Conley Speaks At Griffon PTA On How Schools Are Financed

GRIFTON—The January meeting of the Griffon P.T.A. was held on Tuesday night at 7:30 in the school assembly room with the president, Jack Calvert, presiding. Mrs. James Hudson, program chairman, led in the allegiance to the flag and the singing of "America the Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

She then introduced Superintendent of Pitt County Schools D. H. Conley of Greenville who gave an informative talk on "How Our Schools Are Financed." Since there has been a large increase in the local population and county due to the DuPont plant being located nearby, this talk was given with the idea of informing newcomers as to how school revenues are derived and how expenditures are made. Mr. Conley told the group that much change had been made in the way funds for education were obtained. Prior to 1931 the source of revenue for education was had from land tax. This was followed by a more dependable source as the state taxes, which come from income tax, sales tax, franchise, beverage, insurance and others.

The State rate is 89 cents and the county fills in the remaining tax which takes care of water, lights, Monday in the home of Mrs. R. L. Whitley.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" after which Mrs. W. R. Bullock gave a timely prayer.

Mrs. Whitley gave the devotion and used as her scripture Exodus 18:13-27 and had a few remarks on "Delegating Responsibility."

The spiritual life leader, Mrs. Carey Brown, then gave a most interesting and enjoyable discussion on "Doing Our Work Well."

Mrs. Whitley presided at the business meeting and Miss Athaleen Rollins, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll with ten members and one visitor present. Several reports from the department leaders were heard.

During the social hour, pecan pie, nuts and hot chocolate were enjoyed by the group.

heat and transportation for Negroes. Mr. Conley stated the need for 2100 additional teachers in the state to meet the needs of the increasing population and that there was before the general assembly a request for educational needs 138 million a year for the 1955-57 period. There is a shortage of teachers which is the opinion that the low salary is responsible for.

Mr. Conley went on to say that the important issue in our schools is "What is happening to our children?"—their instruction, unity in school and community. The principals' meetings, county supervisors are doing all they can to meet the needs and carry on a good program for what he noted that there is a need for additional building programs due to the heavy rural and Negro population.

Mr. Conley answered a number of questions from the group on the prospects of additional funds for building, the increase in enrollments in the county, and how our money is obtained and distributed.

At the business hour the treasurer reported a balance on hand of $780.96. She also reported that $64.85 was realized from the Book Fair which was held in the school library in December as a part of the Library and Reading Service of the P.T.A.

Principal Ed Bright reported that a slide and merry go round were of a machine for the home economics rooms could be had for $108 and that with the cooperation of Mr. Bradley and the vocational boys' shelving for the new rooms were being installed as a part of the teacher representative program of the P.T.A.

Mrs. Don Casey, home economics teacher, called attention to the adult classes being planned for the school here on Jan. 31, Feb. 7, 14, 21, 28 and March 8. These will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. and able instructors have been lined up. She is anxious that all parents enroll in all or some of these classes.

Mrs. R. G. Forney called the group's attention to the fact that now is the time for all to do something to help get more funds for education. She distributed letters asking that the group get signatures to these and mail to representatives in Raleigh, making known the needs and desires.

Mrs. Clifton Baldwin spoke in behalf of the March of Dimes, giving the date of the Mother's March at January 26 from 6 to 7 p. m. Mrs. Luke Mahler is heading this part of the local drive.

Decide To Show Chaplin Movies Despite Protest

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Muhlenberg College has decided to go ahead with its planned showing of four Charlie Chaplin films, but only to students and faculty.

A week ago, Dr. J. Conrad Seegers, Muhlenberg president, said the presentation—originally scheduled for the public as part of the college English department's Great Film Series—would be canceled because of a protest by an American Legion post.

Allentown's Lentz post adopted a resolution in December protesting the showing of the old films because of Chaplin's "anti-American record of recent years."

Dr. Seegers announced yesterday in Washington, where he is attending the annual convention of the Association of American Colleges, that the films would be shown on campus "as part of our own educational program."

CAA's Long-Awaited Approval On Record

Another big hurdle which has stood in the way of the much needed new bridge and bypass at Greenville has been cleared with CAA's approval of the highway route. That leaves approval of the project by the Bureau of Public Roads as the last major item to be obtained before the project is assured.

CAA's approval of the project has been greeted with much enthusiasm locally, and well it should be, for it was the absence of approval by the CAA which knocked former plans for the highway project into a cocked hat a few weeks ago. With the Air Force—and its Serv-Air representatives—satisfied with the new route for the highway, the Civil Aeronautics Administration has given its long awaited approval to the project.

From now on, it is to be hoped that the

The Stock Market Shows Healthy Signs

Confidence in the continued good health of American business was soundly illustrated during the past week on the New York Stock Exchange.

Steps taken to restrain an amazing rise met an equally strong confidence among investors, and the result has been a most reassuring test for the onlooking public. There were no signs of weakness in the structure of American basic industries and business.

This is encouraging because men directly involved in fluctuations of the stock market are hard-headed businessmen relying on past experience and all known means of analysis and statistical interpretation. If they know the economic health of the nation is sound, then we in turn may well exult.

It has been said many times that conditions which led to the "crash" of depression years no longer exist or can exist. With that in mind we can take a deep breath and re-appraise with optimism the increasing vigor of business and the promise it holds for the future.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
A RIGHT BEGINNING

Do you ever help the youngsters in the evenings with their mathematical problems? If you do, you know that there is one unfulfilling rule you have to observe—you can never make a mathematical problem come out right if you don't start at the right place.

So many lives are jammed up, damaged, and frequently ruined because the individuals in question don't start their living at the right place. They get the idea that the most valuable thing in life is money, and that the way one gets his money is of slight consequence compared with the getting of it. They push for pre-eminence and power over other people. The wine road and cocktail highway are alluring to many others.

Probably more people spoil their lives by selfishness than by any other one thing. Every project starts with the question: "What am I going to get out of this? Will this bring me pleasure or will it involve me in a necessity for sacrifice?"

Our Lord counseled his disciples to seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, declaring that all things else would be added. The kingdom of God means the rule of God in the worshiper's heart—the rule of unselfish love, of righteous living, and of faith. Start at the right place if you want to come out at the right place.

Firmly Back Security System

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The current proposal that a super-commission of eminent nonpartisans investigate and reorganize the Federal Security System has been rejected secretly by President Eisenhower and his principal political advisers on several occasions. They have turned it down because of their belief that it was a Communist attempt to destroy any safeguard against fellow-travelers of the Alger Hiss and Harry White variety.

The President is known to have strong feelings on this subject, along with Attorney-General Herbert Brownell Jr., Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and Sherman Adams, White House Chief of Staff.

Although the System's operation may cause individual hardship and sometimes injustice, they believe that any doubt remaining after painstaking and conscientious scrutiny of a suspect should be resolved in favor of the government and the people of the United States.

LADEJINSKY DECISIONS—Nor does Ike see any inconsistency between Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's and Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen's conflicting judgments on Wolfe Ladejinsky, Asian land expert. As both note, two men may draw different conclusions from the same set of facts.

Even the Supreme Court frequently divides five-to-four on far more important issues. In fact, Justice Felix Frankfurter has reversed himself without blinking a judicial eye. No system can erase human imperfections.

COMMITTEES' RECOMMENDATIONS—When the idea of revision of the FSS was first advanced several years ago by allegedly pinkish professors under Congressional investigation, it was regarded as an attack on Senator "Joe" McCarthy and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Eisenhower had not then broken with the Wisconsin Senator.

It turned the problem over to a committee consisting of Milton Eisenhower, Nelson Rockefeller, and Arthur S. Fleming, head of Defense Mobilization. They recommended retention of the present system, but amendments giving more defense and appeal rights project will experience a minimum of delay before contracts for its construction can be let. It is too late now to get the project into the January 25 letting as was scheduled. With a portion of the right of way changed, it is difficult to estimate just how long it will take the Highway and Public Works Commission to finish the necessary detail work which is prerequisite to letting the contract. The Reflector feels, however, that the people of this area can be assured of continued efforts of the Highway Commission to expedite this project which is so urgently needed.

Highway officials said two weeks ago that the changes in the route of the bypass might cause a delay of 90 days in the letting. It is the hope of The Reflector that the necessary work can be completed and approval of the project received from the Bureau of Public Roads in time to include this bridge and bypass in a February letting.

It must be realized of course that new snags may crop up which could again delay the project. Local officials who have worked so diligently in cooperation with highway officials to obtain the new bypass and bridge can ill afford to relax in their efforts before the project is finally assured.

Revival Of Inspection Law Appears Unlikely

In spite of North Carolina's need for a motor vehicle inspection law, it appears to us the required legislation will not be forthcoming in the 1955 General Assembly.

Throughout the state there seems to be an overwhelming bad taste for compulsory vehicle inspections left by the last law which was repealed by the General Assembly after a two-year tenure.

Mechanical failures are the cause of a great many highway accidents each year. While these mechanical failures do not cause nearly the number of accidents that carelessness and human failures do, some method is needed to eliminate them in the overall highway safety program.

If the General Assembly rejects the proposal for another motor vehicle inspection law, perhaps the voluntary inspection program which was launched last year can be continued with more emphasis than it has had in recent months.

MEDFORD, MASS. MERCURY: "Add two more R's to the traditional three of reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic to round out today's education. To their credit and glory, 16- and 17-year-olds on the New England Youth Forum named the two R's 'responsibility and religion. The true goal of education, according to these amazing youngsters, is to make people Americans and make them aware of their land and its opportunities. And yet there are people who despair of this generation!"

PETALUMA, CALIF. ARGUS-COURIER: "We have not gained very much, if the federal taxes taken down white state and local tax go up."

ESCONDIDO, CALIF. WEEKLY TIMES-ADVOCATE: "The free market, governed as it is by the natural law of supply and demand, is the only kind of market that brings maximum benefits to all concerned. It is a lot better to rely on that market than it is on the mouthings of politicians who, when they're out of the bell about big game and when they're in set up costly bureaucracies to control prices."

to the accused were adopted. CRITICS NOT SATISFIED—The revision, however, did not placate or satisfy the critics, and the attack was renewed during the 1954 year campaign. Friends of Owen Lattimore, including many former New Deal officials, headed the movement. Stevenson denounced the procedure, too. Finally, after a high-level conference, Eisenhower himself killed the idea. He acted on the advice of Brownell, Summerfield and Adams. They argued that the sponsors of an overhaul were anti-administration trouble-makers. They also pointed out that endorsement of the plan for an investigation and revision would amount to indictment of the Eisenhower-Brownell methods.

As a periodical announcement of the number of "risk" discharges and resignations by the Civil Service Commission reveals, Ike is extremely proud of his achievements in this field. Getting rid of infiltrators was a major 1952 pledge, and McCarthy prodding has made it a political necessity.

FORD FOUNDATION'S EXAMINATION—The renewed attack results from Administrative handling of the Ladejinsky, Oppenheimer, Service and Davies cases. It has been shifted from Senator McCarthy and J. Edgar Hoover to Ike himself. Democrats will make it an issue on Capitol Hill, for all the articulate accused, from Lattimore to Ladejinsky, were appointed or promoted by Roosevelt and Truman.

The Ford Foundation's Fund for the Republic has allocated $100,000 for an examination of the Federal Security System, and it will be conducted by the New York Bar Association. Oddly, the Fund for the Republic was recently headed by Senator Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, a bitter McCarthy foe. But the Ford interests, both philanthropic and industrial, are extremely pro-Ike.

The latest batch of critics apparently fear that a Ford-sponsored inquiry might be too favorable to the President. It may be significant that they include a well-known newspaper columnist who was a close friend and biographer of Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is expected that Ike will stand pat, and await the results of the Ford study.

Speaking 'Of Good Speakers

Yesterday Highway Patrolman Jim Boykin and I were sitting in Biggs Drug Store sipping coffee when we got on the subject of speakers. Jim brought Major Speed of the Patrol to the local Jaycees and he made the biggest impression of any Jaycee program during the year. Our discussion of Major Speed led us to Robert L. Pugh, Superintendent of the Craven County Schools and Grand Master of the North Carolina Masons. Pugh is widely known as an excellent speaker. While we were talking about Pugh, Ed (new and used cars) Harris dug up a chair. Ed chimed right in the discussion about Pugh. "Do you know him?" we asked. "Yes," Ed said, "but I doubt he would remember me. That is, unless I bent over. He might recognize me then." When Ed and I finished laughing we got the story from Ed. In Dover (between Kingston and New Bern) Pugh was Ed's school principal. "And in those days," he added, "it was standard procedure for the principal to take up the road against any student who defied him." And Ed did exactly that. It was a matter of swimming when the principal said not to swim. "There were five of us," Ed recalls, "and he lined us up and really let us have it." But then Ed had to give Mr. Pugh credit. "When I came to school at East Carolina, he did write a nice letter stating that I had completed high school. The records had been burned and we had to have the letter. Maybe he

Investment Clubs

By ELMER ROESSNER
Ownership of America's corporations is quietly spreading through an institution known as investment clubs.
The idea of investment clubs, originated 15 years ago in Detroit, has been passed along largely by word of mouth. Their national association, formed four years ago, hasn't even a press agent.
An investment club is a group of people, usually 10 to 15 friends, who get together once a month. At the meeting, each member turns in his monthly investment, usually about $10. There is usually a discussion, followed by a vote on which shares to buy.
Clubs that are members of the National Association of Investment Clubs follow certain principles. They must make an investment every month; they must re-invest all dividends; that they invest only in growth companies.
In making monthly investments, they average out their costs. In re-investing dividends, they compound their profits. And in investing in growth companies, they gain an opportunity for appreciation of their investment. Members cannot be transferred but a member may resign at any time, at which time he gets back his total investment plus accruals. Margin or speculative investments are forbidden.
The 10 members of the first club deposited $18,434 over the first 14 years, withdrew $16,582 and own securities worth $56,000.
There are other advantages besides profits. Members are constantly learning about business and the American economy. Some of the larger clubs invite analysts and other authorities to address them. And the whole process broadens the base of stock ownership, generally considered highly desirable.
The National Association of Investment Clubs consists of a voluntary group of officers, under the chairmanship of Thomas E. O'Hara, member of the Detroit Board of Education. The N.A.I.C., which has offices in the National Bank Building, Detroit 26, issues a monthly newsletter to member clubs, which sometimes names stocks especially selected by the national committee of security analysts. It also published a booklet telling how to organize a club, it charges $3 for the booklet, but credits that amount against dues to the association.

ECONOMIST TRIES TO CLARIFY PRODUCTIVITY
"Productivity" is a term that has confounded economists, labor leaders, personnel directors and everybody else. It's not that it can't be defined. Trouble is there are too many definitions.
Now Lewis A. Mervick, professor of economics at the University of Southern Illinois has attempted to clarify matters with a 30-page analysis and bibliography entitled, "Productivity—A Critique of Current Usage." Copies are available from the author at Carbondale, Ill., at 50 cents.
ASKS EDUCATIONAL DRIVE FOR PIERCE GOODS
The flood of new fibers and new blends is making it increasingly difficult for merchants to keep salespersons and customers informed about the performance of fabrics, the National Retail Dry Goods Association says in a statement by William M. Yorio, of its piece-goods committee.
Mills and converters, he said, should recognize the problem and do something about it. "They can pre-press and condition home sewers by budgeting part of their advertising dollars where it would be most beneficial to the fabric departments," he added.
Makers of ready-to-wear items give full information, he noted.

Man Of Action Now Young Roue

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—A young man I know has gone through quite a change recently.
He used to be strictly a man of action, tough, virile, fearless beyond measure, a bold hunter of adventure. Now he appears to be the gay boulevardier, the dapper sophisticate who has been everything and done everything. A few more years at his present pace and they'll be calling him a worn-out old roue.
But at 13 Bob has a little time left.
The change came suddenly. Just a few weeks ago his life was devoted entirely to football and baseball, to the settlement of disputes on a field or street or back lot of honor, to roaming the world on a bike, to the exclusive company of men who were men.
Just before the change came, he and his cronies built a club house of lumber "borrowed" from nearby construction projects. It had a two-foot "picture window," a grand entrance through which you crawled and an "attic" big enough for one member to lie down in, without breathing.
When the members fell into disagreement each would have leave with his part of the clubhouse. Thus, on some days the headquarters was bereft of a roof or a door or a whole side wall. But one thing was never removed—the sign on the front which said, "Private—No Girls."
Suddenly one day Bob told his mother he and his associates would like to throw a party in the basement recreation room of Bob's home. It would be all their own doing and adults were not to interfere. Besides, there would be GIRLS. Mother agreed.
One other stipulation: Bob's younger brother was not to show his face anywhere. Agreed.
The six joint hosts worked on the party for a week. Each day another member arrived with an item—soda, pretzels, crackers, records. They decorated the room in blue and white crepe paper. The basic motif was not quite clear. On one wall was a large sign saying, "Go-Go-Go." On another, a larger sign: "No Smoking."

Bob's mother bought a couple dozen doughnuts, just in case.
The men arrived first—four in charcoal black suits and—pink shirts and two in tweeds. The girls properly followed the new, long, flat look. As the girls went down to the basement, one boy was heard to whisper, "Look at that low-cut dress!" Her dress opened all the way down to her collar bone.
At one point in the party, a freckled, red-haired young man came up to the kitchen. He noticed the doughnuts and asked if he might take a few. He could, and took more than a dozen.
"Do you happen to have any peanut butter and jelly?" he asked. Bob's mother.
"Why yes, why?"
"We thought we'd make a few hors d'oeuvres."
Halfway through the evening, the six males trooped upstairs to examine Bob's new microscope set. In some circles the fact that they left the women alone in the basement might be considered unchivalrous, but in this set it was all matter of fact. No questions asked, no female recriminations.
Later, the red-haired young man came up again.
"Happen to have any candles around?" he asked.
"Yes, why?"
"Oh, we thought we'd dance a little with your candles."
At the end of the evening, the girls all thanked the host's mother quite properly. The red-haired boy said he had a wonderful time.
"And what I liked best was that you didn't interfere."
When they were all gone, Bob's father, who had been restless all evening, asked his son what they had done at the party.
"Oh, talked."
"What else?"
"Danced."
"That all?"
"Oh, we played a few kissing games. You know pop it's kinda fun."
And with that Bob picked up a baseball glove which happened to be under a chair and threw it in the closet, and went up to bed whistling a tune of his own making.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

NO REHABILITATION—ONLY PUNISHMENT (Washington Daily News)
A man is caught rifling the money till on a soft drink box. For his crime he serves eight months on the roads and is released.
If that man upon his release should come back to his home community and attempt to go straight, the former crime would be held against him so much. There would be a general feeling that he had learned his lesson, reformed, and that the rehabilitation program in our prison system had served him well.
But if that same man comes back home and immediately does the very same act again, there is not only no sympathy for him, but there is downright condemnation.
And that is exactly what has happened in Beaufort county. A man was given eight months for robbing a store. He was released. Upon his release, he did the very same thing again.
We cannot condemn the rehabilitation program of our prison system for what this man has done. After all there are some prisoners who cannot be rehabilitated and they never will be fit to live in decent society.

When we find one of these characters, we can point out immediately that his trip to prison or to the roads is for punishment only—not rehabilitation.
What to do with this type of offender poses a serious problem. Officers of the law recognize immediately upon the release of such a prisoner that trouble is in the making. They realize that the particular type of crime to which the man is addicted will be committed soon. About all they can do is wait and watch.
This very defendant who is now awaiting trial will probably be given a term on the roads. He'll serve his term, but when he is released there is no reason now to suspect that he'll be reformed. In fact there is every reason to believe that upon his release he'll rob another money box or commit some crime along that line. We can expect just that. The officers know it, and they'll be on the watchout when he returns.

When we talk of this matter of rehabilitation, we must realize that many of our crimes in our own community are committed, not by first offenders, but by fellows who have criminal records.
If somehow we could take 100 names of the criminal records of Beaufort county, it is our opinion that at least 75 percent of our court cases on criminal charges would involve these 100 names.
We are not rehabilitating them. We are punishing them and the only way we know—by sending them to the roads. We merely remove them from circulation for a while. But we know they will return. And we have that feeling always that when they return, the same crime will be committed again.
There seems to be no real answer now. Petty crimes are plaguing officers everywhere. Our community is no exception.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
APPOINTMENT—William T. McShane of Henderson county was sworn in as a member of the House of Representatives by Speaker Larry Moore at the Monday night session. He became the first person ever to serve in the General Assembly by appointment since the adoption of the first constitution more than a century and a half ago.
He was appointed by Governor Hodges when Wilshire Griffith, the elected Republican representative from Henderson county resigned last week. The appointment was made upon nomination of the Republican executive committee of Henderson county, pursuant to the constitutional amendment ratified two years ago.
Governor Hodges had no alternative on the matter, but he indicated to newsmen some slight embarrassment because the first appointee to the General Assembly should be a Republican. Rep. Ralph Fisher of Transylvania, the Republican leader, experienced no embarrassment, at all in presenting the new representative to take the oath. In fact, he smiled all the way to the back of his neck.
HIGHWAY BONDS—There is considerable doubt among members of the legislature that the Highway Commission will put real pressure behind the request for an election on $150 million bonds for primary highway construction. There is great doubt that the General Assembly will authorize an election for that amount, or that the people would vote for the bonds.

It is known that several of the fourteen division commissioners think the request is excessive, despite the all-out support for the full amount by Chairman Sandy Graham.
The proposal is based on recommendations contained in the survey report by Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Hall & McDonald, the New York engineering firm which was paid $110,000 to make the survey of primary highway needs.
ALTERNATIVES—Opinion prevails among some of the highway commissioners and members of the Legislature that other recommendations of the engineering firm should be exhausted before bonds are authorized. These alternatives include adjustment in the Diesel fuel tax, allocation to the highway fund instead of the General fund of the gasoline inspection fees, upward adjustment of license plate charges from the present $10-12-15 scale to a probable $12-16-20, and elimination of some other minor diversions from highway receipts to the general fund.
They include, also, removal of the preferential status of farm truck license plates. It is argued that the $200 million secondary road bonds voted in 1949 benefited rural people more than anybody else, and that maintenance of the 12,000 miles of secondary roads built under the program would impose a heavier ratio on the overall maintenance budget, and there is no longer any justifiable basis for the halfprice farm truck tag.

LESS BONDS—If these adjustments are made the construction program suggested by the engineering report can be carried out in the ten years contemplated with a "deficit" of less than $25 million. To effectuate the proposed plan of doing most of the work during the first six years, might necessitate the borrowing of some $50 million which would be repaid during the last four years of the decade.
So there comes the counter proposal for $50 million bonds with limiting restrictions on the issuance and sale to meet construction commitment needs as they arise. In that connection it should be noted that the 1949 $200 million bonds were sold at different times in blocks of $50 or $75 million. Between time of sale and commitment of the proceeds for contracts and the actual checking out of the money, the bond proceeds were invested by the State treasurer and interest received on these investments went into the general fund. That constituted another instance of "diversion" of hip.
BOOKKEEPING—This illustrates the quirks which accountants and bookkeepers use in the handling of accounts. The people would bonds for highways, for school buildings and for hospitals. The bonds were sold and proceeds invested pending actual need for the money to pay off contractors. But the interest yield received was not dedicated to the specific purposes of the bond issues. It went into the general fund for distribution by the budget bureau to meet any demands of State government.

Young Pitt Polio Patient Gradually Recovering From Attack In October

By EDWINA HAYMES
Reflector Staff Writer

Last October 14 a young Pitt County boy, seven years old that day, received a letter from President Eisenhower, in which the president sent his "very best wishes."

The president also expressed the desire that "soon you will be so much improved in health that you can return to your home. In the meantime, keep cheerful, and do not become discouraged."

It is needless to say that young Robert John Baldwin of Grifton, a polio patient in the Central Carolina Convalescent Hospital in Greensboro, was thrilled to receive such a message from the President of the United States, whose birthday also falls on October 14.

Robert John, as he is called by his family, had at that time been in the Greensboro hospital for a little more than a month. There he had been receiving treatment for that dread disease, of children in particular, infantile paralysis.

Stricken In August

It was on Sunday, last August 8, that polio struck in the Baldwin family. It was the first experience of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Baldwin and their four children with the disease.

When Robert John's case had been definitely diagnosed as polio, after a two-day stay in Pitt Memorial Hospital, he was then transferred to Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill for treatment.

During the month he was there, his parents spent every week end with him, a sister of Mrs. Baldwin's being at home to take care of Robert John's three sisters, Barbara Mae, 11; Gloria Jean, 9; and Mary Catherine, 2½.

For further treatment and rehabilitation Robert John was taken to Greensboro, where he remained until December 23, when his parents joyfully learned they could bring their son home, not only for Christmas, but for good.

MI No Case

The Baldwins consider it fortunate that, though to be stricken with polio, it had enough within itself, yet Robert John's case was termed a mild one, and he will be able to walk again without the use of brace or crutch.

The youngster was "generally" affected; that is, no one particular area of his body was affected more than any other, and though he underwent a variety of treatments such as hot packs, Hubbard tub baths, walking pools and polio bars, he was never in an iron lung.

Finally he graduated to crutches, first taking experimental excursions once a day, and later twice a day. He still walks with the aid of the crutches at all times now, and it has not yet been determined when he may discard them. He will have a check-up by a doctor and a physical therapist at the local department clinic later this month. He is now taking at home a series of muscle strengthening exercises, as prescribed by the Greensboro hospital.

Throughout the entire ordeal,

ROBERT JOHN BALDWIN

Robert John has followed the advice of the president. His mother says he has been "cheerful and uncomplaining all the way through." This she attributes not only to the youth's own pluck, but also to the hospital, which she declares "does a wonderful job of taking care of all the youngsters."

'Extra' Care At Hospital

She was referring not only to the polio treatment the young patients receive, but also to the many "extras" provided by the hospital. Among these is schooling for the older children.

In the first grade last year, Robert John, along with other young polio patients, was tutored at the hospital, and now he is keeping right up with his second grade class at the Clifton school. His lessons are sent home to him each night by the principal, E.B. Bright.

In addition to the academic lessons given at the hospital, the Greensboro churches cooperate in bringing Sunday School to the children. Groups from the churches visit each of the four wards for approximately a half-hour every Sunday evening, bringing the boy Mrs. Baldwin declares he received such good care that "he has gained five pounds while he has been sick."

Because the scourge of infantile paralysis has been brought right home to the Baldwins, they are now pledged to do more than ever to help in the fight to blot out polio. Mrs. Baldwin has volunteered to serve as chairman of the current March of Dimes drive for the Grifton community, and her already-busy days are now filled with efforts to make this the most successful campaign yet.

"We can't afford," she declares, "to let these children down. I know as well as anyone, because it happened to my own. I know how much it means to have an organization like the polio Foundation ready to help when the need arises. This is why I am going to work harder this year than ever before to raise funds for the organization."

"The carrying on of its work must be insured, not only to provide treatment for polio victims, but also to maintain continuous research until a cure for the disease is found. For the sake of all polio patients, past, present or potential, I hope this will be the most successful March of Dimes campaign ever conducted in Pitt County."

Crime Comic Ban Drive Begun By Woman's Club

The resolution in which the Greenville Ministerial Association this week called on the state Legislature to ban the sale of crime comics within North Carolina is one phase of the results of a concentrated effort by the local Woman's Club to have these comics abolished.

Ministerial Association secretary, the Rev. H.E. Johnson, said the association acted on a request by the Woman's Club to support "two major issues to come before the state Legislature in January. These issues are the abolition of crime comics and an increase in the number of mental hygiene centers for the state."

In addition to the resolution which resolves "that all crime comics (those portraying mayhem, acts of assault or murder, sex or use of narcotics) be banned from all stores, magazine racks and any other places they might appear for sale in the state of North Carolina," the association has, in a letter to Budget Review Committee member John D. Larkins, endorsed a proposed mental hygiene clinic to be located here.

Association president, the Rev. J.A. Nelson, said the ministers took a unanimous stand against crime comics at their last meeting.

"There is a growing feeling," he said, "that even though they may not be a direct cause of juvenile delinquency, these books do have a harmful influence on young people, especially those who have no guidance in the home. There is a marked difference between good, entertaining comic books and those which emphasize

Two Longhorns Are Kept In Zoo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego zoo counts two Texas longhorn steers, named Villa and Lobos, among its new attractions.

They were brought here from the federal government's Wichita Mountain refuge near Gache, Okla. Zoo officials said the 220 there represent about the last of the sturdy breed, developed from cattle brought to the new world in the 16th century by the Spaniard Villa Lobos. The zoo said it is the only one in the west exhibiting longhorns.

FLUID FOCUS—Nobody is dry behind the ears as Bruce Mozart instructs a class in the details of underwater photography beneath the surface at Silver Springs, Fla.

Attorney General's Office Sees No Reason For Statute

The attorney general's office has informed local officials that it "sees no particular advantage in retaining your local statute" requiring a ceiling on the recreation budget "except to place a limit upon the amount that may be appropriated for this purpose."

It was added however, that "is simply a conclusion arrived at by this office and perhaps by many other lawyers in the State, but I do not find a decision of the Supreme Court to that effect."

That opinion was in answer to a letter from City Attorney Raleigh Lee who asked if the $30,000 ceiling could be dropped legally by the city.

Specifically Lee asked in his letter to the attorney general: "May a municipality appropriate and use non-tax revenues of the city, if available, for recreation, (No election on this question has been held in Greenville)" and "If so, is there any need for the local act (except as a ceiling) since G. S. 160-187 gives this authority?"

Members of the Recreation Commission had appeared before the city council at its meeting last week and asked that the state legislature be requested to remove the $30,000 limitation from the budget. They pointed out that Greenville is the only city in the state which has a ceiling on its recreation budget at present.

Attorney General Contacted
The council authorized City Attorney Lee to contact the attorney general's office concerning the legality of the move.

If the council decides that the ceiling should be lifted, they must ask one of Pitt County's representatives in the legislature to introduce a bill in the general assembly to remove the ceiling.

As an alternative the city could also request that the ceiling be raised from its present level of $30,000. This has been done in the past. Originally it was set at $5,000 under the first act passed by the legislature. On several occasions since the city has asked and received permission from the General Assembly to raise the ceiling until it reached its present level.

The Recreation Commission is asking that the ceiling be removed completely rather than being raised. They told the council at their monthly meeting that the question will eventually arise again if the ceiling is not removed.

However, they said, if the ceiling is raised, it should be set as high as that now spent for recreation purposes by the nearby towns of Kinston and Rocky Mount. Kinston now spends $97,000 a year for recreation and Rocky Mount's recreation budget runs in excess of $100,000.

Not Necessary Expense
The Supreme Court has ruled that recreation is not a necessary government expense and therefore tax money cannot be spent for recreation without a vote of the people.

However, the Supreme Court did not say recreation is not a government function and the attorney general's office has expressed the view in the past that a recreation program set up under provisions of the general statutes can be financed legally with non-tax funds, such as come from the annual tax-over from the Utilities Commission in Greenville's case.

The letter from the attorney general's office signed by Claude L. Love, assistant attorney general, said: "Attempting to answer your questions directly, I see no particular advantage in retaining your local statute except to place a limit upon the amount that may be appropriated for this purpose; yet, the state-wide statute does not directly provide that non-tax revenues may be spent for recreation purposes. That is simply a conclusion arrived at by this office and perhaps by many other lawyers in the State, but I do not find a decision of the Supreme Court to that effect."

"I have not had an opportunity to discuss this matter with members of your delegation in the General Assembly," the letter continued.

As soon as I have an opportunity, I shall discuss the matter with Sam Worthington. There may be good reasons for retaining the local statute which do not occur to me at the moment. Since the Legislature will be in session for several weeks yet, I suggest that no legislation repealing your local statutes be prepared until both you and I have an opportunity to discuss the matter with members of your local delegation."

Plans are to call a special session of the city council sometime this month at which the matter of the budget ceiling will be further discussed.

Joan Crawford Claims She Just 'Must Work'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was cold, bitterly cold. There was Joan Crawford, standing in the frigid night air in a flimsy evening gown with bare shoulders.

On one of the coldest nights of the year, the movie queen was filming outdoor scenes for her latest picture, "Female on the Beach." It was a tense scene with Jeff Chandler, who grabbed her, got slapped, then crushed her in his arms.

It was getting toward midnight when a dinner break was called, and the set workers rushed for the shelter of the dining tent. To gether with a half dozen of her friends, I followed Joan to her trailer dressing room.

Joan lifted her arms and showed what the violent lovemaking had done to her. She was covered with black and blue bruises. She had also torn half the nail off one of her fingers, and she was shivering from the cold.

"Why do you work so hard?" I asked.

"Why?" she replied as she wiped her makeup off with oil. "Because there is nothing in the world I would rather do. Call this work? Making pictures is the greatest pleasure in the world to me. I'd die if I didn't have them to do."

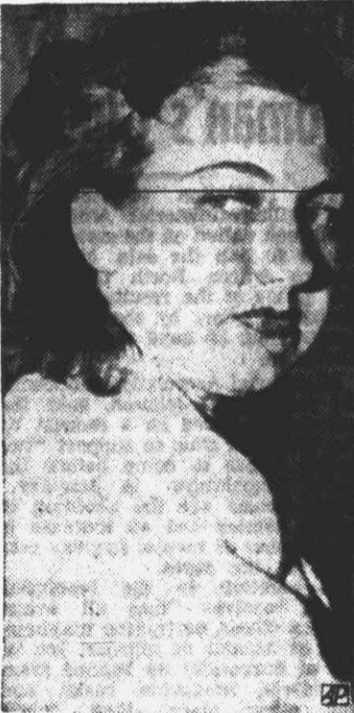

"When I am between pictures, it's pure hell. I go crazy trying to find things to do. When I go out to dinner, I'm bored unless I have the next day's shooting to think about."

"The worst time in my life was the period after I left MGM and before I made 'Mildred Pierce.' It was two years, and I nearly went crazy. It has been a year between this picture and — this is a dirty word — 'Johnny Guitar.' It was rugged going for me to stay away that long."

"I think I really start living the moment I step into a movie set." I hazarded a guess that she didn't have to continue working. "Weren't there annuities and real estate here and there to comfort her?"

"No," she replied flatly. "If I quit pictures tomorrow, I'd have to scrub floors to support my children."

"Lots of people have the idea I'm loaded because I have been in pictures many years. Sure I collected a salary in the old days—$175 a week. When the studio decided to give me a big raise, wham—then came the big taxes."

Several Republicans Consider Eisenhower Probable Candidate

By JACK BEL I
WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Republican senators said today they think President Eisenhower is reluctant to run for re-election but will be convinced he ought to be before the 1956 GOP convention.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) on the other hand, said he is betting Eisenhower will retire. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said in a separate interview it is "far too early to speculate."

Monroney, who said he had won five hats betting former President Truman would not run again in 1952, said he is basing his predictions on reports that Mrs. Eisenhower doesn't want the President to be a candidate again.

"Mrs. Truman didn't want President Truman to run and he didn't," Monroney said. "I don't think Mrs. Eisenhower want President Eisenhower to run and I'm betting that he won't."

Eisenhower was again noncommittal when asked at his news conference yesterday about his plans for 1956.

Senators Carlson (R-Kan.) and Bender (R-Ohio), who call themselves staunch Eisenhower supporters, said they don't have any doubt the President will be the party's standardbearer in 1956.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said, "I don't think he wants it, but I think he'll be the nominee."

Senators Allott (R-Colo.) and Clifford Case (R-N.J.), elected last November with the President's active support, said they assume Eisenhower is going to run and will have no opposition for the nomination.

Eisenhower told newsmen he hopes he never becomes sufficiently self-centered that he fails to respond to a call to duty. But he said the individual involved has to decide for himself just where his duty lies.

Eisenhower defended Vice President Nixon yesterday against Democratic charges that he had engaged last year in unfair campaign tactics. The President told questioners Nixon had assured him he never had tried to condemn the entire Democratic party. The President suggested that perhaps Nixon's remarks were taken out of context.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler came back with an assertion that Nixon and other Republicans had "maligned and slandered the Democratic party and its candidates during the 1954 campaign."

Will Seek Repeal Of Marital Ban

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The plan of Sen. Harry A. Cole, Maryland's first Negro state senator, to seek repeal of a ban on interracial marriages failed to draw any backing today from Minority Leader Robert Kimble.

"He has come to discuss a great many things," said Kimble, but he has not mentioned this to me. If he does, I'll certainly advise him against it."

Cole, a Republican, said yesterday he had not decided when he would introduce the repealer.

An 1880 law prohibits marriages between Negroes and whites, Malaysians and whites, and Malaysians and Negroes and provides for a prison term of from 18 months to 10 years.

Free Enterprise For South Korea

By BILL SHINN
SEOUL (AP)—South Korea plans a revolutionary switch to the free enterprise system by opening its doors to foreign capital, a top government spokesman said today.

Virtually all enterprise is now run by state-controlled corporations.

Finance Minister Lee Joong-jai said the government next month will introduce a bill in the National Assembly to attract foreign investment to a wide field of industrial and mining activities, and to insure free remittance of profits from Korea to the investor's country.

Lee said foreign shares will be limited to less than half of those in a single firm.

He also announced an administrative measure to eliminate or reduce taxes on capital invested in vital industries, the banking system and pioneering enterprises, regardless of the sources of the capital.

This will contribute toward the full mobilization of private capital, and will be coupled with the opening of a stock market this year, Lee said.

In addition, he said, the government will submit to the National Assembly a bill covering foreign exchange as a further internal measure to attract foreign capital.

The ROK government is also hoping to conclude soon a commodity, commerce and navigation treaty with the United States, officials said.

The government plans to denationalize banks and other enterprises except such public-interest enterprises as electric power, coal industries, and railroads.

Michigan farms are 90 per cent electrified.

Administration Gives New Talking Point For Demos

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Eisenhower, discussing Wolf Ladejnsky's case at his news conference, said this was a situation in which honest men came up with different answers.

The difference in their answer was profound. Because it was, the Democrats had new ammunition for their attacks on the whole operation of the administration's program to get security risks out of government jobs.

The Ladejnsky case broke while many Democrats were still boiling over Vice President Nixon's attacks on them in the 1954 election campaign, particularly for his statements on the number of Communists and other security risks out of government jobs.

Under the security program a government worker can be let out as a security risk for a number of reasons in accordance with standards which, by their broadness, can leave room for the kind of difference of opinion that Eisenhower mentioned.

The government can bounce a man as a security risk if he's a Communist, if he has been found subversive, if there's information in his files which can be interpreted as subversive, if he's a drunk, homosexual, or a blabbermouth, or for other reasons.

And who does the interpreting? Officials in the agency where the man works have last say in the matter.

Ladejnsky, born in Russia but now a citizen, was twice found all right by the State Department, which employed him in a job in Japan. Agriculture Department officials, when he was transferred there, found him a risk.

Then Harold E. Stassen hired

Ladejnsky to work for his Foreign Operations Administration. So two government agencies didn't consider the man a security risk; one did.

Eisenhower put the responsibility directly on Stassen for keeping Ladejnsky in the government.

From time to time since the administration established the security program in the spring of 1953, it has released figures showing the number of people separated from the government and classed as security risks.

During last fall's campaign Nixon said: "We're kicking Communists and fellow travelers and security risks out of the government, not by the hundreds but by the thousands."

It was this statement and others similar to it that the Democrats have complained about. No figures have been released to show how many of these persons classed as security risk were holdovers from the Truman administration, how many were first hired by the Eisenhower administration, or how many Communists were found.

Yesterday Eisenhower, who said Nixon had never condemned the Democratic party as a whole, and Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, went to Nixon's defense under new and bitter Democratic attacks.

If Nixon and the Ladejnsky case weren't enough to keep the Democrats steamed up about the security program, the administration gave them a fresh talking point when it released its latest figures Jan. 3. The Democrats, now running Congress, have been talking of investigating the whole program.

That report said, since the program started in mid-1953, 8,008 security risks have been fired or resigned from government jobs. It listed 2,096 of those under the head of subversion with this explanation:

"Number whose files contained information indicating in varying degrees, subversive activities, subversive associations, or membership in subversive organizations."

The Washington Post and Times Herald, friendly to the Eisenhower administration took a look at the figures and said editorially: "The great virtue . . . of 8,008 is that anyone can read it sitting upright or standing on his head without changing the figure."

The Post raised questions which Democrats in one way or another have asked: How many of these "security risks" resigned without ever knowing they were accused of anything; how many had information in their files about subversion that was real or imaginary or provided by people who were malicious or irresponsible?

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower said he doesn't consider the security program perfect, that efforts are being made all the time to improve it.

Although many people regard spiders as insects, scientists put them in a different category.

Says Preachers Hurt Business

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A churchgoing tavern operator complained yesterday to the City Council that sidewalk preachers are harming business.

Ministerial students persist in preaching sermons in front of her tavern door, Mrs. M. E. Johnson said. Customers, whether or not they're swayed by the Gospel, can hardly push past the preachers, she said.

Mrs. Johnson said she was a church member herself, but added that she did not think the churches should interfere with her business.

New Reform For Paris Theatre

PARIS (AP)—For generations Paris playgoers have complained about tip-hungry usherettes, latecomers who ruin the first act and amateur claquees that stop the show with applause whenever their favorite actors enter or exit. Now a man has appeared with a mission to do something about it.

He is Jean Vilar, director of the Popular National Theater (Theatre National Populaire), a classic repertory group subsidized by the government. His reforms apply to only one house, but they may be imitated if they succeed.

First Vilar got the show started at 8 p.m., instead of 9. That makes it possible for suburbanites to catch the last trains easily. At the same time, he opened the theater at 6:30, provided cheap light meals and hired a small orchestra to entertain until curtain time.

The next step was drastic: any member of the audience arriving after the curtain goes up receives a small printed sheet advising him that he can be seated only after the first scene, and supplying a resume of what it contains. He gets a comfortable seat in the lobby, where he can listen over a loud-speaker system.

Then all tips were abolished: tips for the usherettes, tips for the checkroom, tips for washroom attendants.

The final reform scheduled is an edict from Vilar abolishing applause until a curtain goes down, on the plea that it interrupts the rhythm of the show. This was bound to be a hard blow to some emotional playgoers, who enjoy applauding the stars at every opportunity.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

The Hallmark of Circulation Integrity

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is this A.B.C. emblem a symbol of FACTS about the circulations of newspapers and periodicals. It is the emblem of membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations* and is assurance to advertisers that the circulations of member publications are measured, audited and reported in accordance with the rigid standards that have been mutually approved and adopted by advertisers and publishers.

Here's why our membership in the A.B.C. is important to our advertisers and ourselves: At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough inspection and audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: how much circulation we have; where it goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that advertisers need as a sound basis for their advertising investments. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request.

The Daily Reflector

*The Audit Bureau of Circulations, of which this newspaper is a member, is a cooperative, nonprofit association of 3,575 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation; rules and standards for auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

Legislator And Dog Are Seated

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Robert D.

Mahoney, 33, has taken his seat in the Michigan Legislature. So has his dog Happy.

Mahoney, though blind since he was 15, said after yesterday's opening session that he thinks he can keep pace with his colleagues in the House.

For taking notes, he uses a slate and stylus to print in Braille. Other representatives have offered to read to him much of the voluminous legislation he will have to study.

"So you see," said Mahoney, a Detroit Democrat, "it seems like a major problem, but actually it's a pretty minor one."

Percentage-wise, a human being grows more in the first year of life than at any time afterward.

Merger Looks Dim Presbyterian Church

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—The chances of a merger of the three United States branches of the Presbyterian Church appeared somewhat dim today as the result of opposition from Southern presbyteries.

The union would unite the three groups now in the process of voting on the proposal, the United Presbyterian Church, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern). They have a combined membership of about 3 1/2 million.

Unanimous approval of the three is necessary.

Thirteen Southern presbyteries have voted on the issue and 12 have opposed it. A three-quarters majority of the 84 presbyteries in the Southern branch is necessary for the group's approval.

Only ten more negative votes are thus needed among the Southern presbyteries to kill the plan and one of their leaders said Saturday, "We'll get those in the next two weeks."

The statement was made by Dr. Henry B. Dendy secretary of the Association for the Preservation and Continuation of the Southern Presbyterian Church. Dr. Dendy, who is also editor of the Southern Presbyterian Journal in Weaverville, N.C., predicted there would be twice as many antionion votes as were needed.

Most presbyteries of the 720,000-member Southern church, with headquarters at Atlanta, will vote Jan. 18, 19 and 26 and a few will ballot in February.

The only Southern group to vote for the merger is the Texas Mexican presbytery, whose congregations, consisting mainly of Mexican people, are scattered through Texas.

Meanwhile, in Philadelphia, Dr. Walton Rankin, publicity manager of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. said 40 out of 266 presbyteries of his branch had voted for union. He said he has received no reports of any presbyteries in his branch that voted against the proposal.

The branch has about 2 1/2 million members.

The third group, the United Presbyterian Church, is scheduled to begin voting tomorrow in Pittsburgh, where it has its headquarters. This group whose roots go back to Scotland in the 18th century, has 51 presbyteries with about 220,000 members, mostly in Pennsylvania and the Middle West. The results of its vote will not be known until April.

The United Presbyterian Church was not originally related to the other two branches.

The Southern branch and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. separated in 1860 as a result of the Civil War. Dr. Rankin said the basic cause for the division was over the slavery issue.

If the union proposal is approved by all three branches, a meeting will be held in 1956 to form a united church.

DIVE-BOMBED
CARLSBAD, N. M., (AP)—Louis Panoz says an eagle dive-bombed his car as he drove to Carlsbad Caverns. Last week another eagle rammed through the windshield of a bus. Both birds were killed.

Noel Fields To Forsake America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Noel Field has notified the State Department he and his wife have decided to forsake the United States and remain in Communist Hungary, which imprisoned them for five years.

Field's decision, not unexpected by the State Department, was relayed in a handwritten letter received two days ago at Budapest by U.S. Minister Christian M. Ravndal. The letter was disclosed last night by Department Press Officer Henry Sudyam.

But officials fully expect Noel's brother Hermann to come home again. Hermann, 44, was freed by Communist Poland late in October. He too had served five years in a Red prison. He was issued a U.S. passport and is recuperating in Switzerland. A Cleveland architect, he ran afoul of the Communists in Warsaw while searching for his brother.

Noel, 50, is a controversial figure on both sides of the Iron Curtain. He has been accused by the Reds of being a spy and in Washington hearings as being a consort of Communists.

Reds in Eastern Europe accused Noel of being an American agent, but these charges were washed out when he and his wife Herta were freed last Nov. 17.

Sudyam said Field's letter confirmed the Christmas-time reports that he had been granted political asylum in Hungary at his request.

Judge Protests New Tax Form

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Circuit Judge Dale Souter says he has come face to face with the most perplexing problem of his career—the new income tax form.

The form so vexed the judge that he wrote a letter of objection to Rep. Ford (R-Mich., Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) and Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.).

The judge wrote that he thought the income tax statement forms are "to say the least atrocious."

"It seems the Congress certainly should be able to find the necessary personnel to prepare a form that the ordinary taxpayer can understand and fill out himself without paying an expert to interpret it for him," Judge Souter stated.

He said he has completed his return but added he now is seeking an accountant to verify it.

Five Arrested In Red's Slaying

BERLIN (AP)—The arrest of five persons accused of murdering a local Communist union leader in Soviet-occupied East Germany was reported today by Communist police.

The Weimar newspaper Das Volk quoted an announcement by the Erfurt police saying the killing was the latest in a series of attacks on Communist leaders in their area and added the murderers were influenced by the example of American gangsters.

Navy Welcomes Home Its Diaper Derby Pilot

By BOB MCHUGH
PATUENT, Md. (AP)—The Navy welcomed home today its "Diaper Derby" fighter pilot and succumbed to the charms of his newly adopted Greek daughter.
Lt. Norman (Moose) Donahoe and 17-month-old Roni Marie, arrived at the southern Maryland Naval base about 9 a.m. after a five-day hitch-hiking flight from Athens.
Moose had the little girl all dolled up in yellow dress, yellow hat and yellow coat as a Navy transport landed him back on home soil.
The baby's big brown eyes sparkled. She's a cutie.
"She was a perfect little doll all the way," said the 6-foot Texan, a decorated veteran of the fighting in Korea.
"She slept through three landings and takeoffs," he said.

Donahoe and Roni Marie arrived here well fixed for diapers, which had been his main concern as he sweated out weather delays and missed connections on the flight home from Athens.

The lieutenant had 48 disposables when he took custody of Roni Marie in Athens five days ago. He was able to pick up 48 more during a layover at the Navy's big Fort Lyrautey Air Base in Morocco.

He landed here with 32 and the Moose Lodge at nearby Great Mills, Md., had 24 dozen more ready for him.

Donahoe explained he changed Roni Marie about six times a day, using two of the disposables each time.

"You just catch her when she has her feet in the air," he explained his technique.

Donahoe said the long trip "taught me one thing—I learned to respect a woman's position."

He was greeted here by Lt. and Mrs. O. F. Browns, long-time Navy friends of Donahoe and his wife.

The Browns drove them to Washington, where Donahoe hoped to catch a plane for New York and a reunion with his wife. She has been waiting there at her sister's home.

The Donahoes must be back Jan. 18 at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station in Texas, where he is an instructor of attack bomber fliers. He left for Athens just a month ago today on Christmas leave to pick up Roni Marie from a foundling home. He and his wife, of Greek extraction, had been married five years and were without children when they decided to adopt a baby. They could find none here.

Scouters Speak To Ruritan Club

WINTERVILLE — Boy Scout work in Winterville was given a boost last night at the Winterville Ruritan Club's supper meeting. Pitt County Boy Scout Executive Lester Dollar of Greenville was the speaker.

He explained the work of the Cub Scouts and Explorers and said the Cubs do most of their work in their homes.

Dollar introduced the regular scoutmaster Reid McLawhorn, and Lloyd Worthington, institutional representative, and Pitt County Scout Commissioner John Behr. Behr explained that he is the liaison man between the public and the Boy Scout troop leaders.

The Ruritan Club now sponsors Boy Scout Troop 200, formerly sponsored by Winterville Christian Church.

Ruritan President Harold D. Weaver, called on Vice-President Dr. A. M. Mumford to present the club's objectives for 1955. Included was a proposal to provide a $50 scholarship for one boy out of the Winterville High School graduating class. Charles D. Runkle is secretary and treasurer.

President Weaver announced that Vernon Cox and Laurie H. Ellis will represent the Winterville club at the Ruritan National Convention in Washington, D.C.

Celebrities Found Usually Good Sports

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK—Most celebrities are good sports—as good as you'd find anywhere, says producer Herb Wolf of ABC-TV's Masquerade Party.
Wolf, who disguises famous people to try to stump the panel on the Wednesday night show, cites Adm. Richard E. Byrd as an example.
When the admiral agreed to appear he asked what disguise Wolf would like him to wear. Wolf recalls that he thought immediately of a penguin because of Byrd's antarctic exploits but hesitated lest the famed explorer think it too undignified.
"But he came up with the suggestion himself," Wolf relates. "He's just as regular a fellow as you'd ever meet."
As another example he mentions Sen. and Mrs. James Duff of Pennsylvania, who came on the show as Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin and returned a few months later a Mr. and Mrs. William Penn. The panel guessed their identity a little quicker the second time than the first, as might have been expected.
But the panelists sometimes miss.

one that should be easy. For several months Douglas Edwards was moderator but had to give up the spot because of the time required for his newscasting activities. Doug came back a few weeks later masquerading as King Henry VII of England, but the panelists who had been with him on the show week after week flubbed completely.
"The most difficult job I have is disguising glamor girls," says Wolf.
The makeup and costume folks do a pretty good job even there, as when Eva Gabor was disguised as a Gypsy hag. Buff Cobb suggested that she kiss fellow panelist Bobby Sherwood to give him an added clue, but Sherwood balked and ordered a doctor Peter Donald named, "You'll be sorry." And Sherwood was when the glamorous Gabor removed her disguise.

Cat Came Back Over Sixty Miles

REARDAN, Wash. (AP)—Homer, the alley cat, who wouldn't take no for an answer is back home and they're going to let him stay.
Homer showed up at the Lewis McKay house here six months ago. The family already had a couple of cats but they let him stay for a while. Last month, though, they gave him to a Garfield, Wash. couple.
Then Homer came back. He apparently walked the 60 miles from Garfield. The McKays say they will keep him now.

Indignation Had Dubious Results

HOUSTON (AP)—Wilhelm Schmidt, 21, was downright angry when he stalked into the federal immigration office. Where, he demanded, were certain personal papers immigration officers retained when they deported him to Germany in July?
The immigration men replied with action.
They hustled Schmidt back to the 88 Niedersachen, on which he is a crewman, and officially deported him again. Those personal papers, he was told, will be mailed to him—in Germany.

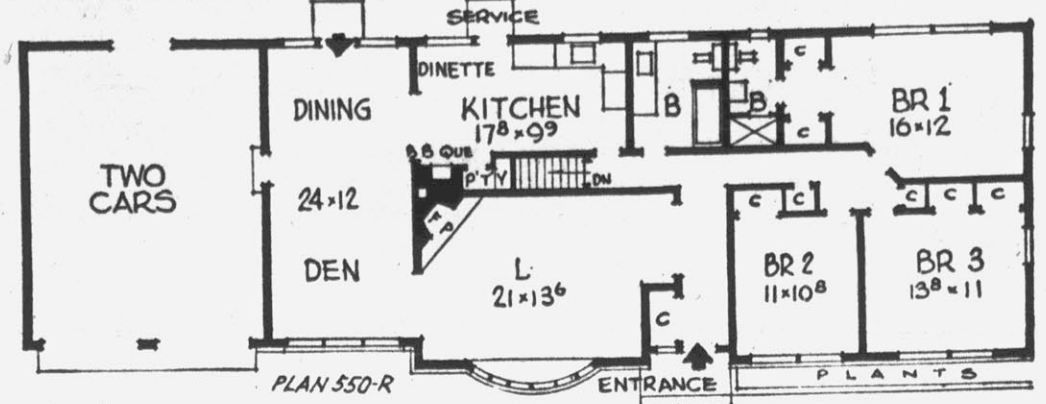

Instinct Helps In Bringing Up Baby

By DOROTHY V. WHIFFLE, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures
While you're waiting for your baby, I'm sure you're thinking about how you're going to bring him up to be the kind of person you'll be glad you brought into this world.
Probably you know some children you hope yours will grow up to be like. Maybe also you know some spoiled brats or delinquent adolescents you're determined yours will never be like. You don't like these unpleasant children; few people do, and, what's even more important, they themselves are seldom happy.
The spoiled brats, the youngsters who don't turn out well, weren't born that way. It's the things that happen to them during the growing-up process that give them the personality we don't like.
It's a big responsibility being a parent. You are given a little bundle of soft plastic human material. It's your job to see to it that the little bundle blossoms out into a useful citizen. The most important job of the parents is to see to it that the child grows into a mature, stable, well-adjusted person, the kind of person everyone likes and who is himself happy.
These qualities of personality in your child will give him a better life than lots of money or fame.
The question is how do you do it.
Some parents seem to do it by instinct. There are plenty of parents who never heard of child psychology who just naturally know how to handle their youngsters. From such parents we learn a lot. In these days of technical know-how it's not a bad idea to study up a bit on some of the ways that the experts believe help produce the personalities that are a life-long asset to their owners.
The basic needs that every child has are to be loved and wanted, to be accepted for what he is and to be protected from harm.
Fortunately most parents do love their children, but sometimes the love is so mixed up with the parents' desire to see their children succeed in a worldly way that they push and demand more than the child can accomplish. As a result the child doesn't understand that he really is loved.
Love that a child can understand means doing all sorts of things for him even when they're a lot of trouble to you and when you don't get any immediate re-

High Production News For Soviet

DRUMMOND ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—Workers in the dolomite plant here have news for Pravda, the Russian newspaper. Pravda, they learned said that "socialist competition" at a Russian Dolomite Basin plant had produced three-quarters of a million tons of dolomite in a year and claimed this as a world record. Dolomite is a limestone with a high magnesium content.
Drummond Workers wrote Pravda a letter, with a copy to Premier Malenkov. It said:
"We reached the three-quarter million mark six years ago. Last year we produced over two and a half million tons."
Pravda said the Russian plant employs 350 men. There are 200 employed here.
The letter continued:
"We boys are paid immensely better than your boys. And we have job security. We can quit any time we want to and move on somewhere else. We can own our own homes and vote as we please, and if we please. Liberty is a great producer of many things, including dolomite."

Collect Records For Servicemen

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Local people, led by a housewife with a son in the armed forces, have sent more than 3,000 phonograph records to servicemen in Germany, Iceland, Korea and Alaska. Three phonographs and some 1,500 books and magazines also were donated in a "Discs for Doughnuts" campaign started by Mrs. Fred Vanderlip.
A newspaper and radio station joined in the campaign. At one point, the Air Force said it might not be able to furnish space on a plane to transport the gifts, Mrs. Vanderlip offered to pay the $300 shipping charges and then take a job until she could make it up again.
With that word, the Air Force sent a special plane to Lansing to pick up records and books.

Scholarship For Child Prodigy

KEARNY, N.J. (AP)—Karan Helen Zdanoff, 12, who was considered a child prodigy at four, has been awarded a scholarship to study piano at the Juillard School of Music. Mark Nevin of Maplewood, the teacher who tested her eight years ago, said:
"From the very beginning she had demonstrated the unique traits of a child prodigy. She had an ear for music, and could, at once, reproduce tunes. A youngster with such a flair for playing piano comes along once in a great many years."

Hotel Service In Moscow Gets Pravda's Glare

MOSCOW (AP)—In Moscow's biggest hotel, complains the newspaper Moscow Pravda, you can't get your laundry done, your shoes polished or repaired, or even ink for your pen.

If these services are not available in the biggest and newest of Moscow hotels, how can one expect in the lesser cities of the Soviet Union? Moscow Pravda asks. It says that in only one hotel in Moscow, the Sovietskaya, (hotel for very important persons), are such services as laundry and shoe polishing provided.

"The Hotel Moscow," says Moscow Pravda, "is the biggest hotel in the capital. It has various services for its guests but if somebody needs ink for his pen he won't be able to find such a thing in the hotel. If he wants to have his laundry done, he can't get the hotel to do it but must try to negotiate a private deal with a chambermaid. Then if he wants his shoes repaired or polished he must try to find a workshop somewhere in the city. The hotel does not help him."

"Strange as it may seem, this hotel also has no medical service. And you cannot have newspapers delivered to your room..."

"In many other Moscow hotels you can't even find an information desk and have to go out and look for one somewhere in the street. Neither can you buy a theater ticket in the hotels..."

"Then about food. Some restaurants in the hotels — like the Grand Kiev — are closed long periods under the pretext of being renovated, and their buffets or snack bars work very short hours so guests have to walk into the streets looking for restaurants..."

"Recently we opened the new skyscraper Leningrad Hotel. Every body expected that the directors would arrange all the minor services for the guests. But on the contrary, laundry and repair of shoes are not organized. No medical service. News and magazines stands don't post the hours of their operation. No information bureau because the director couldn't find space for it..."

"But at the Sovietskaya Hotel everything is different. Here they take care of every guest and a maid comes in daily to ask for your laundry. If you leave your shoes in the corridor at night they are polished by morning..."

"Other hotels must follow this example..."

HAWK WATCH

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT Red waited in my roadster till I got moving. Then the roar of the Jaguar reached me as I gunned the jeep down the road in the opposite direction.

I rattled along the paved road doing forty with an effort, down into the valley, climbing up the other side. At the Metcalf lane I slowed just enough to turn in. It's on that kind of terrain that a jeep takes over. I gripped the wheel and plowed through ruts and soft spots with the comfortable feel of Red's shotgun against my leg, counting on the curves to cover my approach.

At the old orchard I pulled off the lane and cut my lights. It was just light enough to make out the silhouettes of the dead apple trees against the skyline.

I drew Red's shotgun from the jeep and dropped the shells in with two key little sounds. I started walking to the house.

Then I saw him move off the rear porch and walk away from the house. As far as I could see, Luger wasn't with him.

I gave him sixty yards and started after him, keeping the house between us by taking the driveway around the front. I started among the trees on the lower side but the dense growth opposite the house slowed me. With his lead and in this light I didn't think he could see if I cut across the lawn.

Holding the shotgun in one hand I pushed my way out and started running over the long leaf-strewn grass. I got to the far end of the house and was running for the place where I'd last seen him when a lapping jerked me around with the gun halfway to my shoulder. It sounded like someone hammering on something hollow and it seemed to come from a point high above me. There was no one at either of the second-floor windows or on the roof. Then I saw something move against the little attic window high in the gable end of the old bricks—two hands beating the panes.

Keeping my eyes on the small window, I found the safety catch on the shotgun with my thumb and pushed it forward, moving toward the house. As I got closer I could make out Dana's face pressed against the glass. She looked as if she were trying to tell me something but I couldn't get the words. I motioned I was coming up and started running for the rear porch. I dashed into the house to be confronted by Cricket.

"I want to see Miss Dana, Cricket."

"Miss Dana not here. You go 'way." "She's upstairs," I said.

"and I'm going up." I started to move around her. "You can't see her. You get outa here."

I pushed her aside and sprinted up the staircase.

In the middle of the upper hall, stood Luger looking enormous and mean as sin. If Dana could reach the bottom of the attic staircase there was just a chance she could control him.

"Dana." If she heard me I couldn't tell. The only sound was old Cricket down below fumbling toward the stairs. My voice had set Luger on his toes. I could see the eighty or ninety pounds of him like the muscles of a giant black snake shifting under gleaming hide. All the time I could hear Cricket dragging herself up the stairs. Luger's ears were laid back now and I wasn't certain he hadn't moved a step closer. Then Cricket's voice came, wheezing and thin: "Git him, Luger."

I saw him go down for the spring and yelled, "No, Luger. No."

I might as well have been speaking Baatta. I shot from the hip. The first barrel missed. The second churned the ivory-and-pink snarl into a bloody mass almost a yard away from me. I leaped over the sprawling shape and reached the attic stair door, my ears ringing from the blast but not enough to shut out the sound of his nails switching on the bare floor boards. I managed not to be sick and got the iron bolt pushed back and the door open.

White and shaken Dana sobbed. "Hurry. We've got to stop him." "Just a moment," I held her arm. "What happened to you?" "It's nothing." She was pulling me along. "We've got to hurry." "When did your brother lock you in here?" I asked. "Yesterday afternoon. We've got to stop him. He's going to kill 'Tandra?"

She didn't answer. She was dragging me down the attic steps. At the bottom she saw Luger. "I'm sorry," I said. "It was Luger or me."

Cricket struggled to her feet from beside the dog. "Mistuh Anson kill you for this. You shoot his Luger." "Hurry," was all Dana said, pushing past Cricket.

"Miss Dana, you stay where Mistuh Anson put you. You see what already happen." Cricket tried to hold her but she tore loose and ran down the steps. I caught up with her in the downstairs hall. "This gun—" I said, trying to get my mind—"Do you have any shells?"

Consumer Credit Heading Toward A Record High

By WALTER BUSEWITZ NEW YORK (AP) — More Americans are buying now and paying later.

Consumer credit, which covers installment buying, charge accounts and personal loans is heading toward a record high of $30 billion dollars.

Is this type of credit getting out of hand? "Nothing to worry about. In fact, further expansion of credit would be safe," says a large group of economists and businessmen.

A smaller faction says, "The situation bears watching, especially the upward trend in recent months." At most recent report, for Nov. 30, consumer credit outstanding totaled $29 1/2 billion dollars, of which almost $2 billion was installment debt. This was 1 1/2 billion more than the level of last March and one-quarter billion under the all-time high set Dec. 31, 1953.

The recent upswing has been attributed in part to a greater public confidence in the economic outlook and the spread of easier terms. H. H. Helmann, executive vice president of the National Assn. of Credit Men, expects a new peak to be established when December figures are compiled because "credit men report the use of charge accounts before Christmas was greater than ever before."

"Consumer credit is not in a dangerous area," says Helmann, "but is in a trend that bears watching." A. W. Zelomek, chief of the International Statistical Bureau, says consumer debt is "not out of line."

"At $30 billion dollars it still will be around 2 1/2 billion under what it could be on the basis of various indicators," Zelomek states. He points out that in relation to savings, consumer debt it way below 1929 levels. Also, he says over 50 per cent of the debt is charged to individuals with salaries of

East Carolina Crushes Belmont Abbey In 94-64 Game

Entire Buc Squad In Floor Play

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Coach Howard Porter's East Carolina Pirates, playing without the services of their captain, Cecil Heath, ran Belmont Abbey off the court last night 94-64 with a smashing offense.

The final 30-point margin was obtained through the efforts of the entire 11-man squad with Don Harris leading the way. The stylist pointmaker dropped in 22 points, 16 of which came in the first half. Carvel (Nick) Nichols was runner-up for the Buc with 19 counts. All told, East Carolina had four men who scored in the double figures. J. C. Thomas bucketed 10, all in the first half, and Fred James, substituting for Heath, had 10.

The loudest noise for the losers, who were victims of ragged play throughout, was Roger Marcell, former All-America high schooler, who canned 24. Al Taglieri was second high with 18. Frank Harding was the only other Crusader who gave a fair account of himself. He played well on defense and scored 10 points.

Fast Start

Coach Porter's bunch started off like a house afire with Thomas hitting two straight buckets and James popping two from the outside. Harris added a hookshot and the Buc were ahead 12-4 in the first four minutes. They continued to punish the cords during the next 16 minutes and at intervals had leads of 19-6, 23-8, 33-20 and the halftime margin, 47-24.

Free Substitution

The Pirate mentor substituted freely throughout the game and in the latter part of the first half had a unit of four freshmen and one sophomore playing. Harris, Nichols, and Mendenhall, Russell Solomon, and James more than held their own with the visitors.

East Carolina doubled the score eight times in the first half. After intermission the pace resumed with the first five handling the pleasant chore. Nichols hit three straight shots from the floor to get the second stanza underway. After ten minutes of play, East Carolina had another 30-point spread, 74-44. The starters were spectators to the show in the final ten minutes of play while their contemporaries carried on.

James Impresses

The play of James was particularly impressive as this was his first start in college basketball. His outside shooting was sharp and he didn't flinch to bad on defense. When the Crusaders shifted into a zone in the early parts of the game, James hit three long ones from outside and Coach Al (General) McClellan, Belmont Abbey head, hurried to change his tactics.

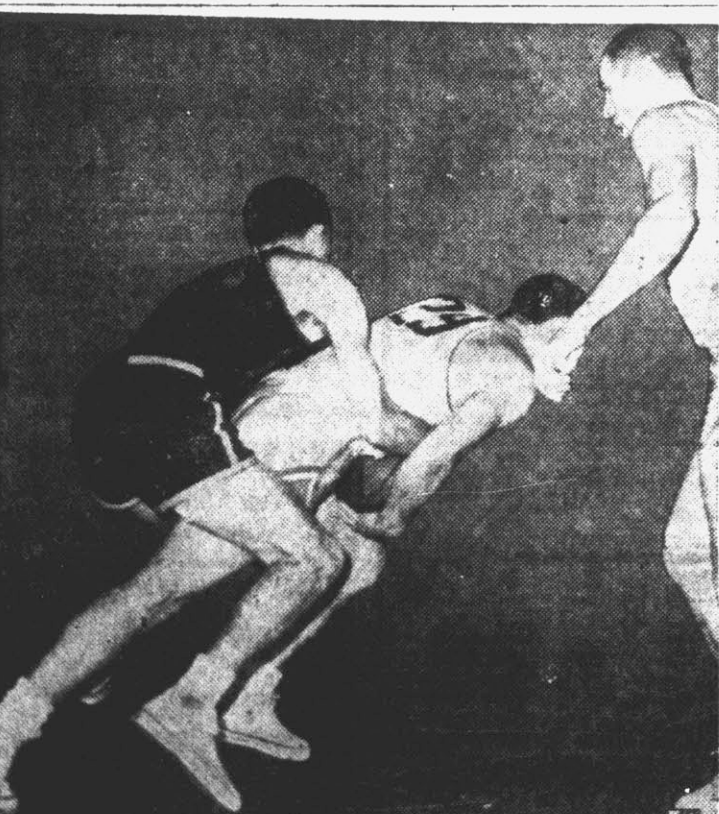

Nichols did a good job on Jim York, 6-8 forward, and Mendenhall had Johnny Ciol, 6-10 center, foaming at the mouth. The huge pivot-man could muster only four points, a bucket at the beginning and end of the game. Harris' 22 points brought his total for the year to 220 in nine games for an average of 24.5.

Win No. 8

The win was number eight in nine starts for East Carolina and was a non-North State Conference game. Belmont Abbey, winners over Atlantic Christian, now have a 9-6 mark. East Carolina's next home game is on January 22 with Guilford.

Shorter Outfield Makes It Easier For Big Stan

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, St. Louis Cardinals veteran outfielder who already owns most of baseball's batting honors, may find the key to an elusive home run crown through a bit of carpentry work on Busch Stadium.

The club decided yesterday to take down the screen in front of the right field pavilion—a move which cuts 25 feet 2 inches off the distance needed for a homer.

The screen, which since 1930 has been known as a pitcher's friend, extends from the right field foul line 156 feet to center field and 49 feet to the left. It is 10 feet high and 10 feet wide. The distance from the screen to the pavilion roof, which is 36 feet 8 inches above ground level.

Willie Mays Has Brief Fistfight

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Usually affable Willie Mays and Ruben Gomez, key players in the New York Giants' drive to the world championship last fall, apparently were on good terms today after a fist fight.

The two players, members of the Sant' Eusebio club of the Puerto Rican League, engaged in fistfights during a practice session Tuesday. Mays knocked Gomez down before other players stopped the squabble. But today both players refused to discuss the incident and teammates said they had shaken hands. "There's nothing to it," said Gomez. "We both consider the case closed and are good friends." Newspaper reports said Gomez attempted to intervene in a scrap between Mays and batting practice pitcher Milton Ralst. Mays mistook Gomez's intentions and threw a punch, knocking the Giants right-hander down.

Mickey Owen To Serve As Coach

BOSTON (AP)—One of the most colorful and varied careers as an active player has ended with the unconditional release of catcher Mickey Owen by the Boston Red Sox.

However, the Sox have given Mickey a contract as a coach for the 1955 season with the parent club.

Owen thus concludes 20 years as a player in professional baseball. He probably will be working in the Boston bullpen when the season opens.

The 39-year-old veteran, a steady workmanlike performer, spent much of his time trying to live down two incidents in his career—jump to the Mexican League and the dropped third strike in the 1941 World Series.

In the '41 classic, Owen, Brooklyn regular catcher, dropped a third strike tossed by pitcher Hugh Casey past Tommy Henrich of the Cincinnati Reds. Henrich reached first base on the play and although the Dodgers held the lead at the time the Yanks went on to capture the game and the series.

Owen reached the major leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1937 after three years in the minors. He was traded to the Dodgers after the 1940 season.

Mickey jumped to the Mexican League after the war when he returned from Navy service. Later, after serving out a suspension, he returned to the minors in 1949 with the Chicago Cubs.

The highlight of Owen's last active season was a 10th inning grand slam homer that beat Baltimore, 9-7.

NCAA Hopes To Make It 'Honest'

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—Football will be more honest next fall—on the field, at least—if the wishes of the NCAA Rules Committee are respected.

Winding up 2½ days of deliberations, the committee yesterday adopted six changes in the rules and made two strong appeals to coaches for more honest and careful observance of other important rules.

Two of the three rules changes were designed to prevent unfair deception on offense—the outlawing of the "hideout" play and a new proviso concerning plays where a middle lineman (tackle, guard or center) becomes eligible to receive forward passes. Another will help keep the defense "honest" by providing more opportunities for fake place kicks.

The most important change was in the substitution rule—a short step backward from the "no platoon" rule adopted two years ago. This will permit any player who starts a quarter to leave the game and re-enter once during that quarter. Collaterally, the four-minute "segment" in the second and fourth quarters was eliminated.

But the committee decided not to try to solve two of its biggest headaches—false starts and elbow blocks—by changing the rules. Instead, a strong appeal will be addressed to officials and commissioners for stricter enforcement of the rules and to coaches to observe them.

It was the second straight year the committee had declined to change the rule on false starts after a hullabaloo over "sucker sniffs" in 1953. Last year an appeal to coaches and officials, plus some fresh interpretations, brought "considerable improvement," according to Committee Chairman H. O. (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan.

The "hideout" was ruled out by a proviso that when the ball is spotted and declared ready for play, every offensive player must be within 15 yards of the line of scrimmage. On the "tackle eligible" pass, no offensive player may be stationed outside the line when he becomes eligible.

The "holder" on a place kick now is permitted to rise and run with the ball, pass or kick it. This will keep the defense from rushing too enthusiastically and also eliminate a difficult call when the "holder" raised his knee from the ground for a fake play.

Two minor changes were eliminating the "wig-wag" requirement in the fair catch signal and authorizing the use of shoe cleats with rounded ends.

Saddler Agrees To Fight 'Red Top'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandy Saddler has agreed to take his feathered title out of the deep freeze for a Feb. 25 defense against Red Top Davis at Madison Square Garden.

Saddler hasn't given anybody a crack at the crown since the September night in 1951 when Willie Pep "quit" in the other corner, a ninth-round TKO victim. Of course, Sandy was in the Army for two years and didn't get out until last April.

Davis, veteran of 107 fights with a 58-47-2 record, is 31, three years older than the champion, who has a gaudy 137-12-2 career mark for 151 fights. Sandy has knocked out 27 opponents including Pep three times.

Contracts will be signed later but the two managers have a verbal agreement with the International Boxing Club. Sandy will get 40 percent and most of the TV cash.

President Anthony Etronella of the National Boxing Assn. said the NBA undoubtedly will recognize the winner as the world champion but he "would still prefer to recognize Davis as champion before the fight." He said the matter would head the agenda at the organization's quarterly executive committee meeting in New York tomorrow.

Infelders Sign With Brooklyn

BROOKLYN (AP)—Don Hoak and Don Zimmer, a pair of infelders, have signed their Brooklyn Dodger contracts, making a total of 17 Dodgers in line.

Hoak alternated with Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson at third base last season, batting .245 in 88 games. With Cox traded to Baltimore, he is expected to see more action.

Zimmer, a shortstop, came up last season from St. Paul when Pee Wee Reese was injured. After resting for a week, Reese recovered and never gave Zimmer another chance.

Jayvee G-Men Win By 38-27

Pushing ahead during a 14 point second quarter, the Greenville Junior varsity ran over the Elizabeth City Jayvees 38-27 last night as a preliminary to the varsity clash.

The win was the first of the season against two losses, for Coach Bill Kittrell's squad Walker Allen and Joe Wingate sparked the second period offensive for the Baby Phantoms with six points each as the G-men moved ahead 20-11. After that EC never could catch up and the outcome was in the hands of Charles Smith with 10 points and Joe Wingate with eight led the scoring for the Greensies.

Seven Players Agree To Terms

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox had seven players agree to terms during the past 24 hours, raising to 25 the total in the fold for the coming season.

Three third basemen George Kell, Earl Serena and Joe Kirrene signed today. Four players, second baseman Nellie Fox, first baseman Walt Dropo and outfielders Willard Marshall and Ed McGhee signed yesterday.

Unlucky Star by Pap'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani's unanimous decision over the Holly Mims last night almost carried over into a dressing room rematch as the Mims entourage burst into the winner's quarters screaming various versions of "we was robbed."

Duke bested South Carolina, 72-64, last night; Appalachian State's 6-4 center John Pyccha smashed a North State Conference record in making 50 points as the Mountaineers whipped Western Carolina, 91-73; and East Carolina toyed with Belmont Abbey 94-64.

Mims, along with his manager Nick Trottao and his trainers claimed that Castellani rubbed him in the clinches and rubbed him in the ropes.

Castellani's manager Al Naiman said later the rubarb "was only the result of the heat of battle, and a disappointment."

"They didn't really mean it. Everything's ironed out now. Everybody's happy."

Castellani's victory, which probably earned him another crack at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown, was fairly impressive. He let Mims take the offensive in the early rounds but outboxed him all the way and dumped him to the canvas for a mandatory eight count in the eighth round with a hard left hook.

After the fight, Al Naiman, Castellani's manager said Olson "has definitely agreed to fight Rocky within the next 90 days."

"Maybe," qualified Olson's manager Sid Fishery, who sat with the champion at ringside and watched the fight. But Fishery conceded that the only major obstacles in the way were arrangements, "money for instance."

The 27-year-old Castellani, at 159½, was 10 pounds heavier than Mims, 25, in last night's fray. He was rated No. 2 among middleweight contenders, behind Joey Giardello, while Mims was No. 3. Castellani fights out of Cleveland. Mims is from Washington, D. C.

Triumph In 104-56 Loop Win

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's scoring stars electrified the fans in the GHHS auditorium last night as they burned the net for 104 points in their second "century" night of the season. Elizabeth City was the victim to the onslaught and fell by the score of 104-56 to the mighty G-men in a Northeastern Conference affair.

Coach Bo Farley continually ran subs into the ball game but they were hot, too, and slackened the torrid pace only a little. With the regulars out of the game with several minutes to go, the subs, led by Billy Johnson, Clark Noble, and Tommie Norris, hit a scoring void but they roared back to catapult into the 100 point class for the second time this season.

Johnson Hits 100th

It was Johnson who finally hit the awaited point with a jump shot from the side of the basket. It came after Tommy Norris had hooked in a layup to give the G-men their 98 and 99 points. At Johnson's shot, Jerry Drum dropped a foul shot and Norris hit a one-hander to round out the scoring.

Terrific Pace

The G-men started off like they were going after a record when they poured in seven points before the Yellow Jackets could find the basket. Bob Howell, Edgar Moore, and Pat Sawyer led the first quarter upsurge with Harold Edwards grabbing the rebounds and the G-men rolled into a 26-11 first quarter lead. After the short rest period the regulars ran the score up to 47-15 and Coach Farley began emptying his bench.

Billy Johnson came in and immediately popped in four points. Ray Harder, 110-pounder from the side and Tommy Norris flipped in three straight free throws. Norris wound up the first half scoring with a jump shot from the corner. The G-men led at halftime 58-24.

After the intermission the regulars came back and paced by Howell, Edwards, and Sawyer increased the margin up to 85-41 after three periods. Howell added 15 and sat left up to the subs and they handled the situation with ease.

Everybody Scores

For the G-men it was one of the most well-rounded scoring efforts the team has made all year. Edwards and Sawyer each contributed 18 points. Howell added 15 and sat left up to the subs and they handled the situation with ease.

Noble and Johnson, the big two subs, looked better than they have all season long. Noble hit four of six attempts from the floor and got time rebounds as did Johnson. Johnson hit two of three field goals and eight of nine chances from the foul line.

Tommy Norris had a near perfect night. The junior floor man hit three of three free throws and three of four charity tosses. Ray Harder, Larry Powell, and Jerry Drum played their usual all-around steady game.

The Farleymen had one of their hottest nights from the floor, hitting 54 per cent of their field goals attempts. The G-men also were sharp from the foul line with 28 of 39 tries for 71 per cent.

The win pushes the Greensies conference record to three wins and no losses. The Greenville cagers play again Friday night in ECC gym against the East Carolina freshman team. The game is a benefit game for the March of Dimes drive. Game time will be eight o'clock in ECC Memorial gym.

State Makes Bid To Clinch Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina State, 14-1 and the No. 2 basketball team in the nation, plays a good Maryland team tonight in the first of two bids this week to take a strange hold on the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

If State can get by Maryland, 11-2, at College Park, Md., and Wake Forest at Raleigh Saturday, the Wolfpack will be practically assured of first place.

Maryland warmed up by disposing of South Carolina 68-52 on Monday, and State rolled 105-81 over Furman Tuesday.

There also are three games to follow involving North State Conference teams. Wofford is at High Point, Guilford at Elon and Lehigh at Catawba.

Duke bested South Carolina, 72-64, last night; Appalachian State's 6-4 center John Pyccha smashed a North State Conference record in making 50 points as the Mountaineers whipped Western Carolina, 91-73; and East Carolina toyed with Belmont Abbey 94-64.

Castellani Almost Had Another Fight

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rocky Castellani's unanimous decision over the Holly Mims last night almost carried over into a dressing room rematch as the Mims entourage burst into the winner's quarters screaming various versions of "we was robbed."

Duke bested South Carolina, 72-64, last night; Appalachian State's 6-4 center John Pyccha smashed a North State Conference record in making 50 points as the Mountaineers whipped Western Carolina, 91-73; and East Carolina toyed with Belmont Abbey 94-64.

Mims, along with his manager Nick Trottao and his trainers claimed that Castellani rubbed him in the clinches and rubbed him in the ropes.

Castellani's manager Al Naiman said later the rubarb "was only the result of the heat of battle, and a disappointment."

"They didn't really mean it. Everything's ironed out now. Everybody's happy."

Castellani's victory, which probably earned him another crack at Bobo Olson's middleweight crown, was fairly impressive. He let Mims take the offensive in the early rounds but outboxed him all the way and dumped him to the canvas for a mandatory eight count in the eighth round with a hard left hook.

After the fight, Al Naiman, Castellani's manager said Olson "has definitely agreed to fight Rocky within the next 90 days."

"Maybe," qualified Olson's manager Sid Fishery, who sat with the champion at ringside and watched the fight. But Fishery conceded that the only major obstacles in the way were arrangements, "money for instance."

The 27-year-old Castellani, at 159½, was 10 pounds heavier than Mims, 25, in last night's fray. He was rated No. 2 among middleweight contenders, behind Joey Giardello, while Mims was No. 3. Castellani fights out of Cleveland. Mims is from Washington, D. C.

Opposes Digging Up Past Record

CHICAGO (AP)—An Illinois legislator says he will seek a state law forbidding newspapers, radio and television stations to refer to any one as an ex-convict if the person has been a law-abiding citizen for 10 years.

"Maybe we'll cut it down to five years," said Rep. Hector A. Brouillet (R-Chicago). "I don't believe it fair to dig up the long-ago past against a person."

Pipe Smoker Is Startled Man

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A sauntering pedestrian stopped to light his pipe yesterday and half a block of sidewalk began to burn with a bang.

The startled pipe smoker fled like a turpentine cat and police never did find him to learn if he'd been burned. Firemen found that a leaking gas main beneath the pavement caused the explosion and the trail of fire which ran along the cracks.

French Premier Going To Talk To Adenauer

By WEBB MCKINLEY
 ROME (AP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France leaves today for a visit to West Germany and talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on postwar French-German differences. The energetic Premier carries with him partial Italian support for his controversial European arm pool plan.

During two days of talks here with Premier Mario Scelba and other Italian leaders, the French Premier won agreement-in-principle for his plan to set up a seven-nation agency to control arms output and distribution within the projected Western European Union. The two nations, also announced accords on several economic questions, involving trade, industrial cooperation and immigration.

Despite the promise of partial support, Mendes-France reportedly was disappointed in the reception given the arm pool plan by Italian leaders. Sources indicated he had hoped for more enthulastic backing, which might aid him in getting an okay from a less receptive West Germany.

The plan, designed to prevent West Germany from overarming within the WEU, comes up next Monday before a meeting in Paris of the seven nations which signed the still-unratified WEU treaty. In addition to France, Italy and West Germany they include the Netherlands, Britain, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Bonn government has said it is ready to cooperate with other nations in sharing the manufacture of heavy weapons, like tanks and guns, and in the standardization of arms among the treaty partners. West German officials have emphasized, however, they do not intend to give up the right to manufacture any of those arms they would be permitted to make under terms of the interrelated Paris treaties for Germany's rearmament.

The joint French-Italian communique issued last night pledged "ever closer collaboration" for world peace and French-Italian prosperity.

The cautiously phrased statement said Scelba and Italian Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino agreed on the need for arms control and promised further study of the French Premier's pool plan.

On the economic side, French capital will be welcomed into underdeveloped southern Italy, and Italian industry will be allowed to help build up French overseas territories.

Plum Wrong Forfeited Bond

HELENA Mont. (AP)—Albert L. Foster, 31, took a bite out of a plum while driving decided he did not like it and — without looking — tossed it out. The plum splattered against the windshield of a car, driven by Montana Highway Patrolman Ernie DeDycker.

Charged with dumping garbage on a public highway, and Foster forfeited a $10 court appearance bond.

The kangaroo family includes at least 158 species and subspecies of living animals and at least 29 fossil species.

Lost Money In Hold-Up Attempt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A bandit lost money during an attempted holdup at a clothing store. He purchased a $4.99 jacket and handed Mrs. Edna Rosen, 52, wife of the proprietor, a $5 bill. As she turned to hand him the one cent change he pointed a paper bag at her and demanded money. He said the bag contained a pistol.

Mrs. Rosen screamed and he fled without the penny.

Insurance Firms Study Proposed Tax On Premium

By C.A. UPCHURCH JR.
 RALEIGH — Insurance companies with home offices in North Carolina are studying closely a proposal by the Advisory Budget Commission and Governor Hodges to increase the tax on premiums collected by domestic companies from the present one per cent to two-and-a-half per cent.

This is especially true of life insurance companies, which would pay nearly $1,000,000 of the additional $1,170,000 which is the estimated increase the proposed higher levy would raise each year.

While no open opposition has yet appeared, legislators already are hearing rumblings of a fight on the proposal, which would bring the premium tax paid by domestic companies to the rate now levied on out-of-state firms doing business in North Carolina.

It remains to be seen whether opposition also will be leveled at the proposal to increase the license fee for insurance agents from the present $2.50 to $5 annually, which would bring in an estimated $172,195 additional each year from this source.

Also remaining to be seen is whether any attempt will be made to write into the proposed legislation any increase in the premium tax now levied on non-profit hospital associations, which currently pay a rate of one-third of one per cent.

The total premium tax collected by the State from all companies for the fiscal year ending last June 30 was $7,413,443—better than a three-fold increase in a 12-year period. In fiscal 1942, the total collected was $2,028,485.

North Carolina has 16 life insurance companies and 13 fire and casualty companies with home offices in this State.

Last year, the domestic company taking in the most money in premiums collected premiums totaling approximately $14,000,000.

Long Runway No Longer Required

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Air Force doesn't need long runways any more to get its fighter jets into the air. It can launch them from a 39-foot platform mounted on a truck.

The Air Force announced today it had launched F84 Thunderjets from what it calls "zero length" launching platforms during tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The tests, conducted by the Air Research and Development Command and Glenn L. Martin, used the same principle and equipment employed to launch the Martin Matador, a pilotless missile.

A "booster bottle" filled with propellant is attached to an F84 and the plane raised into launching position on the platform by mobile cranes.

The plane's turbojet engines are raced at full speed, then the propellant in the "booster bottle" goes into action, giving the plane a rocket kick that sends it off so swiftly it is airborne almost instantly.

The "booster bottle" is dropped once the propellant is exhausted. Martin test pilot Bob Turner says the strain of the takeoff is less than that which pilots normally experience during catapult takeoffs such as those used on ships.

Bustamante Is Losing Grip On Island Politics

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Chief Minister W. A. Bustamante's 10-year dominance of Jamaican politics appeared at an end today.

Returns from yesterday's House of Representatives election indicated the opposition People's National party led by Bustamante's first cousin and bitter enemy Norman Washington Manley, would win 18 of the 32 seats in the British colony's Parliament.

Early tallies gave 14 seats to the PNP and 12 to Bustamante's Jamaica Labor party. In the other six races, the PNP was leading in four while the JLP was ahead in only two.

Bustamante, as veteran labor leader, split with the PNP in 1940 and formed his own faction. The JLP swept the 1944 elections and has controlled the House of Representatives ever since.

That system is one reason for the vigorous opposition to tolls on the Blue Ridge Parkway if the tolls collected on the Parkway were earmarked for maintenance and construction on the Parkway itself there might not be much criticism. But the receipts are integrated with all other revenues accruing to the Federal government's general fund, or maybe just to the Department of the Interior or to the National Park Service. In any event there is no assurance that money collected by users of the Blue Ridge Parkway will

On the other hand, it is obviously impossible to earmark all tax revenue for the specific service of the taxpaying groups. If that were done the State could not operate public schools, which almost two-thirds of general fund money and yield no money in return. The same thing is true of welfare services, and to very large degree of health and higher educational services.

BACK UP — Getting back to the original premise that some members of the highway commission and the Legislature, and a great many citizens, just do not think much of the idea of further bonds or borrowing for construction programs projected ten years or more ahead. There is apparently much greater sentiment than prevailed a few years ago for pay-as-you-go policy.

MATCHING refrigerator and freezer units can be built into the wall side-by-side, or stacked vertically as shown here.

New appliances new materials and other technological developments to make our homes more comfortable, more livable and more durable are exhibited annually in a sort of private world's fair for the benefit of some 21,000 home builders attending their January convention in Chicago.

More than 250 exhibitors reserved space to display new ideas during the sessions of the National Assn. of Home Builders from Jan. 16 to 20. A preview of some 400 of these products is provided for the light construction industry by the American Builder trade publication.

So many of these items are of interest to homeowners and everyone thinking about a home, you might like to look over our shoulder at a few in this January number of American Builder, which is virtually a new products catalogue.

A packaged fold-away dining unit is shown. Table and benches for four persons are surfaced with plastic and metal trimmed. When folded up, the entire unit looks like a shallow built-in cabinet. It's nifty for small kitchens, breakfast nooks, recreation rooms, terraces and breezeways.

A sit-down sink with a recessed front to provide knee room, yet with a sink bowl of standard size and stainless steel, has been designed to take the backache-out of paring, slicing, peeling, sorting and washing fruit and vegetables.

Matching refrigerator and freezer units, approximately square instead of tall and narrow, can be installed one above the other, or side by side at counter height. They are designed to be built into the wall freeing more floor space for the kitchen.

Paneled draperies are available looking much like venetian blinds with slats standing on end. The strips are made of hard-woven cloth and are opened and closed by means of a concealed colored enamel. They ought to be removed, washed and put back while still damp, without ironing.

Lock escutcheons, highly decorative, are now made in both brass and aluminum. Designs are deeply etched and inlaid with brightly colored enamels. The ought to make a nice impression on anyone trying your front door knob.

Plank paneling is another attractive novelty. Trust somebody to take a tree apart and put it back together again. These new panels and tiles for walls and built-in furniture are made of wood flakes compressed back into boards to display unusual wood-like designs. The panels come in 4 by 8-foot sheets, 1/2-inch thick, and the tiles in 12 by 12 and 16 by 16 inches, all in maple, fir, cedar and pine.

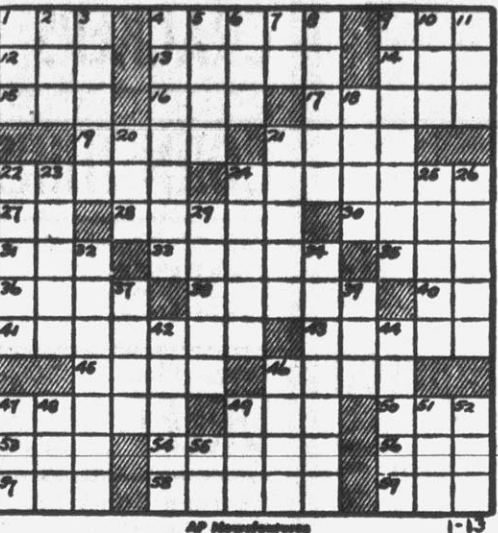

(Mind taking a rain check for the rest of the 400? Space is getting short.)

Big Stakes In Eastern Carolina's Progress and Prosperity

Last year, an expenditure of MORE THAN SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS was necessary to improve or establish new telephone facilities in Eastern North Carolina. This expenditure brought our total plant investment to nearly FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS!

New rural lines, new urban developments, new central office installations... all have been our day to day job here at your Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company.

In 1954, as in years before, the job has been immense, costly and sometimes difficult. But communications are vital if Eastern North Carolina is to grow. That's why we feel we can truthfully say that we have a "big stake" in the progress and prosperity of this part of the state.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK — Steels were outstanding today in a moderately advancing stock market.

Prices in the early afternoon ranged from 1 to 3 points higher to 1 to 2 points lower.

Trading was quiet on the rise at a rate below yesterday's modest 1,400,000 shares.

Up with the steels were oils, radio-televisions, and utilities. Sinking a little were motors and chemicals. The rest of the market was mixed.

At the opening the market was mixed in trading that was enough to put the ticker slightly behind in reporting actual dealings on the floor of the stock exchange. Prices firmed somewhat thereafter with the list presenting a spotty appearance.

Higher stocks included Granite City Steel, Armco Steel, U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet Tube, United Aircraft, Radio Corp., Consolidated Natural Gas, Wilson Co., Armour Co., Chesapeake Ohio, Texas Pacific Coal Oil, and Texas Gulf producing.

Lower were General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Douglas, American Telephone, and Southern Pacific.

Grim Wreckage At Tragedy Site

BURLINGTON, Ky. — Grim wreckage resting in snowy Kentucky hills was all that remained today of a two plane crash that killed 15 persons and left no survivors.

Poking at reasons for the tragedy, a CAA official said the pilot of the private DC3 plane did not file a flight plan. It was in collision with a TWA airliner, a Martin Skyliner.

Lewis Reinhold of Pittsburgh, aviation safety agent for the CAA, issued a statement saying the pilot of the DC3 "did not file a flight plan or make any contact with the CAA's facilities en route."

The collision occurred only a couple of miles from the busy Greater Cincinnati Airport in Boone County, Ky.

The airliner was bound from Cincinnati to Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio, with 10 passengers and a crew of three, including a young stewardess who completed her flight training just before Christmas.

All 13 were killed with two others aboard the DC3.

An investigation was being continued today.

Reinhold said the TWA plane made a normal takeoff and was reported to be flying on instruments in the overcast.

The DC3 was en route to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., from Battle Creek, Mich., with Arthur Werkhaven, Sturgis, Mich., as the pilot and Edward Agner, Battle Creek, as copilot.

Captain of the TWA plane was J. W. Quinn, Belleville, Mich. The first officer was Robert K. Childress, Ann Arbor, Mich., and the stewardess, Patricia Ann Stermer, Ypsilanti, Mich., who had completed her training only last month.

One CAA official, who declined to be quoted, said it appeared as if the planes approached each other as toward the apex of a triangle and that their wings hit first.

The scene of the crash was near Hebron, Ky., approximately 15 miles from downtown Cincinnati.

Dilda To Receive Bond For Work

Larry Dilda, Senior 4-H Club member of the Farmville School, will receive a $50 Savings Bond on January 28 as the Coastal Plains 4-H Champion, the Pitt County Farm Agent has announced.

Dilda who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Dilda, Fountain, will receive the award from the N. C. Foundation Seed Producers, Inc.

The young man is also the Junior Corn Production Champion from Pitt County. In 1953, he produced 83.7 bushels of N. C. 27 on one acre, and received the district 4-H award for that year.

In 1954, he produced 112 bushels of Dixie 82 on one acre, and received a gold watch for this production from the N. C. Foundation Seed Producers, Inc.

Dilda used 300 pounds of 10-20-20 fertilizer at planting and top dressed the corn with 100 lbs. of ammonium nitrate and 200 lbs. of muriate of potash. The corn was irrigated three times during the growing season. It was harvested by hand, shelled, and weighed to determine the yield. He is planning to use Dixie 42 this year.

Hammarskjold Tired From Trip

RENO (AP) — U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold arrived today from his mission to free 11 American airmen in Red China and stayed in bed during a brief plane refueling stop here.

The big silver Super Constellation landed at 5:14 a.m. His personal aide William Rannallo told newsmen:

"You're out of luck boys—he's staying in bed. He's very tired."

Hammarskjold persistently has refused any comment on his talks with Chou En-lai, Red China's Premier and foreign minister on the fate of the 11 Americans and other U.N. prisoners.

Rannallo said he doubted that Hammarskjold would report to the U.N. today.

The plane stopped briefly at Sead Air Force Base here before continuing to New York.

Hammarskjold has maintained a stony silence on the outcome of his mission at every point since he emerged from behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Honolulu which he left last night wearing a pink sunburn on an afternoon on the beach.

At each stop on his return flight Hammarskjold has made clear that he would have nothing to say until he reported to the U.N. General Assembly, which sent him to seek freedom for 11 U.S. airmen jailed as "spies." The airmen were captured in the Korean War.

Rushed To Scene And Nabbed 40

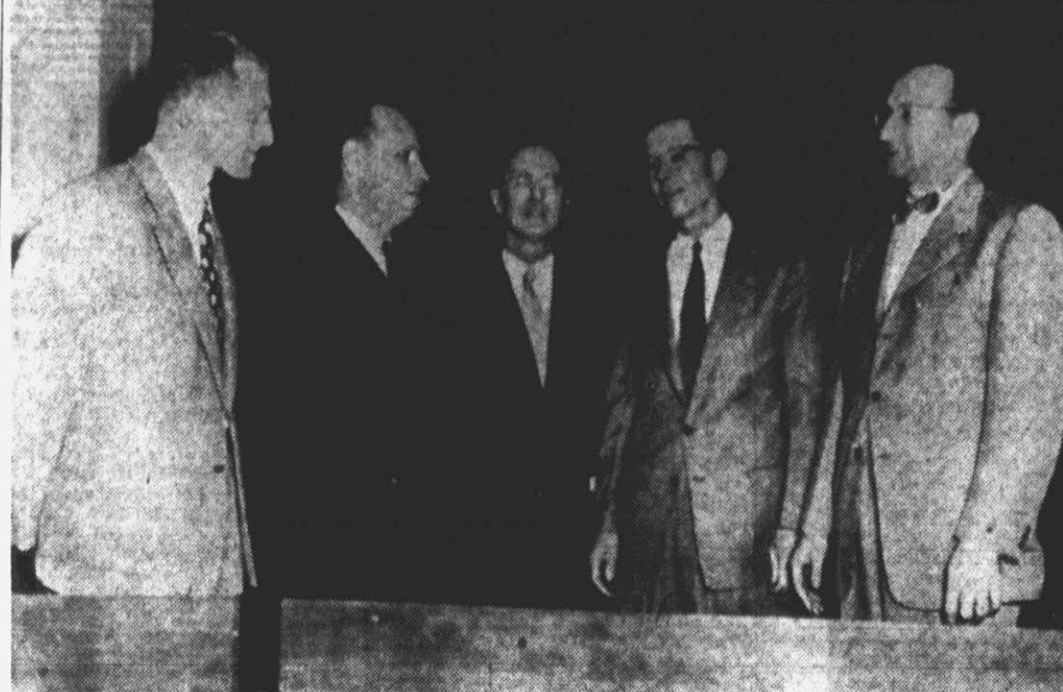

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police Sgt. Wilhelm Neuhaus set out to catch two burglars yesterday but ended up instead with a police captain, a lieutenant and 40 prisoners.

Neuhaus received a call that two men were breaking into the basement of a candy store. He rushed to the scene, found the cellar door open, heard noise and barged in.

He helped capture 40 men accused of illegal card and dice games in the cellar. The prowlers reported to Neuhaus were the captain and lieutenant about to surprise the gamblers.

Should the UN Charter be revised? Is world government feasible at this time?

These and other related questions were discussed last night at Sheppard Memorial Library by a panel composed of Dr. W. E. Marshall and Dr. George Pasti, both of the East Carolina College faculty; Rev. Glenn Haney of the First Christian Church; Sam Underwood, a local attorney; and Michael Lusk, who is president of the Greenville Unitarian Fellowship.

Pitt Legislators Listen To Why WC Costs High

RALEIGH — It costs the State of North Carolina twice as much to educate a girl at the Woman's College in Greensboro as it does at East Carolina College in Greenville.

Two Pitt County legislators heard that fact yesterday and then pressed a Budget Bureau school expert with a question: Why?

Officials of the Greenville school long have contended that their institution is something of a stepchild when it comes to passing out dollars from Raleigh. Reps. Sam Worthington of Greenville and Walter Jones of Farmville wondered aloud if perhaps this contention didn't have something to do with the wide discrepancy in costs.

The Budget Bureau's C.R. Holoman, a school budget analyst, jibed to give an explanation satisfactory to the gentlemen from Pitt.

He explained that the Woman's College is part of the Greater University and has had "down the years a higher function in education."

Most of the teachers it turns out—68 per cent, in fact—go into high school teaching. They deal mainly in subject matter such as home economics, science and industrial arts, and it costs more in equipment and supplies to train them. On the other hand the bulk of the teacher trainees who leave East Carolina College—69 per cent of them—have trained for elementary teaching. It costs less to teach them.

Holoman explained further that almost 90 per cent of WC students live in campus dormitories, whereas only 67 per cent of East Carolina students live on campus. Thus the costs of operating the Greensboro plant are greater.

The teacher load is considerably greater at Greenville—one teacher to 22 students as against one to 15 at Greensboro.

The colleges have about the same enrollment, yet the instructional staff at Greensboro numbers 288 and the staff at Greenville only 168.

Average salaries are about $500 less at East Carolina College. The reason, explained Holoman, is that the faculty members at Greensboro in their specialized fields have been there longer on the average and have built up tenure of office.

This outpouring of facts probably satisfied many House members, but it is doubtful that Sam Worthington became the first North Carolina legislator to receive hurricane disaster relief funds.

A $9,345 check was delivered for partial payment of emergency work completed. Officials of the Federal Civil Defense Administration said it was the first payment of federal relief funds to be made in any state damaged by Hurricane Hazel.

The FCDA has deposited $387,797.52 with State Treasurer Edwin Gill as an advance for making disaster relief payments.

Gov. Hodges urged communities and counties which have claims pending for disaster relief to present their documented bill, contracts and payrolls to the State Budget Bureau for approval so that funds may be disbursed to them.

Project applications submitted by 12 communities and counties have been approved by the FCDA. These include: Dunn, $500; Pender County, $38,475; Onslow County, $45,930; Burgaw, $1,781.50; Kure Beach, $30,393.52; Brunswick County, $219,155; Bath, $975; Faison, $1,600; New Hanover County, $46,012.50; Mount Olive, $6,577.84; Wrightsville Beach, $12,782.09; and Carteret County, $122,675.

First To Receive Disaster Funds

RALEIGH (AP) — Long Beach in Brunswick County, which was dealt a severe blow by Hurricane Hazel last fall, yesterday became the first North Carolina community to receive hurricane disaster relief funds.

A $9,345 check was delivered for partial payment of emergency work completed. Officials of the Federal Civil Defense Administration said it was the first payment of federal relief funds to be made in any state damaged by Hurricane Hazel.

The FCDA has deposited $387,797.52 with State Treasurer Edwin Gill as an advance for making disaster relief payments.

No Work Permit For 14-Year-Old

The Pitt County Superintendent of Public Welfare, K.T. Futrelle, said this morning that the 14-year-old Greenville girl who has been charged a Camp Lejeune Marine with rape, had not applied to his office for a permit to work in the drive-in and that "the office would not have issued one."

Futrelle explained that his office issued the permits and the State Labor Department had the primary responsibility for checking or bringing legal action in a case of this nature.

The Greenville agent for the State Labor Department, Emily Moye Hadley, could not be reached this morning for comment as to whether legal action was planned in this case.

Futrelle said that girls under the age of 16 are not issued permits to work at night in establishments selling beer. Futrelle also said that, for example, a permit can be issued for a 14-year-old girl to work in a dime store.

Employers, Futrelle continued, have the responsibility to see that underage girls have obtained work permits.

Pvt. Lemuel Francis Campbell of Camp Lejeune is charged with raping the 14-year-old girl after picking her up at midnight at a local drive-in and allegedly promising to drive her directly home.

The young girl stated at a preliminary hearing that she was working at the drive-in on Saturday night because the establishment was short of help. She had worked there on a previous occasion for several weeks.

The 17-year-old Marine is being held in jail without bond pending grand jury action in Pitt Superior Court, probably on Jan. 25.

Barbers Fined, Another Charged

The owners of two Greenville barber shops were found guilty of running unsanitary establishments, in County Court this week, in suits brought by the State Board of Barber Examiners.

Arthur Midgette, Negro, charged with running an unsanitary barber shop, failure to furnish an up-to-date health certificate and shop permit, was found guilty as charged, and fined $25 and costs. Midgette's Star Barber Shop is located at 900 Dickinson Ave.

Archie Corey and T. L. Terry, both Negro, operating a barber shop on West End Circle, were each fined $25 and costs—Terry for operating an unsanitary barber shop; and Corey for operating an unsanitary barber shop, failure to furnish an up-to-date health certificate, and having no barber's license.

According to testimony in court, the shops were found to be in a general unsanitary condition, with dirty towels, combs on the walls, hair in the tool cabinets, unclean instruments, etc.

County Solicitor J. C. Lanier Jr. said this morning that a barber shop in Griffon will be prosecuted in county court on similar charges in February.

Marine Division Is Activated By South Korea

SEOUL (AP) — Defense Minister Sohn Wahn today announced the activation of South Korea's first full-strength Marine division.

A spokesman said the division, of three brigades, includes about 24,000 Marines, roughly comparable to the U.S. 1st Marine Division now in Korea.

Sohn also said the South Korean navy would be increased by 27 ships, including two destroyers, on loan from the United States. He said the vessels will triple the size of the South Korean Navy.

Other plans to strengthen South Korea this year include the introduction of a wing of F86 Sabres and a wing of C47 transporters, Sohn said.
