Carolina Shakes Off Snowstorm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Clearing weather today helped North Carolina thaw out from the heaviest snowstorm in seven years. Many schools remained closed following the snowfall of late Tuesday and yesterday that caused at least three deaths.

The Highway Patrol said all primary highways in the state were open to traffic. Snow was removed from most secondary roads, but rural roads were generally still slushy.

The weather began clearing in the western part of the state at dawn today following a second overnight freeze. The Weather Bureau said the clearing wave would reach the eastern part of the state by noon.

High temperatures of 30 to 35 in the mountains and 35 to 43 elsewhere were expected to clear most remaining roads today, and start melting the snowmen that children built yesterday.

One bright spot of the snowfall that ranged from 15 inches on Mt. Mitchell to a trace in the southeastern corner of the state was that the melting and runoff would raise the water table, a help should there be a dry spell next summer as there was last summer.

Commercial travel was generally back to normal. Bus, air and railroad lines reported that all schedules were being maintained, with slight delays in some cases.

The Highway Patrol said that a "great job" yesterday of clearing roads was done by the W. H. Rogers said 4,500 highway workers and 650 pieces of equipment, including bulldozers, motor plows and graders were put into action.

At Bakersville in the western part of the state Mayor Earl Randle was asked yesterday whether the snow had caused any traffic accident. His reply: "We haven't had any traffic."

The snowfall prevented the immediate return to the Virginia State Penitentiary in Richmond of Arthur Schachman, 23, of Richmond, one of six prisoners who escaped Saturday. Schachman, serving 11 years for robbery and grand larceny, was captured in Western North Carolina and is being held in jail at Franklin. Two penitentiary officers set out from Richmond at 5 a. m. yesterday, but turned back because of the snow. They will try again today.

But there were grimmer tales of the storm. Cam Taylor, 33, was found dead in a wooded area near his home in the Mount Olive community of Henderson County. The assistant coroner said he died of freezing.

Duke C. Overcash, 57, of High Point, and Burney Franklin Everledge, 58, of Winston-Salem, suffered fatal heart attacks while putting chains on their cars.

Zoning Body To Discuss Reports Of Violations

The Zoning Commission tonight will discuss the question of businesses being conducted in residential areas. A meeting of the body has been set for 8 o'clock at City Hall.

Reports have been received concerning small home-operated businesses, a situation contrary to the zoning laws of the city. The commission will attempt to decide what should be done about such businesses.

Also on the agenda for the meeting will be the selection of a regular monthly meeting date, a study of rear yard requirements, the zoning of sections of the city which are un-zoned, study of requirements in regard to structures in side yards, and a study of the question of trailers in the yards of private homes.

Glowing Economic Report Includes Note Of Warning

1956 Tax Reduction Said Likely

ECONOMIC AT-A-GLANCE By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Eisenhower, in his economic message today— 1. Reported recovery "ewl und... 2. Gave strong promise of tax relief next year. None this. 3. Cautioned that stock speculation or labor strife could damage prosperity. 4. Called for a 90-cent minimum wage higher jobless pay.

ECONOMIC REPORT LEAD By STERLING F. GREEN WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower handed Congress today his 10-year blueprint for the achievement of 500 billion dollars or more in annual production and said 1955 promises a high level of jobs and production. In a glowingly optimistic economic message, Eisenhower gave virtual assurance of a "general, though modest, reduction in taxes" in 1956, made possible by a broad business recovery now in process. He wagged a warning finger at the soaring stock market, declaring that "continued economic recovery must not be jeopardized by over-enthusiasm of speculative activity." The government, he said, will meet its "great responsibility" to prevent a financial boom-and-bust. Picturing the present as a time of industrial expansion, he said labor strife often increases in such periods with "serious economic repercussions."

These were among 33 recommendations in the 207-page report. But Eisenhower stressed that government's role—in helping to achieve the 40 per cent production rise needed to reach a 500-billion-dollar annual output of goods and services in 1955—will be primarily that of encouraging private initiative, curbing monopoly and avoiding encroachment on industry. Most of the specific recommendations underscored requests made in the earlier State of the Union and budget messages. Eisenhower asked Congress to: Promote foreign commerce by extending for three years the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, is all that can be "economically justified." A higher minimum might cause lower production and substantial unemployment in several industries." He proposed, however, that Congress consider extending minimum wage protection gradually to 20 million workers now not covered. "These were among 33 recommendations in the 207-page report. But Eisenhower stressed that government's role—in helping to achieve the 40 per cent production rise needed to reach a 500-billion-dollar annual output of goods and services in 1955—will be primarily that of encouraging private initiative, curbing monopoly and avoiding encroachment on industry. Most of the specific recommendations underscored requests made in the earlier State of the Union and budget messages. Eisenhower asked Congress to: Promote foreign commerce by extending for three years the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, with presidential power to reduce tariffs by as much as 15 per cent. Postpone the cuts in corporation and excise taxes scheduled for April 1. By next year Eisenhower said, rising revenues and further federal economies "should make possible another step in the reduction of taxes." "Take action "this year to help meet our nationwide needs for school construction." The President again did not specify the kind or amount of federal aid he had in mind. A special message will be sent Feb. 15, he said, dealing with "appropriate" plans. Give the President power to tighten credit terms and increase down payments on federally underwritten mortgages when inflation threatens, and relax the terms when real estate activity slacks off. Authorize 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years, and increase the mortgage-insuring authority of the Federal Housing Administration. Sharpen the teeth of the Sherman antitrust law by raising "substantially" the maximum fines. Extend the program of small business loans which expires June 30, and increase the lending authority. Let the government put 25 billion dollars, largely raised by bond issues of a proposed independent authority, into a 10-year, 100-billion-dollar highway construction program in partnership with the states. Increase the ceiling on the national debt. The limit now is temporarily at 261 billion dollars and is being crowded on June 30 it reverts to 275 billion. Provide additional funds to finance city and state planning of public works, and for operating a new "office of coordinator of public works" in the White House. Expand the Commerce Department's program for helping depressed areas and alling industries.

Bloodmobile To Visit City; In Bethel Tuesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will pay its first visits to this area next Monday and Tuesday when it will be here and in Bethel on those two days.

Locally the Monday visit will be sponsored by the Greenville Exchange Club, and the unit will be set up at the armory from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

Ed Harris and Herbert White Lee have been appointed by Exchange Club President E. O. Parkinson to be in charge of donor solicitation. Potential donors may also contact the local Red Cross office at 4222 for a scheduled appointment.

Quota for the visit is 140 pints of blood. Lester E. Turnage is Greenville's chairman in charge of the program. In Bethel the unit will be set up at the Rotary Building Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sidney Moore is chairman of this visit.

The local chapter of the American National Red Cross, which sponsors the Bloodmobile program, reports 833 pints of blood were used in Pitt County during the past year.

It was explained that since Pitt participates in the national Red Cross program, every citizen of the county is eligible to have his blood tested wherever he is hospitalized.

Prison Officials Growing Hopeful

BOSTON (AP)—State prison authorities today said indications the four rebellious convicts holding five guards hostages for the third day may soon be ready to settle for less than freedom despite their continued show of defiance.

The Rev. Edward P. Hartigan, prison Catholic chaplain, and Dr. Samuel Merlin, prison physician, listened to the four hardened criminals for an hour and a half last night and later told newsmen: "The men say they are determined to hold out, but we are optimistic as to the eventual outcome."

Father Hartigan said "one of the injustices they feel greatly is the type of sentencing in the criminal courts—of the commonwealth, whereby men are sentenced for very long terms which takes from their hearts any hope."

"They agree," the chaplain said, "that proper sentencing is practiced in California whereby a man is sentenced for an indefinite period, limited to life, which gives him a year-to-year hope according to the progress he himself makes in prison."

The 35-year-old priest said that was the conviction principal complaint. He did not outline any further grievances.

He said the convicts were "very courteous, respectful and talkative, indicating a desire to lay bare their problems."

He said the hostage guards "have been given every consideration and courtesy. No officer has been mistreated."

Dr. Merlin said that although he has seen three guns in the possession of the rebellious convicts there has been no bullying display of them at any time.

U.S. Observers In Tachen Islands

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A U.S. observation team is stationed on the Tachen Islands, believed here to be a prime target for invasion by the Chinese Reds.

The team is led by a colonel and includes four or five officers and enlisted men. Their names were not reported. All are from the U.S. Military Assistance and Advisory Group, which is training and equipping President Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist forces.

Official American sources said the team is in the Tachens solely to advise on training matters, observe the rotation of American-trained troops and report on the general situation in the Tachen area.

Also Proposes Closer Rein On Highway Dept. Funds

Hodges Rejects Road Bonds Issue

RALEIGH (AP)—Gov. Hodges today turned down the recommendation of the State Highway Commission for a 150-million-dollar bond issue for primary highway improvements. In a message read to the Senate and House, Hodges also proposed closer budgetary control of the highway fund. "In my opinion, it is time that the highway fund be handled as an integral part of state government and not as a separate, un-integrated enterprise," the governor stated. "I propose in the interest of the state as a whole, that the Highway Department be treated in the same manner as other departments of the state government," he added.

Highway Chairman A. H. Graham who conferred with Gov. Hodges this morning before the message was read to the Legislature, said he had no immediate comment. Graham said he might have a statement out that the full commission will meet here next Thursday and "undoubtedly" will discuss the situation. Asked if he planned to take the road proposals to the legislators despite the governor's unfavorable views, Graham replied, "Oh, no. We have no idea of that sort of proposition." Response from several members of the Senate Roads Committee brought strong support for the governor's position. Sen. Claude Currie of Durham, Highway chairman, said it was a strong and frank message "and brought "the whole question into focus." Sen. Adam Whitley of Johnston said he was "absolutely opposed" to the commission's proposals. Sen. Calvin Graves of Forsyth said the message "raises some very interesting questions," and Sen. Clarence Stone of Rockingham said, "I think the governor is exactly right. He is a former highway commissioner and certainly should know what he's talking about." Hodges rejected the very recommendations of the Highway Commission, based on a survey by a New York engineering firm, last Friday. However, he delayed his report to the Legislature and asked Highway chairman A. H. Graham for answers to several questions concerning the road proposals. Today, Hodges said the answers "have further convinced me that much of what the commission has recommended is, to say the least, premature." Hodges said Graham told him, "In the opinion of the commission, none of the revenue result from the proposed increased highway taxes should be related to or earmarked for debt service or retirement of the recommended bond issue. No suggestion was offered as to how the proposed bond issue is to be financed." "Therefore, I must and do recommend that there be no authorization for a highway bond issue at the present time," the governor said.

British Reveal Exchanges On China Problem Consultation On Cease-Fire

LONDON (AP)—Britain disclosed today that she has consulted with the United States and New Zealand on a possible move in the United Nations to obtain a cease-fire in the China fighting.

A Foreign Office spokesman, replying to a reporter's question, said the proposal "was one of a number of possible courses of action which we have discussed with the United States and New Zealand in the course of exchanges over recent months."

"But no decision to carry it out was taken," the spokesman added. The spokesman was commenting on a report from U.N. Headquarters that Britain and New Zealand have been considering taking a joint cease-fire resolution to the U.N. Security Council.

The report said the countries have been studying the matter for several days but have done nothing because of opposition from Nationalist China.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference yesterday that he would like to see the United Nations use its good offices to halt the shooting war between Red China and Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa.

The Foreign Office refused to say what further discussions Britain is carrying on with the United States or other Western powers on a possible cease-fire move.

Britain prepared to register a formal protest with the Chinese Nationalists against the air bombing of the 1,717-ton British ship Edendale last night in the Red China port of Swatow.

The protest is to be made to Formosa provincial authorities at Tamsui. Britain recognizes Red China and has only consultative relations with the Nationalists on Formosa.

The Foreign Office gave a cautious welcome last night to Eisenhower's suggestion for U.N. efforts to end the fighting.

"We would be sympathetic to any act that might lead to the end of the fighting," a spokesman said. "Reference of the matter to the United Nations might be one possible method, but any action would need careful consideration."

The British were reported hesitant to sponsor the U.N. move because they anticipate angry rejection by both Red China and the Chinese Nationalists. The British have kept up "liberate Formosa" propaganda to rally home front support. And Chiang's "back to the mainland" cry has been aimed to buck up morale of the Nationalist troops on Formosa.

The influential London Times editorially hailed Eisenhower's true suggestion "as another proof of the present open-minded approach of his government to the problems of peace."

Nicaragua Bares Teeth; Charging Border Violated

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rica's million threatened to widen today.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) Nicaragua formally warned Costa Rica today that a "grave state of affairs" could arise from border incidents in Costa Rica's nine-day-old rebellion.

Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza charged his neighbor's new U.S.-purchased fighters had violated the Costa Rican-Nicaraguan frontier, and he said four of his own fighters would patrol the border to meet any further trespassers.

In a message to the Inter-American investigation commission here, Somoza charged two of the Costa Rican pilots had veered their P-51 Mustangs over the frontier while strafing La Cruz, seven miles from the border. It was the pilots' first mission with the planes, which arrived in San Jose Monday.

The Nicaraguan President, a long-time enemy of Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, told a news conference in Managua last night that the situation could become "an international conflict."

The protest to the commission sent here by the 21-nation organization of American States, said the Costa Rican planes had created "a very tense" situation. The note said Nicaragua also was reinforcing its border garrisons.

Sam Worthington Voted Broader Secrecy Rules

One of Pitt County's representatives in the House voted yesterday in favor of the new House rule which permits committees of the House to hold closed sessions.

Rep. Sam O. Worthington of Greenville told a reporter in Raleigh he voted in favor of the rule making it possible for all House committees and sub-committees to hold closed sessions.

Rep. Walter B. Jones of Farmville told a reporter he was not present in the House when the matter came to the floor for action. Jones said he had been called to the governor's office for a conference on a matter affecting East Carolina College and did not know the rules change was coming up on the floor of the House.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Gerald L. Blegier, a 21-year-old soldier, was given a suspended one-year sentence yesterday for taking a Cadillac last month in Nashville, Tenn., after explaining that he had been anxious to get back to Ft. Knox, Ky., before he overstayed his leave.

Chiang's Planes Again Smash At Red Shipping

By SPENCER MOOSA TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Waves of Nationalist Chinese warplanes smashed at Communist vessels near the invasion-threatened Tachen Islands today, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said while Nationalist guerrillas battled grimly to maintain their precarious hold on nearby Yikiangshan island.

The ministry claimed six ships, further unidentified were sunk near the Tachens 200 miles north of Formosa. Farther south, other Nationalist planes claimed two vessels sunk and three damaged off the coast of Fukien province.

Still more planes rained "millions" of leaflets on the Red China coast, the Nationalists reported.

The ministry said the planes attacked in waves from 2 a. m. until 7:30 a. m., and returned without loss despite Communist anti-aircraft fire from both land and sea.

The attacks marked the second straight day of heavy Nationalist air attacks on Communist shipping.

The Nationalists asserted the guerrillas on Yikiangshan, eight miles north of the Tachens, were still holding out, two full days after Peiping radio trumpeted the tiny outpost had fallen to Communist invaders.

Peiping radio continued to treat conquest of the island as an accomplished fact. A broadcast heard in Tokyo said all Peiping newspapers carried front page roundups of the "joyful reaction among the armed forces in east China over the liberation of Yikiangshan."

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the guerrillas were still resisting in life-or-death struggle despite three heavy shellings from Red-held Toumen Island and the arrival of Red reinforcements.

The ministry said two Red warships laid down a curtain of fire while fresh Communist troops poured ashore on the 3½-square-mile island.

There was no official indication of the size of the holdout force, but it was believed to be small. Yesterday the Nationalist air force prowled along some 300 miles of the southern coast of Formosa, and the Defense Ministry said at least 17 Red ships were sunk and five damaged. Most of the ships were small.

Nationalist artillery on Quemoy fired 500 shells into Red-held Chiangou Island in Amoy harbor. The ministry said many artillery positions were smashed in the heaviest bombardment from Quemoy since September.

Guaranty Bank Cites Favorable Year And Promising Prospects

Stockholders of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, organized here in 1901, gathered yesterday at the Shepard Memorial Library in Greenville for the 54th annual stockholders meeting.

W. H. Woolard, president of the bank, presided at the stockholders meeting at which more than 60,000 of the 70,000 shares of stock outstanding were represented either in person or by proxy.

Reporting on the activities of the bank during the past year, Woolard told stockholders, "In many respects 1954 was the best year in the history of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company. The majority of our customers are farmers or those who are interested either directly or indirectly in farming operations. Owing to somewhat unfavorable crop season, there were several weak spots in the farming operation last year."

Deposits Increase A large percentage of the banks loans are made to farmers, Woolard said, and "although 1954 was not an all round good crop year, repayments with us were good. Our deposits are two million dollars more than they were in 1953. Loans are about 10 per cent less than they were a year ago. Our earnings were very favorable and amounted to over 34½ per cent of our capital of $700,000."

The president reminded stockholders that in November the directors of the bank decided to pay a stock dividend "which thereby would increase our capital account to be more in proportion with the growing deposits from year to year."

This was largely prompted by the favorable reaction to the stock dividend issued a year ago, he said.

"As shown by the statement, the bank has substantial investments in government obligations," Woolard pointed out, "which have an average maturity of 14 months. This gives a liquidity that is extremely helpful in meeting demands for loans during the spring and summer, and to take care of the seasonal decline of deposits."

On the past year, the bank president said, the past year has been "very satisfactory. The dependable yardstick by which we can operate is that of past experience. Judging from that, and the condition of our bank at present, I do not see anything in the sky that indicates any gloom on the outlook for 1955."

Woolard expressed his appreciation for the loyalty of the stockholders, directors and other officers in the bank, and members of the board of branch managers, "and especially the loyal and efficient service of our 129 employees."

Chairman's Statement James S. Ficklen, chairman of the board of the bank, spoke briefly to the stockholders pointing out

U.D.C. Observes Birthdays Of Southern Leaders

The George B. Singletary Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy met with Mrs. J. G. Lautares at her home on Thursday, January 19th.

Mrs. E. W. Harvey, president, dispensed with the usual business emphasizing the yearly projects the regular program of the Daughters. Reports were heard from various chairmen, interest centering on information from Historian Miss Mary Thomas Smith.

Mrs. T. T. Hollingsworth gave the program for the afternoon. Lee and Jackson, whose birthdays occur in January were the subjects used.

Mrs. Hollingsworth adeptly stressed the fact that the figure of Stonewall Jackson stands forth today with an entirely unique individuality among southern leaders and will ever impart historic grandeur to the American name.

In paying tribute to Lee Mrs. Hollingsworth repeated Joseph E. Johnston's comments, "His correctness of demeanor and language, attention to all duties, personal and official gave him a superiority which everyone acknowledged in his heart."

She added "For such as Lee there is no death. His stainless life is an inspiration. His service as educator still bear glorious fruit, his immortal spirit marches on with his people as through stress and storm they mount the heights of worthy achievements."

"He triumphed and he did not die. No funeral bells were tolled. For on that day at Lexington Fame came herself to hold His stirrups, while he mounted, To ride the streets of gold."

Fountain P.T.A. Meets
FOUNTAIN—The Fountain Parent-Teachers Association met in the school auditorium on Thursday evening, January 13.

E. C. Newton, president, presided. The devotional was led by Dorothy Newton and Gloria Gardner. The third and fourth grades, under the direction of Mrs. Emily Mercer and Mrs. Lucy Batta, presented a play entitled "Welcome Happy New Year." Mrs. Batta's fourth grade won the attendance prize. Principal A. S. Alford urged everyone to do all possible for the March of Dimes drive.

'Economic Trends' Is Topic For Clio Club Program

The Clio Club held its regular meeting on January 18 at the home of Mrs. James Moye in College Court. Mrs. Luther Moore, president, welcomed Mrs. Ray Minges who was a guest and then called on Mrs. Agnes Barrett, who presented the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. James Stewart of the Social Studies Department, E.C.C.

Dr. Stewart in a very interesting manner presented a program on "Economic Trends." He told his hearers that all should be interested in economic forecasts as they affect the life of everyone from the big business man right on down to the housewife on a limited budget. He stated that during the last 25 years we have developed the tools with which to analyze the economic situation and while mountainous statistics are kept, these can be condensed into fairly accurate forecasts for the future. He analyzed economic conditions during the depression of the '20s up to the present, stating that 1954 was the best peacetime year and the outlook for 1955 is about the same as it was in the year just past. He concluded with the statement that we all like good times but don't like the statistics that go with them, but the club members all agreed that Dr. Stewart's statistics were very interesting.

At the conclusion of the program a short business meeting was held, and Mrs. Moore, president, urged all members to attend the opera at East Carolina College on January 24. Mrs. Moye, assisted by Mrs. Clara Shackell and Mrs. Jake Hadley, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

A delightful social period was enjoyed followed by the exchange of books. The meeting was then adjourned.

JUST FOR NOISE
DALLAS (AP)—Two students at South Oak Cliff High School were injured when a homemade bomb exploded in the boy's washroom. A 16-year-old admitted he set it off "just for the noise."

Spring Tour Of Social Calendar College Choir Begins Feb. 28

The East Carolina College Choir, composed of sixty men and women students, has announced that its second annual spring tour of the state will take place February 28—March 2. The organization, directed by Dr. Elwood Keister of the college department of music, will appear in eleven towns and cities of the state and will give more than twenty concerts, in addition to programs on television and radio.

The choir will sing also in churches in Reidsville, High Point, Rocky Mount, and Wilmington. An appearance on WNCN-TV of Greenville is now being arranged.

The annual home concert of the choir will be held Sunday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the Austin auditorium on the East Carolina campus. Of chief interest on this program will be a special Lenten performance of the "Requiem" by Gabriel Faure. Included also will be carols, spirituals, and modern arrangements.

During its 1954 tour the College Choir sang concerts throughout the state to a combined audience of over ten thousand people.

Mrs. Stokes Succeeds Mrs. Whichard As Jay-c-ette President

The Jay-c-ettes held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday night, January 12, at the Woman's Club. Approximately 27 members enjoyed a delectable barbecue chicken dinner.

Mrs. Dave Whichard resigned her office as president. The Board of Directors appointed Mrs. Clarke Stokes to serve the duration of Mrs. Whichard's unexpired term. This appointment was approved by the membership. Mrs. Stokes paid tribute to Mrs. Whichard for the outstanding job she has done since the club was organized. Mrs. Whichard was the first president of the local Jay-c-ette Club.

Mrs. Whichard reported on the Salvation Army Christmas party for underprivileged children which was very successful. She also reported that about 35 people attended the speech given by Mrs. Chandler of Wrights Refuge, Durham, N. C.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a Valentine party.

Joint Hostesses To HD Club Meeting
Mrs. D. M. Taylor and Mrs. L. W. Taylor were hostesses to the St. John's Home Demonstration Club when it met Monday afternoon at the community building.

Girl Scout News

The Brownie Leaders' Club at its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday morning, January 19, at the home of Mrs. E. L. Henderson elected Mrs. Charles Howard Jr. as president and Mrs. F. H. Trapnell as vice-president for the year 1955. Mrs. James Joyner will serve with them as secretary.

During the brief business session a committee was appointed to help with refreshments and decorations at the annual tea of the Girl Scout Council, which will be held at the Rotary Club on January 30th.

It was announced that the cookie sale would be held in March and that profits would again go to Camp Hardee.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Henderson, who is chairman of the Program Committee on the Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Henderson told a most interesting and amusing story, "Forest Full of Friends," which emphasized the nature study so important in the Scout program. She taught the group several games which would be useful at Brownie meetings and asked Mrs. J. K. Proctor to lead the singing of songs appropriate for the Brownie age level. Examples of handicrafts made at troop meetings were exhibited and were examined with interest by everyone present.

At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Henderson invited her guests into the dining room, where a delicious buffet luncheon was served. The table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums in a cutglass bowl flanked by green candles in crystal holders. Mrs. J. K. Proctor and Mrs. Bruce Sugg Jr. assisted the hostess in serving.

Present for this delightful and inspiring meeting were Mrs. Amos Evans, Mrs. Sherman Parks, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Trapnell, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Jr., Mrs. L. R. Buchanan, Mrs. Timmy M. Sellers, Mrs. E. R. Sermons, and Mrs. P. T. Anthony Jr.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
January 20, 1925

Mrs. R. C. Stokes Jr. was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to the members of her bridge club. Three tables were arranged for games and several interesting progressions were enjoyed. The place cards were miniature calendars. Mrs. James Ficklen making top score was presented an embroidered towel. The club was delighted to have as guests Mrs. W. H. Rogers and Misses Jesse Moye and Ruth Andrews. A salad course was served.

Achievement Testing Begins Next Week For Pitt County School Pupils

Achievement testing will begin next week in the Pitt County schools, according to an announcement from supervisor Annie Lee Jones.

Miss Jones said the tests in the basic skills—reading, English, arithmetic, spelling and handwriting—will be given in grades four through 12 in all the county schools.

This will be the first time the achievement tests have been administered on a county-wide basis. Heretofore only the reading tests have been given county-wide, with each individual school testing in achievement.

Miss Jones is in charge of the testing for grades four through six, while Mrs. Edna Earle Baker is supervising grades seven through 12.

A series of meetings have been planned by the supervisors so that they may meet with the teachers of the various schools to give pre-instructions regarding the administering, scoring and interpretation of the tests. Miss Jones said this is to insure uniformity.

Raised Sum For March Of Dimes

A total of $72 was raised for the March of Dimes when the Seven Pines Home Demonstration Club sponsored the Carolina Partners at the Farmville School Saturday night for the benefit of the current polo drive.

This was the report given when the club met Tuesday at the community building with Mrs. Walter Moore serving as hostess for the afternoon.

Project reports were given by Mrs. Russell Britt on family life in which she used a magazine display; Mrs. J. R. Heath on home gardening; and Mrs. Roy Jones on health in which she revealed the progress made in treating tuberculosis.

Home agent Lillie Little presented the demonstration on Newer Vegetable Crops.

Devolitional for the afternoon was led by Mrs. Lawrence Rackley and Mrs. Roy Jones presided over the session.

News From Fountain

By MRS. J. B. OWENS

Mrs. Franke Hines and children moved Saturday to Fountain in the home vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Forrest last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petty of Washington, D. C. were week end guests of Mrs. Petty's mother, Mrs. Mattie Nichols.

Little Jeanne Terrel Flanagan of Farmville is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Horton while her mother Mrs. James L. Flanagan is a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

Mrs. L. B. Manning is spending a few days in Benson with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Barefoot and children.

Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Eagles of Louisville, Ky. and Mrs. W. R. Williams of Nashville visited relatives in Fountain Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard L. West left Sunday afternoon for Winston-Salem to attend the Bowman-Gray Clinic. They will return to their home here Thursday or Friday of this week.

Mrs. W. E. Hardy of Kinston spent a few days last week with Mrs. Albert Bell.

Mrs. Josephine Richard Gaughran of Baltimore is on an extended visit with Mrs. Lum Jefferson.

Mrs. Calvin Baker, Mrs. Lum Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Baker spent Friday in Wilson with Mrs. Calvin Baker and Mrs. Jeff-son's sister Mrs. Ealey Wheeler.

Mrs. J. W. Redick and Mr. and Mrs. Carter G. Smith and children visited Major and Mrs. R. L. Perley at Fort Bragg Sunday.

The Circle of the Women of Fountain Presbyterian Church met in the Church Tuesday night with thirteen members and one visitor present. Circle chairman, Mrs. E. C. Newton was in charge of the program. She used for her scripture lesson, Romans, chapter one. Mrs. Carter G. Smith read the article, "Forward with Christ", a three-year program. The president Mrs. J. L. Peele presided over the business session.

The Fountain Presbyterian Church Sunday School members that were awarded a beautiful Bible with their names engraved in gold, for perfect attendance for the year 1954 were: Wayne Bushman, Jo Ann Jefferson, Betty Sue Baker, Barbara Dilda, George Henry McLain Burnette, Mary Ann Peele Rachel Case, Mary Elizabeth Newton, Dorth Louise Newton, Ruth Jefferson, Bennette Dilda, Jimmy Everette, Shirley Everette, Paula Burnette, Carolyn Harris, Mary Paula Burnette, Ann Stator Everette, Teressa Mosley, Sarah Glynn Smith, Sandra Lynn Smith, Carolyn Sue Dilda, and Johnny Dilda.

Dr. Jake Here Friday Evening

Dr. Stanley Jaks, psychologist from Zurich, Switzerland, will be guest of honor at a meeting of the Pitt County Executives Club Friday night at 7 o'clock in the North Dining Hall at East Carolina College.

Dr. Jaks, who has entertained the President of the United States, European royalty, and a number of lesser-known celebrities, is a handwriting expert and entertainer. He will discuss the psychology of various handwritings as he gives his internationally famous demonstration of lightning forgery. Included in his performance will be the duplication of signatures while writing blindfolded.

Dr. Jaks has been described by nationally known columnists as "an amazing mentalist" and "the Modern Nostradamus."

Dr. Frank Is Guest Speaker For End of Century

On Tuesday, January 18, Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. J. L. Fleming Jr. entertained the End of the Century Club at the home of the former. Visitors were Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, Mrs. Upchurch and Mrs. Perry.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas urged all members to attend the Service League bridge and canasta tournament on February 3.

Mrs. J.H.B. Moore announced that there would be a display of Scalmandre fabrics at the Art Gallery during January.

The club voted to go on record as endorsing the plans of the Garden Club for beautifying the library grounds.

Mrs. Fleming Sr. introduced Dr. A. D. Frank, who gave the club a most interesting resume of current events, touching on the serious economic condition of Russia and her satellites, and the grave danger of touching off a war around Formosa. This was followed by a spirited discussion of other events in the world today.

Martin Co. Students To Present Musical Program January 26

ROBERSONVILLE — Approximately 300 7th and 8th grade students, representing every school in Martin County, will present a program of choral music in the Robersonville High School gymnasium Wednesday night, January 26, at 7:30. Everyone is invited to attend this concert. There will be three groups of music—sacred, folk songs and spirituals. Mr. Bob Craft of Robersonville will be the director and Mr. Clyde Wade of Williamston will be the accompanist. The music teachers are Mrs. Mabel Arnold of Farm Life, Mrs. Clarence Maxwell of Jamesville, Miss Marilyn Thomas of Hamilton, Mrs. Ward of Bear Grass, Mrs. Irving Smith of Everettts and Miss Jeanne Taylor of Robersonville.

It is hoped that this type festival will become an annual affair in Martin County.

Another Dangerous Precedent

The new House rule broadening the scope of secrecy of legislative matters adds support to suggestions that some members of the General Assembly consider it none of the people's business what legislators do concerning matters which vitally affect the everyday lives of North Carolinians.

In the adoption of its rule which permits every committee of the House to go into executive session for very loosely defined

Investigation Of Teenage Employment Should Go On

The sentence imposed upon the operator of a Greenville drive-in for violating regulations of the State Labor Department in the employment of teenagers should bring about reforms in practices of others who have flaunted similar labor regulations which pertain to youngsters.

It is essential that the labor laws which apply to the work of teenagers be enforced for the welfare of the youngsters and for the good of the state. The one drive-in operator prosecuted in City Court here yesterday entered a plea of guilty to working five teenagers without permits and contrary to the labor laws of the state.

There is every reason to believe that throughout the state—including Pitt County—there are and have been other instances in which teenagers work under conditions contrary to labor regulations. The investigation of the situation should not stop with the case of the one drive-in operator who has been prosecuted. It should be pushed to bring to light any other possible violations of the law, and to give those operators who are abiding by the law a clean bill of health.

The regulations governing employment of teenagers have been written to protect the youth of the state. The extent to which they accomplish the goal for which they are intended will depend almost entirely upon the rigid enforcement of the law.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
REGARDING SAINTS
It is interesting to note that the Bible never whitewashes its saints.
Jacob, from whom the nation of Hebrews derived its name Israel, started out as an unmitigated rascal and ended a saved and saintly man. Moses was plagued with a bad temper as long as he lived. David, Friend of God, was involved in treachery, adultery, and murder. Peter forsook his Lord in an hour of need and denied that he knew him. Paul the Apostle took part before his conversion in persecutions which involved the death of hapless victims. The Bible only once refers to whitewash—our Lord's reference to the Pharisees as whitewashed sepulchers.

What is a saint? A saint is a sinner who is trying to become better. The Lord appears to be interested more in what we are trying to do than in what we accomplish. Jacob, Moses, David, Peter, and Paul stand out as great spiritual leaders, yet their lives at times broke down morally in an ignominious fashion. The Biblical writers did not get out the whitewash brush and pall when the time came to exhibit the characters of these men. They set them forth as they were.

All of which may well encourage us in the midst of our moral failures. The question is not whether we fail, but whether after failure we pick ourselves up and start all over again.

Rabbits In Uncle Sam's Hat?

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—The various Eisenhower-Humphrey schemes for spending billions without directly increasing taxes or the public debt face solid opposition in Congress on the ground that "You can't pull rabbits out of even Uncle Sam's hat." If you don't have any rabbits on hand before the act.

The program of off-bounds financing has already been denounced as "evasion, deception and lacerated authority" by the Democrats' spokesman and acknowledged authority on this subject, Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who has gained new authority in this field as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

DEMANDS FOR GREATER ECONOMY—Although generally friendly to Eisenhower, Byrd feels deeply on this question. Disregard of his demands for greater economy and more prudent management of public money could easily transform him into a foe of the Administration, as it turned him against F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman.

As of today, there seems little doubt that the Virginian would command a majority in both chambers, Republicans and Democrats. The White House is extremely alarmed over the Byrd dissent, for it is upon Southern Conservatives of his type that Ike must depend for preserving 1952 GOP gains in Dixie.

TOUCHES ALL POCKETBOOKS—The problem of irregular financing, however, transcends the personal fortunes of the President or the Senator. It has attracted serious notice because of its technical aspects, but it touches both big and little pocketbooks of the present and future generations.

Simply put, Eisenhower seeks to improve and expand the nation's physical plant—highways, hospitals, schools, power dams, health centers—at an estimated cost of $60 billion over a five or ten-year period, including local contributions.

But he doesn't have the money, and cannot raise it directly without a fearful and politically fatal boost in taxes and the national mortgage, which at the end of 1954 had reached the terrific total of $79 billion.

WHAT IRRITATES BYRD MOST—When a private corporation finds itself in this fix, and cannot raise prices, lower costs or cut wages, it issues bonds or new stock. It is what Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's steel company would do. It is what he now proposes that the Administration do, although reasons lays the foundation for hiding all consideration of matters by the legislature from public view.

The precedents set by North Carolina's General Assembly in the adoption of the 1953 secrecy legislation and now the adoption of the new, broader secrecy rule in the House constitute one of the most dangerous threats to good government and freedom of information ever made by the government of this state.

The implications in the passage of the new House secrecy rule constitute an avenue by which members of the General Assembly can leave open to public view only routine votes on matters which already have been cut and dried in closed committee sessions.

Not only does it shut off from public view committee actions, but it likewise shuts off from the view of other members of the legislature benefits which they might accrue from committee consideration of various matters of legislation. In determining their stand on a particular piece of legislation, a legislator depends heavily upon the all-important information which comes from committee consideration as well as the committee recommendation. Under the House secrecy rule adopted Wednesday, a legislator who is not a member of the committee which is considering a particular matter has no more access to information divulged at committee sessions than does the general public.

Secrecy in government breeds dishonesty and corruption, whether the secrecy be on a local, state or national level. It is certainly difficult to imagine that public view of legislative committee meetings can hinder the disposition of legislative matters unless the legislators involved wish to hide from public view their reasons for arriving at conclusions concerning legislative matters.

If legislators desire to hide their reasons for stands on legislation it suggests they may have motives other than diligently seeking to honestly represent their constituents back home.

Selected Shorts

Small business, says the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is the economic seed bed from which rises the majority of new ideas, methods and inventions.

ALBANY, N. Y., TAXPAYER: "Public power pushers are riding high, wide and handsome again, howling holy horror about giveaways. . . . If giving private industry permission to develop waterpower is a giveaway of the people's power resources, couldn't it be claimed that there was a similar 'giveaway' of the people's land resources every time a lumberjack chopped a tree? How about the miner who digs deep into the earth for coal or the man who builds his own home? Are they, too, the recipients of 'giveaways'? After all, the land in which they dig or build is 'the people's land.'"

LODI, N. J., MESSENGER: "It would seem to us that if the closed shop does 'create' jobs, it could only be through feather-bedding. And we would certainly consider the own freedom merely 'curtailed', but practically extinguished if the law forced us to buy a union card and pay dues in order to be allowed to make a living."

The Government is virtually "broke," while the Humphrey-Hansford interests are financially sound. The plan for underwriting the proposed $101 billion highway program irritates Byrd particularly, although that is only the most spectacular example of the debt-ducking procedure.

Under the White House proposal, construction would be financed by a Federal Highway Corporation. Although having no assets or income, it would be permitted to borrow $20 billion by selling bonds to the public.

EVENTUAL RESULT—Under a contract with the corporation, the Treasury would guarantee these securities. The amount would not become a charge on the public debt, and it would not require higher taxes. However, Congress would have to make annual appropriations for payment of the corporation's principal and interest, if necessary.

Should the corporation fail to make profits, as it probably would—Congress will never approve a general toll road system—it could call on the Treasury for as much as $5 billion to meet deficits.

Senator Byrd describes this operation as "legerdemain." According to Webster, "legerdemain" means "sight of hand," "sleight of hand," or "any artful trick."

MOST GRANDIOSE DEVICE—The road program, however, is only the most grandiose of similar devices. The plan for Dixon-Yates instead of TVA construction of a steam power plant is designed to prevent imposition of another $107,250,000 on the public debt.

Another involves financing of new Federal buildings throughout the land. Private firms will build them for 30-year lease to the Government, which will own them at the end of that period. This same method could be applied to building battleships, with only slight modifications of terms.

SPARE IMMEDIATE MONEY OUTLAYS—These devices do spare Washington immediate financial outlays and political embarrassments. But, as Senator Byrd notes, they cost many more millions in the long run, and they do not relieve the Government of ultimate responsibility.

In event of difficulties or default, the Treasury must bail them out in order to preserve the people's faith in their Government's credit and solvency. What Byrd says, in effect, is that not even all-powerful Uncle Sam can get something for nothing!

Whose Show Is This?

Somebody Told Me

That Snowman Needs His Nose

Are you hungry for a frozen carrot? If you happen to live by our house and see our snow man with a carrot for a nose it might tempt you. But consider yourself warned: If I catch you stealing our carrot you'll be in trouble!

Daughter Nancy (age four) has a book with a snow man in it with a carrot for a nose, so there was nothing to do but construct one like him.

During the process of construction the children had to go in for dry clothes, so while we were in somebody came by and couldn't resist the carrot. When Nancy went back out and missed the snow man's nose there was quite a crisis on Shady Lane!

We have plenty of carrots. If you must have one, ring the door bell. We'll invite you in and give you all you want.

Yesterday I walked into a certain business establishment and started dancing a jig. My feet were almost frozen but I was nevertheless feeling quite chipper. The dance helped circulation. There was a customer in the store who seemed to take a very dim view of my antics. Wish I could see that man again to explain that I'm not crazy and also to find out if he ever smiles.

Yesterday George Lautares and I were talking about the need for industry in Greenville. A few days ago Les Turnage and I were discussing the same problem. George and I agreed that the best way to increase the payroll is to get 50 or 100 businessmen to put up $1,000 each and start an industry of our own.

We jokingly said that we could make brooms and undersell the entire USA. Profit wouldn't be of much concern. If we could break even, pay taxes, and provide more payroll for the city, all of us would benefit in the long run. And we might possibly make money by accident.

But most of the conversation was serious. Look at the figures: During a recent month Greenville merchants paid sales tax on $40-odd thousand while Kingston was paying tax on $70-odd thousand. It's no joking matter. This project should be undertaken now! And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

FEDERAL AID (New Bern Sun-Journal)
Federal aid is, in effect says Thurman Sensing of the Southern States Industrial Council, the federal government saying to the states, "The people in your states need some aid. So we are going to tax them, bring the money to Washington, deduct the expenses of administering the aid, and then provide the aid they need with their own money."

"The New Deal therefore hit upon the device of bribing the South with federal aid, knowing full well—as has been later ruled by the Supreme Court—that whatever the government subsidizes through federal aid—promised to remedy this discrepancy by transferring money collected from the weather states to the poorer states of the South."

The South has been gradually closing the gap in per capita wealth and income. Nor is this due in any way to federal aid.

All the reasons for material prosperity have existed in the South all along—it simply takes time to bring it about. At the same time though the cancerous delusion of federal aid has been gradually eating away at the financial and moral responsibility of the people. Until now we are seeing a strange thing happen. The governor-elect of Michigan and the governor-elect of New York—the two of the richest states in the Union—have both agreed that their respective states must have more federal aid for schools and such other things as housing and highways.

"Now that's a pretty how-do-do. Where is the money coming from? Well, where else can it come from except the states of Mississippi and Arkansas, whose per capita wealth and income are still the lowest in the Union? And from the other forty-four states, all of whom are less wealthy than New York and Michigan. So now we are begging from each other."

Around Capitol Square

Moore's Illness Delays Announcing Committee Lists

By LYNN NISBET
SPEAKER—The hospitalization of Speaker Larry I. Moore is expected to delay for a few days the appointment of committees in the House of Representatives. Moore had scheduled the announcement for Thursday morning. Last Saturday night he was taken to a Wilson hospital suffering a virus condition and a slight recurrence of an old stomach disorder. News from the hospital Tuesday was he might be expected back on the job later this week, but possibly not until Monday. In his absence Rep. George Uzzell of Rowan is presiding over regular sessions and Rep. A.C. Edwards of Greene over the committee of the whole, which is still "going to school" on a revenue bill.

If speaker Moore gets back to his chair Thursday, chances are he will not have had opportunity to complete the committee lists. Indications now are they will be read out next Monday night. There is considerable sentiment for having the money committees named promptly, even if the others are delayed, so that the joint Senate and House groups can get down to real work on public hearings, the first of which is scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

WHOSE BABY? Legislators and news reporters monotonously refer to the proposal for withholding State income taxes from payroll checks and envelopes as the "Shaw plan," and often it is added that Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw first suggested it last week. There is occasional mention that subsequently Senator David M. Hall of Jackson started preparation on a bill designed to put the policy into effect. On September 25 last year there appeared in this column a story to the effect that Senator Hall, then the Democratic nominee, was preparing his bill.

It is further of record that the withholding plan patterned after the Federal system was proposed by Governor Kerr Scott before his inauguration in 1949. Studies at that time indicated the plan was very unpopular and perhaps unworkable in North Carolina. A survey made by Senator Hall last summer and fall proved that opposition was much less marked now. During the past few days the idea has gained very substantial support among legislators, and has been endorsed by the executive secretary of the Association of State Highway Employees, comprising some 8,500 members. Governor Hodges has endorsed the principle.

NEWSMEN—The subcommittee of the Senate Rules Committee designated to provide more adequate facilities for the whole of the people. Legislators and the reporters get along well together. Reporters who know the members of the Legislature credit them with honest and sincere intent to perform their duties as elected official representatives of the people. Legislators who know the reporters credit them with honest and sincere intent to perform their duties as eyes and ears of the public—the great mass of people who cannot attend sessions in person and who must depend upon news writers, radio announcers and photographers to keep them informed.

Both committees agreed to start machinery to work for providing more adequate facilities for next session. This may take the form of galleries built above the presiding officers' stands or balconies along the east and west walls. This plan was suggested five or six years ago and there have been tentative sketches made for the Budget Bureau and the Board of Buildings and Grounds. No Legislature has assumed responsibility for authorizing the construction, and each session the condition becomes worse. There is definite prospect that the 1955 Assembly will take positive action and that two years from now there may be reasonably adequate space provided. The only satisfactory solution of this and numerous other problems will be erection of a legislative building.

CORDIAL—Despite the impression created by over emphasis on the incidents which led to enactment of the 1953 "secrecy law," the fact is that upon the whole the legislators and the reporters get along well together. Reporters who know the members of the Legislature credit them with honest and sincere intent to perform their duties as elected official representatives of the people. Legislators who know the reporters credit them with honest and sincere intent to perform their duties as eyes and ears of the public—the great mass of people who cannot attend sessions in person and who must depend

Business Today

Million Jobs Yearly

By ELMER BOESSNER
The private enterprise system faces its greatest test. Right now.

It has to create a million-plus jobs a year for the next 20 years or else. Or else we lapse into a government-managed economy. There are times when a writer regrets having used up all the superlatives when he was young. Then he has nothing left but the barefacts. Such as now. So let's look at the facts:

Experts agree that the population will increase 50,000,000 in the next 20 years and that the working force will rise by 20,000,000 to 22,000,000.

So we need 20,000,000 or more jobs.

Putting relatives on the payroll, hiring second butlers and getting states to start leaf-raking projects won't solve the problem. With 8,000,000 more mouths to feed and midriffs to warm, we need the productivity of those 20,000,000 to 22,000,000 bodies.

Unless food and clothing production is increased about 3 per cent a year for the next 20 years, along about 1975 a lot of us are going to be hungry and cold. And unless production of transportation is similarly increased, many of us are never going to get to work.

Don't take our word for it. Just take the fact that the population will rise 50,000,000 in the next 20 years, attested by every government and private authority on population, and go off in a corner and figure the consequences.

You may calculate there will be a lot of new customers. True. But unless there are also more jobs, where will they get the cash? Suppose, you there in the corner, business doesn't expand fast enough to create those jobs? The political pressures will force the government, regardless of party in power, to create jobs. And made-work jobs won't do, because there also will be demands for more food, more clothing, more housing and higher wages—created or bought. So the government will have to run farms and factories.

If you are part of the free enterprise system, better start figuring on how to expand. Businesses can't stay static in an expanding economy. They must grow—or be taken over—or die. SUPERMARKETS SELL 12 PER CENT MORE IN '54 THAN '53.

The average supermarket sold 12 per cent more in 1954 than it did the year before, according to a survey by Supermarket News. Part of the increase came from the fact that more nonfood lines were added.

Chains generally made larger increases in sales than independent superds did.

PEOPLE NOT THERE COUNTED FOR TAXES
The little man who isn't there must sometimes be counted in determining an employers' liability under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act. Suppose an employer has seven men working for him. One accumulates three weeks vacation time and quits. The employer immediately hires a man to replace him. For the next three weeks, the Internal Revenue Service holds in a new interpretive ruling, the employer has eight employees.

Worries End On Winter Cruise

By HAL BOYLE
SOMEWHERE IN THE CARIBBEAN (AP)—Leaves from a cruising notebook:

The pleasantest feature of a winter cruise is that once you are at sea all the worries of land become unimportant.

The word "diet," by unspoken agreement, drops from everyone's vocabulary. Time becomes meaningless. You don't need a calendar to chronicle the passing days. You tell time by your chins.

This morning, for example, when I got out my razor I found I had a brand new chin to shave—a round, firm, fully packed chin slightly browned by the sun. When I remarked on this to the steward he explained:

"Oh, that means we've been at sea four days. A three-day set man your age and weight, who enjoys his food, can grow a new chin every four days without any trouble at all."

Since I started with two chins and we'll be at sea 13 days, that means I'll get back to New York with five and one-fourth chins. And somehow I don't mind it at all.

Our ship is the Furness Line's Ocean Monarch, one of Britain's newest and trimmest cruise vessels. When we boarded her, Frances, our daughter, Tracy Ann, and I—I started to walk right off again. There was a telephone in the stateroom and if there is anything I detest on a vacation it is the sight of a telephone.

"Don't worry," said Frances. "Anybody who phones you from shore will have to pay $4.50 for a three-minute call, and if I know your friends and after 17 years I feel I know them they are too well—you are as safe as if you were in heaven."

How right she was! Every morning I lie in bed for half an hour just admiring that telephone. It is boudoir white in color, and it is the most beautiful telephone in the world. It never rings.

Aboard ship you have to get accustomed to strange noises—the creaking of wood in the night, the soft slap of waves against the steel hull.

The first day I stretched out on a deck chair in the hot sun I was startled out of my doze time after time by a strange sound—sna-a-a-p, sna-a-a-p!

"You hear anything snapping?" I asked a veteran voyager next to me. He cocked his ears.

"I don't hear anything," he said. "Then after a moment inquired, 'Do you hear anything snapping?' 'Yeah, come to think of it, I guess they do.'"

"They're just the kinks coming out of your nerves," he said tolerantly.

The kinks are all gone now. My nerves are so relaxed I feel I could skip rope with them.

No one has more fun on a cruise than small children. They have more sense of adventure than older passengers, and enjoy storms as well as mild weather. They become seasick before the age of two, when they first learn what it is by hearing their elders talk about it.

Tracy Ann, who isn't quite 19 months old, got a real thrill when we ploughed through some rough seas off Cape Hatteras. It gave her a roller coaster feeling to run up-hill and downhill in our stateroom as the ship rocked back and forth.

She already knows all the passengers and most of the crew members who have adopted her as a pet. To keep her from plunging overboard to pick foam flowers out of the sea, I had to put a harness and a leash on her while on deck.

It bothered my sense of dignity to have to put it on her, and at first it bothered her to have to wear it.

"I know how you feel, honey," I told her. "It makes you feel like a doggie, doesn't it?"

At the word doggie, she quit rebelling and began barking. "Bow-wow-wow-wow-wow!"

Now each morning she brings the harness to me to put on her before our deck stroll. She thinks she is a dog, and since she loves dogs, she has no more objection to walking on a leash.

Children have a wonderful way of making sense out of a situation that would frustrate a grownup. But I do wish Tracy would stop one habit she's getting. Half the time she tries to get me to wear the harness, so she can hold the leash.

January Bride Elect Honored At Tea Tuesday Afternoon

In compliment to Miss Frances Estelle Greene, bride-elect of January 29, Mrs. F. Hendrix received at tea Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock at her beautiful home on Evans Street Extension. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. T. Barnhill and presented to the receiving line by Mrs. J. C. Bate-man. Receiving with the hostess and her honor guest were Mrs. Burt Greene and Miss Estelle Greene. The living room was lovely with dried arrangements and African violets and featured white garza mums in an antique soup tureen. Mrs. R. P. Heller and Mrs. William M. Reading invited the callers into the dining room. The table was covered with a lace and linen handmade cloth and centered with a silver bowl of chrysanthemums and carnations flanked with white candles in silver candle holders. The buffet held a round arrangement of white carnations and mums in a silver bowl. The scene was lighted by white candles in silver candelabra. Presiding at the table to pour tea were Mrs. R. G. Culbertson and Mrs. K. G. Harris. They were assisted in serving dainty tea sand-

Band Boosters Talk Fund Needs

The Greenville High School Band Boosters' Club, at a meeting last Tuesday night, discussed ways and means of providing additional moral and financial support of the band. Principal O. E. Dowd explained how funds the band collects can be handled. Money received is to be used for purchase of uniforms, musical instruments, sheet music and general musical supplies. The treasurer's report showed that $305.50 had been collected for membership tickets and donations; $196.38 from sale of tickets to the "Mothers vs. Greenville Beauty School" basketball game; donations of checks from clubs were from Pochontas Club, $25; Lions Club, $10; Masonic Club, $57.50 and V.F.W. Auxiliary, $13.50. Total raised to date is $501.88. The Boosters' Club, school officials and band members expressed appreciation to all who participated in the drive for funds and they urged all who have an interest in the Greenville High School band to continue to give it their moral and financial support. The Boosters' Club meets the third Tuesday in each month, and the public is invited.

'Don Pasquale' Here Jan. 24

Grass Roots Opera will bring an amusing attraction to the College Theatre on the E.C.C. campus on January 24, sponsored by the Greenville Music Club. "Don Pasquale," by Donizetti is the story of a young man, Ernesto, who wishes to marry his lovely sweetheart, Norina. However, his uncle, Don Pasquale, has other ideas and for business reasons wants Ernesto to marry a wealthy widow. When the nephew refuses, Pasquale tells him that he, himself, is getting married and is disinheriting Ernesto. Dr. Malatesta, a close friend of all three, takes it upon himself to teach Pasquale a lesson and at the same time aid Ernesto and Norina. He does this by first introducing Norina (whom Pasquale has never seen) to Don Pasquale as his, Dr. Malatesta's, sister, Sofronia. The old gentleman is struck by her beauty, falls in love at first sight and straight way proposes marriage to the young lady. Just how the scheme develops is best seen for oneself. Tickets to the comedy opera may be purchased from Music Club members. In the afternoon of the same day, the delightful opera, "Hansel and Gretel," will be presented. This will be the Music Club's gift to the grade school children of Greenville. The minimum of 30c per ticket will be charged, and these tickets may be purchased from the home room teachers. In 1890 Guglielmo Marconi sent a wireless message two miles across Salisbury Plain in southern England. This was the first actual use of wireless communication.

Mrs. J. W. Kincheloe Dies In Rocky Mount

ROCKY MOUNT — Mrs. J. W. Kincheloe, wife of Dr. J. W. Kincheloe, died at her home here this morning. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist Church in Rocky Mount. Services will be conducted by the pastor of the church assisted by the Rev. Frederick H. Jones, Baptist minister of Greenville. Surveys show fewer people are now keeping written budgets.

Sugar Ray Mauled By Tiger

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP)—They fed Sugar Ray Robinson to a tiger last night and he was gobbled up.

From all indications, it is the end of Sugar Ray's ring comeback, but Robinson himself insists he wants to continue.

Ralph (Tiger) Jones, dropped from the middleweight ratings after losing five straight, chugged hungrily after Robinson from the start of their nationally televised fight in Chicago Stadium and sledged him almost at will for an overwhelming 10-round decision.

The International Boxing Club, looking ahead to a possible big attraction in another month, appeared caught out of breath.

IBC Secretary Truman Gibson, asked about any future bout for Robinson, an 8-1 ringside favorite, who had been the worst beating of his career by Jones.

"I just don't know."

The former welterweight and middleweight titleholder, now 34, who started his comeback after 30 months as a song-and-dance entertainer by kayaking Joe Rindone two weeks ago, was handed the worst beating of his career by Jones.

With his timing off and most of his best shots whizzing harmlessly past the tiger's fighting Robinson rustily tried to fight off his stalking foe with combinations that were weak imitations of the broadsides that had blasted a ring record of 137 victories in 142 bouts.

Time and again, Jones drove Robinson into the ropes and mauled him pitifully. Sugar Ray's right eyebrow and nose bled throughout most of the scrap and at times his arms dangled as if helplessly weighted down.

All three officials scored it heavily for the 26-year-old Jones—referee Frank Sikora voting 99-94, Judge Ed Hints 100-98 and Judge Ed Walsh 99-89.

Each fighter weighed 150 pounds. "I want to continue," Robinson insisted later. "I think Jones was just too tough an opponent for a second fight. But being egotistical I wanted to take him on even though Joe Glaser (Ray's business manager) was against it from the start."

Las Vegas Group Seeking Rocky For Title Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A group of local sportsmen has made an attractive guarantee to Rocky Marciano to defend his heavyweight title against British champion Don Cockell here in May.

Hank Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun and chairman of the International Boxing Club to discuss the offer. Beldon Kattelman said he and other hotel owners are willing to put "up to $300,000" to get the match for Las Vegas.

In New York, Marciano's manager, Al Weill, said he had talked with Greenspun and others "but they made no $300,000 offer nor anywhere near it." Weill said he has a $350,000 offer from San Francisco but isn't making any decision until the condition of the champion's nose, damaged in the Eszard Charles defense, is determined.

Bucs Reach Home And Refuge After Taking Bumps On Three-Game Swing

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Home provided refuge for East Carolina College's cagers yesterday as they pulled in from a three-game road swing through the western part of the state.

Coach Howard Porter's defending North State champions experienced a rugged trip, getting the bumps at Lenoir Rhyne and Belmont Abbey.

Coach Pap Hamilton's bunch whipped them with superior manpower, 98-79. The Bucs had nobody within a nine-foot shot of matching height with Raeford Wells (6-7) or Bob Ortmyer (6-8). Wells, a homespun product of Hickory, racked up 48 points and missed his first field goal try with three minutes remaining. He made 20 out of 22 attempts from the free throw line. Ortmyer was the man most detrimental to the Bucs, though. His rebounding and defensive play pushed the locals behind early to stay.

Crusaders Reorganized
Belmont had apparently reorganized by Tuesday night after the Pirates had toyed with them in Greenville last Thursday, 94-64. At the outset, any resemblance to the team that played here was purely coincidental. The Pirates appeared listless after the 180-mile ride from Cullowhee and the much bigger Crusader got their revenge.

Roger Marcell collected 24 points in a great display of outside shooting and hard drives. The rebounding of Frank Harding and Mo Theberge was also very instrumental.

James Hat
Little Freddie James, substituting for Cecil Heath, was high scorer for East Carolina. The lithe sharpshooter hit 16 of his 14 points from the outside. Don Harris, who was averaging 23 points prior to the Belmont game, was limited to 13 by two men guarding him. He hardly got a recent shooting opportunity all night. Nick Nichols and Waverly Atkins played well scoring 11 and nine points respectively.

Akins Standout
All was not bitter—the Pirates spun an easy 80-67 win over Western Carolina. Akins, a 6-4 senior from Fuquay Springs, meant the difference. With East Carolina barely ahead 35-31 at the half, Coach Porter inserted Akins at center and the big blond played as if his life was at stake. He poured in 15 points in the second half and grabbed at least 25 rebounds. He cleaned both boards and gave the Pirates the spark needed to drive the game home.

Coach Porter made one other surprise move by starting Marion Hales of Wilmington at the pivot spot in the first half against the Catamounts. Hales played commendably but Akins was much superior that night.

G-Men And Jacksonville Clash Tomorrow Night

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville's Phantoms, with their regularly scheduled game of last night with the Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets postponed due to transportation difficulties caused by the weather, make plans to visit the Jacksonville Cardinals tomorrow night, weather permitting.

The Cardinals, the newest addition to the Northeastern Conference, are ranked the number three team in the conference but suffered an upset to the Washington Pam-Pack Tuesday night. The Cardinals are in their second year of conference play and are supposed to be somewhat improved over the team of last year that finished in third place in the loop schedule.

Both Teams Run
The Phantoms and the Cardinals are both running teams and should provide a rather high-scoring game. Last season the G-men whipped Jacksonville twice, running the scores into the seventies in one game and into the high sixties in the other contest.

So far this season the G-men have downed three consecutive conference foes, all by decisive margins. New Bern fell to Coach Bo Farley's powerhouse 74-49, Washington dropped an 82-32 decision, and Elizabeth City fell before the Phantom onslaught to the tune of 104-56.

In their three conference games the G-men have averaged 86.7 points per game while holding their opponents to an average 45.7. In all games the G-men are averaging 75.2 points per game.

No Injuries To Team
The G-men should be in top shape for the Jacksonville contest with all their players fit and ready to go. No one on the team is sick or injured as they are in almost top shape.

Coach Farley has his top seven ready to go against the Cardinals. Harold Edwards, the 6-2 center, is the leading scorer and rebounder. Edwards is averaging 16.4 points per game.

Bob Howell is the second leading scorer with an average of 15.6. Pat Sawyer has a 12.1 average and Tom me Saleed is hitting at 10.1 points per game. Edgar Moore, the fifth starter, averages seven points per game while Clark Noble is hitting 12 and Ike Riddick is hitting 3.4 per game.

The Jacksonville game will be played in the Jacksonville gym as regularly scheduled if weather permits, but the Roanoke Rapids game will be postponed indefinitely. The two schools will have to decide when they can play.

Fight Par And Cold At Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Most of the nation's top pros and amateurs fought both par and cold weather today in the opening round of the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament.

Temperatures in the mid-thirties were expected for the early starters in the annual 72-hole event.

Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., winner of last year's tournament, is back again. Every other title since the tournament began in 1947 except one is back and she is Polly Riley, the star amateur from Dallas, Tex.

Favored with Miss Rawls to win this year on the 6,207-yard Palma Ceia course are Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Jackie Pung of Honolulu who won last week's Sea Island Open. Par is 75.

The field of 149 will play 18 holes daily with the showdown round Sunday afternoon.

Top amateurs in the field include Mary Lena Faulk former National Amateur champion from Thomasville, Ga., and Pat Lesser, the Seattle star.

Misling from the amateur group will be last year's runnerup, Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ontario. She was injured in a December plane accident in Canada.

Many Aspects In College Football Television Issue

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—There are so many puzzling aspects of the national television problem as it affects college football that one can easily despair of ever putting all the pieces together, but we have been able in recent days to gain a little understanding that we didn't have before.

One thing we started out to learn was why the national networks want to go through the sweat and tears of televising the so-called Game of the Week at all. This seemed to be a fair question for there isn't any money in it. NBC, which had the feature three years, finally made a few dollars in 1953, but the ABC, which took it over last season, was reported to have dropped over two million dollars.

That doesn't appear to be very good business, but we are assured it isn't necessarily as bad as it looks when the networks are viewed in the light of the fact that each network which can afford it is anxious to build up as devoted an audience as possible on Saturday afternoons, especially in the fall. A network official explains it this way:

"Each of us has a full program of big money feature, on Saturday night, backed by major sponsors. It is our business to get them the greatest possible audience. If we can get you to switch on our station during the afternoon there's a good chance you never will get up to change it all evening. You might of course, but it will take an effort. We've got the odds on our side."

The 24-year-old Rochester, N.Y., resident, who once played here with the old Boston Braves, had the lowest earned run average and highest winning percentage in the National League in 1954.

Antonelli had a 2.29 ERA and a 21-7 record.

He will be joined at the dinner by teammate Willie Mays, the sensational Giants outfielder named the most valuable player in the league and the athlete of the year.

Also present will be catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees, the American League's MVP.

Antonelli Among Honored Guests At Boston Event

BOSTON (AP)—Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, ace pitcher of the world champion New York Giants, will be among the honored guests Jan. 26 at the annual Boston baseball writers' dinner.

Antonelli will receive a plaque from the writers for his brilliant season capped by clutch World Series play.

The 24-year-old Rochester, N.Y., resident, who once played here with the old Boston Braves, had the lowest earned run average and highest winning percentage in the National League in 1954.

Antonelli had a 2.29 ERA and a 21-7 record.

He will be joined at the dinner by teammate Willie Mays, the sensational Giants outfielder named the most valuable player in the league and the athlete of the year.

Also present will be catcher Yogi Berra of the New York Yankees, the American League's MVP.

Cold Hampers Field Trials

QUITMAN, Ga. (AP)—Owners and handlers hoped for better weather today for their prize hunting dogs as the open all-age stakes continued in the Continental Field Trials at the Dixie plantation.

Chilling winds hampered yesterday's braces and only two pointers showed championship form. Rumson Farm Haymaker, handled by Earl Crangle of Waynesboro, Ga., had a near-perfect find in tough cover and ran a ground race that proved pleasing to Judges Earl Miles of Brooklyn and Richard Dumas of Eldorado, Ark.

Billy Hope, handled by veteran Ed Farrior of Union Springs, Ala., had an equally impressive find and ran well.

Heaviest Hitters: HOME RUN BAKER

Bob Layton, sports editor of the Cambridge, Md. Daily Banner comes through with a "pitch" in behalf of Home Run Baker's election to the Hall of Fame. Baker was the Original Home Run King! He earned his name—Home-Run Baker—in the 1911 World Series by hitting consecutive home runs off the Giants' Christy Mathewson and Rube Marquard and hit another homer in the 1913 Series in the day of the "dead ball," when home runs were indeed a rarity.

"In his thirteen years with the Athletics and Yankees, Baker batted .308, stole 40, 39 and 37 bases in various years and holds the record for most chances at third base in a season. He played in six World Series. He was a real battler, too. He created a near-riot in Philadelphia when he went after Ty Cobb when the Georgia Peach spiked him. Cobb claimed Baker was the only player he ever intentionally spiked. But then, everyone tried to get Baker out of the game because of his greatness, an accepted practice in the rugged days of the game. It's high time that Baker's greatness be recognized and his name placed beside the other greats in baseball's Hall of Fame."

NUXHALL LED REDLEGS
CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Nuxhall of Hamilton, Ohio turned in the best percentage among the Cincinnati Redleg pitchers in 1954. He compiled a 12-5 record for a .706 mark. Nuxhall started with the Redlegs at 15 in 1944, hurling two-thirds of an inning.

When you want to Go - You're gonna Go!

No ifs, ands or buts about it. When you give the gun to a 1955 Buick with Dynaflo Drive,* you move. In the instant you push down the pedal, you get the action you've called for—immediate getaway from a standing start, or immediate safety-surge out of a tight spot on the highway. It's not magic, this thrilling and pulse-quickenning response—though it feels like the closest thing to it. It's a principle of the modern airplane, brought for the first time to an automotive transmission. Twenty "variable pitch propellers" inside the Dynaflo unit itself can change their angle—like the propeller of the airliner can change its pitch from take-off position to cruising position. And what this brings to you—at the wheel of a '55 Buick—is the nearest thing to flight on wheels. Far better gas mileage in your normal driving and cruising. Spectacular response when you want it for quick getaway or emergency acceleration.

But all this, mind you, with the absolute smoothness that is constant in Dynaflo Drive. Surely, a demonstration of Variable Pitch Dynaflo is a Buick must this year. We'll be happy to do the honors—and show you, in the doing, what a whale of a buy you make here. Drop in this week, won't you?

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Dr. Gordon M. Kline To Address Society Friday

Dr. Gordon M. Kline, Chief of the Division of Organic and Fibrous Materials, National Bureau of Standards, will address chemists and chemical engineers of the Eastern North Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society at the January meeting to be held Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock in Flanagan Hall at East Carolina College. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:15 o'clock in the South Dining Hall.

In his talk on "National Bureau of Standards Research on Polymers", Dr. Kline will describe the Dr. Edward R. Kane, of Kinston, chairman of the Eastern North Carolina Section.

Dr. Kline received his AB in chemistry at Colgate University in 1925 and an MS from George Washington University in 1928. He was awarded the degree of PhD in chemistry by the University of Maryland in 1934. After a year each as research chemist with the N.Y. State Department of Health and the National Bureau of Standards in 1929 where he was specialized in the increasingly important field of plastics, being Chief of the Organic Plastics Section from 1935 to 1951 and in his present position as Chief of the Division of Organic and Fibrous Materials since 1951. Dr. Kline, widely recognized authority on plastics, is technical editor of "Modern Plastics" magazine, editorial director of "Modern Plastics Encyclopedia" and has served as chairman of numerous national and international committees on plastics. He has been the recipient of several awards for his outstanding service, including: Award of Merit, American Society for Testing Materials, 1954; Exceptional Service Gold Medal Award, Dept. of Commerce, 1953; Honor Award of the American Institute of Chemists, Washington Section, 1952; and Certificate of Commendation from the Ordnance Department, U.S. Army, 1945.

Customers Are Naming Colors For Car Models

NEW YORK (AP)—The customer is calling the tune today—or rather, naming the colors. You can see that plainly enough at General Motors' Motorama, which opened today at the Waldorf Astoria.

Giving the customer his choice of color combinations for his new car isn't a production manager's idea exactly GM officials admit. It causes plenty of trouble and added effort at the factory.

But it's what the 1955 auto buyer wants. And it's what the auto industry—in this, its fiercest competitive year—feels forced to provide.

Not that GM has any monopoly on the rainbow. Walk a few blocks south of GM's big show and you'll see another big splash of color at the Chrysler International Auto Salon. Ford and all the independents are offering a similar wide range of color choice to lure the customer.

And letting the customer mix his colors isn't exactly an idea that auto dealers would think up either, if they didn't feel the breath of competition. Turn a man and his wife loose in a dealer's show room to pick color combinations and the indecision, the changing of minds—far into next week probably.

Auto assembly lines get a little more complicated in this new age of color. It takes careful planning, GM officials point out, to see that when a yellow body rolls down the line it isn't met at the strategic point by a pink fender, or by an unwanted shade of upholstery.

And what happens if a man and his wife pick out a pretty far-fetched color combination? GM officials say every care is taken to head this off. Dealers have charts of recommended combinations, which the company's designers think in the best taste, and which the assembly lines are set up to provide with reasonable dispatch.

If the customer should insist on something different from the wide choice of combinations offered him—well, in this year of competition he probably could get it. He'd have to wait awhile however, until the factory could provide it. And there would probably be an extra charge for the trouble.

Dr. Sheppard Attending Family Funeral Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard joins with his two brothers today for the second family burial in 10 days—the third in six months.

On a snow-flecked knoll overlooking a lagoon in Sunset Memorial Park, their 64-year-old father Dr. Richard A. Sheppard will be placed next to his wife Ethel, who shot herself to death Jan. 7.

The eldest of the osteopath family died Tuesday night of a serious respiratory ailment. His sons said he "lost his will to live" after the suicide of his wife, who left a note saying she "could not go on without Dad."

Shackled to a deputy as he was at his mother's funeral, their youngest son 31-year-old Samuel,

Sees Change In Policy On China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today it appears the United States "is changing its policy toward Communist China." Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said he is not ready to say a shift is in the making.

Mansfield, avoiding any expression of approval or disapproval of the policy, said he "is not ready to say a shift is in the making."

"We seem to be shifting in part the responsibility over the Formosa situation to the United Nations. Up to now we have been the sole arbiters."

Both Mansfield and Knowland serve on the Foreign Relations Committee. Knowland the GOP leader, has disagreed with some aspects of administration policy in the Far East.

Noting that President Eisenhower said yesterday he would like to see United Nations efforts to gain a cease-fire in the strife-ridden Formosa Straits, Mansfield said: "This means a greater recognition for the U.N. in this particular aspect. At the same time, it indicates in my opinion a degree of further recognition of Communist China by our government."

Ambassador T. T. Tsiang, Nationalist China's chief delegate to the U.N., said in a New York speech last night the Chiang Kai-shek government on Formosa "will never bind its hands by U.N. resolution or any other method."

Chiang's foreign minister, George K. C. Yeh, left a conference with Secretary of State Dulles to announce he was catching the first plane for Formosa— "where I belong," he added. However, that the trip had been arranged 10 days ago.

Knowland declined direct comment on Eisenhower's remarks about a cease-fire. Nor would he discuss separate conferences he held yesterday with the President and with Dulles. In response to a reporter's question, however, he said he is not prepared to say any major change in policy toward China is in the making.

In a speech last night to the Chamber of Commerce in nearby Alexandria, Va., he repeated a favorite theme: "Each appeasement will only lead to greater demands and greater pressures..."

Tunnel Cars For Police Tested

NEW YORK (AP)—Narrow-gauge electric cars are being tried out for use of patrolmen in the Holland Lincoln tunnels under the Hudson River linking Manhattan and New Jersey.

The cars have transparent plastic bodies, travel on a track on the raised 30-inch catwalks of the tunnels and have speeds of 6 and 12 miles an hour. They are planned for use by police who now walk the ledges to keep an eye on traffic. If use of the car is approved, four patrolmen would be able to do the work that now takes six. But cost of installing four cars in the two tunnels would be $700,000.

Policeman Nabs Wandering Bull

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Police Officer Joseph Jolin "threw the bull" in a half-hour set-to with a wandering bovine. Investigating complaints a bull was blocking traffic on busy U.S. Route 3, Jolin said the animal appeared to be directing traffic.

After a 30-minute marathon around nearby hills, the officer managed to snap a chain to a strap around the bull's neck and return it to owner John Lovell. At the time of the "rest," the bull was standing in the yard of an antique shop which, the officer noted, contained much old china.

One oldtimer said they are working in the spirit of the ancient ditty which goes—"The poor benighted Hindu; can't get pants—make his shirt do." He conceded that the Hindu may no longer be "benighted", but so far as North Carolina's capitol building is concerned it is a case of "making a shirt do" for a whole suit of clothes.

Labor Unions Aim For Big Economic Gains; Turbulent Year Anticipated

By NORMAN WALKER
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor unions are shooting for some big economic gains in 1955 and government officials say they are expecting a turbulent year in labor-management relations.

A sampling of sentiment among union leaders shows they feel this year: "If business is going to be as good as businessmen say, we want a share of the gravy."

The unions acknowledge they did reasonably well in 1954 when, at least in the spring and summer, the business outlook appeared rather dark. With economists generally predicting better conditions in 1955, the union men figure there should be more in the kitty.

This seems to spell stepped-up collective bargaining activity all along the line. Government officials keeping a close tab on the situation say a big increase in strikes is possible.

However, last year was a relatively active bargaining year—yet strike idleness was at a postwar low. Some specialists say this means management and labor are dealing with each other more reasonably.

The Labor Department has just completed a study throwing light on the probable scope of 1955 bargaining. It dealt only with major labor contracts, those covering 5,000 workers or more.

Out of 284 such contracts, nearly 200 covering about 3,350,000 workers in some of the nation's biggest industries will be up for full or partial revision. The same will be true for an unestimated number of smaller contracts covering probably several million more workers.

The two most significant sets of upcoming negotiations—from the standpoint of number of workers covered and of their becoming possible pace setters—are in the auto and steel industries.

Five-year CIO United Auto Workers contracts with General Motors and with Ford expire May 29 and June 1, respectively. Both motor firms have given 5-cent-an-hour annual "improvement" raises to workers represented by UAW, plus other concessions from time to time, but the union has built up an ambitious slate of changes it wants incorporated in new contracts.

For one thing the UAW says it has soured on long-term contracts, wants new agreements limited to one or two years. Also, Walter Reuther, head of both the CIO and UAW, has pledged the auto union will win some form of the guaranteed annual wage this year.

Steel industry contracts permit only rebargaining of wage rates in June. However, what happens in the steel or auto industries very likely would affect each other.

The outcome of the steel and auto negotiations are likely to have some bearing on bargaining in other industries.

report, "but the average is about $300. Operating costs may be as little as 5 cents an hour." They base these figures on a snow research house at the University of Illinois.

Hot water from a house heating plant is circulated through such systems. Anti-freeze is added. A slab thickness of 2 inches above the pipes is considered adequate for the average automobile. Two to three inches of gravel are laid over the heating pipes can be 10 to 12 inches, says the IBR. Serpentine coils of copper running back and forth across the driveway are the cheapest to install, but a grid system of pipes running lengthwise is considered the most efficient.

"A typical automatic snow melting installation," according to the engineers, "operating at about 100 degrees, will melt snow at a rate of one inch per hour."

balance of the Hapsburgs in central Vienna, would be put in order for the Lipizzaners' return. The performances given by the Lipizzaners, generally ridden without stirrups, were one of the most interesting sights in Vienna before the war. The methods of training and riding date back to 1572 when Emperor Maximilian founded the school.

Big Lake Huron Is Well-Bottled

ANN ARBOR Mich. (AP)—Bottles, 2,000 of them, have been used to register the speed of Lake Huron currents.

The University of Michigan's Great Lakes Research Institute said it released bottles across Lake Huron to establish that currents flow generally toward the Canadian shore at three one-hundredths of a mile an hour.

At the widest point in the lake it takes currents six months to a year to make it across.

Post cards enclosed in the test bottles were picked up and noted. The location and date being noted. The Institute knew when and where each individual bottle was released.

PACKAGE MOVE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) says he and several colleagues will offer a package of civil rights bills soon in Congress and he hopes they can be considered without the "conflict and bitterness of the past."

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness says eye examinations and astigmatism, and astigmatism.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BARBUTHER, Real Estate Editor

Your driveway is probably the most obsolete feature about your house. It is, if you have to back out of it, or back into it. People like to make use of the narrow streets of downtown New York and other old cities. But if those streets were planned for horses and buggies, most of our driveways were planned for goat carts.

Don't feel bad about those remarks, because this writer has a driveway planned by an Alpine ski fan who was narrow minded.

When you pass a house where there is a driveway with a turnaround, it doesn't mean that a timid soul lives there, or a Sunday driver. It means it's the home of a life saver. You've read news items about someone backing over a child in a driveway.

Now that there are so many cars on the road, backing into a street is a definite traffic hazard. The automobile industry doesn't like to talk much about this, because you are not supposed to get frightened about adding a new car or two to the grand total. But a former test driver, who later became an engineer and then president of the Dodge Brothers Corp.—William C. Newberg—told us that he considers the average home driveway as something designed for a four-cylinder 1914 car.

(You can't get up our driveway on five cylinders, Bill, but go on.)

"Joke if you will about the lady who is accused of running down shrubbery, toys and rammings the garage," he says. "The truth of the matter is, it isn't her fault. Driveways need new engineering and we in the automobile industry realize it."

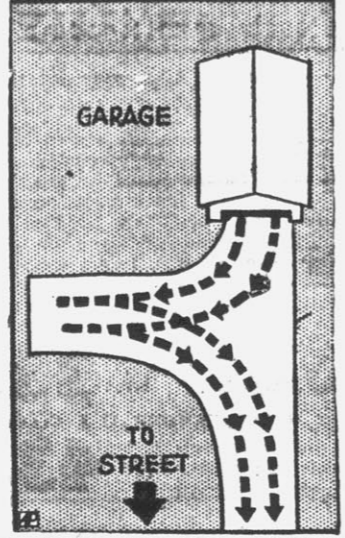

So a brave soul has solved their driveway problems by devoting their entire front lawn to paved turn-arounds. This idea has three big advantages:

1. It provides a fine unloading place when you bring your great auto to your front door.
2. It provides parking space when somebody gives you a surprise party—the neighborhood does not get cluttered up with cars that are newer and more expensive than yours.

3. It provides relaxation for you when the lawn mowing season begins.

Sensible dimensions for driveways were discussed by Hubbard

Cobb recently in the American Home magazine. "Drives," he said, "should be not less than 9 1/2 feet wide—allow for 18 inches of clearance on each side." (This writer has a driveway 10 feet wide, and still people insist on cutting new routes over the lawn.)

For all turns, Cobb figures the inside radius should be about 20 feet, and the outside radius about 30 feet to prevent wheels from running off the drive. These dimensions are from the center of an imaginary circle to each curb of the curving driveway.

The simplest kind of a turnaround is in the form of a T with the stem of the T either in front of the house, or off to one side if you have a wide lot. You back out of the garage and into the stem of the T, then drive out, head-on, into the street.

After considerable research and experimenting, it was concluded that high fences and shrubs along the street are among the worst hazards. Also the shape of the entrance of a driveway into a street should be in the form of an inverted Y rather than an inverted T. This prevents sharp turns into traffic and affords better vision.

Speaking of hazards, the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers says driveway snow shoveling is getting to be a leading killer of householders over 40. After one snowfall in Washington, D.C., five homeowners had fatal heart attacks while shoveling snow from their driveways.

So the IRB advocates laying a grid of radiant heating pipes in driveway pavements to melt the snow as it falls. "Installation costs vary depending on the length of the driveway," the engineers

Dancing Horses To Be Returned

By RICHARD O'REGAN
 VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Austria's famous dancing horses—those of the Spanish riding school of the Hapsburg emperors—will return to Vienna soon after long exile in the West.

Russian authorities in Austria have guaranteed they will not seize the stately white Lipizzaner stallions if they come back to their magnificent stables in the ancient imperial palace in Vienna.

The announcement of the return of the horses from Wels, in the American zone of Austria, was made by the Austrian Cabinet.

A government spokesman said the Russians had promised not to claim them as "German assets."

The riding school, the only one in the world which maintains the centuries-old classic tradition of horsemanship, was saved for Austria from the Russian army in 1945 by U.S. Gen. George S. Patton.

A keen horseman himself, Patton sent tanks to the forest in Czechoslovakia to which the horses had been removed to avoid the war and brought them to Wels.

Since 1945, the "dance of the white stallions" has delighted equestrians of many nations. The riding school has toured the United States, Canada and many countries of Europe.

The Austrian Cabinet said the great stables and sumptuous riding hall in the Hofburg, the win-

Styling that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

It costs no more to form a sheet of steel into a graceful shape than it does an awkward one—price has nothing to do with styling. Only the talent of its designers determines whether a car is a delight to the eye or isn't.

You couldn't find more pointed proof of this than the 1955 Chevrolet—for here is a low-priced car that has snatched the styling spotlight, overshadowing even the highest-priced creations with its subtle sweep of line, the bold rake of its deep-curved windshield.

New V8 and two new 6's

But the Motoramic Chevrolet has advances in engineering that even surpass its styling. There are three ultra-efficient new engines—the 162-h.p. Turbo-Fire V8 and two "Blue-Flame" 6's. There is a whole new chassis design, with spherical-joint front suspension that spins bumps like a swallow skimming a lake, and Anti-Dive braking control to check that sharp "noosing down" of the front end.

There are three new drives—sturdier Synchromesh and, optional at extra cost, a silkier Powerglide automatic transmission or the flexibility of Touch-Down Overdrive . . . plus all the power helpers you could wish. Try a 1955 Chevrolet—now—and find out why it is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars.

MORE THAN A NEW CAR . . . A NEW CONCEPT OF LOW-COST MOTORING

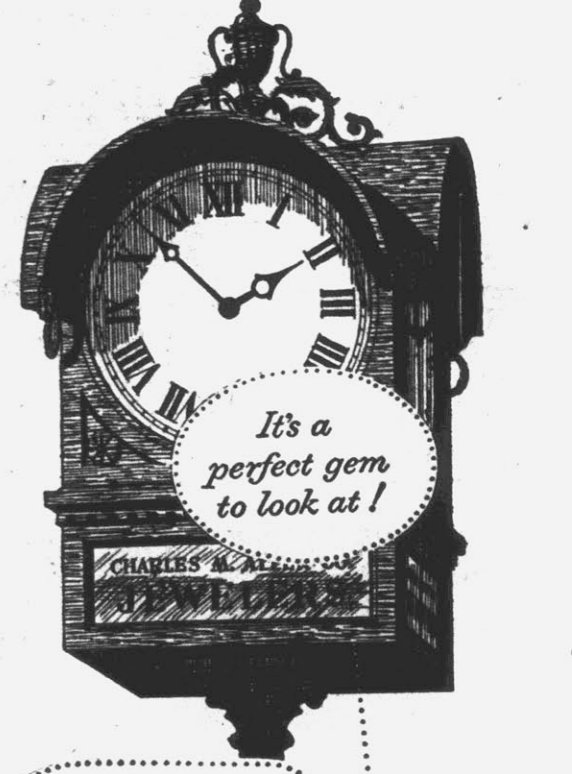

CHEVROLET

Doctor at the CROSSROADS

ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Dr. Fred Beier had come from St. Louis to the rural community of Jennings, Missouri, where he hoped to find peace in the quiet countryside. And he had found it and contentment, too, serving as the little town's only physician. He was happy in an old-fashioned house with Katie, his wife, an unpretentious young matron, who knew very well that many a woman could covetous eye upon her. Fred, for instance, like the little town's only physician, he was happy in an old-fashioned house with Katie, his wife, an unpretentious young matron, who knew very well that many a woman could covetous eye upon her.

CHAPTER FOUR
Fred sighed at the conditions he saw and came back to the woman who still coughed into the corner of her hand, he squatted on his heels and talked to her earnestly. Finally she lifted her eyes and spoke breathlessly. Blood flecked her lower lip.

"She had, she told him, coughed for a long time. First, in the camp near Munich; it had been better for a while since coming to America—but in the winter—and now—she gestured in despair at her swollen body. The good Herr Godfrey, she said fearfully had not bargained for them to have children! He did not expect that!

"Why," Fred asked the husband, "did you not come for me? You knew there was a doctor, and that your wife was ill?"
The man and his wife exchanged glances but did not answer. Fred muttered below his breath.
"Don't blame Godfrey too much, Fred," Linda urged. "He means well; he just doesn't think. He probably expected these people—probably he thinks now—that they ber's eyes.

"Yes!" said Fred. "It was enough for Mr. Godfrey to bring you here to this place. It is not enough for you just to come! Above all else, it is very wrong for you to be afraid. Fear is always a terrible thing. It stifles one. A young plant put into a dark cellar will not grow. If you live always in the shadow of fear, you cannot grow strong, or happy—you cannot do the things Mr. Godfrey expected of you when he brought you here. He did not bring you here only to work for him. He brought you in the hope that you would be happy, and that you would begin a new life for yourselves in this place. But, because of fear, you are not doing that, and it is wrong."

"Herr Doktor," Nienaber broke in his tone resigned, "you do not know of what you speak. One—"
"Oh, yes, I do know!" said Fred crisply. "Why not? My father and mother and I—we, too, were once displaced persons. We too came as refugees to a strange land. That was of course, after another war—but for us it was quite bad enough. We came, as you have said, with nothing in our pockets, and our strangeness. We came because kind people gave us a chance to come, a means by which we could live in a free land!"

Richard Nienaber and his wife looked at each other, unbelieving. "Can this be true?" they asked. The Doktor was once a refugee! Fred laughed. "I not only was one, I still am one. A refugee from many things. But I have learned one truth: that the only trouble I have known real trouble, trouble from which I could not save myself was when I pretended to be what I was not, or when I pretended that things were not as they were. Then I was wrong. Always. I have learned that one must face the truth, and live with it. So it is with Clara's health. It was wrong of you to live for a year in this place, knowing that she was sick, knowing that a doctor was at hand, and not do anything about it."
He shook his finger into their faces; he talked sternly to them. They were to do differently! They were not to be afraid! Clara was to be made comfortable. They were to use the telephone up in the house, and bring down a rug and some comfortable chairs—a rug and above all they were to do what the doctor said—
Back on the road in the car with Linda beside him, she said, "I'm glad I brought you."
"Yes! The woman is very ill." He slowed for the narrow, high-water bridge at Mirandy's gates. "I wonder if those people know what these arroyos can do in the spring rains," murmured Linda. "Those people, my dear Linda," Fred instructed her, "know a little about things which mean trouble and disaster. It is good luck which can take them by surprise."
Linda turned in the seat to look at Fred. "I thought I knew you pretty well," she confessed "but I had never suspected you of cynicism. But then," she laughed, "I never guessed, either, that you were a bossy man."
He chuckled. "You have known me in my less professional capacity, dear Linda. I am bossy. A doctor has to be. Or should be. At least, as I view my profession."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced cautiously today with trading relatively light. Although gains and losses spread over a range of between 1 and 2 points either way, most changes were in the small fractions. Trading dwindled down to a pace less than yesterday's 2,760,000 shares.

Aircrafts were generally higher with Douglas well out in front after directors raised the dividend, declared an extra, and proposed a three-for-two split. It opened on a block of 2,500 shares up 4 1/2 at 128.

The railroads machine tools, utilities and most oils were higher. The rest of the market was steady to mixed.

Among higher stocks were General Motors, Chrysler, Boeing, General Dynamics, Bullard, Cincinnati Milling, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and Houston Oil which was exceedingly strong.

Lower were Studebaker - Packard, U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, International Paper, and Southern Railway.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog markets were 25 to 50 lower to low. Tops at 18.00 at Rich Square, 17.75 at Beaulville Castle Hayne, Goldsboro; 17.50 at New Bern.

Wounded Man Is Still In Critical Condition Today

Doctors said this morning that the condition of Linwood Earl Newton, who was shot through the stomach last Saturday, is about the same.

His physician declared that the seriously injured Farmville man is still in critical condition on this, the fifth day following a fight between Newton and Highway Patrol Corporal Carl Whitfield, as the officer was bringing Newton in to be charged with drunken driving.

Whitfield was said to be doing well by the doctor. He stressed, however, the fact that the patrolman, who was also seriously injured in the struggle with his prisoner, is still not allowed to have visitors. Whitfield received a bullet wound in the lower arm, chest injuries, brain concussion and multiple abrasions and bruises. Newton was shot through the chest and liver. He was operated upon on the afternoon that he was brought to the hospital.

Voted Approval Of Merger Move

WASHINGTON, N. C. (AP)—The Albemarle Presbytery yesterday voted by 71-19 in favor of the merger of the three branches of the Presbyterian Church into the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

The plan already had been defeated by Southern Presbyterians. Fourteen Presbyterian districts voted Tuesday against the proposed merger. Twelve had previously voted against it.

The Albemarle group elected E. Lee Willingham of Chocod in Pitt County as moderator to succeed H. F. Chesnut of Rocky Mount.

$10,000 Suit For Damages Filed

Alleging that Kinsey Heath hit him over the head five times with a "metal tire iron or car crank," causing permanent injuries, humiliation, and mental anguish, Wallace Barrett has filed a $10,000 damage suit in the Pitt Superior Clerk's office against the alleged assailant.

According to the suit, the defendant came to Barrett's home at 9 p.m., January 10, and asked Barrett to go to the defendant's store to sign a check, which was said to have been cashed though unsigned. Barrett said he would go to the store and sign the check in the morning, because of the late hour at night and other circumstances.

At this point, continues the suit, Heath pulled out the iron object "which he had concealed about his person" and assaulted the plaintiff. The plaintiff states that his head was cut, gashed, and bruised, and permanently disfigured.

Both the plaintiff and defendant live in Farmville.

First Big Snow Since Feb. '48

Had all of yesterday's snow, sleet, and rain fallen as snow it would have been 10 inches deep, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Weather Station, stated. The total precipitation measured as liquid was 1.05 inches.

Incidentally, yesterday's snow was the first real snow since the big snow of February, 1948, when 10 inches fell, and rural mail delivery service was suspended two days, the weather observer stated.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 33 (one degree above freezing), and the lowest last night was 26. At 8 a.m. today the temperature was 26. It was the coldest 24-hour period of the winter.

Yesterday a year ago, different kind of weather prevailed in the Greenville area. The highest temperature was 70 degrees. Lowest that night 55, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 57. Light shower of rain fell here that day.

Regular School Schedules Over County Today

City and county schools opened with regular schedules this morning following yesterday's snowstorm which threatened to cause the schools to close.

Superintendent D. H. Conley said the county schools were ordered to resume their regular operation today after an inspection of the roads revealed they were safe for travel by the school buses.

City schools closed at 12:30 p.m. today, but will operate on a full schedule tomorrow, Superintendent J. H. Rose reported. He said this plan was formulated yesterday when it appeared the snow would be heavier than it is, and so no plans were made for operating the school lunchrooms today.

Colored News

Sunday, January 23, will be regular Youth Day at Phillippi Christian Church. The pastor, Rev. J. F. McLaurin, will deliver the message with the Junior Choir rendering the music. Miss Catherine Foreman will be leading soloist. At 3 p.m. the pastor, choir and congregation will worship with Rev. Noah Boston and his congregation at Spring Green Church of Christ, Plymouth, departing from the local church at 1 p.m. sharp. Sufficient transportation will be available for any who desire to go.

Sunday School is held regularly every Sunday at 9 a.m. All are welcome.

The Celebrity Social Club will meet at the home of Miss Carrie Emma Edwards, S. Railroad St., tonight at 8 o'clock.

The No. 3 Choir of Pentecostal Holy Church of Goldsboro will render a musical program at Holy Trinity Church Sunday night at 8:00.

Trailer Swung Around, Smashing Auto

The big tractor-van rig shown in the top photo above, went into a skid, turned completely around and came to rest in a ditch about noon yesterday at the height of a winter storm. As the trailer swung around it was said to have clipped the side of a rural mail carrier's auto shown in the bottom picture, which had stopped at a road-side mail box. Driver of the car was Jay Barnhill of 1306 Myrtle Avenue. Barnhill received injuries to his left leg and back in the accident which completely demolished the car. The truck driver was uninjured and after two wreckers were used to pull the big vehicle from the ditch the truck was driven to Greenville under its own power. Investigating Patrolman James W. Boykin said his investigation is incomplete. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor)

Two Cases Disposed Of Tuesday In Civil Term Of Pitt Superior Court

Two cases were disposed of in Pitt Civil Court on Tuesday by Presiding Judge Walter J. Bone.

Because of the snowstorm and bad condition of highways, Judge Bone announced that there will be no more cases tried in Civil Court this week.

In the case of Dennis Anderson (plaintiff) versus B. N. Worthington, the judgment of the court was that the plaintiff was "wrongfully and maliciously" assaulted, and awarded compensatory damages of $342.50 to Anderson.

In the case of Essie Garris Bagley (guardian of A. J. Garris) versus E. A. Garris (the defendant), Judge Bone signed a court order allowing the defendant until February 18, 1955, to file an answer to the complaint. The case involves the legal execution of a deed in the name of A. J. Garris.

Truck Goes Into Skid, Overturns

A milk truck overturned on N. C. 33 about four miles from Pactious yesterday morning.

Investigating Patrolman D. E. Perry said damage to the vehicle amounted to approximately $200.

The vehicle was being driven by Carl Greene Lupton of Washington. He told the patrolman that the truck went into a skid and rolled over. The accident occurred about 10:20 yesterday morning.

Perry said that no charges were placed against the driver and there were no injuries in the accident.

Pastor Says Gospel Is Answer To Communism

"The world is engaged in a battle of ideas and basic concepts. We shall win this struggle only by discovering a bigger and better idea," declared the Rev. J. Malloy Owen in speaking last night to the Men's Fellowship Club at the First Presbyterian Church. Free enterprise and democratic government, good though they are, in themselves do not constitute the answer to the threat of communism; for communism offers a complete system for life and thought to the people of the world.

The speaker, Minister of St. James Methodist Church, added that by comparison with early Christians the modern church is but a shadow of its former self with reference to devotion, enthusiasm, and conviction.

"The Christian has the answer. The gospel is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believes. Not through organic union, but through united belief in and obedience to the Word of God we can win this ideological struggle," the Rev. Owen asserted.

H. Franklin Steinbeck, a leading layman of the St. James Methodist Church, was a guest of the club and led the devotional.

The guest speaker was introduced by Dr. W. C. Humbert, vice president and program chairman.

Twenty-eight members and 3 guests attended the supper meeting presided over by Dr. S. R. Bartlett, new president.

The Rev. L. Wesley Topping, minister of the church, pronounced the benediction.

A supper was served by the women of Circle Number 6, Mrs. M. P. Bailey, chairman.

Thought Suicide Victim Praying

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Clarence E. McCloskey told Homicide Detective V. F. Hart she saw her husband kneeling in a bedroom yesterday. She said she thought he was praying, since he frequently did so, and tiptoed away.

Half an hour later, finding him in the same position, she investigated. He was dead. A cotton sash cord had been looped around his neck and the top hinge of a door.

Mrs. McCloskey said her husband had been in ill health. An inquest verdict of suicide was returned.

Hookworms can cause severe anemia.
