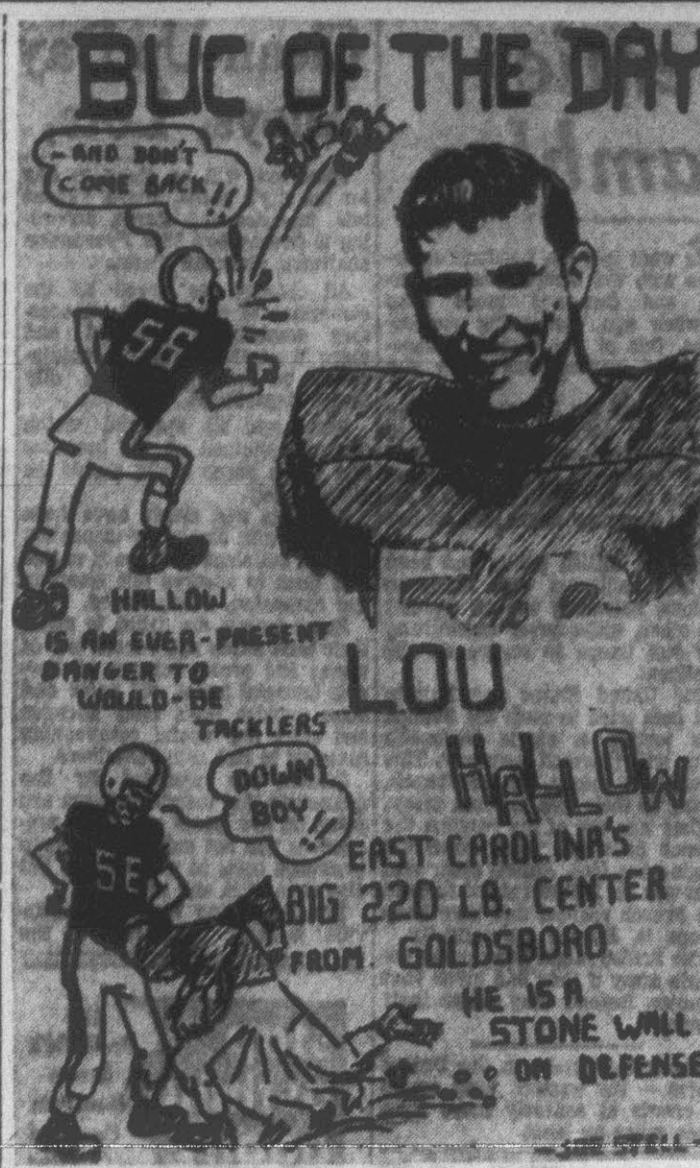

"It's no upset when Purdue scores 27 points on Notre Dame," the bespectacled ringmaster of Morningside Heights said. "It's no upset when South Carolina beats Army and Army beats Michigan."

"These are teams playing within their own class and in this modern game of football the fortunes of a game shift swiftly—a couple of good passes and a breakaway run can turn defeat into victory."

"I think football games today are won by superior coaching and superior personnel. A team takes advantage of its opportunities and wins but it's not an upset unless the team is playing out of its class."

Still a strong proponent of the unlimited substitution rule, Little said this year's all-star college football game in Chicago proved that the one-platoon system is not a leveler of strength.

"The pros had to discard the unlimited substitution rule and play with the college restrictions," he said. "This was supposed to make it closer game. Instead, the pros (Detroit Lions) won 31-0. They could have won by twice as much."

Meet "Lou" Hollow, 6-1, 220-pound center from Goldsboro. The pivotman is in his second season under Coach Jack Boone and has established a solid reputation as the league's most rugged linebacker. A savage tackler, Lou likes to mix it hot and heavy—the rougher the going the better he likes it. He backs the East Carolina defense, swatting down short passes and putting the brakes on agile scatbacks.

His selection to the All-North State Conference team his first year at East Carolina was fitting tribute to his gridiron ability.

It was in prep school at Goldsboro that Lou first began to receive notices from coaches and sports writers. His name began adorning mythical honor teams. He played three years of varsity football in Goldsboro under Coach Bill Causey.

During his junior and senior years, the Earthquakes had great seasons, compiling 9-2 and 7-2-1 marks, respectively. The outstanding play of Lou at center was a weighty factor. Coaches of the Eastern AAA Conference voted him to the All-Conference team both years.

He was recognized on the All-State second eleven his junior year. As a senior, he played 60 minutes in the Optimist Bowl game as co-captain for the eastern team. He also participated in the East-West All-Star game in Greensboro and was given a citation for his outstanding play.

Besides his football achievements at Goldsboro High, he was also selected twice to the All-Conference basketball team. He was a fine play-maker guard.

He was introduced to college football at Wake Forest in '51. He played as a freshman with the Demon Deacon varsity. He saw action in five varsity games at a linebacker post.

He sat out a year's eligibility at East Carolina and last year took up where he left off at Wake Forest.

This season Lou is being groomed for All-State and Little All-America honors, besides being shoo-in again for All-Conference.

He is majoring in physical education and is working for a B.S. degree.

Purdue Taking Duke Seriously

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's big Bollermakers, getting ready to hammer at Duke Saturday, are going about their two hour daily practice sessions as soberly as journeymen pipitfers.

Coach Stu Holcomb and his boys are only ankle deep in a schedule that leaves no time for gloating over last Saturday's 27-14 defeat of Notre Dame or building up an emotional peak for Duke.

Five of the first 10 teams in this week's Associated Press ratings are signed up to play Purdue this season:

Notre Dame, No. 1 last week, now is No. 8. Duke is No. 6 one step back of the Bollermakers. On Oct. 16 Purdue travels to Wisconsin, ranked third in the country. It goes to fourth ranked Iowa Nov. 6 and plays Ohio State No. 10, in Lafayette, Nov. 13.

The Bollermakers also have assorted games with Michigan State, Illinois and Indiana, and already have beaten Missouri.

Guy J. (Red) Mackey Purdue athletic director, denies that he set out deliberately to make the toughest schedule in the country.

"These games were scheduled three and four years ago," Red explains. "How did we know all of 'em were going to be tough this year?"

Anyway, the squad is showing no symptoms of loafing after the Notre Dame success.

Holcomb told the boys yesterday that Duke's backs are faster than last year, when the Blue Devils beat the Bollermakers at Durham, 20-14, on quarterback Jerry Barger's touchdown in the last 40 seconds.

He pointed out that Barger is still around and scored the first touchdown in Duke's 52-0 rout of Pennsylvania.

Sign Stan Hack

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, as they had indicated earlier, yesterday signed Stan Hack to manage the club for a second year.

Hack took over last spring after Phil Cavarretta quit. The Cubs finished in seventh place.

Terms of Hack's one year contract were not announced.

Patton Accorded Golfing Tribute

GREENSBORO (AP)—Billy Joe Patton was named the man "who contributed most to North Carolina golf during 1953" by the Carolinas Section of the Professional Golfers Assn. here last night.

The Morganton amateur sensation of the 1954 Masters and National Open received a plaque from the Carolinas PGA President Dugan Aycock of Lexington, N.C. Maj. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, commander of the 9th Air Force at Shaw Air Force Base, Sumter, S.C., was the principal speaker at a dinner attended by more than 100 Carolinas golfing figures.

He praised the organization for its help in providing golfing facilities and instruction at various service bases in the Carolinas and termed the facilities "great morale builders."

Patton said of the honor paid him, "It's the greatest I ever expect to receive."

Aycock was re-elected president of the section and Purvis Ferre of Winston-Salem was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Vice presidents named include Joe Cheves, Morganton; Charles Farlow, Greensboro; Palmer Maples, Rocky Mount; Grant Bennett, Florence, S.C. and Jimmy D'Angelo, Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Scoring Line In Boys Town Team

OMAHA — In the opening two football games this season for the Boys Town High School football team, the one-two punch for the first touchdown came from a tackle and an end.

In each game Boys Town shot out in front when Ed Glentworth Hepburn blocked a punt and tackle Ed Rander grabbed the ball to carry it into the end zone. The first time Rander went 33 yards and the second 35 yards.

Tampa Salutes Lopez' Return

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—This is Al Lopez day in Tampa, the day of the official name for the manager of the C. and Indians.

Lopez returned yesterday but city officials agreed to give him a day at home before putting on the big celebration.

Dedication of Tampa's new baseball park as Al Lopez Field was the first event on the day's programs. Mayor Curtis Hixon will present keys to the field and to the city to the hometown baseball star.

Glum Tar Heels Hold Grim Workouts For Georgia Tilt

North Carolina's Tar Heels had double trouble in many elements this week as they sought to get ready for their game with Georgia's Bulldogs in Kenan Stadium here Saturday at 2 p.m.

It has been definitely decreed that their star left tackle, Jack Maulsby, will be unable to play as a result of a pulled knee tendon. The squad was still in the doldrums over its unexpected 7-7 tie with underdog Tulane at New Orleans last week. And the loss of its highly respected and popular trainer, Fitz Lutz, by a sudden heart attack, has made Navy practice field a cheerless spot.

Coach George Barclay and staff, saddened like the athletes over Lutz' death, have been conducting grins practice sessions, hopeful that by week's end spirits will be lifted for a rousing battle with Georgia. "It takes a little time to get over something like this," said Barclay, "but we hope to be ready when Georgia gets here."

"Our boys felt badly over not doing better at New Orleans and I still have confidence in their ability."

In midweek Barclay was not sure of his starting lineup and there has been some experimenting but mostly it will have to be the same boys carrying the load on the streamlined Tar Heel squad. Connie Gravitte has definitely established himself as the team's most dangerous runner, with a 7.2 rushing average for the year, and it is hoped that Ken Keller, who has been bothered by a sprained ankle, will come into his own for the first time as another spectacular ball advancer.

While the Tar Heels have won one, over N.C. State, and been tied in their only other start, against Tulane, Georgia holds wins over Florida State and Clemson while being beaten by Texas A. & M. Jimmy Harper has developed into a first rate quarterback, as successor to Zeke Bratkowski, and Capt. Joe O'Malley as a flanker is the key man in a good Bulldog line.

The Tar Heels have lost two in a row to the Bulldogs following a 0-0 tie in 1950. No game was played in 1952. In the overall series, North Carolina has won eleven, Georgia nine with two ties.

Long Scrimmage Held By G-Men

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's Phantoms went through a lengthy scrimmage yesterday afternoon at the Brookgreen Practice field with the injured not participating in the drill.

Tackle Tommy Smith is still nursing the sprained ankle he first hurt before the Kinston game. Smith will probably be ready to go by the end of this week. It is almost certain he will participate in the Elizabeth City game. This week the G-men have an open date, then meet the Yellow Jackets in Greenville for their homecoming game.

Center and linebacker Pat Sawyer also did not participate in the scrimmage. Sawyer hurt his knee again in the Washington game Friday and has held out of practice since to allow the swelling to go down. When Sawyer will be ready has not been determined as yet.

The rest of the team is near top physical condition.

In yesterday's drill Coach Bill Kittrell had Jerry Drum quarterbacking most of the time. Bob Howell and Mitchell Johnson were the halfbacks with Larry Powell and Billy Sermons alternating at fullback.

Johnson looked very impressive in broken field running during the drill while the rest of the backs picked up good yardage on the power plays.

The Greemies will continue to work out the remainder of this week and will have next week for final preparations before the Elizabeth City game.

Blues Upset, 13-12, In Midget Football

Coach Jimmy Webb's Gold team roared back for 13 points in the fourth quarter to upset the Blue team in Midget football yesterday afternoon by a score of 13-12.

The win was the first of the year for the Gold who lost their only other start. For the Blue it was the second consecutive defeat.

The Blue team marched into a 6-9 halftime lead when Charlie Ross fired a 25 yard pass to end Erskine Duff for a touchdown. The extra point was no good for the Blue when the Gold line stopped Harry Forbes shy of the mark.

All during the first half the Blue team was right on the Gold line but never could push the ball across as the Gold team's defense rose to the occasion.

On the last play of the third quarter Delbert Smith intercepted a Blue pass on his five yard line and returned to the 18. From there quarterback Rabbit Taft hit Tommy Braxton at the sidelines and Braxton went 62 yards to score for the Gold. An attempted pass for the extra point was not good.

Seconds later Braxton fell on a Blue fumble at the 7. On the next play Jack Whitley skirted right end for the score and the Gold led 12-6. Rabbit Taft hit Braxton in the end zone for the extra point that won the game.

John Boyd took the kickoff for the Blue and ran 60 yards for a TD but the extra point was no good and the game was decided.

Williams Shuns Comeback Talk

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams was back in Miami today to look after his fishing tackle business and other interests, but he gave no indication he will play baseball next year.

Williams told Jimmy Burns, sports editor of the Miami Herald, on arrival from Maine last night that his retirement from baseball is official—"right as I feel at this moment."

"Williams' good-nature was ruffled slightly when I persisted on the retirement theme, reminding him that a sports writer friend of his said in a Sporting News article, 'Ted will be back,'" Burns wrote.

"I'll appreciate it if you don't ask me again," Burns quoted Williams.

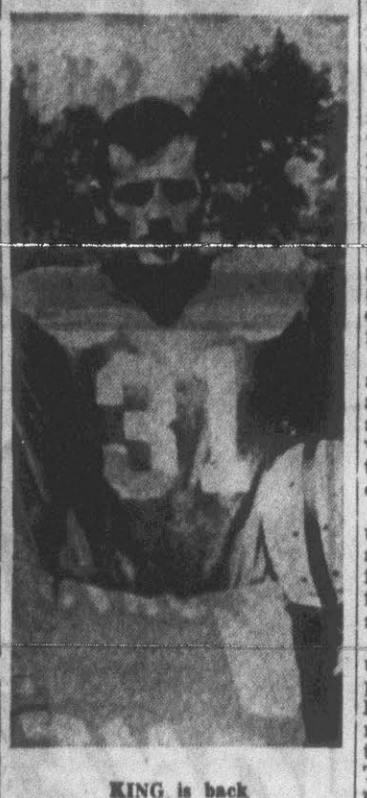

The slugger is a partner in a fishing tackle business and also is interested in a business venture with golfer Sam Snead which he said "shows great potentialities."

"I've got a lot of things to do and a lot of places to go," Williams said. "I'm going to be a busy man."

Hunters Warned By Bambi's Bell

LANESVILLE, Va. (AP)—For the hunting season, Mrs. John Previa has put the bell on Bambi again. Bambi is a pet buck deer the Previas rescued from a pack of dogs three years ago when it was a young fawn. Now very much domesticated, Bambi has no fear of humans and constantly pandhandles the m for crackers and candy.

Lanesville, is in the heart of Virginia's deer hunting country. But for three seasons Bambi's bell has been a safe badge of domesticity.

KING is back

Deac Scouts Report Maryland Is Rugged

WAKE FOREST — Wake Forest didn't have much time to be happy about the win over N.C. State. Before the Deacons started any victory celebrations, assistant coach Red Cochran gave the scouting report on Maryland.

The Deacons take on Maryland, last year's number one team in the nation, Saturday in Winston-Salem. Kickoff is at 2 p.m. for the Atlantic Coast Conference game.

"Maryland will be out for blood after losing to UCLA," Cochran told the team. "UCLA didn't beat the Terps. They beat themselves," he went on, "and they're anxious to rebound after the loss."

UCLA beat Maryland 13-7 after two faulty Terrapin kicks set up the touchdowns.

"Maryland is tough any time," Cochran continued, "but will be especially tough after losing a heart-breaker. We would have to play a terrific game to beat them had they won last week. Now we will have to be even better."

Cochran was high in his praise of Ronnie Waller, the Terps' fancy-stepping halfback, and Fullback Dick Bleski, the workhorse of the Maryland backfield. He pointed out that both are fine runners capable of giving any team a busy afternoon.

"And just to keep you on your toes, Charley Boxold's passes are accurate and potent."

The Deacons came through the 26-0 win over State with no serious injuries. Coach Tom Rogers was pleased with the running game and probably will stick to the same starting backfield against Maryland.

That combination had Nick Consolos at quarterback, Bill Barnes and Burt Harrison at halfbacks and Charles Topping at fullback. John Farham, Bob Frederick and Dick Daniels also will see plenty of action in the backfield.

Flying Fish Ends Their Bad Luck

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Dig this fish story.

Margaret Sznicsak, 17, and her brother James 15, were trying their fishing luck off Belmont Pier the other week. But every day they came home empty-handed.

Then their luck changed. A quarter of a mile from the pier they spotted a seagull winging toward shore with a huge fish in its grasp.

Right above Maggie and Jim, the gull swooped down and dropped a wriggling 16-inch spotfin croaker.

The Sznicsak family ate fish that night. But somewhere in Long Beach a seagull was hungry.

Rookie Pitcher Karl Spooner Is Dodgers' Hope

BROOKLYN—Despite their failure to win the National League flag, the Dodgers added their season with an air of optimism. And all because of the splendid hurling of 23-year old rookie southpaw Karl Spooner.

Spooner pecked up the Dodgers by pitching two successive shutouts and chalking up a strikeout record at the same time.

By fanning 15 Giants he established a major league mark for rookies in their first game. He added 12 more strikeouts against the Pirates and thereby set a National League record for two consecutive games.

Brooklyn brass expects Spooner to lead the Dodger hurling parade in 1955. Together with another lefty, Johnny Podres, plus veterans Carl Erskine, Don Newcombe, Russ Meyer and Billy Loes, the pitching staff could be the strongest in the league.

Baby Tar Heels Play Thursday

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — The University of North Carolina freshman football team, a bit short on man power due to practice injuries to key personnel, will get its season under way Thursday night in Laurinburg, N.C., against the South Carolina Frosh. Game time is 8 p.m.

Tar Baby Coach Ralph Floyd will be forced to do without the services of five potential starters. On the injury list are end John Schroeder, tackle Paul Blazer, center Jim Jones, halfback Wallace Vale and fullback John Gach.

Tar Heel George V. Allen Is Trouble-Shooting Diplomat

By MARGARET KERNDLE. WASHINGTON (AP) — Catching speckled trout in his native North Carolina is still a big treat for George Venable Allen, who is rounding out 20 years of diplomacy, most of it of the trouble-shooting variety.

Now ambassador to India, the 51-year-old Allen is expected to be appointed soon as an assistant secretary of state.

Along with his milestone in the diplomatic service he is celebrating 20 years of marriage to the former Katharine Martin of Washington, D. C. They were married 20 years ago last Saturday and sailed the next day for Greece and the first diplomatic post of which he was in charge.

"It's important to have typical American family life presented through diplomatic representatives," Allen says.

They have three sons, George Jr., 18, a Princeton freshman; John, 16, in his third year at Deerfield Academy; and Richard, 9, a student at St. Albans School for Boys here.

His prospective new assignment would put him in charge of Near Eastern, South Asian and African affairs or one-fourth of the world by State Department geographic areas. There are four such assistant secretaries of state.

Allen probably will return to New Delhi the latter part of this month without his family. Although his appointment as an assistant secretary of state is not official, he acknowledges that Mrs. Allen is home hunting here.

The Allens own a home on fashionable Massachusetts Avenue, but, anticipating being in India indefinitely, they leased it out last July for two years to the Brazilian ambassador to the Pan-American Union.

Allen spent two weeks recently in North Carolina, the first week his 85-year-old father, Thomas E. Allen, and his mother in Durham where he was born. Next, he had a week of trout fishing at Rainbow Springs with Don Shoemaker, editor of The Asheville Citizen, and Don S. Elias, vice president of the Asheville Citizen-Times Publishing Co.

"We caught 17 speckled trout for dinner one night," Allen said, making clear they came from the lake because the season for stream fishing, which he prefers, ended the day before he arrived in the North Carolina mountains.

Allen recalled that about 25 years ago he was a cub reporter on the Asheville Times along with Robert Bunnelle, who last week was named publisher of The Asheville Citizen and Times.

Allen plans to be in Asheville Saturday to address the National Conference of Editorial Writers.

"I worked on the newspaper and taught school to save money to study international law at Harvard University because I always wanted to go away to school," Allen continued in an interview. He taught at Grace High School at Asheville, and was principal at Weaverville and Sand Hill, both in Buncombe (Asheville) County.

"I went to school in Durham and was a sophomore at Trinity College (now Duke University) when I decided to take foreign service exams," he recalled.

"I got interested in foreign service as a result of a course in European history at Trinity College in 1920-21 at the time of the formation of the League of Nations. I got enthusiastic about the idea that the 19th century was a century of nationalism and the 20th century would be a century of internationalism. A real opportunity for youth, I thought."

The Allens have picked up foreign languages where they found them, mostly in the Middle East. "We learned more Greek than any other language and liked it best," he said.

Dick at the age of seven spoke Serbian so well in Belgrade he acted as interpreter for his parents, his father related.

"He told Mommy what the maid wanted, and told the maid what Mommy wanted when they couldn't understand each other. He would interpret for me when I couldn't get the words across."

Allen credited Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina with making him ambassador to Iran. He said he had been working closely with Byrnes, then Secretary of State, "on the first substantive case before the United Nations when Iran appealed to get the Russian troops out of Iran." So off to Iran he went.

Allen tries to combine work and play whenever possible.

"Tennis and badminton, he said, 'are crackerjack sports for getting people together.'"

He rated the Shah of Iran as the best tennis player he ever played with. He'd like to play more golf.

Allen, a lean fellow with dark hair greying at the temples, proudly pointed out that he smokes North Carolina-made cigarettes.

Close associates describe Allen as a man noted for "initiative," "judgment," and "ability to bring people of divergent views together to work out practical solutions of difficult problems."

Allen says he keeps healthy by not taking his job to bed with him.

Allen has spent most of his diplomatic career as a top trouble shooter in the Middle East and the Balkans. He headed the American delegation to the UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) meeting in Lebanon in 1948; participated in the Big Three conference in Moscow with Secretary of State Cordell Hull in 1943; attended the Cairo meeting the same year, participated in the 1945 San Francisco meeting at which the United Nations organization was formed, and accompanied President Harry Truman to the Potsdam conference.

His first foreign service assignment was to Jamaica in 1930. He also served in Cairo and Shanghai. Allen is a Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma Phi and a member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase clubs here.

The United States has "the best product in the world to sell," he said recently. "The people of the world are being offered a choice between liberty and a police state."

And our diplomatic service, he declares, must have good, solid American representation abroad to give a picture of an American home. It's a lot of trouble to have the children travel. The health, school and transportation problems are very great. But it tends to strengthen awareness on the part of the diplomat of his Americanism and keeps him in contact with his country."

Then, with his infectious grin, he added, "It keeps you from falling into the temptation of getting eccentric because of the artificiality of the life of diplomacy."

TAX REDUCTION RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — Five successive annual property tax cuts — by eliminating nonvital city expenditures — brought Richmond's rate per $100 assessed valuation from $2.50 in 1949 down to $2.17 in 1954.

Dr. Messick Talks On Scout Financial Drive

Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina College and chairman of the finance committee of the East Carolina Council of Boy Scouts of America discussed before the Grifton Lions Club Monday night the current Boy Scout finance campaign.

Dr. Messick reminded the organization for Scouts is the only one of which the President of the United States is ex officio chairman, and the only one recognized by the United States Congress as being the official body through which Americanism is taught.

The speaker declared the minds of children must be impressed with what America means in contrast to what many of the totalitarian systems hold for their people. Otherwise they are vulnerable to attack from other governmental ideologies and, therefore, subject to deviation from the democratic way of life.

Dr. Messick pointed out that October 5 was the designated time to launch the campaign to finance Scouting for another year, and it is being carried out simultaneously in the two Carolinas, Georgia, and Florida.

Last year, he said, only $73,000 was requested, but this year $85,542, will be needed to carry on the work and to pay expenses of two additional field executives who are necessary.

There are, he stated, only 10 per cent or 7,774 white and Negro boys in the East Carolina Council now being benefited by Scouting. The objective is at least 9,000 this year and to increase this number annually so that more and more boys can have the mental, physical and emotional training which is so important for growing youth.

Dr. Messick told members of the Lions Club, "The home, the school, church and community all must strive toward a renewed effort in seeing that our boys and girls are safeguarded against any other way of life than that which is Christian and American, and against growing into weakened physiques, unable to undergo the rigorous activities demanded of them."

The Grifton Lions Club is sponsor of the Boy Scout campaign drive in Grifton.

Pastor Pays $42 In Parking Fines

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — The Rev. J. T. Moriarty of St. Patrick's Church here paid off $42 in traffic parking tickets for his parishioners.

During services Sunday, he told all car owners whose cars were ticketed while they were attending services to bring the tickets to him. There were 42 of them at $1 each.

The cars were ticketed because they were parked on the wrong side of a street past the church on which parking is limited to one side only.

Mayor William Keenan said he will ask the City Council to strike out the limitation on the church street.

Tears for the Bride

SYNOPSIS
When the noted sleuth, Jim Bennett, accepted the invitation of his secretary, Sandy Hollis, to join with her family for a weekend of pheasant shooting in rural Ohio, he looked forward to a pleasant, quiet time. But when he met her family and friends, he realized that he was amid a drama of human conflict as tense as anything he'd experienced in his long crime-detection career. Sandy's young son, set brother, Ralph, had "ditched" the spirited Judy Kirkland for the dollie Eileen Fortune, and the hate between these two women flew like sparks. But the pheasant hunt proceeds as scheduled with the Hollis', Eileen Fortune and her father Jake, and Bennett, armed and equipped to bring down birds. On a ridge overlooking the Kirkland property, Ralph Hollis is felled by gun-shot and lies bleeding and unconscious on the ground. Judy Kirkland, wildly distraught, rushes to his side, admitting that she has been shooting back of the ridge, and that her gun may have accidentally got Ralph.

CHAPTER NINE
SANDY and I stood helplessly in the hospital corridor. After endless waiting, the doctor came to us and said "Ralph's got a chance. Two of the slugs penetrated the lung wall. How did it happen?"
Sandy glanced helplessly at me, and I told the doctor all I knew about the accident. When I finished, he looked thoughtful and said quietly, "I see. Who are you, by the way?"
"My name's Bennett—Jim Bennett."
Sandy said, "Doctor he's my boss in Cleveland. We came down together yesterday."
The doctor snapped his fingers. "Of course. The fact that Sandy works for you makes her a kind of celebrity around here." He smiled and held out a hand. "Glad to meet you, Jim."
We shook hands, and he said, "I've got to run my office will be full." He glanced up at a big clock on the wall. "But first I've got to run out past your folk's place, Sandy. Can I give you a lift?"
"No, thanks," Sandy said. "I'll stay here for a while. Will Ralph be all right?"
He hedged, as all doctors must. "I'll check him in a couple of hours."
As he moved away, I saw Mr. and Mrs. Hollis and Eileen Fortune coming up the corridor. Sandy went to meet them and I heard her say, "Now, don't worry. He'll be all right."

tree-fringed ravine wound across the land of all three farms.
Dr. Mazzini said carefully, "It was an accident?"
I looked at him in surprise. "Of course."
He sat with his hands on the wheel and his eyes were bleak as they surveyed the countryside. "You wanted out here," he said, "and not at the Hollis lane. To me, that means you're going to look over the scene where it happened. You're a detective with a big agency. You're almost the same as the law, and I know how your mind works. When I was just out of Western Reserve and entering I had a part-time job with the coroner's office. We had some homicides, of course. I helped on some of them, and I got to know some of the city detectives." He paused, his eyes on the horizon. "Go on," I said gently.
He turned toward me. "I assume that you are aware that Judy Kirkland is a hellion that Ralph Hollis killed her for Eileen Fortune?"
"I had the impression that it was the other way around," I said. "Didn't Judy give Ralph the gate?"
He shrugged. "What's the difference? I suppose you're wondering why I'm so interested?"
"I can guess," I said. "Good luck."
He laughed shortly. "I know what you mean. She's spoiled and bored and selfish, like a high bred horse or a blue ribbon dog—she needs somebody to crack the whip." He gave me a sidelong look. "And why am I telling you all this?"
"I don't know," I said, "unless you figure you're the guy to crack the whip. That's why I wish you good luck."
"Ha—gaze—shifted—away—from—mine, and he gunned the Ford's motor."
I opened the door. "Thanks for the lift, Doc."
"What do you expect to find over there?" He jerked his head toward the fields.
"Probably nothing."
"But you've got to look?"
"Habit," I said. "Maybe just plain nosiness. I was with Ralph when he was hit. Maybe I can figure out how it happened. Anyhow, I've got the afternoon to kill."
I got out and closed the door and walked across to the woods. As I moved through the trees I felt a vague uneasiness. It wasn't like the city and yet it was the same. A man can be terribly alone in the city with people all around him, and I had a feeling of loneliness now, a vague sensation of danger. I was odd' relieved when I left the woods and began to cross the open meadow. The ravine was directly ahead, and I saw the big beech tree where Ralph had fallen.
I went down into the ravine, imagining that I was Ralph, and climbed up to the ridge and stood by the beech tree and gazed down into the valley. I saw the thicket where Judy Kirkland had said she had stood when she had fired at the pheasant rising from the ravine behind Ralph Hollis. I shifted my position until I thought I was standing in the same spot I'd seen Ralph just before the shotgun charge struck him. I stood beside the tree still imagining that I was Ralph, and that Judy Kirkland was standing in the thicket directly below me with her gun poised for a quick shot at a bird rising behind me.
Two hours ago, if I had been Ralph, I would have been facing the sun, and the sun would have been at Judy's back—she could have seen me clearly, if she had been looking. And then I put myself in Judy's place, standing in thick underbrush, and wearing dark sun glasses, and sighting swiftly on a bird winging fast into the sky. Would I have noticed a man standing above me, between me and the bird?

DELAYED MAIL
AQUA CALIENTA (Sonoma county), Calif. (AP)—The post office here was closed in 1952, but an old iron box was left outside. A passing post office official recently found the box stuffed with musty mail which he forwarded.

Power Failure Tied Up Trucks
KEENE, N.H. (AP)—"How soon will you get it fixed on Portland Street?"
The call didn't sound unusual to the power company operator during a recent storm.
"We're right up there working on it," was the reply as he made ready to record the call. "Who's calling please?"
"This is the Telephone Co." said the voice.
"Oh," said the operator, making conversation, "have you got a lot of trouble too?"
"Well things aren't so good right now," replied the voice. "You see our garage doors are electrically operated and we can't get our trucks out."
According to a researcher, superstitions are becoming more numerous — rather than dying out — in modern civilization.

For low-cost, durable streets pave with Soil-Cement
Soil-cement paving is ideal for residential streets. It eliminates mud, dust, ruts, bumps and chuckholes. It is an economical, durable, all-weather pavement.
ECONOMY. Street soil (or old granular pavement) is about 85% of the material needed. Mixed with portland cement and water it forms a base. A bituminous surface completes the pavement. Records prove that maintenance cost is extremely low.
DURABILITY. In all parts of the country—from 40° below zero to more than 100° above, from arid regions to areas exceeding 60 inches of rain a year—soil-cement has proved its durability through long years of service. So, if you're tired of rough, dusty, unsightly streets insist on soil-cement—today's best low-cost pavement.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — The stock market was higher in the early afternoon today, continuing its climb into new high territory which it entered yesterday after a mild reaction of about a week.

As a usual thing, gains went to around a point, but some extended their advantage to between 1 and 2 points.

Activity was well distributed and hit a pace in the region of yesterday's 2,300,000 shares.

Among the better acting divisions were railroads, oils, steels, and aircrafts. The motors, utilities, coppers, and airlines held steady.

Work Of Moose Is Described For Newest Members

Some 150 new Moose candidates from four lodges in nearby cities and the Greenville lodge last night heard Jay J. Stoehr, assistant regional director of enrollment for the Moose, laud the work of Moosehart, a home for children maintained by the Moose.

The candidates heard Stoehr speak following initiation ceremonies held in the West Greenville School auditorium. Following the ceremonies the group moved to the Moose Hall on Dickinson Avenue where a buffet supper was served.

"Through you men in the Loyal Order of the Moose, you are making it possible for us to clothe and house and educate children who might not otherwise have a chance," Stoehr declared.

"We have a fine class tonight," the assistant director continued. "I don't know how many are in this class but I do know this—that each of you joined for a little bit different reason than the other."

Stoehr stated that when an individual joins an organization he should ask himself one question: "Is this organization worthy of my support?"

"The Moose believe that it is," he said of the Moose program.

He noted that McCall's magazine is carrying an article on Moosehart in its November issue telling what the Moose are doing for children who have lost one or both parents.

He emphasized that the magazine would not take its time and space for this if it did not think it was worthy.

He also mentioned Moosehaven, the Moose home for the aged in Florida.

Stoehr said that one of the things which makes this country so great is "the fact that we can be volunteers in volunteer organizations."

He was introduced by Frank Ray, regional director of the Moose in the Carolinas and Virginia.

Stoehr represents the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D.C. He is the son of J. Jack Stoehr, regional director, past Supreme Governor and recent director general of the Moose.

Girl Scout Program Is Said Off To Good Start

"Our Girl Scout organization has gotten off to a good start this year," Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, local Girl Scout Director, stated this morning.

She said all the troops have begun meeting, each with a leader and an assistant leader.

To date there are 35 Girl Scout troops in Pitt County with a membership total of 602 girls. The number of leaders and assistants in the county this year totals 70.

A breakdown of these figures shows Greenville has the largest number of troops with 22. There are six troops in Farmville, two in Bethel, two in Grifton, and one each in Ayden and Winterville.

Fifteen hours of a 16-hour training course for Girl Scout leaders were completed Monday at an outdoor-day at Camp Hardee, the Director revealed.

Attending this training course, which was conducted by Mrs. Proctor, were leaders from Greenville, Bethel, Grifton and Ayden. A course in Farmville was begun last Thursday, and a course for Negro leaders in Greenville got under way last night.

The Director commented on the "wonderful response, interest and enthusiasm shown in the leaders training course this year."

The course consists of three sessions, completing 15 hours. The remaining hour is completed when the Girl Scout leaders' clubs meet.

The Director said there are two leaders clubs this year because of the increased number of leaders and assistants. There is one club for Brownie leaders and one for Girl Scout leaders, she said.

Attends Cherry Point Meeting

Mrs. Walter F. Taylor attended a meeting of the Volunteer Services Council at Cherry Point yesterday.

Mrs. Taylor is Executive Secretary of the Pitt County Chapter of the American National Red Cross.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Council plans and commitments to furnish recreation and entertainment for the servicemen at Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point were made by the 15 Southeastern area Red Cross chapters represented.

The Council services the Camp Lejeune Naval Hospital and the U. S. Naval Infirmary at Cherry Point.

Plans made by the Council include furnishing Sunday afternoon open house, special evening parties and entertainment for the recreation hall; special parties for the hospital wards; and Thanksgiving and Christmas programs.

Anyone desiring to make contributions for the hospitals at Thanksgiving and Christmas is asked to contact Mrs. James T. Little, chairman of the Volunteer Services Council for Pitt County.

The Council meeting included an address by Captain William C. Wray, senior medical officer of the S. Marine Aircraft Wing, who outlined the needs of the servicemen in the hospitals.

The group was also taken on a tour of the overhaul and repair departments at the base, and they visited the Naval Infirmary.

The next meeting of the Council will be held in April at Camp Lejeune.

ECC Creative Writers Club Opens Activities With Dinner Meeting

Members of the Creative Writers Club of East Carolina College began their activities for the 1954-1955 term Monday night, when eighteen students and faculty members attended a dinner and "get-together" meeting in the recreation room of the Red Oak Church near Greenville.

Dr. Keith Holmes of the department of education, guitarist, gave a program of music and accompanied members and guests in group singing. Several games based on writing and literature were led by Dr. Martha Pingel of the department of English, faculty advisor of the club.

Mrs. Faye B. O'Neal of Selma, president, acted as hostess at the meeting. Other officers of the club are Emily S. Boyce of Rich Square, secretary, and Patricia A. Jackson of Parkton, vice president.

The Creative Writers Club was originated on the campus last year and carried out a successful program of activities during the 1953-1954 term. Membership is open to students, faculty members, and others in the Greenville area who are interested in writing. Meetings are held twice each month on Monday night.

French Girl Is Rotary Speaker

AYDEN — Miss Pauline Catel of Lyons, France, exchange student at East Carolina College, was guest speaker at the Ayden Rotary Club's weekly supper meeting last week.

She gave a detailed description of the industrial and social life of the famous French city. She also told of the food which the city produces and gave a sketch of the city's silk and chemical industries.

The French exchange student shocked the Rotarians with her report that "sausage is made from donkeys in the city of Lyons." Rotarian James Fleming, foreign languages instructor at the college, accompanied Miss Catel.

Kay Braxton and Bobbie Wilson, "citizens of the week" from Ayden High School, were guests.

The Christmas card sale will be started this week.

Guests of the Ayden Rotary Club were George W. King, Ike Blackwelder, Billie and Cherry Stokes and Frank Beach. Visiting Rotarians were Aiton Johnston and Herbert Hadley.

GHS Pupils Told 'Play Education' Is Not For Them

In an open letter to Greenville High School students Superintendent J.H. Rose stated the "theory of hard work" and the "belief that education is not easy will be emphasized even more in our schools this year than formerly."

Appearing in a recent issue of the school newspaper, Green Light, the letter began: "Greenville schools do not believe in a complex theory of education. We believe that it is better to do a few things well than to 'water down' our education program with a multiplicity of things whose value is doubtful."

The Superintendent declared the schools should make requirements and stick to them, and the students should maintain high standards of scholarship and conduct "even at the expense of popularity."

The letter continued: "Play education is too expensive a theory to have around. It costs the individual too much, and it costs the taxpayer too much. We like to teach that neither the government or the world owe any man anything except a chance to study, a chance to work, and an opportunity to make good by one's own efforts so as to get ahead of the lazy and the inefficient."

Rose praised the past accomplishments of the high school, and challenged the present student body "to surpass anything that has been done before in Greenville High School."

Rash Of Traffic Mishaps Goes On

Police are still investigating two accidents which occurred early this morning.

At 5:55 a.m. cars driven by Marvin F. Jolly of 508 East Eleventh Street and Ishmall W. Nobles of 209 Paris Avenue crashed at the intersection of Ninth and Washington streets.

Investigating Officers Johnny Piver and Tommy Gladson reported that each of the cars involved in the wreck received about $1000 damage. Investigation is incomplete.

Vehicles operated by Hugh A. Tucker of 805 Vanderbilt Avenue and Edgar M. Morris of 1106 East Third Street collided on Boyd Avenue at 6:55 this morning. Each of the cars received $200 damage according to the officers.

City police investigated three traffic accidents Monday. All were minor.

At 11:15 a.m. a city truck operated by Henry Blackburn of 409 Perkins Avenue was involved in a collision with a car operated by Mrs. Emily Haddock of 408 West Fifth Street. The truck was undamaged and the car received approximately $100 damages. Patrolman W. M. Carr investigated.

Cars driven by Mrs. W. J. Bundy of 405 Eastern Street and Mrs. Myrtle Rogers Williams of Vanceboro Route 1 collided at the intersection of Washington Street and Dickinson Avenue. Damage to Mrs. Bundy's car amounted to $80, according to Investigating Officer W. M. Carr.

A parked car belonging to Flora Phillip Joyner, Negro, of 601 Bancroft Avenue was reported to have been hit by another vehicle. Damage amounted to approximately $25. Investigating were J. E. Gurganus, W. R. Elks and C. Corbett.

Service Officer Is An Ex-Marine

M.E. Cavendish was appointed veterans service officer for Pitt County by the Board of County Commissioners Monday.

Cavendish succeeds Louis W. Gaylor Jr. who resigned the position which he held for four and a half years.

Each county in the state has a service officer to aid veterans in securing governmental benefits. This is the only local post which extends help to veterans since the closing of the Veterans Administration office here several years ago.

Cavendish, a local attorney, received his law degree from Wake Forest College, and practiced in Greenville for six months following his graduation. He worked with the FBI for two years before returning to practice law here.

During World War II Cavendish served seven years in the Marine Corps, obtaining the rank of master sergeant.

The appointment of the veterans service officer is made upon recommendation from the various service organizations in the city.

BSU Launching Annual Drive

The Baptist Student Union of East Carolina College launched this week on the campus its annual "Listen" campaign, conducted to "help feed the hungry, render technical aid, and minister to the spiritual needs of people around the world."

The fund-raising project originated in 1953 at Ridgcrest and is carried out by branches of the BSU throughout North Carolina. The title "Listen" is derived from the motto "Love Impels Sacrifice Toward Every Need."

Syble Noose of Mebane, assisted by Fred Sexton of Rocky Mount, is in charge of the campaign at East Carolina. Students who participate contribute a cent a day — the price of a meal each month. The period of October 20-25 has been set aside as the date for the first collection of funds.

Last year in the state $2391.60 was collected. The East Carolina Baptist Student Union raised $195 of this amount and plans to increase its contribution this year to $500. Funds of the state "Listen" project will be used in 1954-1955 to send a carload of dried milk to India and to assist the Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

Methodist Men Of Ayden Elect Officers

AYDEN — Leo Nance was elected president of the Ayden Methodist Men at a meeting last Monday night.

Jack Schrock is vice-president, Douglas Woodworth, secretary, Joe H. Whitaker, treasurer, and Lloyd E. Turnage is reporter.

Jim Abernethy is chairman of the Membership Committee, Warren Kinlaw is program chairman, M. E. Dixon, projects chairman, and Leroy Merritt is devotional chairman.

Rev. C. M. Proffman, Jr., pastor of Ayden Methodist Church, installed the officers and stated the purpose of the organization. Seventy-five men attended the meeting.
