

President Sees Soviet Softening

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Russia seems to be showing a somewhat more conciliatory attitude in the latest plane shooting incident than has been the case in earlier similar episodes.

The President told a news conference the American photo-making plane shot down by Soviet fliers off the Japanese coast on Sunday had a right to be where it was in this country's view.

Hodges Takes Up Duties As North Carolina Governor

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's new governor, Luther H. Hodges, reported to the chief executive's office today and assumed his new duties succeeding the late William B. Umstead.

Hodges, 56, a heavy-set man with grey hair, was scheduled to hold his first news conference this afternoon. He was expected to issue a statement regarding his administration plans.

McCarthy Jumps Gun, Branding Watkins Unwitting Red Tool Censure Debate Is Opened

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) told the Senate today the six-member committee which recommended censure of Sen. McCarthy had sought to act with "whatever wisdom, calmness, fairness, courage and devotion . . . we might muster."

Watkins also gave reporters a prepared text, but with the stipulation that it was not to be published until he began speaking.

Along with its conclusion that McCarthy was contemptuous of an elections subcommittee, it lumped a specific charge that he had used vulgar language about Sen. Hendrickson (R-NJ), a subcommittee member. McCarthy had described Hendrickson as "a living miracle . . . without brains or guts."

"Your committee claims no infinite wisdom. All human individual judgments are, at best, fallible. We, therefore, make no pretense that our collective decision is infallible."

Senate Is Asked To Ratify Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked the Senate to ratify the Southeast Asia collective security pact as "an important link" in the free world's defense against any Communist aggression.

In a special message submitting the treaty, the President said it is designed "to promote security and peace in Southeast Asia and the Southwest Pacific by deterring Communists and other aggression in that area."

Pentagon Puzzled Over Lack Of Fighter Escort

By ELTON C. FAY WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officials professed puzzlement today over why a jet fighter escort did not go along with a photo bomber shot down by Soviet MiGs off northern Japan last weekend.

Spokesmen said the Far East Command long has had authority to provide "cover" for mapping and weather planes on missions where trouble could arise. Such escorts are used frequently, they added.

Tax-Cut Seekers Admit Chances Near Impossible

By CHARLES F. BARRETT WASHINGTON (AP)—Key Democrats who led a futile fight earlier this year for a big individual income tax cut held out little hope today for any substantial taxpayer relief in 1955, even though the Democratic party will control Congress.

Joint Committee Vote Strictly On Party Lines Defeat Dixon-Yates Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee today defeated a Democratic attempt to block immediate signing of the Dixon-Yates contract.

The agreement, accepted but not actually signed, provides for furnishing private power into lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA's power to atomic plants.

Sen. Pastore (D-RI) announced yesterday he would call up in today's closed meeting a resolution which, if adopted, would call upon the AEC "not to undertake the signing of the contract until the committee has a chance to study it further 'after the convening of the 84th Congress.'"

Still Muttering Over One Ballot

ORLEANS, Mass. (AP)—It's a week since the election, but election officials are still muttering about one ballot they counted.

This citizen voted a straight Prohibition party ticket when it came to the candidates. But when he came to the local option liquor questions—he voted straight wet.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Two cars smashed together head on last night on a fog-shrouded highway, killing four youths and two high school girls.

Verdict Grants Wish For Death

NEW YORK (AP)—John Francis Roche, 27, confessed killer of five persons, has been found guilty of first-degree murder, a verdict that grants him his wish to die.

Pitt Bar Association Upholds Fee For Services

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Staff Writer The Pitt County Bar Association upheld a fee charged the county by Attorney J. H. Harrell for his services in a recent election dispute as "not only fair and reasonable but very moderate."

The board voted to have the statement placed in the minutes of the last county commissioners meeting.

The Bar Association stated in the resolution that "taking into consideration the amount of time obviously required for the performance of the services of Mr. Harrell as well as the fact that he had to push aside or neglect other matters and give this matter priority, not to mention the fact that he had considerable experience in the field of election law, (the association) decided to record publicly its opinion that the amount of Mr. Harrell's bill was not only fair and reasonable but very moderate."

The resolution was introduced by Sam B. Underwood, Jr. and seconded by F. M. Wooten, Jr. It passed unanimously on a voice vote by the Bar members present.

Only Two Townships Exceed Farm Bureau Quotas

Only two townships have exceeded their quota in the annual Farm Bureau membership drive which is now underway, figures released today revealed.

The report showed that Arthur, which had a quota of 220 members has turned in a total of 229 and Falkland with a quota of 275 now has 281 members.

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—A Democratic President will help carry out Eisenhower's program to build a strong defense, Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens says.

Southern Governors Set For Annual Conferences

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP)—Southern governors began gathering here today for an important annual conference in which they'll attempt to find answers to the section's highway, mental health, industry and water conservation problems.

The chairman of the conference, Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma, is flying here from Guatemala, where he has been for a brief visit.

Formal sessions get under way at the Boca Raton Hotel Thursday when acting Gov. Charley E. Johns of Florida extends an official welcome.

Discussion leaders during the three-day session are Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee on mental health; Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas on highways; Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia on water conservation and development, and Gov. William C. Marland of West Virginia on industrial development in the South.

Recent Bride Is Honored Saturday At Bridge Luncheon

FOUNTAIN—Mesdames W. R. Harris, R. A. Fountain were hostesses at a bridge luncheon on Saturday at the home of Mrs. Harris honoring Mrs. Leslie Yelverton Jr. of Fayetteville, a recent bride. The honoree was presented a corsage on arrival and each guest was given a nosegay of yellow mums. The Thanksgiving motif was emphasized in the place cards, tallies and floral and fruit arrangements in the home.

A three-course luncheon was served to 20 guests. Tallies were passed and bridge was played at four tables. Mrs. Yelverton was given linen guest towels, and as scorers of the afternoon received handkerchiefs, cup towels were given to Mrs. Robert Pierce for second high. Those playing were Mesdames Harold Rouse, R. D. Rouse Jr., Leland Flanagan, Roderick Harris, James Wheelus and Robert Pierce, all of Farmville. Marvin Mercer of Walstonburg, Neal Owens of Norfolk, Va. and Dawson Jefferson, Paul R. Burnette, Bruce Beasley Jr., Eloise Bushman, Carey Gaynor and Robert Mercer. Luncheon guests included L. P. Yelverton, G. W. Jefferson Jr., Robert Peale and W. W. Jefferson.

Fleming-Matthews Wedding Vows Spoken In Parmele Church

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Marvis Matthews and Mr. Gerald Fleming were united in marriage Sunday, November 7, at four o'clock, in the beautifully decorated Parmele Methodist Church with the Rev. Arnold Page officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Matthews of Robersonville and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fleming of Stokes.

Preceding the service a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Jeannie Taylor, organist. Miss Eason Lilley of Williamston, soloist, sang "O, Perfect Love," "Love, All For You" and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon net over taffeta designed with a plunging neckline edged with net and long Chantilly lace sleeves that came to a point over the hands. The full skirt formed a graceful train. Her fingertip veil was attached to an upstanding ruffle. She carried a prayer book topped with lilies of the valley and white rose buds tied with the long satin streamers.

Mrs. Edward Matthews of Bethel, the matron of honor, wore an ice blue nylon net over taffeta. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Louise Crisp of Robersonville, Mrs. James Gurganus, Miss Maxine Baynor and Miss Marie Baynor of Plymouth. Their ankle length dresses of pink nylon net over taffeta were fashioned with bouffant skirts, strapless bodices and matching stoles. Their headpieces were of the same shade of tulle caught with chrysanthemums. They carried arm bouquets of pink and white chrysanthemums tied with wide white satin ribbon.

The floral girl, Becky James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy James of Bethel, wore white nylon net over taffeta.

Mr. Morris Fleming was his brother's best man. Messrs. William Cherry, Edward Matthews, Bernice Fleming and Clifton Matthews served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Matthews chose a street length rose fallie dress with matching gloves. She wore a corsage of pink carnations. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in navy blue silk with a red corsage.

Mrs. Fleming was employed at Our Beauty Shoppe in Robersonville. Mr. Fleming, who recently returned to his home after spending four years in service, plans to enter East Carolina College, Greenville, in December to major in Business Administration.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming left for a wedding trip. For traveling the bride selected a light blue suit with cocoa brown accessories.

Palestine Is Subject of Talk By Dr. Upchurch

Dr. Percy B. Upchurch, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, was guest speaker Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club which was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Satterfield.

Palestine was the subject Dr. Upchurch chose for the afternoon. In his introductory remarks he stated that Palestine occupies a strategic place in the history of the world and the importance of this small country was outlined in an interesting manner.

After completing his studies at Yale School of Divinity, Dr. Upchurch spent a year or more in the East and studied at the University of Jerusalem for quite some time. In speaking of the importance of this country from a cultural, religious, military and economical standpoint, Dr. Upchurch said, "Our world is a neighborhood and our problem is how to live neighborly."

Preceding the program, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Satterfield and Mrs. W. C. Harris.

The tea table was centered with an arrangement of fruit in a silver bowl and tall dark green candles in crystal candelabra completed the decorations. Mrs. W. H. Woodard poured tea.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Jesse Moye, Mrs. R. P. Rogers presided. At this time Mrs. Edna Jensen, Mrs. Kenneth Cuthbert and Mrs. R. Markham were introduced as guests.

Mrs. Sheila De Savigny announced a Stanley party to be held Wednesday evening at the Woman's Club. Proceeds will go to the Episcopal Church. Mrs. J.H.B. Moore announced an art exhibit being held at Sheppard Memorial Library and urged members to attend.

After the roll call and reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. K. T. Furtelle, the meeting was adjourned.

All-Freshman Cast In Comedy

Ruth Gordon's "Years Ago" will open here tonight in the College Theatre when the East Carolina Playhouse will present an all-freshman cast in the gay and heart-warming comedy.

The play will be given at 8:15 in the College Theatre. A second performance will follow Thursday night at the same hour and place.

"Years Ago" is the story of Ruth Gordon herself, actress and author, and deals with her ambitions as a stage-struck girl. It developed from a diary kept by Miss Gordon during her high school years. The play was successfully produced by Max Gordon.

In Miss Gordon's nostalgic and delightfully humorous story three characters are outstanding—"Me," or Ruth Gordon Jones, the inexperienced small-town girl who longs for the footlights; "My Father," a man of decisive ideas, strong will, yet tender and generous spirit; and "My Mother," whose affection for both her rebellious daughter and her high-strung husband is a stabilizing force in the household.

These parts will be played at East Carolina by Jacqueline McDaniel of Fayetteville, Lloyd Bray Jr. of Greenville, and Patricia Simonds of Greenville.

Mrs. Smith Is Hostess To Semi-Centi Club

The Semi-Centi Book Club met in the home of Mrs. Philip J. Smith Tuesday evening, November 9th. The home was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and dried arrangements in walter Fall colors.

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Health Director of Pitt County, gave a most interesting and informative talk on the cause and prevention of accidents among young children. He pointed out that accidents are the number one cause of disability and they rate as the third cause of death among adults and the first cause of fatalities of young children. Dr. Humbert showed pictures illustrating the commonest accidents, and then explained how best to avoid them.

Mrs. Joe Stone was a guest of the club for the evening. After a short business meeting, the hostess served a delicious ice course with homemade cookies.

Red Oak News

An eleven dollar monkey fashioned by nimble fingers out of a gray pair of men's work socks, a fifty dollar fresh coconut cake, a beautiful array of hand-made articles, a twenty-six dollar dressed turkey, an antique organ and many other articles along with several hundred meals sold through in between thirteen and fourteen hundred dollars at the Annual Harvest Sale and Auction held at the Red Oak Community Building last Wednesday evening. After all expenses have been paid we will have enough left to pay the last payment on our organ and on our club building. This was the goal we set and due to the wonderful cooperation of the entire membership of the church, and the staunch support of our friends from neighboring churches and communities, we were overwhelmingly overcome with the results.

The entire membership of Red Oak Church wish to extend their sincere thanks to everyone who had any part in making this venture a huge success. We are truly grateful to all those who ate supper with us and who bought the articles placed on sale.

All members who have not already done so are asked to make a report on their ticket sales.

Audit Reported To Ayden Board

AYDEN—The Ayden Board of Commissioners heard a report on the audit of the town's books for the 1953-54 fiscal year and accepted the auditor's report.

The audit was made by Hollowell and Hollowell of Greensboro who reported the town's books for the year were in order.

The commissioners also expressed appreciation to the electrical crews for their work in repairing the town power lines following the recent hurricane.

Junior Woman's Club To Have Apron Sale

FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Junior Woman's Club held their November meeting in the home of Mrs. R. A. Gardner Jr. Monday night, Nov. 8.

Mrs. W. W. Walker was program chairman. For the program Mrs. E. C. Newton gave a talk on art and its value to children. Mrs. Carter G. Smith showed a few ways that children could express themselves through art. Mrs. Walker had on display art work of the children from first grade through eighth grades from the Fountain School.

Then the meeting was turned back to the president, Mrs. Carter G. Smith. Clothes that the members of the club had brought for the Children's Clothing Closet were collected. The club in the business session voted to have another apron sale in December like they did last year. It was also voted to bring to the December meeting toys and gifts to send to Caswell Training School for Christmas. The hostess served refreshments and the meeting adjourned.

Visited Your School Lately?

How long has it been since you visited a public school classroom?

It's been a long time for a good many people in Pitt County . . . perhaps a decade or two. We'd venture the guess that far less than half of the adults of the county have visited one of the county's schools in the past five years.

This is American Education Week. As such, its purpose is to renew in the minds of the citizens throughout the nation the needs of public schools, and the program which is being carried on by the schools.

To be sure the school boards and the state government look after the school needs fairly well. Yet, those individuals can do no more for the schools and for the

Rank And File Voters Still Have Final Say

Sen. J. Stom Thurmond of South Carolina avers he is still a "states' rights" man, but that isn't the main reason he's going to the Senate as representative of the Palmetto state. Thurmond is going to the Senate as the first successful write-in candidate because the Democratic Executive Committee of South Carolina went out on a limb to nominate a man the people didn't want, and the rank and file Democrats wrote in the name of Thurmond.

The South Carolina election points up clearly that the party leaders cannot always dictate policy to the rank and file party members. The party big-wigs cannot always be king-makers in spite of the fact that they can go a long way in determining the success or failure of a politician.

In South Carolina the political leaders were split in the recent senatorial election. There was a great deal of pressure brought by both sides and probably a great deal of money spent in the heated campaign. In the final analysis the rank and file voters spoke their piece at the polls and did so emphatically.

It just goes to show the electorate is still able - and apparently willing - to rectify a mistake when they feel the party executives have made a mistake in hand picking a candidate for such an important office.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
TENSION NOT WHOLLY BAD

We hear a great deal today about the disadvantages and dangers of tension. There is no doubt that a tense life often induces high blood pressure, heart disease, and stomach ulcers; but it is not true that if we had no tensions, everything would be rosy and life a joyful achievement.

Sir Geoffrey Vickers, chairman of the research committee of the British Mental-Health Research Fund, has declared that it is a dangerous fallacy to think that the role of science is "to remove hazards rather than to fit us to face them." Sir Geoffrey goes on to declare that the invariable man of mental illness is the inability of the patient to bear experience. "By all means," he said, "let us reduce occasions for stress; but stress will remain a characteristic of human life, and it may be that if we could remove it, we would lose what we most need. Security is not to be found in any aspect of life by eliminating challenge, but only in an inner assurance which no challenge can disturb."

The British scientist then went on to declare that saints, artists, creative thinkers, and, above all, martyrs, are seldom well-adjusted people. Although he did not say it in these words, he seemed to intimate that even our tensions may be used to the glory of God and to the great increase of our happiness and the happiness of others.

Stevenson, Leading Candidate

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Adlai E. Stevenson is an active candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1956, in the opinion of Party leaders, and he leads the field by a wide margin at the present moment. In fact, there are few legitimate contenders.

The 1952 nominees do not deny that he would welcome another try for the great prize. He has kept free of business or legal or professional entanglements that might handicap or embarrass him. He became acquainted with the professional politicians in the recent campaign, removing the impression that he is an "egghead." He appears to be able and willing.

STEVENS ON'S EXERTIONS—His exertions since his defeat have been unprecedented, and, perhaps, prophetic. No unsuccessful Presidential nominee, Republican or Democrat, since William Jennings Bryan has ever given so much of himself to his Party. It owes him a lot.

He toured the nation and made dozens of speeches in order to pay off the Party debt incurred in the 1952 election. He made more than 40 formal addresses in the recent off-year struggle, again crisscrossing the countryside. He obviously enjoyed it, and his audiences were delighted by his witty, urbane talks, and, in his pre-election windup, by his solemnity in discussing grave issues.

HARRIMAN AND TAMMANY LEADER—His prospective rival, Governor-elect Averell Harriman of New York, has already declared for Stevenson. The Empire State millionaire may change his mind, or have it changed for him by Carmine G. De Sapio. In view of his success in ending the long Dewey regime, the Tammany boss may aspire to be what none of his recent predecessors have been—a maker of Presidents.

Harry S. Truman also favors Stevenson, probably because he does not like a possible Missouri entry—Senator Stuart Symington. Another Senator, Estes Kefauver, is openly campaigning for the nomination, but his star blinked out long ago.

education of the children in the many communities than the general public permits - or in some cases demands.

The responsibility for public education does not stop with school officials and the school teachers who conduct classes. It is a responsibility for the entire citizenry of every community; and unfortunately a responsibility which the citizenry too often leaves entirely to teachers and officials.

Does the school in your community have adequate facilities for providing your children with a good educational foundation? Do the teachers in your school, have the materials they need to give the youngsters the best possible school training? Is there anything you might do to help make the schools of your community better than they are?

Those are questions every adult should ask himself. They are questions which should be answered during this week. If you haven't visited the school in your community recently, you should do it and get first hand information on conditions and the school program. There is a great probability there is something you can do to enable your community to improve its schools, and thereby provide better education for the youngsters of your community.

We may be too old to go back to school; but we are never too old to take an active interest in the education of the youngsters who will provide the leadership as adults of tomorrow.

City's Report Is Well Worth Reading

There's a worthwhile publication soon to be released which should be of considerable interest to the people of Greenville. It is an annual report on the activities of the municipal government prepared by City Manager James S. Hughes.

We've seen the report and were favorably impressed by it. Not only will it make good reading for the local people who are interested in local government, but it also presents a concise, factual picture of the city government's progress in the past year. In our opinion, the booklet is not purely a propaganda piece out by the city manager and the local city officials. It is a worthwhile evaluation of the city's progress during the past fiscal year.

The Reflector recommends to local citizens that they secure a copy of this booklet when they are distributed in the near future. The City Council felt it was worth local taxpayers' money to have the booklet printed, and we feel it is worth local taxpayers' time to read it.

BY LYNN NISSBET
NEW GOVERNOR — North Carolina's new Governor, Luther Hartwell Hodges, comes to the office with less background experience in government and more in business administration than any of his predecessors.

Moving up from a tenant farm home through various stages from office boy to vice president of Marshall Field Company, he retired from active business in 1950. Subsequently he served in important position with the United States government in Europe, in quasi-business and governmental administration.

Although he had previously served as mayor of Leaksville and for a brief time as a member of the N.C. highway commission, he was virtually unknown to the state at large when he announced his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor in the spring of 1952. He was well known and highly popular in manufacturing and Rotary Club circles, which made political history in North Carolina, resulted in such preponderant plurality in the primary the next highest among three other aspirants declined to call for a run-off.

He brought to the office of President of the Senate, the most important function of the Lieutenant Governor, many of the ideas which had proven successful in business—and very few of the methods of the traditional politician. As ex-officio member and elected chairman of the State Board of Education he followed through with the same general methods.

He has never served as a member of the General Assembly or in other capacities having to do with State government, except for the highway commission nearly twenty years ago and the past 22 months as Lieutenant Governor, and had not been active in politics. No other Governor has had such limited practical experience.

THE MAN — It is conceded that he studied hard and learned fast and faces his new responsibilities with understanding of the problems, although approach to solution may in some instances through unorthodox processes.

Somebody Told Me

Some Odds And Ends For Today

Service headline of the week: This morning while I was eating breakfast I overheard the chopping of a tree in the yard. The tree was one Hazeltree and I had already cut it in several pieces. However, one piece was too long for the Greenville Street Department truck, so a member of the crew obligingly cut it in two, hauled off the entire mess.

When a pile of tobacco doesn't sell like a farmer thinks it should, he usually tries to think of someone to share the blame. This year, so they tell me, the blame is often laid to a fellow by the name of Dwight Eisenhower.

And this blaming game naturally extends to items other than tobacco. The other day at one of the livestock sales a farmer had a bull that brought five cents a pound. He wasn't satisfied with that price so he ran it through again. The next time it brought six cents. With disgust, he said, "Everybody here who voted for Eisenhower can take the bull and divide it up. Because of him the bull isn't worth anything anymore."

In contrast to the farmer's outlook, here's a report by the U. S. Government's Business Advisory Council, composed of 100 top-flight U. S. businessmen: Business in 1955 will top this year's pace, but will not quite reach 1953's record high level.

New fire alarm system: Lee Dail of the tractor department of Planagan Buggy Company heard a dog barking one day last week. The dog persisted, so Lee investigated. He found the dog locked up in a parked car and the cushion of the car on fire. Fortunately, the window was down far enough to allow entry, so the only damage was to the dog's nervous system and a slight burn to the car seat. The unidentified passengers of the car, Robersonville residents, returned and were grateful to say the least.

Coss Hester and Mitchell White assisted Lee in the putout. All three are members of the Greenville Volunteer Firemen and are accustomed to jobs larger than a car seat. The volunteers normally receive $1 for answering a call, but the Planagan crew did not report this fire. This new alarm system saved the City of Greenville $3, a car, and a dog.

The number of cars taken off East Fifth by the new parking lot is amazing. It's just an indication of what can be done to save the downtown shopping district. Let's put it this way to be more accurate: It shows what must be done if the district is to be saved.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

PUT UP OR SHUT UP (Rocky Mount Telegram)

After being described by the Republicans as the "party of treason" and after being accused during the recent campaign of harboring Communists, it is small wonder that the Democrats once more in control of Congress have called for "names and not numbers" of all these GOP-discovered subversives.

Indeed, the American people are entitled to get the facts and settle this business once and for all every campaign for years hence as barren as the last one.

Sensors Kefauver (D-Tenn) and Mansfield (D-Mont) have let it be known that they want the Eisenhower administration to disclose the name of "every single subversive thrown out of government" in the past two years. It's "either shut up or put up." That seems to us as a sporting proposition.

At the height of the campaign, the Civil Service Commission announced that the Eisenhower administration had separated 6,928 security risks from the federal payroll through last June. Of these, 2,611 were fired and 4,315 resigned. According to the Commission, 1,743 of the total had information in their files "indicating" subversive associations in "varying degrees."

Senator Kefauver says he wants "names and not numbers" of these people. Senator Mansfield is demanding a full investigation of Vice President Nixon's campaign allegations about subversives harbored by the Democrats. A full airing would seem in order.

A word of caution, however, would also seem to be in order. While this particular issue needs to be aired and then permanently stored away thereafter, we think the continued obsession of Congress with investigations is a dangerous thing. It's getting so Congress does more investigating than legislating. This is especially bad when the object of the investigation—as has been true of the investigation—as has been true of recent Democratic and Republican inquiries—is to embarrass the opposite party.

The time has certainly arrived when Congress should adopt some code of fair investigating procedure as was suggested during the last session.

Governor Hodges' Handicaps And Probable Advantages confidence in and loyalty to associates to whom he has delegated duties. Those who know him well say that Governor Hodges will relieve himself of many of the minute details which took such heavy toll of Governor Umstead's strength, and leave his own energies for the more important matters of policy.

CONFIDENT — Hodges, like Umstead, might be classified as an egotist, in the sense that egotism is a manifestation of self-confidence and belief in the correctness of decisions, both as to abstract questions and in appraisal of personalities, and not in the more common meaning of self-conceit. Both men exhibited traits of personal humility throughout the periods of their public service.

Because of his equal confidence in himself, and his recognized ability to reach conclusions more quickly, and to delegate responsibility more readily, plus the physical stamina to stay with the job, many of those with whom your reporter has talked believe the Governor Hodges will provide more effective leadership for the State administration than has prevailed during recent months. These advantages are counted upon to offset any lack of intimate familiarity with governmental processes—a point on which the late Governor was a recognized master.

UNCERTAIN — Along with the general expressions of confidence in and the unanimous pledges of support for the new Governor, there is a bit of trepidation in some quarters. The experiences of business men without political background in government have not always been happy. Many of the matters coming before the Governor of a State involve legal questions. Governor Hodges is the second non-lawyer Governor of North Carolina in the twentieth century. Kerr Scott was the first.

It is safe to say that no person in North Carolina appreciates the difficulties facing him more than does Governor Hodges. Not the least of these difficulties is the necessity for carrying on a program which he had small part in initiating or planning. The consensus of Capitol Square, including elected and appointed officials administrative and clerical employees all down the line, and visitors from over the State, is that the new Governor is equal to the job.

Those Finder's Fees

By ELMER ROESSNER
"Finder's fee" is not defined in either the Dictionary of Business and Industry nor the Encyclopedic Dictionary of Business. Yet millions of dollars are paid out in such fees every year. A finder's fee is a sum paid to an individual or company for locating a business opportunity. While it is often a percentage of the total involved, it is somewhat different than a commission. Commissions are usually paid for closing a deal. The finder is rarely a closer and often he keeps so far in the background that the persons "found" are not aware he played a part.

There are some professional, full-time finders, but often the finder is an opportunist—someone who has heard a little here and a little there and figures on getting paid for bringing two parties together.

Private money lenders and factors often employ finders. In one case, a fellow who gets around was offered a quarter of 1 per cent of all money he could get people to borrow. While it seems like a soft job to find people who want to borrow money, this was somewhat difficult because the lender insisted on borrowers who would pay it all back with interest.

Borrowers sometimes hire finders, usually after the banks have declined their account. Sometimes a finder will collect a fee from both borrowers and lender but that is scarcely cricket. Finders also flourish among the inventive arts. Patent holders often ask finders to find a backer, and sometimes investors ask them to find a likely invention. Finders also find buyers for paintings etc.

Fees may range from a fraction of 1 per cent of the amount involved to, in desperate cases, a third of the total.

A few days ago a respected New York company collected $200,000 as a finder's fee. It found a corporation that would pay $46,000,000 for the assets of another or

Finders are not listed as such in the yellow pages of the phone books; they can be anything from a large corporation to an office-in-hat promoter, from a respect-ful attorney to a salesman willing to peddle the leads he himself can't sell. In fact, if you hear about some corporation looking for a plant site, and then of an individual who is eager to lease a tract of land, you yourself may become a finder. TWO OF 5 SHOPPERS CAN'T FIND WHAT THEY WANT

Of 1,000 shoppers questioned by New York University researchers as they left Manhattan stores, 2,000 said they hadn't bought anything. That's about the same proportion of "no sales" found in earlier surveys.

Three out of five times shoppers gave "inadequate selection of merchandise," usually because the wanted was not in stock. Only a minority complained that color and sizes were not available. Brand inadequacy was relatively important, suggesting that if the stores had the type of merchandise wanted, many sales could have been saved.

However, New York prices must be declining and service improving, because high prices and poor service were given as reasons for not buying less often than a year ago.

PACKED—IN RANDOM FACTS OF BUSINESS SIGNIFICANCE

Quality dolls will be in short supply this season because retailers lagged in placing orders, says B.F. Michom, president of (Ideal), the world's largest doll company. Fewer babies are expected next year because of the leveling off in the marriage rate. But there will still be millions.

Sales of soft drinks in cans will pass a billion this year, one manufacturer (Tap-a-Cola) estimates. Airlines serving alcoholic drinks to passengers do not have to get licenses as retail liquor dealers, the Internal Revenue Service has decided. One-year guarantees on TV picture tubes are ending. Two big manufacturers now pro-rate allowances over 12 months and two other big ones cut warranties to six months beginning December 1.

Two newspapers got excited for a couple of columns apiece, and Mayfair quivered with gossip. Margaret had been to church. And because it was Remembrance Sunday, she had been down in Whitehall to stand by reverently while her sister, Queen Elizabeth, honored the men and women who had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars.

Only A Bird In A Gilded Cage

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
LONDON (AP)—Just imagine you are a lively, 24-year-old girl living in London.

It's a dank and dreary Sunday. You have to turn on the light in the middle of the afternoon. If you were just any 24-year-old girl, earning your living typing in an office, you could give that pony-tail haircut a swipe with a comb, slip on a mackintosh and go to the movies.

Tens of thousands of young girls do just that, and manage to survive a gloomy afternoon. There are thick, moist and noisy masses of them in Oxford St.

But you had better do nothing of the kind if you are Princess Margaret. She ventured last Sunday to join that damp crush in Oxford St., and now there is a public dither about her.

Princess Margaret, it seems, broke a royal tradition. Conspiring with her in this act of rashness were her lady-in-waiting, Miss Irish Peake, and two unidentified young men. Members of the royal family may engage in a lot of sprightly activities, such as shooting quail, drinking champagne for lunch, playing polo any old day, and betting on the races. But members of the royal family do not go to the movies on Sunday. The Princess went to see something rather new in London—a method of projection known as Cinerama. She and her companions went into the Casino Theater and occupied seats which cost $2.10 apiece. Then they went home through the gloom.

Two newspapers got excited for a couple of columns apiece, and Mayfair quivered with gossip. Margaret had been to church. And because it was Remembrance Sunday, she had been down in Whitehall to stand by reverently while her sister, Queen Elizabeth, honored the men and women who had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars. They had lost their lives in wars.

Theater managers were interviewed, and they said: "Tradition—'latterly,' 'What a surprise,' 'It must have been unofficial' and 'Tut-tut and ch-tch.'" The objection to royalty's going to movies on Sunday is inspired largely by the conservative elements among English churchmen, whose influence is great. The population is being reminded constantly that the sovereign is the defender of the faith, and that the Lords Day must be respected.

But curiously while Margaret is being talked about for breaking tradition, the Church of England itself is being sniped at by persons whose moral indignation gets stirred up easily. The church, which lately turned its financial affairs over to a committee of experts, made a handsome cleaning in the stock exchange. It's gambling, say critics, and indignation simmers.

New Dispute On Marine Corps' Future Hinted

WASHINGTON 10—A backstage battle over the future status of the Marine Corps is reported to be boiling in the Pentagon.

Informed sources, who declined to be quoted by name said the issue is whether the Marines will come under complete command of the chief of naval operations or will remain under the secretary of the Navy.

An informant said Secretary Charles Thomas now has on his desk an order, with a request that he sign it, which would put the Marine Corps under supervision of the naval operations chief. Thomas is currently in Europe.

Official Pentagon spokesmen declined immediate comment.

The general interpretation of a law passed a year ago is understood to be that the Marines shall be under the Navy secretary with the Navy's top uniformed officer having only operational control over them. That law set a minimum Marine establishment of three divisions and three Marine air wings.

A special study of the organization of the Navy headed by Thomas S. Gates reported in April that the Navy secretary had issued policy directives making it clear that the commandant of the Marine Corps was considered directly under the control of the Navy secretary.

Since then, pro-Marine sources say, an effort has been made to get Thomas to issue an order bringing all aspects of Marine activities under control of the Navy chief of operations, Adm. Robert B. Carney.

The reported purpose is to give the Navy chief greater leeway in the use of appropriations. Generally speaking, funds for the Marines are included in the Navy budget.

To Speak Here

Pitt County Life Underwriters will hear H. Gray Hutchison, General Agent for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company in this area, at their monthly meeting Thursday at 12:30 p.m. at the Double N Restaurant.

Hutchison, who will talk on "The New Look in Life Insurance Selling" spoke to the group several years ago, according to W. M. Scales, secretary-treasurer of the local organization.

The General Agent, who maintains his office in Raleigh now, entered the life insurance business full-time in Knoxville, Tennessee on August 1, 1941 after graduating from Harvard College.

He was awarded his Chartered Life Underwriter designation by the American College in Boston in September, 1947.

N. C. Program

RALEIGH (AP)—A four-point legislative program was adopted yesterday by the State Legislative Council which represents 18 professional and religious organizations in North Carolina.

- The council called for:
1. A minimum wage law.
 2. Reorganization of the state prison system, with specific reference to separation of the Prison Department from the Highway Commission.
 3. Extension of the jurisdiction of juvenile courts to include children 16 years of age.
 4. Legislation to provide for an adequate appropriation to employ attendance workers, under state supervision, for improving school attendance and for enforcement of the school compulsory attendance law.

Air Reservists Urged To Join An Active Unit

A special appeal for all Air Force Reservists in this area to become members of an active unit was sounded today by 1st Lt. John Highsmith, acting commanding officer of Pitt County's Flight "D" of the 9948th Air Force Reserve Squadron.

In his message to inactive Air Force Reservists, Lt. Highsmith said, "every member of the Armed Forces reserve should be a member of active unit and keep up to date on military activities."

He also pointed out that active reservists have wonderful retirement benefits and also stand a chance to receive a promotion by staying active in their reserve program.

Lt. Highsmith noted that many members of the local flight are now attending special classes taught by Air Force trained instructors at Stallings Air Base in Kinston every other Tuesday night - and are receiving pay for attending these classes.

Other members of the local flight will soon be members of such classes, he added.

He pointed out to become a member of this unit a reserve should come to the Men's Day Room, Austin Building, East Carolina College any Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

NOTICE OF SALE OF FARM LANDS BY COMMISSIONER

Under and by virtue of authority contained in that certain order made by the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County on the 13th day of October, 1954, in that action pending in said Court entitled, "W. Frank Moore et al vs Earl Moore et al," the undersigned commissioner will offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash before the courthouse door in Greenville, Pitt County, North Carolina on Saturday, the 13th day of November, 1954 at 12:00 noon the following described lands to-wit:

FIRST PARCEL: A certain tract or parcel of land in Conestoga Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, adjoining the lands of A. L. McLawhorn, et al, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a stake on the public road, A. L. McLawhorn corner, and runs S 3 1/4 W 118 poles to a stake in Mary Benson's line; thence N 78 3-4 E 40 2-5 poles to a stake; thence N 3 1/4 E 116 poles to a stake on the aforesaid road; thence with said road, S 82 W 40 2-5 poles to the beginning, containing 28 acres, more or less, the same being a part of the Aaron McLawhorn land as surveyed by Robert Worthington December 15, 1901, and being the same parcel of land which was deeded to Katie Moore by J. T. McLawhorn et al in the division of the Aaron McLawhorn lands, and which she was seized and possessed of at the time of her death.

SECOND PARCEL: That certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Ayden Township, Pitt County, N. C., described as follows: Beginning at a gum on Hen Coop Run and runs S 6 1-3 W 88 2-5 poles to B. T. New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs in housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high luster, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Belk-Tyler's on the third floor.

Phantoms Close Out Schedule With Roanoke Rapids Game

By WAYNE DISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

With two straight spectacular wins under their belt, Coach Bill Kittrell's Greenville Phantoms close out their most successful football season since the war Friday night in ECC stadium against the Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets.

Roanoke Rapids is winless in conference play this year but tied a highly-rated Kingston eleven. The Yellow Jackets are always up for their game with the Phantoms and could really bring the house down if they had a good night.

The Green Phantoms have got their high-geared offensive machine rolling for the past two weeks, bowling over Seima 41-0 and Goldsboro to the tune of 20-0. In both games the Green Phantoms recorded 300 yards rushing.

Probably one of the most outstanding features of the Goldsboro win was the Phantoms' ability to win the game without having a single penalty called against them. Goldsboro drew two offside penalties while the G-men lost exactly no yards by disobeying the rules.

Even if Coach Kittrell's gang should happen to lose to Roanoke Rapids it would have a winning record for the season. The G-men have won five, lost two, and tied one. That would give them a better record than the conference runners-up of 1962 and better than any team since the war.

Friday's game will be the last for several G-men stalwarts, and Bob Howell comprise almost all of the backfield and all are seniors. Bobby Adams, Tommy Smith, and Harris Northrop are the senior linemen completing their careers with Friday's game.

The Greensies will be trying all the harder to close their season. James Speight, Mitchell Johnson, even more spectacularly than they opened it. After all they have come a long way from the August days when it was predicted they would be lucky to win two games all year.

Game time for the Phantom finisher is 8 o'clock in ECC stadium.

Maryland Plays Final ACC Foe On Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Maryland's Terrapins play their final Atlantic Coast Conference football game of the season at College Park Saturday when they face Clemson.

Coach Jim Tatum's squad will be out for their longest winning streak of the season, three in a row, and indications are their goal will be accomplished. Last week the Terps made a splendid offensive showing against North Carolina State.

However Coach Frank Howard's Clemson Tigers are becoming tired of Maryland whitewash. This will be the third meeting of the two schools and on both previous occasions Clemson came out victorious.

In 1962 the score was 28-0 and last year it was 20-0.

Clemson has a stubborn defense. Before the Furman game last week the Tigers were sixth in the nation in rushing defense, having allowed only 88.2 yards per game and were seventh in total defense in the country.

Yesterday Howard gave the defense a thorough test against Maryland type football plays as he scrimmaged his "K" and "B" units against the third and fourth teams.

Both did well.

The "K" is quarterbacked by Don King, the "B" by Charlie Bussey.

Maryland now is equipped with two teams, each headed by an outstanding quarterback. Tatum lightly admitted that the possession of two such quarterbacks, left him in quite a dilemma.

Charley Boxold or Frank Tamburello? Tamburello, a sophomore, had threatened to leave the senior Boxold in the dust after his performance two weeks ago against South Carolina.

But Boxold last Saturday performed so well against North Carolina State in a comeback that the coach now has two interchangeable quarterbacks.

That appeared to be Tatum's only concern about Saturday's game—which outfit to start.

Picking a favorite in another ACC game this Saturday—Duke and Wake Forest—is always difficult but more so this year with both teams up one week, down the other.

Coach Tom Rogers said he would like nothing better than to defeat his alma mater on homecoming.

It's homecoming at Wake Forest and the team may work a little harder—but in 35 previous meetings, Duke holds a commanding edge, having won 24 times.

Yesterday both teams stressed pass defense in practice sessions.

The Virginia Cavaliers make their first football expedition to Columbia since 1929.

Offensive scrimmaging occupied the Cavaliers yesterday while the South Carolina squad worked hard on tightening its defense.

Coach Rex Enright says he isn't pleased with the way the opposition has been able to move the ball. Army, West Virginia, Maryland and North Carolina, have scored 20 or more points against the Gamecocks.

N.C. State's Wolfpack worked on offense yesterday as Coach Earle Edwards sought to give some punch to the team's multiple-offense for Saturday's homecoming affair with Richmond.

And after a holiday Monday, the North Carolina Tar Heels settled down to serious work for Notre Dame with a practice session continuing past dark. Both offense and defense were stressed.

Hunters Out For Season's Start

Pitt County hunters were among the thousands who took to the rivers and sounds today as another duck hunting season opened officially at noon.

Throughout the eastern part of the state from Currituck to Southampton, hunters waited impatiently in blinds for the noon hour which marked the beginning of a new season.

Most of the area reported an abundance of waterfowl with the famous Mattamuskeet reservation and Pamlico Sound section reporting more ducks than in recent seasons.

The goose population in the section was reportedly slightly higher than last season.

In spite of the "bluebird" weather which prevailed over most of the eastern section of the state, many hunters downed their limit for four ducks and two geese on opening day.

Trophy Honors Maryland Star

BALTIMORE (AP) — A sports trophy will be given in memory of 2nd Lt. Morton J. Cohen, better known as Morty Cohen, track star at the University of Maryland before he graduated in 1963. Cohen died Sunday in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

A standout hurdler and broad jumper at Maryland and one-time holder of several Southern Conference titles, Cohen was graduated in the Air Force. He entered Walter Reed last spring suffering from leukemia.

Barclay Figures Tar Heels 'Up' For Notre Dame

By REESE HART
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina coach George Barclay regards Notre Dame as two or three touchdowns better than North Carolina but figures his Tar Heels stand a good chance of upending the once-beaten Irish Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

"Our kids are up," said Barclay. "Our offense is beginning to jell. Notre Dame seems to be two or three touchdowns better but we stand a good chance of winning. Team spirit is good; we're getting better quarterbacking than we did earlier in the season."

Barclay had just listened to a scouting report from assistant coach Steve Belichick, who watched Notre Dame against Pennsylvania, Navy and Pittsburgh.

Belichick reported the Fighting Irish have a great defensive team and a good offense. He had praise for quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, turning him a great passer and outstanding defensive man. In the line, he singled out end Dan Shannon as one of the pillars of strength in the defense.

"We'll be ready except for Marshall Newman and Ed Sutton," Barclay said. "They're definitely out of the game." Newman, who was switched from quarterback to fullback, injured a knee against Tennessee but is expected back in action against Virginia Nov. 20. Sutton, a sophomore halfback, turned an ankle in practice last week.

The Tar Heels were on the brink of defeat Saturday when they swept 58 yards for a touchdown behind the great running of fullback Don Knochak with less than three minutes remaining to edge South Carolina, 21-19.

The Tar Heels have a season record of three victories, three losses and a tie with Tulane. Notre Dame's only loss was to Furman, 27-14. The Irish have beaten Texas, Pittsburgh, Michigan State, Navy and Pennsylvania.

Saturday's game will mark the sixth time North Carolina and Notre Dame have met in football, with the Irish winning the five previous games. Notre Dame won by the same scores in 1953 and 1952, 24-14.

Not Plants, He Admits 'Defeat'

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — John J. Kealey, manager of a florist's greenhouse knows all about plants but admits that frogs have him puzzled.

"I don't see how they got air food or water," Kealey said, explaining that two frogs jumped out when he tore up a concrete strip which had been in place twenty years.

Bill Serena, traded by the Cubs to the White Sox, was glad to remain in Chicago. He's an automobile salesman there in the off-season.

Bucs To Display New Formation

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Fans that crowd in College Stadium this Saturday night are going to witness something new and different in the way of offense.

Coach Jack Boone has for the past several years been perfecting a more effective system. The formation was thrown against Tampa last week and contributed to an almost upset. The Pirates grinded out 259 yards, the most yardage accumulated in one game by the Pirates in the last two years.

"According to the Buc coaching staff, the formation is in its infancy and has great undeveloped possibilities. It has several variations with the backs lining up behind each other in the one most employed.

But East Carolina won't be the only team in the stadium that'll provide offensive fireworks. Stetson's Hatters utilize the spread and wide-open, wicked types for scoring. Local supporters recall what the spread did to the Pirates when used by Appalachian. ECC had such great difficulty with the unusual formation that the Mountaineers scored twice in the final quarter and went on to dethrone the Pirates as North State champs.

In Dick Saltrick, Coach Frank McQuillan has an outstanding quarterback. The signal-caller is the sparkplug in the Stetson offense. His most highly noted cohorts are Gene Stevenson, a 175-pounder, who Coach Earl Smith calls one of the fastest backs in the South, and 200-pound Joe Singletary, who is a powerful fullback.

The Hatters have a good but young line. Hoffman and Shamrock are the tackles, a pair of veterans. Hollingsworth is also a veteran at guard. Coach McQuillan relies on non-lettermen and freshmen after losing most of his 1963 team.

Yesterday Coach Jack Boone ordered a long, rough offensive scrimmage. A complete rehearsal of the offense patterns, both running and passing was given a good going over. Three varsity offensive units ran against a freshman group using Stetson defenses. The action was heated and resembled more of an actual contest than practice.

The first string backfield was comprised of Boyd Webb, Tippy Hayes, Tom Allbrook and Claude King. Emo Boado, regular right half, alternated with Allbrook.

Boado is just recovering from a torn hip muscle. The number 1 front line had J. D. Bradford and Larry Rhodes at the ends, Willie Holland and George Tucker at the tackles, David Lee and Don Burton at the guards, and Louis Holland at center. Ray (Bull) Overton, reserve tackle, has fully recuperated from a plague of bad ankles and will see action this weekend. Ray Pennington and Charles Smith are also set to give the starters rest this Saturday.

This will be the last game for 10 Pirate gridders. Those who'll be making their last turns for East Carolina include Larry Rhodes, Claude King, David Lee, Willie Holland, George Tucker, Don Burton, Boyd Webb, Gaither Cline, Tippy Hayes and Tom Allbrook.

Al Andrews Will Test 'KO' Punch

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Andrews, the 24-year-old middleweight of Superior, Wis., who recently kayped Gil Turner, will try to prove that he really possesses a knockout punch when he meets Chico Varona in a 10-rounder at Chicago Stadium tonight.

The five-card show which co-features a 10-round bout between Chicago heavyweights Bob Satterfield and Johnny Holman will not be televised.

Turner was the first fighter Andrews ever knocked out for the 10 count. But Al says he has "finally learned how to throw a knockout punch—it's all in the leverage."

Varona, a 26-year-old veteran with 56 victories in 72 bouts, recently scored a 10-round decision over former welterweight king Johnny Bratton.

The Satterfield - Holman battle seems to have little chance of going the limit. Satterfield has 29 knockouts in 36 victories. He has been stopped 11 times in 16 defeats.

Holman has had 35 fights. He has won 22, 13 by knockouts. Holman had a big lead over Satterfield in a recent Miami bout but lost when he stepped into one of Bob's rights in the 9th round.

Meet J.D. Bradford, 6-1, 190-pound junior end from Fayetteville.

For two years J.D. was coerced to play in the shadow of giant Bobby Hodges. This fall with Hodges departed, he stepped out into the light and has played fine flank all season for the Pirates.

The stead terminal came to East Carolina with the Jack Boone era in the fall of 1962. At Fayetteville High School, under the tutelage of Clyde Biggers, he received much adulation from appreciative fans and sports writers alike. So superb was his play his senior year he was selected first string all-State.

Among other laurels, he was twice All-Eastern AAA and participant in the Shrine Bowl at Charlotte. He lettered four years in a row and was instrumental in two fine seasons for the Bulldogs. He also lettered three times with the B-dog baseball aggregations. He was a catcher and steady batsman.

J.D. appeared with the Pirates his first year almost exclusively as a defensive man. He lettered and was very impressive doing so. What little offense dirty he saw get evidence of ability at pass-snagging.

JANE ABBOTT

At 36, Josh Trevitt makes his will leaving an equal share of his rambling farm in the New York state to each of his nieces, Mrs. Hester Wilmer, Miss Jennie Todd and his nephew, Tom Todd. But to acquire final title, each must remain three months on the land, those leaving sooner relinquishing their share or shares to the final "resident." Josh also assigns an acre with outhouse to Gary Norbeck, a stranger who'd come to live there. Shortly after making his will, Josh falls from a rafter of his barn, and is killed.

CHAPTER THREE

There was a small park with paths and benches, opposite the parish house of St. Stephen's church. Jennie Todd, an inconspicuous figure in a plain dark blue suit and blue hat, crossed over to it, sat down on a bench. It was 4 o'clock. She did not have to be back at the school until half past. She would sit here and try to think of what the rector of St. Stephen's had said to her.

She sat with her back to the door of the parish house which she had just left. Her hands were trembling and she tightened them on her handbag to control them. It was, in a way, this trembling which had been seizing her more and more of late that had driven her to talk to the Rev. William Rickers in his study.

She had begun: "I've been terribly upset over—something—it's my fault I know—I ought to have handled the situation differently—it's..." She had sat in a comfortable chair across his desk from him but could get only that far, which told him nothing.

He had shown no impatience. He looked down at the appointment card his secretary had filled out. "You are in the Hollingswood school—the housemother. Are you happy in your work? Does it give you opportunity to give of yourself?"

Did it? She had thought swiftly of the duties that were hers—checking up on the 40-odd girls who lived in residence.

Tell him that Hester had pushed her into it, 12 years ago? Hester had a friend who was a friend of Miss Millhouse's through her Hester had heard of the position at Hollingswood Hall. She had practically secured it for Jennie before she let Jennie know of it. "There's certainly more distinction in it than working in a book and gift shop, she had argued over long-distance. Jennie had come to Cleveland, interviewed Miss Millhouse, had got the position.

She had said in answer to the rector's question: "I heard of it—I took it—it's all right."

Dr. Rickers' eyes had rested on her gravely. "Can you tell me what is troubling you?"

"It's something that happened in school months ago—one of the girls—the others took it up—Oh, I can't tell it! I'm sorry, when you are so kind as to be willing to listen!"

"Have you tried prayer?"

"Yes, Yes, I have! At least..."

"But possibly you did not believe as you prayed? Ask and ye shall receive!"

"I—tried to."

Dr. Rickers had smiled. "We all try but most times that isn't enough. You believe that God created men in His image?"

"Yes."

"That God is all strength?"

"Yes."

"Then, that strength is in every human being, to use. It is in you, my dear. A strength that can beat your devils of fears! Pray to believe that you have it! Do you know the Psalms well? Read them over and over—there is a great deal of comfort in them. Will you come to talk with me again when you feel the need to?"

He had been understanding even though she had told him nothing. Though he'd needed only to look friend of mine was on the tour—she saw the man and told Grace. He's tall and handsome—Gray hair, of course... Everyone was excited about it—love at first sight.

Jennie remembered the two men who had been with the conducted party, one 80 and the other close to it, both with their wives. The tour itself had been to historic spots in Virginia.

But she must say something—she managed: "Girls, this is not the time. Mademoiselle Duval, please tell them of the French movie you saw in New York."

It had gone on through the year—inquisitive glances flashed at her through the dinner hour. "Whispering, giggling..." "Miss Todd, isn't that a new ring?" Of the ring that had been her mother's and which she had worn for years. "Miss Todd, aren't you going to show us his photograph some day? Or tell us something?"

It spread to the teachers in the school. "Miss Todd, what's this I hear? But, no, don't say anything if you don't want to. I know how you feel about it with all these girls here. But when the time comes..."

Then Miss Millhouse. "Miss Todd, I've heard a little rumor!" "Miss Millhouse, truly..."

"My dear, I know how you feel about saying anything now. But do give me some warning ahead—it

August, and Maisie Crawford was one of these. It would go on and on.

She looked at the letter. From Killbuck. It was something more to follow up the telegram that had come from there saying that Uncle Jehosaphat had died. She must change, go down to her place at the dinner table. "Girls, Miss Todd got a big fat letter today! Registered, too!" Could she face them? She changed to the blue voile she wore evenings and smoothed her hair. She still had 10 minutes before the gong would ring. She sat down and picked up the letter.

"From Wickford Middleton, Attorney-at-law," she read in a corner of the envelope. Then she began to read the letter. The dinner gong sounded but she paid no heed to it. She read only the top sheet which was a copy of Jehosaphat's will, but she read that again and again, for it was not easy for her to get the meaning of it at once, to believe it. When she did—she cried aloud: "I can get away! Away from here!"

She did not think that Hester would consider for a minute spending a summer on a farm-up there in northern New York, wrapped up in her social life as she was... Or Tom. No, she'd be alone.

Cigarette Controversy Is Flaming Hotter; Many Confused, Frightened

Editor's Note — Few research problems of modern times have captured the public interest more than the current search for an answer to this question: Is cigarette smoking a substantial hazard to health? The interest is justified, for the stakes are high. Here is a concise summary of what is involved, the first of four significant articles on the cigarette controversy.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter
NEW YORK — The great cigarette controversy is flaming hotter. It has millions of Americans puzzled or confused, and many frightened. Are cigarettes really dangerous? Should YOU stop smoking? It finds the house of science and medicine divided. Some authorities frankly call cigarettes a major factor in causing human cancer, especially lung cancer and say they are bad for your heart. But others, equally prominent say the case against cigarettes is by no means proved.

It finds many hundreds of thousands of dollars being poured into research to find the answer, or answers. That fact could produce great boons for all of us, for the research will dig deep into some biological mysteries. What is learned could turn up vital links about the cause, control or treatment of cancer, heart disease or possibly other health matters, quite aside from its effect in the cigarette controversy.

The controversy finds unknown thousands of men and women giving up cigarettes, or trying to, or thinking they should.

Human health is one stake in the controversy. Are cigarettes harmless, bad, or somewhere in between? Human enjoyment is another: Most smokers enjoy their smoking.

The tobacco industry — the big and small growers and manufacturers and processors, middlemen, wholesalers, retailers, vending machine operators and many others — owes its livelihood to tobacco. Governments derive much revenue from tobacco taxes.

Science and medicine have a stake. Should a reputable scientist disclose his findings which lead him to suspect hazards in smoking or anything else? Or should he wait until he has definite proof? If he is proved wrong after his early announcement will people accuse him of scare mongering, or lose faith in scientific research? If he is proved right after deciding not to warn the public would people accuse him of having shirked his responsibility?

The cigarette controversy, like most big public issues, didn't spring forth overnight. Some 15 years ago, Dr. Alton Ochsner, famous New Orleans surgeon, was reporting observations which led him to believe that cigarette smoking was a cause of lung cancer. Just yesterday Dr. Ochsner published a book, "Smoking and Cancer, a Doctor's Report" (Julian Messner, Inc.) which reviews all the evidence used to indict cigarettes as a cause of lung cancer and heart disease.

In 1939, an Argentine physician, Dr. A. H. Roffo, reported that tars obtained from tobacco often could produce cancer in the skin of rabbits.

These and other reports were mentioned in the news through the years. In 1950, newspapers headlined stories from a cancer congress in Paris reporting three separate studies, mostly statistical — which linked cigarettes with at least part of an increase in lung cancer among Americans. The studies were made by Dr. Ochsner by Doctors Evaris Graham of St. Louis and Ernest Wynder of New York, and by Dr. Morton L. Levin and associates of Albany, N.Y. A British study just a big later, by Dr. Richard Doll and Prof. A. Bradford Hill, pointing to an association between cigarettes and lung cancer, also was published by American newspapers.

But these and other reports coming still later seemed to find the American public only mildly interested. Perhaps many missed the stories. Perhaps it takes time and repetition — in the absence of stark drama — to get rapt attention. Or perhaps many people wanted stronger evidence. No doubt some dismissed the reports as another instance of crying "wolf" at cigarettes. For tobacco has been accused of many sins in the past — of leading to poverty, of creating mustaches on women, making men sterile, poisoning the unborn babies of smoking mothers, contributing to tuberculosis. Smoking has been banned at some times in a few countries. In Denmark smokers and snufflers were once publicly whipped. In Turkey, King Amurath once decreed beheading for anyone who smoked.

Not until about two years ago did the long-smouldering controversy over cigarettes really start to build up into the public consciousness.

Evidence was being discovered and rediscovered to blame cigarettes for sickness and untimely death. So also was evidence to question that evidence, or to blame other factors for the troubles being attributed to cigarettes.

The public was to become the jury. As such, the public was to bear a good deal, from both sides.

Friends Had Pull At City Hall

DETROIT (AP) — Patrolman Walter S. Suchara found out recently some of his friends wield a lot of influence at City Hall. Suchara had been transferred to the midnight shift, but now he's back directing traffic at a school crossing during the afternoons.

For this, Suchara can thank a letter written by sixth-grader Theresa Rivera to Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins. The letter read:

"Hello Commissioner. I would like to ask a favor. Would you please put patrolman Suchara back on the corner at the school? My friends and I are nuts about him. He is a very nice officer and very careful and very nice to us kids."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (A)—Railroads were strong today in an otherwise mixed stock market.

Prices in the early afternoon were spread over a range of around 2 points either way.

Business was brisk at a pace around three million shares for the day. It was, however, well below the 3,240,000 shares traded yesterday in a slightly higher market.

Railroads were far out in front of the market with some chemicals strong.

Here is the way the rest of the market looked: steels higher, motors mixed, rubbers lower, farm implements firm, aircrafts mixed, radio-television lower, utilities lower on balance, coppers steady, oils steady to higher, airlines mixed, building materials lower, and motion pictures steady.

RALEIGH (B)—(NCDA)—Hogs were mostly steady today: 20.00 at Kenly, Beulaville, 19.85 at Tarboro, Hamilton, Enfield, Rocky Mount, 19.50 at Siler City, Micro, Elizabethtown, Freeman, Scotland Neck, Weldon, Plymouth, Goldsboro, New Bern, Kinston, Benson, Fayetteville, Clinton, Rich Square: 19.25 at Whiteville, Tabor City, Shallotte, Lumberton and Woodland.

CHICAGO (B)—(UDA)—Salable hogs 13,000; general market fairly active; butchers over 230 lb active after a slow start; butchers 10 to 25 lower; full decline on choice lightweights; sows uneven; steady to mostly 25 lower; most choice 1 and 2's mostly 19.25-19.50; with 35 head around 210 lb at 19.60; most choice 230-250 lb 19.00-19.25; bulk 260-280 lb 18.75-19.00; a few lots 290-300 lb 18.50-18.75; most larger lots sows 400 lbs and lighter 17.25-18.00; a few 18.25; bulk 425-600 lb 15.50-17.25; good clearance.

Salable cattle 11,000; calves 300; slaughter steers and heifers unevenly steady to 50 higher; less action on kinds grading choice and better; cows steady to 25 higher; bulls steady to strong; vealers steady; several loads average to high prime steers 30.00-31.25; top 31.50 for a load around 1,400 lb; high choice 21.00-27.00; commercial to low good steers 17.00-20.50; most choice and prime heifers, 24.50-26.25; good to low choice heifers 20.50-24.25; commercial to low good grades 15.50-20.00; utility to commercial cows 8.75-12.00; bulk canners and cutters 6.50-8.50; utility and commercial bulls 12.00-14.50; most good to prime vealers 17.00-22.00.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Charles Grimes, Negro, guilty of being drunk and fined him $10.

For resisting arrest, the court gave Grimes 30 days in jail, sentence to be suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he shall remain of good behavior for two years.

Johnnie Murphy, Negro, was fined $20 for allowing a non-licensed operator to drive his car. The court taxed Marie Mayo, Negro, with $15 court costs for not having a drivers license.

Willie Lee Little, Negro, non-support, 12 months on the roads, sentence to be suspended on payment of $10 for support before his release from custody. The judgment also provides that Little is to pay $10 a week beginning November 15, 1954, for five consecutive weeks. After that, he is to pay $5 weekly for support.

Driving drunk: Alexander Carr, three months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a year. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year. Judge Whedbee gave Carr 30 days on the roads for careless and reckless driving (term to be served consecutively), sentence to be suspended on payment of court costs.

Willie Lee Barnes, Negro, careless and reckless driving, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is not to operate a motor vehicle for two months, except daily from and to his work. The court gave Barnes 30 days in jail (concurrent), sentence to be suspended on payment of court costs.

Speeding: Louis C. Street, Jr., $20, costs deducted. Dallas Mills, Jr., court costs. Nathaniel D. Smith, Negro, $15.

Curtis Taft, Negro, assault, 30 days on the roads (concurrent with prison term to be served on revocation of his parole).

Drunk: Snode Carney, (and disorderly) $10 and be of good behavior; Howard B. Hazelton, $10.

Charlie Hawkins, Negro, was found not guilty of trespass.

Hilbert Dreweyrm, Negro, assault on a female, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs. The judgment also provides that he is not to threaten or molest his wife, Mollie Dreweyrm, and remain of good behavior for a year.

Police yesterday reported a Sunday afternoon traffic accident between vehicles operated by James S. Link of 400 Eastern Street and June S. Gaskins of Brookgreen.

Total damage in the accident amounted to $250.

Investigating were Patrolman R. B. Elks and K. E. Warren.

On Monday cars operated by George B. Campbell of 1709 Smith Street and William B. Newton, Negro of Greenville were involved in a collision. Damage was estimated by Officer K. E. Warren at -250.

Also on Monday cars operated by William Peterson of 108 W. Moore Street; Fred R. Ingram, Jr. of 401 South Harding Street and Jenevieve M. Clark of 1206 Dickinson Avenue crashed on South Green Street. Peterson was charged with operating a vehicle with improper equipment. Patrolmen Elks and Warren investigated and damage to Petersons car was estimated at $150, to Ingrams, $300, and to the Clark vehicle, $50.

Home Wiring Is Found At Fault

National Electrical Association surveys reveal only two out of seven homes are properly wired to carry appliances, Ed Tipton, chairman of the local Appliance Association, told that group at its monthly meeting last night at Respece Brothers Barbecue House.

Local dealers agreed this situation exists in Greenville and in the rural communities, and it was pointed out in many instances the dealer who sells appliances is criticized for faulty merchandise when the cause is lack of amperes to carry the load.

Tipton stated most homes are wired with the minimum facilities and no provisions are made for ample electricity for appliances and future increases in the use of electricity. He said statistics show there are now 32 electrical items on the market for use in homes.

The association voted to invite Leonard P. Bloxam, W. A. Darden and S. E. Briley of the local Utilities Commission to attend the December meeting and to submit suggestions as to how this situation may be corrected.

Members' wives will also be invited to attend the December meeting.

The group decided to take care of a needy family or families at Christmas this year.

GRIFTON COLORED SCHOOL

Friday, Nov. 12, Mrs. A. E. Jackson took 35 children of the 5th and 6th grades to the Carolina Dairy in Greenville.

Everything was explained in the best possible way throughout the plant. Every child was given a chocolate coated popsticle. Mrs. M. L. Blount, Miss Jordan, Mrs. M. Moore of Grifton School went with the group.

Milk has been the unit of study for the 5th and 6th grades of Grifton and the visit to the dairy clinched some of the things they had studied.
