Malenkov Resigns; Military Man New Russian Premier

MOSCOW (AP)—With a confession of failure Georgi M. Malenkov resigned today as premier of the Soviet Union. The defense minister, Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, became premier...

forces—under Stalin—during World War II. He is 59. Khrushchev is 60 and Malenkov 53. Some Western diplomats saw in the choice of Bulganin a further evidence of the growing strength of the army in the Soviet government...

Malenkov's successor. The Parliament gave its unanimous approval to the designation of Bulganin. Immediately after that Molotov launched into a speech on Soviet foreign policy. The 53-year-old Malenkov, seated between President Klementy Voroshilov and Khrushchev, listened intently as the foreign minister bitterly and repeatedly accused the United States of trying to impose "an iron curtain and an iron heel" on the Western Hemisphere...

the Soviet Parliament, that "the Soviet Union wants a competition with the United States not in the production of atomic weapons but in using atomic energy for peaceful aims." Molotov declared the United States is trying to lead the world into a new war he said it is guilty in China of an aggression "which must be condemned by the United Nations if the U.N. wants to retain its respect." He called Formosa "undoubtedly the territory of the Chinese People's Republic."

the Moscow conference of November and December. "To the measures which we will have to carry out there belongs a creation of a joint military command of the eight countries (participants in the Moscow conference)." This measure arises from the necessity to increase our defense. When we have created this joint command the aggressors will be restrained themselves from new adventures and behave more quietly.

had had personal charge of the new agricultural program with its stress on mechanization and the opening of virgin lands in Central Asia and elsewhere in Siberia. Also he has headed the recent drive for concentration on the development of heavy industry. Malenkov was identified as the public mind with the campaign to concentrate on light industries in order to produce consumer goods and raise the standard of living of the Soviet people.

before Stalin's death, when he was in charge of the agricultural program, he had done the job badly. Diplomats were interested in the fact that Marshal Bulganin was elected to the premiership by the same session of the Supreme Soviet which unanimously approved the new 1955 budget which raised Soviet military spending by about 15 per cent. The same Soviet also appropriated vast sums for the development of heavy industry. Malenkov, in his statement of resignation, said the Soviet Union's agricultural program under him, even in the days before Stalin's death, had "bad results."

Bulganin Is Old Line Communist

By TOM WHITNEY Associated Press Staff Writer Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the new Soviet premier, is the man whom Stalin and Stalin's heirs trusted to administer for many years the gigantic Soviet war machine. With his iron gray hair, his carefully trimmed white beard, and close cropped mustaches dressed in an immaculate and well-pressed uniform with great marshal's stars gleaming from his shoulder boards, Bulganin looks the personification of military dignity and precision.

ing "extraordinary commission." Young Bulganin was one of the first Communists named to work in this weapon of the Bolsheviks. He became an expert in intelligence, counterintelligence, terror and the other functions of Soviet police dictatorship right at its start. He worked in the Cheka for four years. In the mid-1930s, Bulganin was in a group of Communist party career men selected to go to advanced military school to get a rudimentary military education, and thus to be prepared for military responsibilities in event of war.

Red China Sounding Threats

American Officials Keep Fingers Crossed Over Possible Shooting Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials kept their fingers crossed today against the possibility of a shooting incident in Red China carries out a veiled threat to fly planes in the same air being patrolled by U.S. craft. American planes helping to cover the evacuation of Chinese Nationalist soldiers from the Tachen Islands were accused by the Peiping radio yesterday of "gravely encroaching on China's territory and sovereignty."

President Outlines 'Emergency' Construction Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called for a seven-billion-dollar emergency school construction program over the next three years into which the federal government would channel $1,100,000,000. The four-point program, set out in a special message to Congress, proposed that 750 million dollars of federal funds be used to buy school bonds of local communities which cannot sell them in the open market at reasonable interest rates.

More Red Anti-Aircraft Fire Reported; No Retaliation

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Tachen island, carrying fishing nets and a few treasured belongings streamed aboard Nationalist landing craft and U.S. transport to drop from rocky beaches under protection of a mighty American naval air armada. (AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the amphibious flagship Estee that two carrier-based American planes were fired on by Red anti-aircraft batteries on Yikiangshan last night and another one this morning. None of the planes were hit. Yikiangshan is eight miles north of the Tachens. (The two planes last night were flying north of the Tachens at 2,000 feet. Naval officers said the plane fired on today had strayed "out of bounds" over Yikiangshan. It was immediately ordered out of the area. (Further details were not disclosed.)

Tachen Evacuation Still 'Quiet'

The Nationalist Central News Agency in a Hong Kong dispatch said the Chinese Reds were strengthening force on the Nationalist-held coastal island of Quemoy 350 miles south of the Tachens. Nationalists repelled a Red invasion attempt there in October 1949, inflicting thousands of casualties on the Communists. (While Red China's military arm was quiet, its propaganda voice clamored that U.S. participation was a "pretext to invade the Chinese coastal islands and expand its aggression against China.") (Peiping radio, heard here, broadcast an editorial from the official Peoples Daily which concluded: "United States' war threats cannot intimidate the Chinese people in their determination to liberate Taiwan (Formosa) and other Chinese islands.")

Draft Extension Due For Action By House Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to extend the military draft for another four years was called up for House action today with no concerted opposition in sight and passage assured. Secretary of Defense Wilson has described the draft as essential to maintain the strength of the armed services. The measure was approved 32-0 by the House Armed Services Committee last week. The present draft law expires next June 30. The Senate has yet to act on an extension. Draft quotas are currently running around 11,000 men monthly. The measure would continue until mid-1959 the government's authority to draft young men of 18½ to 26 years for two years active service, followed by six years obligation in the reserves. Another of the Eisenhower administration's military manpower measures, which are being handled by a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La.). One provision is designed to insure that draftees kept up with their reserve obligations after completion of active service. Another feature, a kind of test for universal military training, would provide that an annual quota of 100,000 volunteers be given six months' training, instead of two years' service as draftees, on condition they agree to another 9½ years' reserve obligation. The Armed Services Committee proposed two changes in the draft law extension: 1. Youths who join the National Guard before the age of 18½ and serve continuously in it until they are 26 would be exempt from subsequent draft. They are liable now until 35. 2. Those serving six months or more in the uniformed services or 24 months in the public health service since September 1940, could not be inducted for a second tour of duty.

Warships Sail To Formosa Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The heavy cruisers Los Angeles, Baltimore and Rochester sail today with eight destroyers to join the 7th Fleet in Formosa waters. They are manned by 6,500 men. Navy officials declined comment when asked if one of the cruisers is carrying guided missiles and nuclear weapons. They said recently that the departure of the vessels is a routine rotation, not necessarily signifying an emergency.

Boy Scouts Take Over City Government Today

Greenville has a new city government this afternoon. Its new city fathers took over a revolution or even an election. And they did it with the blessings of the city council, mayor and all the other city officials. At 1:30 Boy Scouts moved into city hall to become the city's council and mayor. In addition local scouts took over as city manager, city clerk, fire and police chiefs, superintendent of public works and as judge of Recorder's Court. The young city officials must make time count, however. For when the city offices close this afternoon they will step down from their short terms in office and return the city to regular elected and appointed officials. It's all a part of the local observance of National Boy Scout Week and the afternoon change-over is designed to give the scouts a better insight of the workings of the city government. We are glad to cooperate with them to the fullest extent possible and are trying to give the scouts participating a full briefing on the operation of the city government.

Boy Shot From Telephone Booth

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A boy walking toward a telephone booth to make a call yesterday was shot in the face by an unidentified man in the street booth. The man escaped. The pistol bullet hit Albert Clifton, 15, in the right side of his face and lodged in his neck. James Clifton said the man opened fire as he and Albert walked toward the booth. Memorial Hospital reported today that Albert was in good condition. NOMINATED WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Lt. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, a hero of the Battle of the Bulge, as commander of the United States Army in Europe.

Proposals Affecting Prisons, Highways Introduced

RALEIGH (AP)—The state prisons director would be cloaked with more authority under a bill introduced last night in the House. At the same time, a resolution was introduced calling for a study of the feasibility of separating the prison system from the State Highway Commission. Both proposals are in line with the recommendations of a commission which studied the reorganization of state government. The bill and resolution were introduced by Rep. Thomas Turner of Guilford, who was joined by three other members, Reps. William B. Rodman of Beaufort, David Clark of Lincoln and John W. Umstead of Orange. The bill would transfer from the Highway Commission to the prisons director full administrative authority over the prisons. Turner said the director has had to get the Highway Commission's approval for administration actions. The measure would forbid the prisons director or prison employees from using their positions "to influence elections or the political activity of any person." A provision of the bill calls for the appointment of a director for a term of four years and staggered so it would overlap by one year the term of an incoming governor. The purpose of this, Turner explained, was that if you get a good man in office the governor will retain him. Under the bill, the Highway Com-

Thursday Picked As 'Dollar Day'

Thursday is Dollar Day in Greenville. Leading merchants have announced that Thursday will be observed as their semi-annual Dollar Day in the city. The event is sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association. Following a custom of 25 years, merchants will again offer "many bargains and liberal discounts" to their customers, with a number advertising special values purchased solely for this event. The City Council has declared a one-day holiday on parking meters "for the convenience of out-of-town shoppers," and shoppers will also have the privilege of using the free parking lots at Second and Evans Streets and Reade and Fifth Streets, where the old swimming pool was formerly located. Employers and employees are urged by the Merchants Association not to use the downtown parking areas that day. A new Dollar Day promotional campaign will be waged by the merchants today and Wednesday prior to the sales event. Every home telephone subscriber listed in the Greenville directory will be called, and each tenth person answering the phone, "Thursday is Dollar Day," will be given a prize. All stores will be open by 9 a.m. Thursday, and employers have hired extra clerks for that day. According to a report by a local merchant, Dollar Day originated in Eastern Carolina many years ago when farmers and other rural dwellers did not get to town frequently, due to muddy roads and lack of paved highways. Back in the 1900's when farmers came to town, they bought supplies for six-month periods. With the coming of highways and improved motor transportation, farmers and rural dwellers became year-round shoppers, and the merchant noted, "They are ever alert to the special selling events offered by the Greenville merchants on Dollar Day and at other times during the year."

Valentine Motif Featured By Jarvis Hall Students At Tea

With decorations based on a Valentine motif, a tea given Sunday afternoon by students living in Jarvis Hall at East Carolina College was both an enjoyable and colorful occasion. Guests included members of the college staff, parents of students and others. During the afternoon approximately 150 people called at the women's dormitory to enjoy the hospitality of the hostesses.

The reception rooms of Jarvis Hall were attractively decorated with arrangements of red carnations, red gladioli, and white narcissi. Refreshments of spiced tea, cookies, cakes, nuts and mints also emphasized in color scheme or heart-shaped design the idea of the Valentine.

Those attending the tea were welcomed at the door by Miss Frankie Daniel of Snow Hill and Miss Jo Ann Harris of Southern Pines. Miss Ruth White, Dean of Women at the college, and Miss Nancy Wil-more, dormitory counselor in Jarvis Hall, were assisted in receiving guests by Misses Mary Jo Outland of Woodland, Peggy Moore of Franklinton, Barbara Modlin of Portsmouth, Va., and Sara Giles of Linden.

Pouring tea during the afternoon were Misses Jean Buchanan of Raleigh, Betty June Davenport of Tarboro, Anne Bunting of Oak City, and Elma Fendley of Fayetteville.

Arrangements for the tea were made by a student committee, headed by Miss Giles. Others serving on it include Misses Lannie Crocker of Selma, Sharon Lanier of Chinquapin, Carolyn Finch of Elizabeth City, Carolyn Wallace of Jamesville, and Bobbie Holler of Greensboro.

The social event was one of a series of teas given during the school year by students living in various residence halls on the campus.

Social Hour On Saturday Given For Dr. And Mrs. Ledyard Ross

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram J. Mayo of Tarboro entertained at a social hour on Saturday night for Dr. and Mrs. Ledyard Ross at the home of Mrs. Mayo's mother, Mrs. Alfred F. Kennedy Jr., on Liberty Street.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Rawl Jr. and introduced to the receiving line composed of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo, Dr. and Mrs. Ross, Judge and Mrs. Albion Dunn, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kennedy. The receiving line was formed in the library which was decorated with Japanese quince and greenery. Mr. and Mrs. Elmo G. Dupree directed callers to the gift room where Mrs. Clifton H. Edwards, amidst sprays of magnolia leaves and white gladioli, received.

Dr. and Mrs. S. T. White III directed guests into the living room where they were met by Dr. and Mrs. Warren Aldridge and invited into the dining room.

The mantel in the living room was decorated with a beautiful arrangement of white gladioli and magnolia leaves. Sprays of gladioli and magnolia leaves were used on occasional tables in the room.

The dining room table was covered with a linen cut-work cloth and held a lovely arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons, and fern in a silver bowl. The centerpiece was flanked by silver candlesticks holding white candles. The buffet was adorned with a design of white gladioli and candles in silver holders. Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale presided at the silver coffee server and Mrs. Clarence Barnhill served pecan tarts from silver trays to the guests. Other refreshments served were cheese wafers, nuts, and green and white mints.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. F. Corbett and Mrs. F. Allen. Serving with them were Miss Virginia Perkins, Miss Jean Ann King, Mrs. Jake K. Higgs, and Mrs. John Moss. Dr. and Mrs. Wallace I. Wolverton presided at the register.

Goodbyes were said at the front door by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rowlette.

Approximately 130 guests called during the hour.

Mrs. Ross was presented a white carnation corsage from the hosts.

Silver Stream Council Holds Regular Meet

Twenty-two members of Silver Stream Council No. 48 of Pochontas met in the Redmen hall for a regular meeting. The meeting came to order and Sister Marion Vincent, Great Prophetess, and Sister Lizzie Mae Beddard led the March, formed a P and seated the Chiefs. The council fire was kindled in due form.

Motion was carried to remember Sister Grace Buck and Sister Beatrice Smith with a get-well card and a card of thanks to Beatrice Smith for the pretty decorations in the hall and community building on January 29 when the Great Pochontas made her official visit to Winterville. A storm shower will be given to Mamie Ruth Cayton, Pochontas, the next meeting night, Feb. 17, in the hall. All members are urged to please be present. Sister Mary Mizell sent word that she would donate the flower baskets she has to the Council.

The following letter was read, "There will be a meeting February 9 in Washington, N. C. at the Redmen's Hall at 2:00 o'clock to organize an Eastern District. It is important that as many members as possible go to that meeting."

Lovie Braxton's name was drawn for the jackpot prize and Mamie Ruth Cayton won the door prize.

The "Hand Out" Is Not Necessary

The "right kind" of industry is an important matter to be considered by a community which is seeking to foster its own industrial development.

Gov. Hodges set forth a good general definition in an address recently in which he asserted: "It is our idea that the right kind of industry does not wish to be discriminated against, nor does it expect a handout..."

With Southern states vying for new industry there are some states which are offering various kinds of inducements to industries which locate plants within their borders. There are some communities which are offering rent-free buildings, tax-free facilities and many other things in an effort to get industry. For the most part, North Carolina communities have steered clear of that sort of operation.

Many have actively sought industry, but they have done so on a sound basis. Greenville, for example, probably could have obtained more industries than it has in recent years if it had adopted some sort of give-away program to attract industry. Had such a move been undertaken, however, we probably would have attracted some of the least desirable, shirt-tail operations which would have been seeking temporary enrichment rather than permanent operations. They would have proved of little value to the community in the long run.

The success of North Carolina's industrial development in recent years is proof that a community which offers industry many natural advantages does not have to adopt a give-away program to attract new plants and new jobs. At the same time it is proof that an aggressive program to make these natural advantages known to industry is an important factor in the attraction of industry.

A Change In Attitude Of People Is Apparent

The communist attack on U. S. planes over the Yellow Sea last week was not surprising. Such attacks have been happening from time to time over the past several years. We have had nothing to indicate they would not recur.

What is surprising is the air of calmness which prevailed among the American people and in the U. S. government when the attack was announced.

It was almost matter-of-fact acceptance. The reaction differed sharply from the excitement which previous attacks caused both in the government and among the people. This new calm reaction to such air attacks leads us to the conclusion that the American people over the period of the past few years have gradually conditioned themselves to be ready for communist aggression over international waters, and even over territory which clearly belongs to the free world.

The fact that it was the Red forces rather than the United States which lost planes in this latest attack could have a bearing upon the reaction. Nevertheless it appears to us that the American people have come to the conclusion that such attacks are inevitable.

Apparently the U. S. will be less inclined than in the past to give ground in the hope of satisfying the communist appetite for more territory and more power.

A March Target Date Should Be Achieved

There may be an outside chance that the initial contracts for the new three-quarter million dollar bridge and bypass project at Greenville will be let before the month of February passes. We shouldn't pin our hopes too strongly on the February date, however.

As we see the situation, all indications point to the fact that it will be March before the project can finally be readied for letting by the State Highway and Public Works Commission. Every effort should be made to have the important project included in the March lettings.

When it becomes necessary to realign the route of the highway across the local airport property, Highway officials made it clear the changes would delay the letting of the project at least a month and perhaps as long as three months, depending upon complications which might develop. That announcement immediately obviated the possibility that the project could be let as originally scheduled the last week in January.

Although the second highway division headquarters has concentrated on preparing the project for letting at the earliest possible date, there seems to us little ground to expect the letting this month. There was just too much work to be done and too little time in which to do it to ready the project for a February letting.

Maybe March will be the red letter month in which the bypass and bridge project will pass from the planning stages into the actual construction stage. The Reflector urges the local highway division headquarters and local officials as well to do everything in their power to see that the urgently needed project is let in March.

A GREAT MESSAGE

Yesterday Glenn Cunningham spoke at a high school in our part of the country and it was my privilege to hear him.

Many readers will recall Cunningham as one of the fastest runners of all time. When he was a child, he had an accident which was so serious that nobody believed he would ever be able to walk again. By sheer courage and the faith of both the boy and his parents, he got up out of an invalid's bed, learned to walk all over again as if he had been a baby; then set himself to be an athlete. A world record which he established more than twenty years ago still stands—one of four world records never to have been broken.

Glenn Cunningham now goes about the country speaking to high school students on the living of an active, purposeful life. He tells them what it means to surmount difficulties. He points out pathways which lead to real success. He is particularly vehement in his denunciation of beverage alcohol, or any other variety of narcotic. He says no one can use these things without damaging either his present usefulness or his potential.

In the midst of all the ballyhoo today, it is good to hear a voice like this raised in behalf of straight, clean living and one by a man who gives his message in terms young people can understand and appreciate.

Land Value Rise Helps Benson

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's confidence in the economic progress of millions of American farmers is supported by his recent study of the real estate market's activity in almost every agricultural area. Despite falling prices and lower price support levels for their crops, the value of farmland is going up steadily.

Like American industry, which will spend more than $20 billion on new plants and machinery in 1955, the nation's farmers are in an expansive mood. They are borrowing heavily on easier terms through mortgage operations in order to improve their soil, build up their stocks, buy labor-saving devices and electrify their homes and barns. They furnish a profitable market for appliances, farm implement and automobile manufacturers, as well as for consumer goods from urban centers.

They apparently count on the recent economic forecast by Arthur F. Burns, chief White House adviser on business conditions. He cautiously predicted at least a 5- or 10-year era of prosperity, barring global war.

EXPLAINS VOTING IN FARM STATES—Even though harassed by the Formosa crisis, President Eisenhower has taken time out to examine Benson's reports. In White House opinion, they help to explain why the Republicans held their own in farm states in last year's Congressional elections. They lie behind National Chairman Leonard Hall's predictions that he will be re-elected in 1956, and that the GOP will recapture Congress.

The economic stability also explains why Democrats on Capitol Hill will make no determined attack on the Eisenhower-Benson farm program at the current session. The results appear to disprove their lengthy forecasts that the 1954 Agricultural Act, with its sharp reduction from the 90 per cent parity price level, would doom the farmers.

LAND VALUES INCREASE—According to the Benson real estate review, farm land values throughout the nation increased by more than 1 per cent in the last six months of 1954, continuing an advance that had begun in late 1953. In some areas, notably New York and Minnesota, the figures ranged from 3 to 4 per cent. Oddly, it was during this same period that the stock market registered its greatest gains.

Equally significant, in Benson's belief, the number of farms for sale has decreased, while the demand for farm land remains high. And it is not the "city fellers" seeking refuge from atom bombs, who are doing the buying. The postwar rush of "gentleman farmers" to the wide open spaces has ended. It is the farmers themselves who are doing the investing and reinvesting.

Farm optimism even surmounted drought difficulties. Wyoming, which was especially hard hit by lack of rainfall, suffered the maximum drop, but it was only 4 per cent. In other drought-stricken sections, the decline in values ranged from 1 to 3 per cent.

BENSON'S INGENUITY—Meanwhile, Secretary Benson shows far more aggressiveness and ingenuity than his predecessors in seeking to dispose of expensive and embarrassing farm surpluses. His scheme to transform butter into "ghee" for sale to Asia's hungry millions provides the most spectacular example. They dislike the pure butter flavor, preferring a melted down residue, which we find to be so rancid as to be distasteful.

Benson may extend this formula to other surplus commodities. Millions of foreign consumers will not eat American food in its natural state. But home economic experts and scientists may yet discover means to make these supplies more palatable and saleable abroad.

If Benson can obtain funds from Congress for these experiments, he may reduce his stocks to a win for more friends and general good will than the billions which Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen spends on propaganda. Food is a convincing argument in any language.

Thoughts On Odds And Ends

Coincidence of the year: I was planning to buy some used equipment from a man in the Chicago area. Although he seemed completely reliable, I decided the logical thing to do was to have him investigated.

As yet, I have not had time to hear from the report, but yesterday I received a letter from him on his office stationery. The caption under his name reads: Private Investigator, Licensed and Bonded, Civil and Criminal Investigations.

When the transaction is over I'm going to ask him if he found out about my investigation. Some private eye if he doesn't.

Women: They stumble and fall down, cut a gash on their legs a foot long and almost burst into tears! Why? Not because their leg is hurt. It's that new pair of hose they ruined—and I was just SURE these would last me a long time.

Think you're having tough luck? Yesterday at lunch time I talked to a GI in Tangiers, North Africa, and relayed a message to his wife in Houston, Tex. Their fifth child is so sick that the wife had to return to the states to get special treatment for him, leaving the husband in Tangiers with the four other children! And he confessed: "I'm not a very good mother."

A friend of mine is constantly bothered by a friend of his who always wants to borrow money. This had to be brought to screaming halt, so now my friend turned the tables on him.

Every time the mooch walks in my friend says, "You're just the man I'm looking for. I need to borrow some money today."

Diminishing Returns: Don't ask for a quarter; don't borrow a dime. Please make it a dollar and ask any time.

The change that I've lent you would make quite a stack—

For a buck, I'd have courage to ask for it back.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

MORE THAN JUDICIAL RE—DISTRICTING NEEDED (Kinston Free Press)

The 1955 General Assembly has before it a measure which would increase the number of judicial districts in North Carolina to 30, with 32 regular Superior Court judges, compared with the present system of 21 regular judges for 21 districts and 10 special judges. No present judge, regular or special, would be legislated out of office, and with increased manpower the courts presumably could achieve a better pattern of justice and keep the dockets more "current" than is possible in the present set-up.

The measure is backed by the Judicial Council of North Carolina, which has had the matter under study for some years. Congested and over-crowded dockets could be tackled with more regularly and eventually order would come out of the chaos which now exists in many districts. It might even be possible to hold more than one term of court per annum in Jones County, where even now civil and other litigation is gathering dust for want of a proper system of court trials.

The measure will cost money, of course, and it may well get bogged down in committee or pigeon-holed to await a further look at finances. It is not a panacea for all the ills of our judicial system. There are other matters which need attention and which require no legislation.

The local bar associations could expedite some cases by putting them on the docket in the order of their seniority and seriousness. Jail cases are given preference, but all too frequently these are the only matters which get full trial attention in the courts. The crowded condition of the calendars makes it possible to delay repeatedly many matters which otherwise could be heard with promptness and dispatch.

Greater concern for the cause of justice could be exhibited by some judges, solicitors and lawyers who apparently put their personal convenience ahead of the court's business. Many terms are abbreviated in mid-week to permit a judge or attorney to meet a social or public function elsewhere. The people of the State pay for a full week of judicial service to which they are entitled.

The Legislature's action on this important measure will be awaited with interest by all who want the cause of justice advanced in North Carolina. If it is passed and coupled with the real desire on the part of the judiciary and the members of the bar across the State to expedite justice, some wholesome results may be anticipated. Right now the thing that is needed most is a more effective usage of the resources we already have for administering justice in North Carolina.

Judiciary Committees, The Watchdog Committees

By LYN NISBET

WATCHDOGS — The judiciary committees in the General Assembly have often been called the catch-all or dumping ground committees. A more accurate definition might be the "watch dog" committees. They have assigned to them a lot of bills simply because the assigning officers does not know what else to do with them. They also have many bills which, in their very nature, are primarily lawyers' bills, having to do with both in and out of court procedural practice. Another committee on courts and judicial districts get the court organization and jurisdictional bills.

One of the major services rendered by the judiciary groups is checking proposed legislation for constitutionality and effect upon other statutes. That is where the "watch dog" designation becomes appropriate. ILLUSTRATIONS — Let's take a quick look at some of the business transacted by House J-I committee Thursday morning to illustrate the scope of their activities.

There was a bill authorizing the use of permanent license tags on motor vehicles owned by one of the judiciary groups is checked for constitutionality and effect upon other statutes. display a blue light. "Wait a minute," said one of the members. "This looks all right and may be good legislation, but it involves further restrictions upon the rights of the average citizen to use colored lights on his car." The lawyers on J-I battled the idea around, but concluded that actually no inherent rights were destroyed or restricted, and the bill was given a favorable report with understanding it would be further considered by the roads committee for administrative regulation.

DEBT DODGERS — Another bill had the laudable purpose of tightening the laws against people buying merchandise on credit and not paying the bills. The objection was to eliminate as far as possible the practice of customers getting in debt to one firm or person, then moving to another and another and running up accounts they could not pay. The bill as drawn had a proviso that any three instances occurring within a two year period of any person failing to pay an account upon demand would be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud.

"Wait a minute," again came the chorus from around the table. "Or wait an hour or a year before we approve any thing like that." The lawyers fully understood that the author of the bill was seeking protection for landlords and merchants against intentional debt-dodgers. But what the bill did, as written, was to brand as a criminal anybody who could not pay his debts on demand, whether because of illness, drought, fire or other disaster, however good his character or reputation or honest intent.

The bill went to a subcommittee for study to see if the existing laws false pretense did not cover the points and if not, whether the bill could be rewritten to achieve the desired purpose without making a criminal out of every honest person who because of reasons beyond his control could not pay all his debts on demand.

LOYALTY SECURITY — There was another bill providing that every official, board or commission with authority to appoint public officials should be required to investigate the prospective appointees as to qualifications, loyalty to the government and related matters. The objective here was also fully concurred in by the committee, but some questions seemed pertinent.

How thorough must the investigation be? Should the results be in writing and made a part of the official record, thus becoming an open book for publicity? Does reference to eligibility for voting mean citizenship in the United States or the right to vote in the immediate bailiwick at the time of appointment? If the appointive authority had also been appointed who was to investigate the investigator?

Every member of the committee was in full accord with the basic idea sought to be effectuated but there was serious doubt in minds of some of them whether the text of the bill ac-

Transfer Payments

By ELMER ROESSNER

Merchants and manufacturers keep fairly close watch on trends of wages and salaries dividends, rents and proprietors' profits. As these fluctuate so will demands for their goods.

There is another kind of income that doesn't fluctuate so rapidly but which bulks large— if $16 billion a year is still considered large. This consists of "transfer payments." They have nothing to do with slips given out on buses. They are payments for which no services are currently rendered as the statisticians say.

They include social security benefits which, during the last fiscal year, included $3,275,457,000 in old age and survivors insurance and $1,568,841,000 in unemployment benefits.

They also include life insurance company payments which totaled $5.6 billion in 1953, the last full year for which figures are at hand; accident and health payments of $1,550,000,000; servicemen's life insurance payments of $75,000,000; Federal employees retirement payments of $700,000,000; state and local employees' retirement payments of $450,000,000; railroad employees' retirement payments of $500,000,000; workmen's compensation payments of $850,000,000 and various other "transfers" totaling $700,000,000.

Incidentally, government statistics include individuals' bad debts to business, and government and corporation gifts to nonprofit institutions as "transfer payments." It is clear why a bill Mr. Jones won't pay the gas company constitutes personal income to Jones (or is it?) but why the gas company's contribution to the Red Cross is personal income to anybody is a little harder to figure out.

Even without these statistical vagaries, it is apparent that all more $16 billion a year over and above wages, dividends, etc., flow into the economy, and that this is a highly expendable chunk.

Individual pensioners, unemployed and other beneficiaries may not be magnificent customers. But as a class, their income reaches such a high figure that few businessmen can afford to neglect them in stocking goods, in advertising and promotion, and in making them welcome as customers.

TRAVEL RESEARCH GAINS UNIVERSITY STATUS — The first college department of travel education and research has been established by New York University. It will be part of the university's office of special services to business and industry. It will be under Andrew H. Hepburn traveler and travel writer.

The department will include facilities for spot survey and tourist preferences and habits, production of pamphlets for travel firms, industry wide studies for national travel program guidance, product or service analysis, and research on local or national bases. POUF! AND A FROZEN DINNER IS COOKED!

From the glint in the Old Proverbiar's eye when he walked today it was obvious that he had a new business proposition. To remove temptation, we furtively slipped our wallet into the wastebasket.

"The trend today is for housewives to do no work at all," he said. "That's why I've had such a boom in whole dinners frozen on a plate. I have invented the topper. The housewife doesn't even have to light the stove with my invention. I am wrapping my aluminum plates in a combustible material. All she has to do is to put the package on some nonflammable surface and strike a match to it. For those who want their dinners even quicker, I am mixing some gunpowder in the matter. Now am forming a little company and I have put you down—" "Sorry, haven't got a cent," we said truthfully.

A Director Picks Top 6 Films

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What are the greatest motion pictures ever made?

Ella Kazan one of the top directors of stage and screen, named these six offhand: "Grapes of Wrath," "Potemkin" (Russian), Charlie Chaplin's "The Gold Rush," "The Baker's Wife" (French), Eric Von Stroheim's "Greed," and D.W. Griffith's "Birth of A Nation."

It might seem surprising that a modern director picking his own list of all-time favorites, would choose four old silent films. (The two with sound "Grapes of Wrath" and "The Baker's Wife.")

The choices seem doubly surprising coming from Kazan, who is famed for his skill in filming taut dialogue scenes. But he says he himself shrinks from that reputation.

"Photographs, not dialogue, are really the essence of a good movie," he said. "The silent picture is still basic."

"The ideal still is to tell the story without words. That's why the best of the old silent films still have greatness. They didn't rely everything down in words. You could get your own meaning from them."

Kazan, who recently completed filming John Steinbeck's novel, "East of Eden," is only 45 but has directed 12 movies and some 20 Broadway plays. He won an academy award in 1947 for his "Gentleman's Agreement." He may get a second Oscar this year for "On The Waterfront."

A slender intense man with quick brown eyes, Kazan looks at life with the keen curiosity of a bright child studying a new kind of bug. He has no interest in filming old literary classics or making escape films about romantic far off times and places. "I have a narrow range," he said. "What interests me is the present scene. America itself is still an undiscovered place, so far as being truly put on the screen. The way our ordinary people really live and act—the excitement and tremendous drama in their daily lives—that hasn't been told much.

"Take the South, for example. I like the South, and I don't believe its tensions are fully understood. "I hate Giblness, the pat approach to a problem, and I distrust quick, easy solutions. I don't believe in all-white heroes or all-black villains.

"Sometimes I like to make a picture about Negro jazz musicians. They are wonderfully courageous. They've done more to break down segregation in this country than anybody else."

Kazan, nicknamed "Gadge," is the son of a Greek immigrant. He worked as a waiter in college. He was a bookkeeper, a prop boy and an actor before he became a director.

Today he likes film work better than the stage, because he believes the motion picture, is the greatest of all artistic mediums. But he limits himself to one picture a year. He is a perfectionist.

"To make a good picture every-one connected with it should be an artist in his field—writers, actors, knuckle is important."

"Talent costs money, and talent is temperamental. Anybody who's good has temperamental. But if they do have talent, it's worth any amount of patience and trouble to put on film."

Kazan practices what he preaches. His "On The Waterfront" took seven years from trouble to put it on film.

The greatest need of a successful director, Kazan believes, is to retain his independence of mind. "You have to do what you want to do, not what someone else wants you to do," he said. "You have to learn to sit down and say no."

"You are bound to fail two-thirds or three-fourths of the time at best. But if you do what you want to do and fail, you at least fall on your own terms. And that isn't too bad a fate."

It is axiomatic that nearly every bill introduced in the Gen-

Ten Schools Enter Speakers For Annual Speech Tourney

Ten schools have registered speakers for the tenth annual high school speech tournament sponsored by the local Lions Club to be held here Saturday at Greenville High School.

Seventy speakers have registered to compete in the three divisions of the forensic event, and Lions President W. W. Speight said he is pleased with the early registration for the tournament.

Original orators, experienced and inexperienced, will participate in the first two divisions, with the third division featuring memorized declamations.

There will be two rounds in the morning and a championship contest at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

For this year's tournament a new event has been added to determine the best Pitt County original orator. First, second and third place medals will be awarded in each contest.

Ten years ago, 14 students representing Winterville, Ayden and Greenville participated in the first Lions Club tournament. Lois Anne Kilpatrick won the first contest with a tribute to Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Her tribute was printed in the Congressional Record.

Registrations for the current event included through last Friday: Ayden: Anne York, Jeannette Worthington, Bobby Gagnon, Brownie Harrington, Joanne Edwards, Milton Worthington and Melvin Worthington.

Bethel: Mary Jo Wynne. Stokes: Cynthia Parker and Shirley Dixon.

Broughton of Raleigh: Carol Carson, Margo McDonald, Susan Collins, Gus Hall, Mary Clyde Wade, Henry Barnett, Marcia Dodd, Virginia Swain, Frank Cella, Shannon Wall, Lowell Spivey, Jane Woodard, Lewis Marcus, Carolyn Coggins, Margaret Beattie, Frances Longest, Carolyn Jackson, Carolyn Myers, David Hayes, Jim Davis and Sammy Frazier.

Grainier of Kinston: Beverly Desmond, Paul Mitchell, Henrietta Swayne, James Waller, Ann Hodges, Robert Cannon and Billy Woolard.

Greenville: Ann Marshall Allen, Naomi Gibbs, Martha Moye, Sandra Phillips, John Brooks, Pat Baker, Tommy Bodkin, Gayle Clapp, Martha Jane Pierce, Mary Anne Bryant

Fabulous Voice Of Yma Sumac To Be Heard Here Wednesday

Yma Sumac, whose voice has the unheard-of range of five octaves and goes up the scale from contralto to super-coloratura, will sing at East Carolina College Wednesday night following the appearance of her first album of records "The Voice of Xtabay" in 1950, which immediately became a best seller.

Her voice is one of the most amazing in the world. Her liquid transition from the growling low register notes of her song Trumpha (Earthquake) to the flute-like trills of Taíta Inty, a hymn to the sun, has been known to "freeze astonished listeners" in their tracks.

Thousands of words have been written describing her exotic voice. An equal number have been written about her life. In the maze of print the facts of her background have often been exaggerated, distorted, or fabricated.

To get the facts concerning Miss Sumac's life, all one has to do is ask the songstress herself. She was born in the village of Ichocan, 12,000 feet up on the side of Mt. Cumbemayta in Peru, and spent the first twelve years of her life there.

She is half Quechuan and half Incan. The Incas were the ruling family of the Quechua-populated

Issued $10,000 In Rubber Checks

FRANKLIN, Mass. — A police alarm was out today for a man described as a "smart, congenial businessman."

Police want him for buying a new car, two trucks, a restaurant food supplies, equipment and clothing, all with worthless checks.

The checks were issued Friday after the banks closed and not until yesterday was it discovered they were drawn on nonexistent accounts in Woonsocket, R.I., and Taunton banks.

Police said the swindler issued more than $10,000 in worthless checks and that he cleared $300

Has New Theory On Mountains

SALT LAKE CITY — A university of Utah geologist has come up with a new theory about how the earth's mountains are formed.

Dr. Armand J. Eardley says he thinks it might be caused by heat and expansion at the earth's interior resulting from decomposition of radioactive substances.

His theory differs from one more commonly held, which lays mountain-formation to cooling and wrinkling of the earth's crust.

He expounded the theory last night in an annual memorial lecture.

March Of Progress Dramatized

The march of progress from one of man's earliest forms of lighting to today's most modern outdoor lighting is dramatized here as Governor Luther H. Hodges (left), of North Carolina, and L. Byron Cherry (right), General Manager of General Electric's Outdoor Lighting Department receive a pine heart torch from Richard Crowe, Cherokee Indian. The torch was lighted from the eternal flame maintained by generation after generation of Cherokees in the Great Smokies of North Carolina. The occasion was the ground-breaking of General Electric's new multi-million dollar Outdoor Lighting plant to be built at Hendersonville.

Humorist To Be Club's Speaker

Bob Ringer, west-coast humorist and a former sales consultant in Hollywood, will be guest speaker when the Pitt Executives Club meets February 19.

Author as well as lecturer, Ringer has drawn recognition for his platform ability in Hollywood and he is ranked among the top ten of the nation's most delightful speakers.

It was the manner in which he successfully conducted a special course for salesmen in the automotive field that gave the young man his first chance to speak professionally. Now he has relinquished his sales consultant office and is devoting full time to speaking professionally.

Ringer was born in Colorado and educated in Washington. He now lives in California. He is author of the recent book, "Key to Adventurous Living."

'Top Shows' Selected In Radio, Television

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National Assn. for Better Radio and Television announced today that television's Disneyland and radio's Man's Right to Knowledge have been chosen by the association as the top TV and radio programs of 1954.

Walt Disney's show opened on the ABC network last October. It took the TV sweepstakes honor that year went to Omnibus. In addition to winning the over-all TV award, Disneyland won an award as the top show for children.

The CBS radio show Man's Right to Knowledge also won the top award in the education and information category as well as the over-all award as radio's best.

Mrs. Clara S. Logan, president of the association, said awards are made on the basis of membership voting.

Winners in other categories of TV and radio were:

Daytime programs: Mary Margaret McBride, ABC, an award given for a former 30-minute interview program that is now off the air.

Fisherman Dulles Caught 2 Sharks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says he caught two sharks during his fishing trip in the Bahamas last week.

Sen. George (D-Ga.) asked him at the Capitol: "Did you catch any fish? You don't have to tell us how big they were."

"I'll tell you what—I caught two sharks," Dulles said with a smile.

Meteors Sighted 2 Nights In Row

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Residents spotted a blazing meteor flashing across the sky for the second night in a row last night. Personnel at the Salt Lake Municipal Airport's control tower, who noted both phenomena, said last night's meteor was sighted at 7:55 p.m. and Sunday night's at 9:42 p.m.

World Cruise In Arts, Crafts Shown

A "Round the World Cruise in Arts and Crafts" is currently being featured in the art gallery at Sheppard Memorial Library.

With passport unnecessary and transportation free, local citizens are invited to take "a cruise by plane" to 19 countries, the Caribbean, Central America and finally back to the state of North Carolina during the month of February.

On exhibit from 2 to 5:30 each afternoon are objects loaned by local residents, firms and East Carolina College. The library is also cooperating with the art gallery in this program and has on display books of the various countries represented in the exhibition.

As the traveler-to-be enters the library he is met by the plane which transports him first to the British Isles. Here may be seen silver and china from England, along with many figurines. Plaid, costumed dolls and bit of heather from Scotland are also viewed at this stop.

The Scandinavian countries are visited next, and the traveler views beautiful displays of Orrefors glass from Sweden, Royal Copenhagen china and the "Goose Girl" figurine from Denmark. In Norway he is tempted to sit down for a meal at a typical Scandinavian morning breakfast setting.

Leaving Norway, the traveler heads for romantic France where old Haviland china, a blue Sevres vase, numerous pictures, novelty plates and fashion sheets are on display.

Netherlands Visit
Traveling north again, Belgium is visited where many types of Brussels lace are on exhibit. In Holland there is a print of Rembrandt's famous "The Night Watch" along with other prints by Frans Hals. Also on display in this country are numerous novelties, including a pair of miniature wood.

Famous Dresden, Meissen and Bavarian china is featured in the German exhibit, along with other characteristic objects of that country such as beer steins and hand-carved figures, one set composing an entire symphony orchestra.

In Italy there are examples of Venetian glass, tooled leathers, embroideries, jewelry and a variety of figurines.

Crossing the Mediterranean to Africa, the traveler may view a great deal of the natives' primitive ways of life from the wood carving, embroideries, beads, metals and leather articles on display. Included in this exhibit is a belt made from a camel's hide from Sweden, Royal Copenhagen china and the "Goose Girl" figurine from Denmark. In Norway he is tempted to sit down for a meal at a typical Scandinavian morning breakfast setting.

Traveling further east to Japan, the traveler may view lengths of brocade silks, tea sets, costumed dolls, vases and other ornaments, embroideries, and there is even the traditional Japanese parasol. In the air float Japanese kites.

Tea in China
In China it is tea-time and the formal tea table is laid all in silver, including chopsticks. There are also paintings, embroideries, china bowls, ivory chessmen mats, and numerous wood carvings on display in this country.

Leaving China, a visit is paid to Southeast Asia and Australia, where there is a bag made from kangaroo leather, and a number of ebony heads and elephants.

On exhibit in Hawaii are numerous articles of wood, including a coffee table made from Monkey-pod wood. There are also the historical Muu-Muu dresses, prints depicting the native vegetation and life in Hawaii, and a variety of fans, hats and parchments.

Back in the Western Hemisphere, the traveler visits Mexico where he may see articles of tin and leather, tiles, blown glass, jewelry, basketry and scenes from bullfights, a favorite sport typical of this country.

In Central America there is a tapestry made by the San Blas Indians of Panama, along with dolls dressed in fiesta costumes. In the Caribbean are featured

Among the exhibits found in the "Round the World Cruise" now being conducted in the art gallery at Sheppard Memorial Library is this one from Hawaii. On display are numerous articles of wood, including a coffee table made from Monkey-Pod wood, historical Muu-Muu dresses, prints depicting the native vegetation and life in Hawaii, and a variety of fans, hats, and parchments. The world cruise will take the viewer through Europe, Africa, Asia and the Caribbean with exhibits from 19 countries, articles for which were loaned by local residents, the State Art Gallery in Raleigh, East Carolina College and a number of local business firms. Two Reasons Why Men Sharpening Appearance

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

There are two reasons why today's men are smartening up their appearance with such refinements as designer neckties and individual cuff links:

1. Fierce competition for a "sin cere" look along Madison Avenue, New York's advertising row.
 2. Women.
- "Practically all men's trend-setting styles start on Madison Avenue," says Robert Marks, merchandising and sales promotion consultant for one of the world's largest makers of men's jewelry.
- "The trend next shows up in fashionable resort spots such as Palm Springs and Palm Beach. Then it takes about two years for it to reach the rest of the country."
- The success of the trend, however, is strictly credited to the wives and girl friends of the men who eventually wear the new styles. The girls are fashion-conscious, by training and natural aptitude. They love to buy presents for their men.
- Such is the story of the cuff link craze that has been sweeping the country for the last few years, cuff shirts and filling the stud boxes of the average American male.

Cuff links offer a woman a chance for a personal and impressive gift, beautifully boxed, at a comparatively small outlay. The most popular cuff link price is $5 or less—an ideal gift price, says Marks.

Men are collecting cuff links these days like women collect earrings. And a recent merchandising survey revealed that the average American man now owns four pairs of cuff links, whereas a few years ago he probably didn't even have one, except perhaps for his evening shirt.

Having launched the craze for giant links, Madison Avenue now is going conservative again. The latest thing among the hucksters is the medium-size cuff link—say the size of a quarter instead of a half-dollar. These, however, come in many fanciful styles—pasta to match the new pastel shirts, for example, or gummetal to go with charcoal suits.

Caught Robbing Boxes For Poor

BOSTON (AP)—Lorenzo E. Morin 29, was sentenced to two months in the House of Correction yesterday for robbing church poor boxes with a cane tipped with bubble gum. Police said Morin's technique was to light a candle at the altar and while kneeling as though in prayer sneak the cane into the poor box to lift coins.

Caller Was Her Husband

WAYCROSS, Ga. (AP)—Laurie Lee Sparrow of the Waycross Journal-Herald had just completed a cooking program over WAYX when the station phone rang for her and a man referred to one of the recipes she'd given which called for a "tablespoon of vanilla" and demanded:

"What I want to know is, do you mean flavoring or extract? There is a difference, you know."

The caller was her husband, Lansdale Sparrow who is quite a cook, himself.

Pirates Edge McCrary Eagles By 88-85

Runaway Score By Local Basketeers

Triumph Earned In Final Minute

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

East Carolina had to call on all its resources here last night to down the McCrary Eagles 88-85 in a thrilling contest played before a near-capacity crowd.

The win avenged the 88-75 setback handed the Pirates by the semi-pro Saturday night in Asheville and improved their won-loss mark to 13-5.

McCrary, rostering some of the best known former college players, battled the Pirates on even terms throughout the contest. The game was as tight as a T-shirt from start to finish. The score was tied no less than 20 times, all with crucial moments in the final two minutes of play.

Don Harris paced the win with 24 points on 11 field goals and two free throws. Fifteen of his points came in the second half and six came in a row when McCrary quickened the pace near the end.

Hodges Stars
Bobby Hodges, former East Carolina star and holder of the college career scoring record in North Carolina, poured in 27 points for the Eagles to take individual high scoring laurels. Smith Langdon, a red-faced guard, canned 25 points and played a whale of a game for the visitors.

Guy Mendenhall, who had the big task of guarding Hodges, played the best game of his short career. He scored 18 points, all with crucial moments, and rebounded like a demon. Nick Nichols, also a freshman, gave a good account of himself with 14 points and sparkling defensive work on Charlie Huffman, another former East Carolina standout. The latter could collect only 11 points.

The score was tied so many times during the first half it was hard to draw a line between aspirant team strength. East Carolina got a seven point lead—the largest obtained by either team—with 7:30 remaining in the opening half. The free throw shooting of Mendenhall and outside hitting of Harris built up a 31-25 advantage. But the lead was short lived as Hodges personally cut it down. East Carolina was out in front at halftime 46-44.

Immediately after intermission, Hodges dropped a hook and Langdon added a free throw for McCrary's first lead since the opening minutes of the ball game.

Ransino Hot
About this time Sammy Ransino, former All-American at N.C. State, broke out of his shell and hit six straight points, all from way outside. He soon cooled off and East Carolina tied it up 65-61 with 10:16 reading on the clock.

The last time the score was deadlocked at 84-84 with 1:30 left to play. Bob Shoaf, former Guilford College star, was fouled by Mendenhall and he dropped in two shots to gain the tie. Harris hit a free throw for the Pirates and the home team took an 85-84 lead with the 45 seconds ticking away. Nichols clinched the win with two free throws and J. C. Thomas added another, just for insurance.

Thomas played inspired ball and knocked in 13 points. He had a tough man to guard in Langdon but stuck with him pretty close. Cecil Heath, Buc captain, took defensive honors for the locals. His play on Ransino was a gem as he held the fabulous All-American scoreless the first half and to 11 points in the second.

Homecoming Marred
For Hodges and Huffman, the homecoming may have been dulled some by the defeat but it kept alive the 33-game home winning streak they originated back in 1953. Hodges displayed the same flashing game that won him All-State and All-Conference honors here and Huffman exhibited the hook shot that won him similar accolades.

The Pirates next home game is Saturday night with Elon in a North State Conference battle.

U. Of San Francisco Takes Top Slot In Basketball Poll

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

The University of San Francisco, an "orphan" among the nation's collegiate basketball teams, has displaced Kentucky as the top-ranking power in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The dazzling Dons, who have been creeping up steadily on the Wildcats, finally swept past them in this week's voting. Of the 125 sportswriters and sportscasters taking part in the balloting, 68 put Frisco in first place while only 19 gave the nod to Kentucky, which had led for seven weeks.

San Francisco received 1,107 points on the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc. Kentucky accumulated 897 points. The voting is based on the results of games through last Saturday.

The Dons, who have no gym of their own for practice or for home games, posted victories over Loyola of California and St. Mary's last week to extend their winning streak to 14. San Francisco uses a nearby high school gym for practices and plays "home" games at either the Kezar Stadium field-house or in the Cow Palace site of stock shows and rodeos.

Kentucky's drop in the ratings can be attributed to its second reversal at the hands of Georgia Tech. The Wildcats bowed 65-59 last Monday, but rebounded with victories over Florida and Mississippi.

At Valle No. 3, Duquesne, No. 4, and Utah, No. 5, retained the same positions as last week.

Junior Varsity Has Fourth Win

Greenville's junior varsity Phantoms rolled to their fourth conference win of the year last night with a 30-26 win over the Roanoke Rapids Jayvees.

The G-men jumped off quickly and led 21-18 at halftime and held on to their margin for the rest of the way. Angus Duff led the scoring for the junior G-men with 11 points. Joe Wingate and Wayne Eidson each got six points.

Greenville now has a 4-5 conference record in Jayvee play. Their next game will be in Friday with Roanoke Rapids on Friday.

The box:
Greenville (30) Roanoke Rapids (26)
Eidson 6 Thomas 4
Duff 11 Edmonds 2
Wilkinson 2 Kidd 11
Edwards 1 Waters 9
Roebuck 0 Williams
Greenville subs—Nunn, Allen 4, Evans, Bilbro, Rumley, Wingate 6.

Scoring Race Is Growing Tighter

NEW YORK (AP)—The race for the National Basketball Assn. individual scoring crown is getting tighter and tighter, but the Milwaukee Hawks' prize rookie Frank Selvy managed to hang on to the lead for the eighth straight week.

Selvy has a 51-game scoring total of 1,054 for a 20.7 game average. Nell Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors, who has won the title the last two years, moved to within 13 points of the front-running Selvy with 1,041 in 47 games and has the best average, 22.1 per game.

Milwaukee's Bob Pettit (1,013) and Philadelphia's Paul Arizin, another former scoring champ, (888) also are well within reach of the coveted crown.

The club owners and players have been seeing eye to eye since the contracts were mailed out during the past three weeks, and the Pale Hose need only one more player to have their entire complement of 40 in the fold.

Two of the last three — third baseman Stan Jok and outfielder Ed White — signed yesterday leaving only Minnie Minoos unsigned.

Minoos, the Sox No. 1 outfielder, is in Havana. Club officials attempted to lure him to the Windy City, where his cousin Andres Minoos makes his professional boxing debut tonight at Marigold Gardens.

White Sox Ahead In Signing Up Players

Avila, the Cleveland Indians' second baseman, who already has announced he is a holdout. Bobby, the American League's leading hitter with a .341 mark, said there was a difference of $4,000 holding up negotiations. He is reported to be asking $35,000 and added that he won't sign until the club gives him what he wants.

Elsewhere on the baseball front: Add signings — Steve Gromek, the Detroit Tigers' veteran right-hander; pitchers Max Surkont and Jake Thies of the Pittsburgh Pirates; infielders Floyd Baker and Gerald Claycomb of the Philadelphia Phillies; and pitchers Howie Fox and Lloyd Gosney of the Baltimore Orioles.

Santurce won the Puerto Rican Winter League title last night, defeating Caguas 6-2 with Willie Mays of the New York Giants collecting a triple and a single. The club next goes to Caracas for the Caribbean World Series. Mays, who is "tired" of baseball, has been given permission by the Giants to play right through.

About 100 Women Tee Off In Palm Beach Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—About 100 amateur women golfers started qualifying play today in the 37th Palm Beach championship.

One of the early favorites is Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., who won this tournament twice in the past four years.

Another former winner is Mrs. Austin Pardue of Palm Beach, who won in 1927.

Blonde Barbara Romack, National Amateur champion from Sacramento, Calif., still seeking her first golf victory in Florida, is regarded as the one to beat.

Other outstanding young players expected to compete include Barbara McIntire of Toledo, Ohio; Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y.; Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore; Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C.; Virginia Demby of Chicago; and Bee McWane of Birmingham, Ala.

Runaway Score By Local Basketeers

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

With six players hitting in the double figures and three starters scoring over 20 points, the high-scoring Greenville Phantoms waltzed into their ninth consecutive conference win of the season last night when they smothered the Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets 105-49.

It was the third time this season the Green Phantoms have hit the fabulous century mark but never have they got as high as last night's score. Last season the Greens hit 103 against this same team and this season they hit 103 and 104 in earlier games. The 105 points is the most any Greenville team has got as far as the records show.

Harold Edwards, Bob Howell and Pat Sawyer all scored over twenty points as the Phantoms hit 55 per cent of their field goal attempts. Edwards got 23 and the other two got 22 each. Ike Riddick and Edgar Moore, the other two starters, swooped up with 12 points each, and substitute Clark Noble finished with 10 markers.

Blazing Final Period
The Green Phantoms ran away in the final period to account for 34 points. Going into the final stanza the G-men were leading 71-40 but put on the steam and raked in the points right and left. The Greens' fast break was terrific with Harold Edwards leading the rebounding off the board and starting the fast break.

In that final period Roanoke Rapids could pick up only nine points while the Phantoms were on their scoring binge.

Sawyer Red Hot
Guard Pat Sawyer started off like he would set a new scoring record in the first half. He missed his first two shots but then went on a rampage. Sawyer bucketed shots from every angle in that first half, winding up with 18 points. All the other starters had eight points at the half except Riddick who had only six. Riddick was content to let the other guys do the shooting.

At halftime the G-men were on the floor with a 49-28 advantage and their conference lead safe in the bag. Coach Bo Farley put in his reserves during the second quarter in an effort to hold the score down.

Final Half
After the intermission the G-men quickly ran the score up to 57-28 before the Yellow Jackets could score. The G-men then cooled off a bit for the rest of the period until

Runaway Score By Local Basketeers

Coach Farley rushed his reserves back in. Clark Noble hit five quick points for the subs and Tommy Norris added another point as the G-men leaped into a 71-40 margin after three periods.

To start the final quarter the regulars went to town and really scorched the nets as they hit constantly on the fast break. Harold Edwards flipped in nine points himself in the final stanza and the regulars had had their night. The reserves were sitting on the side waiting to go in but the pace was so fast with both teams running up and down the court that the Greens had to call time out with two minutes left to get the subs in. At that time the score was 98-48.

Powell Gets The Points
Forward Larry Powell picked up a ball in the right hand corner and flipped a two hand set shot cleanly through the nets and the Phantoms had their 100. Noble got four points in the rest of the playing time and Ray Hardee picked up one more as the Greens reached their high total of 105.

The Phantoms still sit on top of the conference pack with a 9-0 record. They play this same Roanoke Rapids team in Greenville Friday night.

The G-men were without their high-scoring guard Tommie Saled again for the second straight game. Saled has been sick with the flu and is still in bed. Saled is expected to be ready by Friday.

Holly Mims Bit On Old 'Sucker Trick' Of Ring

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—Remember the old sucker trick, "Look out, bud, your shoestring is untied"? They say Benny Leonard used it on Willie Ritchie in 1919 but it had been dead for years until Milo Savage pulled it on Holly Mims last night. Despite the trick, Savage lost the fight on an unpopular decision.

In the third round Savage mumbled to Referee Ray Miller, "Hey ref, his shoelaces are open." When Mims obligingly looked down, whambo. The right-hand punch was a little high or Mims, No. 3 middle-weight contender, might have been flattened.

In his dressing room, Savage said he had used the trick 16 or 17 times in the West and scored eight knockouts.

"Boy, I sure fell for that sucker punch," Mims said. "It never happened to me before. I looked. He swung. As he let it go, I saw it coming and pulled away. It landed a little high. If it had hit me flush, I guess I would have been a goner."

The "shoestring gag" was the high spot of the action at St. Nicholas Arena where Judge Tony Rossi (5-4-1) and Referee Miller (6-3-1) voted for Mims and Judge Joe Angelo scored it even in rounds and points (5-5). The AP card was 6-4 for Savage.

NAMED COACH

NEWBERRY S.C. (AP)—George E. Pickett Jr., former basketball and football player at North Carolina State College, has been named basketball coach and football assistant at Newberry College.

He is a graduate student in physical education at Columbia University.

Holly Mims Bit On Old 'Sucker Trick' Of Ring

A crowd of about 900 watched the contest and boomed the decision. Mims, of Washington, weighed 157½, and Savage, of Salt Lake City, scaled 160½ pounds.

Chico Vejar, the commuter from Stamford, Conn., who has been in the Army for two years, had little trouble rolling over Joe Klein, of New York, to win a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at Eastern Parkway in Brooklyn.

It was Vejar's second fight since his discharge and his third since he suffered a broken jaw and sundry other injuries in a plane crash in Georgia a year ago.

"He hit me a few good shots on the jaw," said Vejar. "That jaw never will break again. It's stronger than ever."

Vejar, 152, never floored Klein, 149½, but he closed his right eye to a narrow slit and drew blood from his nose while romping home free as a 12-5 favorite before a crowd of 1,720 people.

Ayden Tornados Will Be In Thick Of Tournament

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Writer

Whether you're the gambling type or not, it's safe to wager the Ayden Tornados are going to be in the thick of things for the Pitt County Conference tournament crown next week.

Captain Stewart Tripp's boys have ground out an 8-3 record which is good enough to ride abreast the loop with Winterville and Bethel. With three conference tilts remaining, the leaders will have opportunity to strengthen their grasp. The Ayden-Winterville meeting this Friday night should determine the regular season kingpins and which club gets a first-round bye in the tourney.

How does the Tornado mentor account for Ayden's fine season? He explains that his team is well-balanced with no one particularly outstanding boy. Although, he is quick to point out that in Douglas Worthington and Burt Tripp he has two of the best big boys in the conference. Worthington is a 6-foot-3 forward playing his last season and Tripp is a 6-foot-3 forward and just a sophomore.

"Both are good shots and splendid rebounders," Tripp exclaimed. "They both usually score in the double figures and have a knack for compensating for the other when one has a bad night."

The twosome gives the Tornados a strong rebounding and shooting team under the offensive backboard. Tripp, especially, should become one of the league's best with two more years of eligibility.

One of the brightest moments of current season took place about two weeks ago, according to Coach Tripp. Bobby Harris, veterans forward, returned to the squad after missing more than two-thirds of the schedule. Harris, one of the leading scorers last year, suffered a serious injury while playing football this past season and has just come around. Since his return to the varsity, he has been averaging in the double figures as a substitute.

"We're a better ball club this season for two particular reasons," Tripp emphasized. "We don't have to depend on one or two boys to do all the scoring as was the case last season. Each one of our starting five is capable of scoring and has been doing so. As a result, we're a better defensive team. With added height under the boards and fast guards we play a pretty good game on defense."

Dessert Bridge Is Given For Miss Jordan

On Wednesday night, February 2, Mrs. Durward Harris and Mrs. Ford McGowan entertained at a dessert bridge at the home of Mrs. Preston Cannon on Tenth Street honoring Miss Christine Jordan, bride-elect.

Upon arrival the honoree was presented a corsage of white Shastar shrubs and carnations.

The living room was attractively decorated for the occasion. The mantel was banked with ivy and centered with a miniature bridge. On the piano was an arrangement of pink gladioli and fern. The three tables for refreshments and bridge were covered with white cloths and centered with silver candleholders and pink tapers, decorated with bows of pink tulle, fern and begonia blossoms.

After a dessert course of strawberry shortcake and coffee, the guests enjoyed three progressions of bridge. During the game, the hostesses served iced Coca-Colas, nuts and cheese crackers.

High score prize was awarded to Mrs. Jesse Jordan, second high to Mrs. Carl Abee, and the floating prize was won by Mrs. Emil Eason. The hostesses presented Miss Jordan gifts in her china pattern.

Crime Prevention Week Program Topic At Aries Book Club

The Aries Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Astor Richardson on Thursday evening, February 3rd, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Marshall Starkey, president, called the meeting to order and welcomed the guests, Mr. David Hardee and Mrs. Reginald Gray.

A short business meeting followed, at which time the club voted unanimously to go on record as opposing parking on library grounds.

Mrs. W. C. Goodwin, who was in charge of the program, chose "Crime Prevention Week" as her topic. She said, "It was in 1947 that the National Exchange Club adopted as an objective the plan to devote a week to making the public conscious of the crime situation, as there had been such a terrific rise in crime since the war, with juvenile delinquency on the increase. The plan was adopted and we now set aside the week of Feb. 13-19 for this purpose." She told the group the trouble is a home-bred disease. Home life needs to be made more attractive. Love and companionship are necessary. She urged parents to go to church with their children and support civic projects. As J. Edgar Hoover once said, "Crime prevention begins in the high chair, not in the electric chair."

Mrs. Goodwin then turned the meeting over to Mr. David Hardee who was in charge of a tape recording made by Mr. Hartwell Campbell, Baptist minister of Greenville, for the Exchange Club on the subject of delinquency and prevention of delinquency. In his recording Mr. Campbell says the schools and churches are active but that the family has always been the most powerful influence in the U. S. He urges the parents to take the children to church and stay with them. "The family that prays together stays together. Parental love and kindness has no substitute." He closes with an excerpt from a speech by Abraham Lincoln, entitled "Respect for the Law."

Slays Wife And His 2 Children

DENVER (AP)—A 29-year-old man shot and killed his estranged wife and two children at their home in suburban Wheat Ridge last night, then killed himself a few minutes later when threatened with arrest.

Officers said Mitchell J. Berkeley, a Navy veteran under psychiatric care, called at his wife's home after requesting to see the children.

Ministers Vote To Merge Work

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—The white and Negro ministers' groups of Greensboro voted yesterday to merge into one organization, the Rev. Frank C. Smathers, president of the Greensboro Ministers Assn., the white group, announced.

The Berkeleys had been married for 10 years, but Mrs. Berkeley had started a divorce suit recently.

Emergency Cook At Legion Meet

ROCKVILLE, Conn. (AP)—Fellow members of the American Legion agree that Jerry Remkiewicz is a handy man to have around when you're hungry.

Remkiewicz built a barbecue pit on the post grounds and cooked the 50 chickens.

beneath a window beside her bed. Enlow and his deputies raced to the home of Berkeley's brother Robert in another Denver suburb. They saw Mitchell Berkeley walking from the house to his parked car and flashed a light upon him.

Enlow said Berkeley then pulled a .45 service automatic and fired into his mouth.

The Berkeleys had been married for 10 years, but Mrs. Berkeley had started a divorce suit recently.

Remkiewicz built a barbecue pit on the post grounds and cooked the 50 chickens.

Britisher Sees Less War Danger

DENVER (AP)—A Conservative member of the British Parliament says the likelihood of war between Red China and the United States has lessened "because China knows what will happen if he tries to take Formosa."

This statement was made by the Hon. Richard Wode in an address to a group of business and civic leaders last night.

Remkiewicz built a barbecue pit on the post grounds and cooked the 50 chickens.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, February 8, 1955 is the 45th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, chartered by the Congress of the United States, as a program for all the boys of America, and

WHEREAS, the Boy Scout program has affected the lives of 22,750,000 American boys and men since 1910, and now has an active enrollment of 3,500,000 and

WHEREAS, the movement, through its current theme, "Building for a Better Tomorrow," dramatizes the purpose of the Boy Scouts of America and the rich heritage it has in this country, and

WHEREAS, the Boy Scouts of America, is a great force for training youth in right character and good citizenship;

NOW THEREFORE, I, S. E. West, Mayor-Protem of the City of Greenville, in the State of North Carolina, do hereby proclaim the week of February 6th to 12th as "Boy Scout Week," and do urge our citizens to recognize the patriotic service being rendered to our community by the volunteer Scout Leaders and to express their appreciation to the religious bodies, school organizations, veterans' associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor our Cub Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Units.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREAS I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of the City of Greenville, N. C. to be affixed, this 5th day of February, 1955.

Judge Convinced 'It Could Happen'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Lawrence Colley was brought into traffic court and officers testified he was charged with reckless driving, driving without a license and without tags after his car had run 40 feet off the road, torn down a fence and plowed into a tree.

His defense was that his girl friend "was holding me too tight and I just couldn't hold her and the wheel, too."

Judge John B. Scott fined Colley $50 on the license and tag charges but ruled him innocent of reckless driving because "I'm convinced it could have happened as he said."

Uncovered Cache Of Small Change

DETROIT (AP)—Police counted pennies, quarters and silver dollars for seven hours after firemen found a hoard of coins in a house where they were fighting a fire.

In half-bushel baskets, boxes and paper bags the coins totaled $3,449.65.

The owner got himself arrested for investigation when police found his record showed 12 arrests and nine convictions as a numbers racket operator. But the owner stuck by his story that the silver was collected over the years in a haberdashery he operated.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U.S.)—The stock market gave ground cautiously today in the face of the change of government in Moscow.

Prices fell away around 3 points at the outside while there were gains going to around a point.

Trading was subdued at a rate considerably under yesterday's 3,610,000 shares traded with the market mixed and leaning a little higher.

The announcement that Malenkov was out and Bulganin as prime minister of the U.S.S.R. didn't cause alarm in Wall Street.

Actually there was far more trading attention in General Motors than there was in war or peace stocks as such.

General Motors late yesterday announced that its new offering of 4,380,000 shares of stock would be at a price of $75 a share. GM traded most of the time at a loss of between 2 and 3 points.

RALEIGH (U.S.) (NCDA)—Central North Carolina live poultry markets today, fryers and broilers steady, farm price 24¢, f.o.b. plant, one lot 26; Raleigh eggs steady A large 40 to 42.

Asheville fryers and broilers steady, farm price 24, f.o.b. plant 25¢; Asheville eggs steady, A large 41 to 43.

Formosan Port Preparing For Refugee Flood

KEELUNG, Formosa (U.S.)—While the Tachen withdrawal was in full swing 200 miles to the north, Keelung's foggy waterfront bustled with activity today preparing to receive thousands of evacuees.

There were unconfirmed reports that some ships would arrive today but up to midafternoon none had appeared.

Keelung will be the port through which about 15,000 Tachen civilians will be fed and housed and ultimately resettled in five counties. The job will be handled mostly by civilian volunteers working at 26 school buildings.

These volunteers are headed by students from Formosa colleges and by teachers of the Keelung schools. A group of students of both sexes took time out from a busy morning to show me their preparations at one of the larger schools.

Kitchens have been set up where evacuees can cook their own meals. Free food for two meals daily will be supplied. The army is supplying trucks. The public health department is furnishing doctors and nurses. School has been dismissed and beds have been put in classrooms.

Each school is prepared to take care of several hundred evacuees—the larger up to 1,500—for at least 10 days. In the Keelung railroad yard nearby were strings of special cars to carry the evacuees to districts where they will make new homes.

At one school I visited, they have just finished dispatching 200 civilian dependents of Tachen soldiers to resettlement areas. The students said it had been a sad job.

"They were mostly widows and orphans of men killed on Ykiangshan," they said.

Hail Insurance To Be Costlier

RALEIGH (U.S.)—North Carolina tobacco farmers will pay approximately $77,415 more for hail insurance this year than in 1954.

Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Gold yesterday approved hail rate changes proposed by the North Carolina Fire Insurance Rating Bureau. Under the new rates, there will be increases in 25 counties which will range from 25 cents to $2 per $100 of insurance. Thirteen counties will have decreases ranging from 25 cents to $1.

Rates in the 62 other counties will be unchanged. Gold said the increases total $82,118.95 and the decreases amount to $58,701.02, leaving a net increase of $77,415.93.

The new rates, he said, are based on the experience each county has had with hail since 1924, when hail insurance was instituted.

Counties which received rate increases include: Wake, Lenoir, Beaufort, Granville, Johnston, Northampton, Person, Pitt, Randolph, Chatham, Durham, Warren, Chowan, Davidson, Jones, Rockingham, Caswell, Columbus, Cumberland, Harnett, Hoke, Bertie, Greene, Richmond and Vance.

Receiving decreases were: Brunswick, Yancey, Anson, Duplin, Edgecombe, Hertford, Iredell, Montgomery, Moore, Orange, Carteret, Onslow and Pender.

Rites Tomorrow For Judge Webb

SHELBY, N.C. (U.S.) Judge E. Yates Webb who died while vacationing in Wilmington yesterday will be buried here tomorrow. He was 62.

A leading prohibitionist as state senator, U.S. representative and federal district judge since the turn of the century, he died of heart disease.

He retired in 1948 as federal judge for the Western District of North Carolina.

The funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. John Lawrence conducting, assisted by the Rev. Zeno Wall.

Debbly And Eddie Decide On Date

HOLLYWOOD (U.S.)—The wedding date, but not the place, has been set for Debbly Reynolds and Eddie Fisher.

Police Court Hears Long Docket Here Yesterday

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Wheabee disposed of 14 cases, none of them involving motor vehicle or traffic law violations.

Charley Newton, Negro, 809-A Vanderbilt Street, assault, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs. The judgment provides that she is to pay $28.50 for eyeglasses and $5 doctor's bill for Blanche Smith. She is not to call on a telephone any place where Blanche Smith or Helen Moore work, and she is not to visit either of them or harm them.

Simon P. Anderson, Negro, Route 1, Greenville, was found guilty of larceny of tobacco, but guilty of larceny of a tobacco basket. The court gave him six months on the roads, and he gave notice of appeal.

Non-support: Freddie Lee Coward, Negro, Belvoir, case continued. S. Millard O. Taylor, 1009 Forbes St., 30 days in jail, suspended on condition that the defendant endorse and deliver to his wife his compensation check on the first of each month.

Hannah Dupree, Negro, was found not guilty of assault with deadly weapon: Rufus Stancil, 121 West 14th Street, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of costs and he is not to molest or harm Lucille Gorham.

W. R. Drake, Route 5, Greenville, 10 days in jail.

Assault with a deadly weapon: David E. Hardy, Route 5, Greenville, 60 days on the roads, capias to issue at 2 p.m. February 7, 1955. Will Gorham, Negro, 119 West 16th Street, was found not guilty.

Possession of non-taxpaid whiskey: Jesse Wiggins, 1102 Greene Street, 12 months on the roads, suspended on payment of $300 and costs. The court placed him on probation for five years and he is not to possess any intoxicating liquor in his residence.

Johnny M. Randolph, Jr., 1308 Short Street, assault on a female, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. He is to pay $10 medical bill and is not to harm or molest Mary Bryant. He gave notice of appeal.

Henry M. Lucas, Negro, 103 Side Street, breaking and entering, probable cause found and he was bound over to Superior Court.

Blanche Smith, Negro, 611 Roosevelt Street, was found not guilty of assault.

George Newton, Negro, assault on a female, was found not guilty.

Crowd Watched Gunman Caught

CHARLOTTE (U.S.)—Two rookie policemen overpowered a gunman on a downtown street yesterday after police said he robbed a finance company of $330.

He was identified as Ray Jacob Myers, 37, of Rock Hill, S.C.

Police said he entered the Eastern Finance Co. and asked about a loan. A few minutes later, he ordered the manager to hand over the money, police said.

Bob Harris, manager of the company, and another employee chased the man to Independence Square, the heart of Charlotte where policemen O. E. Elliott and Frank Burgess, tackled him as hundreds looked on.

Myers was treated at a hospital for facial injuries.

Committees, Chairman For Crime Prevention Week Campaign Selected

Committees and a general chairman for the 8th annual observance of National Crime Prevention Week in Eastern North Carolina have been announced by E.O. Parkerson, Jr., President of the Exchange Club of Greenville.

At the same time the theme for the 1955 observance "Crime prevention starts in the high chair, not in the electric chair," provided by J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was made known.

The newly appointed chairman, D.W. Hardee, Jr., Greenville North Carolina urges everyone in Greenville to cooperate with the week's observance and hopes that every one will take it upon himself to attend the various functions scheduled. He says, "The successful way to combat crime is to arm yourself with the facts and then use them to the best advantage. The Exchange Club of Greenville and its members have planned an extensive educational program during National Crime Prevention week for the citizens of this community."

Tides To Slow Job In Tachen Islands

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chinese Nationalist evacuation of the Tachens and other islands just off Red China's doorstep involves removal of an estimated total of 41,688 people — troops, guerrillas and civilians. The difficulty of the operation, protected and aided by the U. S. 7th Fleet, is illustrated by the Tachens, where tides running 16 to 18 feet on the rocky beaches are expected to cut loading time to six hours daily. The two islands, Upper and Lower Tachen, lie 200 miles north of Formosa, 14 miles off the Red China coast. They have been the northern anchor of Chiang Kai-shek's defense perimeter. They are little more than 13 square miles in area, with few landing beaches. Besides the estimated 15,000 troops and the same number of civilians to be taken off the Tachens, a huge amount of heavy equipment must be moved. It was taken to the rocky islands over a long period of time for long-term defense and some of it will be hard to take off over limited beaches. Chinese press reports today said many Tachen islanders, although preferring to leave rather than live under the Communists, were putting up placards on their doors: "We are gone but we will come back before long." Reports from Formosa still do not spell out precisely which of the other islands are to be evacuated, but Associated Press Correspondent Fred Hampson radioed from Taipei that the Nationalists also are withdrawing from Yu Shan and Pishan islands. Yu Shan is a group 35 miles northeast of the Tachens and like them has been under Red attack from the sea. Latest reports put its civilian fishing population at 500 with a garrison of 850 guerrillas. Pishan is 32 miles southwest of the Tachens, a base for past guerrilla raids on the mainland 12 miles away. Its last reported civilian population was 1,173, with a guerrilla garrison of 2,400.

The Nationalists also may have to give up Nanchishan Island, 90 miles south of the Tachens. Hampson reported Monday the Chinese press in Taipei now say Nanchishan is to be held as a "northern shield for Formosa." He noted, however, that Nanchishan soon could become as indefensible and dangerous to hold as the Tachens. Nanchishan has a garrison of 5,000 regular troops and a civilian population of 1,795. Two island groups which will be defended are the Quemoy Islands off the Red port of Amoy and the Matsu group (including the near-by Paichuan or White Dog Islands) blocking the entrance to the port of Fochow. Quemoy and its small satellite islands lie 120 miles across the Formosa Strait from Formosa. The Matusow are 100 miles northwest of Formosa. In the 350 miles of offshore waters between the Tachens in the North and Quemoy in the South the Nationalists hold other small islands such as Wuchiu, 72 miles west of Formosa's northern tip.

Valentine Hides His Real Nature

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Druggist Basil Clark told police a man looked over valentines in his store for some time, then produced a pistol and said: "Okay, Pops. This is a stickup." Clark said the man beat him with the gun, knocking him to the floor, took $35 from the cash register and fled. He also took a large valentine, with a lavender heart and a verse reading: "To her, whose love and tenderness ever lingers in my heart; the sweetest valentine of all, my mother."

Body Blow To Use Of Professional Informers

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unless the government can turn the tables on Harvey Matusow — for example, by proving he lies when he says he lied — its use of ex-Communists as professional witnesses will suffer damage. A federal grand jury questions him today. A congressional committee wants to question him. It can be taken for granted the government is digging behind the scenes to find out why he about-faced. He has sworn that some of the testimony which he has given about communism in this country was a lie. He was a member of the Communist party but claims he left it. Rep. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, says he's convinced Matusow has always been a Communist and has been used by the party to discredit government Red hunts. Walter did not explain whether he meant Matusow, who has expressed a liking for money was paid by the party to repudiate his testimony or whether in all he has said and done Matusow was acting as a loyal party member. There are some differences between Matusow and Whittaker Chambers, the best-known of the ex-Communists who gave testimony for the government against communism. Chambers whose testimony sent Alger Hiss to jail for perjury, wrote a book, "Witness," after he had made headlines with his revelations. The book was in support of his testimony.

Matusow, who gained sporadic headlines working with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and through his testimony at congressional hearings and in court trials, has written a book, "False Witness," repudiating himself. (He recently filed an affidavit in New York, swearing that his testimony at the trial of 13 convicted second-string Communist leaders was phony.) Chambers was a secret government informer for years, but only after he left the party. He says in his book he gave up a "secure future" and a $30,000-a-year magazine job. Last week at a news conference, Matusow said he became a professional witness because it was "a racket" and he liked the notoriety. He had joined the party in 1947 when he was 20. The FBI says it used Matusow as an informer from June to December 1950. In January 1951 the party supposedly expelled him. He started being a professional witness in public a year later. When Chambers first became a public witness, his testimony seemed incredible. He was vindicated when Hiss was convicted. After that the public got adjusted to believing ex-Communists. If Matusow's denial now that he told the truth stands up, he will sow future suspicion in the minds of the public and juries about the truthfulness of any ex-Communist testifying for the government. At the same time there is an important but unanswered question on the government's side: Just how well did the Justice Department check on Matusow's reliability before it brought him into a courtroom to testify? Daddy Sews And Makes Dresses MEMPHIS Tenn. Pampered Rats Are An Industry

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Pampered rats are an industry in Springfield. Their handlers speak softly and decorously to them. Their food is sterile. Their air is rigorously policed for hostile organisms. Temperature and humidity are kept at constant levels. Antiseptic rats, produced by Joan M. Rolfsmeier, are used as living test tubes by scientists.

"A rat in three weeks completes the cycle which takes a human an entire year," Rolfsmeier says. "Their reactions to many foods and drugs are similar to those in man."

Visitors to Rolfsmeier's rat ranch doff their coats and dip their shoes in antiseptic water before entering. These measures will be tightened after he enlarges the building to increase his 1,000-rat herd 18-fold. Then workers will bathe and don sterilized clothing before entering.

Attendants speak softly to the colony rats because a loud or raspy voice might excite rats into killing their young.

Lets Livestock 'Harvest' Grain

RALEIGH — Julian Warren of New Bern, who operates farms in Jones County, lets his livestock do much of his grain harvesting for him.

According to J.S. Buchanan, extension animal husbandry specialist, Warren has let around 100 heifer calves, plus some pigs, run loose on 15 acres of unharvested corn and 70 acres of corn field gleanings. He gets the same benefit without the labor of harvesting the grain.

Warren will take the heifers out of the field around the middle of February and will give them around five pounds of corn and one pound of protein supplement per head per day.

Airmen Stationed In Lonely Outposts Have Hobbies

AIRPLANES AND AIRMEN — During lonely off-duty hours airman must find things to occupy their minds and talents. Building flying models of airplanes is one fine way to do this. By summer A-2C Henry Case of Freeport, Long Island, N. Y., (left) and A-1C Robert Hamilton, Greenville, N. C., (right) will have these rubber powered aircraft in top-top shape for flight. (29th Air Div. Photo).

HQ 29TH AIR DIV. As chilled arctic winds sweep across the northern plains and howl eerie choruses this winter, hundreds of 29th Air Division (Defense) officers and airmen will keep a constant vigil on the Montana-North Dakota sector of the U.S.-Canadian border.

Huddled in operations rooms lighted only by the dim glow of radar screens and plotting boards peering into the intricate insides of electronic equipment or typing the continuing and accurate records of men and machines, these lonely defenders will spend the long bleak months alone and isolated.

As members of radar detection units—aircraft control and warning squadrons—they survey the cold, white skies in search of aircraft flying in their zones of responsibility. They tab those that cannot be identified as "unknowns" and direct rocket-laden jet interceptors to meet them. This job continues 24 hours each day seven days each week and in all seasons and through all kinds of weather.

The long winter makes each station a little island of life in the midst of barren, wind-swept prairies. Each has its own dining hall heating plant and living quarters. The wind constantly howls around the barrack's corners and over the enormous white rubberized radome that protects delicate equipment.

Because the endless wind shifts the snow unceasingly snowplow-equipped trucks keep roads open for giant rations trucks that bring in food and equipment. Men must always be ready to shovel paths between the building and sidewalks.

Lines of long, black pipes that bend here and there are a part of each station's skyline and necessary to its existence. Out in the open to allow quick easy maintenance in case of breaks or failure, these are the conduits that carry warmth from the heating plant to each building.

During duty periods the men's long hours are well-occupied. However recreation and things-to-do pose a serious off-duty problem.

Many of these defenders, though married, are hundreds or thousands of miles from their wives and families. For those lucky enough to find houses or apartments in the nearest village hours of driving over icy roads and through stormy weather is a daily task.

For others there are movies on the station several times a week, hobby shops to work in day rooms with ping-pong and pool. There are letters to write books to read, models to build records to reminisce with and tall tales to swap with friends in the two-man rooms.

But there is always the blowing snow the stinging wind, the bleak and uninviting outside.

Once in a while when the weather breaks a hand-full of lucky athletes travel to a nearby town or sister radar unit to play basketball. Or some men can have dates in town.

But the long winter is something these defense men will never forget. For it is now that time moves slowest, night is longest and home seems most distant. This is the time when they must fend off another invader: winter.

Only Car at its Price*...

So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac.

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

TWIN-STREAK STYLING
Pontiac's twin-streak front-end beauty is only a hint of its yearning for style that teams exclusive Vogue Two-Tone colors with luxurious interior fabrics and appointments.

STRATO-STREAK V-8 POWER
Here is the most modern engine on the road, a compact, beautifully designed power plant that gives you spectacular performance at all speeds—for years to come!

Attention Called To Changes In Tax Return Form

J.E. Wall Jr., Acting District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, calls attention to a more liberal interpretation of the retirement income credit provisions of the Internal Revenue Code than is reflected in individual income tax returns now being distributed.

As pointed out by Commissioner of Internal Revenue T. Coleman Andrews, Schedule K of Form 1040, the individual Income Tax Return for 1954 will not produce the correct retirement income credit for certain taxpayers.

Individuals affected are those with actual retirement income of less than $1,200, who also receive excluded annuity or pension income and, in the case of individuals less than 75 years of age, compensation for personal services in excess of $900. It is estimated the change will benefit their income tax returns for 1954 by increasing their retirement income credit.

Any taxpayer who has retirement income of less than $1,200 (shown on line 1, Schedule K) should complete Schedule K as follows:

(1) Although line 2 of the schedule states "Enter here amount shown in line 1 or $1,200 whichever is lesser," the taxpayer should enter $1,200 in line 2 in all cases.

(2) Although line 5 states "Balance (line 2 minus line 4)," the taxpayer should enter such balance or the amount shown in line 1, whichever is the lesser.

Directors of Internal Revenue have been advised to assist taxpayers in making the correct computation of the retirement income credits. Instructions have also been issued to correct those returns that are found to have been filed in error.

Brothers Invent Celery-Cutter

BYRON CENTER, Mich. (AP)—The Lubber Brothers — Garrett Jay and Bernard — got tired of the tedious job of cutting celery and invented what they claim is the first machine-operated celery picker. They used to harvest three-quarters of an acre a day from their 70-acre of celery. Now, Jay says they can cover 1 1/2 acres daily.

The Garrett machine shears the celery plants with two hydraulically operated V-shaped cutting blades. The forward motion of the machine forces the celery up into a chute. Conveyors carry the plants to workers who trim excess foliage. The celery then is thrown to another belt which loads it on wagons.

The Garretts say they built their machine for $2000.

Formosa Capital Population Has Been Tripled

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)— This capital of Nationalist China has more than tripled its population since it was restored to Chinese rule after World War II. The population now stands at 600,000 and is still growing, despite government efforts to get nonessential residents to leave to avoid the peril of possible Communist air attacks.

Chinese flocked in from the mainland after the Communists triumph there appeared assured and there is a steady influx from the countryside.

Feared Influence At Work In Alley

DETROIT (AP)—James E. Lincoln, a newly elected councilman, called Public Works Commissioner Samuel G. Gentile on the carpet to inquire: "Is it your policy to improve a man's alley the minute he is elected to City Council?"

when a crew showed up, cleaned the alley back of my house and re-stoned it," Lincoln said. "It will take me three years to explain this to my neighbors."

Gentile told Lincoln being a councilman didn't count; that no one in his department knew the alley was Lincoln's when it was fixed up.

Cases Spark Uproar Over French Justice

By GODFREY ANDERSON
PARIS (AP)—French justice is on trial and a large section of public opinion considers her guilty.

"Frenchmen no longer have the guarantee of democratic justice," comments the big evening newspaper Paris - Presse. "Henceforward, it is hard to see how we can have the nerve to give lessons to totalitarian police."

Two Cabinet ministers — Emmanuel Temple (Justice) and Francois Mitterrand (Interior) — have been called to appear before the Justice Committee of the National Assembly Wednesday.

The storm started with the enigmatic figure of black-veiled Marie Besnard, 58, twice tried for the alleged arsenic poisoning of her second husband, her parents and three other relatives. Each trial ended with a hung jury after rival groups of poison experts had enmeshed the court in a snarl of confused technicalities. A further trial seems unlikely. Several key witnesses, are dead.

Critics who claimed the trial was bungled soon had fresh fuel with the Dominici trial of last November.

Gaston Dominici, 77 was sentenced to die for the slaying of Sir Jack Drummond, his wife and daughter, when the British family camped near his farm in August, 1952. Criticism centered on the feeling that, if Gaston was guilty, he was not alone. Police pressure was suspected after the old man repudiated a pre-trial confession. Correspondents at the trial accused the police of bungling investigations. A new trial is expected, but not yet scheduled.

Soon after the Dominici uproar, Marguerite Marty was put on trial in southwest France, accused of poisoning her cousin because the cousin's husband was Marguerite Marty was put on trial in southwest France, accused of poisoning her cousin because the cousin's husband was Marguerite's lover.

Mise Marty maintained her innocence and produced medical evidence purporting to show the police had beaten her badly in an effort to get a confession. Wild courtroom enthusiasm greeted her acquittal.

This week Jean DeShays was acquitted.

quitted murdering an old man after he had already served two years of a 10-year sentence. The reason: Three other persons confessed to the crime.

These are among the principal cases which set many Frenchmen asking: What is wrong with French justice? Legislators are raising the matter in parliament.

Most critics charged that under France's judicial system, defendants are presumed guilty rather than innocent when their trials begin.

No Clue To Mass Death Of Tiny Fish In Michigan

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Another of nature's mysteries has come along to tantalize man. It's the "selective kill" of millions of tiny shiners of Michigan's streams within a few days.

Fish and wildlife experts were at a loss to say why it happened. The millions of little fish piled deep in the water. But there was no clue to the cause of their death.

Naturalists call it a "selective kill" because only one kind of fish died. In the early 1940s there was a selective kill of smelt. That tasty little fish lay ankle-deep on the shores of Lakes Huron, and Michigan.

"There are a lot of theories but none of them can entirely be supported by facts" says Dr. Justin W. Leonard, research administrator of the state conservation department.

The latest census shows there are about 43 million people in France.

Heavier Eating In India Today

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's per capita food consumption is steadily going up, hitting 1,623 calories a day during the past year. A government spokesman, giving the figures to parliament, said the average was 1,398 calories in 1951.

In the United States dieticians say most persons, to be adequately fed must have between 2,000 to 3,000 calories a day, depending on the amount of work they do.

Cadillac

Where Pride Leads to Economy!

This gasoline station isn't accustomed to being ignored by the cars that pass its way. For it resides at the edge of a great desert—and it is many, many miles to the next fueling point.

But the big, handsome automobile you see here swept by without so much as a sign of recognition! For it is a new 1955 Cadillac—and its owner knows that he can travel from his morning's start until his evening's stop without a single refueling.

Of course, when a motorist decides to order his first Cadillac, he isn't usually aware that the car is so economical to operate—and so practical to own.

He wants a Cadillac for what it is and represents—and for the great pride and pleasure it will bring him.

But it isn't long before he discovers where his pride has led him!

He discovers it first when he prices the Cadillac of his choice. Invariably, he is surprised at its relatively modest cost. Not infrequently, he finds that it actually costs less than the car he is currently driving.

And then, once his Cadillac is delivered into his hands, he discovers how frugal it is with a gallon of gasoline. He finds, as we said, that a full tank is usually sufficient for a full day's drive.

Next, he learns of Cadillac's extraordinary dependability. In fact, he often has to be reminded when the time has come for routine service.

But not until he surrenders his Cadillac to its second owner does he discover the full wonder of Cadillac's economy. For then he learns how amazingly it holds its value—and how little a year's service affects the public's regard for the car.

All this is to say, of course, that you don't have to follow your pride to the "car of cars." You can, if you prefer, make your decision solely on the basis of economy—and still buy a Cadillac!

Come in soon—and see for yourself! We've got the facts—and we'll be delighted to see you at any time!

CHAPTER TWENTY
The whole party was drifting into this one room, as the whole party listened to the question which Mirandy called out to Fred her brassy ringing voice adding his own offense.

"You might as well get it over with, Fred. Is little Judy White going to be held for murder?"

"Oh," said Catherine Peake regretfully and Mirandy's glance flickered across her face.

She tucked her hair behind her ears. "Don't be soft, Catty!" she admonished. "We all know that yellow curls don't mean a beautiful spirit. And so far as I'm concerned I admire direct action. If you don't like a person, if you wish he were out of your life—push the highchair over! She did so that didn't she, Fred?"

Everyone was sorry for Fred everyone deplored Mirandy's act and everyone eagerly awaited Fred's reply. He took a deep breath sighed, pressed his lips together. "I was called out to the house this evening," he said slowly. "Dr. Hudson went with me. We found the baby dead—from internal hemorrhages. That diagnosis satisfied the coroner and I'm afraid it is going to have to do you, Mirandy."

"What caused that—what did you call—em?"

"I don't know," said Fred suavely.

"And you don't mean to find out?"

"Not if it would mean branding a five-year-old child with the name of murderer."

A shiver had touched everyone in the room. The women rubbed their bare arms, and the men looked troubled. Mirandy sniffed. "I'm a stinker Fred. You know that."

"You're not as bad as you sound Mirandy," he said kindly. "Come now into the dining room for some of Mamma's coffee."

Everyone in the room shifted about. Katie sat down beside Linda; Murphy followed Fred and Mirandy; at the door those three passed Catherine Peake who noticeably drew back from Murphy. Mirandy stopped short and looked at her. "What's the matter with you, Catty? You look at Hudson as if he held the secret of your past." Her head snapped up. "I'll bet he does!"

"Mirandy," said Murphy loudly, "come on and get that coffee. You need it and so do I."

Murphy seemed to know how to handle Mirandy. Though of course, she was the sort to need constant handling.

"Your mother watches her like a psychiatrist," Linda Kyle told Fred.

"Mamma Beier thinks she is sick," Katie explained.

"At least unhappy," Linda agreed.

"That's what Jessie said. Fred what do you know of her background?"

"Now, Katie—"

I only wondered if you knew enough of it to tell us why she behaves as she does."

"My diagnosis is that of a very spoiled person. She wants attention and the quickest way she has found to get it is to be rude, or cruel."

"Then we should all learn not to show her how we feel."

"We're not superhuman here in Jennings Linda."

"No. And she does hurt unmercifully sometimes, Fritz."

"She does. Now what . . . ?"

Charles Auel had been sketching he was very clever at this. A dozen well-placed lines could depict one's character as well as one's appearance. He had done one of Fred and Verlen Gentry—for the past ten minutes he had been working on a caricature of Mirandy. He handed it to her.

"Either you or my mirror is a liar," Mirandy said. "What are you doing now?"

"Drawing you with those glasses on. I'd never seen you wear them."

Mirandy snatched the things off and fumbled to put them back into the purse. "I don't," she said. "I need 'em but I don't wear 'em. Except when I'm tight. Then my astigmatism gets so bad I have to wear 'em to drive . . ."

"My Gawd!" said Murphy Hudson. Mirandy made a face at him. "I'll tend to you later," she promised. "Now I'm going to spend all my energy workin' on Fred. I'll get him to answer me if I have to push him all evening." She lifted her sandaled foot high to step from rug to rug.

"Boiled owl!" said Murphy reflectively.

Mirandy whirled.

Murphy was sitting upon the piano bench, a highball glass in one hand. His face was a smooth oval. "Fried and stewed" he continued in a gravely analytical tone. "One thing to be said for your habits Mirandy—you'll save your family the price of embalming before burial."

Mirandy stared at him, and gulped loudly. "Fred," she wailed, "don't let that man talk to me as if—"

"Let her alone Murphy," laughed Fred taking Mirandy's arm. She slumped against him; he had to put his arm around her to keep them both from falling. "Oh Fred," she wailed, "you're the only one who understands me . . ."

Katie closed her eyes. Mirandy would ruin her party—it just wasn't meant for her to give one! Not of this sort. A Kaffee Klatch yes! But anything designed to show Murphy—and Fred—

The tension in the room seemed suddenly to lift, and she opened her eyes again to find that Ludmilla had taken over. With her own shawl pinned around her head and Mirandy's fringed leather jacket in her hand, she was firmly drawing the tall thin woman out into the hall. She would she announced take Mrs. Bell home. Yes indeed, she knew the house—down the street one of those big ones Fritz had shown them to her at Christmas when she had visited. She had said then that she would like to live in the little square building which Mrs. Bell called her studio.

Efficiently she took Mirandy through the side hall. Fred followed to help but when he returned he declared that he had not been needed. "Mamma will have Mirandy in bed with a hot water bottle in no time at all."

Everyone was delighted with the development. When Ludmilla returned a half-hour later, she was greeted like a queen. "I vote we keep her here to handle Mirandy," said Willie. "Sit down in this big chair Mrs. Beier. We'll bring you some food, and you tell us just how and what you did."

Ludmilla's eyes twinkled at him. "Your curiosity will do you no good young man!"

"Just tell me one thing. Did you find a hot water bottle in Mirandy's house?"

"No, and I did not look for one. I got her electric iron warm and put it at her feet. Thank you, Willie is it?—I would have whipped cream in my coffee, please?"

"Whipped cream?" said Willie. Everyone was in this room seated in a double circle about Ludmilla. Murphy lounged against the mantel. Charles Auel furiously sketched the little woman in black. Katie moved about, offering food.

"Whipped cream!" Ludmilla was saying firmly. "In Vienna one drinks coffee morning, noon and night. Piled high with whipped cream. It is delicious!"

Smiling Katie brought in a little silver bowl, and Ludmilla helped herself from it with a coo of satisfaction. Others tried it—the men—and pronounced it delicious. They then urged Ludmilla to tell them about old Vienna which she did.

Water Pollution Is Growing Issue
LANSING, Mich. (AP)—In Michigan which describes itself as a "Water Wonderland" water pollution is a costly growing problem and a threat to friendly relations with Canada. Phenol, the principal constituent of carbolic acid is found in the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers and Lake St. Clair — the sources of water for Detroit and most of southeastern Michigan.

It comes mostly from oil refineries around Sarnia, Ont., says Milton P. Adams secretary of the Michigan Water Resources Commission. Adams says Detroit has spent $1,400,000 on extra chemicals for its water purification in the past 10 years. But that would be only a drop in the bucket should Detroit be forced to go to Lake Huron for its water. That would be a 200 million dollar project.

Other cities, too are having their troubles with phenol and Michigan's attorney general has served notice on Canada the state expects it to pay damages for pollution up to this time and to halt it or continue to pay damages.

Estimates Cheerfully Given

"Take my word for it—this is the one you ought to drive—here's why"

— SAYS ED SULLIVAN

"With all my years on the Broadway beat and on television—and all my years of driving—I've never seen a show like this on the road before. Of course—I'm referring to this great new Mercury Montclair. Now—you've seen the dream cars that all the manufacturers have been showing. Well here are lines right out of the future—and the best part of all is—you can drive this dream car today, and take five other people with you.

"For all its lower silhouette, you have plenty of room inside for six normal-sized people. And speaking of the inside—the Montclair's interiors are so luxurious, so beautiful, so different—you'll want to park it with the doors open just to show off the luzzing upholstery and trim colors and combinations. And when you're driving along, you know that all eyes will be riveted on its new design—from the recessed, hooded headlights, along the under-window panel that carries down the contrasting color from the roof, back to the dual exhausts built into the massive rear assembly.

"But you have to get behind the wheel and take it out on the open road to understand why its performance gets such rave reviews. It's not just that the new SUPER-TORQUE V-8 engine delivers 198 horsepower. The most important thing is that you get more power where it counts—super acceleration at normal speed ranges where you do most of your driving.

"I could take the full hour of 'Toast of the Town' just giving you the lowdown on the new Mercury's eye-popping performance and the show would be a sensation. But here I am running out of space, without even mentioning the all-new Mercury Montclairs and Customs, with their exciting 188-hp performance, new styling, new lower, longer lines. Tune in on this great new Mercury line for 1955 at your dealer's now—and I'm sure you'll give them your highest rating."

Children Learn Foreign Tongues

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — About 125 elementary school children here are learning a foreign language. It's part of an educational idea that has spread across the country since 1947. More than 700 elementary schools are teaching foreign languages. Ann Arbor is typical. Third, fourth and fifth graders are taking part.

Associate Prof. Otto G. Graf, of the University of Michigan and two assistants teaching French, Spanish and German find that children having difficulty with reading English are the first to pick up the idea if a foreign language.

This, he said, is "partially because their verbal abilities are better than their reading abilities at the moment and partially because foreign language excites their imagination, while reading does not."

The object of the classes, Graf says, is to help break down the one-language barrier in students' minds and to help them in later studies.

Interest Rising In Aromatic Leaf

RALEIGH — Interest in aromatic tobacco is increasing throughout the state, according to R.H. Crouse, extension agronomy specialist.

A number of requests for information on aromatic tobacco are coming into Crouse's office from farmers in eastern North Carolina. Crouse emphasizes, however, that aromatic tobacco is not recommended for eastern counties having the Coastal Plain soil type. Only the well-drained Piedmont and Mountain Clay soils low to medium in natural fertility are recommended for production of this tobacco.

Hospital TV Set Sales Boom When Pleas Publicized

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Telecast pleas for funds to be used in purchasing TV sets for hospitals are getting results.

Any individual or group donating $100 is allowed to name the hospital in which the set is installed. Smaller donations are lumped together and hospitals chosen by the station. Response has been overwhelming, sponsors report, with $800 subscribed in a single day from Champaign Air Force Base. "The boys at Chanute are trying to see which squadron can donate the most," they say. Sixty sets have been installed in 30 towns in central Illinois and western Indiana. They are purchased for $100 each through cooperation of wholesalers and dealers.

UNKINDEST CUT CHICAGO (AP)—The tradition that American boys love their dogs and hate piano lessons was given an extra twist when Danny Hayes, 12, had to play "Lovely Day" at a recital on the day his Cocker Spaniel wandered away from home.

WELCOMED AT FORMOSA: — Gen. Charles E. Partridge, right, U. S. Air Forces commander in the Far East, is welcomed by Gen. Wang Shu-Ming, Nationalist China Air Force chief, on Partridge's arrival from Tokyo (Feb. 3). They conferred on the growing crisis generated by Red threats to the Tachen Islands. Partridge told reporters the Reds are capable of starting a war and "we have to be ready to fight if it starts." (AP Wirephoto).

Broadway Star Will Get Same Role In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Vivian Blaine is back in Hollywood for a role that had been mentioned for such dolls as Marilyn Monroe and Betty Grable.
 The part is Miss Adelaide, the long-time fiancée of "Guys and Dolls," and many a top glamor girl was after it. "I never expected to get it," admits Vivian. "After all, the movies never pick actors who originated the part on Broadway."
 But she didn't reckon with a strong-willed "gent" named Sam Goldwyn. He saw her in the show several times. When she was playing it in London, they appeared on a radio show together.
 "I just say 'Guys and Dolls' in New York," he told her. "It's not the same show without you, and I told that to Frank Loesser (the show's composer). If I ever do the picture, I won't make it without you."
 At that time, most of the studios were bidding for the rights. Bill Goetz thought he had the deal sewed up, and a cast of Clark Gable, Bob Hope, Jane Russell and Betty Grable was mentioned. But Goldwyn made a million-dollar purchase and signed Marlon Brando, Frank Sinatra, Jean Simmons and Vivian for the leads.
 Vivian couldn't be happier. She has worked long and hard to return to Hollywood and triumph. When I saw her, she was portraying another Damon Runyon character. It was for the new Runyon series which Screen Gems is making for a beer firm. Was she worried about being typed?

 "Not at all," she said. "I like doing Runyon stories; it gives me a chance to do interesting characters. For too long I was the pretty girl in the pretty window waiting for the pretty boy."
 She referred to her years at 20th Century-Fox. That was when I last saw her, and she was known as the cherry blonde. She traded the dark red hairdo for her present blonde, and on her it looks better.

Sometimes, Post Office Is Slow

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ. (AP)—Neither rain nor snow delays the mailmen "in the swift completion of their appointed rounds" — but back at the post office things sometimes move slowly.
 The post office here put up for sale six cords of wood that had been aging in the basement since 1936. The building has had its heat piped in for the last 18 years.

Ready To Find A Slubber-Doffer

BOSTON (AP)—Looking for a slubber-doffer or a nose crimper? The Employment Security office will be glad to locate them for you.
 A slubber-doffer is a worker experienced in removing full bobbins from textile winding machines and piecing broken yarn. And a nose crimper is an employe who places containers over the end — or nose — of a metal aircraft floatlight.

Gas Light Era's End Is Sought

BALTIMORE (AP) City officials have set aside $925,000 as a starter to buy Baltimore's way out of the gas light era.
 They estimate those funds will provide enough electric lamps to replace about half of the 10,400 gas lamps still in use.
 Baltimore is one of the few American cities where the old gas lamp can still be seen.

Use Of Religion As Money-Making Racket Rising

By RICHARD J. SINNOTT
 BOSTON (U)—Watch out when your doorbell or telephone rings—the charity crook has a new scheme designed to tug at your heartstrings and line his own pocket with your dollars.

Kenneth B. Blackman, manager of the Boston Better Business Bureau, says the public is smarter about phony fund-raising drives for crippled children, the aged and handicapped, but the promoter is now making his pitch in the name of religion.

A law curbing crooked charities and requiring fund promoters to list their receipts, disbursements, purposes, and to obtain licenses from the attorney general went into effect in Massachusetts last September. But it exempted three types of charity drives:

1. Solicitations for religious organizations, nonprofit charitable hospitals and educational institutions.
2. Fund campaigns and advertising in program books, yearbooks and other publications by noncharitable organizations.
3. Mail and telephone solicitations from outside Massachusetts.

Scores of promoters who went to sleep as misters emerged the next morning with titles such as revere or deacon or preacher or bishop, says Blackman.

BBB records indicate that there are 100 fraudulent organizations operating under the guise of religion in New England. They may steal millions in 1955.

"Five fake religious groups have collected more than a million dol-

Governors Race In Monster Claim

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (U)—Where does the mythical water monster Oogopogo live? Two western Canadian mayors are going to run a foot race to settle this question.

With an eye on tourist business, Mayor J. J. Ladd of Kelowna, B.C., said emphatically that the Oogopogo is a creature of the South Saskatchewan River.

Oh, no, replied Mayor Harry Veiner of Medicine Hat, also with an eye on paying visitors. The Oogopogo is a creature of the South Saskatchewan River.

The dispute arose when Oogopogo's name appeared on a new bridge across the South Saskatchewan. Nobody knows who inscribed it but it stuck and the Medicine Hat Chamber of Commerce called off a name-picking contest.

Kelowna fired off a blazing protest. Mayor Veiner countered with the reasonable reply that if it would make Kelowna feel any better the Medicine Hatters would spell the name backward—that is, Oo-gop-o-g-o.

When Mayor Ladd refused to be mollified, Veiner challenged him to settle the issue by racing him over a 100-yard course at the summer regatta in Kelowna. If he loses, Veiner promised, the Oogopogo signs will come down. The Kelowna mayor accepted and announced he was starting immediate training. No date has been set for the regatta, but it is usually held in the second week in August.

Raps Litterbugs Of New York

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City people are the worst in the country—and perhaps the world—about littering the streets with unnecessary rubbish and filth, says Sanitation Commissioner Andrew Mulrain.

Mulrain says it is caused by nothing more than plain "laziness and indifference" of the people. He added that more than 90 per cent of the refuse on the streets could be avoided. He asked appointment of 1,000 men to add to the present force of 40 sanitation patrolmen who haul "litterbugs" into court.

CIO Leaders Invading AFL Meet For Unity

By NORMAN WALKER
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U)—Top CIO leaders today invaded the winter meeting grounds of AFL chiefs in a make-or-break try to merge their labor union organizations.

Leaders from both camps indicated privately that if no merger agreement could be hammered out now, after two years of continuous effort, they might as well forget about the plan for some time to come.

AFL President George Meany said he regarded the talks today and tomorrow with CIO President Walter Reuther as crucial and added that he was not pessimistic over the outcome.

However, the same issue that weld the AFL's 10,000,000 and the old the AFL's 10,000,000 and the CIO's 5,000,000 members into a single labor federation was still the main roadblock.

This was the CIO's fear that, as a smaller organization, its unions would be swallowed and subjected to "raids" on their memberships. The CIO still looks for specific assurance that its unions' "integrity" would be preserved under a merged setup but it was a question how far in that direction the AFL was willing to go.

The AFL was ready to accept CIO unions as a block in a new AFL industrial union department.

Among other CIO desires were guarantees that its unions would be allowed to continue their practice of organizing entire plants into sin-

Violent Suitor Quietly Gives Up

PITTSBURGH (U)—A spurned suitor surrendered himself meekly to police last night to climax a daylong hunt that followed the fatal shooting of one person and the gunpoint abduction of the suitor's ex-girl friend.

Russell Winterbottom, 33, surrendered after telephoning from a relative's home in nearby Turtle Creek for authorities to "come and pick me up." With him was Lorraine Rodgers, 20, whom witnesses said they saw forced into a car at gunpoint by Winterbottom.

He is charged with murder in the shooting of Walter W. Henry, 49, who lived in the same hotel as Miss Rodgers.

Police Supt. James W. Slusser said Henry was shot yesterday morning as he attempted to end a quarrel between Winterbottom and Miss Rodgers, Winterbottom's former girl friend.

Miss Rodgers told police and reporters afterwards that Winterbottom once threatened to kill both her and himself. She said, however, that she was unharmed during their ride over back roads.

Late yesterday afternoon, she said, they heard a broadcast announcing Henry's death and she asked Winterbottom to surrender. She is held as a material witness.

NEW YORK (U)—The Broadway hit musical "Peter Pan," starring Mary Martin, will be presented intact in a two-hour color telecast on NBC on the night of March 7, it was announced today by Sylvester L. Weaver, president of the network.

Weaver said the entire cast, scenery costumes and orchestra will be used.

"This will also be the first time that a Broadway stage success will use television in place of the national road tour that traditionally follows a New York run," he said.

Landed Upright On His Feet

CUSHING, Okla. (U)—Elvin Gale Earnest's car skidded and plunged down a 30-foot embankment into a creek. Earnest, 17, was hurled through the windshield.

He landed in an upright position on his feet.

"I've never seen anything like it before," said Deputy Sheriff Lee Stiles. "He didn't have a scratch on him—except a few bruises on the bottom of his feet."

Prosperity For Rest Of World Means 'Ruin' For Old Tangier

By PRESTON GROVER
TANGIER, International Zone, Morocco (AP)—If the good times keep up elsewhere, this town is going to be ruined for sure.

It has had a depression for the past two years that is worrying the local population of Frenchmen, Spaniards, British, Frenchmen, Spaniards and Italians, not to mention tens of thousands of Moors.

It is a fact that the better it gets elsewhere the worse it gets here. Tangier thrives on hard times—in other places.

After the war new capital flocked here by millions of dollars. It was a safe place to hide out the economic uncertainties. There is no other place in the world with so little official curiosity about what you do with your money how much you have, where you get it or where you send it.

Maybe even more important, there are almost no taxes. It is a wonderful place for people who quietly want to retire on a smallish income. You can live here for a third to a half of what it costs in Paris.

The sun shines almost all the time and, so the regular inhabitants tell me, it is not too hot even in summer. In winter it is dreamy. No overcoats except at night.

But in spite of this inviting climate, the times are tough here for people who used to make a lot of money fast.

The smart money which rushed here in former times has largely run away again. A few fugitive fortunes got stuck, of course. They built apartment houses and business blocks which haven't a chance of being profitable unless there is a collapse elsewhere.

Officials here—the town is saturated with them—estimated that there are 3,000 empty apartments in this town where the total population is about 125,000. Moreover, these 3,000 were designed for rich Europeans, not poor Arabs.

Despite hard times the place has an air of romance and mystery.

I wandered into the Casbah with a camera and no guide to get a whiff of intrigue. Barely inside I tried to photograph an Arab in country dress. He was carrying a black goat in his arms. Instantly he began screaming, evidently such insulting passages that even the passers-by were shocked. Mohammedans don't like to be photographed.

The passages became narrower and narrower and there were more and more dead ends, yard-wide passages you follow until suddenly you are faced with three solid walls and have to turn back.

Those veils over Arab women's faces are intriguing. And the women know it. They are tiny white silk or sheer cotton affairs, often delicately embroidered, which rest on the bridge of the nose and cover all the face except those clear brown eyes with the heavy lids and long black eyelashes. If a pair of those eyes beckoned you into a corner to disclose all your military secrets it would be hard to refuse.

Casbah means in Arabic simply "fort," but so often has the Casbah become the congested Arab part of North African cities it is now almost a synonym for the Arab part of the city.

From the Casbah you can see the little port in which so many contraband ships operated in the years just after the war when there was a great smuggling trade in American cigarettes, nylons and gold.

It was a great place to bring goods to be smuggled into France, Spain and Italy.

Tangier didn't mind. The city provided harbor facilities, its banks handled the exchange, everybody made money and it was wonderful.

There is no law in tangier against smuggling nylons or gold into France. In fact, everybody became unhappy when France began making enough nylons for itself, and wrecked the Tangier gold market by opening a gold market in Paris.

Even the tourist business has gone to pot. For a while Tangier thought it was going to profit from the disturbances elsewhere in North Africa which had frightened away the visitors. Then Tangier foolishly had its own riot and spoiled the picture.

Berlin Philharmonic To Tour 19 Cities In America

By REINHOLD ENSZ
BERLIN (AP)—The Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra is going to the United States this month for a tour of 19 cities. The trip may show whether music lovers there are willing to forget about the tainted past of some of its members.

"We consider it significant, both years after the war, we have a culturally and politically, that 10 chance to go to America," says the orchestra manager, Gerhart von Westernman.

The orchestra's temporary conductor Herbert von Karajan was a Nazi party member. So were Von Westernman and some of the orchestra's 103 members. Roughly half of them played in the orchestra during the war. In return, they received the supreme favor from Adolf Hitler — exemption from military duty.

"It is possible there will be no objections to an interview. If there are, we hope we can win over the objectors through our music."

"We must prove that music has nothing to do with politics."

"It will be a great adventure. Only one or two members of the orchestra have been to America."

His anticipation is dampened somewhat by the fear that American audiences might not understand the orchestra's style.

"German orchestras are very different from American orchestras," he says. "The American conductor exerts an enormous discipline, and their musicians must play with the utmost precision."

Our musicians have more chance for improvisation. Discipline is very necessary in a German orchestra, but it is not so all-important. We seek to produce music with the heart. We breathe differently."

The tour opens Feb. 27 in Washington. Other cities to be visited are: Pittsburgh; Cleveland; Cincinnati; Lexington, Ky.; Bloomington, Ill.; Milwaukee; Ann Arbor; New York; Chicago; Philadelphia; Detroit; Rochester, N.Y.; Syracuse, N.Y.; Boston; Hartford, Conn.; Baltimore; and Newark, N.J.

Formerly Weak Business Links Show Big Gains

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Some lines of business have made such a good recovery from their earlier setback that they are beginning to push into new ground.

And the recovery is best today in some areas which only a year ago were the most worried.

The day's news file is spotted with such items. One of the most significant is the climb of electricity output last week to better than 10 billion kilowatt hours. It's the first time the power industry has ever hit such a mark. It puts electricity use 13 per cent above a year ago.

Home use of electricity is climbing, of course. But it was the industrial pickup that sent the utilities' sales to a new high. And Edison Electric Institute notes that the mark was achieved chiefly because the central industrial region was using a lot more power just now.

This region, extending from Pittsburgh to St. Louis and north through Michigan, is a concentrated area of durable goods manufacture. Here in great number are the steel mills, the auto plants, the factories that turn out household appliances and farm machinery.

And the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago points out that the industrial recovery in that area is outpacing the rest of the nation.

This was the region where the very spotty recession of 1953-54 was the most troublesome, where industrial output fell off the most, where unemployment was a big problem. Now, according to the bank, this area is leading the nation in recovery.

The big spurt in car production is an old story by now. But General Motors adds one more note: In January it turned out 327,485 cars, compared with 311,756 in last year's opening month.

As a result of the big demand for some kinds of steel, output of the mills has been climbing. Reports are heard now that for some steel products gray markets are reappearing—people in a hurry are paying premium prices to get needed steel.

Copper shortages have not only sent the price up, but have developed some gray markets in that metal, too.

A reversal of the inventory trend is showing up here and there. For more than a year most companies were set on cutting back their inventories. Recently most companies were reported to have inventories about where they wanted, and to have started buying normally.

Atomic Age Uses English Language

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The leading language of the atomic age is English. Because of U.S. and British leadership in the atomic energy field, most of the technical jargon is in English — and is being taken over bodily into other languages.

This became evident when scientists of eight countries met with Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary general, to set up the world atomic energy congress in Geneva next August. Besides the U.S., British and Canadian scientists in the Hammarskjold panel, there were Russian, Indian, Norse, Brazilian and French advisers. All but the

Simulated Bomb Raids Slated By Regional CD

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A simulated A-bomb attack with strikes on 15 Southeastern cities is scheduled for Feb. 24-25 by the regional Federal Civil Defense Administration control center at Thomasville, Ga.

Charlotte and Charleston, S.C., are included on the list of cities to be "bombed" Feb. 24. The major problems of "Operation Interim" will come the next day when civil defense units face the aftermath of the bombing.

No resources or personnel except those theoretically surviving the bomb strikes can be used when local resources are nearly gone and calls for help come from target cities.

Other cities to be "bombed" are

Want Relations With Viet Nam

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Petting radio says Communist North Viet Nam, convinced the solidarity of the Vietnamese people is "indivisible," wants to set up normal relations with the non-Communist South.

The broadcast quoted a weekend statement by Communist Vice Interior Minister Phan Van Bach that the Communists stand ready to "grant all facilities" to Vietnamese on both sides of the border for carrying out business, scientific and sporting activities.
