Striking Union Denies Knowledge Of Incidents

Telephone Lines Sabotaged

ATLANTA (AP) — A widespread hunt was on today for persons who cut telephone lines in Alabama and Georgia shortly after Southern Bell Telephone operators and other workers in nine states struck in a union contract dispute.

Union officials denied any knowledge of the incidents.

The main toll cable between Birmingham and New Orleans, was cut in two places yesterday. Service to six Bessemer area communities was disrupted when telephone lines were cut in 15 places.

In Atlanta, a 1,200-pair (line) cable in the driveway entrance to police headquarters was cut about one third of the way through, partially paralyzing police communications for a short time. Two other cables in Atlanta also were damaged.

The vandalism occurred while negotiators were still meeting in an effort to settle differences. The meeting ended shortly before 10 p.m. and both sides agreed to return to the conference table today.

Informed of the cable cuts, G. F. Gill, of Atlanta, assistant Southern director of the CIO Communications Workers of America, said: "The union neither initiates nor condones incidents of this nature. We have no knowledge of them. They are not of our doing."

A company spokesman described the cable cutting as "sabotage" and offered a $35,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of those involved.

Orderly picketing was reported throughout the area.

CWA headquarters said the strike was almost 100 per cent among its members.

Southern Bell claimed that about one third of the estimated 50,000 union employees in the nine states were at work. In addition, about 10,000 supervisory personnel

Nixon Says GOP Still Too Weak

Warns Republicans Must Build Up Party For 1956; Couldn't Win Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon has bluntly warned members of his party that the GOP won in 1952 only because of its strong candidate, adding: "The Republican party today is not strong enough to elect a president."

These outspoken views of the political situation were given by Nixon when he talked to 2,500 fellow southern California Republicans during one of three speeches here yesterday. The young vice president said that at the behest of President Eisenhower he was urging party workers "to do a big job this year and next."

Nixon called on GOP workers to build a majority party by 1956. Nixon gave this insight into the President's view.

"The current situation is one the President feels we should remedy and that's why he's taking hold of the Republican leadership at this time. He believes it's his responsibility to build the party so its strength will be as strong as that of the President himself."

Nixon did not disclose the President's intentions for 1956 but said significantly:

"I hope to work for the President again in 1956. The best way to see that he runs again is to build party power to the point where we can become the majority party."

The President sent a telegram here lauding Nixon for "his courage and honesty" which "have earned him the respect of all who seek a better and stronger America."

Before returning to Washington by plane, Nixon addressed the Los Angeles World Affairs Council last night on the administration's plans for boosting Latin-American trade.

Nixon, who recently toured Central America and the Caribbean area, said those countries need more markets, capital, technical assistance and better communications. Private capital investment could handle most of the development, he said, but some government loans and lower tariff barriers would be needed.

"Communism has reached and passed its high water mark in the inter-American area," he said, predicting "more progress in Guatemala under Castillo Armas in the next two years than there was under a Communist government in the last 10."

Republican Leaders Tell President Proposal Will Lose

Confident On Tax Cut Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders told President Eisenhower today they are confident a Democratic-sponsored proposal to cut income taxes will be defeated in the Senate and eventually in the House.

At a White House news conference after a conference with the President, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said he advised Eisenhower that he feels sure the Senate will reject the proposal. The conference was held shortly before the Senate convened to start voting on the tax measure.

Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) said he believed "we've got the votes" to reverse an earlier House ballot to reduce everybody's taxes by $20 starting Jan. 1.

The compromise proposal in the Senate would give a $20 cut to families with incomes under $5,000 a year, plus a $10 cut for each dependent other than a spouse.

The House added the income tax reduction provision to an administration bill to continue corporation and excise taxes at their present level beyond April 1, when they are now scheduled to decline.

The President has assailed the Democratic proposal to reduce income levies as the height of "fiscal irresponsibility."

Knowland said the discussion at today's regular weekly meeting of the GOP leaders with Eisenhower dealt mainly with the tax situation.

The California senator predicted defeat in the Senate for all amendments to cut income taxes. He forecast passage of the bill in the same form it came from the Senate Finance Committee.

That committee stripped the House-approved measure of the income tax reduction provision.

Martin said "a number" of House members who previously voted to reduce income taxes have told him that they are prepared to change their votes when the matter comes up again in the House.

Earlier in the day a new gap showed up in the Senate Republican lineup against the tax cut.

Sen. Young (R-ND) disclosed he had notified GOP leaders he is reserving the right to support the Democratic move. It has been offered as a substitute for an administration-backed bill to extend present corporation and excise tax rates a year beyond April 1.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas forecast a vote by mid-afternoon. The Senate has agreed to limit debate.

Both supporters and opponents of the Democratic proposal said the outcome could turn on which side has more absentees.

Republicans had counted on losing only Sen. Langer of North Dakota from their 47 members. They expected backing from about 6 of the 49 Democrats.

Young's declaration in an interview that he did not feel himself bound to go along with the GOP, apparently was a blow to administration supporters. Some said they also were fearful of losing Sen. Case (R-SD). Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) declined to say how he would vote.

Sen. Long (D-La.) said he was sure of two GOP votes "and if we can get two more we can win."

The substitute would give to families with income under $5,000 a year a $20 tax cut in 1956 for the taxpayer, plus $10 for each dependent except a spouse.

Senators Refuse Confidential Copies Of Record Won't Touch Yalta Papers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Capehart (R-Ind) and Sparkman (D-Ala.) today backed the refusal of Sen. George (D-Ga.) to accept "confidential" copies of the Yalta conference record.

Secretary of State Dulles announced yesterday he had decided not to publish the papers dealing with the World War II Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting in the Russian Crimea. He said he would send copies to key members of Congress.

State Department Press Officer Henry Suydam mentioned national security and Allied unity as reasons for Dulles' decision. The 1945 conference, over the past 10 years has been a point of much Republican-Democratic controversy.

George said yesterday he would not take responsibility for possible news leaks and would turn back three copies assigned to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which he heads.

"The information in these papers would leak out and I don't want to accept them and find myself in the position of having to make them public," he said.

He said he doesn't know what is in the record and doesn't want to know unless the papers can be made public. There was no State Department comment on his stand.

Capehart, a member of the committee, said in an interview he feels "the same way Sen. George does."

"I would not accept these documents and take the responsibility of their getting out," he said.

Sparkman, another Foreign Relations Committee member, said he supports George's position that the State Department ought to take the responsibility either for publishing the Yalta papers or keeping them secret. He said he would have no objection to their publication.

Confession Surprises Military Authorities Killed Parents; No Remorse

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Military authorities described as remorseless today a private who said he shot his parents to death last Tuesday at their Wisconsin home.

Pvt. Eugene D. Salzman, 24, surprised a provost marshal and chaplain yesterday with a statement that he killed the couple.

Emil Salzman, 42, and his 39-year-old wife were found cut down by rifle fire in the driveway of their Hayward, Wis. home.

Capt. A. M. Miny and Chaplain Earl C. Parker went to the youth's cell to break gently to him the "sad news of his parents' deaths."

They said they were unaware young Salzman already had been charged with murder in Wisconsin.

The youth held in the stockade at James Connally Air Force Base here on an AWOL charge from nearby Ft. Hood, Tex., was picked up in a Waco tavern Saturday.

Miny, who learned of the parents' deaths from a Friday edition of the Chicago Tribune, said the private gave him no chance to break the news.

"I figured you'd find out," the youth said.

"What?" asked the startled captain.

Virginia Bank's Money Missing

DAHLGREN, Va. (AP)—The FBI said today $8,895 has been found missing at the Bank of Dahlgren, Inc.

An FBI spokesman said the cash was missing when the eastern Virginia bank opened for business yesterday and apparently had been stolen during the weekend.

"There is no evidence that the safe was forcibly broken into," he said.

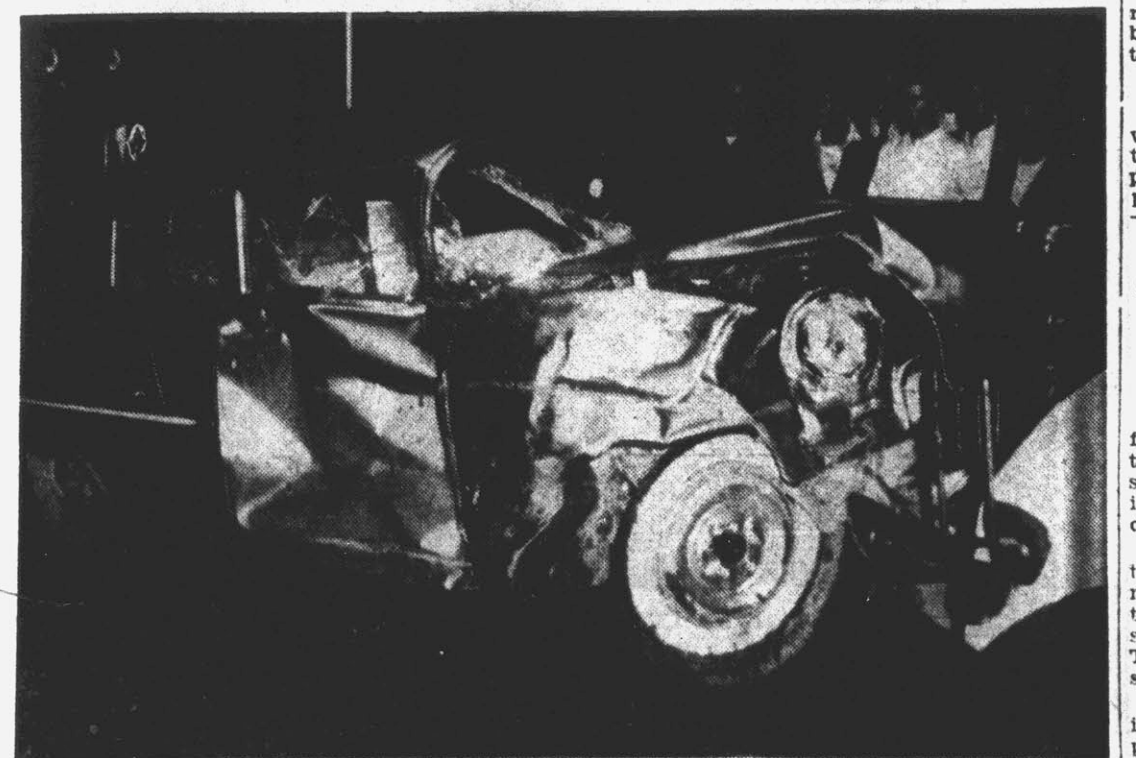

Trial Of 7 Reds To Open Mar. 21

DENVER (AP)—Trial of seven alleged Communist party leaders, charged with conspiring to teach violent overthrow of the government, will start here March 21.

U. S. Dist. Judge Jean S. Brienstein yesterday denied defense appeals for a third postponement.

Mrs. Mary Kaufman, of New York City, will defend Mrs. Anna Bary, one of the seven. Eleven Denver lawyers, appointed by the court, will represent the others. They are Mrs. Bary's husband Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scherrer; Lewis Johnson; Harold Zeppelin; and Mrs. Patricia Blau.

Five Injured In Collision At Intersection

Five persons were injured early yesterday evening when cars operated by Harold Buck, 18, at Rt. 1, Crawford, 20, of 804 W. 5th Street collided at the intersection of Evans and 10th Streets.

Damage to both vehicles was estimated at $2600. Those injured and taken to Pitt Hospital for treatment included:

Ruby Padgett, 20, of 415 W. 3rd Street, broken right arm and cut forehead.

Ellen Sawyer, 22, injured legs.

Gene C. Haddock, 17, of Rt. 3, Greenville, head injuries.

Jimmie Williams, 17, of Rt. 2, Greenville, injuries to head and left hand.

Frankie Hardee, 17, of Route 2, Greenville, head injuries.

Harold Buck, driver of one of the vehicles involved, was charged by city police with an improper left turn.

In a second city accident occurring yesterday automobiles operated by W. A. Buck, 43, of 1523 Broad Street and Lula Simmons, colored, 37, of 913 Elrod Street, New Bern, collided on Broad Street. Total damages were estimated at $235. No injuries were reported and no arrests were made.

Point System In Traffic Safety Declared Illegal

COLUMBIA (AP)—The South Carolina Supreme Court today upheld a Circuit Court ruling that the Highway Department's safe driving point system is unconstitutional.

Judge Robert Martin of Greenville had ruled that the department did not have direct authority from the General Assembly to institute the point system it started in November, 1953.

He said that broad powers apparently granted the department by the Assembly to issue and revoke driver licenses were an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority.

The point system is one in which certain point values are assigned to traffic law violations.

Nannie Doss Is Declared Insane

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Psychiatrists here today declared Nannie Doss, 74, insane.

This will prevent the murder trial for the present of the 49-year-old grandmother charged with poisoning her mother and four of her five husbands.

Among her alleged victims were husband No. 4, Artie Lanning, of near Lexington, N.C., who died in 1952, and her mother, Mrs. Louise H. Hazel, 75, who died the following year at Lexington.

Separate-But-Equal Doctrine 'Unconstitutional' Dealt Blow In Federal Court

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The South's traditional doctrine of "separate but equal" facilities for whites and Negroes has received another body blow from the federal judiciary.

The U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, basing its decision squarely on the Supreme Court's historic May 17 opinion labeling segregation in public schools unconstitutional, ruled here yesterday that segregation also is illegal in public parks and playgrounds.

The Supreme Court verdict of last spring, said the three-judge appellate court, has "swept away" the South's notion that separate facilities for the races are permissible provided the facilities are equal.

The ruling affecting parks and playgrounds, which reversed the decision of the Federal District Court of Baltimore, produced an immediate outburst of critical comment from state and city officials in the South as did the precedent-setting Supreme Court decision on public schools.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Harrison Winter of Maryland said, "We have only received a telegram notifying us of the decision. We will want to make a thorough study of the opinion before making any comment."

In Virginia, State Conservation Commissioner Raymond W. Long said Virginia might be able to work out a plan for integration in its park system. Virginia operates nine state parks—eight for whites and one for Negroes.

The appellate court here received the case on appeals from the Baltimore District Court decision submitted by Robert M. Dawson Jr. and others and Milton Lonesome and others.

Dawson had sought, in the District Court, an injunction to prevent

Air-To-Air Electronic Rocket Missile Unveiled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today described the Falcon, its newest guided missile, as "the only air-to-air missile with a brain of its own."

Removing some of the secrecy wrappings from the weapon designed to seek out and drop enemy bombers, the Air Force said it is the first line of defense against air attack.

This latest and smallest American missile is already in production and will soon be supplied as fighting armament to all-weather fighter-interceptor jet units stationed in the Arctic and at other posts around the approaches to the North American continent.

The Navy already has in use the Sparrow missile, also for launching from fighter craft against enemy planes. One version has a built-in guidance system that uses some of the features incorporated in the Falcon, but the Air Force said its missile contains guidance refinements and improvements that place it as of now in a class by itself.

The Falcon was conceived by the Air Force in 1947 and developed and produced by the Hughes Aircraft Co. at Culver City, Calif., and Tucson, Ariz.

In words and pictures, the Air Force disclosed the Falcon to be a cigar-shaped missile looking like a rocket and about six feet long. At its warhead end, it is a little larger than a man's head.

Pictures showed how the missile is carried under the wings of a jet fighter, as ordinary rockets have been in the past.

When the pilot spots an approaching enemy bomber on his radar scope, the target is "locked" in the guidance system. An electronic computer takes over and fires the missile automatically.

In films taken of recent tests, a drone B17 bomber was the target. Although the bomber maneuvered in attempts to dodge the missile shifted its course and scored a direct hit. The Air Force said similar results have been achieved when the target was a jet fighter.

School Transferrals Possible This Term

All bus children and students from the Brookgreen School will be transferred to the new elementary school in Elmhurst if that building is completed by Easter, superintendent J. H. Rose said this morning.

If the building is not finished by that time the transfer will not be made until next year. Transfer of the bus children to the Elmhurst school will relieve congestion at Third Street and West Greenville schools, the superintendent stated.

Heating fixtures are now being installed at the new school, and painters are at work. The asphalt floor should be laid in two or three weeks, Rose noted.

The twelve-classroom building will, according to present plans, house two first, second and third grades, and one fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades. The remaining two rooms may be used for special education purposes if that program is transferred from the Brookgreen to each city elementary school.

Rose said the principals have been discussing whether or not to do this next year, and float the teachers rather than the students. A shop, craft room, science lab and home economics room are now located at Brookgreen for use in motivating the elementary reading program. However, the superintendent said if space for a combination craft and science room, together with a special reading room, can be found at each of the elementary schools, and if the state continues to promote its special education program, local teachers may next year visit each individual school to help the children who need work in their reading.

Taking part in this year's special education program have been 60 children and six teachers. Rose noted this has enabled the students to work in small groups, and he reports the progress of the program has been revealed by a continuous testing plan.

"We feel this special attention to slow readers is important," he declared, "because if we can teach a child to read, we can solve his educational problems."

Forest Fire Breaks Through

A rampaging forest fire burns furiously toward a road at Foley, Fla. It broke through and continued its destructive path on a 12-mile front. Shifting high velocity winds made trouble for weary firefighters battling the fast moving blaze. (AP Wirephoto).

BPW Club Scroll To Be Placed In National Building

An interesting movie on the work of the Ground Observer Post for Civil Defense was shown at the monthly dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on March 10. The club was asked for its support in manning a post when it is put into operation later in the spring.

Julia Fisher, president, welcomed Mrs. Mildred Manning as a new member and, also, the guests who were present. These included J. H. Rose, Lester Turnage, Sgt. Campbell, Mrs. Lloyd Whitchard, Jennie Newby Outlaw, and D. H. Conley among others.

Margaret Register reported that the by-laws were being revised to bring them in accord with the national by-laws. Plans were made to attend the district meeting in Goldsboro on March 20. Members decided to sign the scroll, which is to be placed permanently in the National Headquarters building, at the April Mother's March in Greenville and to Mrs. Clifton Baldwin of Grifton for the splendid way in which she organized her community.

A nominating committee composed of Ruth Garner, Katherine Walsh, and Margaret Register was nominated by the members. Mrs. Garner was made chairman of the group. The slate is to be presented at the April meeting.

Door prizes were awarded.

Credit Women's Club Celebrates Birthday

On Saturday morning, March 12, the Greenville Credit Women's Breakfast Club met at the Old Towne Inn, with Mrs. Elliot Johnson presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Thomas Coghill. This was a birthday breakfast in celebration of the sixth year of organization. The tables were beautifully decorated in the St. Patrick's day theme.

A number of bosses were present for this occasion; namely: Messrs. Lee Folger, Bob Greene, J. T. Barnhill, J. G. Clark, George Lautares, Graham Jefferson, Wesley Harvey, L. M. Buchanan, E. S. Gary, F. B. Johnson Jr., H. W. Lee, W. W. Lee, Lester Turnage, J. H. Waldrop and J. H. Moye.

Mrs. Johnson very cordially welcomed visitors and guests, and Mr. Wesley Harvey, one of the sponsors of the club, gave the response. After a brief business session, Mrs. Frank Copeland, educational chairman, gave a brief history of the club, its purposes and aims, and then taught the second lesson of the educational course. The lesson, "The Broad Coverage of a Credit Operation," gave information on the importance of retail credit in the business world of today. Showing that through the convenience of credit, production has been increased, distribution and consumption of goods manufactured, and raised the standard of living in the country to its present day level.

After the lesson, Mr. Bob Greene, sponsor, paid tribute to the work that the club is doing, and expressed his appreciation for the real interest that the club members are showing in their firm's credit operations.

Church Music Is Discussed At Club Meet

ROBERSONVILLE—The home of Miss Jeanine Taylor was decorated with a profusion of jonquills and other spring flowers when she entertained the McDowell Music Club Friday afternoon.

After the usual business procedure, Mrs. Thomas House read a letter from the American Friends Association in Greensboro thanking the club for the memorial love offering sent in memory of Mrs. Vernon A. Ward, a charter member.

The hymn of the month, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," was sung by the group.

Mrs. J. Bascom Hurley, the program leader of the afternoon, discussed "Church Music," tracing it through the Old and New Testaments.

After Mrs. Robert Adkins played "Loro" by Handel the club sang several songs.

During the social hour which followed, the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. J. Calvin Smith will entertain the McDowell Music Club at her home at 3:30 on March 18.

Jimmy Highsmith Celebrates Birthday At Party Saturday

ROBERSONVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey Highsmith honored their son Jimmy with a party Saturday night on his 18th birthday.

For this occasion the Elementary School lunchroom was decorated with a profusion of spring flowers carrying out the green and yellow color scheme. The long counter was dotted with lovely vases of beautifully arranged jonquills and other blossoms. Dancing was enjoyed until intermission when the honored guest opened dozens of pretty packages and placed the contents on display. After the gifts were admired, the group went to the refreshment table where potato chips, pimento-cheese sandwiches, salted peanuts, Easter eggs and punch were served. Two large birthday cakes with yellow and green icing were cut. One had the inscription "Happy Birthday, Jimmy" and the other bore the dates 1937-1955. The dancing continued until 11 o'clock when the 64 friends who enjoyed Mrs. Highsmith's hospitality left with pleasant memories. Jimmy, an honor student, is a very popular senior.

The show this year has a cast of 150, including some outstanding talent from the college. Elaborate scenery and costumes and a chorus of pretty singing and dancing girls are on the program. The songs are from the hit parade and a special orchestra will provide the music.

The men's chorus, all in black face, and the four minstrel end men will complete rehearsals tonight for the Kiwanis Club's 11th annual minstrel show. Proceeds of the show will be for the benefit of the Kiwanis Underprivileged Child Fund.

Eli Bloom will be interlocutor and Miss Mary Dunn Beatty is directing the dancers.

Members of the Kiwanis Club are selling tickets and are on sale at the office of J. Hicks Corey, 521 Dickinson Avenue.

Rotary Club Celebrates Golden Anniversary Here At Banquet

By WYATT BROWN
The Rotarians of Greenville with their Rotary-Annex and guests celebrated the Golden Anniversary of Rotary International last night with banqueting, history, oratory, singing, repartee, and dancing the "hokey-pokey." Two Past District Governors—James W. Butler and Howard McGinnis—were the orators of the occasion. Bob Wilfong greeted the Rotary Annex and guests for his fellow Rotarians. Rotary Anne Maggie Stroud responded.

The first speaker of the evening was James W. Butler whose subject was the "Origin and Growth of Rotary." Opening with the statement that "there are many who have been in Rotary and got the word but have not caught the tune" of Rotary, he found the Rotary idea in ancient times. Internationally Rotary has grown with its ideal of service to include over 400,000 men in eighty-nine lands outside the iron and bamboo curtains.

At this point he interpolated the opinion that Rotary had perhaps prevented a banana curtain south of the U.S.A. He pointed out that officially Rotary had not intervened but Rotarians enlightened with the ideals of Rotary had participated in the negotiations.

In the way of history of Rotary Mr. Butler cited the 1914 beginning of the Rotary Club in Raleigh. He pointed out that the Greenville Rotary Club was the second oldest in district 279 of Rotary International.

Next the speaker indicated the fields of service Rotary has had a part in: Aid to crippled children, International student exchange—two of whom have attended in East Carolina College—Scouting and innumerable community enterprises. Then he brought in the adoption of the Four Way Test—four rules governing men as to business ethics.

Finally he stated that "Rotary is what individual Rotarians are. Rotary lives through its ideal of service above self."

The second speaker was Past District Governor Howard McGinnis who had the role of historian of the local Rotary Club. In his brief remarks he named the five living Charter Members of the Greenville Club: Lawrence Stroud, Jasper E. Winslow, Hayward Dall, Ernest Willard, and J. B. Kittrell, Senior.

Dr. McGinnis did mention that the local club got started at a baseball game one summer afternoon in Ayden in 1919. Next there was the meeting of a group at the Farmers Bank (no longer in existence) and then chartered at a meeting in the showroom of Hayward Dall's garage next to the High School. This was August 18, 1919.

In response to the urging of Rotary International that all clubs write their history up to this momentous day in Rotary history, the local club had prepared such a history giving all the details. With that he had several members pass each other a copy of the Greenville Rotary Club's history. He further commented that the history of the club revealed great activity in living up to the Rotary ideal and in conclusion he predicted further growth and expansion of the Rotary ideal so that it will effect the world.

Mrs. Mildred Coleman entertained Rotarians with two numbers and an encore. Mrs. P. A. Toll, club pianist, accompanied Mrs. Coleman at the piano. Group singing was led by Bancroft Moseley with June H. Rose pinch-hitting in Bancroft's absence for the first song.

Besides the Rotary Annex the other honored guests were: Charles Wilkerson, president of the Kiwanis Club, and Mrs. Wilkerson; W. W. Speight, president of the Lions Club; J. H. Moye, vice president of the Exchange Club, and Mrs. Moye; J. T. Dall, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Dall; and Miss Ann VanAndel of the Netherlands, a Rotary Exchange student attending East Carolina College, sponsored by District 278 with the Greenville Club acting as host club.

At this point Rotary President Charles Bissette, who presided over the banquet, read a card of greeting sent to the club on the occasion of this Golden Anniversary banquet by Bert Hellstrand of Sweden who was a Rotary Exchange student at East Carolina College last year but who is in her native land this year. President Bissette explained the absence from the banquet of David Whitchard III—a daughter had arrived forty-five minutes before.

A big round of applause boomed out when President Bissette pointed out when President Fordyce Harding and his daughter Miss Mary Harding. Everyone stood spontaneously in honor of their grand old man of the Greenville Rotary Club. Ollie VanNortwick, Junior, chairman of the Golden Anniversary Committee, called the name of each Rotary Annex and Rotarian and had them stand for recognition. In the process of recognition or roll call it was found that Fitzhugh Duncan and Mrs. Duncan had Mrs. Duncan's father as a guest and that Leon Roebuck had his little daughter Susan as his Rotary Annex for the occasion.

The entertainment for the banquet was in the hands of Ernell Webb. First he had everyone sing happy birthday for Hayward Dall whose birthday falls on March 14. Then he announced that Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Willard were celebrating their 34th wedding anniversary last night. Then Ernell had everybody do the "Hokey-Pokey" with all the actions, movements—if not the vibrations—involved. Following the antics the Rotarians sat down and heard the three selections by Mrs. Coleman.

The banquet was arranged and handled by the Golden Anniversary committee composed of Ollie VanNortwick Jr., chairman, and J. B. Kittrell Sr., Ernell Webb, Howard McGinnis, and James W. Butler. Gifts were presented each Rotary Annex as she departed.

Art Notes

By JAMES A. WALKER

This month's one-man exhibition at the Art Gallery, Sheppard Memorial Library, is the work of Mrs. Olla Mae Foushee, Chapel Hill housewife. Besides painting, Mrs. Foushee is the mother of two and is active in community work.

Mrs. Foushee's work has been accepted in several excellent judged competitions such as the yearly Butler Art Institute shows, Virginia-Intermont College and the annual N. C. Artists' Competition of the State Art Society. Certainly the most interesting works in this exhibition are the pictures which have been accepted in these competitions unless it is her picture "A Mood About A Piece of Music." "Forest Forms," "Spring Fantasy," "Foggy Night," "Spring Rain," and "Bird Over City" are the works which deserve most of your attention.

"Fertility" gives one the feeling that the artist was motivated by a creative urge and approached her work with sincerity and understanding. In this work you feel a strong and restless personality seeking to overcome the stagnation and limitation of the status quo to give release to new forces, meanings, and reactions in art.

Although most of the choices in the show are understandable, there is a bit of imitation in the abstract experimental works. Deserving less of your attention are three string-pentations with ink, casein, spring, spray gun, and ink on newspaper which are not new, indeed they are showmanship of a particular vogue and borrow the effects that, in the final sense, lack the sincerity of creative understanding as shown in other works of the show. The exhibition, which is very good for the most part, ranges from a water color, "Mountain Mist" to "The Syllabism," a painting on symbolic logic.

The artist has taken music as the subject, patterning her canvas with free fugue design and chromatic intensities analogous to a certain type of music in "A Mood About A Piece of Music." The work seems to reflect the artist's delight and ability in transforming experience from the music world into esthetic terms. Colors are tasteful and are used in harmonious if limited combinations in "Spring Rain" and "Foggy Night."

Admission to the Art Gallery, Sheppard Memorial Library, is free any day, except Sunday, from 2-5:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Highsmith Is Elected President Of PTA Thursday

ROBERSONVILLE—The Parent-Teachers Association met Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The devotional, which was given by Mr. H. Brown of Gold Point, was followed by the report of the nominating committee. The new officers are: Mrs. James Harvey Highsmith, president; Mrs. Earl James of Parmele, vice-president; Miss Bynum, secretary; Mr. Vance Roberson, treasurer.

After the business session the audience was entertained by the Senior Glee Club under the direction of Miss Jeanine Taylor. The program consisted of hillbilly music with appropriate stage setting and the boys and girls in costumes.

Hostess Fetes Bridge Club

ROBERSONVILLE—Mrs. William Gray entertained the Tuesday Night Bridge Club at her home on Green Street. The hostess welcomed the members and the two guests at the door and invited them into the living room where she served before the play. The delicious meal consisted of deviled eggs, chicken salad on lettuce, sliced tomatoes, pickles, crackers, banana cake, ice cream and coffee.

When the scores were tallied after 10 o'clock, Mrs. David Grimes Sr. won the high prize for the club, Mrs. Forrest E. Boone received the guest prize and Mrs. Claude Greene had low score.

The players were: Mesdames Pearl Everett, B. L. Stokes, Edgar Johnson, Vance Roberson, I. M. Little, C. L. Greene Sr., Sherwood Roberson, David Grimes, Calvin Smith, W. H. Gray, Geneva Weaver and Arthur Johnson.

Joint Hostesses To T.E.L. Class

On Friday night, Mrs. J. B. Spillman was gracious hostess to the T.E.L. Class of Memorial Baptist Church at her home on E. Fifth St. Mrs. L. A. Stroud was co-hostess. Class resident Mrs. E. D. Porter chose to speak from the 61st chapter of Isaiah, stressing the command of Christ to preach the gospel throughout the world. Mrs. Porter presented the program in a most impressive manner, bringing to mind St. Patrick who also did mission work, and closing the program with a poem, "The Four Leaf Clover," after which the class business was briefly discussed.

Mrs. Spillman's home was beautiful with spring flowers throughout the spacious rooms. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. Mrs. P. B. Upchurch was a guest.

1956 Farm Plans Need Thought Now

It's a foregone conclusion the 1956 tobacco crop in Pitt County will be considerably reduced. Some estimates put the figure at about a 10% acreage cut.

A ten per cent drop in tobacco production is going to hurt, and hurt badly, unless steps are taken to off-set the loss of tobacco income. The farmer will feel the pinch; the fertilizer companies will be proportionately affected; less farm labor will be required; warehousemen and trucking people will notice the difference. Indirectly, the living of all people in this flue-cured tobacco producing area will feel economic effects of cutting tobacco acreage.

Reduced to essentials, the tobacco future is due to a huge 307 million pounds of surplus leaf now being held by the Tobacco Stabilization Corporation; and North Carolina no longer has a corner on tobacco production.

It is no idle talk when one raises the prospect of further tobacco acreage reductions in the future. Foreign producers are expanding their operations year by year; and regardless of some elements of superiority in local leaf, foreign manufacturers are going to give preference to their own tobaccos.

With this prospect for 1956, it is not too early for local farmers to seriously consider what they're going to do.

Whether the answer lies in livestock or small grains, truck crops or dairying, it will require some measure of preparation for the land and for the farmer himself.

But first there must come the all-important decision as to what will be done, then how to do it; finally preparation, and then doing it.

The problems involved should be given the earliest possible consideration so as to insure a measure of stability in the economy of each farm family individually and the county as a whole.

Budget-Making Has Grown More Complex

The North Carolina General Assembly is in its eleventh week, with revenue and spending plans still in the talking stage. The end is not in sight.

As usual, most of the time to date has been devoted to familiarizing the legislators with needs, hopes and dreams; as well as cold facts dealing with current rates of revenue and projected rates on new sources.

Each General Assembly has the same hard grind, and it isn't made any easier when most departments and agencies call for larger appropriations. Sources suggested to meet the budget have screamed to the high heavens they can stand no more taxes.

Sooner or later this must lead to a decision by the people as a whole.

As individuals and groups we must quit demanding more and more public services unless we expect to pay higher taxes to meet the bills. The sooner we all come to realize that greater spending means correspondingly higher taxes, the sooner we can achieve a balanced budget and sounder economy.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
DOES RELIGION MAKE A DIFFERENCE?
In a modern novel one of the characters upon the mention of God, replies, "He never worked very well for me."

For many people religion is an ornament. Or to change the figure, it is an extra-curricular activity. We speak of people being good. The question of real importance is, "What are they good for?" For of this we can be sure—if religion fails to make a difference not only in what we believe and the way we live, but also in our moods and aspirations, then it is not religion.

All through the New Testament faith is spoken of as power. The early Christians were conscious of the fact that something stupendous had happened to them, changing their outlook, their behavior, their tastes, and their aspirations. Religion must change us, else it is not sound religion.

The chaplain of one of our universities tells the story of his little daughter's first day in school. The children were asked to give their names and tell their father's business. "My father is a fireman," said a little boy; "he puts out fires." "My father is a grocer," said a little girl; "he sells bread and vegetables." Then the chaplain's daughter arose. "My father is the Christian at the university," she said, "and he doesn't do anything."

Some folks are that way.

Recantations Part Of A Plot

WASHINGTON—High government officials' review of Harvey Matusow's recantations against Communists in the courts and before Congressional committees has convinced them that his recantations are part of a Red plot hatched in the Kremlin to discredit the American counter-offensive against the Soviet conspirators at home and abroad. Final decision on his motives, however, will rest with the judges in re-considering earlier convictions and future litigation resulting from his evidence.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. has ordered every Federal agency to check on each case against a government employee in which Matusow testified. It is understood that they constitute only a handful, and that the on-again-off-again witness was only a minor figure in these trials. He is described as a "bit player" in the drama which he seeks to rewrite and to stage.

The questions which the courts, Congressional committees and Federal agencies must resolve are: (1) Did Matusow lie in his original testimony? (2) Did he lie affect basic decisions with regard to convictions or suspensions? (3) Did his data seriously damage the status of government officials against whom he bore witness?

Attorney General Brownell anticipates a negative answer in almost every case now under study and possible reconsideration.

RED CONSPIRACY—Brownell cites various developments as evidence that Matusow is only an automaton in a far-reaching and cleverly concocted Communist conspiracy to discredit American justice. In the first place, the smelter's union which advanced $1,500 in royalties for Matusow's book, "False Witness," is notoriously radical; it was therefore expelled by the parent organization. Both of Matusow's publishers have taken refuge behind the Fifth Amendment in answer to sensational questions as to whether they were Communists.

MATUSOW THREATENED—Brownell's investigators also have satisfied themselves that Matusow

Personal Views Often Sound Near-Official

Washington's Senator Jackson said a mouthful yesterday when he pointedly suggested fellow-congressmen quit giving the President public advice on how to conduct American affairs in the Formosa area.

If the lawmakers who are so free with those suggestions were voicing them as private citizens, there would be less room for complaint. But as public officials, in giving conflicting viewpoints they only add to the confusion surrounding a ticklish issue.

Even should these gentlemen be speaking on the basis of personal impressions, their words carry weight in the public's mind because the speaker was Representative so-and-so, or Senator so-and-so.

Senator Mansfield, of Montana, notes many Congress members have acquired the habit of "talking too much" about foreign policy. But he goes further in suggesting a return to the era of "diplomacy by secret negotiation" so that other countries will not become confused.

That seems to us to be going to the extreme in the opposite direction. It's well to be concerned about other countries being confused as to the American position, but at the same time we must have a well-informed and unconfused American public.

Too often, we fear, personal opinions become confused with statements of conflicting official policy... not only at home, but abroad.

Selected Shorts

The most unfortunate aspect of the controversy over the Dixon-Yates contract (under which taxpayer's private enterprise is to build a $107,000,000 electric power plant in the South to serve a major atomic energy installation) is that the real facts and the real issue have been distorted and confused by partisan politics.

What is needed is to put the contract in proper perspective.—(Industrial News Review) underwent the same experiences suffered by all Communists who turn against the party and reveal its secret machinations on the witness stand before a Capitol Hill group or a Federal Jury.

They immediately subjected to tremendous pressure to recant under penalty of retaliation. The psychological treatment is not administered only by old friends in Communist circles; it is brought by their families, their children, their business associates, with offers of reward as well as threats of punishment. Since they are usually "emotionally unstable" in the first instance, they frequently crack up and become wholly irresponsible.

The most disturbing aspect of the Matusow recantations in the opinion of Attorney General Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, is the impetus it has given to the demand that every accused person be confronted by accusers. This is the principal objective behind the current flip-flops of the Matusow-Navigo-Watson brand.

MONEY AND VALUABLE TIME—"We spend months and thousands of dollars," explained a high official, "to infiltrate a Federal agent or co-worker into their cells. Their reports are invaluable, and we would be almost helpless without them. Where would we be today without the confidential information from Chambers, Rodens and Bentley?"

So, the one who the Communies want is the identification of our undercover men. It would smash our whole investigative organization and techniques. This is their baby. If they could force disclosure of our secret informants, it would put us out of business."

Brownell does not object to confrontation when the accuser is a neighbor, a friend, a fellow worker or a casual tipster. In fact, he would like to arrange depositions before a Federal judge or some reliable body, before use in any final trial.

But he agrees with Congress and the Supreme Court, which holds that confrontation is not necessary, that the security of the United States is paramount to individual interests.

Somebody Told Me

Cultural Activities Coming Up

Today's column: coming events you shouldn't miss.

Tonight at the high school auditorium everyone interested in music should attend Miss Ona Shindler's annual spring concert at eight o'clock.

During the 15 years that I have been knowing Miss Shindler, I have been impressed with the amazing job she does with high school voices.

In spite of the limited facilities she has at GHS, she always comes through with the awards. Tonight's is the only performance during the year for which admission is charged. Funds will go toward financing trips to state contests.

That takes care of tonight; now for tomorrow night and Thursday.

The annual Kiwanis Minstrel will be presented at Austin Auditorium at 8:15 for the benefit of underprivileged children.

Under the direction of Eli Bloom the minstrel has been successful for years. However, to keep it as successful as ever, Eli has added extra features to the minstrel this year. New people and new jokes. It'll be completely back fact, feature new costumes and many new numbers.

And now: your opportunity to take a course that might well change your life. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is bringing to Greenville the Bob Bale course in personal development and effective salesmanship. For three nights, 7:30 to 10:30, at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

fellowship hall, Bob Bale will give the course that is famous all over the country.

The price? $15. Many business firms in Greenville, after investigating the reputation of Bob Bale, are footing the bill for any interested employees to attend the course.

The highest recommendation that I could give Bob Bale is that he has returned to every town in which his course has been offered. There are no examinations, no notes to take. And each student receives a 52-week follow-up book called "This Way to Leadership."

If you think you might be interested contact any Jaycee or Dial 2725.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

Senator ERVIN IS RIGHT

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

We believe Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. is absolutely correct in opposing the nomination of Joseph Campbell as U.S. Comptroller General.

Senator Ervin bases his opposition on the unassailable position that the comptroller general should represent the legislative branch as a check upon expenditures by the executive branch and that the individual filling the job should, if possible, be prepared by legislative background and certainly a legislative point of view.

"The history of the act creating the office of comptroller general clearly shows that the Congress intended the comptroller general should be an agent of the legislative branch of the government," the Senator explained.

As Senator Ervin said in his tribute to the great work of the Senate Government Operations Committee, Senator Ervin found himself in excellent company. Democratic Senators Jackson, Humphrey and Symington.

Although the Committee recommended Mr. Campbell's nomination by a vote of eight to four, confirmation by the Senate yet remains. The facts are not altered by the Committee vote and we trust the nomination will be blocked.

Whereas all three previous comptroller generals were former congressmen with the legislative point of view, President Eisenhower nominated Mr. Campbell, a close personal friend of Columbia University days, who has had no legislative experience whatever.

Drop In Toy Sales

By ELMER ROESSNER
The toy shows in New York are as bright and gay as always. There are novelties popping up around every corner. And the confusion is no more or less organized than in the past.

But this year there is a bit of criticism of the manufacturers. William Burston, manager of the National Retail Dry Goods Association's merchandising division, put it into words when he declared that department stores will refuse to buy from sources who consistently sell to "scavengers." By that he meant the price cutters and the enterprisers who rent vacant stores before Christmas, or take over vacant lots to sell toys. It's probably a poor choice of words; calling competitors nasty names is bad public relations—but it's Mr. Burston's word and he is stuck with it.

Department stores' toy sales actually dropped last year, he said, and the volume of toy wholesalers was down 3 to 5 per cent.

"Toy volume fell," he said, "because of retailer lack of interest in pushing unprofitable volume. It fell, second, because of decimation in the ranks of the small toy retailer. In this industry—as he is in our total economy—the small retailer continues to be the backbone. He was caught between the scavenger and some of the aggressive department stores who wouldn't allow competition to undersell them. His sharply reduced volume—in some cases, his going out of business—shrank the total market for toys."

While some larger toy manufacturers and wholesalers may avoid selling to discount houses and temporary entrepreneurs, it is doubtful that protests like Mr. Burston's can be very effective.

The toy business—as the shows show—is one of the most dispersed businesses in the American economy. At the American Toy Fair in two big hotels and the International Toy Exhibition in a third, the wares of 1,400 domestic and foreign toy makers are being shown. And there are thousands of smaller companies not showing.

A man working part time in a garage, a big industrial company that happens to hit on a plaything product, or a giant food company seeking to sample the younger set may find themselves part of this billion-dollar-a-year business.

So the scav-oops!—the small enterpriser can always find toys to hawk across a pine-board counter.

ADVERTISING GIMMICKS IN MORE PLAYTHINGS
Trends in toys: Most notable is the increase in "commercials" in playthings. Famous brands in packages, famous cereals, cleansers, housewares and other goods appear in play sets in greater profusion than ever before. The great increase in do-it-yourself toys helps make this possible. There is also a tendency to make dolls and animals more life-like, and to make such things as instruments, fire engines, trucks and machinery more like their real-life counterparts.

ABOUT PENCILS AND COFFEE, TURKEYS AND INSURANCE MEN
Despite the new-fangled writing instruments, sales of wood-cased lead pencils totaled 1.5 billion last year for a new high, the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Association reports. The American Coffee Bureau says 35,000,000 American workers now get a coffee break once or twice a day. A turkey crop as big as last year's is in the making unless growers change their plans, the Department of Agriculture reports. Some insurance men are now calling themselves "benefit engineers."

Objection To Educational Toys
By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—When you buy a toy for a child, do you insist it be one that will improve the child's mind?

If you do, Kay Stanley thinks you may be making a big mistake. One of the top women manufacturers in this field, she feels America's booming billion-dollar-a-year toy industry has "gone culture crazy." She'd like to put the emphasis in toys back on the child's mind, not the so-called educational or instructive value.

"I wish children were rich enough to buy their own toys," she said vigorously. "You'd see a big change overnight—if children instead of parents or psychologists, could pick the toys they really wanted."

"It's about time we let children's minds alone—at least while they're playing. We beat them over the head with teaching toys until the only play the poor little things really enjoy is watching television. Even then they pick up a little learning—such as how to hold a gun or rob a bank."

"We're grim about education, and we're raising grim children. Doctors tell adults they should relax but while they are relaxing themselves they keep their kids working on spelling games, arithmetic games, vocabulary games, and put-the-right-peg-in-the-right-opening games."

Kay, an energetic attractive, blue-eyed blonde in her early forties, was in the hotel management field in Chicago in 1941 when she set out to be a toy tycoon. At that time the toy industry was in its doldrums phase.

"Dolls will probably always be the mainstay of this business," she sighed. "But did you ever think that one reason little girls get so many dolls is that around great big daddies are still doll-daddy themselves?"

Kay's idea for little girls tired of playing with dolls: A rubber-mould toy with which children could cast plaster figures, then paint them with water colors. She cooked up her first batch of crude rubber on her own kitchen stove. The first year she grossed $14,000. Now she has 200 employees, occupies five floors of a Chicago factory, sells two million dolls a year, and has a net worth of $1,000,000.

Her biggest money-making idea, launched in 1953, was a toy cake mix set using real food, for children between 6 and 10. Kay has since added new sets that include real cake, real frosting, real deserts, cookies, fudge or sew clothing just like their mothers, only on a smaller scale. And they use exactly the same ingredients as mother does.

"Why should a child make a mud pie if she'd really rather bake a small cake?" asked Kay. "Children want to do what their parents do but on a scale more suitable to their own size."

"In approaching an idea for a new toy, I think first of what adults do in everyday life whether they like to or not that a child might also want to do purely for its own fun."

"I label all my toys as educational or instructive," because, frankly, it's the only way I can sell them. The retailers say parents won't buy a toy unless it is labeled educational."

"But any educational value of a toy should be merely a by-product. Children are naturally gay and happy. To try deliberately to make them serious at their play takes something from the joy of childhood."

Kay says she is working on a new toy which she hopes will do what she calls "absolutely nothing but entertain a child." What is it? Kay clammed up.

"You have to keep an atmosphere of secrecy about a new toy which she hopes will do what she calls 'absolutely nothing but entertain a child.' What is it? Kay clammed up."

Lower Cut Lines Featured In Men's Footwear

The smartly dressed male will go stepping out this spring and summer in new shoes featuring lower cut lines. Here is the dominant trend in styling of masculine footwear for the coming seasons taking its cue from the slimmer, trimmer silhouette that will prevail in men's clothing.

Happily, the new styling, aided and abetted by newer and lighter weight leathers for soles as well as uppers, and by built-in air conditioning, is bringing the male the most comfortable shoes he has ever worn.

The new "lower line" is being featured on shoes for town wear and casual wear alike, and in a greater variety of colorful materials than ever before. Lighter weight calfskins and cordovans, soft suedes and fabric meshes in combination with leather are among popular materials.

Color trends in men's shoes for the coming season are in step with mounting popularity of the darker hues clothing, with such interesting combinations as charcoal and light grey and contrasting browns to be seen in the stores.

Other colors from which men will choose this season are darker blues, black brown and black green, especially for wearing with charcoal hued suits and slacks.

The Italian influence has reached the American male's feet this year, according to the Leather Industries of America. Many of the new casuals have the modified tapered toe, the broader looking forepart and shorter backpart. These are mainly in slip-ons which are as comfortable as they look, being crafted of very soft supple leathers.

Air conditioned footwear for men achieves a new standard of warm weather comfort this year with the development of the new woven leathers which are available in a variety of surprisingly interesting weaves that actually breathe, as do the increasingly popular perforated leather shoes.

Keep Wary Eye On Forest Fires

WAYCROSS, Ga. —An army of fire fighters kept a wary eye today on multimillion-dollar forest fires which have charred more than 133,000 acres in south Georgia and north Florida the past two weeks.

All were reported under control, but smoke-blackened men still patrolled the fire lines ready to act if a change in the wind should send the fires off on another rampage.

Two of the fires were described as the most destructive in the history of the two state forestry services. A blaze northeast of Foley, Fla., ate through 32,000 acres of timber. The one east of famed Okefenokee Swamp in Georgia ravaged about 15,000 acres.

Guyton DeLoach, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission, said that since March 1 a total of 585 fires burned 63,620 acres in south Georgia, much of it valuable timber land. The total for Florida was about 70,000 acres.

Rangers in both states said arson was suspected in some of the fires. Yesterday a Georgia woman was arrested after a dramatic chase by plane and charged with setting seven small fires along a south Georgia road. The blazes were extinguished quickly.

DeLoach identified her as Mrs. E. M. Parker, about 40, of Waycross.

Sgt. T. C. Catledge of the state patrol at Waycross quoted Mrs. Parker as saying she stopped by the roadside to warm a can of soup.

DeLoach said setting fire to the woods is a felony and the maximum sentence is two years in prison.

Forty-five new outbreaks were reported in the south Georgia area but all were spotted quickly and put out.

Newspaper Raps Statements By Peter Townsend

LONDON (AP) — London's Conservative Daily Mail sharply criticized RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend today for statements to newsmen about his reported romance with Princess Margaret.

Ending the two-week silence it has maintained since some London newspapers published rumors that the princess soon would wed the divorced Air Force ace, the Mail said in a front-page editorial:

"It seems to us he would have been better advised to serve the interests of the princess and the royal family better if he had refused to speak at all. . . We can at least hope that the group captain has spoken his last word in hurried and unconsidered interviews."

Group Capt. Townsend is a man of 40. He cannot be innocent of the ways of the world or of the use which could be made of any ambiguous statements he made about Princess Margaret.

Townsend, now British air attaché in Brussels, yesterday repudiated a weekend report of an interview with him which he said implied "the princess has decided to marry me."

"The princess has made no such decision known to me, nor have I any reason to believe she has made a decision," he declared, adding that henceforth he would avoid newsmen. After 16 months of public silence following his transfer from the royal household to Brussels, he recently had allowed himself to be interviewed frequently in connection with the latest flareup of rumors about himself and the princess.

Despite the captain's statement, informed circles in London believe that the 24-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth II plans to marry him this fall. She will be 25 in August and can marry without her sister's consent.

Dozers Still A Safety Problem

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Dozing drivers and servicemen anxious to get back to their bases are the biggest problems in the accident prevention program on Pennsylvania's famed turnpike. Last year the death toll was 54, a sharp drop from 1953 when 91 persons were killed.

However, Capt. Singleton Sheaffer who commands the special state police turnpike detail, is hopeful of cutting the toll again this year. He says:

"Our biggest problem is detecting people who are over-estimating their ability to drive without sleep and rest. The last five or six deaths of 1954 resulted when drivers dozed and crashed into the rear of slow-moving vehicles."

Sheaffer said many servicemen, usually from southern bases, are involved in many crashes while on a 72-hour pass.

"They try to dash home and back to camp without sleep," he said, "back to camp without sleep, some of them never make it."

Both Nevada and Arizona have doubled their populations since 1940.

Must Move 63 Stranded Whales

WESTRAY, Orkney Islands (AP) — The County Council here may have to hire trawlers to get rid of 63 pilot whales that turned out to be pretty poor pilots.

The fish, members of the Dolphin family, about 10 feet long, rushed into shallow waters at the Point of Gort yesterday and gasped their last after the receding tide stranded them.

The Council says it may have to tow the carcasses out to sea to prevent them becoming a sanitary hazard. The Orkneys are off the coast of Scotland.

The U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare reports that there were 2,600,000 more U.S. school pupils in the fall of 1954 than the rated capacity of the public school buildings available.

Some 117 Attend Banquet In Honor Winterville Teams

Some 117 persons attended the fourth annual Basketball Banquet at Winterville High School last night.

The fete was in honor of the 1954-55 girls and boys basketball teams, the cheerleaders, coaches and officials timers and scorekeepers.

Toastmaster J. H. Mobley introduced the principal speaker, S. D. Bundy, president of the Central Conference, and principal of Farmville High School.

The banquet was said to have been the most successful yet.

The banquet was started by Paul Clark, Winterville's principal-coach, four years ago and has been made into an annual affair. It is sponsored by a group of parents in the Winterville community. Some 65 sponsored last night's fete.

Highlight of the banquet was the awarding of monograms. Clark presented letters to the members of the girls team and Coach Blaney Mays made the presentations to the boys.

Receiving letters were Jean Little, Betty Lou Nobles, Jane Corey, Phyllis Jones, Maggie Castelleo, Janice Stox, Patsy Tripp, Barbara Evans, Peggy Craft, Peggy Mobley, Gene Tripp, Graydon Tripp, Bobby Cogins, Ray Jackson, Ralph Wingate, Jack Sawyer, William Corey.

Cheerleaders also received monograms for their services during the season. Doris Cole, Polly Ann Nobles, Shirley Tyndall, Roselyn Waters and Ruby Lee McArthur were recipients.

GHS Baseball, Track Teams Reaching Stride

By WAYNE BISHOP
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville High School's baseball and track teams have gotten into the full swing of practice now with Coach Bo Farley's horseholders and Coach Bill Kittrell's cindermen showing evidences of getting ready for the seasons ahead.

The baseball team had to miss yesterday's scheduled workout because of the light drizzle that fell yesterday afternoon. The track team went ahead with their scheduled workout as planned.

Play Fifteen Games

Coach Farley announced that his baseball team will probably play fourteen and maybe fifteen games this season. Twelve conference games are on schedule, each of the other six teams in the loop will be played twice, with Rocky Mount and Farmville completing the list. The games with Farmville are not definite as yet but both Coach Farley and Coach Charles Tucker of Farmville want to schedule a game.

The complete schedule will be announced soon. Only two lettermen are back from last year to help out the Farley-men. They are Bob Howell, who led the team in hitting last season with a .333 mark, and Gene Hudson, a regular outfielder last year.

Non-lettermen holdovers and upcoming rookies are expected to carry the bulk of the squad. John Arnold and Hudson Miller, two non-lettermen returnees from last year, are the only pitchers Coach Farley has at the present. The two pitchers of last season, Bill Hendrix and Dave Dickerson, have both graduated.

Trackers Meet Henderson

The track team opens its eleven meet schedule later in the month. The cindermen have a meet with Raleigh on the Greenville track, March 30, but Coach Kittrell is trying to get Henderson to run against the G-men, March 24.

A whole host of returning lettermen are back to pace the G-men in what could be their best track team of the past decade. The Greenies are entering several big meets in the season. Besides the district and state meets, the Phantom runners will enter the Duke-Durham Relays in Duke Stadium in April. Another important big meet for the Greenies will be the Northeastern Conference track meet in Greenville May 4. The Greenies will be host for that event and heavy favorites to win it.

Clinton Midgets Top Greenville In Tourney Final

Clinton pulled away in the third period and held off a late Greenville rally to nip the Greenville midgets 50-47 in the finals of the Eastern North Carolina Midget Basketball Tournament at Kinston Saturday night.

Clinton led throughout most of the game and had a 25-21 advantage at halftime. The third quarter proved disastrous for the Greenies, however, as Clinton moved ahead by margins as much as ten points. In the final stanza the Greenies came back and almost pulled the game out of the bag.

Billy Cox and Charles Staton led the scoring for the Greenville team, pouring in 18 and 16 points respectively. Howard Garner, playmaker for the Greenville team, contributed 6 points besides leading the floor play for the game.

Austin Vann led the scoring for the night for Clinton with 20 points. Vann was the top player in the tourney and led his team throughout the three game event.

By virtue of their second place finish in the eight-team tourney the Greenies were awarded the runners-up trophy. Each member of the team was given gold basketballs for participating in the tourney. Another honor to the Greenville team came when Billy Cox was announced to the all-tournament team. Several other Greenville players received mention on the all-tourney squad.

Joey Giardello On Trial Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joey Giardello, top contender for the world middleweight boxing championship was on trial today on charges of riot and assault growing out of a disturbance at a gasoline service station last fall.

As the trial opened yesterday in Quarter Sessions Court the jury heard a 31-year-old attendant at the service station, Howard Short, testify that several companions of the South Philadelphia boxer beat and kicked him and that Giardello, himself, hit Short with a crutch.

At the time, Giardello was recuperating from injuries suffered in an automobile accident. The injuries forced postponement of a scheduled title match with Middleweight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson and the champion, has since refused to meet Giardello until criminal charges against the challenger have been decided.

Giardello pleaded innocent to the charges yesterday. Three co-defendants, Joseph Bonadies, 24, Victor Mariana, 24, and Pasquale Concilio, 22, pleaded guilty to charges of rioting. Bonadies and Mariana also pleaded guilty to charges of assault and battery but Concilio denied this charge.

Dykes Liked In Gavilan Fight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Local backing may make rangy Bobby Dykes of Miami an even money risk with Kid Gavilan of Havana in their 10-round nationally televised fight tomorrow night.

Dykes expected to weigh in at 160 for the fight. The Cuban Kid will weigh around 152.

The former welterweight champion's handlers won a concession from the Miami Boxing Commission late yesterday when the group eliminated a judge and a referee on Gavilan's objections.

Trainer Mundito Medina objected to Eddie Coachman as referee and Allie Zack, Gavilan's American representative, asked that Jerry Sherrard not be appointed one of the judges.

Coachman refereed the first Gavilan-Dykes fight at Miami Stadium Feb. 4, 1952, and Medina said he objected to Coachman "because he's too friendly with Dykes."

Zack said the same thing of Sherrard. Dykes trained at Sherrard's for his first meeting with Gavilan three years ago.

Just One Day In Big League Park

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Gonzalez Naranjo, a 20-year-old Cuban pitcher trying out for the Pittsburgh Pirates, has had just one day in a major league ball park—but it was a lucky one.

Last year, with the Washington Senators, he caught the first ball of the season tossed out by President Eisenhower. He was farmed out the next day. This year, he's hoping for a longer streak of luck.

Pitching Troubles Pile Up For Kansas City Athletics

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

Pitching woes are piling up early for Lou Boudreau in his first season as manager of the transplanted Kansas City Athletics.

Unless the onetime "boy manager" can pull off a miracle and the A's profit by their change of scenery from Philadelphia to Kansas City, the plight of the club appears serious.

Boudreau arrived in West Palm Beach, Fla. full of optimism. He even admitted in the opening workouts that he was impressed with the spirit and hustle of his squad.

But with the grapefruit season now five days old he would be willing to trade some of the aggressiveness for a sound Bobby Shantz.

Shantz came down with a sore and stiff left arm yesterday to dim his comeback aspirations.

Club officials hope the ailment is not a recurrence of the injury that sidelined him most of last season. Boudreau's miseries yesterday also included a 9-3 drubbing by the Chicago White Sox, fourth loss in as many exhibition games. The pitching staff has allowed 37 runs, or slightly more than nine per game.

Virgil Trucks, Chicago ace, blanked the Athletics for four innings, while Chicago battered four Kansas City pitchers—Bob Trice, Art Ceccarelli, Sonny Dixon and Carl Duser—for 13 hits.

The A's are the only major league club without a victory. The New York Yankees shaded the Milwaukee Braves 12-11 for their first Grapefruit League win.

Mickey Mantle broke out of his slump with four hits, including a grand slam homer, and batted in six runs.

Stan Musial and Red Schoendiest found the batting range as the St. Louis Cardinals tripped the Detroit Tigers 3-1. Musial went four-for-four and Scheendienst collected three hits.

The Cincinnati Redlegs received some fine hurling from Corky Valentine, Gerry Saley and Jerry Lane and blanked the Boston Red Sox 1-0. The Redlegs won the game with an unearned run in the ninth inning.

Bobby Morgan's double in the 12th inning scored Gus Niarhos from second base to give the Philadelphia Phils a 2-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bill Taylor walloped two homers and Jim Hearn pitched three scoreless innings and also homered to spark the New York Giants to an 11-7 success over the Chicago Cubs. The Brooklyn Dodgers turned back the Baltimore Orioles 6-3 as Carl Furillo rapped a homer and two singles.

Strong Mound Corps Hoped In Sight For Mallory's Baseballers

By BRUCE PHILLIPS
Reflector Sports Editor

Rain forced the East Carolina baseballers inside yesterday but afforded Coaches Jim Mallory and Earl Smith a chance to work closely with the pitchers and catchers. The other members of the squad were given a holiday.

As Head Coach Mallory sees it now, the returning members of last year's pitching staff, plus newcomers Charlie Russell, Tommy Pruett, Harold Edwards, John Chapman and Herbert Corey, will comprise his mound corps this spring.

This will give the Pirates a 9-man working staff. Ken Hall, Mack Cherry, Dave Harris and Bill Lovington are holdovers from 1954.

Mallory figures pitching has to be the strong point if East Carolina is to have a successful season. "We have the potential, but the question is will it materialize?" he said today. Mallory is very high on Pruett, Russell and Edwards. The former is a fireballer who lost only one game in three while pitching in high school at Sanford. His last two seasons there, Sanford won the state title.

Russell is a "stuff" pitcher. His properties include an assortment of breaking stuff and an occasional deceptive fastball. Edwards, a southpaw, is strong and has a good curve. He and Harris should provide the Pirates with two capable lefties.

Some of the infield and outfield positions are still uncertain, according to Mallory. "It's still Cherry (Charlie) and Reep (Bucky) at third," he said. "We'll probably have to go several games before I'll know just who plays the spot the best." Mallory intends to alternate Bob Penly in right with Tommy Jenkins and Ollie Baker. Gaither Cline and Gene Turner have the inside at left and right field, respectively.

Another freshman has come up to give the catchers competition. Bobby Upton of South Boston, Va. has been looking exceptional in practice and may become the No. 2 man behind Bill Cline. Upton has a fine throwing arm and has been impressive at the plate. Dick Mondes is currently running behind Cline.

Mallory said today that a couple of practice games with Duke and Campbell Junior College are being lined up for this week.

"The games are not definite yet," he pointed out, "but, in any event, we intend to have as many intrasquad games as possible between now and the season's opener. We have a lot of young boys on the squad and more than anything else they need playing time under their belts."

U.S. Team Far Out In Front In Pan-Am Event

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The powerful United States Pan-American Games team stood far in front of their 21 rivals today and a continued display of strength seemed in store for followers of this Western Hemisphere prelude to the 1956 Olympics.

A newcomer to reknown, Rosslyn Range, with a sensational broad jump of 26 feet 4 1/2 inches, and such established stars as Parry O'Brien of the shotput ring and high jumper Ernie Shelton and Herman Wyatt have already racked up many new records.

Today further exploits were expected from pole vaulters Bob Richards and Don Laz, 800-meter fishes Maj Whitfield, Lon Spurrier and Arnold Bowell, and discus champion Fortune Gordien.

Going into the third day of competition with the United States, the winner of six out of seven championships contested yesterday, the unofficial scoreboard read:

United States 135, Argentina 41 1/2, Cuba 28, Mexico 26, Panama 15, Brazil 13, Dutch West Indies 12, Chile 10, Venezuela 8, Jamaica 7, Puerto Rico 6 1/2, Canada, Colombia, Trinidad 5 each, Paraguay 2.

Pvt. Range, a tall Negro from Los Angeles, astonished track and field people with his 26-foot-plus leap yesterday. It was the third best in track annals.

Only the fabulous Jesse Owens, with his world record of 26-8 1/4 in 1935, and Willie Steele, with 26-5 1/4 in 1947, have done better.

Sharing honors with Range was John Bennett, of Grand Forks, N.D., also an Army private and 1954 United States AAU champion. Bennett hit 26 feet 3 inches.

O'Brien supplied his usual punch when he pushed the shot 17.59 meters or 57 feet 8 1/2 inches—his world record is 60 feet 10—and led the way to a three-man sweep in the event for Uncle Sam. Second was Hollywood's Gordien, 15.98 meters or 52-5, and Martin Engel, of New York, 14.60 meters, or 47-10.

O'Brien's effort erased another mark formerly held by big Jim Fuchs—the meet record of 55-3, set in 1951.

REISER APPOINTED

MIAAMI (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today named their former great outfielder and National League batting champion, Pete Reiser, as playing manager of the Thomasville, Ga. farm of the Georgia-Florida League a Class D circuit. Reiser, who will be 35 St. Patrick's Day, hasn't played in three years.

MEET A PIRATE

William (Bill) Donald Cline, 5-10, 190-pound catcher on East Carolina's baseball team.

Bill begins his eighth season of baseball this spring, this being his third at ECC. Before that he played high school and American Legion ball at Gastonia, his home town.

As a prepster, he won outstanding acclaim. During his four years of play there, he received All-State honors and captained his team. He hit .354 his junior year and .319 his senior year. Three out of his four years there, Gastonia was Western AAA Conference and state AAA champions.

As a Legionnaire, he won similar laurels. He played in 1949, '50 and '51. In his first year, Gastonia won the state Legion title and went on to capture the Regionals only to lose out in the Sectionals, the last round between them and the Little World Series. Bill hit .297 that season. His second year, Gastonia again won the state meet but lost in the Regionals. Bill hit .330 that season. His last year, Gastonia didn't win the state crown, but Bill hit .325 and was an All-State selection.

As a freshman at East Carolina in 1952, he hit well over .300 and was chosen to the All-North State Conference team. Last year, his hitting suffered a mild slump but he was still considered the best defensive backstop in the league.

He is majoring in physical education and minoring in social studies at the college. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cline of Gastonia.

Avila Balks At $25,000 Offer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Bobby Avila declared, "I'm a ball-player, not a gambler," and got on an airplane to go home to Mexico yesterday after refusing a Cleveland Indians contract reportedly calling for $25,000.

The peppery second baseman, who wants $32,000, made the remark after General Manager Hank Greenberg offered him a "bonus, if we win the pennant again."

"First contract I get this year, they offer me a $25,000 raise," Avila said. "If I'm not worth more than that after winning the batting title when will I get it? Do I have to hit .500 to make more money?"

Variety is the Spice of Men's Wearables

The new wool suits offer greater formality for warm weather wear and a new medium weight for mild weather throughout the year. The corded wool tropical at left has a fine vertical rib in black and gray. The 10-ounce fabric suit at right is in dark gray with overall raised pattern in black. Wool Bureau photo.

Sportswear Taking On Color For Spring

As more and more men enjoy lengthened hours of leisure, sports wear looms ever larger in the fashion picture. This spring the man who wishes to round out and up-date his casual wardrobe can choose from a completely new range of clear clean colors, new fabrics and a sharply changed group of designs adapted to specific sports and leisure activities.

The new sport coats feature lighter weights in wool and man-made fiber blends, tweeds and shetlands in herringbones, checks, fibrene effects, nubs and slubs. Many coat fabrics combine color patterns with weave or texture patterns. Deep shades relieved by bright color accents are among the style leaders. Popular combinations are black and pink, black and helle, cognac and deep brown. Stylewise, the single-breasted, two button sport coat continues to lead, although the three-button model is gaining ground, especially among younger men. Both patch and flap pockets are shown in the new sport coats.

Pink Is Important

Pink is an important new pastel in sport coats and slacks. Light-weight worsted wool gabardine slacks in pink are another instance of this color's new popularity. They are intended to be worn with sport coats of colors other than pink. Other favored colors in slacks to go with dark colored jackets are yellow, mint green and helle.

Slacks in lightweight flannel, wool and blends with Orlon, gabardine and covert are shown in solids, subdued checks, twill weaves, slubs and nubs.

The new slacks are pleated with back buckle and strap. The trend is to trim, tapered lines.

The new blouse-type jackets for spring have adopted an entirely new tone. Colors are the brightest ever shown and novelty prints are solidly entrenched. Almost any pastel color that can be named is being used — pink, helle, light blue, mint green, orange shades on the rust side, cognac and sandy yellows.

Novelty Patterns

One of the most successful of the novelty patterns is achieved by the flocking treatment (flocks of wool or rayon applied to a fabric rather than woven into it). These flocks have been combined with printed motifs to give a colorful chest or zipper panel stripe. Spaced prints in all-over patterns have grown in importance. A noteworthy innovation in this department is an all-over argyle print on sheen gabardine.

Washability is now recognized as an important asset in spring outerwear and this quality is stressed in models of flannel, viscose, acetate and linen fabrics.

The leisure coat is making a strong comeback on the casual fashion scene this spring. Offered in wools rayons and linens, the coats have zipper fronts, half belts or full belts.

Dark and Light

Dark colors are favored in the new warm weather wool tropical suits. This trimly tailored number is in navy blue with a faint horizontal slub pattern in light blue. Note the cooler two-button closing combined with narrow lapels. Wool Bureau photo.

College To Observe Annual High School Day On April 1

East Carolina College will observe its thirteenth annual High School Day Friday, April 1. Seniors in high schools throughout the state will be honor guests.

Invitations to attend High School Day, have been issued, and indications are that attendance this year will be large. Last spring more than 3,500 guests were present.

Dr. Ed J. Carter, director of the Bureau of Field Services at East Carolina, is chairman of a student-faculty committee which is planning High School Day. Both educational and recreational activities will be included on the day's program so as to give visitors an idea of varied aspects of college life.

All departments of instruction at the college have planned exhibitions of their work and will hold open house during the day. East Carolina students will serve as guides for tours of the classroom buildings and other places of interest on the campus.

Events of the day will begin with a general assembly in the Wright auditorium. East Carolina President John D. Messick will welcome guests. A program of music will be presented by the East Carolina College Band and by vocal ensembles.

Other events of the day will include a military review by Air Force ROTC cadets, a play by the college dramatic club, a barbecue luncheon, a fashion show staged by home economics students, a baseball game between East Carolina and High Point, and a tea dance.

Swans Trapped By Quick Freeze

BOYNE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Caught in a surprise cold wave, two swans were frozen into the ice that formed on a mill pond in the Boyne River. While Police Chief Floyd Newville and Conservation Officer Ed Hartnell were preparing for rescue operations, nature took a hand.

The sun softened the ice sufficiently for one to break loose. Ten minutes later the other also clambered out. First thing they did when they got to shore was lie down and rest.

Taxi Phone Call System Unliked

PARIS (AP)—After an interruption of 15 years, Paris has put back into operation the telephones along side Taxi stands, so that customers can call the cabs to their homes.

Taxi drivers aren't enthusiastic. For one thing, they have to buy a key to the box. For another, the customer often gets tired of waiting and finds another cab. Worst of all, a cab on its way to pick up a customer may be halted by a policeman for cruising empty with its flag down, which is against the law.

Even Bigger Plans Afoot Among Technicians Of Disney Studios

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The 51 acres of the Walt Disney Studios probably contain more ideas than any similar space in the world. The place bristles with new plans and ambitious projects. Leading the thinkers is a 53-year-old dreamer named Walter Elias Disney. One of the major reasons for his fabulous success, he has never, however, let the boyish notion that even the wildest dreams can come true.

Vast millions of TV viewers know Walt as the proprietor of Disneyland, an hour show that has brought new dimensions of entertainment and enlightenment to home screens. The public's response has been immense. The ABC network show sprang into the list of the 10 most seen programs. Some 15,000 letters reach the Disney Studios weekly.

The producer has even bigger plans for next season. The first year's product of 20 shows ended last week. Starting tomorrow night with the Emmy-winning "Operation Undersea," 15 programs will be repeated. Ten of these will be played again during the summer.

On Sept. 7, Disneyland will start a new season of 26 shows. Because of the amazing success of the Davey Crockett trilogy, Walt will have two frontierland subjects. One is "Johnny Tremain," the story of a boy who lived during the American revolution and witnessed Paul Revere's Ride, the Boston Tea Party and the Battle of Lexington.

The other is now called "Children of the Covered Wagon." Based on fact, it will show a pioneer caravan over the Oregon Trail.

"I want to get Fess Parker (who played Crockett) out of buckskin," Walt said. "He'll play a doctor who goes along with the wagon train. Buddy Ebsen (Crockett's sidekick) will be in it too."

Among the other Disneyland subjects: rocket around the world; the Goofy success story; "Robin Hood" (two parts); "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," plus the life of Washington Irving; history of the animated cartoon; American folk lore; a day in the life of Donald Duck.

Disney's latest enthusiasm is an hour-long, five-a-week children's show for ABC, the Mickey Mouse Club. Starting this fall, it may well revolutionize the kiddie market. If Howdy Doodly looks like these days, you'll know why.

"The show will be emceed by Mickey himself," Disney said. "Our people-and-places photographers all over the world will send film showing what children in other lands are doing. As soon as we get accredited, I expect to see the Mickey Mouse newsreel right with the others filming the President at the White House."

Disney plans to show kids how to draw, how to keep clean, how to drive safely. "It seems to me that most shows play down to children," he observed. "I plan to play to the 12-year-olds; the younger ones will want to reach up to that age. I don't think teen-agers will have their intelligence insulted, and I believe we'll have a lot of adults watching."

The pre-TV functions of the Disney lot are going in high gear too. In the mill are cartoon features like "Lady and the Tramp," "Sleeping Beauty" and a wide-screen release of "Fantasia." His nature photographers are filming elsewhere; the next feature will be "The African Lion." Disney is also planning such live-action films as "The Great Locomotive Chase" and "Colorado Expedition."

Then there is Disneyland, the 11-million-dollar, 160-acre wonderland near Santa Ana, Calif. Opening this July, it will be the closest thing to a world's fair that America has seen in the postwar era.

At least 10 per cent of U. S. school children are in need of special reading help says the Better Vision Institute.

Monday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee disposed of eight cases, five of them involving violations of motor vehicle and traffic laws.

Henry C. Daniels, Negro, Rte. 5, Greenville, speeding, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for 30 days.

No operator's license: Luther Vines Jr., colored, Rte. 3, Bethel, case not prossed. Willie Carmon, colored, Rte. 2, Winterville, case not prossed.

William F. Parker, Rte. 2, Greenville, called and failed to answer. An instant capias was issued for him.

William E. Edison, Negro, 1112 Railroad street, possession of non-tax paid whiskey, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. The judgment so provides that he is not to possess intoxicating liquor for two years.

Morris Teel, Negro, Rte. 2, Greenville, disorderly conduct, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10.

Conventions Are Hawaii Business

HONOLULU (AP)—Conventions are important here, too.

The Hawaii Visitors Bureau estimates some 5,000 conventioners will spend an estimated $900,000 in the islands in 1955.

Biggest assembly will be the 58th general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church bringing 3,000 delegates to Honolulu Sept. 4-16. Second biggest is the 1,000-man California State and Hawaii Territorial Dental Assn. meeting June 15-18.

Air Force Has Use For Scoundrel Sam

By TOM STONE
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Sam is a loud-mouthed black crow—and a scoundrel.

He used to settle on the U. S. Air Force base here each afternoon around dusk with hundreds of other crows with the same thought. The birds found out that the "dope" used on fabric of tail assemblies on Uncle Sam's planes would give them a jolt. They clambered all over the planes, pecking away at the stuff like crazy. Sometimes they punched holes in the fabric.

That made the Air Force sore. Airmen tried to shoot them off. But the crows just came back. The fliers tried using long poles. That didn't work either.

The crows used to roost in the Zeppelinheim Woods near the main runway. Members of the base's rod and gun club went there to shoot them once in a while. They knocked off a few, but not enough to discourage the birds.

Then Sam became a casualty. Airmen say he ground-looped and broke a wing. He was captured.

The 716th Air Transport Squadron made a deal with Sam. Sam agreed to put the finger on fellow crows—for a price. The Air Force came through with free quarters and rations.

Now when the gun and rod boys go for a shoot, Sam goes along. He wears a strong cord tied to one leg. The other end is fastened to a bush. While the hunters get into position Sam starts screaming. The crows fly over to find out what's up with Sam.

The gunmen open up and drop 30 to 40 and scare the rest away.

The procedure is repeated as often as necessary.

Sam seems to love it. Sam is a born scoundrel.

Unarmed Robbers Get Well Oiled

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Two unarmed robbers drove to the Othel Service station, thinking the one-armed attendant, G.C. Jarvis, 49, would be easy pickings. "This is a holdup," they announced.

Jarvis picked up a quart can of oil and in one sweep, hit both of them. They broke for the door, and Jarvis directed the can in their general direction. Then he took another shot.

The last he saw of them, they were screeching their tires as they ducked into an alley.

NO, NEVER AGAIN!
HUMBOLDT, Tenn. (AP)—Law violators who've just paid traffic fines at Humboldt's police station are inclined to think politeness can be overdone. When they leave the pay-up desk, this sign looms before them:

"Thank you. Please come again."

Town Crime Kept Under Control

HUDSON, N.H. (AP)—Crime doesn't pay. And in this town of 4,183 the saying has special meaning.

Police Chief Andrew J. Polak has completed the fourth straight year in which every case he has brought to court resulted in a conviction. The community has been without a highway fatality since April 1952.

Tell Her It's MURDER

SYNOPSIS
Jim Andrus had blacked-out the night before he was to have wed lovely Regina Pelham in her suburban New York home. He had awakened to find himself accused of the vehicular slaying of Regina's small son, Roger. A d though he knew he'd been framed, evidence pointed to his guilt, so he'd been convicted of homicide, and had served a brief prison term. But free now in New York, he was aided by Police Inspector McKee, Andrus is bent upon clearing his name. A clue as to his actual whereabouts on that tragic night, leads Andrus to the suburban shack of one "Midnight Mike." Here he is injured and, dazed, he stumbles upon the corpse of "Midnight Mike," himself.

CHAPTER EIGHT
Andrus woke up in his room in the Yonkers hotel at precisely 4, a clock somewhere in the vicinity struck sonorously. He was stiff and sore and every bone in his body ached, but his head was slightly better. He put his feet on the floor, started to get up and sat down abruptly on the edge of the bed. Recollection, on the edge of his mind, was there in his mind, full and complete, without his having made the slightest effort. The thing he had tried to remember the night before, or rather early that morning, had sprung full-fledged into his brain.

When he fell over the cliff and landed a few feet away from Mid-night Mike's body there had been no whiskey bottle and no smell of whiskey. After a piece of the cliff fell on him while he was bending over the dead man and he had come to, the smell of whiskey was strong and bits of the broken bottle littered the ground. The bottle, poised somewhere up there on the cliff, must have come down with the slide of rock.
He got up and began to dress. His face hadn't improved any. His left eye was a mere slit, his lips were puffy and out of shape, and various bruises were turning a nice chrome yellow. The first thing he did was to go out, get some coffee and something to eat and try to find out whether there was any news about Brodsky, whether his body had been discovered. After that, go down to New York and get a change of clothes and have the wound in his head looked at. It didn't feel good. His overcoat was flung over the back of a chair. He put his hand into the right-hand pocket in search of cigarettes, didn't find any, didn't find anything. He let the coat fall and stared at a large spot on the worn rug.
The silver flask was gone. It must have dropped out of his pocket when he took that fall over the cliff. His initials were on it. It would almost certainly be found near Brodsky's body... and the police knew about the flask; he had called them about it... and Susan Dwight knew, and that Cas-serly woman...

The news about the warrant for Andrus' arrest reached the Pel-ham house on Wolf Hill at around 5 o'clock that afternoon. Barry Lofting was the one who brought it. Barry was taking Susan out to dinner and he was late. Just before he arrived Susan was waiting for him impatiently, standing at the big curved window at the end of the living room. Behind her, Regina, Frederick and Edith were discus-sing the hospital drive.
And then Barry walked in, let-ting the hall door slam behind him. He pulled up just over the threshold, his hands in the pockets of his overcoat, his shoulders hunched and told them. The police were looking for Andrus, who they think he killed that fellow Brodsky over there in the woods last night.

Complete silence. Regina broke it. She was stunned. "No," she cried and stumbled up off the couch and out of the room and up the stairs.
Susan followed her. But her door was locked and she wouldn't open it. "I'm all right. I just want to be alone," Andrus said. "Regina, let me in, please let me in," Regina said sharply. "Oh, go away."

Susan went slowly along the hall in dimness. Regina was still in love with him. Roger's death had made it impossible for her to marry him, but she still loved him. Downstairs, Barry was miser-able, and contrite. "I'm sorry, Susan, I'm awfully sorry. I shouldn't have blurted it out like that, but I never thought—I mean, I didn't know Regina was still fond of Andrus."

Frederick's big face was con-gested with blood. "Don't be a fool, Lofting. Of course Regina isn't fond of the fellow—it was the shock." Presently Frederick and Edith went. David Redgate came hur-riedly in as they left.
He knew about Andrus. "I don't know what the police have got on him but they seem pretty cer-tain." He drew Susan into the din-ing room with him and shut the door.
"I was sure that there'd be trou-ble when Andrus came back here. Now, what I came for was to warn you."

"Yes, you're in this deep enough now, don't get in any deeper." "What do you mean?" Susan said sharply.
He told her about Parr. "Parr's the medical examiner, you know, and he was just with me. Parr re-membered your questions about Brodsky yesterday afternoon and one of the policemen on the scene, a Sergeant Dupasse, noticed Parr's interest and got it out of him later. Dupasse was in charge of the in-vestigation into Roger's death. He knew Andrus' connection with this house, and that he was out of jail and had come up here, and put two and two together."
Susan said slowly, thinking of Andrus and everything she knew about him, thinking of him on the train and again at the station, his eyes, his mouth. "I don't believe Andrus killed Michael Brodsky." She hadn't meant to say it, hadn't actually formed the words until they were out. Once they were she found that the conviction back of them was absolute.
David brushed her statement aside. "Just tell Dupasse what you know, and not what you feel or think. Tell him you met Andrus at the station and he asked about Brodsky and that was all."

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW By FAGALY and SHORTEN

A quarter of an hour later Ser-geant Dupasse arrived.
"I won't keep you long Miss Dwight."

Dupasse was a shortish, thickest man with a dark, oily skin, a big nose and solemn black eyes. His manner was considerate. Susan dis-liked him at once.
"Will you tell me why you sus-pect Mr. Andrus of killing that lit-tle book room behind the dining room?"

Dupasse remained standing. He looked at her thoughtfully. Pretty girl. Well, maybe not pretty so much as striking. She had style. She was finished, definite, there were no fuzzy edges.
He outlined the situation briefly. He told Susan about Andrus' search for Brodsky, his visit to Brodsky's cabin, his fingerprints all over the place, about the meeting of the two men up there in that lonely spot in the fields. Andrus' silver flask had fallen among the rocks at the foot of the cliff. The autopsy had revealed that Brodsky had been beaten over the head with a heavy piece of wood with bark on it. Such a piece of wood had been found close to the scene of the crime, a twelve-inch length of cordwood, tough hickory. There was more to it than that. Cordwood cut by the same saw in the same lengths was stacked outside the cabin from which Andrus had come. In short, Brodsky's death wasn't the result of a drunken brawl it was cold-blooded, premeditated murder. If they needed anything else, which they didn't, pieces of a broken whiskey bottle were lying around the body—and Andrus had bought a bottle of whiskey in a liquor store on North Broadway two nights ear-lier.

"The same brand?" Susan asked quietly.

Dupasse said it was a cash trans-action but that Andrus' purchase corresponded nearly enough in price. "Now, Miss Dwight, Dr. Parr got the impression that you were very much interested in Brodsky, that you know Mr. Andrus pretty well, and you'd been seeing him. He isn't at his aunt's place in Hastings, and he isn't at his New York apartment. Do you know where he is—or might be?"
"I do not," Susan gave the ser-geant a succinct account of her two meetings with Andrus, on the train and momentarily at the sta-tion, on Friday afternoon. "But if you're trying to tie up that bottle of whiskey Mr. Andrus bought on Wednesday with the smashed one near the dead man, you're wrong. Mr. Andrus didn't know that Brodsky had pawned the silver flask until late Friday afternoon."

She was a pretty cool customer. The nurse had been with her at the station, maybe the nurse could tell him more of what had actually gone on between them.

"Yes I'll get Mrs. Caserly for you."

SHARP POLICE CALL
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The burglar alarm brought three police cruisers to the Police Academy. Major J. Spencer Howerton, head of the academy, discovered that a workman, hanging sheets to catch dripping paint, had driven a tack into a wire, setting off the alarm.

Canadian production of tobacco in 1954 was 78,000 tons, a 30 per cent increase over 1953.

FAMILY BOOMS
GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Orville Maynard was expecting her seventh child. About 10 a.m. things began to happen. The seven-th child was born. At 1 p.m., the eighth was born. Her doctor de-cided she should be taken from nearby Cedar Creek to Georgetown for "further treatment." The treatment consisted of delivery of a ninth child. All are girls.

More than new

Ford's 162-h.p. Y-block V-8 and 182-h.p. Y-block
Special V-8 now offer new Trigger-Torque power!

When you Test-Drive Ford's new Trigger-Torque power you're in for a thrilling surprise. For here is power that can get you moving in split seconds... and give you safety-fast passing ability.

It has actually been measured that it takes the rear wheels as little as 7/100 of a second to react to your touch on the gas pedal.

Such Go-power can come only from en-gines which are more than merely new—more than ordinary V-8 engines. And that's exactly what these Ford engines are. They are the result of the most advanced V-8 engineering—a result of Ford's precision manufacturing techniques and experience in building more V-8's than all other makers combined have ever built!

Tried and true

Ford's 1955 engine news resulted from 23 years' experience building over 14,000,000 V-8 engines

In 1932 Ford introduced the V-8 engine to the low-price field. And it was only just recently that other makers in Ford's field adopted this kind of engine—23 years later. Yet it is interesting to note that the majority of costlier cars had joined Ford in offering V-8's some time ago.

Ford's vast experience in building over 14,000,000 V-8 engines has never paid off better than this year. Now you can enjoy the ultimate in "Go"—new Trigger-Torque power. Now you get new spark plugs which resist "fouling" up to 3 times longer. Now you get the greater smoothness of Ford's rigid deep-block design. Now you gain the savings of higher compression ratios. Now you gain the power of the biggest Ford car engines ever. And you get the security of knowing that Ford, the world's most experienced V-8 maker, built your car's engine.

Come in. Take your Test Drive today. Ford has much more to offer that's new. You'll find beautiful Thunderbird-inspired styling—comfortable new Angle-Poised Ride—new 10% larger brakes, to name a few.

Report Shows 136 People Received Aid To The Blind

The Pitt County Association for the Blind reports for January and February that 136 persons received aid to the blind and nine persons were removed from the classification of blindness.

The report shows that blind persons were assisted in personal and family adjustment. They were assisted with Braille, aided in obtaining talking book machines and recordings for the machines, and they were assisted with occupational therapy crafts.

The association's services included securing clothing for needy persons, assisting some in planning physical examinations and arranging transportation for rehabilitation. One person was referred to the Rehabilitation Center at Goldsboro.

During the period 69 needy persons were given eye examinations. Glasses were recommended for 40, surgery for eight, treatment for 16, and for four persons there was no recommendation for improvement of vision. Seven eye operations were performed.

Pitt County Association for the Blind assisted three persons in paying for glasses. The Greenville Lions Club assisted seven indigent persons in paying for glasses.

The Lions Club, in cooperation sponsored a sale of articles made by blind persons. Sales of this type make it possible for blind persons who are unable because of age or other reasons, to leave home for employment to earn some money for themselves from handicrafts, the association's report states.

Quotations Are His Business

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The man behind the calling card which says "I may look busy but I'm only confused" is a freckle-faced printer named Harry F. Murphy who doesn't claim to be original.

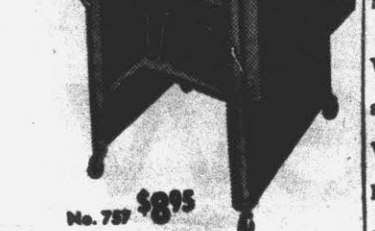

"When we feel creative we reach for a pair of scissors," says Murphy. A couple of years ago he started using scrap paper to print some whimsical sayings to advertise his business. His customers liked them and now he tries to put out a "new" one every month. A card goes with every one of the 500 or so orders that leave the shop monthly.

As a recent interviewer left Murphy, he was handed a typical card:

"Your call has climaxed an already dull day."

No Differences Despite Color

RALEIGH — Tradition has a lot to do with whether you prefer white-shelled eggs to a brown-shelled egg or vice versa.

R. S. Dearstine, head of the poultry science department at State College, emphasizes that there's no difference between the two types provided the diet of the hens is similar and adequate. However, Dearstine says there is a pronounced seasonal preference as to the shell color of eggs throughout the country.

The Boston market is a "brown-shelled" market while the New York market in general prefers white-shelled eggs. Dearstine says that while consumer preference may appear superficial on the surface, it has a far-reaching effect on the operations of the producer. If the consumer demand is for brown-shelled eggs, the producer must keep stock that produces eggs. It's the same way with white-shelled eggs. This in turn is reflected in the hatchery operations of the sections and thus affects the structure of the hatchery supply flocks. Since many hybrid chickens lay cream-colored eggs, poultrymen are wondering how consumers will react when more of the "in-between" colored eggs hit the market. And although it has been answered over and over, you can bet there will still be people asking: "Is there a difference in food value between brown, white or cream-colored eggs?"

NOTICE
Starting today and continuing for the next 10 days you will find outstanding Used Car Values on our lot. For this special sale we are using the slogan "The Buyer is King". You will find Bargain Prices in Safe Buy Guaranteed Used Cars—which we know are well below the prevailing prices in this area. We have voluntarily reduced our prices in many instances as much as $300.00. Here's proof that "The Buyer is King" this spring. So act quick, and select one of these fine used cars. Most of them are one-owner late models traded in on new 1955 Lincoln and Mercury cars. For comparable values we think our prices will not be duplicated this year.

Watch this column tomorrow for the listings. But better still, drive out to our lot and see for yourself. We will be open each night this week until 9 p.m. for your convenience.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rebounded with a great rush of buying today, and a portion of yesterday's major break was retraced.

Prices in the early afternoon were up 1 to 3 points in many cases. Losses usually were held below a point.

Trading was rushing during the first hour and then subsided. The pace overall was much less than yesterday's big 4,220,000 shares traded as prices receded.

The market yesterday dropped abruptly in the heaviest fall in five years. It was a continuation of last week's slide which was the greatest weekly decline in 15 years.

Today at the opening, buyers thronged into the market and bid prices up sharply. The tape was unable to keep pace in reporting actual deals.

The initial buying surge spent itself within the first hour, and prices then settled down below their tops.

All sections of the market were buying favorites, with the exception of the utilities. American Telephone in that division opened on 4,000 shares off a point at 175 1/2. It was down 2 1/2 yesterday. Later trading in the phone was done mostly at a loss of a major fraction.

Gains of more than a point were scored by Seaboard Railroad, Texas Co. American Petroleum (whose directors yesterday proposed a two-for-one split), Johnson & Johnson, Phillips, Dodge, Bethlehem Steel, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Bendix Aviation, and Zenith Radio.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Thirty-nine years after she filed for divorce, Mrs. Gussie Summers won her freedom.

Mrs. Summers, of nearby Arcadia, started courthouse employes March 3 by walking in to find out how her 1916 suit "came out." The clerk, dusting off the files, found the petition had been dismissed because of her unexplained "death."

She immediately refilled the suit. Yesterday Dist. Judge A. P. Van Meter granted the divorce from George Summers, now of Wichita, Kan.

York Rite Spring Class To Begin On March 27

York Rite Masonic Bodies' spring class will begin at the Masonic Hall in Greenville March 28 at 7:30. The Mark Master's and Past Master's degrees will be conferred at this meeting.

The Most Excellent Master's Degree will be conferred March 31. The Holy Royal Arch Degree will be conferred April 6. The Christian Order of Temple will begin April 11, with conferring of the Illustrious Order of the Red Cross and Knights of Malta. The Sublime Order of the Temple is scheduled for April 15.

The Council Degrees of Royal Master and Select Master will be conferred the last week in April, possibly the 27th, this being a symbolic date and number.

For several years Hiram Council No. 18, in Greenville, made the Spring Class a Special Fellowship Assembly, when many of North Carolina's most prominent Masons and expert ritualists visit the Greenville York Rite Masonic Bodies. As a custom, they assist in conferring these Masonic Degrees, a Masonic official stated.

To Address Club
A man was pinned under a truck briefly last night when the vehicle overturned about two miles south of Falkland.

Allen Smith Jr., Negro, of 209 Boyd Avenue, was trapped for a short time under his pickup truck when it overturned on a curve and overturned. However, soft dirt under the truck prevented any injuries to Smith and bystanders pulled him from beneath the vehicle.

Investigating Patrolman James W. Boykin estimated damage at about $200. Time of the accident was placed at 8 p.m.

About 9:35 p.m. two cars collided approximately five miles south of Greenville on N. C. 43. One of the vehicles was operated by Howard C. Dempsey of 1717 Trinidad Avenue, Washington, D. C., and the second by John O'Geary of Greenville Rte. 2.

Patrolman Boykin said that both drivers were headed south when O'Geary made a left turn while Dempsey was passing. O'Geary's vehicle overtook the smash-up. He was charged with failing to give a turn signal.

Damage to the two cars amounted to an estimated $400.

Colored News
The first annual science show of the Robinson High School in Winterville was held Friday, March 11, at 1:55 p.m. under the direction of Mr. John Ward Jr., head of the Science Department.

The ninth grade demonstrated "The Importance of the Decimal Point"; the Algebra Class, "Some Fundamentals of Algebra"; the Biology Class, "Current Happenings in Science or Medicine"; the Physics Class demonstrated two experiments, "Air Exerts Pressure" and "The Application of Archimedes Principle"; the Chemistry Class, "Proof That We Breathe CO₂"; "Differences Between Oxygen and Carbon Dioxide"; "Distillation and Fire Fighting Apparatus"; the Geometry Class displayed geometrical designs and the most unique demonstration was that of the Absentia.

Miss E. J. Jordan and Mrs. M. K. Blount, supervisors of Pitt County Schools, gave remarks.

The Modernettes Social Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Willie Mae Cherry, 702-A Cherry St., tonight at 8:30.

The Matron's Social Club will meet Wednesday night at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Julia Barnhill, W. Fifth St.

FARMVILLE—The Silver Crest Club met at the home of Mrs. Mary B. Blount, W. Action Place, Sunday at 4:30 with Mrs. Mary M. Knight, vice president, officiating. A large membership attended. A report was served following the meeting. The club will celebrate its anniversary Sunday, March 20, at 3 o'clock at Macedonia Baptist Church. Music will be furnished by H. B. Sugg High School Glee Club. Rev. J. A. Mebane will deliver the address. The public is invited.

Seeks Invalidate Young Marriage
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Movie executive Noah Dietrich has sued to invalidate the marriage of his son John to Betty Thorpe.

Dietrich said in his annulment complaint filed yesterday that his son was only 18 and Miss Thorpe 16 when they were wed last year in Juarez, Mexico. Dietrich, an associate of industrialist Howard Hughes, said he had not given his consent to the marriage.

APRIL DEADLINES FOR RELEASING UNUSED ACREAGE
April deadlines were announced today by the local ASC office for the release of cotton and peanut acreage.

For cotton, the release date is April 8 while releases on peanut acreage must be in by April 25.

Any farmers not planning to plant these crops should secure their acreage release prior to the deadline, James T. Meredith, of the ASC office, said today.

Those farmers not planting these crops and not obtaining releases prior to the deadline will have their acreage quotas cut next year, he added.
