Atom Plan Revised To Woo Reds

Revamped Proposal Designed To Get Soviet Approval And Start Wheels Turning

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and its six atomic partners sought Soviet approval today for a revamped proposal designed to get President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace program rolling.

The seven sponsoring powers planned to present their revised resolution to the U. N. Assembly's main Political Committee today.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. described the new draft as a "solid resolution" taking into account changes suggested by Russia, India and other nations.

After a 90-minute huddle with his six cosponsors last night, Lodge predicted the new resolution to set up an international atomic agency would win unanimous support of the 60 U. N. members, including Russia.

The Western resolution was revised after three days of closed-door talks between Lodge and Russia's Andrei Vishinsky. A U. S. source said Vishinsky was informed last night of the changes made in the resolution and was given the chance to suggest any further alterations.

Informed sources said the seven Western Powers were determined to push ahead with the resolution with or without Russian agreement.

The general feeling was that, despite their apparent inflexibility on certain points, the Russians would finally agree to the resolution and might even consent to join the United States, Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, and South Africa in sponsoring it.

The main snag has been Russia's demand that the proposed agency be placed under the control of the Security Council, in which the Soviets wield veto power. The United States wants it to be a specialized agency with its own constitution, unhampered by the veto.

Observers expressed belief the revised draft would have the agency report to the Security Council but would be so phrased as to avoid placing it under the council's authority.

Vishinsky appeared moving toward agreement yesterday when he told the committee that the Russians "adhered to the framework of the draft resolution which contains a number of entirely acceptable provisions."

"I have a feeling," he said, "that both parties are making every effort to eliminate or compose the differences which exist."

Orders Graham County Ballot Boxes Impounded

ROBBINSVILLE, N. C. (AP)—District Solicitor Thad D. Bryson Jr. of Bryson City has delivered to Sheriff J. Booth Crisp an order impounding all Graham County ballot boxes used in the Nov. 2 election.

The order signed by Judge Dan K. Moore of Sylva, directs Sheriff Crisp to impound all registration books, poll books, absentee ballots and other pertinent material used in the election.

The material will be used by agents of the State Bureau of Investigation for further probing into alleged election irregularities, Bryson said.

Bryson said "I intend to request permission of Judge Wilson Warlick of Newton, the U. S. District Federal Court judge, for access of similar material concerning alleged Clay County irregularities."

Queen Mother Sails For Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth of England sails today for home after a 22-day visit to the United States and Canada.

She came to New York by plane from Ottawa yesterday and went immediately to the liner Queen Mary.

The Queen Mother, who spent five days touring Canada, was greeted by a throng of admirers both at La Guardia Field and at the ship's pier.

To one and all she smiled graciously, waved and called "good-by."

French Premier Brings Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Visiting French Premier Mendes-France takes a world-girdling list of 20 problems—and his reputation as a shrewd bargainer—to his opening discussions with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles today.

When he flew into Washington last night, the stocky, energetic French leader said he came "in a spirit of optimism." He said he was confident that "France, in concert with your great country and the other allies, can assure the safety and development of our common civilization."

The future of the Saar, rich industrial borderland between France and Germany, may put Mendes-France's diplomatic powers to the stiffest test of all the 20 questions he plans to discuss here.

He reportedly wants the United States to support at any future German peace conference the compromise arrangements made in Paris last month. Under these the Saar would be "Europeanized" but still tied economically to France. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is having trouble getting his countrymen to accept the arrangement.

Although U. S. officials are uncommitted on some of Mendes-France's long-range policies, he was greeted warmly yesterday by Vice President Nixon and Dulles.

Topics proposed for top-level discussion besides the Saar, include U. S. plans for helping finance the French expeditionary force in non-Communist Indochina and for continuing purchases of military equipment in France for the foreign aid program.

They also cover virtually the whole field of current diplomacy, including relations with the Soviet bloc, the French Premier's plan for an arms pool among the countries in the proposed Western European Union, progress toward an Austrian peace treaty, the outlook in North Africa, where Nationalists are restive under French rule, and long-range plans for economic betterment of Southeast Asia.

20,000 Dead?

PARIS (AP)—Former Finance Minister Christian Pineau told a National Assembly committee today he fears 20,000 French soldiers died as prisoners during the Indochina war. Pineau, a Socialist, said of approximately 30,000 French prisoners, the Communist-led Vietminh have returned only 10,000. Reports from Saigon quote the Vietminh as claiming to have returned more than 12,000 French soldiers, prisoners at the time of the armistice last July 21.

Pineau said that in Hanoi, capital of the "Viet Nam People's Democratic Republic," he found only 100 Frenchmen remaining. These and those French still in Hanoi, North Indochina's main port, he considers virtually prisoners, he added, according to deputies who spoke with reporters after the closed committee meeting.

Senators' Mail Is Pro-McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—By letter, telegram and postcard, senators are being advised how to vote on the bitterly contested issue of whether to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

A check with a number of senators on both sides of the controversy, as well as with others who have not announced a stand, brought reports that their mail has been running heavily against censure. There were some exceptions, however.

Some senators reported an unusually heavy volume of mail, but others said they have been getting far less than they expected.

An aide of Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of the special bipartisan committee that recommended McCarthy be censured, said Watkins has been receiving as many as 750 to 1,000 letters and telegrams a day.

In the first week of debate, he said, this mail was about $1 for McCarthy, but that at the start of this week the pro-McCarthy ratio had dropped to 4-1 or 5-1.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), vice chairman of the special committee, said his mail is running "heavily" in favor of McCarthy "but I don't attach significance to that."

"The people who are critical of McCarthy feel that they have already won their fight, that he has been censured by the committee," Johnson said.

Sen. Ervin (D-NC), another committee member, said he had been receiving "unusually heavy mail for me." He said it came from Massachusetts to California and that most of the mail he received was against McCarthy.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), a McCarthy critic, said he is receiving only about a dozen letters a day on the censure issue, and that they are running about 3-1 in support of McCarthy.

Censure Talk Goes On With McCarthy Absent Senate Continues Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) said today the McCarthy censure debate will continue at least temporarily despite the absence of Sen. McCarthy because of an injury.

Knowland said the possibility of a recess had not been ruled out, however, and that he was continuing consultations with other senators.

Knowland said he expected to have something definite to say about Senate plans later.

The GOP leader gave this word to reporters when the Senate convened.

Advices from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where McCarthy was entered as a patient yesterday, were that the senator's injured elbow was improving but that he might be there several more days.

Knowland said the debate and possible voting would continue "only in the event it is agreeable to the various parties."

He said he had not talked to Sen. McCarthy but planned to contact him later.

Knowland said he would consult with McCarthy and those aiding him in the Senate, spokesmen for the Watkins committee which unanimously recommended censure, and the Democratic leaders.

Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said any decision about continuing or delaying Senate action was up to Knowland as majority leader.

Knowland said he was sure that if McCarthy requested a delay in the proceedings, the Senate would grant it.

Tabbed for the first Senate speech of the day was Sen. Brown (R-Nev.). He has opposed censure of McCarthy on the count involving McCarthy's conduct toward an Elections subcommittee in 1951.

Knowland said he understood Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), who has urged that some compromise be worked out on the censure issue, planned to speak later in the day.

Matters were shaping up toward a possible preliminary vote tomorrow on the censure issue.

Also in the works was a McCarthy camp move expected either tomorrow or Saturday, to quash the censure charges. This move, subject to an immediate vote, was expected to fail.

A six-man committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) has recommended that McCarthy be rebuked on grounds that he (A) treated contemptuously a Senate elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and (B) repeatedly abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before him.

Dirksen reserved time in today's debate to explain changes he said he will propose in the special committee's resolution. Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said any compromise "inevitably" would call for the sort of public apology that McCarthy thus far has refused to make.

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who held the Senate floor all day yesterday in McCarthy's defense, said it was "absurd" to censure McCarthy for his treatment of the elections subcommittee.

At one point he invited the Senate to censure him if it wished to, because he had complained that the absence of all but about a dozen senators when he was speaking showed "total disrespect for the man... who faces censure."

Knowland Renews Call For Break

Says Diplomatic Break With Russia Would Impose 'Sanction' Against Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) renewed today his call for a diplomatic break with Russia, saying the action would impose a "oral sanction" against any further expansion of Communist influence.

He spoke out in an interview after a bipartisan conference of congressional leaders with President Eisenhower yesterday. The divergence of foreign policy views between the President and the party's Senate leader apparently went unmentioned at the conference.

Eisenhower has rejected a previous proposal by Knowland for a break in diplomatic relations with Moscow, declaring that a way of living together in peace with the Russians must be found.

Knowland criticized talk of "peaceful coexistence" with Russia in the Senate Monday. There should be a searching congressional review of the nation's foreign and defense policy, he said, to determine whether it needs "a basic change."

Secretary of State Dulles subsequently said the free nations, largely under U. S. leadership, have strengthened themselves against Communist pressure, and that he knew of no emergency requiring a special review. Secretary of Defense Wilson said the alternative to some form of peaceful coexistence is war.

As did Dulles, Knowland said the term "peaceful coexistence" is subject to a number of interpretations.

"But to me it means coexistence in a free and a peaceful world," he said. "It doesn't mean the kind of peaceful coexistence the Thanksgiving turkey has until the ax falls on its neck."

"We cannot be unconcerned with Communist expansion and permit them to build up to the point where there is an atomic stalemate in which we would be powerless to stop them."

Knowland said he believes there are several ways short of war in which the Soviets could be put on the defensive. A break in diplomatic relations he said, would provide a "moral sanction" which would make the rest of the world sit up and take notice.

Others who conferred with Eisenhower and Dulles yesterday on foreign and defense policies reported what seemed to add up to a lessening of tension.

Sen. George (D-Ga.) said the President and Secretary of State appeared to have "a strengthened conviction that we are moving toward a stronger position in meeting the difficult problems of the world."

"They have increased faith in the eventual solutions of these problems," he said. "There was a growing feeling that these problems are not insoluble."

Egyptian Council Decides Not To Fill Presidency

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt is going to get along without a president, the figurehead post from which Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib was ousted last Sunday.

The Revolution Council, the country's ruling military junta, announced last night that the presidency established June 18, 1953, would not be filled and that the Cabinet would take over the functions of the office.

Informed sources predicted that the Cabinet, which is named and controlled by the Revolution Council, would in turn delegate Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser to act as chief of state on official occasions.

The President's duties had been largely ceremonial since Nasser bested Naguib in a struggle for top position last spring. Nasser became Egypt's undisputed boss, supplanting Naguib as chairman of the Revolution Council and military governor of Egypt as well as premier.

Naguib's eclipse was completed Sunday when the council put him under house arrest and charged he cooperated with Communists and the Moslem Brotherhood in a plot to overthrow the junta.

Never Regained Consciousness While In Custody Man Seemingly Dies Of Fall

By ALVIN TAYLOR Reflector Staff Writer

A Negro man died this morning, apparently as a result of a fall at Wilson's Store just outside the city limits on the New Bern Highway. He was enroute to Duke Hospital when death came.

The man, Eugene Jordan, 56, of near Bell's Fork, had spent about two hours in city jail before he was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital. He had been placed in jail on a drunkenness charge shortly after he fell at the store about 7 o'clock last night.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson this morning told the following story concerning the man's arrest and subsequent death:

Jordan entered the combination grocery store and service station about 7 o'clock last night and made a small purchase.

As he was leaving the store he apparently fell down the steps leading into the building and onto the paved entrance in front of the building. The store operators placed the unconscious man on the front entrance and called the Greenville Police Department. Tyson said Greenville police called for the sheriff's department by radio. None of the sheriff's department could be contacted and ABC Officers J. M. Ward and H. B. Lilly heard the call. The pair went to the scene where they found the man lying in front of the station.

The officers took Jordan to the police station where he was booked on drunkenness charge and looked up, Tyson said.

Taken To Hospital The sheriff declared that Jordan was unconscious at the time he was placed in the city jail. He never spoke while in custody of the officers. City police checked on the man about 10 p.m., the sheriff continued, and found him to be still unconscious. He was then taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital where doctors ordered the injured man transferred to Duke Hospital and he was placed in an ambulance which left for the Durham hospital about 2 a.m. Tyson stated that Duke Hospital authorities reported that Jordan was dead when he arrived.

Members of the dead man's family said that Jordan had a metal plate in his head from a previous injury, according to Tyson.

The sheriff noted that he had talked to the store operators and they said Jordan appeared to be drinking when he came in to make a purchase.

Ward's Statement

ABC Officer J. M. Ward stated this morning that Jordan appeared to be drunk when he picked him up at the store last night.

Ward said he and Officer Lilly were asked to check on a drunk at Wilson's store after the police department attempted to contact the sheriff.

"We went out there and he was lying there," Ward continued. "We picked him up and carried him to the police station and locked him up."

Ward quoted Mrs. Wilson as saying Jordan had been in the station three or four times yesterday and that he had been drinking.

Body Returned Here Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said this morning that he learned of the case this morning when Duke Hospital authorities telephoned and notified him of the man's death. He said the authorities asked if the coroner wanted an autopsy performed.

"I told them 'No' to sign a release and let him come back here," Rouse stated.

The coroner declared that if there is any doubt concerning Jordan's death "we'll perform an autopsy here."

"It looks, before we can form any opinion on it at all, we are going to have to go into it and investigate it more," the coroner continued.

Rouse pointed out that the case is definitely "still open for further investigation."

"We may have to perform an autopsy or we may not," he declared.

The coroner stated he understood that the metal plate was placed in Jordan's head when he was hit by a vehicle a number of years ago.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs said that he first saw Jordan in jail shortly before 10 o'clock last night. He said the man was "out" and in his opinion "should see a doctor."

Abortion Charge Filed Against Ayden Woman

An Ayden woman, Mrs. Helen Cannon of 303 Park Ave. was arrested yesterday afternoon in Ayden and charged with performing an abortion.

The woman was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Loyd Manning and SBI Agent Clyde Pentress at the interior decoration shop she operates in Ayden.

Pitt County Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said this morning the arrest of Mrs. Cannon climaxed "several months of investigation" by the county sheriff's department and the SBI, assisted by the police departments of Ayden and Greenville.

Mrs. Cannon appeared before Magistrate Luther Moore in Greenville yesterday following her arrest. She denied the charges and waived preliminary hearing. She was released under a $5,000 signed bond and the case was set for grand jury action in Pitt Superior Court the week of November 29.

Sheriff Tyson said the strategic break in the case came during the week end when a victim of an abortion allegedly performed by Mrs. Cannon entered Pitt Memorial Hospital in serious condition. Tyson said the abortion allegedly was performed at the home of Mrs. Cannon on Saturday night, and the victim entered the hospital here on Sunday.

The sheriff refused to identify the victim, but said she was released from the hospital yesterday.

The warrant for Mrs. Cannon's arrest on the charge was taken out before Magistrate Moore on Tuesday, Tyson said.

Benson Says Outlook For Farmers 'Good' In 1955

CHICAGO (AP)—Prospects of farmers in 1955, says Secretary of Agriculture Benson, are "very good" and he expects prices to remain stable at about present levels.

He also predicted last night an expanding and prosperous agricultural economy will accompany the growth of the nation's population in the future.

He said by 1970 the population will have increased to 200 million and this means "we will have to increase our total agricultural production by about one-fourth."

That means, he said, "we must obtain this expanded production from roughly the same acreage in cultivation now. Some economists say the average farmer can increase his net income by 25 per cent. Some say 50 per cent. Some say more.

"But there's an if—if he uses all the new tools and techniques, the better breeds, better seeds, better feeds and better cultural practices now available."

Benson spoke at the Illinois Agricultural Assn convention and at a news conference. He said he expects no changes in the "basic fundamentals" parts of the new agricultural act. However, he added, he figures there will be a "need for some refinements and modifications."

He said dairy prices will increase if the sales promotion program goes well, adding that progress is being made in reducing the oversupply of dairy products.

This showed that scouting is a team effort, and that all should work to promote the organization for scouts grow up to make good citizens of the community. He reminded the group that there were two camps in this district for scouts, Camp Charles and Camp Cratan, and that the coming summer would find the scouts making use of these.
Awards were presented to troop leaders as follows: Functioning Manpower, Increase Membership. Forward on Liberties Team. These were accepted by Lee Ellis, Walter Hanson and Jimmie Rogers in behalf of the troop. The scout benediction was said by George Lehman.

Following the program, the business hour was had. A report from the treasurer noted as proceeds from the carnival $803.10.

The executive committee made recommendations that additional sums be given the reading and library committee, the teacher representative and the house and grounds. After discussion it was also voted to give to the home economics department on the purchase of a new sewing machine the sum of $100.
Mrs. James Hudson reported for the Book Fair which will be held on the second and third of December. Mrs. Clifton Baldwin reported for the safety committee, saying the committee had met with the town board who had agreed to erect four speed signs near the school and to defray half the expense of stop signs for the highway intersection at No. 11 with the townpeople supplying the additional cost.

Mr. Bright announced the junior class play to be given on Friday night of this week. He also made a plea to the P.T.A. to be alert to issues coming up in the future pertaining to appropriations for education in which all could help by contacting Representatives Sam Worthington, Walter Jones and Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville.
Attendance cakes were won by Miss Johnson's fourth and Mrs. Brickhouse's seventh-eighth combination grades.

N. C.'s Brief Pulls No Punches

North Carolina's brief on desegregation filed with the United States Supreme Court effectively and accurately states North Carolina's position in this issue, and offers constructive suggestions upon which the Supreme Court can base its decrees through which the end to school segregation is to be implemented.

While North Carolina's brief offers no solution to the "extremely difficult and dangerous problem which has arisen" because of the Supreme Court decision, it points the way for achieving the Supreme Court goals with the least possible trouble.

We feel North Carolina will comply with the Supreme Court ruling ending public school segregation, despite the distaste of the majority of both white and Negro citizens of the state for the ruling. The implementation of the ruling can not help but jeopardize and set back the fine race relations in the state. Yet the greater the length of the transition period for integration, the less adverse affects it will have upon race relations in this state.

The U. S. Supreme Court, sitting in the nation's capital can not possibly understand the difficulties which their decision imposes upon the people of North Carolina and other Southern states. The brief filed by the state Attorney General's office put the point plainly but firmly when it said:

"If the public schools and the public peace are to be preserved the decrees to be entered in the South Carolina and Virginia cases (which brought about the segregation ruling) must be framed to fit the conditions in the actual communities involved, not to fit conditions in a non-existent, average community. Only a court conversant with local conditions and granted wide discretion can tailor the decree to fit local variations."

Some of the Southern States may be ready to swallow the bitter pill of non-segregated public schools before others are. By the same token some communities in any one state will be ready to go along with the distasteful desegregation before other communities in the same state. Regardless of the procedure used in ending segregation, it is going to result in racial bitterness, resentment, and in some cases even violence. If immediate integration is ordered, it will only worsen an already highly explosive situation.

While North Carolina's brief on the Supreme Court's ruling will not suit all the people of the state, The Reflector feels it is sound statement which reflects the feeling of the vast majority of the people of the state; and one which offers a constructive basis upon which the Supreme Court may rely in its further consideration of the implementation of its decision.

Dramatic Step Will Strengthen Free World

The United States has taken the offensive on at least one front in the cold war after letting the Reds have the offensive for so long.

The announcement that the U. S. will give fissionable material to other free nations of the world for atom-for-peace research and experimentation was a bold and dramatic step on the part of the administration. It will serve to exhibit to the free world that the American government no longer intends to wait for the Russian Bear to act before deciding upon international policies even pertaining to atomic energy.

We do not feel that the United States will be giving away atomic secrets by making the vital material available to friendly nations. The total amount of the material to be distributed for atomic research in other nations will about equal the amount necessary to make one atomic bomb. It should not jeopardize the free world defense, even if a portion of the material eventually falls into communist hands.

By furnishing a limited amount of such material to friendly nations which have atomic reactors with which to experiment, the U. S. will be making an appreciable contribution to the development of peaceful uses of atomic energy. The act is proof that the American government is willing to share with other free nations the advantages which will be derived from the diversion of atomic energy to peaceful purposes.

Such proof will be welcomed by other free nations who may have viewed with some skepticism the vast store of atomic knowledge which the United States has built up for itself, and for the most part has kept as a carefully guarded secret.

MINERVA (OHIO) LEADER says:

If government is to plan and blueprint the economic course of a nation's life, it must have complete control over everything that is involved in the economic system. That means machines—and it also means men. An individual's value—and the value of human life itself—is judged solely by the extent of his contribution to the activities and policies decreed by the state. There can be no such thing as freedom of choice. The first step is socialism. The inevitable second step is communism, fascism, or their equivalent.

AGE OF HURRY

Sometimes we hear the expression that things done in a hurry are never well done.

We are living in an age of hurry. People often remark that the tension of this age is unprecedented. It would be hard to prove such a contention, when we think of the tensions which must have existed in past ages when people were under threats of invasion, massacre, persecution, and plague. The present age differs from the past not that the tension is greater but that the speed is greater. From airplanes pilots down to commuters, the spirit of speed seems to have laid hold on us. We must hurry, hurry, hurry.

We should remind ourselves that not everything and everybody in this age respond to hurry. Vast research projects are going on in the great laboratories, and these are never hurried. There are large areas of peace and quiet even in the midst of this present feverish existence. The fact that we have to catch trains, that many of us drive high-powered cars, and that there is so much to be done and so many things to be seen and heard, put us all in a dither trying to take advantage of our opportunities.

But it is not tension which is increasing our nervous break-downs to an alarming degree; it is hurry. And of the people who are hurrying, half of them have not the remotest idea what to do with their extra time, once they get it.

Public Powerites Perturbed

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—New Deal-Fair Deal critics of the proposed Dixon-Yates TVA-AEC deal charge that it will cost from $25,000,000 to $75,000,000 more than if the Government built the new power plant in the Tennessee Valley.

It probably will, although the precise total is in dispute. But the differential will result from the fact that the private companies must pay State and Federal taxes, and from the further fact that, even though it will increase the public debt and the general taxation burden, Uncle Sam can still borrow money at a lower rate than private interests.

IN F. D. R.'s DAY—But the perturbed public power apostles have not always been so keen on economy, if throwing money away would enable them to expand Washington's control in this field or advance their ideological interests.

The very men—Oscar Chapman, former Secretary of the Interior, and Leland Olds, former Chairman of the Federal Power Commission—who now blast the Eisenhower power program sponsored several movements that would have been far more costly than the proposed TVA-AEC transaction.

The official who masterminded this now forgotten "giveaway" scheme was F.D.R.'s top power adviser and strategist—the late Harold L. Ickes. The man who carried out the field operations in this questionable and expensive enterprise was a mysterious individual generally unknown to the public—Guy C. Myers, known in the promotion world as "Flash."

PROFITABLE OPERATION—Myers was a smart operator. He saw a chance to make a quick pile by persuading private utility firms to sell their facilities to states or to public power organizations eager for experimentation.

Myers convinced them that there would be profits in the scheme for them and for himself. When he failed to sell the idea to the buyers and sellers, Ickes brought pressure from Washington to swing them into line.

Here is how it worked in Nebraska, the home state of the late Senator George W. Norris, known as the "Father of TVA."

Somebody Told Me

False Teeth Generally Liked

"Jack, do you have false teeth?" That question was put to me by a four-year-old acquaintance of mine, Marie Martin. She had asked the question because "you look like you have new gums." The question was food for thought. Hoping to reach the age that false teeth will be a possibility, I decided to get a cross section opinion of those who wear them. The conclusion is very encouraging: Most people don't mind them a bit and get excellent results.

One man told me, "You never could imagine how dirty your permanent teeth get until you have false teeth. When you take 'em out to wash 'em you can see it for yourself."

Some wearers cannot eat nuts, but others can. One told me, "I can eat anything except strawberries and tomatoes. And I can eat them as long as no seeds get under my plate. But when that happens I simply have to leave the table."

The one question that worried me most about false teeth is how does it affect your kissing? Everybody I asked laughed at me, declaring that the false teeth age puts less emphasis on the art of the kiss. So it seems that Mother Nature has even taken care of that problem, too.

Every time I talk about false teeth I think of the local dentist who supplied a patient with a set of teeth. The patient was the type who was financially able to pay his bills but ducked every one he could.

One day this particular dentist bumped into this patient on the street and they struck up a conversation about the teeth. It had been about six months since the teeth had been fitted.

"I'll tell you, Doctor," the patient said, "I never have paid you for these teeth because they simply don't fit right."

"Hummmmm," said the Doctor thoughtfully, "let's see the upper plate." Right on the street the dentist examined it. "Now, let's see the lower plate."

As soon as he had looked the plates over and could see no evidence of a flaw the dentist took the teeth, put them on the sidewalk and stomped them to pieces. After all, he figured, if the teeth the man had been wearing for six months without a complaint or any effort to pay were actually no good, he might as well destroy them.

And I thank you.
JACK EDWARDS

Voice of the People

To the Editor:

I have read with interest and appreciation your editorial, "We Can't Endorse The Proposal," in the Reflector of Friday, November 12.

Thank you for your fair and informed approach to this matter.

I am enclosing a statement on this subject which I hope will be of some help to your readers in fully understanding the matter of Senate seniority.

The purpose of this statement is to clarify my position with respect to my successor's seniority in the United States Senate. No committee seniority can now be or could have been gained by Senator-Elect W. Kerr Scott by my resignation from the United States Senate.

Mr. Scott cannot gain committee seniority by appointment as the earliest Democrats who can be seated under existing regulations are Senators-Elect O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and Bible of Nevada. They will not take their seats until around December 1, My successor Mr. Scott will become eligible to be seated after he is certified under North Carolina law on November 23rd, putting him in the Senate well ahead of any other newly elected Democrat, thereby giving him seniority over them, which is the basis for assignment to Senate Committees. He will have seniority over the two above-mentioned Senators as well as the following: Senators-Elect Newberger of Oregon; McNamara of Michigan; Thurmond of South Carolina; and Barkley of Kentucky, all of whom will go in office in January.

Governor Scott will be eligible, according to North Carolina law, to take his seat in the Senate on November 23rd, the date he is officially certified as having been elected to the Senate for the short term, and my tenure of office will expire at the time he presents his credentials which I hope he will do immediately upon being certified.

Senator Alton Lennon

limited any county regardless of population to one Senator. The people refused to ratify that amendment. Some sponsors of the election they regard the vote as a mandate to re-apportion at the next session.

A number of legislators from counties that might lose representation still contend that vote of the people on an amendment is not as binding as the existing constitutional requirement, and can be more easily ignored.

STATUS QUO — Best information obtainable is that, regardless of the constitution or mandates

Unused Dealer Aids

By ELMER ROESSNER
The sad fact is that dealer aids put out by manufacturers are sparsely used.

In a recent study, seven dealer-aid categories were broken down as to how many retailers always used the materials, never used them and sometimes used them. In that order, the percentage results were: newspaper mats, 11.9, 16.5, 72.2; newspaper art, 5.7, 19.7, 74.6; window displays, 6.7, 18.5, 74.8; interior displays, 9.2, 10.8, 80.0; broadcasting, 5.6, 37.0, 57.4.

Stuffers were most accepted with 18.9, 4.5 and 76.6. Catalogues were least with 22.2, 46.3 and 31.5. The National Retail Dry Goods Association, which made the study also listened to retailers' complaints and came up with some suggestions on how dealer aids could be improved.

More tie-ins with seasons, events, special days.

Eliminate the word "dealer" from all material. Retailers feel their boss is the customer, not the manufacturer.

Aids should be designed for specific retail types—bargain, high-quality and in-between stores. Make retail help look retail both in copy and art—not warmed-over national advertising.

More tie-ins with seasons, events, special days.

Include sufficient store identity.

Provide stores with fact sheets, successful case histories.

Give complete mats to small stores with small or nonexistent ad departments, and thumbnail, rough layouts to larger stores that have facilities and staff to insert their own personal touch.

Emphasize co-ordinated programs where all dealer aids are tied in together for maximum impact.

DREAMING OF A PLASTIC CHRISTMAS?
Plastics are beginning to change the time-honored picture of old Santa Claus. Instead of a jolly carpenter or metal smith busy in his workshop Santa could be depicted as an intense chemist in a laboratory or as an injection-mold operator in overalls.

Toys and tree ornaments have already gone plastic in a big way. Now Yuletide street decorations are making the move.

Last year a Grand Rapids concern (A.J. Brown Co.), tested its large, five-pound, outdoor plastic bells in a number of towns and reported that they endured wind, rain, snow and sub-zero temperatures without damage, while retaining their spectacular appeal.

Cost of the bells is low and they can be used year after year—which cannot be said for traditional evergreen boughs and wreaths that last but a short time and "definitely lack modern color appeal."

Gestapo's Mark Still To Be Seen

By HAL BOYLE
BRUSSELS, (AP)—The scar of a German Gestapo agent's bullet still can be seen in the neat green doorway of Mme. Josef Duchene.

Every time she goes through the door the mark reminds Mme. Duchene, an Irish-born widow of 83 who has become a symbol of Belgian civilian courage, of the terrible price she paid for sheltering two fugitive British soldiers during the last war.

"People used to come often to look at the bullet hole," said Mme. Duchene, a sweet-faced, white-haired old lady with apple pink cheeks, who wears a black ribbon at her throat. "But no one has come now for a long time."

Born Anna Hodges in Waterford, Ireland, in 1869, she came here at 18 as a nursery governess. This is the story she told me as we sat in her small living room hung with pictures of her late husband, her two dead children, King Albert, Belgium's first world war hero, and the present Queen Elizabeth of Britain.

"I felt so young and strange and homesick when I first came here," she said, "but people were nice to me and I felt better after I learned their language and their ways. Later I married Josef, coachman to the king. I forgot the year, but I remember I was 30."

During the first world war her husband was sent to England with the King's horses. Mme. Duchene remained here during the German occupation with her children, Leopold and Florrie. No funds reached them and they had a difficult time.

"Often we were hungry," she recalled. "But we made out." During this period Leopold although underage, ran away and joined the army, later was captured by the Germans.

Reunited, the Duchene family had a tough struggle in the years between the wars. Money was scarce, but Mme. Duchene now looks back wistfully upon this as a happy time, because those she loved were at least together.

After the collapse of the Allied lines in the last war two young Scottish soldiers, John McCubbin and Bobby Conville, leaped from a Nazi prisoner train near here and escaped.

"The woman who hid them became frightened," recalled Mme. Duchene. "I couldn't let the Germans take those boys again, so I said they could hide with us. We had a bed but no mattress, so Florrie and I ripped open our sofa pillows and made them a mattress, so the poor lads would sleep easier.

"That Bobby—he was such a good little boy. Always laughing. My daughter ran a millinery shop, and Bobby used to help her make hats."

The two British soldiers hid in the Duchene home at night for 14 months, sometimes moving to other places during the day.

One day, while Bobby was out, three Gestapo agents knocked at the door. They searched the house and found McCubbin, shot and wounded him when he tried to escape.

"I told Florrie to run out the back, that it made no difference if the Germans took me, as I wouldn't live long anyway," said Mme. Duchene. "But she would not leave me."

Mother and daughter were put in solitary confinement in prison here. Neither would give any information to their captors. After 8 months, during which her husband had died, Mme. Duchene was released.

"But they took Florrie to Ravensbrück that awful place," she said, "and later to Belsen, the most terrible of all."

"When she fell ill, they took her away from the other prisoners one day. I have asked and asked what happened to her after that, and no one will tell me.

"She was so good and nice. . . so kind to everybody."

Bobby Conville was smuggled back to Britain by the Belgian underground, John McCubbin, despite a bullet in his back, survived his wartime stay in a German prison camp.

Both men got in touch with Mme. Duchene as soon as they could to thank her. Three grateful governments—Belgium, Britain, and the United States—have honored the gallant old widow with citations and medals for her valor.

She lives now on a small government pension which she says is all she needs. She does her own housework, reads and sews.

But her son, Leopold, has died since the war and she is now all alone.

Hodges Doubts Outright Repeal Of 'Secrecy Law' Ahead

By LYNN NISBET
GOVERNOR — Governor Hodges' at his second news conference, the first in the regular schedule of twice-week meetings with reporters, reiterated his purpose to keep the people informed as fully and promptly as possible on developments in State government. On some matters, such as probable contents of his messages to the General Assembly and the decisions of the advisory budget commission on new tax sources, he indicated it would be improper to give advance information.

He said he expects to release, as soon as available, reports and recommendations of the special study commissions on reorganization of State government; institutions of higher education; public school laws and others authorized by the Legislature.

In answer to a direct question of his opinion on the "secrecy law" enacted by the last Legislature and probability of its repeal, he said this was a situation on which everybody seemed to be agreed in principle, although differing in methods of approach.

He indicated doubt that the Legislature would "back track" with outright repeal, but suggested the need for some sort of workable compromise, whereby there could be off-record debate of the appropriations bill in committee but without the idea of secrecy.

It has been rumored that several members have repeal bills prepared ready for introduction the first day of the session, and the issue is expected to occasion one of the earliest and perhaps bitterest fights of the session.

As Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate in 1953, Hodges did not take a public position on the question. His policy as chairman of the State Board of Education was for fully open sessions, except where evaluation reports on textbooks and similar confidential matters were under discussion.

STUDIES — The Governor reported on the activities of his first week in office. These activities were related almost wholly to studying the State organizational set up. He had conferred with numerous department heads, and has other similar conferences scheduled, seeking an understandable and working basis of cooperation among them.

He said he told them he expects each official to do the best possible job, shouldering as much responsibility as the constitution or statutes permit, bringing to the Governor's desk only the more important matters or those involving more than one agency.

He also is studying his own office with the view of eliminating some of the work which has been imposed by custom and tradition, rather than by legal authority. He is giving thought to the employment of an additional secretary or aide to relieve him and Secretary Ed Rankin of some of the office routine.

He disclosed that he has asked the William Rodman commission on re-organization to give further study to the Governor's office and the question of separating the prison system from the highway department.

On that latter point he stands by statements made while he was Lieutenant Governor that he favors the principle of separation and an independent prison system. "I definitely think the time has come for North Carolina to indicate that is the direction to follow; but I would be the last man to say that we should take a knife and slice the existing system," he said.

He is not sure whether he will make a positive and forceful recommendation for legislative redistricting by the next Assembly. (It was not discussed at the news conference, but the idea has been suggested elsewhere that redistricting for the 1956 election might be used as effective argument to prevent redistricting after the 1960 census, and that for practical purposes and the benefit of equitable apportionment, it might be better to postpone revision now.)

CONSTITUTIONAL — Advocates of immediate reapportionment of legislative representation, in both House and Senate, contend that the constitution requires it. Opponents of changing the present allocation of legislators to the several counties and districts contend that the constitution required it to be done in 1951, and that it would be unconstitutional to attempt it now.

The same group in 1951 argued that official figures of the 1950 census had not been certified before that Legislature adjourned.

The 1953 Legislature also refused to comply with the reapportionment provision of the constitution, but submitted instead an amendment which would have

NO LIMIT TO TIME BUYING

The Hope Diamond was sold on the installment plan when purchased in 1912 by the McLean family according to 1951 argued Federation of Retail Association.

Down payment was $20,000 with the balance of $180,000 in not-so-easy monthly installments. This gives appliance, jewelry and other mere dabblers in time-buying something really big to shoot at.

Restraint Urged N. C. Baptist Convention Over Desegregation

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Dr. James W. Storer, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Dr. Edward H. Pruden, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Washington, D.C., addressed a record crowd at the 124th annual session of the North Carolina Baptist Convention here today.

More than 2,900 messengers and visitors attended the final sessions, breaking last year's record of 2,675, set at Greensboro.

Yesterday the convention adopted a report closely paralleling one adopted by the Southern Baptist Convention last June in St. Louis, calling for "restrained emotions" on the issue of segregation.

The convention also approved a continuing crusade against liquor, legalized gambling and sex in literature.

As expected, the Rev. Douglas M. Branch of Rocky Mount was re-elected president of the convention without opposition.

Moves to debate the segregation report by the Committee on Social Service and Civic Righteousness were beaten down when President Branch ruled objections out of order.

"The report does not commit the convention as being either for or against segregation," he pointed out.

The report stated that members of both the white and Negro races are involved in bringing about satisfactory relations. "At the local, as well as the state level, citizens should meet to talk, plan and enact for the good of all. Christians must view others having equal worth of equal rights and responsibilities," it said.

Last night Oklahoma Rep. Tom Steed declared during a speech on religious liberty, that "hordes of people are descending on Washington today seeking to besmirch and degrade the United States Senate. This is an example of a Fascist movement . . . well-organized and well-directed . . . going under the banner of McCarthyism."

The greatest reason for our freedom, he said, is the separation of church and state.

"To remove, destroy, weaken or change our concept of separation of church and state will, I believe, prove our undoing . . ."

"I challenge you to show me a graduate of a parochial school who believes in the separation of church and state," Steed continued.

"When I was in service in India in World War II, three million people died of starvation in 90 days. India has a perfect mixing of church and state and they have the most miserable existence on earth."

"Twenty-three states are already giving a part of their tax funds to parochial schools in one form or another. Many counties in these states no longer have a single state-supported school left. This is giving away part of our freedom."

Departing from his prepared text and directing his closing remarks more personally to his listeners, Steed declared that "when you permit yourself to turn away, mentally or physically, from the ways of free men, you have accepted partial slavery."

Earlier, Dr. Baker James Cauten of Richmond, Va., head of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board, called on messengers to double the present rate of missionary appointments.

"We are deeply convinced that many young people already in Christian work should consider a call to the mission field," he said.

He also expressed hope that many of the 10,000 ministerial students now enrolled in Baptist colleges and seminaries would turn to missionary work.

Mrs. Spilman Guest Speaker At Sappho Club

The Sappho Book Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Larry Averette on Monday, November 15, at 8:30. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Averette and invited into the living room. There they were introduced to Mrs. J. B. Spilman, speaker for the afternoon.

Mrs. Jim Walters invited the members into the dining room where they were served hot tea, party cakes and assorted sandwiches from a lovely table centered with fall flowers and candles.

Mrs. Russell Knowles of Washington, N. C. poured tea.

Mrs. Spilman in her usual charming manner gave a very amusing and informative review of the popular Broadway play, "The Tea House of the August Moon," by John Patrick. This play has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize. Mrs. Spilman's review was greatly enjoyed by all present.

After a short business meeting books were exchanged and the meeting adjourned to meet again in December.

Mrs. Hall Presents Program For Sans Souci Club

The Sans Souci Book Club was delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon, November 16, by Mrs. W. H. Hall at her home on Fourth St. The hospitable home was made all the more inviting with lovely fall flowers, completely dispelling the gloomy weather outside.

The tea being held on Wednesday at the library celebrating its fiftieth anniversary was again brought to the attention of the members. Mrs. Cuthbert gave the club a preview of some of the coming attractions to be given at the college before Christmas. This was particularly interesting and will no doubt cause members of the club to keep those dates open.

The hostess was in charge of the program and presented Mrs. W. L. Hall, one of Sans Souci's own members, as her guest speaker. Mrs. Hall gave the club one of the most delightful programs that it has yet enjoyed. She read excerpts from letters written to her last summer by her daughter, Miss Jane Hall, who spent two months touring Europe.

Into the descriptions of the places she visited she wove so much of the history of the past that it was in no sense a mere travelogue. And most delightful of all her descriptions were so graphically given that her hearers felt that they had really shared them with her. Her description of the thrill that was hers upon hearing at Eastertide the great "Messiah" of Handel was a little gem as she wrote of it to her mother. Club members felt indebted to Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hall, but especially to Jane for this so ably written account of her European tour.

During an enjoyable social hour, the hostess served a delicious salad course with coffee.

Foreign Mission Study Discussed At W.S.C.S. Meeting

GRIFTON—On Monday night the general meeting for the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church was held at the church. Mrs. John T. Oglesby, president, called the meeting to order and the devotional was led by Mrs. Courtney Patrick. Reports were given on circle meetings by Mrs. Roy Jackson, Mrs. R. C. Mooney and Mrs. J. C. Hooten.

At the program hour Mrs. Cecil Cobb and Mrs. Roy Jackson led in an interesting discussion on the foreign mission study of India, Pakistan and Ceylon. This study is based on the book "Under Three Flags" by Stephen Neill. This study is trying to develop an appreciation of these three countries and their place in the world and the missionary movement and Christian accomplishments and to decide what American Christians should try to do about these things in the future. Flags of the three countries were shown and these emblems explained. The form of governments were discussed and the religions prevailing there. A continuation of the study will be given Sunday night at 7 o'clock. The entire W.S.C.S. is asked to attend.

Dr. Wolverton Is Guest Speaker At Book Club Meeting

The End of the Century Book Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. A. D. Frank on Tuesday, November 16. The house was decorated throughout with chrysanthemums.

A short business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Spilman. A cordial welcome was extended Mrs. W. M. Howard, who was a guest for the afternoon. Mrs. Bancroft Moseley was thanked by the president for her efforts in organizing plans for the tea at the library celebrating its fiftieth anniversary.

Mrs. Frank presented Dr. W. I. Wolverton who spoke on "Problems of Disunity in the Churches." Dr. Wolverton recently having attended a meeting of World Council of Churches in Chicago, gave excerpts from two papers. One paper was given at the Anglican Congress, Minneapolis, Minn., and the other at the Second Assembly of World Council of Churches. Dr. Wolverton concluded with his own version stating that he believes people are coming closer together as a church and hopes it will not be too many years until they are united.

Annual Roll Call Of Greenville W.C.T.U.

The Greenville Chapter of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the home of Mrs. J. N. Williams, 422 W. Fifth St., Friday evening at 7:30. The W.C.T.U. believes the organization was born of God. We know that it was born in prayer and on the altars of the church. This organization of Christian women, banded together for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's Golden Rule in custom and in law, has been blessed throughout the 80 years of its history, with a leadership which would indicate a Divine direction. Every Christian woman should have a part in this great organization. You are invited to attend this annual roll call meeting.

MRS. LELA CARSON
President of the W.C.T.U.

Presbyterian Church Men Elect Officers At Wednesday Meet

The Men's Fellowship Club of the First Presbyterian Church held its monthly meeting Wednesday night in the Fellowship Hall, with forty-two men present.

Officers for the year 1955 were elected: President, Dr. S. R. Bartlett; Vice-President, Dr. W. C. Humber; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Robert L. Elks.

Circle No. 2 of the Women of the Church served a turkey supper. The program consisted of a panel discussion on the subject of "Religion in the Public Schools." Dr. John Bennett of East Carolina College, Mr. June Rose, Superintendent of the City Schools, Dr. Earl Trevathan, Dr. E. W. Hirschberg, moderator, presented the subject in a very interesting manner. Discussion followed the speeches.

Recently the Men's Bible Class elected the following officers: President, D. A. Blue; Vice-president, H. H. Bryant; Secretary-Treasurer, H. L. Lewis. The Men's Bible Class meets in the Fellowship Hall every Sunday morning, 9:45 o'clock. The Men's Fellowship Club meets every third Wednesday night 6:45 o'clock for supper, fellowship and program.

Color Slides Shown Of Trip To West Coast

ROBERSONVILLE—The Book Lover's Club met Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 9, at the home of Mrs. I. L. Smith.

Lovely arrangements of fall flowers and plants were used throughout the house.

After a brief business session Mrs. C. A. Roberson opened the program with a short Thanksgiving devotional.

The hostess presented Mrs. J. C. Smith, who told about her trip to San Francisco last summer to visit her son, Dr. Chandler Smith. She left Chicago on the California Zephyr and enjoyed the wonderful scenery enroute as viewed from the Vista Dome. She gave a vivid description of the many places of interest visited in San Francisco. She also told of trip through Oregon and Washington and into Vancouver, B. C.

At the conclusion of her talk beautiful color slides were shown. Her narration of the film was most interesting and informative.

A delicious sweet course with coffee emphasizing the Thanksgiving motif was served. Mrs. Robert Adkins and Mrs. Barney Stokes assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Gilbert Smith was a guest for the afternoon.

SOCIAL SECURITY

If you are a self-employed farm operator with earnings of $400 or more in a year, you should get a social security card, unless you already have one. The place to get it is your nearest social security office. There is no charge. If you once had a card, but lost it, tell your social security office that you want a duplicate.

You do not report or pay a social security tax on your 1954 earnings. Early in 1956, you make a social security report of your 1955 earnings and pay the tax on them. This report is a part of the income-tax return.

It is highly important that you show your social security account number on your report as that number identifies your individual account and makes it possible to credit your account correctly. Your benefits are figured from this account.

The amount you report is your net earnings — or profit — after you subtract your farm expenses from your gross income. But if your gross income is $1800 or less, and you report on the cash basis, you have the choice between reporting your actual net earnings or reporting half of the gross income. You can report either way.

If your gross income is over $1,800, you must figure your actual net earnings. If these net earnings are less than $900, you have a choice. You may report either the actual amount or $900.

Since the above is a part of a series designed primarily to acquaint the reader of the affects of the amended social security law upon farm operators, and farm employees and employers, if you have missed any of the series or want the full facts, write to Social Security Administration, Rocky Mount, North Carolina. Ask for booklet, "Facts for Farm Families."

Teachers Attend Art Workshop

First grade teachers in the Pitt County schools attended an art workshop conducted by city school art supervisor James Walker in the science room at Wahl-Coates Laboratory School this afternoon.

The teachers participated in numerous activities they can in turn take back to their classrooms for use with their first graders. Varied art media including crayon, finger-paint and tempera paint were used, with demonstrations given in easel work and cutting.

The teachers also discussed what makes up a good program in art for first grade students.

United States Tour By Dutch Orchestra

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Have you seen the four big buses named "Fraas Hals," "Rembrandt," "Van Gogh" and "Vermeer"?

Perhaps they were peeding along a highway in your state, or parked at your concert hall.

The Vermeer is the luggage carrier. The Hals, Rembrandt and Van Gogh are for the 100 or so members of the Amsterdam Concertgebouw orchestra now visiting more than 40 U.S. cities on its first tour of this country.

Or you might call it the old Dutch masters taking the young Dutch masters for a ride—for the Concertgebouw is regarded as one of the two greatest orchestras in Europe.

It is practically a 98 per cent Dutch orchestra, 1 per cent German, thanks to one oboe player, and 1 per cent American, thanks to one double bass, Bernard Spieler, native of New York.

Eduard van Beinum, the conductor, said on his way through here for his tour:

"I am free to engage non-Dutch players if I cannot get the Dutch players I need."—Europeans watch the nationality of orchestra members much more strictly than we do in this country.

And aren't there plenty of Dutchmen? "In the last few years it has been difficult to find good musicians," van Beinum acknowledged. "But not really harder than it ever was. For a period of a few years there may be excellent oboes, then fine violins. The trouble is, there are often fine violins just when I want a fine oboe. They come in surges."

"There are many good young musicians in my country now," he continued. "And since the war there has been a great increase in public interest. That is due to the fact that during the war the people had only music to go to. They got the habit, and the appetite."

With his sweep of black hair, his classic profile, and his mobile and expressive features—for shushing the violin, when the audience behind him can't see, or for stepping up some other choir—van Beinum could not be mistaken for anything but a conductor.

But he comes by the professional look honestly, for there's music in the van Beinum blood, and it's been there for generations. His father, grandfather and great-grandfather all worked at it; one ancestor was a military band leader in Holland, another was Napoleon's own bandmaster in France, and traveled around on imperial campaigns.

Van Beinum himself began studying violin and piano, and conducted first in Haarlem, Holland's Haarlem, not New York's. He joined the Concertgebouw as Willem Mengelberg's assistant in 1931 and is now, at 53, in his 10th year as conductor. He does half the concerters here, and Rafael Kubelik, his regular guest conductor in Amsterdam, the other half.

Is the quality of his orchestra French, German, or what?

"It was distinctively German under Mengelberg, of course, but now it's mixed. The high horns are B-flat, or German, and the clarinets are German. The trumpets are American or English, but the playing is French. The oboes are French."

Some lucky Americans heard him guest-conduct the Philadelphia orchestra here last season. Many others, know his recordings—which he makes, he says, with the orchestra playing right in the middle of his own hall where, he believes he gets the best, most rounded sound.

"The ideal concert is not longer than 90 minutes," he believes. "I sometimes do a Bruckner, which may run to 60 or 70 minutes, and nothing else. I prefer quality to quantity." He hasn't scheduled any Bruckner here.

Must Be Legal If Put In Punch

COLUMBIA (AP)—An illegal liquor possession charge was dismissed against a farmer here when his wife testified she bought the beverage to put in punch for a church benefit supper.

State Circuit Judge J. Robert Martin directed the verdict. The woman reported the supper netted $15 for her church.

She Stayed, He Changed Mind

CINCINNATI (AP)—Despondent because he was separated from his wife, Cecil Hamm, 24, last September threatened to jump from a bridge here. Today he is in the workhouse for chasing her with a knife.

He was sentenced to 10 days on an assault and battery charge after his wife Hattie said he dragged her outside her home here last weekend and chased her with a knife. They have been separated.

School Supervisors Return From Meet

Miss Annie Lee Jones and Mrs. Edna Earle Baker, Pitt County school supervisors, have returned home after attending the annual conference of supervisors and directors of instruction of the North Carolina Education Association held in Southern Pines Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

One hundred seventy-seven persons were registered for the conference, including 123 supervisors and directors of instruction, 26 representatives from the State Department of Public Instruction and 28 supervisors of special subjects.

Headquarters were at the Hollywood Hotel with the general sessions held in the Weaver Auditorium of Southern Pines High School.

As president of the Northeastern District of the NCEA Miss Jones, who is also secretary-treasurer of the state organization, reported on "Activities or Ways of Improving Activities in our District Supervisors' Organizations." The five other NCEA district presidents gave similar reports.

Miss Jones emphasized in her account the "value of the cooperation of East Carolina College with the local district's activities." She named Dr. J. D. Messick, president of the college, who has been a dinner speaker for the group; Dean Leo W. Jenkins, who has been a luncheon speaker; and Dr. Eva Williamson, who has met with the group on two occasions as being particularly helpful in the organization's activities.

Greetings were extended the group by Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State Superintendent of Public Instruction with the key address at the meeting delivered by Dr. Jane

Turkey Escapes Dinner Table

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP) — A white hen turkey that believes in celebrating Thanksgiving alive has eluded a small army of searchers, including the dogcatcher, for the last four days.

The 10-pound turkey escaped from Mrs. Ola Cunningham and took to the hills.

It's been seen frequently, turkey-trotting across the hills. But never when a hunter approaches. Both Mrs. Cunningham, footsore from searching, and baffled dogcatcher Burt Casteel testify to this. But no sooner have the hunters given up than the turkey is reported seen again.

It requires 750 gallons of water to produce a ton of portland cement.

Reports Lead On Measles Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A possible lead towards developing a preventive vaccine against measles has been reported by Dr. John F. Enders of Harvard Medical School, who won a Nobel prize for his polio research.

He announced last night "very suggestive" evidence of the long-sought isolation of the elusive measles virus—and of possible means for its laboratory growth. The method described uses a "tissue culture" method like that which paved the way for development of the Salk vaccine for polio.

Enders told an audience of scientists at the National Institutes of Health that he and some co-workers had isolated from throat washings and blood of measles patients "an agent" which has passed certain tests indicating it may be the actual causative organism of measles.

It remains to be proved, he said, that it actually is the measles virus—and such proof must await production of measles in an experimental animal with the new-found agent.

He said that if proof is established, it might then be possible to:

1. Use the virus to test the potency of various preparations of gamma globulin, a blood derivative that can mitigate and sometimes even prevent measles if administered at the proper time.
2. Develop a skin test for determining immunity or susceptibility to measles.
3. Produce a vaccine that would give long lasting immunity to the disease. (Gamma globulin, even when it prevents the disease, provides relatively short-lasting protection).

Praise Officer On Trial For Maltreating His Men

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A young Army lieutenant on military trial for maltreatment of enlisted men has been described by two senior officers at Camp Gordon as an outstanding officer who "shaped up" a previously shoddy company of trainees.

Their testimony came yesterday after three privates took the stand to tell of incidents that occurred when 2nd Lt. Charles G. Anderson was assigned to Company A following his graduation from officer candidate school at Ft. Benning.

Pvt. James M. Blount, New York City, told the court-martial that Anderson ordered him to shove dirt on Pvt. Rodney R. Steele, 24, Montgomery, Ala., while the company was on bivouac. Blount said he covered Steele with dirt but that the lieutenant, noting Steele's face uncovered except for pinneedles, ordered that dirt be thrown over his face.

Anderson also has been accused of having one trainee strung up by his ankles, of having another scrubbed with sand in a wet rag, and of having two others climb a tree and shout an obscene and self-abusive phrase.

Lt. Col. Morris B. Montgomery testified that Anderson and Lt. Robert Penland of the same company were "the two most outstanding officers I had in my command" who were not already company commanders. Montgomery is commanding officer of the 1st Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Gordon.

Col. James O. Wade said Company A was "less responsive than any other during my regime" before Anderson was assigned to it. He said that under Anderson and Penland the trainees soon "looked like a seasoned outfit."

Wade has been removed as commanding officer of the replacement training center at Camp Gordon. The Army said the action was taken because of his failure to act quickly on charges against Anderson.

In a statement earlier, Anderson said he tried to make certain that trainees under his command were prepared for combat.

Took 90 Of His Employees, Too

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A Richmond pharmaceutical manufacturer closed down his plant at 5 p.m. yesterday. Four hours later he boarded a train headed for Miami, Fla.

But E. Claiborne Robins wasn't alone. Exactly 99 of his employees thought the trip was a good idea and took the train with the boss for a four-day vacation in Miami Beach. Robins will foot the bills.

"Everybody ought to take time off and have a little fun now and then," he explained.

Three special coaches were chartered to take the party South. The group will stay at two swanky hotels at Robins' expense. The boss gave each employe $100 for spending money.

The vacation schedule includes a cruise on Biscayne Bay, a cocktail party, sightseeing and a night club tour. Some employes also have arranged to see Friday night's Alabama-Miami football game.

This is Robins' third all-expense-paid vacation for his employes. He took them to New York City in 1949 and 1951.

The owl was the badge of ancient Athens.

Newcomers Will Play Important Role In East Carolina's Basketball Games

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer
The 1954-55 sports edition of the East Carolina Pirates will have a slight advantage over last year's club which all but held a monopoly on league wins in that the current team will not be picked to win everything on their schedule.
Coach Howard Porter, who directed last year's basketball team to the winningest season ever recorded by an East Carolina five, figures the loss of the All-Staters and the best "sixth" man in the conference will drop his Pirates behind at least two aggregations in the pre-season seedings.
Porter sees the race dominated by Atlantic Christian, Lenoir Rhyne and Western Carolina in that order. He tags Elon the loop darkhorse and expects High Point and Catawba to be greatly improved. His own club: "We're in the process of rebuilding. Our team will come from mostly freshmen. We're like Mc-

Quire (UNC's Frank McQuire) in that we're two or three years away yet from being serious contenders, but we'll play entertaining basketball."
Missing from this year's 23-1 club will be North Carolina's all-time high collegiate scorer and Pirate captain Bobby Hodges. Also, losses by graduation of Charlie Huffman and Paul Jones will create a big problem for the Pirate mentor. Letterman who will provide the nucleus this season include Cecil Heath of Wilmington, J. C. Thomas of Raleigh, Don Harris of Laurinburg, William McArthur of Fayetteville and Waverly Atkins of Fuquay Springs.
Coach Porter has a splendid array of freshmen who should go a long way in offsetting the losses. The notable include Guy Mendenhall, 6-5 center-forward from Cary. The lean sharpshooter was All-State last season performing with his championship prep team. Marion Hales, 6-4 center from Wilmington, has returned from a hitch in the service and should constitute strength up the middle. Fred James, 6-2 forward from Churchland, Va., has been an outstanding spark in recent drills. Coach Porter says the lithe cager is the best shot he has ever seen. Carrel Nichols, 6-4 forward from Leaksville, is another who has shown uncommon basketball prowess. An expert tip-in man, he hits the basket with uncanny accuracy. Jerry Bosquet of Haw River stands 6-4 and has come around impressively since workouts began. Maurice Everette of Robersonville and Waddell Solomon of Greensboro are another twosome making strong bids for playing time.

Coach Porter said today that one of the starting forwards will come from freshmen and in the place of Hodges at center he's trying to fill in with boys of just average height. The guards will be experienced with dependables Heath and Thomas around. But these two averaged less than 10 points respectively last season.
"We should be better on reserves," Porter pointed out "but when you lose guys like Huffman, Hodges, and Jones you're in for a long season. We'll be satisfied if we win 12 of our 22 scheduled games."
The Bucs open their schedule December 4 at Guilford. Catawba opens the home card on Dec. 10 in Memorial Gym. Sixteen of the games are with North State Conference opponents, and the remainder are outside the loop with Erskine, Presbyterian, Belmont Abbey and McCrary Eagles.

The schedule:
Dec. 4 - Guilford, there.
Dec. 10 - Catawba, home.
Dec. 11 - Lenoir Rhyne, home.
Dec. 15 - Erskine, home.
Dec. 17 - Appalachian, home.

Boudreau Says Building Ahead

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lou Boudreau, the new manager of the Kansas City Athletics, sees a big rebuilding program job ahead but he's hopeful the change of scenery will stimulate the club.
Boudreau, who signed a two-year contract yesterday, said he believes the Athletics will do much better here than in Philadelphia where they wound up in the American League cellar last season.
"I think the enthusiasm of the Kansas City fans will bring a change in the club's attitude," Boudreau said. "I believe there will be more effort put out and that the club will show general improvement. I'm not comparing this situation with Milwaukee, though. You have to remember that they had a sound ball club when the move was made from Boston."
The Milwaukee Braves climbed from seventh place in the National League to second in their first season at Milwaukee.
Injuries were costly to Philadelphia last season. Pitcher Bobby Shantz, a 24-game winner in 1952, had an ailing shoulder. Pitcher Alex Kellner, a 20 game winner in 1949, developed a sore arm. Gus Zernial, the A's slugging outfielder, broke his collar bone. Catcher Billy Shantz, Bobby's younger brother, suffered a fractured finger.

Stokes Drops 2 To Bethel Cagers

BETHEL — Stokes High dropped both ends of a basketball double-header here Tuesday night to Bethel in a Pitt County Conference game.
The home club won the girls contest 74-47 and the boys game 63-50, neither team being pushed much for the victories.
In the opener, Mary Jo Wynne, Bethel's sensational sharpshooter, tallied 48 points to lead the way. The remarkable cager was high unstopable in racking up her greatest point total of the young season. Guards Whitehurst, Ann Riddick and Mary Whitehurst turned in good defensive games for the winners. Stokes' L. Harris led her team's scoring with 19 points followed by J. Bullock with 17.
Score by periods:
Stokes 10-14-7-16: 47
Bethel 15-17-25-17: 74
The Bethel boys divided the scoring up with Latham getting 14, Anderson 10, White 8 and Keel 7. High scorer for Stokes was James with 16. Perkins and Pridden added 10 and 11 apiece. Whitehurst played a good defensive game for the visitors and Briley and Anderson performed well on defense for the winners.
Score by periods:
Bethel 17-10-22-14: 63
Stokes 11-11-15-13: 50

Carter Regains His Lightweight Crown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The world, lightweight boxing championship was back in familiar surroundings today—in the possession of Jimmy Carter of New York.
The 30-year-old kingpin from Harlem regained the title last night when he battered Paddy DeMarco of Brooklyn into a mess and submission in the 15th and final round of a bruising, savagely fought battle in the vast Coo Palace.
Referee Ray Flores halted the massacre.
Paddy, 26, making the first defense of the championship he captured from Jimmy in New York last March 5, was out on his feet, his left eye swollen and all but shut and his cheek rapidly assuming a deep blue shade.
Carter now stands as the only lightweight king to win the crown three times. He won it originally from Ike Williams in 1951, lost it to Lauro Salas in 1952, regained it six months later and then surrendered the honor to his rival from Brooklyn.
Twice Carter had his man on the deck—from a whistling left hook to the chin in the ninth for a four-count, and with a barrage of punches just as the bell ended the 14th.
The knockdown in the ninth, the second in Paddy's career of some 8 fights, signaled the outcome. The battering in the 14th spelled out the finish and actually the technical knockout in the 15th was anticlimactic.
Carter called his victory the biggest thrill since he started boxing in 1946.
His manager Willie Ketchum said he has no immediate plans for Jimmy but he is definitely interested in a title match with one of the nation's newest television attractions, California's Cisco Andrade.
Bitter criticism of Referee Ray Flores came from the DeMarco camp. Paddy accused Flores of "pushing" him. "He had me off balance all night," Paddy charged, referring to Flores' efforts to separate the men in the clinching.
"The referee wouldn't let me fight inside," Paddy said. "I'll fight Carter any time. In three weeks, if he wants to. I know I can beat him any time."

Middies Rated Top Defensive Tea In Nation

NEW YORK (AP)—Not that it needs it, but the Army-Navy football classic at Philadelphia Nov. 27 got yet another boost as a gate attraction today as the Midshipmen returned to the top of the list of the nation's leading defensive units among major colleges.
That information, supplied by NCAA statisticians, sets up the Philadelphia struggle as a test of the leading offensive and defensive eleven.
Navy took over the No. 1 spot in total defense by holding Columbia to 14 yards last weekend. That reduced the Middies' allowance average to 168.9 yards a game. Army is entrenched as the leading total offense club, 459.4 yards a game, and also as the top rushing team, 29.1 yards a game.
The versatile Midshipmen, meanwhile are No. 2 in total offense (401.) and third in rushing defense, allowing 82 yards a contest.

Early Peek

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A Collier's magazine naming the publisher's 65th all-star football team arrived here this week, for some mysterious reason.
A mail subscriber received the Dec. 10 issue of Collier's at Memorial Hospital here Monday. It's the only one in town.
There was no immediate comment from Collier publishers in New York.
The magazine's star team, which everybody in this small town knows by now:
Ends — Max Boydston, Oklahoma; Don Hollender, Army.
Tackles — Jack Ellena, UCLA; Sid Fournet, LSU.
Guards — Jim Salisbury, UCLA; Bud Brooks, Arkansas.
Center — Kurt Burris, Oklahoma.
Quarterback — Ralph Guglielmi, Notre Dame.
Halfbacks — Dick Moegle, Rice; Howard Cassidy, Ohio State.
Fullback — Alan Ameche, Wisconsin.

Yanks Make Sweeping Deal With Orioles; Get Hurlers

By ED WILKS
NEW YORK (AP)—In a move to revamp their pitching staff in one sweeping deal, the New York Yankees have picked up Bullet Bob Turley and Don Larsen, a pair of young right-handers from the Baltimore Orioles.
The trade may involve as many as 12 players. The Associated Press learned from an authoritative source.
In addition to Turley and Larsen, perhaps the most promising of the young pitchers sprinkled among the also-ran teams of the American League, the Yanks also reportedly received shortstop Billy Hunter.
In return, the Yankees, who had made repeated inquiries about all three Orioles in the past, gave up veteran outfielder Gene Woodling, pitcher Harry Byrd, first baseman Eddie Robinson, utility infielder Willie Miranda and Jim McDonald, a 4-1 right-hander. Several minor league players also are said to be involved.
The deal—one of baseball's biggest in recent years—was expected to be confirmed today in two separate press conferences called by the Yankees and Orioles.
Two of the minor league players are believed to be catchers—Gus Triandos, who played at Kansas City last season, and Hal Smith of Columbus (Ohio).

Neither Turley nor Larsen had impressive won-lost records with the seventh-place Orioles. But Turley, 24, powered his fireball for a league-leading strikeout total of 184 and had an earned-run average of 3.46 while winning 14 and losing 15.
Larsen, 26 had a miserable record, winning only 3 of 24 decisions.

Injury Jinx Hits ACC Basketball Team This Week

WILSON, N.C. — The injury jinx hit the Atlantic Christian College basketball team this week as the Bulldogs prepared for their season's opener here Friday night against the Lynchburg College basketball team in the ACC gym.
Charles Hutchins, 6-4 sophomore forward and one of Coach Jack McComas' top reserves this season, suffered a leg fracture in a practice session this week.
Physicians said Hutchins would be out of action from four to six weeks because of the fracture of a bone just below his right knee.
The game Friday night will be ACC's annual Homecoming contest. Coach McComas will work his boys out for the last time tonight in preparation for the opener against the visitors from Virginia.

but still was held in high regard by the league. One of his victories was a shutout against the second-place Yanks, who lost out in the pennant race for the first time since 1949.
The Yanks lost little in giving up Byrd, who finished with a so-so 9-7 record that fell far below the Yanks' expectations when they picked up the 30-year-old hurler along with Robinson in an 11-player deal with the Philadelphia Athletics last winter.
Woodling, 32, a Yankee for the past six years was hobbled by injuries last season and batted only .250—his lowest mark in nine major league seasons.
Hunter, 26, has two major league seasons behind him with the St. Louis Browns, forerunners of the Orioles, as "a new Marty Marion." Not a hitter, he batted .244 last season. He has proved promising in the field and could be the Yanks' replacement for veteran Phil Rizzuto.

Blue Devils Can Bolster Bowl Chance Saturday

DURHAM (AP)—Duke can enhance its chances for an Orange Bowl bid with a win here Saturday over South Carolina, one of two big obstacles in the Blue Devils' path.
A loss, however would virtually remove Duke from the bowl picture. Both Maryland and Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference's top teams, are unbeaten in conference play, but Maryland has a 13-13 tie with Wake Forest on its record.
The Terps, ranked 13th in the nation, have closed their conference season with a 4-0-1 record. Duke, which defeated Wake Forest last week, 28-21 has two conference wins and faces rival North Carolina next week.
The conference will decide which team will represent it in the Orange Bowl against a team from the Big Seven.

Geese Population Said Booming

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's wild geese population is booming, wildlife specialists say. Dr. Miles D. Pirnie of Michigan State College said Canada geese nested in at least 15 counties last spring.

We bring you THE 1955 BUICK

New thriller in Style - Power - Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.
You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.
New horsepower — up to 236
You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepower of every Buick V8 engine—a wallowing 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.
And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.
But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.
Up goes performance — and gas mileage too
When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.
You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.
You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."
In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.
And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try
Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrills to these spectacular cars.
But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

The Inheritors

JANE ABBOTT

If the three heirs to old Josh Trevitt's sleek upstate New York farm remain on it for at least three months after his death, each will inherit one-third of the land. Those leaving sooner must relinquish their share or shares to those remaining, final resident to be awarded the entire farm. So when old Josh died, his kin were notified and copies of his will mailed them. In the late spring, we find Jennie Todd, an inheritor, a spinster, at the Trevitt place, making ready her quarters in the rambling old farmhouse, and being assisted by Wick Middleton, executor of the Trevitt estate. Cindy Todd, a pretty little motherless teen-ager, joins her Aunt Jenny at the farm, to file claim for her "missing" father's share of the land. She's disappointed at finding this aunt a timid soul, but her day brightens when she meets with Gary Norbeck, who has been assigned a wooded acre on the place.

CHAPTER TEN

Cindy forgot Aunt Jennie until a little later when she saw her at the pump, struggling ineffectually to fill a pail of water.

Kindness suddenly was part of Cindy's lightheartedness. She ran out to the pump. "Let me do that for you, Aunt Jennie!"

She pumped the water, and they went into Jennie's kitchen. Cindy saw no sign of any food. The stove was cold. She cried out, "Aunt Jennie haven't you eaten anything?"

Jennie's thin face flushed. "Oh, yes—bread and butter. Some jam. I couldn't keep a fire going—it just smoked."

"I'll take a try at it!"

She noticed that the draught was closed. But she did not speak of it. She adjusted it, selected quick kindling, set a match to it. Almost at once there was a blaze. "Do you want some tea Aunt Jennie?" Jennie said with a shaky laugh. "I saw what you did—the draught was closed. How stupid of me! Yes, I'll make some tea—I've been longing for it. Thanks." Jennie got up from her chair. "I'm embarrassed, I don't know your name, child."

"Cindy. It's short for Lucinda. That was my mother's name. She died when I was a baby."

"Oh, I—I'm sorry. I didn't know. I'll manage now, Cindy. Don't go to any more bother. And after this I'll open the draught!"

But Cindy lingered, held by some concern for this seemingly helpless aunt.

"She said, 'Don't you think it would be smart for us to have some vegetables growing here handy?'"

"I hadn't thought about it."

"Gary Norbeck said he'd come this afternoon to spade up a space for seeds."

"Gary Norbeck! The man across the creek?"

"I met him this morning. He's awfully nice," said Cindy. "When we start to work, come out and join us!"

"Perhaps—yes, I will."

It took very little to make Cindy happy. So she sang as she prepared herself some lunch, washed her dishes, brushed her hair. And her eyes were aglow when seeing Gary Norbeck emerge from the barn, a spade in his hand, she ran to join him.

He started digging. He went down the length of the spade, and when his next row brought him back to where she was standing, he said: "I brought over some seeds of carrots and beans I had left. It's so late now I think you'd better get onion sets."

"I will. Thanks a lot for the seeds. And when shall I come to you for?"

"When it's convenient for you, Miss Todd."

"Oh, call me Cindy!"

Gary smiled. "By the way, I do not have exclusive rights to that pool—so whenever you are inclined to go swimming in it, please don't hesitate because of what I said."

Then Jennie came out. "Aunt Jennie, this is Mr. Norbeck!"

Jennie said, a little stiffly: "You are very kind to do this work for us, Mr. Norbeck."

Wick Middleton drove in and Cindy called out: "Hi!"

"Hi, yourself, Miss Cindy. Good afternoon, Miss Todd. Thought I'd drive up and check on you both. What's going on?"

He lifted a hand toward Gary, at the far end of his row. "I see you've met Gary Norbeck." He paused but when neither Cindy nor Jennie explained when or how, he went on: "And that you're planning to grow something here."

"Vegetables," announced Cindy.

"Mr. Norbeck very kindly is doing the spading for us," said Jennie Todd.

Wick said: "Cindy I've the promise of two cats for you. And I brought you some books today, Miss Todd."

"Oh—thank you!" said Jennie Todd.

"Miss Todd, your sister arrived last evening—spent the night at my house. She is driving up here this afternoon."

At that moment a big car turned into the driveway. Cindy stared at it, and at the very well-dressed woman who was getting out of it, at a girl her own age. No one had told her there would be another girl here.

Hester came toward them, smiling. "We're here! Jennie, how wonderful that you could come!" She kissed Jennie. "I was so afraid you could not get away! You're sure Miss Millhouse could spare you? You haven't seen Enid for three years, have you? She's a young lady now."

Enid stepped up to Jennie, put her cheek to Jennie's, drew back.

Hester turned to Wick Middleton. "So it is here you are." She glanced at the book Wick had in his arm. "Jennie's been begging some books from you! Jennie, you simply must not bury yourself in books while there is this lovely country to enjoy!"

Cindy, standing behind Wick Middleton was waiting for some recognition from his aunt, or from Enid.

Then Wick Middleton spoke, stepping a little aside as he did so. "This is your niece, Mrs. Wilmer!"

"Oh—yes," Hester Wilmer's eyes went over Cindy. Cindy saw all the pleasantness gone from them. "What do you call yourself?"

"Cindy. It's really Lucinda but no one calls me that."

But Hester Wilmer had turned her back. "Come, Enid, we'll go and look over our wing—let Jennie and Mr. Middleton dispose of their books. It's that farther door, I remember. How familiar everything looks—even after all these years."

She went on ahead of Enid to the door of the north wing. Jennie moved toward her door. Cindy and Wick Middleton followed her with the books. But Cindy dropped hers on the ground, and slipped back out-of-doors. She went to her own part of the old house, shut her door.

Hester and Enid drove to the farm the next day, their bags and a carton of food in the back of the car. Mrs. Carrie Dean on the rear seat with a bundle of cleaning rags which Nettie Middleton had pressed upon Hester.

Hester set Mrs. Dean at once to cleaning the rooming house. She found Enid in the bedroom, looking over it, the bags which she had carried in on the floor in front of her.

"Mother, we can't both sleep in here!"

This was one of the problems which Hester had put off until this morning to face. "I know, dear. It wouldn't be very comfortable for either of us. But it may only be for a week or so." She saw Enid's questioning look, laughed, and said: "Oh, I'm making lovely plans for you, darling! But I can't say anything about them until they are definite. Will you bring in the other bags?"

She smiled after Enid as the girl left the room. She had sent her wire to Miss Alexander. She was confident that Miss Alexander would welcome another member in her group, for she had heard it was not as large as Miss Alexander wished. She could draw a check on Hubert's and her joint account.

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

She murmured the names off to the empty walls of the bedroom. Really she had been inspired to think of this! It was much better for Enid than any art or music school.

Public Forgotten In TV Race For Rating

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks are in a hot war for the first 10 places in the audience popularity ratings but in the heat of battle they seem to have forgotten the viewing public.

Anxious to impress sponsors and affiliated stations the networks pit their strongest shows against the enemy's best to gain places in the coveted "top 10," about which the average viewer knows little and cares less.

The viewer, meanwhile, often finds that two shows he'd like to watch are scheduled at the same time and he has to miss one. On some other nights he finds there's little to attract him on any channel. He's led to wonder why a good new show, when it comes along, isn't scheduled on a dull field day in the ratings.

One example of the way the battle is waged is NBC's new medical documentary Medic, which replaced the Dennis Day Show as opposition to CBS's prized I Love Lucy, perennial occupant of No. 1 spot in audience ratings. There was little expectation that Medic would draw a bigger rating but there was the hope it would pull away enough viewers to cause Lucy to slip to No. 2 or lower — while one or more NBC shows on other nights moved up.

The result: The latest Nielsen rating still puts Lucy in first place but with only 52.9 per cent of TV homes tuned in against 65.9 a year ago, a drop of 13 points. And viewers have to choose between two good shows when many would like to see both. Medic drew more than 25 per cent.

ABC spotted its new hour-long Walt Disney Show Wednesday night so the second half overlaps the Joan Davis Show on NBC and the first half of Arthur Godfrey and His Friends on CBS. While no Nielsen report has been made yet spot checks for ABC by Tenderloin gave the Disney show a bigger audience than the combined CBS and NBC opposition.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned lower in early dealings today after a fast and higher opening.

The lower trend came right after a big burst of trading swamped the tape briefly. It was as much as three minutes late for a brief time in reporting actual floor transactions.

At the start and during the period of congealment, prices were firm. Soon thereafter, however, the trend bent down.

Motors and steels were the most active of major groups with losses running to between 1 and 2 points. Elsewhere in the list gains and losses spread over a range of between 1 and 2 points.

Among significant early blocks were American Telephone 1,500 shares up 1/4 at 173 1/2, Underwood 2,100 up 3/4 at 35 1/2, U.S. Steel 1,500 off 1/2 at 67 3/4, Chrysler 3,500 off 1/2 at 62 1/2, International Telephone 2,700 up 1-4 at 24 3-4 Mission Development 5,000 unchanged at 21 1/2, and General Electric 3,000 off 1/4 at 45 1/2.

No Wake Forest Move Until '56

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Wake Forest College will not move to its new campus at Winston-Salem until 1956, the trustees have voted.

Meeting here yesterday in conjunction with the North Carolina Baptist Convention, the trustees voted to postpone the transfer from Wake Forest, near Raleigh, from 1955 to 1956 because construction cannot be completed on four basic buildings.

Pitt Schools To Close 2 Days For Thanksgiving

All Pitt County schools will be closed next Thursday and Friday in observance of Thanksgiving, it was announced at meetings of white and Negro county principals Tuesday and Wednesday.

Superintendent D. H. Conley said the County Board of Education has ordered the schools closed after classes Wednesday until Monday, November 29. Conley pointed out these are not paid holidays and the days will be made up at the end of the school term.

Both groups discussed the operation of the school buses, particularly in relation to the use of the bus stop sign on the highway. It was revealed there have been complaints of "wangling" the sign, that is, pushing it out and pulling it back without stopping the bus, thus confusing motorists. The principals were asked to talk with their bus drivers and instruct them to be very cautious so as to prevent such confusion in the future.

Attendance Reports

The principals received a recommendation from public welfare superintendent K. T. Futrell on how to handle compulsory attendance reports. The steps Futrell suggests should be followed in making out these reports includes filling out the form completely, giving the date of birth of the child rather than the age; giving the specific dates of absence; giving the complete mailing address and the location of the child's home; noting contacts with the family and their results; and giving recommendation as to prosecution.

Discussions were by both groups held on the filing of basketball rosters for the 1954-55 season. It was pointed out the State Board of Education requires rosters of all high school players participating in the sport be filed, so as to enable checks on eligibility or to answer any questions which might arise in that connection.

Rehabilitation Program

Functions of the vocational rehabilitation office were explained to the white principals by H. A. Hendrix, while W. H. Brown, a field representative of that office, discussed the service's functions at the Negro principals' session.

At the white principals' meeting it was announced College Day, sponsored by the North Carolina College Conference, will be held November 29. Representatives will be in Farmville from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m., and at Greenville High School that afternoon from 1:30 until 3:30. These representatives will be interviewed by the high school juniors and seniors with reference to attending college.

It was also announced at this session the county-wide teachers meeting scheduled for December 1 at Belvoir has been postponed until December 8. Henry McFayden, public relations director for the NCEA, will be the principal speaker.

Evaluation Sheets

The Negro principals were presented sheets setting up standards by which they may operate. The sheets are to direct their thinking to the basic principles of good school administration. Superintendent Conley pointed out.

These principals also discussed strengthening the instructional program in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. It was pointed out there seems to be a considerable number of drop-outs in these classes.

Mrs. M. L. Blount, Negro school supervisor, talked with the principals on some of the problems she has encountered in her work, particularly the incomplete immunization record of students. All students are required by law to be immunized for typhoid, diphtheria and smallpox, while immunization for whooping cough is recommended. This service is performed free of charge by the county Health Department.

Yoshida's Party Said Anxious To Restore Powers

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's Liberal party wants to revise the war-renouncing constitution and restore Japan's right to create a "minimum strength of armed forces adequate for national health," the Tokyo Shimbun reported today.

The Liberal party also wants to change the Emperor's status from symbol of state to monarch, restoring a part of his prewar powers, the newspaper said.

Another proposed change would permit a daughter of an Emperor to ascend the throne if he had no sons.

Japan's occupation-sponsored constitution renounced war and rearmament, and made the Emperor a symbol of state without any rights of a ruler.
