Hodges Chooses Larkins As His Liaison Man In Next Assembly

Governor Voices General Approval Of Recommendations By Study Commission

RALEIGH (AP)—John D. Larkins Jr., of Trenton, a veteran of seven terms in the State Senate, will serve as Gov. Hodges' legislative liaison man during the 1955 session.

The governor announced the appointment of Larkins to the post at his news conference today. He said he hopes to have several conferences with Larkins on legislative matters before Christmas.

Larkins is chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and is chairman of the Advisory Budget Commission.

Hodges said Larkins "is enthusiastic about taking over the work and I am quite pleased he is going to do it. He is a good lawyer . . . he knows the state's budget and its budgetary problems about as well as anyone outside the Budget Bureau."

In appointing Larkins, Hodges praised the work of W. Frank Taylor of Goldsboro who served in 1953 as Gov. Umstead's legislative liaison, and who probably would have held the job in 1955 if Gov. Umstead had lived. Hodges said Taylor "made great contributions not only to this office but to the state two years ago."

Hodges announced that Taylor had agreed to continue to represent the governor's office on the Judicial Council.

At his news conference Hodges also commented at length on two reports made last Friday by a commission appointed to study reorganization of state government. The commission is planning to issue five more reports later on results of its study.

The governor indicated he favors proposals of the commission to change the state's tax appeals machinery. This included expansion of the Tax Review Board into a full-time office charged with the duty of hearing tax appeals and promulgating tax regulations. The commissioner of revenue would be removed from the review board and the State Board of Assessment would be abolished under the recommendations of the study group.

The governor said he agrees in principle with a recommendation that the budgets of the state auditor and state treasurer be removed from control of the governor in order that these officers could be independent of dictation by the governor. He pointed out that the proposal presented a problem that would be difficult to work out. Under the budget law, a governor can slash all state salaries, if necessary, to balance the state's budget. If the auditor and treasurer were removed from budget control then such a slash would not apply to their offices.

"I do not know at the moment how that can be worked out," said Hodges. "But I think it can be worked out."

The governor said that a recommendation of the study group for an immediate study of the possibility of placing state employees under federal social security will be made and the next legislature will be in a position to act speedily on the proposal.

Collaboration Charged Officer

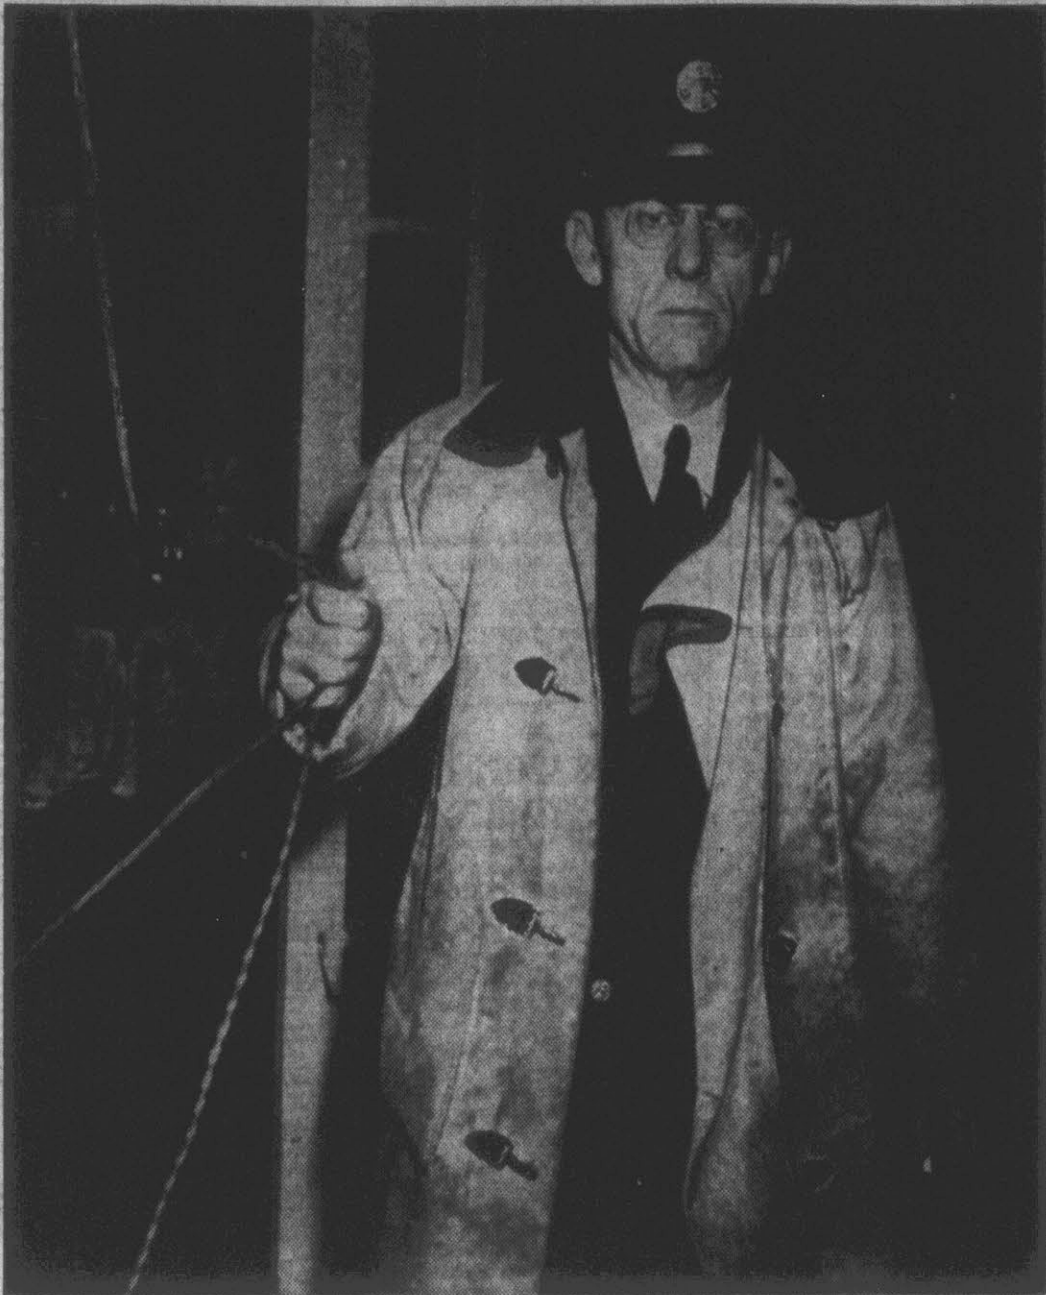

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—A 44-year-old World War II combat veteran will be tried on 13 counts of collaborating with the enemy, Maj. Gen. Edward T. Williams, commanding general at Ft. Sill, announced yesterday.

No date has been set for the trial of Maj. Ambrose H. Nugent of Merrill, Wis., who is accused of traitorous acts while a prisoner of war in North Korea. Sources close to the Army said the trial would be held in January but a site has not been selected.

CONTESTS ELECTION

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jewell Turner, a cotton rancher, has filed the suit contesting election of Clyde Wilson, Buckeye attorney, to a three-year term as a director of an irrigation district, a job which pays no salary.

Displays Heavy Load On Electric Circuit

Assistant Fire Chief Jasper Jones holds one of several drop cords which was connected to a single electric socket in the living room of a house at 1306 Forbes Street that caught fire yesterday afternoon. Firemen found three lamps, one radio, one sewing machine, one freezer and one fan connected to the single light socket in the center of the room. Fire Department officials said they believed the blaze started when the wiring short-circuited. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor.)

Hendrix Named Winner At Nat'l 4-H Congress

Jimmy Hendrix, member of the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club was announced today as one of eight national winners in the 4-H Home Grounds Beautification contest.

Hendrix is now attending the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. The young club member won the award on his record of projects he carried out at his home on Evans Street Extension in beautifying the grounds around the house.

The contest is sponsored by Mrs. Charles H. Walgreen of Chicago and entitles winners to a free all-expense trip to the National 4-H Congress. Young Hendrix left last Friday for the Chicago congress. He is scheduled to leave the Windy City on December 2.

To compete in the contest entrants are required to keep detailed records of their home ground improvements projects. Hendrix submitted his work for state honors last year and won out for the state of North Carolina.

This year he submitted the records for national honors and he was announced today as one of the eight national winners.

Hendrix's record book included color photographs of the area around his home at various times of the year. It also included before and after photographs which illustrated effectiveness of the various projects carried out by the young 4-H member.

Young Hendrix assisted in planting between three and four thousand azaleas and 100 camellias around his home. A pond was also constructed on the property for swimming, fishing and beautification.

While at Chicago Hendrix is also presenting a livestock conservation exhibit which he and Teddy Allen of the Farmville 4-H Club worked out as a joint project.

The pair won state honors with the exhibit. County Agent C. J. Goodman, who accompanied the pair to Chicago, said that as far as he knew the Hendrix youth is the only dual winner that North Carolina has ever produced in a single year.

Hendrix has been active in 4-H work in past years. He is president of the Winterville-Greenville 4-H Club, vice-president of the Pitt 4-H County Council. He was also voted the most outstanding 4-H club boy of 1953 and was a scholarship winner to the 4-H Wildlife Camp this past summer.

The club member was a blue award winner in health activities for the state and took part in the state health coronation at Raleigh this year during award week.

In 1953 he was a delegate to the National 4-H Congress. Hendrix is a senior at Greenville High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Hendrix of Evans Street Extension.

October Traffic Deaths Decline

CHICAGO (AP)—October's traffic deaths dropped below last year's figure, the 10th monthly decline in a row, the National Safety Council reported today.

The 2 per cent decrease for the month was the smallest since January and the 3,580-death total was the largest for any month in the year, the council added.

For the first 10 months this year, the total of 29,350 deaths was 6 per cent fewer than for the like period in 1953.

Wiring Believed Cause Of Blaze Here Yesterday

Fire, believed to have started from overloaded wiring, burned out the living room of a home occupied by Thomas Smith at 1206 Forbes Street yesterday afternoon.

The blaze which was discovered at 4:40 p.m. was extinguished within minutes by firemen but not before it had gutted the living room of the house and burned into the attic of the dwelling.

Fire department officials said they believed the blaze started from an overloaded electric circuit in the living room of the house. They said they found a number of light cords running from one socket hanging from the ceiling in the center of the room.

Firemen reported three lamps, one radio, one sewing machine, one deep freezer and one fan were being operated off the lone electric socket. They also reported that two 30-ampere fuses were found to have blown out in the fuse box of the house. The fire fighters said the circuits were designed for only 15 ampere fuses.

The fire fighters were able to extinguish the blaze in about 20 minutes. All the furnishings in the living room of the house were destroyed, however, and the flames ate through the ceiling. The firemen were forced to rip boards from the front of the house in order to reach the flames in the attic.

Heavy smoke emitted from the living room of the house when a couch caught fire and the fire fighters were forced to don masks in order to enter portions of the burning dwelling.

None of the other rooms in the house were damaged by the blaze, but some furnishings in the other rooms received smoke and water damage.

The house is owned by Marshall Smith, according to fire department records.

U.S. Ambassador George Allen Praises Stand

NEW DELHI (AP)—U.S. Ambassador George V. Allen said farewell to India today with a salute to Prime Minister Nehru's attack Sunday on Communist tactics in the country.

"There should be no further doubt of India's determination to follow the path of democratic progress," Allen said in a news conference prior to his departure tonight for Karachi.

The ambassador will visit the Pakistan capital as the first step on his trip home to become assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs. His successor in New Delhi has not been announced, but Washington observers expect President Eisenhower to appoint Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), who was defeated for reelection by former Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

Nehru in a public speech Sunday had charged India's Communists with preaching violence and sowing discord. He said his government would take stern measures against any trying to disrupt Indian unity.

Administration Bars China Blockade As Policy Measure

'Short Of War' Actions Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today sought measures short of "war action" to counter "provocative" acts by the Chinese Communists.

The policy line was laid down by Secretary of State Dulles in a speech at Chicago last night. Dulles barred for the present any naval and air blockade of Red China. At the same time he called for vigilance in dealings with Russia. He said "coexistence"—Moscow's currently proclaimed foreign policy line—is a "tricky word" in the absence of any renunciation of international communism's "effort to rule the world by methods of force, intimidation and fraud."

Dulles gave a far-ranging report on U.S. foreign policy before a national 4-H Club congress in Chicago last night. Before returning to the capital shortly afterward, he repeated it for a nationwide TV-radio hookup. He did not specify what the State Department planned to do about 13 Americans sentenced to prison in Red China on spy charges this country has branded as false. Informants indicated the United States might ask Russia to intervene with Red China, but it was expected main action would be concentrated on mobilizing world opinion against the sentencing.

Dulles apparently was referring to the 13 in his speech, and to Red China's threats against Formosa, when he said that while the Russians have recently "talked more softly . . . the Chinese Communists have talked and acted with increasing violence."

"Our nation," he said "will react, and react vigorously, in the protection of our citizens, but without allowing ourselves to be provoked into action which would be a violation of our international obligations and which would impair the alliance of the free nations." He departed from the phrase about protecting U.S. citizens. He said perhaps international communism was trying in a new way to divide the free nations remarking: "They seek to be soothing in Europe, they are provocative in Asia."

The United States, he said, is committed by the U.N. Charter to try to settle international disputes by peaceful means.

"Therefore," he said, "our first duty is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens, rather than now resorting to war action such as a naval and air blockade of Red China."

He noted the existence of "a vast Russian military establishment" and said that safety from attack lies in the maintenance of an effective defense coupled with "retaliatory power."

"We believe," he said, "that the greatest contribution we can make to peace is to be ready to fight, if need be, and to have the resources and the allies to assure that an aggressor would surely be defeated."

"That does not mean being truculent or provocative or militaristic. It does mean seeking peace not only with the heart but also with the mind."

He said that the continental defense system now building "should enable us to knock down a very high percentage of any Red bombers engaged in hostile missions against the United States."

Furthermore, he said, the U.S. Strategic Air Command now could retaliate against the Soviet Union with "damage far in excess of that which Red planes could inflict upon the United States."

Perhaps having in mind the critical reaction of Allied nations when he declared a policy of "massive retaliation" early this year, he said that the maintenance of a capacity to strike back at an aggressor does not mean that any local war would automatically be converted into a general war "with atomic bombs being dropped all over the map."

Nor does it mean, he said, that the aggressor would have to be totally destroyed. What it does mean is an ability to "inflict punishing damage," he said.

He said the danger from Communist subversion is particularly great in Asia and Africa, and the situation in the Indo-Chinese state of Viet Nam—recently partitioned by the Geneva peace agreement—is "precarious."

County Stands To Benefit From Highway Recommendations

Pitt Roads Would Get $6,555,300

By ALVIN TAYLOR, Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County would receive $6,555,300 from the $510,000,000 which would be spent on highway improvements during the next ten years if a New York engineering firm's recommendations are followed.

The money would be spent entirely on primary roads in the county under the plan and the bulk of the money would be designated for road improvements. Under the proposed plan only eight miles of new road construction would be involved.

A portion of the money would go for municipal roads and for new structures and improvement of existing structures on present roads. Under the proposed plans $5,135,000 of the amount for Pitt County would go for improving 168.33 miles of road and constructing eight miles of new road.

Some $732,000 would be earmarked for improvements of 16.33 miles of municipal roads. The remaining $688,300 would go for building three new structures and replacing 12 existing structures.

Structures include bridges, overpasses, culverts and other road devices.

Of the seven counties which touch Pitt County's border lines three would receive more work in cash value than this county. The highest amount would be spent in Wilson County under the plan. The engineers recommended that $8,981,300 be spent in that county for road improvements. Second highest would be Beaufort County where $7,227,900 is to be spent if the plans are approved. Next would come Craven where the engineers recommended that $7,082,000 be spent.

In Lenoir County the state would spend $5,015,100; in Edgecombe, $4,299,400; Martin, $2,876,500; and Greene, $1,587,900.

The second highway division, which has its headquarters in Greenville, would receive $36,034,200 in new highway construction and highway improvements if the plans of the engineering firm are approved by the state legislature.

The amount would be broken down county-by-county as follows: Beaufort, $7,227,900; Carteret, $5,206,700; Craven, $7,082,000; Greene, $1,587,900; Jones, $1,721,800; Lenoir, $5,015,100; Pamlico, $1,637,500; Pitt, $6,555,300.

Actually the firm which spent several months making the survey of North Carolina's crumbling primary road system, recommended that the majority of the work be done within the next five years. However, under the plan the financing of the proposed improvements would be spread over a 10 year period.

In the past the second division's expenditures on the primary road system have not exceeded two million dollars per year from purely state funds, according to Assistant Division Engineer J. L. Phillips.

Under the road improvement plan an average of 3.6 millions would be spent in the division for each of the 10 years of the project.

Group To Review Coroners' Status

RALEIGH (AP)—A Duke University pathologist said a meeting will be held in Durham Friday to decide whether an effort will be made to revive the 1953 legislation which would have altered North Carolina's coroner system.

Dr. Wiley D. Forbus announced yesterday that representatives of local government units, law enforcement agencies, the courts and members of the bar have been invited to attend the meeting in his office at 4 p.m. He will represent the State Medical Society.

Dr. Forbus led an unsuccessful effort in 1953 to overhaul the coroner system. He said coroners are operating under "confused laws."

It was pointed out that the law is unclear whether a coroner can order an autopsy, or whether the order must come from a coroner's jury.

Announcement of the meeting came after authorities at Lexington exhumed the body of Arlie J. Lanning, 54, for an autopsy. At Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Nannie Doss, 49-year-old grandmother, admitted she poisoned Lanning. He died in February, 1952, after a siege of stomach pains. He married Mrs. Doss in 1947. Police said she had admitted poisoning three others of her five husbands.

Dr. Forbus said, "Certain types of disease are impossible to diagnose other than by postmortem examinations."

He said that what may appear a natural death to coroners who are not skilled medical examiners may actually be murder. In other cases, he added, an autopsy may clear the accused.

Dr. Forbus said that sometimes coroners may list deaths as due to an "unknown cause" when 15 to 20 per cent of such deaths should be medically investigated.

He added, "Qualified medical examination brings out the true facts."

The 1953 legislative proposal would have specified what a coroner had to do in case of death of a suspicious nature. It would have set up a statewide system in which the state would have taken part in the probe of deaths of unknown cause.

Credit Holiday Safety Campaign For Lower Toll

RALEIGH (AP)—The State Highway Patrol's all-out safety drive during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend apparently has a big effect in lowering the highway fatality toll.

There were eight deaths reported on North Carolina highways from last Wednesday evening to midnight Sunday night, a reduction of 11 over the same period last year, the patrol reported.

During last week arrests for motor vehicle violations totaled 4,717. This included 2,377 for speeding, 164 for drunken driving, 235 for reckless driving, and 79 pedestrians drunk on the highways.

So far this month, the patrol reported, there have been 66 highway deaths as compared with 101 in November last year. The number of fatalities for the year is 128 below the figure for the same period last year.

Grandma Doss Is Told 'Stay Mum'

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Grandmother Nannie Doss, admitted poisoner of the last four of her five husbands, was under orders of her court-appointed public defenders today to quit talking to officers seeking to quiz her about other deaths in her family.

She followed their advice and declined a few hours after the murder charge arraignment yesterday to answer further queries by prosecution and police interrogators.

Lawyers for the plumpish 49-year-old widow were to enter her plea today to a charge she murdered Samuel Doss, 55, her fifth husband, by putting rat poison in his food and drink.

Doss, a highway department worker, died Oct. 10, about five months after they were married. Mrs. Doss did not plead yesterday because of legal arguments which arose after her lawyers broached the question of whether she is sane.

Attorney Gordon Patten's move to get her into a mental hospital for 90 days was blocked by County Atty. J. Howard Edmondson, who explained later he had no intention of opposing mental observation for the woman "at the proper time."

Return True Bill In Abortion Case

Pitt County Grand Jury yesterday returned a true bill charging Mrs. Helen Cannon of Ayden with abortion. The trial of the case was continued until the January term of Pitt Superior Court, officials said.

Mrs. Cannon was recently taken into custody on the charge of performing an abortion, waived a preliminary hearing before a magistrate and was placed under bond for Grand Jury action.

Also returned by the Grand Jury was a true bill charging Willey James Tyson, Greenville Negro, with the murder of Henry Daniels, Negro, here last October 12.

The Grand Jury, which completed its business and adjourned yesterday, returned true bills in 11 other cases, found not a true bill in one case and did not act upon another case.

True bills were returned by the Grand Jury in the following cases: Henry Shakespear Mills, driving drunk; Robert Lee Whitfield, motor vehicle law; David D. Lamm, worthless check and false pretense; James R. Crawford, motor vehicle law; June Washington White, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill; Hubert Earl Ross, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill; James H. Johnson, driving drunk; John Henry Taylor and Willie Victor Bryant, breaking and entering and larceny; Charlie Gooden Jr., breaking and entering and larceny; Paul G. Manning, no operator's license, driving drunk and failure to dim lights.

The Grand Jury found not a true bill in the case of Alton Griffin charged with driving drunk, and did not take action in the case charging Joe Dixon Jr. with elopement.

Censure Hearing Nears Conclusion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The end was in sight today for the Senate's debate on the McCarthy censure issue with a unanimous consent agreement to begin voting tomorrow afternoon.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) won approval last night of a proposal to "proceed to vote" at 3 p.m. tomorrow the first actual vote to take place about an hour later on the first of amendments to a two-count censure resolution pending against him.

With debate under a time control starting today, Senate Majority Leader Knowland of California and McCarthy said they believe the session will end Thursday.

The resolution asks that McCarthy be officially rebuked for (1) alleged contemptuous treatment of a Senate elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52, and (2) for alleged abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's investigations subcommittee.

But McCarthy, expressing hope that the Senate will "get this thing over with," said he thinks his critics may come up with "15, 20 or 25" additional counts.

He said he still has no doubt, despite an expression of regret yesterday over some of the blunt words in which he had criticized colleagues, that the Senate will censure him "when it gets around to it."

Show Deficit Of Over $3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury's final figures for the fiscal year ended last June 30 show the government ran a deficit of $3,117,000,000 or 88 million more than reported last July.

The final fiscal 1954 budget statement lists net receipts at $64,855,000,000, spending at $67,772,000,000. The figures differ from a preliminary estimate because of late reports on overseas transactions and reclassification of some items.

Praise And Gifts Showered On Churchill, This 80th Birthday

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 80th birthday today with the fervent hope he still has "some service to render."

The Prime Minister, always a man of many sides, was both jovial and somber as the nation paid tribute to him and millions of admirers, at home and overseas, marked the anniversary as a personal affair.

Looking especially fit for his age, Churchill heard eulogies from all factions in the House of Commons at a new session of Parliament opened by Queen Elizabeth II with a speech from the throne declaring—in his words—that world survival depends on a continued intimate association of Britain and the United States.

He accepted the eulogies "with pride and humility."

And to those looking for a hint of his future plans, the old warrior described himself as "a party politician who has not retired and may at any time become involved in controversy."

He made only one reference to his age in the House: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am now nearing the end of my journey. I hope I still have some services to render. However that may be and whatever may befall, I am sure I shall never forget the emotion of this day—this wonderful honor done me."

Churchill was in his best oratorical form in accepting gifts from members of the House in ancient Westminster Hall before a television audience.

He was presented a portrait of himself painted by Graham Sutherland and a book signed by most of the members of the House.

Churchill, who prides himself as a painter, took a look at the portrait and then remarked impishly that it was a "remarkable example of modern art."

Prison Camp Escapees Receive Extra Time In Superior Court

More time behind bars was meted out yesterday to Harry E. Flack and James Marvin McLamb who escaped from a Pitt County road gang in November 1952 and led officers a long chase before they were recaptured in Ohio.

Judge Grover A. Martin sentenced McLamb to 20 years in state prison to run concurrently with the sentence he is now serving, and gave Flack a five-year sentence to run concurrently with his prison sentence.

The judgment passed yesterday eliminated one of the most spectacular road gang breaks in Pitt County in a number of years. Flack, McLamb and two other prisoners overpowered two guards while working near Pactolus, locked the guards, the foreman and other prisoners in a prison truck. A short while later they met Constable Preston Woolard of Pactolus township, captured him at gun-point and also locked him in the prison truck. The four convicts then left their prisoners locked in the truck which they parked on a woods path and escaped in Woolard's automobile.

In the Venters Crossroads community, the four convicts abandoned Woolard's car and took two more prisoners, Jerome Hardy and a Negro man, Ola Thigpen. They handcuffed the two victims and made off with Hardy's pick-up truck.

McLamb and Flack were apprehended in Ohio later and faced a federal charge of transporting a stolen vehicle across state lines and served a sentence in federal prison in Atlanta. They were recently returned to State Prison in Raleigh and brought here for trial.

The other two prisoners who escaped with Flack and McLamb near Pactolus were tried and sentenced in Pitt Superior Court in October of last year. Both Flack and McLamb entered pleas of guilty to robbery charges here yesterday.

Immediately after dinner Mack G. Smith introduced Dr. H. G. Haney who gave a wonderful message using as his subject "The Little Things We Have To Be Thankful For."

Three Additions To Faculty Of East Carolina College Announced

East Carolina College has added three members to its faculty, all of whom assumed their duties this week at the beginning of the winter quarter. The record-breaking enrollment of 1240 men and 1258 women during the fall quarter made an increase in the teaching staff necessary. New faculty members are teaching in the departments of business education, English, and geography.

Miss Gwendolyn Potter of Belhaven will conduct classes in accounting in the department of business education. A graduate of East Carolina, she holds the master's degree from the University of North Carolina and is a certified public accountant.

Dr. James D. Allison of Denver, Colo., will teach courses in speech, composition, and literature in the department of English. He is a graduate of Hiram College in Ohio and of Teachers College, Columbia University, and holds the doctor's degree from the University of Denver. He has taught at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales. He served in the army from 1941 to 1945. In 1952-1953 he was education director at Kadena Air Force Base, Okinawa, and in 1954, while connected with the University of Maryland, taught Air Force personnel in Greenland.

Dr. Robert E. Cramer of Silver Springs, Md., has joined the faculty of the department of geography. He is a graduate of Ohio University and of the University of Chicago, from which he holds the doctor's degree. For the past three years he has worked as senior industrial analyst with Air Force Intelligence. His experience includes also college teaching, military service as an aerial photograph interpreter, work with the U.S. government as a cartographer, and field work with the Pennsylvania Geological Survey.

Brownies and Girl Scouts Give Program Before Rotary Club

Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts presented a program on the Girl Scout organization before the Greenville Rotary Club last night.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, executive secretary of the local Girl Scouts, told Rotarians at the outset of the program the aim of Girl Scouting is to develop resourceful, happy citizens. A girl can join the Girl Scout organization as a Brownie at the age of 7, she said, and can continue in the program for 10 years.

A short program was presented by a Brownie troop under the direction of Mrs. F. H. Trapnell; and another short program was presented by members of Girl Scout troop 10 under the direction of Mrs. Sherman Parks.

Grifton Book Club Elects New Officers

GRIFTON — The Grifton Book Club met in regular session on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. P. Quinley. Members were received in rooms pleasantly decorated with lovely arrangements of dark red chrysanthemums.

Mr. Tom Gower presided over the business hour and officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. Glendel Tucker president, Mrs. Cecil Cobb, secretary-treasurer.

The program committee chairman, Mrs. Robert Mewborn presented the study for the coming year as "Peoples of countries in the public eye. The program of the afternoon was presented by Mrs. Quinley who gave in an interesting manner a talk on "The Public's Demand for Religion" showing the statistics the upward trend of Peoples going to church more than ever in the history of the nation. She also gave something on the new architecture being used in the building of churches showing the departure from the customary githis form as heretofore used.

At the tea hour the hostess passed hot spiced tea, individual cakes and salted nuts. Present were Mrs. Gower, Mrs. Mewborn, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Bryan Davis, Mrs. Alton Chapman, Miss Bert Johnson.

Baritone Igor Gorin In ECC Concert On Dec. 9

Igor Gorin, baritone, one of the top names today in the fields of concert, opera, television, and radio, will sing at East Carolina College Thursday, December 9, at 8 p.m. in the Wright auditorium. The concert will be the third program to be offered on the 1954-1955 Entertainment Series at the college.

Born into the colorful traditions of the Ukraine Gorin received his musical education at the famous Conservatory of Vienna and started his singing career in the opera houses of Europe. Now a citizen of the United States, he has long made this country his permanent home.

Gorin achieved his first great popularity with the American public through radio. He has appeared on the Telephone Hour, the Chicago Theatre of the Air, the Voice of Firestone, and other outstanding programs.

In the leading baritone roles of such operas as "The Barber of Seville," "Traviata" and "Faust" he has become known to millions through personal appearances, on radio and television, and on phonograph recordings.

Among his successes have been performances in the music-drama "All Faces West," presented in Ogden, Utah. In this spectacular production, Gorin portrayed the leading role of Brigham Young.

Gorin's popularity is due largely, according to critics, to a "thrilling voice" combined with "strong interpretative skills, provocative programs and an appealing stage personality."

Joe Hart Celebrates Birthday At Party

GRIFTON—Master Joe Hart celebrated his sixth birthday on Monday afternoon with a party at his home on Queen Street. The young host and his mother, Mrs. J. M. Hart, greeted the guests on arrival at 3:30 and they were invited to the back lawn where games and contests were enjoyed during the play period.

Misses Martha, Judy and Carolyn Hart assisted in the games. Later in the afternoon they were invited into the dining room where the table was covered with a "Happy Birthday" cloth centered with the beautifully decorated cake topped by a miniature spaceman and holding lighted candles. Suspended from the chandelier were multi-colored balloons which with noise makers were given as favors. The cake was cut and served with ice cream. There were 20 neighborhood friends and playmates present.

Intruder Wasn't After The Cash

PULASKI, Va. (AP)—The crash of shattering glass brought Carl Haner awake with a start. On a chair beside his bed lay 40 pounds of loose change — some $300 proceeds from the Kiwanis Kids Day peanut sale.

Haner ran to the basement. The door was still locked. But a wrench had fallen into a shelf of fruit jars. Back to bed and breathing easier, Haner came alert at the sound of footsteps on the basement stairs. He called the police. Office I.D. Long's report: "Possum in Haner home. I caught it and let it go on the lawn."

30 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR November 30, 1924 WASHINGTON—President Coolidge informed Congress today that present estimates point to a surplus of revenues over expenditures of $67,884,489 for the present fiscal year and of $373,743,714 for the fiscal year 1926 but he advised against any further tax reduction until definite results from the present tax law are known. Informal talks and music furnished much enjoyment at last night's Rotary meeting at which there were several local and out-of-town guests. Following the usual evening meal Rotarian Steve Gardner of the Washington club favored those present with a vocal solo which was greatly enjoyed. Rotarian Edmund Harding, also of the Washington club, played the accompaniment.

Lengthy Docket Monday In City's Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found no probable cause in the case in which Clifton (Scott) Jones, 25-year-old Negro taxi driver, 804 Vanderbilt Lane, was charged with attempting to rape Marian Harrell, Negro woman.

The court found Jones guilty of assaulting a female and continued prayer for judgment on payment of court costs.

Jesse Spain, Negro, 602 Taft St., assault with a deadly weapon, (knife) with intent to kill James Lee Taft, Negro, 12 months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is to pay $36 medical bills, remain of good behavior and not molest James Lee Taft.

Michael L. Wilson, Negro, 200 Stutz Street, assault with a deadly weapon (bottle), was found not guilty.

Failure to stop at a stop sign: Alfred N. Bostic, 510 East Ninth Street, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $5 on costs. The judgment also provides that he must pay for property damage.

Possession of non-taxpaid whiskey: Willis Langley, Negro, 206 Moore Street, 12 months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. He is not to drink any alcoholic beverages. The court placed him on probation for two years. Bertha Lee Speight, Negro, 1021-A Mack Street, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. She is not to possess any kind of intoxicating liquor for two years.

Larceny: Alton Palmer, Negro, Route 1, Grimesland, who is charged with the larceny of an automobile wheel from Charlie Jones, was called and he failed to answer. An instant capias was issued for him.

In the case of James Reid, Negro, 316 Reade Street, who is charged with non-support, the court continued the case to.

Driving drunk: John M. Bradshaw, 309 East 14th Street, second offense, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $200 and costs. The judgment provides that he is not to drive a motor vehicle for three years. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for three years.

Leslie Wainwright, 210 East 12th Street, was called and he failed to answer to his name. An instant capias was issued for him.

Dalton E. Jones, 544 Cotanche Street, failure to pay taxi fare, had to pay taxi fare and court costs.

Joe Shackelford, Negro, Route 3, Greenville, was taxed with costs for driving without an operator's license.

Drunk: Sammy L. Thomas, Negro, 20 Stokes, $10; Roosevelt Robertson, Negro, Route 1, Greenville, $10; Ray Jones, Grande Avenue.

James W. Barnhill, Negro, 300 Tyson Street, passing at an intersection, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs. The judgment provides that he is not to drive a motor vehicle for six months unless he makes restitution for property damage.

Joseph E. Pridden, 2307 East Fourth Street, failure to yield right of way, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for six months unless he makes restitution.

Paul Taft, Negro, 619-B Allen's Alley, disorderly conduct, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs. The judgment also provides that he is to remain away from the premises and the store where Martha Harris works. It also provides that Taft shall remain of good behavior for a year.

Speeding: Charles C. Walmer of Cherry Point, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of costs; Lynwood R. Hardee, Route 1, Grimesland, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $25, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for 90 days. Jerry Lee Hancock, Route 2, Greenville, costs; Thomas Kearney of Cherry Point, 30 days in jail suspended on payment of costs.

The court found William A. Joyner, Negro, 606 Williams Street, not guilty of larceny of a watch and clothing from W. H. Joyner.

Herman O. P. Baker, Negro, Route 2, Greenville, driving drunk, 90 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. The judgment also provides that he shall not operate a motor vehicle for one year. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for one year.

Heavy Fine

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Five whaling vessels of shipping magnate Aristotele Onassis' fleet must pay a three-million-dollar fine within five days, a Peruvian Navy court ruled yesterday.

Peru charged the ships, herded into the port of Paita Nov. 15 by Peruvian warships and planes, were operating within the 200-mile belt of the Pacific she claims as territorial waters. Lawyers for Onassis have contended three of the ships were outside the 200-mile limit and that Peru's claim to waters that far out violates international law.

Measures if the fine is not paid in five days were not announced.

Meet To Select Future Premier

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—The dominant Nationalist party faction in South Africa's Parliament assembled here today to name a successor to retiring Prime Minister Daniel Malan. It was a near certainty they would choose Johannes Gerhardus Strijdom, uncompromising advocate of Republican status for this British Commonwealth country.

Selection of the 61-year-old Strijdom as the party leader—necessity prelude to his appointment as prime minister by Gov. Gen. E. G. Jansen—could transform the political situation in the country plagued by tension between blacks and whites and between whites of British and Dutch descent.

Strijdom's only other serious rival for the party leadership Deputy Prime Minister Nicolaas Christiaan Havenga, spread the word he would quit the government and politics if not elected.

Others loyal to him and to Malan, who backed Havenga in his retirement announcement, a few weeks ago, might eventually follow their candidate out of the party. The present party was formed in 1951 as a coalition of Malan's National party and Havenga's Afrikaner party, both made up of descendants of the country's Dutch-born Boer settlers.

This would bring the first serious split in Nationalist unity, unbroken since Malan led the two factions in taking power six years ago from the late Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts' United party.

The struggle between Strijdom and Havenga was one of tactics and timing rather than other nationalist aims.

Strijdom is all for quickening the pace of the Nationalist march towards a Christian national republic in South Africa. He is determined to cut the limited franchise and political rights of the nation's 10 million nonwhites and to speed the government's "apartheid" program designed to separate the country's various racial groups into tight geographic compartments.

Strijdom was minister of lands in Malan's Cabinet.

Havenga's faction also favors eventual republican status for the country and racial segregation, but generally advocates a slower approach to the fulfillment of these aims.

Describe Types Of New Loans To Farmers Of Pitt

Two new types of loans are now available to Pitt County farmers—emergency loans as a result of the recent storm, and soil and water conservation loans.

At a meeting Monday afternoon in the Old Hospital Building here, officials of the Farmers Home Administration met with a group of interested Pitt County farmers to explain in detail these two new types of loans.

Present were David G. Modlin, County FHA supervisor-appraiser, Horace J. Eisenhour, FHA State Director, Howard Turner, FHA state farm management specialist and Charles Jeffery, FHA state farm ownership specialist.

Howard Turner, FHA state farm management specialist, explained that the new type of credit was made possible by a new law (Public Law 597) passed by the 83rd Congress.

Certain conditions have to be met before an applicant is eligible for a loan, according to a booklet handed out to farmers at the meeting. An applicant must be a citizen of the United States; a farm owner or operator; be unable to obtain the necessary credit on reasonable terms from private or cooperative sources; have enough training to show good prospects of carrying on successful farming operations; and "plant to improve a farm on which the operator is engaged primarily in farming."

"Loans funds", continues the booklet, "may be used to pay the cash costs of making improvements directly related to soil conservation, and use: forestation, drainage of farmland, and related measures."

Loans are not made for annually recurring costs that "generally are considered as farm operating expenses". Loans also have to be recommended in advance by the Extension Service and Soil Conservation Service.

The final decision to grant or withhold a loan is made by the local 8-member FHA county committee.

The ceiling on loans for individuals is $25,000.00, and $250,000.00 for associations. Individuals have up to 25 years to pay a loan back, associations up to 40 years.

Officials of the FHA point out that the soil and water loan program will not duplicate any existing loan service, public or private. Its primary purpose is to "supplement" private credit.

County FHA Supervisor D.G. Modlin said that there are "still a lot of tobacco barns blown over in the county and loans are available to help rebuild."

Turner stated that "lack of credit is one reason soil conservation has not been carried out... that the ability to finance is important... and that Public Law 597 was set up for that purpose."

Did Velde Mean Our Rights Have Ceased?

One never knows just how to take the words of some vociferous lawmakers; surely, if taken at face value some highly publicized congressmen would be laughed out of office.

Laughed out, that is, if they didn't frighten fellow-Americans into banishing them to Coventry by virtue of endangering constitutional rights or security of person.

Take Rep. Harold H. Velde of Illinois, for instance.

According to an Associated Press story out of Miami, the chairman of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee said that if any witnesses invoked the Fifth Amendment, they may be charged with contempt of Congress.

Much depends, in interpreting that sentence, on use of the word "may". Did Rep. Velde mean such witnesses could be so charged?

If such is the case a person conceivably can be charged with contempt of Congress if the United States Constitution was the basis of refusal to testify.

We don't think Mr. Velde meant that; but what did he mean? Was he inferring the constitution no longer counts as law of the land? Was he inferring the Fifth Amendment would be revised or done away with? Or was Mr. Velde just trying to frighten his witnesses?

Most people share with Mr. Velde a great disdain for those individuals or groups who strive to overthrow our government and constitutional rights, then hide behind that constitution to safeguard their own necks.

But it cannot be, and we pray it will never be, that reliance on safeguards of the United States Constitution will be grounds for citing people for contempt of Congress.

It just must have been one of Mr. Velde's "bad days".

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
THE WILL TO WIN

Among the students registering this fall at one state university was a boy who did not have to stand in any lines. He sat in them, instead, for he was in a wheelchair. Crippled from the waist down, he is nevertheless going from classroom to laboratory with his fellow students, and holding his own with them.

But there is another part to this story—an earlier one. This student is not just entering; he is reentering. A year ago he came as a normal freshman, with no wheelchair. Like many other freshmen, he found the freedom of college life too much for him. One thing led to another; drinking parties, falling grades, and finally a dreadful automobile accident which nearly cost him his life.

This boy might still be lying in his bed feeling sorry for himself, for no one ever feels sorrier for himself than someone who has brought about his own disaster. He might have been bitter, or sulky, or despairing. But instead, he is courageous. He is going back as a cripple—back to where people know his poor record and his weak ways and his terrible downfall—back to where two strikes are already against him. Only this time he is going to make good.

There isn't much a man can't face, if he has the courage.

Labor And 48 Battlefronts

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Although labor leaders' post-election survey of the new House-Senate membership reveals few gains on Capitol Hill, and not enough for their principal objective—repeal or softening of the Taft Hartley Act—they feel that they have reasons to rejoice over the outcome of many gubernatorial and State Legislature contests.

They increased the number of Democratic Governors, who are generally pro-labor in their social, economic and political philosophies. Labor's agents are especially satisfied with the selection of State Executives in such important industrial areas as New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Colorado, etc.

In many states, too, the Democrats boosted their membership in the Legislatures. With "liberal" Republicans, they may compose a majority. Even where they cannot outvote the Conservatives, which is true in Congress, they will have a sufficiently large bloc for filibustering tactics.

LABOR'S AIMS—Labor's transfer of interest from Washington to the State capitals derives from the enactment of so-called "right to work" laws throughout the nation. In reaction to Roosevelt-Truman favoritism to labor, 17 states have adopted statutes which permit an "open shop" in industry. They have sought to recapture control of the employment problem.

It is expected that this movement will spread to many other states during the winter legislative sessions. Bills of this kind which failed of passage in the past will be reintroduced.

Labor relies on such men as Governors-elect Averell Harriman of New York, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey (already Governor) and George Leader of Pennsylvania to veto them if they scoot through their respective legislative bodies.

Truly Pitt County stands in the reflection of this high honor which yesterday was bestowed upon Dr. Karl B. Pace of Greenville. During his 40 years as a general practitioner, Dr. Pace has come to know and be loved by literally thousands of people in Pitt County. Although we know only a few of the thousands of general practitioners in the United States, we are sure the American Medical Association could not have found among its ranks an individual more deserving of the award, or more devoted to the service of humanity than Dr. Pace.

It would take pages to relate the services Dr. Pace has rendered to individuals of this community since he came to Greenville in 1916 as a 27-year-old doctor. In addition to his services as a physician, Dr. Pace has afforded the city outstanding leadership in its civic and religious life. He is, and for years has been, one of the foremost citizens of the Greenville community and Pitt County.

Don't Be Too Rushed To Be Careful

With Thanksgiving out of the way and the turkey reduced to hash and soup, Pitt County housewives are turning to the annual Christmas shopping chore. Some of the early birds already have their Christmas gifts bought, wrapped and neatly tucked away until December 25. For most of the ladies, however, the next four weeks will be a mad rush of doing shopping for all the family.

It will mean a lot of trips downtown, a great deal of traffic in the business sections of Pitt's towns; much horn-blowing and parking place hunting. It will also mean long hours of pushing through crowded stores, deciding whether to buy little Johnny this or that, and seeking a new idea for Dad's present rather than giving him the old reliable socks and ties.

At the outset of the Christmas rush, there are many factors all should keep in mind. Traffic will reach its heaviest peak of the year. Pedestrians will be crossing streets in business districts in droves, drivers will be waiting impatiently at stoplights to continue their hunt for a parking space. Caution on the part of the pedestrians and drivers must be the watchword during the rush if traffic injuries are to be avoided.

At this time of the year also, there are unscrupulous individuals who will have an eye for packages left in unlocked automobiles parked on the streets and in parking lots. A year doesn't go by that local police departments do not receive many complaints from people who have left packages in their cars and returned to find them stolen. Try as they may, police can not keep a constant vigil on every car parked in the business district of a town. The only practical way to cut down on this sort of looting is for individuals to be sure they lock their autos when they leave packages in them.

During the busy days ahead, don't be too rushed to be careful.

Somebody Told Me

Real Horse - And - Buggy Doctor

When a Greenville doctor was chosen "Family Doctor of the Year" for the state of North Carolina our chests stuck out. But now that Dr. K. B. Pace has won the same honor for the nation, our heads should swell up and remain that way.

Last night I called Dr. Charles Pace for a story on his famous father, who is still in Miami. Charlie is one of the best conversationalists I know (also one of Greenville's most eligible bachelors) and this one lasted one hour and five minutes. Over the telephone, that's a record for me. We strayed in every direction from the topic of Dr. K. B. Pace, but nevertheless I gathered some interesting facts about him.

The first thing Charlie remembers about his father is that he seldom saw him. While the children were studying in the living room Dr. Pace would come in and eat supper. He is a great believer in hard work and up until last year when a kidney ailment slowed him down he practiced that belief.

Like most people of his time, Dr. Pace attended a one-teacher school with the customary shooting iron on his hip. After finishing school he worked as a rural mail carrier for four years before attending college.

At Jefferson Medical College he had a reputation for minding his own business. The write-up in the college annual labeled him as a student who was quiet and studious. Charlie says that there are plenty of stories to be told about the trips his father took on horse and buggy and ancient cars over muddy roads to treat patients in the country. Sometimes he would be gone several days. When a farmer called him to deliver a

Justice Barnhill And Streamlining Of Court Procedure

By LYNN NISBET

STREAM-LINING — Chief Justice M.V. Barnhill has some ideas for further streamlining Supreme Court procedure to save time and energy for both the lawyers and justices. He has put into effect several minor changes in practices, one being the use of short "per curiam" opinions instead of long writings by individual justices on matters in which the basic issues have been previously decided. He also has sought to limit speeches by attorneys appearing before the court to the real issues essential to arriving at just decisions, rather than time-consuming repetition of facts clearly stated in the briefs.

Now he is giving serious thought to initiating a plan that would eliminate oral argument except upon request of the court for further information or clarification of matters contained in briefs filed. The Chief Justice had checked the records and found that fifty cases had been slated for oral argument during the last three weeks of the fall term. He discovered also that a great deal of the argument was repetitious, elaborating on minor exceptions or covering points previously decided by the court. The justices had to sit and listen to all of this talk, when their time could have been more profitably spent in studying citations given in the briefs or considering original points.

As result the members of the court will have to spend virtually all of the time between close of arguments in the fall term and cat supper. He is a great believer in hard work and up until last year when a kidney ailment slowed him down he practiced that belief.

Like most people of his time, Dr. Pace attended a one-teacher school with the customary shooting iron on his hip. After finishing school he worked as a rural mail carrier for four years before attending college.

having the goods on a man before an arrest actually occurs. It may be assumed that this case is no exception to that rule.

If guilty, he should be given similar treatment to that meted out to others following the Communist line. Freedom of speech and of political affiliation in this country does not, or at least should not, carry to the point of license for those who would destroy this government. If Scates is a dyed-in-the-wool Red, the bond is not too much. His trial may bring out startling revelations as to numerous phases of his activities not hitherto known generally. It will be watched and followed with keen interest on the part of North Carolinians, since most of his service to the Communists, at least until the last few years, was in this State, centering at Chapel Hill.

More significantly, it would eliminate the traditional method of calling cases from specified Superior Court districts on fixed days. The present system sometimes produces calendar jams with twenty or more cases from some districts, and then lax periods where other districts had only two or three cases on appeal. The suggested change would enable the justices to look over the briefs filed, confer among themselves on points which need clarification or upon which they want help in making decisions, and then to notify the lawyers involved on which points they desired argument and fix dates for the hearing. By limiting argument to the controversial points only, the lawyers would not have to do so much research on other phases of the case.

Furthermore, the suggested plan would enable appeals to be heard much more promptly. Under the present plan appeals originating from Superior Court trials in the first of twenty-first districts after last July cannot be heard until February. Appeals originating from cases in the twelfth district might not be reached until next May. If Chief Justice Barnhill's idea should be adopted appeals could be filed and considered promptly from any district, with decisions based on briefs except in cases where argument might be requested.

One lawyer said he liked the idea, but it had one drawback. Appeals are often taken for the sole purpose of delaying final decision, and the proposed plan would reduce the number of appeals—in some instances depriving the lawyer of an additional fee.

Meanwhile, the highway folks are going ahead with plans designed to improve conditions as rapidly as possible. Col. W.F. How many babies has he delivered? There's no telling. One of thousands of examples: He delivered all seven of the Charlie White children.

Last year at the age of 65 Dr. Pace was forced to slow down and his practice has been adjusted to his health. Amazingly enough, after working hard for so many years, he has the ability to enjoy the new Pace.

For the first time, all he reads is not medical. And he even looks at TV occasionally. But one of the highlights of his relaxation comes on Monday night, when he plays set-back with Reid Perkins, Knott Proctor and Leighton Blount.

And I thank you.

Booby Traps Loom

By ELMER BOESCHER
There are many booby traps to statistics, Prof. Robert Ferber points out in the University of Illinois' current "Illinois Business Review."

The same set of statistics can indicate one thing to one economist and something else to another, he points out. Many mistakes of interpretation, he writes, could be avoided if the interpreter had all the facts on how the statistics were prepared. Among the traps for the unwary, he cited these:

- 1.—Errors of definition, as when a decline in those receiving unemployment insurance may mean exhaustion of benefits under the law, rather than a decline in unemployment.
- 2.—Errors in estimating trends for a survey of a sample, due to factors not reported.
- 3.—Neglecting to consider the effect of passage of time on figures, especially during periods of rapid change when statistics may become obsolete before they can be published.
- 4.—Failure to adjust for seasonal variations.
- 5.—Use of absolute sums which may reflect biased data rather than percentage changes not affected by the bias.

Statistics, Dr. Ferber thinks, should be accompanied by definition, how compiled, when and where compiled, seasonal and other adjustments (and how made), how distinguished from related series, and a rough evaluation of probable size of error where feasible. This information is available for most government statistical series, but it does not always accompany each set of new figures. The researcher often has to track down reference books to get this information. However, reporters and economists are frequently to blame for confusion. For instance, the government puts out statistics in a series entitled, "Consumers Price Index for Moderate-Income Families in Large Cities." Yet this is constantly referred to as the "cost of living index," although it is an index of prices for a sharply limited segment of the population.

Dr. Ferber's third point is important. The government is trying to shorten the time between gathering and announcing figures, but the gap is still wide.

POTATO DEHYDRATING PROCESS DESCRIBED
Anybody with capital and experience who wants to get into the dehydrated mashed potato business can get details on a new process free by writing to the Agricultural Research Service, USDA, Washington 25, D.C., and asking for Circular "ARS-73, Potato Flakes." The method is said to produce flakes which, when added to hot water or milk and whipped, produce "delicious" mashed potatoes.

USED FURNITURE FOUND PROFITABLE
Secondhand furniture can be profitable, according to a recent study reported by the National Retail Dry Goods Association. It shows secondhand furniture produced sales equal to 2.13 per cent of total furniture store volume, with a gross margin of 45.40 per cent, an inventory investment of only 1.11 per cent of total stock and a 5.87 turnover. The gross margin and the turnover is the highest for any classification reported.

Management should use care in getting into the used furniture field, the association warns, but when proper measures are taken, used furniture can be a profitable business.

WORLD PEANUT CROP TO TOUCH RECORD
Good news for elephants, squirrels and small boys: another world's record peanut crop is in prospect this year, according to the Department of Agriculture. The Foreign Agricultural Service estimates the new crop at 12,000,000 short tons, equal to the record-setting crop last year.

Widow With Lots Of Champagne

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Madame Olyr Roederer is the kind of widow that bachelors dream of meeting.

She is blonde, hazel-eyed, warm-hearted and highly cultured. She has a mellow, mature beauty that French ladies achieve and wear so well in their middle years. She also has a fine, well-developed sense of humor.

"That sounds all right-so far as it goes," a cautious bachelor might admit. "But to be really ideal she ought also to own a liquor store. Does she?"

No, Mme. Roederer doesn't own a liquor store. This must be admitted. But, on the other hand, she does have something just as good—five million bottles of champagne. She also has a stable of 120 trotters, and her horses in recent years have been among the biggest money winners in France.

Since the death of her husband in 1932, this pert and vivacious widow has successfully managed the champagne firm of Louis Roederer of Reims and the famous harness racers of "The Stables of the Red Earth."

Mme. Roederer is no figurehead in the 189-year-old champagne firm which ships its vintage products to the courts of Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Ethiopia, Greece and Britain. "I have given this business my whole heart," she said. "I had learned it year by year and step by step, while my husband was alive."

In the firm's 3½ miles of caves at Reims are stored five million bottles of champagne, none of which is sold until it is at least five years old. Mme. Roederer, who can taste and accurately name the major brands of champagne while blindfolded, gives the final voice in the selection of a cuvee, the blending of 1,000 choice casks before the actual bottling.

"It is an important decision," she said. "For the wine decided upon that day won't be drunk until five years later."

She has said that being a woman is no handicap in operating a champagne firm.

"Not at all," she said, "on the contrary it is an advantage." Then she smiled archly and added, "but here one must be careful what one says."

She spends the week at Reims, the weekends in Paris, where she takes an active role in selling her champagne to the top restaurants and nightclubs in the French capital.

Her interest in the export business brought her here for her first tour of America, just completed. She was accompanied by her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Claude Roussaud, and the doctor's brother, Andre Roussaud, who, at 35, is managing director of the champagne firm.

Mme. Roederer found San Francisco the most European-looking of American cities. She was scheduled to tour some California vineyards, but became too fatigued. Asked how California champagne compared with her own product, she hesitated and Andre Roussaud broke in diplomatically.

"Unfortunately, she didn't get to taste any."

New York City impressed Mme. Roederer with its "massive organization."

"Everything is so well prepared and done exactly on time. Here you know what has to be done — and you do it. In Paris we allow for a little more improvisation in living."

As souvenirs of her journey she is bringing back blue jeans for her four grandchildren. Hopalong Cassidy it seems, is now going through France, too.

Mme. Roederer also was cheered by pleasant news from home. "Two of my horses have won races while I was away," she said.

P.S. to American bachelors: Please don't write and ask me how to get in touch with Mme. Roederer. By the time you read this she'll be on her way back to those 4,999,999 bottles of champagne (she gave me a bottle) and her 120 horses.

Frenchman Writes Americans 'Normal'

By PRESTON GROVER
 PARIS, (AP)—A Frenchman's book just published here comes up with the conclusion that Americans are practically normal.

"The overwork of Americans is greatly exaggerated," says Raymond Carlier, a correspondent of the magazine Paris-Match. He spends much of his time in America.

A lot of Americans may die of heart disease and cancer, says Carlier, "but all the other causes of death are becoming increasingly so rare that heart disease and cancer tend more and more to become the only killers."

He observes in his book "The 48 Americas" that Americans don't find escape in alcohol any more than Europeans. And Europeans go astray in believing American family life is breaking up. He explains:

"The immense majority of the divorcees of both sexes are not seeking to break up the home but simply to change it. The large part of divorcees are undertaken with the remarriage already in sight—and the partner already chosen."

—Unlike Europeans who take lovers and mistresses, he says Americans prefer to break up the marriage rather than sully it.

"The hard truth," he says, "is that America is coming to resemble Europe more and more. Everything is growing in that direction, increasing bureaucracy, mounting socialism, and obligatory military service in time of peace."

Carlier notes that many European observers find America too mechanized half of the population rushing to bars at 7 p.m. to quiet their nerves, or passing hours on a psychoanalyst's couch "talking of love instead of making it."

"The misunderstanding is that this 'American way of life' doesn't exist," Carlier writes. "The bases of the life of an individual—spiritual, cultural, social and in his family—are approximately the same in West Europe and in the United States."

Scott Undecided On Censure Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Carolina's newest senator says he has not decided how he will vote on the censure of Sen. McCarthy.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott, at a news conference after taking the oath of office yesterday, said he will definitely vote however.

He made the remarks soon after he and Sen. Sam Ervin were formally sworn in.

Asked what he thought of the work of Sen. Ervin on the committee which voted to censure McCarthy, Scott replied: "Down home they seem to think he wasn't doing so bad."

Asked whether he was a liberal or a conservative, Scott replied: "I was always taught if you're going to make a good crop of tobacco, a good crop of corn or a good crop of cotton, you have to stir up the ground. If you go down the left side of the row, you have to throw the dirt to the right. That's considered good farming."

He said he would like to serve on the Committee of Interior and Insular Affairs and the Agriculture Committee. Referring to the latter, he said he had background in farming but "would dread it because I know something about the problems and how difficult they are to handle."

Insane Criminals Riot In New Jersey State Hospital

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Insane criminals staged a two-hour riot at the New Jersey State Hospital yesterday, wrecking their dining hall and causing injuries to several attendants.

Twenty-three of the 371 inmates were involved, actively or passively.

Hospital officials said that among passive participants was Howard Unruh, 33-year-old ex-GI who in 1949 shot and killed 13 persons at Camden in the bloodiest street slaughter in the nation's history. Unruh, who is suffering from deterioration of the brain cells, an incurable disease, surrendered meekly with the others when they apparently were satisfied they could not resist for long.

Dr. F. Lovell Bixby, acting commissioner of institutions, asked if any action would be taken against the 23, said, "The law specifies you cannot punish an insane man, the courts can't punish them, so how can we?"

Dr. Howard S. Magee, hospital director, said a "hard core" of five inmates led the frenzied crowd in the dining hall.

Forty inmates leaped with 10 attendants through broken windows, dropping 12 feet to the courtyard. Another attendant, Earl Hubbard, was seized by two of the rioters and beaten about the head. Many inmates squeezed out through the door.

Those that went through the windows suffered cuts. One attendant

Spy Stories Are Soviet Feature

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
 MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian people's version of the detective and adventure story is being served up to them in their daily newspapers.

It is the spy story. Not only does this serve as entertainment but also as a daily lesson in "vigilance."

And who's the villain? Usually an American, possibly a Briton, working for those well known "foreign intelligence services" which so often are lambasted in the Soviet press.

Pick up any of a half dozen newspapers or magazines nowadays and you see a spy story, frequently in serial form. The audience naturally runs into the millions. The papers from pioneer Pravda, the newspaper for children, through Komsomol Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist Youth League, right up to Red Star, newspaper of the Soviet armed forces.

This meets growing demands of the people to get something in their reading fare, which is heavily weighted with politics. And with the adventure they get their daily lessons in patriotism and vigilance. The finger points at those bad imperialist Americans who "work to infiltrate our peaceful country." Occasionally a German named villain is thrown in—a West German, naturally.

Some Russians say they just love these newspaper spy serials. They provide a who-done-it, a chase through the woods, murders, shootings. All the shootings, of course, are done by the villainous spies.

Traffic Trouble In Old Istanbul

ISTANBUL (AP)—Driving in the Istanbul, it takes an hour some-crowded streets of 2,614-year-old times to go a few miles. But a look at the official statistics indicates that can't be true.

Traffic police headquarters lists only 10,773 automobiles in this city of 1,300,000. In addition there are 3,996 trucks, 381 buses and 946 motorbikes.

The traffic problem is out of proportion because its an old city. Except for a few main thoroughfares, most streets are cobblestone lanes, built as hand around the seven hills that dominate the city. The few main streets get jammed when everyone goes to work in the morning and goes home at night.

Orhan Eryugoglu, college-trained head of the traffic police, keeps 185 traffic officers at work daily. That's better than one to every 100 vehicles.

There were 1,315 traffic accidents last year, causing 62 deaths and 1,448 injuries. There were 11,911 persons arraigned for traffic violations, plus 15,728 others fined on the spot by traffic police.

There are plans to ease the traffic pressure with a street widening program, plus more unusual solutions, such as burrowing a tunnel from one end of the city to the other, and putting in moving stairways for pedestrians.

Rally Roars Its Support For Sen. Joseph McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—A rally in Madison-Square Garden roared its support for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) last night and strongly protested the Senate motion to censure him.

The wildly enthusiastic crowd, estimated at 13,000, applauded speaker after speaker who praised the senator and condemned his critics. Some of the loudest acclaim was won by the senator's wife Jean and Roy M. Cohn, former counsel to McCarthy's investigating committee.

"If the Senate votes to censure, it will have been committing the blackest act in its entire history," declared Cohn, who was spotted in the audience and brought to the speakers platform by cries of "speech" and "we want Roy."

The rally was sponsored by a group called "10 Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice" and climaxed that organization's drive for 10 million signatures on a petition protesting censure of McCarthy.

Rear Adm. John G. Crommelin (ret.), who directed the signature drive, announced that 1,150,238 names had already been counted and there were piles of petitions yet to be tabulated. "I don't see how we can fail to go way over the top," he said.

The Senate is scheduled to start voting on the censure motion tomorrow.

Attendance at the rally, estimated at 13,000 by the Garden manager, was well below the 22,000 capacity. The sponsors, who spent $5,000 to rent the Garden and another $5,000 on radio and telephone charges had predicted an overflow crowd.

The list of speakers some of whom talked from distant cities via closed circuit radio, was studied with retired military men.

Buckeyes Rate 'Tops' In Final National Poll

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This usually frenzied football town, worn to a frazzle by Ohio State's unglorious and swashbuckling gridiron deeds, just took it in quiet stride today as the Bucks won the national collegiate championship.

"Aw, we knew it all the time," was the general attitude as news spread Ohio State had climbed on the throne in the final Associated Press poll with 3,670 points to UCLA's 3,594.

Win or lose, the Bucks are always champions to the year-round writers, but as the 408 sports writers made it official for Coach Woody Hayes' unbeaten squad the satisfaction was tinged with a bit of discontent.

"We should be playing UCLA in the Rose Bowl instead of Southern California. That would stop all arguments," was the oft-heard comment at Broad and High streets—the mecca which attracts the faithful for discussion of football doings.

Athletic director Dick Larkins was on the Coast making Rose Bowl arrangements and Hayes was in update Fremont for a high school banquet when the championship flash came.

Larkins, always unfruffled and soft-spoken, observed:

"I am delighted that we are the No. 1 team."

Hayes, who has had three so-so seasons with the Bucks before this year, declared:

"That's sure swell. Frankly, I think we deserve it because of the schedule we played and the way we stayed 'up' for nine games. This is the right time to win it too. Remember, after the Wisconsin game, when they voted us first I said 'Too bad!' Well, I was afraid everyone would be shooting at us the rest of the way."

Asked how his boys rolled over Indiana, California, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Pittsburgh, Northwestern, Purdue and Michigan in a row Hayes said:

"I don't think it was depth, for other teams out-depthed us. I don't think it was conditioning. I think our kids just weren't going to let any team beat 'em—and they didn't."

Of the 408 ballots in the poll—a record vote—exactly half, or 204, placed Ohio State at the top. UCLA picked up 133 first-place votes, and third-place Oklahoma, which won 10 straight while the leaders were winning 9, was the choice of 35. On the 10-9-9-etc. voting basis, Oklahoma finished 479 points back of UCLA with 3,155.

For winning the championship, Ohio State will receive a let on the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., Memorial Trophy emblematic of the title. The award was donated by Notre Dame after the Irish retired the Williams Trophy in 1947 by winning it three times.

Pirate Basketballers Stage Stiff Workout For Opener

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Coaches Howard Porter and Earl Smith sent the East Carolina cagers through a stiff two-hour workout yesterday afternoon in preparation for initial defense of their North State Conference title against Guilford Saturday in Greensboro.

The drills were highlighted by a 20-minute scrimmage between two units of the varsity. Working with what appears to be the number 1 were Don Harris and Nick Nichols at the forwards, J. C. Thomas and Cecil Heath at the guards, and Guy Mendenhall at center. Nichols and Mendenhall are freshmen while Harris is a sophomore. Thomas a junior and Heath the squad's only senior.

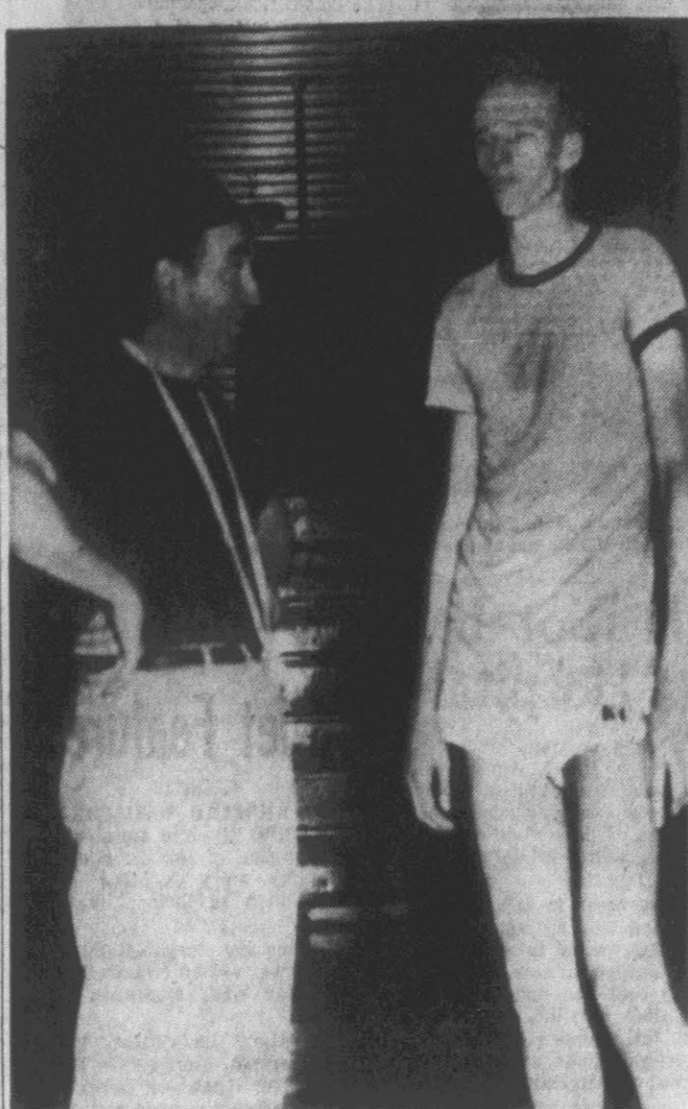

Opposing this quint were William McArthur and Jerry Bosquet at the forwards, Maurice Eyerette and Fred James at the guards, and Waverly Atkins at the pivot spot. Waddell Solomon alternated with Eyerette at guard and Marion Hales worked some at center.

The scoring was held to a minimum by fine defensive play on both sides. On several occasions, though, one of the teams would go into a scoring spurt. The first five mentioned above averaged in height around six-three and clocked pretty fast. The number 2 unit, who all seem very much in contention for the starting group, averaged around six-two and appeared strong under the backboards, especially the defensive boards.

Prior to the full-court squall, Coach Porter worked the varsity on defenses against the Guilford Quakers' big two forwards, Bill Atkins and six-foot seven center Guy Dowd. The first two sets alternated in roles as scorers and defenders. Atkins, a prolific scoring senior, bucketed 26 points against a reputedly strong McCrary team last Saturday night as the Quakers dropped a narrow 76-73 encounter. Dowd was a big man under the basket and did most of the rebounding.

Guilford has several veterans besides Atkins and Dowd returning plus several highly-rated newcomers. They are reportedly much improved over last year's club which dwelt in the league's lower division.

Porter already has professed that

COACH AND STAR PUPIL are shown above conferring during yesterday's practice session. Coach Howard Porter of the East Carolina Pirates talks with freshman center Guy Mendenhall, a 6-4 product of Cary. The rangy blond was All-State while playing with Cary's state champs last year and has a good chance of making the starting five for the Pirates.

the success of his 1954-55 Pirates will rest on the performance of freshmen and the re-established stars Heath-Harris-Thomas. Although minus All-Staters Bobby Hodges and Charlie Huffman, East Carolina's new addition, with several games under their belts, should be in good shape to bode ill for many North Staters and surprise a lot of people.

Pitt Basketball Conference Marks 'Full Card' This Week

The Pitt County Basketball Conference begins hitting on all nine cylinders this week with every team in the league getting into the act.

Tonight's Game: Oak City at Bethel.

Wednesday night's games: Ayden at Bethel; Stokes at Chocico; Farmville at Grifton; and Grimesland at Winterville.

Bethel puts an undefeated girls team on the hardwood tonight against Oak City, a non-conference opponent. The visitors are reputedly boasting one of their better teams and should give the Bethel lasses a good tussle. The Bethel boys dropped their opener to Grimesland but since have rode the victory liner. Both teams have played five games.

Coach E. F. Johnson introduces his 1954-55 cage troupe tomorrow night against Bethel in a league tiff. The Tornadoes are untied whereas Coaches O. H. Forrest and E. N. Warren of Bethel have directed their charges in five games.

Coach Forrest's girls have a 3-1-1 record to date. They defeated S. Edgemore, Hookerton and Maury, lost to Bethel's powerhouse 53-28 and were tied by W. Edgemore 38-38. The Bethel boys have won three and lost two.

Grifton entertains Farmville in a loop meet tomorrow night. The game will be the curtain-raiser for Coaches Sam Stell and Charles Tucker of Farmville while Grifton's clubs have played three games. Both Grifton teams have identical 1-2 records. The Farmville boys lost 4 of their starting 5 from last year's club and will be playing with several inexperienced members. Coach Tucker will count on Carroll Allen and Jack Farrow, the only two seniors, to lead the way. Carroll Wooten, Bill Farrow, Mack Holmes, Billy Baker and Curtis Worthington are other able personages. Coach Stell has eight returning veterans from last year's girls team which fielded a good team.

copped third place in the conference.

Grimesland and Winterville clash on the latter's home court tomorrow night. Grimesland has already played five games and Winterville has also gotten several games under their belts. These two always put on a good show and both schools boast pretty fair clubs this season.

Stokes plays host to Chocico in the opener for Coaches Fodie Hodges and Alton Burke's aggregations. Stokes, on the other hand, leads the league in games played, having taken the floor six times already. Probable starting lineups for Chocico's girls teams are Patsy Mills, Hazel Wilson and Clara Wilson; forwards; Joyce Spain, Maine Jones and Sally McGowan, guards. Coach Hodges has all his players back from last year's team and should be exceptionally strong. The Chocico boys will have Jimmy Fornes and Walter Haddock at the forwards; Garland Cox and Billy Cooper at the guards; and Jimmy Ross at center. Coach Burke will count on several untied boys but hopes to field a good team.

Bowl Game Will Be Profitable

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Atlantic Coast and Big Seven conferences will receive more than $200,000 each for sending teams to the Orange Bowl football game in 1956, 1957 and 1958.

This was announced yesterday when the Orange Bowl Committee signed a three-year contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System for radio and television broadcasts of those New Year's Day football games for $825,000.

The contract calls for paying the Orange Bowl $275,000 annually for giving CBS exclusive rights to broadcast and televise the games.

CBS also agreed to give the Orange Bowl Committee 50 per cent of net receipts from sponsored commercial broadcasting of Orange Bowl festival events.

Each participant got $128,034.31 from the 1954 game when Maryland played Oklahoma. Television and radio rights for that game amounted to only $73,750, but it will be increased to $81,230 for the game between Duke and Nebraska on Jan. 1, 1955.

Present plans call for televising the game on 143 stations throughout the country. That was the number on the network last Jan. 1.

Hartwig, Seixas Emerge As Top Tennis Hopes

MELBOURNE (AP)—Rex Hartwig, a country boy from nearby Culcairn, and Philadelphia plumbum Vic Seixas emerged as the strong men of the respective Australian and United States Davis Cup teams today as American hopes sagged with the defeat of Tony Trabert.

Trabert, Uncle Sam's broad-shouldered blockbuster who carried most of the weight of the U.S. team a year ago, fell in straight sets before the slashing Hartwig in the quarterfinals of the Victorian tennis championships, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6.

Seixas, the disappointment of America's 1953 cup bid, meanwhile, continued to show sparkling form as he cut down Mervyn Rose, Australia's national champion, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4.

In the first two sets the Philadelphia, who holds the U.S. championship, looked unbeatable, but he suffered an unconscious relaxation and almost let Rose slip away.

Phants Still Have 'Long Way To Go'

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

With only one more practice day to go before the season opener with Rocky Mount here Wednesday night, the Greenville Phantoms seem to have a long way to go before they are in top form.

Yesterday afternoon Coach Bo Farley's five scrimmaged the college freshman team and more than held their own, but looked only lackadaisical in doing so. In another workout with their second team after the freshman scrimmage, the G-men were slow and tired.

With only one more day to go the Farley men seem to be far off their form for the opener. In yesterday's workout on the larger college court both teams used the fast break to a great degree. For the Greenies Bob Howell did most of the scoring on the end of the fast break. Pat Sawyer and Tommie Saleed also led the quick offensive. Harold Edwards looked impressive snatching rebounds and scoring on his hook shot and jump shots from the pivot. Edgar Moore dumped in his pet one-hander several times. On defense, however, the college boys were breaking through with regularity.

Clark Noble, Ike Riddick, Tommy Norris, and Billy Johnson were the chief reserves used by Coach Farley against the freshmen. Riddick was impressive with his passing and all-around playing although the junior jayvee product was woefully off in his shooting. Riddick has been in bed for a week with a very severe cold and returned to practice Saturday.

The game Wednesday night will be played in the high school auditorium.

Rocky Mount, who is in the AA Eastern Conference, will be opening their season just like the Phantoms. Coach Bill Lundy of Rocky Mount is reported to have a good crop of jayvee products up to the varsity. The only returning starter returning from last season is guard Clem Edwards. The Blackbirds are always rough, however, and Coach Lundy is sure to come up with a good squad. At the present, with the Phantoms practice difficulties, the game would have to be rated a toss-up. Anyway it should be a thriller with the Phantoms looking for their first win over Rocky Mount in over three years.

Orioles To Trim Farm System

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles have announced plans to trim their farm system from 12 to 7 clubs next year.

Farm Secretary Jim McLaughlin, making the announcement yesterday, said the move was a "natural step to weed out players who will never make the big league grade. It means merely that we have progressed a year."

Clubs to be dropped are Pine Bluff, Ark., of the Class C Cotton States League; Pocatello, Idaho, of the Class C Pioneer Loop; and three Class D clubs—Wytheville, Va., of the Appalachian League; Marion, N.C., of the Tarheel League; and Ada, Okla., of the Sooner State Circuit.

Still Has Faith In Winless Colts

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts have failed again to win in the National Football League, but you may put aside any thought that means they are through.

Carroll Rosenbloom, their biggest financial backer, last night faced the facts and still insisted he had faith in producing a winner. Or else, he'll get out and let somebody else try.

Rosenbloom gave his second annual "pull-no-punches" party for newsmen. It was scheduled before the Colts won their second game out of 10 over San Francisco last Sunday.

He said bluntly that the season had been a disappointment to everybody and particularly contrary to his statement at a similar party last year that the Colts would improve this season.

Last year, the Colts won three games.

"If we win all of us directors should take credit," he said. "If we lose, I'm to blame."

Rosenbloom said he still has faith that the Colts can be built into a winner. "If they can't, I will not burden Baltimore fans with my ownership and I will turn the job over to somebody else. But I still think I can give them a winner."

The fleet Mountaineers are Charles Cascio, Harry Diehl, Dick Hashinger, Bob Harrah and captain Dick Thornburn.

Cousy Assumes Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) Bob Cousy, veteran Boston Celtic scoring sensation, has wrested the National Basketball Assn. scoring lead from the defunct Baltimore Bullets' rookie Frank Selvy by a margin of eight points.

The 6-1 playmaker chalked up 92 points during the week to boost his total to 292 and his average for 13 games to 22.5. Selvy, who was picked up by the Milwaukee Hawks after Baltimore dropped out of the league last week, has 284 points in 14 starts for a 20.3 average.

The Syracuse Nationals' Dolph Schayes is in third place with 262 points.

SECOND PRIZE
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Julius Zukowski brought down a 100-pound, five-point buck with a bow and arrow. But it didn't turn out to be the prize he thought it would. When he ran to the fallen deer, Zukowski discovered it only had three legs. One apparently had been lost to gunfire or a barbed wire fence in 1953.

Income Tax Element In Stock Market Activity

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, (AP)—In the jargon of the astrologer the stock market is now in the sign of the Internal Revenue Service.

This is the time of year that stock traders sell — and buy — with income tax returns in mind.
The new factor will color the market picture, already complicated by the entry of the public as an important buying element — an entry which traditionally stimulates buying, and worries some professionals.

Profit taking also is an obvious factor of weight in the stock market. Those who prefer a bird in the hand have been selling to cash in on the gains of the exuberant post-election market. Their selling has slowed down markedly, but not halted the upward surge of prices.
To this and to the newly emphasized interest of the public — as always, on the bullish side — must now be added the selling of those who want to establish losses for tax purposes, or those who for reasons of their own want to make their profits a matter of record, also for tax purposes.

A third group who may be active, both as sellers and buyers, will be some managers of portfolios of stocks — their own or those they control — who may be switching from stocks, which have had notable price gains into others which haven't joined the upward surge as yet and therefore may promise better yields.

All of these cross-purpose factors should make the daily performance of the stock market in the next four weeks particularly interesting.

The amount of stock trading for tax purposes this year has the brokers perplexed. At first glance, there wouldn't seem to be many losses to be established, so steadily upward has been the main course of stock market this year. Since September 1953, for example the industrials as a group have added 50 per cent to their collective market value.

Happy Ending As Ring Recovered

Soon a plumber plucked the diamond from the muck.

But look at any recent day when the stock averages made a new high for the year and you'll find that a few individual stocks were making new lows for the year. Traders who guessed wrong on them would have a loss to report for tax purposes.

To do this the traders could make a simple sale and the loss is a matter of record — for matters of tax reporting they can't buy this same stock back for 30 days. If they still have faith in the stock, as often is the case, and want to retain their holdings, they have another course. They can buy an equal number of shares of the stock. They must wait 30 days and then sell their original holdings for loss-establishing, while retaining the new block for whatever purpose they have in mind. Of course, if the price has gone down in the period they had to hold both blocks, they'll be sorry.

Selling to establish a profit could be for two reasons. Either the owner prefers to pay the tax on the capital gain this year rather than next or he has losses on other capital holdings which offset the profit: result — no tax.

The 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act extend coverage to approximately 80,000 farmers and farm employees within the 15-county area served by the Rocky Mount office.

While immediate cash payments cannot be made, the amendments provide that disabled workers will not have their regular average monthly earnings reduced because of lack of earnings, or income, due to periods of disability. Also, there are other amendments that improve the effectiveness of the program.

Individuals desiring more information should write the office for that information. Groups desiring films, speakers, or other visual aids should contact the office, or see the representative at the itinerant station, where every effort will be made to comply with your requests. This is not always possible due to other commitments.

Nearly Finished Her Solo Voyage

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Ann Davison didn't quite make it all the way to Norfolk from New York in her one-woman sloop as she had planned, but she didn't miss it much.
The courageous Englishwoman, who left New York Nov. 23 expecting to sail her craft, the Felicity Ann, into Norfolk in five days at the most, needed seven before she finally reached port here last night at 10:30 p.m. A seagoing fishing trawler had to tow her the final 70 miles.

Bad weather gave both Mrs. Davison and her 23-foot sloop a buffeting, throwing her badly off schedule. So when the trawler, the 200-ton Sea Hawk skippered by Capt. H. W. Gibbs, of Hampton, came along early yesterday morning and offered assistance, the lady said a reluctant "Yes."
The trawler took the Felicity Ann under tow about 30 miles off Cape Henry and tied up at the Virginia Marine Service at Phoebus 13 hours later.

Mrs. Davison, who sailed in the Felicity Ann from England to New York last year, said she was "tired and wet but otherwise all right."
"There was nothing really glamorous about the incident," she said modestly. "I am very pleased to hear people were concerned about my safety. It's nice to know someone cares."
As soon as her sloop gets a few minor repairs she plans to set out to sea again — this time to Florida and the Bahamas, and all alone again, of course.

Cooperation In Crucial Decision

NOGALES Ariz. (AP)—The Arizona Land Department held a hearing to determine whether a large part of the Santa Cruz River valley should be declared a "critical" groundwater area.
Immediately after the hearing one of the heaviest rainstorms of the year hit the area. State Water Commissioner Roger Ernst is expected to make his decision in a few weeks.
Designation of an area as "critical" prohibits the drilling of any more wells.

Publicity Goes To Every Guest

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A hotel has a new gimmick to publicize Philadelphia's historical attractions.
A public address system is connected to each room's radio receiver. During the pause between radio programs, a recording is played calling guests' attention to special attractions for the day at such places as the zoo, Franklin Institute, Independence Hall and Valley Forge.

New Postoffice Rulebook Ready

Local Postmaster J. Knott Proctor today called to the attention of mail users major new postal regulations being issued effective Wednesday which will provide important changes and simplifications in the use of the mails.

The Post Office Department is issuing a final edition of a history-making new Postal Manual which contains these changes in simple form. The new manual will bring together in less than 300 pages public-interest postal regulations formerly scattered through 4,000 pages of dense print, Proctor explained.

This publication may be obtained at 65 cents a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. Mail users anxious to keep abreast of all changes in this material that may be made from time to time may get both the pamphlet in loose-leaf format and

Local Postmaster J. Knott Proctor today called to the attention of mail users major new postal regulations being issued effective Wednesday which will provide important changes and simplifications in the use of the mails.

The revision of the Postal Manual, Proctor said, represents what Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has described as the most complete revision of regulations in the history of the U. S. Post Office Department.
The Department on October 21 issued the first preliminary edition, and Postmaster General Summerfield invited the general public, as well as large mailers and postal employees, to suggest constructive revisions for incorporation into the final edition.

The final regulations have been filed with the Division of the Federal Register in Washington, and will become legally effective Wednesday.
Proctor noted the new publication "is remarkable for its simplicity. Not only is it printed in easy-to-understand English, but it contains simple black and white illustrations on how to prepare material for mailing. The print is easy to understand, and is arranged in logical sections under bold-face headings."
Proctor said not only are the regulations issued in new simplified form, but the rules themselves have been changed, with "a great deal of obsolete and conflicting material eliminated in the process."

Mail users who have inquiries about any special points in connection with the new publication may direct them to the Greenville Post Office. It should be emphasized, Proctor stated, the booklet represents the "final word" on all postal rules.

U.S. Building Up Eleven Wings Of Giant H-Bombers

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—America's new H-bomb striking force will consist of 11 wings of high-speed, long-range B52 jet bombers—four more wings than previously announced.

This force, Pentagon officials said today, will gradually replace during the next two or three years the present fleet of heavy strategic bombers—the B36 powered with a combination piston-jet plant.
The cost of the program, based on estimates of the average cost of B52s when in full production, the cost of development of the first two prototype planes, of tanker planes for refueling and of putting into operation a second source of production, may be about $4,300,000,000.

Until this new indication was made by Pentagon officials, who may not be identified, the Air Secretary of Air Harold Talbot has said the present range of the B52 is about 6,000 miles, with hope for extending that to 10,000. In-flight refueling from a tanker plane would extend this greatly.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Gary Norbeck was chopping wood back of his cabin when he heard voices at the pool—Cindy's and Enid's. He laid down his axe, went into the cabin, put on his swimming trunks to join them at the pool.

But when he appeared there Enid said only: "Hello," and went on swimming. Cindy, however greeted him warmly, waving her hand to him, swimming to the big rock, climbing up on it, standing there, her bare arms and legs glistening with water, her wet hair a close cap of gold over her head. She called: "Come on in! The water's fine," and dived awkwardly into it.

Gary swam up beside her. "Don't ever do that again!" He spoke very seriously. "The water is too shallow there!"

"Bossy!" She laughed gaily, shook the water out of her eyes. Enid was the better swimmer of the two—exceptionally good. She swam on down the length of the pool.

Cindy managed, with awkward short strokes to keep close to Gary. After a while, breathlessly, she pulled herself up on to the big rock again.

Enid came out of the water. "Ready to go back?" she asked Cindy.

Cindy hugged her knees. "No, it's nicer here. You go along."

With a lift of her hand toward them Enid went up the bank to the path and disappeared among the trees.

Gary swam to the rock where Cindy sat, hunched over her knees, now her face clouded, her lips drooping.

"What's wrong?" he asked.

"I wish I never had to go back to that house!" she burst out. "I hate her so!"

Gary sat down beside her. "Who's this you're hating? Not Enid?"

"Enid's mother. I won't call her Aunt Hester. She's been nasty to me ever since she came. She dared to tell me that I have no right to be there. That I'm not her brother's daughter! I guess I ought to know!"

"Certainly you ought to know! How's the other aunt behaving?"

"She's funny again, like she was at first. For a few days she was nice but she isn't now. Enid's all right—she's dull to talk to but she's better than no one. I wish my father'd come! I'm so lonesome there!"

A child, terribly unhappy, Gary put one arm comfortingly over her shoulders. "Stick it out, kid, until he comes. Don't pay any attention to that aunt. Act as if she were not anywhere around!"

Cindy drew closer into the hold of his arm, lifted her head. "I'll do that! If I meet her in the yard I'll look right through her!"

"That's the spirit!" approved Gary. "How's the garden going?" he asked.

"Oh, I've had some radishes—waxy ones! The carrots are up—the beans, too. And I put in some onion sets!"

"Fine! You'll have your stew soon." Gary got to his feet. "I'm going up to the cabin. Promise me you won't take any more dives from this rock. I don't want to find you in the bottom of the pool with a bashed-in head."

"I won't," she promised. "But why do you have to go? You don't do anything, do you?"

"I don't eat! I have to labor to exist, my child. Just now there's wood waiting to be split into kindling."

"When am I really going to pose for you?" demanded Cindy. "For a nice painting. Not like that other."

his own surprise, stepped up to her, put his hands on her shoulders and kissed her.

Instantly he drew back, startled, unable to explain the impulse that had led him to do it. Though it was a usual gesture of greeting in the crowd he had known, he felt awkward and self-conscious.

For an instant Enid looked startled, the next she gave him a quick half smile. Then she said: "I'll get your floor all wet!" In a matter-of-fact manner she kicked off her boots, first one and then the other and stood in her bare feet. Gary drew a breath of relief. She had taken his kiss for no more than it was.

"Do you always pick out rainy days for walks?"

"It's the first time I've ever done it. I loved it! I've been miles!"

Then she saw the painting on the easel walked over to it. "Cindy told me you were doing it." She stood, her back to him, studying it. And Gary waited feeling absurdly, tense and tight inside, as if she were Brazil!

Finally she turned. "It's Cindy—as you see her, isn't it?"

"And how is that?" he challenged.

Enid studied the painting again. "You've made her beautiful. She is—I don't think I've seen a girl as beautiful. And I don't think she knows it. She never uses it as most girls do. She isn't dumb—oh, a little simple—a natural, I suppose you'd call her. I think she's been awfully protected by this Bright she talks about—maybe too much so. It makes you afraid for her. Makes you want to keep things from happening to hurt her. Somehow you have all that there on the canvas."

Police Rescued Firemen's Pies

DALLAS (AP)—Fireman C. W. Brock, who doubles as cook at Station 36, left in a hurry after an alarm yesterday.

En route he remembered three coconut pies in the oven, baking for supper.

He advised the fire dispatcher, who called the police dispatcher, who flashed word to a patrol car cruising in the area to "turn out the fire in the oven at Fire Station 36."

The house was heavily damaged. Police saved the pies.

Mystery Behind Gradual Collapse

HARLIN, Ill. (AP)—The Calhoun County court house is 106 years old and still stands square and true, but the 104-year-old jail is beginning to show signs of disintegration.

The jail was built in 1850 from native limestone and is a model of expert workmanship. The huge blocks of stone were so carefully fitted that builders say they should have stood for hundreds of years.

In the last 60 days small cracks in the upper floor have widened alarmingly. The cause is a mystery. One theory is that years of drought have caused the soil to contract and allow the building to settle.

A SWITCH OF THE PITCH -AND AWAY YOU GO!

The biggest sensation in years is what "variable pitch propellers" have done for Dynaflo Drive!

IT happens like this. You need pickup—and pronto. So you get it. You get it by pushing the accelerator pedal of a 1955 Buick all the way to the floor board.

Then—without jerk or lag or lurch or pause—you get action! You get action whether you're just starting off—or asking for a safety-surge of power out on the highway.

There's nothing like it in past experience—because there has never been anything like it in an automobile before.

This is action that comes from the principle of variable pitch propellers used on modern planes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for take-off—and cut hundreds of feet off the time required to lift a plane from a runway.

And the amazing fact is—in a 1955 Buick Dynaflo Drive there are 20 little propeller-like blades that also change their pitch, just like the propeller blades of a plane.

This is a transmission engineer's dream of heaven. A build-up of momentum as smooth as flowing oil—and almost as quick as lightning—plus better gas mileage in cruising range. It's what the whole automobile industry has been shooting for—and Buick has it.

So, that means there's only one thing for you to do. Try out a 1955 Buick, and soon.

Try it out for quick action, as we've mentioned. Try it out for room and comfort and ride. And by all means, cast an admiring eye on its style—for it beats the high-fashion Buicks which set the pattern in the successful year just ended.

We're waiting and eager to hear from you soon. So drop in—or give us a call. We promise you a thrill that no other car can deliver.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market advanced today in a selective sort of way.

In the early afternoon prices were up between 1 and 2 points at the best. Losses were quite heavy in a few instances because of corporate developments.

Trading was lively at a rate right around yesterday's 3,300,000 shares traded in a rising market. Higher major divisions included steels, oils, airlines, motion pictures, coppers, aircrafts, and tobaccos.

Tipping lower were distillers, electrical equipments, and leading building materials. Others were mixed.

Zenith Radio was late in opening because of a rash of selling orders that hit the market after directors declared the usual dividends. The stock opened on 1,200 shares off 3/4 at 91 and then sank around 5 points within a short time.

Chrysler was up 1 1/2 at 64 on 5,000 shares and then strengthened still more on the settlement of a strike threat poised by the United Auto Workers Union.

There were a great many large blocks traded. Armour & Co. was on the tape with blocks as large as 9,000 shares at 12 1/2 up 3/4.

New York Central was active and higher at 26 up 3/4. Allegheny Corp., yesterday's most active issue up 1/2, opened up 1/2 at 6 1/2 and traded a block of 10,000 shares at 6 1/2. Studebaker-Packard opened up 1/2 at 12 1/2.

L.S. Starrett was under heavy selling pressure after directors cut back the dividend payments.

Pittsburgh Consolidated Coal was up around 6 points at times and quite active for that issue.

Freighter Sinks In Irish Sea Gale

LONDON (U)—Winds of hurricane force sank the 7,378-ton British freighter Treasillian in the Irish Sea today. Hours later other ships reported plucking 3 dead and 18 survivors from the water in perilous rescue operations.

Eighteen crewmen were unaccounted for. Recovery of the three bodies raised to 25 the known deaths of seamen in the five-day storm that sank four other ships in waters around the British Isles.

The Treasillian, bringing a cargo of grain to England from Canada, heeled over and went down 44 miles off Cork, Ireland. The crew of 40 went over the side into mountainous waves. The ship's owners, the Peninsular & Oriental Steamship Co., said there were no passengers aboard.

Salvation Army Observes 'Week'

The Salvation Army is observing the week of November 28-December 5 as "Salvation Army Week."

Lt. and Mrs. B. T. Lewis, in charge of the Greenville post, are cooperating in the nationwide observance.

Lt. Lewis recalled today that 75 years ago a small band of seven women officers and one man landed in New York City to plant the flag of the Salvation Army and to "claim America for God." He said these people endured hardship, ridicule and abuse, but they steadfastly pursued their mission, and in a few years had established centers of operations across the nation.

In 1886, President Grover Cleveland gave his official endorsement to a delegation of Salvation Army officers, and official approval has followed the army's activities through the years.

"Today, in the length and breadth of the United States," Lewis stated, "the Salvation Army daily carries on its mission 'with Heart to God and Hand to Man.' In its great cathedral, the open air, it disseminates Christian truth, often providing a church for those who have no church. Its social work program covers a multitude of services—visitations among the poor, needy and sick; establishment of centers to help the destitute and unemployed; maternity homes and hospitals for the unmarried mother; low cost hotels for those in smaller income brackets; day care centers for children and clubs for servicemen."

Scene At High School 'College Day'

Annual College Day was held yesterday at Farmville and Greenville High Schools. Representatives from numerous institutions were present for the program in Farmville yesterday morning, taking part in the GHS program in the afternoon. Above a group of local high school girls learn more about the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina from that school's representative. High school juniors and seniors attended the program, sponsored locally by the National Honor Society and in Farmville by the Key Club. (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes).

Lions Hear Talk By FBI Agent

The Lions Club last night heard Ray Abbaticchio, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Charlotte, describe the work of the bureau.

Abbaticchio told the Lions that one-third to one-half of the total manpower of the FBI is devoted to checking on subversion.

He said homes, churches and schools have a joint responsibility in instructing children to keep them out of trouble with the law.

The FBI agent said the successful solution to crimes is the joint efforts of law enforcement groups. He praised local, county and state law enforcement agencies for the cooperation they afford the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Abbaticchio brought out that half of the inmates of penal institutions are under 18 years old. He said that about the same number of persons are released from the penal institutions each year as graduates from college.

Guests of the club last night included Marvin Blackwood, Dr. R. F. Caverlee, G. H. Cox, Greenville Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs and Paul Scott.

It was reported to the club that 112 locations for gum ball machines have been secured.

Lions were also reminded that ladies' night is to be held on December 13 at 7 p.m.

Adjustments Board OKs Exception To Regulations

The Board of Adjustments last night approved a carport on the side of the medical offices of Dr. Herbert Gardner after it was brought out that the structure was for use of patients visiting the doctor.

The board was acting on an appeal by the doctor from Building Inspector George Gardner's decision that the carport did not meet the building regulations.

Gardner told the board that he rode by the property and saw the carport after it was constructed. He said it did not meet the building

Chrysler Strike Averted Today

DETROIT (U)—A Chrysler strike was averted today, making certain a full-scale automobile market battle among the industry's "Big Three."

Negotiators for Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers reached an agreement in the dawn hours after 19 hours of marathon sessions.

The settlement preserved Chrysler's place in the 1955 car market race. A strike could have shut down all Chrysler's operations, idling 150,000 men and leaving the big competitive battle to Ford and General Motors alone.

The Chrysler settlement came in the liberal last hour, actually 50 minutes before the 7 a.m. deadline. It was announced by weary negotiators at 6:10 a.m.

At issue were contract terms for 860 office workers at Chrysler's key automotive body division.

Declares Victory Will Lie In Air

LOS ANGELES (U)—Field Marshal Montgomery says the West "will never win the war in the air with the organization for air command and control that we have at present."

Britain's World War II hero said: "The present organization is unworthy of a group of nations who claim to have some knowledge of war."

Speaking last night to California Institute of Technology scientists, Montgomery prefaced his remarks on a possible future world war by saying: "I want to make it absolutely clear that we at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers, Europe, are basing all our operational planning on using atomic and thermonuclear weapons in our defense."

The reason, he said, is that "we cannot match the strength that could be brought against us unless we use nuclear weapons; and our political chiefs have never shown any great enthusiasm in giving us the number to be able to do this without using such weapons."

He envisioned three stages of a war: worldwide struggle for mastery in the air and of the oceans; destruction of the remaining enemy land forces; and the bargaining phase when the enemy's homeland is at the mercy of Western air power.

Montgomery said, "The dominant factor in future war will be air power. The greatest asset of air power is its flexibility. Flexibility and centralized control of all the air forces in a theater of war are vital to success." Then he continued:

"But the West has sacrificed much of its flexibility by basing the air command organization on the requirements of the 'direct support' of the land forces, whereas it should be based on the organization necessary to gain the greatest measure of control in the air."

Mother Held In Death Of Child

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (U)—The mother of a 4-year-old boy, who died after being injured last week, was held today under $25,000 bond.

Last night a coroner's jury recommended the action after hearing seven witnesses in a three-hour inquest into the death of little Francis Williams.

Mrs. George A. Williams, pregnant mother of the child, sat calmly through the hearing but when Coroner Talbert Jones read the verdict she wept.

The child's father, a Marine sergeant, stationed at nearby Camp Lejeune, was placed under military arrest.

Dr. Allan A. Gleitz, who treated the child last Tuesday when he was brought to the Onslow County Hospital, testified the boy died of head injuries and drowning.

Lt. G.E. Meader, Marine medical officer who performed an autopsy, said death was caused by a skull fracture.

Other witnesses were neighbors of the couple, who testified that during the last five months the child had been beaten frequently by both parents.

Exterminator Is Found Guilty

ROCKVILLE, Md. (U)—James R. Hoover, 39, a Bethesda exterminator, has been convicted on three false pretense charges involving treatment of homes he said were about to be undermined by termites.

Asst. State's Atty. Robert C. Heeny yesterday told the Circuit Court jury that Hoover "panicked" three Bethesda home owners into taking a total of $680 worth of antitermite work the prosecutor said was needless. Hoover awaits sentencing.
