Two Depart For Nat'l 4-H Congress

Two Pitt County 4-H youths left this morning for the 4-H National Congress at Chicago where, as state winners, they will compete for national honors with their livestock conservation demonstration.

The two, Teddy Allen, of the Farmville 4-H Club and now attending N. C. State College and Jimmy Hendrix, of the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club, won out for state honors with their joint exhibit recently. The win entitled them to the trip to Chicago and a chance to win in the national contest.

The pair left this morning for Raleigh where, along with other 4-H state winners, they will be honored at the State Recognition Day. From there the entire group will travel by bus to Petersburg, Virginia, where they will board a train for Chicago. The North Carolina 4-H'ers are scheduled to return on December 4.

If the Pitt County pair should win the blue or top award in the livestock conservation class at the national congress they will receive college scholarships. Red winners will receive gold watches. In addition all participants in the congress will be competing for the purple award for the most outstanding demonstration at the congress.

Both Hendrix and Allen have been active in 4-H work.

Young Hendrix is president of the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club and vice-president of the Pitt 4-H County Council. He was voted the most outstanding 4-H Club boy for 1953 and was a scholarship winner to the 4-H Wildlife Camp this year.

In addition the 4-H youth was a blue award winner in health activities for the state this year and took part in the state health coronation at Raleigh during award week. Hendrix served as a delegate to the National 4-H Congress in 1953 and was state champion in home grounds beautification that year.

He is a senior at Greenville High School this year.

Teddy Allen is a freshman at State College this year. Last year he was president of the Farmville 4-H Club and also president of the Pitt 4-H County Council.

The 4-H'ers are being accompanied to Chicago by Assistant Farm Agent C. J. Goodman.

Action On Planned Fire Sub-Station Is Tabled By Board

By ALVIN TAYLOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The Planning Board tabled action on a proposed fire sub-station site Wednesday night after City Manager James S. Hughes reported opposition to the location by City School Superintendent J.H. Rose.

Hughes told the group that he had talked to Rose concerning the sub-station site at the southeast corner of Fourteenth and Elm Street and the school superintendent had expressed opposition to the project.

The Planning Board approved the site at an earlier meeting as a part of its long range planning program. No immediate plans are in the offing for constructing the station. The board chose the site so that it would be available when a sub-station is needed in that area.

The site was chosen because board members felt that it was centrally located for the area, being on two main thoroughfares. However, the station would be near the elementary school now under construction in that area and the new senior high school which is to be built on property across the street.

Hughes told the Planning Board that he had talked to Rose and "he is opposed to the location we have selected".

Opposed to Appearance

The city manager declared that Rose told him the reason he was opposed to the proposed location was because of the appearance of such a building near the school grounds. The school superintendent also said he needed all the city property in that area for school purposes, Hughes stated.

The Planning Board, in discussing the matter brought out that the building could be designed to conform with the architecture of the two school buildings in the area.

Hughes also reported to the group that he had written the Underwriters Association and they had informed him they would send an engineer to Greenville to survey the proposed sub-station site when an engineer is in this area.

The board had previously asked Hughes to contact the Fire Underwriters and determine if the site met with their approval.

The matter was tabled pending the Fire Underwriters report.

Major Street Plan

A major street plan which was presented to the board at their last meeting was brought up for discussion. Under the long range planning, through streets would be set up in the City of Greenville.

Hughes told the group that he had talked to Traffi Engineer W.F. Babcock concerning the matter and the engineer told him such a survey would require detailed study.

Babcock is presently making a parking survey for the city.

In acting on the matter the board voted to have a committee composed of Mayor W.L. Whedbee, Martin Swartz, Tom Rivers and Hughes approach the State Highway Commission concerning the possibility of having their engineers make such a survey.

Recreation Requirements

The Planning Board asked City Manager Hughes and Recreation Director Warren Carroll to draw up a resolution concerning recreation requirements for sub-dividers.

Under plans submitted to the board by the recreation commission subdividers would be required to donate a certain amount of land from each sub-division or as an alternative, they would pay cash to the city for recreational purposes.

Under the plan submitted by the Recreation Commission the subdividers would have three options:

1. The developer would give five percent of the total sub-division area or acreage for recreational use.

2. The developer would give one acre of land for recreation use for each 60 building lots in a residential sub-division.

3. The developer would pay to the city for use of the recreation program $25 for each lot in a subdivision.

The Planning Board also asked Hughes and Carroll to include in the resolution four major park sites for future development.

City Limit Extension

Hughes told the board that he had contacted 75 percent of the people living in areas which would be taken into the city limits under proposed plans.

Of the 75 percent he has contacted, Hughes stated, 90 percent said that they would not desire to come into the city limits.

Hughes and Superintendent of Public Works Ken Beatty had been asked by the city council at their last meeting to contact the people in the affected areas to determine their feelings on the matter.

U.S. Sees Potential Advantage In 'Spy' Trials

Hope Case Will Boomerang

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington officials were hopeful today that Red China's imprisonment of 13 Americans as "spies" would boomerang against Peiping in the diplomatic struggles of the cold war.

Authorities here looked for two likely results:

1. Communist China will lose support for its drive to win general diplomatic recognition and a seat in the United Nations.

2. British efforts for a compromise between Washington and Peiping on Chinese Nationalist-held Formosa will be dropped at least for the present. British officials indicated they shared this view.

The 13 Americans—11 airmen and two civilians—were captured during the Korean War and this week, according to Peiping radio, got sentences ranging from four years to life.

Of particular interest in Washington was the British government's sharp condemnation yesterday of the imprisonments as an "outrageous" violation of international law. In much the same vein as earlier U.S. protests, London accused the Chinese Reds of bad faith in deliberately concealing the detention of the 13 men for more than a year after the Korean armistice.

A personal Thanksgiving Day message was sent by President Eisenhower to the wives and mothers of the 13.

Eisenhower pledged again that every "feasible" effort would be made to free the 13 and any other Americans in Communist hands.

In New York, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., top American delegate to the U.N., issued a statement denouncing the Communist sentences as "a new act of barbarism" and still another reason why Red China should not be seated in the U.N.

The U.S. government has already laid the groundwork for delivering a stiff protest to Peiping through its representatives in Geneva, Switzerland—the only point affording direct diplomatic contact between the two governments.

Should efforts at Geneva fail, State Department officials were scanning other avenues through which they might exert pressure on Red China short of military action. (Eisenhower has talked only in terms of "peaceful" means.)

One alternative under study was to seek the good offices of some government which recognizes Red China, such as Britain or perhaps even Russia. Another was to bring the case before the U.N.

Thirty-Two Sent For Induction, Pre-Draft Tests

Thirty-two men were sent to Raleigh for pre-induction this morning, with two sent for induction and one forwarded for induction as a delinquent.

Ben Louis Stocks, Greenville Rt. 1, and Charlie Mobley Jr., Negro, of Winterville, were sent for induction while Joe Robert Moore, Negro, Walstonburg, was forwarded as a delinquent.

Delinquents who failed to appear for induction and who will be reported immediately to the FBI by the local Selective Service office are Hugh Lee Conney of Greenville Rt. 4 and Surf City, and Harold Liley, Negro, of Greenville.

Pre-induction delinquents included Roy Lee Brock, Farmville Rt. 2, Frank Edwards, Jr., Grimesland Rt. 1, and Willie B. Gray, Stokes, white.

Negro: Johnnie Powell, Bethel and Brooklyn, N.Y.; William Henry Joyner, Greenville Rt. 5; Wilbert Ward, Winterville; Walter L. Wilson, Greenville and New Brunswick, N.H.; Jessie James Perkins, Greenville, and Newark, N. J.; Charlie Lee Westery, Greenville and Rocky Mount; Jessie Lee Staton, Robersonville and Brooklyn, N.Y.; David Earl Evans, Greenville Rt. 1; Robert Carney, Greenville Rt. 4 and Shelbyville, Del.; Charlie Weston King, Grimesland and Richmond, Va.; Arlander Langley, Ayden Rt. 2; Talmadge Dalmar Hill, Greenville; Hossie Gray Carter, Grimesland and Norfolk, Va.; and Claude Buford King, Grifton and Indianapolis, Ind.

The next induction call is set for December 9, for 25 man, the local Selective Service office revealed. There will be no preinduction call in December.

Alger Hiss To Be Freed Tomorrow

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—After 3½ years behind bars, Alger Hiss will leave Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary tomorrow. His wife Priscilla is expected to meet him at the gate.

The 50-year-old former State Department official, who was convicted of swearing falsely when he told a congressional committee he had never passed secrets to a Communist spy ring, is leaving on a probationary basis. He was originally sentenced for five years but he won an earlier release with a "meritorious" record.

As a convicted felon, he will be without the right to vote or hold public office.

Acting Warden Fred T. Wilkinson said he has had his "customary talk" with Hiss.

His itinerary for tomorrow is simple:

Eat breakfast, check out with the library and then walk to freedom.

Prison guards have described Hiss' prison life as that of an "extremely cooperative inmate."

They said he worked most of his prison time as a clerk on the clothing issue detail.

His spare time, they said, was devoted "almost exclusively" to reading in the prison library.

Hiss' release comes just a few days after the death of William W. Remington, another government employe who was imprisoned on conviction of perjury in connection with questioning on Communist connections.

Dozens of newsmen are expected to be on hand to question Hiss in his plans for the future. He entered the prison claiming his innocence and some indications are his immediate future might be devoted to proving it.

But at least two congressional committees have indicated they may ask first call on his time.

Until March 21, 1956, Hiss will have to check with a parole officer and report various details of his personal life.

Third Convict Charged In Remington's Slaying

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The FBI today charged a third inmate at Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary today with the murder of William W. Remington, former government economist convicted of perjury, and in so doing provided the first clue to the motive for the slaying.

Norman H. McCabe, special agent in charge of the Philadelphia FBI office, announced that Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has been charged with the murder of Remington on Monday.

McCabe said Cagle admitted in a statement "that he, along with McCoy and Parker, planned to ransack Remington's room on Nov 22 and the assault took place while they were in his (Remington's) room."

The other two prisoners referred to were George Junior McCoy, 34, of Grundy, Va., and Robert Carl Parker, 21, of Washington, D.C., who were charged with participating in the beating administered to Remington with a part of a brick wrapped in a sock.

Red Chinese Raid On Isle Repulsed

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Reds stormed a tiny Chinese Nationalist island in Formosa Strait today but were driven off after an hour's heavy fighting the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said many Communist soldiers were captured.

It was not clear whether the attack on Wuchiu Island was intended as an invasion, a hit-and-run raid or an effort to see what the U.S. 7th Fleet might do.

Press reports said the Reds stormed ashore from motorized junks under cover of shellfire from 10 gunboats. Nationalist warplanes raced to the island and helped drive the invaders back into the sea.

Wuchiu is a guerrilla base only a mile long and half a mile wide. It is 15 miles from the mainland and 10 miles south of Red-held Nanjin Island. It is 63 miles northeast of Quemoy and 66 miles southsoutheast of Foochow, capital of Fukien province.

The 7th Fleet has been patrolling the Formosa Strait since June 27, 1950, just after the outbreak of the Korean War. Its assigned task is to protect Formosa and the Pescadores from invasion. U.S. policy has been to keep the Reds guessing about what the fleet might do if one of the many offshore Nationalist outposts was threatened.

There was no indication that the fleet was needed today, or that the Nationalists asked for its help.

President Chiang Kai-shek told interviewers just the other day that if the United States openly committed itself to defend the offshore islands, the Reds would not dare attack them.

Press reports said the defenders of Wuchiu recoiled under the initial attack, then counterattacked and with the support of Formosa-based warplanes erased the Communist bridgehead. They also said Nationalist warships went into action immediately, but their role was not reported.

Vishinsky's Urn Placed In Niche

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Georgi Malenkov and other top Soviet leaders placed an urn containing the ashes of Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky in a niche in the Kremlin wall today.

The procession as they carried the urn from in front of the Lenin-Stalin tomb in Red Square, was the final ritual in an elaborate state funeral for the fiery orator and chief delegate of the U.S.S.R. in the United Nations. He died Monday in New York at the age of 70.

Spectators shivered in the raw cold of Moscow's November, with the temperature hovering about 4 degrees above zero fahrenheit. A military band, wearing fur hats, played dirges as hundreds trudged through the icy square carrying gigantic wreaths which were placed behind the Lenin-Stalin tomb and in front of the Kremlin wall, burial place for Communist heroes. Some bricks had been removed to make room for Vishinsky's remains.

About 3,000 persons marched in the procession through Red Square bearing black-draped portraits of Vishinsky.

Fifth Column Is Turned On Reds

BERLIN (AP)— Anti-Communists are using fifth column tactics of their own to thwart Communist political campaigning in the West Berlin city elections Dec. 5.

They are flooding the Allied sectors with campaign pamphlets reading "Vote Communist" on front and back covers but containing violent anti-Communist attacks inside.

All Patrolmen In County Alerted Over Weekend

Corporal C. E. Whitfield of the State Highway Patrol announced today that all highway patrolmen in the Pitt County area have been alerted and put on 24-hour-a-day duty because of the heavy traffic anticipated over the Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Whitfield also said that speed recording clocks will be used 24 hours a day during this period on all primary and secondary roads in the county.

All patrolmen who were on leave or vacation have been called back to special duty for this weekend, and are "vigorously" enforcing the law.

Cpl. Whitfield urges all motorists to drive safely and not violate highway laws.

Few Violations Of Game Laws Found Thursday

County Game and Fish Protector J. O. Teel and his deputies checked 142 hunters Thanksgiving Day and "only six were out of line."

The others cited to magistrates courts for trials Saturday persons for hunting without licenses and two others for failure to plug their guns so that only three shells could be in it at the same time two in the magazine and one in the chamber. Five of the alleged violators were white and one was a Negro. The apprehensions were made in various sections of the county.

Teel said he had not heard of any hunting accidents in the county on Thanksgiving Day.

Mental Hospital Program Well Under Way

Institutions See Progress

RALEIGH (AP) — Construction is ahead of schedule in many cases under the state's 22-million-dollar mental institution improvement program.

A report released yesterday by Roy M. Purser, general business manager of the Hospitals Board of Control, showed plans have been completed and contracts have been let for dozens of projects under the program.

The state's voters approved a 22-million bond issue 13 months ago. The program was one of the key stones in the late Gov. Umstead's administration.

Two of the major projects call for training schools for feeble minded children at Goldsboro and Butner, each costing 4½ million and designed for 1,200 children.

Purser said the school at Goldsboro, for Negroes, has seen plans for four dormitories approved and bids taken for preparation of the site and the utilities. Work is expected to get under way within a few months.

The project at Butner for whites is awaiting Budget Bureau approval of major unit plans, after which bids will be called for.

Purser said contractors are ahead of schedule on the second largest project of the bond issue, a $3,030,000 renovating of 13 wards of the big Butner Hospital.

His review of progress at other mental insitutions showed in part:

State Hospital in Raleigh—Work is under way on a $63,000 building for convalescent women and a similar $135,000 building for men. Bids are satisfactory on a $250,000 infirmary project, plans are almost complete on a $250,000 building for male epileptics and a $250,000 building for female epileptics. Contracts have been let on the first section of a 1½-million project for the male wing.

At Goldsboro, in addition to the 4½-million training sihool, a new $250,000 building for the criminally insane is running several months ahead of schedule. Plans are nearing completion for a $150,000 nurses home and dormitory and work is under way on $150,000 in attendants cottages.

At Burner, work is under way on a $100,000 corridor connecting five buildings, contracts recently were awarded for a $175,000 dormitory for Negro employes and a $180,000 staff dormitory for single women is well ahead of schedule.

At Caswell, plans have been completed for a $160,000 recreation building, contracts have been awarded for a $260,000 boys dormitory, and bids will be received Dec. 8 for a water treatment plant.

At the Morganton State Hospital a $1,700,000 hospital and admissions building is under construction. Preliminary plans have been approved for renovating four wards and a $100,000 addition to the male employes building has been under way for several months.

Smaller Beer And Wine Tax Refunds Received

Both Greenville and Pitt County received considerably reduced beer and wine tax checks from the State Department of Internal Revenue this year.

Greenville's pro rate share of the beer and wine tax refund amounted to $13,119.46 while the county received a check from the state for $29,009.67

For both the city and county the amount was far below last year's and in both cases fell below the amount estimated in the budgets of the government units for this year.

In 1953 Greenville received $16,817.29 from the beer-wine taxes which means the city received $3,697.83 less this year than in 1953.

City Clerk H .H. Duncan said that the beer-wine tax money had been estimated at $14,000 in figuring this year's budget which was approved last July. He said the reduced amount probably would not affect the budget during the year however since other funds will fluctuate, some bringing in more revenue than estimated and others less.

The county's check for $29,009.67 was $8,176.62 less than the $37,186.29 received in 1953. The amount received was also less than was estimated in the 1954-55 budget.

However, County Auditor Reginald Gray said the loss of revenue would not be serious.

"We hadn't anticipated that much of a drop," he declared, however.

Gray pointed out that a number of funds in the budget could show increases or decreases. For that reason, he indicated, the drop in revenue might be made up before the end of the year.

The checks which came from the State of North Carolina Department of Revenue represent the city and county pro rate shares of beer and wine taxes from October 1, 1953 through September 30, 1954.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Vienna Catholic News Service reported today that the Soviets are going to return Raphael's "Sistine Madonna" to the Dresden Art Gallery.

Turtles Tie Up Highway Traffic

PEABODY, Kan. (AP) — Terrified turtles—hundreds of them—stopped traffic on U. S. highway 50S here yesterday.

The snapping turtles were turned loose after a trailer carrying more than two tons of them caught fire.

David Young, 25, a sailor at the Hutchinson, Kan. Naval Air Station, said he and a companion had spent several weeks gathering them and were on their way to the Chicago market when the trailer caught fire.

Peabody firemen extinguished the blaze and then helped round up the turtles. About a third of the load perished.

Gale, Rain Bring Flood In England

LONDON (AP)—Rain-laden gales sweeping in from the Atlantic brought widespread floods to southwest England and the midlands today.

Winds topping 60 m.p.h. prevented the 81,000-ton liner Queen Mary leaving Southampton with 800 passengers for New York. Around 400 more passengers due to be picked up at Cherbourg later were warned the liner would be delayed, probably until tomorrow.

Annual Ruritan District Convention At Winterville

WINTERVILLE — The annual Ruritan Convention of the Greenville-Goldsboro District will be held in Winterville on December 6, with LaFon C. Vereen, pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church, as the featured speaker of the evening session.

The afternoon session of the convention will include the district governor's report; the district treasurer's report; a message from Ruritan National; club reports; a business session; report of the nominating committee; election of officers; and various messages from other national officers.

The evening program will include a banquet (barbecue, fried chicken, brunswick stew, etc.); presentation of awards; installation of new district officers; an address by new district governor; and an address by Reverend Vereen.

Other speakers will include James W. Butler, East Carolina College Alumni Secretary and Sports News Director, as the toastmaster, and William H. Brake, Rocky Mount, who is president of the Ruritan National for this year.

Reverend Vereen is a graduate of Clemson College (1941) and Duke University Divinity School (1945). He served as director of youth work for the N.C. Conference of Methodist Churches from 1945 to 1948, and is at present pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church.

Elwood C. Davenport of Winterville is the current District Governor of the Greenville-Goldsboro district. He is also a past president and secretary of the Winterville Club District.

The convention will open at two o'clock in the afternoon in the Winterville School cafeteria.

Christian Science

The vital importance of detecting the false suggestions of evil and correcting them with the spiritual truth concerning God's unfailing goodness and all-power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

In the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced," the following passage will be read from the Bible (Isaiah 5:20): "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!"

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (469:13): "Mind is God. The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only Mind, and that the suppositious opposite of infinite Mind—called devil or evil—is not Mind, is not Truth, but error, without intelligence or reality."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:31): "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Christian Church Announcements

Marriage Announced

Mrs. George Albert Wilson, is the former Miss Janelle Melton Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lee Whitley of Bethel, North Carolina. Her marriage to Mr. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Wilson of Valdese, took place the sixth of November in Dillon, South Carolina. Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Bethel High School and Mr. Wilson attended the Valdese Schools and Oak Ridge Military Academy. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are attending East Carolina College and will reside in Bethel.

Last Rites Saturday For Oto Clay Stroud

AYDEN—Oto Clay Stroud Sr., 65, businessman and farmer, died of a heart attack Thursday afternoon while visiting his farm.

The family request no flowers. Those desiring, may contribute to the Methodist Church's educational building fund.

Funeral services will be held at Ayden Methodist Church Saturday afternoon at 3:30. Officiating ministers will be Rev. C. M. Fogelman Jr., pastor; Rev. W. A. Cade, retired Methodist minister of Raleigh, and Rev. Franklin F. Beach, pastor of Ayden Christian Church. Burial will be in Ayden Cemetery.

Mr. Stroud was president of Tyndall-Boyd-Stroud Company and associated with his three sons in the wholesale business. He was a vice-president of the First National Bank in Ayden and was treasurer of Ayden Methodist Church over 25 years. He was a 37-year member of the Ayden Masonic Lodge and treasurer of the lodge 15 years and had extensive farming interests.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Annie Johnson Stroud; three sons, Clay Jr., Walter Lee, and William R. Stroud, all of Ayden; five sisters, Mrs. Joe Williams, Mrs. Floyd Harris, Mrs. Bright Stroud, Mrs. Brown Williams, all of Kinston, and Mrs. John R. Davenport of Deep Run; one brother, Tom [illegible]oud of Kinston; and eight grandchildren.

Literature Dept. Has Holiday Program

The Literature Department of the Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. N. C. Brooks on Nov. 23rd, with Mrs. K. T. Futrelle assisting hostess. The home and table were beautifully decorated with flowers and fruits and delicious refreshments were served, all appropriate to the Thanksgiving season. The program was given by Mrs. J. L. Savage, her subject being "Thanksgiving." She said the Pilgrims had been accustomed to Harvest Festivals in England and Holland. Their first winter was a very hard one but the following spring the Indians taught them how to plant corn and the next fall there was a plentiful harvest as well as wild grapes and turkey. So the first Thanksgiving was held in 1621 and lasted three days. Later the individual states, starting with Massachusetts, proclaimed a Day of Thanksgiving as a religious festival but it wasn't until after the Civil War that a General Thanksgiving Day for the whole country was proclaimed by Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Savage told of the many things that children and adults are thankful for and in closing Mrs. Jessie Moye, the chairman, gave some interesting examples of what she termed "negative thanks."

Reception On Friday Honors Mr. And Mrs. George Wilson

BETHEL — Mr. and Mrs. Alva Lee Whitley honored their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Albert Wilson, at a reception on Friday night, November 19, from eight until ten in the Bethel Rotary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry N. James greeted the guests and Mr. Swan C. Ives, Sr. introduced them to the receiving line which was composed of the hosts, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Wilson of Valdese, parents of the groom, and Mrs. R. L. Whitley.

The hall was decorated using a color theme of green and white Giant snowball chrysanthemums were beautifully arranged on the appointed table, flanked by white burning tapers. The honoree's corsage was of white chrysanthemums tied with green ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd directed the guests to the appointed table. At one end of the table Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Whitley of Vanceboro served bridal cakes and at the other end of the table Miss Edna Melton of Rocky Mount poured punch. The guests served themselves to nuts and mints Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Whitley of Vanceboro presided over the register and good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ives.

Others who assisted in the reception were Mrs. Willard Whitehurst, Mrs. Alton Carson, Mrs Robert Davis, Mrs. Frank Whitehurst, Mrs. Dennis Hardy, Mrs. William Andrews, Mrs. Ralph Carson Mrs. Burley Bullock, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Highsmith and Misses Mary Ann Manning, Connie Garrenton, Loretta Bullock, Becky Keel, Shirley Jean Whitehurst, Barbara Watson, Lone Manning, Patricia Whitehurst and Jeane Stewart. Music was rendered by Mrs. W. R. Hunnicutt and Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst.

Approximately 125 attended the occasion The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Frank Strange and Mrs. B. L. Bunn, Sr. of Rocky Mount and Misses Rosa, Novella and Bruce Exum of Greenville.

Honored On Birthday

BETHEL — Mrs. Huldah Carson was honored on her 73rd birthday with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogerson. Fall leaves and chrysanthemums were used in the house and the dining room table was centered with an attractive arrangement of fruit.

The menu consisted of turkey, ham and barbecue and several vegetbles. The dessert was the birthday cake of Mrs. Carson.

The honoree received gifts from her children, grandchildren, nieces, nephews, brother, T. O. Manning of Tarboro, and her sister, Mrs. W. V. Riddick of Walstonburg and E. S. Beasley and Mrs. C. L. Manning of Bethel.

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
November 26, 1924

Thanksgiving Day was a red-letter day for the college girls at East Carolina Teachers College. As only the one day is a holiday, and no one goes away, everything possible is done to make it a happy day. The celebration begins at breakfast, for there is always some happy surprise awaiting the girls at breakfast. At 9 o'clock the annual match game of basketball between the Junior Normal or "C" and Senior Normal or "D" classes brought out the entire school lined up as rooters. The "D's" won with a score of 33 to 28. The dinner was the big event of the day. The two basketball teams had seats of honor at decorated tables in the center of the dining hall. In the afternoon many of the girls went to the movies, but they were free to entertain themselves as they pleased.

Teen-age Turnout

By MARY WILL LONG and FRANCES ADAMS

With thoughts of turkey and good times in their minds, Greenville High School students raced from school at 3:30 Wednesday. The Thanksgiving holidays are the best things that have happened to G.H.S.'ers in a long time. Their holidays are filled with parties, (large and small) turkey dinners, and out-of-town visits.

Louis Ann Plans Dance

Tonight between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30, Lois Ann Webb, a junior, will be hostess at a birthday dance The alumni house at East Carolina College will serve as the scene of this affair. Delicious refreshments and an enjoyable night have been planned for Lois Ann's guests.

Tea Entertains Girls

Senior girls from G.H.S. were entertained at a tea this afternoon by the Greenville Alumni of Meredith College. The tea, taking place at the Memorial Baptist Church, was given for the purpose of interesting girls in attending Meredith.

Alumni Home for Holidays

It was really good to see some of the "gang" who are going away to school this year home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Nelson Blount, Ann Ruffin, Ann Wilkerson, Terry Tripp, and Miriam Elks are home from St. Marys. Duke students who returned to "dear old Greenville" are Dinah Porter, Betty Gayle Raynor, and Bill Taft. Billy Bost, Cledith Oakley, Dallas Evans, and Roy Taylor are a few of the boys home from Carolina. Some of the Meredith crowd we have seen are Lou White Winstead, Jo Ann Timberlake, June Barnhill, and Marilyn Bestedt. Lenna Rose, Libba James, and Norma Faye Mills have returned with tales of their doings at Woman's College. A few of the college "kids" seen around town are Virginia Smith, home from Randolph-Macon, Charley White from the Citadel, Ruth Evelyn Topping from Flora MacDonald, and Curtis Patterson from Davidson.

Last night Kathryn Johnson, Marietta Northrop, and Jane Perkins, attended the annual Coronation Ball in Washington, N. C. in the high school auditorium.

Attended Raleigh Panel Discussion

Three local men attended the Medical-Press Panel Discussion Conference in Raleigh Tuesday.

Representing the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society were Dr. Howard H. Gradis and Dr. Walter C. Humbert, while D. J. Whichard III represented the local press.

Sponsored by the Medical Society of North Carolina and the North Carolina Press Association, the conference was held "to explore methods whereby the medical profession and the press can improve their relationship so as to further the dissemination of medical information pertinent to and of general interest to the public," Dr. Gradis explained.

He said there is a feeling of cooperation between the two groups with most of the difficulty stemming from misunderstanding rather than lack of desire to get information out.

The feeling of the representatives at the conference, Dr. Gradis revealed, was that the two groups must work out their own problems on a local basis.

Speakers for the session included Dr. Donald B. Koonce, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the state Medical Society, Holt McPherson, president of the North Carolina Press Association; Dr. Zack D. Owens, president of the state Medical Society; and William H. Neal, senior vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Winston-Salem.

The program also included a panel discussion on "Mutual Responsibilities in the Public Interest." Moderator for this discussion was Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina.

India Is Topic Of Program Given At W.S.C.S. Meeting

BETHEL—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday at 3 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. D. T. House Jr., president, presided at the meeting. The business was opened with the secretary, Mrs. Ralph Carson, reading the minutes after which the circle count was taken. Various committees made their reports, one of which was the secretary of supply work, Mrs. John L. Watson. She reported that ten dresses had been purchased and sent to the home for girls. It was voted to give the silver change in December to the children's work in the society.

Mrs. C. P. Womack thanked the members for the love gift and reception. Also Mrs. R. E. Riddick thanked them for her Life Membership Pin they gave her.

Mrs. J. C. Wynne Jr. gave the program entitled "Women of Today and What Good They Are Doing in India." She described three women and the work they are doing in the country of India in a most pleasing manner.

Former Missionary To Be Guest Speaker At Immanuel Church

Mrs. J. Buryard Hipps, former missionary to China, will be the guest speaker at the regular evening service of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Sunday evening, at 7:30. Mrs. Hipps, now of Wake Forest College, was a professor at the University of Shanghai for many years. The last few months there were spent under Communist rule. Her message will be of interest to everyone.

The Memorial Baptist Church of Greenville and the Baptist churches of the surrounding area will join with the Immanuel Church for this service, to hear this outstanding speaker. Special music will be given by the Youth Choir under the direction of Irving Ennis.

This service will be the first of a series of meetings this coming week for the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions, which is being observed throughout the Southern Baptist Convention at this season. Other meetings will be announced daily in the Daily Reflector.

Bailed Him Out, But In Jail Again

DETROIT (AP)—Two friends bailed L. G. Johns, 29, out of jail yesterday so he'd have something to be thankful for.

But as the three left, Johns picked up a jacket hanging in the police station hallway.

They met Patrolman Claude Robertson as they were heading out the door. It was his jacket.

All three were jailed for larceny from a building.

Grainger Singers In Fort Bragg Concert

KINSTON—The Grainger High Singers of Kinston will present a formal pre-Christmas concert at Ft. Bragg on December 13, with Bobby Steelman, pianist, Becky Mull, alto, and Mercer Gay, soprano, as the featured artists.

The Singers will be assisted by a brass ensemble and a percussionist. The entire program is under the direction of James Hall, director of vocal music for Grainger High School.

Tomorrow's Gardens

By The GREENVILLE GARDEN CLUB

Rose growing is one of our most controversial garden subjects and one on which debate never ends. "A" insists they are worth every bit of the trouble while "B" who lives next door affirms just as stoutly that he "is through."

That roses are somewhat exacting no one can deny but those of us who think of a rose as something very special are glad to find out what they need, give it to them if possible—then hope for the best. Such devotion usually is rewarded.

Fall planting for roses in Eastern Carolina is preferable and by this of course we mean late fall. December is a very good time for planting and if the bed is ready it isn't too difficult to put them in even if they come just before Christmas.

The bed for roses should be dug quite deep and well enriched with old manure or with cotton seed meal and peat moss. Roses should be spaced from 1 1-2' to 2' apart each way and long narrow beds which can be reached from each side are decorative and practical.

Occasionally we see roses advertised as "own root" but most of the bushes we buy are grafted or budded. Just above the roots on the main stalk will be a knob or enlargement which should be just under the surface of the soil. Any branches coming out below this union will be from the strong wild stock on which the rose was grafted and should be cut off if they ever appear.

Some years ago a great many people advised pruning the bushes severely and this is still recommended by northern growers but for our climate it is better to leave the top fairly high and prune off from both roots and top only the broken or bruised pieces.

After planting the roses and soaking them well, apply a thick layer of peanut hulls, pine straw or leaves. This mulch should give them adequate protection against sudden cold and excessive dryness.

If new roses are being added to an old bed where black spot has been prevalent it would be advisable to dust the bed thoroughly with one of the many rose dusts available anywhere.

Varieties of new roses shown in catalogs are so tempting that we want to try them regardless of their suitability for Eastern Carolina and if our time and money are unlimited this may be all right. Most of us had better trust the "tried and true" varieties.

Etoile de Holland (red); Editor McFarland (pink); Golden Charm (yellow), and K. A. Victoria (white) as well as pink and red Radiance are almost sure to do well. There are many other varieties and by writing to the Department of Agriculture, State College, we feel sure you can get a list of roses tried and proved in their test gardens.

To have a few roses from June to December, to have even one perfect rose for a tall slender vase is an experience worth working for.

Farmville Key Club Sponsors College Day

College Day at the Farmville High School, sponsored by the Farmville Key Club, will be held Monday, Nov. 29. President of the Key Club, Wilbur Rollins, will preside.

Program for the day will begin with a song. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag will be made followed by the devotional by S. D. Bunch Jr. Welcome will be extended by Wilbur Rollins. A talk on the "Value of College Education" will be given by Mr. R. D. Rouse Jr., district solicitor.

Music will follow Mr. Rouse's talk, after which representatives will be recognized and announcement and instructions will be given.

Representatives of colleges will be present to advise with students on college matters.

Program Of Chamber Music To Be Given By Faculty Group

Chamber music will be featured in a recital by a trio of faculty members of the East Carolina College department of music when they appear in the Austin auditorium Wednesday December 1, at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Herbert L. Carter, clarinetist; Dr. Elwood Keister, violist; and George E. Perry, pianist, will present a varied program of selections. The event is sponsored by the college department of music as one of a series of recitals to be given during the present school year.

The trio will play Mozart's "Trio VII for Clarinet, Viola, and Piano." This composition, written in three movements, is characterized by the grace and melodious qualities characteristic of Mozart's music.

With Mr. Perry at the piano, Mr. Carter will play the "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano" by the modern composer Paul Hindemith.

In addition to the instrumental selections, the program will include a group of songs by Dr. Keister, tenor. Three numbers by Brahms and selections of Quilter, chosen for the recital.

Mozart, Beethoven, Naumann and Hasse composed music for the harmonica, an instrument composed of glass bells, not a mouth organ.

Timothy H.D. Club To Conduct Bake Sale In January For Polio Campaign

Timothy Home Demonstration Club voted at its meeting Monday to have a bake sale in January for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

The club women met at the home of Mrs. Clen Reel. Autumn leaves and flowers decorated the home.

Mrs. W. R. Wall, club president, reported on the recent Achievement Day program at which seven perfect attendance pins were awarded Timothy club members.

Mrs. E. O. Smith received a pin for three years perfect attendance, and Mrs. Wall receive one for two years, while Mrs. Z. O. Whitford, Mrs. Mac Ross, Mrs. Hubert Taylor, Mrs. Dalton Smith and Mrs. Reel were awarded one year pins.

Reading certificates were won by Mrs. Whitford and Mrs. Ross.

Demonstration for the month, Care of Clothing, was given by Mrs. Wall who stressed the fact that correst storage and methods of cleaning are essential for the proper care of clothing.

Reports were given by Mrs. Whitford on enriched meal, and by Mrs. Taylor on beautification.

During the social hour a Thanksgiving game was played with Mrs. Reel winning the prize. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Dessert Bridge Honors Bride-Elect

On Tuesday evening at 7:45, Mrs. A. G. Howe and Mrs. Hoover Avery entertained at Dessert Bridge to honor Miss Margaret Windham, bride-elect.

Mrs. Howe's home in College View Apartments was attractively decorated with arrangements of fern and white and burgundy chrysanthemums for the occasion.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations upon arrival and was showered with many lovely and useful gifts in linen.

Mrs. Pauline Dail was presented a set of Hi-Jacks for holder of high score and also a set of television ash trays for floating prize. Miss Betty Lou Shackleford was holder of low score and received a Hallmark album.

Ice cream bridal blocks, bridal cakes, coffee, and after-dinner mints and nuts were served to the twelve guests attending.

Reviewing The Tobacco Sales Season

Pitt County's two tobacco markets, Greenville and Farmville, have closed their selling season with records in which each market can justly take pride.

While averages for this season did not measure up to those of last year, both the Greenville market and the Farmville market sold more poundage during 1954 than in 1953. Tobacconists and farmers alike would have liked to see higher prices this season, but the poorer quality of tobacco in this immediate area caused by dry weather took its toll of revenue when growers placed their leaf on the acution floors.

During the selling season which ended this week, the Greenville market sold 68,793,896 pounds of tobacco, paid out a total of $37,106,271. for a season average of $53.94. The Farmville market sold 28,269,904 pounds of tobacco for the season, paid out $15,623,301 and had one of the highest season averages in the belt with $55.28.

The combined figures of the two markets show more than 80 million pounds of tobacco was sold in Pitt this year, topping last year's sales by more than three and one-half million pounds. The two markets paid out a combined total of more than $52 million for tobacco sold this season.

Although the average price and the total money paid out by the two Pitt County markets this year may not measure up to past record years, the selling season which just closed stacks up well in the overall picture.

The two tobacco markets have rendered another year of fine service to the farmers of Pitt and surrounding counties, and it is evident by the poundage figures that the farmers of this county have supported the two local markets.

Saucer-Drinking Seems Thing Of The Past

We don't "view with alarm" sudden cognizance the breed is drying out. What breed? The people of recent decades who poured their coffee from cup to saucer, cooled it by blowing, then drank with enjoyment.

The thought came over an early morning cup of coffee, too hot for hasty drinking . . .and time was of the essence.

"Suacering and blowing" used to be commonplace. We remember, years ago, a gentle, frail little old lady, filled with all the fastidiousness and gentility of her era, who would sugar and cream her steaming cup of tea, then transfer it to the saucer for sipping. All done with an unconscious grace and matter-of-factness.

It seems that with the passage of time the cup has gained near-universal acceptance as the vehicle for hot beverages. Why the saucer era has faded, we do not know. Their dimensions as to diameter and depth have varied but little if one overlooks the moderate changes affected by stylists.

Maybe the saucer custom fell into ill-repute with advent of an inadequately trained generation; or perhaps with development of the machine age people could take a little more time over their coffee or tea.

One seldom sees a practiced saucer-drinker any more.

Is "Labeling" Replacing Sound Evaluation?

At times we wonder whether people of the United States are becoming so accustomed to labels of one kind or another that we are losing sight of individual definitions. Are we inclined to "label" an idea or a proposal rather than evaluate it?

There are a good many labels which have come into wide usage in national and state politics in recent years. Among the most familiar are "conservative", "progressive", "liberal", "reactionary", "socialists", "communist" and so on. There is almost no limit to the list.

When an issue arises in politics, it sooner or later (usually sooner) gets a label. . . usually two labels, one from the pros and one from the cons. Those who favor the particular issue might choose one of the more popular labels for the proposal such as "liberal" or "progressive". Those who oppose the issue might choose to label it with a less popular term such as "reactionary", or if it serves a better purpose "socialistic" or "leftist".

It is our guess that a good many citizens form their opinion of a particular issue from the labels which are quickly attached rather than from an evaluation of the issue and the proposals it contains. The result is that most people are for or against a proposal according to the label it has. In a good many instances, we would guess, the label carries more weight with more people than the merits or shortcomings the particular proposal may have.

It's much easier to use labels than to evaluate; but it is likewise much more shortsighted and unwise.

Strength for the Day

PARENTS NEED TO PONDER

Every generation of oldsters has worried about the young people and prophesied that they would come to no good end.

These dire forebodings are heard today. Humanity has struggled through many crises and emerged, not unscathed, but at least able to stagger on to the next crisis. This generation of youth will be able, in all probability, to do the same.

But this generation of youth does face unprecedented problems in the threat of war and particularly in the unusual moral temptations they have to confront. In times past, young people of good family have enjoyed a certain protection furnished by cultured surroundings and a religious home. Today all young people are being thrown into temptations that their parents encountered only if they wanted to confront them and went out of their way to look for them. Can it be possible that parents today are ignorant or indifferent to the temptations which practically all boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 25 are encountering almost every day and certainly every weekend? These kids are having a hard time to keep straight, and to make matters worse, their parents are the gayest living lot of middle-aged folks anyone has ever seen.

So the agonizing temptations and the not-too-good example of their mentors is making it hard for a fine, promising group of young people today.

How's Our Foreign Policy?

Somebody Told Me

Ellie Has Winning Grid Team

Wife: "What do you want me to give you for Christmas, dear?"

Husband: "A necktie."

Wife: "Is that all?"

Husband: "That's all I can afford, dear."

Remember Ellie Fearing, star East Carolina football player in the days of Coaches Jimmy Johnson and Bill Dole? Talked to Ellie yesterday from his father-in-law's amateur radio station in Buckrow Beach, Va. Ellis is coaching at Churchland, Va. and has a team that won nine games, lost none and has averaged 44 points per game. There are two little Fearings.

Ellie passed on his regard to all of his friends in Greenville and especially wanted to talk to Ford McGowan. But Ford was in hot pursuit of the quail yesterday.

Yesterday was my first look at real hurricane damage. Took a trip down to Broad Creek and drove out to the point. I was most familiar with Jimmy Smith's place, right on the point. Jimmy had converted a side porch into a room, which is no longer a room. The Saint James Methodist Men held a meeting last summer on Jimmy's front porch. Now the remains are a few slabs of concrete.

In Jimmy's front yard there are about a dozen assorted shoes. Next door, where the Fitz Gammon place used to be, there are a few piles of lumber that Fitz has been able to recognize as his.

Everyone should see it. Before yesterday, I thought Hazel was a dead subject, completely worn out. But there's still plenty of reminders of its violence.

Immediately after it struck I heard a short-wave operator in Wrightsville Beach describing the damage from his own home. He choked up and had to go off the air. He got so full that words would not come.

The lineup of Greenville cottages from the point goes like this: Jimmy Smith, Fitz Gammon, Rock Vincent, Bancroft Moseley and Judson Blount. As the storm progressed down the river it lost some force in the big pines and the damage lessened. Jimmy Smith was lucky, considering the complete loss by Fitz Gammon.

And I thank you.

The U S Supreme Court's decision to hold up its hearings on the school segregation arguments by the various states will a full court is ready to hear them, will not alter the situation and may work to better advantage to those states most vitally concerned.

Judge John Marshall Harlan of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has been nominated to fill the term vacated October 9th by the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson. His confirmation by the Senate is awaited, but is likely to be held up until the 84th Congress can be organized and the appointment considered.

The issue is of national importance and it could mean that some unnecessary delays will be injected by politically-minded senators. But Judge Harlan's qualifications are such that he should gain approval on his merits and the court can then get down to the hearings, which in themselves will require a considerable period of time.

The original action of the court on May 17th last in declaring segregation unconstitutional, but delaying actual decrees, indicated, as we have pointed out several times before, that the justices understand the difficulties involved in a complete shift in the administration of the public schools of the South. Such changes as those contemplated cannot be achieved by court decree alone, and there seems to be a healthy awareness of this fact on the Supreme Court.

The time that has elapsed since the May 17th ruling has been time gained for moderation in his important issue. There is reason to believe that a few more weeks delay will work to the further advantage of the moderates. If so, the Court has rendered another service to the South and the Nation.

Fishing For Industry

By ELMER ROESSNER

Puerto Rico, which has done pretty well for itself by luring new factories with tax concessions, is now angling for financial companies.

Under a law effective January 1, 1955, investment companies setting up in business on the island will be exempt for 10 years from Puerto Rico taxes on income derived from the purchase and sale of stock and other property. To be eligible a company must maintain principal offices in Puerto Rico hold its annual meeting there, have at least two Puerto Rican directors, domicile two top officers there, and invest certain percentages in Puerto Rican securities.

Since Federal income taxes do not apply in Puerto Rico that makes sweet going for investors.

The island is still recruiting factories by means of its benign tax law. At the latest count, according to the Commonwealth's New York offices, 326 factories have started there since 1948. Of these, 227 of them have netted $21,824,686—and that is net because they did not have to pay some $7,000,000 in corporation taxes that they would have owed had they been United States firms.

Meanwhile, two new oil refineries are scheduled to go into operation next year and a new international airport is to open in March. A $27,000,000 port improvement is scheduled for completion in 1957. These developments are expected to improve the position of businesses already established on the island and to help the government attract more.

"Operation bootstrap," as the tax-starred program is called, has been i roving the standard of living on the island. Total net income has risen from $612,000,000 in 1947 to $970,700,000 in the last fiscal year. The Puerto Rican government's goal is an income of $2 billion a year, which would mean an income of $2,100 a family.

24—HOUR SALE DRAWS ATTENTION, PROTESTS

One way to attract interest in a sale was used by a Washington appliance and television company. It ran the sale as a 28-hour marathon, starting at 4 pm. Saturday and continuing to 8 p.m. Sunday.

It aroused considerable attention, including that of several religious organizations, that objected to commercial activity on the Sabbath.

A Fine Thanksgiving Day, Alone

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The elderly man and his wife entered the restaurant, sat down at a table for two, and ordered the Thanksgiving Day special dinner price $4 including choice of dessert.

"Not very many people here," said his wife.

"Ummm," replied her husband, knowing in advance the way the conversation might turn. He looked at her worriedly as she ate her appetizer in silence.

"It feels strange eating a Thanksgiving dinner in a restaurant," she said.

"Yes, we've nevre done that before."

"Oh, yes we did—the first year we were married. Don't you remember? I can remember everything about it. We ate at that little place around the corner from our apartment. The dinner was $1.25 each, the turkey was underdone, and you spilled some gravy on your new suit and got very angry."

He marveled again, as he had so many times during their marriage, at the terrible retentiveness of her memory—the thousands of little details about their life together she held imprinted indelibly in her mind, and would never let go.

The waiter brought the plates of turkey then, and the husband watched as his wife lost in reverie, toyed at it with her fork.

"Try the turkey, dear it's really pretty good," he said, and then as he saw the look on her face, he added hastily, "—that is, considering it was cooked in a restaurant."

But she only pecked at its absent-mindedly.

"I should think, after all these years of cooking Thanksgiving dinners, you'd be glad of a chance to escape all that bother," he up-braided her gently. "Anyway, we can't expect the children to come home every year. They're got their own family responsibilities."

"It's just that I feel lost without them," she said. "But of course it wouldn't have made sense for us to travel such a long distance just to spend a weekend with either Jim or Sis."

Then both fell silent, unwilling to admit even to each other the injury they felt that neither of their children, Jim or Sis had written to ask them to come.

The waiter came to take the plates away and asked, "Is there anything wrong with the turkey?"

"Oh no," she said. "It's very good. It's just that I'm not very hungry."

The husband called the waiter aside and whispered an order to him.

"Do you know which Thanksgiving I cooked for the most people?" said the wife. "Well, it was in 1926. We had a 22-pound turkey and there were 18 people all told. My, what a time that was. The Browns brought their little boy along, and three days later he came down with the measles, and I was frightened to death that Sue and Jim had caught them, too."

Warmed by the heartfire of reminiscing, she ate every bit of her dessert-pumpkin pie and Vanilla ice cream. Then she looked up startled as the similing waiter arrived with a bottle of chilled champagne and popped out the cork.

"Surprise:" said her husband. "I've never had champagne before for Thanksgiving," she said, pleased, picking up the cork.

"Well, the only way to stay young is to do new things," he said.

They lifted their bubbling glasses and tinkled them lightly together.

"To you mother:"

"You, Dad:"

But as he looked at his wife's grey eyes—eyes that now matched her hair—he saw them flood suddenly and overflow, and quick tears run down her cheeks. To keep from crying himself, he tried to count her tears. But they ceased as suddenly as they had started. She wiped her eyes and they finished the champagne in silence.

"Now let's go home," she said, and she gave him a smile of timeless love and reached over and patted his hand.

"I think I'll keep the champagne cork for a souvenir. No, I won't either. I'll mail it to one of the children so that they'll know, even though we missed not being with them, we had a fine Thanksgiving."

"That's right," said her husband. "They're probably worrying about us right this minute, as we wouldn't want them to think we were lonely."

Higher Standards In Senate

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The Senate move to censure Joseph R. McCarthy for abusive language toward fellow-members and an Army officer serves as a sharp reminder that this august body was not always so concerned over undignified senatorial behavior. It used to condone actual physical violence on and off the floor.

Another ironic aspect of present and past ethical attitudes is that most of the historic offenders were men from the South—the very group which now believes that the Wisconsin man should be reproved for conduct unbecoming a member of Congress. In more recent years it is the Dixie delegation which has upheld the conservative traditions of the Senate, personally and politically.

HIGHER BEHAVIOR STANDARDS—The explanation for the change lies in the fact that, year by year, the Congress and the American people have set more lofty standards for the behavior of men in politics and public life. This same moral progress is measured by enactment of such reforms as Civil Service, the Corrupt Practices Law and the Hatch Act.

But official censure of the Senator from Wisconsin, although few of the participants in the row seem to realize it, will fix an entirely new and elevated code of conduct on Capitol Hill.

ROWDY CONDUCT OF PAST—It was not so long ago that a trio of picturesque Southerners delighted and offended Congressional colleagues with antics and activities which outrowdied McCarthy's. They were "Cotton Tawm" Heflin of Alabama, Theodore (The Man) Bilbo of Mississippi and Huey P. (Every Man a King) Long of Louisiana. By today's standards, each would have been hauled up for official chastisement.

They abused Senators, Presidents and public figures almost every time they rose to their feet. Day after day, in 1928, Heflin delivered philippics against the late Alfred E. Smith and the Catholic Church. Long ridiculed the late Senator Carter Glass of Virginia so offensively that, although then in his seventies, Glass threatened to "punch his nose."

TURN OF CENTURY INCIDENT—Heflin was not even questioned for shooting at a colored man in the early days of the century, when he was a member of the House. Then no prohibitionist but a jolly good fellow, Heflin was riding a street car along downtown Pennsylvania Avenue, on his way to deliver a church lecture on temperance.

Angered because he thought the colored passenger had trampled on a woman's foot while leaving the trolley, Heflin pulled a gun and shot through the window. His bullet missed its target, ricocheted on the pavement and struck a pedestrian jockey in the leg.

The Alabama member's Congressional colleagues rushed to his rescue at the police station. Unfortunately, none had sufficient collateral—property or cash—to furnish bail, and the funds were supplied by one of Heflin's bartender friends from the St. James Hotel, which then stood only a block from the present site of the Mellon Art Gallery.

PHYSICAL ATTACKS—The slavery question provoked several rows in which physical violence was employed by the political ancestors of the men on Capitol Hill, now bent on raising the senatorial level of behavior.

In 1856, Representative Preston Brooks, nephew of Senator Butler of South Carolina, walked into the upper chamber, and hit Senator Charles Sumner of Massachusetts over the head, again and again, with a heavy cane. Sumner's health was never good after this belaboring.

In another slavery debate, Senator Henry Stuart Foote of Mississippi pulled a loaded pistol on the famous Senator Thomas Benton of Missouri. As late as 1902, fiery "Pitchfork" Ben Tillman of South Carolina swapped blows on the Senate floor with Senator John L. McLaurin of the same State.

NEWSPAPERMAN SLAPPED—The last and most recent physical encounter involved the late Representative Willie D. Upshaw of Georgia, an ardent prohibitionist, and "Bob" Choate, then the Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald and now the editor of that esteemed newspaper. In the House corridor during the mid-twenties, Upshaw slapped the newspaperman's face, in a dry-versus-wet argument.

It is, perhaps, no accident that such emotional issues as slavery and prohibition, and Communism in McCarthy's case, have been contributory causes to misbehavior on Capitol Hill. There should be a law against political emotion!

Hosiery Industry In N.C. Leads All The Other States

(Guest writer today: Wade Lucas, Information Office, Department of Conservation and Development.)

NORTH CAROLINA HOSIERY INDUSTRY

Within the current century, the production of hoisery in North Carolina has catapulted from a relatively insignificant portion to around forty-four percent of the nation's output, according to a Department of Conservation and Development survey made public by Director Ben E. Douglas.

Today, the State is not only the leader in production but heads the list of states in employment and in value of product.

North Carolina's dominance in the industry is shown by figures recently compiled by the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers for 1953. Of all full-fashioned, the State accounted for about thirty-eight percent, and more than forty-seven percent of seamless, Douglas said.

The output of the two amounted to more than forty-four percent of the national total. The states total of production of all types of hosiery in the South was more than 58 percent.

The volume of hosiery production in North Carolina in 1953 can be visualized by the fact that if the output were divided evenly between all inhabitants of the country, according to the 1953 estimate of population, there would be more than five pairs for each man, woman, and child in the country.

In 1899, the proportion of knitted goods (including other knit goods in addition to hosiery) was 1.79 percent of the total of the country. By 1919, this State's share has risen to 5.92 percent. The next decade saw the total advance to 11.0 percent in 1929. In the latter year, when hosiery figures became available, North Carolina accounted for 15.18 percent of national hosiery employment. By 1939 the State had 28.3 percent of the national hosiery employment.

Latest available figures show that one worker out of every 8 or 9 engaged in manufacturing in North Carolina is employed in the hosiery field. The total number of workers in the knit goods plants in the State in 1953 was approximately 60,000, of those more than 50,000 were hosiery mill workers.

In 1953, there were 425 hosiery plants in North Carolina, including the smallest units. Of the 377 employing eight or more workers, 256 were seamless, employing 26,048 workers; and 121 full fashioned plants employing 23,017. Another 57 firms, employing 11,223 workers produced other knit goods, such as underwear, outerwear and knit specialities.

Most of the expansion and progress in the hosiery industry in the State has taken place during the last 25 years. Half a century ago, it was only an infant, producing not more than one or two colors in a very limited number of sizes and only one or two types of cheap cotton stocking and socks. Silk was used by two small plants 30 years ago in small quantities and experimentally.

Development of hosiery manufacturing has been largely accomplished in the State through local initiative and capital. However, this local growth has been supplemented in an important way by outside capital. During recent years a steady influx of companies from other states has continued.

It is difficult to pick out any one or two compelling reasons for the growth of the industry in North Carolina. Several favorable factors have contributed to steady development in the hosiery field, one of the pacemakers which added much to bringing the State into the leadership in manufacturing in the Southeast.

The initial plants were convenient to a supply of cotton yarns and experienced workers in the general textile field. To an unusual degree, the first manufacturers in the field began to plow back their earnings into their plants, enlarging and purchasing improved machinery. Thus many North Carolina hosiery producers have grown into some of the largest and most efficient producing units in the country.

As successful methods and operations were demonstrated, the management of numerous companies separated and new units were established. A decade or so ago, it was not uncommon to see some of the workers from plants obtain a small building and a few machines for the purpose of launching out on operations of their own. Ample machinery could be obtained with little capital outlay and on attractive long-term payment plans.

The new enterprises found an abundant supply of efficient labor, a good part of which came directly from surrounding farms. Additional plants established in later years continued to draw on this labor supply as increasing mechanization of the farms con stantly released part of their workers.

North Carolina's convenient location to the largest markets of the country gives the State an advantage. Other favorable factors include economy in building costs, a favorable climate, and the prestige of the successful operation of this and other types of industry.

Among the firms opening new plants in the State or expanding their operations in recent years in North Carolina are: Berkshire Mills, said to be the nation's largest manufacturer of full-fashioned hosiery for women, a new $3 million plant near Andrews, containing 62,000 square feet and employing some 325 workers.

Burlington Mills, a $1,250,000 finishing plant in Asheboro, employing approximately 300 persons.

Adams-Millis Corporation a $200 thousand improvement program at High Point which will result in more effective and efficient over-all operations.

The Lykens Hosiery Mills, Marion, new operations which will result in the consolidation of several plants.

Phil Cord Corporation of Monroe, manufacturers of 60-guage hosiery for women, founded in 1948, a half-million dollar expansion program.

Holt Hosiery Mills, Glen Raven, a quarter million dollar expansion program last year and Standard Hosiery Mills, Burlington, a half-million project for improvement of facilities.

Other companies either planning or carrying new or expanded facilities are: Alco Hosiery Mills of Burlington; Beaver Hosiery Company, Hickory; Craftman Finishers, Inc., Concord; Dar-Mon Hosiery Mills, Charlotte; Hutchins Hosiery Mills, Concord; John L. Lyerly & Sons, Inc., Catawba; Kaybe Hosiery Mills of N.C., Inc., High Point; Lee Hosiery Mills, Inc., Thomasville; Snappy Sox, Inc., Stanfield; Triple Quality Hosiery Company, Hickory; and Wright Knit Hosiery Mill, Hickory.

This is not a complete list but is illustrative of continued progress being experienced in the large and important hosiery field in North Carolina.

'Books and Stuff'

By DR. ED HIRSHBERG

With another McCarthy crisis brooding over the nation's capital, we're going on record this week in praise of unadulterated self-expression and complete freedom of speech and action, and we're running a review of BUT WE WERE BORN FREE, by Elmer Davis, just to prove that there are many, many people in this country who hate McCarthyism and all it stands for and are willing to get up and say so. . . .

Last Thursday the Unitarian Fellowship sponsored its second monthly Forum at Sheppard Memorial Library, on the subject of "Freedom and-or Security." Several college folk and a sprinkling of townspeople turned up. . . . We feel that it is just such activities as these Forums that will help Americans beat the terrible threat of McCarthyism, and we hope that they will be better patronized in future months. . . . Another one is planned for January. . . . Meanwhile, our felicitations to Michael Luskin, Unitarian Fellowship President, Drs. George Pasti, James Poindexter, John Bennett and Kelly Crockett, and Judge Charles Whedbee, for participating and for saying what they wanted to say—something which fewer and fewer people are daring to do, these days.

An indication of just how much people are afraid to speak out for what they really believe—or don't believe—is the throttling of several debating teams by their school authorities, including the U. S. Army and Navy Academies—West Point and Annapolis. . . . Their debate teams have been forbidden to argue on the affirmative side of the national debate question this year, "Resolved, that Red China Be Admitted into the U.N." Regardless of what their personal opinions might be, debaters traditionally argue on both sides—as an exercise in the democratic process of trying to see all aspects of a question. . . . We feel—and so does President Eisenhower—that it is foolish and dangerous for college authorities to be so timid as to prevent their students from even voicing the opinions and arguments of the opposing side—for certainly they can't be defeated if nobody dares to find out what they are. . . .

We asked the debate coach at East Carolina, Dr. Meredith Posey, what he thought about restricting debaters to arguing one side of the question only—and we're glad to report that he would encourage East Carolina debaters always to examine both affirmative and negative arguments—again, we repeat, as a necessary part of the democratic process.

Something new is coming to Greenville, and the American Association of University Women is bringing it. . . . A foreign film series, called the East Carolina Film Club, sponsored by the AAUW, will begin at the college library auditorium in January. . . . Object: to bring old but excellent foreign—and domestic, occasionally—movies to the citizens of Greenville who otherwise probably never would get the opportunity of seeing them. . . .

On the program for the rest of this school year are the following: "Carnival in Flanders," an internationally famous French comedy, for January 5. . . . "Pygmalion," Bernard Shaw's comedy about a speech teacher who falls in love with one of his students after he teaches her to talk, for February 2. . . . "The Bicycle Thief," Italian drama that ran nearly a year in New York some time back, for March 2. . . . And "Grand Illusion," another great French film, starring Erich von Stroheim, for April 6. . . . Tickets are going on sale right after Thanksgiving, and if you go into the Sheppard Library often you can get one from Miss Copeland, who will have them on sale—at one dollar for the series—the best bargain in good film entertainment we've ever come across. . . .

As we announced above, the book selected for review this week is particularly pertinent, and we hope you read it—and is written by Dr. James Poindexter of the college faculty, an authority himself on speaking out to say what you mean.

But We Were Born Free, by Elmer Davis. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill Co., 1953.

This collection of essays is a year old. Unfortunately, however, it is even more timely now than it was in November, 1953. One says this because the hysterical fear of Communism has grown more acute and what was merely gross in McCarthyism has now become inanely official in the recent decision by the authorities that the question of the recognition of Red China is not even debatable on purely theoretical grounds at West Point. Again, there is the case of Dobbins the printer, who has been declared a security risk because he once worked for a firm which did some printing for the Soviet Information Bureau and because he attended a party at the Russian Embassy. Incidentally, Dobbins reports that at that party he was blocked off from the caviar by a solid phalanx of American brass who had arrived first.

This sort of extremism is the subject of Mr. Davis' book. He is rightly alarmed by the destructive attacks which fearful men have launched on their fellow Americans, and he reminds his readers of Judge Learned Hand's warning that "that community is already in process of dissolution when each man begins to eye his neighbor as a possible enemy." How far we have already proceeded towards this condition, Mr. Davis attempts to show. For example, there is the Bricker Amendment—a manifestation of distrust of the President and of the Senate itself; the Matthews article—a manifestation of suspicion of the Protestant clergy; the attempted purge of overseas libraries—a manifestation of distrust of American authors and of the First Amendment.

Mr. Davis' sharpest blows, however, are reserved for Senator McCarthy and his methods of investigating and judging, which amount to a violent smearing of everyone who does not agree with him or who dares to oppose him. Mr. Davis has no prescription for checking this evil. But he feels that a display of courage will help: "The first and great commandment is, Don't let them scare you. For the men who are trying to do this to us are scared themselves. They are afraid that what they think will not stand critical examination; they are afraid that the principles on which this republic was founded and has been conducted are wrong." It is the author's faith in these principles which illumines his writing—faith in such homespun ideas as that a man must not be convicted on hearsay, that he has the right to know the charges against him, that he has the right to face his accuser.

This book hardly needs a recommendation to those who already admire Mr. Davis as an honest reporter and an honorable citizen. Others, especially those who feel inclined to sign one of the pro-McCarthy petitions now circulating, badly need to read it.

College Day Program Is Planned At High School

Thirty-six institutions will be represented at Greenville High School's sixteenth College Day program Monday afternoon from 1:30 until 3:30 in the high school auditorium.

Purpose of this annual event, sponsored by the local National Honor Society chapter, is to acquaint junior and senior students with the various colleges, universities, schools and the armed services.

For the first time this year parents of the students are urged to attend the program to secure information on the institutions in which their sons and daughters may enroll.

Following a short program, representatives from the following colleges will interview the juniors and seniors: King's Business College, Smithdeal-Massey Business College, Sweet Briar, Saint Mary's, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro College, Wake Forest, Catawba, High Point, East Carolina, Presbyterian Junior College, Hardbarger Business College, North Carolina State, Louisburg, Meredith, Atlantic Christian, Elon, Guilford, Campbell, Pineland, Stratford, Pfeiffer, Mars Hill, Peace, Virginia Intermont, Salem and Mount Allen Junior College.

Also represented will be the University of North Carolina, School of Textiles, Duke University, the NROTC unit from Duke University Oak Ridge Military Institute, Rex Hospital, and the United States Coast Guard.

Round Table Book Club Meets

BETHEL — Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst was hostess to the Round Table Book Club at her home on Tuesday, November 23.

The vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Bunting presided at the meeting. Regular business was discussed.

Mrs. Whitehurst was in charge of the program and had as her topic "Liberace". She gave a most interesting discussion of his life and how he became famous as a pianist. She closed the program by playing several selections of Liberace's whi ehtheMT HTHTHTHR ARace's which the group enjoyed.

During the social hour, congealed dessert and cake were served to eighteen members and the guests who were Mesdames C. P. Womack, J. L. Gurganus, Sr., Davis Lee Whitehurst of Pittsburg, Pa., M.M. Edmondson, and Grover Whitehurst.

MENU ERROR . . . When you have male guests, don't serve them the same dainty salads you give the girls of the bridge club. They don't like 'em.

OUT OF TUNE

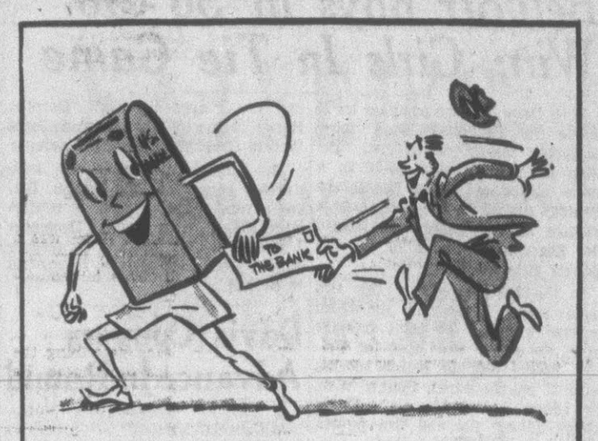

LOWELL, Mass (AP) — Policemen have petitioned for removal of an inter-office communications system at police headquarters which they say, makes it possible to eavesdrop. Superior officers, they say, can tune in on their normal, everyday conversations having nothing to do with operation of the department.

HOT MUSIC?

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A lot of hot air comes out of a radio or TV tube. A manufacturer heats half of a 200,000-square-foot building from 64 tube-testing sets. The sets "give off enough heat to warm 130 six-room houses," company engineers say.

FORMER ECC CAGER AND RANZINO TEAMMATES

Charlie Hufman, All-State and All-Conference Pirate basketballer last season, has signed with the McCrary Eagles semi-pro outfit for the coming season.

The Eagles, located in Asheboro, also signed on Sammy Ranzino, former All-American while playing for the State College Wolfpack a while back. Ranzino will play guard while Huffman, a 6-4 hook shot artist, will perform from forward.

The Eagles, always a strong club whether among semi-pros or colleges, play ECC in Greenville Feb. 7. The appearance of Huffman and Ranzino should rocket ticket sales.

Huffmna was one of the best liked players to ever don ECC's colors. He was the Pirate's second highest scorer in 53-54 and a fine all-round performer. He posses one of the neatest hook shots in the business. He is also head basketball coach at Sanford High this coming session.

Ranzino needs no build-up. After giving pro ball a fling he went into the service and then to the McCrary's. He scored 1,712 points in three years at State. He was twice selected to the All-American lists.

Besides Huffman and Ranzino, Coach Hilliard Nance will bring several other noted cagers into Memorial Gym. Smith Langdon, Don Haithcock, Bob Callicut, Bill Sprinkle, Whitey Allen, A. C. Dunn, and Robert Slayton give the Eagles a formidable aggregation.

SPORTING NEWS SELECTS ALL-FROSH TEAM

The 1954 All-Freshman or All-Rookie baseball team was selected this week. The Chicago Cubs placed the highest number of players—three. The club is comprised of homerun hitters and fancy dans with the glove. The total batting average of the team is .267. The aggregation pounded out 92 home runs altogether, not such a outstanding number. But they produced 1153 hits and got 1725 in total bases.

Making the nine were Joe Cunningham of the Cardinals, first base; Gene Baker of the Cubs, second base; Jim Finigan of the Athletics, third base; Ernie Banks of the Cubs, shortstop; Henry Aaron of the Braves, left field; Wally Moon of the Cardinals, centerfield; Bill Tuttle of the Tigers, rightfield; Jack Sheppard of the Pirates, catcher; and Bill Skowron of the Yankees, utility.

The pitchers for the group are Bob Grim of the Yankees, Jim Davis of the Cubs, Brooks Lawrence of the Cardinals, and Art Fowler fo the Reds. The moundsmen amassed 56 while dropping 29.

JANOWICZ TO QUIT BUCS FOR GRID

Vic Janowicz, the Pittsburg Pirates' $25,000 bonus-baby catcher of the past two seasons, has found professional football more to his liking and has swapped his spikes for cleats irrevocably, it was announced today by George Marshall, owner of the Redskins.

Marshall said, "Janowicz won't report to the Pirates for spring training, he is under contract to play for us exclusively. I'm paying him twice what he got from the Pirates."

Janowicz, after winning All-American honors and the Heisman Trophy award at Ohio State in 1950, signed with the Pirates two years later after a hitch in the Army. At that time, he turned his back on the Redskins offer of a football career.

If Marshall is paying Janowicz twice as much as he was getting from the Pirates, then Janowicz is receiving more than anyone else on the Redskin roster, and Washington has some pretty high-priced charlies.

ARMY-NAVY GAME TO SETTLE THE EAST

For the first time in nine years, the Army-Navy game is more than a great spectacle and the most bitterly-contested tiff of the season. On the outcome of this 55th meeting this Saturday, will rest the championship of the East.

Both teams employ split-T attacks and pack terrific punches. Army, sparked by one of the finest backfields in its history, has scored at least three touchdowns in every game, rolling up 60 points against Dartmouth and 67 against Columbia and 48 against previously unbeaten Yale.

Navy whipped up 51 points against Columbia, 52 more against Penn, 40 against a very good Duke club, and 42 against Dartmouth. Coach Eddie Erdelatz claims this is the finest team he has coached in his five years at Annapolis.

It's hard to say which team will take the field as favorites. These comparitive scores against a comon foe would indicate a standoff:

Army		Navy
60	Dartmouth 6	42	Dartmouth 7
28	Duke 14	40	Duke 7
67	Columbia 12	51	Columbia 6
35	Penn 0	52	Penn 6

Edenton Meets LaGrange For Class A Title

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Old Man Football makes his final appearance in ECC Stadium for the year tonight when LaGrange High School and Edenton High School playoff for the Eastern Class A championships of North Carolina.

Edenton and LaGrange are two of the most outstanding schools in the state and have worked their way up to the Eastern finals. The winner of tonight's game, which starts at eight o'clock, will play the Western Class A champion in the West on December 3.

Tonight's game stacks up as a thriller as both teams sneaked into the playoffs by the flip of a coin, but both teams have stayed in the playoffs with plenty of good, old-fashioned power blocking and tackling. LaGrange was tied with Warsaw for the championship of the East Central Conference and was declared winner by the toss of a coin. Edenton got in the same way when three schools were deadlocked in the Albemarle Conference race.

Beat Defending Champs

LaGrange met Massey Hill, the defending state champion, and eked out a win by 15 yards. The regulation game ended with the score 14-14 and a five minute overtime was played with the team gaining the most yardage declared the winner. LaGrange led in total yardage 40 to 25 in the extra period.

Edenton has pulled two games out of the bag to gain the Eastern finals. They defeated an up-till-then undefeated Scotland Neck eleven for the district title and then edged out E. M. Holt 27-20 in the Eastern semi-finals.

Come Home For Coaches

For the LaGrange coaches it will be a come home game. Beck Corbin and Jim Corbin both attended East Carolina College and participated in sports here. Both worked with the Midget football league in 1952. Beck Corbin, the head coach, was employed by the Greenville Recreation Department and worked there for two years. Both coaches are familiar figures in this neck of the woods.

The two teams are very well matched. Both finished their seasons with 8-2 records, with each losing to a Northeastern Conference team. New Bern beat LaGrange 34-7 while Elizabeth City dumped Edenton by a two-touchdown margin.

Billy Hardison is the leading performer on the Edenton squad. Hardison was elected on the All-Eastern team as a center and is the team's roughest defensive player as a linebacker. His coach calls him one of the best players he has ever coached. Stuart Holland, junior quarterback, is the sparkplug of the offense. He is a good ball handler and is a smart and speedy runner.

LaGrange is a well-balanced club. Billy Hill, all 132 pounds of him, is a senior speedster who loves to simply outrun his opponents. He is the main gun in Coaches Corbin and Corbin's attack.

The game stacks up as one of the best in College Stadium this year. Game time is 8 o'clock with still plenty of tickets available.

Army-Navy Classic Heads Up Saturday's Grid Games

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

The waning college football season takes its final deep breath tomorrow.

Action is skimpy but important. Heading the program is the Army Navy game before more than 100,000 in Philadelphia. This year's contest is more important than usual because the winner will be rated the unofficial champion of the East.

Bowl-wise, they still need a host team for the Orange Bowl, two teams for the Sugar Bowl and the visiting outfit for the Cotton Bowl. The Atlantic Coast, Southeasern and Southwest conference races are to be decided.

Nebraska, the Big Seven runner-up, already has been installed as the Orange Bowl visitor. The Atlantic Coast Conference will vote on its representative after Saturday's games. If Duke beats North Carolina, the Blue Devils will win the title and the voting will be a mere formality.

If North Carolina wins, then Maryland will take the title and should get the nomination, especially after its 74-13 trouncing of Missouri yesterday.

The Sugar Bowl nomination traditionally goes to the Southeastern Conference winner. Mississippi can take it by whipping Mississippi State. Other important SEC games pit Auburn against Alabama at Birmingham and Georgia Tech at Georgia.

Baylor can tie Arkansas for the Southwest Conference crown by getting past Rice. But Arkansas already has been selected for the Cotton Bowl, having beaten Baylor earlier in the season.

Notre Dame entertains Southern California, which will be warming up for its Rose Bowl tilt against Ohio State.

Oklahoma, perennial ruler of the Big Seven, goes after its 19th straight victory, playing Oklahoma A&M.

Army is a slight favorite over Navy, although the two teams appear almost evenly matched on paper. The Cadets have a 7-1 mark and the Middies 6-2. The West Pointers' slim advantage lies in their backfield.

Other games on the slim schedule have Holy Cross at Boston College, Miami at Florida, Wake Forest at South Carolina, Louisiana State at Tulane, Tennessee at Vanderbilt, West Virginia at Virginia, Texas Tech at Hardin-Simmons, Christian at Southern Methodist.

Three conference titles were decided yesterday and a coach may have saved his job.

Denver and Wichita, both of whom usually spend their time on the outside looking in, emerged on top of their leagues. Denver whipped Colorado A&M 34-0, winning its first undisputed Skyline Conference title.

Wichita won the Missouri Valley Conference crown by beating Tulsa 33-19. Wichita has a good chance of being invited to the Gator Bowl, as does Virginia Tech, which completed its first undefeated season in 36 years with a 46-9 triumph over Virginia Military Institute.

The coach who may have had his job saved is Ed Price of Texas. The Longhorns were heavy favorites to win the Southwest Conference championship before the season started but they had a disastrous season. But they came through with a 22-13 victory over Texas A&M.

The word was out that if Texas lost to the Aggies, Price would get his walking papers. The powerful Longhorn club denied it was after his scalp, but the rumors still haven't stopped that he'll be relieved.

Cornell recorded a 20-6 triumph over Penn and as a result finished in a tie with Yale for the Ivy League crown. Both had 4-2 league records.

Two small bowl games also were played. Hastings (Neb.) licked College of Emporia (Kan.) 20-14 in the Mineral Bowl at Excelsior Springs, Mo., and Appalachian (N.C.) took the measure of East Tennessee 28-13 in the Burley Bowl at Johnson City, Tenn.

In a fast and explosive first quarter Charley Roberts raced 54 yards for a touchdown and John Adams scooted over for the vital extra point as the Reds upset the Whites 7-6 in the annual Midget Thanksgiving City Championship game yesterday at East Carolina College.

The powerful White team pushed over a score the first time they got the ball, but from then on the defense of the Red team was just too much.

A Red fumble on the first play of the game gave the White Phantoms the ball on the 37 yard line. Bill Clapp smashed for two yards and on second down fired a pass to Howard Gardner good for five more yards. Jeff Fountain plunged over tackle for the first down at the 27. Quarterback Howard Garner ran wide to the right for a six yard gain to the 21. Clapp went to the left side of the line for eight more yards and a first down at the 13. A loss and a penalty put the ball back on the 20 for the Whites but on second down Garner fired a pass to Jeff Fountain at the 10 and the big White halfback carried it over for the score. On the extra point try Fountain was stopped a full yard from the goal.

Coach Warren Carroll's Red team fought back like a championship team. John Adams brought the kickoff back to the 42. Roberts hit the line twice for four yards to the 46. On third down the running power of the Red attack took the ball on a double reverse and swept down the left sideline for the score. John Adams cracked over for the point and the scoring for the day was over.

In the last three quarters of play the Whites never penetrated the 30 yard stripe of the Red team. The Reds were twice more within the 10 yard line of the Whites but never could score after the first big one.

Roberts was the big gun for the day. The fleet halfback carried 13 times and gained 130 yards rushing. John Adams put on a sharp broken field performance and made several nice runs. The Whites used Clapp and Garner mostly on the ground with Fountain carrying some. After the first quarter, however, the Whites could not budge the Red defense.

On the line for the Whites Roger Collins, Layne Jorgenson, Billy Stocks, and Aubrey Harrison were the standouts. For the Reds Joe Moye, Bit Johnston, Jackie Conway, and Lewis Arthur led the line play. James Earl Henderson quarterbacked the whole show for the Reds and was the sparkplug for them.

CATAMOUNTS WIN

WAYNESVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Western Carolina of the North State Conference showed a powerful offense here yesterday, whipping the Charleston, S. C., Air Force football team, 46-7.

A human heart weighs from 8 to 12 ounces.

Durable Davis In Tonight's Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—For perseverance, Teddy (Red Top) Davis deserves some kind of a prize.

Loser of 47 fights in a 106-fight, eight-year career, the durable 31-year-old veteran expects to earn his reward tonight when he meets power-punching, 24-year-old Percy Bassett in a 12-round elimination bout.

The winner of this fourth scrap between the two leading contenders is supposed to get the next title crack at featherweight champion Sany Saddler.

The Madison Square Garden bout will be broadcast and telecast by NBC at 10 p.m., EST.

Probably no boxer ever has reached Red Top's high position—he's the No. 2 contender while Bassett is the No. 1—with so many defeats. His over-all record is 57-47-2, with 20 kayos. He has been stopped 20 times.

"I wanted to quit several times," said the squat Hartford Conn., Negro. "I had to travel all over the country to get fights. I fought lightweights, welterweights and even heavier guys. I lost so many split decisions I've lost count of them.

"I was ready to quit for good a couple of years ago. I wasn't getting anywhere. But when Mushky Salow took me over the last time I decided to give it another try."

Belvoir Boys In 56-36 Win; Girls In Tie Game

With Doug Parker pumping in 21 points the Belvoir-Falkland boys basketball team overpowered the West Edgecombe team 56-36 in a game played at West Edgecombe Tuesday night. In the girls game a mistake in the score book helped the Edgecombe lassies to tie the Belvoir girls 36-36.

In the boys encounter the two teams stayed close until the third quarter when a 24 point barrage broke the game wide open for Belvoir. Parker led the Belvoir scoring with 21 points which Donald Warren added 13. Doc Moore and David Moore added six and five points, respectively.

The win gives Belvoir-Falkland a record of three wins and two losses for the season.

In the girls game the Belvoir team froze the ball for the last minute thinking they had won the game by one point. It turned out the score on the score book was one behind the scoreboard, and thus the game ended in a tie.

Marline Clark poured in 21 points to lead her mates. Sherry Warren hit nine points and Joan Parker had six. Florence Harrell, Dorothy Harris, Mary Windham, and Joyce Waters sparked the Belvoir defense.

The girls from Belvoir now have a 3-1-1 record for the season. Belvoir's next game will be a conference affair with Ayden December 1 at Belvoir. In the only conference game to date the Belvoir teams lost to Bethel.

Davis Cuppers Advance In Round

MELBOURNE (AP) — America's top three Davis Cuppers, Vic Seixas, Tony Trabert and Hamilton Richardson, advanced today in the Victorian tennis championships.

Seixas, the U. S. champion from Philadelphia, whipped 16-year-old Graham Lovett of Sydney 9-7, 6-4, 6-3. Trabert, the former U. S. titleholder from Cincinnati, drubbed Arthur Gubb, Melbourne, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4. Richardson, of Baton Rouge, La., was impressive in eliminating England's Roger Barrett 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Grimesland, Hookerton Divided Twin Cage Bill

GRIMESLAND—Grimesland and Hookerton split a doubleheader in Grimesland with the Grimesland girls winning 64-46 and the Hookerton boys winning 49-45.

The Grimesland girls stepped off to a quick lead in the first quarter and steadily pulled away after that. Joy Lewis led the scoring for the Grimesland girls with 24 points. Pat Tucker and Becky Mills added 18 and 16 points each.

Janice Moore led the scoring for the night with 26 points in a losing cause for Hookerton.

Grimesland	21	15	10	18—64

Boys Game

In the boys game J. B. Nichols poured in 27 points for Grimesland but his efforts were not enough as the Hookerton team closed out in the final quarter to win. Grimesland led by one point going into the final period but Hookerton took over there.

Tommy Brannon scored 18 points to lead the Hookerton team. Everette Creek added 13.

No Captain For Phillies Of '55

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 1955 version of the Phillies will not have a captain, says new manager Mayo Smith.

The pilot claims that "a captain doesn't help and sometimes can hurt the team."

Catawba Defeats Lenoir Rhyne

SALISBURY, N. C. (AP) — Two first period touchdowns gave Catawba a 14-7 Thanksgiving Day football victory over Lenoir Rhyne. Four thousand saw the North State Conference teams end their seasons.

Quarterback Harold Carter went over from the one for both Catawba touchdowns. The Lenoir Rhyne score came on tailback Joe Gaffey's 85-yard punt return in the third period.

Catawba finished the year with a 3-8 record and Lenoir Rhyne posted a 2-7-1 mark.

CLINCH CROWN

DURHAM (AP) — North Carolina College held the CIAA football championship today following a last quarter 7-6 victory here yesterday over the Greensboro A&T Aggies.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Charles M. Elks of Route 3, Greenville, guilty of speeding 90 miles an hour, failure to stop at a "stop" sign and failure to stop for a police siren.

The court gave him three months on the roads for speeding, suspended on condition that he shall not operate a motor vehicle for 18 months. The judgment also provides that Elks shall not ride in a motor vehicle, except a bus, taxi or public conveyance, for six months, unless accompanied by his mother or father. Judge Whedbee also recommended that his operator's license be revoked for 18 months.

Prayer for judgment in the other two cases was continued on payment of court costs.

Corey Lee Elks of Route 1, Grimesland, aiding and abetting in speeding 90 miles an hour, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. He is not to drive a motor vehicle for six months and the court recommended that his operator's license be revoked for six months.

Lottie E. Forbes, 1106 Kennon St., Wilson, failure to stop at a "stop" sign, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $5 on costs, and she is to make adequate restitution for property damage.

Linwood J. Peel of Route 3, Greenville, following too close, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs. Failure to yield right of way: Bobby D. Haddock, 1208 West Gum Road, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs.

Rufus A. Mayo, 112 Fairfax Ave., prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs.

Johnnie D. French, 1005 Ward St., was found not guilty of making an improper turn.

THANKS TO TOBACCO GROWERS

During the 1954 season the Greenville Tobacco Market sold 68,793,896 pounds of tobacco for $37,106,271.89, an average of $53.94.

This represents an increase of 3,497,262 pounds over the 1953 poundage and an increase of 6,279,712 pounds over 1952.

This splendid record was made notwithstanding the severe drought we had in our area during our growing season last summer.

The Greenville Tobacco Market wishes to express sincere appreciation to the thousands of tobacco farmers who have made this record possible.

Prepare 'High Sea' Christmas Presents

Service men who must spend Christmas day at sea won't have to go giftless, according to James S. Ficklen Jr., chairman of the Pitt County Red Cross Chapter.

The Christmas-on-the-High-Seas program is sponsored by the Red Cross and is made possible by groups throughout the nation which contribute gift packages for troops bound overseas and ship's complements, Mr. Ficklen explained. "This traditional Red Cross service offers a splendid opportunity for local organizations to undertake a worthwhile project," he said, adding that participation in the program would give pleasure to many lonely servicemen as well as satisfaction to the gift-givers.

Pitt County Chapter has been asked to be responsible for 20 gift packages this year. Mrs. O. C. Stroud Sr. of Ayden has sponsored this project for the past three years.

Each package prepared in previous years contained at least three gift items with the total value of each package not to exceed $1.50. All gifts were new and were selected from the following items: pencil with clip, photo folder, billfold, cigarette case, key ring, pencil-type pocket flashlight, pocket-size bottle opener, oilskin pouch, pocket size novel, comic book, playing cards, ballpoint pen, gum or hard candy in airtight cellophane bags, and plastic insert for billfolds.

Mrs. Stroud said the gifts were attractively wrapped and sent to 11th Naval District Headquarters, San Diego, Calif. to reach there by the first of December.

Strongly Oppose Union Of Church

Resolutions opposing the unions of the northern and southern branches of Presbyterians and the United Presbyterian Church of North America were adopted by 175 of that denomination at a gathering at the First Presbyterian Church here Sunday.

Members of the Albemarle Presbytery assembled here to hear the case against the merger of the three churches, after which they registered their "hearty disapproval" of the proposed union. The group also resolved that a copy of the resolution be sent to the clerk of each session of the Presbytery for the information of the church.

In adopting the resolutions the group declared it was not convinced by the arguments proposed by the proponents of union, and it was "deeply distressed by the dissension, strife and divisions caused by the agitation."

It was further stated by the group that it is convinced the proposed union would threaten the growing effectiveness of the church.

The Presbyterians heard an address by the Rev. Dr. Charles G. McClure of Charlotte on the merger, which, if effected, would result in a united Presbyterian body numbering 3,500,000 members, producing the largest Presbyterian group in the world.

The proposal will be decided by the 85 Presbyteries of the Southern wing, whose constitution requires a three-fourths majority affirmative vote. Eleven Presbyteries, it was announced, have already voted, all opposed to the union. The others will vote in January.

Dr. MClure, pastor of Caldwell Memorial church in Charlotte and moderator-nominee of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina, told the group he is opposed to the proposed merger "because of the doctrinal differences between the Northern and Southern Churches." He also stated his opposition due to "the tendency at the North to centralize power in the hands of a few. The union proposal is a move toward ecclesiastical totalitarianism and away from Christian democracy," he declared.

Other speakers on the program included the Rev. Messrs. J.R. Hay, D.D., Ahoskie; and E.L. Willingham, Greenville; and lay leaders R.L. Corbett, Macclesfield; H.H. Palmer, Tarboro; and L.O. Todd, Kinston. Hon. Fred P. Parker, Goldsboro, presided.

Viennese Women Want 'Workers'

VIENNA (AP)—Vienna women still demand old world chivalry from their husbands. But most Viennese wives would rather have men who do their jobs well.

A public opinion institute asked Vienna wives what makes a "perfect husband." Listing various characteristics, 2,500 wives mostly agreed he could smoke and drink as long as he was a good worker and a true lover.

Here are some of the qualities the women listed as essential, in order of importance:

Efficiency in his job, faithfulness, being a good provider, kindness, having a sense of humor, intelligence, chivalry, wittiness, elegance strength, on the wagon, a nonsmoker.

FHA Schedules Monday Meeting

The Farmers Home Administration will conduct a meeting for farmers in this area next Monday explaining emergency storm loans and soil and water conservation loans which are now available to farmers in this area.

The meeting, which will be held in the old hospital building, is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

Ralph Turner, farm management specialist and Charles F. Jeffries farm ownership specialist from the FHA state office, will be present to discuss the loans with interested farmers.

"The recent hurricane and dry weather in certain parts of the south for the past few years has caused the National Office of the Farmers Home Administration, in keeping with the wishes of congress, to make available on an almost unlimited basis, two new types of loans to farmers in Pitt County," David G. Modlin of the local FHA office said today.

"These loans are emergency loans, which we can make as a result of the storm, and soil and water conservation loans that are now available to help combat the drought that has moved in on us in North Carolina and is very much in evidence in certain sections this year."

Modlin said the meeting will consist of an informal discussion and time is to be alloted at the end of the meeting for questions.

He invited all interested Pitt County farmers to attend the meeting.

Went Fishing, 'Hooked' A Still

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Cumberland county Sheriff L.L. Guy and a deputy went fishing and hooked a 200-gallon liquor still.

One of their hooks touched a wire leading to a tree on the bank. It was attached to a submerged copper condenser, and still another wire led to other equipment.

Sheriff Guy theorized that the operators would run off a quantity of moonshine in the nearby wooded area, then hide the equipment in the pond.

Insomnia Hobby Said Dangerous

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Raymond Scully, 27, pleaded guilty to being disorderly by engaging in a dangerous sport or pastime. He was fined $25 and court costs.

Police said they found Scully shooting arrows at Calvin College buildings at 2 a.m. Scully told officers he took up bow and arrow because he couldn't sleep.

Dispute Flares Into Union Brawl

DETROIT (AP)—Two AFL locals reached a truce last night after a smoldering jurisdictional dispute flared into a bloody Thanksgiving Day brawl at the McLouth Steel Corp. plant in the industrial suburb of Trenton.

Fifty construction workers slugged each other with heavy wrenches and pipes in the melee. Six of the men required hospital attention after police broke up the fight by firing four warning shots into the air.

Police Lt. Fred Treska said the fight was between Riggers Local 575 and Millwrights Local 1102.

The men are all employed by the Eichleay Corp., of Pittsburgh, which has a contract to replace an old rolling mill at the McLouth plant.

The two locals provide about 120 of the 2,600 construction workers employed on the 100-million-dollar project.

W. E. Short, Eichleay superintendent, said the two unions have reached "a nearly perfect agreement" on the dispute, involving boiling-down machinery.

Yesterday's brawl reportedly was touched off when 15 riggers barged into the millwrights construction shack and accused them of slugging one of their men Thursday night.

Tim Bies, general foreman for the millwrights, said:

"They spotted the man who slugged the rigger and four or five jumped him. We came to his aid and the battle started."

School Menu

Following is a list of menus to be served in Greenville city school cafeterias next week.

Monday: Beef pan pie with potato topping, sliced beets, biscuit, butter, apple sauce with raisins, milk.

Tuesday: Chicken chow mein with noodles, buttered green peas, carrot strips, muffin, butter, Jello, milk.

Wednesday: Vegetable soup, crackers, pimento cheese and plum jam and butter sandwich, cranberry sauce, cake, milk.

Thursday: Dried lima beans, scalloped tomatoes, steamed cabbage, corn bread, butter, peach halves, milk.

Friday: Salmon loaf, buttered corn, cabbage, carrot and raisin salad, home made rolls, butter, butterscotch pudding, milk.

Mrs. Louise Rush is supervisor of city school cafeterias.

Under a normal pension plan, a fund which would provide $100 a month at age 65 would provide only $70 a month at age 60 but would give $148 at age 70.

BUILDS A FIRE

UNION, S.C. (AP)—Sheriff Clyde Bolden was driving a 14-year-old girl to a state industrial school when she casually asked for a cigaret and match. Just as casually, she set fire to the car seat. While the sheriff was putting out the fire, the girl fled into the woods.

In the Solomon Islands, the suppression of head hunting by British administrators so disrupted the society of the people that there was a sharp decline in population.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Psalms 46; 142.

By Alfred J. Buescher

David, fleeing from King Saul's wrath, hid in a cave. He cried unto the Lord, "I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me; no man cared for my soul."—Psalm 142:4.

"I cried unto Thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my refuge and my portion in the land of the living. Attend unto my cry; for I am brought very low; deliver me from my persecutors; for they are stronger than I."—Psalm 142:5, 6.

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear though the earth be removed; though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea; though the waters roar."—Psalm 46:1, 2.

"The Lord maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; He breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear asunder; He burneth the chariot in the fire . . . Be still and know that I am God."

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 46:1.

In Time of Trouble

GOD IS OUR REFUGE AND OUR STRENGTH

Scripture—Psalms 46, 142.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AS THE TIME of the composition of Psalm 142 may be set around 1005 B.C., when David was hiding in a cave from the wrath of King Saul, we are to study that Psalm first, although it is mentioned last in today's list of Scripture references. Psalm 46 is thought to have been written about 701 B.C.

Driven from the court of the king by Saul's savage jealousy, David hid himself in a cave in the wilderness. Alone, feeling that he had no friends and that his life was in danger, he turned to his Father in heaven to help him, admitting that he was very despondent.

To whom does a child go when he falls and hurts himself, or when his playmates are unkind, or he has other troubles known to children? Why his parents, of course. His mother usually, as she is the one most likely to be near when he needs her. Happy is the child who has loving parents to whom he can turn and in whom he can confide.

If he is so unfortunate as to have no such affection and sympathy in his woes, the effect of such frustration can cripple him emotionally all through life. Teach these young souls that even when human help fails them, they have a heavenly Father in whom to seek assurance and comfort.

Many have prayed to their Maker for help, and when they did so strength was given them to face the future. Thousands, nay millions, have faced death with prayers on their lips, and even with songs of praise for they have believed that though they "walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me."—Psalm 23:4.

God was always very close to David. It was Jehovah that chose him to be ruler over His people, and commanded Samuel to annoint the young shepherd boy with the sacred oil.

Psalm 46 begins with the immortal words:

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea: Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof."

Hurricanes, floods and earthquakes have ravaged the world in the last few years as well as in ancient times. The picture the Psalm gives us is not new. Many people here in the United States have witnessed and experienced such disasters within the last few months.

MEMORY VERSE

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."—Psalm 46:1.

We are informed that the cave in which David took refuge was either the cave of Adullam (1 Samuel 22) or in the caves around Engedi (1 Samuel 24). This is said to be the last of the eight Davidic Psalms which come from the time of his persecution by Saul. That king died tragically soon after on Mount Gilboa in the Philistine victory.

"I cried unto the Lord with my voice; with my voice unto the Lord did I make my supplication.

"I poured out my complaint before Him; I showed Him my trouble.

"When my spirit was overwhelmed within me, then Thou knewest my path. In the way wherein I walked have they privily laid a snare for me.

"I looked on my right hand, and beheld, but there was no man that would know me; refuge failed me; no man cared for my soul.

"I cried unto Thee, O Lord; I said, Thou art my refuge and my portion in the land of the living.

"Attend unto my cry; for I am ught very low: deliver me m my perseeutors; for they are nger than I.

"Bring my soul out of prison, that I may praise Thy name; the righteous shall compass me about; for Thou shalt deal bountfully with me."

Today, in numerous countries people are fleeing from their homelands because of tyranny by changing governments. There must be many thousands who feel as David felt as he composed the lines just printed.

A good many have died here and in other lands. God does not prevent such catastrophies of nature, but He does help those on whom tragedy falls, if they but pray and trust in Him.

"There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the Most High. God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God shall help her, and that right soon."

"Come, behold the works of the Lord, what desolations He hath made in the earth.

"He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; He breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in sunder; He burneth the chariot in the fire."

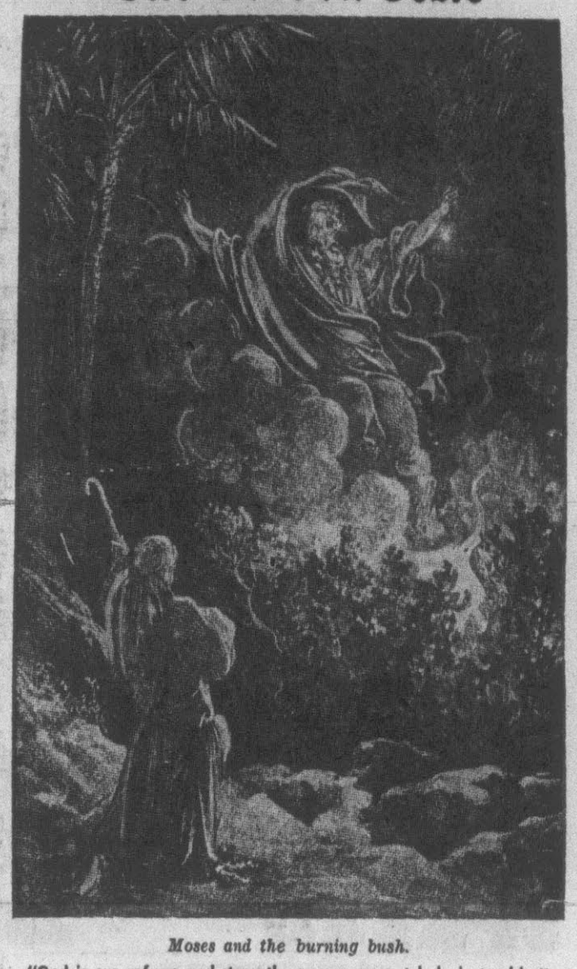

Not yet have wars ceased, the bow and the spear and the chariot broken and burned. New and more dreadful weapons have been found to make warfare far more dreadful than in David's time.

What can we do? We can live Christian lives. We can learn to understand and always to be helpful to others. We can be sympathetic to those in trouble and do our best to assist them to overcome their problems and griefs.

We can try to enter into the lives of people who have very different backgrounds and come from far-off places and treat them—as Jesus did—with courtesy and love. We can look to God who is "our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble," and then we will not fear, even if grief and tragedy strike us, but will have strength to win through.

All this - and more miles per gallon too!

Be sure to test out the phenomenal effect of "variable pitch propellers" in Dynaflow Drive®!

MAYBE—among the upcoming crop of new 1955 models—there's another car with an advance that can hold a candle to this one.

But we doubt it. We doubt it because nowhere—among the rumors of what's cooking in automotive laboratories—is there anything to compare with what's actually happened at Buick.

It all started with the fact that modern air liners get two big advantages because they can change the pitch of their propellers.

First, they get off the ground hundreds of feet sooner than they used to.

Second, they can stretch their gasoline by setting propeller blades at just the right "pitch" for cruising.

So Buick engineers asked themselves—"If you can do it with air, why can't you do it with oil—the oil inside a Dynaflow Drive?"

And to make a long story short—they could, and they did.

They designed and engineered the propeller-like blades inside the "stator" of a Dynaflow Drive so they can change their pitch as much as 75 degrees.

That provides one setting for more-miles-per-gallon, and another for an instant safety-surge of power when it's needed.

All you have to do is push the accelerator pedal down to the last half-inch beyond the full throttle position—and a-way you go!

Of course, there's a lot more to make a visit to our showrooms the "must" of the new-car year.

There's a step-up in styling as sensational as the step-up in power.

And the step-up in horsepower is this: 236 in the ROADMASTER, SUPER and CENTURY—188 in the low-priced SPECIAL.

Pay-off on progress!
Buicks today go a lot farther on a gallon of gas, thanks to constant improvement in Dynaflow and in engine design. Even the new 236-hp ROADMASTER averages 4.8 more miles per gallon than Buicks of six years ago.

But the thrill of the year is Buick's latest engineering "first"—and what it does for the man or woman who drives the latest and greatest Dynaflow Drive.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

The Inheritors

By JANE ABBOTT

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

The restaurant was empty, the tables spread with fresh checkered cloths, pies and doughnuts and sandwiches covered with netting, ready for later patrons. As Wick led the way to a table in a corner Mrs. Plebby appeared from the kitchen. "Why, Wick Middleton! Don't often see you in here at this time o' day."

"That's true, Mrs. Plebby. I want you to meet Miss Jennie Todd, old Josh Trevett's niece."

Mrs. Plebby extended a broad hand. "Glad to meet you, Miss Todd. I remember your ma. Lyddy was older'n me but I remember her. You were the first of old Josh's folks to come weren't you? Ed Pauly said he drove you up. "I've seen your sister go past here in her car but that's all. It's real nice you're here, all together. Josh'd like to know that. It was a big place for him to live alone in, no kin near him."

She brought the ice cream, smiled at Jennie, and left them to themselves.

They chatted about the cats and some other things, and then Jennie remembered that she wanted to ask Wick about the division of the farm. "Will you tell me which part of the land up there is mine?" She thought he looked surprised at her question and she added, with some confusion: "The trees—those stone walls around the fields—I thought it would be rather nice to know which were mine. You see I've never had anything like that belonging to me!"

Wick Middleton smiled. "Your Uncle Josh'd like to hear you say that in that tone! He loved his land. He did make a rough map, marking off what of the farm went with each wing but there has to be a new survey, an appraisal, before it can be definitely divided. As soon as I get the papers back, signed from your brother, things will go ahead. Then . . ." He smiled again. "You'll have your own trees and stone walls!"

He looked at his wrist watch. "Now, this marketing of yours—I suggest you go to the big store down the block. I've time to go there with you, introduce you to Ted Wright. He'll take care of you."

"Thanks." Suddenly Jennie looked aghast. "The bank—I was going to the bank! And it's closed now."

"I rather think we'd find Stan Bellows still there, if we go to the back door. He's all the officers of the bank in one. Guess he'd cash check for you at this hour. We'll go around there now. Then to the store."

"Mr. Middleton, please. you must not go to so much trouble . . ."

But he was not listening to her. He took some money from his pocket, dropped it on the table, got to his feet.

"This way," said Wick when they were out on the street.

An hour later Jennie was driving up the hill to the farm in the back seat of Ed Pauly's taxi, bags of food piled beside her on the seat. She still was holding her breath at what seemed unwonted extravagance on her part—fresh asparagus, a small beef steak. Was there enough to invite Enid and Cindy to share it with her? A flat of onion sets was on the floor of the car at her feet. A letter for Enid in her purse. No letter for Cindy or herself.

The canvas Gary Norbeck had begun the day Enid had come to the cabin was finished. Now, as he stepped back from it, he felt no anger but rather a thrill of satisfaction. This was more like th work he had done, that year when he was studying with Virgil Kessing in Boston. The old artist usually had been slow to praise but he had said of Gary's painting: "You've a gift of sublimating your detail to your lights and shadows. Develop it Norbeck. Don't lose it."

He began to clean his brushes, stopping now and then with one in his hand to walk away from the easel, restudying the painting. "Maybe I'm fooling myself. Shall I send it to Bressi? He'll tell me honestly whether it's good or bad-"

If Bressi praised it, he could start again at that point on which he had turned his back when he met Ursula. He had stood up against Alec's scorn of his choosing an artist's career against his grandfather's disappointment that he was not going to finish college and then step into an executive position in the Norbeck Mills, only to throw that victory to the winds at Ursula's first smile on him. Throw away that gift Kessing had said he had. He'd gone on painting but it always was Ursula. He had sublet a studio in Salem but the movable bar in it was much more conspicuous than his easels; the litter in the room was of overfilled ashtrays, unwashed glasses—not of tubes and brushes, cleaning rags, turpentine bottles. Ursula had called it their hideaway. "Don't work, darling—come and sit here next to me!" Though he had had no thought o. working. He was 22—he had the money his mother had left to him; when he spent it all he could go into the Mills. He was madly in love.

Strangely now for the first time in these three years he could think of that waster of dreams as a man other than himself—one he had known—well, one to be despised. He could recall without pain of hate or love those months before the war when Ursula came every day to the studio. The torn pieces of canvas on which he had painted her face had burned to ashes days ago—Ursula in his memory.

Rounding the barn, he saw both Cindy and Enid in the yard. Cindy was sitting cross-legged on the ground; Enid was ladling water out of a rain barrel. Neither of them was aware of his coming. He was stirred again by the loveliness of Cindy's face, bent now over two cats she was cradling in her lap. It dulled the other girl's face.

Then Enid saw him. "Hello!" Her greeting was indifferent to his ears.

But Cindy's was warm. She sprang to her feet. "Hi! What's that you have with you?"

"My part of our bargain."

"Oh! That isn't fair! I was going to pose for you!" She cried it out reproachfully. "You said I could. Let me see it!" She reached for the canvas.

He stepped back. "Hold—it's still wet. I'll lean it against something." He looked around the yard, chose the wall of the house, stood the canvas carefully against it.

Cindy looked at it. "Why, it's just a lot of paint! You don't see anything!" She came closer then. "Oh yes—there I am! But—" She frowned. "I don't like it—your not putting any clothes on me!"

Gary turned to Enid, who was standing a little away from the painting, studying it intently. "What do you think of it?" he asked.

She said slowly: "I like it. It makes you see something more—more than you see with your eyes." She laughed. "I'm putting it stupidly but that is as near as I can say what I think about it."

Gary was pleased. In other words, it was what he hoped Bressi would say.

"I get what you mean Miss Enid. Thanks."

Cindy turned her back on the painting. "I never studied art appreciation but I know when I like a picture. And you said you were going to no me."

"I'll do another," Gary said.

He picked up the canvas, turned toward the barn, where he would put it in a safe place for the afternoon. "I came up to cut the grass for you," he said to Enid.

Cindy spoke quickly: "I'll rake it, if there's a rake!"

He cut long lanes down and back across the grass and she raked the clippings into a pile.

Enid went into the house, and when she came out again she had washed her hair; it lay wet and unbecomingly flat on her head. She had a bath towel across her shoulders. She sat down on the edge of the porch.

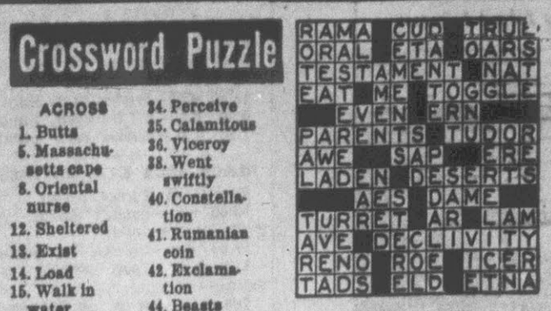

"Looks a lot better," she approved. "Mother'll like it. Only—don't kill yourself!"

"I'm not likely to." Gary came up to the porch. "But I might as well stop—there will not be time to finish around the whole house this afternoon." He sat down beside her.

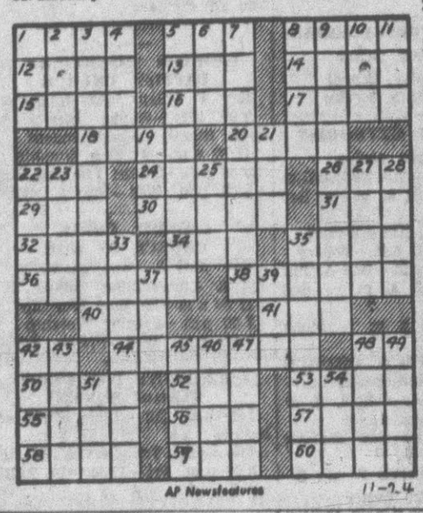

"What are you going to do with that picture?" she asked.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) —Stocks were higher today in a moderately active market in the early afternoon.

Although gains ran to around 2 points in a few instances, losses of a fractional nature were found rather frequently in key sections of the list.

Business was not too rushing when gauged against recent days of unusually high totals. The pace was right around three million shares. That compares with 3,990,000 shares traded in Wednesday's advancing market.

The oils, steel and railroads displayed the most activity. Rails and oils were higher, but the steels were mixed. Chrysler was ahead in an otherwise steady motor division. Aircrafts and chemicals were higher but with some minus signs showing. Copper held unchanged to higher.

Among higher stocks were Seaboard Railroad, Union Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Amerada Petroleum, U.S. Steel United Aircraft, Curtiss-Wright, Radio Corp. DuPont, and Lowenstein.

Lower were Youngstown Steel, Goodyear, Boeing, American Cynamid, International Paper, and American Can.

A block of 15,000 shares of Georgia-Pacific Plywood traded at 27⅝ up 3. A block of 10,000 shares of Curtiss-Wright went at 13⅞ up ⅛.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog prices steady to 25 higher. Tops of 19.75 at Kenly, Beulaville and Castle Hayne; 19.50 at Goldsboro, Freeman, Siler City, Micro Clinton and Elizabethtown; 19.25 at Tarboro, Hamilton, Enfield, Jacksonville, Plymouth, Tabor City, Shallotte, Scotland Neck, Benson, New Bern Rocky Mount, Fayetteville, Lumberton and Rich Square; 19.00 at Burgaw, Clarkton Whiteville, Wilson, Lillington, Weldon, Warsaw, Woodland and Washington.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Central North Carolina poultry markets: Fryers and broilers unsettled, farm price 17-19, most 17-18, f.o.b. plant price, no sales reported; Raleigh eggs steady, A large 44-46.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady, farm price 17, f.o.b. plant price 18¼ eggs steady, A large 38-40.

Two Accidents Reported; No Injuries Involved

Two cars, one driven by L. L. Meeks, 2110 N. Village Drive, Greenville, and the other by R. F. Venters, 1304 N. Greene Street, Greenville, collided at the intersection of Boyd and Venters Streets on Thanksgiving Day.

Damage to both vehicles was approximately $320.00. There were no personal injuries.

On Wednesday at the intersection of 10th and Railroad streets, a vehicle operated by D. W. Bailey, 1308 Washington Street, Greenville, ran into the back of another car driven by Ada L. Jones, of New Bern, according to a police report.

Damage to both cars was approximately $220.00. There were no personal injuries.

$50,000 Damage Suit Is Filed Over Collision

A $50,000 damage suit has been filed in the Pitt Superior Court Clerk's office by Howard M. Evans charging W. Clarence Taylor (trading as the Taylor Transfer Company) and Charles Womack with negligence and gross carelessness leading to a traffic collision on November 25, 1953, on the Fire Tower Road two miles south of Greenville.

Evans states in his suit that he was permanently injured and suffered a severe concussion of the brain as a result of the wreck.

Womack, an employe of the Taylor Transfer Company, was driving one vehicle at the time of the wreck, while Evans was a passenger in a second vehicle.

Bootleg Charge Facing Woman

A Negro woman was arrested last night and charged with illegal possession of non-taxpaid liquor.

Officers identified the woman as Bertha Lee Speight, 1021-A Mack Street, who was taken into custody by ABC officer H. B. Lilley and deputy sheriff Jack Russell when officers found a small quantity of bootleg whiskey on her premises. She was released under a $200 bond for appearance in city recorder's court here Monday.

Seal Sale Is Off To Good Start

The fiftieth anniversary Christmas seal sale shows promising results with collections already totaling $700 more than last year's total at the same time, according to a report from Mrs. J. B. Spilman, executive director of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association.

Mrs. Spilman revealed 518 letters, "very few without money" have been returned since the opening of the sale Monday, with the donations ranging from ten cents to $50. The sale ends December 22.

The director stated December 18 will be Bangle Day for the city with every person asked to wear the bangle pin—the double-barred cross "which is the symbol of hope for the TB patient."

Mrs. Spilman said the association's aim is "to reach every individual, since this is a program for the people, begun by the people."

A.M.E. Zion Conference Endorses Desegregation

The 500 ministers and delegates to the 89th annual session of the Old North Carolina Conference of the A.M.E. Zion Church meeting at York Memorial Church voted overwhelmingly to endorse and support efforts at desegregation in public schools. In helping to further implement the presiding Bishop's Christian philosophy of "One World and One People" the Conference went on record by a majority vote to endorse and augment the growing sentiment to drop the racial designation from the name of the denomination, deleting the word "African" and renaming the church, "Zion Methodist Church." This conference is the first in the denomination to take such an official vote.

Among the visitors in attendance were: Dr. C. F. Spurgeon, Washington, D. C. and General Secretary of the Church, Dr. J. D. Cauthen, Norfolk, Va., Revs. B. T. Medford, Lancaster, S. C., M. D. Nathan, Courtland, Va., O. D. Carson, Williamston, N. C. and A. C. Littlejohn, Newport News, Va., and H. J. Johnson, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Friday will be given over to the missionary emphasis, with Mrs. S. J. Medford, wife of the Bishop, presiding.

Bishop W. C. Brown, Brooklyn, N. Y. and Bishop of the 4th Episcopal District of the A.M.E. Zion Church, will deliver the morning message Sunday, November 28, at 11 o'clock. Pastoral appointments will be read by Bishop H. T. Medford at the afternoon service Sunday at 3 o'clock.

The Old North Carolina Conference also went on record as endorsing Drs. C. F. Spurgeon, Washington, D. C. J. D. Cauthen, Norfolk, Va., and J. A. Babbington Johnson, Elizabeth City, N. C. for the Bishopric of the church. Rev. G. J. Hill, New Bern, N. C. was endorsed for the Church Extension Secretary and Rev. B. T. Medford for the Editorship of The Star of Zion.

Dr. J. A. Babbington Johnson delivered the Educational sermon on Thursday night. An amount of $350.00 was raised for Schools and Colleges.

ANNOUNCING A WHOLE NEW IDEA IN AUTOMOBILES FROM

DYNAMIC AMERICAN MOTORS

From this day on you can forget your traffic troubles. Forget your struggle with the steering wheel. Forget the soaring costs of motoring.

For American Motors has come forth with a whole new motoring idea—a car to meet your new needs today. Styled with the finest—yet with America's lowest prices for sedans, station wagons, hardtop convertibles.

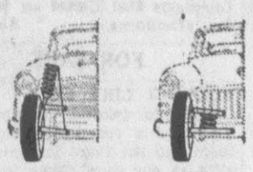

Read the facts here, then see the new 1955 Rambler, at all Hudson dealers and Nash dealers.

NOW—Double Strength SINGLE UNIT Body. You and your loved ones ride in a life-saving "Safety Zone" with Double Strength Single Unit Body. Passengers are surrounded by a safety belt of steel (as illustrated above). Double Strength Single Unit Body helps your Rambler stay new years longer . . . means greater value as a used car.

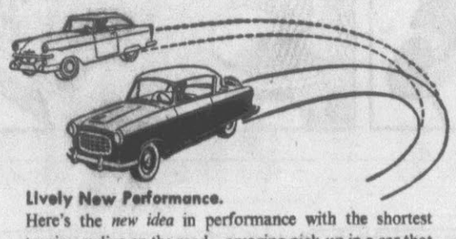

Smartest Car For Travel, Too! The Airliner Reclining Seat with four comfortable seat positions enables you to enjoy a chaise lounge (illustrated), a travel couch, a reclining seat or, in 4-door models, Twin Travel Beds.

Rambler Suspension — Ordinary Suspension

Three Times The Ride Comfort! Rambler Deep Coil Springs (at left) are longer, softer—and braced outward like "Sea Legs" to cushion car sway on curves and give a smoother, quieter ride. Compare the difference with ordinary Spring Suspension (at right).

Lively New Performance. Here's the new idea in performance with the shortest turning radius on the road—amazing pick-up in a car that outdistances them all on a tank of gas. It's the lowest-priced car to offer Hydra-Matic Drive. Ball and needle bearings eliminate need for power steering.

Now All-Season Air Conditioning* for Hundreds Less! Heats in winter . . . refrigerates in summer . . . ventilates year-'round. World's finest, yet lowest-priced.
*Patents applied for.

Newest, Smartest Idea in Station Wagons —the new Four-Door Rambler Cross Country.
