Dr. E. R. Browning gave the club a most interesting talk on his and Mrs. Browning's native state, West Virginia. Since 1881, the state has led in coal production, 65 per cent of the land is covered by wood, ranks one-fifth in nation of natural gas, has valuable salt beds and clay and sand of which fine china, pottery and glass are made. Agriculture is very good and West Virginia is called the land of plenty. It is well known for the "Delicious and Grimes Golden" apples produced there.

Mrs. Howard McGinnis told of her two hobbies. From the time she was a child and until after she was married she lived in Illinois and West Virginia and became very fond of ice skating. Now she enjoys reading. Mrs. W. E. Marshall concluded the program with the new word acronym in her word study.

Mrs. Vincent gave a most informative talk on "Public Services of Pitt County Welfare Department." Mimeographed sheets listing the financial and non-financial services from county funds were distributed to the members to be read as Mrs. Vincent pinpointed the most important services rendered in the past.

Due to the lack of facilities in Pitt County the Welfare Department has to investigate problems normally the work of the Traveler's Aid Society and the Domestic Relations Court in larger cities. Mrs. Vincent mentioned two services, the Crippled Children's Section of the State Board of Health and the County Home, which she thought would be excellent group projects. She also added her thanks to the Junior Womens Club for their support through the Watson Memorial Fund. Eligibility for welfare aid, Mrs. Vincent explained, depended on the need plus the lack of ability to obtain resources.

In closing Mrs. Vincent asked special help from all clubs for the following: (1) better industry and better housing in Greenville (2) a Mental Health Clinic to accommodate the alcoholics who need treatment (3) better education to raise the standards of the adults of tomorrow.

Tobacco Tax Must Be Defeated

Tobacco farmers who appeared before the Joint Finance Committee in Raleigh today left no doubt in the minds of legislators that they are bitterly opposed to the recommended tax on cigarettes and tobacco products.

Heretofore North Carolina has refused to levy a special tax on its principal agricultural crop which accounts for more than half the total value of the 11 principal crops raised on the farms of the state. To levy a special tax now on tobacco products would, in our opinion, launch the state on a program of diminishing returns in revenues realized directly and indirectly from the widespread tobacco industry in North Carolina.

Should the principal tobacco-producing state in the nation levy a special tax on tobacco, it would open the flood gates for other states to levy new and higher taxes on cigarettes and other tobacco products. More taxes very realistically could reduce the consumer demand for tobacco products, and that in turn could deal a severe blow to North Carolina's economy.

The adverse reaction would not only hit farmers who depend heavily upon tobacco for their income, but it would likewise curtail the operations of the tobacco manufacturing industry which employs literally thousands of people throughout the state. It could produce a chain reaction which would begin with farmers who would have to reduce their tobacco production, and follow through with processing, storage, transportation—and state revenues from these sources—being seriously affected by the tobacco tax.

When a special tax on tobacco was first mentioned, The Reflector voiced its strenuous objection to the measure. We still are convinced that the measure is a short sighted attempt to supplement state revenues. In the long run it would deal a severe blow to an important segment of North Carolina's economic life, and that in turn would cause a loss in state revenue much greater than could possibly be gained from the direct tax on tobacco products.

North Carolina needs more revenue, but it cannot afford to get this needed revenue by legislation which will imperil an important part of the basic economy of the state.

School Buses Should Have Basic Emergency Gear

Would you be enthusiastic about your youngster traveling on a commercial bus every day if you knew the bus did not have either a fire extinguisher or a first aid kit for use in emergencies?

You probably would not be at all enthusiastic about the idea.

Yet school buses in North Carolina which transport hundreds of thousands of school children every day do not have that equipment. The bill introduced in the Senate by Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville to require each school bus to carry a fire extinguisher and a first aid kit is a sound measure which should be passed by the legislature.

Officials have estimated it will cost at least $72,000 to provide these two items for the 7,200 school buses which operate in North Carolina, but it appears to us a nominal outlay for the protection of youngsters.

In Pitt County alone some 7,200 children ride buses to and from school every day. The buses which transport these children do not carry first aid kits in case a child is injured enroute, nor do they carry fire extinguishers which could be used if a blaze suddenly started in the bus.

Fortunately, the safety records of school buses in Pitt County and throughout the state is excellent. But common sense demands that these two simple items of emergency equipment should be carried by the vehicles which daily carry children to and from school.

Uncle Sam Cashing In On Bond Chain Letter

We seriously doubt the current pyramid bond chain letter going around was instigated by the Treasury Department, but it's about the best sales promotion for government bonds we can remember.

A number of banks throughout North Carolina where the bond chain letters have been circulating for several weeks have reported sharp increases in the sale of federal savings bonds—particularly the $25 bonds which are used in this latest chain letter fad. At least one bank we know of in Pitt County sold out of all the bonds it had and found it necessary to order more to keep up with the brisk demand.

The persons who thought up the idea of the bond chain probably had in mind feathering their own nest rather than stimulating the sales of government savings bonds. We don't know whether the originators of the scheme have received the $38,400 they figured the unbroken chain was worth; but they have certainly sent bond sales soaring.

Some folks who have kept the chain going will realize a profit on their investment while others, sooner or later, will lose. Meanwhile, Uncle Sam is getting the use of a lot of loose money for at least a brief period.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
DO WE EVER LEARN?

Why do we behave as we do? Sometimes if we have made a big mistake, we look back and wonder how we could have been so lacking in intelligence and good judgment.

All about us we see nations making the same mistake over and over again. While history never repeats itself in detail, it does repeat itself in general pattern. Almost every mistake being made in the 20th century can be shown to have been made in some form in the 19th, the 18th, or the 17th. We win a war at the cost of hundreds of thousands of lives, and then within a few months we fall right into the old mistakes which brought on the war just concluded. We pour out endless treasure and shed the blood of regiments of men, and then turn around and utterly disregard the objectives for which we fought.

It is amazing the extent to which we can be fooled, as nations and as individuals. Satan plays a trick on us and we are schemed; but a few days, a few months, a few years pass, and he plays the same trick on us again. We appear to have learned nothing from our former pain and discomfort. Sometimes we wonder whether humanity can learn anything.

George Bernard Shaw once remarked that there must be people on the other planets because somebody is using our planet as an insane asylum.

Strange Pork-Barrel Dispute

WASHINGTON—Pork barrel brawl involving President Eisenhower, the United States Steel Corporation and Pennsylvania Republicans has boiled up fresh behind the scenes on Capitol Hill. It is one of the strangest politico-economic quarrels in several years, with like backing normally GOP-ish "big interests."

It concerns a new chapter in the story of the proposed deepening of the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton. Over the Pennsylvania's protests, the President and Budget Bureau insist that "local interests" pay $18,000,000 of the total $91,000,000 cost. Otherwise, they will oppose the project.

LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO PROJECT—Like tried to explain and justify his stand at a recent press conference, but he was obviously unfamiliar with all the facts. He declared that whenever internal improvements benefited a certain area, the regional interests, public and private, should pay a percentage of the costs.

His insistence on local contributions has been interpreted as laying down an entirely new theory for financing major Federal projects. In the past, the government has paid for them on the theory that what helped one large area strengthened the national economy, and, therefore, was a legitimate Federal charge.

SENATOR'S PRONOUNCEMENT—It is true that the Army Engineers, who run a determined lobby at Washington, have frequently persuaded local interests to kick in for dredging rivers and harbors, or beautifying the waterfront. But Ike's pronouncement made it appear that he was enunciating a new and general policy on a national level. In fact, he did declare that his formula for the Delaware improvement should be applied to all Federal undertakings.

Pennsylvania Republicans, industries, newspapers and civic groups raised a howl of protests. FACTS OF MATTER—The President did not know—or divulge—all the facts in the controversy, which are these: When the Delaware deepening was first proposed, the program contemplated only a 35-foot channel. But when U. S. Steel built the new Fairless Plant at Morrisville, Pa., it found that its ore-carrying vessels required a 40-foot depth. The addition cost for U. S. Steel's extra five feet depth amounted to $18,000,000. In demanding that "local interests" contribute this amount, neither Eisenhower nor the Budget Bureau have identified the corporation's special interest fully and frankly.

DEMANDS GOVERNMENT FINANCE EXTRA DEPTH—The House Public Works Committee agreed with Eisenhower. Representative John J. Dempsey, New Mexico Democrat, and Representative George A. Dondero, Republican of Michigan, former committee chairman, led the fight for a U. S. Steel contribution of $18,000,000. The measure passed the House with that provision.

But the chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee is Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania. When House and Senate conference committees met to iron out the anti-Steel House measure and the pro-Steel Senate enactment, Martin demanded that the government finance the extra depth. Otherwise, he said, there would be no omnibus, pork barrel, rivers and harbors legislation at this session.

SENATOR'S MANEUVER WORKED—Since 42 other states had regional and beneficial projects in the popular omnibus measure, Martin's holdup maneuver worked. House and Senate passed it as he wanted it, and forwarded it to the White House for approval.

But the Public Works Bill amounts to only an authorization for the Delaware deepening. It carries no money. Opponents are now buttonholing members of the House Appropriations Committee, especially Chairman Clarence Cannon, and begging them to knock out any funds for U. S. Steel's extra five feet. It is recalled, ironically, that last year this erstwhile Republican Gibraltar elected a Democratic Governor.

Baby-Sitters Are Interesting

Baby sitters are interesting people.

Most married couples with children have several lined up if they ever hope to go anywhere. And logically speaking, the best thing to do is find one who lives nearby. But if you can't find such a sitter you'll get an education conversing with the sitter to and from home. We most frequently get Nuria Mayo. If you read this and try to steal her from us consider yourself warned that such an act is grounds for murder.

In transit to and from the house Nuria almost always discusses her activities as a student at East Carolina. So far our discussions are limited to the curricular activities and not to campusology. Since I went to school over there two summers and one fall term we often discuss the professors, comparing notes on our opinions.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

IT MAY BE LEGAL, BUT IT ISN'T MORAL! (Kinston Free Press)

The current savings bond chain, which has swept most of the State and reportedly was initiated some months ago in Tennessee, has created a temporary shortage of savings bonds for sale here.

The plan is based on the ever-present desire of many people to get something for nothing, and on the fact that it requires shrewd salesmanship to keep it going. A man sells two persons to start with and says he has lost nothing, because even if he gets no more back then he is even. But the theory is that so long as the chain is moving, each individual stands to gain a large number of bonds when his or her name rises to the top of the list.

Two things are not emphasized by the promoters of this immoral scheme to get something for nothing. First what is to prevent the late-comers from becoming discouraged and permitting the whole scheme to flop? Secondly and far more important, what is to keep some of the shrewd promoters from distributing far more letters and lists with his name at the top than the original scheme calls for? In other words, some who are in to keep some of the potential bonanza and can't wait back and wait for the normal order of things, might be tempted to hasten the process and jeopardize the whole plan.

The scheme is defended by many on the grounds that regardless of the outcome, the Government will gain tremendously in bond sales, and that is no doubt true. But there is something morally wrong with a scheme that encourages some Americans to waste their money by buying their saving bonds.

The next phase of the program her senior year came she decided to stop working, slack off slightly on the scholastics and live it up a little. Now she's having dates and the time of her life. What does the professor think about it? He thinks that it's unfortunate that some students come to college for the single purpose of studying campusology. But on the other hand he thinks that every student should include that course in the curriculum. In the case of this particular girl, he hated to lose good office help but was glad that she did start to enjoy life more.

Started on baby sitters and ended up at EOC. Pardon the rattling. Just goes to show you that if your baby sitter lives far enough away it leads to something to talk about. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

SALES TAX — Opinion grows among observers of legislative doings that the legislative session of the General Assembly and the dangdest campaign for Governor in twenty years. The present situation is frequently compared to that prevailing in 1933. It is perhaps more analogous to 1935.

Original imposition of the general sales tax in 1933 was reluctantly approved as an "emergency measure" under the plea that it was necessary to save the public schools and to protect home owners from tragedy. Hardly prolonged as was the fight, it was not so bitter as the 1935 fight on the question of abandoning or continuing the sales levy. There is no question now of abandoning it, in fact there has not been serious question on that score since 1935.

The current proposal to greatly extend its coverage and enlarge its scope as a substitute for specific item sales taxes at much higher rates, and to further assure that no property taxes will be levied for State purposes, has many of the same elements that featured the 1933 legislative war.

Going a bit farther back it is recalled that the scrap over a luxury sales tax in 1931 pretty well set the pattern for the gubernatorial campaign in 1932. When middle-roader A.J. Maxwell was eliminated in the first primary and close run-off resulted in nomination of J.C.B. Ehringhaus over Richard T. Fountain. Ehringhaus commitments to preserve the integrity of the State's credit as well as the public schools necessitated his agreement to a sales levy in 1933.

Repercussions were heard in the 1934 legislative elections, and when the 1935 session convened the lines were drawn. Perhaps a majority of the membership in the General Assembly opposed continuing the sales tax, but there was complete absence of leadership or co-ordination of the anti-sales tax forces. The administration group was pretty tightly knit, with Victor Bryant of Durham leading the appropriations committee and Gregg Cherry of Gaston as chairman of finance.

ANALOGOUS — That legislature, like its successor 20 years later, failed to develop opposition leadership for several weeks, but there was a feeling that the forces presumed to be in charge were not clicking as they ought. Then a freshman representative from Forsyth county named Ralph McDonald began to move into the limelight, with expert guidance from Rep. Willie Lee Lumpkin of Franklin, who although only 32 at the time was serving his fourth consecutive term in the House, and others who opposed the sales tax. That session ran well into May, and the sales tax was retained—but the stage was set for the 1936 political event which is still cited as the outstanding battle of the century.

Ralph McDonald, western born college professor who had been completely unknown two years before, with Willie Lee Lumpkin as his campaign manager, almost literally "set the woods afire" in his appeal for the little people, the poor folks, the folks who were having their bread and baby medicine taxed to relieve the rich from paying their share of government expenses.

The cast of characters will be different now and next year, but the essential issues are much the same. Ralph McDonald has moved out of the State; Clyde Hoey, who defeated him for Governor in 1936, has since served long and well in the U.S. Senate and died last year. Willie Lee Lumpkin is no longer counted among the wild young bulls of the woods. New names are represented in the administration leadership, and as of now there are no recognized leaders of the opposition idea.

There are perhaps a dozen members of the present Legislature any one of whom might move into prominence as the situation unfolds, if it continues to follow the 1935 pattern. The interesting fact is that chances are about even for such parallel development or for the whole thing to turn out to be a dud.

IMBALANCE — J.A. Hackney Sr. of Washington, who has long been acting in promoting water commerce for the area, has come up with some observations about what is wrong with the present economic situation. One item is that although the Federal government allocated one billion dollars to rivers and harbors, North Carolina got less than one-tenth of one percent of the funds—despite our extended coast line and inland waters.

The Beaufort industrialist also notes that North Carolina's distressingly low place in the income scale is not due so much to lack of resources as failure to

Sag In 'Fair Trade'

By ELMER ROESSNER

The fortunes of "fair trade" have seldom been as low as they are today. The constitutionality of laws under which manufacturers can fix the retail prices of trademarked products has been challenged in several states. The rise of discount houses has had broad effects, and other stores are meeting their competition.

Many department stores have dropped lines being exploited by price cutters others are meeting discount house prices. A Venice, Calif., furniture store offers goods at regular and discount prices; if the buyer chooses the discount price she doesn't get return privileges.

Retailers—at least as far as the National Retail Dry Goods Association is concerned—are evenly divided on whether "fair trade" prices should be maintained. It took two polls, and both came out so nearly even that action one way or another would have split the organization itself.

This led to an almost unique statement issued by the Association last week. It consisted of excerpts of remarks made by William Burston, manager of the Association's merchandising division, before a National Association of Wholesalers meeting.

He said that manufacturers had the right to fair-trade their products or not, as they saw fit, but if they did, it was up to them to make the prices stick.

Then: "When and where retailers are convinced that manufacturers are incapable of or unwilling to enforce their agreements with reasonable efficiency, the retailers reserve their time-honored right to meet competition, fair trade law or no."

"It is evident each day that more and more retailers across the country are now exercising this time-honored right. Each continues to act individually. None wishes to break the law, but none will permit competition to undersell him just because there is a law."

That's a ringing declaration. Sort of takes one back to the days of prohibition, when people publicly declared then that they would not be bound by laws they thought unfair.

"TIME FOR SELVES" FAILS TO SELL WIVES

Researchers for the National Lumber Manufacturers Association have found out that the best way to sell labor-saving features in the home is to persuade the little woman that they will help her do a better job of serving her family.

Women, they found resist the appeal that the feature will give them more time for themselves. That gives them a guilt complex, the Association says.

Even if the Association is confused over what a complex is, the basic finding may be useful for appliance, hardware and other dealers in time-saving devices. MACHINE "HEARS" DEFECTS UP TO 125 FEET

A machine that can test materials, machines and components through as much as 125 feet of material or find tiny defects as close as 0.05 inches to the surface has been demonstrated at Danbury, Conn. (by Sperry Products, Inc.). It locates defects by bouncing ultrasonic waves through the material to be inspected. It's low-priced, if you consider $9,700 low.

HONESTY IN DIRECT SELLING DEMANDED

A move to place door-to-door and club-plan selling on a higher ethical basis has been taken by the National Association of Direct Selling Companies, representing 230 firms in the field.

In a policy statement, it calls on salesmen to give truthful descriptions of products and clear statements as to terms. "Honesty is required in the approach to a sale, and courtesy to a prospective customer, and consideration of his needs are prime essentials of all selling."

Surfeit Of Stray Dogs And Cats

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A new humane movement in America has as its goal planned parenthood for animals.

We are a cat-and-dog-loving people. No country spends more money in the care and feeding of its pets. Probably no other country has as many animal hospitals—or cemeteries for pets.

Yet still more than two million unloved, homeless animals must be put to death each year in dog pounds and animal shelters. Here is the reason, as given by Helen Jones, educational activities director of the newly organized National Humane Society.

"There are some 49 million dogs and cats in American homes, and the number increases about 5 per cent each year. But there are also at least 15 million homeless dogs and 25 million homeless cats and they are increasing even more rapidly."

"These stray unloved animals are smothering and bankrupting the nation's humane societies and municipal pounds."

"At present they must be put to death. The tragic killing must continue while the surplus continues. But the humane movement must begin to prevent the breeding of unwanted animals instead of merely killing, killing, endlessly killing."

Miss Jones believes few people realize the scope of the problem because they seldom see the suffering endured by abandoned animals. She spoke bitterly of pet owners who drive out on the highway to dump unwanted puppies or kittens.

"They don't realize that animals brought home as domesticated by mankind cannot revert to the wild state and live off the land," she said.

"Some do, of course. Frequently humane societies receive reports of so-called 'wild' animals seen at the outskirts of woods. These animals often turn out to be full grown dogs, choking to death from collars placed on them when they were puppies.

"But most of the castoff animals die as a result of hunger disease or bad weather."

The new humane society blames the situation largely on irresponsible pet owners. It plans a national campaign to induce them to avoid overbreeding their animals.

"This isn't just emotionalism," said Miss Jones. "We've reached a saturation point in homeless animals."

"Can't existing humane societies do the job? Miss Jones doesn't think so."

"Today there are fewer than 700 humane organizations in the entire United States," she said. "They operate largely on a local basis, and most of them are concentrated on the East and West Coast."

"At least 2,970 communities need organized humane work. It has become a national problem."

The new NHS will cooperate with the SPCA and other groups in the field, she said, but will operate its own separate animal shelters. The society doesn't oppose vivisection, but will refuse to turn over animals from its own shelters to scientific laboratories.

"We feel that anyone who turns an unwanted animal over to us has the right to know that it either will be placed in a new home or given a painless death," said Miss Jones.

Other NHS goals: To see that laboratory animals are properly cared for and subjected to no unnecessary cruelty. To improve the slaughtering methods of the half billion meat animals annually butchered in America each year.

A constructive example of what the society favors: one midwest packing company now uses an immobilizer filled with carbon dioxide to render hogs unconscious before they are shackled, knifed and bled.

Youngsters Tell Police Of Playing With Matches And Subsequent Fire

Two children, ages 7 and 9, gave their story to police yesterday about how a hurricane-damaged building at Memorial Drive and Stantonburg Road burned to the ground earlier in the month.

They told police that the younger boy secured matches from his home. Then "they made a fire"; the fire spread in the grass and finally got away from them.

Police quoted the boys as stating that "they tried to put it (the fire) out but could not, so they ran home."

At the time of the fire two men working near the burning house reported to police that they had seen two small boys run away from the scene and suspected them of setting the fire.

Since the boys are juveniles, any action in the case would come through the welfare department.

Mrs. E. G. Anderson, hostess, served bridal cakes at one end of the table while Mrs. Hugh Roberson served ice cream in fancy wedding bell and slipper shapes from the other end. Nuts and mints were also served. Miss Jeanne Taylor rendered several numbers at the piano, accompanied by Miss Frances Smith, vocalist.

Church Census Appears 89 Percent Complete

Greenville's church census appears to be approximately 89 percent complete today. Census Committee chairman the Rev. L. Grady Burgess said this morning.

Though a few more workers packages are still out, he said most of the cards have already been completed.

A total of 2,296 of the 2,582 homes have been reported, leaving 286 homes not yet listed. Figures show 8,044 names have been listed, giving an average of 2.5 persons per family.

Rev. Burgess stated that because of the many figures to be handled there is a possibility of duplication or oversight, "but these figures are relatively accurate."

Nineteen denominations have been listed in the census, with 302 persons designating no preference. There are 77 listed in the miscellaneous category.

Denominational preferences are Methodists, 1,733; Free Will Baptist, 1,419; Missionary Baptist, 1,315; Presbyterian, 826; Christian Disciples, 762; Episcopal, 465; Pentecostal Holiness, 363; Church of God, 224; Roman Catholic, 142; Salvation Army, 82; Church of Christ, 72; Primitive Baptist, 58; Jehovah's Witnesses, 38; Seventh Day Advent, 37; Christian Advent, 33; Lutheran, 19; Christian Scientist, 19; Greek Orthodox, 14; and Jews, 7.

A church census is also being taken by Negro workers in their areas of the city, and the Rev. J. A. Nimmo, president of the Greenville Minister's Alliance, reports that as of yesterday 2,500 homes have been contacted with 4,125 names listed. More complete figures on this survey will be available later.

Dean Jenkins Stakes Future On Children

It is the young people who are going to rescue America and bring Christianity to the fore, and parents must provide the proper influence now in order to set their course, according to Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, Dean of East Carolina College, who spoke last night to the Men's Fellowship Club of the First Presbyterian Church.

We can make this a better world for young people by observing five rules, he added: (1) Decide that they are going to have faith in God by countering their childish dislikes and disillusionments. (2) Aid them in finding a fitting life's work rather than forcing them to follow in their parents' footsteps and having unrealistic ambitions for them. (3) Condition them on the choice of a mate and gradually get into sex education. (4) Watch their companionship and group associations. (5) Provide them with a safety valve—a diversion, a hobby. Above all, provide a wholesome escape now, else they may later turn to unwholesome diversion for escape. "If we succeed in these five things, we shall succeed in raising our children into fine normal adults. If you reach up as high as you can," Dr. Jenkins concluded, "then God will reach down and lift you up the rest of the way."

The Rev. L. W. Topping, minister of the church, gave the devotional and pronounced the benediction.

The guest speaker was introduced by Dr. W. C. Humbert, Vice President and Program Chairman.

Forty-one members and one guest attended the supper meeting, presided over by Dr. S. R. Bartlett. The supper was served by Circle No. 5, Mrs. I. B. Koonze, Chairman.

RODENT IN COURT

talk on her experiences in the first meeting with the Ayden Chapter. She stressed love for one another and to be true to the obligation of the Order.

After the introduction of the District Deputies, Mrs. Raye D. Bissette and Elbert L. Davidson, they were invited to the East and each gave interesting talks.

Following the business session the chapter was dismissed with the closing march of the officers.

NATURAL AS THE CROPS YOU GROW

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the crops in your fields, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

- * Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.
- * Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.
- * Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve—no waiting for rain. Fast, effective action.
- * Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone—an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.
- * Sodium supplements potash—when necessary, substitutes for it—reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.
- * Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.
- * Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth—it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

Line-Ups Named For Football Tests

Head Football Coach Jack Boons today announced the starting line-ups and squad rosters for the annual Purple and Gold intra-squad game to be played here Saturday afternoon.

Overall, the Purple team will have a weight and experience advantage. They have three regulars from last season in Lou Hallow at center, Harold O'Kelly at fullback, although he didn't start several games near the end, and Edward (Emo) Boado, at halfback.

Cherry To Play
Probably the most profound edge the Purple eleven will have is quarterback Dick Cherry. Returning to grid wars after laying out the entire season in 1954 with a broken foot, the adroit Little All-

The Purple line will consist of Bill Helms and Ray Pennington, ends; Jerry Brooks and Ray Overton, tackles; Dick Monds and Paul Popov, guards; and Hallow at center.

Brooks Tough
Helms has been outstanding in winter rehearsals and appears destined for starting duty next fall. Brooks and Monds are freshman but veteran gridgers. The former weighs 230 and is a terrific charger.

RAY OVERTON
... at tackle

America candidate appears to still possess properties that win him an All-State berth his sophomore year.

How he can stand up under fire after his injury will be determined here Saturday afternoon. Cherry could be the cog that was missing last season, and with his return stock that ECC will field a North State contender next season shoots up very high.

O'Kelly was the Bucs' leading ground-gainer last season, having a 6.5 rushing average. Boado was high in all departments, including running, pass-catching and punt returns. The fourth man in the Pur-

Good Reserves
As first-call reserves will be Bill James, a transfer from Wake Forest, Harry Rainey, a junior trotter, Fred Scott and Johnny Warren, a couple of freshman halfbacks, Eddie Dennis, an excellent kicker, and

CHARLIE SMITH

WAVERLY CHESSON

Monds is very strong and blocks well. Popov is almost a shoe-in for a starting guard spot and, of course, All-Conference Hallow has center fortified.

Substitutions in line will include Don Larimore and Tim Kermon, guards; and Bill Cain, Pinky Young and Bob Conway, ends. Cain, a small but deft pass-catcher, is sent easily bidding for starting time next season. A speedy man, he is very dangerous on long passes.

HARRY RAINEY
... on call

Student coaches for the Purple team are John (Topsy) Hayes and George Tucker. Trainers are James Stanley and Boyd Webb.

Fresh Predominate
The Gold team will be predominated by freshmen with just enough sprinkling of veterans to make it a powerful unit. The first string backfield contains Gary Mattocks, quarterback; Bob Gay and Bob Perry, halfbacks; and Bob Maynard, fullback.

Mattocks is the talk of the camp the two-head sophomore is a slick ball-handler and marksman passer. He is currently running behind Cherry as the tentative starting QB, having ousted Milton Collier, a senior and starter a lot last season.

Big Line
The Gold forward wall will be weighty and tough. J. D. Bradford, regular end last season, and Tommy Wegsner, a promising newcomer, open at the terminals. Charlie Smith, 230-pounder, is a rough customer in any league and is high in contention for a starting berth. Chester Rogerson, 230 pounds to the ounce, teams with Smith to clog the

Collegians Try Pro Cage Rules
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball gives the pro rules another workout tonight with Manhattan and New York University scheduled to operate under the offensively styled NBA regulations at Madison Square Garden.

Coaches from the Atlantic Coast states have been invited to watch. Some form of the pro rules may very well be incorporated in the college game next season since the college rules committee already has shown interest. But a blanket adoption is considered unlikely.

The rules to be in use tonight are:
1. A 24-second time limit on field goal attempts.
2. Elimination of the controversial college one-and-one bonus rule which gives a player a second shot for sinking his first free throw.
3. Elimination of the zone defense.

4. Widening of the 6-foot college foul lane to 12 feet with the defending team occupying the two inside positions on foul throws.
5. Elimination of the collegiate automatic two foul shots for a rules infraction in the final 3 minutes.
6. Two foul shots for baccourt infractions, and two shots for every foul over five committed by a team in any one period.

Hayle was high for Vanceboro and the game with 15 points. McLawn contributed nine.

The game was nip-and-tuck in the first half, Farmville was behind at 17-18. They scored 15 points in the third period, though while Vanceboro could get only seven. They held on the rest of the way.

Collegians Try Pro Cage Rules
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball gives the pro rules another workout tonight with Manhattan and New York University scheduled to operate under the offensively styled NBA regulations at Madison Square Garden.

Coaches from the Atlantic Coast states have been invited to watch. Some form of the pro rules may very well be incorporated in the college game next season since the college rules committee already has shown interest. But a blanket adoption is considered unlikely.

The rules to be in use tonight are:
1. A 24-second time limit on field goal attempts.
2. Elimination of the controversial college one-and-one bonus rule which gives a player a second shot for sinking his first free throw.
3. Elimination of the zone defense.

4. Widening of the 6-foot college foul lane to 12 feet with the defending team occupying the two inside positions on foul throws.
5. Elimination of the collegiate automatic two foul shots for a rules infraction in the final 3 minutes.
6. Two foul shots for baccourt infractions, and two shots for every foul over five committed by a team in any one period.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Greensboro will stage the affair. # Greenville's Semi-Pro Baseball Club Discusses Plans For Coming Season

Greenville's semi-pro baseball club had a meeting last night with plans for the coming season heading the discussion.

Pete Carraway, who has been named field manager of the Greenville club, reported that the semi-pro organization would not be able to get any help from the local recreation department on lights and such for the park. Carraway said that there were several influential men around town who would help out in the expenses of operating such a club, however. Guy Smith Stadium would have to be fixed up for play again. At the present the stadium is divided into a Pony League field and a softball field. The fence in left-field has been removed. The semi-pro team would use the field in the same location that it used to be, with home plate right in between the main grandstand. A lights will have to be adjusted. They are the major problems in the club's way at the present.

So far the Greenville team has all of the uniforms and all of the catching equipment needed for a semi-pro team. They were purchased earlier in the year. Greenville will be entering the Bright Belt League this summer, taking the place of Winterville. Jasper Tripp of Greenville has been named temporary president of the league. So far there are seven teams in the league and a number of other towns have written the Greenville executives about entering the league in the 1955 season. One more town will be selected before the start of the regular playing season, which should be around the last of April.

The next meeting for the Greenville baseballers will be March 1 when a full crowd is expected. The meeting will be in the Sandwich King Restaurant again. Any one interested in aiding the team or just interested in the team, is invited to attend the meeting. On March 15 they will be a Bright Belt League meeting of all the teams who would like to gain entrance in the league in 1955 and all of the old members of the league. Plans will be drawn up and the other team will probably be decided at this meeting.

Olson Seeks Big Game After His Defeat Of Jones

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
MIDDLEWICH (AP)—Middleweight champion Bobo Olson, after slicing up Ralph (Tiger) Jones, is going big game hunting.

His first quarry will be heavyweight Joe Maxim, former light heavyweight champion, at San Francisco April 13.

Maxim, who should shed 21 pounds to make the 175 limit for the fight, is on a timetable that Olson's manager Sid Fishery hopes will lead to a crack at Archie Moore's light heavy title.

Olson carried the most weight of his career, 168 pounds, against Jones, 161, last night at Chicago Stadium and treated a national television audience and 6,221 ring-side customers to a masterful performance in the non-title 10-round bout.

Jones, who a month ago in the same ring defeated Sugar Ray Robinson handily, was gradually broken down by the champion's sharp, slashing counterpunches.

By the third round, the Tiger gamely trying to carry the fight until the opening bell — was bleeding from the nose.

By the fourth round, there was blood from a cut on his right eyelid. By the sixth, another gash near the same place bled profusely until the emer.

It was a gory finish. Judge Frank McAdams and Referee Frank Gilmer gave Olson all 10 rounds, the former scoring it 100-78 and the latter 100-88. Judge John Wronski said he felt stronger at 168 "but maybe I was faster at 160 and not as easy a target."

After Jones had four stitches taken over his eye, he conceded "Bobo was the toughest fighter I've ever met."

Annual Fox Hunt At Nags Head Is Early-Start
NAGS HEAD, N.C. (AP)—The seventh annual Valentine fox hunt, probably the most un-typical in the world, got underway after a betwixt-dawn breakfast here today.

There were plenty of bounds and hunters—but no horses and no red jackets.

The modern hunters used jeeps and other mechanized vehicles in the pursuit through the Nags Head woods and beaches and on Collingwood Island, west of Kill Devil Hill.

In spite of the unorthodox methods, an Oxfordian, John Ray Watkins, played the role of "master of the hunt."

In fact, the event was postponed a week in order to allow Watkins and two brothers traveling time from England.

The event will end Saturday with a country style ball.

Win Over Kinston Would Cap Climax For Farleyemen

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

A perfect climax to a perfect season would be for the Greenville Phantoms to run over the Kinston Red Devils by 20 points or so tomorrow night when the two teams meet in Kinston for the final regular season game of the year for both teams.

The Kinston team came over to Greenville several weeks ago with a big press and a lot of glory, but were easily bumped off by Coach Bo Farley's boys 71-64. Since then both teams have won the rest of their games handily and have been pointing for this final meeting.

Kinston Complained Of Court After the last loss the Red Devil supporters were complaining because of the size of the Greenville gymnasium. They said the small gym court threw their much publicized stars off since they did not have as much room to move around. That is the story every year when the Greenies defeat Kinston. Last season Kinston did the same complaining but were completely run off the court when they played the Phantoms on the huge East Carolina College court. Tomorrow night the Red Devils have a chance to retaliate and prove their complaints or remain quiet forever.

In the Greenville meeting between the two schools the Phantoms rolled off to an early lead and never trailed after the first three minutes. Harold Edwards pumped in 29 points to lead the Greenville scoring for the game.

Edwards Leads Scoring Kinston will be meeting the highest scoring team in the state in the Phantoms who are averaging right at 79 points per game in all activity and 83 points in conference games. Harold Edwards, the 6-3 center, is the leading scorer in the conference and will spark the Greenville attack for the game. Edwards is averaging right at 20 points for conference games. Bob Howell, who has come around of late to rack up many points, is averaging close to 17 points per game.

The Greenies have an abundance of scorers. Ednor Moore, the basket-firing senior forward, has been playing the best basketball of his career in the past few weeks and will be a major item in the game. Pat Sawyer and Ike Riddick are the two fine guards for the Phantoms. Riddick is the best ball stealer on the squad and looked very impressive in the other Kinston game. Clark Noble and Tommie Saled will be the chief Greenville subs. Noble has been scoring points right and left in the last two games with 38 points for an average of 19 points per game in the last two contests. Saled is an expert outside shot who is about ripe for

Lull In ACC Basketball Presages Big 'Storm'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
THERE'S A LULL in the Atlantic Coast Conference tonight as if indicative of Saturday night's approaching storm between Maryland and N.C. State—now tied or first place honors.

Tomorrow night Clemson and South Carolina, last and next-to-last place in the league respectively, will meet.

Saturday's loser will go into a second-place tie with Duke. The game is the last real test between the league tournament at Raleigh, beginning March 3.

That's the series which determines the conference champions. Last night North Carolina defeated Wake Forest, 83-79, to break a three-game losing streak.

Dickie Hemric, the Deacons' All America candidate, scored 35 points. For the Tar Heels it was the eighth win against four losses in league play. The Deacons have a 5-5 mark.

Taking an early lead the Tar Heels held a 38-30 edge at the half. But after the intermission, Hemric and Ernie Wiggins warmed up and the Deacons went ahead 41-40 after less than four minutes.

Midway of the second half the North Carolina team moved out 56-50 and the game was nip and tuck from then.

Lenoir Rhyne defeated Elon, 17-7, in a North State Conference game, marking up victory No. 17 in a row, and gained at least a tie for first place in league standings.

Appalachian defeated Western Carolina, 86-70, dimming the chance of tournament participation for Western Carolina.

Games tonight have Belmont Abbey at McCrory, High Point at Guilford and Atlantic Christian at Catawba.

Nat'l Committee Gathers On GOP Convention Choice

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee gathered today to act on a subcommittee recommendation that the party hold its 1956 nominating convention in San Francisco the week starting Aug. 20.

Approval was predicted by National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, who announced the site subcommittee's unanimous decision yesterday.

San Francisco won out in an 11th-hour bid over Chicago and Philadelphia. The Democrats have picked Chicago for their 1956 convention starting either July 23 or Aug. 13.

President Eisenhower arranged to deliver an off-the-record talk at a closed luncheon meeting of the GOP committee.

Hall, in a speech prepared for the session heaped praise on Eisenhower as "the greatest leader of our times" and appealed to his fellow committeemen:

"Let's sell Republicanism as we never have before. And we can do it under the leadership of one of the greatest men any party ever had—Dwight D. Eisenhower—if we follow him."

Hall, who says he assumes Eisenhower will run for a second term, also hit at dissenters within the party who, he said, "haven't caught up with the facts of life."

"These little groups don't trouble me—they have always been with us. Every national and every political party has had them."

Up until last week San Francisco had not been considered in the GOP convention picture. Only Chicago and Philadelphia had made formal bids of $250,000 each weeks ago and these were repeated yesterday.

Hall credited Mayor Elmer Robinson with spearheading the drive for selection of San Francisco. The city sent a representative here yesterday offering to match the $250,000 bids of the other cities and promising the GOP rent-free use of the city's Cow Palace, a huge structure built for cattle shows and other exhibitions and having a seating capacity of close to 17,000.

Cool weather and an option on 10,000 hotel rooms, also were held out as inducements.

San Francisco has had only one national nominating convention. That was in 1920 when the Democrats selected Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio to run for president with Franklin D. Roosevelt for vice president. That ticket lost.

Hall told newsmen the laws of Massachusetts, South Dakota, Ohio and possibly Connecticut regarding certification of candidates for the ballot might interfere with holding a convention as late as Aug. 30, but it was his understanding these matters would be "cleared up" in time.

Gives Up Money Taken In Robbery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A young man walked into the confessional of a Roman Catholic church last night and told the priest his conscience was "troubling" him.

Then the man handed over a package of money, asking that it be returned to "ease the burden from my mind."

The priest, who did not obtain the man's name, gave the package to police. The money, in $5 and $20 bills, totaled $2,450.

Police believe the money was taken from a jewelry store Feb. 9. They did not identify the priest or the church.

Littlest Soldier In British Army

SINGAPORE (AP)—At 4 feet 2, Cpl. Frank Vincent is the shortest soldier in Britain's army.

Vincent is a cook in the British military hospital in Singapore. Chunky, robust and easy-smiling, he hails from Kingston-On-Thames, near London.

He managed to get into the army during a period of great emergency, not long before the German air blitz on London, when the army needed cooks.

Everything he wears has to be made specially—such as size 1 army shoes. He weighs 104 pounds. He is now 42 and has had 14 years in the army—seven more to go before he can retire. Before becoming a soldier, he served 12 years in the merchant navy.

"I've been used to being staved at since I was a kid and I've long since got over any embarrassment about it," he says.

At the age of 12 doctors put him through all sorts of tests.

"Then they told me they could do nothing for me because there was absolutely nothing wrong with me, glandularly or anything else. They said I was just 'an act of God.'"

Are there any compensations about being the littlest soldier in the British army?

"You bet, there are—it makes everyone friendly to me," says Vincent.

'Madame Butterfly' Is Feared Dead In Blaze

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—The woman who gave Puccini the Japanese melodies for his famous opera "Madame Butterfly" is missing and feared dead in the fire that razed a Catholic old ladies home here and burned to death nearly 100 women.

She is Mrs. Hisako Oyama, 85, widow of the late Tsunazuke Oyama, Japanese minister to Italy in 1899.

Mrs. Oyama's relatives tentatively identified a body as hers. They said Mrs. Oyama, a devout Catholic, made her own decision to enter the home and paid her own way. Most of the inmates were destitute. The family said she told them, "I can be nearer to God there."

The world premiere of "Madame Butterfly" was 51 years ago today at Milan's La Scala.

Before World War II, Mrs. Oyama told in a magazine article of her connection with the opera, the story of a geisha girl Cho Cho San's love for an American naval officer and her suicide when he deserts her.

Puccini needed Japanese musical themes and melodies that he could elaborate to give the opera an authentic Japanese atmosphere.

He was introduced to Mrs. Oyama, an amateur musician who sang to him the songs of her native land. Mrs. Oyama wrote that she was startled to find that Puccini, not too familiar with Japanese music, had used an old drinking song as his inspiration for the suicide music.

Students estimate that 750,000 Americans will lose their sight before they die.

Law Will Curb Cheating Public

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—There are plenty of Nevada laws to keep the gamblers from cheating the public. But it seems no one ever thought to keep the public from cheating the gamblers.

Not that it is until the prosecution of two men who used Mexican coins in Nevada's legal slot machines had to be dropped because no law could be found prohibiting it.

Now the Legislature has sent to the governor a bill making it illegal for the public to cheat the gamblers.

Trial Of Alleged Phenix City Killer Is Started

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—State attorneys began their prosecution of Albert Fuller with groundwork testimony that may point the way later to eyewitness accounts of the death of A. L. Patterson.

Three witnesses testified yesterday that the downtown area in Phenix City where the antivice crusader was slain was well lighted.

Thus, if later witnesses tell the jury they saw certain movement the night of June 18 when Patterson was shot, the prosecution will have laid the predicate with testimony aimed at proving they could have seen them.

Defense attorneys, on the other hand, in cross-examination brought out the location of trees, shrubbery and other obstructions, and land elevations that might block a person's view.

The 35-year-old Fuller, who was chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City during the reign of racketeering there, is charged with Patterson's murder together with Arch Ferrell, who was prosecuting attorney in the little riverfront town, and former Alabama Atty. Gen. St. Garrett.

Ferrell's trial will follow Fuller's, but no date has been set for Garrett's trial. He is undergoing treatment in a Galveston, Tex., hospital.

The state's first witness was the widow of the Phenix City lawyer who had won the Democratic nomination for attorney general to succeed Garrett. She recalled events of the last day of her husband's life.

A Phenix City policeman, identified Officer Odie Smith, and a former officer, Dewey L. Chestnut, testified the alley where Patterson was slain was well lighted when they arrived minutes after the shooting.

A car parked at Fourth and Evans Street last night was rifled of its contents while the owner was viewing a movie at a nearby theater. The car was left unlocked.

Clothes and other goods valued at an estimated $80 were stolen from the car, including an overcoat, a shaving kit, two white shirts, a pair of light brown pants, and a sofa cushion.

The car is owned by James Robinson, 213 Eastern Street. He said he left the car at 9:30 last night, went to the movies, and returned to the car at 11:30. He promptly reported the incident to police, who are now investigating the theft.

'Pi Alley' Has Been Formalized

BOSTON (AP)—Williams Court became Pi Alley officially yesterday—but few will notice the change. The narrow alleyway in the heart of Boston's newspaper row has been known as Pi Alley almost since the first printer dumped his galley of pied (jumbled) type into its dingy recesses. The block long lane—which begins where the Post and Globe face each other across Washington Street—has long borne the sign "Williams Court" and beneath it the jumbled spelling "(Pie Alley)." But no more. The Public Improvement Commission authorized the switch yesterday.

Rule Death Due To Barbituates

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—An accidental overdose of barbituates was blamed for the death last Sunday of actress Abigail Adams, former fiancée of comedian George Jessel. Dr. Alexander Griswold, assistant autopsy surgeon, said yesterday that poison tests showed the presence of alcohol, seconal and ethynyl in her body. Police Chief C. H. Anderson said the death will be listed as accidental. Her body was taken to Charlotte, N. C. for funeral services tomorrow.

Climate Has Favored Winter Wear Industry

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK—The weatherman—who gets blamed for almost everything—is getting some friendly pats today from industries that fared less profitably in other years when the winters were more on the sissy side.

It's been a good winter for the makers and sellers of heavy overcoats, rubbers and galoshes, and for distributors of coal, fuel oil and natural gas.

On the other hand, merchants in many cities blame the weatherman for store sales dropping below the year ago figure. New York department stores report sales off 3 per cent last week because the weather kept people home. But San Francisco, with better days, had a sales increase of 6 per cent above the year-ago figures.

Chain stores and mail order houses report big gains in sales last month. Merchandise associated with cold weather moved freely. The average gain: 9 per cent. For the mail order houses, the increase averaged 15 per cent above a year ago. Maybe folk stayed home because of the bad weather and shopped through the postman.

Fuel peddlers have had some sorry winters in recent years and talked gloomily of climatic changes and the disappearance of the old-fashioned "real" winter. But this year the American Petroleum Institute reports that cold weather has reduced the big stocks of fuel oils, to the industry's joy.

Officials of the Columbia Gas System, which serves the industrial Midwest, where winter has been severe this year, report "a wonderful sales year."

More houses are going up this winter in some sections of the land, where the winter was open the Labor Department reports. But where winter returned to its old-fashioned ways, starts were off.

Employment in general has dropped in areas where winter halted outdoor work.

Milk production is running slightly behind a year ago, because in many regions the cows haven't been getting out to pasture as they did in the sissy winters.

Egg prices have gone up and one reason given is that cold weather has discouraged the bid-der and also has kept some farmers from coming to town with the eggs the hens did lay.

Cold waves have dipped lower into the South this year. Freezing weather has cut output of some winter vegetables and threatens to slice some Southern fruit crops. You'll be paying higher prices for some foods.

Warm Ice Cream In Frozen North

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—One of the things junior high school pupils learned in an exchange of letters with children of Kotzebue, Alaska, is that "Eskimo ice cream" has neither ice nor cream in it.

"Eskimo ice cream is made of caribou fat, seal oil, fish sometimes and berries or raisins and other fruits," wrote one of the children in the remote Eskimo village.

"Sometimes no fish and put in fruits like cooked apple. But it's not cold; anyway you could freeze it and eat it."

City Rocked By Gas Explosion

SEGUIN, Tex. (AP)—What was believed to be an explosion of natural gas that collected in a basement rocked two blocks of this south Texas city last night.

Big chunks of concrete were torn from the floor of the office building in which the blast occurred. The adjoining Seguin Bank & Trust Co. Building was heavily damaged, and three persons were injured, one critically.

Painter Asserts U.S. Flooded By His Imitators

By FRANK BRUTTO
ROME—Silver-thatched Giorgio de Chirico, one of Italy's top artists, says imitators have "flooded" the United States, France and Italy with paintings falsely attributed to him.

De Chirico's complaint was the latest salvo in a continuing international squabble between him and Bernard Dorival, curator of France's National Museum of Modern Art in Paris.

The feud started when the artist objected last month to the Paris museum's showing a surrealist painting entitled "Composition" and bearing the signature "G. de Chirico." It had hung in the gallery for five years, but the Italian said he had just heard about it. He called it a "gross fake."

Down came the canvas. Dorival said he and other French experts "are sure the picture is by De Chirico," but they'd oblige the artist. "No great loss," he sniffed. The painting had been seized from a smuggler at the French-Italian border and "we bought it because the customs sold it cheap," Dorival added.

That tore it. The Frenchman, De Chirico asserted, had assumed "an insulting attitude."

"What is this?" he said to an interviewer. "First they let it hang for five years and then they remove it, not because I say it is false, but because they say it is no good."

He also accused the French museum of slighting Italian artists by showing too few of their works.

In Paris, Dorival agreed his museum is devoted largely to French paintings but pointed out that it is a French museum. Many foreign works are exhibited, "according to their merits," he added.

De Chirico, former exponent of extreme modernism but painting more conservatively these days, took particular exception to Dorival's charge that he had been "disowning, one after another," paintings in his former style. Prove it, the painter challenged.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Colie Mack Short, Negro, Belvoir Road, guilty of non-support of his minor child.

The court gave Short six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $60 for support of his minor child before he was to be released from custody. The judgment also provides that Short is to pay $20 a month for support, beginning March 1, 1955. The defendant gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Teddy R. Shapou of New Bern paid costs for speeding.

Eddie Whitehurst, Route 5, Greenville, paid court costs for not having an operator's license.

William J. E. Little, Negro, 302 East Second Street, larceny of an overcoat from Terry Reaves, Negro, a fellow worker at the college, was given 30 days on the roads. The coat was recovered.

Four defendants paraded before the court Wednesday on the charge of being drunk. Judge Whedbee gave Victor Smith of Winterville 30 days in jail or pay $10; Ruby Bass, Route 2, Greenville, 30 days in jail or pay $10; Wilbur R. Jackson of Winterville, $10, and George Gay, Route 2, Farmville, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10. The judgment also provides that Gay is to remain away from Greenville for six months.

Willie Oakley, who gave his residence as New Greenville Hotel, was given 30 days on the roads for failure to pay court costs on a drunk charge tried last week.

Research Urged In Public Taste As To Textiles

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—A textile manufacturer suggested today that the industry try to regain a greater share of the consumer dollar by influencing the public's spending through a broad research program into preferences, whims and basic psychology in buying habits.

H. K. Hallett, of Charlotte, a former president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute, said that the consumer isn't spending as proportionately large a share of his dollar as formerly on textile goods.

Addressing the sixth annual Cotton Research Clinic here of the National Cotton Council, he noted: "Already there are many in the mill industry who believe that the greatest amount of technical progress and product development will come in the finishing field, rather than in spinning and weaving."

Finishing processes are closer to the ultimate consumer. In order for this new pioneering in finishing to pay off, careful analysis of consumer motivation will be necessary."

He proposed that the textile industry as a whole make the same kind of effort for textile products in general that the National Cotton Council is doing for cotton in particular.

Closely related to such an undertaking, he said, should be a "greater-than-ever-effort" to create the need for new types of products and thus to develop markets which do not exist today.

He pointed out that a bargain price can't be the whole answer. "In the past two decades," he continued, "we have reached out and captured some of the best brains and experience in chemistry, physics, biology and engineering—people like you here today."

"Why we shouldn't attract the best talent in market analysis, applied psychology, communications and similar fields, and make a frontal attack on problems of consumer motivation? . . . This, it seems to me, is one of the big textile research challenges to be met in the coming years."

which — instead of giving them the money — itself acquires sites and builds the schools for lease to the district.

The Georgia Department of Education makes an annual allotment to school districts for building purposes, and this money is used for the rent that pays off authority bonds.

The Georgia authority has spent 130 million dollars on schools in approximately two years and is now planning a final bond issue of 31 million.

No schools have been built in Indiana by the state school-building authority because of court action brought almost as soon as it was set up in 1951 with power to issue bonds and lease schools. Those who brought the suit contended the authority was unconstitutional. The case has not reached the State Supreme Court.

The Maine authority has put four million dollars into schools in 41 towns, the school units in Maine. The Maine authority has virtually reached its present legal borrowing limit.

The four states in which agencies other than specifically designated building authorities can carry on similar activities are Arkansas, Florida and North and South Dakota.

The Arkansas Legislature just last week passed an act designating the State Education Board to receive and administer any building funds made available by the federal government under the Eisenhower or any other plan.

The Florida State Board of Education issues school construction bonds, which are guaranteed by allocations of auto license revenue amounting to about nine million dollars a year. The board would have power to accept federal school funds.

The North Dakota School Construction Board, which has advanced over two million dollars to school districts since it went into operation July 1, 1953, could accept federal funds and operate as a building authority.

South Dakota officials say they believe the State Department of Public Instruction could act as a bond-issuing agency.

Atom Entering Plumbing Trade

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The atom has gone into the plumbing business.

A bad leak developed in pipes of Kern Methodist Church here. The pipes were beneath a four-inch concrete floor.

The Atomic Energy Commission licensed the church to use radioactive iodine at the suggestion of Oscar Bizzell, a church member, who is on the staff at Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

The iodine isotopes were pumped into the pipes, and a geiger counter located the interruption of flow. The job cost the church $10.

Eight States Can Act Today To Use Eisenhower Aid-To-Education Plan

By HERMAN E. ALLEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Eight states would be ready to move immediately under the school-building agency provisions of President Eisenhower's aid-to-education plan if Congress enacts them.

These states already have agencies specifically charged with assisting local school districts to overcome classroom shortages, or other agencies which can exercise similar functions. The President called for the establishment of state agencies which with federal help would issue bonds to build schools. The local districts would rent the buildings and eventually the rents would pay off the bonds. Then the buildings would become the districts' property.

Six states have constitutional provisions that might prevent their setting up school-building agencies until the three-year life of the Eisenhower plan has expired, but others are in better shape.

Aside from the 8 with agencies in being, 11 apparently could set them up under existing laws, and 14 others could do so with simple enabling legislation.

Four states — Pennsylvania, Georgia, Indiana and Maine — have state school-building agencies as such. Of these, the Pennsylvania State Public School Building Authority apparently operates most closely to the way contemplated in the president's proposal.

Local systems must first consult with the State Department of Education to fix their needs. Then they go to the building authority, year rental period. Interest has run around 3 per cent, which is somewhat high by usual financial standards, but officials note that these school districts are financially distressed and have to take pretty much what they can get.

(Under another part of the Eisenhower plan, the federal government could buy local school bonds at rates up to 3 1/2 per cent.)

Aside from the statewide building authority Pennsylvania has numerous local school-building authorities, which operate on a similar principle. They are, actually, a legalized evasion of school district borrowing limits.

Together the state and local authorities have built or contracted for more than 435 million dollars' worth of schools since 1950. School districts themselves without any authority help, have built 106 million dollars' worth in the same time.

The Georgia system operates somewhat differently in detail, but the objective is the same as in Pennsylvania — to funnel state money down to local school districts.

Local systems must first consult with the State Department of Education to fix their needs. Then they go to the building authority,

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

One afternoon at the hospital when Fred had finished setting a broken bone during which procedure Murphy had watched him, he was summoned by the sheriff to appear before Judge Olson at the courthouse.

Murphy accompanied him and as they stood before the judge Fred said: "Judge Olson this is Dr. Murphy Hudson. He came here on a consultation, and has remained as my guest."

Murphy bowed. "I've known Fred a long time," he said sulkily. "I can serve as a character witness."

"If we need one!" The judge turned his ice-blue eyes back to Fred, and his shoulder toward Murphy, who shrugged and fell back to lean against the wall. "Doc," said the judge, "I hate to bother you if there's nothing in this, but on the other hand, if the talk that's going around town has any basis in fact, I'm going to have to admit a charge of kidnaping against you."

Murphy nearly fell, he was so surprised. Golly, he hadn't thought that Mirandy's mischief would lead to a thing like this!

Fred was almost as startled. He took out a handkerchief and touched it to his temples. "Perhaps you'd better tell me whom I have kidnaped?" His rich voice was soft with self-control. Again, Murphy watched him with respect.

"I'll read the charge as I'd have to make it," said Judge Olson gravely. "Ed Byrd drew it up. I told him I'd like to talk to you first."

Ed Byrd was the prosecuting attorney. His face still his blue eyes untroubled, Fred listened to the charge as it had been made. That he had taken a newborn baby had removed it from its parents, namely Richard and Clara Nienaber, dwelling so-and-so . . . and for purposes unknown . . . present disposition unknown . . . ordered to produce said infant . . . show reason . . .

When he had finished, Judge Olson lifted his eyes to Fred's face. The doctor's expression was deeply thoughtful.

"Who made that charge, judge?" he asked, though he knew well enough. Mirandy's hand was plain-ly evident.

"It's not a charge yet, doc."

"Sounds like one to me."

"I wanted to talk to you about the matter, doc, as I intend to talk to the other folks involved."

"Some of the things in that charge could be proven, if that's what you're waiting to hear."

Murphy made a faint sound of protest. The judge glanced at him. "I'm sorry," said Murphy, "but shouldn't Dr. Beier be represented by counsel?"

"That's not a bad idea," agreed the judge. "If it comes to a charge of kidnaping, I'll see that he has one. You see doc, it was suggested to me that this Nienaber as a refugee, a displaced person, needs someone to protect his interests."

Fred smiled. "That's right, sir. He does."

The judge blinked. "So—this court means to protect them. Now, I intend to make a preliminary inquiry . . . Could you arrange to be in court tomorrow morning?"

"So far as I know now, yes."

is not to worry. I'll be there, yes. All right, Mamma. He rung up and smiled at Katie, then told her of the developments at Godfrey's. In a few moments he had Katie and Murphy both laughing.

"Nice job," murmured Murphy when Fred joined him in the living room. "Wouldn't have done to let Ludmilla know you'd been arrested."

"Nor Katie."

"How do you suppose this whole farce started?"

Fred looked keenly at his friend. "I know how it started, Murph. And so do you. But let's get one thing straight. It is not a farce!"

"Oh, now look, Fritz! The judge had to make a gesture—or I guess he did . . ."

"Judge Olson does not make gestures. Not in the sense you mean. There are tales going about—just what tales, I don't know. But enough so that there is a suspicion that I kidnaped the baby of those helpless d.p.'s and—probably—sold it for a fat, round, and—"

"That's essentially, was the tale. 'But no one takes it seriously.' 'That's where you're wrong. The judge does—and I do.' 'Well do you know what I'd do in your place?' 'Heavens no!' 'I would leave town on the next train.' 'I'm not guilty, and can prove it.' 'Sure. I meant the first train after that. I'd leave this town flat.' 'Why should I? Because someone stirs up a little gossip?' 'It's not a little gossip!'"

"No, there you are right. But how many have told it? How many believe it? And, in any case, I came to Jennings, I stay in Jennings, because of the work I do here. Even this amount of talk makes no difference in my work."

"Are you telling me that you're going to like appearing in police court?"

being given a chance to prove the gossip wrong. You don't always get 'at chance with gossip."

Murphy shook his head. "The awful thing is, I have to believe you. Instead of your being properly resentful . . ."

"I do resent it." Fred's handsome face was stern. "And, at the proper time, I'll show that I do."

"That court session sounds as if it might be interesting!"

"It will be interesting, though I hope my 'proper time' will not arise there. However, come to it, if you like."

"Come? Fritzie, my boy, nothing—literally nothing—would keep me away!"

Cheaper Runways At Airports If Edges Thinned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two University of California engineers say they can save money on airport runways. Make them thinner on the edges, and save $100,000 or more on each, they suggest.

Robert Horonoff and Prof. John Hugh Jones, found that the center part of the strip takes nearly all of the punishment. They installed electric traffic detector tapes on several runways. On strips 150 to 200 feet wide, they found, 95 per cent of the traffic stays in a center area 60 feet wide. Concrete runways can be made the usual 36 inches deep in the center and only 30 inches thick on the edges, they say.

Savings would vary depending on the soil, the weight of aircraft involved and the amount of traffic, but on the average could be $103,000 for an 8,000 foot runway 200 feet wide they say.

Ex-President To Be Tried March 21 In Slaying Case

By LUIS NOLI
 PANAMA (AP)—Ex-President Jose Ramon Guizado must stand trial March 21 on homicide charges in connection with the machine-gun slaying of his predecessor in office, President Jose Antonio Remon.

The National Assembly voted 48-1 to indict Guizado during a four-hour session last night highlighted by an impassioned declaration of innocence from the accused. The Assembly is the only body which can try a president. If convicted, Guizado could be sentenced to a prison term of from 10 to 20 years.

Guizado's outburst came as special prosecutor Jose de la Vega told the lawmakers he would prove at the trial that the price for killing Remon was between $75,000 and $80,000 part of which was paid by Guizado.

track, four miles from the city. Guizado, the first vice president, was sworn in as president six hours later.

The Assembly impeached Guizado and ordered his arrest Jan. 15 after Ruben Miro, an attorney, confessed the actual killing and said the plot was carried out with Guizado's full knowledge.

Thirteen other persons, including Miro, Guizado's son and two of his business partners, also have been arrested in connection with the slaying. They will be tried by the regular courts.

Kitten Stalled Police Car

CHICAGO (AP)—A kitten stalled a police squad car for three hours last night.

The animal was trapped under the squad car's hood in an almost inaccessible recess under the right front fender. Policemen Joseph Cunningham and Kenneth Freyer tried to lure it out with catnip, but with no success.

Allen Glisch of the Animal Welfare League was called. Finally, it was necessary to remove the car's oil pan before he could rescue the animal.

Didn't Know Of Nine Weddings

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Richard C. Burke, 21, a Navy man from Arlington, told a Probate Court judge yesterday that his wife was married nine times, before without telling him.

He said he first became suspicious when he found several government allotment checks in their home after his marriage in West Virginia last year to Mariquita Campastrano, 25.

The court also was told the woman is serving three years in the West Virginia Women's Reformatory.

Judge John Leggat quickly annulled the marriage.

Started Him Off To Speed Ticket

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—When State Patrolman A. F. Closson saw Waldo D. Emery trying to get his stalled automobile started, he stopped and helped him. They got it started.

A short time later the patrolman saw Emery again—this time whizzing past his patrol car. Closson testified in Magistrate Court yesterday he contacted Emery again to give him a ticket for traveling 65 miles an hour in a

'Bleeder' Under Surgeon's Knife

DENVER (AP)—"Am I here? Thank God . . . He told me I would be."

Mrs. Doris Grayson was waking from a marathon 3 1/2-hour operation late yesterday. For seven months the Weatherford, Tex., mother had known of the impending surgery on her right lung. And she had feared it.

Doctors at National Jewish Hospital describe the 36-year-old woman as a "bleeder," female counterpart of the male hemophiliac. Once she is bruised or starts to bleed, it is difficult to halt the flow.

To complicate matters, her blood is type O negative, found in only 6 per cent of people.

She was admitted to the Denver Hospital last July for treatment of tuberculosis. Doctors found her condition caused her to bleed from the right lung. When other treatment failed they decided on surgery.

Mindful that certain blood—like Mrs. Grayson's—loses its coagulant factor in 30 minutes after it is taken from the veins, they called for volunteer donors with type O negative.

Denver area Masonic lodges offered help, and those few with the corresponding blood type stood by as Mrs. Grayson went into surgery. Nine donors gave one pint of blood each during the operation. Three others were used later.

Doctors said Mrs. Grayson is "doing satisfactorily."

Truman And Dean Acheson Still See Eye-To-Eye

KANSAS CITY (AP)—After being out of office more than two years, Harry S. Truman and his former secretary of state Dean Acheson are still in agreement.

Acheson, visiting the Trumans this week, appeared at a press conference with the former President yesterday. Truman, who is 70, was asked about his future plans. He replied with a quip he's used before:

"I shall run for president the year I'm 90."

Said Acheson: "If Mr. Truman is elected at 90, I shall be happy to serve with him."

Both feel Adlai Stevenson is the best choice for the 1956 Democratic presidential candidate.

Acheson told newsmen the foreign policies of the Truman and Eisenhower administrations are basically the same. But he said the present policy is not being pursued "as rigorously or effectively" as the former.

No One Knew He Was Rich Man

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Albert F. Kersten, a bachelor, kept occupied by investing his small life savings and playing cards with friends after retiring 25 years ago as an upholsterer.

Kersten died last Nov. 22 on his 68th birthday. An inventory filed in Probate Court yesterday showed he left an estate valued at $154,800, with stocks and bonds the chief assets.

A spokesman at the Lutheran Convalescent home, where Kersten spent the last six years of his life, said no one was aware he was "a man of wealth."

Skipped Out On Tooth-Pulling

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Eight-year-old Edward Otis went to a dentist yesterday for his second extraction. Edward didn't like the first one, so just before he was called to the chair, he asked to be allowed to wash his hands.

He didn't return. A missing persons report eventually was filed. Police and his mother Mrs. Elzie Otis feared he had been kidnaped.

Several hours later, however, the boy arrived home the pain from the bad tooth aggravated by sore feet. He had walked six miles.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE RECOMMENDATIONS MADE BY THE ZONING COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF GREENVILLE FOR THE ADOPTION OF AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE ZONING ORDINANCE AND THE ZONE MAP OF THE CITY OF GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

Pursuant to the provisions of G. S. Chapter 160, Section 175, and of Section 16 of Chapter 24 of the Code of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, public notice is hereby given that the City Council will conduct a public hearing in the Council Room of the Municipal Building in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, on March 10, 1955, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., EST, on the question of the adoption of an ordinance amending the Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map of the City of Greenville, so as to incorporate therein the following provisions as a part, or parts, of said Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map, and to repeal all provisions of the present Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map in conflict therewith. The proposed amendments to the Zoning Ordinance and Zone Map are as follows:

a. Amendment to Chapter 24, Section 2—"Home Occupations"—Any occupation or activity carried on by a member of the immediate family, residing on the premises, which use is clearly incidental and secondary to the use of the dwelling for dwelling purposes, and does not change the character thereof, and further, that not more than 20% of the floor space of the dwelling is used for the home occupation, and in connection with which there is no display, no stock in trade nor commodity sold, or offered for sale upon the premises, and no person not a resident of the premises is employed specifically in connection with the home occupation.

b. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 2—"Rear Yard"—A yard extending across the full width of a lot and being the required minimum horizontal distance between the rear lot line and the rear of the main building or any projections thereof, other than projections of uncovered steps, unenclosed balconies, or uncovered patios or porches.

c. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 5-C—"Rear Yard"—A rear yard shall be required for every main building, the depth of which shall be 10% of the average lot depth, and in no case less than 10 feet.

d. Addition to Chapter 24—(Section 2)—"Trailer"—Any vehicle house car, camp car, or any portable or movable vehicle on wheels, skids, rollers, or blocks, either self-propelled by any other means, which is used or designed to be used for residential living, sleeping, commercial or utility purposes, but not including those vehicles primarily designed for the transportation of goods.

e. Addition to Chapter 24—(Section D)—Trailers: Individual trailers may be used in this zone for living purposes only, provided each trailer so used must provide a front, side and rear yard as required herein, and provided further, each trailer so used before an occupancy certificate, as required by Section 11 of Chapter 23, is issued, shall have a permanent connection to the water and sewer of the City of Greenville.

f. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 9—(Section 9-B-3)—Unenclosed and uncovered stoops, porches, terraces or other structures designed and erected without walls or any type of support for a roof of any kind, may project into a required yard, provided that such structure shall not project into any required minimum front, side, or rear yard more than one-third (1-3) of the width of such required yard.

g. Addition to Chapter 24, Section 10—(Section 10-E-6)—In considering all proposed variations in this ordinance, the Board shall, before making any finding in a specified case, first determine that the proposed variation will not constitute any change in the zones shown on the zoning map and will not impair an adequate supply of light and air to adjacent property, or materially increase the public danger of fire and safety, or materially diminish or impair established property values within the surrounding area, or in any other respect impair the public health, safety, morals, and general welfare.

In granting a variance, the Board may attach thereto such conditions regarding the location, character and other features of the proposed building, structure or use as it may deem advisable in furtherance of the purposes of this ordinance.

Before a variance is granted, it shall be shown that special circumstances attached to the property which does not generally apply to other property in the neighborhood. A variance may be granted only when the peculiar difficulty or undue hardship complained of is due to the particular characteristics of the property and not to the general conditions of the neighborhood which may reflect an undue stringency of the ordinance itself. A hardship peculiar to the applicant, as distinguished from others affected by the general rule, must be shown. The fact that property may be utilized more profitably will not be considered adequate to justify the Board in granting a variance.

h. Amendment to Chapter 24, Section 2: "Definition of Front Yards"—Sentence 2 should be amended to read as follows: "The depth of the front yard shall be measured between the front line of the building and the front lot line (property line)."

i. Amendment to Chapter 23, Section 5-C-1 and 5-C-1a—Amended by striking out "Thirty-five feet" and substituting "Twenty-five feet"—as the required depth of front yards.

j. To incorporate within the "Residence District" the following additional areas not at present zoned: The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Forest Hills" Subdivision. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Emhurst," Addition No. 3. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as "Englewood" Subdivision. The subdivision now within the corporate limits of the City of Greenville designated by map as the "Coghill Subdivision," and the "Coghill Subdivision, Addition."

All parties in interest and citizens are urged to attend said hearing and will have an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the City Council.

Checkups Show Good Health Was An Illusion

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—You don't have to feel sick to be sick. That was the finding of the University of Michigan medical school in examinations of 500 business executives who got company-paid checkups at University Hospital.

Forty-one per cent of the 500 were sick and didn't know it and 25 per cent of these needed treatment immediately. About 45 per cent of the sick men were found to have stomach disorders, while another 24 per cent were found to have cardio-vascular (heart or blood vessel) trouble.

Four of the executives who thought they were perfectly healthy were found to have cancer, and one was found to have tuberculosis. Three were diabetic, 12 had gallstones and 16 peptic ulcers.

And a medical school report said: "significant new disease appeared each year in 13 to 20 per cent of the subjects."

Sentence 2 For Breaking In Jail

WILLIAMSTON S.C. (AP)—J.T. Nichol and Sam Harper were sentenced to four months here after a city court convicted them of breaking and entering and investigating a riot.

They were charged with breaking into the city jail at 2 a.m. and setting fire to a mattress, causing a disturbance.
