Four Injured In Collision Here Sunday

A two-car collision at Second and Greene Street early Sunday morning resulted in major damage to both cars, a telephone pole, and traffic signs. The car pictured above, driven by Jamie Frances Bowman, High Point, N. C. is shown shortly after ramming into the telephone pole. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor)

Four Greenville Negroes were injured in a two-car collision early Sunday morning at the intersection of Greene and Second streets. The two vehicles were damaged an estimated $2700, and a telephone pole and traffic light were damaged an estimated $100. The driver of one of the cars, Jamie Frances Bowman, High Point, N. C. is shown shortly after ramming into the telephone pole. (Reflector Photo by Alvin Taylor) in Little's car also received minor injuries: James Little, a cut on head; Essie Payton, 301 Deck Street, minor bruises on neck; and Margie Williams, 1800 South Greene Street, cuts and bruises on arms and legs. All three were treated at Pitt Memorial Hospital and later released. Just before the collision occurred in the intersection, Miss Bowman was headed west on Second Street, while Little was going south on Greene Street. Miss Bowman's car had stopped at the intersection, she said, and then proceeded into the intersection when she thought that no cars were coming.

Entire British Village Bids Airman Farewell

CASSINGTON, England (AP)—The entire population of this Oxfordshire village—420 persons—turned out yesterday to bid a departing U.S. airman bon voyage. The object of the unusual demonstration was M. Sgt. Jack Lyons, 37, of Quincy, Ill. in Cassington, they think Sgt. Jack is a mighty fine Yank. Lyons, his British-born wife and their 7-year-old twins, Tyrella and John, moved into the cottage here three years ago when he was assigned to the Brize Norton Air Base. The sergeant quickly became a driving force for better British-American relations. He raised $280 a year for the village's Norman Church, provided timber for a sports pavilion, collected hundreds of pounds for local charities by showing home movies at a small admission fee, organized parties for the village children, took part in the Boy Scout movement—and even became vice president of the Cassington Soccer Club. The villagers, some in tears, gathered under a huge banner reading "Cassington bids Sergeant Lyons bon voyage." They gave him an album of photographs of village scenes. It was autographed by every inhabitant. Lyons, a little moist around the eyes himself, told his well-wishers: "If I have helped to prove that two nations can get to know one another and find out how the other lives, then I am pleased. We'll be back. That's for sure." He will leave England March 4 and report to the 85th Air Base group at Barksdale, La., Air Force Base April 15 after a 30-day leave.

Dulles Continues Whirlwind Tour

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles pushed his whirlwind tour of Southeast Asia capitals across non-Communist sections of Indochina today. After an overnight stop in Cambodia and South Viet Nam. In Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos, he told Crown Prince Tiao Savang Vatthana and other officials the forces the Manila Pact nations have in the Peninsula will deter possible Communist invaders from neighboring China and North Viet Nam.

N.C. Pilot Killed In Jet Accident

LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP)—First Lt. Woodrow L. Haynes, 36, of Kannapolis, was killed near here yesterday when his 733 National Guard jet training plane exploded and crashed. Col. William J. Payne, commander of the Air National Guard in North Carolina, said the plane exploded near Churchland off State Highway 150. The plane belonged to the 815th Replacement Training Squadron based at Charlotte. Col. Payne said Haynes was on a routine training flight alone in the two-place jet

Bonn Parliament Advances Closer To Rearmament

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD BONN, Germany (AP)—National rearmament treaties to join half a million West German soldiers to the 14-nation Atlantic defense forces moved today to Parliament's upper house. Final ratification is expected there within three weeks. Parliament's Bundestag (lower house) voted for the four interlocking treaties last night after 42 hours of grueling debate that dragged through four days. The vote overwhelmingly favored the Western alliance. The House also agreed reluctantly—under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's dogged insistence—to Europeanizing the coal-rich Saar that Germany has lost twice in world wars. Here is last night's vote: The key accord to end the Western occupation of West Germany, restore its sovereignty and lift the ban against rearmament—324-151. To authorize the United States, Britain and France to station 400,000 troops in the Bonn republic—321-153. The joint bill to admit West Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the West European Military Union—314-157. The Saar Pact—263-292. Seven of the 14 NATO nations have approved German rearmament. The French National Assembly approved it under former Premier Pierre Mendès-France, but France's upper house, the Council of the Republic, has to give final approval. It could delay the process by sending amendments back to the Assembly, but France's new Premier Edgar Faure, has promised to push through ratification. Italy's ratification is in the final stage. The remaining nations are sure to approve but are hanging back to see what France does. The prospects of French approval were not improved by the German Parliament's attitude to the Saar agreement. Opposition to separating indefinitely the disputed German-speaking border territory from Germany provoked a split in the ruling Adenauer coalition and also aroused stronger disapproval from the opposition Socialists. By arguing that West Germany's comeback depended on this sacrifice, Adenauer wrung a grudging majority for the pact. But in apparent appeasement of the coalition rebels, the lower house approved by a show of hands a supplementary motion affirming that the agreement does not affect that attachment of the Saar to Germany. The resolution also demanded full political freedom in the Saar before and after the Saarlanders vote on the "Europeanization" statute. Bitterness of the Saar dispute reportedly provoked Vice Chancellor Franz Blücher to frame a letter to Adenauer offering his resignation from the Cabinet. Blücher was the only Free Democrat minister to vote with Adenauer on the Saar. The other three Free Democrats in the Cabinet either voted no or abstained.

Reds Willing To Hold Talk Ready To Discuss Case Of Imprisoned U.S. Airmen

By NOEL LAZARO RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burmese Premier U Nu announced today that Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai is willing to receive an unofficial U.S. mission to discuss the case of imprisoned American airmen and tensions between the United States and Peiping. Nu told newsmen he had conveyed Chou's approval of such a conference to U.S. Secretary of State Dulles. The Burmese Premier declined to discuss Dulles' reaction. Dulles stopped off in Rangoon Saturday for a 36-hour visit after attending the Manila Pact conference in Bangkok. He left yesterday for Laos and was due in Saigon later today, en route to Manila. The idea for the conference between Chou and an unofficial U.S. group apparently was advanced by the Burmese premier, who has proposed recently that the five "neutral" Colombo Powers serve as mediators between the Chinese Reds and the Western Powers. Nu declined to say more about the proposal today, explaining: "I do not think I should discuss this."

Following Peiping's announcement that the 13 Americans had been sentenced to jail terms on spy charges, the U.N. General Assembly at U.S. request directed Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to try to get them released. Hammarskjöld flew to Peiping just after Christmas, returning with a report on the condition of the prisoners and of four other American airmen held by the Reds. Subsequently, he transmitted an offer from Chou for the Hammar's families to visit them in China, but the State Department declined to let the relatives make the trip. Since then Hammarskjöld has been working on the case through diplomatic channels. A report from U.N. headquarters last weekend said the secretary general was of the opinion that the time had not come to abandon his efforts on the prisoners' behalf. The prisoners include 11 survivors of a B29 bomber shot down in North Korea Jan. 12, 1953, some six months before the fighting ended. These are the pilot of the plane, Col. John K. Arnold of Silver Spring, Md.; Maj. William H. Baumer of Lewisburg, Pa.; Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn of Missoula, Mont.; Capt. Eugene Vaadi of Clayton, N.Y.; 1st Lt. John W. Buck of Armahseate, Tenn.; 1st Lt. Wallace L. Brown of Banks, Ala.; Sgt. Howard Brown of St. Paul, Minn.; Airman Steve E. Kiba of Akron, Ohio; Airman Harry M. Benjamin Jr. of Worthington, Minn.; Airman Daniel C. Schmidt of Scotia, Calif.; and Airman John W. Thompson III of Orange Va. Sentenced at the same time were two Americans described by U.S. officials as Army civilian employees who were shot down. They are John Thomas Downey of New Britain, Conn. and Richard George Peckau of Lawrence, Mass. Also held by the Reds are four jet fighter pilots shot down on separate missions during the Korean War. They are 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron of Lincoln, Neb., 1st Lt. Roland Parks of Omaha, Neb., 1st Lt. Edwin L. Heller of Wynnewood, Pa., and Capt. Harold E. Fischer of Swea City, Iowa.

Pair Freed By Peiping After Long Detention 'Thorough Brain-Washing'

By DAVID J. ROADS HONG KONG (AP)—Officials today generally credited the Chinese Communists with thorough brainwashing of an American man and woman released after 3½ years' close detention. The Americans, Malcolm Bersohn, 29, of New York City and Mrs. Adele Austin Rickett, 36, formerly of Seattle, Wash., arrived by train from Peiping yesterday. Both said they had spent for a full report from consular officials in the United States and praised the "wonderful treatment" they said they had received. The woman said her husband Walter A. Rickett is still in a Peiping prison. The couple went to China in 1946 as Fulbright scholars. Bersohn, a graduate of Harvard University who also studied at the University of Chicago, had been a medical student at the Peiping Union Medical College. He was a member of the Communist Party and the Chinese people—I deserved every punishment they gave me," Bersohn told some 30 newsmen and four American consulate officials who met the pair at the railroad station. Mrs. Rickett echoed him: "We were treated wonderfully. The Chinese people love peace. I was also once a reactionary and can now see how wrong I was. I deserved everything I received." In Washington, U.S. officials declined to comment on the pair's statements until they received a full report from consular officials at Hong Kong. Unofficially, State Department sources talked of "a pretty thorough job of brainwashing." This explanation also was voiced by Mrs. Rickett's father Harold W. Austin, of Yonkers, N. Y. Bersohn's father, A. P. Bersohn, a New York attorney, said his son "undoubtedly had to confess to a lot of things in order to get out."

Rickett was put under house arrest at the same time, then was moved to the Peiping jail a year later. Eleven days ago, they said, Bersohn and Mrs. Rickett were called before a Communist court and tried on espionage charges. After both confessed and pleaded guilty, they were sentenced to 3½ years and ordered expelled since both had been under detention that long. "The woman said her husband 'has probably not finished his sentence because his crime was bigger than mine.' She said she had helped her husband 'in espionage work, in military, cultural and political espionage,' and that both had been paid by the U. S. consulate in Peiping for their work as spies. Bersohn claimed he had delivered espionage reports to the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency and also had carried out other 'intelligence work' for the Americans.

Seek Identity Of Woman Killed In Road Mishap

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Police continued their efforts today to identify the body of a young woman who apparently was struck and killed on a highway near here yesterday. The body of the blonde woman was found near the Caldwell County line in Alexander County in a ditch in front of the Oxford Memorial Baptist Church. Officers said the woman apparently had been dragged about 257 yards by a car. Both of her legs were broken and she had suffered a head injury. More than 2,500 persons viewed the body at a Taylorsville funeral home yesterday without establishing identification. The woman was described as being about 36, 5-6 and weighing about 126 pounds. She wore a gold wedding ring.

Opposes Adlai In Role Of Nominee

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana, an Eisenhower Democrat in the last presidential election, said today if Adlai Stevenson is the Democratic nominee again next time, he'll run into the same opposition in the party. "If Stevenson is nominated in 1956," Kennon predicted, "the same Democrats who were dissidents then will be dissidents again—this time with a capital D."

Friendly Premier Sweeps Election

TOKYO (AP)—Conservative Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's Democrats won Japan's biggest election yesterday and headed toward a new, stronger administration. Hatoyama, waging an unprecedented American-style campaign for friendship with both sides in the East-West cold war, led the Democrats to a nearly 2-1 conservative sweep. They ended seven years' domination in the House of Representatives by the equally conservative Liberal party of former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida. The Liberals, hurt by charges of corruption, lost about 70 seats—most of them to the Democrats but a few to the Socialists. This may strengthen the drive by leftist parties to block rearmament of Japan. The Communists, with 60 candidates, won two members. With all seats decided, Hatoyama's party had elected 185 of the 467 members of the House. The Liberals elected 112 Left Socialists, 89 Right Socialists, 67 Farmers-Laborites, 25 Communist Party members, 24 Communist Party members, 2 independents, 6 of whom 3 are regarded as conservative. The government reported a record 37,332,137 votes, 75.8 percent of registration. The former record 35,288,755 was set in April 1953. The strong Democratic victory means Hatoyama 72 and partly paralyzed, will be renominated for prime minister when the Diet (Parliament) reconvenes—within two weeks, party leaders said. He is virtually assured of re-election by conservatives. Takekura Ogata, chief of the beaten Liberals, conceded his party would back Hatoyama because "the next Prime Minister should naturally be a member of the first party."

Will Investigate Truce Violations

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Charges of Korean armistice violations, brought both by the Allies and the Communists, will be investigated by truce supervisors, the United Nations Command announced today. The U.N. Command said, however, that the supervisors' agreement to investigate Allied charges of Red MIGs being brought into North Korea illegally probably comes too late. One inspection team left for North Korea last night and two others were to follow tonight. Maj. Gen. Leslie D. Carter, senior Allied member of the Military Armistice Commission, said teams of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission would investigate six locations in South Korea where the Communists charge combat materiel was introduced illegally.

May Resume Full Wartime Basis

TAIPEI Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China, waiting to see where the Reds will strike next in the offshore island war, may soon return to a full wartime basis. A Cabinet reshuffle to achieve that end is expected to be decided tomorrow at a meeting of the Central Committee of the Kuomintang. President Chiang Kai-shek's ruling party. Chiang's Cabinet meets tonight to discuss the troubled financial situation. Means to stabilize exports and possible revision of foreign exchange regulations are expected to be discussed.

State's Development Program Given Boost By Hodges, Douglas, Gill In N. Y. Trip

By LYNN NISBET NEW YORK — The program to develop the business and industrial potentials of North Carolina was given a shot in the arm when Governor Luther Hodges, State Treasurer Edwin Gill and C&D Director Ben E. Douglas came to New York Friday to attend a luncheon at Chase National Bank and the annual meeting for the North Carolina Society of New York. It was a small group that assembled in the special dining room of the bank building, but the names "read like a roll of the nobility in American banking and industry" and one of them is a North Carolinian who has made good in the big time but has not forgotten his home state, or is a big timer from somewhere else who profitably invested in North Carolina. "Take a look at the list." Besides Governor Hodges, Gill and Douglas there were present: J. Dewey Dorsett, general manager, Association of Casualty & Surety Companies; Thomas A. Aldridge, vice president and director, American Oil Company; George G. Allen, chairman of the board, Duke Power Company; John E. Bassill, president and director, American Euka Corporation; Hermon A. High, vice president and director, Vick Chemical Company; Percival S. Howe Jr., president and director, American Thread Company; Robert L. Huffines Jr., president and director, Amerojron Corporation (this is the compound name including the American Woolen Mills, Robbins Mills and Textron, Inc.); Burke McConnell, executive vice president and director, Amerotron Corporation; Joseph McConnell, president and director, Colgate-Palmolive-Pet-Company; John Motley Morehead, philanthropist and industrialist; Thomas A. Morgan, industrialist and director in many companies; Arthur W. Page, director in numerous nationally known corporations; Alex H. Sands Jr., vice president, Duke Endowment, and Gen. Kenneth C. Royal, former secretary of war. Serving as official hosts for the bank were John J. McCloy, chairman of the board; Percy J. Ebbott, president; George Champion, senior vice president; and Robert L. Hatcher Jr., second vice president. The luncheon constituted a "real executive session," in that every guest was an important executive and also no speeches were made for the record. Governor Hodges and several others got on their feet to give a few words. Mostly the conversation was casual and about the prospect of further investment in North Carolina by firms represented—amounting to untold millions of dollars. Friday night the fifty-seventh annual dinner dance of the North Carolina Society of New York was held at the St. Regis roof garden.

Some 200 guests were present, including many North Carolinians whose names carry potency throughout the world. This was a social rather than a business occasion, and Governor Hodges (who made the only talk) spoke in light vein. He managed to get in some good plugs for the home state. He told of educational and social advancement, as well as business development. He recalled that North Carolina buys "more cradles and fewer caskets" than any comparable area in the world. He reminded that despite our growing population we have lost, within the past few years, nearly 200,000 young men and women who went to other states seeking better opportunities. He warned that North Carolina does not want mediocrity and he pleaded for cooperation of the New York contingent in efforts to provide opportunities in this state for our best brains.

Olson Testifies Speech Inspired By Fear For Life

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—M. Sgt. William H. Olson, 40, Army career-man accused of collaborating with the Chinese Communists in Korea, testified today he was in fear of his life when he made a speech praising Chinese treatment of prisoners of war. Olson, Youngsville, Pa., native testifying as a rebuttal witness as his general court martial entered the third week said a Chinese officer told him "it would be better for his health" if he made the speech. Olson said he demurred, but the officer, identified only as Lt. Pan, said Olson "would" make it and gave him an outline. Olson is accused of seven counts of collaboration, one that he made speeches derogatory to the interest of the United States. He made the speech during a party on Christmas Day of 1950 at a prisoner of war camp. Olson said that other prisoners, some of whom testified for the prosecution, also made speeches at the party. Olson, veteran of more than 20 years Army service testified he knew how the Japanese and Germans treated prisoners, but the Chinese had promised better treatment. A member of the court-martial board asked Olson whether he ever had seen Japanese and German atrocities. Olson, who was a prisoner of the Germans for a short time in World War II, replied he knew of them only from hearsay. Olson said he had no intention of aiding the enemy with the speech, and he changed Lt. Pan's outline and did not follow it completely. The defense showed him a phonograph record of the speech which the prosecution had introduced. After reading the copy, Olson replied to a question by saying he did not write that speech and did not make the speech quoted in the photostate. He said he had heard the Chinese give many speeches along the lines of the one in the copy.

Assumes Duties On March 3

Miss Velma Trott will assume March 3 her duties as Immanuel Baptist Church's first religious educational director.

She comes to Greenville from the First Baptist Church of Wilson, where she has been employed since September, 1953.

Miss Trott has a business degree from Mars Hill College, and her B.A. degree in religious education from Meredith College. During 1951-53 she continued her study at Carver School of Social Work and Missions.

Miss Trott has been active in numerous church activities, including the Young Women's Association, the Baptist Training Union and the Baptist Student Union. At Meredith she also served as director of the young people's department training of the Pullen Memorial Church. Her field work includes home missionary work in Texas.

Immanuel Baptist Church officials have stated that Miss Trott's services as religious educational director will meet an urgent need of the growing church for someone to direct the activities of its young people.

Funeral On Tuesday For John H. Manning

John H. Manning died at his home in Robersonville at 12:15 o'clock Sunday morning following six months of illness. He was 72 years old.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home by the Rev. Sam Whitford, Holiness minister of Robersonville, assisted by Rev. A. L. Moore, Free Will Baptist minister of Rocky Mount, and Rev. Ralph Ferguson, Baptist minister of Robersonville. Burial will be in the Robersonville Cemetery.

Mr. Manning was a lifelong resident of the Robersonville community. He operated a fish market in Robersonville for a number of years until ill health forced his retirement two years ago. He was a member of the Robersonville Baptist Church.

Surviving is his wife, the former Rena Whitaker, to whom he was married in 1903; five sons, George Ben of the home, Jim G. of Robersonville, and Johnnie E., Alonza M. and Clayton E., all of Indianapolis, Indiana; three daughters, Mrs. Effie Stella and Mrs. Alice M. Speller, both of Robersonville, and Mrs. Leonard H. Leggett of Williamston.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Miss Johnnie Grey Currin, daughter of Mrs. E. B. Currin of Greenville and the late Mr. Currin, died in Hahnemann Hospital in Washington, D. C., Saturday afternoon after having been critically ill for the past two weeks.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. W. M. Howard, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Miss Currin was born in Apex, N. C., March 7, 1911, and came to Greenville to live as a small child. She attended the Greenville City Schools and was graduated from East Carolina College in 1931. For four years she taught in the Wilson High School before going to Washington, D. C., in 1938 where she held a position with the Welfare Association, U. S. Department of Agriculture. She continued in this work until her recent illness. She was a member of the Jarvis Memorial Church.

Surviving are her mother; a sister, Mrs. Clarence Mathews of Jacksonville, Florida; and a niece, Mrs. John C. Gettsinger of Goldsboro.

Mother of Mrs. Edgar Hirschberg Succumbs
Mrs. Carrie Berry, mother of Mrs. Edgar Hirschberg of Greenville, died in Kenansville, N. C., at 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning after a long illness. She was 81.

Funeral services and burial will be in Vanceberg, Kentucky.

Leads Discussion Fountain School

FOUNTAIN — Dr. Eva Williamson of the East Carolina College faculty led a round table discussion on elementary science at a meeting of Fountain school faculty members of the North Carolina Education Association recently.

Also present for this meeting were county school superintendent D.H. Conley and supervisor Miss Annie Lee Jones. Dr. Williamson was introduced by Conley.

Dr. Williamson pointed out that science is "a natural heritage for children, therefore we should not neglect it." She said it should not be left to incidental teaching, but there should be a planned program of science in the classroom.

"Science should permeate all other school work," Dr. Williamson declared, "and children should be encouraged in creative expression of this subject in poems, drawings and original stories." She noted that the state science bulletin for teachers offers many helpful suggestions in this field.

Mrs. Koma Lee Walker first grade teacher, and Mrs. Emily Mercer, third grade teacher, were in charge of the program.

W. W. Lee To Attend Annual Conference

W. W. Lee, executive vice-president, Home Building and Loan Association of Greenville, will attend the three-day meeting of the Southeastern Group Conference of the United States Savings and Loan League starting Wednesday, March 2, it was announced today.

Lee, a member of the Board of Directors, will be numbered among some 600 savings association executives attending the conference.

Oliver Floyd Hodges Funeral On Tuesday

Oliver Floyd Hodges, 82, died at Taylor Hospital, Washington, Monday at 7:40 a.m. after a week's illness.

Funeral services will be held at Hodges Chapel Holiness Church, near Chocowinity, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Wiley Clark, pastor, and Rev. Roy Williamson, a former pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Trinity Cemetery. The body will be taken to the church one hour before the service.

Mr. Hodges was born and spent all his life in Beaufort County in the Bear Creek Community. He was a member of the Hodges Chapel Holiness Church. He was married to Annie Carrow of Beaufort County and she died in 1938.

Surviving are a son, Chalmers Hammond of Alken, South Carolina; three grandchildren; two brothers, Alonza Hodges of Bear Creek, and Bill Hodges of Grimesland; and several half brothers and sisters.

SCREAM HAS PRICE

BLOOMINGDALE N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Anna Kubs 50, gave out with a $48 scream yesterday. She told police a man entered her restaurant and ordered her to give him all her money. She handed over $48 and let go with a piercing scream. The holdup man flung the money down and ran.

Speight - Morris Rites Performed

Ceremony Sunday Takes Place In Christian Church

Miss Margaret Louise Morris of Greenville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morris of Kinston, became the bride of the Rev. Henry F. Speight Jr. of Fayetteville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Speight Sr. of Greenville, on Sunday, February 27.

The vows were spoken before Dr. H. G. Haney in the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. P. A. Hickling, organist, and Corporal Arthur E. Bishop of the U. S. Army at Fort Bragg soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. Her veil of French illusion was attached to a fitted cap. She carried an orchid atop a satin covered century old Scottish Bible.

Mrs. Howard T. Pitts of Weldon, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a waltz length dress of blue nylon net and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and blue baby's breath with contrasting ribbons of blue. Miss Florence McFadden and Miss Lib Cook, both of Greenville, were bridesmaids. They wore waltz length dresses of white tulle over taffeta, with blue headbands and blue shoes, and carried bouquets of blue chrysanthemums with white pompons and blue ribbons. Little Miss Marilyn Thornton of Fayetteville was flower girl and wore a full length dress of white nylon net. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

J. E. Speight of Greenville served as best man. Ushers were William Nolan of Fayetteville, Louis W. Gaylord Jr. of Greenville, J. B. Congleton Jr. of Stokes, and W. F. Hough of Washington.

Mrs. Morris, mother of the bride, chose a medium blue crepe dress and wore a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Speight, wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of red roses.

A solemn feature of the ceremony was the administration of Holy Communion to the bride and groom by Chaplain Arthur F. Weaver, close friend of the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social hall of the church given by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Eighth Street Christian Church.

For their wedding trip, the bride wore a royal blue wool suit and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Speight received her A. B. degree from Atlantic Christian College in Wilson. She served as secretarial assistant to the National Director of Youth Work of the Disciples of Christ, with headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., and has served as Director of Religious Education in the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville for four years.

The Rev. Mr. Speight received his A. B. degree from East Carolina College in Greenville, his M. A. from Indiana State Teachers College in Terre Haute, Ind., and his B. D. will be at home at 908 Clarendon Street in Fayetteville, where Mr. Speight is pastor of the First Christian Church.

Talking Books Devised For Pre-School Children

By DOROTHY ROE

Did you ever wish books could talk? Well, now they can thanks to the efforts of a book-loving couple named Bernard and Darlene Geis, who decided somebody had to do something to give books a fighting chance in the battle for children's interests waged by television, movies and radio.

"We had been working on a new series of books for preschool children," says Darlene, who is the mother of two sons, Peter 11, and Stephen, 5. "That's our field. Bernard edits children's books and I write them. We worked hard getting the kind of pictures that would appeal to nonreading readers, and tried them all out on our boys."

"But my husband kept saying it wasn't quite enough—the books should be able to speak for themselves."

One evening he rushed home with a strange-looking book. It had a round piece of grooved paper glued on the front cover and a hole punched in the middle.

They read the book to Peter and Stephen, they looked at the pictures, then Daddy said nonchalantly to the boys:

"Now put this on your phonograph and play it."

The youngsters stared in disbelief, but obeyed, and suddenly the room was full of sound. The book was talking.

Mr. and Mrs. Geis now have 10 such books in process of publication.

The record is not just a repetition of the text, but is coordinated with it with musical arrangements by Jimmy Carroll and a 15-piece orchestra. When the story has to do with a farm, the sound track has the voices of real farm animals. When it's about the zoo, children can hear a real lion's roar.

Social Security Number Lacking

GREENSBORO — P. K. Sanders, North Carolina District Director of Internal Revenue, expressed concern today over the large number of self-employed individuals who pay self-employment social security taxes, but who do not possess a social security account number. Almost eight per cent of the taxpayers in North Carolina, who filed self-employment tax returns in 1953, did not enter their social security number.

Director Sanders stated that all taxpayers who pay self-employment tax should take particular care to enter their social security number on Schedule C-a of Form 1040, Self-Employment Income Report Form, in order to assure receiving proper credit with the Social Security Administration.

If you do not have a social security account number, you must get one, he says. These account numbers are obtainable from any of the thirteen Social Security Administration offices throughout North Carolina. The telephone directory or your post offices will give the address.

Mr. Sanders went on to say that regardless of whether a joint or separate return is filed by husband and wife, Schedule C-a (Form 1040) should show only the name of the one with the self-employment income. If both had net earnings from self-employment, a separate Schedule C-a must be filed by each.

Assail Idea Of Education Curb

CHICAGO (AP)—A panel of top American college educators assailed as "nonsense" and "rubbish" today the idea expressed by the president of Yale that colleges must keep enrollments down to prevent "dilution" of education.

The educators, here for the 10th National Conference on Higher Education, were asked by an Associated Press reporter to discuss college opportunities for young people. They centered their fire on A. Whitney Griswold, head of Yale, who in a Feb. 18 speech said he did not think Yale should let itself get any more than 10 per cent bigger.

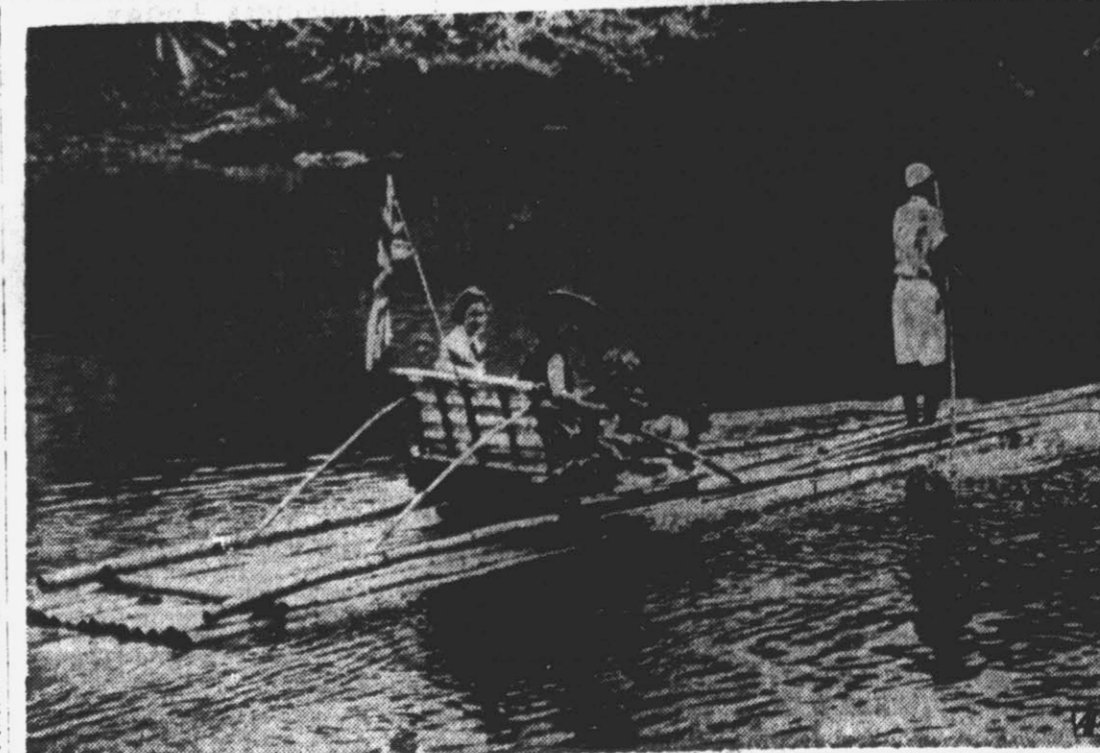

President Francis H. Horn of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N.Y., said:

"This is sheer nonsense unless you admit that Yale or Princeton already has a diluted form of education. . . I think they still have a highly selective group. The results of their people out in front of science and technology and the humanities proves it."

Other comment from the panel included:

George H. Hand, vice president of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. — "I consider that (Griswold's) statement sheer rubbish."

Make Local Government Local

The suggestion of Chairman Clyde Shreve of the House Counties, Cities and Towns Committee that more responsibility for local government be thrown back to local governing bodies should be given consideration by the General Assembly.

Session after session the legislature is flooded with legislation pertaining to purely local matters in individual counties and municipalities. A few of these items properly should have the consideration of the General Assembly, but the vast majority of them could better be handled by the local governing boards. Not only could local governing boards determine the policies which they are responsible for carrying out; but the General Assembly could give much more time to matters of state-wide importance rather than devoting the time to purely isolated local issues.

In one day recently we noted no less than a dozen purely local bills introduced or passed in the General Assembly. The vast majority of them appeared to be matters which the local government units properly should have the authority to act upon without referring them to the legislature.

Among those noted, for example were bills:
Permitting Guilford County to hire an employee to provide for the welfare of prisoners.
Permitting Union County to hire a sub-recorder for its recorder's Court.

Providing for fire protecting in Raleigh suburbs.
Pertaining to sidewalk improvements in Raleigh.

Changing election days in several towns.
Authorizing several towns to establish special reserve funds.

It appears to us that those matters and similar matters could be better handled by the local government units involved than by the state legislature.

Why should the General Assembly be charged with the responsibility of determining whether Guilford can hire a person to look after the welfare of county prisoners, or Union County should hire a sub-recorder? And why, if Guilford Commissioners feel they need a man to look after prisoner's welfare and Union needs a sub-recorder, should those counties have to wait for word from Raleigh before providing for those needs of their county?

Provisions should be made to remove this old stumbling block from the administration of local government. Perhaps some legislators will balk at the suggestion because the existing procedure gives them a great deal of influence and control over purely local issues as well as state-wide legislation. Nevertheless, we feel the local government units and their citizens would be better off if local governing boards had the authority to handle their own affairs without first getting permission from the General Assembly.

More Such Economy Measures Needed

The enactment of a law requiring only one license tag for automobiles rather than two is the type of basically sound economy measures needed in North Carolina government.

The passage of the bill will mean a savings of $125,000 annually by the state. It will not curtail the services being rendered by the government to the people of the state. The new law merely cuts off one of the unnecessary extras which will be little missed by the people; and in so doing releases $125,000 of taxpayers money annually to be applied to more essential government functions.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
LIFE'S UPS AND DOWNS
There is a town in the western part of the United States which bears the pleasant name of Paradise. In frontier days it was known as "Fair o' dice." Thus we observe that evolution, that sprucing up, that process of making respectable, which often takes place. It reveals the irrepressible determination and power of people and places to be better, if given half a chance.

There is a power in us which keeps working all the time for our degradation. This is known in theology as moral depravity. But along with this power is another, and this works incessantly to make us better. I know of a child born of parents who kept a dive, yet the child by sheer force of character grew into a man of unusual distinction and position. I know of a splendid musician today whose father and mother came out of homes far from desirable. Sometimes paradise degenerates into "fair o' dice," but quite as often "fair o' dice" grows into "paradise."

A terrific conflict goes on in the heart of every individual and—psychologists tell us—in his mind. Doctors tell us that this conflict is constantly going on between germs and the bodies in our blood stream which kill off the germs, or at least keep them in control.

Something within us and in the world constantly trying to build us up and something trying to tear us down. Paradise and "Fair o' dice" constantly striving against each other for supremacy.

Did MacArthur Hurt Stand?

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Administration leaders, including President Eisenhower, are concerned lest General Douglas MacArthur has supplied Moscow with anti-American arguments in the current world disarmament negotiations before the United Nations. Possibly inadvertently, "Mac" has placed "the" in an embarrassing position on this grave issue.

After MacArthur's recent Los Angeles address, urging that the United States proclaim its "readiness"—not merely its willingness—to head a movement for abolition of war, he has a great following. There was, however, no significant comment from Washington, which takes the view that only Soviet obstinacy blocks even a beginning at disarmament.

DISARMAMENT QUERY—A letter from Representative Victor L. Anuso (D-NY) drew a prompt reply from the former Far Eastern Commander. The New York member asked MacArthur if it would be helpful for him to introduce a House resolution, declaring that it is the will of the American people to abolish war as a means of settling international disputes.

Anuso's letter described MacArthur as "the greatest living soldier, and, therefore, qualified to speak on this subject."

MACARTHUR'S DECLARATION—MacArthur's immediate answer threw cold water on the Anuso suggestion. MacArthur declared that even the "totalitarian" peoples hate war, but that their leaders "defy the will of the masses."

Then follows the MacArthur comment which, so certain officials fear, casts doubts on Eisenhower's repeatedly defined position, as well as on the American Government's official program at today's U. N. and all future world conferences. He wrote:

"So, in my opinion, it would take more than the Congressional expression, which you suggest, to trigger a worldwide movement for the abolition of war."

Business Today

Cutting In On Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER
A druggist was complaining because a supermarket had "stolen" a large part of his business.

"I'll trade you a home builder for a supermarket any day," said the owner of a furniture and appliance store.

Builders have cut deeply into the furniture and appliance trade. This year they are cutting even deeper. More homes are being built with built-in devices, more homes are being sold with furnishings as part of the package.

Wash-high wall ovens, fold-back cooking surfaces and the coming wall refrigerator are speeding the trend to completely equipped kitchens. Most homes selling for $12,000 and more this year will have them. Those in the upper price ranges will have refrigerators and freezers, range-dishwashers, garbage macerators, air conditioners and attic fans.

Houses as low as $7,000 have been sold with built-in television sets. Some homes are sold with wall-to-wall carpeting. Built-in bars in rumpus rooms, rattles in dressing nooks, and fully equipped laundry rooms mean fewer sales for retailers.

Buyers want it that way. When a builder coordinates construction with equipment, there's never any doubt about the room for washers, refrigerators or other devices. Besides, when the average family makes the down payment on a new home, it usually hasn't enough cash left to buy all the furniture and appliances it wants. It prefers to have them part of the deal, paid for in mortgage payments.

And because it so many cases there would be no sale unless the article was part of the package, manufacturers work hard at selling the bundle. When retailers complain because manufacturers sell to builders, the usual answer is that if that manufacturer didn't, some other one would.

Builders cut into retailers' sales in another way. Many operate discount businesses on the side. Because competition in selling to builders is so great manufacturers usually give builders large discounts. A builder wanting stoves for a 50-unit development can usually get them cheaper than can a retailer who sells only a dozen a year. Furthermore, if the builder orders 10 more to sell at cut prices, the manufacturer is likely to go along.

Some houses have been offered recently completely furnished, even to dishes and a car in the garage. But those deals are rare and will so continue at least until home selling gets tough.

RETAILERS GET CRUMMY WITH THEIR CUSTOMERS

Customers know Oak Park, Ill., merchants and employees better now. The merchants of the town staged a "get acquainted" week. A special edition of a newspaper carried pictures and facts about owners, managers and salespersons. Stores carried the idea along by having personnel introduce themselves, being more than usually friendly, etc.

MANY FIRMS PASS UP FASTER WRITE-OFFS

Management is divided on the value of accelerating their depreciation to meet the faster rates now permitted for tax purposes. A survey of 167 firms by the National Industrial Conference Board shows 45 per cent are changing depreciation policies, 35 per cent have decided against the change and the remainder have not yet made up their minds. The law permits firms that have not changed to change later.

'Fourth Revolution' In Retail Merchandising Ahead

By ROGER W. BABSON
BARBON PARK, Fla. — Merchandising at the retail level has already passed through Three Revolutions since 1875.

Great Changes Since 1875
Preceding those days there were no mail order houses or department stores, few chain stores (A&P had 50 stores which carried only tea, coffee, and crackers) but many wholesale houses and independent merchants. They were doing 95 per cent of the retail business. My father was one of these in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

The First Revolution in retailing was brought on by the department stores and mail order houses. This made it unnecessary to visit several different stores, if you lived in a city, while, if you lived in the country, you could shop by mail from your farm. This Revolution was desperately fought by the old-time retailers. The Second Revolution came with the chain stores, which cut out the wholesalers. The department stores continued to buy through wholesalers; but the chains bought direct from the manufacturers. Hence, they were fought by legislation and taxation enacted at the demand of the middlemen.

Discount Stores New The Target of the Third Revolution is now on, being caused by the "discount houses." This is an effort to reduce retail prices by cutting out the bureaucracy, high rents, and unnecessary overhead developed by the department stores. But, a "Fourth Revolution" is being fought against parking meters, automobile congestion, and a lack of sufficient free parking, is just ahead of us.

This is being temporarily met by building new "Shopping Centers." It is reported that Allied Stores is to spend over $200,000 for this purpose. Shopping Centers, however, will be only a halfway cure. Wannamakers, which was the world's largest department store when I was a boy, has thrown in the sponge in its fight against automobiles and discount houses.

New Shopping Centers Just Ahead
Shopping Centers offer free parking and self-service, but the high rents may result in higher prices. Anyway, customers who use shopping Centers are more dependent on automobiles than if they patronized the old downtown merchants. In fact, if city officials would treat their bus systems fairly, the present downtown stores could continue to give better service and perhaps undersell the new Shopping Center prices. I don't know. Different cities differ.

The next, or Fourth, Revolution in retailing will be forced upon us by the automobiles. Simple arithmetic proves that the present race to make "the most and the largest" automobiles, with insufficient increase in highway capacity, will result in long lines of cars waiting for a parking space. It is true that we are building splendid new toll roads; but very little is being done to avoid congestion in cities and to help local merchants. Otherwise, people may some day cease using automobiles for shopping. These machines may remain in the garage except for trips — as mother's sewing machine is now seldom used.

More Advertising and Telephoning
I forecast that this Fourth Revolution will result in customers buying from their homes soon by telephone, and later by television. Increased newspaper advertising with many more newspaper pictures of products for sale, supplemented by better telephone service, will become the custom. People are now sick of hunting for places to park their cars when shopping. People will think of the risk and gasoline costs of driving to Shopping Centers. The time may come when 80 per cent of the shoppers will sit at home and buy. I believe the stocks of certain newspapers—which are now temporarily in the dumps—plus stocks of telephone companies, preferably the wide-awake independents, are among today's best "buys." (Local bankers please take notice.) Furthermore, I am investing my hard-earned money in "United Stores" stocks (listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges). A company has recently organized a new corporation to profit from this coming Fourth Revolution.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
LOCAL — The 1955 General Assembly is running true to form in that more than half the bills introduced will have only one or two counties or municipalities. It is different in that more purely local bills have been introduced in the Senate this year. Traditionally, because each county has at least one Representative and senatorial districts include one, two and up to seven counties, purely local bills have originated in the House.

The complications that arise from local bills may be illustrated by one or two incidents. The other day one of the Judiciary committees had two similar, but directly contrasting bills. One proposed to take Lenoir county out of the list requiring official documents offered for registration in the courthouse to be signed by the lawyer or whoever else might have prepared the bill. The other bill included Gaston county in the list from which Lenoir sought to be exempted. Both bills were given committee okay.

Then the committee on counties, cities and towns had two bills. One took from the sheriff of Cumberland county the right to name his deputies and put that authority in a civil service commission. The other spelled out the right of the sheriff of Robeson county to name his deputies and made the sheriff responsible for the actions of his appointees.

These directly opposite attitudes governed by purely local conditions consumed a lot of time in committees and on the floor of the Senate and House, and required legislators from Currituck and Cherokee to vote on matters which could not possibly concern anybody outside of Cumberland and Gaston, Lenoir and Robeson counties. Local bills of this type are responsible for the fact that more than 2,000 bills are introduced every session and some 1,300 enacted, of which less than 500 are of important statewide significance.

SATISFIED — One thing for which members of the current Legislature have expressed gratitude and appreciation in the way school teachers and other State employees have "stayed off our necks." The teachers have expressed through authorized spokesmen objection to provisions for annual instead of continuing employment contracts, but even when this opposition was being voiced there was an undercurrent of thinking that year to year tenure might be justified in view of the non-segregation policy.

State employees other than teachers have manifested great interest in the proposal to integrate retirement with Federal provisions for old age benefit insurance. This is in line with recommendations of the commission for reorganization of State government. Naturally all State employees would like to have increased salaries, but there has been no general claim made so far this session and none is expected from here out for blanket pay increase. Workers on the State payroll are as fully conscious as members of the Legislature that current and prospective revenue does not justify pay raises although the salary scale for State employees is below the norm for comparable jobs in private industry.

Whatever may be the motivating reasons the fact is that State employees this year have raised less fuss about increased pay than in any session of the Legislature within the past 20 years. There are pending requests for certain "fringe benefits," such as more sick leave and petty leave time and higher retirement pay through integration with the Federal system. There is good chance some of these extra benefits will be granted, mainly because the lawmakers appreciate the fact State employees are not "blowing down our necks every time we turn around."

PAR CLEARANCE — One of the scraps which has to be regarded as a "regular" for each session of the General Assembly has not developed yet. Many observers have been surprised that bills providing for par clearance of checks, drafts, etc., by all banks have not hit the legislative mill.

It was reported before the beginning of the session that bills had been drawn and that there was likely to be a usual fight over the issue. It is essentially, though by no means, entirely conflict between big banks and small.

Members of the Federal Reserve System are required to clear at par, that is, they are not permitted to charge exchange or service fees simply for the handling of banking paper. All national banks must belong to the Federal Reserve System, and most of the larger state banks are affiliated. A large percentage of the smaller banks, particularly those in small towns with chiefly agricultural clients, are not members of the Federal Reserve and they do make charges for collecting checks and drafts drawn on banks in other communities.

The small banks have argued that the receipts from his source constitute the margin of profit, and that if this source is dried up many of the banks will have to close—or adopt almost constant charges and fees for other services now rendered gratis. They further argue that this is a matter of operational policy which should be determined by each institution, not fixed by statute.

The par clearance advocates contend the exchange fees constitute an unwarranted extra cost, which must be paid by the person or firm writing the check but by its recipient. This means that when a check is written to pay $100 account and 10 cents is deducted for exchange, the recipient gets only $89.90, leaving part of the bill unpaid.

Advocates of par clearance have re-organized a group that was active a few years ago, headed by Gurney P. Hood, former Commissioner of Banks, and bills are expected within a few days.

Wondering In Wonderful World

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—It's a wonderful world, and here are a few things in it to wonder about:

Why are women afraid of mice, when the average mouse can run at a speed of only about four miles an hour today prefer rubber heels to leather shoes? Why do men wear hats? Why do we have a secret yearning to hold up a bank? If not, why do you always have a guilty feeling that the bank guard is keeping a careful eye on you that, as a man's hair begins to thin on his scalp, he often grows more hair on his chest? Is he just the victim of a bunch of crazy, mixed-up follicles?

How come when you go to a guy's funeral you so seldom see his doctor present among the mourners? What makes most men feel so vaguely depressed when they see their reflection in a three-way mirror in a clothing store? Is it because they are startled to find out how they really look to other people all the time?

porcupines actually find each other attractive, or do they marry in self-defense, realizing that nothing else on earth would put up with a porcupine except another porcupine? Would it work out if a porcupine and a skunk fell in love?

How long has it been since you heard a streetcleaner singing at his work? Or a banker? What is the life expectancy of a mothball? And what happens to them anyway? Do they wear out, or just fade away? Is there any market in second-hand mothballs? Can you trade in old ones on new ones?

Why is it so many people want the rose named as America's national flower? Doesn't the simple homespun dandelion, the children's delight, have any supporters?

If a national organization were formed to discourage the custom of tipping, would the club motto be: "Show 'em no quarter?" Where do some girls get the foolish idea that freckles aren't a feminine asset? How many conversationally dull women have husbands today merely because the guy of their choice was so preoccupied with counting their freckles during their dates that he never really heard the nonsense they were talking, and which might have frightened him away?

If science can solve the problem of filtering radioactive wastes from atom power plants, isn't there some hope it will also be able in time to separate those old movies from our television screens?

While we're brooding on the prospects for a better world, why doesn't Congress help the common man by inventing a self-paying tax?

Wouldn't there be fewer crowded prisons if there were more traffic jams in churches?

In later life can you ever capture a rapture as fresh as the moment when, as a child, you caught a firefly for the first time in your cupped hands, on a soft summer night?

In a wonderful world, you wonder.

DECEMBER SALES BOOM
The Department of Commerce has completed its breakdown of retail sales in December and finds that they averaged 9 per cent above a year ago and an expected 2 per cent above November.

In spite of the fact that December sales set an all-time high mark in American merchandising, a few lines took in less than in the same month in 1953.

The biggest drop, 11 per cent, was in apparel, accessory and specialty stores not included in the men's and boys' clothing and furnishings stores, women's ready-to-wear stores and family clothing stores. Men's and boys' furnishing stores showed a 3 per cent drop.

Precautions Urged In Light Of AEC Report On Lethal 'Fall-Out' Effects

RALEIGH — Atomic Energy Commission's recent disclosure concerning radio-active "fall-out" is a serious warning to the people of North Carolina and to all other states, General Edward F. Griffin, State Director of Civil Defense said today, in a bulletin issued from his office. "But there is something that can be done to escape destruction by it," he said, "fall-out is fatal only to those who disregard the necessity to take early and proper precautions."

Radioactive "fall-out" is created when an atomic or hydrogen bomb is exploded at or near ground level. Tons of debris are sucked into the fire-ball and carried high into the atmosphere above the earth. This pulverized, radioactive material can travel "down wind," falling out over an area as much as 200 miles distant from the detonation point. Laterally, the contamination extends about 40 miles. Its course is determined entirely by the direction of the prevailing wind.

"Fall-out danger can be met — and overcome — by a combination of four things: adequate warning, workable evacuation programs, proper cover and shelter, and public understanding of decontamination measures."

"Scientific development makes adequate warning of fall-out possible. The rest of the combination depends on community and individual cooperation with Civil Defense efforts."

"Precautionary measures have been established by experts and publicized simultaneously with the fall-out announcement from Atomic Energy Commission. The information will continue to go out as rapidly as publicity media and official bulletins can disseminate it to the general public and to Civil Defense authorities throughout the state. There is real responsibility for governing officials at every level and for every individual citizen to be guided by the information and translate it into action with least possible delay."

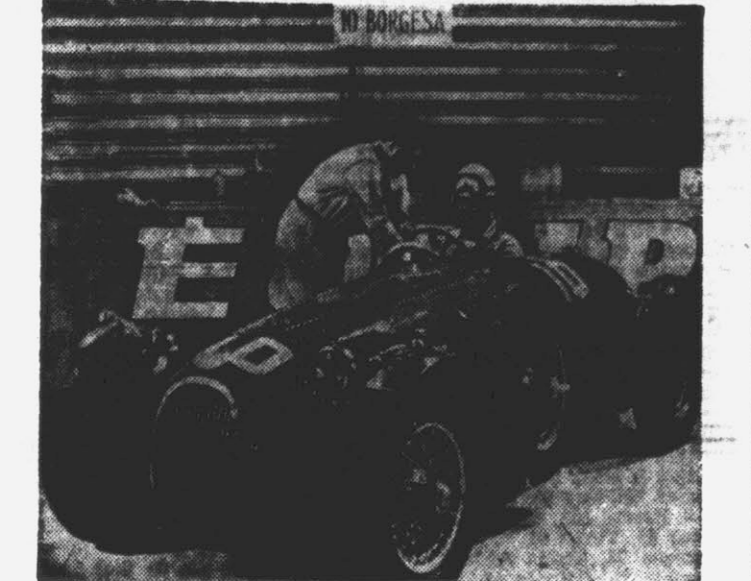

"The announcement about fall-out does not make previous Civil Defense planning obsolete. Instead it necessitates some re-evaluation, some broadening and much intensification of some phases of the program heretofore considered secondary."

"Great emphasis must be placed on security and equipment of home shelters... shelters, long advocated as protection from blast, must now be strengthened according to regulations so that they can also protect from all-out radiation. Three feet of earth over a shelter eliminates danger from fall-out entirely. And there is added necessity for having a battery radio receiver in the shelter. Those, and many other details, are being publicized with all possible speed", Griffin said.

"The heaviest burden created by possibility of fall-out is the complication involved for Civil Defense planners in the state's target cities, where evacuation of the population is of primary concern. Those directors and state-level planners must continue to contemplate initial radiation problems, smaller weapon non-contaminating burst and possibility of attack with little or no warning time."

"My best advice to the people of North Carolina right now is this: Learn everything possible from official Civil Defense instruction and act on it, personally. It applies to every individual and every community."

Goddess Coming Up In The World

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Quan Yin is coming up in the world. She's moving to Beverly Hills.

Quan Yin, a five-foot clay statue of the Chinese goddess of mercy, has stood in Los Angeles' "Old China City" since 1937.

She was ankle deep in the Pond of Promises and in the dreams and wishes of lovers and tourists who threw pennies at her feet.

But today Quan Yin is on the way out. Old China City, with its twisting streets and curio shops, is being torn down.

Frank Martin, one of the owners of the property said the city will be razed to make room for a parking lot. He intends to put Juan Yin in the back yard of his Beverly Hills home.

Quan Yin stood at the entrance of the tiny walled replica of old China, built when the Union Station crowded many shops out of the older Chinese quarter.

Millions of tourists have walked past the statue and into the crooked streets of the city. They have passed down alleys that smacked of streets off Bubbling Well road in Shanghai, explored shops, taken rickshaw rides. They have eaten the great Irish dish of chop suey served up with chopsticks at the Pong Fung house.

Today it's a different scene. Walls are coming down. Electric saws whirl through timber. Nails cry as workmen pull them like teeth.

Quan Yin stands alone in the Pond of Promises. A few goldfish undulate past her feet. No pennies splash about her.

But maybe it's all for the best. After all, how long can a girl live on promises?

Nautilus Sister Sub Ready Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's second nuclear submarine, the Sea Wolf, probably will be launched within the next two or three months.

The sister of the 3,000-ton Nautilus—but with improvements in design and an atomic engine of different type—has been building since June 1953.

On the basis of time required for building the first hull, the Sea Wolf apparently will be scheduled to go down the ways at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at New London, Conn., sometime in May.

If the Nautilus pattern is followed, the Sea Wolf will have when launched the framework and some other components — although not the fuel load — of the atomic furnace.

A land-based model of the Sea Wolf's engine was started at West Milton, N.Y. in 1953 by the General Electric Co. under contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Presumably that test plant—a copy of the one that will be installed in the Sea Wolf—is about ready for trials, if not actually in operation. The AEC and Navy declined today to say.

The nuclear power plant in the Nautilus, built by Westinghouse Electric Corp. and that for the Sea Wolf are of different types.

The AEC and Navy decided, at the outset of the nuclear submarine program, to build both types and then decide which design was the more efficient and easier operating. The Nautilus has been in operation since last month. The Sea Wolf probably will not be ready until sometime in the spring of 1956.

Tripoli Is Shown Life In America

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—Since the U.S. air base at nearby Wheelus Field installed a TV transmitter for servicemen and their dependents Tripoli residents have been getting their first view of American life.

Two TV sets have been set up in store windows on the city's main shopping street, the Shaha Istiklal. Crowds gather around them every evening.

"This American entertainment rejuvenates me," declared 65-year-old Mohamed Ben Ali, as he stood in front of the store window set wrapped in his barracan a white, blanketlike outer garment. Mohamed, a retired small farmer, said he could not afford a radio and has to think twice before he pays for a seat in an Arabic theater to see an Egyptian film. "So I come every evening to see what the new world has to offer," he said.

Mohamed and his friends soon will be seeing occasional Arabic shows as Libya is able to make use of TV time made available on the Wheelus transmitter.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

Speaking at a Methodist Conference in Charlotte, N. C., recently, Miss Thelma Stevens, of the denomination's Board of Missions, urged church people to renew their quest for "the New Testament gospel of peace." "There is a peace of mind school of thought that enables many people to escape from the crisis of today's pressures and think good thoughts," said Miss Stevens. "But they fail to interpret their own peace of mind in terms of its practical application to human relations. We cannot escape our personal, group and national responsibility to share in the world's suffering. No person who seeks sincerely to practice the New Testament Gospel of peace can with good conscience fail to be concerned about: the use of atomic power for destructive purposes; the use of 40 billion dollars in the next fiscal year for proposed national security out of a total budget of 62 billion dollars; the increasing pressure for UMT; the fact that two-thirds of the world's population, including nearly 500,000,000 children, are hungry and illiterate; the cry of the world's people for freedom everywhere — freedom from communist totalitarianism, freedom from racial segregation and discrimination."

Most European women have more concern for the Bible and theology than American women, says Mrs. Clytha Wedel, wife of Canon T. O. Wedel, of Washington Cathedral, after visiting women's church groups in Germany, Switzerland and France. Though European women generally are more theologically minded, Mrs. Wedel said, American women probably are more expert at organizing and doing things. European church women have a better understanding of the World Council and what it stands for, she added. The difference in interests between European and American church women points up the need for each group learning from the other, Mrs. Wedel believes. A mutual increase in knowledge and understanding can lead to greater cooperation, she added. "A more accurate picture of one another is the first thing our women's groups on each side of the Atlantic need," Mrs. Wedel said. "To get to know each other, we need many more visits to and fro with time to get acquainted."

Playoff Necessary For State Event

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Kinston's fired up Red Devils caught the conference champion Greenville Phantoms when they were dull and listless and ran them in the ground to gain the tournament championship 68-61 in East Carolina College gymnasium Saturday night.

The Red Devils outjumped, out-rebounded, and outshot Coach Bo Farley's Green Phantoms to force them into a playoff for the league's right to enter the state tournament. The playoff date has not been announced as yet but will probably be sometime during the next week. The state tourney is March 10, 11, 12 in Sanford.

Pack Is Odds On Raleigh Favorite

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The eight-team Atlantic Coast Conference strained at the leash today, waiting for the opening round Thursday of the annual basketball tournament at Raleigh to decide the circuit's official champion.

The odds-on favorite to win is North Carolina State, which led the regular season race with a 12-2 record, losing only four of 29 games overall.

The tournament winner will represent the conference in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament. But should State win, it won't be eligible. The Wolfpack is under suspension by the NCAA for allegedly violating its player try-out regulations. Thus the second place team in the tournament will play in the NCAA affair.

Duke, on the basis of its second place finish in the regular standings is the pick for runner up honors.

The pairings, made on the basis of regular season standings, are automatic. They are 1-8, 2-7, 3-6 and 4-5.

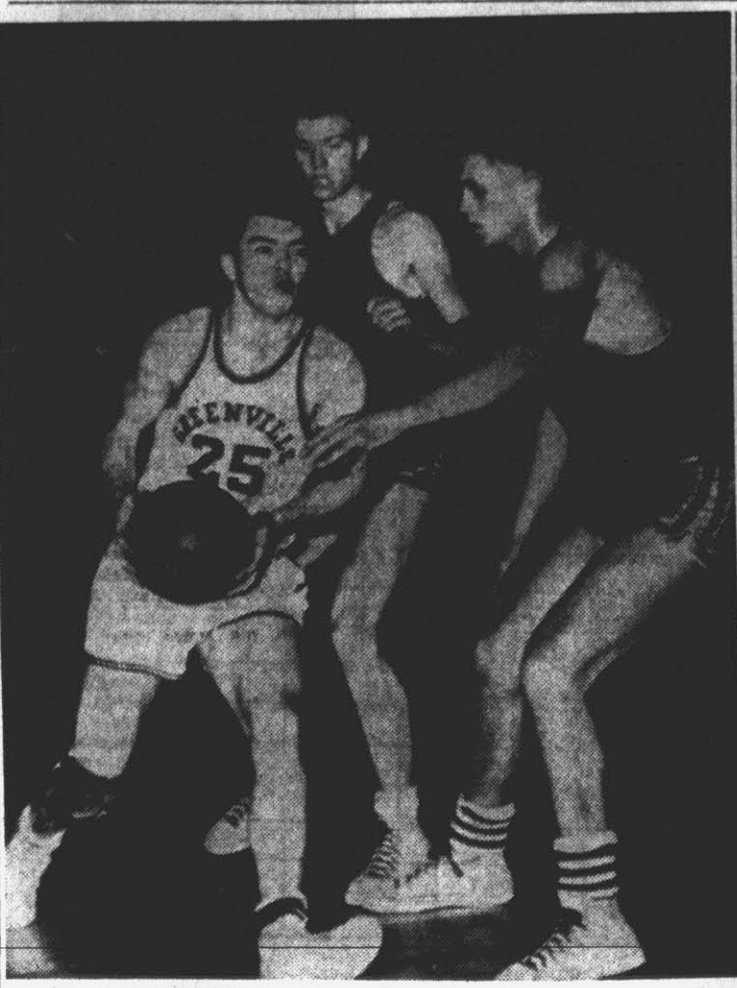

Fourth place ended in a tie between Wake Forest and North Carolina, both with 8-4 records.

Wake Forest whipped Clemson Saturday, 100-79, to earn the tie as the Deacons' ace center, Dickie Hemric, scored 29 points, setting a new major college career scoring record of 2,539 points. Hemric scored his points during four years of varsity competition. He beat the record of 2,508 set by Frank Selvy during three years of varsity play at Furman.

Hemric, an all-conference, Associated Press pick and a good bet for All-America honors, dropped in the tying and record-breaking points on two free throws.

State captured its ninth straight victory Saturday, a 68-59 win over George Washington. The victory for the sixth-ranked Wolfpack was its 16th in nine straight years over the Colonials who haven't been able to beat them during that time.

Following the game, it was announced that the Wolfpack will play in the National Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) tournament March 21-26 at Denver.

UNC New King Of ACC Track

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina's track team is the new king of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Tar Heels grabbed the conference division crown Saturday night by edging Maryland in the second annual ACC indoor games. North Carolina scored 36 points, Maryland 35 1/2. Duke 24, South Carolina 14, North Carolina State 9, Virginia 7 1/2 and Clemson 6. Maryland won the title in 1954.

Five records were broken as more than 650 athletes from 50 colleges and high schools competed in four divisions.

VMI retained its title in the non-conference division with 22 1-3 points. Next in order of finish were: Navy 21, Florida 15, Georgia 12 1/2, Georgia Tech 10, Alabama 7 1-3, Florida State 5 5-7, Presbyterian 4, Davidson 3 1/2, William and Mary 2, VPI 2, Roanoke College 1 1/2.

In the freshman group, Duke pulled 22 points to Maryland's 19. Washington-Lee High of Arlington, Va., repeated as champion in the scholastic division with 17 points.

Duke's Joel Shankie was individual high scorer with 17 points. New records were set by: North Carolina's Jim Beatty in the conference two-mile event with 9:25.5. The old record of 9:34.5 was set in 1940 by Fields of Maryland.

Duke's Durham Lawshe in the conference shot put. His mark of 51 feet, 1 1/2 inches bettered his 1954 record of 51 feet, 3/4 inches. Earle Poucher of Florida in the pole vault. He cleared the bar at 14 feet, 5 1/2 inches, topping his old nonconference record of 14 feet, 3 1/2 inches set in 1954.

Baseball's Spring Training Sees Start Tuesday; Question Marks

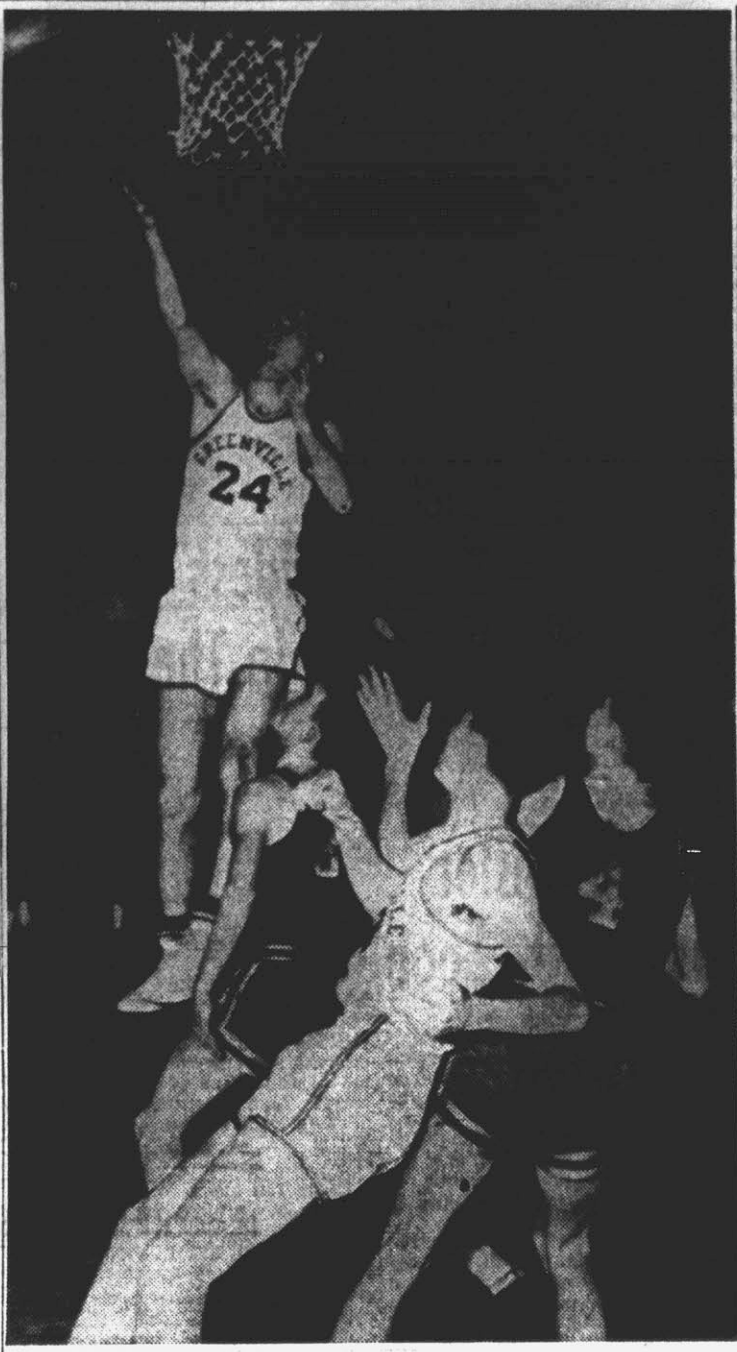

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The opening of spring training tomorrow will mark the beginning of a new career for some 50 major leaguers involved in one of the wildest winter trading sprees in many years.

Under close scrutiny undoubtedly will be pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen and shortstop Billy Hunter, who came to the Yankees from Baltimore last November in a gigantic transaction involving a record 18 players. Equal attention will be focused on outfielder Gene Woodling, catcher Hal Smith, first baseman Gus Triandos, shortstop Willie Miranda and pitchers Harry Byrd and Jim McDonald, who were among those shipped by the Yankees to the Orioles.

How well Turley and Larsen perform on the mound for the Yankees may be a deciding factor in the club's efforts to regain the American League championship from Cleveland. Manager Paul Richards, in the process of rebuilding the seventh-place Orioles, is counting heavily on Woodling, Smith, Byrd and McDonald to give Baltimore a first-division finish.

Richards has added 18 players who were on other major league rosters in 1954. The list includes such veterans as Billy Cox, former Brooklyn third baseman; Johnny Pesky, Detroit infielder; Boos Evers, Boston outfielder; and Saul Rogovin, White Sox pitcher.

The biggest National League trade of the off-season was engineered by St. Louis and Cincinnati. The Cardinals, in desperate need of relief pitching, gambled heavily in relinquishing Ray Jablonski, one of the league's better hitters, along with right-hander

The opening basketball games in an elimination to decide the District 26 representative to the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics championships next week at Wichita, Kans., start in the Carolinas tonight.

North State Conference champion Atlantic Christian meets East Carolina at Kinston. Presbyterian, South Carolina's Little Four champ, faces Lenoir Rhyne at Hickory.

District Chairman Jim Hamilton of Lenoir Rhyne said first-round winners will meet Wednesday night in the finals at a site to be determined after the finalists are known.

New Champ And 3 New Records At Lexington

LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP)—The North State Conference had a new tournament champion and three new records today following Atlantic Christian's surprising 108-85 victory over Lenoir Rhyne here Saturday in the finals.

Lenoir Rhyne, the regular season champion, was seeded No. 1 in the tournament and an odds-on favorite to defeat the second seeded Bulldogs.

The 108 points scored by ACC was a new tournament record, topping the old one of 102 points Elon set in the opening round. The combined score of 193 points was a new record total while 54 foul shots made by ACC was another record.

Lenoir Rhyne was riding a 21-game victory streak before running into ACC. The Bulldogs opened fast, but eight minutes after the game started, Lenoir Rhyne tied the score at 21-21. ACC jumped back into the lead, holding a convincing 53-36 halftime lead.

High for both teams was ACC's Billy Widgeon, a guard, who scored 29 points. He was selected the tournament's most valuable player, receiving the first annual Parker-Miller award. The trophy was presented by Miss Betty Jo Ring, Miss North Carolina in 1954.

Lenoir Rhyne got its best scoring effort from lanky center Raeford Wells, who pumped in 25 points. ACC also placed two men on the all-tournament team. Widgeon was the only unanimous choice, receiving every vote out of the possible 45. John Marley was the other ACC player on the first team.

The others were Ed Juratic of Elon, Raeford Wells of Lenoir Rhyne and Jack Powell of High Point. Juratic got 41 points, Wells 39, Marley 38 and Powell 37.

The second team was composed of Jerry Williams of ACC, 35 points; Bob Ortmyer of Lenoir Rhyne, 29; Floyd Probst of Lenoir Rhyne, 22; Bobby Davidson of High Point, 21; and Dave Abernathy of Appalachian 18.

Winterville Girls And Bethel Boys Win County Tourney At Sugg Gym

FARMVILLE — Winterville girls and Bethel boys won the county championship titles in the Negro high school tournament which wound up in Sugg High School gym this week end.

The Winterville girls downed the Bethel girls 31-27 in a nip and tuck battle. Bethel lagged behind the Winterville team early in the game, but came within one point of Winterville's lead during the third. The Winterville girls, however, not to be denied the county championship, stemmed the bid of the Bethel team and maintained their lead to win the game.

The boys game was close during the first quarter, but during the closing minutes of the second quarter the Bethel team moved far out in front and kept their comfortable margin throughout the remainder of the contest.

Bethel led its South Ayden opponents as much as 25 points at one stage of the game, and when the final whistle blew still held a 19 point margin for a 55-36 championship win.

Doctor at the CROSSROADS

ENTZBETH SEIFERT

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

It was almost six before Fred was free to think about home and supper. Saturday nights usually were busy; folks came to town on Saturday, and often enough decided to see the doctor while it was convenient. Convenient to them.

Just as Fred was leaving, his phone rang, and he talked to Linda. As a result, before he went home he stopped at Kyles. There were several cars in the street—he'd forgotten about Theo. But he went in anyway, conscious of his wrinkled clothes and his tired face-muscles.

The wide hall smelled sickeningly of flowers. Linda was nowhere about. A strange woman came to him, said she was a cousin of Theo's. She would have led him into the darkened room where Theo lay, but Fred shook his head. "I'm Dr. Beier. If I could, I would like to see Mrs. Kyle."

"I'll see."

Frank came then, and led the doctor to the small room at the end of the hall. Linda came in, her face pale but serene, her hand-clasp steady. "I find I'm not able to talk to people," she confessed to Fred. "I'm hiding."

He patted her hand. "I don't blame you. I came to see how the baby was doing."

Her face lit up. "Oh, he's fine," she cried. "Come see—d'you mind the back stairs?"

"Not nearly as much as I would the front ones."

Almost gaily, she led him through the hall and up the somewhat narrow stairs, then along the upper hall to her own bedroom. The infant lay in a ruffled bassinet, his head pillowed upon his doubled fist. He was indeed "fine." The red, raw look of birth had faded, his head bones had settled into place—

"Why, he's pretty!" said Fred. "Yes! I think it's being loved, Fred."

Fred looked at her, his blue eyes shining, and she dropped her own eyes to the baby. "Linda—" he said helplessly.

"It's been such a help, Fred!" she said tensely. "I've so loved having him to think about, to plan for. Otherwise—" She made a gesture which amply conveyed her despair had she not been so fully occupied with the work-old infant.

"I think our little Dickie there saved my life and reason," she laughed shakily. "Mr. Nienaber has been in to see him every day, Fred. At first, he looked scared to death of this house; now he walks in as if he had a right to be here. He says your mother—"

"Yes, my mother has been hanging down the law to him. She went out there Thursday and took over. I didn't have the time to do all the talking that was needed to get him right on his feet at Goddard's and in America. But my mother—"

Linda laughed softly and touched the pale yellow blanket more closely about the sleeping baby.

"I talked to my mother by phone before I came here, Linda. Mamma will have to go back to her school tomorrow. She tells me that there is a woman who will come and keep house for Nienaber."

"And take the baby?" Fearfully, she lifted her dark eyes to his face.

"It would be bad, Linda, if you grew so fond of Dickie that you could not give him up when the mother came home."

She nodded. "I know. I want her to get well, Fred!"

"Of course you do. And, of course, we must think of Richard. It will be better for him to have the baby at home. I'd count on you to watch things out there. And some time, Linda, you should get another child. Or several—"

"Yes," she said in a dispirited way. "I wouldn't bring one here while Theo—Besides, he didn't want an adopted child. But now—Mirandy says a woman can't adopt a child unless there is a father in the home. She's tried."

Fred threw out his hands in a most expressive gesture. "They surely refused at first sight of Mirandy!" he growled.

"Why, Fred!" Linda was smiling. "That's the first catty thing I ever heard you say!"

"I am provoked at Mirandy," he confessed. "How did you happen to talk to her? I thought you weren't seeing people."

"She pushed in, I can't stop Mirandy," he answered her softly.

"Just as you could not stop me?" With a sudden swift and lovely gesture, she put her fingers upon his hand. "Oh, Fred! There are so many many things I could say to you."

"So many that you need not say," he answered her softly.

She turned away from him, went to the window and looked out upon the blowing trees. "When will you take the baby?" she asked after a bit, her voice muffled.

"Why—you may take him out yourself when you wish. After the funeral. See that he is well established. My mother has opened the upstairs of Clancy's house, and do you know whom she has found for housekeeper? Mirandy's cook!"

Linda whirled, staring. Then she began to laugh. "Fred, joining her. 'That's what I'm doing!'"

"But, Fred, that's perfect! She—"

"They both were picturing the huge woman who had been engaged out of Mirandy's ranch. Filthy old hag, splendid cook—the best she had ever of a husband—"

"What about Brennan?"

"I think he's willing to stay on as foreman for Mirandy. Mamma says he will as long as he can, or rather, as long as Lenzie will let him stay. I got the idea that Lenzie—"

"What about Brennan?"

"Well, I should think so!" cried Linda. "To bring you into court!"

"It was quickly straightened out, Linda. Don't take it so seriously."

"Whatever you did."

"Oh now, darling! I am quite capable of error. Most people know that. And if you'll look at the matter—at the events as they seemed to take place—coldly, and dispassionately—"

"I couldn't, possibly. I trust you blindly."

He laughed.

"Aren't you angry, Fred?" Linda asked curiously.

"Only at Mirandy for meddling. I've told her so."

"And now that she's lost Lenzie, I guess she's fittingly punished. I'm happy about that, Fred."

"So am I," he admitted.

He turned at the discreet cough behind him. Frank had come through the bedroom. Dr. Beier was needed at the hospital.

Fred sighed. "No supper," he said ruefully.

"I kept you talking . . ."

"I kept myself here. You are a very fascinating woman. I wonder—would you care to call Katie, and tell her where I am, and about Mamma, and the housekeeper? Tell her that Mamma will be leaving—"

Talking, Linda accompanying him, he went downstairs, and into the kitchen. He greeted Anna, and went out through the back door, out to his car and on to the hospital where a delivery awaited him. At two o'clock the baby was born.

"You'd better go home and rest," Huggins said.

"I shall. Very soon now, I'll get me a cup of coffee first."

She smiled and shook her head. The hospital was quiet. Fred went into the kitchen, poured a cup of coffee from the percolator which the nurses kept on the simmer for him. They urged him to rest, to relax—they knew as well as he did how often this was impossible—and they kept the coffee hot.

Still Looking For Honest Motorist

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—After 18 months police officer Ed Myers is still looking for an honest motorist.

It was 18 months ago when Myers returned to his parked car and found a note on the steering wheel which said: "Here is $5 for the dent I put in your fender."

It was signed "a reckless driver."

Myers has even advertised in search of the man.

Yet one, he explains, that dent was already there.

Waylaid Wolf With Garden Hoe

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Rose Fisher, a wife of a lady of 60, has found a new way to keep the wolf from her door.

She came face to face with one just outside of her farm home yesterday. The animal snarled viciously at her but didn't get a chance to attack. She waylaid him with one blow of a garden hoe.

Schedule Canine Clinics For Week

Fifteen rabies control dog vaccination clinics have been scheduled for next week. The clinics will be held only through March 12, and all dog owners are urged to consult the schedule for date, time and locality so they may have their dogs vaccinated, as is required by state law.

Schedule for this week follows:

Monday: 1-3 p.m., Winterville (Town Hall); 3:15-5:15 p.m., Ayden (Town Hall).

Tuesday: 1-3:30 p.m., Skylight Inn (Ayden); 2:45-3:45 p.m., T. F. Harts (Ayden); 4-5 p.m., W. L. Tripps Store.

Wednesday: 1-3 p.m., Gritton (Town Hall); 3:15-4:15 p.m., J. J. L.

Quinerly's Store; 4:30-5:15 p.m., Ike Kilpatrick's Store.

Thursday: 1-2:30 p.m., A. L. Norris Store; 2:45-3:45 p.m., Renston; 4-5 p.m., Rountree.

Friday: 1-2 p.m., Arthur Keels Store; 2:15-3:45 p.m., J. J. Taylor's Store; 4-5 p.m., Whitehurst Station.

Saturday: 9 a.m. until 12 noon, New Enterprise Warehouse.

Practical Joker Sent A Lion Cub

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A practical joker sent a two-month-old lion cub to a bachelor in a New York City apartment.

When the animal arrived yesterday, Joseph M. Gidding, 37, an attorney, kept asking "what am I going to do with it?"

To add to his troubles, his "friend" sent the kitty collect for a bill of $11.49 from its origin in Nicaragua.

Establishes These Facts About "Legal Control"!

"Legal Control" counties have highest assessed valuations — average wealth of $2,068 in legal control counties against $1,443 in non-control counties.

"Legal Control" counties have more nearly met their school facilities needs than non-control counties.

"Legal Control" counties' retail sales are almost twice as high as in non-control counties.

These counties' share of beer taxes in 1953 was 46 per cent of all State-collected taxes returned to local governments.

The total tax revenue from the licensed beverage industries amounts to approximately $38 million for each biennium, averaging $192,000 per county per year.

North Carolina's 66 "legal control" counties paid 84 per cent of the State's total tax bill in 1953. The 34 "bone-dry" counties paid only 16 per cent of the tax take.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made quietly higher progress today in the early afternoon. A handful of stocks were strong, but otherwise the market displayed moderate gains and losses. The rise carried up to between 1 and 3 points at the best while losses extended to around a point.

Trading was brisk at times, but the pace over-all was relatively slow right around Friday's 2,540,000 shares traded in a falling market.

Bethlehem Steel was strong in a generally higher steel group. The industry is bolstered by forecasts of booming business.

General Motors and Chrysler were active and higher in a firm motor group.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—Hog prices 25 to 75 lower. Tops of 16.25 at Hillsboro; 16.00 at Castle Hayne, Beaufort, Goldsboro, Plymouth, Jacksonville, Fayetteville and Rich Square; 15.75 at Micro, Freeman Siler City, Elizabethtown, New Bern, Kenly, Whiteville, Tabor City, Shallotte, Tarboro, Enfield, Hamilton, Kinston, Benson, Rocky Mount, Clinton, Lumberton, Woodland and Washington; 15.50 at Wilson, Clarkton, Dunn, Newton Grove, Fair Bluff, Warsaw, Bailey and Smithfield.

Puts Reliance On Mutual Basis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the essential ingredients for good relations among Western Hemisphere nations are "North American faith in Latin America, and Latin American faith in North America."

The President expressed the view in a filmed message to the Inter-American Investment Conference which opened today in New Orleans.

"Your conference is the kind of concrete 'let's-see-what-we-can-do-together' demonstration that can make a valuable contribution to our hemispheric concept of the 'good partner,'" Eisenhower said. He added he did not mean the U.S. government could or should be disinterested or refuse to participate in inter-American economic developments.

Flood Threatens Wipe Out Towns In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Australia's worst flood disaster in years, which has claimed at least 45 lives and left thousands homeless, threatened today to wipe out three isolated towns northwest of Sydney.

The towns — Nyngan, Warren and Walgett — were cut off from the outside world as floodwaters up to six feet swirled through their streets. Some 6,000 persons were trapped in the area.

Inhabitants, expecting their worst ordeal tonight or tomorrow when the main body of millions of tons of water will reach them, took to rooftops in hopes their homes would withstand the onslaught.

The floods have sent some 50,000 persons fleeing from their homes in the past five days. They were brought on by an unprecedented 11-inch 24-hour rainfall which drenched 5,000 square miles of six river systems.

The practice of sending sentimental greeting cards on Valentine's Day started about 1400 A.D.

Superintendent Talks Here At Opening Church Services

Pictured above are participants in morning services yesterday which opened the new Saint James Methodist Church building. From left to right are: the Rev. J. Malloy Owen, III, pastor of Saint James; the Rev. Hiram K. King, New Bern District superintendent, who preached the sermon; and the Rev. William M. Howard, Jr., pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. A delayed transcription of the services will be heard tonight over Radio Station WGTC. The transcription will be played around 10 o'clock following the East Carolina basketball game. Reflector Staff Photo.

Methodist New Bern District Superintendent Hiram K. King called on Methodists to "plant churches in those communities" which do not have them and "call men to God through Christ our Lord."

Speaking at the opening services for the new Saint James Church building the superintendent said: "This is indeed a wonderful hour for this congregation which more than fills every seat in this auditorium."

He noted that for every person who attends church on Sundays there are others who do not attend. Some might point out, he said, that if they all did attend there would not be enough room in the churches to hold them. The answer to that is to build new churches, he declared.

Rev. King pointed out that the nation spent $400 billion in fighting World War II and that insurance had increased from $1 billion in 1940 to $276 billion last year. In addition, he noted that billions will be needed for schools in future years.

"What will we spend for the Kingdom of God?" he asked. The superintendent stated that there are twice as many children under six years old as there were a few years ago.

"We need more schools," he declared, "but we also need more Sunday Schools."

Turning to church workers the superintendent stated that when individuals are asked to participate in church projects they often say they are not "trained" for such work.

"Let us have increasing numbers responding to the opportunities offered by our churches for training," he asserted.

Rev. King preached the morning services at the church which officially opened the new building for worship.

Couple Arrested By ABC Agents Following Search

ABC officers charged Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andrews of Greenville Route 5 with possession of non-tax paid liquor after a search of their house during the week end.

ABC Officer J. M. Ward said the officers entered the house with a search warrant. He said liquor was found on the floor of the bath room of the house and the odor of liquor was strong in the room. He noted that Mrs. Andrews was found in the bath room along with several empty half-gallon and pint jars. Ward said there was an odor of alcohol in the jars.

Both were cited to appear before Judge Dink James in County Court tomorrow.

Participating in the raid along with ABC officers were members of the sheriff's department.

Arrest Woman On Liquor Charges

ABC officers arrested Gladys Randolph, of 1114-B Clark Street, during the weekend for possession of non-tax-paid liquor.

Officers said the woman attempted to pour out a pot of the illegal booze in a sink but a portion of the liquor was retrieved. She is to be tried in city court today.

SHORT-CIRCUIT FIRE

Firemen were called to a house occupied by William Fieldmore, Negro, at 614 Ford Street this morning when a lamp short circuited and burned a mattress.

Damage was confined to the lamp and mattress.

Two Collisions Last Night On Pitt Highways

A two-car collision at the intersection of N. C. 11 and the fire tower road was followed shortly by a second two-car collision last night about 6 o'clock.

The first collision occurred when Elisha James Washington Anders of Goldsboro, who was headed south on N. C. 11, was making a left turn off the highway onto the fire tower road.

His car was struck in the rear just as it was about to clear the highway by an auto driven by Tony Lather Thippen of Greenville Route 6 who was headed north on N. C. 11. Thippen's car received damage to the right front while Anders' was damaged on the right rear.

A third car operated by Clarence Everette Mumford of Kinston Route 2 was following some distance behind Thippen and stopped on the highway a short distance from the collision scene. A fourth vehicle driven by James Ray Stokes of Winterville Route 2 was said to have crashed into the rear of Mumford's vehicle.

Investigating Police Officer Bill Whitehurst estimated damage to the four cars at approximately $475.

Whitehurst said Anders had been charged with failure to yield the right-of-way but his investigation of the accident is incomplete.

On Saturday a car operated by Roy Hayward of Ayden overturned and was demolished on a rural paved road north of Grifton. The accident occurred about 5:30 p.m.

Whitehurst, who also investigated that accident, said his investigation is incomplete.

Last Rites Tuesday For Mrs. J. R. Dozier

FOUNTAIN—Mrs. Orlie Edwards Dozier, 83, died at her home here Monday at 2 a.m. after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. R. L. West, pastor of Fountain Baptist Church, and Rev. P. M. Corey, Fountain Presbyterian minister, will officiate. Burial will be in the Dozier family cemetery.

Mrs. Dozier, wife of the late J. R. Dozier, spent her life in the Fountain community and was a member of Fountain Baptist Church.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. J. L. Fretz of Fountain, Mrs. R. L. Price of Rocky Mount and Nannie Pat Dozier and Emma Dozier of Fountain; two sons, C. L. Dozier of Snow Hill and J. L. Dozier of Fountain; one sister, Mrs. Maggie McKee of Wilson.

G H S, Kinston Play-Off Slated For Wednesday

Greenville and Kinston high school basketball teams will meet in a play-off game Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Rocky Mount to determine which team will represent the Northeast Conference in the state play-offs.

O. E. Dowd, principal of Greenville High School announced shortly after noon today the selection of the time and place of the play-off between the two teams.

The game will be played in the new high school gymnasium in Rocky Mount, and Dowd added, "there are plenty of seats." He said the seating capacity of the gym is over 2,000.

Greenville's basketball team won the regular season play in the Northeastern Conference by winning all its conference games. Saturday night, however, in the championship game of the conference tournament, the Kinston Red Devils knocked off the favored Greenville team by a seven point margin 68-61. Under the conference rules, a team must win both the regular season play and the conference tournament to represent the conference in the state play-offs. If the regular season champions do not win the conference tournament, a play-off is required between the season champions and the tournament champs.

Use Want Ads To Push Education

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State College is using want ads to promote higher education. The ads in the Lansing State Journal invite registration in evening classes. They carry punch lines such as: "Experience not necessary — only desire to learn is needed"; and "Personal satisfaction can be yours. Learn new skills at Michigan State evening college."

Forest Circle, is only the first of three units planned for the church. Eventually the present section will become the fellowship hall and a new sanctuary is planned. The third section of the church will house additional Sunday School rooms.

The present section includes a number of Sunday School rooms and a completely equipped kitchen. The auditorium will seat 300 persons for services and 200 at long tables.

The building is air conditioned and built of steel, concrete block and brick. The steel beams supporting the high ceiling of the auditorium are boxed in wood to give the appearance of heavy wood timbers supporting the roof. Architecture for the building is a blending of Gothic and modern design.

Dedication services for the building will be held at a later date. Under Methodist church law, no building can be dedicated until it is free of debt.

Colored News

Stokes colored school P.T.A. held its sixth monthly meeting a few nights ago. The elementary club fete the group with music. Three parents, Mrs. Noah Andrews, Mrs. Israel Blount and Mr. W. M. Chance, spoke on the topic "How Parents Can Better Help Their Children." Everyone enjoyed the methods presented on smoothing the rough spots in handling children today. A movie was shown, which showed how accidents around the home may be avoided.

Tuesday, March 1, was chosen as the date for Parent Visitation of the School Day. Each parent will visit each room and see how the school operates and how their children enjoy their learning processes.

In Memoriam
