

Murder Charged In Fatal Shooting

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Staff Writer One man is dead and another injured as a result of a shooting spree in a "juke joint" on South Pitt Street during the weekend. Dead is Henry Daniels who was shot once in the chest and once in the arm in the Saturday night shooting scrape. The injured man was identified by police as Leon Gilbert who was shot in the left arm. The police department said his condition is not believed to be serious. Both are Negroes. Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs stated today that Wiley James Tyson, also Negro, of 1214-B Railroad Street, was arrested shortly after the shooting took place. Tyson was arrested on warrants charging him with murder, assault with a deadly weapon, and discharging firearms in the city. Gibbs said the alleged shooting took place about 11:45 Saturday night and Tyson was arrested by Detective Lieutenant N. H. Byrd and Officer V. C. Ackert at 1:20 Sunday morning. Tyson told police that Daniels grabbed him while they were at Snook's Place. He said he saw a knife in Daniels' hand and he pulled a pistol and started shooting. Tyson declared that he did not know how Gilbert happened to get shot, according to Gibbs. He told the officers that he was "not mad" with Gilbert. Police found bullet holes in the door of the tiny night spot and also in the wall of the building, which is located at the corner of Eleventh and Pitt Streets in the heart of the tobacco district. Gibbs reported that Daniels lived until 5:15 Sunday morning. Doctors at Pitt Memorial Hospital performed an emergency operation in an effort to save the seriously injured man's life. One of the bullets entered his chest near his heart and the second tore through his left arm. The chief stated that Daniels was conscious part of the time before he died and was able to talk to police officers. His age was not known. Tyson's age was given as 37 years old. The bullets found at the scene of the shooting were identified as .32 caliber bullets by Chief Gibbs. He said the pistol from which the bullets were believed to have been fired was recovered by officers yesterday. Officers this morning were attempting to recover pistol bullets from the wall of the building where they had lodged. Gibbs said an attempt would be made to remove the bullet which lodged in Daniels' body. Pitt Memorial Hospital reported this morning that an operation was performed on Gilbert's right elbow today and the bullet removed. They said his condition is good. Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse announced today that the inquest into Daniels' death will be held tonight at 7:30. He said the inquest will be held in the city court room.

Closer Ties With Germany Pushed By French Leader

PARIS (AP)—A determined French Premier Pierre Mendes-France pushed his program for far-reaching economic accord with West Germany today, moving quickly to follow up the Paris agreements for adding German strength to Western defense. In a fireside radio chat last night, the Premier told his countrymen: "France and Germany are two countries whose nearness to one another and whose resources and production require their close association together." His talk came a day after the foreign ministers of 15 Western nations signed protocols to three treaties designed to make West Germany a free and equal partner in the Western alliance against the threat of Red aggression. The Paris agreements must be ratified by the national parliaments of the countries concerned. Western diplomats hoped this could be accomplished by mid-1955, but they looked for some rough going with the Soviet Union in the months ahead. Russia moved within a few hours after the agreements were reached Saturday, calling for a Big Four conference in November on a German peace settlement. Mendes-France told his radio audience the signing of an agreement Saturday with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on the future of the Saar Valley removed that obstacle to French-

German cooperation. Reminding the French that West Germany is their best customer and "second most important provider of goods," the Premier said the two countries need each other. "Because of this," he said, "we are determined to conclude accords of long duration such as will assure permanent markets for French wheat, sugar, milk products, etc. "It is also useful to encourage associations between French and German business and financial interests with the aim of making the best of our respective resources, increasing production, and making research to find markets elsewhere in the world." The Premier said the agreement to Europeanize the Saar within the French economy "satisfied rights and interests of France in a way we had called for in vain for a very long time." He said the Saar agreement was "not achieved without pain," but discounted fears held in some French quarters that close economic cooperation would give German efficiency supremacy. It was not just a case of dividing present markets, he said, but to "enlarge our fields of activity and our markets." In addition to Soviet roadblocks in the way of Allied plans for West Germany Western diplomats also expect Mendes-France to run into stiff opposition in getting some features of the agreements through the French National Assembly. Large segments of the French people in the past have opposed three things contained in the accords — the West Germans will be able to create a general staff of the army level, form military units at the army group level for integration with the other Allied forces and enter directly into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. These factors may sway some votes, but associates of Mendes-France say he is expected to present the entire plan to the Assembly. The various agreements reached Saturday would end the Allied occupation and rearm West Germany under safeguards within a seven-nation Western European Union and NATO. Twelve German divisions would take their place in the Allied defense line.

Televised Cabinet Meeting On Defense Pact Tonight Dulles To Report On Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today arranged for the first nationally televised and broad cast Cabinet meeting in history to hear Secretary of State Dulles report on conference defense agreement. It will be at 7 o'clock EST tonight. The White House announced these arrangements as Dulles was flying back from Europe toward a special airport ceremony and personal welcome from the President. Dulles was due in at noon. Eisenhower planned to greet him at planside—a welcoming gesture he has extended to no other government official since taking office. Over the weekend, Eisenhower had called the agreements signed in Paris as "a great deal more than just a diplomatic victory... It is an historic step." The President also had called the Cabinet meeting for 7 p. m. The White House said radio and television networks had requested an opportunity to cover the extraordinary Cabinet meeting and Eisenhower had decided Dulles' report "should be given to all the American people at the same time it is given to the Cabinet." Press Secretary James Hagerly said he and CBS radio and television networks will carry the Cabinet meeting from 7 to 7:30 p. m. and that ABC will rebroadcast it by radio at 9:30 p. m. EST. Hagerly said the full Cabinet would be present, except for Vice President Nixon who is campaigning in Idaho for the Nov. 3 election, and Foreign Aid Administrator Harold Stassen, who is in Europe. Hagerly said the President would open the meeting, explain why he had called the special session, and explain that it was being televised and broadcast so the American people could see and hear Dulles' report immediately. Hagerly said he expected Dulles would give his report on the European agreements off the cuff, and if time permitted, Eisenhower and other Cabinet members might ask questions or discuss the agreements. The agreements pave the way for restoration of freedom to West Germany and for rearming West Germans and bringing them into the Western defense alliance. Hagerly said he did not know whether the Cabinet members would continue in a closed session after the nationally televised meeting. The meeting will be in the regular Cabinet room at the White House. Hagerly said a limited group of news reporters and photographers will be permitted in the room. Dulles arranged to report personally to the President in advance of the Cabinet meeting. Then he was expected to tackle immediately plans for conferring with German Chancellor Adenauer due here in midweek; arrangements for replying to Russia's latest bid for a four-power meeting; and probably several Far Eastern issues. Dulles left Paris Saturday night at the conclusion of four hectic days of conferences and stopped by Bermuda for a day of work and rest. Before leaving Paris he sent Eisenhower a preliminary report which the President read while visiting Gettysburg, Pa., Saturday. Dulles said the arrangements on the future of Germany and Western Europe had been "signed, sealed and delivered," and added: "I know you will rejoice with me that the unity and freedom of Europe, to which you contributed so indispensably, seems likely now to be preserved." Eisenhower, who commanded the North Atlantic Treaty forces before he became a President, promptly called the Dulles report a "real reason for rejoicing," saying it means the dream of peace "begins to come definitely within our grasp." Yesterday, in a statement issued from his Camp David, Md., retreat, he said the Paris agreements "represent a great deal more than just a diplomatic victory." "It is an historic step toward the unity so necessary for the maintenance of the freedom of Western Europe," he said. Both the present Republican and the previous Democratic administration have insisted that Western Europe could not be defended without German forces. Two months ago the French Assembly killed a European Defense Community treaty which would have allowed Germany to rearm. The Western European Union—a similar approach to the same program, still must pass the hurdle of the Assembly, but diplomats believe it has a much better chance than EDC since French Premier Mendes-France is behind it. American officials regard the new agreements not only as vital to the defense of Western Europe but also as providing a basis of strength from which the Allies may enter into new negotiations with the Soviet Union on great European issues like conclusion of an Austrian treaty and the unification of East and West Germany. A Soviet call for a foreign ministers conference next month was issued in a note Saturday to the United States, Britain and France. Moscow's maneuver was designed to stall or wreck those plans which still must be acted on by the French Assembly. The German Parliament and other legislative bodies, including the U. S. Senate. But it was regarded as posing no threat since Russia made no new offers of substance toward settlement of great European issues. Dulles and other Western foreign ministers are understood to have agreed that their next order of business is not to enter into negotiation with the Russians but to complete the task of integrating Germany with the West. Then, experts here believe, they will be ready for new Big Four talks—another foreign ministers' meeting like that held at Berlin last winter.

Forging The New Look In Europe

The map shows the new lineup in Europe as anti-Communist allies of the western world reached agreement on formation of the Western European Union. A—solid black marks the nations whose arms and men will be joined by the pact. B—West Germany will be aligned with the West but with light control on its military potential. C—shading locates Russia and her Communist sphere. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Police arrested Wiley James Tyson, 1214-B Railroad Street a short time after the shooting. He is currently being held without bond pending a inquest tonight. Also injured in the shooting scrape was Leon Gilbert who was hit in the arm. His condition is not serious. Tyson and Gilbert are also Negroes. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor).

15,000 Escaped North Indochina

SAIGON, Indochina, (AP)—About 15,000 Vietnamese Roman Catholics escaped to freedom from Communist-dominated North Indochina today by heading to sea in a tattered fleet of small rafts and junks. The mass break began yesterday from the tiny coastal fishing village of Van Ly close to the Catholic center of Bul Chu and Phat Dien in the south of the Tonkin delta. The move was prompted by the appearance of a small fleet of French naval vessels outside the three-mile limit. Flying the white and yellow papal flag, the refugees carried their wretched household goods and even a few water buffalo in their wild rush. French naval units, working around the clock, picked them up as soon as their overcrowded craft crossed the three-mile limit. The Jules Verne, a former submarine tender, and another French ship took many aboard. Two American-donated LSMs loaded 1,300 each. The refugees were left behind during the French withdrawal from the southern delta just before the Indochina armistice last summer. Their exodus followed Vietnam assertions the Reds are not holding any Vietnamese in North Indochina against their will.

One Killed, 50 Injured, As Two Trains Collide

PORT HENRY, N.Y. (AP)—The Delaware and Hudson Railroad's Montreal-to-New York City Laurentian Express collided head-on with a barreling 133-car freight train near this Lake Champlain shore village yesterday, killing a trainman and injuring about 50 persons. D&H officials said the trains were supposed to pass at a siding in Port Henry, a mile north of the wreck, and the railroad pressed an investigation today to determine why they had not. None of the Laurentians 125 passengers were hurt seriously, but some suffered minor cuts and bruises. Six crewmen were hospitalized at nearby Ticonderoga. Killed was Charles Bascoe, 57, of Whitehall, head trainman on the freight. Two railroad wrecking crews, aided by floodlights, labored through the night to right overturned cars and restore the 400 feet of track torn up by the collision. About 1 p. m. D&H officials said they hoped to resume traffic on the single line this morning. Both diesels pulling the DH freight plunged down a 10-foot embankment. The impact derailed the

Republicans Ask Ballots Inquiry

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Republicans have asked the federal government to investigate absentee ballots in North Carolina's Ninth Congressional District. The Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel said, "Both Democrats and Republicans have conceded that absentee ballots may decide the issue before the polls are even opened Nov. 2 if cast in sufficient numbers." State Republican Chairman Ray Jennings of Taylorsville said "Republican authorities" in Washington have been asked to investigate more than 50 absentee ballot applications coming to Alexander County from the Washington, D.C. area. Five hundred absentee ballots have been issued in Alexander County, which has between 6,000 and 8,000 registered voters. Jennings also said that Republicans have affidavits alleging at least two instances of vote buying by Democrats. He said the affidavits would be brought to the attention of state and federal authorities.

Honduran Ship Radios Distress

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Androsocogin raced to the aid of a Honduran ship today that reported it was in "sinking condition" with 13 men aboard. The ship Launa radiored for aid last night. It reported that its engine room was flooded and that its pumps were not working. However, it appeared that the 13 men were still aboard the 138-foot ship. It was expected to reach the Launa, which reported its location as 90 miles northwest of San Salvador Island in the Bahamas, about mid-afternoon.

Family With 13 Girls Adds One Boy To Its Ranks

PITTSFIELD, Maine (AP)—Thirteen sisters gained a brother yesterday and lost their claim on being the nation's largest all-girl family. Leslie Benjamin Brooks, 6 pounds, 8 ounces, crossed up some of the plans when he was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brooks at their Snake Root Rd. farmhouse. But he got a warm welcome nonetheless from the 39-year-old couple and the 13 Brooks daughters, aged 1 1/2 to 16.

Untimely Chimes

A peaceful Sunday was ushered out by the playing of "O Worship the King" and "Faith of Our Fathers" on the Carillon bells at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church around midnight last night. Not only that but early risers were able to hear two more hymns this morning when the chimes sounded off once again about 5:30 a. m. Embarrassed church officials explained that the electric clock which regulates the automatic mechanism that plays the chimes had been stopped by last week's hurricane and had not been set again. The bells are ordinarily set to be played during the daylight hours.

Revaluation Brings Gain Of $4.5 Million Over 1953 Pitt Tax Valuation Raised

With its revaluation program completed, Pitt County's tax valuation for 1954 showed a gain of $4,514,730 over the 1953 valuation. Figures released today by Pitt County Auditor H. Reginald Gray showed the county's property valuation this year at $68,511,439, compared with a valuation of $63,996,719 for 1953. Real Estate Up A breakdown of the individual categories of property showed the county gained in tax valuation only in the real estate and corporation excess categories, while it lost valuation in household and kitchen furniture, stocks and fixtures, automobiles and all other personal property. The big jump in property valuations came in real estate where the total 1954 valuation is $11,481,772 more than it was for 1953. The 1954 valuation for real estate in the county is $45,046,226 compared with real estate valuations totaling $33,564,454 in 1953. Auto Valuation Half The greatest single drop for any category of property came in automobiles where the valuation this year is approximately half what it was in 1953. The county's valuation on automobiles in 1953 came to $10,139,561, but the new 1954 valuations places the automobile category at $4,699,548, representing a drop of approximately five and one-half million dollars. The 1954 valuations dropped $200,000 on stocks and fixtures, almost a million dollars on household and kitchen furniture and a half million dollars on all other personal property. Corporation excess taxes rose $5,000 from $3,483,960 in 1953 to $3,488,955 for 1954. Greenville Township 39.4%

Poland Frees American Herman Field After 5 Years In Prison

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Herman Field, a U. S. citizen who disappeared in Red Poland in August 1949, has been cleared of all charges and released from prison, the Warsaw radio said today. The broadcast said an investigation conducted by Polish authorities disclosed that the charges which led to Field's arrest were "framed up by an American agent." Field will be given "full compensation" and action will be taken against all persons responsible for his arrest, the report said. Field's secret arrest was disclosed Sept. 28 in Washington by his former jailer, Jozef Swiatko, a top official of the Polish secret police until he fled to the West 10 months ago. Field disappeared after boarding a Prague-bound plane at Warsaw. Herman Field is the brother of Noel Field, a former official of the U. S. State Department who disappeared in Prague in May 1949. Noel Field's wife Herta also disappeared and they later were reported under arrest in Hungary. The official communique broadcast by Radio Warsaw said: "Polish authorities last year ordered an investigation into a number of legal cases which revealed gross violations of law. In the course of the investigations authorities unmasked an official of the Polish security service as an agent of an American espionage system." The official was identified as Jozef Swiatko and the broadcast said he had been responsible for the arrest of several persons, including Herman Field. Swiatko said in Washington last month that he believed Noel Field and his wife were dead. The State Department said notes had been sent to Hungary demanding the release of Noel and Herta Field and to Poland seeking freedom for Herman Field. A spokesman said the department was acting on the assumption all three were alive. Members of Herman Field's Eastern European in part to look for his missing brother. An architect, he also was said to be interested in architectural projects in that area and in aiding refugees. His wife and her two children live in London with her British parents. The broadcast said a number of Polish nationals also were freed when Field was released.

Parking Lot Opened To Public Use Today

Greenville's first city-owned public off-street parking lot was opened to the public today at the old municipal swimming pool site on East Fifth Street. City Manager James S. Hughes said for the time being there will be unlimited parking on the public parking lot, and no parking meters will be installed on the lot. The lot, which will accommodate 52 vehicles, was made by filling in the abandoned swimming pool. Hughes said the cost of the conversion of the property to a parking lot was "very reasonable" although he does not have the complete cost figures as yet. The swimming pool property was filled in with dirt, and a top coat of sand was placed over the lot. Hughes said the lot may be paved later when the fill has had time to settle.

Soldiers Return To Fort Bragg After Clean-Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Six hundred Army engineer troops return to Ft. Bragg today after clearing debris and helping restore water and sewer lines at Carolina beach areas devastated by Hurricane Hazel 10 days ago. National Guardsmen patrolling beaches against looting returned home yesterday, leaving town policemen and other civil authorities to take over. Unincorporated beaches have asked to be included in the relief funds on the claim that beaches are public property whether incorporated or not. Brig. Gen. Edward Griffin, North Carolina's director of civil defense, said Washington authorities would be asked to help all beaches. He added, "We know the value of beaches to the tourist trade and economy of the state." The Red Cross estimated its help would be needed in the hurricane area another six weeks. DuPont corporation, has already received his gallon club pin and when he donates his sixteenth pint of blood he will receive a special two-gallon club award pin. The Bloodmobile unit will make a regularly scheduled visit to Ayden November 1, with a special visit to Greenville November 2 as the result of a disaster appeal for blood from Norfolk headquarters. Health Director Walter C. Humbert said the appeal is being made because treatment of persons injured in the recent hurricane disaster has greatly depleted the blood supply on hand. Hours for the Ayden visit at the community building are from noon until 6 p. m. The center will be set up at the armory here from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. Quota for each visit is 140 pints of blood. Humbert noted the need for "some extra response right now. This is one time we want to meet our quota," he declared.

Expects Record For State Fair

RALEIGH (AP)—When final figures are in, Dr. J. B. Dorton, manager of the North Carolina State Fair, expects the attendance for the 1954 fair to be possibly the largest in history. The fair ended its five-day run Saturday night. Some estimates have placed the crowd for the final day at 150,000. There were huge crowds Friday and Saturday. Attendance also was heavy Tuesday, while Wednesday and Thursday were below par. James E. Strate, owner of the midway rides and concessions, said Friday was one of the best days he had ever had at the State Fair.

Mrs. Phillips Hostess To Bridge Club

AYDEN—On Friday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock Mrs. Moses Phillips entertained her club at a bridge party.

Upon arrival, guests were invited into the spacious living room which was effectively arranged with varied floral appointments, featuring pink gladioli, yellow chrysanthemums, white snapdragons and roses in shades of pale pink to a deep rose. The dining room table was centered with a low colorful bouquet of ageratum and autumn greenery.

Bridge was played at two tables. The top score awards, attractive figurines, went to Mesdames Dixie Cannon and C. Y. Griffin. Second high, novelty matches, was presented to Mrs. W. W. Salisbury. The low score prize, cocktail napkins, was won by Mrs. Ralph Hardee.

The hostess, assisted by Mesdames William Everett and Guy Taylor, served a salad course with hot coffee, crab apples and dainty sandwiches.

Guests were Mesdames Robert Johnson, Sam Pierce, W. W. Salisbury, Dixie Cannon, Allen Johnson, Ralph Hardee, Dalton Gardner, William Everett, Guy Taylor, C. Y. Griffin, P. R. Taylor and May J. Eure.

Waves in the ocean travel about 1 1/4 miles an hour if they are a foot long, but waves a thousand feet long would travel at 44 miles per hour.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Duncan Salmon of Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Thomas Nobles of Winterville.

The home was beautifully decorated in bridal greenery of Oregon and plumosa ferns, interspersed with large baskets of gladioli and mums.

The bride wore a waist length gown of white nylon tulle and Chantilly lace over bridal satin, featuring a long sleeved pointed lace bodice, scalloped neckline, and a full lace skirt with scalloped hemline. Her two-tiered fingertip veil of bridal illusion was attached to a lace cap, scalloped and outlined in seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and showered with tuberoses and satin streamers.

The bride's mother wore a navy crepe dress with pink and navy accessories. The bridegroom's mother

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
October 25, 1924

The attractive home of Mrs. Ernest L. Baker presented a beautiful scene Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Baker and Miss Mattie Scoville received about 175 friends from 4 to 6 p.m. Ferns and chrysanthemums furnished the decorations, the latter in great profusion. A noteworthy feature was that the flowers and plants were all home-grown. The color scheme in the reception rooms and punch room was green and yellow. The rooms were lighted with wax tapers and shaded electric lights with butterflies in the bowls of the chandeliers. In the dining room the color scheme of green and pink was carried out both in decoration and in refreshments. Green ices were served with white cakes, green mints and salted nuts.

Rev. W. M. Howard Guest Speaker At Chatman Book Club

The Chatman Book Club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rufus Stark on Library St. Mrs. Stark had as her guest Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. J. C. Wooten.

The president, Mrs. C. A. Bowen, called the meeting to order. Reports were given and after attending to the business of the club, Mrs. Bowen turned the meeting over to Mrs. F. A. Bendall, who introduced Rev. Howard, Mrs. Stark's speaker for the afternoon.

Rev. Howard's topic was "World Council of Church." The club is indebted to Rev. Howard for his enlightening and interesting talk on this renowned topic. He stated that the first meeting of the council was held in Amsterdam in 1948. The recent meeting was held in Evanston, Ill. and there were 163 different bodies represented. Rev. Howard stated the main purpose of the council is to stand united in Christian faith even if oceans separate us. The peoples of the world came in their native dress, representing 170 million people. The Japanese representatives invited the council to hold their next meeting in Japan.

Mrs. Stark served a delicious salad course with coffee assisted by Mrs. Bendall and Mrs. Watson.

Pitt Historical Society To Meet Thursday Night

Pitt County Historical Society will meet at Sheppard Memorial Library next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Judge C. V. Cannon of Ayden will preside.

Secretary Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti will make the full report and some special announcements. Members from Ayden, Winterville, Farmville, Greenville, and Raleigh are expected to attend.

American farms increased average cotton production per acre from about 185 pounds in 1920 to about 270 pounds in 1940.

Miss Lilah Gault Speaks To Junior Woman's Club

On Wednesday night the Junior Woman's Club held their regular bi-monthly meeting at the Woman's Club.

The meeting was opened with the members praying together their Club Collect. Mrs. T. R. Jones, president, presided over a short business meeting prior to the arrival of Miss Lilah Gault, guest speaker for the evening.

The American Home Department, with Mrs. Craven Hughes, chairman, had charge of the program. Miss Gault, who is professor of Home Economics at East Carolina College, was introduced by Mrs. L. G. Cnagney. Miss Gault gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Modern Fabrics in the Home." She pointed out the advantages and disadvantages of such fabrics as acetate, acrilan, dacron, dnyel, fiberglass, nylon, orlon, rayon, vicara, and wool. She passed out samples of these materials with prices per yard of each. She compared fabrics with people by saying that no fabric is perfect. Miss Gault held her audience spellbound with her valuable and enlightening presentation.

Mrs. Earl Trevathan was introduced and welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Tom Patterson, Mrs. Robert Russ, and Miss Mary Howard were introduced and welcomed as guests for the evening.

The club voted to donate to Elm Street Park Recreation Hall a large aluminum punch bowl to be secured as soon as possible for immediate use by the Recreation Commission. A report was given by Mrs. Cnagney on the collection of old magazines to be donated to institutions in our vicinity. She reported that approximately 300 magazines were recently collected and would be delivered to Caswell Training School in Kinston very soon.

The meeting was adjourned and then turned over to the hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Harold Alder and Mrs. Thomas Vicars.

Teen-age Turnout

by Frances Adams and Mary Will Long

Although Hurricane Hazel interrupted the daily routine at Greenville High School last week, things are back to normal again. Even though everyone was afraid to get out in the driving wind and rain, the half holiday from school was very welcome.

Homecoming, originally scheduled for Friday night, was postponed. The football game was played Monday night, and all Homecoming festivities took place that day, reigning over the affair were Sara Adams, Homecoming Queen; and Gene Brown, Homecoming King. Miss School Spirit, these celebrities were crowned at the pep rally Monday afternoon. All the players on the first two teams had sponsors. They were Bob Shackleton sponsored by Martha Corbett, Miss Right Half Back; Mickey West sponsored by Barbara Barber, Miss Right Guard; James Hudson sponsored by Grayson Walworth, Miss Right Guard; Bob Howell sponsored by Hannah Proctor, Miss Left Half Back; Gene Hudson sponsored by Priscilla Weeks, Miss Left Guard; Tommy Norris sponsored by Ann Hamric, Miss Left Half Back; Larry Powell sponsored by Alice Flye, Miss Full Back; Jerry Drum sponsored by Annette Smith, Miss Quarter Back.

Others included Wade Jordan sponsored by Kathryn Johnson, Miss Center; Billy Sermons sponsored by Ginger Langr, Miss Full Back; Tommy Smith sponsored by Jane Berryman, Miss Right Tackle; Howard King sponsored by Joanna Hardee, Miss Left Tackle; Angus Duff sponsored by Margaret Ann Harrell, Miss Right Tackle; Fred Nobles sponsored by Jill Sutton, Miss Right Tackle.

Sponsors were presented during the pep rally. The queen, Mr. and Miss School Spirit, the sponsors, and the cheerleaders piled in to shiny, decorated convertibles for a parade led by the G.H.S. band. Homecoming is an annual event sponsored by the cheerleaders.

"Smile now, turn your head this way, Hey! Shorty, move down to the front row, hold it,"—these familiar phrases were heard around Greenville High School October 18-19. The time for taking Tau pictures had rolled around again. Both individual and group activity pictures were taken.

G.H.S. now boasts its own radio program. High School Hi-Lites is heard each Monday at 5 o'clock. The MC's are Henrietta Swayne and Joann Knudson. Outstanding high school personalities and highlights of school activities are featured on each program. Tommy Smith's "Rhythm Boys" will appear on the broad-cast today. This dance band has recently been organized and is composed of Tommy Smith, trombone; Dewey Griffith and Roger Averette, trumpets; Jay Robbins, Ray Gardner, Preston Cannon, and Wayne McGlohan, saxophones; Jack Calhoun, drums; and Howard Ellis, piano.

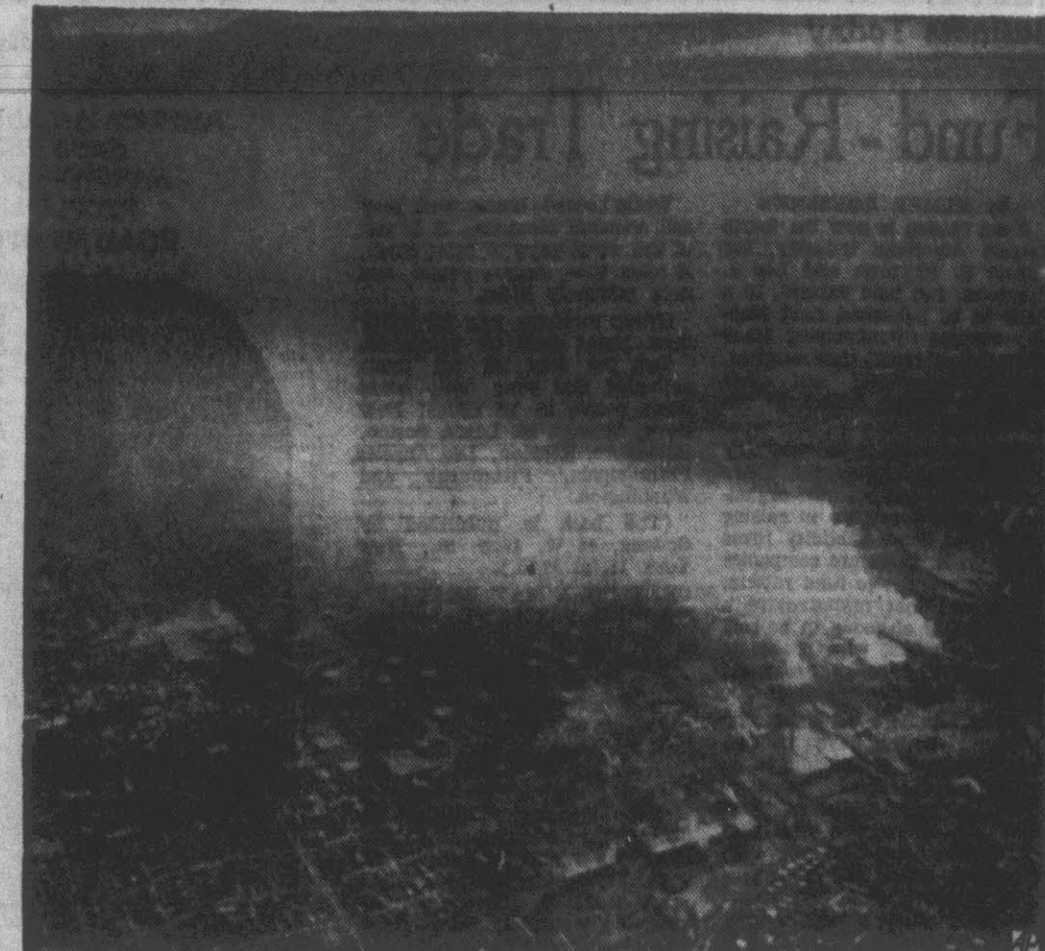

Kelly Barnhill was recently elected president of the freshman class. Other officers are Margaret Ruffin, vice-president; Stuart Bost, secretary; and Bobby Edwards, treasurer.

Sophomores have also elected their officers for 1954-55. They include Edwin Wilkerson, president; John Ed Arnold, vice-president; Sharon Wilong, secretary; and Angus Duff, treasurer. The major project of the sophomore class is sponsoring the Coronation Ball.

On passing through the halls of G.H.S., one may notice that the classes are considerably quieter than they used to be. The cause of this is that conduct grades are now given each student. The first of these grades were issued to the students on their new report cards Wednesday.

Music departments of Greenville High School are very much in the spotlight these days. The high school band marched in East Carolina's homecoming parade and performed at the half during the football game. The band went to Chapel Hill Saturday to participate in the half-time performance at the Carolina-Wake Forest game.

The high school Glee Club under the direction of Miss Ova Shindler will sing at the NCEA meeting at East Carolina College November 5. Incidentally, here's some

For 58 Years Woman Is Telegraph Operator

AP Newsfeatures

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia—Operating a telegraph key is as natural as washing dinner dishes in the household routine of 58-year-old Mrs. Margaret Ross.

For the last 58 years, Mrs. Ross has been holding down the job as Dominion government telegraph operator at nearby Northeast Margaree and hasn't the slightest intention of quitting.

The "queen of the key" has stood by her Morse set since before the turn of the century and plans to continue her job "until I get too old to handle it." That, she says, will not be for some time.

Back in the days before radio, and when newspaper deliveries were slow, the telegraph station was the district center for gossip and general information. Mrs. Ross' biggest thrill was receiving word of the World War I armistice, relayed from Sydney to Baddeck and on to her station.

There's not too much telegraphic business during the winter months, but the wires are busy when the salmon fishermen hit the area and message folks back home about the big one they caught or the bigger one that got away. Many an angler has boasted of his luck or poured out his woes to the attentive ear of Grandma Ross.

Grandma Ross is the veteran of a "telegraph" family. A son, Charlie lives next to her and is the Margaree linesman. A daughter, Edna, once was an operator with Western Union at North Sydney and during the last war went back to the Morse key for emergency duty.

Mrs. Ross also watches over six Mutual Company and government telephone lines which are connected with the government telegraph service at her home. She does her own cooking and housekeeping and in her spare time makes patchwork quilts and hooked rugs—more than 200 so far. Needless to say, her formula for a long life is "lots of hard work."

Larceny Of Fire Truck Charged

TOWNSEND, Mass. (AP)—Thomas Walker, 21, today was accused of larceny—the larceny of a 14-ton, bright red fire engine.

The town's only engine was taken yesterday, its bells clanging and siren screaming, from the fire station.

Fire Chief Daniel Ormsby heard the engine and called police when he learned it wasn't headed to a fire.

After a four-hour search police found the fire engine deep in woods in nearby Ashby.

Walker was arrested in a house not far away.

Treasurer Says Tax Cuts Saved Taxpayer $100

LENOIR, N.C. (AP)—Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, the treasurer of the United States, says the Republican administration's tax cuts represent "a savings of $100 for every tax payer in America."

Mrs. Priest defended the administration's tax reductions here Saturday night. She spoke at a 9th District congressional rally in behalf of William E. Stevens Jr. of Lenoir. Republican seeking the seat now held by Rep. Hugh Q. Alexander of Kannapolis, a Democrat.

She denied Democratic claims that the cuts were a "rich man's tax bill," saying, "don't you believe them."

Mrs. Priest said that 4.7 billion dollars in tax savings went to individuals and only 2.7 billion dollars to corporations. "That amounts to a savings of $100 for every tax payer in America," she declared.

The majority of tax savings to corporations, Mrs. Priest said, "was the expropriation of wartime excess profits taxes." She declared that "only a small part of it (tax cuts) goes to corporations as an incentive to build new plants and create new jobs for the workers of America. This is what the opposition is pleased to call the trickle down theory."

Mrs. Priest said "It was the economy of the Republican Era, Congress that made the biggest tax reduction in the history of America possible. Had it not been for the careful cutting of the Truman budget by 13 billion dollars, there would have been no tax cut possible."

She called on voters to elect a Republican Congress to back President Eisenhower "to give him the tools he needs to work with during the second half of his administration."

Her talk here completed a busy day for Mrs. Priest, the No. 2 woman in the federal government. She addressed a Citizens for Eisenhower-Stevens luncheon rally in Statesville, saying there "The election of Bill Stevens may mean the difference between whether President Eisenhower has a friendly Congress to work with during the next two years or whether he will be hamstrung by a hostile Congress."

Stevens introduced Mrs. Priest at both rallies.

Handless Cartoonist 'Better Than Ever'

By HANNS NEUERBOURG

AP Newsfeatures

Frankfurt, Germany—The train had just rolled into the Fulda station when the sirens sounded that January day in 1945.

The passengers rushed off in panic to the nearest bunkers as the first bombs dropped.

Cartoonist Carl Fischer was caught in the middle of the street. Splinters slashed the main arteries of both his arms and cut into his legs. At a hospital, both arms were amputated.

"I thought that was the finish. My whole career seemed ruined," Fischer says. "But I did not think that way very long. I was determined that I must find a way to draw again."

Fischer had been a well-known cartoonist for German illustrated magazines and the art editor of one of Germany's biggest, Frankfurter Illustrierte.

Still hardly able to sit up, Fischer tried to draw holding a brush with his lips, but found out he did not have sufficient strength. Then he decided to hold the brush in his teeth:

"I did not have to learn it, I simply could do it."

His first such drawings were two post cards to his friends, for which he used his clinical chart as a pad.

"The drawings came off naturally. I realized then you do not draw with your arms but with your brains."

"My teeth-written signature, for example, bore the same features as my 'old' one. I wrote letters to my friends and they did not realize I had lost my arms."

He took up his work again as soon as he was released from hospital, drawing again for his old magazine.

"Many said that my drawings were better than before that they were fresher and more at ease. I certainly did not do my cartoons with any great effort."

On Christmas 1952, Fischer originated the biggest hit of his life, a comic strip called "Oscar the Cat."

Oscar, with a merrily red-and-white striped sweater and a cheerful expression, has become a household name.

JOURNEY'S END:—William Willis, 61-year-old adventurer, holds his pet cat aboard his 35-foot balsa wood raft after arriving at Pago Pago, Samoa, to complete a drifting 115-day voyage across the Pacific from Peru. Willis, a Texan who now makes his home in New York, landed on Samoa on Oct. 13. His solo trip was comparable to that of the raft Kon-Tiki on which 6 Scandinavians rode across the Pacific 7 years ago. The straight line distance between Peru and Samoa is 6,800 miles. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Sydney).

Boys Found

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The three boys of handleader Bob Crosby, missing since 5 p.m. yesterday, were found today by police shortly after dawn.

First reports from police radios in a rugged canyon near the Crosby's home said the youngsters had been camping.

Officers said they were in good condition.

A neighbor, Tim Wellman, 13, son of movie director William Wellman, found them.

Young Wellman, who had trapped bobcats and coyotes in the area, was searching for the Crosby boys on horseback. He had three dogs with him.

Maybe The Project Not A "Dead Duck"

It appears to us the "abandoned" Eastern Carolina airport project is far from a dead duck, at least so far as many people of the four-county area involved in the project are concerned.

Since the announcement of the Airport Authority that they were abandoning their efforts because of the monkey wrench thrown into the plans by Wilson and Nash Counties, there have been many citizens who have individually urged that efforts to secure a joint airport be continued.

Pitt County, Edgecombe County and the cities of Greenville, Rocky Mount and Tarboro appear still much in favor of new efforts to carry the project through to completion. Wilson and Nash County officials made their positions clear when they failed to appropriate funds for the airport, and the city of Wilson showed its position when it failed to go along with the other five local governing units in appropriating sufficient funds to make up the deficit caused by Wilson and Nash Counties.

The need for a joint airport facility in this area is still recognized by many people. The potential which such a facility would offer to the whole area—not just one community—is probably appreciated more keenly since the project was blocked than was the case while it looked as if the airport would become a reality.

There is no question about the support which the project has from Civil Aeronautics Administration officials. There is likewise widespread opinion in this section that "outside" influences were brought to bear in some of the counties which originally were included in the project, to prevent a joint airport facility being established in this area.

Within the past few days, there has been talk of an effort to raise private capital from the residents of this area in an attempt to put new life into the airport project. Admittedly, it would be a difficult task to raise sufficient capital for the project through private subscriptions of individual citizens; but the possibilities of such an effort should not be discounted completely.

If the citizens show by their own interest they feel such a facility is needed by the area, The Reflector is confident the five local governing units which put money into the project will be willing to put back into the program the money which was recently returned to them by the Airport Authority. That $30,000, plus whatever might be raised by the Airport Authority from private citizens as a contribution, plus matching CAA funds probably would be enough to carry out the first phase of the airport program.

The more The Reflector considers the possibilities which are still open so far as obtaining a joint airport is concerned, the less convinced we are that it would be wise to have the 1955 General Assembly revoke the legislation which established the Airport Authority.

Another Bank Robber Goes Behind Bars

It is a tribute to the FBI and state and local law enforcement officers in North Carolina that the sixth of North Carolina's eight bank robberies since last March has been cleared with the arrest of the man who committed the robbery.

The arrest Friday of the man who robbed the Rocky Mount bank leaves only two of the eight bank robberies this year unsolved. With the knowledge that parties who committed six of the robberies are now behind bars, there is little doubt that the persons involved in the other two robberies will also be apprehended.

While the FBI has played a major part in the solving of the rash of bank robberies in the state this year, state and local law enforcement officers likewise have played a major role in apprehending the guilty parties.

North Carolina is indeed fortunate to have the calibre of cooperation which exists between the various branches of the law enforcement agencies within the state. It is unlikely that any one of the agencies could have solved any of the state's bank robberies this year without the full cooperation of the other agencies. The record established by the law enforcement agencies so far in solving these robberies is indeed a tribute to their cooperation and their diligent work.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
BE OF GOOD CHEER
Have a good time!
A friend whose business it is to keep in touch with the alumni of a certain institution told me some time ago that he finds men in middle age and beyond harboring very gloomy thoughts. Many of them brood over failures. Some look back on misdeeds for which they appear now to have a great contrition. My friend went on to say that he thought, as men grow older, that they actually made up things to worry about, sins and mistakes to brood over. In other words he intimated that it is a persistent human tendency as we grow old to look back with regret and look forward with apprehension.

Why not look forward with the conviction that the best is yet to be? Certainly we cannot make the past any better by worrying about it. The past is dead, and we had better let the dead bury its dead. Hope is a great Christian virtue. Look forward to the future with the conviction that you are going to have more real satisfaction in the years ahead than you have ever had before. Dwell on the cheerful aspects of events. Anything may happen, of course, but the chances are that the worst will not happen. The chances are that the best will happen.

So have a good time. It doesn't cost any more than to have a wretched time. And the chances are that things will come out better than you expected.

Precautions For Depression

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Will the United States suffer another depression like that in 1929, with its economic hardships and human heartaches? Or have the Americans, especially Washington, profited sufficiently from that tragic experience to avoid such a disaster?

The approach of the 25th anniversary of the crash that shook the world, possibly contributing to World War II, has led private and public economic experts to ask these questions today. So have campaign debates on the effect of the Eisenhower transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

An equally important and unknown question is whether such a great production plant as the United States, agriculturally and industrially, can maintain even the current level of business activity and relative prosperity without huge Federal expenditures for war, rearmament and so-called paternalistic programs.

OPTIMISTIC REPORTS—The reports from the Eisenhower experts are generally optimistic, at least for the immediate future, and they have statistics on their side. In fact, their forecasts are dangerously reminiscent of Herbert Hoover's 1928 (during the campaign) assertion that "we have reached a new and permanent plateau of prosperity."

Arthur F. Burns, Eisenhower's personal economic adviser, paraphrased this statement in a recent Detroit speech. He said that he foresaw a "new era of economic expansion." He declared that the U. S. could continue to enjoy peace with prosperity.

Walter Williams, Under Secretary of Commerce, echoed this prediction before the nation's bankers at Atlantic City. Allowing for the fallacies of all human prophecies, he did concede that a depression was always possible.

GOP'S KEY SLOGAN—Both officials emphasized—and this is the Republican's key slogan in the Congressional scrap—that the economy had remained

Business Today

Fund-Raising Trade

By ELMER ROESSNER
Fund raising is now the fourth largest American industry, say Edwin S. Newman and Leo J. Margolin, two fund raisers. In a book to be published next Monday, entitled "Fundraising Made Easy," they report that religious, welfare, community and other nonprofit groups collect $5 billion a year.

Fund gathering is an "industry" in more than one aspect. There are a number of business organizations that specialize in raising funds, and some publicity firms dabble in it. There are companies that sell supplies to fund raisers, and others that manufacture a wide variety of goods to be sold by campaigners, with profits to the fund. And banks are silent partners in many campaigns.

Banks, Authors Newman and Margolin write, have become heavy holders of mortgages on hospitals, churches, volunteer firemen's halls, veterans' post buildings, synagogues and other institutions. Some banks have become fairly expert in judging prospective successes of drives, and even offer sound advice on putting them on.

A common arrangement, they write, is for a bank to agree to lend half the cost of a new building on condition that the organization raise the other half. The bank will then lend additional sums on signed pledges, or will lend money to contributors to finance their gifts.

A signed pledge to make charitable contribution is enforceable in a court of law, the authors state. (Both are also lawyers.)

An average of 10,000,000 persons work at fund raising. Most are women.
Separating men and women pays. Both men and women are inclined to give more if their spouse is not present.

While house-to-house work may sell vacuum cleaners, it is one of the worst ways to raise funds. It takes time, annoys people, and nets relatively little.

Group meetings pay off better than phone calls or brochures. Ten per cent of all funds collected this year will come from people in 10 cities: New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Houston, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington.

(The book is published by Oceana, 43 W. 16th St., New York 11, at $2.50.)

CENT DOWN MAY BEAT NO DOWN PAYMENT

A New Jersey builder, in advertising houses to veterans, does not talk about "no down payment." Instead he insists on down payments of 1 cent, and advertises, "A penny for your dreams."

Even without the slogan, the 1 cent down payment has a strong psychological value. It dramatizes the terms much more than "no down payment." The idea might be useful to merchants, advertising agencies and others who plan campaigns to tie in with various promotional days and weeks.

PRIVATE INDUSTRY MOVES FASTER THAN U. S.

The Department of Commerce used to publish a compilation of special days, weeks and months, but with the change in Administrations at Washington, the booklet was abandoned to private enterprise. The Chamber of Commerce of the U. S., Washington 6, D. C., now publishes a "Special Days" booklet at 25 cents.

When the government published the booklet, it came out after the first of the year and after some of the events were already history. But under private enterprise, the 1955 edition is now ready.

Deductions Made From Retail Sales Figures For Year

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — An analysis of retail sales shows some very interesting figures. From January 1 through September, 1954, sales declined about 2 per cent from the same period last year. There, however, was a modest pickup during September. This was due largely to the cool weather and to this year's extensive store advertising.

MORE MONEY THAN EVER

The decline in 1954 has been in the face of more money available for spending than ever. Individuals' savings are at the highest level in history. Wages also are higher than ever before. Most prices are reasonable and storekeepers are trying hard to please their customers.

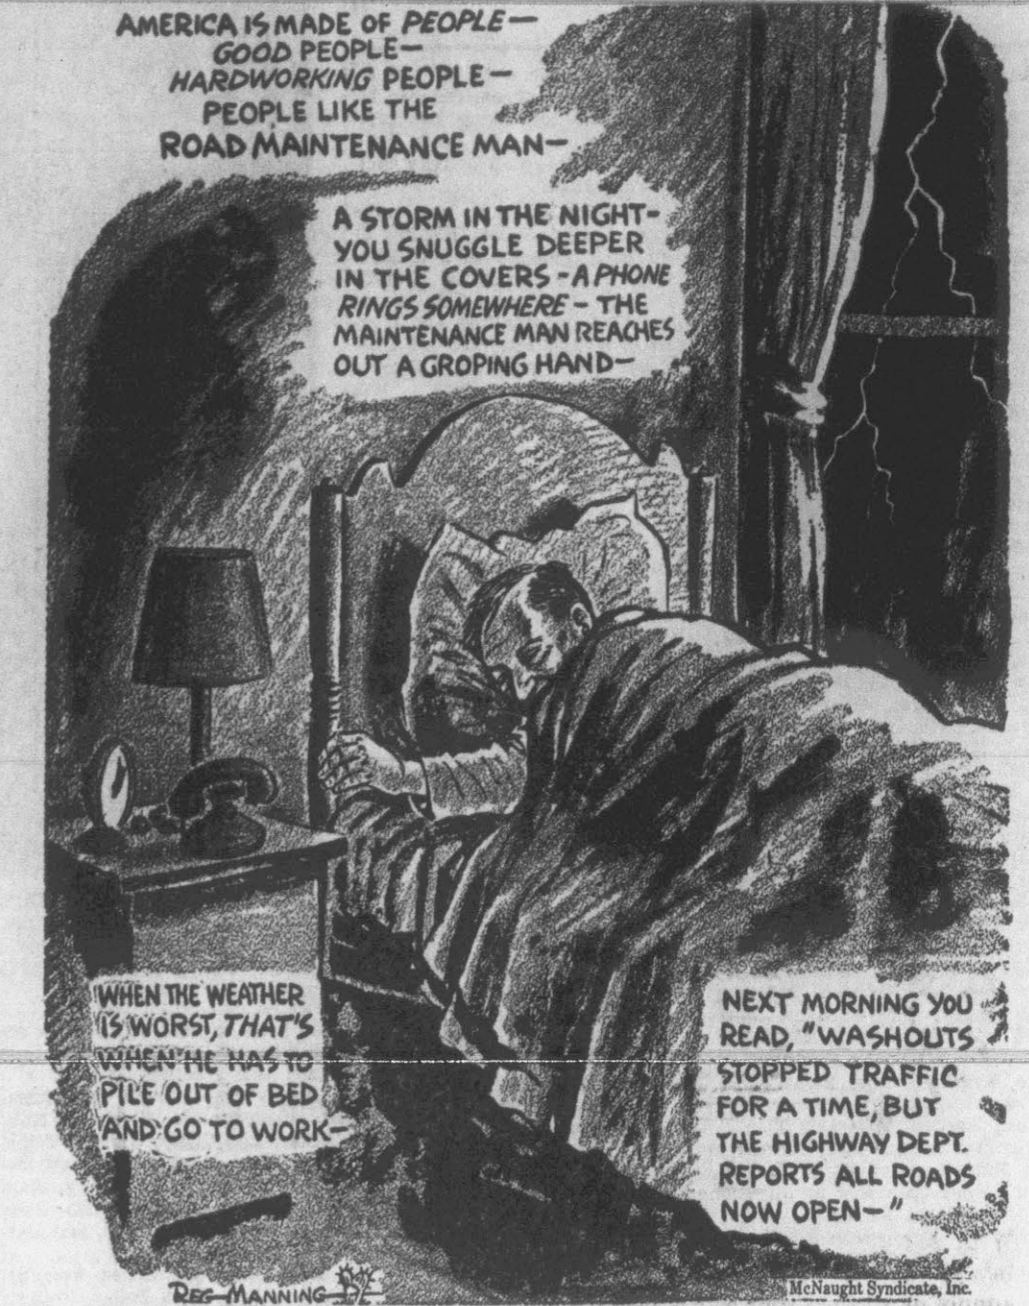

There should be more customers than ever, as a result of our net gain in population of 225,000 each month. Births are increasing and sickness is decreasing. More children are going to school and are dressing better at school. The only "out" is that parents do not have so much overtime money as they did in 1953.

REASONS FOR DECLINING SALES

This means that certain parents have had more time to do needed work at home. The "do-it-yourself" industries have boomed. People have been buying tools, paints, wallpaper, plywood, etc., instead of spending the money on movies and entertainment. Families are "cooking-it-themselves" more, and going out to restaurants less.

Some cities which many parking meters have trained parents to visit the shopping centers together in couples, but always leaving one person in the car to listen to the radio, or read a picture magazine, or eat a nickel

Municipal 'Fringe Areas' Pose Pressing Problems

By LYNN NISBET

FRINGES — Almost as acute in immediate urgency as the parking situation and more important in the long view of municipal officials is the problem of "fringe" areas and extension of municipal services beyond corporate limits. It was difficult for moderators of panel discussions to get those attending the League of Municipalities convention at Winston-Salem off the parking question to discuss these other problems. When they did get around to them they found the issues just as serious and almost as urgent.

Our phase of the overall question involves annexation, what to do with the developed adjacent areas which want to be brought into the city or which the city wants to bring in. It was pointed out that North Carolina has a statute which other states are copying providing for annexation through any one of several methods.

Emphasis in discussion of this item centered on the need for two-way education, the honest information afforded to both outside and inside residents on what will be the benefits and costs of staying out of coming in. Full presentation of all the facts will tend to dispel the feeling on the one hand that the big bad city is trying to gobble up the helpless outside communities, and the charge on the other hand that the suburbanites are trying to get a free ride for benefits and services at expense of inside taxpayers.

It may well be that annexation of new territory will impose cost burdens upon the older part of the city far in excess of and prospective tax revenue from the new area.

The annexation issue is closely related to, actually is a part of, the larger problem of municipal services requested by and extended to outside areas, and equitable distribution of the cost of these services.

SERVICES — What to do about extending services from installations and facilities mainly supported by taxpayers inside the municipalities to outside areas is a complex question. It is of some consequence with respect to electric current where municipalities operate their own generating or distributing systems. It is much more acute with respect to water, sewerage disposal and fire protection.

Discussion among the mayors adduced evidence that most municipalities charge from 25 per cent to 100 per cent more for water delivered beyond the corporate limits. Even so, most water plants operate at a loss—which is made up by taxes collected from inside property owners. It was fairly well established that majority of the cities and towns sell water service too cheap. It costs more to impound, treat and deliver water than the total receipts of the water department.

Comparison was made between the installation and maintenance costs of a power distribution system where current flows along small wires with long durability and a water system requiring more expensive mains of shorter life. Yet the average family uncomplainingly pays from $6 to $10 monthly electric bill and raises calm if the water bill goes above one dollar. Majority of North Carolina municipalities have raised water rates within the past few months, but information is they are still too low to comply with sound business practices.

It further developed that there is no uniform rule or policy among municipalities with respect to charges for outside services. Practice seems to be that each community adopts a temporary policy of expediency. It was suggested that there is some need for thorough engineering surveys to determine basic costs of rendering services to inside and outside residents, and that rates should be fixed to assure that the utilities will be approximately self-supporting. Very few municipal water systems are now paying their own way.

FIRE PROTECTION — Admittedly one of the most bothersome issues is that of municipal fire companies answering calls beyond the city limits. In other phases of outside services, like electricity and water, there is usually time to work out adjustments. Fires demand immediate attention. The tragedy of a home burning to the ground just a few hundred feet from the invisible corporate limits line while municipal fire engines stand idly by appeals to the generous instincts of municipal taxpayers. The other side of that picture is that every time a fire truck goes outside the city it increases the tax burden upon insiders and involves complications about liability for injury to firemen.

effect upon insurance rates and numerous other items.

There are many places in North Carolina where cooperative agreements have been negotiated by private property owners and county governments with municipalities for fire protection. There are still numerous communities where no such working agreements apply. It is further true that where the county enters into agreement with the municipality for sharing costs, the municipal taxpayers still carry most of the load because they pay all the city taxes and from 20 per cent to 80 per cent of the county levy.

CO-ORDINATION — The municipal officials also recognize and discussed the need for closer coordination of governmental activities in the fields of public schools, recreation and other social services. Duplicate investment in school playgrounds and municipal recreation parks was deplored, but no immediate remedy proposed. It was suggested that perhaps municipal officials should take the lead in seeking some way to more efficiently utilize investment in public school buildings and grounds than the present 180 days a year. (To considerable extent that same responsibility rests upon unincorporated rural communities.) Admittedly the solution will not be easy to find, but North Carolina's city and town officials are facing up to the demands upon them by reason of changing conditions in the manner and habits of living among the people.

Worth Noting

N. PORT JEFFERSON, N. Y., TIMES: "The Enger memorial gallery in the old Customs House has become a classroom for teaching school children the meaning of freedom of the press. Teachers daily take their pupils through the dusty rooms of the old federal building where treasures commemorating the birth of the republic are on display."

ST. JOHNS, ARL., INDEPENDENT-NEWS: "Whether one reads a country week or a metropolitan daily newspaper, it is still apparent that at no time in man's history is a free exchange of information more urgently needed than right at this moment at the mid-point of the Twentieth Century as we embark into the Atomic Age. We of the newspaper world are doing our best to keep America strong by telling the truth."

Battle To Gain Control Of 84th Congress In Final Lap

By The Associated Press
The campaign for control of the 84th Congress today rolled into its final week with both parties planning an 11th-hour speedup of efforts to lure voters still straddling the political fence.

The Republican National Committee announced yesterday that some 100 prominent Republicans will make more than 250 speeches in 36 states during the closing days of the campaign.

GOP efforts will be climaxed on election eve by a "get-out-the-vote" appeal by President Eisenhower.

National economic conditions, a crime issue in the campaign will be reviewed tonight by Eisenhower in a nationally televised "non-partisan" talk from Washington.

Vice President Nixon, the most active of the top GOP campaigners, will speak today in Nevada, Arizona and Idaho.

The "big names" among the Democrats who will contribute to the campaign finale include Adlai Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential candidate, and Democratic leaders of the House and Senate.

Nixon yesterday told newsmen in Salt Lake City that he believes the GOP campaign is now "in exactly the right position."

He said the campaign "has been gaining in intensity and interest and if this keeps up the Republicans will win the Senate and keep the House" in the Nov. 2 balloting.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas said yesterday in Minneapolis that a 10-state swing has convinced him his party will wrest control of Congress from the GOP.

Nixon said Saturday the Communist party is fighting desperately for an anti-Eisenhower Congress. He said this was partly because the Democratic party was "tolerated" the Red conspiracy and many of its candidates belong to a "left-wing clique."

In Salt Lake City, Nixon yesterday commented on a recent Stevenson statement that the vice president is directing a GOP campaign that can be described as "McCarthyism in a white collar."

Nixon called this a "typically snide and snobbish innuendo toward the millions of Americans who work for a living in our shops and factories . . ."

Nixon said the so-called blue collar workers "have a much keener and clearer understanding of the threat of communism at home than he (Stevenson) has displayed during his public career . . ."

In Tampa, Fla. the GOP candidate for governor died yesterday after an illness of several months. He was J. Tom Watson, 68, a former Democrat.

Police Escort Is Given To Boxer

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff T.M. Whitten rushed to a motor court where people reported hearing strange cries. He located nothing unusual and radioed for another deputy. City and University of Virginia police and a state trooper heard the call and responded.

They found Max a boxer dog partially paralyzed by infected tick bites, howling in the rain. He was escorted to his doghouse by representatives of the four law enforcement divisions.

Mackinac Bridge Idea Isn't New

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—They are building a 100 million dollar bridge across the Straits of Mackinac. The idea is certainly not new as evidenced by a newspaper advertisement hanging in the Michigan State Highway Ferries office at St. Ignace, Mich.

In the center of the advertisement for an old general store is an engraving of a proposed five-mile-long suspension bridge across the Straits of Mackinac.

"Legal Control" Works For Temperance

Our "Legal Control" laws are made to encourage temperance. These laws govern the sale, the hours, the personnel and the premises of all places selling beer and ale. "Legal Control" laws represent a tolerant, practical system as opposed to the "no control" of prohibition.

Good public relations is always good business, and the beer industry is squarely on the side of "legal control" as the best proven method to encourage temperance or moderation.

You cannot legislate morals, but you can guide by control and example. "Legal Control" is working in the interest of moderation.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car bu-

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

East Carolina and East Tennessee State fought to a 6-6 deadlock Saturday night in College Stadium in the first meeting of the two intercollegiate football teams.

The two aspirant legends each equal in every phase of grid warfare and finesse, were amiable enough if you want to consider playing in each other's backyard a gesture of friendliness. Each team mustered enough firepower to tally once apiece. Several other threats were made but none backed up with a demonstration.

ETSC Early Score
East Tennessee, in the opening minutes, wasn't out for any light courtin', they wanted to get on with it. After receiving the opening kickoff, the Buccaneers (Tenn.) failed to accumulate enough yardage for the first down and punted. Tippy Hayes, ECC Co-Captain, returned Pete Wilson's 42-yard kick five yards to ECC's 33. Claude King rushed through right guard for 10 yards and a first down. Hayes picked up 6 yards and Boyd Webb, quarterback, attempted his first pass. Wilson intercepted the throw intended for End Larry Rhodes on ETSC's 27 and returned to the 32.

Three first downs and 68 yards later East Tennessee scored as Halfback Dickie Warren went through left tackle from three yards out. Specialist Tom Rock's attempted conversion was wide to the right and the scoreboard read ETSC 6, ECC 0 with 10 minutes remaining in the first period.

The march took 15 plays with Buddy Saulsbury, Ed Foster and Warren doing most of the totting, although it was Wilson's passing that actually set up the score. He passed once to Foster for 21 yards, again to Foster for nine yards, and to End George Bailey for 18 yards to put the ball on ECC's 3-yard line. That final pass to Bailey was almost intercepted by King. The latter deflected the leather right into the big flanker's hands.

Greenville's Perry On The Go

The sparse crowd was brought to its feet on the ensuing kickoff Bobby Perry, freshman halfback, gathered Rock's boot on his 15 and fooled both the Buccaneers and Pirates with his 42-yard race up the left sidelines. Wilson caught him on ETSC's 43. The apparent deception was that ECC's interference formed on the right side of the gridiron and Perry made like a recluse down the left boundary. East Tennessee tightened up his defense and the drive was thwarted.

Second Period Scoreless
The second quarter was touch and go with neither team manufacturing a formidable drive. The ball changed hands so many times it must've lost a little air. The boys on the chain really earned their keep for 15 minutes. ECC gambled for a first down and lost on the 29-yard line of ETSC. East Tennessee drove across midfield on the strength of Wilson's fine passing and the running of Saulsbury. Wilson finally was forced to kick from the 49.

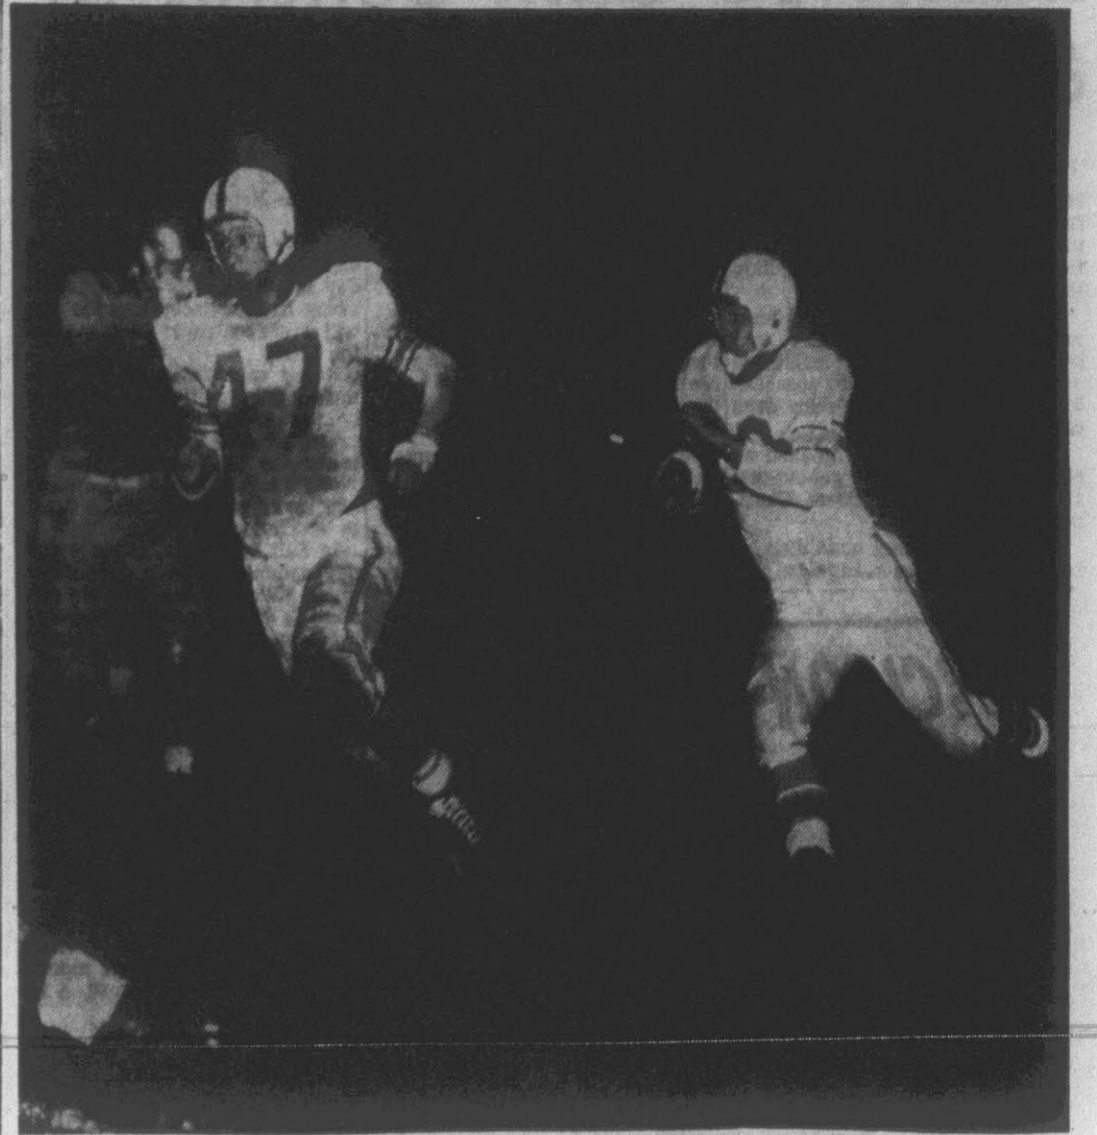

ECC got exactly nowhere on a series of downs and King punted to ETSC's 40. The Buccaneers could do little better and after one first down Bob Maynard, rookie fullback, intercepted Wilson's pass at 36. The Pirates drove for one first down and were forced to kick. The dying minutes of the second period were spent with ETSC in possession at the midfield stripe.

ECC Tally
Immediately after the kickoff, East Carolina marched 63 yards in five plays for their matching six points. Tom Allbrook received the kick on the 15 and returned to the 37. Hayes lost to the 34 and then more than got it back by racing to the 41. Webb tossed to Ray Pennington for 15 yards to the ETSC 44 and a first down. Allbrook scampered for 7 yards to the 37. Big Claude King carried on the next play off right tackle. He suddenly burst into the clear and went down the right sidelines to the 20, cut over to the middle and raced into the end zone. King's try for the all-important point-after was wide and the score was knotted: ECC 6, ETSC 6.

Third Period Slow
The remainder of the third quarter was played on an even-keel. The ball changed owners three times with neither team able to gain more than ten yards before kicking.

In the final period, both teams fought vainly to score and go ahead—like a prize fighter who knows its other knock his opponent out or lose or settle for a draw. The outcome though seemed destined to end in a dead heat.
Two 50 Yard Passes
Highlights of the final period were two 50-yard pass plays by each antagonist. Midway the period Wilson hit Buzzy Breeding for a 50-yarder, Breeding finally being stopped on ECC's 25. The Pirates dug in though and halted their advances right there. In the fading moments, Collier passed to Hayes and the latter scooted to ETSC's 19—the play covered 55 yards.
Field Goal Attempts
Just before the game ended, King attempted a field goal from his 36 yard line. The boot was way short and ETSC took over on the 20. After the 50-yard pass in the fourth period, Malvin Chapman for East Tennessee tried a field goal from his 45. His attempt too was very short and the ball went over. The game had many standouts. Pete Wilson, 155-pound master of run-kick-pass, was the big show for ETSC. Saulsbury, Breeding and Warren were outstanding offensive players. ECC's King, Hayes, O'Kelly and Webb played well. Louis Hallow Willie Holland, George Tucker, Rhodes, Bill Cain, Ray Pennington and David Lee stood out in the Pirates' line.

Action As Pirates Meet Pirates

Unbeaten Apps To Meet ECC Next

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Appalachian, with a 6-0 record, remained the only unbeaten and untied football team in North Carolina today and apparently has all but clinched the North State Conference crown.

The Mountaineers breezed by Emory and Henry, 21-0, Saturday in a non-conference contest. They are assured of at least a tie for the conference title and could wrap it up by beating East Carolina this Saturday.

Elon remained on Appalachian's heels, whipping Catawba Saturday, 36-12, the highest score in the 26-year series. Fullback Bob Staufenberg dashed 39 yards for one score, halfback Whitney Bradham romped 55 yards for another and Kerry Richards scored one on a pass reception and set up another touchdown on a 67-yard punt return.

Western Carolina had to come from behind to drop Lenoir Rhyne, 21-19, in the other conference game. Terry Swanger kicked three extra points which proved the difference and halfback Bob Joyce ran 90 yards for one touchdown to spearhead the Catamount attack. East Carolina, last year's champion, was held to 6-6 tie by East Tennessee at Greenville. Gullford, the other conference team, enjoyed an open date.

Appalachian touchdowns against E&H came on a pass by Ned Pennell and runs by Aubrey Elam and Jim Ollis. It also was announced that Appalachian has been chosen as one of the Burley Bowl teams. The game will be played Thanksgiving day at Johnson City, Tenn. Saturday's schedule:

East Carolina vs Appalachian at Boone; Elon vs Western Carolina; Presbyterian at Catawba; Newberry at Gullford; and Emory and Henry at Lenoir Rhyne.

Seeking League Approval Of Big Athletics Deal

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A representative of the new owners of the Philadelphia Athletics left for Chicago today to seek American League approval of the four-million-dollar deal which prevented transfer of the A's to Kansas City.

The agreement transferring ownership of the team from the Mack family to an eight-man syndicate was completed early today when Roy Mack signed the legal document. His brother Earle signed just before him. The brothers also signed for their father Connie. Atty. Alfred Luongo said he would present the agreement to League President William Harbridge today. It was expected Harbridge would be asked to make a telephone check of the other club owners in the league for their assent.

Upstarts Making Rose Bowl Spurt

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
With the annoying smog blown out to sea the air over Los Angeles was diffused with the scent of roses today and unless the air around the Scioto River is especially heavy, you could smell the same aroma in Columbus, Ohio.

It may be only the last week in October elsewhere but in those two spots it's Jan. 1, 1955, and Southern California and Ohio State, a pair of upstarts in the Pacific Coast and Big Ten conferences, are battling in the Rose Bowl.

The Trojans and the Buckeyes got past big threats this past weekend to remain unbeaten in their leagues. And at this stage of the season, that's enough to start the bowl drums.

After surprising California 29-27 last Saturday, Southern Cal now needs only a form performance against Oregon State, Stanford and Washington in conference play. The Trojans wind up against UCLA, the big, bad, defending PCC champs—but they need only finish as the runner-up to the ill-favored Uclans who can't return to the Rose Bowl, to gain the New Year's Day date.

Southern Cal gets started on the last lap this Saturday against Oregon State, which was mauled by UCLA, the nation's No. 3 team, 61-0.

Ohio State, which beat California 17-14 in the 1950 Rose Bowl, moved out of its dark horse role last weekend by beating previously undefeated and second-ranked Wisconsin 31-14. For a return to the Pasadena classic, the fourth-ranked Buckeyes now must dispute of Northwestern, a suspected patsy; Purdue, a possible upsetter; and Michigan, a bonafide challenger. Northwestern, beaten by Pitt 14-7 last weekend, opposed Ohio State this Saturday.

Once-beaten Michigan made it a two-team race in the Big Ten with its 34-0 rout of Minnesota, previously unbeaten and No. 8 in the nation. The Wolverines take on Indiana this Saturday on the way to what may be a winner-take-all showdown with Ohio State Nov. 20.

The Cotton Bowl also apparently will have an unexpected entry New Year's Day now in Arkansas. The Razorbacks, No. 7 nationally, added to their unbeaten record with a clear-cut 6-0 success over fifth-ranked Mississippi.

The Razorbacks will be trying for their fourth Southwest Conference victory against Texas A&M Saturday. Ten only Rice and SMU would stand between Arkansas and the bowl bid.

Oklahoma the nation's No. 1 team, plays the once-ambitious Colorado Buffaloes this Saturday after taking it easy against fellow Big Seven member Kansas State 21-0 last weekend. The Bulls, hopeful of an upset in the Big Seven, were upset themselves and bowed to Nebraska 20-6.

UCLA has California on the list this Saturday.

Pres Tribble Terms Gridiron Brawl An Unfortunate Display

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wake Forest College President Harold W. Tribble says a free-for-all among players in the North Carolina-Wake Forest football game Saturday was "a very unfortunate display of bad sportsmanship."

He asserted: "This unfortunate occurrence followed a similar incident at Carolina in basketball last year. The two things together would seem to indicate that the coaches either encouraged or condoned this sort of thing."

The fight broke out in the closing seconds with Wake Forest deep in North Carolina territory. Several policemen and coaches rushed on the field and put down the disorder.

The incident which apparently touched off the fist-swinging came when Wake Forest quarterback Nick Consoles was struck in the face by Tar Heel end Will Frye's elbows. Officials sent Frye to the sidelines.

Consoles, who lost three teeth and received a bruised lip, fell to the ground and was taken off the field.

On the following play, Wake Forest halfback Burt Harrison also was sent out of the game by officials. Then the fists began to swing on both sides. Play was finally resumed and North Carolina won, 14-7.

Another fight broke out while the squads were headed for the dressing rooms. North Carolina freshman backfield coach Dick Lackey suffered a bruised nose.

Tribble issued a statement in which he "deplored the way the game ended."

He said Consoles was slugged "after a play had been completed. It was not a part of the play. It looked like a deliberate attempt to knock Consoles out."

Tribble added that he did not go to the dressing room with the players but a "report has come to me that the Carolina coaches engaged in the fight and slugged one of our players near the dressing room. I've made no effort to verify this."

"I'm very anxious to see the good relations between the two schools sustained and strengthened," Tribble said. "But if this kind of display continues it will not only endanger relations between the schools but also intercollegiate athletics."

Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina, said, "I'm very sorry it happened." University Chancellor, R. B. House declined to comment.

Wake Forest Coach Tom Rogers said he played football under Wallace Wade "and he never permitted his boys to play dirty football. He taught us to play clean and that's the way I teach my boys to play."

George Barclay, North Carolina head coach said he did not see the Frye-Consoles incident, but he strongly denied the Tar Heels play dirty football. He said, "When I coach that way I will get out of this coaching."

Army Probably To Try GIs For Collaboration

By ELTON C. FAY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army probably will issue this week a new series of court-martial charges against soldiers accused of collaborating with their Communist captors or informing on their fellows while war prisoners in Korea.

The expected additional court-martial charges are among 40 cases still being investigated by the Army. All will involve men still in service.

An Army spokesman said announcements of charges could be expected "very soon." The court-martial will be conducted at various Army areas where the men are now stationed.

It appeared that these new cases will be predicated, like previous ones, on alleged offenses committed by American soldiers while in enemy prison camps and not based on initial refusal of men to leave the Communist camps and return home.

The Defense Department, it was disclosed in material which became available today, is making detailed disclaimer of any idea that there was "reputation" of promises of immunity from prosecution given prisoners before they returned if they were found to have committed illegal acts.

The Army's announcement of forthcoming action against additional servicemen—none of whom was named—came Saturday night.

It said that in addition to four court-martials which have resulted in conviction, it has discharged from the Army 15 persons—a dozen fired with "undesirable discharge" orders and three others eased out by the noncommittal "general discharge" method.

Sight Wreckage

PARIS (AP)—The wreckage of a two-engine plane, believed to be a missing American Air Force C-47, was sighted on the island of Corsica today, the French News Agency reported.

The Allied Air Rescue Center at Aix-en-Provence in Southern France, reached by telephone, said the wreckage could be that of another plane reported missing between Dijon and Rome today.

Officials at the Rescue Center just north of Marseille said they did not know the nationality of the second missing plane. They said they had heard it had crashed in flames but they did not know where.

The C-47 earlier was reported missing over the Mediterranean and an aerial search was begun in weather described as "downright prohibitive."

All 21 persons aboard the craft were believed to be military personnel. The plane was based at Manston, England. Names of those aboard were withheld.

WNCT-TV Schedule

Viewers of television station WNCT, Channel 9, Greenville, will get an insight on U.S. Savings Bonds from the national, state, and local level by viewing a panel discussion Wednesday afternoon at 12:15.

The panel will consist of National Director Walter P. Johnson, State Chairman W.H. Andrews and Pitt County Director J. Herbert Waldrop.

Safety Panel
 Tomorrow at 12:15 a panel discussion will be viewed over WNCT concerning child safety. The 15-minute discussion will be sponsored by the Child Safety Commission of North Carolina.

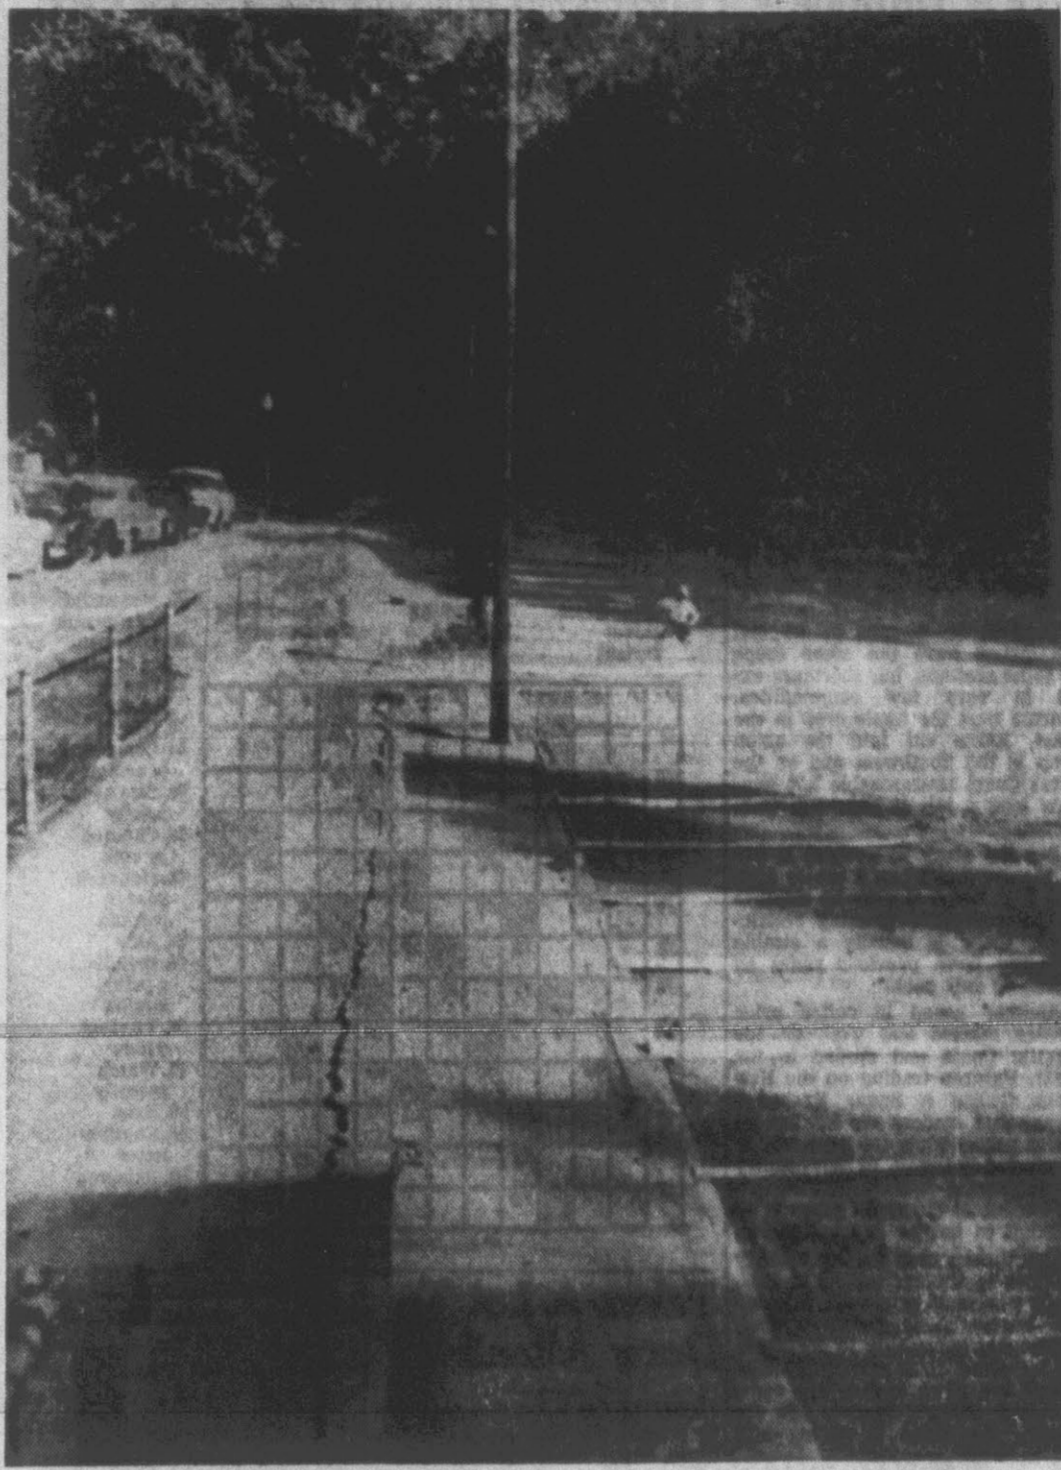

Disneyland
 Sunday, October 31st, a new series will begin on WNCT in the 5:00 to 6:00 spot in the afternoon. Walt Disney, who comes to TV after many demands upon his talents, will take viewers into the future, a trip through the past, in a world of his own invention.

The series will be broken down into four phases: Frontierland, Tomorrowland, Adventureland, and Fantasyland. Frontierland will recount the stories of legendary men who became real and real men who became legendary. Adventureland will show famous true-life adventures such as "The Vanishing Prairie, The Living Desert, and Seal Island. Tomorrowland will feature a trip to Mars and Fantasyland will feature animated cartoons.

Driver Charged In Collision At Intersection

A Wilson man was charged with failure to stop for a red light following a collision at the corner of Tenth and Conchance streets Friday afternoon.

Franklin T. McKeel of Wilson Route 2 was charged after his vehicle was involved in a collision with a car operated by Jessie Ray Harris. McKeel's car also skidded into a car operated by William E. Baker of Levallette, New Jersey. Police reported that Mr. and Mrs. McKeel were slightly injured in the accident.

Damage to Harris' vehicle amounted to $250, to McKeel's, $300 and to Baker's, $400.

Traffic Officer V. C. Ackert investigated.

'Witness' Faces Murder Charge

BALTIMORE, (AP)—A 52-year-old junkman who told police he witnessed the slaying of a grocer early Saturday has been charged with committing the crime himself.

Alfonso Hill, a Negro, had told police he had seen two Negroes enter the grocery about the time of the killing. He furnished detailed descriptions of them.

The victim was Frank Leimkuhl-er, 62. A woman customer found him fatally wounded on the floor of his grocery. Another customer recalled seeing a junk wagon near the store about the time of the killing.

Hill, also charged with attempted robbery, was held without bail.

General Strengthening Of Tobacco Grades Over Belt

The North Carolina Middle Belt deliveries to the corporation for the season are about 7.4 per cent. The North Carolina-South Carolina Border Belt—sold 7,885,278 pounds last week, averaging $44.45, down $2.04, the lowest average of the season.

The Federal-State Market News Service said total Middle Belt sales last week were 13,755,842 pounds, averaging $51.46 per 100 pound, down $2.05 from the previous week and the lowest level of the season. Season sales now are 103,962,561 pounds for a $53.37 average.

The drop was laid to the inferior quality of offerings. Most low and fair quality lugs showed losses. For all grades losses outnumbered gains. There was an increased percentage of poor quality and non-descript tobacco sold. Volume was the smallest in the five weeks of sales.

The North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt reported 30,172,729 pounds sold last week, averaging $51.41, down $1.34 from the previous week. Season sales now are 147,262,962 pounds for a $53.88 average.

However most average prices were firm to slightly higher. Non-descript and poor and low leaf showed an increase. Quality was down. Volume was heavy on most markets.

There was general strengthening of grades on the North Carolina Eastern Belt. Last week's sales totaled 36,844,480 pounds averaging $56.24, up 16 cents from the previous week.

Gains of $1 to $3 were noted for more than half of the grades. The Stabilization Corp. took about 10 per cent of the week's gross sales.

Tears for the Bride

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
SLOWLY and cruelly the world crept back, leering at me, chuckling gleefully. And the people, I muttered in protest, wanting to return to the wonderful silent world, but something wouldn't let me. I opened my eyes slowly, cautiously pushed myself to my knees and squatted on my haunches, like a cave man before his puny flickering fire. My head pounded, and I explored with my fingers found a lump behind my right ear. I swayed and lost my balance and fell sideways.

With a great effort I pushed myself to my feet and stood rolling against the wall. Below me the light from the front room of Judy Kirkland's house cast a glow up the stair well. Judy Kirkland, Dr. Anthony Mazzini, Sandy Hollis—they were all down there, I thought, gathered at the foot of the stairs like parents on Christmas morning and as I went down the steps they would sweetly sing a jolly carol. I lurched for the steps, but I stopped, swaying. I wasn't ready to face them yet. Not yet. I turned slowly around, peered into the darkness. The bathroom was the middle door. I remembered that I groped along the wall, found the door. It stood half open, and again I smelled the soap and the delicate perfume. I found a wall switch, flicked it. I flinched and blinked in the bright light. An old-fashioned bathroom. Metal was a bowl enameled tub on legs. Medieval. But the water in the tap was cold. It felt very good splashing over my head. I soaked a towel, rubbed my face, and looked in a mirror over the bowl. I winced. Straight black hair, too long as usual, because I was a week past due. I was a week past due. My stubble tinged with gray, foggy blue eyes, dark pouches beneath them deep lines around the mouth, wrinkles in the forehead. So me a face! Gently I pressed the wet towel to the lump behind my ear. No blood, a neat job. I dropped the towel and lurched out to the hall. The stairway gaped like a hippopotamus' mouth.

Get control of yourself, Bennett. Take a deep breath and throw out your chest. Go down and see what is going on. Assert yourself. You're the law. Almost. And this is pretty shady business, dark stuff going on here. Sinister. Yellow speck on a key. A clue, Bennett. Hah!

I went down the stairs very slowly, my hand on the rail. I felt remote, superior above the sordid sins of the world. Pure, like Lancelot. Step by step I went down, down.

Sandy stood at the foot of the stairs, her face a white blur. "Jim, what's wrong?" she asked sharply.

I pushed her gently aside and stood up straight and focused my eyes on Dr. Mazzini, who sat on the divan beside Judy Kirkland. I staggered a little, supported myself against the stair railing, and I said distinctly, "What did you hit me with Doctor?"

"Does it matter?" he asked quietly.

I pushed myself away from the railing and stood erect. It made me happy to realize that I swayed only a little and that the room was circling quite slowly. I said, "No, it doesn't matter, I guess. But why did you hit me?"

"You should know," he said. "I'm sorry I had to do it."

Presently his meaning filtered through my fuzzy brain and slowly I began to feel my pockets, one by one. Wallet, gum, silver pencil, pen, comb, spare handkerchief, cigarettes, matches. . . . I took me a little while to realize that the missing item was the key to the confession. I had known all along that it would be gone, and I wondered wearily why it had gone through the motions of looking.

"Give it back," I said.

"I can't," the doctor said and nodded at a big glass ash tray on a low table near the divan.

I peered at the ash tray. It contained three cigar stubs, and a little pile of black debris, the burned and crinkled remains of what had been a sheet of paper. I pointed at a wavering, accusing finger at Dr. Mazzini. "Burning evidence," I said. "Obstructing justice."

"Prove it," he said softly.

Behind me I heard Sandy say in a strange voice, "Jim . . ."

Ponderously I turned toward her, and I heard my voice saying "And where were you, Miss Hollis, when the good doctor sneaked up the stairs and knocked me cold and took a paper from my pocket?"

"I was in the kitchen, making more coffee. I didn't hear."

"Don't blame Sandy," Dr. Mazzini broke in. "She didn't know that I went upstairs. And you'd better sit down. I injected sodium pentothal into the vein of your right arm. It knocked you out completely for about ten minutes, and it'll take a little while to wear off. We use it quite extensively for quick and minor surgery." He smiled. "It's harmless, and I had to be certain that you would remain unconscious long enough for me to do what I had to do." He nodded at his bag on the floor beside the divan. "I used a sap first, but I disliked hitting you hard enough to make certain you'd be out long enough."

"Thanks," I said.

"I've carried the sap since my interne days—when I was on accident duty in Cleveland," he said. "Handy gadgets," I said. The room seemed to have stopped its interminable circling, and now just the floor was moving, up and down slowly, like the deck of a schooner in a lazy off-shore swell. "It won't do you any good, though—burning her confession. If she wrote it, she'll tell it."

"I don't think so," he said quietly. "Writing a confession with the intention of suicide is not the same as confessing when you're alive, and no prospect of dying."

"Let's ask her," I suggested, trying to peer around him at the form of Judy Kirkland on the divan.

"She can't talk for a while," he said. "I've given her a sedative."

"You're a tricky operator," I said, "but she's got to talk some time."

"Not until I talk to her first," he said calmly.

"When I tell the law—"

"About Judy's confession? She was emotionally upset and she blames herself for what happened to Ralph Hollis. In a crazy way she was trying to atone—"

"And so she killed Rex Bishop. Was that atonement, too?"

"She lied," he said. "The whole thing was a lie. I know her, Bennett."

"And you love her?"

"Yes," he said.

"And you'll protect her at any cost?"

"You can't prove that she wrote a confession. You can't prove any of it."

He was right, and I knew it. I had the bullet—F4—dig out of the tree, but if I couldn't match it with a certain rifle, I had nothing. And I had a hypo needle filled with something. I looked at Dr. Mazzini, and I suddenly realized that if the needle contained anything but penicillin he would have taken it from me, along with Judy's confession. I didn't have anything left, but some ugly memories, and I couldn't go to the law. But they came back at me, the sounds of the bullets, they had been aimed at me, and once again I felt the lonely climate of my personal life world, and with it came the slow surge of rage.

State Democrats Invest $10,000 In Two Districts

RALEIGH (AP)—The state Democratic party has poured more than $10,000 into the Ninth and 10th Congressional districts, where Republican strength is strongest.

A pre-election campaign expense report filed by State Democratic Chairman John D. Larkins Jr., yesterday showed the party has received contributions of $30,894.24. Expenses were listed as $29,142.18, leaving a balance on hand of $1,552.08. Reports are due from both parties 10 days before the Nov. 2 elections.

Of the money spent, $5,750 was listed as going to the 10th District where the Democrats are trying to unseat Rep. Charles R. Jonas, the state's only Republican congressman.

Another $7,000 was sent to the Ninth district, where the GOP is making a strong bid for Rep. Hugh Q. Alexander's seat.

Ambulance Fixed In Double Time

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—An ambulance skidded to a stop with a flat tire.

A sheriff's car sped the interne to his patient. The interne, Dr. Charles Miller, found the patient needed immediate hospitalization and phoned for another ambulance.

But before it arrived, farmer David Lydy, 55, walked up and said he had changed the ambulance tire. And Dr. Miller rushed off with his patient.

Price Outlook This Winter Is Reasonably Good

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The outlook for eating this coming winter is pretty good today.

Prices of most foodstuffs are down—at the farm level—to about where they were before the start of the Korean War sent them scampering upward. Large surpluses of many of the primary foodstuffs tend to keep them stable.

The chief upward pressure on food prices at the grocery level comes from the creeping rise in costs of preparation and distribution.

Drought or disease or tropical hurricanes have cut some crops in some sections, but shortages exist in very few commodities. Storms hurt the apple crop in the East. Rains cut into the onion crop in the Southwest and on the West Coast unseasonable hot weather took a toll of lettuce in California.

But the story in general is one of plenty. And when a major crop has been cut this year by weather or governmental planting restrictions, there is usually a sizable holdover from previous years—on which to fall back.

Another round in coffee price cutting started last week on the Pacific Coast and spread to the East. Futures trading on the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange shows that traders are looking for lower prices when the next crop is harvested in Brazil. In that country governmental agencies are reported buying up the green beans in an attempt to bolster sagging prices.

The turkey crop in this country is close to the record set in 1952, while wholesale prices are reported the lowest in 12 years, offering consumers something to be thankful for come Thanksgiving. Poultry prices are although chicken farmers are expecting the price to stiffen with the moulting season.

Meat supplies are abundant this fall. Bargains are advertised every week by the butchers.

All this is pleasant for the consumer. For the farmer it's something else again.

Prices of farm products climbed steeply after the Korean War started in June of 1950. They reached a peak in early spring of 1951. Since then they have slipped back 21 per cent.

Famed Dogs Of Newfoundland Disappearing

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Newfoundland dogs are fast disappearing from Newfoundland and one breeder says it is because of federal registration regulations.

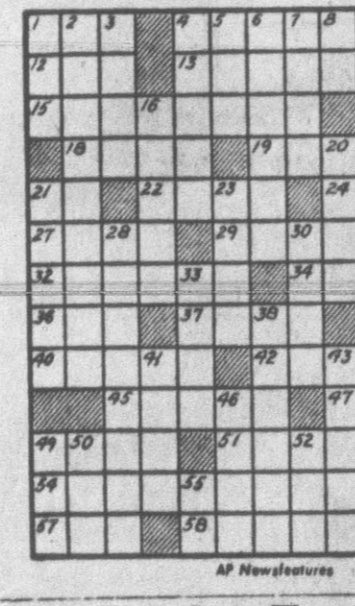

Only five thoroughbreds are left here, compared with 30 in 1949 when five breeders exported more than 100 pups a year. Harold MacPherson, well-known Newfoundland merchant, doesn't think the industry will recover until regulations are revised.

Before Newfoundland joined Canada registering the dogs was a simple process, all done on paper. Today, however, the pups must be either tattooed or nose-printed. MacPherson thinks tattooing is cruel and he says Newfoundland dogs are not suited for nose-printing because they sweat too much.

Scientists have been unable to explain how paint of the prehistoric drawings in European caves, some of them 20,000 or more years old, has been preserved until the present day.

Takes A Lot To Draw Attention

OMAHA (AP)—What does it take to attract attention on the streets these days? Omaha police wonder after catching up with three boys, ages 9 to 12, who had fled an Omaha juvenile home.

Barefooted and clad in pajamas, the boys wandered about the streets for four hours, visited an amusement park where they spent their bank roll — 25 cents — and twice crossed a busy inter-city bridge.

A reporter who had heard a police radio call on the trio finally spotted them and notified police.

Western Allies Taking Big Gamble Again On Germans

By ED CREAGH
 WASHINGTON, (AP)—Once again the Allies have taken a big gamble in Germany.

Unless the Russians manage to upset the appeacart — and they're trying hard, though without much immediate chance of success — the 15-nation agreements signed over the weekend at Paris mean:

1. West Germany becomes an almost free and not-quite-sovereign nation less than 10 years after all Germany was at war with both Russia and the West, then allies.
2. West Germany — the strongest part of that split country — comes into the Western defense setup, and will supply 12 divisions.
3. The Allied occupation of West Germany ends — as such. This doesn't mean American, British and French troops will go home. It means they'll stay in Germany, but with German consent.

All this is just what the United States wanted at this stage, and a lot more than it thought it would get only a couple of months ago, when the more ambitious European Defense Community fell apart before it got started.

The Paris arrangement is just about what the Germans wanted, too. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was so eager for it, in fact, that he gave in to the French on the Saar question to get their agreement on the Paris pacts.

In short almost everybody is happy. But not quite everybody. For instance:

1. The Russians. They're beating drums louder than ever for a Big Four conference on "unifying" East and West Germany. That would mean, the way they want it, a helpless Germany ripe for Russian plucking. The Paris agreements look like a safeguard against that.

2. Some of Adenauer's Germans, who think he went too far in his Saar concessions.
3. A number of people, and not only French people, who wonder just how safe it is to let Germany rearm even under the limitations agreed upon at Paris.

This is a gamble the Allies took once before, and tragically lost — in the war of 1919-45. The West let Germany grow strong enough to fight that war out of (1) indecision and apathy, and (2) hope that Germany would act as a check on Communist aggression.

The result as six years of bloody history record, was war with Germany, not a checkmated Russia. And in the wake, Russia emerged a far more powerful threat than before.

Putting guns in the hands of the Germans again is a calculated risk, and one that American political leaders on both sides of the fence agree should be taken. Hence Germany was first proposed by the last Democratic secretary of state, Dean Acheson. In terms of German manpower, all Secretary of State Dulles has done is raise the limit of 10 divisions proposed by Acheson.

The reasoning is obvious: Russia is the real threat — the "clear and present danger," as the lawyers say. West Germany's present leaders know that. Hence they lined up in the West's system of defense. France's present leaders know it too. Hence they agreed — at a price — to let Germany join up.

So much for the present. But what's to stop some other set of German leaders from going on a Hitler-type rampage in the future? Well the Germans themselves. For one thing, they promised at Paris not to start any new war to get back lost territory. And the other Western diplomats figure, in the light of what happened to Germany in 1945, the Germans mean it this time.

Then there is the 12-division limit on German troops. And there is new authority for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization over the arms and armies of all member countries, including Germany. Finally, there is the fact that Anglo-American-French troops will stay in Germany whether they're called occupation troops or not.

ROYAL SITTING gets under way as New York photographer Josef Schneider, right, sets his sights on Swedish Crown Prince in royal palace in Stockholm.

BOYISH SPIRIT of fun is evident in this portrait of 8-year-old Carl Gustave by Schneider. The original is in color.

By IRVING DESFOR
 AP Newfeatures

Suppose you were invited thousands of miles to photograph the 8-year-old Crown Prince of Sweden. And suppose you were allotted but 20 minutes including the time necessary for setting up lights and your camera, meeting your subject and selecting the proper setting. And suppose you found the royal lad dignified, restrained and acutely aware that he was being photographed while you lacked the command of a foreign language to help matters.

What would you do to break the camera consciousness to establish a natural, boyish spirit that would assure better pictures? Let a professional give you the answer for he solved the problem. "I threw a teddy bear at him," said Josef Schneider, "and let it skim past his ear!"

"It was a daring move, but I was desperate. From the corner of my eye I could see the Crown Prince's governess move forward with a startled expression and I could sense her concern. She could stop the sitting in a second.

"For an instant the young prince studied my face. I was grinning wildly. Then he reached down, picked up the teddy bear and, with an answering boyish grin, threw it back at me.

"A spirit of fun took over. We all relaxed. After that I shot rapidly."

Tossing the teddy bear was just another trick of the trade to Joe Schneider, a seasoned specialist in child photography. It is one of many that have gained him a national reputation. His baby pictures have been published in national advertisements and been exhibited in the colossal Colorama in New York's Grand Central Station. He authored a book, "Child Photography the Modern Way" which is still standard on the subject though published some four years ago.

I visited Schneider's Manhattan studio recently, a few days after his return from Sweden, and had an outsider's first look at 70 beautiful color studies of young Crown Prince Carl Gustave, selected from more than 150 shots.

"How did you shoot so many in that short time you were allotted?" I wondered.

"By getting another 20-minute session," Schneider revealed. "After the first short sitting, I took the film to the only color lab in Stockholm and waited there till they processed it . . . on overtime.

"Next morning I showed the transparencies to Baron Von Essen, the lord chamberlain of the Swedish royal palace. He liked them so much he approved another appointment."

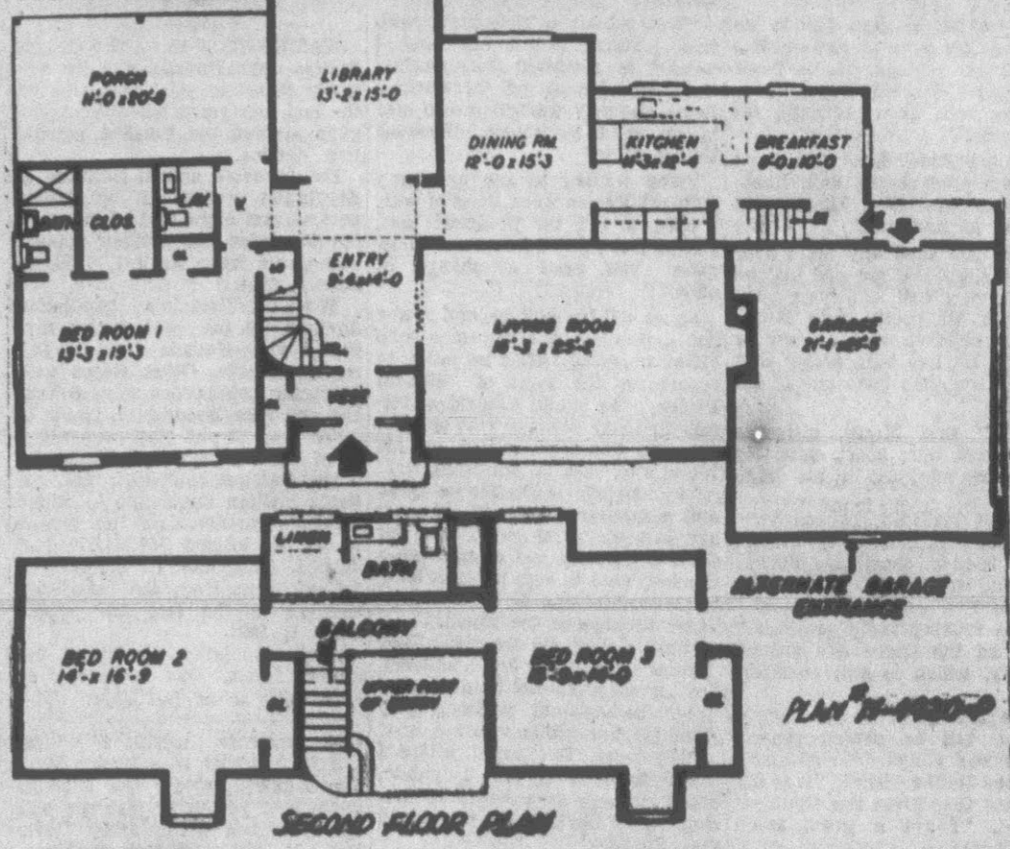

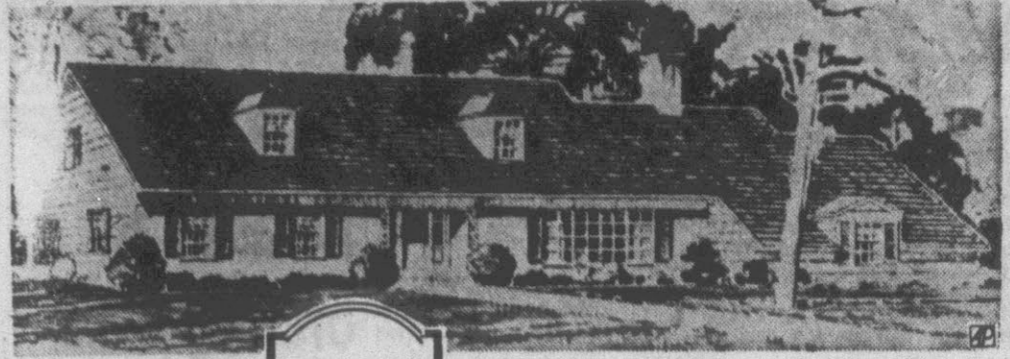

What about equipment? "At the first session," answered Joe, "as a gesture of photographic amity with my Swedish hosts, I shot mainly with a Swedish camera (the Hasselblad). At the second session, I also brought along two American cameras (4" x 5" Graflex and the 2 1/4" x 2 1/4" Kodak Chevron). Just as fast as I finished a roll of film, I'd pick up another camera while my Swedish assistant would reload.

"For lighting, I had brought and set up two sets of speedlights. At the first session, the electric plug-in strobe lights proved erratic. Perhaps it was a poor connection or I was shooting too fast for the wet cells. At any rate I turned to my portable dry battery outfit and it performed perfectly.

"It proved the wisdom of having more than one camera and more than one light source."

After these short sessions with the young prince, Schneider spent almost three weeks in and near Stockholm, shooting black-and-white. He was greatly impressed with the architecture, the playgrounds, the cleanliness in the parks and the sensible handling of children everywhere.

Missouri Prison Officials Keep Lid Over Unrest

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Officials maintained a tight disciplinary clamp over convicts at the Missouri State Penitentiary today after the third mass rebellion in a month.

In the latest outbreak — a food riot Saturday — one prisoner was killed and 37 injured.

Warden Ralph N. Eason told reporters that "all is calm" now and the men seem relaxed, but he added, "Just one silly kid could set off a new rampage in the dining room."

The riot started in a dining room where 500 to 600 inmates were being fed. A guard reported one convict, apparently objecting to bologna sandwiches, yelled "Flat dog." Others took up the cry and began tossing their plates and food on the floor.

Guards fired on the convicts after they ran into the prison yard.

All privileges have been taken from the 3,000 inmates. Radios, newspapers and magazines are banned. They also were without yard and recreational freedom yesterday.

Meanwhile, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly and prison officials intensified their study of the state penal system.

The governor is trying to set up a commission to survey the entire

Sparkman Sees Demo Majority

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) has predicted Democrats will win majorities in Congress because "the administration's attitude toward 'unemployment and the plight of the farmer.'"

Speaking at a 10th District Democratic congressional rally for Judge J.C. Sedberry of Charlotte here Saturday, Sparkman said he wouldn't claim that the Republicans are responsible for what he termed "tremendous" unemployment.

He predicted the Democrats will win majorities in Congress in the November elections because of what he called a "lack of concern sympathy and understanding."

ing on the part of the administration with regard to unemployment and the plight of the farmer."

He claimed that the Republicans "have instituted a program which even Secretary of Agriculture Benson has admitted would cause a drop in farm income."

Sparkman, the Democratic vice presidential candidate in 1952, said the Dixon-Yates power contract is "but another reason why they should not be returned to power."

And he added that the Republicans have "failed utterly to justify" their asking the American people to return them to control of Congress.

Sedberry, opposing Rep. Charles R. Jones of Lincolnton, the state's only Republican congressman, introduced Sparkman at the rally held at the Catawba Fairgrounds.

Mario Reveals His Multiple Troubles

By BOB HOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two years ago, Mario Lanza, a Philadelphia boy with a golden voice, was on easy street.

His film "The Great Caruso" was one of the top money makers of all times. He earned $1,100,000 in one year, more than half of it from phonograph records. He was the hottest property in show business.

Today at 33, he is in debt to the United States government and has virtually no savings. He is faced with the job of rebuilding a career that has been at a standstill for 24 months.

What happened? How did he get into such poor shape, both financially and physically? That's what I aimed to find out.

Before you shed any tears over Lanza's plight let me add that he is living very well in a huge mansion with his pretty wife Betty, his four children and a crew of servants. He has been eating well too, and that has been one of his troubles.

"Look!" said Mario, stripping off his dark blue sport shirt. He flexed the muscles in his huge chest.

"Is that fat? No, not on your life. That's muscle. I've always had a 50-inch chest, no matter what kind of shape I was in. It's just this I've got to get rid of—and I'm making rapid progress."

He patted the spare tire around his belly, which is still considerable.

He is touchy about his weight problem but he denied reports that he was addicted to spaghetti and other Italian dishes. "It is not the pasta that gives me trouble," he said. "I am a great steak man."

Why did he eat himself into such shape?

He said it was because of the emotion problems that beset him. One of the major causes was disillusionment over his finances. He claims his money frittered away because of handling by his former manager, Sam Weiler. Weiler denies it. The courts will decide who is right.

Lanza said he was also upset by his troubles with his studio, MGM. These started after "The Great Caruso."

"We had hit a high mark with that picture," he said, "and I wanted to maintain that quality. But when I reported for work, I found out they wanted me to star in an Army picture, 'Because You're Mine.'"

"Who wanted to see an Army picture? People were tired of war. I tried to tell the producer that. But he just said 'I know show business; you need a change of pace.'"

Lanza did the picture and it was not a success. His relations with MGM worsened. After he failed to report for the start of "Student Prince," the studio slapped a five-million-dollar damage suit on him. The suit was later settled and his voice was used in the film.

"I couldn't work for a year and a quarter," he said. "I even had to give up my radio show for Coca-Cola. They had offered me a fabulous deal to sign up on a long-term contract and be their ambassador throughout the world."

"Sure, I had my troubles. They printed all kinds of lies about me, but I never answered them. I have never believed in washing dirty linen for the public view."

"I got fat. But you'll notice I never paraded myself in public. Show business is a world of illusion, and I never want to destroy that illusion."

That was the reason he gave for not owning up to the fact that old recordings were used for his TV debut on the "Shower of Stars." He still has no regrets about the incident declaring he was caught between a doctor who wouldn't let him sing and a network that wanted him to appear.

He'll make his second TV appearance on "Shower of Stars" this Thursday. He'll sing a "Tosca" aria and "Some Day" and you can bet your boots that no recordings will be used.

Nevada Fastest Growing State

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau says Nevada was the nation's fastest-growing state during the last four years while West Virginia showed the greatest population decline.

The bureau's annual estimate of population growth by states showed last night that all but 3 of the 48 states had civilian population gains from April 1, 1950, to July 1, 1954.

West Virginia's population dropped 2.9 per cent during that period while Nevada showed a 33.1 per cent gain. Other states with shrinking populations were Arkansas and New Hampshire. Gains of more than 20 per cent were registered for Arizona and Florida.

The bureau estimated the nation's civilian population — which excludes members of the armed forces — totaled 159,084,000 last July 1. This was an increase of 6.3 per cent from the 149,834,000 counted in the last full census April 1, 1950.

Total population, including the armed forces, was estimated at 162,414,000 as of last July.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Blonde Marilyn Maxwell, singer and actress, announced yesterday that she will marry screen writer Jerry Davis Nov. 21. She said they met two years ago on the blind date.

It will be Miss Maxwell's third marriage and Davis' second.

Killed Himself During Scuffle

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Charles Curry, 25-year-old East St. Louis Negro, was killed by his own bullet in a fight yesterday.

East St. Louis police gave this account of the shooting: Curry and Warren E. Jones, 25, another East St. Louis Negro, began an argument in a club. Curry grabbed a .38-caliber automatic pistol from the pocket of another man at the scene after Jones was handed a toy pistol.

Curry, standing in front of Jones with his arms around him, shot Jones in the back during a scuffle. The bullet penetrated Jones' body and fatally wounded Curry.

Jones was hospitalized with a gunshot wound in the chest.

Musical Sunday For Sen. Smith

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) spent a musical Sunday in Moscow. She attended a recital by the Red Army chorus in the afternoon and went to a ballet performance at the Ballet Theater last night.

The senator said she had received no reply as yet on her request for an interview with Premier Georgi Malenkov. She said she plans to leave the Soviet Union Thursday.

RAISES BIG STINK:—The Max Levins of Des Moines are busy deodorizing their $18,000 home after this little furry animal raised a "big stink" about being prodded from under a davenport. How the animal, popularly known as a civit cat or spotted skunk, got into the house isn't known. Getting him out was another matter. After a lively chase, Willis Hollingsworth (right) of the Animal Rescue League nabbed the beast with a spring stick device. Sidney Levins, Max's son, watches as Hollingsworth holds the animal out the window. (AP Wirephoto).

Named Chairman In French Contest

Mrs. Marguerite A. Perry of the department of foreign languages at East Carolina College has accepted a position as chairman of the French II Committee of the National French Contest conducted annually by the National Association of Teachers of French.

With the assistance of a committee yet to be chosen, she will prepare the examination to be administered to students of second-year French. This test will be given in schools throughout the nation in the spring of 1955.

Mrs. Perry was appointed to the committee chairmanship by James W. Glennen of Akron, Ohio, chairman, National French Contest, National Association of Teachers of French.

For the past three years Mrs. Perry has been chairman in charge of conducting the National French Contest in secondary schools of North Carolina. Increased interest in the state competition is shown, she says, by the fact that the number of participating students and schools has more than doubled during this period. Entrants in the contest are as follows: 1048 students from 43 schools in 1952; 1850 students from 83 schools in 1953; and 2474 students from 107 schools in 1954.

The National French Contest, conducted annually in secondary schools of the nation, has the purposes of encouraging students in the field of foreign languages, giving recognition to outstanding students, and raising standards of instruction. Examinations are given on four levels of advancement in the study of French, and winners are awarded scholarships, prizes, and other honors.

Pugh To Address Masonic Lodge

Grand Master of Masons in North Carolina Robert L. Pugh of New Bern will be the principal speaker at the Masonic Hall in Greenville next Monday night at 8:30. Supper will be served.

Greenville Lodge No. 284, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, will honor past masters of the lodge. Master of the lodge George W. Smith said this year the annual program will be changed. Instead of invitations being extended to past members to confer the master's degree on candidates, they may hear tributes extended to them as the program unfolds in Fred M. Stokes dining room at Masonic Hall.

Past masters of Lodge No. 284 are: W. J. Bundy, a past grand master of Masons in North Carolina; Dr. B. McK. Johnson, S. N. Graham, V. A. Merritt, L. R. Whichard, J. J. Gilbert, Frank W. Brown, H. P. Markham, F. L. Whitehurst, T. I. Moore, G. P. Riemann, Louis Hales, W. R. Daniels, N. G. Raynor, James W. Brewer, W. F. Owens, L. F. George W. Smith, master; Rayer, R. H. Harrell, W. G. Garner, H. E. Alder, and W. E. Boswell.

Present officers of the lodge are: George W. Smith, masters; Raymond L. Smith, senior warden; Carey A. Joyner, junior warden; W.

Herman Hardee, treasurer; H. E. Alder, secretary; H. R. Phillips, senior deacon; Edward Austin, junior deacon; Vann Johnson and James S. Wells, stewards; L. S. Hadcock, tier; Jesse B. Brown, chaplain, and T. I. Moore, marshal.

Women of the Order of the Eastern Star will serve supper.

Woodbury, N. J. (AP)—An aerial balloon piloted by Donald L. Piccard 29, son of famed balloonist and stratosphere explorer Dr. Jean Piccard, made a forced landing near here yesterday after its bag was torn in flight.

Piccard and his four companions were shaken, but none were injured seriously when the balloon, after a hasty descent, jostled along the ground before it could be brought under control.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Aircraft were weak in the early afternoon today while the rest of the stock market maintained a fairly steady base.

The market started out higher, with aircraft exhibiting early signs of willingness to decline. They soon did, and the rest of the market subsided from its best with many leading issues falling off to the losing side.

There were losses of 1 to 3 points in many divisions while gains seldom got as high as a point.

Higher prices brought out a lot of activity, and the pace slackened on the retreat. The rate was right around Friday's 2,080,000 shares when the market was slightly higher.

Railroads showed a sagging tendency a fact which discouraged the bullish element in Wall Street. It had been hoped that vigorous railroads would paint a bright technical pattern of encouragement.

Steels lagged along with the copper and rubbers. The radio-television division acted well. Farm implements and oils were higher.

Higher stocks included Sinclair Oil, American Airlines, Union Carbide, General Electric, National Gypsum, Radio Corp., Caterpillar Tractor and General Motors.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Boeing, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott, Copper, and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Early Christmas Held For Dying 13-Year-Old

WALDO Fla. — Little Gladys Mae Rosier, who may not live to see Dec. 25, received a dozen dolls at an early Christmas party yesterday but what she liked most was a rubber frog.

Acting Gov. Charles Johns brought the frog. It made funny squeaks and made Gladys smile. Gladys, 13, and weighing only 26 pounds, whispered "Thanks" as presents from Gov. and Mrs. Johns and a hundred or more relatives and neighbors were unwrapped.

Incurably ill with a brain disease and diabetes, she fainted once from excitement—but quickly recovered and helped open some gifts.

Gov. and Mrs. Johns invited by the father, J. T. Rozler, a disabled veteran and part-time logger, brought besides the frog, a Christmas cake, party dress, box of candy, a $10 bill attached to a Christmas card, and ice cream.

Army Announces ROTC Program

WASHINGTON — The Army announced today the establishment of a schools division of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) with membership limited to 8 junior colleges and 34 military institutes.

The new system will go into effect in the 1955-56 school year. By then, the Army, working with the schools, expects to have a military program specifically designed to fit the needs of military preparatory schools and junior colleges.

Today's announcement marked a partial reversal of an Army decision last year which would have limited military training leading to a commission to men in four-year senior colleges. The revised program, inspired in part by strong criticism of that decision from military academies, entitles a man to a reserve commission if he completes six years' training in preparatory school and junior college, then goes on to get a college degree.

Another requirement for a commission under the new system is that the man attend summer camp between his junior and senior college terms.

In order to retain eligibility for membership in the military schools division, each institution must maintain a minimum enrollment of 100 students.

The institution named for the program included Oak Ridge (N.C.) Military Institute.

Tito Sees Shift In Soviet Policy

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — President Tito said today he thinks Soviet foreign policy has shifted considerably of late and that this shift contributes to a lessening of world tension.

He told Yugoslavians the Parliament Moscow's policy now differs greatly from that of the recent past, "which had a negative content." He proposed that world powers use the opportunity this created to ease strained relations.

Tito cited the Soviet Union's favorable attitude to the Trieste settlement, dividing that free territory between Italy and Yugoslavia, as one "gesture aimed at lessening tension."

The Parliament, in joint session, unanimously approved the settlement of the 10-year-old dispute over the former Zone B, and endorsed the government's handling of other foreign affairs.

Yugoslav army and navy forces today entered the four-square-mile strip of land this nation gained from Trieste's Zone A under the London agreement. Italian army units also moved up to the new frontier, taking over normal sentinal positions from British troops. A Yugoslav civilian administration will take over from the military tomorrow throughout the strip and the former Zone B.

In his review of world affairs, Tito took a somewhat critical view of military aspects of the projected western European Union. The WEU is to become a seven-nation alliance based on the 1948 Brussels pact, with a rearmend West Germany as one of the members, under protocols signed in Paris Saturday.

Tito said the alliance could play a positive role if it acted primarily in the political sphere but "if this pact gets a predominantly military character it will miss its aim and become an element of increasing tension not only in Europe but the world in general."

Yugoslavia "hails the returning of sovereignty to Germany and the limitation of armaments," Tito said. "We would like to see that"

Share In Paving Asked By Nov. 1

Greenville property owners whose petitions for street paving have been approved were urged today to make their payments to the city by Nov. 1 for their share of the cost of the projects.

City Manager James S. Hughes said letters have been sent to property owners who signed the petitions which were approved by the council, and the owners have been notified of their cost for the project. The City Manager said bids already have been received for the paving and curb and gutter work, and plans are to let the contract for the work at the City Council meeting on November 4.

"The contract for the work will not be awarded until we have the money in hand," Hughes said. He added it would be to the advantage of property owners who signed the petitions to have their money for the work paid to the city by Nov. 1 in order that the awarding of the contracts will not be delayed.

Grant Divorces In Court Today

Among the cases heard this morning in the first day of the civil term of Superior Court here were seven divorces, six of them granted on the grounds of two years separation.

In the case of Goldie Gray Haddock — Grainger against William Woodrow Grainger the marriage was annulled on the grounds Grainger had not been legally divorced from a first wife when he married again.

Divorces were granted on the grounds of two years separation in the following cases: Virginia Ruth Strickland vs. Henry Strickland; Johnnie Y. James vs. Cornelia B. James; F. W. Godwin vs. Nikkie Scott Godwin; Mozelle Mayo Phifer vs. H. M. Phifer; Mavis Boyd Conney vs. Lee Conney; and Charlie J. Tyree vs. Lillie B. Tyree.

This serves the right aim—stabilization of Europe."

Tito told the lawmakers Yugoslavia is against the creation of military blocs on the ground that, thanks to an attained balance of power, conditions for settlement of international problems are now more favorable than they have been.

He cited improved economic relations with the Soviet bloc and the Cominform's abolition of propaganda against Yugoslavia as part of a process of normalization, important to world peace.

He praised U.S. aid, which he said was granted without conditions, and expressed hope that the aid will continue. He paid tribute to leaders in Italy, the United States and Britain for their contributions to the Trieste agreement.

Charge Cutting Of Four Men

Police arrested Joe Freeman Hyman, Negro, of 1207B Pitt Street on four charges of assault with a deadly weapon after he was alleged to have cut four other Negro men with a knife last night.

Separate warrants were sworn to charging Hyman with assault by Joe Savage, Roy D. Savage, Lindbergh Carmon and William Lee Johnson, all Negroes.

The four men all required treatment at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Nixon Again To Talk 'Security' In Idaho Speech

SALT LAKE CITY — Vice President Nixon, who has been devoting many of his speeches to the issue of communism, said he would touch on the security question again tonight in a talk at Pocatello, Idaho.

Pocatello is the home town of former Sen. Glen Taylor, Democrat, who is opposing Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho).

The speech comes in the midst of a hot campaign fight between Taylor and Dworshak's senatorial colleague Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho).

Welker is accusing Taylor, the Progressive party's 1948 vice presidential candidate, of having knowingly accepted support of Communists.

Yesterday, Nixon conferred with Utah GOP leaders and candidates in Salt Lake City.

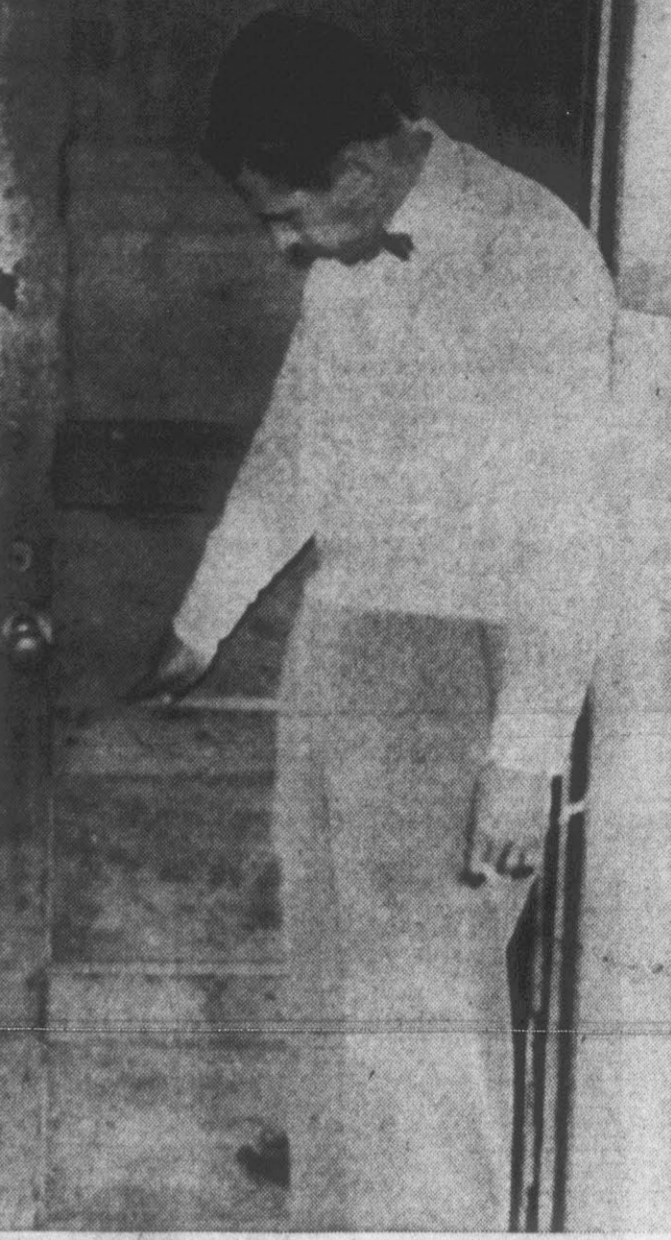

He told newsmen that the Republican campaign ought to "peak" right about election time and that the GOP will "win the Senate and keep the House."

The vice president also criticized Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee.

"I note that Mr. Stevenson has dismissed the serious charges I have made against him and others who have criticized President Eisenhower's security risk program with one of his usual quips. He says that the vice president is McCarthy (Sen. McCarthy Wisconsin Republican) with a white collar."

"What Mr. Stevenson calls me is unimportant but I resent his typically snide and snobbish innuendo toward the millions of Americans who work for a living in our shops and factories. The working people of America . . . have a much keener and clearer understanding of the threat of communism at home than he (Stevenson) has displayed during his public career."

Bullet Holes At Scene Of Shooting

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs points to a bullet hole in the door of Snook's Place on South Pitt Street where a fatal shooting took place Saturday night. Two bullet holes were found in the door of the building and officers this morning attempted to remove one of the bullets that had lodged in the wall.

Final Phase For Crucial Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The U. N. Assembly Political Committee entered the final phase of its disarmament debates today with a wary eye on Russia's Andrei Vishinsky.

Last Friday Vishinsky agreed to join the Western Big Three and Canada in a resolution calling for new five-power closed-door talks on disarmament. Vishinsky agreed with other delegates that the road to real agreement was a rough one but he said there might be light ahead.

Agreements were signed in Paris Saturday designed to bring West Germany into the Western defense alliance. Moscow countered immediately by calling for a new four-power meeting on German unity, adding:

"It is impossible to propose a general reduction of armaments and at the same time carry out remilitarization of Western Germany."

One delegate remarked: "It is certain that what Moscow said Saturday, Mr. Vishinsky will say here Monday."

Little Damage In Two Collisions

Two cars were involved in a collision at the corner of Boyd and Dickinson Avenues Saturday afternoon with damage amounting to $250.

The vehicles were being operated by William Kittrell, Negro, of Ayden Route 2 and Charlie Lee Justice of Wilmington. No charges were placed by investigating officers W. R. Elks and H. H. McGowan.

Vehicles operated by Connie Allen, Negro, of Smithfield and John Parish, Negro, of Camp Lejeune collided on Pitt Street Sunday night. Damage was minor and investigating officers R.W. Harris and Jim McGee placed no charges.

No Let-Up Seen In Docks Strike

LONDON — Britain's waterfront strike, which has idled 44,000 of 76,000 cargo handlers in this maritime nation, entered its fourth week today with no settlement in sight.

The National Federation of Wholesale Grocers warned that stocks of imported bacon, cheese, butter, eggs and tinned fruits were running low and said the situation would become serious if the work stoppage continues until next weekend.

The strike has paralyzed the big port of London and crippled operations at six other important ports, including the key freight-handling cities of Liverpool and Hull. More than 300 ships are idle in the ports. Cargoes worth an estimated 120 million pounds (36 million dollars) are being held up.

A committee of government ministers which has been keeping an eye on essential imports scheduled another meeting for today. It was expected the group would recommend the use of troops as stevedores if the strike continues beyond Wednesday.

The dockers walked off their jobs in support of a demand for the right to refuse overtime work.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved along irregularly today with trading only moderate in the early afternoon.

Gains and losses were largely fractional with an occasional stock going either way past a point.

Business was at a pace less than two million shares for the day. Yesterday's total was 2,010,000 shares.

Steels sold lower while airlines were higher. The oils were mixed as was most of the rest of the market.

U.S. Steel was off around a point after starting on a block of 8,000 shares off 1 1/2 at 87 3/4. The decline represented trader disappointment over the absence of an extra dividend.

General Motors gained fraction on higher earnings despite a 9 per cent fall in sales.

American Tobacco was up following declaration of the usual dividend.

R. J. Reynolds "B" advanced on higher earnings.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — Hogs were steady to 50 cents lower today, 19.50 at Beulaville, Keely, Rocky Mount, 19.25 at Siler City, Elizabethtown, Micro, Freeman, Tarboro, Enfield, Hamilton, Fayetteville, Clinton, 19.00 at Jacksonville, Plymouth, Whiteville, Tabor City, Shallotte, Kinston, Benson, New Bern, Lumberton, Woodland, Rich Square, 18.75 at Weldon, Colerain, Scotland Neck, Windsor, Wilmington.

To Map Plan

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Umstead met with his Hurricane Disaster Committee today to map an over-all plan for distributing $655,000 in federal and state hurricane disaster funds.

As matters now stand, only incorporated municipalities are eligible for the relief money under the law. This leaves many privately developed coastal beaches ineligible for aid from the funds.

The federal government has granted the state $550,000 and the state has put up $100,000 for the aid. The funds are earmarked for Wrightsville, Atlantic, Carolina and Kure beaches and the municipalities of Beaufort and Morehead City.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Jesse J. Kinney, 37-year-old Negro, charged with larceny of a pair of shoes failed to pass the "Cinderella test," and the court found him guilty.

Testimony was that Kinney stole a pair of shoes from Black's Shoe Shop. When the defendant testified that he bought and paid for the shoes, Judge Charles H. Whedbee ordered the "Cinderella test."

Kinney could hardly get his toes into one of the shoes. When the court queried, "How come?" Kinney said, "They'll fit when the weather turns cold—my feet always shrink in winter."

"These are not glass slippers," Judge Whedbee said, "and I'm going to give you six months on the roads. This sentence may be suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted." He placed Kinney on probation for two years and the judgment provides that he is not to enter Black's Shoe Shop for a year. Black recovered the shoes.

Drunk: Howard Smith, 18; Jack McLawhorn, 10 on costs and $5 on medical bill; Betty Lou Hennington, Negro, 30 days in jail or pay $10; Frank Evans, 10; James E. Whitakers, 10; Albert Cuyler, Negro, 30 days or pay $10; Early Telfair, Negro, (and disorderly); $25, costs deducted; Lilly Mae Whichard, Negro, (and disorderly), $10.

Jasper E. Morris, charged with driving drunk was called and when he failed to answer an instant capias was issued for him.

Forcible trespass: James A. Cox, Jr., and Benjamin L. Carson, not guilty.

George Moore, non-support, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $10 before release for his children's support, and then he is to pay $15 a week beginning October 30, 1954. This cause was ordered held for further order.

Clyde W. Peele paid $10 for speeding.

Thermometer At 81 Yesterday

With Indian Summer weather continuing to prevail in this part of the country, the temperature in the Greenville area registered 81 degrees yesterday. Lowest temperature here last night 58, and at 8 a.m. today it was 62.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 75 degrees. Lowest that night 52, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 62.

The local U.S. Weather Station reported today that the first frost of the 1954 fall was October 18. The first frost last year was nearly a month later—November 12.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircraft were weak in the early afternoon today while the rest of the stock market maintained a fairly steady base.

The market started out higher, with aircraft exhibiting early signs of willingness to decline. They soon did, and the rest of the market subsided from its best with many leading issues falling off to the losing side.

There were losses of 1 to 3 points in many divisions while gains seldom got as high as a point.

Higher prices brought out a lot of activity, and the pace slackened on the retreat. The rate was right around Friday's 2,080,000 shares when the market was slightly higher.

Railroads showed a sagging tendency a fact which discouraged the bullish element in Wall Street. It had been hoped that vigorous railroads would paint a bright technical pattern of encouragement.

Steels lagged along with the copper and rubbers. The radio-television division acted well. Farm implements and oils were higher.

Higher stocks included Sinclair Oil, American Airlines, Union Carbide, General Electric, National Gypsum, Radio Corp., Caterpillar Tractor and General Motors.

Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Boeing, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Early Christmas Held For Dying 13-Year-Old

WALDO, Fla. (AP)—Little Gladys Mae Rozier, who may not live to see Dec. 25, received a dozen dolls at an early Christmas party yesterday but what she liked most was a rubber frog.

Acting Gov. Charley Johns brought the frog. It made funny squeaks and made Gladys smile. Gladys, 13, and weighing only 26 pounds, whispered "Thanks" as presents from Gov. and Mrs. Johns and a hundred or more relatives and neighbors were unwrapped.

Incurably ill with a brain disease and diabetes, she fainted once from excitement—but quickly recovered and helped open some gifts.

Gov. and Mrs. Johns invited by the father, J. T. Rozier, a disabled veteran and part-time logger, brought besides the frog a Christmas cake, party dress, box of candy, a $10 bill attached to a Christmas card, and ice cream.

Army Announces ROTC Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today the establishment of a schools division of the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) with membership limited to 8 junior colleges and 34 military institutes.

The new system will go into effect in the 1955-56 school year. By then, the Army, working with the schools, expects to have a military program specifically designed to fit the needs of military preparatory schools and junior colleges.

Today's announcement marked a partial reversal of an Army decision last year which would have limited military training leading to a commission to men in four-year, senior colleges. The revised program, inspired in part by strong criticism of that decision from military academies, entitles a man to a reserve commission if he completes six years' training in preparatory school and junior college, then goes on to get a college degree.

Another requirement for a commission under the new system is that the man attend summer camp before his junior and senior college terms.

In order to retain eligibility for membership in the military schools division, each institution must maintain a minimum enrollment of 100 students.

The institution named for the program included Oak Ridge (N.C.) Military Institute.

Final Phase For Crucial Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Assembly Political Committee entered the final phase of its disarmament debates today with a wary eye on Russia's Andrei Vishinsky.

Last Friday Vishinsky agreed to join the Western Big Three and Canada in a resolution calling for new five-power closed-door talks on disarmament. Vishinsky agreed with other delegates that the road to real agreement was a rough one but he said there might be light ahead.

Agreements were signed in Paris Saturday designed to bring West Germany into the Western defense alliance. Moscow countered immediately by calling for a new four-power meeting on German unity, adding:

"It is impossible to propose a general reduction of armaments and at the same time carry out remilitarization of Western Germany."

One delegate remarked: "It is certain that what Moscow said Saturday, Mr. Vishinsky will say here Monday."

Tito Sees Shift In Soviet Policy

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito said today he thinks Soviet foreign policy has shifted considerably of late and that this shift contributes to a lessening of world tension.

He told Yugoslavia's Parliament Moscow's policy now differs greatly from that of the recent past, "which had been a fairly consistent one." He proposed that world powers use the opportunity this created to ease strained relations.

Tito cited the Soviet Union's favorable attitude to the Trieste settlement, dividing that free territory between Italy and Yugoslavia, as one "gesture aimed at lessening tension."

The Parliament, in joint session, unanimously approved the settlement of the 10-year-old dispute over the future of the territory and endorsed the government's handling of other foreign affairs.

Yugoslav army and navy forces today entered the four-square-mile strip of land this nation gained from Trieste's Zone A under the London agreement. Italian infantrymen also moved up to the new frontier, taking over normal sentinal positions from British troops. A Yugoslav civilian administration will take over from the military tomorrow throughout the strip and the former Zone B.

In his review of world affairs, Tito took a somewhat critical view of military aspects of the projected western European Union. The WEU is to become a seven-nation alliance based on the 1948 Brussels pact, with a rearmed West Germany as one of the members, under protocols signed in Paris Saturday.

Tito said the alliance could play a positive role if it acted primarily in the political sphere but "if this pact gets a predominantly military character it will miss its aim and become an element of increasing tension not only in Europe but the world in general."

Yugoslavia "halts the returning of sovereignty to Germany and the limitation of armaments," Tito said. "We would like to see that

Share In Paving Asked By Nov. 1

Greenville property owners whose petitions for street paving have been approved were urged today to make their payments to the city by Nov. 1 for their share of the cost of the projects.

City Manager James S. Hughes said letters have been sent to property owners who signed the petitions which were approved by the council, and the owners have been notified of their cost for the project. The City Manager said bids already have been received for the paving and curb and gutter work, and plans are to let the contract for the work at the City Council meeting on November 4.

"The contract for the work will not be awarded until we have the money in hand," Hughes said. He added it would be to the advantage of property owners who signed the petitions to have their money for the work paid to the city by Nov. 1 in order that the awarding of the contracts will not be delayed.

Grant Divorces In Court Today

Among the cases heard this morning in the first day of the civil term of Superior Court here were seven divorces, six of them granted on the grounds of two years separation.

In the case of Goldie Gray Hadcock Grainger against William Woodrow Grainger the marriage was annulled on the grounds Grainger had not been legally divorced from a first wife when he married again. Divorces were granted on the grounds of two years separation in the following cases: Virginia Ruth Strickland vs. Henry Strickland; Johnnie Y. James vs. Cornelia B. James; F. W. Godwin vs. Nikkie Scott Godwin; Moseley Mayo Phifer vs. H. M. Phifer; Mavis Boyd Conney vs. Lee Conney; and Charlie J. Tyree vs. Lillie B. Tyree.

Nixon Again To Talk 'Security' In Idaho Speech

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Vice President Nixon, who has been devoting many of his speeches to the issue of communism, said he would touch on the security question again tonight in a talk at Pocatello, Idaho.

Pocatello is the home town of former Sen. Glen Taylor, Democrat, who is opposing Sen. Dworshak (R-Idaho).

The speech comes in the midst of a hot campaign fight between Taylor and Dworshak's senatorial colleague Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho).

Welker is accusing Taylor, the Progressive party's 1948 vice presidential candidate, of having knowingly accepted support of Communists.

Yesterday, Nixon conferred with Utah GOP leaders and candidates in Salt Lake City.

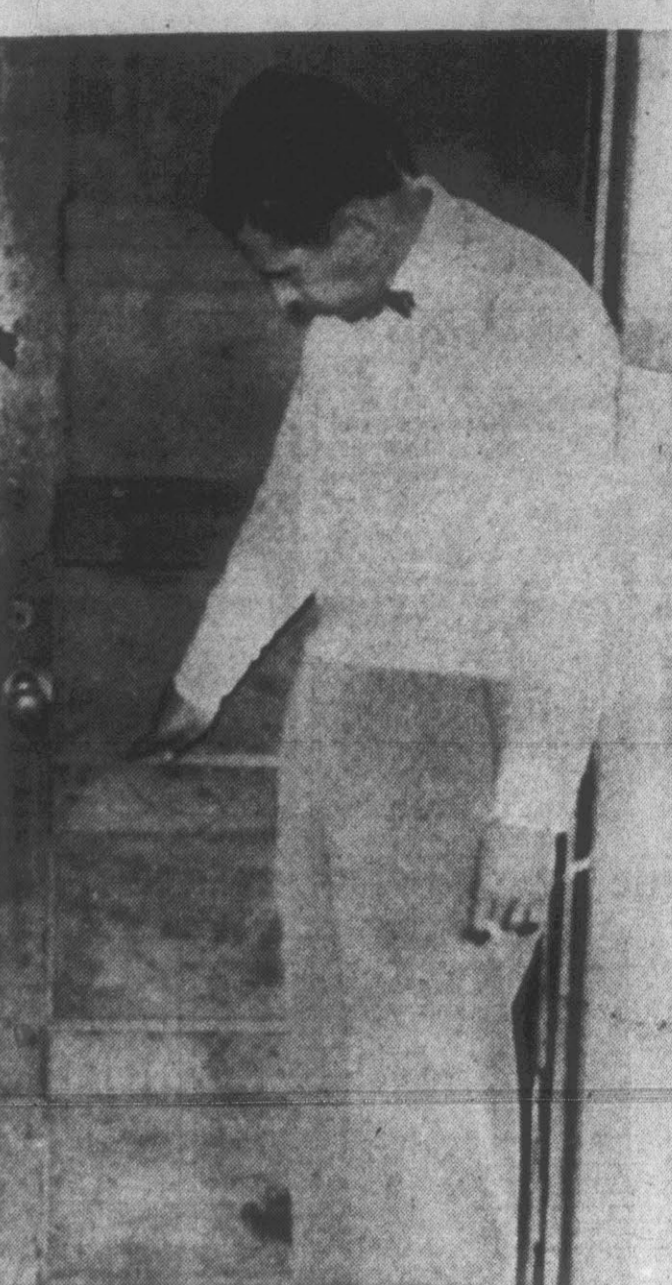

He told newsmen that the Republican campaign ought to "peak" right about election time and that the GOP will "win the Senate and keep the House."

The vice president also criticized Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee.

"I note that Mr. Stevenson has dismissed the serious charges I have made against him and others who have criticized President Eisenhower's security risk program with one of his usual quips. He says that the vice president is McCarthy (Sen. McCarthy Wisconsin Republican) with a white collar."

"What Mr. Stevenson calls me is unimportant but I resent his typically snide and snobbish innuendo toward the millions of Americans who work for a living in our shops and factories. The working people of America . . . have a much keener and clearer understanding of the threat of communism at home than he (Stevenson) has displayed during his public career."

Bullet Holes At Scene Of Shooting

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs points to a bullet hole in the door of Snook's Place on South Pitt Street where a fatal shooting took place Saturday night. Two bullet holes were found in the door of the building and officers this morning attempted to remove one of the bullets that had lodged in the wall.

Little Damage In Two Collisions

Two cars were involved in a collision at the corner of Boyd and Dickinson Avenues Saturday afternoon with damage amounting to $250.

The vehicles were being operated by William Kittrell, Negro, of Ayden Route 2 and Charlie Lee Justice of Wilmington. No charges were placed by investigating officers W. R. Ekks and H. H. McGowan.

Vehicles operated by Connie Allen, Negro, of Smithfield and John Parish, Negro, of Camp Lejeune collided on Pitt Street Sunday night. Damage was minor and investigating officers R. W. Harris and Jim McGee placed no charges.

No Let-Up Seen In Docks Strike

LONDON (AP)—Britain's waterfront strike, which has idled 44,000 of 76,000 cargo handlers in this maritime nation, entered its fourth week today with no settlement in sight.

The National Federation of Wholesale Grocers warned that stocks of imported bacon, cheese, butter, eggs and tinned fruits were running low and said the situation would become serious if the work stoppage continues until next weekend.

The strike has paralyzed the big port of London and crippled operations at six other important ports, including the key freight-handling cities of Liverpool and Hull. More than 300 ships are idle in the ports. Cargoes worth an estimated 120 million pounds (36 million dollars) are being held up.

A committee of government ministers which has been keeping an eye on essential imports scheduled another meeting for today. It was expected the group would recommend the use of troops as strike stores if the strike continues beyond Wednesday.

The dockers walked off their jobs in support of a demand to be right to refuse overtime work.

KEEP IT DRY

An exhaust fan in the kitchen or attic can work wonders in eliminating moisture, discourage dry rot, mold and warpage. Ventilating louvers in the attic helps allow moisture to escape. A slight opening of a window in the bathroom while taking a bath or shower will do away with a heavy load of destructive vapor.
