Among those appearing on the program were, left to right: Henry McCadyen, NCEA director of public relations who was guest speaker for the evening; Mrs. Evelyn Bullock, president of the local county unit; Sabra Reid, area supervisor of school lunchrooms; and O. Endorse Jenkins For NCEA Post

By EDWINA HAYMES, Reflector Staff Writer. Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, East Carolina College Dean, was endorsed as a nominee for the North Carolina Education Association presidency at a meeting of the Pitt County NCEA unit last night at the Belvoir-Falkland High School.

Dr. Jenkins has already been endorsed for the position by the Greenville city and the East Carolina College units of the NCEA.

Also selected at last night's meeting as nominees for district delegates to the National Education Association meeting in Chicago next July were Fodie Hodges, principal at Chocod High School; and Garland Briley, Grimesland School principal.

Also appearing on the program was Mrs. Sabra Reid, area supervisor of school lunchrooms, who explained to the group the numerous opportunities for education offered by the school lunch program.

She pointed out, however, that almost 40 per cent of school students are not participating in the lunchroom program. "Out of 5,518 students, only 3,400 participated in the program last year, leaving 2,110 who are either bringing their own lunches, eating knick knacks or going without lunch entirely."

Quality of Lunch Program. The supervisor declared the quality of the program depends on how well the teachers, students, principals, supervisors and lunchroom managers work together for the full utilization of the facilities offered.

"We must not just sell the program, but good nutrition," she emphasized. "And we must remember to practice good nutrition ourselves, for we cannot sell something to a child that we are not selling to ourselves."

Special Christmas music for the evening was rendered by the Belvoir-Falkland High School Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Pattie Fleming. Mrs. Lou Nelson, Belvoir English teacher, gave the devotional.

Following the program, open house was held and everyone invited to enjoy refreshments and visit the schoolrooms.

The next county NCEA meeting is scheduled for February 9 at the Bethel School.

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's 1956 motor vehicle license plates will be an inch larger than those of previous years.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt said yesterday the 1956 plates will be 6 by 12 inches, the standard size adopted last year by the American Assn. of Motor Vehicle Administrators for suggested use by all states. In recent years Tar Heel tags have been 5 by 12 inches.

TOKYO—Japan's trade with Red China this year will exceed 80 million dollars, more than double last year's amount but only a little over 1 per cent of Japan's total foreign trade, the newspaper Nichi Keisai reported today.

Simulate Denver Atomic Attack

DENVER (AP)—A mock atomic attack on Denver conducted by civil defense workers yesterday was assumed to have left 47,000 persons dead, 35,000 injured and 180,000 homeless.

Three other cities in the five-state area served by the Denver civil defense office—Wichita, Kansas City and St. Louis—also were assumed to have been hit.

Mother Held In Infant-Beating

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—The mother of a 3-week-old baby hospitalized with a broken right leg, black eye, bruises and scratches was held without charge today.

Police Chief Fred Schmoker quoted the mother, Mrs. Helen Marie Selvaige 17, as saying she blacked the infant's eye during a "temper tantrum" but didn't remember how the leg was broken.

She was arrested after a Cheyenne physician treated her 3-year-old son.

Communist-Hunt Probe Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate hearing on Communists in defense plants closed down last night after only two days and its future course apparently rested with the absent Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

In all, the Senate Investigations subcommittee heard 11 witnesses. McCarthy, its chairman, had announced before the hearings began that 42 subpoenas were being issued.

As the hearings ended, Sen. Potter (R-Mich), who was presiding, said there were no present plans to resume although he said there were "other witnesses who could be called." James M. Juliana, the subcommittee's acting staff director, said staff investigative work would continue.

"I don't know what Sen. McCarthy's plans are or when he will be back," Potter told newsmen.

McCarthy left Washington Tuesday for a rest of 10 days or so after he had appeared at the public hearing briefly last night after his conduct had been interpreted as an open break with President Eisenhower.

McCarthy's destination has not been disclosed. He has been trying to regain full use of an elbow which was injured several weeks ago in a Milwaukee handshaking accident.

On several occasions—during the 36-day Army-McCarthy hearings last spring and more recently during the special Senate session which considered condemnation of his conduct—McCarthy protested that his important subcommittee work was being delayed. He mentioned specifically in this connection that he said was a need to expose Reds working in defense plants.

Democrats Urged 'Lay The Blame'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two Democratic leaders last night called for their party to hold President Eisenhower responsible for the actions of his lieutenants and to speak out on "deficiencies" of the administration.

Averell Harriman, governor-elect of New York, told a victory dinner audience: "We've got to quit this business of excluding President Eisenhower from criticism of the unworthy campaign tactics that have been adopted by the Republican party, and that he has condoned."

"We've got to stop avoiding hostilities to President Eisenhower responsible for the actions of his lieutenants and of the Republican party."

Paul M. Butler of Indiana, who said he proposed to be fighting a national Democratic chairman, declared, "We will speak out plainly and vigorously concerning the deficiencies of the President and his party in their capacity to govern and unite the American people. This is our duty. It will be performed in the best interests of our country."

Butler said he had admired Eisenhower's military leadership "as much as any American but it is a matter of sincere regret to me that he has seemed unable to bring the tasks of civil government the qualities that made him such a renowned military leader."

"The truth is that our President has not shown the particular qualities that enabled Harry Truman to write such a courageous page in history, not only for himself as president, but also for the country he served so loyally."

Former President Truman, in introducing Harriman at the $7.50 a plate dinner for 600 Democrats, said he felt the nation's welfare was in better hands when the Democrats controlled Congress and the White House.

"We've got to recognize that the Republican administration in Washington sanctioned and aided this effort to avoid the issues and to mislead the voters—and I'm not talking just about Vice President Nixon either," Harriman said.

"When President Eisenhower told the people of this country that there would be a 'partisan cold war' in Washington if the Democrats won control of Congress, he was saying something that wasn't true—and that he has admitted wasn't true."

Welfare Dept. Can Help Find Christmas Spirit

Pitt County Negro children at Morrison Training School at Hoffman and four in the homes of relatives who will need assistance if that day is to be a bright one for them.

Mrs. Avery said the Welfare Department provides clothing for needy families throughout the year, but additional clothing and all Christmas cheer will have to come from local clubs and organizations and private individuals.

Anyone who is interested in taking a needy family for Christmas is requested to call the Welfare Department as early as possible. Mrs. Avery also asks that any person or group who is taking a family independently call the office so a record may be made to avoid duplication so far as Christmas aid is concerned.

Call Early. The case worker said one reason persons are urged to call early for a family is the Welfare Department stresses that the benefactors visit their families to learn something about them and their needs.

"This makes it a more personal thing," she pointed out, adding, "It's also more considerate if the people know ahead of time that they are going to have something for Christmas. Most of them have a little money to spend and if they know a group is going to bring food and food alone they can spend their money accordingly."

Seventy-one families have already been taken by 74 local groups and individuals this year, Mrs. Avery reported. The agencies have the largest number with 21. The Moose Lodge has taken 15, the Kiwanis Club ten, and women's circles of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church six.

Air Vote-Buying Charge Today For House Committee

By NOEL YANCEY. TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A charge of absentee vote buying was aired before the House Campaign Investigations Committee here today.

The committee received an affidavit signed by Mrs. Rebecca C. Allen, store operator at Rocky Creek in Alexander County. It said that she saw Alexander Clerk of Court Charles Reuben Watts give her invalid sister $7 for voting absentee in the Nov. 2 general election.

However, Mrs. Allen testified that she could not read the affidavit she signed because of an eye injury. She told the committee she did not see Watts give her sister any money.

She added the sister had "some money in her hand when I went back in the store. I don't know where she got it." She said that people frequently gave money to her sister, a lifelong cripple.

Watts, on the stand before Mrs. Allen testified, denied having given the sister any money. He said that he had gone to the store to prepare an absentee ballot application for the sister.

The affidavit signed by Mrs. Allen said: "... Charlie Reuben Watts and this other man told me (Herman) Lackey came here to my house and voted my sister, Anna Brandon, absentee. They made only one trip and fixed up all the papers at this time. After they fixed her absentee ballot they gave her $7 — a $5 bill and two $1 bills. I saw all this. Mr. Charlie Reuben Watts put the money in her hand. I saw him do it."

The committee came here today for its third and final hearing during an investigation of the 9th District congressional election in which Democrat Hugh Q. Alexander defeated Republican William E. Stevens Jr. The committee held its first hearing at Statesville Tuesday and its second at Boone yesterday. The state Republican Executive Committee asked for the investigation.

The House committee planned to return to Washington later today.

Mrs. Allen testified that the affidavit she signed was prepared by a Republican woman lawyer, Mrs. Tressie Fletcher. She said

Mrs. Fletcher typed the affidavit but that she was unable to read it because of the eye injury.

Mrs. Allen also testified that a Republican, Frank Woodfin had offered her $7 to sign an affidavit about her sister's voting.

Woodfin denied this. He said Mrs. Allen told him her sister had voted absentee and was given money by Watts.

Woodfin said he asked Mrs. Allen if she would sign an affidavit. He testified she answered "I won't for nothing." He said he refused to pay her for an affidavit.

Yesterday the body heard witnesses at Boone who told of the disappearance of several hundred ballots from a West Jefferson polling place on the eve of the Nov. 2 general election. A Republican precinct clerk in Watauga County testified she kept a list of voters at her precinct and it did not tally with the total vote reported.

This revelation resulted in an order from the committee for the precinct officials to appear here today with their records.

Mrs. Clyde Williams, Republican clerk in Mead Camp precinct No. 1, said she recorded the names of 479 persons and 30 absentee voters. Official records however show that 523 votes were counted in the race for state Senate and varying numbers for other races.

Rep. Boggs (D-La.), criticized the committee's counsel and staff after Mrs. Williams testimony.

"Here we have an implication of fraud against three election officials," he said, "and we have none of the official documents in this case before us."

At the conclusion of yesterday's hearings, held in a packed Watauga County courthouse, Rep. Bishop (R-Ill), chairman of the committee, appealed to the people to "carry out your election laws. As you know we've just scratched the surface."

B. B. Braybeal a GOP election judge in the West Jefferson precinct, and Chairman H. H. Lemley of the Ashe Election Board, testified that ballots disappeared from the West Jefferson Volunteer Fire House polling place. Graybeal testified he went to the polling place after hearing there had been "quite a bit of activity there."

Inside, he said, was a stack of ballots which had been unwrapped. He and Lemley looked up the ballots, he said.

Russia Charges Aggressive Acts Against China Ask Censure Of U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia formally called upon the U.N. today to condemn the United States for alleged aggressive acts against Red China.

Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev told the General Assembly's Special Political Committee the United States has turned Formosa into an American military base and is aiding the Chinese Nationalists in raids against Communist territory.

He denounced the new mutual assistance treaty between the United States and Nationalist China as "a new act of aggression."

Declaring that the pact tightens the United States hold over the Chiang Kai-shek government and permits American action far beyond Formosa Sobolev said: "This is preparation for new aggressions against China."

The Soviet delegate made his remarks as the Committee opened debate on a Soviet complaint "of acts of aggression against the People's Republic of China and responsibility of the United States Navy for those acts." Day and night sessions were scheduled today on a 16-nation resolution denouncing the jailing and demanding the airman's release.

Launching the debate last night, Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said an overwhelming vote in favor of the resolution would make it clear to Peiping that world opinion considers the detention of the 11 fliers a violation of the Korean armistice.

The U.S. delegate also called on the Communists to send home a total of 2,840 U.N. personnel he said had not yet been repatriated under Korean armistice terms. He charged the Reds still have not accounted for 470 Americans.

Lodge said earlier the Chinese have admitted holding four U.S. jet pilots in addition to the 11 peeping says have been jailed as spies.

Lodge took the floor after the 60-nation Assembly beat down dogged Soviet attempts to keep the item off the agenda and voted 44-5 to begin debate at once without going through committee channels. U.S. sources predicted there would be no opposition except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and perhaps a few Asian-Arab nations.

In his attempt to kill off the item, Russia's Jacob Malik argued that the Assembly had no right to intervene because the Americans were on a spy mission and could not be classified as war prisoners covered by the armistice. Malik's spy charges were echoed by representatives of Poland and Czechoslovakia, who tried to put up procedural barriers to immediate debate.

In a broadcast heard in Tokyo while the U.N. debate was in progress Peiping radio said the U.N. should "condemn severely the aggressive act of the United States in sending spies into China." It warned the U.N. "should not become a cover for U.S. aggression and interference in China's internal affairs."

Progressive-Moderate Leaders Sought In Government Ike Planning Own Struggle

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH. WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was pictured today as planning a vigorous battle to swing the Republican presidential nomination to a "progressive moderate" in 1956 if he decides against seeking a second term.

He coined the phrase "progressive moderates" yesterday at a news conference in talking about the kind of men he believes should run the government.

Friends, who asked not to be named, said the chief executive is giving a great deal of thought to how to assure that such men—and women—do run the government.

The discussion at the hour-long meeting with newsmen was touched off by questions which dealt directly or indirectly with Mrs. McCarthy's accusation Tuesday that the President has displayed a "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism.

Saying he has no intention of indulging in personal vituperation or quarrels of any kind, Eisenhower declined comment on the attack by the Wisconsin Republican, whose conduct toward the Senate and its members was condemned on two counts by the Senate last week.

Eisenhower was told there seems to be some possibility "the extreme right wing of your Republican party might follow Sen. McCarthy into a new party in 1956." Then he was asked whether that would kill Republican chances of remaining in power.

McCarthy said after attacking Eisenhower Tuesday that "at this time" he was not planning a jump to any third party.

The President's reply brought his first mention of "progressive moderates" and the White House later authorized direct quotation of his remarks.

After saying he had no crystal ball to determine the impact of any McCarthy-led move into a third party, Eisenhower declared: "From the beginning I have tried to stand for something that is positive and progressive. Now that is the kind of a program that I stand for, and if there are enough people wanting to go along with it, then we have no fear."

"If people want to split off because of some other secondary or lesser consideration that will have to be their business. But I do know that so far as I can determine, the great mass of the people of the United States want what I would call a group of progressive moderate handling their business. And that is exactly what I am working for."

In response to a question, Eisenhower said that if he decides against seeking a second term he would back very very strongly a Republican presidential nominee who supported his general philosophy of government.

Friends said later they doubt very much whether he has made up his mind about a second term.

Eisenhower told a questioner creation of a third party of "moderates" would be very difficult. He said it probably would be better to use what he termed existing mechanisms to get at least one of the present parties behind his political doctrine.

And he said he believes it should be the Republican party—that it should embrace that doctrine so earnestly that the words "progressive moderation" in government become synonymous with the party label.

The President was asked to comment on an assertion by the new Democratic national chairman, Paul M. Butler, that Eisenhower has shown "a lack of capacity to govern and unite" the American people.

Again the White House authorized direct quotation of the President's reply that he had "proud faith in the general common sense approach of the American people," and believes "they go along very earnestly with what we call a progressive program, with moderation."

Premier Picked By Japan's Lawmakers

TOKYO (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, a pro-American Conservative who wants increased trade with Russia and Red China, tonight was elected Prime Minister of Japan—a post he may not hold for more than three months.

A coalition of Hatoyama's Democrats and the Socialists moved the 71-year-old diplomat into the spot from which Shigeru Yoshida was forced to resign two days ago.

The vote was 237 for Hatoyama and 191 for Taketora Ogata, Yoshida's deputy and new president of Yoshida's Liberal party.

For their support, Hatoyama promised the Socialists he would dissolve the Diet next month and call new national elections before March 10.

The Socialists threw their support to Hatoyama because they frankly figure to be the only party to gain house seats in any general election.

Yoshida, who stepped down Tuesday in the face of overwhelming opposition from the unusual coalition of Conservatives and Socialists, was not present for the vote. His resignation did not affect his status as a member of the Diet.

Despite the Socialists' support in forcing Yoshida's resignation and electing Hatoyama, the new Prime Minister is not expected to name any Socialist to his Cabinet.

There are only two major points of agreement between the Hatoyama Democrats and the Socialists—revived trade and diplomatic relations with Russia and Red China and resistance to any attempt by Yoshida's Liberals to re-

Welfare Dept. Can Help Find Christmas Spirit

If you believe giving is the spirit of Christmas, call 2943 and ask for a needy family to whom you might bring cheer this Yuletide season.

Local Welfare Department workers will be glad to give you the name of one of the 110 families still listed with them as needing help this Christmas. In addition, there are 41 children in correctional schools, boarding homes or in relatives' homes throughout the county who may wake up to a joyless day Christmas morning if enough groups or individuals do not lend a helping hand.

Mrs. Elizabeth Avery, case worker who is in charge of the Welfare Department's Christmas program this year, reports there are 95 Negro families and 15 white families still listed who will need aid at Christmas.

Remember Children. Fourteen white and 19 Negro boarding home children may also go unremembered December 25, according to Mrs. David Proctor, child welfare agent, and Mrs. Eloise Bech, Negro child welfare agent. Mrs. Bech also reports there are four

Restless Night Passed By Pope After Function

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, apparently fatigued by the excitement of yesterday's rites closing the Marian Year, passed a restless night.

"He did not sleep well," an authoritative source said. "Perhaps yesterday's Marian function tired him emotionally."

The Pope's part in the ceremony—a blessing broadcast to the world—lasted only two minutes. His words, spoken with deep feeling, were recorded in two sessions during the day in his sickroom and broadcast over the Vatican radio and to a great throng gathered at Rome's Basilica of St. Mary Major.

The benediction closed a year of special Roman Catholic activities honoring the mother of Christ. The 79-year-old pontiff, who has been confined to his bed since Dec. 2 with a recurrence of a stomach ailment, took his first few halting steps yesterday, supported by his private physician Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi. He also showed continued improvement in his ability to take food, eating two eggs and small quantities of other semisolid foods.

Dr. Galeazzi-Lisi scheduled consultations again today with two specialists to try to determine the exact nature of the Pope's illness and measure his progress since new treatment was started last Saturday.

One specialist said last night it still is undecided whether the Pope is suffering from stomach ulcers, gastritis or possibly hernia.

Order Autopsy In Actress' Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—An autopsy was ordered today into the death of Gladys George, 50-year-old former movie and stage actress found unconscious yesterday in her apartment.

Her physician, Dr. Russell Jones said there was a possibility her death was caused by a barbiturate. He said he had her sent to the hospital and that she died before tests could be completed that would have determined whether she had taken sleeping tablets.

Dr. Jones said the actress had been treated, successfully, for throat cancer a few years ago. Miss George was acclaimed as one of the best performers of 1936 by the Motion Picture Academy for her role in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie." She made her stage debut when only 3.

Farmville Plans Ask Federal Aid

FARMVILLE — The Board of Commissioners authorized the town clerk to execute papers in connection with submitting an application for financial assistance for cost of the recent hurricane to the town.

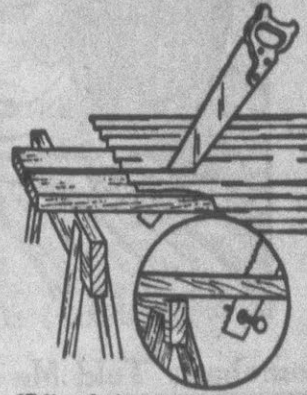

The town will request federal assistance in connection with the cost of repairing damage left by the storm.

Also approved was a map of the new Negro cemetery. Prices on the lots in the cemetery are to be the same as those for lots in the white cemetery.

Consideration was given to working out a truck route through town but no final action was taken.

W. A. Madams, superintendent of the Farmville Utilities was commended by the Chamber of Commerce at its regular monthly meeting for the exceptionally good job the utilities commission has done in decorating the town, the commissioners were told.

CIO Vetoes Proposal To Form A Third Party

By NORMAN WALKER
 LOS ANGELES (AP)—A move to have organized labor form a third national political party came up at the CIO convention but was quickly vetoed as impractical.

Michael J. Quill of New York, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, suggested the third party idea, but CIO President Walter Reuther said it wouldn't work.

In a lively convention discussion yesterday, Quill said "Tammany Hall bosses" recently dictated the Democratic nomination of Averell Harriman over Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as New York governor, Harriman was elected.

"I am afraid," Quill said, "that as we roll along year after year we are tying ourselves tighter and tighter to the Democratic party. I think it is a danger."

Reuther said he wished the labor unions' most serious political problem was having "governors like Averell Harriman" and noted that the late President Roosevelt and Sen. Herbert Lehman had been elected with Tammany support.

Saying labor unions are working for "a fundamental realignment" within the two major parties, Reuther said he was heartened to see Republicans being elected in some Southern states and Democrats in some New England states.

"The CIO is not a tail to the Democratic kite," Reuther said. "It is not our fault that it takes a microscope to find a Republican who supports the platforms and fights on the issues that we support."

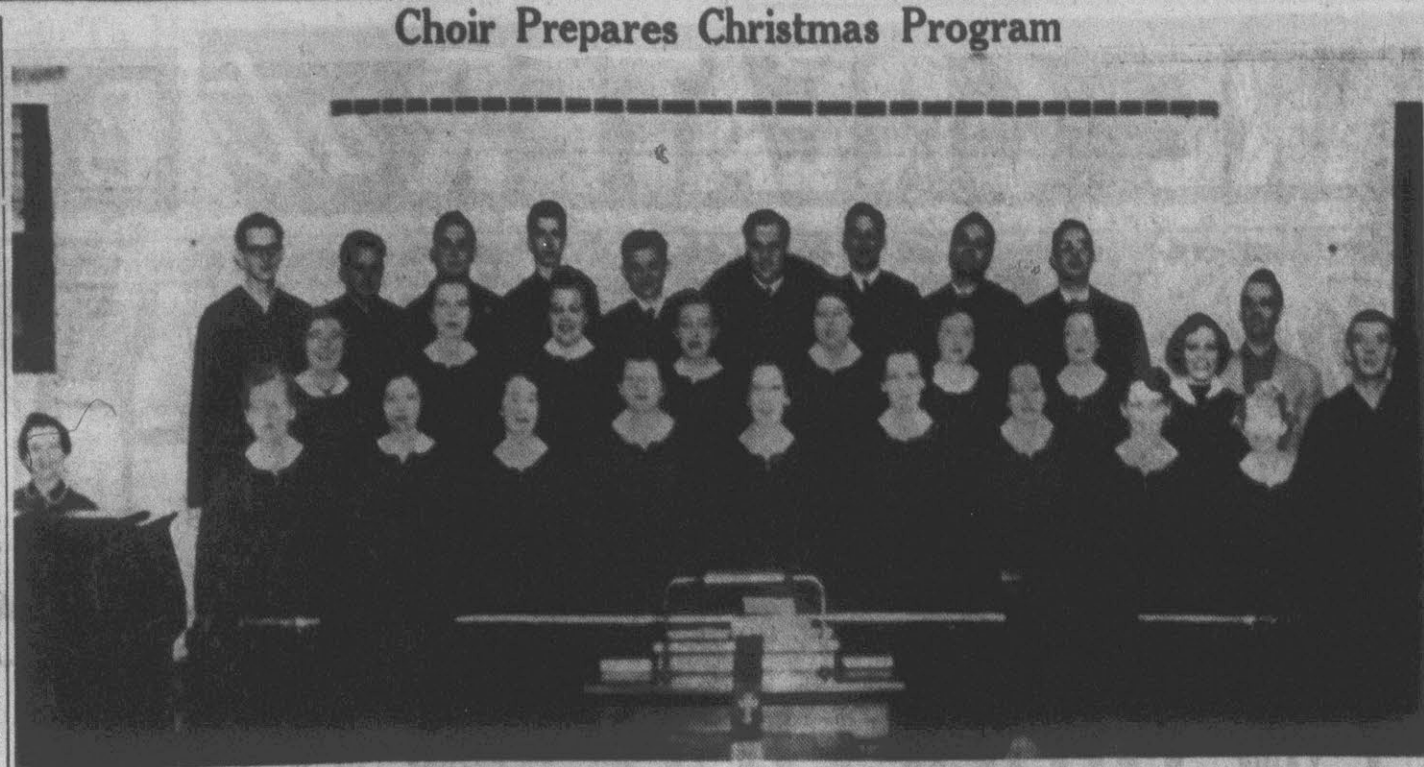

The convention was expected to adopt a resolution today pledging support for the guaranteed annual wage.

A new economic analysis by CIO economists, conceding that there will be somewhat improved economic conditions in 1955, has apparently stiffened the CIO's determination to win bigger wage and other gains next year, even if it requires strike action.

Persistence Has Been Rewarded

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—No one is more persistent than a 9-year-old boy.

And if that boy, like Johnny Hungate, has his heart set on a police badge—

Johnny got his yesterday along with an identification card proclaiming him a full-fledged member of the school safety patrol. It wasn't easy because his school has no organized unit.

That didn't deter Johnny. He appealed to Lt. James Glass, head of the traffic division of the Police Department and officer in charge of the patrol.

"I'm sorry, Johnny," the lieutenant said, "we're working on organization of the St. Peter School unit right now, and pretty soon you can join the patrol."

Johnny didn't want to wait so he dropped in to see Police Chief Carroll Hale and won his sympathy.

"He rolled his big, brown eyes at me and said, 'Chief, you've got to help me,'" Hale reported later. He told the youngster to go back and see Lt. Glass since "I've got a feeling he won't turn you down this time."

The lieutenant called on the school director and he agreed that nothing should keep his boy from realizing his ambition.

So, the safety patrol unit at St. Peter came into being ahead of time — just for Johnny's benefit.

What's his next dream? To be a policeman when he grows up.

Four Burned To Death In Blaze

VAN BUREN, Maine (AP)—Four of 18 persons sleeping in a rambling, two-story farmhouse were burned to death in a fire yesterday.

They were Mrs. Camille Lausier, 46; her daughter Cecile, 6; and two of her grand children, Arlene Bouchard, 3, and Nancy Bouchard, 2. Six other children of Mrs. Lausier and another grandchild were hospitalized.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

 CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—An 89-year-old Oklahoman was driving across Ozark Mountain in north Arkansas when he saw a sign reading "Wimmer Road."

Freed After 30 Years In Asylum

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Louis Henry Ross, 55 is a free man today after spending 30 years in a mental hospital, described by a judge as "the road of no return."

Ross known as the "Laughing Eel" for robberies committed in the 1920s, escaped from Fairview State Hospital several weeks ago and surrendered to Pittsburgh authorities.

Judge Loran L. Lewis ruled yesterday that Ross is legally sane and should not be returned to the hospital. He said a study of records showed Ross must have been sane since 1943.

Ross was sentenced to serve 12 years at Western State Penitentiary for robbery and was transferred to Fairview in 1923.

He was named the "Laughing Eel" by Pittsburgh police, who said he laughed at his holdup victims and eluded many police traps.

In ordering Ross released, Judge Lewis said the road to Fairview "could be properly classified as 'the road of no return,'" adding: "It is quite conceivable, because of the wholly inadequate system of examinations that many more patients of sound mind are knocking at the door of freedom at Fairview without being heard."

Judge Lewis ordered Ross' release after four psychiatrists testified he was sane.

Ross said he plans to work for a local contractor and live with a brother here.

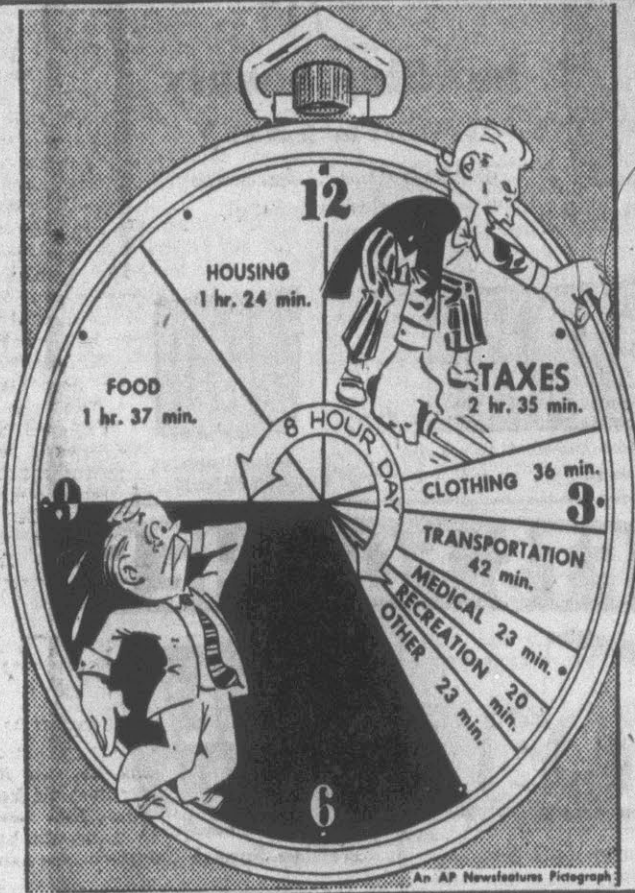

Dr. Asa L. Hickok, assistant at Fairview, said he would welcome an investigation of the hospital.

"If he (Ross) is loose in society we're glad that we are nowhere responsible," Hickok said.

Freedom Was So Near, But Failey

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Sam Ramos, 32-year-old convicted armed robber serving time at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary, bolted himself inside a steel cabinet outside the main prison wall after working hours in the industrial area. Only a chain link fence stood between him and freedom—he thought.

When darkness came he tried to remove the nuts with which he had secured the door on the 36x20x20-inch cabinet. Ramos is 5 feet 8 1/2.

He was so cramped he couldn't budge to twist the nuts. After 16 hours, he gave up and aroused guards by screaming. He tumbled out like a pretzel.

More Expensive Christmas Gifts Being Purchased

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Christmas shoppers are buying more expensive gifts this year. Total spending in the nation's stores in the Thanksgiving-to-Christmas period is expected to be 5 per cent heavier than a year ago.

Customers are able and willing to spend, the U.S. Department of Commerce reports after a survey in 33 key cities.

Higher priced lines are attracting more interest this year it reports, but there's also a determined search for value.

Merchants in 25 of the 33 cities are pleased with sales. Until the Christmas buying started, retail sales for the nation had been slightly trailing year-ago records. Since December is by far the biggest sales month for most stores, the volume of Christmas business makes all the difference in the profit and loss figures for the year.

Crisp weather has helped bring out shoppers. By putting the accent on winter clothing it also has increased store sales volume probably just as much as has the generally better feeling among consumers over the outlook for their jobs and incomes.

Merchants also report a big assist from the rehiring of workers in many places where layoffs and shutdowns had dragged heavily on the economy earlier in the year.

The construction boom has kept money in the pockets of many workers.

The expected rise in total spending this Christmas will reflect larger unit buying, merchants expect, since in most cases prices are the same or a little lower than a year ago.

But part of the dollar volume increase will also reflect the buying of more expensive items. Fur dealers, for example, are happily reporting that fur coat sales are up this year, after having languished in the last two seasons.

The better look came to the cash tills of many firms last month. November sales reports of a number of chain stores announced a week show dollar volume running from 2 to 25 per cent ahead of last year. Food chains did an especially good business for the Thanksgiving holiday and are expected to repeat at Christmas and New Year's.

The gain in sales hasn't been uniform across the nation, and the Commerce Department finds some store managers merely hopeful of holding their own.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—When Mrs. Lee Van Valkenburgh fled from her burning house, she managed only to save her son Gary, 4, and 250 Christmas cards she was addressing.

"Of course I saved the cards," she said. "I didn't want to write them all over again."

Economic Forecasters See Another Good Year

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Guesses on the outlook for business and jobs and income in 1935 are coming in fast now. And the seers are doing less hedging than usual.

Economic soothsaying is a precarious profession. But most — if you look back — did pretty well with their guesswork last year.

With few exceptions they chant almost identical predictions today: steady gains in the economy in the months ahead but no runaway boom.

A few watch the stock market nervously, fearing traders might start feeding on their own enthusiasm and bid up prices too high to everyone's sorrow later on. A few wonder if consumers are in as free-spending a mood as production chiefs and sales managers believe. Some fret lest the mountain of debt, especially in mortgages, get top-heavy.

But even these finger-crossing gents mostly go along with the majority in seeing a "healthily based" prosperity ahead for the next six months. Then the majority looks for a summer dip. When it comes to predicting what will happen after next Labor Day, the ranks become thinner. Some admit they don't want to be held to any long-range guessing. Those willing to stick their necks out that far mostly express belief that the business pace will be even livelier next fall — but underscoring their warning that this gain won't mean any big boom.

Economists and businessmen seem agreed that industrial production should average higher next year than this. More than half of those speaking out so far look for prices to be under greater pressure on the downside in coming months, but not to stray very far from their present straight and narrow path.

Almost to a man, they expect the usual upturn in unemployment to come along on schedule in January and February. Labor economists stop to dwell on the perils of this. Management spokesmen go on to predict that employment will pick up from March on, that more factory jobs will be available for 1935 taken as a whole, and that factory work weeks will average out a little longer. Experts in the labor field also believe that next year will see another, if slight, rise in wage scales for many industries.

Buy A Fort, To Make Him Happy

CHARLESTON S.C. (AP)—You can get a bargain if you want an old fort in Charleston harbor. It is known as Castle Pinckney.

The only historical value of the dilapidated structure is, age and the fact it was used as a Civil War prison. The original Castle Pinckney was a log structure. An earlier version of Hurricane Hazel made a pile of fire wood out of it in 1904.

The present brick structure — or what remains of it — was completed in 1810, and named after Charleston's Charles Cotesworth Pinckney ambassador to France after the Revolution.

Part of the masonry foundation, a frame dwelling and a large brick warehouse are about all that's left standing. Pickney and the island have been jugged back and forth between the U.S. Engineers, who used it as a storage depot, and the National Parks Service, which wants to get rid of it. There are no takers.

Archeology Has Profitable Find

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Historians are digging into a big Indian mound here. They have unearthed a quart bottle of coins and papers buried 100 years ago. The Indians had nothing to do with the bottle, which was buried by Alexander J. Sheldon, an early-day politician.

Alexis A. Praus, director of the Kalamazoo Museum, plans to continue digging. He says that "mound builders never throw up such perfectly-formed earth works without burying something really valuable in them."

Ends 57 Years On Great Lakes

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP)—Capt. Allen K. Hoxie, 75, has ended a 57-year Great Lakes sailing career he started because a physician prescribed an outdoor job to heal a lung injury. Capt. Hoxie was skipper of the Milwaukee Clipper when he retired from career that spanned sail, steam and diesel vessels. And he never lost a ship or a life in all those years. He got his master's papers in 1903. Now he plans a tour around the country . . . on land.

Forgetfulness Can Be Costly

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—After vacationing for several days at this resort city, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guillaert checked out of a motel and headed for Mexico City. A few miles out, they discovered that Guillaert had left his shaving kit behind. They raced back, but

Mrs. Andrew Wooden tearfully clutches "the only thing" her 7-year-old son, Joe, wanted for Christmas — a pair of cap pistols. "He wanted them so bad," she sobbed after Joe was killed in Nashville, Tenn., by a hit and run driver. She said they will be buried with him. Police are searching for the driver although clues are scarce. This emotion-packed picture was made by photographer Joe Rudis of the Nashville Tennessean. (AP Wirephoto).

the kit was gone. So was $700 they had hidden in it.

The United States has 223,400 miles of railroad compared with the second largest world railroad system — Russia's 76,600 miles.

Slow Reaction To A Burglary

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP)—Jack Morris thought the other service station attendants were playing a joke on him when he found the cash register missing. They weren't. But by the time Morris learned the truth, police figured the thieves were miles away, with the cash register and about $30. DATE BAIT? NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—This For Sale advertisement appeared in

Pork, Lamb, Chicken In Top Weekend Billing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's food stores will give top billing to lamb, pork and chickens this weekend. Beef continues rather high.

Legs of lamb and lamb chops will be featured prominently and some markets will drop prices eight to 10 cents a pound from a week ago. Pork loins again will be a favorite special, with both the rib end and loin end off around six cents a pound.

Market men observe that while beef costs more than it did a few months ago, it's hardly prohibitive in price. In addition, you may find stores in your neighborhood featuring various cuts at marked-down prices. A favorite this weekend will be chuck roast, which will feed a good-sized family at a reasonable price.

A meat specialist for the New York stores of a large chain says that while choice beef was selling at around 40 1/2 cents a pound Sept. 1, "we now have a hard time buying it at 44 1/2 or 45 cents."

Broilers and fryers and stewing chickens are on the featured list again. The U. S. Department of Agriculture is enthusiastic about them.

"Tender young broiling and frying chickens are one of the best food buys this month," the USDA says. "They are tops in food value and taste appeal, and a real bargain in dollars and cents."

"Heavy supplies of broilers and fryers at markets have pushed prices lower than they have been in a long time, and the clever housewife will take advantage of these values by planning on chicken dinners often during December. In fact, delicately flavored chicken lends itself to so many different forms of cookery that it can easily be served several times during the week and appear as an entirely different dish each time."

Produce men offer this list of good buys: Potatoes, old cabbage, Romaine and Western lettuce and nearby carrots, beets, turnips and parsnips. Also considered good values are peppers, eggplant, green and yellow squash, beans, Eastern onions, cucumbers, endive and escarole.

Cauliflower is a little higher this week, but vegetable specialists say it's moderately priced. In the same classification are celery and new cabbage.

Grapefruit, oranges, tangerines, apples and emperor grapes will give you the best values in fruit. Limes and avocados also are rated worthwhile purchases.

Fountain Ruritan Installs President

FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Ruritan Club, at its December meeting, installed James L. Jefferson as president. He succeeds President R. D. Jefferson. District Governor E. C. Davenport of Winterville officiated at the installation exercises.

Other officers are R. A. Fountain, vice-president; Arthur Alford, secretary, and L. P. Yelverton, treasurer. Hardy Johnson was installed as a director.

The club elected Scoutmaster John Joyner of the Boy Scout Troop an honorary member of the Ruritan Club.

The Fountain Ruritan Club was instrumental in obtaining a fire truck for Fountain and organizing a boy Scout troop here, with the assistance of Scout Executive Lester Dollar of Greenville, an official stated. Arthur Alford is assistant scoutmaster.

The Woman's Club served supper for the December meeting.

Home Destroyed In Recent Fire

FOUNTAIN—Fire of unknown origin destroyed Heber Tyson's home, near here Monday morning about 5:30. The building and contents were a total loss, it was reported.

A Negro school teacher, on his way to Greenville, discovered the fire and awakened Tyson and his wife and son, Kirby. The family were unable to learn the man's name.

Tyson was seriously burned when he entered the house to rescue his wife. He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville and placed under an oxygen tent. He was reported to be improving today. The Fountain fire truck reached the scene too late to control the fire. Jennis Owens of Tarboro and Pete Owens of Pinetops owned the house.

Toll roads being built in the United States today usually cost well over a million dollars a mile.

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you come across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. But it wasn't an easy one to carry out. For Chevrolet and General Motors set out with the idea of building the first low-priced car that would do all these things:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field? That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, the skills, the resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new concept? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your own ideas about cars!

Real Show-Car Styling!

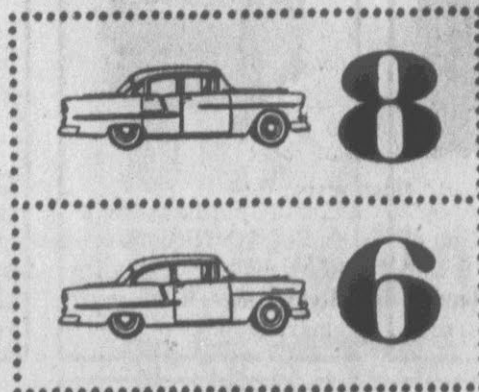

Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile... soft swiftness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield... a new outlook for motoring. And that outlook doesn't change when you slip inside... there's more room for hats and hips... exciting fabrics and trim harmonized with the whole car... as carefully as a bride matches carpet to curtains.

A Sensational Ride!

You live the new idea instantly... you glide... actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns... turns made so effortless by new ball-race steering.

And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front... you get more level stopping. Tubeless tires mean much-greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

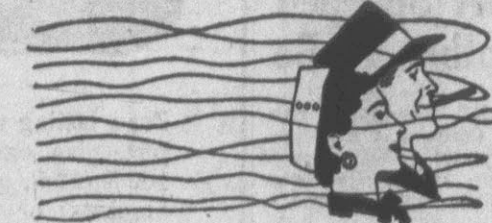

Power Beyond Compare!

You also feel the new idea quickly... quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 h.p.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!

And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost)... you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?

Here, we can only tell you how successfully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you! Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.

Educational TV Is Praised

Learning at home through educational television, a new experience to most North Carolinians, has attracted a large audience to the current series of three TV courses offered by East Carolina College over WNCN of Greenville. The training of the young child is the general subject of the series.

The initial course, the first to be given for credit in the South, was presented during the fall quarter. The second, "The Pre-adolescent and His Environment," which has just begun, will extend through the winter quarter, ending February 23.

Instruction is designed to benefit teachers, school officials, parents and others interested in the physical, intellectual, and aesthetic development of the young child and in improving the type of training offered him. The third course in the series will be presented during the spring quarter.

Programs are presented each day, Monday through Friday, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. over WNCN. Those enrolled receive three quarter hours of credit, or they may take the course on a non-credit basis. A manual of instruction is provided for students.

Response to the series has been gratifying. Miss Annie Mae Murray, director of the kindergarten at East Carolina and state president of the Association for Childhood Education, gave the first course, entitled "Guiding Young Children." Thirty students from a wide area in Eastern North Carolina registered for credit, and scores of letters from the TV audience indicated the success of the venture.

Many of those writing to Miss Murray have expressed appreciation of the opportunity to "learn at home." Others have asked for advice on such subjects as child care, child guidance, and methods of instruction.

From Hyde County a member of the audience wrote: "Guiding Young Children" has been inspiring to me. I only wish that I could have had the course before I taught. It would have helped me in solving many of my problems."

Dean Leo W. Jenkins and Dr. Clinton R. Prewett of the faculty are coordinators of the course now being given. A number of students have already registered for credit, and others are expected to enroll within the next several days.

Appearing on various programs included in this course will be more than fifty men and women from the college faculty and elsewhere, who represent various areas of study, interest, and activity related to child care and child training.

Topics to be covered include reading, science, art, dramatics, reading, science, art, dramatics, crafts, hobbies, scouting, speech, mental hygiene, and others. "The Comics," "Home Work," "Movies, Radio, Television and the Child," and "The Problem of Delinquency" have also been announced among subjects for analysis and discussion.

"Education through radio and television," President John D. Messick of East Carolina stated recently, "is gaining momentum throughout the United States. Telecasting has become one of the more important methods for disseminating ideas. . . . So far, the South has been lagging in grasping the opportunity to take its college classrooms to the public."

East Carolina's first course, he added, "proved very popular and a goodly number of people took it for credit. Many others, of course, were benefited personally, and we trust that they were able to appropriate the ideas in their family life."

East Carolina's present series of courses, he indicated, gives the college opportunity to provide leadership in North Carolina education and to be of service to the people of the state.

Comfort Spurned By Mother-To-Be

BALTIMORE (AP) — Robert Pawliske's dog Cocoa was expecting, so the thoughtful owner prepared several beds around the house where the litter could be borne in comfort.

But Cocoa spurned them. She had her litter of seven in an outdoor sewer main and refused to let anyone rescue them.

After two days, the mother was finally lured away with food. Then Pawliske and a neighbor dug three feet of earth and chiseled a hole in a concrete pipe. Three cold puppies were saved; the other four had died.

Strains Deepen Lines In Eisenhower's Face

By DON WHITEHEAD (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The room was packed with reporters when President Eisenhower strode through the door. He was smiling and relaxed, showing no sign of nervousness over the barrage of questions he knew was coming.

Physically, he looked in good trim. He wore a well-tailored brown double-breasted suit, a blue tie with white polka dots and a white shirt. There was a fresh, scrubbed look about him. His summer sun tan was fading.

The only striking change after two years in the White House was in his face. The lines in his forehead had deepened—and there were deeper lines around his eyes and his mouth, particularly his eyes.

Here were the telltale signs of the pressures which pile up on whoever is president of the United States.

For 60 minutes yesterday the President stood before the newsmen, answering their questions with an ease and assurance he hadn't possessed when he came to the White House. His face reflected the sudden shifts of his thoughts from mirth to dead seriousness.

He refused to comment on a statement by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) accusing him of a "shrinking show of weakness" in fighting communism. He didn't even mention McCarthy by name. He deftly answered or parried all questions bearing on the same hot topic.

If anger was boiling inside because of the McCarthy incident, Eisenhower gave no hint of it.

Watching the President, my thoughts went back to a day two years ago when he was president-elect. He had fulfilled a campaign promise to go to Korea in a search for some way to bring an end to the war there. Now he was aboard the Navy cruiser Helena, which was plowing through heavy seas toward Hawaii.

A group of us sat back on deck discussing politics and the campaign, while Eisenhower relaxed in his cabin. A man who now is highly placed in the administration said:

"He's a political amateur even though he did win the nomination and election. Let's not kid ourselves. He has lived his life in the Army much of it away from home. He has been removed from the currents of American politics. He doesn't know the political subtleties in the relationship between politicians. He doesn't know American politics, period."

And then this man added: "But that isn't the important thing. He's got a feeling for politics—and he'll learn fast."

Seeing Eisenhower two years after this incident, the feeling was strong that in that short span he had learned a great deal about American politics and politicians.

Perhaps that is why the lines are etched more deeply today in his forehead and around his eyes.

Mayor Concedes Conspiracy Guilt

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Erie's Democratic Mayor Thomas W. Flatley, 67, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy and violation of his oath of office in connection with an alleged 20 million dollar a year gambling ring.

As a result, Flatley, serving his first four-year term, automatically forfeited his $7,500-a-year job. He faces a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Judge Elmer Evans of Erie County Criminal Court set Jan. 6 for sentencing.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin, a Republican, said he has dropped four bribery charges which would not make any difference in the sentence Flatley may receive.

McLaughlin said the mayor accepted money from gamblers and in return kept police from interfering with their operations. He is one of 36 men indicted on charges ranging from bribery to accepting bribes and conspiracy.

Henry Sosia, an Erie Democratic leader, also pleaded guilty to a gambling charge. Charges of conspiracy and bribery were dropped against him. He too will be sentenced Jan. 6.

A third Democratic leader, Stanley Schwartz, was scheduled to go on trial today on bribery and conspiracy charges.

Eight N. C. Cities Urged Prepare For Evacuation

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina "target" cities — Greensboro, Raleigh, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Durham and Asheville, plus High Point and Wilmington, have been urged by the State Civil Defense Director, Brig.-General Edward F. Griffin to develop, and keep up to date, plans for dispersal of their population in case of enemy attack with warning.

In a bulletin to city and county directors, General Griffin explained that High Point is included because it lies within the Greensboro target area and Wilmington because it could be a target though it has never been officially classified as such.

For other communities, dispersal plans are not advocated by the Civil Defense Council, though such plans are not opposed if any community insists upon having them. Outside of the eight cities named, ATOMIC attack is not considered likely, though enemy disaster of some other nature could occur. For this reason and the fact that other communities constitute a major support area the long advocated Civil Defense training for "duck and cover," organized aid for stricken areas and evacuee reception and care are still in order.

"We do not recommend that target cities concentrate on dispersal plans to the exclusion of other Civil Defense training," General Griffin warned. "Air Defense Command is not yet prepared to promise warning time for evacuation — and they will never be able to guarantee any warning system as infallible. Surprise attack must always be considered as a real possibility, but if there should be time to move people from our congested areas we urge them to be ready with proper plans."

Order Accuracy As To Firings

WASHINGTON (AP) — More accurate statistics on persons fired from government jobs as security risks is the aim of a new Civil Service Commission order.

In the past, Democrats have charged that discharge totals included some persons fired for non-security reasons and thus were inaccurate.

Crippled Dog Is Only Survivor

CINCINNATI (AP) — A three-legged dog named Tatters today was the only survivor of a household of pets that died yesterday in a fire that destroyed the home of an elderly couple in suburban Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller said attempts to rescue an aged parrot, about 75 years old, failed. Miller is 80, his wife 64. They were uninjured. They said the parrot had been a family pet since their wedding day.

Other pets that died were two Persian cats, a finch several canaries and two other dogs.

Reds Mystified By U. S. Policy On Coastal Isles

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEH — Red China would love dearly to know the answer to this question:

Will the U.S. 7th Fleet join the battle if the Communists try to capture any of Chiang Kai-shek's offshore islands?

The Reds will have to learn the answer the hard way.

The officially avowed U.S. policy is to say nothing and keep the Reds guessing.

Possibly Chiang and a few other persons on Formosa know the answer. But everyone else here has been left guessing too.

If the United States has decided what island outposts must be retained by the Nationalists as protection for Formosa itself, Washington is keeping quiet about it.

The string of island bases controlled by the Nationalists dot some 350 miles of water from Quemoy in the south to the Tachen in the north.

Some of these—such as Quemoy, Matsu, White Dog and the Tachen group—might be considered worth holding. But many others are negligible.

One subject of constant speculation is this:

Would the Reds, in the face of possible U.S. intervention, dare risk an amphibious assault on any of the more important offshore islands?

Since the United States and Nationalist China signed the mutual defense pact Dec. 2 the Reds have shown no disposition to call off military activity.

But, on the other hand, they have shown no disposition to enlarge its present scope—at least not yet.

Nationalist reports over past weeks have portrayed a buildup of Communist strength apparently aimed at an invasion of the Tachen, 200 miles north of Formosa, and other Nationalist-held island outposts.

Consequently, although things appear relatively quiet now, the general impression here is that something bigger is bound to break—and not too long hence.

Special Problem In Filmed TV Shows

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Will canned programs, on film or magnetic tape, one day make television networks unnecessary except for special events such as a World Series or presidential inauguration?

It's a question network executives are pondering seriously in view of the increasing success of filmed TV shows distributed directly to stations. Some filmed shows already are being telecast locally over more stations around the country than most live network programs.

A prime example is the Liberae show that is on no network but is shown on a local basis on more than 200 stations — far above the average for a network show.

Then there's Badge 714, distributed by NBC's film division. It's a rerun of Dragnet, which has its first run over the network and ranks behind only "I Love Lucy" in popularity polls. On the network, Dragnet is carried by 118 stations, 30 of them on a delayed basis. The rerun Badge 714 has been sold to stations in 179 cities.

In comparison with Bishop Fulton J. Sheen's live program over 156 stations on Du Mont, one of the most widely distributed network programs, here are some of the totals for other filmed shows distributed directly to stations:

Dangerous Assignment, 177; Favorite Story and Mr. District Attorney, about 200 each, according to the producers; Captured, a rerun of Gangbusters, 177; Corliss Archer, 156, and Cisco Kid, 150.

As in radio, the network loses much of its reason for being when it merely transmits a recorded program that could just as well be played back by the local station — or the home viewer or listener, for that matter, if he had the needed record player or film projector. Yet public acceptance of the filmed show runs high, as evidenced by the consistently high audience popularity ratings of I Love Lucy, Groucho Marx's You Bet Your Life and Dragnet.

Hopes Rise For Syphilis Vaccine

CHICAGO (AP)—Encouraging evidence that a syphilis preventive can be developed was reported by a medical team today.

The doctors based their hopes for a syphilis vaccine on the results of 18 months of experiments with 62 volunteers at Sing Sing Penitentiary in Ossining, N. Y.

Such a vaccine would complete medical science's one-two punch knockout of the disease. For several years doctors have been curing syphilis with penicillin.

Dr. John C. Outter, senior surgeon and acting chief of the venereal disease program of the U.S. Public Health Service, described the experiments at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Dermatology and Syphilology.

Before the infection, an injection of killed syphilis organisms was given to members of one group. The other group did not receive the killed organisms.

Dr. Outter said:

"An injection of killed syphilis organisms apparently protected part of the volunteers who previously had syphilis from being infected a second time when inoculated with live organisms."

"Results show that a significant immunity develops during the course of human syphilis. This confirms the concepts of immunity established in animal experimentation."

"The 15-month study also developed information suggesting the possibility that a vaccine might be developed to immunize against syphilis."

Four months after the injections, the infections had been cleared up by penicillin in all patients who were susceptible to the germ.

Although many old people have settled in California and Florida in recent years, New England has a higher proportion of old people than any other section of the country.

Educational TV Is Praised

Learning at home through educational television, a new experience to most North Carolinians, has attracted a large audience to the current series of three TV courses offered by East Carolina College over WNCN of Greenville. The training of the young child is the general subject of the series.

The initial course, the first to be given for credit in the South, was presented during the fall quarter. The second, "The Pre-adolescent and His Environment," which has just begun, will extend through the winter quarter, ending February 28.

Instruction is designed to benefit teachers, school officials, parents and others interested in the physical, intellectual, and aesthetic development of the young child and in improving the type of training offered him. The final course in the series will be presented during the spring quarter.

Programs are presented each day, Monday through Friday, from 2 to 2:30 p.m. over WNCN. Those enrolled receive three quarter hours of credit, or they may take the course on a non-credit basis. A manual of instruction is provided for students.

Response to the series has been gratifying. Miss Annie Mae Murray, director of the kindergarten at East Carolina and state president of the Association for Childhood Education, gave the first course, entitled "Guiding Young Children." Thirty students from a wide area in Eastern North Carolina registered for credit, and scores of letters from the TV audience indicated the success of the venture.

Many of those writing to Miss Murray have expressed appreciation of the opportunity to "learn at home." Others have asked for advice on such subjects as child care, child guidance, and methods of instruction.

From Hyde County a member of the audience wrote: "Guiding Your Children" has been inspiring to me. I only wish that I could have had the course before I taught. It would have helped me in solving many of my problems."

Dean Leo W. Jenkins and Dr. Clinton R. Prewitt of the faculty are coordinators of the course now being given. A number of students have already registered for credit, and others are expected to enroll within the next several days.

Appearing on various programs included in this course will be more than fifty men and women from the college faculty and elsewhere, who represent various areas of study, interest, and activity related to child care and child training.

Topics to be covered include reading, science, art, dramatics, reading, science, art, dramatics, crafts, hobbies, scouting, speech, mental hygiene, and others. "The Comics," "Home Work," "Movies, Radio, Television and the Child," and "The Problem of Delinquency" have also been announced among subjects for analysis and discussion.

"Education through radio and television," President John D. Messick of East Carolina stated recently, "is gaining momentum throughout the United States. Telecasting has become one of the more important methods for disseminating ideas. . . . So far, the South has been lagging in grasping the opportunity to take its college classrooms to the public."

East Carolina's first course, he added, "proved very popular and a goodly number of people took it for credit. Many others, of course, were benefited personally, and we trust that they were able to appropriate the ideas in their family life."

East Carolina's present series of courses, he indicated, gives the college opportunity to provide leadership in North Carolina education and to be of service to the people of the state.

Comfort Spurned By Mother-To-Be

BALTIMORE (AP) — Robert Pawliske's dog Cocoa was expecting, so the thoughtful owner prepared several beds around the house where the litter could be borne in comfort.

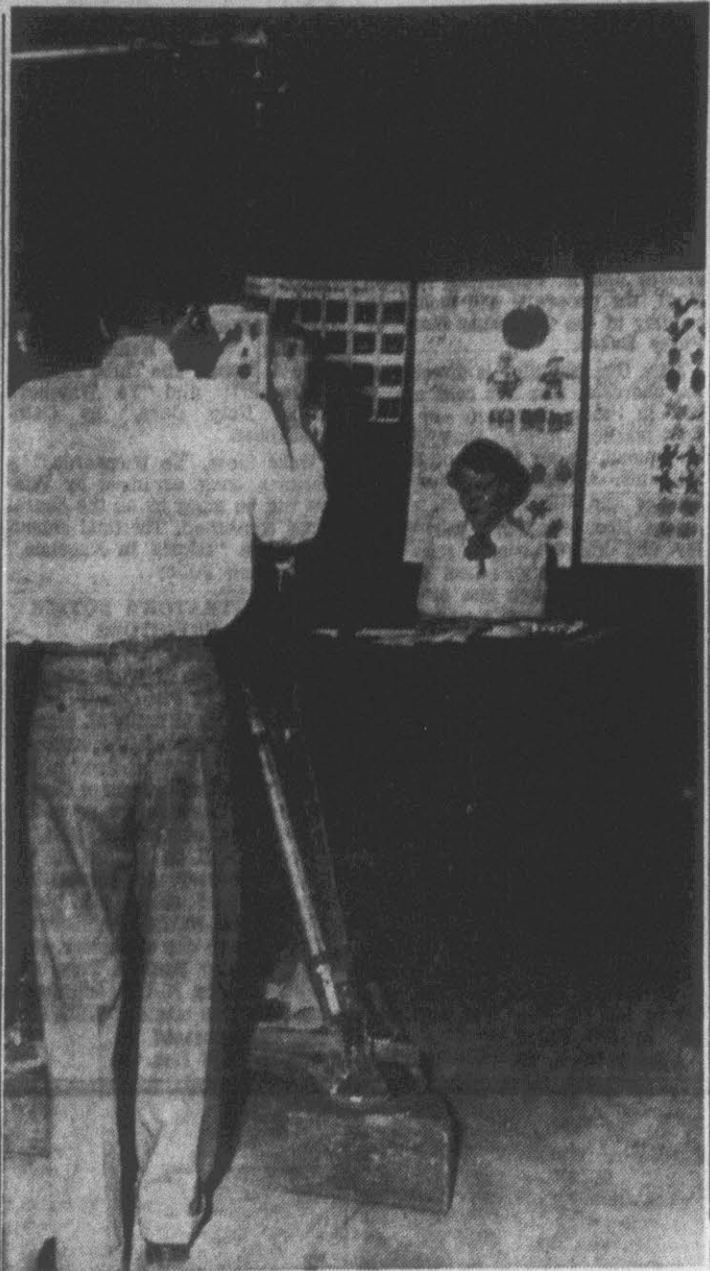

But Cocoa spurned them. She had her litter of seven in an outdoor sewer main and refused to let anyone rescue them.

After two days, the mother was finally lured away with food. Then Pawliske and a neighbor dug three feet of earth and chiseled a hole in a concrete pipe. Three cold puppies were saved; the other four had died.

Talks Himself Into Salary Cut

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Orville Cheney, who'll become state revenue commissioner next month, told the Arkansas Legislative Council that the commissioner's salary should be cut $1,000 a year because of declining revenues. The council agreed. Cheney will make $7,500 annually instead of the usual $8,500.

Fatally Wounded Making Wreath

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Morris took a knife and headed for a nearby woods yesterday to cut pine cones and boughs for a Christmas wreath.

A few minutes later his mother saw him stagger back into the house and collapse on the floor, clutching at a red stain which was spreading over his shirt front. He died in People's Hospital.

Police said the boy apparently stumbled and fell on the knife, driving it into his upper abdomen.

Strains Deepen Lines In Eisenhower's Face

By DON WHITEHEAD (For James Marlow)
WASHINGTON (AP) — The room was packed with reporters when President Eisenhower strode through the door. He was smiling and relaxed, showing no sign of nervousness over the barrage of questions he knew was coming.

Physically, he looked in good trim. He wore a well-tailored brown double-breasted suit, a blue tie with white polka dots and a white shirt. There was a fresh, scrubbed look about him. His summer sun tan was fading.

The only striking change after two years in the White House was in his face. The lines in his forehead had deepened—and there were deeper lines around his eyes and his mouth, particularly his eyes.

Here were the telltale signs of the pressures which pile up on whoever is president of the United States.

For 60 minutes yesterday the President stood before the newsmen, answering their questions with an ease and assurance he hadn't possessed when he came to the White House. His face reflected the sudden shifts of his thoughts from mirth to dead seriousness.

He refused to comment on a statement by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) accusing him of a "shrinking show of weakness" in fighting communism. He didn't even mention McCarthy by name. He deftly answered or parried all questions bearing on the same hot topic.

If anger was boiling inside because of the McCarthy incident, Eisenhower gave no hint of it.

Watching the President, my thoughts went back to a day two years ago when he was president-elect. He had fulfilled a campaign promise to go to Korea in a search for some way to bring an end to the war there. Now he was aboard the Navy cruiser Helena, which was plowing through heavy seas toward Hawaii.

A group of us sat back on deck discussing politics and the campaign while Eisenhower relaxed in his cabin. A man who now is highly placed in the administration said:

"He's a political amateur even though he did win the nomination and election. Let's not kid ourselves. He has lived his life in the Army much of it away from home. He has been removed from the currents of American politics. He doesn't know the political subtleties in the relationship between politicians. He doesn't know American politics, period."

And then this man added: "But that isn't the important thing. He's got a feeling for politics—and he'll learn fast."

Seeing Eisenhower two years after this incident, the feeling was strong that in that short span he had learned a great deal about American politics and politicians.

Perhaps that is why the lines are etched more deeply today in his forehead and around his eyes.

Mayor Concedes Conspiracy Guilt

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Erie's Democratic Mayor Thomas W. Flatley, 67, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy and violation of his oath of office in connection with an alleged 20 million dollar a year gambling ring.

As a result, Flatley, serving his first four-year term, automatically forfeited his $7,500-a-year job. He faces a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Judge Elmer Evans of Erie County Criminal Court set Jan. 6 for sentencing.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin, a Republican, said he has dropped four bribery charges which would not make any difference in the sentence Flatley may receive.

McLaughlin said the mayor accepted money from gamblers and in return kept police from interfering with their operations. He is one of 36 men indicted on charges ranging from bribery to accepting bribes and conspiracy.

Henry Boscia, an Erie Democratic leader, also pleaded guilty to a gambling charge. Charges of conspiracy and bribery were dropped against him. He too will be sentenced Jan. 6.

A third Democratic leader, Stanley Schwartz, was scheduled to go on trial today on bribery and conspiracy charges.

Eight N. C. Cities Urged Prepare For Evacuation

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina "target" cities — Greensboro, Raleigh, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Durham and Asheville, plus High Point and Wilmington, have been urged by the State Civil Defense Director, Brig.-General Edward F. Griffin to develop, and keep up to date, plans for dispersal of their population in case of enemy attack with warning.

In a bulletin to city and county directors, General Griffin explained that High Point is included because it lies within the Greensboro target area and Wilmington because it has never been officially classified as such.

For other communities, dispersal plans are not advocated by the Civil Defense Council, though such plans are not opposed if any community insists upon having them. Outside of the eight cities named, ATOMIC attack is not considered likely, though enemy disaster of some other nature could occur. For this reason and the fact that other communities constitute a major support area the long advocated Civil Defense training for "duck and cover," organized aid for stricken areas and evacuee reception and care are still in order.

"We do not recommend that target cities concentrate on dispersal plans to the exclusion of other Civil Defense training," General Griffin warned. "Air Defense Command is not yet prepared to promise warning time for evacuation — and they will never be able to guarantee any warning system as infallible. Surprise attack must always be considered as a real possibility, but if there should be time to move people from our congested areas we urge them to be ready with proper plans."

Home Folks Get To See Buc Cagers Friday And Saturday

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer
The home folks will get their first look at Coach Howard Porter's 1954-55 East Carolina College cage edition here this Friday and Saturday nights.

The defending North State Conference champions match hardwood wits with Catawba and Lenoir Rhyne in two league engagements.

The Pirates' fresh-predominant squad opened the season last Saturday night with an impressive 96-84 win over Guilford. Catawba's Indians and Lenoir Rhyne's Bears bested 2-3 and 2-1 records respectively.

East Carolina will place their hopes on the performance of freshmen and several holdovers from last year's 23-2 club. Don Harris, a sophomore forward from Laurinburg, took high scoring honors against the Quakers by canning 23 points. His over-all line play singled him out above the rest as one of the loop's best. Nick Nichols, freshman from Leaksville, was the brightest note among the yearlings with his 22 points and good defensive executions.

The other freshman starter, Guy Mendenhall, scored 10 points and grabbed rebounds nicely before fouling out in the third period. J. C. Thomas, junior guard, flipped in 16 points and played his usual stable game on defense. Although he scored only two points, Captain Cecil Heath was very instrumental in the Guilford win. His heads-up leadership and fine playmaking was an inspirational factor.

Porter was well pleased with the work of all the vets and freshmen. He especially cited Waverly Akins, a senior from Fuquay Springs. Akins, 6-4 center-forward, bucketed 14 points and stayed in the action three-fourths of the game. His rebounding probably made the difference in the ball game. Anyway, his nine points in the final eight minutes was the cap on the Quakers' team.

Porter has also at his command William McArthur, flashy sophomore from Fayetteville. Jerry Bosquet, former All-Stater at Haw River, Marion Hales, former All-Stater at New Hanover in Wilmington, Fred James, former All-Stater at Churchland, Va., and Waddell Solomon, former All-Westerner from Greensboro's Senior High. All seem to have taken the long jump from high school to college in stride.

The Pirate starting unit will be the same as that fielded against Guilford, Harris and Nichols, forwards; Mendenhall, center; and Thomas and Heath, guards.

Catawba, coached by Earl Ruth, brings a team much improved over last year's. The Indians recently knocked off Western Carolina, the only club in the league to whip the Pirates last season. Lenoir Rhyne was one of the pre-season favorites to win the loop title. The Bruins have Raeford Wells, 6-8 center, and Floyd Proff, prolific scoring guard, back with several other All-Conference performers.

It'll be interesting to see how the latest production of the Purple and Gold stacks up with the best in the league.

Kentucky Derby Becomes Richer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One of the most publicized of all horse races, the Kentucky Derby, will be the richest added money race in this country next year.

Directors of Churchill Downs agreed yesterday to boost the track's contribution from $100,000 to $125,000.

The increase in added money, that contributed by the tracks, means the winner of the classic next May 7 will pick up the richest purse in the 81-year history of the race.

The largest derby payoff went to Determine, the little California horse that came home last May to earn a net of $102,050 for Andy Crevolin.

There are other races, however.

'Sam Snead Golf Tournament' Is Opened Today
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The "Sam Snead Golf Tournament" starts today with 159 of the country's leading pros and amateurs shooting for a share of $10,000 prize money.

Officially it's the 30th annual Miami Open, but Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., already has won it five times and is a standard choice to make it six. Many pros refer to it as the "Sam Snead Tournament."

Snead won in 1937, 1939, 1946, 1950 and 1951. He finished second last year to Doug Ford, of Klamath Lake, N. Y., who had 272 for the 72-hole event.

The bidding Snead proved he will be the man to beat when he fired a 66 in the pro-member tournament at La Gorce Country Club Tuesday and toured the 6,700-yard par 34-35—70 Miami Springs course yesterday in 224—56.

That he will face keen competition is assured. Pete Cooper, Tampa pro, had a 33-32—65 practice round, and Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex., carded a 67 on his last day of practice. Chick Harbert, PGA champion from Northville, Mich., made it in par, as did Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Cards Bolster Pitching Staff In Trade Gamble

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, who gambled and won on Wally Moon, bolstered a sagging bullpen staff but took another 'loot' at the wheel of fortune today in the person of untried third baseman Ken Boyer.

The gamble developed when the Cards, sorely in need of relief pitchers for two years, parted with regular third baseman Ray Jablonski and starting pitcher Gerry Staley yesterday to get reliever Frank Smith from the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Boyer, who came to the Cards from the Texas League, is the No. 1 prospect for Jablonski's third base vacancy.

Dick Meyer, Cards general manager, admitted the club gave up "a lot" to get Smith but said he and Manager Eddie Stanky felt "we couldn't make much progress without an adequate bullpen."

Cincinnati plans to use Jablonski, the first Cardinal rookie to drive in more than 100 runs, as their regular third baseman to replace Bobby Adams. Jabbo, 28, who belted home 112 runs his last season and drove in 104 runs but has been regarded by some as a defensive liability.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati's general manager, also believes Staley (7-13) will regain his form in new surroundings. The 31-year-old Staley, who had an 18-9 record in '53, had figured in Cardinal bullpen plans next season.

Birdie Tebbetts, Redleg manager, figures Jablonski will give his club balance on the right side of the plate with Jim Greengrass and Wally Post to go with left-handed sluggers Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski and Frank Bailey.

Moon, who played with Rochester in 1953, turned up at the Birds' spring training camp before the start of last season, and moved into a regular outfield job when warhorse Enos Slaughter was sent to the New York Yankees. Moon batted .307 and was named National League Rookie of the Year by the Sporting News.

The 23-year-old Boyer was a standout with Houston in the Texas League. Although he is the No. 1 prospect for "Jabbo's" job, the Cards also still have Solly Jumbo, utility infielder, who earlier had been rumored to be a key player in the deal.

An unnamed minor league player also will go to Cincinnati in the straight-player deal later.

Joy Lewis and Becky Mills got together to cause the Belvoir death in the first game. Lewis scored 23 points and Mills 20. Jean Parker of Belvoir was the high scorer for both teams, though, with 27 points.

McGowan Dies
WASHINGTON (AP)—Bill McGowan, who retired earlier this year after working 30 years as an umpire in the American League, died today of a heart attack.

The 58-year-old native of Wilmington, Del., first was stricken last Saturday at his home in suburban Silver Spring, Md.

He suffered another attack this morning and was pronounced dead at 9:27 a.m.

One of the most popular of all baseball umpires, the fiery little fellow had been an umpire in eight world series and earlier this week had been voted a retirement pension by American League club-owners.

The Bethel girls and Winterville boys have jumped off to leads in the Pitt County Conference basketball campaign. The Bethel lassies are unbeaten in conference play with a 6-0 mark. Winterville's boys also have an unblemished mark, 3-0.

Coach William Berry's sextet has been set back once by a non-conference opponent. Jamesville High whipped them 47-33 for their only loss. The league-leaders are averaging 59 points an outing. Their largest total for one game so far was the 92-56 trouncing of Chicod Tuesday night.

Winterville's boys, coached by Blaney Moye, have a 4-2 over-all mark. They have three wins over loop foes, though. They've beaten Grimesland, Stokes-Pactolus and Farmville.

The Bethel girls are being chased by Farmville's strong club which has a 3-0 mark. Farmville has taken Grifton, Chicod and Winterville in stride. Farmville and Bethel don't meet until January 7.

The Bethel boys, hoping to make the conference a one-school run for second place, Grimesland knocked them off in the season's opener for their only drop.

Jim Norris Angrily Denies 'Fix' Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—Charges of a former heavyweight boxer that Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, had fixed fights some years ago were denied today by Norris as "untrue, libelous and absurd."

Harry Thomas, a former boxer, wrote in an article appearing in the magazine Sports Illustrated that Norris "has been a fixer of prize fights."

Now a Chicago stationary engineer, Thomas said Norris fixed his bout with Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden Dec. 13, 1937, and the Thomas-Tony Galento fight in Philadelphia Nov. 14, 1938.

"The charge that I participated in fixed fights that took place 17 years ago is untrue, libelous and absurd," said Norris in a statement.

"It is a cheap device on the part of the magazine seeking desperately to build circulation at the expense of boxing."

Norris said Thomas refused to testify at a hearing before the New York State Athletic Commission Nov. 21, 1939, and added:

"Now the ridiculous story is revived at a time when most of the people mentioned in the article are dead and cannot conveniently defend themselves."

"I did not promote the fights mentioned in the article. I did not manage any of the fighters mentioned. The fights took place in New York and Philadelphia and my only interest in boxing at the time was as landlord of the Chicago Stadium and Detroit Olympia."

Thomas, whose manager of record at the time was the late Nate Lewis, said that during this period his secret manager was Norris.

The former heavyweight said that in his Garden fight with Jimmy Adamic, Feb. 18, 1938, he was supposed to "carry" Adamic. He was outpointed by Adamic. Thomas said his title fight with Joe Louis which he lost in the Chicago Stadium April 1, 1938, was on the level.

Moslems Share Christmas

By WILTON WYNN
AP Newsfeatures

JERUSALEM, Jordan—A Moslem woman chipped away a piece of the rough white stone forming the ceiling of a chapel in Bethlehem.

"This is Virgin's milk," she explained. "I beat this into a powder and mix it with water to drink. It makes me strong."

The Moslem woman believes firmly that the rock turned white when a few drops of milk from the Virgin Mary's breast fell on the stone. The Holy Family was supposed to have paused at the spot during the flight to Egypt. Almost since that time, the site has been called the "Milk Grotto," held sacred by Moslems and Christians alike. Women of both faiths believe the stone "Virgin's milk" has healing powers.

This is only one of numerous traditions shared by the two faiths in Palestine regarding the birth and life of Christ.

Sometimes a Moslem may be seen in the ancient Church of the Nativity in Bethlehem, kneeling with his face toward Mecca as he prays. This is one of the few Christian churches in the world where Moslems pray. During the time of the Ottoman Turks, Moslems in the church were a frequent sight. They are more rare today, but occasionally some pray there.

The Moslem right to pray in this church dates back to the Caliph Omar, who conquered Palestine for the Moslems in the Seventh Century. The Caliph announced that Moslems could pray singly or in pairs, but did not allow them to go there in groups and would not permit a muezzin to call the faithful to prayer in the church. The Caliph made these restrictions to prevent Moslems from turning the church into a mosque.

The 1300-year-old regulations of the Caliph still prevail in tradition-robbed Bethlehem. Over the centuries, the Caliph's injunctions often have saved the Church of the Nativity from destruction. During the Crusaders' era, when Moslem-Christian rivalry sometimes led to the destruction of Christian sites and churches, the Church of the Nativity never was touched.

Another site of joint traditions is the smoky, dark Tomb of the Virgin near the Garden of Gethsemane just outside the walled city of Jerusalem. The bearded, paled old guardian of the tomb will give the traveler a small lighted candle and walk deep into the cavernous interior to show him a niche carved into the stone on the eastern wall of the tomb.

"This is the Mihrab (Moslem prayer-niche) which points to Mecca," the old man explains. "Moslems put it here so that when they come here to pray, they know the direction they should face."

Although Moslems venerate the shrines connected with the Virgin birth of Christ, they do not hold sacred places connected with his death. This is because the Moslem Koran teaches the Virgin Birth, but denies that Christ was crucified.

The Koran says the Angel Gabriel appeared to Mary in the form of a perfect man to announce that she would conceive a child, even though she was still a virgin. Mary hid in a remote place until the child was born. When she returned with a child, her family and friends considered her disgraced, until the infant in her arms spoke and told them of the miracle, the Koran says. The Moslem religion thus gives the Virgin Birth an important place, and shrines connected with it are sacred.

Moslems consider Christ a great prophet who one day will judge the world. The Koran recognizes Christ's miracles, although the Prophet Mohammed himself did not perform miracles.

In remote Moslem areas of Palestine today, story-tellers still recount miraculous deeds of "Issa Ibn Youssef" (Jesus, son of Joseph). Many miracle stories connected with Jesus are purely Moslem and not repeated in Christian traditions.

These common religious traditions have done much to produce the Christian-Moslem harmony so apparent in Palestine today. A Moslem family keeps the keys of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre to act as arbiter among the various Christian sects there. The Moslem governor of Jerusalem attends as an honored guest all the major Christian ceremonies and

Nehru Has Advice But No Defenses

By HAROLD K. MILKS
NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru offers his south Asian neighbors political advice and leadership, but India today lacks spare military power to back up their defense.

India has a strong naval force and likely the best air force east of Cairo and west of Communist China. Its 370,000-man army, tested in two world wars, is tops in this part of the world.

Yet these combined forces offer no security to south Asia nations with which Nehru has developed political understanding if not complete leadership.

India has one eye today on rival Pakistan. The other is watching the Red Chinese buildup in Tibet. These two problems are more than feasts.

Moslem King Hussein of Jordan always sends Christmas and Easter greetings to his Christian subjects. His grandfather, King Abdullah, prayed in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. A Moslem mosque encloses the site on the Mount of Ascension from where Christ ascended into Heaven. Probably nowhere else on earth do different religions show so much respect for each other's traditions.

It requires 28,000 to 670,000 gallons of water (depending on the amount of recirculation) to make a ton of synthetic rubber.

enough to keep India's armed forces occupied at home.

India's army, heart of its military power is still organized on a regional basis for internal rather than external security, just as it was in the days of British rule. Backbone of its land forces remains the hard-fighting Gurkha troopers from Nepal.

On paper India has vast plans for strengthening its military muscles. An increase in reserve manpower calls for a trained territorial (national guard) army of nearly half a million. There are plans to establish factories to manufacture tanks and artillery, electronic equipment, a machine tool factory at Poona, and if possible expansion of the government-owned Hindustan aircraft factory to produce jet fighters and British-designed jet engines.

Comparative military weakness—despite a heavy defense budget and the strongest armed forces in this region—has directed India's thinking away from power pacts and defenses based on arms. Nehru has sought to substitute for them a peace bloc and the offer of coexistence with other nations.

Once India settles its problems with neighboring Pakistan and can withdraw its substantial forces from disputed Kashmir, Nehru may be able to back up his political leadership of Southeast Asia with some show of power.

No other gas pedal gets action like this!

This pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine.

When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflo Drive,* have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

And with the same result in the way you get-up-and-go, with a safety-surge of power for pulling out of a tight spot on the highway.

Words can't describe it. It's a new sensation—something you simply must try for yourself.

There's nothing like it on the 1955 new-car horizon.

Fact is, there's a whale of a lot to see and sample at your Buick dealer's.

There's fresh new styling. There's higher horsepower in every Buick V8 engine. There's a new Airpower carburetor. And beneath it all there's good old-fashioned integrity in every nut, bolt and rivet.

But, this year, don't simply make a visit to the showroom where these trim and thrilling new beauties are on display.

The smart thing to do—if you want to know what's what in new automobiles—is to get behind the wheel of a 1955 Buick and drive it. How about doing that soon?

Surgical 'Cure' Successes Told

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES — A Philadelphia surgeon disclosed today he has been successfully treating stubborn cases of epilepsy and similar kinds of fits by removing half of the brains of children.

One side or the other of the brain is taken out and the cavity is filled with a salt water solution. Eventually body tissues absorb the solution and half the skull remains empty.

The youngsters do not lose any of their intelligence and their fits and antisocial behavior disappear, said Dr. Eugene P. Spitz, of children's hospital, Philadelphia.

Dr. Spitz made the report for delivery to the Radiological Society of North America, organization of specialists who work with X-rays and other forms of radiation. The operation is made possible by X-ray pictures showing which half of the brain is affected.

This surgical feat is not new but it had been tried heretofore only in a limited way. Dr. Spitz reported on 16 such operations. Not all of his little patients lived. But in every case, he said, the seizures stopped immediately.

Some of the newer drugs can control effectively 85 per cent of these afflictions, which are known medically as convulsive seizures. But the other 15 per cent remain in serious trouble. They not only have fits but some of them behave violently. Dr. Spitz told of one who attacked a playmate with a butcher knife. Others were sadistic, disobedient or unduly aggressive.

In children with the uncontrollable kind of seizures there is progressive deterioration of the mentality and the nervous system, Dr. Spitz reported. The condition shows in an X-ray as a subnormal development of one side of the brain.

Some 136 Persons Receive Blind Aid In October; Five Are Declassified

Some 136 persons received aid to the blind payments during October. Miss Jeannie Manning, case worker for the blind reported recently.

Miss Manning's report indicated that three persons continued training at the Rehabilitation Center for the Blind.

Thirty-eight individuals were given eye examinations during the month and glasses were recommended for 22, surgery for four, treatment for seven and for five there was no recommendation for improvement of vision.

Last month five persons were removed from the classification of blindness. Three operations were performed.

Local organizations assisted 10 needy persons in paying for glasses and paid for an eye operation and hospitalization for one person, Miss Manning said. The Lions Club paid $36.68 for glasses for five individuals and the Pitt County Association for the Blind paid for an eye operation and hospitalization for one person.

Hear Witnesses In Eye-Gouging

GREENSBORO — More state witnesses were heard here today in the trial of Mrs. Mae Atkins in Guilford Superior Court, charged with maiming her 12-year-old daughter.

Judge W.H.S. Burgwyn ordered the jury to spend the night at a hotel last night and to read no newspapers, listen to no radios and make no telephone calls, because of widespread publicity of the case.

Yesterday, Judy Atkins, blind in the right eye and able only to distinguish light from dark with the left eye, was led to the witness stand by state attorneys where she told a story of brutal treatment and threats over a period of years.

The brown-haired youngster told the hushed courtroom that the 31-year-old Mrs. Atkins had held her against a wall as she gouged her thumbs in the child's eyes.

The tubby defendant remained slumped in a chair as Judy testified that her stepmother once had held her over a well and threatened to throw her into the water below.

She also said she had never told her father of the mistreatment because she feared the woman might kill her.

Judy's brothers, Billy, 15, and Kemp, 18, told essentially the same story.

Scientists, in a recent study, found that camels do not have any special facilities for storing water in their bodies.

Moderation In Local Weather

The weather moderated considerably during the last 24 hours and the highest temperature here yesterday afternoon was 47 degrees.

Lowest last night was 31, and at 8 a.m. today the temperature had skyrocketed to 51 and that's 21 degrees higher than at the same time yesterday morning.

The sky was partly overcast this morning with indications of rain.

The highest temperature here yesterday a year ago was 67 degrees. Lowest that night 48, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 52, the local U.S. Weather Station reported.

Dies Soon After Winning Verdict

BOSTON — After waiting 4½ years for a damage suit to come to trial, Baden Leon, 65, won an $8,000 verdict from a Superior Court jury yesterday—then died of a heart attack an hour later.

The civil suit arose from an automobile collision in Brimfield, Mass., in May 1950. Leon was convicted of dangerous driving and fined $50. Seeking to clear himself, he sued the driver of the other car, claiming personal injuries.

Dutch-Lettered Safety Warning

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — "Watch op het voetpad!"

If it's Dutch to you that's the way Grand Rapids Traffic Engineer Jerome Franklin meant it to be. The Dutch-lettered sign has been posted at a midtown intersection prompting Grand Rapids pedestrians to "wait on the sidewalk" in the heavy Christmas shopping traffic.

Franklin hopes the sign will carry a stronger meaning to a greater portion of the city's predominantly Dutch-background residents.

Cotton Estimate For N. C. Rises

RALEIGH — This year's North Carolina cotton crop now is estimated at 360,000 bales, a gain of 5,000 over the Nov. 1 estimate, according to the State Crop Reporting Service.

In its final report of the year, the service said yesterday the Dec. 1 estimate is 20 per cent below the state's 1953 production and compares with a nationwide reduction of 18 per cent.

Ice, Sleet And New Gales Over Europe

By COLIN FROST
LONDON — Freezing winds spread snow, ice and sleet over much of western Europe today and threats of new gales sent battered North Sea shipping scurrying for shelter.

Torrential rain brought floods to parts of Britain, which still was counting the damage from yesterday's vicious gales. Landslides closed more than 20 main highways.

The weather eased in the English Channel however, and the stier Queen Elizabeth was able to leave Southampton for New York after high winds had stopped her sailing yesterday.

Acton, a northwest London suburb, reported heavy damage from a small tornado.

Leicestershire, in the English Midlands, reported its worst floods in 25 years.

Gale warnings for the North Sea and Baltic imperiled shipping still reeling from two weeks of almost continuous heavy weather. Three lifeboatsmen were swept away when a giant wave capsize their vessel at Scarborough, northeast England. Off France's Atlantic coast the small Dutch coal carrier Ariel sank in a heavy storm and five crewmen were lost.

The first snow of the winter swept over Belgium and Holland, and was expected to reach Sweden and Germany today.

Up to three feet of snow blanketed the Swiss and Italian Alps during the night. Most mountain roads were blocked.

Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic, suffered its worst storm in 40 years. Gale and rain left a trail of broken power cables, flooded houses and disrupted roads. Suburban rail services were out of action practically all yesterday.

Great seas swept away part of the main rail line between Dublin and Rosslare, to the south.

Police had to dynamite a wall backing up floodwaters alongside the River Dodder. The floods swept away part of a pub and sent barrels of stout bobbing down the river into Dublin Bay.

French fishing ports counted 64 men missing in seven trawlers which vanished in gales. All were feared lost.
