Dollar Day Crowds Arrived Early

Vast New Drive For Members Is Slated By Unions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The nation's top union leaders, agreed on consolidating forces into a single organization, today planned a giant drive to take in millions of new members. Leaders of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations decided to bury traditional rivalries and embark on the same sort of intensive mass organizing campaign that sparked the CIO's surge two decades ago. The AFL and CIO chiefs worked out what appeared to be an iron-clad arrangement to merge into a 15-million-member union federation. A long series of ratifying actions still was required to solemnize the wedding, but declarations of intentions from principals appeared convincing. Both George Meany, top man in the AFL, and Walter Reuther, CIO chief, predicted the merger would be an accomplished fact before the end of the year. They said a well-financed organizing drive to take in new members would be launched and where possible unions appeared most likely to be combined to make more effective their bargaining and political powers. An initial organizing goal was the chemicals and plastics industries. A field where combining rival unions appeared most likely was in the textile industry where relatively weak AFL and CIO unions have largely neutralized each other for years. There was no way of anticipating whether the apparently stronger union setup would bring on bigger or longer labor strikes, but it was apparent that AFL and CIO leaders felt their hand would be strengthened in dealing with employers. In arranging the merger agreement yesterday, the union chiefs accustomed to hard horse trading with employers, played a give-and-take role with each other. The AFL was given the top jobs in the new setup. Meany was assured of the presidency and AFL Secretary - Treasurer William L. Schnitzer will have the same title in the merged federation.

Another Gov't Witness Claims Her Testimony False; Says 'Coerced'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government lawyers recalled the witness stand today a woman who claims they "coerced" her into falsely linking publisher-broadcaster Edward J. Lamb with communism. Due for her second day of testimony in her latest appearance was Mrs. Marie Natvig, a silver-haired divorcee from Miami Beach, Fla. Mrs. Natvig said yesterday she was not telling the truth when she testified before a Communications Commission hearing last October that she knew Lamb to be a Communist sympathizer in Ohio in the 1930's. She accused commission attorneys of suggesting some of the testimony she now says was false. Testifying as the Lamb hearing resumed after a long recess, she said she appeared as an anti-Lamb witness only because a commission attorney "coerced" her. She added commission lawyers "threatened" her with perjury if she retracted her testimony. Mrs. Natvig was put on the stand originally by the commission in its hearing into allegations that Lamb—a Toledo, Ohio, resident who publishes the Erie, Pa. Dispatch and owns radio and television stations in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Florida—once associated with Communists and gave them money. Lamb flatly denies the allegations, raised by the commission as an issue against his application to renew the license of his television station WICU at Erie. Lamb was in the hearing room yesterday when Mrs. Natvig repudiated her sworn testimony about seeing him at Red meetings in Columbus, Ohio, in the 1930's at a leftist farm-labor convention in Chicago.

Dollar Day Has Promising Start

Fair and warmer weather prevailed this morning as crowds of Dollar Day shoppers swarmed the stores and streets of the city. Buyers were out early to take advantage of the semi-annual sale offered by the leading merchants of the city and sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association. One policeman remarked, "There were more people here earlier this morning waiting for doors to open than on any day I have ever seen before." Traffic was heavy but moving smoothly, though parking spaces were at a premium. A holiday on parking meters was declared by the City Council for today's sales event, as a convenience for shoppers, and many also took advantage of the free parking lots at Third and Evans and Reade and Fifth Streets. No wrecks were reported by the Police Department this morning. People generally seemed pleased with their purchases, and few were seen on the street without packages. Some merchants declared this morning that today would be the biggest Dollar Day in the history of their stores, though a number hesitated to make such a comparison at that early hour. All generally agreed that it would be "as good or better" a Dollar Day as any in the past. It was noted that sales were going particularly well for this time of year, and several merchants re-

Churchill Says He Will Seek Bulgarian Meeting

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill said today he will eventually seek talks with the new Soviet Premier, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin. He told the House of Commons, however, a favorable time for him, President Eisenhower and the French Premier to sit down with Bulganin is likely to occur before the final ratification of the London-Paris agreements for rearming West Germany in Western defense.

Manpower Cut Stirs Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged the administration today to reconsider proposed Army manpower cuts and said 95 percent of House Democrats are opposed to them. "It is a dangerous thing," he said in an interview, "to think that one man is possessed of all knowledge in one field. It could be a terrible thing for our country if the President is wrong." Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said some senators also "are greatly disturbed" but that there probably is little Congress can do unless "we want to impeach the President, and everybody knows that is not going to happen." He said re-appraisal of the cuts seems justified. President Eisenhower has said he made the final decision on the extent of manpower reductions, which propose mid-1956 armed forces of 2,850,000 men, compared with more than three million now. The bulk of the cut, 173,000 men, would be in the Army. The Senate Armed Services Committee, which Russell heads, spent nearly six hours yesterday questioning Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, about the reductions. Wilson later told newsmen he sees no reason to revise the plans because of the shift in Soviet Russia's leaders and he added: "That's the President's position too." Wilson said the program will provide "an adequate defense structure for the United States... on a long-term basis."

Back To Caves

READING, England (AP) — Two Reading University students, clad in skins and burlap, rubbed sticks together to light a fire last night and settled down to a 72-hour stint as ancient British cave-men. Tearlach MacLean, 22, and Arthur Shepherd, 23, are seeking evidence to support a debating argument. They said it took more than an hour to get a blaze. Their cave is in White Knights Park. It is dry, but chilly. MacLean and Shepherd took up their vigil in preparation for arguing the negative in a forthcoming debate on this motion: "Resolved, that man should return to his original state to escape today's complications, frustrations and chaos."

Pinay Abandons Bid For Office

PARIS (AP) — Former Premier Antoine Pinay abandoned his efforts to form France's 21st post-war government today. President Rene Coty announced he would start new consultations seeking a political leader capable of winning majority support in the National Assembly. Pinay went to the Elysee Palace to announce his withdrawal after first communicating his decision to a meeting of Conservative leaders supporting him. The cabinet crisis started with Premier Pierre Mendes-France's resignation last Saturday after he was defeated on an Assembly confidence vote. Leaving the palace, Pinay said the President had urged him to continue his attempt to organize support but he felt this was impossible. Pinay's failure had been expected since the left-of-center Popular Republican Movement (MRP) refused to join any of its members join the predominantly conservative Cabinet the former Premier was trying to build. The Assembly's two biggest factions, the Socialists and the Communists, were opposed to Pinay's bid. The end he had been promised only the support of some 15 of the Assembly's 627 members, far short of the 300 or so votes he needed to promise him confirmation.

Mexican Press Hails Goodwill Acts Of Nixon

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The same man-in-the-street approach Vice President Richard Nixon used to win friends for the United States on his 1953 Far Eastern tour today gained for him the acclaim of Mexico City newspapers. Reporting Nixon's informal greetings to bystanders after he placed a wreath on Mexico's Independence Monument yesterday, the newspaper Excelsior said: "He put protocol and security measures aside and in a very democratic manner, and an unexpected way too, went over and talked to people on the sidewalk. The public was enchanted with his kindness." Nixon arrived here earlier yesterday on the second leg of his good will tour of the Caribbean. Shortly afterward, he talked with President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Treasury Secretary Antonio Carrillo Flores.

Another Million In Lawyer Fees

NEW YORK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, whose divorce from Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller cost him a reported six-million-dollar settlement, apparently must shell out another million dollars in lawyers' fees. In State Supreme Court yesterday it was disclosed that Rockefeller already has paid out $500,000 in legal charges, and has another half million to go. The court action was in answer to a $100,000 suit filed by Boston Atty. Joseph Sax against both Winthrop and Bobo. Sax charges nonpayment for services rendered in 1951-52. "If there is any subject that has opportunities for developing sportsmanship, which is closely related to character, it is physical education," Spencer asserted. "We must remember, however, that the success of this program depends upon how it is used." Business Session In the business session which followed Spencer's speech Farmville High School Principal Sam D. Bundy gave a report on the progress of the promotional campaign being waged to elect East Carolina College Dean Leo W. Jenkins vice-president of the NCEA. Bundy said letters and brochures endorsing Jenkins have been mailed to superintendents, supervisors, teachers, student teachers and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the state. Dean Jenkins is supported for the position by the Pitt County NCEA

Troops Now Leaving Tachens; No Red Interference Nationalists Quit 3 Islets

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist China has stripped three small islands near the Red Sea and their entire population—civilian and military—and begun redeployment of its forces on the burned and blasted Tachens islands, the Defense Ministry said today. A communique said all the civilians from the two Yushan Islands, 30 miles north of the Tachens, and from Pishan, 32 miles southwest of the Tachens had arrived in Formosa. The communique said guerrilla forces from those islands had been redeployed—indicating they possibly were taken to Quemoy, Matsui or Nanchishan. Reports from the Tachens said Nationalist troops were filling aboard U.S. transports in biting cold and rain squalls. The civilians already had left. There was still no sign of Chinese Communist interference. Explosions reverberated around the Tachens as Nationalist forces blasted and burned a maze of underground defense works. Other troops shuttled tons of ammunition and other supplies to the rocky beaches. U. S. 7th Fleet warships churned the East China Sea around the island and jets swept overhead protecting the critical military withdrawal. Civilians already had been removed. Most of the refugees already were on the Nationalist bastion of Formosa 200 miles to the south. Nationalist sources said the withdrawal had been completed on three outlying islands, the Yu Shan group 35 miles northeast and Pishan 32 miles southwest of the Tachens. The government announced a decision to pull out civilians on Nanchishan, 80 miles south of the Tachens. Most official quarters said the military garrison would re-strengthened to maintain the island as a northern shield for Formosa. AP Correspondent Jim Becker reported from the Tachens that Nationalist troops were "blasting into uselessness a labyrinth of caves and tunnels." "Seemingly endless streams of brown-clad soldiers sloshed through the mud, lugging boxed mortar shells, hand grenades and machine guns which never will be used to defend this northernmost outpost," Becker said. "The Communists are blasting too, on the low brown island of Yikiangshan only eight miles away. "In the choppy brown muddy waters off the (Tachens) beaches, small landing boats maneuver around the burned hulk of a long LST sunk by the Communists in a shallow water during a bombing before the evacuation started. "It seems a symbol of defeat and retreat. "Hard-bitten Rear Adm. Lorenæ Sherwood Sabin Jr. squints at the LST and the empty villages of the Tachens from under his two-star helmet and says: "I hope this is the last piece of real estate we give away to the Communists." Chinese reports quoted the Nationalist commander of the Tachens, Gen. Liu Lien-yi, as regretting his forces had not been permitted to make a stand against the Reds. Liu said his force there had been powerful confident, well equipped, strongly dug in and capable of repulsing any Red invasion.

Bridge And By-Pass Project Nearer Reality Bid-Letting Set For March

Initial contracts for the three-quarter million dollar bridge and bypass project at Greenville are slated for a March letting by the State Highway Department. That was the assurance secured by local officials yesterday from Bill Rogers, chief engineer, for the state Highway Department. County Attorney W. W. Speight, engineer Thomas W. Rivers and Greenville mayor-protem S. Eugene West were in Raleigh yesterday to confer with officials of the highway department and the state office of the federal Bureau of Public Roads. Will Not Delay Completion Speight said this morning that Rogers assured the local officials that the delay of the letting date for the contracts from February to March would not delay the completion date for the bridge and bypass project. The project originally was slated for a January letting. Because of objections from the Air Force which blocked CAA approval, the alignment of a portion of the highway had to be changed and necessitated re-mapping of part of the project. The local officials likewise conferred by telephone with CAA officials in Atlanta and Fort Worth yesterday in an effort to expedite the Civil Aeronautics Administration's detail work on the project. Speight explained that the CAA office in Washington already has given its approval for the project and the two regional offices are not holding up the project approval. He said the regional CAA offices are following orders from Washington to see that plans and specifications for the project comply with the standards and requirements set out by the CAA in its letter of approval. "They stated positively," Speight asserted, "their field work in making this check should in no way impede or hinder the State Highway Department in making plans for letting its bids and starting construction." Speight said the CAA yesterday requested some additional information on the project which it must have before setting the maximum height on power lines and other obstructions in the highway right-of-way. Forwarding Plans Today R. Markham, division engineer of the Second Highway Division, said this morning: "We've given them everything they have asked for, and we are working on some additional information now. I think it is just a matter of tying the loose ends together. I think the project is going to be in the March letting. The field inspections have been made and our final plans on the project will be sent back to Raleigh today." While in Raleigh yesterday the local officials also conferred with Major A. L. Hooper, state head of the office of the Bureau of Public Roads which must also give its final o.k. to the project. Hooper would take the local representatives to Raleigh to secure the final approval from the Bureau.

Lopsided 64-6 Vote Given Security Treaty Senate OKs Formosa Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time in two weeks, the Senate in effect has told Communist China to keep hands off Formosa. By a lopsided 64-6 vote, the Senate last night approved a mutual security treaty with Nationalist China pledging American military might in defense of Formosa and the nearby Pescadore Islands. A strong favorable vote had been expected in the light of the acceptance given Jan. 28 to use President Eisenhower's request for congressional approval of his use of American troops in the Far East if necessary, but the final action on the treaty came with surprising speed. After decisively rejecting amendments, the Senate approved the treaty with less than six hours of debate. Voting against it were Senators Chavez (D-NM), Gore (D-Tenn), Kefauver (D-Tenn) Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Langer (R-ND) and Morse (Ind-Ore). The treaty pledges that the United States, in accordance with its constitutional processes, will help Formosa, the Pescadores and "such other territories as may be determined by mutual agreement." The Chinese Legislative Yuan already has approved the new pact so its provisions take effect as soon as ratification instruments are exchanged. Communist China and Russia have bitterly denounced the treaty as proof of American "aggression" on Chinese soil. Sen. Morse led the small but stubborn opposition and sought unsuccessfully to amend it. He argued that the bolstered Chinese Nationalist claim to sovereignty over the islands and increased the danger of World War III. "This is not a treaty at all but a military alliance with a Chinese leader involved in civil war," he said. Kefauver said the treaty "ties our hands" in trying to obtain United Nations action on a cease-fire. But Sen. George (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the treaty is the "keystone to our Western defense chain" starting in northern Japan and running southward to Australia and New Zealand. Morse proposed an amendment to make clear in the treaty that the United States did not recognize Chiang Kai-shek's title to Formosa, but it was rejected 57-11.

Experts Don't Expect Invitation For Zhukov

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower may invite Russia's Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov to visit him someday, but the experts are not betting on it. There are too many problems, hostilities and suspicions between Moscow and Washington to make such an invitation possible now. One of the President's associates said he does not see "a chance in a million" for such an invitation. State Department officials "are the whole question 'premature.'" Yet diplomats said that in some special future circumstances the friendship which developed between Eisenhower and Zhukov when they were Allied military leaders in Berlin at the end of World War II might prove useful to both countries. Zhukov moved into the spotlight yesterday when he was appointed defense minister of the Soviet Union. A few years ago under the late Joseph Stalin he had apparently been banished from Moscow. Eisenhower was reminded of Zhukov's new eminence at his news conference yesterday and was told Zhukov had said recently he still held the dream of visiting the United States someday. Eisenhower paid warm tribute to Zhukov as a military leader and confirmed that each of them had told the other he was sure his country would not attack the other's homeland. The President said he had, at the direction of Washington, invited Zhukov to visit this country in 1945. Zhukov accepted but later called off the visit, giving illness as the reason.

Conley Welcomes Speaker

Charles Spencer, left, Director of Health and Physical Education for the State Department of Instructional Service, is welcomed by Superintendent of Pitt County Schools D. H. Conley as he arrived last night to address members of the Pitt County unit of the North Carolina Education Association at a meeting in Bethel. Spencer's subject was "The Health and Physical Education Programs in the Public Schools." (Reflector Photo by Edwina Haymes.)

had been scheduled to substitute for Taylor Dodson, state advisor in physical education, original speaker slated for the meeting. Dodson was called out of state, and Pierce was unable to attend because of illness. Spencer was introduced by Superintendent of the Pitt County schools, D. H. Conley. Teachers' Interest The health and physical education director said all teachers should be interested in the health and play life of boys and girls, no matter what subject they teach. "It is influencing boys and girls rather than teaching subjects that is important," Spencer emphasized. "Everything in school should be for the students; our aim is healthy happy boys and girls." Spencer pointed out there is a difference between health education, physical education and athletics. "We must give in North Carolina 30 minutes per day to health education and 30 minutes to physical education," he explained. "This does not mean 30 minutes to athletics." To make the "easiest, most effective" program of physical education, Spencer suggested the teachers plan with their students. "Learn to use your boys and girls in helping you to do a good job in planning and carrying out your activities," he said. "If you plan with your students, you will know their problems and their interest, and you will not teach them what they already know." He asserted a well-balanced program of physical education is as important as a well-balanced diet, with one of the main objectives of the program being physical fitness. He urged giving students active participation in activities so as to develop this physical fitness, and advised teachers to "select activities that give boys and girls the opportunity to cooperate as well as compete." "If there is any subject that has opportunities for developing sportsmanship, which is closely related to character, it is physical education," Spencer asserted. "We must remember, however, that the success of this program depends upon how it is used." unit, along with units of the city of Greenville and East Carolina College. The election of officers is scheduled for February 17. Presiding at the meeting was county chapter president Mrs. Evelyn Bullock. Devotional for the evening was given by Mrs. Walter C. Latham, while Bethel High School Principal Walter Latham welcomed the teachers and guests. Entertainment for the evening was provided by four students of the Bethel High School. Rebecca Keel, soloist, offered "Bless This House," while Durwood White sang "I Walk With God." Mary Jo Wynne and Carolyn Cooper played a piano duet, "Malaguena." The next county NCEA chapter session will be the dinner meeting April 6 at Chocod. The Rev. L. F. Vereen, pastor of the Farmville Methodist Church, will be guest speaker.

Jenkins Alumni House on the campus. Seasonal decorations carrying out in color scheme and motif the idea of the Valentine, made the dining room an attractive setting for the social gathering.

Valentine Motif Used At Morning Party

ROBERSONVILLE—Miss Mary Anne Anderson, whose marriage to Mr. Gene Taylor will take place February 10, and Mrs. Bobby Britton, a recent bride, were complimented Saturday morning at a Coca-Cola hour. Mrs. Jack Gray of Hyattsville, Md., a former schoolmate, was the hostess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jab Roberson.

For decorations the Valentine motif was used with red and white carnations.

The small group of young people went to the dining room where ribbon sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, assorted cookies, salted nuts and Coca-Colas were served buffet style.

Yma Sumac's Concert Proved To Be Exotic, Memorable Display

By GEORGE E. PERRY
Exotic, sensuous, wierd, unbelievable: so could one describe the Yma Sumac concert which held a capacity audience entranced in Wright Auditorium last evening. Quite removed from the usual type of concert one expects to hear, Miss Sumac and her talented troupe of musicians and dancers brought to Greenville the rare thrill of something delightfully and authentically foreign. Music which was strange to the ear, costumes which were intriguing to the eye, dances which excited the senses: these plus the fascinating voice of Yma Sumac revealed the enchanting qualities which lay hidden, and have laid hidden for centuries, in the depths of the Andes.

The voice of Miss Sumac, of course, was what everyone went to hear, and within its four-octave range one found tone vibrant with emotion one second and coldly pure the next. There were bird-like notes, gurglings, grunts, trills, and more musical ornaments than are to be found in the Dolmetsch book; there were pianissimos, fortissimos, and everything that's between. She even tossed in Bizet's "Ouvre ton Coeur," just to show that her repertoire was not solely Andean, or perhaps to satisfy a certain critic who wondered what would happen if she sang something operatic. And for all this, the audience applauded most enthusiastically, especially after Miss Sumac became warm and seemed to appreciate it.

The dancers were nothing short of human dynamos, running breathlessly about the stage, stamping their feet, clapping their hands, emitting wierd noises, and in general, keeping one hundred percent vigorous all the time. But more important, the dances were clever, unique, and always amusing, and the audience applauded them just as heartily as any part of the program.

The music was perfectly summed up in a remark by the announcer at the start of the program—"music which will be difficult to remember but music which you will never forget." It was strange, a fascinating co-mixture of the ancient Inca chants and contemporary harmonies and orchestration. Moisses Vivanco, who produced and directed the entire show, even to the eruption of two miniature volcanoes, arranged to appreciate it.

The regular PTA meeting is scheduled for February 24.

MacDowell Club Has Program On N. C. Composers

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. Robert K. Adkins was a charming hostess to the MacDowell Music Club Friday afternoon. Mrs. Thomas L. House presided over the meeting which was called to order at 3:00 o'clock.

A report was given on the Grass Roots Opera which the club hopes to have next year. Several members gave an outline of the excellent concerts given at Rocky Mount and Raleigh. Pictures were shown of the Music Festival recently held in the Robersonville High School auditorium before Mrs. Irving Smith and Miss Jeanine Taylor were commended for their efforts in making the festival a great success. The thirteen members then sang in unison the hymn of the month, "Oh For a Thousand Tongues to Sing My Redeemer's Praise." An interesting program on North Carolina composers was given under the leadership of Mrs. Vance Roberson, who read an article from the State School Magazine about the eighth graders composing the words for a new state song. The music is by a member of the faculty at East Carolina College, Greenville, Mrs. V. L. Roberson played the melody. Mrs. R. K. Adkins gave the life of Mrs. Rae Hart of Hickory, N. C. who has composed several pieces, gaining first and second place in the North Carolina Federation of Composers. Three of her compositions for children, "Bell Song," "Kitten and the Mouse" and "The Song of the Mocking Bird," were played by Mrs. Roberson. This was followed by Mrs. I. M. Little giving the highlights of the work of Dr. Charles Vardell, who is now at Flora MacDonald. In closing part of the program, Mrs. Little sang "The House On Honey-moon Hill" by Hermene Warlick Eichor of Greensboro, a former college classmate of Mrs. I. L. Smith and Mrs. Adkins.

Before the refreshments were brought in, the group sang "Happy Birthday" to Miss Gladys Bailey.

Napkins with popular tunes, "A Bicycle Built For Two," "Home on the Range," "Auld Lang Syne," etc., were passed around and each person hummed her song then the others tried to guess the title. The hostess served Valentine sandwiches, cheese wafers, cookies and hot chocolate. A pretty Valentine was placed on each plate.

Joint Hostesses Entertain Bride-Elect Of February

ROBERSONVILLE—The home of Mrs. Kelly Rawls and her daughter, Miss Delphia Rawls, was the setting for a lovely party Saturday night from 9 until 10 when they honored Miss Mary Anne Anderson, a bride-elect of February 10.

The house was beautifully decorated by Mr. William D. Sanford, a neighbor and a florist, who placed unusual and very attractive arrangements throughout the house. A pink color scheme was used in the large living room with roses and gladioli predominating. The adjoining bedroom was cheerful with a profusion of blue and yellow flowers. The dining room was beautifully decorated with white roses, white carnations and matching snapdragons. The buffet attracted attention with a miniature bride and groom with a background of greenery. Standing under an inverted brandy snifter topped with a dainty bridal bouquet.

The dining table, covered with lace, was centered by a white floral arrangement on a pedestal.

Mrs. B. E. Anderson, mother of the bride-to-be, poured hot Russian tea while Mrs. William W. Taylor Sr., mother of the groom-to-be, cut a gorgeous three-tiered cake at the opposite end of the table.

Mrs. Jim Daniel assisted in serving the refreshments which consisted of fancy sandwiches, cookies, stuffed dates, mints and salted nuts. Six young ladies, the Misses Joyce Whitfield, Janice Whitfield, Emma Nell Everett, Anna Speight Whitfield, Elizabeth Ann Everett and Mrs. Dick Matthews, in evening dresses offered their assistance.

As the guests left the dining room, Mrs. J. R. Matthews directed them to the register where Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sanford presided. This table was decorated with red roses.

The honoree was lovely in a blue evening dress with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The mothers of the honored couple were presented corsages to complement their dresses and Mr. Taylor received a white boutonniere.

After a pleasant hour, the good-byes were said by Miss Rawls, Miss Anderson and her fiancé.

Floating Shower Compliments Miss Mary Ann Anderson

ROBERSONVILLE—A big social event of the year was a floating miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Rosa Carraway Friday night from 7:30 to 10:00 complimenting Miss Mary Anne Anderson, a bride-elect.

For this occasion the Masonic Hall was decorated with gladioli, carnations and statice. Lighted red tapers in candelabra were dotted around the spacious room. The hostess welcomed the guests at the door where the honoree, her mother, Mrs. B. E. Anderson, and the mother of the groom-to-be, Mrs. William W. Taylor Sr., were in the receiving line.

Mrs. Lowell Everett presided at the register and Miss Mary Louise Crisp was at the long gift table which extended across the length of the entire room. Vases of salmon pink glads were placed at intervals and pretty holders with burning candles brightening the table. The gifts included a set of dishes in her chosen pattern of china, a large assortment of crystal in her selected design, several place settings of sterling silver, odd dishes, a blanket, sheets, pillowcases, towels, ornaments, bedspreads and other useful articles.

The refreshment table was covered with white linen centered by a beautiful arrangement of red carnations. Mrs. Elliott Taylor and Mrs. John C. Taylor poured the hot chocolate while Miss Doris Johnson and Miss Delphia Rawls assisted in serving heart-shaped sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, party cakes, candy and salted pecans.

Miss Anderson was presented a yellow gladioli corsage to wear with her black and gold dress.

One hundred and five friends called during the evening.

Wedding Trip To Florida Follows Rite

ROBERSONVILLE—For an impressive wedding, the First Baptist Church of Robersonville had a background of ferns and several tall baskets of white gladioli Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

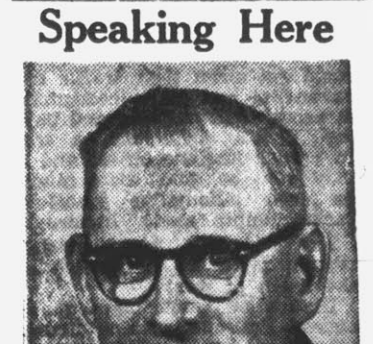

Miss Gertie Oakley and Wilbur Ray Matthews entered together unattended to the strains of "Lohengrin." The Rev. Ralph E. Ferguson officiated at the double ring ceremony while Mrs. Robert K. Adkins, organist, softly played "To a Wild Rose."

The bride wore a navy blue suit with winter white accessories and a white corsage.

After a trip to Florida the young couple will make their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Aubrey Oakley.

Mrs. Matthews holds a position with the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company in Robersonville. Mr. Matthews is employed by the Honeycutt Furniture Company of Bethel.

Freedom Of Education Is At Stake

The phrase "free education" is a deliberate choice. For unless education continues to be free—free in its response to local community needs, free from any suggestion of political domination, and free from impediments to the pursuit of knowledge by teachers and students—it will cease to serve the purposes of free men.

No truer words were ever spoken.

Yet those words of President Eisenhower used in his presentation of the proposal that seven billion federal dollars be pumped into public schools in communities throughout the nation, seem in direct contradiction with the ultimate effect the proposal would have upon public education.

political domination in the final analysis? None! There is no reason to believe that schools will long remain free from political domination on the federal level if states and communities allow federal money to finance even a portion of their school program.

Schools are needed and needed badly throughout the country, but federally financed building programs do not afford the sound answer to the problem, particularly when one takes the long range view of the situation.

States and communities which accept federal funds for schools in this so-called "emergency" will soon find themselves leaning heavily upon this new federal financial crutch. As years pass they will become more addicted to the crutch; more willing to accept greater federal control of schools; less willing to deny themselves federal money even though it means that ultimate control of schools passes from state and local governments to the centralized authority of the federal government.

Public education, free from the control of the centralized state, has risen as one of the great bulwarks of American freedom. How long will it remain so if control over the schools moves into the hands of the federal authority? How much easier will it be for ambitious tyrants to mold the minds of young people to suit their own selfish motives if the authority over education is placed in a centralized agency?

Where dictators have grasped power, they have sought control of two vital functions of government: the centralized police authority, and the centralized educational authority.

President Eisenhower's proposal for federal funds for construction of public schools is the first overt movement for ultimate federal control of public education. If the American people are seduced by the tempting federal dollar now, we may fully expect the federal government to gain control of public education within the next two decades.

If education is to remain free as the American people have known it, it must, in the words of the President, remain free from any suggestion of political domination. If public education is to remain free from any suggestion of political domination, it must not be controlled in the slightest degree by the centralized state.

The freedom of public education is at stake in the Congressional consideration of this new presidential proposal and the reaction of the people to this bid by federal authority to get its foot in the door. Will we stand resolute in our determination that education must remain free, or will we now yield to the temptation of the federal dollar which speaks so loudly in the American system?

Window Smashing Must Be Stopped

Efforts of Greenville police to apprehend the persons responsible for recurring reports of vandalism in the city should be intensified.

During the past month there have been at least eight reports to local police of windows in stores and other business houses being smashed at night by vandals. There has been no indication in any of the cases that robbery was the motive.

Window smashing is an expensive form of recreation, particular for the victims of the recent wave of vandalism. There has been no let-up in the regularity with which store windows have been smashed in the past month, and there is no indication this particular "fad" will be broken up until the police apprehend the responsible parties.

Every effort should be made by the police department to nab the culprits before property damage caused by this vandalism mounts higher.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LAWYER IN RIGHT PLACES

Mr. Howard Pyle, governor of Arizona, has recently written as follows: "Over my desk, and over that of every other governor, flows a steady stream of beautiful rationalized appeals for more laws to avoid this and prevent that. . . . Men cannot be made law-abiding by law alone. If laws were enough to produce such a result, ours would be a model country for all time to come, because it would be hard to find a nation on earth more surrounded by rules and regulations than ours. Still, we are writing more and more of them, with increasingly dubious results."

It is hard for us to get into our heads the plain truth that the only thing wrong with the world is the hearts of the people who live in it. Therefore, the only way to make a better world is to make a better humanity; and this we do chiefly through education, through the extension of democracy, and, above all else, through the ennobling power of religious faith.

Laws in themselves will do us no good. Neither will jails nor insane asylums nor strait jackets. Not more laws written on the legislative scrolls, but more laws written on the fleshy tablets of the heart. Neither will hand-wringing, nor tears, nor curses do any good.

Start changing people; and you and I do not need to be told who are the first ones that need to be changed.

Working Toward A Paradise

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—A nonpublicized scientific study sponsored by the United States Congress may combine with development of atomic power for commercial use to transform the planet Earth into a garden of human peace and happiness, provided the Communists do not blow it to bits before final success has been achieved. It is believed that the experiments for the good of mankind will become fact within five years.

The less known venture involves the attempt to convert sea, brackish and highly mineralized waters into a fresh substance suitable for use by municipalities and industries, and, perhaps most important of all, for irrigating millions of parched and uncultivable acres throughout the world, here and abroad. Lands now fit only for vultures and lizards may be made to bloom with food, fiber and flowers.

Simultaneously—five years hence—cheap atomic energy may power industries to provide standards of living so high that even pushy Russian Commissars might envy. The market of the world's poor and hungry may then prove less susceptible to Communist capitalization.

SALINE WATER ACT—Private and public efforts to convert substandard water into fresh have been made for many years, albeit sporadically and separately. It can be done. We make sea water potable for warships and certain overseas military bases. It is no consideration. But the major need is to reduce the conversion cost to a commercially practical figure, as is true of the application of atomic energy to peacetime use.

In 1952, Representative Clair Engle of California persuaded Congress to pass the Saline Water Act, which provided for a five-year experiment by Interior Department experts. It carried funds for work by private industries, universities and research centers. It also authorized co-operation with many foreign groups and governments tapping for new sources of "liquid gold."

FAVORABLE RESULTS—The results have been surprisingly favorable. When the program got under way in late 1952, it was hoped that the cost for freshening 1,000 gallons, or an acre per foot, could be reduced to $500 within five years. A thousand gallons will cover an acre with water one foot deep, and is known technically as a "per acre foot" unit.

Where Two's A Crowd

Somebody Told Me Two After-Dinner Speakers

The Bundy boys, Sam in Farmville and Dick in Greenville, are rich characters. Of the two I have always considered Sam, the school principal in Farmville, to be the after-dinner speaker and Dick, the lawyer in Greenville, to be a politician and wheel in the Masons.

Last night Dick proved that he's just as good at after-dinner speaking as brother Sam. Combining with the musical talents of Mrs. Pat Taylor and Mrs. Ned Kinsaul, Dick's humorous speech rounded out an enjoyable program at the Valentine party of the Greenville Jaycees.

Dick began by saying, "After that introduction I can hardly wait to hear what I'm going to hear. I described the conversation he had with Mae (Mrs. Cactus Jim) Lafferty, concerning his invitation to speak. 'Certainly you want a professional,' Dick recalled. "No," Mae insisted, "we don't want anyone we would have to pay."

Then Dick suggested several other speakers to Mae. "But we've already asked all of them," Dick quoted her as saying.

Dick was surprised that we were listening to him. "You are about the age of my daughter, and it's been so long since she listened to me that I'm surprised that you will."

During the years Dick has been a speaker, he recalls, at the Caswell Training School for the mentally deficient near Kinston on several occasions. He says they always ask him back because he seems so much like one of them.

From court Dick offered the definition of step-husband. From the witness stand he heard this:

"I call him my step husband because when my husband steps out he steps in."

A popular topic of discussion everywhere is the power of the American woman. Dick gave particular emphasis to this situation by quoting the laws of 1770 of the English Parliament.

The point of the law was that if any woman got her man under any false pretenses, like false hips, hair or teeth, then the marriage will be null and void.

It's amazing that Dick can carry on in such a manner, considering the fact that there was a time when he stuttered over almost every word. I discussed this problem with Dick some time ago and he said he overcame the problem by thinking of another word when one had him stumped.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

TIME MARCHES DOGMATICALLY ON (Charlotte (N.C.) Observer)

We hold nothing against Time Magazine that time won't heal, and besides we're charitable. But a time or two ago, Time went too far.

The publisher of that periodical was musing (as is his wont) on the characteristics of what he calls Time's "average male reader" (three hats, six pairs of shoes, seven suits) and he added, almost parenthetically, a financial statement: The average male reader we are asked to believe, carries in his pocket, at any given time, cash amounting to $30.70. We somehow doubt it.

A man who, on Monday morning or Friday midnight, is able to produce cash totaling $30.70 is either (1) unmarried, (2) childless, (3) distrustful of banks, (4) void of credit, or (5) lucky with dice. In any particular he would hardly qualify as an "average" reader of Time.

If thirty dollars and seventy cents were a believable figure—such as, for example, fifty dollars and twenty-six cents—we might be tempted to swallow it. The latter amount would indicate a forward-looking fifty dollar bill somewhere within the secret folds of the male wallet; the twenty-six cents needs no explaining.

But $30.70 seems obviously pat and clearly padded. Nor is the conclusion hasty. In the interest of absolute truth we took a poll of our staff (typical Time readers all) and discovered this factual average:

Two suits, twelve sports jackets, three fourths of a hat, one pair of shoes, a dollar sixty-two cents and a dog-eared copy of Newsweek. Heretics, obviously.

PROPOSED NEW TAXES Rise in Unpopularity Over N.C.

By LYNN NISBET

UNPOPULAR—Legislators returning from the weekend trip back to Raleigh bring reports that the proposed new taxes are more unpopular now than when the budget report was first published. There is less feeling of certainty that the additional money will be really needed to maintain State services at satisfactory level.

There is general opinion that the existing tax schedules will yield substantially more than the estimates made two months ago. That would reduce the amount needed from new sources to meet all budget allocations. There is also growing belief that maybe some of the items in the budget list are not important enough to justify breaking into new areas of taxation to provide them.

The item of a half a million for the UNC-TV is coming in for a good bit of criticism. Many people regard that as an unnecessary frill, not a basic need. There is opposition too, because it will serve a relatively few people in a small area rather than the whole State. Alumnae of the women's College of the University do not like the idea of reducing the library budget there by about the amount appropriated for the TV set up.

The folks back home are beginning to realize, said one legislator, that we have put out a lot of money to gratify pride and jealousy. When the desperate need for more hospitals was recognized there was not sufficient overall planning to meet the need and serve the people without waste. Result is that a lot of little hospitals with too much invested in operating rooms and other specialty equipment are having tough sledding. More bed-rooms and less expensive specialties in most of the hospitals and concentrating major surgery into regional institutions might have served the purpose better.

EXPENSIVE—Pride is expensive, but not so expensive as segregation. The duplication in educational and hospital facilities necessary to meet the segregation requirement have cost tremendously, and are still adding heavily to maintenance and operations costs. Some of the folks are wondering if it might not be a good idea to hold up on spending for a year or two and see what develops in this field rather than continue to appropriate money for operation on current basis.

The legislators report also that the home folks are not willing to sacrifice the quality of service rendered by the State just to avoid the levy of new taxes. The seeming inconsistency in these divergent views—opposition to new taxes and unwillingness to sacrifice service—is not really inconsistent. It demonstrates greater care than the people have manifested in past years to see that they get a dollar's worth for the dollar spent. The lush days of big surplus balances develop a philosophy of indifference to cost. If the thing was desirable, it was bought. Before accepting new taxes the people now want to know if we might get along without some of those desirable but not vitally essential things we obtained in the more prosperous days.

PRISONS—The first legislative step toward separation of prison management from the highway department was taken Monday night. Rep. Thomas Turner of Guilford, who had served on the commission studying reorganization of government, introduced a bill effectuating the commission recommendations that much more authority be given the director of prisons. He would be appointed by the highway commission but have very little responsibility to that group. The term of office would be four years, beginning a year after a new Governor comes in, and he can be discharged only for proven cause after a hearing. Under this bill the director of prisons will have more authority in his own right and not subject to check or review than any other officer except the Governor.

Another Turner bill directs the chairman of the Highway Commission, the chairman of the Prisons "to take measures to determine the feasibility of separating the state prison system from the State Highway and Public Works Commission" and to report back to the Governor and the 1957 legislature.

FINANCING—It is commonly understood that the "feasibility" has to do mainly with financing. Col. William F. Bailey, director of prisons, told the N.C. Press Institute at Chapel Hill last month that the editors would contribute more to the solution of the problem if they would write about appropriations every time they mentioned separation.

Governor Hodges has several times suggested that integration might be a more accurate word, the idea being that all State activities should be more closely coordinated under certain budget control with all state-collected revenue going into one pot and all bills for state services

Transport Merger?

By ELMER ROESSNER

Just as mergers of chemicals often generate heat, so do mergers of businesses, and the rising number of mergers has steamed up many Congressmen. There will probably be a full-scale investigation before long.

It is indisputable that many types of mergers are bad for the economy. When they result in monopolies that milk the public of unconscionable profits, or prevent newcomers from entering the field, or stifle technical advancement, legislative restrictions are in order.

Many recent mergers are of the earmuff bathing-suit kind—they were brought about because companies want to broaden their lines to avert seasonal slumps. This leads to stability of employment and income and, because they eliminate the financial drain of off-seasons should lead also to lower prices.

Other mergers are beneficial because of the nature of the business. In some cities there used to be two telephone companies or two water companies. Few, if any, people would want to return to those periods of nonmonopoly any more than they would return to the days when there were two national telegraph companies. The chief danger of monopoly has been eliminated by government control over rates, etc.

WHY NOT MERGE OUR TRANSPORTATION?

This suggests there is another field in which the government should encourage, rather than interdict, mergers. That's in transportation.

Suppose the government reversed current policies and encouraged mergers of railroad lines and of railroads and truck lines.

Enormous economic savings might result. The towering cost of management could be lowered; there would be need for fewer presidents, fewer vice-presidents fewer experts and a lot fewer men engaged in trying to swipe traffic from other companies.

Freight, and perhaps passenger, could be handled by the cheapest and most direct methods. Rails, with or without piggy-back trailers, could handle the long haul business that they do best; trucks could be used where flexibility is most important. "Union" stations would be standard in every community, and the union could take in truck and bus lines, too. Duplicating and competitive runs could be eliminated. The return load problem would be eased, too.

The nation is now paying for—and piling a profit on top of—enormous duplicating facilities. It's part of the cost of every new steel mill and every package of breakfast food.

EASIER ON BUSINESS AND THE PUBLIC

Unified transportation would have other advantages. It would no longer be necessary to send shipments by outlandish routes in order to get the lowest rates; the monopoly would be required to move everything by the cheapest and fastest routes. Firms could cut down their traffic departments and make economies in accounting, auditing and paying. People could plan a trip by calling just one office. And if they went by auto there might be fewer automobiles racing empty along highways.

And a unified transportation system might be invaluable in the event of war.

Unification won't happen, of course. Rail and trucking unions, fearful of jobs, would protest. The thousands of potentially unemployed company vice-presidents would scream. And the mass of

Welsh Lass Brought A Lifeboat

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Few visitors arriving in New York by ship bother to bring along their own lifeboat anymore.

But Miss Janet Jones, a young lass from Wales, did. Stepping ashore clad in a red cloak, an 18th Century style Welsh dress and a high-topped black beaver hat, she took one look at busy Manhattan and exclaimed:

"Aeth a fy ngwnt i wrdd yn This, as any Welshman would grasp instantly, meant: "It takes my breath away—everything moves so fast!"

Miss Jones—a name as common as Kim in Korea or Smith in America—won over 1,100 other contestants to become the national hostess of Wales. She is here for a seven-week, coast-to-coast goodwill tour. When she brought a corgi, a coracle, a collection of wooden love spoons, a black Bible made from a block of coal, a 5 1/2-foot harp, and a walking stick which once belonged to the Welsh statesman, David Lloyd George.

The corgi turned out to be an understung, mystified, homesick lady dog named Ceri, and pronounced "Kerry."

"The word corgi means cur or mongrel," explained Janet, who is 21, pretty, auburn-haired and blue-eyed.

"The corgi has been honored in Wales since Howell the Good passed a law in 916 exempting the breed from taxes because they kept the pastures free of lurking and animals. The corgi has been adopted by the British royal family. It is now the 'Falla' of Buckingham Palace."

The coracle turned out to be an ancient type Welsh boat made of wicker and cowhide, so light even a girl could pack it on her back.

This is believed to be the first coracle ever brought to the United States.

Now about those wooden love spoons?

"In the old time," said Janet, "instead of giving the girl of his choice an engagement ring, a Welsh boy would come to her with a spoon. He had carved. The more beautiful the carving, the more he loved her. "If she accepted the spoon, they were engaged. That is where the term 'spooning' came from. If she turned down the spoon, it was 'love's labor, lost. "Very occasionally the old custom is still followed. It is much easier today to buy an engagement ring. But I'd much rather have a love spoon myself!"

However, Janet made it quite clear she expects no love spoon on this trip.

"I'll be much too busy to look for a husband," she said, "and it's him that should be doing the looking anyway."

Miss Jones, daughter of a Presbyterian minister, comes from a tiny Welsh village only 50 miles from the town with the longest name in the world. It is—here we go, kids, look out for the vowels:

Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwadrobwllantysylllogogoch.

MANUFACTURER HELPING DEALERS AND CUSTOMERS

Manufacturers are doing a lot of things for dealers these days—giving them ocean voyages or bonds for exceeding quotas, helping to finance credit sales, and giving training courses to salespeople.

The newest assist is by (Hudson Pulp & Paper) a manufacturer of paper items for consumers and bags for grocers. It is offering chain stores a complete training program including slides showing the do's and don'ts of efficient checking, a training manual and even transparent bags to show best methods of filling them. It is also conducting a campaign to show customers how to get checked out fast: load carts with prices on the top side, and keeping twofers and three-fers together.

DOLLAR WORTH 100 OR 55 CENTS, DEPENDING ON BASE YEAR

The purchasing power of the consumer dollar was 100.2 cents in December, the National Industrial Conference Board announced. The dollar was also worth 55.2 cents in December, it added.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO
It was four o'clock and still the rain fell. Fred told Nienaber that he would have to take the highway through the mountains. The bridge would certainly be out at Bell's.

He gave his orders as to Clara's care; and started. The baby, firmly supported by rolls of blankets, lay beside him on the seat.

The road skirted the river, which was out of its banks and racing with white spume. Twice Fred must stop his car and roll boulders out of the way. He drove warily because rocks were constantly tumbling down the mountain side. Several times the car wheels swished through water which had cascaded down the mountain and across the road, seeking the river. He thought of the contrasts which one night could bring. Katie's party, the candlelight, the talk and laughter. Thence to Nienaber's and the stark level on which those people lived the barrenness of their home and their lives, the tragedy—And now this battle with the elements, a tiny new life at his side!

Ach! Here then was a boulder which he could not move! He must drive around it, edging out upon the gravel shoulder—easily, easily. It would take so little for the weight of his station wagon to crumble the bank—and yet he must try it. Delay of any extent might mean his reaching town with a dead baby at his side.

And that would be very bad. People would not understand a doctor's taking a baby "in fine condition" out on such a night. They would say he should have left it until the rain had stopped, until daylight. Many would not understand his taking the baby from its mother at all. To save its life? But if it died . . .

But it must not die! Sweat beaded on his ashen face, Fred inched the car back to the concrete was thankful when he heard the roar of the dam ahead of him. The baby mewled in its blankets. Good!

He inched his car along the hazardous flooded road, but his thoughts remained with the Nienabers and their possible future in the valley. His headlights gleamed in the river mist. Another five miles and he would be home. He was very tired and his eyes gritted with sleepiness.

Who knew what this tiny baby might do for the valley? If things went well the father would one day own his own land. His son would grow up here. The valley needed new blood, new ideas, new strengths. The valley was old, as things went in the West. Many of its families were inbred, both ranch hands and owners. The "best" families had few children. If the taint of tuberculosis could be kept from this new citizen—and it would be!—if the Nienabers worked out well, other such families might be brought here. People ready to work, anxious to build a fine country proud of its opportunities . . . Fred would help where he could. Turning his car into his own street, tired as a man may be, Fred's heart sang with the purpose of his future, of this work before him.

Katie had probably been lying awake, waiting for him. She frowned at the bundle in his arms. "What in the world . . ." she asked, as he offered her the cocoon of blue wool.

"It's a baby. Take it, Katie . . . But she backed away from him. Fred laid the baby on the table, and unfolded the blankets. The small, wrinkled infant stirred but did not waken. Katie stared at it, wide-eyed. "I thought you were at Kyles'."

"Oh, Katie!" He was shocked. "You went off with Linda. You didn't say what—or where?"

"What's going on down here?" It was Murphy, black slippers, white pajama legs, black robe. He walked over to the table. "What an ugly baby!"

"It is not ugly," said Fred. "Watch it, Katie! It'll boil some water."

"I'll do that, Fred. And fix you some breakfast."

"Have you some soft cloths I can use for diapers, Katie? And an old blanket? These . . ."

She went out of the room, and brought back the things he wanted. "Fred . . ."

"I'm going to tell you," he promised.

"I'll get the safety pins," said Murphy. "Even if know they're essential."

Katie slapped three safety pins down on the table. "Sit down, Murphy, and listen to Fred! And don't be so noisy. We'll wake Mamma Beier."

"God forbid," said Murphy piously.

"I'll get the clothes-basket," said Fred, disappearing into the basement stairs, the bundle of discarded blankets under his arm.

"Whose baby is it?" Murphy asked Katie.

"I don't know. He'll tell us. Isn't it tiny? Look at the fingers, Murphy. So little and so perfect."

"Maudlin," he announced. "A mewling infant makes every woman maudlin. Oh, Fred. Will you please tell us what particular cabbage leaf produced this—"

Fred was setting two kitchen chairs in a warm corner; on these he put Katie's clothes-basket, well-padded with newspapers. He added a couple of towels, and came

"Oh, Fred, is it their baby?"

"Yes. Somewhat premature, but in very good shape as you can see."

Katie watched Fred place the baby in the basket. She leaned over the chair back, her attitude one of terrified adoration, while Fred busied himself with fruit jars and hot water—and told of the flooded roads. "But you can see I made it. We'll let the baby sleep now, Katie."

"It has blood on its head . . ."

He looked at her. "Yes, darling," he said gently. "This was a big night for him, too. And—we will oil it later. I'll show you how or have Huggins come over. And—it is a he, my darling."

"Yes, Fred. I'm so dumb."

"You're scared," he teased gently.

Her voice trembled. "I don't want to be, but I am."

Topheavy ACC Standings See Three Tied For Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Atlantic Coast Conference standings are getting a little top-heavy.

Three teams are tied for the spot—Maryland, N.C. State and Duke, with 8-2 conference records.

In their fifth straight league victory, Duke last night edged Wake Forest, 75-73, thanks to forward Ronnie Mayer who dropped in a goal with just seconds remaining.

What had been assumed to be a relatively easy game for the Blue Devils turned into a real battle and they trailed throughout the game, until Mayer turned the tables and ran his own total to 19 points. Wake's Dickie Hemric scored 22.

In an exciting end of game flurry Deacon forward Lowell Davis commanded the ball, went down the court and attempted a shot just before the final gun — but missed.

All is quiet tonight in the Atlantic Coast family but tomorrow night South Carolina is at Wake Forest and North Carolina at Virginia.

North Carolina State, in another point-spread, took a 126-99 victory from William and Mary of the Southern Conference.

Sharp-shooter Ronnie Shavlik, State's All America candidate, covered every angle of the board and sank 22 field goals and 11 free throws for a 55 total, shattering the ACC individual scoring record. Previously he and Wake Forest's Dickie Hemric held the record with 49.

State's 126 points also made another conference record, previously held by Wake Forest with 120 points—against Clemson last Friday.

The Wolfpack was never behind and it was the third consecutive game in which it broke the 100-point mark. State has scored 359 points in its last three games.

Johnny Mahoney, scoring 22 points in the first half, had a total of 37 for William and Mary.

A sellout crowd of 3,000 saw the game.

ECC WINS

In North State Conference action Western Carolina defeated High Point, 76-69, as center Herman Shamel scored 31 points.

East Carolina took a 75-53 victory from Catawba. J. C. Thomas paced ECC with 22 points and Gene Fleming was Catawba's top man with 17.

Appalachian State beat Atlantic Christian, 105-97. The defeat dropped ACC from first place in the league for the first time this season. Lenoir Rhyne leads the league with a 10-2 record, until last night shared by ACC.

Wofford is at Belmont Abbey and Guilford at Lenoir Rhyne tonight.

Baker KO's Ring Rival In Two-Round Victory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Baker, the Pittsburgh giant with the fragile hands who knocked out Willie James last night compared his ring record with his bank account today and found the latter sadly lacking.

Baker swatted James into what could be fistic oblivion in 2:50 of the second round. The scheduled 10 rounder in the Coliseum was James' television debut and the hard-punching 207 pounder from Roxbury, Mass., admitted he was nervous.

However, Freud had nothing to do with the devastation Baker heaped on James' jaw in the closing seconds of stanza 2.

It was mostly James in the first round. The Bay State youngster kept Baker's head in motion with well placed lefts. Baker, fourth ranked nationally in the heavy-weight division, busted himself avoiding the rushes of the constantly pressing James.

But in the second round, Baker took command right after the opening bell. It was a series of right hand punches that finished the brief affair.

James managed to struggle to his knees as Referee Benny Goldstein tolled 10. He said after the fight the TV lens made him nervous and he hoped he could fight Baker again.

Baker had other ideas. The 219-pound Negro said he wanted to "fight where the money is."

The reference was, naturally, to Champion Rocky Marciano.

Duke To Play 3 Bowl Champions

DURHAM (AP)—Duke, winner of this year's Orange Bowl football game, will meet the winners of the three other major bowl games this fall in a 10-game schedule announced today.

The history-making matching of major bowl champions finds the Blue Devils playing the three other bowl champions away from home. They will play Ohio State at Columbus on Oct. 15, Georgia Tech at Atlanta Oct. 29 and Navy at Baltimore on Nov. 5.

Four home games will be played, climaxed by the Dec. 3 meeting with traditional rival North Carolina. That will be one of four Atlantic Coast Conference games for Duke. Nov. 26 has been left open by both Duke and North Carolina because it is a holiday period and students home for Thanksgiving would miss the classic if the old rivals played that week.

The schedule:

Sept. 24—at North Carolina State (n).

Oct. 1—at Tennessee; 8 — William and Mary; 15—at Ohio State; 22—Pittsburgh; 29 — at Georgia Tech.

Nov. 5—Navy at Baltimore; 12—at South Carolina; 19—Wake Forest; 26—open.

Dec. 3—North Carolina.

Defense Isn't A Lost Art For Basketballers

NEW YORK (AP)—In an era where college basketball teams often score 100 and more points in a game without batting an eye, San Francisco is proof that defense isn't a lost art.

The Dons, first in the Associated Press weekly rankings, lead the nation in defense. They've allowed the opposition an average of 49.9 points a game in 17 outings.

To point up the importance of defensive tactics, Furman, a team which is out of sight in the ratings, tops the scoring parade with a 95.9 average output.

The Oklahoma Aggies are an exception this year to the defensive statistics. Ranked high as usual on the defense they have a dismal 8-9 record.

Figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau for games including last Saturday show that only one ranked quietly found a place in the top 10 offensively. That one is North Carolina State's tall and talented No. 7 rated Wolfpack which has averaged 87.5.

Utah, No. 5 and Duquesne No. 4 are the only other clubs among the nation's top 10 to find a spot in the select circle of defensive giants. The Utes are ranked 4th, yielding an average of 56.8. The Dukes have yielded 60 points average per game, putting them 8th.

George Washington continues to dominate the statistics in the shooting. The Colonials lead the nation in field goal and free throw percentages. From the floor they've averaged 47.9 per cent, from the free throw line 75.2.

Niagara, second to George Washington in field goal shooting, also has two firsts: one for rebounding and the other for fewest fouls committed. The Jumping Jacks from upstate New York have recovered 62.1 per cent of the rebounds in their games while being charged with an average of 13.4 fouls.

Texas A&M is on the bottom of that scale, having committed 24.5 fouls per game.

Switch Swingers by Pap'

That hot-bed of Dodger rooters, the AP photo dark room, had been strangely silent since the Brooklyn club failed to meet the American League champions in the World Series last fall. Suddenly the room came to life during one of the routine "hot stove league" discussions which are constant among the printers.

"Maybe you saw the story saying that no switch-hitter ever won a major league batting championship," ventured a Pete Reiser fan. "Have they forgotten my boy Reiser so soon? Pete won the 1941 National League batting championship, didn't he? And wasn't Reiser a switch-hitter?"

All of which was very true—up to a certain point. Peter Reiser was the 1941 batting champion, and, at several stages of his career, was a switch-hitter. But it is a matter of record that Reiser batted entirely as a left-hander throughout the 1941 season. It seems odd that no switch-hitter ever has won a major league batting crown. Red Schoendienst of St. Louis came close to winning top batting honors in 1953 when he finished just two percentage points behind Carl Furillo. Red was battling the leaders in the early stages of the 1954 race but tailed off in the stretch drive. Perhaps Mickey Mantle will one day live up to his early promise and give the switch-hitters a batting championship. He shapes up as the best bet to do the trick.

Big Grab Bag Is Open For Picking Tourney Entries

NEW YORK (AP)—The big grab bag is now open for the post-season college basketball tournaments and the National Invitation (NIT) at Madison Square Garden has taken the initiative by plucking fourth-ranked Duquesne.

The Iron Dukes, runners-up last year to Holy Cross in the event and present holders of a 14-3 record for the season, confirmed today they would play in the Garden tournament March 12-14-15-17-19.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) championship gets underway with regional playoffs March 7-8 and closes with the finals at Kansas City March 18-19.

Even if there were not a conflict in dates, NCAA rules would forbid a team playing in both tournaments. So there usually is a brisk tug-of-war this time of year for available strong independents.

The NCAA field consists of champions from 15 conferences and nine teams picked at large from the various regions.

The official college tournament is expected to get most of the members of the top 10 in the national rankings, including the three leaders—San Francisco, Kentucky at LaSalle in that order.

San Francisco is an independent team which the NIT officials will make a strong bid for, but don't expect to get. "Our information is that Frisco is being pressured to play in the NCAA," a Garden spokesman said.

Utah, George Washington and UCLA—No. 5, 6 and 8, respectively—are slated to go NCAA, if they qualify either through conference titles or special bids, as is the Big Ten's Illinois, No. 10. North Carolina State, No. 7, is on NCAA's probation list and ineligible.

Where To Go In Summertime?

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The big mystery around here at the moment is where metropolitan track fans go in the summertime. There is a move to trace the seasonal migration and learn, if possible, where the tuxedoed flock hangs out during the hot months when track events are supposed to be held.

The strange behavior of the local pole vault addict is pointed up by the fact that he already has snapped up the last reserved seat for Saturday night's New York A. C. meet at Madison Square Garden. He hung from the rafters last week to watch Wes Santee and Fred Dwyer pull hair in the final stages of the Millrose Games mile.

This is more striking for the reason that the famous sports palace had come to look like a haunted house on most nights when the marquee said fights and ice hockey and other red-blooded sports events were in progress.

But they put on these skirmishes between sallow-looking young men in shorts and all at once you can't battle a path through to the door, much less get inside. Where these fast mile fanatics come from no one knows. The only sure thing is that they will have disappeared by June, when you could put on the greatest track and field carnival ever whopped up in Yankee Stadium and not fill the first row boxes.

There is, of course, a sort of special attraction going on now as Gunnar Nielsen and Windy Wes take turns outfooting each other around the boards and setting a new indoor mile record practically every week, but it must not be thought that this alone accounts for the capacity houses. The indoor meets always pack them in.

'Superficiality' Claimed In Faith

DALLAS (AP)—"There's just too much superficial Christianity in our churches," the Rev. M. V. Clark, 64, of Snyder, Tex., said yesterday.

"Why, I can remember when there were 40 or 50 people all standing at once and shouting their faith — and in a Methodist church, I mean."

This brought a chuckle from the Rev. C. E. Clark, of Houston, 82, a cousin of the Snyder preacher. "That's right," the Houston parson said. "But if that hap-

Travel Record For Nat'l Park

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP)—The Great Smoky Mountains National Park attracted a record 49,200 persons in January, park headquarters reported today.

The total set a January attendance record, Supt. Edward A. Hummel said. The previous high was 43,036 in January, 1951.

Class For Church School Officers And Teachers To Begin Here Sunday

The Cooperative Training School for church school officers and teachers, which will be held at Jarvis Memorial Church during the coming week, will open its first session Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with a brief worship service.

While the school is designed for church officers and teachers, it is hoped by the planning committee, headed by the Rev. W. M. Howard, Jr., that the public will take advantage of the general courses offered.

A registration fee of one dollar is being charged, and it has been requested by the committee that this amount be paid by the church from which each person comes.

Courses being offered include "Guiding Kindergarten Children in Christian Growth," taught by Miss Olive Cook, Director of Christian Education at First Methodist Church in Rocky Mount; "Teaching Primary and Junior Children in the Church School," taught by Mrs. William White of Washington, D.C., a Presbyterian authority on this subject; and "Understanding Youth" taught by the Rev. Even the bumps are smoother in the '55 Buick ride

HOTTEST BUICK IN HISTORY
 No wonder you see so many 1955 Buicks on the highways—they're rolling up bigger sales than ever in history—topping the popularity that has already made Buick one of the "Big Three."

To be honest—there are some bumps which nothing will level out completely. Yet even the real rough ones turn out a lot smoother when you're in a 1955 Buick. And that's not just our say-so. New owners of these new beauties keep telling us that. So you may wonder—how come? What's different about the Buick ride that makes it such a marvel? The answer is—plenty.

Most cars have coil springs on front wheels only. Buick has them all around—and this year they're newly calibrated for even deeper smothering of jounce and jar. So here your ride is balanced, buoyant, level, serenely smooth.

Most cars drive through the rear springs. Buick drives through a torque-tube that takes up all driving thrust, wipes out rear-wheel wiggle and wag, steadies your going to a sure and solid track.

And no other car in all America has these great comfort extras plus both direct and lever-type shock absorbers to snub after-bounce plus a special front-end geometry to stabilize "cornering" plus tubeless tires on extra-wide rims for softer, steadier riding. Surely, you owe it to yourself to try this great Buick travel, just to judge things for yourself.

You'll find it the nearest thing to velvet on wheels—and made even more so by the silkiness of record-high V8 power and the absolute smoothness of Variable Pitch Dynaflo.* Come visit us this week—for sure.

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Local Delivered Price of the 1955 Buick SPECIAL $2,343.88
 2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan, Model 48 (Illustrated)
 Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as Heater & Defroster—$81.79; Radio & Arleno—$92.50.

Reassured, No Turkeys Shot At 'Turkey Shoot'

DUNN, N. C. (AP)—Last fall the Dunn Junior Chamber of Commerce held a turkey shoot at the Four County Fair.

News of the event reached Mrs. Henry Miller of South Bend, Ind. Earlier this week Hubert Peay, Jaycee president, received a letter from Mrs. Miller in which she said:

"I read of your turkey shoot at the county fair. I have never heard of this sort of thing. Does it mean that you actually use turkeys as targets for people to shoot at? I thought this was against the law in all states. I can't believe that members of the Jaycees would indulge in anything so cruel.

"Don't you have a humane society in your town? Why don't you rattle off dressed turkeys instead?"

"Southern people wonder why people from the North call them 'hill billies', but if they are no more civilized than this it is no wonder they are called this."

Ed Boyette, Jaycee secretary, set the record straight with this reply to Mrs. Miller:

"We set up paper targets at the shoot and then shoot a round of about 12 persons. After each person has one shot we peek at the target and the person who has the gt is prised a turkey. The shot nearest the center of the target is presented a turkey."

He pointed out that the turkey "is dead and dressed before we start the shoot so he cannot possibly be hurt in participation."

As for a humane society, Boyette wrote, "We do not have a humane society in town and the main reason for this is that we do not need one. We wouldn't hurt a fly unnecessarily."

He closed with an invitation to Mrs. Miller "stop by and have a chat with us" if she is ever "down this way."

Will Soon Name Superintendent

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new superintendent of the Cherokee reservation in North Carolina will be appointed shortly, according to Rep. Shuford (D-NC).

The Interior Department said the new superintendent would live on the reservation.

The reservation has been without a superintendent since last November when Joe Jennings was transferred to the Indian Bureau here.

Shuford said he has conferred frequently with bureau officials in an effort to speed up appointment of a successor to Jennings. Shuford said he had been told the delay was caused by a desire to find the best man for the job.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE RECOMMENDATIONS MADE BY THE ZONING COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF GREENVILLE FOR THE ADOPTION OF AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE AND THE ZONE MAP OF THE CITY OF GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Pursuant to the provisions of G. S. Chapter 160, Section 175, and of Section 15 of Chapter 24 of the Code of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, public notice is hereby given that the City Council will conduct a public hearing in the Council Room of the Municipal Building in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, on March 10, 1955, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., EST, on the question of the adoption of an ordinance amending the Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map of the City of Greenville, so as to incorporate therein the following provisions as a part, or parts, of said Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map, and to repeal all provisions of the present Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map in conflict therewith. The proposed amendments to the Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map are as follows:

a. Amendment to Chapter 24, Section 2—"Home Occupations"—Any occupation or activity carried on by a member of the immediate family, residing on the premises, which use is clearly incidental and secondary to the use of the dwelling for dwelling purposes, and does not change the character thereof, and further, that not more than 20% of the floor space of the dwelling is used for the home occupation, and in connection with which there is no display, no stock in trade nor commodity sold, or offered for sale upon the premises, and no person not a resident of the premises is employed specifically in connection with the home occupation.

b. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 2—"Rear Yard"—A yard extending across the full width of a lot and being the required minimum horizontal distance between the rear lot line and the rear of the main building or any projections thereof, other than projections of uncovered steps, unenclosed balconies, or uncovered patios or porches.

c. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 5-C—"Rear Yard"—A rear yard shall be required for every main building, the depth of which shall be 10% of the average lot depth, and in no case less than 15 feet.

d. Addition to Chapter 24—(Section 2)—"Trailer"—Any vehicle house car, camp car, or any portable or movable vehicle on wheels, skids, rollers, or blocks, either self-propelled by any other means, which is used or designed to be used for residential living, sleeping, commercial or utility purposes, but not including those vehicles primarily designed for the transportation of goods.

e. Addition to Chapter 24—(Section D)—"Trailer"—Individual trailers may be used in this zone for living purposes only, provided each trailer so used must provide a front, side and rear yard as required herein, and provided further, each trailer so used before an occupancy certificate, as required by Section 11 of Chapter 23, is issued, shall have a permanent connection to the water and sewer of the City of Greenville.

f. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 9—(Section 9-B-3)—Unenclosed and uncovered stoops, porches, terraces or other structures designed and erected without walls or any type of support for a roof of any kind, may project into a required yard, provided that such structure shall not project into any required minimum front, side, or rear yard more than one-third (1-3) of the width of such required yard.

g. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 10—(Section 10-E-6)—In considering all proposed variations in this ordinance, the Board shall, before making any finding in a specified case, first determine that the proposed variation will not constitute any change in the zones shown on the zoning map and will not impair an adequate supply of light and air to adjacent property, or materially increase the public danger of fire and safety, or materially diminish or impair established property values within the surrounding area, or in any other respect impair the public health, safety, morals, and general welfare.

In granting a variance, the Board may attach thereto such conditions regarding the location, character and other features of the proposed building, structure or use as it may deem advisable in furtherance of the purposes of this ordinance.

Before a variance is granted, it shall be shown that special circumstances attached to the property which does not generally apply to other property in the neighborhood. A variance may be granted only when the peculiar difficulty or undue hardship complained of is due to the particular characteristics of the property and not to the general conditions of the neighborhood which may reflect an undue stringency of the ordinance itself. A hardship peculiar to the applicant, as distinguished from others affected by the general rule, must be shown. The fact that property may be utilized more profitably will not be considered adequate to justify the Board in granting a variance.

h. Amendment to Chapter 24, Section 2—"Definition of Front Yards"—Sentence 2 should be amended to read as follows: The depth of the front yard shall be measured between the front line of the building and the front lot line (property line).

i. Amendment to Chapter 23, Section 5-C-1 and 5-C-1a—Amended by striking out "Thirty-five feet" and substituting "Twenty-five feet"—as the required depth of front yards.

l. To incorporate within the "Residence District" the following additional areas not at present zoned: The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Forest Hills" Subdivision. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Elmhurst." Addition No. 3. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Englewood" Subdivision. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as the "Coghill Subdivision," and the "Coghill Subdivision, Addition."

All parties in interest and citizens are urged to attend said hearing and will have an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the City Council. H. H. DUNCAN, City Clerk. Feb. 10-17

Sailor's Girl Is Waiting, But He Has Been Warned

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—There's a pretty young girl from London waiting on a hill country ranch for a Texas sailor who vows he's going to woo and win her for a bride.

The sailor, Lloyd Parker, met Maureen Toose, 19, of Arundel, Sussex, on shore leave at Portsmouth, England, last year.

But he was going to sea in a few days, and he didn't have time to court the vivacious young model.

So he begged her to come visit his sister on the ranch in south central Texas until he is discharged this December. Then, he promised, he'd try to convince her she should marry him.

Maureen, the daughter of a retired British army captain, finally agreed—after a long exchange of letters from all parties.

"But we aren't actually engaged," she said of Parker. "In fact, we've had only a very few dates."

"I've been here since November of last year. I'm going to definitely stay on the ranch until Lloyd comes home."

Does she think she'll marry him? "Well," she laughed, "he has a chance."

Parker, on duty in Cuba, telephones his sister Mrs. Ruth Leclaire frequently.

"You'd better hurry, boy," his sister told him on his last call. "These hill country cowpokes keep dropping in for visits on the filamiest excuses."

New Winterville Truck Expected By Next Week

WINTERVILLE—At the Winterville Town Commissioners meeting Monday night, Mayor Burney Tucker announced that the street department truck recently purchased is expected to be delivered next week.

The Board of Town Commissioners at its last meeting, purchased a Chevrolet truck from the S. and E. Motor Service in Ayden. The North Carolina Equipment Company of Greenville is to install the truck body.

The new water softener equipment installed last year is giving satisfaction.

Members of the board are Walter A. Dail, A. D. McLawhorn Jr., and Ronnie Mallison. T. E. Cannon is town clerk.

City Retreats In Pigeon Campaign

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Several weeks ago the City Council ordered the Health Department to exterminate by whatever means necessary the flocks of pigeons that have been plaguing downtown Akron.

Shoot them, trap them, gas them, ordered the Council.

But after criticism from the Audubon Society and other bird lovers, the Council this week rescinded its previous order and passed another ordinance which simply declares pigeons are a "common nuisance."

Maybe the pigeons will be insulated and go away, the Council said.

Optimistic Over Chances In 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—Paul M. Butler, new Democratic national chairman, thinks his party's chances of winning the presidency and retaining control of Congress in 1956 "look exceedingly good."

After a "get acquainted" meeting with 25 Democratic senators yesterday, Butler said:

"I think the people will be behind us because they want government in the interest of the general public instead of government in the interest of social interests that the Republicans are giving them."

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Wednesday, Judge H. W. Wiedbee disposed of 10 of them involving traffic violations.

In the case of Jack Woods, Negro of Winterville, who was charged with driving carelessly and recklessly, the court issued a not pros with leave.

Dennis Williams, of Kinston, failure to yield right of way, prayer for judgment was continued on payment of court costs.

Driving drunk: Nathaniel Clements, Negro, 414 West Third Street, who is charged with driving drunk and driving without an operator's license, was called and he failed to answer. Solicitor Eli Bloom ordered a capias instantler issued for him. Curtis B. Clark, 507 West Fifth Street, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $100 and costs, and the court recommended that his operator's license be revoked for a year. For resisting arrest by Policemen W. R. Eiks and K. E. Warren, the court combined this charge with the driving drunk case.

Alex Lord, of Farmville, drunk, 30 days or pay $10.

James N. Darden, Negro, 905 Taylor Street, who is charged with murder in connection with the death of his stepfather, Richmond Langley, waived preliminary hearing. The case was sent to Superior Court.

Failure to yield right of way: Nancy K. Crouse of Lexington, and John B. Oakley, 1225 Washington Street, the court issued a not pros in both cases. Frances H. Sigmom, 300 Elm Street, and John L. Wooten, 403 Maple Street, both cases not prosred.

J. E. Biggs of Newport News Va., assault on a female, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of costs. The judgment also provides that he is to remain of good behavior and not violate any law or create any disturbance for two years.

Curbs, Gutters Are Discussed At Grimesland

GRIMESLAND—The Grimesland Board of Commissioners at the February meeting, discussed plans and proposals for installing curbing and gutters on the main street of the town and for the town election next spring.

It was stated that the curbing and gutter proposal is subject to cooperation of the State Highway and Public Works Department.

It is understood that the department will provide for installing paving from the present roadway to the curbs and gutters.

Mayor L. B. Whichard presided. Commissioners present were Leslie Eiks, T. R. Rouse, Elmore Hodges and Josh Ham. Mrs. Della M. Galloway is town clerk.

AYLESHAM, England (U)—Mrs. Betty White kept hearing odd noises in the bathroom of the new house she moved into five weeks ago.

Workmen called in yesterday tore up the floor and discovered a cat crouching in a cavity eight inches square.

Investigation proved the animal was a 3-year-old pedigreed Persian named Tommy belonging to the next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William Reed.

"Tommy must have crept in while the house was being built and got nailed in," said Mrs. Reed.

Police yesterday issued a total of 24 warrants charging four Negro men with larceny of 6,000 pounds of soy beans.

Little Change In Drought Report

WASHINGTON (U)—There was no broad improvement during January in the drought existing over much of the nation, the Geological Survey said today.

Its monthly water resources review said, "To an unusual extent there was little change in stream flow and ground water levels during the month."

Ground water levels generally were below average throughout the west and at or near record-low levels in most of the southern half of the country.

In Washington state, a sample measurement showed water content 40 per cent less than normal. Flow of Little Colorado River was at a record low for January in Arizona.

Stream flow was below normal in Illinois, Arkansas, northern Louisiana, Texas, eastern Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina Georgia, northern Florida, southern Alabama southern Mississippi and Tennessee.

Motorist Guides Plane In Distress

MILES CITY, Mont. (U)—A veteran B17 bomber pilot on a mercy flight ran into foul weather and trouble, but a motorist below saved the day. Using his car's headlights, he guided the air ambulance onto the highway.

The patient was Kenneth (Buz) Chamberlaine 36, injured Monday when a horse fell on him. Dr. Robert Curry and pilot Jim Shennum late Tuesday loaded Chamberlaine on a plane at Scooby to bring him to Veterans Administration hospital here.

They ran into soupy overcast near Glendive. The ceiling lowered to less than 500 feet. Shennum spotted the highway and buzzed it.

Motorist Pep Wapfel realized the trouble and pulled his car around. Its headlights guided the plane down onto the highway. Another motorist, James Cuber, of Rosebud, took the party on to the hospital.

Communists Look For Gains In India Election

MADRAS, India (U)—Communists hope to win control of one of India's 29 states in elections starting tomorrow. They have at least a chance to do so.

The polling in Andhra state will take place in different sections over a 17-day period. Counting of ballots is due to start March 1.

Opposing the Communists is Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party.

Congressmen and Communists have been battling right down the line, each pouring money and energy into the electoral fight. National political figures, movie stars, parades, torchlight marches, street-corner rallies and mass public meetings have marked the campaign.

Nehru made a two-day speaking tour and was followed by the Congress' president, U. Dhebar. There is considerable difference of opinion as to how valuable Dhebar and Nehru were, but there is general agreement that fiery S. K. Patil, the chief Congress politico in Bombay state, proved an asset.

Nehru entered the fray with the Andhra Congress organization split, somewhat demoralized and fighting the Reds with its back to the wall. His political enthusiasm apparently sparked a real Congress comeback.

The Reds also have thrown nationally known figures into the campaign. Oxford-trained Prof. Hiren Mukherjee and Ajoy Ghosh, India's top Red, have stumped the state.

The Communists are relying heavily on a "grass roots," door-to-door campaign. Bicycling from village to village, youthful Reds are chatting intimately with poverty-stricken Andhra peasants and promising them all the land they'll need.

The primary issues are social and economic, with each party promising to bring much-needed reforms to Andhra, one of India's poorest states.
