Only Minor Hurts In Fall From Auto

Sitting on his father's lap is two-year-old Willie Junior Spellmon who received only minor cuts and bruises when he fell from his father's auto as the vehicle was traveling 50 miles per hour on the Pacolus highway yesterday afternoon. The boy lost his shoe in the fall and pointed out the spot where he lost it to his father after the accident. The youngster's father, Willie R. Spellmon holds the shoe in his left hand. A two-year-old boy received only minor cuts and bruises after falling from his father's auto as it sped along the Pacolus Highway about 1 p.m. yesterday.

The Negro youngster, Willie Junior Spellmon, apparently opened the back door of the car and fell in the left lane of the highway.

His father, Willie R. Spellmon, of 1493 Fleming Street, said he was traveling about 50 miles per hour when the child fell from the vehicle.

"I was running about 50 miles per hour when all of a sudden the door came open," Spellmon said. "My wife yelled 'You've killed me!'"

The father declared that he waved down a truck which was approaching in the left lane and halted his own car. He got out and ran back down the road to meet his son running toward him.

The child cried "Daddy, you've killed me" as his father swept him up in his arms.

Spellmon disclosed young Willie lost only his shoe in the fall from the vehicle. The child pointed out the spot where he lost the foot gear to his father before they left the scene.

Spellmon stated that he did not know the youngster had fallen from his four-door car until his wife cried out. He said the door opening caused a loud report similar to a tire blow-out and he thought one of his rear tires had gone flat.

The father noted the boy fell through the left door of the vehicle and presumably landed in the left lane of the road on the pavement. He stated that he noticed the truck approaching in that lane and stuck his arm out to wave the truck down.

The child was apparently not knocked unconscious by the fall his father said. Only a few seconds elapsed before he was able to bring the car to a halt and the child was running down the road to meet him when the father alighted from the vehicle.

Doctors found skinned places on the youngster's legs, hands and head, but no broken bones were discovered. He was treated and released from the hospital.

Willie sat calmly while he was examined and cried only when given an anti-tetanus immunization shot by nurses.

Spellmon related he was on the way to his father-in-law's home when the accident occurred. He said four of his children were in the back seat at the time and he believed that Willie, the second youngest, pulled down the handle of the door.

Young Willie will be three on December 10, according to his parents.

He is the second youngest of six Spellmon children.

Fellow Scientists Honor Architect Of Atomic Age

CHICAGO (AP)—Fellow scientists today mourned the death of Enrico Fermi, self-exiled Italian physicist who became the architect of the atomic age.

Fermi died of cancer yesterday at the age of 53. If he had been spared a few more years, Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said, "he might have been saved by medical techniques derived from his own discoveries."

The Nobel Prize winner's controlled release of nuclear energy made atomic power a reality. He first suggested the possibility of an atomic bomb to the U. S. government in 1939. Three years later the atomic pile he built at the University of Chicago provided the key to the manufacture of the A-bomb.

Private burial services are to be held today in Oakwood Cemetery, Chicago.

Fermi's associates will attend a memorial service Friday at the University of Chicago's Rockefeller Memorial Chapel. Fermi was professor of physics in the university's Institute for Nuclear Studies.

His death at his home near the university came as a shock to his physicist colleagues, although many of them knew he was suffering from cancer.

A spokesman said Fermi's experiments with nuclear energy did not contribute to the disease since his work did not subject him unduly to radioactive substances.

Fermi showed the first symptoms of illness in September after returning from a visit to Italy. He said he had difficulty swallowing

An exploratory operation disclosed cancer of the stomach which doctors called "too extensive for treatment."

The scientist was told late in October that he had cancer but not that he was dying.

Just 12 days before his death the Atomic Energy Commission named him the winner of its first $25,000 special award for nuclear work.

Burley Tobacco Crop Is 'Good'

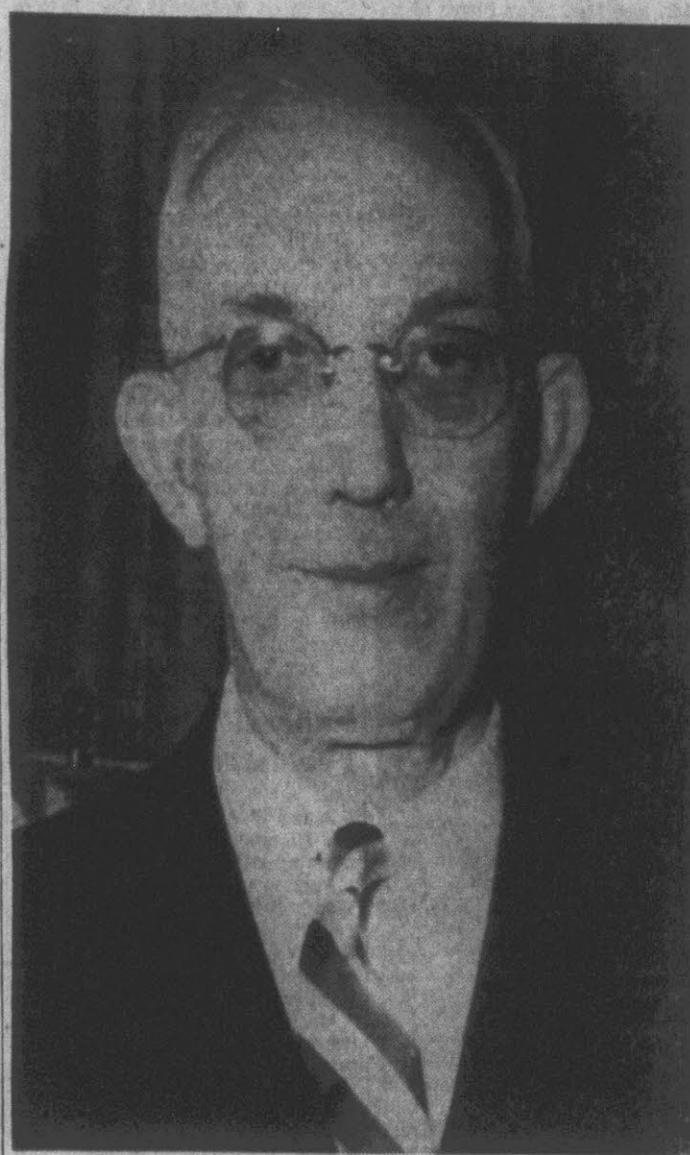

ASHEVILLE (AP)—The best tobacco crop in from five to 10 years is predicted for the three western North Carolina burley markets which open their sales season tomorrow.

Morris L. McGough, executive vice president of the Asheville Agricultural Development Council, said here Saturday that a drought which hit this season apparently did little damage to the burley crop. He declared that color and texture of the crop were good and that there have been few reports of any serious frost damage.

Markets opening tomorrow are here, at Boone and West Jefferson. The state's burley, which is almost entirely grown in western North Carolina, is estimated at 20,520,000 pounds, about the same as last year.

Greenville Physician Named 'Family Doctor Of The Year'

AMA Honor Accorded Dr. Pace

Dr. K. B. Pace

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Karl B. Pace, 66, of Greenville, N.C., today was named "Family Doctor of the Year" by the American Medical Assn. (AMA).

A practicing physician in Greenville for 40 years and active in many community activities, Dr. Pace was chosen from candidates nominated by each state medical society.

His selection for the coveted award as 1954 general practitioner of the year, was announced to the House of Delegates by Dr. Dwight D. Murray, Napa, Calif., chairman of the AMA Board of Trustees, at the opening of the AMA's clinical session here.

Fellow citizens have described Dr. Pace as "one of the most golden assets of his community."

He was a leader in building a hospital in Greenville, started the first venereal disease clinic in North Carolina in 1920 and has served as a director of the Red Cross and the Boy Scouts, Chamber of Commerce and State Bank & Trust Co.

During World War I, Dr. Pace commanded a military hospital train in the British sector of Chateau Thierry.

The award carries a gold medal.

Dr. Pace was named North Carolina's General Practitioner of the Year by the North Carolina Medical Association at its meeting in Pinehurst last May.

A native of Maxton, N. C., Dr. Pace has practiced medicine in Greenville since 1916 with the exception of a brief period during World War I when he served with the armed forces.

He attended medical school at the University of North Carolina for two years, and is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. Dr. Pace came to Greenville in 1916 at the age of 27 and was associated with the late Dr. Charles O'Hagan Laughinghouse who was then president of the state medical society. Dr. Pace was one of the four principal founders of the old Pitt County Hospital in 1923, the first hospital in Pitt County. It was a 42-bed hospital which opened in April 1924, and served the people of Greenville and surrounding area until February 1951 at the time the new Pitt Memorial Hospital was opened.

In addition to his medical practice in Greenville, Dr. Pace has been active in community affairs here for many years. He has served as president of the Pitt County Medical Society, a steward of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, past president of the Greenville Rotary Club, a member of the Greenville Utilities Commission for a number of years, a director of the local Red Cross Chapter, Boy Scouts, Chamber of Commerce, and is a director of the State Bank and Trust Company. He was also a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners for six years.

He is associated with Drs. S. M. Crisp, E. B. Aycock and his son Dr. Charles T. Pace in the firm of Drs. Pace, Crisp and Aycock.

Dr. Pace married the former Miss Lida Taylor of Goldsboro. They have three sons, Dr. Karl B. Pace Jr. of Philadelphia, Dr. Charles T. Pace of Greenville, and Tommy Pace, now serving in the Air Force.

Four Husbands Poisoned, Says Grandmother In New Confessions

Affable Nannie Doss Calmly Describes In Detail How Four Of Five Spouses Slain

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Affable Grandmother Nannie Doss signed additional statements last night that she used liquid rat poisoning to snuff out the lives of four of her five husbands.

She calmly smoked a cigarette as she described in detail how she administered the poison into the food and drink of spouses from four states.

County Atty. J. Howard Edmondson said a murder charge will be filed today against the 49-year-old plumpish, jovial widow for the Oct. 6 death of Samuel Doss, 58, of Tulsa.

Edmondson said the other poisoned husbands and the dates they died are:

Frank Harrelson, Jacksonville, Ala., 1945.

Arlie J. Lanning, Lexington, N.C. 1952.

Richard L. Morton, 64, Emporia, Kan., May 19 1953.

The prosecutor, with city officers and Kansas and Oklahoma agents, has questioned the woman since her arrest Friday night and said investigations into the deaths of four of her relatives probably will be undertaken.

He identified the relatives, whom he said succumbed under strange circumstances, as Mrs. Doss' mother, two sisters and a step-grandson.

After making her confessions, Edmondson related, Mrs. Doss declared "My conscience is clear." He said it was a comment she uttered after each formal statement.

The only surviving husband is Charles Bragg, of Alabama City, Ala. Edmondson said Mrs. Doss told him the marriage to Bragg in 1921 produced four daughters, two now living. They were divorced in 1928.

County Investigator W. A. Lang said Mrs. Doss gave the following reasons for poisoning her spouses: She poisoned Lanning by doping his food. She said she poisoned him on a Tuesday or a Wednesday and that he died the following Friday.

She said she had been jealous of Lanning because he was popular with the women. That was the same reason she gave for placing the rodent killer in the coffee of Morton, a native of Okmulgee, Okla., and of Indian descent.

She claimed Harrelson beat her so she poured liquid poison into his jug of corn whisky.

Edmondson said she denied any connection with the deaths of her sisters her mother or Harrelson's 2 1/2-year-old grandson, who preceded Harrelson in death by two months.

Mrs. Doss permitted an interruption of her interrogation yesterday long enough to make an appearance for television cameras. She sat through a filmed interview at which only questions from authorities were permitted.

Officers said before the filming, she insisted on prettifying herself for the occasion. She smiled and seemed to enjoy herself during the brief questioning.

Edmondson said she told him she poisoned Doss twice because "he was mean to me." Once she poured "a lot of poison on his prunes."

After eating them, he went to the hospital for 23 days. The day after he returned, she was quoted, she gave him a tablespoonful of poison in a cup of coffee.

Doss drank the coffee and died the next day at the hospital, she recalled.

New McCarthy Charge Readied

By JOHN CHADWICK WASHINGTON (AP)—A new charge faced Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today as he returned from the hospital for renewal of Senate debate on whether to censure him for his conduct.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said he would offer the new charge. Two censure counts already have been recommended by a special bipartisan committee.

Bennett's charge is based on McCarthy's attacks on the special committee and its chairman Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), and on McCarthy's describing the special Senate session as, among other things, a "lynch party."

The Senate session was abruptly called off 11 days ago after McCarthy went to the nearby Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital for treatment of an injured right elbow. He said the elbow was hurt when a well-wisher, ardently shaking hands, banged it against a glass table top.

McCarthy emerged from the hospital yesterday with his right arm in a sling, saying it was still painful but he was feeling "very well."

With a number of reporters and photographers gathered at the hospital's main entrance, McCarthy left through a fire exit in the rear. He was spotted by one of the newsmen stationed around the big building's 13 exits.

Yes, the senator said, he would be at the Senate today when it resumes debate. But there was no chance to ask him, before his wife drove him away in their car, what he would do about the Bennett charge.

He did say the sooner the debate on censure is over "the better I'll like it. I have a lot of work to do."

McCarthy and his supporters have denied right along any intentions, suggested by opponents, of delaying things so there could be no vote before the present session automatically ends Christmas Eve. The Senate had seemed near the voting state when McCarthy went to the hospital.

Republican Leader Knowland of California this weekend called on the Senate to reach a decision by Dec. 11, saying he believed there was "a growing demand" for the Senate to dispose of the issue and turn to the consideration of what he termed more important matters.

Bennett made public yesterday his new charge. It sets out that McCarthy accused the Watkins committee of acting as the "unwitting handmaidens," "involuntary agents" and "attorneys-in-fact" of the Communist party and of imitating Communist methods in its report recommending he be censured.

These charges of McCarthy's were made in a speech which he never delivered but which he inserted in the Congressional Record after giving advance copies to the press.

Bennett's resolution also declares that McCarthy described the special Senate session as a "lynch party" and a "lynch bee," accused three of the censure committee members of "deliberate deception" and "fraud" and called Watkins "cowardly" and "stupid."

These actions of McCarthy's, the resolution states, "are all contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tend to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute, to obstruct the constitutional processes of the Senate, and to impair its dignity."

Russia And Puppet Powers Hold Talk

MOSCOW (AP)—Delegations from the Soviet Union and seven Communist nations of Eastern Europe gathered here today to take "immediate measures" to assure their security. The United States and West European countries declined invitations to attend.

The conference is expected to pave the way for formal inclusion of East Germany in the Communist military system as a counter to the Western agreement to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Alliance.

Delegations from East Germany and Poland arrived in Moscow Saturday, and those from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Albania arrived yesterday. Communist China sent observers.

Heading the Soviet delegation is Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, assisted by Deputy Foreign Ministers Andrei Gromyko and Valerian Zorin.

In originally inviting 24 countries to the parley and proposing that it be held in either Paris or Moscow, the Soviets frankly aimed at preventing ratifications of the Paris pacts to rearm West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Molotov first suggested on Nov. 13 that the 25-nation conference be held Nov. 29. A week later he offered to set a later date and warned that rejection of his proposition would force Soviet Union and her allies to take countermeasures for their own security.

The United States, Britain and France quickly made it clear they would not sit down with the Soviets until the Paris accords were ratified by the parliaments of the signatory nations.

The group also disconnected the outside oil tank and removed it from the house.

The owner of the house remarked that the fire burned through electrical wires leading to the dwelling and they sparked as they lay on the ground for a time. Utilities workmen soon arrived at the fire scene and disconnected the live wires.

Hoses were laid across the highway from water pumps across the road which were used to re-fill the Greenville fire truck as it pumped water on the burning building.

About $2000 in fire insurance was carried on the house and its furnishings, according to Haddock.

No one was in the house when the fire broke out. Haddock is married and has three children. His family was visiting with neighbors when the fire started.

Home And Furnishings Lost In Swift Sunday Afternoon Blaze

A service station operator at Cox's Crossing lost his home and its furnishings when fire roared through the house yesterday afternoon.

Alton Haddock of Greenville Rte. 1 said the blaze which destroyed his home apparently started from an oil stove in the four-room home sometime between 12:30 and 1 o'clock.

Haddock stated that all his belongings in the house were lost to the blaze with the exception of a washing machine and a basket of dirty clothes which friends in the small community on N. C. 43 were able to pull from the house.

The Greenville Fire Department was called to the scene but the fire was out of control when they arrived.

He credited the department with saving the water pump, several out-buildings and the nearby service station from being swept away by the fire, however.

Explosions were averted when the group fighting the fire disconnected the bottled gas tanks on the outside of the house and pulled them a safe distance from the burning building.

Home Left In Smouldering Ruins

Pictured above are the smoldering ruins of a four-room home which was destroyed by fire at Cox's Crossing yesterday afternoon. The house was owned by Alton Haddock who also operates a near-by service station which was not damaged by the blaze. Haddock said he had about $2000 insurance on the house and its furnishings. The Rev. W. M. Howard pastor of the bride officiated at the ceremony which was preceded by a program of organ music and songs presented by Mrs. Paul Toll organist and Mrs. Walter E. Briley soloist. Selections rendered by Mrs. Toll included "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, "Traumerie" by Schuman and Mrs. Briley sang "Always" by Irving Berlin. As the couple left the altar bells from the church tower were rung. Lighted candles, large white chrysanthemums and pom-poms and

They wore ballerina gowns of burgandy velvet and net fashioned after the maid of honor's and carried similar bouquets.

The bride entered the church with her father by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding gown was of rose point lace and nylon tulle. The fitted bodice was fashioned with mandarin neck and long sleeves that ended in points over the hand. The bodice was enhanced with tiny seed pearls and iridescents. Her very full skirt of french lace and tulle over satin flared from a fitted waistline. Her finger tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a cloche of matching lace and seed pearls. She carried a formal bouquet of white garza mums and centered with a white orchid, lightly showered with bridal satin and frenched mums.

Mrs. Leichter, mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding a costume suit of sunset blue faille with navy accessories. With this she wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Briley, step-mother of the groom, wore a dress of dion blue crepe with bolero and navy accessories.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Leichter. She received her education in the city schools and East Carolina College. She has a host of friends wherever she is known.

The groom is a graduate of Greenville High School and is now serving in the United States Army, stationed at Fort Leslie J. McNair, Washington, D. C.

For traveling the bride wore a gray and blue three piece wool suit with gray accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live in Washington, D. C. temporarily.

Meredith College Alumnae Entertain Senior Girls At Tea

The members of the Greenville Chapter of Meredith College Alumnae Association were hostesses to the girls of the senior class of the high school on Friday at the Educational Building of the Memorial Baptist Church. Other guests at the tea were Miss Louise Fleming, Dean of Women at Meredith, Miss Mary Bland Josey of the Department of Public Relations of the college, and a number of Greenville girls who are now attending Meredith.

In closing Miss Josey spoke briefly of some of the special advantages Meredith has to offer her students and also of the expanding facilities which are planned for the college.

The guests were greeted on arrival by Mrs. L. M. Buchanan and Mrs. Paul Davenport, Miss Lella Higgs, and Miss Barbara Cosart directed them to the lovely parlor of the church which was decorated with deep red chrysanthemums, berries and white candles. The college colors were repeated also in the dainty refreshments served from two attractively appointed tea tables by Mrs. J. L. Winstead and Mrs. L. A. Whitehurst and by Mrs. Raleigh Lee and Mrs. Wendell Smiley, assisted by Misses Sarah Smiley and Betty Derricks.

In a delightfully informal fashion Misses Sarah Lee, Lou White Winstead, June Barnhill and Marilyn Bessie, students at Meredith, talked with the group about life on the campus emphasizing the diversity of activities comprising the well rounded program and the many opportunities each student has for happy and fruitful participation in both work and recreation.

New Mission Project To Be Outlined Tuesday

A new missionary project in West Africa will be presented in an address by the Rev. John W. Brooks of Dunn in services to be held in the First Pentecostal Holiness Church, of Greenville on Tuesday, November 30, Pastor H.E. Johnson has announced.

The Rev. Mr. Brooks, a veteran missionary of the Pentecostal Holiness church, will direct the missionary activity of his denomination in West Africa, leaving the United States early in 1955 to assume his third tour of educational missionary work in Africa.

For near 20 years, the Rev. Mr. Brooks and Mrs. Brooks were in Johannesburg and Durban in South Africa, and recently the minister-educator has been in the pastorate in North Carolina. Mr. Brooks will be in charge of the new educational and church building program in West Africa for the next three years, according to preser' plans.

In October, November and December, the presentation of the project to local churches is being

Winter Quarter Begins Today At East Carolina

East Carolina College opened this morning for the winter quarter. Students, returning to the campus after Thanksgiving holidays extending from last Wednesday noon until today, spent the morning and the afternoon hours registering for their work for the winter. Classes will begin tomorrow morning at eight o'clock.

Registration for the present quarter is expected to exceed that of the same period of 1953-1954, when 2098 men and women were enrolled for courses taught on the campus. The enrollment for the fall quarter this year reached the record-breaking total of 1340 men and 1256 women registered for work on the campus.

In many forms of writing, only the consonants are represented, the vowels being omitted.

Three Accidents Reported In City During Weekend

Police report 3 traffic accidents over the week end within the city limits of Greenville.

On Sunday, Joseph Earl Pridden, of 2307 E. 4th Street, Greenville, suffered a fractured rib when a car he was driving was involved in an accident at Pitt and 5th Streets with a second vehicle operated by James L. Brewington, Negro, of 1710 S. Pitt Street, Greenville.

Pridgen has been formally charged with failure to yield the right of way. Approximately $500.00 damage was done to both cars.

On Saturday, Mrs. Cleveland Johnson, Greenville, suffered a severe cut over her left eye, and was sent to Pitt Memorial Hospital, after a car in which she was a passenger, operated by Lena J. Evans, Greenville, collided with another vehicle driven by C. J. Savage, Negro, of Greenville.

The Evans woman has been charged with failure to yield the right of way. Damage to both cars was approximately $350.00.

Also on Saturday, a car driven by Stuart S. Crawford, Route 2, Greenville, ran into the rear of a car operated by Eleanor Smart, of Melvindale, Michigan, according to a police report. There were no personal injuries in this accident, and only slight damage to the Smart woman's car.

Funeral Service Held For J. Wyatt Meeks

Mr. J. Wyatt Meeks, 69, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital at 8:30 Sunday morning after being critically ill for several days.

Funeral services were conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel at 3:30 Monday afternoon by the Rev. C. D. Patterson, Presbyterian minister of Greenville, and burial was in the Allen Family Cemetery.

Mr. Meeks spent his early life in the Stokes community and was a lifelong resident of Pitt County. He was a retired grist mill operator and was a member of Piney Grove Free Will Baptist Church. He was married to the former Mary Harrington and her death occurred in 1951.

He is survived by two sons, Elmer Meeks of Greenville and Dewey Ray Meeks of Newport News, Va.; a daughter, Mrs. Johnnie J. Cannon, of Guam; three grandchildren; a brother Ernest Meeks of Stokes; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Briley of Kingston, Mrs. Renda Hannah of Old Ford, Mrs. Fannie Harrell and Mrs. Lillian Taylor of Stokes.

May Be Surprised At What Comes To Light

When Junius Scales goes on trial in Greensboro for his alleged communist activities, a revealing story of Red activities may unfold for people of the Tar Heel state.

Most North Carolinians view communist activities in this country as work by the subversives which goes on in large cities in the Northern states and perhaps in the midwestern and Pacific Coast states. For the most part we give little thought to the possibilities of communist activities in

The Situation Needs Further Study

The Reflector is glad to see the Greenville Planning Board has tabled action on a proposed fire-substation site in the eastern section of the city.

At a previous meeting the Planning Board had given its approval to a site at the intersection of Elm and Fourteenth Streets, and at the time of that action, The Reflector questioned editorially the wisdom of the selection. We still question the wisdom of the selection of that site in view of the amount of traffic at the intersection because of the close proximity of a major recreation area and two schools, one which is under construction and one which is in the planning stage.

It is encouraging to note that the Planning Board this week tabled action on the site until a survey can be made by an engineer of the Fire Underwriters Association. Perhaps the report from the association will say the proposed site is the best possible one for the proposed sub-station. Perhaps it will not.

At any rate, we are still of the opinion the Planning Board should give thorough consideration to the traffic safety problem which a sub-station will affect regardless of its location. To be sure a fire sub-station must be strategically located to afford the greatest fire protection for the area it is intended to serve. At the same time, all other considerations can not be completely disregarded in choosing such a site.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
KEEP SHINING

The traffic lights at a nearby intersection keep changing from red to green all day, and all night, too, although the streets are not main thoroughfares, and there must be hours in the night when not a single car passes. Some householders in whose windows the lights shine have complained about the wastefulness of having them operate during the traffic-free hours of the night.

But in the 24 months before the lights were installed, three fatal accidents occurred there. In the seven years since then, not one has happened.

A great many tasks in life are as routine and as apparently pointless as the steady flashing of those lights down empty streets at night. This sort of task may be very discouraging. "Why should I do my best work," one man asks, "when I'll get paid just the same for a careless job?" "Why follow regulations," asks another, "when nobody can see whether I break them or not?"

But the truth is, good work is always better than bad work; the right way is always better than the wrong way even when no one sees the difference. The traffic lights must shine for thousands of hours to be sure of working during that important second that will save a life.

We can't always tell what the important job is, or when the vital moment will come.

Missing Chapters Are Filled In

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Frank Braden, press representative for Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, has filled in missing chapters of the anecdote I recently described in this column—namely, how Lyta Graf, a midget from his show, met the late J. Pierpont Morgan during the Pecora investigation of Wall Street on Capitol Hill.

Writing from New York, Frank says: "Left the Big Show at Jacksonville, Fla., Saturday, and arrived here an hour ago. I find a copy of your Morgan-Midget column before me. Your account clears up the whole episode.

"It tells me at last what happened to Lyta Graf after she had reached the corridor of the Senate Office Building, outside the doors of the Pecora Inquiry Committee room.

ORIGINATOR OF MIDGET STUNT—"You are the newspaperman, although I was not sure until I read your factual account, who made the fabulous stunt REALLY FABULOUS by persuading Al Nessansen, new Acme man in Washington that forenoon—June 1, 1933—to bring Lyta inside. You got him and Lyta into the Senate Committee Room, passed the Senate guards, and encouraged Al to put her on Morgan's knee.

"Al was the chap you thought was a 'circus press agent.' Damon Runyon said he was a 'ruddy-faced fellow in a brown suit.' Al Nessansen hoped to do was to waylay Morgan when he left the Committee Room for lunch. We had chatted out the Carlton Hotel, where we knew he was staying.

MINIATURE "GRANDE DAME"—"As I have said hundreds of times in discussing the incident throughout the country, Lyta was a 'miniature grande dame.' She spoke excellent English.

"I can understand Nessansen's needing your encouragement and escort. J. P. Morgan was an awesome figure—he had just broken a camera on the incoming Berengaria before his appearance at the Pecora inquiry. I had told the photographer that afternoon in the National Press Club that I would not—and could not—appear personally.

North Carolina, although Scales' presence in Chapel Hill for a number of years lent strong support to assertions there was communist activities in the state.

When Scales goes on trial, the FBI will present evidence to support its charges that Scales is a dangerous Red who has been working for the overthrow of the United States government. In doing so, the FBI will include in its testimony many of Scales' activities. It is our guess that this testimony will be a revealing picture to North Carolinians about communist activities in their own state; for while the FBI probably will not reveal any more information than it feels necessary to gain a conviction of Scales, it doubtlessly will contain an enlightening commentary on Red activities in North Carolina.

While very few North Carolinians are indifferent toward communist activities in the nation, most of us have an attitude of "it can't happen here." We feel such activities are confined to big cities and areas other than our own.

Whether or not the Scales trial brings into the open information on communist activities in North Carolina as we anticipate, the testimony at the trial should attract widespread attention from citizens of the state.

More Reason For European Defense

Moscow's eastern European defense meeting which began today appears to us another Red bluff aimed at intimidating the Western European nations.

It is clearly a counter move by the Reds to off-set the free nation's decision to rearm Western Germany. The Red meeting supposedly is for the discussion of rearming Eastern Germany and other eastern European nations under the communist heel.

The inference, of course, is that these nations at present are not armed. If Moscow thinks the free nations will swallow that yarn, it has poorer judgment than we have supposed. The Russian army and the secret communist police in those Eastern European nations have and are serving as effective armed forces in keeping communist control in that occupied area. The threat from these military forces is what has prompted the free nations to place so much emphasis upon their own rearmament, and the rearmament of Western Germany to bolster the western defenses.

After trying to lull the West into believing the Soviet had not massed military might in these dominated, Moscow now apparently is trying to scare the west by openly calling for a greater military build-up in the eastern European nations it holds.

This latest Soviet move is more reason for the free world to stick by its plans to build up its military strength in Europe.

"As an ex-midshipman, an enlisted man in the 8th U. S. Infantry and a Second Lieutenant in the 26th U. S. Infantry Regiment, I had too much awe of senatorial dignity—and of Morgan!"

AN IMAGINED LINE—Frank ercs, however, when he credits Lyta with the line, "I live in a tent, sir," supposed to be her reply to Morgan's question as to where she lived. That response was a definite and deliberate, imaginative bit of Ray Tucker's, then a reporter for the New York World-Telegram. It gave color to the story, and it hurt nobody.

The financier knew where she lived because, after I had led her and Al Nessansen to within a few feet of Morgan and his partners, I slipped behind the press table to listen to their conversation. Morgan turned to me and asked where the little creature came from. I told him that she was a midget from the circus who, being the smallest woman in the world, wanted to "meet the world's richest man."

Perhaps the most enjoyable line in Frank's letter is the postscript: "The Royal Box will be yours when RB and B and B comes to Washington!"

TALK WITH J.P.—Since the publication of my column on how the Midget came to meet Morgan, and my reference to a subsequent interview with him, many readers have asked me what his views were on economic conditions, politics, etc. He forbade me to publish them then, but there is no bar now.

He hated Roosevelt and the New Deal, believing that that would bankrupt the country. But he felt that the United States was so great, so rich, so energetic, that it would survive. He hated American noises, especially the constant ringing of bells. He loved the peace the quiet and the orderliness of England.

He exploded when I suggested that he was largely responsible for the peal of bells in this country.

"How do you explain that?" he asked.

"Well," I replied, "who but the house of Morgan, with its bond issues, has financed telephone bells, railroad and trolley bells and whistles, door bells and every other kind of bell in the United States?"

"I never thought of that!" he said. "You're quite right!"

That Holiday 'Pay'

By ELMER ROESSNER
One of the most common hallucinations of the American working man is that he gets something for nothing on a paid holiday.

It seems like it at the time. But it doesn't happen.

Take Joe. Joe gets Friday, December 24, off. He gets paid, say, $17 for that day. On Thursday December 23, he will work and get paid $17 for that day. So it's obvious isn't it, that he is being paid $17 for doing nothing on December 24, Christmas Eve?

No. Employers, statisticians and personnel managers figure it this way: What a man costs per hour is not what he gets paid an hour, but what he gets paid per year, divided by the number of hours he works each year. And what he gets paid includes all the fringes—senior payments, hospitalization, vacations, sick leave, salt tablets, holidays and time off for funerals.

Take Joe. And take him if you get a chance, because Joe, as a typical American workman is solid stuff and one of the best producers in the world. Joe gets—or thinks he gets—$85 a week. That's the scale for 40 hours. It comes to $2.12½ an hour.

But the personnel man figures it differently. Joe gets paid for 52 weeks a year—$4,420. On top of that, social security, payments into pension funds, hospitalization and all the other fringes bring the total up to $4,619 a year. Allowing for vacation, Joe works 50 weeks a year, less six holidays, less five days paid sick leave. At five days a week, that leaves 239 days, which means Joe gets—in cash and benefits—$19.29 a day or $2.41 an hour. That's a better rate than Joe imagines he is getting, but it doesn't include pay for holidays or fringes.

When Joe thinks things through, he understands that. He knows no boss can afford to pay him for work he doesn't do. What actually happens is this: Joe earns $2.41 an hour, but he lets the boss hold back 28½ cents an hour and when vacation time, holidays or fringe benefit times come, Joe gets it back.

And if Joe's union demands a seventh holiday a year—a New York union once suggested William Randolph Hearst's birthday—why the personnel men simply consider it a request for a cent-an-hour increase.

Merry Christmas and a happy New Year, Joe!

STATISTICS TO DAMPEN ALL OTHER STATISTICS

When you were chomping a frankfurter at the beach last summer, did you notice that little man at your elbow? Well, there must have been one there, jotting notes in a little book, because the Transparent Package Co., Chicago, announces with a straight face that a total of 2,491,400,000 hot dogs were consumed between Memorial Day and Labor Day. After that statistic, leave us have no more snide remarks about the lack of meticulousness of government figures!

COLOR IN FURNITURE UPHELD BY UPHOLSTERY

People are accepting color more and more, the Joan Newsletter concludes after studying trends in upholstery fabrics.

In the July-September quarter, reds, light greens, lime, chartreuse turquoise, charcoal, natural and grey shades increased in demand, while dark greens, beige, tan, cocons and brown decreased.

Popularity of natural and grey shades does not upset the theory, the newsletter points out. When furniture itself is more colorful, people naturally buy the less luminous colors in upholstery.

No Record Farm Crop, But Total Is Relatively Large

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — In my release of last July, I was quite bullish on the national crop outlook. Final results, which now are just about all tallied, largely confirm my earlier optimism. Although the 1954 total volume of all-crop production will not chalk up a new record, it will still be relatively large.

CROPS ABOVE AVERAGE

Despite a series of hurricanes, severe drought in some areas, sizable shifts in land use and government controls, most of the miscellaneous crops are above the 1943-1953 average. Included in this group are oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, rice, sorghum grain, cotton, all hay, dry edible beans, dry field peas, soybeans, tobacco, sugar cane, and sugar beets. Cotton—a major crop—is also above average. Below-average crops, however, include such major crops as corn, wheat, peanuts, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, and hops.

The outlook for fruits is, for the most part, favorable. However, I expect below-average crops of grapes and commercial apples. Supplies of the delectable cranberry will be sufficient to meet holiday, as well as winter needs. A whopping early and mid-season outturn of citrus fruit is indicated. The pear crop should be about average size. Pecans are likely to be in short supply in the year ahead. In the case of almonds, filberts, and walnuts, I expect above-average crops.

CORN AND SOYBEANS

The indicated corn outturn of 2,938,713,000 bushels is down 7.5 per cent from 1953 and 4 per cent below average. This crop may well fall short of probable consumption in 1954-1955. However, the October 1 carryover of 918,200,000 bushels (largely in the

Rights-Of-Way Costs Run High In N. C. Road Building

By LYNN NISBET

PARTICIPATION — Among the interesting facts contained in the Bureau of Economic Warfare survey report is that sixteen percent of primary highway construction costs is represented in rights of way. In other words it costs one-sixth as much to get a place to put the road as it does to build it.

Another item is that thirteen percent of highway construction and maintenance is spent inside municipalities. Elaborating on this point it is discovered that municipalities pay more out of ad valorem property taxes for public roads within their borders than the State pays from highway funds. In addition to the construction and physical maintenance, the cities and towns spend millions more for traffic police, signal lights and street signs—incidentals which are paid for by the State on roads outside the cities.

It is further developed that in addition to what the municipalities as governmental units spend out of tax moneys, abutting property owners are assessed substantial amounts for paving along their lots. In rural areas neither the county government nor the property owners share in the cost of highway construction—except to the extent some contribute land for rights of way to perhaps greater degree than is contributed in cities and towns.

One of the suggestions made in the report for relieving the burden on the highway fund is that the State should be called upon to pay for roads, or such part of the cost of roads, only as much as that particular road yields in highway revenue. Local governments and adjacent property owners should assume the rest of the expense. Application of that policy undoubtedly would take present state aid from a number of municipal streets; but it would take millions more from many miles of rural roads.

CAGEY — The suggestion for local participation in road costs, and numerous other proposals for shifting part of the burden from highway user taxes, were couched in very general terms. The careful choice of words led one reporter to conclude that the author of the recommendation "must be running for the legislature somewhere."

The idea is supported by a table showing that North Carolina highway users pay a larger part of the total cost of roads than do those in other States. While most of the States now have a degree of centralized control, only two or three small ones put the entire burden of roads and bridges outside municipalities, on the highway-use taxes collected by the State.

STRUCTURES — In engineering parlance a highway "structure" is a bridge, over-pass or under-pass of twenty feet or more. It may surprise some people to learn that the cost of structures and approaches is almost as much as the cost of grading and paving on the highway system; and that the aggregate cost of land structures, that is over-passes and under-passes and dry bridges, just about equals the cost of all structures over streams and sounds.

The report contains numerous other comparative data which may not be at all new to highway engineers, but will help the public to better understand the problems of highway financing. The survey cost the State $10,000 and highway officials are confident it was worth the price.

In analyzing the report for a group of reporters the other day James S. Burch, statistical and planning engineer for the highway commission, said it approximated a book of 140,000 words, and that while much of the information was culled from highway files and records there had been a lot of original on-the-ground research.

EMBARRASSING — Criticism of Senators Sam Ervin and Kerr Scott for failure to show up for advertised places on the Farm Bureau convention program, reminds of the numerous instances of embarrassment occasioned by inability of public officials to meet tentative engagements.

In nearly every instance members of the Congress and high level officials in State and Federal government, accept invitations to appear on public programs conditionally. The condition being their ability to get away from the main job at that particular time. Often emergencies arise requiring immediate attention in their offices. Meanwhile the programs from the conventions or entertainments have been printed listing the big shot as a main attraction, without any reference to the conditional acceptance. That occasions unfair criticism of the official and embarrasses the sponsors of the program.

In the instant case Senators Ervin and Scott attended the hurricane relief conference at all of Governor Hodges on Monday afternoon as an important part of their official duties. Whether conditions preventing travel and demand of other official duties made it impossible for them to get to Asheville Tuesday.

Governors have frequently found themselves in similar situations. The late Governor Broughton once said he was not sure which was the better course, to decline all invitations and then show up if he found he could—which would throw the arranged program out of kilter—or to continue the conditional acceptance and occasion embarrassment to the sponsors and criticism for himself when he could not keep the tentative appointment.

TWO LOOKS SEE NEW ADVERTISING HIGH IN '55

Advertising expenditures will reach new highs next year, according to two educated guesses.

Eldridge Peterson, editor of Printers' Ink, told a Philadelphia meeting that advertising investment in 1955 should reach at least $8,750,000,000. A Wall Street Journal survey of advertisers and agencies finds that "expectations of still stiffer competition promise to shove the spending to another record high."

"The only people who are afraid of those who know they aren't doing what is right," he said. "When you know you are doing what is right, you have your security inside you—and that's the only place you'll ever find it."

Eisenhower Returning To Desk In Washington

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
 AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower returns to Washington late today amid signs he may speak soon in a growing controversy over how to deal with imprisonment of Americans by Chinese Communists.

The President, ending a five-day vacation here, faces pressures from some political leaders, notably Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), and from wives and mothers of the captives, for stronger American action.

Knowland, Republican leader in the Senate, declared over the weekend the United States has a moral obligation to "use more than words to protect Americans abroad." He called for a naval blockade of the Chinese coast to try to force release of 13 Americans jailed on "trumped-up" spy charges.

White House Press Secretary James Hagerly said late yesterday Eisenhower would have no comment "at this time" on Knowland's proposals. Nor was there any comment now on pleas from the captives' relatives and others for more than "perfunctory denials."

Hagerly's emphasis on the phrase "at this time" suggested the President is preparing to speak at a later date.

On Thanksgiving Day, Eisenhower sent personal telegrams to wives and mothers of the captives, pledging that this government would press resolutely and tirelessly every "feasible" effort to free them. He has never spelled out in detail what action he had in mind.

In Vista, Calif., Mrs. H. L. Stier, one of the mothers, said she considered this "no more than a form letter." In New York, retired Army Capt. Eugene R. Guild, claiming to represent more than 350 relatives of servicemen held by the Communists, released a letter to Eisenhower asking if the President intends to "abandon" the prisoners.

Liquor Violation Charged To Four

Four Pitt County Negroes were charged with violations of State liquor laws during the week-end as local ABC officers staged raids in various sections of the county.

ABC officer J. M. Ward identified those charged with the violations as Jimbo Patrick, Negro, and his wife Mable Patrick, both of Winterville; Arlene (Bella) Burney, Negro, of the Bell Forks community; and Clinton Burnette, Negro of Grimesland. All were charged with illegal possession of non-taxpaid liquor.

Patrick and his wife were arrested by ABC officers and Winterville Police Chief Preston Hardy Saturday and recognized to appear in County Court. Arlene Burney was arrested by officers Saturday night and released under a $300 bond for appearance in County Court. Burnette was arrested Saturday night by ABC officers and Grimesland Police Chief Faulkner and constable Ben Forrest. State wine inspector O. G. Lamb also participated in the arrests in two of the cases.

 SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A check for $7,321,500 will be presented to the state of Utah today by Kennecott Copper Corp., the highest single corporation tax paid in the history of the state and about 14 per cent of Utah's total annual property tax income.

Plateau Highway Nearly Finished

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China says it has finished all but about 85 miles of the highway being built from west China to Tibet. A Peiping broadcast said a 140-mile stretch, cut across precipices and through forests, was opened last month to traffic.

This section of the road winds through "the most isolated part on the Sikkim-Tibet plateau," Peiping said. The road is being built—reportedly with forced labor of political prisoners—to Lhasa capital of Tibet, from Mountainous Sikkim province.

Leaves Swept Up By City's New Machine

Shown in operation above is the new leaf collector which the city purchased last summer. The machine, which cost the city $4,073, sucks leaves in by vacuum. They are then chopped to pieces by a large fan. City Manager James S. Hughes said that each section of the city will be covered at least once a week with the leaf collector.

Churches Pictured Strong, But Groping For Means Of Impact

By GEORGE CORNELL
 BOSTON (AP)—American churches were pictured today as standing at a peak of "tremendous strength" but at the same time groping uncertainly for ways to make that power felt in a topsy-turvy age.

Enormous, swift changes in social patterns and "dangerous moral conditions" challenge the effectiveness of the churches, said a key report to the biennial assembly of the National Council of Churches.

Despite Christianity's gains "in institutional strength," the report said, there is a disturbing question whether churches are "more or less influential in American life" than they used to be.

The report was for presentation to 2,500 representatives of 30 Protestant and Orthodox denominations assembled here to seek new methods for reinforcing their fraternity of faith.

"When we consider how little it costs to be counted among the church members in our country, we are troubled," the report said.

"The average church member is not conspicuously different from the average nonmember. The average church is so much conformed to the world that people are surprised if it sharply challenges the prevailing behavior of the community."

The major, 6-500-word document on "the state of the church" was prepared by the council's general secretary, Dr. Roy G. Ross, and its associate general secretary, Dr. Roswell P. Barnes.

It generally set forth the new problems confronting Christianity in a modern era described as one of "unprecedented change" in the living habits of people.

The council, representing 35,500,000 Christians of varied traditions, headed into its first working sessions today after hearing a call to tighten its ranks, to strengthen common convictions.

"A closer degree of cooperation is the demand of the hour," the council president, Methodist Bishop William C. Marden, of Dallas, told an opening service last night.

"Nothing else will do."

This morning's report recited detailed statistics of booming church growth—record figures in membership, contributions, Sunday school attendance, construction and broad new programs of church activity.

But it said:

"Juvenile delinquency, racketeering and violence, alcoholism, narcotic addiction and corruption in public affairs are either increasing or at least seem so widespread that our society often gives the impression of being completely undisciplined."

Centenarians Face An Invisible Barrier

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
 AP Science Reporter
 MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—You have a good chance of living to be 100—if you first hurdle a curious invisible barrier at ages 60 to 75, a medical team reported today.

This barrier is a period in which certain chemical and physical processes of the body begin to reverse aging. You begin growing younger in certain ways.

This new finding on growing old is described by Doctors A. A. Goldbloom, Otto Deutscherger, Irving Chapman and H. B. Eiber, of New York Medical College, in an exhibit at the clinical session of the American Medical Assn. opening here today. It is based upon a survey of more than 1,000 persons aged 80 to 100.

They find evidence that some biochemical and physical processes which increase with age begin to go into reverse between 60 and 75. Just why they do so is not yet clear. But it looks as though the changes amount to "some invisible, not clearly understood barrier."

"Most of us die before reaching that barrier, or while going through it. But, once we get through, our chances of living to be 100 years are good," Dr. Eiber said.

Two processes which seem to change are hardening or calcification of the aorta—the main artery from the heart—and dilatation of the aorta.

The amounts of certain fatty substances in the blood—which are blamed as having a part in hardening arteries—actually begin to drop after age 75, the study finds.

The medical team finds that increased blood pressure at older ages is not something which is normal or inevitable, but rather something which can and should be controlled, to help people reach the century mark.

Several Years Before School Problem Solved

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—It probably will be years before there is an end to segregation in American public schools.

The Supreme Court ruling last week that public school segregation is unconstitutional and must end, left unanswered for the time being the two key questions: how and when?

The court now can't attempt to give the answer before far into next year. Even then, judging from the court's careful slowness in handling the segregation problem, it is unlikely to call for overnight action.

The court doesn't have to follow the views of President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell but no doubt will consider them. Both last week came out for a careful and gradual solution as against a sudden one.

And those Southern states which have given their opinions to the court have called for a gradual approach as a minimum, although Negroes have told the court they want segregation ended no later than September 1966.

A few Southern states in extreme opposition to the court's ruling, particularly Georgia, may try the following kind of device for thwarting any final effort of the federal government to end segregation at all:

End their present public school system and substitute another kind—for instance, private associations—to keep white and Negro children separate. The Georgia voters approved such a plan in the Nov. 2 elections. And Georgia's

Gov. Talmadge has said: "Segregation in Georgia will not be ended at any time."

The Supreme Court ruled against segregation in public schools. An arrangement like Georgia's, supported by public tax money, would be in effect a public school system under another name. Or would it?

Some lawyers here foresee, before there could be an answer to that question, a fight all the way up through the federal courts again to the Supreme Court, a fight which would take more years.

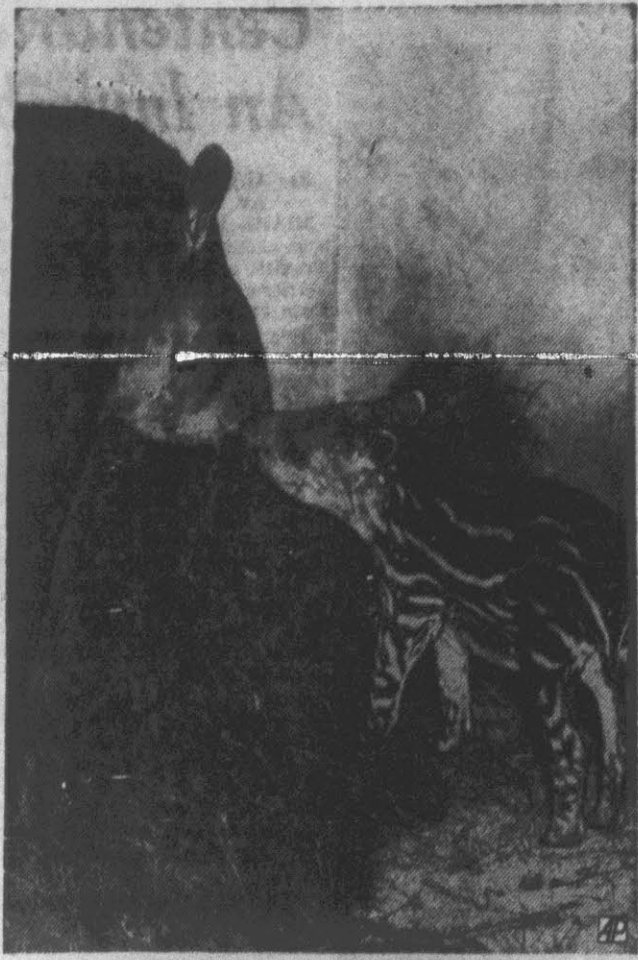

Although the court was first asked in December 1952 to outlaw segregation, it didn't give its opinion until May 17 1954. This by itself was clear evidence it understood the magnitude of the problem and the need for care in solving it.

The problem is not one but many: the intense and ancient racial prejudices that must be softened or compromised; the planning required in combining schools and school districts; financing; redistributing white and Negro teachers.

The court could have laid down the rules on how and when segregation had to end when it said in May public school segregation is unlawful. But it wanted the benefit of the views of those most closely connected with the issue.

It asked the states involved and attorneys for the Negro groups fighting segregation to explain in briefs filed with the court this fall, what they thought should be done. The briefs were filed.

The states proposed the take-it-easy course and the Negroes wanted a desegregation accomplished by the fall of 1966. The last brief, from Brownell's Justice Department, was given the court last Wednesday.

That was one day after Eisenhower had talked to a news conference of the need for a solution carefully arrived at. No doubt he knew what Brownell was going to tell the court the following day.

Like Eisenhower, Brownell set no deadline for ending public school segregation. It should be done as "quickly as feasible," he said.

And he proposed the high court allow the judges in the federal district courts in those states which have segregation—to work out the details, and the timetable, with state and school officials.

The court had intended, after getting the written briefs, to let the attorneys on both sides argue before the court in December. Now the court has postponed those arguments until sometime, date still unset, when it has a full bench to hear them. The nine-man court now has one vacancy and Eisenhower's appointee for the job, John Marshall Harlan, is not slated for a Senate vote on his confirmation until next year.

After hearing the arguments the court will consider them perhaps for months before finally giving a decision on how and when segregation must end, a decision which may not come before next June.

No Antagonism Seen In India's Views Of U.S.

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—American and Indian relations are severely strained, but it should not take much to bring about a new period of good will between the two countries.

This conclusion emerges from a survey of diplomats, officials and businessmen—including some Americans—working and residing in India.

Most of these observers agree differences in foreign policy are the main cause of American-Indian antagonisms.

"There's no anti-Americanism among us," said an Indian official with finality. "We do not like your government's foreign policy, and there was considerable irritation when you gave arms aid to Pakistan; but that doesn't mean we're anti-American."

An American educator, here several years, seconded this opinion and added:

"Sure, many Americans here complain of anti-Americanism. But those who complain loudest usually do so for personal reasons. If something goes wrong in their work out here, or if they fail in their jobs, they find it easy to blame Indian 'anti-Americanism.'"

However, a European diplomat, whose view seemed to be supported by most surveyed, felt that in New Delhi at least there is a certain amount of anti-Americanism. He commented:

"On an individual level most Indians and Americans get along beautifully. Outside New Delhi there is nothing like 'anti-Americanism.'"

"It's in New Delhi where it's felt. There have been so many attacks on American foreign policy by the Prime Minister (Jawahar Lal Nehru) and other high officials that many Indians in New Delhi cannot help but be stirred emotionally against Americans."

India has never agreed fully with the U.S. policy of building up a anti-Communist coalition. Washington, on the other hand, always has been cool toward India's advocacy of peaceful coexistence with the Reds. Despite this dispute, India and the United States have maintained fairly good relations.

The foreign policy disagreement exploded with the U.S. decision to give military aid to Pakistan. But an Indian newspaperman said: "Nehru could change the whole attitude in this country toward Americans by a single statement."

Bent Backwards For A Fair Trial

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—A Superior Court juror collapsed during the trial of a $150,000 damage suit. Judge James C. Shannon ordered a mistrial because Dr. Carl Y. Pantaleo, who revived the juror, was the only physician in the courtroom but the defendant as well.

The court observed that in treating the juror, Dr. Pantaleo had done what any physician would be expected to do, but there was a chance that the jury might be influenced by his action.

Bargain Hunters In Elevator Fall

TOKYO (AP)—Two dozen bargain hunters in the Isetan department store rushed past the guards and crowded into the elevator.

The elevator slipped its brakes and plunged eight stories to the basement nonstop. Nobody was hurt, but Isetan store officials rushed the passengers into a parlor, apologized profusely and gave them each 500 yen (about $1.50) merchandise certificates.

The first 88 trailers have been set up at Toul, France. The current budget authorizes 675. An Air Force spokesman says 3,000 are needed.

After 10 Years, Rejoins Mother

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—Little Andy Prazik was well into a new chapter of his 11-year-old life today, far from his native Poland, where he parted from his mother 10 years ago.

The handsome youngster, who can't speak a word of English, hopped from an American airliner at Spokane yesterday into the arms of his mother.

Andy and his mother were separated in Warsaw in 1944. Andy went to live with his grandmother when his mother was taken to a Nazi concentration camp in Germany. His father was killed in street fighting then rocking Warsaw.

After the war, Andy's mother made her way to America, met and married an American, Matthew Garcia, now an engineering student at Washington State College.

Five years ago she applied for her son's release, but it was only several weeks ago that Andy's visa was granted and he was permitted to leave the country.

Flash Fire Kills Five Persons

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A flash fire, started by the explosion of a kitchen stove took the lives of a 93-year-old great-grandmother and four sleeping children at their home in nearby West Newton.

The fire Saturday night killed Mrs. Fanny Taylor, who was caring for her five great-grandchildren while their parents were out. The dead children were Lester Moore, 5, and Catherine, 4, Marlene, 3, and James Brownlee, 18 months old. All were Negroes.

Carl Moore, 9, was awakened by the blast and jumped to safety from the window of the second-story apartment.

An uncle, David Pryor, ran upstairs in a vain rescue attempt. He told firemen a wall of flame cut him off from the room.

Two Men Emphasizing Late-Hour Television

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Two men with horn-rimmed glasses are out to prove that network television after midnight is practical.

They are Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr., president of NBC, who cooked up the project, and Steve Allen, who is trying to put it over in Tonight from 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.

It must be based on one or both of two faring assumptions: (1) that anyone still up at that hour would be in a mood for TV, or (2) that you can induce any substantial segment of the early-to-bed school to stay up later.

While there hasn't been time since the show began Sept. 27 to provide a conclusive verdict, NBC reports it is encouraged and many viewers have found it's different, to say the least. It ranges from dull to delightful, depending on which night you happen to catch, and neither the viewers nor Allen himself can be sure of what's coming next.

The versatile Allen is spreading himself pretty thin in attempting so many hours on the air but is smart enough not to try to do it alone. He always has several musical numbers and special gimmicks in reserve.

If a particular stunt goes over well, one or more musical numbers may go by the board. If members of the studio audience sit on their hands, out come the reserves and some of them are pretty good.

Competition Is 'Real Hero' Of Living Cost Cut

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Living costs are the easiest for the year so far.

Abundant harvests get much of the credit. But competition is the real hero, from the consumer's point of view.

Ample supplies of foodstuffs help keep eating costs as low as government price supports and rising processing charges allow. But keen competition among food processors, distributors and retailers is the best aid the housewife has when she goes shopping for bargains.

Prices of commodities other than foods have varied very little for more than a year. The price of the basic metals has tended higher—with nickel bouncing up 4 1/2 cents a pound just this week.

All of this puts pressure for higher prices on finished goods that consumers buy. Higher labor costs have the same upward shove.

And some consumer goods prices have advanced this fall, especially at the factory level. But, in a number of industries, cut-throat competition among manufacturers has forced them to hold prices—even to cut them in some cases, to move goods that tended to back up in their warehouses.

The same spur of competition has sent manufacturers scurrying to cut costs of production, so as to offset rising labor and material charges.

Even when the factory list price has gone up, the price you finally pay for the product at the store hasn't necessarily budged because competition has been keen this year among retailers too.

And the growth of the discount houses has put increasing pressure on the markup policies of the old-line stores. The outset of the Christmas sales season has brought a number of cases where department stores are abandoning their fixed price policies to meet the competition of the discount stores.

This, and other retail price-cutting methods—such as discounts, under-the-counter selling, trade-in allowances—make it possible for the bargain hunter to do better this year than last when shopping for many of the necessities and luxuries of present-day living.

Women In The Church

"No Room at the Inn," the traditional story of events preceding the birth of Christ at Christmas, will be told over the entire American Broadcasting Company's network on Sunday, December 19, from 5:30 to 6:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time. This will be the feature of that Sunday's popular "The Greatest Story Ever Told." "The Greatest Story" is said to be the most popular religious program ever placed on the air. It has won many professional honors over a period of years.

A "Festival of Arts," focussing attention upon the wider use of the creative arts—drama, literature, architecture and liturgy—in the worship of the Christian church is being planned by a committee of the Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis, Mo., on April 17, 18 and 19. A committee headed by Mrs. Eugene Meyer is asking churches to produce a number of religious dramas for the Festival of Arts. They will be presented in St. Louis' Empress Theater, and a panel of judges will award " Oscars" for the best play, the best setting, the best role, etc. A display of religious art will also be a feature of the Festival.

The largest percentage of women in any institution of higher learning in Japan is in the International Christian University, where there are 104 women in the student body of 354. There are 80 faculty members, 20 of whom are non-Japanese. This interdenominational Christian school, located near Tokyo, was dedicated in 1952.

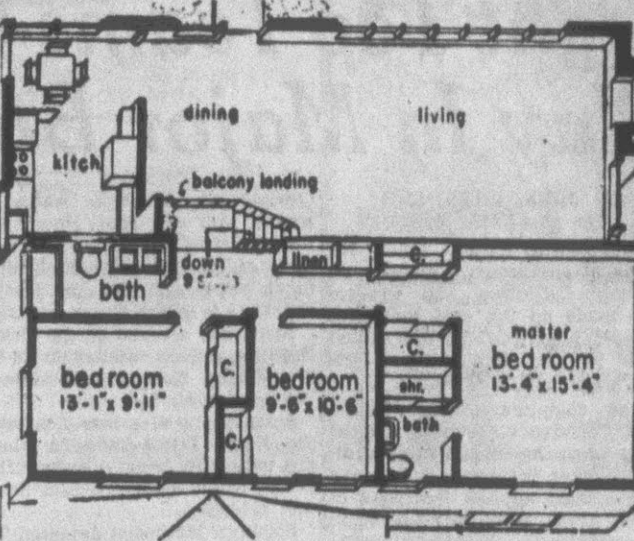

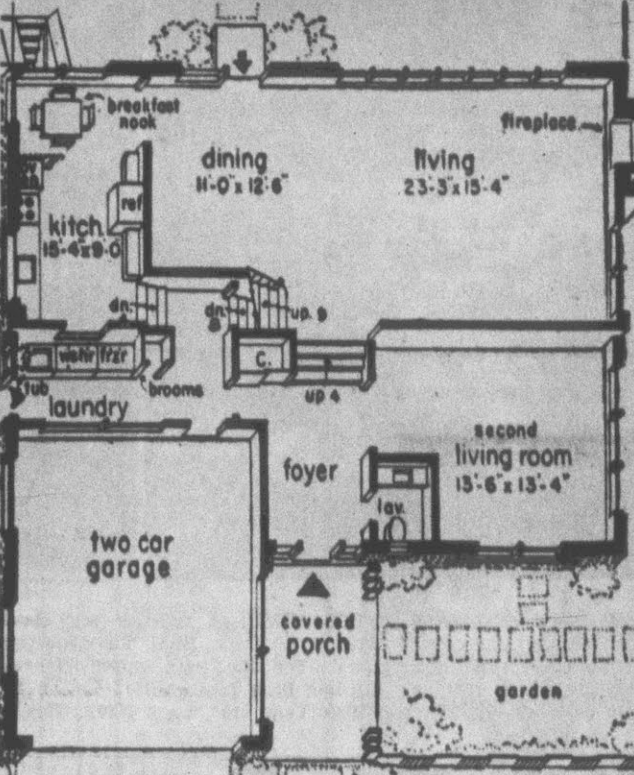

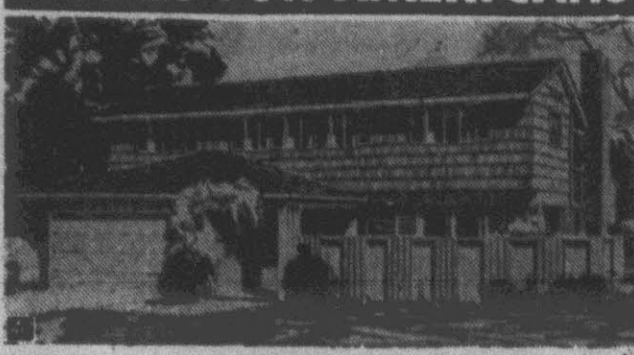

Dr. David M. Fulmer, of Iowa State College, at Ames, has told the department of family life of the National Council of Churches, "Young people are not helped sufficiently to develop their emotional lives in line with growing intellects and technical knowledge. Training an individual's intellect will not determine his behavior." As a step towards meeting the need, he advised a four-point program, including: more school and college courses to develop the ideas on family living; more student centered guidance programs; and the use of more consultants by schools, churches and social agencies. Many phases of college life, he said, should be geared to preparation for Christian marriage, including dating, going steady and the engagement period.

Raises Dogs To Pay For College

CALDWELL N.J. (AP)—Working your way through college by raising thoroughbred collies and rare Norwegian Elk hounds isn't easy. Especially when your neighbors don't like dogs. But Edith Smith, 18-year-old Montclair Teachers College student is making a go of her $3,000 kennel. And so far she's been upheld by local authorities.

The blonde student, who's been raising dogs since she was 11 and lived on a farm, says "there were complaints that our kennel was dirty, complaints that we were starving our dogs, complaints that the dogs kept the neighborhood awake. Every time we disproved one complaint there would be another."

America Again Disclaims Role

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States again today denied Soviet charges that American planes and ships had a hand in seizing the Russian tanker Tuapse last summer off China.

A brief note delivered by a U. S. Embassy messenger answered a Russian note of last Aug. 4. The U. S. reply stated that "careful investigation has shown that no American military aircraft operating over the high seas of the Pacific in this area engaged in any hostile acts toward Soviet commercial vessels."

It added: "The United States denies any violation of international law as alleged by the Soviet note."
Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists on Formosa have admitted they are holding the Tuapse. They captured the 8,800-ton ship last June 23 in the Luzon Strait, between Formosa and the Philippines. It was carrying petroleum to the China mainland.

SATURDAY, BIG DAY OF SPORTS

Yours truly, like thousands of other sports enthusiasts, witnessed the tailgate of the football season in the Carolina-Duke game and the launching of big-time basketball in the state at the Coliseum Saturday night.

The game at Chapel Hill got underway the same day the weather bureau announced that the hurricane season had ended. Some observers claim the prognosticators erred in the element of time. "No human form without the help of nature could wreck a team as Duke did the Tar Heels" was the consensus of feelings.

The cage action at Raleigh pitted Philadelphia and New York of the National Basketball Association in what was supposed to be a regular league tilt. The quarters were shortened to eight minutes, therefore, the game couldn't be counted in the loop standings under NBA ruling.

The action was disappointing, too. The season just recently commenced, but the players appeared tired and listless. The play was slow and the scoring very low. The league's top scorer, Neil Johnson, was held to 12 points.

The Globetrotters, though, made up for the lack of interest in the first game. Reece "Goose" Tatum was at his funniest. He was in an exceptional mood, even for the Clown Prince of Basketball. Usually, the Trotters hold their earliest until the fading minutes of the first and second halves, but Saturday night they opened play with their circus of tricks and Toledo, a pretty formidable semi-pro club, was completely baffled from the start.

JERRY BARGER
THE DIFFERENCE
The Blue Devils' captain and pepper-pot quarterback, Jerry Barger of Salisbury, put on a great show for the 35,000 fans on hand at Chapel Hill.

The sagacious senior passed six times and hit on four for 63 yards—important yardage because it came at critical moments in drives toward the goal. His three interceptions set a new Atlantic Coast conference record for pass wipes and led directly to the 47-13 rout. He punted three times, one of which slipped off the side of foot to hold his average at 33.5.

Coach Bill Murray labels Barger "one of the greatest football players to ever come out of this section of the country. The little marksman gets a big "second" from this corner. Put a Tar Heel uniform on him with the numerals "22" and you'd swear it was Carolina's super chief, the Choo Choo. He walks and carries himself like Justice—arms swinging in long arcs and feet turned in a definite slew.

NORTH STATE BASKETBALL TEAMS GET INTO ACTION

All nine conference teams raise the curtains on their 1954-55 basketball season this week. Action gets underway tonight with Catawba and McCrary at Elkin, Atlantic Christian and Presbyterian at Clinton, S. C., Lincoln Memorial and WCC at Guilford and DuPont and Elon at Burlington.

The defending champion, East Carolina, opens defense of its title against Guilford in Greensboro this Saturday night.

ACC is the only league member that has played a regular scheduled game. They defeated Lynchburg College 104-71 last Friday night. The Christians are regarded as the favorites to upheave the Pirates from the throne.

Season Tickets For ECC Basketball Going On Sale

Season tickets for East Carolina College basketball team's home games will go on sale Tuesday, November 30, announced Dr. N.M. Jorgenson, athletic director today. Tickets for the 13 home games will be sold for $10 each, and a priority on these season tickets is held by members of the Pirates Club. Single admission prices for the 1954-55 season will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children and high school students.

Coach Howard Porter's basketball squad will open the home season in Memorial Gymnasium on Friday, December 10, with Catawba College, and on the following night will place Lenoir Rhyne at home. Two other games before the Christmas holidays will schedule the Pirates against Erskine College on December 15 and Appalachian on December 17. Tickets will be sold in the Athletic Office in the Memorial Gymnasium on 10th Street and in the Alumni Office near Austin Building.

Eight Top Teams Chosen To Play In Major Bowl Shows

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

Eight college football teams led by such postseason veterans as Southern California and Georgia Tech made up the cast today for the Rose, Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowls — the four major New Year's Day grid attractions.

Duke, champion of the Atlantic Coast Conference, rounded out the group when the league athletic directors chose it to play in Miami's Orange Bowl against Nebraska of the Big Seven. Duke ended its regular season with a 47-12 thumping of North Carolina.

One more bowl announcement is expected sometime later today when the Gator Bowl selection committee picks two teams to play in the Dec. 31 affair at Jacksonville, Fla.

This is the lineup for the Big Four on Jan. 1:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif. — Ohio State (9-0) vs. Southern California (8-3).

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans—Navy (7-2) vs. Mississippi (9-1).

Orange Bowl, Miami — Duke (7-2) vs. Nebraska (6-4).

Cotton Bowl, Dallas — Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech (7-3).

The Sugar Bowl grabbed Navy and Mississippi late Saturday with minutes after the teams had scored victories in their season's final games. Navy accepted a bid to New Orleans after rocking Army 27-20 in the annual service clash before more than 100,000 spectators at Philadelphia.

Mississippi blanked arch rival Mississippi State 14-0 to capture the Southeastern Conference championship and earn an invitation to the Sugar Bowl.

Although the Cotton Bowl has had Arkansas, the Southwest Conference champs, for a week, the other half of the Dallas classic had to wait until Georgia Tech whipped Georgia 7-3. Arkansas wound up with a 19-0 win over Houston.

Southern California and Ohio State ended their conference schedule a week ago. But the Trojans lost 23-17 to Notre Dame Saturday.

Nebraska, assured of the Orange Bowl for a week, wound up its season Friday night in Honolulu by beating Hawaii 50-0.

A scattering of games headed by the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist nationally televised game from Dallas winds up the regular season this Saturday.

Southern Methodist defeated Texas Christian Saturday 21-6. Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma A&M 21-0 to wind up its season with a 10-0 record.

Miami defeated Florida 14-0. Auburn shut out Alabama 28-0. Vanderbilt blanked Tennessee 28-0. Clemson trumped The Citadel 59-0. Louisiana State edged Tulane 14-13, and West Virginia defeated Virginia 14-10 in the main southern tilts.

In the East Villanova won its first game of the season by clubbing Fordham 41-0, and Boston College whipped an old rival, Holy Cross, 31-13.

Seixas Showing Improvement in Australia Tour

MELBOURNE, (AP) — Vic Seixas, something of a disappointment during the American Davis Cup team's visit here last year, continued to show greatly improved tennis today as he and Tony Trabert advanced to the semifinals of the Victorian doubles championships with a crushing 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Australia's George Worthington and Don Candy.

Seixas dropped both his singles matches in the big cup test last December, but he looks like a different tennis player this year. The Philadelphia's net play, which has been the feature of his play since arriving in Australia, was brilliant again today as he showed the way to victory.

The U.S. champion lost his service twice, once in each set, but each time his downfall came partly from poor volleying from his Cincinnati partner.

Trabert as usual, made up for the weak net play by overpowering the Aussies with his smashing service. He also belted two terrific overhead smashes to crack Worthington's service in the second set.

After tomorrow's singles quarterfinals, the American aces will go up against Australia's Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall. The Aussies qualified for the semifinals with a 6-1, 6-1, 6-3 rout of Roger Becker and John Barrett of England.

Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose of Australia, top-seeded in the doubles, also made the semifinals, but had to go overtime in one set as they defeated Roy Emerson and Malcolm Anderson, two Australian Juniors, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The semifinal round was completed by the makeshift team of Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge and Neale Fraser, a young Australian player. The U.S. Aussie team upset Sweden's Davis Cup players, Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidson 6-2, 3-6, 6-0, 3-6 15-13.

All but one of the starting five from last season are departed from the Blackbird club, but reports have it that Coach Bill Lundy's boys are still rough. North Staters In Action Tonight

The 1954-55 North State Conference basketball season opens with a bang tonight with four games scheduled, the first of 18 set for the week.

Tonight's schedule sends Catawba and McCrary to Elkin, Atlantic Christian meets Presbyterian at Clinton, S. C., Lincoln Memorial is at Western Carolina and DuPont plays at Elon.

Four league games are included on the week's schedule, one Friday night and three Saturday. East Carolina is defending champion, but Atlantic Christian and Lenoir Rhyne are given a better than even chance to take over.

The rest of the schedule: Tuesday—ACC at Erskine, Lincoln Memorial at Western Carolina
Wednesday — Catawba at Belmont Abbey, Wofford at Lenoir Rhyne, Appalachian at Milligan
Thursday—High Point YMCA at High Point, Davidson at Guilford
Friday—Western Carolina at Catawba

troubles getting their top slick floor ready to play on, then were delayed during the holidays when the floor was being worked on. The G-men have had only about five good days of practice all year.

of veterans the G-men have six let-terms back from last year. So far these six have alternated most of the time on the potential first team. Most of the time Coach Farley has used Edgar Moore and Bob Howell at forwards, Harold Edwards at center, Pat Sawyer and Tommie Saeed at guards. Clark Noble, a 6-5 hook shot artist, moves into the center slot at a forward. Part of the time when Edwards moves to forward Edgar Moore goes to guard to rest one of the backline boys.

Sawyer, Moore and Saeed have been ripping the nets with precision so far in practice this year. All three seem to have had no trouble at all in finding their eye for the goal after the long layoff. Saeed has been particularly impressive. Always the little boy of the team Saeed has grown up to a six-footer. Saeed probably has the best shooting eye of anyone in Greenville High School for the past several years. He has been scoring on long sets and jump shots from anywhere around the goal. Moore has been pushing his one-hander and hump through the goal like it had eyes. Sawyer has been driving good and has looked impressive on his one-hander.

Bob Howell and Harold Edwards have been a little slower getting their eye back than the others. Edwards has been hitting at times but has not been consistent. Howell is just off at the present but should snap out of it at any time.

Among the reserves Ike Riddick returned to practice today. The jayvee hotshot of last year missed a full week because of a severe cold. Riddick and Tommy Norris along with Larry Powell and Billy Johnson are expected to be Coach Farley's chief subs for the coming year. All are up from last season's jayvee squad and are competing for a first team position.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newfeatures

The problem of what to do with used flash bulbs has annoyed camera fans for years. It seems wasteful and extravagant to see the total useful life of a bulb go out in a flash, when it's thrown away.

Well, start saving your used flash bulbs from now on. In this make-it-yourself era we're living in, they can be transformed into Christmas tree ornaments. I've just seen some examples of what can be done when a woman tackles the problem with a fresh (feminine) viewpoint.

Besides the used flashbulbs, you need sequins, spangles, seed pearls, dime store stars and glitter. You can ransack the sewing drawer for odd buttons and beads; from the kitchen you can borrow some barley grains. All these small objects are used to form the new ornaments. They are held to the glass bulb. They are applied by a special adhesive, milliner's glue or liquid cement. The adhesive can be spread directly on the glass in small areas before adding the objects; or it can be applied to the back of each object then affixed.

The metal bulb base can be covered with silver or gold paper or with colored masking tape. A final touch is a loop made from a four inch strip of velvet cord or narrow ribbon. Glue the ends to the bulb base and it can hang from the Christmas tree branch in home-made splendor.

What new? A brand new method of seeing full color stereos in three dimensions from a printed page is now visible in "Stereo Realist Manual" by Willard D. Morgan and Henry M. Lester. The book comes with a new type viewer developed by the authors and the American Optical Co. It resembles a lorgnette and is made of plastic.

In my own case, I found it difficult at first to make the visual adjustment until I saw the illusion of depth through the viewer. After I acquired the knack, it came easier with the other pictures in the book. In many pictures I was very conscious of the halftone dots by which the photos are printed. They seemed unusually large whereas in normal viewing they are unnoticeable.

As for the book itself, Morgan and Lester have done their usual thorough job. With the help of experts, the text is a competent, complete guide through all phases of stereo. But it's the innovation in viewing that sets this book apart as a first in its field. With some further perfection, it opens up a new era in illustrating books in full color and in full depth.

The 20th anniversary edition of "U.S. Camera Annual, 1955" (Duell, Sloan & Pearce, N.Y.) is now available. This year's collection of notable pictures covers a wide range and there's bound to be something to appeal to a large assortment of photographic tastes.

Well known photo by-lines are found in the American and International sections while the hydrogen bomb explosion in color dominates the news picture division.

It's an annual pleasure to browse through the yearbook and mentally applaud some of the pictures while wondering how others got in at all (I'll nominate Toscanini's farewell picture in that category). And I'm still unhappy with the unpredictable captioning arrangement. In some cases it amounts to a challenge for the reader to match photo with caption. How about it, Tom Maloney? Maybe you can put them up next year?

Beetles Breed In Damaged Timber

RALEIGH — Hurricane Hazel may cause an even bigger loss than now estimated if landowners don't remove blown-down trees, R.S. Douglas, forestry specialist of the State College Agricultural Extension Service, says that damaged timber is fertile breeding ground for bark beetles. Such timber should be removed before April 1.

Many wise landowners are salvaging good sawlogs from damaged trees, according to Douglas.

Early Freedom Was A Mistake

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Municipal Court Judge Adrian Bonnelly sentenced a man to 9 to 23 months in jail. Deciding to reduce the sentence, he had the man brought back and cut his time to 6 to 23 months.

But a court officer misunderstood. He let the prisoner go free. A few hours later the defendant went to the detective bureau, saying he realized he'd been improperly released. Judge Bonnelly was so impressed, he cut the man's term to 3 to 23 months.

GIVEN AWAY—Donna Slusarz, 8, is shown in Milwaukee, Wis., after the child had been given to a stranger by her father, according to police. The father, Andrew Slusarz, 33, DP from Germany, and the stranger, Joseph Kologe, 48, both were found guilty of disorderly conduct by District Judge Robert Tehan, who ordered an investigation prior to sentencing. The police said Slusarz and Kologe met in a Tavern and the father gave Donna to Kologe after the stranger had remarked that he would like to have a girl like Donna. (AP Wirephoto).

Many Offers To Trade For Teeth

WILLIAMSTON, S.C. (AP)—J. Hugh Patterson planked down $120 for a set of false teeth. Mrs. Patterson had been after him to do it for 20 years. The teeth worked fine for a few days, but Patterson soon decided they didn't feel right. So he wrapped them in tinfoil and laid them up.

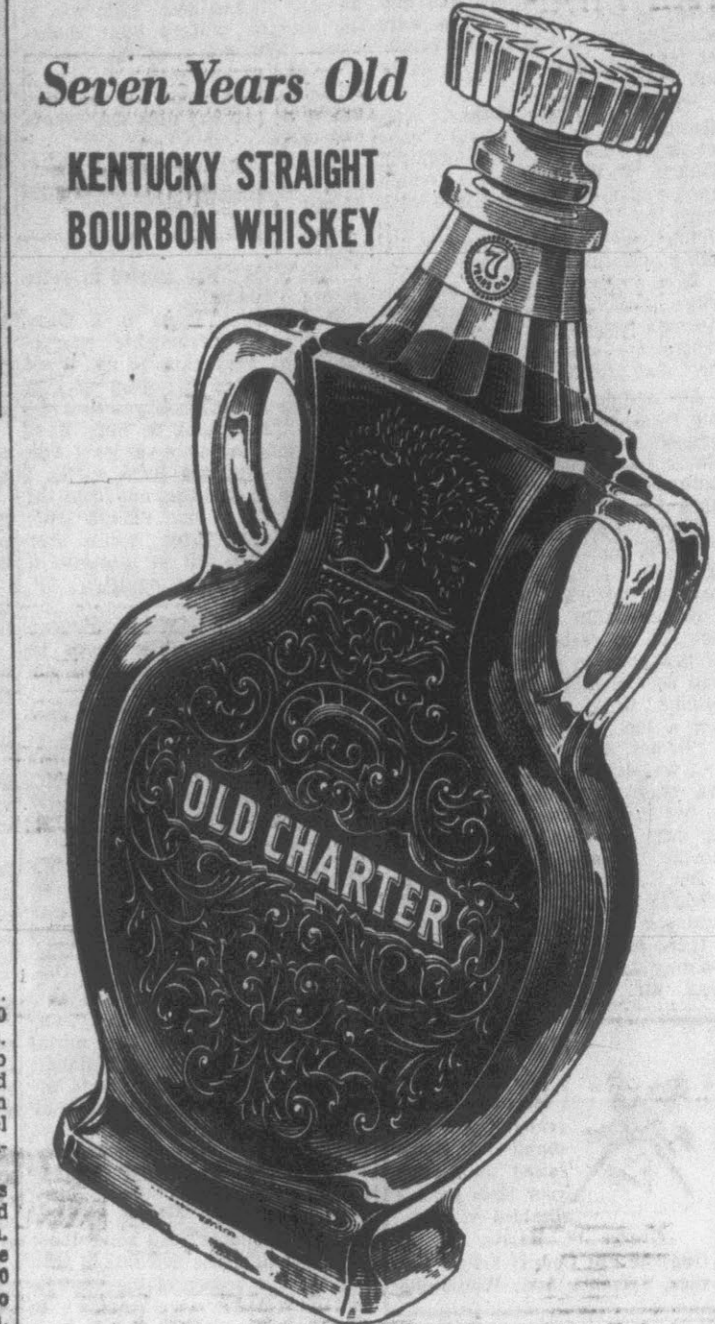

Mrs. Patterson fumed. It was her idea to run a classified ad offering to sell or rent the teeth. The first day the ad ran the Pattersons counted more than 100 telephone calls before they went to work at a textile mill at 4 p.m. Mrs. Patterson said one woman offered to swap a bedroom suite for the choppers. Another had a billygoat to trade.

With no deal closed so far, the Pattersons may hang on to the teeth and offer them again when things get dull.

ARMY CAMP BOOM
FRY, Ariz. (AP)—This community is taking on the aspects of a boom town with the reactivation of Ft. Huachuca. Among the new stores are a supermarket, a package liquor store and three firms selling trailers.

Keeps and Keeps, Improves with Age — Proportioned of half fruit and nuts, Southern Fruit Cake keeps fresh, won't dry out like other cakes.

Slice in a Jiffy for Holiday Guests — With a Southern Fruit Cake on your shelf you're never at a loss for a snack to go with refreshments for visitors.

The Ideal Gift — Tasty fruit cake makes a gift that everyone will enjoy. It's part of the Christmas tradition.

Beautifully Packaged — Each Southern Fruit Cake comes in a handsome holiday gift container.

We stick to our traditional old-fashioned Southern recipe for these famous fruit cakes — crammed with selected raisins, glacé orange, big red cherries, golden pineapple and rich Georgia pecan nutmeats. Then we slow bake to the peak of perfection. No production line operation, this, you'll realize at first bite. Perfect for every home and hostess — the ideal gift for the best of friends.

Dodge flashes ahead in style!

New '55 Dodge Custom Royal V-8 4-door Sedan . . . flair-fashioned!

Presenting the dazzling new
'55 DODGE
Flair-Fashioned for the Future

These last few days, crowds of people have come in to get their first look at the flair-fashioned new Dodge for 1955. They examined it and gave their verdict: Dodge has done it!

Dodge flashes ahead with a car that is taut and eager in every line—lower, wider and far, far longer.

Dodge flashes ahead with the new outlook in car design—a swept-back New Horizon windshield that encircles you in a glass cockpit.

Dodge flashes ahead with clean, flowing lines that capture the flair of the future—from the low and racy hood to the flaring rear deck and twin-jet taillights.

If you have not yet seen what Dodge has done, you are missing the thrill of the year. It is a car of a hundred surprises, inside and out. Come see for yourself.

Take Command . . . Get the Thrill First Hand

Dodge Dealers present: Danny Thomas in "Make Room for Daddy," ABC-TV • Bert Parks in "Break The Bank," ABC-TV • Roy Rogers, NBC Radio

New Horizon Windshield preserves the true line of beauty with its rakish swept-back slant—wraps around both top and bottom!

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced today in the early afternoon but with some difficulty. Gains and losses with a few exceptions spread over a range of around a point.

Volume hit a pace better than three million shares for the day. Friday's total in a strong market was 3,010,000 shares.

Railroads provided the bulk of support for today's market. Steels at one time added weight to the advance, but later turned mixed.

Higher with the railroads were the coppers, chemicals, and aircrafts.

Selling lower on balance were the motors, rubbers, farm implements, distillers, airlines, motion pictures, and utilities. Others were mixed.

Montgomery Ward, which shot ahead 3/4 Friday on a higher dividend opened on 8,000 shares up 1/4 at 76 1/2.

Friday's most active stock, New York Central up 1/2, opened today on 15,000 shares up 1/4 at 25 1/2.

Allegheny Corp. had blocks of 12,200 shares at 5 1/4 up 1/4 and 8,700 shares at 5 1/2 up 1/4. A block of 10,000 shares of Panhandle Oil traded unchanged at 9 1/4.

Two Injured As Car Left Road

Two Negro men were hospitalized yesterday following a traffic accident just inside the Grimesland city limits about noon.

The injured were James Williams, Jr. of Greenville Route 3, and David Stevenson of Grimesland Route 1.

Their slick-tired car apparently left the road during a rain squall yesterday. The vehicle was believed to have spun completely around, the back end hitting a telephone pole. The car then spun again and wound up with its front end in a ditch.

Highway Patrolman Jim Davis who investigated said he is charging Williams with speeding and careless and reckless driving as a result of the traffic accident.

The car was badly damaged in the wreck.

Red Probe Opens In Miami Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today began public hearings which Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.) said would "bring the picture up to date" on Communist party activities in Miami and other parts of the South since 1949.

Fifteen witnesses were scheduled to testify during the hearings which Velde said would last three or four days.

R. I. Nixon, the committee's research director, said 15 to 20 other witnesses for whom subpoenas were issued had fled the area before the committee's arrival.

"It's quite evident from the fact that they gave up their jobs and took their kids out of school that things are too hot for them," Nixon said. "They packed up and vanished without even leaving forwarding addresses."

The missing witnesses will be subpoenaed by the committee as they return to this area or show up in other parts of the country, Nixon asserted.

"The same thing happened when the committee went to Hollywood in 1951," he said. "About 20 of the people we subpoenaed suddenly went to Mexico. But we got them, one by one, later."

FOUNTAIN — A father of four children yesterday ended his life with a 12 gauge shotgun blast which he apparently fired by the light of a two-celled flashlight.

William F. Owens, 41-year-old farmer, of Fountain Route 1, was found dead about 8 o'clock yesterday morning in a pack house across the rural road from his home.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said the death was an apparent suicide and no inquest will be held.

Owens left a last note which was found at the scene.

The man's wife said she missed her husband yesterday morning and noticed the shot gun was gone from its rack in the living room of her home. He was found slumped face down on tobacco sheets and sweet potatoes in a small room of the pack house. The shot gun was at his side.

Bystanders reported that the flashlight was still burning when they arrived at the scene. Owens was believed to have entered the room and closed the door. He evidently placed the gun to his forehead and pulled the trigger.

The entire top of his head was blown away by the force of the blast and he slumped face down on the floor.

Owens lived with his family in a neat farm house across the road from where he died. His wife reported he feared that he had a heart condition some time ago but a check up by a doctor showed no such condition.

She also said that he had threatened suicide once before this year and she and the children had attempted to watch him closely since that time.

Coroner Rouse said both barrels of the 12 gauge shot gun which ended

Plan To Record Winning Talks

The recording of all Pitt County school winners in the "Voice of Democracy" radio script contest has been scheduled for East Carolina College the afternoon of December 1, William Corbett, Junior Chamber of Commerce contest chairman, has announced.

Corbett said all contestants are to report to the new ECC library at 4:30 p.m. Each Pitt County senior high school is eligible to enter one contestant, with the winners to be awarded government savings bonds by the local Jaycees.

All entries will be judged as five-minute radio scripts, and each contestant may present the merits of democracy in whatever manner the speaker chooses. Originality will count in the scoring.

The Pitt County winner will be recorded by the local radio station and the entry submitted to the state contest chairman to be entered in the national contest. There are four national awards of $500 scholarships.

The "I Speak For Democracy" contest is sponsored annually by the Jaycees in cooperation with the National Radio Broadcasters.

Superior Court Term Is Opened

The November term of the Pitt County Superior Criminal Court opened today with Judge Grover A. Martin presiding.

Seventeen cases are set for trial today; 9 for Tuesday; 7 for Wednesday; 9 for Thursday; and 3 for Friday.

Will You Be Next?

Highway Patrolman Jim Davis is shown above as he changes the death total on the front of his patrol car Saturday afternoon. The sign which is placed on the front and back of patrol cars reads: "Will You Be 877?" It refers to the number of highway deaths on North Carolina highways this year. As of Saturday afternoon 876 deaths had been recorded and the bright yellow-on-black sticker asks motorists if they will be the 877th traffic fatality. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor).
