Its all part of "National Freedom Week" and designed to dramatize the free world's fight against communism. Local citizens are urged to contribute "Truth Dollars" in the envelopes that are dropped over the city.

The skydrop has been set for late in the afternoon in order that school children may participate in the proceedings.

The first ten freedom medallions turned in at the Pitt Theater will be good for a free movie pass. Approximately 100 of the medallions are scheduled to be dropped. Children Too Busy To Get Into Trouble

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor Psychologists and sociologists concerned with the problems of juvenile delinquency should spend an hour with Inez Henry, secretary of the Berry Schools, in the Blue Ridge foothills near Rome, Ga.

"We don't know what that word means," says brisk bright-eyed Mrs. Henry. "Our boys and girls are too busy to get into trouble."

More than 1,000 mountain boys and girls work and study at this unique school. It was founded in 1902 by Martha Berry, first for boys and later for girls from remote mountain sections in Georgia, Tennessee, North Carolina and Alabama.

These boys and girls get their learning not only from books but also from practical work on one of the world's most beautiful campuses. 30,000 acres of farmland and pine forests with stately Gothic buildings that have been built and furnished by the students themselves.

No city youngster can go to the Berry Schools, and no farm youths are accepted if they can afford tuition at other colleges. The students work two days a week and attend classes for four days. There is no paid labor. Students do all the work. The boys cut timber, make bricks, erect buildings, work on the school farm or tend the livestock. The girls cook and serve meals, work in the laundry and canning plant, weave in the loom shop, sew and do secretarial work in the school offices.

The school farm has 1,000 acres under cultivation, another 2,000 in pasture, 300 acres in fruit trees, 20 acres of irrigated garden. It has 800 head of cattle, 2,000 white ruckwya, 7,000 chickens, 10,000 peach trees. Says Mrs. Henry: "I'm sure these are the best fed students in the world."

The Berry Schools are supported by private contributions, in addition to the income from the farm and timber lands.

Circle K Club Conducts Meeting Of Local Kiwanis; Objectives Outlined

With the Circle K students in charge, the meeting resembled the annual Gridiron Club meeting in the National Capital, at which celebrities are good naturedly lampooned.

Two of the Circle K members explained what the Circle K club at the college is, and enumerated its objectives. It was pointed out that Kiwanis Secretary John O. Reynolds and a professor at the college pioneered the movement to organize the Circle K Club in Greenville and that it has elicited national recognition.

Kiwanian Jimmy Brewer, who has charge of the Kiwanis program next Friday night, announced that Billy Arthur of Chapel Hill will be the speaker.

Mrs. Lena Tyson won the attendance prize. Dixie McGlohon announced that he will be host at supper to the Kiwanis officers and directors on March 4.

Hot Spot Is Also One Of Coldest

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP)—This city of 10,425 often figures prominently in the nation's weather news — either the hottest or coldest spot. It frequently has reported 100 degree temperatures when the rest of the state was basking in ideal high-70 weather. Generally Cadillac's lows are the lowest in Michigan, often 15 to 25 degrees below neighboring towns, and on Jan. 30, 1951, the official weather station thermometers froze. A spirit thermometer registered 40 below zero.

Experts says the reason is that Cadillac sits in a depression in high hills 40 miles west of Lake Michigan and cold or warm air waves drop into the cup and stay.

Doctor at the CROSSROADS

ELIZABETH SEIFERT

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

Fred stayed in the Kyle house for an hour, doing what must be done. At noon, he went upstairs for his bag. "Murphy," he said, "I asked you if you had done all you could to save Theo Kyle. But you didn't, did you?"

"Well, Fritz . . ."

"I know that you did not give him adrenalin. And I know what you did give him."

"Would you have done different?"

Fred looked at him, frowning. "That's hard to tell, isn't it?" he asked. "I believe I would have tried adrenalin. It might not have worked, but . . ."

"I'm sorry, doctor, if you disagree with my treatment."

Fred looked around the room to see if he were forgetting anything. "I hope you won't say any more about his having not hold of alcohol," Fred told Murphy.

Murphy shrugged. "That sounds like an order."

"It is, if you like. I'd hate certain people to catch on to that suggestion. There's no truth in it but there wouldn't need to be."

"Certain people named Mirandy?" Murphy's teeth glistened in his dark face.

Fred did not reply.

"I didn't get Mirandy in on the Nielsen affair, you know?"

Fred nodded. "Yes I do know. Because you knew where the baby was."

"Have you talked to Mirandy?"

"Yes. She drove me over here."

Murphy's eyes sparkled. "Oh, not really! What did you say to her?"

"Nothing. I didn't need to. And, anyway, she didn't give me a chance," Fred smiled wryly. "She was busily explaining about her experiment in the rapid growth and travel of gossip. She had attempted to stop the wildfire by appealing to Ed Byrd. She had also protested her undying love and affection for Fred."

"Do you believe that?"

"I don't believe any of it. I do think, though, that even Mirandy was shocked when the matter came into court. But, of course, that turned out to be the quickest way to squash the whole thing. Let's go downstairs, shall we?"

"Fred . . ."

Suddenly, Fred was very tired, as if the weight of the whole morning had descended in a mass upon him. "Please," he said wearily, "let's not speak again about Theo Kyle, Murphy. The thing's done, and nothing can be gained by discussing it."

"A quick, merciful death was God's blessing."

"God was not in this house today, Murphy."

"But just the same, death was the right thing, the just thing, for everyone concerned. I believe Theo himself longed for it."

"Maybe so," said Fred, going out into the hall.

Although he agreed with Murphy in the abstract, the whole situation bothered Fred. He took it home with him, and under its cloud, he scarcely spoke during lunch. Murphy and Katie chattered idly, and let him alone. Katie asked if it would be all right if she went over to see Linda, later that afternoon.

"Yes, she'll expect you to."

"You look so tired, Fred."

"I am tired."

"If you are not too busy perhaps you could manage a nap this afternoon. You were called out so

Only a gasoline that burns clean can make its full octane power really work for you.

Christians Drop East Carolina Into Third Place Spot

ACC Wins 93-88 In Saturday Game

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

WILSON—An East Carolina rally fell five points short here Saturday night and Atlantic Christian took over undisputed possession of second place in the North State Conference with a 93-88 triumph.

The defeat dropped East Carolina into third position with a 12-4 record. ACC's Bulldogs have a 13-3 standing. The game ended regular season activity for both clubs.

The aroused Bulldogs held a 16-point advantage at halftime, 51-35, and hopes of catching them seemed faintly small. The Pirates came back, though, and scored 30 points in the first 10 minutes of the second half to pull within range.

It was ACC's first victory over a Howard Porter-coached ECC team in twelve games. The last time ACC had beaten ECC was back in 1949. The Bulldogs retained possession of the Bohunk Bucket on the basis of their win. The Bohunk, symbol of athletic competition between the two schools, had rested on the Greenville campus since last spring.

After the halftime lull, the Bucs roared back to scare the bristles off the Bulldogs and their followers. With Don Harris and little Cecil Heath leading the way, the Bulldogs' voluminous lead was soon dwindled to three points. Harris edged 18 points in the drive and Heath collected 12.

Second Half Rally

Nick Nichols brought the Pirates within 10 points on a one-hander, 71-61, with 12:25 reading on the clock. The Pirates continued to lower ACC's margin to 79-75 with 8:10 remaining and it was a new ball game.

Harris' jump shot made it 82-79, but baskets by ACC's Ronald Percise moved up the home team's score. Guy Mendenhall's buckets narrowed the score to 86-81 with 3:35 left.

The rest of the way saw ACC's determined club holding on and ECC trying in vain to close the gap. The Pirates pressing hard to get possession of the ball fouled 10 times in the final three minutes. Although ACC had miserable accuracy from the gift line, they knocked in enough to keep a step ahead. Percise made three free throws in the final half minute to clinch the win.

Leading scorers for the night were John Marley of the Bulldogs and Harris of ECC. The former, a 6-foot-11 giant, forced in 27 points; just one point more than Harris' 26. Heath and Mendenhall had 20 points apiece for the game losers in their best performances of the year. Kim Buchanan scored 22 for ACC before he fouled out near the end.

Nichols had an even dozen points for ECC as did Percise and Jerry Williams for ACC. ACC's Billy Widgeon had 10 and ECC's J. C. Thomas had six.

Mendenhall Outstanding

Mendenhall played a whole of a ball game. The lithe, high-jumping freshman center, stuck with Marley and Buchanan all of the way and was going up over his much taller opponents to swipe rebounds. He scored 11 points in the dying minutes to keep ECC's hopes alive.

The complexion of the game changed several times. In the opening minutes of the first half, East Carolina jumped off into a seven-point lead, 18-11. It was short lived, though, as ECC's guns cooled off and ACC's ignited.

The win averaged an 82-77 loss ACC suffered in Greenville earlier in the season.

O'Kelly Scores 2 TDs In Grid Test

A hard-running fullback named Harold O'Kelly scored two touchdowns as the Purple defeated the Gold team 13-0 in a little off-season football Saturday afternoon in College Stadium.

The swivel-hipped driver scampered 60 yards for his first TD and 15 yards for the second to lead his mates to victory in the annual East Carolina intersquad game.

Mostly, the game was a defensive battle with two bulky lines matched pretty evenly. The Purple eleven made 10 first downs to the Gold's three.

Early Drive

The Purple, coached by John (Topsy) Hayes and George Tucker, threatened early in the contest. From their own 30 they drove to the Gold's seven yard line in two plays. Dick Cherry romped around end for 10 yards to the 40 and a first down. Then the fabulous Cherry, looking like old, tossed an aerial to Enno Bando and the fleet halfback raced to the seven. On the next play, O'Kelly fumbled and the Gold recovered.

Gold TD

The Gold scored once but it was nullified by a clipping penalty. Mattocks started the ball rolling with a 15 yard jaunt into Purple territory. Milton Collier replaced Mattocks and promptly threw to end Bobby Clark for the score. The play covered 25 yards. A Gold player was clipping on the play and the score nullified. Bill James intercepted a Collier pass on the next play and the drive ended.

Line play of the two teams was a feature of the game. Such stand-outs as Lou Hallow, Jerry Brooks, Dick Monda, Tim Kermon, Paul Popov, Bill Helms, Ray Pennington and Ray Overton sparked the Purple.

The Gold line was stalwarted by Ken Burgess, Waverly Chesson, Charlie Smith, Carl Rhodes, Jack Allen, Jimmy Knight, Chester Rogerson and Tommy Waggoner.

Semi-Final Play Will Begin Tonight

The upset jinx was laid aside in Saturday night's rounds of the Pitt County Conference tournament as favored teams came through with victories. Farmville's No. 1 seeded girls took the measure of Stokes-Pactolus, 53-42 and Ayden's males humiliated Chicod, 76-39.

The wins moved the victors into the semi-finals to be played tonight and tomorrow night in East Carolina College gym.

Farmville's Jewel Gardner pumped in 31 points to lead her club. Jane Joyner and Sue Flanagan helped out with 14 and eight points apiece.

Jane Bullock and Nina Perkins were the offensive leaders for Stokes-Pactolus. Bullock had 17 and Perkins 17. Lola Harris added nine.

Farmville jumped off to a five point lead in the first period and led all the way. The halftime score was Farmville 27, Stokes 22. Farmville scored 17 points in the final quarter while holding Stokes to 11 for eventual victory.

Ayden's highly-regarded boys romped all over Chicod. They pushed off to a 29-14 halftime lead and coasted the rest of the way. Ayden dumped 22 points in the third quarter which left the tired Chicod players hapless.

Ayden's scoring was pretty evenly divided. Harris was high with 15 followed by Dunn with 13. Stokes with 11 and Worthington with 11.

Garland Cox was high for the losers with 11 points. Adams contributed eight.

Score by periods:
Farmville 15 9 12 17-51
Stokes-Pactolus 10 12 9 11-44
Chicod 8 6 10 15-39
Ayden 16 13 22 25-76

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandy Saddler, the longest reigning current boxing champion, takes his featherweight title out of moth balls Friday to defend against Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., at Madison Square Garden.

When Saddler first won the crown by knocking out Willie Pep in 1948, Marcel Cerdan was middleweight king and Joe Louis had just knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in their famous rematch. Sandy lost the title back to Pep, won it again and defended it once before he went into the Army in 1952. He hasn't made the 126-pound weight limit since '51.

Getting ready for a championship bout, Saddler has engaged in 10 over-the-weight matches, winning all but one. In his most recent start, he stopped Lulu Perez in Boston Jan. 17.

By IRVING DESFOR - AP Newfeatures

Amateur photographers, as soon as they acquire a little skill, often wonder whether they can sell their pictures. The answer seems to be a loud "Yes" and it comes from an expert from the West Coast who has explored the field personally. You'll find the details in "How To Make Money In Photography" by Eugene M. Hanson (American Photographic Book Publishing Co., 33 W. 60 St., New York City).

Amateurs will also learn, however, that in order to cash in on the countless opportunities in photography, they must possess initiative and pursue those opportunities industriously, especially at the start. Fortunately, photographic skill is quickly apparent and makes it progressively easier to reap rewards.

Besides photographic ability, salesmanship is a decided asset. Those who realize they haven't this latter type of personality would do well to enlist the services of a salesman on a commission basis. Hanson suggests learning up with somebody like an insurance man who could use established contacts.

The book scrutinizes 39 different fields—babies, weddings, pets, travel, schools, etc.—to show how pictures or a knowledge of photography can pay off. Among them are bound to be some that any competent amateur can adapt to his own situation. Of them all, none is likely to be so universally available as taking baby pictures in the child's own home.

To start off a photographer needs a fairly good camera outfit and a good set of sample photos. Hanson recommends a twin-lens reflex camera and a portable electronic speedlight. For the samples, select a charming child and offer her mother a picture free of charge.

In return for the youngster's use as a model. Few mothers refuse such an offer and chances are that you'll make your first sale in addition.

Armed with the sample photos, it should be easy to interest other mothers. A beginner should even offer to produce satisfactory pictures or there'd be no charge, Hanson adds. This is not too great a risk, he feels, because most parents are delighted with any fairly creditable pictures of their youngsters.

Another branch of photography which can start as a sideline and perhaps build into a business is connected with community life. Make a list of the lodges, clubs, women's groups, civic organizations, unions and social societies in your area. Contact the president of each and offer your photographic services at their installations, banquets, special meetings and social affairs. In many cases, the sale of individual prints to the members will enable you to offer an official set to the group free of charge. In some cases, the evening may be newsworthy and prints can be offered to the local newspaper. This type of photography leads you into contact with the community's leading citizens, builds good will of a sort that can start your photo career.

For instance, it shouldn't be hard to persuade a couple of popular high school girls to have their portraits printed on scarves. When they wear these to school, it could start a fad which would swamp you with orders.

discover that they enjoy the dark-room end of photography more than the actual process of taking pictures. They're a whiz when it comes to making a perfect enlargement or they're meticulous in processing spotless negatives in fine grain developers. This could become a home side-line also for they are many more camera fans who dread or do not have the facilities for fine darkroom work. Quite a few are willing to pay premium prices for high quality work.

Four Murders And Suicide; But Motive Unknown

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—An unemployed steelworker killed his wife, 17-year-old daughter and two men, then shot himself to death. Police were looking today for a motive. Officers found the bodies yesterday in the home of the steelworker, Robert Miller, 42. Miller was clutching a .25-caliber pistol in one hand and a flashlight, still burning, in the other. A search of several hours uncovered the bodies of his wife Helen, 47, and his daughter Dolores, buried in a pile of coal in the cellar. Mrs. Miller was fully clad. Her daughter was wearing a slip. Coroner W. Ralston McGee said both women had suffered multiple skull fractures, apparently inflicted with an ax. He said Mrs. Miller probably had been killed early Wednesday and her daughter some 12 hours later.

Police went to the Miller home, in a drab mineside community eight miles from here, after Anthony Rivak, 34, a former coal miner, staggered into a tavern and said he had been shot by Miller. The bodies of Miller and Steve Demko, 27, an auto mechanic who lived nearby, were found in a bed together in a downstairs room. In an upstairs bedroom was the body of an unidentified man about 25. Then the search for the wife and daughter began.

Police said Demko and the other man had been beaten in the head, apparently with a machinist's hammer found nearby. Demko also had been shot with a .25-caliber pistol. Miller was shot in the chest and his wrists had been slashed. There was no evidence of a struggle. All window blinds were drawn when police arrived, doors were locked from the inside and fuses had been taken from the main switch box.

Coroner McGee said: "It's definitely a case of four murders and a suicide. It is the worst case of its kind I've ever seen. There were no notes—nothing to indicate the motive."

Rivak was reported on the critical list at Uniontown Hospital from a bullet wound in the abdomen. "We haven't been able to question Rivak too much," State Police Sgt. H. J. Jaymes said. "His story is that Miller met him as he (Rivak) got off a bus last Saturday night and asked him to go to his home. He said he refused and that Miller fired several shots at him, then disappeared into the night."

Jaymes said that Miller was known as "flashy dresser" although he had been unemployed recently and was receiving public assistance payments from the state. Police said the Miller couple had another daughter, Mrs. Alex Gologoczy, 27, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Although drafts and chilling may reduce your body resistance and make you susceptible to catching cold, they are not the actual cause of the cold, experts say.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS, MAN AND WIFE: — J. M. Patterson, who will celebrate his 105th birthday Feb. 28, and his wife, who will be 99 on March 2, will observe their 75th wedding anniversary March 7. The couple, born and raised in Fannin County in northern Georgia, had 10 children, 5 of whom survive, 38 grandchildren and 37 great-grandchildren. Patterson, who can read small type without his glasses, and his wife, shown here at their home in Chatsanooga, are agreed that tobacco is beneficial. "I've been chewing ever since I can remember," he said, "and I think it's good for me." He also smokes 5 cigars daily. (AP Wirephoto).

Russian And American Agree On Farm Yields

By J. R. TRIPLET

NEW YORK (AP)—A half a world apart, Nikita S. Khrushchev and Prof. Morell B. Russell see eye to eye on one thing—farmers could grow a lot more corn if they tended it better. Khrushchev is the Soviet Communist party boss who gave the United States some unexpected praise last month. He applauded American farmers' methods of growing corn and ordered Russian peasants to emulate them.

Russell heads the agronomy department of the University of Illinois, a state which alone produces more than three times as much corn as all the Soviet Union. He told a gathering of soil specialists in Chicago Thursday that Midwestern corn yields could average 85 bushels an acre, instead of the present 50, if farmers used improved soil management practices and got good growing weather.

Yes sir, corn is popping up a lot in the news lately. In Latin America, for example, where the silky ear is a staple of the human diet—You heard that Salvadoreans want only white corn for their tortillas? No yellow, red, black or spotted. That was brought out in Vice President Richard Nixon's visit who will visit Wednesday to El Salvador, smallest and most populous of the Central American republics.

It seems the people's preference for white cornmeal for their thin flat cakes is slowing a U.S.-Salvadoran agricultural school program to increase corn production. But the yield, once less than 10 bushels to the acre, is now up to about 17. There's a corn problem too in Guatemala, which threw out a Communist-supported government last June. The cost of living has been sky-high there this winter and a big shortage of corn is predicted. Incidentally, the Guatemalans don't wrap their tamales in corn shucks as do the Mexicans. They use banana leaves.

Cornbread and corn-on-the-cob lovers notwithstanding, most of the three billion-odd bushels of corn grown annually in the United States is fed to livestock.

Likewise in Russia, though corn bread gets a big hand in Soviet Georgia, Stalin's native state, and you can now buy quick-frozen corn-on-the-cob in Moscow.

The line of distinction between sweet and field corn is not finely drawn in Russia, where the land devoted to the American import amounts to only 3.3 per cent of the total grain crop acreage. Wheat is the big crop. The 8,800,000 acres the Russians planted to corn last year produced a total of 150 million bushels. That about ties El Salvador's 17-bushels-to-the-acre average.

A short growing season throughout the north is one of the reasons for the Soviet lag. Ask Americans who have tried to grow corn in Moscow gardens. A map will show why.

Moscow lies at the latitude of Hudson Bay's Belcher Island—600 miles north of the United States frontier. And even in northern parts of the United States, early frost sometimes strikes corn before it is matured.

But Khrushchev wants a try anyway at increasing Russia's corn acreage eight times by 1960. "In fodder our performance is much below that of the United States," he said. "We also don't fertilize our lands sufficiently. In this we are below the standards of many capitalist countries."

Khrushchev also noted that American corn production boomed after World War II through the widening use of hybrid seed.

There's a lot of work in producing such seed. The average farmer has neither the layout nor the time for the intricate planting and detasseling operations required in the mating of the separate varieties. He pays a premium price for the crossbred seed, but it gives him higher yields.

Refrigerator dealers in Alaska say their sales are growing rapidly because food costs are high and residents find they can save money by owning permanent food storage facilities.

World Affairs Institute Will Be Held At College On March 10

East Carolina College will hold its second annual World Affairs Institute Thursday, March 10. "The Communist Threat in the United States, South America, and Europe" will receive emphasis in programs introducing a group of lecturers of international reputation.

John C. Metcalfe, Washington editor of Worldwide Press Service and one of this country's ace newspaper men, will act as moderator at a series of meetings held during the day. His extensive experience as reporter and news analyst includes work for the Associated Press, the Chicago Times, Time Magazine, the New York Herald Tribune, and the Christian Science Monitor.

Lecturers who will participate in the World Affairs Institute include Per Mosen, Norwegian author and journalist; Boyd Franco, foreign affairs expert for "Business Week"; and Jorge Hazera, counselor of the Costa Rican Embassy in Washington and representative of Costa Rica on the Inter-American Economic and Social Council.

Plans for the Institute have been announced by Dr. George Pasti of the college department of social studies, chairman of a committee of faculty members who are now completing arrangements for the event.

A television program at 8 p.m. in the College Theatre will be open to the public. The program will include brief talks by the visiting lecturers and a question-and-answer period during which speakers and members of the audience will participate.

The Institute will open with an assembly in the Wright auditorium at 10 a.m., at which students and faculty members will hear talks by the visiting speakers. An informal luncheon in the North Dining Room will be followed by group discussions among students, faculty members, and the lecturers at meetings in the Y Hut and the Marmie E. Jenkins Alumni House.

A television program at 8 p.m. over WNCT of Greenville will present the Institute speakers to an Eastern North Carolina audience. A forum on world affairs at 8 p.m. in the College Theatre will be open to the public. The program will include brief talks by the visiting lecturers and a question-and-answer period during which speakers and members of the audience will participate.

Wants Uniform Closing Hours

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Selectman Raymond H. Bagg says he wants cities and towns to get together and establish uniform closing hours for their bars—to cut down highway accidents.

Why the accidents? "Customers rushing from one place to another to get in another hour of drinking."

Classical Records Sweeping Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Classical records from the West are sweeping Communist Hungary. Radio broadcasts from Western Europe have long been popular, but the exciting new boom to music lovers is the long-play disc.

The platter invasion started as private enterprise. Soon after the war, followers of classical music learned through the grapevine they could hear fine singing, not only at the Budapest Opera, but on records in certain private houses—for a small fee. In no time, the modest apartments of "capitalist" concert-givers became too small. People were sitting on floors, happily listening to the New York Philharmonic and La Scala Opera.

The state, recognizing the cultural and business possibilities of this hobby, took it over two years ago. Today, two concert halls in Budapest devote four days a week to record concerts.

There is some importing of long-play records from Russia and Czechoslovakia, and the government has collected the finest records manufactured in the West. The official concerts are well organized. Fans sit in comfortable chairs. Experts and critics lecture on the works being performed. And all this for the price of a glass of beer.

The Council of Budapest's Third District, a neglected part of the city inhabited by workers and the lower middle class, opened its own "cultural home" last month to present recorded performances of such classics as Aida, Madame Butterfly and La Traviata. A big Industrial plant, not content with providing records, built a miniature stage to show its employees how opera looks as they are performed. The Soviet Union's "House of Books" in Budapest has started advertising its own records—and Western works such as Faust and Don Giovanni.

The number of private record collectors is increasing rapidly. Nobody can order records abroad because the authorities would not free dollars for such purposes. Apparently many persons have friends and relatives outside the country who supply them. The government has increased customs duties on these. The duty on a 12-inch record is now the equivalent of $5.80.

Broadcasts from abroad are popular although the programs are never listed. Budapest radio has its own classical programs the capitalist's two opera houses always are packed and there is a concert somewhere every night, with tickets regularly sold out weeks in advance.

ROUGH GOING: — An Air Force amphibious plane is shown as it taxied through 45 miles of rough seas to Hilo Harbor in the Philippines, after a dramatic open sea rescue of 5 fishermen. The 2-engine Albatross picked up the fishermen from the sinking 56-foot fishing sampan Helan Maru, after it rammed a reef on the puna coast of Hawaii, caving in the port side. Capt. Frank M. Leese, the pilot, when he reached dry land, said: "I'm glad I'm in the Air Force and not the navy." He said he did not dare attempt a take off in the heavy seas with the added weight of the 5 fishermen. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Honolulu).

Women In The Church

The Women's League for Israel (New York City) is engaged in raising $250,000 to provide a woman's dormitory building on the campus of the new Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Word has been received by the Methodist Board of Missions from the Belgian Congo, Africa, of the sudden death in Tunda mission station of Mrs. Zaldie Hunter Nelson Lewis, 61, wife of Dr. William B. Lewis, medical head of the station. She was born in Jackson, Miss., and went to the Congo in 1923. While Dr. Lewis was superintendent and surgeon at the Hospital, Mrs. Lewis for years carried on a clinical service for mothers and children, often traveling alone into the surrounding native villages. She assisted in work at the large leper colony opened by the Congo Government near Tunda. One of her major contributions was the development of a formula for peanut milk which is credited with saving the lives of many infants and children in the area.

An international team of Protestant women left Los Angeles on Feb. 18 for a two-month globe-girding airplane journey "aimed at creating greater unity of fellowship and prayer among Christian women around the world." United Church Women, a department of the National Council of Churches, is sponsoring the tour. The team plans to visit Christian women leaders in a dozen countries around the world "to determine what is the call of Christ to women of this generation; face together show the demands of discipleship and see more clearly the responsibility of women in the church today." The team will also extend an invitation to women leaders in the lands they visit to attend the Church Women's seventh biennial assembly, scheduled next Nov. 7-10 in Cleveland, Ohio. The four-member team is headed by Mrs. James D. Wyker, of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, national UCW president. Other members are Miss Josefina Phodaca, of Manila, the Philippines; Miss Felicia Sunderland, of Dehra Dun, India; Mrs. David D. Baker, editor of the UCW publication, The Church Woman. The team will visit Hawaii, Fiji Islands, Australia, Indonesia, India, Pakistan, Kenya, Uganda, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Germany.

The armed stand — happily bloodless through the restraint of Warden John J. O'Brien's "wait them out" policy — went on for 84 hours until the committee of seven negotiated a surrender. With the revolt over, Atty. Gen. Fingold pressed for indictment of the four rebels (a new law makes holding a guard hostage punishable by 20 years imprisonment) but the grand jury put off action until March 7, possibly agreeing with Superior Court Judge Paul G. Kirk that there is no rush.

Meanwhile the governor's inquiry committee, headed by President Nils J. Wessell of Tufts College, is ready to get rolling on a study of "the actual conditions in our state correctional institutions, together with recommendations for improvement of our penal system."

Since the January siege, the gray old Charlestown pile with its 580 inmates has been quiet. The new three-million-dollar maximum security prison at Norfolk, authorized in 1949, is almost ready and Correction Commissioner E. Lawrence Spurr says the transfer of the convicts will begin April 1.

College Founder Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL, N.C. (AP)—Dr. Robert Campbell Anderson, founder of Montreat College, died here at his home last night. He was 91.

Dr. Anderson came to Montreat in 1911 as president and manager of the national U.C.W. president. A religious and educational institution of the Southern Presbyterian Church. He was a prime mover in developing Montreat as an assembly and conference ground for the denomination.

It was in 1916 that he founded a school for girls, serving as its president. It later became Montreat College.

Dr. Anderson was born near Martinsville, Va., graduating from Union Theological Seminary in 1887. He received a bachelor's degree from Hampden-Sydney College in 1890. He also did graduate work at Free Church College and the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1895 and 1896.

He was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., in 1890 and served pastorates at San Antonio, Tex.; Roanoke, Va.; Shelbyville, Tenn.; and Gastonia, N.C., before moving to Montreat.

In 1939 he received a doctor of divinity degree from Davidson College later becoming a trustee of the school. He also received the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medal from Hampden-Sydney.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sadie Anderson. His first wife, the former Katie P. Walter, died in 1892.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the Gailther Chapel here. Graveside services will be held at 2:30 at Charlotte's Elmwood Cemetery.

Two Arrested In Thefts Of Corn

The sheriff's department arrested Tom Brown and Arthur Moore both Negroes Saturday and charged them with the theft of eight bags of corn.

The pair was arrested by Deputies Jasper Lee Mills and Duke Andrews and are to be tried in County Court.

Matusow Called For New Quizzing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harvey Matusow, self-described ex-Communist and liar, was called for questioning today by Senate Red hunters checking into his reputation of sworn testimony he gave them.

The public hearing by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee was aimed at separating fact from fiction in Matusow's statements.

Matusow, 28, testified as an ex-Communist and former FBI informer in four investigations conducted by the subcommittee in 1952 including a probe in which he now says he gave false testimony against Owen Lattimore.

Lattimore is a Far Eastern affairs specialist who is under indictment on perjury charges growing out of the subcommittee probe but not directly related to Matusow's testimony.

Matusow also gave testimony which he now says was false to the House Un-American Activities Committee and as a paid government witness in the trial of 13 second-string Communist leaders convicted on conspiracy charges in 1951.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa) of the House committee has declared he is convinced that Matusow was a Communist "plant" intended to discredit congressional investigators.

The convicted Communists filed a new trial motion after Matusow said in an affidavit Jan. 31 that he gave faked evidence against them.

Matusow, in previous appearances before the Internal Security subcommittee, has testified that he joined the Communist party in 1947, became disillusioned with it early in February 1950, and contacted the FBI.

He said that, at FBI urging, he stayed in the Communist party and reported on its activities until he was "expelled" by the party in January 1951.

Thieves Break In Stokes Store

Thieves broke into Stokes and Congleton Store at Stokes last night and took between 110 and 115 pennies plus from six to eight dollars in change.

Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said the break-in took place between 7 and 8 o'clock. The sheriff said a bundle of clothes was found at the back door indicating the robbers were scared off.

Entrance to the building was gained by breaking a glass in the back door.

The sheriff's department is continuing its investigation.

FLYING RADAR STATIONS: — A fleet of 30 Lockheed Super Constellation radar sentry planes, like this one pictured on takeoff from Burbank, Calif., will be added to the radar-warning net on the Atlantic seaboard beginning March 1, the U. S. Air Force has announced. The same type of planes are already operating on the Pacific coast. Each plane carries a crew of up to 30 men, including relief crewmen to permit extended flights. Radomes underneath and on top of the fuselage contain radar antenna. (AP Wirephoto).

Under Legal Control

the Trend is Toward Moderation

It's a psychological fact — people always want something that is forbidden. It is also a fact that people will respect a reasonable law that does not infringe on their basic rights.

"Legal Control" of the sale of malt beverages is such a law in our State — and in those counties that have not killed it in favor of absolute prohibition, it is working effectively.

Prohibition, however, is a harsh law — impossible to enforce. People not only do not respect such a law, but they go to extreme lengths to break it. And it is these extremes that lead to intemperance. Disrespect for any law breeds disrespect for all law and order in any community.

By every known measurement the community with "legal control" has a better record of temperance and moderation.

Slow Burn Under Fire Station

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—Firemen sniffed smoke for several days before they finally located the fire. It was in the basement of the municipal building which houses the central fire station.

The fire was in a 36-ton pile of coal which apparently began smoldering from spontaneous combustion.

The slow burn had consumed an estimated three tons of coal when it was finally found.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (U)—Railroads helped the stock market advance into the early afternoon today. But most industrials, though firm, were under their highest prices of the season.

Utilities, aircrafts, chemicals and motion picture issues were in moderate demand. However, steels, motors, oils and rubber producers were generally lower. Distillers and airlines were mixed.

Trading began at a brisk pace and shortly after the opening the high-speed ticker tape began to run late with the market mixed. The tape soon cleared and most issues moved upward. Changes were mostly fractions, though, and dealings were selective.

Among the large blocks during the morning were Marine Midland Corp., 1 20 unchanged on 13,900 shares; New York Central Railroad 3 1/4 up 1/4 on 10,000 shares; Pennsylvania Railroad 2 1/4 up 1/4 on 10,000 shares and U. S. Steel 1 3/4 up 1/4 on 2,000 shares.

Moving upward were Bendix Aviation, Schenley Radio Corp., DuPont, American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, American Cyanamid, Northern Pacific and Loew's. Lower were Republic Steel, General Motor, Goodyear, Kennecott Copper, Air Reduction, Johns Manville, Standard Oil (N.J.) and Sinclair Oil.

Search Party Finds No Sign Of Life In Wreck

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A search team reported early today it had found four bodies near a huge rock pinnacle in the Sandia Mountains where a Trans World Airliner crashed Saturday with 16 aboard.

Word trickled down by walkie-talkie from the mountainside that there was no sign of life in the wreckage.

The airliner rammed the pillar in the rugged snow-covered mountains just minutes after it took off.

Two search teams, weary and stiff after a night in subzero cold on the mountainside, started at dawn probing the crannies around the needle-shaped rock where the plane hit.

Few animals were started up from the base camp at the foot of the 10,000-foot mountain to bring out the bodies and an air drop was scheduled to deliver equipment for removal of the bodies.

The plane took off from Kirtland Field, Albuquerque, about 15 miles south Saturday morning. Three minutes later veteran pilot I. R. Spong, Prairie Village, Kan., radioed all was well. That was the last heard from the twin-engine Martin 404, bound for Santa Fe, 70 miles away, on the first leg of a flight terminating at Baltimore.

The wreckage, on the cliff-rimmed west face of the Sandia Mountains, was spotted by James Bixler, chief pilot for Carco Air Service.

Col. William Gibson of the Air Rescue Service, Denver, hovered in a helicopter within 60 feet of the wreckage hanging atop the 100-foot rock tower. He said it "definitely was the missing aircraft and there was no possibility any survived."

Two big searchlights played on the precipitous pinnacle last night to provide light for eight searchers stranded atop the rock by fading daylight.

Claims N.C. Can Provide The Best

North Carolina citizens are not too poor to provide their children the best of educational facilities, Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of instruction at East Carolina College here said Sunday evening in an interview telecast from Station WNCN in Greenville.

In a discussion of education and taxation, the dean pointed up the importance of meeting the mental, physical, and spiritual needs of near one million Tar Heel school children and said these youngsters are deserving of the best teachers and classroom facilities the state can provide from tax funds.

The dean declared that the only complaint about paying for progress comes from the sellers and not the buyers of the state's industrial output.

North Carolina will advance its position industrially and economically as it progresses and advances in educational facilities, Dean Jenkins said.

North Carolina children have a wonderful educational opportunity, but to enlarge and improve upon it, there must be more support, and, the dean added: "I'm convinced the people who pay the taxes are willing to meet whatever sacrifice is necessary to provide needed teachers and classrooms in this state."

Old Trees That Lined Street Are Removed

A city crew spent several days last week "uprooting" trees on Cotanche Street between Second and Third Streets. The old trees were on city property, along the curbs of the street, and were cleared away because the roots interfered with the pavement. (Reflector Photo by Robert C. Smith).

Three Collisions During Weekend

Cars driven by Iown Smith, Rt. 2, Ayden, and Walter A. Beavans, Roanoke Rapids, collided at the intersection of Ninth and Cotanche on Saturday, causing an estimated $1800 damage to both vehicles.

Linwood Smith, who was a passenger in the back seat of the Smith car, was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital to be treated for "shock." He was subsequently released.

The collision resulted from a traffic mix-up at the intersection. Beavans has been formally charged with failure to stop for a stop sign.

In a second two-car collision over the week-end, the drivers of both cars involved have been charged with failure to stop for a stop light at the intersection of Dickinson Ave. and Boyd Street. The drivers of the two cars were William Brackett, Negro, Route 5, Greenville, and Joseph M. Powell, Whiteville, N. C.

Each driver told investigating police that he had entered the intersection on a green light, and did not have time to avoid hitting the other car. Powell sustained an injured right arm. Damage to both cars was approximately $500.

Another collision over the week-end involved cars driven by C. E. Smith, Route 1, Robersonville, and Gene Hodges, WNCN, Greenville. There were no personal injuries or arrests, according to investigating police officers. Smith was said to have struck Hodges' car in the rear when the latter car stopped on North Greene Street.

Arrest Man For Alleged Assault On His Father

Lewis Green, Negro, was placed under arrest during the week-end and charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill after he was alleged to have assaulted his father, Curley Cullen Green, 50.

The father is in Pitt Memorial Hospital in serious condition. He was cut on the chest, arm and stomach.

The alleged assault took place in the Clay Root section about 12:30 Saturday night.

Making the arrest were Deputies Jack Russell and Duke Andrews.

Cutter Survives Near-Disaster

BOSTON (U)—The Coast Guard cutter Eastwind has survived another near-disaster.

A below-decks fire yesterday destroyed the cutter's engine room and threatened an ammunition magazine before it was extinguished by sea and fire fighters.

Five years ago, the Eastwind collided with the oil tanker Gulfstream off Cape May, N.J., with the loss of 11 members of its crew.

No one was injured in yesterday's blaze aboard the 289-foot, 3,000-ton craft, which returned only two weeks ago from Greenland and was tied to a Castle Island pier for repairs.

Senate Ready To Vote On Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (U)—Leaders confidently called on senators today to vote themselves a 50 per cent pay increase—from $15,000 to $22,500 a year—with a minimum of sound and fury.

One influential senator, who declined to be quoted by name, said at least 60 of the 96 lawmakers already had promised support. Opponents were certain of only a handful of votes on the politically touchy issue.

The strategy was to approve the Senate version of a pay boost for the 531 members of Congress and 800 federal judges and then let a friendly Senate-House conference committee adjust differences between it and a more liberal pay boost bill that shot through the House last week, 283-118.

There were indications that leaders had talked to some opponents of the bill in the hope of keeping debate to a minimum. Congress is always wary of voter reaction when acting on matters which affect its own pocketbook.

President Eisenhower has urged a congressional pay hike of unspecified size, and a special commission last year recommended a salary of $27,500.

The Senate bill calling for $22,500 was approved by the Judiciary Committee without a record vote. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Republican Leader Knowland of California are expected to vote for it.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn) has served notice he will move to allow the increase for judges now and consider the congressional provisions later. Sen. Williams (R-De) has said he will seek to put off all pay boosts until the federal budget is balanced.

Democratic Senators Byrd (Va) Ellender (La), Morse (Ore) and Neuberger (Ore) have indicated opposition to the pending bill.

Congress members now draw $12,500 in salary and $2,500 in an expense fund for which they need make no accounting.

The House bill would boost pay of all congressmen to $25,000 a year. Both bills would give comparable increases to federal judges, some high justice department officials and U.S. attorneys.
