THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 12, 1935

The Glad Girl's Bible Class of Memorial Baptist Sunday School, in spite of the rain on Sunday, had a splendid attendance. The enrollment is now over 100 and the class expects to increase this number during the winter and spring months. Officers are Miss Elizabeth Wilkins, president; Miss Margie Lee Horton, vice president; Miss Lena Humber, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Lee, treasurer; Miss Thelma Toler, pianist; Miss Ernestine Forbes, reporter; Mrs. J. B. Spilman, teacher. The following were appointed captains: Miss Margaret Fleming, Susie Cobb, Mary Moye Savage, Lena Humber, Lucy King, Louise Hicks and Mrs. W. W. Lee.

Wilson Couple Honored At New Years Eve Party

ROBERSONVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roberson entertained their guests, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McKim of Wilson, N. C. at a New Year's Eve party at their home on South Main Street. The house was decorated with pretty holiday ornaments.

The dining room was very attractive with a large table covered with a red cloth overlaid with green ribbon across each corner. The centerpiece, two silver cornucopias artistically filled with fruit and flanked by a sterling fan, was flanked by silver candle holders containing lighted green tapers. The buffet carried out the holiday motif.

After pleasant greetings were exchanged at the door the guests were directed to the dining room where Mrs. M. L. Weaver poured the coffee.

Hot ham biscuits, cheese straws, assorted sandwiches, pickles, fancy cookies and a variety of candy were served buffet style.

After enjoying the refreshments everyone went to the living room where Mrs. J. M. Kilpatrick, at the piano, accompanied the group while they sang Christmas carols.

Fifty friends called during the evening. Twenty came at 9 to remain until 10:30. The others arrived at half past ten to see 1934 leave to bring in a Happy New Year.

Young People Enjoy Birthday Dance On Saturday Evening

ROBERSONVILLE — The luncheon of the Elementary School was beautifully decorated with ivy and candles. Entwined pastel shades of crepe paper encircled the large room from post to post. In this charming setting Mr. and Mrs. William Roy White of Norfolk and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy White of Robersonville honored their sister and daughter, Miss Jennie Marie White with a birthday party Saturday evening, January 8, from 8 until 11. The 76 young people danced until 9:30.

Then the group went to the refreshment table which was outlined with pink, yellow and green paper and English ivy. Burning tapers in lovely holders completed the arrangement. At one end of the table was a lovely cake with sixteen candles. This work of art was served with mints, salted nuts and lime punch.

The honoree's many friends remembered her with beautiful and useful gifts which were displayed on a table trimmed with matching paper and greenery.

DEADLY SAWDUST
HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Seventy cows broke into an old shed on Peter Suta's ranch and ate some sawdust stored there. Thirty-five of them died. Suta said arsenic had been mixed with the sawdust as grasshopper bait 20 years before.

Physicians Talk At Womans Club On New Methods Of Treatment

With Dr. Walter C. Humbert and Dr. S. M. Crisp as guest speakers on "Newest Finds in Tuberculosis, Diabetes, Cancer and Heart Diseases," the Greenville Woman's Club held its first meeting of 1938 on January 7. Mrs. Vance Perkins was program chairman and introduced the speakers to the large audience of club members.

Both doctors, in short, informal talks, stated that new drugs, new methods of treatment and surgery had brought about unheard of results in three of the diseases under discussion. The last ten years have been very good as far as TB is concerned, according to Dr. Humbert, and remarkable strides have been made in treating various types of heart trouble. However, Dr. Humbert warned his audience that no medicine or surgery can help the tired, overworked heart—only rest and more rest can help in that case.

The tired heart comes from the cruel pace that people subject themselves to. Dr. Crisp stated that diabetes had progressed from almost certain doom to a time of normal life with the disease providing that the doctor's orders are carried out to a "T." As for cancer, Dr. Crisp said that the picture was not too cheerful because not very much more is known about it. While methods of diagnosis have improved, treatment has advanced and the country is more conscious of cancer, so often the signs of the disease appear too late to combat it with success.

After the very informative talks, the doctors answered questions from the audience.

In a business session presided over by club president Mrs. R. P. Rogers, the following announcements of interest to the entire community were made: A Civic Forum on the United Nations to be held at Sheppard Memorial Library, January 12; a Spring Festival to be held at the club house, March 2; an Opera to be sponsored by the Greenville Music Club, January 24.

Mrs. Hugh Ragdale was chairman of the hostesses committee. The club building was decorated for the meeting with greenery and Japanese quince. An antique epergne filled with paper-white narcissus blossoms and ivy was used on the tea table. Coffee, cake and nuts were served from this table by Mrs. W. L. Best and Mrs. Marshall DuVal.

Party Is Given For Out-of-Town Guest

ROBERSONVILLE — New Year's week Mrs. I. L. Smith honored her friend, Miss Kuanita Matthews of Raleigh at a party from 9:30-11. The house on Grimes Street was attractively decorated in red and green with many burning candles.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Mayo Little. Mrs. Sherwood L. Roberson invited each one to the dining room where the table, covered with a green cloth, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of var-colored balls flanked by silver candelabra each holding three lighted tapers.

Mrs. B. L. Stokes presided at the punch bowl while the guests served themselves sandwiches, ham biscuits, cheese straws, pickles, olives, fancy cookies and candies.

Mr. Irving Smith, a student at the University of North Carolina, entertained his friends from eight o'clock until half past nine.

Last Rites Set For Miss Bessie Congleton

Miss Bessie Congleton, 61, died in a Richmond, Virginia, convalescent home at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night. She had been in declining health for the past five years. Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Rev. John White, pastor of Oak Grove Christian Church near Stokes. Burial will be in the Congleton family cemetery near Stokes.

Miss Congleton, daughter of the late Ass Biggs and Jennie Whitley Congleton, was born and reared in the Stokes community. For the past twenty years she had lived in California and Richmond, Va. She was a member of Oak Grove Christian Church.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. A. F. Caldwell of Richmond, Va.; a nephew, Beverly Congleton of Stokes; and two nieces, Mrs. W. A. Romeiser of Birmingham, Michigan and Miss Kay Congleton of Rocky Hill, Conn.

Superior Court Backlogs Must Be Reduced

Some measures must be devised to enable the Superior Courts of counties in this judicial district to better keep up with the constantly increasing number of cases thrust upon them.

Reports from around the state indicate Superior Courts in the various judicial districts are faced with a growing backlog of old cases. Although efforts have been made to speed up the work of the courts through special judges and more court terms, it is evident that more must be done toward this end before the courts catch up with their backlog of work.

At the end of the last criminal term of Superior Court in Pitt County there were 150 cases left on the court docket. The number of cases on the docket has now risen to 200 and will go higher before the next criminal term of court which begins January 24. In spite of the fact there are some 200 cases on the Pitt Superior Court docket, the Clerk of Superior Court reports

General Assembly Sets A Rapid Pace

The pace with which North Carolina's legislators have gone at their tremendous job may slow down as the session wears on, but so far the 1955 General Assembly has gotten off to a more rapid start than any recent legislature.

Having the budget matters ready for consideration of the legislators at the first of the session has made a big difference in the handling of these important and controversial problems. The study given the budget by the two houses of the legislature as committees of the whole will bring forth the answers to a good many questions which later may otherwise have proved stumbling blocks when the legislators are more pushed for time than they are at the present.

Although appropriations and tax bills will have to go to committees for work after the study given by the two houses, it is our opinion the legislature's work on money matters will be facilitated by the method being followed in the current session.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
MORE THAN A CREATURE
What is man? Adam Smith, the great economist, said that man is an animal that makes bargains. The English statesman Burke said that man is an animal that cooks his victuals. Alexander Hamilton declared that man is a reasoning rather than a reasonable animal. Many modern teachers call man just another mammal. "Men are bit children of a larger growth," said Dryden. And Byron declared of man that he is "half dust, half deity, alike unfit to sink or soar."

The Bible says that man is a combination of heaven and earth. He is made out of common clay, but this common clay incases a soul. He is a fallen creature, viewed morally, for he has disobeyed God and comes far short of what he ought to be or ought to do. Yet he is created in the image and after the likeness of God.

Christian believers hold that Christ was the God-man. He was the perfection of humanity and the express image of God. What Christ was in perfection we are in imperfection. We strive to be like Him and we are to be blessed not on the basis of our achievement but on the basis of our striving. God is not so interested in what we become as in what we try to become.

Among all God's creatures, man alone appears to have a destiny which is linked to God. We are to remember that we are sons of God and it doth not yet appear what we shall be.

Labor Cool To Dixon-Yates Foes

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Congressional opponents of the Dixon-Yates TVA-AEC contract will receive no support from the powerful union labor bloc as a result of the Federal hydroelectric agency's practice of paying "scab" rates for purchases of coal.

The growing undercutting system, which was winked at by such pro-labor figures as F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman, has destroyed morale among John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers. Many local unions, in order to obtain work for its members in TVA territory, have torn up or violated the wage agreements which Lewis laboriously won over 20 years.

The bargain buying of coal has also precipitated squabbles among the operators, and many side with Lewis in a unique alliance for these ancient enemies. Producers paying the standard union rate of $18.25 a day cannot compete with firms which pay only $8 or $10 a day in order to obtain TVA business.

the condition of the docket now is "about as good as it has been in the past three or four years." In other words, a large backlog of cases has become the rule rather than the exception.

While a backlog of 200 cases is bad enough for any one county, it is reported that in Craven County there is a backlog of some 425 to 450 cases on the Superior Court docket. Some counties may have larger backlogs of cases, some smaller. It suffices to say it is not a healthy condition for such a number of old cases to build up on a Superior Court docket.

There is probably little which can be done in the way of official action to hold down the number of cases which go to Superior Court, so it appears that more emphasis must be placed upon disposing of the cases more rapidly once they reach the Superior Court dockets. The situation poses a difficult problem, but an answer must be found.

Has Hammarskjold Won In His Gamble?

The faith the American people have in the United Nations may well hang in the balance of the results which will be forthcoming from the talks between U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai.

If Hammarskjold has succeeded in paving the way for the release of the 11 American airmen imprisoned by the Red Chinese on trumped up spy charges, U. N. stock in America will be boosted. If Hammarskjold has failed in his meeting with Chou, United States support of the U. N. may be seriously affected.

Frankly, we think Hammarskjold realized support of the United Nations among the American people needed a shot in the arm. While the U. N. which was organized to preserve world peace can not be classed a failure, it has not lived up to the hopes many people held for it. In seeking to negotiate face to face with Chou, for the release of the 11 American airmen, Hammarskjold apparently was willing to take a gamble. If the U. N. Secretary General has won by paving the way for the release of the Americans on honorable terms, the prestige of the U. N. among the American people may soar to unprecedented heights. If he has lost, U. N. prestige in the United States may reach a new low.

We hope Hammarskjold has won.

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "The U. S. Supreme Court has indicated that it does not expect immediate compliance with its non-segregation decision in all the nation's schools. It will take time to get peaceful compliance for such a revolutionary change. . . . The high court, in our opinion, is wise in letting its decision go into effect gradually. You can't stuff a sweeping change in a practice going back 200 years down the throat of a people overnight."

When it looks like the national debt may drown the whole country, that becomes the concern of every citizen, every taxpayer."

INADEQUATE — Legislators returning from a weekend at home with their constituents report a prevalent feeling that there will be a lot more said about the segregation question during the next few months. There seems general agreement that the recommendations of the Governor's Advisory Commission on Education are good as a starting point. Governor Hodges' endorsement of those recommendations to the extent he embodied them in message to the General Assembly is approved.

Disagreement develops over the Governor's later statement to reporters that he feels the bills introduced last Thursday designed to return to local boards of education "full responsibility for the enrollment and assignment of pupils" is about as far as the Legislature should go until the United States Supreme Court has promulgated decrees implementing the decision of last May. There is apparent majority opinion that these bills are not sufficient and that considerably more must be said by the Legislature on the subject.

This opinion as reported by the returning legislators is reflected in editorial comment. The burden of such comment has been that the pending bills are inadequate for two main reasons: In the first place they do not go far enough to satisfy the wishes of most people, if any expression of policy is to be given; and, secondly they will not accomplish the avowed purpose of relieving the State of responsibility in the matter of pupil assignment. Several editors point out that so long as the State pays the major part of the operating costs of the schools, exercises full control over certification of teachers, adoption of textbooks and prescribing curricula, has large key play.

1. West leads the eight of clubs and the first trick is taken in the North hand with the Ace. South plays the two of clubs.
2. The jack of clubs is led from North and overtaken by South's queen. East sloughs the two of hearts.
3. South leads a small spade and plays from North one higher spade than West. East lets go the three of hearts.
4. The nine of clubs is led from North and overtaken by South's 10. East plays the four of diamonds.
5. South leads a small spade and plays from North one higher spade than West. East plays the heart four. With the best defense East now has four each of the red suits.
6. The highest spade is now led from North to draw West's last trump. East must let go a heart or diamond. If East plays a heart on this trick, South plays a low spade and can now set up the hearts in the North hand by cross-trumping hearts and diamonds.
If East plays a diamond on this trick, South plays his ace of spade to obtain the lead in his hand and can now set up his diamonds by cross-trumping diamonds and hearts. You will note that the ace of spades must be kept in the South hand until trick six in order for South to obtain the lead if East discards a diamond at trick six.
And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

IT IS TIME TO BE COUNTED ON RE-DISTRICTING (Kinston Free Press)

The proposal in the General Assembly by Sen. F. J. Blythe of Mecklenburg to submit the re-districting issue to a nine-member commission for study and report in 45 days, is a step forward and it may mean some action will be taken by the lawmakers at the current session.

Two previous sessions of the General Assembly have sidestepped the issue. In 1953 the delay was "justified" by submission of an amendment, which would have limited every county to a single senator, regardless of size. This proposal was roundly defeated by the voters, and Governor Luther Hodges reminded the solons that this was another evidence that the people want their lawmakers to act on re-districting, as provided in the Constitution for periodic reviews on the basis of actual population.

We see nothing materially wrong with Senator Blythe's suggestion that a commission be named to bring forth proper recommendations for "equitable and just" re-districting. State Senate President Luther Barnhardt has referred the proposal to the not-yet-appointed committee on elections and senatorial districts. It could encounter a considerable amount of delay before it gets back to the control over school buildings because of the $100 million construction—aid fund, the suggestion that the State can get out from under responsibility for pupil assignment is nothing but "shadow boxing."

NO FIREWORKS — There appears now very little prospect of rabble rousing extreme action in either direction. Verbal reports on back home reaction and editorials alike seem to fully justify Governor Hodges' commendation for the calm and deliberate approach which the people of North Carolina have made to the problem. There are still a few people who are willing to accept the Supreme Court decision as utterly final, and are ready to throw away the traditions and practices of two centuries with respect to segregation. There are also a few who still have the flag of rebellion and have adopted the battle cry of "to hell with the Supreme Court!"

These groups combined represent a very small and not influential minority. Preponderant majority of the people of North Carolina are zealously seeking some way to fit the State's educational and social economy into the national scheme, without defiance of authority of the court and without violence to traditional practices.

For that time is needed. Need for time is the essence of the report by the advisory commission and of the brief filed earlier by Attorney General Harry McMillan and his staff. The same need is embodied in Governor Hodges' message, in the effectuating bills already introduced and in the editorial and verbal comments on the whole situation.

It is known that several legislators are now trying to get factual data on comparative advantages to minority races in segregated and nonsegregated

Legislature for action. If that should happen, the 45-day span for recommended action could expire before the end of the current session, although that may not seem likely at this stage of the new session.

The matter is not one which should be delayed past the current session. It is fundamental to the functioning of democracy in North Carolina. It is an issue with which a majority of the lawmakers are already familiar in general terms, if not in actual details. The solons should act as soon as it is possible for them to do so. We hope Senator Blythe's "new approach" to the issue will mean action will be forthcoming at the 1955 session.

areas. This search is for facts, not sentimental theories about hypothetical "rights". They include not only enrollment in public schools but the related, and perhaps more important, items of freedom to work, discrepancies in salaries—wages and overall living conditions and social advantages for the average citizen. This information is difficult to obtain because records are not broken down as to race or religion in many places. There is further difficulty in determining what is the "average."

ILLUSIVE — Nearly all statistics about average conditions and per capita income are illusive. Consider ten families, for instance. One family has income of $100,000 a year, another has $60,000, two have $10,000, two $5,000, two $3,000 and the other four $1,000 each—or less. For the ten families that is average family income of $18,000, which is pretty good. But the average family can't help to feed the kids in those families with less than $1,000 a year.

North Carolina admittedly and unfortunately ranks low in per capita income, per pupil spending for public schools, and in numerous other comparative brackets. When income and State spending for services is divided by the population figures, the

Business Today

To Get Things Done

By ELMER ROESSNER

Strange though it seems, one of the hardest jobs the average boss has is to get things done. Not all bosses, of course. In very small businesses, the boss is in such close touch with all details that he can make sure each employee gets his work done. In very large businesses, systems of checks and supervision require certain minimums of performance. But in medium-size businesses getting things done is often difficult. Something comes up and a specific job isn't finished. An employee has several things to do and he chooses the least productive ones. Conference cut into time. Coffee breaks stretch into busts.

"Nothing happens," one employer said. "I come in in the morning and tell everybody what I want done. Then just nothing happens."

He was exaggerating, of course. His employees were putting in their hours. But he had lost the knack of winding up tasks. They puttered, started new things before winding up old ones. They were like the salesman who talked about his product for two hours but forgot to ask for the order.

And in the end, it's the boss' fault. He did not apply the techniques that compel production of results.

These techniques vary from business to business and industry to industry. But here are some that have broad application:

1. Daily checks. The boss keeps a list of all unfinished assignments on his desk and once a day phones or visits the man responsible for each task and finds out how much progress has been made. This will often cut the time on specific tasks in half.
2. Focused responsibility. Instead of asking the auditing department for a list of overdue accounts, or the advertising department for a campaign outline, if the employer asks Miss Smith an auditing or Pettigrew in advertising for the material, he will get it faster.
3. Target dates. Setting a day and time for the completion of each task makes things happen, especially if the person responsible is called at the finishing hour. Letting the employee set the hour at which a task will be completed frees the boss from being considered a slave-driver. It relieves tremendous psychological pressure on the employee.
4. Progress reports. Requiring employees at stated intervals to turn in progress reports on all pending work helps them to discipline themselves.
5. Expeditors. Some executives hire assistants whose major task is to check progress of assignments and to needle or encourage laggards in the boss' name.

Suddenly, Normalcy Returned

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—It was one of those fights.

She said something. He said something. She said that was a terrible way to put it. He said he wasn't putting it any particular way. She said that he said . . . He said, nonsense, he had only said what he said after she said . . .

Lost in tempers and anger, she went back to the dishes. He slammed the kitchen door and went down to his den in the basement, his since the real den upstairs had become the sewing room and the TV room and the guest room.

As always in such fights he imagined they had not really been married the last 15 years. Helen and Tim were someone else's kids. He really was still a gay young bachelor, with lots of girls and flashy cars and places to go and bright, crisp things to say.

It further irritated him that the bottom drawer of his basement desk wouldn't shut tight and he could see why. She had crammed in the big cardboard box she kept the old check stubs in. Stubs all the way back, 13 or 14 years. Her check stubs in his desk. Well, all right, their stubs. Still it was her mania to save everything in sight not his. . . .

The first stub he saw was only a month old. S & J Apparel, $54. He could, he thought, rush back up to the kitchen and deliver a stinging denunciation of frivolous shoppers. But then she would produce incontrovertible evidence the kids really needed those new winter coats.

He turned the box over and began among the oldest stubs. March 12, 1940—art lessons, $14. Hers. April 9, 1940, sofa, $175. The sofa was now beside him in the basement. Nov. 24, 1940—sculpture lessons, $18. Hers. "After all, a wife needs to feel productive, too."

Apt. rent, $47, month after month. Then $54 then $62. Feb. 12, 1941—beer, $28.50. What, $28.50 for beer! But then he remembered and relaxed. It was his going-away party. The next morning he was at Fort Dix. Would he ever make corporal? . . . and for the next four years, she signed all the checks.

Sweater, extra warm, $110. Had it reached him in Africa or Italy? . . . Xmas package, $14.00. Where had he devoured it, in Naples or Rome? . . .

Feb. 23, 1945—Obstetrician for Helen, $100. "Of course, I know she's breathing. Just thought I'd check the crib covers." . . . Jan. 12, 1946, Helen's stroller, $15.00 . . . Jan. 29, 1946, washing machine, $210. April 12, 1947, sofa, $278. . . . May 15, 1947, drugs, $8.98. . . . March 24, 1948, new set of dishes, $29. . . . May 3, 1948, sewing machine, $110. . . . what happened to the art lessons?

Without knowing why, he smiled. He was now completely comfortable in the old chair he used to complain about. . . .

Oct. 19, 1948—Helen's tonsils, $50. "I should have stayed the night with her in the hospital. I'll never forget her eyes when I walked out." . . . Nov. 28, 1954—Tim's space ranger outfit, $8.98. . . . Dec. 4, 1954, first payment, Helen's braces, $40.

Then it came to him that actually he had never been a gay bachelor that there were very few girls that the only car was a broken-down coupe. She said conversation usually was desperately wooden.

He paused over the check stubs and slowly returned them to his desk drawer. He walked back up to the kitchen where she was just finishing up. He kissed her on the back of the neck. She said, "What's that for?" He said, "None of your business," and kissed her again.

Club Discusses Fund-Raising

BELVOIR — Plans for raising funds for the March of Dimes were made by the Belvoir Home Demonstration Club women at their January meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Barnhill.

The women decided they would make candy, cakes and sandwiches to sell at the basketball game at the Belvoir school tonight. Funds from this sale will be given to the polo drive.

A report on family life was given by Mrs. Barnhill, who displayed several magazines which she said are considered good reading for any member of a family.

Mrs. D. M. Hollowell, the club's poultry leader, explained the importance of keeping the chicken house warm and lighted at night.

The group decided to have the February joint meeting on the same date as its regular meeting, but changed the time to 7 p.m.

Following the business session, the monthly demonstration on Newer Vegetable Crops was given by assistant Home agent Josephine Cusick.

When the meeting had adjourned the club women enjoyed a social hour, during which games were played and refreshments served by the hostess.

Norman V. Peale Subject For Program Of Lector Book Club

On Tuesday, January 4, Mrs. Charles Flanagan was hostess to the Lector Book Club at her home on East 5th Street. The living room was beautifully decorated with red anthuriums.

Mrs. E. S. Flanagan, president, called the meeting to order and the secretary called the roll and read the minutes. Mrs. Flanagan thanked the members who helped get food and clothing together for a needy family at Christmas.

Mrs. Flanagan turned the meeting over to Mrs. Tom Wilson who had the program for the afternoon. Mrs. Wilson had as her subject Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, who is minister at the Marble Collegiate Church of New York City (Dutch Reformed).

He is a top religious leader in the country today, others being Bishop Sheen at the Catholic Church, Dean Pike of the Episcopal Church and of course Billy Graham, the evangelist.

Dr. Peale had feelings of inadequacy and shyness as a boy which led him to search outside himself for a solution to his personality problem. He found that solution in the Bible. The result was one that millions of Americans have to be thankful for today.

His message is that Christianity works. If you will submit to God's will, power will come to you. He points out that worry is the greatest power in the world except one—and that is faith—the solution? "Relax, Believe—Think Positively." Positive and negative thoughts cannot exist simultaneously.

At 86 Dr. Peale is able to handle his backbreaking schedule. Perhaps the secret formula is contained in the nine words carved on a piece of wood in his office.

"Trust God—and live one day at a time."

Tea Given To Honor Recent Bride

FARMVILLE—On Thursday afternoon at the Hilma Country Club in Tarboro, Mrs. Robert Wilton Moore received in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Wilton Moore Jr., a recent bride, the former Miss Doris Wilkerson of Farmville.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. H. H. Keck, who introduced them to the receiving line, composed of the hostess, the honoree, and Mrs. John E. Wilkerson, mother of the bride.

From a beautifully appointed refreshment table, Mrs. Julius L. Creech poured coffee, while Mrs. Carl D. Rosenbaum Jr., sister of the bride, presided at the silver punch bowl. The banquet table was covered with a cloth of white linen and lace. A silver wine cooler filled with mixed spring flowers and greenery, flanked by silver candelabra with burning white tapers, centered the table.

Guests served themselves ham biscuits, party sandwiches, mints, toasted almonds and pecans, and decorated cakes.

Approximately 250 guests called.

Hostess Receives At Informal Coffee Hour On Saturday

GRIFTON—Mrs. Kenneth Talton received on Saturday morning at an informal coffee hour at her home on Church Street to compliment Mrs. LeRoy Cherry who with her husband and children have moved from Greenville and are residing at 604 Church Street. The Talton home was beautifully decorated with yellow pom poms in pretty arrangements. The refreshment table was covered with a yellow damask cloth and had a centerpiece of yellow and green pom poms, carrying out the yellow and green decorative note.

Open faced sandwiches, fruit bars with salted nuts and mints were served. Mrs. Luke Mahler poured coffee and Mrs. Douglas Boone and Mrs. George Sumrell assisted in serving. During the calling hour 50 guests were received.

Mushroom Crop No Bed Of Roses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mushroom raising is no bed of roses, says the Federal Trade Commission, and it doesn't smell like one either. The commission filed false advertising charges today against the Washington Mushroom Industries, Inc., of Seattle, a firm which sells mushroom spawn and fertilizer.

The FTC challenged the company's claim that mushroom beds have no odor and can be placed satisfactorily in a spare room. These beds produce "a very disagreeable odor," in the view of the FTC lawyers.

Neither is it true, said FTC, that mushroom growing is a "pleasant, easy occupation," providing a substantial income even to those without experience; nor that the firm's mushroom spawn will produce "extraordinary financial returns" to buyers.

On the contrary, the commission said, successful mushroom operations require a high degree of skill and amateurs "cannot earn extraordinary profits, particularly in view of the company's charges for spawn and fertilizer."

The company and its president, Arthur T. Leles, were given 30 days to answer the complaint. A hearing was scheduled for March 1 in Seattle.

Flock Of Robins All Hopped Up

ANNA MARIA, Fla. (AP)—Robins by the hundreds have been in a binge here for several days. The birds teeter back and forth on telephone lines, fall off, flutter feebly to the ground and remain there.

Police can't account for the strange behavior, but Harry Varley, editor of the weekly newspaper The Islander, thinks the birds got hopped up on some kind of fallen fermented berry.

Air Force Officer From Bethel Is Awarded U. Of Tenn. MA Degree

An Air Force officer from Bethel, N. C. who was a full time teacher by day and a part time student "nearly all the time," received a master's degree from the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, at December commencement exercises.

Capt. Norman F. Moore, an assistant professor of air science and tactics at U-T, started working for the degree in education administration and supervision when he was assigned to the school in the fall of 1951.

Finally, after three years of taking classes when he could, studying at night, and writing 25,000 words on a master's project, the degree was awarded.

Capt. Moore, who also holds an A. B. degree in social studies from East Carolina College, Greenville, N. C. who was previously stationed at Maxwell AF Base, Montgomery, Ala., where he completed the academic instructor's course. Prior to that, he was with the Air and Airways Communication Service at Travis AF Base, Calif.

The son of Mrs. John S. Moore, of Bethel, he is married and has three children. In 1933 he graduated from Cranberry High School in western North Carolina where his father was principal.

Once-Beaten East Carolina Plays Belmont Abbey Five

East Carolina's Pirates, having just finished a road trip which saw their unbeaten skin shattered, go against strong Belmont Abbey in Memorial Gymnasium here tonight in hopes of adding win number eight to their string.

Four All-Americans

Obviously, the changes of Coach Al "General" McClellan will have different ideas. They come to town with a very impressive mark and boast four former high school All-Americans on their roster. Thus far, they have wins over several North State Conference members and such esteemed outside clubs as Brandeis University.

The Crusaders are paced by fleet guards and towering Johnny Coll, 6-10 former West Virginia University player. Their captain, Maurice Theberge is a heady, dependable shot and rebounder.

The game draw may have a little of its vim in that Jack Underwood and Jim Gaetano, one-two in the scoring last season, will be missing from the lineup. Only sophomores, the two were dropped from the squad last week. Gaetano, peppery little guard, got married without permission from the school and Underwood fell behind in his studies.

Cell Tough

Coach McClellan still has enough horses to make his offense click.

Coll has improved with each game and is very mean on the backboards. Coach Howard Porter's tallest man to sit on Coll is 6-5 Guy Mendenhall of Cary. The blond freshman will have his hands full for sure.

Bucs 7-1

The rest of the Pirates lineup will include Don Harris, sophomore forward. The smooth-as-cream shotmaker is averaging 24.8 in the first eight games. The Bucs, incidentally, are articulate of a 7-1 mark. Carvel (Nick) Nichols will start at the other forward. He hit 20 points for the third time this season against High Point Monday night. Cecil Heath and J. C. Thomas will man the number 1 guard spots. Heath has broken out of a scoring slump and is averaging in around 10 points. Thomas and Nichols are hitting at a 13-point clip. Mendenhall is averaging 10.

Team Average

The team average is 78.8 per cent. They have let their opponents average 71.3. The highest total thus far has been the 96 in the opener with Guilford.

The game tonight will get underway at eight and although no standings will be effected, there's a lot of prestige involved.

G-Men Play Elizabeth City Cagers Tonight

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

The Greenville Phantoms and the Elizabeth City Yellow Jackets, snowed out in their regular scheduled game for yesterday, try again tonight in the GHS gym at eight o'clock.

Yesterday the snow was piled up too high in Elizabeth City for the game to be postponed until tonight. Both games of the doubleheader will go along as scheduled with the jayvee game starting at 6:30.

The Jackets will be out to break the 14 consecutive wins at home streak the G-men have recorded over the last two seasons. The G-men go into the conference battle with a record of two wins and no losses for loop play. The Yellow Jackets eked out a 49-41 win over Washington in their only conference activity.

The Phantoms will probably go with their same starting lineup that they have used all year. That will have Bob Howell and Edgar Moore at forwards, Harold Edwards at center, and Tommie Saleed and Pat Sawyer at guards.

The Riddick, who has been playing the best ball of the group lately in practice, and 6-5 Clark Noble are ready to step in at any time during the game.

Tonight's game is a crucial one for the Phantoms who cannot afford to slip up at any time during the year. The powerful Kingston Red Devils flashed some offensive power last night in scoring 95 points against Roanoke Rapids. As it appears now, it will be a two team race between the Phantoms and the Red Devils and the team that slips will be the runnerup.

Double Win Over Robersonville

FARMVILLE—Robersonville bowed in both ends of a basketball doubleheader here last night. Farmville's girls won 41-29 and the home boys 46-40.

Joyner and Flanagan led the winning lasses with 16 and 14 points respectively. Whitfield was the scoring leader for Robersonville with 14 points.

Farmville's biggest thrust was made in the final quarter as they doubled the Robersonville scoring. Robersonville held an 18-14 halftime lead.

Bobby Dodd — MS. GEORGIA TECH FOOTBALL TEAMS HAVE WON SIX SIXES WITHOUT A LOSS

Sunny Fraser — THE ATLANTIC CITY AMATEUR ICE HOCKEY LEAGUE NEVER LOST THE FIFTH CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY-OFF FROM 1939 THROUGH 1944

Lamp Gilbert — PLOTTED NASHVILLE TO SIX CONSECUTIVE CHAMPIONSHIPS FROM 1939 THROUGH 1944

Bobby Dodd is making a habit of winning bowl games. The brilliant Georgia Tech football coach posted his sixth straight bowl victory without a defeat when his charges whipped Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

In his second season as coach of Georgia Tech, 1946, Dodd had a record of eight victories in 10 games and then added a victory over St. Mary's in the Oil Bowl at Houston. His 1947 team compiled a 9-1 record and then went on to defeat Kansas in the Orange Bowl. The first of his two Sugar Bowl triumphs came after the 1952 season when Mississippi. A year ago, his Yellow Jackets returned to New Orleans to trounce West Virginia, 42-19.

The brilliant performances of his sophomore stars indicates that Georgia Tech will be in the running for another bowl bid next year. Three-fourths of the backfield which overcame Arkansas' first-half lead were sophomores, and his all-sophomore backfield is the equal of the best in the country. Ever since Bill Alexander hired him from the Tennessee campus in 1931, 30 groom him as his successor at Tech.

The boys' game was a thriller all the way with Winterville having just too many guns for the visitors. Gene Tripp, Bobby Coggins and Jack Sawyer were the big three, scoring 22, 19 and 18 each. Heath's 17 points led Grimesland.

The win was number eight in a row within the loop for Winterville's boys who stand at the top of the conference.

Three Football Rule Proposals Being Considered

NEW YORK (AP)—Three football rule proposals were under consideration today by a subcommittee of the NCAA Football Rules Committee. The proposed changes centered around how much the movement of linemen can be restricted without interfering with modern offensive football.

Yesterday's committee discussion involved:

1. The false start and "sucker shift."
2. The movement of linemen into the backfield to protect the kicker on spread formations.
3. The "tackle eligible" forward pass formation.

Committee Chairman H. O. Fritz Crisler of Michigan referred the proposals of the main body to the subcommittees, whose job it is to clarify the new rules in such a way that they will not conflict with today's current rules.

The subcommittees are due to make their reports and the committee will vote on the proposals today.

Terp Wrestlers Sweeping Rivals

GREENSBORO (AP)—Coach Sully Krouse's Maryland wrestling team winner of the Atlantic Coast Conference title with a perfect record last season is continuing its sweep of ACC opposition.

The Terps have beaten Virginia and Wake Forest to head the standings with a 2-0 record. Duke is second with 1-0, ahead of Virginia, which owns a 1-1 record. North Carolina, North Carolina State and Wake Forest trail, each with a 0-1 mark.

Yesterday's committee discussion involved:

Grimesland Drops Double Bill To Winterville Teams

WINTERVILLE—Grimesland was beaten in both ends of a Pitt County Conference basketball doubleheader here last night. The Winterville girls winning handily 63-42 and the home boys winning 71-60.

Jean Little registered 33 points for Winterville in the feminine rout. Jane Corey canned 13 for runner-up honors. P. Tucker of Grimesland was high for her team with 24 points. Lewis was next in line with 11.

The win was number six against the loss, conference-wise, for Winterville's girls.

Giardello Back In Good Graces Of Commission

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joey Giardello, No. 1 middleweight contender, was back in the technical good graces of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission today after paying a $500 fine in lieu of a 75-day suspension.

The commission yesterday suspended Giardello, then reinstated him on payment of the fine—resulting from an assault on a gas-line station operator last Oct. 29. Giardello, now awaiting trial on the charge denies he was involved in a brawl at the South Philadelphia service station.

Frank Wiener, commission enafr, man said the brief suspension and fine that replaced it was decided on because it was felt Giardello's actions had been detrimental to the best interests of boxing.

However, Wiener said, the commission decided to grant the boxer another chance to prove himself. Giardello now is in training for a 10-round bout, with Al Andrews of Superior, Wis., at Norfolk, Va., Jan. 26.

Castellani Meets Holly Mims For Chance At Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani, No. 2 contender for Bobo Olson's middleweight title, meets the No. 3 man, Holly Mims, tonight in a 12-round bout at Cleveland Arena.

Castellani, who now lives in Cleveland, lost to Olson on points in a bout at San Francisco last summer and is now ranked behind Joey Giardello, No. 1 contender.

Mims, a 25-year-old from Washington, D.C., has never been knocked out and is working on a string of 12 straight bouts without a defeat.

Castellani, 27, has a record of 57 victories, 6 losses and a draw. Mims' record: 35 victories, 11 losses, 5 draws.

Bettors favored the Clevelander 6-5 but there were indications the odds might even off.

Jim Norris, International Boxing Club president, says the winner will be considered for a shot at Olson's title.

CBS will telecast at 10 p.m. EST.

A total of 275 players appeared in National League baseball game during the 1954 season.

Erdelatz Gets New Five-Year Annapolis Deal

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Ah, security.

That sentiment did the momblo behind the smile of Eddie Erdelatz yesterday as he boarded a plane for his native California. Articulate Eddie had just signed a new five-year contract as head football coach of Navy.

All the informed sources agreed—though Navy and Erdelatz kept quiet—that it called for about $17,000 a year.

Erdelatz, a long-recognized defensive tactician who graduated magna cum laude last season from the post-graduate school of advancing the ball, has been summarily successful at beating Navys archrival.

Four of his five Navy teams have whipped Army.

Last Nov. 27, an understated bunch of athletes Erdelatz dubbed "the team named desire" did it again, 27-20. Then they smeared a little icing on the cake with a 21-0 victory over Mississippi New Years Day in the Sugar Bowl.

The team finished with a 7-2 mark.

Erdelatz said yesterday he had a desire . . . a desire to end his head coaching career where it began, at Navy. "I am very happy and proud to continue as head football coach at the Naval Academy," he added.

Within the last month, printed rumor had him headed first to the San Francisco 49ers and as late as yesterday morning to the Los Angeles Rams.

Erdelatz said he had talked with President Dan Reeves of the Rams, but no offer was made.

Capt. Elliott Loughlin, Navy's director of athletics, said yesterday: "Eddie's value to the Naval Academy is not confined to the mere winning of football games but also to the manner in which he coaches and the fine leadership qualities demonstrated in his handling the squad."

PHANTOMS RANKED HIGH AMONG STATE BASKETBALL POWERS

In the latest listings, Coach Bo Farley's formidable Phantoms are rated co-favorites with Kingston in the Northeastern AA Conference and stand in the upper five of the state's high school basketball teams inconclusive of class.

1954-55 is proving to be the athletic peak for the local school with a fine football season this past fall and the dye already cast in the current cage campaign. The gridders won 6, last 2 and tied one for the best football record ever recorded by a Greenville club. They presently possess a 7-1 cage mark, having lost only to Rocky Mount, Greenville, undoubtedly, has one of the games' basketball club has athletes of a school its size in the state. Their basketball club has humiliated several of its big brothers in the AAA bracket this season. The Greenvies have a good cage outfit because they blend natural assets—height and speed—with drive and lessons well-learned.

The Phantoms' 70.2 scoring average ranks high, if not the highest, in per game pointage by prep teams this side of the Smokies. Their 103 points against Goldsboro was amazing in that high school games last only 32 minutes—that's 3.2 points a minute. They also hit 98 against Wilson.

A lot of the credit must go to Coach Farley. He has brought the boys along during the past several years, being cautious not to put them in the show before they were ready. He has had a lot to do with developing Hal Edwards and Bob Howell, two fine college prospects. Edgar Moore, Pat Sawyer and Tommie Saleed, the other starters, are also good examples of Farley's astuteness. Just awkward fellows a couple of years ago, the threesome, due to hard work under the auspices of Farley, have aftermated into polished performers.

This should be Greenville's best year in cage wars!

ELON'S SCORCHING OFFENSE STOPPED PIRATE STRING

The Fighting Christians lived up to their namesake last Saturday night in Burlington in knocking off East Carolina, the state's last unbeaten team. The Pirates' winning skin was halted at six by the 64-76 loss.

Coach Doc Mathis' bunch hit 58 per cent of their shots from the floor in the first half and 55 per cent in the second. They commanded a 40-33 halftime lead and, vengeance-bent, continued to strip the cords at the same pace after intermission.

Ed Juratic, 6-6 center, rebounded like a madman, almost dominating both boards. The spray-haired jumper was a member of State's freshman team two years ago before he transferred. He looked every bit an ACC player Saturday night.

The remarkable thing about Elon's shooting was that over 50 per cent of their shots were made from the outside. Twenty of their 44 points in the first half were hit from beyond the foul circle. Dave Maddox, tall, bespectacled forward, hit four in a row at the start of the game from there.

But, as Coach Howard Porter remarked after the game, "A loss usually help everybody." Many of the players backed the statement up with comments that the defeat helped them quite a lot, making them realize hold mistakes in their play.

OTHERS SAY DEPT: WILTON GARRISON, CHARLOTTE OBSERVER

"It still isn't the end of the trail for the old Tar Heel warrior, Enos Slaughter, who's signed to play for the Yankees again. Slaughter, labeled one of the "old pros" left in the baseball business will be starting his 15th year in the majors and 18th in pro baseball and, considering he spent three years in the Army, his record spell real durability and class.

Prior to the 1954 campaign, Slaughter had spent all of his major league career in the National League as one of the all-time stars of the St. Louis Cardinals. Traded to the Yankees, he was used chiefly in utility and pinch-hitting roles by Casey Stengel. Enos' 1954 record was not impressive, but his career record is. Last year Slaughter went to bat 125 times and managed to hit only .248, quite a comedown from his old days with the Cardinals when he averaged over .300."

Cards, Pirates In Player Trade

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals yesterday traded right-handed pitcher Ben Wade to the Pittsburgh Pirates for southpaw Paul LaPalme. No cash was involved.

Wade, 32, came to the Cardinals from Brooklyn on waivers late last season. He appeared in 36 games during the season and compiled a 1-1 record with a 7.28 earned run average. He is a Morehead City, N.C., native.

LaPalme, a 30-year-old knuckle ball specialist, appeared in games in 1954 and finished with a 4-0 record with an earned run mark of 5.50.

Publishers Enter New Year With Varied Lists

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK (AP)—Read all about it!

That's the book publishers' exhortation as they enter the new year with high, wide and handsome lists of novels, biographies, tales of adventure, and a vast assortment of miscellaneous matter.

As long ago as November, books for 1955 began to pile up on reviewers' shelves. But the reviewers had to keep their noses in seasonal anthologies, pretty volumes on art and ballet, and other gift items, though they were hankering for a peek into the future.

This week they got it. They found that, as has happened in previous years, some publishers seemed to like to put their best forward in the first week in January.

There was an outstanding novel, an outstanding historical novel, and three very good biographies. With the book year only six days old, reviewers could be dogmatic and safely declare: "There has been no better biography in 1955," or "This is the finest novel I've read this year."

BIOGRAPHY
Maybe some of them did. In all seriousness, the start in biography was most promising, and the coming weeks look no less rewarding. This week's biographies were: "The Intelligent Heart" (Farrar, Straus & Young), by Harry T. Moore; a scary, ominous item out of Germany, "Fragebogen" (Doubleday), by Ernst von Salomon; and if you want to take its taste out of your mouth, an infinitely pleasanter work, "Sir Walter Scott" (Harper) by Hesketh Pearson.

Within two weeks there will be coming Derek Hudson's "Lewis Carroll" (Macmillan); Lord Elton's "Gordon of Khartoum" (Knopf); and Scotland Yard Inspector Walter Henry Thompson's story of his 20 years as Churchill's bodyguard: "Assignment: Churchill" (Farrar, Straus & Young).

In February there will be Hermann Kesten's "Casanova" (Harper), and in April, Charles Munch's "I Am a Conductor" (Oxford). You wait till fall for Grover Whalen's autobiography, to be called "Mr. New York" (Putnam's).

FICTION
If the 51 weeks still to come prove as rewarding in fiction as the week just over, it will be a better than average year. The first publication day of 1955, Monday, marked the appearance of the Harper prize novel, "Trial," by Don M. Mankiewicz.

On Thursday came Zoe Oldenbourg's "The Cornerstone." "Trial" is an up-to-the-minute thriller with a highly relevant ideological and political background; Miss Oldenbourg's work is a historical novel with the tapestry character which is always a sign of quality in works of this genre.

Fiction to come includes "Among the Daughters" (Coward-McCann), by Angela Enters; "The Vagabond" (Farrar, Straus & Young), by Collette; "Hubertus" (John Day), by Edgar Mittelholzer; "The Last Temptation" (Simon & Schuster), by Joseph Vierter; "A Ghost at Noon" (Farrar, Straus & Young), by Alberto Moravia; "The Twelve Pictures" (Putnam's), by Edith Simon; "The Royal Hunt" (Knopf), by Pierre Molinot; "The Black Prince" (Knopf), by Shirley Ann Grau; "The Unhurrying Chase" (Macmillan), by H.P.M. Prescott.

There will be short stories by Bryan MacMahon, and a play by Sean O'Casey.

ADVENTURE
As is now becoming an established custom, men will come back from the bottom of the sea, the top of the mountains, the ends of the earth, the desert and the jungle to tell of hardships, perils and survivals.

On Monday, Ennio Titta will describe his savage battle with sharks in, or on, "Bast of Despair." In two more weeks will come "Prisoners' Bluff" by Rolf Magner, about the escape of two of Heinrich Harrer's fellow prisoners. Soon afterward there will be "The White Desert," by John Glaever, about the Antarctic. Dutton publishes these three. Oxford will publish Jim Corbett's "The Temple Tiger" at the end of this month.

Stewart Holbrook—to turn to general titles—will write about "Machines of Plenty" or pioneering in American agriculture; Lillian Smith about the Supreme Court's antisegregation ruling in "Now Is the Time"; J. S. Weiner, about "The Pitdown Forgery"; Jim Bishop, about "The Day Lincoln Was Shot"; Elmer Davis, about "Two Minutes to Midnight," or how close the world may be to the use of the hydrogen bomb.

Looking Ahead To Big Winnings

DENVER (AP)—"How much tax is due on $75,000 income?" the anonymous woman caller asked a government tax expert yesterday by telephone.

About $41,180 not counting deductions, she was told. "Well, what about $150,000?" she asked.

The bill jumped to $101,980, the expert's slide rule showed. Asked why she inquired, the woman replied:

"I'm just deciding whether to buy one or two tickets on the Irish sweepstakes. Thanks for your help."

Clash On China Trade Embargo

HONG KONG, (AP)—Soviet and U.S. delegates to an Asian economic conference exchanged sharp words today over the United Nations embargo on shipments of strategic goods to Communist China.

The clash occurred during the closing session of the meeting sponsored by the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE), when Russia's V. B. Spandaryan complained the commission's report did not reflect certain fundamental questions.

Among these, he said, were "closer" contact with the Chinese People's Republic and the obstacles "created by the United States to expansion of trade with China."

U.S. Delegate E. M. Brademan immediately replied that the embargo—imposed following the entry of Red Chinese troops into the Korean War—"is hurting the Chinese aggressors and that is good."

Brademan said the question of widening trade with Red China had been discussed and rejected at numerous international meetings.

"Most of us are willing to abide by decisions of the majority but that is not so with some countries," the American delegate continued, adding that the Soviet Union maintains it is right while everyone else is wrong.

The ECAFE report recommended wider trade relations as a desirable target in international relations, suggested improved trade promotion techniques and advised more equitable raw material prices.

It said the most significant Asian trade development during 1954 was the increase in prices of such export commodities as tea, rubber, jute and cotton.

Pupils' New State Song Is Bidding To Be A Hit

North Carolina's newest state song, composed by pupils at the Wahl-Coates Laboratory school at East Carolina College, bids fair to become a hit and is now being sung by pupils in schools over a wide area in the state.

Arnold Hoffman, state advisor in music education, is planning to make copies of "The Land of the Long Leaf Pine" and to have copies of the song available to those who request it.

Both the poem and the music, as well as the story of how the song originated are included in the January 1955 issue of North Carolina Education, publication of the North Carolina Education Association. The author of the article is Beatrice Chauncey, faculty member of the East Carolina College department of music, who as supervising teacher assisted the young people in creating the song.

"The Land of the Long Leaf Pine" began as a joint project of the social studies and the music programs in the eighth grade taught by Elizabeth Hyman of the Wahl-Coates faculty. In connection with the study of this state and its resources, a "song of praise and pledge of loyalty" expressed in verse was undertaken with pleasing results by members of the class.

Music to fit the words of the poem was begun by the eighth graders, who beat out the time and converted the rhythm to note values. William Glasgow, then a senior music major at East Carolina College and a student teacher in the Wahl-Coates school, supplied a tune. Keeping the melody and harmony "fairly simple and almost like a folk tune," Glasgow completed the arranging and composing of the music. A recent graduate of the college, he is now band director in the Farmville schools. The result of the eighth graders' work is an attractive text and a simple melody, easily sung and tuneful enough to "stick in the memory" after a few hearings.

The text of the song runs: From the top of the Blue Ridge Mountains To the fair Atlantic shore Lie the beauty and the glory Of the land that we adore. Its fruitful fields and forests, Its scenery so divine, Give happiness and pleasure To the land of the Long Leaf Pine.

Chorus: To thee Oh Carolina, Our happy song we raise, Let all our hearts and voices ring out the glorious praise.

Panama Extends State Of Siege

PANAMA, (AP)—The National Assembly last night extended for 10 more days the state of siege declared following the assassination Jan. 2 of President Jose Antonio Remon.

As it had in originally voting the modified form of martial law, the Assembly said its purpose was to facilitate the so far fruitless investigation into the machine-gunning of Remon. The original decree would have expired tomorrow.

The state of siege, under which most constitutional guarantees are suspended, has had little effect on everyday life in the capital. Mainly it has enabled investigators to arrest persons for questioning without warrants, and those arrested are unable to obtain freedom by habeas corpus proceedings.

Minister of Government Catalino Arrocha told the Assembly the search for the late President's slayers had produced no concrete results so far. Following the killing, about 70 persons were arrested in the capital but many of these have since been released.

Among those still being held were ex-President Arnulfo Arias, long a political foe of Remon, and Martin Lipslein, a New Yorker who landed in Panama from Venezuela the day of the assassination.

Lipslein's release has been expected since yesterday, when a U.S. Embassy spokesman said witnesses had corroborated the 34-year-old man's story that he was nowhere near the race track where Remon was killed.

There was no indication of why Lipslein was still being held.

Plan Livestock Relief Project

NEW WINDSOR, Md. (AP)—Directors of Heifer Project Inc., will decide today how and where they can do the most good in 1955 with their plan for supplying livestock and poultry to the needy of war-torn countries.

A three-day annual meeting of the directors began at project headquarters here yesterday. More than 100 persons from 13 states, plus government and United Nations officials, are attending. Yesterday they heard reports on projects in Germany, Haiti, Puerto Rico, Afghanistan and the Middle East.

Tomorrow, the directors will try to work out methods of securing the needed livestock and funds for getting the animals overseas.

Claims Spouse Bombard Him

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—In his Superior Court Divorce suit, Albert A. Crisafulli, 33, alleged his wife Rose, 30, during their marriage bombarded him with: Cups plates, knives, forks, spoons, a bowl of macaroni, a 20-pound magazine tray, a bottle of milk, ceramic ornaments and a baby bottle.

He also charged she pushed him down the stairs, lunged at him with a vegetable knife, attempted to stab him with a butcher knife, threatened him with a dagger and often slapped and punched him. Judge William Hagarty granted a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty.

Council Negro Scout Banquet Set Friday

East Carolina Council Negro Boy Scout officials and their ladies, representing 20 eastern North Carolina counties, will hold an annual Recognition Banquet on Friday, January 14, in the Consolidated School, Vanceboro. This announcement was made by J. C. Bias, Scotland Neck, general division chairman.

The host Division, Cra-Jo-Pam (made up of Craven, Jones and Pamlico counties), is all set to receive the Scouting leaders and their guests, according to the chairman, O. T. Faison, New Bern.

Silver Beaver award presentations will highlight the program. As in each former year, these awards to honored Scout leaders for distinguished service to the boyhood of the area is the top feature of the banquet program. However this year an item of tantamount importance has been scheduled.

Dr. J. D. Messick, Greenville, president of the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, will address the Division banquet. This will be

Dr. Messick's first official public function since assuming the presidency in mid-December. He has served variously on the Executive Board of the Scout Council and was finance chairman in 1954.

Chairman Bias said that there would be an election of officers, a report of a special finance committee, recognition of ladies, and several other awards and special recognitions made during the course of the affair.

There is keen rivalry among the nine Divisions of the Council for possession of the trophy awarded each year to the Division who amasses the greatest number of man-miles traveled to the banquet. Cra-Jo-Pam Division won the trophy last year and there are several divisions who are trying to make sure that the same thing does not happen in 1955. Every Negro Scout-er in the East Carolina Council is urged to make plans to attend, with his guest, in Vanceboro on January 14th.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

We climbed out of the jeep. Far off in the southern sky I could see the air lane beacon throwing its beam.

"My idea, Red, is to work all of this from here out, moving your lights as we eliminate each piece of territory. I don't think I could have seen him from the fire tower Saturday unless he'd been this far out the rocks. And I don't think we'll need the gun now."

"What about the tools?" Red asked. "I've got a fire rake and a mackinac in there."

"Let's use the lights till we find something to dig for," I said.

We started working side by side, our shadows making long jerky steps in the path of light. I could see where Luger had stirred the leaves as he followed below me along the cliff. I didn't expect to find him lying on top of the ground," I said.

"I know you didn't."

"Do you think it would do any good to work back over it?"

"If you want to be on hand when that eagle gets home we won't have time."

"Let's try one more thing," I said. "I don't think he's out the ridge beyond this point unless he's been dragged there. Let's go back and work the other direction. I could be wrong."

Jeeps turn on a dime and it's a good thing they do for we wouldn't have got out of there. We found the place back on the log road where we had started and swung in again. We'd learned that we could cover more ground by getting close to the base of the rocks and heading the jeep parallel, which threw our lights in a long-path rather than in short cross-segments.

I was working out in front of Red a little piece when I came to some long furrows in the leaves and then I spied the oblong patch of new-turned earth.

Red drew the jeep up closer and we started digging.

The grave wasn't deep and it didn't take long. He'd been buried face down.

When we got him over on his back the jeep headlights showed a face raked with deep gouges. The hair of his head was white and abundant.

I looked up. "Get it, Red? White hair."

In the glaring lights Red's face was as pale as the dead man's. "Yes," he said, "I think I do."

"I think we'll find that Anson Metcalf started using white hair to train his eagle sometime since last spring."

"Why?" Red asked and added: "I see why, of course, but I mean, why since last spring?"

"Because Harrison Purcell, here, was at the Metcalf place last spring and made the statement that was coming back for his daughter Dana this fall."

"He looks like a nice guy," Red said.

"Yes," I said, "I think he was a nice guy trying to do a nice thing."

"What do we do?" Red asked. "The State police?"

"Yes, I think they might be interested now."

We left him lying there a tall man in a tan tab-collar shirt, tweed jacket and tan slacks, correctly dressed for a country weekend. Our lights dimmed and then flared brighter as Red started the jeep's engine. As the beams swung away, Harrison Purcell was still staring at the stars.

Just before we reached the paved road, Red stopped the jeep.

"Here are some," I pointed. "Those are old ones. I'd say two or three days, at least. See how they've dried out and cracked?"

He broke the shotgun and removed the shells.

"That fire track is like one I saw in the Metcalf lane," I said. "The same diamond tread. Do you think it could have been made Saturday night?"

"This is Tuesday."

"Wednesday," I corrected him.

"Well, yes, it's Wednesday now," Red said. "Those tracks aren't too old for that." He put the shotgun in the jeep and got in.

I got in beside him. "I think Anson Metcalf came here Saturday night and buried Purcell. It's possible he had to finish him—you saw that place on his temple. How he got Purcell's Cadillac into the Potomac river I don't know, unless he hid his own car and drove the Cadillac. It would be a long walk back."

"Fourteen miles, maybe less," Red said. "And he had all night to do it."

"I can't help wondering if it would have happened just this way if I hadn't been up in the tower to see it. And for Anson to see me."

"How else could it have happened?" Red asked.

"For example, why take the Cadillac up to the Potomac and dump it?"

"So no one would find the car parked here and start searching." . . . and discover Purcell lying, I suspect, unburied at the bottom of the cliff. Just an accident, falling off, or—if someone noticed the talon marks on his face—a victim of a wild eagle that knocked him off-balance. What's wrong with that?"

"Well, nothing, I suppose," Red said.

"I think that might have been the original idea—before I horned in. Of course, getting the Cadillac nice distance away from Purcell. If we hadn't found him tonight."

"Shall we take your car?" Red asked. "It's faster."

I got out of the jeep and looked at my watch. "Its quarter after five. How long until daylight?"

"The sun comes up a little after six now," Red climbed out and peered at the sky. "This kind of weather, daybreak should be around five-thirty."

"Do you suppose the eagle's somewhere near?"

"Wherever it is, it may move off any time after four breaks."

"That doesn't allow too much time to get there." I nodded toward Third Hill.

"I don't like going in on Metcalf without the States," Red said. "There's going to be trouble and if he gets hurt—well, we ought to have some law along."

"We can't get the State police over there in less than an hour. We're wasting time talking about it."

"He may have trouble calling the eagle in to him. If one of us could be there to scare it away, you go for the States."

"That's a good idea," I said. "Only you've got it backwards. Take the Jaguar and go for the police." I handed him the keys. "You'll call them from the crossroads."

"You'd better let me go over there," Red said.

"You don't know the place. I'll need your jeep to get in the lane. And the shells for that shotgun." I held out my hand.

He gave them to me. "Don't use that if you can help it," he said. "We'll get there as soon as possible."

"You'll know the lane," I said. "A mailbox and an old brick gate post."

Sea Gulls Facing Farmers' Guns

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Samuel T. Miller, U. S. game management agent, says he'll issue permits for the first time in years for farmers to shoot sea gulls if the birds are gobbling up poultry feed and earthworms—but only on condition the farmers agree to dispose of the dead gulls.

A large increase in the gull population has posed a serious problem for farmers in coastal areas.

Largest Factory in the World Devoted Exclusively to the Manufacture of Tobacco Curers.

20 Years Serving The Tobacco Farmer

The development of efficient, automatically-fired tobacco curers has taken place within the span of our 20 years service to tobacco farmers.

From the introduction of the Florence-Mayo Air-Conditioning Tobacco Curer in 1935 to the first month of 1955, tobacco curing equipment has undergone various refinements—but nothing new has been added.

In the years to come, new ideas in curing equipment will inevitably come about. New, better fuels requiring new, more efficient burning mechanisms, new conceptions of heat control and distribution, the possibility of new, more efficient barn construction... these and other advances are coming. And, as it pioneered the only new idea in tobacco curing—air-conditioning—Florence-Mayo after 20 years remains a pioneer in even better, more efficient curing methods and equipment. So watch Florence-Mayo, whose business is serving the best interests of the bright leaf tobacco farmer.

President Says Stassen Bearing Responsibility

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower said today he has reached no judgment personally in the Wolf Ladejinsky case and that Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen must take full responsibility for whatever is the eventual outcome of keeping Ladejinsky in government service.

The President discussed the controversial security case at his news conference and emphasized that he had only one side of the story when he once remarked to Secretary of Agriculture Benson that Ladejinsky's background was the sort that would scare him.

But Eisenhower said he upholds the decision by Stassen to hire Ladejinsky despite the Agriculture Department's ousting of the man on security and technical grounds.

Ladejinsky 55-year-old Russian-born naturalized American became agricultural attaché in Tokyo as a State Department employee.

Benson refused, on security and technical grounds, to accept Ladejinsky when a new law transferred jurisdiction over agricultural attachés to Benson's department.

Stassen's organization then hired Ladejinsky for a land reform job in Communist-threatened Viet Nam. Ladejinsky previously had been cleared twice under the State Department's security program.

In discussing the case, Eisenhower said Benson came to him and read him a summary. After hearing it, Eisenhower said he had some doubt as to whether Ladejinsky should be given security clearance. The President stressed, however, that he did not know what he called the other side of the story.

For example, he added, he didn't know Ladejinsky is the author of an anti-Communist book.

Name Delegates To Ruritan Convention

PACTOLUS RURITAN OFFICERS—New officers and directors of the Pactolus Ruritan Club discuss plans for the club for the coming year. Seated (left to right) are: D. R. House, Jr., President Roy W. Tripp, Jimmie Whitchard, Noel Lee, Jr. Standing: Lester Simmons, Sam Gowers, Burney Baker and Cecil Satterthwaite.

The Simpson-Grimesland Ruritan Club Thursday night elected A. H. Tucker and J. Clarence Galloway to represent the club as delegates to the Ruritan National Convention in Washington, D. C., Jan. 23, 24 and 25.

A. H. Tucker, the new president of the club, presided and gave a review of the club's accomplishments for 1954.

In 1954 the club sponsored a pig chain by giving pigs to two agriculture students, who in turn raised a litter of pigs and turned a gilt over to the club to be given other students, so the chain might continue.

The club helped sponsor the Pitt County Fat Stock show and sale; and helped install water works; and in grading and draining the grounds at the Simpson Community Building.

Four delegates were sent to the National Convention last year. The club also entertained Grimesland School bus drivers at a dinner and presented them with safety awards.

At the Thursday night meeting, letters of thanks were read from the Caswell Training School and N. C. State School for the Blind.

Name Speakers For Religious Emphasis

Five speakers, all outstanding for their work in religion and education, will participate in the observance of Religious Emphasis Week at East Carolina College, Dr. John B. Bennett, director of religious activities at the college, has announced.

The event, held annually on the campus, will begin Sunday, January 23, and will continue through Thursday, January 27. A program of assemblies, forums, conferences, and informal meetings is now being planned by a Committee of 100, made up of representatives of student religious organizations at the college.

Sara K. Giles of Linden is president of the Inter-religious Council at East Carolina, sponsor of Religious Emphasis Week, and heads the group now completing plans for the five-day program.

Speakers who will visit East Carolina for the event and will appear on programs are Dr. Robert L. Holt, vice president of Mars Hill College, a former director of religious activities at East Carolina; Dr. Gordon W. Lovejoy of Greensboro and Guilford colleges, education consultant for the National Council of Christians and Jews; Dr. Maxine Garner, director of religious activities at Meredith College, Raleigh; Maurice A. Kidder, minister of the Episcopalian Church of the Holy Family at Glen Lennox near Chapel Hill and extension instructor in Bible for the Correspondence Division of the University of North Carolina; and William H. Crane, Student Volunteer Movement representative and for several years a religious worker in the Belgian Congo for the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

ABC Raiders Destroy Still In Monday Raid

ABC officers destroyed a 50-gallon drum type distillery about three miles south of Bethel near Highway 11 Monday afternoon.

Officer J. M. Ward said the still was complete and used home-made oil burners. He said the still was not in operation when it was located and destroyed.

The officer noted that 100 gallons of mash were found at the still site. He said the mash barrels were buried in the ground and covered with straw and leaves.

Participating in the raid along with Ward was H. B. Lilly.

Tally Votes For New Merchant Board Tonight

Tallying committee which will count votes in the election of the new Merchants Association Board of Directors will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Association office in City Hall.

All votes for the 15 directors will then be tallied, and announcement of the members of the new Board made tomorrow.

Members of the tallying committee include I. J. Edwards Jr., chairman, R. F. Thompson, F. Badger Johnson, Jr., D. A. Whitchard, Jr., E. S. Webb and L. S. Garris.

The newly-elected directors will meet Friday to choose officers for the coming year.

Dr. Stoddard To Address Society

Dr. A. L. Stoddard of Bethel will speak at a meeting of the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Episcopal Church parish house.

Dr. Stoddard's subject for the regular dinner meeting will be "Peridontoclasia."

Dr. Dan Wright is in charge of the evening's program.

Dr. Pace Will Be Kiwanis Speaker

Dr. K. B. Pace of Greenville, honored by the American Medical Association at its recent Florida convention as the "Family Physician of the Year," will be guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club's supper meeting next Friday night at 6:30.

Dr. S. M. Crisp has charge of the program. President Charles V. Wilkerson will preside.

Secretary John O. Reynolds will give a report of the recent meeting of the Kiwanis officers and directors with President Wilkerson as host at supper.

Pre-Registration Dates For Spring Quarter Set

Students now attending East Carolina College will enroll next week for courses to be taken during the spring quarter. Registrar Orval L. Phillips has announced.

January 17 through January 22 has been designated as the customary pre-registration period observed each quarter at the college. In the course of the week men and women who are now students at the college will consult with their faculty advisors, select their courses, and prepare their spring schedules.

The present, or winter quarter, will end February 26 at noon. After a three-day period, during which instructors will have an opportunity to check examination papers and to file the grades of students in the Registrar's Office, final registration for both those now enrolled and those who will enter East Carolina in the spring will be held Tuesday, March 1.

Classwork in courses offered during the spring will begin March 2.

The annual spring holidays for East Carolina students will be observed from April 9 through April 12. Commencement exercises in honor of graduates of the 1954-1955 term, final event of the spring quarter, are scheduled for May 22-23.

Find Frenchmen Big Milk-Users

CORVALLIS, Ore. (U)—With all this recent talk that Frenchmen should drink more milk and less coffee, you may be surprised at the figures reported by Oregon State College dairy experts.

They said yesterday the Frenchmen already consume more milk and milk products than Americans.

The per capita consumption was 703 pounds in France in 1953, compared with 682 pounds in the United States, the college reported.

In fact, 11 other countries led the United States in per capita use of milk, Ireland and New Zealand headed the list with 1,382 and 1,349 pounds respectively.

Bill To Continue Vets Benefits

WASHINGTON (U)—Sens. Hill (Ala.) and Neuberger (Ore.) introduced a bill yesterday to continue educational benefits for servicemen.

The measure would extend beyond Jan. 31 the period during which armed forces personnel in service can continue accruing eligibility for educational benefits. Without legislation, eligibility for educational benefits under the Knowland bill would end this month.

Sen. Hill joined with Sen. Sparkman (Ala.) in introducing a bill to continue the GI loan program until July 25, 1956.

Although the term "infantry" seems to come from a Latin word meaning "infant," no one is sure how it came to mean "soldier."

Rotary Discusses 'Four-Way Test'

The Rotary Four-Way Test was discussed at the meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club Monday night with Alton Johnston in charge of the program.

Johnston explained in detail the Four-Way test and its meaning for Rotarians and others. The test provides four questions by which an individual can govern his actions.

The Four-Way Test is composed of the following questions:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build good will and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Following the program presented by Johnston, the club voted to provide plaques containing the four-way test for each classroom at Greenville High School.

Have $9 Million Plan For Water

HIGH POINT, N.C. (U)—Seven cities in industrialized Piedmont North Carolina—an area where water was rationed in last summer's drought—today had a nine million dollar plan to increase the water supply.

The plan—to pipe water over a 28-mile line from huge High Rock Lake in Rowan and Davidson counties—was proposed by George L. Hundley, former state senator from Davidson County, at a meeting here yesterday.

Attending were the mayors or city managers of Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Burlington, Kernersville, Thomasville, Lexington and High Point.

Sees Favor For Higher Minimum

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Ives (R-NY) said today he is "sure" the Senate would favor boosting the minimum wage to $1 an hour "if it comes to a vote."

Ives said in an interview: "I would say that a $1 minimum has a real chance in this Congress, although there is likely to be some heavy opposition from some Southern states."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) prospective chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, which will take up President Eisenhower's recommendation to raise the 75-cent pay floor to 90 cents, said in a separate interview he would not "rule out" congressional approval of a $1 minimum.

The surface of Lakes Huron and Michigan is 21 to 25 feet lower than that of Lake Superior.

Indict Woman In Death Of Child

NEW BERN, N.C. (U)—Mrs. Nellie T. Johnson, wife of a Cherry Point Marine sergeant and mother of four children, was indicted by the Craven County Grand Jury yesterday for manslaughter in the death of a 5-year-old foster son.

The boy, Alfred Mouton, died Dec. 27 of second degree burns on his back.

Authorities said the child told a doctor his "Aunt Nell" made him sit in scalding water as a punishment for bed wetting. The woman was quoted as saying the boy accidentally turned on the hot water while in the bath tub.

The case was set for trial at the Feb. 14 criminal term of Craven County Superior Court. Bond was set at $1,500.

The child was admitted to the hospital some three hours after Mrs. Johnson said the scalding occurred on Dec. 20. Alfred received Christmas gifts from strangers and a visit from Santa Claus after his plight was told in newspapers.

Nineteen Auto Accidents For City In December

There were 19 traffic accidents totaling $7,445 damage within the Greenville city limits during December, according to the monthly report of the local police department.

The report also indicates that 11 arrests were made in connection with the 19 accidents. Two people were injured, and there were no fatalities.

Thirteen of the accidents occurred at intersections, and six elsewhere. Involved in accidents were six persons between the ages of 16-22, nine between 20-30, and 19 over 30 years of age. Eight females and 29 males were involved in the accidents for the month.
